WEST CHEER: During the Christmas holidays the West Middle School Student Council puts together a Christmas Cheer Drive. Each homeroom collects food and money, which is presented to the Salvation Army for distribution to those in need.

The Christmas Cheer Drive has been a tradition at West since 1968. Last year the student council collected $2,220 and 48 boxes of food and this year $2,700 and 45 cheer boxes.

BEAUTIFYING: The Plymouth Beautification Committee extends its appreciation to Ken Vogras and the DPW staff, the Plymouth Newcomers Club, and the LakePoint Village Garden Club for efforts in decorating the Plymouth community for the holidays.

"You are to be complimented for the beautiful decorations, which invite others to share this lovely season with our community," said Mary Childs, chairman. "To all the residents and businesses who have taken pride in their own surroundings by adding special, colorful decorations to herald this joyful season, you, too, have made our motto 'If you seek a pleasant become a reality. To all our residents and friends we extend the invitation to take time to look about and enjoy." MERGED TEAM: The Plymouth Area React Team, whose primary function was to monitor emergency channels, and the Plymouth Area Citizens Team, whose primary function was to conduct crime prevention patrols, have merged into one team.

The new team, under the name PACT-REACT, Inc., will continue to have as its primary functions emergency monitoring and crime prevention patrols with severe weather spotting as an added service. The the team also plans to be a resource to the community during an emergency or disaster. Elections were held recently to fill the eight board seats and elect officers as follows: Paul Cook, president/commander; Dennise Ross, vice president; Barbara Neitzel, treasurer; Randall Knapp, field operations officer, Charles VanVleck, technical officer; David Harkness, personnel officer; Kevin Montgomery, public relations officer. General business meetings are held the second Wednesday of each month beginning at 7:30 p.m. in Plymouth Township Hall.

LOWE RISES: Plymouth City Attorney Ronald Lowe has been appointed chairman of the Government Law Department Management Committee for the Legal Economics Section of the State Bar of Michigan. The appointment is for the 1987-88 Bar year.

SKILLED DRIVER: Mark A. Martin, driving for Spartan Stores Eastern Division of Plymouth, was cited for his driving skill in the National Safety Truck Driving championship Roadeo sponsored recently in Chicago by the National-American Wholesale Grocers' Association and Ryder Truck Rental

Martin had to pass a series of written and driving skills tests described as the toughest in the industry. The competition featured almost 50 drivers from across the U.S. who survived local and regional competitions out of a field of more than 2,100

Martin, who lives in Westland, has worked three years for Spartan Stores Eastern Division and has seven years employment in the trucking industry. "These drivers are absolutely the best in the business," said John R. Block, NAWGA president.

Hoben calls P-C district growth 'exciting'

By John M. Hoben special writer

(The following review of Plymouth-Canton Community Schools in 1987 was written by Dr. John M. Hoben, superintendent.)

As I review the past year, I see exciting and significant growth and development in the Plymouth-Canton school district. Student achievement remains high, and district facilities have had major improve-

In facility improvements, the addition of six rooms to Gallimore Elementary School was completed in time for the opening of the 1987-88 school year. Central Middle School was renovated, with work completed while student learning continued without interruption. Pioneer Middle School received a new roof and a new heating system. In a cost-cutting measure, stones from the old roof at Pioneer were used to landscape five of the building courtvards, thereby making them maintenance free.

The start of a new elementary school on Saltz Road made news - a school which will be completed in September 1988. A driveway at Canton and other paving projects were also on the construction agenda.

Bleachers at Central Middle School were renovated. Installation of acoustical materials at Erikson. Field and Hulsing elementary schools rounded out the facilities development, which a successful 1986 bond vote made possible.

IN ADDITION to these changes, instructional materials such as computers and science equipment were purchased and had important impact on the support of student learning and achievement of personal success the mission of our schools.

Curriculum changes began with "Math Their Way," a hands-on program designed to help young people learn math more effectively. The high school curriculum was upgraded, with new graduation requirements that include computer experience. By Board of Education action this year, new offerings in advanced placement biology, computers and English literature classes will become a part of our program of studies in 1988-89

We provided a wealth of in-service opportunities for staff members to help them to continue to grow professionally. The response was positive and enthusiastic. In many cases, staff members participated on their own time, a tribute to their continuing professionalism.

We were also pleased to sign a labor agreement with the teachers' association covering the next two years. This came about after expedited bargaining produced agree-

In the area of student achievement, scores on the Scholastic Aptitude Test exceeded state and national averages. The Michigan Educational Assessment Program scores exceeded state averages and gave indication of continued excellence in teaching and learning.

Individuals and teams received honors in many diverse areas. Some examples - music, where our band took third in state competition; journalism, where the student newspaper, the CEP Perspective, received its highest award ever from the Columbia Interscholastic Press; computers, where our teams finished first and second in competition with other teams from across the state; scholarship, where six students from the CEP were named as National Merit Scholars; theater, where the theater group at Salem competed in the Michigan Interscholastic Forensics Association and was awarded second place in the state; and soccer, state championship. The list could go on and on.

In addition to learning the curriculum, our students learned to care about others by participating in activities supporting the less fortunate. For example, Bird Elementary where our Salem girls team won the School third, fourth and fifth graders raised almost $3,000 with a Read-A-Thon for the Multiple Sclerosis Society; district students contributed hundreds of new books to be distributed to other young people by

Speeders, abandoned cars part of trooper's day

staff writer

Life's not fair.

The driver of a van discovered that fact one recent Wednesday as he flew 81 mph along the 1-275 freeway in Livonia.

Sure, he was speeding, but so was the snazzy red Porsche in front of him. Both merrily rolled along, leaving other cars behind in the dust.

Suddenly, for no apparent reason, the driver of the Porsche hit the brakes. The driver of the van had to do some fancy steering to avoid a rear-end collision. He swerved into the next lane, hardly letting up on the accelerator.

And then, parked in dark blue splendor at the side of the road, he saw the reason why the Porche had suddenly braked. The state police.

"Damn," the driver probably muttered

"Gotcha," said Michigan State Police trooper Robert Behnke.

"He was hopping mad," said Behnke, returning to his police car after giving the driver a ticket for speeding. "He said the Porsche was going the same speed he was.

Well, the Porsche must have had a radar detector. It picked me up, and the driver slowed down. He didn't. He said it wasn't fair."

Unfair or not, the 14-year veteran of the Michigan State Police logged another speeder onto his daily police report. And he waited for the next car to fly by.

BEHNKE IS one of that elite group of state troopers who patrol the freeways of Southeastern Michi-

Their discretion - to give or not to give a ticket - is absolute.

The officers have this discretion based on their professionalism," said Lt. Harry Hall, assistant post commander at the Northville Post They can write a ticket give a warning or even counsel a driver

One of the big questions facing drivers today is just how fast they can drive on the freeways in the Detroit area and not get ticketed for

The Michigan Legislature recently stirred up the confusion when it upped the speed limits on certain rural freeways to 65 mph and kept the limit at 55 mph on urban freeways.

Certain areas of 1-96, 1-696, 1-275 and I-94 are still posted at 55 mph. Yet on these freeways, drivers constantly whiz by at 65 mph or faster. And get away with it.

How come, officer Behnke?

"PEOPLE ALWAYS speed, so we stop the most flagrant violations." Behnke said. Drivers were going 65 before the speed limit changed, so speeds haven't changed that much."

In either speed zone, Behnke admits he's not apt to stop a driver for speeding unless the car is topping 70 mph. On this particular Wednesday morning, he also stopped a Trans Am going 79 and a Chevrolet Cavalier going 74.

Behnke would like to see the speed differential dropped, with the limit set at 65 mph on all freeways, urban or rural.

"It's hard to know where to draw the line and hard to enforce." he said. "The roads were designed for 70 mph. It's hard to ticket someone for doing 65 mph in a 55 mph zone when the road has three lanes and the speed limit is 65 mph ahead. It would be easier to enforce if it was 65 across the board.

From 6 a.m. to 2 p.m. each week day. Behnke patrols I-96 from the Northville Post to Livingston County. He knows that visibility is all important. Just the presence of his car on the freeway is enough to slow

In fact, on his radar screen, speeds dip dramatically as drivers approach his car parked on the side of

On his police radar system, Behnke clocks one speeder at 79 mph.

Ed Love, vice president of operations for Ambrose Tours in Lathrup Village, said his company has made arrangements for 275 Rose Bowl goers on scheduled carriers.

"IT WAS PRETTY much a surprise that it went so fast. We put ads in the paper the day after the Indiana game and our phones rang off the wall. That's the busiest thing I've seen in that short period of time four days. I've never seen anything like it."

If all goes according to plan, downhill skiers who live in western Wayne County will have to travel only as far as the Wayne-Washtenaw county line to hit the slopes.

The chances of unpleasant odors ruining their fun will be minimal, as a methane gas recovery plant is scheduled to be on line at the 900acre site by April 1989.

The Arbor Hills East Landfill, at Six Mile and Napier in Salem Township, is jointly owned by Browning Ferris Industries of Southeastern Michigan Inc. and Salem Township.

Salem Township Supervisor Richard Sackett said Salem has been visited by prospective ski hill operators and is ready to seek bids from devel-

"By the winter of 1989, we may see some of our own residents sledding and tobogganing here. Skiing is entirely feasible for winter 1990, depending on what developer comes ane as you find in conventional natuforward," said Sackett.

Salem's eastern boundary is Napier Road - the Wayne-Washtenaw county line. The 36-square-mile township is bounded to the south by Eight Mile, the Washtenaw-Oakland county boundary.

BOTH THE the methane gas recovery plant and ski hill portend a boon in the local economy, Sackett

"We anticipate that for 20-25 years, gas recovery will bring in $200,000 to $300,000 a year. The ski hill will definitely stimulate business within the community. I think eventually we'll see in Salem Township the kind of major development the Plymouth area has seen," said Sack-

Building the gas recovery plant will be GSF Energy Inc. of Long Beach, Calif.

An agreement recently completed with GSF - formerly Getty Synthetic Fuel and now owned by Air Products and Chemical Inc. - provides Salem with advance-on-royalty payments of $3,000 per month, said John Birkinbine, GSF Midwest business development manager.

Once sales to Consumers Power begin, the advance royalties will be deducted by GSF from Salem's monthly royalty payments. Deductions will continue until the total amount of the advances-on-royalty paid by GSF has been equalized, Birkinbine said.

GSF has agreed to pay a daily penalty of $100 if its plant isn't operating by April 1989, he added.

"Based upon a conservative gas sales price of $2.25 per thousand cubic feet; the sale of 2.5 million cubic feet per day; a royalty of 12.5 percent; and a conservative on-stream time of 90 percent; Salem could receive a monthly royalty check of approximately $19,000," Birkinbine

GSF, THE ONLY company Birkinbine knows of that's had success in making pipeline quality gas, was the first in the country to build a meth-ane gas recovery plant. GSF plants operate in New York, Ohio, Texas, Illinois and California

To recover methane from decaying trash, wells are sunk into a landfill. The wells are connected with piping Using large compressors. suction is applied and gas is pulled into the plant.

When you throw trash in a landfill, the stuff made of cellulose decomposes. It gives off a couple of gases, primarily methane and car-bon dioxide. It's about 55 percent methane and 45 percent carbon dioxide," said Birkinbine.

"That methane is the same methral gas. All we have to do is dry it and clean it up until it's virtually imizes odor problems by extracting gases that otherwise would travel upward through cracks in the ground, picking up the smell of decaying garbage as it goes along.

THESE ARE grandiose plans for a community that appears to have changed little since, as local lore has it. Salem served as an underground railway stop for blacks in the 1800s.

Driving along its main drag, Six Mile, you could miss Salem's busi-ness district entirely if at the right moment you happened to look down.

Salem still houses its post office in an old house. It has no library. The preferred mode of transportation is via pickup truck. Agriculture and horse farming are king

Salem residents pride themselves on knowing not only their neighbors' names, but what their children and grandchildren are up to. And someone who lives miles away can be considered a neighbor

Transforming the country setting are white collar workers, who are pure methane," which can be used as moving in in big numbers and build-

erty values have increased 35 percent in the last three years, said

Some residents resent the landfill's presence and doubt a ski hill will materialize

They want to build the hill on the east side of the landfill. The wind usually blows from the west Wouldn't you like to be skiing and have a dirty diaper hit you in the face?" asked a resident who asked not to be named

'I don't know how anyone with any sense would think people would want to ski with so many unpleasant odors and things around. Even get- drop are planned for the Salem uted to this report. ting the proper water facilities for the ski lodge might be difficult with all that garbage right next door and

But Michael Shea, director of recreation for the city of Riverview. disagrees. Riverview operates a nine-run ski area on a landfill that still is partially active Riverview Highlands, affectionately known as Mount Trashmore. has yet to turn a profit.

But it's created three full-time

Skiers could soon replace workers at the Arbor Hills Landfill, Six Mile and Napier roads. Plans call for the landfill to be converted into a ski area.

50,000 people a year, and "at present, we're within $10,000 to $20,000 either side of breaking even, said

From a recreational standpoint it's been fantastic as far as offering not only Riverview residents but many of the surrounding communities winter activity.

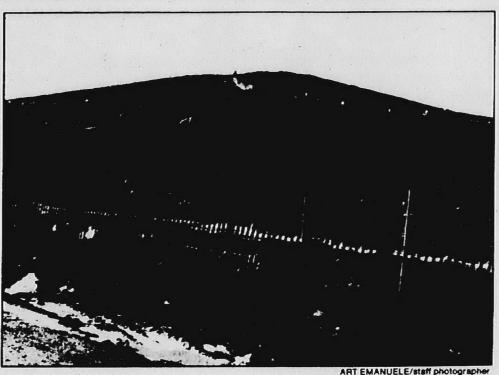

"I don't have any doubts a landfill can become a ski area, because we landfill operation." Brandon said can do it. We've proven it. To date no one's been hit by a dirty diaper." Shea said

Beginner, intermediate and advance runs off a 150-foot vertical slopes Should they become reality former Salem supervisor Philip Brandon will have seen his dream take shape.

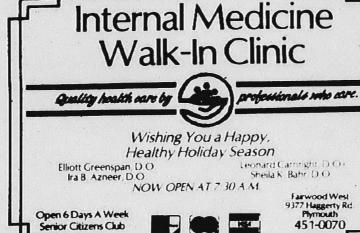

Nearly 20 years ago, Brandon and a group of others decided a practical use for the gravel pit left on the site by Holloway Sand and Gravel would be a landfill and eventual ski hill. There are some negative aspects. obvious problems associated with a But this will be a very positive thing relative to the economy of Salem Township.

High blood pressure, or hypertension, is a disease. A potentially dangerous disease. It can lead to heart disease and stroke. As many as one in four American adults has high blood pressure. But because it is virtually symptom free, as' many as 17 million adults have an increased risk of heart disease without knowing it.

But there is a simple, painless procedure to find out if you have it. Get it checked. Today. And keep it checked. It may be the best thing you ever did for yourself. You never know.

Escape try unsuccessful

A 28-year-old man bolted from police Dec. 22 shortly after an arraignment in 35th District Court on Plymouth Road in Plymouth

The Livonia man was in court for arraignment on one charge of larceny in a building for an incident that occurred at Meijer Thrifty Acre in Canton, said Judge James Garber. Garber set bond at $2,500 or 10 percent on the misdemeanor charge A plea of not guilty was entered After the arraignment a Canton officer was taking the man out of the courtroom and "reaching for cuffs

when the subject ran out the side door" through a public entrance, a Canton Police report said

The officer chased the man north on Plymouth Road and into a nearby wooded area. A Detroit police officer joined the chase, captured the defendant and brought him back to 35th District Court on Plymouth Road, the report said.

Garber raised bond to $25,000 cash and made arrangements for the defendant to be taken to Wayne County Jail.

The defendant's mother and sister were in court during the arraign ment Garber said

A warrant for escaping custody was to be sought last week from the Wayne County Prosecutor's office, said Plymouth Police Lt. Robert Commire

It also was believed the Livonia man had two outstanding warrants in Oakland County, said Garber However, this was not confirmed by deadline

Since when isita crime to turn 183

Of course turning 18 isn't a crime at all. However, turning 18 without registering with Selective Service is.

That's why we need your help. We need parents to tell their sons to register with Selective Service within a month of turning 18. And we need teachers, friends, employers and others who can influence these young men to reinforce the message

Why? Because, for one reason, it's the law. But in addition to risking prosecution by not registering, your son or young friend is disqualifying himself from eligibility for federal student loans. federal employment and job training programs.

America's future security depends upon today's young men registering with Selective Service on time. Having a complete registration list saves our country six vital weeks in mobilizing its manpower should Congress ever declare a national emergency.

All of today's 18-year-olds and all of tomorrow's 18-year-olds must be informed about the registration requirement.

You can help. Ask a young man you know if he is registered. Selective Service Registration. It's Quick. It's Easy. And it's the Law.

Metroparks to get 68 projects

About 40 percent of the investment is at the newer parks and 60 percent in the older parks, controller David L. Wahl told the HCMA board of directors as they adopted the new budget

The $24.3 million budget will put less emphasis on land acquisition and more on development, he said, continuing the trend as the agency matures. The 68 capital projects will absorb $4.4 million or 18 percent of the budget Land acquisition will take nearly $700 000

Operations will cost $12.1 million or 50 percent of the total - about the level it's been running the last five or six years. Wani said.

THE HCMA board approved the budget almost without comment last week after a public hearing at which HCMA is a five-county authority operating 13 large metroparks along the Huron and Clinton rivers in a large arc from Lake St Clair to Lake Erie.

The five counties in the HCMA region and their percentages of the total property tax valuation are Wayne 38 Oakland 35 Macomb 17 Washtenaw 7 and Livingston 3.

Metroparks are designed for day use and generally cover at least

A 0.25 mill property tax approved by voters more than 40 years ago provides about two-thirds of its revenues Vehicle admissions and park operations provide most of the rest.

Federal and state grants are minor Park visitors total seven to eight million a year - double the region's population and about four times more people than the Detroit Tigers

HERE IS a breakdown of the major capital improvement projects planned for 1988:

• Hudson Mills, on North Territorial Road in Washtenaw County $1,087,000 for an 18-hole golf course turf development, entrance road and service yard

• Indian Springs, northern Oakland County - $590,000 for a golf course clubhouse wells and club-house electrical and telephone hookups. So far, this park is mostly trails and picnic area on the largest undisturbed natural area in the

for two golf course comfort stations · Wolcott Mill. an unopened 2 100-acre park on the north branch of the Clinton River in Macomb County - $363,000 for a mill headrace dam, pump station and water wheel Altogether nearly $400,000 in improvements are planned Long-term plans include a pool and golf course.

• Kensington in western Oakland County - $179,500 in several projects, the largest being $90,000 for a golf cart storage building

· Metro Beach, on Lake St. Clair in Macomb County - $325,000 for a nature center.

gress were recorded on major roll call votes on Dec. 11 and in the week ending Dec. 18.

HOUSE

WELFARE REFORM - By a vote of 230 for and 194 against, the House passed and sent to the Senate a major overhaul of the federal-state mechanism that provides welfare to the poor. The bill (HR 1720) carries a pricetag of $5 billion over five years

The legislation stops short of making work mandatory for welfare recipients, as Republicans had advocated

It requires recipients to enter education, training and work programs that each state would have to set up under the legislation Presently 3.8 million families with 7 million children participate in the basic federalstate welfare program. Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC)

To shift the chronically poor from the dole to payrolls, the legislation provides such inducements as expanded day care services, fair wage standards for entry-level jobs and paycheck withholding to ensure that absent parents pay child support.

It also enables two-parent families to receive welfare if the main wage earner is unemployed and sets a priority of keeping poor teenagers from becoming permanently dependent on welfare

Supporter Bill Richardson, D. N.M. said major reform is needed of the current system, which among other deficiencies breaks up families and encourages lifelong dependence Opponent Dan Lungren, R-Calif. complained that the bill "does not require a single welfare recipient to work (or) a single welfare recipient to look for a job.

PUBLIC BUILDINGS - By a vote field of 271 for and 86 against, the House passed and sent to the Senate a bill (HR 2790), changing General Services Administration procedures for acquiring and managing federal office space.

The bill attempts to curb the GSA's pro-leasing policy Although construction is cheaper in the long run, it appears in annual fiscal projections to be more expensive because the full cost of new buildings must be budgeted in one year by the

To overcome political and liseal impediments to annual construction appropriations, the bill authorizes the GSA to borrow construction funds from the Treasury.

Supporter Martin Lancaster D-N.C. said the GSA would remain fiscally accountable to Congress under the borrowing procedure, because its debt repayments each year would be tailied as part of the Congressional budget resolution.

Opponent Robert Walker B-Pa said the bill would deprive Congress of control over the GSA construction budget and thus encourage the agenev to build more federal buildings than are needed

IF ONE DRUG IS GOOD FOR ARTHRITIS, ARE TWO DRUGS BETTER?

A number of anti-inflammatory drugs are used for arthritis. Aspirin is one, ibuprofen (motrin, rufen, advil, nuprin) is another. In addition there is indomethic in (indocin), sulindac (clinoril). naproxen (naprosyn) etc. The usual practice of physicians is to prescribe one of these drugs and, if it doesn't control joint pain and swelling, then go on to

Why don't doctors combine medicines more often, i.e. prescribe aspirin with indocin, or when using motrin, add naprosyn to it at the end of the day? Experience has shown that combining anti-inflammatory drugs gives the Individual no further gain. Such changes only add to the side effects of each medication, particularly to the risk of stomach pain and bleeding gastric ulcer. In treating rheumatoid arthritis, physicians often use combinations of drugs such as aspirin and gold, or motrin, plaquinel and penicillamine. The reason is that each drug attacks a different point in the cascade of inflammatory joint reactions. Furthermore, the toxicity of any one medication is distinct, and not likely to place the individual at more risk for untoward side effects than would each agent alone.

The Teeple family left Plymouth in 1836 when Lettie was six years ld In later years. Lettie recalled Our home was growing more beautiful all the while Stumps were disappearing from the fields. A young rchard was growing; about seventy acres were cleared and fenced, the rails were up to stay.

But all that was given up in 1836 when Peter Teeple got what was jok-ingly called "Grand River Fever." He decided to sell his Plymouth Township property and move the family to the Grand River country in he wilds of Kent County in western Michigan. was like 150 years ago are the recollections of Abraham B. Markham Markham read his paper at the annual meeting of the State Pioneer Society more than 100 years ago in February 1877.

He arrived in Plymouth from New York State in 1825 His homestead was on Six Mile Road, between Sheldon and Beck, in what is now Northville Township but was then part of Plymouth Township.

From Markham, we have an idea what the area was like in terms of forests, animals, crops, log-cabin raisings, mills, the first meetings of the township, his job as tax-collector, the condition of the roads, and the Indians he met Markham had this to say about the trees he had to cut down before he could plant his seed. "I soon found I could chop an acre in six or seven days, fit for logging. In one year, I had seven acres cleared and fenced with a good eight-rail fence, and four more acres were chopped.

At the end of the year Markham had "a good double log house, a good log stable, a good well of water, one cow, a voke of steers, a calf, and fodder enough to keep them over the winter, a sow and seven pigs, and plenty of corn for them, half a dozen hens, and provisions for a small family for a year.

MARKHAM'S CHIEF problem was getting rid of trees.

The problem today is to make sure we don't get rid of too many trees. thereby cluttering up the landscape with things less pleasing to the eye. I am reminded of Ogden Nash's parody of Joyce Kilmer's poem "Trees" Nash's version goes like this

"I think that I shall never see A billboard lovely as a tree Indeed, unless the billboards fall, I'll never see a tree at all.

Markham also had something to say about the animals he saw. Walking through the woods one day, he sighted five wolves. There was a bounty of $25 each on wolves so he decided to shoot them. "I got behind a cluster of basswood trees," he said I was almost sure of two of them the first shot." Fortunately for the wolves. Markham's gun jammed They loped away, unharmed

On another of his rambles, Mark ham saw "many wild animals, such as deer, bear, wolves, etc. We started up a herd of deer of over forty in number and other wild game in abundance. There was no danger of starving for want of meat."

by the Supervisor. Supported by Mr. Pruner. Ayes all.

c) Re: Personal Business Days The Administration is recommending that the two personal days that are allocated for General Fund employees, will no longer be utilized by the Fire Chief Police Chief, Deputy Police Chief, DPW Superintendent, Communications Director, Director of Public Services, Director of Planning, and Chief Building Official as their salary represents full compensation for all services rendered. Mrs. Hulsing moved that the Board adopt the additional "No Personal Business Days" policy for those people in Administrative positions as recommended by the Administration Supported by Mr. Pruner. Ayes all.

Re: Plymouth Township Employees Retirement Proposal

Mrs. Broadbent explained this is a limited period retirement program. The main points of the program are (1) it is a voluntary "one time only" program and it is not offered on an ongoing basis it is to be made available to all full time nonrepresented employees who meet the age and service requirements (2) the employee must complete an application form between January 1, 1988 and February 28, 1988 to take advantage of the program. The actual retirement date does not have to occur until June 30, 1988.

(3) There will be a health insurance coverage provision for the employee and employee's spouse, as well as a term life insurance policy.

The final item on this proposal concerns the sick leave bank and vacation pay. There are two options that can be handled under this program. SICK LEAVE BANK

Option I - Payment for 100% of employee's accumulated sick leave (maximum possible is 51 days) will be paid to the employee in 60 equal monthly payments. Balance of payments will be accelerated and made payable to the designated beneficiary made to in the event of a retiree's death during the 60 month period. Option II - Payment for 100% of employee's accumulated sick leave (maximum possible is 51 days) will be paid to the employee in one lump sum at the time of retirement VACATION PAY:

Option I - Payment for 100% of all earned and accured vacation time (Maximum possible is 30 days) will be paid to the employee in 60 equal monthly payments. Balance of payments will be accelerated and made payable to the designated beneficiary in the event of a retiree's death during the 60 month

Option II - Payment for 100% of all earned and accured vacation time (maximum possible is 30 days) will be paid to the employee in one lump sum at the

Mrs. Hulsing moved to adopt a Limited Period Early Retirement Program for a one-time period only. Employees must complete the application form between January 1, 1988 and February 28, 1988 to take advantage of this program. The employee must designate on the application form, a retirement date occuring between January 1, 1988 and June 30, 1988. Employee must be at least 50 years of age on the date of retirement and have at least 15 years of service; in order to take advantage of this program, the employee's age (years and completed months) and service (full-time years and completed months) must total 70 or more. The adoption includes Option I of the Sick Leave Bank and Option I of the Vacation Pay proposal. Supported by Mr. Pruner. Ayes all.

Mr. Pruner moved to concur with the Supervisor's recommendation to assign Mr. Van Vleck as Administrative Assistant to the Fire Chief. This is subject to the settlement of litigation now pending between Mr. Van Vleck and the Charter Township of Plymouth. Supported by Mr. Horton. Ayes all.

Beyond bargain bubbly

a novice. Not being one to enjoy the bubbly nature of champagne, it was necessary for me to get out of the habit of buying $2.99 bottles of the stuff and to raise my consciousness of the effervescent grape to new heights. Could one spend more than $3 and truly find the difference? Oui, Oui!

For those of you who, like myself, thought of champagne as something we picked up on the way home from buying lunch meat, bread and milk for the kids' lunches, boy, will you be surprised.

Champagne is the sparkling wine produced in the Champagne district of France, the area some 90 miles northeast of Paris, surrounding the village of Epernay, the city of Reims and a number of other small communities. (And you thought it was a subsidiary of Stroh's?

It is made from certain grapes mainly the Pinot Noir and the Chardonnay. These are the same grapes used to make burgundy. (No, Bernadette, not the Mogen-David or Thunderbird variety.) Traditional champagne is made from the black grape of the Pinot Noir whose skins are removed from the fermenting juice before the pigment can be leached out and darken the wine. The modern trend is toward blanc de blancs white wine from white grapes (Sacre Dom Perignon!), although they must be made entirely from the white Chardonnay.

BUT IN ALL cases, true champagne is produced entirely from the Champagne district. By the way, the stuff I call champagne that costs about $3 a bottle is really sparkling wine. Although labeled champagne, it cannot be called such in Europe. Such are the laws inside the Common Market.

Champagne was first introduced way back in the 17th century by Dom Perignon, a Benedictine monk who was the cellarmaster at the abbey of Hautvillers. He and the grape growers of the region were aware that a slight natural sparkle resulted from the second fermentation of the grapes that occurred in the spring after the fall harvest.

The sparkle, or petillance as it is still called, was a pleasant surprise. It added a special quality to the wine. Corks were not yet invented then and unfortunately, to put it bluntly, the fizzle soon went flat.

However, the wine was still sought after, and eventually Brother Dom, after trying wood and cotton stoppers without great success, discovered that corks were effective when secured in the bottles by string. It is also said that the good monk was responsible for having bottles made of heavier glass to prevent them from exploding under the pressure during the second fermentation.

It is this second fermentation that is the crucial step in making champagne. When making still wine, the bottling usually takes place long after the second fermentation so the bubbles are never captured. By the way, those bubbles that seem to give everyone the giggles are only the carbon dioxide gas that is a natural byproduct of fermentation. Because champagne is bottled prior to the second fermentation, the entire process is much more complex than the production of still wine.

WOULD YOU believe that there is still existing today the remuage or manual twisting and shaking of the bottles in the cellars cut deep in the soil of Reims and Eperney. That's one of the reasons you won't find imported French champagne at under $3 per bottle. See, the cost of labor nowadays.

This manual twisting prevents the yeasts of fermentation and any other natural sediment from clinging to the sides of bottles. Each time a bottle is twisted, it is tilted a little farther forward onto its nose. Ultimately, the bottles will stand on the neck with all the sediment collected in their necks against the corks.

Now, to make matters even worse, and definitely more expensive, comes the disgorging or degorgement. The neck of each bottle is immersed in an icy brine solution until the ball of sediment is frozen so that it can be plucked when the stopper is removed. The sediment is replaced with the "dosage" or a small amount of sugary wine that will tell us how sweet the champagne will be.

The driest champagne, or brut, will be the one with the least amount of dosage. This is followed in sweetness by extradry, sec, demi sec and doux, which are produced in small quantities are not readily available in this country.

The 70-year-old Livonia homemaker has been bak ing bread - and winning raves - since she was a teenager living on a farm in Missouri.

I was the second of five children, and the oldest girl," Slesak said. "My mother baked bread. It was something we did from necessity

You do get a feel for it," Slesak added Sheila Guyer of Southfield learned how to bake bread when she was unable to obtain challah, a rich, slightly sweet egg bread which is a mainstay of the Jewish sabbath dinner. 'My husband was in the service and there was no bakery to buy it from," said Guyer, 47. "I started baking over 20 years ago. We happen to like the way it tastes." Baking bread was something her grandmother had done but not her mother. Although many varieties of bread can easily be obtained at the market or bakery. Slesak and Guyer prefer to make their own.

'If I bought bread from the store, everybody objected," Slesak said. "They wanted to know why we had to eat store-bought bread.

THE MAIN ingredients in bread are flour, sugar, salt, yeast and vegetable oil. Successful bread-baking depends upon the proper proportion of ingredients, along with adequate kneading and rising. Proficiency comes with experience.

"I know a lot of people are frightened off by a yeast bread," Guyer said. "It takes not being afraid to do it By the second or third time, it's like coming home.

Slesak and her husband Edwin, now retired from H.J. Heinz Co., have lived in Livonia for 30 years. They have three grown sons and five grandchildren.

Baking tips for breads

Wilma Slesak of Livonia has been baking bread for 55 years and has won countless numbers of baking competitions at the Michigan State Fair.

Following are some of her suggestions for successful scratch yeast breads:

• Use a very large bowl to mix dough (Slesak has a 12-qt. bowl). It is easier to mix when there is plenty of · Bowls and utensils should be warm. Slesak sometimes lets her mixing bowl rest in warm water to maintain adequate warmth.

• Flours vary in moisture content. Only experience can indicate how much flour to add during the kneading process. There may be some variation. Add one tablespoon at a time.

Grease hands before kneading.

• Knead dough 5-10 minutes, until it is pliable and · Allow dough to rise in a warm, draft-free place (75-85 degrees). Slesak recommends placing the dough in a slightly warmed oven for about one hour. Too-long rising will yield bread with a coarse texture.

• For a glazed crust, toward the end of baking. brush top with an egg wash (one egg yolk diluted with one or two tablespoons water or milk). To keep crust soft, brush crust with butter after bread is baking and out of pan, then cover with damp cloth.

· Let bread cool completely, usually an hour, before wrapping, storing or freezing.

Rhyming recipe a tradition

By Chris Rizk staff writer

Holidays are steeped in tradition: gift-giving, family gatherings and fancy feasts.

For the Kotcher family in Canton, the holidays hold an even greater sense of tradition.

For the last 85 years, someone in Joan Kotcher's family has been making plum pudding just like grandma (or in this case, great-grandma) used to

"Did you know," asked Kotcher, "that plum pudding has no plums in it? The recipe was devised during a time when the popular color was purple. Everything was plum colored so they named a recipe to reflect what was popular during that generation.

Kotcher, who takes seriously her duty to satisfy tradition, researched the recipe's lineage. She questioned why the recipe was recorded in rhyme, as follows: To make Plum Pudding to English man's taste, so all is eaten so nothing is wasted; Take raisins and currants and bread crumbs all round, and suet of oxen and flour, one pound . . Her research unearthed a peculiar fact. Most women in the early 1900s were not privileged to receive an education, including reading and writing.

has whittled down preparation time from more than 24 hours to just under 14.

She makes enough to fill a pressure cooker, the size that can hold seven quart jars used for canning. She has altered the recipe slightly in order to suit her family's tastes, she said. Her great-grandmother, Minnie Jaynes Campbell, obtained the recipe from a friend. Although it called for cognac as one the liquids (as does chef James Beard's recipe), Kotcher said she permitted herself, like her great-grandmother, to use

A family of Methodist ministers would not, she said, "be using that kind of stuff" in their recipes.

The fruitcake-like dessert takes time to prepare. For a novice, it also takes patience and cooking acu-

KOTCHER RECITED the story of 12-year-old Ethel Campbell Boughman, her grandmother. It seems that Boughman, anxious to carry out tradition, set about to make plum pudding. She followed the recipe precisely: ". . . Then sugar, molasses and milk one half pint, and fresh eggs take six. Be sure you properly mix. Salt, ginger and cinnamon a teaspoonful. Put into a bag round as you can, and boil for eight hours, hard as you can." Not an ignorant child, Boughman prided herself on following the directions - until the pudding was To her dismay, the dessert had to be discarded because she hadn't included all the ingredients. Not, Kotcher said, because little Ethel couldn't read, but because the recipe included only those ingredients that would be difficult to remember.

The remainder, like baking powder, were common ingredients in any recipe. A good cook was supposed to know that, Kotcher Baking bread is a lengthy process. The most time-consuming portion is when the dough is rising.

Guyer gets her dough mixed and kneaded, then goes on with her chores while the dough rises. Once you get the knack, "it isn't necessary to baby-sit the dough," she said.

Slesak makes white, whole wheat, raisin and rye breads. Stepping into her home is a treat for the nose. The yeasty fragrance of baking bread fills the air. Tasting the warm, buttered bread is the reward.

WHILE ONE batch bakes to a crusty, golden hue, Slesak busily kneads dough in a huge bowl. She works at an oversized kitchen counter with plenty of working space. Slesak measures her ingredients.

She kneads the dough for 5-10 minutes, until it is pliable and not sticky She covers the dough with plastic and a damp towel and carries the bowl to her family room where a wood-burning stove emits warmth.

The dough sits near the stove, and heat causes it to rise (approximately one hour). When the dough has doubled in volume, Slesak punches it tains flour, yeast, eggs, oil, sugar down and returns the bowl to the and water. Sometimes she coils the warm spot to double again. So the next time you visit the liquor store and see fine champagne selling for $40 and more on the shelf, remember, it is to be enjoyed with dignity and spirit. Think of all those people working in the moldy old caves, bottling, turning, disgorging the likes of all that sparkling matter. Personally speaking, after drinking my share of those $3, $4, $5, $6 and $7 bottles of the stuff, I found the imported French variety definitely less bubbly and somewhat drier. But even more important, I shuddered at the thought of paying about $9 per flute (that's the fancy name for the glass that it should be poured in) (yes, you got it, per glass).

Whatever your choice for the holidays, whether it be Dom Perignon, Tattinger (James Bond's favorite) or Moet Chanden (this writer's favorite) raise your glasses high with a shout of praise to Brother Dom, who, if not for his invention, would have us drinking all this bubbly injected stuff from the East and West coasts.

pour into a container and freeze. For a fine, snowy texture, stir every 30 minutes till frozen.

IN CHOCOLATE CUPS

I purchase those small chocolate cups from the gourmet store and fill them with this exciting cream and serve as a light dessert after a holiday dinner party

34 cup brut champagne 1/2 cup sugar 5 egg yolks

1 12 cups whipping cream

Combine 1/2 cup of champagne with the sugar in a small saucepan over medium heat, continue boiling till mixture reaches 236 degrees on a candy thermometer (soft ball stage).

Meanwhile, beat the egg yolks until light and lemon-colored. When syrup is the correct temperature, add to yolks in a thin steam, beating constantly until thick and creamy (10 minutes). Gradually blend in remaining champagne, chill until thick but not stiff. Whip cream in chilled bowl, fold in champagne mixture, cover and set in freeezer overnight. Fill cups with cream and serve with a drizzle of chocolate sauce.

CHAMPAGNE MELBA SAUCE 1 12-ounce package frozen raspberries

I cup champagne 2 cup sugar

Place raspberries in a blender and blend until smooth. Combine with champagne and sugar in a saucepan and heat on low heat until sauce is FROZEN CHAMPAGNE CREAM reduced by 1/2.

This is great poured over cake, ice cream or whatever.

CHAMPAGNE MOUSSE 2 envelopes unflavored gelatin

112 cups champagne

I cup sugar 4 egg whites 2 cups whipped cream

Soften gelatin in 1/2 cup champagne. Stir over warm water until gelatin is thoroughly dissolved. Then add this to the remaining champagne and sugar in a large mixing bowl. Chill just until mixture begins to thicken. Then beat until foamy. Beat egg whites in another bowl until stiff but not dry. Beat beaten whites into the champagne mixture until smooth and glossy. Fold in whipped cream and pour into a lightly oiled 1 1/2 quart mold. Chill until firm. Great with melba sauce.

CHAMPAGNE PUNCH 1 6-ounce can frozen pineapple juice 1 cup lime juice

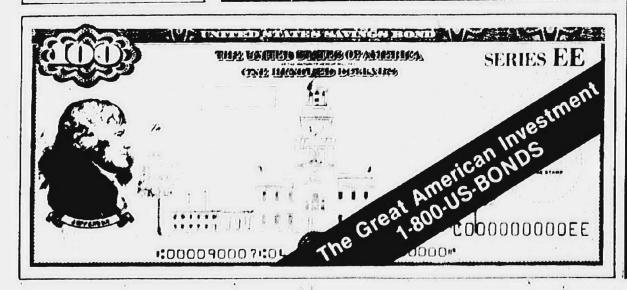

1 cup rum 1 bottle brut champagne 2 liters pale dry ginger ale

Combine and mix. Garnish with frozen juice ring

Go Green, Go White!

Michigan State University will participate in its first Rose Bowl game since 1966 when the Spartans meet the University of Southern California Trojans on New Year's Day. MSU posted an 8-2-1 record this season, and a lot of that success can be attributed to such Observer & Eccentric players as (front row, green shirts) Mark Nichols (83) of Birmingham Brother Rice, Todd Krumm (35) of West Bloomfield and John Miller (44) of Farmington Hills Harrison, and (back row, green shirts) Bob Kula (63) of Birmingham Brother Rice, Dave Martin (58) of Birmingham Brother Rice and Dave Houle (74) of Plymouth Sa-

Season-long climb peaks for Spartans

By C.J. Risak staff writer

OK, so everyone knows Michigan State hasn't been to the Rose Bowl in a while. Since 1966, to be exact. Heck, only 16 of the current Spartans were alive back then, and it's kinda doubtful they remember much of the game

But this road trip goes beyond Rose Bowls. Until Christmas Day, few of MSU's players had ever seen California.

Bob Kula hadn't. Mark Nichols hadn't. Dave Houle hadn't. Todd Krumm hadn't. Those four, plus John Miller, all start for MSU and are all Observer & Eccentric-area products.

The lifestyle of the Californian must be a major tremor to the system of a Midwesterner. So much to see, so much to do, and so little time. That, so the theory goes, is why

Big Ten teams are routinely thumped every time they make the trip west.

'We've got a bunch of guys who've never been to California," said Nichols, a senior defensive tackle from Bloomfield Hills and Birmingham Brother Rice. "Those guys (Southern Cal, MSU's Rose Bowl opponent) live there, they go to the beach every day. It's no adjustment for them.

"Bring them into Spartan Stadium every year and see how they do."

THANK YOU, but we've already seen what USC can do in Spartan Stadium. MSU thumped the Trojans 27-13 in this season's opener. That game had a big effect on how eople outside the Big Ten perceive MSU -

USC is picked to win. Who's favored, of course, means little to the Spartans. Before the season began, MSU was just about counted out of the Big Ten

football

race. Two major offensive weapons (quarterback Dave Yarema, from Brother Rice, and receiver Mark Ingram) had graduated. The defense seemed improved, but the secondary was scrambled, with everyone in different positions. . . USC, followed by And the schedule . Notre Dame, Florida State, Iowa and Michigan. Five top-20 teams in six weeks...

When MSU lost two of their first three, their longshot chances got longer. As Kula, a junior (sophomore eligibility) guard from West Bloomfield (and Brother Rice), said,

"No one expected us to get there. "To tell the truth, I thought there were a more determined than ever."

lot of doubts on the team. We were pessimistic after the Florida State and Notre Dame losses (31-3 and 31-8, respectively), going into the Iowa game."

But, as Kula added, that Iowa game "was probably the key to the whole season.

THE SPARTANS shocked the Hawkeyes 19-14 at Iowa. That got them going; they didn't lose again.

Houle, a senior offensive tackle from Plymouth (Salem), saw the season's turning point differently. "I thought it was the Notre Dame and Florida State games both of them," he said.

"Even losing that bad, I knew we could play with the best teams. I think if we'd won those two games, we'd gone into the Big Ten season cocky. In the long run, I think those losses helped us. They made us

By midseason, it was obvious where the pressure to succeed was seated for MSU: with the defense, which went on to prove itself as one of the best in the nation, and with the offensive line, which was given the monumental task of opening holes fenses stacked to stop the one-man attack of Lorenzo White.

"Our job," said Nichols, "was not to give up any points. We never got down on our offense because we felt we had a job to do not to give up anything."

THE DEFENSE did just that. In Big Ten play, Iowa and Illinois scored the most points against MSU; each had 14. In their last four games, the Spartans allowed just 22 points.

pionships earlier this month. North Farmington, winner of the Western Lakes Activities Association, was undoubtedly the area's best team, and the Raiders backed up that claim with a fourth-place finish in the Class A meet.

North dominates the All-Area squad, having six swimmers selected for the team and coach Pat Duthie named Coach of the Year.

Three of the Raiders - Laurie Oswald, Kerry Doran and Cindy Cramer - were honored in individual events and also as members of North's freestyle relay team.

Christie Duthie also was chosen for an individual event, Marcy Mulbarger was an at-large choice and Amy Meneilley was the fourth member of the relay.

AS HOULE said, "It makes it a ot harder if the other team knows we're going to run. But we just got the attitude we're going to do it anyway.

Now, there's just one more obstacle for MSU to hurdle — that west coast jinx. The Spartans are trying to ignore it - as Kula said. 'We can only control our future, we can't help what's happened to Big Ten teams in the past. that won't be easy. Distractions are everywhere

The grounds of the Mansera Retreat House in Bloomfield Hills offers Brian Henry an idyllic setting in which to discover nature and put himself in touch with himself. An attorney and family man, Henry has discovered peace and contentment through a yearly retreat.

Brian Henry - yuppie, successful attorney, family man, social climber becomes a hermit one weekend a

He doesn't don sack cloth or douse himself with ashes or beat his chest 50 times to repent for past sins.

But Henry, 31, of Bloomfield Township does turn off all the noise in his life and tunes into his spiritual world at the Manresa Retreat House in Bloomfield Hills.

The other 362 days of the year. my mind is cluttered with deadlines and demands from work and family," he said. "I don't have time for myself.

The retreats have taught me to set my priorities straight Henry is among a growing number of young people who escape to wooded sanctuaries and shut out worldly influences such as football games, rock music, corporate commands, psychobabble and sitcoms.

LAST YEAR, 700,000 to a million Americans visited 580 retreat centers in the United States and Canada, according to the Rev. Thomas Gedeon, director of Retreats International, a national agency for the facilities There are no figures on the number of young people who participate in retreats. But area directors say there's a renewed interest in spirituality among the under-35 set.

This generation wants enjoyment without commitment," said the Rev. Eugene P. Simon of the Manresa Retreat House in Bloomfield Hills. They're egocentric, but they find out that doesn't bring them happi-

So, they return to more traditional values, set long-range goals and discover there's somebody who exists outside of themselves. Then, they begin to develop a personal relationship with God. Although most Catholic centers are geared to adults, a few of them have initiated programs for youths.

At Manresa, the sounds of silence are all you can hear in the hallowed halls. But, at St. Benedict's in Oxford, a facility designed for high school and college students, you'd probably learn about values from rock music or teen movies. 'We've been doing this for 13 years, and we're booked solid on weekends," said the Rev. Daniel Homan, director of St. Benedict's.

He admits spirituality isn't "cool" among the under 30 crowd. But many who attend for the first time find the experience enlightening, he noted.

"I resent the anti-fun image. I think Jesus was a fun person, and he left us with guidelines that ensure our happiness.

'We stress (to participants) that God loves them personally and teach them to talk to him as they talk to a person.

HENRY admits he was a little leery of the religious stigma when he joined a group of Catholic lawyers and physicians at an October retreat seven years ago. He signed up after realizing that the people he admired most were "able to handle a lot of different situations because they had a strong spiritual life."

"At first, I thought it would be very monastic, rigorous and boring more of the meaningless stuff you get on Sundays at church," the Southfield attorney (he works for Simon Deitch Tucker & Friedman)

"I found out this place wasn't full of monks with shaved heads running around chanting and beating themselves with Bibles."

After the retreats, Henry learned how to "talk to God honestly, look at my faults, make amends with people I've hurt, strengthen relationships with my family and handle conflict and tragedies better.' "I can cope with making mistakes," he added. "I don't have to wear sack cloth for a week to make amends. I realized that God loves me no matter what." He also refreshes himself daily by praying, jogging, doing yard work, playing baseball, visiting friends or seeing a movie. There is one thing he misses on his annual retreats - football. When I get out on Sunday, I can't wait to read the sports page," he said with a laugh.

Common sense cures those air travel blues

By Iris Sanderson Jones special writer

Q. We were planning to go to Mexico in February. My husband is threatening to cancel because we've lost our bags twice and he is tired of the bassles of air travel. What can I do?

Southfield

A. I was aboard Piedmont Flight 455 from Detroit to Charlotte, S.C., when I read your letter, with a commuter flight ahead of me from Charlotte to Asheville, N.C. I started thinking about the flight I was on and what could be done to smooth a traveler's path. You can't change everything but there are some things you can do to cut down the hassles of travel. Everything Piedmont had done so far had smoothed my way. It was a nice, clean plane with smiling employees and it left on time. But I had seen passengers doing everything possible to create problems for themselves. I guess lesson number one for hassle-free travel is that you can make trouble for yourself even if the airline doesn't make it for you.

Late check-in. Too much carry-on luggage. Youngsters already tired before they leave home. Uncomfortable clothes. Basic things, like the family ahead of me at the check-in counter: they had no name tags on their lug-

Elementary, my dear Watson, as Sherlock Holmes would say, but you would be surprised at the number of bags I have seen checked in without tags. I put two sturdy tags on mine, in case one gets torn off, and I sometimes slap on an additional stick-on label with the name of my destination hotel.

You probably put your name on your bags, but do you put them inside, in a visible place, so the airline can figure out who you are if the bag is lost and the tags are gone? Most lost bags are promptly found; help the airline to deliver them promptly as well. You learned defensive driving, now learn defensive travel-

Airlines can cut travel hassles if frequent flyers lend a hand

DEFENSIVE TRAVELING means little things. Put one change of clothes in your husband's suitcase and one of his in yours. If you lose one bag you haven't lost everything. If you fly in slacks, carry a skirt and an extra top in your carry-on luggage; bags are very seldom lost for more than overnight

Okay, you're at the check-in counter, so pay attention. Does the luggage tag have code letters that sound like your destination? If not, ask; I had a Savannah bag sent to Jacksonville because I didn't ask.

Check your ticket coupons. That never occurred to me until the day I heard my name called over the loudspeaker as I was walking to the gate. The agent had pulled my return ticket, which would have given me lots of trouble on the way home.

The bottom line, of course, is to flight is likely to be full give yourself lots of time at every step. Picture me driving into the likes a window. If the plane has two

When I rushed up to the airline counter I learned that the computer was down. The agent checked my bag by hand and sent me dogtrotting to the gate. I didn't check so I didn't realize that my bags were only checked to Minneapolis. Ten seconds' worth of concentration would have avoided that. Now I arrive early and pay attention.

THERE ARE hundreds of little rules to help you smoothe the way. Learn how to pick a seat. When you book your ticket, ask if you can reserve the seat then. I ask if the plane has two or three seats on the window side of the aisle and whether this seats abreast I take them. If it has three, I order an aisle and a window anyway. Single middle seats are filled last so we usually get all three seats. If we don't, we either live with it or ask the passenger in the middle seat if he wants to switch; usually he is happy to get out of that seat.

Why don't you plan your Mexico trip yourself, using some of these defensive traveling rules? If you can show your husband that you have covered some of the bases and have options available to you if somebody drops the ball, you might just get him up in the air again.

Defensive traveling won't eliminate all the hassles of travel but it will avoid the ones you create yourself, and shortcut the mistakes airline personnel can easily make if you are not paying attention. You may think that is a lot of work, but remember: it is lovely in Mexico in

Manresa Jesuit Retreat House

Nestied in one of the most bustling suburban areas at Quarton and Woodward in Bloomfield Hills Manresa is an oasis in a commer cial residential jungle

There's a brook ducks, rabbits and other wildlife on 40 virtually untouched acres Grottos and stone monuments representing "stations of the cross" are prayer stops.

'Catholic laymen purchased the property as a place for R & R (rest and relaxation) in 1926," notes the Rev. Eugene P. Simon, director. "They had the Jesuits run it for them St Ignatius Loyola, founder of the Jesuit order, is the patron saint of retreat houses all over the world."

St. Ignatius spent three months in a cave outside the town of Manresa. Spain, in 1530, where he wrote "The Spiritual Exercises," a book of instructions on how to pray over a 30day period.

The purpose is to spend quiet time thinking about man's purpose, the life of Christ and death, Simon said:

Nearly 3,000 men and women attend weekend retreats at Manresa and another 3,000 come for individual days of prayer and spiritual refreshment, he added.

Retreatants may spend time in their own rooms with a bed, chair, desk, toilet and wash basin.

For more information, call 564-6455 from 9 a m. to 5 p.m. weekdays. or write to the Manresa Jesuit Retreat House, 1390 Quarton Road Bloomfield Hills, 48013

Bhakti Vedanta Cultural Center

Devotees at the cultural center practice Bhakti-yoga, which they consider "the culmination of all types of yoga," said Adi Raja, temple president.

Located in the 40-room Fisher mansion in southeast Detroit, this is the center for Hare Krishna consciousness

Visitors will see a sky blue ceiling with white clouds and an audio visual presentation of Krishna, a primary Hindu deity. Prayers and chanting are part of the daily ritual.

Community members start the first chanting service at 4:15 a.m. and meditate privately 4:45-6:45 Worship services and classes are held throughout the day.

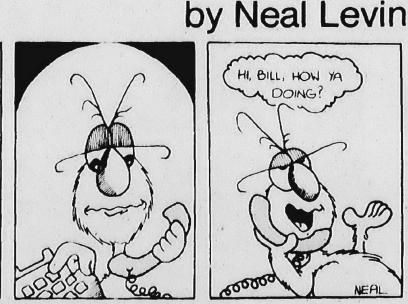

"Our doors are always open," said Raja. Visitors may donate by purchasing books, he noted.

That wonderful holiday season is here again. That means parties, those great non-stop parties.

Unfortunately, for many partygoers, it's the season for the dreaded "hangover headache," that incredible throbbing, pounding pain

The worst thing you can do is moan and groan and lay in bed and wish it would get better, says Kathryn Knox, a massage therapist yes, a massage therapist. Knox who runs Metro Well-Being, 870 Bowers. # HOLLDAY CHUMS

Wishing you and yours the happiness and joy of hearth and home throughout the Holiday season.

Observer & Eccentric NEWSPAPERS

Living the organized life isn't easy

Getting organized. It's easier said than done

Dorothy Lehmkuhl can attest to that.

My background is about 20 years of disorganized living," the Bloomfield Township resident said with a laugh

Lehmkuhl writes a column, "Organizing," for the Creative Living section of the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers

One summer day in 1981, Lehmkuhl was at the dentist's office. While waiting, she read an article about a woman who taught classes on getting organized.

Lehmkuhl did some research and attended workshops. Just 812 weeks later, she opened a pilot class in ner home.

She'd worked as a secretary for about 10 years and had been at home caring for her family for about 10 years. Lehmkuhl now teaches a series of classes on getting organized; she also does consulting for businesses and individuals

These days. Lehmkuhl describes herself as "fairly well-organized." She tries to take things one day at a time but jokes that several days can hit at once.

There are two aspects of being organized, Lehmkuhl said. Mental and physical aspects both play a part in being organized.

"If you have that mental control, the rest will hap-

THOSE WHO suffer from internal anxiety won't succeed in getting organized, she said.

"They're not able to think straight because they're all tied up with their emotions.

Lehmkuhl has some tips for people who are trying to be more organized.

"Not to be a perfectionist. That would be my first point

Some women suddenly try to become "superwomen" during the holidays, Lehmkuhl said. That's not a good approach, people need to have realistic expectations during the holidays and throughout the year.

And to be able to say no. I think people just try to do too much, I really do.

In managing your time, it's best to start by setting goals; said Lehmkuhl, who's the mother of three teens. After goals have been established, you can set priorities to help you reach those goals.

"Decision-making is the key, deciding what those priorities are.

Ann Arbor resident Pat Materka agreed it's important to establish goals. Materka is director of development and public relations for the University of Michigan Fitness Research Center. She's also the author of Time In. Time Out, Time Enough, A Time Management Guide for Women" (Prentice-Hall Inc., 1982).

WHEN SETTING goals, it's helpful to be specific, said Materka, who also conducts time management workshops. A specific goal, such as "I'll clean out the basement" or "I'll keep my desk manageable this year" is better than a general statement.

It's helpful to set deadlines for reaching goals and to break goals into smaller steps, Materka said.

"Small changes are easier than giant, big mammoth

It's difficult for any of us to revolutionize our lives, she said. It's better to pick one physical space - such as your kitchen or your desk - to keep organized.

It can be helpful to spend some money on a file cabinet, a filing crate or a desktop organizer, Materka said. It's not necessary to spend large sums, but spending some money is one way to make a commitment that "makes us a lot more likely to follow through

Materka recommends taking a few minutes to write down your priorities. Putting priorities in writing gives your mind the freedom to concentrate on more important work

I also feel a lot less guilty about the places where I still have work to do." Feeling guilty isn't a good use of anybody's time, she said.

MATERKA RECOMMENDS clearing your desk and setting out the highest-priority project. It's distracting to sit down at a cluttered desk and not know where to start

"It's real easy to dabble in 20 things all day long Materka, like Lehmkuhl, started to think about getting organized as it related to her life. Materka felt hopelessly disorganized and was unable to do a lot of things she was interested in doing, she realized she had to become more systematic

'It was really a matter of desperation

These days, Materka's more organized, both on the job and at home. She's the mother of two teenage children, "who really do an awful lot to help out

Materka believes children are an "untapped resource" when it comes to getting organized Children can help out around the house; doing so benefits them and the rest of the family.

Hiring household help is an option, Materka said Some people may find that trade-off of time versus money is a worthwhile investment.

AT HOME, Materka tries to keep some rooms looking nice; others aren't quite as important

You can always shut doors. I guess everyone has their own level of tolerance for a certain amount of dust and clutter."

Some family members may prefer to do certain household chores, she said. Family members can work out compromises so that one person - typically the mother - doesn't end up doing all the work.

In getting organized, it's important to be aware of your energy cycle, Materka said Some of us are morning people; others function more efficiently at other times of the day. It's best to save more creative and challenging work for times when you're at your best Other tips Materka offered include things that are difficult to throw away. Periodically, you can take the lower half of the drawer's pile and Having something to do at your desk for times

• Using one drawer as a "holding pattern" for that you're put on hold. If you're put on hold for too long, hang up and call back later.

· Making your telephone calls at one time, rather than dotting them throughout your day

· Asking those you reach on the telephone if you've reached them at a convenient time · Having something to do while you're waiting in

"To me, it's a stress reducer to get something done." Materka and Lehmkuhl agreed motivation is an important factor in getting organized and reaching goals. It's important to build in some rewards for yourself when setting goals. Whether it's going to the movies or buying yourself a few brownies, rewards can help you reach goals. Materka said.

Materka believes people should decide what's important to them and then pursue that. Being organized isn't so much a goal in itself, she said, instead, it's a means of getting what you want.

If the thought of welcoming 1988 in just another smoky, drink infested bar makes you want to crawl under the covers and set your alarm for midnight, it's time for a change. Since bars and discos are "totally out" the rest of the year, as claims, why should New Year's Eve be any different? And you're not alone if you cringe from memories of the "annual" New Year's Eve party packed with boozers, blistering bear hugs and bunglers burning cigarette holes in your best outfit. What's left if you don't go to a party or bar?

WELL, YOU COULD do what Ken Stockton, of Southfield's Metric Medical Laboratories, plans. "We avoid it (going out), because frankly I don't like waking up on the beginning of the year with a hangover and I don't like to deal with the drunks on the Stockton's sentiments were echoed by most of the people contacted for this story. Many plan to watch the descent of the apple in Times Square on TV with a clear view from the sofa. And others said they didn't even want to give it that much effort.

But then there's those people whose calendars are marked with ideas that are definitely off the beat and track.

Like. Rollins, for instance.

"This year is an unusual year," said Rollins, a Southfield attor-

The Bloomfield Hills resident plans to fly to Palm Springs, California, to attend a celebrity wedding. Rollins said he wouldn't identify the bride and groom, because the groom swore 300 to 500 Detroit area guests to secrecy about his identity. Rollins is planning to spend three days in the sunny state.

"I'M GOING TO the Rose Bowl" to see the State vs. Southern Cal game, said Dan Durack, Canton Township personnel director and a 1969 green and white alumnus. He's going to the game with his two brothers - one lives in Royal Oak and the other in Colora-

"It's different," Durack said. "Normally I'm home on New Year's Eve. I want to watch Michigan State play in the Rose Bowl. "It will probably be another 22 years from now before they're there again," Durack joked.

Susan Weaver of Farmington Hills plans to go to a Red Wings game with a group of friends "if we can still find tickets." Afterwards they'll stay downtown, she said.

"It will be the first year in several that I'll be going anywhere," Weaver said, adding that she "usually plays it safe" and stays home to avoid drunks on the road.

Suzan Rollins Singer, director of public information for Oakland County, is thinking more about Jan. 1 than Dec. 31. She's sending her son, Justine, 5, to the "New Year's Eve Bash at the Club" at The Playground day care center at Orchard Mall, in West Bloomfield. "They have a New Year's Eve party for kids. It's convenient, because I don't have to get up early in the morning.

"I think it's wonderful," she said. "My son is very excited to go, because he doesn't feel left out. They have dinner, a midnight snack and breakfast. And no adults are allowed. It's difficult to find babysitters, and I know he'll be in a place where he'll have a good time."

Linda Sherman, owner of Around the World Travel in Farmington Hills, said this is a busy time of year for people trying to "do something different" for New Year's Eve.

and before New Year's Eve," Sherman said. The Bahamas, California, Arizona, Las Vegas and cruising topped the most sought after getaways. People are looking for something different, something warm, something exciting," she said. If you're plans pale in comparison, it could be worse. You could be going to a bar or party.
