Finances of PC Schools are lauded

staff writer

Despite state aid cuts, voters' defeat of the Headlee Amendment waiver and other revenue losses, Plymouth-Canton Community Schools are in good fiscal shape, according to auditors.

Lyle Algate, Plante & Moran CPA, pegged the district's total assets at $11.2 million, liabilities at $6.9 million and total fund equity at $4.3 mil-Algate gave high marks to administrators, with just a few suggestions as to how more internal financial control could be obtained.

"The staff is constantly looking for ways to enhance the district. It's more innovative than the average district," said Algate.

THE DISTRICT has refinanced old bonds, resulting in reduced overall rates. It also has explored selftives to increase return on investments, Algate said.

You have a lot of dollars to keep track of but, percentage-wise, you don't spend as much as smaller districts on your finance office," Algate told school board members Monday night. "You have an outstanding staff in terms of the capabilities you have internally and in terms of creative refinancing."

Revenues totaled $51.7 million, and expenditures $51.2 million, leaving an excess of about $468,000 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1987.

The district's fund balance went from $3.8 million in July 1986 to $4.3 million in June 1987.

Budgeted and actual expenditures and revenues "were about as close as you can get," said Algate.

Prison escapee caught

A Plymouth man who walked away from a minimum security work camp last Tuesday while serving a prison term for murder was apprehended by police Saturday in the northern Michigan town of Harbor Springs.

Ronald John Hartwig, 39, was arrested without incident about 10 miles from Camp Pellston from which he had escaped, said Joe Hosey, supervisor at the camp. Hartwig wasn't armed.

Hartwig was expected to be transferred to the Southern Michigan Correctional Facility at Jackson from the Emmet County Jail within a few days after his capture, Hosey said.

Hartwig could face an additional charge of prison escape, a 1- to 5year felony.

He was serving a 13- to 35-year sentence for second degree murder. He bludgeoned Stacey Ann Hurrel-brink to death in Old Village in 1981.

Hartwig was scheduled to be transferred to Jackson for a review of his custody level the day after he fled from Camp Pellston, Hosey Hartwig's custody level at Jackson initially would have remained minimum security, Hosey said.

Walking away from camp immediately increased Hartwig's custody level to maximum security, Hosey added.

Linder appeared in the Detroit area to encourage travel to Nicaragua and to raise money for completion of the dam project, said Jim Salczynski, a Plymouth Canton High teacher who arranged the campus visit.

LINDER matter-of-factly described his son's violent death - shot in the head at close range - to a packed auditorium, then showed slides of his son's experiences in Nicaragua. Among his observations:

"I always like to take the time to share and interact with people who have first-hand experience in Nicaragua," she said. "It inspires me more because each time. I come closer and closer to the truth."

Anti-drug campaign to be launched

By Susan Buck

Wayne County Prosecutor John D O'Hair will bring professional athletes to the Silverdome Tuesday to initiate an anti-drug campaign at metropolitan high schools.

Centennial Educational Park student representatives and advisers will attend the news conference that will kick off "A Big League Challenge Crackdown of Drugs" - a four-county program that will challenge high school students to score points based on various anti-drug Twenty-five schools in Wayne, programs in existence in their Oakland, Macomb and Genessee counties will participate. The seven schools scoring the most points in THE LURE OF meeting and being the competition will be declared winners.

And to the winners come the irresistible spoils.

These include awards of merit, Lewis from the Detroit Red Wings tickets to Pistons, Red Wing and Liwill be specifically dedicated to the winning schools, and radio and/or television interviews

Tentative plans also include a visit from one of the pros who will address the students at assembly.

"I think more kids are exposed to more things that they used to be," said Dan Riggs, Plymouth Canton High activities director and football coach, who is organizing the CEP project.

"I think that it would be a good idea if we could win this," said Heinrich. "If a big sports guy came, it would be a real to-do" for students.

A student representative who has been in the Aftercare Program at CEP for five weeks also will be involved in the competition. Aftercare is a four-year-old CEP drug rehabilition program, which has aided 175 students since its inception, said

Mary Vertrees, program co-director. The Aftercare student rep also is involved in Growth Works, a Plymouth-based job counseling agency He hopes that the competition will inspire other schools to initiate prograins like Aftercare, as well as educate teachers.

'I don't think teachers really know which kids are chemically dependent," he said. Because teachers are often unable to recognize a chemically dependent student, they enable him to continue his habit, he said.

Teachers may be reluctant to take responsibility and get involved, he added.

According to Thompson, the Drug Enforcement Association will provide special training for counselors and teachers from participating schools.

Vertrees believes the competition will be an excellent way to showcase CEP programs. "Our programs are so darn good. We want the general public and the school population to know what's in place at this time.

Increased traffic, dust, litter, noise and odor would detract from the quality of life, and the landfill would pose a danger to drinking water and Willow Run Airport traffic, they said in a letter.

"Canton need not bear the brunt of becoming a landfill center for the whole county, nor should any community just because the land is suitable," said Dell. .

Phyllis and Henry Herig live near Michigan and Lilley on acreage "that's been in the family for over 100 years," Phyllis Herig said. White-tailed deer, great-horned owls and red-tailed hawk live among the maple, oak and aspen trees, wild rose, raspberry and wild carrot plants that grow in what used to be the Herig family nursery.

'It's unbelievable there, it's so pretty. But if we don't sell, we will be in the dump area.

"We care about the land and the beauty of that area," Herig said.

"Wayne-Disposal has made offers to buy our property. We've held out hoping there wouldn't be a landfill there. We can see their side, but we hope our side is seen too. We don't want a blighted, depressed area.'

Commercial haulers urged the committee to OK the landfill.

Paying the bills is usually routine business for Plymouth-Canton school board members. But a charge of $32,775 to repair 43 copy machines is "outlandish," administrators and trustees agreed.

Part of the problem is that school staffers are using copiers as a print shop. They're not designed for that purpose," said Superintendent John Hoben

Much of the new information comes from articles in the July 20. 1907, issue of the Detroit Journal, published on the same day the acci-

THE JOURNAL reported that the excursion train from Ionia was just rounding the curve at the 10-foot gully known as Van Sickle Cut just west of Plymouth, when it came in sight of the freight train coming the other way. Both trains were traveling at about 45 miles per hour.

The engineers of both trains shut off steam and applied their brakes. Immediately after the trains collided, said the Journal in language typical of the period. "There was hasty stampede, the terror-stricken people fighting with one another to get out of doors and windows, while from the pile of wreckage came the cries of those who were pinned down by heavy timbers, suffering untold agonies from broken bones and mangled flesh, and with no hope of being extricated until a wrecking train arrived from Detroit.

THE BODIES were lined up along the embankment and covered with canvas Passengers were able to identify some of the dead and these were placed in a separate spot with tags bearing their names affixed to their clothes.

The greatest loss of life was in the first five of the 11 coaches. Most of those killed were men who were passengers in the smoking car directly behind the passenger train locomo-

Most of the 800 people on the excursion train were Ionia employees of the Pere Marquette Railroad and their families, although numerous others took advantage of the excursion. The Journal reported that of the 150 or more children on the excursion train, it was believed that all had escaped. Ninety percent of the dead and injured were residents of

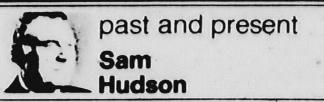

Describing the scene, a staff correspondent of the Journal said two of the passenger cars lay across the track on top of the wrecked freight The demolished passenger engine lay on the opposite of the track and partly on top of the freight

At least three Republican state

senators want an end to the 1980 law

This sunsets it on Dec. 31, 1987. said Sen Rudy Nichols, R-Water-ford, author of the bill and chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee. This is what the Legislature intended to do

What makes his bill necessary, he said, is that Attorney General Frank Kelley found a legal defect in the title of the original law that allows the state to continue enforcing the law beyond the end-of-1987 sunset

OPPONENTS FEAR the federal government will use the 1972 Clean Air Act to stop industrial building in southeastern Michigan if the state doesn't act to control tailpipe emis-

The law applies only to Wayne. Oakland and Macomb counties. It requires motorists there to have $10 tests at certified stations to show their vehicles aren't emitting too many pollutants.

"I felt from the beginning that to control emissions was a pittance, compared to catalytic converters and unleaded gasoline," said Nichols, who was elected to the Legislature in 1982.

Nichols said that if the federal embargo is applied, Michigan will have until next August to renew the emissions test law

One week ago today, Congresswoman Patricia Schroeder tearfully ounced that she would not seek he Democratic nomination for president. But despite that decision, she's still speaking out on the 1988 campaign and two of her favorite issues the federal deficit and the American family

'We must get the debt off our back and stress off the building block of our nation - families," said Schroeder, 47, in Detroit Friday as the featured speaker at a fund-raiser for Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara.

The longest-serving woman in the U.S. Congress, Schroeder, who represents Colorado's first district in the U.S. House, told the audience of more than 900 in Detroit's Westin Hotel that 1988 must be a time for the nation to face up to its problems.

"WASHINGTON has been running and hiding from adversity," said Schroeder, who has been in the House since 1972 and is known as a Pentagon critic and sponsor of a bill that would create a national parental leave policy.

In her travels throughout the nation, Schroeder said she has found that people are concerned about the deficit.

"A few years ago Americans were ter off now than four years ago. In America today, people are asking: 'Is America better off?'

"Costs for education, housing and care for the elderly are out of sight, said Schroeder, adding that the next president must face up to the burgeoning national debt.

SCHROEDER SAID the United States must take steps to "level the playing field" when it comes to defense spending and international trade.

"There must be a rendezvous with reality or there won't be a rendezvous with opportunity," said Schroeder, who advocates "burdensharing" with our economically developed allies such as Japan, Germany and Great Britian.

SCHROEDER ALSO has campaigned vigorously for for a nationwide parental leave policy.

She is the author of the family and medical leave bill of 1987 which would provide 18 weeks of unpaid leave for parents after the birth or of a sick elderly parent Schroeder. the mother of two, pointed out that more than 100 other nations provide the Senate to do something. Schroeder criticized the tax reform act of 1986 as detrimental to

"If you decided to raise thoroughbreds rather than children, you'd be better off under the new tax reform. To relieve the stress from the building block of society which is the family, we must start with our tax code and, secondly, the family medical leave act.

ALTHOUGH SOME political leaders would like to think of the family in nostalgic terms, she said the reality is that more and more families are headed by single heads of households, and two working parents are becoming the norm rather than the exception.

When asked about her decision not to run for president, Schroeder said it was "too late to be a sacrificial lamb.

On whether she'd accept a spot on the Democratic ticket as vice president, Schroeder said: "Only if they let the vice president do something.

Mushy veggies now 'in'

A funny thing happened last week while cleaning the basement. I came across an article written by me on Monday, Dec. 29, 1986, detailing what's not in for 1987. With culinary trends lasting about as long as a lunch hour, here's an updated list to help you make it through the remainder of this culinary year. One thing to remember, however: "Out" is worrying about what's "in" while "in" is not worrying about what's

First off, I think it's about time people started appreciating mushy vegetables. The tender-crisp stage is "out" because chewing made so much noise that we are finding relief in the silence of mashed potatoes.

Helping achieve this effect is an old "in" appliance, the microwave. More than half of American homes have one, which in turn means a complete generation of young cooks don't taste for doneness, they listen

About the only restaurateurs not yet to discover nuked cuisine are the Chinese. Another great "in" will be the re-emergence of Schezuan foods. Once the "in" food during the Nixon Administration, it has since fallen out of grace with the Republicans. Look for these fiery cuisines to make a triumphant

Continuing to be "out" is Paul Prudhomme dishes, especially blackened redfish, mainly because there's hardly a redfish left.

While we're on the subject of notable chefs, I am happy to announce that traveling chefs who charge $400,000 for a 90-minute demonstration in an elbow-to-elbowsized cooking area are out. The hippest cooks now invite local talents into their home for small afternoon "tea-seminars." You pay through the teeth but your friends will envy you like an ounce of Beluga caviar sitting on the deli shelf.

People like Alice Waters tell us to eat some formerly unknown edible green like Arugula and mache and everyone turns into Euell Gibbons. Trust me, folks, there is no connection between edible and tasty.

While eating at counters "a la diner" is catching on, it baffles me why I have to pay $5 for a malted because I'm at a glitzy new diner instead of the drugstore. Fast meals for fast times will never catch on as far as I'm concerned, but I am noticing quite a resurgence in pizza. Duck sausage and goat cheese are losing out on pizzas to what really counts: pepperoni.

Ethel Simmons new Taste editor

New assignment

THEL SIMMONS, entertainment editor of the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, has been named editor of Taste, the Monday food section. She will continue to cover entertainment, in addition to her new duties.

In December, Simmons will mark her 25th year with the O&E.

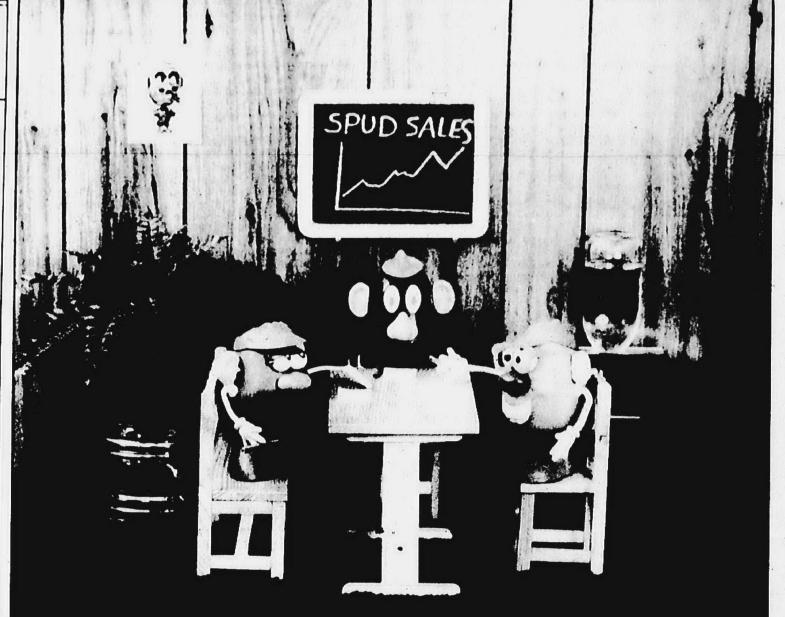

The Taste section includes foodrelated feature articles and columns by staff writers and special writers, including Chef Larry Janes. Also appearing in the section are items on new products, cooking calendars and other topics.

Simmons said she plans to step up reader involvement in the section.

"For instance," she said, "For the Thanksgiving holiday, we are asking readers to submit their favorite poultry stuffing recipe. We also will be asking for holiday dessert ideas."

"But regardless of the season, we will always welcome story ideas," she said.

Story ideas and recipes to be considered for publication should be sent to Taste, Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, P.O. Box 3503, Birmingham 48012.

Michigan's potato output ranks 10th nationally. Crops are grown mostly in the Bay City, Munger and Hastings areas.
"We don't have the budget it takes to pro-

"Price has little to do with how much celery people use. The only thing that dictates whether people buy celery is if they eat a lot of salads and if grocery stores feature it.

The Michigan Onion Committee is at the same box office as the celery cooperative. It offers two-color brochures that detail the therapeutic value of onions, list household uses (try rubbing onion juice on itchy feet to help soothe athlete's foot) and recipes. Three other pamphlets detail kinds of onions, nutritional facts and recipes.

More groups provide free information

Here's a list of what other groups offer: • Michigan Carrot Committee, 514 Clinton, Grand Haven 49417.

The state ranks third in carrot production, with home-grown varieties available July through November.

The committee offers a fold-out brochure with recipes and usage tips, recipe cards and a one-page nutritional guide.

• Michigan Bean Commission, P.O. Box 22037, Lansing, 48909.

Six different recipe booklets are available for free. The commission's "Michigan Bean Cookbook," costs 50 cents. Michigan ranks first in the nation in dried bean production.

Youngsters enjoy making own tacos

Kids love Mexican food. With its follow this easy procedure: lively flavors, serape-bright colors and contrasting textures and temperatures, Mexican food makes any meal a fiesta.

Tacos, those spicy south-of-theborder treats kids like so much. make an ideal Mexican cooking adventure for youngsters. As much fun to assemble as they are to eat, tacos provide children with the opportunity to learn the correct handling and preparation of ground beef, the foundation for kid-pleasing recipes

Ground beef, like all ground meat, is perishable and requires special care. Teach youngsters these ground rules as you work together in the kitchen:

· Store ground beef in the coldest part of the refrigerator. Freeze it if it will not be used within a day or two.

• Thaw frozen ground beef overnight in the refrigerator. Thawing at room temperature allows bacteria to grow in thawed portions while the interior is still frozen · Wash hands, cutting boards, utensils, counter tops and everything that has been used for ground beef preparation before reusing. Use hot, soapy water to wash and hot water to rinse.

Spicy Tacos, created with smallfry tastes in mind, are an easy-to-prepare version of the south-of-the-border classic. Key to their lively flavor is a peppy combination of onion, chili powder and richly seasoned barbecue sauce.

First step in preparing the taco filling reads: "Brown meat; drain." Adult cooking coaches will need to translate and teach beginners to tuce.

Take care to avoid kitchen fires especially if it's your kitchen on fire. Burns, fires, cuts and falls are among the most common kitchen accidents. The kitchen is often the center of more activity. Therefore, it is also the place where most household accidents can occur. Unfortunately, most of these accidents happen around dinnertime. With all the activity, no one is paying attention and the burners are set too high.

Lori Packer of the Robertson A politically explosive bill facing campaign called the Engler-Hillegonds bill stuffing the ballot box Kemp people

> BUT GEAKE IS telling his northwestern Wayne County Republican friends this explanation

State law and national Republican rules give nominated and elected officials at-large delegate seats at county conventions

Many of us who are state legislators relied on those rules and did not run for precinct delegate, to allow newer members of the party to be elected

We made room for a lot of new precinct delegates, many of whom reform bill are Kemp and Robertson delegates, which is fine with me - I want new members in the party regardless of who they happen to support for pres-

WHAT ARE MY CHOICES?

You have rheumatoid arthritis, and initial therapy with aspilin or similar drugs has failed to give you relief of pain and jeturn of joint function. What is next? Your doctor likely will add to the drug schedule you are on already; the physician will choose from a gorup of medicines called remittive agents. This group includes the drugs gold, penicillamine, azothiaprine, methotrexate, and sulphasalazine. These medications are known to return inflammed joints to a normal state, and in some instances, even reverse the damage the inflammation caused.

These excellent drugs are not used when rheumatoid arthritis is first diagnosed because 1) medications don't always work, and 2) they are far more likely to cause serious side effects than the anti-inflammatory drugs used as

The remittive agents are added to, rather than replacing other medication, because they attack inflammation at a different point from first line drugs. One medication, in doses low enough to avoid toxicity, may be insufficient to stop inflammation. However, the cumulative medication effect often will succeed.

CHIROPPACTIC

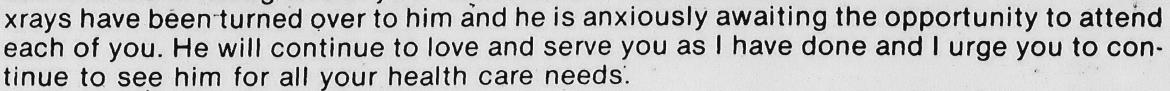

Dear Wonderful Friends,

As I write you this letter, I am in the midst of one of the most wonderful and yet most sad weeks of my entire life. This is the week that I must say goodbye to a great group of people — YOU, my dear friends and patients.

I will miss each and every one of you, because you've all touched my heart in some special way.

Now, as I look forward to a new life in Colorado, I want to wish each of you the very best of everything for the future. To make sure that you continue to receive the very best Chiropractic care possible, I have personally chosen Dr. Keith L. Cropp to succeed me in taking care of your health needs. Your records and

Yours in Life and Health,
Dr. Carlton R. Mashike

It is a special honor and opportunity for me to be able to assume from Dr. Mashike, the role of serving you as your Doctor of Chiropractic. I look forward with great anticipation to meeting each one of you personally and getting to know you and your families as Dr. Mashike has. I have pledged to Dr. Mashike that I will serve you with the same dedication and concern that he has shown you and I make this same pledge to you.

It is my desire to make your every visit to my office a pleasant one, so if you have any suggestions which would enable me to improve our service to you and your family, please make them known. I also hope that you will feel free to discuss anything that will help me keep you a happy and healthy Chiropractic patient. Of course, I am well aware that continued growth of my practice is based on the recommendations of satisfied patients to their friends and neighbors. New Glenn backs overpower Salem

By Brad Emons staff writer

Bryant Satterlee and Tim Fassett aren't quite the Pony Express yet, but the two proved Friday that they can carry the mail, leading Westland John Glenn to a 14-3 homecoming football victory over Plymouth Sa-

Glenn coach Chuck Gordon shook up his backfield lineup after last week's 14-9 upset loss to Livonia Stevenson, giving the 6-foot-2, 190pound Satterlee and the 5-11, 160pound Fassett their first starts of the

And the two seniors delivered, responding to Gordon's call.

Satterlee rushed for 113 yards in 20 carries, including a 7-yard touchdown run early in the fourth quarter to clinch it for the Rockets, now 4-1 overall and 3-1 in the Western Lakes Activities Association.

Fassett added 95 yards in 19 car-

"We had to get more production out of our running game than we were getting," said Glenn coach Chuck Gordon. "We're into the tougher part of our schedule now and we had to get more accomplished.

"THIS WEEK our practices were heated and spirited. Our pride and character were really tested this challenge for a week, but we still have a long ways to go.

The victory by Glenn sets up a showdown Saturday with Lakes Division leader North Farmington.

Meanwhile, Salem coach Tom Moshimer could not fault his team entirely. He threw plenty of compliments Glenn's way.

They're just too big for us up front," said the Salem coach, whose team is 3-2 overall and 2-2 in the Lakes. "I'm proud of the way the kids played, but we gave up a lot of

'It was a smart move on their part going with Satterlee. I was impressed with him on the junior varsity as a tailback two years ago. They're both (Satterlee and and Fassett) are hard runners. They fight for everything. We did a good job of containing them on the off-tackle plays, but they just fought us off with a lot

SALEM SCORED first with only 1:27 left in the first half on a 37-yard field goal by Don Koontz.

On the ensuing kickoff, Glenn's Brian Wolf returned the ball 45 week. I think we responded to that yards to the Salem 44, but the play was called back because of a clipp-

Straub, working the sidelines and clock to perfection, connected with wide receiver Pat Pettit three straight times - 40, 6 and 9 yards - to set up the score. "We gave them the big play in the first half," Moshimer said. "We gave them not only a 7-3 lead, but we gave them momentum. But their quarterback threw well an Pettit was just too quick for us.

Glenn controlled the ball much of the third quarter, mounting a 16play, 68-yard drive, but the Rockets coughed the ball up when Salem's Ryan Johnson recovered a fumble at his own 14.

BUT SALEM HANDED the ball right back on the very next play when Pettit, playing safety, knocked the ball loose with Chris Lovett recovering it at the 17.

Satterlee then scored three plays

"Those things happen," said Moshimer, whose team also turned the ball over on two other occasions. "We made a few mental errors and

Harrison ground assault grinds down Canton

By Dan O'Meara staff writer

As one would expect of a football team ranked No. 1 in the state, Farmington Harrison has many offensive weapons.

The Hawks chose to use the ground troops Friday to march past outmanned Plymouth Canton 35-0. Air cover wasn't needed as the Harrison juggernaut amassed 343 yards rushing.

'We didn't throw the ball well early, and the ground game was going so well we just kinda sat on the ball," Hawks coach John Herrington

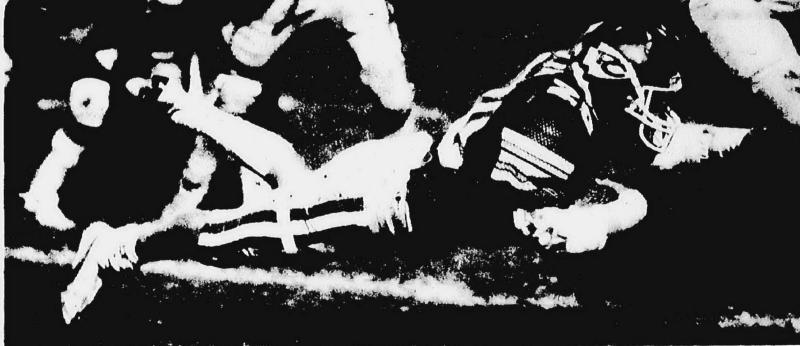

Harrison, the top-ranked outfit in Class B, has been equally adept at taking apart opposing defenses with its passing game en route to its 5-0 record. But the blustery wind that blew threw Centennial Educational Park was another reason for both teams to avoid the pass.

Quarterback Millard Coleman had two passes that would have gone for long gainers dropped by receivers in the first half, and he ended up 2-of-6 for 30 yards. On this night, the sophomore had more yards rushing (37 on six carries) than he did passing.

"WITH THAT cross-wind up there, we weren't sure where the ball was going," Herrington said. "We really didn't need to use (Coleman's) arm tonight.

"But the great thing is somebody always is able to step in and give us a lift.

That player was tailback Aaron Yaverski, who had another strong game playing in place of the injured Rick Witte. He was the workhorse in

RANDY BORST/staff photographe

Canton running back Joel Riggs dives for extra yardage after being tripped up in Friday's game with Western Division-leading Farmington Harrison. Riggs' was the team's top rusher, but the Hawks' offense, slashing and bulling his way to a game-high 178 yards on 21 attempts, and his 71yard sprint for a touchdown was the game-breaker.

Yaverski was the rushing leader, but he didn't do it all. Fullbacks Rich Esker and Rob Bruhn combined for 63 yards and scored the other TDs on short plunges, Esker from 2 and 1 yard and Bruhn from 3. Plus, sophomore Matt Conley came on to add 41 yards late in the game.

"They have very good balance and you know they execute," said Canton coach Bob Khoenle, impressed by Harrison's overall play.

"THEY'VE got a lot of things going for them. They have tradition, it was not a productive night for the Chief offense as Harrison won 35-0.

they've been successful and they have a great program. Out of that comes good execution."

Besides being an underdog, the Chiefs, who slipped to 1-2 in the Western Division and 2-3 overall, were further handicapped when 10 players, including quarterback Neil Hubert, missed the game for disciplinary reasons.

Furthermore, center Jerry French was out with a leg contusion, and Canton's game-breaking threat, halfback Roger Trice, went out early in the second quarter with an ankle in-

"We won't pretend that we beat their best," said Herrington, "but we did what we had to do.'

To its credit, Canton held the Hawks, who have scored no less than 31 points in any game, to one of their smaller halftime leads, 14-0.

HARRISON went 71 yards in 11 plays to score the first time it had the ball, but the Chiefs forced two punts and survived a fumbled punt before the Hawks could score again. Harrison recovered the punt at Canton's 12-vard line, but the de fense held and Steve Hill missed a 27-yard field goal attempt.

The Hawks, however, had good field position too often and finally capitalized. Starting at the Chief 44, they capped another drive with Bruhn's TD with 2:10 left in the half.

"We really thought the kids, up to halftime, did a pretty good job," Khoenle said. "We didn't move the ball, but defensively our kids didn't do too bad.

"BUT WE never stay at the same level," he added. "We're most consistent at being inconsistent."

Compared to other Harrison opponents, the Chiefs were hanging in at halftime, but that changed quickly when Yaverski raced past all defenders on the first play of the third quarter. Suddenly, it was 21-0 when Hill booted his third of five point-af-

The Hawks, who lead the division with a 3-0 record, scored early in the final period following their longest drive of the night - 80 yards in 12 plays, running the ball all the way.

Reserve quarterback Rob Mac-Donald, who was 2-of-2 passing for 32 yards, threw an 18-yarder to Bryan Wauldron for the final TD with 3:28 remaining.

Best league foes little challenge for Rocks

staff writer

It's becoming business as usual for the Plymouth Salem girls basketball team when it comes to games in the Western Lakes Activities Associa-

The state-ranked Rocks seem to take the best of Glenn, 72-51. Ironically, Glenn entered the game with a 6-1 record, but left the floor feeling more like a 1-6

Salem, meanwhile, raised its record to 7-1 overall and 5-0 in the WLAA with the convincing win.

Coach Fred Thomann got another sterling performance from All-Stater Dena Head, who matched a career-high with 35 points. Head also grabbed 14 rebounds, blocked five shots and made several nice passes that led to scores.

EVEN MORE ENCOURAGING was the play of junior point guard Jill Estey, who tossed in 16 of her 18 points during the first three quarters of girls basketball

Estey, who teamed up with Head to harass Glenn's backcourt, also came up with several steals and assists.

"Jill's been doing that all season, but the only thing she hasn't been doing is finishing the score," Thomann said. "Tonight she scored her share, but we still need her to pull up and hit that jumper off the glass.'

Glenn made a couple of three-pointers to stay within four after one quarter, 16-12, but the Rockets found themselves trailing 39-22 at the half as Head scored seven straight points in the final 1:17.

The Rocks then outscored Glenn 19-7 in the third quarter to take a commanding 58-29 advantage before coasting home.

'We had some tremendous passing series," Thomann said. "We were getting the ball to the open player and getting it up the floor, but if we had just finished more, we would have had more on GLENN COACH Pat Bennett, whose team gave Salem a scare in one of three meetings last year (all losses), anticipated a little closer game.

"I feel there's always a chance with the kind of dedication and desire this team has - especially playing at home," he said. "But Salem is a phenomenal team. They play great defense and they run the floor well.

"Our kids gave a good enough effort. They gave all they had. Salem all but stopped Glenn's perimeter game, although Christina Hoffman broke loose for a team-high 14 points. Beth Wilson added 11. 'Our defense is better with Dena on the perimeter," Thomann said. "She anticipates well. She gets you steals and gets you into the open court." Not only encouraged by the play of Head and Estey, Thomann also got a lift from Shelley Bohlen, who came off the bench to score six

"She (Bohlen) is going to help us and our ballhandling on the perimeter with Sovine (Stacy), and McBride (Keri) is getting better."

But it's hard to tell how much the Rocks have improved since their Great Lakes Tournament loss to Livonia Ladywood. Right now the rest of the Western Lakes teams are no match.

Chiefs hand Harrison its 90th straight defeat

Plymouth Canton won its fourth straight in girls basketball Thursday. walking over winless Farmington Harrison to remain unbeaten in Western Division contests: The Chiefs, who improved to 3-0 and 5-4 overall, whipped the Hawks by a 63-15 margin. The defeat, which dropped the losers to 0-3 and 0-8, was Harrison's 90th straight, a losing streak covering five seasons. Karen Boluch scored 15 points and hauled down as many rebounds to pace Canton, which held quarter leads of 15-0, 26-6 and 50-10. Sophomore Susan Ferko added 11 points and 12 rebounds for the Chiefs, Heather Miller tossed in 10 points and Amanda Bell and Michelle Fortier added nine apiece. "Everybody got lots of court time," Canton coach Rob Neu said, "and, when everybody gets a chance to play, everybody is working on their game and getting a little better."

Darcy Pinzl and Lesley Devine had six points apiece to lead the Hawks. Canton was 6-of-17 shooting free throws, Harrison 1-of-3.

Rocks regroup for Stevenson is next

Plymouth Salem coach Ken Johnson was in much better spirits Thursday

After his team suffered a 1-0 loss to Livonia Churchill earlier in the week, the Rocks bounced back with a 6-1 victory Wednesday over Walled Lake Western and tuned up for their showdown with Livonia Stevenson by defeating state-ranked Troy 3-1 Thurs-

Salem, 5-1-1 in the Western Lakes and 9-2-1 overall, faces Stevenson in a key Lakes Division contest at 5 p.m. today at Centennial Educational Park.

Dennis Reynolds scored two goals and assisted on the other by Mike Ulaszek to lead the Rocks against Trov.

'Tonight was a big test." said Johnson, adding Reynolds played his best game in the last half dozen. "We need him because he's a senior and a striker.

SALEM HAS found it difficult to score many goals lately, but its play against an improved WLW outfit-and No. 8-ranked Troy was encouraging in that regard.

"(Reynolds) is the guy who can win that long charge with the defender and get that shot off," Johnson said. "We need Reynolds in form to make that charge up the middle

Reynolds broke a scoreless tie late in the first half, and Ulaszek made it 2-0 early in the second Reynolds, on a throw-in from the corner, threw the ball back, away from the goalmouth, instead of setting up a teammate for a possible header. That caught the defense off guard, and Ulaszek let the ball bounce once and scored with a line-drive kick.

The Rocks went up 3-0 when Reynolds took a pass from Don Koontz, who got his second assist, drew out the goalkeeper and kicked the ball into the net just before the keeper dove at his feet.

Most of Troy's seven shots-ongoal came late in the game when it was pressing and finally averted a shutout. Salem had 15 shots.

JOHNSON lauded the play of defenders Ulaszek and Donovan Nichols. The Rocks also used four mid-fielders in a 4-4-2 lineup. pulling Jeff Gold back-from a forward position; and the strategy seemed to confuse the Troy defense. Johnson said.

Randy Balconi was the star of the WLW victory, scoring four goals and picking up an assist.

Salem led 2-0 at half, Balconi scoring both goals with assists from Marc Lipke and Tim Stahl. Balconi's assist set up Matt Setlak's goal early in the second half, and he scored the next two as the Rocks increased the lead to 5-0.

The Warriors got on the scoreboard at 20:00, and Koontz capped the Rocks' scoring. Joe Cosenza also had two assists and Greg Christensen one.

Hill toppers

a pair of victories; Return home suits Salem runners fine

A more demanding course meant for slower times, but the final result staved the same for Plymouth Salem's boys cross country team Thursday.

After two straight meets on flat courses, the Rocks survived the ups and downs of their home course to hand North Farmington its first defeat, 21-38. Salem is 2.0 in the Lakes Division and 3-2 overall; the Raiders are 1-1 and 5-1 The Rocks were second in the Schoolcraft Invitational and North sixth. You can tell we were back at Cass Benton (Park)," Salem coach Geoff Baker said "The hills took their toll on them, and the times were a little

But I was pleased with the way we ran today. We have to continue to train and be ready for all terrains we might fall on."

Doug Vergari paced the winners with a first-place time of 16:42, and teammate Bill Atwell also ran a strong race, finishing second in 17:11. Both are on a good pace like last year when they peaked at the conference and state meets." Baker said. North grabbed the next two spots to keep it close momentarily before the Rocks placed runners in the Nos. 5-7 spots to wrap up the win. The Raiders trailed 3-7 when Tom Harnden and Jeff Simpson crossed the line together with identical times of 17:41.

But Salem's Brendon Masterson, Dave Hamway and Scott Stryker weren't far behind, finishing with 17:59, 18:00 and 18:07 times to complete Salem's boys cross country

North's Jim Nader was eighth (18:08), but the Rocks took the Nos. 9-13 places, too, with Jason Drury and Al Rye acting as blockers. Dave Gerts and Jeff Black also scored for the Raiders. They came in 14th and 16th with times of 19:14 and 19:34.

CANTON 23, NORTHVILLE 33: Cross country is a team sport. Plymouth Canton proved that again Thursday at Cass Benton Park

As is often the case in cross country, one team might have the best individual talent, but the other has the most talent.

Northville's Jon Frisbee took top honors by posting a 16:56 time, but the Chiefs captured seven of the next nine places to corral the Mustangs.

Canton's one-two combination Jay Swiecki and Al Byrnes was near the top again, grabbing the Nos. 2 and 3 spots and turning in 17:25 and 17:34 times. Team depth proved decisive as the Chiefs' Bob Beebe placed fifth (17.55) Matt Hall sixth (18:13), Chris Way seventh (18:15) and Jim Gallagher 10th

Canton, Salem girls run to wins

Regular improvement is what cross country coaches look for in their runners, and Salem's

John Gravlin liked what he saw Thursday. 'All the girls ran some of their best times for Cass Benton Park," he said after the Rocks trounced North Farmington 17-40. "As the weather gets cooler, we expect those times to come down even more.

We're thin in numbers but we're consistent. And, if we can avoid injuries, we're going to be someone to be reckoned with.

The Rocks captured the top four places, with Jenny Sample and Kim Mishler breaking 22 minutes to finish first and second. Sample was clocked at 21:32, Mishler 21:51. Salem's Shannon Donnelly was third (22:29) and Traci Thomas fourth (22:40) to give the Rocks a solid start. Thomas also was 19th at the recent Schoolcraft Invitational, but she was inadvertently omitted from the official list of results.

"The top two runners are in top shape, and their times will fluctuate," Gravlin said. "Other than the top two, there were real signs of improve-"Sample is still cruising," he added. "She and Mishler are looking to have some top 10 finishes at the big meets down the road."

Beth Cunningham completed the scoring for Salem, 1-1 in the Lakes Division and 3-2 overall, with a seventh-place finish and 23:20 time.

North was led by Donna Chuba and Lisa Rives, both of whom finished in 22:51 and gave the Raiders, 0-2 and 3-3, fifth and sixth places.

Tracy Mitchell was eighth (23:31), Sonia Singh ninth (23:35) and Sandra Schmidt 12th (25:12)

Livonian Dennis Nazelli doesn't work for the government, but he's an international ambassador in his own right

Henry Kissinger might be proud of Nazelli's accomplishments, particularly in the field of international basketball.

The founder of the non-profit organization Young Athletes Abroad, Nazelli plans to expand his international basketball exchange program next summer He has plans to send as many as 125 girls and boys (grades 8-12) to his overseas basketball camp in Stockholm, Sweden

Following the six-day international camp, run by Nazelli and coaches of the Swedish Basketball Federation, American players will be drafted to form competitive teams to enter the International Cup, a Your-day tournament in Stockholm which will draw teams from Sweden. Finland, Germany, Holland, Canada, the United States and possibly the Soviet Union.

The camp in Stockholm is to foster better understanding through basketball," said Nazelli, who was recently named an assistant women's coach at Schoolcraft College. "They're going to sleep in the same rooms as the foreign kids. This isn't a tour. They're going over there with a mission - to play basketball and to make contacts.

We want Rids, boys and girls, who have a desire to travel oversees, to use their interest in basketball as the "passport" to share this wonderful educational experience.'

> - Dennis Nazelli basketball coordinator

NAZELLI, who works full time for the Detroit News circulation department, spends much of his free time organizing trips.

This is what I do for fun," he said. "Right now I'm getting a lot of interest all over the state. I've spoken at a lot of camps.

Nazelli emphasizes that Young Athletes Abroad does not select participants based on their abili-

We want kids, boys and girls, who have a desire to travel overseas, to use their interest in basketball as the 'passport' to share this wonderful educational experience," he said.

There are no tryouts for the 16-day tour and the cost per player averages about $600.

We give each individual four or five fund-raising projects with a goal of about $150 for each project. Nazelli said. When you're resourceful and you have contacts sympathetic to the cause, you can keep the cost

YAA is willing to take coaches and their entire teams abroad.

LIVONIA LADYWOOD'S team made a trip to Scandinavia two years ago.

Area players who have made previous trips with YAA include former Miss Basketball Emily Wagner of Ladywood, Rose Obey.

Sibobhan Groleau, Carey McGlinch Kristin Hellman Derek Williford Mike Nettie Caryn Shannon, Jan Herberholz, Jenny and Colleen Clinton. Steve Ditchkoff and Chris Nazelli

Nazelli returned recently from a 12-day trip of Scandinavia, taking a group of Michigan college all stars members of the Sandy Sanders Summer League in Ann Arbor, to play against the Swedish Finnish and Turkish Olympic teams. Michigan's Glen Rice and Terry Mills were on the squad along with former Catholic Central High all-stater John McIntyre, now at Missouri. (The trip was sanctioned by both the NCAA and the Amateur Basketball Federation of the U.S.)

They finished with a 2-6 record Nazelli is also in the preliminary stages of organizing a similar trip for Michigan collegiate women's players in late August with hopes of luring the Spartak Club of Leningrad to compete as

Rocks have title within their grasp

Quality depth was the difference for Plymouth Salem Thursday, and it may have been enough to catapult the Rocks to the Western Lakes Ac. tivities Association's Lakes Division goif championship

Five Salem golfers finished in a five-stroke pack at the par 35 Brae Burn, which was a key element in their 216-221 win over North Farm-

Windy conditions pushed scores high Leading the Rocks was Chris Braidwood with 41 Dan Kruescher shot 42. Greg Speaks and Jeff Jagacki had 44 each and Mark Bodley carded a 45.

North's Larry LaPorte earned medalist honors with a 39, but the closest the rest of the Raiders could come was six strokes behind. Rob Wendt and Erica Zonder shot 45 apiece and Scott Millman and Tom Seremet finished with 46.

Salem's win kept it perfect in the division at 4-0, with only a match

Same crime, different punishment

SEVEN DEATHS. SEVEN DEALS

What started as a homicide in Detroit triggered an investigation into the inequities and injustices being committed in the courts throughout the state of Michigan.

Records showed similar crimes did not receive similar punishment. And proved punishment rested more on . a judge's philosophy than on the crime committed. Judges' sentencing: Fits the killer not the crime

Within days after the publication of a story that documented this information, the Michigan Supreme Court made some changes.

Changes that wouldn't have occurred if a few reporters at a Detroit newspaper hadn't been looking for a story. Stricter guidelines

Bow and arrow

One of man's first hunting tools has certainly come along way from a branch with a vine strung from one end to the other and arrows made of pointed sticks. Today, hows are constructed of Fiberglas, graphite and plastic, with strings made of heavy duty Dacron. For more on the bow and arrow and the sport of archery hunting, turn to Page 3D.

Shucking the briefcase for Bermuda can be more than a fantasy. One day get-aways for people who can afford the cost but not the time for a more traditional vacation are popular. Excursions to warm weather locales, gambling centers, or shopping meccas top the list.

By Rich Periberg staff writer

What do you call it when you wake up at 3 a.m., fly to a distant location, do your business from the moment you land until the moment you depart, return home at 2 the next morning, and head into work the next day?

Some people call it vacation.

"It was worth it for us, even with the crummy weather," said Jill Ruffles, a Birmingham travel agent who with her husband mastered the above schedule for a one-day jaunt to the Bahamas last winter.

The one-day vacation is turning into an attractive diversion for winter- and work-weary Michigan residents who can afford the cost of a traditional vacation but not the time.

Destinations vary, but generally fall into one of three categories: a warm-weather haven, a gambling center, or a shopping mecca.

"A LOT OF people want to get away, but they can't afford to take more than one or two days off," said Ruffles who works at Adams, Lincoln and Woodward schedule, the one day at the beach far away from demanding phones and pressing deadlines outweighs the loss of sleep.

As a one-day tripper put it, "It really feels good to be able to say I was in the Bahamas yesterday."

The popularity of the trips has been "phenomenal," says Michael Fayne, president of Hamilton, Miller, Hudson, Fayne Travel Corporation in Southfield, which is a major wholesaler for such trips. "The demand far exceeded what we expected."

The one-day trips were the brainchild of Fayne's brother, vice president Ronald Fayne. They have been attractive not only to individual travelers, but also for all sorts of groups including clubs, unions and other employee groups. Charters of 175 to 350 people are not unheard of for a quick trip to a Carribean beach. One group of husbands flew down to play golf; a week later, their wives took the trip to gamble.

"It's an indulgence," explains Fayne. "You leave the airport at 7 a.m., you're in Nassau by 9:30 and by 11 you're on the beach."

How to travel with friends

We want to vacation with another couple, but we all like to do different things. We get up early; they sleep late. We like country western music; their ideal of a musical instrument is the harp. We two men like casual dressing dining; the women like to dress up. My wife likes gardens, his wife shops. Will it work?

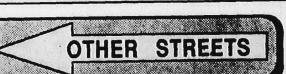

You are friends at home in spite of all those differences. It will work if you recreate the flexibility you have in your life

First time out, pick a resort where you can be together in a home base; pick it in a setting where you can each follow your own interest by day and come back together at night.

As I read your letter I pictured a harp-playing countrywestern musician in the middle of a big garden, with shopping just outside the gate. My mind immediately said "Nashville, Tenn." and I was back at the Opryland Hotel, where that picture is a reality.

IMAGINE READING your morning paper on a small balcony overlooking a huge conservatory, acres of greenery under a glass dome. Your wife is walking in the garden below.

The Grizzly River Rampage water ride at Opryland, Tennessee is a big hit with visitors to the amusement park.

Fright is light in 'Near Dark'

RECENT RELEASES:

'Big Shots" (D) (PG-13) 95 min-

Far-fetched adventury story of suburban adolescent who teams up with homeless city kid. They confront violence and outwit adults in their search for homeless boy's father. Reviewed by Jeff Limatta.

'Near Dark" (C) (R) 95 minutes.

Dark thriller about family of modern vampires roaming the Bible Belt. Unsuspecting farm boy joins them and ultimately causes their destruction. Special effects, violence and gore make this almost scary. Review by Kathy Guyor.

"The Offspring" (*) R. Vincent Price and terror move to the suburbs

"Slaughterhouse" (*) (R). Something unusual in slaughterhouses with - for good reason a cast of unknowns.

"Summer Night" (C-) unrated 94 minutes.

Lina Wertmuller's clever but inconclusive appreciation of bourgeoise decadence fails in this talky drama about a very rich lady who Ednaps terrorist chieftain to recova ransom. She falls for him too easily and pedestrian sexuality messes up neat kidnapping. Sometimes tongue-in-cheek gets caught in teeth.

'Matewan" (A) (PG-13) 132 minutes. The history of a West Virginia mining town's tragic struggle to organize labor is authentically portrayed in a 1920s setting. Despite mining company might, the people of Matewan are torn to change when Joe Kenehan (Chris Cooper), a union man, arrives. Strong performance by James Earl Jones as "Few Clothes" Johnson. Simple and direct dialogue with cinematography to match highlight this human drama. Reveiwed by Jeff Liimatta.

STILL PLAYING

"No Way Out" (B) (R) 115 minutes This taut espionage thriller is well-done, but the movie goes one way while the unsupported, unexplained ending goes another. Kevin Costner and Gene Hackman star, with an excellent performance by Sean Young.

"La Bamba" (C+)(PG-13)

This maudlin, cliched, "show biz" story tells of Ricky Valens' early success and tragic death in the plane crash that killed Buddy Holly and J.P. Richardson. Music is good, but forget the story.

On the other side of the conservatory, within sight, is your friend who slept late. His wife is browsing the shops in the hotel 100 feet away while waiting for him to get his act together so you can all go to the Opryland USA Home Park.

You can have fun together in the park, but here too you can each follow your own interests. You hit the bluegrass music show, and let your friends choose among the many other stage presentations.

By night, sit together in the hotel's courtyard and listen to Lloyd Lindroth play western and other music on his electronic harp. He plays Top 40 music, new music, old music, and your friends won't even know when he plays "Rocky Top" or "Rollin' In My Sweet Baby's Arms.'

WHAT WORKS about this resort setting is that you are all in one place, but each of you can follow your own interests by day and come together again at night. This particular destination is casual enough for you to find a restaurant where the women can dress up and the men can go without a tie.

Flexibility like that is available in several kinds of resort destinations. Rent a two-bedroon condominium through the Chamber of Commerce on Marco Island, and you can cook your breakfast and then spread out to beaches, touring, shopping, museums and the like.

Let one couple pick the evening entertainment one night, the other couple the next night. Don't always try to do things together. Book a short cruise, maybe a weekend on Premiere Cruise Lines from Florida to the Bahamas. This lets you swim and sun while your friends tour. It allows you to eat a casual deck lunch while your wife eats in the formal dining room.

THE PROBLEMS that occur when friends travel together are usually related to three things: money, too much togetherness and the need to compromise constantly so that you all do the same thing. Here are some rules from people who have done it successfully: Talk every detail over before you go, and don't hold anything back. How will the money be handled? If you drive, fill the car with gas at your own expense before you leave that had nothing to do with your travel costs. Keep track of what you spend on gas and tolls on the road, including a final fill-up after you get home. Those on-the-road and final fill-up costs are your transportation costs and should be divided between the two couples.

Other costs can be handled one of three ways. One: Put a set amount in a pool and refill it when it's empty. Two: You pay for one meal, let the other couple pay for another meal and don't worry about whether you come out even. Three: Each of you meticulously pay your own expenses. Remember, money can lose you friends if somebody says, "They are not paying their share

You also should discuss responsibilities if there are any. Don't assume the other couple wants to save money by cooking lunch; check it out. Don't say, "I'll bring the cake, you make the cookies," until you are sure the other couple wants to take anything.

Other popular excursions are gambling jaunts to Atlantic City and Christmas shopping trips to Macy's and environs in New York City.

Trips to the islands have been particularly intriguing to people 35 and younger, a fact not lost on Fayne who says that while the trips are not very profitable, they are a great marketing tool for attracting future customers.

Trips cost from $100 to $120 and are restricted to certain days of the week. Fayne suggests booking the trips through your favorite travel

LAST YEAR'S success prompted an encore. The department is booking reservations for a one-day Christmas shopping trip to New York City for early December. For an extra $20, you can even ride a shuttle bus to and from the airport.

The shopping aspect of trips to New York is a big draw, but the schedule leaves flexibility for sightseeing and even play-going.

And there is one more plus to the single-day vacation. "You don't have to pack," said Ruffles. "Except to ring your bathing suit."

In this day of high-powered firearms one of man's earliest and most useful weapons often is overlooked.

It is believed by many experts to have been man's first machine. The first tool with the ability to store energy. The bow and arrow.

When early man roamed the earth the bow and arrow was a very primitive weapon.

The bow usually was constructed of a green branch. A thin vine would be strung from one end to the other until the branch was slightly bent. This style of bow is known today as a recurve or long bow.

The arrows used then were made of a long, straight stick notched at one end and pointed at the other.

Since the days of the early recurve the bow and arrow has come a long

Today, limbs of the bow are made of Fiberglas, wood or a combination of graphite and plastic. Strings are base, and the arrows usually are Merithew. made of aluminum, although wood and Fiberglas also work well.

And the list of accessories is endless. Many of today's archers use sights, weights, balancers, silencers, finger tabs, forearm guards, burger buttons (a button on the bow that adds to the accuracy of the arrow's flight), even scopes. The quiver, or instrument used to carry the arrows, is made of plastic and attachs to the

AROUND 1965 a new style, the compound bow, hit the market. Up until that time the recurve was the only style available.

With a recurve or long bow, the further you pull the bow back, the harder it is to pull," explained Tom Featherstone, president of Michigan Bow Hunters, a statewide organization founded in 1947 to promote and preserve bow hunting in Michigan.

"On a compound bow, wheels have been added to both ends. About halfway (through the pull) the wheels turn over and reduce the pull weight 50 percent.

"It used to be quite a job to pull back a (bow with a heavy pull weight). The compound has made that job much easier. It opened the field for people that didn't hunt with Compound bows made a big hit in Michigan around 1972-73, and the impact on bow hunting was felt immediately.

According to statistics of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, there were 68,540 licensed archery hunters in Michigan in 1970. By 1975 that figure had nearly doubled, jumping to 120,700.

although some also hunt bear, tus-pheasants and partridge. Bow fishing is also a popular pasttime of archers. In Michigan there are special regulations governing the use of a bow and arrow to fish. but carp, suckers, gar and bow fin are all legal takes The Great Lakes Bow Fishing Championships are held annually in Saginaw Bay Last year a world record was set when 250 two-man teams harvested 72,000 pounds of carp in two days.

THE POPULARITY of archery hunting took another huge leap forward in 1977 when the DNR passed the two-deer law. This law allowed hunters to take one deer with a bow and arrow and one deer with a gun. Before that, hunters could only take one deer, either with a bow and ar-

By 1980 the number of licensed archery hunters in Michigan had increased to 204,550. Last year there were 226,970 licensed archers in Michigan, and the state set a national bow record harvesting 57.960

The archery deer season in Michigan begins annually Oct. 1. The season is 76 days long running initially through Nov 14. The season takes a two-week rest for firearms deer season, resumes Dec. 1 and continues to

Doug Merithew, president of the West Bloomfield-based club, the Detroit Archers, will be one of those hunters in the field this year

"The first half of the season is the perfect time of year to be in the woods," said Merithew "The weather is warm, the colors are beautiful. and there isn't an army in the woods like it sometimes seems during the firearms season

"Hunting with a bow you have to get much closer to the game than with a gun. You have to be much more patient. It's a waiting game. and much more challenging (than hunting with a gun) in that respect "

Featherstone agrees. He feels the challenge of bow hunting is the drawing card of the sport.

The bow is a short-range weapon It's self-limiting, hand-held, hand-drawn and hand-released," said Featherston.

'It's a challenging sport. It's not so much how far you can shoot but how close you can lure the game in.

"That is an incredible challenge. The national average range of a shot by a successful archery hunters ls just 18 yards."

If you're an archery hunter and have yet to bag a deer, don't feel frustrated. The average success rate across the nation is one deer in seven

West Bloomfield entry is winner

By Richard Lech staff writer

Steve Grigorian of West Bloomfield is the winner in the Street Scene World Series Contest.

Grigorian will receive the first prize, a Louisville Slugger baseball bat with his name inscribed on it.

He was one of four entrants to get 19 of 20 questions right in the trivia quiz, which appeared in the Sept. 24 issue of Street Scene. The four names were placed in a hat, and Grigorian's name was picked first.

Grigorian missed only the first question, which asked what contribution Pat Sheridan made to the Kansas City Royals in the 1985 American League Championship Series Grigorian guessed "two home runs in one game" but Sheridan hit two for ries? the series, in different games.

Grigorian, a Tiger season-ticket holder, said he guessed at a few of the questions, but he also did some extensive research to nail down the right answers. He even called his brother-in-law in Cleveland, a big Boston Red Sox fan, to get the correct answer to Question 20 (see be-

HARVEY CHAPMAN of Farmington Hills finished second in the drawing and will receive an offical Detroit Tigers cap. He missed Question 12, guessing Jack Morris as the former Garden City resident instead of the correct answer, Walt Terrell.

Jerry Chwalek of Livonia finished third and will receive a Detroit Tigers coffee mug. He also guessed Morris instead of Terrell.

Gerald Stulberg of Birmingham also got 19 correct. Stulberg missed the first question, guessing that Sheridan hit two home runs in the first game. He will receive a Detroit Tiger yearbook.

Paul Hogan, the old croc man himself, surfaces in the video stores as "Crocodile Dundee Hogan in spired Americans to say "G'day" and 'slip a little shrimp of the barbie.

If you consider the lines were uttered by Hogan in a commercial for the Austrialian Tourist Commission, we're down to searching for one memorable line in 90 minutes' worth of movie dialogue.

Hogan possesses a certain rough charm that makes you want to like this movie against your better judgment. Too bad the movie's saddled with a collection of gags that have been used, abused and discarded by others.

"Hannah and Her Sisters" takes a look at the lives of three sisters, their husband, lovers and friends. It's probably the most accessible movie Woody Allen has written. Hannah (Mia Farrow) acts as the emotional center of her extended family. She puts up with bickering between her ex-vaudevillian parents (Maureen O'Sullivan and Lloyd Nolan), who put her in the position of raising her two younger sisters Hannah has just enough self-respect to prevent her from becoming the family doormat.

Her sister, Lee (Barbara Hershey). continues in a stifling relationship with a reclusive artist, Frederick (Max Von Sydow), until she becomes involved with Hannah's husband, Elliot (Michael Caine.) Ellot's an actfirst-think-later sort who has plenty of fleeting second thoughts about his situation. Elliot comes too close to being Caine's Alfie in middle age.

MEANWHILE THIRD sister Holly (Diane Wiest), an actress searching in vain for a job, indulges in cocaine and self-doubt. In the meantime, she uses family get-togethers to ask Hannah for loans to help her get started in a new money-making scheme to tide her over until she starts getting acting jobs. Some of the schemes come close to succeed-ing before Holly drops them.

Hannah's ex-husband, Mickey (Woody Allen), obsessed with his health, discovers he really has something to worry about when his doctor tells him his hearing loss may be caused by a tumor. Allen tones down his Nervous-Norvis character just enough to suggest a slight mellow-

Sea life far from serene but sailor has no regrets

"Enjoying the reality of life on a small boat is a practice in adaptation."

- Paul Marti

Sumptuous seafood feasts are the exception, not the rule, aboard the Keema, where peanut butter and jelly dinners are far more common.

On Aug. 19, the Keema sailed Into New York Harbor, where Paul Marti bristled with goosebumps at the sight of the Statue of Liberty.

Paul Marti, 38, recently set off on the trip of a lifetime with his wife, Betsy. Marti, who teaches history and geography at Rochester High School, plans to sail around the world. From time to time on his epic journey he will be pausing to pass on his experiences to

River unfold before them. In the galley the day's fresh catch baked in the oven, filling the cabin with promises of another sumptuous feast. Sailing, indeed life, couldn't be better!

YES, THAT'S the way I pictured it too. My dreams are always optimistic. The reality was

July 26, 1987, 13:30 hours: The wind blows hard out of the northeast, a Labrador current wind, cold and biting, brewed to test the determination of boat and crew. In the cockpit, dressed in foulweather gear with layers beneath and stamping my feet for warmth, I fight the wheel, forcing my boat, Keema, into the four-foot waves.

The outside temperature is 56 degrees, and the water is a frigid 42 degrees. Every wave brings a bone-chilling spray across the deck. Low, dense clouds obscure the coastline as we slowly plod

In the galley, Betsy struggles to keep her footing, juggling jars as she prepares another peanut butter and jelly dinner. Seven more hours until we make port, and the pounding ends.

Yes, sometimes reality is just a tad different than what dreamers conjure up in their dens on snowy nights. Living with and enjoying the reality of life on a small boat is a practice in adaptation.

ALTHOUGH all our days are not like that cold Sunday in July, few of them are like the daydreams of winters past. Now 10 weeks into our journey we chuckle at the dreams as we adapt to the reality of cruising life.

One of the basic realities is that we are on a voyage that when completed will have covered more than 29,000 nautical miles. For you math majors, it won't take long to realize that at an average speed of five knots we have a lot of sailing time to log. In my planning I have broken the journey down into nine major legs. All of these legs are subdivided into shorter passages and the time allotted to complete each segment.

Leg One is from Detroit to the Panama Canal, approximately 5,200 nautical miles. Since we took that first step 10 weeks ago, we have covered more than half of that distance. From Lake St. Clair to New Jersey's Barnegat Bay, we sailed the coastline of the great peninsula formed by the St. Lawrence River, the Gulf of St. Lawrence and the Atlantic Ocean. Ten states and five provinces claim shoreline in this historic portion of Canada and the United States. It has been during this first passage of lakes and great rivers, ocean gulfs and open sea that we have come to terms with life afloat.

LET ME preface the realities by saying that I'm loving it!

So far, no regrets. It's been an opportunity to see and learn about so many new places.

The people of the United States and Canada have been friendly and helpful all along the coastline. The coast itself is spectacular, from the bustling shoreline of Toronto to the lonely bluffs of the Gaspe. There is an endless array of landscapes and lifestyles to explore.

We have been very fortunate so far. Along this coastline so often shrouded in fog and buffeted by adverse winds, we have passed with no major problems or damage.

Along the way our days are spent mostly in passage-making. When looking for an anchorage for the night, we prefer anchoring out to sea over marinas for several reasons. Cost is a factor: We have paid from $5 Canadian to $28 U.S. to tie up at a marina for the night.

Serenity also is another reason for anchoring. Floating in a quiet bay, the stars above . . . well, it's beautiful, and free. Also, the lack of marinas in some of the remote regions of eastern Canada leads to a lot of nights off the hook.

Consequently, it's just the two of us, and that also takes some adjustment. Thirty-one feet of boat keeps you quite close 24 hours a day.

What we don't have and do miss are our families and friends. We've had to become better friends to take the place of our extended families back home. For a good relationship, the closeness is a real challenge. For a shaky one, I'd suggest a big dinghy.

Of course, we are not totally alone. There are the new friends we have met along the way. People from all parts of the United States and Canada are part of the migratory fleet making its way toward southern waters. The floating community is helpful and friendly, and like ourselves usually anxious to share an evening's conversation and sometimes to cruise together for a while.

We currently are anchored just a few yards from four other Michigan couples, including Case and Mary DeLange from Southfield and Dick and Diane Weaver of Troy. All of us have separate cruising goals but share the camaraderie of the sailing life.

NOT ALL OF our visitors, however, are homo sapiens. One of the true delights has been the variety of the sea life. On July 16, some 100 miles east of Quebec City, we spotted our first whale, a beluga. Belugas are small as whales go, 15 feet long and about 3,000 pounds, and white in color. For the next few weeks whales visited every day.

They spend their summers in the St. Lawrence River giving birth to their young and delighting the tourists with their antics. Besides the numerous belugas, the St. Lawrence is alive with the great whales. As these gentle giants swam past Keema, dwarfing us in size, I gained a new respect for them and made a promise to help support efforts to save the whales for future genera-

Seals also abound in these waters, and these clowns of the sea are curious and playful. Along with the dolphins that play in our wake, the seals, whales and occasional sharks keep us scanning the waters, knowing we are never alone.

Aug. 1 was an important day for us. Early that morning, before the sun had hit the horizon, Keema entered the Atlantic Ocean. Now, for the first time, we were in the open sea and heading south - 1,484 miles from Metro Beach!

Betsy was asleep. Alone on the deck, I looked at the seascape. This is my home for the next two years; I hope we become good friends.

AUGUST HAS been a delight and also frustrating; a delight in the beautiful towns and harbors of Nova Scotia and Maine; strong, southwesterly winds have provided the frustration. Many hours have been spent listening to the rumble of our diesel auxiliary. We made our way south, past Cape Cod and to the highlight of East Coast ports. On Aug. 19, a perfect summer's day, we completed our sail down Long Island Sound and entered the East River and the waters of New York City.

It was mid-morning, and the city was teeming with life. Work boats, tour boats and pleasure boats all shared the busy waterway. That afternoon we sailed by the Statue of Liberty, the refurbished guardian of the harbor and symbol of our country. I must confess my arms were bristling with goose bumps as we gazed upon Miss

A few more miles down the coast and into Barnegat Bay marked the end of the first segment of our journey. More than 2,500 miles of voyaging are behind us. We have adapted to the confines of a small boat and are coping with the moods of wind and sea.

It has not been perfect, for there have been times when the comforts of home and the companionship of family and friends have been sorely missed. But it has been a challenge of navigation, of self-reliance and of sense of humor.

Next we head south along the coast to the waters of the Caribbean and the open passages of IRST OF all, I would like to say that in mentioning a source, it is only after I have made numerous inquiries that I have gone with the response which was the most graciously proferred, in detail and with courtesy. This does not mean that other sources are not given consideration, but I must point out that it is impossible to mention every

I promised you that I would keep you informed as to the where and how in the design world. Well, let me tell you what just worked for me. I love to entertain and cannot bring myseif to part with all the serving pieces I have acquired over the years. My large home had a room for these things but my new kitchen cupboards in my apartment are bulging. My breakfast room is quite roomy so I decided that a long cabinet would work well there.

I used an upper cabinet which is 12 inches deep. Consequently, this does not extend too far into the room. I have 13 feet of wall in length. I opted for four three-foot uppers finished in a medium oak. The top is antique white mica with radius corners. Hand-painted porcelain Delft blue knobs were added for interest. The cabinet is hinged to the wall four inches above the floor so that it looks like a piece of suspend-

My breakfast room is country French so I chose a cathedral door (curved raised panel). I added a wood spool gallery along the entire length of the piece and covered the wall above with a collection of Royal Copenhagen plates and tiles.

In shopping cabinet companies, I found Modern Counter Top in Royal Oak had both the best price and delivery.

Here's another tip. I have been shopping to outfit a "pied a terre" - a little getaway in Sarasota, Fla. The place I found with incredible bargains is Pace, located on East 14 Mile Road, east of the Oakland Mall. Would you believe, for example, a place setting for eight, suitable for the microwave, at cost of about $24? Would you believe stainless flatware with enamel handles, service for eight, at total cost of about $19? Believe it - at Pace.

Q. I want to buy a piano for my children, but do not know how to place it. We have our sofa on one wall and a chair on either side of the fireplace. My living room is wide and recessed. I have another short wall on which I have a lounge chair. Where could I possible put a piano?

A. If you are planning on buying a spinet or console type piano, shutter your windows and place the piano in the window.

Q. I never had trouble staying organized while I raised my family, had a big house and helped my husband with his business. Now that my husband is dead, my children grown and I've moved into a condominium, I can't even keep up this small place. I just don't understand.

A. My heart goes out to you because, like most people, you're probably not aware that depression can affect organizational

Our environment is a reflection of our internal anxieties. In other words, what is in us controls our environment, not the other way around. When you experience emotional turmoil, your thinking may be fuzzy. When you aren't thinking clearly, it may be difficult to concentrate enough to stay organized. Being disorganized can be depressing. Hence, the Catch-22 situation comes full circle.

Depresssion is a wide grey area, which ranges from being a little "down" once in a while to the other extreme of causing an almost comatose state. Trying to accomplish difficult work when you are depressed might be compared to beating your head against a wall, or to an insect lying on its back, flailing its legs and going nowhere. Even the most "up" person is only human and will have off days. Avoid tackling projects difficult for you when you feel down. Instead, catch up on reading, do extra exercise or work on tasks you can do almost automatically. Then the next day get back to the harder stuff. This technique accomplishes two things: First, it provides a brief mental rest and, second, after making a conscious choice of which work to do, no guilt will be associated with what was not accomplished.

To summarize, concentrate on recapturing your mental health when you are depressed instead of trying to tackle your organizational problems. If you were organized before, physical order will return naturally with more concise thinking.

'N SOME respects it's a showroom like any other. Sales staff are available to assist customers through the myriad of European and American made goods that are carefully displayed for maximum visual effect. But in this showroom, customers are urged to sit on the toilets, kick off their shoes and try out the bathtubs.

"At first, people are a little shy. But you wouldn't buy a couch without sitting on it. When you're spending that kind of money, you want a personal feeling of what you're buying," said Pat Andrew, owner of Classic Baths in Birming-

On the corner of Adams and Lincoln, the year old boutique is the latest business acquisition for Andrew. The showroom is an extension of her Highland Park based wholesale plumbing and heating firm.

AN ARRAY OF GLOSSY bold colored sink basins on pedestals, looking like exotic giant sea shells, is the first display visitors encounter.

Half of the 5.700-square-foot showroom is devoted to German designer Villeroy & Boch, for which Andrew is the exclusive Michigan distributor. The remainder of space is filled with Kohler bath fixtures, including an artists edition from the Wisconsin based manufacturer.

Color schemes range from raspberry with green (a favorite with designers, Andrew said, though it's not to her taste) to almond or bone and a lot of gray.

We have the only showroom set up like this in Michigan," said Andrew. "If people want something a little different, they're going to find it here.

Bidets, though not big sellers, are in part responsible for the European feel here. Whirlpool baths, also in abundance, are hot right now

"It's a nice business," said Andrew. "It's been steadily

The business has grown from annual sales of $9 million in 1973 to $18 million today.

GRAND OPENING

The New Breed "I never saw anything like it. Handsome distinctive buildings on terraced land, full of intriguing angles and architectural detail. A complete change from that old 'row-house' look

Every apartment has its own private entrance, unusual layout, and surprising extras like a washer and dryer, vertical blinds, full kitchen with dishwasher, and plenty of closet and storage space. Some even have cathedral ceilings, oversize patio, and a large eat-in kitchen.

Hook out onto lush woods and ponds a jogging path ... swimming ... tennis and a comfortable clubhouse with exercise and aerobic rooms. It's not just a place to live, it's a place I love coming home to. You'll see what I mean.
