School group OK's much-debated film

By M B Dillon staff writer

A profamity-filled film banned in Plymouth-Canton Community Schools by Supterintendent John Hoben now may be shown under certain conditions, a committee charged with examining the issue has ruled.

The showing of "The Breakfast Club," an R-rated movie about four students serving a day of detention. caused communitywide controversy after Diane Daskalakis, a former school board candidate, lodged a complaint with the district claiming the movie is unsuitable for the class

Local activist and born-again Christian Daskalakis appealed the decision Monday. She says 725 residents are interested in joining "Citizens for Better Education," an organization she is forming to study teaching methods in Plymouth-Canton schools

"The Breakfast Club" was shown to psychology students as part of a unit on interpersonal communica-

IN ITS REPORT, the committee said, "Materials are not irrelevant merely because they are controver-

"The central issue is whether it aids the student in understanding the subject and whether or not the material is reasonable in light of the level of maturity of pupils and objectives of the course material

The showing of 'The Breakfast Club' can serve a legitimate educational purpose when done in the proper educational environment. A school administrator, librarian, teacher and two parents served on the committee. Psychology students in grades 10-12 only may view the film. For students under age 17, parental consent is required. An administrator must ensure guidelines are met, the report

HOBEN'S BANNING of "The Breakfast Club" was met with a public outery, prompting the Plymouth-Canton school board to form the committee

Teachers at Plymouth Canton and Plymouth Salem high schools, who spent hours completing reports as part of the inquiry, are relieved a decision has been reached.

"I look at it very positively," said Joanne Hart, a Salem psychology teacher who showed 'The Breakfast Club" last year

They've acknowledged the fact that we had a purpose - that our goals and objectives fit perfectly into our unit and that the movie had educational value.

Students who saw the film gained a greater sensitivity to their own social groups and learned about the impact of drugs on people's behavior, she added.

Hart estimates that she and other staff members spent more than 23 hours each answering committee questions - time that could have been better spent

Pam Kosteva endured hard times when she first bought her business. Now a willingness to go the extra mile sustains it.

Merchant uses personal touch to wow customers

By Susan Buck staff writer

Pam Kosteva bends over the display case and gingerly rearranges the gourmet items within. Many of these items will be sent across the country and Canada during December as contents of a holiday food basket.

The holidays are a hustle-bustle time for Kosteva, 38, who with husband David has owned the Cheese and Wine Barn on Forest Avenue in downtown Plymouth for six years.

Custom-made food baskets are their specialty. Through their company, New Departures Inc., Kosteva is prepared to meet the challenge of another active holiday sea-

WHEN THE Kostevas bought the store in 1981, Pam had no idea that her forte would become specialty food and wine basket preparation.

She admits she was a bit naive when she took over the business helm But today, her conversation reveals the keen entrepreneurial skill of a seasoned merchant.

'The economy of the Detroit area crashed literally months after we bought the store. The first year was very difficult. I had to look at other ideas and leads to keep sales up. I began to contact commercial and industrial businesses in the Kosteva has made chocolate eyeglass frames for DOC Optometric Centers. One of her earliest food basket clients was Don Massey Cadillac, Plymouth. She does not do baskets with fruit in them because she does not feel fruit is unique.

KOSTEVA ADMITS she cannot price compete with mail order food specialty companies like the Wisconsin-based Swiss Colony, Figi's and the Wisconsin Cheeseman.

She said she prefers, instead, to take her business one step further by tailor-making food baskets according to the preferences of her customers. By doing business this way, she affords clients greater flexibility, she said.

Kosteva has designed baskets with cooler totes during the summer, packages with wine classes in leather briefcases and baskets with backgammon sets.

Many of Kosteva's customers are European immigrants and foreign exchange students. "I charge my customers what I'm charged."

Professionally, Kosteva serves on the board of directors of the Michigan chapter of the National Association of Women Business Owners. She also is on the board of directors for the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce and the Plymouth downtown development board Previous to becoming a businesswoman, Kosteva was a language arts teacher at Livonia Churchill High School. She also taught at Terra Technical College in Fremont, Ohio. In addition, she was a program director of the off-campus credit program for liberal arts at Wayne State University. She was later hired by Creative Universal, a training and consulting firm.

Kosteva holds a bachelor's degree from Central Michigan University and a master's degree from the University of Michigan. She grew up in Redford Township. The second oldest of six children, Kosteva remembers stuffing envelopes at her father, Robert Mayer's business, Mayer Janitorial Supply Co. at Seven Mile and Beech. She also recalls playing in the street when Beech Daly still was a narrow, gravel road.

Her family moved to Livonia when she was 11. Kosteva, her husband, David, a vice president of human resources for Chai in Ann Arbor, and 5-yearold son, Andy, reside in Northville.

She is the sister-in-law of state Rep. James Kosteva, D-Canton Township, and the sister of Bob Mayer, owner of Prescribed Oxygen Specialist Inc., a medical supplies store in Plymouth.

Mitch Bozimowski wants street lights installed to complement private lighting around his property.

Request issued for street lights

The stolen car was the last straw for Mitch Bozimowski, a Plymouth Township resident who lives on Canton Center Road.

thieves have made off with his '85 Lincoln from the driveway, two wheels and tires from a relative's car in the driveway, and chairs and a bug killer from a deck in the yard, Bozimowski said.

"It's pitch black. Anyone driving Canton Center can very easily set up anything they want to steal from around this place."

BOZIMOWSKI concedes that professionals probably were responsible for the car thefts. The Lincoln was later recovered stripped in Detroit. Kids, he suspects, took the other items. Street lighting is one answer, he Supervisor Maurice Breen said the township generally will use tax dollars to install and operate street lights "at major intersections coming out of subdivisions." Bozimowski's corner, Breen speculated, wouldn't qualify.

However, if Bozimowski can persuade enough of his neighbors to join the cause, Breen said the township probably would help them get street lights - then tax by special assessment the properties that directly benefit.

"We'd be very careful to set it up (only) for people who want it so the cost would be borne by the people who want it," he said

It may be difficult getting a majority willing to pay for the improvement When I lived in LakePointe, we never were able to get sufficient people who wanted it," Breen said. COST WAS one factor. Also, few people wanted a pole in front of their homes. Bozimowski said he's talked to some of his neighbors about street lights and they seemed favorably disposed We'd like to do something about

How expensive are street lights? Detroit Edison charges $253 per year per light to install a pole and light, maintain the fixtures and provide electricity, said a spokesman for the utility. Edison recommends one light every 210 feet in

"All too often we drive around the township it's totally dark," he said. "You can't see any activity

Mercy mulls leasing former county hospital

staff writer

An organization which operates five Catholic hospitals in southeast Michigan is considering taking over the Westland Medical Center, which has had a history of financial problems as a county hospital and for the last two years as a private hospital

The Board of Directors for the Mercy Health Corp. Friday will consider the purchase of a lease to operate the Westland Medical Center

The hospital on Merriman Road near Michigan Avenue in Westland. was operated by Wayne County as Wayne County General Hospital until two years ago when the Southwest Detroit Hospital Corp leased it from the county

The action follows months of talks between the Farmington Hills-based Mercy Corp and officers of Southwest Detroit which for two years has attempted to turn around the beleaguered facility.

THE OBSERVER reported last week that negotiations between Southwest officials and three bidders had resulted in a tentative offer from Mercy Health Corp.

This week, a spokesman for the non-profit organization said officials are hopeful that if given the nod they could take over as soon as Jan. 1.

FAHLE SAID negotiations for the center began in earnest last August and that so far board members have informally expressed enthusiasm for the project

"I don't think we'll get any arguments that it's compatible with our mission to serve the economically disadvantaged," Fahle said. "The issue (will be) how quickly can it be improved to attract and retain an appropriate number of medical staff and patients.

Fahle noted that there is potential for population growth and the need for hospital facilities in Westland's area because of development of the I-275 corridor to the west, along the I-696 corridor to the north and around Metropolitan Airport to the

WHEN WAYNE County operated it as Wayne County General, the hospital posted annual losses averaging $15 $18 million

Mercy officials indicated that acquiring Westland would enable the Mercy chain to have fuller obstetrics services At one time Mount Carmel had the largest OB-GYN service in the state, but we moved out of it around 1972. We think in some respects that it had not been the wisest course to take

Fahle said Westland has developing 96-bed psychiatric unit as a needed service that would help accommodate patients from throughout the Mercy system

The Mercy administrator guessed his corporation will need to spend some $7 million in the next four yers to make improvements at Westland and to convert its four-bed rooms to two-bed rooms

THE CORPORATION operates 21 hospitals in Michigan, Indiana, Iowa and and New York Mount Carmel is licensed for 587 beds in Detroit. The Mercy group also operates the McAuley Center in Ann Arbor, St. Joseph-Mercy Hospital in Pontiac, and Samaratin in Detroit.

Wayne County Commissioner Kay Beard D-Inkster, whose district in cludes Garden City and Westland, opposed the leasing of the facility to Southwest Detroit two years ago but said she was pleased with the latest development

Fahle said it may take years because of the costly "standby" expenses associated with such emergency service. Yet, he didn't rule it

Charles Arnold, a trustee at Southwest, said his board's concern is that health care for low and moderatly income people will be provided.

The whole hospital industry is having its problems It will take an entity that will provide patients. The crux of the issue is occupancy. Unfortunately, our marketing efforts have not enabled us to remedy that situation. There may be others who Fahle credited Southwest for its efforts to improve Westland Medical's service and financial operations and said it would be likely that future talks could develop between the two corporations over "cooperative ventures" within Detroit.

Canton woman dies in crash

One person is dead and another critically injured following a Sunday afternoon traffic accident on Orchard Lake at Walnut Lake roads in West Bloomfield

Urmila Mehta, 42, of Canton was pronounced dead at the scene after the car in which she was a passenger was struck broadside by a Winneba-go recreational vehicle. West Bloomfield police said Urmila's husband, Prem Mehta, 48, was driving north on Orchard Lake Road at 3 p.m. and was attempting to make a left turn when the car was struck by the southbound Winnebago. The impact carried the small Ford Escort an estimated 185 feet beyond the intersection before the two vehicles came to a stop. Prem Mehta is in critical condition in the intensive care unit of Providence Hospital. Both he and his wife were wearing seat belts, according to police.

John Schier, 56, driver of the Winnebago, and his wife Jeanne, 57, a passenger, were uninjured. The Athens, Mich. couple was in Keego Harbor visiting relatives, police

Mike Madigan said. Speed may have been a factor, he said, but no skid marks from the Winnebago were observed by which speed could be calculated. The Michigan State Police may be contacted to reconstruct the accident and determine speed, he added.

Lt. Jerry Bismack of the West Bloomfield Fire Department said paramedics were at the scene in minutes. Urmila Menta was dead when they arrived and no attempts were made to resuscitate her.

Bismack said it was first feared the driver would not survive injuries caused by the roof coming down on him, but that at last check he was in stable condition

KNOWINGLY NEVER UNDERSOLD

Ice show dates set

for 1987

The Plymouth City Commission carved the way Monday for the 1987 Plymouth Ice Sculpture Spectacular, voting unanimously to approve a special events application filed by Scott Lorenz.

Lorenz, general manager of the Mayflower Hotel, and Plymouth City Manager Henry Graper will serve as chairmen of the outdoor extravaganza. It's expected that up to half a million people will visit downtown Plymouth during the Spectacular.

Artisans showcasing their icy creations in Kellogg Park will have signed "dangerous activity liability waivers," absolving the city should poor weather melt their monoliths, or accidents occur while the sculptures are being shaped.

City Commissioner Mary Childs asked Mayor William Robinson at Monday's meeting whether the city couldn't add to the resolution a "guarantee for real cold weather."

If January is unseasonably warm, it won't be the first time Plymouth's winter wonderland is reduced to a water-logged mess.

Robinson replied that DPW director Ken Vogras would probably be happy to add that clause, if he were present at the meeting.

The city is doing something about a variable it can control — vandalism. Police will patrol round-the-clock in an attempt to keep ice damage to a minimum.

IN OTHER action, commissioners revoked the 50 percent tax abatement granted a couple of years ago to Frank Bauss, owner of a newly constructed office building at 575 S. Main.

The two-story building adjacent to First of America Bank in downtown Plymouth is home to a host of small shops and offices.

Bauss of Northville owes more than $2,000 in winter and summer taxes for 1985 and 1986.

He's failed to acknowlege several warnings mailed to him by city treasurer/assessor Kenneth Way.

Bauss "is a nice guy, an excellent builder" and the city "likes the project," but the owner hasn't lived up to his agreement with the city, Graper said.

The property will be placed on the 1987 tax rolls, and the state attorney general may be contacted to see whether the city can confiscate the property in lieu of taxes, Graper said.

Commissioners unanimously passed a motion by Childs to revoke the tax exemption.

IMPORTANT! READ EVERY WORD:

Although this is a peak shopping season, most purchasing applies primarily to holiday gift items. Quite frankly, this time of the year has traditionally been an extremely poor selling period for retailers of "big ticket" merchandise, such as furniture (particularly when it is not available for immediate delivery). We, and Pennsylvania House, want to prove that it is possible to sell special order furniture during this season.

Therefore, we make this unprecedented offer. We believe that this sale has so much to offer, you will participate in this event. We are presenting superb, investment quality furniture at the biggest discounts we have ever offered! This is an open book sale — factory catalogs and price lists are posted so that you may verify your savings. And best of all, the pieces on sale are the top-sellers in Pennsylvania House's prestigious product line . . . classic, enduring designs, meticulously crafted by experts.

This market is a known test market. We are the area's key Pennsylvania House distributor, and one of the region's largest dealers. We are thrilled to be able to make this spectacular offer.

Undercover minor was sold beer

An undercover investigation of sellers of alcohol was conducted last week by the city of Plymouth Police Department

A police department employee, age 19, attempted to buy alcoholic beverages at eight licensed outlets for package alcohol sales in the city.

Three businesses sold beer to the under-age buyer while five declined

The Farmer Jack grocery on Main Street and both Beyer's Drug Stores on Ann Arbor Road and at Main and Mill sold beer to the minor. No identificaiton was asked for in these instances, report police.

Bill's Market on Starkweather in Old Village also was cited by police last week for having an underaged employee selling beer. An adult member of the police department purchased beer from a 17-year-old

Those businesses which did not sell alcohol to the minor on Nov. 25 were: Bill's Market, Danny's Foods, Dimitri's Party Pantry, Mayflower Party Store and Lawson's.

The results of the investigation will be turned over to the Liquor Control Commission for action against the licensees. The city attorney's office will be reviewing the investigation for possible criminal charges against the clerks involved.

The investigation was prompted by reports of sales to underaged persons, says Police Chief Richard Myers, both now and during the summer. The police department will continue such undercover operations on an as-needed basis.

'Teaching tool' questionable

To the editor:

As a resident of Canton with two of education my children are receiving. But I am growing more and more concerned about the use of socalled "teaching tools" that are no more that movies of questionable taste and value.

Our school system is a community school system which means that it should reflect the values of the community. I have not yet found a single person in our community who thinks 'Ghost Busters" or "Teen Wolf" are part of an appropriate curriculum.

If we have a problem in our schools let's address it and solve it. The showing of films with "repeated, exaggerated, intense, visually explicit and overwhelming violence" (Nov. 17 Canton Observer) to children is definitely a problem.

I am also disappointed in the sensationalized way this story has been reported in the Observer Newspaper. In taking Diane Daskalkis to task for her supposed attempts at censorship the Observer seems to encourage imposing censorship on her. Rebekah Reynolds,

Newcomers appreciative

The Newcomers Club of Canton wishes to thank all the merchants of Canton and Plymouth who gave merchandise to be auctioned off for the hospice. Movie should be shown

To the editor:

I feel that the movie "The Breakfast Club" should be available for viewing at Plymouth Salem High School. I have seen this film and feel that it is harmless viewing for anyone of high school age. Nevertheless, I do not see why it should be made a class assignment. Most students have already seen this movie by now on a VCR or on cable TV.

Censorship is nothing new in America. Just to give a few examples all of these publications were under attack at one time or another in various parts of the country: "Califoria Suite," "Diary of Anne Frank," "Eye of the Needle," "Death of a Salesman," "Huckleberry Finn,"
"Macbeth," "To Kill a Mockingbird," "Romeo and Juliet," "El Norte," "Flowers for Algernon," "The Color Purple," MS. magazine, "Catcher in the Rye," Redbook magazine, "Go Ask Alice."

I feel that movies should be selected for their artistic and educational value if they are to be shown in a public school as a class assignment. Of course, again, this is a subjective judgment by someone. Another possible consideration would be to expose our students to those films that are not commercial "super hits." Many excellent movies, such as "El Norte" and "Moscow Has No Time For Tears," never made it to our local movie theaters and were probably not seen by the majority of our

> James T. Pinkerton III, Plymouth

No experience to be judge

To the editor:

Bob Wisler's rating for qualifications for circuit court judges, concerning Kathleen Macdonald, seems to be strangely biased. Years of experience as a lawyer do not necessarily make a good judge; years of experience do not necessarily make one a good lawyer. To enact unreasonable restrictions (minimum 10 years experience) would limit our choices for circuit court to a very select few as in the days of the Articles of Confederation. Are we ready for such a step backward?

Francis Ashely

Benefactors appreciated

To the editor:

The overwhelming success of the recent Plymouth Children's Nursery Masterpiece Auction was due in a large part to the generous support of our members who donated handmade items, the committed who worked so hard to plan the event, to the coverage we recieved in your newspaper, and especially to the many Plymouth and Canton merchants and individuals who donated

Supports ban on abortions

To the editor:

State Sen. Bob Geake is to be commended for having the courage to attempt to break the legislative deadlock over Medicaid-funded abortions by placing the issue on the ballot.

It is regrettable that the voters and taxpayers must bear the burden of a special election but because Gov. James Blanchard insists on keeping the state of Michigan in the abortion business and our legislators are unable or unwilling to override the governor's veto, a referendum is the only alternative. I disagree that the majority of voters favor paying taxes to kill unborn babies. I believe that it is reprehensible that some lawmakers should be more concerned with preventing a "financial burden" on the state than with nurturing the children of the poor. Human life has infinite value. Feeding the children of the poor is a small price to pay for allowing them

Both sides in this controversy run a very small risk indeed compared to the one carried every day by poor mothers and their babies who are offered death instead of care as a solution to their problems. Let us end this outrage against poor pregnant women and their offspring by voting to stop Medicaid abortions

Ficano takes budget to court

staff writer

Sheriff Robert Ficano was scheduled to appear in Wayne County Circuit Court today seeking more funds to prevent reduction of jail space.

Ficano filed a lawsuit Monday saying lack of money will lead to the closure of needed jail space unless the county board of commissioners acts to increase the budget by $6.1

That is the amount he is short in his $54.2 million operating budget. which took effect on Monday, Ficano said.

Ficano said unless he receives a favorable court ruling his department will be forced to trim operations at the nine-story county jail because of staffing cuts.

An agreement with the deputies' union last July resulted in deputies working 12-hour and sometimes 16-

IN TOTAL, 168 positions and 10 medical personnel are being cut at the jail. That means 541 fewer inmates out of some 1,500 can be guarded, he said.

The jail population has been steady, remaining at near capacity. Ficano added that unless more money is added to his budget, the department will be in violation of court-ordered standards at the jail dating back to the 1970s.

Commissioner Kay Beard, D-Inkster, a member of the commission's that Ficano's budget has not been cut from last year, and that commissioners actually added to the recommendation from the county executive's office.

"I don't know why he isn't satisfied." she said.

Rather than taking court action, she said she would have preferred that Ficano work with the commission and the new executive's office in January to remedy financial prob-

Executive-elect McNamara blamed Ficano for failing to operate his department efficiently, and said he must learn to live within his means. He also expressed skepticism over Ficano's claims to a $6.1 million shortfall and said the "burden is on the sheriff" to prove that in court.

He said the jail, itself, is poorly designed and labor intensive, adding that futher study is needed to correct that problem.

McNamara also called for dismantling the department's secondary road patrol force, largely funded by $1.1 million in a state grant, and directing officers to the mandated patrols of the county parks. He said secondary road patrols should be a function of local communities. 'That's the worst boondoggle in the world," said McNamara.

The departmental action follows public pressure last week from the Detroit Board of Police Commissioners and the Greater Detroit Chamber of Commerce. Both called for immediate action to avoid the release of convicted felons.

The chamber called this a "crisis" situation and the police commissioners called it "intolerable" and a threat to public safety.

The hearing was scheduled before chief Judge Richard Kaufman.

Public hearing set on weapons permits

A public hearing on an increase in fees for concealed weapons permits is set for 11 a.m. Tuesday in the City-County Building 13th-floor auditorium.

The hearing is being held by the Wayne County Board of Commission Ways and Means Committee.

Under the proposed ordinance, if adopted by the commission, the processing fee for a permit will rise from $24 to $99.

Recent studies by the County Concealed Weapons Licensing Board, comprised of representa-tives from the prosecutor's office, sheriff's department and the Michiga State Police, revealed that costs for processing concealed weapons permits exceed the amount charged. These findings along with recommendations of the state police and FBI led to a proposed ordinance for increasing the current

The Wavne County Board of Commissioners is expected to accept a state grant of more than $600,000 to continue free home weatherization assistance to senior citizens and lowincome families in western Wayne

The $608,005 grant from the Michigan Department of Labor/Bureau of Community Services to the Wayne County Office on Aging represents a two-year contract that would provide home weatherization assistance to qualifying home owners and renters in 18 communities. They include Garden City, Westland, Livonia, Redford Township, Plymouth Township, Plymouth and Wayne.

RECIPIENTS must qualify by income. The income for a family of one cannot exceed $6,700 for the last 12 months. For each additional family member, the maximum income level is increased by $2,300. Anyone receiving Aid to Dependent Children or supplemental Social Security automatically qualifies after verifica-

Gamesmanship ruined sewer

Susan Roslek assistant managing editor

HE SAGA OF Super Sewer and ton and Plymouth townships did receive Son of Super Sewer seems to

The last chapter, apparently, was written when the townships of Canton, Plymouth and Northville withdrew and opted instead to consider linking up with a sewer authority in Ypsilanti.

The Department of Natural Resources and Wayne County feel there is no time left to redesign plans to create an economically feasible project for the remaining 13 communities. The decision, therefore, to bypass the project for this year brings to an end an effort spanning two decades to provide necessary sanitary sewage and storm water capacity. The original Super Sewer was an ambitious project to provide capacity to parts of Oakland and Wayne counties, stretching from the Lakes area northwest of Farmington Hills to the Downriver communities.

Stretches of the system were installed over the years as the project became a political issue and was threatened financially as the federal grant pie began to shrink. Clusters of communities got sewer service and other clusters

Eventually, once Downriver was taken care of, some 16 municipalities were left without adequate sewer capacity and Son of Super Sewer was proposed to take care of western Wayne plus Novi.

IN THE END the final issue was money.

The federal grant participation dropped drastically, and a disagreement cropped up on distribution of costs. Canton, Northville and Plymouth townships felt they were being charged too much. Canton particularly thought it was getting the shaft.

Efforts were made to talk the state into redistributing the cost but without any luck. When the state refused to budge, the townships filed a lawsuit. The lawsuit delayed the project. In the end, a settlement was reached and Cansome money but the issue of distribution of cost was left unresolved.

By this time, the parties involved dug in their heels and became entrenched in their positions. In fact, in recent months, the DNR almost seemed to be vindictive against Canton for filing the lawsuit. The state "found" violations in Canton of contaminating groundwater and threatened a ban on development, etc. Similar violations in communities who were signing up for Son of Super Sewer were ignored.

AT THIS POINT, it was game time. Efforts to resolve the dispute were not going to be made because the state and county would not budge on the cost distribution issue. Rationally, you could find a settlement if the will were there. For instance, Canton's share could be lowered by 6 percent, Plymouth Township and Northville Township by 3 percent each with the percent spread amongst the other communities. A 1 percent increase in cost for the others would be preferable by far to abandoning the project.

But such discussions did not take place and the project has died.

Apparently Canton-Plymouth-Northville will be able to buy enough sewer capacity from Ypsilanti to meet future needs. Once that system is "online" growth and development in this area apparently will return to normal patterns. We say "apparently" because the Ypsilanti option itself might be just another example of games manship. Unfortunately, growth and development likely will continue in the remaining municipalities even though they are at capacity or nearing capacity.

A solution to that problem has yet to be found. For the sake of those communities it's too bad a compromise could not have been reached over the past one to two years when there was plenty of time for talking. Too bad that time was wasted - no pun intended.

REMEMBER, ALL YOU ROWDIES, I'M STILL THE DRIVER.

Case for appointed judges

The almost continual debate over whether judges should be elected or appointed has intensified recently because of the election to the Wayne County Circuit Court of a woman attorney who received a law degree only a year ago and who has had almost no trial experi-

Even within the legal profession, there is a division about the wisdom of appointing judges with opponents claiming that too often the appointments go to those who are politically connnected rather than outstanding at-

Proponents say that politically connected attorneys are most of the time far better than some of the judges the public elects. They say that voters pay almost no attention to the qualifications of judicial candidates and tend to vote on the basis of recognizable names, or for the candidate who spends the most on advertising.

BUT THERE seems to be sentiment building up to get behind a move to appont judges rather than having them elected. One of the strong reasons is the election of the inexperienced Kathleen Macdonald to the bench in Wayne County and the running in the same race of several other judicial candidates with little experience but recognizable

If the appointment process were to follow anything like the appointment

Wisler process involved in federal judicial appointments there certainly wouldn't be any doubt about the experience or qualifications of judges. The last federal appointment in this area was of Wayne Circuit Judge Patrick Duggan of Livonia who was appointed to fill a vacancy on the U.S. District Court handing federal cases in southeastern Michigan. Duggan originally applied for an opening on the federal bench at the suggestion of U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth Twp., who provided strong endorsement within the administration. Pursell also got U.S. Rep. William Broomfield to endorse Duggan's candidacy, which was a powerful boost since Broomfield is the senior Republican in

SO MUCH for the political connections. Now consider that before any appointment could be made, Duggan had to be investigated and selected by the Reagan administration. He was one of more than a dozen attorneys, all with long experience, who applied for the federal bench in April 1985.

The U.S. Justice Department finally recommended three persons in September of 1985 following extensive investigations of all candidates. Duggan was not one of the three.

A year later, there were new openings and Duggan applied again. This led to a process that included investigations by the FBI, the American Bar Association, the Justice Department and a U.S. Senate committee on judicial appointments. He had to fill out documents which listed every place he ever worked, or lived, and had to list every asset he had.

Duggan was interviewed by 10 different assistant U.S. attorneys general, two of whom did nothing else but interview possible appointees about their legal acumen and ability.

The judge was also questioned by a the American Bar Association which made recommendations. All of this was weighed, calculated and evaluated and the Justice Department finally sent recommendations to the Presi-

Compare this to how the public selects judges. Candidates for district. circuit, appeals or the supreme court in Michigan only have to be residents of Michigan and attorneys and if they campaign hard enough, or spend enough money advertising or have a good name, they meet the standards.

It's hard to break the spending habit

THE GREAT tragedy of the Nixon years, to my mind, was not that his administration was disrupted over a penny-ante burglary. It was that the scandal occurred at the time when he was starting to get a handle on one of America's most crucial problems, and Watergate diverted attention from it.

The problem is that we Americans fraction consumers saved." have one of the lowest rates of personal saving in the industrialized world.

Savings lead to investments - factories, machines and stores. Not only do we do too little saving/investing (6 percent of annual incomes) for our own economic good. But we squander a lot of our banking resources on consumer credit rather than industrial invest-

It's one of many reasons the Japanese (whose personal savings rate is triple ours) are knocking us off in the international marketplace.

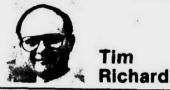

WHAT BROUGHT Nixon and Watergate to mind was not only Reagan's Irangate problem but a speech by Professor F. Thomas Juster at the University of Michigan's recent Economic Outlook Conference.

Since Nixon left office 12 years ago, the federal government, particularly under Reagan, has tried to encourage more personal savings through lower tax rates, investment retirement accounts (IRAs), Keogh plans and a host of other devices. But Juster said none of these has made a dent in our (non)saving habits.

He suggests American workers be paid differently:

"In Japan, for example, workers get most of their annual income in monthly paychecks, but a large fraction of it also comes in a lump-sum bonus. The larger the annual bonus, the higher the annual savings rate." Israelis treated reparation payments from Germany the same way, he said. years of Reagan, we haven't broken the "The larger the payment, the larger the JUSTER'S suggestions: The feds could offer tax incentives to companies that paid workers part of their income in annual lump-sum profit-sharing

His hunch is that "the larger the annual bonus, the higher the annual savings rate. It doesn't matter whether the bonus is expected or unexpected."

He recalled the installment credit contols of the late 1950s, which made it illegal to spread car payments over more than 12 months. If you wanted a car, you had to save for it.

IT'S FASHIONABLE, among both political parties, to knock federal deficit spending. But private debt can be

New Deal economics encouraged federal deficits as a method of "pump priming" the economy. We tend to forget that the government systematically discourged saving on the theory that it led to pools of unused money and insufficient demand.

Whether Juster's suggestion of shifting some wages into lump-sum bonuses would work I can't say. His timing couldn't be worse. Congress just did the most gigantic rewriting of the tax code in history with a view to simplifying the law, not cluttering it up with special provisions to implement social policy.

It has taken Americans 60 years to become a nation of non-saving spenders, both in private and public life. Juster seems to be saying that after six

Managing the message

"WHAT WE HAVE here is a failure to communicate.'

Cool Hand Luke said that moments before he was on the receiving end of the ultimate communication, a wellplaced bullet from the gun of a deadly if taciturn Southern prison guard. Jack Casey may not be mistaken for Paul Newman (who played Cool Hand Luke in the movie of the same name), but he buys the message lock, stock and

Casey is the Bloomfield Township resident who is probably best known for 20 years of crunching polling numbers on J.P. McCarthy's show around elec-

But political polling is only a portion of the impressive career carved by the former newspaper reporter and onetime aide to former Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh.

He runs his own public relations firm of 50-plus employees that is one office shy of taking up the entire seventh floor of an office building on Nine Mile Road in Southfield. Each of those employees comes equipped with a desktop terminal that is part of an internal communication system that, among other things, puts a welcome end to such irritating office routines as phone tag.

IT COMES AS no surprise that the Casey workplace is so wired or communication. For one thing, the seller is one of his clients. But that's secondary. The company's name — Casey Communications Management, Inc. - shows you what the boss thinks is important.

The business is described by its own press release as a public relations/public affairs counseling firm and Casey boasts of having at least the secondhighest dollar billings among Detroitarea PR firms.

But his definition of PR goes beyond the "glitzy, one-way" picture of special promotions and press agents.

"The real growth is in communication management," he says. AND WHAT IS communication management? It's a broad canvas of ways to know your market, your business, your employees and your world. It includes research, polling, attitude surveys, communication with employees and training.

The "classic way" to do communication management is "to do your homework," says Casey. And businesses, he adds, would do well do take a few lessons from that expert communications manager, the politician.

The successful politician has a team that is both loyal and, just as important, aware of the team goal. "Everybody who works for the politician knows what the goal is and that goal is to get re-elected," says Casey. That's not a cynical view, he hastens to add, since a key ingredient to that process is staying in touch with the customer, who is the

The politician who touches those bases, says Casey, can get away with a mistake now and then as long as he has established a good relationship with the voter and is willing to admit the error.

RONALD REAGAN has been a fine communicator in this sense, he agreed, but days after we talked the holes began appearing in the president's suit of

More and more people are seemingly upset. Not, I suspect, because money is illegally shipped to rebel troops or even because arms were shipped to Iran, but because an administration not only doesn't seem to know what is going on but also doesn't seem willing to talk straight with the American public.

You get the impression that if Ronald Reagan, ax in hand, were confronted next to a fallen cherry tree, he would say: "I cannot tell a lie, father. Sam Donaldson did it."

For once Ronald Reagan has suffered a communications failure. Cool Hand Luke would understand.

Do you realize that "The Cosby Show" has been on for over two years and we have yet to see this woman throw one good temper tantrum? What kind of mother is that? She is grace under pressure at all times. When she does become irritated, she presents a logical, coherent argument that usually makes a very good point. She makes me sick.

Come to think of it, have you ever really seen her back? I'd lay odds that there's a big metal wind-up key right in the very middle of it. Believe it . . . or

He didn't leave an audience of renters, property owners and management company representatives in doubt for long as to what a career in real estate law has taught him, declaring in his opening remarks: "A lease is like the Ten Commandments; it is 'thou shalt

Much of what was said was based on common sense, such as, "The relationship between tenant and landlord is so important. Many times people stop talking to the landlord for whatever reason. When someone gets into a situation like that and is at odds with the landlord, it's not helping the tenant at

"Unfortunately, the law is usually on the side of the landlord. It's a recognizable fact and it's something renters have to deal with, although both sides have numerous rights and responsibili-

SOME OF THE tenant responsibilities may seem trifling to young people, but they are not. Davis used this as a case in point:

"The tenant always should have good communication with the landlord. Let's suppose he has a leaky faucet. That has to be communicated to the landlord, and the same with any other problems.

"It would hurt the tenant not to communicate. It is his obligation to do so. Otherwise it may escalate to a situation whereby the landlord holds the tenant responsible, such as letting the leaky faucet continue until spillage results in ceiling stains and repairs in the apartment below.

'The landlord can say the tenant had the duty to inform him of the problem before it got worse. It's up to the tenant to keep communication open and let the owner or management company know. Most of these companies are based in Oakland County, with concentration in Southfield and Troy. But they do have a telephone number and can be called.

"Many people start with verbal communication, but I suggest a written follow-up, perhaps even a certified let-

"IN MICHIGAN we don't have any kind of statutory law on rent like New York City and California where they have statutes that prohibit landlords from raising rent," he said.

Because of that, and if there's no law that says, "Thou shall not raise rent,' then I'm saying there's a likelihood a landlord will be allowed to raise it if he or she can indicate it was not in retaliation or vindictive. But in the eyes of the court it has to be reasonable."

We were told that rental "is the simplest form of property possession," and perhaps the oldest such form. A tenant has the right to quiet and peaceful enjoyment, which includes not being disturbed even by the landlord entering the premises without consent except in an

Among other points raised were bans against pets, personal property insurance, security, payment of utilities, wisdom of lengthy leases, the amount of rent that's affordable in relation to income, injunctive relief from harassment, "notice to quit" procedures, proper notice of changes in lease provisions, the weight or lack thereof of procedents established in prior leases, "just cause" situations, claims against security deposits and a host of others.

When the session broke up, a second memorable phrase besides "thou shalt not," which stuck in mind, was this: "It's the landlord who basically can set the ground rules.'

If you rent, don't forget it.

Parent backs showing of film

I am a parent of a student at Plymouth Salem High School. I am surprised that in this day and age such a thing as banning a film is allowed in our school

I saw the movie "The Breakfast Club" with my teenagers. I agree that a person should not be forced to see this film, but I believe that most high school students are reasonable and intelligent young people and possess the capability of realizing that movies are entertainment and that they would not change their current life style because of something they saw in a movie.

Aside from that, I thought the movie to be entertaining and it did show that people become friends, not by steering clear of all who are not exactly like them, but by listening to others and by realizing that people are not always as they appear on the surface.

Holiday fitness: No easy task

HRISTMAS AND calories go together.

The holiday season's tempting treats can make it all too easy to pile on the pounds this time of year. Getting enough exercise amid the season's hustle and bustle can be tough.

It's possible to enjoy the season's culinary offerings, however. The key is to know when to stop eating.

"Portion control, that's all there is to it," said occupational therapist Ann Tai. Holiday revelers should eat the foods they enjoy, but they need to limit the size of their portions.

The season's not a good one in which to go overboard on self-denial, she said

"Eating is a lot of fun. Socializing comes with eating."

That portion-control advice is what Tai gives to those enrolled in her exercise fitness class, offered through the Plymouth Community Family YMCA at Masters of Dance Arts in Canton.

THOSE WHO are trying to get in shape also need to have realistic expectations, she said. Too often, exercisers start out doing too much too soon and end up aching.

It's hard because people have set these goals for themselves of getting thin," Tai said. "They start at a pace that's too intense.'

Starting out nice and easy is the way to go, she said. It's particularly important for those who are 40 or older and those who have lived sedentary lives for years. For that group, a physician's OK prior to starting an exercise program is recommended.

Some people see exercise programs on television and decide to do those exercises, Tai said. They soon find themselves sore and discouraged.

"They really haven't conditioned themselves to the level they're supposed to be at.

Certain exercises aren't good ones for those with knee or back problems, Tai said. Those who start exercise programs also should realize that it takes some time to reach the flexibility level they enjoyed in earlier days.

A supervised exercise class helps a novice exerciser learn to do exercises the right way. The social aspects of an exercise class make it an enjoyable way to stay in shape, Tai has found.

"It's a lot of fun, it really is. There's a lot of camaraderie that takes place."

Sara Archibald, who also teaches an exercise fitness class through the Plymouth Community Family YMCA, agreed.

"It's a little bit of a social thing. too. It might be a good time for them to try an exercise class.'

"They must think that they need it," Tai said.

Last year, some of the students in Archibald's class stopped coming to class during the holiday season. For those who have children home from school on vacation, the holiday weeks can be particularly difficult ones in which to get adequate exercise.

'They tend to drop out over the holidays." Those people realize how much they've missed when they return to the exercise class and need time to catch up, Archi-

For those who choose to exercise on their own, the winter months don't have to be a fitness disaster area. Walking, for example, can be done outdoors during most days of the winter, provided walkers remember to dress warmly.

Some people don't want to walk in the bad weather," Archibald said. For that group, enclosed shopping malls provide an ideal environment for walking.

Swimming is another good exercise choice, Archibald said. Many area recreational facilities offer open swimming sessions at various times. Riding a stationary bicycle is another at-home fitness option.

INDOOR SPORTS such as racketball are also fitness boosters, she said. For those who enjoy the great outdoors, cross country skiing is a good way to stay in shape. Archibald agreed with Tai that limiting the size of food portions is the key to staying in shape. Sweets in particular can be difficult to turn down.

"I think that's probably the biggest problem."

Tai and Archibald admit that the holiday season is a physical fitness challenge - even for those who teach exercise fitness classes.

"I have trouble just like everybody else," Archibald said. The holidays mean that some sweets are on hand at home for her three chil-

"It's hard for me as well," she said. "I take part in all of it too."

For Tai, teaching the YMCA class helps provide the discipline she needs to stay in shape this time of year.

Giving smile appost a boost

By Richard Lech staff writer

AD-LOOKING teeth can leave some people feeling pretty down in the mouth Some people almost put their hand over their mouth when they talk so you can't see their teeth " said Livonia dentist Dr. Stan-

Some never smile. Some people talk out of the side of the mouth so you can't see the bad teeth on the other side. And there's no reason for

Putting a smile back on such people's faces has been the job of the booming field of cosmetic dentistry. Weber, for instance, estimates that half of his customers come in for cosmetic reasons

Many are models or sales people who need a winning smile to win in their fields. The cosmetic dentistry might mean filling in a gap between two teeth, making a crooked tooth look straight and or replacing a silver filling with white material.

COSMETIC DENTISTRY once consisted only of crowning or capping, in which enamel is removed and replaced with a porcelain toothshaped form. But today new techniques have been added, including:

• bonding, in which a putty-like substance is used to replace part of · bleaching, in which an oxidiring agent is used to lighten a tooth's ural enamel very well

· tooth painting, in which the tooth is painted with a tooth-colored fluid resin

· laminate veneers in which the teeth's enamel are reduced a half milimeter so a thin veneer of acrylic, composite resin or enamel can be placed over the teeth

AS WITH any medical procedures. the new cosmetic dentistry techniques have their pros and cons

Procedures such as bonding can be less expensive and quicker than crowns, and usually no enamel is removed But critics say the techniques don't last as long as crowns or caps and may not give an aesthetically pleasing tooth in terms of color

Although he uses techniques such as bonding. Livonia dentist Saul Silverstein says cosmetic dentistry should not be entered into lightly

"It's not everything it's cracked up to be." Silverstein said

He said procedures such as bonding may result in a not-too-attractive tooth. It is difficult, for instance. to match the color of the bonding material with that of the surrounding teeth, he said.

"The time-tested way is to have a

I'm sure in the majority of cases crowning or capping will be a thing of the past," said Weber, who is a former instructor in the crown and bridge department of the University of Michigan Dental School

Weber said the "ideal treatment" for crooked or damaged teeth is and return to the old look. orthodontics since nothing artificial is placed on the teeth, and the teeth's structural problems are taken care of But for some patients, orthodontic treatment just takes too long

They want instant results. Weber said

Bonding can be used, for instance. to replace silver fillings with a more natural-looking white substance

"It acts pretty much as enamel does It's a substitute for enamel in a way. But it does pick up some amount of staining if not routinely

THE CHIEF DISADVANTAGE of bonding is that the material lasts only five to eight years, and then must be replaced. Weber said.

But the fact that the bonding material can be easily removed can be an advantage. Many people will have a gap in their teeth closed only to discover their new look really isn't them. Weber said If so, it's a simple task to remove the bonding

Most dental plans will not cover purely cosmetic dentistry. Silverstein and Weber said. But the plans may cover it if it is part of the repair of decay-damaged teeth.

Silverstein said people undergoing cosmetic dentistry should look at it as seriously as they look at any other tween the teeth can walk out of the form of dentistry. He said it should only be undertaken after a complete closed If the teeth are overcrowded, discussion with the dentist about twisted or rotated, an artificial fac- what the problem is and a thorough ing can make the teeth appear examination, including X-rays and dental impressions.

Once a year we ask, because THE UNITED WAY

"To make the right decision, you have to know about Harper."

someone vou love, take the time now to learn what's going on at Harper Hospital and the Comprehensive Cancer Center.

This is where major cancer research is headquartered and where cancer treatment and clinical knowledge are concentrated. The federal government organized the Comprehensive Cancer Center Program to funnel research funds into a few strong centers like this with advanced research and treatment capabilities. Many of the other centers, such as Memorial Sloan-Kettering in New York and the M. D. Anderson Tumor Institute in Houston, refer midwest patients to Harper for treatment. The idea is to keep cancer patients close to the leading edge of medical science and discovery, up front where breakthroughs in research are translated quickly into treatment. Breakthroughs like the cancerfighting superconducting cyclotron, which Harper helped develop. This amazing machine, the first of its kind anywhere in the world, will bombard cancer tumors that are resistant to conventional radiation therapy. And Harper patients will be there. At the beginning.

There is new hope every day. So ask your physician or general hospital about a consultation at Harper Hospital. Every cancer patient deserves this opportunity.

WHY DO we believe that we have an accurate view of the world? How is it that we Americans believe that we have a balanced perspective? Does it not begin with the impression that truth and accuracy will result with a free press. We subscribe to a magazine, World Press in Review. This journal gives us brief impressions of how other nations view current events through their press. Through reading this magazine I am constantly reminded that our press

The best way to understand others in the world is to be involved in people-to-people visits. I remember meeting a farmer in a small town who, back in the 1960s, had visited the Soviet Union with a farmers group. As an American farmer he had talked with Soviet farmers. In his small American community, he had a better understanding of the world than any person we met there. However, I discovered a strange phenomenon of life in Czechoslovakia. I had visited there three times, but things have changed. In a subtle way we are given the impression that all is still the same in Eastern Europe as it was under Stalin. Our impressions do not allow for change or progress among nations in the sphere of the Soviet Union. Likewise in the mind of many over there, Detroit is a violent, terrible place. We are both wrong.

Americans by and large do not is as biased as any in the world.

People in small town and country we city folks often "buy" the media. We believe that we know the truth about the world when in fact we are often poorly informed. I believe that we are just around the corner from the most radical change in our perceptions. When satellite television will be available from all over the world to the average viewer, our understandings will suddenly grow. Still, the best way to understand the truth about others is to talk with them in perron. Our guest from Czechoslovakia says, "The most important things are those which are not sensational." I believe that this is correct in regard to our understanding of others. The greatest opportunity for peopleto-people contacts is through our religious connections. Through church and synagogue we can visit others and correct the biases in our different nations. It is truly an opening through which God can work to further unity among his family here on OUR OBSESSION with modern the idea that real people are modern. "It's the real thing" means it is the most modern, popular trend. In contrast, it is often only with age and experience that we can discern the truth from the bogus. We are currently passing through a phase in our national life when we wonder who is telling the truth. Can we trust the president or others who speak for our nation? Only by being informed about the world through sources beyond those in our own things also leads us astray. We "buy"

All that is too often lacking is our desire to know. Americans, and particularly faithrooted people here, will provide a great benefit for the future if we will become aware of the true nature of ples we officially oppose. Our visitor from Czechoslovakia told us of a presentation by a Protestant bishop from China. Some 200 spaces are opened for Chinese Christians to prepare for the Protestant ministry in their nation.

How to tell herbs from spices an herb and a spice? A. Herbs are the leaves and stems of annual and perennial shrubs and plants grown in the temperate zone. Herbs can be used fresh, frozen or dried. Most can be found in whole, crushed or ground form.

A spice is derived from the bark, root, fruit, seeds or berries of perennial plants or trees. Spices are almost always grown in the tropics. They are always dried in either whole or ground form.

Powdered spices lose their flavors rapidly. Because they're used in such small quantities, it's wise to replace spices yearly. Date new spices when

WHEN COOKING with whole spices dried herbs, place in a cloth or stainless metal tea ball. They can then be removed easily with the dish is finished cooking.

For large quantity cooking, use spices and herbs to taste rather than by measurement.

Some of the more popular herbs and spices and examples of use:

Allspice - a spice berry combining the flavors of cinnamon, clove, nutmeg and juniper berry. Used in almost everything alone or in combination with other spices.

Anise - an herb with a subtle licorice flavor used fresh in salads; as seeds in cakes and cookies.

Basil - a sweet-flavored herb used in almost all savory foods including soups, fish, egg dishes.

Bay Leaf - an herb to be used frequently but sparingly in stuffings, sauces, vegetables and meats.

Rosemary - pungent, somewhat sweet-flavored herb used on fish, spinach, pizza.

Saffron - a delicate, orange-flavored spice used in cakes, breads, dressings, rice, fish.

Sage - the best known American herb. Used in fatty meats, such as pork and sausage, also added to cheese and chowders.

Tarragon - a chemically-identical flavor to anise when used fresh. It can be both sweet and bitter. Extensively used in French cooking; it is also good in practically everything

A state at risk?

Michigan's position at peak of business cycle worries economist

By Tim Richard staff writer

Far from being a "comeback state," Michigan is in its weakest position in 50 years, says conservative economist Patrick L. Anderson.

"Gov. Blanchard is telling the truth when he says, 'Things are better than they were four years ago.' Every state's better off at the top of the business cycle." And derson said in an interview.

But in his newly published study, Anderson compares Michigan to other states and comes up with a dismal picture of high business costs.

"It's devastating. We're in the midst of a strong national recovery. We should be almost 10 percent above the national average" in employment and personal income.

INSTEAD, Michigan trails. At the top of a business cycle, Michigan's personal incomes ran 9 percent better than the national average. Today, Michigan runs 2 per-

Patrick L. Anderson "we're at risk"

"We should be outpacing the nation. We're at severe risk. If all Michigan can do is get behind the national average in good years, what's going to happen in bad years?

"Michigan is in severe trouble right now because this recovery isn't going to last forever. For the first time in 50 years, we start (a downturn) from a position of weakness."

A Lake Orion resident, Anderson is between jobs. Until last April, he was an economist at Manufacturers Bank, doing business index studies with Vice President David Littman.

Anderson left to work on the gubernatorial campaigns of Richard Chrysler, who ran second in the Republican primary, and then for William Lucas, the nominee.

HIS 28-PAGE study was published this week by The Heartland Institute, a Chicago-based, two-year-old group, which commissions and publishes public policy papers.

"They commissioned it from me last spring when I was still at the bank," Anderson said. "Putting it together took three months of intensive work."

Titled "Michigan in the Current Recovery," it's available for $3 from The Heartland Institute, 55 E. Monroe, Suite 4316, Chicago 60603.

He advocates many familiar conservative solutions: reducing state and local taxation, fourth highest rate in the nation; reducing per capita welfare spending, second highest in the nation; and reducing state-federal employment costs, highest in the nation.

WHAT MAKES Anderson's study different from the Grant Thornton study of business climates is that "mine looks at Michigan in historical perspective," he said.

Grant Thornton continually rates Michigan last among the 48 continental United States in business climate. Blanchard administration critics say Grant Thornton merely gives good marks to states with low rates of unionization, like the Dakotas, and bad marks to highly unionized states like Michigan.

Anderson cites Grant Thornton with approval but says unionization is only one factor. Others are per capita income, employment and population loss.

"Michigan used to be a powerhouse. Now we're a boor

An upscale world in toy-land

By Louise Okrutsky staff writer

In a holiday season featuring traditional toys reincarnated as electronic gadgets, optimistic predictions of livelier sales are tempered by uncertain consumer reaction to an old Michigan bugaboo, auto plant layoffs.

"The strength (of the day after Thanksgiving sales returns) surprised me," said Arthur A. Nitzsche, president of TeleCheck Michigan Inc., a check acceptance corporation. Nitzsche's computer database provides him with updates on Christmas sales.

"The overall season hasn't been the barn burner we'd like it to be." Auto plant closings in Flint and subsequent white collar layoffs are seen as threats to a prosperous shopping season.

"Consumers in Michigan start tightening their belts before (the actual closing) happens," he said.

"We expect a back-to-the-basics Christmas," said Teri Kula, spokeswoman for K mart Corp., Troy. The firm expects the holiday season to continue the 7.7 percent sales increase it forecasts for the year. "We expect the (seasonal) sales increase to be in line with that," she said.

Statewide, Nitzsche sees a 6 percent increase in sales over last year. On Friday after Thanksgiving, the traditional first day of the holiday shopping season showed a 7 percent increase in sales. It dipped slightly on the following Saturday to a 6 percent increase before slipping to 5 percent on Sunday.

ON THE AVERAGE, sales in Detroit and Flint are expected to hit a 6 percent increase. Lansing lags while Grand Rapids sales are making a strong showing this year. "It's a different economy, a different economic mix in Grand Rapids," Nitzsche said.

Oakland County leads the Detroit area in sales. "I think that's attributable to the great level of affluence there. Upscale items are selling well," he said. "I see more fur ads out that way.

"In previous years, throughout Michigan, this Friday after Thanksgiving really has been winding down in Michigan. People are wising up, I thought. They get better service if they go later on," he said. "But there's been a turnaround this year."

Sales promotions usually reserved for slower marketing times were used this year to boost the traditionally heavy shopping season. Early bird sales running 7-10 a.m. Friday after Thanksgiving were used to lure shoppers into the stores. "Crowley's, K mart, Hudson's, Meijers used this and supplemented it with sales that lasted the weekend. It was effective," he said.

Kula said that K mart runs an early bird special the Friday after Thanksgiving each year. Those markdowns and appearances by Santa Claus over that weekend in each store are annually used to boost the start of the holiday season.

At the moment, the toy market remains unscathed by whatever shaky economic prospects that might lie ahead. Only board games languish on the shelves. However, Wheel of Fortune, based on the television game show is doing quite well at the checkout counters, according to retailers.

MOST CHRISTMAS wish lists are filled with toys that talk and high-tech items for the home.

"In general, we're up very strongly in the toy market," Nitzsche said. "People are buying upscale items. They're looking at good value, and they're willing to pay a little more for twice as much value. People are buying compact disk players but good ones, not the bottom of the line. Same's true for VCRs. Of course, they might be rationalizing that purchase by saying they can save money by renting movies."

Although this marks the last year that consumers can deduct from their income tax the sales tax and interest rates on big ticket items, Nitzsche doesn't see this as an automatic impetus to a heavy buying spree. Purchase incentives offered to consumers earlier in the year by auto makers have increased the consumer debt.

That affects large-ticket items." he said.

He remains sceptical about whether consumers will take advantage of the limited time left for them to write off sales tax and interest rates.

"I don't think the average consumer really takes that into consideration when he's buying. I think you'll see more people paying with cash. They can't rationalize the interest rates any longer."

IF THERE'S a real winner this holiday season, it's the battery manufacturers. Nationally, Toys R Us stores spokespersons are keeping the chain's holiday sales figures as secret as Santa's own gift list.

They do admit they can't keep enough boxes of Lazer Tag in stock. Once batteries are popped into this plastic toy gun the weapon shoots invisible infrared light beams, similar to those in a television remote control unit. Players aim at opponents' flashing StarSensor badges. When they score a hit, the badges' sensors squawk loudly. The starter set retails at the toy chain for about $50.

"We can't get them in fast enough," said Angela Bourdon, Toys R Us national spokeswoman.

If that isn't available, then Photon Warrior, which retails at the chain for about $20 more, is proving to be another fast mover. "It's very much the same kinds of toy as Lazer Tag," Bourdon said.

"I think when something comes out, there's a close competitor for it, these days," Nitzsche said.

It's a high tech holiday for K mart Corp., too. Like Toys R Us, K mart customers seem taken with electronics. Lazer Tag, Teddy Ruxpin, the talking Big Bird and other plush animals made erudite through cassettes and batteries are moving well, reports Kula.

WHILE THE GUNS for a futuristic showdown are popular, they've yet to rival the marketability of the Cabbage Patch Doll.

"Cabbage Patch is a phenomena. I don't know if it's going to be in that category," Bourdon said. "It would be nice to have something like that every year."

Dolls that don't talk prove to be popular as well. Barbie continues to make gift lists. For a generation being raised with MTV, this year's Barbie is rockin' out with her own band, Barbie and the Rockers. The move puts her smack in competition with another rocker doll, Jem, and her group, the Holograms. Jem's sales are bolstered by a cartoon series. Not to be outdone, Mattel, Barbie's creator, has put on stage a real live Barbie and the Rockers who appeared in Macy's Thanksgiving Parade.

"Dolls in general are showing more movement aside from high-tech toys. Cabbage Patch Cornsilk Kids are doing very well." This year's addition to the patch features hair that can be combed and washed. The dolls also can hold small items in their hands. A smaller version, the Cabbage Patch baby doll comes complete with diapers and diaper rash. "I hope it doesn't come with colic," said Bourdon with a laugh.

The market remains unscathed by whatever shaky economic prospects that might lie ahead. Only board games languish on the shelves. However, Wheel of Fortune, based on the television game show, is doing quite well at the checkout counters, according to retailers.

What I would like to know is do you think I will do as well in the next three years and do you suggest any changes in my portfolio?

I'm not going to list your portfolio because commenting on 36 stocks takes more space than we have. But let's make remarks about some of

As an 83-year-old who has boosted the value of his stocks from $343,000 to $672,000 in the last three years, you obviously have had some experience, and I would not question most of your holdings.

You have $26,000 in Transco Exploration Partners and Transco Energy Transco Exploration Partners is a spinoff from transco Energy. The payment you receive as a dividend is actually a return of capital. With the present problem in the energy industry, there is a good chance the amount of the payment you are receiving could be cut substantially. If the dividends you are receiving are important in meeting your daily expenditures, I'd be inclined to switch that money into Mo-

You would receive about the same amount of income, and I don't think there would be the same danger of a cut in the size of the payment. I'm sure the oil price situation will improve in time, but it might also get worse before it gets better.

You have two stocks that you obviously received as spinoffs from General Mills. Those are Crystal Brands and Kenner Parker Toys. You are not receiving a dividend from either one, and it is hard to judge from the available record whether or there will be much growth.

I'd put the money in DEI, Diversified Energies Inc. It will give you a dividend that is likely to get bigger each year, and the company's new radio-read utility meter gives an opportunity to enjoy growth from that new product.

You have money in both Aetna Life and Casualty and Chesebrough-Pond's. The yield on both is the same, but my guess is you will see more appreciation in price and more increase in dividends in Chesebrough over the next few years. I'd put your Aetna money into Chesebrough.

There is talk that Gould may be the subject of a takeover attempt. If that should happen, I would take the money and put it in First Union Real Estate Investment. Its dividend has grown steadily, and its price has moved ahead in the same proportion.

You have done beautifully with Kroger and doubled your money four

Washington's troops march to defend frontiers

Early on a misty, chilly morning — April 2, 1754, to be exact — if you happened to be at Gadsby's Tavern in Alexandria, Va., you could look out the front window and see and hear a small army passing by. It really was more of a line of troops than an army. There were only 59 followed by two old wagons loaded to their topboards with supplies.

To tell the truth, the troops did not look like sharp, military men. Even after several weeks of sporadic drill by Jacob Van Braan, Washington's interpreter of French and a veteran of the Dutch army, these men were pathetic. This was the volunteer "army" and it was all that was available except for a few from the regular militia.

Washington had placed the militia here and there in the line to reinforce the somewhat reluctant "volunteers" and to speed up their slow and careless gift. Their uniforms were as varied as their manner of marching. At this time there was no official military uniform but the Virginia militia did have some smart looking outfits for their regulars. The rag-tag of the "army" wore anything they could find.

AT THE HEAD of this unimpressive display was a handsome youth of 22.

Recently named a lieutenant colonel in the Virginia militia, he proudly wore his new regimentals and sat on a well-harnessed, gray horse at the head of the forlorn column. From time to time Col. Washington looked back at his straggling troops. He could not have been much cheered at the sight.

They were headed out from Alexandria to cross the foothills of the mountains to Frederick where they expected to pick up more men, horshave taken all the courage and confidence Washington possessed to "make-do" with what he had.

In five days the little "army moved 57 miles. In other words, between daybreak and sunset they averaged slightly more than 11 miles a day. Not bad for such a nondescript outfit.

They reached Winchester April 10 where Washington rested the men for a day or two while he met with Dr. Adam Stephen of Frederick. Capt. Stephen was an experienced physician and surgeon who had been talked into joining the expedition by Washington's friend Colonel William Fairfax, lord of Frederick County and thousands of acres in the surrounding area.

Stephen had been a student of medicine in his native Scotland, both at Aberdeen and in Edinburgh. He had honorably served on a British warship and had emigrated to Virginia where he was part of the Fairfax circle of friends. He brought with him 100 armed soldiers of some quality who were willing to serve.

This was good news for Washington and it raised the troop total to 159. But there were other facts to be seriously considered at this critical was given a substantial reward for his faithfulness. The payment was one pound and four shillings. In today's terms that would be about $4. but to an impoverished soldier it was a decent reward.

Another discovery made at this time was the imminent possibility of more desertions as soon as the pay was issued. Washington believed that his "generous" treatment of Hamilton would encourage others to be faithful.

Washington waited several days in Frederick for the arrival of more troops and horses and wagons. Of more than 70 wagons that were impressed not more than one in seven arrived in camp. These had the farmer's oldest and poorest horses and the weakest harness hitched to them. The authority to impress more wheeled vehicles, supplies, horses, ammunition, and other supplies was bogged down in a maze of pulitical red tape.

April 25, 1754, Washington wrote Governor Dinwiddie in the midst of the crisis as follows:

"Out of the seventy-four wagons impressed at Winchester, we got but ten after waiting a week; and some of those so badly provided with teams that the soldiers were obliged to help them up the hills, although it was known that they had better teams at home. I doubt not that in some points I may have strained the law; but I hope, as my sole motive was to expedite the march, I shall be supported in it, should my authority be questioned, which at present I do not apprehend, unless some busybody intermeddles." Signed: George Washington.

APRIL 19, 1754, the little army left Frederick and began the long march to Fort Duquesne at the junction of the Allegheny and the Monoghela - 200 miles over a wilderness trail.

There they might have to face the French from d'Etroit and Montreal and hundreds of longblades, Ottowas from Sault Ste. Marie. What a foolhardy undertaking. Or was it?

If the fort was strong enough, and if they could pick up more men and ammunition at Wills Creek, they had a chance. Maybe. But it was a

Will the great valley of the Missis, sippi, the forests and lakes of Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania, in fact the whole country west of the Allegheny mountains, be controlled by England or by France? What is there ahead for this floundering army of ordinary, little men?

As George Washington rode over the treacherous North Mountain on the road to Wills Creek (today's Cumberland), he passed a place the natives called the "Devil's Back Bone." Not far from there an express rider light-packed and on a horse in a lathering sweat, handed a message to Washington. It was an urgent appeal for reinforcements.

Of course turning 18 isn't a crime at all. However, turning 18 without registering with Selective Service is.

That's why we need your help. We need parents to tell their sons to register with Selective Service within a month of turning 18. And we need teachers, friends, employers and others who can influence these young men to reinforce the message.

Why? Because, for one reason, it's the law. But in addition to risking prosecution by not registering, your son or young friend is disqualifying himself from eligibility for federal student loans. federal employment and job training programs.

America's future security depends upon today's young men. registering with Selective Service on time. 'Nuts' for the ballet Jean Newell puts student Lynn Mathews through her ballet paces.

ORGIVE THE irreverence. but the Nutty season is

Not only is it time for jingle bells, fruitcakes, ever-changing wish" lists and visits to Santa, it's also time for the famous Sugar Plum. Fairy to make her annual gauzy appearance in Tschaikovsky's classic Nuteracker Ballet.

To many, the holiday season wouldn't be complete without attending at least one performance of the traditional heliday offering. And your chances of being accommodated are particularly good these next two weekends as stories elsewhere in this section can attest.

ONE OF THOSE ballet companies that will perform is the Livoma Civie Ballet Company under the artistic direction of Jean Newell

But what Newell will be offering is an alternative for these less-enchanted "Nutty diehards"

Her company will present excerpts from the Nuteracker, coupled with other ballet offerings, including a divertissement she calls "Switch on Bach," which she choreographed. and an original jazz presentation. Fichoes

Included also will be the Peasant's Dance from the ballet 'Copelia.' which the company has given in the past as a relief to the Nuteracker

Believe it or not," said Newell, with a feistiness that has been a trademark in her 20 years in the folks out there who get a little tired of seeing the same old 'Nuteracker' year after year. We try to offer something different.

That difference will come at two performances Saturday in Plymouth Canton High School's auditorium. One is a matinee performance and the other occurs in the evening. For more information on the performance, call 478-6236.

The ballet company's new co-director Dawn Greene was in charge of the shortened version of the Nutcracker that will be presented. Greene is a member of the Cicchetti Council of America board of directors.

The concert will take place at 2 p.m. in Southfield High School's auditorium and will include both orchestral and vocal favorites.

A joint choir composed of the Southfield High School Madrigal Singers, the Schoolcraft College Community Choir and the Southfield Lathrup High School Madrigal Singers will be featured.

The conductor will be Livonia resident Douglas Morrison

THE CONCERT WILL open with Rimsky Korsakov's "Polonaise" from the Christmas Eve Suite. Then the choirs will perform some unaccompanied pieces including Rachmaninoff's "Ave Maria," "The Shepherd's Farewell." by Berlioz, "Ding Dong Merrily on High" and "We Wish You a Merry Christmas

The orchestra will join the choirs in Bach's beautiful motet, "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," and Bennet's 'Many Moods of Christmas," a de-concert, the symphony will perform

The orchestra will then wind up the concert with selections from the ever popular "Nuteracker" ballet

THE SCHOOCRAFT College Community Choir is a class offered through the continuing education program at the coilege. Adults and students make up the 65-veice on semble, which is directed by David Jorlett

In this its 22nd year, the choir has expanded to include residents of 200 area communities. They are accompanied by Jane Branscom

Jorlett is the director of music for the Southfield public schools. For Jorlett and several members of the groups, the concert is a "family af fair" in as much as several of his students in the high school choirs have parents in the Schoolcraft

The Scandinavian Symphony, now in its 57th year, is well known for its fine programs. The afternoon concert is a switch from its usual evening time. By changing the time, the symphony board hopes to encourage senior citizens to attend, many of whom dislike nighttime travel.

Of course it's the perfect time of the year to get together with friends eat Eat, eat, eat un And best of all you can hide your sins under bulky knit sweaters

But wait, there is a way to break the routine. Try entering our annual Christmas Card Contest - back again this year by popular demand Call it creative food for thought if

Prizes first through fourth will be awarded in two categories. Ages 10-14 and 15 to adult A "special entry" award will be included. Now for the details

- · All artwork must be (or proportionate to) 414-by-512. No artwork should exceed 8 12 - by-11
 - All artwork must be black ink on white board or paper. You may use technical pens, felt-tip pens, brush and ink, scratch board or textured screens In the event that the artist plans to use the card for personal use this year, it will be permissible to enter a photocopy of the printed version of the card for consideration

- Only line shading, stipple or cross hatching will be eligible.
- The deadline is Monday, Dec. 15 All work must be sent or delivered to the Livonia Art Store & More 16338 Middlebelt, by 8 p.m.
- · All artwork must have a name. address and phone number.

 All artwork will be judged and ready for pickup on Thursday, Dec-18 We will not be responsible for

- any artwork after Dec 18 Artwork entered will be judged according to thought, ability, orginality and execution
- You also may enter more than one design
- No employees of the Art Store & More or families are eligible to en-

Number one on the list is technical skill, which is, of course, relative to each age category. Detail and realism always has been, and probably always will be, what catches the critical eye of any judge. So try to use a fine pen point, tech pens, or felt tip. For 79 cents you can buy a felt tip with 03 tip, which is plenty

If the artwork is larger than 44by 512, we view the work through a reducing lens, which shows us how it may appear as a printed Christmas card Speaking for myself, I first

look for good structure, proportion and then plenty of detail

Subject matter is also very important With a topic as broad as Christmas you may enjoy a wide range of subjects or objects relating to the season

Originality is a factor. For the sake of accuracy, we encourage you to use photos in the rendering of objects or animals, etc. But, likewise, we encourage you not to copy the design of any existing Christmas card or any artwork

Cleanliness counts So it is OK if you like to draw with a cheek full of Milk Duds, just keep your artwork

Last year we had hundreds of entries and 15 shocked and surprised winners, so get with it and maybe you'll be one of this year's winners of the following prizes: Special Entry Prize:

Assortment of pastels and papers from Morilla, listing at $60. AGES 15 THRU ADULT:

FIRST PRIZE Proneer wood drafting table. This table is multipositionable and made of natural finished hardwood and has a 31-by-42 working surface Retails at $145 In addition the first-place winner will receive a 100-watt drafting light listing at $30 and their artwork will be printed into 25 Christmas cards and envelopes SECOND PRIZE Graphic 3000 brush tip markers in 60 colors. This colorful set comes in a beautiful oak box and lists for $130 The second place winner will also receive free framing of any picture up to 16-by-

THIRD PRIZE: Art Bin No. 8702 and brush holder, which lists for $50. FOURTH PRIZE: Battery operated erasing machine, which lists for economy drafting table, which lists for $90. Also included is a drafting light, which lists for $30; and free Back by popular demand, the contest has a Monday, Dec. 15, deadline. There will also be a 'special entry' category.

Basham 'brilliant' in Bruch concerto

By Mary Jane Doerr special writer

T USED TO be that community symphonies held their concerts during low times on the weekends so as not to conflict with other activities. As these local groups though have become a highlight of each community's social life, concerts are now being given on Friday and Saturday evenings.

The 41-year-old Plymouth Symphony Orchestra is a group that is changing over and is now giving some Saturday evening concerts, the season's second of which was last weekend at Plymouth Salem High School auditorium.

The symphony's newly appointed music director-conductor, Leon Gregorian, brought in a brilliant violinist Glenn Basham to perform the exciting Bruch Concerto for Violin and Orchestra, No. 1, G minor Opus 26. Whoever listed the four great violin concertos of the 19th century overlooked this 1866 composition. It has tremendous appeal, especially the way Basham approached the music, with intensity, expression, and a pure sound.

BASHAM WON THE top prize in the 1986 National Young Artist Competition hosted by The Lansing Symphony. He was with the Detroit Symphony for two years under Antal Dorati. His playing is delicate and beautiful, and he reaches his audience with the emotional impact of his music, the vehicle here being the Bruch concerto, a perfect selection for this obviously very sensitive mu-

Gregorian, currently director of the Michigan State University Orchestras, takes a no-nonsense approach and has developed more style and shading in the sound of the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra since the last time the orchestra was heard by this reviewer. The result is a more diversified interpretation of the music.

IT WAS APPARENT the orchestra had given as much careful attention to the entire program as they did for the Bruch concerto. Beethoven's popular Egmond Overture came to an exciting conclusion with a full sound of the orchestra. The symphony has a fairly strong violin section, although for this concert their concertmaster, Kevin McMahon, was absent.

The Brahms Symphony No. 2 in D Major was given a bright reading. especially at the end of the first movement. The orchestra is at its best when at full sound.

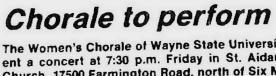

Excellent program notes were complied by conductor Gregorian. For the next program book, he should include his own biography.

The Plymouth Symphony Society is employing some innovative ideas such as having their supporters show video tapes during the intermission for the education of the adudience. The society is also sponsoring a musical series with some members of the Detroit Symphony in chamber

Don't bury your head when meter dies

N MY LAST two columns, I discussed how understanding exposure will help you improve your pictures

Today, let's round out the subject with an explanation of exposure meters and how they help you, too.

To begin with, there are two types of light meters - incident and re-

Incident meters measure light coming from the source regardless of the subject Readings involve aiming the meter, with an incident light collector attached, toward the light source from the subject's position.

Many professionals in a studio environment will use incident light

The more common reflective light meter meters light reflected by the subject. This takes into account the color value and reflectivity of the subject as well as the brightness of the illuminating source.

MOST SCENES have an average amount of light and dark areas, ters Some read light from the entire which will produce a properly exposed negative. But suppose you're in a situation with large masses of bright or dark areas such as photographing Aunt Mildred against a result is that Aunt Mildred will appear too dark in the final picture. The solution is to move in close, take an exposure reading off Aunt Mildred and use this setting when you take the shot.

There are two basic designs of light meters. First is the popular through-the-lens meter where the metering system is an integral part of your camera. These may be programmed to read all the light coming into the viewfinder (average weighted) or a concentration of the light in the middle of the viewfinder (center weighted).

SECOND ARE the hand-held mescene. Others are sophisticated, onedegree spot meters used by serious black and white photographers who use the zone system.

Writing a classified ad that gets results—whether it be for real estate, employment, the personals, transportation, or merchandise— is easy if you follow the guidelines below.

1. Give the reader specific information. Pretend you are someone reading the classifieds. What would you like to know about the item, service or job you are advertising? Be sure to add details such as color, size, condition, brand name, age, features and benefits. Be accurate! Don't embellish your ad with misleading information. Stick to the facts and reap the rewards!

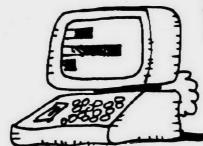

2. Include the price. Don't waste your time or a potential buyer's time. If you advertise the price of the item or service you offer, the people who respond to your ad will be those who are genuinely interested. Surveys show that readers are more interested in those items and services they know are within their price range.

3. Avoid abbreviations. Don't make a potential customer work too hard! Although you may be tempted to cut down on the cost of your ad by using abbreviations, surveys indicate that many people don't understand such abbreviations as EIK (eat-in kitchen) or WSW (white side wall) tires and won't take the time to figure them out. A confused reader is a disinterested reader. Get the most for your money and use complete words.

4. Include phone number and specify hours. Be sure to let potential customers know when and where to call. Surveys show that even if a person is very interested in your item or service, he or she will not call back after the first attempt. Stay near the phone during the hours you indicate you will be available. Don't risk missing a

5. Run on consecutive days. Your ad will not get results if people don't see it! Therefore, it is important to set up a consistent and consecutive ad schedule with your telephone salesperson or outside sales representative.

Center's no match for resolute Rocks

staff writer

Ho-hum So when is this Second Season supposed to start?

Surely that's what Plymouth Salem's girls basketball team is wondering. Here they are, primed and ready for a challenge, and they can't find one anywhere.

The Rocks went looking for a fight Tuesday in the Class A regional opener at Gibraltar Carlson. Their foe: Taylor Center, a sizable team with the formidable Jamula sisters as the chief threats, a unit that won 21 of 23 games. Uh, make that 21 of 24.

Salem wasn't awed. The Rocks led 8-6 midway through the first quarter. Then they scored sixstraight points to finish the period, and followed that with a 23-9 curtain-closing second quarter. After that, the final was almost academic: 66-41 and another Rock avalanche. The victory lifted them to 23-1 and into the regional final against Trenton, a 37-22 winner over Adrian, tonight at 7 p.m. It was their 22nd straight triumph, and most of those were by the same boring, lopsided margins.

"We've just been playing the heck out of the game," said Salem coach Fred Thomann. "The first Plymouth Canton game (was close). Since that time, nothing's been closer than 20.

"The second quarter was the highlight for us tonight. I thought, coming into the game, (TC) would play a zone. We've been working real hard on it. Kristen (Hostynski), Jessie (Handley) and Jill (Estey) can all shoot it. And as soon as we hit a few from the perimeter it opened things up for us inside."

Salem hit everything in the second quarter. The Rocks were 10-of-16 from the floor in the period; TC was three-of-14 and had seven turnovers to two for Salem.

WHATEVER HOPES the Rams had of overtaking Salem were dashed in the final three minutes of the half. Two free throws by Lisa Jamula narrowed the Rocks' lead to 23-13. Estey answered by canning a jumper

The 5-foot-3 sophomore then pilfered the inbounds pass and swished another jumper. Cathy Kemp was whistled for a foul going for a rebound on the Rams' next possession, and Handley hit one from the corner. After a TC turnover, Handley hit another long jumper, and another turnover resulted in a layup by Dena Head.

five consecutive shots and forced three turnovers. Their lead went from 10 to 20, and their victory total went from 22 to 23.

"This is probably one of the quicker teams we've played against," said Thomann of TC. "I thought Lisa (Jamula) played real well for them. I thought we could take her out of the game."

Lisa Jamula scored 21 points. Younger sister Wendy netted eight. Head's 25 points was best for the Rocks. Handley had 20 and Estey contributed eight.

SALEM WENT from hot to cold over the intermission. The Rocks hit just four-of-18 third-quarter floor shots and the Rams made a run, scoring eight unanswered points in one stretch.

Which brought them all the way back to within 18. They never got any closer.

"I thought we could beat that team with a good effort on our part," said Thomann. "They haven't played the type of league schedule we have."

Were there any fears coming into the game? "The thing that worries you is that the players might stop respecting what it took to get there." Thomann said. "You get afraid they might start taking it for granted. It's something you have to guard against."

Maybe that's all the Rocks have to worry about on a road that seems without detour until it reaches Grand Rapids and the final

shed little-man reputation

By Chris McCosky staff writer

Welcome to the land of the giants We're talking about the 1986-87 Western Lakes boys basketball conference. That's right, the Western Lakes. Granted, big men have been rather scarce in this suburban league. We're talking about a league whose champion just three years ago boasted a 6-foot-1 post player. That was Plymouth Canton back in the 1983-84 season.

But those days, at least for now,

Bryan Kearis will play the role of floor general for the Rocks

But will bigger players make for better teams? The Western Lakes hasn't exactly made an impact at the state level. Perhaps this will be the season that a Western Lakes team actually wins a regional tournament.

PLYMOUTH SALEM

The first two years as Salem's head basketball coach have been rather grueling for Bob Brodie. If injuries didn't slow his team then silly, youthful mistakes certainly did. His teams have hovered around the .500 mark both seasons.

There is expected to be a stark contrast this season

'We have a good group of seniors with a lot of game experience. We're very excited. We're looking for some real good things this year," Brodie

Did he mention size? How about this for a frontcourt: Rick Taylor, who moved back into the Salem district from East Lansing, is 6-7. Dave Collins is 6-8. Mike Hale, perhaps the best player of the group, and Jeff Justice are 6-5. And they are all sen-

Taylor was a pleasant surprise. Two years ago Brodie coached him, along with Hale and Collins, on the Salem junior varsity team. It was a powerful team. Taylor moved away last year. Brodie is glad he has moved back

The Salem backcourt is equally Lakes championship strong and experienced. Senior Bryan Kearis, a skilled ballhandler, passer and perimeter shooter, will control the offense from his point guard position. Ted Hanosh, a senior with excellent quickness, is expected to hold down the other guard spot.

Senior Tony Moore and junior Keith Smith will see plenty of action in either the guard or forward spots.

senior guard Tyrone Reeves and junior wing player Roger Trice. Both are superb athletes and explosive offensive players. Both played full time last year, although Trice missed 10 games because of a hamstring injury.

Canton's inside game will hinge on the efforts of 6-3 seniors Mike LaSota and Todd Wood. Niemi is counting on 6-3 junior Mitch Fyke, 6-2 junior Shawn Koteles and 6-4 junior Jeff Anulewicz to help inside also.

"We have some speed, but will we be able to use it? That's one of our concerns," said Niemi, the former Livonia Bentley coach now in his second season at Canton. "We do play excellent team defense. We Niemi hopes his team can come together quicker this season. Last year the Chiefs were 0-5 before Christmas, then won 10 of its next 15

"We have a lot of people who are equal in ability right now," Niemi said. "It's going to take some time to get the right blend of chemistry on the floor.

The Western Division, as always, should be a wide open race. Farmington Harrison, Northville, Livonia Churchill, Walled Lake Western and Canton seem relatively equal in terms of talent. The title is there for the taking.

The Hawks won 17 games last year and their second straight Western Division title. They have won 32 games in the last two seasons.

thing with them. Our seniors don't take their game with them. They enhance our program. They leave something of themselves behind They pass on the team concept to the returning players," Teachman said.

Only one starter returns: sharpshooter Scott Bissell. But the Hawks won't lack for talent.

The development of 6-8 center Brad Ridgeway is one reason why the Hawks may not skip a beat this

"He might be the fastest guy we have," Teachman said. "He's just a bundle of talent. He's still pretty thin, so the question will be, can he rebound against some of the stronger guys?"

Teachman plans to start five seniors. Besides Bissell and Ridgeway, Gary Schwedt and Mike Koroly will man the guard spots and Brian Hoskins (6-2) will play the other forward

Chad Burgess, a flashy sophomore, will be first off the Hawks bench.

"He is a machine once he gets going. He dominated at the freshman level last year. Experience is the key, though From freshman to varsity is a big jump," Teachman said.

Others expected to help are jun-iors Jim Hill, Dave Romps, Jason McDonnell, Rick Witte, Steve Bissell, Chris Grisdale and sophomore Jason Lichtman.

Teachman is a bit concerned because he has had to delay the start of preseason training. You see, seven of his players played football for the Hawks. The football season ran a little longer than usual as Harrison made it to the final four.

But Teachman's troops will be ready. Like John Herrington in football, Teachman has established a winning basketball program. The Hawks' basketball season has become almost an extension of the football season. It's generally the same group of athletes with generally the same results: Winning perpetuates winning.

NORTH FARMINGTON

Rick Anderson and Paul Wahrman are gone. With them goes about 90 percent of the North Farmington offense from a year ago.

Decimated? Hardly. When you take away two players helps in others," North coach Tom Negoshian said. "Sometimes kids become better all-around basketball players themselves when they know there isn't one or two big names around. They aren't saying to themselves, 'Oh, I should have let Rick take that shot,' or things like that. That's a natural reaction. Now these promising 6-4 players.

Three juniors are battling for the fifth starting spot: Kurt Dudek (6-3), Chad Henry (6-2) and Matt Harmon Vanoy Hill, a 5-11 transfer guard from Bishop Borgess, will become eligible in January and could help. Junior Bill Green and senior Mark Anderson will also contribute.

"It's important that we get off to a good start," Negoshian said. "We need to establish a positive direction. We lost a lot of senior leadership. We've had a great preseason. We've practiced hard, and we have played hard. We'll have to wait and see. There are a lot of unknown quantities with this group."

The bad news for North is that it plays in the Lakes Division with Salem and Glenn. Ouch.

FARMINGTON

First-year coach Bob Kaump isn't worried that the so-called experts expect his team to land somewhere near the bottom of the Lakes Divi-

"We know what we're up against," said Kaump, who has replaced longtime Falcon coach Richard Roy. "We'll let people know they are in a contest. Don't discount our kids."

Farmington graduated four of its five starters from a year ago. But the team has been infused with two promising transfers and another player who has decided to rejoin the Junior Brandon London, from Nebraska, and junior William Reece, from Detroit Redford, will-play key roles for the Falcons. As will strongman Andrew Boden. At 6-3, 210, Boden will provide a good deal of power inside.

'You'd be surprised, he has a lot of finesse for a big man," Kaump said. 'He's a heck of an athlete."

Boden, a football standout, stopped playing basketball two years

Others expected to see action for the Falcons are seniors Steve Howell, Paul Orrico, Ron Jones and juniors Chris Cahill, Darin Magera and Drew McDougall.

We're working on speed and hustle. We've got a lot of quickness and we shoot well," Kaump said. "I like to run. It's more exciting. Hopefully, we'll be able to control our speed. But we have to run. We're too small to do anything else."

Kaump has been an assistant at Farmington the past seven years. like that it hurts in some ways and He'll be joined on the bench by former Farmington standout Ron Sar-

BILL BRESLER/staff photographer season according to the Observer sports

Observerland 10 preseason best

The 1986-87 Observerland boys basketball season commences tomorrow night. What follows is a preseason look at the area's top 10 players as selected by Observer sports editors Brad Emons and Chris McCosky.

THE CREAM OF THE CROP

- 1. Lance Vaccarelli, Redford Catholic Central: A summer of discontent is apparently over for this ultra-talented 6-3 senior guard. (He was expelled from school last year, moved out of state, came back and was reinstated at CC.) A bona fide Division I player. Superior quickness and leaping ability. Goes to the basket has hard as any player around.
- 2. Cordell Robinson, Redford Bishop Borgess: He made this list last year as a sophomore and lived up to the billing. A true scorer. He is 6-4 now, stronger and quick as a cat. He follows a long list of Spartan standouts: Lewis Scott and Joe Gregory to name but two.
- 3. Andy Grazulis, Westland John Glenn: A blue-collar success story that would make a nice addition to any Mid-American Conference program. He was rated as one of the hardest working players at the sum-mer camps. Coaches love his intensity. He is 6-5 and sturdy.
- 4. Steve Hawley, Westland John Glenn: A senior guard, Hawley led Observerland in scoring with a 21.9 points-per-game average last year. He is 6-2 and possesses a textbook jump shot. He is a good jumper and a gritty competitor. Doesn't always take good care of the basketball, however, and is prone to turnovers. He was Glenn's quarterback this year and will be slow to regain his basketball legs.
- 5. Rick Taylor, Plymouth Salem: Welcome home. Taylor, who played JV ball for Salem two years ago, averaged 13 points a game for East Lansing last year. He is 6-7 and strong inside. He also has a soft touch from the perimeter. He is another player with MAC-level potential. He has been slowed by some sickness through preseason drills.

- 6. Mark Robinson, Wayne Memorial: Kind of an in-between guy sizewise. He is 6-3 and doesn't play guard. He is sneaky-quick inside, though, and physical. He was a firstteam All-Area choice last year and averaged 18 points per game.
- 7. Mike Hale, Plymouth Salem: A coaches dream. Intelligent, aggressive, dedicated and determined. He is 6-5, barely, but plays like he's 6-8. A first-team All-Area player last year, he averaged 17 points and 12 rebounds. He has been slowed by a broken nose through preseason but should be 100 percent by tomorrow.
- 8. Mark Clayborne, Wayne Memorial: A junior and a terrific leaper. He plays much bigger than his 6-2 size. His quickness and intensity fit nicely into coach Chuck Henry's upbeat and team-oriented system.
- 9. Roger Trice, Plymouth Canton: Last year, Trice missed 10 games with a hamstring injury. Before that, though, he established himself as a defensive demon and a potentially explosive offensive threat. He is extremely fast on the court and strong. But he needs to improve his perimeter shooting and develop better court
- 10. Brad Ridgeway, Farmington Harrison: A bit of a surprise, here. And somewhat of an unknown. He is a rail-like 6-8 post player. What makes him dangerous is his quickness around the basket. He made tremendous strides over the summer. He catches the ball well and has a nice shooting touch. Strength may be a problem along with aggressive-

Others to keep an eye on: Kevin Rich, 6-4 senior, St. Agatha; Parish Hickman, 6-7 junior, Bishop Borgess; Lewis Davis, 6-2 junior, Wayne; Bryan Kearis, 5-9 senior, Plymouth Salem; Mike McCool, 6-3 junior, Livonia Franklin; Brian Dugas, 6-2 junior, Catholic Central; Tyrone Reeves, 6-0 senior, Plymouth Canton; Andrew Boden, 6-3 senior, Farmington; Rick Karcher, 6-5, North Farmington; Scott Bissell, Farmington Harri-

Schoolcraft falls in final

Schoolcraft College's women's basketball team got its first win of the season Friday in the opening round of the Muskegon Community College Classic, but the Lady Ocelots' win streak didn't last long.

SC defeated Glen Oaks CC 78-67 Friday, thanks to 21 points from Lori Abbas, 16 from Tracy Ladouceur and 14 from Lisa Kline. The win advanced the Lady Ocelots into Saturday's finals opposite host-team MCC, which ripped Alpena CC in the other opening-round game.

The final proved no contest, either, as MCC built a 15-point halftime lead (45-30) en route to a 92-74 victory over SC. MCC put the game away early with a 12-2 surge to start the game, scoring inside often.

Mercy puts boot to N'ville, 50-33

Farmington Hills Mercy had a good deal of trouble getting its game in gear Tuesday night against Northville in the first round of the Class A Regional girls basketball tournament at North-

Northville led 5-4 after the first inning, er, quarter. Mercy was tight, sluggish Mercy needed to loosen up. Coach Larry Baker inserted his 40-weight (as in oil) team into the game to start the second quarter Adrienne Clark (No. 40), Yvette Maison (No. 41), Jan Herberholz (No. 42), Margaret DeMattia (No. 44) and Patty Chapp (No. 45) took the floor

The result: Mercy loosened up, ran off 10 straight points and went on to knock off the stubborn Mustangs 50-33. The Marlins will play Dearborn Edsel Ford at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at Northville. A victory would give the Marlins an unprecedented eighth straight regional championship.

"I think what happened was that we have talked up the Mercy tradition and the tournament so much that, inadvertently, we may have got the kids too tight." Baker said. "I'm to blame for them coming out tentative to start this game. I want this tournament to be a rich experience for them so bad that maybe I put too much pressure on them. Once we were over that, though, we played a solid game."

THE 40-WEIGHT group created four straight tournovers at the outset of the second quarter. The 5-4 Northville lead was suddenly a 15-4 deficit

"Yes, that is a real good pressing " group for us," Baker said. "Patty Chapp deserves a lot of credit for quarter. If she makes a mistake, it's usually a mistake of aggres-

On the night, Chapp made four steals and directly forced three other Northville turnovers.

But Chapp will have to share game ball honors with Yvette Maison. The slick senior point guard scored 20 points to lead all scorers, despite being saddled with foul trouble from the third quarter on. She fouled out in the final quarter.

She has scored 412 points this season, a Mercy single-season record. Also, she is averaging better than 18 points per game - another Mercy record.

Maison, almost single-handedly, ruined Northville's zone defense After the first quarter, Baker had Maison flashing up inside. She'd get the ball at the free throw line, penetrate the middle of the zone, then either take a short jumper or dish off underneath. Her quickness inside made the Mustang zone inef-

NORTHVILLE, THOUGH, did not go out quietly. With Maison on the bench with four fouls, the Mustangs ran off seven unanswered points to pull within 10, 37-27, with 4:40 left in the game.

'That lapse was triggered by our lack of intensity on the boards," Baker said. "They pulled down two rebounds inside that led to scores. Then they began pressing. It got scary for a while.

Baker called timeout with 4:40 left and inserted Maison and Clark back into the lineup

Whatever Baker said in the huddle worked. Mercy ran off 11 straight points to bury Northville. Maison scored six points in that run and Margaret DeMattia nailed 5of-6 free throws in the final 2:30.

new law enabling successfull bunters to purchase a second firearms (or archery) deer license. He was also pleased with the way history had a way of repeating itself.

The 41-year-old Plymouth resident was sitting in his blind, a thicket surrounded by heavy brush and hardwoods near Baldwin, in the early morning hours of opening day of the 1986 firearms deer season.

As he sat patiently, a four point buck walked into his field of view. Moments later, after one shot from his Remington .306, McMullen was dragging his buck back to camp. It was 7:20 a.m.

"He was kind of grazing along and didn't even know I was there," said McMullen. I was sitting tight in my blind. That's what I like to do. I sit tight and let everyone else do the walking.

McMullen then went to town and purchased his second license.

He returned to the same blind and by 10:30 a.m. had dropped another buck. This time it was an eight-point, much to the disbelief of his hunting companions.

'When everyone came in for lunch they couldn't believe I already had two bucks, said McMullen, who was hunting with a party of seven others. "The eight point is a real nice one. It came by running with three does. Someone else had kicked them up and they just happened to come by "The funny thing is that they were each 11/2 years old. The eight was a lot bigger than the four."

Over his 14 years of deer hunting McMullen has bagged two spikes, one four point, two six points and two eight point bucks. Ironically his other eight point was shot 10 years ago to the day.

MANY OF HIS 72 films are available on videocassette. Several will be shown on cable television during December, including "Penny Serenade," the 1941 film for which he garnered one of his two Academy Award nominations.

The film also featuring Irene Dunne is set to air Saturday, Dec. 20, on the American Movie Classics pay channel. Often described as a threehanky wringer, this sentimental story shamelessly assaults the heart.

Grant and Dunn play a married couple who adopt a child in the hope that caring for the youngster will bolster their sagging marriage. The girl becomes the center of their lives. Her death hastens the marriage to the brink of disintegration.

The plot wouldn't see the light of day in the 1980s, but Grant's portrayal of a man making the best of a marriage that's more heartache than hearts and flowers shouldn't be

He's more dapper, debonair and a lot less preachy than Michael Landon's angel could ever hope to be in "The Bishop's Wife" (1947). The film is carried by the Disney Channel on Sunday, Dec. 14; Saturday, Dec. 20; Wednesday, Dec. 24; Monday, Dec. 29, and Jan. 1, 4, 6 and 9.

Grant plays an unlikely angel sent down to help a bishop (David Niven) regain his perspective on his role in life. Tangled up in church politics, Niven's bishop is turned around by Grant through the intercession of his wife (Loretta Young).

It's a sentimental Christmas-card type of movie, which ends with Niven delivering a "back to the basics of love and caring" type of sermon written by angel Grant. Thanks to Grant, with assists from Young and Niven, the film manages to be stylish, not sappy.

Entertainment

JOAN FONTAINE won an Oscar for her role in the 1941 Alfred Hitchcock film, "Suspicion." In it, she's a woman who believes her husband (Grant) is plotting to kill her. His cool-mannered husband is an effective foil for Fontaine's increasingly terrified wife. Catch it on Cinemax, Friday, Dec. 26.

One needs only to run down to the video store to catch some other films featuring Grant. He's playing true to type in Hitchcock's 1955 film, "To Catch a Thief" with Grace Kelly. Kelly plays true to type here also.

She's an heiress with an eye for a little excitement and Grant's character, a reformed cat burglar living on the Riveria. It's not the top film for Hitchcock, Kelly or Grant but there's enough style here to make other films pale by comparison.

It doesn't touch the suspense and great movie moments of Hitchcock's 1959 "North by Northwest."

Grant plays an American everyman who's mistaken for a spy by a bona-fide agent, James Mason, and his accomplice, Eva Marie Saint. With the Bernard Hermann musical score helping control audience reactions to scenes, this is a honest-togosh classic film. The scenes of Grant struggling along Mount Rushmore and being chased by a crop duster have become part of film's

IN THE 1941 "Philadelphia Story" Grant plays Katherine Hepburn's exhusband arriving on the scene to rescue her against her will from what he sees as a disastrous choice of second husband. Jimmy Stewart plays a society reporter who falls for Hep-

This is elegant, stylish comedy at its best. Forget the 1950s remake with Frank Sinatra and Grace Kelly. It was fine, but why settle for zircons when you can have diamonds?

Grant donated his $125,000 fee from this movie to the British War Relief Fund. At that time he was still a British citizen. He became an American citizen in 1942.

As hard-boiled editor Walter Burns in "His Girl Friday," Grant tangled with Rosalind Russell as ace reporter Hildy Johnson. The 1940 flick is worth seeing if only to point out to someone else that when Grant mutters the line, "The last person who said that to me was Archie Leach just before he cut his throat," he's making oblique reference to his

Are you happy?

Dennis Wholey asks the question

staff writer

ELEVISION personality and author Dennis Wholey isn't selling pizza when he says, "If you want pizza tonight, you're going to have to pick up the phone." He's selling happiness.

The author of the best-selling "The Courage to Change" - with first-person accounts by celebrities on how they beat alcohol addiction - has written a second book examining the question of happiness.

In "Are You Happy?" Wholey goes beyond superficialities (like those cheerful little drawings of smiling faces) to find out what really makes people happy. He talked to experts as well as luminaries from many fields of endeavor.

Wholey, who lives in Southfield, arrived for a recent late-afternoon interview at Birmingham's Midtown Cafe with his happiness intact. He was prompt, and earlyseason snowflakes didn't faze him. In fact, he recommended a positive attitute to the the arrival of wintry

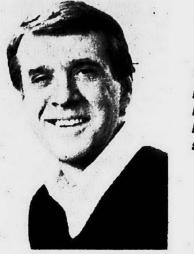

Wholey looked trim and was casually dressed, wearing a red sweater, a way of dressing he favors on the air. During the interview, he polished off a salad and a luscious

In order to be happy, he believes, you need to have high self-esteem and a positive attitude, even in negative situations. His book is divided into several sections, starting out with the components of happiness.

These include loving other people ("If we love them unconditionally, they're going to love us back."), a job or volunteer work, getting outside yourself, and having hopes and dreams. The book winds up with taking inventory. slowing down and taking a look at vourself, change and action.

RISK-TAKING is important, whether or not the results are exactly what you want. You can always try again, maybe try something different.

"Let's celebrate the fact we took a risk," he said. "You have to put out effort. You can't sit around waiting for the phone to ring. You can't have pizza tonight if you don't Quinn pick up the phone."

In "The Courage to Change," Wholey discussed his battle with alcoholism. Although outwardly successful during his long TV career, he still wasn't happy. Once he quit drinking, he continued to search for more meaning.

"Are You Happy?" seemed a natural question to ask dynamic people who might have some of the

"I got out the tape recorder and got on the plane and talked to experts and to a lot of well-known people to try to find the common denominators of happiness," he

There are 52 people in the book, including two from the local area, Birmingham real estate entrepreneur and Broadway producer Ivan Bloch, and Birmingham therapist Jack Gregory ("He's fond of saying, 'Life is good, bad and so-Wholey said.)

Just a few of the celebrities quoted are James Coco, Gloria Steinem, Shelley Duvall, Dick Gregory, Ruby Dee, Helen Thomas, Julia Child, Willard Scott, Pat Carroll, Burt Bacharach, Jack Anderson and Carol Channing.

Some of the experts are Rabbi Harold S. Kushner, Ashley Montagu, Benjamin Spock, Theodore Isaac Rubin, Joyce Brothers, Wayne Dyer and the Rev. Vaughan

OF THE PEOPLE chosen, Wholey said, 'I've interviewed a number of them in the past. All of them have made contributions to our lives. I chose people for the book that seemed to be actively engaged in life, that had a certain spark."

Wholey spent last November and December doing the interviews, going out on jaunts a week or 10 days at a time. "Sometimes I'd fly to Chicago, Boston and Maine and come home," he said.

He found out that happiness is not something that you chase. "It's everyday." Wholey also learned that "Happiness is only part of the puzzle of life. It's part of a mixed bag - happiness, sadness, pain, growth, laughter, tears."

Both of Wholey's books have had a startling effect on many people's lives. "Are You Happy?" (Houghton Mifflin, $16.95) has only been out a short time but Wholey said he knows people who have quit their jobs or got out of a bad relationship, after reading it and deciding to take action.

During the interview, the manager at the Midtown brought over a paperback copy of "The Courage to Change" and asked Wholey to autograph it for one of the cooks who 'has gotten a lot out of it."

ABOUT A THIRD of a million copies of 'The Courage to Change' have been sold, Wholey said. The hardcover was published in November 1984 and the paperback was released last June. 'It was a best-seller, in the New York Times, about six months ago," he said.

He reported that the "World Almanac" lists "The Courage to Change" as one of the best-selling backs of 1984 85 "The best-selling books of 1984-85. "The book really dramatically has changed people's lives. Alcohol addiction really is life and death," Wholey said.

The author draws on his experience as an interviewer, in putting his books together. He spent one to two hours with each person he interviewed for "What Is Happiness?"

"It was very intensive," Wholey said. "The transcripts came back. They run about 40-50 pages. I look for themes - what I think is Wholey is pleased with sales of "Are You Happy?" so far. 'It's becoming rather scare around here," he said, just a few weeks after the book's introduction.

Celebrities quoted in the book also are sharing Wholey's good feelings. Ivan Bloch, who now owns Sardi's in New York, recently threw a publication party for the author at the famous restaurant. Father John Powell, quoted in chapter two on 10 steps to happiness, just wrote Wholey a congratulatory letter and Julia Child "sent a little note."

WHOLEY HAS been a popular personality in the Detroit area since 1973 when he came to the city as host of "The Morning Show" on Channel 7. After leaving the station in 1977, he went to Washington to do a morning talk show. He went from station WTOP to WUSA, then was off the air for a year before joining Detroit's Channel 56 in

There he did local shows "Feedback" and "Dennis Wholey's Journal" before becoming host of the new PBS show "LateNight America," which was broadcast to some 100 American and Canadian TV stations. Wholey hosted the show for four years until 1985 when he left to write "The Courage to Change."

"LateNight" was an immensely successful show with Wholey in charge. 'I think the show could have run forever," he said.

Nine female juvenile deliquents are locked in a detention center and each girl tells the story of how she came to be on the wrong side of the law. Because the acting is excellent, the stories make their grim points well about how teenagers become criminals.

Crime happens one misstep at a time. Behind nearly every crime in "Juvie" lurk alcohol or drugs, which suck their victims into doing things that ultimately get them arrested. For many of the girls that first misstep was like walking into quicksand, an unintentional but catastrophic mistake.

"Juvie" is the first in a series of four plays by Jerome McDonough which Will-O-Way will present as Sunday matinees. All four plays target some aspect of teen alcohol and drug abuse and adolescent crime. The new Will-O-Way program uses hard-hitting theater to address the epidemic of alcohol and drug use among teenagers.

NINE ASTONISHING young actresses form the "We Can Hear You" Team, which will present all the plays. Director Francine Jo Hachem, who originated the program, recruited girls who are against drugs, from Groves, Andover, Seaholm, Adams and Lahser high schools and from the University of Michigan.

Recruits tried out for parts in open auditions. The resulting cast does an outstanding job playing teens who are tough and surly on the

Their crimes range from shoplifting through drunk driving to murder. Cordelia Addison is fine as a junkie arrested for murder who tells the bitter irony that the one person who cared about her was her victim.

Pamela Ayres presents a cringing. nameless runaway and Erin Dilly is remarkable when she tells the story of how Sunny Collins was arrested as an accessory to aggravated assault. Mary Beer plays to perfection the hard-core Pinky, drug pusher, and kingpin tough.

Others in the competent cast include Mardi Hurbis, Catherine Miranda, Melissa Reizian, Anita Salomon and Kati Spellman.

IN THE PLAY the girls take turns telling their stories while the others help act out the scene. The ensemble style works fairly well except when they all regroup after each tale. They return to what looks like assigned places on stage, like kids going to their seats when the bell

A European railway station in a large city is a sight to behold. In Stuttgart, Germany, for example, it spreads across three levels of a huge building and under a long block of the street in front of the station.

We were driving a rental car so we had to brave the heavy traffic and find public parking areas before we could do anything else. We were turning the car in Stuttgart and staying overnight for an early morning train to Montpellier, France, so we needed a nearby hotel.

The railway station was a great complex of ticket booths, travel information offices, post office, lockers, news stand, flower shop, food and wine areas; one of those facilitravel office where you can reserve a hotel room in town.

THE RAILWAY station also has a travel office where you can get travel information, buy tickets, make reservations, etc. I had a first class Eurailpass, which must be bought before you leave home, so I didn't have to make a decision about which class to travel; if you buy the ticket in Europe you do have to decide. European trains leave on time so if you must change trains don't sit around like you do on a plane after the train stops; get your bag and get off because the train may not be there long.

The trip from Germany into France was uneventful. Customs and immigration officers boarded at the last stop before the border, just before we crossed the Rhine River into Strasbourg.

THERE ARE MANY different kinds of trains on the European network. From Strasbourg to Lyon we rode the 11:58 Turbotrain. Here the difference between first and second class was more dramatic. There were three seats across in an open car, newly carpeted and upholstered, with wide scenic windows.

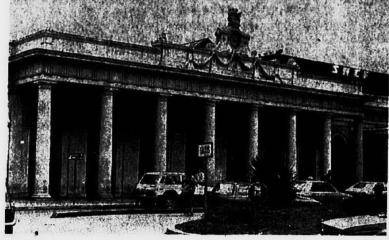

The schedule carries the crossed fork and knife that indicates a dining car but what I saw was that half of the second class car behind me had plastic tables and a small bar, not the beautiful dining car illustrated in the literature.

Area economy bounds upward

Business conditions improved markedly in the metro Detroit area during September and October, according to the latest survey of the Purchasing Management Association of Detroit

Local purchasing managers in October indicated a second consecutive month of higher new order activity and the fewest commodity price declines for any month in more than a year," said David L. Littmann, vice president and senior economist with Manufacturers National Bank of Detroit.

These are the best overall readings for local business conditions since February PMAD respondents cited the auto finance incentive programs and the new tax law as factors that have helped lift the local economy out of its spring and summer doldrums

IN OCTOBER, the composite PMAD index stood at 53.0 compared with 53.1 in September

Strongest components of the survey were new orders, production and inventories, all seasonally adjusted All three series were probably bolstered in part by the late summer auto sales surge

Compared with October 1985, the composite index is down 6.4 percent.
