The Rev. Francis Byrne

Former Counsel pastor dies

Funeral services for the Rev. Francis Byrne, pastor emeritus at Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic Church in Plymouth, will be conducted at 11 a.m. Thursday at the church, 1160 Penniman, Plymouth.

Byrne, 85, died Sunday at St. Mary Hospital, Livonia, after a brief illness.

Byrne was pastor at Good Counsel for 20 years during times of tremendous growth in the parish. He continued to live in the rectory after his official retirement in 1973.

Even in retirement, Byrne remained involved in the parish and community.

"HE WAS pretty active on communion calls, saying Mass, hearing confessions on a regular basis even though he was in his 80s," said the Rev. Joseph Plawewski, associate pastor at Good Counsel. "He was always visiting people, always in touch with people of the parish."

"He was very much loved by the parishioners," Plawewski said.

Byrne also had a great sense of humor.

When asked in an interview a year and a half ago whether he was related to another Byrne in the area he said with a smile, "Only by Adam."

Byrne was born 1903 in Milford to Patrick and Verone Byrne.

He graduated from the University of Detroit and attended Mount St. Mary's seminary in suburban Cincinnati. He was ordained to the priesthood in 1930.

Byrne served the Archdiocese of Detroit at three other parishes before coming to Good Counsel.

A banquet was held in Byrne's honor in 1980 to celebrate his 27th anniversary at Good Counsel. Earlier that year, Byrne celebrated his 50th year in the priesthood with a Jubilee Mass and reception.

Byrne was a longtime supporter of the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra. He also liked to swim and play tennis.

Byrne will lie in state at the Schrader Funeral Home noon to 9 p.m. Tuesday. A rosary will be recited at 7:30 p.m.

Byrne will be received at the church at 10 a.m. Wednesday and will remain there until the funeral Mass of the Resurrection Thursday. A rosary also will be recited at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Burial will be in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery, Southfield.

Private schools avoid MEAP

By Tom Henderson
staff writer

Only a small percentage of private schools choose to participate in the Michigan Educational Assessment Program (MEAP) tests. According to administrators of many private schools in western Wayne County, the tests are too easy for their students.

"That's absolutely true. That's one of the reasons a lot of schools stopped taking it. What does it mean when all your students score 99?" said John Klipp, superintendent of the 64,000 students in the Catholic schools of the archdiocese of Detroit.

"One of the purposes of testing is to show you who needs help. But if everybody scores 99, what are you learning? The test is not discriminating enough," said Klipp.

The MEAP tests are mandatory for fourth, seventh and 10th graders

MEAP receives, delivers criticism

By Pat Murphy
staff writer

When area teachers talk about science proficiency, sooner or later the conversation turns to MEAP, or the Michigan Educational Assessment Program.

In one form or another, MEAP has been in most public and some private schools for almost two decades, giving tests to more than a million elementary, middle and high school students.

Thus, in September, when the national science report card concluded that students were not getting adequate training in science, administrators in Oakland and Wayne counties were not particularly surprised.

In Oakland County two years ago, science: an educational

37 percent of 13,635 10th-grade students could not correctly answer half of the test's objectives.

In Wayne County, more than 60 percent of the 10th-grade students could not answer correctly on half the objectives.

On a statewide basis, about 44 percent of 119,247 students scored at comparable levels.

The results were cause for concern, educators said, because MEAP tests are intended to measure "minimal" or "essential" science knowledge. The questions weren't as difficult nor as challenging as those on the SAT (Scholastic Aptitude Test) or ACT (American College Test) required for admission in most colleges.

But MEAP did more than provide a statistical handle on a complex problem. MEAP tests — especially the relatively low science scores — sent shock waves throughout much of the educational community.

IF THE 1986 MEAP science test had been an earthquake, it would have measured about 6.0 on the

Major crime categories drop 13 percent in city

Second in a series.

By Doug Funke
staff writer

If you were to guess that there wouldn't be much serious crime in a small, middle class suburban city known for its quaint downtown, tree-lined streets and family-oriented special events, you'd be right on the mark as far as Plymouth is concerned.

Crime last year in five major categories — burglary, larceny, auto theft, felonious assault and robbery — decreased by 13 percent compared to 1987, according to figures provided by city police.

Moreover, only 305 incidents were reported in those five classifications during the entire year. That averages to less than one a day.

The breakdown, with corresponding 1987 figures in parentheses, for comparison:

- Larceny — 214 (256).
- Burglary — 63 (58).
- Auto theft — 20 (25).
- Felonious assault — 7 (9).
- Robbery — 1 (2).

THERE WERE no murders in either '88 or '87.

Four criminal sexual conducts were reported last year, eight in 1987.

Reported incidents of malicious destruction of property decreased to 160 incidents last year from 184 in 1987.

Disorderly conduct (excluding trespassing, loitering, obstructing a police officer and indecent exposure) dropped to 70 incidents last year from 187 in 1987.

Teens held in BB spree

By Doug Funke
staff writer

Plymouth Township police have caught up with two teens who were involved in a recent BB shooting spree in which three young people were shot in the township and city of Plymouth.

No one was seriously injured. The suspects, both 16, will be referred to Wayne County juvenile authorities, said Erik Mayernik, township police investigator. One of the two has admitted to the three shootings, Mayernik said.

Police declined to identify the youths due to their ages.

"I think he (the shooter) will be placed on probation and the court will probably order some kind of help for him," Mayernik said.

The driver of the car from which the shots were fired, which belonged to his mother, probably also will get some kind of probation, Mayernik said.

POLICE WERE tipped about the youths by an administrator at Plymouth Canton High School who overheard a conversation among students about the incidents.

One of the two suspects is a student there. The other isn't attending school now, Mayernik said.

The shooter told police he recently persuaded a customer whom he didn't know to buy the BB pistol for him at the Canton Meijer's store. He kept the gun under his mattress.

You must be at least 18 to buy a BB gun in Michigan, Mayernik said. The shootings were random, he said.

Surplus budget slated for city

By Doug Funke
staff writer

The city of Plymouth is doing just fine this budget year if measured by amendments to the financial plan approved last week by the city commission.

While revenues in the $5.7 million general fund are now expected to decrease some $62,000, expenditures are projected to decline by about $120,400.

The bottom line is an anticipated surplus of $58,400.

The city's budget year runs July 1 through June 30. "I'm encouraged so far," said William Graham, finance director. "Some people look at a budget as a basic guide, some a hard-line management tool. I look at the latter."

ELIMINATING loan proceeds and expenditures whacked $220,000 from both the revenue

City finances looking good

and expenditure sides of the ledger. The loan proceeds actually were received and spent late in the 1987-88 budget year, Graham said.

Other categories within expenditures and revenues fluctuated.

On the expenditure side:

- Main Street cruising enforcement expenses will decrease by an estimated $30,800 from what was originally budgeted. Fewer temporary officers were hired last summer and even fewer are expected this year.

- Fees paid to contractors for building inspections will increase by some $16,400.

- Legal expenses will increase by an estimated $15,000, mainly due to on-going discussions with the state DNR about problems over a landfill owned by the city, Graham said.

- Liability insurance premiums will increase by $45,000.

AS FOR REVENUE, estimates are that property taxes will bring in $41,000, fines from district court $35,000, building permits $25,000 and state revenue sharing $20,000 more than was initially budgeted.

However, those and increases in other revenue sources are expected to be more than offset by wiping from the ledger the loan proceeds and an anticipated fund balance of $29,300 that weren't really there at the beginning of the budget year.

THE $58,400 surplus now expected this budget year, coupled with an actual surplus of $7,400 entering the year would leave a surplus of $65,800.

Graham's goal for a cushion against emergencies is 5 percent of the annual general fund budget. That would call for a current surplus of $285,000 — far from what actually is.

"I would expect a surplus could be built through good fiscal management ever so slowly," Graham said.

ONE VICTIM, a 14 year old, was struck as he was rode a bicycle on Mill near Fair in the city of Plymouth. A 12 year old was hit while playing basketball in his driveway on Ivywood in Plymouth Township. A 9 year old was struck while walking home from school in the vicinity of Appletree and Gov. Bradford in the township.

"When I asked him why he did it, he looked up at me and said, 'Because I wanted to,'" Mayernik said.

"His parents were here last night with him," Mayernik said Friday. "They're very upset. They're knocking themselves silly to get the kid back on the right track. I think their son has fallen into the wrong peer group."

Richter scale — not potent enough to cause serious damage generally, but strong enough to shake things up.

"The MEAP tests got people up in arms," said M. Cherie Cornick, consultant to the Michigan Department of Education. "Before the tests came out, people seemed more concerned about the football team or the marching band. But when the test results came out, they started thinking about science and math."

Not everybody had that reaction, of course. Some educators complained the test was inappropriate and didn't accurately measure what students knew in science.

The director of science curriculum for the Troy School District, for example, noted that many schools have switched to a "hands-on" emphasis on science, while MEAP tests still measure information learned by rote, or from lectures or books.

"MEAP" doesn't really measure what youngsters learn with the "hands-on" approach to science," said Barbara A. Berthelsen, who also teaches biology in the Troy district. "I do not consider the MEAP tests to be a valid measure of what students know."

Criticism similar to Berthelsen's has been expressed in many parts of the state at different levels of the educational community. Students, teachers and administrators question the validity of MEAP tests.

One administrator said MEAP may have inadvertently contributed to low science scores by not emphasizing that discipline years ago, rather than within the last five years or so.

NOTING THAT EARLY MEAP examinations omitted science, Don Griffin, consultant to the Wayne County Intermediate District, said perhaps state officials sent the wrong message by initially testing for math and reading, but not science.

Griffin was referring to the fact that MEAP tested for math and reading skills for more than 15 years before 1986, when officials first tried to measure science proficiency on an all-pupil basis.

Last fall was only the second time that MEAP tests tried to assess science proficiency on an all-pupil basis.

By neglecting to test for science, MEAP was saying science was not as important as math and reading, said Griffin. "They relegated science and the teaching of science to the back burner," he said.

Not everybody agrees with Griffin's assessment. But they generally agree MEAP tests are a flawed ruler by which to measure science knowledge or proficiency.

"Most educators recognize that MEAP tests are not perfect," said David C. Housel, one of two science consultants to Oakland schools. "Many educators regard MEAP tests as a thorn in the side. But they're a thorn people must live with. They're a thorn that raises public awareness."

MEAP officials are aware of the criticism, but defend the tests while acknowledging they must be refined and updated from time to time.

"We know the tests are not perfect," said Geraldine J. Coleman, state MEAP coordinator. "But we are making them better. We review them and make adjustments, but it takes time to make changes, usually three to five years."

Faults or no faults, MEAP tests are still a vital part of evaluating school programs, Coleman said.

Flawed or not, MEAP tests shake teachers and parents out of any apathy, she said. They prompt parents to clamor for more and better science.

"And we all know the squeaky wheel gets the grease," she said. "And what gets tested gets taught."

Private schools avoiding MEAP

in public schools. They are optional for the state's private schools. Of the more than 313,000 students who took the tests last fall, only about 9,200, or 2.9 percent, were in private schools.

And of the 106,500 10th graders who took the test, only 1,500 (1.4 percent) were in private schools.

Locally, of the 25 private schools contacted, just five took the MEAP tests. All 25 took part in other standardized tests such as the Stanford Achievement Test, Iowa Test of Basic Skills, PSAT, SAT, ACT and the preliminary ACT.

All Catholic schools must participate in the spring in tests of first, third, fifth and seventh graders by American Testronics. Individual schools can choose to add other tests, such as MEAP.

OVER AND OVER, administrators at private schools say that MEAP is too easy for their students.

"They don't fit in with the testing program we've initiated here," said Ross Stueber, principal of 260 students at Westland Lutheran High School. "MEAP only tests minimal objectives. We prefer to use higher standards here. And other tests give us more data."

"Kids here just sail right through that test. They just go right through it like it's nothing," said Phil Heyer, head of counseling at Catholic Central in Redford Township. "It has very little use for us. Our kids are mostly college prep and that test isn't geared for them."

"We did participate (in MEAP) once previously, but the results weren't particularly relevant to us," said principal Carol Heldt of Hosanna-Tabor Lutheran, which has 240 students from preschool through eighth grade.

Private-school administrators say that part of the problem with MEAP is the way the test is scored. Questions are lumped into three-question categories known as objectives. On the science portion, for example, there are three questions on light as a form of energy, and three questions on the measurement of matter.

You are given credit for achieving an objective if you know two of the three answers. You don't get any more credit for three answers than you do for two.

Theoretically, you could score 100 on the MEAP test by answering correctly only two-thirds of the questions.

PLYMOUTH CHRISTIAN Academy in Canton Township is one of the few private schools locally to participate in MEAP. The school scored significantly better last fall than the state average of the previous year, and the school scored better than the Plymouth-Canton schools — in all subjects (math, reading and science) and in all grades (fourth, seventh and 10th).

At Christian, 65.2 percent of the fourth graders scored at least 75 percent in science, with 48.3 percent scoring that well in seventh grade and 35 percent in 10th grade. At Plymouth-Canton, the respective percentages were 56.2, 38.4 and 32.2.

"We're a little more homogenous, and a little more selective in who we take in," said Tom Hovermale, principal at Christian. "We come out looking good, but the comparison is unfair."

The other local parochial schools to take the MEAP tests were St. Genevieve Catholic grade school in Livonia, St. John Bosco Catholic grade school in Redford, St. Matthew's Lutheran grade school in Westland and New Morning grade school in Plymouth.

Ford offers a glimpse of 'real-life science'

By Pat Murphy
staff writer

Ford has a better idea to encourage careers in science.

While schools and educators may have the primary responsibility for encouraging science, the Ford Motor Co. offers Saturday morning classes to help students learn about their practical application.

Ford is by no means the only Detroit area company concerned. The Automotive Division of ITT, for example, offers two engineering scholarships for minority students at Oakland University.

Ford started its High School Science and Technology Program nearly five years ago to encourage future engineers and scientists by demonstrating practical science at the company Engineering and Research complex in Dearborn.

Since the fall of 1984, hundreds of students have been involved in demonstrations on cryogenics, lasers, vacuum science, computer programming, atmospheric chemistry and other topic areas, said program director John L. Bomback.

"The program has evolved gradually," he said. "In the first year (1984) there were 24 students attending the Saturday classes. Now we have more than 200."

THE PROGRAM ALSO includes a summer internship program for good students to get further involved in practical science, he said. Students are hired for six weeks to work with staff researchers involved in real projects.

"Ford hired 20 interns last summer paying them about $650 for four weeks work, or about what they

City crime drops

Trespassing and loitering, many related to cruising activities along Main Street, remained about the same — 243 incidents in 1988, 233 the previous year. Sixty-six minors were cited for illegal possession of alcoholic beverages last year, 65 in 1987.

City police issued 3,669 traffic tickets and 4,078 parking violations last year, compared with 4,031 traffic tickets and 4,652 parking violations in 1987.

Police made 416 arrests last year, 393 in '87. Statistics on court convictions weren't available.

"I THINK we approach the field of delivering services different than a large department, particularly where they have a more serious crime problem," said Michael Gardner, police commander.

"They simply wouldn't have time to give the attention to things that might not seem real serious but are a real serious matter to the person calling in a report," he said.

Gardner cited as examples traffic speeding problems in a neighborhood or suspicious footprints around a house.

"We're able to deploy officers to have a presence at special events, to have a more visible presence," Gardner said.

LESS CRUISING activity on Main Street plus fewer temporary officers accounted for fewer traffic/parking tickets being issued in 1988, Gardner said.

The department currently consists of a chief, commander, lieutenant, three sergeants and 10 patrol officers. The city has recently advertised an intention to hire as many as five additional officers.

Some 11,000 people live within the 2.3-square mile city limits.

Board chief to run again

David Artley, president of the Plymouth-Canton school board, announced Monday he will seek re-election to a four-year term in June. One seat is open. The filing deadline is in April.

"I genuinely consider serving the school board a real privilege. In my family it has always been a real tradition," said Artley.

Artley prides himself on having missed only one meeting, a workshop, since he first took office in July 1983.

"I think I've gotten a lot more out than I have put in," said Artley of his years on the board.

Improving communication in the district and resolving the school finance problem will remain top goals, he said.

"A lot of what the board should do is facilitate to get answers. That may require work," added Artley, a development coordinator for Spectrum Human Services, a Livonia agency for disabled children and adults.

"We don't have enough community involvement, and won't until people understand what is at stake. Tomorrow is at stake."

Artley said his decision wasn't influenced by Citizens for Better Education. CBE is a group of Christian conservatives campaigning for changes in the district. It plans to continue supporting candidates, according to Diane Daskalakis, who started the organization.

CBE member Mary Dahn, defeated in the last school election, said, "I am considering running. Whether I do will depend on what happens over the next few months."

"Where CBE would like education to go isn't where I necessarily would like to see it go," Artley said. "But they're entitled to express their opinion."

School board members earn $30 per meeting.

A Difference In Coverage. My old plan used to only cover me when I was sick. But Care Choices HMO covers me when I'm well, as well as when I'm not. That means most of the costs of routine medical care are covered, like doctor's office visits, physicals, immunizations and lab tests. They also cover pre-natal and well-baby care. And of course, hospitalization is covered, even more completely than with my old plan.

A Difference In Paperwork. I used to have to fill out a lot of claim forms with my old health plan. But Care Choices even covers the paperwork!

A Difference In Cost. Unexpected doctor bills used to sneak up on me. But with Care Choices, after a small co-pay, there are no doctor bills. Care Choices HMO even covers emergencies when I'm out of town. So, surprise out-of-pocket costs can't put the bite on me.

A Difference In The Way I Feel. It's no wonder I'm so confident. Some of the best doctors and hospitals in the area are part of Care Choices HMO, over 400 private practice physicians in all. And some of the most respected hospitals are included, like Catherine McAuley Health Center, Chelsea Community Hospital, Saline Community Hospital and McPherson Hospital. # Starstruck: Kids wowed by astronomy wizard

Dr. Clyde Tombaugh was still in high school on his family's Kansas wheat farm in the 1920s when he began making sketches of planets he observed through a home-made telescope.

By Pat Murphy
staff writer

About 700 students in Wayne County had a rare opportunity to meet with the man credited with discovering the planet Pluto.

Dr. Clyde W. Tombaugh, 82, was the main attraction at a one-day meeting in November at Bentley High School in Livonia. The meeting was put together by the Wayne County Math and Science Council, an informal group of teachers, with help from entities like the Livonia School District and the Michigan Department of Education.

State officials cited Tombaugh's appearance as an excellent example of learning by doing.

"Teachers and students had the chance to meet with somebody of extreme stature," said M. Cherie Cornick, consultant to the Michigan Department of Education.

They got the chance to ask questions and hear what he had to offer. They followed up with small workshops where youngsters could do some hands-on experiments. Most had to do with astronomy, but some of the workshops dealt with other earth sciences.

Tombaugh was remarkable, said Richard B. Braun, science coordinator for Livonia schools.

SCIENCE TEXTBOOKS note that Tombaugh was still in high school on his family's wheat farm in Kansas in the 1920s when he began making sketches of planets he observed through a home-made telescope. Some of those sketches were detailed enough to include the polar caps of Mars and the moons of Jupiter.

When Tombaugh sent some of his sketches to the Lowell Observatory for comment, officials responded by offering him a job.

Tombaugh was hired in 1929 — without first being interviewed, according to reference books — to continue the search for an undiscovered planet whose existence was predicted by Sir Percival Lowell, the English astronomer who died in 1916.

science: an educational MELTDOWN

Fourth-grader Danielle Sockoloski said she enjoyed Tombaugh's discussion of how comets are similar in makeup to a "dirty snowball."

perturbations were caused by gravity of a large object nearby, possibly an undiscovered planet.

Tombaugh estimated that he observed and photographed some 90 million stars using the calculations of Lowell before discovering the planet in February of 1930.

The discovery was heralded as a triumph for the process of discovery by prediction. It was announced in March 1930, in conjunction with the 75th anniversary of the birth of Percival Lowell and the discovery of the planet Uranus.

TOMBAUGH KNEW he was making history and reportedly told colleagues that he intentionally looked at his watch so he could later declare that Pluto was discovered at "a few minutes of 4 p.m." on Feb. 18, 1930.

The astronomer talked about the discovery to groups of youngsters, answering questions as young minds were stimulated. One group, fourth graders from Cass Elementary in Livonia, made the following observations about meeting with Tombaugh and the accompanying workshops.

Tombaugh talked about building his first telescope (about six feet long), said Greg Hnatuk. "His next telescope was about two stories high."

Nancy Staffend said Tombaugh discussed how the orbits of Pluto and Neptune would change. "He (Tombaugh) put a lot of time and effort into finding Pluto," she said. "That shows that hard work pays off."

Danielle Sockoloski said she enjoyed Tombaugh's discussion about the composition of comets, and how comets are similar in makeup to a "dirty snowball."

Steve Snabb said he enjoyed Tombaugh and the discussions on astronomy. But he also enjoyed the workshop he attended because he and others could touch or handle toads, snakes and lizards.

Ford's better idea: encourage careers in science

would make at a hamburger stand," Bombback said. "We're expanding the program this year to include seven teachers (who will earn about $2,850 for six weeks)."

Summer interns are selected from those who participate in Saturday classes and are recommended by their teachers. "We're interested in those students motivated enough to roll out of bed on their day off," said Bombback. "We also require a 2,500-word paper on one of the topics we covered at the Saturday classes during the year."

Some Ford staff personnel were initially skeptical about the students, Bombback said. "They were concerned about the added work and responsibility. But after seeing what the students could do, those same people were looking for ways to keep them on."

Hollianne A. Holdeman, a senior at John Glenn High School in Westland, is a former intern who now works about 12 hours a week at the Ford Engineering and Research Center.

BOTH THE intern program and the part-time jobs give students "a look at real-life science," said Holdeman.

At her part-time job Holdeman, who will study civil engineering under a joint program sponsored by Central Michigan University and Michigan Technological University, works with a cryo-ultramicrotome to slice polymer for analysis under a transmission electron microscope.

She slices polymer, a plastic-like synthetic, to about 1/100th the width of a human hair or piece of paper, Holdeman said. Samples are then put under the microscope that transmits electrons through the polymer for analysis of the internal structure, she explained.

"It's demanding work," said her boss, H. Kiel Plummer, research scientist. "It's tedious and demands patience and attention to detail. I believe about one in 100 students could do that work."

While the ultimate goal is to encourage students to go into science or engineering, Bombback said there is more immediate gratification.

"There's the reward of seeing somebody's face when the light goes on and they begin to see what it's all about. It's very rewarding."

Not every student responds as openly, Bombback said. "Some students take notes like crazy while others don't seem to be interested. But they come back time after time. We just hope some of what we're doing rubs off."

Science bewilders adults, too

National and international report cards suggest that students are scientifically illiterate.

But public opinion polls suggest their ignorance may be reflective of a general lack of scientific knowledge among the public.

A 1985 survey by the Public Opinion Laboratory at Northern Illinois University, for example, reported that more than 400 adults, or about 21 percent of those responding, said the sun revolves around the earth.

About 7 percent, or 140 respondents, said they didn't know.

Other findings reported from that survey include:

- Some 39 percent of the adults questioned said they thought astrology is scientific. About 7 percent said they sometimes change their plans after reading their horoscopes.

- About 41 percent of the adults responding agreed with the statement, "Rocket launchings and other space activities have caused changes in our weather."

- About 43 percent of adults agreed with the statement, "It is likely that some of the unidentified flying objects that have been reported are really space vehicles from other civilizations."

- About 29 percent of the adults questioned responded "true," when asked if lasers work by focusing sound waves.

All of the above statements are false.

The lack of science knowledge is also evident among groups that are supposedly educated. In response to a questionnaire mailed by an Oberlin College biology professor to newspaper editors, only 51 percent said they disagreed strongly with the statement: "Dinosaurs and humans lived contemporaneously." Some 37 percent said they agreed or had no opinion.

TAG program needs focus

To the editor:

Educators have identified an extremely high-risk group of students. As teenagers, this group has the highest rate of suicide of any group. They account for nearly 30 percent of our high school dropouts and 30 percent of our prison population. Unbelievable as it may be, they are the gifted.

Services to the gifted at the high school cost nothing above what is spent for any student. This extremely high-risk group is already identified. The one teacher who works with them is already trained and experienced, and receives no extra pay. No money saving is involved in cutting the class. "These kids have to be somewhere," Michael Homes, assistant superintendent for curriculum, told me.

The present TAG program at the high school consists of one 9th grade TAG English class, the same size as any other English class. The teacher provides this vulnerable group with an accelerated, enriched, English curriculum and essential counseling and mentor services. It is the culmination of the offerings in grades three through nine in our cost-effective national-award winning TAG Magnet Program.

The school board has already cut the TAG coordinator and secretary, citing cost savings. They have left the program with no one in charge. Now they plan to cut one class, with no suggestion that it will save money. It is obvious they are destroying the program. They continue to deny it, but there is no other conclusion to be drawn.

Some administrators and board members are opponents of ability grouping. They argue that academically talented children should be in mainstream classes with all types of students because they need to learn to interact with all kinds of people to be successful adults.

They fail to realize that exceptional talent knows no race or social status. The only criterion for entrance into the TAG program is the student's high-risk status. The students in the program represent every race, religion, culture and social level. They are drawn equally from every school in the district. There is a wider variety of attitudes, viewpoints and even ability levels in a TAG class than in any other class.

Many educators and board members believe that the most talented students should not be in separate classes, but should be in classes with other students, to enrich their educational experience and help them learn better. I'm sure that if they told the football coach that he had to use his best players to help the other players do better, many parents, students and administrators would be enraged.

We encourage and nurture our best athletic talent, but we expect our best academic talent to fend for itself. A recent ABC special program quoted results from an international science and math exam given to top students from 17 countries. It said U.S. math students placed dead last in the competition. In the science tests, our top students placed next to last, barely above Swaziland.

Our ungifted talent can, and does, go in any direction. NBC News detailed the story of the recently convicted Chambers brothers, calling them "brilliant businessmen," though high school dropouts. These were the powerful leaders of a successful Detroit drug ring. Their one mistake was to allow themselves to be videotaped while bragging and counting their money.

This is certainly not to suggest that all gifted children are inclined to become drug dealers or criminals. However, our educational system must satisfy their critical needs, especially when it doesn't cost anything extra. Otherwise, they may well use their intelligence to carve out their own unacceptable niche in society.

The Board of Education is heading down the wrong path in destroying the TAG program. It is the wrong path for our country, for our community, and for our children.

They must not vote to eliminate the 9th grade TAG English class.

Teacher gives parents ideas

To the editor:

I have only been teaching children with learning difficulties for 2½ years, but I have found what I believe to be four important factors for the success of those students in school.

They are parental support, outside activities, taking risks and self-esteem. I will refer to students as "he" because most children with learning difficulties are boys, and I will refer to the teachers as "she" because I am a woman.

Even in middle school we hear about the times their parents were proud of them and all the family outings that you may have thought they were bored with. Even at this age, I feel their families are the most important thing to them. They also believe most of the things you tell them.

The parents who have helped themselves known to me have helped me help their child. I have had children for two years who have never had a parent come to school or call me. How are you going to tell if your kid's school is a good place for them to be if you avoid "open houses," "conferences," etc.? My students whose parents do not attend these activities feel "down" the next day as they hear other students talking about what their parents said when they got home.

If you have criticisms about how your child's teacher is doing her job, make an appointment to see her, or at least call her. If you have criticisms, do not express them to her, and degrade her verbally at home, your child will learn "nothing" in class because he will think, "If mom or dad thinks she is a bad teacher, I can't learn anything anyway, so why try?" If after you have conferred with your child's teacher on many occasions and find you have irreconcilable differences, try to have your child removed from the class. You will not be able to hide your feelings.

I have found "outside activities" to be very important to my students. Because they have probably always had to struggle with academics, parents and teachers need to find their strengths. Many times the children themselves will be unaware they have any. Sports, dance, art clubs, ski clubs, school plays, part-time jobs, etc. can offer the experience of success to children who cannot achieve it in the classroom.

Also, sometimes the academics can become more tolerable if they have something "else" to look forward to. Your support in their outside activities is also very important. One of my students told me he could run faster than anyone on our playground, so I asked him to run with me in the Livonia Memorial Day Fun Run. From there, he joined the track team, went on to football and is now trying out for basketball.

"Taking risks" is not something that I feel children with learning difficulties do as easily as children without learning difficulties. I realize that they have suffered many failures academically, so they may transfer those fears to "outside activities," but when I see one of my students take a chance and participate in something outside the classroom they usually are proud they did it. They want to be like children without learning difficulties, and in many ways they can. In order to get these children to take risks, they need a lot of support from teachers and parents. They need to know that we feel they can "do it."

I have also seen children afraid to succeed. If they succeed, it may change how people see them (good or bad, change is scary), they may be expected to keep it up, they may look as though they were not trying all along. I have evidenced this by giving a test that could have been an "A" with a minimal amount of studying and they have chosen to fail.

It. I tell them just that. When they reply, "I don't care," I then say, "You don't care because it hurts to care." It's hard to break a pattern of failure even if you see possibilities.

I have saved "self-esteem" for last because without the components of success listed above, it cannot be achieved. I think of self-esteem as a circle. In my own life I find I need a certain amount of self-esteem to take a risk, a chance or an opportunity, and if I succeed, I have a little more self-esteem to work with next time. If I don't use it productively, I cannot produce any more of it. When disciplining children we have to remember to attack the act not the child. They "must" know that they are a lovable, capable human being. Do we want any less for ourselves?

Livonia

Picture was in poor taste

To the editor:

As a new Canton resident this year, we have really enjoyed receiving the Canton Observer. On many occasions it has made us aware of local happenings of interest and many of which we have participated. This past Monday, in your Jan. 2 issue, Creative Living section, there was a picture which showed the storyline of a movie being reviewed — "Murmur of the Heart." It was definitely in poor taste. I'm not going to threaten cancellation or anything like that, but as a concerned citizen felt the need to let you know, these type pictures should be left out of a good newspaper. After all, don't you have many young delivery people who might never read the review but would hardly miss a picture like that with its accompanying article. Please consider what's best for young viewers as well as adults.

Thanks for TAG campaign

To the editor:

The parents and students of the Talented and Gifted program wish to thank all the people who participated in the campaign to save the 9th grade TAG English class. Among them are 117 families, virtually all the TAG teachers and administrators, all the school board members, the TAG Advisory Committee and all administrators who have responsibility for the high school 9th grade English program.

These people spent countless hours on the telephone gathering and clarifying information. All was done while school was on vacation.

In the end the decision was made to make no change in the 9th grade TAG English class for next year.

We know you made the best decision for the kids. We thank all of you for your effort and your dedication.

Canton 'hello' is unfriendly

To the editor:

Now that the "freezer murder" has somewhat become a memory, I must respond to the closeness of Canton's neighborhoods. Our family moved to Canton in '84, and built what we thought of as our "dream" home.

However before they even began digging our foundation, neighbors bordering our lot on each side came out to tell us. They wanted no dogs or fences. After two years we were transferred to Georgia, and then transferred back to Michigan. We wanted to keep our children in the schools they were once in, so we chose Canton again. We were told this was Canton's best subdivision.

We've lived here nine months and our welcome has included an American Flag stolen off our house. This flag meant a lot to my husband as he is a Vietnam veteran. Also our mail has been opened and read, and oh yes the latest a Birthday card with $20 enclosed, they just took the money. So much for closeness, we are leaving before we are smothered with HATE.

Thanks for a wonderful welcome. Please do not use my name or address as I have had enough closeness to last me a lifetime.

MEAP comments are misleading

To the editor:

It has been my experience to date that the Canton-Plymouth Observer abides by high journalistic standards and prints the truth to the best of their knowledge. For that reason, I was shocked to read as front page news on Dec. 8, that "a majority of students in the Plymouth-Canton School system passed the test in math, reading, and science." According to the state department of education, this statement is false, a majority (51 percent) in the 7th and 10th grade did not pass in science!

According to the article, our Assistant Superintendent of Instruction, Dr. Homes, told the paper and the school district that the state department of education recommends that "the two top quartiles in science be used to provide a more comparable picture to student performance in the top quartile in reading and mathematics."

In a letter to me dated Dec. 19, Dr.

Edward D. Roeder, State Department of Education, supervisor, MEAP program states, "I talked about the results of the MEAP test with many persons . . . In every discussion, I indicate that only Category 4 (passing more than 75 percent of the objective tested) constitutes 'passing the test' . . . No other standard has been used by MEAP staff or myself." Never did he say in comparing reading, math and science that a different measuring stick should be used for science to determine who passed.

As superintendent for instruction, being paid over $70,000 per year, Dr. Homes is directly responsible for the science curriculum.

Since you printed the inaccurate test results on page one, I feel that in all fairness you should print a correction on the same page.

Students passing the test with 75 percent or better: Grade 4, 56.2 percent; Grade 7, 38.4 percent; Grade 10, 32.2 percent.

While "area school officials are pleased with results from the state test," Mr. Roeder states he does not think science test scores are anything to brag about.

The science department is in bad shape. Can the school district afford to give our nation's student a low tech education in a high tech world? Must we condemn students to low-paying jobs because they do not have the technical skills or the basic math skills to compete for a better job? What a gross misuse of taxpayers money.

In the face of all this, the school board has said nothing. The school board has done nothing. No action whatsoever has been taken to correct our poor science curriculum under the weak leadership of David Artley, board president. This is a gross oversight. Who is representing the parents in this district? No one on the board seems to cares.

The truth is Dr. Homes dictates the school board agenda. He has chosen to pat himself on the back, brag about the school band, (which is admittedly excellent), lay off the administrator of TAG, and put academic excellence on a back burner. To this our school board representatives say nothing. Shame on you.

Mary Dahn,

WALKING WITH DIFFICULTY WHEN TO SEE A RHEUMATOLOGIST

If faced by vexing medical problems, you may decide to forgo an evaluation by your personal physician and on your own, seek out a specialist. If the matter involves difficulty walking, how can you decide if you should see a neurologist or a rheumatologist?

When the problem is weakness, or the impairment includes loss of coordination, such as placing one foot in front of the other, then neurology consultation is in order. The presence of numbness or of a pins-and-needles feeling when the leg is at rest also is indicative of a neurological problem.

If you note pain on walking which is relieved by rest, or a swollen knee occurs, or the pain is aching and sharp and radiates little or not at all, then a rheumatologist is the appropriate specialist.

Certain problems, such as give-way collapse of the leg, pose a difficult decision. Is the cause weakness in the muscle, or anticipated pain in the joint? In these instances, you may find it best to call the specialist you are considering before arranging an appointment. Discuss with him if his specialty is the appropriate one to evaluate the matter.

PASTA PASSION

We start with homemade linguine, fettucine and tortellini. All created from full-bodied semolina flour and farm fresh eggs. And served with fresh parmesan and romano cheese grated tableside.

But we don't stop there. We like to tantalize you just a bit with our succulent sauces accented with a sprinkle of the extraordinary Muer imagination...delicate aromas swirling above each dish.

A SAMPLING OF OUR MENU:

Lobster Fettucine — Tender, fresh Maine lobster generously folded into a fresh tomato herb and cream sauce. Served over a bed of homemade fettucine.

Shrimp and Artichokes — A medley of tender delicately flavored shrimp and artichoke hearts. Tossed in a sauce of fresh tomatoes and fragrant wine and herbs. Served over homemade linguine.

Baked Lasagna — Thinly rolled ribbons of pasta layered atop our mildly spicy homemade meat sauce and topped with fresh melted parmesan and mozzarella cheese.

Board criticizes, removes CREW member

By M.B. Dillon
staff writer

A school committee member who fell out of favor with her fellow committee members was removed from the group at Monday's Plymouth-Canton school board meeting.

Community Researching Educational Workings is a citizens' group charged with assessing the district's strengths and weaknesses.

A letter signed by several committee members and presented to the board of education asked that Mary Dahn be taken off CREW.

Trustee E.J. McClendon introduced a resolution citing Dahn's

"unwillingness to work on problems," dissemination of "what appeared to be misleading information to members of the community, and putting her own concerns above those of the committee."

It called for Dahn's removal "for the sole purpose of furthering the interests of education."

SECONDED BY Trustee Marilyn Schwinn, the motion passed 5-1. Trustee Barbara Graham dissented. Trustee Roland Thomas was absent.

School board president David Artley called a recess after the vote. Immediately after the break, the board voted to add Connie Gilman, Dick Radtke and Linda Radtke to CREW.

Annette Remsburg, CREW co-chair, said the action was taken "on behalf of the volunteers, who in the true sense of the word are committed to the students of this district."

"It's to the point where we are about to lose good people who refuse to have their efforts impeded by her approach," Remsburg said.

"It was not my choice to engage in this conflict. But in an effort to prevent further waste of time on this issue, it has become necessary to bring it to you," she told the board.

CREW member Betty Block said she did a lot of soul searching before signing the letter.

"As a committee, we feel frustration, and discredited by the publicity that's going on. This is our only recourse to put an end to it. I guess my hope is that if you beat a dead horse long enough, eventually it'll be dead."

Ray Buckman, chairman of the CREW finance committee, said, "All I can say is, either Mary goes off the committee, or I resign. She runs right to the newspaper with what she is trying to prove and accomplish so that she can run on the school board."

DAHN SAID before the meeting, "I feel their using Gestapo tactics to eliminate anyone who disagrees with them. It isn't leadership, it is dictatorship."

"I think it is important to note that of the seven people on curriculum committee, the only ones who signed the letter to the board was the chairman and the co-chairman. The other five members did not sign it."

Dahn was on the CREW curriculum committee.

"In my opinion, they're trying to squelch any dissent whatsoever by petitioning the board to not allow me to be a member. This is sending a message to everyone else in CREW: If you disagree, you're out. That is not a committee. That's heavy-handedness."

"They're punishing me for press releases and letters to the editor they didn't like," she added.

Dahn said she is considering running for the school board in June.

She ran unsuccessfully last year. Graham, the only trustee who supported Dahn, said she was disappointed in her fellow board members.

"This is a personality problem. I think it should have been handled by CREW, not the board. They're adults."

"They're going to be hard pressed to get volunteers if they get the message that's how they're treated," Graham said.

Schools toughen R-rated film policy

The school board has made it tougher for teachers to show R-rated movies in the classroom.

A resolution passed at Monday's meeting says that teachers must obtain approval a semester in advance in order to show R-rated films. Summaries of the movies will be included in a booklet of course descriptions available to parents.

According to policy, arrangements must be made for parents to view the movies at least two weeks before students are scheduled to see them.

"I think this strengthens the requirements for reviewing materials being used in the district," said Richard Egli, administrative assistant for community relations. "Instead of simply accepting a rating system which changes, sometimes dramatically over time, this provides a clear and direct method for evaluating each material on its individual merit."

R-rated films are shown "only if that is the most effective material for making the point or bringing out the information that is to be taught," added Egli.

"For example in a psychology class, an R-rated movie might be appropriate to demonstrate the use of, or the psychology, of cursing."

"In the movie 'The Breakfast Club,' stereotyping might be the best method to demonstrate teenage stereotyping. However, ordinarily R-rated materials would not be appropriate and are not used in the district."

Yo-yo dieting not the way to keep body weight down

Eat vegetables plain and always avoid sauces, she said. Check with the waiter to see if a restaurant's soup is prepared with whole milk or salt. Both should be avoided, she said.

Salads, with a wrongful reputation for automatically carrying low calories, pose a problem. Order salads with the dressing on the side. Always order diet dressing.

Salad bars serve temptation. Avoid bacon bits, garbanzo beans and those tasty-looking extras. Before filling the plate with fruit, ask if the restaurant serves fresh or canned goods. Canned fruit packed in syrup means extra calories.

Other foods popularly believed to be low in calories really pack unwanted calories. Count cottage cheese and tuna the same as a meat item, Greer said.

FOLLOW THE GUIDELINES, but don't expect miracles. "Most people make the mistake of overwhelming themselves. Resolutions are nice but for most people it's too much change all at once. They should make a resolution to be trim and healthy and take it step by step," Stefano said.

Avoiding certain foods must be followed by choosing the correct foods. Eat three meals a day without any snacks, suggests Greer. She recommends 1,200 calories per day for women, 1,500 a day for men. Weight Watchers comes in lower on its recommendations. It suggests a minimum 1,000 calories a day for women, 1,200 for men.

Plan every meal, even if it means writing out menus for the week before grocery shopping, Greer said.

Everyone recommends consulting a doctor before starting an exercise and/or weight-loss program. No matter what plan is used, it's important to be sensible. Don't skip breakfast and lunch and then stuff yourself at dinner. That usually means you're eating more than 1,200 calories in one meal, Greer said.

Exercise should accompany a sensible eating program, most experts say. However, if the exercise program is meant to last only six weeks or until 10 pounds are shed, you may be wasting your time and effort.

"Weight loss doesn't happen automatically with exercise," said Dr. Fred Stransky, director of the Meadow Brook Health Enrichment Institute at Oakland University, Rochester Hills.

WALKING ONE MILE burns about 100 calories. For those sort of results, it might be just as effective to skip eating fast-food hamburgers, he said. "Walking an extra mile a day, as a New Year's resolution, isn't unrealistic," Stransky said. "For a 130-pound woman, that can mean almost 11 pounds lost throughout the year (down to 119 pounds). But it's a way of life. Short term doesn't do it."

Most weight-loss experts recommend walking as an exercise that's easy to do, requires little special equipment and can be easily integrated into a dieter's lifestyle. Malls open their doors early to walkers. Call ahead for information on time, access and registration.

Low-impact aerobics is also recommended by Greer. She cautions that participants make sure the instructor monitors students' target heart rates.

As in dieting, the key consideration in exercise is a person's ability to make the new practice a permanent part of his or her lifestyle. "Get away from the idea that you've got to go through a 1½-hour routine. Know your lifestyle and be honest with yourself," Stefano said.

Try to keep a positive attitude while dieting. Weight Watchers suggests rewarding yourself for achieving a goal with a non-food item.

"Picture yourself in the spring in the body you want," Stefano said. "Focus on the positive aspects of your body. Don't wet-noodle yourself."

Recipes for a tasteful diet

In nine-inch skillet heat oil; add chicken and cook, turning once, until browned, two-three minutes on each side. Transfer chicken to plate and set aside.

In same skillet heat margarine until bubbly and hot; add vegetables and garlic and saute, stirring frequently, until onions are translucent, four-five minutes. Add sherry and bring to a boil; stir in water, mustard, lemon juice, and broth mix. Add potatoes and chicken to skillet and return mixture to a boil. Reduce heat, cover, and let simmer until chicken is tender and, when pierced with a fork, juices run clear, 15-20 minutes.

Scientist on alert against pesticides in food

nogenicity and environmental hazards, was legally used in the 1980s in several foreign countries including the United Kingdom, India and the Philippines.

She added that the FDA has detected pesticide residues in 64 percent of imported food and in 39 percent of domestic food. About 23 percent of domestic tomatoes contain residues while 70 percent of imported tomatoes have them. Thirty percent of domestic cucumbers have residues, 80 percent of imported cucumbers have them.

What troubled the speaker in regard to the role of the EPA and FDA regarding pesticides in food is that their research is scanty, not up to date and EPA's tolerance levels are too high.

About the FDA, she said, "The FDA samples less than one percent of this country's food supply. Its enforcement against food with residues in excess of tolerance is ineffective."

ABOUT THE EPA she reported, "The lack of health effects data on pesticides means that the EPA is regulating pesticides on the basis of ignorance rather than knowledge."

She observed that between 1982-85 the FDA detected pesticide residues in 48 percent of the most frequently consumed fresh fruit and vegetables.

"Yet this figure probably understates the number of pesticides in food because half of the chemicals applied to food supplies cannot be routinely detected by FDA lab methods," she said. "Approximately 40 percent of pesticides identified by the FDA as posing moderate to high health hazards, including carcinogens like daminazide, benomyl, alachlor and EBCDs, cannot be identified in its lab tests."

A majority of pesticides now available were licensed before the EPA established requirements for health effects testing. "In 1973 Congress directed the EPA to re-evaluate all 600 older pesticides by modern testing, in recognition of the serious consequences posed to public health," noted Mott. "Through re-registration, the EPA would fill the gaps in required toxicology tests and have better information on how to evaluate and regulate pesticides."

The speaker paused. "But by 1987 the EPA had completed a final safety statement for only two of those 600 pesticides," she said.

About 400 pesticides are registered for use on food, she declared. "The EPA acknowledged that 390 are undergoing registration review. In other words, for 390 of them, there is an inadequate toxicological data base with which EPA could register these pesticides," Mott explained.

"TO MAKE MATTERS worse, scientists are now uncovering new toxic adverse effects caused by chemicals. For example, a few pesticides have been found to damage components of the immune system, the body's defense network."

"Testing for this toxicity is not part of the routine safety evaluation for pesticides. Furthermore, the EPA now acknowledges its battery of tests to evaluate neurotoxicity is inadequate."

Consumers could have an important role in improving the pesticide situation, according to Mott, who offered a variety of suggestions on how to deal with them.

• Wash all produce with water to decrease exposure to pesticides. Some will be removed but not all.

• Peel produce. Some residues cannot be removed by water.

• Grow your own food without pesticides.

• Buy locally and in season. If food is shipped long distances, pesticides are often added to prevent spoiling.

• Beware of perfect-looking produce. Many pesticides are used just to enhance its appearance. Brown spots do not reduce nutritional value or affect taste. A glossy appearance may signal produce that was waxed for cosmetic reasons. Wax can't be washed off, and it seals in residues in food.

• Buy organic food. (Mott favors a farm bill that would financially aid farmers willing to make the transition from using pesticides to not using them.)

• Write to supermarket managers or meet with them to ask them to stock organically grown produce. If possible, help them locate sources of this food. Kroger's indicated to the Ann Arbor Ecology Center that it may soon stock organic food as an alternative.

• Write your congressional representatives stating your opposition to pesticides. In the next few months Congress will consider legislation to strengthen the EPA's regulation of pesticides in food. Attempts will be made to revise its tolerances based on new methods and safety data. Also urge Congress to consider children when tolerances are set. They consume more food per unit of body weight than adults and need lower tolerances.

Olive oil shines at gourmet delis

cooked pasta, steaks or seafood. If you have a recipe that calls for cooking with olive oil, a simple, less expensive domestic brand will suffice.

Last but not least, if you are really into these types of oil or know someone who would appreciate them, shopping around the various markets will have you noticing vintage olive oils. These are from the smaller producers with exceedingly high standards and, of course, with the territory comes exceedingly high prices. True gastronomes will surely appreciate the difference, but folks like you and me probably would have difficulty discerning it.

So if you are into olive oil, a trip to some neat delis and gourmet shops will entice your palate and pocketbook. Bon Appetit!

Rocks slam dunk Spartans, 82-68

By Brad Emons
staff writer

Plymouth Salem stayed ahead of the posse Friday, outrunning visiting Livonia Stevenson in a Western Lakes Activities Association boys basketball encounter, 82-68.

The Rocks, now 9-1 overall and leading the Lakes Division of the WLAA with a 5-0 record, got 29 points from senior forward Jeff Elliott and 18 from sophomore center Jake Baker.

"We knew it would be an up-and-down game and I think that was to our advantage because we have a good group of athletes," said Salem coach Bob Brodie. "We're a fast-break team and early we were successful at doing that."

Salem, behind Elliott's 14 first-quarter points, jumped out to a 27-17 advantage, but the Spartans fought back to take a 38-34 lead with 1:37 left in the half when senior center Chris Nazelli, who scored a team-high 22 points, converted a three-point play.

BUT THE ROCKS got baskets

basketball

from Tim Noonan and Jeff Gold just before intermission to knot things up at 38-all.

In the third quarter, Stevenson came out flat and the Rocks took advantage, outscoring the Spartans 8-0 at the outset.

That run helped Salem maintain a comfortable eight-point heading into the final quarter. The Rocks then put on another spurt, building an 18-point cushion with 3:33 to play on Elliott's third 3-pointer of the night.

"In the second quarter we were not scoring in transition and Stevenson was able to come at us with their zone," Brodie said. "But in the third quarter we did a better job of recognizing it and we got the ball inside."

Baker scored 12 points in the second half and it's his inside play which has catapulted the Rocks to the top of the standings.

"Jake's the player we go to inside, he's a rebounder and a scorer," said the Salem coach. "He's really our only inside guy, but he can shoot the 15- to 16-footer, but we don't ask him that much. He can also run the floor."

THE SPARTANS, who have changed to an up-tempo game since losing their top scorer, 6-6 center Mike Vrooman to a broken foot, played well offensively.

But their defense was nonexistent, according to coach Jim McIntyre.

"Salem was aggressive and did a nice job of attacking our press," said the Stevenson coach, whose team slipped to 6-4 overall and 2-3 in the Lakes. "But we did nothing at the other end as far as denying the ball."

"Our course, they often had a three-on-one and two-on-one advantage, but we didn't do anything when it was one-on-one. That's why we had to pull the press off."

McIntyre, however, was encouraged by the inside play of the 6-2 Nazelli, even though he made only 12 of 21 free throws.

Borgess wins without star

By Steve Kowalski
staff writer

Charles North was standing in the Redford Bishop Borgess locker room Friday night, not far from Kareem Carpenter's old locker.

North, who scored 23 points in Borgess' 58-48 win over visiting Redford Catholic Central, talked about how much he'll miss Carpenter, a 6-foot-4 junior. Carpenter's family moved from Detroit to Ann Arbor last week and he has transferred to Ann Arbor Huron.

Carpenter was the Spartans' leading rebounder and best inside offensive player, but Friday they missed him more in the locker room.

"We'll miss him in the locker room, because he's real funny," North said. "He has everybody laughing. Sometimes it will be real intense and he'd always crack a joke."

"We have to keep our heads up. Kareem got half our rebounds. We just have to put our minds to it."

THE SPARTANS' win means both teams are tied at the top of the Catholic League's Central Division at 5-1, with four games left. The Spartans are 7-4 overall and the Shamrocks fell to 6-5.

There's nothing funny about that, according to CC coach Bernie Holowicki.

"We've got some tough games ahead and anything can happen," Holowicki said. "I don't see them losing any more games so that means we have to win the rest of ours to keep pace with them."

Borgess coach Mike Fusco would like to have Carpenter for the final month of the season, but he'll have to do without him. Carpenter's name was still taped to his locker Friday. Maybe he expects him back?

"It's been a tough couple of days," he said. "I don't want to admit it (that he's gone), because he kept track of things inside. We miss that."

"Three of our last four games are on the road. It'll be a dogfight. It'll be a dogfight."

It was Borgess's smaller players that gave CC trouble Friday.

Tumblers triumph

Plymouth Canton's Dawn Clifford performs her balance beam routine Thursday night at Ann Arbor Huron during gymnastics competition. She was second on the beam but first on the uneven bars as the unbeaten Chiefs defeated Huron 128.2 to 90.2. See Page 2C for details.

Chiefs splash N'ville

Plymouth Canton isn't to the mountain top yet, but the Chiefs like the look of things from their current vantage point.

Coach Hooker Wellman's team took a big step toward a possible third straight Western Division boys swimming title Thursday by whipping perennial rival Northville, 98-74.

Canton is now 2-0 in the division — with dual meets remaining with Farmington Harrison, Livonia Franklin and Livonia Churchill — and stands at 5-1 overall. The Mustangs drop to 1-1 and 4-2.

"It was a real good meet, a good lead-up meet for (Plymouth) Salem," Wellman said. "It was a good meet to get the kids ready for heavier competition next week."

Canton goes against its biggest rival in an inter-division meet at 7 p.m. Thursday in the Canton pool.

THE CHIEFS, who were hosts for the Northville dual, won six events beginning with the 200-yard medley relay.

Jeff Homan and Mitch Timberlake, teaming up with Scott Swartzwelder and Mark Levesque, helped Canton pull in the relay victory (1:45.94) and came back later with individual wins, too. Timberlake captured the 50 freestyle (24.09) and Homan the 100 freestyle (52.20).

Canton's other first-place efforts came from Steve Geddes, who went 1:54.74 in the 200 freestyle, Bryce Anderson, who swam 55.89 in the butterfly, and Kevin Beach, who posted a 1:09.54 time in the breaststroke.

Northville's Eric Newton won the individual medley (2:04.93) and backstroke (59.41) and helped the Musfeated their perennial division nemesis, Northville, to assume the leadership role in the race for the title.

tangs take the freestyle relay (3:30.08).

Rob Devyak scored 250 points to win the diving for Northville, and teammate Mark Holdridge showed his endurance by winning the 500 freestyle in 5:16.1. Holdridge also was on the freestyle relay team.

Canton, which has won four of the last five division championships, had several athletes with personal-best performances.

Brad Flowers compiled a career-high of 227.30 diving points, and Homan had a personal best of 2:07.4 in the IM. Both were second in their events.

In addition, Anderson and Homan also swam their bests in the butterfly and 100 freestyle, respectively.

CC opens with victory

Mike Hoeflein and Jim Kovach each won a pair of individual events and were part of winning relays as Redford Catholic Central opened its Catholic League season with a 49-34 dual-meet win over Harper Woods Notre Dame Friday at Farmington Hills Mercy.

Hoeflein's wins came in the 200-yard (1:52.12) and 500-yard (3:11.85) freestyle. Kovach was first in the 200 individual medley (2:10.13) and 100 backstroke (1:01.96).

Hoeflein anchored CC's winning 400 free relay (3:31.79), which included Dave West, Troy Shumate and Alan Afsari. Kovach swam on the victorious 200 medley relay (1:50.72), with Randy Teeters, Andy Jacobs and West.

Shumate also bettered the state qualifying cut in the 100 butterfly, finishing first in 53.73.

The Shamrocks are 3-1 overall. They host Livonia Churchill (at Mercy) at 4 p.m. Tuesday.

N. Farmington shocks Salem

North Farmington still has three Lakes Division dual meets ahead of it, but the Raiders must be the odds-on favorites to win the title now.

They set themselves up as the frontrunner Thursday night by topping No. 7-rated Plymouth Salem, 88-84.

North, which beat Livonia Stevenson the previous week and has knocked off the top contenders now, improved to 4-0 overall, 2-0 in the division. The Rocks are 1-1 and 4-2.

"This is probably the biggest win North Farmington has had in a long time," second-year coach Sue Gendron said. "This was more exciting tonight, because nobody beats Salem."

"I coach the kids on Salem's team in the Livonia Spartans program, so it's really weird. I know most of them real well."

THE RAIDERS needed first and third place in the freestyle relay to beat Salem and did just that.

Chris Knoche, Chuck Chuba, Steve Tumey and Dan Knipper won the race in 3:28.13, beating Salem's Rick Steshetz, Chris Calola, Eric Bunch and Mike Hill to the wall. The Rocks swam 3:32.26.

North's Rob Mahle, Jim Nicholas, Jamie Greenstein and Jerry Jehle came in with the all-important third place, touching out at 3:47.07. Salem's second relay went 3:49.65.

"This makes me feel great," Gendron said. "The kids swam great. I just put my toughest lineup in the water and hoped the kids could swim fast."

In individual events, Tumey was a double winner, and Chuba and Knoche contributed one first place each.

Tumey won the individual medley (2:10.42) and butterfly (56.8). Chuba was first in the 100 freestyle (51.62) and Knoche the 500 freestyle (5:09.10). The latter dropped nine seconds off his previous best time, Gendron said.

THE RAIDERS had one other victory, and that came in diving, where Rob Kunzelman compiled 209.55 points. North showed its depth in that event with John Juliano taking second and Gerard Meteyer fourth.

The winners also had an emotional leader in senior Doug Schwedland, who teamed up with Mike Drelles, Knipper and Keith Lee for runner-up honors in the medley relay, one of several key second places for North.

"Doug Schwedland swam out of his mind he was so fired up," Gendron said. "He was the only one who went in there and said we could beat them."

In a close meet, the Raiders earned crucial points with second-place swims by Knipper in the breaststroke, Drelles in the backstroke, Chuba in the 50 freestyle and Knoche in the 200 freestyle.

The Raiders must still compete against Walled Lake Central, Westland John Glenn and Farmington before claiming the dual-meet title, but they appear to be in control of their own destiny today.

"We're just going to keep training hard and swimming fast," Gendron said. "We want to keep up the good work."

"THE BOYS HAVE been training hard, and they want to win. That's what it takes. It also helps to have a nice, deep team."

Overshadowed by North's team success were the three victories by Salem's Ron Orris, who anchored the winning medley relay team and won the 50 freestyle (22.21) and breaststroke (1:02.03).

Sean Fitzgerald, Mark Erickson and Fred Seidelman combined with Orris to post a 1:46.21 time in the relay.

The Rocks also won the 200 freestyle and backstroke with Mike Hill going 1:52.62 in the former and Fitzgerald 1:02.46 in the latter.

BILL BRESLER/staff photographer

Carolyn Ekert executes a difficult and unusual trick on the balance beam Thursday in Canton's lopsided win. The Chiefs are 3-0.

Canton gymnasts remain undefeated

Plymouth Canton's best gymnast, sophomore Heather Murphy, was under the weather and stayed home Thursday while her teammates traveled to Ann Arbor Huron.

The Chiefs didn't need Murphy's points, anyway. They had enough without her.

Murphy could rest easy as the Chiefs won 117.5 to 69.5. Canton, which beat Walled Lake Western earlier in the week, stayed undefeated in three dual meets.

Coch John Cunningham also let Dawn Clifford, another one of Canton's outstanding all-around performers, take it easy Thursday.

Clifford won the bars (7.75) and beam (7.85) events, but Cunningham kept her out of the vault and floor exercise.

"Huron had a bunch of girls hurt, so that's the reason for the disparity in the scores," Cunningham said. "I knew they were going to be weak, so we took some of our top performers out of the all-around. I'm happy with our score because it's good enough to qualify for the regional, and we did it without our top kids."

Canton took the top three places in every event. Sandi Sherwin won the vault, scoring 7.85, and Shannon Connell and Tracie Keller tied for second with 7.4 scores.

Connell also placed second in the bars, scoring 6.9. Jayne Jewell finished third on the bars (6.6) and took second place in the floor exercise (7.9). Johanna Anderson won the floor exercise (8.5), and Lisa Kaufman earned third place on the floor (7.55).

Coming in second on the beam was Carolyn Eckert, with a score of 7.4. Anais Yoon and Anderson tied for third at 7.1.

The only disappointment of the night came on the beam, when freshman Becky Luebke tumbled and probably broke an ankle. Cunningham said Luebke probably would have finished fifth in the event.

Canton surely knew what it was missing Thursday after watching Murphy's performance Tuesday against Western. The Chiefs routed Western 128.2 to 90.2, getting 33.0 points in the all-around from Murphy.

Murphy won the beam (8.5) and tied Anderson for first on the floor (8.55). Murphy also placed second on the bars (7.95) and third in the vault (8.0).

Anderson won the vault (8.4). Clifford won the bars (8.1). Clifford had finished second on the vault (8.2) and the beam (8.05) and third on the floor (8.25).

Connell was third on the bars, scoring 7.75. Kelly Fortier finished third the beam (7.55).

Salem netters ground Hawks

Farmington Harrison's volleyball team could have picked a better night to experiment.

Harrison coach Ron Shortt changed his offensive strategy Thursday against a more experienced Plymouth Salem team, and it didn't help. Salem drilled the Hawks 15-1, 15-10 in a Western Lakes Activities Association crossover match.

The Hawks went to a 6-2 offense in the first game before moving back to a 5-1 alignment in the second. Harrison, which scored the first point of the night, eventually fell to 2-5 overall, 1-1 in the WLAA. Salem is 5-1 overall, 2-1 in league play.

"We didn't go into the first game expecting to win, even though it was a league game," Shortt said. "We tried some people out in different spots."

"We're a real young team, and we're going through a transition right now. We're going to end up losing some games, but I'm willing to experiment."

Maria Wordhouse, Jenny Justice and Asaka Motoyama starred in the first game for Salem.

Wordhouse served seven consecutive points midway through the match. Justice had five kills and Motoyama four. Four of Salem's last five points came on service aces from Justice, who could do little wrong.

"She was the player of the night," Salem coach Betty Smith said. "Everything fell into place for her. Her serves are very low to the ground and very powerful."

"At the net, she was very aggressive. She was hitting everything from everywhere, whether she was hitting from the middle, center front or from the outside."

Salem's serving again was a plus in the second game as the Rocks got two aces each from Justice, Motoyama, Kaori Saga and Cori Fisher. Wordhouse had six kills in 11 attempts in game 2, including three stuffs. Marci Thomas and Fisher had two kills each and Kolleen Lawrence one.

LIVONIA LADYWOOD might be a bigger rival in volleyball, but Farmington Hills Mercy enjoyed sweet victory nonetheless Thursday night at Birmingham Marian.

The Oakland County members of the Central Division have developed a strong athletic rivalry in recent years, too, and the Marlins won the latest round 15-3, 17-15.

With the victory, Mercy remains in title contention. The Marlins are 3-2 in the division and 15-6 overall. The Mustangs fell to 1-4 against Central opponents.

Mercy heads into a key week of Catholic League play, visiting Redford Bishop Borgess on Monday and playing host to Ladywood on Thursday.

Andrea Velthoven had eight kills in 12 attacks to lead the win over Marian. Lee Albrecht had a slightly lower percentage at 8-of-14, and Jennifer Goff was 4-of-11.

Coch Tim DeBeliso cited Christy Johnson's defensive play, which included eight digs. Setter Nikki Burns had 20 sets resulting in kills.

NORTH FARMINGTON whipped Livonia Franklin in two games, 15-7, 15-1, without its top attacker, Vikki Seamons, who leads the Raiders in kills.

She was gone to Washington, D.C., with a government class for the presidential inauguration. But she had suffered a hand injury while diving for a ball earlier and would have missed the match anyway.

Others more than filled the void, however. Sophomore Eve Claar was 7-of-8 attacking with four kills.

"She's been playing great for us," coach Sandy Lubieniecki said. "Every match she goes out, it seems she's a little better."

Courtney Knapp and Donna O'Brien have been steady performers all season. Knapp was 7-of-7 passing, recorded two kills and had seven digs. O'Brien was 9-of-10 attacking with four kills.

Kelly Coulson was the leading server, putting 18 of 19 into play for 17 points, including four aces. Debbie Weintraub had 10 assists, but "there's not much play when you're serving real hard," Lubieniecki said. "The game ends quickly."

"The key was serve reception. Both games were decided by the fact we were serving real, real hard."

The Raiders are 3-0 against Western Lakes teams and 6-1 overall.

Let your body take control of your mind

Now that is a new year, I am making a resolution to be healthier. My husband has been bugging me to change. I've had serious alcohol problems and sometimes get very depressed. I can't seem to take control. Any suggestions?

You haven't given me a whole lot of information about yourself. I will have to answer in general terms.

First of all, you are not to feel alone. You have lots of company out there.

You say you sometimes get very depressed. There is a clear link between psychological issues and health habits; a very strong mind/body connection.

Are you a pessimist?

Pessimists (those who suspect that bad things are caused by personal failings that will be with them forever) are more likely to have poor health than optimists, who generally believe they can change things.

If you get depressed and believe that nothing you do matters, then why should you bother making lifestyle changes?

Being an optimist, you can take better control of your life. For example, some studies show that optimists can give up smoking more easily because they have confidence to know that can make a difference in their lives.

Dr. Martin Seligman, professor of psychology at the University of Pennsylvania, says that "when someone feels depressed, hormonal changes in the body have an impact on the immune system and lower resistance to disease." I don't mean to scare you with these cold, hard facts, but it is important not to ignore them.

On the brighter side, it is possible to make changes and take control. Let your body control your mind. For many years, psychiatrists have written prescriptions for patients. As the body gets healthier, a person starts to feel differently about themselves. It's called attitude change.

Here are some suggestions:

- Start with small changes that will allow you to take control over your behavior.

- Seeing a diet or exercise program as a means of gaining control over your life may change the type of plan you follow. A rigid diet that allows no substitutes nor slip-ups often backfires. You may follow a diet for a few weeks and lose weight, but once on your own, you may lose confidence.

- Don't look for a quick fix. It takes a lot of patience. Take on one challenge at a time. I would start with exercise because it will make you feel accomplished the fastest and put you in touch with your body.

Remember to let your body influence your mind and help you gain the confidence you need to make changes. Build control over your new healthy habits slowly. We are dealing with long-term commitment.

(Myrna Partrich, co-owner of The Workout Company of Bloomfield Township, is happy to answer any questions readers may have regarding exercise. Please send your questions to: Sports Department, Myrna Partrich, 1225 Bowers, Birmingham 48012.)

Canton cagers rebound, 67-50

Plymouth Canton put the wheels of its basketball machine back on the tracks Friday night, beating Livonia Churchill 67-50 to snap a two-game losing streak.

The Chargers couldn't keep pace with the Chiefs, 3-2 in the Western Division and 7-4 overall. Canton led 11-10 after one quarter, 30-22 at the half and 50-37 after three periods.

Brian Paupore netted 18 points for the winners, and Troy Waldron added 17 and nine rebounds.

Nobody scored in double figures for Churchill, 3-8 overall, 1-4 in the division.

Mike Picha and Ryan Polny had eight points apiece and Mike Juodawikis six. Picha and Juodawikis each had six rebounds.

Canton, which entertains Walled Lake Western on Tuesday, hit 21 of 26 free throws to 9-of-16 shooting for Churchill.

REDFORD U. 76, GARDEN CITY 60: According to Redford Union basketball coach Tip Smathers, the Panthers "had two good quarters" against visiting Garden City Friday. Those two proved to be more than enough.

RU exploded to a 24-12 lead after one quarter and 50-26 at the half, handing the Cougars their ninth defeat in 10 games by a 76-60 score.

"We kind of coasted in the third quarter, and I played the substitutes the whole last quarter," said Smathers, whose team improved to 6-3 overall, 2-1 in the Northwest Suburban League. GC dipped to 6-3 in the NSL. "It wasn't that they were playing that bad, we just played well."

Particularly in the first half. Steve Nowak poured in 20 points for RU, including four three-pointers. Chris Warzecha added 11, Joe Deligauw netted 10, and Lee Tappy got nine points and eight rebounds.

The Cougars were paced by Joe Gorak with 13 points, Rick Morton with 11 and Steve Wallace with 10.

JOHN GLENN 61, W.L. CENTRAL 50: The final 11-point margin made what was actually a lopsided affair seem respectable. Westland John Glenn (6-4 overall, 3-2 in the Western Lakes' Lakes Division) led 18-9 after one quarter, 37-19 at the half and 61-27 after three quarters Friday against visiting Walled Lake Central.

The closest the Vikings (0-11 overall, 0-7 in the Lakes) got was nine points — 59-50 in the game's closing moments. The Rockets were up 12-1 to start; a Greg Anderson three-pointer gave them a 23-9 lead with 3:00 left in the first half. Central outscored Glenn's subs 23-12 in the final quarter to make it semiclose.

Bobby Lawrence's 13 points was best for the Rockets. Chris Poplin and Eric Spencer added 10 each. Derk Wallace netched 13 for Central.

W.L. WESTERN 52, FRANKLIN 50: Mark Kocsis sank a 15-foot jumper with 45 seconds left Friday to give host Walled Lake Western (4-7, 2-3) the WLLA Western Division win over Livonia Franklin (3-5, 2-3).

Mark Donohue scored a game-high 20 points in a losing cause. Teammate John Santi added nine. Chris Sobczek paced the Warriors with 11.

LUTHERAN EAST 58, CLARENCEVILLE 50: Harper Woods Lutheran East overcame a 24-39 halftime deficit Friday to beat visiting Livonia Clarenceville in a Metro Conference encounter.

Jason Larson and Derrick Herr scored 17 and 11, respectively, in a losing cause for the Trojans, now 3-5 overall and 2-3 in the Metro.

Brite Ware and Chris Williams paced the Eagles, now 6-5 overall and 4-1 in the Metro, with 12 points apiece.

WAYNE 74, WYANDOTTE 48: Wayne Memorial set the tone for its Wolverine A League game against visiting Wyandotte Roosevelt in the first quarter, outscoring its foes 25-8 en route to a one-sided result Friday.

Tony Rumpel topped the Zebras (2-2 overall, 5-2 in the WAL) with 19 points. Kevin Hankerson scored 15 and Leonard Wade had nine. Don Lipinski led Wyandotte (2-7 overall, 1-6 in the WAL) with 15 points.

Wayne led 33-19 at the half and 57-27 after three quarters.

Kareem-less Borgess creams CC

CC WAS UNABLE to keep up with the quicker Spartans, especially during the second quarter when the Spartans outscored the Shamrocks 22-2. Borgess trailed 13-9 after the first quarter, but opened up a 31-15 lead at halftime. CC made only one of nine field goals in the second quarter, and its biggest threat, Ray Richards was scoreless in the first half.

Reshawn Sumler, a 6-4 sophomore, replaced Carpenter in the starting lineup and finished with a respectable six points and five rebounds.

The real difference came from the backcourt, where North and Shawn Respert combined to score 36 points and make seven 3-point shots. North made six 3-pointers, including three in the decisive second quarter.

"I just told myself tonight's the night to win," North said. "I'm not going to hold anything back. Every time I got the ball I felt I had to put the team ahead."

CC made a run at Borgess in the second half and trailed by only four, 48-44 with 3:05 left in the game.

BORGESS SCORED the next five points on a 3-pointer by North and two free throws by Dwayne Hayes, to open up a 53-44 lead with 1:34 remaining.

Richards did his best to keep CC close, scoring all 16 of his points in the second half. Jeff Schaner added 11 for the Shamrocks and Terry Boykin, who spent most of the night in foul trouble, scored nine. Boykin fouled out with just more than a minute left.

"Terry was out of sync tonight," Holowicki said. "He didn't set the tone and show good leadership. Still, he's a young man and that happens sometimes."

Fusco praised Sumler, who had some awfully big shoes to fill.

"He's coming along," Fusco said. "He's going to be a fine player once he gets more strength. I talked to Reshawn and told him I wanted him to be our rebounder. And I told our whole team to be physical. The first time we played them they outthrustled us, and I didn't want that to happen again."

Salem routes Spartans

"This was his best job as far as aggressiveness and being into it," said the Stevenson coach. "He took the shot when it was there."

"Overall, I think we've done a good job preparing without Vrooman. We have more quickness, but then we're not able to go inside as much. We're kind of caught in between right now."

Three other Spartans notched double figures, including three-point bomber Rick Laven and Scott Kosikowski, who added 12 each. Ron Baran chipped in with 11.

Meanwhile, Elliott has made a smooth adjustment from point-guard to forward for the Rocks, while Scott Hale (10 points) has also adapted to coming off the bench and playing up-front.

"Jeff's the guy we look to and he's been hot," said Brodie. "He likes to play inside. But we've got other people who can shoot it like (Craig) Marshall (10 points) and (Jeff) Gold. They've come on strong and that's allowed Hale and Elliott, who have been guards all their life, to play their natural positions."

S'craft women 18-0

After a slow start, Schoolcraft College's womens basketball team got rolling, right past Siena Heights by an 84-66 margin Tuesday at Siena Heights.

The victory was SC's 18th-straight without a loss. The Lady Ocelots are atop the Eastern Conference with a 7-0 mark.

Michelle Dyksinski hit nine-of-15 shots and led SC with 18 points. Barb Krug (from Plymouth Salem) had 13 points and 13 rebounds, and Tracey Baron finished with 11 points.

The Lady Ocelots overcame their slow start to lead 38-28 at the half. They took complete command by scoring the first eight points of the second half and built leads as big as 25. Everyone played and scored for SC.

Siena Heights fell to 7-8.

No one is immune.

"My kid using drugs? No way. . ."

At Catherine McAuley Health Center's Chemical Dependency Program we've heard it over and over again. Alcohol and drug abuse only happens to someone else's kid. Well, it's time you heard the truth: no one is immune.

We suggest you take the following test to help you see if your child may have a problem. While it isn't always easy to separate typical adolescent behavior from chemically induced behavior, most teenager alcoholics and drug abusers exhibit many of the following signs.

Check the symptoms you see in your child. Remember, these can develop over a period of many months. If you observe some of the following or if you know something isn't right with your child, we recommend you take action.

School

- ☐ Skips classes, whole days or drops out
- ☐ Drop in grades
- ☐ Drug-related graffiti on notebooks, papers

Behavior

- ☐ Has money but no job
- ☐ Extreme mood swings (euphoria, depression, hostility, oversensitivity)
- ☐ Talks about suicide, spirit world, devil
- ☐ Loses interest in hobbies or sports
- ☐ Drastic change of friends

Physical Evidence

- ☐ Displays obvious drunkenness or red eyes, drooping lids, "thick" voice
- ☐ Paraphernalia among belongings such as pipes, roach clips, cigarette papers, glass vials, film containers or seeds.
- ☐ Increased or frequent use of eye drops

Family Impact

- ☐ Parents argue more about child's behavior
- ☐ Home situation becomes increasingly angry and volatile
- ☐ Child's moods determine the mood of the family
- ☐ Doesn't keep curfew

There is hope. You may have taken the first step already by recognizing there is a problem. Call 572-4308 now for an adolescent assessment. Let's work together to beat drug abuse.

WRITE IT AND REAP!

Writing a classified ad that gets results—whether it be for real estate, employment, the personals, transportation, or merchandise—is easy if you follow the guidelines below.

1. Give the reader specific information. Pretend you are someone reading the classifieds. What would you like to know about the item, service or job you are advertising? Be sure to add details such as color, size, condition, brand name, age, features and benefits. Be accurate! Don't embellish your ad with misleading information. Stick to the facts and reap the rewards!

2. Include the price. Don't waste your time or a potential buyer's time. If you advertise the price of the item or service you offer, the people who respond to your ad will be those who are genuinely interested. Surveys show that readers are more interested in those items and services they know are within their price range.

3. Avoid abbreviations. Don't make a potential customer work too hard! Although you may be tempted to cut down on the cost of your ad by using abbreviations, surveys indicate that many people don't understand such abbreviations as EIK (eat-in kitchen) or WSW (white side wall) tires and won't take the time to figure them out. A confused reader is a disinterested reader. Get the most for your money and use complete words.

4. Include phone number and specify hours. Be sure to let potential customers know when and where to call. Surveys show that even if a person is very interested in your item or service, he or she will not call back after the first attempt. Stay near the phone during the hours you indicate you will be available. Don't risk missing a sale!

5. Run on consecutive days. Your ad will not get results if people don't see it! Therefore, it is important to set up a consistent and consecutive ad schedule with your telephone salesperson or outside sales representative.

STREET SCENE

Getting 'real' about loops and twirls

By Sharon Dargay
staff writer

The closest I ever got to joining the Ice Capades was a tap dancing recital in a neighbor's basement during the second grade.

In crepe paper costumes and paper plate tiaras, we shuffle-kick-kick-shuffled before an audience of squirming siblings and applauding parents, a dozen Shirley Temples in synchronized step.

I was in a subterranean tap dancing class because the clikky patent leather shoes and linoleum were easier on weak ankles than steel blades and ice.

My skating debut had ended in disaster a year earlier. While my classmates stroked effortlessly around the glassy surface of the playground, I had wobbled two blocks home in a friend's over-sized skates.

I quit tap dancing before my costume needs expanded from plain paper plate to flashy Chinnet, still dreaming of skating stardom.

I outgrew my dance shoes, but grew into a pair of skates. Tightening my laces until I felt like a bound oriental princess, I learned to skate forward, backward and on one foot as a teen.

As I cut jaggedy figure threes into the ice at a neighborhood rink, I could hear the distant voices of ABC Olympic commentators.

"A half-tumble and spin out on the ice in the rump position! She is in rare form for this program tonight, Dick!"

"You know Jim, she may not jump or spin or turn or even stop like other professional skaters, but her choreography is unquestionably creative."

"I REALLY like the way the sparkles on her Chinnet tiara catch the light."

"Watch this move — a toe pick stumble, into a flailing arm spin and stomach dive around the hockey players. Brilliant..."

At 34, I have given up dreaming and enrolled in group lessons.

After a dozen half-hour classes, I can do one of those ballerina-in-a-jewelry box spins without the need of Dramamine. I have mastered a wobbly one-foot spin, several graceful turns and a variety of jumps to almost-jumps to my feet-never-leave-the-ice jumps.

It looks easy, but it's hard work, requiring four to six hours of practice a week. And sometimes it's a little scary.

"Adults are cautious, but they can do it. I'm like the rest of them. I'm not ready to break a leg," said Beverly Griffin, a teacher at Livonia's ice arena.

"It takes a lot of determination. Adults are starting to come out of their shells and compete. It seems to be a desire some people have. They watch ice skating and say, 'gosh, I'd like to do that.'"

Griffin was no different. She longed to figure skate, but didn't start lessons until she was 12. The opportunity came along to join a club, followed by private lessons, competition and a three-year stint with an ice revue.

But Griffin says most adults take up skating because they enjoy the exercise — "It's at the top of the list for burning calories." Or they want to learn a few dazzling moves on the ice. Some simply think skating is fun.

"IT DOESN'T take adults long to learn forward, backward and edges. For freestyle moves, it depends on their ability and whether they care if they fall down."

"A lot of people take private lessons to better their skills. I have some adults here at six in the morning before they go to work," she said. "Most adults will skate a lot during the week. If they work, they'll look for other arenas where they can get ice time."

Adults who have mastered some basic moves can join the Livonia arena's precision skating team.

No freestyle competitions are available for adults, although Joyce Herron, coordinator of adult classes at the Detroit Skating Club in Bloomfield Hills, said the concept is "beginning to take off."

"Once adults see that they can compete and not feel embarrassed, they'll participate," she said. "But you've got to offer them the opportunity."

The Ice Skating Institute of America, a group dedicated to recreational skating, held its first international competition this year. Herron hopes it will encourage more adult competitors.

That's what Clela Jarmon of Royal Oak is aiming for.

Jarmon heads for the Birmingham Ice Arena during lunch breaks from her job as a physical therapist at William Beaumont Hospital.

At 29, she has tackled her first eight-week session of group classes, with an eye toward mastering a "routine with technicality."

"I want so badly to be able to skate elegantly, to be able to do all of this fun stuff," she admitted. "When there's a skating show on TV you can't pull me away."

AFTER A semester of classes, Jarmon is perfecting her one-foot spin and several jumps.

"I pick up on things quickly, but I don't get it down perfectly. I have to work on it. I have a fear of falling, so I don't get a lot of height to my jumps," she said. "But my advice to adults is don't be afraid. Get out there and try. You may fall down, but you can get back up and try again."

Karen Van Elslander, 19, of Warren, did just that. "I tried skating when I was a kid, but couldn't even stand up. I was 18 when I put on skates again. I was surprised. I could skate forward and backward," she said.

After about 15 sessions in the rink, she tried executing a few fancy moves, slipped on a crack in the ice and broke her leg.

"I started skating again in July. I just love it. I can't believe I can do some of these moves."

Van Elslander, a Wayne State University accounting major, spends about six hours on the ice every week, including a half-hour group lesson.

When she began skating again last summer, she upgraded her skates from off-the-shelf to professional models.

Griffin and Herron say good equipment can make the difference between a mediocre and good skater.

"It has to fit well and be well-sharpened," Griffin said. "Skates should fit like a leather glove. You don't have to pay $500 for a pair, but you'll probably pay $100 or more."

ADULTS TEND to buy oversized skates. But correctly fitted boots generally run one size or more smaller than street shoes. Boots should fit snugly with tights or thin socks. Blades are purchased separately.

The padded, stiff boots are a must for properly executing jumps with ease.

"Adults who are 30 to 40 years old can learn to jump," Herron stressed. "They wouldn't join an ice show — you have to have stamina coming out of your ears for that — but they can learn to jump."

Darn.

I knew the U.S. Olympic Team was out, but I was hoping for a spot in some traveling ice extravaganza.

There's more to ice skating than lessons

Practice makes perfect.

That's especially true when it comes to figure skating.

Half-hour weekly lessons can give adults the how-to's of spinning and jumping, but don't allow enough time for mastering the moves.

That's when open skating periods come in handy.

Adult sessions are 11:45 a.m. to 12:45 p.m. Monday through Friday at the Eddie Edgar Arena, 33841 Lyndon, Livonia; 11 a.m. to 12:50 p.m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday at the Redford Arena, 12400 Beech Daly; 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Monday through Friday and 9:10-10:30 p.m. Sundays at the Birmingham Ice Arena, 2300 East Lincoln; and 8:30-10 p.m. Wednesdays at the Beech Woods Arena, 22200 Beech, Southfield.

Oak Park's Ice Arena, 13950 Oak Park Blvd., also offers a late-night adult session from 10:30 p.m. to 12:30 a.m. Fridays.

Here's a schedule of half-hour adult classes:

● Birmingham — Classes cost $45 for eight weeks, beginning Jan. 23.

● Detroit Skating Club — Sessions cost $35. Registration began Jan. 9.

● Garden City — Classes cost $17.50 for eight weeks, beginning Feb. 20, at the rink, located on Cherry Hill just east of Merriman.

● Livonia — Classes cost $18 for eight weeks beginning Jan. 30.

● Plymouth — Classes cost $22 for eight weeks, beginning Jan. 23, at the rink, located in the municipal cultural center.

● Redford — A seven-week session costs $25. Current session began Jan. 17.

● Southfield — Classes cost $20 for a five-week session.

● Westland — Adult classes cost $26 for seven weeks. Classes began Jan. 7 at the rink, 6210 Wildwood.

Chilly challenge: Outdoor skating

Skate outdoors? In the cold? On a homemade rink or frozen pond?

"It's great," said Beverly Griffin, a teacher at Livonia's ice arena. "I grew up on outdoor ice, and there are few of them left. Outdoor skating is absolutely marvelous."

But there are drawbacks to outdoor skating, too.

Skaters can take some pretty nasty falls, if they glide into cracks or icy bumps on a natural surface. And because rough ice can nick or dull blades, skate sharpening is a must after use on an outdoor rink.

Most figure skaters who enjoy the sport outdoors keep two pairs of skates, wearing the best equipment indoors.

"This generation doesn't know much about outdoor skating. But those who do love it," Griffin said. "When my kids were young, we made a backyard ice rink every year. We put out flood lights, skated and had a great time. Then we'd come inside and have hot chocolate and marshmallows near the fireplace."

If you're longing for a similar experience, fill the thermos, don ear muffs and mittens and head for these outdoor rinks when the weather becomes snowy and cold:

BIRMINGHAM — Some residents head for Quanton Lake when the temperature drops. The city doesn't clean snow off the lake or maintain it as a rink, but skaters can shovel it clear themselves when the ice is safe. The lake is just north of Maple west of Southfield Road.

BLOOMFIELD HILLS SCHOOL DISTRICT — The district will flood two areas in its outdoor education center for skating this year. One will be available to hockey players and the other for figure and leisure skaters. Both will be open only to district residents.

CANTON TOWNSHIP — The township will flood an area at Flodin Park on Saltz between Sheldon and Lilley.

FARMINGTON HILLS — Skaters use Heritage Park on Farmington Road between 10 and 11 Mile roads.

LIVONIA — The city maintains rinks at Algonquin Park, Henry Ruff and Lyndon; Dooley Park, Lyndon and Harrison; Kingsbury Park, Levan and Westbrook; and Sheldon Park, Plymouth and Loveland.

HURON-CLINTON METRO-PARKS — Skaters can cut a fancy figure into the ice on Stony Lake in Stony Creek Park, in Washington, Kent Lake in Milford and on the Huron River at Lower Huron Metro-park in Belleville.

PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP — Skaters head to Wilcox Lake at Hines Drive and Northville roads.

ROCHESTER AND ROCHESTER HILLS — Skaters use the pond adjacent to Rochester City Hall, on Woodward north of Walton, or the lake in Thelma Spencer Park on John R, north of M-59, in Rochester Hills.

TROY — Sylvan Lake on Rochester road south of Square Lake road will become a rink.

'Torch Song' looks at subject of homosexuality

RECENT RELEASES:

On the assumption that you haven't had time to screen last week's eight new movies, the distributors only released two films this week — "Torch Song Trilogy" and "Full Moon in Blue Water," starring the over-popular Gene Hackman, currently appearing in "Mississippi Burning."

Hackman shares with Michael Caine the distinction of "busiest actor in town." In recent years, each has appeared in six or more films. In an industry where they soon forget, your name on the marquee is the name of the game.

At press time, no screenings had been scheduled for "Full Moon in Blue Water" but it is described as an R-rated comedy about the complicated relationships of four people whose lives revolve around the Blue Water Grill. Can it be "Mystic Pizza" with guys?

In addition to Hackman, the film stars Teri Garr, Burgess Meredith and Elias Koteas.

"Torch Song Trilogy," (B) (R) 112 minutes, has received wide coverage in the press. In case you haven't been reading the entertainment sections, this is Harvey Fierstein's sensitive discussion of homosexuality in our society.

Based on his award-winning Broadway play, Fierstein wrote the screenplay and stars as Arnold Beckoff, a homosexual who believes closets are for clothes as he deals openly with his sexual preferences.

Matthew Broderick's appearance in the New York production led to his successful career in films. This time he plays Alan, a successful model who becomes Arnold's lover. There's also Arnold's bisexual lover, Ed (Brian Kerwin).

As for family, only Arnold's mother (Anne Bancroft) makes any impact — father and brother are just there. Ed's wife, Laurel (Karen Young) has some influence. Arnold does well as a female impersonator and the film's best moments are musical sequences in the club where he works as Virginia Hamm, a singer of the blues, those torch songs of the title.

Marvelous faces people this show of female impersonators, particularly the fat face of the "mistress" of ceremonies. The complete naturalism of these scenes is compelling and that genuine quality pervades the film's open attitude toward homosexuality.

With this unaffected naturalism, the club scenes reek of "Cabaret" and the decadence of German Expressionism in the '20s, save one thing. Smoke and dim lights notwithstanding, it's all too slick, too clean and neat, as are the back rooms where the boys go for a quickie.

Seldom do film characters look at the camera; that breaks the illusion of realism upon which film depends.

But twice in "Torch Song Trilogy," Fierstein turns to the camera and speaks directly to us. In particular, the opening monologue in his dressing room effectively and touchingly describes the plight of homosexuals in a heterosexual world that is, at best, only tolerant.

Besides the unnaturally tidy scenes of decadence, the film has several other jarring inconsistencies, notably Arnold and Alan's choice of neighborhood after receiving approval to adopt a young boy.

While my legal expertise doesn't cover such situations, I'll assume that homosexuals are allowed to adopt homosexual boys, despite the lack of any explanation in the film. Certainly, the apartment to which they move seems out of place for the neighborhood. But, then, that's New York.

"Torch Song Trilogy" presents itself as a plea for acceptance of homosexuals. It's done well enough — at least until the last half hour — so that it stands as an appeal for tolerance for all outsiders. However, the film's basic premise breaks down under careful scrutiny and the last 30 minutes drag and begin to grate on the nerves.

The assumption of "Torch song Trilogy" is that homosexuality is natural and society is at fault for not accepting it. No generative force for Arnold's homosexuality is presented, just his several statements that he always knew — plus a gratuitous opening scene where Ma discovers the "Young Arnold" (Benji Schulman) in drag.

Her face quickly registers surprise, understanding and acceptance. That, taken with the film's refusal to present causation for Arnold's homosexuality — in fact, there's considerable testimony that the family scene couldn't have been better — and Arnold's constant plea for openness and acceptance, leaves the clear indication that society is wrong for discriminating against a natural inclination.

My clinical standing is even lower than my legal, but it seems to me that there's a problem with that assumption. While society has an obligation to guarantee the rights of all members — no matter how they chose to deviate from the norm, providing they don't harm others — that doesn't mean that everything is within the natural order of things.

Style reinforces concept and one way "Torch Song" proves that society is at fault for not accepting homosexuality is the curious way in which Anne Bancroft and Harvey Fierstein sound so much alike.

That similarity may be appropriate for mother and child, despite the gulf that separates them. But Bancroft's performance is forced and harsh, almost a caricature of the New York Jewish mother, despite testimony to a fine family life. The vocal similarity just doesn't work and becomes irritating.

Hidden in Bancroft's performance is a split personality who either is or isn't responsible for her son. You can't have it both ways, and the film gets murky when Bancroft becomes the villain for not accepting Arnold as he is.

With the two of them yelling at each other with roughly the same vocal qualities, it rubs harshly on the sensibilities and approximates being forced to watch what goes on in other people's bathrooms.

The message we get from all this is mixed. The film makes a profound plea for tolerance of those who do not meet the norm. That and its fine music, fast-paced cutting, upbeat style and entertaining comedy are to its credit.

However, the premise that homosexuality is normal is a little hard to take. Given problems in the last 30 minutes, "Torch Song Trilogy" probably will only play well to sophisticated, big-city audiences and the coverage it's been receiving won't be matched at the box office.

ALTERNATIVE VIEWING

August balances good, grim in 'Pelle'

By Ann Sharp
special writer

"Pelle the Conqueror," a Danish film by director Billie August, is a quiet sort of masterpiece. Nothing shows about it. All its exquisite, craftmanlike elements of acting, scripting, cinematography blend unostentatiously into an engrossing piece of storytelling.

The story it tells is one that seems increasingly popular with filmmakers in recent years. Like "Pixote" and "Salaam Bombay," it's a coming-of-age drama about a child who isn't permitted much of a childhood, because he is poor and must fend for himself in a cruel, unfeeling world.

"PELLE" is taken from a series of novels, written by Danish author Martin Andersen Nexø at the turn of the century. It's about a young Swede who rises from humble beginnings to become a powerful labor leader. From what we learn of Pelle's boyhood in this film, it's no wonder he grew up to be a radical.

The film opens with Pelle, about 10 years old, arriving with his elderly father in Denmark. The father aspires Pelle that they've come to a wonderful place where there's plenty of good things to eat and drink and fathers earn so much money their children can just play all day.

It soon becomes apparent that Pelle's father doesn't know what he's talking about. Within a few hours, these two hapless, hungry immigrants have signed on at a Stone Farm, a horrid sort of slave labor camp where both children and parents work like dogs, and the only nice thing to eat is the fruit of the strawberry plant Pelle's father brought over from Sweden.

STONE FARM is presided over by the most vile, revolting agricultural capitalist ever dreamt up by a Marxist novelist. Kongstrup — what a monster's name! — is a creature so unrelievedly greedy and vicious that his evil aura permeates every aspect of the farm.

Handsome, decent, gentle young Pelle is his antithesis. He will not be crushed by Stone Farm's brutality; equally, he refuses to use his strength to become an oppressor himself.

In Pelle's world, there is no room for innocence, only ignorance. Pelle is spared nothing. He is mentally and physically abused and forced to witness unspeakably ugly, violent events. Because his cowardly, weak-willed father isn't up to the job, he must be his own parent.

IN LESS skillful hands, "Pelle" might have been an unbearably depressing film. But August finds the right balance between the grim aspects of Pelle's life and its happier, more hopeful ones.

There is much wisdom here and a quiet sort of humor. August presents the story's often tragic and horrific occurrences in an admirably low-key manner, making them comprehensible rather than shocking.

Max von Sydow is so often type-cast as a stoic pillar of Nordic machismo. It's delightful to see how convincing he is as Pelle's kindly, but sadly simple-minded father.

As von Sydow plays him, he makes you wonder how poor Pelle has survived so long under his care. Nevertheless, the genuine love he conveys for the boy, a role well acted by Pelle Hvenegaard, is evidently the very thing that enables Pelle not only to survive, but to conquer.

Good news, international film fans. The Park Theater in Windsor has tentative plans to reopen Feb. 1. Call (519) 971-9983 for details.

"Spellbound" (1945), Cinema Guild, 7 p.m. Jan. 28, Angell Hall, with "Strangers on a Train" (1951) and 9 p.m. Freud would gag at the way Hitchcock misused his theories in the psychological thriller "Spellbound," but it's worth seeing for its famous Salvador Dali dream sequence. "Monty Python and the Holy Grail" (1975), Alternative Action, 7, 8:40 and 10:20 p.m. Jan. 28, Natural Science Auditorium. Mad parody of the King Arthur myth is far and above the best thing that Python ever did on film.

'Sunday Night' finds its musical niche

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

The set on "Sunday Night" doesn't include a rake or a garden hose. But the spirit of the garage jam session is certainly there.

Since its debut in October on NBC, the hour-long music show (seen at 1 a.m. on Channel 4) has found a niche in terms of diversity. Tired of watching Billy Idol shadow box his way through a video or listening to an artist endlessly plug their album on a talk show? "Sunday Night" might be the answer.

Musical acts — both established and new — are featured along with archive film clips of great artists. Also, there's a first-rate house band that includes Marcus Miller and Hiram Bullock on guitar, Omar Hakim on drums and Philippe Saisse on keyboards.

But one of the most interesting parts of the show is when musicians from differing styles get together. Past segments have included Paul Simon producing Eddie Palmieri Band and James Taylor performing Latin American music with Milton Nascimento.

Future possibilities are endless. Jools Holland of the British pop band Squeeze and co-host of the show thinks of the ultimate musical pairings.

"I would like to get Ray Charles on with someone you wouldn't expect like, hmmm... Talking Heads," said Holland, in a telephone interview from New York. "Now that would be a good show."

EVEN HOLLAND and fellow host, David Sanborn, are from different musical perspectives. Sanborn is a highly acclaimed saxophonist, working with the likes of David Bowie, James Brown, The Eagles, Bruce Springsteen and Roger Waters of Pink Floyd.

Holland is keyboardist with the often-praised British pop band, Squeeze. The TV stage, though, is quite different than the musical one.

"There's a lot of sex and violence on television," he said. "So, obviously, I'm getting my share of sex and violence."

Co-hosts of "Sunday Night," which debuted in October on NBC and is seen at 1 a.m. on WDIV-TV, Channel 4, are Jools Holland (left) and David Sanborn.

The zany English popster is no stranger to television. In fact, he fronted a music show, "The Tube," in Great Britain.

"The Tube" offered quite an array of musical acts. Then again, that might be attributed to Holland's vast tastes that include jazz, boogie-woogie, ska and funk.

Both Holland and Sanborn have been involved in selecting guests for "Sunday Night." The philosophy is fairly basic — avoid the commercial flash-in-the-pans and stick with those who've had a profound impact on contemporary music.

"There's a uniformed pattern in the people we've chosen to be on the show in that they're all good at what they do," Holland said. "We're not just going to have someone on just because they have the sexiest bottom at the moment."

As musicians, Holland and Sanborn have an added insight to the business. Holland said it can be an advantage with guests.

BUT HE quickly adds that he's careful things don't become too technical for those of us who think a chord is something you plug into a wall and fret is what you do at tax time.

The spontaneity of live music is what Holland believes will sell the show in the long run. Already, there's been plenty of that since October.

"When we had Squeeze on (Sunday night), Hiram Bollack filled in at rhythm guitar," he said. "He put some things into the music we hadn't heard before. That lifted the whole thing and made it exciting."

By taking a different path, Holland is expecting overnight success. Though he does expect the "Sunday Night" audience to grow steadily.

"I think people are underestimated," he said. "People have more intelligence and a broader sense of taste than they are given credit for."

Hopefully, we're introducing them to people they've never heard of before."

Strange Bedfellows: It's a 'marriage' made in music

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

To the naked eye, there might not be a sheet big enough to cover Strange Bedfellows.

The makeup of the six-member band has more potential for divisions than General Motors. First, there is the married couple of Jan and Jim Blaschak. Then there are the two guys and the four women.

But the real powder keg is trying to pair two lead singers, which Strange Bedfellows attempted in the beginning. Experiments like that usually end in an exchange of gunfire.

But animosity between singers Missy Gibson and Beth Yates? No way, right?

"I think there was at first," said Gibson, whose charming, yet powerful voice fronts Strange Bedfellows. "I think we were threatened by one another. We weren't mean to each other or anything. One day we sat down and sorted it out."

So, the plan is to have Gibson sing lead. Yates follows with harmonies, fronting the band on a couple of numbers. The rest of the group backs up the vocals with some polished musicianship and everyone will live happily ever after.

"It's a happy medium," said Yates, 22, of Birmingham.

EXCUSE US, Strange Bedfellows. While you're at it, there's the Middle East conflict and the troubles in Northern Ireland to solve.

Ironically, Strange Bedfellows was the end result of a split in another band, Of All Things. Some of those members went on to form Walk the Dogma. Jan Blaschak (bass) and husband, Jim Blaschak, (guitar) put together their own group that includes Shawn Scannell (keyboards) and Syndi Bauer (drums) along with Gibson and Yates.

In a short amount of time, Strange Bedfellows has been able to head off any potential rifts and laid the foundation for some rather heady music.

Gibson writes most of the songs and performs them in a delicate manner. She is a theater major at Wayne State University, a trained opera singer and a self-proclaimed poet.

On stage, Gibson exudes a warmth without being smarmy, a perkiness that doesn't induce vomiting.

"I don't want to come on too strong," said Gibson, 21, a Birmingham native. "I want people to like me for what I am. I'm a simple person. I love people."

Love might be too strong, but one can easily take to Strange Bedfellows. At a recent performance at the Hamtramck Pub, a five-week layoff was apparent in terms of rustiness. Also, one member was felled by a migraine headache and another was suffering with bronchitis.

Still, the band shone. The sound is a sweet mix of past and present.

"I grew up listening to the music of the 1960s and 1970s," Yates said. "I see our band having roots in that. But I feel we're polished in a new music sound."

Strange Bedfellows includes Jan Blaschak (bass), husband Jim Blaschak (guitar), Sean Scannell (keyboards) and Syndi Bauer (drums) along with singers Missy Gibson and Beth Yates.

BAND MEMBERS are busily polishing up a six-song cassette that will be released within in the next couple of months. The tape is being recorded at Temperrill Studios in Livonia. Plans include to play live at least twice a month and concentrate on writing material.

For Jim and Jan Blaschak, who live in Southfield, Strange Bedfellows is a dream come true. Both — they met while waiting for a SEMTA bus at Wayne State — had played in a number of cover bands before Of All Things came about.

Differences in direction split that group (Jan Blaschak said the breakup was amicable), but she feels Strange Bedfellows has a better chance for survival.

"Being in a band is like being married anyway," she said. "You either make it or you don't."

TRINITY SESSIONS

Cowboy Junkies

This took me by surprise. Such an innocent looking album cover masking a powerhouse of emotion. This is the second LP from the Cowboy Junkies, a Canadian band. Their first consisted mainly of cover versions of other people's songs, so this LP gives the first taste of their original work, and boy, what an appetizer!

We are introduced immediately to the haunting vocals of Margó Timmins when she sings the first song, "Mining for Gold," a cappella. Her voice is velvety smooth and lulls the listener into a melancholy trance. Upon hearing her gentleness, it is easy to miss the harsh realities of the lyrics.

The album then rolls into second gear when the rest of the band joins in discreetly for "Misguided Angel." With Margó Timmins' brother, Michael Timmins, on guitar, we hear her direct the song to her family members, trying to convince them that the man she has chosen to love is right for her. With the overwhelming air of sadness with which the song is delivered, I believe her!

This sadness is the predominant mood of the entire LP. It's perfect for listening to, if you just want to wrap yourself up in self-pity, and fall into a corner with your favorite bottle of whiskey.

On a slightly technical note, it's worth mentioning that this album was recorded in a church using only one microphone. This is particularly remarkable because of the fine quality of the sound and especially the beautiful balance of the diverse instruments used, backing vocals and, of course, bass and drums.

NEW YORK

— Lou Reed

The Reagan Revolution is said to have left debt, homelessness and a wider gap between the rich and the poor.

Also it has left Lou Reed quite cynical.

That is certainly evident on the former leader of the Velvet Underground's latest offering, "New York" (Sire). Reed leaves no 1980s stone unturned, addressing topics such as AIDS, toxic waste, extinction of whales, Vietnam vets and Kurt Waldheim.

His picture of this decade is not a pretty one, but it's real. It's one thing to ramble in vague generalities about current times, but nothing can quite stack up to the way Mr. Reed can sum up the experience.

As the album progresses, Reed gets more wound up. He doesn't take a jab at money-grabbing politicians and racist preachers, he slays them. Friend of the liberal, the Rev. Jesse Jackson, even takes some heat along with the Pontiff on "Good Evening

Mr. Waldheim." "If I ran for President and once was a member of the Klan/Wouldn't you call me on it the way I call you on Farrakhan."

Despite his obvious disdain for the 1980s, Reed doesn't leave without looking into the future. The bluesy "Beginning of a Great Adventure" reflects an artist who, if anything, is uncertain about lies ahead.

Aside from the lyrical content, the musicianship of Mr. Reed is excellent. His down-and-dirty guitar style ranks right up there with Keith Richards at times.

The minimalist approach of Reed is stark and yet so powerful.

3

—Violent Femmes

The Violent Femmes use a wash tub and a couple of acoustic guitars to relay their musical message. What is there in the end is, well, a wash tub and two acoustic guitars.

"3" (Slash/Warner) is the Milwaukee trio's first LP in nearly three years and hardly ranks as a grand musical statement of these times.

Perhaps the Femmes are a classic example of how the changing trends in music can make you out-dated very quick. The Violent Femmes, for all their pluses, sound like a very ordinary band here.

This time out, the Violent Femmes took a barebones approach into the studio. Overdubs didn't take place nor did a lot of session accompaniment. The idea was to come as close to their live sound as possible without putting out a live album. Spontaneity is at the forefront of the VF sound.

In the beginning, the Femmes succeed. A certain crispness exists when Gano begins to sing the opening track "Nightmares." And, yes, it's quite likeable.

But then things take a turn down repetitive avenue. Sophomore is the only way to describe Gano's composition "Fat." The core of the number is about wanting a former girlfriend to get fat so "she'll take me back." Deep stuff, there.

Then there is the piano stricken number "Nothing Worth Living For," which drowns in its own melodic self-pity.

What "3" needs is direction. It neither stops nor goes. A few cuts off this disc certainly are keepers. But for the most part, "3" is wayward bound.

STREET SENSE

Got a question? Schiff has the answer

Starting this week, Street Sense has some good advice for you, thanks to psychotherapist Barbara Schiff.

Schiff "always wanted to write an advice column," and now she is.

Besides a desire to write, she brings to the task years of experience as a counselor and therapist in private practice and as a school psychologist in Utica and Detroit.

"I provide a lot of marital therapy in my private practice, but it's really very eclectic, and I expect the column will be, too," she said. "Street Sense seems to attract a lot of younger readers, and many of the problems the column deals with will probably reflect that — getting along on a new job, dating, getting started in marriage."

Newspaper advice columns are hardly a substitute for therapy, but Schiff sees her new forum as something substantial, something more than just human interest reading.

"There are people who have problems, but can't ask anybody about them," she said. "There is something cathartic about saying what you're thinking. The column is sort of an intermediary step. If they can write down a problem and mail it in, they might take some advice, might go see somebody."

AN ANCIENT piece of advice recommends a healthy mind in a healthy body, a prescription that describes Schiff's resume.

Besides her private psychotherapy practice in Birmingham, she is co-owner of the Workout Co., an aerobics and fitness salon, also in Birmingham.

"I started running when I was 27," Schiff said, "and I was teaching aerobics at the Y 17 years ago before it was popular."

Schiff, who holds a master's degree in psychology from the University of Michigan, appeared a number of times on Sonia Friedman's TV show when it originated from Channel 4 in Detroit, and also has appeared on Channel 7's "Kelly & Co."

She lives in Birmingham with her husband, an attorney, and teenage stepson. Another stepson attends Oakland University, and her son is enrolled at the University of Vermont.

Dear Barbara,

I am a 38-year-old woman with a 6-year-old daughter. I was divorced five years ago and since then have developed a very close relationship with another woman. We are together all the time. She is wonderful with my daughter and helpful around the house.

My problem is that my mother doesn't like her. She, my mother, is nice enough to her when she is with me, but behind her back accuses her of trying to control me and "lead me around by the nose." None of this is true, but I am disturbed and confused because my mother said it.

My mother wants to leave her out of a party we are giving. What should I do?

Joan

Dear Joan,

Invite her. Your problem is that you are unsure of what to do. Someone is controlling you, if not your friend, then your mother. Why, otherwise, would a woman your age even consider listening to such a request from her mother or anyone else.

Find a nice way, or a not so nice way, if you prefer, to tell her to mind her own business. If she can't, you would be better off to make your own party preparations without her.

While your question seems innocuous enough, delving into it opens a Pandora's box. You sound like an extremely dependent woman for whom these conflicts must often arise.

There must be many situations in which you don't know what to do and question your instincts. That's what happens when our need for others' approval outweighs our need to find and develop ourselves.

You sound like just this sort of person and the older you get the more exaggerated this problem will become, because while others have taken some chances at being rejected to find out who they are and what they feel, you have stayed safe, but underdeveloped.

This has a cumulative effect. Take a look at yourself — possibly you could take some disapproval, if you could feel stronger as a result.

Barbara

Dear Barbara,

Even writing this down embarrasses me, but I must get an answer. The story is long, so bear with me.

My brother bought a large quantity of meat for our mother, but when it was delivered, either it had not been properly wrapped or had been frozen too long and was bad. I told my brother I would return it and I got a due bill for it. My mother reimbursed my brother, so now I really owed my mother the money, $60.

A few months later, my father asked me to pick up an expensive belt for him in New York. I bought the belt — it was $200 — and gave it to my father. When my father called to ask how much he owed me, it crossed my mind for an instant that he only owed me $140, but I said $200.

He caught me. He said didn't I have a due bill for $60 and was only owed $140. "Oh," I said, "I forgot." The matter was dropped.

I am so embarrassed that I tried to steal $60 from my father. Our relationship has never been a good one, but certainly, that doesn't justify stealing. It also makes me worry. Would I have ignored the whole incident, if I hadn't been caught, and am I stealing at other times and not aware of it?

Do you think I need counseling? As I said at the beginning, I do need some advice.

Justin

Dear Justin

First, to answer your question — do you need counseling — I don't know enough about you to make a recommendation. The problem you describe in your letter does not, by itself, indicate such a need. In fact, your self-awareness makes you the kind of person who could achieve self-growth without therapy.

The issue of lying and stealing and our society's attitude toward money in general is a complicated one that is often two-faced. While we say honesty is best, it is not the honest, but the rich that we admire. Thus, one must have an independent spirit to live honorably rather than greedily.

The other question that you ask is about whether you are not sometimes unaware of this deviant streak in your behavior. Without more information, I cannot answer, but again, that you're asking it shows that you are motivated toward admirable goals.

I once read that there must be tension between who we are and who we want to become for growth to occur. I hope that the tension you feel will work positively for you.

Barbara

Hemphill: Homing in on laughs

By Bob Sadler
special writer

The Comedy Store of Hollywood. Class of '74.

People would probably pay good money to see the 15-year reunion of all the comics who grabbed their first limelight back then.

David Letterman could be the host of such an event, or he could share the chores with Jay Leno, who went on to some late night hosting chores of his own.

Marsha Warfield, better known as Rox from NBC's "Night Court," would be there. So would Robin Williams, probably the best improvisational comic in the business today.

And certainly not lost in the shuffle would be Shirley Hemphill. Her work at The Comedy Store that year would be noticed by producer Norman Lear and his partner Bud Yorkin, which led to her role as Shirley the waitress in the late '70s sit-com, "What's Happening."

She remembers those early days at The Comedy Store quite well.

"We were all struggling at the time. Freddie Prinz (the late co-star or "Chico and the Man") and David Brenner were getting all the prime time back then," she said. "We were all after the big stars — just before the placed closed."

"When I started there, Jay Leno was at 1 a.m. David Letterman was behind him. I was behind him. Marsha (Warfield) was in there. And Robin Williams was always the last one — because he'd go on forever. Nobody would get behind Robin, or else they'd be backstage screaming 'get him off!'"

HEMPHILL FIRST made the trek to Hollywood from her hometown of Asheville, N.C., at the insistence of Flip Wilson, who was still riding high with a successful television show.

"I sent him some jokes on a tape," she recalled, "and they were the worst! He plays them back whenever I get a big head."

Once in Hollywood, Hemphill picked up some odd jobs to support herself. She had worked as a medical receptionist in North Carolina. Eventually, Wilson intervened again and moved her in the direction of The Comedy Store.

"I just sat there for a couple of weeks," she said. "My money started running low. I found out if you went there on a certain night and made a fool of yourself, you could get in free. The manager said that if I did well, he'd give me a slot."

She did well and joined the list of future comedy superstars on the roster. A couple of years later, a television opportunity knocked, but Hemphill almost didn't answer.

"I'd just come off and there was a man backstage asking me if I wanted to do television," she said. "At The Comedy Store then, it seemed like everybody had a card, was a producer and was doing a pilot. So I told him I wasn't interested."

"Later that night, Jimmy Walker (then starring in "Good Times") asked why I was telling Norman Lear I wasn't interested. I didn't even know who he was."

Hemphill went back to Lear and rectified the situation enough to get a screen test.

"I NEVER seen a script before, but I lied because I wanted to get in."

She wasn't originally chosen for the role of Shirley, the waitress at the neighborhood hangout of main characters Raj and Rerun of "What's Happening." An illness in the cast forced a reshuffling of female roles and, in Hemphill's words, "they panicked and called me."

"They asked if I could start Monday and who my agent was. Agent? I didn't have an agent! So I went to the phone book and called the first name."

"What's Happening" went on to a very successful three-season run on ABC, pegged nicely on Friday nights behind "Welcome Back, Kotter." Syndication followed for the show, and its unusual popularity led to a reunion of the cast for three more seasons in first-run syndication under the title "What's Happening Now" during the mid-'80s. Between stints on "What's Happening," she starred in the short-lived sit-com, "One in a Million."

Hemphill, now 41, said she'd like

"I use my observations of my family and relationships. Growing up, when all the little girls were out chasing boys, I was watching TV. Now that I'm an old lady, I'm saying 'where'd those little boys go?'"

HEMPHILL THINKS that audiences in the country's comedy clubs are much more sophisticated than they used to be, attributing it to the huge upsurge in the number of clubs and the influx of comedy programming on cable television.

"It's not as easy now, and there's so much competition," she said. "Regardless of who you are, if you aren't any good after 10 minutes, they want you off. That's why you have to work hard and not take anything for granted."

When asked what inspires her, Hemphill unabashedly responded, "money. I'm greedy."

She was kidding and corrected herself: "Actually, I just love doing comedy."

JAMAICA

Things are getting back to normal in Jamaica, even for tree ducks, following Hurricane Gilbert in September.

Dunn's River Falls near Ocho Rios is popular with tourists, who pay the park admission, which is less than a dollar, and for another dollar hire a native guide to lead them on a 20-minute climb up the waterfall.

Come back to a paradise renewed

You can find everything, including hammocks, for sale in the open air craft markets, where bargaining can cut the price of the item in half.

One thing Hurricane Gilbert did was bring plenty of sand ashore, adding to existing beaches like the one at the Sandals Resort at Montego Bay:

Photographer Micky Jones toured Jamaica in mid-December with the Travel Journalists Guild in order to get a first-hand view of post-hurricane conditions along the north coast.

By Micky Jones
special writer

Four months after being devastated by Hurricane Gilbert, Jamaica's north coast resorts are back in business and better than ever.

Tourists are once again climbing Dunn's River Falls, rafting rivers lined with exotic flowers, riding party trains through mountain valleys lined with banana plantations and coffee groves, visiting historic houses and botanical gardens, and relaxing on the golden beaches at Jamaica's famous couples hotels.

There is little evidence of the terrible storm that killed dozens of people Sept. 12, when Gilbert ravaged the entire 150-mile length of this lush tropical island, collapsing pool bars and flower-covered villas at resorts with names like Sandals, Couples, Eden II and Hedonism II.

Winds up to 135 miles an hour ripped sheet metal and shingled roofs from buildings in villages and north shore resort towns from Port Antonio to Negril, allowing torrential rains to pour in and add to the devastation. The capital city of Kingston and other south coast towns were also severely damaged.

Flying debris and uprooted trees smashed windows, telephone booths and 80 percent of the island's street lights. Electric power was out for a month. Salt water and sand poured through resort lobbies, bars, dining rooms and bedrooms, ruining carpets, furniture and plants. Telephones won't be completely restored for several more weeks.

GILBERT HAD a silver lining, however. It swept enough new sand ashore to enlarge some beaches. Most resorts took advantage of the two- or three-month forced closures to reline swimming pools, modernize dining rooms, renovate lobbies, and complete other projects that had been postponed so as not to inconvenience guests.

The hurricane's most devastating economic blow was the total destruction of Jamaica's agricultural crops. All banana, orange, grapefruit, sugar cane, pimento, mango and breadfruit plants were totally wiped out. While the loss cannot be recovered, the crops are making a comeback.

Three months after the storm, new banana plants were seven to eight feet high and will produce a crop in June. Orange trees that were totally stripped of leaves and fruit miraculously blossomed out of season and are now bearing fruit.

Those who have visited Jamaica before might notice that a few landmarks are missing, including the famous Evita's Restaurant that was totally destroyed in Montego Bay. Owner Eva Myers is looking for a new location.

Shopping areas, city craft markets and major tourist attractions are back to normal. Hotel occupancy was very low in December, but Jamaicans hope that the tourism volume will return to normal during the prime season months of January, February and March.

Unlike many Caribbean islands, where beaches and in-hotel activities are the principal tourist attractions, Jamaica has dozens of activities and attractions to keep you busy and broke, especially along the north shore.

DUNN'S RIVER Falls near Ocho Rios is the most popular. Park admission is less than a dollar, and for another dollar a native guide leads young and old on the 20-minute climb up the stair-like waterfall, telling jokes and taking your picture with your own camera.

Garden lovers stroll among the exotic tropical plants and flowers, birds and waterfalls, in botanical gardens, such as Shaw Park, Carinosa Gardens, Athenry Gardens, Fern Gully and Somerset Falls.

For about $35, a couple can ride long bamboo rafts down the fast-flowing Rio Grande River near Port Antonio or the Martha Brae River near Montego Bay. This isn't the white water danger of the Grand Canyon, but a safe two-hours on a two-passenger raft, with a "captain" navigating with a long pole.

Torch-lit canoe rides on the Great River near Montego Bay culminate in dinner and floor show under the stars. You can do the same thing on the White River near Ocho Rios, but only on Sundays.

Or try the Admiralty Club Resort on a small island near Port Antonio; Errol Flynn owned the island during his wild tropical days. Tour Noel Coward's small house near Port Maria.

As you drive the winding pot-holed roads along the coast and up into cloud-shrouded mountains, you get a wonderful panorama of gaily painted wooden shacks, stucco mansions, huge coconut palms, dogs, kids and women balancing bundles or baskets on their heads.

Town sidewalks are crowded with vegetable stands, soft drink carts, food wagons and souvenir stalls. Neatly dressed children in school uniforms are everywhere. Native voices have an English lilt. By late afternoon, shoppers and office workers jam the streets.

AND THEN there are the party trains, which run through the majestic mountains south of Montego Bay. The seven-hour journey includes an open bar, buffet lunch, village stops and tours of limestone caves and the Appleton Rum distillery.

As you ride through spectacular views of valleys, tunnels, banana and coffee plantations, you will notice that each contented cow beside the track is escorted by a white egret.

The adult fare, including transportation to and from your Montego Bay hotel, is $44, $35 after April 15. The passenger cars are clean, air-conditioned and comfortable; crew members make sure you have fun.

There are lots of other north shore attractions for the active vacationer — golf, tennis, horseback riding, sailing, deep sea fishing and scuba diving. History lovers can tour the great houses that once dominated vast sugar plantations.

Restored Rose Hall near Montego Bay is supposedly haunted by Annie Palmer, "the witch of Rose Hall." Annie murdered three husbands, many slaves and several friends, before being murdered by a servant.

For shoppers, craft markets are full of light clothing, batiks, straw products, paintings and wood carvings. Bargaining with the vendors will often cut your cost to half the original asking price.

In recent years, two trends have developed among Jamaica's north coast resorts — "couples" hotels and all-inclusive hotel rates that include room, meals, snacks, bar drinks, wine, recreation, fitness facilities and tips.

SOME ALSO include airport transfers, beauty treatments, golf green fees, sightseeing tours and room taxes. Winter rates are about $300 per day for two people, 10 percent less after April 15.

Couples resorts accept only traditional male/female couples and specialize in honeymoons. (For an extra $150 they will stage your wedding right on the premises and invite everyone in the hotel to attend.) Some offer nude beaches in small secluded coves.

The better known couples resorts are the three different Sandals resorts as well as Eden II, Carlyle on the Bay and Couples.

Conventional resorts offering all-inclusive packages include Negril Inn, Hedonism II, Bosobel Beach, Jamaica Jamaica, Sans Souci, the Plantation Inn, Jack Tar Village, Sea Garden, Casa Blanca and Club Americana.

Cut inane details

Q. A relative I'm forced to see at family gatherings goes through long boring accounts of what he has done, explains details I don't care about and recites like, "And then he told . . . and then I said," etc. Help!

A. I refer to such time-wasters as "cluttered speech" in my time management classes. People tend to engage in this form of boring communications when horizons are limited and time isn't important. It is fine for two people who both enjoy talking that way, but for most, times have changed. The momentum of our society has increased so dramatically that time is now too valuable and interests too broad to wallow in useless details.

This is a lesson of particular import to people in the workplace. It is incumbent upon them to get to the point in business conversations. Few career people are interested in hearing verbatim the lecture you gave your kids last night or the technicalities of solving a problem.

Vibrant people are also irked by long lists of activities. When Jane recites, "First I went to the drug store to pick up some acne medicine for Brian and then I had to go by the cleaners to pick up Joe's suit because he spilt wine on it the night before and then I had to get gas because I had used it all up when . . ." No one cares but Jane. An important aspect of these recitals, however, is that the teller is often feeling pressured and looking for approval of how hard he or she has worked. A verbal pat on the back like, "I'll bet you were really tired" could make their day.

For readers who recognize themselves in this scenario and are not as popular as they wish, being "half safe" with the wrong under-arm deodorant may not be the problem. Perhaps they tell more inane details than others want to know.

Two minutes is the maximum time the average listener maintains interest without his own input. Thoughts should be organized by concentrating on the "bottom line." What is the point to be made? Ask, "Therefore . . ." which helps sort out the pertinent facts. Jane could unclutter her speech and be more interesting by condensing: "I spent four hours running errands today, which really wore me out."

condo queries
Robert M. Melsner

Q. Our condominium association was talking about levying a substantial assessment with six figures for renovations. They called a meeting and asked for comments from the homeowners. Supposedly, there was to be a ballot disseminated regarding the special assessment and I have not heard anything since. What should we do?

A. Look at your condominium bylaws to determine the procedure for levying a special assessment. It sounds like your association did not follow that procedure and/or has abandoned its attempt to levy an assessment for renovations. I would write the association president and inquire as to the status of the so-called special assessment so as to confirm whether it has been abandoned.

Carnegie Park: characteristics of private home

By Joan Boram
special writer

GARY SHAPIRO beams like a new father when he discusses the Carnegie Park apartment complex.

"I worked on the plans for two years," says the young president of the Ivanhoe Cos. "The architect would send them to me, and I would think of improvements and send them back for revision. This was one of the best sites left in the Southfield-Farmington area, and I wanted not only the same quality that characterizes our custom homes and our condos, but I also wanted a design that was unique, not run-of-the-mill." Shapiro got what he wanted.

On 11 Mile between Inkster and Franklin roads, Carnegie Park is beatifully landscaped both by nature and by design. Pebble Creek meanders through a wooded one-mile nature trail on the edge of the property, and eventually will merge into a 25-acre city park. Picnic tables are scattered along the nature trail, as well as in other locations on the grounds.

"It has always been a company policy to save any trees that are on our properties," says Shapiro, a third-generation builder. "In addition, we have planted fir trees on the grounds that are much larger than required by the city." For the holiday season, the trees were draped with tiny white lights that will remain through the winter for the festive look they lend. In the spring, Shapiro himself plants lavish quantities of annuals to give the appearance of a large private garden.

The design of the three-story brick buildings is indeed unique for apartment building developments. The first and second floors are stacked; each unit is accessed by its own royal blue door. The third-floor penthouses have a private express elevator, and no elevator is shared by more than 12 people.

ONE-BEDROOM UNITS average 950 square feet, two-bedroom units 1,100 square feet, and the penthouses are a whopping 1,208 square feet, with additional storage space on another floor.

There are eight 1,500-square foot units with two bedrooms, two baths and library. All eight are leased.

Every detail has been planned to give each spacious unit the character of a private home.

Each unit has a roomy entrance hallway, at least one picture window with vertical blinds, and a front and back door. All have a covered porch or patio, and the penthouse has a 20-foot wrap-around balcony. Every unit has a washer and dryer, a microwave oven, separate furnace and hot water heater, and at least one walk-in closet.

"While each unit has a formal dining area, we realize that it's homier to have a place in the kitchen where you can grab a cup of coffee and a bagel in the morning, so we made sure that every kitchen could seat at least two people," says Shapiro.

Every penthouse and some two-bedroom units have a wet bar, and all penthouses have majestic cathedral ceilings and wood-burning fireplaces.

"We used decorator-angled walls to make the space more versatile," explains Shapiro. "Instead of being stuck with just a box-like living room, the angled walls make it possible to divide the space into two areas, allowing for a private space for reading or maybe just gazing out the window that wouldn't otherwise be possible." Carnegie Park has an oversized pool under a cathedral ceiling, where "people love to do laps."

IN WARM WEATHER, French doors open onto a sun deck overlooking a wooded area. There are saunas and whirlpool baths, and for serious fitness freaks, an exercise room with state-of-the-art equipment, and an aerobics room complete with video where you and Jane can sweat together. These amenities are housed in the community center where there is also a social room complete with kitchen. There is an outdoor tennis court.

Carnegie Park is just minutes away from Northwestern Highway's "Golden Corridor," offering the finest in shopping and restaurants.

The first three buildings, with 120 units, became available in June 1988. They were immediately filled with an eclectic mix of tenants: empty-nesters, single professionals, young couples with children.

All units have rented at the same rate — no single size has proven more popular than the others. Rents start at $625 a month for a one-bedroom. A standard penthouse is $830. There are three main units, and 35 alternative, upscale units.

The second, final, phase of Carnegie Park is about to become available. To introduce this luxury apartment complex, there will be a grand opening Jan. 27, 28, and 29, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Anyone signing a one-year lease during the grand opening weekend will receive a free weekend for two in the Bahamas. Carnegie Park is at 26601 W. Carnegie Park Drive, Southfield. For further information, call 355-2211.
