Summer tax bills to be mailed soon

By Doug Funke

Summer tax hills - or notices of taxes due - will be mailed to property owners in Plymouth and Canton townships and the city of Plymouth this week and next. Homeowners and businesses in all three communities will receive bills for half of the 1988-89 school tax due. That rate for Plymouth-Canton Community Schools is $18.39 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation (half of market value) and includes operations and debt retire-

That means the owner of a house with a market value of $100,000 would be billed about $920 for schools now.

Canton and Plymouth Township property owners will pay the second half of the school tax plus township taxes, county taxes, Schoolcraft College taxes, Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority taxes and special education taxes on their December bills.

CITY OF PLYMOUTH property owners, in addition to half of the school tax, will find a request for payment of city taxes and Schoolcraft College taxes on their sum-

The city rate for operations and debt retirement is $17.05 per $1,000 of SEV, the college rate $2.18 per $1,000 of SEV

That means the owner of a $100,000 house in the city can expect a bill for about $1,882 now - $920 for half the school levy. $853 for the municipal levy and $109 for

City property owners will get a bill for county taxes, metroparks taxes, special education taxes and the other half of the school taxes in December.

Summer property taxes are due without penalty by Aug. 10 in the city and by Sept. 14 in Canton and Plymouth townships.

PROPERTY OWNERS may pay by personal check. Credit cards won't be accepted

Plymouth city and township residents can pay at their respective municipal buildings during regular business hours. Payment also may be left at drop boxes at those two municipal buildings outside of business hours or

Canton property owners may not make payment at their township hall. That's because the schools don't have a contract with Canton to process the summer bill-

Canton property owners may pay at any First of America Bank branch or directly at the school board offices on Harvey Street in downtown Plymouth

All property owners in both Plymouths and Canton should receive either a bill or a statement of tax due if a second party like a mortgage company handles property tax payments

First of America expects to mail 13,100 bills in Canton, Plymouth Township about 8,000 bills and the city of Plymouth upward of 3,600

Halmekangas back in race for clerk's job

By Doug Funke

Lorraine Halmekangas is back in the race for clerk in Plymouth Township

Halmekangas, deputy to Esther Hulsing the past three years and a township employee for five, said she will run as a Democratic write-in candidate in the Aug. 2 primary election. Halmekangas initially submitted nominating petitions as a Republican on the filing deadline date last

She withdrew after concluding that to continue to work in the office while challenging her boss would be a sticky situation

A groundswell of support prompted her to re-enter the race, Halmekangas said.

"I REALLY didn't consult with anyone when I withdrew," she said. "They (supporters) were very upset. People were coming out of the woodwork. They said, 'Hang in there, we need you.' I'm getting calls from people I don't even know

"I said, 'Doggone it, I'm going to go for it," Halmekangas said

She has just started a one-month medical leave of absence prompted by job-related stress.

"I think there is a change that is needed," Halmekangas said of her candidacy. "I have five years of outstanding evaluations.

Halmekangas said she is running as a Democrat even though she is a Republican because that is the only way she figures to make the November ballot

NO DEMOCRATS filed in any of the township races

Halmekangas, 45, said she doesn't have major qualms about running as a Democrat even though she is a Re-

"I think more people are independent," she said. "I don't think they are true-blue Republicans or true-blue Democrats. I'm hoping the intelligent voter has to realize what has to be done in this situation.

Hulsing, 72, has been township clerk since 1978. She cited her experience in filing for re-election.

Hulsing said she was surprised at Halmekangas' decision to challenge

"Uncle" Chuck Guideau, who'll be grand marshal in Plymouth's Fourth of July parade, displays part of his cane collection. The canes, replete with deer ears and indian figures, were acquired over 47 years with the Boy Scouts.

Parade marshal Guideau is a veteran Boy Scout

By M.B. Dillon staff writer

If you attend Plymouth's Fourth of July parade, you may recognize Grand Marshal "Uncle" Chuck Guideau, a Plymouth Township resident with 47 years of scouting and antics galore behind him. God only knows what's ahead.

White-haired "Uncle" Chuck, who will lead the patriotic procession down Main Street at 1 p.m. Monday, is no stranger to the parade.

He's entered three prize-winning floats in parades past, including a handmade 250-pound, 6foot globe of the world made of house plaster and ing spirit, sense of humor and gusto.

One is a note from Henry Cashen II, deputy assistant to then President Richard Nixon.

"ALL AMERICA will benefit from your good work," wrote Cashen in a letter of commendation upon one of Guideau's many scouting milestones.

As scoutmaster, Uncle Chuck figures he's served more than 1,000 Boy Scouts. The total is much higher if you count the 44,000 scouts who in any given year attend a jamboree, a gathering of scouts and celebrities from all over the world. Early on, Guideau acquired the nickname "Un-

Attorneys for a 21-year-old woman serving a five-year manslaughter sentence planned to file an appeal this week, armed with information not considered when Yvonne Hillier of Westland was sentenced Hillier was convicted by Recorder's Court Judge Vera Massey Jones in the December 1986 traffic death of Dorcas Ruth Aumann, 67, of Canton Township.

Kathy Paananen of Westland, who was with Hillier when the head-on crash occurred, told Hillier's attorneys recently that she may have been the driver responsible for the accident on Joy Road near I-275. Please turn to Page 2

Plymouth Township Police Chief Carl Berry said there's no good reason why the township still should be waiting for the Michigan Liquor Control Commission to revoke the liquor license of an area bar.

Plymouth Township asked the LCC to remove the license of the Plymouthrock Saloon in February

LCC commissioners held a muchdelayed revocation hearing June 15. but have yet to make a decision.

As yet unscheduled are hearings on violations the township filed in February after five minors were served alcohol without being asked to furnish identification at the Ply-

"THE WHOLE LCC thing should be reviewed by the state. It's a waste of taxpayers' money," said Berry, But who am I but a police chief? The LCC only reacts to public pressure. I was told that way back.

The township asked the LCC to revoke the bar's license on grounds that the bar has become a public nui-

A Canton woman was killed in a head-on crash outside the Plymouthrock in December 1986. A then-underage Westland woman is serving a five-year manslaughter sentence in connection with the inci-

The young woman, whose blood alcohol level was 20, had been drinking at the bar shortly before. A blood level of 10 is considered legally drunk in Michigan.

Peter Elefterio, who served time in the 1970s on a drug conviction, and Detroit restaurateur Donald Vargo, own the bar. Since 1985, the tayern has been fined three times for serving alcohol to minors.

State law permits townships and cities to revoke the license of a liquor establishment after granting the owner due process rights. As long as licensees are given a chance to defend themselves at a hearing. the LCC must uphold the community's recommendation, after holding its own hearing.

Plymouth Township held a hearing in February. Trustees said the Plymouthrock's liquor license should a.) not be renewed upon its expiration May 1, 1988 and b.) be revoked.

Norman Farhat, attorney for the licensee gets his copy. That would be Plymouthrock Saloon and a member of its board of directors, fought the non-renewal in court. Ingham Circuit Judge Thomas Brown ruled that the bar may stay open, pending a July hearing

AT THE LCC's June 15 hearing, Commissioners Maxine Perry and Wallace Warner asked Farhat and assistant attorney general Richard Rubin (prosecuting the case for the LCC) to submit within two weeks briefs pertinent to the case.

Rubin met the deadline. Farhat d in t

Mr. Farhat was one week late in submitting his brief. But the commissioners were not ready to decide anyway," said Rubin

Commissioner Perry said the LCC possibly would decide the case this It'll be an additional two weeks before the findings will be made public The decision must be put in writ-

We must then check to see that the facts are as we represented them," said Perry. "We wouldn't want to make a comment before the grossly unfair.

We are not reluctant to talk be cause we are worried about public opinion." added Perry "Rather. we're concerned about fairness. We have to make sure that justice is served.

The road to justice can be long, she said

"I CAN understand that the community wants a decision in a minimum amount of time, and maybe eventually it can be frustrating," Perry said. "People have to understand that the legal process is long. If we make a decision not in the licensee's favor, you can bet that they're going to court."

Chief Berry and attorney John Stewart, who served as special prosecutor during the township's hearings, are disgusted by LCC inaction.

In preparing his case, Stewart sent, with the blessing of police, five minors to the Plymouthrock last January and February.

The youths went individually, on single occasions, to the bar. All were served alcohol. None was asked to show identification.

Last week, the minors were subpoenaed for an Aug. 15 hearing.

"EIGHT MONTHS later they're finally scheduling a regular violation hearing?" asked Stewart. "I hope it's not going to hold up (the July 13 hearing in Ingham Circuit Court). July 13 is still scheduled to go in Lansing I think it's going to be adjourned again.

Everyone is going to wait for the other guy to make the tough decision," added Stewart. "The tough one, hopefully, will be the one coming from the LCC. But they're part of the commerce department, and they are in business to keep responsible businesses in business.

Berry was told late last week that the August hearing was postponed indefinitely, because Farhat will be on vacation

We had an LCC hearing postponed until further notice because the defense attorney is on vacation,' said Berry

"Now they have to recontact everyone," he said. "It sure is funny. Generally they schedule these things knowing full well everyone is available, including police.

"I would like to blame Farhat, but he is an attorney, representing his client, doing what he is supposed to do. But what is the LCC doing?"

What happens if they postpone it until Aug 26? I'm on vacation then," he said. "If I call down there and say will you postpone it, then one of the kids goes on vacation. You're dealing with a large group of people. Set the

Hillier and Paananen, then underage, were drinking at the nearby Plymouthrock Saloon shortly before the fatality Hillier's blood alcohol level was 20. A level of .10 is considered legally drunk in Michigan.

"(Paananen) gave a taped statement in front of witnesses," said Tony Puricelli, whose St. Clair Shores firm is handling the appeal.

Paananen, who was not charged, said she drove to the bar, and that she was in possession of the keys to Hillier's car. She said she doesn't remember leaving the saloon.

Paananen was asked by Hillier's mother to make the statement.

"It's been on my mind. I feel like there were so many things that went wrong, that I want to do all I can. said Paananen, a member of the National Guard.

"It makes me feel better," she said. "At least I know I can do something. I hope something good comes

"THERE ARE so many things that went awry in this case. The appeal also states that police didn't take a blood sample from Kathy Paananen. Strange, isn't it?" asked

Another hole in the prosecution's case was the fact that "the evidence was destroyed before expert witnesses had a chance to reconstruct the accident," added Puricelli. If the car hadn't been destroyed, it probably could have been determined who the driver was, based upon the way the car was damaged and the injuries that were sus-

The police chief declined to elabo-

"I'd prefer not to comment on it since the case is going back to court," he said.

Marcia Middlebrook, Hillier's mother, is hiring an investigator to reconstruct the accident in an effort to establish who was driving.

Asked about her recollection of the night of the accident, Hillier testified she remembers getting drunk at the bar, but nothing afterward.

Middlebrook said Paananen tried to tell the judge during Hillier's trial

"but Vera Massey Jones wouldn't let her. She said she'd be incriminating herself," said Middlebrook.

Jones refuses to return reporters' phone calls. A spokeswoman for the judge said she responds only to questions submitted in writing.

Puricelli called the five-year manslaughter sentence "awfully harsh."

"MISS HILLIER had an exemplary record," he said. "Her character was unblemished. She was a good student with a good average, she was doing well in the National Guard. No one we've talked to has had anything but nice things to say about her.'

Routinely, drivers involved in similar accidents receive six months probation, he added.

"It happens all the time," said Puricelli, who is helping Hillier's family organize a substance-free, fund-raiser to help defray legal fees. Jones "thought Yvonne was an alcoholic and a problem drinker, which wasn't the case," he said.

Middlebrook said her daughter has received just minimal substance abuse counseling in Florence Crane Women's Facility in Coldwater, de-

The Plymouth Parks and Recreation Department's eight-week ballet class is almost completed and the girls are practicing for a recital to be performed for their parents.

The class is for youngsters between the ages of 31/2 and 5. At that age, said teacher Nancy Thomas, coordination and balance can't be taken for granted.

"To get those hands and feet moving at the same time to the music can be a challenge," she said.

Thomas tailors the class toward the motor skills the girls possess, and she said she can notice quick improvement.

"YOU CAN see the difference from one session to the next, Thomas said.

For many of the youngsters, Thomas' class is their first exposure to anything resembling the group dynamics of school. But she said there is not much danger during the half-hour class that their attention will wander. The class starts with stretching exercises, followed by dancing.

"They don't have too much time to get too preoccupied,' Thomas said.

The end-of-the term recital represents the first time most of the students will perform for an audience, said Thomas, who has been leading the classes for several years.

Some of them look forward to it but some of them are nervous," she said.

A letter from former scout Cass Powierski echoes the thenie of many others. "You were always the... needed advice or guidance. Somehow, you always had the solution," he wrote.

There are grown men that don't know me by my last name," said a smiling Uncle Chuck of some of his former scouts.

GUIDE '' HAS taught Boy Scouts how to "cook, bake 2 foot-by-4-" ... cakes in cardboard boxes, all phases of first aid, swimming, skiing, you name it.

'Scouting, if you stay in it for awhile, covers every phase of a lifetime . . . adult chores, all kinds of sports, how to act in public, how to act on a date - we take them into adulthood," said Guideau, recipient of scouting's Silver Beaver award and a member of the Order of the Arrow. The honors recognize outstanding service to youth and scout leaders, and "ensure him of the choicest cracker at any cracker barrel."

When I was a boy, I never had the opportunity to be a Boy Scout. I promised I'd give boys something I never had," said Uncle Chuck.

Guideau and his scouts helped save a settlement near the Manistee River from a ravaging, 10-acre brush fire by commanding a bucket brigade for 10 hours. He's donated teepees to the Detroit Area Council of Boy Scouts and paid for scouts to take trips their families couldn't afford. One scout conquered his fear of heights when Guideau encouraged him to climb a tower.

In 1961, he set up camp in Kellogg Park, and with 100 boys built a 65-foot long monkey bridge using branches

BUT THERE'S been plenty of time for educational fun and silliness.

Until recently, Guideau performed Indian dances, honoring boys who earned the rank of Eagle scout and entertaining senior citizens and children.

The trim, agile native of Wyandotte donned a colorful costume he made himself, using more than 1,000 bird and turkey feathers.

"For a while I counted the number of hours it took me to glue and sew the costumes. I got to 127 hours and quit," said Guideau. He flew off the stage many times. One of those times, Uncle Chuck fractured his foot. He later received a letter.

"I wasn't surprised to see you finish (the dance), because I know you are a man that is really dedicated to scouting. Everyone talks about how we can improve scouting. One of the best ways I know is to get more men like you involved," wrote Eagle scout Robert

"FOR A boy to write a letter like that gives me the jitters," said Guideau.

Guideau's given audiences plenty of laughs.

His passions are parties and fashion shows.

"I've been to quite a few parties. I raise Cain wherever I go." Guideau, a trick water-skier and two-time past president of the Livonia Kiwanis Club, has dressed in a diaper, bonnet and snow skis at New Year's Eve parties. He's worn homemade, 3-foot-wide sombreros at Mex-

He's shocked audiences at fashion shows, modeling an ultrasuede suit on his front, and what looked to be birthday suit on the back

He's promenaded in fashion shows, taking off a coat to reveal a flapper outfit, replete with a short, fringed dress "right from the 1920s," a wig and beads. "I like to make them laugh," said Guideau.

Guideau met Judy Langlois at the Grande Ballroom in February 1936 and married her that May. Together, they've raised seven children. Uncle Chuck's involvement in Scouting has meant sacrifice for the rest of the family.

"Probably because I was alone with the girls so much, I think it taught us to be more independent than we otherwise would have been," said Judy Guideau. "I think it was good for our sons. They learned to fix themselves meals. I could see they'd learned things they put to use around the house, and values. They're things that have helped them now that they're married with their own families and households."

Eighteen months into his term. Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara is back on the campaign

McNamara and a host of other county officials, including county commission chairman Arthur Carter, prosecutor John O'Hair and chief circuit Judge Richard Kaufman are all out stumping for the proposed 1-mill county jail tax.

They say they'll meet with newspaper editorial boards, service clubs, civic groups, church groups and anyone else who will listen.

It will be a low-key campaign. 'We don't have any dollars available to buy ads or go on radio or TV," McNamara said. "We've got to pretty much depend on whatever we can

But supporters are optimistic

EARLY POLL results showed heavy support for the jail tax, McNamara said

The poll, conducted in April, showed 65.4 percent of those surveyed would support a 1-mill jail tax if the election were held that day. Twenty-seven percent were opposed, with 7.6 percent uncertain. Among 141 western Wayne respondents surveyed, 94 said they were in favor of the tax, 33 were opposed, and 14

small sample from the Grosse

In contrast, 57.2 percent of those surveyed said they supported renewing a one mill tax to finance day-today county programs and services. The poll was conducted by Nordhaus Research Inc. of Southfield.

That, however, was two months ago. There's a host of issues, including a countywide school tax proposal and concern about the county's financial condition; that may have to be cleared in order to gain voter ap-boils down to maintaining a "credible criminal justice system.

For supporters, however, the issue

'TO ME, the debate is do I want my property taxes to increase 1 mill or do I want to let Kaufman keep releasing about 1,800 felons a year not to mention having no room for misdemeanors," Judge Kaufman said. In his role as chief of the Wayne County Circuit Court, Kaufman is responsible for ordering prisoner releases.

The jail tax would be levied from 1988-97. It would raise an estimated more than $20 million per year, according to county calculations. An estimated $15 million would be reserved in 1989-90 to build the new jail. By 1992, that money would be reserved to operate the jail.

The jail tax would be the first new county tax since 1976 - when voters approved 0.5 mill, ironically, to build a new jail.

That jail, the Andrew C. Baird Detention Facility in downtown Detroit, is now filled to overflowing. county officials say, with some 4,000 felons being released early over the past two years because space wasn't Back then, county officials made a mistake in determining how much money was needed. County officials now agree too little was used to offset operating costs.

One of the problems is that when the voters approved building a new jail there wasn't sufficient foresight to realize you're going to have to operate it, too," Kaufman said. "We're trying not to make that mistake this

Despite the poll results and despite an anti-crime, anti-drug groundswell, selling the tax increase to voters might not be easy, especial-he said. It's all gone down there. The jail tax won't be the only countywide tax increase proposal on the ballot Wayne County Intermediate Schools seeks a similar 1-mill tax increase for special education programs - itself a proposal with a strong emotional pull Supporters say they don't know how the other millage proposals will affect the jail tax's chances.

Maybe they'll vote against one and then vote for the jail tax." Kauf-

Supporters acknowledge the county can't build enough jail space to house all its felons but said new cells, coupled with speeded-up court dockets, and other innovations, could take a sizable number of criminals

The jail study upon which the millage request is based, assumed circuit court and Detroit Recorders Court cases could be adjudicated within 90 days, Kaufman, said, making them the most efficient court in

"That was including the new jail space," Kaufman said

Jail monitor Vincent Nathan of Toledo told county officials space for an additional 1,070 prisoners was needed to prevent early releases in a report filed earlier this year

County seeks tax to build, staff new jail

Wayne County voters are being asked to raise taxes to keep more criminals off the streets. Here is vital information on the jail tax pro-

Who is seeking the tax increase? A coalition of county officials, including Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara, chief circuit Judge Richard Kaufman, prosecutor John O'Hair, county commission chairman Arthur Carter and a majority of county commissioners. What is being sought and what would be built? One mill, to be levied over 10 years to build a new jail, expand the existing jail and expand the county youth home. The increase translates to $37.50 in taxes for homeowners living in houses with a market value of $75,000. Where would the new jail be built? The county is negotiating with "three communities," McNamara said, though he declined to be more specific. It is extremely doubtful any information on jail site will be officially released before the election.

When will voters decide the issue? The jail tax will appear on the Tuesday, Aug. 2, primary ballot.

How much money will the tax increase raise and how will it be distributed?

Approval of the tax increase will raise a minimum $20 million per year on the county's behalf.

Under a proposal from McNamara, the new tax money would be used to: build a new 840bed jail for misdemeanor offenders and inmates awaiting trial on felony charges; add space for 470 inmates

Judge Kaufman said, to make space available for even more dangerous criminals. In addition, non-felons, including drunken drivers, shoplifters, cannot be jailed due to the lack of space. This is what a new 1 mill jail tax would buy, over time, according to the Wayne County Executive's office. The new tax money would be used to build a jail for misdemeanor offenders and felony suspects awaiting trial, expand the current jail and add space at the county youth home. Voters may decide the issue during the Aug. 2 primary election.

We've been offering a fine selection of Oriental rugs at Hudson's for years and we're in business to stay. It's in our long-term interest to provide our customers with rugs that will last a lifetime.

You get top quality.

Our collection includes only rugs made from the finest quality wool—that special wool that grows around the sheep's neck. All are handmade (the average 6'x9' rug takes 6 months to make). And we buy directly from the rug markets of Persia, India, Pakistan and the People's Republic of China.

You get a wide selection.

We could throw out a lot of numbers like 10,000 square feet of selling space and a $5 million inventory, but that would miss the point. Suffice it to say that you'll find styles, sizes and colors to go with any room setting, from contemporary to traditional.

You get great service.

Our knowledgeable consultants can help you select the rug that's appropriate for your home. And they can tell you all you want to know about how rugs are made and how to care for them

You get honest value.

At Hudson's the price is always right. You can choose from over 3000° rugs, ranging in size from 2'x3' to 12'x20' and priced from $39 to $14,995. Comparison shop; we predict you'll choose Hudson's

Plans must preserve seminary

T. JOHN'S Provincial Seminary has a long cials and interesting history in Plymouth

It would be a shame now that the seminary is closing to see the facilities torn down, the land cleared and an office complex or luxury condominiums in its place.

That is why Plymouth Township officials must push for a development that will retain the Roman architecture and earth-toned masonry of the seminary buildings.

And those development plans should include retaining the golf course that occupies more than half of the 175-acre site at Five Mile and Shel-

Officials have a definite idea of what they would like to see on the northern boundary of the township, township planning director James Annlewicz said

THE ULTIMATE development. Anulewicz said, would keep the golf course and use the seminary facilities as a convention center. That sounds like a reasonable idea to us.

The township does have a say in what occurs on the site. The property is zoned residential with minimum lot sizes of one acre. Any zoning changes would have to be approved by local offi-

Declining enrollment led to the decision to close the seminary, which was opened in 1949. The Archdiocese of Detroit placed the property on the market and has been tight-lipped about development proposals for the site.

The archdiocese was looking at having a land planner evaluate what the most appropriate use is." Anulewicz said.

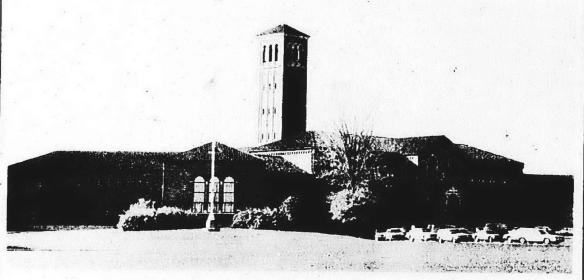

We hope that planner will come up with an idea that maintains the site and buildings. So far, it appears little has occurred in the year that has passed since the announcement was made that St. John's would close

Put an end to voter apathy

"Where annual elections end, there slavery than in any presidential contest. It's so low that begins" - John Adams, 1776

T MAY BE fitting that John Adams, a Founding Father, president and signer of the U.S. Constitution, found something cynical to say about elections in that most significant year in America's history.

Meanwhile, in election year 1988, voter turnout is disturbingly low, especially in local elections where a single vote has much more impact

Parents need to set an example in civic responsibility for their children by exercising have it. But we'd better figure it out. their right to vote.

some of us feel guilty.

It's time for Americans to stand up and make a choice on millage, school board and city council ballots, as well as state, congressional and presidential races.

Consider this: Three Michigan researchers recently completed a study that indicated many people lie about whether they voted. The study showed voter turnout would increase about 50 percent if everyone who said they voted actually

And the better educated person is the most likely fibber. In 1980, the researchers said, 56 percent of the college graduates who said they had voted that year were lying.

Locally, turnout was shamefully low in recent school elections. In Livonia, 3.6 percent of the registered voters cast ballots and in Birmingham

In Bloomfield Hills, turnout was 2 percent and in Westland 3 percent.

During presidential election years, turnout is higher. Still, in 1984, fewer than 60 percent of registered voters cast ballots.

Small turnouts allow well-organized special interest groups to have a bigger effect on election results. An organization turning out 200 voters for a school board contest attracting only 400 voters has that election wrapped up, bought and

That isn't democracy. It is an increasingly effective means of achieving political ends.

And it should be noted that small turnouts count only the percentage of registered voters. Not tabulated are the thousands of voting age people who are not even registered.

We offer these suggestions:

paid for.

Voter registration should continue to be accessible, especially to young people, our future electorate. Eighteen-year-old high school seniors should be allowed and encouraged to register as part of government classes and at graduation. Schools should emphasize the significance and troubled history of voting rights.

Even more importantly, parents need to set an example in civic responsibility for their children. Groups like the League of Women Voters should continue to organize and present candidate and issue forums, and to push voter registration drives.

Forget the guilt, make the effort to vote this year. We Americans don't know how good we

Mobility crucial issue to senior citizen driver

SOMETHING keeps coming up in conversations that really bothers me. It should bother you, too.

You've probably heard it. "They're just too old to drive. Somebody should take their license

But this concern is an example of an attitude that goes far beyond whether a person can drive.

Certainly, we all worry about our parents or grandparents, especially when the reality of mortality rears its ugly head. We reluctantly notice the halted speech, the stumbling walk that "just yesterday" weren't

But that's true of people in their never feel as old as everyone else thinks you should.

Now that conversation took place some 17 years ago and more than likely the energetic landlord has met his maker.

But his attitude and lifestyle taught an important lesson and put me on guard against one of the major social problems facing our country - age discrimination.

Increasingly, we harbor an attitude of no compromise when it comes to the elderly.

Don't misuse test scores

To the editor:

I feel compelled to respond to some misleading information that was circulated by one school board candidate in the recent election. Mary Dahn incorrectly interpreted some Michigan Education Assessment Program test results and, without having adequate background information, tried to use these results to support her candidacy and to impune the excellent reputation and integrity of our fine school district.

The purpose of the MEAP science test is to provide school districts and parents with a picture of how well their students are doing. The state assessment results are only one tool used by teachers and school administrators to look at student learning and consider ways to improve.

The intent is to show how well local district programs match with the state expectations for student performance in science. Student outcomes are used to analyze individual student performance on state-specified minimum objectives. These results must be viewed as an overall look at relative student strengths and needs rather than the only measure of success or failure.

STATE SCIENCE testing was mandated only for the fall of 1986. Plymouth-Canton Community Schools volunteered to have students tested again in 1987. Because the process of curriculum revision is still going on, the design, organization and expectations of our curriculum remain different from many of the items tested.

As a result of this the performance of our students in science was not as high as we have been used to in reading and mathematics tests. This was true statewide, not just in Plymouth-Canton. Use of MEAP test results for comparison of schools or school districts in inappropriate and misleading. In November 1987 State Department of Education communication, Gary Hawks, acting superintendent of instruction, emphatically cautions against such comparisons.

SAYS HAWKS, "Test results should never be used to compare one school district against another or one school with another. Other factors such as curriculum, staffing, composition of the student body and expenditures also must be considered when looking at a school or school MEAP test results are useful in learning more about the strengths and needs of our students and our curriculum. As a tool they are helpful in considering ways to improve.

So what have we been doing with our science curriculum in order to respond? Over the past three years

(starting a year before the first ever MEAP science test in 1986) we have completely revised our science curriculum in grades K-9 so that it meets the state mandated science objectives. We are also examining the 10-12 curriculum to determine its alignment with the state objec-

IN ORDER to implement science program changes, more than 40 teacher training sessions have been held utilizing state department, university, and local experts. Two years ago the district appointed a curriculum coordinator for science. We have purchased new textbooks at several grade levels, and the 1986 bond project has provided teaching materials and equipment to support the science program improvements.

Progress does not come overnight; change is a process, not an event. You need to know we are working for improvement.

It is unfortunate that Mrs. Dahn overlooked the fact that 448 students received state certificates for achieving 100 percent of the objectives on the MEAP test in 1987. In the future I would hope board candidates with not only give accurate information facts but seek explanation of the facts before attacking the established quality of our school sys-

Freedom has special meaning

SOMEWHERE in the great Government in the Sky, the Framers of the Constitution were probably a bit puzzled over an incident that occurred in the area recently

I know I was - so much so that it has prompted me to share it with you as we head for the Fourth of July observance and a national inclination to rally round the flag.

The incident has to do with an essay contest, an enthusiastic teacher, an exuberant high school senior, a disappointed sponsor and creeping apathy that seems to be overtaking us on many fronts.

It all began several months ago when the Livonia Republican Women's Club approached several school districts in the area with the idea of an essay contest on the topic of "My Freedom and Responsibility Under the Constitution" to help commemorate the 200th anniversary of the U.S. Constitution.

WINNERS would receive $100, $50 and $25 prizes, respectively. Essays would be 500-750 words in length. Not exactly an epic, mind you. About a 11/2 pages of doublespaced copy more or less.

When approached, the idea seemed acceptable to all the school officials, so the club went on to make plans for judges.

I was one of the people contacted to help read the essays. Frankly, I was delighted and quickly accepted and marked on the calendar the approximate time the judging would take place. I am more than happy to promote any kind of creative writing event. In my view, there's not enough of it going on in the schools today, for one reason for another.

To me, it looked like an easy way for some debt-ridden senior (do you know what proms cost these days?) to pick up a hundred bucks without too much effort. All any smart cookie would need to do was internalize Bruce Springsteen's "Born in the U.S.A." and probably pocket one of the prizes.

Anyway, I was looking forward to reading what the Leaders of Tomorrow had to say about the Bill of Rights - no matter how kooky or far out the views happened to be. I figured because of the scope of the contest, there would be maybe 10 or 15 entries. So no big deal, timewise. But it was not to be.

THE LEADERS of Tomorrow

At the close of the contest, the club learned that only one - count it, one - essay had been submitted.

"Too busy." "Too boring a subject." "Next time try the English department (instead of the history department)." Those were some of the reasons the committee got as an explanation for the lack of response.

But the one essay the club received was a winner in every sense of the word.

It was written by a 17-year-old Plymouth Salem High School student, a Vietnamese refugee who has only been in this country eight years.

Ming E. Quach told how in 1980 "my family and I escaped from Viet Nam on a fishing boat. Our goal was to sail to freedom. Our fear was lack of food, water on board, and the weather conditions we might meet."

Sound familiar?

Storms and bad weather took us to Indonesia. From there we were put in a refugee camp with thousands of other 'boat people' like us. We lived there a year and finally were sponsored by a church (Newburg United Methodist Church in Livonia) to come to the land of liberty called America."

"I am aware," Ming Quach wrote, and appreciate the freedom under the constitution that we have in the United States. I feel my responsibility is to understand, respect and protect the Constitution of the United States of America; but I also feel that it is my responsbility to help other fellow Americans, who often take their freedom for granted, by sharing my experience.

Ming gives a lot of credit to his teacher, Cyndi Bernstein for his involvement in the essay contest.

"SHE ENCOURAGED me - and I needed the money," said Quach, in perfect English and smiling broadly.

Bernstein smiled too. Bernstein admits she looks for contests to help cash-conscious students.

(Incidentally, Ming went on to win an additional honor. In competition with eight others in his graduating class, he won the honor of delivering the commencement address before 700 of his classmates June 12 in Hill Auditorium in Ann Arbor.)

Even though he has a part-time job and took part in many of the senior activities, Ming apparently wasn't too busy to sit down and write what he felt, plainly and simply Likewise, Bernstein, as a teacher, did her job in encouraging him to follow through.

When I expressed my amazement at the lack of response from any of the three or four districts contacted. several colleagues chided me. "They should have asked them to design a video game instead of writing an essay," was one answer.

Maybe so. But essay contests aside, let's just hope those same graduating seniors never become too bored, too busy or too comfortable so as not to speak up when their rights or the rights of others are being trampled on.

Don't call me by first name

quired legion of friends

I haven't met them; we rarely speak on the telephone. I am however, at a disadvantage in this situation, because they not only seem to know me, but mistakenly think we've been chums for years.

They are the mannerless drones of The New Familiar Members of this little-known sect are afflicted with what appears to be a voluntary disorder that causes them to call people, with whom they are not familiar, by their first names.

Even as a pup I was instructed in the correct use of honorific titles The prevailing thought was that until: 1) proper introductions had been made, 2) familiarity was encouraged, or 3) otherwise instructed, one always addressed an individual using the person's surname preceded by "Mr., Mrs. or Ms.," as the individual preferred. It seemed a matter of simple courtesy.

APPARENTLY I was one of few so instructed. I called a series of hospital public relations departments today while working on a story for our business section. I introduced myself. Everyone I talked to - people I'd never traded two words with called me by my first name, and an abbreviated form of my first name, at that.

That's something for friends to do. I don't appreciate people establishing a tenuous familiarity and then attempting to do business under the flag of false friendship

I am not alone

On weekends, my wife and I take turns hanging up on people who call, address us by our given names and then ask if we would be interested in buying triple-pane insulated windows, siding, lawn services, a new roof or insulation.

In the newsroom, it is commonly held that if a public relations person wants even the slimmest opportunity to pitch a story, then that person shouldn't use given names with people they've never met. We use titles around here, especially during interviews. We don't feel exempt from a proper display of manners

A COLLEAGUE wanted to know if I was going to include the "Great Equalizer" theory here, and it is appropriate to do so. She was referring to the misbegotten idea that calling strangers by their first names puts us all on the same, level playing field

Rubbish. It antagonizes instead of equalizes. It is presumptuous. It is arrogant. It is built on the shallow notion that foreshadows other onerous attempts at creating artificially friendly relationships for the sole purpose of doing business. It occurs to me that definition, also, could be applied to networking

The solution, particularly for those whose best interests would be served by accomplishing their goal, is simple. When you have only a passing familiarity with someone acknowledge it Be straight, state your case and be courteous. Save the first-name stuff for the bars, management meetings and other situations where a forked tongue not only is appreciated, but admired.

The sweet sounds of music filled the Plymouth Cultural Center last week during a children's concert sponsored by the Adoption Cradle Support Group East.

The Thursday, June 23, concert was held "to promote awareness of our group," said Jim Walsh of Rochester Hills, co-chairman of the held to give group members a chance to get together and have some fun

He and his wife, Judy, are the parents of one daughter, Lauren Beth, who is 14 months old.

Their adoption will be final next month. Judy and Jim Walsh waited for years before they were able to adopt their daughter.

"We waited six years and two days," he said. That waiting period involved extensive interviews. If biological parents were required to go through such a process, Walsh said, there's be a lot less abuse and neglect and everything else going on."

Jane Gardner and her husband. Lee, are the parents of one son, Kevin, who is $2^{\frac{1}{2}}$. They adopted Kevin when he was 7 weeks old.

The Gardners didn't wait quite as long for their adoption; their agency, The Adoption Cradle, has a policy allowing for the referral of birth mothers to the agency.

The agency, based in Battle Creek. offers services for birth mothers, including a home for those women, Gardner said.

The Gardners hope to adopt another child soon. They decided to adopt because they weren't sure they were able to have children.

The Walshes decided to adopt when they found they weren't able to have children

Kids learn about values

Jerry Jacoby's music has a message.

Jacoby's musical presentations are designed to teach children about honesty, respect, responsibility and forgiveness. Jacoby, a Detroit resident, performs mostly in elementary schools. He has also performed at camps, conferences and other settings.

Jacoby sings and plays musical instruments, keeping kids entertained. He recently performed at a concert presented by the Adoption Cradle Support Group East. That concert, open to support group members and others, was held Thursday, June 23, at the Plymouth Cultural Center.

The message of his music is different from much of what appears on children's television programs; monsters and violence aren't a part of his performances.

"The kids emulate a lot of this stuff."

His recent "Good Stuff for Kids" performance at the Plymouth Cultural Center was designed to appeal to the wide range of ages found in the audience. Jacoby's performances generally last about 45 minutes.

HE OCCASIONALLY does workshops for children whose parents are going through a divorce. Jacoby finds himself performing in front of a large group of kids, all of whom are feeling the effects of a divorce in the Jacoby earned a bachelor's in music education and a master's of music from Wayne State University, where he served for two years as assistant director of bands. His public school career has included working with elementary and high school students in both instrumental and vocal music

ONE OF THE musical numbers Jacoby presented told the story of a girl who learns about the importance of sharing; she comes to realize it's important to share chocolate chip cookies with her brother.

Treasure hunt takes kids on an adventure

By Julie Brown staff writer

A group of Plymouth-Canton youngsters enjoyed an archeological adventure last Friday.

They didn't have to travel too far for their adventure. The trip, sponsored by the Plymouth Community Arts Council, took them to the Detroit Institute of Arts.

Alex Bain examines some of the items provided for the DIA's archeological adven-

When they arrived at the DIA, the children found suitcases full of clues waiting for their archeological adventure. The object of the search was to find different pieces in the DIA galleries; booklets used for the treasure hunt included information about those pieces.

'We're going on a treasure hunt," said Erin Bulea, a 10-yearold student at Bird Elementary School in Plymouth Township. She was busy Friday morning, searching for Egyptian artifacts.

ERIN HAD some help from 91/2year-old Christie Wilson, also a student at Bird Elementary School. The girls worked as a team, searching through the DIA's ancient Mesopotamian, Egyptian, Greek and Roman galleries.

You have to search and find things," Christie said in describing their treasure hunt, "The Mystery of the Five Fragments."

As the girls found the various artifacts, they recorded information in their treasure hunt logbooks. Factors such as color, design, material, location and shape of fragments helped them in their search.

THE TREASURE hunt was designed by the DIA and made possible by a grant from the W.K. Kellogg Foundation. The suitcases used on the treasure hunt contained fragments, based on the designs of Information on the fragment tags helped the children find what they were looking for at the art institute. The youngsters examined the fragments, and then tracked down on which piece each fragment's design was based.

Eight local children participated in the program at the DIA, along with two mothers and Catherine Graves, a Plymouth Community Arts Council instructor.

"I think it's a pretty nice-sized group," said Graves, a Canton resident who is teaching the arts council's watercolor class this summer. "We really enjoy the smaller groups.

Having a smaller group of children means it's possible for each child to receive more attention, she said. The arts council tries to limit groups to about 12 children for such excursions

In addition to her arts council duties, Graves is a graduate student at Michigan State University. She's working on a master of fine arts degree and a master's degree in art history

JUST TWO HOURS A WEEK AT A SYLVAN LEARNING CENTERCANBRINGOUTTHE CLASSROOM WHIZ THAT'S HIDING IN YOUR CHILD.

Sylvan Learning Centers are located in major cities across America We teach reading and math. We can bring your youngster up to grade level and then move him ahead. We can build the child's self-confidence and desire to succeed.

HOW SYLVAN CAN GUARANTEE SUCCESS

Take away the competition, the stress, and the fear of failure, and something extra-ordinary happens. Children learn.

This simple approach to education has been tested and proven at Sylvan Learning Centers, time and again. We've helped thousands of children, from the early grades on up, to do better in school. That is why we offer this unique promise: your child's reading or math skills will improve by at least one full grade level after just 36 instruction hours. Or we will provide up to 12 additional hours of instruction, at no further cost. Improvement will be measured by a nationally-recognized achievement test, given before and after instruction at Sylvan.

Call today for more information. There's no obligation.

Newly ordained minister specializes in youth work

staff writer

The Rev. Douglas Jay McMunn takes some teasing from his brothers, who work as farmers. They enjoy telling him, "Well, you only work one day a week any

His brothers know, however, that McMunn actually puts in a great deal of time on the job Sundays aren't the only days McMunn works.

McMunn, 27, was ordained as an elder and received as a full member of the Detroit Annual Conference of the United Methodist Church June 10. The ordainment occurred at the 147th session of the conference, held at Adrian College in Adrian, Mich. He was ordained by Bishop Judith Craig, resident bishop of the Michigan Area of the United Methodist Church.

McMunn has been reassigned to the First United Methodist Church of Plymouth for the coming year.

The ordained ministry is a special kind of ministry, McMunn said. It involves word, sacrament and order, or preaching, conducting sacraments and providing pastoral leadership.

'It's the church's way of affirming the calling and gifts of a person to do those kinds of ministry."

McMUNN WAS under probationary status during his first two years at the First United Methodist Church of Plymouth. That was a period of testing, both for him and for the church

McMunn is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl McMunn of Jasper, Mich. He graduated from Sand Creek High School in Sand Creek, Mich.

As a teenager, McMunn had the opportunity to lead school-age groups in such areas as athletics and student government. "I enjoyed leadership," he said.

When he was 17, McMunn stood up at a neighboring church to thank that congregation for providing a banquet for his football team. He sensed that God wanted him to encourage and build up the church and its work.

"This is the sense of direction I have had." That stayed constant throughout his college years and beyond.

McMunn received a bachelor of arts degree from Oral Roberts University in Tulsa, Okla., and a master of divinity degree from Asbury Theological Seminary in Wilmore, Ky McMunn's first priority in his work at the Plymouth church is youth ministry. He works mostly with middle school and high school students.

McMunn recently traveled with a group of 30 high school students on a work camp project. Those students worked on the Appalachian Service Project, a home repair effort concentrated on the rural poor.

THE STUDENTS spent one week in Virginia on the project. They are among some 5,000 volunteers participating in the Appalachian Service Project this summer. The trip south was the highlight of the senior high youth program this year at the First United Methodist Church of Plymouth.

"It does as much or more for the kids as it does for the recipients." Student participants learn that it is more blessed to give than to receive, just as Jesus

McMunn's second priority is working on the evangelism committee at the church. That committee welcomes visitors and helps people find a smaller group within the church where they can belong and partici-

McMunn also gives sermons at the church. He has found he can get nervous when giving a sermon on a particularly tough, challenging subject, such as one questioning materialism.

The Rev. Douglas McMunn plans to make working with youth one of his first priorities at First United Methodist Church of Plymouth.

"I try to get to that cutting edge as often as I can," he said. Messages of comfort and encouragement are also part of his preaching.

In his work, McMunn has found it a constant challenge to provide time for his private life. He and his wife, Marianne Mugler McMunn, are the parents of two children, Matthew, 2, and Katie, 6 months.

McMUNN PUTS Christ first in his life, considers his family responsibilities, and then his ministry role.

In his first year in pastoral ministry, McMunn said he felt he had to be at the church most of the time. At the beginning, he found himself busy planning and conducting his first funeral, wedding and other services.

'So many firsts, that took a lot of time." Now that he has more experience, such events are not as time-consurning. These days, McMunn takes Fridays off. McMunn enjoys working with young people, and also enjoys working with the Rev. John Grenfell and others at his church. He has found that young people are at an age where they are asking questions and need substantial Christian At the church, there's a thriving New Horizons group for young couples. We're growing spiritually together and enjoying social interaction together." Members support each other in Christian marriage. They also participate in Bible study and enjoy recreational activities such as picnics. The group includes about 20 couples. Providing spiritual guidance for college students is more difficult, McMunn has found. Those students move frequently, and it is difficult to keep track of them.

on their own two feet

moral perspectives

plaintive question has been uttered by bewildered parents who are not able to comprehend or explain the irresponsible or injurious of their grown children.

Many parents, when confronted by the fact that their adolescent or college age children (or even beyond) have violated moral or legal standards, torment themselves with the feelings of guilt and personal responsibility for the transgressions of the younger generation. In an ironic reversal of the Biblical judgment, contemporary society often visits the sins of the children upon their fathers and mothers.

As a Rabbi, I have been witness to the shame and self-punishment that parents undergo when they discover that a son or daughter is using narcotics; or has violated the law, or has engaged in some willfully perverse act that has brought havoc upon his or her life. Since most parents try, as best they can to provide proper training and direction for their young, it is an over simplification. when such tragic events occur, to place all blame upon the shoulders of the older generation

What does one say to parents who have trouble with their children and cry out "What did we do that was wrong? Where did we fail?" There are, to be sure, many ways in which we do fail our children. We neglect to give them enough attention, to talk things over with them, to let them know firmly and lovingly where we stand, to express our convictions about our faith and about our values

YES. THERE are times when we do fail in giving them the proper example of conduct and practice. But, at the same time, there are numerous cases, perhaps the majority, in

What did we do wrong." This which parents do the right things, communicate faithfully, set fine examples, and still their children disappoint them. What about this?

The answer lies in two parts First young people are more influenced by their peers, by the media. by the moral confusion of our age than they are by their elders, or so it seems to me. There is such a thing as the "spirit of the times" which overwhelms any generation. That spirit of moral defiance, of self-indulgence and of instant gratification exercises a powerful and seductive force upon the impressionable hearts and minds of the young.

The second part of the answer lies with children themselves. Once you have done your best for your children, and they grow to maturity, you have to let them stand on their own feet. Their mistakes are their own, and not yours. You have done what you could, you have talked your heart out, you have communicated your conscience, and still they will not listen, at least not yet.

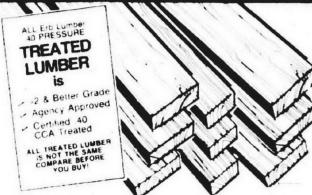

It is up to them to choose what they will, but we cannot consider our children to be babies forever.

Parents who have tried their best (and most do) should not harbor guilt feelings. Our sons and daughters are people in their own right, and, if they reject what their parents have offered, this is their decision, upon which they will either rise or fall. Always, we must give them knowledge that we love them, that they can come to us with their problems, and we shall do what we can to help them. After this, we must hope for the best and accept what may, in some instances, be the unacceptable without tormenting ourselves on how and why we failed.

Rabbi Irwin Groner is with Congregation Shaarey Zedek in Southfield.

Foreign stocks offer different opportunities

With so much growth in many of the countries outside of the United States, I would like to invest in some foreign stocks. Can you give me some ideas on where to begin?

There are three approaches for the investor interested in international investment

The first would be direct purchase of shares, using the stock exchanges in each country where the stock is traded. Some guidance is necessary through your broker or bank, because there can be complex rules for foreign investors. The same financial information is not always available to American investors who are used to full disclosure

THIN MARKETS can also result in rapid price swings. Professional advice for direct investment in foreign securities is probably necessary.

An easier approach to direct investment can be through ADRs (American Depository Receipts), although there are relatively few when compared to the total number of issues in the world.

Another alternative is the ownership of multinational corporations. There are many examples of companies that sell more than 100 countries and have manufacturing facilities throughout the globe. It is not

today's investor of the National Association of Investors Corp.

quite the same as investing in a foreign stock, but there are also some FINANCIAL INFORMATION is readily available. Currency fluctuations will not be as severe since the risk is spread over those of many nations. The stocks are also easily purchased and sold.

The final alternative is the use of mutual funds or investment trusts that have been organized in recent years to satisfy those investors wishing to participate in international markets. They range from the Korea Fund, a close-end investment company that specializes in stocks traded in that country to the Merrill Lynch Pacific Fund, covering a larger geographical area to the more allencompassing Dean Witter World Wide, Fidelity Overseas or Vanguard World Fund. There are, of course, many others.

FUNDS THAT concentrate on stocks of a particular country could have superior performance over any short period of time, but the funds that cross national boundaries seem to spread their risk a little more.

While there is good reason to look at global investing. American stocks should not be eliminated in your search for stocks to study Growing companies are not restricted to countries beyond the borders of the United States

Be aware of competition between husband and wife

Dear Joan

I am friends with a married couple who are in the same professional arena. This couple is competitive with each other in their chosen careers. I'm never sure how to handle giving a compliment to one of them on recent achievements. How can one tactfully do this?

L.M. Birmingham

Very carefully!

It is important that a couple's friends and colleagues be sensitive to the whole subject of competition between husband and wife. Friends should be able to sense if husband and wife feel the competition in the workplace too keenly, this is no time to joke, make fun or even discuss who is ahead of whom" in the career patterns of husband and wife.

It is best to bring up the subject of one's great advancement over the other in private and to congratulate that person out of earshot of the

Dear Joan:

• Know about punctuality in keeping business and social engagements. Should you be on time, slightly late or quite late?

• When you are the guest of honor, should you leave first? If not, who should?

• Know the way people refer to their own country. For example, Soviets want you to say "the Soviet Union," not "Russia." -Dear Joan:

A friend of mine has been given an overseas assignment by the company he works for. He will be gone for about six months to a year. What would be an appropriate gift for bim?

S.S. Farmington Hills
One of the best gifts you can give a colleague is a standard medical kit. Finding a drugstore in a foreign city is difficult enough; finding one open during an emergency is downright impossible. A standard kit would contain: aspirin, a decongestant inhaler, throat lozenger, a gentle laxative, antacid and small bandages. These are all over-the-counter items, and when one needs such items in a foreign country it is nice to find it in a gift packed by a friend.

Another gift, although time-consuming for the giver, is a gift of research. This would involve preparing a notebook filled with information on the country articles clipped from recent publications, a list of top government officials (obtainable through that country's consulate), national holidays, major museums and cultural institutions, major sports teams, names of leading hotels and restaurants, top stores and hairdressers, names and telephone numbers of English-speaking doctors (again found through the consulate). This personally compiled resource aid can be invaluable to the traveler Dear Joan:

I have recently been promoted to department manager for the organization I am with. What are some rules for proper behavior on the part of a manager?

The list is never-ending. I have chosen 10 Golden Rules for a manager to share with you. The good man-

Report to wine lovers: '84, '85 really good?

N BORDEAUX the weather is extremely important in the growth of wine production. The family of red wines grown there, cabernet sauvignon, merlot, cabernet franc, malbec and others are subject to great variability from vintage to vintage. In the last 20 years there have been some astonishingly great ones: 1970, 1975, 1978 and 1982 come to mind. But there have been some that were perhaps equally disastrous: 1972, 1974

Not so in California where the cabernet "family" of grapes grows as well as it does in France. While every year is not a vintage year, each is generally sound, some fine and some exceptional. Reasons for this are many, complex and not always fully understood It is generally understood that this consistency is one of California's greatest attributes.

But within this consistency there is variation, some of it bordering on the dramatic. The 1972 vintage was as close to being a disaster as California comes. And 1969 was nearly as bad. Wines from those years were thin and short-lived, nearly as bad as somme of Bordeaux's poorest.

There have been others that were spectacular. Most agree that 1968, 1970 and 1974 were as fine as could be, producing wines of elegance, complexity and grace. Nearly as fine were the 1976, 1978 and 1982 vintages of cabernet, and many feel that 1983 was a real winner, though there was some regional variation.

THEN: BACK-TO-BACK, came the great 1984 and 1985 vintages. From the beginning, when writers and critics first copped barrel samples, along about 1986 when the wines had begun to show their character, 1984 was universally proclaimed "the best since.

A year later the wine writers were back, perhaps even more enthusiastic this time. Robert Parker, hot critic of the mid-'80s, declared "On overall balance this vintage is even superior to the excellent 1984 vintage" and "1985 across the board will provide some of the most exhilarating wines for the current generation of wine drinkers." Pretty heady stuff, that. These pronouncements are the kinds of things that drive prices, especially futures prices, up

The two vintages, in spite of their greatness, were very different from each other. The year 1984 produced one of the earliest harvests in California viticultural history. It was completed by the end of September.

Violent heat (in Napa, 34 days with temperatures of more than 100 degrees), during that summer brought sugar levels to soaring status. The harvest itself was chaos, grapes of all varieties coming in for crushing at the same time. Terrible logistics from Mother Nature. But from all this adversity came some truly fine

In 1985, thing were very different. The weather was cooler, growing season long and occasionally damp. The harvest was steady, controlled and predictable. The grapes could be worked carefully

Both years produced short crops, a circumstance which will affect us all as these highly sought-after wines come to the market. There will be some shortages. Some are 'already developing. Not only cabernets, but merlots, zinfandels, chardonnays and pinot noirs all will be affested. News of a weak 1987 harvest will compound this. The 1986 is still in question, though futures look fairly strong from early reports.

"BUY NOW," advise the mer- Now with 1985, well maybe.

hants. "Get your supply before the hoarders take over," they seem to be

However, good as 1984 and 1985 look now, some words of caution are in order Namely Remember 1980" That was the vintage, especially with cabernet and zinfandel. when we were told over and over that this was the vintage of the decade. All that ripe, full, luscious fruit combined with good structure and

Those of you who are now drinking wines from that vintage know what has happened the fruit has turned flabby and some of the wines are now falling apart. And the alcohols, with less competition, tend to feel hotter now. All the high promise of a great vintage has seemed to wash away with time.

Full-bore commitment to any vintage from California always has its risks, no matter what critics may say Predictions of future performance in the world of wines is really little safer than the stock market and with real estate values

We can read indicators, assess the picture as it seems today easily. To know what will really happen tomorrow can but be nothing more than speculation. For one, I continue to be concerned with those harvest and growth conditions in 1984. Could that be another 1980? Probably not, but I am not going to overstock this time

• FIREWORKS

EXTRAUAGANZA

The International Freedom Festival's 30th anniversary will be celebrated by Hudson's, Stroh's, WDIV-TV 4 and WCSX-FM, with the annual fireworks display beginning at 10:06 p.m. Thursday, June 30. The spectacular will originate from three locations in the Detroit River, as show organizers add another barge filled with fireworks. More than eight and one half tons of fireworks will be used during the 35-minute display. The show is being produced by the American Fireworks Co. of Hudson, Ohio, which is celebrating an anniversary of its own: a 29-year history with the festival.

AUDITION TIME

Stagecrafters Baldwin Theatre announces aduitions for "Angels Fall," a play by Lanford Wilson to be presented at the new Second Stage, upstairs at the Baldwin Theatre, on Fridays-Saturdays, Aug. 19-20, 26-27. Auditions continue at 7 p.m. Thursday, June 30, at the Second Stage, 415 S. Lafayette, Royal Oak. Entrance is via the 5th Street mall between Lafayette and Washington. "Angels Fall" will be the second presentation of the new Second Stage in its own season that complements Baldwin Theatre Mainstage performances

Dennis Carroll of Redford Township reaches with a driver to pull his ball out of the partially dried-up pond on the No. 2 hole at Whispering Willows Golf Course. Under normal conditions, with the drought.

Carroll's ball would have been sitting about a foot under water. Area courses have had their own problems contending

Drought puts courses near crisis

By C.J. Risak staff writer

Tuesday was a tease

The rain that had been hoped for for the past month seemed to have arrived at last. The almost-forgotten droplets, while welcomed by all, were enthusiastically greeted by greenskeepers and golf pros throughout the metro Detroit area.

Alas, it was merely a taunt. No downpour this day, instead, a slow, tantalizing drip, drip, drip that never came close to quenching the turf's month-long thirst was all that resulted.

Talking about how golf courses have suffered through this drought may seem ludicrous when considering the plight of Midwestern farmers. But these are multi-million dollar investments, many owned and operated by cities, which make their possible destruction a civic concern.

IS IT THAT ominous? No, not yet, according to course operators and greenskeepers. But the longer the drought continues, the greater the risk of damages that could lead to major financial Already the lengthy dry spell has forced the city of Livonia to take steps to preserve the integrity of its most-frequented course, Whispering Willows Yesterday, Willows was closed until 3 p.m. so greens could be soaked.

golf

greens and get deeper than the roots," said golf down the center of the fairways, not down the pro Gary Whitener, who together with greenskeeper Dave Montgomery convinced city officials the move was necessary. "We thought it was the best way to handle it.

"There are spots on the greens that are brown. If (the grass) dies, we have to reseed.'

The bent grass used on greens is difficult to kill, but if it does die, the only recourse is resodding or reseeding. Many areas of rough off the side of fairways, now turned brown by the hot weather, will recover when rain comes.

IF IT COMES. "It certainly has been a tough year," said Ken DeBusscher, greenskeeper at Wabeek Country Club in West Bloomfield, expressing a sentiment shared by all. "Last year was a tough year. This one could be even worse.

'What's kind of scary is that we're going into the two hottest months of the year.' Water is, of course, the major problem. But so is distribution. As DeBusscher explained, when ou have to depend on your watering system, you find out its shortcomings very quickly. Then you have to go to other things, hoses and portable sprinklers.

At Katke-Cousins Golf Course in Rochester, the deficiencies in the watering system are plainly evident. "Our course," explained pro Bill Rog-We have to have the water penetrate the ers, "has a single-row irrigation system that goes sides.

THE RESULT? "Our golf course is in super condition, from tee to green," said Rogers. "But you get off the fairway, you're in brown, burned-out grass.'

Golfers at another of Livonia's public courses, Idyl Wyld, are well-acquainted with worse conditions. The course's antiquated watering system hits only the tees and greens, leaving fairways to burn up unless watered by hose. Putting in a new watering system is "an immediate goal of our capital improvement fund," said Whitener.

Of course, weather like last Saturday's - temperatures over 100 degrees and high winds render any system useless. The combination of high heat and wind dries up the water before it does any good.

"Saturday," said DeBusscher, "was one of those days you pray everything holds together."

SC soccer builds toward another title

By C.J. Risak staff writer

Strength has replaced weakness, if the new recruits signed by Schoolcraft College womens soccer coach Nick O'Shea serve as a barometer.

That's the good news. The bad news is the reverse is also true weakness has replaced strength. And the latter may be more evident than

Of course, it's hard to find fault with a national championship team, which is what SC was last season. The Lady Ocelots were fairly solid throughout their lineup, but their strongest point was in their attack, with a front line that featured All-Americans Jennifer Huegli and Jennifer Flowers, and Mary Kay Hus-

But junior college coaches rarely have an opportunity to relish success, since players have just two years of eligibility. Huegli, Flowers and Hussey will not return. Neither will keeper Amy Weber, defender Kelly Churchill, and utility players Kristi Green, Kelly Holzwart and Laurie McLachlan.

So O'Shea must rebuild around midfielder Maureen Frampus and defenders Shari Acitelli and Lisa Hysko. O'Shea is hoping two other starters from that championship team - midfielder Jamie Kubacki and sweeper Jennifer Belhart also decide to return.

THE RECRUITS signed so far by O'Shea indicate SC's defense will be as good, and very possibly better, than last year's. Problem is, there's no one who comes close to playing forward like Huegli, Flowers and

"Oh, I need 'em bad," admitted O'Shea of his lack of forwards. "I definitely have a solid defense with a good midfield. I just need some for-

And yet, O'Shea figures the Lady Ocelots "should go into training camp better than last year. We only had one returning player last year, so we have more to start with.' What buoys his optimism are his new players, starting with those on defense. The top two high school sweepers in the area will play at SC: Kellie Davis from Livonia Churchill and Lori Stoecklein from Plymouth Canton. Davis was first-team allstate, while Stoecklein was all-Western Division. Joining them is defender Rosemary Hally, also from Churchill (which O'Shea coaches, too). Hally choice and usually marked the opposing team's best offensive player. Hally won most of those battles.

IF KUBACKI RETURNS, O'Shea's midfield will be just fine with the addition of first-team allstater Dawn Gabriel, from Churchill. Gabriel stands just 4-foot-10 (a statistic she's no doubt tired of hearing), but plays big-time.

Wendy Howell, from Mount Clemens Chippewa Valley, is another midfielder. Howell led the Big Reds in scoring last season, and O'Shea is hopeful she could fill one of the forward spots. DeAnne Brda, from Livonia

Franklin, Lori Hodges, from Garden City, and Gina Carrozo, from Livonia Ladywood, are other forward possibilities. Both Brda and Carrozo played mostly defense this past season, but each have experience as forwards. Hodges was the Cougars leading scorer.

ANOTHER CHIPPEWA VALLEY product O'Shea is counting on is keeper Kris Moore. A year ago, O'Shea thought he had Moore signed to play for SC, but she decided to work. She should improve the goalkeeping, which was questionable until Weber, normally a forward, filled the role and did an adequate job.

Whether these newcomers can take SC to another NJCAA championship remains to be seen. What is certain is that O'Shea isn't resting on his laurels, waiting for players to search him out. He's still looking for

Pitcher's bat boosts Craiger

First-place Craiger raised its Babe Ruth League record to 9-1 Monday with a 7-3 victory over Georgetown Realty.

Jason Bregni, who belted his sixth home run of the season, Steve Aumann and Scott Kennedy combined to strike out 11 batters and pitch a four-hitter

Kennedy also helped with his bat, going 2-for-3 and driving in three runs. Jason Stoops and Bregni were 2-for-4 with two RBI, both of Bregni's coming on his homer. The outcome overshadowed an 11-strikeout performance by losing pitcher Eric Nielson. Craiger whipped Dairy Junction Express 14-3 on Friday and the Grosse Pointe Red Sox 10-3 on Tuesday, June 21. The winners had a twogame total of 23 hits. CHRIS MOORE led the victory over the Express by going 4-for-4.

RBI, Kennedy 2-for-2 and Stoops and Bregni 2-for-4. Bregni and Kennedy shared a four-hitter in this game, too, and also

Kevin Goff was 3-for-4 with four struck out a combined 11 batters. In the Red Sox game, Craiger scored all 10 runs on six hits in the second inning. The big blows were triples by Josh Wiegand and Frank Learned.

Eric Nielson pitched an excellent game for Georgetown Realty but in a losing cause against first-place Craiger.

5-mile record tumbles

Marianne Bayne set an age-group record in the process of posting the best overall time among women runners in the 10th Annual Canton Country Festival Five-Mile Run Saturday

The Westland resident not only won the women's 40-49 competition but topped the entire field with a 37 30 time.

Mike Kavulich of Plymouth was the men's overall winner with a 25.02 time. He was first in the 20-29 age division. Rochester's Dan DeRoeck, runnerup to Kavulich in that group, had the second-best time overall at 26.27. Susan Stimson of Ann Arbor, who won the women's 20-29 bracket, was second behind Bayne at 39 03 OTHER WINNERS in the male races included Craig Burnett of Canton, inder 14 Patrick Norris of Plymouth, 15-19; Greg Duerr of Canton, 30-39, Dan Hendren of Taylor 40-49, and Ken Simpson of Detroit, over-50. Canton's Cathy Lenaghan won the female 15-19 race, and Canton's Barba a Basinski was the women's 30-39 winner. In the Plymouth Run on Saturday, June 18, Terry Elsey won the men's 10kilometer race in 31 55 and Susan Tomanek the women's 10k race in 37:12. Norris won the men's one-mile run and was runnerup to Elsey. Phil Sanborn was third in the 10k event Lisa Butler was second in the women's 10k race and Diane Himebaugh

BILL KLOOTE and Alan Sonovelian finished behind Norris in the mile, and the 5k race saw Jeff Fedewa, Matt Schroeder and Steve Takalo finish 1-

Cecilia Rzys won the women's one-mile run, Jamie Bolls was second and Shelly Schaben third. In the 5k contest, it was Susan Alt in first place followed by Sandra Elliott and Gail Long.

One of the nation's largest age soccer group tournaments of its kind will kick off once again Saturday as 136 teams will compete for titles in 13 different divisions at Wolverine 9 Soccer Tournament in Livonia.

By Brad Emons

staff writer

Tournament play begins at 8 am, and will run throughout the daylight hours Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

Three different sites will be used for tourney action including Schoolcraft College, where the finals will be held, along with Bicentennial Park and Dickinson School. (See tournament final schedule be-

The Wolverine field has been pared down significantly from a peak of 231 teams, which invaded our area five years ago.

"Last year we had 172 teams and there will be even less this year because we won't have as many coming from Ohio," said Wolverine Tournament director Rick Larson of Livonia, who is vice chairman of the Michigan State Youth Soccer Association, the event's sanctioning

LARSON SAID the Ohio High School Athletic Association has stiffened its rules for out-of-season play, forcing many clubs to the sidelines for the annual Fourth of July weekend tournament.

"We have some other competing tournaments, but the reason why were down is because we won't have as many from Ohio," Larson said. "In the past we had one club (from Cincinnati) that could fill the entire Holiday Inn (the Holidome in Livonia). That's not the case any-

Bats boom for Walter's turned in last weekend in the Livonia Collegiate Base ball League

On Friday, John Stoitsiadis, known more for his abiliy as a defensive back on Eastern Michigan University's California Bowl football champions, delivered a couple of big blows as Walter's Appliance blanked Hines Park Lincoln-Mercury in a game at Livonia's Ford Field 12-

Stoitsiadis collected seven RBI, including a grand slam and a three-run homer Teammate Mike Rudin also belted a three-run homer and another college gridder. Brian Smolinski of Michigan State, collected two hits in the rout hits and walked four to pick up the win. Hurler Derek Darkowski suffered his first defeat in five decisions Ironically, the Stoitsiadis grand slam came off Hines Park reliever Jeff Lyle, who rebounded on Sunday to turn in the LCBL's other outstanding effort of the weekend in an 8-0 win over winless Londo of South Lyon in a game played at Plymouth Canton High.

LYLE CARRIED a no-hitter into the seventh and was one out away before an infield single stopped his bid

But the Kent State student finished with eight strikeouts and two walks to pick up the victory

Offensively, Tony Aiken paced Hines Park with two hits and Rob Adams added two RBI. Joe Wenson and Chris Sisler also knocked in runs during Hines Park's six-run second inning.

In another game on Sunday, first place Little Caesars of Livonia edged Wendy's of Ann Arbor, 8-7, as catcher Derrick Dowling went 4-for-4 and knocked in four runs

Other offensive stars for Caesars included Chuck Hammontree, 3-for-3 and two RBI: Steve Looney, two Caesars led 8-0 before Wendy's rallied during the final four innings. Tony Yandura was the winning pitcher before giving way to Shawn Uzarski

MEANWHILE TOM HOLZER Ford of Northville knocked off Caesars. 7-6 as the winners thwarted Steve Malgay's attempted steal of home with two out in the bottom of the seventh. The game was played Friday at Ford Field

Tom Cotter, the winning pitcher, went the distance He scattered seven hits, walked six and struck out six. Caesars starter Rob Jamula took the loss

Scott Peterson led Holzer with two hits, while Kevin Ritter chipped in with a two-run single in the first Keith Dutkiewicz and Andy Fairman also knocked in

Kocie homered in a losing cause and Uzarski knocked in a pair of runs

On Sunday, Holzer pitcher Mark Salach of Central Michigan University recorded his first win of the year, tossing a five-hitter against Walter's in a 7-4 win at Ford Field

Salach fanned eight and walked four He got defensive help in the seventh from Fairman, who made a backhanded stab at first base and beat Walter's runner John Knittel to the bag for the final out

FAIRMAN ALSO supplied the offensive punch with three hits and two RBI Dutkiewicz added two hits. while Peterson added a key two-run single in the sixth. Knittel collected two hits in a losing cause, while teammate Ken Gendjar added a two-run double. Walter's pitcher Steve Owens, who worked 5% inn

3-run hit sends Elks to victory

Greg Dimitroff's bases-loaded single sent the Plymouth-Canton Elks on their way to a 7-2 win Monday over Plymouth Salem in the Redford Connie Mack League

The victory improved the team's record to 7-2. The third-place Elks trail Redford Union and Ypsilanti, both 7-1, by a half game.

With the score tied 1-1 in the fifth inning. Dimitroff cleared the bases with his timely hit. He fell rounding first base, however, and was held to a single. Chris Kennedy, the winning pitcher after going the first six innings, and Scott Browne, who worked the seventh, combined on a one-hitter. Kennedy struck out seven and allowed the only hit. Salem's Howie Blanchard took the loss, and Danny Boyle pitched the last inning.

On Saturday, the Elks defeated Michigan National Bank 8-6 behind the hitting of Mike Culver and Mikio Tanaka.

Culver's two hits included a home run, and he had two RBI. Tanaka was 3for-4 with two RBI. Pat Hughes bolstered the defense with two difficult catches in center field. Dan Niemiec was the winning pitcher in relief of starter Brian Paupore. After entering in the second. Niemiec allowed four hits and four runs.

The Elks won their first meeting with Salem last Friday, 4-2. Jeff Kugelman pitched his second straight complete game, and Culver smashed a solo homer. Matt Metikosh was the losing pitcher.

Cataracts are the leading cause of blindness in the United States today. Over 70% of people age 60 or older have vision problems caused by cataracts. Yet, up-to-date surgical methods can now improve vision in 95% of all cases.

Through research and testing at leading eye care centers around the country cataract surgery has become an essentially painfree. outpatient procedure that is generally completed in less than 30 minutes. Patients can return home to their normal daily activities within hours of the procedure, with their vision significantly improved within the first 24-48 hours.

One of the modern microsurgical techniques for removal of cataracts is called phaecoemulsification. This technique uses high speed ultrasound waves that fragment and remove the hard, cloudy lens of the eye. Lens removal is done through a very small (approximately 3 millimeter) incision, as contrasted with the otherwise 10 millimeter incision required for most other techniques. Additional new technology now enables ophthalmologists (eye surgeons) to replace the old lens with a new soft foldable lens implant, reinserting the lens through the smaller incision.

Vision Institute of Michigan has participated along with other leading eye care centers across the country as approved investigators for many of the new developments in cataract surgery. We feel that, based on our findings to date. phaecoelmulsification has several distinct advantages over the other methods of cataract removal. Not the least of which is that our studies show that a smaller incision size results in more rapid vision improvement.

If you or someone you know is considering cataract surgery, feel free to contact the Vision Institute of Michigan for a complimentary copy of our cataract information book.

By Corinne Abatt staff writer

Thursday, June 30, 1988 O&E

HE "NAMES PROJECT," which began in San Francisco as a grass roots memorial to AIDS victims, has become a national cause celebre.

To express their love and feelings for those who had died of AIDS, friends and relatives turned to one of our country's earliest and most original art forms - quilting.

What started in San Francisco as a few banners with names of the victims and personal messages has spread across the United States. Quickly it has grown to a patchwork quilt of more than 4,500 3-by-6-foot rectangles (the size of a grave) that is traveling the country, with stops at 20 cities.

It will be at Cobo Hall in downtown Detroit from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday, July 6 and "It is coming from New York City by two semi-truck trailers. This is just a part of the total. On Oct. 7, the whole thing will be on display in Washington, D.C.; it will cover the mall," said Craig Covey, chairman of the NAMES Project for Michigan and consultant with the Michigan Department of Public Health.

COVEY PAUSED a moment and then said very quietly, "No matter what we say, we can't describe what it's like

Among the many volunteers who will be working on the Cobo Hall project will be at least 36 emotional support counselors, he said.

People break down. The impact of the thousands of panels, many with poignant messages, is overwhelming, he said. He recalled being greatly moved by one panel designed as an airmail envelope addressed to the AIDS sufferer with the line, "write back if you can," in the corner. Covey remembered another panel - navy blue representing the night sky with a galaxy of stars and an arrow pointing to one of them, "you are there."

ONE OF the country's leading quilt authorities, Merry Silber of Birmingham, said she had firmly resolved to leave community service projects to a younger generation.

But, "I had to get involved in this when I was asked," Silber said. "This is priority - this and the environment are priorities. Nothing else will matter if we don't do something HISTORICALLY, QUILTING has been a way to bring people together, she said. Quilts covered the beds where people were born, where they made love and where they died. Quilting often was, and still is, a group effort that involves friendships and sharing.

(The quilts themselves) are graphic recording of history, like which there is no other," Silber said. While some families may be giving out names, a stigma is still associated with AIDS, Covey said.

"We who work in AIDS have got to promise anonymity," he said.

Dollmaker wants everything authentic

By Anne Lehmann special writer

Children may think of dolls as playthings, but they are one of the world's most valued and collected

Porcelain, soft sculpture, wood, wax or clay: Whatever the medium, these human-like figures have found their way to specialty stores and posh boutiques. Linda Kellert of Farminghton

Hills, a 34-year-old wife, mother of three boys and hand-knit entrepreneur, never had dolls growing up as a child. "I shared a room with my grandmother who didn't want stuffed animals or dolls in there."

But after her maiden voyage to Europe in 1982, she was smitten. "When I saw all these incredibly beautiful dolls, my husband said, Linda Kellert 'You're so talented and artistic. Why don't you learn how to make

She began a collection which today includes more than 30 dolls. By word of mouth, she found several local artisans who taught classes in doll making. She spent three years learning, practicing and refining her art.

"The work, in putting together a doll, is painstakingly detailed and requires a great deal of study," she

IN 1984 KELLERT entered her first competition sponsored by the national Doll Artisans Guild, and took first place.

She favors creating reproduction pieces of antique European dolls, even though it can take more than a month to produce one piece. "And that's without the costuming, hair and ornamentation.

The majority of her dolls are made from hand-poured porcelain cast in vintage molds, which she sculpts, paints and costumes.

"Pouring the porcelain is an art form in itself," she said. If it's poured badly, the piece has bubbles and cracks.

Like many art forms, the fewer the pourings from the mold, the more valuable a piece tends to be, she said. Hence, whenever possible, she uses local people she can rely on to provide good molds that are not overused.

Working with a delicate medium such as porcelain is a change, she

"It's so paper thin, that if you hold it in your hand the wrong way, you can put stress cracks into it." But handling the material is only part of the problem. Once the porcelain is cast, the piece has to be sanded so carefully, that some of the abrasives used have to be as delicate as nylon stockings and cot-in layers and sculpts openings for the neck and eyes. She handcrafts the teeth, ears and nostrils. After several firings, eyes are applied.

Kellert buys hand-blown glass eyes from Germany for her dolls. Like human eyes, the openings vary so I can go through a hundred pair of eyes until I find just the right ones," she said. She said she likes to use human hair and mohair and when time allows, she fashions the coiffures herself.

THE DETAILING does not end with the doll itself. Kellert designs all the clothes, handpicks antique fabrics, has them made by a professional seamstress and searches out antique accessories. For example, one doll carries a 100-year-old mother-of-pearl purse and another wears a pair of real gold and pearl earrings left to Kellert by her grandmother.

"It's hard to convince people that these dolls are works of art and they are expensive to produce," she said. The fabric for one outfit alone has cost nearly $100. But, she pointed out, she isn't in the business of making dolls for mon-

"I do it as a hobby and for artistic gratification," she said, "and I just try to recoup my cost.'

How do Kellert's three boys react to a mom who spends hours with what are commonly thought of girls toys?

'Two Weeks' is just too weak

T FIRST GLANCE, "Two Weeks in the Forties," a novel by Grosse Pointer T.R. Peters Sr. (Xpressway Publishing, $9.95 softbound), looks like it could be the definitive Detroit novel - indeed, the novel of the century, if the anonymous praise-bearers have their way.

The cover, bearing an evocative black and white photo of the Detroit skyline in the 1940s. also bears a seal proclaiming an "International Literary Award" The words "Stunning Powerful Unforgettable!" are in quotes at the top of the cover, - and at the bottom: "One of the best novels ever to come out of Detroit!"

"A work of enormous vitality. One of the best adolescent portraits yet," an unnamed New York publisher says.

Sheer power and intensity with characters who are uncannily realistic," the mysterious international literary award-givers say.

"Remarkable evocations of the '40s immortals Jack Kerouac, Charlie (Yardbird) Parker, Herace Dodge Jr. and Father Solanus Casey appear in this work," Editorial Review says. The press release says this is a wonderful original, highly entertaining work that should cause a minor sensation, especially in the Detroit and Kalamazoo areas.

And here I am feeling, well, dumb because I just don't see it.

"TWO WEEKS" is the joining of an earlier published novel and its sequel.

In Part One, it is 1943 and the protagonist, Tom Webber, is a 14-year-old student in a Catholic military academy near Kalamazoo. This section covers one week in Tom's life - the week during which his father leaves for overseas and Tom the troublemaker is nearly expelled.

Tom, the typical randy adolescent, is in lust with Theresa Miller ("Theresa Miller was a frustrating, exciting feeling"), a student at a nearby Catholic girls school, but must be content with a few stolen kisses before they're separated.

We learn that Tom, the music lover, has eclectic tastes (Debussy, Ravel, Beethoven, Bartok, Gershwin, contemporary jazz).

He spends a lot of time in the office with the priest and the nuns, who spend a lot of time telling him what a great little philosopher he is reminding him (as though he would allow himself to forget) how intellectually superior he is - but warning him that with his attitude .

In the second section, the sequel, Tom is now 17 and living upstairs of the St. Vincent de Paul warehouse with Solanus as his mentor.

Tom is still randy, surrounded as he is by luscious girls threatening to burst out of their buttons. He is also the local football hero. But poor Tom - he is the hero nobody understands.

"DESPITE A wonderful tender feeling he had for Oleatha (the black girl he eventually seduces), his official girlfriend was Mary David, statuesque, awesomely endowed, with beautiful black hair and bangs and fully committed to Tom as boyfriend, even though she, as middleclass and traditional as possible, really did not accept him for what he was, a brash, gifted, teenage philosopher and self-styled individual-

And, "School was an endless bore for Tom He wondered how he could have been considered so bad at Gull when he had lived the life of a cadet studying for the priesthood the entire eight years. Oh well, he thought, some people are just destined to be perceived as bad because they think for themselves and are independent of the stupidities of life."

Tom is a snob, a prig -he is the endless bore. Tom is not the literary counterpart to Holden Caufield or Huck Finn or David Copperfield or Studs Lonigan, as Xpressway Publishing sug-

There is nothing to feel, because there is nobody there. The book is hampered, too, by curious inconsistencies.

The viewpoint, for example, is Tom's though we learn of future events Tom couldn't possibly know about ("He would be placed in the trust of the Capuchin Monks

In the later chapters, the tense suddenly switches from past to present and back again, continuing at such a dizzying pace that both tenses eventually collide in a single sentence.

AND - OH, for an editor' Debussy's "Afternoon of a Faun," mentioned several times, suddenly becomes "Afternoon of a Fawn," (immediately conjuring up images for Tom of a forest clearing and a single fawn pracing about in the sunlight.

NBD's Convertible A.R.M. gives you low interest rates now...

and the option to convert to a Fixed Rate Mortgage later.

With a Convertible Adjustable Rate Mortgage from NBD, you start with the guaranteed low rates of an Adjustable Rate Mortgage for the first year. Then, any time during the next four years, you can convert to a fixed rate-mortgagequickly, easily.

Take advantage of low rates now...

The NBD Convertible A.R.M. gives you interest rates significantly below current fixed rate mortgages of comparable term. Here's how it works: Your rate is set on the day your completed application is received and it's good for one year from your closing date. Then every 12 months your rate will be adjusted up or down with the market. If interest rates go down, your mortgage payments go down accordingly. If interest rates continue to rise, your payments will increase. However, to protect you from any large changes, NBD guarantees that your A.R.M. will never go up more than two percentage points annually or more than six percentage points over the initial rate. for the life of your loan.

... Lock in a fixed rate later for only $100.

If rates go down, or you want the security of a fixed rate mortgage, just notify our NBD Mortgage Office and they will convert your A.R.M. to a Fixed Rate Mortgage quickly, easily, and at a cost of only $100. You can even do it through the mail! There are no title searches, no waiting, and you can convert any month between the 13th and 60th month of your loan.

Find out more about it.

NBD's Convertible A.R.M. could help you buy more house than you thought. For more information about NBD's Convertible Adjustable Rate Mortgage, or the other loan options we have available, call or visit the NBD Mortgage Company Office nearest you.

 These estimated annual percentage rates are subject to increase or decrease on an annual basis after the loan is closed based upon the formula set forth in the loan contract
