Star struck

Steve Guttenberg's marriage to Westland native and model Denise Bixler at the Mayflower Meeting House earlier this month drew small groups of females hoping to catch a glimpse of the star featured in "Three Men and a Cradle," "Police Academy," "Diner," and "Cannon."

Any Friday, 14, of Plymouth sat in the Mayflower Meeting House parking lot patiently staring at the second-floor window. "I saw them kissing in the corner," she said that night.

Some of the other star seekers asked if anyone had seen Tom Selleck go into the reception. Unless he was in disguise, the answer is No.

Memorial tournament

The first Jim Flora Memorial Backgammon Tournament raised more than $600 for the Michigan Heart Association. The tournament drew players from London, Ontario, Fort Wayne, Ind., Charleston, W.Va., Saginaw and Flint to compete for prizes and money.

Jim Flora, who owned J. Malcolm Flora Inc. in Plymouth, died December 1987. Flora was active in numerous Plymouth organizations.

The event was co-sponsored by the American Backgammon Club of Plymouth and the Mayflower Hotel.

Plymouth's Box Bar and Grill is home for the Plymouth Backgammon Club and hosts the weekly Wednesday night tournaments. Registration is 7 p.m. and play starts at 7:30 p.m. New players are invited to join.

"Hispanic Business" recently named Vazquez Construction Co. of Plymouth the fastest-growing Hispanic business in the nation with an 8,150 percent growth rate since its founding in 1983.

The September issue of "Hispanic Business" listed Vazquez Construction as number one in growth among 500 Hispanic businesses surveyed nationwide by the business trade publication.

Owners Steve Vazquez, 35, president, and Rudy Vazquez, 35, executive vice president, both of Canton, attribute their success to hard work and keeping commitments to corporate clients.

Vazquez Construction is a general contractor and construction management company whose clients include Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp.

Scholarship plans

San Plastic Coating, a Plymouth Township company, is celebrating its Silver Anniversary.

Beverlee McAllister, vice president of San Plastic Coating, said one of the ways the company wanted to celebrate was by giving something back to the community. When the anniversary planning committee met, they felt that helping someone achieve their educational goals would be an excellent way to give an award to a member of their community.

A scholarship fund was established at Schoolcraft College, and the award will be made to a student or students attending winter semester 1989.

Applications for the scholarship are being accepted by the Schoolcraft College Foundation. For more information, call 951-4444, Ext. 314.

Divided panel OKs well field bid

A sharply divided Plymouth City Commission accepted an offer last week from two developers to buy the city's abandoned 48-acre water well field in Northville Township.

William Spagnoli of Fairfield West II and Jan Masciulli of Carrollton Arms made a cash bid of $475,000.

The addition of an "as-is" clause regarding the condition of the property and a clause enabling the city to keep $1,000 per month of a $22,000 deposit if the deal falls through apparently swayed a bare majority of commissioners to accept the offer.

Other commissioners wanted more legal protections built into the agreement or objected to giving the pair up to 22 months to close on the offer.

City manager Henry Graper said he expects the closing will occur in nine to 15 months.

If the developers don't obtain final plat approval in Northville Township by August 1990, either party can terminate the agreement.

THE WELL FIELD, off Beck between Five and Six Mile, became available for sale in the early 1970s when Plymouth connected to Detroit's water system.

The city has been trying to unload the property for years.

"The property has been sold several times," said William Graham, city finance director. "The problem is each time the property has been sold, the developer or purchaser hasn't been able to put a syndicate together . . . to make grandiose plans work."

Other offers were rejected by the commission on the basis of price or conditions.

Graper said he's unsure where the $475,000 will go if a closing takes place.

"MORE THAN likely it will go into the water fund," he said. "Part of it (well field) was donated. Part was bought from the general fund. It (land) was always used by the water department."

The city sometimes borrows from its water fund to meet financial obligations when cash flow problems arise.

Masciulli said he and Spagnoli hope to build houses on the property.

"We're going to do some tests," Masciulli said. "It's going to go residential, single family, if it's feasible. Hopefully by springtime, we'll have something laid out."

Houses would carry sales prices in excess of $200,000, he projected. As much as a third of the 48 acres may be unbuildable due to wetlands, he said.

THE PARTNERS expect some opposition from nearby homeowners and limitations to be placed on development by the state Department of Natural Resources.

"If we do a nice project, they won't object," Masciulli said.

Graham also is confident that Northville will approve a Masciulli-Spagnoli joint venture and that the sale will stick.

"People involved with the property now have the wherewithal to de-

Judge dismisses trespassing charge

A criminal trespassing charge brought by a priest at Our Lady of Good Counsel Church against a parishioner in May was dismissed Friday by Judge James Garber in 35th District Court.

However, Garber declined to dismiss a charge of interfering with a police officer during the same incident and against the same defendant, Cecile T. Jean, 44, of Plymouth Township.

A pre-trial hearing on that charge will be scheduled for some time next month.

Jean refused to leave the rectory after she was denied entry to parish meetings last spring.

JEAN SAID she believes the trespassing charge stems from her opposition to liturgical changes, a text book used in an optional human sexuality course and other teaching material used in the school.

The Archdiocese of Detroit claims she had been disruptive during earlier meetings.

Garber acknowledged he probably is plowing new legal ground with his ruling.

He traced through three unrelated cases with similar elements in arriving at his conclusion that Jean didn't criminally trespass.

Garber's reasoning:

- She's a member of the parish in good standing.
- Other parishioners were allowed into the meetings.

Firm tests additives

About those cars motoring along major streets and freeways in western Wayne County with light bars on the roof.

They're owned by Ethyl Petroleum Additives Inc. and involved in a study which a company spokesman declined to discuss in detail.

"We're a developer of fuel and lubricant additives," said John Sunne, a technical liaison in Ethyl's Birmingham office. "We research what additives will do. We use the data when talking sales to oil companies."

A route change several weeks ago brought the cars into Plymouth, Canton, Livonia, Redford, Garden City and Westland.

The circuit includes I-275, I-496, Orchard Lake Road, Plymouth Road, Ann Arbor Trail and Ford Road.

Oakland County roads had been used as a "testing ground." Farmington and Detroit, previously on the route, still are.

Each of 32 cars is driven along a prescribed route of about 50 miles at prescribed speeds, Sunne said.

BILL BRISLER/staff photographer

Cars with light bars on roofs are used for fuel testing.

Cars are pulled off the road every 5,000 miles for special testing including emissions evaluation at ECS Labs of Livonia.

Twenty-six vehicles are on the road, six in the lab at any time, Sunne said. Cars from all Big Three automakers are included in the study. They put on about 400 miles per day.

Cars are usually driven in groups in case problems develop.

Drivers supplied by employment agencies are trained, then periodically checked by spotters along the route. The test vehicles are used only for testing.

Why light bars on the roof?

"It draws attention to cars," Sunne said. "Our biggest problem is accidents. It keeps cars from getting hit — maybe."

The present study probably will continue until February, he said.

• The meetings were held not in the residence portion of the rectory but in a place of assembly.

• The meetings weren't advertised as closed to parishioners.

• She didn't create a disturbance other than refuse to leave.

• She had no criminal intent.

"I struggled mightily to limit the decision to the facts of this case," Garber said. "You change one fact, you might find an entirely different result.

"I would certainly admonish the public at large not to consider this an open door to go in and disrupt meetings," he added.

Jean said she continues to attend Good Counsel even though she was affronted by the trespassing ticket.

"It is a building and the priest is a man," Jean said. "When I go to church, I look to God and put all else aside."

bar). That may be the easiest way out for Pete and for the township."

Eleferio was unavailable for comment.

Var-Ken's liquor license is worth $75,000 to $100,000, said Farhat, a member of the corporation's board of directors. Eleferio has received a few inquiries, but no solid offers, a Rock employee said.

PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP has tried since last winter to revoke the Rock's liquor license.

To that end, township trustees held a show cause hearing last February, and voted to revoke the license.

In August, the LCC ordered that the Rock's license be revoked. Farhat then went to circuit court and obtained a restraining order, preventing the revocation from being enforced. The matter is expected to go to trial in Ingham County Circuit Court.

Townships and cities are empowered to remove licenses as long as they grant the license holder a public hearing. The LCC must then determine that the due process rights of the license holder were in fact granted.

In preparing for the township hearing, Plymouth Township special prosecutor John Stewart requested that five minors go to the Rock.

Last January and February, they did so. The minors testified at the hearing that they were served alcoholic drinks without being asked to show identification.

Violations were filed by the township shortly afterward.

Liquor Control Commissioner Alex Laggis conducted a hearing Sept. 19 on the violations.

Laggis could fine the Rock, or suspend or revoke its license. His decision is due any time.

FARHAT SAYS it's unlikely the Rock could be fined for selling directly to minors, an offense punishable by a $1,000 fine.

"All drinks were purchased by a parent or one of the adults" present, said Farhat, who plans to appeal should the Rock be fined for allowing minors to consume alcohol.

Plymouth Township police controlling the buy didn't follow proper procedure, added Farhat.

"When the police control buys, certain guidelines have to be followed. Those procedures weren't followed," said Farhat.

According to Farhat, "police must search a kid for false ID before he goes in. They have to make sure the minor hasn't been there on a prior occasion. And when the kid makes a buy, police must take the evidence," said Farhat.

NOT TRUE, says Stewart.

"There was no controverted evidence presented that the minors did not in fact go in, order for themselves and were never at any time asked for any kind of proof," said Stewart.

If the law required police presence, "every case that ever used an informant would have to be thrown out," added Stewart.

"Does someone who looks like the Lone Ranger have to accompany a minor to set up a buy? Must the Lone Ranger go to the Rock and say, 'Here I am Peter. Are you going to sell to this young child?'"

"That simply is not the law," said Stewart. "Mr. Farhat will have to cite me a statute, a court rule, or case precedent that would substantiate what he's trying to say. He's done this before. He's trying to create some law and get the sanction of Mr. Laggis."

The round settling tanks and rectangular aeration tanks are just two of the processes wastewater must go through before it is pumped out of the YCUA plant.

YCUA treatment plant rated among the best

By Peggy Aulino
staff writer

People usually mispronounce YCUA — the acronym for the Ypsilanti Community Utilities Authority. To some it apparently looks like "Yuk-a." Though it's not accurate, there's something appropriate about the name sounding like "yucky." After all, on any given day more than 13 million gallons of raw sewage is pumped into YCUA's massive wastewater treatment plant in Ypsilanti Township.

But visitors might be surprised to see the spacious grounds covered with well-trimmed lawns and clean, modern buildings. It could almost be mistaken for a hospital or a prison.

But wait — what's that smell?

THE PLANT, which will begin accepting sewage from the Canton, Plymouth city and township and Northville communities (collectively known as the Western Townships Utilities Authority), is an excellent facility. That's a statement of fact, based on an "Excellence Award" YCUA received earlier this year from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency. It was rated the best of the largest plants in six midwestern states. Professionals in the field point to YCUA as a model to be emulated.

"In 6½ years of service, we haven't had anybody with a flooded basement," Berl Gier, superintendent of the facility, said while showing a visitor around the $80 million plant recently.

A tour of the plant, which employs 65 people and is operated around the clock, takes about two hours and requires a two-mile hike. The buildings are connected by underground tunnels with exposed color-coded pipes that carry sewage in various stages of treatment. Those long underground hallways also serve as an exercise area for employees who like to take walks on their breaks, Gier said.

Sewage from six Washtenaw County municipalities and a portion of Canton Township is pumped into the plant. Besides human waste, it includes bath water, dish water and anything else residents may put down their drains.

THERE'S ALSO water waste from industry, which is monitored before it leaves the source to be sure it meets standards that make it eligible to be processed at the plant.

From the time it arrives until the time it is flushed out into the Willow Run Creek and on to the Huron River, the waste water goes through a series of treatment processes.

"Each step is a separation of solids from the liquid," said Dewey Noland, one of the engineers who designed the plant.

The first stop is pretreatment, where sticks, rocks and the like are removed so they don't damage the equipment. From there the waste water is sent to settling tanks. The six tanks, lined up two-by-two, resemble round, in-ground swimming pools. A steel arm that sprouts from the middle of each tank swings slowly around to skim off that which refuses to settle at the bottom and instead rises to the surface.

Oxygen is shot through the liquid in aeration tanks, which provide further separation. As might be expected, the air is pungent around these tanks. Do employees ever get used to the smell?

"I haven't noticed any odor," Noland responded with a grin.

THE SLUDGE removed during those initial steps is sent to huge presses that turn it into flat, wet bricks. These bricks are carried by conveyor belt to incinerators. They don't leave there until they are ash, which eventually ends up in a landfill.

Meanwhile, back at the liquids, the still-watery waste has two more steps. It goes through what is called "mixed media filtration." These 16-foot-deep tanks contain layers of sand and gravel of varying coarseness. By the time the water seeps through, it looks relatively clear. This filtration is the same process by which water is treated to make it safe for drinking, Gier said.

Before leaving the plant, the water is chlorinated and then dechlorinated — because chlorine is toxic to fish.

Just before it is sent on its way, the treated water passes through one more tank. The liquid in it is so clear, a shiny nickel Gier tosses in can be seen as it descends and rests on the bottom.

At this point the treated water could pass for drinking water, at least in appearance.

"You can't tell them apart. It's that clear," said Gier. "In fact, most of the time this looks a little better than the tap water."

As part of an agreement between YCUA and WTUA, waste from the western Wayne County neighbors will start being accepted in early 1993.

"That sounds like a long time but we are talking about a tremendous amount of work," said Elson Ahles, YCUA director. A pumping station and sewer line must be built to connect the WTUA system with the plant.

Wastewater from the WTUA communities will be set to the Rouge River after treatment.

"With effluent that looks like drinking water, it will be an improvement to the Rouge," Gier said.

Fire scene

The cause of a fire that gutted the National Concrete Block building Friday night is under investigation. Firefighters from Plymouth and Plymouth Township were called to the scene after the fire started at 8:50 p.m. and were still there three hours later. No one was injured. The amount of damage wasn't estimated as of Friday night.

Area departments are observing fire prevention week

By Peggy Aulino
staff writer

There were no fires between 10 and 11 a.m. Friday, so two Canton firefighters could teach fire prevention skills to a group of Gallimore Elementary School students.

The last time firefighters Rob Glenn and Craig Polke showed up to do their thing, an alarm went off and they had to leave quickly to put out a car fire.

"They call it an emergency because it's urgent," Glenn said. "People don't always understand that when we get a call, we run out. They think, 'How rude.'"

THE CANTON and Plymouth fire departments, and their counterparts around the country, are marking Fire Prevention Week (Oct. 9-15) by educating the public on how to avoid potential disaster.

"A lot of people get hurt and killed in this kind of work. That's why you have to help us out," Glenn told Gallimore fifth graders. "It's so much easier if you don't have a fire than if you have a fire and we have to come put it out."

The two firefighters showed the young people some equipment and gave them a homework assignment. The students were asked to check the batteries in their smoke detectors, practice home fire drills and learn the phone numbers of the local fire and police emergency lines.

One student was asked to demonstrate "stop, drop and roll," a technique used when one's clothing catches fire.

IN PLYMOUTH, the fire department is opening its doors to the public from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. all this week.

"We provide tours of the station, literature on fire prevention, tours of the trucks and discussions with the firefighters," Plymouth fire chief Alan Matthews said.

The annual open house typically attracts 300 to 400 people, Matthews said. And sometimes the effects of providing prevention information are highly visible.

For instance, a 5-year-old girl who had toured the station followed the proper procedures when her home caught on fire, Matthews said.

"Her mother was very complimentary about the information she got," he said. "So it does pay off on occasion."

Groups of 20 or more are asked to call ahead for tours, which began Sunday and run through Saturday. The station number is 453-1234 during business hours and 453-8600 after 5 p.m.

Jaycees opening haunted house

In the movies, people usually want to avoid haunted houses. But it's nearly Halloween, and around this time of year thrill seekers are drawn to such places.

To meet the needs of those who liked to be scared, the Plymouth and Canton Jaycees are opening a haunted house once again this year. They will set up shop in a storefront at the F&M plaza at Ford and Lilley roads beginning Friday and running through the end of the month.

Saturday, Oct. 22, is "friendly monster day," according to Tonya Smith, president of the Plymouth Jaycees.

"We leave the lights on, and the monsters are friendly that day," she said.

The haunted house will be open 7:30-10 p.m. Sunday through Thursday and until midnight Friday and Saturday. Admission requires a donation, which the sponsoring service clubs donate to charity.

Good news: Car thefts are down in '88

By Janice Brunson
staff writer

If you park a car today in Redford Township, chances are good it won't be stolen. At least, odds are better this year than last.

In the first eight months of 1988, auto thefts in Redford Township are down a whopping 37 percent, from 352 in 1987 to 224 this year. Thieves are also enjoying less success. Between January and August, they tried but failed 52 times to steal a car, according to officer Don Moore of the Redford Township police.

Incidents of stolen vehicles are also down "significantly" in most other suburban communities in western Wayne County, based on figures maintained by law enforcement authorities.

Livonia enjoyed a 19 percent reduction the first six months of 1988, according to figures released last week by the FBI for communities of 100,000 population or more. Between January and June, 409 vehicles were stolen, compared to 506 in the same period last year. Moreover, all major crime in Livonia is down 14 percent.

"If the trend continues, there will be a significant drop this year in auto thefts. I'm not certain what you attribute it to. It's strange how the incidence of crime goes. They're just stealing fewer cars," said Livonia Police Chief William Cray.

"Auto theft is a mobile crime. They come from one town to steal in another and drive to a third. We go where it has to," Hogan said of the multi-jurisdiction enjoyed by task force officers.

Most auto thefts in Canton, for example, occur at apartment buildings along Saginaw Road because of an easy getaway on I-75, according to officer David Boljesic of the Canton police, who said most stolen vehicles "are recovered in Detroit."

Canton also a member of Hogan's task force, has seen a 20 percent drop in auto thefts this year, from 176 in the first eight months of 1987, to 141 the same period this year. Concentrating efforts on criminals who are doing this for a living" and not on "kids out for a joy ride," is one reason why, according to Hogan.

SINCE THE task force was founded in 1987, officers have made 60 arrests. They have also recovered some $1.5 million in stolen vehicles, including two Corvettes that were recovered in Canton.

Last June, task force officers raided a chop shop near Canton's Metropolitan Airport and arrested three men from Detroit. Eight stolen vehicles were returned to owners living in four neighboring communities, including the Corvettes which had been stolen earlier in Plymouth Township.

"Statewide, auto theft is down 5 percent and in the 12 communities we do work for, it's down 8.5 percent," Hogan said. In addition to Westland, Plymouth and Canton, the dozen communities also include Garden City and Plymouth Township.

Every insured motorist in Michigan helps fund the task force. One dollar from each premium paid in insurance coverage is collected by the Auto Theft Prevention Authority. In turn, the Authority finances statewide efforts in combating auto theft.

"There is a great thrust at this time because it's an expensive problem. More than $250 million is paid out annually on stolen cars," said Sue Allen of the Michigan Automobile Insurance Placement Facility in Livonia. The organization operates HELP (Help Eliminate Auto Theft), a tip line founded in late 1985 that rewards successful leads.

Bad news: Car thefts still a hassle

Jack Kirksey of Livonia was unlucky.

While attending an early evening social hosted by the Livonia Chamber of Commerce Aug. 11, Kirksey's car was stolen from the parking lot of the Holiday Inn on Plymouth Road, Livonia.

The car, a 1983 Buick Riviera convertible, was in mint condition. The evening of the Chamber social was the first time it had been out of the garage in a week.

"I intended to keep it forever as a collector's item," said Kirksey, who is director of community education for Livonia schools.

Initially disbelieving his car had been stolen, Kirksey has since had time to summarize his feelings.

"There are more serious crimes. But this was done personally to me. It emotionally impacted more than I thought it could. I worked very, very hard to keep that car nice. Secondly, it is a considerable inconvenience. Finally, there's a whole segment of our community that makes a living doing this. On my block alone, five out of 10 neighbors have had their cars taken. It's a stolen-auto industry. I'm more sensitive now to how common the problem is," he said.

Kirksey also has learned considerably more from his experience.

"WHEN THEY told me to come in and report it, I was at a loss. I'd just had my car stolen. How was I supposed to get there?" Kirksey said, relating a telephone conversation

MUSCLE PROBLEMS IN ARTHRITIS
Polymyositis is a condition characterized by weakness in the arms and legs. If you have this condition, you find it difficult to pull a sweater over your head or walk up a flight of stairs.

Treatment includes taking large doses of steroids on a daily or every other day basis. The probability of unwanted side effects with this program is great, and obesity, diabetes, high cholesterol, and fragile bones, are almost an inevitable accompaniment of therapy. Thus, before recommending such a program with its attendant risks, the doctor must be sure of the diagnosis.

However, most of us have incurred episodes of muscle fatigue and pain because of physical or mental strain, viruses, or as an after-effect of nerve damage. Because of the possibility of these alternative causes, it may take your physician weeks to months to treat our the presence of polymyositis.

This condition illustrates a general truth in dealing with arthritic conditions: the need for patience on your part and for perseverance by your doctor.

Study due soon on golf course day Park Nature Preserve.

An environmental study of a proposed golf course for the Holiday Nature Preserve was expected to be completed last week.

The study, one of three projected for the site in the Westland's north-west corner, was done Dr. F. Glenn Goff, a Michigan State University faculty member and a certified professional ecologist.

The study, ordered by the ad hoc golf course advisory committee, will determine the effect a golf course would have on the area's wild life and plant life, said George Gillies, Westland parks and recreation department director and chairman of the advisory committee.

The $1,250 charge for the environmental study is being paid by the Municipal Service Bureau, a Westland agency that administers the existing municipal nine-hole golf course and other city programs.

The study is the first of three proposed by the Westland city administration, which disclosed its intentions earlier this year.

The next two studies will cover construction and marketing feasibility — the latter being the major one, said Westland Mayor Charles Griffin.

Gillies and Griffin stressed that Dr. Goff's environmental study, which started last month, had no pre-conditions, will be professionally done and will be unbiased.

The proposed course on 145 acres on the north side of Warren Road west of Hix attracted immediate opposition last spring from Livonia and Westland residents and students who don't want any changes in the Holli-

UNDER MAYOR Griffin's initial proposal, part of the course would be on 99 of the 500-acre-plus nature preserve and the adjacent 45 acres of city-owned property.

Opponents of the course based their arguments on environmental damage to the nature preserve and possible violation of the terms of the donation of the preserve to the county to keep in its natural state.

Since the spring, the group has organized into several sub-committees to make sure the city council is aware of their position and potential damage to the nature preserve if the course is built.

In a letter to Gillies, Goff said his study of the western edge of the nature preserve would include a description of the plant life and animal habitats. He will pay special attention to the presence of wetlands and/or the likelihood of threatened or endangered species.

Wetlands is marshy land protected from development unless permission is obtained from the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

IN A joint interview last week, Griffin and Gillies talked about the expected environmental study.

Griffin was irked because the Michigan DNR refused to do the study last summer because of a lack of time.

"If the environmental study's conclusions are positive, we will give it to the committee and the mayor," Gillies said.

The mayor said the marketing study is the key to his campaign to get a city-run golf course.

Thefts a hassle for victims

with Livonia police the evening of the theft. He had called to report the crime. He finally hitched a ride with a friend to the police station.

Because incidents of auto theft are rampant, "there's not a great deal of compassion; it's sort of like, now it's your turn," Kirksey said.

The ride to the police station was just the beginning of a transportation problem.

Unless an auto insurance policy contains a rental clause, victims of auto theft "foot the bill" for replacement transportation until insurance pays theft claims. Rates for short-term rentals are "inordinate," and most rental agencies are either reluctant or will not rent for short periods.

Under state insurance regulations, settlement must be offered within 30 days. Payment is rarely based upon bluebook value, agents said. Average replacement cost, based upon dealer prices for new and used cars and outside appraisal is more commonly used.

Some agents tell car theft victims to check weekend car prices in newspaper ads.

Kirksey's car was worth considerably more than the bluebook value. Fortunately, he had a recent appraisal verifying the fact and a previous agreement with his insurance carrier that the car was worth more. He received $2,000 over bluebook. Otherwise, the loss would have been his.

POSSSESSIONS IN the car are not covered by auto insurance. They are covered by homeowner or renter insurance. For compensation, losses must be substantiated and value must exceed deductible amounts.

Kirksey had a camera and a pair of prescription sunglasses in the car. Their combined value was less than the $500 deductible on his homeowners insurance. Michigan state law also "works against" victims. Homeowner insurance is cancelled by some agencies after three claims totaling $1,000. Others place victims in higher-risk categories.

When Kirksey's car was stolen it contained correspondence with his address and a second set of house keys. He assumed the cost of changing the locks on his home.

Kirksey's car, "or what's left of it," was recovered last month in Detroit.

"I nearly shed a tear when I saw it. It looks like a train hit it. I recognized it only by the plates," he said. The sunglasses, however, were unmolested and overlooked by the thieves.

Kirksey has bought a new car. He has also installed an anti-theft lock.

"From what I've learned, locks don't really deter thieves. They just move on to the next car that doesn't have them," Kirksey said.

Based on statistics, new victims are certain.

This is the way Jack Kirksey's beloved 1983 Buick convertible (above) looked before it was stolen. Below is the car as it was when it was recovered by Detroit police. Thieves turned the white, mint-condition automobile into spare parts. Even though car thefts are on the way down in area communities, they are still traumatic for victims. Depending upon the size and frequency of claims, some victims can be dropped from insurance or placed in a higher-risk category.

Car thefts down around the area to the recovery of 451 automobiles "from probably every community in the state" and to the arrest of 297 suspects, according to Allen who said, "We are seeing more recoveries now than ever before."

Dorothy Bennick of the Anti Car Theft Committee agrees. The committee is a coalition of representatives from industries most directly affected by auto theft, like insurance carriers, bankers, auto recyclers and car rental agencies.

"Theft rates are definitely going down, in direct proportion to increasing public awareness and involvement. Everybody knows somebody who has had a car stolen. We're all more careful about where we park, locking doors, things like that," Bennick said.

The best protection, is a hidden kill switch, according to Don Moore of the Redford Township police. "Alarms. Locks. They can get through them. All we have working for us is time. Of course, when they use a tow truck, there's not much anyone can do," he said.

While Moore applauds increased efforts and declining theft rates, he is still appalled by the situation.

"We say it's down but it's still terrible what's going on. At least one car a day is being stolen and that's terrible," he said.

Parking crackdown warranted

HOW ANGRY do you get when a perfectly able person parks in a "handicapped parking" space, jumps from the car and dashes into a store for that last-minute purchase? It makes me damned mad.

Folks in parts of Florida, Nevada and Virginia, and even here in Flint, Mich., have decided they're made as hell and aren't going to take it any more. They're taking a personal approach, with the support of their local police.

They include people with handicaps who are tired of pulling into a lot, only to find parking spots labeled "handicapped" are full. They are people without handicaps, tired of watching people with selfish motivations park where they should not.

They are also law enforcement officers who are deputizing and training teams of these residents in an effort to ticket offenders, some of whom pay fines of up to $100.

requirements for obtaining a permit would be tightened.

Cruce also advocates deputizing residents to ticket and fine offenders. I agree. Hit 'em where it hurts — in their pocketbooks.

Cruce said he saw a good thing and wanted to encourage law enforcement agencies statewide to take action.

He cited a 1986 poll done in Cleveland, which asked: "What would you do if you saw someone illegally parked in a handicapped parking space?" Forty-three percent said they would park there too. The second most popular response was "do nothing."

"It's just like any other law — if nobody's going to enforce it, nobody's going to comply with it," said Lt. Sid Baker of the Flint Police Department, who helped structure that city's deputy program, which went into effect Aug. 8 after 1½ years of planning.

THE FIRST month, volunteers logged 513 hours and issued 116 tickets; the second month, they worked 623 hours and issued 195 citations. Those figures are nearly double what tickets were being issued before the program started, and Baker said it's working well.

Casey Hans

The city has 50 volunteers ages 21-78 who went through 18 hours of training, and work in teams of two, sweeping the city in search of these illegal parkers. They work on city streets and in shopping center parking lots. They wear special blazers with patches identifying them, and their cars are marked.

Baker said the community response has been "positive, with the exception of those who got the $100 tickets." A county coalition of handicapped people got the fine increased to $100 in Flint in 1987 and pushed for the current program.

Awwww, "so what" you say. Big deal. Who cares whether somebody saves themselves an extra 10 or 20 feet of walking by parking in one of those spots? Most of the time, those spaces are empty anyway.

Wait until you, or a member of your family, develop a handicap and must struggle to go that extra 10 feet. Tell me then, you don't care.

Jackson a hero? Economy a mess in Michigan

A FEW WEEKS ago, I wrote a piece referring to the "Jackson Depression" of the 1830s and its wreckage of Michigan's statewide university system.

"Jackson Depression? I hadn't heard of that one. At first I thought you meant Jesse Jackson," said a colleague. "You've got a column topic."

Actually, there was such a period. In 1816 Congress chartered the Bank of the United States, which functioned much like a central bank. In 1833 bank chief Nicholas Biddle asked, four years ahead of schedule, to have its charter renewed. Those were fighting words to President Andrew Jackson, seeking re-election.

JACKSON VETOED the re-charter bill, ranting that "the rich and powerful too often bend the acts of government to their selfish purposes."

The president declared the act unconstitutional. Jackson overruled Chief Justice John Marshall's earlier decision, McCulloch vs. Maryland, that the bank was indeed constitutional. Jackson even overruled Marshall's decision that states couldn't tax federal bank notes out of existence. Jackson raved against foreign ownership of bank stock.

To investors, particularly foreigners willing to plunk needed capital into the fledgling United States, Jackson earned as much respect as Khadafy has today.

(Incidentally, Jackson's veto was ghost-written by attorney general Roger Taney, later a U.S. Supreme Court justice and author of the infamous, pro-slavery Dred Scott decision.)

Result: The Bank of the United States called in its loans, depressing the economy. The federal government deposited its money in state banks. Their lending capacity expanded, the state banks promptly went haywire.

MICHIGAN JOINED the Union in 1837, the year Jackson left the White House. Naturally, the state and its settlers were heavy borrowers.

Writes Michigan historian F. Clevver Bald:

"By the fall of 1839, the nation was in the painful grip of the panic. In Michigan wildcat banknotes had depreciated, prices of farm produce had fallen, land which had formerly been selling at inflated figures now had no purchasers, and mortgages were being foreclosed.

"Construction of the railroads and canals, which had been begun with high hopes for the future, lagged for lack of funds."

Michigan had had grandiose plans for three cross-state railroads and two canals — including one from the Clinton to the Kalamazoo rivers. The projects were never completed, and the bonds went into default.

IN THE MIDDLE of all this, the state Legislature authorized the University of Michigan Board of Regents to establish a system of prep schools and teacher training schools — in Pontiac, Monroe, Kalamazoo, Detroit, Niles, White Pigeon and Romeo, in addition to the main campus in Ann Arbor.

Given the bad conditions of the day, those branches ceased to get U-M funds after 1846.

For reasons that confound me, Andy Jackson is a hero of the Democratic Party. Each year in Cobo Hall, Michigan Dems have a "Jeff-Jack" dinner.

I can suggest a more appropriate site.

Out around Utica, you can still see a ditch that 150 years ago was the beginning of one of our state canals. Rather than a banquet with Andy Jackson's name attached to it, they oughta have a short picnic there. Don't bother to bring swim suits.

keeping up with government

Looking for information about state government? The League of Women Voters has a toll-free telephone service (1-800-292-5823) that may be helpful.

The league's Citizen Information Center in Lansing offers to help people find out about such things as pending legislation, the state constitution, election laws, voting regula-

The telephone is answered from 10:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. weekdays.

The telephone service is paid for by the league's education fund. The League of Women Voters is a non-profit organization that works to keep voters interested and informed about governmental issues.

Stolen flag is mourned

To the editor:

Saturday morning when I awoke, looked out the window and noticed my American flag had been taken from the flag pole, where it had been for several years. This is no usual flag. To me this was special. Not just a 3 by 5 piece of cloth, with red, white, and blue colors.

My father cleared land so he could farm. Cut down trees, and worked hard to clear the land so he could farm this beautiful soil. He as a proud, hard working man. This, in the days of the oxen, when work was all done by hand.

I grew up with some of his principles, work hard and you would be rewarded. Earn what you wanted, for what you earn is yours; that is, until someone takes it from you.

To the person that took that flag: I went to a war with thousands of other men, was shot at and returned the fire. Was dragged through the mud, and didn't know if I'd return to this land of ours, (yours and mine) or not. That was the chance we took.

Yes, I earned the right to fly that flag, and I also earned the right to defend it against anyone who would. I hope it makes you proud to have come like a thief in the night and steal that right away from me, and all the men who also fought (or lost their lives) for the right to fly the best flag in the world, in the best country in the world.

Liquor law is needed

To the editor:

In response to the article on Monday, Oct. 3, "Businesses Split on Liquor License," there are enough problems concerning the serving of alcohol in currently licensed establishments, e.g., The Plymouth Rock Saloon. The community cannot afford to risk the unregulated serving of alcohol in an unlicensed business like the new Plymouth House Banquet Hall.

The Enforcement Division of the LCC is weak enough. Let's not forget, the LCC is a division of the Commerce Department, and its purpose is to promote their businesses.

As for alcohol itself, it is a drug. Dr. Timothy Johnson, medical director of ABC News, has strongly reminded us the severe drug problem in this country will never be solved until we deal with our wide-spread acceptance and use of alcohol and tobacco in our society.

Please — let's pass an ordinance that mandates the minimum requirement of a liquor license at a business such as the Banquet Hall.

'60s issues find place in local classrooms

By Wayne Peal
staff writer

Astronaut Neil Armstrong qualifies as history these days. So does the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr.

But sorry John, Paul, George and Ringo — you don't quite make it.

A survey of area school districts found events of the turbulent 1960s a standard part of the high school history curriculum.

The space race, civil rights movement and Vietnam War are common discussion topics at area high schools.

"They're all discussed thoroughly," Livonia Schools social studies coordinator Marlene Bihlmeyer said.

But the Beatles, Woodstock and the counter culture crop up less often.

"Something like the Beatles might come up in general classroom discussion, but it's not part of the curriculum," said Redford Thurston principal Stewart Schauder.

How much area students learn about the earth-shaking decade depends upon their individual teachers.

Most districts give history teachers a good deal of discretion in determining how thoroughly '60s issues are covered.

"We have one teacher who discussed the Vietnam era very, very thoroughly, others skip through things a little faster," said John Hird who oversees the history curriculum at Garden City High School.

The crush of "new" history means teachers are often pressed for time.

"One of the problems is that there's so much history and so little time to cover it," Plymouth-Salem history teacher Scott Beamon said.

The controversial decade presents other challenges, educators said. Many of its controversies are still unresolved, many wounds still unhealed.

"Certainly, the Vietnam War is a much more difficult topic than the Civil War," Beamon said.

School officials said classes generally take a middle ground when approaching still-sensitive subjects.

"IT'S HANDLED very factually," said Wayne-Westland director of secondary education Ron Somers. "We present information that there was a protest at Kent State and students were killed but we don't try to take sides."

But the freshness of '60s memories can also be an advantage.

"There's a lot of material that's available. There are plenty of videotapes and movies," Hird said. "Obviously, you can't see films of Lincoln's assassination. But you can see man landing on the moon."

Even at that, educators admit, it's difficult to keep current.

Toward that end, Beamon said, the Plymouth-Canton school district will revise its history curriculum "within the next two or three years."

Livonia has already revised its history classes with 10th and 11th grade reserved for the modern era.

"OUR APPROACH is based upon discussing key questions," Bihlmeyer said. "And among them are questions about civil rights, Vietnam and Watergate."

One of the ironies in presenting material about the 1960s, educators said, is that the material still seems fresh to them.

"It's hard to believe more than 20 years has passed," Redford Thurston's Schauder said.

Student reaction is more mixed. For some students the 1960s is the most fascinating of eras. "I think they're interest picks up when they get to the '60s," Beamon said of his advanced students.

But there are signs that, for other students, the 1960s are as ancient as the 1880s.

"Believe it or not, unless the students had parents who were involved they're no more interested in the 1960s than in other periods," said Wayne-Westland's Somers. "The interest is on the part of parents and teachers, especially teachers who were campus leaders themselves."

Kelley to seek rehearing on campaign finance law

By Wayne Peal
staff writer

State Attorney General Frank Kelley and the Michigan Chamber of Commerce are squaring off in a dispute over chamber contributions to political candidates.

But the outcome would have limited effect on local chambers. Several area chambers don't contribute to any candidates. Others contribute only in a limited number of races.

The attorney general's dispute with the Michigan chamber involves the chamber's political action committee. Kelley seeks review of a federal appeals court decision that allowed the Michigan Chamber of Commerce PAC to make direct political contributions.

The Plymouth and Redford chambers, however, don't have PACs and don't contribute to political candidates.

"IT'S IN our by-laws that we're non-partisan," Plymouth chamber executive director Mary Roehr said. "So we don't contribute to political candidates."

Redford tried to start a local PAC a few years ago, chamber president George Grafe said, but met with only lukewarm interest.

"It just never got going," Grafe said. "In a small community like this, most of the support for political candidates is on an individual basis. There's really not much call for PACs."

Westland's chamber PAC is inactive, according to chamber manager Joyce Wheeler. "I'd say it's been dormant for about five years, but we just haven't gone through the paperwork of disbanding it," Wheeler said.

The Westland chamber, however, does issue endorsements in a limited number of state races.

"For a smaller chamber, an endorsement can be just as important as a political contribution," she said.

The Livonia Chamber of Commerce is larger and more active politically than its neighbors. The Livonia chamber PAC contributes to state House and Senate races and is an active contributor to the larger state PAC, executive director John White said.

THE LIVONIA chamber PAC draws the line on city races. "We don't get involved in city races," White said. "That would really be a no-win situation."

Livonia chamber contributions are given to other candidates, some outside the area, through the Michigan Chamber PAC, White said.

That kind of contribution would cease if Kelley had his way.

The state attorney general recently said he would ask all 16 judges of the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals to rehear the 1985 lawsuit that allowed the state chamber PAC to make direct contributions.

Michigan corporations cannot make direct political contributions under state campaign financing law.

But that law would be easily circumvented if the chamber PAC could make contributions, the attorney general said.

"If the decision is not reversed, it will potentially permit vast amounts of corporate money to be funneled through the Michigan Chamber of Commerce which can act as a conduit and make massive expenditures," Kelley said.

The Associated Press contributed to this story.

Environment problems worries public — poll

Business should get ready for tougher environmental regulations, says a Southfield public relations firm.

Jack Casey, president of Casey Communications Management Inc., said a national survey shows that Americans regard environmental problems as serious health risks and want the federal government — and the next president — to get tough. Casey sponsored the survey.

"Regardless of who the next president is, the people overwhelmingly (94 percent) believe environmental problems are serious and want the federal government to be more strict in enforcement (88 percent)," said Casey.

"With public sentiment running this high, there is no question that government will respond. The message to business is: Get ready now for tougher regulations ahead.

"ENVIRONMENTAL concerns rank with drug and alcohol abuse as the public's top threat to the nation's health in the 1990s, according to survey results, ranking ahead of illnesses such as cancer and AIDS, nuclear war and crime," he said last week in remarks before a workshop on effective risk communications sponsored by the Motor Vehicle Manufacturers Association.

"We were surprised by the intensity of the public's mood," Casey said.

More than nine out of 10 American adults believe the nation faces serious environmental problems such as air and water pollution and waste disposal and want stricter enforcement of environmental regulations, he said.

"Sentiment is overwhelmingly for the federal government to spend more of its overall budget on environmental cleanup, and half of those responding to the survey would be willing to pay increased taxes, if necessary.

"We have found that straightforward approach to be very effective in getting companies and citizens working together on these problems, not simply confronting or blaming one another."

THE SURVEY was conducted for Casey Communications by Lawrence Research of Santa Ana, Calif.

Disposal of hazardous or toxic waste materials ranked highest on almost everyone's (95 percent) list.

Other environmental problems — including disposal of residential and industrial garbage, landfills and groundwater contamination, water pollution and air pollution — also were rated overwhelmingly as serious concerns.

Breaking down of the ozone layer and acid rain, while of slightly lesser concern, still were regarded as serious problems by three of four people surveyed.

"The presidential candidates' statements on environmental issues are being closely scrutinized, according to the survey," said Casey.

"The presidential candidates are reading the voters correctly on the environmental issue when they express their concerns. The people want action in Washington to get faster action on a situation that worries them," said Casey.

County offices recycle paper

It won't balance the budget, but Wayne County has begun recycling paper.

Offices in the Wayne County Building have recently begun recycling under the direction of county executive Edward McNamara.

Recycling is a major part of the county's solid waste disposal plan though the plan hasn't been adopted county residents may be asked to begin their own recycling programs within the next two or three years.

Recycling programs have already begun at the county's Neudeck Building and Wyandotte Treatment Plant.

Workers at both buildings were asked to recycle old memos, newspapers and other office paperwork.

Results give a clue as to how much paperwork the county generates.

The county recycled more than one ton of paper during the first month at the Neudeck site alone. Its net financial benefit — $90.54.

Too much pizza is a rarity

Yours truly was a last-minute fill-in judge for the "Pizza Pizzazz" contest recently at Detroit's Cobo Hall.

More than 55 of the state's best pizza parlors heated up their ovens, vying for the title at the Great Lakes Food Service Show, sponsored by the Michigan Restaurant Association.

After sampling more than 40 different pizza creations, I can now appreciate and understand the true meaning of "stuffed." I've had my fill of pizza for a long, long time (at least till after next week's bowling game).

So how does one get to be a judge at a pizza contest? Talk about being at the wrong place at the wrong time. I started out to check the food show and to do a feature mentioning my editor, Ethel Simmons, one of the judges of this year's contest.

I HAD JUST had a late breakfast and downed a Big Gulp in the car on the way down to Cobo. Upon entering the show, I was grabbed by Michele MacWilliams, who handles public relations for the Michigan Restaurant Association, and offered the chance to judge along with Ethel, Reid Ashton and son Chris (from the Golden Mushroom), along with Al Allen from WJBK-TV, Kathy Jackson from Crain's Detroit Business Magazine, Lisa Broncato from WNIC and John McMurray, WJR's staff meteorologist.

Just imagine tasting pizza with bacon, lettuce and tomato; pizza with pesto and Alfredo sauce; pizza with apples, maraschino cherries and whipped cream; pizza with graham cracker crusts, with wheat crusts, with sesame crusts — the combinations were endless, and some outrageous.

But thanks to a never-ending supply of cold beer (who eats pizza without a beer?) and an occasional well-hidden belch, the task of choosing a winner really wasn't that difficult.

It was evident most of the entrants had not read the contest rules. All entries were to be judged "pizza as art," showcasing the talent of creating not just the best-tasting pizza in the state but also the most beautiful. The judges first strolled the floor, looking for the "best-dressed pizza," prior to the cooking process. Ingredients were checked and the participants asked questions such as "What cheese blend do you use?" or "Were the ingredients natural or canned?" Was the sauce spread to the edges uniformly? Were the toppings applied with care or were they just heaped on, trying to impress more with weight than artistic creation?

And the results?

AFTER THE FINAL samplings were finished (and the judges opted for popping Rolands from complimentary rolls), the results were tabulated: winner of a weekend at Shuss or Shanty Creek was Shield's pizza on Telegraph Road just north of Ten Mile Road in Southfield.

Anyone who remembers the original Shield's on Davison in Detroit can appreciate why the judges ruled Shields the best pizza in Michigan. A deep, thick crust and just the right amount of cheese, topped with

Singular meal

Bachelor cooks tasty dinners for one

By Geri Rinechler
special writer

WHEN LEE CACCIAGLIA was growing up in Michigan he was surrounded by women who loved to cook — his mom and his four sisters.

As the youngest of seven children, there was very little room left in his mother's kitchen for him to experiment. But today, he is a master in his Lathrup Village kitchen.

After retiring from the Ford Motor Credit Co. six years ago, his interest in cooking was renewed and became one of his favorite pastimes.

"I don't like eating out at fast food places," he said. "Too many restaurants serve burgers and fries or foods high in cholesterol."

Cacciaglia attributes his taste for fine, healthy eating not only to his mother's Italian specialties but also to their family garden filled with fresh vegetables. But cooking for one can be challenging, especially after watching his mother prepare dinners for a family of nine.

"I WATCHED my mom do all this stuff, making minestrone, pasta al pesto and other Northern Italian dishes," he said. "My mother and my older sister taught me to make many of these dishes, and at first there were a few disasters."

"Then I had the opportunity to meet cooking teacher Nell Benedict and became one of her students at the Birmingham Community House. The techniques she taught me have been incredible."

Most of her classes feature French, Italian and Chinese dishes, and Cacciaglia loves cooking all of them. "Nell is a fabulous cook. She's my cooking idol," he said.

Too often singles, widows and widowers don't take enough time to prepare a healthy meal. It's so much easier to grab a snack that needs little or no preparation at dinnertime. But, in order to plan for a healthy meal that needs little preparation, more thought must be put into grocery shopping.

A little planning before going to the store can help. As a single, Cacciaglia has found changing the typical style of grocery shopping makes a difference and eases the pain of eating healthy.

SHOPPING AT fresh meat and fish markets not only provides him with fresh ingredients but allows him the opportunity to purchase one veal chop or one fillet of fish. The other important part of this concept is to plan a specific day just for food shopping, making sure you're stocking up on all the best of the four food groups: grains, dairy, fruits and vegetables, and meat and fish. Also, scheduling an extra 15 to 30 minutes a week into your food shopping allows you to spend more time carefully reading the labels and list of ingredients.

When it comes to food preparation, Cacciaglia doesn't have a lot of gadgets.

"It's a waste of money to invest in a lot of kitchen gadgets when all you need is a good set of knives for dicing and chopping."

Cacciaglia does own a microwave but uses it basically for some initial food preparation, such as melting butter, steaming, and as an extra warming oven for party entertaining.

Much of his baking and broiling is done in a toaster oven. Obviously, a toaster oven uses less energy but consider its other assets: It preheats faster and is easier to clean. Cacciaglia likes to spray the broiler rack with a non-stick spray. His other advice for efficient meal planning and execution is to prepare in advance as much of the meal as you can in the morning.

"Lots of the peeling and chopping can be done hours before you're ready to serve as long as the food is covered and refrigerated."

HIS FAVORITE dishes for entertaining are those that can be made totally in advance. Among them are cannelloni, gnocchi, and corned beef and cabbage. He uses crepes as the base for his cannelloni and often makes them a day in advance, preparing the filling the morning of the party.

Cacciaglia also loves entertaining. Among favorite theme parties he had recently were a soup tasting and an evening with oysters and champagne. His style of entertaining is focused around "keeping the party simple, unstuffy, so my guests feel comfortable and relaxed."

Parties such as the soup tasting allows his guests to serve themselves. Cacciaglia generally selects three different soups served as the main course, accompanied by good crusty French or Italian bread, salad, and dessert such as Lemon Creme Crepes.

Here are a few of Cacciaglia's recipes he prepares for himself as well as when he entertains.

Herbed crumbs make flavorful chicken breast

HERB-BAKED CHICKEN BREAST WITH OVEN-BROWNED POTATOES

1 split chicken breast with or without skin
2 tablespoons herbed bread crumbs
1 large potato, peeled and quartered paprika

Marinade:

2 tablespoons olive oil
1 teaspoon lemon juice
¼ teaspoon dried thyme
¼ teaspoon dried marjoram
1 garlic clove, crushed
salt and pepper to taste

Preheat toaster oven or conventional oven to 425 degrees. Toss chicken breasts in marinade and set aside 15 minutes. Brush some of the marinade on the potato. Place potato in a baking dish large enough to hold potato and chicken and bake for 15 minutes. Remove dish and add chicken, bone side

Chinese cuisine comes naturally from garden plot

By Janice Brunson
staff writer

After nearly 40 years of labor, Shee Fon Ong and wife, Sim, sold their laundry and dry cleaning business in Detroit last year and retired into a new home in West Bloomfield.

The home, a small condominium, has a postage-stamp-sized yard that is dominated by an enormous pumpkin vine loaded with young fruit ripening for a Halloween harvest.

The pumpkins are for Jonathan, 3, and Jennifer, 5, the Ongs' bilingual grandchildren, life-sized porcelain dolls who are clearly the center of their grandparents' universe.

While the pumpkin vine is meant to please the youngest members of the family, other gardening pursuits by the senior Ongs are of a more serious nature.

Their garden in the West Bloomfield Community Garden on Maple Road supplies the family year-round with staple fruits and vegetables that enable the Ongs and daughter-in-law Betty Ong to prepare traditional family cuisine.

Without the garden, essential items like winter and bitter melons, Chinese long beans and unusual varieties of mustard greens and spinach would simply not be available, according to the Ongs, who say even specialty grocers hardly ever carry the produce.

"ALL CHINESE, every people who cook it, know," said Sim Ong, 65, of the unique vegetables that remain a mystery to most Western chefs.

Sim learned of their scarcity in the U.S. shortly after settling in the modern city of Detroit in 1949. She was a young bride, recently arrived

Shee Fon Ong, his wife Sim, and granddaughter Jennifer, 5, are surrounded by vines of bitter melons in the couple's West Bloomfield from a rural village near Canton (now Guangzhou) in southern China.

Detroit's Chinatown at Cass and Peterboro streets was considerably larger then, perhaps twice as large a community as the estimated 15,000 Chinese who are now scattered throughout the metropolitan area.

Today, Chinatown is near Third and Michigan avenues, primarily populated by people originally from Hong Kong and Taiwan.

"Now small. Before, lots bigger," Shee Fon said, in describing the size of Detroit's Chinatown when he arrived here in 1936 as a youth of 19 years, determined to make his way in the United States. He returned to China briefly in 1948 to marry Sim.

Chinese grocers in Detroit catered to the old community, selling produce upon which Chinese housewives

China, a vast country with wide variations in climate and agricultural tradition, also sports distinct regional cuisine.

Shee Fon Ong and wife, Sim, originally hail from a small village in Guangdong province in southern China. Because of heavy emigration from the area at the turn of the century, it is best known in the West.

Westerners know the region as Canton, birthplace of sumptuous Cantonese cuisine that features par-boiled food that is steamed or stir-fried and subtly spiced with oyster and soy sauces, garlic or ginger root.

Noted as the rice bowl of China, Canton Province is also known for dim sum, delicious snacks that are served as a light lunch or afternoon tea.

Treasured recipes of the Ong family are difficult to put into measurements because the Ongs have never before thought to do so. The entrees are prepared by touch and taste.

rely for authentic soups and stir fry. Still, selection was often scarce. Sim determined a solution early on. She would cultivate her own fruits and vegetables. She planted her first garden shortly after arriving in the U.S. and has replanted every spring thereafter.

NOW THAT Shee Fon no longer toils daily in the laundry, he assists Sim, carefully tending their small plot in the community garden. Next year, they intend to expand it to two plots.

The garden contains bitter and winter melons for tasty soups, soy beans, Chinese long beans that typically grow to four feet in length, and Chinese mustard greens that feature a broad leaf.

Each year, Sim carefully preserves seeds for planting the following year. A small plastic bag of tiny, jet-black seeds ensures a new crop of hang choi, a red spinach that is essential in Cantonese cooking for red broth seasoned with minced garlic. Seeds scooped from bitter melon for planting next spring resemble brown beans. The staple soy bean used in planting is also suitable for cooking. Several years ago one of Sim's seeds produced an amazing 35-pound winter melon. Normally, winter melons weigh 20 pounds each.

To ensure supplies of produce year-round, Sim has learned to blanch and freeze the tart bitter melon. Although the process renders the melon meat spongy, the Ongs agree it is better than going without. Winter melons are picked late in the fall, after they have grown a protective layer of white fuzz. They are stored in the cool basement where they remain usable for months. Sim dries bok choy, a chard-like vegetable, grown for centuries in China and now available in the produce section of most U.S. groceries and supermarkets.

DAUGHTER-IN-LAW Betty Ong, a high school teacher in Royal Oak, also relies on the garden for produce. She is married to the Ongs' son, Fred, now 37 and an engineer for Ford Motor Co.

The couple lives nearby with youngsters Jennifer and Jonathan. The senior Ongs care for the children when Betty and Fred are at work.

Fred clearly remembers the first time he tasted American-style food. He was perhaps 6 years old and had started school in Detroit where he was learning to speak English for the first time. He was invited to dinner at the home of a classmate. The meal included potatoes and steak. "I think that was the first time. I ate a lot," he said in recall. Today, he prefers traditional Chinese food.

Fred also fondly remembers dim sum, the tasty treats served during leisurely Chinese brunches at restaurants like Wah Gourt, Ruby's Eatery and Wong's in Windsor, Canada.

His favorite dim sum treats are steamed buns stuffed with savory meats or sweet bean paste.

Betty cooks Chinese style unless "I'm in a hurry. Then I cook American food because it's faster." Chinese cuisine primarily calls for fresh ingredients that require lots of chopping.

With only weeks remaining in this year's harvest, the Ong family is busy gathering fruits and vegetables, preparing them for winter storage to ensure a supply throughout the months ahead.

Their heritage is Cantonese passed down by word of mouth for unknown centuries.

Both Shee Fon's and Sim's mothers followed children and settled in the United States where each died at the age of 95, after overseeing countless meals in the Ong household.

Sim Ong has passed on culinary tradition to daughter-in-law Betty who is also of Cantonese ancestry. Like husband Fred, Betty is also the first American born in her family.

Ong recipes combine unique fruits and vegetables with spicy Chinese pork sausage and unusual pickled spices. The scarcity of fresh produce make preparation a challenge to the typical American cook.

All aboard! Rail trip highlights state's fall color

Fall color is on the agenda when the Bluewater Michigan chapter of the National Railway Historical Society sponsors a trip to the Crossroads Village and Huckleberry Railroad near Flint Saturday, Oct. 15. The train departs from the CSX terminal in Livonia, on Levan south of the Jeffries Freeway.

Experience fall color from a railroad car Saturday when the Bluewater Michigan Chapter of the National Railway Historical Society sponsors a trip to Crossroads Village and the Huckleberry Railroad near Flint.

This excursion is known as the fall harvest jubilee special in honor of Crossroads Village's fall jubilee when the village reopens for the weekend of Oct. 15-16.

The train departs from the CSX Transportation Co. headquarters in Livonia near the Jeffries Freeway on Levan and travels north through Northville, Milford and Holly to Flint where passengers may disembark for connecting buses to Crossroads Village and the Huckleberry Railroad near Mt. Morris.

The harvest jubilee weekend at Crossroads Village includes hayrides, cider and doughnuts, harvesting activities, apple bobbing and pumpkin carving and a 10 mile fall color ride aboard the Huckleberry Railroad in antique cars behind a restored Baldwin narrow gauge steam locomotive.

Entertainment includes music by the Novi Jug Band, horsedrawn wagon rides, a kite flying contest, and a fiddler and dulcimer exhibition.

The fall harvest jubilee special Livonia to Flint train fare includes admission to Crossroads Village and one ride aboard the Huckleberry Railroad. Some activities, like a carousel and hay wagon ride, have an additional fee.

The fall harvest jubilee special excursion train will be powered by diesel locomotives provided by the CSX. The train will consist of air-conditioned and open window coaches, first class lounge cars and a snack and souvenir car serving refreshments. Souvenirs — including railroad memorabilia and gifts — will be on sale in the snack car.

A limited number of first class seats will be available. First class service includes breakfast, hors d'oeuvres, coffee, soft drinks and snacks and a full evening meal — all served outside. The train departs Livonia at 8:30 a.m. and arrives in Flint at 10:30 a.m. and Crossroads Village at 11 a.m. It will return to Livonia at 8 p.m.

First class fare is $99. Roundtrip coach seating is $49 for adults, and $29 for children ages 5 to 14.

Tickets can be purchased at Plymouth Yard Hobbies, 904 Starkweather at the CSX tracks in Plymouth or the Bluewater Michigan chapter office at 300 East 4th Street, Royal Oak. Tickets can be purchased by telephone using VISA or MasterCard. Call 264-4418 or 455-4455 between 1 p.m. and 8:30 p.m.

The Bluewater Michigan chapter has arranged chartered bus service to the Livonia departure site. A bus will leave Birmingham from Norman's Eaton Street Station restaurant on Eton Rd. at Maple at 8:45 a.m.

Seating is assigned by car and is limited. People wishing to ride together should order tickets together.

SC foundation hosts a night at the races

Tickets are available for "A Night at the Races," a Schoolcraft College Foundation fund-raiser to be held Monday, Nov. 21, at Northville Downs.

The event includes a buffet dinner, program and admission to the race track and clubhouse. The $25 per person contribution will be used to support student scholarships and other projects.

Tickets are available at the college Institutional Advancement Office in the Grote Administration Center, 18600 Haggerty, Livonia.

Tickets can also be reserved by calling 591-6400, Ext. 218.

Foster homes needed here

There is a critical shortage of foster homes throughout Wayne County, social service officials said.

To overcome the shortage, the Wayne County Department of Social Services and private placement agencies have embarked upon a joint recruiting program, "Children Need Loving Homes."

Persons interested in becoming foster parents are invited to attend an information session Wednesday at Children and Youth Services, 801 W. Baltimore, Detroit.

Information on additional meeting dates is available by calling 876-5437.

Golf outing raised $4,700 for schools

The first annual Wayne County Intermediate School District Foundation golf outing raised $4,717.

The event was held Sept. 29 at Green Oaks Golf Course, Ypsilanti.

Proceeds will be used to buy talking computers and teacher grants. The foundation was established earlier this year to provide county students with innovative educational programs that cannot be financed through current operating budgets or tax revenue.

The golf outing was the foundation's first fund-raising event.

Revamped roster doing job for Canton

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

Plymouth Canton boys cross country has come back stronger and better in 1988.

That's what the results of four dual meets and several invitationals indicate.

The Chiefs captured the Redford Union Invitational last Tuesday and improved to 3-1 overall Thursday when they coasted by Northville, 15-46.

"We have high expectations for this team," said junior Brian Beach, who paced the latest dual victory with a first-place finish and 17:17 showing.

"We lost a lot of leaders from last year's team. Eight of the top 11 graduated. So we've started with a new group, and a lot of guys are working hard because they know they'll be leaders, too."

THE "GUYS" include Beach's four teammates who made possible the near-slam of the Mustangs at Cass Benton Park.

Running in a tight pack that had just 20 seconds separating the quintet, junior Matt Hall was second (17:28), sophomore Mike Ream third (17:35), senior Brian Callon fourth (17:36) and senior Jim Gallagher fifth (17:37).

After losing some top-notch runners like Jay Swiecki from a team that placed 20th in the state last year, coach Jim Hayes was unsure about his next team. But he had a rough idea of its potential, and the Chiefs seem to be living up to it.

"I knew Mike Ream was out there, because he was pretty successful in track," Hayes said. "Brian asked me what he had to do (in terms of mileage) and he did it."

"Matt was all-division last year and 17th in the league. He's a tough little kid. Brian Callon is a committed runner. Gallagher has been an all-league tennis player for three years, and he'll do whatever it takes."

Canton's goal for the Northville meet was to place its No. 5 runner in the 17s, and the Chiefs did that to improve to 2-1 in the Western Division.

"WE TAKE TIME every two weeks to sit down and set goals," Hayes said. "That's why you see these kids so excited, because it's something they set out to do."

A goal Beach and his buddies no doubt have in mind is the Western Lakes Activities Association title on Tuesday, Oct. 18, at Cass Benton. The Chiefs, who lost the Schoolcraft Invitational title by a point to Farmington in mid-September, are a threat to dethrone the Falcons in the WLAA.

Ironically, Canton probably won't win the Western Division since it has already lost to Walled Lake Western, but the league meet will afford them the opportunity to avenge that setback.

"We had one guy out with a cracked rib and another with a messed up knee," Hall said. "Not to make excuses, but we didn't have a lot of our runners."

"Coach said 'Either we lose you now or for the rest of the season,'" he added.

Hayes, always the sportsman and gentleman whether it be victory or defeat, refused to alibi, politely avoiding the issue.

"OUR BEST SEVEN were out there," he said. "We might have reasons but never any excuses."

"We're only here to compete. We don't get revenge; we don't get mad. We just do the best we can."

Canton's best effort already has taken the Chiefs places this season.

In addition to the ones previously mentioned, Matt Boland, Jason Napolitano, Brad Hibner and Aaron Moore have helped supply depth. Boland (18:06) and Napolitano (18:07), serving as blockers, were eighth and ninth against Northville, Hibner (18:22) and Moore (18:27) 11th and 12th.

"We ran a lot during the summer, and the captains are real good leaders," Callon said. "Everyone cares more about the team than where they place."

"The reason we do so well is that we run close together in workouts," Beach said. "And, in races, we're familiar with how everybody else runs, and that helps us."

Glenn ground game buries Salem 32-6

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

Westland John Glenn laid to rest one issue regarding its football team and raised another Friday night.

The unbeaten Rockets squelched all talk about their real ability when they thumped host Plymouth Salem 32-6 in a key Lakes Division game.

Glenn, rated No. 7 in Class A, wallowed its first five opponents but, through no fault of its own, had played a majority of teams with losing records.

But there can be no doubt the Rockets are for real now, not after their latest victory. Glenn tailback Bryant Satterlee carried that message — quite literally — home to the Rocks.

The 210-pound junior rushed for 184 yards and all five touchdowns as the Rockets ruined Salem's homecoming and hopes for a share of the Lakes Division title.

"WE'RE NOT GOING to apologize for who we play," Glenn coach Chuck Gordon said. "We try to play as hard as we can every week and let other people worry about that."

"I don't know if we're for real or not. We're just having a lot of fun and trying to keep it rolling."

The next issue the Rockets must deal with is the showdown for the Lakes title Friday when they play host to unbeaten North Farmington. Both are 4-0 in the division and 6-0 overall.

Salem was eliminated from the title picture with its second straight loss, falling to 2-2 in the Lakes and 4-2 overall.

"They're as good a football team as we've played," Salem coach Tom Moshimer said. "John Glenn just lines up and comes at you. They do what they have to do and just overpower you."

Moshimer was mighty impressed by Satterlee, who scored first-half TDs on runs of 29 and 2 yards, plus a 17-yard fumble return. After the Rocks scored off the second-half kickoff, Glenn put the game away as Satterlee added TD runs of 2 and 6 yards.

"WE JUST TIRED them out," Satterlee said. "The front line kept driving at them, driving at them and knocking them back. And finally we tired them out."

Salem stopped Glenn's inside attack early in the game, but the Rockets started going off tackle and around the corners with success as the game wore on.

"We started hitting on some things," Gordon said. "We had some better play selection, but their defense took some things away."

Glenn, in fact, got on the scoreboard initially when Satterlee turned what looked to be a failed play into a 29-yard scoring run. He was stopped at the line of scrimmage but bounced outside and reached the end zone while being dragged down from behind.

"You see the goal line and you don't want to stop," Satterlee said. "The front line did a great job. If not for the front line, we don't have any touchdowns. I had help all the way around."

The Rockets took a 19-0 halftime lead after Salem's offense left the defense with its back to the wall too often.

"I GUESS WE did; that's the understatement of the year," Moshimer said. "You can't turn the ball over to a team like that."

The Rocks held twice after giving Glenn the ball deep in their own end, once after a low snap from center forced punter Donovan Nichols to run and again on a fumble.

But, after intercepting an Eric Stover pass following the fumble, the Rocks gave it right back with another at their 10. It took Glenn three plays to make it 13-0.

Then, late in the half, another bad punt snap resulted in the Rockets leading 19-0 at the intermission.

Nichols had trouble getting a handle on the low delivery and kicked the ball as he fell to the ground. Satterlee was in the right place this time, too, scooping up the loose ball and returning it for six points.

Harrison adds Canton to list of gridiron victims

By Steve Kowalski
staff writer

Farmington Harrison tied a school record for points scored Saturday in beating up visiting Plymouth Canton 62-14, but that wasn't all the Hawks accomplished at homecoming.

In a devastating performance, undefeated Harrison proved it has more going for it offensively than the arm of quarterback Mill Coleman.

Behind the duo of Joe George and Matt Conley, the Hawks showed they have a strong running game as well, amassing more than 150 yards rushing.

Harrison received a typically strong performance from Coleman, who completed 11 of 13 passes for 214 yards and three touchdowns. But coach John Herrington was more excited about the running of George and Conley, who finished with 44 and 43 yards, respectively.

With the league title game coming up against either Westland John Glenn and North Farmington and the Class B state tournament after that, Herrington knows balance will be a key to Harrison's success.

"WE DID RUN the ball a little more today, and we were successful when we did it," Herrington said. "We're going to get bad weather along the way, and we may need to run because of it."

"We also might face a team that's going to shut down the pass, so we need balance. We don't want to have all our eggs in one basket."

Herrington could do little wrong with his play calling Saturday, except early in the fourth quarter when he sent Jon Schaeffer in to kick an extra point. The Hawks' Mike Dombrowski had just scored on the ground to make the score 62-6, and the conversion would have given the Hawks a school scoring record.

Junior Steve Hill made eight straight extra points, but it was Schaeffer's opportunity to make history. He missed.

And the Hawks players had something to joke about. "It was a bad hold and the snap was high," joked Schaeffer. "And there was a gust of wind that pushed it right."

Remarked teammate Joe Hannawa: "Yeah, did the wind push your leg to the side when you kicked it?"

HARRISON GOT its homecoming crowd in a festive mood early, scoring on its first possession, when Coleman connected with tight end Bryan Wauldron on a 47-yard touchdown pass. Wauldron caught five passes for 126 yards.

The Hawks took a 14-0 lead on a 3-yard run by George near the end of the first quarter. Defensive end Dale Katz gave Harrison a 21-0 lead on the first play of the second quarter when he recovered a Canton fumble and ran it into the end zone from 11 yards.

Coleman completed the first-half scoring for Harrison, hitting Tim Horton and Chad Burgess with scoring passes of 2 and 30 yards, respectively.

The Chiefs managed to score Saturday at the end of each half. A 22-yard pass from quarterback Jason Demby to Mark Barrette gave Canton its only first-half score with 15 seconds remaining.

The Hawk defense, led by linebacker Scott Nichols, noseguard Jason Buchanan and tackles Jeff Skinner and Hannawa, stymied the Chiefs, forcing six turnovers. Harrison had three interceptions, two coming by defensive back Jason Lichtman.

Harrison played the first unit for three quarters and by then the Hawks' lead had escalated to 54-6. Nichols and George both scored TDs in the third quarter from 1 yard out, and Burgess caught his second TD — a 12-yarder from Coleman.

HERRINGTON WASN'T running up the score; he just wanted to give the first team a chance to play. The first-team defense also played beyond halftime.

"We just wanted to play some more," Herrington said. "There hasn't been much said about our defense. They've only given up one touchdown this year when they've been on the field, and they deserve a lot of credit."

Canton's record fell to 1-5 overall, 1-3 in the Western Division of the Western Lakes Activities Association. If nothing else, coach Bob Khoele hopes the rout taught his Chiefs some valuable lessons.

"I hope the kids learned something from this," he said. "There were a few lessons to be learned, like a lot of hitting, intensity and good execution."

"I think my guys were a little psyched out coming in here. When we tried to throw they got interceptions, and when we tried to run they knocked us on our butts."

Salem, Canton roll to victories

It was no contest Thursday, as host Plymouth Salem picked up the easy girls basketball win over Livonia Stevenson, 64-31 Thursday in a Western Lakes Activities Association Lakes Division contest.

Salem (8-3 overall, 5-0 in the Lakes) jumped out to a 34-7 half-time lead and coasted home.

Four Rocks scored in double figures: Jill Estey (20), Sarah Ruete (13), Wendy Bailey (11) and Emily Gulliani (10).

Lisa Christensen was the lone bright spot for the Spartans (1-9 overall, 0-4 in the Lakes), collecting 10 rebounds.

AFTER PLYMOUTH CANTON had routed Livonia Churchill 50-15 Thursday, Churchill coach Dave Van Wagoner summed up things succinctly: "We got beat by a very good basketball team."

The state-ranked Chiefs blew out to a 22-3 halftime lead and cruised the rest of the way.

Canton is now 10-1 overall and 5-0 in the WLA's Western Division, while the host Chargers fell to 4-6 and 1-4.

Susan Ferko, a junior center, paced the Chiefs with 21 points. Candi Jones, a senior forward, added 10.

Carrie Blanchard scored seven for Churchill.

CVILLE 31, HARPER WOODS 28: Livonia Clarenceville made stirring comeback in the final quarter Thursday, outscoring visiting Harper Woods 19-9 to gain a 31-28 Metro Conference girls basketball triumph.

The Trojans made seven of eight free throws during the rally to raise their overall season record to 3-5. They are 1-3 in the Metro.

Kelly Anspach scored 11 of her game-high 17 points during the surge, while teammate Debbie Owens contributed six of her 11 in the decisive period.

"We were shooting about 20 percent until the four quarter," said Clarenceville coach Paul Clough. "We pressed and got some steals and layups. We started getting fouled and went to the line."

Linda Hofricktia tallied 10 points for the Pioneers, who slipped to 2-4 overall and 0-4 in the Metro.

FRANKLIN 31, W.L. WESTERN 27: Senior Leslie Szafarski, a 5-foot-7 center, spearheaded a sterling defensive effort Thursday, leading Livonia Franklin to a WLA Western Division win at Walled Lake Western.

Franklin successfully employed a box-and-one defense on Western's 6-1 high-scoring center Michelle Hall. Szafarski held her to four points, while scoring nine herself.

"She just did a fantastic job," said Franklin coach Dan Freeman of Szafarski's effort. "It was an excellent win on the road. Our girls played hard."

Offensively, freshman guard Dawn Warner led the Patriots with 13 points. She also grabbed eight rebounds as Franklin raised its overall record to 6-3 and 4-1 in the Western Division.

Holly Miller netted eight for the Warriors, who dipped to 4-6 overall and 2-3 in the division.

W.L. CENTRAL 65, JOHN

GLENN 63, Walled Lake Central (7-4, 4-1) converted a steal into a layup with only three seconds left Thursday to score a WLA Lakes Division triumph against host Westland Glenn (5-4, 2-3).

Kelly O'Hanlon paced Central and all scorers with 27 points. Tonia Smith and Karyn Koslowski added 18 and 12, respectively.

Christina Hoffman paced Glenn with 14, while Tracy Martin and Yvette Lawrence each chipped in with 12.

It was the Rockets' fourth straight defeat.

WAYNE 49, BELLEVILLE 26: On Thursday, Wayne Memorial (8-1, 4-1) stayed one game off the lead in the Wolverine A League with a victory over the host Tigers (6-4, 3-3).

Carlietta Dancy and Maya Lewis powered the victorious Zebras with 14 and 11 points, respectively.

Chrissy Garrett netted 13 for Belleville.

"We started slow offensively," said Wayne coach Gary Schwan, whose team enjoyed an 18-6 halftime lead.

"We were getting good shots, but I told my girls to keep working the ball and the shots began starting to fall."

Wayne outscored Belleville in the second half, 31-20.

GARDEN CITY 47, REDFORD UNION 39: In a Northwest Suburban League tussle Thursday, Garden City broke open a close game with a 14-5 surge in the final quarter to beat the host Panthers.

Garden City is 3-0 in league play and 6-5 overall, while RU dropped to 3-6 overall and 0-3 in the league.

Senior Kim Falkowski, who made six of 10 free throws in the second half, paced Garden City with 18 points. Senior guard Kim Reith added 14, while Carolyn Shanks contributed nine off the bench.

Sisters Danielle and Janine Sorel combined for 26 RU points. Shannon Morris added nine points and 12 rebounds, while center Ann Kolar grabbed 14 rebounds.

GC hit 13 of 22 free throws, while RU connected on five of eight.

TAYLOR CENTER 77, THURSTON 56: Guard Wendy Jamula recorded a rare, quadruple-double, leading defending Tri-River League champion Taylor Center (9-1, 4-0) kept on rolling Thursday with a win at Redford Thurston (4-6, 3-4).

Jamula, a 6-1 junior, scored 32 points, grabbed 10 rebound, had 10 assists and added 14 steals for the Rams.

Teammate Jennifer Miller, a 6-3 junior center, added 18 points and 13 rebounds.

"I thought we played very well, but we got beat by a better team," said Thurston first-year coach Dave Mann. "We played hard."

Both teams used pressing tactics, creating a wide-open game.

Senior center Shelly Rapp paced the Eagles with 15 points and 17 rebounds. Senior guard Amy Zadorozny contributed 10 points.

HOLY REDEEMER 42, ST. AGATHA 31: Although missing 11 of 18 free throws in the first half, Redford St. Agatha was still in the ballgame against visiting Detroit Holy Redeemer, trailing 24-21 at intermission.

But the Aggies, in search of their first win in seven starts, fell flat in the second half, tallying only 10 points.

Pack-running puts Chiefs ahead

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

More than talent links the top six runners on the Plymouth Canton girls cross country team.

The athletes who make the Chiefs a big-time power in the sport are also petite, blonde and pretty. They could easily pass for sisters.

"That's what everybody says," junior Lori Penland said after leading unbeaten Canton to its fourth straight dual-meet victory Thursday.

Penland was well ahead of the pack, though pack running is usually the team trademark, with a first-place time of 20:36 as the Chiefs breezed past Northville 15-47 at Cass Benton Park.

At an earlier meet, "the Eastern Michigan (University) coach was asking 'Who are all those little blonde girls?'" said runner-up Missy Jasnowski, who helped Canton sweep the top five places at 21:13.

OPPONENTS, however, have taken note of how similar the Chiefs are in terms of ability.

Canton doesn't have just one or two good individuals. The Chiefs go at least six runners deep, and others such as Adrienne Garrow, whom coach George Przygodski said has made great strides in her running, provide further depth.

"Last year we had five," Penland said. "This year we have seven or so who are really close. Plus, the times are a lot better."

"What also makes us such a good team is that we're really close friends," she added.

Deeper Rocks rule

North Farmington's Lisa Rives had quite a race Thursday, but the team victory in girls cross country went to Plymouth Salem, 24-31.

Rives shattered the course record at Oakland Community College and ran away with individual honors, posting a 19:31 time.

That topped the record of 20:02 set by Farmington rival Jennifer Kiel earlier this year.

But the Rocks captured the next two places and put all five scorers in the top eight.

Traci Thomas was runner-up at 21:33 and Shannon Donnelly third at 21:57. Salem's Jenny Harris was fifth (22:26), Beth Cunningham sixth (22:52) and Lisa Buell eighth (23:01).

North runners following Rives were No. 4 Angie Martin (22:16), No. 7 Tracy Mitchell (22:55), No. 9 Lisa Alpiner (23:24) and No. 10 Kara Higley (23:26).

The Rocks are 2-1 in the Lakes Division and 3-2 overall. The Raiders are 0-3 and 4-3 overall.

While Penland was 37 seconds ahead of her closest teammate, a mere 11 seconds stood between the next four.

Third-place Cathy McCabe (21:16) followed three seconds behind Jasnowski, Cindy Spessard (21:16) was fourth and Kris Marquard (21:24) completed the Canton scoring.

FURTHERMORE, Canton's Lynda Schendel, who has been the No. 1 runner in several meets for the Chiefs, had to withdraw after twisting an ankle she had previously injured. Schendel said the injury wasn't serious and she should be competing again soon.

"The key to this team is the way we run together and push each other," Schendel said. "There's no outstanding runner who's going to pull away."

"We all know either one can be No. 1, so we push a little harder," Marquard said. "If you know you're going to lose, you won't run hard."

"It's harder for people to break into our pack this year," Jasnowski said. "When all of us run really hard, we're pushing each other."

Northville's Marci Dart slipped into the No. 6 spot, but Garrow acted as a blocker for Canton, finishing sixth in 21:53. Lisa Brown of the Mustangs was eighth, but the Chiefs showed their depth when the rest of the team — Heather Meyer, Heather DeJong, Carolyn Way, Kim Rice, Nicole Kosma, Heather Spencer, Michelle Miller and Reena Shah — finished ahead of Northville's next three.

Canton is the defending Western Lakes Activities Association champion and the odds-on favorite to win it again on Tuesday, Oct. 18, at Cass Benton.

BUT THE CHIEFS, rated No. 8 in Class A, have even higher aspirations, and their latest dual contest was merely a step along that road.

Canton would like to make a run at the state championship, but getting through the regional meet at Howell will be tough. The top four teams in Class A also are in the same region.

"That's what we're building toward," Przygodski said. "I hope we get to the state meet. Our regional is going to be the state meet, basically."

"Five of the top 10 are going to be there, and only three are going to leave."

Canton was 11th in the state last year, and its goal is to be among the top five in 1989, according to Schendel.

But the Chiefs still have some work to do before the big meets come up at the end of the month.

"We need to drop our times about another 30 seconds each," Przygodski said. "I think it's realistic; I think it's going to happen."

Last Rock runner proves pivotal

Dave Hamway wasn't the first, or even second, runner across the finish line for the Plymouth Salem boys cross country team Thursday.

But he was every bit as important as those teammates ahead of him, helping the Rocks edge North Farmington in a tight meet at Oakland Community College, 26-29.

Hamway, who missed the Redford Union Invitational on Tuesday with sore knee, rallied late in the race to finish ninth overall and give Salem the victory.

Four runners for each team had already finished, and the Rocks led 17-19. Hamway came from 20 yards behind to overtake North's Jason Biederman. Hamway finished in 18:26, Biederman 18:38.

If the Raiders had placed a blocker between Salem's No. 4 man, John Thomas, and Hamway, the Rocks would have lost the meet.

"I WASN'T GOING to let him run today, but he said he felt fine," Salem coach Geoff Baker said. "He came through at the end. He's a very courageous runner, because if it wasn't for him we would have lost the meet."

The victory keeps the Rocks, 3-0 in the Lakes Division and 3-1 overall, in the running for the division title. Defending champ Salem and Farmington, also 3-0, will decide that issue when they meet Thursday, Oct. 20, at OCC.

Scott Stryker paced the Rocks, who were minus two key runners, Sean Speakman and Mike Patterson, due to illness, with a first-place finish and 16:56 time.

Brendon Masterson was third (17:29), Samir Bhavsar sixth (18:14) and Thomas seventh (18:16).

North, 0-3 in the Lakes, was led by Jason Kocembo, who was second at 17:17. He was supported by teammates Jeff Simpson in fourth place (17:49), Jim Nader in fifth (18:12) and Scott Simpson in eighth (18:22).

Franklin girls trounce Churchill harriers

Grabbing five of the first six places, Livonia Franklin rolled to a 19-42 girls cross country victory Thursday over city rival Churchill in a meet at Cass Benton Park.

Franklin is now 3-2 overall and 3-0 in the Western Division of the Western Lakes Activities Association. Churchill is 3-2 and 1-2.

Kelly Gustafson paced the Patriots with a first-place time of 21:36, 15 seconds ahead of Churchill's Charlotte Garry in the 5,000-meter race.

Franklin then took the next four places: Dawn Harrison (22:05), Becky Kloc (22:37), Tina Koons (22:37) and Kerl McKay (23:07).

Churchill's Maia de la Merced and Pam Campbell finished seventh and 10th, respectively, with times of 23:22 and 23:46.

The Franklin boys sprinted past Churchill, 23-38, as Charlie Olschanski ran away from the field with a first-place time of 16:46.

Churchill's Scott Westover and Don Kulka finished second and third, respectively, with times of 17:51 and 17:57. Jeff Grossman added a 10th place.

The Patriots captured places four through seven: John Shea (18:02), Will Dawson (18:05), Jeff Horne (18:14) and Mark Donehue (18:41).

Franklin's boys are 3-2 overall and 2-1 in the Western Division, while Churchill slipped to 1-4 and 0-3.

LIVONIA STEVENSON also swept its meet Thursday against Westland John Glenn in a double-dual meet at Central City Park.

The Spartan boys, coached by John Gores, won 25-34, as junior Scott Freeborn finished first in 17:17. Other Stevenson finishers included Keith Klassa, third, 17:37; Dan Lambert, sixth, 17:51; Dave Horan, seventh, 17:52; Rod Westlake, eighth, 17:55; Nick Boone, ninth, 18:12; and Eric Oswaldel, 10th, 18:17.

North survives battle of unbeatens

By Steve Kowalski
staff writer

North Farmington won a girls swimming meet Thursday night because of its ability to finish second, third and fourth.

Say what?

North must have depth to be successful as a team, so second, third and fourth place finishes were a premium in Thursday's 99-73 win over visiting Plymouth Salem.

North also won nine of the 11 events, but the Raiders depth was of more importance. In three events, North swimmers swept the top three places. Nancy Wetterbolt twice placed second, clocking 2:12.52 in the 200-yard freestyle and 1:00.30 in the 100 free.

"Barring any problems, I've got six first-place finishes every dual meet from Kerry Doran, Christie Duthie and Laurie Oswald," North coach Pat Duthie said. "So we didn't think firsts would be the problem. I thought seconds, thirds and fourths would be."

"We were real concerned tonight. We had our work cut out for us. Plymouth Salem is so deep, getting our swimmers in between them is what we had to do. And we did it better than I thought we would."

NORTH REMAINED undefeated in duals at 4-0 overall. Salem fell to 4-1.

Duthie got what he expected out of Doran, Christie Duthie and Oswald. Doran earned a first in the 200 individual medley, clocking 2:16.61, and the 100 breaststroke (1:10.15). Duthie won the 50 free (26.07) and the 100 butterfly (1:04.24).

Oswald qualified for state while winning the 200 free (2:00.22) and she easily outdistanced the rest of the field in the 500 free (5:49.1).

Salem coach Chuck Olson was satisfied with the Rocks overall performance, except in the 200 free and 100 backstroke events, where Salem failed to place a swimmer in the top three positions.

"I'm disappointed in our lack of aggression in some events," said Olson. "The backstroke... we were terrible. The 200 free... we were terrible. We can't afford those."

"Overall, though, it was a close score. I told them if we're within 20 points that's good. There are four real good teams in our (Western Lakes Activities Association) league (Plymouth Canton, Northville, Livonia Churchill and North Farmington). Those are the four we're looking at, and we're struggling to get into that group."

North led the entire way after winning the meet's opening event, the 200 medley relay, in 2:01.63. Julie Ann Markey, Cady Caruso, Duthie and Josie Komer were members of the winning relay.

SALEM KEPT close after five events, claiming the best three scores in the diving competition. Salem's Jennifer Esso won the diving with 188.85 points, teammate Jenny Syra had 159.3 and Shelly Rodgers was third with 149.6.

Salem trailed 58-53 after the 100 free, when Rock swimmer Nicole Bosse finished first in 59.38. The Rocks remained six behind, 66-60, after Oswald captured the 500 free and Salem's Stacey Anderson (5:49.1) and Katy Vesna (5:54.66) finished second and third, respectively.

But North increased its lead to 79-63 after the 100 backstroke victory by Markey in 1:08.78. North's final win came from the 400 free relay team of Wetterbolt, Komer, Oswald and Doran, which clocked 3:56.92.

North was the WLAA champion in 1987. The Raiders are 2-0 in Lakes Division duals this year and have their sights set on winning the division crown. But the season is far from over.

"We swim Northville (Nov. 3) and they'll be real tough," Duthie said. "And we have to keep an eye on Farmington. We're gearing for the conference meet, but this year, we have a chance for the division, too."

Canton edged in final event again

It had been such a good meet for Nicole Drake — right up until her last swim Thursday.

The Plymouth Canton freestyler had won two individual events, capturing the 200-yard (2:00.0) and 500-yard (5:10.1) free. Important wins they were, too. The Chiefs needed all the points they could muster to overcome Northville and remain in the hunt for the Western Lakes Activities Association Western Division title.

Entering the meet, Northville was once beaten, while Canton and Livonia Churchill were undefeated. But fortune was not smiling on the Chiefs this day, evident in their heartbreaking 89-83 loss.

How bad can things get? First, sprinter Lori Engelhuber was involved in a car accident earlier in the day and, although unhurt, was shaken up and missed the meet.

"SHE'S OUR No. 1 sprinter," said Canton coach Hooker Wellman. "If she'd been in the meet, it would have been some points."

And yet, the Chiefs had a chance. A first and third in the final event, the 400 free relay, would have given them the victory.

Drake was anchoring the top relay team. "We had it," were Wellman's thoughts as she plunged into the water en route to what seemed a certain first-place finish.

But... Drake's goggles filled with water. She tried to pull them off, but got them wrapped around her mouth.

She began to choke as she inhaled water, and was forced to stop. Still, Drake didn't quit; she finished the race, but it was too late. Canton took second and third in the event.

The Chiefs had just two other firsts: Amy Van Buhler in diving (198.8 points) and Cassie Cummins in the 100 backstroke (1:05.1).

Hope still remains. Canton is master of its fate. Churchill is unbeaten in Lakes' duals, but has not yet faced the Chiefs (3-2 overall, 1-1 in the Lakes).

"If we beat Churchill, there'll be a three-way tie for first," figured Wellman. "So it's not over yet. We'll keep working hard."

And, as the Chiefs proved against Northville, anything can happen.

CANTON CLOSED out the September portion of its dual-meet schedule in perfection. The Chiefs demolished Walled Lake Western, sweeping every first place in a 137-34 triumph Sept. 30.

Canton winners in individual events were Kristy Brugar in the 200-yard freestyle; Val Gildhaus in the 200 individual medley; Tami Santomauro in the 50 free; Becky Hoisington in diving; Nicole Drake in the 100 butterfly; Chris Lang in the 100 free; Cassie Cummins in the 500 free; Janet Roberts in the 100 backstroke; and Cheri Woodward in the 100 breaststroke.

Roberts, Stacy Belisle, Beth York and Jeni Cooper combined to capture top honors in the 200 medley relay, and Sarah Schmitz, Santomauro, Renee DeBell and Cooper were winners in the 400 free relay.

Glenn gridders eliminate Rocks

"That's all it was," Satterlee said. "He kicked it right to me. It could have been anybody. We came out to block the punt, and we did what we wanted."

SALEM MADE AN effort to get back in the game, going 73 yards and cutting the margin to 19-6 to start the third quarter. Ryan Johnson, who had 92 of Salem's 173 rushing yards, did most of the work and dived over the top on a 1-yard keeper for the TD.

"I told the kids the first few minutes of the second half would be crucial," Gordon said. "Then they went right down and scored. We were fortunate enough to drive on our next possession."

"That swung the momentum, and it's hard to overcome those (Salem) mistakes. They jammed some things on the inside, and we tried to sweep them and get outside."

The Rockets got a big return from Tom Luxton on the kickoff and, with Satterlee doing most of the work to finish with 33 carries, scored the next two times it had the ball, driving 45 and 74 yards in seven and 14 plays, respectively.

Gordon anticipated having to throw more — Stover was 2-of-6 for 17 yards — but effective ball control and 200 yards rushing made that unnecessary.

"Later on it's a momentum thing," said Moshimer of Glenn's second-half domination on the ground. "When we're down 25-6 and they end up scoring, it was strictly momentum. Then we let down and didn't play with the same intensity."

John Brannan added 49 yards rushing for Salem, and Rob Kowalski, who started at quarterback but gave way to Johnson later, was 1-of-3 passing for 6 yards.

Which of these meals does your heart the most good?

We're more concerned than ever about what we're eating these days. But a lot of people in metro Detroit don't have that problem. They're just trying to figure out where their next meal is coming from. Which is one reason the United Foundation supports 154 different agencies, including local food assistance programs such as the Salvation Army and the Gleaners Food Bank. And programs that help counsel troubled families, assist the unemployed, fight infant mortality and just give some people a new start in life. So, give generously to the Torch Drive campaign and fill out your pledge card now. It could be somebody's meal ticket.

Give, for all the good you can do.

Today, tomorrow and 'super' stores

By Diane Gale
staff writer

It used to be you went to the corner grocery to pick up a loaf of bread. Now, you can go to pick up a date.

You can still find that loaf of bread in today's "future" and "super" stores, that is, if you aren't distracted by neon lights, nutrition centers, bakeries, service centers and floral shops.

A lot has happened from 20 years ago when grocery stores just sold food and the only side benefit was hearing the latest neighborhood gossip.

"Food stores have changed over the last 20 years as dramatically as the car," said Ray Reed, Kroger Michigan advertising manager. "I wouldn't just call them a grocery store. Those days are gone."

There was a time when grocery shoppers put on their best clothes to do the week's food shopping.

"Supermarkets used to be a social center," said Ryan Mathews, senior associate editor of Grocery Marketing, a monthly industry publication circulated nationally. "They went to do the week's food shopping."

"Life has sped up and taken away that kind of gentility. Now when you have that, you have to structure it for them like the singles' night."

GROCERY STORES compete

among themselves and with restaurants for the food dollar, said Bobby McKennon, Michigan Grocers Association director of communications.

It does pay to scan

If you thought double coupons were a good deal, you might be interested in a state law that could put up to $5 in shoppers' pockets.

If a computer scanner makes a mistake and you find it later, the difference plus a penalty charge is the reward for being an observant shopper.

The Item Pricing Law of 1985

ensures most merchandise have a price affixed to them. And if an electronic scanner records a price overcharge, the business must pay a penalty fee, said Christine Bailey, Michigan Consumer Council information specialist.

IF THE consumer brings it to

This competition gave birth to consumer surveys, color coordinated produce, gourmet food sections, service centers, bags delivered to your car, salad bars, video centers, bakeries, delis, floral departments and wheelchairs for handicapped shoppers — more than anyone could have imagined in yesteryear's corner store.

"Grocery stores are forever trying to get people to like them," Mathews said. "And the fact is that people don't like them."

GETTING PEOPLE to like them better in the early 1980s was essential for the people at A & P, because they faced "big financial trouble," said Tom Montgomery, A & P general manager.

The solution, they thought, was the creation of upscale A & P Future Stores and the good buys at A & P Sav-A-Centers.

A quaint, red brick colonial building was A & P's trademark in the 1960s and '70s. They're a far cry from the sleek, we've-got-everything Future Stores in West Bloomfield and Canton.

THE GREAT Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company Inc. isn't the only major grocery chain changing its image.

Take the side road to Michigan City

By Iris Sanderson Jones
contributing travel editor

MICHIGAN CITY, IND.: You pass the signs every time you drive west to Chicago: Stevensville, Bridgman, New Buffalo, Michigan City, Indiana Dunes National Lakeshore. If you are like me, you plan to stop "some day" and see what is down those side roads leading away from Interstate-94.

"Some day" never comes, so I decided not to go all the way to Chicago. Instead I drove west and followed the first law of travel: Get off the main road. That's how I found myself on the beach at Michigan City, Ind., just south of the Michigan border.

It was a brisk autumn morning, and Lake Michigan rolled in white-capped ridges to the glorious sand beach that follows this whole lakeshore southwest beyond Indiana Dunes National Lakeshore and northwest into Michigan's beach communities.

Only sea gulls sunbathed in cool weather, but the fishermen were out, lining the pier to the historic old lighthouse and the sandy shoreline of the sheltered marina inside the breakwater.

The high chimneys of a power company made their own skyline beyond that, reminding me that industry has always been very heavy along this strip of Indiana shoreline.

MICKY JONES

A popular activity on the sand dunes of the Indiana Dunes National Lakeshore is hang gliding.

One of the country's largest dunes, the 200-foot-high Hoosier Slide, stood right on this spot when Isaac Elston bought the whole area for $1.25 an acre in 1833.

The dune was a landmark for Indians and early explorers, but it was also worth money. Thirty carloads of sand were shipped out every day for 30 years and by 1920 the great dune was gone.

THIS WHOLE wonderful waterfront might be gone too except for a former mayor who secretly bought the land, parcel by parcel, and then gave it to the city. He created Washington Park, a 90-acre lakefront, with its beaches, public marina, fishing pier, lighthouse museum and small zoo.

The waterfront is one of three good reasons to stop in Michigan City. The other two are Lighthouse Place, a fabulous outlet mall for shoppers, and Indiana Dunes National Lakeshore.

The whole Indiana lakeshore

'Imagine:' It's home movies at their worst

RECENT RELEASES:

"Imagine: John Lennon" (D) (R) 95 minutes.

If you believe, as I do, that there's life after rock'n'roll, you'll be bored by this pedestrian documentary about John Lennon. Even if you're rockin' around the clock and think that the Beatles and John Lennon made major contributions to Western culture, you'll still be disappointed. This film is home movies at their worst, limited music, and low-quality news-reel footage taken off the tube. John and Yoko lying around in bed talking about peace may be a media event, but it ain't great culture.

"Memories of Me" (A-) (PG-13) Alan King in bravura performance as nightclub comic and "King" of the movie extras. His son, the doctor (Billy Crystal), comes to L.A. after a heart attack and tries to mend their broken relationship. King is perfect, but Crystal is just a shade miscast. On the whole, however, excellent film.

"Messenger of Death" (*) (R). Charles Bronson and more violence.

"Punchline" (B) (R) 120 minutes. Being a standup comedian is not always funny, or easy. Lila (Sally Field) is a housewife who wants to make people laugh. Steven (Tom Hanks) is a medical student who makes laughter his life. Struggling in a New York comedy club, they learn more than how to be funny. This comedy and love story team Hanks and Fields in convincing performances. Reviewed by Kathy Guyor.

"Tougher Than Leather" (*) (R). Film debut of rap group.

STILL PLAYING:

"Bagdad Cafe" (B) (PG) 91 minutes. Except for a confusing opening, this is a wonderful comedy about friendship, love and understanding. Jasmine (Marianne Sagebrecht) leaves her husband in the middle of the Mojave Desert and winds up in Bagdad where she rents a room from Brenda (C.C. Pounder), who has kicked her husband out. The two women, who start out with nothing in common, form strong bonds. Jack Palance also appears. Reviewed by Jennifer Morse.

"Betrayed" (A) (R) 115 minutes. In the best Costa-Gavras ("Z" and "Missing") tradition, this tense film combines political thrills and personal poignancy. FBI agent Cathy Weaver (Debra Winger) goes undercover to track murderers of controversial radio talk-show host. However, might have been lost, if the state and federal government had not stepped in to create a state park in 1925 and a national lakeshore in the 1960s. The National Park Service has acquired 15,000 acres so far.

Michigan City has sand dunes, malls

The visitor center of Indiana Dunes National Lakeshore, five miles southwest of Michigan City, will give you a quick lesson in dunes — glaciers carving out the Great Lakes and receding again, left sand dunes and glacial till behind.

There are restored homesteads and farms to visit in the park, but the dunes themselves are the greatest attraction. Walk on them, hike the trails, camp, or join the hang gliding enthusiasts who soar off Mount Baldy whenever the weather permits.

Weather is also the primary concern of fishermen who take advantage of the long fishing season here in lakeshore Indiana. Michigan City has the largest commercial fishing charter fleet on the lake.

You can fish for coho salmon March through May, and for chinook May to July. By mid-June a hybrid steelhead trout, called Skamania, starts running.

THE COHO and chinook come back in the fall, preparing to go upstream to spawn, so one of the best fishing seasons is now through early November. The heaviest harvest is in mid-October.

When you are tired of outdoor sporting and ready to spend some money, you will find Lighthouse Place a few blocks south of the lake. It is a large outlet store mall built on the grounds where railway sleeping cars were manufactured until the 1960s.

Grading the movies

A+	Top marks - sure to please
A	Close behind - excellent
A-	Still in running for top honors
B+	Pretty good stuff, not perfect
B	Good
B-	Good but notable deficiencies
C+	Just a cut above average
C	Mediocre
C-	Not so hot and slipping fast
D+	The very best of the poor stuff
D	Poor
D-	It doesn't get much worse
F	Truly awful
Z	Reserved for the colossally bad
*	No advanced screening

er, loosely based on the murder of Denver broadcaster, Al Berg, and the subsequent expose of white supremacist groups, this film will make you nervous about fascism and about personal involvement vs. commitment as Winger becomes emotionally attached to the man she's investigating, Gary Simmons (Tom Berenger).

"Cocktail" (C-) (R) 110 minutes. Adolescent fantasy, populated with overdone, soapy melodrama about a high-concept bartender, Brian Flanagan (Tom Cruise), and assorted "chickies" led by Jordan Mooney (Elisabeth Shue). Some clever lines by Bryan Brown but only Cruise addicts will sail on this one.

"Crossing Delancy" (A) (PG) 95 minutes.

Isabella "Iszy" Grossman (Amy Irving) is a liberated young New Yorker with her eye on author Ivan Maes (Jeroen Krabbe). But never mind that modern stuff, Grandma Ida (Reizl Bozyk) hires matchmaker Hannah Mandelbaum (Sylvia Miles) to arrange things with Sam the pickelman. Don't worry about true love, this romantic comedy will charm and delight everyone.

"Dead Ringers" (F) (R) 115, minutes.

Can identical twin gynecologists

(Jeremy Irons and Jeremy Irons) find happiness sharing girls, pills, patients and their practice? It's not worth watching this boring, slow-paced, sicko film to find out.

"Dear America" (A) (PG-13) 85 minutes.

Gripping, touching, horrifying, sad and, finally, the inspiring story of our Vietnam tragedy told with actual footage shot by television newsmen, armed forces cameramen and everyone else. It is the men, their courage and their high regard for comrades that make this documentary an inspiring, must-see event. Voice-over narrators reading soldiers letters home include Robert DeNiro, Michael J. Fox, Robin Williams and Kathleen Turner.

"Die Hard" (*) (R).

Bruce Willis and Bonnie Bedelia in story of hostages trapped in L.A. building seized by terrorists on Christmas Eve.

"Eight Men Out" (D) (PG) 115 minutes.

Say it ain't so, John Sayles ("Matewan," "The Brothers from Another Planet"). Tell us you didn't make a film with poorly identified characters, confusing plot, choppy editing and half-lit staccato images. But I guess you did. Music track is nice, but it is hard to believe the 1919 Chicago "Black" Sox threw the World Series just because Mr. Comiskey paid them poorly. There had to be more to it than that. Same goes for the movie.

"Elvira, Mistress of the Dark" (D-) (PG-13) 96 minutes.

This hodge-podge tries everything and fails because you need a lot more talent than this crowd has to pull off a satiric-comedy-horror-cult-sex film. Timing is off, pacing erratic and everything is flat except Elvira.

"A Fish Called Wanda" (A) (R) 110 minutes.

A very funny film with the whackiest gang in town. Principals include Jaime Lee Curtis as Wanda the Wonderful, jewel thief extraordinaire. Among her colleagues are Kevin Kline in an absolutely inspired performance as a berserk American gunsel in London. John Cleese is a proper barrister, but... The whole thing is beyond words. The only solution is to see the movie.

"Gorillas in the Mist" (C-) (PG-13) 120 minutes.

Welcome to the wonderful world of gorillas. Sigourney Weaver plays it like the Magic Kingdom and the film's erratic pacing largely misses the point of Dian Fossey's life and her obsessive reverence for gorillas living freely in their natural habitat.

"Heartbreak Hotel" (B) (PG-13)

Picture this, Elvis fans: Taylor, Ohio, 1972. Dad's gone, Mom's alcoholic, her boyfriend's abusive and she lives in a rundown hotel with her two kids. To the rescue, son Johnny (Charles Schlatter) who gets Mom (Tuesday Weld) a date with Elvis (David Keith) because the King can fix anything. He does in an entertaining, amusing film with 12 original Elvis songs on a great sound track. Reviewed by Kim Brown

"Kansas" (B) (R) 110 minutes.

While passing through Kansas on his way to New York, Wade (Andrew McCarthy) meets Doyle (Matt Dillon). He becomes Doyle's unwilling accomplice in a bank robbery and while running from the law saves life of governor's daughter and becomes unwilling hero. Resolution of all these problems makes an interesting movie. Reviewed by Kathy Guyor.

"The Last Temptation of Christ" (B-) (R) 164 minutes.

Controversial portrayal of Christ as a disturbed person who struggles with his duality and tries to reject his divinity. Well-photographed and has fine acting, but choppy editing in complex rendition makes this one questionable.

"Married to the Mob" (B) (R) 110 minutes.

Enjoyable and cute film, as Angela (Michelle Pfeiffer) is widowed when mob boss Tony "The Tiger" Russo (Dean Stockwell) ices her hit-man hubby, Frankie (Alec Baldwin). She figures that's her ticket out of the mob but Tony wants her and so does FBI agent Mike Downey (Matthew Modine), in more than one way. Reviewed by Jennifer Morse.

"Moon Over Parador" (C) (PG-13) 104 minutes.

Director Paul Mazursky ("Bob and Alice..." and "Unmarried Woman") is so busy playing Jack Noah's (Richard Dreyfus) mother that there's nobody left to tend the store. Despite some funny stuff, this comedy falls flat as Noah is forced to impersonate the late and unlamented dictator of Parador, so police Chief Strausmann (Raul Julia) can maintain control. Sonia Braga appears as the dictator's mistress, but neither she nor stilted cameos by Sammy Davis Jr., Charo, Johathan Winters and Fernando Rey get this dud off the ground.

"Nightmare on Elm Street Part 4 — The Dream Master" (C) (R) 90 minutes.

Looks like Freddie's power is weakening and so's the series. Storyline is developed, but the expected suspense and gore is lacking. Eyes "Nightmare" fans will be disappointed. Reviewed by Jennifer Morse.

"Patty Hearst" (*) (R).

"Sweet Hearts Dance" (B-) (R) 96 minutes.

Bittersweet comedy of middle-aged man (Don Johnson) uncertain about his life and marriage. Jeff Daniels is excellent as the understanding, sensible friend who helps him. Susan Sarandon is strong as confused, hurt wife who hangs in there in this funny and sad, but very real life story. Reviewed by Kathy Guyor.

Dogma 'walks' to own songs

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

Walk the Dogma is not a band, it's a political convention floor.

At least that's the case when all five members are gathered together to discuss their music. All told, there are five members, four of which write the songs. Add that up and you have chaos.

"I'm the ref because they won't hit me," said Asta Jurgutis of Farmington Hills, who is the blonde, honey-voiced singer of Walk the Dogma.

Band members say they work under the Democratic principles of one man, one vote.

But, in reality, the Lithuanian opera-trained vocalist is really the power broker of the troupe. When the other four songwriters are done bashing creative heads over a song, Jurgutis takes the finished product and belts it out in high-pitched fashion that could shatter Plexiglas.

Walk the Dogma is a progressive rock band. Then again, what else could one call an outfit where four members take stabs at songwriting?

"I disagree," said Kerry Gluckman, drummer for the group. "I think we're a rock'n'roll band."

Such is life with Walk the Dogma where differences of opinion are the norm. The internal combustion of the group is channeled into some rather heady, pop-rock zap. Gary Sosnick likens it to a cross between the Jefferson Airplane and the Pretenders.

WITH FOUR songwriters, needless to say the product is varied.

People like it. Walk the Dogma recently played before a dancing-mad throng at Alvin's in Detroit. The current game plan includes performing in both Ann Arbor and Detroit regularly along with a Michigan collegiate tour of Kalamazoo (Western Michigan University) and Mt. Pleasant (Central Michigan).

Not bad for a group whose sole intent in the beginning was only to become a better rock band. The nucleus of Walk the Dogma was formed out of the since-departed local outfit, Of All Things.

"Make sure you get this on your tape recorder before it slips my mind," said George Schuster, lead guitarist. "One thing that makes this band have a lot of potential is that your put these five individuals together and what you get out of it is more than five times. It's 10 times."

At least that can be said for the number of different approaches each songwriter takes.

Sosnick likes to swing for the hits. Gluckman goes for the hard-edged approach. Bass and sax man Bill Lamb of Farmington goes for mood pieces.

"For me, the way it comes out is the way it comes out," Schuster said. "If it's good, I'll keep it. If it's bad, I'll put it on tape and throw into the drawer so my grandchildren can laugh at it."

BUT ADDED Jurgutis, ending the debate, "It's still my interpretation.

I take (the song) where I want it to go."

One thing the band does agree on is that they possess a bit more depth than the standard rock'n'roll mish-mash. "Politics of Mind," a song penned by the dry-humored Sosnick, deals with Nicaraguan farmers.

"We cover the usual love and hate," Sosnick said, "then I go for the political juggler."

Which is why, perhaps, the band is a hot commodity on the college circuit. But the group isn't content to appeal to the bookworms of the world. They want their infectious melodies to ring true to the shot-and-beer crowd as well.

"To write far-out songs that no one can understand is missing the point," Schuster said.

Mention frets and Belew frets

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

Let's see. There's Adrian Belew, the songwriter, Adrian Belew, the producer, and Adrian Belew, the singer.

In rock circles, talk always centers on Adrian Belew, the guitarist. Ask local guitar wizards Dave Feeny of the Orange Roughies or Chris Richards of Hippodrome who were their main influences and they'll drop the name of the former member of critically acclaimed art rock group King Crimson.

But mention strings and frets and this man begins to fret.

"I never considered myself as a guitarist, per se," said Belew, whose group the Bears will perform Friday and Saturday at Alvin's in Detroit. "I consider myself a singer, songwriter and a producer."

"When I'm considered as a guitarist I get scared because that puts me in the same league with guys who just practice the guitar all day. I'm not that way."

The guitar and Belew met by accident. Belew happened to pick one up in high school when he was recovering from an illness. He merely wanted to use one to write some songs.

SOON HE found himself totally Adrian Belew (second from right) and The Bears — Bob Nyswonger, Rob Fetters and Chris Arduer — will be at Alvin's in Detroit Friday and Saturday night.

immersed in the guitar music of Jimi Hendrix, Jeff Beck and Cream.

Belew emerged as one of the more innovative guitarists in the 1970s when rock'n'roll was beginning to branch out into an experimental phase. He performed with the likes of David Bowie, Frank Zappa and Talking Heads.

Belew really came to the forefront when he joined forces with Robert Fripp in King Crimson. That period marked a series of highly acclaimed albums, which Belew had a key role in.

Since his days with Crimson, Belew has plunged into a solo career and formed his own band, The Bears. The group has released two albums, including the latest "Rise and Shine."

Belew is also busily working on his next solo LP, which will be out in the spring on Atlantic. Nonetheless, talk quickly reverts back to his days with King Crimson.

"Not only were the people involved amazing, but it was also the first chance for me to step out of the shadows of the role of a side man to the role of a front man," Belew said. "The whole purpose of the band was to stretch our own limitations and stretch the music a bit."

"Even when we did pop songs . . . we did them in the most modern of ways."

BELEW HAS taken that credo with him as a solo performer and with The Bears. Except the group hasn't drawn the praise like King Crimson did. Both Bears' albums haven't been the commercial smashers, either.

Primitive Man, the label for both albums, has been absorbed by its parent company, International Record Syndicate (I.R.S.). Whether or not the Bears will stay with I.R.S. is still in limbo, according to a spokesperson for I.R.S.

"I thought those first two (Bears') albums would do well," Belew said. "There was some pretty straight-forward stuff on there. I can't really figure out the commercial end of it."

The Bears, featuring Adrian Belew, will perform at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday at Alvin's, 5657 Cass, Detroit. Tickets are $12.50 in advance. For more information, call 832-2355.

REVIEWS

THE COURIER SOUNDTRACK

— various artists

We're told "The Courier" is a recently released movie portraying the dangerous drug underworld of Dublin, Ireland.

Foiled on. On first listen to the soundtrack, we thought this was the background music for "Grease III." Do Frankie and Annette have starring roles?

Really, if one is to capture the seriousness of drug crime, you don't include a dose of Mary Poppins pop songs. There are too many soft numbers on the soundtrack for "The Courier" (Virgin).

Unfortunately, it's left up to U2 whose throwaway B-side single, "Walk to the Water" is the most challenging and intriguing tune on the album.

That's not to say there's not some good music here. "Something Happens" unravels the carpet with a fine guitar-infused piece, "Burn Clear." Their second contribution on the disc, "She Came from There," doesn't light any fires.

Also chipping in with some material is Lord John White's melodic guitar offering, "Kill the One You Love," which has an infectious bite to it. As does "Cry Before Dawn," which is haunting with its very slow rhythms.

Of course, Declan MacManus (A.K.A. Elvis Costello) certainly puts things into perspective with his orchestral contribution on this album. His arrangements certainly would seem to capture the atmosphere of the movie setting.

With that said, the selection of artists and songs here is somewhat questionable. For instance, Asian's title track "The Courier" is more of a joke. Here we have lyrics about a drama performed in the syrupy pop style of Debbie Gibson. Hothouse Flowers' "Wild White Horse" is strained to the point of boredom.

And where's In Tua Nua? This soundtrack is on Virgin and In Tua Nua is on the label.

The movie has yet to be seen, but the soundtrack has earned two thumbs down.

JOURNEY OF DREAMS

— Ladysmith
Black Mambazo

So you figured Paul Simon was verry clever and picked up a new band to work with on the "Graceland" LP. Well get this. "Journey of Dreams" is Ladysmith Black Mambazo's 27th album. Most musicians in this industry are happy just to live to be 27.

That this LP is the one that gets them attention is purely an aftermath of Paul Simon and "Graceland."

This fact is not lost on Ladysmith Black Mambazo founder and spokesman, Joseph Shababala. He calls Paul Simon "Vulindela," which means "he who opens the gate." Since the Graceland tour, Black Mambazo has toured all over the world, from the United States through Australia to Europe.

Black Mambazo are far from the excesses of rock'n'roll. Coming from South Africa as they do, they are subject to all the realities of oppression that such an open display of state-sponsored racism entails. This puts the group into a position of having a political power that most career politicians just dream about. Recently, a Black Mambazo concert was the first time that whites and blacks sat together at a performance in the Ladysmith Town Hall.

This political power is not overtly flaunted by the group. Black Mambazo's strength is based more on spiritual convictions and subtlety. Actually, the form of music is called "Isicathamiya," which in Zulu apparently means "to walk on one's toes, lightly."

Unlike other South African notables, King Sunny Ade, Black Mambazo's strength is not its instrumentation, it is the relaxing rhythms and melodies created from layer upon layer of vocals. Anyone who has heard "Rain, Rain, Rain, Beautiful Rain" from their Shaka Zulu LP, which was used by 7-Up in an award-winning commercial, will know what I mean when I say that their vocal melodies can be hypnotic.

This LP won't be featured during any wild parties, but it may be used as a soothing soundtrack for the morning after.

VIVID — Living Colour

Remember when hard rock had meaning? Remember when it had flavor? Today's banal version of heavy guitars pales in comparison.

So along comes Living Colour, who totally breaks down all those barriers. For the time, let's forget the novelty of this being the only black outfit in the white-dominated arena of hard rock.

Living Colour's "Vivid" (Epic) passes with flying colors. There's feeling here, there's bite here — unheard of in most guitar-gutted offerings where spandex and wild hairdos dominate.

The reason why, perhaps, stems from Living Colour's varied musical backgrounds in jazz, funk and reggae. They don't ignore those elements, instead incorporating them into their music in all the right places. But don't misunderstand, Living Colour is loud by any metal head's standard.

At the forefront is the guitarist virtuoso Vernon Reid, who certainly ranks as one of the best and innovative axemen going today (are you listening Eddie Van Halen?).

Reid milks every note for what it's worth, sounding like a heavy metal Carlos Santana. The avenue of hard rock serves the inner-city frustration Living Colour articulates at high volume. There's nary a cliché in songs like "Open Letter (to a Landlord)" and "Broken Hearts."

Mick Jagger guests as producer, but really lets Living Colour do its thing in driving, funk-infused tunes like "Glamour Boys" and "Which Way to America?" Living Colour touches on the anomaly of being a black hard rock band in "Funky Vibe." "No, I'm not gonna rob you/No, I'm not gonna beat you/No, I'm not gonna rape you/So why you want to give me that Funky Vibe?"

You might want to give this album a spin instead.

"SOME OF the stores have really found it convenient, other stores have found it's not cost effective," Bailey said. "But for the consumer, it's been wonderful."

One reason for the law was to combat the "worst-case scenario" where a business would change the computer pricing during peak periods to reap higher profits.

Some items, like fresh fruit and penny candy, do not need to be individually priced, Bailey said. The list of exempt items should be available at the store manager's office.

Kroger's Evolution store is "hopefully" coming to the Detroit metropolitan area in a few years, Reed said.

CHANGES IN supermarkets follow changes in lifestyles, said Paul Coleman, Great Scott! communications director.

The Great Scott! on Maple in Birmingham looks like something from "The Jetsons." Who needs a clerk for directions? This store has neon lights flashing on and off showing confused shoppers where the departments are. Television screens even tell and show you how to prepare your purchases.

Microwave and precooked products are growing in popularity to help the hurried eater who wants fresh food and doesn't feel like cooking.

"People have less and less time a day and spend less and less time a supermarket and cooking traditional meals," Coleman said.

Who would have thought 20 years ago the cash register would tell you? In each Great Scott! store scanner reads the Uniform Price Code, and a computerized voice c out the item and price. The computer lists the product on the register and helps management keep inventory.

But as much as things seem change they stay the same. Worst still do the whopping majority — percent — of grocery shoppers

Montgomery said, quoting from a P & P survey.

Video tape rentals: Rocky road at first

(AP) — Renting a favorite movie to play on a VCR is as easy as making a trip to the local video store and plunking down a couple of bucks. But the entrepreneurs who came up with the idea of renting pre-recorded videocassettes to consumers faced enormous opposition in the beginning.

An article in the current issue of Video Magazine by James Lardner traces the colorful history of home video rental.

Andre Blay, a Michigan-based businessman, first came up with the idea of selling videotapes of movies to consumers, an idea that challenged the old Hollywood policy of never parting with the rights to a movie.

Taking out a $65,000 ad in TV Guide, Blay launched a direct-mail operation called the Video Club of America. By March 1978, Blay's company had sold 40,000 cassettes. Most of Blay's customers were retailers who were buying the cassettes and selling them to consumers.

On the other side of the country, a man named George Atkinson was gearing up to start his own video club. It was Atkinson who first came up with the notion, for a $50 membership fee, of renting the videotapes rather than selling them. Atkinson worried that he may be breaking the law by renting, and contacted the movie companies to ask if it would be an infringement of the law. Nobody could say for sure.

THE BUSINESS thrived. After the movie companies saw the enormous success that Atkinson and other early renters were having, the studios decided to try to get a piece of the rental action.

They tried to put pressure on Atkinson by cutting off his source of supply. Atkinson, however, got around the ban by buying his tapes from other retailers rather than directly from the studios.

The studios then tried other schemes to participate in rental revenue. Retailers, however, preferred the way Atkinson did business and rejected the studios' efforts by boycotting individual releases. The studios quickly relented.

Today, tape rental has become a way of life for most Americans. The biggest problem renters have, in fact, is being able to rent the title they'd like when they'd like from their local video rental store.

Drew Barrymore won people's hearts with her portrayal of Gertie in Steven Spielberg's "E.T. The Extra-Terrestrial," but not like the alien creature whose likeness was reproduced on everything from T-shirts to dolls.

For love of 'E.T.' spells big bucks

By Janice Brunson
staff writer

"E.T. The Extra-Terrestrial," a heart-warming story of love between a young boy and visitor from another planet, has shattered records in advanced sales of home videos, with release still nearly two weeks away.

More than 10.6 million copies of the delightful film by Steven Spielberg have already been sold. Cassettes will be available to consumers Oct. 28. They are being released by MCA Home Video.

"The number is staggering, the dream of dreams," said Mark Hayden of Chicago-based Blockbuster Midwest, a nationwide video distributor with 17 outlets in the metropolitan Detroit area.

"The number is a record by far. A huge, huge title might sell 5 million. This is already double," Hayden said.

So far, area Blockbuster outlets have each sold an estimated 300 copies of "E.T." at a discounted price of $22.46. Sales have been strongest in the Birmingham, West Bloomfield and Livonia outlets. Advance sales are normally slower in the Westland and Garden City outlets, according to Hayden.

EACH YEAR, Blockbuster purchases two to three titles for advanced-sale campaigns. "E.T." and "Cinderella" are the selections this year. Hayden expects "E.T." sales to top 30,000 copies here.

"It's hot, both in sales and rentals," said Frank Barbat of the "E.T."

video. Barbat owns Video House, an area chain of 27 rental shops and Video House Wholesale, which supplies both Barbat's shops and another 130 video rental stores.

Barbat has stocked 5,000 copies of "E.T." and expects to sell them all. Video House, located in such communities as Bloomfield Township, Southfield and Canton, has priced the video at $19.95 each. The price is $5 less than the suggested retail price by MCA.

The reduced rate "is a draw for new customers. Plus, we like to give something to our old customers," Barbat said. He must also compete with prices offered by low-priced department stores like Target and K mart which are offering "E.T." videos at $14.95 each.

Any U.S. consumer may receive a $5 rebate on a sale price of $24.95 by purchasing one of a myriad of Pepsi-Cola products and submitting proof of purchase with a completed rebate form. The offer is good through Jan. 10, 1989.

MCA VIDEO and Amblin Entertainment, which owns the film, stand to make well over $100 million in profit on the sale of "E.T." videos which, since May, have been marketed worldwide. A portion of the proceeds will be contributed to the Special Olympics, according to a spokeswoman for MCA in California.

Originally released in 1982, Spielberg's "E.T." is the top grossing film of all time, amassing a staggering $700 million in box office revenues. An estimated 240 million people have paid to see the film.

It's Go Blue mania, but how do you get there?

By Jeff Counts
staff writer

The best place to watch a University of Michigan football game? "On television," answered one veteran sportswriter in Ann Arbor. But just remember, that comes from a sportswriter who has over the years overdosed on maize, blue and Bo.

Too much M-E-E-E-E-E-E-E-E-E-I-C-H-E-I-G-A-N football? Maybe for that writer and others living in the shadow of Michigan Stadium.

But for the rest of us, there's nothing more fun than recharging our collegiate batteries with an afternoon of Go Blue mania, even if we never got closer to Michigan's campus for a class than an evening at a college tavern.

But before you go, there are some numbers to remember. No, they aren't the players or the team stats.

The figure 104,000 should stick in your head. That's the number of people that the stadium holds. Then there's M-14 — it's not a score — it's a freeway and it takes you quickly into Ann Arbor land.

HOWEVER, there has been road work going on where M-14 intersects with U.S. 23, although not on football days. A quick way to avoid the traffic is by exiting south off of M-14 onto U.S. 23, and then getting off on the Plymouth Road exit.

U-M fans that favor M-14 include the likes of Greg Housman of Livonia, Gary Wight of Farmington and Kim Budnick of Birmingham.

Munching on a tailgate menu of barbecued hamburgers, potato salad, cole slaw, beans, cheese and snacks, Housman shared his secret route to the home of the maize and blue — M-14 to Maple and Maple to Stadium.

Wight, whose bill of fare placed an emphasis on chili — chili dogs, chili soup and snacks — takes M-14 to Main Street and Main to Pioneer High School, where he stakes out a spot to park and picnic.

Budnick's route is a bit more complicated, partly because she stops to pick up friends in Ypsilanti. While her companions dined on pasta salad, ham and roast beef sandwiches, herring and gouda cheese, she dictated her route: M-14 to Geddes Road to the Huron Parkway to Geddes Avenue to Hill Court to Main.

There's one die-hard fan who opted for the M-14 to U.S. 23 — Marvin Bauer, who works for Tutt and Associates in Farmington Hills.

His route reads like a list of who's who of suburban freeways. He starts with I-696, moves over to I-275, switches to M-14 and then hops on U.S. 23. No wonder he dines on cold cuts, cheese and snacks. There's no time to warm up the barbecue before the game.

SPEAKING of Plymouth Road, it's another route that provides more than just a ride — there's some scenery. And the ride from Plymouth is the kind that gets one in the mood for an afternoon of football.

There's no Astro-turf-like scenery on Plymouth, once you get past the town. It's open land and at least one centennial farm house to see on this route. The farm house is on the south side of Plymouth Road just west of Ford Road.

And the route runs through Dixboro, your basic cute little town on the outskirts of Ann Arbor.

Plymouth runs into Main in Ann Arbor, and much of the traffic congestion starts there. Try a parallel route. The traffic often comes to a stand still on Main, while the traffic moves freely on sidestreets.

It seems only natural that Ron Lukasik would take Plymouth Road to Main Street in Ann Arbor and Pioneer High School. He lives in Plymouth.

The most unusual route has to be that of Mike and Barbara Kirby of Livonia. They take Seven Mile Road to Pinckney then cut through Dexter to Ann Arbor. They take the same route for every U-M game, but there's a reason for it — their tailgate party includes friends from Pinckney.

And while sometimes the starting quarterback may be a question mark for a Saturday, parking is the real question mark.

To pay or not to pay is a question to grapple with. It's also a question that divides the young from the middle age.

AT LAST year's Notre Dame game, I decided to join the middle age crowd, and would never go back. I paid to park. Faced with taking a son in a cast and on crutches to the game, I decided that I wanted to get as close to the stadium as possible.

The cost: $5. The result: I zipped in and zipped out. I can't remember the score of the game, but I do know I'd pay again.

But if one is into prestige parking, there's the Victors' lot, but it's only open to members of the alumni club, said Chris Hill, of the Athletic Information Department at U-M.

Parking is also available at the U-M Golf Course near the stadium, he said, adding that access to the course is off of State Street or Stadium.

"The best bet is to get there early," Hill said. "About an hour and a half before the game is about right."

But to really get the choice spots for tailgate parties, 9 a.m. is about right, he said. As for tailgate fare, it ranges from deli sandwiches and Franklin Mill cider brought in from the Detroit suburbs to cold filet sandwiches and crudites.

And on the subject of parties, there is no alcohol allowed in the stadium, Hill said.

"The only thing you can bring in is a six-pack size cooler," he said. "The guards will take anything larger."

BUT GOING dry and staying dry are two different things. Michigan weather being what it will, rain often can drench a crowd unexpectedly.

Ponchos can be purchased at the stadium, but plastic garbage bags are cheaper and you don't have to carry them.

But as the weather gets worse for the Minnesota game on Nov. 5 and the Illinois game on Nov. 12, and the layers of clothing come on, just remember the words of the sage sports writer — television.

(Emory Daniels contributed to this story.)

The pitfalls of driving to Ann Arbor

University of Michigan football fans need to add some driving time to their game schedule this year because of road work being done in the Ann Arbor area.

The Michigan Department of Transportation recommends that motorists avoid a seven-mile section of U.S. 23 on the east end of the city from south of Plymouth Road to I-94 where construction work is expected to slow traffic.

Traffic has been reduced to one lane in both directions on the U.S.

23 bridge at the Huron River between Geddes Road and Wash- tenaw Avenue, according to the MDOT.

The MDOT suggested routes from the Detroit area are:

- M-14 to Main Street in Ann Arbor.
- I-94 business loop.
- U.S. 23 south to the Plymouth Road exit.
- I-94 to State or Saline exits in Ann Arbor.

Shuttle bus services also are available to the stadium on football Saturdays from the Ann Arbor Transportation Authority. The bus pickup points are:

- At Plymouth Road near U.S. 23, the Red Roof Inn, Marriott Inn and Domino's Farms.
- At State Street off I-94, Bombay Bicycle Club, Sheraton Inn and Wolverine Inn.
- At Huron Street off I-94, Weber's Inn, Holiday Inn West and the Comfort Inn.

Amazing grace or how I 'found' Elvis at Graceland

By Roberts Schwartz
special writer

Graceland Mansion smells like a funeral home 11 years after Elvis Presley's death.

When the front door opens, the scent of dried flowers and stale air pour out into the humid Memphis afternoon.

I never thought of myself as an Elvis fan, but southern cooking, elegant museums and curiosity drew me to Graceland during Elvis International Tribute Week.

Heartbreak Hotel Restaurant, a dozen shops and the seven-room Lisa Marie Jet show how the entertainer has become a cottage industry. Pink Cadillacs for $40, $10 for T-shirts and Elvis photo buttons clutter the stores. Even in death, Elvis is still making money for his managers.

Once Marilyn Monroe said super stardom meant being turned into a thing. Day after day, tourists line up to see Elvis' hall of gold records, guitars and even his wedding cake and Army uniform.

The Graceland staff say that the museum benefits thousands of tourists. So far 2 1/2 million have paid $7.50 to see the house and memorial garden with four graves beside the pool. Two planes, a tour bus and two shows bring in still more cash.

A stable of horses and one beautiful pony that Lisa Marie Presley rode a week before the international tribute week keeps the legend alive as Graceland folks say. Elvis' Aunt Delta lives at the mansion in a small room off the kitchen.

ELVIS' PRESENCE looms over Memphis. He's the solitary figure on the famous gate with its musical notes and love messages scribbled by fans. A mature Elvis looks out on Beale Street from his sculptured perch in Presley Park.

Graceland Enterprises conducts tours through the historic district where Elvis learned about the blues. Fans march past W.C. Handy's statue and a pawn shop turned into Handy Hall. The facade of an old building leans on timber supports waiting for restoration.

Schwab's dime store.

The cleanup goes on in this district littered with bins of junk.

The wire service wrote that 35,000 filed past Elvis' grave at the 11th anniversary service. At 10 p.m., the crowd looked like about 5,000. Some fans had stood in the sun since noon and when a torch lit from the eternal flame at the grave passed through the crowd, thousands of candles illuminated Elvis Presley Boulevard.

Media guides advised the press that no interviews would be allowed in the Meditation Gardens or along the procession. A spokesman advised the crowd that rumors that Elvis is alive in Kalamazoo were in bad taste and painful to the fans.

WHEN THE press went through the gates ahead of the line, fans grumbled: "They must be part of the family."

As the procession began, two women marched, supporting each other, before the cameras of Fox Television. A local station stood by with a monitor as the anchor waited to cut into the Republican convention and go with a live report.

Colored lights made the white pillars of Graceland seem like some macabre Halloween house. Hundreds of candles in single file flickered as the mourners solemnly made their way up the drive as cameras clicked.

At the grave site, an unsteady Aunt Delta appeared. She was supported on the arm of a male friend. Her bright red dress blended with hundreds of paper hearts, flowers and Confederate flags.

After the reading of the 23rd Psalm by a Graceland representative who also spoke on the theme of loving Elvis forever, someone from the crowd shouted, "Let's move. Priscilla is watching us on television."

By the time they reached the graves, the two women in the lead were in tears. Old people, children who weren't born when Elvis died, many invalids and quite a few grandmothers left gifts or took pictures of the grave on the one day when no admission is charged.

Many cried. All paused to reflect. When "Are You Lonesome Tonight" floated through the air, I was embarrassed to be in tears.

I'VE NEVER owned a Presley record, but the starkness and simplicity of the ballad reminded me of a rather poor, underfed Elvis Presley. It brought back the face in the photo at Sun Records and the nervous falsetto voice on an early recording.

A picture of father and son beside Elvis' mother's grave shows how truly alone the two men felt and how close together death brought them. "He had a God-given talent," Vernon Presley wrote on his son's marker. "We miss you, son."

Increasing profits

Q. I am a subcontractor and it seems I make too many trips to jobs. How can I do better?

A. A case in point was a master electrician who was careful to let me know he had a large contract to wire a condo project and how insignificant my job was. On his first trip I showed him my list, but he didn't take it or write it down. I have noticed this particularly among independent contractors and other service people — many of whom profess to be too busy to get to your work.

He made a second trip on a Saturday afternoon, repeating his workload complaints, apologizing for not having the fixtures with him, and again kept a short step ahead of the carpenters. On his third trip he finally installed the needed fixtures, explaining he would have to finish extra details later. On his last trip he still didn't have time to complete the job and had "forgotten" some of the details we had agreed upon. (I've finally hired someone else to finish up.)

Since his shop was 35 miles away through slow traffic, it took my electrician about 1½ hours for each round trip. At that rate he spent six hours driving — 4½ of which were unnecessary (besides the time for his many scheduling calls to me and the carpenters.)

Additionally, each time he spent a few minutes chatting, reconfirming what needed to be done and unloading and reloading equipment. By adding 15 minutes "prep time" each time, I figure he wasted another 45 minutes, for a total of five hours and 15 minutes. If he manages all his time so poorly, it's no wonder he's behind and feeling frustrated.

Conversely, my kitchen remodelers (Cabinet Craft of Drayton Plains) took the time to go over every detail, make careful measurements and wrote everything down on their first visit. They planned carefully, never wasted a minute I could see and completed an excellent job.

While most contractors and service people do an excellent job, careful planning could help others to decrease stress and increase output and profits.

condo queries
Robert M. Melsner

Q. In our particular conversion, do I need to concern myself with who the developer is in the sense that it is a corporation that I have not heard of before, even though one of the persons involved with the developer has had a good deal of experience in developing condominiums. I have heard something about a shell corporation, can you elaborate?

A. Unfortunately for the consumer, many condominium developers use separate corporate entities to develop their condominium projects. Sometimes these corporations are thinly capitalized and are dissolved after the completion of the condominium project. If the condominium project experiences problems, the developer may threaten the co-owners with the fact that the "developer entity" is uncollectible and/or non-existent. While there are means to try to circumvent that condition to pursue the developer, personally you should be wary of that situation when considering the purchase of a condominium.

If the developer has a track record of being sued in various other projects, particularly in the conversion context, there may be a pattern of conduct which has been established about which you should know in making your decision about whether to buy a condominium unit.

Q. I have purchased a condominium unit from a developer in a conversion project. Since the association took over, the assessments have nearly tripled over a period of three years. The developer, through a sales agent, promised me that we would be able to live within the budget that the developer prepared without any real increase. I am on a fixed income and find this to be real hard to deal with. What is my recourse?

A. Chances are you share the problem with many other co-owners in your condominium regarding what looks like to have been a low-balling by the developer of the true amount of assessments needed to adequately run the association. Typically, in conversions there is a need to establish a substantial reserve for repairs and replacements because of the normal "use" of the common elements.

Unfortunately, many times over the years, developers have tended to underestimate, either intentionally or negligently, the amount of assessments which would be needed by the association to adequately run the affairs of the condominium. I would suggest that you get together with the board of directors of your association and ascertain, with the benefit of legal assistance, whether or not you have a basis to pursue the developer for misrepresentation by way of low-balling as well as other legal doings.

Pitching the Fairways

THE FAIRWAYS, Troy's first luxury condominium townhouse community in 10 years, features classically designed, eastern seaboard architecture in private, garden settings. In a city with a dramatic scarcity of zoned, developable land, the Fairways sets a new standard for ranch and townhouse condominium communities in the low-to-mid-$100,000 market.

The private Fairways community is in north Troy on the east side of Rochester Road north of Long Lake Road, directly across from Sylvan Glen Golf Course. Developer Holtzman & Silverman/The Fisher Group has begun construction of The Fairways, and first resident occupancy is expected in winter 1988/1989. The on-site sales center opened Sept. 18, with complete information packages available.

The Fairways residences feature distinctive exteriors designed of brick, limestone and siding in a classical architectural style accented by shuttered, multipaned and Palladian-inspired windows as well as skylights. Taking full advantage of their orientation to a variety of scenic, natural site features, The Fairways townhouses benefit from maximum exposure to ponds, streams, woods and landscaped open spaces, which comprise approximately 75 percent of the property. The ponds, accented by fountains, traverse the grounds, while landscaped perimeters are The Fairways boundaries.

The Fairways community contains 100 luxury townhouses in 17 one- and two-story buildings. Townhouse residences range in size from 1,400 square feet to over 2,000 square feet. Preview prices will range from $126,000 to $172,000. A variety of one- and two-story floor plans includes a choice of two or three bedrooms, two-to-three ½ baths, with two car garages and full basements.

ALL RESIDENCES FEATURE separate living and dining areas, custom kitchens with spacious breakfast nooks, vaulted ceilings, fireplaces, first-floor laundry areas, private decks and courtyards. Interiors throughout feature premium finishes and many custom-quality features. All underground utilities are provided for gas, electricity, telephone, cable television, sewer and water.

Each residence originates with a private courtyard or enclosed staircase entrance and extends through the home to conclude with views of landscaped open space at the private deck. Each townhouse is situated to offer expansive views of surrounding meadows, woods and water.

ON THE HOUSE

THE COUNTER OFFER

QUESTION: I received a written offer to purchase my property. What happens to the original offer if I make a counter offer?

ANSWER: A counter offer is a combination of a rejection of the initial offer and a new offer by the seller. When the seller demands a higher price, more down payment, or different terms, the buyer's original offer is automatically cancelled. In effect, this may burn bridges behind you. If the buyer refuses your counter offer, there is no way you can force him to make good on the original offer because it will have been wiped out with the rejection and counter offer. This is a tricky area of negotiation that calls for expert advice.

Seminar to show how to install brick walkways

A hands-on seminar for do-it-yourselfers interested in learning how to install decorative brick walkways is being offered by Soulliere Decorative Stone Inc. from noon to 3 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 15, at the company office, 4452 Twenty-two Mile Road, Utica.

There is no charge for the seminar. A small walkway will be installed from start to finish, showing the homeowner how to approach each step. Literature and material lists will be available.

For more information, call 739-0020.

Fingerprints to protect roses

ROSE leaves can be "fingerprinted" so that each of the thousands of rose plant varieties may be specifically identified. This will protect patents for the $44 million annual rose industry.

"For the first time, we can now accurately distinguish one rose variety from another," said Charles R. Krause, U.S. Department of Agriculture plant pathologist. Heretofore, the only way to identify varieties was to rely on a specialist's opinion.

Krause magnified a rose leaf 10,000 to 20,000 times with a scanning electron microscope that projects onto a screen an electronic image that can be photographed. The highly magnified image shows that openings in the leaf, called stomata, have different shapes depending on plant variety.

The seven-year research fingerprinting project at the USDA Nursery Crops Laboratory at Delaware, Ohio, should aid in patent application and patent infringement law suits, Krause said.

MOTORCYCLISTS, OFTEN portrayed as damaging terrain, have volunteered to help maintain trails and do other conservation work in the National Forest Service system.

The American Motorcyclist Association, which has 20 million members, has signed an agreement with the Forest Service — the first nationwide pact made as part of the "Take Pride in America" program.

Forest Service chief F. Dale Robertson said he hoped the agreement would encourage millions of trail-bikers to help enhance the more than 15,000 miles of trail that are open to motorized vehicles in national forests. Motorcyclists interested should contact area National Forest Service offices.

The "Take Pride in America" program promotes the stewardship of the nation's natural resources and encourages safe and proper land use.

Earl Aronson

SCIENTISTS ARE fermenting good molds so that they multiply, putting them in powders, sprays or pellets and returning them to the soil to attack disease molds that can jeopardize farm and garden harvests.

George Papavizas, a plant pathologist at the U.S. Department of Agriculture, has been identifying beneficial molds in the "soil war." He says crops succumb to some 50 kinds of soil molds and a few types of bacteria. About $4 billion worth of crops are lost yearly, never making it to market, he said.

The scientists envision a farmer or gardener selecting a good mold to attack a specific fungal disease of crops. A company would package and sell the mold, for example, in non-toxic pellets.

"Safe, non-polluting disease control sometimes lasts for several seasons," Papavizas says of tests at the Beltsville, Md., research center.

Fairways opens

Completely furnished model residences will be open for viewing at The Fairways soon. The model interiors will be designed by the award-winning interior designer, Sara Olesker of Sara Olesker Ltd., Chicago. Olesker specializes in interpreting the nation's latest design themes for today's sophisticated home buyer.

The Fairways townhouses were created to answer the area's substantial demand for high-quality houses with the many benefits and amenities of condominium ownership. Many buyers will benefit financially from buying a townhouse at The Fairways as an alternative to renting, or as a release from the demands of a large detached house in favor of maintenance-free condominium living.

CONTRIBUTING TO THE exclusive quality of life at The Fairways are many special community features. The Fairway's private gatehouse entries from tree-lined roads open into brick-paved, extensively landscaped boulevards. A private clubhouse provides residents a two-story greatroom with fireplace, gourmet kitchen, men's and women's locker rooms, sauna, professionally equipped exercise room, exterior sundeck and swimming pool overlooking a natural pond with fountain. Additional resort-class amenities for resident enjoyment include an oversized spa pool, competition-class tennis court and jogging trails.

Residents of The Fairways will benefit from living in the heart of the region's diverse employment, educational, recreational and health care centers. Nearby highways, including I-75 and M-59, provide convenient access to the entire metropolitan area. Just minutes away are the offices and stores of the Golden Corridor in Troy, as well as Birmingham and Bloomfield. Nearby corporate headquarters include K mart Corp., Volkswagen of America and Ameritech. Area shopping centers include Somerset Mall with many fine shops and restaurants, as well as Oakland Mall featuring more than 100 shops and services.

The Fairways preview sales center is on Rochester Road, just south of Square Lake Road. Sales center hours are daily from 12 to 6 p.m. For a private appointment to preview The Fairways, contact Matthew Holtzman, 879-0900.
