BIG DONATION: The Trailwood Garden Club presented a check for $2,000 to Plymouth Township last week to beautify Plymouth Township Park.

The donation will be used with other contributions to plant trees and develop a sitting area for moms who accompany kids to the Rockwell sculpture play area, said James Anulewicz, township planning director.

The Trailwood Garden Club, founded in 1976, raised the money by selling Cristmas luminaries, said Dori Mefford, club president

TV TRAINING: The programming department of Omnicom Cablevision will be offering a Portable Camera and Editing Workshop this week to residents of Canton, Plymouth,

Northville and Belleville. The workshop will cover how to operate a portable video camera, composition of shots, basic producing skills, and editing. Participants will be required to produce a 3-5 minute vignette. Classes meet one night a week for six weeks, 7-8:30 p.m., beginning Thursday, Jan. 21, through Feb. 25. There is a $10 fee which is refunded if all six classes are attended and the class project is completed. The classes are provided to train individuals to produce programs about community events, organizations and school events. Omnicom provides the equipment and training without charge. Class size is limited so advance registration is required. Register by calling 459-7300 between noon and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

COSTLY REMOVAL: The city of Plymouth DPW reminds residents and merchants that they must remove snow and ice from their sidewalks within 24 hours after a snowfall. Failure to do so may result in the Public Works Department cleaning the walk at a charge of $40 per hour, with a one-hour minimum. "We are requesting the cooperation of all residents and merchants in Plymouth to comply with this ordinance," said Ken Vogras, DPW director.

TO THE ARMY: Cub Scout Pack 743 of Plymouth has donated more than 200 pounds of food to the Plymouth Salvation Army Corps which distributed the food to needy families and individuals in the community.

NEW READERS: Plymouth District Library has been selected to receive a $2,000 grant for its Adult New Reader Collection Development program. The grant, awarded by the Library of Michigan, serves to provide reading materials to dults who recently have become

This year the Library of Michigan made 83 grants in six program categories. The money was made available through the Pederal Library Services and Construction Act Title I Special Great fund for fiscal 1967.

"The Plymouth Library was selected to receive this award because of its outstanding efforts to reaching out to this group of new readers," said state flow. R. Robert Gente, R-Northville, in assessmenting the grant. "Libraries are public institutions designed to

Hearing planned n saloon license

There's still a chance the Plymouthrock Saloon will lose its liquor license

The Plymouth Township Board will hold an administrative hearing at 730 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 16, at township hall to determine whether the bar violated the township's liquor ordinance.

State law empowers the board to revoke Plymouthrock's license if the hearing establishes that an ordinance violation occurred.

The Michigan Liquor Control Commission recently fined the owners of Plymouthrock $600. Donald Vargo and Peter Elefterio were found guilty of selling alcohol to a minor and of allowing a minor to consume alcohol

THE CHARGES stemmed from the death of Dorcas Ruth Aumann. 67. of Canton Township. Aumann was killed the night of Dec. 13, 1986. when the car in which she was riding by Yvonne Hillier of Westland.

Hillier, then 20, was driving on the wrong side of Joy near I-275 after leaving the Plymouthrock, which is on General Drive at Joy in Plymouth

Hillier's blood alcohol level was 20. Michigan State Police lab results showed Drivers with a blood alcohol level of 10 are considered legally impaired in Michigan

Hillier is serving five to 15 years after being found guilty of manslaughter.

The township is seeking a writ to have Hillier released from Florence Crane Women's Facility in Coldwater so that she can testify at the MANY, INCLUDING Plymouth Township officials, considered the LCC's action a slap on the wrist.

The township hired a special prosecutor. Plymouth attorney John Stewart, to conduct a show cause ed in accordance with established procedures, the LCC must uphold the township's findings.

It's expected that should trustees revoke the license, the decision will be appealed. Norman Farhat, attorney for Plymouthrock and a member of its board of directors, was unavailable for comment. So were owners Vargo and Elefterio.

the hearing "It's my hope that . . . can be held in the most respectful of ways for all concerned," said special prosecutor Stewart. "It is my opinion that we have a facility that appears to be selling liquor to minors.

The function of the hearing is to present facts to the township board, and for the board, acting as a hearing tribunal, to determine whether there is good cause based on all the facts to recommend revocation of the liquor license," said Plymouth Township Supervisor Maurice Breen.

THIS MARKS the first time Plymouth Township has tested its liquor ordinance.

Nancy Petrucelli wasn't too difficult to spot at Tuesday's evening meeting of the Plymouth Kiwanis Club at the Plymouth Hilton Inn.

Petrucelli, a Plymouth resident, was inducted as the club's first woman member.

"I'm certainly honored." said Petrucelli, a Realtor associate with Coldwell Banker. She doesn't see her role in the club as that of a "first woman.'

"It's a service club. I don't see it as a men's club or a women's club." Petrucelli saw joining the club as a "nice opportunity" to be involved in community service activities.

She has already been involved in a number of community activities, including work with the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce. The Plymouth resident served on the chamber committee that started the farmer's market. She also has worked on floats for the Fourth of July parade and participated in other activities.

"So it's just sort of getting involved and helping again." Petrucelli, the mother of two teenage children, also has served on the board of directors for Growth Works.

MEMBERS OF the Kiwanis Club welcomed Petrucelli at Tuesday night's meeting.

Public comment rules due

The Plymouth City Commission probably will adopt rules tonight that generally would allow for public comment without time restrictions during regular meetings and study sessions of all commissions and boards.

At least that's how Mayor Karl Gansler II read his colleagues during a study session on the issue last week.

Tonight's city commission meeting begins at 7:30 at city hall, 201 S. Main. The pre-commission meeting, during which the administration and commissioners share background information on agenda items, gets under way at 7 p.m.

In the past, the city commission had an informal three to five minute time limit per speaker that never Gansler speculated that the commission will adopt a no-time-limit policy and give discretion to the chairman of a meeting to determine whether an unusually large turnout necessitates a limit so everyone can speak. (Mayor Kari) Gansier speculated that the commission will adopt a notime-limit policy.

Any limit would be vigorously enforced, not to stifle debate but to broaden participation, Gansler said. Gansler also speculated that commissioners will continue to allow public comment during study sessions.

Time limits on public comment, if challenged in court, would be decided on a reasonableness standard, said Ron Lowe, city attorney.

Lowe has emphasized that whatever policy is adopted must be followed to the letter so as to preclude charges of favoritism.

An inquiry by the state attorney general's office revealed no recorded local open meeting policy and prompted a study of the situation by commissioners.

stenographic shorthand into English and produces a transcript that needs just minor editing

The machines don't come cheap "I feel like I have another dependent," said Goodfellow, who paid $15,000 for her specialized

IT USED TO BE that for every hour in court, court reporters spent three hours outside court transcribing. With CAT, the ratio is down to an hour of outside work for every hour in the courtroom.

Instead of dictating from the encoded paper and hiring someone to type a transcript, or transcribing herself. Goodfellow can fix dinner while the computer does the work. Even though the computer's expense "made it feel like I had a third dependent," it's been worth it, said Goodfellow "A very good typist could do 14 pages an hour. Last night I did 45 pages in one hour. With the computer, Goodfellow is able to supply attorneys with "a copy of what happened that day Plymouth attorney Richard T Haynes has found computer-aided transcription to be a big help. Every once in a while, I have a last minute deposition," said Havnes

With CAT, a reporter can take the cassette back to his or her office and later that day give me a final transcript. This new system eliminates the middle person and the cost of the middle person."

Attorneys able to get transcripts quickly can use them to prepare closing arguments, or to impeach witnesses who've made inconsistent statements, added Haynes.

CAT HELPS judges, too.

It's beneficial, especially in civil cases where you have to have a transcript quickly," said Garber, It's also beneficial in a selfish way, in that it has made Carole available to me more quickly. In the past, she didn't have the CAT. system, and she was constantly tied up typing, dictating or having transcripts typed."

When Garber took the bench nine years ago, he was one of just 16 district judges in Michigan using a court reporter. Most district judges use court recorders/secretaries, who tape record testimony.

Some courts are beginning to experiment with videotaping.

A few "Courtrooms of the Future" are using computer-aided transcription, and taking it a step Stenotype copy is fed directly into the computer, and text appears instantaneously on computer screens on the judge's bench and counsel tables.

The system has enabled judges and lawyers to review earlier testimony without having to wait for a written transcript to be produced. And it's helped in trials involving the deaf.

RICHARD KENDZIERSKI, vice president of the Michigan Shorthand Reporters Association, points out another advance brought about by CAT.

By indexing certain words and phrases, court reporters can save lawyers hours in the library, said Kendzierski, a court reporter in Wayne Circuit Court.

"We can data base this information onto computers, so that with the proper program, attorneys and courts can research a protracted hearing in seconds."

Late last week, students were busy pasting up pages and working on the latest edition of the Perspective, the student newspaper at Centennial Educational Park But they took some time to talk about the U.S. Supreme Court's decision in the case of the Hazelwood School District vs.

The court's 5-3 decision involved censorship by a Missouri high school principal of student newspaper arti-cles. Those articles dealt with teen pregnancy and the effects of divorce on young people.

The U.S. Supreme Court ruled the principal's actions did not violate the students' rights to free speech. My first reaction is that it probably won't affect us," said Dan Ream, editor-in-chief of the Perspective. Student journalists at Centennial Educational Park have been able to write about a variety of issues. they've benefited from a good relationship with administrators.

They believe that we handle the tough issues in a sensitive manner." said Ream, a 12th grader at Plymouth Canton High who is considering a career teaching journalism.

THE PERSPECTIVE is published 10 times during the academic year. Its student journalists write on a variety of issues

The paper's role includes educating members of its staff, Ream said. Its responsibilities also include informing the student body and then the general public.

We are criticized at times for being too professional," the editorin-chief said.

The student journalists believe they have the right to deal with sensitive issues and not just print light feature material 'I think we're beyond that in our ability to handle tougher subjects,"

Ream said.

DURING THEIR journalism lab last Thursday, students talked about the Supreme Court's decision.

"I was surprised," said Chris Peal, adviser for the Perspective. Peal, who teaches journalism, English and speech, had followed the Hazelwood case.

Student journalists at CEP are taught to take their First Amendment rights and responsibilities seriously, he said. They spend a great deal of class time covering law and

"It's hard to understand how they came up with that decision," Peal said "It's a major step back for students as citizens, as people."

ARTICLES IN the Perspective have dealt with such subjects as contraception, homosexuality and

"Hazelwood vs. Kuhlmeier was one of the larger concerns."

Mueller wrote a staff editorial opposing the censorship of the student newspaper in Missouri. A copy of that editorial was sent to the chief justice of the United States.

Student journalists at CEP receive intensive training in First Amendment rights and responsibilities, Mueller said

"We realize that we can be sued."

SHE'S CONCERNED that student journalists will avoid dealing with controversial subjects. The court's decision could have such a chilling

If student journalists find something that's wrong, it's their responsibility to report it as fairly as they

Student journalists write articles and editorials on a variety of issues, Mueller said, the students benefit from having the opportunity to do so. "Anyone can write fluff."

RENEE LEVAY, assistant sports editor at the Perspective, was on her way to cover a volleyball game when she heard about the decision.

"It was just so upsetting," said Levay, a 12th grader at Plymouth Salem High.

The Plymouth-Canton community is more sophisticated than some others and censorship hasn't been a problem on the Perspective, she Levay attended a press seminar at Bowling Green State University in Ohio. Other student journalists at the seminar said they weren't able to deal with sensitive issues in their publications.

Levay doesn't believe the Plymouth-Canton administration will change its ways following the Supreme Court decision

Karen Phillippi, business editor at the Perspective, agreed the decision's local impact will be minimal Other student newspapers could suffer, however, those publications won't attract the good writers who are able and willing to tackle tough subjects

'We'll just have to wait and see what the final ruling is," said Phillippi, a Plymouth Salem 12th grader.

CURT PAVIA, a graphics editor, compared the court's action to putting a hand over the mouth of a crying child to silence him. "I just felt like there wasn't any need for a paper now," said Pavia, a 12th grader at Plymouth Canton. Student newspapers provide a forum to express student views, Pavia said. Those views are typically different from those of adults.

Student newspapers can "stir things up a little bit," he said

"We print some kind of controversial graphics."

He's concerned those graphics could now be subject to censorship.

MIKE ZARETTI, a freshman at Syracuse University in New York, also had some thoughts on the Supreme Court decision. Zaretti, a former Perspective staff member; was visiting student journalists at CEP

"The Perspective was a great experience," he said. Zaretti was angry when he heard about the decision; the court-treated high school journalists as if they know nothing, he said. "The Supreme Court case was very disappointing. It's tough to draw the line, to determine what should and shouldn't be censored.

GOP in turmoil 2 groups of delegates head for state convention

By Wayne Peal staff writer

Wayne County's 2nd district GOP caucuses characterized the division that plagued the state party Thursday - with two separate groups laying claim to legitimacy and the state convention delegates it would bring.

Depending upon which delegates are seated at the upcoming state convention, Livonia Plymouth area Republicans either went heavily for Vice President George Bush or were divided between former television evangelist Pat Robertson and Rep. Jack Kemp:

Going into Thursday's caucuses, the Wayne County portion was considered a swing district that could determine whether the six-county district sent Bush. Robertson or Kemp delegates to the national GOP convention next summer in New Or-

Braced by three consecutive court victories involving a Bush-supported delegate selection process, the vice president's supporters dominated a caucus held in Plymouth Township Hall. They elected 31 delegates who favored Bush and two who favored Rep. Jack Kemp. The Kemp supporters left an anti-Bush coalition that included the bulk of their candidate's supporters.

ANOTHER GROUP, made up of Kemp supporters and those of former television evangelist Pat Robertson, met at the Livonia Holiday Inn West and elected 19 delegates who favored Robertson, 14 favoring

Each side will send its delegates to the state convention, Jan. 29-30, in Grand Rapids.

"I think it's quite obvious that we're the legitimate caucus," said Livonia resident Daniel Piercecchi, who headed up the Plymouth Township meeting. "There's been three court decisions to tell us so.'

The Kemp/Robertson faction said the court rulings, the most recent by U.S. District Judge George Woods, didn't apply to their district. Coalition members said state party rules made their caucus legitimate.

'I had one reporter ask me about our 'rump' convention, and that's not caucus, said he was among the Re-accurate at all," Kemp supporter Elaine Donnelly of Livonia said. The state party rules clearly make ours the legitimate caucus.'

The Kemp/Robertson coalition cited state party rules they said gives each district's executive committee the right to call the caucuses in counties, like Wayne, where there isn't a GOP county chairman. Meanwhile, Bush supporters said court rulings gave caucus-calling power to smaller, local organizations, like the county GOP district committee.

A "rump" caucus or convention involves delegates who walk out of legitimate proceedings to conduct their own business.

Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara's new round of budget cuts could face a rocky reception from the Wayne County Comission this week

Commissioners are scheduled to meet Thursday to discuss $2.6 million in cuts proposed by McNamara.

McNamara said cuts were necessary to balance the county budget because the county hasn't yet received authorization to raise circuit court filing fees, because a new airport parking tax was enacted one month later than originally planned and because the commission added $1.2 million to the county budget

The cuts, however, failed to gain approval during a stormy ways and means committee session Friday

"He's asking us to make these cuts when we don't even know how much new revenue we've received from airport parking and from the cigarette tax increase," commissioner George Cushingberry, D-Detroit said. "He's trying to grab budget authority (from the com-

executive say that, Beard said

Ways and means members neither recommended nor denied the cuts. Instead, they passed them to the full commission without comment. Commissioners have 30 days to produce alternatives or the cuts

While at least eight currently vacant positions would be eliminated. McNamara said there would be no lavoffs.

Among major cuts: , • There would be a $400,000 reduction in money reserved for • There would be a $299,071 cut in sheriff's department services, including a $48,400 cut from the county park patrol. The money was originally authorized by the county commission.

• There would be a $220,000 cut from the county clerk's office from money authorized by the commis-

 There would be a $200,000 cut from mental health services.

McNamara said the mental health cut involves money that would have been used to match a state grant that is expected to be canceled. County mental health said she was aware of state cutbacks but hadn't received word on raising the additional $200,000.

would be eliminated

The county seeks to raising court fees from current, $40 levels to as much as $100. McNamara said The move would produce an estimated $618,800. Raising filing fees would add an estimated $1.5 mil-

McNamara said the state Legislature could allow all 83 counties to raise their filing fees or merely allow Wayne County to do so. We don't care how they do it,"

Also pending in Lansing is legis-lation that would allow the state Legislature and governor to monitor finances of financially-plagued counties and communities.

We feel this is a much better system than receivership," state Sen. R. Robert Geake, R-Northville, said

The legislation is backed by Senate Majority Leader John Engler, R-Mount Pleasant

"It's 'tie-barred' to the other legislation," McNamara said Theoretically, if it went down, we could lose the other things we sought, but that's not likely.

Innitally, McNamara considered a $2:8 million budget cut, but said board director Angela Kennedy' he would ask commissioners to sell county property in Dearborn to

How does one account for Henry Utley's uncomplimentary view of the Indians he saw in the 1840s with the favorable reports of Markham and Holbrook of the Indians they saw in the 1820s? In 1833, three years before Utley was born, the Potawatomies had agreed by treaty to move from Michigan to lands west of the Mississippi. Perhaps what Utley saw and described as seedy vagabonds was the backwash. The prouder Indians had already moved west in an attempt to reclaim a way of life they had known before the whites arrived

What surprises me is that none of our original sources about Plymouth 150 years ago said anything about books or the Bible. Yet, what surprised de Tocqueville when he visited American dwellings in 1831, was the literacy of the inhabitants. There is hardly a pioneer's hut that does not contain a few odd volumes of Shakespeare," he wrote. "I remember that I read the feudal drama of Henry V for the first time in a log cabin

Spaghetti and sauce to sample

The history of pasta is almost as tangled as a bowl of vermicelli Many authorities credit Marco Polo with bringing the noodle from China to Italy I can handle that, but it was my friend Chef Boyardee who really discovered what a good, thick rich sauce

did for those gossamer ribbons In most culinary circles, it is more important to be aware of how you twirl the spaghetti around your fork than from whence it came (By the way, true Italians laugh when they see us use a spoon for fork twirling) Practitioners of the noble art of pasta devouring claim it's all in the wrist

In this country, our version of pasta has been drowned in a sea of tomato sauce. Only recently have we begun to appreciate the dazzling choice of sauces that accompany pasta abroad. One of the best ways to explore some of these lesser-known sauces and adornments is to give what the Romans call "una spaghettata," a biq spaghetti bash. If you know several people whose palates are prepared for a lusty adventure, invite them for an evening featuring perfectly cooked pasta with a sampler of sauces.

You probably know someone who runs in marathons. What better food for them to enjoy than something high in carbohydrates. A few of my fitness junkie friends have actually laid claim to eating a bowl of pasta for breakfast the day of the run for added "good carbos" (whatever they might be).

A CHEF WHOSE home was in Florence, Italy, tried once to describe to me the proper way to test spaghetti for' doneness. "It must be cooked 'al dente' or to a 'soft chewiness,' but the only way I can describe it is when you throw strands of pasta against the wall - and they stick. If they fall down, it isn't cooked. If they stick - bellisimo"

Naturally, I thought that was his idea of a little joke. Can you imagine what his walls looked like? One evening, after preparing a platter of profound perciatelli (small pierced pasta twice as thick as spaghetti but hollow like macaroni) and downing a few liters of Chianti with friends, we tried it and it really did work.

Of course, it was a good three minutes of trying that my dog (Jack, the Wonderdog) truly enjoyed because he got to eat the stuff that was still a little too "al dente."

A word of advice, though. Don't cook the pasta until the very last moment, when all the sauces are ready and you're only a few minutes from announcing dinner. Alway use a large potful of boiling water so the pasta has room to "move" through the pot. This alleviates sticking. Also, if making pasta from scratch, allow yourself plenty of space and lots of red wine.

A word about the cheese to sprinkle with: Forget the green plastic cannister of that so-called "cheese" that has been in the fridge since last May. Try some fresh-grated parmesan. (Can be purchased already grated from the deli.) Well-aged parmesan has a faint golden color and an elusive flavor of nuts.

Romano is white, saltier and sharper, but some prefer it to parmesan. My favorite, asiago, which originated in the provinces, is nuttier and more flavorful than parmesan or romano but very hard to find. Italians never serve cheese with a seafood sauce, but you can load on the cheese if you like — I'll never tell. Bon Postiff who once had a R ham shop and still sells to Birmingham-area clients, said demands change with the suburbs.

Though stores have since been added in Livonia, Farmington, Dearborn Heights, Grosse Pointe and Warren, the Southfield store remains the company's largest. All outlets, except Farmington, have their own bakeries. Though founded by Detroit restaurateur Yvonne Gill, the outlets are now a branch of Farmer Jack. Gill is no longer associated with the Young urban professionals aren't the only ones tapping the gourmet carryout market these days. Empty nest parents are also getting into the act. Postiff said older couples also make up a substantial part of his business.

Yvonne's To Go, a pioneering gourmet outlet chain is specifically targeting older, non-yuppie customers, while trying to hold on to its upscale base.

"I think it started out as a yupple market but we're trying to broaden the appeal," Wesley said.

Mike Hall, executive chef at the Guest Quarters' Atrium Cafe, prepares a dish in the hotel kitchen. His 12-hour workdays leave him little time to spare.

Action!

Atrium chef thrives on long hours

special writer

Mike Hall, 30, doesn't have very much time for conversation. Amidst the stainless steel carts holding rows of fresh breads, the white-coated master sculpts a 400pound block of ice into a lavishly crafted swan, later to become the centerpiece for the afternoon buffet.

Trays of fresh melons need stuffing, vegetables need to be marinated and the chronic ringing of the phone needs to be answered.

Hall, executive chef of Guest Quarters' Atrium Cafe in Troy, says his work - often consuming 12 hours a day - is strenuous, but he thrives on the challenge.

"You have to do what it takes," he says, taking a second to wipe his brow. "You have to take pride in the work you do and go that extra mile." "I'm perfectly happy at being a chef. It takes dedication, long hours and commitment."

A Waterford native, Hall earned his chef's degree at Schoolcraft College's Culinary Arts School in Livo-nia. His talents have graced the kitchens of Truffles in West Bloomfield and Jacques in Bingham Farms.' Since March, Hall has brought the world of fine dining to the tables of the Atrium Cafe. Hall's award-winning culinary talents have taken him to plush resorts like Lake Tahoe's Harrah Hotel Casino and the Greenbrier Hotel in West Virginia.

HE WON A BRONZE medal in the 1986 Great Lakes Hotel and Restaurant Show, but for now Hall said he is pleased to be back home.

He clears his way through the aisles of dessert trays to finish placing an order for fresh produce. With the luncheon rush almost winding down, Hall has to revive himself and his staff for the dinner crowd that will soon pack the dining room.

Each chef is unique, he says, and a good one can "take his trade any-

The key to a chef effectively exercising his talents, though, is to being able to adjust to the kitchen he's working in. "You have to apply situations to certain restrictions," he says. It's dealing with limitations (of food costs and kitchen sizes), that turns a good chef into a good mai ger, he believes.

Even though pasta isn't that high in fat, try substituting spaghetti squash for the pasta noodles. Cook the whole spaghetti squash in the inicrowave until it feels like a deflated football. Remove the noodles "Toss with melted margarine. If you don't have a microwave, spaghetti squash can be boiled or baked to perfection.

Yuppies love carryouts of gourmet specialties

GOURMET MEALS can cost as little as $3 per person - roughly equivalent to a Big Mac, fries and a milkshake - or can run two to three times that much

Schoolcraft College, Livonia, added a new wrinkle with the Professor's Pantry, its budget gourmet

Only open to the public 2-3 30 p.m. weekdays, the shop serves up low-priced gourmet meals, prime rib and pot roast, and several different types of bread and baked goods. Meals cost between $1.50-$3.75 and are prepared by Schoolcraft students

PLANNING YOUR FUTURE — TODAY

Ah Retirement

As it approaches, the wear, worker relishes the knowledge that alarms will no longer ring, bosses will no longer glare and life will be sublime. But somewhere between the gold watch goodbye luncheon and the golf-filled days, retirement may lose its luster without proper preparation

REPS (pre-Retirement Educational Planning Service, Inc.) and The Quadrant Group, Inc., leaders in pre-Retirement Planning are offering a series of Mini pre-Retirement Planning Programs in the Area. The first two are scheduled for Feb. 23rd, 1988. The first starts at 9 a.m. till noon and the second 6:30 p.m. till 9:30 p.m. Both are being held at 1205 E. Big Beaver, Troy, MI 48003. The following subjects will be covered:

• Life Style Planning

· Personal Financial Planning · Being Healthy/Wellness

Interpersonal Relations

· Living Arrangements

• Leisure Time/Work Options-Summation

These programs are from the NCOA (National Council on the Aging, Inc.) Program, and condensed into the 3 Hour Mini Program. 340 People from American Motors recently took this program, and thoroughly enjoyed it.

This is open to companies who feel they cannot afford the 6 week course or small organizations who just want their older personnel to have SOME preparation for one of the most important events in any person's life — Retirement.

The price is $75 per employee. This includes a spouse or the person with whom-you

Herbs and spices bring magic to mealtime

a really happy one, add a little magic to your meals

Resolve to familiarize yourself with these 22 common herbs and spices. Learn their traditional witchcraft purposes and effects.

Enter them in your own grimoire (witch's recipe book), and use them in your everyday cooking

Practice adding them to every can of tomato soup you open. Drop them into cookies and cakes. Hide them in pizzas, tacos, hamburgers and salads that seem so unwitch-like.

The results will amaze you (Important note Because a little is good, it does not necessarily follow that a lot is better. Aiways remember that seasoning should enhance, not overpower. Don't use so much garlic that you can't taste the shrimp

Purpose and effect: 1. To ward off evil. 2. To encourage a marriage proposal

How to use in cooking. Try anise seeds in cookies, cakes, breads and cottage or cream cheese. Add a few fresh stalks or roots of anise to soups or stews. Do this at the last minute, since they cook very fast.

You can even use them with canned or instant soups. Experiment Add chopped fresh anise leaves to the water when boiling shrimp, lobster or crab. Try steeping one teaspoon of anise seed in one pint of brandy for an interesting and useful liquor.

BALM

Purpose and effect 1. To renew youth, vim and vigor, 2. To relieve the doldrums

How to use in cooking Balm may be used in soups or stews, with fish, or in salads. It's also good in poultry stuffing. Use it as a tea or as a garnish for white wine.

BASIL Purpose and effect: 1. To clear the head, 2. To settle the nerves.

How to use in cooking: Basil is very good used with tomatoes, eggs. cheese and curries.

BORAGE

Purpose and effect. 1. To give one courage, 2. To forget worries.

How to use in cooking. Use the raw leaves in a salad or crush them and use a jigger of borage juice to a glass of orange juice, lemonade or wine. Add the juice when cooking grapes, apples or strawberries or homemade jelly.

CARAWAY

Purpose and effect. To keep lovers from straying.

How to use in cooking: Use the seeds with vegetables - especially potatoes and cabbage. Bake caraway in bread or add to baked apples.

CORIANDER

Purpose and effect: 1. To promote romance, 2. To encourage thrift.

How to use in cooking: Add fresh coriander to green vegetables when cooking. Use the ground seeds in breads, rolls, gingerbread and cookies. Try using to season roast pork. CARDAMON

Purpose and effect: To inspire romance and passion.

Doctors Invent 'Lazy Way' to Lose Weight

New 'Fat Magnet' Diet Pill Guarantees Fast Weight Loss

BEVERLY HILLS, CA (Special) An amazing new weight loss pill called 'fat-magnet' has recently been developed and perfected by two prominent doctors at a world famous hospital in Los Angeles that reportedly "guarantees" that you will easily lose fat by simply taking their tested and proven new pill.
No Dieting—Eat Normally

Best of all, "you can continue to eat all of your favorite foods and you don't have to change your normal eating habits. You will start losing fat from the very first day, until you achieve the ideal weight and figure you desire."

There has never been anything like it before. It is a totally new major medical breakthrough for weight loss (worldwide patent pending)

Flushes Fet Out of Body The new pill is appropriately called the "fat-magnet" pill because it breaks into thousands of particles, each acting like a tiny magnet, "attracting" and trapping many times its size in fat parti-cles. Then, all that trapped fat is naturally "flushed" right out of your body because it cannot be digested

Within 2 days you will notice a change in the color of your stool as the fat particles are being eliminated

"Pills Do All the Work" According to the doctors, the fatmagnet pills do all the work while you quickly lose fat with no starvation diet menus to follow, no calorie counting, no exercising, and no hunger pangs. It is 100% safe. You simply take the pills with a glass of water before meals.

The fat-magnet pills have just been offered to the American public and are already sweeping the country with record sales and reports of dramatic weight loss. It's the "lazy way" to lose weight for people who enjoy eating.

Now Available to Public If you need to lose 20, 50, 100 pounds or more, you can order your suppl of these new highly successful fatmagnet pills (now available from the doctor's exclusive manufacturer by mail or phone order only) by sending $20 for a 90 pill supply (+$2 handling), or $35 for a 180 pill supply (+$3 handling), cash, check or money order to: Pat-Magnet, 9016 Wilshire Blvd., Dept. MEDICATION SCHEDULES

How should you schedule your arthritis medications? If you are on cortisone, you should take your total daily dose at one time, in the morning. If you take cortisone during the day or at night, the medication interferes with body signals that normally start the adrenai gland to produce this necessary substance. If such interference continues over time, the adrenal gland can lose its ability to make body cortisone in time of need.

You should take the drug penicillamine on an empty stomach. This medicine is best absorbed in an acid environment, ideally provided by the stomach early in the morning before breakfast. In contrast, it is best to take aspirin and similar anti-inflammatory drugs, during or after meals. These medicines cause breaks in the coating that protects the stomach against its own acid. Food absorbs stomach acid, and compensates for damage to the coating caused by the medication.

Different arthritis therapies have the same purpose: stopping inflammation. But each medicine has different requirements if it is to be most effective while producing the least side effects.

A pasty is a delicious meal of meats and vegetables, wrapped in a light, flaky crust.

The pasty originated in Cornwall, England, and was brought to America by the iron ore and copper miners of Michigan's Upper Peninsula. They found the pasty to be "A complete meal in itself."

Miss Basketball

Salem's Dena Head wins state's top individual award

BILL BRESLER/staff photographer

Dena Head joins an elite list of girls to have won the "Miss Basketball" award, designating her as the best high school player in the state for the 1987 season. The Plymouth Salem star is the seventh athlete to be so honored. Recent winners include Franthea Price of River Rouge and Daedra Charles of Detroit DePorres.

staff writer

If you asked anyone familiar with girls basketball to name the best high school player in Michigan last season, Dena Head was usually the first person mentioned. The Plymouth Salem senior was officially recognized as such when she was crowned "Miss Basketball" during an awards ceremony Saturday at Lansing's Radisson Hotel.

'It's a great way to end my high school career, and it's something I'll be able to look back on in years to come," Head said.

From the start of the 1987 season, she was thought to be the favorite to win the award, and that assumption held up when she was voted No. 1 by members of the Michigan High School Basketball Coaches Associa-

"I've felt for two years now she is as good a player as there is in the state," said a "delighted" Salem coach Fred Thomann. "To be recognized by the coaches as the best player is a tremendous honor.'

HEAD FINISHED ahead of such other stars of the girls game as La-Tonya Tate of Class A champion Detroit Cass Tech, Birmingham Marian's Kathy Phillips and Marlene Ferguson of Detroit M.L. King.

The MHSBCA asked that vote totals not be released, but the order of finish went as follows: Head, Tate, Phillips, Mimi Harris (Flint Powers). Ferguson, Cathie Vos (Grand Rapids Christian), Marie Williams (Flint Beecher), Erica Thomas (Newaygo), Lisa Rathmun (Cadillac) and Missy O'Mara (Lake Odessa Lakewood).

Despite the consensus opinion that Head was the odds-on favorite to win the award, she wasn't going to take anything for granted. That others may have considered Head the frontrunner didn't take any of the surprise out of winning the award

"In all honesty, I thought there was a lot of competition," she said. "It was not just mine (to win). There were four or five people who earned the right to be Miss Basketball.

"LaTonya Tate had a great season and couldn't have ended it any better," she said of the player whose team defeated Salem in the Class A semifinals.

"SINCE I DIDN'T expect to win it, I was very much surprised when I did," Head added. "Some people may find that hard to believe, but I find it to be very true." Head starred for the Rocks in four straight seasons, and her name has been known around the state since she burst onto the high school scene as a freshman in 1984.

She capped her outstanding career by averaging 28.6 points and leading Dena Head is one of the few girls to score more than 2,000 career points.

Salem to a 25-2 record and the state semifinals for the second year in a

Though she is one of an elite group of girls to have scored more than 2,000 career points, scoring was certainly not the only thing Head did well on the basketball court. As a senior, she accumulated totals in exess of 350 rebounds 150 steals 175 assists and 75 blocked shots.

Head was a four-year starter for the Rocks and earned all-league honors each time. With each passing year, her role as the team leader became more obvious. She began her career averaging 101/2 points as a freshman, 151/2 the next season and 251/2 in her junior year.

IN HIS LENGTHY tenure as a coach of boys teams at Willow Run and Salem before assuming the girls coaching position, Thomann has won many championships, including a state title at Willow Run in the late 1960s, but having a player singled out for such an honor is a first for

"We've had all-state players before, but we've never had a player who was honored as the outstanding player of the year," Thomann said.

as a player and the recognition the team has had over the last four years (89-12 during that span) and to cap it off with the Miss Basketball title is phenomenal."

Thomann coached three all-staters in the boys game while at Willow Run and four more when he moved over to Salem. A special place is reserved for Head in the girls game, however.

"All of them were outstanding players in their time," said Thomann of the great male athletes he has coached, "but, for sure, at the female level, you can say she's unquestionably the best to come through our program.

"YOU'RE TALKING about 4 to 5 other (female) all-state players, but she's the best, for sure," he added.

The thought of winning the coveted individual award occurred to Head when she was as freshman, but that goal eventually took a back seat in succeeding years as the Rocks enjoyed much team success and annually were rated among the best in Class A.

"The Miss Basketball award was in the back of my mind, but it wasn't something that was always on my mind," she said. "My freshman year it was a goal I set out to achieve, but after that I took things in stride.

'It ends things, for me, on a positive note since my teammates and 1 were not able to accomplish the state championship as we had wanted. All in all, it's a great way to end things.

Head is not an overly emotional person, as she describes herself, but even she had to contain her enthusiasm after being told by Thomann she had won the award since the official announcement was to be made at Saturday's presentation.

"THERE WAS AN inner sense of being happy, but I couldn't express as I wanted to everyone

I would have liked to," Head said. 'It's been kind of difficult. I've just been going about my daily business, putting it in the back of my mind and waiting for it to be announced.'

Head's parents, Jim and Jackie, and her 12-year-old brother, James, knew in advance, of course. But it was difficult for a proud father to remain silent, too.

'When I told my dad, he was rather excited," Head said. "But he knew he couldn't show that emotion, because it had to be a low-key thing (until Saturday).'

Head, who also stands out in the classroom where she carries a high grade-point average, will have much to reflect on in later years when she

Smith lifts Rocks to victory

By Dan O'Meara staff writer

Keith Smith was a late arrival to the secondhalf fireworks Friday night at Plymouth Salem. North Farmington's basketball team wished he had stayed on the bench where he sat with four fouls until late in the game. Instead, the 6-foot-4 senior ended up being the life of the party as he sparked the Rocks to a strong finish and a 69-60 win over the Raiders in Lakes Division play. Smith missed three quarters of the third period and half of the fourth, during which time North rallied from a 12-point halftime deficit to trail by only two points, 54-52. He played a decisive role as he scored six of Salem's first eight points in the last quarter to get the Rocks, who had been stuck in neutral, rolling again.

"HE'S A LEADER on the team; he's our catalyst," Salem coach Bob Brodie said. "He's the horse we have to have; he sparks us.

When he went back in the game, the other kids picked their heads up. And he did a good job of staying in the game." The Rocks were scoreless in the fourth quarter until Smith sank a free throw at 4:00, but John

Kurt Dudek, who paced the North scoring with 17 points, downed a shot from the corner to keep it close (59-56), but Smith, on a power move into the lane, scored off a rebound and converted a three-point play to give Salem a six-point lead with 2:19 remaining.

TODD MARION, who led all scorers with 23 points, was 4-of-4 at the free-throw line down the stretch to help the Rocks end a four-game losing

"We needed a win bad," Brodie said. "We needed to come back here and get one before things all fell apart.

Marion, who was 8-of-9 at the line overall, got 15 of his points in the third quarter, and his hot shooting touch was the major reason Salem enjoyed a 54-42 lead going into the finale.

But the Raiders, who have struggled to put their game together in the early season and slipped to 2-5 overall, made a comeback and strong bid to win the game.

North outscored the Rocks 10-0 in the first half of the fourth period, and Dudek had six of those points, including the two that brought the Raiders to within 54-52 on a shot from the baseline.

"I THINK WE played hard in the second half," North coach Tom Negoshian said. "It's the type game if you play hard good things happen.

'We were lethargic, we were standing around in the first half. When you start playing hard, it makes you aggressive in all phases of the game." Negoshian added he thought the game was still up for grabs with 11/2 minutes to play. The Raiders were only down four, 64-60, but Pat Rzepecki sank a layup and Marion and Hale combined to make three foul shots to decide it.

end, and we lost our momentum and our gas," Negoshian said. Sophomore guard Matt Hoffman added 15 points for North, and Shelton and Bill Green had 10 apiece. Smith and Hale finished with 11 points

THE LATTER had eight of those points early in the second quarter as the Rocks opened up a 10-point lead that remained in tact until the Raiders made their fourth-quarter charge. "One of our goals was to control the ball better on offense," Brodie said. "In the first half, we did that very well. "But then we went back to the same style that got us in trouble the last few games, turning the ball over and shooting the ball too quickly. We weren't making (North) play any defense. "But, again, we came back, held our poise and came through to win the game," he added.

The Rocks also accomplished their victory with a depleted roster. M.J. Ewald required surgery to repair a broken nose, Jeff Elliott has a broken arm and Bill Anderson is sidelined with mononucleosis.

"WE'RE PLAYING so many players and getting so much experience I see us getting better and better as the season goes along," Brodie said. Negoshian didn't have a victory to help prop up his emotions, but his team's resiliency was a positive indicator. "It's a hard thing to do, but we need to sustain that ability to play hard," he said. "We just need to get to where we're playing hard for more than

Since when isita crime turn 183

Of course turning 18 isn't a crime at all. However, turning 18 without registering with Selective Service is.

That's why we need your help. We need parents to tell their sons to register with Selective Service within a month of turning 18. And we need teachers, friends, employers and others who can influence these young men to reinforce the message.

Why? Because, for one reason, it's the law. But in addition to risking prosecution by not registering, your son or young friend is disqualifying himself from eligibility for federal student loans, federal employment and job training programs.

America's future security depends upon today's young men registering with Selective Service on time. Having a complete registration list saves our country six vital weeks in mobilizing its manpower should Congress ever declare a national emergency. All of today's 18-year-olds and all of tomorrow's 18-year-olds must be informed about the registration requirement. You can help. Ask a young man you know if he is registered.

Two minutes later SC was back in front, but the Lady Ocelots were never really in command. Their lead. was never more than the final mar-

Debbie Georgevich canned six-ofseven floor shots and scored 14 points for SC. Michelle Dyksinski was the Lady Ocelots' top scorer (15) and rebounder (16), including 12 points and 13 boards in the first half. Denise Kokowicz added 12 points 10 coming in the final 10 minutes.

Penny Kroll's 20 points paced St. Clair. The Lady Ocelots, who have now won five straight, play at Delta Wednesday.

THE SC MEN weren't as fortunate at St. Clair Wednesday. They had a chance to win - several, in fact - but failed to cash in on any and eventually lost in overtime, 89-

"We were up nine in the second half and proceeded to blow it," Ocelot coach Dave Bogataj said. 'We weren't forcing shots, we just couldn't shoot. We hit 37 percent (from the floor) for the game. We didn't shoot free throws well, either

SC led 75-69. St. Clair guard Jim Patton streaked past Ryan Williams for a layup, and Williams fouled him. Patton converted the free throw to cut the lead to three Andy Stephens was fouled on SC's next possession, but he missed both free throws.

After St. Clair scored to cut the lead to one, Ladion Tait got a basket with 19 seconds left to boost the Ocelot lead back to three.

Bogataj called time out to instruct his crew to play the three-point shot and give up the drive to the basket. But Patton got loose anyway and launched an uncontested 25-footer that dropped through to tie it at 77.

Ten seconds still remained; and Bogataj wanted Steve Hawley to take the final shot. Hawley was surrounded but still managed to get a shot off that missed.

Three other Ocelots - Tait, Williams and Brad Ridgeway - each got putbacks but couldn't get them to drop.

The overtime belonged to St. Clair, which was winless entering the game. Patton finished with 24 points; Hawley topped SC with 32. Mark Claiborne added 24, Tait had 12 and Ridgeway scored 10.

SC dipped to 0-6 in the Eastern Conference and 6-10 overall. St. Clair is 1-13 overall, 1-5 in the con-With 50 seconds left in regulation, ference. SC hosts Delta Wednesday.

"Almost every person who thinks about starting a family today is faced with staggering obstacles: emotional ambivalence, uncertain marriages, career complications, money problems, inadequate living space and concern for children from previous marriages," said Dr. Joseph Bellina, adviser to the Child and Human Development Council of the National Institutes of Health.

Bellina, who also is director of the Omega Institute, a New Orleans women's hospital specializing in infertility, is quoted by author Josleen Wilson in "The Pre-Pregnancy Planner."

"The growing complexity of modern life, of changing male and female roles and shifting family structures means that childbirth is no longer an automatic goal of marriage," Bellina said.

FINANCES are the biggest concern of expectant couples, said those who work with today's parents-

You're smart to plan ahead on this one! You can overdose on all those glistening tables of food just by looking at the pictures.

Make a battle plan that focuses on all the fun you will have, and all the good, repeat good, eating you will do. Don't focus on what you won't eat becau all of us fatties do the same thing when we feel deprived: we eat.

The main thing you learned as you lost 30 pounds was how to choose certain foods. Cruise ships offer you lots of choices. Your job is not to choose everything they offer.

All of which Shoemaker, a devout Objectivist, isn't afraid to sing about He says he just wants to present an alternative view.

Want opinions? Figure 4 lead singer and rhythm guitarist fires them off in machine gun fashion, both on and off the music stage. Where do you want to start? How about the '60s revival of late?

"If you notice, everybody's into being a hippie again," said Shoemaker, 27, blowing the smoke from his Marlboro in disgust "It's ridiculous. That was a totally wasted decade. Even the music was crap, except for the Beatles and maybe the Yardbirds. Even Elvis went coun-

About being a flag toter "I consider myself a patriot. I love America with a passion I can't explain. I couldn't live in the Soviet Union."

All right. So now it's known from what side of the street Figure 4

In the era of the socially conscious musician, such as U2, John Cougar Mellencamp and Bruce Springsteen, Figure 4 has the sidewalk to itself.

The group's very conservative views are oil on the water of what's being proclaimed by today's peaceand-love-and-let's-relive-the-'60sagain musicians. But like today's groups, Figure 4 can articulate its message in a clear and high-volume fashion

"It's not fashionable for us to do this," admitted Shoemaker, who lives in Troy. "Listen to the radio weren't political when they started out all of a sudden are."

FIGURE 4 was political from day one. The band was formed a year ago as a vehicle for Shoemaker to express his views.

No stranger to the Detroit music scene, Shoemaker was lead singer in a punk band, The Plugs, in the late 1970s: The nucleus of the that band, Rich Lovsin, Greg Apro and Mike Halloran, went on to form Rhythm

And it was at Rhythm Corps show a year ago where Shoemaker ran into Fred Schaller. They decided to start up Figure 4.

, The inspiration for the band's lyrical content came by turning the ra-

While driving one day, Shoemaker happened to listen to Mark Scott's call-in radio show.

"At first, I thought he was a jerk," Shoemaker said, "because he was saying something which went totally against what I was led to believe was true.

THE CONTROVERSIAL radio show host often referred to the literary works of Ayn Rand and her Objectivist philosophy.

Objectivism, in a nutshell, espouses the virtues of capitalism and "rational selfishness" in order to achieve one's goals.

On a whim, Shoemaker picked up one of Rand's novels, "Atlas Shrugged," and read it.

"When I put it down, I was never the same again," Shoemaker said. "John Galt (the main character in "Atlas Shrugged") is my hero."

Shoemaker even penned a tribute to the fictional fellow, "This is John Galt Speaking." The number is on a three-song demo tape. Also on the same tape is "Man in the Mirror," which will be on the soon-to-be released "Digital Detroit" compilation compact disc.

IN THE CREATIVE department, Shoemaker writes the lyrics and lead guitarist Fred Schaller handles the music. According to the band's leader, there's little disagreement.

"The band is like a bus ride," Shoemaker said. "Everybody's invited along, but I drive. And (the other band members) know that."

In the quest of putting forth a message, Figure 4 has found it has a hot sounding band as well. The hard rocking melodies puts even more of an edge in what Shoemaker has to

"I feel we have to take a hard stance nowadays," said Schaller, who lives in Royal Oak. "There are so many passive bands out there. And the ones who do have something to say, we don't agree with."

Band members know there are plenty of people who don't agree with them - the group is staunchly anti-drug and anti-drink. Shoemaker just shrugs.

"I'm not trying to be a preacher," he said. "I hate that. I'm just telling my side. If they don't like it, they can go buy a hot dog or something."

MUSICAL NOTES

The Detroit rock'n'roll community was out in full force recently for a benefit concert at St. Andrew's Hall in Detroit

The show raised nearly $3,000 for the family of an infant who has a' rare blood disease. The money will be used for transportation costs involved with taking the child to and from St. Jude Hospital in Memphis. Tenn., for medical treatment.

More than 600 people attended the benefit show that featured Before Or After, Scott Campbell, Funhouse, Jugglers & Thieves, Junk Monkeys, New Barbituates, Tanjent Image, Polish Muslims and Hippodrome. Greg St. James of WRIF-FM was the Hippodrome, minus regular drummer Doyle Dean, was a lastminute replacement for The Colors. The group's lead singer, Charlie Manion, was out with the flu.

SO WITH Scott Campbell on drums, Hippodrome opened the festivities with a few rousing numbers. 'They (Hippodrome) said, 'What the heck, let's be brave," said Campbell, who coordinated the event.

Hippodrome lead singer and guitarist, Chris Richards of Livonia, set the tone for the night as he hopped and bopped through the short set.

Then, Last Cavalry put the party mood into full gear as it blasted its way through a few tumbleweed thrash numbers. Lead singer Terry Burns, as he is known to do, wandered from the stage and onto the dance floor to incite the crowd during one number.

And speaking of Last Cavalry, the group will ride no more.

According to Burns, Last Cavalry will perform its last show Friday, Jan. 22, at Paycheck's in Hamtramck Burns said he and some other members felt the band had grown stagnant playing the same country-fortified rock'n'roll.

WE WERE blowing opportunities left and right," Burns added, "because nobody wanted to work hard enough to do what was necessary to take advantage of what was coming our way. One missed opportunity, in particular was the band's winning of the Snickers New Music Contest last fall at St. Andrew's Hall. As a result, the group was supposed to send an audition tape to Epic Records. However, they couldn't get into the studio because of an outstanding_ debt, so an inferior demo tape was sent. The Smithereens were signed to a record deal after winning a similar contest a year ago. "That was my breaking point,"

Burns said. "I told everybody last spring that I wanted to be signed by a record company by Christmas or it was time to get out.' Funhouse has decided to get out and record some tracks at Creative Audio Group in Rochester Hills. Steve "Skeen" Lueders said the alburn should be out in the spring.

"There's going to be a lot of variety," Lueders said: "It starts off with some slower top 40 numbers and ends up heavy

Heavy is a good way to describe the Orange Roughies reception recently in Grand Rapids. The group performed with Under Water Rain to a rather large and appreciative crowd at the Nubeat Club.

For the most part, the four-member Detroit group succeeds. There is a lot of promise on Beer on the Penguin's "Hold On . .n" "Pictures" is one such song which

Ditto can be said for the title track "Hold On."

Yet, at times, one gets the feeling this band is too preoccupied in search of the big hit. As a result, some of the lyrical content tends to border on the trite at times. There are references to holding on to one's dreams in more than one song, all subjects well-covered by millions of other bands.

"Hold On" and "Always Seems the Same" almost are repeats in lyrical subject matter.

One doesn't really see the extent of musical talent of this band until the final number, "She." This is a gem almost worth buying the album is one of the hallmarks of Beer on the Penguin's sound, lets loose and experiments on "She." The results are excellent. Akerley takes a harder stance vocally, at times passionately screaming the lyrics. You really get a feel-letting it's hair down and showing the real Beer on the Penguin. It would be interesting to see what this band could do with some more

Cary Marsh, whose echoing guitar

INFORMATION

And just when you thought it was safe to turn on the radio again . . .

Like Jason in the "Friday the 13th" movie series, this band will not go away. Understand, Foreigner is not a bad band, mind you, not at all. In fact, one could grow to like Lou Gramm's well-honed vocals and the hard rocking sound the group has been producing since the 1970s.

But therein lies the problem.

This latest stuff suffers from an acute case of sameness. Foreigner sounds like it did in 1970s. Which, come to think of it, wasn't really all that hot either.

Innovative? The peanut butter sandwich is more innovative than the music in this album. Adventuresome? Walking to the corner store is more adventuresome than this album.

Original? Muzak would be considered more original than this album.

Sure there are some bright spots on "Inside Information." Listen to Gramm croon on the slow moving, "I Don't Want To Live Without You," and you just know he's destined to make a solo career of doing love songs for high schoolers to neck to.

"Say You Will," which has received a fair amount of air play, isn't a half-bad number either.

But complimenting a few of the songs on this predictable album is tantament to admiring the brass bells on the Titanic when it was sink-they were cheap elastic. Game Theory experiments like a bunch of chemists gone mad on "Lolita Nation." The results are diverse and favorable.

Game Theory is a relatively unknown band. Yet, it still shows enough moxie to put out a doublealbum. And, this, by no means, is a waste of vinyl. Oh sure, there are some really weird tunes in here that miss the mark entirely. The first side of the album has a few of them.

"Lolita Nation" could be the alburn of the year just on song titles alone. Included is "All Clockwork And No Bodily Fluids Makes Hal A Dull Metal Humbert" and "In Heaven Every Elephant Baby Wants To Be So Full of Sting." The numbers with shorter titles are notch above the standard fare from most pop rock outfits. "The Real Sheila" and "Chardonnay" are excellent offerings. Also included on the album is menagerie of song bits and sound effects. One goes so far as having a vacuum cleaner running at full

The best sound effects, though, are the ones provided by Game Theory itself. First, Donnette Thayer's vocal ability gives Belinda Carlisle and others of her ilk a run for their money. Scott Miller, who is the songwriter for the band, shares the vocal responsibility with equal tal-

Lenore Paxton and Philip Siadi get together for a musical ses- ny, A Deaux Music, they wrote and produced the sound track sion in her Birmingham home. Partners in a production compa- for the film "Suite Harry."

Music partners write film score

By Rob McCabe

Success usually doesn't come easily, and in the arts it's even more difficult because of the tremendous competition involved.

In music, for example, there are so many talented musicians out there it often takes years for them to become recognized by the public. Take, for example, the case of Lenore Paxton and Phillip Siadi: These two accomplished musicians have been in the music field for a number of years. They have their production company, "A Deux Music," which produces records and film soundtracks, and they are proud of their latest effort. They wrote and produced the soundtrack for a new film called "Suite Harry."

The movie was shot entirely in metropolitan Detroit, primarily at Orchestra Hall, Meadow Brook, and on the streets and alleys of Detroit.

We had a super premiere for it about three months ago and had six or seven hundred people who attended," says Paxton.

LOCAL TV viewers and film lovers may watch "Suite Harry" on Tuesday at 10:30 p.m. and 3:30 a.m. score," says Paxton. on WTVS Channel 56.

Directed, written and produced by David Stern, a Southfield filmmaker, "Suite Harry" tells the story of a down-and-out cellist who learns to overcome his obstacles through the -support of a college student who believes in his talents. The score written for guitar and synthesizer was recorded at Paxton's home and at a local studio. This is our first film score, and how we came to be involved in this project is that we answered an ad. This is also my first experience with guitar the Computer Age in doing this film

BOTH PAXTON and Siadi are pleased with the results of their collaborative efforts and plan to do more soundtracks in the future. What makes this soundtrack score unique is that it is the first time classical music has been extensively reproduced with a synthesizer and

A computer is used along with

Paxton's synthesizer, enabling her to record numerous sounds onto discs and then have them replayed and mixed through the computer.

Recurring themes by J.S. Bach and Luigi Bocherini are also used in the score and were transposed by Paxton. The project took a little more than a year to complete. The duo is at work recording the soundtrack, which is destined for release

Street Scene gourmands find:

It looks like and smells like the real thing. But the big question is: How does microwave popcorn rate in taste against the real thing?

staff writer

Remember Jiffy Pop?

Everyone would crowd around the stove to see if the aluminum top would really puff up as big as it looked on TV.

Sometimes it did; sometimes it didn't.

Well, forget about crowding around the stove. The microwave oven's the place to be these days. Flat-as-pancake bags puff up before your very eyes in four minutes or less - depending on your oven. No mess. No fuss.

Oh, sure, say the gourmands. Go ahead and ruin a good thing. Take away the the clutter of dirty pots and pans. Take away the savory aroma and crackling sounds of the kernels popping.

Ah, say microwave aficionados, remember the saying, "You can't judge a book by its cover." Well, the same goes for microwave popcorn. You can't judge the product until you've tried it.

Enter the Street Scene gourmet panel - a hand-picked crew of popcorn lovers who put their taste buds to the test in picking the creme de la creme of microwave popcorn.

No expense was spared for this test. Only the best Dixie cups and fresh water to cleanse the palate between tastings - seven, to be exact. THE SUBJECTS of their discriminating palates were whatever the supermarket shelf had to offer -Planters Premium Select Mi-crowave Popcorn, TV Time Microwave Gourmet Popcorn, Newman's (as in "Cool Hand Luke") Own Oldstyle Picture Show Microwave Popcorn, Pop Secret Microwave Popcorn, Orville Redenbacher's Microwave Popping Corn, Pillsbury Microwave Popcorn and Act II Microwave Popcorn.

THE RATING system was simple - taste the popcorn and score it on a scale of one to five - one being the worst (or the bag would taste better) and five the best (all that's missing is the movie).

Top of the heap was Orville's concoction. The gourmands gave it a total of 28 points out of a possible score of 30. Only one panelist rated it a three (it'll do in a pinch).

Orville's was "pretty good," "tastes like popcorn and not too salty" and "just enough of everything - butter, salt - and not too crun-chy." (We haven't had the beart to tell him that it was Orville's natural style - no synthetic butter in-

"It's the Rolls Royce of popcorn; hope the movie's a double feature,'

POW!

There's a lot to be said for microwave popcorn

one gourmand said

The lone wolf (there's one in every crowd) found it "kind of soft." His pick for the best - Planters - ended up second in the judging with a score of 25 points.

One gourmand found it would go good with beer because of its salty taste, while another said it was "the most like real popcorn."

"Bright, young, yet not too immature," another said. "But too ephemeral both in taste and texture. Always a bridesmaid . . ." Translation: It'll do in a pinch.

A distant third place went to Pop Secret, which amassed just 18 points. It rated comments like "a certain indescribable character; a long shot but coming on strong," "good but spoiled by a slight aftertaste," and "bland except for the salt."

"IT TASTED like the salt was added to cover up something else," the taste tester said.

A close fourth was Act II, which finished with 17 points. Probably the lowest priced of the microwave popcorns sampled, it was about average in the opinion of the panel.

Like Pop Secret the panel found it had an aftertaste, flat, bland and too chewy. But one panelist found it "light, airy and fluffy and had a true popcorn taste."

Paul Newman may be a star, but his popcorn was less than stellar, according to the panel. Ranking fifth, it racked up 16 points and comments like "cardboard flavor and texture,"
"I wonder if Paul eats this stuff" and

"boring." The sixth- and seventh-place finishers ended up in single digits for scores. TV Time was sixth with seven points while Pillsbury came in seventh with five points.

In the estimation of the panel, TV Time has direct connections with an oil well. The bag offered an extra half ounce of popcorn, but even that couldn't mask the excess amount of

"IT HAS more grease than a '50s hairstyle," one gourmand said. "I'd rate it a two (good to hang on the Christmas tree), but it'd probably slide off the tree."

As for Pillsbury, that was a butof less than one from two panelists.
One could not write a "yech" before the pen slithered out of his greasy hand. ter-flavored brand that got a rating

One gave it a two - the popcorn was light and fluffy but butter flavor had a rancid aftertaste.

The panel had to admit that while microwave popcorn is convenient, it has a way to go to catch up with the real thing, which is cheaper than the $1.66 to $2.69 price for the microwave versions.

January holds furniture values

URRY — don't walk — run to Jacobson's Store for home furnishings January is the month for bargains I saw lovely linens for the dining room and bedroom on sale I have been looking for formal placemats easy care—no laundering. My "good" dinnerware is Royal Crown Darby, a white bone China with a decorative gold border. While the place mats I found were not sale priced, they are a bargain because they so suit the purpose. They are made of vinyl. The color is gold and the design is ribbed. Quite stunning. I chose the shell shape. They are available in oval and fan-shaped. They also come in silver as well as the gold. They are priced at $6 each. The napkin holders I found are silver and gold. The combination is great looking.

I have always enjoyed browsing in Jacobson's furniture department. Baker Furniture and Henredon are well represented. They also carry Sherrill Furniture. This line is a favorite for upholstered pieces. Sherrill has a wide range of fine fabrics or they will use what is called "C.O.M." (Customer's Own Material.) Their craftmanship takes

There are a number of "one-of-a-kind" pieces on the floor that are tremendous values. A highboy with a bonnet top is priced on sale at $1.595. The highboy is a versatile number.

Daily irritants block productivity

Q. I have lots of unimportant things that need to be done but since they are not essential to my goals, I try to spend my time doing more constructive things. These little things are realy adding up, however, and bothering me a lot.

A As life continues to gain momentum, you are smart to organize your activities around your goals. May I suggest, however, that perhaps one of your unwritten goals is "Peace of mind." Since it's difficult to maintain peace of mind with a host of nettles prickling you, my first suggestion is to set aside regular catch-up times just for handling low priority tasks.

Secondly, realize that most people don't have as many little tasks to do as they think Instead, they may be seeing the same To Do's over and over again, each time being reminded of what seems to be another chore Every time they see one of these reminders — say a leaky faucet — they snap their fingers and mumble, "I've got to take care of that" Because it seems to be a low priority task, however, they go on their way, seeing it but not doing anything about

If you notice the same faucet four times a day, you have had four reminders of something to do. Now suppose you have five To Do's: The faucet, a messy desk, a chair to be upholstered, a stack of unread periodicals and merchandise to be returned to a store.

If you see each of these five To Do's four times each day, you have had 20 reminders of something to do. Unless you make it a practice to write down all of your To Do's, you are probably too close to be objective You don't realize that the irritants have multiplied and you think you actually have 20 different things to do, instead of only five. Suddenly you feel overwhelmed.

As I will be discussing in my Goal Power seminar this week, not only do irritants multiply, they may also hinder other productivity. A person will say, "Just as soon as I (do this) —, I'll — (do that) — ". (fill in the blanks — i.e. do research/ write a report; get the house organized/ find a job; redecorate/ entertain; read book/ return it, etc.)

You may be amazed to find that by removing just a few of these irritants, you will feel you have much less to do.

READERS: I am doing research on the chain effects of irritants at home and work and want to hear about those which affect you. I would like to know: (1) What are your irritants? (2) How do they affect your organization and productivity? (By writing out your problems, solutions may occur to you spontaneously in the process.)

I will send a complimentary copy of my "36 Hot Tips" organizing booklet, which normally sells for $3 to the first 20 readers who send the above information with a long self-addressed envelope. Address your replies to: Dorothy Lehmkuhl, Organizing Techniques, $165 Worlington, Birmingham 48010. (Do it now!).

Cove ceiling, oak doors and trim are throughout the 440square-foot airy living room (right) that has an expanse of windows at one end. The dining area (below) is off to one end of the living room area. A mirrored wall adds an illusionary dimension to the area. Models will be on display at an open house at the end of

Residential getaway

By Ingrid Tomey

AN YOU IMAGINE waking up in the morning and looking at that?" asks Sylvia Stern, marketing coordinator of Glen Oaks apartment development in Novi. Sterns sweeps her arm across the wall of windows in the sun balcony of one of the apartments. "That's all lakes and woods down there. Isn't it amazing?"

Stern's question is not just promotional hype. The view out the windows of this 90-unit development could be from a cabin in northern Michigan woods. Nestled among 16 acres of spring fed lakes and trees, complete with ducks and the promise of wildflowers and catails under the snow, Glen Oaks is surely the commuter's answer to a residental getaway.

that doesn't really leave civilization behind.

For example, a different view from the bedroom window discloses a Lord and Taylor store just down the way, along with 150 other stores that comprise Twelve Oak Mall.

LIVING WITHIN walking distance of your favorite fishing hole and a large mall are just two of the numerous amenities of Glen Oaks, according to Stern. The three towers, each holding 30 apartments, are connected to each other and to a full provisioned health club (pool, whirlpool, sauna, exercise equipment), by means of a above-ground walkways.

"You never have to go outside," said Stern, "not even for your car." Cars are housed either beneath the towers or in attached garages. There is also a helipad for the long distance commuter.

Walking through the 440-square foot living room, Stern points out the cove ceiling, the oak doors and trim throughout, a kitchen with 30— she counts them— cabinets, and a long sweep of counter. Besides two bedrooms, two baths and a neat little utility room, there is a cozy den wich is attached to the living room by means of a large archway. The 2,300-square-foot apartment, with its dining, living and kitchen areas flowing into each other, gives the illusion of wide open space. "People move here from 8,000-square-foot homes and they love it," said Stern. "It feels roomy."

ANOTHER APPEALING feature of Glen Oaks is its 24-hour manned security. It is not possible to enter the tall, iron gates at the entrance without first pushing a buzzer and identifying yourself to the security guard at the other end — in the lobby. Security maintains four cameras which over the outside grounds, keeping track of all arrivals and departures. Not only that, but residents can watch their own guests arriving in the lobby on a special cable TV channel.

"That way," Stern said laughingly, "if you see that they are dressed nicer than you are, you can change quick."

Apartments in Glen Oaks begin at $1,100 a month and go up to $1,400 according to the view. (In spite of the mall, most people still opt for the ducks and the lake.) There are also 12 completely furnished apartments — "right down to the toaster and coffeepot" — which rent for $2,000 a month, or Stern can arrange to have one decorated to your liking. The model, which houses her office, is done with taupe carpeting throughout, lots of glass and brass and a creamy sectional in the living room.

During the weekend of Jan. 30-31, Glen Oaks is holding an open house from noon to 5 p.m. with wine and hors d'oeuvres during which time models can be viewed.
