Utility continues petition check

By Kevin Brown staff writer

With a proposal to curb Michigan utility rates blocked from the state's November ballot, Detroit Edison still is scrutinizing petitions favoring that proposal at local government clerks' offices.

The utility began examining petition signatures advancing a ratecurbing proposal at those offices this summer in an effort to discredit the petitions.

Following a Michigan Supreme Court ruling on Thursday - which rejected the Michigan Citizens Lobby attempt to file 378,000 signatures collected since 1983 - the group's executive director said the effort is

"I would have to say at this point the number of legal redresses are very slender. We are very pessimissaid Joseph Tuchinsky. He said the issue, if placed on the ballot, would have challenged rate increases Edison or Consumers Power "have recently recommended or have pending now.

Detroit Edison spokeswoman Lorie Kessler said the checking of petition signatures would be com-

'They're just being resubmitted,' Kessler said.

'Our statistics show that one out of every three voting age residents of Michigan have either moved or died since 1983," said Kessler. Edison had maintained that if enough signatures were challenged, their numbers would fall short of the total needed to place the issue on the bal-

Canton Township Clerk Linda Chuhran said that when an Edison representative approached her this summer, asking if her office could the utility rate proposal, "I said I can't possibly do that.'

Chuhran said that the number of signatures Edison wanted checked, coupled with her office gearing up for the August election, meant her staff didn't have sufficient time to meet the request.

The utility company eventually hired one, then two Kelly service clerks to count signatures at the Canton clerk's office, Chuhran said.

Mary Figueroa of Livonia, one of the Kelly clerks working at the Canton clerk's office, said her work mainly consists of checking voter registration signatures with petition signatures.

Chuhran said that at a recent Kessler said Edison's cost to scrutinize the petitions is "within $150,000-$200,000," a cost "paid by our shareholders, not by our customers." She said Edison-paid workers were only required at some clerk's offices, while several have checked petitions on their own.

Car sales leap with incentives

By Doug Funke staff writer

Rebates and financing incentives offered by automobile manufacturers have lit a spark under car buyers here, sales managers say. Business is booming.

About 70 cars were sold during the first four days of the incentive program at Dick Scott Buick, said Al DuBach, sales manager. That's three times more than DuBach said he'd expect to sell without the bait.

'We've had two or three people working on a car. Whoever brings me first a signed order with a deposit gets the car.

Most buyers opt for 2.9 percent financing rather than rebates of up to tomers. I can replace a car. $1,500, DuBach said.

EVEN THOUGH sales have skyrocketed, quite a few '86 vehicles remain in stock, he said.

Unbelievable" is how sales manager Joe Stewart described activity at Don Massey Cadillac They're just pouring through. When someone walks in, they're here to buy a car. We had a pretty huge with somebody, you want the same inventory. It's gone. We've just size sword," Moran said. "They bought another 150 cars.

One might think that buyers of luxury Cadillacs would not need an incentive to make such a purchase. But judging from the 140 new cars sold in four days, according to Stewart, it made a difference.

Two point nine is unheard of I think that's what did it," he said. Ninety percent of recent Cadillac buyers at Massey have requested the financing option over the rebate.

Paul Moran, sales manager at Fox Hills Chrysler/Plymouth, said inventory of '86 models there probably wasn't as large as at other dealerships prior to the launching of incentive programs.

'We're getting short. Another week, two weeks, like this would do

Fox Hills moved more than 70 new cars during a three-day period last week when normally only half as many would be sold, Moran said.

Dealers aren't reluctant to bargain with customers with the financing or rebate bargains, Moran main-

When and why isn't exactly clear. "We've got a lengthy timetable. It's going to be a matter of weeks," said Dave Plummer, vice-president of operations for Chatham. He wouldn't be more specific and declined further comment.

Paul Sliver, president of the union local that represents clerks and stock workers at the store, couldn't be reached for comment.

Concessions on pay rates and working conditions finally wrung ment apparently made the difference in the decision to re-open several stores in the metro area, including Plymouth.

Sliver's membership this summer at first refused to even consider reopening its labor contract with Chatham management. Also, a majority initially voted against a concession package that ultimately was accept-

A Wayne County Circuit judge has ruled that the Nov. 4 ballot proposal asking whether voters want to eliminate the county drain commissioner's office is proper.

Judge Charles S. Farmer dismissed a petition by Drain Commissioner Charles Youngblood who had asked the court to prevent the issue from being on the general election ballot in Wayne County.

In a ruling Friday, Farmer said: "I am persuaded by the fact that the law seems to be on the county's Youngblood's suit had alleged that the Wayne County Board of Commissioners had acted improperly in placing the issue on the ballot last May.

Youngblood's attorney, Jeffrey Supowit, argued two weeks ago that state law did not provide for dismantling the office and distributing its functions to other departments.

'Since there is no guarantee that the voters will approve the proposal, any alleged invalidity of the substance or content is only hypothetical, . .at best, premature."

— Judge Charles Farmer

But on Friday, Farmer ruled that dismissing a proposal before voters had an opportunity to act on it was "premature" and harmful to the election process.

He wrote: " . . . since there is no guarantee that the voters will approve the proposal, any alleged invalidity of the substance or content is only hypothetical, . .at best, premature.

case law beyond those he cited in his own arguments.

'We're worked for 10 months, consulting with the commissioners and with attorneys on the charter, and we're convinced we did everything legally. It's nice to have the court back us in properly putting it on the ballot," Duggan said.

Supowit said Friday he was still considering the decision and had not yet had time to consult with Young-

"I would expect we will appeal when we've studied it," he said.

Supowit also had argued that the commissioner's resolution was improper because it was approved by a simple majority and not a two-thirds majority of the 15-member body. But Farmer ruled that was a proper action. "The way they (commissioners) proceeded was constitutional," said Farmer. "I fet they had complied with the statue and the constitution. A (simple) majority was sufficient to place it on the ballot according to the charter."

IDC bows out after an economic job well done here 25 years ago, when Plymouth's economic picture looked bleak, will close its books for the final time this

The Plymouth Industrial Development Corporation will come to an end soon after a quarter of a century of veoman service to the community. All who bought shares of stock in ing several on South Mill Street. the firm when it was formed in 1961 will get their money back. An accumulated balance will go to a variety of local organizations.

PRIME MOVERS behind the IDC since its inception have been Frank Arlen, local industrialist, and Harfirm of Post, Smythe, Lutz and Ziel.

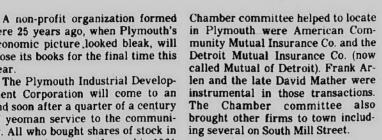

Arlen has been president of the corporation since it was formed. Ziel has been president of the corporation since it was formed. Ziel has been treasurer since its early days. The late William Sempliner, an attorney, was its secretary for many Founders of IDC were Frank Arlen, Bill Sempliner, Warren Smith, Harold Guenther, George Lawton, Edwin Schrader, Clarence Moore and Donald Sutherland, all local businessmen. They all served as directors of the corporation, as did Edward Sawusch, Clifford Tait, Earl Merriman and Harvey Ziel.

The corporation was designed to bring business firms to town during a period in the early 1960s when many worried about the tax base of the city. The Daisy Manufacturing Co., a mainstay of the community for the preceding 75 years, had picked up stakes and moved to Arkansas. Many merchants and employees here thought Daisy's departure would have disastrous economic effects on the area.

It was at this time, in 1961, that the State of Michigan passed legislation permitting formation of nonprofit corporations designed to foster local economic improvement. A Plymouth Chamber of Commerce committee, chaired by Frank Arlen, saw possibilities in the new Act and formed Plymouth's Industrial Development Corporation.

The Chamber's committee, itself, had been engaged in economic development work prior to the formation of IDC. Among other firms the

ONE OF THE Industrial Development Corporation's first acts was to fill the vacant Daisy plant on Union Street. But first it had to have money to buy the building.

Shares in IDC at $25 each were vey Ziel, a partner in the auditing sold throughout the community. In all, 212 subscribed for shares. Most were in the $25 category but some bought more. The Plymouth Educa-tion Association, for example, bought 12 shares. Teachers were among those who felt that a weak-

past and present

ened tax base would react unfavorably on school revenues.

But money brought in from the sale of stock was hardly sufficient. So the corporation sought and obtained loans at 6 percent interest, a good rate in those days.

When sufficient money was available, the Daisy plant was bout. It was leased, with an option to buy, to the Adistra Corp., a firm that specializes in the handling of direct mail materials. In 1964, an addition was made to the plant. Eventually, the building was sold to Adistra.

Besides filling the former Daisy plant, Arlen, Ziel and their colleagues in the Industrial Development Corporation bought the Consumers Power building at 700 Junction St. They rented it to Graphic Communications which later bought the plant. A garage that had been used by Consumers Power Co. was sold to Tap Saver, a tool firm.

IDC also bought the Contintental Can plant at 800 Junction and sold it to the Stahl Manufacturing Co.

ALTHOUGH IDC pioneered the movement to attract business firms to the area, its function in recent vears has been fulfilled by the Economic Development Corporations formed by both the city and the township. That is the reason IDC now is being terminated.

Over the past 25 years, the corporation has accumulated about $130,000 through rentals, sales of property, and interest on invested funds. Arlen and Ziel say all who bought shares in 1961 will get their money back. The balance of the money will be distributed to various organizations in the community including a number of charitable organizations and the Chamber of Commerce, which began the IDC.

Ziel recalls only one ticklish moment in IDC's quarter of a century of existence.

'We had bought Contintental Can's box manufacturing plant for $115,000. We had a 120-day mortgage. Then the prospective tenant moved out. Frank Arlen saved the day when he got the Stahl Co. to move into the building."

Frank Arlen said, "This all came about through the Chamber of Commerce. If we had not had the economic development committee in the Chamber, I doubt that IDC would have been formed."

The IDC ends its days not only solvent but with a surplus.

But the surplus is only one measure of its success. The Industrial Development Corporation, and its predecessor at the Chamber, helped the Plymouth economy during the gloomy days after Daisy left, and before other big firms like Western Electric and Ford began to take up the slack.

Salem edged in tourney

By Larry O'Connor staff writer

Six-foot-three of Daedra Charles was 6-foot-3 more than Plymouth Salem could handle in the third quarter Saturday.

And the Detroit St. Martin De-Porres center's 14-point performance was just what the Eagles needed to edge the Rocks, 40-39, in the final of the Great Lakes Invitational girls basketball tournament at the University of Michigan-Dearborn.

A late rally by the Rocks, though, almost made Charles' one-player pilgrimage for a win in the third quarter a wasted effort

Salem (1-1), down by six points with less than two minutes left, came back to tie the score on Jill Estey's jump shot, 39-39. Dena Head and Jessica Handley each connected for two free throws in the comeback

But DePorres' (2-0) Jytalia Childs drew a foul and sunk the front end of a one-and-one with six seconds left to give the Eagles the one-point advantage. On the ensuing possession, Salem turned over the ball on a trav-

Still, despite the one-point loss, the comeback performance showed considerable moxie by Salem. The Rocks were down by 10 points halfway through the final quarter.

Field goals were unattainable for the Eagles, especially in the second quarter. DePorres didn't hit a basket in the second quarter, registering only five points on free throws.

Poor shot selection, mainly due to Salem's unrelenting defense, hurt the Eagles in the eight-minute span. Salem fared a little better.

Charles, Jill Estey and Kristen Hostynski managed to connect for baskets in the second quarter.

Salem started off sluggish in the first half, connecting on only 3-of-14 from the floor in the opening eight minutes. Head was held to one point in the first quarter until the last minute, when she hit two field goals to bring the Rocks to with in one point,

If perspective was what was sought Thursday in the first round of the Great Lakes Invitational girls basketball tournament at University of Michigan-Dearborn, then here it is, an early-in-the-season reflection:

• Plymouth Salem — awesome, as advertised, a force to be reckoned with in Class A;

• Detroit St. Martin de Porres the Class C runners-up are one of the best teams in the state, in any class, as long as Daedra Charles is playing the pivot;

• Livonia Ladywood — the Blazers lost five starters from last year's Class B championship team, and their lack of experience showed against de Porres;

• Dearborn Divine Child - another team devastated by gradua-tion. The Class B finalists lost four starters to graduation, which left them with far too little against Sa-

SALEM COACH Fred Thomann knows he has a winner on his hands. If you are looking to attend a fun high school sporting event this fall, circle Thursday, Sept. 25, on your calander.

At 7 that night, the Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton girls swim teams will square off at Canton. Oh, there will be the usual pomp and circumstance - the painted faces, the dyed hair; heck, even the Canton pool water may be dyed red. But there will also be an exciting, down-to-the-wire swim meet. "You know, we could take first in every event and still lose the meet," said Canton coach Hooker Wellman. "Salem has that much depth."

"Boy, I hope he's right," said Salem coach Chuck Olson.

Canton took more firsts than Sameet 99-73. In last year's Western said.

You can almost feel the tension building for this year's meet. "Every time I bring it up, the girls

Both teams appear to have improved over last year. And don't be deceived by the two teams' 1985 league finish. Fifth and sixth best in the Western Lakes would be good enough to win many swim conferences across the state. Salem, for example, had six state qualifiers last Meszaros, Murphy and Elliott were state qualifiers last season.

The Rocks also have a promising sophomore class. Jodi Thomas, Katie Vesnaugh, Erin Olson, Stacie Anderson and Dawn Shiek should contribute this season.

"We may not have a lot of firstplace people," Olson said. "But you been working hard. We have a few problems to take care of, but basically, we've had a good start."

The Rocks open the season Thursday at home against Ypsilanti.

PLYMOUTH CANTON

The Chiefs' problems are opposite of Salem's. Canton has several outstanding individual swimmers but not enough team depth.

"I'm hoping we can develop some people along the way," Wellman said. "We have a small team, like 20 or 25 people. There's still room on the team for anyone else who wants to come out."

The Chiefs' frontliners, though, are formidable. Julie Cox, a state qualifier in the breaststroke is back. As are seniors Michelle Stackpoole (butterfly, freestyle), Sue Schendel (breaststroke) and Amy Schmitz (butterfly, free).

One of the team's strengths will be diving. Seniors Kelly Daily, Lisa De-Jong and Lynn Packard could go 1-2-3 in many meets.

Junior Danielle Dickinson (freestyle) and sophomores Jean McLenaghan (all strokes) and Sarah Schmitz (freestyle) will also score for the Chiefs.

But the bright spot of the team will be the freshman class. Cassie Cummins has the potential to shatter several Canton records this season. Kristy Bruger, Kelly Rische, Val Gildhaus and Kelly Adamczak will figure prominently as well.

 Roger Trice intercepted a Mike Cummings pass and ran it 35 yards to the Flyers' 16. A clipping penalty put the Chiefs out of range.

• Late in the first half, Canton ran a successful fake field goal and had a first down at the Flyers' 19. An illegal block on a Boucher run to the 2 again sent the Chiefs out of range. Gray missed a 43-yard field goal attempt · Early in the third quarter, Trice, a dangerous back, ran the ball drive stalled and Gray had a 27-yard attempt partially blocked.

· Late in the third quarter, the Chiefs fumbled at the Flyers' 20.

BUT FOR ALL the wasted chances, Canton's defense wouldn't relent. The unit as a whole deserves equal credit, but there were a couple of standouts. Scott Browne, a 5-11, 180pound lineman, made several solo tackles and was in on four quarterback sacks.

connecting on a variety of shots to score 10 straight points.

Salem's victory was never in doubt. By halftime, Head had 20 points and Salem led 36-16. She finished with 29; Jessica Handley scored 16 and Kristen Hostynski

But Salem's win was more than offensive; the Rocks limited Nissen, rated the state's third-best player (behind Charles and Head), to 14 points. Andrea McAllister paced Divine Child with 15.

"We really nuetralized her," said wasn't really a factor. (Keri) Mc-Bride was guarding her but team defense was responsible."

Salem led 21-9 after one quarter and could have been farther ahead if it had capitalized on all its chances. The Falcons committed 12 turnovers in the period to two for the Rocks.

AS FOR LADYWOOD . . . The Blazers were the only team that had played a game (a win over Traverse City) before the Great Lakes Invitational. Whatever experience they gained didn't show.

"We weren't executing on offense," said Ladywood coach Ed Ka-Thomann of the defensive vice vanaugh. "We're not at that point of clamped on Nissen. "Her scoring the season yet, where we can score consistently. We forced some turn-overs, but didn't capitalize on them."

When playing a team the caliber of de Porres, that can be a fatal mistake. Ladywood didn't score a point until nearly four minutes had elapsed in the first quarter. The Blazers didn't get their third and fourth points until 5:42 was left in

AFTER THAT, they played reasonably well. Unfortunately, they were already behind 15-2, with the 6-Charles pouring in nine of those. She finished with 15.

Ladywood trailed 11-2 after one quarter and 21-12 at halftime, but made a run in the third period behind Mandy Chandler's eight points. Chandler's basket off an offensive rebound capped a 15-5 Blazer streak and put them up 27-26 with 1:49 left in the quarter.

That also capped Ladywood's efforts for the evening. The team did not score another point for more than four minutes, allowing de Porres to rerume command. Chandler hit two free throws with 4:44 left to play, but by then de Porres had a 35-29 lead. The Blazers never got closer than five the rest of the Chandler finished with 16. Dawn Douglas topped de Porres with 18.

Mercy's press ruins Canton bid

By Chris McCosky staff writer

Farmington Hills Mercy's girls basketball team has discovered an effective way of overcoming lack of size and rebounding capability: Don't let the opposition shoot.

In a season-opening 61-34 tri-umph at Plymouth Canton Thurs-day, the Marlins forced 34 turnovers (30 in the first three quarters) and didn't allow more than 11 shots in any quarter.

"Well, if you have to start the season it might as well be with one in the victory column and with a really good defensive game," said Mercy coach Larry Baker.

The Marlins deployed a multi-tude of traps and presses that com-pletely debilitated Canton. In 34 offensive possessions in the first half, the Chiefs scored six field goals (two in their first three posses and turned the ball over 18 times.

It got worse in the third quarter (four field goals in 20 possessions, 12 turnovers).

"I'll tell you, Mercy is a good team," said Canton coach Rob Neu. They have a superior player in Yvette Maison and a supporting cast that can really play."

MAISON, AN all-state, All-Area choice as a junior last year, scored 21 points to lead all scorers. Also, she made three steals and forced countless other turnovers.

Adrienne Clark shared the spotlight with Maison. The junior scored 20 points and grabbed 12 re-bounds. She, too, was omnipresent bounds. She, too, was omnipresent in Mercy's press.

"At no point in the season will we assess a player's contribution to the team by points scored," Baker said. "To us, Adrienne's fine play on the press was more critical than the points she gave us offensively. I was very pleased with the discipline we showed on our trapping defense."

Jan Herberholz added 11 points to the Marlin cause, and Margaret DeMattia chipped in seven points and three steals.

DESPITE THE lopsided score, there were a couple of bright spots for the Chiefs. Junior Karen Boluch scored 10 points, and sophomore Michelle Fortier added nine. Fortier also played a strong defensive game with three steals.

"If we step into the gym and play smart and play hard we'll be OK," Neu said. "But if we start trying to outfinesse people, we're going to have problems. We will come back into the gym tomorrow, start in right were we left off and we will continue to work hard on the things that are going to make us a suc-cessful basketball team. By the end of the season, this will be a good team. There was some other good news for Canton. The Chiefs won the junior varsity game, handing Mercy its first season-opening loss in several years.

Speaking of Mental Health

At Catherine McAuley Health Center we are moving to a position of leadership in the treatment of mental and emotional problems. Our vision of mental health is becoming a reality with the opening of the new Mercywood Health Building.

Our new facility will house inpatient and outpatient programs for adolescents, adults, and older adults. Our team approach at the new Mercywood focuses on early intervention while problems are still manageable.

Our philosophy of care uses the shortest term, least disruptive form of treatment allowing individuals to return to their homes, jobs and families as soon as possible.

Most mental health problems are temporary in nature. One way we can create a climate that encourages mental health is to understand all we can about it.

Come share our new vision of mental health treatment by attending any of a series of free public tours and lectures which will be offered at Mercywood Health Building during these weeks before

The Michigan Senate, in a special session beginning this week, will start work on a product liability reform measure, senate bill 435. It would amend the Revised Judicature Act by giving manufacturers stronger courtroom defenses. Key features:

- Jury awards for non-economic damages would be limited to $225,000 except in cases of death, damage to reproductive organs or other serious bodily damage.
- · Plaintiffs' attorneys' fees would be limited.
- "Expert witnesses" would have to meet standards - such as spending a substantial amount of time in acive practice and not spending more than 25 percent of their time as "professional witnesses" in court maker of a defective product?

The Legislature's fall session is the latest chapter in a debate that raged most of the last year over medical malpractice, governmental liability and dramshop liability. But lawmakers shelved the product liability question until now.

THREE PARTIES dominate the debate:

- · Manufacturers, who say their liability insurance premiums are leaping hundreds of percent or who find themselves uninsurable.
- Insurers, who say the market is in chaos and they can't calculate the odds of losses because courts are so generous with other people's money.
- Trial lawyers, who, in the words of attorney Paul Rosen, see a plot by "big business" to restrict "a burned child, a crippled factory worker or a blind machine operator victimized by product defects" a chance for compensation.

The issue is a populist one, as House Speaker Gary Owen, D-Ypsilanti, and the United Auto Workers have made clear. They see a class war going on. One UAW speaker went so far as to suggest Republicans were stirring up the issue to

> WHILE POLITICAL emotions are easy to describe, the legal issues are more difficult.

The reform bill (SB 435) would give manufacturers an "absolute defense" if the death or injury oc-

Manufacturers and insurers would like to limit attorneys' fees. They say fees that are one-third of the awarded damages give plaintiffs' atcurred 10 or more years after the torneys an incentive to shoot for the moon with emotional pleas to emotional juries.

The reform bill would set a downward sliding scale on attorneys' fees: 40 percent for the first $5,000, 35 percent for the next $20,000, and so on down the line until a low point of 10 percent for amounts exceeding $500,000.

But a key Senate Republican, Richard Fessler of West Ploomfield, finds a big flaw in the whole idea. Attorney Fessler argues that the bill caps only plaintiffs' attorneys' fees, not the fees of defense attorneys for manufacturers and insurance com-

Defense attorneys are paid by the hour and often use tactics of delay, delay, delay, Fessler said. So it's unfair to cap fees for plaintiffs' attorneys without capping fees for defense attorneys.

Give International Flavor" to Your Cooking

Today, consumers no longer have to cross oceans or borders to experience truly international cuisine. However, with so little time available, elaborate recipes, exotic ingredients and hours of preparation, who has the time?

Simplicity and convenience result in successful and flavorful meals with stuffing and rice mixes. Below are two tempting international dinners - one French and the other Mexican.

Roasted Stuffed Chicken Cordon Bleu is very easy to prepare. Just stuff chicken breast with ham, Swiss cheese and savory chicken flavored stuffing mix and voila! You've created an elegant French-style entree.

No need to visit the Eiffel Tower or walk down the Champs Elysee to satisfy the sophisticated palate. This dish can also be prepared ahead of time so when you're ready just bake and serve.

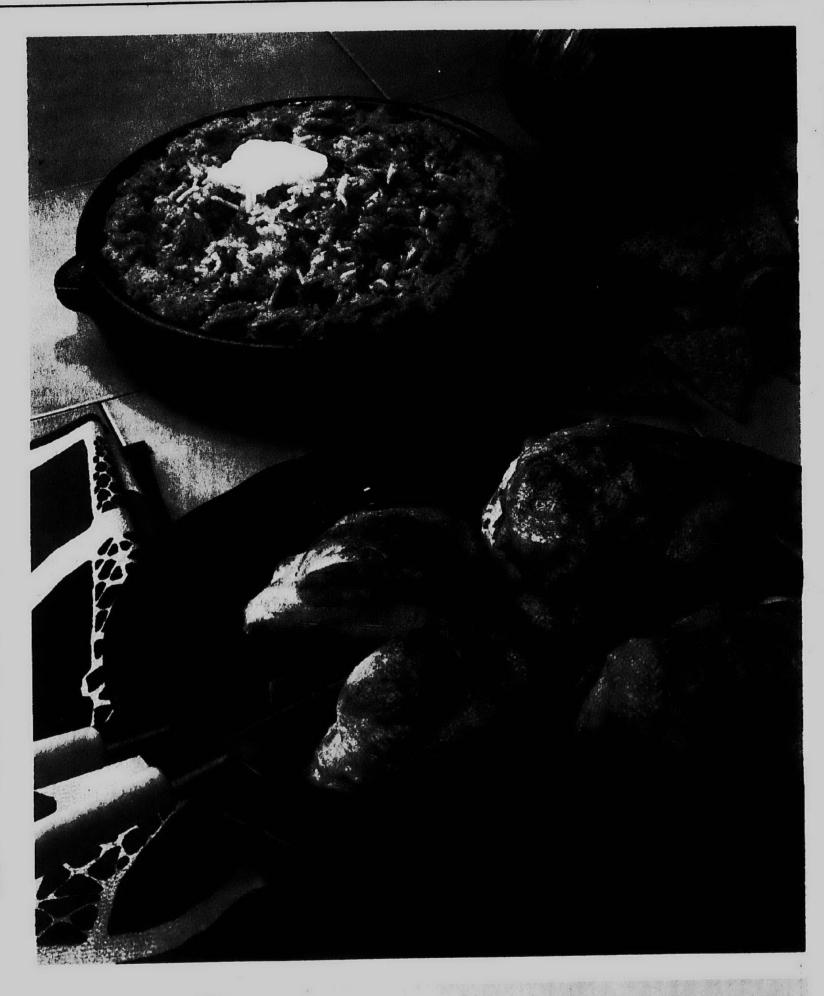

INVITE YOUR FRIENDS over for a real Mexican treat. Serve ground beef with guacamole and a Spanish rice mix. Add an authentic touch and top with dollops of sour cream and crunchy tortilla chips on the side. Don't forget the green finger peppers!

One bite of this meal and you'll think you're walking down the halls of Montezuma.

What about appetizers, side dishes and desserts? No need to worry as a complete menu for any taste includes fruit and cheese. For either international selection a fresh fruit plate served with cheese and lightly toasted alamonds adds a variety of flavors.

Use fruit that are in season now . . . melons, plums, peaches, necatarines and grapes. Complement the menu by using bite size pieces of cheese. Be adventurous and break the American cheese habit. Try the exotic tastes of Jalpeno, Brie, Feta and Havarti.

If your dessert tastes need something a bit sweeter, a simple scoop of vanilla ice cream topped with mint chocolate squares is delightful way to end

Lotsa pasta Spices and herbs perk up saucy linguine combination

This eye-catching pasta dish wins unaminous approval for its easy-toprepare sauce made with rich and creamy cream cheese, basil, garlic, olive oil and tomatoes.

A topping of toasted pine nuts and grated Parmesan cheese complements the dish, which may be served as a satisfying light entree or a hearty first course.

Basil Linguine underscores America's ongoing love affair with pasta. No longer viewed simple as something over which to pour the meatballs and tomato sauce, pasta recipes featured new and innovative ingredient combinations.

Fresh vegetable and pasta combinations prevailed. Meatless baked casseroles, layered with lasagna noodles, fresh or frozen vegetables and cream cheese-based sauces were numerous.

Taking an unromantic look at tragic lovers

Another long-running British import is "Mona Lisa," (R) a vivid, gripping look at the seamy, side of things. Starring Bob Hoskins - he was the insecure writer in Alan Alda's "Sweet Liberty" — and Michael Caine, "Mona Lisa" realistically dissects the lives of mobsters, pimps and prostitutes without the offensive gore so common in the sleaze and slime films this side of the At-

George (Hoskins) is released after serving seven years in prison. He expects the mob, personified by Mortwell (Caine), to take care of him, particularly since his wife will have nothing to do with him. Only friend Thomas (Robbie Coltraine), a strange inventor-mechanic friend, comes to George's aid.

Mortwell is away but his lieutenant finally puts George to work chauffeuring Simone (Cathy Tyson), a high-class, black prostitute, from job to job. George generally waits in plush hotel lobbies while Simone is

While the subject matter is seamy, the treatment is not - and that makes all the difference. The screenplay never wanders from its intent and, with heavy, measured tread proceeds to its inevitable conclusions, both tragic and rewarding.

Roger Pratt's slightly softened, dingy gray views of London's porno shops in contrast to the yellowed, nostalgic look of the posh hotel lobbies, where George waits while Simone works, strike just the right note: "Here, friends, is the look of the wealthy, but we know the dirty, gray things they're doing." It's just that the rich don't have to do it

Michael Caine and Bob Hoskins are masterful actors, but this film belongs to the scenes played between Hoskins and Cathy Tyson. In her film debut, Tyson, niece of American actress Cicely Tyson, draws a remarkable portrait of a successful prostitute living in fear of the beatings administered by her former pimp.

The dramatic tension in her relationship with George touches our sensibilities. Most important of all, however, are the ways in which their lovo affair underscores the film's realistic and often overlooked message: all human beings have feelings.

Pimps, prostitutes, gangsters and every other unfortunate individual, all are human beings with feelings, no matter how seamy and sordid their lives may be. It is a lesson in humanity we all need re-taught from time to time.

If all the reels were delivered, "The Girl in the Picture" (PG-13) opened Friday, Sept. 5. Robots aid in learning won't be the only subjects taught this fall in Plymouth-Canton high

A new program in robotics is being offered for Plymouth-Canton Community Schools students.

'We're just getting everything ready," said Harold Gaertner, vocational and career education director for the Plymouth-Canton schools.

All of the equipment for the program should be in place by the end of September, Gaertner said.

The equipment includes three robots donated by Margaret Wilson, owner of Computer Time on Penniman in Plymouth.

"It'll make an excellent teaching device, really outstanding, Gaertner said of the robots.

The program will be offered for high school vocational education students. An adult education program in robotics will also be offered

The instruction will prepare students to become robotics technicians. Such technicians are responsible for the operation, repair and design of robots.

Reading, writing and arithmetic perform a number of functions in industry.

> THE CURRENT vocational education program in robotics is a oneyear program, with students meeting two hours per day Monday through Friday. An advanced program in robotics could be developed down the road, Gaertner said.

In developing the robotics program, those involved in the planning looked at the market demand for robotics technicians.

"We looked at it real hard," Gaertner said. A national association in the robotics field, based in Detroit, was one source of information for the local educators.

'We contacted them and talked to them about job possibilities." Studies of the robotics field were also looked at in planning the Plymouth-Canton program.

The local educators hope to attract students - including young women - who are interested in the robotics field.

They are useful in assessing: the success of treatment, the extent of inflammation, and the type of arthritis present.

Immammation, and the type of arthritis present.

The rheumatoid factor test serves afl these purposes in following your rheumatoid arthritis. The ANA test is helpful in deciding if lupus arthritis underlies your joint pain and swelling. The serum uric acid serves to determine if medication is controlling your gout.

However, no blood test is 100% specific. You can have test results that are positive for rheumatoid factor or ANA, and yet on examination have no joint swelling that indicates rheumatoid or tupus arthritis. Increasing age alone can change your blood test to yield a positive result.

Your doctor's assessment of arthritis is based on your explanation of what occurred prior to the appointment, and his or her findings upon examining your joints today. Blood tests are useful to confirm that impression.

homemakers. The ongoing program for displaced homemakers provides job seeking assistance, personal skills evaluation, resume writing and interviewing tips and job placement services.
