Property tax appeal process begins

By Doug Funke staff writer

Now is the time for property owners in the city and township of Plymouth to compile evidence if they intend to challenge their assessments

Boards of review, local panels empowered by state law to adjust property values for tax purposes, will convene next Tuesday and Wednesday in the city and March 3, 9, 10 and 19 in the township.

Residential property owners have received or soon will receive notice that assessments will increase 6 percent in the city and at least 314 per cent in the township.

City residents who anticipate appealing might want to act quickly because their assessment notices hadn't been mailed as of Monday morning.

Assessments this year were based on a 24-month sales study from April of 1984 through March of 1986.

Tax rates are applied to assessments to determine property tax

be assessed at half of fair market

Protests can be lodged on only two grounds - that the assessment, in fact, is wrong or financial hardship

Those who bought a house locally within the last year would have the best proof of a wrong assessment a copy of the purchase agreement or

The proof will be more difficult for longtime property owners, but not impossible.

"An appraisal real-estate these are the kinds of analysis BY STATE law, properties must support that would be meaningful to the board of review," said John McLenaghan, the chief appraiser for Wayne County Appraisal, a private

"Just a general 'My taxes are high is not the kind of claim the board of review can handle," he said.

Another strategy to consider is comparing the valuation of one house to similar houses within a particular subdivision. Assessment records are open to public inspection at township hall, 42305 Ann Arbor Road, and city hall, 201 S. Main.

GENERAL maintenance projects such as replacing a roof, remodeling a kitchen, painting or landscaping shouldn't result in an assessment increase.

Improvements - adding a family room, a porch or deck - should result in an assessment increase above and beyond an increase attributed to sales within a neighborhood.

Finishing a basement seems to be a gray area, at least in the city and township.

Kenneth Way, city assessor, increases assessments for finished basements because he believes they increase the value of houses

McLenaghan, whose firm handles assessments for the township, generally doesn't increase the valuation of homes with finished basements because, in his judgment, they don't significantly add to their value.

Documentation in the form of federal and state tax returns also is necessary for applicants who claim financial hardship.

PROPERTY owners shouldn't hesitate to appeal if they believe they have cases, Way said. Hearings

Schools tackle disease plan

The school district's first try at approving a policy on dealing with acquired immune deficiency syndrome has gone back to the drawing board.

Monday night the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education did vote 7-0 to approve the first reading of a policy change on communicable diseases. But so many suggested changes were made that what returns to the board for second reading, and possible final adoption, will be quite different.

The school district's policy on dealing with students or employees with AIDS is included in a general policy dealing with all communicable diseases. The initial draft was prepared by Pat O'Donnell, director of special programs and student services, and Richard Egli, administrative assistant for community relations.

THE PROPOSED changes were suggested by Dr. E.J. McClendon, board president who is a professor of public health at the University of Michigan.

Because of his occupation, McClendon has served as a paid consultant to three districts in Michigan and one out of state on adopting an AIDS policy

Many of the changes he recommended were based on recent research findings that McClendon felt made portions of the drafted policy obsolete.

Among the key points made by McClendon were:

• The chances were 50/50 or higher that the school district would never learn the name of any student infected with AIDS

• The decision on whether a student infected with AIDS would remain in school, for all practical purposes would be made by a physician not school administra-

• There is no danger of contracting AIDS through casual contact - only through sexual penetration or exchange of blood.

• The school administration cannot demand any information from parents or physicians about a student's medical condition as that information is protected by the Family Education Rights and Privacy Act.

ONE POINT made by McClendon is that references to AIDS cases must be qualified with the word "suspected" as no one in the school district is qualified to diag-

In addition, he added, the district likely won't know if a student is infected unless parents volunteer that information. A physician cannot release that information, McClendon said, because it is part of the confidential relationship between doctor and patient.

what's inside No fault charged in police accident

By Doug Funke staff writer

The preliminary word from the state trooper investigating an automobile accident last week in which a Plymouth Township police officer broke his leg is that the officer "had no fault in it.

Officer Shawn Corbett was involved in a head-on collision at about 3 50 p.m. Feb. 16 while responding to a holdup alarm at a bank on Ann Arbor Road. The alarm turned out to

"It looks like Officer Corbett was not in any fault at this time," said Trooper Wayne Etue

"There was someone who pulled out in front of him, he took evasive action, he was hit by another vehicle, and went into oncoming traffic and was hit head-on," Etue said

Corbett, 25, was released from St. Joseph Hospital, Ypsilanti, Monday less than a week after a metal rod was placed in his right leg. He also was treated for neck cuts.

ETUE INTENDS to consult again with a state police accident reconstruction expert before preparing a final report. He said he didn't know when that might be.

Corbett said he was driving at or near the speed limit with his flashers on when a motorist pulled out of a driveway into his path. Corbett had earlier turned off his siren and released his seat belt

"He was responding to an emergency situation taught to practically every police officer out there." Etue said. "The only goof he made was take his seat belt off.

The driver of the vehicle who pulled out of the driveway has indicated that he didn't see Corbett's overhead lights until the last minute, Etue said.

Corbett said he expects to begin more intensive physical therapy in about three weeks

"I'll regain full use of my leg, but it's going to be a long and hard recovery. As soon as I can get going on therapy, I'm going to use as much time as I can getting back into

Corbett said he doesn't expect to return to full duty for six months, but hopes for limited duty as soon as possible

"I've thought about the accident over 100 times since last Monday and I don't know what I could have done to avoid the collision," he said

Alcohol seminar set

Educators from 13 elementary achools in the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools will participate in a workshop to learn about teaching school children about alcohol and its effects.

The workshop, "Starting Early," is sponsored by AAA Michigan.

About 35 educators from Allen, Bird, Eriksson, Farrand, Fiegel, Field, Gallimore, Hulsing, Isbister, Miller, Smith and Tanger schools will join the March 3 workshop at Tanger.

More than 6,800 students will receive "Starting Early" instruction in the district.

The teachers, who will receive materials and instructions in the 'Starting Early' program, will be responsible for training kindergarten through sixth grade teachers within their respective schools," said Robert V. Cullen, AAA Michigan safety and traffic manager.

THE PROGRAM, developed by the AAA Foundation for Traffic Safety and field-tested in eight states, was introduced in Grand Rapids in November 1983.

AAA Michigan conducts the workshops through a $40,000 grant from the Michigan Office of Highway Safety Planning and the Michigan Secretary of State's office

'Many studies have shown convincing evidence that elementary school is a formative period for future attitudes and decisions concerning alcohol," said Cullen.

"In many cases, drinking patterns are formed by the seventh and eighth grades and ingrained to an extent that little can be done about them later on."

One national survey indicated that more than half of the nation's seventh graders drank at least once during the previous year. AAA Michigan has been conducting an awareness program, called "AL-CO-HOL," for junior high students since 1978.

THE NATIONAL Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism estimates there are nearly 3.3 million problem drinkers among junior and senior high students.

'Most children are introduced to alcoholic beverages in the home at an early age," said Cullen, "If not, they soon will be exposed to drinking through the media.

"The goal of 'Starting Early' is to help prepare pupils to make choices in alcohol-related situations so they will choose the direction of safety and well-being for themselves and others. To accomplish this goal, young people need to have a sound foundation upon which to base their decisions."

There are five lessons for each teacher's guide with about 30 minutes per lesson for kindergarten through third grade increasing to 45 minutes per lesson for grades four to six.

The program's premise is that children will be better prepared for alcohol-related decisions if they have:

 Knowledge of the influence of alcohol on the body and mind and of the potentially serious consequences of alcohol abuse.

• Encouragement to explore their attitudes about possible future consumption of alcoholic beverages.

• Practice in planning and acting out ahead of time the ways to cope with or avoid alcohol-related situations dangerous for themselves and others.

Schools eye AIDS plan

The physician does have to report a case of AIDS to the public health department but health officials, by law, cannot and will not release the name of the infected student or employee to the district, said McClendon.

The district likely may not learn one of its students had AIDS until that information appears on a death certificate. "Because the sad fact is that all cases end in death. There is no recovery.'

The draft policy provided for a review committee to make recommendations about specific communicable disease cases or on epidemic control. The policy provided the committee could make recommendations on "instruction" which McClendon objected to.

School administrators are hired to make recommendations on instruction, he said, and they will be in a good position to do so once joint recommendations are re-leased by the Michigan Department of Educaton and the Michigan Public Health Department.

McCLENDON POINTED out that the following paragraph needed major revision because the district had no right to require medical information from doctors or

"The superintendent shall obtain the name of the physician treating the affected person and shall request that the physician be a part of the C.D.R.P. (Communicable Disease Review Panel). The parent/guardian or affected person shall provide the school district with a release of information so that the C.D.R.P. may review the needed information."

The above information can be requested, he said, but

While the policy provides for exclusion of an infected student from school, McClendon suggested that current research data and legal decisions probably will not allow a student with AIDS to be excluded.

Instead of providing a mere written statement of ex-clusion, McClendon said the district should be prepared to provide a written justification of reasons why the student should be excluded.

"All current legal decisions say you don't have the right to know if a person has a disease unless you are at risk, and if there has not been an exchange of blood you

School trustee Marilyn Schwinn said that so far there is only one school district in Wayne County with a formal policy on AIDS.

The policy is needed, said McClendon, because in three to five years the disease could reach adolescents in large numbers.

County officials to hold meeting in Frankenmuth

By Wayne Peal staff writer

It's billed as an informal get-together designed to foster cooperation between the Wayne County Commssion and the county executive's office.

But it isn't clear whether this weekend's legislative/executive retreat - while open to the public - violates the spirit, if not the letter, of the state Open Meetings Act.

That's because the meeting is being held in Frankenmuth, not Wayne County.

While information sessions are generally permitted under the act as are conferences outside governmental agencies' normal areas of jurisdiction - meetings must be accessible to the public.

And it isn't clear whether Frankenmuth, as much as two hours away from certain parts of the county, qualifies as accessible.

Nonetheless, county officials defended the decision to hold the meeting in the Saginaw County communi-

"It's not so far that people couldn't go," said Carol Steffani, a spokeswoman in the county executive's off-

OFFICIALS SAID they sought an "intensive" three-day session free from outside distractions.

"If it's close to home, there's the temptation to go home and we didn't want any distractions," county commission chairman Arthur Carter said. "We wanted intensive sessions."

Local commissioners agreed with Carter.

"If the purpose was to make some decision, then I would have a problem," commissioner Milton Mack, D-Wayne, whose district includes Canton, said. "But the purpose is to share each others' goals.'

Added commissioner Kay Beard, D-Inkster: "There won't be any skull-

"I haven't really given it a lot of thought," said commissioner Richard Manning, D-Redford. "If it was held in Detroit, people would probably be running in and out of the meetings."

Commissioner Susan Heintz, R-Northville, whose district includes Livonia and Plymouth, said she wouldn't attend if the sessions violate the Open Meetings Act.

"But it hasn't been shown to me that they do," she said.

Members of the county executive's staff will make presentations, as will county commission subcommittee chairmen, Carter said.

"The commission will be presenting its legislative platform for the coming year," Carter said. "This is not a decision-making meeting where issues will be discussed, this is a session designed for us to get to know each other."

MEETINGS WILL be held at the Bavarian Inn Motor Lodge beginning 3:45 p.m. Friday.

Friday's session is highlighted by a panel discussion moderated by Bill Black of WJR radio. Representatives of SEMCOG, the Greater Detroit Chamber of Commerce, AFSCME Council 25 and the Detroit Free Press are scheduled to partici-

Goals and priorities will be discussed Saturday, with representatives of the county executive's finance, health and community services, corporation counsel and public services offices and the county commission's ways and means, health and community services, public safety and judiciary and public services committees expected to make

Carter and Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara will present summary statements during Sunday's wrap-up session.

The Frankenmuth facility was less expensive to rent than similar facilities in Wayne County, Steffani said.

"We did look at cost," she said. Costs will be split between the executive's office and county commission, Steffani said. The executive's office is paying for its people through unused transition budget dollars, she said, while commissioners are paying through their conference fund allotments.

Commissioners said sessions were needed because of heavy turnover among their ranks. Six of the 15 commissioners have taken office

"It's critical that we establish a better relationship than we did with (former county executive William) Lucas," Beard said. "Not that we didn't try then."

Beard, whose district includes Garden City and Westland, recalled a one-day session with some Lucas staffers in 1982 at Wayne State Uni-

"Manipulating the Media: Whose Right to Know?" is the Freedom of Information program planned Monday, March 9, by the Detroit Chapter of Women in Communications, Inc.

In light of near-daily revelations about suppression of information and rehashing of details in the Iran-Contra affair, the process of disclosure (or disinformation) by the government comes into question: How does a politician, or other official, decide what to reveal? Why color the information? When does timing af-

Whose right is it to know the truth? The official, the media, the public? Perhaps, no one?

Rep. Louis Stokes, D-Ohio, will discuss the problem of balancing what he knows and what he feels free to disclose from his position as chairman of the House Intelligence Committee and a member of the Select Committee investigating the Iran arms deal.

Jennifer Moore of WDIV-TV will moderate the program. A question-

Will Robertsonites stay active in GOP?

staff writer

Everyone knows the Kemp and Robertson people ganged up at the Republican State Convention last weekend to embarrass "mainstream" supporters of George Bush

But the real question is: Will the newcomers supporting TV evangel-ist Pat Robertson stay on as active GOPartisans once they realize their man hasn't a shot at the 1988 presidential nomination?

"THE KEMP people used the Rob-ertson peole to elect themselves," said state Senate Majority Leader

John Engler, a Bush suppporter.

And he had a point: In the 2nd and 17th Congressional Districts, supporters of U.S. Rep. Jack Kemp, R-N.Y., did indeed win chairmanships with the backing of Robertson dele-

"But that's not relevant to Feb. 5 (1988) in Grand Rapids," said Engler. "That's when we elect the national convention delegates."

We took a bath. I give them credit," said Rhys Lewis, a longtime loyalist from Redford Township. He was sporting both a duPont for president pin and a "mainstream" stick-

"Some (Robertsonites) will drop out as soon as they see their candidate can't do it," Lewis predicted.

THE CONSERVATIVE coalition, which captured an estimated twothirds of the Republican State Com-

American Red Cross tion, felt differenty.

"Tve been tryig to help out some of the newer (Rhertson) delegates, show 'em the spes," said Elaine Donnelly, a Kmp loyalist from Livonia. She willbeek the chairmanship of the partys issues committee when the new GiP State Committee meets next mont.

"The Bush feces had the party regulars and gc complacent," said Paul Welday, a political pro from Farmington His and Kemp supporter who worelection to the state commmittee. "My heart's not bleedin' for the jush folks."

Steve Mitchil, one-time legislative candidate fom Livonia and now a political politer and consultant in Lansing, think the new Robertson group will stayactive. "They have a social agenda They have a lot of power," said Ntchell.

And he summed up the convention when he said that Vice President Bush, who caried Michigan in the 1980 presidetial primary, thought he had 50 perent support this year, "but he had oly 40 percent."

"THIS IS IOT my calling. I did not want this' said Anthony Story, a Robertsonite who toppled Canton

"But there are some in this caucus who wanted more conservative leadership, and the mantle fell on me,' said Story, paster of the Full Gospel Church in Westland. Once a Kemp supporter and still a Kemp admirer, Story thinks Robertson is "the most electable."

One prominent Bush supporter who kept peace with the conservative coalition was U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth, whose 2nd District sprawls from Livonia to Hills-

"We don't have any problems. I gave a speech to the caucus and got the best reception of my life," said Pursell, whose district caucus had a 70-48 majority for Kemp-Robertson over Bush

And Robertson loyalist Missy Caulk of Ann Arbor acknowledged that there is no effort to dump Pursell in the 1988 primary. "I support Carl Pursell. I don't know of any challenge to him.

"We made a coalition with Mike Legg (district chairman and a Kemp delegate). We have the same ideas and conservative agenda in mind." said Caulk, an activist for 11/2 years.

ABOUT 90 percent of the potenteacher Teri Bennett as chairman tial 1,900 delegates turned out for the Friday night district caucuses, many of which were post-midnight bloodbaths, and Saturday's five-hour convention, at which state chairman E. Spencer Abraham unanimously won a third two-year term.

And nearly all stayed until the end, when the sixth vice-chairman was elected. Usually, only 20 percent of the delegates hang around that late in the day.

Apparently the reason was that 'mainstreamers" feared the Robertson delegates would try a second time to amend convention rules to take up a divisive resolution opposing state-sponsored condom commercials on TV. As soon as the last agenda item was completed, Bush-backer Joe Knollenberg, of Bloomfield Township, was at a floor microphone to move adjournment.

An effort to conduct a straw poll of presidential preferences also was beaten down by party regulars.

Peter Secchia, the flamboyant GOP national committeeman from Grand Rapids, sought to smooth over the ruffled feathers of the Friday caucuses by complimenting the new-comers. Quoting former President Gerald Ford, Secchia urged them to

A typical guess placed Bush's sup-port at 40-45 percent, with the ma-jority being the Kemp-Robertson co-

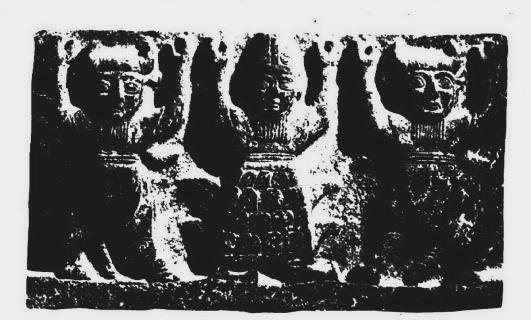

"No candidate has 50 percent," said Harry Greenleaf, a former 2nd District chairman from Livonia and a Bush mainstreamer. "It was a stop Bush' thing."

New area GOP leaders picked

Besides electing state party offi-cers, delegates to the Republican State Convention also elected congressional district officers.

Statewide, Kemp backers went for district chairs. Robertson supporters won an estimated two-thirds of the seats on the Republican State Committee, governing body of the party between elections. The RSC has four delegates from each of the 18 congressional districts.

Supporters of presidential candidates George Bush, Jack Kemp and Pat Robertson are indicated by (B), (K) and (R) respectively.

tect and preserve its air, water and soil rank among the best in the nation, according to an advocacy group working to promote better environmental protection programs.

The Fund for Renewable Energy and the Environment released a report Friday ranking Michigan fifth among the states, surpassed only by Wisconsin, California, New Jersey and Connecticut

The study analyzed legislation and programs each state has in place to encourage wise use of its natural resources, but didn't measure how good or bad the environmental conditions were in the states.

It focused on efforts related to air pollution reduction, soil conservation, groundwater protection, hazardous waste management, solid waste and recycling, and renewable energy and conservation, with Michigan scoring 43 out of a possible 60

The group warned that while great progress has been made in environmental protection over the past 15 years, "on many environmental issues, progress of the last decade has stalled. On other issues it has begun rolling backward."

Michigan's hazardous waste management program scored 9 out of a possible 10 points. The group noted the state has its own "Superfund" clean-up program, strict regulations on small generators of hazardous wastes, community "right to know" requirements and a program to collect household hazardous wastes, and offers financial and legal incentives to reduce hazardous wastes.

The state's programs related to air pollution reduction, groundwater protection, and solid waste management all were rated at eight out of

While some parts of Michigan exceed recommended standards for carbon monoxide, ozone and particulates, the state does have control programs for toxic air pollutants and acid rain, has a government-ap-proved plan for managing solid waste, offers a comprehensive solid waste recycling program, and has groundwater quality standards in lace, the group said.

The state was rated seven out of 10 on soil conservation efforts, with the advocacy group noting that the state hasn't established soil loss limits, but that it does have erosion and sediment control laws.

The state was rated just three out of 10 in programs to promote renewable energy and conservation. The advocacy group said Michigan has made little progress in implementing policies to encourage least-cost energy programs, but does offer residential tax credits for solar and renewable energy systems.

County drug task force is expanded

Wayne County's Drug Enforcement Task Force is being expanded at drug dealers' expense, Sheriff Robert Ficano recently announced.

The task force, a joint effort between the sheriff's department and the Federal Drug Enforcement Administration, will increase from seven to 14 deputies and add two dogs to sniff out drugs.

The task force will also expand drug education efforts, add a hot line and distribute tip cards bearing the hot line number, Ficano said.

Increases are to be paid for through money and property seized from drug dealers, as permitted under a 1982 state law. The DEA waived its rights to the money and property.

Last year the task force accounted for $860,848 in 80 seizures, roughly 38 percent of Wayne County's $2.29 million in drug-related confiscations. Included were 15 vehicles and two houses

Equity needed for tax values

THE PLYMOUTH-CANTON Board of Education recently received an information report from the superintendent regarding uniform tax assessment.

12A(P)

Dr. John M. Hoben, superintendent, was referring to a draft position statement by the Middle Cities Association on school finances. Middle Cities is a group of school districts of similar size from like metropolitan areas which lobbies on educational issues.

The finance position statement contained a succinct declaration:

"Middle Cities believes that if reasonable guidelines are set for the assessment of large commercial and industrial properties, the need for costly appeals would be reduced. Middle Cities supports legislation which would improve and apply uniform property tax assessment practices. MCA supports legislation which specifically:

a. Shifts assessment responsibilities to state-appointed, certified assessors.

b. Establishes an equitable, uniform statewide assessment procedure which allows for open exchange of informa-

c. Establishes a method of determining true cash value of properties."

Consider the final point - determining cash value.

THE MICHIGAN Constitution requires that property be assessed at 50 percent of true cash value.

The Michigan Legislature, in implementing legislation, devised a formula which roughly defined cash value as a three-year average of market value to determine residential assessments. No such clear-cut formulas exist, though, for commercial and industrial proper-

As a result confusion exists statewide on assessments of industrial property. The result is that local assessments are made, local governmental units rely on those figures when building operating budgets, appeals are lost by assessors, and governmental units must pay back large sums to the plaintiffs. : That scenario occurred recently in Delta Township. General Motors won an appeal against Delta Township from the Michigan Tax Tribunal which requires, among other things, that the Waverly School District pay back GM some $1.1 million. That decision is being appealed to the Michigan Court of Appeals because repayment would require Waverly to seek a millage increase.

(For the record, Ford Motor Company for years has appealed local property assessments - including Ford Sheldon Plant locally. General Motors, whose finances have tightened in recent years, has now adopted a similar strategy in quest of the incremental dollar.)

ACCORDING TO the Michigan Tax Information Council, Delta Supervisor Joe Drolett (charged with assessment responsibilities) set true cash value for the GM warehouse at $28.5 million in 1983, $29 million for 1984, and $30 million for 1985.

Ironically, Joe determined cash value (in part) from GM's own figures - a 1978 Tax Abatement Certificate. When requesting tax relief, General Motors apparently estimated high. The amount of tax relief is based on "market value" so there is an incentive for GM to estimate high on value when requesting tax GM apparently thought Joe was un-fair in using GM estimates of value to determine assessments. In June 1985 GM filed an appeal claiming its warehouse was worth only $16.2 million in 1983, $16.7 million in 1984, and $16.9 million in 1985.

To make a year's story short, GM lined up its corporate legal staff and armed them with three expert witnesses and beat down Joe's best estimate. In building its case, GM experts did assessments based on three methods: the cost approach; the market approach; and the income approach. One expert witness alone invested between 800 to 1.000 hours using the income approach. GM's ultimate victory and Joe's loss was entirely predictable.

When GM filed an appeal against Joe, it also appealed tax assessments made by 26 other municipalities. Interested in the outcome statewide? In 1985 the 27 municipalities statewide assessed GM properties for a total of $1.1 billion. After the appeals were exhausted, the GM assessments were reduced to $475 million - a 67 percent reduction.

A major victory for GM; a major loss, so to speak, for the average joe.

DETERMINING value of residential property involves rather straight-forward formulas based on market value.

Given the mistakes made by 27 municipalities in 1985, there must be a better way to assess industrial property so that what is determined locally can be relied on by school districts and other taxing units.

There also is something wrong when a plaintiff can build three arguments using three different methods of determing value. The law for commercial and industrial assessments does, indeed, need to be changed.

As we look at reforming financing of public education, let's also look at the base and make sure equity exists at the very beginning of the process.

Out of town

County officials set a bad example

WAYNE COUNTY officials had a good idea - holding joint sessions between county commissioners and executive branch staffers, building cooperation as both branches begin tackling problems facing the financially strapped county.

Then they had a bad idea — holding the three-day conference in Frankenmuth, instead of Wayne County.

Even though sessions will be open to the public, it's hard to believe the distance won't discourage interested Wayne County residents from attending.

That's too bad because public support is necessary if officials are to successfully implement any of the potentially painful budget-cutting solutions being bandied about.

Even if the Frankenmuth site was cheaper, it's hard to justify spending county money outside county limits. Given the amount of free publicity such a conference could generate, it's difficult to believe there wasn't a conference center in any of Wayne County's 43 communities that couldn't have put together a comparable package.

WHILE COUNTY officials say they won't hold future sessions in Honolulu - or the UP for that matter - their action still sets an uncomfortable pre-

This isn't to say the meetings aren't necessary. Wayne County is millions of dollars in debt, no matter whose esti-mate one believes. Putting the county on firm financial ground is officials' top priority. Having a commi ecutive that work together is a decided advantage - so long as they do it within the public eye.

Newspaper people generally rant and rave about alleged Open Meetings Act violations. But it's important to reit easier for reporters to write stories.

It's there to protect the public. It's there because its drafters — themselves government officials — believed it's best to air public business in public.

There's a reason. No matter how unpleasant the situation, the more the public knows, the better off it is - and the more support it tends to give its elected officials. It's important to note that the Reagan Administration seems to be suffering more from revelations concerning an Iranian arms sale coverup than from the revelation of the arms sale itself.

More to the point, county officials said they wanted to get away from "distractions" — ringing telephones, pressing at-home duties or anything else that would take their minds off dis-

is witchcraft a smokescreen?

Ever since I served on the school committee that considered the complaint about Gundella the Witch, I have een trying to figure out what the witch funt being conducted by Diane Daska-Takis and others is all about.

Thus, when the first newsletter arfived from her group, Citizens for Better Education, I read it carefully. I even found myself wondering why some of the films she listed were being shown. Then I came to the last item on the list, the text book "Earth Science." What tould the textbook "Earth Science" have to do with witchcraft? In Daskatakis's objections to this book I found the answer to my questions.

Ladies and gentlemen of the Plymouth-Canton community, the Creationists have arrived! The "sin" committed by the text book "Earth Science," according to Daskalakis, is that it doesn't mention "creation science."

All this tom-foolery about teaching witchcraft in the schools (who believes that witches really exist anyway?) has een a smokescreen to cover the real objective of her group — an attempt to force our schools to teach "creation sci-

THERE HAS been no issue in recent mes that more clearly demonstrates the need to keep church and state separate. "Creation science" is pure nonsense. It has no relationship to fact, reason or understanding and no place in a sound educational program.

Separation of church and state means that the government does not tell religious groups what to think or say or do (as long as they act legally). It also means that religious groups and cults have no right to insist that their particular brand of mystical thinking be forced on public school students in the name of education.

Now that we know Daskalakis's real objective, I hope my fellow citizens and the school board will join me in vigorous resistance to this assault on quality education for our children.

Douglas McClennen. Plymouth

There is no question in my mind that Diane Daskalakis would have been a leader in Salem, Mass., during 1692.

She's just that kind of person. Go get 'em Diane, and be sure to check under your bed. One never knows where evil lurks.

Climbing ladders of any type has always been my least favorite occupation. Vertigo, you know. Remember James Stewart in the bell tower?

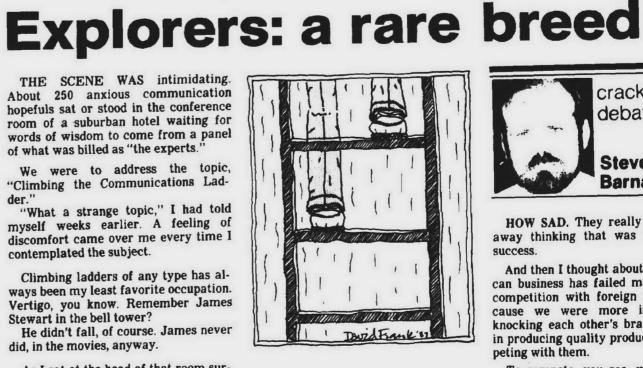

He didn't fall, of course. James never did, in the movies, anyway.

As I sat at the head of that room surveying all the hopes and dreams of the future, I wondered how many of those young careerists would one day find themselves dizzily hanging from a pre-

All these people were really serious, really intent on getting on what they perceived was the ladder to success.

Fortunately I was the third of four speakers. I had time to get my thoughts

While sitting there I thought about many of the misleading messages that have been sent out to young business people. I call it the MBA mentality. It manufactures robots whose only goals are to get ahead just for the sake of getting ahead, for accumulating wealth just for the sake of overindulgence.

I thought of the increasing number of young Wall Street brokers who are finding themselves in a legal nightmare, ruined for life because of wealth acquired through illegal insider stock trading.

I thought of the image these young people have of business leaders clawing and stomping one another to get ahead.

To compete, you see, we don't need clone-like business people. We don't want mountain climbers.

We need explorers who are rewarded for innovative ideas, who are passionate about their work and who want to produce the best possible product. We must create an environment where the goal is to work together to create a better soci-

Voice choice: whether to trust your weatherman

IT WAS ONLY a few degrees above zero one evening early last week when Al Ackerman came on the tube and confirmed what thousands of viewers already knew, "Baby, it's cold outside."

I decided right then, by golly it's time to do something about it, and in the morning I called a man who really understands the fickleness of weather. John McMurray. He immediately arranged a sunny afternoon in the 40s.

HEAVEN FORBID that I would demean Mr. Ackerman for not offering solace from winter's bite, Al having his hands full running the affairs of the Pistons, Red Wings, Tigers, Lions, et al. But his comment did steer my train of thought as he has often done in the 30 years since we first met in the spring of

Also, this bids fair to be one of Al's busiest periods, what with playoffs looming for our basketball and hockey surmounted and somehow an answer to be found to curing the Lions' constipated offense.

McMurray, on the other hand, is not beset with such diverse worries. Weather is his only business. I'm stretching a point, it's true, when I say he actually 'arranged" a sunny afternoon, but if weathercasters can be blamed for fouling things up — as they sometimes are - it's only fair to pay them an occasional kind word when it seems that God's in his heaven and all's right with the world.

IF HIS NAME and voice are familiar entries, puzzling baseball issues to be to you, its because you, too, are a frequent WJR radio listener. He helps wake me up every morning, but as with many of the personalities in the imaginative realm of radio, I don't know whether he's tall or short, fat or slim.

He does come over the air wayes in a mild-mannered fashion and can be relied upon to tell one whether to wear boots and muffler or to polish off the golf clubs. Spring, he says, will be coolish and "wetter than normal." He must be right, for The Old Farmer's Almanac says the same thing.

You may find it odd, but you don't call WJR in the Fisher Building to chat with McMurray. What you do is call the firm of which he is president, Commercial Weather Services, which is headquartered in Flint. I suppose that takes a word of explanation.

First of all, McMurray, 45, is a native of New York City and in 1964 was graduated from New York State Maritime College in the Bronx with a degree in meteorology. He escaped from the Big Apple through service in the Air Force, five years of which were in the woebe-

UPON DISCHARGE, he sought employment in the real world and fate directed him to Michigan where Channel 12 in Flint had an opening for a weather expert. Complete with wife and three children, he made that their home.

One thing led to another, as they sometimes do, and when commercial opportunities seemed to outweigh the television stipend, McMurray set up shop on his own.

He and his associates now provide weather information daily to eight northern Michigan and Ontario radio stations besides WJR, thus remaining non-competitive with his bread and butter account, besides serving a number of private business firms.

When you hear him on the air, more than likely talking with Col. Joseph Priestly McCarthy — who is several years older than McMurray, it sounds like they're across the table from each other, doesn't it? Instead, they're maybe 70 or 80 miles apart, communicating on what the trade calls a "voice dedicated broadcast line.'

This is not unique to WJR. It is simply modern technology. For instance, Earl Fenkell actually is in Chicago when you hear him on WWJ.

INFORMATION from global satellites, as well as the National Weather Service, is a godsend to them all. But Sonny Elliot still has a file of the best jokes and is the only weathercaster who can locate Engadine . . . or is it Engaringa-ding-adine?

McMurray does have one confession. He has tried deliberately to lose the New Yawk accent in which he was raised. He admits those five years in Oklahoma helped, even though he didn't adapt to cowpoke talk. Listen late next week and you may hear him tell J.P. the moon is in its first phase; never will he say first "qwahtah."

We're happy to have you in Michigan,

Speaks out on tax assessments

To the editor:

A couple of weeks ago there was an article on page one of your paper regarding increased taxes for Plymouth Township, and there were a few localities listed where increases would be 5 percent more than the general increase; one of these was Bradbury Condominiums, a community of 360 units.

We agree the selling prices of our units have risen over the past few years, but this has been the result primarily of our own community efforts and with unpaid volunteers on working committees and our board of directors.

I understand outside appraisers were employed, but shouldn't they be given a little direction? One of the township trustees is one of our residents and he should certainly be able to offer some input. Plymouth Township does not maintain our streets nor plow our snow. We have no school-age children, but we pay the same amount of taxes to help educate others. We do receive emergency services from the fire and police de-

Gives opinion on DDA move

To the editor:

In your editorial of Feb. 12, concerning the expansion of the Downtown Development Authority, you state: "General Fund monies are not being used to pay for the deck" and you refer to the already existing parking structure.

If you will examine the 1985-86 City of Plymouth Budget, you will see that you have been misinformed on this. Item No. 965.394 shows that $58,000 was transferred from the General Fund to the DDA account so that it could make its $100,300 payment to retire the yearly portion of the debt on the parking structure.

As I have said before, homeowners are indeed paying for the parking deck which we never needed, and if the expansion of the DDA entails another parking deck, we don't want to pay for another one. You have been told that no deck is "now planned" but common sense tells us that some provision will have to be made for office occupants and their visitors and while no plans exist, at this moment, I assure you that plans will appear very soon.

Also you state that: "the school administration has not opposed expansion of the downtown district." This may be true. However, it is another reason for homeowners to be alarmed. The schools will be deprived of the taxes from the expanded area and homeowners will have to make up the shortage in school funds and this will increase our taxes.

The laws which enable DDAs to be set up were meant to help cities with serious downtown problems such as Detroit, Benton Harbor, and others. Plymouth never has had these problems and perhaps we should not continue to exploit these laws that were never meant for our situation.

You would attribute the opposition to the DDA expansion to "fear of change" and comfort with the status quo. I assure you that there are many more reasons than these to explain why homeowners are opposed to the expansion of LENGTHY STAYS in nursing homes or long-term health care facilities can drain a senior's resources. And the recent federal proposal for catastrophic insurance, Maynard feels, doesn't deal with long-term stays in nursing homes.

Castastrophic or not, health care does cost seniors a bundle.

A person older than 65 spends a yearly average of $3,140 on personal health care services compared to an average of $828 a person under 65, according to Maynard

What this means, Maynard said, is a need for long-term health care services and more respite care centers

Aside from the medical aspects, the Governor's Task Force on Employment Opportunities for Older Citizens made its own recommendations to keep seniors more active in the job field.

The task force also called for more public education to help dispel the myths of aging, along with jobs and job training for seniors.

Early retirement is a concern. mainly because it deprives the state of seniors' creativity and experience in the job force, Maynard said.

Healing is more ### than just physical ONE OF THE things that people iar surroundings by going to a hospi-

of faith do is pray for those who are area of life.

A young priest was visiting a man in the hospital who was sinking closer and closer to death. He returned to his parish and shared a difficulty with a fellow priest. "How can I pray for healing for this man when I know he is dying?" The older priest replied, "You pray for healing and your prayer gradually becomes a prayer for that which is our ultimate healing.' Elizabeth Kubler Ross would agree with the older priest. She sees a healing in the need to take away the fear in death. She also sees healing in helping a person complete unfinished business before they die.

THERE IS still much ambivalence in our approach to healing. We believe we are whole persons, yet we turn the task of healing over to professionals. Too often we fail to see healing as something a person does within the self, assisted by medical science. Too often we go to doctors and assume that they can "fix" us up like a mechanic would fix an automobile. Albert Schweitzer once said that the task of the physician is to help a person find the "doctor which is within them." Healing comes from within and is assisted from without.

We are ambivalent first because we fail to grasp how we are connected one with another. We are not as separate as we think we are. Prayer is one way we cannect. Touch is one way we connect. Helping with the depression which often comes in sickness is another way we connect.

Yet we find it hard to grasp how connected we are. A person may feel the most estranged from others when sick. Often sick people isolate themselves from family and famil-

WE ARE ambivalent about faith and healing for another reason. We

A man in our congregation brought me a photo. The picture was of white indistinct forms against gray and blue. He explained that it was a photo taken of clouds from an airplane. "Look closer," he said. Then I saw the fuzzy image of what appeared to be a person in white robes with arms outstretched. For some it is an image of Jesus in the clouds. For others it is simply a trick of clouds and camera.

Television healers who promise everything is possible in an instant confuse us. We do not want to be taken in and deceived. Yet the mystery

A third problem we face is that the very people who help us when we seek healing, the physicians, avoid dealing with the connections of body, mind and spirit. Nurses are more apt to encourage prayer and visitation than the doctors. I have asked doctors what they believe about healing. They usually either say they do not know or they launch into a biochemical dissertation.

I REMEMBER visiting a physician who had a very virulent cancer. Understandably he was frightened. The only way he could talk about himself when I visited was in textbook terms I could barely comprehend. Those who teach medical students tell me that the problem is getting worse. Most young physicians are taking a mechanical view Gradually we will come to understand what healing means in a wholistic sense. Eventually we will grasp how connected we are. We will discover that healing is an ongoing ; process that draws upon faith and interdependence.

Radon 'daughters' are problem

Q What is radon? Where does it come from? Is it dangerous?

A Radon is a naturally occurring. radioactive gas found in minute concentrations nearly everywhere on earth Radon is odorless, colorless, tasteless and chemically inert

Radon is formed by the radioactive transformation (decaying) of an isotope of radium-226. This decaying process begins in the earth's crust with uranium-238 Radium-226 and radon-222 are in the middle of this decaying process

Uranium-238 decays to Radium-226, which becomes Radon-222, etc. The production of radon remains constant in the earth's surface

AS AN INERT gas, radon permeates through soil and moves along cracks in the earth or through underground aquifers until it eventually reaches the surface.

Significant amounts can enter a home and accumulate, producing a

Investors are expected to take a closer look at their individual retirement account investments because of the 1986 Tax Reform Law

Some financial advisers believe IRAs will remain the cornerstone of retirement investing despite the loss of the interest deduction for certain investors. But other methods of saving for the golden years are likely to be considered.

"If you are in the category that cannot get the IRA interest deduction, it is still a good investment because of the tax-deferred compounding interest," said Mark Kierzkowski, a stockbroker at Prudential-Bache's Birmingham office "It's one of the things that really made the IRAs work."

For the 1986 tax year, all investors are eligible for an IRA deduction. Beginning in 1987, the new tax laws will allow full IRA deductions for those not covered by an employer-sponsored pension plan, married couples with combined incomes under $40,000 and single individuals with incomes of less than $25,000.

Partial deductions will be allowed for married couples with combined incomes between $40,000 and $50,000 and single persons with incomes between $25,000 and $35,000

KIERZKOWSKI suggests annuities as an alternative to IRAs

"Those individuals still looking for the tax-deferred compounding effect may wish to consider an annuity." he said "It allows you to put in any amount, gives tax-deferred compounding and has the same penalty for early withdrawal. The only difference is annuities never let you shelter the income."

Dick Dickshott, a certified public accountant in Livonia, says the decision of what to do with an IRA is essentially a retiremport decision.

essentially a retirement decision.

"People need to establish their retirement goals," he said. "An IRA is a method to use to put money away for retirement so people have to decide which vehicle or combination of vehicles will accomplish those goals."

Dickshott agrees IRAs are still beneficial because of the tax-deferred income and that annuities are a good alternative because you are not limited by the amount placed in one, and the income is tax-deferred But he expects to see more employers offering 401K plans which reduce your gross compensation by the amount you put into the plan

"You can contribute up to the limits of the (401K) plan or $7,000 a year into what is essentially a substitute IRA," he said. "The 401K plans are going to become very popular."

REAL ESTATE investing is another recommendation of Dickshot.

'Real estate is still a tax shelter because of depreciation," he said. "Many think inflation will return and, assuming there will be appreciation because of inflation, it will be a valuable investment and is not taxed until sold."

'If you are in the category that cannot get the IRA interest deduction, it is still a good investment because of the tax-deferred compounding interest.'

Mark Kierzkowski stockbroker Whether to invest in an IRA, annuity, real estate or a combination of all three depends on an individual's personal situation. Dickshott says
"You design your investments so

"You design your investments so that you have some liquidity and varying degrees of risk investment," he said.

Susan Hardin of Fidelity Investments in Dearborn says IRAs are a valuable investment

"The reson we say an IRA is still beneficial is you are still accruing money on a tax-deferred basis. It is a kind of forced savings," she said "We are not sure about Social Security in the future so that is a good way to save for retirement

About 40 to 50 percent of IRA investors will still be able to take full or partial deductions under the new tax laws, she said

Gary Figurski, a Livonia CPA whose company represents many Ford Motor Co. employees, says he is recommending they put up the maximum amount allowed into stock plans or thrift plans where they work.

"We are not recommending contributing to an IRA for those people in 1987 if they are not deductible." he said. "We are recommending that people who do not have a pension plan at work maintain their IRAs.

Figurski said he also recommends no-load mutual funds, which have no sales commission.

Dick Powell, branch manager of E.F. Hutton's Troy office says individuals should compare IRAs to municipal bonds "When you look at the benefit of the non-deductible IRA one of the alternatives would be to buy municipal bonds, either directly or through mutual funds or unit trusts." Powell said.

Non-deductible IRAs will make

Non-deductible IRAs will make the most sense when the after-tax return is higher than that of municipal bonds, he explained.

In a reversal of the strategy many people have pursued of placing conservative, lower-yielding investments in their IRAs, Powell says the IRA may now become a place to put more aggressive investments.

Tax reform changes investment strategy

Neither accountants nor financial planners are fearing for their jobs now that the first year of "tax reform has begun. It anything trying to explain changing investment strategy should keep them busy for some time to come.

Here's a capsule summary of key effects tax reform will have on investors, according to analysts from E.F. Hutton & Co.

• MUNICIPAL BONDS For most investors, municipal bonds which have not lost their tax-exempt status, now constitute one of the best tax shelters. But lower marginal tax rates, especially after the transitional 1987 tax year, will reduce slightly the benefit of tax-free income for some investors. Tax-free bonds are still expected to attract many middle income taxpayers who still find themselves in high tax brackets. During 1987, the highest bracket will be 38½ percent, dropping to 33 percent for 1988.

The major changes in treatment of municipal bonds affect issuers more than investors. Congress has distinguished between general (public) purpose bonds and private purpose bonds. Public purpose bonds will be those used to finance projects such as roads, public buildings, sewer projects and so forth. Private purpose bonds are those used to finance housing projects, industrial development or other private sector projects.

Income from public purpose bonds will remain tax-exempt. Private purpose bonds issued before Aug. 7, 1986, also will retain full exemption. Income from private purpose bonds issued after that date will be treated as a preference item for calculating the alternative minimum tax. So for taxpayers in a high enough income bracket to fall under the alternative minimum tax provisions, income from these private purpose bonds could lose tax-exempt status.

• ANNUTTIES AND UNIVERSAL LIFE INSUR-ANCE: These were among the few tax-favored investments to emerge from tax reform unscathed. Both allow tax-deferred compounding of income.

Many investment advisers are describing annuities as an alternative to IRAs, which lost some appeal for many investors under the new law (see related story). Annuities are similar to IRAs in some ways but also have significant differences. Annuities can be purchased with a single payment or through a series of monthly, quarterly, semi-annual or annual payments. They provide tax-deferred buildup of cash value. Unlike an IRA, there is no limit to the amount that may be invested in an annuity.

Annuities generally should be viewed as vehicles for long-term retirement investment; early withdrawal is often subject to a surrender change

Universal life combines life insurance coverage and tax-deferred buildup of investment income. It has an added advantage of allowing access to funds through a low-interest borrowing privilege, usually at rates from 14 to 2 percent. Like an annuity, universal life can be purchased as a single premium or multiple premium policy.

• STOCKS AND BONDS Investors will be taking two factors into account as they re-evaluate stock and bond portfolios. First, elimination of special treatment for long-term capital gains will decrease the emphasis on such gains. Second, changes in corporate tax treatment will influence bottom line performance; some companies will benefit while others will be hurt.

Under the special treatment granted to long-term capital gains for many years, the maximum tax on gains realized from assets held for more than six months was 20 percent for those in the 50 percent tax bracket. Under the new law, long-term capital gains are treated the same as any other earnings: subject to a maximum tax of 28 percent (or 33 percent of those subject to the 5 percent surcharge).

Under the old law, growth stocks were ideal for investors seeking the preferential treatment given to capital gains. Earnings were plowed back into growth rather than paid out as dividends. The new law will probably encourage investors to favor stocks paying out a high proportion of earnings as dividends. In the absence of preferential treatment for long-term gains, cash in the pocket may be preferred by many.

• MUTUAL FUNDS: The new tax law is expected to make tax-free funds more attractive. These are funds based on public purpose municipal bonds, which remain free of federal tax. In addition, some funds are composed solely of bond issues from a particular state and these become free of state taxes for investors living there.

• EDUCATION AND INCOME SHIFTING: Clifford trusts and Uniform Gift-to-Minors accounts are two income shifting strategies that parents have used mainly to shelter income for the education of their children. Previously, income in both types of accounts was taxed at the child's rate, generally lower than that of the parents.

Under the new law, these asset-shifting strategies have been all but wiped out. Clifford trusts, with the exception of those set up before March 1, 1986, have been eliminated. For children under 14, investment earnings above $1,000 on UMGA accounts will be taxed at the parents' rate, all but ending any tax benefits.

"The small classes and the supportive encouragement of my professors is what I remember helping me the most. I had the best of both worlds at UM-D: the resources of a world-renowned university and the small classes of a liberal arts college. The money I saved by living at home helped me pay for medical school."

Billy is the friend or family member who is always getting into (and out of) a variety of "bright idea" business ventures that always seem to leave him with bad feelings and empty pockets.

Billy doesn't have time to consider all that is required to effectively operate a small business and prefers relying on other people to do this work for him. In Billy's mind, success in small business is a lot like playing the lottery - put your money down and hope you've picked a

Remember the videotape rental boom of five years ago? At that time, many individuals started videotape rental stores thinking that the nature of the business alone would guarantee success

AS SUCH, entrepreneurs with little, if any, understanding of what was involved in running a small business were becoming operators almost overnight.

According to Tony Sciarrotta, sales manager at Video Trend, a Livonia-based wholesale tape distributorship, videotape rental stores in the metropolitan area were opening at an average rate of 10-15 per week in the early 1980s.

It wasn't long before there was a videotape rental facility on every corner In order to survive, these independent dealers had to come up with innovative ways to remain competitive while maintaining marza or popcorn with each rental, providing free delivery and pickup of rented tapes and equipment, expanding product lines to include hard-tofind classics, children's movies and cult films, and eliminating annual membership fees.

Currently, Video Trend services 10 new dealers per month including non-traditional outlets such as party, drug and grocery stores.

Stock yield without capital gain can mislead you

Stock Yield

The current yield on a stock is the latest dividend divided by the current price of that stock. Thus, a stock paying $2 dividend and selling for $20 has a current yield of 10 percent (2/20 x 100)

However, this presents a distorted view for two reasons.

First, stocks which don't pay any dividends - and therefore have zero current yield - may appear to be worthless which is hardly the case

Second, most people buy stock for capital gains.

So the total return (dividends plus capital gains) on a stock is a better measure than the current wield.

Mortgage-backed securities backed securities are those insured by GNMA. GNMA protects investors only when homeowners default on the mortgages that back the securities, commonly known as Ginnie Maes

However, no one protects the investor when the yield drops as a result of a decline in interest rates inducing homeowners to refinance their mortgages. Herein lies the fallacy of high-yield

Here is an example to illustrate the point. Consider the excerpt from the annual report of ABC GNMA fund dated Dec. 31, 1986, shown in the accompanying table.

The same fund claims to have a yield of 10.3 percent and a latest twelve-month total return of 1.1 percent. This seeming contradiction results from the fact that the ABC fund purchased high coupon GNMAs at a premium price. Later, because of a significant drop The most popular mortgage- in interest rates, many of these GNMAs were paid off, resulting other yield-related topics. in a distribution of the principal

Since investors were forced to invest these proceeds at lower interest rates, their annual yield significantly dropped. In fact, the annual yield was only 58 percent as shown below:

> ending NAV + distributions beginning NAV

> > = $15.15 + $1.72 $15.94

> > > = 5.8 percent

If you are interested in mortgagebacked securities, make sure to ask your financial planner about the speed at which mortgages are being prepaid above standard amortiza-

In a three-part article, I have barely exposed you to the many faces of yields. Topics not covered include internal rate of return, net present value concept, and a host of

Before you are lured into investing in a high-yielding security, be sure to ask the question. Will the real yield please stand up? Better still, let your planner ask that question and watch the real yield stand up and take a bow

Changes are being made in the way long distance users in your area place some operator-handled calls.

This is an informational message about your phone service from Marcia Buhl, your Michigan Bell Corporate Affairs Manager.

"These telephone service changes concern only operator-handled long distance calls outside your Michigan Bell long distance calling area. They apply to collect, credit card, person-to-person calls. calls billed to a third number, and requests for assistance. Some customers will need to contact their long distance companies for new instructions on how to place such calls. To find out if and how the service changes may affect your service, we ask you to read the following explanation."

An explanation of the changes in your operator-assistance service for calls outside your Michigan Bell long distance calling area (interLATA calls).

How operator assisted calls were placed before. If you wanted operator assistance to place a long distance call, you dialed "O," or "O" plus the area code (if required), and the phone number you wanted and an operator put the call through for you.

How these calls are placed now. If the long distance service on the phone you are using is provided by a company that offers operator services and you want operator assistance to place a call, you dial "O," plus the area code (if required), and the phone number and an operator will assist you. To reach the long distance operator for additional assistance, you must dial "OO." (Important: If you dial "O" without the phone number, you will get a Michigan Bell operator who can place calls within your Michigan Bell area only.)

If the long distance service on the phone you're using is provided by a long distance company that does not offer operator services, you must contact that long distance company to get instructions on how to place operatorassisted long distance calls.

Please note: If you dial "O," plus the area code, and the number, you may get a recording or no response. Further, if you dial "O" without the number, you will get a Michigan Bell operator who will refer you to your long distance company for further instructions.

If you are calling from a pay phone, continue to use the instructions posted on the phone. Again, you should contact your long distance company for new instructions on how to place operator-handled long distance calls outside your Michigan Bell calling area. If you have any other questions about the changes, please call Michigan Bell's Let's Talk Center. The toll-free number is 1 800 555-5000.

Please watch your Michigan Bell bill inserts for further information.

OST ASPIRING actors would jump at the chance to land a meaty role on a TV soap opera.

But how does an actor or actress make the leap from primarily local theater productions to a New York or Hollywood television studio?

Almost 100 people recently came to the John Casablancas Modeling and Career Center in Plymouth to hear Bobby Hoffman, a West Coast casting consultant for ABC-TV soap operas. The topic was "How to audi-

"I love the soaps. They're such good training for young people," said Hoffman, who is based in Los Angeles. "We're always looking for leading men, leading women (who are)

The John Casablancas center, which also has an office in Troy, had invited Hoffman to present several workshops, at a cost of $60 per student for a four-hour session. Participants ranged from people like Hollidae Drall of West Bloomfield, who has not chosen a career, to Marina Seeman of Ann Arbor, who has been acting for 20 years.

alogue coach and casting director for the popular situation comedies "Happy Days" and "Laverne and Shirley." Currently he casts talent in the ABC-TV daytime dramas, "General Hospital," "One Life ot Live,"
"Ryan's Hope," "All My Children" and "Loving." "It's a long process (to fill parts)," said the gray-haired and friendly Hoffman, who was dressed casually in gray pants with a matching vest, bright red neckerchief, red shoes and a jaunty cap.

As a casting consultant, Hoffman must find actors and actresses to fill specified roles on soap operas, so named because they are sponsored by large soap companies. These steamy dramas feature characters such as street-wise guys trying to go straight; conniving, long-lost, illegitimate children; handsome heartbreakers, or mysterious, dark-haired women with accents.

There are many more hopefuls than roles to fill, and selection is an intensive filtering process. First, the actor must have the "right" look and be the right age. During the audition, casting consultants conduct "cold" readings, in which the actors and actresses must read from a script without preparation. Finally, the list is narrowed to a few prospects, who will make a tape for presentation to network officials, who make the final choice

There is body language. There is. speech," Hoffman added. "I have seen actors trip over a piece of lint.

"Women on soaps, some of them are 34 years old, playing mothers of women in their 20s (who are) playing 16," Hoffman said. "That's acting."

IN HIS QUEST for new talent, Hoffman travels around once a month to such cities as Seattle, San Francisco or San Antonio, where he visits theater groups.

Landing a spot on a soap opera can mean good pay, long hours with many pages of dialogue to learn and instant recognition from fans.

"There is no social life, but (actors) love it because it's repertory theater," Hoffman said. "There are 10 leads on every soap. A lead role is the lead one day and is there in spirit

According to Hoffman, a newcomer to a soap opera would earn around $600 a day, and be guaranteed 1½ days of work per week. Superstars - such as Susan Lucci (Erica from "All My Children") — can earn salaries in the six-figure range.

After giving that overview, Hoffman assigned each student a script and a partner. After a few moments of preparation, they gave their cold reading. Hoffman then critiqued their vocal variety and timing.

Many of the participants had taken modeling and acting classes from John Casablancas Modeling and Career Center, a franchised school set up by John Casablancas, president of

SOME WERE NOVICES, while others have appeared in theatrical productions and in films. Graduates of the Casablancas acting program were given private auditions with Hoffman.

Hollidae Drall, 19, of West Bloomfield said the seminar had enabled her to meet people with a variety of acting experiences.

Drall had taken a modeling course because she was considering a career teaching fashion merchandising. She also had developed an interest in acting after spending a summer studying at Will-O-Way Apprentice Theatre, which is in Birmingham.

"I'm at a point where I have to make a decision," said Drall, a 1985 graduate of Southfield Christian High School and current student at Eastern Michigan University.

'Acting is very competitive," she said. "If I would go into that direction, I would need a lot of training."

Jennifer Vangoff, 12, of Westland, a seventh-grade student at Marshall Junior High School in Westland, said the seminar helped her to be more comfortable in front of an audience. She hopes to model clothes for department stores Marina Seeman, a word-processing operator who lives in Ann Arbor. has been acting in theater productions since high school. She has studied modeling and acting, to constantly freshen her techniques.

"My avocation is acting," said Seeman, who is in her mid-30s. "I'm trying to get into film."

SEEMAN HAS a featured role in a horror film called "The Carrier," which was filmed in Manchester in 1985. She's also working on some other film projects.

"With theater, you work every night for weeks," she said. "In film, unless you have a big part, it's done

Seeman noted that she's married, and isn't likely to seek roles that would pull her away from her family. However, she might concentrate on acting full time if her husband is relocated to, say, New York.

Nunsense' is punderful Look to Michigan

Performances of the Birmingham Theatre production of "Nunsense" continue through Sunday. Marche For ticket information, call the box office at 644-3533.

By Barbara Michaia special writer

"Nunsense" is divine fun. This musical high jinks at the Birmingham Theatre is full of spirited tunes, outrageous puns ("Nunsense Is habitforming") and exhilarating performances by its five actresses.

Only the flimsiest of plots surrounds Dan Goggin's wonderful music and lyrics. When 52 of their order succumb to botulism (from a new soup recipe by Sister Julia, Child of God), the Little Sisters of Hoboken (known as "Little Hobos" have only enough money to bury 48.

Thus they stage a talent show to "clean out the freezer" and defrost e four "blue nuns."

Peggy Cass is delightful as Sr. Mary Regina, the Mother Superior who must maintain constant vigilance over her frivolous subordinates. No shrinking violet herself, Mother Superior belts out "Turn Up the Spotlight" and "Just a Coupl'a Sisters" as well as joining in the chorus of several other rousing tunes.

As a comedienne, Cass puts her talents to optimal use when Sr. Mary Regina gets high after sniffing something found in the girls' locker room.

PERT MARCIA Lewis is glorious as Sr. Mary Hubert, trainer of novitiates. As "No. 2" she does indeed try harder - to undermine Mother Superior and nearly steal the show. With her nasal twang and twinkling eyes full of deviltry, Lewis radiates good-natured mischief. Her powerful voice adds luster to "The Biggest Ain't the Best," the duet "Just a Coupl'a Sisters," and the hand-clapfoot-stompin' "Holier Than Helen Baldassare is highly engaging as Sr. Mary Amnesia, a good-natured bubblehead who lost her memory after a crucifix fell on her. Baldassare mugs less than predecessors in this role and is therefore more credible. She leads the audience through a quiz on the history of the order, rewarding correct responses with prizes that seem to have come from a box of Catholic Cracker Jacks, if there were such things.

Sr. Mary Amnesia is also the mischief-maker behind Sr. Mari Onette, a hilariously outspoken hand puppet who tells it like it is in "So You Want to Be a Nun." In addition, Baldassare's vocal talent shines in "I Could've Gone to Nashville."

As Sr. Robert Anne, the streetwise nun, Angelina Fiordellisi has an expressive face and an effective sar- portunity, and James Lillie's well-donic delivery. Her outstanding voice belts out "Playing Second Fiddle" and "I Just Want to Be a Star" and softens for the ballad "Growing Up Catholic."

VALERIE DE PENA is pleasing as Sr. Mary Leo, the dancing novitiate. Somewhat confused between her show business and religous aspirations, she sings "Benedicite" to her teddy bear and dances a wonderfully hammed-up "Dying Nun" ballet. Though "Nunsense" was originally conceived to play in a more intimate setting, the Birmingham production adapts beautifully to the bigger stage and house. The nuns still circulate among the audience at every op-

Events, tokens, entertainments, memorabilia abound everywhere, it seems. And from every quarter we are being asked to participate in some way, to share in the events of the year.

Here's another way. Take a Michigan wine to lunch

Or have one with dinner.

When Michigan was but 140 years old, honoring such a request would have been a sacrifice. A real concession to the cause.

But no more. Michigan wines are quickly coming of age. There are today some very fine ones we can "take to lunch," feeling ourselves a virtuous part of our community as we enjoy the wine.

There is no longer any need to feel sorrow for the industry here, thanks to the efforts of at least three men (and their wives), perhaps a few more. Three at least are producing excellent wines, and doing so consistently, using Michigan-grown

TWO OF THE wineries that have brought about this growing respectability are in Leelanau County, and they are the oldest of the three. Larry Mawby (Mawby Vineyards) and Bruce Simpson (Good Harbor Vineyards) are both making sound whites and, in a couple of instances, superi-

Good Harbor, just below the vil-lage of Leland, boasts a pleasant tasting room with regular hours. Its Trillium, a proprietal name, has been a great success, both as a still and as a sparkling wine. Full of soft, off-dry flavors, it is a lovely quaff.

But it is as a producer of sevval and vignoles that Bruce truly comes into his own. The former tends toward a crisp style, the latter has greater apparent residual sugar. When the two varietals are blended as they were in 1983 to make a Michigan White (adding a bit of riesling to the batch) - the results are most pleasant as well. And do not overlook his fruit wines. Delicious!

Larry Mawby is the iconoclast of the industry. He advertises regular hours for his tasting room, but reports are that advance appointments at his Suttons Bay winery are advisable. But worthwhile. Three wines of merit head his list: his annual Turkey Red (a nouveau), his Vignoles Reserve and his Sandpiper (a blend of seyval and vignoles). All are worth exploring, even at the relatively hefty price tag on the Reserve

BOTH WINERIES are now fairly well represented in our area, and their products may be found at better wine outlets.

The third winery is the new kid in town, Chris Guest at Seven Lakes Vineyard in nearby Holly. (Yes, there is more to Holly than the Holly Hotel.) He, too, makes an elegant seyval but is less proud of it than of his other three white wines: aurore, cascade and vidal. All wines come from his property at the very top of Oakland County and are from hybid grapes.

The aurore (sometimes spelled aurora) produces an off-dry, most pleasant wine. His has enough backbone to support the natural fruit fla-

The cascade is his driest and has a crisp, clean presence that would well accompany any subtle seafood meal. It is easily the most cascade I have ever drunk. Indeed, it is the only such I have ever enjoyed.

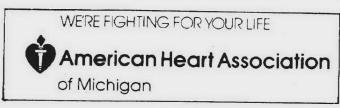

The vidal is a house specialty. The standard issue is loaded with grapey qualities and balanced with substantial acid. Also, there is a 1985 dry vidal not yet been released that is crisp and tight and would be a fine companion to an oyster meal. Or as an aperitif. This wine is now being served by some of the better restaurants in Leland County because of its quality and because none of the locals there produce a vidal.

PRODUCTION IN 1986 at Seven Lakes was down dramatically due to the September rains we had. Guest Is hopeful of getting back to the 2,000case level that he had previously, and he has modest plans for continued annual expansion. The rains, however, badly damaged his 1986 red production of de chaunac. There was only enough to make a too-small amount of his most satisfactory and popular Nouveau, now all gone except for two barrels of a deep, intense, nosey and robust red saved, put aside for future bottling. It is a fascinating wine of great promise. It will, alas, be a couple of years before it is released, such is its bra-

So, celebrate the Bicentennial. Enjoy Michigan wine. You will be surprised and pleased at the growth the industry has shown when measured by the efforts of Mawby, Simpson and Guest. Take one to lunch. Or

Ski paradise has attractions for others, too

Second of a two-part series.

Last week I introduced you to Blackcomb and Whistler mountains, which boast the highest and the second highest vertical rises of any ski mountains in North America. They are 70 miles up a scenic coastal road from Vancouver, British Columbia. on the Pacific coast of Canada, in what is popularly known as the Whistler Ski Resort area.

This week I would like to introduce you to some of the people who have been here all or most of the years since Whistler Village was built at the base of the two mountains. Ski enthusiasts have skied Whistler since the early 1960s, but Blackcomb and Whistler Village were developed only seven years ago. My diary continues:

1-of-a-kind traveler Jones contributing travel editor

FRIDAY: I knew that I would never get off the beginner's slope, so I have spent the day interviewing people who could give real skiers the information they need to travel here.

I started the day at Nasty Jack's, where I could sip hot chocolate and look out the window at the two mountains. What makes this resort so different from other ski resorts is this: you don't need to be bused from your accommodations to the ski slopes; you just walk a few hundred feet through Whistler Village to the two chair lifts that access the moun-

From my breakfast chair, I could see the little ski scamps taking lessons and the skiers boarding the Blackcomb chair, which takes you up to the 48 runs on Blackcomb, and the Village chair, which starts you up to the 85 runs on Whistler.

My breakfast companion was Kent, an instructor with Ski Esprit, an organization of professional ski instructors, all of them members of the Canadian Ski Instructors Alliance. Ski Esprit guides may be part of your ski package to the area. They will take you to the best terrain for your level of skiing and provide a lot of camaraderie to a group during a ski week. (see box).

I asked Kent to describe the Whistler area to people who are familiar with other ski areas in North Ameri-

"Whistler is the best ski area in Canada," he said. "The only comparable area is Lake Louise, which is one of the best in North America. Whistler and Blackcomb have the longest and second longest verticals on the continent, closely rivaled only by Jackson Hole, Wyo.

Skiing near the top of Blackcomb Mountain in the Whistler Ski Resort area of British Columbia.

MICKY JONES

"Blackcomb is known for its long continuous runs, Whistler for its incredible variety and excellent bowl skiing. The new peak chair allows access to steep untracked snow

"Between the two mountains there is incredible variety. Long groomed trails for cruising. Steep mogul pitches for bump fanatics. Wide open bowl skiing for powder hounds. Gentle, well groomed slopes for slower and intermediate skiers."

I didn't tell him that none of them were slow enough for me.

"The snow is not as dry as the Rockies," Kent said. "Here it can be very dry down to a certain level and quite humid at the bottom. What easterners consider good conditions, we consider icy

Because of the number of lifts, and the 133 ski runs on the two mountains, skiers are not elbowing their way through crowds to the lifts all the time. Even on a very busy day, you won't have more than 10 or 15 people in line.
"Most people ski the top half of the mountain, which is dryer and has the deepest snow. Even the top halves of the mountains have as much vertical as any other ski area."

KENT SKIED Whistler long before they built the new village, which was modeled after a Curopean village but built with an eye to western Canada architecture. When Kent took his ski group off o the snowy heights, I toured the various facilities in the Village with Liz Brown, who represents the Whiteler Resort Association.

Liz has also been here a long time She saw the first buildings go u around Village Square and the Carlton Lodge go up on Mountain Square. Blackcomb and Whistler are separately owned, and the condos at Carlton Lodge represent a joint venture between them. Carlton is where you buy your lift tickets, and it is one of the places where you can rent

During the second year of building, the Delta Mountain Inn came on line, and slowly the various hotels. restaurants and shops were added, season by season. Last year, Nancy's Greene's Olympic Lodge opened. If you are a winter sports fan, you may remember championship skier Nancy Greene, who is very wellknown in Canada. She was World Cup champion in 1968 and 1976. In 1968 she was a sensation at the winter Olympics, winning the gold medal for the giant slalom, the silver medal for the slalom and a gold medal for FIS Combined.

Nancy and her husband, Al Raine, ave been involved in Whistler for yars. Her lodge is very popular becase she skis with her guests.

ATURDAY: It is snowing. White gol, they call it here. The snow maks a white moving curtain over the siers climbing aboard the chair lifts Blackcomb and Whistler and over he skiers carrying their skis down he pedestrian-only streets of Whistle Village and the rooftops of lodges, estaurants and shops along the small complex of village streets.

The wekend ski crowd started to arrive lat night, but most of them are drivig through the snow from Vancouve to the resort today. The province t British Columbia is larger than ashington state, Oregon and Califonia combined, and it has 34 downhilliki areas, but this is certainly the most popular. Most peope come to ski, but there are other witer sports, too. You can do heliconte skiing on Powder Mountain, soth of Whistler Valley in the Spearhad Range. You can also do a four our guided snowmobile tour into th surrounding areas.

I am told tat summer is also great at Whistlr. You can ride the lifts to see themountains, hike or bike the trails, d all the usual water sports on the lales. Winter or summer you can tale the train on into the interior of theorovince.

or information on how to choose packages, etc., seebox.

Here's how to get information The Canadian Consulate General, Detroit, will host a Blackcomb Lodge and Hearthstone Lodge, as well as Canadian Travel Show from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday, March 1, at the Fairlane Manor in Dearborn. It is free and a good way to get further information about Canadian destinations like Whistler.

Stop at the Air Canada booth and pick up the Touran brochure for information about tour packages to Whistler. One week ski packages, which include air fare, transportation to Whistler, hotel accommodations and lift tickets, range from $500 to $750 in U.S. money ($700 to $1,000 Canadian) depending on the time of year and the accommodations chosen.

I toured some of the 35 properties, which range from a nice hotel room at Nancy Green's Olympic Lodge, (restaurant but no room service) and the larger rooms (with kitchens) at Delta Mountain Inn, the only real full-service hotel in the Village, to a variety of condominium and studio accommodations with kitchens.

Whistler Creek Lodge and Fitzsimmons Creek Lodge are a shuttle bus ride away from the Village. The nice condos at Tantalus are a five-minute walk from the village. The rest of the places listed, and many not listed, are in the village and therefore a few hundred yards from the lifts.

the three smaller, less expensive, hotels in the Clocktower building (Fireplace Inns, Clocktower Hotel and Whistlerview) were all built during the late 1970s and offer studio, loft, or one (sometimes two) bedroom condo-style arrangements with dining tables and kitchens. Comfortable and homey, as are Crystal Lodge and Mountainside Lodge.

The Carlton and the brand new International Lodge offer a more contemporary version of the same kind of accommodations.

Whistler Village Inn has small, older hotel-style rooms; it also owns Powder Lodge, which has large rooms, no kitchens, across the street.

Cars must be parked outside of, or under Whistler Village, so it is convenient to stay within the village streets, but you can also rent a condo or stay in a bedand-breakfast in the surrounding area. All these places are hooked into the central reservations system of Whistler Resort Assn., call (604) 932-4222.

Your best bet, however, is to ask your travel agent about a Touram or other tour, and to call the tourism office of the Canadian consulate in Detroit at 963-0144.

Canton, Salem set for title clash

staff writer

The Rocks are on a roll.

After winning eight games in a row, including last Friday's thrilling 61-59 triumph over Westland John Glenn, the Plymouth Salem cagers picked up their biggest win of the season Monday morning.

Both Glenn and Salem finished with 15-1 records in the Western Lakes Activities Association and were dead even in all other tiebreakers. The draw was broken Monday morning when Salem won a coin toss which determined the WLAA Western Division championship.

The Rocks now host Plymouth Canton, the Lakes Division champion, tonight for the undisputed WLAA crown

"It will be a tough game," said Salem coach Bob Brodie. "Anytime Salem and Canton meet it's always a tough game. You can throw out all the records and everything, this will be a heads-up ballgame.

THE TWO teams met earlier this season and Salem nipped the Chiefs 64-63 in overtime.

Canton coach Tom Niemi, whose team stands at 12-7, 11-5 in the WLAA, feels tonight's clash will take on a similar tone.

"We played them tough the first time and took them to overtime,' said Niemi. "I believe Salem is ranked No. 7 in the state, so of course we will be the underdog going into the game.

"I think that with the rivalry between the two schools it will be a good game for the fans to watch. It's a natural rivalry and there is a lot at stake This is what you work for all season, to get an opportunity like

The Chiefs, a much smaller team than Salem, will try to take advantage of their superior speed and get the Rocks into a running game. To do this they will rely heavily on 6foot junior Roger Trice and 5-foot-10 senior Tyrone Reeves. The big man on Canton's roster is 6-foot-4 junior Jeff Anuiewicz.

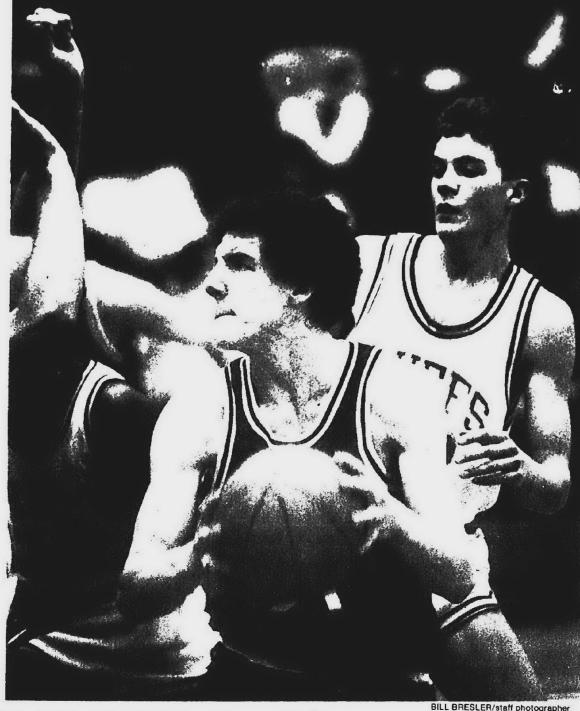

CANTON ALSO relies heavily on substitution and tries to wear its opponents down by continually bringing fresh players into the game.

We've tried to keep our players fresh all year and by doing that our bench has developed very well. They can play," said Niemi. "We are going to have to board with them and that's going to be a problem. We have to play an up-tempo game and make them play the full 94 feet of the court. With their size we can't let them play a half-court game."

Led by 6-foot-7 senior Rick Taylor and 6-foot-5 seniors Mike Hale and Jeff Justice, the Rocks will try to keep Canton outside and force them to shoot from the perimeter.

"We've got to keep them from

Engineers split a pair

It wasn't exactly "Moon over Miami," but Hennessey Engineers hockey coach A.J. Baker was satisfied with his team's performance over the weekend.

The North American Junior League team scored a 6-5 win Friday and then battled to a 4-4 draw Saturday in a two-game series against the Miami University JV squad at Oxford, Ohio.

"Both games the kids worked hard and they got something for it," said Baker, whose team is 20-14-9 overall.

The Engineers blew a 4-1 lead in the series opener, but Jay Jewett scored the game-winner with only two minutes to play, his second of the night, to give Hennessey the win.

Just coming off injuries, Bryan Krygier and Leif Gustafson each contributed a goal and two assists in the Engineers' triumph.

IN A PENALTY-FILLED game on Saturday, Hennessey rallied from a 4-1 deficit, capped by Tom Madden's goal with only five minutes remaining, to earn Hennessey returns to North American Junior Hockey League action, beginning at 8 p.m. Friday against second place Compuware at the Plymouth Cultural Center.

The Engineers, 16-12-8 in league play, then travel Saturday to Oak Park to play Compuware in a 7:15 game. On Sunday, the third place Engineers meet the first place Falcons, beginning at 2 p.m. at Fraser.

A PLYMOUTH HIGH SCHOOL FLASHBACK

During the 1st weekend in March of 1983, Plymouth Salem beat Livonia Stevenson 67-70 to capture the Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA) title at Salem. The triumph made the Rocks the first-ever WLAA basketball champions. Both Stevenson and Salem came into the contest with 17-2 overall records and 14-1 league marks. The only WLAA losses on their records came in games against each other. "What it came down to was our eight against their five," said Rock coach Fred Thomann. It seems everyone we went to on the bench contributed." John Cohen scored 16 points, all in the last two quarters, Dave Houle had 15, Marven Zurek scored 11, and Glenn Medalle and Matt Broderick

Spartans rule WLAA volleyball tourney

Carrie Pyhtila slams one for Canton. The Chiefs found little success at the WLAA volleyball tournament, winning just one of seven games.

By Chris McCosky staff writer

The Livonia Stevenson volleyball team is about as popular in Walled Lake as a migraine headache.

In fact, a headache is exactly what the Spartans gave both Walled Lake teams (to say nothing of the rest of the 12-team field) Saturday at the Western Lakes Activities Association Volleyball Tournament at Walled Lake Central.

Stevenson, after outlasting a feisty Walled Lake Central team in the semifinals (8-15, 15-4, 15-12), dusted Walled Lake Western in the championship match 15-7, 10-15, 15-6.

LET'S CONSIDER what these nasty Spartans have done to the Walled Lakers this season.

Central, after Saturday, has a 29-7 record. Five of the losses were administered by Stevenson. The Vikings have competed in three tournaments this season and the Spartans have eliminated them from each.

"It has really hurt our state recognition," Central coach Mike Lindstrom said. "We can't get ranked with seven losses. I tell them that five of the losses were to the No. 4 team in the state, but .

Western, after Saturday, has an impressive 31-4 record. Stevenson (38-4) has beaten the Warriors twice.

"I did not want to play Walled Lake Western," said Stevenson coach Lee Cagle, whose Spartans have won eight league titles in his nine-year coaching reign. Western, ironically, took the title away from Stevenson last year.

"They really scare me," he added. "They hit well, and they dig better spike gives blockers fits.

than anybody. You cannot afford to take a breather against them."

SATURDAY'S CHAMPIONSHIP match afforded few breathers for ei-

Stevenson, behind the power of senior Kristine Bailey, rolled convincingly past Western in game one. Bailey scored seven of the 15 points with spikes and well-placed offspeed hits.

Western used its premier attacker to get even in game two. Senior Dawn Andrews accounted for the team's last seven points at the net.

Bailey and Andrews will be teammates next year at Michigan State University.

Western jumped ahead 4-1 in the decisive third game. But, with Bailey serving seven straight points, Stevenson ran off 12 unanswered points and eventually buried the Warriors.

"The same things have haunted us all year, bad passing and service reception," said Western coach Fritz Tallion. "We won game two because we passed the ball well, and we were able to get the ball to our big hitter. But you can't take anything away from Stevenson. They play great defensively and Bailey is just outstanding. We wanted to get her in the back row, but when she got there she killed us with her serve.'

BAILEY'S BRILLIANCE is the most visible characteristic of the Spartans. But she would be the first to point out the undeniable value of the five other Stevenson players.

Rocky Cibor, a first-year setter, spread the ball around nicely. Then, whenever the opposition dozed off, she'd tap one over the net for a point. She scored two big points on dink shots against Western.

Both Lindstrom and Tallion spoke of Stevenson's uncanny ability to dig up spikes and get quickly into its offensive attack. The reason is the hustle of back row standouts Amy Anderson, Laura Brown and Jenny Sladewski. Brown also played well in the front row, particularly against Western. "We have two very dominant players in Bailey and Zatorski. They put an awful lot of pressure on a team," Cagle said. "And we have a lot of kids with exceptional athletic ability. And, for the most part, there's no resentment among the players. They play as a team."

TWO OTHER teams made nice, runs in the tournament. Livonia Churchill went 8-0 in pool play before losing to Western in the semis.

"We played about as well as we, could play," said Churchill coach Mike Hughes. "We have some goodkids who play very hard. But we don't have the kind of athletes that, Walled Lake Western has. They certainly deserved to win. They were the better team."

Westland John Glenn missed getting to the semifinals by one game; The Rockets had the misfortune of having to play both Walled Lake teams in pool play.

The two Walled Lake teams, by the way, happily noted that they would not be meeting Stevenson in the state district tournament. But they could meet again in the region-

Deciding sports destinies without any competition

GUY WHO SHOULD know better told me something Tuesday, saying it as if he were surprised but not really shocked. "You know, before I always thought sports were decided on the field of play," he said.

The speaker was Richard Thompson, Wayne State's sports information director. What he said might have been true in the earliest days of athletic competition.

Not now. These days, athletic destinies are determined by officials without the benefit of competition. Developments of the past week prove it.

EXAMPLE NO. 1: Plymouth Salem vs. Westland John Glenn, two excellent basketball teams whose fates were determined by the flip of a coin.

The scenario: Salem lost to John Glenn in the team's first meeting at Salem. Friday, the two teams — by far the best in the Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA) — met again. This time Salem won on a buzzer shot by Jeff Justice.

It was the Rockets' first loss this season (Salem has two), and it tied them with Salem for first in the WLAA's Lakes Division. The tie-breaker formula consisted of WLAA wins, division wins and head-to-head competition. Since neither had an advantage, the only thing left to do was toss a coin.

At stake was a berth in the WLAA championship game against Western Division-winner Plymouth Canton.

Salem won the toss. So 17-1 Glenn must settle for second place. Hardly seems fair, does it? In previous years the league decided its champion by playing a three-previous years the league decided its champion by playing a three-game tournament, which seems fairer than the present method. WLAA officials agree, and they will return to a tournament format next year.

Of course, that doesn't help John Glenn much, does it?

EXAMPLE NO. 2: Oakland University vs. Wayne State. These two basketball teams have been battling, together with Ferris State, for berths in the NCAA Division II tournament and the Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (GLIAC) title.

Ferris is in the driver's seat for both. The Bulldogs are first in the GLIAC, a game ahead of WSU. The Pioneers are third at 9-5. But there are 32 spots in the NCAA II tourney, enough for all three. Or so officials from WSU and OU believe.

Now, it's possible just Ferris will be chosen. If one other team is picked, who will it be, the Tartars or OU? They have the same overall record (18-8) and have split in head-to-head competition.

So it comes down to another undetermined tiebreaker. WSU has the better GLIAC record, but as OU coach Greg Kampe noted, "The NCAA (selection committee) doesn't give a hoot about our league."

Of more concern to Kampe is WSU's tradition. The Tartars were in the tournament last year; their reputation is better than OU's, which has never enjoyed such success

BUT KAMPE is confident that, if his team wins its final two games, they will get a berth — if not in their North Central Region, then somewhere else.

"We've got to win our last two games first before we start worrying about the politics of it," said Kampe. "But 20 wins usually assures it."

OU needs to beat Michigan Tech tonight and Lake Superior State Saturday to reach that magic number. Still, one never knows what enters into such decisions. For instance, there's the star factor. OU's second-leading scorer, Johnny Johnson, quit the team two weeks ago. That may affect the selection committee's decision, if they think OU isn't up to par.

Something else may cloud the picture further. WSU has asked the league to make a ruling that may change the outcome of Saturday's OU-WSU game, which OU won 61-60. The protest involves what WSU officials term an incorrect rules application on John Henderson' game-winning shot.

WSU's Maurice Macon blocked the shot, but an official ruled Macon slapped the backboard, a violation that earns a technical foul. The rule states the Pioneers should have had a free throw and the ball out of bounds with four seconds left. Instead, the official treated it like goaltending.

If GLIAC officials rule in favor of WSU, the final four seconds might be replayed. The league's decision is bound to have an impact on the NCAA II tournament committee's selection. If the league is slow making its ruling, the committee may decide to eliminate both from consideration.

Who can tell what will happen? But it seems certain a decision will go beyond the black-and-white facts that usually govern such matters.

EXAMPLE NO. 3: St. Mary's College and the NAIA District 23 tournament. The Eagles are out; they will not qualify. And the way they are playing currently, that's a shame.

There's some pre-season politicking that may have cost St. Mary's a berth. The Eagles are hot, with four wins in their last five games — all against district opponents. With two district games remaining — one at home against Saginaw Valley State, which is ahead of the Eagles in the NAIA power ratings — it seemed St. Mary's might still have a shot at the playoffs.

Problem is, the verdict was in before all the evidence was presented. Cutoff date for tournament consideration was last Sunday — before the Eagles finished their schedule. Whatever St. Mary's does in its last two games won't matter.

Despite the off-court shenanigans, the Eagles can blame no one but themselves for their miseries. They lost 12 of 14 games in one stretch, including seven in a row.

The same can't be said for John Glenn, which won't get the chance to defend its WLAA title because it lost the flip of a coin. Or for OU, in the midst of its finest season ever.

The point is, it's painful to lose games on buzzer shots. But to lose after the buzzer sounds hurts even

2d-half run lifts OCC past Delta

Coaches always carry on about how they hate playing a team a third time. Lynn Reed, though, turned that dislike to Oakland Community College's advantage.

lege's advantage.

The Raiders blitzed Delta CC with a 22-5 run over an eight-minute second-half stretch to roll to a 100-86 victory in a Michigan Community College Athletic Association second-round men's basketball playoff Wednesday at OCC.

With the win, the Raiders (22-7) advance to the MCCAA Eastern Conference final (8 p.m. Friday at Schoolcraft College) against the Highland Park-Alpena victor. Friday's winner will play the Western Conference champ for the state title at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at SC.

As usual, the scoring Wednesday was high but it was the Raider defense that dictated the tempo. Delta's inside tandem of Lloyd Sergent and Dan McLellan combined for 33 points in the Pioneers' thrashing of Schoolcraft Monday. Against OCC, they managed eight.

"We played them twice, and both times we went man-to-man and had to do some scrambling," said Reed. "This time we went to a match-up zone. It's the first time we've used it all year."

It worked. The Pioneers had to go outside, and for a while did so successfully. Steve Bard scored 17 first-half points (he finished with 28), and his running mate at guard, Mike Ody, added nine. Their shooting helped Delta rally from nine points down to tie it, 42-42, at the half.

But that kind of shooting couldn't last. The game remained tight until OCC started its streak with 13:45 left on a Sam Smith basket that gave the Raiders a 60-59 lead. Eight minutes and nine Smith points later, OCC was securely in front, 82-64.

Derrick Williams paced OCC with 26 points. Smith had 22, Gary Holt scored 20, Jimmy Sherrell got 15 and Reggie Anderson totaled 10.

Eagles soar

The surge has come too late for St. Mary's College's basketball team.

The Eagles defeated Aquinas College 99-82 Saturday at St. Mary's behind Jon Bow's 29 points. It was their third-straight win and fourth in five games, all against NAIA District 23 opponents.

Such a streak might have made a difference, had it come earlier in the season. But the four qualifiers for the district tournament have already been decided, and Aquinas, which beat St. Mary's earlier, is one of them. The others are Siena Heights, Northwood Institute and Grand Rapids Baptist.

The Eagles, who improved their record to 15-17, led 51-46 at the half. Aquinas (14-16) rallied to tie it early in the second half, but St. Mary's scored 13 straight points to ice the

The Eagle lead reached 29 points (93-64) late in the game. Joining Bow in double figures in scoring were Bradley Turner (15 points), Safaa Qasawa (12) and Mo Steward (10). Bow also had nine rebounds, and point guard Lance Davis collected 11 assists and five steals.

Aquinas got 25 points and 14 rebounds from Cory Branch. Darryl Martin had 23 points, all in the first half coach John Cunningham summed up Plymouth Canton's gymnastic performance Saturday at the 19-team Freeland Invitational.

St. Mary's closes its season at Spring Arbor (7:30 p.m. tonight) and at home against Saginaw Valley State (2 p.m. Saturday).

"Anytime you score over 32 you're doing pretty well," Cunningham added, referring to Brenda Perry's allaround mark of 32.25. "And the (judges") scoring was low."

So Canton, Cunningham felt, did well to get 126.7 points. But that total wasn't enough in competition like this. The Chiefs finished seventh, with host-team Freeland, the state's top-ranked team, scoring 138.45 to take the title.

Traverse City finished second with 131.5 points, followed by Jackson County Western (130.1) and Dearborn (129.4).

Perry was Canton's best overall performer; her 32.25 all-around score was good for 16th overall. Maureen McLean finished 18th with a 31.80 total.

Top finishers for the Chiefs were Perry, 10th in the floor exercise (8.65); Mary Jo Charron, 12th in the balance beam (8.15); McLean, 15th in the beam (8.0); and Apryl Mosakowski, 16th in the floor exercise

Canton is now idle until the league meet March 5 at North Farmington. PLYMOUTH SALEM'S Jackie Huff set a school record with a 9.0 in the uneven parallel bars, one of her three firsts in a 132.8-77.5 thrashing of Walled Lake Western Monday at Salem. The win boosted the Rocks to Huff's other wins came in the vault (8.8) and floor exercise (9.0). She was also third in the beam (8.1).

Becky Talbot had a first and three seconds for the Rocks. She was first in the beam (8.5) and second in the vault (8.5), bars (8.6) and floor (8.8). Amy Pastori placed second in the beam (8.2) and was third on the bars. (7.9) and floor (8.2). Pasteri and teammate Debbie Popp tied for third in the vault (7.9).

Livonia middleweight Steve Darnell will face his stiffest test of his young professional boxing career Feb. 26 when he takes on the formi-dale Kevin "Killer" Watts in a 10round main event at the Trump Plaza in Atlantic City, N.J.

Darnell, 22-0-1, risks his unbeaten record against a hometown fighter who recently lost a close split decision to former Olympic gold medalist Frank Tate.

"I'm fighting him in his hometown so I'm going to have to beat him decisively," said Darnell. "But a win should put me on the map."

And of all places to show up - in the Michigan Community College Athletic Association basketball playoffs. Wetzel took his Schoolcraft College team to Delta CC to play a first-round game Monday, and the result was as ugly as Jekyll's alterego: a 98-73 rout favoring Delta that was every bit as one-sided as the fi-

SC led once, 5-4 with 17:41 to play after a Pat Wagner three-pointer. The Ocelot lead lasted 13 seconds. That's when Delta's Mike Ody hit a pair of free throws to start the Pioneers on a 17-0 run.

That settled it. SC went nearly 51/2 minutes without scoring. The Ocelots did make a game of it later in the first half - briefly. A Derrick Kearney basket trimmed Delta's lead to 26-17 with 8:49 to go. SC was still within 10 (36-26) with 3:47 left after a Desmond Steele free throw, but

THE PIONEERS reloaded and finished the half the way they started it, scoring the final 10 points to build a 46-26 halftime bulge. Delta outscored SC 11-3 in the first three minutes of the second half to take a 57-29 lead, and the Ocelots never got within 20 after that.

"I really don't understand it," said Wetzel, whose team had a different look in back-to-back wins last week. "We needed good performances from four or five guys to win this game, and I can't say anyone played well for us.

"I'm disappointed with our effort

and our performance."

Wetzel's starting lineup had a different look. Kearney, Zollie Stevens and Steele began the game on the bench - Kearney because he was late for Sunday's practice. Wetzel went with Wagner, Les English, Jeff Vakratsis, Mike Sullivan and Matt Burdiss.

That didn't help the Ocelots. As Wetzel noted, "This is the lineup we used in the last two games, and we won both. We wanted to get off to a good start tonight, and we didn't."

But that wasn't the reason for the loss. The undersized Ocelots have had problems rebounding all season, and against Delta it showed. They got few second chances on offense, and they gave up a lot. The Pioneers inside gaine dominated, both offensively and defensively.

SC MADE its first-half run by converting in transition. When forced into a half-court game, the Ocelots were totally ineffective against Delta's zone. Turnovers hurt, too - nine in the game's first six minutes and 17 in the first half.

'We've been running our halfcourt offense well, too," said Wetzel. 'I don't understand it. And in our last game against Delta, we had no problem with their press. Tonight, we made a lot of unforced errors.

"In a state tournament game, I don't know how you can come out and play so unenthusiastically."

Stevens finished with 22 points to pace SC (11-17 overall). Kearney added 11 and Steele had eight. Lloyd Sergent's 22 points was best for Delta, with Steve Bard and Ody getting 16 apiece and Dan McLellan scoring

SC is now idle until the NJCAA Region 12 tournament at Vincennes (Ind.) CC March 3-5.

Wildlife funds make life easy for everyone

COULD see the unrest on his face as I approached his lit-tle stand. He had that look of desperation. His eyebrows were raised high on his forehead and his cheeks and nose were parched from the afternoon sun. He even drooled a bit as he spoke to the people passing him on the street corner.

"Donations accepted here. Nothing turned down. Give to the Wilbur G. Friggens fund and help a middle-class American reach the upper middle class. Donations accepted here."

Middle-class American reach the upper middle class? This joker had to be kidding, I thought.

"Hey . . . er . . . a . . . Wilbur. What's this all about," I asked.

"It's about the Wilbur G. Friggens fund," he barked. "I'm sick and tired of everyone trying to take my money. Contribute to this. Donate to that. They're trying to break me. They want all my money. I'm sick of it all so I started my own fund and accept donations to benefit myşelf before I go broke."

"Come on now, Wilbur. No one is trying to take all your money, OK. Just relax for a minute," I said, trying to calm this paranoid fanatic. "Funds are set up for good reasons. They're not trying to swindle you out of your money. Funds are set up to support specific causes which otherwise would have little or no financial support."

"BUT WHY ME," he snivelled. "Why do they always want money from me? My 1986 Michigan income tax return even asked for a couple donations from me. Why me?" he asked, as he bagan pounding his head into the brick building beside him.

"Now settle down," I said. "No one is trying to single you out, Wilbur. Here, wipe your eyes and calm

"Money donated to the two funds on line 32 of your individual income tax return is put to excellent use," I explained. "The CTF, or Children's Trust Fund uses its donations to help prevent child abuse, and that's a very good cause. Don't you agree?"

"Yeah . . . sniff . . . sniff . . . I what about that other one. That . . sniff . . . non-game wildlife fund. Why should I contribute to that when I don't even hunt or

"That's exactly why you should," I said. "You see game animals, those which are hunted, are benefitted by many projects which are funded by hunting license fees. The non-game wildlife fund supports all projects beneficial to the non-game animals, animals which are not hunted, and also many species of

"BUT WHAT exactly do they do with the money" asked Wilbur, as his eyes began to dry. "And a dollar here or five dollars there really can't help that much. Can it?'

"It sure can," I reassured him. "In 1985 the fund financed nearly 40 projects throughout the state. The three-year revenue from the fund is nearly $1.3 million. Last year alone individual donations from Wayne County totaled $84,000 while Oakland County's totaled $74,000. (The puzzling fact is that people in Oakland County, one of the richest counties in the nation, donated less than those in Wayne County. I can't explain why, but that's the way it is.)

"Anyway, the main goals of the non-game wildlife program are aimed at preserving the populations of desirable non-game wildlife species and their habitat, and at increasing people's enjoyment, understanding and appreciation of wildlife and plant resources. Two of the biggest projects supported by the fund are the development of the Breeding Bird Atlas and the Natural Features Inventory. By pinpointing species and natural features most critically in need of protection and management these two projects should help shape nongame wildlife work for years to "THE FUND also supports projects which attempt to restore species that were once native to Michigan. Some of the species the Department of Natural Resources is attempting to bring back through financial support of the non-game con, the trumpeter swan, the pine marten, the greater prarie chicken, the wolverine and the whooping crane. They also have projects aimed at improving the numbers of existing species such as the bald eagle, the osprey, the common loon and the piping plover."

"Whoa. I never thought donations would be used for things like that," said Wilbur. "I always thought they just used that money to give someone a raise or to buy more of those funky green conservation uniforms."

"That's not all," I continued. "In addition to these projects the nongame wildlife program is presently hosting a series of workshops, which are free to the public, on the construction and placement of bluebird nest boxes. There has been a 90 percent decline in the number of bluebirds in Michigan over the past 50 years, due mostly to the loss of natural nesting sites such as the cavities of old trees and wooden fence posts. The DNR hopes to educate people on how to help increase the bluebird population. One of those workshops will be held at the Rochester Hills Public Library, 210 W. University Drive, 2 p.m. Sunday, March 15.

"Well it sounds like they are using the money for a good cause," mumbled Wilbur. "But I've already sent in my tax form so how can I donate to the fund now. I've raised $16.32 today and I might as well donate it to the non-game wildlife fund and try to boost Oakland County's total in 1987. We really do look bad compared to Wayne County, ya know.'

'It's easy," I said. "Mail your donation to the Non-game Wildlife Fund, P.O. Box 30180, Lansing, Mi.

Dance — a way of life

By Corinne Abatt staff writer

Harriet Berg's enduring, energetic, enlightened Festval Dancers will present "Dance & Song 60 Terrific Years" at the Jewish Community Center at 2 p.m. Sunday, March 8. The program is part of the monthlong celebration of the arts at the Jewish Community Center of West

Berg started the dance group in the late '60s at the Jewish Community Center of Oak Park and through its almost two decades of existence, it has attracted women in the 20-40 age bracket, wives and mothers with a dance background who want to keep in touch with an art they love.

While size has varied from 6 to 12, the consistency has been in the challenges and skill level, polished and maintained through the weekly Thursday classes, a busy schedule of performances (they have more than four in March) and, for most, additional, private study.

For many years Margo Cohen and her sister, Bunny Nickamin shared their love of dance through Berg and the Festival Dancers. Nickamin moved to Colorado and joined a university dance group there, but Cohen continues in the company because dance is as much a part of her life as eating and sleeping.

"I started when I was five. My parents were in dance and music." Her father, Sammy Woolf, well-known metropolitan area orchestra leader, started her performing when she was a young-

"When he went to entertain at the Jewish Home for the Aged, I would go with him and I usually ended up singing or dancing when I was 8-10 years old.

WHEN SHE went back with the Festival Dancers to perform at the Jewish Home for the Aged, her parents were in the audience and she said it was as if the circle had been completed.

Berg, whose approach to dance is influenced by Martha Graham (as are practically all modern dance companies) said, "Margo is usually ahead of her time in her ability to open up to new ideas. You have to be able to accept the eclectic aspect of dance. Margo wasn't the norm, she wasn't the usual, the general. Young dancers today realize they have to know all kinds of dance, but that wasn't always true.

What intrigues these two teacher/student friends is that the very elements which make dance exciting carry over into other art disci-

About 10 years ago Cohen and her husband, Maurice, began to collect 20th century art and Berg said, "She has this intellectual curiosity and courage in dance which shows up in her art collection. She was absolutely able to carry over what she did here into her art collection.

Cohen said, "I dragged him (her husband) to all the dance concerts and he began to learn and to this day, he loves it. I used to say my mother was my biggest fan, now Maurie says he's my biggest Berg's smile was broad and warm when Cohen described the enormous influence dance has had on her life.

As she returned to talking about the Festival Dancers, Berg said, "We are still mothers with young children. Right now one of our members is pregnant with her first child, one has three children and one is a grandmother. We still appeal to young married women. . . . I think the reason we're successful is because we choose dances to show off our skills. . . . We have had a variety of good teachers over the years. Cathy Stern Lichtman, our teacher now, choreographed a special piece for company for the (March 8) show, "Remember" by Irving Berlin.

She mentioned some of the other guest teachers the Festival Dancers have had - Denise Szykula, Becky Malm, Jennifer Noyer and Barbara Rinaldo, "We had all of these wonderful people come to work for us . . . we've just been very lucky.

Also on the March 8 program will be a group of improvisational dancers from the Paradigm Dance Theater, the Tuesday Troopers from the Jewish Community Center of Oak Park and a group of 5- and 6-year-olds who will be doing the Jewish Wedding Dance. For information on this or other programs, call 661-1000, Ext. 342. The Jewish Community Center is at 6600 West Maple, West Bloomfield

Local sculptor achieves success in New York

JERRY ZOLYNSKY, staff photographer

Margo Cohen has carried both the disciplines and the joys of dance and the performing arts over into her approach to collecting the visual arts.

Editor's note: This is part of a series of interviews which Manon Meilgaard did when she visited former metropolitan Detroit area artists who are now living and working in New York City.

By Manon Meilgaard special writer

While it would be an exaggeration to say that Tom Bills' rise to fame has been meteoric, his is certainly a success story.

The modest, softly-spoken sculptor who moved to New York from Detroit in 1975, has appeared in major exhibitions. is the recipient of several important awards and has steadily been acquiring a wide reputation.

His ground floor work-place/studio and upstairs living quarters is a former potato-chip factory located in Brooklyn. No cozily-wombed studio this. Like that of other sculptors who work with heavy metals, blowtorches and machines, his working area is more like a welding shop than a studio, heated by a wood-stove in

The sculptures, which weigh just under a ton, are knee-high rather than gargantuan, and indoor rather than outdoor works, (although one could well envision them in a small garden setting).

Basically, Bills joins thick steel plates together, each cut with an identical incision, giving the appearance of a single plate with one cut-out section. Molten lead is then poured into the incisions, which not only seals the plates together but makes a pattern resembling a vase or a necklace. Alternatively, the block can be composed of concrete, bonded and patterned with steel.

'The most important thing," said Bills, "is that each structure consists of two materials which rely upon each other. One cannot exist without the other.

Bills' sculptures have often been said to resemble tombstones, reliquary boxes or tablets, but there is something about them that reminds one of masonry found in Celtic or Viking excavations.

In materials alone, each one costs about $1,000 to make said Bills, who, incidentally abhors the label of minimalist. Some of my work might stem from minimalism, but the connection is a false Vietnam as a scout, and following this harrowing period of his life entered Oakland University as an English major.

After taking some art courses, he found that this area was where his interests lay. He subsequently became a student assistant to the curator of the Meadow Brook Art Gallery, Kuchi Usui

"Despite the simple structure and toughness of cement or steel his work always conveys a lyrical and classical quality," said Usin

After receiving a BA from Oakland, Bills worked on a Whitney Museum Independent Study Program in New York and was awarded an MFA from Yale University. He made 'ends meet" by working as a carpenter in New York, and made models for Richard Serra with whom he exhibited at a major exhibition "Sculpture, the Tradition in Steel" through the Nassau County Museum of Modern Art, together with other sculptors such as, Louise Nevelson, Michael Hall, David Smith, Donald Judd and Joel Shapiro.

Bills does not contemplate returning to Detroit on a permanent basis

"Widebody," 1985, by Tom Bills is lead and steel. It is 81/4 by 161/2 by 7 inches.

Is a bookstore still a bookstore when fully half of it is an office supply store?

Wilma Kosal thinks it is and she should know - it's her store. It's the Paper Tiger, in the K mart Center at Seven Mile and Farmington in Livonia. Kosal says she added office supplies because it seemed the only way she could maintain her true love, the book store.

"I love books and book people," Kosal said, "but it's difficult to keep a small independent bookstore going. I debated for a long time and finally decided that office supplies could be compatible with books.

Some of her customers grumbled at first, she said, "but I don't think I lost any of them."

So many of them self-publish or publish through small presses and I honestly don't know where to look."

Pianist Kargul is a true artist

Among gifted people in our area, Laura Kargul should be listed among the more prominent. She recently gave a recital at the Metropolitan Methodist Church of Detroit.

The only previous occasion on which I heard Kargul perform was at the Detroit Institute of Arts a couple of months ago. While there are many in our area who play the piano fairly well, Kargul is one of the few who offer more than an impressive facility with the instrument. She can be considered a true artist.

Having studied at the University of Michigan under prestigious teachers, Kargul has performed in many places, including some of the famous concert halls in Europe. Her plans to participate in the Tchaikowsky competition in Moscow were cancelled following the nuclear reactor incident in Chernobyl.

On this latest program, Kargul performed works by Chopin, Beethoven, Liszt, Rachmaninoff and Ravel. In all of these diverse works, she demonstrated an impressive level of stylistic perception and artisic integrity. The opening Chopin Polonaise in F Sharp Minor tended to be somewhat too earth bound in my opinion. But the music started soaring with Scherzo in E major and gained in stature as the program progressed.

BEETHOVEN'S "WALDSTEIN" SONATA is one of his more popular ones, attempted by many but performed well by few. Kargul conquered the fast runs and the complicated internal trills in the last movement convincingly. But even in the most challenging technical passages, the overall perspective of the phrase was never lost. In the few spots that were relatively weak, for example, in the first movement's devolpment, the striving for artistic goal and correct form was never compromised.

achieved in Ravel's "La Valse," the concluding item on the program. This work is best known in its orchestral form. Ravel also wrote a two-piano version and sketched a single piano version.

Kargul formed that sketch into a complete arrangement and had performed this version at her previous recital at the DIA. I found this latest performance more encompassing and compelling. The intricate structure, fit for an entire orchestra, sounded fully represented here, and for the most part, one was hardly aware of the lack of orchestral resources. In fact, I found certain aspects of this performance more acoustically encompassing than some of the lesser orchestral performances I heard.

dimension that would be hard to explain as simply as 10 human fingers hitting a single keyboard.

Kargul performed on a Bechstein instrument that was recently acquired through contributions from the congregation. This relatively new instrument needs to be played more until it settles. Its tone quality is potentially superb, but occasionally it is not ideally focused.

Such deficiencies, however, were seldom noticed in Kargul's perform-THE ARTISTIC CONVICTION ance. The art of Laura Kargul is of seemed to have produced an extra the kind that deserves high attention.

Components of the program include: performance-demonstrations presented by a select Michigan dance company; eight full days residency of a professional Michigan dance artist who will conduct classes for students in creative dance: a disshop; a special event for the general community.

Tax experts discuss impact of new law

'Basically, individuals are much better off than under the old law. They will pay $100 billion less in individual income taxes and that much more will be paid in corporate taxes.'

> - James Wheeler. UM professor of accounting

'Different classes of persons will have different benefits and detriment under the new law' but middle income individuals will bear the brunt of the changes.'

> - Mark Solomon Walsh College professor and tax attorney

By Carolyn Carman

HE TAX REFORM Act of 1986 will bring about changes for almost everyone who files a tax return. Tax rates, person exemptions, IRAs and deductibility of consumer interest have all been affected by the act.

The new law offers borth advantages and disadvantages for various taxpayers and several area tax experts offered their opinions about them along with some advice for maximizing your tax situation

"It's hard to say who will benefit and who will lose," said Robert Kleiman, Oakland University professor of finance. "You have to look at each individual case."

Kleiman says a major benefit is there will be only two tax brackets, but almost all deductions will be limited. Under the new law, the top rate will be 28 percent while the old rates

"Individuals will be able to keep more of their income," he said. "They have taken away investment incentives, but on earnings from primary income, the tax rate is lower

PERSONAL EXEMPTIONS and standard deductions have also been increased, added Kleiman.

Personal exemptions will increase from $1.080 each in 1986 to $1.900 each in 1987, $1,950 each for 1988 and $2,000 each for 1989. The $2,000 personal exemption will be adjusted for inflation beginning 1990.

James Wheeler, University of Michigan professor of accounting, says filing tax reform for the average wage earner will be less complex, but for those individuals with complex financial situations, filing will become more compli-

"Basically, individuals are much better off than under the old law," said Wheeler. "They will pay $100 billion less in individual income taxes and that much more will be paid in corporate taxes.'

Mark Solomon, professor and chairman of the tax department at Walsh College and a practicing tax attorney, said, "Different classes of persons will have different benefits and detriments under the new law '

Solomon says the middle income individual will bear the brunt of the changes in the tax law and there has been a shift in the economic burden of

"THE MIDDLE-INCOME group - especially singles and young couples - has lost its IRA deductions for the most part," Solomon said. "A few can still do it, but most can't. They are also losing the sales tax deductions and interest deductions on consumer credit other than home mortgages."

Kleiman agrees the loss of the IRA an odd dilemma, one produced by good fortune. Their good fortune is the fall in rates on home mortgages.

Their dilemma is whether to hold on to even lower variable rate mortgages in the hope the rates might fall even lower - or to act now, nail down a fixed-rate mortgage and thus secure the future against any upturn in rates.

Homeowners are not unique in having a dilemma. Stockholders, for instance, have a problem of their own in deciding whether to take their profits now, or take the chance they can ride the rampaging bull without getting dumped

BUT STOCK MARKET people are investors, or even speculators or traders, while homebuyers generally are not. They are common folks with the primary goal of keeping a roof over their heads and only secondarily of making a bundle.

Making the dilemma especially painful are factors such as these:

 Mortgage rates, having dropped to their lowest levels since 1978, could fall some more. Many housing people think they will, but not by very much, and probably not beyond this spring.

• There is a big difference in OMEOWNERS ARE facing monthly payment costs between fixedrate mortgages at about 9 percent and variable rate loans, which might be a full point lower. To transfer would mean immediately higher monthly payments.

> • To transfer from a variable to a fixed-rate loan also would mean onetime, up-front processing charges and points. Two points on a $50,000 mortgage costs $1,000, although it often can be included in the total amount

> THE OUESTION TO be answered by many families distills to this: Is it better to accept a relatively small amount of financial pain now in order to be safe from the possibility of a great deal of financial pain in years to

> Those "years to come" put a dimension on the dilemma that many people find difficult to deal with. A difference of just $100 a month can mean $24,000 over the life of a 20-year loan. That is almost a year's pay for the typical

> But the difference can be much greater if the loan is larger than $50,000 or the spread expands between future variable rates and existing fixed deduction is detriment to singles and young couples.

"The current bill eliminated deductions for contributions to IRAs for insgles with an adjusted gross income (AGI) of more than $35,000 and couples with an AGI of more than $50,000," Kleiman said. "The IRA has been a tax shelter for the masses and the bill effectively phases out IRA deductions for upper-middle and high-in-come brackets."

Employer-sponsored 401(k) plans are also subject to new limitations beginning in 1987. Under the new rules. the maximum amount of salary a taxpayer can defer is $7,000 a year opposed to $30,000 a year under the old

"The combination of limits on IRAs and 401 (k) plans in some cases makes it difficult to save for retirement,"

Wheeler and Solomon add that to the extent individuals are still eligible, they should contribute to IRAs.

Solomon advises singles, young couples and growing families to take advantage of the interest deduction by buying a house or condominium rather than renting.

"They will get the deduction and also the appreciation in value on the residence," Solomon said. "Buying a house is still a good deal."

Interest on home equity loans will also continue to be deductible provided the outstanding principal balance on such a loan does not exceed the cost of the home plus the cost of any improvements made to the home.

SOLOMON SAYS EMPLOYEE business expenses and miscellaneous deductions have also been reduced. In 1987 taxpayers will be able to deduct those expenses above 2 percent of AGI for expenses such as tax preparation, financial planning and employe business expenses.

Solomon says another disadvantage for the middle-income taxpayer is the discontinuance of the two-earner deduction for married couples along with the discontinuance of income averag-

As to the very wealthy, Solomon says those with an income in excess of about $200,000 will benefit by the effective top tax rate being lowered from 50 percent in 1986 to 38.5 percent in 1987 and 28 percent in 1988, even though there may be a 5 percent surtax on some of their high-bracket in-

"But for some of those people, there is significant loss in the fact that the capital gains deductions has been repealed," Solomon said. "They will also suffer heavily because most tax shelters have been tightened to the point of non-existence.

KLEIMAN SAYS UNDER the new law, capital gains will be taxed at the same rate as ordinary income. Wheeler says he feels it is beneficial that the new law treats capital gains the same as it treats wages and salaries.

"Anytime a tax law treats all forms of income the same, it removes tax-induced decisions and that's beneficial.' Wheeler said.

The dividend exclusion is also repealed under the new law, explained Kleiman.

"In the past, individuals were able to deduct the first $100 and couples the first $200 of dividend income, but under the new law, the exclusion is repealed and that is a detriment."

Wheeler says the law removes virtually all incentives for entering tax shelters and now people will enter investments based on real economic considerations as opposed to related tax consequences (write-offs).

For the lower income bracket, Solomon says many will not have to file tax returns because under the new tax rate structure, they are not liable for

"THE CHANGE IN the personal exemptions structure and standard deductions will take many of these people off the tax rolls," he said. "In addition, many people who have low incomes because they have been laid off will suffer under the new because unemployment compensation has been made fully taxable starting in 1987."

One critical factor should be remembered - it never will be forgotten by some folks - and it is that variable rates can vary upward. While most have caps, they can rise by several points in a few years.

So, is it wiser to pay $1,000 or more in one-time charges, plus $100 a month extra, to nail down a rate you know you can afford? Or is it better to take the chance that rates will fall, or not rise very much, over months to come?

Some factors that might influence your decision:

- Are you now close to the limit of your ability to pay?
- Do you have a cash reserve?
- Is your job secure? Remember,

 Do you intend to sell your house in the next few years, or keep it for the rest of your life?

While questions pertaining to a person's own future are difficult to answer, they are tame when matched against the big economic one: Are interest rates likely to rise, remain close to where they are, or fall some more?

Credit cards — endangered species?

HE CREDIT cards you carry could well become a heavier financial burden over the next few years.

That prospect arises because the 1986 tax bill has decreed an end to deductions for consumer interest payments. Traditionally, people who have relied on credit cards as a means of borrowing could take a measure of consolation as they grappled with their monthly statements. All the interest they had to pay was de-

But they will be able to write off only 65 percent of that interest in 1987; 40 percent in 1988; 20 percent in 1989 and 10 percent in 1990. In 1991, the deduction disappears alto-

COINCIDENTALLY OR not, this change in the rules arises at a time when credit cards were already coming in for increased scrutiny as a source of problems, as well as plenty, in our consumer society.

For one thing, financial counselors describe them as a primary factor in the affairs of many people who get into trouble with their debts. For another, credit cards have been widely criticized as a means of borrowing because the interest rates that go with them are generally much higher than rates on other loans.

Nobody's predicting that the flash of credit cards will suddenly be extinguished in the nation's restaurants, hotels and shopping malls. The cards provide consumers who use them judiciously with a great measure of convenience and flexibility. But experts on the subject say the situation does merit a reappraisal of what cards you keep in your wallet and how you use

There are, by common consent. three distinct groups of credit-card holders. The first, and surely the smallest, never actually charges a purchase, but simply uses a card as a sort of passport that facilitates transactions like hotel reservations and the acceptance by merchants of per-

The second uses the card to buy things, but rarely or never runs up interest charges. As a matter of policy, these people pay off bills in full

THE THIRD GROUP uses the revolving credit line that comes with the card as a way of financing pur-

There is a basic point to the exercise of distinguishing among these categories. The kind of card you want to look for depends on which group you fall into. Obviously, if you never buy anything with your credit card, you don't care much what interest rate the issuer charges, or even what "grace period" it permits before it begins charging interest. Ideally, you want a card with the lowest possible, or no, annual fee.

If you use a card to buy but not to borrow, the grace period is likely to be the most important consideration. with some thought given to the annual fee as well. For credit-card borrowers, by contrast, the interest rate carries a lot of weight. A low rate may more than justify choosing a card that has a relatively high annual fee. Beyond that, the experts say, people who borrow with their credit cards might consider a jump into one of the other categories of cardhold-

Seek help on changes retirement can bring

retirement can be one of the most traumatic transitional periods in a person's life," says Maynard Engel, a financial planning specialist.

Engel points out that changes usually involve relocation, the making of new friends and establishing of new interests - aggravated by the financial ramifications of these transitions. "The combination can be devastating," he says.

"These problems often take years to reconcile, if they are indeed ever really solved." In making a choice about the distribution of their pension funds, retirees may be facing the most important financial decision of their lives, according to Engel, senior vice president at E.F. Hutton & Co Inc.

One possible approach is a financial
