Plymouth, Canton crime rate stays low

By M.B. Dillon
staff writer

If you spend a lot of time in the Plymouth-Canton area, your chances of becoming a crime victim are considerably less than they would be elsewhere in suburban Detroit.

FBI figures released Saturday show Canton and Plymouth are among metropolitan Detroit communities with the lowest major crime rates.

Canton, with a population of 59,446, reported no murders, 19 rapes, 31 robberies, 57 aggravated assaults, 436 burglaries, 1,632 larceny-thefts, 225 motor vehicle thefts and 46 arsons in 1986.

Livonia, with almost double the population (101,098), reported one homicide, 18 rapes, 130 robberies, 248 assaults, 804 burglaries, 2,912 larcenies, 1,212 larceny-thefts, 1,098 motor vehicle thefts and 27 arsons.

Plymouth, with 10,205 residents recorded no murders, no rapes, six robberies, eight assaults, 48 burglaries, 252 larceny-thefts, 24 motor vehicle thefts and four arsons.

Birmingham's population is about twice as large as Plymouth's. In 1986, there were no murders, three rapes, 19 robberies, 12 assaults, 217 burglaries, 711 larceny-thefts, 129 motor vehicle thefts and five arsons.

FIGURES FOR Plymouth Township didn't make it to the FBI as required by federal law (Computers used by the township and Michigan State Police are incompatible, so tapes sent to the state have been rejected, said township Deputy Chief Chip Snider.)

Snider called larceny and property crime "our biggest concerns. There seems to be an increase, some of which is due to an increase in reporting (of crime by residents)," he said.

Overall, Plymouth Township enjoys a relatively low crime rate, added Snider, who noticed after moving here from Farmington that his auto and home insurance premiums dropped.

Plymouth and Canton rank among the areas with the fewest burglaries per 1,000 people in suburban Detroit. Plymouth reported five and Canton eight burglaries per 1,000 residents last year. There were 13 burglaries for every 1,000 people in Farmington Hills and 18 burglaries per 1,000 Southfield residents.

EXCLUDING MURDER, Canton crime

was up during 1985.

Rapes went up from 12 to 19, robberies from 16 to 31, assaults from 36 to 57, burglaries from 345 to 436, larceny-thefts from 1,212 to 1,632, motor vehicle theft from 157 to 225 and arsons from 10 to 46. Canton's population increased by 1,318 from 1985 to 1986 — a key factor in the increases, said FBI special agent John Anthony.

"If there has been an increase in crime, it has been slight in comparison with the sizable jump in population," said Anthony, a Canton resident.

JOHN SANTOMAURO, Canton director of public safety, said while crime in Canton is up, local major crime is lower per capita than in metropolitan Detroit, Michigan and the U.S.

Plymouth crime totals for 1985 were unavailable.

FBI surveys have found for a number of years that a third or more of the nation's crimes are not reported to police.

There has been some increase in the rate at which people report crime to the police, "but that can't possibly account for the large and widespread increase in reported crime," said Alfred Blumstein, dean of the school of urban and public affairs at Carnegie-Mellon University.

Anthony said several things influence crime rates.

- Population, particularly the youth concentration. If you have an older population, chances are you will have a lower crime rate.

- Transportation and highway systems providing "easy mobility" would lend itself to more crime.

$10 million senior housing project planned

By Susan Buck
staff writer

A 19-acre, $10 million development consisting of senior citizen apartment housing along with condominiums designed for adults has been proposed in Canton Township.

According to Jay Turner, owner president of Ultra Ventures Inc. based in East Lansing, the issue will be decided by the township board within 30 days.

The complex, named Carriage Park, would be south of Meijer Thrifty Acres and on the east side of Canton Center Road. It will include two 90-unit, three-story residential apartment buildings, designed to accommodate the physical needs of active, ambulatory senior citizens.

The buildings will include 24-hour on-site management, a Continental breakfast bar, grocery and pharmacy delivery, a barber/hairdresser, monthly newsletters, a wellness program administered by visiting physicians, organized activities trips, an optional meal and housekeeping program and controlled building entry for resident security.

"I'm selling a lifestyle," said Turner.

AVERAGE MONTHLY rental rates for the one-bedroom apartments are projected at $550; the two-bedroom units will be $650, said Turner.

"I'm appealing to the moderate income senior citizen that has a disposable income of at least $15,000 a year."

He describes the apartment buildings as congregate care facilities meaning they would provide seniors with a place to congregate via a lobby, lounge, multipurpose community rooms, a second-story glassed-in area used for sunning, mailroom and first floor laundry facilities.

"Everything is within walking distance," said Turner. "The Y-shaped architecture was chosen to minimize walking distances."

The condominiums will cost less than $80,000 and are designed for seniors and young married couples. This phase of the development will consist of both one-story, two-bedroom two bathroom ranch homes and two story townhouses of approximately 1,100 square feet.

"I had a professional market study done which demonstrates that there is a strong need for senior housing in Canton Township. There is no other senior housing in Canton. There's a proposal on the table by the township since 1982 for subsidized senior housing that has not even started construction."

Carriage Park, a senior citizen housing project, is proposed for development in Canton.

THIS PROJECT is not to be confused with a federally subsidized senior citizen housing project at Ford and Sheldon roads. This project has been in the works for more than two years.

Turner said he has contacted The Pioneers, Royal Holiday and Zesters senior citizen groups to inform them of the project.

"We hope to start construction on the senior citizen buildings in October and construction of the condominiums next spring," he said. "The second senior citizen building will be constructed when the first senior citizen building is nearing capacity."

Rezoning of the condominium site will be from R-4 single family units to R-6 single family attached units.

"There will also be a basement if the utilities in Canton will support having basements. Right now, there is a major outstanding utility question that has to be resolved. Last night (Monday), my recommendation from the planning commission had a contingency attached to it that I get my sanitary sewer from Ford Road or from Meijer's Thrifty Acres.

"That is going to have a substantial economic impact on the development. Right now we are trying to determine if it will affect the feasibility. We have a sanitary sewer that is deep enough and has sufficient capacity at that location but the township is preventing us from using it. We were directed to go about 600 feet to the north and we will have to look at the cost."

Turner said he would pursue development at that location even if the costs rise due to sewer problems, however, there might be a higher rent and/or a combined cost by the township and his company.

David Lauderbaugh, president of the Fellows Creek Civic Association, near the proposed project, said he had no objection to Turner's project. He said he wants assurance there is enough sewer capacity.

Lauderbaugh said some Embassy Square residents, who appeared at a zoning board meeting July 14, also were concerned with sewer capacity as well as property values.

Judith Allseit is building an impressive resume for a journalistic career.

Senior editor?

Grandmother getting journalism degree

By Susan Buck
staff writer

Judith Allseit is embarking on a career that was put on hold 35 years ago.

Like many women, Allseit, 56, prioritized her time when she got married, choosing to stay home and raise her children rather than pursue personal interests.

This time around, she is taking the world by storm, enjoying every opportunity that comes her way.

Not many editors at college newspapers have five children and 14 grandchildren, but Allseit, an Eastern Michigan University student, does.

Allseit, a Canton resident, who will complete journalism degree requirements soon, served three years on the Eastern Echo, the school newspaper, was editor of the 1986-87 EMU Aurora yearbook and was editor of Cellar Roots, the campus literary magazine for two years.

This year, EMU's Student Media Board awarded Allseit the 1986-87 Lincoln Steffens Award honoring her as EMU's Outstanding Journalism Student of the Year.

THIS MONTH, she is one of several top women students featured in an article in The Michigan Woman magazine entitled "Women of Tomorrow Making a Difference Today."

"It's difficult when you raise a family and that job is over," said Allseit. "You have to decide what to do next. My purpose in attending college was to learn to be a writer. By becoming a student, I was able to put aside the trappings of being a housewife."

Allseit was a 20-year-old Purdue University student when she married her husband, Leonard, who now works as a manufacturing engineer at the Ford Motor Co. Levan plant.

"The Korean War came and then the family came. Trying to raise a family took all of our energies," she said.

That family includes: Nelle Allseit, 35, a Dearborn resident; Rebecca Hopson, 33, who lives in Oklahoma; Lee Anne Doyle, 32, who lives in Indiana; Leonard Allseit Jr., 30, an Alabama resident; and Evan Allseit, 27, who is in the armed services, stationed in Japan.

ALTHOUGH SHE HAS worked as a kindergarten aide, a department store clerk and a statistics clerk for the Michigan Cancer Foundation, "this wasn't enough for me," she said.

"My husband has been very supportive since I started at EMU in 1983. We've had a good life where both of us stressed partnership. My husband is a very confident man. He didn't feel threatened by the fact that I was getting a degree."

"A woman hangs up her shingle when her children leave home. Housework doesn't have a lot of prestige. Although my husband appreciates a good housekeeper, the word housekeeper is like a great big trap for me, waiting for the teeth to close."

By working on school publications, Allseit said she learned organization, responsibility, how to write under three deadlines a week and how to relate to students young enough to be her children.

"I was almost finished with school before I realized that I almost had enough credits for a major in journalism," she said.

When Allseit graduates soon, she doesn't know if she'll look for a job or try freelance writing.

"My husband is getting ready to retire and I want to spend time with him," she said. "I need something flexible and writing is a portable occupation. I can just pick up my typewriter and go."

Ford promises Medicare aid won't be cut

By Brian Lysaght
staff writer

When today's young professionals reach retirement age, America will face some serious health care dilemmas, a congressman told residents of a Westland nursing home last Friday.

The catastrophic health plan, passed last week by the U.S. House of Representatives, is needed to help America's aging population right now, said Rep. William Ford, D-Taylor.

Ford, whose 15th congressional district includes Westland, Garden City, Canton Township, and the south half of Livonia, criticized the Reagan administration's failure to provide more funding for housing and health care for the elderly.

"The whole question of health care for the elderly is very much in the forefront and it's become a very political issue, unfortunately," Ford said.

Housing for elderly has been cut since the 1960s, while demand is high now, he said.

THE CONGRESSMAN told about 50 residents of the Westland Convalescent Center that, despite Reagan administration scare tactics, Medicare benefits won't be cut.

House Democrats will challenge President Reagan proposed domestic budget cuts, Ford said.

Ford lauded the catastrophic health bill which the House of Representatives passed last week. Reagan has criticized the bill, which must get Senate approval. The final version will probably differ from the House version.

The bill seeks to limit liability of Medicare recipients for costly medical care and prescription drugs through higher premiums.

FORD SUGGESTED that American political leaders consider the European approach to care for elderly. In most west European countries, the state provides a pension and housing for all elderly citizens.

Rep. William Ford discusses health care.

Such care is considered a responsibility of the state, Ford said.

In 2020 when Baby Boomers reach retirement, the social security and Medicare systems may be strained by increased demand. The country's population is growing older, Ford said, but the Congress is reluctant to consider such a problem, and young people don't want to pay for it.

More services must be provided, and Ford said taxes should be raised to pay the costs.

"THE ONLY way to be able to pay for these programs is more taxes," Ford said.

Ford was invited to speak at the nursing home as part of a current affairs class. Residents said they were pleased that he made the trip.

Ford's topic "affects a lot of people here," said Tony Campo, who lives at the center.

Another resident, Evelyn Mullins, said she depends on her Social Security benefits for income. But Mullins sounded hesitant about a tax hike.

"Sometimes if things were used the right way they wouldn't have to cost so much," she said.

Hazardous material plan studied

Plymouth Township officials have spent more weeks to decide whether to establish a local emergency planning committee to deal with hazardous material accidents or let the county coordinate the task.

The Plymouth Township Board will consider the issue at a special meeting Tuesday.

The city of Plymouth because it has a population of less than 10,000, but its area will become part of a county plan.

Federal law has expanded a state workers' right to know law concerning hazardous materials in the workplace to a more-encompassing "community right to know" standard.

Emergency plans now must identify facilities and transportation routes where hazardous materials can be found and elaborate ways of responding to accidents.

BOTH THE city and township fire departments have already started surveying larger manufacturers in response to the state law that went into effect earlier this year.

"We're developing our own prefire plans from information they provided us," said Al Matthews, fire chief of the city. "We feel it's important to collect this information."

A combination county local plan seems to be the best way for the city to go, he added.

"We've gone to the bigger places in the township," said Larry Groth, fire chief there. "We're going to run into all of them eventually (during routine inspections, within two years)."

The federal law requires action by municipalities or counties while state law allows inquiries.

"IT'S VERY pressing," Groth said of the federal legislation. "It's a job that can't be accomplished overnight. These chemicals didn't come into our township overnight. It took years."

Both Groth and Matthews agree that having information on hand locally rather than depending exclusively on the county would result in a quicker, safer response.

It's our men entering buildings during hazardous materials incidents," Groth said.

Information we're obtaining will make it a little safer for our firefighters," Matthews said.

Separately, both Plymouths and Canton have banded together with 19 other municipalities in Wayne County to establish a hazardous materials emergency team.

● Strength of local law enforcement and the criminal justice system.

● Residents who promptly report crime and serve as witnesses reduce crime.

Nationally, police solved 52 percent of all rapes, 25 percent of robberies, 39 percent of assaults, 14 per-

Young people were involved in one of every 10 violent crimes that was solved and more than two of every five property crimes.

There were 12.5 million arrests last year for all types of crime, up 5 percent from 1985, including 1.8 million arrests for driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Schools await Blanchard's budget ax

By Wayne Peal
staff writer

Schools are preparing for belt-tightening, while legislators are shaking their heads over Gov. James Blanchard's proposed cutbacks in the state budget.

In-formula districts, which receive direct state aid for classroom expenses, and some out-of-formula districts, which don't, are crying the blues over the governor's proposed cuts.

"What we're hearing is that there won't be a cut in direct aid, it's all going to be categorical aid," Wayne Westland Superintendent of Schools Dennis O'Neill said. "But that could be a disaster, too."

THOUGH ORDERED by the state, categorical special education, and transportation programs have been supplemented with local dollars for years, South Redford Superintendent Jan Jacobs said.

"It's not as if we're losing millions of dollars but we are losing hundreds of thousands and every year it adds up," Jacobs said.

Livonia, like South Redford, also is out-of-formula, but district officials aren't as concerned about the proposed cuts.

"I'd say last year's categorical state aid was about $1 million of a $68 million budget," Livonia School Superintendent James Carl said. "We're concerned but it's a small amount."

Potential for mid-year executive order cuts pose a bigger worry for in-formula districts like Wayne-Westland, Garden City, Plymouth-

Canton and Redford Union.

"That would be devastating," O'Neill said. "By that time there's not much you can do. You can't lay off teachers halfway through the school year. At the same time there's talk of a tax cut, it just doesn't make sense."

ANOTHER INFORMED source however, said Blanchard was unlikely to order further cuts.

"That's the impression we have," Schoolcraft College President Richard McDowell said. McDowell is a member of the Michigan Community College Association's executive committee, said Blanchard was unlikely to follow former governor William Milliken's example of executive ordered cuts.

"I think he's Blanchard, getting his ducks all in a row right now," McDowell said. "He doesn't want to come back later and ask for cuts."

Community colleges escaped the budget-cutting ax, Blanchard declined to pare back the $198 million appropriated by the state Legislature. From what we gather it's a 54 percent increase and we're very grateful to have it," McDowell said.

A whopping $41.1 million cut in state building projects won't involve Schoolcraft, McDowell said.

Blanchard Administration officials however trimmed $20 million from the original $610 million appropriation for public school aid.

At this point, local school districts aren't sure how much they stand to lose.

Local legislators however promise to find out before approving the cuts.

"If it affects my district I'm going to take a good hard look at it," said State Rep. Justine Barns, D-Westland, a House education committee member.

Barns said the cuts were surprising after Blanchard's early endorsement of the budget.

"Where was the new information?" she said.

Legislators will be presented with the new budget when they reconvene in September. The state's fiscal year begins Thursday Oct. 1.

State Sen. R. Robert Geake, vice chair of the Senate appropriations committee, said the tight deadline complicated the budget process.

It's going to be difficult, said Geake, whose district includes Livonia, Plymouth, Canton and Redford Township. "It's going to take us eight days to do what it originally took us six months to do."

THERE'S A BARGAIN WAITING FOR YOU IN TODAY'S CLASSIFIEDS

Here's where state budget cuts will fall

School aid, social services and state building projects stand to lose the most if Gov. Blanchard's recently-recommended budget cuts take effect.

Cuts aren't recommended, however, in nearly half of the state's major budget areas.

Recommended cuts, by area, are:

• Agriculture — The governor recommends cutting $15 million out from an appropriation of $31 million, a 48 percent reduction.

• Attorney General — The $22.9 million appropriation remains unchanged.

• Capital Outlay — In the largest cut, the governor recommends slashing state building projects in half. A $41.1 million cut from an $83.9 million appropriation is recommended.

• Civil Rights — The full $11.3 million appropriation remains unchanged.

• Civil Service — The $11.8 million appropriation remains unchanged.

• Colleges and Universities — The governor recommends a cutback of $1.4 million, about 0.1 percent of a $1.12 billion appropriation.

• Commerce — The governor recommends cutting the $97.7 million commerce by $7.7 million. The recommended cut is 7.7 percent.

• Community Colleges — The $198.1 million appropriation remains unchanged.

• Corrections — Legislators haven't yet confirmed the appropriation estimated at $561.3 million.

• Debt service — The $32.6 million appropriation for paying off state bond issues remains unchanged.

• Education — The governor recommends trimming $16 million from the $41 million Education Department appropriation, not to be confused with the school aid cuts. A 3.9 percent cutback is recommended.

• Executive — The $4.1 million appropriation remains unchanged.

• Judiciary — The $100.7 million court system appropriation remains unchanged.

• Labor — The governor recommends cutting $5 million, or 5.8 percent, from an Labor Department appropriation of $85.3 million.

• Legislature — A $1.8 million cut, 2.3 percent of a $78 million appropriation is recommended by the governor.

• State Library — The governor recommends cutting $1.8 million of the $23.4 million appropriation, a cut of 7.6 percent.

• Licensing and Regulation — The $14.1 million appropriation remains unchanged.

• Management and Budget — The governor recommends cutting the $150.3 million appropriation by $11.7 million, or 7.7 percent.

• Mental Health — A $6.9 million cut is recommended from a $772.2 million appropriation. It is less than 1 percent.

• Military Affairs — The $12.5 million appropriation remains unchanged.

• Natural Resources — The governor recommends cutting the $127.1 DNR appropriation by $6.3 million, or 4.9 percent.

• Public Health — A $1.1 million cut, less than 1 percent is recommended from a $141.4 million appropriation.

• School Aid — In the third largest cut, the governor recommends eliminating $20 million from the legislature's $610 million appropriation. A 3.2 percent cut is recommended.

• Social Services — The DSS would receive the second-largest cut in dollar terms, $22.6 million. The cut would be about 1 percent of a $2.03 billion allocation.

• State Programs — The governor recommends a $775,000 cut from a $14.3 million appropriation. The recommended cut is 5.4 percent.

• State Police — A $651,000 cut is recommended from an allocation of $161.3 million, the recommended cut is less than one percent.

• Treasury — The $56.7 million treasury department allocation remains unchanged.

No vote yet on death penalty

By Tim Richard
staff writer

Don't hold your breath waiting for a special state election on the death penalty.

Oakland Circuit Judge Alice Gilbert Wednesday denied a request that she immediately order Secretary of State Richard Austin to set a statewide vote on the proposed constitutional amendment.

"Effectively the secretary of state has been able to kill off petition drive," said a disappointed David Raaflaub, attorney for Troy resident Dean Fitzpatrick, an avid petition circulator.

"THIS COURT will not issue piecemeal orders," said Judge Gilbert as she ruled at the end of a brief hearing. "There may be a series of orders."

Gilbert said she may have to decide an array of questions affecting not only death penalty petitions but petitions for a part-time legislature.

In May Gilbert wrote an opinion nullifying the Legislature's "state signature" law — which gives petitioners just 180 days to collect signatures to place proposed constitutional amendments on the ballot. She found the Legislature had violated the Michigan Constitution by ramming through the provision in a single day instead of the required five days.

That represented a victory for Fitzpatrick, Oakland Prosecutor L. Brooks Patterson, champion of the death penalty, and Brighton politico Richard Chrysler, head of the part-time legislature drive.

BUT SO FAR Gilbert hasn't answered what Patterson has called "the ultimate question" — namely, "What does it do for us who were victimized by that statute last summer?"

Richard Gartner, representing Austin's office, explained, "For her to do that (order a special election), she has to make several decisions:

• "When will it be held?"

• "Should she order the secretary of state to recognize all the signatures?"

• "If the signatures are insufficient in number, should petitioners have time to gather additional signatures?"

RAAFLAUB, an Ann Arbor attorney who has been a Libertarian Party nominee for the state Supreme Court, vainly argued that Austin's office is "shooting my client, leaving him where he lies and saying there's no effective remedy."

He asked the court to order the secretary of state to accept petitions, allow additional time to collect more signatures and set an election.

Patterson's committee filed death penalty petitions prior to the November 1986 election, but the secretary of state ruled there were insufficient signatures.

The part-time legislature petitions were filed this year.

Even to lawyers the case is confusing because of the number of petition issues, the differences in filing dates and the number of separate issues. At one point, state's attorney Gartner said, "I don't know why we're here."

"I don't know either," Gilbert said.

SEMCOG is honored for Rouge clean-up plan

The Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG), received a tip of the hat from its fellow inter-governmental agencies for helping devise plans to clean the heavily-polluted Rouge River.

The Michigan Association of Regions recently presented SEMCOG with its Outstanding Intergovernmental Achievement Award. The award recognizes efforts to bring governments together to solve common problems.

Through SEMCOG, representatives of 47 communities helped draft the Rouge clean-up plan.

SEMCOG is a voluntary association of counties, cities, villages, townships, intermediate school districts and community colleges. It coordinates efforts to meet housing, transportation, land use, public safety, recreation, open space, economic development and environmental needs.

The Michigan Association of Regions helps develop statewide plans and provides training and technical assistance for statewide agencies.

Seat belts save lives

AP — The number of front-seat vehicle occupants killed in traffic accidents declined about 8.7 percent in the first eight states that passed mandatory seat belt laws, according to recently released study.

The University of Michigan study said the fatality rate for drivers and front-seat passengers declined 6.8 percent in Michigan, New Jersey, Illinois and Nebraska, states that have laws requiring that other violations be cited before a seat belt citation can be issued.

The rate declined 9.9 percent in New York and Texas, which have primary enforcement laws, or laws allowing officials to ticket solely for not wearing seat belts.

The study used traffic fatality figures from January 1976 to June 1986 for people ages 10 and over, and examined only the eight states that passed mandatory seat belt laws before October 1985.

North Carolina and Missouri had passed laws by then, but did not enforce them during the study period. The two states were included in the overall analysis.

"Clearly our results demonstrate that belt laws with primary rather than secondary enforcement provisions are needed," said Alexander C. Wagenaar, research scientist at the school's Transportation Research Institute.

Jackson: Do more for U.S., foreign labor

By Wayne Peal
staff writer

American labor unions should do more for workers worldwide, while American businesses should do more for workers in their own country, the Rev. Jesse Jackson said Monday, as talks between the United Auto Workers and General Motors began.

Jackson, a noted social activist and potential presidential candidate, challenged American unions to put an end to "slave labor" overseas.

"Are we losing jobs to Taiwan and South Korea because the Taiwanese and south Koreans are better workers?" Jackson said. "No. We're losing jobs because they work for $2-3 an hour. The field must be made level."

American-based corporations, Jackson said, must "reinvest in America." Corporations have been guilty of "merging, purging (workers) and submerging (the economy)," he said.

JACKSON SPOKE to an estimated 125 students and faculty members in a late afternoon appearance at the University of Michigan-Dearborn. His daughter, Jackie, "a budding swimming champ" accompanied him.

Speaking in Fair Lane Manor, the house built by auto magnate Henry Ford, Jackson re-sounded his familiar call for worldwide economic justice.

"The company that owns the mines in Arizona also owns the mines in South Africa," Jackson said.

He drew his biggest response when calling for an end to apartheid, the government-imposed system of racial restrictions upon South African blacks, and in calling for a "wide-awake" U.S. presidency — a job at President Reagan.

FRAMED by the auto talks, Jackson's comments centered on economic issues but also touched on an array of other issues. They included:

• Reflagging Kuwaiti oil tankers in the Persian Gulf. "We should not be in that gulf alone," Jackson said. "The gulf states, Japan, Britain, France and the Soviets all have interests." He criticized the Reagan Administration's "unilateral action" in allowing Kuwaiti tankers to fly the American flag and in risking U.S. Navy personnel to defend them.

• Aiding the contra rebels who seek to overthrow the Sandinista regime in Nicaragua. Jackson said he would cut off aid to the Reagan Administration-backed contras as part of a program to bring peace to Central America. Jackson said he supported a proposed multi-national dialogue between Central American states to defuse tensions in the region. "I could bring peace," he said. "Just as Eisenhower did when he said he would go to Korea and as President Carter did with the Camp David accords."

• Curbing drug abuse. "There must be a federal-state partnership to cut off the flow of drugs," Jackson said. "You can go to Battery Park (New York) right in the shadow of the Statue of Liberty — drugs flowing like water."

Jackson suggested placing U.S. troops at the nation's borders to assist in drug searches, but stopped short of calling for military action against drug-producing nations.

JACKSON WAS in the area to visit legendary singer Aretha Franklin during a Monday night gospel music recording session at New Bethel Baptist Church, Detroit. He was to have addressed the nation's governors at the National Governor's Conference in Traverse City the next day.

A Jackson presidential exploratory committee has been formed with an eye toward the 1988 election. Jackson also appeared during a recently televised panel discussion among Democratic Party presidential contenders.

But while Monday's response was warm toward Jackson the person, media star, it was somewhat cooler toward Jackson the potential candidate.

Several audience members pledged contributions or volunteered to solicit contributions for Jackson's committee. But a show of hands indicated most would be small scale contributors or fundraisers.

Some audience members said they had already made up their minds about a Jackson candidacy.

"I'm not interested in him as a president," said U-M Dearborn student Paul Rakowicz of Livonia. "But I am interested in what he has to say. I mean, he's on television all the time, but that might not be the true story."

But some who came with open minds apparently went away converted.

He answered all my questions, U-M-D instructor Dave Sosnowski of Wyandotte said. "I was very impressed."

JAMES MAKOWSKI

The Rev. Jesse Jackson, the leading Democratic candidate for president according to most polls, makes a point during Monday's appearance at the University of Michigan-Dearborn.

Dems' catastrophic illness plan passed

Here's how area members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes in the week ending July 24

HOUSE

CATASTROPHIC ILLNESS — By a vote of 302 for and 127 against, the House passed and sent to the Senate a bill (HR 247) to protect 31 million elderly and disabled Medicare patients from high doctor, hospital and drug costs resulting from lengthy illnesses.

Supplemental Medicare premiums of up to $580 a year initially, charged only to beneficiaries who earn enough to file IRS tax returns, would finance the projected $33 billion five-year cost of the new catastrophic coverage.

In early stages of the plan, persons covered by Medicare would have to pay each year no more than $1,043 for "reasonable" doctors' bills, $544 for hospital care and 20 percent of the cost of prescription drugs above a $500 deductible. The bill adds new but modest benefits for care at home, hospices and nursing homes.

Rep. Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth, said the Democratic plan is "far too expensive... without providing protection against long-term care."

Members voting yes supported the catastrophic illness bill drafted by Democrats.

Voting yes: Democrats Dennis Hertel, Harper Woods, William

Ford, Taylor, and Sander Levin, Southfield.
Voting no: Republicans Carl Pursell, Plymouth, and William Broomfield, R-Birmingham.

GOP SUBSTITUTE — The House rejected, 190 for and 242 against, the Republican alternative to the catastrophic illness bill (above).

Derived from the Reagan Administration's proposal to protect the elderly against staggering medical expenses, the GOP substitute carried a price tag of $18.2 billion over five years.

In another key variation from the Democratic plan, it provided drug reimbursement only to the needy older than 65. This was designed in part to ease fears in some quarters that AIDS patients on Medicare disability will drain the resources of the drug benefits program.

Supporter Jerry Lewis, R-Calif., said the high cost of the Democratic bill could "undermine the Medicare and Social Security systems."

Opponent Henry Waxman, D-Calif., said cost-conscious Republicans had produced a plan "that is certainly not generous to the elderly and disabled in this country."

Members voting yes favored the GOP alternative. Republicans Pursell and Broomfield voted yes.

Voting no: Democrats Hertel, Ford and Levin.

GENERIC DRUGS — by a vote of 161 for and 265 against, the House rejected an amendment making it easier for doctors to prescribe brand-name rather than generic drugs to Medicare patients under pending catastrophic illness legislation (above).

The vote left intact a requirement that doctors write out brand-name requests. The rejected amendment enabled doctors to specify brand-name drugs merely by checking a box on the prescription form.

Sponsor Andrew Jacobs, D-Ind., said the issue was whether "somebody in Washington or somebody who has a stethoscope on the chest at the time" should decide between the two.

Opponent Ron Wyden, D-Ore., said "we certainly should not be setting up new obstacles to using generic drugs."

Members voting yes wanted to facilitate the prescription of brand-name drugs under Medicare.

Voting no: Pursell, Hertel, Ford, Levin, Broomfield.

SENATE

TRADE BILL — The Senate passed, 71 for and 27 against, and sent to conference with the House a sweeping trade reform bill (HR 3) that puts the United States in a more adversarial stance toward Japan.

Roll Call Report

and other trading partners. Supporters said the bill's toughness is needed to help domestic industries and improve America's balance of payments with Pacific rim countries, while President Reagan said he likely will veto it as protectionist, servile to special interests and a burden on taxpayers.

A major thrust of the 1,900-page bill is to make it more difficult for a president to resist Congressional pressure for retaliation against nations judged to be unfair or unreasonable trading partners. It breaks new ground by specifying entire countries, not just specific industries, as potential targets of American trade penalties.

Domestically, the bill requires faltering companies to give 60 days notice of plant closings, repeals the windfall profits tax on extracted oil and enlarges the entitlement program for workers displaced by imports.

Supporter Frank Lautenberg, D-N.J., said "it is time Uncle Sam stopped playing Uncle Saps when it comes to trade."

Opponent Mark Hatfield, R-Ore., said "the bill seeks to protect American industry from fair competition."

Senators voting yes supported the bill. Voting yes: Carl Levin, Donald Riegler, both Michigan Democrats.

Jail space agreement nets cash for county

By Wayne Peal
staff writer

Wayne County received a rare bit of financial good news Monday, with receipt of nearly $675,000 from the U.S. Marshal's office.

The money was partial payment for housing federal prisoners in the county jail.

"Obviously, with the condition the county is in, this payment is quite timely," said Wayne County Sheriff Robert Ficano.

The money will be placed in the county's general activities budget.

"But I expect it will go toward sheriff's activities," Ficano said.

An additional $400,000 is expected later this year, he said.

In a joint announcement, Ficano and U.S. Marshal Anthony Bertoni also said they would apply for additional federal money to create new jail space.

The financially strapped county expects to receive at least $2.2 million through a five-year jail space agreement with the federal government.

In April the county received $552,000 in federal money through the federal government's cooperative agreement (jail building) program.

At least $1 million will be used to renovate the old county jail under terms of the agreement.

In their joint announcement, Ficano and Bertoni said they would reapply for more cooperative agreement money in the federal government's coming fiscal year.

Though the prisoner agreement provides space for as many as 82 federal inmates, Ficano said an average of 70 federal prisoners are housed at the jail at any one time.

The federal government is billed

$68 a day for each prisoner housed at the county jail. The U.S. Marshal's office is responsible for medical costs for prisoners treated outside the jail.

County commissioners ratified the agreement in January.

Such agreements are common throughout the nation, Bertoni said.

"We have many of these agreements," he said.

Federal prisoners housed at the jail are awaiting trial.

Earlier this year, Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara discussed removing federal prisoners from the jail as a method of creating additional jail space, but listed it as a last alternative. The county probably couldn't do without the revenue, McNamara said.

Equality

It's not readily achieved

SERVICE GROUPS used to be as segregated as many neighborhoods.

But Supreme Court rulings and grass-roots politicking have slowly chipped away at the cornerstone of that segregation — exclusive clubs for big boys or, in some cases, big girls.

In the past three years, the Jaycees, the Kiwanis, the Lions, the Rotary and the Exchange Club have ended their discriminatory "men only" rules. The trailblazing League of Women Voters long ago decided to admit men.

In 1984 a Supreme Court ruling said states may force the Jaycees to admit women as full members. In May, the high court upheld a California law barring Rotary International from ousting local chapters with women members.

Take it from Brian Stevenson, Lions Club International president: "The problems of the world are too serious to limit their solution to only half of our population."

Not wanting to be guilty of reverse discrimination, the 106-year-old American Association of University Women recently voted to admit men.

Barbara Greanya, a Plymouth AAUW member, recently said: "It doesn't change any of our basic goals or what we work for or believe in."

GREANYA SERVED as a delegate at last month's national convention in Houston, Texas, where it was overwhelmingly decided men would be admitted to the group.

AAUW had been exclusively open to women with at least a bachelor's degree from an accredited college or university. Now the bylaws say membership is open to "a graduate" holding a baccalaureate or higher degree.

Greanya said she doesn't expect to see men rushing to join the Plymouth AAUW.

"I would be surprised if we suddenly had 25 men" join, she added.

Idiosyncrasies aside — the Jaycee pledge, the Rotary songbook — all of our local service groups raise plenty of money for a host of humanitarian causes.

Ending anachronistic membership practices is welcomed. But don't applaud too loudly. They were wrong from the start.

To deny professional or business people membership in community service groups because of their sex smacks of something little boys or girls protecting yard forts or doll houses might do.

YOU CAN'T PROMOTE anti-discrimination when one of your membership precepts is itself discriminatory.

Meanwhile, let's not become too excited as sexual barriers are struck down. Granting equal membership status is one thing. But accepting members of the opposite sex as full-fledged members is something very different.

Would the Rotary rally behind a woman president? Would the AAUW support a male president?

How many men still think women will automatically push for bake sales as fund-raisers?

Only time will tell how convention votes play at the chapter level.

Racial split hampers the road to prosperity

AS THE MEETING ended, the man at the head of the table quietly walked over and pulled me aside.

"Here, I would like you to see these. They were written just after the riots. Read them and do with them as you see fit."

His eyes flashed with an intensity and concern I had never seen.

"With all this stuff in the paper about the riots, I'm just afraid some young kid may get the wrong idea, do something bad," he said.

"Don't read it now, later."

We talked for a minute or two longer and parted company.

Getting back to my office, I read the material, smiled to myself over this man's modesty and wondered what to write about a metropolitan area that only has become more polarized in the last two decades.

Ed Hodges

July 23, 1967, he was an executive at Michigan Bell.

He had just witnessed, along with millions of others, the city exploding in frustration, fear and fire. And like many others, he wanted to see something done to save a city we all loved.

But Ed didn't wait for somebody else to do the job. He sat down and outlined a program. It was forthright and didn't pull any punches.

The plan aimed at curing the disease rather than just treating the symptoms.

SURE, HE talked about jobs, housing

crackerbarrel debate

and food. But most importantly he urged that corporate Detroit must somehow reach young blacks "who feel cut off from the mainstream of life with no hope, no future and, in many circumstances, no feeling of social conscience."

Than I realized why this usually smiling man had looked so concerned. In metro Detroit we've failed. Recent studies uncover our failures.

The current black unemployment rate is three times that of whites. Black student enrollment has been decreasing since 1976. Black representation in business management and on corporate boards is very low.

Worse yet, metro Detroit is the most racially polarized area in the U.S., and Michigan schools are the second most segregated in the nation.

We are a community divided. Another riot? Maybe not. That's hardly the point. But for our metropolitan community to live in prosperity, it must build harmony between blacks and whites.

We have a long way to go to meet Ed's dream.

Can fish snobs overrule God?

I HOPE I'm not turning into a fish snob.

Fish snobs will take or eat only selected species of fish, regardless of what else is in the water. Through lake-front owners associations and sportsmen's clubs, they high-pressure the state into stocking their waters with the snob species, whether the habitat and spawning grounds are suitable or not.

The worst snobs want trout. The second-worst, walleye. Doesn't matter how good stocked the water.

CAN YOU imagine stocking trout in a warm, sandy-bottomed creek like the Huron River headwaters at Proud Lake? Wasteful snobbery.

There's a meandering lake near the Upper Peninsula crossroads of Watersmeet that was one of the niftiest small-mouth bass waters I ever saw the first time I camped it in '73. Bear loomed the woods at night, and an eagle made the rounds at 10 most mornings.

A decade later, the Chicagoans had built extensive cottages there. Although the lake isn't deep, they persuaded DNR to stock walleye. Then they complained to one another from their gas-guzzling powerboats that fishing was lousy.

They took potshots at the bears. The eagle no longer appeared.

I quit going there.

THIS YEAR I found a delightful lake in the iron country of the western UP. A mile long. Water clear to 10 feet for great snorkeling. Rocky, high, well-wooded shores.

My pamphlet said there were trout, bass, pike and panfish. Sounded good.

Well, I could pick up a pike without extraordinary effort most mornings, but I noticed there were herds and herds of rock bass.

"Yeah, they been trying to get rid of those rock bass for years," said the friendly National Forest Service man. They been seining 'em and doing everything short of killing off the entire lake to get rid of the rock bass."

He revealed that umpteen thousand lake trout had been stocked in recent years, and a zillion walleye.

But all anyone ever caught were rock bass and pike. The dog found one walleye corpse. No sign of lake trout.

ROCK BASS are trolls among fish. Yellowish green, with mottled dark spots. Bloodshot eyes. Squat build. And a cavernous mouth for a creature with so little meat. Not much sport, unless you hook one eight inches or more.

I don't care for 'em.

I tried a walleye rig purchased at a sportsman's show. Rock bass hit it. I tried a fancy spoon that lake-run trout are reported to favor. Rock bass hit it.

Out came a tiny golden lure that looks like a wiggler. Perch love wigglers, I reasoned. Five rock bass hit it. No perch.

I went to spoons — big red and white spoons and a yellow and black one. A five-inch rock bass hit a 4½-inch spoon.

WE HAD plenty of meals of pike — and rock bass. And rock bass from clean water can be delicious, especially if you lace the bread crumbs with parmesan cheese.

And the wildlife viewing was great. All kinds of ducks. Loons. Otters scampering at shoreline. A beaver lodge. Scads of deer. Hawks.

But there's a higher principle involved. A sophisticated columnist doesn't travel 600 miles to a remote corner of the UP to catch rock bass.

Shame on me. Could I be turning into a fish snob?

Maybe what Abe Lincoln said about common men is true about rock bass: "God must have liked them because he made so many of them."

Lawmaker looks at Lansing

HIS NAME IS David Honigman and he is a state representative from West Bloomfield. He could be your state representative, if your state representative is an attorney, majored in philosophy and generally wears no socks.

For the most part, the remarks Honigman made last week before the West Bloomfield Chamber of Commerce could have been made by any legislator in the state. Dropping in a few mild opinions, Honigman listed many of the issues addressed before the legislature recessed for a long summer break.

The summer break lasts until Sept. 22 and, according to Honigman, this is the second longest summer break since the Legislature went full time. He wondered aloud if lawmakers should be taking so much time off with so much left to do.

That said, he launched into the most recent version of Lansing's greatest hits:

• The House and Senate passed a $6.5 billion budget that represents a 34 percent increase in spending since Blanchard took office, said Honigman.

Blanchard surprised just about everyone by announcing a belated veto of $160 million from the budget. Honigman said the cuts were prudent, but not the timing. He also said the governor has waited too long to return the windfall created by the federal income tax reform.

• He suggested that improvements were made to Michigan's workers compensation system. "It's now going to be harder to collect workers comp for minor injuries," he said. Also, an injured worker may now be required to take a different job, if able, even if it pays less. Workers comp would make up the difference.

• He said the attention given to the 65 miles per hour speed limit was "unbelievable." He leans toward raising the speed limit and letting the controversial ban on fuzz busters stand by itself.

• He said he took the "middle ground position" on Medicaid-funded abortions, which is surprising since there seems to be no middle ground position on this controversial topic. Besides, Honigman wrote a reasoned and lengthy essay explaining his change of position to oppose state funding of abortions. In any case, he predicted the issue would be settled on the fall 1988 ballot if pro-choice factions are successful with a petition drive.

• He has sponsored legislation that would make AIDS testing mandatory for those arrested for certain drug crimes, public sex acts and prostitution. He says individual rights must be protected, but "I think the discrimination angle is a bit overblown." Still, education is the current best tool with which to fight AIDS, he said.

That done, he asked for questions. There were only two. One was about AIDS and one was on a topic Honigman had overlooked — roads. That's high on the list of folks who live in Oakland County.

keeping up with government

LOOKING FOR information about state government? The League of Women Voters has a toll-free telephone service (1-800-292-5823) that may be helpful.

The League's Citizen Information Center in Lansing offers to help people find out about such things as pending legislation, the state constitution, election laws, voting regulations or tax information.

The telephone is answered from 10:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. weekdays.

There are things a degree can't do for you

MOMS AND POPS with sons and daughters enrolled in college, or on the threshold of doing same, don't have to be reminded of what rising tuition costs are doing to family budgets. In the back of some minds must be the question of whether exposure to higher education is worth the price.

Somewhere in the dim and distant past I once read a line in a piece of fiction referring to so-and-so being educated, "besides having a lot of useful information." Supposedly this character had learned enough from books to talk at length on virtually any subject, but how well he could perform hinged upon practical experience.

It was only 10 days ago that a byline article on careers, written by John Shingleton, director of placement service at Michigan State University, and published in one of the metropolitan dailies, concluded with the paragraph: "THERE ARE millions who do not have college degrees who are making it big. It they can do it, why can't you?"

This essay is not to be taken as a knock against the values inherent in advanced study. There are many professions for which proper preparation is impossible without the tutoring available in the ivy-covered halls of academia, and if freedom of discussion of controversial issues is encouraged, so much the better.

I certainly am not going to be drawn into a debate over the relative merits of classical and literary studies versus technical or scientific specialties except to express the belief that it's much easier to be self-taught in the former than the latter.

Let us become too serious in these paragraphs, let me suggest a curriculum addition that might prove popular in the money-hungry college world. It would be called the Chair of Philanthromathematics.

through bifocals
Fred DeLano

I have stolen this idea from my favorite author, O. Henry, who once put these words in the mouth of a fictional character known as Andy Tucker:

"The further I gaze into the retail philanthropy business the better it looks to me. All the philanthropists I ever knew had plenty of money. I ought to have looked into that matter long ago, and located which was the cause and which was the effect. . . . Philanthropy when practiced in a business way is an art that blesses him who gives as well as him who receives."

A MORE SERIOUS lesson could have been learned from a column written for these newspapers in 1972 by the late W. W. Edgar. The Stroller, as readers knew him, had engaged in conversation with some of his cronies about costs of services and value received in return for the labor. He then quoted as follows from a letter written by our mutual friend, the late Bill Hartmann, and the message speaks for itself:

"It reminds me of the story that used to make the rounds about the time the Cadillac Motor Co. left Cass Avenue to take up residence on Clark Street.

"It seems that after placing a piece of equipment, which for size could be kin to a mastodon, they were unable to get it to function as the blueprints indicated.

"The boss of the millwrights reluctantly conceded this condition to the general manager. He was a short red-head, three-quarters Irish and the other quarter could have been anything.

"Get an expert," he stormed. "Get an outside man with experience."

"So his suggestion was followed. Next day a slightly built chap appeared. He was dressed in the height of fashion. Out of his vest pocket he took a small ball hammer and a screwdriver.

"In what might be referred to as a short time, he turned some screws, tapped with this hammer, stood back and nodded to the local boss and his gawking audience. The switch was engaged and as quietly as a Cadillac V-16, the machine ran.

"Several days later, our general manager got the bill for the service — $500. He rebounded from the ceiling several times, then wrote the expert, asking for an itemized bill, believing $500 was out of reason. In due time he received the reply:

"Ten dollars for tapping.
$490 for knowing where."

Readers indebted to Beginners' Inn

To the editor:

It is with regret that we write this note of thanks to an institution who has had such a profound effect upon our family. In June, our association with The Beginners' Inn of Canton came to an end. An association we valued greatly for the past eight years.

Both of our daughters attended Dorrine and Bill Mullins' Beginners Inn for age three to graduation from kindergarten. Their excellent staff contributed enormously to the raising of our daughters during these important years.

We suffered none of the difficult transitions so common in many day-care centers. Our girls had one teacher for each of their years at "The Inn." Dorrine and Bill's constant presence and careful choice of staff assured us that our daughters were always in caring and loving hands.

We cannot say enough to thank the wonderful staff who has made it so easy for us to leave our children each day to pursue our careers. Our daughters have been loved and guided and cared for in an atmosphere that could not be duplicated. They have gone to school happily for these preschool years and have received untold advantages because of it.

We will miss The Beginners' Inn. But we will be reminded of the wonderful influence the staff has had upon our family — reminded every time there is a success — every time our girls show enthusiasm about relationships, school, life. We thank you Bill and Dorrine. And to your wonderful staff — mere "thank yous" will never convey our gratitude.

Carole and Mike Jacobs, Canton

My thanks also goes out to the support personnel, for without their support, guidance and helpful suggestions, this program would not have been a success: David Bone, Barbara Tanski, Richard Williams, Canton Township Parks and Recreation playground staff.

I also would like to express my thanks to the Observer for the exceptional coverage of this event; especially to Bill Bresler and Julie Brown. Their attention to detail was greatly appreciated.

Eugene M. Smith, Playground Supervisor, Canton Township Parks and Recreation

Festival pet show Reader applauds a major success lacocca's actions

To the editor:

The Canton Country Festival Pet Show was an overwhelming success due to so many people involved. A hearty thank you to all the contestants and their enthusiasm for their pets. My appreciation also goes out to the following judges for donating their time: Dawn Constante, Kristen Harrison, Susan Kopinski, Nancy Spencer, Cindy Stevens.

To the editor:

Cheers to Lee Iacocca for his immediacy and fortitude in facing the American public with admission of his company's unsavory practice of disconnecting some Chrysler car odometers and pledging to end the practice and replace customers' cars where needed.

Iacocca has again displayed to the world his forthrightness and integrity in his company's product. Obviously there is no room in Iacocca's conscience for deviousness in shirking his company's responsibility in facing the truth about itself. He has come forth quickly with an unvarnished admission of guilt. Now let us see the other heads of the nation's carmakers follow his example.

It is time a man of Iacocca's integrity takes the reins of this nation in presidential leadership and wins back the world's respect and recognition of our national faith, integrity and good will.

Not since the Gary Powers spyplane cover-up to the Bay of Pigs, Watergate, Nicaraguan harbor mining and now the Iran-Contra scam has an American president faced his people quickly with admission of our implication and revealed congressional steps to be taken to prevent repeated incidents.

In all these instances, Lee Iacocca would have come forth immediately on learning the facts as he's done for Chrysler Corp. He'd have told the nation what our high officials had done and what would be done to rectify or prevent a similar situation from happening again. Under his leadership, the nation would be assured that only truth, however damaging, comes from the presidency.

If there have been any doubts in anyone's minds concerning Iacocca's leadership ability, this odometer announcement certainly dispels them.

The U.S. cannot continue fumbling along with inept presidents whose judgments and decisions are ruled by even more inept and self-servient advisers. We must put our nation back in honest, capable hands . . . in Lee Iacocca's hands.

Please, Lee, your country needs your kind of truthful leadership desperately.

Lynn Burgess keeps an eye on kids waiting at the Safety Town railroad crossing. Waiting at railroad crossings is something these children will get used to if they stay in the Plymouth area.

A town to teach safety

THE LESSONS this summer's Safety Town participants are learning are lessons they'll use for life.

The Safety Town program, offered locally by Plymouth-Canton Community Education, is designed for children who are to start school in the fall. A number of different safety concepts are covered.

The Plymouth-Canton program has been offered since 1977.

"It's been well-received," said Larry Masteller, director of community education. "Of course, we've been doing it for a number of years."

Safety Town sessions are held at Plymouth Canton High School, with about 40 children in each session. In previous years, the program was based at Central Middle School in Plymouth. Renovation work being done this summer at Central contributed to the move to the Canton location.

UNLIKE IN previous years, Safety Town sessions are now all held indoors. A tarp, complete with appropriate pavement markings, helps the youngsters learn the rules of the road as they ride through the miniature town.

The move indoors to Plymouth Canton High School hasn't created any problems, according to Masteller.

"No weather problems, it's cool for the kids," he said. "So it's really worked out very well."

Anne Pederson, one of the coordinators for this summer's program, agreed.

"It's been very nice, as far as not having to deal with the weather." Not having the children outdoors on hot, humid days means they don't tire as easily.

Pederson is coordinating this summer's local Safety Town program, along with her mother, Vonnie. Both women are Westland residents and certified teachers.

Vonnie Pederson teaches in a developmental program for preschoolers held at Plymouth Canton High School; her daughter's looking for an elementary school teaching job.

The Safety Town program meets for nine days during each session. Sessions are offered from 10 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 3 p.m., with dif-

Summertime program covers the basics for kids parent groups of children meeting during the morning and afternoon.

We touch on a lot of different safety ideas," said Anne Pederson, who recently received a Bachelor's degree from Taylor University in Indiana.

AREAS COVERED during the program include safety with strangers in the bus, in a car and in and around water.

Four consecutive Safety Town sessions are being offered this summer with a total of about 320 youngsters participating.

"We are all filled up for the entire summer," Pederson said. The program is a popular one with area parents and their children, word-of-mouth is partially responsible for its popularity.

"So it is a well-known program throughout the Plymouth and Canton community," she said.

At least one portion of the program is well-suited to the local community while riding through the miniature town, the children periodically wait at a railroad crossing. When the train has gone on its way, they're free to cross the tracks.

In addition to the railroad crossing and a working traffic light, the Safety Town course includes speed limit signs, in the 15 to 30-mile per hour range. Not many of the youngsters are speed demons to that extent.

We don't have to give out many tickets for that," Pederson said with a laugh.

IN ADDITION to riding through the miniature town, the children take turns practicing safety as pedestrians. They learn to look both ways before crossing and generally to be careful when they get out walking.

It's something tangible that they can grasp on to. At this age level, you have to teach them something concrete.

The youngsters don't have lengthy attention spans, a factor that those running the program keep in mind. Using visual aids, movies and hand movements helps keep the youngsters listening, Pederson said.

Each day at Safety Town also includes a craft activity with children creating colorful construction paper traffic lights, school buses and police officers — all different things that are related to safety.

Field trips to such sites as a fire station are part of the program. Area firefighters and police officers come in to talk to the youngsters about safety.

Learning to deal with strangers is a part of the Safety Town instruction children receive.

"We define a stranger as someone you don't know," Pederson said. Children in the program are taught to say no to offers of candy or rides, they also learn to keep away from strangers.

Although many strangers are good people, it's important for children to know that they should be careful around strangers, she said.

A number of brochures on safety topics are available to families participating in Safety Town.

"We only begin some of the things here," Pederson said. More sophisticated knowledge of safety topics is something children will need as they grow up.

"As they get older, the parents can work with them on that. So the parents really have to reinforce the skills we talk about here."

Indian Catholics seek aid for new medical facility

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

Stories of death and disease are endless, they say.

But Bishop Joseph Mittathany and The Rev. Devassy Pudussery share one simple, yet disturbing story of the dire need for a well-equipped hospital in their native state of Manipur, India. Some 15 million people live in the 16,000-square mile area near the Himalayan Mountains, having only one small hospital.

Mittathany, the Bishop of Imphal, and Pudussery, a Catholic priest, are here in the United States to raise money for a larger hospital. Mittathany conducted liturgy Sunday at St. Mary Catholic Church in Wayne.

The story they tell is about a toddler in Manipur, who accidentally swallowed a bean and began choking. She was rushed to the only hospital in the state, some seven miles away, gasping for air.

The hospital didn't have any instruments to dislodge the bean. Instead, doctors decided they would have to surgically remove the object by making an incision in her throat.

AN ARGUMENT ensued as the parents did not understand what was happening. The doctors frantically tried to explain the procedure to them.

It was too late, though. The child died waiting for help.

"We have so many stories that really torment us," said Pudussery, who along with Mittathany, is staying in Livonia with Lou and Mary Rice.

In Manipur, the infant mortality rate is 20 percent. Cholera, malaria and encephalitis plague the area. There are no children between the ages of 12-14 as a result of an epidemic a few years ago, according to Pudussery.

A lack of medical facilities makes the situation frustrating.

"Imagine a city the size of Detroit with a population of (1.2 million) having only one hospital, with 12 doctors," Pudussery said.

THE GOAL is to raise $800,000 on this trip, they said. That would pay for the structure. Already, someone in Pennsylvania has pledged $20,333 for a chapel and veranda.

An additional $500,000 will be needed for equipment.

"We hope some people will help us in this noble cause," said Mittathany, who was named the Bishop of Imphal by Pope John Paul II in June 1980.

On a recent trip to Europe, enough

The Most Rev. Joseph Mittathany, Bishop of Imphal, Manipur, India. Money was raised to buy 10 acres of land on which the hospital will be constructed.

One major obstacle is that few people know of Manipur's existence. The state, which is bordered by Burma and Bangladesh, is connected to India by a thin 30-mile wide corridor.

The villagers themselves are poor. Many are farmers, living in primitive conditions.

"IF THEY have some chickens, they might share some eggs with you. If they have a good harvest, they might share some rice with you," Pudussery said. "These are not things you can build a hospital with."

Many of them are also unaware of medical care, having never seen so much as an aspirin. Instead, they rely on homemade brews and remedies.

Health education is definitely needed, they say.

But in order to do that, a well-equipped hospital first needs to be built. All other development projects involving the Diocese of Imphal have come to a halt. The hospital is the top priority.

The diocese, itself, is growing quite fast in a short seven-year period in the predominately Hindu area.

They live harmoniously with other religions in the area.

"In our area, we have no problems," Mittathany said. "We have Hindus, Protestant groups, Muslims and Buddhists."

THERE ARE 46,000 members of the Diocese of Imphal, which Pope John Paul II created in April 1980.

Mittathany was named bishop of the diocese two months later. Previous to that, he was Bishop of the Diocese of Tezpur.

There, Mittathany established a 100-bed hospital in the diocese located in the Assam Plains of India.

He's hoping for similar success in Manipur. The 100-bed facility in Manipur would be equipped with mobile units to allow medical personnel to visit remote areas in the state.

But, for the time being, only Mittathany and Pudussery are visiting, both soliciting donations for the hospital. They recently spent three weeks in Pennsylvania on the first leg of their trip. They plan to be in the United States until the first week of September.

They're still far from their goal.

For more information, write to: Diocese of Imphal, 12-14 Archer, Canonsburg, Pa. 15317.

Rabbi Irwin Groner

We can make time to find inner peace

ABOUT 200 YEARS ago, a Hassidic teacher, Rabbi Moseh Leib, offered a profound insight into the nature of human existence when he said, "A human being who has not a single hour for his own every day is no human being." Every day we need to take time to think, to dream, to imagine, to contemplate, time to be ourselves.

We all have the need to socialize and interact with others. We need to share ourselves with others, to engage in social activities, but in the crowded schedules of our daily lives, the "social experience" tends to become too pervasive.

Many are afraid to be alone. Several years ago, Erich Fromm, in a book called "Escape from Freedom," pointed out today people are running away from the freedom and leisure time they struggled so valiantly to achieve for themselves. They don't know how to cope with the opportunities of unstructured time. It is a strange phenomenon that unless we are engaged in activity, we feel that life is drab and unexciting. We are constantly "on the go" whether it is in business or in pleasure.

BUT MUST WE always be doing something? Is there no place in life for moments of contemplation? The wise teacher pointed out that we need to cultivate our inner life, to define our ideals, to examine our souls. This is not easily achieved in a noisy and turbulent world. Even the privacy of the home is invaded by the constant glare of the television set and the interruptions of the telephone.

Each of us assumes certain roles in the course of a day: husband, father, wife, mother, student, employee. We are expected to fulfill our responsibilities to our work and our family, to complete our assignments, and to carry out our obligations. How often we find the days produce too many unforeseen burdens, too many unanticipated demands.

We need some fraction of a day to let our souls catch up with our bodies. We ought to turn our gaze inward not to evade the duties of life, but to gather strength that we may perform them wisely and effectively.

IF WE ARE to live significant lives, then we must cultivate our private world. There must be times in every day when we should hang up a sign "Please do not disturb." We require time for contemplation, meditation and evaluation.

In this "Meditations," the gentle Roman philosopher Marcus Aurelius so advised: "Men seek retreats for themselves, houses in the country, seashore and mountains, and thou too art want to desire such things very much. But it is within thy power, wherever thou shalt choose, to retire unto thyself. . . . Remember to retire unto this little territory of thine own, and above all, do not distract or strain thyself, but be free and look at things as a man, as a human being, as a citizen, as a mortal. Look within. Within is the fountain of good."

Rabbi Irwin Groner is with Congregation Shaarey Zedek in Southfield.

Teenage pageant seeks applicants

Applications are being taken for the 10th annual Miss Michigan All American Teen Pageant.

The pageant will be Sunday, Sept. 13, at the Novi Hilton. The Michigan event is the preliminary to Miss Teen American, staged annually at the Sheraton Bal Harbor in Miami Beach, Fla.

Teri Lico of Westland was Miss Michigan Teen All American 1986.

Judging will be on the basis of poise, personality and beauty of face and figure. Applicants must be at least 13 years old and less than 19 as of Dec. 31, 1987.

To enter, send a photo along with your name, address and phone number to 1987 Miss Michigan Teen, 603 Schrader Avenue — Dept. 3, Wheeling, W. Va. 26003. For more information, call (304) 242-4900.

The prizes the new Miss Michigan Teen All American will receive include an all-expenses-paid trip to the national pageant in Florida, $1,000 in cash and a five-piece set of luggage. Each state winner also will be interviewed by a Hollywood casting director and representatives of a New York modeling agency.

The national winner receives a $25,000 prize package that includes a personal appearance contract and a fur jacket.

Mother rejects her hearing aid

Dear Jo:

My mother has a hearing problem. For years we have catered to her handicap in order to communicate with her. She has had a hearing aid for many years but won't wear it.

Is there anything we can do to help her and at the same time decrease the frustration in ourselves?
M.G., Windsor

You can help your mother and decrease your frustration by encouraging her to be re-evaluated by her physician, with a referral to an otolaryngologist and audiologist.

Dear Jo:

I am 71 years old and am presently in very good health. My weakness is sweets. Should I worry about becoming a diabetic?
Mrs. R.S.

Dear Mrs. G.:

You are not alone in your frustration in communicating with a hearing-impaired older person. It is estimated that only 27 percent of the elderly with irreversible hearing loss are wearing hearing aids.

In the past 10 years, there have been major changes in assessing for hearing loss along with major technological changes in hearing aids. They are now small enough to fit inside the ear for more effective amplification.

It is a common misconception that eating too much sugar causes diabetes. To dispel this myth, you should be aware of the diabetes risk factors. You are in danger of contracting the disease if you are:

- Obese. Older persons who are 10 to 15 percent overweight are twice as likely to develop the disease, and those who are 25 to 35 percent overweight stand more than three times the chance.

gerontology
A. Jolayne Farrell

- From a family where diabetes is a common diagnosis.
- Hispanic, black or a North American Indian.

All this adds up to one vital warning: If you're overweight, over 40 or have a family history of the disease you should have your blood glucose tested on a regular basis.

Symptoms of diabetes include: frequent urination, extreme thirst, extreme hunger, nausea and vomiting, blurred vision, tingling and numbness in extremities, itchy skin and slow healing of cuts and bruises.

Diabetes is more difficult to recognize in older people because the symptoms appear gradually.

Mrs. S., I hope you are not at risk from diabetes and that you continue to enjoy good health.

Interest rates on Adjustable Rate Mortgages are the lowest ever at Standard Federal.

15-Year ARM	30-Year ARM
7.25% Interest Rate	7.50% Interest Rate
9.57% Annual Percentage Rate*	9.79% Annual Percentage Rate*

Before you buy or refinance your home, consider the advantages of our Adjustable Rate Mortgage (ARM).

Many of our ARM loan customers have saved a lot of money in mortgage interest costs over the past few years. And, at present interest rates, borrowers are finding our ARM loans to be an even better bargain. The first-year interest rate on our 15-year ARM is now only 7.25% compared to much higher rates on fixed-rate loans. What's more, with the 2% annual and 6% lifetime interest rate caps that we have placed on our ARM loans, you'll pay less interest and have greater principal reduction over at least the first four years of your loan.

The lower initial interest rates on our ARM loans result in lower initial monthly payments. And, the lower monthly payments mean that it will be easier for you to qualify for the loan that you need to buy or refinance your home.

So, come to any Standard Federal branch office and learn more about our ARM loans. We'll help you find the loan that is just right for you.

*An annual percentage rate (APR) is calculated based on a $50,000 loan with a 10% down payment and a 30-year term. The APR for the 15-year ARM is 9.57% and for the 30-year ARM is 9.79%. These rates do not include other charges. Interest rates are subject to change without notice. The APR is based on the formula set forth in the Truth in Lending Act.

Acquisitions expand laundry business

By E. Dale Lee
special writer

In moves to strengthen market position in western Wayne County and Indiana, Livonia-based Automatic Apartment Laundries has bought out Livonia competitor NW Inc. and has acquired Curtis White Laundry of South Bend, Ind. Terms were not disclosed.

"We'd prefer to get stronger in the markets we're in by buying smaller companies than to expand into other territories," said Richard Colton, president of Automatic Apartment Laundries.

The 41-year-old firm operates top-load, chiefly coin-operated washers and dryers in apartment complexes and on college campuses, including the University of Michigan, Michigan State and Eastern Michigan. It has three Michigan offices servicing a marketplace that spans Michigan, Ohio and Indiana.

The 25,000-square-foot Livonia headquarters on Schoolcraft near Middlebelt stores parts and machine inventory. A 3,500-square-foot Portage sales-and-service office near Kalamazoo is responsible for several clients in the tri-state market, especially those near Toledo and Bowling Green, Ohio.

A 2,500-square-foot Okemos, Mich., office near Lansing takes care of Michigan State and other colleges and universities.

COLTON, A former Multihousing Laundry Association president, credits his employees' efficiency for making the company a multi-state success.

"We have highly professional service personnel on staff, and we do it to ensure we can react quickly to a call that a machine has broken down," Colton said. "Breakdowns can be a problem, but our guys know the product and can diagnose repair needs promptly. We hire people who can turn around a repair job fast because we must minimize down time."

"We're unique because our servicemen know, most times, what's wrong almost right away. If we spend all sorts of time changing parts until we found the right one, it would be too expensive."

The family-owned firm, started by Colton's father, Harry, in 1946, has built its business on a market need for apartment and college-campus laundry equipment. Automatic Apartment Laundries pays a fee for space in each building and keeps quarters fed into the machines by consumers, primarily residents of the complexes.

"We provide the machines, install the equipment, maintain the insurance and collect from the machines," Colton said. "With us assuming all the maintenance and risk, the building owner gets a check every month and gets peace of mind. When hassles happen, they aren't for very long and they're our problem to solve."

ANGRY CUSTOMERS, upset that machines break down, sometimes vandalize Colton's washers and dryers. But abuse is not a large concern.

"The real key to preventing abuse is to keep the machines operating in peak condition," Colton said. "If people abuse them too often, they'll be down or removed, but that's really rare."

"While theft is part of the business, I don't get worried about it. If we do our jobs and keep the machines running, problems won't surface. People respect our machines."

Automatic Apartment Laundries, which has about 40 employees, is not part of a conglomerate, nor is it likely to become part of one, according to Colton.

"We have a tremendous advantage over a conglomerate because we deal with so many people one-on-one," Colton said. "We're able to make decisions on important questions right away and respond directly to customers' needs. Big corporations don't always have the ability to do that because they must get approval from a board of directors."

"We don't have committees here. I see customers regularly, and they see the continuity of purpose with an independently owned company."

THE FIRM, which belongs to the Apartment Association of Michigan, the Municipal Housing Association and the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan, has seen one major industry change since taking over the helm 21 years ago — a rise in the number of apartments in his market.

But there have been consumer changes, too. For example, Colton cites the advent of permanent press as a boon for the laundry industry because dress pants and shirts that previously went to a cleaner for washing and pressing have become machine washable.

"Before, a dress shirt had to go to the cleaner and had to be pressed, which took a lot of time and money," Colton said. "It helped our industry when consumers were able to start washing 15 shirts that were permanent press for the price of one."

Trends surface in stock contest

By Marilyn Fitchett
staff writer

The bulls have surfaced. They've come from as close as around the corner and as far away as Grosse Pointe, Windsor and Toledo.

A total of 879 entries have been received by the National Association of Investors Corp. in its stock market contest, Investor's Quotient, in cooperation with Observer & Eccentric Newspapers.

Readers were invited to develop a $1,000 portfolio comprised of up to five stocks. At the end of the Sept. 25 tracking period, the winner, whose portfolio shows the greatest growth exclusive of dividends, will receive a weekend trip for two to New York City.

Ken Janke, NAIC president, has gleaned the following trends from the entries:

- The largest group of entrants represent Birmingham, Bloomfield and Livonia.

- The second largest response was from Farmington, Grosse Pointe and Redford.

- Sixty-eight percent were men, 32 percent women.

- 351 put their faith in just one stock, 196 chose two, and the remaining 332 three or more.

- There was no dominant stock selected, but enough entrants selected Ford Motor Co. to earn it a "preferred" position.

- Those persons selecting five stocks seemed to select either all high-priced stocks or all low-priced stocks, preferring not to mix the two.

- Stocks were fairly evenly selected from NYSE, AMEX and the NASDAQ exchanges, with AMEX faring a little poorer than the other two.

JANKE COMMENTED on the trends, pointing out the difference between selecting stocks to win a contest and as long-term investment strategy.

"If you wanted to win a contest, selecting one stock is probably the way to do it," Janke said. "You have a short time frame (in this case, three months). In long-term investing you would be looking to diversify your holdings to spread the risk."

"Choosing a single stock is an aggressive strategy. If you choose a low-priced stock and it doubles, you will do well. If not, you're just one of 900 others."

Entering a contest is risk-free. "If you were risking your own money, chances are you wouldn't choose just one stock in which to invest."

Although he wasn't surprised at the number of entrants who selected Ford stock for their portfolios, he didn't agree with the strategy.

"Obviously, Ford is doing well. The earnings are beautiful. But if I had to hazard a guess, I'd say those are probably Ford employees who selected the Ford stock."

"It's great to be loyal, but Ford is fairly high priced in relation to those being traded. I love the company (Ford), but I would have to say that that strategy (of selecting a higher-priced stock) is not going to win the contest."

WHAT WOULD Janke have seen between selecting stocks to win a

Ex-Livonian makes mark for Disney

Like other Livonia kids, Maria Menton Cruz grew up on Disney movies like "Snow White and The Seven Dwarfs."

As operations manager for Disney Home Video, Cruz makes sure Snow White and all other Disney properties are produced and available to distributors so that a new generation of kids can enjoy the classic films via video cassette recorder.

"The job keeps me very busy," said Cruz in a telephone interview from her office in Burbank, Calif.

"I'll work 40 to 55 or even 60 hours a week if necessary," she said.

Born in Montreal, Cruz's family moved to Livonia when she was 3. She attended Taft Elementary, Bryant Junior High, and spent two years at Stevenson High before the family moved back to Canada. She graduated from a Vancouver, British Columbia, high school in 1976.

"In Livonia, we lived on Lathers off Seven Mile," she said. "I get back (to Livonia) a few times a year."

The main reason is that Livonia-based CBS Fox Video has the exclusive contract as duplicator and distributor for Disney films.

"I travel a lot in this job," she said. "Next week I'll be in Atlanta to check out a new inventory system."

CRUZ HAS been working for Disney Productions since 1980, when she was hired as an accounting clerk. The following year, she was transferred to the Disney Travel Co., based in Orlando, Fla.

In 1982, she moved back to California and joined the home video division, first as a material control department clerk, then as a supervisor and manager. She was named operations manager this year.

"We are responsible for insuring that all products are produced and available to distributors. I work closely with our vendors."

Her parents, Joseph and Margaret Menton, natives of Ireland, still live in Vancouver. Cruz lives in Glendale, a Los Angeles suburb, and takes business administration courses from the local community college.

The best part of the job is "the excitement and fast pace. And I haven't reached the executive level yet."

SHE HOPES to continue her rise up the ranks at Disney.

"Maria is a real find in our group. We are lucky to have her," said Craig Kornblau, finance manager. "She was just recently promoted to operations manager for the domestic division, which includes the U.S. and Canada."

Away from the job, she enjoys bike riding and spending time on the beach. She is looking forward to October, when her brother is getting married in Los Angeles.

"The whole family will be here," she said. "It should be quite a reunion."

League gives seniors their turn at bat

By Wayne Peal
staff writer

Back in 1965, Sue Wisocki saw the need for senior citizen sports. So she and a like-minded group of people decided to do something about it. Now, more than two years later, nearly 300 area seniors have benefited from their efforts.

Sports Programs for Retirees Inc., Wisocki's brain child, offers year-round recreational activities for participants 55 or older.

"Right now we have people from 55-78, but there's no age limit," Wisocki said.

Wisocki, formerly Garden City's senior citizens activity director, was inspired by the annual senior Olympics at Oakland Community College, Farmington Hills.

"The Olympics were great, but there weren't any year-round activities for seniors," she said.

Toward that end, Wisocki formed the non-profit sports authority.

"WE DECIDED to make it area wide because there really wasn't enough interest in any one specific city," she said.

Instead, programs are geared to seniors throughout western Wayne County.

"People from Livonia all the way to Ypsilanti — and even as far north as Pontiac — participate," Wisocki said.

Summer activities include softball, golf and miniature golf. Fall activities will include horseshoes and volleyball. All activities are geared to seniors' needs.

"We'll make modifications, for instance, if someone has a heart problem," Wisocki said.

Activities are held at various sites. "We ask the cities for permission to use the sites free of charge," Wisocki said.

Softball games are played at Garden City Park. Other activities have been held in Dearborn, Dearborn Heights and Romulus.

SENIORS PAY annual $5 membership fees and additional participation fees for selected activities, though SPRI programs also receive donations from service clubs and businesses.

Though physical examinations aren't required for all activities, they are encouraged, Wisocki said.

"Beginning this fall, we're joining with the People's Community Hospital Authority's 'Discover Good Health' program, and they'll be offering free physicals at the Livonia senior citizen center," she said.

More information on SPRI programs is available by calling 277-1085.

The Plymouth Inn
The Gracious Alternative

Someone you love is growing older and needs just a bit more support than he or she can get in their current living situation. A nursing home isn't the answer. Normal activities like eating and dressing aren't a problem. But you would be happier knowing someone was there to provide gentle encouragement and firm support when needed, in a non-institutional atmosphere.

The answer is The Plymouth Inn, a magnificent residence for seniors who want their independence but need some supervision as well. Consider some of the many advantages:

- Easily accessible via I-96 and I-275; only 30 minutes from both downtown Detroit and the northern suburbs, including Farmington Hills, Birmingham and West Bloomfield.
- Tranquil landscaped grounds and lovely common areas.
- Three delicious meals served in our central dining room by a friendly, attentive staff of professionals.
- Extensive, varied social programs and recreational opportunities.
- Game room, chapel, beauty parlor and lounges, all designed with the special needs of our residents in mind.

The Plymouth Inn welcomes your inspection visit. When you see what we have to offer we think you will agree that The Plymouth Inn is a very special place where your loved one can feel secure, yet independent. We invite you to call today for an appointment.

Committed young players can revive U.S. tennis — Trabert

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

Like a hard serve, Tony Trabert has hurled a challenge at the young, male tennis players in America.

But the Tennis Hall of Fame member also has words of encouragement for those same players with visions of future success.

Trabert, who conducted a clinic Friday prior to the finals of the Ford-Sports Tennis Championships at the Detroit Tennis and Squash

Club in Farmington Hills, agrees world-class tennis talent is cyclical and the United States is "at a low ebb."

The men's game in which the 56-year-old Trabert starred three decades ago is dominated now by the Europeans, though Australian Pat Cash recently won at Wimbledon.

"OTHER PEOPLE caught up to us," said Trabert, who twice won titles at the French and U.S. opens and once at Wimbledon. "Other countries have produced players who can play on different surfaces.

"A lot of those foreign kids are just hungrier than ours," he added. "Some of ours are spoiled and lazy, and they don't want to pay the price."

But, at the same time, there is hope for someone willing to make the effort. While American stars of recent years have faded for various reasons, that has opened the door to new talent, which has yet to emerge.

"Sure, we'll get some hard-nosed kids who can play," Trabert said. "I'm sure there's some out there now who can play."

"IF I WAS an aspiring male player, I'd feel pretty good, because right now there are a lot of openings if you want to work at it. But few ever make it compared to the millions that play."

One of Trabert's attributes as a player was his ability to play well on virtually any surface. He won championships on grass, clay, wood and cement.

A lack of such versatility is partly responsible for no American winning the French Open men's title since Trabert won back-to-back honors in 1954-55.

The United States hasn't had "players who were well-rounded and understood how to play on clay," said Trabert, who is now director of tennis at Sawgrass Country Club in Ponte Vedra, Fla., and also serves as tennis analyst for CBS-TV.

A PRESENT-DAY player can pick and choose what tournaments he wants to enter, skipping those played on surfaces on which he is not as proficient.

"They don't get enough experience, so they don't do that well in the French," Trabert said.

When he played, Trabert had to learn to play on all surfaces. For one thing, there weren't as many tournaments, which meant players couldn't be as selective as they are today. Secondly, in light of that, a player had to play in most tournaments to maintain an income.

Spartans shade MSHL foe

Kevin O'Connor scored the game-winning goal Sunday as the Spartans edged the Broncos 6-5 to remain atop the Eagle Conference standings in the Midwest Summer Hockey League.

The Broncos led 5-4 in the third period at the Plymouth Cultural Center before the Spartans came back to tie and win it on O'Connor's goal.

Jeff Christensen and Eric Kopolanski scored one goal and had one assist apiece for the Broncos, who are the second-place team in the Bakes Conference. Scott Reale chalked up three assists for the Spartans.

Bryan Smolinski contributed two goals and two assists to the victory, and Bob Markiewicz had a goal and three assists.

WOLVERINES 7, HUSKIES 1: The Wolverines opened with a four-goal first period and coasted the rest of the way.

Scott Haller and Dennis Ryan netted two goals each, and Stefan Martenson added three assists. The Huskies, who had a depleted roster, played with only seven skaters.

WOLVERINES 9, FALCONS 7: The Falcons gave the Bakes Division-leading Wolverines a much-better game Monday, but the Wolverines managed to pull out another victory.

The Wolverines, who have the best record in the MSHL at 8-0-2, scored three goals in the last period to bolster a 6-5 lead entering the finale.

Sami Nuutinen, a Finnish player, picked up seven points as he scored two goals and got three assists. Haller added a goal and three assists, Carl Shoemaker two goals and one assist and John Potts two goals.

The Falcons, also skating with seven players, were led by Rob McDonald's three-goal performance and Mike Linenberg's two goals and two assists.

Elks hit tourney trail in Macomb regional

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

The Canton Elks begin their quest for a Connie Mack regional baseball championship today with a first-round game in the Macomb County tournament.

The winners of the Redford Adray-Connie Mack title play American Legion Post 409 of Allen Park at 6 p.m. at L'Anse Creuse North High School in Mount Clemens.

Canton spectators planning to attend the game should take I-94 east to the 21 Mile Road exit and travel west approximately 1 1/4 miles. The school will be on the south side of 21 Mile Road.

In another 6 p.m. game today, the Lansing Big Reds face the Sterling Heights Raiders.

IF THE Elks should win, they will play an Oakland County team at 6 p.m. Friday. If they lose their first game, the Elks will play the Big baseball

Reds-Raiders loser at 3:30 p.m. Friday.

Mount Clemens Baseball Club is the sixth tournament entry and will face the Big Reds-Raiders winner Friday at 6 p.m.

The Elks, who carry a 23-1 overall record into the tournament, won the right to choose which regional they wanted to compete in by virtue of their regular-season performance.

The other choice was the eight-team Ann Arbor regional, but Canton chose the Macomb tourney for two reasons: fewer teams are entered and to forestall a showdown with Jackson FOP, a team the Elks defeated during a round-robin invitational in early July.

"THE THING is we won (the league) and we had the choice," Elks coach Dave Racer said. The runner-up Livonia Mustangs went to Ann Arbor.

"The boys worked to get there, and we want to give them the best chance we can, and I think we're good enough to win our district."

Redford Union forfeited its final league game to the Elks last Saturday, but, to prepare for the regional, Canton added a scrimmage game in its place and then scrimmaged a Westland team Tuesday.

In their last regular-season action — a 6-5 victory over Ypsilanti I in eight innings Thursday, the Elks were minus two of their big hitters, Tim Dowd and Chris Sisler.

DOWD WAS out with an injured shoulder and Sisler was playing with his Livonia Collegiate Baseball League team. But both players will be available to the Elks for the regional.

Little Caesars wins again

Dearborn Heights Little Caesars rallied in the final week of play to win its second straight regular season title in the Livonia Collegiate Baseball League.

Caesars, managed by John Moraitis, won three close battles against their closest pursuer, Tom Holzer Ford of Northville, to gain the crown.

Caesars finished with a 16-7 record, tallying 32 points. Holzer was second at 14-9-1 for 29, Walter's Appliance of Livonia took third at 12-11-1 for 25 and Wendy's of Ann Arbor finished 4-19 with eight points. (Double-elimination playoff action began last night. Results will appear in Monday's Observer.)

In LCBL action Sunday at Livonia's Ford Field, Caesars scored the winning run in the top of the 10th inning on a wild pitch to beat Holzer, 7-6, wrapping up the regular season crown.

Tom Liss, who pitched the final two innings in relief of starter Mark Coburn, was the winning pitcher. Gary Zwolinski took the loss.

CAESARS RALLIED in the top of the sixth for one run, tying the score at 3-3. Each team scored a run in the 10th, Holzer getting one back on an RBI single by catcher Kevin Ritter, scoring Tim Dowd.

Ritter finished the game with a pair of hits as did teammates Steve Merriman, Paul Newitt, Larry Wendt and Dowd.

Both teams scored twice in the 11th to knot the game at 6-6. (Holzer tied the game at 6-6 when Newitt stole home.)

Steve Looney led Caesars with three hits and Brian Roney contributed two.

Holzer closed out the regular season in the nightcap, blanking Wendy's, 1-0, in a five-inning game shortened by a City of Livonia curfew.

Northville pitcher Brett Loomis held Wendy's hitless and Dowd singled home Newitt with the game-winning run in the bottom of the fifth.

Earlier in the week, Caesars swept a double-header from Holzer, 5-2 and 4-3.

Swimmer overcomes setbacks to find success

By C.J. Rieak
staff writer

Jim Surowiec considers himself very lucky. He should. Listening to him, it's a wonder he's still alive, much less aiming for national prominence in next week's Senior National Swim Championships in Clovis, Calif.

"I'm one of the most sickly people you've ever seen," admitted the Redford Catholic Central graduate from Farmington Hills. "I'm always sick. I'm like a magnet — viruses just seem to be attracted to me."

Catastrophe might better describe Surowiec. He sounds like a walking definition of Murphy's Law ("Whatever can possibly go wrong, will"). But the sophomore-to-be at Oakland University has been able enough to finish eighth in the NCAA Division II swim championships last March, and — despite another rash of illness and injury — to qualify for next week's meet.

WHAT MAKES Surowiec's accomplishments more astounding is that he's been swimming competitively for just three years. He decided to try-out for CC's team as a junior after watching the 1984 Olympics on television.

He won the Catholic League championship in the 100-yard breaststroke in his first season, but didn't qualify for the state meet. As a senior, Surowiec was seeded first in the state, but sinus problems hampered his performance; he finished fifth.

He had a sinus operation after his senior year at CC. He was out of the water for two months and lost 30 pounds. When he got back to his training, he had three weeks to get in his hard work before devoting five weeks to taper for the U.S.S. state long-course championships in Ann Arbor last July.

Such a layoff would ruin most swimmers. Not Surowiec. He won the 100-meter breast and qualified for the Junior National Swim Championships. He placed 14th in that meet.

AFTER ENDURING such a summer, one might think Surowiec was

Jim Surowiec of Farmington Hills, a competitive swimmer for just three years, is traveling to California in hopes of winning a national title in the Senior National Swimming Championships.

RANDY BORST/staff photographer

due for some good luck. No way. He suffered through several illnesses in his freshman year at OU. The 10,000-yard early-season workouts Pioneer coach Pete Hovland put his team through were too much for Surowiec.

"Every time I'd overtrain, I'd get sick," he explained. The rest of the squad labored through Hovland's 10,000-yard workouts "but that killed me," said Surowiec. "So he cut me back to 5,000 yards."

The reduction at least allowed Surowiec to survive — for a while. Then, at the Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Conference meet at Michigan Tech in February, he became suddenly ill in a fast-food restaurant and passed out. He suffered a concussion when he hit his head on the floor.

He swam in the GLIAC meet anyway and qualified for the NCAA II meet with a 59.2 in the 100-yard breast. At the NCAA II championships, Surowiec recorded his best time ever in the 100-yard breast (58.8).

STILL, HIS mishaps weren't over yet. He tore ligaments in his shoulder in June while training for the Senior Nationals and was out of action again, this time for a month.

"I got back into the water in mid-June, and I had 28 days to train," said Surowiec. His objective was to qualify for the Senior Nationals at the Schrader Meet in Milwaukee July 12, a meet that was expected to attract a strong field in a fast pool.

Surowiec's goal was the 1:07.19 qualifying standard for the 100-meter breast. He had gone 1:10.4 in a meet at the end of June, before tapering. His best previous effort was 1:08.8. He was confident he could beat both those and make it to the Senior Nationals.

In Milwaukee, Surowiec was clocked at 1:07.95 in the preliminaries — his best, but not good enough. In the finals that night, he was timed in 1:07.6, still short of his goal.

"BY SATURDAY, I had just about given up," Surowiec said. But a conversation with Pete Leonhardt, one of his coaches with the Michigan Stingrays, convinced Surowiec to give it another shot in a special time trial scheduled for Sunday morning for swimmers who wanted one more shot at qualifying.

The time trial did it for Surowiec — he finished in 1:07.15. "I was so happy, so grateful," he said. "I was so close. I could just see me touching and then seeing the time at 1:07.20."

Fortunately, fate finally smiled in his favor. Surowiec will take modest goals with him to the Senior Nationals.

"I'd like to score — finish in the top 16," he said. "That's going to be incredibly hard to do, considering everybody that's going to be there. But you have to set your goals high, or there's no sense in having them."

With the Pan American Games scheduled for Indianapolis next month and the U.S. team to be selected from this meet's results, all the best swimmers are expected to be present.

Surowiec will be among them — barring accident.

Area gridders in All-Star roles

Observerland will be well represented Saturday in the annual East-West All-Star Football Game in East Lansing.

Seven former standouts at area high schools will be among the 40 players wearing royal blue and white for the East squad.

Kickoff is scheduled for 1:35 p.m. in Spartan Stadium, which will soon become a familiar place for one of the Observerland players.

Scott Selzer of North Farmington will spend his collegiate career performing on the same turf as a member of George Perles' Michigan State team.

The 5-foot-10, 190-pound running back will be taking handoffs Saturday from Farmington Harrison quarterback Mark Murray, who will share that role with Mark Crots of Petersburg-Summerfield.

Selzer and Murray will be joined on the offensive unit by Redford St. Agatha tight end Kevin Rich, a 6-5, 220-pounder headed for Central Michigan. Murray has announced his intentions to play for Wayne State.

Area players on the All-Star defense are Plymouth Salem end Joe Jouppi (6-2, 205), Redford Bishop Borgess end Alex Marshall (6-5, 225) and Redford Catholic Central back Greg Haeger.

Marshall will join coach Bo Schembechler's football program at the University of Michigan in the fall, and Haeger has accepted a baseball scholarship from U-M. Jouppi will continue his gridiron career at Hillsdale College.

Tickets cost $5 at the gate.

Cellulite creates problem for runner

Dear Myrna: I love your column and finally decided to write my own question. I have two dimples, one on either side of my back thighs. I am only 21 and absolutely hate the sight of this cellulite. I am a regular runner and also take aerobic classes. I am in good shape and continued exercise does not seem to make the cellulite go away. Can you help me?

— Kendall B. Birmingham

For you few lucky people out there who have never heard of cellulite, Webster's Dictionary defines it as "fatty deposits beneath the skin forming undesirable dimpling."
Well, you are just at the age where young women discover these beautiful dimples in their legs and buttocks. Welcome to the club (actually welcome to what could be the largest organization in the world).

First, let me acquaint you with cellulite. Cellulite is simply our subcutaneous fat (outer layer of fat), which takes on an unsightly appearance in the fattest parts of our bodies. On a woman, I am referring to legs, buttocks, hips, stomach and arms. Our body fluids push around our clustered fat cells trapping collagen fibers, which causes them to take on irregular appearances.

When these clusters increase in size they bulge like fat-filled pockets. These fatty pockets are subcutaneous — near the surface of our skin — which causes this unappealing look.

Most women start to gain cellulite at the age of 15 to 20. You do not have to be heavy to have some cellulite, even the slimmest women are predisposed to having some body fat in natural fatty areas.

Does your mother or grandmother have cellulite? Some of us are predisposed to having cellulite from our heredity.
The volume of fat in your body is the main factor that will effect cellulite formation. If you've wondered why men are rarely affected, it is because women sometimes have twice as much fatty tissue. The outer layers of women's skin also are thinner than a man's, so the bumps for us are more apparent.

Cellulite, especially at a young age, can be controlled or even reversed. There are lots of hocus-pocus remedies on the market today, including wraps, scrubbers, creams and even electrical stimulation. Forget it!

- You need diet and exercise
- Reduce your fat intake immediately. No butter, oily, fried or greasy foods. Little fish and chicken, no beef. Low-fat or skim milk dairy products.
 - Over half your diet should be composed of complex carbohydrates like fruits and veggies, whole grain breads, rice and pastas.

- Drink a lot of water, six to eight glasses a day. This will help you eliminate waste.
- Exercise four to six times a week — any type of aerobic activity at least for a 30-minute period of time. This will really make a difference in burning your body fat.
- Being only 21 years old and as conscientious as you sound, I am sure with a little added patience, your thighs will look great.

(Myrna Partrich, co-owner of The Workout Company of Bloomfield Township, is happy to answer any questions readers may have related to exercise. We ask that you send your signed letters to: Sports Department, Myrna Partrich, 1225 Bowers, Birmingham 48012.)

Canton names hoop winners

Six area youths won the right to represent Canton Township later this year in the Pepsi/NBA Hotshot competition after taking first-place honors in local action.

The competition sponsored by the Canton Parks and Recreation Department involved shooting baskets from five spots on the basketball court within a one-minute period, testing each youngster's speed, shooting, dribbling and rebounding skills.

The Canton winners and runners-up where applicable were: girls 9-12, Kelley Reeber, 23 points; Sarah Madsen, 14; boys 9-12, Pat Nelson, 91 points; Matt Paupore, 87; girls 13-15, Jackie Worosz, 50 points; Jenny Strecker, 24; boys 13-15, Kevin Holmes, 113 points; Mike Andrzejewski, 89; girls 16-18, Brenda Carey, 42 points; boys 16-18, Doug Donaldson, 98 points.

Jeff Pierce gave himself an early birthday present.

On Sunday, the cyclist's name and hometown was broadcast around the world as he triumphed in the final stage race of the Tour de France, a 119.3-mile trek that started in Cretil and ended up through the Champs Elysee of Paris lined with a half-million spectators.

what had happened I jumped up and down with the baby. I wished I could have been there."

Pierce, racing for the 7-Eleven team, finished 88th overall in the grueling 25-day, 2,488-mile race that began in West Berlin and ended in Paris. Irishman Stephen Roche got to wear the famed Yellow Jersey, signifying the overall winner. (Roche finished 40 seconds ahead of Spaniard Pedro Delgado.)

A year ago, Pierce finished 80th overall, but he competed primarily as an individual. This time, as part of the 7-Eleven team, Pierce was asked to perform strategically in hopes of spurring on some of his more talented teammates, including Andy Hampsten, one of the pre-race favorites.

"I got my lion's share of recognition from the team," Pierce said. "I feel very positive about my racing. I'm really happy to do what I did."

THREE OF PIERCE'S teammates were forced to drop out of the event because of physical problems, but the Livonia native held up well during his 25-day odyssey.

"This year I felt surprisingly good," he said. "I had a slight bronchitis and a digestive problem in the middle, but I got over that and I feel surprisingly fresh.

"We had good weather, but it was a lot hotter at the beginning of this year's race. But we didn't have the severe weather that we had a year ago (rain and snow)."

Pierce's victory on the final day probably came as a surprise to the cycling world.

"I'm known more as a hill climber," he said. "The final stage was long, but it was basically flat. There were only about five climbs during the day and they were relatively small."

"I just attacked with four kilometers to go and it was a very long sprint. It's not often I win a stage like that."

PIERCE ACKNOWLEDGED that the huge throng lining the course may have spurred him on.

"I actually thought about winning that day," Pierce said. "It seems the ones I do win are the big ones. There seems to be a correlation to big events that get me moving."

Pierce's win, of course, was overshadowed by the overall winner Roche. But for a gleaming moment he became the cycling world's Arch of Triumph.

The Livonia native will take brief rest before traveling next week to Hawaii to compete in the Coors Classic.

And he will be riding a wave of confidence onto shores of our 50th state.

Craiger claims another title

Craiger's Babe Ruth baseball team won its fourth straight Plymouth-Canton League championship, defeating Twist 'N Shake 8-2 and the Knights 7-3 to take the title outright.

After trailing 2-0 to Twist 'N Shake, Craiger came back to tie the game in the bottom of the fourth and win it with a six-run sixth.

Craiger's winning rally was keyed by Al Araquil's two-out, two-run double, which was followed by RBI singles from Jeff Belisle and Keith Bozyk, who was the winning pitcher in relief of Eric Butske.

Craiger ended the season with another come-from-behind win over the Knights. Craiger rallied to gain a 4-3 lead after six innings and put the game away with three runs in the seventh. The winning effort included Jason Stoops' run-producing double and RBI singles from Mitch MacDonald and Belisle.

Craiger's season record of 13-1 was the second best in the ballclub's four-year history, and its team batting average of .376 was its best.

The team's leading hitters were Bozyk, .568; Araquil, .545; MacDonald, .500; Butske, .476; Mark Barrette, .421; and Frank Learned, .406.

The pitching staff of Bozyk, Butske, Jason Bregni, Scott Kennedy and Araquil gave up the fewest earned runs in the last four years and combined for four straight shutouts. Butske and Bozyk also threw back-to-back no-hitters along the way.

"JEFF WAS SO EXCITED that he called me at nine in the morning and told me to turn on the TV (the CBS tape-delayed broadcast)," recalls Mrs. Pierce, who had no idea of the result. "He told me to turn on the answering machine and he said he'd call me back in an hour. When I saw the Canton pitching staff is led by Derek Darkowski and Adam Kocik, who have compiled 6-0 and 7-1 records, respectively.

Darkowski, a left-hander, also has a 1.98 earned run average, a team-high 52 strikeouts and three saves. The right-handed Kocik boasts a 3-10-1 strikeout ratio with 45 strikeouts as opposed to 18 walks.

In addition, Mike Sulak is 3-0 with eight saves, 22 strikeouts and eight walks. Since they were added to the team, Shane Smith and Chris Kennedy have both won three pitching decisions without a loss.

Caesars takes LCBL crown

In the opener, two University of Detroit hurlers hooked up in a tight duel, as Mark Coburn (8-1) outlasted Dan Kopitzke (6-2).

COBURN SCATTERED five hits, walked four and struck out five, while Kopitzke gave up eight hits and two walks.

Looney delivered the key blow for Caesars socking a two-run homer in the top of the sixth to make it 4-0.

Holzer got a pair back in the bottom of the inning on an RBI double by Tom Cotter and a RBI groundout by Dave Knapp.

Bad defense led to Holzer's undoing. The Northville team took a vacation, committing five errors.

In the second game Wednesday at Ford Field, Liss, another U-D pitcher, struck out eight and scattered six hits to best Zwolinski, who is bound for Oral Roberts. Zwolinski struck out seven and also allowed six hits.

Caesars tallied the winning run in the bottom of the seventh on an RBI single by Dwayne Bennett. That came after Holzer tied the game in the top of the inning on an RBI single by Keith Dutkiewicz.

STUNG BY THE double-header loss, Holzer stayed alive in the league race by romping past Wendy's in a game played at Northville High, 13-7.

Sport has room for newcomers

Eventually, Trabert returned from the sport as a player for just those reasons, ending an eight-year professional career in 1963 at age 33.

"I RETIRED because there wasn't much going on," he said. "I didn't retire because of any physical reason."

"There was just no reason to stay out there. There weren't enough events and money to make a living at it."

After you've played the same players in the same events — and won most everything there was to win — there isn't much left for someone like Trabert to accomplish. Thus, he decided to look after his future and establish himself in the business world.

Trabert spent seven years as a regional sales manager for Burlington Industries before assuming his present duties at Sawgrass and with CBS. He also had his own celebrity tennis show in the mid-1970s, served as the U.S. Davis Cup captain from 1976-80 and hooked up with Ford Motor Co. last year to further his role as an ambassador for the sport.

"THE GAME has been very good to me," he said. "I hit my first tennis ball 50 years ago, so if I can give something back I'm very happy to do that."

Trabert, who does a dozen clinics around the country and also does color commentary for an Australian television network, has seen many changes in the game, the most obvious of which is the great increase in prize money.

The most Trabert ever received for winning a tournament was $3,000. Cash picked up a check for $250,000 after his Wimbledon victory in July. But Trabert doesn't let that bother him.

"No, I was always taught to worry about the things I have control over," he said. "I had no control over when I was born and when I played."

"I HAVE a good job now and make a good living as a result of having played then."

Trabert also has witnessed the evolution of the tennis racket and seen more depth, more quality players, come into the game.

But, unlike basketball and football in which the size and ability of the athletes has revolutionized the sport, tennis is the same game it was when he played.

"Some players hit excessive topspin, which I don't think is necessarily a plus," said Trabert, adding a 5-foot-7, 160-pound individual can still succeed today in tennis. "That's why the top players from most eras would do very well against each other."

BUT MUCH of what Trabert does now involves analyzing and teaching. In giving clinics such as he did last week, his primary message to the weekend tennis player is to have fun — and keep the ball in play.

RANDY BORST/staff photographer

Trabert reminds his audience to think on the tennis court. The mental aspect is as important as the physical, Trabert said.

Doubles champions advance

Southfield's Missy Pollick and West Bloomfield's Mike Acosta earned an all-expense paid trip to Hilton Head, S.C., where they will compete in the playoffs of the Ford-Sports Tennis Championships Sept. 17-20.

Pollick and Acosta combined to win A Division honors in local competition Sunday at the Detroit Tennis and Squash Club in Farmington Hills. They ousted the defending mixed doubles champions, Mike Whitty of Clarkston and Paula Cooley of Rochester, 6-2, 7-6, 6-4, in the final.

In B Division play, Mark and Joan Levine of Grosse Pointe Woods defeated Eva and Chuck Young of West Bloomfield, 6-3, 6-3.

The winners in both divisions from 50 tournament sites will compete at Hilton Head. Grand Rapids also conducted a regional event. Ford Motor Company is the sponsor for the tournament, which benefits Cystic Fibrosis.

The four semifinalist teams in each division will qualify for the national finals at the Grand Champion Resort in Indian Wells, Calif., Dec. 3-6.

Trabert's view on star players

By Dan O'Meara staff writer

In his role as tennis analyst for CBS-TV, Tony Trabert has many opportunities to observe the top professional players in the game today.

As a former champion at the French Open, Wimbledon and U.S. Open, former U.S. Davis Cup player and captain and member of the Tennis Hall of Fame, the 56-year-old Trabert certainly ranks as an expert in the sport. Here's what he had to say regarding some of the top men's players.

● Jimmy Connors — The 34-year-old veteran was a surprise semifinalist at Wimbledon, but hasn't won a tournament since October 1984.

"I think his skills are slipping every day," Trabert said. "but he says he still enjoys playing. He's going on the idea that, as long as it's fun and his skills remain relatively sharp, he'll continue to play."

"He's had a great career. He's won something like 105 tournaments, but you can't stay there forever."

● John McEnroe — Trabert doesn't believe the former No. 1 player can regain his previous form after a long absence during which time he got married and became a father.

"He was never a practice player in the first place," Trabert said. "His work habits never have been very good."

"He's lost the edge, and he'll have to work doubly hard to get it back. I don't think he's willing to make that effort."

● Ivan Lendl — "I think he's gotten a bad rap," said Trabert, noting the ex-Czechoslovakian's often-stern expression has wrongly contributed to an unfair image of him.

"I've watched many athletes in the heat of competition, and I've never seen any of them laughing or slapping their knee. I just don't know what people are looking for."

Trabert added "To begin with, he came from an Eastern-bloc country, and he had a language problem. But I think he makes a very good effort to be better than he was. He does a lot of charity work up in Connecticut, which most people don't know about."

● Pat Cash — Though he won the Wimbledon championship, he isn't necessarily a rising star, said Trabert, who was surprised at his victory but liked the way he did it.

"He was born on grass, which means he learned the strokes that are effective on grass," he said. "Once (Boris) Becker was beaten, that made the tournament more wide open."

"He played beautifully to win. He rose to the occasion as opposed to someone playing horribly and losing it."

● Boris Becker — The young West German, who lost to Cash this year, burst onto the scene two years ago when he became the first 18-year-old to win at Wimbledon. Consequently more is probably expected of a young player than should be, according to Trabert.

"He's become a little less coachable in the last 10 months, because he's had a lot of success," he said.

Movie exposes many faces of its star

By Dan Greenberg
special writer

Playing a cyborg used by the police department of a decaying city, Peter Weller manages to instill his machine-like character with a sense of humanity.

Weller's character in "Robocop," a machine with a human past, inhabits the Detroit of the near future. The film provides an interesting look at the city's future, including some excellent satirical commentary on TV news and corporate politics.

However, the movie doesn't reflect well on the city. It's the sort of film that leaves one pondering Detroit's bad image in film.

Weller appeared to be a bit embarrassed upon being asked why the city was chosen to portray such a cesspool of futuristic urban blight.

"This is what everybody wants to know. I knew I'd come to Detroit and get busted on this one. But let's face it, Detroit doesn't have the most pristine urban image," he said.

"Besides that, we chose Detroit because it is synonymous with tough town and always has been. You guys had martial law here. So, tough town, urban, U.S.A."

However that tough town didn't look tough enough when it came time to pick a location for the film. Instead of Detroit, Dallas was chosen.

"They wanted to shoot it in Detroit but they didn't find locations of real urban blight that would physically look horrible enough and second of all, they wanted a very futuristic skyline and Dallas has great golf-ball-shaped buildings and pyramids and green things — so they chose Dallas only because of the skyline."

Such is the world of film illusion. Weller is slight, handsome, with a twinkle in his eye and the inclination to love not hate. In spite of that, he stars in this violent look at law enforcement of the future.

Detroit police officer Murphy (Weller) is executed by sadistic killers and his remains are used by Omnicorp, the corporate operators of the Detroit Police Force, to build a cyborg — part man, part machine — the best of cybernetics.

"Robocop" represents one corporate faction while ED-209, a law-enforcement droid, is the brainchild of Mr. Big, Omnicorp's second-in-command, Jones (Ronny Cox). Jones also is conspiring with Clarence (Kurtwood Smith), leader of the gang that executed Murphy.

While that storyline has its cliched moments, and the film is excessively violent, there are a number of interesting elements. Hollywood should, however, learn to tell a good story without wallowing in gore. Special effects craftsmen are great artists, but sometimes restraint is in order.

The outfit Weller wears as a cyborg turns a smaller-than-average individual into a looming presence.

"The whole thing wouldn't have been possible, except for the fellow who trained me, Moni Yakim. He's one of the world's greatest mimes and a professor of movement at Julliard."

It was Yakim's concept, after reading the script, to avoid the conventional portrayal of androids and do something more stylized and more elegant.

"We prepared for five months. Meanwhile Rob Bottin was building this suit, specifically for me. However, due to a couple of technical glitches the suit was late. We had already been shooting when it arrives a month late, and we didn't have time to rehearse with it."

"It took 10 1/2 hours to put on the first time," Weller grimaces at the memory. "And then I could not move. "So, they flew Moni in from New York, and we spent the weekend looking at it. Then Yakim had a brainstorm which, in retrospect, seems simple, but was brilliant at the time."

Behind Robocop's mask

Weller is obviously a great admirer of Yakim and he related the new concept. "He said to throw out everything we knew except for the basic techniques and instead of trying to fight the suit, play into it. Make it big and beastlike and cumbersome, and we'll make Robo that, rather than quick and elegant." "It was a difficult adjustment for Weller, "working 15-hour days that Saturday and Sunday and I remember, I lost 5 1/2 pounds of water. But it worked."

Ultimately the suit was cut down and by the end of filming, under pressure, Weller was able to suit up in 45 minutes. But makeup took 6 1/2 hours each day for the final 21 days when "Robocop's" face shows after his helmet has been damaged.

Yakim sent for a copy of Eisenstein's "Ivan the Terrible" and Weller said they watched the Russian actor Cherkasov fill the screen with Tsar Ivan's personality.

"Here was this big, gawky, cumbersome suit which I, coming from the Method and approaching this character beat by beat, now had to fill up in terms of the spirit of this creature, Robo."

And Weller fills the screen with the tormented personality of a machine with human memories. The ability to do that derives from intense preparation. "I read everything I could lay my hands on about robotics," and a full career, including Broadway appearances. He was David in the New York Shakespeare Festival production of "Sticks and Bones," a role he also played in London.

In addition to Lincoln Center and off-Broadway roles, his television appearances include "Kentucky Woman," "Two Kinds Of Love" and "Apology."

Weller has appeared on screen in Sidney Lumet's "Just Tell Me What You Want," "Firstborn," "Of Unknown Origin," "Butch and Sundance: The Early Years" and "Buckaroo Banzai."

Life in the slow lane

Tent dweller thrives on alternate lifestyle

By Corinne Abatt
staff writer

HE LIKES TO BE KNOWN as Teepee Tom. That's what he's called in the Traverse City area where he works and lives. Actually, his home, a Sioux Indian teepee, is in a clearing in the woods about 10 miles out of town.

Tom lives there, winter and summer. It is, he says, mental preparation for future challenges.

"I've done this for five years and this past year's been as good as any," said the lean, sandy-haired 37-year-old. "I prepared heavily for a bad winter with wind breaks and snow fences, but it turned out to be mild."

In his five years as a tent dweller, he's refined his alternative life style to a point where it's more than tolerable; at times it's downright enjoyable.

Once he solved the heating problem, life was considerably more comfortable.

"I tried an open fire and that was no good," he said. After he installed a 12-by-20-inch, custom-made, wood-burning stove, with a vent pipe out the side, he could keep the tent cozy and warm all winter long.

"And I can boil water, bake potatoes and make toast on it," he said. "Only two out of five years have I had firewood ahead. There's always a supply. This place was cut 60-80 years ago (and then replanted). Now it's basically a hardwood forest, maple, oak, beech, basswood, ash . . ."

When he does cut wood, he uses a hand saw. Tom, who voiced a concern for the environment, said, "I try not to mess stuff up too much." He carefully contains his influence on the forest to a relatively small circle.

around, is supported by red pine and tamarack poles. It is set about a foot into the ground in a trench he dug to make it more substantial. He also built the wood floor.

Inside is a rocking chair, a small refrigerator and the two-burner stove powered by liquid propane gas, a small battery TV, radio, cot, tables, stools, a cabinet, books, a guitar, an assortment of rhythm instruments and the all-important snowshoes.

He opened his refrigerator where there was a supply of perishables and a couple of bottles of Beck's dark. As if to explain the presence of the upscale beer, he said smiling, "I subscribe to a quality of life philosophy," then motioning toward the entrance, added, "the outdoors there is quality, too."

For his first and most-important modern convenience, a telephone, he strung wires from his supply trailer near the dirt road to his teepee several hundred yards back.

STILL, Tom said, he didn't install his most elementary convenience until this year.

"I went four years without mosquito netting, and in the summer I'd only get about three hours sleep a night. . . . My favorite time of year is fall when there's no bugs, and it's colorful. . . . The only time it's really bad is when the wind is blowing."

Tom, who doesn't hunt or fish, said he follows the macrobiotic philosophy. "You should eat what you need."

Since he supports himself by working at Oryana Food Coop in Traverse City and at occasional part-time jobs, he is far from a hermit type.

"I don't tend to stay out here isolated — I'm a

Plymouth Corners finds its niche

on the HOME FRONT development/design

Beginning with this photo feature on Plymouth Corners condominium development, the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers initiates "What's New on the Homefront," a look at the latest trends in home development as well as fashions for the home. It will appear once a month in the Creative Living section.

Highlight of the page will be guest columns by leaders in the interior design field and a new column, "Temptations"—specialty items for home that are just what the name implies—compiled by O&E special writer Rustie Shand.

THE UNIQUE FLAVOR THAT SETS Plymouth somewhat apart from its neighbors — through time-honored traditions and innovative new events — played an important role in the development of the 72-unit Plymouth Corners development tucked in cozily at the corner of Bradner and Five Mile roads. A stone's throw from quaint Old Village and downtown Plymouth, it is still close enough to two major freeways for convenient access to Detroit, Ann Arbor and surrounding areas.

Exteriors (below) have been designed to fit the colonial theme of the development with bay window in the living room area. All models have insulated wood windows and screen and central air conditioning.

Security features include garage door opener and direct entry from garage into the unit. All have basements with extra-high ceilings.

The models are open from 1-7 p.m. seven days a week. For more information, call 420-3010.

More folklore from paperwork experts

ONCE upon a time in 1975 two scholarly writers put their heads together and came up with a book called "Urban Folklore from the Paperwork Empire." It had a catchy enough title — though, granted, not one that would reach out and grab you. Now there is sequel to their treatise on office-copier humor, and it looks like the authors learned something about marketing along the way — possibly from Ollie Fretter.

"When You're Up to Your Ass in Alligators: More Urban Folklore from the Paperwork Empire," a recent addition to the Wayne State University Press catalogue (hardbound, $21.95, softbound, $9.95) is the kind of title that doesn't just reach out and grab it puts you in hammerlock.

Anyone who has ever worked in an office or a factory can't help but recognize the title like as part of a "memo" that has been copied and tacked to thousands, maybe millions of bulletin boards everywhere.

For those few who haven't seen it, the complete text goes like this:

NOTICE

The objective of all dedicated company employees should be to thoroughly analyze all situations, anticipate all problems prior to their occurrence, have answers for these problems, and move swiftly to solve these problems when called upon.

However...

When you're up to your ass in alligators, it is difficult to remind yourself that your initial objective was to drain the swamp.

The book's authors, Alan Dundes, professor of anthropology and folklore at the University of California-Berkeley, and Carl R. Pagter, a California attorney and folksinger, call this kind of thing "office copier folklore" and, despite the clever title, try desperately to treat it as a serious subject.

And that's what makes "Alligators" such an odd book. On the cover a nifty cartoon shows two people caught in a maelstrom of paperwork, surrounded by hungry, grinning alligators. This is a book chock full of humor, the cover seems to say. Nowhere does it say, "but look out because we're going to analyze it to death and explain what it means."

In all fairness, we do get a little hint on the back cover that this book might be — oh, no! — scholarly, and, of course, it is distributed by WSU Press, but who reads the fine print when you're looking for humor?

And, in all fairness, a lot of the material in "Alligators" is funny. When I worked in a business office, many of those same sayings and jokes (Xeroxography, they call it) made my day and filled my bulletin board. I had the Round Tuit ("I'll do it as soon as I get around tuit"); I had

book break

the one with people laughing helplessly, saying, "You want it when?" I had "A neat desk is the sign of a sick mind." I must have thought at the time they were oh-so-clever.

And I'd still think that, I suppose, in the right context — but let's just look at how the authors preface their explanations of "A neat desk..."

"Some amount of disorder is understood to be a precondition for or consequence of productive work. But not all disorder is productive. Modern psychiatry has suggested that individuals project their personalities into their working and living habits..." and blah, blah and double-blah.

In the introduction, the authors warn "... we have included some items that some readers may find distasteful, but we believe that all the data presented are essential for a documentation of the full range of the (office copier folklore) tradition."

All in all, it's not a bad forewarning — because much of this book is distasteful. It is so distasteful that it's hard to read it all at one sitting. The innumerable references to ethnic, sexist and eschatological office copier humor get to be stomach-churners after awhile, even bearing in mind that what we're doing here is learning.

Now, I don't mind learning. It's one of my favorite things to do — and I have nothing against scholarly works. I just think they should be dressed for the occasion.

"Alligators" is the tweedy, elbow-patched professor wearing a fright wig and a Nerfball nose. He looks funny. You laugh. But when he starts the lecture, you know you'd better get rid of your gum and pay attention.

photography
Monte Nagler

Being alert on a streetcar on a recent European trip enabled Monte Nagler to capture this candid of a priest in quiet thought.

Move fast for good candids

PEOPLE, AS WE all know, are among the most fascinating of photographic subjects. And if you can catch them unaware, you'll end up with shots that are both natural in expression and exciting in content.

There are two basic approaches to candid photography: 1) You can intentionally provoke a reaction by attracting your subject's attention and snapping the camera at that instant, or 2) you can try to be unnoticed and capture a slice of life as it happens.

The first approach will freeze a person's instant response to your camera. You'll get expressions of surprise and humor that can be revealing.

THE SECOND approach, shooting unobserved, will produce natural looking pictures of people going about their everyday lives. When photographing in a public place, an airport, a park, or crowded street, try to attract a minimum amount of attention to yourself. Blend in with the surroundings and become a quiet observer of the action.

A telephoto lens is certainly helpful in candid photography because you can fill the frame without getting too close to your subject. With a telephoto, you can get striking shots of people absorbed in work or play and they won't even know you're there. But don't rule out normal or even wide angle lenses. They'll give you more background in your shot which can be valuable in placing subjects in their natural environment.

Wide angle lenses, due to their increased angle of view, will enable you to include people in the viewfinder without having to point the camera directly at them. People rarely believe they're being photographed unless the camera is aimed in their direction.

DON'T FORGET candids close to home. Whether it's a family gathering at holiday time or a ballgame in the backyard, candid shots will provide you with natural-looking, lasting memories.

To get good candid shots, have your exposure predetermined so that you can trip the shutter quickly without a lot of fussing with the camera's controls.

In all candid photography, speed is an important ingredient, not so much shutter speed or film speed, but that with which you can react to the image and decide on composition, focus and exposure of your shot.

A thorough familiarity with your camera equipment is essential if you are to operate quickly and unobtrusively to get the shots that count.

When he first came to the area, he lived in what is now his storage trailer. Gradually he moved further back into the woods.

"It took three years of psychological preparation to do this. I always been sympatric with the American Indian. I have feet that are red on the inside and white on the outside.

"My life has slowed down a little bit. It's comfortable. The mosquito netting has made it more comfortable. I try to keep well read and well informed. .n.n. I know I break with tradition, but lifestyles: upstate

I've always been out on the fringe of experiments. There is a lot of pressure (in living like this). This is not easy. I like the challenge."

EARLIER as he led the way through the woods to his home, he carefully stepped over a small hurdle he had built in the center of the path at the edge of the clearing. He said there had been a second and he always used to jump, or at least step, over them. They were reminders of challenge — symbols of his approach to life.

"Be comfortable with less is where it's at," he said, "and I've got all I need. And I've worked a lot of six-day, 55-hours weeks in my life."

He foresees the time when he will wear a tie and suit to work and follow a more traditional lifestyle. It will happen when there's something special for him to do, a contribution which he can make to society. He doesn't know when it will take place; he just knows it will. Meanwhile, meeting the challenge of life in the tent is his way of preparing for his future.

"Who ever heard of a mortgage company that makes house calls?"

That's us: County Mortgage. We're the folks who put so much emphasis on personal service that we'll come to your house, your office or any other convenient spot to help you apply for a mortgage. We've even met people on their lunch hour and between planes at the airport. We'll come out on Saturdays and Sundays, if necessary. We want your mortgage business. And we'll come to you to get it.

We're experienced. Our Account Executives average over 7 years experience in mortgage lending. And our senior people have all been in the mortgage business over 14 years. This depth of experience helps us move things along a lot more smoothly for our customers.

We're not only experienced. We're fast. At County Mortgage, we understand the need to move fast when a customer is waiting for a mortgage. Since every mortgage is a little bit different, we can't make any general promises. But right now, our average time for mortgage approvals is around 2 1/2 weeks. We can even save you more time by closing in our office.

You'll find us very reasonable. We invite you to compare our rates to any of the metropolitan area's mortgage lenders. We think you'll find us to be very competitive.

If you'd like to know how much mortgage money you'd qualify for-- give us a call. We'll give you a "ballpark" idea of how much mortgage money you could qualify for. Call us at 646-2810. Or visit our office in Birmingham. Of course if you can't get in during office hours, remember-- we'll come to you.

condo queries

Robert M. Melsner

Q. I signed a purchase agreement which provided for occupancy at the time of closing. The form of the purchase agreement indicated there were tenants occupying the premises but I was assured by the realtor they would be vacant at closing. As closing is approaching, I find that the tenants cannot be removed. What is my course of action?

A. With the benefit of 20/20 hindsight, you now realize that you should have inquired as to the nature of the tenancy arrangement and provided for adequate assurance that if the tenant had not vacated the premises on or before closing that, you would be compensated by the sellers by monies held in escrow at closing.

You should consult with an attorney as to whether or not you should withdraw from the purchase and/or sue for money damages, particularly if the deal cannot close. Depending upon the interpretation given to the purchase agreement, you may have agreed to buy the house subject to the rights of the tenant occupying the premises. On the other hand, you may have a claim against the realtor for misrepresentation, although oral, which presumably induced you to enter into the purchase agreement.

Q. We are a condominium association board and are wondering what you recommend should be the criteria that a board utilizes in hiring an association attorney.

A. As in the retention of any attorney, the association should determine whether the candidate has had extensive experience in the representation of condominium associations, what his academic background has been as well as his work experience in the condominium field.

They should also inquire as to the nature of his or her firm, the rating it has in Martindale-Hubbell, a legal directory, the method for determining his fees and how they are calculated (for example, is a phone call a minimum quarter of an hour or a tenth of an hour), and his or her reputation in the community as an expert in this chosen field.

You may wish to talk to other attorneys, other condominium associations when the attorney has represented and the lawyer referral services of your local bar association, and you should meet with him or her in their office to look at the support staff and equipment, which may give you a basis for determining whether or not the attorney is in a position to adequately represent your needs and deliver efficient and competent services to you.

Q. We are having several problems with tenants in certain units in the condominium who fail to comply with the condominium restrictions. I have written the landlord but they seem not to care about their tenants adhering to their restrictions. What can we do?

A. You must first refer to the condominium bylaws to see whether they give the association any direct rights against the tenant including eviction, which was authorized under the 1978 Condominium Act, which should be embodied in your condominium documents. You may also have the right to collect assessments from the tenant, which are owed to the landlord if the condominium documents so provide. On the other hand, you always have recourse against the landlord-co-owner for violations of his tenant. You should consult with your association lawyer as to the remedies available to the Association.

Q. Could you describe the difference between a condominium and a cooperative, as I am somewhat confused by the two forms of ownership.

A. In a condominium, generally the purchaser in a residential context owns a cubicle of space, typically the inside of his unit, outright and owns an undivided interest in the common areas of the condominium, which are referred to as common elements.

In a cooperative, generally the purchasers of shares in the cooperative association enters into a proprietary lease with the cooperative corporation to lease a unit for a period of time. Unlike a condominium, however, the cooperative shareholder does not own a particular unit, generally, but merely a share in the cooperative corporation which owns the entire complex. Whether the project is a cooperative or condominium may have some effect on your ability to obtain financing and on the marketability of the unit, depending upon the geographic location.
