Non-profits receive financial windfalls

By Doug Funke

staff writer

Several organizations - including the Plymouth Community Fund and the Salvation Army - will divide about $52,000 cash with the dissolution of a non-profit corporation formed 25 years ago to stimulate business in the community

The Plymouth Industrial Development Corp., a forerunner of economic development corporations and industrial rehabilitation districts, has been disbanded because it essentially outlived its usefulness.

"We could have (continued on) but the need isn't there," said Harvey Ziel, a local accountant and longtime treasurer of the Plymouth Industrial Development Corp. Now, with tax abatements, EDC programs and conventional financing, it just isn't needed." So, after reimbursing stockholders $25 par value for their investment in 1961, a committee of surviving directors and a few stockholders met to distribute the remaining assets as required by state law.

ZIEL DECLINED to reveal how much each organization will receive but indicated that the Plymouth Community Fund and the Plymouth YMCA Building Fund will receive the largest shares.

Other recipients, Ziel said, are the Schoolcraft College Foundation, the

The Plymouth Industrial Development Corp. also made a gift to the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce of the building the chamber has been renting. That gift was valued at about $70,000.

Ziel declined to be specific on the dollar amounts of cash gifts to indi-

"Frank Arlen was president from day one and did an awful lot of gratis work on this. We generally followed his desires. I suggested some. Others suggested some.

Ban on some development not expected to last too long

By Doug Funke staff write:

The Plymouth Township board has effectively banned - at least temporarily - large-scale residential, industrial and commercial developments that require sewer extensions. A resolution, adopted Tuesday, directs the administration "to withhold final approval of building projects which would require . . santtary sewer extensions" until further action by the board.

The ban probably won't have an immediate effect, according to Supervisor Maurice Breen.

The township's tax base, though,

Its purpose also is to give towncould become static if the resolution ship officials time to look at benefit remains in force for a long period of fees and ways to finance participation in the Ypsilanti system, estimat-Breen said he doesn't anticipate ed to cost several million dollars, any negative repercussions from the state over the township's decision to Breen said.

"I think it's a matter of taking a little breathing space and letting everyone know down the line there night be a problem," he said. "We're not stopping anything. If you read arefully, it (resolution) says final upproval.'

Breen reiterated that the township is 't now under the gun from the stat Department of Natural Resources over sewage problems.

"We don't have any problems anywhere - no pollution warnings, no non-compliance. We're in the same position we've always been in. Somewhere down the line someone is going to say we're over capacity.

'Our position is we're doing everything we need to do," Breen said of the township's plan to book up with the Ypsilanti sewer system.

"What we're saying for people starting projects is, 'Beware, something's going on here," " he said.

"This (ban) would be an on-going review. We'll look at it again in another month.

Lawyer to entertain at gala for Supreme Court

Singing barrister

By M.B. Dillon staff writer

It all started when Plymouth attorney Carol Levitte made a bet with Sherry Bugar.

Levitte was sure she could get Bugar's boss, lawyer John Stewart, to audition for an event honoring the 150th anniversary of the state Supreme Court.

Well, it looks like Bugar will be buying lunch at the Mayflower Ho-

FRIDAY NIGHT, when the State Bar of Michigan hosts Supreme Court justices, judges and attorneys for an evening of sesquicentennial entertainment, Stewart's name will grace the program.

Stewart, whose general law practice also is Plymouth-based, will join a host of other legal types from all corners of Michigan who'll perform music, magic, comedy and drama for an audience of 500 at Southfield's Town Center.

A singer since junior high days when he began honing his talents at Interlochen National Music Camp. Stewart has enjoyed success in both legal and musical circles.

His one-man law office is housed in a well-appointed, converted residence on Main Street. A member of the Plymouth Community Chorus, Stewart recently soloed with the Ann Arbor Cantata Singers and the Ann Arbor Symphony at Hill Auditorium. He's conducted and sung in Vienna, Austria's Konzerthaus, the Meadowbrook Festival for Robert Shaw, Cranbrook, and Interlochen.

For 12 years, the 38-year-old performed with the Kenneth Jewell Chorale

John probably would not push himself a lot in the community, and I wanted him to sing," said Levitte, who's delighted a fellow member of the Suburban Bar Association of Western Wayne County will be represented Friday.

John has a gift. I thought, 'Good he can use it, we can use it and everyone can have a good time. The Suburban Bar Association isn't very well kn n, "she said.

STEWART SAID it took some

Press Club for the audition six weeks

'I'd gone home that afternoon for nap because I didn't feel well. When I came back to the office, Carol said, 'I'm going to drive you downtown."

Stewart was talked into it. "He auditioned at the Press Club with no accompanist, with the bartender ringing up tabs right next to him," Levitte said.

After listening to Stewart sing the University of Michigan fight song and several other numbers, a panel of jurists informed Stewart that he faced some stiff competition. Only eight performers were being select-doing to get him down to the Detroit ed, and State Court of Appeals Judge Myron Wahls was one of them.

'John was up against a substantial number of very viable people," said Levitte.

They called him the next morning with the good news. A surprised Stewart asked Levitte, "What do I do now

"Start practicing," advised Levitte

Stewart, married to fellow singer and the former Beth Marvin, is ready. He'll be performing a Handel baritone aria entitled "Old Mother Hubbard," accompanied by former Plymouth resident and pianist Carol Local haberdasher and avid Buckeye fan Fred Hill revs up the week before the Ohio State-University of Michigan football game. Hill takes plenty of abuse from local Wolverines but revels in victory every chance he gets.

Clothier loyal to Scarlet & Gray

By M.B. Dillon staff writer

Because of it, Plymouth's Fred Hill once had to clean Realtor Sam Dibble's office toilet. For the same reason, Hill has been treated by the mayor to breakfast in bed - in Kellogg Park, no less.

This year, he turned down a free trip to California to celebrate it.

The Ohio State-Michigan football game, for haberdasher Hill, easily is the most important occasion of the year. The local merchant is in the sometimes embarrassing, sometimes satisfying habit of wagering with his heart before the Big Ten giants do battle each November.

This year's game, being played Saturday in Columbus, is no exception.

THE LATEST GAMBLE Hill took was asking the Plymouth the Commission to grant a pernation an outdoor pep rally Friday night in Kellogg Park.

In his absence at Monday's commission meeting the grad's cont t was read out His no was missing from the agenda item, and that raised the eyebrows of a wary resident in the audic

"I read through the packet, and nowhere does it name the organization involved in the rally, nor does it name what the pep rally is all about," said the man, a tad perturbed.

"It's the friends of Ohio State and U of M, and this has been going on for 15 years," explained City Manager Henry Graper.

Graper and the commissioners had discussed the matter earlier that evening at the pre-commission meeting.

"Who are we pepping for?" asked Commissioner Donald Keller at that session.

"It depends on whether you value your life," someone responded, adding that as long as Hill has been in Plymouth, the pep rally's been in the park.

'It's a must," summed up Commissioner Mary Childs.

City Commissioner Karl Gansler further quieted fears.

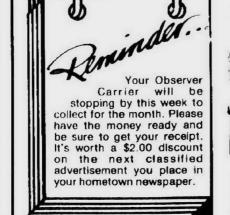

"A Buckeye is nothing more than a hairless nut with no intrinsic value," he said, seconding Childs' motion, which passed unanimously.

AND SO, at 8 p.m. Friday, Fred Hill along with Blu Burns, Judy and Dick Klippstein. Marge and Businesses and homeowners are working at cross-purposes on prop-erty taxes, according to the picture painted by a legislative consultant.

Communities compete with each other by offering businesses 50 percent, 12-year property tax abatements to locate.

On the other hand, homeowners getting property tax credits on their state income taxes vote for local millage hikes in the belief they won't pay them but businesses will.

"A property tax exemption is an erratic and inefficient form of subsidy," said the scholarly study by Public Sector Consultants Inc.

THE STUDY, entitled "Michigan Property Tax Exemptions and Their Effect," was prepared by Robert Kleine. Its $45,000 cost was paid for by state Sen. Harry DeMaso, R-Battle Creek, though his officholder's expense fund. DeMaso, a political maverick who often supported Gov. James J. Blanchard, will retire from the Senate. DeMaso chaired the Economic Development Committee and strongly criticized the way "we've given away the tax base.

It's likely to figure prominently in the thinking of Senate Republicans, who are making property tax reform their No. 1 issue in 1967. Many Democrats may like it, too, particularly Detroiters opposed to abatements for industrial giants. It generated some discussion in the Republican gubernatorial primary.

"A rough estimate is that $77 billion, or about 38 percent, of the value of all taxable property" is exempt (see chart), the consultant says.

Some exemptions - for governmental and church properties - are legitimate and unlikely to be changed.

Other favored treatments, however, are potential '87 targets. Among them are some industrial exemptions, many commercial exemptions. the low rates on mobile homes, and federal properties. INDUSTRIAL tax abatements are a particular focus. Some $10 billion worth were granted in 1974-85 to lure new plant growth

They didn't work, said the consult-

"Our examination of the evidence suggets that abatements have probably done more to relocate industrial development within the state than to lure development from outside Michigan's borders ... Abate-ments have stimualted very little growth even at the local level."

Loss of revenue to local governments: $262 million statewide this year alone.

The consultant recommended limiting industrial abatements to five years.

COMMERCIAL abatements of $700 million are even more questionable, said the consultant.

One reason is that commercial development - shopping centers, res-taurants, etc. - is limited by the 'exporting" or industrial sector.

A second reason is that commer cial development "is determined preponderantly by where the cus-tomers are," rather than by tax breaks.

"Special tax incentives are unlikely either to enhance or counteract market forces," the consultant said.

Suburban school officials, in particular, sell millage increases to homeowners on the grounds that the state will give them circuit breaker rebates. And since few suburban school districts get state aid, home-owners have an incentive to vote for

"A major problem with rebating a high percentage of property taxes," said the consultant, "is that taxpay-ers will have little stake in keeping local millage article dates." local millage rates down."

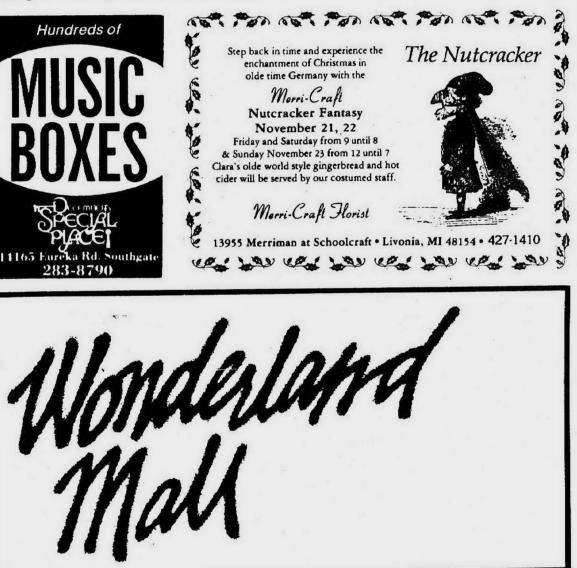

The system seems to punish estab-lished businesses not getting abate-ments and homeowners not eligible for rebates.

There's $77.2 billion worth of property in Michigan that's exempt from local property taxes. Consultants say little can be done about governmental, church and charitable

Senior citizens party Saturday

The first senior citizen party sponsored by the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce will be held this Saturday in Plymouth.

Senior citizens will meet at Tonguish Creek Manor at 9:30 a.m. for a day of riding the Plymouth doubledecked bus, spending the morning at the Plymouth Historical Museum for a tour led by Dr. Barbara Saunders.

The tour will be followed by a Christmas luncheon with table decorations by Friendly Persuasions, a Gay 90s Show presented by music students of Charlotte Moore Viculin Studio, a dulcimer and vioiln recital by Gloria Bisdorf and accompanist and Christmas favors and Plymouth holiday shopping discounts. Members of the National Honor Society of Plymouth-Canton Community Schools will help at the luncheon.

There is a charge of $5 for the luncheon. The museum trip and entertainment are being sponsored by the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce

Seats are limited for and will be granted on a first-come basis to all senior citizens. It is not necessary to live in Plymouth to attend. For reservations call the Chamber at 453-1540

Goodfellows telethon slated

A telethon to raise money for the Goodfellows will be conducted from 11 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Saturday on Omnicom Channel 15.

Goodfellow associations participating this year are from Canton, Plymouth, Wayne, Westland, Garden City and Dearborn Heights.

Viewers from the Plymouth-Canton area will be able to call 277-1050 during the telethon and pledge support to the Goodfellows group in the community of their choice. The telethon, produced by Continental Cablevision, will be aired live from Crestwood High School in Dearborn Heights as well as from Continental's studio in Dearborn Heights.

The Goodfellows are a non-profit organization of volunteers who seek to provide food, clothing and toys to needy people at Christmas and throughout the year.

youths brought in due to Detroit's re-cently enforced curlew and the ndance of state wards. · Mental Health Services were funded $14.6 million.

• The county's Patient Care Management System, providing medical service for indigent people, was funded $3.5 million, which Manning said represents only a fraction of typical yearly costs of about $32 million. The service costs are shared by the state of Michigan as well and are currently the subject of a court dis-pute filed by Lucas.

Lucas is seeking to reclaim $50 million in overcharges to Wayne County.

Manning said there's no question the budget under represents those annual costs. He hopes a favorable court ruling and negotiations with state officials will reduce the county's obligation in that area.

County tightens spending next year

By Teri Bana staff writer

Commission chairman Richard Manning, D-Redford Township, said he's forgotten what is a "realistic" budget after years of fashioning fiscal plans for Wayne County.

And he predicts that the new fiscal year, which starts Dec. 1, will be no different or no less fraught with financial crisis.

Last week the 15-member board adopted a $206.8 million general fund budget that makes little change over this year's spending. The tax rate, $7.07 mills (representing $7.07 per $1,000 in property evaluation) will remain, though increased property value promises to push up tax collections by $4.5 million.

Even so, a carry-over $35 million debt, the loss of $10.7 million in federal revenue sharing and a recent court-ordered payment of COLA owed to court employees of as much as $20 million will put strain on budget planners.

Winter sports trimmed

By Teri Banas staff writer

Wayne County Parks Director Eric Reickel will delay the start of the winter recreation program to Jan. 1, 1987, and will eliminate night-time programming in order to stretch the county budget allocation of $2.5 million for 1987.

Previously, area residents along western Wayne County's Hines Parkway took advantage of county-sponsored activities such as ice skating, sledding and tobogganing after the first snowfall of the season.

Other changes include the elimination of a warming shelter at Middlebelt Hill and the elimination of supervised tobagganing at the Cass Benton Tobaggan Hill, he said.

"It just costs too much to rent the warming shelter," said Reickel who added that cuts in the labor staff will mean that such sports can no longer be supervised by parks employees.

UNDER THE 1986-87 county budget adopted by the Wayne County Board of Commissioners last week. park funding remains at the same level for the third, consecutive year. Reickel said the constant level of funding is the equivalent of a $200,000 loss in each of the three years because of inflation and employee contract settlements over that same period of time.

Within the seven-park system, that funding supports the maintenace of the Middle Rouge Parkway along

County officials said the incoming staff of Livonia Mayor Edward McNamara likely will bring changes early on to the county's financial allocations. "We realize that starting the first of the year there will likely be amended changes," added Commissioner Kay Beard, D-Inkster. "We're waiting to see the McNamara Reorganization Plan."

Even before that happens, though, Manning said an area of the budget ready to 'boil over' is within the Wayne County Sheriff's Department, where an approved $28.7 million allocation falls short of the department's listed needs.

Sheriff Robert Ficano, who said it will take $32 million to avoid serious cutbacks, says he's underfunded and will be forced to close down 2 1/2 floors of the nine-story Wayne County Jail.

Ficano said he is preparing supporting documents to present to Manning's office.

The

Six months ago a hiring freeze brought by Executive William Lucas resulted in jailers working 12-hour shifts to cover 37 lost jobs there, Fi-cano said. "It's unreasonable, causing low morale, family inconvenience and fatique,' Ficano said. 'It would be inhumane if this situation continues

In another area, $621,000 was cut from the $4 million medical diognostic services offered inside the jail, and Ficano said problems will result if this service isn't restored. That service is monitored by the Circuit Court which has mandated medical care for the incarcerated.

Outgoing commissioner Mary Dumas, R-Livonia, said the sheriff's budget was not reduced but kept at the current level, as were many of the other county departments.

"We've told him that he's the administrator and he will have to make decisions on where the money goes," she said.

Manning said the possibility of the jail closing is an area of 'absolute top priority' and they will study the sheriff's report closely with some conclusion by the end of January.

In other county service areas, the seven-park system operated by Wayne County saw no increase in its $2.5 million budget, which will result in immediate cutbacks in the winter recreation program, said parks di-rector Eric Reickel. (See related sto-

 The county commission added increased security officers to the Probate Court after chief Judge Joseph Pernick argued that employee and customer safety would be threatened. In total, the county will fund that court $31 million with the state responsible for the balance of its operation. The county's share of operating the 3rd Circuit Court will be $4.36 million. The county is also funding Recorder's Court $9.1 million next year.

 The taxpayer cost of the county board of commissioners will be $4.7 million, after commissioners restored $1.2 million in cuts made by $250,000 there. According to Dumas. extra beds were added particularly because of the increased numbers of Lucas. Included in that is $2.46 million for operating individual commission offices, $415,563 for public relations (up from $265,563), $286,534 for legislative research ser-vices, and $536,426 for its auditor general's services. Some $1.2 million is set aside to Hines Drive in this area, a nature preserve, two golf courses and a boat launch in Wyandotte.

The impact on parks services will mean a loss of five maintenance workers and five interns to the parks design staff and recreation program, leaving 48 full-time employees.

"It's a stay-put budget and the infrastructure is still decaying," Reickel said.

Reickel, who was Oakland County's parks director before William Lucas lured him away four years ago, has been an outspoken proponent of earmarked millage for park services. Without it, consistency in programming is impossible and simple maitenance falls behind, he said.

"I would have liked to have seen an issue on the ballot in August and I still believe it should be done with the hopes of that happening in 1988," he said.

Earlier this year Lucas and the county board organized a blue-ribbon task force on park service and funding prospects but no action has resulted.

Reickel said he hopes that another advisory panel, one currently being implemented under a new park master plan study, may make some recommendations on a millage.

board of trustees made the decision that its history should be preserved. A subcommittee was named to study the best way to do this. "By 1983, the committee was doing a lot of investigating and had gone to visit different archives," Connors said. "They recommended to the board that they start a college archives, and initiate a formal program to collect, house and make accessible materials and records that would highlight the historical development of the college." Connors was hired for the job in February of 1984, after completing her master's degree in library science at Wayne State University. Formation of the college archives was planned to correspond with Schoolcraft's 25th anniversary, celebrated this year.

"It's been my job to go around to all of the offices on campus and look through their files to see what they have," she said. "I'm looking for things that represent the early years, like pamphlets, brochures and class schedules, things that explain what was happening at that time.

"I tend to look for the everyday things, like old photographs and flyers distributed to advertise meetings or concerts," she said. "Some departments have saved things back to day one. and other offices have needed the storage space and had to pitch a lot of things through the years."

"Once everything is properly filed. I have to make what we call a finding aid, which is very similar to a card catalog you'd find in a library," she said. "That way people can come in and look up a subject to see if we have anything on it."

Aside from the written history of the college, Connors also is conducting oral histories, in which she tapes interviews with community members instrumental in getting the college off the ground, as well as college officials who were at Schoolcraft in the beginning and can talk about how the school has changed.

The Schoolcraft archives welcomes community donations, she said, adding the first registered student already has given pictures and articles that were run in the local papers when the college opened. Collecting the historical data has not always been fun. Connors said as she remembered one incident last winter. "I was checking the accounting office records, which are stored in a garage next to their office," she said, laughing. "Well, this garage is not heated, and here I was wearing these gloves that I'd cut the fingers out of, going through these boxes of records in the freezing cold."

Connors became interested in archive work after serving as a middle school librarian before her children were born, and doing years of volun-teer work at the Plymouth Historical Museum. It was this experience that prompted her to get her master's degree.

The task of putting the Schoolcraft College archives together has been more challenging than intimidating, she admitted.

"It's always been one of my goals to start an archives," she said. "I think I'm really lucky that it was something I was able to do in my first job after getting my degree.

Secchia defends GOP role in 'horne'

By Tim Richard staff writer

Can a politician find happiness in a hornet's nest?

Yes, if he's GOP National Committeeman Peter F. Secchia defending his record as a party leader before the Birmingham Republican Women's Club.

'Leaders are supposed to lead' said the Grand Rapids politico as large parts of the audience jeered him for taking sides in the 1986 GOP gubernatorial primary and engineering the 1984 Senate run of Jack Lousma

"I didn't know I was comin' into a hornet's nest," Secchia grinned as the questions got sharper and sharp-"That's good, though," said the er. 49-year-old salesman, taking off his coat and inviting more.

ONE WOMAN, a Dick Chrysler supporter in the primary, summed up years of many party workers' feelings as she told Secchia, "You have a very fine record for picking losers. You should join the Democratic Party.

"I'll match my record against vours," Secchia shot back "You (Chrysler people) are so vindictive. Your man screwed up. Why don't you face it?

"Do you think the Detroit News (which exposed Chrysler's tax problems with the state) would print a story I wanted?

'I've chosen some losers, no question about it. So did you - Dick Chrysler.

AS THINGS calmed down in Tuesday's Community House luncheon. Secchia told why, despite his party position, he became so heavily involved in two primaries.

William Lucas, the Wayne County executive who won the gubernatorial nod, "wasn't recruited by the Republican Party. He was drummed out of the Democratic Party for doing Republican things," Secchia said, citing the sale of a money-losing hospital and attempts to pare down union gains.

He went through the list of other candidates:

• Oakland County Executive Daniel Murphy: "It wasn't Dan's time — he had 9 percent (in polls)."

Reagan's clean water veto hurts the state

State officials say that President Reagan's veto of the Clean Water Act approved by Congress will hamper state efforts to clean up waterways and improve sewage treatment plants.

The state stood to receive more than $250 million a year in federal loans and grants under compromise legistation which passed both the House and Senate without a dissenting vote in October. U.S. Rep. William Ford, D-Taylor, whose 15th District includes Canton, said Reagan's veto is a major blow to Michigan's efforts to make its rivers "fishable and swimmable."

U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth, said he supported the bill because it represented "a lot of important" projects for the state.

'PURSELL WAS on vacation but a spokesman said that Pursell called Reagan last week, asking him to sign the bill.

'Charlie Moses, Gov. James Blanchard's Washington representative on environmental issues, said the compromise that Congress "came up with was just great for Michigan. We pocket veto. The bill must be reintroduced to be considered again:

will be a top priority in the next Con- line for meeting pollution control regress, which will convene in early January

Reagan on Thursday put the kibosh on the legislation, balking at its $18 billion price tag through 1994, including $9.6 billion for direct grants and another $8.4 billion that would allow states to set up a revolving fund to aid communities once the grants run out.

REAGAN WANTED a maximum of $6 billion spent for the Clean Water renewal.

"It is necessary for the federal government to reduce its expenditures and complete the transition from federal to state and local responsiblity," he said. Environmental leaders in the new Democratic-controlled Senate are warning that Reagan may be sent an even more expensive bill once the next Congress convenes, but state officials say any delays in financing will be tough on Michigan communities facing a July 1988 compliance deadline.

quirements spelled out in the original Clean Water Act in 1972.

At least 147 Michigan communities are waiting in line for federal wastewater treatment grants to improve their sewage plants, with dozens of the towns under government order to shape up by 1988, he said.

"Many of those communities were banking on having grant funds available in a quick enough manner that would allow them to come into compliance," Heckathorn said.

"Many of those communities will now be forced to seek funding elsewhere and, in the worst of all situations, forced to foot the bills entirely on their own."

HECKATHORN SAID delays in starting the new treatment facilities also threaten continued pollution of Michigan's waterways because some communities currently operate plants that are "not sufficient to protect the streams into which they discharge."

"The longer those facilities go without upgrading, the longer the in-renewal bill was particularly distressing for Michigan because the state had lobbied so hard over the past two years to protect its sewage treatment financing levels.

The House originally approved a financing plan that would have continued to allocate the state $105.2 million in grants each year.

But in the Senate, Sun Belt members lobbied to swing more money their direction, and drafted a committee plan that would have given Michigan just $82.9 million. Michigan's two U.S. senators,

Democrats Donald Riegle and Carl Levin, joined with other Great Lakes senators to protect their region, and the Senate ultimately passed a plan that didn't take quite as much away from the Northeast and Midwest, leaving Michigan $88.5 million.

WHEN THE legislation eventually emerged from a House-Senate conference committee, Michigan man-aged to come up with $104 million, almost as much as it received in ear-lier years. "That was something we were really excited and pleased with," Moses said.

"All the governors from the states that were hurt, certainly the congressional delegations on the House and Senate sides, were very vocal on that issue. They really dug their heels in."

Moses predicted the final shape of next year's legislation will depend on which senators wind up in leadership positions.

He said that will be determined when the Democrats get organized now that the elections have shifted control their way after six years of GOP majority rule. "If we can just get to the same point next year is all we can hope for," Moses said.

The Southfield health organization, which conducts the Smokeless program at companies and hospitals nationwide, recommends a series of techniques for smokers who want to quit for today's Great American mokeout.

The Smokeout is a day when all smokers are asked to quit for 24 hours.

According to Dr. Don R. Powell. the institute's executive director, "Smokers can quit for the day without climbing the walls if they use the Warm Pheasant approach rather than the more traditional Cold Turkey method. Warm Pheasant involves a series of procedures that can effectively prevent and eliminate cigarette urges." WOULD-BE QUITTERS should

Teachers argue validity of movie

(The following guest column was written by James Martin, David Soomann, and Dr. Stephen Wilhums, teachers at Plymouth Canton High School).

In response to the Observer editorial 'Not all movies worth defending," Nov. 13, we feel that you fail to make your case in several ways.

First, although you correctly recognize the worth of "The Breakfast Club" and the necessity "... in our public schools for competing ideas . . ." you do not see the contradictions in your "free speech" limitations argument.

You say because we disapprove tacitly and formally of "objectionable" language use by students, "By what stretch of the imagination can we allow the exact same words to be spoken by other voices via cinema?" Using this logic, a teacher whose lesson was the examination of bigotry, racism, sexism, etc., would be obliged to omit worthwhile movies which included offensive words like "kike" or "nigger" or "bitch," no matter how effectively these movies contributed to students' understanding. Clearly the above words are profane and "obscene" and there is empirical evidence that they are harmful but just as clearly movies like "Tootsie", and made for TV films such as "Playing for Time" and "Roots," that deal with the above stereotypes, use the words to teach us precisely what's wrong with them; their omission would destroy the idea the filmmaker is trying to communicate - which is the essence of censorship.

Similarly, "The Breakfast Club" is a timely, relevant, and effective examination of the causes of the behaviors of the young people it depicts. The 70 or so profane words that are objected to in the 20,000-word script are inextricably bound to the ideas about human behavior being communicated - ideas that show precisely the poverty of profanity and its occasional reflection of a cruel existence as in the case of the character John Bender, victim of child abuse. You apparently miss a critical point of the movie, for at its conclusion when the young people have understood some of this is something that would spoil the game it is only reasonable that we cancel all baseball games. This application of behavioral determinism places humans on par with ants in an ant farm.

There is a difference between "embedded" and "displaced" language use as pointed out by psycholinguist James Britton in his book "Language and Learning." Most senior high students understand the difference between being asked to do something and being asked to think about something. Information does not equal permission in this equation. "Embedded" language is

. . dependant upon the situation and accompanying actions for its interpretation . . . the speech is part of a chain of mingled utterance and action." (Britton)

FOR EXAMPLE, yelling fire in a crowded theater only motivates the patrons to evacuate if it comes from a member of the audience or staff, not, certainly, if it comes from one of the actors on the screen. The actors reflect "displaced" speech used ". . . to refer to or interpret or recount an experience . . and not as an embedded part of the here and now. It is speech about other times and other places." (Britton). Surely your argument that profanity from the video monitor in a classroom functions the same as profanity from one of the class members or teacher makes little sense.

Further, you assert that the "community standards" idea could be used to prohibit the showing of R-rated movies in the classroom. Theater owners (and Omnicom Cablevision indirectly), however, allow parents to accompany minors to R-rated movies. Thus community standards actually establish the right of parents to determine whether their children will have access to controversial (i.e., R-rated) ideas. We agree with this, and would point out that board policy and school practice is compatible with these community standards by requiring parental permission for R-rated movies.

Had you followed through on the logic of your community standards idea you would have come to the conclusion that the "Breakfast Club" should have been shown with parental permission. Unfortunately, however, by specious argument you then claim the right of a third party (you, a concerned parent or an administrator) to usurp the authority of other parents to determine what learning experiences their children will have access to. We think this is the central issue, by misinterpreting the community standards idea you mistakenly claim the authority to usurp the rights of other parents. In our opinion this is a dangerous precedent that clearly shows that the banning of "The Breakfast Club" is not a benign act: it is a stripping away of rights and responsibilities of parents, students and teachers inherent in the First Amendment and a breaking of the implicit contract parents have with the public schools for the weakest of reasons.

tions. And what could be the motivation for the former judge, James Canham of Redford Township, who was labeled "the bagman" by one newspaper? In all the words secretly recordered there is no indication he will get a dime.

If he were guilty, would he not be a partner in profit? Could he possibly have participated in this feeble scheme as a hail-fellow, well-met politician doing a favor for another politician, as A third party is involved, the man one attorney speculated? Or was it a that in a bribe, the division of spoils should be precise and direct. Here we have the amount of the bribe discussed and doubled almost as an afterthought.

And the money. State Appeals Judge S. Jerome Bronson supposedly offers to fix a case and suggests the bribe should be $15,000 to $20,000. The money was needed to make some car payments, one of the participants said. It seems almost ludicrous that someone would risk his life's work, his reputation, the heart of his existence for such a paltry amount and for such shallow reasons.

The case involved at least $3.5 million award, without interest. At the rates that attorneys get paid in such cases, the attorney who was approached to make the bribe could receive anywhere from $1.5 million to well past $2

FURTHER, YOUR analysis suggests that teachers simply present ideas (i.e., "Breakfast Club") without a careful plan to nurture larger student outcomes. This view denies the central role of a teacher, namely to utilize ideas to enlarge our students' understanding of themselves, their world, and their responsibilities.

Also, you contend that if we use Rrated films in the classroom we should be prepared "... for students to use that language in the classroom. . ." This logic would suggest that spectators at a baseball game will come to expect a turn at bat; and, of course, because

Searching for the hero in us

HEROES ARE human.

That's important to remember in this country where we have relied so heavily on heroes to show us the way.

It would be silly to avoid the subject this week. After all, the big story, the one which everyone is talking about, is the death of Judge Jerome Bronson.

His death is a tough story to write, read or understand. But it is a story, nevertheless, which is on most everyone's mind.

Judge Bronson's death is more than the story about one man. Although his story, alone, is big enough. But it also is the story of all of us who take our ideals and try to transform them onto human beings.

THAT HABIT, of trying to transform our leaders into Olympian figures, is one which saps our strength to survive.

We do it to a variety of leaderspresidents, senators, physicians and teachers, just to name a few.

We also do it to judges. We insist they be perfect. And when they turn out to be something less than perfect, when they prove to be just like you and me, persons amenable to the pressures and temptations of life, we frown, become disparaging and disillusioned.

crackerbarrel debate Steve Barnaby

But we only are cheating ourselves. In truth, what makes a person great is the ability, for however short a time, to overcome the frailties built into the human condition and to make a contribution to society in so doing.

Heroes aren't born. They aren't perfect. They're persons who have overcome human obstacles to stand above the crowd. Sometimes it's an obstacle into which they were born. At other times it is a personal obstacle they have to overcome.

But every person who becomes a hero has overcome an obstacle. That's what makes them heroic.

Even more important to remember is that heroes often fail and even more often return to the norm and become victimized by their own personal obstacle.

IF HEROES WERE perfect there would be nothing to admire. It is the struggle to overcome that counts.

While history has treated Ulysses Grant harshly, in reality he very much exemplifies the true meaning of hero. A down-and-out middle-aged soldier, he retired to a tannery after the Mexican War.

But for one significant moment in history, a short three years, he overcame his shortcomings and lived up to an historical challenge. He stopped drinking and led his country through its darkest moment. He out-thought and out-fought the best military minds of his time.

After the Civil War, his conduct was less than commendable. But what a different country we would live in today if Ulysses Grant hadn't overcome his human condition.

Perfect - certainly not. But significant.

I didn't know Jerome Bronson and am loath to pass judgment, now. But I'll bet you one thing. Somewhere, sometime, if even for just a moment in time, he was a hero to someone.

And that's a standard to which we all should strive.

Agree freedom has some limits

To the editor:

Wow! What an exceptionally articulated editorial in the Thursday, Nov. 13, Observer. Thank you for such an informed and balanced presentation on the current ongoing concerns in our local schools

You rightly note: "To defend the use of the language used in 'The Breakfast Club' under the cloak of academic freedom is a dangerous argument in that it suggests that freedom is absolute and any material a teacher selects should be allowed. That is not reality. Reality is that academic freedom is not absolute and not all materials are suitable for classroom use."

The last sentence is the sum and substance on which the issue before the school board should be resolved. Superintendent John M. Hoben, who should be heartily supported by all, correctly stated that the "language is inappropriate in the school environment. One additional point is essential here.

The aforementioned editorial was followed by a letter to the editor entitled, "Complaints are time consuming." What a travesty! Democracy requires vigilance. Pursuit of fairness, justice and truth is to be encouraged not deprecated. Let no one in public domain be afraid of complaints and questioning. Let right action be judged on its own merits: that whatever is done must not result in harm either to the participant or the spectator. May Dr. Hoben continue to stand tall on the side of what is right for us all.

And finally - do indeed, honor him by naming the new elementary school John M. Hoben. He has rightly earned that honor and much more.

Best gridiron battles remain hard to define

THERE ARE times when I wonder whether the sports writers downtown have memories.

My target today is the list of 10 football games nominated by the Free Press as being the best of the previous 82 played between Michigan and Ohio state. The "Morning Friendly" plans to reveal Saturday the top choice in reader balloting.

Seven of the 10 are from the Bo Schembechler coaching era. Given just those 10, I would call Michigan's 24-12 victory in 1969 the "greatest upset" in a series which began in 1897 and the Wolverines' 9-3 "Snow Bowl" triumph in 1950 the "strangest" game of them all.

But "best" is hard to define, depending in part where one's sympathies lie and recognizing that some pretty fair coaches faced off in the arenas at Columbus and Ann Arbor before Bo came along to clash first with Woody Hayes and now, since '79, with Earle Bruce.

I have to believe that there were some classic contests down through the years between such mentors as Michigan's Fielding Yost, Harry Kipke, Fritz Crisler, Bennie Oosterbaan and Bump Elliot facing across the field OSU's J.W. Wilce, Sam Willaman, Francis Schmidt, Paul Brown, Carol Widdoes et al.

IN A bit I'll tell you why I think the 1927 and 1940 games, starring Oosterbaan and Tom Harmon respectively, were the "most memorable" in this great series. I'll also tell you, first, of two others that deserve consideration. You didn't find any of these four on the Free Press list.

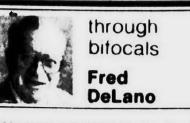

Let's go back to Oct. 25, 1919. My scrapbook includes a news story from Ann Arbor that starts out:

"Packed stands on Ferry Field saw Michigan go down to defeat before Ohio State this afternoon for the first time in the history of their footbal relations.

"The score was 13 to 3 and the story of the game largely is the story of Capt. Chick Harley, 165-pound Buckeye halfback. After Ohio had gained a 7-3 halftime lead, Harley turned in the decisive score with a 42-yard run around his own right end for a touchdown.

It's possible oldtime Bucks thought that was the "best" game.

You may have been among us at Ann Arbor on Nov. 19, 1955. If so, you, too, saw what prompted sports editor Edgar Hayes of the Detroit Times to start his story this way:

"MICHIGAN'S DREAM of a fourth trip to the Rose Bowl was turned into a nightmare here this afternoon in the wildest game ever seen in Michigan Stadium.

"Led by a speedy 168-pound halfback, Howard (Hopalong) Cassidy, and a trememdous lineman named Jim Parker, Ohio State crushed Michigan, 17-0.

"The defeat meant Michigan has paved the way for its hated rival Michigan State to go to the Rose Bowl in place of the proud Wolverine. It also meant Ohio State won its second Big Ten title in a row and had defeated Michigan for the first time since 1937 in Michigan Stadium."

Maybe some Ohio people remember that as the "best" game.

But I like the scene as it was on Oct. 22. 1927, dedication day for the Michigan Stadium. Capt. Oosterbaan, from Muskegan, was on his way to his third year as an all-American end and was hailed as the greatest pass receiver in the nation - specializing in one-handed grabs with either paw.

Ben is a mite fragile now at the age of 80, but in the den of his Ann Arbor home four years ago when I was gathering material for a magazine story on his career, these were among his comments:

"That game is No. 1 in my memory. First there was that little group meeting at midfield for the pre-game dedication ceremony - the Ohio and Michigan governors, the Ohio State captain and myself, the focus of attention for a capacity crowd.

"And what makes that game stand out, too, is because that's when, instead of catching passes, it was the day I threw three for touchdowns.

"Those were special plays put in just for that game. The first was a quick lineup play and I lined up in a deep position, getting the ball. Louie Gilbert from Kalamazoo got open on the near sideline and took my pass for a 20-yard score. In the third quarter the tailback handed off to me as he came into the line and again I threw to Gilbert for the touchdown, this one about 50 yards.

"In the fourth quarter I was supposed to keep the ball on an end-around, but the fake was so genuine the Ohio State end came in to tackle me. I flipped a lateral to Louie who practically walked the four or five yards to the end zone."

Did Michigan win? Of course, 21-0, when imagination and perfect execution proved a victorious parlay.

RIGHT FROM opening day in 1940, when Harmon scored 28 points at California, on his 21st birthday, the great halfback from Gary was in the national spotlight. By Nov. 23 in Columbus he was within reach of the immortal Red Grange's Big Ten touchdonwn record. The Heisman Trophy, orginiated in 1935, was sure to be his barring a total washout on the rainswept Buckeye gridiron. These two published paragraphs tell of my personal "best" football memory:

"Michigan's thundering football forces roared all over the Ohio stadium today before winding up one of the greatest years in Wolverine gridiron history. With brilliant Tom Harmon leading the way, Michigan defeated the Buckeyes, 40-0, before 73,480 specta-

over the Ohio goal three times to smash Blue!

Red Grange's former Western Conference three-year touchdown record of 31, passed to teammates for two of the other Wolverine tallies, place-kicked four points after touchdown, and maintained a punting average of 50 yards per kick."

When Tom left the game with one minute left to play it was to a standing ovation from scarlet and gray followers who rocked the stadium with cheers for a Michigan player who had helped defeat their beloved Buckeyes.

And on Nov. 22, 1986 at Columbus, "All in all, the dazzling Harmon drove with a Rose Bowl trip at stake? Go

IT TAKES MORE THAN MODERN COMPUTERS AND library books to make a great university. At UM-D, we know that talented, motivated students are just as important as a first-class faculty. It is the synergism that occurs in the classroom every day between a great faculty and a great student body that is the true indication of a quality education.

Meeting set to discuss sewer project

Government officials from 16 communities included in the North Huron Valley Rouge Valley Waster water Control System, otherwise known as the Supersewer, will meet at 2 p.m. Friday in Livonia City Hall state Department of Natural Reto discuss the project's status.

Only 13 of the 16 communities have approved the project and county and state officials believe the plan won't meet the Dec. 1 deadline to apply for federal funding.

In a letter to mayors and township supervisors included in the plan, David Vago, deputy director of the Wayne County Department of Public Works, said he doesn't expect the sources to certify the project for federal funding

THE PROJECT is designed to correct present deficiencies in Wayne County's system, as well as meet future growth needs to the year 2025. According to Vago, the Super-sewer is his department's top priority because the county's sewer capacity isn't adequate to meet current needs, and won't be able to handle

future needs if Wayne County's population continues to grow as expected

All of the affected communities have signed agreements, except Plymouth, Northville and Canton townships. Those communities objected to the their share of costs for the project.

Disease of alcoholism hits hard

By Julie Brown staff writer

Things are better these days for Dr. Pam Novetsky now that her drinking days are behind her. There was a time, however, when her days were bleak ones.

Novetsky, 42. drank heavily for a number of years. Although she was never arrested for drunken driving, she did drive while she was drunk and during blackouts.

"I used to get out in the morning to check my car, to see if there was any blood on it."

Novetsky, an Ann Arbor resident, is the daughter of two alcoholic parents. All three of her children are recovering alcoholics, as she is herself.

She shared her experiences during a Monday night meeting of the Plymouth Business and Professional Women. Her topic was "Women and Addiction in a Chemical Society" for the meeting, held at the Hillside Inn in Plymouth.

The disease of alcoholism has a dramatically different impact on women than it does on men alcoholics, she told those at the BPW meeting.

Women tend to drink more often in relation to life crises and to fight feelings of loneliness and worthlessness. Nine out of 10 alcoholic women are left by their husbands, with only one out of 10 wives leaving an alcoholic husband.

MOST WOMEN drink at home. Their drinking is less likely to be discovered by an employer or coworker, and thus women alcoholics are less likely to get the treatment they need.

"I was hidden," Novetsky said of her own alcoholism. "I was protected, I was fed, I was clothed." Women are also likely to be cross-addicted, using such drugs as tranquilizers and sleeping pills in 'I used to get out in the morning to check my car, to see if there was any blood on it.'

- Pam Novelsky

She had her first blackout at 15 while on a date. Although her parents were angry about the possible consequences of that blackout, they weren't at all concerned about her being drunk being drunk. For some 23 years, Novetsky drank "in what people thought was a responsible way." She found she could outdrink men with ease

Novetsky married at 18 and had three children in several years. Her husband was drafted during the Vietnam War and the family lived on a military base in the U_s

HER YEARS as an officer's wife included wearing pillbox hats and white gloves while attending martini-laden luncheons.

During that time, Novetsky was raped by a close friend's husband.

"I was drunk, I deserved it." she said. "Today, I know that's not - true." Novetsky didn't tell anyone about the rape. "And I drank to kill the pain and the shame." When her husband had completed his Army service, he returned to school. Novetst back to school at night, earning a bachelor's degree in seven years. She later earned a

Game assists cause

Fun for a good cause was the name of the game during last Friday's "Shoot for Literacy."

The basketball game/clinic was sponsored by the Plymouth-Canton Community Literacy Council and by the Eastern Michigan University Basketball Boosters Club.

The Phase III gym at Centennial Educational Park was the site for the evening's activities, with proceeds going to the Community Literacy Council. The literacy organization was formed in August 1985 and provides volunteer tutors who work with area adults, helping them learn to read or to improve their reading skills.

"We had a lot of fun," said Sharon Strean, assistant director of Plymouth-Canton Community Education, a service of the Plymouth-Canton Community Schoels. "It was a very popular event."

The fun began with a basketball clinic for children. Approximately 75-80 boys and girls of various ages worked with the EMU coaches and basketball players, Strean said. "EMU came out with all kinds of little free things for kids Door prizes for youngsters and for adults also were given away.

The game was an intra-squad one, with half of the men's team in green and the other half in white. The green team won by seven points, Strean said.

Fans at the game were designated as either green or white team supporters, according to colored dots on the game programs.

conjunction with alcohol.

The criminal justice system is also more likely to look the other way when confronted with a woman alcoholic, she said. A lack of adequate services keeps many alcoholic women out of treatment; the shame associated with alcoholism also is a factor.

"If you're a woman, it's a double stigma."

Women's responsibilities as wives and mothers can also keep them from getting treatment. Leaving children behind to go in for treatment is an overwhelming obstacle for women.

"The treatment system has to change if women are going to get help," Novetsky said.

Novetsky's own drinking began in early adolescence. She was the only child in a working-class family whose frequent get-togethers always included alcohol.

When she was 8, Novetsky was molested by a neighbor. When she told her mother, the response was that the girl must have done something to provoke the assault.

WHEN SHE was about 12, Novetsky's grandmother became ill. Her mother began to take care of the grandmother, leaving Novetsky at home to do much of the housework and cooking.

"I was left pretty much with the responsibility at home." She found out she wasn't able to do those tasks as well as her mother had.

Novetsky began to be beaten. Although she had been beaten as a younger child, the beatings became more frequent.

One day, she was making lunch for her father. The food was burning on the stove because her father wouldn't come in for lunch. Novetsky didn't know what to do - so she opened a nearby cabinet and took a swig of vodka.

"I thought that it had rubbing alcohol in it, because I had never tasted anything that bad in my life." When the vodka was down her throat, however, she began to feel better.

Drinking became a regular habit for Novetsky.

"And I continued to drink, whenever I could sneak it. It's not fun to get beatings. It was instant relief for me." doctorate. Novetsky continued to do the housework and take care of the children.

"I was essentially a single parent." Novetsky continued to drink heavily.

"I hated everybody, mostly myself."

Novetsky found herself in bad shape while she was at the University of Michigan teaching and trying to write her doctoral dissertation.

"It had stopped working for me. She was having chest pains and headaches and found that he, hands would shake. Her blackouts were also more frequent and her marriage was falling apart.

WHEN HER grandmother died it all became too much. The grandmother had been Novetsky's only positive role model.

"She didn't drink and she loved me unconditionally." The grandmother lived to 89, despite baving severe health problems and seeing three sons and her husband die

"And this woman survived and continued to grow until the day size died."

Novetsky drank a fifth of vocka and then blacked out. Her hus band's reaction this time was diferent. He didn't yell or scream or try to make her feel guilty.

Instead, he told Novetsky that he loved her and would never leave her — but that if anything hap pened to him, relatives would have her put in a mental hospital. That would be sad, he said, because she's such a beautiful person.

"And that's all he said." He then left for work.

Novetsky got into her car and started the engine. She found herself on the U-M campus, where she went to see a professor she knew.

ALTHOUGH SHE didn't know the professor well, Novetsky knew he was a recovering alcoholic After she spoke with him he suggested she attend a meeting of a group of women alcoholics.

Novetsky did go to the meeting and sat at a table with some nine other women alcoholics. Although they came from different walks of

Chorus plans performance

The Plymouth Community Chorus will be the featured entertainment for the black-tie opening of metropolitan Detroit's holiday "Festival of Trees" Wednesday, Nov. 26, at Cobo Hall

The "Festival of Trees" will benefit Children's Hospital of Michigan. The Cobo Hall appearance kicks off the 120-member group's 1986-87 concert season.

The chorus will perform sacred and secular music selected from its Christmas concert program. The concert program is scheduled for Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 5-7, at the auditorium of Plymouth Salem High School.

The school is at Joy and Canton Center roads in Canton Township. Curtain times for the Christmas concert are 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday, Dec. 5-6, and 4 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 7.

Ticket price is $5 for adults, $3 for children under 12 and senior citizens. Tickets are available from chorus members and at Sideways in Plymouth, the Book Break in Canton, and the Gitfiddler Music Store in Northville. Group rates are available.

In addition to the Christmas concert performances, the Plymouth Community Chorus will appear at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 9, at the Livonia Mall, Seven Mile and Middlebelt. That appearance will be part of the mall's annual presentation of Christmas music.

THE PLYMOUTH Community Chorus was organized in 1973. Its membership comes from throughout the tri-county area. Westland's Michael Gross is musical director for the singing organization.

Children's Hospital of Michigan is a non-profit 290-bed hospital in Detroit. Organized in 1886, the hospital serves as a major referral center and as a primary site of education and training in pediatrics for doctors, nurses and other health care professionals.

Children's Hospital, which moved to its present facility in 1971, is a subsidiary of the Detroit Medical Center, the academic health center of Wayne State University.

Proceeds from the "Festival of Trees" will benefit the Evergreen Endowment Fund to support research into the causes and cures of childhood diseases. Organizers hope to raise $150,000.

The event will be open daily Nov 27-Dec. 2 at Cobo Hall in Detroit. Attractions will include:

 100 holiday trees professionally decorated by area designers, the "Aisle of Wreaths," featur-

f ing wreaths handcrafted by local garden clubs, including gardeners from the Plymouth-Canton area; a "Gingerbread Village" created by Detroit-area chefs and culinary school students; • a Lionel model train display;

Santaland visits with free photographs, courtesy of Arbor Drugs;
 entertainment by local musical and dance ensembles;

• a gift shop with special "Festival of Trees" items, including sweatshirts, mugs and glassware.

THE EVENT is underwritten by Arbor Drugs, Borden Inc., the Detroit Free Press, WOMC-FM104, Frank's Nursery & Crafts, McNamara Associates, and Palmer Moving and Storage. The 100 trees, donated by Frank's

Nursery & Crafts, have been sponsored by area businesses and individuals for donations of $300 to $2,000. The decorated trees will be sold during the preview party, along with 12 special auction gifts, including a gingerbread playhouse, a lifesize replica of an antique Coca-Cola truck, and a week with the Detroit Tigers at the spring training camp.

at the spring training camp. The party will be 6-9:30 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 26, in the Riverview Ballroom of Cobo Hall. WOMC's Tom Ryan will serve as the emcee, with auctioneer Frank Boos conducting the auction.

"A visit to the Festival of Trees is a delightful way for families to begin the holiday season," said Mary Beth Winkworth, general chairwoman for the event. "The youngsters will love Santaland, and the adults will enjoy the beauty and spirit of the season.

"We are thrilled that the festival has become an annual event and an integral part of the city's holiday traditions," she said.

Tickets for the preview party are $50 per person. Admission to the "Festival of Trees" is $2 for adults, $1 for children. For additional information, call 745-5373.

My mother's memory has been failing for the last couple of years now. She lives with us and can still manage quite well around the house. We would like her to be seen by a doctor but she point-blank refuses to

We were wondering if there is ome kind of a test that we can give her at home to test her mental faculties. If you know of one, would you please print it in your column as we read it know if one would you please print it in your column as we read it regularly. Mrs. S.M.,

I am sorry that your mother won't see a doctor, perhaps you can eventually convince her to go.

Dear Mrs M

There are several tests that can be given to assess a person's mental status. One of the easiest to give at home is a simple mental status questionaire.

The test considers orientation to place, time, person and general memory. It is short and to the point: 1. Where are you now? (Orienta-test: less than two errors indicates mild or no impairment; three to eight errors indicate moderate to advanced impairment; and any higher than that is an indication of severe brain dysfunction.

Should you decide to give this test to your mother, you should make sure she has every advantage of getting a good score. For example, have her answer the questions in a quite, undisturbed atmosphere while sitting comfortably in her favorite chair. The test can be given two or three times if her responses are not accurate.

Also you may want to use the test over a period of several months or even years to keep a record of her mental status. Good luck.

Media exposure sought

High-tech future tied to industry

By Tedd Schneider staff writer

Michigan residents shouldn't hold their breath waiting for Ann Arbor te become the Silicon Valley of the Midwest, according to Doug Ross, state commerce director.

High-tech development will play a role in the state's fight for continued economic good health, Ross said last week. But he said that role will take the form of melding robotics and other modern manufacturing techniques with Michigan's traditional manufacturing base.

Ross, in an interview with editors just can't grow cotton in Michigan." Ross cited education, productivity and diversification through the automobile industry as the keys to economic survival.

And, he said, the state government will play a definite role in helping to shape this new economy by providing opportunities for individuals and companies.

Job security will only come as a function of (a person's) skills and (his) ability to learn," Ross said. "High-paying jobs for unskilled workers will be few and far between.

"But there will be more than enouge is for those aing."

AAAA has formed the Media Adver-

artists and the Screen Actors Guild have waived all talent fees for the project.

We will be showing use of these drugs as repugnant, unacceptable behavior," Dunne said, likening the potential effects to the national outrage against drunken drivers "I would love to see the time when drugs fall in that category."

Drug-abuse problems are even more compelling when one considers some of the unthinkable consequences. Sophisticated chemistry, for example, has developed an anesthetic known as fentanyl. One of several "designer drugs," it produces an ultra-fast "rush" and an extraordinary "high." One shot can lead to addiction, and some experts claim its abuse among medical professionals has reached crisis proportions.

There are also large numbers of innocent victims, killed or injured by drug users. "The price to society is much too high," Dunne said.

AD CONTENT isn't known yet. But the six New York-based advertising agencies working on them have agreed to attack the "normalized activity" associated with illegal drugs.

The agencies also have decided that the anti-drug messages must take a hard-hitting approach. "Just saying 'no' to drugs is not a strong argument," Dunne said. "It's like telling a child not to touch a cookie. Tell him 'no' and he wants it.'

But just how "hard hitting" must the ads be? To those who enjoy drugs - like children attracted to cookies changing attitudes may be "very difficult," Dunne said. An anti-drug campaign using a sports "super-hero" failed to reach its audience, he said

Specialized research teams will be put in gear to measure audience response to the new ads.

What about the glitzy ads now glamorizing use of tobacco, which some believe capture, instead of repel, the teen market? Can the lowerbudget anti-drug ads grab the audience?

Dunne believes so. "What you say is far more important than how you say it. But what you say has to touch abusers and more than half of all felony crimes linked to illegal substances, the voice urgently asks the media to declare war on this "national emergency," dominated by a "pharmacopoeia of poisons." Walter E. Dunne, vice president and account supervisor at Saatachi & Saatachi Compton in Southfield, switches off the 12-minute tape. He turns to a stack of recent magazine articles that say the problem cuts across social and economic lines. In summary, dangerous drugs are finding their way everywhere from the study hall to the assembly line, the physician's private medicine chest and the corporate board room.

Dunne, who also is president of the 39-member Michigan Council of the American Association of Advertising Agencies, said anti-drug ads are being created in New York. Soon, he and other advertising executives will volunteer to ask local print and electronic media to donate advertising space and air time to address the dilemma. It's all part of a $1.5 billion, three-year campaign involving 700 member agencies nationwide and countless media producers.

DUNNE SAID the Michigan council is soundly behind the campaign, hoping it will encourage the media to spread the word and the public to "become overwhelmed by the seriousness of the problem." Different messages will be created and produced to reach such diverse audiences as teens, coaches, teachers and parents.

The AAAA and its councils foster the advertsing business and offer professional development seminars to agency executives, Dunne explained.

The study, titled "The Path to Prosperity," indicates that streamlining and updating Michigan's industrial base should be the state's top priority. Ross agrees.

'Getting out (of manufacturing) and into an information-based economy that relies heavily on the computer industry like California's Silicon Valley or Route 128 in Boston doesn't seem to be the answer for our state." Ross said.

"IT WOULD be like someone telling us our future was in cotton. You gaining to retraining programs like

The public and private sectors will have to share the burden of increasing the skill level of the state's workforce, Ross said.

Among other things, he said, labor unions will have to play a different role. Unions will be forced to shift their empahsis from contract bar-

Questioned about the administration's tax abatement policy, Ross said that using tax breaks to attract businesses to the state and to encourage existing businesses to expand would probably continue for the near future. Ross said that although such tax incentives may not be the most

Owing to the high rate of illiteracy in the nation, "Print ads alone will miss a lot of people," Dunne said. "So a lot of TV, radio and cinema messages will be needed."

The state council's goal is to reach the major media first, then go to smaller media markets, asking for free time and space.

'We have not attached a dollar figure to this because it's an all-volunteer effort. We may start slow, then build and build. So far as I'm concerned, the more money we spend on this. the better," Dunne said. He added that the American Federation of Television and Radio a nerve. A lot of (advertising) people use glitter because they don't have much to say."

"The campaign will offer creative advertising people a tremendous challenge to reach existing and potential drug users," Dunne said. "But we're not kidding ourselves into thinking that running the ads will make the problems go away. Maybe they'll turn the tide over a course of years.

Will the ads be targeted to any single audience?

'Not really. But it's my feeling that we've got to get to the little children 5 and 6 years old. If we don't, this terrible drug scourge will.

And we can't stand for that."

Patience: needed virtue for Wall Street investors

By Carolyn Smith special writer

Playing the stock market these days can be a lot like riding a roller coaster: The investor is excited by the climb, scared stiff by the dip, and indifferent to the flat haul

Despite the market's recent peaks and valleys and a bearish sentiment on the street, area stockbrokers are optimistic that the wise investor's long-term outlook will reap healthy earnings. But patience, brokers say, will have to displace panic as the investor rides out the unsettling highs and lows.

What's ahead this year and early next year? Asked for their personal opinions, most brokers agree market instability will continue a while longer

Dean Backos, an investment executive for Paine Webber in Troy, said:

"The up and down trend is only a correction (shortterm adjustment). The market will go over 1900 (points on the Dow Jones industrial average).

John Findling, office manager of E.F. Hutton & Co. in Plymouth, sees a year-end rally in which the Dow Jones will break 2000 and interest rates will fall even more.

But Maury Elvekrog, a chartered financial analyst for Seger-Elvekrog in Birmingham, is more conservative on the timing of the upward trend.

'I expect fluctuations and a pullback (downward trend) until the first quarter of next year, then a significant rise by 500 points or more by the end of 1987. We haven't yet had real speculation on new issues and small stocks. I see tremendous buying opportunities in the next two to four years."

TIMOTHY WHITE, a broker with Prescott Ball and Turben in Plymouth, said he bases his prediction of a year-end surge upward on a "contrary point of view:"

"Sentiment on the street right now is pretty bearish. People are waiting for the market to go lower. They're waiting for a sour economy and for interest rates to go higher, though they can't go much lower. Usually, that kind of sentiment means the opposite for the market in the immediate future."

Frank Dubey, a broker with Dean Witter Reynolds in Livonia, is less optimistic than others contacted. He expects the stock market to hit peaks and valleys and remain unstable through 1987. He bases his prediction on 1988 election campaigns and the effects of new income tax laws

"Corporations and individuals are making large purchases now to take advantage of existing tax laws," Dubey said, adding that such investments will fall off next year.

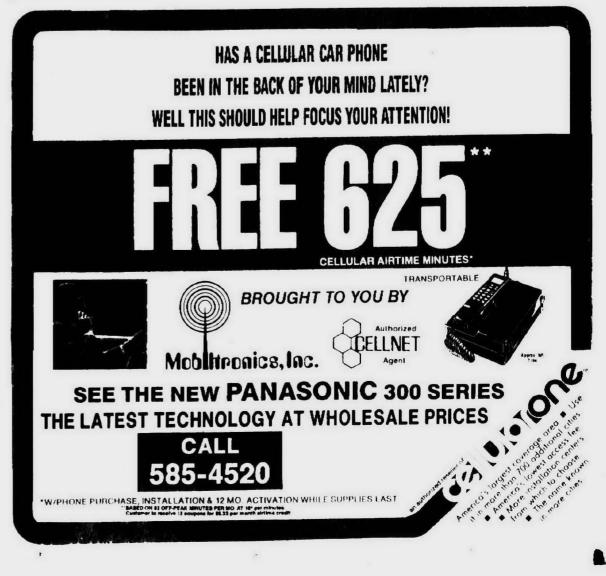

ANY HOT TIPS on what an investor - not a relatively short-term speculator - should look at today?

"Conservatively, I'd be cautious now. There are no great bargains," Elvekrog said. "Silver is good for the speculator. It's selling at an all-time low in relationship to gold."

A self-proclaimed "long-term fundamentalist," Elvekrog claims today's good portfolio mix is cne-third in blue-chip stocks and two-thirds in short-term treasury bonds.

Findling thinks gold and silver are good investments, adding convertible stocks and bonds to a pool of good, safe buys offered by his fellow brokers.

Baby boomers seen as 3 separate markets

Just when you thought the generation known as Baby Boomers had been scrutinized so carefully that every beauty mark and wart had been exposed, along comes a People magazine survey

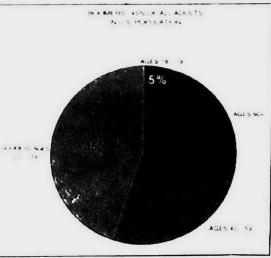

Unveiled in Southfield last week, the study, done by Yankelovich Clancy Shulman, segments the BBs into three categories self-stylers (39 percent), materialists (31 percent) and nesters (30 percent). Eight categories were used to determine segment identity. internal drive, self-fulfillment, healthy outlook, travel and entertainment, external approval, home environment, financial goals and family leisure. Here's how the survey of 1,500 was interpreted · Self-stylers: the most affluent group overall with a median salary of $31,000; well-educated professionals with high incomes; the least likely segment to be married or have children; have the highest discretionary incomes; more concerned about personal enrichment through education, travel, entertainment; not deeply influenced by any particular set of traditions; march to a different drummer.

• Materialists: the youngest segment; conspicuous consumers; lowest socio-economic status; less likely to have attended college or be in a professional managerial occupation; dependent-minded group; eager to impress with symbols of their self-wealth; tuned to what's

 Nesters: moderate socio-economic status; majority are high school graduates working in blue-collar or service positions; incomes slightly higher than the materialists' $27,000, but income has to stretch further because they are family people; directed to middle-class values of home and hearth.

REGARDING PURCHASES, all segments admit that they are not very knowledgeable about the products and between 1946 and 1954.

services they buy. They feel most comfortable with the knowledge of their cars and the least comfortable about cameras, wines/liquors and insurance.

The results assume that "consumers who lack information can be easily urged from one brand to another" and that "marketers who can educate consumers with the copy points and visual imagery can be the most effective in building a loyal franchise among boomers."

It also pointed to a resurgence for brand-name buying. "This is not to say that the branding concept is as important as it once was, but it appears to be on the upswing. For young adults, in particular, we have seen its importance in this study."

'The stock market is the only game in town for total return on an investment," Backos said. "Quality Fortune 500 stocks are the best bets. Overall, good companies will perform very well."

Hack agrees but adds that the cyclical nature of the market requires a close look at a stock's consistency over a period of time. Now, he said, "People close to retirement should not invest in common stocks. But they're the best deals in the world for those in their 40s

While Dubey believes investment in growth utilities in the Sunbelt is the best move today, White says precious metals capture his fancy. "Within the past three or four months, gold came into a new era when it broke $400 (per troy ounce). Gold is a safe haven," he claims.

ALL BROKERS contacted say they agree the stock market is a good - if not the best - indicator of the health of the national economy, that the market is tied to the rate of inflation.

"Generally, low inflation indicates a bull market, while high inflation points to a bear market," Backos

Credit life insurance may be a poor choice

Credit insurance on consumer loans is big business in the United States. In 1985 nearly 70 million credit insurance policies with coverage of almost $20 billion were insuring individual borrowers against default on car loans, personal loans and other extenssions of consumer credit

Given such figures, it is tempting to conclude that credit insurance is well understood and highly desired by the borrowing public - a view frequeently expressed by credit insurance underwriters and disputed by critics of credit insurance.

In addition to providing debt default protection, credit insurance (particularly credit life insurance) has characteristics that distinguish it from other types of insurance and may provide important advantages to some individuals.

AT&T discourages small share holders

pecial writer

I just received a letter from Merrill Lynch that gives me a great deal of concern. I am a shareholder in AT&T and Bell South, and I received a letter from Merrill Lynch inviting me to let them sell my shares in those two companies.

I don't have many shares, and I guess I should be grateful because they are offering to sell the stock at a much lower cost than I could get by going directly to my own broker. But it looks to me like AT&T has violated my confidence and given my name and address and the number of shares I own to Merrill Lynch without my permission.

My ownership of stock is my own business, and I resent very much my name being given out to a brokerage company without my permission. Is there anything I can do to stop this?

Along with your letter I have also received a number of telephone calls and other letters on the same subject, so I made a telephone call to AT&T.

It is not the normal practice for a corporation to release the names and addresses of its shareholders, and I was interested in hearing the company's side of the story.

In talking with one of the corporation shareholder relations representatives, I was assured that the corporation had not released the names and addresses of its shareholders to anyone, and that no one should come to that conclusion from the material mailed by the corpora-

AT&T - and the other companies that were spun-off from it - have their own stock transfer company. It is called American Transtech.

AT&T'S EXPLANATION was that American Transtech hired Merrill Lynch to offer to sell the holdings of shareholders who had fewer than 100 shares at a discounted cost. The idea was to help shareholders with these amounts to dispose of their shares at a modest cost.

This certainly is a worthy objective, but it would have been much better if they had also offered to help these shareholders buy additional shares to enlarge their holdings at a similar reduced cost.

The AT&T representative assured me that no shareholder's name and address had been given to the brokerge firm. The correspondence was mailed by the AT&T-owned American Transtech

I would not question that, but when I received a copy of the correspondence, I could easily understand why a shareholder might think the announcement came from Merrill-Lynch rather than AT&T. The corner of the envelope contains both the Merrill Lynch name and emblem.

THE LETTERHEAD addressed Dear Shareowner has the same heading and the opening sentence includes the wording, "... Merrill Lynch announces" The telephone number is listed as American Transtech's, but the instructions say to call Merrill Lynch, and the same numbers are given.

The sales authorization card and the return are both addressed to Merrill Lynch, in care of American Transtech.

Employment across Michigan reached a near-record level in October and the labor force climbed to an all-time high

The state's seasonally adjusted unemployment rate dropped by 0.3 percent to 8.6 percent, according to Richard Simmons Jr., director of the Michigan Employment Security Commission

WLAA swim meet a 2-team showdown

By Brad Emons staff writer

The Western Lakes Activities Association girls swim championship is at stake when 12 schools compete Friday night at Plymouth Salem.

"This title means a lot to me," said Greg Phill, the coach of defending champion Livonia Stevenson

"This is a good league for competition," said North Farmington coach Pat Duthie. "It's like a mini state meet. You've got to be a top swimmer even if you make it to the top 12, let alone the top six."

After Monday night's seeding meeting, it appears to be a twoway battle for first between Stevenson and North, but the other 10 teams will be a factor in deciding first place.

"WE'RE SEEDED only 11 points ahead of North." said Phill. "Everybody was wrong at the beginning of the year who said we were going to run away with it. We lost a lot of people. The league is just as deep as it ever was.

"North is a good team, as good as we are, no doubt I think it's a matter of the other schools which could hurt you."

Added Duthie "I think Stevenson is the favorite and we're the underdogs sure. I believe some of the other teams will do some good things. It's going to be who gets the most swimmers into the finals. Every team has at least one good swimmer."

Among the other schools that may be heard from are Westland John Glenn, Livonia Churchill, Northville, Plymouth Canton and Plymouth Salem.

But the big battle is shaping up between Stevenson and North ONE OF THE big matchups will occur in the 200 and 500-yard freestyles where North's Jennifer Rowe is seeded slightly ahead of Stevenson's Michele McKenzie.

Another tight race will take place in the 50 freestyle, where Stevenson's Ann Bollinger and North's Marge Cramer tied last year. But also expected to make waves in that event are Farmington's Lauren Weary, Farmington Harrison's Catherine Tucker and Northville's Michelle Stevens.

The meet will have plenty of stars, including Stevenson's Sheila Taormina, one of the state's best in the 200 individual medley and 100 butterfly. She leades the area in four different events. (See statistical page for best area times.)

Churchill's Audra Martin is a standout in the 100 breaststroke and Glenn's Jamie Koester will be heard from in diving

Canton's top swimmers are Cassie Cummins and Julie Cox, while Salem will rely on Shannon Murphy and Erin Olson.

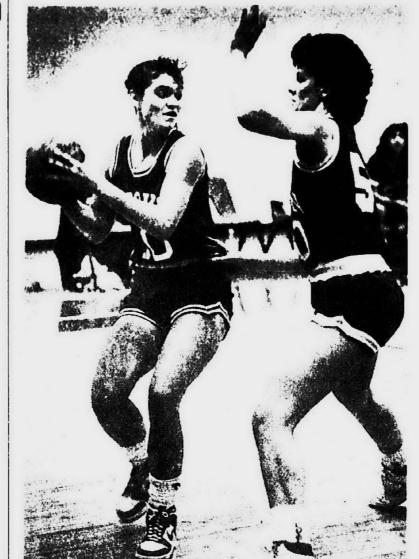

"Depth will mean a lot," predicted Phill, whose team finished 10-2 in dual meets.

DUTHIE, whose team's only dual meet loss of the season was to Stevenson, just wants to let it all hang out.

"At this point you put the kids in the water and see what happens," he said. "I don't know if there is any key area. Illness has been a problem with us all year But we don't want to make excuses. We want to do the best we can and I'm confident we'll be doing that." The championship and consolation finals begin at 7 p.m Friday at Salem.

Rock stock at premium

HE GIRLS' ANSWER to March Madness begins tonight across the state when approximately 694 schools enter district play.

A few teams from Observerland should be heard from before it's all over, while others will die quietly and look forward to next year.

The Class A, B, C and D championship games will be staged at a different venue this year. Grand Valley State in Allendale takes over for Western Michigan's Reed Fieldhouse. The finals are slated for noon (Class D), 2 p.m. (A), 6 p.m. (C) and 7:30 p.m. (B) on Saturday, Dec. 13.

The Class A semifinals also will be held Friday, Dec. 12, at Grand Valley, with the other semifinal locales being Jenison (B), Grand Rapids Union (C) and Grand Rapids Kenowa Hills (D) high schools.

The roads for some area schools will be easier than others. Prognosticators may have trouble picking the four state champions, but my money is on Plymouth Salem (A), Flint Beecher (B), Detroit St. Martin de Porres (C) and Peck (D).

Here's how Wall Street might analyze Observerland's area teams entering state tournament play.

BLUE CHIP STOCK

Plymouth Salem (19-1): The Rocks are the area's hottest commodity because of three factors: A) coach Fred Thomann. B) Dena Head, and C) fine supporting cast (Jessica Handley, Jill Estey, Kristen Hostynski and Keri McBride).

Salem is a good buy even though they'll face quality district competition and must get by Farmington Hills Mercy in a quarterfinal matchup. Only a suspect bench could keep the Rocks from winning it all

Farmington Hills Mercy (14-6): An easy district and an easy regional should put this team against Salem in the state quarterfinals Dec. 10 at Southfield. The Marlins have played a tough schedule and could have the revenge motive going for them in a potential rematch with Salem, which won by 20 earlier in the season. Mercu's inside game must improve cy's inside game must improve. Livonia Ladywood (13-6): The Blazers should roll in the Class B districts at Royal Oak Shrine, but a re gional matchup with Catholic League rival Dearborn Divine Child (16-3) could be troublesome, as well as a potential quarterfinal matchup with No. 1 ranked and unbeaten Flint Beecher. But remember, Ladywood has played in a lot of tough games this season.

TAKE A CHANCE

Westland John Glenn (16-4): The Rockets have the home court advantage in a first-round district game against Salem, but in the last outing, at Glenn, the Rocks took care of business. Glenn pulled an upset over Salem four years ago, but it's very tion. Which is precisely what Schoolcraft College's volleyball team did last weekend at the Region 12 tournament at Kalamazoo Valley CC.

THE LADY OCELOTS had proven themselves to be the best team in the state and were ranked fifth in the All of which concerned SC coach Tom Teeters. His team would surprise no one this year. Indeed, the 14 other regional teams would be taking dead aim at the Lady Ocelots.

Teeters' concern proved unwarranted. SC devoured its regional foes, winning all four of its matches and the region championship while losing just one game.

"I envisioned we could take it." said Teeters, who was voted the region's coach of the year. "But I thought that we could play a poor match and lose it, too. As it turned out, we only played one poor game, and only part of that game — our serving — was poor.

"All around, it was our best tournament ever."

The triumph gave the Lady Ocelots just what they wanted another shot at the NJCAA championship. A year ago they were the surprise team. They finished fifth. Teeters figures this season's squad to be even better, and has both his and their sights set higher.

THE NJCAA tournament begins Monday with pool play at Miami-Dade South CC. Each team in the four-team pools will play three besiof-three matches; the top two in each of the four pools will qualify for a double-elimination tournament on Tuesday and Wednesday.

We're starting to prepare for it." said Thete's "We're going in with the statude of nothing to lose. We did that last your and we were real losse, and we knocked off Utah Tech in the first cound."

SC will face a similar challenge in its pool this year. The Lady Ocelots are seeded second in their pool. No. 1 is Barton County (Mo.), a team that defeated them earlier this year 15-9, 16-14. BC is ranked fourth in the nation.

"I think we've caught up with them." said Teeters of BC. "I thought we should have beaten them earlier this year "

Teeters also figures Miami-Dade South, the tournament host and the top-ranked NJCAA team, isn't much better than the Lady Ocelots. SC lost 12-15, 15-4, 15-7 earlier to Dade. Joining BC in SC's pool are Chowan (N.C.) and Genesce (N.Y.)

CANTON GIRLS SWIMMING SENIORS

One Year Ago. Plymouth Canton's Girls Basketball team opened the State District Tournament with a 41-30 victory over Northville. Canton's tenacious player-to-player defense forced 20 Northville turnovers.

Canton did not allow Northville a basket in the second quarter, surrendering just two free throws by Ann Griffith. But the Chiefs had only two baskets themselves and six points, giving them a 17-16 half inclead.

It was the third quarter that proved pivotal. Baskets by Laura Darby and Knickerbocker and four straight coints from Ferko, sandwiched around a Ducker field goal for Northville gave Canton a 25-18 advantage.

Beth Frigge and it me the Chiefs with seven fourth-quarter points.

Will facelift improve Ocelots?

20(P.C)

There's a new coach at Schoolcraft College whose responsibility is to rebuild a basketball program that last year was fragmented by academic woes off the court and defensive and ballhandling troubles on it.

Bob Wetzel was brought in from Lansing CC to get the program on track. And despite a more disciplined approach and the installation of more complex offensive and defensive schemes, there are some alltoo-familiar problems at SC.

All were evident by the time the Ocelots finished their season-opening tournament at Macomb CC last weekend. The coach may be new, but many of the faces are the same, and they still have the same problems.

It could make for a long first campaign for Wetzel.

A year ago, SC was plagued by turnovers committed down the stretch in games the Ocelots should have won but ended up losing. Desmond Steele was the point guard, replacing Clarence Jones who was academically ineligible. Steele, who was the victim of several of the errors, is back at the point this season.

Also back are 6-foot-8 center Don

Schoolcraft sports

Edwards, 6-1 guard Zollie Stevens, 6-3 forward Jeff Vakratsis, 5-11 guard Bill Sweet and 6-2 forward Les English

SC'S BALLHANDLING problems were evident Saturday. The Ocelots led 43-33 over Flint Jordan at the half, but a full-court press forced 18 turnovers and sparked a 62-37 JC second-half comeback that resulted in a 95-80 SC loss.

Poor defense and ballhandling also plagued SC in Friday's 77-74 loss to University of Michigan-Dearborn.

The bright spot offensively for SC was Stevens, who came off the bench in both games to lead the team in scoring. Stevens had 20 against UM-D and 18 against JC. Aaron Brown and Phil Weiss each scored 16 against UM-D and Mike Simpson and Steele netted 16 apiece against JC. Simpson, a 22-year-old, 6-0 swingman from Detroit Redford, Weiss, a 6-3 forward from Howell, and Brown, a 6-4, 225-pound forward who transferred from Fairfield (Conn.) University, are new additions who will get plenty of minutes. Last year under Rocky Watkins, the Ocelots were 17-13, but 12 of their wins came in the first half of the season before four starters were lost to grades. So far, Wetzel hasn't had to deal with a headache of that proportion, but the problem hasn't disappeared completely. English is ineligible until January at least.

LIKE ANY coach, Wetzel is optimistic his team can succeed.

"Our primary concerns right now are rebounding and defense and ballhandling," outlined Wetzel. "I think we'll be able to score. Desmond, Phil, Zollie and Mike are all good perimeter shooters, and inside Don and Aaron can score."

This won't be a run-and-gun type team, not with Edwards and Brown counted on to do the bulk of the rebounding and inside work.

a half-court game, Don and Aaron are effective," said Wetzel, adding that when one or the other goes to the bench, the boardwork suffers noticeably.

Besides a more complicated offensive system, Wetzel has his team using five different defenses. "Our players won't be able to just go out and react," Wetzel said. They'll really have to think out there. Things are a bit more complex for the sophomores.'

Which means that the SC upperclassmen's year of experience will be negated somewhat by their lack of familiarity with the new system.

Only time will tell if coach and players can adapt to make the season successful. The key will be how well the Ocelots utilize their big men.

"If they can give us scoring and rebounding, then we'll be able to stay with other teams," said Wetzell. Steele, too, will have to improve and become a more consistent point guard.

"He has to learn to be a better decision-maker on the floor," said Wetzel. "He has all the tools. We're counting on his experience and leadership."

Question is, will it be enough?

Ocelots claim region crown

"It's going to be tough," said Teeters. "Any one of the top eight teams can win it. If you're off just slightly, you can get beat."

WHICH IS a factor that could be in the Lady Ocelots' corner, if they can once again raise their level of play to meet the challenge. They did just that at the regional tournament, persevering even when a segment of their game broke down.

Teeters was impressed with his team's performance, particularly in defeat. "We missed 14 serves and were still in the game," said Teeters. SC lost the game 17-15 to Southwestern CC in what proved to be the tourney's final match Saturday. They bounced right back to win three straight games, 15-7, 15-4, 15-6.

It was their second-straight win over SCC. Earlier, the Lady Ocelots put SCC into the losers' bracket with a 15-2, 15-5 victory. SCC got back to the finals by beating Lake Michigan CC, the team Teeters thought would chal-

SC'S TWO matches prior to the final, though, may have set the tone for the tournament. Teeters called the first win over SCC "our best match of the year," thanks mainly to Relyea. She had 12 kills in 18 attacks without an error and a solo block.

When you have that high a (kill) percentage, it can turn a team right off," said Teeters of Relyea's dominance. "They can't even get started."

Relyes wasn't at her best Friday, but it didn't matter. In what Teeters termed the key match of the tournament, SC overwhelmed LMCC 15-11, 15-1. "After we beat them 15-1, they just dropped," said Teeters. "You could see it in their faces.'

Amy Lotero was LMCC's foil. serving 11 consecutive points in the second game. In 18 serves she had five aces. "She took them right out of the tournament," said Teeters.

Cyrus, who played steadily throughout the tournament, had six kills in 15 errorless attacks Relyea had six kills in 19 attacks (one error) and Diana Dietz added five kills in 13 attacks (one error).

TAYLOR AGREED to exchange, but not on the condition of going halfway. Gordon and his three varsity coaches then asked for directions and made a four-hour trek to Lake Michigan to pick up the film.

"He (Taylor) said he'd put it (the tape) on a Greyhound bus, but that meant I may have to wait to pick it up maybe a couple days later," Gordon explained. "I didn't want to wait that long, so we drove up there.

"It was an eight-hour trip. We shot the breeze and hit McDonald's a couple of times. It was very scenic."

Gordon believes in preparation. He believes it has helped immensely in Glenn's two state playoff victories "The guys played hard, but they're much more prepared this year," said the Glenn coach. "Last year we went in against Pioneer (a 33-20 loss) not as well prepared. It's definitely helped this year."

unlikely in 1986. Glenn scared Salem earlier in the season, 47-45, but that may have been a fluke. Glenn frontliners Stacy Graham, Jenny Okon and Melissa Smiley must go wild on the boards.

Plymouth Canton (13-6): The Chiefs may be a great buy next year with several talented underclass-men. They made the Western Lakes Conference final against Salem, but did not perform well. Their first round game is a severe test - Garden City. Canton must be hitting on all cylinders to make a go of it.

Garden City (16-3): The area's must puzzling team, slowed at the start of the season by injuries to starters Shelly Malone, Terri Paul and Denise Kokowicz. Although they won the Northwest Suburban League as expected, the Cougars have yet to prove themselves against good opponents. Beating Canton would give coach Marshall Henry and his team a boost. This is a veteran team that reached the regional last year. Its most improved player is 6-foot-1 senior center Linda Lankford.

twice, the second time going all the way to give Glenn an 18-13 lead. The Rockets then elected to go for the two-point conversion with Hawley lofting a pass that the 6-foot-1, 168-pound receiver leaped high to take away from another Pioneer defender.

"MIKE HAMMONTREE is one of the smartest guys around," said Gordon. "He's coachable, a gamer and a winner."

Hammontree described the 40yard play that set up the winning touchdown: "It was an 'up-andout.' He (the defender) thought I was going try and get out of bounds, but I faked out from the sideline and he (Hawley) put it right there."

In the first quarter, Hawley fired a 14-yard TD pass to tight end Jeff Graham to give Glenn a 6-0 lead. The TD was set up when Glenn linebacker Doug Strehl tipped an Andrews pass and lineman Eddie Hyde intercepted it at the Pioneer 18.

With 7:02 left in the second quarter, Pioneer tied it at 6-6 when Brian Vooletich bounced off the line of scrimmage and raced 40 yards for a TD. (Both teams missed their first extra points.)

Glenn, however, came right back on their next series as Hammontree took a Hawley pass over the middle, bounced off a pair of Pioneer tacklers and raced 61 yards for a TD with 4:55 left in the half. (Glenn missed the twopoint conversion)

ALTHOUGH PIONEER dominated most of the second half, Glenn's defense didn't buckle. Despite being outgained 308 to 254 in total yardage, the Rockets batted down several of Andrews' passes and intercepted him three times (Bates and Gary Cloud had the others.)

'We just happened to get our hands up,"explained Gordon. "It wasn't anything we worked on in practice. It just happened.

Glenn (10-1) now advances to the state Class A semifinals, 1:30 p.m. Saturday against Muskegon (10-1) at Flint's Atwood Stadium.

Who's hot? Who's not? Who's best? Who's next?

Asking such questions before the first three-point jump shot has been launched is futile. Everyone knows it. And yet everyone loves to predict the winner.

The Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Conference sponsored its annual basketball media day last Wednesday. Here's what their coaches predicted:

• In the men's race, defending champion Wayne State will repeat, despite the graduation of star center Raheem Muhammed. Following, in order of predicted finish, are Ferris State, Lake Superior State, Saginaw Valley State, Northwood and Grand Valley State, Oakland, Hillsdale and Michigan Tech.

• For the women, defending champ Saginaw Valley has the most first place votes but was second in the balloting to Lake Superior. Grand Valley was third, followed by Ferris, Oakland, Wayne State, Northwood, Hillsdale and Michigan Tech.

The coaches don't really know who will win anymore than anyone else. But they are good sources for who could be standout players. Here's a look at some local talent competing in the GLIAC, starting with the men's teams.

WAYNE STATE may have lost Muhammed, but this well is far from dry. Among the Tartars returning is junior Hank Woodmore, a 5-foot-11 part-time starting point guard from Auburn Hills Avondale. WSU coach Charlie Parker called Woodmore "our quickest player" who is capable of scoring a flurry of points in a hur-

The Tartars also have 6-7 senior Eric Sink (Livonia Bentley), who will get a fair amount of playing time in the pivot, and 6-6 forward Hiram Harris (Orchard Lake St. Mary's), a senior transfer from Louisiana Tech. "He is a big-time player," said Parker.

At Ferris State, a freshman impact player could be Marcus Kennedy, a 6-6 forward from Troy. "He's very likable, the type of player that's nice to coach. He's very flexible, and has great basketball skills," said Bulldog coach Tom Ludwig.

SAGINAW VALLEY coach Bob Pratt is counting on 6-1 freshman Pat Schluter to be the back-up point guard. "He's the strongest player in our program," said Pratt of the Garden City native and Warren De-LaSalle graduate. "And he's the meanest, toughest player we've had in many years. He'll definitely contribute

At Grand Valley, 6-1 junior Mike Davis (Bloomfield Hills Lahser) is solidly entrenched at point guard. Andy Kolp, the 6-4 shooting guard (Birmingham Brother Rice) who took over for injured Randy Parlor last year, will play extensively again this season.

Northwood Institute coach Pat Miller is counting on 6-9 Orchard Lake St. Mary transfer Mike Cozad, a junior, to "help us considerably in the middle." And at OU, 6-3 junior guard Rob Alvin will be counted on to supply firepower off the bench.

LAST YEAR, Lake Superior's women's team went 24-5 overall and qualified for the NCAA Division II playoffs. Laurie Day, a 5-7 junior guard (Livonia Bentley), is going to 'have to improve her decision-making for her to help us," said new coach Mike Geary. "She's very good defensively, but she's going to have problems if she has to play the point."

OU has former Laker coach Bob Taylor heading its program, and one of Taylor's biggest recruits is Dawn Lichty, a 5-6 guard (Troy Zion Christian) who will play plenty if Taylor goes with a three-guard unit. "With Lichty, we have very good quickness," said Taylor.

Wayne State, too, is counting on freshmen to make an impact. Among them are Tracy Lectka, a 5-4 guard (Livonia Franklin) who coach Gary Bryce described as "a very sound ballplayer, very skilled," and Kelly Kowalski, a 5-9 forward (Livonia Stevenson) who Bryce said was "a solid basketball player with a good suiside abet" outside shot."

JANET PEDWAYDON, a 5-8 center (Southfield) who transferred from Central Michigan, is out of action at WSU with a leg stress fracture.

Northwood figures it could challenge for the No. 1 spot, with a few breaks. One would be having 6-1 sophomore center Joan Frysinger (Stevenson) join the team in good shape after the volleyball season. "We're missing that inside player without her," said first-year coach Mary Vielbig.

At shooting guard, 5-8 junior Dawn Johnson (Plymouth Salem) "is fighting for a starting position," Vielbig said, and 5-8 freshman Cathy Schram (Livonia Ladywood) possesses "a very good outside game. She's working hard on improving her defense.'

Hillsdale is coming off a 6-19 season (3-13 in the GLIAC), which sounds lousy but is an improvement for the Chargers. Senior Jacque Merrifield (Salem), a 5-7 forward, returns after averaging nine points and 4.6 rebounds a game. "She's coming on very strong with her shooting," said coach Phyllis Cupp.

At guard, freshman Jenny Nadeau (Ladywood) will see plenty of time and will be one of the biggest (5-11) to play her position. "I'm real pleased with our recruiting class," said Cupp.

OU's next foe: annon

By C.J. Risak staff writer

A month ago, what has become reality for Oakland University's soccer team would have only been wishful thinking.

Which illustrates just how far the Pioneers have come since a humiliating 4-0 loss to Akron, an NCAA Division I power. They are 5-0-1 since, including Saturday's 1-0 overtime win over Lock Haven in their NCAA Division II tournament opener.

'After the Akron loss, I thought it was still possible for us to get in," said OU coach Gary Parsons. "But I thought we were going to have to win the rest of our games to do it, and the way we had been playing I was mired at 7-5-2. "We hit rock bottom in that (Akron) game," said Parsons. "It was the real turning point of the season for us."

And now that OU has turned its season around, nothing would be better than going back and correcting a few early-season mistakes. Like a 1-0 loss to Gannon University Sept. 21 in the National Invitational Tournament at OU. That game launched the Knights on a crusade to the No. 1 ranking in Division II. They have since dropped to No. 4 after losing their season finale to Davis and Elkins.

The two teams will stage a rematch in Erie, Pa., at 1 p.m. Saturday in the Division II quarterfinals. Parsons outlined 'his team's vards out and in:

fense."

their people back, play well in front of their net and have a good keeper. "These types of games are low scoring. Mistakes are fewer. Everyone plays it pretty tight."

PARSONS DOESN'T figure to get many breaks from the well-disciplined Knights. That's why he's been working hard on counterattacking well - "We'll get scoring chances by winning the ball in our own end and breaking out fast" - and on executing their set plays.

"It usually comes down to who executes their set plays well in these games," he said. That's just what happened in OU's win over Lock Haven. Dale Henricksen's overtime score came after a Marty Hagen corner kick was tipped to Henrickdidn't think we could.

But something happened to the Pioneers. All season long, there was little doubt they possessed the talent to succeed. But they were young and inexperienced, with eight new starters on the field for some games.

"I saw a big change in attitude in practices the next few days," recalled Parsons. "We talked about a few things, and I think they started to realize some of the things they were doing and some of the things they weren't doing. They took a hard look at themselves."

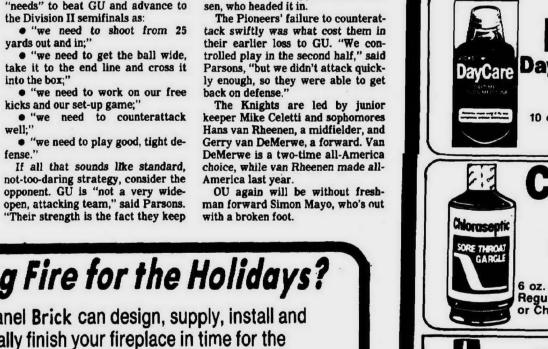

WHAT THEY saw they couldn't have liked much. A team of promise

Hawks use trickery to befuddle Northern

By Chris McCoeky staff writer

6DIP CI

You couldn't blame the Detroit Northern football players if they went home and took a second look at their calendars after losing to Farmington Harrison 36-18 in the Class B regional championship Saturday at Westland John Glenn

Although the calendars will still say Nov. 15, it sure must have seemed like Halloween to the Eskies. Trick or treat. Harrison tricked them often while treating itself to a berth in the state Class B semifinals Friday night at Flint's Atwood Stadium against Marysville.

'All our tricks came out today." Harrison coach John Herrington said. "We knew we would have to pull out all stops to win this one.

Trick No. 1 came after the Hawks' first TD. Harrison's Kurt Davis recovered a fumble at the Northern 20 yard line early in the first quarter. Three plays later, Scott Bissell ran in from the 4. Then the Hawks scored the twopoint conversion off the infamous Captain Jack play. (See related story).

Trick No. 2 broke Northern's back. Harrison led 15-12 at halftime. In their first offensive possession of the second half, the Hawks drove from their own 43 to the Northern 19 where the drive stalled. Herrington sent Mark Calvaruso on to try a 36yard field goal. Surprise. Harrison quarterback Mark Murray who is the holder on field goal attempts - picked up the ball, rolled to his right and drilled a pass to Dave Krolicki for a critical touchdown.

We knew before the game that if we faked to the right we had a chance to be successful," Herrington said.

TRICKY WASN'T the Hawks only asset on Saturday. They did a superb job of controlling both sides of the line of scrimmage against a team of superior size. Harrison checked all-PSL back Arthur Mitchell on just 23 yards. Northern managed all of 54 yards rushing, total. On the other side of the ball, the Hawks managed to grind out 108 yards rushing - 67 accumulated by Bissell.

"You know, we always thought we were pretty good at stopping the run," Herrington said. "But we had to use five defensive backs so much (because of Northern's explosive passing attack) I was very concerned Assistant coach Bob Sutter,

Harrison's defensive coordinator, was not at all surprised by his team's performance in the trenches. We told our kids that it was going to be an offensive lineman's game," Sutter said. "Our kids believe they can block, they believe they can get the job done

THE OTHER major weapon in the Hawk arsenal Saturday was Murray. Ignoring the chilly weather and in the face of consistent pressure from the Northern defense, Murray may have had his finest day. He completed 16 of 24 passes for 177 yards and two TDs.

"Mark was great, wasn't he,' Herrington said. "He has a tendency to overthrow and that cost him a couple of times today." Murray had two passes picked off by Delius Morris Murray's counterpart, Northern guarterback Marcus Honey was also effective. He completed 13 of 28 for 202 yards. He completed six of the passes to Alvin Buckley for 146 yards. And he completed a 30-yard TD pass to Morris. He, too, incurred some misfortune. Chad Burgess, Bissell and Schwedt each had an interception.

Still, it was quite a shootout.

AFTER HARRISON jumped ahead 8-0, Northern came back with two quick scores: a 21-yard run by Honey and the 30-yard pass to Morris. Northern failed on two-point conversion attempts both times

The Hawks took the lead for good right before the close of the first half. Mark Bonasso sacked Honey at the Northern 8 on a third down play. After a short punt, the Hawks took over at the 29 with 56 seconds left.

"I think it was the first time we ran our two-minute offense and we took it in. That was nice." Herrington said.

Murray hit Gary Schwedt for 17 yards, Davis for another 11. With time ticking away, and Harrison out of timeouts. Murray hit Schwedt in the end zone from the 1. Calvaruso's kick gave the Hawks a 15-12 halftime lead.

The Hawks increased the lead to 29-12 in the second half. First, the TD pass to Krolicki off the fake field goal. Then, at the outset of the fourth quarter, Harrison marched 38 yards in seven plays, scoring on Bissell's 1-yard plunge.

Vikes seek revenge on Hawks

By Chris McCosky staff writer

As Farmington Harrison football coach John Herrington was walking off the Westland John Glenn football field last Saturday, someone mentioned that Glenn had upset Ann Arbor Pioneer in its Class A regional championship.

"Is that right?" he asked. "That's just great The Western Lakes lives!"

The 12-team Western Lakes Activities Association has made its mark on the state high school football playoffs this season. Both John Glenn and Harrison are in the state semifinals.

Harrison will play Marysville in the Class B semis at 7:30 Friday night, while Glenn will take on Muskegon in a Class A semifinal at 1.30 p.m. Saturday. Both games are at Flint Atwood Stadium.

"Tell C.J. Risak to rerun his column where he said there weren't any decent teams in the Western Lakes," Herrington said jokingly on Monday. Observer columnist Risak wrote back in September that the area's state playoff hopes were dim. But he did mention that the teams with the best chance would be Harrison and Glenn Marysville (10-1) is hungry for the Hawks. In fact, the Vikings have been hankering for a rematch with Harrison since 1981. That year the Hawks eliminated Marysville from the Class B playoffs.

"They want us pretty bad," Herrington said. "Every time I see Walt Braun (Marysville coach), he always says he can't wait until he gets another shot at us."

Marysville should remind the Hawks of Riverview, their opponent in the first round of the playoffs. The Vikings are well-coached, not real big, not real fast and very danger-

hockey

Riverview " Herrington said "They run a wing-T offense, a lot of bootleg passes and about a million different pass patterr They are solid offensively and soud defensively."

The keys to the Vikings' attack are quarterback Randy Socha and backs Rich Mierendorff and Steve Foster.

"Just like Riverview. They aren't very fast but they are tough," Herrington said.

PERHAPS MARYSVILLE'S biggest weapon is its coaching staff. Braun is the second winningest high school coach in the state. Walt does a great job; his whole staff does," Herrington said. "You know they will be ready to play." How about the Hawks? Will there be a letdown after the near-perfect game against Northern? 'Oh, no. There will not be a let-down," Herrington said. "This is the big game. This is the one that gets you into the Silverdome (state finals). In a lot of ways, the semifinal game is the hardest one to win."

Harrison has used a simple but effective formula for success thus far: no mistakes. Consider:

In the two playoff games the Hawks have forced nine turnovers which led to 21 points. They have committed four turnovers resulting in seven points for the opposition. Riverview was penalized six times

They are almost identical to for 50 yards. One penalty nullified a touchdown Northern was penalized seven times for 45 yards. In the two games, Harrison has been flagged just three times for 20 yards.

Harrison, as has been its trademark over the years, rarely beats itself

HARRISON'S OFFENSE, which has put up 57 points in the two games, has been a two-pronged attack. Scott Bissell has carried the ball 47 times for 146 yards. He has also scored six TDs, 11 TDs in the Hawks last four games. Then there's the strong right arm of Mark Murray. The senior has completed 22 of 39 passes for 249 yards and two touchdowns. He's been picked off three times. He has used five different receivers: Mark Schmidt, Gary Schwedt, Rocky Varacalli, Dave Krolicki and Kurt Davis.

The nine takeaways speak highly of the Hawks' defensive effort in the playoffs. Schwedt, with an interception, two fumble recoveries and four sacks, has been the leader of the defense. Chad Burgess has also picked off a pair of passes

Harrison and Marysville: two 10-1 teams, two well-schooled teams, two relatively small teams, two not-altogether fast teams, two aggressive teams, two flat-out punishing teams defensively, two diverse teams offensively - one great football game.

Performances of the Nancy Gurwin production of 'The Di-ary of Anne Frank" continue through Sunday, Nov. 30, at the Jewish Community Center in West Bloomfield. For ticket information call 661-1000.

"The Diary of Anne Frank" is a poignant drama whose emotional impact lingers long after the curtain call. A first-rate cast makes the Nancy Gurwin production at the Jewish Community Center well worth seeing.

Thanks to her remarkable diary, Anne Frank is perhaps the most widely known victim of the Holocaust. Anne was 14 years old in 1942, a Jewish girl in Amsterdam whose family went into hiding when the occupying German forces began deporting Dutch Jews to the concentration camps.

The diary was a gift from her fa-ther to help Anne pass the long hours of confinement in the tiny, crowded loft. Anne wrote about her innermost self as well as describing the daily problems that beset the five adults and three teens sharing the hiding spot.

Anne Frank was not a saint. She was a normal adolescent, fretting about family problems and the first stirrings of romance. She could be fun-loving and mischievious one moment, full of doubts, fears and longings the next. LESLEY BERNS does a remarkable job of capturing Anne's sensitivity and mercurial mood shifts. Her expressive face and body movements convey Anne's restless, rebellious spirit and make her growing pains almost visible.

"The Diary of Anne Frank" requires each performer to cover a range of emotions. Each character reaches a breaking point, often marked by tears or an explosive outburst. Under the direction of Edgar A. Guest III, the players are all highly credible.

Carl Dumas is very fine as Mr. Frank, the wise and understanding father whom Anne idolizes. His vocal inflections reflect a constant inner anguish. Nancy Brassert is effective as Mrs. Frank, kindly and soft-spoken until pushed over the brink Lil Rosender is excellent as petulant Mrs. Van Daan, and Phil Jakey is convincing as her loutish husband. Mr. Frank aids the Van Daans to repay a business debt and is rewarded with their endless selfishness and complaining.

Danny Gurwin is very likeable as Peter, the Van Daans' painfully shy son who learns to admire Anne's high spirits. Michael Goodman is memorable as Mr. Dussel, the pee-

Good season at Folktown

There's something about the fall and folk music that go together.

Maybe it's because things slow down in the fall. It's the time to put away those groovy summer shades, bring the boom box indoors and stash those surf-rock cassettes. Time for a little quiet reflection.

Lately, folk music has been suffering from an image problem. A scene from the movie "Animal House" says it all:

John Belushi ("Bluto") and his looney fraternity brothers are having a Toga party. The camera cuts from one wild scene of drinking and debauchery to another.

Then, on a stairway, we see a sensitive young man strumming a folk guitar as coeds listen dreamily. He's crooning the schmaltzy "I Gave My Love a Cherry."

The toga-clad Belushi descends the stairs part-way, pausing just behind the "folksinger." He rolls his eyes, and in a wild outburst, grabs and smashes the wimpy one's guitar.

THE SCENE capsulizes a typical view of folk - it's music for boring nerds. But hey, some of us see folk as exciting, sexy stuff.

For folk-music lovers, those lonesome guitar sounds spark images of ramblin' gamblin' men ' hopping freight trains; of stolen love and sorrow in the pines, in the pines, where the sun never shines.

At its height of popularity in the early '60s, folk music was considered hip and exciting, typified by the rough image of the young Bob Dylan. But folk dropped in popularity in the mid-'70s. That's when the image of the folksinger shifted to John Denver singing his goopy "Sunshine on My Shoulders.

Recently, however, folk music is making a return of sorts. Folk festivals in the U.S. and Canada are flourishing. The legendary Greenwich Village folk clubs of the early field is about to wrap up a successful fall concert series, its seventh since 1981

KEN KNOPPOW, a Southfield lawyer, runs Folktown in conjunction with the Southfield Parks and ways been my favorite kind of music," he explained. Like many folk fans in the '60s,

#7D

Knoppow, 37, got into folk via the Chad Mitchell Trio and Peter, Paul and Mary

"I also really liked Phil Ochs and Tom Paxton, Joan Baez, Joni Mitchell. I liked the combination of really brilliant songwriting and the fact that they could have a mesaage with also some brilliant lighter stuff."

He frequented area folk clubs like the Raven Gallery and the Ark.

Knoppow said his interest waned a bit in the early-to-mid-'70s. Then in 1978, he saw an ad for a Leon Redbone performance at the Mariposa Folk Festival in Toronto and decided

"I got heavily into it again, more than I did before," Knoppow said.

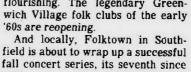

He started making the rounds of folk festivals and discovered the new wave of folk performers, Claudia Schmidt, Christine Lavin and others. Then in 1981, he began booking them for his Folktown concert series.

Folktown is set in the basement of the Southfield Civic Center, which holds an audience of more than 200 people. Knoppow has presented festival folkies and some emerging from the revitalized New York folk scene. Shows are held Saturdays in the fall, in a coffee-house atmosphere.

The last show in this series features multi-lingual singer Rita Falbel at 8 p.m. Saturday. Admission is

"THERE CERTAINLY is a reasonably vibrant folk scene in the Detroit area," Knoppow said. "Whether it can support a full-time club, I don't know. I'm just glad the music is being kept alive."

All in all, Knoppow said Folktown, at Civic Center Drive and Evergreen, is flourishing. It's folk music in the fall - and they'll even sell you a glass of cider.

Unity expertly does one-acts

Performances of the Unity Theatre Company production of 'The Long Christmas Dinner" and "The Happy Journey," oneact plays by Thornton Wilder, will be held at 8 p.m. Friday and 2 and 8 p.m. Saturday at the Trenton Theatre in Trenton. Earlier performances were at the Northwestern Unitarian Church in Southfield and the Farmington Community Center. The production was reviewed in Southfield. For ticket information call 675-1391.

Thorton Wilder is alive and well in the hands of the Unity Theatre Company. The accomplished players who comprise the cast of "The Long Christmas Dinner" and "The Happy Journey to Trenton and Camden" capture the spirit of celebration that lies beneath the surface of much of Wilder's work.

Ably directed by Scott McCue, the cast walks a fine line between pathos and sentimentality. McCue and his actors know that Wilder's dialogue in the wrong hands can easily sound banal rather than profound. Fortunately, everyone connected with the production of Wilder's one-act gems understands the necessity for stringent delivery.

The result is a miniature version of "Our Town" - two plays that manage to hit humorous notes and simultaneously capture the sense of transience that is Wilder's strength. Ruth Allen is convincing as Mother Bayard, and she is cousin Ermengarde, the last guest at the dinners that carry us through three generations of factory owners and their children. Deanne Martell is wonderfully supple as Counsin Brandon who eats with gusto. Martell is a technical virtuoso who bends imperceptibly toward the grave and reappears as son Sam in "Christmas Dinner," and Kate Bernard is a gifted, charming actress. She turns in a strong performance as Ma in "Journey" and is a touching Leonora in "Dinner."

DENNIS MARTELL is a fine Pa and an efficient Roderick. Jesse Heindl was born to play kids; he's splendid as Arthur in "Journey." Maureen Pickens is a spirited Caroline. Diane Geiger performs a number of roles well. Kimberly Britt is a moving Genevieve. Silent Nina La-Dow, dressed in a nurse's uniform, carrying babies through white curtains and moving old folks toward black draperies, nearly steals the day.

Good timing, ingenious sets and intelligence are evident.

Helen Zucker has many years' experience reviewing for newspapers and magazines in Michigan, New York and Massachusetts.

some more intensity, is the 1983 Rochioli, a relative newcomer to our state. Lovely!

From Oregon there is the 1983 Ponzi Reserve, loaded with character and distinction, a classic representation of what Oregon pinot noir is like at its best. And there is the multi-award winner, Knudsen Erath (the "K" is silent) 1983 Reserve. Truly a wine of great breeding, it is per-haps one of the finest of its types ever, equalling some of the best the Eyrie has produced. Each of these costs about $15 a bottle, not everyday fare surely. But for those of you who have an Uncle Bill and Aunt Jen coming to dinner, or several of their type, you might use instead the dependable Sebastiani Tailfeathers pinot noir. At about $6, it is an adequate substitute. And some enjoy using a Nouveau Gamay that will be released a couple of days before the holiday.

For those of you who do not drink red wines, the usual recommendation is to use chardonnay. Not a bad idea: try gewurztraminer (pronounce the "w" as "v" and put the accent on the third syllable). It has a joie and spiciness that blend well with fowl or ham.

Saving the first for the last, there is also the matter of what to drink before the great repast. This year keep Cousin Mary away from the gin and the beer from George: give them instead the great celebration wine of the western world: champagne!

There is no need to spend $30-$75 a bottle for this (though those in that category can be extremely tasty). There are some excellent choices to be had in the $10-$12 range this year, two of them new to us.

Phyllis Washburn and Mike Aquilina appear in "Collection" by James Leach, one of the three one-acts presented by Trinity House Theatre.

Trinity's plays are mixed bag

Performances of "An Evening of One Acts," presented by Trinity House Theatre, continue through Saturday, Dec. 13, at Trinity House in Livonia. For ticket information, call 464-6302.

In Trinity House Theatre's "An Evening of One Acts," featuring the works of new playwrights, some pieces are more polished than others. All offer interesting insights, however, and are generally well

The first offering, "Virginia Is for Lovers" by James C. Schaap, directed by Kurt Kinde, is the most complete and complex piece of writing. He examines the insecurities and guilty feelings of a married couple. The wife has kept a photo for 16 years of an ex-boyfriend, who served in Vietnam.

Meanwhile, the husband obtained a deferment and promotions at work. One day a crisis develops and the husband demands the wife burn the picture.

That's a neat little crisis for a oneact. Unfortunately, Donna Miller and Richard Shawl appear a bit young and too inexperienced for the married couple. They say the words and move about OK, but it's more like "actors" than characters. Bethany Moore, on the other hand, is perfectly cast as the slightly precocious daughter who precipitates the conflict.

THE NEXT piece, "Maggie and Beth" by Paul Patton, directed by Susan Vanden Brink, is a shortish scene from his play "Silent Morning." In it we meet a woman with two young children and her motherin-law, whose son has left his wife.

Pat Eve-Anne Kearney gives a lively performance as Maggie - a doting grandmother who idolizes her grandchildren. She has a nice comedic sense, but a habit of dropping her voice at inopportune times. Suzanne Cosner is very good as the young mother, Beth, as are Jessica Patton and Justin King as the chil-

Although it's satisfying to learn that the grandmother will move in with her daughter-in-law to be near the children, it would have been even better if we knew more about the missing husband or the problems of two adult women living together.

An interesting concept entitled 'Collection" by James Leach, directed by Jeff Hedeen, is the evening finale. It's dawn on a cold winter morning as we meet a trio busily shoveling snow. Mike Aquilina, Mary Lewis and Daniel Zowada turn in

Take a Caribbean tour and see Europe

You have just watched the Changing of the Guard and now you are on your way to a cricket match, with a stop for high tea along the way. Where are you?

You have your Spanish-English dictionary in your hand and are ready to tour a 16th-century church called Santa Maria la Menor. What capital city is this and how far are you from the Mediterranean Sea?

You have changed your dollars for French francs, bought Chateau Lafitte-Rothschild for your Uncle Henry and now you are sitting in a sidewalk cafe eating French pastry. You are in a Department of France, but which one is it?

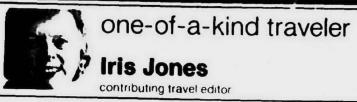

London, Madrid and Paris? No. the answers are: Nassau, Bahamas; Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic; and Basse-Terre on the island of Guadeloupe.

If you made a high score on that little quiz, you may already know that the Old World is alive, well and speaking many languages on the islands of the Caribbean. If you stayed home this year because the gollar is going down and terrorism is going up, you may be able to take part of the Grand Tour after all, with the U.S.A. only a few miles away.

THE ISLANDS of the Caribbean cover 2,000 miles east and south from the Gulf of Mexico to the coast of South America, although they have the same emerald green warm water seas that we associate with the Caribbean. Bermuda is also in the Atlantic, on a parallel with Charleston and Savannah.

The true Caribbean starts with the large islands of Cuba and Hispaniola, and curve like a long bony tail east and south to the South American coastal countries of Columbia and Venezuela. You might expect the West Indies to offer you a unified culture, but every island has its own character, determined by the people who settled and ruled it.

The Spaniards discovered most of the islands, but the Spanish culture predominates now only in Puerto Rico and the Dominican Republic. Guadeloupe, Martinique and their dependent islands are French-spo-

Dutch, Spanish, English and Papiamento are in the Netherland Antilles. Most of the islands ended up within the British empire, so most of the islanders speak English. Whatever the language, each little piece of coral rock speaks it with a Caribbean accent.

TO REDISCOVER America, start on the large island of Hispaniola, where Christopher Columbus ran the Santa Maria aground on the north shore during his first voyage to the New World in 1492.

His brother Batholomew built the city of Santo Domingo in 1496; today it is the capital city of the Dominican Republic, which shares the island with the smaller, poorer, politically troubled nation of Haiti.

The friendly inhabitants of the Dominican Republic have restored Santo Domingo so that you can cover the beautiful old Spanish city on a walking tour. Stay in one of the fine city hotels or 80 miles away in Casa de Campo, which is one of the most complete resorts in the Caribbean; it has regular polo matches and a recreated 16th-century Mediterranean Village called Altos de Cha-

A walking tour of Santo Domingo is very similar to the kind of Old World walking tour you would take in any historic European city.

The Alcazar de Colon was the home of Columbus' son Diego and his descendants. Santa Maria la Menor, the cathedral built in 1540, has a splendid altar, a silver carillon by Cellini and the tomb of Christopher Columbus

SUCH TOMBS can be found elsewhere, in Cuba or in Spain, for example, but there is strong evidence to suggest that this is the real thing. The most interesting building in the old city may be the Museum of the Casa Reales on Calla las Damas. Two early sixteenth century palaces have been joined into a museum showing Spanish colonial life through artifacts, tapestries, maps and the salvage of old shipwrecks.

There is, of course, a modern side to Santo Domingo, complete with shopping centers, hotels, restaurants and discos.

CARIBBEAN NETHERLANDS -Flip through a AAA guide book on the Caribbean and you will note that Columbus sighted, discovered and named many of the islands, although few of them remained long under Spanish rule. The Dutch, French, English and Spanish merchant ships fought recurring wars to win the rich bounty of the Indies, each leaving an indelible mark on specific warm water islands.

Cruise into Willemstad, capital city of the island of Curacao, and you may wonder if the captain turned the wrong way and took you by mistake into an Amsterdam canal. There they are, leaning over the water, blue and yellow and white clapboard houses rising high and narrow above the shoreline, bending over the waterways exactly as they do at home.

On the Dutch-inclined streets are European goods on sale at excellent prices because of the very low import duty. This is a European tour of the Caribbean so you will be shopping for china and crystal; island crafts can be bought in various island destinations, either in specialty shops or in colorful street markets.

CURACAO is also a good place to trace the history of the Jewish community in the New World. Jews who were driven out of Spain, and later out of South America, came by a roundabout route to these Caribbean in St. Martin. If you want two European countries for the price of one, this is it.

FRENCH PASTRY, HIGH TEA -St. Martin, one of the island dependencies of Guadeloupe, is, like the island of Martinique, actually part of France. These islands have their own representatives in the French government. They carry French passports, spend French francs and sing the French national anthem.

To see a perfect example of Europe in the New World, drive from the casinos and the duty-free shops of Philipsburg, capital of St. Maarten, which is Dutch, to the French cafes and the nude beaches around Marigot, the French capital of St. Martin. In both cases, you will find quaint old houses converted to restaurants.

Of course, many Americans go to Europe to see the British Isles, Coldstream Guards and all. Perhaps no the queen's portrait hanging high in government house.

TEA IS SERVED every day at "half after four" in Barbados, where cricket is the main spectator sport. An authentic European cloister sits atop a hill on Paradise Island. The British love of formal gardens left glorious public flower patches behind in most of the British islands, i.e. the Royal Botanic Gardens of Port of Spain, Trinidad, and the Ardastra Gardens and Botanic Gardens, both on Chippingham Road near Fort Charlotte in Nassau. Old forts are found all over the islands, but the most colorful and photogenic of the Europoean souvenirs left behind in the Caribbean may be the various police forces, Londonstyle bobbies in white helmets and police bands that look like the Coldstream Guards.

The Changing of the Guards can be seen at 10 a.m. every second Sat-

Home ownership decline alarms lenders

The 1987 housing market in Michigan could see a repeat of this year's record performance, but an assault on federally guaranteed mortgage programs could dim prospects for middle-class ownership in the future.

This was the outlook presented at a news conference in Detroit by the new national and state presidents of the Mortgage Bankers Association.

"Proposals to do away with the government programs could not come at a worse time," said Thomas M. French Jr., president of the Mortgage Bankers Association of America.

"Federal guaranteed loan programs have helped house 15 million Americans who needed or deserved a helping hand.

"NOW, FOR the first time, the rate of home ownership is on the decline. It dropped from 65.5 percent in 1980 to 63.5 percent in 1985.

"Another report indicates that only 50 percent of people under the age of 30 will ever own a home of their own " French sees a calculated move to get the government out of the housing picture to the detriment of millions of Americans who could not own a home without government help.

"There is no doubt that federal housing programs have been under assault for some time." French said. "If it has not been through such front-door assaults as selling or privatizing, it has been through backdoor attacks such as user fees, which would tax the programs out of existence."

Endangered federal programs, French said, include: Federal Housing Administration; Veterans Administration; Federal National Mortgage Association; Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corp.; and Government National Mortgage Association. French said there is no private system that can successfully replace government in guaranteeing mortgages for first-time buyers, veterans and low- and moderate-income earners who come to closing with a minimum down payment.

"With housing becoming less and less affordable, FHA's role is more crucial today than ever before," he said, "for too much of the country owning a home may move beyond even the reach of the middle class." THE LENDING market should remain strong, however.

"Unless there is some unexpected significant drop, we should avoid any delays in processing mortgage applications. The problem this year followed the decline of interest rates from around 12 percent to the 10percent level.

"In addition to attracting many new buyers to the market, this rate drop led to a refinancing rush that severely taxed the staffs at credit bureaus and lenders as well as appraisal, survey and title companies. With the reduced sales pace customary at this time of year, that problem has been resolved. We are back at the normal approval period of three to six weeks.

SINCLAIR SAID additional highlights in 1986 included a strong shift to 15-year mortgages from the traditional 30-year period and a resurgence in home building that saw most of the improved lots brought into use.

Noting rising prices in Michigan, Sinclair said homes here still represent "tremendous bargains" compared to most other sections of the country.

"The full price of our average homes is usually less than the typical loan required in western and northeastern states," he said. "Even with the current upward trend, a median-priced home here should remain well within the affordabilities range of households with average incomes."

Looking at the bright side of a dark era to a bygone era.

OLLECTING DEPRESSION glass N.V is like having a year-round autumn color tour in your home. The dazzling green and yellow glassware, mass produced during the Great Depression years of the ... 1930s, attract both casual and serious collectors. Shoppers flocked to the fall exhibit in Dearborn recently sponsored by the Michigan Depression Glass Society.

Norma Killinger of Livonia, a collector and dealer, says she has an ongoing "love affair" with Depression glass and its upscale counterpart, "Depression-era glass.

"I'm dyed in the wool -- I eat and sleep it," Killinger said. Killinger says she has "thousands and thousands" of pieces of dinnerware, goblets, vases and assorted glass pieces in a rainbow of colors. Killinger, who was instrumental in organizing the Michigan Depression Glass Society in the early 1970s, reads any Depression glass books she can get her hands on, and scours the country looking for pieces to add to her collection.

"I SEE MERIT in all of it," Killinger said. "At one time I had 22 sets. I have since broken up and sold some of them off. You buy until your house is bulging at the seams and you are forced to become a dealer."

Depression glass was made during the late 1920s up to the '40-s explained Betty Merritt Kneffel of Dearborn, chairwoman of the show. The name comes from the time period. "It's usually machine-made and colorful,"

she added. "When people think of it, they think of pink, green and vellow.

The inexpensive, mass-produced dinnerware was given aw7y, as an advertising gimick, by gas stations, movie houses and cereal companies of the era. Many people who collect Depression glass also have extensive collections of Depression-era glass, which is higher-quality, hand-crafted glass products made by famous glass companies which now are defunct.

Many collections begin when one or two pieces are handed down through family members. Other people get hooked on the glassware after buying pieces at garage or estate sales.

Howard and Elly Barnett of Farmington Hills were selling antique linens at a flea market several years ago, when a man sold them a 72-piece set of Depression glass dinnerware for $15.

"I HAD NO IDEA what they were worth." Elly Barnett said. "We are really into antiques."

Barnett's husband Howard, a clothing buyer, did some research and learned the items were worth around $150. That convinced the couple they were onto a good thing. They now enjoy doing shows.

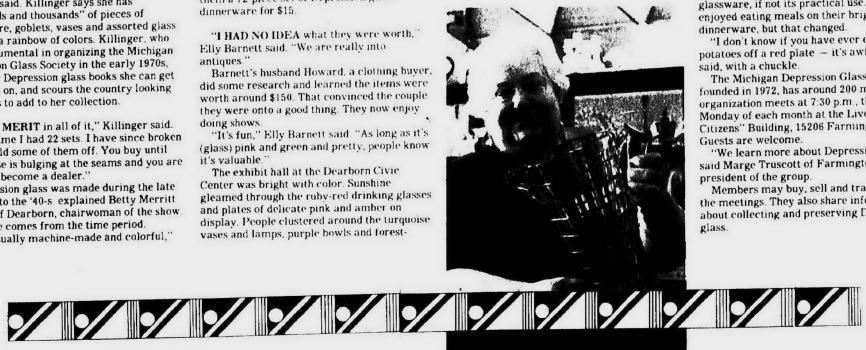

"It's fun," Elly Barnett said. "As long as it's (glass) pink and green and pretty, people know it's valuable.

The exhibit hall at the Dearborn Civic Center was bright with color. Sunshine gleamed through the ruby-red drinking glasses and plates of delicate pink and amber on display. People clustered around the turquoise vases and lamps, purple bowls and forestgreen pitchers. There also were clear glass punch bowls, cake plates and salt-and-pepper shakers

There was seemingly endless variety of pieces for sale at prices ranging from a few dollars for salt-and-pepper shakers to several hundred dollars for a crystal punch bowl set or a rare, green decorative piece. Dick Heldenbrand of Milford, worked a grinding wheel, reparing damaged glassware.

"YOU HAVE TO have a varied selection because everybody has favorites," said Ron Dunkel of Redford, who has an estimated 8,000 pieces in his collection.

In addition to owning an antique business with his wife Pam, Dunkel owns a Little Ceasars' pizza franchise. Dunkel, who also collects baseball cards and jewelry, is especially fond of Depression-era pieces produced by such firms as Duncan Miller, Cambridge and Fostoria.

Dunkel says he travels all over the country with his glass pieces carefully wrapped in diaper pads to avoid breakage.

"You can make a living (from selling) but you have to hustle," Dunkel said.

Ken and Norma Godwin of Dearborn started their collection 10 years ago with some pink and crystal lunch plates. Today, they have a $40,000 inventory of glassware, a hobby which they both enjoy, and many friends.

We needed something that we could both do together," said Godwin, a Battalion Fire Chief in Dearborn. "My wife is a pack rat. We soon realized you could buy it at a garage sale for $1 and sell it for $2 or $3."

THE COUPLE ENJOY the beauty of their glassware, if not its practical use. At first they enjoyed eating meals on their brightly-colored dinnerware, but that changed.

"I don't know if you have ever eaten mashed potatoes off a red plate - it's awful," Godwin said, with a chuckle.

The Michigan Depression Glass Society, founded in 1972, has around 200 members. The organization meets at 7:30 p.m., the first Monday of each month at the Livonia Senior Citizens" Building, 15206 Farmington Road. Guests are welcome.

"We learn more about Depression glass," said Marge Truscott of Farmington Hills, president of the group.

Members may buy, sell and trade glass at the meetings. They also share information about collecting and preserving Depression glass.

Exhibit to open

Members of the Garden City Fine Arts Association will have their work on display from Friday, Nov. 21, through Tuesday, Nov. 25, in the Log Cabin in Garden City Park, Merriman and Cherry Hill

Roads. Participating will be Thelma Pugh (left), Greg Locke and Joanne Blacker, who is acting as the show's coordinator. The public is invited and there is no admission charge.

Strive for sincerity of expression

HE WORD sincerity is very inter- a commission is offered them esting it means without wax Hundreds of years ago sculpture was a major form of expression in the field of art

When a sculptor mistakingly cracked a portion of his piece of marble, he simply filled the crack with wax. On a completed and polished piece of marble a wax-filled defect was very hard if not impossible, to find cracks of dishonest expression. In drawing this and painting insincerity can be hidden behind technical skill. People viewing such a nicture will be impressed with the realism husiness of lines but will hardly pick up the artist's expression or feelings, because there were none

AS A MATTER of fact expression can supercede technical skill One picture tight- is directed for the enjoyment or requirely rendered may be far inferior to a loosely ment of others. sketched yet highly expressive drawing Many times artists will comment how one quick sketch draws more attention than another tightly rendered and even photographic picture Of course this is no mystery since the sketch was a purer stroke of expression for success in art. Many people can do well or photo or print, go to a printer and make a when they draw what they want to draw cheap five-cent copy of the photo. This autowhen they want to draw it But expression matically reduces all colors to their proper and looseness quickly flees from them when shades of grey.

For hours, they hunch over their artwork getting tighter and less expressive by the minute. Remember, people commission you because they like the way you draw for yourself. They may, in fact, feel cheated if you don't draw the same for them.

The way that you see and draw things is your style. And if your manner or style brought customers to you, it would be a shame if you could not deliver the same to So strive in your artwork to have no them So before you even begin to draw do · Consider or take thought of what you are to draw.

• Appreciate or become aware of the value of your subject;

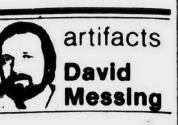

• Express or show your feelings:

· Be sincere in that expression; · Allow your style to show even when it
