Public hearing set on new city budget

By Doug Funke staff writer

Plymouth city commissioners have taken their whacks at the 1988-89 municipal budget proposed by city manager Henry Graper.

Now, taxpayers will have their chance at public hearing scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Monday at city hall, 201 S. Main.

A slightly revised spending plan calling for general fund expenditures and revenues of $5.7 million resulted from a budget workshop last week involving city commissioners and administrators

A tax rate of $17.05 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation (half of a property's market value) has been proposed. Even though that tax rate is lower than the current rate, residential tax bills would increase by about 6 percent on average due to an increase in property values.

CITY SERVICES would continue at the same level as last year, Graper said. Major budget revenue projections in-

- Property taxes $3 million.
- State shared revenues $896,000. · Administration fees, including accounting charge-backs from local water and sewer accounts, reimbursement from the downtown development authority and state gas and weight taxes - $505,000.

- Recreation/cultural center user fees
- Loan proceeds $220,000. • District court fines - $120,000.
- MAJOR expenditure projections include:

· Administration, including loan disbursements, fringe benefits for all municipal employees, accounting charge-backs for administrative services, and the city manager's office - $1.4 million.

- Police department $997,000.
- Department of public services $965,000
- Cultural center/recreation department - $782,000.
- Fire department $437,000. Maintenance of city property —

A copy of the budget as now proposed is available for public inspection in the Dunning-Hough Library, 223 S. Main, during business hours. The city commission likely will adopt the

'88-89 budget at its May 2 meeting. The budget year begins July 1.

TRADITIONALLY, few people attend or comment during public hearings on the

"I think they trust us, they trust the city commission they elected," Graper said. 'Services are good. I think they realize that. You're going to pay more for services. Prices are going up.

Water, sewer project on tap for township

By Doug Funke staff writer

Plymouth Township public works officials have prepared a six-year capital spending plan that would pump $3.2 million into local water and sewer systems and a new DPW storage building.

The township board already has given the go-ahead to four of the seven projects proposed for this year.

Those are:

 A water main along Ridge Road from Joy to Ann Arbor Road $160,000.

• A meter pit and pressure reducing station at Joy and Ridge $65,000.

· Piping and valve work at the meter pit connection - $16,000. • A 675-foot sanitary sewer line along Five Mile Road west of Lake-

ACQUISITION of land and construction of a DPW storage building at an estimated cost of $690,000 also are on the drawing board for this year but have yet to be approved.

So, too, is installation of a 900-foot water main along Joy east of Ridge to service a new subdivision planned for that area.

School budget studied

By Doug Funke staff writer

Every time Plymouth-Canton school administrators get updated information while putting together a budget for the 1988-89 academic year, the financial picture gets bleaker and bleaker.

That's the word from Raymond Hoedel, associate superintendent for Hoedel and his staff were busy grinding out numbers earlier this week preparing for a school board workshop on the budget scheduled for 6:15 p.m. Thursday. It could be a lengthy meeting.

In addition to looking at spending cuts that could exceed $3 million, the school board probably will decide whether to ask taxpayers for more money one more time before implementing the cuts.

THE STUDY SESSION will take place in the board offices at 454 Harvey in downtown Plymouth.

The board already has authorized layoff notices to 74 teachers. That would reduce the payroll next year by $1.8 million, said Norm Kee, assistant superintendent for employee relations.. Last month, administrators presented an '88-89 spending plan calling for cuts of $4.7 million from cur-

A seminarith at St. John Provincial Seminary in Plymouth Township faces trial on sex charges involving a 15-year-old boy.

Joseph Shawnee Skelton Jr., 25, of Detroit was arraigned April 11 in Plymouth's 35th District Court on one count of third degree criminal sexual conduct. The warrant cited oral sex in the

A plea of not guilty was entered by Judge John McDonald and Skelton was released on $15,000 personal bond.

Accompanied by his father, Skelton voluntarily turned himself in to police after an investigation began, said Chip Snyder, Plymouth Township deputy police chief.

A PRELIMINARY examination to determine if there is enough evidence to hold a trial was waived by Skelton. The Wayne Circuit Court trial date has not been set.

Seminarian charged with sex offense

"The person in question resigned from the semi-nary early (in the investigation) until the matter is resolved," said the Rev. Robert Byrne, St. John

Police said the alleged incident occurred in late March in the seminary dormitory.

The seminarian reportedly drove the boy home,

Snyder said. That's when the mother noticed the boy was upeet and asked what was wrong, he said. Once the matter is resolved we can look at the situation again depending on the outcome," said

Byrne responding to a question on whether the seminarian will return to priesthood preparation. The 40-year-old seminary on Five Mile just east of Sheldon will close this summer.

SKELTON HAD TWO more years of study as a seminarian before he would be considered for priesthood, Byrne said. It takes at least five years of study in a seminary after receiving a bachelor's degree before a candidate is considered for priesthood, he added.

"We have such a lengthy period of preparation to give people a lot of time for us to look them over and for them to know themselves better," Byrne said.

He said the long preparation period is important because it gives the individuals and those evaluating them time to learn about personalities.

Parents like tuition plan, but still have questions

staff writer

Area residents who recently be came new parents say they support the spirit of a new state program that allows parents to invest now for college tuitions in 18 years.

But before investing in such a program, they first want certain questions answered

The Michigan Education Trust Fund, the first program of its kind in the country, allows a fixed investment of $6,400 to be put into a trust the state. The investment guarantees full tuition at a Michigan college or university

"What happens if a child decides not to go to school? Or decides to go out of state? Or worse, can't get into a college. What happens to the money then?" asked Diane Hanson of Canton, who became a new mother in February

Daniel Guglielmo of Plymouth. who became a new father in January, questions whether he could earn more on his money by investing it

"If I put the same amount in a high-interest bearing account. I wonder what I would have in 18 years. timated at $2,283 annually. That's the heart of the matter," Guglielmo said

THE PROGRAM, proposed by Gov. James Blanchard, was approved by the Internal Revenue Service in March. Details of the program have not yet been completed so certain questions, such as those posed by Hanson and Guglielmo, have no sure answers.

Still, the program's concept is of great interest to both.

When Hanson gave birth to Leah fund that is pooled and invested by Marie in February, it was her sixth child in eight years, "real blessings," Hanson said, because she suffered from infertility for years before becoming pregnant the first time.

Both Hanson and her husband. Barton, are graduates of Western Michigan University. The couple wants each of their children to have an opportunity to attend college. They put aside money for tuition in a stock program offered by Burton's employer, Detroit Diesel.

It isn't nearly enough." Diane Hanson said, estimating they must save a minimum of $60,000 based on the average cost of today's university tuition. In Michigan, the cost is es-

The program is basically a good idea. It's a way to help save money. But it reminds me of a pre-arranged marriage. What if a kid doesn't want to go to college?" Hanson asked.

For Guglielmo, an engineer with Ford Motor Co., the bottom line is

"I CAN'T help but be skeptical about a state program. The rules could change with the stroke of a pen. Initially, I'm just not willing to invest $6,400 with the state," he said. He and his wife, Deborah, a nursing graduate from the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor, became the parents of a second son, Robert Daniel, in January.

Both are investing money for college. She has invested in a savings account for each child and he has created some tax-efficient savings on his own.

"Each boy has several thousand dollars, although Billy (nearly two years) has more than Robby because he's older," Guglielmo said.

In fact, parents can invest safely and efficiently on their own, according to Bill Jordan, who specializes in annuity investments with Shearson Lehman Hutton in Plymouth.

The Plymouth-Canton Community Schools has developed a written policy on civil rights after state auditors criticized the district's previously informal practices.

S'craft seeks more growth

More commercial development could be added on Schoolcraft College's western Livonia campus.

Schoolcraft trustees are considering developing an additional 735 college-owned acres in the 1-275/ Haggerty area.

The property is less than a quarter mile south of Seven Mile Crossing, the college's first public/private development.

Seven Mile Crossing, developed in conjunction with Duke Associates of Indianapolis, recorded another milestone this week when ground was cleared for a second office building. The 15.6-acre development will eventually contain at least two office buildings, a restaurant and a hotel or third office building, a Duke spokesman said.

DEVELOPMENT ON the additional 735 acres is at "a very, very preliminary stage," said Kenneth Lindner, Lindner, a former Schoolcraft vice president is overseeing development on the college's be-

As many as five additional office buildings could be built, he said, but development plans haven't yet been adopted. "Everything's in the talking stage right now," Lindner said. We haven't even approached the city about it because we don't have all our information in line.'

Preliminary studies, Lindner added, have shown that one building could be built along Haggerty, four others along 1-275.

Schoolcraft trustees authorized Lindner to meet with Duke Associates this week to discuss the additional development. A contract between the college and developer could be signed next month, he

ANY CONTRACT would be subject to trustees' approval. Schoolcraft would also need rezoning approval from the city before development could begin.

A public hearing on the development was held last week. Among those attending was John White, executive director of the Livonia Chamber of Commerce.

"It should help the people of Livonia by adding something to the tax rolls," White said. "I think the property will be developed carefully, they'll phase it in."

Duke officials downplayed this week's meeting. "We've been meeting a lot with Schoolcraft people," Ernest Maddock. "Especially because Seven Mile Crossing is ahead of schedule."

About half the space in the first building has been leased, Maddock said. The four-building development is expected to be completed in 1990, he added to a young crowd," Maddock said. "And because Duke is going to be holding on to the property, we can wait to get the kind of restaurant

Lawmakers fight for police school

Western Wayne County legislators say they will continue to work with law enforcement officials to establish a regional police officers training facility in Garden City.

The Western Wayne County Police Chiefs Association wants a regional training academy at the Schoolcraft College Radcliff Center in Garden

However, the Michigan Law Enforcement Officers Training Council has a moratorium on new academies because of funding problems, which have resulted in understaffing, according to state Sen. William Faust.

Faust said that western Wayne County and downriver lawmakers along with college officials and law enforcement officers believe this academy could be achieved by shifting resource to the western Wayne location

We definitely need this kind of facility in our area to enhance the ability of western Wayne County and downriver police departments to attract and train high-quality recruits in a timely fashion. This is important to the department's increased efforts to fight crime." Faust said. He pointed out that the western Wayne and downriver area is one of the most populous in the state, and its lack of a police officers training academy prohibits participation and

County begins health program

Wayne County has launched the beginning of Phase I of a new indigent health care program.

Under the preadmission review program, the county hopes to gain control over its costs for indigent health care by requiring hospitals to verify a person's county eligibility and obtain county approval prior to admission. The county expects to save up to $2 million.

"For the first time, we will be able to monitor our costs and review hospital bills before they are paid," county Executive Edward McNamara said. "No longer will the county be billed after the patient is discharged. This program will end the confusion over who is eligible and who is not, and who is going to pay the bills."

THE PREADMISSION review program is the first step toward the complete reorganization of the county's indigent health care program, which is slated to begin in October 1988. This reorganization plan was made possible by the legislation that was passed in Lansing last Decem-

Under this new system, county officials expect to save a considerable amount of money, monitor the costs of the program, collect important information concerning the types of patients and kinds of ailments requiring care, and be able to estimate

Inkster plant adds pollution controls

Wayne County is expected to improve as new emissions controls are installed at an Inkster waste treat-

Air quality in parts of western tation of a housekeeping program at the plant.

The program is precedent-setting because it includes controls on emissions of toxic chemicals, said Alan Greenberg, air pollution division director.

The division filed a complaint in November, charging Environmental Waste Control should be closed because air monitoring revealed it was emitting benzene, chloroform and trichloloethene — three potentially cancer-causing compounds, according to division records.

Nearby residents blamed the plant for runny eyes, nosebleeds, nausea and other ailments, the division reported.

The plant processes waste oil and reats hazardous waste.

Plymouth Y director to leave post

When Janet Luce began as director of the Plymouth Community Family Y, she had little time to settle into the job.

When I started we had one small room, one desk, one file cabinet and no programming." Luce said. "They told me to have a program in two weeks. I worked day and night and got a program out."

Now, 14 years later, Luce has called it quits as executive director of the Y. She is getting married next week and moving to Flint. Her last day on the job is Friday.

"We have gone from a budget of $27,000 to one of $150,000," Luce said. "Each year we have grown. and progressed. We've done a fantastic job considering we don't have a building."

Handling the day-to-day pressures associated with work as an executive director was one of the most enjoyable aspects of the job.

"THE FUN of pulling things together, making things happen - I iked that deadline pressure.

The lack of a facility to house the karate, gymnastics, aerobics and other programs has been her biggest disappointment

State bond issue vote split along party lines

Area lawmakers split along party lines as the state House of Representatives gave 68 to 36 approval to the spending outline of an $800 million bond issue

The fly in Gov. James Blanchard's ointment is a provision to use part of the money for "economic development

"It's unthinkable that we pass an economic development provision but fail to provide meaningful guidelines for spending those funds," said Rep. W.V. (Sandy) Brotherton, R-Farmington "The governor wants to use Surprisingly, many people don't real ize that Michigan Lottery revenues help the state's public schools. The following addresses that issue.

Q: What happens to Lottery revenues?

A: Since 1981, revenues from all Michigan Lottery games have been earmarked for the state School Aid Fund to help support kindergarten-12th grade

Q: How much does the Lottery contribute?

A: To date, the Lottery has provided approximately $2.9 billion to the state In the last fiscal year, the Lottery's contribution exceeded $407 million.

Q: Why haven't my taxes gone down as a result of the Lottery contribution?

A: The annual state budget for support of elementary and secondary education is continually increasing. So, while your taxes may not have decreased, maintaining the same level of education funding without Lottery revenues during the past two years alone would have cost the average Michigan household another $250 more in the form of direct taxes.

Q: Does the Lottery provide this money to the individual schools?

A: No. Lottery revenues are turned over to the Michigan Department of Education for distribution to individual school districts according to terms of the School Aid Formula developed by the legislature. Thus, the Lottery has no control over, or exact knowledge of, how its contribution might figure in allocations to individual school districts.

Q: On what does the Department of Education base its allocation of these dollars?

A: According to the department, allocation of the School Aid Fund is based on local support for education. School disich have a high local tax base are considered to be "out of formula" and receive a lesser share of funding than districts with lower tax bases. So aid per pupil and per school varies throughout the state.

Q: Who should I contact if I want more information on my school's share of the fund?

A: For more information on your area, you can contact your local school board office or write to the Michigan State Board of Education, 608 W. Allegan, P.O. Box 30008, Lansing, MI 48909

A SECOND BILL, placing the bond issue before voters, also must be passed. It will require a twothirds vote - 74 House votes and 26 in the Senate.

But lawmakers fear the partisan debate may doom efforts to win public support for the ballot measure Nov. 8

Observer & Eccentric area lawmakers voting yes were Democrats Justine Barns of Westland. John Bennett of Redford, Maxine Berman of Southfield, William Keith of Garden City, James Kosteva of Canton and Wilfred Webb of Hazel

Opposed were Republicans Brotherton, Lyn Bankes of Livonia, Mat Dunaskiss of Lake Orion, David Honigman of West Bloomfield, Gerald Law of Plymouth, Judith Miller of Birmingham and Gordon Sparks

The bill received 60 Democratic and eight Republican yes votes. All 36 no votes were cast by Republi-Brotherton said the bond revenues should be spent on pollution cleanup and prevention rather than providing "government-designated subsidies to a few, politically advantaged businesses.

IN A BITTER debate, House Speaker Gary Owen suggested one

Observer area lawmakers voting yes were Democrats Justine Barns of Westland, John Bennett of Redford, William Keith of Garden City and James Kosteva of Canton. Opposed were Republicans Lyn Bankes of Livonia and Gerald Law of Plymouth. The bill received 60 Democratic and eight Republican yes votes.

All 36 no votes were cast by Republicans.

Republican was guilty of racism.

Republicans unsuccessfully tried to remove $125 million for economic development projects from the proposal, which focuses most of the money on environmental cleanup solid waste disposal and recreation projects.

We are never going to eliminate political influence on state spending, but I think we have a responsibility to eliminate the potential for abuse. said Rep. Ken Sikkema, R-Grandville, who sought to use the economic development funds for pollution cleanup.

"I believe this proposal is balanced and addresses the infrastructure needs as much as one can in a multi-faceted bond proposal," replied Owen, D-Ypsilanti.

REPUBLICANS questioned whether the Blanchard Administration could be trusted with such a large pool of economic development funds

We've had a recent example in this town of the administration's economic development with a close friend of the governor getting a $20 million contract for a state building to lease to the state when it's acknowledged the state can build it for $12 million," said Rep Donald Van Singel, R-Grant.

Van Singel was referring to a 20year. $24.5 million contract won by Blanchard friend and supporter Joel Ferguson and Sam Eyde, two Lansing developers, to build a 113,864square foot, five-story building to house the Lottery Bureau and Department of Corrections. The state Administrative Board approved the contract on Nov. 17, 1987

Shelby Solomon, director of the ed to this story

state Department of Managemen and Budget which signed the contract has admitted the state could have built the building for $12 million, but said there was no available source of revenue to finance such a project

Owen prompted cries of protest from Republicans when he suggested Van Singel was objecting because Ferguson is black

Relative to the building that the (minority) floor leader is referring to. I think his concern might be more that it's a black person got the building rather than the fact that if may be anything else." Owen said, insisting there was nothing wrong with the way the contract was handled.

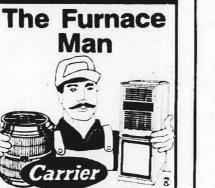

Van Singel later said he was offended by Owen's comments.

THE HOUSE voted 97-6 to prevent any of the funds to be used for casino gambling in Detroit

And it adopted a separate amendment preventing any of the money being used for the renovation of Tiger Stadium

But because the two amendments were submitted improperly the votes will have to be repeated next week said the bill's sponsor, Rep. Michael Griffin D-Jackson

Local lawmakers support bill to protect shipwrecks

Here's how area members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes in the week ending April 15. HOUSE

PROTECT SHIPWRECKS - By a vote of 340 for and 64 against, the House passed and sent to the White House a bill (S 858) to protect valuable shipwrecks from random encroachment by sport divers, commercial salvagers and archeologists.

The bill assigns states title to historic shipwrecks submerged within three miles of shore or embedded in coral reefs. It gives states power to control access and determine allocation of any discovered treasure. Federal courts could no longer assert jurisdiction under admiralty law.

Between 5 and 10 percent of the estimated 50,000 abandoned shipwrecks off U.S. shores are thought to be of significant historic or commercial value.

Supporter Walter Jones, D-N.C., said "only states can balance the legitimate interests of all groups interested in shipwrecks Opponent Jack Fields, R-Texas, said "the real goal of this legislation is to severely restrict, if not prohibit,

Members voting yes wanted state rather than admiralty law to determine access to certain historic shipwrecks. Voting yes was Carl Pursell, R-2, Dennis Hertel, D-14, William Ford, D-15, Sander Levin, D-17, and William Broomfield, R-18.

ACCESS TO WRECKS - By a vote of 134 for and 268 against, the House rejected an amendment to S 858 (above) requiring states to allow sport divers and commercial salvagers access to shipwrecks under state

Sponsor Norman Shumway, R-Calif., said that without his amendment states would "throw a wet blanket on the private sector incentive to go out and discover

Opponent Jack Brooks, D-Texas, called the amendment redundant because the legislation already assured states would provide "reasonable access" to their Members voting yes wanted the bill to contain strict guarantees of private access to state-owned shipwrecks. Voting yes was Broomfield. Voting no were Pursell,

SENATE

MEXICO AND DRUGS - By a vote of 63 for and 27 against, the Senate approved and sent to the House a resolution (SJ Res 268) ordering a cut in U.S. foreign aid and other economic benefits to Mexico on grounds Mexico is lagging in support of American anti-drug efforts.

The vote nullifies a recent administraton certification that Mexico is "fully cooperating" with the war on drugs and thus eligible for full American aid.

Sponsor Pete Wilson, R-Calif., called the State Department's certification "a travesty . . . that should get a Pulitzer Prize for euphemism."

Opponent Alan Simpson, R-Wyo., said the resolution would impair our relations with Mexico, further hampering the ability of the Drug Enforcement Administration to operate efficiently in Mexico."

Senators voting yes wanted to penalize Mexico for its reported failings in the war aganst drugs. Carl Levin voted no, and Donald Riegle voted yes.

BUDGET RESOLUTION - By a vote of 69 for and 26 against, the Senate approved a fiscal 1989 budget calling for $1.1 trillion in total federal spending, no new taxes, an annual deficit of $136 billion, defense spending of $294 billion and non-entitlement domestic spending of $185 billion.

Senators put the fiscal blueprint in violation of the 1987 "budget summit" accord between Capitol Hill and the White House, by adding $2.6 billion to anti-drug programs. The two branches must revise their agreement if the money is to be appropriated.

Another controversial feature of the budget plan (S Con Res 113) is its use of administration economic projections that are much more optimistic than those of congress's own budget office. The Senate's $136 billion deficit would be $172 billion using congressional projec-

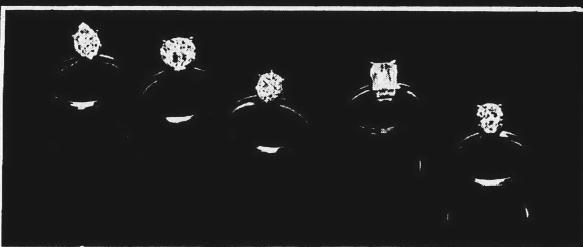

Senators voting yes favored the budget blueprint. Levin voted no and Riegle voted yes.

Tax abatements may be a less popular business-attraction tool these days. But local communities have hardly abandoned abatements. While several western Wayne communities granted no new industrial tax breaks last year, others continued to use them. And while some communities are looking at ways to tighten future tax breaks, few have ruled out using them alto-

All local communities have used tax breaks in the past, some to assist new businesses, others to help renovate existing firms.

But while tax breaks were commonly granted statewide during the 1979-83 recession, they're generally granted less frequently now.

Detroit recently blocked a tax abatement sought for the General Motors Poletown Assembly Plant. Orion Township has also sued to halt additional abatements on its sevenyear-old GM plant.

Locally, Redford Township, Garden City and Plymouth granted no new tax abatements last year.

"WE'VE GRANTED only two overall - one for GM Diesel Allison, the other for a Beech-Daly project - the last about three years ago," said Redford Township Treasurer Robert Brang Jr.

Plymouth has granted 21 abatements, most under a now-abandoned state law for commercial properties.

The city has also granted five abatements for industrial projects, and officials would consider granting others, treasurer Kenneth Way

'On one hand, everyone wants to see economic growth. The question is whether abatements make a community more desirable for an investor.'

"I think they'd still be willing to listen to a request, but it would have to be a quality project," Way said.

Garden City has granted 18 abatements, all but four for industrial projects. The city has tightened its criteria to meet new state guidelines, clerk Ronald Showalter said.

The state Legislature created industrial abatements in 1974 and added commercial abatements five years later. Both programs sought to expand the state tax base and provide jobs, but state and local officials began to lose faith in them afeter surveys revealed tax breaks ranked below other factors in determining new plant sites. The remaining industrial abatements slice new businesses' property taxes in half or freeze tax rates at current levels for redeveloping businesses. Abatements can last up to 12

School districts have been ambigu-

Westland, which granted eight of its 32 abatements last year, is among the communities retaining faith in them. City officials, however, are looking at ways to streamline the application process

We want to simplify the process and to make sure the city will receive some benefit from the business that's applying," economic development director Tim Schroeder

All but two are for industrial projects, Mayor Robert Bennett said.

"Generally, we try to tie the length of the abatement, in some rough way, to the benefit to the city," Bennett said. "Those bringing more jobs get a longer abatement than those bringing fewer jobs."

Plymouth and Canton townships also continued to grant abatements last year. Plymouth Township granted two, increasing its overall total to 22. Canton granted four, giving it 15 abatements since 1982.

Pets of the week

Petunia, a black and white rabbit, and Annie, a Labrador/spaniel puppy, need homes. Petunia (Control No. 223967) was found five days ago near Wick Road in Taylor. Annie (Control No. 224044) is an eight-monthold stray. To adopt these pets, call the Westland Kindness Center of the Michigan Humane Society, 721-7300. The center is at 37255 Marquette, Westland.

Working together makes sense

→OMETIMES THE SIMPLEST ideas make the most sense, both economic and intel-

David Artley, president of the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education, has proposed a meeting with other governmental officials to discuss common problems and concerns.

This idea of getting together with the people who spend your tax dollars is sound.

And while this meeting may not solve all of the oncerns, it is a step in the right direction.

Artley said it best when he indicated the intent if the meeting was to accomplish goals for the greater community The purpose of the meeting is to sit down and talk about joint interests," Artley said about the Wednesday. May 4, meeting. "It's not a matter of debating and deciding. It's a matter of looking for common direction.

Some sort of cooperative recreational effort involving the schools and local government is a natural. The schools have some excellent recreational facilities and sites but are busy with their main role of educating students.

Cities and townships have the knowledge and employees to put on the programs but often lack the facilities. Why spend the money for park land and recreational facilities when the schools have those items available ready to be tapped?

Artley said it best when he indicated the intent of the meeting was to accomplish goals for the 'greater community.'

When these different groups work together, residents of all ages benefit.

BUT WORKING together has not always been

Disagreements about land and recreational use, for example, have strained relations between the schools and Plymouth Township.

The debate concerns school-owned land next to Plymouth Township Park. The district wants to hold on to it while the township would like the land to expand the park

That disagreement just illustrates the need for even more discussion and review.

Besides the joint recreation authority, the agenda for this meeting includes discussion of sale and purchase of property, and joint warehouse and purchasing.

The only concern we have about the meeting is the size of the guest list. Inviting all elected officials of the schools, city and townships may hinder discussion.

Perhaps starting out with a smaller group say the top elected officials and/or administrators - would be a better way to go.

Then, once some sort of groundwork has been established, an annual joint meeting of the local elected bodies could be conducted to set policy

But even with that small concern, Artley's idea is an excellent one that should become an integral part of providing services to taxpayers.

Speak out about church

To the editor:

Recently Plymouth residents discovered that Our Lady of Good Counsel Church has begun to purchase residential property in the neighborhood adjacent to the church.

Concerned about the future of their neighborhood, many Plymouth homeowners met with OLGC's pastor and lay representatives to discuss the manner in which the property was purchased and the purposes for which it would be used. Plymouth residents and OLGC parishioners may find OLGC's posture at the meeting very revealing, if not dis-

The meeting began with a prayer for guidance led by the OLGC pastor and observations about mutual understanding and OLGC wanting to be a "good neighbor." From the point of view of OLGC's neighbors, the tenor and substance of the "dialogue" which followed were very disappointing.

As part of his introductory remarks, the OLGC pastor confirmed that OLGC had purchased property on Arthur Street by presenting itself to the seller as a "corporation" whose "chief executive officer was out of the country." Area homeowners, OLGC's "neighbors," discovered later, by chance, that the corporation in question was the church and the absent CEO was the pastor who was in Rome. This less than forthright purchase of the property was then overshadowed by the pastor's defense of the way OLGC presented itself to the seller as "truth-

OLGC's neighbors were told property was being purchased to meet the needs of the parish. For over one-half hour, area homeowners tried to have these needs identified. We were initially and repeatedly told that OLGC did not know what its needs would be. Later we were told OLGC did not wish to share what its needs were. Finally after considerable time and repeated questioning, OLGC indicated needs for additional parking and office space.

Many of OGLC's neighboring homeowners expressed great con-cern about the impact which the destruction of homes, the spread of asphalt parking, and the conversion of homes to offices, would have upon the quality of life and property values in their neighborhood. The adamant response of OLGC was that the church has "a right to purchase property" and grow, and that it will Soon the pastor reminded "OLGC's neighbors" that he had agreed to meet for one hour and time was was up. When one OLGC neighbor requested another meeting within a few weeks, the pastor responded that he would take it "under advisement."

As they came away from the meeting, area homeowners, OLGC's 'neighbors," knew they were, in fact, dealing with a corporation, not a church and certainly not a "good neighbor," and with a very determined CEO.

OLGC's neighboring homeowners need the assistance of all Plymouth residents and OLGC parishioners if we are to save our neighborhood of homes from the corporation. Please voice your concern to OLGC and the Plymouth City Council. There are alternatives to destroying homes and damaging a neighborhood.

Cut out the 'little extras'

To the Editor:

The Plymouth Canton Schools Administration is trying to intimidate the community by laying off 74 teachers to make up a $1.8 million shortage in next year's budget.

With the threat of the layoffs, the administration is grabbing this community by the throat.

This old math teacher has done some seventh grade arithmetic, using the school's own figures. The budget is about $56 million. They have to cut $2 million out of that.

That is like saying I have a grocery cart with $56 worth of items in it. I find I don't have enough money, and I have to put back $2 worth.

My $2 in cuts should come out of the little extras, not out of the nutritious food.

Those 74 teachers, at about $24,000 each, represent $1,776,00, or 98.6 percent of the cuts.

Come on gentlemen, put back the box of Tony the Tiger. Oatmeal is cheaper and better for thee and me.

For too many years the residents of Oakland County, specifically, and southeastern Michigan, in general, have had to live with a prosecutor whose shotgun-style approach to justice did nothing to improve a volatile crime situation.

An opportunist of the first degree, Patterson jumped on every populist bandwagon in a blatant appeal to the emotional, if not hysterical side of our collective human psyches.

HE ATTACKED problems close to the heart, many times problems of great public concern, but walked away with simplistic solutions that only served to confuse the situation even more. If nothing else, he can always be credited with a knack for grabbing the most attention for issues with little real opposition, all the time pandering to the needs and the wants of both the printed and electronic news media.

Few-times could Brooks Patterson be accused of avoiding the public limelight.

L. Brooks Patterson

His quixotic crusade for capital punishment did nothing more than stir emotions already rubbed raw by the startling crime figures in metropolitan Detroit.

He used the busing issue as a major stepping stone to public prominence. And for those who remember those incendiary years of protest, busing was an issue with few sympathizers and even fewer advocates.

Instead of relying on sound legal advice and past court decisions, he pandered to the public's emotions that only recently had been bruised by a riot of unimaginable proportions.

He jumped into the parole and mandatory sentencing crusade to great applause from the masses. After all, every reasonable person wants dangerous criminals off the street.

But recent studies show that tougher sentencing actually makes the situation worse. Because of crowding, we now have the revolving door type of prison system that Patterson publicly de-do use capital punishment have just as much crime, sometimes more, than the states that haven't availed themselves of the death penalty. And certainly his crusade on X-rated book-

Think before diving into a summer swim

SOME SCENES ARE just haunting, especially haunting if you know you'll see them again.

For some reason the scene flashed into mind one day this week while driving to work.

It happens, then it's a headline, the kind even the hardest of hardcore journalists hate to see. Then it just goes away - for a little while until the next incident.

And everytime it happens, we all say to ourselves "how stupid, how useless. It really didn't have to happen at all."

The scene I remember was etched in my mind a few years back on a beautiful summer day. You know, sun shining, blue sky, hardly a cloud to worry a summer soul.

And, of course, it was the beach. We love our beaches in Michigan.

MY DAUGHTER and I were in the water playing the usual silly games dads and daughters play, splashing, kicking and laughing. Beautiful, nothing could ruin such a wonderful day.

But then the scene, the one you may have experienced. The sunbathers sit up and begin pointing, awakened from their reverie by distant voices of distress.

Soon the throngs gather along the edge of the beach, looking across the lake. A distant boat circles, as another rushes to the area. Two and three swimmers can be seen diving and surfacing like so many porpoises at Someone has drowned. On this particular day it was two people who drowned. The water wasn't very deep. And the victimized frolickers weren't too far from the shore. It seems like with just a few extra strokes they could have walked ashore.

But they didn't.

Soon the sheriff's patrol came and cordoned off the area with bright yellow ribbons, a surrealistic touch to a grizzly scene.

AFTER A fitful hour or so, the summer crowd became restless with the search and began heading back to their beach towels and picnics, the smiling faces of their children and the remaining hours of bright summer sunlight.

The next day they would find the bodies and soon after a headline, with a short story, would appear in the newspaper. If the story broke at the right time with the proper kind of visuals - divers laboring over a limp body - the television stations might give the story 30 seconds.

But soon the story would be nearly forgotten.

I wonder about the families after these few years and wonder how they can reconcile themselves to such needless death.

Every summer it happens. Swimmers drown. You can bet you'll see it or read about it - several

THE PEACE MOVEMENT was born by war shattering the innocence of youth, but it was fed as much by rebellion as by idealism.

When the peace sign - fingers spread in a "V" - flashed between long-haired youths, it was recognition that they both belonged to "The Movement." It was a time for causes and not being part of one became cause for concern.

Let's battle intimidators

OH, NO, I shuddered as I spotted the two trucks hashing new cars on I-

The one ahead of me was hauling Plymouth Sundances - all either black or red. The truck in the lead was hauling sporty Ford products all but one either black or red.

Before telling you why black and red are such grosner colors, I have to bring up a highway subject that most of you are familiar with

INTIMIDATION driving, I call it. The syndrome has several signs:

Most obvious, the intimidation driver follows another car by a quarter of a car length, even at 70 mph. He (or she) edges to the left side of the pavement and tries to loom large in your side-view mirror.

If you ease right, the intimidation driver starts passing before your car is half-way across the white line.

Intimidation drivers often pass on the right, darting in front of other vehicles with less than a half-car length of room. They absolutely never use turn signals to indicate lane changes.

The wildest intimidation driver I ever saw was on I-696 at Orchard Lake Road. He passed me on the right using the exit ramp as a passing lane.

Speeding, tailgating, reckless lane-switching, passing on the right every intimidation driver breaks three or four laws 20 times an hour.

But the odds are that most intimidation driving will be done in black and bright red vehicles

YEARS AGO I learned a good trick Flick on your headlights, and the taffgater will think you hit your brakes and back off It doesn't work any more. The tailgaters of the late 80s are too crafty and too brazen.

A community mourns death

THE NEWS OF SENSELESS KILLINGS fills newspapers every day. But sadly, the impact such tragedies have on many people is over and done with in the time it takes to consume breakfast.

With another day comes another death and another set of family members left behind. There's another paragraph or two in the papers,

These tragedies come in many different forms.

Perhaps a youth is shot to death over a pair of shoes or a silk shirt. Maybe death walks through an apartment door and viciously attacks a trusting nurse.

Many times in recent memory however, death has arrived inside the convenience stores owned by hard-working Chaldeans. Someone comes in for cash or a bottle of wine and blows somebody away.

AGAIN, SOMEBODY is left behind to pick up the pieces of shattered lives.

But the Chaldeans - who adhere to traditional values - aren't the kind of people who pore over murder accounts the same way they do baseball box scores or classified ads in Road between Beck and Ridge in Plymouth Township, will be the site of spring guided walks. The walks are scheduled for 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday, April 23, and for 1-4 p.m. Sunday, May 1.

The spring walks are offered by the Friends of the Miller Woods, a non-profit organization formed to ensure the protection of the woods. The site is owned by the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools

The land was bought by Peter Teeple in 1826, said Emily Kemnitz, a Friends of the Miller Woods board

"It changed hands a number of times." The Miller family owned the land from 1902 until 1968, she said, when it was bought by the school dis-

Families seek a smooth blend

By Ariene Funke special writer

Step-families rarely blend as smoothly as did the characters on the old Brady Bunch television

But hard work, understanding, time and a little luck can smooth the inevitable friction.

That was the message of Troy social worker Ernie Bruce, who counsels troubled families. Bruce spoke during a workshop recently sponsored by the Greater Detroit Cooperative Nursery Council at North Congregational Church, Southfield.

"It takes a lot of muscle," said Bruce, 38, who is married and the father of four children ranging in age from 3-12 years. "You're marrying a package with all the demands that come into play. It isn't something that can be glossed over

BRUCE IS a counselor with the Lamphere school district in Madison Heights. He also is a consultant to the cooperative nursery council and has given talks to the Parents Without Partners group.

"In 60-70 percent of the families I see, there has been a divorce and a reconstituted family," Bruce said. "They come in all shapes and

A blended, or reconstituted family occurs in a marriage where one or both partners have children from a previous union.

On the Brady Bunch, dad (actor Robert Reed) married mom (actress Florence Henderson). Both are good looking. Both are widowed. He has three sons, she has three daughters. They all live happily ever after.

Bruce's workshop was one of about a dozen offered on such topics as effective communication. coping with children's stress, discipline and preparing children for kindergarten.

"DISAPPOINTMENT sets in," Bruce said. "The magic doesn't happen. There is a period of time when you will see kids hope to get their parents back. It's a fantasy.

The kid can't pull if off. "Even if they would remarry, it wouldn't be the same." Bruce's folksy style, laced with humor, made the dozen people in his workshop relaxed and comfortable. Some were birth parents, others step-parents.

They spoke of coping with children who refuse to do school work, wear heavy makeup or exessively funky clothes and who defy house

"If it was wonderful, we wouldn't be here," one woman said. One woman, a step-parent, described herself as an "uninvolvedinvolved party," expected to understand, without being told, her role in her blended family.

ANOTHER expressed feelings of dismay over being cast as a "heavy." A third said she felt "deeply disappointed" when she couldn't feel deep love for her step-

"This kid has a 14-year history that predates you, and always will," Bruce said. "That's a blast of reality. The biological parent has more power, and you're pulling at some strings that wor.'t give." Bill Ogilvie, 28, and his 29-yearold wife Peggy have a "yours, mine and ours" family.

The Ogilvies of Melvidale have been married six month and are expecting their first child in a few months. He has a 6-year-old son from a previous marriage and she has a 5-year-old son.

Although the Ogilvies feel they can form loving bonds with their children, who are very young, there has been some friction over disci-

'The hardest thing has been getting used to them individually and treating them fairly," Peggy Ogil-

ALTHOUGH the partners may have a good relationship, children from a prior marriage can drive a wedge, Bruce said.

"It's the whole family unit that must address the problem, or it isn't going to work," Bruce said.

It may be unrealistic to expect love, but parents and step-parents have the right to have respect and civility.

"Our relationships are shaped by our own interactions," Bruce said. "Love is sacred. You shouldn't give it away too quickly."

Warning that there are no quick, easy answers, Bruce offered some tips to ease the way. The suggestions apply to both biological and

LAST YEAR, the Miller Woods ommittee including Evelyn Edgar, Herb Conant, Bev Dobel, Charlotte Gaffield, Beverly McAninch. Jean Kee. Penny Wright and Doris Chatterley - decided to form the Friends group The group was formed to provide greater protection for the woods.

Miller Woods is a climax forest of beech and maple trees with an assortment of wild flowers and shrubs. So it's going to stay pretty much like this. Kemnitz said.

Among those visiting the site are a number of school children

They love it, they really love it," said Doris Chatterley, a Friends board member. "I think a lot of them have never been out in the woods be-

Emily Kemnitz is among those who serve as guides for the tours.

We do name the flowers, because they like to know what they are," Kemnitz said.

During those nature walks, guides also identify the various trees and shrubs and talk about how plants were used by the Indians in years

In addition to those tours, training is offered for teachers who would like to bring their own student groups out to the site.

We try to encourage the Plymouth teachers with our teacher workshops." Kemnitz said.

IN ADDITION to the Friends of the Miller Woods, others have helpedout at the site. Boy Scouts, including some working on Eagle Scout projects, and garden club members are among those who've donated their time and talents

Chatterley and Kemnitz, both Plymouth Township residents, are among those who'd like to see the Miller Woods site stay as it is.

'Of course. I'm a nature lover.' Chatterley said. She and her husband have tried to teach their children about the importance of preserving means they'll learn to appreciate it, Chatterley said.

As the surrounding area becomes more and more built up, there's a need for sites that stay as they are, the women agreed

That's one of the reasons we'd like to keep it." Chatterley said.

Those active in the Friends organization are hoping area residents will attend the guided walks, scheduled for Saturday, April 23, and Sunday, May 1.

It depends on the weather, Chatterley said. Pleasant weather conditions mean people are more likely to attend.

Those attending the walks at Miller Woods should dress appropriately, walking shoes are recommended.

Every spring, we do the public walks," Kemnitz said. "A lot of people like to come back, and then we get some new ones

The Friends of the Miller Woods group is also seeking new members.

Bruce sees an increased awareness among school officials, which he finds encouraging. Although a step-parent may find the going easier when children are quite young. "that doesn't mean problems aren't going to happen.

'We have become oversensitized about the psychological welfare of children," Bruce added. "Children need love and guidance. They won't let the step-parent get too close. It threatens the relationship with the biological parent."

Volunteers recognized

Volunteers at Plymouth's adult day center were recently honored during a breakfast, held during National Volunteer Week, April 17-23.

Dianne Wilder of Canton, Kay Walker of Plymouth and Walburga Hunt of Plymouth have been with the center since it started operating last year. Wilder and Hunt have talent in the areas of crafts projects and sewing. Walker helps out at the center, and is involved with board games and cards each week.

The center is operated by Plymouth Family Service, affiliated with Child and Family Service of Washtenaw Inc. It is based at St. John's Episcopal Church on Sheldon Road in Plymouth Township. The center provides day care for area older

Other volunteers honored at the breakfast include Gerry Briegel of Redford, Pat Gish of Northville and Bernice Russian of Canton.

The three women have many musical talents. Briegel is a Sweet Adelines member; Russian plays the organ for a local church each Sunday. Gish has worked with seniors for about 20 years, including caring for her mother for more than 10 years.

For more information on volunteering at the center, call 451-1455.

Shop for your birthing center the way you shop for your nursery.

Getting ready for a new baby is a big job. You could spend hours comparing each stroller, looking for just the right crib, or picking out the best carseat. When it comes to the type of birthing experience you want for your baby, you have just as many choices. And you should be just as careful when deciding on a birthing option and a hospital.

That's why Annapolis Hospital invites you to do some "comparative shopping" at our newly renovated Birthing Center. We offer you a natural childbirth in the warm, home-like setting of our new birthing rooms, as well as the traditional delivery room option. Both offer you complete comfort and care.

And small touches, like a gourmet dinner for new parents and liberal visiting hours for siblings and grandparents, will help you celebrate the occasion. Annapolis also offers you a range of prenatal educational programs, from an early pregnancy class, to natural childbirth preparation classes, Take a stroll through our Birthing Center today. The choices we give you are beyond compare.

> For more information or a personalized tour, call the Program Information Center at 467-4570, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., weekdays.

Retiring

Pastor wraps up 27 years at St. Paul

The brown shoes on the Rev. Dr. William Whitledge's feet are comfortably worn.

They would have to be. A shiny, new pair of Oxfords wouldn't exactly fit his on-the-go lifestyle at St. Paul Presbyterian Church U.S.A., where he has been pastor since 1961.

But now Whitledge plans to retire in September, when he and his wife, Virginia, will make their new home

In Livonia, Whitledge's 27 years as pastor of the 1,500-member church has certainly been marked by active community involvement. While ministering to the needs of such a large parish is more than enough to keep the average preacher busy. Whitledge has tried to take his role as a pastor a step further.

He's served two years as chairman of the board of the Livonia YMCA, has been a member of the Livonia Chamber of Commerce and has served as a Protestant chaplain at St. Mary Hospital in Livonia and for the Livonia Fire Department.

"Our Presbyterian background calls for us to be involved in the community," said Whitledge, who grew up in Henderson, Ky. "I don't think you can preach without knowing where the people come from, their concerns and their problems."

We need to study many religions

It is a little puzzling for us to discover that the hijackers of the Kuwaiti airplane made a statement last week in Cyprus, ending with the phrase "praise be to God."

We also discovered that one of the groups closely connected with the hijackers is called "the Party of God."

The world is shrinking. We study customs, social and family life of many people. Television introduces us to vastly different lifestyles. But we have not become become acquainted with the differing faiths of

When I was in the seminary, we studied the beliefs of the major religions. Not then nor since have I studied the way religions affect the culture and interactions of people.

A recent series on Japan, shown on public television, has taken us one step further in understanding how religion affects Japanese character. One thing I do know is that the different religions are interwoven with the rich cultures of mankind. Much of what we know as culture amounts more religious renewals. to how life is perceived by a portion of the human family. Therefore, differences in culture and religion are movements, we will see more convaluable contributions to the shared human experience.

We ignore the vast array of religwith them. This is changing.

The Detroit area contains one of the largest Islamic communities in North America. Even in the suburbs. we more often meet neighbors who practice their religion as they did in India, Lebanon or Japan.

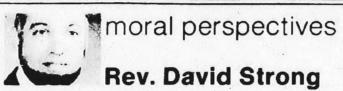

WE CAN NO longer plead ignorance to the impact of others' beliefs on our world.

Princeton scholar Roy Mottahedeh said: "It takes large and sometimes quite shocking events to make people want to read about another culture more deeply.

He is the author of the book "The Mantle of the Prophet." In this book, he attempts to portray what it is like to be a Shiite Moslem today. It is a book that helps us understand the passions that drive events in the Middle East.

We need to better understand the impulses that lie within such movements in our world. In many ways, we see the world moving toward

WAR ON OBSCENITY

In his new film, "A Winnable War." James Dobson will discuss his 14-month term on the Attorney General's Commission on Ponography and what citizens can do to combat pornography on a local level.

The film will be shown at 6.30 p.m. Sunday, April 24, at. First United Methodist Church, 45201 N. Territorial, Plymouth.

The one-hour release from Focus on the Family Films reveals the mounting evidence of pornography's destructive effect on the family Dobson further explains the many ways - commercially and legally in which the tide is turning against illicit materials. He dispelsthe popular notion that hard-core pornography is protected by the First Amendment and notes that the U.S. Justice Department is committed to fighting obscenity.

While emphasizing that the fight against pornography is a "winnable war." Dobson said that concerned citizens must become more involved in the campaign.

Dobson, a licensed psychologist and author of nine best-selling books on parenting and marriage, is founder and president of Focus on the Family, a non-profit pro-family organization based in California. His 30-minute radio program, "Focus on the Family," is broadcast daily on more than 1.000 stations across North America.

Consumer knowledge: Do you know your rights?

"Consumers buy service."

That's the theme of the seventh annual National Consumers Week next week. April 24-30. Hundreds of public and private organizations across the country will be using the observance to highlight programs, events and publications which give consumer the information and assistance they need to get the best value for their money in the marketplace.

It's also a good time for consumers to test their consumer knowledge and skills. Ask yourself if the following statements are true or false.

(1) You must either pay cash or write a check payable to the post office for collect-on-delivery (COD) orders delivered by the U.S. Postal Service.

(2) Once a charge is listed on your credit card bill and you receive it in the mail, you must pay the bill, even if the charge is in error or the quality of the merchandise is not as you expected.

(3) Telephone sales personnel are under no obligation to send you written materials about an offer

(4) Cable television shopping programs can substitute comparable goods, if the item you ordered is unavaila-

(5) When you order by mail, the company has 30 days in which to ship your complete order. (6) All home improvement contractors must be licensed and bonded. (7) You have three days to change your mind, when you sign a home improvement contract in your home. (8) If your luggage is lost or damaged during flight, the airline is required to pay you no less than $1,250 per

(9) All used cars must come with at least a limited

(10) The federal government requires that all long distance telephone companies carry service to all areas of the country.

How well do you think you did? Here's the answers: (1) False. Postal regulations were recently changed so that, if you receive a purchase by COD through the U.S. Postal Service, you may pay cash or by check made out to the mailer rather than the post office. Then, if there's a problem with the merchandise, you can immediately stop payment on the check before it is received and

(2) False. If you report to the card issuer in writing and within 60 days, any billing error on your credit cared, you can withhold payment of the disputed portion of your bill. The card issuer has 90 days or two billing cycles, whichever comes first, to get back to you with a

If you have a problem with the quality of the item, you must make an effort to resolve the dispute with the merchant first before notifying the card issuer

(3) True. But neither are you under an obligation to buy something on which you have no written information. Ask for written details and look for restrictions or conditions you were not told about on the telephone. This also will help you avoid con artists who really have nothing to sell and who just want access to your credit

(4) True. If you're thinking about making purchases through a television shopping program, be sure to ask when you place your order whether the company reserves the right to substitute comparable goods. You might also want to ask about the company's cancellation and refund policy.

(5) False. If you order by mail, your order must be shipped within 30 days after the company receives your complete order, unless another period is agreed upon when placing the order or it is stated in an advertisement. If your order is delayed, a notice of delay should be sent to you within the promised shipping period, along with an option to cancel the order.

(6) False. Check with your state, county or city housing authority to see if licensing and/or bonding is required of contractors in your area. If so, make sure the contractor you choose is properly licensed and bonded.

FRIDAY ONLY, APRIL 22
GET READY FOR SOME HEAVY-DUTY

(7) True, When you sign a non-emergency home im provement contract in your home in the presence of the contractor or his representative, you have a three-day cooling off period in which to change your mind. You must also be told about your cancellation rights and be provided with cancellation forms

(8) False. If your luggage is lost or damaged in flight, you are entitled to the fair market value of your belongs up to $1,250 per passenger for checked baggage and $400 per passenger for unchecked baggage.

(9) False, especially if you buy from a private individual. But if you buy your used car from a dealer, look for the "buyer's guide" which must be displayed in the window. It explains who must pay for repairs after the purchase and what kind, if any, warranty is on the car.

(10) False. Not all long distance carriers provide service to all areas. Be sure to compare companies and choose the carrier that provides service to areas you call frequently.

These questions and answers are based in large part on information contained in the "Consumer's Resource Handbook," a where-to-go, how-to-do-it question and complaint manual for consumers.

The handbook lists more than 2,000 resources consumers can write or call when they have questions and complaints about products and services. It's free from the Consumer Information Center, Pueblo, Colo. 81009.

By the yard, it's very hard, inch by inch makes it a cinch" - this might be the motto of this month's profiled couple, Joan and John Mears of Canton Township. At 29, both already realize the need to plan and prepare for the future. Their questions and our analysis revolves around the best strategies for them to ensure their future financial se-

FAMILY FINANCES

'I was lucky and made some good stock investments in my early 20s, so I thought it was the way to go. But I have to admit that Oct. 19 was a sobering experience.'

- John Mears

With two incomes, they have been able to build a nest egg and buy a modest house. John is a truck mechanic earning $24,000 per year. Joan is in the data processing department of one of the auto companies and earns $34,000. Both feel secure in their positions and expect regular raises in income.

"WE'D LIKE to buy a larger home within two-three years and begin a family at that time," Joan said.

Will she continue working after the birth of a child?

Yes. My mother lives nearby and has indicated a willingness to help out with child care. Since I have the larger income, we realize it is needed if we're to reach our financial

Their employers provide good medical benefits and adequate protection against income loss due to disability. A review of their auto and homeowners coverage shows no problems except that they might want to increase their deductibles to lower their premiums.

A MAJOR PLUS for them is their saving habits. Though they don't feel they are denying themselves, they understand the value of saving a part of each of their paychecks. Ever since they were married three years ago, they have been putting $250 per month into a stock mutual fund account. The account has grown well during that time despite the Oct. 19 stock market crash. Joan has been putting 3 percent of her income into an employer-sponsored 401(k) savings plan, and her employer makes a contribution of 50 cents for each dollar she puts into the plan.

Most of their cash reserves were used when they bought their house last fall and appliances for it. Some purchases for the house were charged on credit cards, and they are still paying off these bills. They are somewhat confused as to the next steps to take.

"WE HAD BEEN saving for the house for so long as our primary goal. Now that we've settled in, we wonder whether we should pay down the mortgage as fast as possible, pay off other debts or try to invest more

Attorney Alan Ferrara, a partner in the firm of Couzens, Lansky, Fealk, Ellis, Roeder & Lazer in Southfield, covers some of the ba-

"Joan's only life insurance is through her employer where she has a benefit of twice her annual income. If she died, this amount would not enable John to maintain his standard of living for very long," Ferrara

"For a nominal cost, she can buy additional coverage of three times her income from her employer. She should do this immediately. She can also place $50,000 coverage on John at the same time, and she should take advantage of this opportunity. When they start a family, their entire insurance program should be reviewed once again."

Ferrara also notes the lack of wills. "Though the probability of death at their ages is remote, this is nevertheless an important gap to close. Should the unlikely occur, wills would help ensure that their final wishes would be fulfilled."

DAN BOYCE, a certified financial planner with the Center for Financial Planning in Birmingham, reviewed their investment plans. "First of all, they need to increase their cash reserves to approximately $5,000. A good rule of thumb is to have at least two months of expenses available in banks or money market funds for emergencies.

The next step is to pay off the charge accounts. "The interest rates typically range from 14 to 21 percent, which is expensive money," he said. "Paying them off is equivalent to finding an investment that has a yield of 14 to 21 percent - guaranteed. Also, with the phasing out of deductions on consumer interest, Uncle Sam won't be sharing in the cost of this interest much longer."

THEY NEED to review the balance of their portfolio. Since most of their money is going into the stock market, they are exposed to substantial loss if the market tumbles again. John agrees.

"I was lucky and made some good stock investments in my early 20s, so I thought it was the way to go. But I have to admit that Oct. 19 was a sobering experience." Boyce suggests diversifying assets into less volatile areas for better balance, especially if some of this money is earmarked for the future move into a larger house.

BOYCE AND FERRARA agree that Joan should consider increasing ble.'

John and Joan are on the right John wonders whether they should track. By starting their planning young, saving a portion of their income, and seeking professional advice, they will be able to build a bright financial future for themselves and for their future family.

Financial strengths

- Two wage earners with steady employment.
- Good benefits at work.
- Retirement savings started at young age.
- Adequate auto, homeowners, and disability insurance. Spending patterns have built-in monthly savings.

Financial weaknesses

- No clear idea of how to proceed financially.
- No wills are in place.
- Joan's life insurance may be inadequate.
- Emergency reserve needs supplementing.
- Too high a percentage of investments in stock.

Ousted execs battle for leasing business

By Janice Brunson staff writer

When a deal is concluded at Encore International Inc. in Bloomfield Hills, a bell rings to mark the event. If anticipated profits on the deal are high, the bell rings repeatedly, meaning lunch usually is a bit longer than normal.

Of late, there's been lots of bell ringing and many extended lunch hours, according to vice president Frank Chartier who, with Lloyd Marks, Dennis Grice and Gary Smith, founded Encore last August.

'We determine what is needed tomorrow, anticipate those needs and respond quickly. But what made money yesterday does not necessarily make money today.

- Frank Chartier

Recently, Chartier, Marks, Grice and Smith were praised as "a team with unparalleled experience in the acquisition, resale, leasing, financing and remarketing of new and used capital equipment" in a business column in the Wall Street Journal.

THE FOUR men gained this "unparalleled experience" from years of employment with CMI Corp., where each was in a management position. CMI is one of the nation's largest computer leasers, and when

Taxes prompt planning

By Marilyn Fitchett staff writer

Now that you've made amends with Uncle Sam by mailing him his due, financial counselors are urging taxpayers to hold those thoughts and determine their net worth.

As sponsors of Financial Affairs Month, area bankers, lawyers, insurance representatives and certified public accountants are attempting to alert the public to review their financial objectives. Financial Affairs Month general chairman Donald E. Schmaltz of Schmaltz & Co., Southfield, sees the need for financial planning as growing dramatically.

"Life is more complex, financial affairs are more complex now," Schmaltz, a CPA, said. "If, for instance, you want to provide an education for your children, the cost is far greater than it was 20 years ago.'

Schmaltz of Bloomfield Township sees Financial Affairs Month as dovetailing with the tax sea-

Most Detroit area banks are passing out free financial affairs check lists and family balance sheets through April as tools to help people create their financial

The check list includes questions about the storage of important papers, the status of life insurance coverage, emergency savings, wills and retirement income. The family balance sheet offers a comparison between the estimated market value or cash value of assets compared with the amount owed on such items as au tornobiles, houses and home furnishings

Schmaltz compares filling out the check list and balance sheet to having a physical.

It's like saying to a doctor where do I go from here. After the physical, the doctor can decide from there. When we talk finances, we have to consider goals, concerns and interests and where you want to be

Any member of the four disciplines of law, banking, insurance or accounting can be approached for financial help, he said

Volunteers from the four professions are accepting speaking engagements at clubs and service organizations, as well as appearing on radio and television talk shows Persons interested in contacting a speaker should call the Financial Affairs Month committee at 642-9797

Chartier and the others launched their business, CMI filed suit against

Last May, Chartier, Marks, Grice and Smith were set to buy all of CMI's stock. Instead, the company was sold to Torchmark Corp., which ordered all four to resign.

Torchmarck then sold CMI to a fierce competitor. Continental Information Systems Corp. Many of Encore's 60 employees are former CMI employees who chose to resign from the company rather than work for a former competitor

THE COMPANY leases, buys and sells new and used computers and other capital equipment, such as office furnishings and corporate aircraft, to a client list that includes a major investment house, several food manufacturers, a major Michigan pharmaceutical company and a university hospital.

By December, a mere four months after start-up, the company posted a profit. While Chartier declined to cite figures or client's names because "we are a privately-held company and like to keep that information confidential," he did say the company had leased or sold about $25 million in equipment by mid-

We are far ahead of original forecasts," Chartier, a Bloomfield Hills resident, said. "We are spending less than anticipated and we are making more than anticipated."

The company now has six sales offices in Michigan, California, Illinois, Pennsylvania and Texas, has tripled the size of corporate offices in Bloomfield Hills, and is ranked in the top 10 percent of leasing compa-

"INNOVATION" IS one reason Chartier gives for the apparent sucample.

Encore buys manufactured goods, then leases the goods to the manufacturer's customers who are other wise unable or unwilling to purchase the products

Encore has entered into vendor lease agreements with manufacturers of office equipment and furniture, trucks and store fixtures. Encore is also looking to acquire other companies with "sizeable lease portfolios that match our nitch in the industry.

"Structuring a program whereby a user can lease rather than purchase is innovative," a unique concept within the industry, Chartier said.

ANOTHER RECENT deal that gave rise to much bell ringing in the office was a $12 million sale of three large processing computer units to replace an older system. To complete this deal, Encore purchased the older system and will now reaell it is a third party

The root of the business is buying and selling," Chartier said. Taking risks also is important. "We determine what is needed tomorrow, anticipate those needs and respond quickly. But what made money yesterday does not necessarily make money today. We try and use the best information at hand to make reasonable assumptions. We are willing to take risks because our profit opportunity is larger when we are in a risk position," he said, illustrating the point.

Escort's inventor deals with different G's

Michael Valentine invented the ly irrefutable case against the speed-Escort radar detector, the legality of which is currently being debated in the Michigan Legislature, along with similar devices that warn motorists that they are under radar surveillance by local police.

I'm old enough to bore the kids with reminiscences of a childhood before television, garage door openers, microwave cooking, rock and roll and radar speed traps. I confess I retain a mild paranoia about the microchip society that sometimes finds me pondering the loss of privacy to databanks when I shove my cash card in the bank slot.

Today, of course, we live with a near-complete breakdown of efficient law enforcement save in the area of enforcing speed limits, where the accuracy and stealth of a radar gun builds an instant and near-

VALENTINE MAKES a plausible case that radar detectors partially counter the lack of due process inherent in radar speed control with a device in private hands that gives the individual at least some information about who is watching him.

At least that's one perspective, although the police officer parked under the I-75 overpass suffering eyestrain from studying his rear-view mirror might think otherwise.

Valentine would seem to be stretching the point, until you note that at least a few states are now issuing speeding tickets based on robot traffic surveillance from video cameras. The cameras merely record the license number of the offending car and put the burden of proof on the car's owner to show he wasn't the one who was driving

IN ANY CASE, Valentine is one of those incredibly bright and rich Silicon Valley types who are so facile with high technology they make inventing something as sophisticated as the Escort seem like coloring

In fact, he didn't invent the radar detector - which is basically a radio receiver that picks up the frequencies of police radar guns - but he did develop special circuitry that made it work well enough to irritate

His former company, Cincinnati Microwave, was formed as a mailorder house to sell his radar detectors. Valentine thought that direct mail would allow him to keep his costs low and it would allow him to offer lengthy trial periods - which he thought would be necessary to convince skeptical potential custom-boom in radar detectors enhanced by the national 55-mph speed limit. Today the market for radar detectors is estimated to top $300 million. By the time he sold his share in the company. Valentine was rich enough to retire very, very early.

HE WASN'T finished yet, though Valentine Research recently turned out another automotive gizmo called the G-analyst. It's a remarkable piece of technology that uses some of the innards of the navigation system of a nuclear submarine to detect how fast a car is braking cornering and accelerating.

It's a fascinating device, and Valentine had hopes it would improve drivers' skills, hence reduce accidents. It also seemed to be another good candidate for mail order. But pointing for the G-analyst, especially compared to the demand for the ra-

SOME OF his best customers so far, ironically, have been local police departments who are using the G-analvst to do research in how skid marks correlate to vehicle speed in accident analysis

His non-competitive agreements with Cincinnati Microwave are due to expire soon, and he may once again return to his original niche.

Prepaying the mortgage will save you a bundle

Recently a senior officer of my mortgage company challenged me to substantiate my argument that prepayment of principal saves a homeowner thousands of dollars in mortgage interest.

Since the monthly mortgage payments remain fixed throughout the life of the mortgage, initially most of the money goes toward interest pay-

As time goes on, the outstanding mortgage balance continues to decline, and so does the interest portion of the monthly payment.

During the last few years, most of the monthly payments are applied toward the principal, since the interest payments decline significantly during the final years of the loan.

This allows us to save interest payments. If during the secon. month of the mortgage, for instance, the homeowner pays an additional $100 toward the principal, he will save on the interest on that principal for the rest of the time he owes this

The same would be true for the payment toward the principal during subsequent months.

The accompanying table presents some startling results. For instance, if a homeowner with a 30-year, $100,000 mortgage at 10 percent pays an additional $100 per month toward principal, the following would be accomplished:

• The monthly payments would increase from $877.58 to $977.58.

finances and you Sid Mittra

• The loan would be paid off in 191/4 years instead of in 30 years. • The total interest payment over the life of the loan would decline from $215,926 to $125,417. Every dollar you prepay against a 10-percent mortgage means you save - and thus earn - 10 percent

Basically, the information interview is scheduled by a person to find out more about a particular company's operation or the nature of specific position(s) held within the company.

Individuals who request these types of interviews may or may not be interested in working for the company directly; more important is the information exchange that occurs between the interviewer and the company representative.

SCHEDULING THIS type of interview with a business you are not familiar with may at first seem intimidating - especially if the company is large and has several layers of management personnel by department or division. Regardless of the company's size, preparation is of critical importance.

FROM THE company's standpoint, information interviews can be of great benefit for "future consideration." Rather than placing ads to fill positions as they become open, many companies will get back in touch with persons remembered from previous information interviews

Company representatives also may refer individuals to other organizations as part of their own net-

THE INFORMATION exchange that occurs between competitors can assist both parties in evaluating and selecting strategies that best meet the needs of their targeted customer markets.

It is a rare occurrence when two competitors operate exactly alike over an extended period of time. For those who think that imitation is the key to success, it should be mentioned that this type of strategy never works for very long.

Charlie claims shopping is excitement... The last free entertainment in the country." "Selling is a love affair -- people don't buy for a price...they buy because it makes them feel good. The goal is to create excitement, and make the shopper feel g-o-o-dl " But, in order to accomplish this good feeling, businesses must be willing to change. Businesses must form master plans and commit to them.

- Johnny Trudell

Johnny Trudell is co-producer of the jazz series. His big band kicked off opening night at the Bloomfield Hills hotel.

The Marcus Belgrave Sextet was the second week's attraction on the new "Musical Monday Nights at the Kingsley" series offering live entertainment. Big bands or smaller musical groups play for listening and dancing in the Kingsley Grand Ballroom, which has a sunken marble dance floor.

Jazz fills the scene Monday nights

Guest vocalist Ortheia Barnes sang with Johnny Trudell's big band on the first "Monday Night."

By Victor E. Swanson special writer

BENEFIT CONCERT hosted by the Kingsley Inn on a Monday night several months ago has turned into "Musical Monday Nights;" a weekly concert series in the Grand Ballroom of the Bloomfield Hills hotel.

- The evenings are devoted mostly to the music of big band jazz, such as the Austin-Moro Big Band with vocalist Danny Aszenso, who appeared last week, or the Jimmy Wilkins Orchestra with a vocalist, coming up next Monday.

"We get a cross section of people," said bandleader Johnny Trudell, who with Phil Wooldridge is co-producing the Monday events for the Kingsley. There have been people who are 20-

"Big band jazz - that's the primary focus," Trudell stressed. "It's for listening and dancing." Good, local, smaller groups, such as the Jack Brokensha Quartet, who played last Monday, also are being booked in. The Marcus Belgrave Sextet headlined the second of "Musical Monday 300 people or a little bit better than that. On opening night, I would assume we had better than 200 people, which wasn't a bad turnout, considering that's the first one we had," Trudell said. -

THE FIRST "Musical Monday Night" on 'March 21 featured Trudell's orchestra with guest vocalist Ortheia Barnes. (The orchestra has been together for more than 20 years and has played at nightclubs and all the big venues of the area, even forming at the Montreux-Detroit International Jazz Festival.)

Inspiration for that first night and the nights that follow occurred a few months earlier. Involved in a benefit concert were Trudell; Phil Wooldridge, a promoter who handles such entertainers as the Spinners; Layla Zawideh, director of marketing for the Kingsley; and Jerry Zawideh, the hotel's director of food and bever-

Jazz fills scene at Kingsley Inn

Because the night was successful the planners thought Wouldn't it be nice if we could do it every Trudell and Wooldridge began talking with the owners of the Kingsley Inn - the Zawideh famiabout putting on Monday night concerts. A lot of purposes came to mind. For example, one was to build business in the Kingsley's residurant and another was to supply an entertainment atmosphere on an off-night at the hotel; which is Monday night.

THEY ALSO wanted to showcase local talent.

We have so much entertainment coming in to the Detroit area) from the outside. There's a lot of national entertainment here all the time. The local people suffer because of liquor laws and things like that. Young talent just doesn't have a place to work and be exposed to the general public." Trudell said

So that's how it all came about Phil and I actually produce the concerts for them (the Kingsley). We're actually doing the booking and arranging the contracts.

We handle any staging of lighting or anything like that. There's not a lot of technical work that goes into it.

Musical Monday Nights" is not music and dinner, per se.

People can have dinner in the restaurant in the hotel. There is no dinner really served in that room or any food served there. It's strictly beverage. They can come and dance and listen to the music."

In the room, people can get light snacks, however.

Music for "Musical Monday Nights" at the Kingsley begins at open at 7 p.m. Admission is $7 per

ADMISSION IS really inexpensive he said considering nearly three hours of music are presented three good sets The Zawideh family wanted to keep the cost low so that people would return again

Another concert date set is the Brookside Jazz Ensemble, May 2.

Local personalities have been featured as master of ceremonies at the series, including CKLW morning-music-man Jay Roberts who was the all-night radio voice of WJR for 29 years) and Gene Elzy music director of WJR.

Hopefully, we can create enough interest." Trudell said, believing the concerts are the only such type of musical event regularly scheduled on a Monday night in the Detroit area.

It's local entertainment at this point. We're not stressing any national acts." Sometime in the future, though, he hopes "Musical Monday Nights' will be able to bring in nationally known acts from time to time

As we go through this for several weeks, we'll get a better handle on what they (the listeners) want. whether it be dancing or listening."

Even though only five nights of Musical Monday Nights" have been presented so far, the response that Trudell has heard has been

'They'll definitely get their money's worth if they come out," he said

The Kingsley Inn, established in 1938, is at 1475 Woodward Ave., south of Long Lake Road.

DINING & ENTERTAINMENT

Revue keeps Oscar on mind

An Evening with Oscar continues through May 11, with two performances Saturdays, at 7:30 and 930 p.m., preceded by dinner at 5:30 and 7:30 p.m., at the Novi

By Rob McCabe staff writer

The reecent Academy Award ceremonies are still fresh in many of our minds, which makes the musical revue "An Evening with Oscar" especially timely Director producer Michael J. Klier and his company, Theatre Arts Productions Ltd., present this musical tribute to Academy-Award-winning songs, at the Novi Hilton, Klier has assembled some excellent performers for the heartfelt tribute to that ever-elusive gold statuette.

Singers Nancy Kolton, Kathy Blanchard and Paul Marquis are all consummate performers, whether performing as a trio or doing solos. Kolton, a TAP Ltd., regular, has a voice that can be both powerful and yet tender, as when she sings "With a Song in My Heart." She can be brassy, seductive and playful, which is what makes a great singer review

Soprano Kathy Blanchard is a cute, petite redhead whose voice runs the gamut from gentle, as shown in her rendition of 'Three Coins in the Fountain," to a smoldering sexiness when performing "Take My Breath Away" from "Top Gun." Blanchard is equally at home sharing the stage with her fellow performers, yet I wish there were more solos for all the performers to sing.

TENOR PAUL MARQUIS' voice has a brilliant clarity in his solos, including "When You Wish Upon a Star" from Walt Disney's "Pinocchio." He is equally at home singing duets or trios, even though paired with such volatile performers as Kolton and Blanchard

Accompanist "Rebecca" is, as always, the life glue that holds the entire production together With her expertise, she manages to keep the show flowing from start to finish. All the performers are energetic, trying to get the audience involved in singalongs. In the "Name That Tune"

Accompanist 'Rebecca' is, as always, the life glue that holds the entire production together.

Heads you win, tails you win.

Win with Michigan National investment opportunities.

Selecting the right investment opportunity is as easy as flipping a coin - but only if you do it at Michigan National Bank?

Win by controlling the interest rate.

The high-yield investment opportunities at Michigan National put you in charge right from the start. You control the amount you earn by the amount you deposit. The more you deposit, the more you earn. Both the Michigan National MoneyMaster Certificate of Deposit and the Money Market Account offer this unique feature.

Our MoneyMaster CD goes a step further. It also provides a higher interest rate for a longer deposit. So, although there is an interest penalty for early withdrawal on CDs, there are great rates for both larger and longer deposits.

Win with security and opportunity.

Along with control, Michigan National investments offer security and opportunity.

You have the security of knowing your investment is insured to the federal maximum. Your money is safe while it's earning interest.

And you have the opportunity to lock into a guaranteed high rate with our MoneyMaster CD. Or invest in our Money Market Account and gain a high rate and 24-hour card access to your money. You can even write up to three checks per month against the account.

Win every way.

Whether you choose the MoneyMaster CD, the Money Market Account, or both, you have control, security and opportunity on Stop by any Michigan National branch or phone 1-800-CALL-MNB for more information and current rates. You'll find heads you win, tails you win.
