Voter turnout expected to top last year

By M.B. Dillon staff writer

Voters will decide on Monday not at their municipal polling place. which of nine Plymouth-Canton school board candidates deserve two four-year terms.

Vying for the seats are incumbents Roland Thomas and Dean Swartzwelter and seven political newcomers.

Residents also will decide a property tax issue.

IT'S HOPED that well over 10 percent of the school district's 46,860 registered voters will visit the polls, said district community relations director Richard Egli.

Thus far, voters have picked up 113 absentee ballots. Absentee ballots will be available at the school board office at 454 S. Harvey from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. through tomorrow and from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday. Residents are reminded to cast their ballots at their school precinct, Related editorial, 12A

The polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Voters with election questions may call 451-3135, said district elections clerk Bernice Nichols. Voter turnout is expected to top last June's 4.5 percent showing.

"I would anticipate a greater turnout than last year because of the interest in the candidates, as evidenced by a greater turnout at the League of Women Voters candidates' night," said Egli.

THE PROPOSAL asking voters to approve the authorized levy is expected to draw voters as well, Egli

If approved, the ballot issue would enable the district to levy the 37 voter-approved mills.

the tax rate be reduced when state equalized value rises faster than the cost of living.

Property values rose 8.6 percent during the past year. The consumer price index increased by just 1.9 percent. If voters defeat the request to collect the full 37 mills, the tax rate must be reduced to 36.02 mills.

The same measure failed by a 3-2 margin in February.

ordered to be tried as adults girl's death in interviews with sherstaff writer

Two Ypsilanti Township youths will be tried as adults in the slaying of a 13-year-old Canton Township girl, Washtenaw County Probate Judge Judith James Wood ruled Wednesday.

The boys, both 17, face open murder charges in the Dec. 30 shooting death of Mary Anne Hulbert. Hunters found Hulbert's bullet-ridden body in a Superior Township field Jan. 7, eight days after her mother reported her missing.

Wood granted the prosecution's request to have the youths tried as adults based on the seriousness of the crime, the juveniles' criminal records, their rehabilitative potential, suitability of correctional facilities and public safety.

Wood said the crime was especially beinous given the "blindfolding of the victim, the eight shots that were fired and the efforts made to hide

According to testimony, Hulbert thought she was pregnant by one of the boys. The boys took her to a field where they intended to shoot rifles, scaring Hulbert enough to induce a miscarriage. An autopsy showed the WOOD CONTINUED the boys' bond of $500,000 each and remanded them to Washtenaw County Jail. They will be arraigned in Washtenaw County Circuit Court June 16.

Because the youths are 17, they'll no longer be segregated from the general prison population, Wood

Wood noted in her opinions that both boys have criminal records. Of the first, whom she described as a "hostile, angry young man," Wood said "given the nature of the crime, his past record and behavioral problems he's had in juvenile homes, it is the opinion of this court that the respondent should be placed in a secure, locked setting." Wood said she was convinced the youth would oth-

The judge said the second boy is emotionally impaired and also inclined to continue criminal behavior. She said he is beyond rehabilitation and needs extensive psychotherapy.

Placing either youth in juvenile correctional facilities "would be an exercise in futility," Wood said. The Department of Social Services, which is responsibile for convicted juvenile offenders, releases all youths at age 19, regardless of the crimes they've committed. A DSS witness testified that the system is ill-equipped to handle juveniles accused of crimes as serious as mur-

"I think it's fair." Hulbert later said of Wood's decision. "I think it's right and very just, especially the part where they'll be in the general population."

Inside the tiny courtroom, one youth sat quietly, a chain around his waist, cuffs around his ankles and a pack of sheriffs close by. The other wiped away tears as he spoke with family members.

The fathers of both boys are imprisoned, one in an Ohio penitenti-ary, the other in Michigan, serving time for criminal sexual conduct.

Wood admitted reporters to the usually closed probate courtroom on the condition that they withhold the identities of the juveniles and their families. She said the seriousness of Court-appointed attorneys for both juveniles said the youths will need court-supplied counsel to handle their appeals.

Wood's ruling concluded a 17week hearing in which the judge earlier found probable cause to believe a crime was committed and dropped conspiracy charges against the boys.

There was some doubt as to how Wood would rule. Marring the prosecution's case were irregularities arising during what the judge called "the worst investigation" she has seen in 13 years in Washtenaw Coun-

City rejects law aimed at cruisers

staff writer

Plymouth Mayor William Robinson took it on the chin Monday as city commissioners rejected a measure he devised to curb downtown cruising.

Hundreds of young people drive and gather along Main Street on weekends, making Plymouth the site of huge outdoor parties resulting in some vandalism and other destructive behavior.

Robinson alone favored the city code revision, which would establish Main Street checkpoints at a cost of about $1,000 a weekend.

"The mayor requested the ordinance with intentions to pass it and use it as a tool. I don't know that that message ever got conveyed to commissioners," said Plymouth City Manager Henry Graper.

"City commissioners felt it was not necessarily the time for this action. Perhaps it will be down the road if the problem persists," said Paul Sincock, assistant city mana-"Based on our review of anti-cruising ordinances across the country, they are highly labor intensive. You have to look at the big picture and decide what are you going to give up to do this."

CITY OFFICIALS are relatively satisfied with anti-cruising measures in use now.

Police have stepped up traffic enforcement by banning parking in lots and along residential streets, and by prohibiting turns off Ann Arbor Road into Plymouth.

Graduates are cautioned: Celebrate sensibly

Sunday is graduation day for seniors in the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools. It's up to students and parents to keep their celebrating under control immediately after the ceremonies and in the weeks ahead, law enforcement officers say.

"They call it commencement for a reason. They're beginning their life as responsi-ble persons," said Richard Myers, police chief in the city of Plymouth.

"That's how they should look at it — not as the end of something and blow it away."

Don't look for sympathy from neighbors or police if carousing goes well into the night. Ditto for reckless driving and violation of laws regarding the use of alcoholic

"I'M NOT going to wink,"said Carl Berry, Plymouth Township police chief. "It's fine to have fun but when it gets to the point of endangering lives, we'll get involved." Noise complaints in all three communities generally will result in one warning be-fore tickets are issued and, if necessary, the party dispersed.

But don't necessarily bet the mortgage that you'll get a warning about noise as a matter of course.

"If you see something that's a violation, you have to take some kind of action," Berry said. "Officers will take the action necessary to protect life and property."

A warning resolves problems most of the time, said Dave Boljesic, Canton Police community relations officer.

Boljesic urges parents to chaperone parties for their grads and limit guests to those who are specifically invited. "It can get out of hand and get out of hand very easily."

RECKLESS DRIVING and alcohol-related offenses won't be tolerated, police said. "Anything relating to alcohol will be strictly enforced," Berry said. "Reckless driving, leaning out of cars — we'll ticket people for that," said Myers.

"If a juvenile is caught drinking and driv-ing, as well as any adult, there will be no breaks," said Boljesic. "We understand it's graduation time and kids will be kids, but we won't tolerate drinking and driving.

"Reckless driving is going to be enforced just like it will any other day."

is held for trial

A 21-year-old Detroit man Monday was bound over for trial in Wayne Circuit Court on a breaking and entering charge after waiving a pretrial examination in 35th District Court, Plymouth.

Later Michael Todd Jones, also known as William Clarence Davis, was charged in 18th District Court. Westland, with escaping from lawful custody while awaiting trial.

Jones was arrested by Plymouth Township Police May 29 after he allegedly broke into a house on Sheldon Road.

He escaped from two township police officers the next day following arraignment on the B&E charge in the out-county court at Henry Ruff and Michigan Avenue.

Jones was arrested in Dearborn near Ford and Evergreen roads about five hours after he fled.

Jones was escorted by police into both courtrooms Monday wearing handcuffs and leg shackles to prevent another escape. He was taken to the Wayne County Jail after failing to post a $5,000 cash bond on the burglary charge and $500 on the escape charge. Jones had pleaded not guilty to breaking and entering. During preliminary examination.

the prosecution must show that a crime was committed and probable cause that the defendant committed the crime. Jones stood mute during arraignment on the escape charge. Judge Thomas Smith entered a plea of not guilty and set preliminary exam for Monday. No disciplinary action will be taken against the two officers from whose custody Jones escaped, said Carl Berry, police chief.

"No intentional negligence was shown by the officers," Berry said.

State and county officials will set Tuesday to determine whether the financially-strapped Wayne County will continue to receive federal revenue sharing money.

State Treasurer Robert Bowman suspended revenue sharing payments Friday. An estimated $6.3 million due June 1 has already been withheld. Future payments, including another $6.3 million due in August, hang in the balance.

Because the county uses revenue sharing to pay day-to-day operating costs, officials say they might not be able to pay workers if payments aren't restored.

"When we do something like this, we obviously don't do it lightly," Bowman said.

WAYNE COUNTY was to receive $36 million this year, Bowman said. Revenue sharing is being withheld to pay off an estimated $60 million owed by the county to the state, primarily for indigent health care,

Bowman said.

The decision renders the 1984 debt repayment agreement moot. "We thought we had an agreement, but it wasn't working," Bow-The $60 million health care debt translates to nearly $30 for every man, woman and child in Wayne There is little chance the county will receive the June revenue sharing payment, Bowman added. "It's already been applied to the existing debt," Bowman said. "The focus is now on the August payment." Both sides said they hoped a payback plan can be hammered out before the county hits financial bot-

"We hope to have something, but they're (the state) pretty firm," Wayne County Deputy Executive Michael Duggan said. Duggan was among the county officials who met with Bowman on Monday. No solutions were proposed at that time.

"That session was to establish where we are, it wasn't a deal-making session," Bowman said. "But I'm optimistic something can be worked PAY-BACK plans will be discussed at next week's meeting, Bowman said. Long-term indigent health care options will also be discussed.

"The indigent health care plan is t as important," Bowman said. Otherwise, the debt is going to keep morrhaging."

County commissioner Susan Reintz, R-Northville Township, reed with that assessment.

If we could make progress on in-Report health care, we'd be in a lot steer financial shape," Heintz said. The state pays county hospitals up front, at a pre-set "patient day" cost, 'ple," he said.

"The problem is we still haven't learned how to do this right," said Heintz, who proposed a private/public countywide health maintenance organization (HMO) in a recentlypublished county health care assess-

"As far as I'm concerned it's better to put this in the hands of a private carrier," she said. "They have a much better feel for this than we do. Of course, there may be other plans out there."

A $60 MILLION loan, approved before the current crisis, will keep worker paychecks flowing, Duggan said. But the county would face a serious financial pinch if it lost the balance of this year's revenue sharing.

The Japanese bank issuing the $60 million loan said it wouldn't proceed without clarifying the interest rate charged in the event of county default. County officials said the procedure was a technicality, but noted they couldn't obtain the loan without the new wording. County commissioners are expected to consider a default provision Thursday.

"I'm told this was a communication problem between the Japanese and American banks. I don't believe it had anything to do with revenue sharing," said Duggan.

Default wouldn't occur unless the county was besieged by creditors suing for payment.

Duggan indicated the county may file its own suit if a health care agreement couldn't be reached with

"At this time, we're still hoping to come up with a solution by sitting down with them (state officials),' Duggan said.

Wayne County has already sued the state over indigent health care debt. Former Wayne County Executive William Lucas filed suit last year, alleging the debt by $50 million after the state overturned county-set rates. The suit is pending.

Republican Lucas, however, didn't enjoy a cordial relationship with the current state administration.

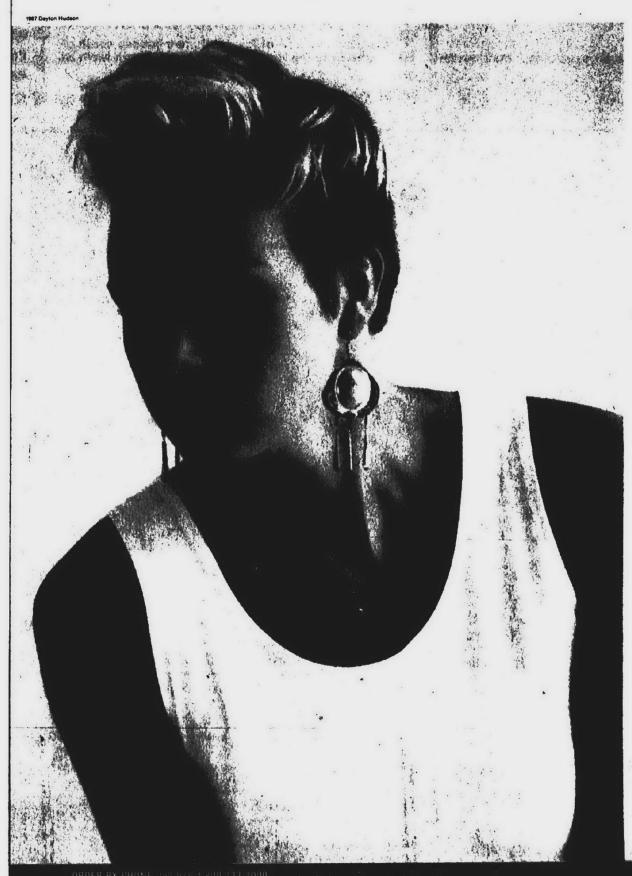

Bowman praised county executive Edward McNamara and his staff even as he tightened the financial

New comedy restaurant is scheduled for Canton

By Diane Gale staff writer

Did you hear the one about the comedy shop opening in Canton? Hey, wait a second, that's no joke.

In fact developers say Oct. 1 is the target for opening the restaurant/ comedy spot.

Joey's Comedy Showcase, in conjunction with Primo's Pizzeria, is promoted as the premier attraction at the long-awaited Grand Central Station on the south side of Ford Road between Lilley and Sheldon

OWNERS OF THE comedy entity are Steven Serafian of New York and Joe Belasco of Michigan.

"The production company is coming out of New York, and they're bringing in top names," Grand Central Station developer Tom Kosh said. He expects comedians from across the country will be booked.

Covering 7,000 square feet, one area of the restaurant will be for eating and another for entertainment where food also will be served. The restaurant/entertainment deal is expected to be completed early next week, said Larry Eisenberg of H.L. Gedrich Realty in Southfield. The realty is the leasing agent for the restaurant/comedy Eisenberg described the joint venture as patterned after comedy clubs in California. Commedians will be on stage in the evening and the restaurant will be open during the day as well as night.

"We have a few surprises planned," Eisenberg said, declining to elaborate.

DEMOGRAPHICS IN the Canton area was a key drawing card, Eisenberg said. He expects the business will attract patrons in the 30 to 45

Stoppers Stop Smoking

"It isn't easy to quit smoking on your own. I know — I smoked for years. I'd quit for a while, only to light up again when life got tense. With Smoke Stoppers I got the help I needed to stop smoking for good.

My instructor stopped smoking some time ago, and really understood what I was going through. That first week, we met four evenings in a row, so I got a lot of support during those first tough days. We learned what physical and emotional changes to expect, and it really helped.

Smoke Stoppers gave me solid, practical solutions to help eliminate smoking behaviors from my life. It's so effective that the American Medical Association, Blue Cross/Blue Shield and other leading health care organizations have chosen it for their own employees.

Now I'm a non-smoker thanks to Smoke Stoppers. It can work for you, too. And the first session is free."

Local vote Monday on trustees, taxes

will make important decisions about Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

Voters will elect two members to the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education and decide whether to approve the colelection of the authorized levy (property tax rate).

For the four-year terms, the Observer Newspapers in its May 28 edition endorsed Dean Swartzwelter and Roland Thomas Jr.

The Observer believes the commitment, knowledge and involvement in education of both Thomas and Swartzwelter makes them better choices over the other seven. Both have public records of achievement and are not unknown quantities. Both also have demonstrated they can spend the time needed to serve residents.

The Observer urges voters to avoid the trap of electing one-issue candidates. Their ability to serve is limited to that one issue. There are too many important issues - finance and construction to name two - facing Plymouth-Canton to elect trustees concerned only about curriculum materials.

ON MAY 21 the Observer Newspapers also urged a "yes" vote on the ballot issue seeking permission to collect the full property tax rate already approved by voters.

The 1978 Headlee Amendment to the Michigan Constitution allows voters to determine the level of local funding by HIS MONDAY, June 8, voters voting to approve the authorized levy whenever property values grow faster than the cost of living.

If voters do not want the authorized levy to be collected, the Headlee Amendment provides a method by which the tax rate will be reduced so the school district does not collect more property tax because of the increase in state equalized valuation (SEV).

If voters say no, the district must roll back its tax rate by 0.98 mills - from the voter-approved 37 mills to 36.02 mills. If voters approve, the tax rate would remain the same as voters previously authorized, 37 mills.

PASSAGE WOULD NOT result in a tax rate increase.

For that reason, the Observer suggests that the proposal should be viewed the same way as a millage renewal is-

Because the district this coming year will lose $1.5 million in state aid, we believe the school board is justified in seeking permission to levy the same rate in 1987-88 as it did for 1986-87.

The state is not maintaining its level of support to Plymouth-Canton Schools. And the state certainly will not be encouraged to do so by local voters reducing their level of support.

The community cannot abandon education or its young people because state aid has dropped. We need to continue the same rate and urge voters to vote

Suburban educators lose a chance to aid districts absence — suburban education leaders. that is.

Last weekend the Crackerbarrel picked up and headed for the north country to listen as area leaders debated how business and education could best forge an alliance to aid one another and society in general.

Detroit area business people, educators, legislators and an assortment of other politicians wrestled with the issues on and off for nearly three days.

But you would have been hard pressed to find your local school district representative at this conference. Neither board member nor administrator could be found.

That's a shame. Ultimately, suburban students will be the losers.

DESPITE THE absences, the list of area participants was impressive. Both county executives, Wayne's Ed McNamara and Oakland's Daniel Murphy, attended. Several suburban legislators made their many and diverse views known. Included were: Livonia's 35th District House Rep. Lyn Bankes,

West Bloomfield state Rep. David

THEY WERE conspicuous by their Honigman of the 24th district and Canton's state Rep. James Kosteva of the 37th District.

Oakland University's Frank Cardimen made one of the best presentations of the conference.

All of the above mixed it up with other state business and civic leaders over such issues as property tax reform, quality of education, curriculum, business/university cooperation, teacher and administrative evaluation.

Alliances were formed, points were defended, biases were broken down. Everyone in attendance came away a better-informed person — everybody who was there, anyway.

That's why it's so difficult to understand why not even one suburban school district representative bothered to peek out from behind the pile of administrative paperwork to say, "Hey, business community, we care about your sup-

I'M SURE that Troy-based K mart's CEO Bernard Fauber would have been glad to hear suburban school district views on many of these important issues. He was there. Detroit Edison's Steve Barnaby

They could have exchanged views; with a whole list of business people of various rank who seem to realize that if: America is to remain competitive and profitable it must forge an alliance with educators at all levels.

As an observer, I could sense the void; created by the missing suburban school district officials. Whether it was at one of the formal sessions or in casual conversation, the discussions were incomplete without them.

Oh yes, one school district superintendent did attend - Detroit's Arthur Jefferson. His views were heard.

ON MONDAY, voters in the Livonia, Plymouth-Canton, Garden City and elor's degree in Clarenceville school districts will select math and ecothree trustees for the Schoolcraft Col- nomics from Michigan State University and a master's in eco-

New terms for Toy, Smith

lege Board of Trustees besides picking trustees in their local K-12 districts. Four candidates are seeking two six-year terms. Incumbents Laura Toy of Livonia and Wendell Smith of Plymouth Township are being challenged by Charles Greig of Northville and Robert Sadler of Livonia.

First-year incumbent Jeanne Stempien of Northville Township is running unopposed for a four-year seat.

- In the contested race, the Observer recommends Laura Toy and Wendell Smith.

TOY, a trustee since 1981, is currently vice chair of the board. She has an associate's degree from Schoolcraft, a bachelor's degree from the University of Michigan and has attended graduate-level programs Eastern Michigan University.

A business owner in Livonia, her list of community activities is long. She is a college booster and the only trustee who has been a student at Schoolcraft. She is strong booster of the college - in ome respects a one-woman marketing effort. Although she lives in Livonia, she a trustee in touch with the many geographic areas that make up the School-eraft district.

SMITH, president of Nu Trax/Chatham Markets Inc. in Warren, was appointed to the board last October. He is serving as the board's representative to the Schoolcraft Foundation and on the audit committee.

In his short time on the board, Smith has exhibited a high degree of involvement and commitment. He is intelligent and hardworking and appears to have the desire and energy to

He advocates a stronger curriculum of liberal arts requirements for students studying in technical fields — a concept we believe is necessary to a well-rounded education at any college or university. ROUNDING OUT the list of candidates running for the six-year terms are Charles Greig of Northville and Robert Sadler of Livonia. Greig is a former school superintendent. He is executive secretary of the Downriver Retired Superintendent's Association. He holds a doctorate and master's degree from the University of Michigan.

Sadler is a product design engineer with Ford Motor Co. He holds bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Detroit.

Both are qualified candidates. We would encourage both to remain active with Schoolcraft affairs. We would also encourage present board members to tap these men for community study Neither candidate, however, has any major differences with the present board and most of the concerns and ideas they have raised are already being implemented or being addressed.

The Schoolcraft board at present has a relatively good balance of ages, backgrounds, gender and political viewpoints. We believe there's no good reason to mess up a good thing.

The canal at first privately owned, enabled ships with ore and trade goods to travel between Lakes Superior and Huron. No longer did cargoes have to be Celebrating the Constitution: Will it nourish our spirit?

CONSTITUTION DAY? Hey, I'm in favor of that.

The Constitution is a big thing in this country, the world's oldest surviving republic. Our basic document was signed by the members of the Constitutional Convention on Sept. 17, 1787, and then submitted to the states.

So we should observe Constitution Day — simple enough? Well, not so simple, the way they do it

REP. JUSTINE Barns, D-Westland, introduced House Bill 4399 to declare it Constitution Day by state law. Everyone was buzzing or half-asleep last Thursday when it came before the House for second reading. Everyone but Barns and Rep. William Bryant, R-Grosse Pointe.

Bryant offered an amendment to delete ", 1987" from the bill.

A bit ruffled, Barns wanted to know why he wanted to tamper with her sacred piece of legislation.

Bryant said his amendment would make Constitution Day a permanent observance inasmuch as the law would be on the books permanently. His point: Under Barns' measure, state lawbooks, a century from now, would still be carrying deadwood noting that "Sept. 17, 1987" was Constitution Day.

"This shouldn't be a statute," Bryant argued. "It should have been a resolu-

THAT RUBBED "Jay" Barns the wrong way. She said observing the bicentennial of the U.S. Constitution was pretty important and deserved a law rather than a mere resolution.

Bryant didn't want her fuming at him anymore, so he offered a way out of the mess. He withdrew his amendment and instead offered a "sunset" amendment. It would keep the ", 1987" in Barns' bill but provide that the law would "sunset" - that is, be stricken from the books -at the end of the year. That way, the law books wouldn't be cluttered for the next Dillon covered these nationally prestigious events as a sports writer for the Birmingham/Bloomfield and West Bloomfield Eccentrics in 1981 on assignment from Dennis (Doc) O'Connor, then sports editor. I was curious what sions would be recalled.

It has been my pleasure to play a small role on the horse show staff about 10 different summers, and now I can call even the horses by their first names. Besides, O'Connor and I had worked together before and when I invited Doc to BOH for a free lunch he asked if it would be OK to bring along this kid Dillon, who would be covering

It is time for changes in our Plymouth-Canton school board. I urge voters of our district to vote for Mary Dahn and Robert Anderson in the school board election June 8.

Both are well qualified from an academic and experience standpoint. Dahn has a bachelor of science degree in chemistry and a master's degree in management. Anderson has a bachelor of science degree in education and has done graduate study in education leadership.

Anderson has been a substitute teacher in our Plymouth-Canton schools and other districts. He is currently employed as a financial planner for corporations and individuals. The backgrounds of both Dahn and Anderson make them valuable assets to the school board.

However, in addition to their qualifications, Dahn and Anderson are committed to restoring a sense of moral balance to the school board, which is presently lacking. The present school board has repeatedly approved films and classroom material which feature foul, filthy language, sexually explicit material which could not be shown on public television, as well as films promoting witchcraft and the occult.

In the case of "The Breakfast Club," an R-rated film filled with foul, filthy language and sexually suggestive scenes designed to encourage teen promiscuity, our school superintendent viewed the film and banned it from use in the school district.

However, our present school board, including the two members currently running for re-election, voted to overrule the superintendent and the film now is being used by the school district.

I believe it is time to restore some moral fiber to the Plymouth-Canton school board. Let's elect Dahn and Anderson on June 8.

Gerald N. Wiggins,

HE ROUGE RIVER can survive and flourish if you show up to help out. For many who watch the slow-moving river crawl through suburbia, it's tough to believe that anything can be done to save the river that was once so polluted it caught fire.

But this Saturday Jim Murray and his group of faithful from "Friends of the Rouge" will challenge one of the most polluted rivers in the country.

You should show up, too.

Several municipalities are aiding in this effort, so your time will be spent in an organized effort to keep a cleaner river moving.

You should show up because you and millions of others around the metropolitan area are major contributors to the river's pollution.

That's right. We must look to ourselves as the major polluters. While corporate America does its share, it isn't the major contributor.

The majority of Rouge River pollution is from six billion gallons of human waste sent into the river each year though a combined storm/raw sewage system. Millions of dollars will have to be spent to correct the problem.

Rouge clean-up needs our help

The problem is compounded by people who look upon the Rouge as a dumping site, throwing bottles, shopping baskets, motor oil and other debris into the stream.

The Rouge can be a clean river for us to enjoy rather than a suburban embarrassment. But residents of each community must take responsibility for cleaning up their portions. Certainly to be successful, local, county, state and federal resources must be used.

But we, the people, must set the stride and join the clean-up effort.

It's a day in the life of this river that could change the course of our com-

House rejects cuts to elderly

Here's how area members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes during the week ending May 29.

OLDER AMERICANS - By a vote of 95 for and 297 against, the House rejected an amendment to cut proposed spending levels in a variety of programs for the elderly

The amendment was offered to the Older Americans Act Amendments (HR 1451), a bill later sent to the Senate, which mainly authorizes state- and locally-run programs to feed, teach, train, occupy, care for and otherwise assist senior citizens.

It sought to lower the bill's fiscal 1988 pricetag from $1.33 billion to $1.22 billion, with the largest cut, of $69.6 million, aimed at federal grants to state and local agencies that help the elderly.

Members voting yes supported the Voting no: Carl Pursell, R-Plym-Woods, William Ford, D-Taylor, Sander Levin, D-Southfield, William Broomfield, R-Birmingham.

HOME CARE FOR THE AGED - The House adopted, 274 for and 115 against, an amendment to HR 1451 (above) to spend a total of $2

WILD AND SCENIC RIVERS outh, Dennis Hertel, D-Harper By a vote of 344 for and 39 against, the House passed and sent to the Senate a bill (HR 900) to add segments of the Gauley, Meadow, Bluestone and Greebrier rivers in southern West Virginia to the National Wild and Scenic Rivers System, for protection against development.

Supporter Bruce Vento, D-Minn.,

said the rivers "are among the finest scenic and recreational streams in the eastern United States.'

Opponents did not speak. Members voting yes favored the bill. Voting yes: Pursell, Hertel, Ford, Levin, Broomfield.

IMMIGRATION LAW - By a vote of 47 for and 43 against, the Senate delayed for four months the effective date of the new immigration law's employer sanctions section, which inflicts civil and criminal penalties on those who knowingly hire undocumented workers.

The provision was attached to a fiscal 1987 appropriations bill (HR 1827) that was headed for final passage and conference with the House. which has not approved a similar extension of the June 1 trigger date.

The delay gives growers, restaurateurs and other employers who rely heavily on aliens until Oct. 1 to comply with the law, which seeks to curb illegal immigration by removing economic incentives to enter the United States.

Advocates of the delay argued the government has lagged in explaining the section to employers. Opponents said an extension could cause the new law to unravel

Voting yes: Carl Levin, D-Mich. Voting no: Donald Riegle, D-Mich.

BUDGET ACT - By a vote of 52 for and 39 against, the Senate tabled (killed) a motion to send a $9.4 billion spending bill for the current fiscal year back to the Appropriations Committee for spending cuts or revenue increases or both.

Advocates of returning the bill (HR 1827; above) to committee said it exceeds the 1987 Congressional Budget Resolution by $2.5 billion.

Bennett Johnston, D-La., who voted to table, called the motion "a sledgehammer to the head" of those the bill would help.

"This bill violates the Budget Act," said motion sponsor Carl Levin, D-Mich."

Senators voting yes were opposed to removing the bill's red ink through $2.5 billion in spending cuts and/or revenue hikes. Voting yes: Riegle.

Voting no: Levin.

Dora Wood: It's a wonderful life

By Julie Brown staff writer

Dora Wood doesn't really have any advice on what it takes to reach the age of 100.

"I just blundered along," she said. "I couldn't give advice to anyone. I'm not capable, I'm not trained for it.

"I don't know, unless it's doing the best you can every day. If you've done what you think is right, I guess that's all any of us can do."

Wood, who was born May 29, 1887, in Plymouth, celebrated her 100th birthday last week. She's been pleased with her life.

"I have had a wonderful life. It was very rewarding."

When Wood was very young, her family moved to East Jordan, Mich., in Charlevoix County. East Jordan is near Petoskey in northern Michigan.

In 1901, her family returned to Plymouth.

"I've lived here ever since and was married here." Wood's late husband, Romeo Wood, was a professional photographer.

THE WOODS eventually located their photography studio in their home on Ann Arbor Trail in Plym-

"I was the assistant. We worked together very harmoniously."

Wood lived in her home in Plymouth for a number of years. The couple had moved to that home in 1918. In December of last year, she moved to Plymouth Court on Haggerty Road.

"There's so many changes," she said. "Automobiles were not known in my younger days nor airplanes or anything of that type."

Streetcars operated in the area in the early days of this century.

The streetcar ran from Northville to Plymouth and then to Wayne, Wood recalls. At that point, it was necessary to switch streetcars for the trip either to Detroit or to Ypsilanti and Ann Arbor.

Medicine, surgery, architecture, roads and highways have also seen many changes during Wood's life-

"There's no end to it. I've seen a lot of changes, some very marvel-

Wood has enjoyed living at Plymouth Court in recent months.

They've been very kind to me here. I haven't had a cross word spoken to me since I've been here. My roommates have always been so nice."

ON FRIDAY, May 29, the people at Plymouth Court held a birthday party for Wood. An additional celebration with family and friends was planned for the weekend.

At Plymouth Court, a blue Colorado spruce has been planted outside Wood's window. The tree was dedicated to the longtime Plymouth resident and will serve as a Christmas tree in years to come.

"They put it purposely right where I could see it. They're going to let it grow right there."

in her 100 years, Dora Wood has seen a number of changes. "There's no end to it," she said

It's not an everyday event at Plymouth Court to have a resident turn 100, said administrator Ralph Corvino, who has been at Plymouth Court for about five months.

"We haven't had one since I've been here."

A number of the residents are in their 90s; Corvino hopes there'll be many more centennial celebrations to come. "We've got lots of space for trees." Wood's 94-year-old brother was among the guests planning to attend the weekend birthday party. He enlisted and served in the military during World War I and now lives at Presbyterian Village of De-

Wood and her younger brother lost their spouses within a few months of each other. Romeo and Dora Wood didn't have any chil-

Dora Wood doesn't give her younger brother any sisterly advice when she sees him.

"I don't need to," she said with a As part of her birthday celebra-been able to enjoy such a long life. "It was just that they weren't ready for me over yonder."

The three homes have been well cared for and haven't had too much added to them, she said.

Each year, AAUW landmarks committee members look for homes or buildings that are at least 75

"And then we go on from there," Dugan said. For Michigan's sesquicentennial year, committee members decided to look for dwellings that were even older than that.

"It's very hard to research anything that old."

The research process the landmarks committee conducts includes

Records and deeds for Wayne and Washtenaw counties are also helpful documents.

The history of the Pumpkin Hill House and property reaches back to 1826 when Clark Griswold acquired the parcel through a U.S. land grant. The following year, it was bought by Plymouth's first blacksmith, Abra-

Since that time, more than 20 owners have held the property, including the Fralick family, whose members owned it twice. Vanita Adams, for whom Adams Street was named, lived in the house for more than 40 years.

THE CURRENT occupants, Sandra Richards and Rex Harvey, are responsible for naming the home. Richards celebrates her birthday on Halloween; the house's name, Pumpkin Hill, grew from there.

Records suggest that the house that now stands at 187 Adams St. was built around 1834. "A Field Guide to American Houses" by Virginia and Lee McAlester describes the style of the house as a "folk Esek Pray was among the earliest settlers in Washtenaw County. Pray and his family came from New York state in 1825.

Pray bought property in Superior Township. The deed is dated April 1, 1826, and signed by President John Quincy Adams. The property remained in the Pray family until

The Esek Pray House, built in 1835, is constructed of brick that was made on the site. It is a twostory, detached federal-style building with Greek Revival and classical detailing.

Originally, all eight rooms had fireplaces. There is now one fireplace on the first floor and three on the second.

The woodwork in the downstairs. hall and parlor is of Greek Revivat' style and made of walnut. The front door lock was manufactured in England and bears the hallmark of King William IV (1830-37).

Eack Pray was appointed by Michigan Gov. Lewis Cass to be a justice of the peace; Pray was also a legisla. tor. He was a member of the Second' Convention of Assent, 1836, at Ann Arbor, when the territory of Michigan sought admission to the U.S.

The structure was used for other purposes. Esek Pray obtained a tavern license in 1836 and operated a tavern for many years. Public meetings of the town board were held on the site; lawsuits were heard there.

One of the eight Pray children, Mary J., married Watson Geer. They are responsible for donating the property for the Geer School, on Ann Arbor Road at Gotfredson. Because of the school, the Geer name is familiar to area residents.

The research on the Esek Pray House was done by Mary Parviainen and Anne Schlick, with acknowledgements to Irene Truesdell.

Registered nurse Elaine Ray-Connell likes a commercial that's on TV these days. The commercial shows an older man going into a McDonald's restaurant to eat; after some hesitation, he sits down to eat his lunch with an older woman who's also visiting the restaurant.

Ray-Connell likes the commercial because it helps to dispel the notion that romance and companionship are only for the young.

"How in fact did the idea ever get started that it wasn't appropriate?"

Ray-Connell is seniors health coordinator with Catherine McAuley Health Center's office of health promotion. She was in Canton Wednesday, May 27, to present a program on "Intimacy As We Age."

gathered that afternoon at the Canton Recreation Center for the program. Ray-Connell talked with the seniors about emotional and physical intimacy and how such intimacy contributes to overall good health.

THOSE ATTENDING the program listened to a recording of the song "The Rose." The song includes the line "You think that love is only for the lucky and the strong."

That description can also imply that love is only for the young, Ray-

"I'm here to tell you that it isn't." Some people may question the link between loying relationships and good health, Ray-Connell said. Research done in recent years, however, has indicated that those who have social and emotional support are less likely to become ill; if they do be-

On the other hand, people who are physically and emotionally isolated are hurting themselves just as surely as they would by following a bad diet. The consequences of such isolation may take some time to show up, Ray-Consell raid. Ray-Connell said.

"But it could very well be the death of you eventually."

The normal physical changes that accompany aging can affect physical intimacy, she said. For men, it may take more time to attain an erection. Women experience physical changes associated with lowered levels of the hormone estrogen dur-ing and after menopause.

Other factors such as fatigue, stress or depression can also reduce a person's enjoyment of see. For some older people, the side effects of prescription drugs, such as those used to treat high blood pressure, can cause sexual problems.

Excessive use of alcohol is also associated with sexual problems, Ray-Connell said:

Removal of the male prostate rarely affects potency, she said. Men who have had such surgery may, however, feel they're less destrable. Women who have had a hysterectomy (removal of the uterus) or massesses (heart frances). tectomy (breast removal) may also sumed God had a wife whom he won from a rival deity, says a biblical scholar who based his conclusion on archaeological evidence and rein-terpretation of hiblical passages. David Noel Freedman, editor in chief of the Anchor Bible, considered the most authoritative biblical translation, and of the scholarly publication "Biblical Archaeologist," said many Jews of 2,850 years ago con-sidered it natural that a god would have a goddess as a mate and that such a goddess would be among the spoils when a rival god was defeat-

An example of such a defeat, would be that of God's prophet Eli-jah over the followers of Baal, chief god of the Canaanites

Freedman, recently appointed to an endowed chair of Hebrew Biblical studies at UC San Diego's Judaic studies program, said he was led to re-examine the story of Elijah's victory -- told in 1 Kings -- after the discovery in Israel of a clay tablet, which dates to about 800 B.C.

The inscription on the tablet asks the "blessings of Jahweh of Samaria Jahweh is God. Samaria at the time was the capital of Israel.

The controversy is over the word "asherah," which Freedman said does not lend itself to precise English translation.

He said most scholars believe "asherah" isn't a name and might years."

The use of the possessive "his" on the tablet, Procuman said, suggests "asherah" refers to someone else's companion who became God's mate after Elijah's victory.

In 1 Kings, Baal's mate was named Asherah.

Freedman said several hiblical references suggest statues to Asherah remained standing after Baal was displaced and at least one prophet later exhorted the people to quit worshiping a goddess or "the

of chronological age

ONE OF THE most widely used terms of our day is "maturity." It has different nuances of meaning relating to the process of develop and expansion; cultivation and refinement; growth and ripening. Maturity, like a precious gem, has many facets — many directions from which it sheds its light upon human existence. Maturity is not discovered in what we have, but in what we are.

To mature is to reach a state of completeness of growth. Man has been endowed with a longer period of infancy and childhood than any other creature. Yet he is far more complex than any other. As Shake-speare exclaimed, "What a piece of work is man!"

He requires time, training and discipline to grow out of childhood and to enter the world of adulthood not only physically, but mentally, emotionally and spirtually. It is a movement marked by self-mastery, by discovery of life and the world and by acceptance of relationships

THE HUMAN BEING is born ignorant. He must acquire knowledge that connects him with his environment, both physical and social. The human being is born irresponsible. He must grow from dependence to independence, from helplessness to competence, from irresponsibility to responsibility. The human being is born inarticulate. He must learn how to communicate his thoughts and feelings with clarity and cogency. The human being is born self-centered. He must create bonds with others by the qualities of imagination, sympathy, loyalty and affection. He becomes part of a community of experience marked by shared beliefs, shared memories ard shared

The wisdom of maturity is often equated with age. It is true that a certain duration of human life yields a considerable harvest of discoveries a considerable harvest of discoveries and insight. But maturity is not necessarily related to chronological age. In a novel by Louis Broomfield, the leading character reflects upon the meaning of his life in the following way: "But with me there was no growth. There was no creation. In all most life there had never have until ? my life there had never been, until I was near to middle age. Either the necessity or the desire to think. I had already lost nearly 20 years which should have been employed in think-ing, and because those years hind been wasted, I had never attained any degree of maturity. I had marriy, grown older, and like those men and constantly cling to their youth a return to it at college reunious and gion conventions, I had mayout

John Anhut sees the way to property tax relief through the removal of tax abatements.

Anhut: Business unity is needed

staff writer

When John Anhut, chairman of the board of the Michigan Chamber of Commerce, finishes his second term of office July 1, he will have reached more than 1,000 chamber members and executive officers across Michigan.

We have to work together to reach our goals," said Anhut, owner of the Botsford Inn in Farmington Hills.

We have over 8,000 members in Michigan; it's the largest chamber in the country. If we could just get the local chambers to work with the state chamber - God what a force we Problems facing Michigan business are many, according to Anhut. He cited unfair competition by non-profit organizations as one thorn in his side.

As an inn owner who sells wedding reception packages, he competes with tax-exempt institutions, like colleges, offering the same service at greatly reduced prices.

'Everybody is getting into everyone else's

FROM HIS jaunts across Michigan, meeting with chamber groups from Jackson to Marquette, the leading issue on the minds of business people everywhere is property tax relief.

"The school system looks at property taxes as a source of revenue, but this can't go on forever," Anhut said.

"Property tax relief can be offset by removing tax abatements. For example, the Mazda plant in Flat Rock got $3 million in tax abatements. Why not spread that money through

"We have proven if you take away tax abatements, given eight or 10 years, there is enough (revenue) to offset the losses. We'd all like to espouse policy we can benefit from. The governor and everyone has to work together."

Anhut is quick to spew out figures. Michigan depends on property taxes for 42 percent of its revenue while other states depend on it only 31 percent, he said, adding that Michigan ranks third in property tax load.

"States that are the most prosperous have much less property tax burden," he said.

THE STATE chamber of commerce has published a booklet of legislative priorities for 1987-88. In addition to tax relief and government spending, other issues concern further improvements to workers' compensation, cutting the cost of unemployment insurance and diversifying the economy.

'The big problem is that we don't work well together. The deeper you get into this, the more you realize what can be done.'

— John Anhut

"We need to do more to keep business here," Anhut said. "You've got to keep and expand what you've got. If you do a good job, that is the only incentive needed to attract new busi-

Anhut dismisses the notion that the chamber is a Republican group espousing conservative

"The governor has some good people on staff. We have a Democratic regime and we must have open dialogue," he said. "I don't believe in issuing statements. We have to talk together - face to face."

In the past two years, Anhut has practiced what he preaches. He has met with chambers in every region of the state and with the governor's staff in Lansing.

"THE BIG PROBLEM is that we don't work well together. The deeper you get into this, the more you realize what can be done.'

Anhut, who is also a member of the Farmington Hills Economic Development Corporation, believes there are no big business/small business issues.

"United we stand, divided we fall," he said. The Anhut family bought the historic Botsford Inn in 1951. It has been expanded 14 times and is "pretty well built out now."

"We just have to do a better job, put out a better product," said Anhut, who lives in an executive apartment on the grounds.

He does see some progress in Michigan's business climate over the past five years.

"We're not where we were during the recession, but business improved all over the country," he said. "Michigan is a rebound state. We're on the upswing now. We've got to stay there.

"I want to go out having bridged some gaps and leaving the impression that if we all work together, we can do the job."

Corporate philanthropy

Donations to local charities run contrary to national trend

By Tom Henderson staff writer

Are corporations tighter with a buck these days when it comes to charities?

Absolutely not, says a vice president of the United Foundation. Yes, they are, says a story by the Associated Press out of New York, quoting a report by a business information group.

According to the AP story, an organization called the Conference Board said that corporate giving peaked with a 15-year high of $4.4 billion in 1985, but dropped about 2.5 percent in 1986 and will continue to decline this year.

"A generation of corporate chiefs committed to social goals is passing from the scene," said Anne Klepper, director of the board's Contribution Management Institute. "Born and bred in depression and war, their views were influenced by the harsh realities that they recalled; many developed a pronounced social inter-

Klepper said that a new generation of corporate chiefs is more concerned with stiffer domestic and foreign competition than with social welfare.

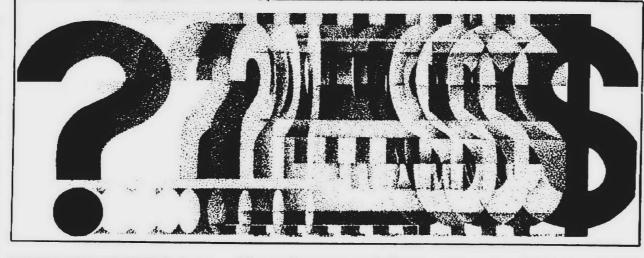

"Often there is less time or interest for social concerns," she said.

LOCAL OFFICIALS active in charity fund-raising say that it may be harder to put the touch on corporations nationally, but it isn't in the

'I would disagree with that completely," said Jim Ridge, a vice president of operations for the United Foundation, of the theory that the new generation of executives is less socially responsible than its prede-

"As corporate officials move up the ladder, they get involved in outside organization," he said. "I don't think they've lost that feeling of being involved in the community. Corporations are changing from being more of family organizations to being run by professional managers, but they're just as involved in the community."

Ridge said that last fall, the Torch is the new generation of corporate chiefs more concerned with stiffer domestic and foreign competition than with social welfare, resulting in less time or interest for social concerns?

Drive raised a record of $58.4 million in southeast Michigan. He said more than $11 million of that was from corporate donations, or 18.9 percent of the total. He said that in 1977, corporate donations were $7.2 million, or 16.9 percent of the total raised.

MAXINE ASHCRAFT, vice president of development and community relations for the Michigan Cancer Foundation, also disagreed that corporate executives were less socially aware or responsible.

"Philanthropy has been on the rise since 1900 and will continue to rise no matter the economic conditions,"

Ashcraft of Birmingham said that private giving is up for MCF and corporate giving down, but she said that is a function not of social awareness but of ever-increasing demands on business by charities.

"Corporations are zapped all over the place," she said. "In the past they have tried to support everything. Now, they're just taking on a project or two.'

Ashcraft said individual donations have more than made up for any slackening in the business sector.

"I think this is going to be a very good year," she said. "Since 1982, there have been more than $2 billion raised (for charities nationally) that just wasn't expected. So, things have been wonderful.'

She said MCF raised $1.8 million in cash donations last year and another $1 million in endowment mon-

"I'm looking to increase that by 25 percent this year," she said. "I've been told that that's not realistic, but that's my goal."

agency, one of 153. As such, it is prohibited from making direct appeals to corporations. All corporate appeals are made by the umbrella organization.

Julie Slaughter, the director of fund raising for Michigan MS, said of her group's fund-raising with individuals and private groups: "It's been easier for us. More people are aware

Slaughter said the MS gets the bulk of its private-sector funds from series of big events - the Free Press International Marathon in the fall ($100,000), a Readathon involving 8,000 school kids in February and March ($200,000), and an Ugliest Bartender contest each winter ($100,000). She said the group raised $800,000 in 1986 and projects revenue of $950,000 in 1987

A BIG UNKNOWN in charity fundraising is the effect, if any, of the new IRS tax code. Charity contributions are still deductible for those who itemize, but no longer are deductible for those who do not.

"We don't know the implication of the tax law. People are so confused and so are we," said Slaughter. "If it will result in changes, we feel it will be next year, after people do their taxes, not this year.'

"People aren't sure of the implications. They're trying to figure it out," said Ashcraft. "I think this year will be a very good year, but next year and the year after, we're going to have some bumps."

Business activity worsens

During April, business conditions in the metro Detroit area fell to their lowest point since August of last year, according to the latest survey of the Purchasing Management Association of Detroit.

According to April's survey results, the composite index of business conditions slipped to 44.5 from 46.2 in March

"A composite index number below 50 generally indicates a degree of deterioration in the economy," said David L. Littmann. vice president and senior economist with Manufacturers National Bank of Detroit. But Littmann said that the local economy had successfully weathered a similar period of weakness stretching from April to August, 1986.

Despite sub-par readings from PMAD surveys during that fivemonth interval," he said, "the local economy managed to maintain a level of business activity comparable to 1985.'

Littmann added that it may be more difficult to maintain local economic momentum in 1987 because auto industry incentive programs have not been as vigorous thus far and because price pressures generally appear more intense. Survey respondents generally noted rising commodity prices, and, for the second month in a row, no purchasing managers reported lower prices.

Losses from tax shelters can still be valuable

Now that the Tax Reform Act of 1986 is upon us, many of us are wondering what to do with the tax losses expected to be generated this year by the tax shelters we bought in ear-

After all, there exists widespread belief that tax shelters are permanently dead and those valuable tax losses have been rendered worthless

The Truth

ite

It is simply not true that the Tax ther is it accurate to say that tax mix whereas in previous years PALs could offset both PIGs and Als. Got

Let's be specific. Say in 1986 you wanted to reduce your taxable salary income by, say, $10,000. So you bought a cattle tax shelter for $10,000, which promised a 100-percent write-off

This investment in fact did reduce your taxable by $10,000. In this example, the $10,000 salary income, which was your active income, was combined with the $10,000 tax loss to produce the desired result.

All that is changed now. Thanks to Reform Act killed tax shelters. Nei- Tax Reform Act, in addition to the category of salaried income, you losses are worthless. The truth is now have to classify your other inthat now only the PIGs and PALs comes and losses in three distinct

• Passive activity losses and in-finances and you Sid

- Rental activity losses and in-
- Portfolio losses and income.

But this is not just an exercise in futility. You can't mix and match these categories; that is, the use of losses from one category for the sheltering of income from another is

For instance, if you have a $10,000 tax loss from cattle limited partnership, you can no longer routinely reduce your salaried income by the tax loss generated by the cattle partnership. Hence the new strategy calls for the matching of PALs and PIGs to avoid what tax shelter expert Robert Stanger calls a "POKE in the eye from Uncle Sam."

The definition: A passive activity is any activity that involves the conduct of any trade or business in which you do not materially participate. In addition, any limited partner ship interest would be classified as passive activity. A Passive Acitivity Loss (PAL) is any tax loss generated by a passive activity.

Under the TRA, a PAL is allowed to offset the income from a PIG (Passive Income Generator). An interest in a limited partnership (real estate, oil and gas, cattle, equipment leasing, etc.) is immaterial.

The now-popular MLPs (Master Limited Partnerships) are also PIGs. The only exception is MHCs (Mortgage Holding Conduits), which hold

Superficiality mars roles played by actors in leads

Performances of the School-craft College Players production of "On Golden Pond" continue Friday-Suntlay, June 5-7, at the Liberal Arts Theatre on campus in Livonia. Dinner theaterperformances were available only the first week end. For ticket information call 591-6400, ext. 265.

The Schoolcraft College Theatre Department's final presentation of the season is a well-paced, attractive production, featuring wellrehearsed, attractive performers.

James R. Hartman (artistic director of theater at Schoolcraft) directed Ernest Thompson's "On Golden Pond." A potentially fine offering, the show is marred by rather super-ficial portrayals of its two leading "On Golden Pond" centers around 80-year-old Norman Thayer and his wife, Ethel, 69, as they spend their 46th summer together at their rustic, memory-filled cottage on Golden Rond in northern Maine. As the contemporary play opens, they have just arrived at the cottage for what may e their last summer there.

Bob Ketterer, cast as Norman, isn't wooden or stiff. He knows his lines and delivers them with admirae ease and naturalness. He seems ptally comfortable in his role. He's easant to watch (although a bit rojust-looking for an 80-year-old) and enjoyable to listen to.

BUT A FUNNY thing seems to have happened to Ketterer on the way to playing Norman Thayer. Somebody appears to have convinced him that "On Golden Pond" is not really a drama but a comedy.

As a result, his Norman is a comical old curmudgeon, which is fine, as far as it goes. The problem is, it doesn't go nearly far enough, and there's little suggestion of the won-derful complexity and depth of the character playwright Thompson cre-

There's almost no hint, for instance, that this character is facing real pain and fear and uncertainty about approaching death. He simply bumbles about, uttering funny lines now and then, and evoking laughter but never really moving or touching the audience the way this character could and should. Consequently, the entire production loses something essentially important, and so does the audience.

Diane Kremser as Ethel misses the mark, also. Though Kremser is an able actress, she seems to have settled here for less than her best. Her Ethel appears to have only one or two facial expressions — cheerful and not-quite-so-cheerful - her lines all come out pretty much the same

LEWIS SEQUIN as a quintessentially New England-ish postman; Terri Cammarata as the Thayers' daughter, Chelsea; John Drouillard as her fiance, and 12-year-old Lee Hyland as his son make up the sup-porting cast. Although Hyland is onstage only briefly, he does an especially nice job.

Dinner, prepared by the School-craft College Culinary Arts Department and served in Schoolcraft's Waterman Center, preceded the performance of "On Golden Pond" and included soup, roast beef, salad, potato, dessert, iced tea and coffee.

Can Rocks get a repeat?

By Dan O'Meara staff writer

Plymouth Salem came as close to perfection on the baseball diamond as it has all season Saturday when it won the district championship at Northville High School.

Now coach John Gravlin hopes the Rocks were so pleased by their performance they'll play that way again in the Class A regional at Wyandotte Memorial Park.

Salem carries a 22-4 record into Saturday's 12:30 p.m. game with Western Lakes opponent Livonia Franklin. In the other bracket, Redford Catholic Central meets Taylor baseball

Kennedy at 10 a.m. The final is scheduled for 2:30 p.m.

The Salem ballclub that destroyed Walled Lake Central 17-5 and dominated an excellent Plymouth Canton team 8-1 in the district final was "a totally different team" than the one Gravlin saw during the regular sea-

"Some days we hit the ball well and our pitching keeps us in, but Saturday we played with the type of intensity great teams play with. That's the first time this year we've played

"It's almost as if we've been waiting to blossom at this point in the season," he added.

Gravlin pointed to the performances of two players in particular who characterized the Rocks' increased level of play and heightened awareness of their potential.

Center fielder Tim Dowd smacked a two-run homer in the first inning, and it proved to be the game-winning hit as Salem never trailed after DOWD, A 6-FOOT-1, 165-pound senior, also hit a three-run blast in the first game and added an RBI single in the nightcap.

"Tim set the tone for the Canton game when he hit that home run," Gravlin said. "He just flew around the bases, and the team fed off that

Miller leaps to state title

Plymouth Canton's Angle Miller realized a season-long goal when she became the Class A state champion in the high jump Saturday at Alma.

Miller won an individual duel with another Observerland athlete, Cheri Johnson of Redford Bishop Borgess, to claim the highest honor a high school competitor can attain. Miller jumped 5-5 while Johnson went out

"It's something she's been shooting for all year," Canton coach George Przygodski said, "and she's worked hard for the last three years to get where she's at now.

What I was most impressed by was that everyone else was out of the competition, and she still didn't have a miss," he added.

While Miller's hard work has already paid off with a state title, more accomplishments are no doubt ahead of her since she is only a jun-

Jill Estey, who helped lead Plymouth Salem to the Class A girls soccer championship Saturday, was selected Michigan's No. 1 high school player Monday, an honor that gives her an automatic berth on the All-Midwest team and places her name in consideration for All-American status. Teammate Nicole Stojeba, a senior defender, received an All-State honorable mention. See story and photos on Page D6 regarding Salem's championship.

high school sports, right? Hohum. Ho, ho.

This was no ordinary weekend, this one just gone by. It was special, a weekend of major consequence, with major implications, for athletes throughout our state.

It was a state championship weekend. Top athletes got their chance to prove they were the best.

Girls track. Boys track. Girls soccer. Boys tennis. Teams wagging single fingers while boasting, "We're No. 1!" had their claims challenged. Glory Days , "Prove it," upstarts demanded.

Some did. Others didn't. Dilution can dampen a state title's meaning. Thirteen were handed out last weekend in the various classes. Naming just the Class A winners in each sport would be nearly impossible for anyone outside the MHSAA's

That's a shame, because such a feeling tends to downplay a state title's importance to those who count most: the athletes. THEY DON'T KNOW. They don't really understand. Not now, not at this moment in their lives.

The school year is at an end, and high schoolers are looking forward to a three-month summer vacation. Graduates are anxiously anticipating college or are busy formulating job plans. All are eagerly looking ahead to a future full of promise.

That is as it should be. No one should be denied the bubbly optimism of youth.

But such optimism often carries a heavy price - the present. Kids view their present-day goals as nice, yeah, but there are bigger prizes out there. A state title today, a national title tomorrow, a world title next week.

So how important is a state championship? Perhaps the worst people to ask that question are the athletes themselves. They have no depth, no experience to summon. They've worked hard to reach that final challenge, the last hurdle standing between them and a title.

But few - if any - high schoolers can fathom what a state championship will mean in the years ahead.

IT MAY MEAN everything. Hopefully not; as Springsteen's song suggests, the highlight of your life should be over the next horizon, not sinking in your past.

"Brandon London gave us the lead, and Chris just stretched it open," he said. "With an anchor runner like Alan Stebbins, it was all er like Alan Stebbins, it was all over. It would have taken a jet to catch him "

Catherman added the knowledge of Stebbins' outstanding ability to finish off a relay was a source of inspiration and encouragement for the first three runners.

THE OTHERS knew, if they got it close, Alan would win it," he said. "You can't have a successful relay team if you don't have a star in the anchor position."

Furthermore, the team's recordbreaking run marked only the second time the same foursome had been together in a relay, but that was done by design.

"In all relays, you try to wait until the end of the year, so the kids don't get stale," Catherman said. "You aim for the last third of the season; that's why we didn't put that relay team together sooner.

"Jerry Young calculated, when we moved Chris Inch into the relay, the team's potential was tremendous," be added.

The only previous time Smedley, London, Inch and Stebbins competed together in the 3,200 relay was at the West Bloomfield Invitational where they won first place with an 8:02.0

AT THE REGIONAL meet, the Falcons qualified for state with a different foursome to allow Inch to meet the qualifying standards in the open 1,600 and 3,200 runs. But the relay team's performance was given top priority Saturday.

"The kids made the commitment to go for it at the state meet," Catherman said, "even though they had some individual opportunities.

"It took an awful lot of concentration and effort to actually try for a state record."

Farmington High's fine accom-plishments (see related story) were not to be overshadowed by several outstanding individual performances by Observerland athletes during last nd's state track championships.

In the Class A boys meet at Alma, athletes from both Wayne Memorial and Redford Bishop Borgess earned places among the state's best.
Borgess's Brian Kelly finished tied for third in the 110-meter high hurdles with Southfield's Rudy Redmond with identical time of 14.13. Kelly also finished sixth in the 300 hurdles with a time of 38.37. His teammate, Eric Harp, finished seventh in the long jump with a leap of 21 feet, 111/4 inches.

Wayne High's Dave King finished second behind Kalamazoo's Kyle Wray in the discus with a seasonbest toss of 168-4. Wray's best throw traveled 184-2. In the shot put, Wayne's Stove Warner was sove with a throw of $5-1 %.

Other area boys performers carning points were Westland John Glenn's Dan Liedsl, who took seventh in the 800 run (1:56.1) and Livenia Churchill sophomore Jason Belaire, who finished in a five-way tie for seventh in the high jump (6-3).

Glenn's 3,300 relay team of Liedel,
Cordell Crosby, Aaron Hughlett and

Cordell Crosby, Aaron Hughiett and Jerry Allen took seventh in 8:01.4. The event was won by Farmington. ON THE GIRLS SIDE, Borgess high jumper Cheri Johnson, the de-fending champion, settled for second place behind Plymouth Canton's Angie Miller with a leap of 5-4.

Other area girls placing in the top eight were Joan Arndt of Livenia Ladywood, who finished fourth in the 800 run (2:18.4), and Lyshay McGowan of Borgess, seventh (2:21.6).

"IT WAS JUST a matter of time, he said of Sumner's hitting. "Here he's been struggling, and he rose up to his capabilities. I'm just glad he decided to make it the district final."

Graviin, of course, is counting on there being a carry-over effect to Saturday's action, and, from what he's seen lately, it appears the Rocks are beginning to peak late in the sea-"In one statement, that's the way to say it," Gravlin said. "We're catching fire at the right time. We've had a great season, but catching fire at state tournament time is great. "It's the whole team, too. There was so much electricity in the dug-out (Saturday), you couldn't sit still." Salem also received quality pitch-ing from its one-two combination of juniors Todd Marion and Fidell Cashero in the district tournament. Both pitched five-hitters and struck .321.

OFFENSIVELY, THE Rocks, who last won a regional in 1963, are led by Dowd and Marion. Dowd is hitting:
.494, the latter .493. Dowd has seven homers and leads the team with 35" RBI; Marion has 36 RBI and leads the club with eight homers.

In addition, the left-handed Dowd has stolen 15 bases in as many at tempts and has scored 39 runs in 23

Most spectators were talking about the 6-foot-5 Tanderys' reputation as an overpowering pitcher and skills that have earned him a scholarship to the University of Michigan.

But Canton coach Fred Crissey's ballclub proved equal to the task Saturday at Northville High School.

THE CHIEFS made Tanderys and the Wildcats pay for five walks, a wild pitch, hit-batsman, passed ball and four errors as they combined those opportunities with eight hits. In addition, Canton batters struck out just two times against a pitcher averaging 15 strikeouts a game.

"Our kids really battled him, and you could see he wasn't used to that," Crissey said.

"It all depends on pitching," said Franklin coach Gerry Cullin. "If your pitcher goes out and starts giv-ing up base hits, or if you start boot-ing the ball, you're going to lose."

PATRIOT HURLERS Kramer and Miller, both senior righthanders, have kept their opponents off the basepaths in hurling their team into the regionals. Franklin has a modest 15-10 mark for the season, but Kramer (6-1) and Miller (4-1) are a combined 16-2. Kramer carries a

All five have hit well. Chaves boasts a .350 average, with Napier at .342, Swindell at .334, Wienczak at .319 and Greener at .317. Green and senior center-fielder Mike Wozniak (.443 average) lead the team in runs batted in with 21 apiece. Junior outfielder Scott Canfield is batting .426 with 17 RBL.

What could hurt Franklin's chanc-

"If Kramer has a good day, we can win," Cullin said.

FOR THE SHAMROCKS, pitching has been a constant. Haeger is rated as one of the best pro prospects in the state, but he's probably headed for University of Michigan on a

But as time slips by, life's victories become smaller and more personal; they aren't as clear-cut and draw less attention.

Four Observer & Eccentric teams won titles last weekend: Birmingham Brother Rice (Class A) and Bloomfield Hills Cranbrook (Class B) in tennis, Plymouth Salem in girls soccer and Detroit Country Day in girls track.

A handful of individuals sparkled. Troy's Keith Wheeler and Country Day's Shirley Evans each won two track titles; Plymouth Canton's Angle Miller won one, and DCDS's 400-meter and 3,200-meter girls relays and Farmington's 3,200-meter boys relay finished

In tennis, Class B Cranbrook's doubles teams - No. 1 David Nosunchuk and David Williams, No. 2 Laurent Ruseckas and Jason Hechtman, and No. 3 Tim Gammons and Eric Krupa — were winners. So were Rice's No. 1 doubles team of Pat Walsh and Scott Micus and No. 3 singles Marty Di-Loreto, and DCDS's No. 3 singles Vik Parmar in Class C. And Redford Catholic Central's Steve Campbell in No. 2 singles and Anthony Mikulec in No. 4 singles cap-

All should be proud. All should be overjoyed. But most probably don't realize the gravity of their accomplishment.

WINNING A CHAMPIONSHIP takes enormous skill. But it also requires the proper mental discipline (ask Bloomfield Hills Lahser's Steve Herdoiza, who lost the Class A No. 1 tennis singles title after an outburst over bad line calls), good health and luck.

Only when those elements are properly mixed can a team or individual succeed.

In the years to come, this year's champions may come to understand the nature of their accomplishment. For some, like Wheeler and Evans, who seem destined for greatness in their sport, last weekend's feats may diminish to minor dimensions.

Salem goalle Ellen Schnackel raises a water bottle above her head to symbolize the Rocks' standing as the state's No. 1 girls soccer team after beating Livonia Churchill Saturday.

State champs earn salute

Salem coach knew Rocks were capable

By G.J. Rlook staff writer

Moments after Plymouth Salem had won the school's first state championship with a 2-1 triumph over Livonia Churchill in Saturday's girls soccer final, Ken Johnson made known his boast.

"I predicted this," said the Rocks' coach. "At the beginning of the year I said we would win the state championship."

His youthful team - just three senior starters — followed through on that prediction. The Rocks did it by beating the defending state champions at their own game - controlling the ball. First-year Churchill coach Nick O'Shea installed a more pass-oriented system, and that helped the Chargers control the tempo of games. It worked for them in state tournament wins over Northville, Troy and Troy Athens.

But against Salem, the heat and the Rocks' deeper bench combined to sap Churchill - and make Johnson's pre-season claim a winner.

"I felt it right from the beginning of the season," Johnson said. "We won our indoor soccer league, and I could tell then - just from the spirit of the kids.

"When we beat Northville and their all-state goalie 5-2 in the season-opener, I said, "This is going to get better." And it did. They kept getting better and better all season long."

JOHNSON'S championship-game strategy was simple: use his bench strength, score quickly and keep pressuring. The Rocks did all three. There was just one thing they didn't do against Churchill.

"I thought we'd score more than we did," Johnson said. "We just missed on a couple of other chances.

Michelle Minton beats a pair of Midland defenders to the punch in Salem's semifinal victory over the Chemics, separating Jodi Stan-

Churchill played Athens in 90-degree heat in the state semifinals, but after Athens scored a second-half goal the Chargers immediately attacked with renewed determination. They soon had the equalizer. In similar weather conditions Saturday, Churchill had 75 minutes to counter Salem's early two-goal blitz. The Chargers couldn't. The Rocks controlled play and - except for the closing minutes as Churchill mounted an all-out scoring push - they had the better opportunities. "Our trainer helped us a lot,"

We seemed to be one step quicker, and we counter-attacked quickly."

Johnson noted. "It was her idea to have the extra coolers of ice and ice towels for the back of the players' necks, and the canopy (to shade the bench). She also said 15 minutes would be as far as anyone should go in that heat."

JOHNSON LISTENED. He substituted four and five players at a time. 'We really didn't lose anything to the heat," he said.

With the state title tucked away, individual honors rolled in Monday. Jill Estey, who scored Salem's first goal against Churchill and finished with 32 for the season (and 28 assists), was voted the state's top player. That honor automatically earned the sophomore forward all-Midwest honors and nominated her for All-

ton (18) and Katy Lee (12) to send the ball upfield behind the defense.

Senior defender Nicole Stojeba received honorable mention all-state accolades. Needless to say, it was a satisfying season for Johnson. But perhaps the, best thing about it is the promise that remains for the future. Two talented freshman will join Johnson's, troops next year, helping keep a championship team outstanding.

Can the Rocks repeat? "I think we can," Johnson predicted. "It's tough, but if the state regionals are set up the same way I don't know why not. "Looking at who we have coming back, I think they'll be hungry for, another (title). They won't be com-

"We prepared all week for him, and Ron Balog and Waite scored as and sometimes, when you do that, a result of back-to-back errors on it seems you're a little empty for the second one," he added.

Salem snuffed out a first-inning threat by the Chiefs, took a 2-0 lead on Tim Dowd's home run in the bottom of the inning and went on to post an 8-1 victory.

"I DON'T WANT, in any way, to diminish what Salem accomplished," said Crissey, who admitted the Rocks "flat out beat us," "but sometimes you get close to the top of the mountain and can't go the rest of the way."

Tanderys issued three of his five walks in the first inning, and the Chiefs got to him early, taking a 3-0 lead on Steve Waite's base hit and

But the Wildcats rallied to give Tanderys a 4-3 lead in the fourth incing when they scored three runs as a result of three walks, a Canton error and two hits.

"If there was a time Tanderys was going to put the nails in, that was when he was going to do it,"

Chiefs responded in the bottom of the inning to take a 6-4 lead.

Waite's RBI single tied the score, the same play.

STEVE FECHT/staff photographer

"WE PRIDE ourselves on the fact the kids don't quit," Crissey said. "When we have to have it, they do it."

The only disappointment, Crissey said, was that he had to use pitcher Mike Sulak, whom he had planned to start in the second game, in relief against Novi after the Wildcats took the lead in the

Sulak, who had missed three pitching rotations recently while sidelined with a viral infection, limited the damage to three Novi runs in the fourth and shut down the Wildcat bats for the final three Sulak got the Chiefs into the final, but that made it difficult for Crissey to call on him again in the Salem game.

"He's missed so much time; he just wasn't himself physically,"

"I THOUGHT IT would hurt him if I used him again in the second game. But he came in and did what he had to do (in the first game)."

But Shamrock coach John Salter credited the team's hitting, instead of the pitching, with its state tournament success. "We've got eight, 15 and nine runs in our tournament games," he said. "You get that and it takes the pressure off your pitch-

One big reason for CC's recharged plate performance is its league. In the Catholic League, the Shamrocks follow a three-balls-for-a-walk, twostrikes-for-a-strikeout rule. That favors the pitchers, Salter said.

"When you play 3-2, you've got to go up there swinging," he said. "In the state tournament, hitters can be more selective. Our hitters look at it

One of the team's hottest hitters is senior Gil Garcia. In Saturday's 15-0 romp over Detroit Cody and 9-8 upset of Westland John Glenn, Garcia was five-for-seven with eight RBI.

OTHERS WHO have enjoyed outstanding seasons are junior outfielder-designated hitter Matt Cannon (.348), senior center fielder Bob Malleck and shortstop Vince Morin.

Still, the oldest of baseball adages says a team wins with pitching and defense. The Shamrocks, who carry a 21-8 record, have both.

Defense should not be a problem. "During the season, this was one of our best teams ever defensively," Salter said. "They averaged about one error a game, which is pretty good for high school."

UMMER'S ON THE WAY, and the outdoor concert season has already begun. Concert-goers have been filling the pavilions and sprawling on the grass at both Pine Knob in Clarkston and, pre-season, the Meadow Brook Music Festival in Rochester Hills.

This weekend, the Troy Hilton Inn opens its sixth season of Summer Nights concerts, held poolside and, if it rains, under an outdoor tent. The P'Jazz series at the outdoor terrace at downtown Detroit's Pontchartrain Hotel will get underway for its 16th year Friday, June 26.

Pine Knob, in its 16th season, has offered nine series in subscription packages, as well as single-ticket sales. Most expensive series features Liza Minelli, Frank Sinatra, Mikhail Baryshnikov and George Benson, at $104 for pavilion, $61.50 for lawn. A concert by Paul Simon, highlighting his "Graceland" album, is set for Monday, June 22. Tickets are $20 pavilion, $15 lawn.

For season ticket information call the Pine Knob Ticket Office at 872-1600. Individual tickets also are available at Ticketmaster, 423-6666.

The Meadow Brook site at Baldwin Pavilion on the Oakland University campus was the setting for Jack Wagner on Saturday, May 30, and WDET's Motor City Bluegrass Festival on Sunday, May 31. Earl Klugh and Friends will perform Sunday, June 13, before Meadow Brook's 24th season officially begins with Paul Anka at 8 p.m. Tuesday,

ANKA IS THE FIRST performer in the "Star Series," which also incindes Cleo Laine and the John Dankworth Quartet, Wayne Newton and Perry Como. An "International Artists Series" will be led by flutist James Galway, with the Chieftains, on Friday, July 10. Four "Summer Solid Gold" concerts debut with Frankie Valli and the Four Seasons, with the Four Tops, on Friday, June

Gordon Lightfoot, Anne Murray and the Pointer Sisters are among artists who will appear at Meadow Brook in the series of contemporary concerts that began with the preseason concert by Jack Wagner.

Al Hirt and Pete Fountain headline the first of the Saturday night concert series June 20. Marvin Hamlisch is the star opening the Friday night series June 26.

Three orchestra pops concerts also are on the Friday and Saturday series. The Detroit Symphony Pops plays "Music from the Great Motion Pictures" one Saturday night, "Love Songs and War Music" on consecutive Friday and Saturday nights. The Meadow Brook Festival Orchestra is the musical attraction with the "Laser Light Spectacular!" also on Friday-Saturday nights.

TICKET PRICES vary, according to the artist, with Wayne Newton commanding a hefty $26-$30 for pavilion seats, $15 for lawn. The Preservation Hall Jazz Band is $12-$15 pavilion, $10 lawn. Most concerts are at 8 p.m.

Summer Nights at the Troy Hilton will have an expanded season, Saturday concerts beginning June 20, along with the usual Friday night concerts. Music includes calypso, Top 40, jazz, '60s rock 'n' roll.

Hugh Borde's Trinidad Tripoli Steel Band launches the season Friday, June 5. All the Saturday concerts are geared for the solid-gold crowd, with two bands, Domino and the Teen Angels, appearing throughout the summer.

PANOLETS NALES

the Friday concert, and $5 for Satur- concerts continue Wednesdays and Fridays through Aug. 21.

rai's 24th season on Tuesday, June 16, in Baldwin Pavilion.

Singing star Paul Anka will open Meadow Brook Music Festidays. The opening concert and the season's last two concerts are free. Doors open at 5:30 p.m. Friday, with the concert at 7:30 p.m., when the admission charge begins. All Saturday concerts begin at 8 p.m.

P'Jazz at the Hotel Pontchartrain will open its season with the Crusaders, who play blues, jazz, pop, rock, classical and soul, at 6:30 p.m. Friday, June 26, followed by Ortheia Admission is $5-$7, depending on Barnes on Friday, July 3. After that,

THE SEASON'S final attraction is still to be announced but is expected to be one of the all-time jazz greats. Other artists performing at P'Jazz include Norma Jean Bell, Frankie Laine and Maynard Ferguson, to name a few.

Tickets are $11-$15 for reserved seats, $8-$12 for general admission, depending on the concert. Doors open at 5 p.m.

Flowers hold special fascination for artist

By Corinne Abatt staff writer

"Celebration 1987," Mary Jane Bigler's show of watercolors and collages at the Birmingham Bloomfield Art Association, says a lot about what's going on there this year.

She and the BBAA are both celebrating 30 years, the BBAA as an entity and she as an instructor there. That makes her a vital part of the growth of the BBAA and the art community at large.

ways - as an educator, a friend, a creates collages that establish an inmother or, as she wants the world to triguing present to past relationship see her at this moment, as an artist.

Facing the main gallery in which her 50 paintings were displayed, Bigler said she liked the way the show was hung.

"The real person is in these paintings. The spirit of that person comes out in the use of color and the dynamics of composition.

She said it is really in four parts large flowers, small flowers, large collages and mini collages. "The mini collages are a protest," she said, against the current fascination with huge paintings.

The influence of the years she spent in Rome and other parts of Italy is everywhere in her work. Most pervasive is the color.

"IT'S GIALLOROSA," she said, "yellow pink or yellow rose. It has to do with the color (in Italy) each evening at sundown.'

And with that warm sundown shade, she couples yellows, oranges, greens, pinks and mauves, and the gallery seems to take on an inner glow from these colors.

.But Italy is more than giallorosa at sundown for Bigler, it is ancient walls and arches and billboards and signs with the paper peeling away leaving the past exposed in bits and pieces, parts of words and pictures, graphic hints of an interesting past.

Combining these with handmade papers, some of which are hers, Bigler can be seen in a number of rubbings and other memorabilia she that embodies exciting color, design and a sense of mystery.

The collages, large and small, like the flower paintings, are filled with contradictions, the paper shards attesting to the passage of time and how quickly an important event can disappear as the news of a new one is pasted over it. Yet, the walls and billboards remain

THE FLOWERS (in vases she collects to use in her paintings) are her passion. She has spent a lifetime studying, seeing and painting them as an artist as well as a biologist. She paints from nature and shuns the use of picture books or photographs.

"The prettiness of flowers is what people usually paint, sort of a decorative thing. They don't get into the meaning. I look at them as having different characteristics like people . . . I think the fact that I'm basically a country girl contributes to that. I think that's why Italy, with all of its textures, appealed to me.'

Her daughters, Jinni Bigler Thomas, an artist living in Albuquerque, N.M., and Betsy Bigler Wattley of Chicago, and granddaughter, Elizabeth Frantz of Chicago, came for the opening last Friday.

Her exhibition continues through

Hours are 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday-Saturday, 1516 S. Cranbrook, Birmingham.

Mary Jane Bigler says she will never tire of painting flowers because she goes beyond their prettiness, using them as metaphors for the fragility of life, in contrast to the enduring walls of Rome. At right is one of her favorite paintings in the show at Birmingham Bloomfield Art Association.

Scary 'Long Chain'

Author Wolf is at literary doorstep also Sarah Shoemakes wife, mother, and, until recently, part-time librarian.

"I decided long ago to use my maiden name, Wolf, as my writing name and now I wonder if it was such a good idea," the Livonia resident laughed when we talked recent-"My friends keep calling me, saying, 'What's the name I'm supposed to be looking for when I look for your book?" Wolf's first novel, "Long Chain of Death" (Walker & Co., hardbound, $16.95), is an edge-of-your-seat contemporary mystery with much of the action taking place in Michigan. David Brett is the main character and it is his wife who dies even before the second paragraph: "ON THE LAST morning of her life, Elizabeth Brett made blueberry pancakes. She kissed David goodby when he left, lingered over coffee and the newspaper, gathered the breakfast things and put them in the dishwasher, brushed her teeth, ran a comb through her hair, picked up her purse, and went out to the car. She put the key in the ignition and turned it. The blast blew out one whole side David Brett is acc used of killing his wife, and of killing two teenaged students of his, and it is up to him to find the real killer and clear his name. His search lead him tro a group of old army buddies - his father included — who served together during World War II. Three of the men and several family members have died seemingly accidental death and David realizes he is targeted as the next victim. It becomes a cat-and-mouse game, with the irrepressible Lt. Phillip Decker, Fairfield Police Department, playing the cat to Brett's mouse.

The novel received good reviews, including a "pointer" or "star" in Kirkus Review, the review magazine for libraries and bookstores.

THE IDEA FOR "Long Chain of aborted attempts at mainstream novels and after much research into what makes a good book sell, Wolf

"I realized that if I liked to read mysteries — and I did — that's what I should try to write. So I went to the bookstores and leafed through dozens of them. I asked people why they liked the books they were reading, and then I would read them, too twice — once for plot and once for book break

Mona Grigg

"Finally, I devised a list of criteria - what it takes to make a book sell. I knew what I wanted it to be. It should be a story about terrible things happening to normal, every-day people. Then I thought, what's the scariest thing that could happen. To me it would be realizing you could be killed - and not knowing how or why."

Making World War II the precipitating event seemed a logical step to Wolf. "It meant that the children of those men could be the victims and it would take a long time to put the pieces together, since no one except the killer had any knowledge of what had taken place."

Wolf says she has been writing books "since the third grade," though there was a long interval of about 20 years when the writer in her languished while she was wife and mother. "I can't say that there came a day when I said, 'All right, today I guit my job (as wife and mother) and become a writer. It was much more gradual than that."

WOLF IS WORKING on a couple of projects, including an international spy novel. The two novels she wrote before "Long Chain of Death" will probably stay in a drawer somewhere, she says. "It just seems much more productive and a lot more enjoyable to be working on something Wolf is toying with the idea of making the wily but likeable Lt. Decker into a continuing character. "At first, I had him dying in the last chapter," she said, "then he seemed to take over and I found I liked him too much to let him die. Now my editor seems to think he would be per-Death" came about after several fect for a series of books and I'm giving it some serious thought." OMING UP:

ARTS & CRAFTS AND MUCH MORE!

They're off and running at last year's Garden City Fun Run, part of the annual Garden City Community Festival. There will be three runs, or really two runs and one walk, starting at 8:30 a.m. Saturday, directly behind City Hall.

Spring Festival promises fun for all ages this weekend

Garden City is ready for shoppers and festival-goers this weekend.

There will be free entertainment, blue grass band, sidewalk sales, a carnival, flea market, kiddie rides, minigolf tournament, bike rally, arts and crafts displays, a fun run, and other activities in the city's downtown section of Ford and Middlebelt.

While the carnival will open today and run through Sunday, most events will be on the weekend.

The festival will be the seventh annual event and has a new name: Garden City Community Festival, planned by numerous civic group leaders and Chamber of Commerce board of directors and chaired by Mayor Vincent Fordell.

When it started in the spring of 1981, it was called the Flower and Garden Festival. Several years ago, it was renamed the Spring Festival.

With good weather, the festival committee expects to have about 50,000 adults and children enjoy the varied activities.

The festival was the brain-child of Mitchell Nimmoor, then chamber president and active in getting city officials and business persons together to improve the city's downtown.

A committee of chamber board members and other civic group leaders convened in early 1981 and planned the first festival, which has now be-· · come an tradition.

THE FESTIVAL is intended to let local shoppers and residents in adjacent suburbs see and enjoy the upgraded downtown business section.

To reflect those improvements, the community will formally dedicate The Commons at 2 p.m. Saturday on the northwest corner of Ford and Middle-

The Commons, on the site of the former Minder property, includes benches, gazebo and plenty of shrubbery for busy shoppers or pedestrians

This year's festival is a combination celebration of Michigan Week and the Michigan Sesquicentennial

The festival will be held from 6-11 p.m. Thursday and Friday, noon-11 p.m. Saturday and noon-9 p.m. Sun-

The event will start Thursday with the opening of the popular carnival rides on the parking lot of the former LaParisien theater on the north side of Ford, just east of Middlebelt.

On Friday, the carnival will continue in addition to a flea market on Middlebelt at Block, next to the Biscuit Company restaurant from noon-9 p.m.; arts and crafts displays on Ford from Middlebelt to the Sheridan Square retail center at Henry Ruff from 1 p.m. to dusk; Kiwanis Club spaghetti dinner at the American Legion

Hall, 2061 Middlebelt, from 4-8 p.m.; kiddie rides in front of the K mart store from 1-11 p.m., and the Rotary Club's instant winner booth from 6-11

THE FESTIVAL will move into high gear Saturday with the annual fun run at 8:30 a.m., immediately behind City Hall, 6000 Middlebelt. The event, sponsored by the Garden City School District's adult education department, usually attracts about 300 to 400 runners, represented in all age groups. Winners in mens and women's divisions will receive prizes.

Persons may register in advance by completing entry forms available at most public buildings or by calling the adult education department at 422-

There will actually be three "runs," one a 3.1 mile route, a 1-mile route, and a 1-mile walk

The police department's crime prevention coordinator. Neighborhood Watch volunteer and International Bike Shop will co-sponsor a bike rally at 10:30 a.m. in a move to help make residents more aware of crime prevention techniques.

The rally will start at the City Hall parking lot.

A mini-golf tournament will be sponsored from 10 a.m. to noon by the Garden City Professional Womens Club at the Ford Road course at Ford and Central, one block east of Middlebelt. At Sheridan Square, a bubble gum blowing contest will start at 10 a.m.

The arts and crafts displays will open from 10 a.m. to dusk with the annual Scat Pack Mopar car show and swap meet open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Crestwood Dodge, Ford at Venoy.

Kiddie rides at the K mart store will be open from 10 a.m. to 11 p.m. while Sheridan Square will be the location of a watermelon eating contest at Rotarians will hold their instant raffle contest from noon-11 p.m. while the carnival is open from noon-11 p.m.

At noon, a pie eating contest will start at Sheridan Square.

THE COMMONS, on which construction is nearly complete, will be dedicated by city and business officials at 2 p.m

The Blue Grass Generation will perform free from 2 p.m. to dusk at Sheridan Square.

On the last day of the festival, the flea market will be open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.; the arts and crafts displays available from noon-dusk; a diaper derby for infants on the City Hall front lawn at 12:30 p.m.; a senior citizens' dance by Maplewood Center Seniors Club will be from 2-5 p.m.; kiddie rides will be from noon-6 p.m., while the carnival will be from noon-9 p.m.

But Garden City Business and Professional Womens Club members are hoping to continue a sports tradition Saturday with its "Garden City Open." The event will be a mini-golf tournament at the Ford Road course on Ford at Central, one block east of Middlebelt, from 10 a.m. to noon.

Prizes will be awarded for the overall low score, hole-in-one, and individual and team low score, with prizes awarded for age divisions.

Registration forms are available from municipal buildings and BPW

There is a registration fee for the event with the form and check mailed or brought to the mini-golf course or Orin Jewelers, on the southeast corner of Ford and Middlebelt.

The fee is $5 for adults, $4 for 14-16 year olds, and $3.50 for other age divi-In case of rain, the tournament will be the next day. The first tournament was held last year during the festival.

Ready for rally

Getting ready for the first bike-crime prevention rally is David Dillingham, owner of a Ford-Middlebelt bicycle shop. The business and the police department's crime prevention bureau will co-sponsor a bike rally and search for crime prevention clues at 10:30 a.m. Saturday at City Hall. Registration forms for the event are available at the bike store and municipal buildings.
