Sheldon Road underpass studied as future project

By Doug Funke

A vehicular underpass at the Sheldon Road railroad crossing could be in Plymouth's future.

Not immediate future, probably. But if the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce, now looking into the matter, city and township officials and state lawmakers line up behind the project, there's a good chance it could be done in 2-5 years.

That's assuming federal funding is available - which a high-ranking railroad official said is a good possibility given the number of vehicles and trains that pass through the area every day

"WE FEEL something needs to be addressed there," said Mary O'Connell Roehr, executive director of the tation, railroad safety division, sets bility and financial standpoint, chamber.

The growth of industrial parks in recent years plus the general difficulty in getting in and out of town due to train delays prompted the chamber's latest inquiry.

So says Marcia Buhl, a member of the chamber's government affairs committee.

"We're just in the initial talking stage," Buhl said. "It's a long-term

'Grade separations are very expensive," Vander Veer said. He estimated that the Sheldon project would cost at least $3 million.

Construction of an underpass at Sheldon would take about 18 months, Vander Veer speculated. "The most practical thing would be to close the road (Sheldon) during construction and detour around it.'

An underpass would be advantageous to the railroad from both a lia-

He said the underpass should have been put in when M-14 was built. He said he doesn't know why the work wasn't done then but assumes economic factors played a part.

Storm keeps firefighters busy

By Doug Funke staff writer

It was a night that fire chiefs Al Matthews and Larry Groth won't long forget.

Calls about downed wires, zapped transformers and actual fires started coming in at about 8:15 p.m. Saturday when a major thunderstorm swept through the community.

The calls continued until past midnight, then started up again at daybreak when homeowners had a chance to survey the damage wrought by high winds, torrential rains and lightning.

"I can't remember a day here like this in my 21 years here with calls," said Matthews, fire chief in the city. "Every piece of equipment

It's been eight years since township firefighters were as busy as they were Saturday, Groth said. "I think our department was taxed to its limits."

ALL AVAILABLE personnel including regulars and volunteers were called out. Twenty-one responded in the township, 20 in the city.

Lightning struck two houses in the township on

Plymouth Road west of Eckles within minutes at about 9:45 p.m.

One house quickly became engulfed in flames township, said Groth. and was totally destroyed, Groth said. An occupant safely escaped with her dog.

Firefighters observed flames from the second house, used as a business, while trying to douse the original fire. They confined the second fire to the basement and kitchen. No one was in that building at the time.

Damage estimates weren't available.

DOWNED WIRES were given special attention. Firefighters remained with live wires in the city and township until relieved by Edison crews, Matthews and Groth said.

'Lots of these lines go over fences and charge fences. We have to keep people away," Groth said. 'Our responsibility is to protect the area and make sure nobody gets near wires," said

Matthews. A wire resulted in a small fire at a garage on North Holbrook. Firefighters remained on the scene for about two hours keeping sparks from causing much damage until Edison arrived to cut

THE TOWNSHIP requested assistance from the city during the height of activity, "but we were unable to give it due to our situation," Matthews said.

Canton also couldn't assist, but Northville Township and Livonia came through, Groth said. A blown transformer closed the school board

Blanchard: Jackson stand 'baloney'

Only three western Wayne County Democrats are at the 1988 Democratic National Convention — the area's smallest contingent in two decades.

ATLANTA - Gov. James Blanchard veered away from the sentiments of many in the Michigan Democratic delegation by referring to Jesse Jackson's stand on issues as "left-wing baloney."

Blanchard's reaction to Jackson's political stands came after the presidential candidate's remarks during his Tuesday evening address before the National Democratic Convention in Atlanta.

"He was best talking about his own constituency and their aspirations. When he was talking about all the issues, it was the same old leftwing baloney, warmed over George McGovern but not as good," said Michigan's chief executive.

Many suburban Detroit delegates didn't share the governor's view.

"He played his hand to the fullest, then gracefully and effectively recognized a new and more important reality - winning is the goal. He showed great skill and finesse in knowing when to bring it to a close, said Peggy Dickinson, Lathrup Village mayor and a member of the Democratic credentials committee.

DUKAKIS DELEGATE Ron Thayer was impressed with Jackson's ability to paint the picture of his political philosophy with words.

"It was stirring. The patchwork quilt, he's talented at analogies." said Thayer, a West Bloomfield resident and a Blanchard executive as-

At one point Jackson referred to the divergent elements of the Democratic party as patches in a quilt which must be weaved together in order to succeed.

Westland's Ben DeHart, although a Dukakis supporter, was moved by Jackson's hour-long speech.

"I have never been a Jackson fan," said the Westland councilman, who said he was especially moved by Jackson's remarks about the forgotten people, too ill to use the hospital

'Y-brat' works to increase programs

By Louise Okrutsky staff writer

When Suzanne Smith takes over as director of the Plymouth Community/Family YMCA in August, it will be a continuation of a lifelong association with the Y.

A self-styled Y-brat, Smith grew up hanging around the Adrian YMCA where her mother worked.

She leaves a job as program director for the largest branch of the Y in Cincinatti. For the past seven years, as one of five directors, she had a hand in spending the $1.5 million program budget.

Cincinatti's established programs stand in contrast to the smaller Plymouth YMCA. After a brief tour of the Plymouth Canton facilities Smith, 31, hesitates to announce a list of changes she'd like to make.

"I'D LIKE to expand the program, with additional programs to meet the needs of the community. I hope to build a facility," she said.

For Smith, the new post poses an opportunity for her to advance through the ranks of the Y.

"I'm going from a large facility to a small one. You can't start off as an executive in a place like this. You have to go to a smaller place. The experience in Plymouth will be a plus for me and for the community."

Plymouth Township is asking the LCC to remove the liquor license of the bar at Joy near I-275 on grounds that it has become a public nuisance.

A Canton woman was killed in an auto accident outside the bar in December 1986 when an underage Rock patron struck the car in which the woman was riding.

'I'm sure it'll be a rubber-stamp decision. I think they'll rule with the township and revoke the license," said Farhat - who "absolutely" will appeal if he loses.

Farhat "is banking on" the courts' recognizing soon that liquor laws in Michigan need revision.

"Count the number of townships and cities in this state. That's the number of liquor laws we're operating under," said Farhat.

Cities and townships are permitted to draft and adopt their own liquor ordinances. According to state

Fund-raiser is target of criticism

Community members are expressing dismay and outrage over a family's plan to hold a fund-raiser for their daughter, convicted of manslaughter in a drunk driving death in Plymouth Township.

Dorcas Ruth Aumann, 67, of Canton was killed in December 1986 when the car in which she was riding was struck head-on by Yvonne Hillier's vehicle. Hillier, of Westland, is serving a five-year prison sentence in connection with the incident.

Hillier, then underage, had been drinking at the Plymouthrock Saloon just before the crash. Her blood alcohol level was .20, according to police. A level of .10 is considered legally drunk in Michigan.

Trustee candidates review role on board

Eight Republicans are running for four seats on the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees in the Tuesday, Aug. 2, primary election.

The four top vote-getters in August are almost assured of election to the board in November because no Democratic challengers have filed.

This is the first of a three-part series examining the candidates' views on the issues.

1. If elected, how do you see your role on the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees?

JOHN C. STEWART - It will be my job to provide the best service to the people of Plymouth Township in regard to their concerns with township government. One of the people who endorsed me, Dick Raison, has said that "I am one candidate who will listen and work to help all citizens." Most importantly, I will be available and try to represent the best interests of the people. Further, I will be very willing to ask questions and look for creative solutions.

RON GRIFFITH - My role on the township board would be one of very considered deliberation on each and every major issue confronting our community. I believe that I am a "team player" that is willing to reach acceptable compromises without sacrificing the basic American values and principles of a free democratic society. Teamwork and long-range planning will be a major priority for as long as I would serve the citizens of Plymouth Township.

election '88

GREGORY WILLIAMS - I see my role on the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees as representing the feelings of the residents of the township. I plan to be open and accessible to all residents. I plan to be a part of an open exchange of information between the township government and the people which it CAMERON A. MILLER - To reflect the views and wishes of the people of the township to the best of my abilities.

ABE A. MUNFAKH - I see my role on the board of trustees as an advocate to maintain our quality of life and to ensure that quality municipal services, such as water and sanitary service, garbage and rubbish collection, and police and fire protection are continued, while maintaining our tax rate at the lowest possible level. I see the next few years as challenging and I believe my experience on the board of trustees, coupled with my management skills in the private sector, provide me with the best qualifications to guide and manage the township as a private business, eliminating waste, keeping taxes low and improving the

SMITH HORTON - With six years experience on the board, I expect to assume a stronger leadership role in providing services at reasonable cost to the taxpayers and in planning for development that will retain open space and enhance the attractive residential character of our community.

ANDREW R. PRUNER - Continue to lead Plymouth Township into the urban community it is becoming. To provide the necessary basic services while maintaining the low tax rate we enjoy.

JOSEPH LEBLANC - The role of a trustee is to voice the views and protect the interests of the residents and the business within the township. A trustee should be able and willing to work with any resident on any problem that they may be having that the township government may be able to assist with or solve.

Cub Scout gets Medal of Merit

A Cub Scout from Plymouth who used the Heimlich maneuver to dislodge food from the throat of a hoking friend won the Medal of Merit from Boy Scouts of America for his quick-thinking response to the emergency.

Matthew Sameck, 8, of Pack 292 at Bird Elementary School, received the award earlier this month for saving Matt Pilarski, who was choking on a cupcake in Sameck's house last December.

Sameck learned the maneuver standing behind a choking vicim, then exerting pressure on the abdomen just under the rib cage in school.

The Medal of Merit, granted by the National Court of Honor, is for performing an outstanding act of service putting into practice scouting skills or ideals.

The area Scouting Council provided the following summary in recommending Sameck for the Medal of Merit:

MATT PILARSKI was at his friend's house playing after school. He was alone in the kitchen eating a snack when a piece of the cupcake became stuck in his throat.

I think that corner probably will be developed under the cluster housing zoning designation, but the request before the commission is for eight to 10 dwelling units per acre (as permitted under the multiple family residential zoning classification), versus two dwellings per unit if it were to be developed under cluster housing.

'That's a considerable increase in density. It's not consistent with good solid planning," Anulewicz said.

U.S. Homes can expect some delays in the township's rezoning decision, because it didn't properly publicize last night's public hearing, added the planning director.

PER THE township's ordinance, the developer was supposed to put up a sign at Beck and North Territorial giving residents 26 to 28 days notice of the hearing.

U.S. Homes did erect a sign, but not soon enough. It also erroneously posted July 30 as the hearing date, said Anulewicz.

"That probably will cause a delay. But once that's resolved, the planning commission will evaluate and either recommend approval or denial," said Anulewicz.

Report: Worker morale low at nursing homes

- Nursing home workers suffer low morale and dampened self-esteem because their job is taking care of people shunned by society, concludes a University of Michigan researcher.

Elderly people who have become dependent lose respect in our society, which cherishes independence and self-sufficiency, said John E. Tropman, a gerontologist and professor of social work.

The medical model of a U.S. nursing home holds that Americans only enter them if they are physically and medically desperate. The focus, therefore, tends to be on disability, dependence and death, Tropman said.

Because of that negativity, nursing home employees are not positive about what they do and that, in turn, affects the quality of care, he

He said it would help to shift the organizational model from medical to psycho-social. Many Danish nursing homes are based on a psycho-social model, providing emotional support and companionship,

For that reason, nursing homes in Denmark do not have the negative connotations, he said. The goal of the institution is to bring the elderly into touch with society, not take them out of it.

The elderly in Denmark have access to government-funded inhome medical care, so the need for medical care outside the home is less pressing, he said.

As a result, Tropman said, Danish nursing home employees have a positive goal — ushering their clients back into life, not death.

Tropman said U.S. nursing home employees must believe in the mission of their organization, which lies at the heart of quality work.

Loitering: Teens gone, police glad

For years, area police have wished teenage loiterers would go someplace else. This summer, they apparently have.

Supervisor

Breen fends off 2 challengers

N THE WORLD of politics, challengers have in upfull climb when squaring off against an incumbent candidate.

Not only do they have to battle the builtin advantages associated with someone already serving in the post, challengers have to prove they are better than the current representative.

In Plymouth Township, the challengers facing incumbent Supervisor Maurice Breen in the Republican primary have not demonstrated why there should be a change at the top in Plymouth Township government. Both Jerry Raymor and James Irvine have not convinced us they should unseat Breen who has served as supervisor since 1980.

The two challengers are both worthy and qualified candidates who are interested in serving the residents of the commu-

BREEN HAS the background and experience in running the township. And the township is, as far as we can see, running fairly smoothly.

Taxes are low, residents seem satisfied with the level of services provided and people are still clamoring to move their home or business to the Breen has demonstrated in the past that he can get the job done. His work with the sewage problem is a prime example of that ability.

After decades of starts and stops, the township has apparently solved its sewage problems through its participation in the Ypsilanti system.

Breen served as chair of the Western Townships Utility Authority that pushed the agreement forward and made the project a reality.

And this cooperative effort between Plymouth, Canton and Northville townships will continue as leaders grapple with the growing problem of how to dispose of trash.

Granted, this is not flashy government nor, at times, very interesting. But this quiet approach to the job demonstrates leadership that concentrates on the issues, not on personality conflicts.

HOWEVER, WE do have some concerns we would like to see addressed in the next four years.

Breen's manner and "people skills" need to be improved so more of a team approach can be built in the township, both on the board of trustees and within the community. People have to feel they are part of the decision-making process and not just a rubber stamp approving recommendations of the supervisor.

And we would like to see some action to improve the township's parks and recreation offerings. For a community this large, the recreation program leaves much to be desired.

But even with those concerns, Breen remains the best qualified of the three candidates.

Maurice Breen deserves your vote when you go to the polls Tuesday, Aug. 2.

Battle of the suburbs paints a bleak future

JUST FOR A second, take a look around your neighborhood, your subdivision, your suburban community.

Then, look beyond. The Detroit suburbs today are like an economic amoeba, vacillating from region to region, seeking new life. And like an amoeba, it finally splits apart, leaving behind a part to fend for itself and finally die.

A fascinating new book, "Detroit: Race and Uneven Development," outlines a scenario that could very well threaten your community.

Researched and written by a team of Michigan State University professors, it reads like a Robert Ludlum

Except, instead of taking place in some exotic, far off locale, it's your hometown and many familiar local names are main characters.

"NEW URBAN development continues to be targeted to the privileged few. Power over urban development continues to be concentrated among a handful of individuals and corporations whose reach spans the metropolis and beyond," say the au-

And it's the "beyond" about which you need to be concerned. Because beneath all the affluence you see is the underpinning that keeps the economic amoeba on the move and that spells decay for your city.

Originally, the authors say, two Detroits existed - the actual city proper and its adjoining suburbs.

It is essential to retain the downtown atmosphere in Plymouth and a post office goes a long way in maintaining that image.

A new facility is needed to better serve this rapidly growing area. A new post office will be more accessible to the handicapped, and include additional parking spaces.

sibility, at least in theory. In reality, Wayne County special education programs have become an ever-increasing drain on individual school district budgets. If the situation isn't remedied, already strained local budgets will be stretched beyond the breaking point

PECIAL EDUCATION is a county respon-

The 1-mill special education tax increase that will appear on the Aug. 2 primary ballot returns the responsibility for special education programs to the county.

It is in the best interest of local school districts to have the tax increase approved. It is in the best interest of voters to give their approval.

The increase doesn't allow special education programs to expand as much as rectify the way they are financed. Keep in mind that special education programs are required under state law and cannot be cut. Keep in mind, too, that scholastic sports, extracurricular activities and driver's education have no such protection.

Wayne County's original 1-mill special education tax, approved by voters in 1974, has long been inadequate to fully cover costs incurred by 'low incidence" special education programs. These are programs that benefit children with disabilities including autism, paralysis or severe emotional problems.

THESE PROGRAMS are being provided in cost-efficient fashion. Children from throughout Wayne County are bused to regional centers rather than requiring each district to provide its own program. Livonia, Wayne-Westland, Garden City, Redford Union and South Redford are among the host districts for regional special education centers.

Despite the cost-effective format, money problems have occurred. Thus began the practice of "charge backs" — billing students' home school districts for services rendered.

Local charge backs are hefty. Redford Union Schools faces an estimated $252,492 bill in the Likewise, continually spiraling charge backs threaten even such financially secure districts as Livonia (an estimated $478,826) and South Redford (an estimated $123,731).

Unfortunately, too few district administrators and school board members have been willing to put their necks on the line by coming out publicly in support of the tax increase request. That doesn't mean it isn't necessary.

If we have a concern with the request it is that it will produce a surplus, at least for the first few years it is levied. Officials from the Wayne County Intermediate Schools have said they might turn surplus money over to local school districts, reducing cost for local special education programs that serve youngsters with less severe disabilities. But they need not be locked into levying the full 1-mill, at least initially.

With wisdom and compassion, Michigan residents long ago decided that the burden for special education shouldn't fall upon the children or their families.

But the method currently used to pay for Wayne County special education programs could ultimately place a major burden upon all stu-

lacked sense To the editor: To whom it may concern:

On the Fourth of July, as I have every year, I put the flag of my country on display on the porch. It flew proudly all day. When dusk came, I turned on the porch light so that it would not be in the dark.

When I returned home from enjoying the local fireworks, I found that you had torn the flag from the halyard leaving only the metal clips and bending the pole beyond repair. I don't know if this was an act of senseless vandalism or that you were "making a statement" against the flag. I only hope that you don't have to shed your blood in defense of the American flag to gain respect for it and consider the "statement" you made to those who have.

Let's correct the record

To the editor:

I am writing this letter to set the record straight. In the Observer article describing the school board meeting June 27, Dr. Hoben was grossly misquoted in his comments about parents' letters protesting the reduction in educational aides for the learning disabled.

It is not clear whether this was done in error or by deliberate intent. I was present at the meeting, sitting only a few feet away, and it is clear that the "damn" attributed to him came strictly from the reporter's pencil or her editor's license. It certainly was not spoken by Dr. Hoben.

While I understand the members of the press are rarely inclined to acknowledge personal error or to offer apology, this is definitely a case where both are in order. Ms. Dillon and Mr. Haldane, whatever happened to responsible journalism?

Underground at far away. We will continue to maintain our offices would kill the trees

Ron Loiselle, To the editor:

I wonder if your readers are aware that the legislators plan to build underground offices in the front of the Capitol building.

If they proceed with their plans, many of the beautiful old trees on the Capitol grounds will die. They are old trees and their tap roots are deep and extend far out. Tree experts have told me that any damage to these trees will cause them to die.

Some of the trees are as old as the Capitol building. The Capitol building and grounds are enhanced by these trees, many of which flower in the spring.

In addition to destroying the trees, building underground costs three times as much as surface building. The state will undoubtedly bond for any building program. This will make the cost almost six times as much as surface building. The state already owns much buildable land in

I would like to encourage your readers to contact their representatives, senators and state officials and encourage them not to proceed with their plan to build underground. These trees are important for us and generations to come and the cost is astronomical.

Power outage brings out the beast in some diners

LAST SATURDAY, I was dining at MacKinnon's restaurant in North-ville during what turned out to be our first major storm of the summer. Not only did it rain, it thundered, bolts of lightning shot through dark skies and the wind blew ferociously.

Our party had just been seated and the waiter had uncorked the wine. We had ordered appetizers and dinner when the lights began to flicker. Immediately to our left, a party of four had just finished dinner and their plates were being removed by the busboy. Within seconds, the lights went out and all that was left in the packed dining room was the faint glimmer of candles and the eerie glow of emergency floodlights.

ALL POWER had ceased. No lights, no air conditioning, but most of all, no power in the kitchen to cook our food.

Most of the crowd remained calm, probably because of the good nature of the well-trained staff, that is, everyone except that table next to ours. Five minutes passed. The question of the evening was "will the power come back?"

The thunder continued to roar outside but it was amazing to observe how some people handle adverse conditions. One couple demanded to know "how long will it be?" I observed them being obnoxious to the wait staff, then to the bartender and finally to the management.

Could these people have any control over the circumstances? Hardly. I couldn't believe my ears when I overheard people at the table next to ours (they had already finished their dinner and were awaiting dessert) saying that since dessert couldn't be served their evening was ruined, and they demanded that dinner be offered "on the house."

There I sat, biting my lip, trying to comprehend how people could be so rude and intolerant. Did the restaurant have control over the weather? Since their dinner was over, did they have the right to demand dinner "on the house?"

After it became evident that power would not be restored we called our waiter over, cancelled our order, paid for the wine and left. As we walked past the complaining table, I overheard one patron threatening to "call the newspapers" about the injustice. The obnoxious couple at another table was badgering their waiter, demanding information about "something to eat" because they were starving.

What gives here?

I WONDER WHAT Miss Manners would have done in this situation.

Is the restaurant customer of the '90s becoming intolerable? Do they actually believe that normal folk like you or me have control over adverse weather conditions?

I'll admit that customers have the right to complain when food and service do not match up to the prices restaurants are charging nowadays, but how can people find fault in situations that are beyond anyone's control? God knows we needed the rain.

It would seem to me that when complaints are legitimate concerning food and service, that they be made with politeness and sincerity. Obnoxious behavior and outrageous demands only give credence to establishments tacking on automatic gratuities to their tabs.

Being in the business of food and dining out often, I can honestly say I was appalled at the behavior of a few diners that evening.

Upon leaving the restaurant, I heard Tom MacKinnon making phone calls to other establishments in the area, trying to accommodate his clientele. The Cafe Bon Homme in Plymouth even offered to extend closing hours to accommodate MacKinnons' diners. That goes beyond friendship and competition, that shows me that other restaurateurs band together to help each other out during adverse times.

Is the restaurant customer of the '90s becoming intolerable? Do they actually believe that normal folk like you or me have control over adverse weather conditions?

A subsequent call to Tom MacKinnon on Monday to see how he weathered the storm found that Tom had a private party booked on Sunday for 50 guests. The power was still out and, needless to say, Tom was trying frantically to get enough generators to accommodate the party.

Tom called on the Country Epicure restaurant in Novi and after explaining the situation, was offered the use of the restaurant to accommodate Tom's private party. That folks, goes beyond friendship.

So, off my soapbox.

Have you ever encountered circumstances while dining out that equalled these? If so, I'd like to hear from you and what you have to say about how you were treated and how the issue was resolved. Drop me a note, tell me what happened and how it was resolved.

Am I wrong to point out a few disgruntled diners and their reactions?

The soapbox is yours.

Hospitality goes job hunting

ATLANTA - "Can I help ye-e-ou-

The voice is softly southern, and you are surprised when Tammy Tanner, 22, tells you a downtown convention building "looks like the RenCen."

"I'm from Michigan," she explained from behind the welcome desk in the Terrace Garden Inn, the hotel where Michigan's Democratic delegation is staying.

"I lived in Farmington for 16 years until six years ago. I live in Atlanta now."

She's a trifle apologetic for acquiring a southern accent.

A GRADUATE in political science of the infamous University of Michigan class of '88 — the one that hooted its graduation speaker for giving a 40-minute lecture on international relations — Tanner is looking for work. In politics. In Michigan, she hopes, Democratic, of course.

"This is a foot in the door," Tanner said of her convention assignment. "I've been working for Atlanta '88, the committee that's hosting the convention.

"I volunteered and requested to be with the Michigan delegation. We're supposed to show them southern hospitality."

Her unpaid title is hotel director, an 11-hour-a-day job. It means she can help Democrats from her native state and maybe, just maybe, get well enough acquainted with a Michigan politician who is hiring.

MOST QUESTIONS she fields are on transportation: how to get to and use MARTA, metro Atlanta's rapid rail and bus system. Luckily, a MARTA station is a short block from the beta!

"Parking downtown is not easy," she said.

Some 115,000 people work downtown, and 35,000 of them typically ride MARTA trains.

Other questions are about the Lenox Mall — just across the street — and how to get to a Jesse Jackson rally downtown.

There's the excitement of seeing news in the making, like Jim Herrington of Channel 7 interviewing a UAW official.

"I've been down to the convention headquarters — it's action packed — and yesterday I was at the Dukakis headquarters.

"I love Atlanta, but it's busy and hot. I'm looking for anything — something that will lead to political consulting," Tanner said.

She added another reason for wanting to head north: "My boyfriend is still at school there.'

MIKE DUKAKIS, her favorite presidential candidate this year, has "drudge" jobs available, where you put in long hours, travel the country and bunk in volunteers' homes for some $10,000 per annum. Those aren't the most appealing, she hinted.

"I have a broad base of course work — two or three classes with Greg Markus, an upcoming political consultant. Very liberal. I've done a lot of work in the American political process," Tanner said.

Her father is Tom Tanner, a product of South Redford's Thurston High who later coached football at Livonia's Frost Junior High.

Her mother, with whom she lives, is now Leslie Wallace of Atlanta and is a product of Livonia's late Bentley

She forwarded a hello to a Farmington High friend, Mark Richardson, recalling correctly that his father, John, was a sort of political veterinarian, serving as mayor of Farmington a few moons back.

Tammy Tanner, 22, hopes that her convention assignment is a foot in the door of Democratic politics in Michigan. Here she met up with Keith Geiger, a former Livonia teacher and past president of the Michigan Education Association. Geiger, now a Virginian, is a vice president for the NEA.

Infertility Research and Treatment

How much help will you need to fill these shoes?

A couple trying to overcome a serious fertility problem has basically two options. Seek help from a small fertility clinic associated with a general hospital (a few of these actually attempt fairly advanced procedures like in vitro fertilization). Or choose the Hutzel Fertility Center. The difference is dramatic. Hutzel's program is medical center- and university-based; encompassing both treatment and research. Unlike general hospitals that mostly apply established technology, a comprehensive clinical and research center like Hutzel actually pioneers and develops new techniques.

Hutzel's century-long leadership in the reproductive sciences includes Michigan's first in vitro fertilization bables, the newest techniques of egg retrieval, and, to date, Michigan's first and only embryo freezing capabilities (which contribute significantly to reducing the risk of multiple births). Hutzel has also pioneered the concept of treating couples rather than individuals. This helps avoid unnecessary delays, expenses and frustration.

Hutzel's extra research and clinical dimension means more hope, every day, for patients with the most complex problems. And, because Hutzel's care costs no more, even couples with less serious problems can afford the extra peace of mind that comes with the Hutzel program.

Infertility, programs often require considerable economic and emotional investment by couples. To make the most of that investment, call the Hutzel Fertility Center for more information.

I THE SUN

Ah, the sweet sounds of summer. Birds singing in the morning, crickets chirping in the evening, the rustling of leaves in the trees as the wind passes through, soft rain on the rooftop - and the kids saying "But Mom, there's nothing to do."

Yes it's true, the summer that seemed ever so brief and sweet back in early June has started to stretch into eternity with the impending "dog days" of late July and August. Mother has come to realize that if the kids don't move out from in front of the television, they are going to fossilize in that position.

It's time for action. Yes, there is plenty for kids to do this summer. Educational, physical and just plain fun activities are available all around the area. These are just some of the possibilities.

Learning experience • "KIDS' KITCHEN IDEAS"

For kids to learn how to put together after school snacks and brown bag lunch fillers, then have a session in decorating their own brown bags, at 3 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 10, in Jacobson's Livonia Kitchen Shop. No charge, but reservations are necessary by calling the store, 591-7696, Ext. 263.

• DETROIT HISTORICAL MUSEUM

Located at 5401 Woodward in the Cultural Center of Detroit. The museum is open 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., Wednesday through Sunday. Children love the old fashion streets in the basement of the museum. One of this summer's highlights is an exhibit of historical

For groups of 10 or more children, special workshops can be arranged. Colonial Kitchen teaches about cooking and kitchen implements used in colonial times. Children in Old Fashioned Pomander make a fragrant pomander. In the Ice Cream Social workshop, children learn to make ice cream. The workshops are offered at a cost of $2 per child. Advance reservations must be made. Call Waler Weaver at 833-1263 for more information.

Travelers enjoy their time on the road

By Julie Brown staff writer

About three years ago, Connie Cavanaugh and a couple of friends were riding their bicycles in Hines Park. During a rest break, they saw a plane fly over the area.

Then we thought, by gosh, we can do it. There's no reason we can't.'

That dream became reality recently for Cavanaugh, a Canton resident, and for Plymouth residents Phyllis Czapla and Eileen McFarland. They traveled to France for a bicycle tour of the Loire Valley.

We picked a year to get everybody's kids out of college," said Cavanaugh, who works as a secretary at Plymouth Family Service.

Their June 23 to July 6 bicycle trip was a package tour, arranged through Country Cycling of New York. Their tour group included 17 people from throughout the United States.

"They were from all over," Cavanaugh said. "They came from every direction."

THE YOUNGEST traveler in the group was about 13.

"I was probably the oldest, 55," Cavanaugh said. She and her husband, Jack, have four grown children: Sharon, Jackie, Patrick and DeAnna. They also have two grandsons, Derek and Steven, and another grandchild due in September.

The other women are married and each has three sons; Phyllis Czapla has one grandson. Czapla is self-employed, doing custom draperies. Eileen McFarland works at Diamond Automation.

Although they're all well out of their teens, keeping up on the tour wasn't a problem for the women. They have plenty of bicycling experience; they ride with and are members of the Ann Arbor Bicycle Touring Society's East Fringe group.

They usually do a 40-mile ride on Saturdays, along with a 29-mile Monday night ride and a 24-mile Wednesday night ride.

On the French tour, bicyclists who weren't able to keep up could ride in a support van. That van took weary travelers and their

"But you enjoy it so much more if you can just ride it," Cavanaugh said. "The scenery is incredible." The women rode about 35 to 50 miles each day. 'It was a very easy, comfortable ride." They rented 12-speed bikes in France, and rode on a lot of cobblestone roads during their trip. Those were a little tricky, after the rain especially," she said.

THE TEMPERATURES were in the 60s and thereabouts, "which felt good to us."

As part of the preparation for the trip, the women enrolled in a 12-week conversational French class at Schoolcraft College.

They learned such things as how to check into a hotel, how to read menus and order food, "just the basic stuff you needed to squeak by with," Cavanaugh said.

They also learned how to cash traveler's checks and how to count money. Cavanaugh was grateful she'd learned how to count French money; at one chateau, the woman shortchanged Cavanaugh. "I counted it to her in French. At that point, I was very glad I took

During each day of the trip, the travelers started out with a continental breakfast. They went over the maps for that day's travels.

Then we pretty much took off on our own." The women enjoyed lunches on their own and lots of sightseeing.

They saw the chateaus, the castles of the Loire Valley. They also visited old churches, wineries and other places.

At the end of most days, the group members ate their dinner to-

THE TRAVELERS spent 21/2 days in Paris.

They were full days, because we didn't quit until 1 o'clock in the morning." It stayed light late in Paris; the women found there was plenty there to see.

Cavanaugh and the others didn't find unfriendliness among the French during their trip.

While they were riding in the countryside, people there hollered 'Bravo" as the travelers passed by They rode more than 300 miles and never found unfriendliness, Cavanaugh said.

She found the Paris dwellers were probably like people anywhere in a large city. They were busy doing their jobs, but were still happy to see the travelers and to wait on them The travelers also found the country to be clean; the only Cavanaugh saw was rose "litter"

"We didn't see a bottle or a piece of paper or a McDonald's cup, anything.

Cavanaugh was impressed with the beautiful flower and vegetable gardens, found even at modest homes. She was also impressed with how well-dressed the French people were; the tourists, in their sweatpants, T-shirts and shorts, were easy to spot.

In the "small world" department, Cavanaugh saw Dr. Philip Warren, a local orthodonist, during the trip. Warren and his wife were touring the area by car; Cavanaugh saw them in the Chateau Chambord and found it took her a minute to recognize Warren

'I thought he was a Frenchman that looked like Dr. Warren.

Connie Cavanaugh and Phyllis Czapla had never been to Europe; Eileen McFarland had been to England and Ireland.

"So Eileen was our seasoned traveler."

Next year, the women will most likely take a bicycle trip along the Lake Michigan shoreline. The year after that, they'd like to ride through Vermont. In three years, they'd consider another trip to Eu-

We'd pick a different country.' When Cavanaugh was younger, she was busy raising children and didn't have the time or money to travel. She now has more time for herself

'I'd like to do it again. It was like seeing the world from the beginning right up to the present time. I think everybody should go to Europe at least once.'

Canton hosts softball event

By Julie Brown staff writer

Canton is just about all set to play host for the state softball tournament for Michigan Special Olym-

The statewide competition will be held Friday and Saturday, Aug. 5-6. at Canton Softball Center, 46555 W. Michigan Ave. It will include team competition and skills competition.

Approximately 500 athletes are expected to participate in the tournament, along with coaches, other volunteers and parents from throughout Michigan.

Wayne County will be well-represented, with 12 teams participating, said Susie Pidsosny, Wayne County area director for Special Olympics. Although the tournament will be close to home, the Wayne County delegation of athletes will stay at hotels at Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

I just hope it cools down a little bit," she said. There will be tents for shade and plenty of ice water, coaches will keep an eye on the athletes, to make sure they don't suffer from the heat.

Susie Pidsosny

"I know everybody's really concerned about that.

THE TOURNAMENT is scheduled for 12:30-10 p.m. Friday, Aug. 5, with the opening ceremonies at 7:30 p.m. It is scheduled for 7 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 6, with the closing ceremonies scheduled for 3:15

Participating Special Olympics athletes from Wayne County are age 8 on up through their late 60s, Pidsosny said.

"That's probably pretty much the same throughout the state." About 34 teams will participate in the tournament. The Special Olympics program provides opportunities for athletic competition and achievement for retarded people.

There will be first-, second- and third-place medal winners. Each person on a winning team will receive a medal; there's also a team trophy for each winning team. Other Special Olympics athletes will receive ribbons for each posi-

"Everybody wins something," said Pidsosny, a Canton resident

The two-day event will include parent receptions. There are also special events, such as swimming, planned for the athletes between the

At 8 p.m. Friday, Aug. 5, a dance and dinner for the athletes will be held at the UAW Local 735 Hall on Michigan Avenue, near Canton Softball Center.

Members of the Wayne Civitan Club are the designated hosts for the statewide competition.

'They're the ones that are doing the work, raising all the money. Pidsosny said.

moral perspectives Rabbi Irwin Groner

Critical words can be seeds of growth

Of all the unpleasant experience we encounter, I believe criticism ranks among the most vexing.

The Book of Proverbs declares. "Rebuke a wise man and he will bless thee." But most of us know from experience that we get precious few blessings from those we rebuke, and we are seldom wise enough to thank our critics for their Criticism is perceived as a blow to our ego, a threat to our self-esteem. Critical words hurt, sometimes even more than physical pain.

Criticism hurts most when it comes from those we love. We want to look good to others, and most of all, we want to look good to our parents, our spouse, our children. Our hearts are so designed that one word of reproof from them appears as a threat. It is felt as a withdrawal of love, a rejection.

And yet, we need to learn to accept criticism. The ancient sages declared that love that does not contain a measure of reproof is not authentic love.

Does love mean total acceptance of one's partner in marriage, of one's children in everything they do? If we truly love another, we seek to enhance the life of the other. When love is not blind, but critical, then it leads to the growth and development of those who are close and dear to us.

HOW CAN we learn to take criticism constructively? The first rule is to listen. "He that hears reproof," the Bible says, "gets understanding." But we don't hear, we don't listen. In counseling with couples in conflict, I find this deafness so frequently.

The wife will say, "My husband does that which I do not like." I ask, 'Have you told him how you feel about it and why?" She responds, "I told him a thousand times!

the husband, he says, "I never heard her say a single word about it." I believe him, and I believe her, too. She criticized, but he did not listen.

THE SECOND step is to admit Southfield.

We have to admit our imperfections and failures in order to overcome them.

that we are not perfect. This is a hard admission to make. We learn so much about normal psychology from abnormal. Those who study the alcoholic personality articulate this truth. It is hard to admit you have a serious fault that needs correcting.

An expert in this field wrote: "One of the most difficult problems in treating the alcoholic is to get him to admit that he is an alcoholic, that he has a drinking problem and needs

And so it is with all of us. We have to admit our imperfections and failures in order to overcome them.

Frequently, our severest critic and dearest friend are one and the same. Who loves us better, who knows us more intimately, who accepts us as we are even with our faults and criticizes us more often than a parent or

THIS DIMENSION of human interaction has broad implications. The very life of a democracy depends on people giving and taking criticism. The difference between a dictatorship and a democracy is not discerned simply in the structure of government.

The true distinction is this: do the citizens have the right and the freedom to criticize their government? If they do, they live in a democracy. If they don't, a dictatorship.

The worst thing that could happen to America is that critics of national or local policy should be silenced or become silent. The constructive re-When I mention this problem to sponse to criticism makes for a healthy and vigorous democratic so-school is open to children age 4 through grade seven. There is a $10 Charismatic groups still new to Catholics

By Larry O'Connor staff writer

In 1967, a group of students and faculty at Duquesne University met for a prayer meeting.

Some 20 years and thousands of meetings later, those in the charismatic movement of the Catholic church are gathering again. Except this time it's at the cavernous Pontiac Silverdome.

The All-Michigan Catholic Charismatic Conference will take place Friday through Sunday, July 29-31, at the Silverdome. It's expected anywhere from 6,000 to 10,000 people will attend.

But regardless of attendance figures, the charismatic movement in the Catholic Church has experienced a slow, yet steady growth. From a campus meeting in the late 1960s, the charismatic movement is said to include 15 percent of all Catholics nationwide St. Thomas A'Beckett Church in Canton, St. Agatha Church in Redford Township, St. Genevieve Church and St. Edith Church, both in Livonia, are only a few of the many Catholic churches in the area that have charismatic prayer groups.

What is the charismatic movement? Born in the wake of Vatican II, the charismatic renewal is designed to bring people into a personal relationship with Jesus Christ.

PEOPLE SING, read the scriptures and pray at weekly charismatic meetings. In short, it's basically Catholicism evangelism style. Many Catholics, especially those raised in the more sedate pre-Vatican II church, are somewhat taken aback at the boisterous nature of the charismatic movement.

"I was shocked at first," said Joe Smith of Westland, who attends meetings at St. Mel Catholic Church in Dearborn Heights. "You see these normally serene people, who attend church, loudly praising the Lord." Smith is like many charismatics who say God has touched them in a personal way. He said his relationship with the Lord has led him to beat alcoholism and helped in his sister's recovery from cancer

Myrna Malabonga of Livonia tells a similar story. Malabonga, a physician, experienced a death in her family and encountered health problems as well. She said being involved with the charismatic renewal helps her get through the tough times.

'It's a lot different," said Malabonga, who belongs to a charismatic group that meets at St. Michael Church in Livonia twice monthly Before when I was praying, it was like dialing long distance. In the charismatic renewal God is so near you can almost touch him.

On the whole, the charismatic movement is seen as a positive one in the Catholic Church. For one, it allows a more physical expression of faith and yet doesn't conflict with the teachings of the church. "THERE IS a difference between religion and spirituality," said Yvonne Constas of Livonia. "The" charismatic renewal allows people to develop this spirituality

Jay Berman, director of communications for the Archdiocese of Detroit, said there's a strong minority of charismatics within the church An estimate by the Detroit Catholic Charismatic Renewal Center of charismatics in the Detroit area is 5.500

Obviously, the center would like to see more people become involved, but it realizes it will take time.

'We recently celebrated our 20th anniversary, so it's new in the Catholic church," said Julie Tefft of Livonia, who is helping coordinate the All-Michigan Charismatic Catholic Conference. "One reason is the Catholic church is really careful about change. Another reason is that it moves into different ways of worship that Catholics are not used to."

Or as Joe Smith said: "I wouldn't believe it either unless the Lord had touched me personally."

Miss R. D., Younger Reader

Dear Miss D.

'Lears," a new magazine, is for the woman over 40. Designed throughout for the "woman who wasn't born yesterday," it uses models who are mature and prints articles and editorials that are relevant to today's middle-aged woman.

To order a subscription, send $15 for six issues to Lear's, P.O. Box 51233, Boulder, Colo. 80321-1233.

While cleaning out my grandmother's trunk, I found a KLM in-flight magazine from 1920. Inside were some instructions to passengers causing one to contemplate the progress that has been made in air travel these past 68 years.

gerontology

A. Jolayne Farrell

The following were listed under Helpful Hints for Air Travellers:

1. Never touch the propeller. Keep a respectable distance from it and warn your fellow passengers.

2. Do not put your arm or head outside. The force of the wind might surprise you and you might injure yourself. You would most certainly lose your headgear.

3. Do not wave your hat, scarf or cap outside the aeroplane when departing. The airstream might snatch it out of your hand, and it might become entangled with the rudders, putting them out of action.

4. Throw nothing out of the aeroplane, however small. Falling from height of a few kilometres, objects attain the speed of a bullet and are dangerous to earthly mortals.

5. If you are travelling in an open aeroplane, take a good pair of goggles with you and wear a leather or silk hood to protect your hairdo.

6. High fliers should empty their bladders before leaving and should not eat such foods as peas, beans, and brown bread, which are apt to cause excessive formation of gas in the intestines.

I hope you'll print this bit of nostalgia.

College costs threaten retirement fund

By Alan Ferrara and Dan Boyce special writers

Local financial planning experts reviewed the data of the family profiled here and made general recommendations based on the participants' resources and goals. This month's profiled couple, Hugh and Janice Barker, have gone through a number of changes in their lives during the last 18 months. These changes have provided a number of concerns as well as opportuni-

Hugh is a personnel administrator, and Janice is a part-time teacher. They and their family have recently moved to Michigan from California. They have two children, ages 19 and 14, and live in Rochester.

Although the Barkers are in their early 40s, a primary goal for them is planning for their retirement. Hugh would like to retire in 18 years at age 62. In addition, one of their children will be attending college this year, and the other is approaching college age, so a secondary goal is the payment of college expenses.

With careful planning they will be able to meet all of their financial

For their most important goal, retirement, about one-third of their needs will be provided through Hugh's pension, about one-third will be provided through Social Security, the Barkers will have to provide the remaining one-third from their investment assets.

FAMILY FINANCES

The Barkers should examine their cash flow and try to manage college expenses from current cash flow rather than from their retirement fund.

If they are able to continue building their assets from the current base, they should have enough assets accumulated by retirement age.

One of our concerns is that the Barkers use Hugh's stock savings plan for college costs, drawing money periodically out of that plan. The Barkers should examine their cash flow and try to manage college expenses from current cash flow rather than from their retirement

Hugh is deferring 6 percent of his salary into the company 401(k) and stock savings plan. The company matches his contributions to the 401(k) plan up to 6 percent of his salary at the rate of 90 cents on the dollar. It will match his deferral under the stock savings plan at a rate of 50 cents on the dollar.

We agree the salary deferral is an excellent idea. The company 401(k) plan and stock savings plan are designed to allow Hugh to defer salary, and thereby defer income taxes, while saving for his primary goal of retirement.

To the extent he can avoid drawing this amount out for college expenses, Hugh should try to maximize his 401(k) contributions.

He will be saving to meet his pri-take advantage of the available tax deferral on the contributions and any income earned while the money is in the retirement plan.

When the children have completed college, he should consider raising his retirement plan deferral to at least 10 percent and continue this amount through retirement. This would then form the basis of his retirement nest egg.

The Barkers have a number of financial strengths, including steady employment with good benefits and no major debt beyond the home mortgage. But we are concerned that the Barkers do not have sufficient liquid assets.

We would like to see them build assets outside of the company savings plan for greater liquidity and access in the case of an emergency. A good rule of thumb is to have six months liquid assets such as stocks, certificates of deposit, money markets and savings bonds. Because of their other financial priorities, this might be an intermediate goal for

We both agree that the Barkers lack sufficient life insurance. Hugh is especially concerned because his life insurance is tied to employment with his current company. His current life insurance of $230,000 would not enable the family to maintain their standard of living and put their daughters through college should something happen to Hugh.

We'd suggest buying another $150,000 to $250,000 of term insurance, with the exact amount depend- is immediate past president and ing upon Janice's ability to work and a current board member of the bring in extra income.

mary goal of retirement and also rated life insurance companies of Financial Planning.

fering a level-premium term policy that would provide Hugh with the additional coverage with level premiums affordable to the Barkers. As an alternative, cash permitting. Hugh may want to consider a universal or whole life insurance product with cash value buildup.

By the time the children finish college, Hugh would have a larger vested pension benefit for Janice, and he might consider reducing or eliminating insurance, dropping the coverage if the need for it no longer exists.

Our last concern is that the Barkers had their wills drafted quite some time ago in California, a community property state. We're sure that their personal and financial situation has changed significantly during the time since the wills were drafted originally.

In addition, community property state laws regarding wills may vary significantly from Michigan law. We would suggest the Barkers review their estate planning needs with an attorney to determine if their current wills are still adequate considering their new residence and current family and financial situation.

Hugh and Janice will have significant expenses over the next few years in helping their children with college. But with proper planning, they can meet these short-term goals as well as the long-term goal of retirement with adequate assets for a comfortable life.

Mid-year tax planning can result in many happy returns

Summertime and the livin' is easy. And if you want to make filing your 1988 tax return smoother, pull yourself from the easy livin' routine to heed some mid-year tax planning tips offered by Grey & Trepeck, Birmingham.

· Review your IRA options. If you qualify for a fully or partially deductible IRA contribution, make your contribution as early in the year as possible to stretch the time your fund can be earning taxdeferred dollars.

• Consider tax-exempt investments. Investments that yield taxexempt income (such as municipal bonds) may give you a better aftertax return than taxable investments. If you invested in a tax-free bond yielding 8 percent and your tax bracket was 28 percent, you'd have to earn 11.11 percent from a taxable investment to get an equivalent re-

• Reduce your debt. Pay off as much consumer debt as possible, especially high-interest credit card balances

In 1988, only 40 percent of any such interest you pay will be deductible. If you have a lot of outstanding consumer debt, consider consolidating it under a home equity loan. Interest on home equity loans up to $100,000 is fully deductible.

- Use your vacation home wisely. If you own a second or vacation home, find out whether you get a better tax break by treating the property as a second residence or as rental property. The number of days you personally use the home can be a determining factor.
- · Avoid the "kiddle tax." Check any income of children under the age of 14. If unearned income exceeds $1,000, the child will be taxed on the excess at your highest rate. Shifting investments or making other adjustments may be appropriate.
 - Buy a home. Owning a home is one remaining tax shelter. You can deduct real estate taxes and mortgage interest on loans up to $1 million ($100,000 loan limit on home equity loans).

 Make your hobby a business. If you're making money from a hobby, turn it into a business so that you can write off your expenses. You must be able to demonstrate that you engaged in the activity for a profit.

To do that, conduct the activity as a business. Keep records and get a separate bank account for the activity. The IRS will expect your sideline business to show a profit in three out of five years, or you'll have to prove your profit motivation.

• Get the rules on "material participation." If you have investments that are borderline passive/active, get details on the new material participation regulations.

Adjust your involvement in such activities so that income or losses produced by them get the most beneficial classification in relation to your other income and losses.

 Segregate borrowed funds. Keep borrowed money that will be used for different purposes in separate accounts so you will not risk losing interest deductions because you can't prove how the money was

• Segregate travel and entertainment expenses. Keep your business travel and entertainment expenses segregated into fully deductible (travel and lodging) and 80 percent deductible (meals and entertain-

• Wait until age 55 to sell. If you're approaching the age of 55 and are planning to sell your home, you may want to delay the sale until you qualify for the $125,000 exclusion of gain. The election can be used only once by taxpayers 55 or older.

If you're planning to marry, realize that you and your spouse-to-be could each claim a separate $125,000 exclusion before marriage. After marriage, you will be entitled to only one exclusion as a couple.

- Manage rental property. If you have rental property and your adjusted gross income will be under $100,000, be sure you actively manage the property if you want to deduct losses up to $25,000 against "active" income. The $25,000 limit phases out for AGI between $100,000
- Expense $10,000 of equipment. In planning your business equipment purchases, remember that you can expense up to $10,000 for newly acquired equipment in 1988. The writeoff for business cars is limited to $2,560. If your total equipment purchases exceed $200,000, the expensing option phases out.
 - Send children to day camp. If you work, send your children to day camp this summer. Costs qualify for the child-care credit. Overnight camps no longer qualify.

- Contribute to a 401(k). If your company has a 401(k) plan, you can defer up to $7,313 of your salary this cost of such improvements are medical expenses to the extent they do not increase the value of your home. That includes such things as widening doorways or hallways for wheelchair use, or modifying the home to accommodate an individual with a medical problem.

• Hire the disadvantaged. Consider hiring individuals from economically disadvantaged groups to qualify for the targeted jobs credit. The credit is 40 percent of the first

If you make improvements to $6,000 earned during the individual's your home for medical reasons, the first year. Hiring economically disadvantaged 16- and 17-year-olds during the summer can qualify you for a credit of 85 percent of the first $3,000 of wages paid.

> • Time equipment purchases carefully. Be aware it may no longer be good strategy to make business equipment purchases as late in the year as possible. The new law requires you to adjust depreciation if you make more than 40 percent of your equipment purchases in the fourth quarter of the year.

Bendix is the real business-trend bellwether

California is the source of all new trends in the United States. The result is a cult of California-watchers mainly based in New York - who scrutinize the latest California trends like tacos and Vitamin C to be able to predict what is coming to Manhattan next, so they can sell it in

Over the years, I've discovered that to see trends in big business, you don't watch California, you watch

Which is kind of tough these days, since Bendix, as in "No, we don't make washing machines" Bendix, is now absorbed in Allied Signal Inc., the megaconglomerate that Lee A. lacocca says was going to finance

There are true believers who feel his thwarted takeover attempt of General Motors.

> BUT YOU see what I mean. Even today Bendix, which is best known in the auto industry as a manufacturer of brake systems, filters and other volume automotive components, still is lurking in the background of another big business story.

I first noticed Bendix about 20 years ago, when I was reporting on business-type affairs in Oakland County. Even then, Bendix executives were in the eye of a corporate cultural storm.

The energy crisis - a new phrase at the time - had attacked the Bendix Southfield stronghold with a vengeance. Staggering costs first prompted the company to turn off the ice-melters underneath its corporate sidewalks, and the when summer came, they cut back on the air conditioning.

Little did the bean counters know they were playing with fate.

THE CORPORATE trend at the time was to build corporate headquarters with windows that didn't open. So Bendix top management (ex-U.S. Secretary of the Treasury

W. Michael Blumenthal, as I recall) altered the corporate dress code so that ties weren't required, and out came the leisure suits.

This was the twilight of the 1960s, and the trend was an overall loosening up of the button-down corporate culture. After the dress code went out the window (figuratively speaking, as the windows still didn't open), it was only a matter of time before Bendix executives were close to calling each other "baby" in the hallways. In this laid-back atmosphere, William Agee laid claim to be the youngest Fortune 500 president at the age of 38.

IT WAS A time for a tremendous surge in high-tech research at Bendix as well. I saw my first airbag demonstration in the Bendix basement, for instance, and Bendix engineers were churning out new technology in fuel injection, braking systems and supercharging.

But Agee thought Bendix wasn't following the trend toward high technology fast enough and liquidated so many holdings he became the target of one of the bloodiest corporate takeover fights in history, which ended with Allied taking over Bendix even before takeovers were trendy.

All this came flooding back when I saw an item in the paper that Allied has sold off a portion of its Bendix electronic operations to West Germany's Siemans AG for a reported $250 million to reduce Allied's debt.

In all probability, it's one of these back-of-the business page items that may start a handful of fast-track executives revising their resumes, and not much else.

But with Bendix you never know.

Statistics indicate there are approximately 3.5 million home-based businesses in operation throughout the country. Nearly one-half of these are women-owned enterprises.

If you have considered starting or expanding your business to include a "home-based" headquarters or satellite office, here are a couple of success stories to consider.

For Shari Max, combining her musical talents and business experience resulted in the creation of "Princess Pricilla" more than 10 years ago. As 'Princess Pricilla," Max books more than 350 private parties a year for preschoolers and children. 'My income has increased seven times over the salary I was earning in my last job," Max said. Working out of her home, she said her business grew gradually.

"It wasn't like going from zero to 60. I started working a little on the weekends and then a lot during weekends, then a little during the week and so on."

There's so much to like.

Whatever you like, you'll find it in Windsor. The place with Old World charm, friendly people and lots to see and do. And that includes entertainment.

There's live music including street jazz, rock & roll, bluegrass, bagpipe and symphony. As well as dance and theatre, at places like the Cleary Auditorium right on the riverfront downtown. That's where they present comedy like "Little Shop of Horrors", musicals like "Annie Get Your Gun" and dance programs by Les Grandes Ballets Canadiens, Theatre Ballet of Canada and Toronto Dance Theatre.

Of course Windsor is hard to equal for shopping and dining, too. And if you like a day in Windsor, you'll like two of them twice as much, with a stay in one of Windsor's fine hotels, like the Red Oak Inn. It's on Ouellette Avenue, right in the middle of Windsor's bustling downtown. With superb accommodations and an excellent restaurant, the Red Oak is a great place for your next weekend escape. A look at tax laws

By Sid Mittra special writer

The 1981 Economic Recovery Tax Act was designed to stimulate savings and investment. It reduced the maximum tax rates on dividends, interest and capital gains.

It also provided new tax incentives for Individual Retirement Accounts and Keogh plans, reduced the gift and estate tax rates, and reduced the maximum rate on longterm capital gains to 20 percent from 28 percent. The Tax Equity and Fiscal Responsibility Act of 1982 was intended to reduce the highest deficit in history by raising more money. While it did not raise tax rates, it did contain provisions that affected individual taxpayers. These provisions included new tax-witholding and reporting procedures, depreciation allowances and tax preferences. Partial rollovers of IRA investments into new IRAs were authorized, and self-employed individuals were allowed to make tax-deductible contributions on an expanded scale to enable the selfemployed to have nearly the same benefits as corporate employees.

The Tax Reform Act of 1986 resulted in individual taxes declining, on the average, 6 percent. The act significantly reduces the number of tax brackets from 15 to two and increases the allowable standard deduction. While previous tax laws allowed preferential longterm capital-gain taxation to encourage investment, the current law equalizes capital-gains-tax rates with lower rates on all income.

The Plymouth-Canton Elks, faced with a mustwin situation Tuesday, came from behind to defeat the Mustangs 4-1 at Ford Field in Livonia.

The victory kept the Elks in the chase for a playoff spot in the Redford Connie Mack League. Plymouth-Canton is 14-4 in the league and 17-6

Heading into the latest round of games, the Elks trailed first-place Redford Union, which stood at 13-2-1, and were a notch above Ypsilanti No. 1, which was 12-4-1. The Mustangs saw their record fall to 8-9.

Dan Niemiec went the distance and pitched a four-hitter Tuesday to improve his record to 4-1. His strong showing included six strikeouts and

"WE'RE GOOD enough to be undefeated with the pitching we've had, but we kicked the ball around a few times.'

Niemiec added the game was also "a big win" because the team pulled it off without two key ballplayers, second baseman Kevin Learned and catcher Ron Groh. The former is sidelined with strep throat, and the latter is on vacation with his Mikio Tanaka was the hitting hero, going 3-for-5 with two RBI and a run scored. Curt Stinson, who took Learned's place at shortstop, was 2-for-4 and scored two runs.

The biggest surprise of the summer has been the defensive play of Stinson," LaPointe said. Stinson was a Canton varsity reserve last spring and will be a senior this fall.

The Mustangs, who had beaten the Elks 5-4 previously, jumped in front 1-0 in the bottom of the first. Andy Weighill reached on an error and scored on Mike Kaczmarek's single and another

A three-run third inning turned the game in Plymouth-Canton's favor, however. Tanaka doubled to score Pat Hughes, who was running for Stinson, and scored himself when Tom Hill followed with a single. The latter advanced on a passed ball and two wild pitches to make it 3-1.

STINSON, AFTER being hit in the head with a pitch the previous inning, got a hit in the fourth and scored the final run on Tanaka's RBI single. Steve Olson, who was replaced in the fifth inning by Kevin Whitman, was tagged with the loss. Olson's double and singles by Tim Napier and Weighill accounted for the Mustangs' other hits.

Caesars' commanding lead has dwindled to two after last weekend's action.

In an LCBL showdown Friday at Ford Field, Holzer wiped out a 6-1 deficit, scoring seven times in the fifth to gain a 9-6 victory. Holzer, which scored all nine runs off Caesars starter and loser Chris Kloc (5-1), out-hit the LCBL leaders, 16-4.

Catcher Kevin Ritter delivered a two-run single and second baseman Rick Tavormina (Westland John Glenn High and the University of Detroit) added a two-run double during the outburst. Tavormina, Bob Tatro and Scott Peterson each Dutkiewicz and Ritter added two hits apiece in the opener. Tatro also contributed two RBI.

Brett Loomis was the winning pitcher in the first game. He scattered three hits to run his record to 4-0.

In the second game, Chris Willerer (3-0) tossed a three-hitter and fanned four to pick up his third straight win without a loss.

Offensively, Dutkiewicz and Fairman each collected three hits, while Paul Newitt contributed two. Peterson walked four times to run his season total to 37.

Goal barrage Huskies bump Bulldogs in battle of frontrunners

The battle of unbeaten teams turned out to be the classic confrontation that was expected in the Metro Summer Hockey League.

There was plenty of offense when the Bulldogs and Huskies, leaders of their respective divisions, squared off Monday night, and it was the Huskies taking a 10-7 victory in the Plymouth Ice Arena.

The Huskies, who hold a 31/2-game lead in the Eagle Conference, are the lone undefeated team at 6-0-1. The Bulldogs stay atop the Bakes Conference with a half-game edge over the Lakers but slip to 5-1.

Walt Bartels, the second-leading point scorer in the MSHL, paced the victory with three goals and an as-

Mike Kneiding, No. 3 on the list of point leaders, added two goals and one assist, and Eric Kapelanski had one goal and two assists. Stash Pientack, the Bulldogs' top point man, had two goals to lead his team, and Mike Mattis picked up one goal and two assists. HUSKIES 11, FALCONS 4:There was no letdown the night after their big win as the Huskies continued to chalk up the goals, handing the Falcons their third straight defeat Tuesday. The Huskies, however, had some incentive after narrowly avoiding defeat and settling for a 2-2 tie with the Falcons a J.P. LaRoche, the No. 1 man in league scoring with 21 points, netted two goals and five assists for the Huskies. LaRoche, who has seven goals, is tied with Dan Phelps of the Lakers for the MSHL lead in assists with 14. Kneiding added two goals and two assists, and goalie Scott Hutten blanked the Falcons during his 11/2-period shift while the Huskies built a 4-0 lead Jeff Green had a goal and one assist for the Falcons.

BRONCOS 6, WOLVERINES 3: Michael Krygier scored a third-period hat trick as the Broncos erupted for five goals in the finale to win going away.

The Broncos, who trailed 2-1 entering the last period, also received a goal and two assists from Chris Nickerson.

LAKERS 6, BRONCOS 4:Scott Bozyk had two goals to pace the Lakers, and teammate Art Eastman notched a goal The Spartans won their second game in a and two assists Sunday. Mike Freeman and Franz Herbert of the Broncos had the same as Eastman.

WILDCATS 9, FALCONS 4:Andy Armbruster tallied two goals in the final period, which saw the Wildcats outscore the slumping Falcons 5-1 Sunday.

Alan Carnes and Tim Olschanski also had two goals apiece, and Armbruster had a pair of assists to boot.

row, putting away the winless Wolverines with a three-goal third period Sunday. Ken Chabut scored twice, and Tim Osburn had two assists to go with one goal. Dave Cergunl and Brian Guillery divided the goaltending chores and combined to shut down the Wolverines.

BULLDOGS 7, FALCONS 3:Doug Smith, with three goals, paced the unbeaten Bulldogs, who padded a one-goal lead with two in the second period and outscored the Falcons 3-2 in the finale last Thursday.

Stash Pientack chipped in two goals, and teammates Richard Worosz, Don Rugg, Jeff Smith and Mattis helped out with two assists apiece.

Bulldog goalie Jim Moule also was a big factor in the outcome, turning away many Falcon shots, according to MSHL Commissioner A.J. Baker.

The Falcon scoring was evenly divided, but Brian Beaufait had two assists.

BRONCOS 5, WOLVERINES 3: The Broncos rallied from a 3-1 deficit, scoring twice in the third period to win last Thursday.

Goals by Chris Nickerson and Freeman broke a 3-3 deadlock in the finale. They also assisted on each other's goal. Freeman, who paced the winners with two scores, and Cam Haskett notched the tying goals in the second period after the Wolverines had increased a 2-1 lead earlier in the period.

SPARTANS 7, WILDCATS 4:The Spartans recorded their first win after four losses on Wednesday, July 13. Baker, also the Spartans' coach, credited goalkeeper Cergunl for the victory.
"He played the whole game, and he was the difference," Baker said. "He allowed us to build up a 7-0 lead." Larry Pilut and Osburn scored one goal each and had three and two assists, respectively. Dan Lambert had two goals to lead the Wildcats, and Carnes had a goal and two assists.

HUSKIES 5, LAKERS 3:Steve Dunham broke a 2-2 tie in the second period, and Bartels scored later as the Huskies took a 4-2 lead into the finale.

Rob MacDonald notched two goals and Art Eastman two assists for the Lakers on Wednesday, July 13.

WALTER'S STARTED the weekend on a positive note, blanking Hines Park Lincoln-Mercury of Plymouth-Canton, 8-0, in a game played Friday at Ford Field.

Joe Mackiewicz, a Redford Catholic Central High alum, continued his fine pitching by tossing a three-hitter to go along with 10 strikeouts. He is now 5-1 on the season.

Hines Park starter Bill Barber (Glenn High and Michigan State) had to leave the game early when he took a shot off the knee from Brian Smolinski (Farmington Harrison High and MSU).

Smolinski collected three hits, while Livonia Churchill High products Ed Shepler and Mickey Katschor added two apiece. John Stoitsiadis (Churchill and Eastern Michigan University) knocked in three runs.

Ruth leader stays on whirlwind pace

Craiger remained the hottest team in the Plymouth-Canton Babe Ruth League last week, steamrolling Dairy Junction Express 13-5 on Tuesday and Georgetown Realty 23-3 on Thursday.

Craiger, improving its league-leading record to 12-1, was led by Jason Stoops in its victory over Dairy Junction.

He was 3-for-4 and drove in three runs, and he also was the winning pitcher. Stoops pitched five innings and struck out six. Frank Learned, Scott Kapla and Mitch MacDonald had two hits apiece, and Learned also swung the bat at key times, driving in three runs. He pitched the last two innings and struck out four. Pat Mosher was the game's leading hitter, going 4-for-4 for the Ex-

Jason Bregni picked up his fifth pitching win without a defeat as Craiger rolled over Georgetown.

Teammates supported his pitching with 20 hits. Stoops again was 3for-4 and had five RBI. Learned went 3-for-6, including a home run, and drove in three runs, and Steve Aumann batted 3-for-5. Jason Crain, Bregni, who helped his own cause with four RBI, and Josh Wiegand had two hits apiece. Wiegand chipped in two RBI.

Georgetown was not without its better moments last week, taking a come-from-behind win over Twist 'N Shake on Wednesday. Eric Nielson pitched another strong game for the winners.

O&E champ headed for U-M

By C.J. Risak staff writer

The champ will be back.

That's good news for the Observer & Eccentric/Whispering Willows womens; golf tournament. But wait there's more.

Tournament director Gary Whitener is considering adding an open division for the tournament. The open division would be just that - a division open to any golfer, regardless of age or handicap.

The idea is a simple one and is under consideration because of a need for another competitive category. At the past five O&E tournaments, the championship flight has been mainly a two-woman battle, with Birmingham's Ann Lauer in the hunt each time - first against Geralyn Repasky of Livonia (who has since become a teaching pro) and, for the past two years, against Erica Zonder of Farmington.

OTHERS HAVE challenged last year Tricia Waldecker of Livonia closed with a 39 over the final nine holes to finish one stroke behind runner-up Lauer - but several golfers have been caught between flights. Their handicaps put them in the championship flight, but they aren't quite good enough to stay with

Which is what prompted the plan for an open division. It means there member: The top awards will still go to the championship flight winner.

Last year that was Zonder, who shot a 78 to win by five strokes. 'I thought I'd like to be back to defend my title," said Zonder Tuesday. She hedged just a bit as she figured if her schedule would allow it. By mid-August, she will begin playing with University of Michigan's golf team. The O&E tournament is Aug. 13.

NO, THE QUESTION needn't be she'll be playing for the womens team. True, at North Farmington Zonder co-captained the boys golf team. That won't be the case at U-M. She received a full scholarship when she signed in April.

"I was going to go to Iowa State," said Zonder. "I had decided in February to go to Iowa State. When the day came to sign the letter (of in-

> 'We're going to turn the (U-M) program around. (LeClair) is bringing in some other really good golfers. I like the commitment they've shown to the program. 'I want to go to U-M and play well." she said. "I don't want to just go there and say, 'Yeah, I got a scholarship.' I want to prove I ZONDER HAS spent this summer practicing a lot. I need to refine my skills." She's played just two tournaments, the High School Senior Girls Championship at Michigan State's Forest Acres in May and a girls invitational in Ohio two weeks ago.

Playing against the best high school senior girls in Michigan, Zonder tied for first with Shannon Hamel and Sarah Stiefel, both of Ann Arbor, with a 78. Stiefel won the playoff, earning a trip to the nation al tournament.

They were in the middle of their (high school) season," said Zonder. They hadn't even played their state championship yet. I thought that gave them the advantage. It was my first tournament of the year, so I was pretty happy.

At the Ohio invitational, Zonder recovered from a "horrible" first round to shoot 81 her second day. Although those are her only tournaments thus far this year, her handicap remains at five - same as it was for last year's O&E. And - take note, ladies - Zonder feels "this is the best I've played.'

LAUER, WHO won O&E titles in 1983 and 1986, is expected to return and challenge Zonder. So is Waldeck-

Others with handicaps over 10 may want to consider playing in the open division. Although not a certainty, Whitener said if the response is strongly in favor of it, it will be

Last year, there were just five golfers in the championship flight and only 35 total. It is hoped an open division will attract more golfers, thereby increasing prize totals.

If you wish to voice your opinion on the creation of an open division for the O&E tournament, please call Whitener at Whispering Willows

After nine hours of qualifying, where the field is ultimately reduced to 24, another nine hours of match play follows, leading to the big show, the stepladder, where five survivors meet in the nationally-televised (tape delayed) finals on

Sill, who has won 13 career pro titles and was named BWAA Women Bowler of the Year in 1984 and 1985, knows the only reward on this tour is making the stepladder finals.

The overweight, heavy smoking Bob Litky used to laugh at joggers. The trimmed-down, non-smoking Bob Litky is now one of them.

Five years ago Litky suffered a heart attack which led to triple bypass surgery. A short time later, Litky had a near-fatal stroke. He spent 50 days in the hospital, found talking difficult and was not allowed to drive for

You can hardly keep him off the streets these days.

Litky, a Southfield resident who's constantly thankful to be alive, is a running addict. He's completed three Detroit Free Press Marathons - "I plan on running again this year" - and just this spring finished his first Boston Marathon (four hours, 40 minutes).

Litky is one of more than 1,000 runners expected to tackle the scenic streets of Birmingham Sunday for the sixth annual Back to Birmingham Run/Walk. Officials will handle registration until one hour prior to the 9 a.m. starting time at the Birmingham Seaholm High School parking lot.

This will be Litky's third consecutive Back to Birmingham Run appearance.

This is a very nice race. The city of Birmingham is nice and the organizers (Motor City Striders) do a nice job," said Litky. "My feeling is that the Motor City Striders really understand running and they are marvelous people when it comes to (conducting a race.)'

LITKY, 53, began running, shortly after his bypass surgery, with a handful of patients from William Beaumont Hospital known as the Cardio-Athletes. He had quit smoking, was losing weight and was learning to enjoy jogging when he had the stroke.

'I was watching my food and I loved running. I was selling computers and doing really well up until I had a stroke in my head," said Litky. "The doctors thought I was dead. I couldn't work and I couldn't use a car for Litky, a salesman at McMurray Electric in Ferndale, now runs about 30-35 miles per month and enters about 30 races per year.

Despite his death-defying traumas, Litky enjoys life to the fullest. He says the motivation to continue is supplied by the people from Beaumont Hospital and his own self-determination.

"Watching my wife (Loretta) and children (Scott, Bruce, Steve and Wendy) . . . they had a rough time after my bypass surgery," said Litky. "But I got to a point where I said 'I wanted to live.' I talked to my doctors and they said I could do all of this running.

"The way I look at it, how many people who had bypass surgery and strokes run marathons? I'm the best at that. Do you know what I mean? If you're in trouble you can just sit around and not do anything, or you can do what I do. You have to push, push, push.

Some people, after they have a stroke or a heart attack, live but aren't really happy," he said. "I don't want it to be that way with me."

LITKY SAID running serves as health and physical therapy.

"I used to like smoking and eating and I always thought you had to be a little crazy to run. I used to laugh at people who ran," he said. "Now it's a different

"I like myself and I like the way I look. I try to do at least a couple of miles every day," he said. "There's no question my running is responsible for all of this.'

The Back to Birmingham Run/Walk includes 10k and two-mile runs, plus a two-mile fitness walk. The races start and finish at the Seaholm High School parking lot and the courses include many hilly areas around Birmingham and Beverly Hills.

Trophies will be awarded to the first five male and female runners in the 10k and two-mile runs. Corporate awards also will be available.

All race proceeds benefit Common Ground, a 24-hour crisis center located in Birmingham.

Gilles reaches tourney semis

Steve Herdoiza did it again.

Just two weeks after winning the Top Gun Professional Tennis Tournament at the Bloomfield Open Hunt Club, Herdoiza came back to win the second annual Keating Brothers Prize Money Tennis Championship Tournament.

The former Bloomfield Hills Lahser High School tennis star defeated Rochester's Brian Veillette in the finals, 6-0, 6-0, Sunday at the Kenning Park courts in Birming-

Herdoiza advanced to the finals with a 6-2, 6-2 semifinal victory over No. 1-seeded Doug Pielet, a semi-regular player on the pro cir-

The other semifinal match featured a duel between Veillette and No. 2 seed R.J. Dunkle of Ohio. Veillette, who saved one match point, won in three tough sets, 1-6, 6-3, 7-6 (7-3 tie breaker).

Herdoiza had little trouble with Veillette in the finals. In fact, Herdoiza, who just completed his freshman season at Northwestern University, won four of his five tournament matches in straight

His lone three-set match occurred in the quarterfinals where he defeated Blase Keating, 6-2, 3-6. 6-3. Herdoize lost just eight games in his other four matches.

"I got as close as I could," said Keating. "I knew if I could get past (Herdoiza) I would have a chance to win. But Steve played well when he had to, especially when he got to the finals.

"I knew Steve was good, but I didn't know how good until I saw him in the Top Gun tournament," he said. "Steve's a power player and Brian's more of a touch player Brian did not play as well as he's capable.'

tennis

THE MEN'S tournament included a 64-field draw. Defending champion Brian Page and 1987 runner-up Mark Waldmoe did not compete because of previous commitments.

It was just the opposite in the women's tournament.

The championship match was a repeat of last year's final with the same results. Stephanie Lightvoet. the No. 1 seeded player from Northwestern University, defeated Kelly Muvihill of St. Louis, Mo. in the championship match, 6-4, 6-1.

Lightvoet advanced to the final after a tough 3-6, 6-4, 6-4 semifinal triumph over Plymouth's Chris Gilles. Mulvihill defeated Indiana University teammate Candy Kopetzki in the other semifinal, 5-7, 6-4. 6-2.

The women's tourney consisted of 32 players.

The men's winner won $400 while the women's winner won $200. To keep their amateur status. Herdoiza and Lightvoet could not accept the money, taking only enough to cover tournament costs. Most of the money went back in the junior program at the Birmingham Tennis Club

The Waterford crystal trophies were donated by Greenstone's of Birmingham.

Redford run gaining in popularity

By M.B. Dillon staff writer

Here are some pertinent facts about one of the area's most popular road races.

WHAT: The Redford Roadrunners Classic, fast becoming one of southeastern Michigan's premier events. The classic features one-and five-mile races on courses that are fast, flat and accurate. More than 1,300 runners are expected to enter.

WHEN: The one-mile kicks off at 6 p.m. Saturday, July 30 with the five-miler at 6:30 p.m.

WHERE: In Livonia at Stark and Lyndon, just west of Farmington Road between Five Mile and the Jeffries freeway.

AWARDS: The race this year is part of the Twilight Triple Crown. The top male and female finishers of the Trenton Treadmill 8K in June, the Roadrunner Classic and the Allen Park Street Fair 5-Miler in August each will receive a $500 U.S. savings bond.

Any runner who breaks the course record (24:42 for late registration (after July 23). Entry to the for men, 29:15 for women) receives a $100 gift certificate from Running Fit in Ann Arbor.

Top finishers in men's and women's age groups will receive candy jars filled with more than two pounds of jelly beans

GOODIES: An outdoor post-race party (there'll be a tent in case of rain), dance music, a coed, outdoor shower for overheated runners, a videotape of the race, and for the hungry and thirsty, spring water, seltzer, beer, bagels, hot dogs, watermelon and more.

This year's T-shirt, designed by artistically inclined members of the sponsoring Redford Roadrunners, is a black muscle shirt trimmed in turquoise and pink. On the back is a Picasso-style runner breaking the tape at the finish line tape, said race co-director and world-class marathoner Doug Kurtis.

ENTRY FEES: It's $11 to pre-register, and $16 party is $5 for non-racers before July 23, and $8 after. Entry forms are available in Michigan Runner magazine, and at area health clubs and sporting goods stores including Running Fit, Total Runner in Southfield and Racquets Unlimited in Livonia, and at Video World at Five Mile and Farmington roads.

We're doing some new things entertainmentwise this year," said Kurtis of the Redford Roadrunners.

"We've hired three different acts to appear at the start. A group from Detroit Parks and Rec will demonstrate double-Dutch jumproping choreographed to rap music for pre-race entertain-

"Before the start of the five-mile race, we will have bagpipers. If it's not too hot, they'll dress up in their kilts," said Kurtis.

Hula dancers from a local dance club will perform before the awards ceremony.

Faithful reader has foot problem

exercising options

Dear Myrna: I'm a faithful reader who has plantar fascitis. I read your column a few weeks ago describing plantar fascitis. Any suggestions on how to cure and prevent further problems? I'm a runner who

Thank you for being a faithful reader. Plantar fascitis is a fairly common runners' injury.

Myrna

Partrich

First, let me describe it.

Pain on the bottom of your heel "can be" plantar fascitis. The plantar fascia is a band of tough connective tissue that supports the bottom of your foot. The pain you feel is usually due to a tearing away of the band where it attaches on the heel.

Most important, go to an orthopedic doctor. Determine exactly the cause of the pain. He will give you the medical advice you need.

FOLLOWING ARE my suggestions of how to cure and prevent Change your running activity to a speed walk with hand weights. Start with one pound and gradually increase weight, not to exceed four pounds each.

• Try biking, swimming and low-impact aerobic exercise.

• Your doctor might suggest special arch supports. Wear them in your athletic shoes. We want to eliminate pronation, which causes the toes to move forward and stretch the plantar fascia. By limiting pronation of the foot, you take tension off the plantar fascia.

• Your shoes must have a flexible sole that bends behind the big toe. When you run, you land on your heel, then your toes. If the sole is very stiff or tends to bend in the wrong area, extra force is then placed on the plantar fascia and it can tear

• Before and after your activity, stretch your calf muscles. Our calf muscles are extensions of our plantar fascia. The stretching will make the calf muscle more flexible, which, in turn, lessens the force of weight on the plantar fascia.

IF THE explanations seem vague to you, your doctor will have more detailed explanations.

Sad to say, you will have to give up running for a time. You can still benefit greatly by speed walking or low-impact aerobics.

Low-impact exercise seems to be the most popular classes at our studio. That should tell you something!

Myrna Partrich, co-owner of The Workout Company Inc. of Bloomfield Township, is happy to answer any questions readers may have regarding exercise. Please send your letters to: Sports Department, Myrna Partrich, 1225 Bowers, Birmingham ALLEYE ANGLERS usually head out to the Great Lakes system when in search of their favorite game fish. But there are several local inland lakes and streams that, with the help of yearly stocking programs by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, support healthy walleye fisheries.

More than 158,000 walleye fingerlings have already been planted in Oakland and Macomb county lakes this year. The fingerlings are products of a cooperative rearing effort between the DNR Fisheries Division, the Drayton Plains Nature Center and the Lake St. Clair Advisory Committee.

The North Branch of the Clinton River received the most fingerlings with 61,379 already released into the waters. Cass Lake received 42,600 followed by Kent Lake with 23,520, Loon Lake with 10,000, Stony Creek Impoundment with 12,410 and Maceday Lake with 9,000.

IF YOU WANT to see bald eagles

BIII Parker in their natural habitat in Michigan

your best bet is probably the Upper Peninsula Although eagles were sighted in 68 of Michigan's 83 counties during last year's winter survey, the highest numbers of concentration were found in Menominee (30), Iron (24), Dickenson (21), Delta (19) and Mackinac (17) counties. The most sightings in Lower Peninsula counties were Saginaw (17), Montmorency (17), Crawford (16), Alpena (15), Oscoda (14), Presque Isle (14) and Roscommon (12).

More than 1,300 sightings were reported to the Michigan Department of Natural Resources during the 1988 winter survey that lasted January through March. After sorting out the duplicate reports it was estimated by wildlife managers of the state's Natural Heritage Program that 389 eagles nested in the state last winter.

Last summer an all-time high of 137 pair of bald eagles nested in the state and produced 149 young. With numbers like this, wildlife biologists hope to see 200 nesting pair in Michigan by the turn of the century

PEOPLE ATTEMPTING to attract purple martins to their backyard sanctuaries may be able to assist wildlife biologists in their fiveyear study of the bird, regardless of their success at luring martins in.

Through the DNR's Nongame Wildlife Fund, the Purple Martin Project is being conducted with DNR wildlife biologist Dick Wolinski of Dexter.

The project is in its third year and Wolinski already has information from about 250 residents who have active colonies in their areas.

We have had tremendous response from our cooperators," Wolinski said, "but information from only those active colonies doesn't tell but no martins."

the whole story. We need to hear from people who have martin houses Wolinski is gathering information on arrival and departure dates of the birds and occupancy rates of each colony. He is trying to learn more about what attracts martins to specific colony sites. What we hope to find out is what is different about those sites that have martin populations, those that have never had and those that have had them and lost them over a period of years. People can help by filling out a questionnaire provided by the Nongame Wildlife Fund.

Neither sun nor lack of rain nor soaring temperatures can keep Oakland County's theater groups from their appointed rounds.

These ambitious actors and technicians have spent the spring and summer mounting full-scale productions of children's theater, serious plays and musicals. The fruits of their labors are now in and the harvest is abundant for families, students and just about everyone in COMING UP: Henrik Ibsen's 'Ghosts," at the Avon Playhouse, 1185 Washington Road, Rochester. The two-week run begins July 22-24, and continues through July 29-31. Curtain is at 8 p.m.; matinees at 2 p.m. Sunday.

Dorothy Smith, a longtime member of the Avon Players, produces and directs "Ghosts," as part of the requirements for her master's degree in theater from Wayne State University. Smith uses Arthur Kopit's contemporary translation of Ibsen's 1881 classic. She's brought in Mary Copenhagen of the Hilberry Theatre to do costumes. Mark Berg of the Birmingham Theatre will do lighting.

Smith feels that Ibsen's play is timeless. It's about "being true to yourself; it's about taking risks rather than letting others dictate how we live," she said.

Her cast includes Sheila Lyle as Mrs. Alving, Tom Logan as Pastor Manders, David Nelson as Oswald, Kathy Wyszacki as Regina, and Frank Cosenza as Engstrand. For ticket information, call 375-9432.

THE BIRMINGHAM VILLAGE PLAYERS reinstated children's theater and plans to continue the tradition. Bill Haycook and the board decided on "Hansel and Gretel" as the first offering in five years. Producer Diane McKeon, director Jane Miller, Kim Fox as Hansel and Keri Stern as Gretel open at 8:30 a.m. and 3 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 6. There will be two performances on Saturday, Aug. 13, at the playhouse, 752 Chestnut, Birmingham. Parents and grandparents are welcome. For ticket information, call 644-2075.

The playhouse is in the first act of a huge renovation effort directed by builder Tom Pallos of Troy. Fred Lavery and the board are overseeing tion about obtaining $3 tickets for the building benefit, call Donna Masters at 644-2075.

THE JEWISH COMMUNITY CENTER offers something for those going away in August. Take the kids to see "Hansel and Gretel" July 26 at the Jewish Community Center. Four weeks of interactive theater meant to involve kids at an early age kicks off with this favorite tale.

Sponsored by the center's cultural arts department, this is the third year of "family nights." Dad is encouraged to sit on the floor with kids age 4-11. Everyone's encouraged to speak to the actors.

Henry K. Martin is directing 'Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" and his wife, Sue, and the cast want to introduce kids to the delights of theater going at an early age. They hope to cultivate a lifelong habit. All performances are at 7:30 p.m. Tuesdays in DeRoy Auditorium, 6600 W. Maple, West Bloomfield. For tickets, call 661-1000, or turn up at the information booth in the lobby 11/2 hour before curtain time.

TROY PLAYERS attempts an ambitious schedule. They hope a summer production will become a permanent part of four offerings a year. Director Stephen Kiersey has lucked into a sprightly cast to do one of New York's oldest running shows, "The Fantasticks." Tom Jones' witty patter and songs will open Aug. 5. and run through Aug. 6, 12-13, 20-21. Jim Taltos, Pat and Colleen O'Shaughnessey, Hal D'Artini, Robert Szatkowski make up the cast. Kiersy gets into the act as one of the fathers. Greg Nichols on piano and Connie Patrick, a jack-of-all-trades, are on hand. Curtain time is 8 p.m. at the Troy Community Center. For ticket information, call 879-1285.

STAGECRAFTERS' YOUTH THEATRE rounded up 47 cast members and 30 technicians, ages 8-17, from every part of Oakland County to put on a fulsome production of Alice In Wonderland.

Cast and crew alike are qualified and enthusiast. Director Carol McFarland has a master's degree in theater from Wayne. Producer Maureen Burns "likes to keep things on nees at 2 p.m. Aug. 7 and 10. Curtain the burner year round." Everyone is time, 8 p.m. Sept. 6-11. For tickets working on a volunteer basis. Billie and further information, call 377-Wildrick, seen in the Great Lakes 2010.

ice. Christopher Pauck is the actor behind the Cheshire Cat's grin Debra Hayes will be the Queen and Jim Daly runs about as the White Rabbit.

This carefully mounted production will open 7 p.m. Friday, July 29: Performances continue at 2 p.m. and p.m. Saturday, July 30, and at 2 p.m. Sunday, July 31. Tickets are $3; seating is assigned. Ticket sales are already under way. For information, call the Baldwin Theatre, 415 S. Lafayette, Royal Oak, 541-6430.

THE SPOTLIGHT PLAYERS present "Cupid's Bow," "The Middle Kingdom" and "Lemonade," on Friday-Saturday, July 29-30. The three on Aug. 2 and 9; "Beauty & The one-act plays are "summer fare," Beast" on Aug. 16 and 23. Martin meant to send you and your date out on a quest for root beer floats and sweet old-time pleasures. "A Night of One Acts" can be seen at 8 p.m. in St. John's Episcopal Church, 555 S. Wayne Road, Westland. Tickets, $4; students and seniors, $3. Call 459-7672 for information.

> AT MEADOW BROOK MUSIC FESTIVAL, Oakland University, Rodgers and Hammerstein's strange, wonderful love story about ? a handsome carnival barker and at beautiful factory worker wraps up a fine season.

"Carousel" takes us to the coast of Maine in 1873. The show's unforgettable songs - "If I Loved You," "June Is Bustin' Out All Over,"
"You'll Never Walk Alone" — will take many people back to music we've all grown up with.

Meadow Brook imported the Minnicipal Opera of St. Louis for the production. The terrific, nationally known cast includes Patrice Munsel as Nellie, Rex Smith as Billy Bigelow, the barker, and Stephanie Zimbalist as Julie Jordan, the girl involved with clambakes and hapless

The musical opens the day after Labor Day for a six-day run at Baldwin Pavilion on the Oakland. University campus. Assistant director Greg Bloomfield wants season subscribers to the Meadow Brook Theatre to know that "Carousel" is a bonus production, a ninth play added to the eight done each season. Mati-

West Coast fine tunes its wines

Had I a crystal ball some dozen years ago and been able to see the essence of this column I would have rejected the ideas it carries as preposterous

At that time I, and everyone else in civilized America, knew that West Coast wineries were making strong strides forward in quality, but that the king and master of truly great wines was clearly France. For centuries that had been true and surely would continue to be so for the foreseeable future. France, with her Bordeaux, Burgundy, Champagne and Chablis regions!

But it is amazing what this long decade has seen.

The first fissure in the previously impenetrable barricade came in 1976 when some California Cabernets began to show most favorably in face-to-face competitions with the giants of the Medoc. Such names as Stag's Leap Wine Cellars, Mondavi, Beaulieu, Duckhorn and Sequoia Grove and others began to rise rapidly in world esteem. Today they take second chair to no Bordeaux efforts. Petrus and La Tour cost considerably more and are no less great than they ever were but it is now tradition that enables this to continue for the most part.

By the early 1980s it became apparent that the great white burgundies of France, priced beyond reasonable limits even then, and the more affordable, crisp wines of chablis could be matched in this country by a wide variety of chardonnays from California.

producing wines that could meet the highest quality standards of France. Wines from Simi, Sonoma-Cutrer, Jordan, Kistler, Chateau St. Jean (and more recently Ferrari-Corano) in Sonoma, Kendall-Jackson in Lake, Quail Ridge, Pine Ridge, Girard, Beringer and Chateau Montelena in Napa, all have come to be accepted as world class.

Then, beginning with the 1983 vintage and continuing through 1985 and 1986, the great red burgundies have been challenged from three sources; the Carneros region of Napa-Sonoma, the Santa Barbara and San Luis Obispo areas and, above all, Oregon and the Willamette Valley. The cool growing conditions in these three regions, combined with excellent soils and increasing winemaking skills all dictate that one no longer need pay $35-$50 for a great wine made from the Pinot Noir grape. At half the price, or less, the glories of this perhaps finest of all wine grapes can apparently be realized under label names such as Wild Horse, Byron, Carneros Creek, Acacia, Saintsbury, La Crema, Knudsen-Erath, Rex Hill, Cameron, Tualatin, Elk Cove . . . the list is a long one. The less tradition-bound wine people acknowledge some of the above (and there are some who grant most of it). But, then it comes to the true champion of wine, the great one, champagne, they resist. The name, after all, is synonymous with prestige and excellence. It is also one of the most hyped commodities in all the world, whose cost is determined more by the difficulty in producing it than in the quality it holds.

The quality of true champagne, whatever the price, cannot be challenged. It is enormous, but some evaluations are beginning to come in suggesting that some of the finer, small California producers are now offering sparklers of comparable quality. Though today they have not yet attained the mystique of such names as Dom Perignon, Taittinger, Krug, Mumm, Salon and Roederer, the time may not be far off. It was not too long ago that the names Mon-davi, Saintsbury and Simi were virtually unknown.

The evidence seems clear that today several California regions are producing, at a fraction of the price, wines of absolute top quality, comparable to some of France's finest.

From Napa the S. Anderson winery particularly is gaining tremendous press for its chardonnay and pinot noir-based sparklers. A modest, family affair, Stan Anderson's operation has risen from obscurity to prominence in little over half a decade. Excellent wines.

Scharffenberger in Mendocino and Iron Horse in Sonoma have fared almost as well land once tiny Culbertson in San Diego is now growing both in quantity and quality. Shadow Creek, now housed in San Luis Obispo, has won many international awards. And so it goes.

Add to these modest producers the French/California alliance producers (using French skills and money and California grapes and winemakers) such names as Domaine Chandon, Piper-Sonoma, Maison Deutz and Domaine Mumm, all reflect burgeoning sparkling production and ex-

Do not interpret what is being written here as chauvinistic patriotism or mere provinciality. It is rather a reflection of a trend that has evolved quickly. One that is being acknowledged by more and more of those who shape the trends. and observe the patterns of the wine

It is not a matter of a lessening of French quality. It continues to be of the highest order. But the evidence grows that American West Coast wineries have caught up and, in some cases, surpassed them. After all, in the auto industry, on a reverse scale, it has happened before. We know that.

I am hesitant to get that dusty crystal ball out again. It did me too little good a dozen years ago. There are those who feel the Australians' time is next.

When the house itself is a work of art

By Corinne Abatt staff writer

T WAS REGARDED AS an unbuildable lot. It dropped 50 feet from the edge of a quiet country lane to an artesian well pond at the base of a wooded Beverly and Kenneth Neumann owned the lot for 15 years before the time was right for them to use their combined talents and come up with what would immediately become one of the most unusual houses in this part of the state. He is an architect and she is an artist.

The house is a contemporary trilevel.

riding the slope of the land like a majestic ocean liner does the waves, proudly and efficiently. House and setting complement each other. Neither is dimminished by the presence of the other. It is like a good marriage in which each partner shines as an individual, yet the total is greater than the sum of the parts.

'The shape of the house was determined by the trees," Beverly Neumann said. "We put windows at places where there are beautiful

In all there are 220 windows, mostly facing the ravine, offering one spectacular panorama after another. The front entrance by the garage opens to the entry hall that crosses open space to the third level where kitchen, breakfast room, dining room and one of two living rooms are located.

A DECK is on the west side off the dining room on the third level, and another is off the second-level living room above the ravine on the north side. Each, supported by a single pillar with braces to the corners, has the feeling of a house in the woods, even to the Adirondack-style porch furniture

While area and function are clearly defined, it is often through use of the white metal railings, glass or curved partial walls. The sense of openness and light from all directions gives the atmosphere an almost translucent quality. It is interesting that even though the design is unusual, the floor plan unfamiliar, the walls (with few small exceptions) painted white and spaces defined by curves and angles, there is no initial feeling of disorientation.

That's because the house has a rhythm, a flow and a continuity created by very careful planning. Many elements are specifically intended to guide the eye. Forms and materials, such as verdi (dark green) marble, are introduced and then repeated in other ways.

THIS CAREFUL attention to form and line begins outside. The redwood siding is painted white or a very soft gray with white to establish a pattern of horizontal lines. The horizontal lines of the siding are repeated in the white front gate, which opens to an inner courtyard and the front

The lines, separating the frosted panes in the pitched roof over the entry hall, are at an angle. In the vertical banks of windows, the horizontal lines are farther apart than those in the metal railings, but harmony is in all of these variations on a theme.

One of the most subtle is the cherry wood stripe in the hardwood floor at the base of the wall that runs from the living room into the dining room, put there to lead the eye.

THE USE of verdi marble begins with a panel in the entry hall floor and is repeated in the tub in the master bath, the hearth of the living room fireplace and the splash panels in the guest powder room.

"I love the way it looks, I love the overall quality," Beverly Neumann said of the house where they have lived for less than a year. "It's sophisticated without being high tech and quality without being pretentious

Her creative abilities and her eye for color, style and design certainly are major factors in achieving these and fabricated by Nelson Mill of Southfield. She found a picture of a Shaker jewel box with several drawers, expanded the idea and had the same Southfield company do it in cherry as a chest of drawers that covers almost a whole wall.

THE NEUMANNS were never slaves to periods or styles of furnishings. He suggested, when she couldn't readily find what she want-ed, that she look for pictures of things she liked for inspiration.

Lumen-Essence of Troy did the etched glass of the dining room table and the living room coffee table. The same style of chunky, sculptural wooden leg in different heights was used for both tables; again, repetition with modifications.

The natural wood floors throughout the house, the beautiful woods used in the custom-made furniture and the Italian-made dining room chairs with their beautiful solid panel curved backs, add a great deal of warmth to the atmosphere. The white background is an ideal setting for showcasing color, which comes from the family's collection of orien-rooms," she said.

IT TOOK two years to build the house. Many problems had be overcome, such as getting the cement to the bottom of the ravine. All of the concrete blocks had to be carried down one by one. But all of that has begun to distance itself from the finished project, which in itself has become a work of art.

'You just go out and trust your instincts," said Neumann, who did all of the interior design herself.

As a kind of postscript it could be "There are no window coverings said that hers are more trustworthy

From the living room on the upper level, Beverly Neumann can look down on her studio, direcly below, or across to the dining room pictured at left. The two rooms are partially divided by the fireplace wall at her right. The small globes and wires over the dining room table are part of an unusual and delicate light fixture.

Looking down to the living room on the lower level gives an idea of the scope and range of scenic views. On the long wall is Beverly Neumann's colorful painting on cut-out board of fish and people from her Caribbean series.

Understanding depth-of-field thorough understanding of depth-offield. And many have found that it's easier to master than they might. have thought.

The aperture is the major controller of depth-of-field. To clear up ture those terms, some definitions are in order. Depth-of-field is the distance between the nearest point and the farthest point of a picture that appears sharp and in focus. Aperture, also known as f-stops, is the size of the lens opening through which light is allowed to pass.

A small aperture (for example f-16) will deliver far greater depth-offield than a large aperture (say f-2). Remember, as you change apertures, a corresponding change in shutter speed is required to maintain correct exposure

A SMALL APERTURE normally requires a faster speed. On automatic cameras, changes in aperture shutter speed combinations are done for you. With manual cameras, it's up to you

Those who have taken my classes low depth-of-field? In scenic shots know the importance I place on a you most often will want a lot You can assuredly improve that picture of the distant mountain by framing your shot with the branches of that beautiful tree in the foreground. Here you would use a smaller aper

Reversing the reasoning, in an outdoor portrait, for example, where the center of interest is the subject's face, a large aperture is in order. Remember, a big aperture produces narrow depth-of-field so that what might have been a distracting background behind the subject will become instead a pleasing blur of col-

How can you determine what the depth-of-field will be? There are two

First, use the depth-of-field scale on the lens barrel. The scale will appear as pairs of f-stop numbers with "bracketing" marks. When the lens is in focus, a quick check of where these numbers intersect the feet scale will tell you exactly what your depth-of-field will be and, conse-When do you want a great or shal- quently, what will appear sharp and in focus in your finished print.

DEPTH-OF-FIELD can be maximized by placing the infinity mark on the feet scale opposite your shooting aperture. Much greater depth-offield is available if you focus in this manner enabling you to be more creative in your photography.

Second, many eameras have a depth-of-field preview control which allows you to actually see through the viewfinder what will be rendered sharp in the final picture before you snap the shutter. Consult your instruction manual to see if your camera has this useful feature.

In addition to f-stop changes, two other things affect depth-of-field. The first is subject-to-camera distance. The further you are from your subject, the greater is the depth-offield at a given aperture. The second is the focal length of the lens you are using. The shorter the focal length (wide angle lenses), the greater the depth-of-field. The longer the focal length (telephoto lenses), the less depth-of-field.

Monte Nagler used a small aperture in order to gain as much depth-of-field as possible in this shot taken in Nevada's Great Basin National Park.

Scraping along after a mistake

N MY LAST article, I tried to talk all of you into going outside and doing some on-location watercolor paintings. Better put a hold on that, at least until it cools off a little.

A week ago we had our third Artifacts Art Club outing. The first two were called off because of rain, and last week's outing was essentially called off because of sun. But there are always a few die-hards.

Eleven of us showed up with coolers full of diet pop and the media we selected to use for the day. I had a set of watercolor pencils that melted in the sun. And my watercolor? Well, the air was so hot I couldn't keep the watercolor paper wet enough for my colors to flow.

While watching my popsicle melt in my hand, the thought occurred to me that it was actually cooler in my mouth (96.8 degrees) than the air was outside

So take it from me, "the great outdoors," "natural lighting" and "out in the elements" is a lot of hooey! When it's 102 degrees, I will personally opt for an air conditioned studio.

Outdoors, you leave yourself open to more than the usual hazards of

At the Artifacts Club outing, for example, a bug landed on my paper and strolled into one of the few good washes I had going. Dragging his little hind-end, he walked all over. Trying to wipe him off my paper, I kind of smashed him. So you can imagine the streak I had to scrape off

WHETHER I need to remove a sprinkle of paint or the last remains of a bug, scraping is always my first thought.

The sizing on watercolor paper usually keeps much of the pigment from penetrating too deeply. So a razor knife and a light touch will remove most unwanted spots. Always start outside the spot and begin lightly scraping toward the center.

This approach confines the dried particles of pigment within the borders of the spot. Particles of pigment tend to lodge in the rough paper that is created by the scraping. Lift out all pigment with a kneaded eraser.

Now, after all the pigment has been scraped and lifted, the spot still slightly shows because the repaired area is fuzzy. To hide the area completely, burnish the fuzzy fibers back into the paper and it should look

IF YOU wish to lighten a large area, washing it with water and scrubbing it with a soft or coarse brush seems to work well (depending on the paper and color).

Sandpaper is an excellent way to lighten an area. Sanding greatly shows the texture of the paper and, depending on what subject you are painting, may benefit your work.

Cutting and peeling is a wonderful way to run bright white lines through an area.

Simply make two cuts very close to each other. Then with the tip of the Xacto razor knife, lift and peel. Just the painted or upper layer of paper will peel off, usually in one piece. This produces a bright white line with razor sharp edges. You can then paint on some color to tone them down a little.

Depending on the make and hue of a paint, some areas may be lightened by household bleach. Use cotton swabs for small areas and if you have to, use a nylon or taklon synthetic brush. A natural hair brush will disintegrate right in front of your eyes

So whatever happens, from unwanted splashes of color to kamikaze bugs, most watercolor catastrophies can be repaired.

Ford gala to close at picnic

The Henry Ford Estate-Fair Lane on the campus of the University of Michigan-Dearborn is scheduling a two-day celebration of the 125th birthday of auto magnate Henry Ford July 30-31.

Saturday, July 30, Ford's actual birthday, the estate will invite all acquaintances of Henry and Clara Ford to share with the public their reminiscences and experiences at an oral history collection center from noon until 3 p.m.

These will be interspersed with favorite Ford fiddle music and songs from area school children. "Everyone is invited to share memories," estate director Donn Werling said, "either publicly on a narrative stage or more privately if they wish.

SUNDAY, JULY 31, will serve to culminate a six-month celebration by the estate and the university. The public is invited to attend an oldfashioned summertime picnic on the grounds of the estate from noon until 5 p.m.

Inadvertently, in some Monday editions, this story was cut. It appears here in its entirety.

Due to the efforts of a handful of dedicated volunteers, the Livonia Symphony Orchestra debuts this fall in a premiere performance of Gershwin rhapsodies.

The performance culminates hours of work in which an existing symphony, Oakway Orchestra, was completely restructured.

Oakway was founded 15 years ago for the communities of Birmingham, West Bloomfield, Southfield, Farmington Hills and Livonia. By last year, only Farmington Hills and Livonia continued to support the orchestra, with Livonia providing most of the funding.

'It needed a real home and community identity," said Rose Kachnowski, vice chairman of the Livonia Symphony board, in explaining the reorganization. "It seemed natural for Livonia to assume that role."

PERFORMANCES FOR the 1988-

• Sunday, Sept. 25 - Guest pianist John Cannon in a performance of classical and contemporary arrangements, including selections by Gershwin. 8 p.m. in the Livonia Mall.

 Sunday, Nov. 6 — An afternoon "musical collage" of favored and memorable musical selections. 3 p.m. in the Clarenceville High auditorium.

• Sunday, Dec. 4 - A blend of Christmas favorites and noted illu-sionists in a seasonal "musical magical" for the young and young at heart. 3 p.m. at Madonna College.

• Sunday, Feb. 26 - Upcoming stars of the 1990s will be featured in a "showcase 90" performance. 3 p.m. in the Clarenceville auditorium.

 Sunday, May 6 — The Metro-politan Youth Symphony under the direction of Alan McNair will join the Livonia Symphony for a final performance, including the "1812 Overture" arrangement. 8 p.m. in Livonia Churchill High.

Season series are $40 each or $20 for students younger than 21 and senior citizen 60 and older. Single tickets are $5 and $8.50 each.

THE LIVONIA Symphony also presents a mini series this season.

Performances are Italian Night Jan. • CONCERT SERIES 13, Viennese Night Feb. 10 and Performances, are scheduled for 8 with the Dixieland sound of the Tail-

Cost of the mini series is $24 or $12 for students and senior citizens Membership in the Livonia Symphony Orchestra League is also available. The league, the fund-raising arm of the symphony, ensures the stability of the symphony.

Membership is $25 for one year.

For more information or to purchase season tickets and league membership, enclose a self-addressed and stamped envelope to Livonia Symphony Orchestra, P.O. Box 51297, Livonia 48150.

briefly speaking

Livonia's Music Under the Stars Broadway Musical Night March 10. series continues tonight (Thursday) p.m in the Livonia Civic Center Li- agte Ramblers. The concert is held in Civic Center Park, Five Mile and Farmington roads. Lawn chairs are suggested. The music begins at 7:30

Next week, Thursday, July 28, the series will feature Top 40 music with Phil Gram. The concert location switches, however. It will be held at the Wilson Barn site, corner of Middlebelt and West Chicago.

The following week, Thursday Aug. 2, the Detroit Concert Band will make its annual appearance on the steps of the Livonia City Hall. In case of rain, the concert will be moved to Clarenceville High School

Schmidt Auditorium. The summer music series is sponsored by the Livonia Arts Commission.

SUMMER ARTS FESTIVAL

The Michigan Guild of Artisans will present the 18th annual Summer Arts Festival through Saturday, July 23, in downtown Ann Arbor. Hours are from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. through Saturday and 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday. The guild's festival features 540 of the finest artists from all over the country.

The Summer Arts Festival is the largest of the three fairs that comprise the "Ann Arbor Art Fair." The three art festivals jointly attract over 500,000 visitors to Ann Arbor during the four days.

'It needed a real home and community identity. It seemed natural for Livonia to assume that role."

NBD's Convertible A.R.M. gives you low interest rates now... Annual Percentage Rate and the option to convert to a Fixed Rate Mortgage later.

With a Convertible Adjustable Rate Mortgage from NBD, you start with the guaranteed low rates of an Adjustable Rate Mortgage for the first year. Then, any time during the next four years, you can convert to a fixed rate mortgage quickly, easily.

Take advantage of low rates now...

The NBD Convertible A.R.M. gives you interest rates significantly below current fixed rate mortgages of comparable term. Here's how it works: Your rate is set on the day your completed application is received and it's good for one year from your closing date. Then every 12 months your rate will be adjusted up or down with the market. If interest rates go down, your mortgage payments go down accordingly. If interest rates continue to rise, your payments will increase. However, to protect you from any large changes, NBD guarantees that your A.R.M. will never go up more than two percentage points annually or more than six percentage points over the initial rate for the life of your loan.

...Lock in a fixed rate later for only $100.

If rates go down, or you want the security of a fixed rate mortgage, just notify our NBD Mortgage Office and they will convert your A.R.M. to a Fixed Rate Mortgage quickly, easily, and at a cost of only $100. You can even do it through the mail! There are no title searches, no waiting, and you can convert any month between the 13th and 60th month of your loan.

Find out more about it.

NBD's Convertible A.R.M. could help you buy more house than you thought. For more information about NBD's Convertible Adjustable Rate Mortgage, or the other loan options we have available, call or visit the NBD Mortgage Company Office nearest you.

*These estimated annual percentage rates are subject to increase or decrease on an annual basis after the loan is closed based upon the formula set forth in the loan contract. Rates are quoted as of 7/18/88 and are subject to change without notice. Rates may vary across the state of Michigan. Contact your local NBD mortgage office. Stated reduced starting interest rate will apply only during the first year. The quoted APR is based on a typical loan: your APR may be different. NBD Mortgage Company also offers other loans with different rates.

Q. Our homeowners association does not have very much authority in the documents to collect assessments. Most of the assessments being paid are on a voluntary basis and we are trying to get enough money to amend our bylaws to impose an obligation on the co-owners with lien power. What has been your experience in this regard?

A. Many homeowner associations underestimate the power which they have to seek the collection of assessments to the extent that power can be improved upon by way of an amendment

The board of directors of the homeowners association should consider whatever legal aiternatives it has to seek the proper amendment of the documents. Generally, the better funded the homeowners association is, the better able the homeowner is to enforce the documents and. otherwise, discharge its reponsibilities as set forth in the restrictions and covenants.

Homeowner associations tend to be selfdefeating because they don't think they have powers which they may well have. They should engage the services of an experienced attorney who can provide them with various insights, not only in enforcing the documents which they presently have, but seeking approval of needed amendments to the documents to improve their

Q. I have been waiting for over four months to get a mortgage commitment from a mortgage company that was recommended to me by my broker on a refinance. I have been met with a myriad of excuses and am wondering what to do. Do you have any suggestions?

A Four months appears to be an inordinate amount of time to secure a refinancing. There must have been a screw up somewhere along the line on the part of the mortgage company unless you have not provided it with the information requested on a timely basis.

I would contact the president of the mortgage company and demand a full explanation as to the cause of the delay. I would also consider seeking alternative means of financing, and if there was negligence on the part of the mortgage company. I would consider calculating the amount of damages which you may have suffered by way of loss of a favorable rate of interest and seek legal counsel as to the viability of a claim, assuming that you cannot get the mortgage company to in a timely fashion issue a commitment and provide you with some credit for their negligence if that can be established.
