Services held for plane crash victim

By Julie Brown
staff writer

The clear blue sky over United Memorial Gardens cemetery was still Tuesday afternoon.

That stillness was interrupted by the sound of a lone U.S. Air Force jet flying over. Its flight honored the years of dedication and service to his country given by Capt. John F. "Rock" Young.

"You had to know the sun would shine today," said Mark LaPointe, who was Young's baseball coach while Young was a student at Plymouth Canton High School.

Funeral services for Young, 30, were held Tuesday afternoon at Schrader Funeral Home in Plymouth. LaPointe, a teacher at Central Middle School, gave the eulogy.

Young was killed in a Feb. 20 plane crash in Florida. He had been stationed at Norton Air Force Base in California, where he was an aircraft commander.

Young was always able to find the good in bad situations, LaPointe said.

"What a reunion this is," he said. "John's brought us all together. It helps to have you all here."

YOUNG WAS a 1977 graduate of Plymouth Canton High School and a 1982 graduate of the U.S. Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs, Colo., where he earned a bachelor's degree in political science.

Young was remembered as an outstanding student and athlete. Hymns, poems and a heartfelt eulogy honored the young man with so much to give.

"It's kind of difficult to cover 30 years in 10 or 15 minutes," LaPointe said.

Young led a good life, although it was not an easy one. His mother had heart surgery while he was at the U.S. Air Force Academy. Young left the academy for about a year and went to work at the General Motors Hydra-Matic plant, helping out with the family's expenses.

K mart workers seeking union

By Janice Brunson
staff writer

Workers at the K mart distribution center in Canton Township are seeking to join the Teamsters Union, according to workers and a union official.

More than one-third of the center's 288 workers have signed cards seeking to join Teamsters Local 337.

That's enough for the Teamsters to seek an election that would be monitored by the National Labor Relations Board, said Michael Townsend, a Teamster official who has been organizing workers at the Canton distribution center since mid-January.

"IT'S NOT BECAUSE of money. It's the way they're treated, their working conditions. If they have a complaint, they have no place to go. They want access to our grievance procedure," said Townsend.

Leslie Kota, a spokeswoman for Troy-based K mart, said the only union activity that K mart is aware of is the passing out of material at the Canton facility on Jan. 19.

Charles Bierwiler, manager of the Canton center, refused to comment on the situation.

Workers who were interviewed said the reduction of medical benefits is one of the prime reasons they are seeking to unionize.

"Grievances have accumulated over the years, but this is the worst it's ever been. We don't want to pay someone to represent us, but we don't have any choice," said one worker.

These employees and others, who met earlier this week to discuss grievances, asked that their names not be used for fear of reprisal.

They claimed that K mart: fires employees just short of 10 years employment and full entitlement to pension funds; keeps workers from accumulating seniority by laying them off; engages in favoritism for job assignments; and hands out bogus reprimands to make workers feel insecure.

Kota said that there have been some changes made in the firm's medical plan, but that there have been no cuts in benefits.

"We've added a co-pay, but we've also added dental insurance," she said. "They may see it as a reduction."

On the other charges made by workers, she said:

- There has never been a lawsuit or even a charge that K mart fired workers to avoid full entitlement to pensions;

- There have been no layoffs to keep workers from accumulating seniority. She said there have been no layoffs in three years at the Canton facility.

- There is no favoritism, saying that the firm has a job-posting system.

- There are no bogus reprimands. She added that K mart doesn't issue them. Instead, the firm holds corrective interviews with workers, she said.

WASHINGTON — In the shadows of the White House, Concepcion Piccioto has protested against the arms race nearly every day since President Reagan was inaugurated in 1981.

Cold and wet, she was standing in Lafayette Park on Monday, displaying photographs and articles on bombings and war when a group of Plymouth-Canton High School students stopped to talk to her.

"This is a vigil for peace and justice," said Piccioto, shielding herself from the icy rain with an umbrella, upon which she'd written "justice" in black Magic Marker.

"We sacrifice our lives. We want to open the minds of the people to the destruction of the planet."

STUDENTS MET Piccioto on their first full day in Washington, D.C. They are among the more than 150 students from Canton and Salem high schools taking part in a weeklong government studies program called Close Up.

Close Up

Local students get sample of life in Washington

Close Up is a non-profit national foundation designed to broaden understanding of government through hands-on learning.

Students tour Washington, meet with their congressmen and attend lectures given by governmental representatives.

Students, with teachers Mike McCauley and Bill Gretzinger, raised $75,000 for the trip, washing cars, selling candy and calendars and hosting a dance and bowl-a-thons.

Added money came from Congress, business, industry, organizations and individuals.

STUDENTS FLEW in Sunday afternoon and enjoyed some free time before workshops got under way at their hotel in Alexandria, Va.

Canton sophomore Matt Stoelt went to the Vietnam memorial, looking for his grandfather's name amongst the thousands on the black marble wall.

"I looked up his name, and when I found it I started crying. I didn't even know the guy," he said.

"I want to go back and leave a flower by the wall."

Sunday night, students met their roommates, high school students from Massachusetts, and Close Up instructors who hail from across the United States. Most instructors are recent college graduates who've studied abroad, concentrating in fields like international relations, political science and government.

Monday, students heard speakers including Daniel Tate, a presidential lobbyist for Jimmy Carter; Michael Geissinger, former staff photographer for Lyndon Johnson; and Barbara Mossberg, who served as United States scholar in residence at the United States Information Agency.

Despite a snow storm that belted Washington on Tuesday, students planned to visit the Supreme Court, the Library of Congress, the House and Senate, and the National Air and Space Museum.

The day's seminars dealt with the judiciary, capital punishment, geography, environment, African issues and perestroika.

A visit to National Airport to speak with protesting Eastern Airlines machinists also was on the agenda.

Area may get Jeep dealership

By Doug Funke
staff writer

A new Jeep/Eagle car dealership could be in Plymouth Township's future.

An investment group consisting of several local people plus a longtime Chrysler executive plans to build the showroom/service center on Ann Arbor Road just west of the CSX railroad viaduct.

A collision shop and a recreational vehicle storage yard now occupy the five-acre site.

"In a major market such as this, it's to be expected that Chrysler Corp. would want all their brands to be represented," said Larry Turner, a Plymouth resident and president of the investment group called Freedom Oaks Inc.

"You could put a bulls-eye on Plymouth and see who the corporation was trying to market to," he added.

TURNER, 39, said he's worked for Chrysler or AMC at the corporate level for 15½ years. Most recently, he's served as manager for Jeep product planning and Jeep and truck operations for Chrysler.

Other investors identified through documents filed with the township planning department are:

- Kal Jabara, a developer and owner of Wild Wings art gallery.

- David D. Phipps, a developer and building contractor.

- John Thomas, a lawyer and developer.

- Paul Moran, a sales executive at Fox Hills Chrysler Plymouth.

The group has requested a rezoning of the property from industrial to commercial use. The township planning commission has set an April 19 public hearing on that application.

The township board must ultimately approve any rezoning.

FREEDOM OAKS also must resolve the use of a 30-foot strip that divides its building site, records indicate. That strip is owned by National Concrete Co., which is in operation behind the proposed dealership.

Turner sees the rezoning and negotiation as comparatively minor challenges.

"At this point, one of the bigger concerns is traffic patterns, access for driveways," he said.

"It's not going to be easy from a traffic standpoint. We're going to try to design the thing so they (motorists) are aware of it before they go under the viaduct," Turner said.

Freedom Oaks intends to renovate the existing 10,000-square-foot collision shop and then attach a 12,000-square-foot addition. Turner estimated construction and land purchase costs at $2 million.

THE DEALERSHIP is expected to employ 50 at start up. A June groundbreaking is possible, Turner indicated.

"There's tremendous incentive to be open in an October time frame because it coincides with the introduction of new models," he said.

James Anulewicz, township planning director, said he hasn't yet analyzed the rezoning request and come to a recommendation.

He conceded, though, that a car dealership would be more aesthetically pleasing than a collision shop and storage yard.

'You could put a bulls-eye on Plymouth and see who the corporation was trying to market to.'

Suspect faces charges in theft of clothing

A Farmington Hills man who allegedly stole more than $11,000 worth of clothing from the Winkelman's warehouse in Plymouth Township faces a preliminary examination Friday on one count of larceny over $100, police said.

Based on a tip, police arrested the man in the warehouse parking lot at about 6:15 a.m. Saturday, said Erik Mayernik, Plymouth Township police investigator.

The suspect showed up at the facility in the Metro West Industrial Park at about 3:30 a.m., Mayernik said.

crime watch

"We watched him allegedly carry it out to his van and, after he got in his van and started to pull away, we stopped him and arrested him," Mayernik said.

Clothing recovered from the suspect's van included fur coats, swimwear, dresses and suits, Mayernik said.

The man was released after posting a $1,000 cash bond following arraignment.

ATTEMPTED AUTO THEFTS: Two cars in the Unisys parking lot on Haggerty were vandalized Friday, apparently in unsuccessful theft attempts, police said. The incidents occurred 3:30-9:15 p.m.

One car sustained an estimated $900 damage to the steering column, window frame and door lock. The other had a lock punched resulting in $50 damage.

RADIO STOLEN: A cassette stereo and speakers valued at $450 were reported stolen from a car on Mayflower.

TRAIN DELAYS: City police issued three tickets to the CSX railroad Saturday and Sunday for blocking a crossing more than five minutes. Two were issued at the Sheldon Road crossing, one at Starkweather.

A court date of April 11 was set. All such cases are heard on a monthly basis.

Maximum fine is $500 per occurrence. A sliding scale — $100 for five minutes, $200 for six minutes and so on up to $500 for delays of nine or more minutes — usually is applied, said Judge James Garber of 35th District Court.

SPEAKERS TAKEN: Floor monitors and speakers valued at $450 were reported stolen from the pulpit area of Praise Chapel Church of God on N. Mill.

PLATE PILFERED: A license plate was reported stolen from a disabled car at Danny's market on Main.

DRUNKEN DRIVING: A 33-year-old Plymouth man was arrested for drunken driving by township police at 12:48 a.m. Friday on N. Territorial near Sheldon.

These are just some of the incidents recently reported to Plymouth police. Phone 453-3869 to contact township police, 453-8800 to reach city police.

Grant could aid senior transit

The lion's share of a $60,000 federal grant would be allocated to senior citizen transportation services in Plymouth if the city commission were to accept the recommendation of an advisory committee.

The committee recommends spending $35,000 for a new van used to shuttle seniors, $22,000 on salary and benefits for the van driver and $3,000 for unspecified projects in Old Village, according to Paul Sincok, assistant to the city manager.

Community Development Block Grants must be targeted to low and moderate income census tracts or individuals.

Money from previous years grants not yet spent could be reallocated to Old Village if the city commission were so inclined and county and federal officials were agreeable, Sincok said.

Funds probably also will be found to continue publication of a senior citizen newsletter, he added.

The city commission is expected to determine how to spend the $60,000 at its Monday, March 20 meeting.

The money probably won't arrive until next fall.

The van used to shuttle seniors in the city and township has been in service more than 90,000 miles, Sincok said.

The city has been responsible for the driver, the township for other operating and maintenance expenses, Sincok said.

The county is especially impressed with joint projects like the community van, said Jack Wilcox, a CDBG committee member.

Mark Oppat, representing the Old Village Association, requested during a public hearing Monday that the city commission look at funding a list of projects submitted by letter.

He especially cited a need for dumpsters, bulletin boards and a newsletter.

"We feel we may be getting the short end of the stick a little bit," Oppat said.

City manager Henry Graper suggested that the Old Village Association submit materials for the city's quarterly newsletter.

All three members of the city's CDBG advisory committee — Wilcox, Geneva Guenther and Jean Morrow — are senior citizens. Guenther and Morrow live in Old Village.

Young recalled as a 'giver'

His mother later died, but Young went on with his life from there.

"John got to do what he wanted to do with his life," LaPointe said. It had been Young's dream to fly, so he went to flight school and followed that dream.

It's natural for people who knew Young to feel anger, LaPointe said.

"John's gone. Why? What's the sense of it. God needed a top gun and it's John."

Young was a loving son and brother.

"John was very proud of all of them, extremely proud." He was particularly proud of his father, John Young Sr.

YOUNG'S FATHER, who didn't learn to read as a child, returned to school in his 50s to learn. He's now a Plymouth-Canton Community Education student and is working on his high school diploma.

John Young Jr. loved his brothers and sisters, their spouses and his nieces and nephews. He bought many gifts for his nieces and nephews.

Young was an outstanding athlete. He was football team captain during his junior and senior years at Plymouth Canton High School. Young was an outstanding baseball player in high school and college, and an outstanding boxer at the academy.

"Wherever John played, he was successful," LaPointe said. Young didn't care about getting the credit; the team's victory was what counted.

LaPointe met Young some 15 years ago. Young, then a high school sophomore, stepped in as pitcher for an important district game against Plymouth Salem High School. He did just fine, and went on from there.

"John was a giver and not a taker," LaPointe said. "John was selfless, only concerned for others." Young's persistence paid off for him and for those around him.

"John is a legend and we don't have many legends today," he said. Those who remain must tell younger people about Young, "so he may serve as an inspiration for those who follow."

An Air Force honor guard and a 21-gun salute marked Young's burial. The American flag that had covered his coffin was presented to John Young Sr. by Capt. William DeBenedictis, the military escort.

The Rev. Merlin Jacobs of Resurrection Lutheran Church in Livonia officiated at Tuesday's services. He remembered Young's life as "a life given by God for our enjoyment, that we might better understand what it means to be living.

"He accomplished a great deal in his 30 years," Jacobs told the mourners. "John's death is a tragedy. It caught us unprepared. We feel we deserve more."

"But grief is a gift of God," the pastor said. "It brings healing." That healing process takes time.

"He was special. He was one of a kind. He had so many gifts and talents."

Each of us is unique, "gifted by God just as he was," Jacobs said. "It's our responsibility to develop those gifts, just as Young did."

"That is the purpose of our lives. That is how we are like John."

"God knows what it's like to lose a son. God has not abandoned John in death, nor has God abandoned his family or any of us."

Fund-raisers given OK

Three community service organizations Monday were given permission by the city commission to conduct fund-raisers in Plymouth.

The Knights of Columbus, a Catholic fraternal organization, will hold their annual Tootsie Roll drive for programs to benefit the mentally retarded the weekend of March 17-18.

The American Cancer Society will solicit donations for research and services for patients April 29 through May 6, excluding Sundays.

Moslem Temple Shriners, a Masonic fraternal/service organization, will solicit for their 22 national children's hospitals the weekend of June 9-10.

Five special events sponsored by the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce also were approved by the city commission.

The events:

• Midnight Madness Sale, 7 p.m. to midnight, Thursday, April 13.

• Farmers Market, 8 a.m. to 1 p.m., Saturdays, May 13-Oct. 14, The Gathering.

• Street Dances, 7:30-9 p.m., Fridays, June 30-Aug. 25, Kellogg Park.

Police team on roll fighting auto theft

By Diane Gale
staff writer

A Canton-based auto theft team is taking aim at kingpin operators in western Wayne County, who police admit sometimes slipped between the cracks in the past.

"Before maybe you'd arrest two people in a stolen car, but now we have the ability to shut down a whole operation," said Michigan State police Lt. Sandy Miller, Western Wayne Auto Theft Elimination Effort commander.

The team was formed in May 1986 at the insistence of John Santomau-ro, Canton public safety director. More than $2.2 million worth of stolen vehicles have been recovered since.

The team has arrested 69 people resulting in 154 charges.

THE CONSORTIUM allows a group of officers to specialize and concentrate their efforts to target a problem as opposed to having each department work from their communities alone, Miller said.

Also, the team is able to perform more surveillance and investigations than individual departments and from that constant contact establish experience.

"And the individual officers come at it with information from their communities," Miller said. "You accomplish so much more than if you tried to go at it on an individual basis."

Since vehicle thieves are usually mobile — living in one community and stealing from a number of different places — it's important to look at the problem as multi-jurisdictional, she added.

"A unit such as this one can specialize and a patrol officer wouldn't see the same things," Miller said.

The team was formed with officers or financial support from the Michigan State Police, Canton, Plymouth, Westland, Redford Township, Belleville, Huron Township, Van Buren Township, Sumpter Township, Northville, Northville Township and Romulus.

NATIONWIDE VEHICLE theft was up 5 percent last year and in Michigan the rate fell 5 percent. Vehicle theft dropped 9.5 percent last year in the communities involved with the auto theft team.

However, the rate rose 1 percent in Canton with 281 vehicles reported stolen.

One reason may be that apartment complexes and hotels bordering freeways are usually the hardest hit by auto theft teams due to easy access, Miller said.

Camaros are the most often stolen. And other General Motors cars top the list, Miller said.

"The more popular the car, the more often they get in accidents and the more you need parts," she said, adding that stolen cars are often stripped of parts that are installed in other cars or sold individually.

Last June the unit received a tip about suspicious activities at Jones Auto Repair on Joy Road in Canton where a total of 11 vehicles were recovered.

They were reported stolen from Plymouth Township, Livonia, Westland and Farmington Hills. Nine of the vehicles had been stripped for parts, including two 1988 Chevrolet Corvettes with less than 28 miles. Value of the stolen property exceeded $150,000.

The Wayne County Prosecutor's office has charged three persons with 28 felony counts as a result of the investigation. One suspect was convicted in a jury trial and was sentenced to serve two to four years in prison.

PART OF an interstate truck theft ring was discovered last October on Inkster Road in Livonia. Five stolen semi-trailers with cargo valued at $75,000 were recovered.

"It's not unusual for a professional to be involved in as many as 2,000 thefts," she said.

The Western Wayne Auto Theft Elimination Effort is part of the Auto Theft Prevention Authority, a state body funded by Michigan insured motorists.

Anyone with information about a suspicious situation possibly involving car theft is asked to call 1-800-242-HEAT (Help Eliminate Auto Theft), or call your local police departments.

Canton is also involved in consortium efforts for drug enforcement and a special operations unit.

"The beauty of a consortium is that it's cost effective, and there's absolutely no way we could cost effectively duplicate the resources and expertise and consolidate in a specialized area," Santomau-ro said.

'Cinderella' ballet Saturday

The classic ballet "Cinderella" will be performed Saturday by the Livonia Civic Ballet Company.

Performances will be at 2 p.m. and 7 p.m. in Plymouth Canton High, 6415 Canton Center Road south of Joy in Canton. Tickets are $5.

The ballet will be danced to the traditional music of Sergei Prokofiev.

Professional dancer/choreographer Peter Pawlyshyn of the Nevada State Ballet has restaged the ballet exclusively for the Livonia Civic Ballet Company.

The ballet company was established in 1970 by artistic director Jean Newell to give young dancers in southeast Michigan the chance to perform in as close to a professional atmosphere as possible.

Today Newell and co-director Dawn Greene uphold this tradition not only by teaching dancers classical ballets like "Cinderella" but by offering them the chance to work with modern choreographers and learn contemporary dance works.

By providing a wide array of dance, said Newell, the company is able to offer its dancers the chance to experience the various facets of their art.

Pawlyshyn studied Ukrainian dance in New York and trained in Kiev, Ukraine in the Soviet Union.

For 10 years he toured with the Rusalka Ukrainian Dance Ensemble as a dancer, instructor, and artistic director.

His ballet training is with the Royal Winnipeg Ballet for whom he taught character for its summer sessions of 1981-85. He also was a soloist for the Charleston Ballet in South Carolina, danced with the Iowa Ballet of Des Moines, and now dances with the Nevada State Ballet. This year is Pawlyshyn's seventh as a guest instructor of character and ballet at the Cecchetti Council of America summer workshops at Michigan State University.

Instructor seeks the actor in every student

BY C. L. RUGENSTEIN
staff writer

"When she starts talking about the after, especially about firing up young people to love it as she does, Ju Juan Taylor is in constant motion."

Taylor, the newest member of Schoolcraft College's communications arts department, was enthusiastic as she spoke about her vision to make drama a part of every student's school experience.

"I'm very fortunate to be in the discipline of drama and communication," she said, and as far as her students go — both high school and college, "The thirst is there overwhelmingly for drama and its benefits."

"It's a marvelous educational tool," she said.

She quoted the definition of ancient dramatist Horace, that the purpose of drama is to "teach and delight."

Drama enables students to teach a lesson to large groups of people, as well as giving the student a chance to role play, Taylor said. And in her opinion, role-playing may be an "absolute must for the growth and development of students as persons."

"It's a release, a purging of feelings," said Taylor, who joined the Schoolcraft faculty as an instructor in January. "The student needs to let go and express feelings" like athletes who do runs, or sit-ups. "The soul needs the same exercise," she said.

TAYLOR KNOWS from experience about students and their "overwhelming thirst" for the experience of drama. A Detroit high school teacher for 12 years, Taylor started a theater company at Mackenzie High School that won acclaim and the opportunity to perform with the University of Detroit's drama department. She also has taught speech and drama in Bloomfield Hills Public Schools.

"It was the first time a Detroit high school had ever performed in a professional setting with college theater majors," she said. During the course of the company's existence they participated in forensics competitions sponsored by Wayne State University and at the state level, scoring "super" for three years, Taylor said.

Taylor, who lives in Southfield, also scored super when she was twice-named one of Detroit's best teachers during that period.

She did not go easy on the high school kids because they were young and inexperienced. She required them to study the classics — Aristotle, Horace, and Shakespeare. Colleagues were amazed that Taylor's students could write papers about Bertolt Brecht, a German playwright and poet, she said.

"You have to know the beginnings of drama to know where it's going today and tomorrow," she said.

Taylor isn't just producing actors, or giving students a chance to get rid of surplus feelings. The bottom line, she said, "is to produce critics, who understand criticism and theory."

Not that the world needs more critics, but there's a certain kind of analytical thinking involved in criticism, Taylor explained.

"Drama critics are people who understand classics and how they relate to happenings of importance today, and how we feel," she said.

"Students who've studied and analyzed the greats can dig inside (themselves) and think about what they had to say," she added.

In fact, that was one of the comments on Taylor's first evaluation as a teacher at Schoolcraft. Said one student in an evaluation sheet turned in to Lawrence Ordowski, head of the department: "She knows how to dig inside, to think of wonderful quotes, philosophies . . . and try to share with students."

Another thought she was "in touch with the way students go about their lives," and seems to bring out the best in them.

It's a quality she got from her father, Taylor said. Though he died when she was 15, he was always encouraging and assuring her.

"He consistently gave me strokes from the time he got home (from work)," she said.

HER MOTHER is her best friend and mentor now, Taylor said. During her days at St. Theresa Elementary School and St. Martin de Porres High School her mother was very strict but made sure Taylor had all the extras — ballet, piano, and drama.

"She enforced education tremendously," Taylor said.

Taylor, is well-traveled educationally, having received her bachelor's degree from Mercy College, her master's from the University of Detroit, and just recently her doctorate in theater from Michigan State University.

Though she's taught both high school middle school drama classes she has no plans to go back to the secondary level.

"I have a need to connect with youth and growth," she said, "to take the discipline to its highest level."

Asked if she'd like to start another drama company, she laughed and said "That's Jim's (James Hartman, Schoolcraft's assistant professor of theater) territory." If she starts another company, it will probably be with her children's class at Marygrove College in Detroit, where she teaches theater arts dynamics on Saturdays.

Although she loves teaching, she took a brief leave from it this past summer.

"I tried to get away to see what else I might want to do," she explained.

She worked with Esther Gordy Edwards, sister of Motown founder Berry, helping to get the Motown Museum ready for opening. She found that the business world wasn't for her.

"It was a wonderful experience, I went to some wonderful places, and it was great," she said. "But then I said — I'm not teaching. I missed it."

Taylor smiled, then said, "I will always be an educator."

Levin: Dispute on Tower won't harm president

By Wayne Peal
staff writer

Controversy surrounding former Texas Sen. John Tower's nomination as U.S. Defense Secretary won't cause long term political damage to the president, Michigan Sen. Carl Levin said.

President Bush will escape unharmed from the controversial nomination because of the president's status as a well-liked Washington insider, Levin predicted.

"If it were someone else, then, yes, there might be a problem," Levin said. "But this thing will be forgotten once it's over."

Levin's comments came during a breakfast appearance Monday before the Livonia and Westland chambers of commerce and one day after Tower charged Democrats, including Levin, with using the nominating process as a tool to weaken the Bush presidency.

Charges of womanizing, excessive drinking and potential conflict of interest dogged Tower almost as soon as he was nominated.

Levin, who opposed Tower's nomination during hearings before the Senate Armed Services Committee, said he initially planned to vote in Tower's favor.

"I EVEN had the letter ready indicating why I would choose to support him," Levin said.

The senator said he changed his mind after reading confidential FBI reports of "excessive drinking" on Tower's part as well as learning about an apparent conflict of interest surrounding Tower's involvement with defense contractors.

Reports of Tower's problems with alcohol were especially damaging in light of the military's crackdown on drug and alcohol abuse, Levin said.

"The standard our military has is very high," he said. "As (Armed Services Committee chairman) Sam Nunn said, Sen. Tower couldn't even be appointed a unit leader with his record."

Levin also said he was uncomfortable with Tower's relationship with the defense industry. Tower had served as a paid consultant to defense contractors.

"AS A member of our negotiating team in Geneva, he knew what our true bargaining goals were," he said. "And our true goals were very closely held. Even Congress wasn't fully aware."

Levin, however, levied no criticism at the president himself. In fact he praised Bush's handling of the situation.

He hasn't made this a partisan issue," Levin said.

In an appearance the day before on the CBS-TV news program "Face the Nation," Tower charged the nomination had become secondary to a power struggle between the president and Senate Democrats.

Sen. Carl Levin opposes Tower nomination

Tower supporters accused Democratic senators of conducting a witch hunt against their man by using FBI reports not available for public scrutiny.

Levin acknowledged the process of making accusations from non-public government files has also proved controversial, he said that problem could be avoided with future nominees.

"The administration needs to make a threshold judgment about letting witnesses come forth to speak to potentially damaging information contained in the files," Levin said.

He added the allegations against Tower came from "credible, recognizable" sources.

Despite the Tower controversy, Levin said the president has enjoyed a cordial relationship with Congress.

"President Bush is off to a fast start, at least in terms of his relationship with Congress," he said. "Unlike President Reagan, he sees a role for government in solving the nation's problems. It might not be a big role, but his (Bush's) views more closely correspond with those of Congress."

On other issues:

Levin said it was time for America's European and Asian allies to begin paying more for their own defense.

"We are holding the security umbrella for countries that are cleaning our clock," he said.

The senator said "shared sacrifice" could help bring down the nation's budget deficit.

Freezing government programs for a year and raising revenue from sources other than the federal income tax could effectively reduce U.S. debt, he said.

A fund-raiser in good taste

Gourmets gather for Geer

Several hundred connoisseurs of fine food gathered in an unlikely spot — Don Massey Cadillac — last weekend to raise money for the historic Geer School restoration.

Chefs from several restaurants in metropolitan Detroit provided samples of cuisine that more than lived up to the event's billing as a gourmet gala.

The fund-raiser will help turn the one-room schoolhouse into a working laboratory where children of the Plymouth-Canton schools will spend a week experiencing life during the 1880s.

Participants at the gala queued up to tables containing such delicacies as filet of salmon, forc duck, chicken breast prosciutto and roasted red pepper fettucini.

An assortment of pastries, sorbets and ice cream also was available for sampling.

Background music was provided by students from Pioneer Middle School and Canton and Salem high schools.

A silent auction during the gala also netted money for the restoration effort.

Approximately $13,000 was raised from the event, organizers reported.

Earlene and Jim Bonadeo share a bite.

Local groups join St. Pat's parade

Shamrocks will be blooming on Michigan Avenue Sunday when the 31st annual St. Patrick's Day Parade kicks off at 2 p.m.

Rain, snow or shine, 100 award-winning bands, marching units and floats will step off at Michigan and Third Street, proceeding one mile to 14th Street.

The Birmingham Chrysler Celtic Pipes and Drums will join the Irish Setter Club of Michigan, Irish step dancers, the Ballet Folklorico of Corktown, Great Lakes White German Shepherd Club of Redford Township, O'Hare School of Irish Dance of Plymouth, Clowns Around Redford, Domino's Pizza ponies, Irish wolfhounds from three states and a host of others on Sunday.

MARCHING BANDS from Troy and Redford Union High schools will be featured along with marching units from Dunleavy's Pub & Grub of Farmington, Monaghan Knights of Columbus in Livonia, the McCusker Family marchers and float of Westland and Donovan's Country Store of Farmington. Chairing his 14th parade will be Michael Sullivan, of Farmington Hills, owner and president of Waterville Construction in Farmington. Sullivan is affectionately known among the Irish community as "West Side Red."

Michael Sullivan

The Rev. Thomas Duffey and Sister Mary Watson of St. Patrick's Senior Center in the Cass Corridor, are this year's grand marshals. Along with Maid of Erin Anne Marie Cullen, Duffey and Watson will lead the parade, expected to draw more than 150,000 spectators.

Joining Cullen on the Maid of Erin court are Katherine Maye of Livonia, a student at Madonna College, and Anne Marie Staunton of Dearborn, a student at Fordson High School.

HEADING UP the Court of St. Brigid is Margaret Mary Cleary of Brighton. Court members are Ann Marie Houlihan of St. Clair Shores and Jennifer Prater of Milford.

"Celebrating the Heart of the Irish in the Heart of Detroit" is this year's parade theme.

"The purpose of the parade is to honor the patron saint of Ireland and to emphasize the contributions made by the Irish people to our nation and to our community," said Eileen Finn, parade organizer.

Duffey and Sister Watson epitomize the theme of this year's parade said Finn.

Their work at St. Patrick's in Detroit includes a shelter, soup kitchen, senior center and numerous community outreach programs.

WITH HELP from suburban parishes, Duffey and Sister Watson care for the elderly and poor at St. Patrick's Senior Center.

"No question, Father Duffey and Sister Mary Watson personify the heart of the Irish," said Sullivan, parade chairman. "Their lives are dedicated to giving to the poor, the unfortunate and the underdogs."

Duffey, ordained in 1949, has worked in Wayne County for 39 years. For the past 11 years, he has been the pastor of St. Patrick's Church.

Sister Watson, a Highland Park native, entered the Racine Dominican Order in 1950. A dietician, she worked with senior citizens in Wisconsin and Nebraska before coming to Detroit. She transformed an abandoned, rundown high school into the thriving center that today assists hundreds of senior citizens.

She also refurbished a dilapidated motel in the Cass Corridor and to 25 homeless men who live there, "she is like the Mother Teresa of Detroit," said Finn.

State Rep. Michael Bennane, D-Detroit, and state Sen. John Kelly, D-Detroit, are honorary chairman of this year's parade.

St. Patrick's Week activities officially get under way at noon Friday when Maid of Erin Anne Marie Cullen and the grand marshals paint shamrocks on Michigan Avenue at Rosa Parks Boulevard near Reedy's Place.

Sponsoring the parade is the United Irish Society, an umbrella group of 19 Irish-American organizations.

Pre-parade activities include the Corktown races, a 4-mile run, 1-mile walk and 1 1/4-mile run/walk to be held at 12:30 p.m. All three races begin at Tiger Stadium and finish at the parade reviewing stand. For run/walk registration information, call 544-9099.

Senate blocks school tax plan

By Tim Richard
staff writer

All seven Observer & Eccentric area state senators Wednesday voted against placing a school tax reform plan on the ballot as the Senate twice rejected it by narrow margins.

But supporters vowed to try again — perhaps as early as today — to place the massive plan before voters. They have until March 16 to get the plan on a May 16 special election.

"The problem is the high property tax," said Sen. Doug Cruce, R-Troy, summing up the feelings of most suburban senators that the proposal tried to do too much. "We're trying to solve two problems (with the proposal) — equalize school funding and high property taxes. We can't do it. It's a confusion to voters, at best; a deception at worst."

BUT THERE were signs that 26 votes — two-thirds of the 38 members — actually favor placing the plan before voters. Wednesday's votes were 21-14 and 22-14.

Senate Democratic leader Art Miller of Warren publicly asked majority leader John Engler of Mount Pleasant to deliver 13 Republican votes in exchange for 13 Democratic votes. "We ask him to put up 13 votes. We got a little wisdom since walking the plank in 1983," said Miller, referring to the Democratic-supported income tax increase that resulted in the recall of two Democratic senators.

Countered GOP floor leader Phil Arthurs of Whitehall: "There are 15 votes for it in the minority (Democratic) caucus. There are only 12 votes for it in the Republican caucus. We know all three (Democratic senators) off the floor are yes votes, and two who voted no are yes votes."

Sen. Rudy Nichols, R-Waterford, who opposed the measure, called Miller's remarks "offensive, misleading, insulting, obnoxious, repugnant."

THE SO-CALLED Nye-Oxender plan, named for two rural Republican state representatives who sponsored it, would raise the sales tax two cents, yielding $1.6 billion, and cut school operating taxes $1.1 billion — an average of one-third statewide.

In addition, it would allow statewide collection of part of the property tax, resulting in tax base sharing between rich and poor school districts. It would give all districts more money, but poorer districts would be raised most.

Sen. R. Robert Geake, R-Northville, voted no because "people would pay $368 million more in sales taxes than they get back in property taxes. It's a tax hike, not just a tax shift." In addition, he said, Michiganians would pay $95 million more in federal income taxes because the higher sales tax wouldn't be deductible from taxable income, while property taxes are.

Sen. William Faust, D-Westland, unsuccessfully sought amendments to protect Taylor and Westland. Sen. George Z. Hart, D-Deerborn, whose district includes Garden City, voted no but did not speak except to introduce a city official in the gallery.

SMART seeks cash for aging buses

By Tim Richard
staff writer

SMART, the new suburban transit system, will seek $5 million from the federal government to replace some of the fleet's aging buses.

"Monies were diverted from line buses to the (downtown Detroit) People Mover. The average years left went down from eight years to two years," said Ben Gianpetroni, a Macomb County staff member.

Gianpetroni, SMART board chairman Patrick Nowak and general manager Albert Martin told Oakland County's general government committee last week how cost overruns on the People Mover not only drained capital from the suburban system but gave the region a bad name in Washington.

SMART, BY state law, is the successor of SEMTA, the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority.

As the officials told it, SEMTA budgeted the People Mover, a 2.7 mile elevated electric car line circling Detroit's downtown, at $137 million. "It came in at $200 million," said Martin, who became SEMTA's general manager late in that period.

"SEMTA had to commit the capital costs. We were prohibited from even applying (to Washington) for capital funds (for buses) in 1982-3-4-5."

SMART board chairman Patrick Nowak an active Republican, 'has good standing with President Bush's Administration.'

Eventually, SEMTA turned over the People Mover project to the city of Detroit.

Last year the Michigan Legislature dissolved SEMTA, created a small umbrella agency called the Regional Transit Commission, and left Detroit to run its system and SMART to run suburban buses.

DESCRIBING how federal Urban Mass Transit Authority (UMTA) officials greeted him, Martin said, "I used to get beaten up."

But he said SMART chairman board, which took over last month, "wring out $2 million from administration expenses" to use on bus service.

Gianpetroni added the SMART board will not ask taxpayers for new money "until it satisfies itself it has made the most effective use of the present money."

SEMTA was an umbrella agency for the seven-county region, receiving $90 million in federal operating grants. It kept $31 million to run suburban buses and service to downtown Detroit and passed the rest on to the city of Detroit.

SMART, which stands for Suburban Mobility Authority Rapid Transit, has a fleet of 200 buses. Because of the recession and federal aid cuts Gianpetroni said, the suburbs saw bus service scaled back 50 percent in 1982-3.

But the suburbs need bus service, he went on. During the 1980s, daily work trips have declined from western Wayne County to Detroit and from Macomb County to Detroit, but they have increased within Oakland County, within western Wayne County, within Macomb County and between Macomb and Oakland counties.

Meanwhile, in the economic recovery of the last six years, the suburbs have gained 527,000 jobs — 231,000 in Oakland, 126,500 in suburban Wayne and 126,500 in Macomb.

SC posts 31 percent increase in continuing ed enrollment

Enrollment in Schoolcraft College's continuing education classes continues to rise, college officials said.

Just-released figures show a 31 percent enrollment increase for winter 1989 classes, compared with the same period one year ago.

The non-degree classes are targeted for specific audiences. They include fire safety training, corporate and community health and fitness, equine arts and teacher certification, among other programs.

Schoolcraft is at 18600 Haggerty, Livonia.

Downsizing

New sign law looks good to us

MAYBE IT'S a sign of the times, but the downsizing of signs in Plymouth in the future strikes us as a good idea.

Sure, some business people will be upset at first because they have invested considerable amounts of money in their signs. But we think it will eventually turn out best for everyone concerned.

If everybody has smaller signs, then there won't be a race to see who can put up the largest one. And that's something that will benefit shoppers and drivers who are seeking out a specific business.

A mass of large signs sticking out of businesses don't help those of us who are trying to find a place. They tend to blend together and create a dense wall of red and yellow.

Plymouth is going about the downsizing in a sane, reasonable fashion. Businesses have until Jan. 1, 1997 to comply with the new ordinance.

THAT'S eight years away. And a lot can happen in those years. While Plymouth may seem to be a smaller, manageable community now, those eight years could see changes in Plymouth and the surrounding area.

While there isn't much room for growth in Plymouth, there is in Canton and Plymouth Township. That's means Plymouth Road and other business districts in Plymouth will have more development pressure on them.

And more development translates into more business people wanting to be on the main drags.

The business environment and landscape could change. But with a sign ordinance in place, the city will have some control. Without it, there will be none.

But that's just the development issue. There's another one. It's the people issue.

The quality of life is becoming more important to people. Nobody wants to feel the rush of traffic, or the crush of development. They want things on a more human scale.

And smaller signs help retain that more human scale that we all seem better able to deal with.

One of the contentions of business people in the Plymouth community is that the sign ordinance would restrict advertising. We've heard that complaint before when government gets involved in regulating business.

WE DISAGREE with the business people. They seem to think that somebody will see their sign and pull in and buy their product.

That may be true for convenience items, but for big ticket items, it's probably not true. People don't just stop to buy a couch on their way home from work, just because they see a sign.

People seeking such items usually go out shopping for them in the evenings or on weekends, and when they do, they are usually responding to some other type of advertising.

What they are looking for in a sign, is that it help them find the business. If there are too many large signs, they have trouble finding the business. And that's not in the best interest of that business.

The debate over the sign ordinance gave us an interesting view of how small-business people view the community.

We understand their concerns about doing business. But we found some of their comments revealing.

One store owner, when asked to react to charges that signs are clutter, said: "If it's clutter, the rest of the country is cluttered. That's life in America."

That store owner is correct. It is life in America. But the question is: Do we like it that way and is it a life that we want to pass along to our children?

It's our job to try making our environment better, and while the sign ordinance won't change the county, it will certainly make the Plymouth area look better in the future.

And after all, if everybody took care of their little area of the country, America would look a lot less cluttered.

We support continuation of a full tax deduction for mortgage interest. And although we have some reservations about the specifics, we believe Gov. James Blanchard's HOST (Home Ownership Savings Trust) plan for first-time home buyers is a good idea.

— the prime lending rate was increased to 11½ percent last week — even more potential first-time home buyers are going to be pushed into renewing their apartment leases.

NOW IS CERTAINLY not the time for Congress to be monkeying with the tax deduction for mortgage interest, although there are some legislators who are considering just that. They believe cutting the amount of deductible interest is one way to tame the federal budget deficit.

While we applaud any effort on behalf of the deficit problem, cutting the mortgage interest deduction isn't feasible in light of the current economy. It would only manage to freeze more first-time home buyers — who use the deduction to help pay property taxes and other ownership expenses not incurred as renters — out of the picture.

The HOST plan, meanwhile, is another step in the right direction. Under the plan, first-time home buyers in Michigan would be able to save for a down payment by socking away a small portion each month with the state government for three to 10 years.

The state would invest the money in treasury bills and interest accumulated in the account would be tax-free.

At the end of the specified period, the state would guarantee a 10-percent down payment toward a house in a pre-chosen neighborhood, regardless of how much housing costs have increased.

The plan is similar to the Michigan Education Trust proposal the state introduced last year to help parents pay future college tuition costs.

There are pitfalls. Should housing costs rise at a meteoric rate, all Michigan taxpayers would have to foot a portion of the bill for those enrolled in the program.

But we feel the benefit of such a program — helping the current generation and future generations of suburban residents to buy their own home — outweighs the risk.

Gov. James Blanchard

Home ownership

Blanchard serves up good idea

OWNING your own home.

From the quaint colonials of Plymouth to the brick ranches of Southfield to the newest subdivisions of Rochester Hills, that part of the American dream has been the driving force for generations of suburbanites.

For many Detroiters in the years immediately following World War II, the desire for a home on a nice-sized chunk of land at an affordable price was the motivation for leaving the city in which they grew up.

The communities in western Wayne and Oakland counties were their destination. Urban flight from crime and the resulting suburban congestion didn't come along until much later.

But the newest generation of potential suburban homeowners — people in their late 20s and early 30s who grew up in the suburbs — may never know the satisfaction of having a place that is truly "their own."

Their quest for a home at an affordable price is being done in by the economic realities of the late 1980s. For many, their parents' dream has become a pipe dream.

THAT IS WHY we support continuation of a full tax deduction for mortgage interest. And that is why, although we have some reservations about the specifics, we believe Gov. James Blanchard's HOST (Home Ownership Savings Trust) plan for first-time home buyers is a good idea.

Both these measures will help keep home ownership an attainable goal for suburban residents.

The steep rise in housing prices since the early 1970s — outstripping wage gains and even the general rate of inflation by a nearly 2-1 margin — has cut deeply into the pocketbooks of most people. The $30,000 home in 1970 would today sell for close to $90,000. Unfortunately, the people who could afford that home in 1970, can now only afford a home in the $60,000 range. These people are being "priced out" of many suburban homes.

The nationwide home ownership rate among 25-29-year-olds has decreased by 7.5 percent since 1980, according to a home construction trade journal survey. The rate for 30-34-year-olds is down by 8 percent. In fact, the rate for all age groups has dropped despite the fact that the economy is headed into its seventh consecutive year of expansion.

With interest rates headed back up the ladder

Democracy makes sense even on the silliest days

YOU'VE JUST got to wonder what the Soviet children staying in Birmingham think of what they've seen in the last week or so.

Oh, I'm not talking about the drugs, the crime or other maladies that commonly afflict societies around the world.

No, I'm talking about the mixed signals they see coming out of this democratic republic when it comes to free speech.

After examining a few incidents this past week in our suburbs, it's no wonder that folks of the conservative ilk never cease to confound the leftist mind — especially the minds of leftists who just now are winning the battle for free speech in their country.

In Bloomfield Hills we have Terry Rakolta, populist star of sorts who is taking a chapter out of the Ayatollah's book of bad manners by seeking to get a television show taken off the air.

Her tactic: Put the public opinion squeeze on advertisers for promoting their products during a program called "Married... With Children," aired locally on Channel 50.

Bringing her the most notoriety was Coca-Cola's vow to keep a better tab (no pun intended) on that program's content and a firm maybe on a threat to withdraw sponsorship totally.

DOWN THE road in Farmington Hills we have businessman Patrick Anderson, who is seeking to pry information out of the Farmington School District. So reluctant were public officials to fork over the information that Anderson has been forced to use the Freedom of Information Act to obtain the data to which he has a perfect right.

Unlike Rakolta, he is without allies in the soft drink industry.

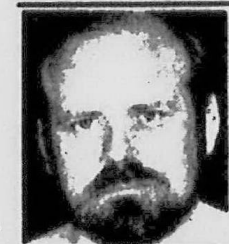

Readers should note that Anderson, an Alexander Hamilton Life Insurance Co. executive, is working closely with Richard Headlee, conservative standard bearer.

ON THE one hand we have a conservative seeking to suppress free thought and, on the other, we have conservatives trying to obtain information that is being suppressed by a government body.

As a leftist who has lived all his life in a country that has gone to great pains in maintaining most forms of free speech, I feel obligated to unravel this mysterious contradiction for our guests from the Soviet Union.

Please understand, glasnost or not, the battle for free speech is often delineated by the equation "money + power = influence."

NO MATTER how much a country develops the traditions and laws that reinforce a right to free expression, citizens must always stand guard against those who would rather censor ideas and information.

The guarantee of free speech is on paper, the execution of the guarantee comes from the hearts of those who have the courage to defend it.

Fear of information transcends ideology — left, right or center. Whether out of a fear of embarrassment, loss of power or threat to lifestyle, the results are the same.

Certainly, you, my Soviet friends, understand how and why governments suppress information. You've lived with that for many years. Governments in this country are often the same.

One big difference of course, is that in America Coca-Cola sometimes has more to say about what should and shouldn't be expressed than does the government.

That's called free enterprise.

Vulgar language offends reader

To the editor:

I recently saw the movie "The January Man." Upon reflection I wondered why it was given an "R" rating. There wasn't one gun fired, the main character didn't have a gun. The only physical violence was when the serial strangler was going after his next victim, and the final fist fight down many flights of stairs.

The reason this movie received an "R" rating was for the one explicit bedroom scene. I think the promotion people put this scene in to draw an adult audience. Also the "F word" was used excessively throughout this movie.

I believe society has accepted this word as no longer being vulgar. The everyday use seems to have made it the "word" of the current day and age, but it still is offensive to me.

There are also some very distasteful songs being played on the radio. Not to mention on MTV. I wish I could do something to let the networks know how much violence and vulgarity is unnecessary to produce quality movies, videos, TV and radio programs. How far will it go before we realize we are letting our youth be "brainwashed" into accepting a "soft porn" society?

What can I do to help stop this from happening? I think it takes a very strong sense of self-esteem to be able to say, "This has gone far enough." I would like to know if there are any organizations I could join to try to stop some of this garbage that is blindly being accepted.

Diane Majka,

Society is hooked on TV

To the editor:

I have read, with great interest, your series on education, focusing on the Michigan MEAP test scores. I have enjoyed the comments from our readers in education in various communities, and how most of them directed the blame to the difficulty factor of the tests. Steve Barnaby's column provoked more thoughts.

Now it's my turn, and if anybody who reads this sees the problem as I do, speak up before it's too late.

I received my education in the 1950s and early '60s. We bought a TV when I was 11 and I was hooked. My whole family was hooked. "The Honorary Dan," "I Love Lucy," Ed Sullivan and Walter Cronkite prevailed over Monopoly, chess, Scrabble and family outings.

Television, however wholesome it was then, has dramatically changed our society, our nation, our leaders and our classrooms.

Now, I do not watch much TV. But my kids do. I try to monitor their choices, but I work, and it's hard. When I do watch with them, I try to discuss the things I see that offend me, but they just think I am odd.

I grew up respecting the Ten Commandments and the Golden Rule — I still do. Kids today respect money, good looks, sarcastic humor, sex appeal; and the people they imitate are actors, rock stars and sometimes athletes.

The kids who don't, where parents try to focus on a more moral lifestyle, are under tremendous pressure from their peers to conform.

In our classrooms, school teachers use lots of TV to reinforce their studies. In November, my son, a seventh grader, watched for two weeks a study on the assassination of President John F. Kennedy. How many times he saw this great man shot makes me sick to my stomach. Finally a permission note was needed to watch the autopsy on President Kennedy's wounds to the skull. My son was furious when I sent back a big no. Turned out I was the only parent who did.

The only solution I can see is a personal boycott, by each and everyone of us who care. We can no longer turn the other cheek. We must make demands on the industry to change their product or simply stop buying.

I know I have only touched the tip of the iceberg on this, and you do, too. We must get morality back into our homes and our classrooms. Cable television, VCR and TV companies, video stores are all flourishing. How about our kids? Are they flourishing?

It's time to turn off the TV, get off the couch and do something else. Take your concerns to your legislators, your PTAs; write letters — make demands. One television in Westland is not enough to make a difference.

Open enrollment lets parent select school

Q: What is meant by open enrollment?
A: Open enrollment, in general, means that parents have the right to pick the school they wish their child to go to within the school district.

Originally I did not believe in this concept, but after having worked in two school districts with open enrollment, I am convinced that it is the appropriate way to address certain issues.

For instance, if parents can't stand a particular principal, teacher or program in a certain elementary building, they have the right to move that child to another elementary building. Conversely, it can be a break for the building principal and/or teacher who could be very competent. But for some reason there exists such a personality conflict between the parent and/or principal and/or teacher it rubs off negatively on the child.

IN AN EXTREME case, I knew of one child who was an emotional basket case in the third grade, having been labeled a wimp by his peers. This child was moved to another elementary school where his reputation was not known and where he blossomed into a well-adjusted, bright child with a healthy self-image. The change can't be totally attributed to a school change but I believe it played a major role.

However, caution should be exercised in districts with two or more high schools.

If one high school has a great high school football team or outstanding marching band and the other high school does not, subtle recruiting could occur. Recruiting commitment needs to be made by teachers, coaches or band leaders at the outset.

Open enrollment usually has some restrictions.

In most cases, the parent must furnish the transportation for the child to the other school.

Doc Doyle

Originally I did not believe in this concept, but after having worked in two school districts with open enrollment, I am convinced that it is the appropriate way to address certain issues.

Open enrollment is not a cure all, but it does resolve some situations to the benefit of all parties. The number of parents who take the option usually is less than 1 percent because most children and young adults don't want to leave their neighborhood or classmate friends for football, band or for whatever reason.

keeping up with government

LOOKING FOR information about state government? The League of Women Voters has a toll-free telephone service (1-800-292-5823) that may be helpful.

The league's Citizen Information Center in Lansing offers to help people find out about such things as pending legislation, the state constitution, election laws, voting regulations or tax information.

The telephone is answered from 10:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. weekdays.

The telephone service is paid for by the league's education fund. The League of Women Voters is a non-profit organization that works to keep voters interested and informed about governmental issues.

Women still waiting for 'potty parity' here

THIS IS about toilets, so giggle now, get it over with, and let's get down to serious business.

Penny Wright and I had occasion to toast state government — unfortunately, not Michigan's — for a progressive improvement in the matter of women's restrooms in public buildings.

Virginia's new "potty parity" law took effect March 1. It says that women's restrooms must have two toilets for every one in the men's restroom.

The Virginia Legislature took note of a college study that found "women take longer — 2½ to 3 minutes compared with 84 seconds for men — because of clothing restrictions, because there's no time-saving female equivalent of a urinal and because they often must attend to small children as well as themselves," according to wire service reports.

SHUCKS, THAT'S what Penny was writing about three years ago.

You remember her Our Land features on trash, conservation and toxic wastes. The Michigan Audubon Society picked her as top environmental writer of the year.

Penny Wright
 Her research initiated the project

Wright was a free-lancer, writing for us and a raft of trade magazines on a per-article basis. I am pleased to report she recently took a satisfying, full-time position as communications director of Barton Malow Construction Co. in Southfield.

It began in the summer of '85 when she did a feature on Wayne County parks and came up with a 30-year-old photo of a long line outside the women's restroom, noting there was never a long line outside men's rooms.

I had noticed the same thing myself in the Masonic Temple, where the Metropolitan Opera used to hold forth, but I assumed women didn't mind because they didn't squawk about it. Wright was the first person I heard complain.

"Penny's potty project" was born.

HER RESEARCH showed a lot of other places had long lines outside the women's room. Pine Knob was allegedly the worst. Tiger Stadium and Michigan Stadium were pretty bad.

The Joe Louis Arena is terrible. A friend told how, at a Luciano Pavarotti concert, the women rebelled and invaded the men's room, carefully turning their eyes from the gents at the urinal as they paraded fiercely to use the stalls.

Tim Richard

Wright's research showed a lot of places had long lines outside the women's room. Pine Knob was allegedly the worst. Tiger Stadium and Michigan Stadium were pretty bad. The Joe Louis Arena is terrible.

Wright invited women to write to her. They did, and their war stories were pretty explicit and very unpleasant.

We found that architects, mainly men, weren't aware of the problem. We found that women were embarrassed when the subject was brought up until they found we were a serious audience.

Our effort — actually, Penny did the lioness' share of the work — finally produced a meeting with the state Plumbing Board, which writes the code that is reviewed by the honorable members of the Michigan Legislature.

THE CHAIRMAN gave her a sympathetic ear, took her under his wing and gave her friendly advice about how to lobby for changes.

That gave us troubles. One trouble was that she as a free-lance writer and I as a salaried journalist lacked time and freedom to lobby. The other was that area women's groups, obsessed by the abortion issue, failed to pick up the ball and wage war for something that would benefit all women.

"Some women's group could do it, find it an easy victory, and have some credentials under their belt," Wright said.

There the matter rests. Virginia has a proper law. Michigan women still are waiting in long lines.

County bond rating boosted

Move should save taxpayers' money

By Wayne Peal
staff writer

Wayne County took a half-step up financially Tuesday after a major New York investment firm raised the county's bond rating. But the county is still several strides behind other major metropolitan areas.

Moody's Investors Service Inc. announced it was raising the county bond rating from "ba" to "ba1." The move will reduce the interest paid by county taxpayers on future bond issues.

With a new jail, new morgue and renovated hall of justice on the horizon, the move is seen as saving taxpayers "hundreds of thousands" in interest payments, county officials said.

"THIS IS probably the best news we've had in a long time," said Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara.

The county's rating increased because it now has a balanced budget, McNamara said. Modifications to the county's indigent health care program, long considered a major debt-producer and the county's December 1987 debt payment agreement with the state were also seen as factors.

Even with the increase, the county is far from a sure bet for investors. Its new rating means that bonds "future cannot be well assured," according to Moody's prospectus.

"What we're saying is that there are still speculative elements but the overall trend is a positive one," said Diana Rosulich, Moody's vice president/general manager for the Great Lakes region.

A team of Moody's analysts took a three-day tour of the county in December, McNamara said.

Improvements to Wayne County's bond rating are expected to improve individual ratings among Wayne County municipalities.

"THE REASON our rating isn't better is because of Wayne County's poor rating," said one western Wayne County official who declined to be named. "They pull us down."

Wayne County's bond rating dropped in 1979, when the county instituted payless paydays to avoid a financial crisis. The announcement Tuesday was believed to have been the first major upgrading of the county's bond rating since then.

Moody's rates bonds from "Aaa" to "C." The lower the rating, the more the county would have to pay in interest to entice investors.

The new rating places the county a half-step below the city of Detroit as a risk to investors.

Livonia and Westland are two full steps ahead. Dearborn and Oakland County are two-and-one-half steps ahead. Kent County, Michigan's top-rated county, is three steps ahead. Bloomfield Hills Schools, given Moody's top "Aaa" rating, is four steps ahead. (For a comparison between Wayne County and other major metropolitan areas, see related chart.)

Where county stands

Here is a comparison between Wayne County bonds and those of other counties, municipalities and school districts as they are ranked by Moody's Investors Service, Inc. Moody's ranks bonds in nine categories, ranging from as high as "Aaa" to as low as "C." Not all rankings are represented on the chart. Wayne County's new "ba1" ranking indicates its bonds are a better risk than others in the "ba" classification.

Judge James Garber keeps a watchful eye on the proceedings at Plymouth Canton High School. Garber has been helping with the mock trial program ever since it started at Centennial Educational Park.

Trial brings law to life

By Julie Brown
staff writer

Judge James Garber sees his share of capable attorneys in his 35th District Court courtroom.

The students he met with Thursday, March 2, aren't lawyers, but they display considerable legal talent and promise.

The Plymouth Canton High School students were participating in the 1989 Michigan Mock Trial Tournament. Teams of students played the parts of the plaintiff, defendants, witnesses and attorneys.

"They're a little more nervous" than lawyers, Garber said of the students. Even so, they do just fine.

"It does get better each year." This year's competition included five teams of students, said Audrey Etienne, who teaches government and international relations at Canton High School.

THIS IS THE sixth year Centennial Educational Park students have participated in the program, which is an extracurricular activity. The program's sponsored by the University of Detroit School of Law, The Michigan Law-Related Education Project, Wayne County Neighborhood Legal Services, and the State Bar of Michigan-Youth Legal Education Committee.

The program involves students "and helps them understand how the legal system works," Etienne said. Students interested in studying law have the opportunity to work with lawyers and judges; many local attorneys donate their time, working with the students.

"So it's a chance to work one-on-one with an attorney," she said.

The hypothetical case involves a student at Michigan High School, Pat Roman. On June 8, 1988, Roman's gym bag was searched by a teacher, Terry Wordshaw, who was looking for a missing plaque won by the school's cheerleading squad.

The plaque, discovered missing from a display case at the school, isn't found during the search. Wordshaw does, however, discover a marijuana joint in the gym bag. As a result, Roman is suspended from school.

Roman sues, claiming the search is a violation of the Fourth Amendment prohibition against "unreasonable searches and seizures." The search created considerable embarrassment, Roman claims, due to the fact that personal items were in the gym bag.

GARBER'S ROLE during the competition wasn't so much to rule on the merits of the hypothetical case. Instead, he provided constructive comments for the teams of students, and selected two teams to participate in the state competition March 18 at the City-County Building in Detroit.

"I always enjoy coming up to the high school," said Garber, who speaks to classes throughout the year. "It's fun coming up and talking to the youngsters."

Garber's schedule Thursday also included the preliminary exam for Leonard Tyburski, charged with murdering his wife and placing her body in a freezer.

That sort of case is a once in a lifetime one, said Garber, who's been practicing for more than 30 years. Most court matters are more routine.

He uses the same court rules and rules of evidence during the mock trial that he does in 35th District Court. Garber's not too harsh in dealing with the students, however;

'They've done extremely well. The kids have worked hard on it.'

— Judge James Garber
35th District Court

he had no plans last Thursday to hold any students in contempt of court.

Not all of the participants will go on to law school, but the experience will nevertheless serve them well.

"There's nothing that we do in life that isn't of some value later on," Garber said.

THE PROGRAM helps to demystify the court system and legal proceedings, according to Garber.

A survey by the Michigan Supreme Court found that 85 percent of the state's residents get all or most of their information on the court system from TV. Of that number, only 35 percent get their information from news programs; the remainder watch such shows as "Night Court" and "L.A. Law."

Artrain will visit Plymouth

Artrain, the Michigan-based art museum on a train, is scheduled to make a Plymouth stop later this year.

Artrain will visit Plymouth's Old Village area June 1-4.

The 1989 exhibition, "Treasures of Childhood: 150 Years of American Toys," presents more than 300 of the finest objects from the Lawrence Scripps Wilkinson Collection of Toys.

An affiliate of the Detroit Historical Museum, the Wilkinson Collection is one of the most distinguished of its kind in the United States. The exhibition will be seen throughout the Midwest from April through November.

The opening reception and preview for the Plymouth visit is Wednesday, May 31, with admission by ticket only. The local visit is sponsored by the Plymouth Community Arts Council.

ARTRAIN WILL be open June 1-4 in Plymouth; admission is free. Hours will be 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Thursday and Friday; 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

"It's really good for the community," said Pam Mincher of Plymouth Township, one of the volunteers working on the project. "It's great for Old Village. They are very supportive of it."

The exhibit of antique toys will be particularly interesting for children, she said.

Artrain last visited Plymouth in April 1987. That year's exhibit, "The Cranbrook Vision: Past and Present," featured treasures from the Cranbrook Academy of Art.

Mincher was serving as arts council president when plans got under way for that visit.

"It was such a success," she said. Many visitors, including students from the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, saw the Cranbrook exhibit that year.

'It's really good for the community. It's great for Old Village. They are very supportive of it.'

— Pam Mincher
volunteer

The train first visited Plymouth in the early 1970s. Plymouth was one of the first communities Artrain visited. The visit helped the local arts council become established, Mincher said.

Co-chairwomen for this year's visit are Janie Hunt and Debbie Walter.

ARTRAIN IS accessible to handicapped people. It includes three gallery cars, an artists' studio/demonstration car and a caboose. Visitors who board the train will first see an audiovisual presentation introducing the "Treasures of Childhood."

The galleries will be filled with many toys, including a tin train set from 1875, a turn-of-the-century Uncle Sam mechanical bank, teddy bears and a 1957 original Howdy Doodie doll. Visitors will see toy-makers at work in the demonstration car.

Lawrence Scripps Wilkinson is a former buyer and vice president for F.A.O. Schwarz, New York's famous toy store. Portions of the Wilkinson Collection have traveled throughout the country, Europe and Asia.

Since 1971, Artrain has visited more than 250 communities in 28 states. It is supported by the Michigan Council for the Arts, the Michigan Council for the Humanities and the Institute of Museum Services.

Donated teaching materials will be put to good use

Teaching materials donated to the Community Literacy Council will come in handy.

"It was just such a generous gift," said Sharon Streen, assistant director of Plymouth-Canton Community Education and secretary of the Community Literacy Council. "We're really envisioning a tremendous use."

The materials were donated by the Plymouth Community United Way through the Gifts in Kinds program.

The brand-new materials will be used by adult students in the adult basic education program and the English as a Second Language program. Children in the ESL program will use the materials as well.

Gifts in Kind Inc. is the national charity created by United Way of America. It helps companies contribute such things as office equipment, clothing, personal care products and medical supplies to non-profit organizations. Those contributions supplement financial support.

THE PLYMOUTH Community United Way is one of only 20 United Ways slated to receive a gift of teaching materials. Gifts in Kind is making a nationwide contribution of materials to help in literacy programs.

Reading kits, a phonic series, instructional materials and others are included in the donation, Streen said. Some 72 boxes of material were contributed.

Not all of the materials are of the conventional print variety. Audio tapes, filmstrips, flashcards, and computer-aided instruction programs are included.

"They need so many different kinds of reinforcement," she said.

A total of 33 volunteer tutors who work with ESL students recently completed training. Some of those ESL students speak little or no English, she said.

"You just have to have one-to-one help."

That training program was developed by Dorothy Beckman and Connie Kish, Plymouth-Canton Community Education staffers.

"We had awfully good turnout for that," Streen said. Those tutors work with children and adults in the ESL program.

Those tutors don't need to be able to speak or read another language; skills in English and a willingness to help are the requirements.

In addition to those volunteers, other tutors work with adult basic education students.

"A lot of the materials would work for both groups of people," Streen said.

SOME 172 STUDENTS in kindergarten through 12th grade are in the bilingual education program, she said, with some 250 adults in the ESL and adult basic education programs. Those numbers mean the donated materials will be put to good use.

Streen was contacted by Marie Morrow, executive director of the Plymouth Community United Way.

"I didn't even know about Gifts in Kind," Streen said.

It's difficult to estimate the dollar value of the materials, she said.

"Materials are very expensive, so it's a significant donation. It'll really enhance what we try to do."

Carolyn Burns, (left) president of the Community Literacy Council, and Sharon Streen look over some of the donated materials.

Streen is the assistant director of Plymouth-Canton Community Education.

Mock trial brings law to life

TV's "People's Court" does accurately portray goings-on in a small claims court, Garber said, but most shows don't come that close to courtroom reality. Projects such as the Michigan Mock Trial Tournament help students get a better understanding of the court system.

"They've done exceedingly well," he said. "The kids have worked hard on it."

The two teams of four students each — representing the plaintiff and the defendants — will have some practice time before March 18. As in previous years, they'll go to the 35th District Court in Plymouth, to practice in a real courtroom before the big day of the competition.

"I'm getting really into it," said 17-year-old Tanya Szyszko, a senior at Canton. She appeared as one of the defense attorneys.

Student Jim Gallagher appears as an attorney during the mock trial.

"I've just learned everything here," she said. "I've learned a lot."

Shelly Davis, an 18-year-old Canton senior, appeared as the plaintiff, Pat Roman, and enjoyed participating in the program.

"I thought it was a really good way to get a feel for what the law is like," Davis said. She and others on her team spent many hours preparing for the competition.

"And our lawyer was a great help too," Davis and others on the team worked with attorney Ron Lowe.

Both Davis and Szyszko are considering attending law school, but don't have definite plans just yet. The Centennial Educational Park students are hoping to win top honors at the March 18 competition in Detroit. The school has been well-represented in previous competitions, winning first place in 1986 and 1988 and second place in 1984 and 1985.

Judge James Garber makes a point during the proceedings. Among those listening are students Jim Gallagher and Yvonne Raisanen (seated, center).

Council offers scholarships

The Plymouth Community Arts Council offers scholarships for students living in or attending school in the Plymouth-Canton community.

The Joanne Winkelman Hulce Founder's Scholarship is awarded in honor of Joanne Winkelman Hulce, founder of the arts council.

The scholarship, a $1,000 cash award, is available for high school seniors who show promise in an artistic field and wish to further their education in that field.

A committee of judges with artistic backgrounds will consider applicants from a variety of fields, including: painting, ceramics, dance, design, graphics, drama, photography, sculpture, textiles, instrumental and vocal music, and literary arts.

STUDENTS WHO wish to apply are asked to write a letter, including name, address, phone number, artistic background, plans for continuing education and a personal profile explaining qualifications for the award. Two letters of recommendation from a teacher and another person associated with the applicant's work, should be submitted, along with at least two representative pieces of work.

Performing artists should be prepared to perform for the judges.

Applications may be mailed to the Plymouth Community Arts Council, JWH Scholarship, 332 S. Main, Plymouth Mich. 48170. The deadline for submitting applications is Friday, April 7. Finalists will be interviewed or auditioned on Saturday, April 22.

Additional information is available at high school offices or at the PCAC office, 455-5260. PCAC office hours are 9 a.m. to noon Monday through Friday.

Another scholarship offered by the PCAC is the Jeanet M. Allison Memorial Scholarship Fund for Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp. The arts council has budgeted $600 to assist students in grades 6-11 who will attend

Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp in 1989.

The camp then matches amounts awarded by the PCAC, making a total of $1,200 available.

Those scholarships will be offered in art, dance, music and theater. Applicants will be judged by a panel of judges on the basis of talent and interest.

THE DEADLINE is Friday, April 7, for submitting applications and, where applicable, three samples of the student's best work. A letter of recommendation, from a teacher or someone else familiar with the student's work, is required.

Material is to be brought to the PCAC office in Plymouth between 9 a.m. to noon weekdays. The office will also be open 3-5 p.m. Friday, April 7.

After winners are selected, art work may be picked up at the PCAC office starting May 8.

For an application or more information, call the PCAC, 455-5260, or contact school music or art teachers.

The council also offers the Margaret E. Wilson Scholarship for the Performing Arts. This single award of $500 is available for a person pursuing a career in dance, drama or music. Applicants will be judged on the basis of talent rather than financial need.

The scholarship is available to any graduating senior or graduate of the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools who has been accepted into an appropriate professional program. Applicants must submit:

- A written description of goals, aspirations and career plans;
- A letter of acceptance from an accredited program, teacher or coach;
- Two letters of recommendation from people closely associated with the applicant's talent;
- A tape not to exceed 10 minutes and to include more than one selection. Live auditions in dance and drama are acceptable.

Arts group plans its class schedule

The Plymouth Community Arts Council will offer spring art classes for children. Spring break workshop classes, running the week of March 27-31, include "Origami I" and "Origami II," "Masks" and "Fabric Painting."

"Origami I" and "Origami II" are designed for students ages 6-8 and 9-12, respectively. Students will learn the ancient craft and create amazing items merely by folding paper.

The "Masks" class is for students ages 9-12. Each student will make a decorated plaster cast of his or her face.

In the "Fabric Painting" class, students ages 8-12 will apply designs on their own T-shirts, sneakers or canvas bags with dyes and paints.

Classes are offered twice a week, mornings and afternoons, during the week students are on school break. Prices range from $10 to $12.

THE COUNCIL'S six-week art education classes will start April 6 and continue through May 16.

From 4:15 to 5:30 p.m. Mondays, children ages 5-7 will meet for "Exploring Art: Multi-Media."

Students ages 8-11 have two class options this term. They may enroll in "Watercolor" (for beginning or intermediate students) 4:15-5:30 p.m. on Tuesdays or in "Printmaking" 4:15-5:30 p.m. on Thursdays.

From 9:30 to 11 a.m. Saturdays, advanced students ages 10-14 can enhance their drawing ability in the "Advanced Drawing" class.

Price for the six-week classes is $40. Plymouth Community Arts Council members receive a 10 percent discount on classes.

All classes are scheduled to meet at the arts council office. Registration may be made by phone, mail or in person at 332 S. Main, Plymouth Mich. 48170 (455-5260).

The PCAC, founded in 1969, is a non-profit arts organization. Its programs are funded in part by the Michigan Council for the Arts.

Mission

She brings a message of caring

By Julie Brown
staff writer

Mother Charlesetta Waddles has been hard at work for more than 30 years.

Her Perpetual Mission helps people with such basics as housing, clothing, food and furniture. She started her mission, a non-profit, non-denominational religious organization, in the 1950s.

Waddles, who has 10 children, was born in St. Louis, Mo. She left school at age 12 approximately 64 years ago.

Her mother had heart problems. Her father died, and Waddles had to help out with the family's finances. At that time, social service programs weren't available. Waddles learned to wash, iron, cook and scrub, helping put food on her family's table.

"GOD STARTED preparing me even then for what I do today," she said.

Waddles married at 14 and had her first child. She now has 38 grandchildren and 19 great-grandchildren. Her children range in age from 35 to 62.

Those early years were hard ones.

"I had beans on Christmas with no meat."

Today, when Waddles meets with people at her Perpetual Mission, her experience helps her relate to them. She can look beyond their faults "and reach for some good."

Waddles came to Plymouth the evening of Wednesday, March 1.

She spoke at a Lenten forum, held at First Presbyterian Church of Plymouth.

HER EXPERIENCE proves that God lives among us, she told those at the meeting.

"And if you can love enough, God will do anything."

There's a need for Christ-like efforts these days, she said.

"It's just marvelous to be a Christian. I think we should strive to be Christ-like Christians."

"We have got to learn to be what God would be pleased at. Each one of us are the spirit of God wrapped in flesh."

At times, Waddles was considered "out to lunch," she said. Some questioned her wisdom in setting up the mission.

"But it has proven itself."

PEOPLE SHOULD "love the hell out of folks," Waddles said. The reason for much of the trouble in this world "is because we won't just let go and love them enough."

"Everybody responds to a smile, and they respond to the good feelings they have."

Her mission has not been without controversy. A priest in an outstate Michigan community was excommunicated in the late 1960s, she said, because he invited her to come and speak.

Her mission distributes food baskets to the needy. Furniture and clothing are provided, along with help with prescriptions and other necessities.

"Whatever it is that folks need, we try to find."

She works with the Salvation Army and other agencies. Her mission, which receives support from the United Way, has regular religious services.

SHE HOPES to stop drug abuse in Detroit.

"And I believe we can do it. So we've got a job to do and we've got to find a way to turn it around."

Young people with drug problems aren't all bad, but are misguided, she said.

Waddles works with a number of volunteers and some staff members at her Perpetual Mission. First-time offenders from Oakland, Wayne and Macomb counties are assigned to work at the mission as well.

THE PICTURE isn't all bleak, she said in an interview after her presentation. Although Detroit's drug problems are severe, there have been some improvements in recent years.

More social services are now available, and more agencies work together, she said. There's more willingness to look at other people's points of view.

Waddles plans to continue her work.

"If it sounds like I plan to live to 100, I do."

She's hoping the Lord will put her out of business.

WADDLES WAS invited to speak "because we thought she would be something of interest," said Dorothy Atwell of Canton, Christian education coordinator at First Presbyterian Church of Plymouth.

Atwell enjoyed the presentation by Waddles.

"It was very down to earth," she said.

Her beliefs are simple and yet effective.

"But it works if you get people to understand and do it," Atwell said.

Members of the Plymouth church do a great deal of work with Fort Street Presbyterian Church in Detroit, she said. Many go there to help distribute food.

Church members have been interested in having Waddles speak for quite some time. She's a spiritual woman "who puts her faith to work among the needy," said the Rev. Philip Rodgers Magee, pastor at the Plymouth church.

"It couldn't have pleased me more that she came out to talk to us."

APPROXIMATELY 75 people attended the Wednesday, March 1, session. An offering was taken that evening, to help with the work of the mission. Some people made additional financial contributions or offered to volunteer.

The presentation made people aware of the problems of urban poverty, said Magee, a Plymouth resident.

"She made them very real right on our doorstep."

People tend not to understand the extent of those problems, he said. People don't want to be that way, but just aren't aware of the extent of the problems.

"Yes, we tend to be isolated."

"Choosing David's doctor was easy. I called Mount Carmel."

"I'd heard about Mount Carmel's excellent reputation in pediatrics. So I wanted the doctor I chose for David to be affiliated with the hospital. But I also wanted someone with an office near my home in Livonia. I called the Mount Carmel referral number and the woman who answered the phone put me in touch with several doctors who offered what I was looking for. The one I selected for David is wonderful. I couldn't have found him without the help I got from the referral service."

—Cheryl C.

Sunday, March 12th 10:00 A.M.

"Messiah in the Passover" is a visual demonstration presented from a table that displays the traditional items of a Passover Seder. The historic and symbolic significance of each item is explained. The presentation emphasizes the Jewish origin of Communion as Jesus celebrated it with His disciples at the Last Supper, which was a Passover Seder. Whether or not you are Jewish, you will find "Messiah in the Passover" thought-provoking and informative.

The Rev. Bong Ho Kim, pastor of Livonia Seventh-Day Adventist Church, is concerned about the survival of his church.

Money woes

Korean church works to keep its doors open

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

The neighborhood church: a place often taken for granted.

But as many Catholics in Detroit have recently found out, not even a place of worship is immune to economic hardship. Such is the case with the Livonia Korean Seventh-Day Adventist Church, which is $35,000 in debt.

The church has 50 members, predominately Korean. Most are first generation immigrants. As a result many work on the lower end of the pay scale, making it even more difficult to support a church budget.

"I don't know how long we can survive," said the Rev. Bong Ho Kim, pastor of Livonia Seventh-Day Adventist Church.

For many Koreans who first arrive in this country, the church serves as more than a place of worship. It provides a base in the transition to a new culture.

Through the church, they find out about job opportunities, where to find housing or schools for their children.

Also, the church is a place where they can keep alive the traditions of their culture. Services at the Livonia Seventh-Day Adventist Church are spoken in the Korean language.

Members usually meet for a dinner of Korean food afterward.

"To me, there is no other bigger social gathering than at church," said Myung Namm of Lathrup Village, who is a clerk at the Livonia church. "That purpose is very important. Koreans are very religious people."

KOREANS FROM the Detroit metro area, and even farther, attend Livonia Seventh-Day Adventist Church. Some even come from as far as Toledo, Ohio, to attend services that take place on Friday and Saturday.

The church is one of 10 Korean churches in the area, covering many of the denominations including Catholic, Methodist, Presbyterian and Baptist.

The Livonia Seventh-Day Adventist Church has been at Sunnydale and Middlebelt roads for 10 years. Another 10 years there at this point appear bleak, according to church elders.

Not helping matters any is a $11,384.35 bill from the City of Livonia for the paving of Sunnydale Road. The church, a non-profit organization, was assessed the 100 percent commercial rate.

Members of the church recently took their plea before the Livonia

City Council. They wanted to be reassessed at 100 percent residential or 30-40 percent commercial.

The council only agreed to extend the payment period from 10 years to 15 years at 8 percent interest. But for a church whose existence is in question, that figure looms particularly large.

"Our question is that we're in a residential area. Why should we pay 100 percent commercial?" said Paul Kim of Bloomfield Hills, who is the church treasurer. "As long as we live in Livonia, we're willing to cooperate. We don't agree with their decision."

RAUL GALINDO, city engineer, said St. Paul Presbyterian Church was assessed the same rate when paving was done there.

St. Paul Presbyterian faces Five Mile Road and Galindo said the church was also charged for the pavement of side streets. Like St. Paul Church, the Seventh-Day Adventist Church faces a main street, Middlebelt Road.

Livonia Seventh-Day Adventist Church members contend their situation is quite different than St. Paul's Church, though. For one, they don't have 1,400 members as a financial base to draw from.

"Clearly, we thought it was equitable and fair," said Robert Bishop, Livonia council member. "We saw no reason to deviate. Once you start treating people differently, everyone has the right to the same treatment. . . . Everyone has to pay their fair share, even churches."

Joan McCotter was the lone council member who didn't agree with the assessment. "My feeling was that they were a small, minority church," McCotter said. "They didn't have commercial usage. I would have preferred to see them assessed at 50 percent commercial."

The debt of $35,000 also includes a mortgage, parking lot, roof and basement repairs. Members want to pay that all off.

"We want to have God's belongings debt free," Namm said.

Nonetheless, the church members don't appear down beat. Families stay well into the afternoon after the morning service to socialize.

Children play in the parking lot outside. Their mothers and fathers only hope there is a church for them when they grow older.

The pastor, has a difficult time with English but still conveys his frustration at the situation.

"I have a big problem and a headache," Kim said, hitting himself on the forehead.

Not everyone suffers from a memory loss

Dear Jo:
Does everyone become "senile" sooner or later, if he or she lives long enough?

Mrs. K.L.
Western Reader

Dear Mrs. L.:
First of all, before I answer your question, — the word senile is a meaningless word that was formerly used to describe the various aspect of memory loss that occurred in the later years. Gerontologists and other health care professionals agree that for the most part, the word should be discarded. Memory loss associated with aging is now referred to as just that — memory loss. The word dementia is used when the condition is medically related.
Now, to answer your question, no — everyone does not suffer from gerontology

A. Jolayne Farrell

memory loss if he or she lives long enough. Even among those who live to be 80 or older, only 20 to 25 percent develop Alzheimer's disease or some other incurable form of brain disease.

Temporary forgetfulness in old age can be related to a number of treatable conditions such as a minor head injury, a low grade infection, poor nutrition, adverse drug reactions, depression, stress, a high fever and loneliness. For the most part, memory loss is no longer a problem when these conditions are treated.

Dear Jo:
What is the most common cause of accidents in older persons?
Mr. R.O.
Thorbury Retiree

Dear Mr. O:
Accidental falls are the most common cause of injuries among the elderly — and most of the falls occur in the home. Falls can be prevented by practicing good safety habits. Homes can be made "elderly proof" by the use of good lighting, nonskid floors, and keeping living areas free of obstacles.

Dear Jo:
Will the population in the future have more older folks than young?
Ms. B.B.
Windsor Reader

Dear Ms. B.:
This is not expected in the foreseeable future. Today, 12 percent of the North American population are age 65 and older. By the year 2030, this figure is expected to increase to 20 percent.
This is the first time in recorded history that there have been so many people living this long. As time progresses there will have to be a great many changes in society and social policy to accommodate this demographic phenomenon.

How's your label sense?

With resolutions to start eating better and taking better care of ourselves in general, we're all probably spending more time checking out labels. So, food shoppers, it's time for a little quiz about food labels. A lot of consumers are mystified by the information found — and not found — on food labels. So let's start with some basic information:
DO ALL PACKAGED FOODS HAVE LABELS?

The answer is a technical "yes." However, the kind and amount of information found on the label varies greatly. All labels must provide the following: the name of the product; the name and location of the manufacturer; packer or distributor; the net contents or net weight.

DO ALL FOOD LABELS PROVIDE NUTRITIONAL INFORMATION?

The answer is no. Manufacturers are only required to provide nutritional information on their product labels if one or more nutrients are added to the food ("fortified with 8 essential vitamins") or if a nutritional claim is made by the product ("provides 100 percent of vitamin xyz").

The nutritional information must include the number of calories and the amount of protein, fat carbohydrates and sodium in a specified serving of the product. The label must also show the per serving protein content and percentage of recommended daily allowances (RDAs) for seven essential vitamins and minerals.

MUST ALL PACKAGED FOODS LIST ALL THEIR INGREDIENTS?

The correct answer is "maybe." Many — but not all — foods list the ingredients on their label. There are approximately 300 foods on the market today, from jelly to mayonnaise for which the FDA has an established "standards of identity." This means that these products have specific mandatory ingredients and percentages that under the law do not have to be identified on the label. Optional ingredients in these products must be listed, however.

Also, the ingredients must be listed by their "common or usual name" for all non-standardized foods.

WHAT DETERMINES THE ORDER IN WHICH INGREDIENTS OF A PRODUCT ARE LISTED ON THE LABEL?

Ingredients, by law, are required to be listed in order of amount in the food. The ingredient found in the largest amount is listed first, the second largest amount listed second and so on. This is to ensure, for example, that if the largest amount of a drink is water, the consumer knows this and can make a knowledgeable comparison between different brands.

Also, if the label has a picture of the product, that picture must fairly accurately represent what is inside the container according to the law.

IS SODIUM ANOTHER WORD FOR SALT?

The answer is no. There are at least 70 sodium compounds used in food. Salt is sodium chloride and is about 40 percent sodium. Salt is, however, the largest single source of sodium in the human diet.

Parents train child for a dry night's sleep

When the Wilsons first realized they had a problem, Billy was 5 years old. Now he is 10.

"Don't worry, he'll outgrow it," the doctors kept telling them. That was five years ago.

But Billy was still wetting his bed. He would wake up in a dry bed perhaps two days a week. "Five doctors had tried their best. The family doctor had prescribed some medicine which stopped his bedwetting; but then he had a relapse as soon as the drug was discontinued," says Billy's mother. "Our paediatrician examined Billy and found nothing physically wrong. He referred us to a psychologist whose comment was Billy was a little hyperactive, but not abnormally for his age." An internist and an urologist put Billy through many tests. Nothing seemed to work.

"Over the last 5 years, we felt fortunate if the bed was dry two nights in a row," says the boy's father. "Billy would go to visit someone and spend the night. But he might stay awake the whole time, because he was too embarrassed and did not want to wet the bed."

Then several weeks ago, the Wilsons heard of the Michigan Children's Center. They sent away for the free literature and saw their own son's story being played out. What had hit them hardest was an earlier story that linked bedwetting to a change in personality.

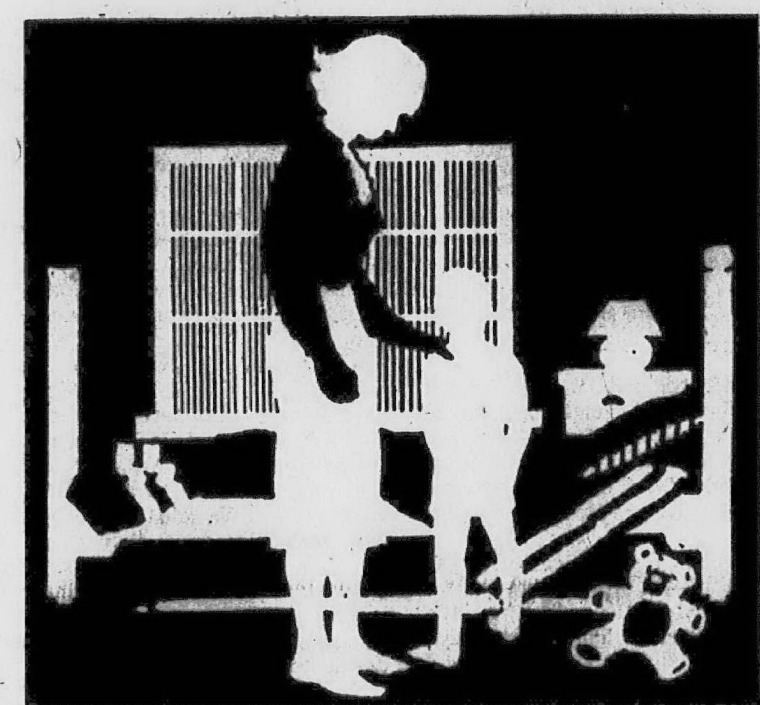

"My son tried to set our cat on fire. That's when I said I am tired of hearing 'don't worry, he'll outgrow it.' Also, I found out bedwetting is harmful physically and emotionally. If bedwetting can be stopped, why should we put our son through such a horrible experience. We did not hesitate when our daughter needed braces. The expenses have nothing to do with it."

Many don't outgrow bedwetting

Bedwetting is not life-threatening, so it's not a disease. But it endangers a child's mental health, so it's more than an inconvenience. Its symptoms are well known, so it can't be called a discovery. It does not fit into any recognizable category as a psychological phenomenon, so it's treated as a physical nuisance. A nuisance that the child hopefully would outgrow.

But children don't always stop bedwetting. One report showed an incidence of 40 percent at three years, 22 percent at five years, 10 percent at ten years and 1 to 2 percent at twenty years of age. Girls do not wet their beds as often as boys. Bedwetting is about twice as common among boys as among girls. In 14 years the Center has successfully treated thousands of bedwetters with an enviable rate of success, and receives a great number of inquiries from adults who still have the problem.

Quite often a doctor will say, "Don't worry, your child will outgrow it." That's because most doctors don't want to worry the parents. And if we look at the statistics between the ages of five and ten, he has a better than fifty-fifty chance to be correct. A history of bedwetting in the family can reduce the chances a child will outgrow it. Also Psychologist Dr. Warren Baller of the University of California at Los Angeles writes, "Evidence accumulated casts doubts that children outgrow bedwetting. Most bedwetters hide their feelings. Shame and embarrassment are their constant companions. Correcting their affliction often produces remarkable results in family relationships, behavior, school work and peer contact."

"To offer a child a reward for accomplishing something while he's asleep, is a no-win situation. It sets him up for failure."

Billy was dry nine weeks after the Wilsons sent for the Center's literature, and eight weeks without a wet bed, they started to notice other changes.

"My son has always been very quiet, very withdrawn. He seldom talks to us. I guess that's because he was teased a lot when someone who'd let him stay at his home let the cat out of the bag," says his father. Today Billy reaches out for affection from his family in a way they've never known. He also appears much more confident and less argumentative.

Harmful physical and emotional effects

Billy follows the pattern of many "nocturnal enuretics" as the condition is medically known. For them, the problem is more than just a "wet sheet nuisance." Unfortunately it's still a closely closeted problem few people are willing to discuss openly let alone seeking help. As a result, socially these children can develop poorly. Their bedwetting problem makes it difficult for them to join the crowd, making friends and learning the skill in a healthy relationship. They live in constant fear of ridicule — that somebody will uncover their problem. Bedwetting is not an accepted thing to do.

The resulting shame from bedwetting during the sensitive age of a child can be devastating. Often hostility, resentment and feelings of rejection or anti-social traits can carry over into adulthood.

"Our success goes beyond just stopping bedwetting," says case director, Adrienne Clinansmith, R.N., B.S., of the Children's Center. "Most parents tell us that their children are happier with themselves. The children like themselves more and so do their parents. A child who likes and respects himself is more capable of liking and respecting others."

"A tremendous amount of stress is removed from the whole family. Often they weren't even aware it was related to bedwetting. Parents often find a great behavior and attitude change in the child."

"Schoolwork often improves and so does the child's attention span and concentration. These are some real, positive benefits from stopping bedwetting."

The concerned parent

Bedwetting can leave emotional problems both on children and on parents if the problem isn't treated quickly and corrected before attending school. "So the majority of our inquiries come from parents of pre-school children looking for a solution prior to starting school."

Some parents try rewarding their children for a dry night or scolding them when bedwetting occurs. But Clinansmith says, "To offer a child a reward for accomplishing something when he's sleeping is a no-win situation."

He notes that a 3½ year study at the McGill University in Montreal, Canada concludes that deep sleep, not the child, is the No. 1 cause of bedwetting.

Causes and effects

Bedwetting can cause serious psychological problems in a child if not being looked after quickly. After a while, the child develops some strongly ingrained habits and negative self-expectations which in turn make it even harder to overcome the problem.

Early symptoms of this taking place are: Temper tantrums, putting things off, avoiding responsibilities, afraid to be alone, difficulty in making friends.

Staff psychotherapist at the Center, Arnold Keller says that the worst so-called solution, without a doubt, is for parents to wait for the children to outgrow the problem. Since toilet training points out the difference between right and wrong, clean and dirty, success and failure, bedwetting naturally reinforces negative feelings and can lead to a poor self-image.

Most bedwetters hide their feelings in shame," says Keller. "They pretend that it doesn't bother them, and they stop talking about it. And when parents don't think it affects the child, and everything seems to be alright, that's when things can become serious."

"The majority of bedwetters don't work to their full potential," he says. "They often have difficulty communicating with their parents because of the guilt associated with bedwetting. One study showed three of every four institutionalized juvenile delinquents were or had been bedwetters."

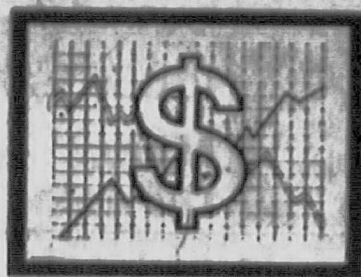

Fortunately, bedwetting can be corrected in almost every case. The Center enjoys a success rate of over 97 percent of those accepted into the program. Using the Dry Bed Training method pioneered by the Center over the past 14 years, parents can stop their child's bedwetting problem right in the privacy of their own home.

The Federal Trade Commission said an agreement among car dealers to limit evening and weekend hours violated antitrust laws because it increased profits and limited comparison shopping.

'Don't tell us when to be open'

By Peggy Aulino
staff writer

A Federal Trade Commission ruling requiring Detroit area car dealerships to be open at least 64 hours a week is "no big deal" to many salespeople — lots of them say they already put in a work week that well exceeds 40 hours.

Most expect the ruling handed down last Thursday to be overturned by an appeals court anyway.

Still, people who sell cars in the nation's car capital say they don't want the FTC telling them when to do business. And for now dealerships will not extend their hours.

"Our position is no branch of the U.S. government has got the right to tell independent businessmen how many hours they must be open, and any court in the land would overturn that order and will," said Dan Hayes, executive vice president of the Troy-based Detroit Auto Dealers Association. The organization represents approximately 240 dealers in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties.

THE DISPUTE stems from an agreement adopted more than 15 years ago by the majority of auto dealers in the tri-county area. They closed their doors to customers all day Saturday and on Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday evenings "in response to employees' requests, pressures, whatever you want to call it," Hayes said.

The FTC said that move violated antitrust laws because it increased profits and limited comparison shopping. An administrative law judge disagreed with the federal commission in a 1987 ruling, but the FTC overruled that last week.

"They said it reduced competition," Hayes said. "The trial proved without a doubt that there was no effect on competition and that, in fact, car prices were lower in Detroit than anywhere else in the U.S."

The DADA has 60 days from the ruling date to file an appeal. Hayes and others said the matter could be tied up in court for years.

MOST DEALERS are currently open approximately 50 hours a week, which includes evening hours Monday and Thursday. The FTC ruling did not specify that dealers open on Saturday. But it is the notion of working on Saturdays that is foremost in the minds of salespeople.

"Do you want to work on the weekends?" asked a salesperson at Bill Brown Ford in Livonia, who spoke on the condition of anonymity. "Nobody in this world wants to work on Saturday."

If the requirement is upheld, not only could it ruin the weekends of the Detroit area's 6,000 auto salespeople, some said it might prompt them to go into another line of work.

"I think you would probably see a lot of people start to get out of the car business. They don't want to put in those kind of hours," said Gary Krupa, who estimated he puts in 56 hours a week at Art Moran Pontiac in Southfield.

John Hillman, another Bill Brown Ford salesman, followed his father into the car sales business. But he said he would abandon it if he had to go beyond the 45 to 55 hours a week he now works.

Hillman termed his father's hours "horrendous," saying he worked Saturdays and weeknights.

"I used to see my father on Sunday afternoons," he said. "It's crazy."

And Hillman said if he is faced with the prospect of additional work he "would have to find a job that would provide me with less hours. I'm not going to sacrifice my home life for a job. That's silly," he said.

SALESPeOPLE SAID they hear some complaints from customers about the inconvenience of not being opened on Saturdays, but they said some shoppers take advantage of the weekend closings.

"Believe it or not, people like to look around on the weekend, find what they like and do their shopping Monday or Tuesday," Krupa said. "They don't want to be pressured. They don't want to be bothered. They just want to look around."

Most customers, the salespeople agree, make adjustments in their schedules when they shop for a car.

"I think 62 hours to come look for a car every three years is sufficient," said Al Reighburg, who works approximately that many hours at Don Massey Cadillac in Plymouth.

Reighburg doesn't support the FTC ruling, but he said a few additional hours would be "no big deal to us," he said.

IF THE FTC's objective is to get dealers to open on Saturdays, the plan could backfire, Hayes said.

Long-distance paging offered

By Peggy Aulino
staff writer

When Captain James Kirk told his "Star Trek" associates to beam him up, he wanted the crew to bring his entire body to the Enterprise, which was cruising along in outer space.

Transporting one's body may still be possible only in the realm of science fiction, but technology has been developed to "beam up" voices and send them from D.C. to L.A. and points in between.

National Satellite Paging uses such technology to keep its customers in touch with their home offices, clients and anyone else who dials an access number.

MOST PAGING services are effective only within a local range. There are a few other nationwide systems, but they rely on FM radio frequencies.

"(Those systems) are a patchwork of FM stations throughout the country. They don't own their own network," said Helaine Bank, national accounts manager in the NSP's Farmington Hills office. "We are the only company licensed at this time with the FCC (Federal Communications Commission) to use 931 MHz, the highest frequency."

FM radio frequencies are less reliable than satellite transmission, Bank said.

"I tell people you don't know whether you're getting a page or Waylon Jennings," she said.

A person with a satellite system beeper can be tracked down whether he or she is on a subway train or in the bowels of an office building, Bank said.

BANK PEDDLES SkyPager and SkyTalk, two satellite transmission systems aimed at the business traveler who must rely on high-tech lifelines to survive in a competitive market.

With SkyPager, a caller dials 1-800-SKY-PAGE, then punches in the individual's access number. The NSP customer's beeper goes off and the number to be called lights up on the unit.

SkyTalk, which can be reached by calling 1-800-SKY-TALK, is based on the same principle, but the caller can leave a voice message. The person being beeped calls an 800 number and hears that message.

The basic monthly cost for SkyPager is $45. SkyTalk costs an additional $20 per month.

THE ORIGINAL call goes to a computer in Washington, D.C., home of the NSP headquarters, and is transmitted to an "uplink" station in California.

"From there it goes 22,500 miles up to our satellite," Bank said.

The signal then comes back down to transmitters set up in every major metropolitan area, representing hundreds of cities.

If a call comes in when the NSP customer is not within range of a transmitter, the message is saved until the person with the beeper enters a service area.

"We are still not in real remote places," Bank said.

But NSP will put up a transmitter for an individual company if that company agrees to use 50 to 100 pagers.

NSP HAS offered SkyPager in the Detroit area since its inception in 1987. SkyTalk was added in early 1988. With the opening late last year of the regional office on Northwestern Highway, the company has big plans for the state of Michigan.

NSP transmitters are in Detroit, Ann Arbor, Flint, Lansing and Grand Rapids, and the company plans to expand to Saginaw, Benton Harbor and Battle Creek this year.

Car phone sales skyrocket

The word cellular no longer conjures images of high school biology class. In today's business world, it refers to a person's telephone away from home.

The popularity of cellular telephones has created nothing short of a revolution since the service was commercially introduced just five years ago. Growing faster than telephone, VCR or television usage, the industry attracts new customers at a rate of 75,000 per month nationwide.

By next year, nearly four million Americans will own cellular telephones. By 1993, that number is expected to double.

And the Detroit area is right in step, representing one of the nation's fastest-growing markets.

That's the word from Linda Elian, marketing manager with Ameritech Mobile Communications Eastern region in Southfield. Cellular One is the other carrier serving this area.

"Last year Detroit experienced tremendous growth in that usage was up 156 percent as compared to 67 percent in 1987. When you consider the nation's average growth rate of 35 percent, Detroit has proven itself to be a very viable user community," Elian said.

SO WHAT MAKES cellular telephones so appealing?

"They save a lot of time and aggravation," said John Gargaro, owner of Gargaro Construction Co. in Livonia. "Rather than sitting in my office to return phone calls, I can contact the people I have to from the construction site or when I'm on the road."

Gargaro said his service runs about $400 per month but has been worth the cost. "It isn't a toy, so I don't treat it like one."

Judith Trepeck, partner in the Birmingham-based CPA firm of Grey & Trepeck, agrees.

"I've had my car phone for four years now and wouldn't be without it. If I need something done at the office, all I have to do is call rather than holding off until I get back."

She points out another feature: a sense of personal safety.

"If you're on the way to a meeting or appointment and something happens to the car, it's encouraging to know any crisis can be handled almost immediately."

IN TERMS OF technology, cellular car phones are capable of receiving and transmitting information when hooked up to lap-top computers, on-line data bases, portable diagnostic equipment and facsimile machines. Soon, voice activation technology will be available so users can direct their cellular phones to "call home" or another phone automatically.

The problem of missing incoming calls has also been solved. Mobile message services will accept messages for users away from their cars.

In terms of cost, both Ameritech Mobile Communications and Cellular

One have recently restructured their rates.

"The Detroit area has always had the lowest monthly service charge when compared to the rest of the country, but as demand has grown in Detroit so has the need to build more cell sites, add more customer service personnel and enhance the overall system," Elian said.

Cellular One, under its Productivity Plus 500 package, and Ameritech Mobile, under its Time Pack 500 plan, offer 500 minutes of usage per month for a flat rate of $149-$150.

"IF YOU KNOW how much time you spend on the phone and can accurately predict future usage, picking the right plan can save quite a bit of money," Elian said. For those needing less than 100 minutes per month, service is available for about $7.50 per month and an additional 50 cents per minute during peak hours and 16 cents per minute during off-peak times.

A recent study by Technology Futures of Austin, Texas, showed that the average cost of owning and operating a cellular phone is about $131 per month for the relatively active user (250 minutes). By 1997, it will cost about $60 per month.

"I know it's been said that owning a cellular telephone is a lot like buying a razor; you get the razor for free and spend all your money on the blades," Gargaro said. "But almost everyone needs a razor, and it won't be long before everyone needs and gets a cellular telephone."

focus: small business

Management team can mean success

Successfully managing a business as a single entrepreneur is almost impossible. No matter how savvy or experienced, one person can accomplish only so much in a single day.

As the Small Business Administration has stressed, the primary reason for small business failure in our country is "lack of management capability and experience."

The key executive areas of most businesses include finance, marketing and production.

To best carry out the planning, implementation and control activities of these and other major divisions, a co-management team of three or more business professionals is imperative.

PUTTING TOGETHER a winning management team isn't easy. A recent survey among 170 small business members of the Smaller Business Association of New England showed that two-thirds of existing partnerships had broken up by the time the survey was administered.

About 60 percent of these breakups were due to "changing business interests or interpersonal conflict" among management team members.

To avoid this type of situation, it has been found that firms managed by two or more people with complementary business skills and experience provide the highest growth potential.

INC. MAGAZINE confirmed this in their 1983 survey conducted among America's 100 fastest-growing public companies. Two-thirds of the business owners surveyed have at least one partner, three-fourths of whom were still in business together.

Finding and attracting the right people to help manage a new venture requires that the business owner initially resolve two key issues tied to the recruitment effort.

First, the owner must decide how much stock to offer his or her team members.

Second, the owner must figure out how to compensate the members before receiving large-scale financing. Because new businesses are usually cash-poor, it is impossible to recruit key managers by offering a comparable level of pay and benefits as do older and more established companies.

AS A result, the incentives offered should reflect the owner's creativity, flexibility and skill.

Overall, entrepreneurs should consider potential investor requirements before becoming overly concerned with percentage ownership agreements or other stock allocation strategies. If money is needed from outside sources, investor support may require a 30-70 percent share in the company.

For business owners who give away too much stock too soon, the results can be devastating. But delaying the recruitment of all management team members for the sake of "stock savings" isn't advised either.

The amount of stock saved using their type of strategy isn't worth anything in the long run without investor support.

HOW MUCH DID YOU LOSE LAST YEAR ON NON-DEDUCTIBLE INTEREST?

UNLESS YOU ACT QUICKLY, THIS YEAR COULD BE WORSE.

As you know, Congress is steadily phasing out interest deductions on most consumer loans. An exception is a loan secured by your home.* Which makes it a great time to apply for a home equity line of credit at First of America Bank.

A Special Offer— All Closing Costs Waived.

When you sign up for a home equity line by May 31, 1989, we'll waive your closing costs—a savings of up to $400. But you must act by May 31.

Put The Deduction Back In Your Interest.

The Federal tax laws allow you to use your home equity line of credit for any purpose you want. And in most cases, on loans all the way up to $100,000, you still get to take a 100 percent tax deduction.

You also may pay a lower interest rate along with those lower taxes.

Take Advantage Of Your Tax Break.

Get your tax break with our home equity line of credit. You can use this line instead of other loans that are no longer fully tax deductible.

You can also access your credit line simply by writing a check. And the payment schedule is flexible, too.

However, using the equity in your home is not something you should do without careful consideration. Furthermore, there are some items—like normal living expenses, for example—for which a home equity line of credit is definitely not appropriate.

So stop by your nearest First of America office, or call 1-800-544-6155 for more information. We'll provide you with a free information brochure and an application. We'll also help you determine if a home equity line of credit is right for you.

In no time, we can have your good credit working in your favor.

Economist expect 2-percent growth

The month of February is typically earmarked for making annual predictions. This February is no exception.

Many economic forecasters have already published their predictions, and most of them expect the economy to grow 2.5-3 percent real rate in an environment of moderate inflation.

Of these forecasts, the one made by the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago is particularly interesting, since it is based on the second Annual Economic Outlook Symposium. Participating were 34 economists and analysts from major industrial firms, financial institutions, and other organizations in the Midwest.

Most participants expect the U.S. economy to complete its seventh year of expansion in 1989. The rate of growth of real GNP, which would be 2.3 percent, would extend the second-longest U.S. expansion on record (the longest was the 1961-69 expansion).

Not everyone, however, predicted a 2.3-percent growth. The range of predictions was 0.8 percent to 3.3 percent.

While the group was optimistic about the continuous growth of the U.S. economy, its optimism was tempered by concerns about weakness in some sectors of the economy, the risk of higher inflation, and continued large federal deficits.

The group expects a rate of inflation of around 4 percent, although some predict a rate of more than 5 percent.

Interestingly, the group believed that further efforts to slow economic activity — in order to reduce the inflationary risk or cut the trade deficit — could put the economy towards recession, thereby ending the rosy outlook for the economy.

Japanese keep odd records

I spent the better part of a summer once making numbers for General Motors, a job that left me with a chronic crook in my right index finger and a deep distrust for any kind of statistics.

My stint in the Chevrolet Forge steel yard making little blue slashes on one-inch steel rods (there were about a zillion of them) was followed by a brief period as a rat timer in college, yet another stint at a calculator that ended when a rat bit me.

I also worked for the census bureau for a short time, and despite a lifelong dislike of things statistical, spend a long time counting cars and preparing reports on production.

AS A result, I have a grudging respect for the toilers who keep numerical records, since without the people who keep track of sales, inventories and other critical numbers, the whole auto business would likely grind to a halt, since no one would be able to say things like, "Have that report on my desk in the morning, Jones."

Up to now, I thought one reason the Japanese were doing so well in the auto business was that they spent more time building cars than counting them — or pieces of steel in their steel yards. Likewise, I assumed auto talk

they operated on instinct when it came to marketing methods, rather than wasting time compiling endless reams of data about hypothetical customers.

Not so.

I HAVE IN MY possession a document entitled "Survey Report on Awareness and Current Status of Users of Imported Vehicles," a 36-page document that arrived in the mail written in the kind of English you used to find on the tissue-paper instructions that came with your new camera.

It is a study of the attitudes of Japanese consumers that buy "foreign" cars — the 400,000 or so vehicles sold in Japan produced outside that country, currently mainly Volkswagens.

At first glance, the report seems full of ambiguous information typical of U.S. marketing studies — the kind that leave you feeling as though you've eaten too much cotton candy after reading them.

BUT THERE is a zen-like quality to some of the categories studied. Several graphs refer to the "culture rich" as opposed to the "classic rich," for example, groupings that have almost opposite overtones.

The classic rich lifestyle includes "rooms decorated with objects that are worthy of being shown to guests." The culture rich take a lot of holidays, according to the study, while the classic rich keep their houses clean.

A second cultural schism: The classic group believes safety is withstanding impact, while the cultural group finds security in the notion that a car is fast enough to escape risk. Sort of like Ralph Nader vs. Car and Driver.

Most perplexing is a graph describing "domestic vehicle users' intimate feeling toward imported vehicles," which determines that 51 percent of the respondents "do not feel imported vehicles near themselves." Only a cold draft of air.

OTHER CATEGORIES hint at Japanese expectations that would bewilder any American, such as whether a dealer "renders kind service, such as offering a substitute car and picking up and delivering a repaired vehicle." You wonder how you would say, "And that's just an estimate, buddy," in Japanese.

Getting to the hard facts, there are 935 imported cars operating in the Shimane prefecture, compared to 20,132 in Hokkaido. Of 818 people surveyed, 68.5 percent have "apprehension toward parallel-imported vehicles." Now that I think about it, so do I.

The Japan Automobile Importers Association, who sent me this wealth of data, likely knew it would touch a nerve.

For a week now, I wake up in the middle of the night thinking about those steel bars — wondering whether I might have missed one.

County parks chief resigns, heads for job in Lansing

By Wayne Peal
staff writer

The man who headed Wayne County's parks system for the past four years is leaving for a position with the city of Lansing.

County parks director R. Eric Reickel announced his resignation Monday to become director of the Lansing city parks. His last day on the job will be Friday, March 17.

An initial appointee of former county executive William Lucas, Reickel's tenure was marked by the struggle of keeping parks viable in the face of county budget cuts.

"When I came here it was with a goal and a promise," Reickel said. "The goal was to restore the Wayne County Parks to the way they were when I was child. The promise was that there would be a millage to do so. But he (Lucas) never went out for the millage."

Though he said he leaves with "good personal feelings" for current County Executive Edward McNamara, Reickel acknowledged there were "philosophical differences" between the two over park restoration and development.

es" between the two over park restoration and development.

"I LIKE Mr. McNamara and I believe his administration is committed to parks," Reickel said. "But it's a question of how long it's going to take. I guess you could say I wanted to do it the quick and dirty way — to go for a millage."

Michael Duggan, deputy county executive, said Reickel will be missed.

"It's a real loss. He's one of the best in the state," said Duggan, who added that Reickel was "destined to be frustrated as long as he was here. He had $30 million ideas and a $3 million budget."

Duggan said that the administration plans to move quickly to replace Reickel. One candidate will be interviewed this week. Two others are scheduled for next week.

In his State of the County address two weeks ago McNamara announced a major park development plan. Details of that plan, including financing, haven't yet been released.

The county parks system includes Edward Hines Park, which stretches through Livonia, Westland and Plymouth and Canton townships. It also includes Lola Valley and Bell Creek parks in Redford Township, as well as Elizabeth Park, Trenton and Veterans Memorial Park, Hamtramck.

Reickel, a Rockwood native, said he was considering considering moving to Trenton before the Lansing job came up. During his tenure as Wayne County parks chief, Reickel lived in Northville Township.

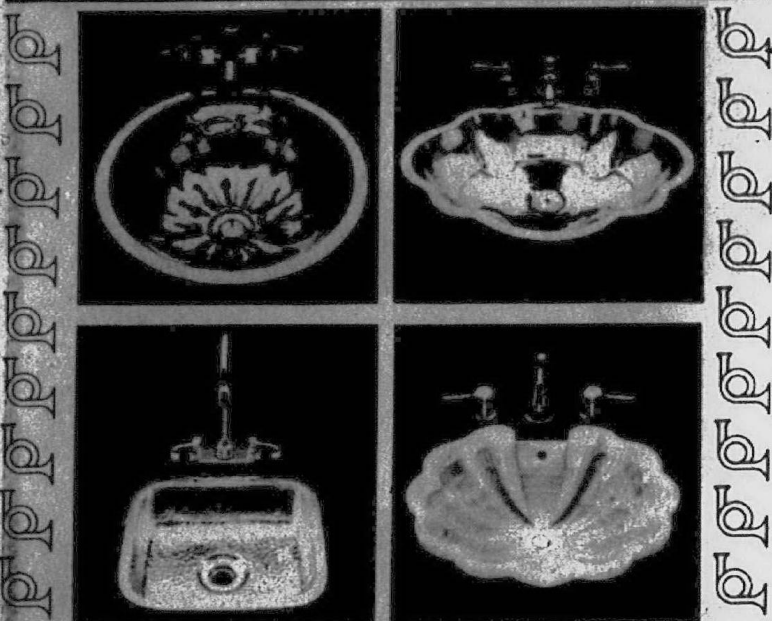

"There was a consideration of whether to make a long term commitment to commitment to the Wayne County Parks or to move on," he said.

Though he said he leaves with "good personal feelings" for current County Executive Edward McNamara, Wayne County parks director R.

Eric Reickel acknowledged there were "philosophical differences" between the two over park restoration and development.

Counselor writes plays about people in a crisis

By Cathie Breidenbach
special writer

BIRMINGHAM playwright Kitty Dubin's latest play, "The Last Resort," will soon have its world premiere at the Live Oak Theatre in Austin, Texas.

Besides being a playwright, Dubin is a counselor. She said her job serves "as a constant reminder of the internal journeys people go through. It's real fodder for my writing." Several days a week she works as an independent therapist, helping adults going through the normal crises and transitions of life.

Dubin holds a master's degree in counseling from Oakland University in Rochester Hills. She has been a therapist for the last 12 years.

In her writing she never lifts people wholesale from real life to become characters in her plays. Instead she pieces together parts of her own experiences and those of friends when she creates dramas.

"SHE STRIVES to write plays anchored in reality, that have a natural organic quality. The everyday traumas and troubles of ordinary middle-class, mid-American people in crisis lie at the center of her plays."

"Everybody needs a good crisis," she said of her belief that crisis situations work as catalysts in people's lives, both for the real people she knows and for characters she creates. Teddy Spain, the protagonist of her newest play, faces a crisis when her ex-husband initiates a fight over custody of their teenage son.

As a last resort (pun on the play's title intended), Teddy retreats to a summer resort in Michigan where she went as a child. There she hides out, deliberates her course of action and, to add love interest and complication to her dilemma, she meets an attractive man.

Dubin said of crises, "People don't come into therapy just for fun." The desperation brought on by a life crisis drives them to seek counseling, and when they successfully work through problems, they have a "positive transformation." They're exhilarated about having increased control of their lives.

"I like to write about people who haven't been in control and are coming up to a point where it's now or never," she said. That point often arrives sometime during middle age when the ticking of biological clocks grows louder and people become acutely "aware of their own mortality. Their need to realize unfulfilled dreams becomes more urgent."

SUCH IS the case with Teddy

'My plays are all funny but they're not comedies.'

— Kitty Dubin

Spain, who has blamed others, gotten sidetracked and, one way or another, never before taken responsibility for her own life.

The ultimatum of "now or never" makes "The Last Resort" sound like heavy drama of the wet handkerchief variety. Not so. The play capitalizes on humorous situations and delights in funny people. Dubin said of her dramatic style, "My plays are all funny but they're not comedies."

"The Last Resort" is Dubin's fifth play and, in many ways, she believes it is her best. "It's crafted better and is less talky." She said she can think more visually now and make points without words more often than she did in earlier works.

Her first play, "Cookies," won a Detroit Motion Picture Playwriting Contest Award while she was a student earning her master's degree in English from Wayne State University in Detroit. "Time's Up," a play about a therapist and her client, followed. It had three professional readings but no full-scale production.

"Mirrors," her next play, was produced with costumes, sets and the regalia of a full production in 1986 at the Michigan State Fair Theatre in Detroit. Critics praised the play, and it came close to being produced in Los Angeles, which is how Dubin met her mentor, Don Toner. He was set to direct the L.A. run of "Mirrors," and even after production plans fizzled, he and Dubin remained in contact.

TONER READ scripts, critiqued her work, gave her valuable feedback. In his opinion, "The Last Resort" is her best work to date. When he recently took a new job as artistic director of the Live Oak Theatre in Austin, he decided to put her play in his first season.

In the last six years Dubin has written three plays. When a new idea is fermenting, "It takes you by storm," she said. The first draft takes three to six months to write. "Then there's all the rewriting."

An early version of "The Last Resort" won her an individual Artist Grant from the Michigan Council for the Arts, and last April the play was given a staged reading at Wayne duced by the State Fair Theatre in Detroit. A counselor by profession, she uses her own and friends' experiences to get ideas for her characters.

State. Recently she has been reworking parts of the script with Toner to ready it for the Texas opening Friday, April 7.

Dubin fits playwriting into a full schedule that includes her part-time practice as a counselor, her role as mother to 11-year-old Nicholas, and wife to Larry, a University of Detroit law professor who also writes and makes documentary films on legal ethics.

Because she and her husband both write, Dubin describes him as her "in-house critic." She said of their life style, "We both have offices at home. We have jobs and other lives. It suits us well and allows for flexible parenting. Every day is different."

'I like to write about people who haven't been in control and are coming up to a point where it's now or never.'

DUBIN ENJOYS scheduling that allows her to work out three times a week, play tennis, teach an evening adult education class in playwriting at Cranbrook and continue her part-time practice. "If I were working 9 to 5, when would I fit things in?" she asks.

She also has published magazine articles on contemporary women's issues. She sold one entitled "Do You Say What You Mean When You Talk to a Man?" to Family Circle.

Last year she took a year-long class in writing plays for stage and screen taught by Howard Burman, then at Wayne State. During the class she wrote an episode of "Thir-tysomething" and relished creating a plot for already-established characters.

When she weighs the merits and money of screenwriting against the artistic control granted playwrights, she opts for "less money, more control. As a playwright, you're still the authority on the play and you will be consulted on any word that is changed."

Of the future Dubin said, "I don't know where the road's going. I'm trying to see where this takes me." Meanwhile she keeps writing and keeps busy. Recently, Dubin flew to Texas to help select the cast — two men, three women and a teenage boy — for the world premiere of "The Last Resort."

At Tivoli

Toasted Ravioli is one of the luncheon specialties at the attractive Tivoli restaurant in the new Clarion Hotel, 12 Mile and Orchard Lake Road, Farmington Hills. The pasta is crispy and tasty, and the ravioli squares encircle a container of sauce with tomato chunks for dipping. Mayfair is the house dressing, a delicious combination of raspberries and walnuts, that may be selected for the colorful salad of varied tossed greens.

A special soup that afternoon was Swedish Potato Soup, thick and good. On the menu regularly is Onion Soup Gratinée, offered two ways, the traditional French style and Chef David Frye's own recipe for Swiss style.

Luncheon entrees range in price from $5.50 for a Vegetable Stir Fry to $8.50 for Shrimp and Scallop Marinara, and there are daily specials, too, including a fresh catch. Some of the salads, sandwiches and specialties are marked on the menu with a heart, to indicate they meet the "HeartSmart" guidelines of the American Heart Association.

Burgers and Croissants also are served at lunch. Dinner offerings include starters, salads, and entrees such as Veal Marsala at $14.50 and Rack of Lamb Pommeray for two at $35. There are a half-dozen entrees "From the Sea," such as Coconut Shrimp at $14.25. Sunday brunch is a buffet with smoked salmon, blintzes, carved beef and an omelet station. The buffet is $12.95 for adults, $10.50 for seniors, children under 12 free.

Regional competition

Plymouth Canton's Johanna Anderson, an all-around competitor, will be one of the gymnasts competing for the Chiefs in the regional Saturday at Canton High School.

The Chiefs are expected to contend for one of three state-qualifying team berths. See story on Page 3D.

State meet next test for area swimmers

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

Ron Orris had his pick of events for the state championships in high school swimming this weekend.

The Plymouth Salem junior, who met the qualifying standard in every individual swimming event, has elected to enter the 200-yard freestyle and 100 butterfly. He also will compete in the freestyle relay.

The preliminaries are Friday and the finals Saturday in the Charles McCaffree Natatorium on the Michigan State University campus. The competition begins at 2 p.m. each day. Tickets are $3 Friday and $4 Saturday.

"He's rated pretty high in both (events), and those seemed appealing to him," Salem coach Chuck Olson said. "He went 52.1 in the butterfly early in the year, and we'll see how that stacks up. None of the events will be easy."

Orris, who set meet records in the individual medley and 500 freestyle while leading the Rocks to a second straight Western Lakes Activities Association title Friday, was fifth in the 100 freestyle (47.65) and sixth in the 200 freestyle (1:44.7) at last year's Class A meet.

ORRIS, WHO has the best Observerland times in seven of eight individual swimming events, has gone 1:42.73 in the 200 this year. His best in the 100 is 47.71.

Orris will be contending along with defending state champion Jim Hume of Ann Arbor Pioneer, Mark Loveland of Ann Arbor Huron and Dave Klavitar of East Lansing in the butterfly.

"There are quite a few top-notch fliers, and I definitely think Ron is in that group," Olson said. "And this way, he won't be doing all freestyle."

"It was a tough decision between the fly, 100 free or even the 500 free. The breast(stroke) is too close to the free relay. We had to eliminate that this year."

"He's going up there with the idea of swimming well," he added, "and, if he swims well, he's got a chance."

Ron Orris
will swim 200 free, butterfly

Orris won't be alone. In fact, the Rocks will be well represented. Both relays have qualified and so have seniors Mike Hill and Fred Seidelman in individual events. Plymouth Canton will send Jeff Homan, Bryce Anderson and its medley relay team to state.

Hill qualified in the 100 and 200 freestyles but will swim just the 100 since Olson plans to use him in both relays. In addition to the 50 freestyle, Seidelman will go in two relays, also.

"I THINK MIKE Hill has the ability to do well in the 100 freestyle," Olson said. "The 50 is a crazy event. It's whoever has the best start and turn that day. (Seidelman) is a senior, he's worked hard to get there and he deserves to do well."

Orris can put together quite a few combinations in the 200 medley relay, with any two out of Chris Butzlaff, Mark Erickson, Rick Steshetz, Sean Fitzgerald or Eric Bunch making up the other half of the foursome.

The 400 freestyle relay team is pretty well set with Hill, Seidelman and Orris already penciled in. "Rick Steshetz has the inside track," Olson said. "Unless he gets sick, he'll be there. He's done a good job for us this year."

Salem has the area's best times in both events. The Rocks have gone as fast as 1:43.55 in the medley, and they won the freestyle recently at an invitational meet with a 3:17.96 time.

"From everything I've heard, the freestyle relay should be seeded as one of the top four teams there," Olson said. "Some people said it will be the top seed, but I don't know about that."

"THE MEDLEY has been dropping steadily, and they have a shot at doing well, too. But it's tough meet with teams coming from all over."

With a talented trio like Orris, Hill and Seidelman, all of whom have been to the state meet before, the Rocks could have an impact on the team scoring.

"We'd like to swim as well as we can," Olson said. "We didn't shave Orris, Hill or Seidelman for the conference meet. They have enough speed and experience they could swim right through the conference meet."

"(Winning the WLAA) was our big goal and now we're ready for the next one. We'll see what we can do up there when we do shave down."

Orris added that not shaving for the league meet and still winning the championship puts his swimmers in "great psychological shape" heading into the state meet.

"We did a little different taper," he said. "Through (semester) vacation, we worked harder than we did in the past. Guys like Steshetz and Butzlaff are going to drop more this weekend. We relied a lot on emotion

Stevenson on losing end in close regional contest

By Brad Emons
staff writer

It didn't take lunch pails or hard hats to figure out what kind of basketball team Livonia Stevenson brought into Tuesday's Class A regional at Willow Run.

The hard-working Spartans took unbeaten Woodhaven to the limit before falling, 71-68, as senior guard Eric Higgs won it on a three-pointer as time expired.

The Spartans proved that Friday's come-from-behind 71-70 upset victory over Western Lakes Activities Association champ Plymouth Salem in the district final was no fluke.

Stevenson, which trailed by as many as 12 points during the second period, rallied in the second half and made things interesting right until the final horn.

Higgs' game-winning shot eluded the out-stretched arms of 6-foot-6 Stevenson center Mike Vrooman.

The Spartans' Rick Laven forced Woodhaven's hand when he nailed his fourth 3-pointer of the night, knotting the count at 68 with 33 seconds left.

"WE'VE HAD quite a few games go right down to the wire like this," said Woodhaven coach Michael Krogel, whose team is 23-0 overall. "When we called the timeout (with 24 seconds to play), what we wanted to do is take the first available shot with four seconds left. We didn't want to shoot any earlier and take a chance by letting them come down and get off a 3-pointer."

Stevenson coach Jim McIntyre and his staff countered with a zone defense with a man guarding Dustin Snell, Woodhaven's long-range shooting threat. But Snell was nearly the goat earlier when he launched an ill-advised jumper in the key, setting up Laven's game-tying basket.

"We tried to cover Snell and we were upset that he got the ball," said the Stevenson coach. "It wasn't like he (Higgs) wasn't being guarded. We'll take that shot against us any day of the week. The kid just hit it."

Stevenson fell behind 26-17 after one quarter and 33-21 with 4:39 left in the second period after a free throw by Vernon Crump.

And despite missing six straight free throws, including four one-and-ones in the second period, Stevenson clawed back to trail by only six at intermission, 34-28.

THE SPARTANS, helped by a half-court zone trap which forced numerous Woodhaven turnovers, began to make their move in the third period.

An acrobatic layup and free throw by Chris Nazelli with three minutes to play in the quarter pulled the Spartans to within one, 42-41.

Stevenson then took a brief lead (45-42) on two straight hoops by Scott Kosikowski.

It was 49-all after three quarters, but Woodhaven regained the lead and appeared to have the game clinched when Higgs scored with 1:29 left to make it 68-63.

But a nifty layup by point-guard Eric Schwedt, coupled with Snell's poor decision and Laven's three-pointer, forced the Warriors into the final shot.

Krogel said he was leery of Stevenson's never-say-die attitude, particularly after hearing the scouting report on the Salem game where the Spartans erased a 20-point third-quarter deficit.

"I showed the Salem game film to our team, and I told them they never give up and never to think you've got the game won," said the Woodhaven coach. "We were fortunate to win. I don't know how we won."

DeANTHONY HARTMAN, a junior guard, paced Woodhaven and all scorers with 24 points. Higgs added 14, while Snell and Max Reck each added 11.

Laven, who did not start, paced a balanced Stevenson attack with 14. Three others were in double figures including Nazelli (13), Schwedt (12) and Kosikowski (11).

If the Spartans let down in any area it was at the free throw line where they made only eight of 18. (Woodhaven was 17 of 29).

"We told the kids that to stay in the regional, you'd have to shoot 75 percent to win the ballgame," said McIntyre, whose team bowed out with a 16-7 record. "Maybe we should move the line back to the top of the key and shoot free throws from there."

McIntyre may have been joking, but he was partially right as the Spartans outgunned Woodhaven from the three-point range, 6-4.

But the Stevenson coach couldn't kick about his team's effort, spearheaded by Schwedt and Nazelli, the relentless left-hander.

"Nazelli couldn't get the ball to roll, and he had several (shots) spin off," said McIntyre. "They (Woodhaven) did a smart thing and made him go to the other side (his right), but he was outstanding."

"And it was good to see Eric becoming more and more comfortable as a scorer and penetrator as the season went along. He played very hard."

McINTYRE SAID he will miss this cast of players. "Sure, we made mistakes and gave up things we shouldn't have, but I think we came with the intent to win," he said. "The kids came to play every night and that's what was so enjoyable about coaching this group. I know we had a chance every time the ball goes up. This was a fairly talented group. Each kid had something to offer."

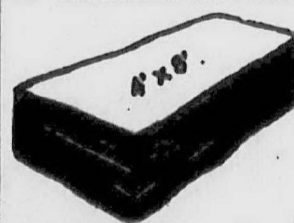

The Spartans offered Woodhaven everything and more, but it was Higgs' three-pointer which sends the Warriors into tonight's regional final against Ann Arbor Huron, an 18-point winner over Romulus in the other game of the doubleheader.

Wayne has home-court advantage

By Steve Kowalski
staff writer

The home-court advantage might be the best thing Wayne Memorial has going for it Saturday when the Class A regional volleyball tournament begins.

Wayne meets traditional power Temperance-Bedford in one of two regional matches at 2 p.m. Saturday. The other match at Wayne pits defending Class A champion Livonia Ladywood against Dearborn Edsel Ford, also at 2. The two winners will decide the regional title at 4 p.m. Saturday.

Wayne outlasted Adrian, 15-6, 4-15, 17-15 Saturday to win the Romulus district and advance into regional play. Coach Ann Kolnitsy hopes momentum and the home-court can carry Wayne in regional play.

Wayne, the Wolverine A League champion, is 35-6 overall.

"THE HOME COURT can be an advantage," Kolnitsy said. "But a big advantage, I don't know. We need a lot of help from the crowd. We'll see what happens."

Wayne looked impressive last weekend, sweeping three matches en route to the district title. The Zebras beat Plymouth Canton, 15-7, 15-12, in an opening-round match and routed Westland John Glenn in the second round, 15-2 and 15-11.

Adrian extended the district title match to three games before Wayne prevailed. Kolnitsy said the Zebras woke up after Adrian's 15-4 second-game win tied the match at 1-1.

Wayne took a 5-0 lead in the third game and eventually won, 17-15, as Nicole Fisher served the last two points.

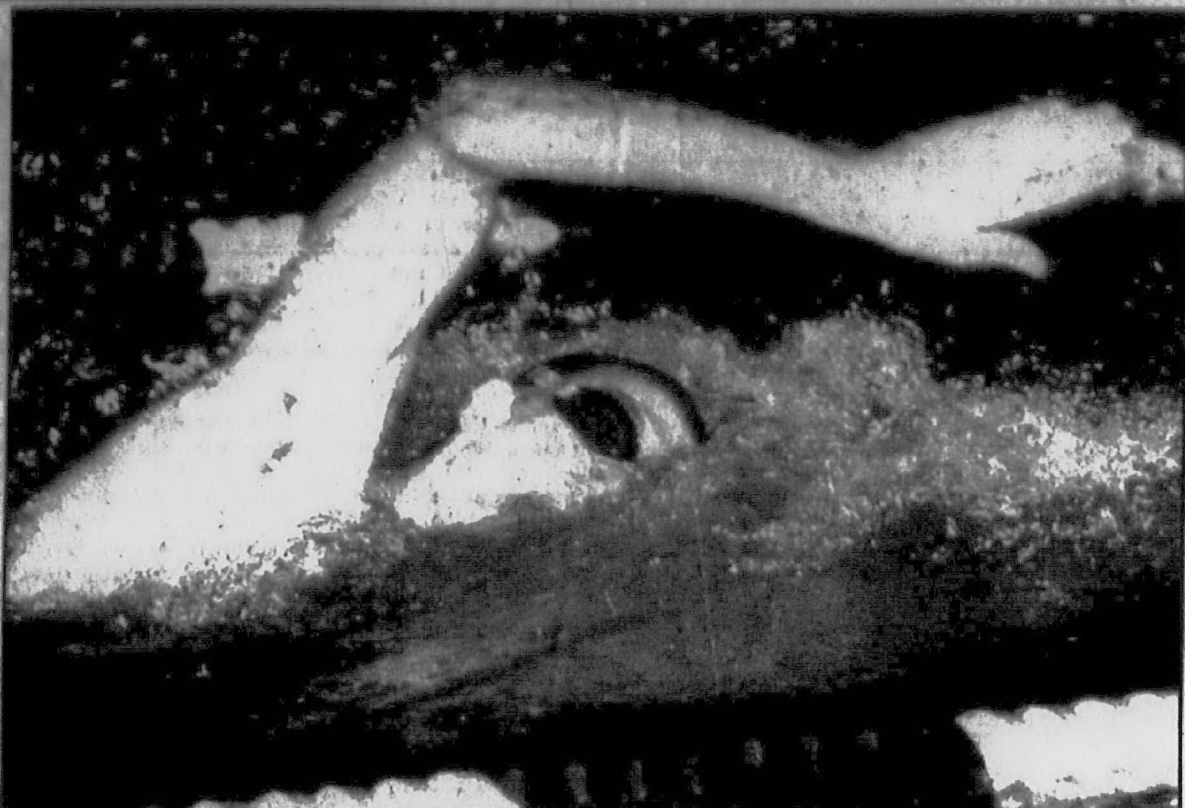

"ADRIAN HAD a few excellent players," Kolnitsy said. "After the first game, I think the girls said, 'Wow, this is going to be an easy day.' But Adrian came on and we didn't have it so easy."

Tiffany Goodlow led Wayne's front-line attack with 15 kills Saturday. Brandy Cainercross and Evette Sluder had 11 and nine kills, respectively.

Fisher made only one service error in 15 attempts. Jenny Tibbals did an admirable job off the bench, collecting four aces with no errors in 13 serves.

Edsel Ford advanced into the regional after posting a grueling 15-13, 13-15, 19-17 win over Garden City in the championship match of its own district.

The loss ended Garden City's season at 27-18.

this last week, and I think we're going to be rested for Friday and Saturday."

Homan will be in three events, including the IM in which he set a WLAA record of 2:02.14 in the league finals last Friday. In doing so, he broke All-American Paul Peterson's 10-year-old school record of 2:02.48.

HOMAN QUALIFIED for the breaststroke, too, and will anchor the medley relay team. Scott Swartzwelder, Anderson, who is entered in the butterfly, Mitch Timberlake and Homan broke another 10-year-old school record with a 1:42.62 time in the WLAA meet.

"I hope we can place the relay in the top 12," Canton coach Hooker Wellman said. "We haven't scored a relay at state since I've been here (nine years)."

Homan (breast) and Anderson (fly) went to state last year. Their goal, Wellman said, is to score a point and place, which will require finishing among the top 12.

"I'm not putting the kids in a position for something they can't do," he said. "I think they can do it."

Canton's Brad Flowers and Salem's Pat McManaman competed Tuesday in regional diving meets, which would determine if they advanced to the state meet. Flowers was a state qualifier last year.

Chiefs plan regional strategy

By Dan O'Neare
staff writer

Ron Orris had his pick of events for the state championships in high school swimming this weekend.

The Plymouth Salem junior, who met the qualifying standard in every individual swimming event, has elected to enter the 200-yard freestyle and 100 butterfly. He also will compete in the freestyle relay.

The preliminaries are Friday and the finals Saturday in the Charles McCaffree Natatorium on the Michigan State University campus. The competition begins at 2 p.m. each day. Tickets are $3 Friday and $4 Saturday.

"He's rated pretty high in both (events), and those seemed appealing to him," Salem coach Chuck Olson said. "He went 52.1 in the butterfly early in the year, and we'll see how that stacks up. None of the events will be easy."

Orris, who set meet records in the individual medley and 500 freestyle while leading the Rocks to a second straight Western Lakes Activities Association title Friday, was fifth in the 100 freestyle (47.65) and sixth in the 200 freestyle (1:44.7) at last year's Class A meet.

ORRIS, WHO has the best Observerland times in seven of eight individual swimming events, has gone 1:42.73 in the 200 this year. His best in the 100 is 47.71.

Orris will be contending along with defending state champion Jim Hume of Ann Arbor Pioneer, Mark Loveland of Ann Arbor Huron and Dave Klavitar of East Lansing in the butterfly.

"There are quite a few top-notch fliers, and I definitely think Ron is in that group," Olson said. "And this way, he won't be doing all freestyle."

"It was a tough decision between the fly, 100 free or even the 500 free. The breast(stroke) is too close to the free relay. We had to eliminate that this year."

"He's going up there with the idea of swimming well," he added, "and, if he swims well, he's got a chance."

Orris won't be alone. In fact, the Rocks will be well represented. Both relays have qualified and so have seniors Mike Hill and Fred Seidelman in individual events. Plymouth Canton will send Jeff Homan, Bryce Anderson and its medley relay team to state.

Hill qualified in the 100 and 200 freestyles but will swim just the 100 since Olson plans to use him in both relays. In addition to the 50 freestyle, Seidelman will go in two relays, also.

"I THINK MIKE Hill has the ability to do well in the 100 freestyle," Olson said. "The 50 is a crazy event. It's whoever has the best start and turn that day. (Seidelman) is a senior, he's worked hard to get there and he deserves to do well."

Olson can put together quite a few combinations in the 200 medley relay, with any two out of Chris Butzloff, Mark Erickson, Rick Steshetz, Sean Fitzgerald or Eric Bunch making up the other half of the foursome.

The 400 freestyle relay team is pretty well set with Hill, Seidelman and Orris already penciled in.

"Rick Steshetz has the inside track," Olson said. "Unless he gets sick, he'll be there. He's done a good job for us this year."

Salem has the area's best times in both events. The Rocks have gone as fast as 1:43.55 in the medley, and they won the freestyle recently at an invitational meet with a 3:17.96 time.

"From everything I've heard, the freestyle relay should be seeded as one of the top four teams there," Olson said. "Some people said it will be the top seed, but I don't know about that."

"THE MEDLEY has been dropping steadily, and they have a shot at doing well, too. But it's tough meet with teams coming from all over."

With a talented trio like Orris, Hill and Seidelman, all of whom have been to the state meet before, the Rocks could have an impact on the team scoring.

"We'd like to swim as well as we can," Olson said. "We didn't shave Orris, Hill or Seidelman for the conference meet. They have enough speed and experience they could swim right through the conference meet."

"(Winning the WLAA) was our big goal and now we're ready for the next one. We'll see what we can do up there when we do shave down."

Olson added that not shaving for the league meet and still winning the championship puts his swimmers in "great psychological shape" heading into the state meet.

Plymouth Canton coach John Cunningham is compiling the area's top gymnastics results. Coaches are urged to call Cunningham any evening at 455-1741.

Ladywood captures district title

By Brad Emons
staff writer

Some familiar faces are back in the state volleyball regionals this weekend. (See tournament pairings.)

Catholic League Central Division members Livonia Ladywood, last year's Class A champs, and Redford Bishop Borgess, the state Class B runner-ups, each won district titles last weekend.

Ladywood, the Catholic League champions, defeated Livonia Churchill (15-4, 15-11) to capture the Livonia Franklin district, while Borgess upended Dearborn Divine Child (17-15, 15-10) to grab its own district.

Churchill never got going in the first game, but made a run in the second game after Ladywood had built an 11-3 lead.

The Chargers, behind the hitting of Jenny Sproul and the setting of Christy Clark, closed the gap to 11-10 before Sarah Adzima (nine kills) unloaded on a big hit to stop the Churchill run.

"Sproul gets up high and just pounds the ball," said Ladywood coach Tom Teeters. "But we have two good hitters in Sarah and Stacey Girard (four kills) and we just needed to keep the ball down. And we just needed to pass the ball."

THE BLAZERS got a couple of key hits from sophomore Rebecca Willey and 17 assist kills from Karl Domanski. Teeters also said he liked the serving and defensive play of Peggy Knittel.

Ladywood's toughest test came in the semifinals where a young Livonia Stevenson team, under 500 most of the season, made an upset bid.

The Spartans lost 15-4 in the opening game but came back to win the second game, 15-12, behind the top-spin serving of Collette Rockwell, the setting of Christine Sianaker, the hitting of senior Sharlene Sudek, and the blocking of Jenny Mella and Renea Bonser.

But with the match even at one game apiece, Ladywood ran off 15 straight points in Game No. 3 without a Stevenson answer to advance to the finals.

"Ladywood is very powerful, and we couldn't pass very well in that third game," said Stevenson coach Lee Cagle. "Sometimes we look very good and other times we look awful. That happens with a young team.

"Ladywood is always consistent. They never get rattled and they're a reflection of Teeters' personality."

"I WAS JUST hoping they wouldn't serve like that in the third game because in the second game they just served us off the court," Teeters said. "They served some tough and low shots to the net. That's what they had to do. They served aggressively."

But the win was costly as Ladywood's Dana Domanski suffered a possible dislocated shoulder.

In first-round action in Pool A, Ladywood routed Southfield (15-1, 15-0), while Stevenson ousted Farmington (15-9, 15-0).

But Pool B was the tougher side of the draw.

Churchill opened with a 15-0, 15-2 triumph over Detroit Redford, while Detroit Public School League champion Henry Ford ousted a formidable Farmington Hills Mercy, another Catholic League Central Division squad, 13-15, 15-12, 15-8.

But Churchill, the Western Lakes Activities Association champs, caught Henry Ford napping in the semifinals, winning 15-11, 15-2.

"The way it (the draw) went was not a factor for us, but Henry Ford

Rocks, Chiefs conclude year

Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton volleyball teams took early exits from the district tournament at Romulus High School Saturday.

The Rocks defeated Ypsilanti 15-4, 15-11 in their first match but lost to Adrian, the eventual runner-up, in the next round, 3-15, 7-17. Wayne Memorial, which later won the championship, eliminated the Chiefs in the first round, 7-15, 12-15.

Maria Wordhouse had seven kills to pace Salem's win over the Braves, and Asaka Motoyama and Jo Wiklund played well on defense. Serve reception was its downfall in the next match, however.

SALEM COACH Betty Smith added she thought the crowd noise, the result of vocal Adrian supporters, affected her team's concentration in the cramped gym.

The Rocks, who finished with a 20-13 record and eight splits, had their most successful season in the last five years and moved out of the Lakes Division cellar.

"We set a precedent as far as next season," Smith said. "The kids know how valuable the off-season can be. That was the key this year, and we'll have a stronger nucleus (of returning players) coming back next year."

The Chiefs didn't play that bad against an excellent Wayne ballclub, according to Canton coach Alie Suffety. A major drawback, however, was the fact Canton missed nine serves in the match.

Susan Ferko led the Chiefs with six kills, Candi Jones and Christyn Halliday had four apiece and Shannon Meath added three. Michelle Fortier had seven assists.

"Actually, we were running the offense really well," said Suffety in regard to the number of kills Canton had. "We had 11 sideouts in the first game and 17 in the second, so the ball was going back and forth."

Cooley-CC rematch is no contest this time

By Steve Kowalski
staff writer

Bill Vitti was there, but all he could do was cheer.

Redford Catholic Central could have used the former Shamrock star Wednesday in a Class A regional semifinal basketball game against Detroit Cooley. The two-time defending Class A champions ran away from CC, scoring an impressive, 64-43 win at Southfield Lathrup.

Vitti, who watched from the stands, used up his eligibility last year when CC nearly upset Cooley in the regional final, and now he plays for Saginaw Valley State.

CC didn't have much of a chance this time, with 6-foot-7 center Daniel Lyton and 6-6 forward Kenneth Cooley roaming the paint for Cooley.

The win sends Cooley (21-1) into the Lathrup regional final at 7 p.m. Friday against Wayne Memorial (20-5).

"CC HAD A chance to play the way it wanted to last year (against us)," said Cooley coach Ben Kelso, recalling last year's score, 58-52. "They had Vitti, but they didn't have him this time, and I think it wore on them trying to handle our 210-pound guys."

"But Bernie (Holowicki) is a very, very good coach, and he knows what his team can do and what it can't do. He did not have the manpower, so we put him in a situation where he couldn't use any tricks."

CC, the Catholic League champion and winner of its own district last week, ended the season at 15-9. The loss also ended the fine high school careers of five Shamrock seniors, including point guard Terry Boykin and center Ray Richards.

"This was a senior-oriented team," Holowicki said. "I had five seniors (Scott Hauncher, Jeff Schaner and Pat Fuelling were the others) and we had great senior leadership. They're outstanding players and outstanding gentlemen. The district title was another nice notch for these guys."

Boykin returned the compliment, but wishes he could have ended on a finer note. He finished with five points. Hauncher led CC with 12 points and Richards added 11.

LYTON FACED Cooley with 19 points, and guard Michael Talley, a leading candidate for Mr. Basketball, added 13.

"I didn't get a good tone and that threw everyone off," Boykin said. "Cooley's real talented and they crashed the boards. They've got a lot of experience and that's what counts now."

"We were so close last year and said we'd get 'em this time. It didn't work out and I feel bad for coach Holowicki because he's a great coach. We just came out flat."

CC led 6-4 early in the game, but Cooley scored 17 of the next 21 points to take a 21-10 lead after one quarter.

Cooley made 58 percent (15-for-26) of its first-half shots and built a 14-point lead, 33-19, by halftime. CC, meanwhile, shot 35 percent (8-23) in the first half and 32 percent (13-41) for the game. Schaner, the Shamrock's best 3-point shooter, made only one of nine shots and finished with five points.

CC PLAYED ZONE most of the game because of Cooley's height and quickness advantage, and Cooley countered by holding the ball much of the third quarter in its half-court offense.

"We were in control of the ball game, and the clock was running out on him (Holowicki), not me," Kelso said of his decision to slow the tempo in the third quarter.

The Cardinals outscored the Shamrocks 8-4 in the third quarter and took a commanding, 41-23 lead into the final quarter.

"They cut-and-moused it on us, and that was a smart move," Holowicki said. "We knew going in we needed a perfect game and wanted to be within eight or 10 coming into the fourth quarter."

"Cooley did some good things against us. They tried to alter our shots instead of blocking them, and they played tough against Terry (Boykin) and Jeff (Schaner)."

Wayne rips Edsel Ford in basketball

By Steve Kowalski
staff writer

When coach Chuck Henry sauntered out of Wayne Memorial's locker room Tuesday night he was flanked by assistant coaches Wayne Woodward and Joel Lloyd.

Fittingly, the threesome left the gym and boarded the team bus together after Wayne blasted Dearborn Edsel Ford, 66-45, in a Class A regional semifinal basketball game at Southfield Lathrup.

Wayne did things in threes all night long against the outmanned Ford team. Wayne bombarded Ford, making eight 3-point shots, six in the third quarter when the Zebras turned a 31-20 halftime lead into a 55-32 rout.

The win was Wayne's 11th straight and sends the Zebras (20-4) into the regional final at 7 p.m. Friday against the winner of Wednesday's Redford Catholic Central-Detroit Cooley game.

This is the first time a Wayne team has advanced to the regional finals in seven years under Henry.

"IT'S NICE when the 'threes' are going in," Henry said. "That has to be the season-high for three-pointers, easily for one quarter. They're (Ford's) the team that's notorious for threes so it was kind of a surprise."

Ford finished the season at 21-3 and coach Richard Angelo was satisfied in making it this far.

"They beat us at our own game," Angelo said. "We usually get hot and hit 'threes,' but they did. That's the way it goes. I thought we could stay with them, but they got hot and played good defense. I'm really proud of my kids. Anything we got after (winning) the district was a bonus, I thought."

Tony Rumble sank a trio of 3-point shots during the third-quarter surge and Pierre Hixon, who had a game-high 24 points, made two triples in the quarter. Leonard Wade had the other 3-point basket and scored five points.

Rumble finished the game with 18 points, but Hixon, who nailed four 3-pointers throughout the evening, earned most of the praise afterward from Henry.

HENRY SAID Hixon brought about a "four or five-point" scoring average into the game.

"This was by far his highest scoring game," Henry said. "He gave us no indication before the game he was going to do that. He plays hard, especially defensively. And tonight he had the flow on offense and he felt it and let it fly."

Ford trailed only 15-12 after one quarter, but poor shooting in both the second and third quarters didn't help the Thunderbirds.

Wayne scored the first eight points of the second quarter and led 23-12 before Jason Swafford finally made a field goal with 3:42 left in the half for Ford.

Wayne put the game out of reach in the third quarter, scoring the first 11 points, including three 3-pointers, to take a commanding, 42-20 lead with 5:02 left.

SWAFFORD, FORD'S point guard and best player, finished with 14 points while backcourt mate John Tobin led the team with 17. Shane Cameron, a double-figure scorer for Ford, finished the night with only seven points and the Thunderbirds could come up with only three offensive rebounds.

Youthful group heads for state

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

The objective for area swim teams is to do as well as possible in state meet competition this weekend.

But if some goals go unfulfilled, there's always next year for some of those competing for North Farmington, Farmington Hills Harrison and Redford Catholic Central.

The majority of the swimmers who qualified from those schools are underclassmen. In their quest for immediate rewards, they will have an eye toward the future at the same time.

The preliminaries will be Friday and Saturday. The Class A meet will take place at Michigan State University in East Lansing, the B-C-D event at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor. Competition begins at 2 p.m. each day. Tickets are $3 Friday and $4 Saturday.

North Farmington has Steve Tumey, its lone senior qualifier, and Dan Knipper entered in the 100-yard breaststroke. Both will compete in the 400 freestyle relay along with Jerry Jehle and Chuck Chuba.

"DAN IS ONLY a junior, and we have three juniors on the relay," North coach Sue Gendron said. "So it's looking good for next year."

"It's been a long season, and they hope to finish with a bang, a good note, so they can feel good about their accomplishments."

Harrison, which placed 10th in Class B last year, will take its 200 medley relay to the state meet, as well as swimmers in two individual events.

Ed Serzo qualified for the backstroke, Jason Barringer the breaststroke. Each will swim those events in the medley relay, combining with Chad Hughes (butterfly) and Jeff Nelkirk (freestyle) to comprise the foursome.

"It will be a good learning experience," Harrison coach Peter Leonhardt said, adding his young team made a lot of progress this year.

"Going into this year, I wasn't sure if we were going to have anybody going to state, but the guys came through and did a nice job. They came a long way this year and will even stronger next year."

LEONHARDT, AS with Gendron, certainly isn't writing off the possibility of success at this year's state meet. Leonhardt, in fact, is confident the Hawks can be among the top 12 in the medley relay.

"If we can go 1:44, we might have a chance to make the consolation, and I think we can go 1:44," he said. "If either Serzo or Barringer drops a little bit, they certainly have a chance."

"We're not going there just to show up," he added. "Score is what we intend to do."

North divers Rob Kunzelman and John Juliano and Harrison's Ryan Koonce and Carl Johnson were to compete in regional meets Tuesday to determine if they qualify for the state meet. Johnson finished 10th in Class B last year as a freshman.

CC sophomores Troy Shumate and Mike Hoefflein will compete in two individual events and the freestyle relay at the Class A finals. Senior Andy Jacobs is going in the IM, and Jim Kovach and Alan Afari round out the relay squad.

Shumate is entered in the 200 and 500 freestyles, Hoefflein the 200 freestyle and 100 backstroke. Shumate was 14th in the 200 freestyle at 1:46 last year, and he has gone two seconds faster this year.

"I THINK HE can make top six in both of his events," CC coach Chuck McClune said, adding he estimates Shumate's best times place him among the top five in the 200 and top 10 in the 500.

"He didn't come down a lot (in the 500) at league, but he didn't have a race. He's the kind who has to have a race to do well, and I know he's going to have some races at state."

Hoefflein swam 1:48 at the state last year and has done that a couple times this year. It will take a better time at state, but McClune thinks Hoefflein could do it after he relaxes his workout pace and shaves down this week.

"It took 1:45 to place last year, and it'll be the same this year," McClune said.

With an improved freestyle swim, Jacobs could break two minutes in the IM, McClune said. The relay team dropped four seconds off its time to beat Brother Rice in the Catholic League meet Sunday, and that just four hours after doing the prelims.

Farmington High will be represented by senior Scott Hawkins, the Western Lakes Activities Association champion in the 50 freestyle. He'll swim that event at state.

"The 50 is a quick race; anything can happen," Farmington coach Ross Bandy said. "You don't know who's going to be in it. A lot of kids who would be competitive in it, like Ron Orris (of Plymouth Salem), won't be."

"There will be a lot of good kids in there, and Scott is as good as anybody. With the way he's training, he looks better than he did in the league meet."

North expected to contend

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

North Farmington coach Jeff Dwyer is cautioning his gymnasts about the possibility of the unknown and unexpected Saturday at the Grosse Pointe South regional meet.

From Dwyer's standpoint, it would be wrong to consider the Raiders shoo-ins to finish among the top three teams and thereby qualify for state competition on March 18.

Looking at the list of teams feeding the GPS regional, it appears the meet should be a dual between No. 1-ranked Troy Athens and North, champion of the Western Lakes Activities Association.

"Just like Northville and John Glenn really scared us at our league meet, Fraser, Troy and a couple others could be stronger than their scores indicate," Dwyer said. "We want to be on our toes for that."

The Raiders were 11th in the state last year — a fine accomplishment for any team — but they remember being second just two years ago. If everything goes well Saturday, the Raiders would like to regain their former status the following week at Troy High School.

"BEING THAT we're ranked sixth in the state, that would be gratifying if we could move up a couple notches," Dwyer said.

It won't be easy for aspiring teams to beat out either Athens or North for the top two places since both have a strong contingent of all-arounders.

The Raiders have qualified at least five girls in every event: Heather Kahn, Kim Heller, Rita Dunn, Kristin Szutarski and Jameelah Gater. In addition, Ellen Wesselman is entered in every event but floor exercise. That gives North an advantage over teams that haven't qualified as many individuals.

"It'll be pretty much like the regular season," Dwyer said. "We can have six in nearly every event and count four scores. If one bombs out, we still have four good ones. The odds are we're going to score better."

If the Raiders remain true to form, it should be Heller and Kahn leading them to whatever success they might have. They tied for second place among WLAA all-arounders last week.

"I expect Kim Heller and Heather Kahn to place high at this regional meet," Dwyer said. "Kahn has been real consistent all year, and Heller has just been getting better all along. She hasn't peaked yet. She can score better than she has in recent meets."

DWYER ADDED Dunn has been posting high scores recently on the beam, her best event, and Szutarski has been having the same success on bars and vault.

Farmington Hills Harrison and Farmington will be at the GPS regional, too, while Livonia Clarenceville goes to the regional at Plymouth Canton. All three have qualified as teams, also.

Farmington's Christine Oates and Julie Lawton have qualified for the all-around. The Falcons had five individuals qualify on vault, including Debbie Ford, Meredith Stumpo and Sheri Ylitalo.

Ford (bars), Nicole Gerwatowski (beam) and Jennifer Reed (floor) also made the grade individually. Completing the list of the team competitors will be Gerwatowski on bars, either Amber Arbuckle or Michelle Fenner on beam and Ford on floor.

"We're trying to go into it with an open mind," Farmington coach Mary Beth Schornhorst said. "We don't expect to be among the top three, but we hope to make a good showing. We hope to do some good routines and go from there."

Harrison's highest team score was 118. It's therefore unreasonable to think the Hawks could contend, but the fact Harrison qualified reflects the progress the program has made under second-year coach Jackie Huff.

"WE SCORED 101 last year in our last meet," she said. "That we even qualified for the regional was a big-time, major accomplishment."

Harrison's Jenny Rick and Michelle Doecker qualified in the all-around, Amy Solomon and Julie Robbins on beam.

Lisa Granfeldt is Clarenceville's lone all-arounder, but the Trojans have plenty of others who qualified in several events. The list includes Christy Nagorka (vault, beam), Roberta Wiggle (vault, beam), Colleen Wood (vault, beam, floor), Tricia Dunklee (bars), Erin Maguire (bars), Jennifer Kaipio (bars, beam, floor) and Kathy Kelley (beam, floor).

"We feel we've done our job getting kids qualified for regional, and we'll go there trying to do the best we can," Clarenceville coach Chuck Thompson said.

"We don't expect to get out of the regional, but we have a couple kids with good chances to make it out."

"At Clarenceville, I think our goal is just to make it to that meet," he added. "It's an honor to get as many kids qualified into the regional."

Dragons survive rally by Borgess

By Brad Emons
staff writer

Staggered and nearly on the ropes, Mount Clemens Clintondale proved it could take Redford Bishop Borgess' best shot Wednesday, advancing in the state basketball tournament.

The Dragons pulled out a 56-53 victory over the Spartans in the Class B regional at Warren Woods-Tower.

After falling behind by as many as 19 points in the third quarter, Clintondale appeared down for the count as the Spartans staged a furious fourth-quarter rally.

Junior Shawn Respert sparked the comeback for Borgess by scoring 17 straight points after Scott Nielsen's layup with 6:02 remaining gave the Dragons a 39-20 advantage early in the third quarter.

But by the end of the third quarter Borgess had cut the deficit to nine, 48-39.

Borgess then made its move. Clintondale missed three straight one-and-one free-throw situations between the three and two-minute mark as Borgess pulled to within one, 54-53, on Charles North's three-pointer with 1:23 remaining.

BORGESS THEN came up with a steal, but missed two shots in the final 20 seconds. Clintondale's Jerry Howard grabbed the second miss and dribbled to midcourt where the ball was slapped out of his hands.

With the ball being inbounded and only 10 seconds left, Borgess was forced to foul Nielsen, who calmly connected on two free throws to seal the victory.

Following the free throws, which gave Clintondale a three-point cushion, Howard stole a Borgess pass and ran out the clock as the Dragon fans streamed onto the floor, jubilantly hoisting Nielsen (15 points) and 6-foot-10 center Greg Grant (15 points, 17 rebounds and eight blocks) on their shoulders.

"Nielsen is probably our second best free throw shooter, but in the clutch he's our best," said Clintondale coach Tom Simon, whose team will take a 20-3 record against Detroit Benedictine in Friday's final. "We didn't make any foolish passes; we didn't do anything foolish. They (Borgess) had a good ballclub and have the ability to come back."

BORGESS DUG ITSELF a hole by shooting only nine of 42 (including 0-for-7 on three-pointers) from the field in the first half.

The Spartans had a hard time solving Clintondale's zone, which featured the 6-10 Grant on the wing denying the ball.

basketball

'They (Clintondale) were extending their defense the first half and we couldn't hit any shots. We didn't do anything to stop them in the first half, but the kids showed a lot of heart and character coming back. . . . Give them (Clintondale) credit. I knew all five of their players could hurt us at any time.'

— Mike Fusco
Borgess basketball coach

The Dragons then held Borgess to four second-quarter points to make it 31-18 at the half.

"They (Clintondale) were extending their defense the first half, and we couldn't hit any shots," said Borgess coach Mike Fusco, whose team bowed out with a 14-10 record. "We didn't do anything to stop them in the first half, but the kids showed a lot of heart and character coming back."

RESPERT BEGAN to find holes in the Clintondale zone and put on a spectacular display of offense by scoring 17 of his game-high 25 points within an eight-minute span.

But the 6-2 sharpshooter couldn't get a shot off when Borgess made its bid to take the lead in the final minute of play.

"Give them (Clintondale) credit," Fusco said. "They played a good game, and they're a good team. I knew all five of their players could hurt us at any time. They came in confident, poised and ready."

Only four players scored for Borgess — Respert (25), North (16), Artie Brown (six) and Carl Woods (six).

"I thought Rashawn Sumler and Carl Woods did a good job against Grant," said Fusco. "We hit the boards hard and went to the glass, but we just couldn't put it (the ball) down."

Meanwhile, Grant showed he could put the ball down, even from long-range, hitting a couple of key shots from 18 feet.

"He can shoot from outside," Simon said, "but he has a tendency to get out there and stay there. We don't want him out there."

"That's my shot — the free throw line — right there," offered the senior standout.

"When we play a tough team we play zone," Simon said. "We protect Greg in so far as his stamina is concerned. We don't want him running all over the floor. They're going to try and make him foul and take him out of there, and we don't want to put the pressure on somebody else."

Grant, bound for the University of Detroit, put plenty of pressure on Borgess early, scoring 12 points, to go along with 10 rebounds and seven blocks. Teammate Mike Daniloff tallied eight of his 15 in the opening period as Clintondale led 18-14.

Anti-surrogate loophole plugged

By Tim Richard
staff writer

The state Senate moved to tighten Michigan's anti-surrogate parenting law by prohibiting surrogate gestation for pay.

"We're making criminals out of people eager to have children," protested Sen. Jack Faxon, D-Farmington Hills, who opposes the measure.

The current law, passed in 1988, prohibits paying a woman whose ovum is artificially inseminated with the sperm of a man who would later adopt the child.

The new bill, on its way to the House, extends that law to cover an already-fertilized egg of one woman being implanted in a surrogate who is paid to bear the couple's child.

PASSAGE CAME on a 32-5 vote Wednesday after an hour of sharp debate.

Among area senators, only Faxon voted no.

Supporting the Binsfeld bill were Republicans Doug Cruce of Troy, Richard Fessler of Commerce, Robert Geake of Northville and Rudy Nichols of Waterford; and Democrats William Faust of Westland and George Z. Hart of Dearborn.

The legislative efforts are aimed directly at Dearborn attorney Noel Keane, who is paid by couples without children to match them with a woman who will bear a baby for them. Typical fees: $10,000 for Keane, $10,000 for the surrogate mother.

MOST OF the debating was done by opponents, who called it "anti-family."

"I don't think the state should be in the business of making adoption more difficult," said Sen. Joe Conroy, D-Flint. "It's very difficult to adopt a baby other than one from Mexico or South America."

"We have couples who get married at (age) 27 or 29 and find out too late they can't have children."

Sen. John Kelly, D-Detroit, called the bill "anti-nuclear family."

Faxon said the child is that of the sperm donor and egg donor, even if gestation occurs in a second woman. "That should not be prohibited," he said. Faxon offered an amendment to declare that the "natural" mother is the "egg" mother and not the gestation mother, but it was rejected.

"WE WENT through all those arguments for five years," said Binsfeld. "This amendment clarifies the intent of the law."

She noted the law was passed with 30 votes in the 38-member Senate and 90 of the 110 House members.

Binsfeld said there is a bond between the woman who has borne the child and the child.

Sen. Lana Pollack, D-Ann Arbor, supported Binsfeld, saying the law doesn't prohibit surrogate gestation — "as long as there is no compensation. The sponsor (Binsfeld) is trying to outlaw the exchange of money. You shouldn't rent your womb."

IN OTHER ACTION, the Senate gave 35-1 approval to Fessler's bill to expand the state Law Enforcement Training Council from 11 members to 15.

New members would represent the Michigan Association of Police, police women, the Wayne County Association of Chiefs of Police and the Detroit Police Officers Association.

There was no debate, and all area senators voted yes.

Artist's rendering of the first house in Woodlynn, the future Detroit Symphony showhouse, shows how New York City architect Robert A.M. Stern kept a strong mid-western look in his design.

Woodlynn

Showhouse composed for Midwest audiences

By Corinne Abatt
staff writer

DAVID JENSEN, Birmingham-based builder/developer, talks like a philosopher and a visionary. That's because he is. And these days his vision is focused on his 23-acre development, Woodlynn, Bingham Farms, a community of million-dollar residences.

The acreage isn't visible from the road, but it came with a 60-foot wide access strip that is now paved, attractively landscaped along both sides and christened Woodlynn Drive.

A cobblestone gatehouse part way down the drive was just completed. A 200-year-old black walnut tree stands as a sentinel on the other side because Jensen had the road curved to save it.

The 14 building sites front on a cul-de-sac. Three will border on a small pond that is being created in terrain that is a natural for it near the south boundary.

All of the houses are or will be designed by New York City architect Robert A.M. Stern. All of the landscape architecture is designed by The SWA Group out of Boston, Mass.

"This is a development by design with a master plan," Jensen said as he drove slowly along Woodlynn Drive, describing the thinking that went into each step.

"We had to have a very special architect on this project. Stern has a love affair with Cranbrook. He was there for a week in 1980. He asked me to take 35mm pictures of everything I liked around here."

AFTER STERN had studied Jensen's photographs, he asked Jensen, "Why not do something that spins off Frank Lloyd Wright's Winslow House in Chicago?"

"The Prairie style had its inspiration in that kind of look. . . . Stern is a traditionalist with a modern interpretations," Jensen said.

Stern was aware and concerned about maintaining a Midwestern identity in his designs, Jensen said.

In his book, "Years with Frank Lloyd Wright," Edgar Tafel said the Winslow house (actually in River Forest, Ill.) was Wright's first independent commission after leaving Adler and Sullivan in 1893. Tafel said the setting for the entrance and front door are reminiscent of Louis Sullivan, his former employer. In any event, the much admired design brought Wright many clients.

So, the first Woodlynn home (5,400 square feet) now being completed, with its red brick exterior and cedar shingle roof, has a traditional look and a historical legacy, somewhat reminiscent of Wright's early style with its broad eaves and signature urns at the entrance.

AS THE 1989 Symphony Showhouse, it will be seen by many visitors when it is open later this spring. It is a true family home with a circular staircase in the entry hall, a second staircase in the back of the house.

One of Stern's trademarks is his use of windows to take advantage of the light, the views and the elevations, and at the same time enhance the architectural line and look.

A large fanlight (window) high above the front entrance allows the two-story entry hall to be bathed in natural light. There are windows on three walls in the living room, a bank of bay windows in the dining room and even slim vertical windows tucked into unexpected places such as a storage area or a child's bathroom.

The flooring in the large living room and the detailing of the fireplace suggest the elegance of Elie Saareinen's designs at Cranbrook. The oak floor is laid in a herringbone pattern with darker detailing around the perimeter.

An interlocking pattern of carving runs vertically across the front of the fireplace. Great attention is being paid to the cove molding, wood trim around the doors and installation of interior pocket sliding glass doors.

The second house, already well under way, is a 7,000-square foot, triple-gabled English country house. There will be no makeovers of floor plans or modifications of styles from one house to another, Jensen said. Each will be a completely individualized residence that will be compatible with, but distinctly different from, the others.

A LOOK through a catalog of buildings and projects that Stern did from 1981-85 erases any doubt about his versatility. This 300-page book of color photographs of finished projects, floor plans and elevations shows the tremendous body of work he has produced in those four years, from the East Coast to as far west as Alaska, where he did the Performing Arts Center in Anchorage.

Stern's transformation of a 19th century factory in Voorschoten, The Netherlands, to the headquarters for Mexx International, a Dutch fashion company, is the subject of an article and pictures in Architectural Record, May 1988. In it, the writer refers to Stern's "signature eclecticism."

Jensen wrote in his purpose

BARBRA WALZ

Robert A.M. Stern, an internationally recognized architect, will come for the May opening of the Detroit Symphony show house, which he designed.

statement for Woodlynn, "To provide an inspired environment which balances the sensitive issues of the land, the building (or structures) and the gardens. Our effort is to create a wonderful sense of place, where a neighborhood is experienced, where the sum of the total parts is greater than the individual parts."

STERN, HOST of the PBS-TV series, "Pride of Place: Building the American Dream," and professor of graduate studies in architecture at Columbia University, is also a philosopher.

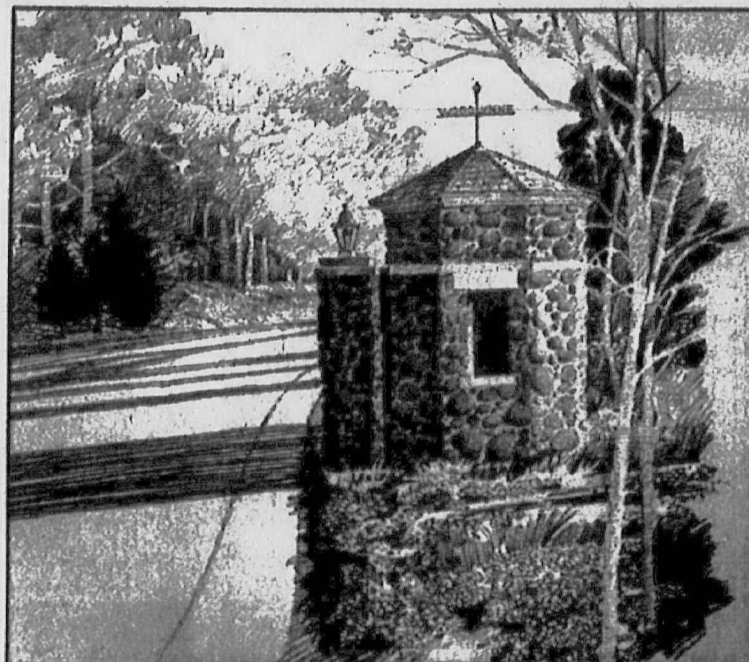

Stern will be here for the opening of the Symphony Showhouse. He will speak to the students at Detroit Country Day School and be the guest at a banquet in his honor.

"Believing as I do in the continuity of tradition, I try to create order out of the chaotic present by entering into a dialogue with the past, with tradition," he wrote in the introduction to his book.

"... I do not believe that the past offers a cure for the ills of the present; I do believe it offers standards for evaluation."

Jensen can already picture the formal gardens that will surround the homes. He likes the idea of single drives into secluded courtyards. On one site, he pictures a fountain. He has many drawings and paintings of how the landscape will look. His vision is taking shape.

Drawing of the gatehouse, which is now in place, shows how it will look when spring arrives and what it says about the homes beyond the curve of the drive.

"Our effort is to create a wonderful sense of place, where a neighborhood is experienced, where the sum of the total parts is greater than the individual parts."

— David Jensen

Woodlynn created on historic site

Woodlynn, the 23 acres of land in Bingham Farms, comes complete with a well-documented history. Had things gone differently, the University of Michigan, might be on 13 Mile Road instead of in Ann Arbor.

Developer David Jensen bought the parcel of land from Semon E. (Bunkle) Knudsen.

He had kept it after the Knudsen home was sold to the David Hermelins when the Knudsens moved to Cleveland, Ohio, in the early '70s when he became chairman and chief executive officer of White Motor Corp.

The property is first on record as part of a government land grant to John Daniels around 1832 when Michigan was still a territory. An 80-acre parcel of the larger piece was "reserved for the University of Michigan" in compliance with an act of Congress approved in 1826 "concerning a seminary of learning in the Territory of Michigan."

However, Daniels bought that 80 acres from the state of Michigan in 1852 for $400 when the state apparently decided on another location for the university. Descendants of the Daniels family owned the acreage until the Depression, when Knudsen acquired it.

So instead of the University of Michigan, there is Bingham Farms and its newest development, Woodlynn.

Supported in part by the Livonia Arts Commission and the Livonia Cultural League, VAAL was formed over 10 years ago to promote better acquaintances, involvement and understanding of creative expression of the arts. Membership in the group is open to all area residents. Special benefits include reduced class and exhibition fees.

briefly speaking

● JAMES TOPP SINGERS

The award-winning James Topp Singers will be presented in a special concert at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, March 18, in the Livonia Civic Center Library auditorium. Sponsored by the Livonia Arts Commission, the concert is part of an ongoing effort by the arts group to present a wide range of family entertainment. Admission is $2. Tickets are available at the library during regular business hours.

The singers were formed by James Topp, a Detroit Public School music specialist, to offer gifted students an opportunity to develop their natural talent and to encourage their interest in music.

The Singers have performed throughout the state during its sesquicentennial and the East Coast during the reopening of the Statue of Liberty. They are the recipients of several citations of excellence from the state government and were also presented with the Spirit of Detroit award.

In keeping with the Easter season, they will conclude their Livonia appearance with Handel's "Hallelujah Chorus."

● MAGICAL MINIATURES

Contest and unusual displays will highlight the annual Miniature and Teddy Bear Show at the Northwest YWCA 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday.

March 19. The Northwest Y is at 25940 Grand River in Redford.

Amateur room boxes will be judged and prizes will be awarded. Prizes will also be awarded for the best dressed, smallest, largest and most loved teddy bears.

Dealers, hobbyists and craftspeople from throughout the state are expected to participate in this year's event. There is a $2 admission fee. For more information, call 537-8500.

● AUTHOR TO SPEAK

Southfield author Thomas Sullivan will be guest speaker Wednesday, April 12, at the book and author presentation to be held during National Library Week hosted by the Carl Sandburg Branch of the Livonia Public Library.

Sullivan will speak and autograph copies of his novel, "The Phases of Harry Moon," described by Library

Journal as a "comic novel, strong on clever wordplay and edge of absurdity landscape."

Copies of the book are now on sale at the library at a 20-percent discount for those who wish to read it before the talk. The event is open to the public. For more information, call 476-0700.

● PEOPLE DANCING

Audiences will enjoy a two-for-one price as People Dancing and the Detroit Dance Collective come together Thursday-Sunday, March 16-19, with a concert highlighting the impressive talents of both groups. Performances will take place at the Performance Network, 408 W. Washington, Ann Arbor. Show times are 8 p.m. Thursday through Saturday, and 2 p.m. Sunday. Tickets are $9 general admission and $7 for students and seniors.

Political profiles sadly lacking

COLEMAN YOUNG, William Milliken, Walter Reuther — three dynamic, powerful, influential men — each destined to play a role in Michigan's volatile political history. The good news is that books about each of these fascinating men have been published within the last few months.

The bad news is that, in all three books, we're showered with roses, roses, roses — with barely a prick of the thorn. The very nature of their life's work, the complexities of their personalities, the times that shaped their ideologies are all issues begging for objectivity.

In the Young biography ("Coleman Young and Detroit Politics — From Social Activist to Power Broker," by Wilbur C. Rich, Wayne State University Press, hardbound $21.95), we see public relations hard at work, and the results are predictable: a biography that is, ultimately, a boring piece of apologia.

To have to concede that a book about Coleman Young is a yawner is pretty incredible, considering Young's own, carefully constructed tough-guy impression: the profane, irascible countenance; the seldom-appropriate, often-hilarious wit; the never-back-down stance, whether he's dealing with the military as a Tuskegee Airman during World War II, Harry Bennett and the Ford union busters in the 1940s, the House Un-American Activities Committee in the 1950s, or fiscal decline, the dismantling of Poletown, the abandonment by the Reagan administration and the sleaze factor in his own administration in the 1980s.

RICH, A PROFESSOR at Wayne State, may have been hobbled by the fact that this project grew out of a luncheon discussion with members of the Coleman Young Foundation.

The book was written over a four-year period with their unflinching support — though, according to notes at the end of the book, Rich was only able to interview Young on two occasions.

In "American Dreams: Lost and Found," Studs Terkel's 1989 chronicle of 100 American Lives, Young talks about his own life and brilliantly, idiomatically, profanities intact, tells it all in only 14 pages. Too bad he didn't allow Rich more time. Too bad he didn't write his own book.

"THE MILLIKEN YEARS, A Pictorial Reflection," is written by Joyce Braithwaite and George Weeks, published originally by The Traverse City Record-Eagle and Village Press Inc., and released recently in large paperback by Wayne State University Press ($17.50).

What you see is what you get: An endearing picture book with lots of hand shaking, lots of happy faces — about what you would expect from two former Milliken staff members.

Braithwaite was Milliken's campaign manager and executive assistant for 14 years; Weeks, a Detroit News columnist, served as either press secretary or chief of staff for all of Milliken's 14 years in office.

But it, too, is pretty boring, except for a page or two of political cartoons near the end of the book — most of them connecting Milliken with — guess who? — Coleman Young.

IN THE Reuther biography, it is a loving daughter, Elisabeth Reuther Dickmeyer, who does the telling.

The book is called "Reuther: A Daughter Strikes" (Spelman Publishers, Box 3333, Farmington Hills 48333, $21.95 Hardbound, $14.95, softbound), with a forward by Doug Fraser.

In all fairness, I have not seen the review copy. I can only quote the press release and wish that all it says is true.

"The blast from a would-be assassin's shotgun . . . plunged all Reuthers into a lifetime of strict security, constant bodyguards, bulletproof windows and vests, barbed wire — and constant fear. Brother Victor was shot next.

"Then there were the anonymous threats and charges by J. Edgar Hoover. But there were good times, too. All are described in Elisabeth Reuther Dickmeyer's 400-page account of Walter Reuther's two lives — as UAW president and as a devoted husband and father."

ALONG THE way, the family was exposed to figures like Eleanor Roosevelt, JFK, Martin Luther King and India's prime minister, Jawaharlal Nehru. Then, in 1970, it all came to an end when Walter Reuther and his wife, May, were killed in a plane crash. Dickmeyer suggests possible sabotage.

Partly because of an enlightening trip to India with her father, Dickmeyer became a Hare Krishna devotee and collaborated with Alfred Ford, great-grandson of Henry Ford, to convert the Fisher Mansion into a Hare Krishna temple.

It has not been my policy to mention a book until I've seen the hard copy, and I hesitate to do it now. Objectivity aside, much of what I want from this book may be wishful thinking.

SO, IF I haven't read the book, why am I even bringing it up? Because any book about the Reuthers is important; because I wanted to mention it along with the other two biographies — the lives of all three influential men interconnected at crucial periods in Michigan's history — and because this will be my last column for a while.

I'm taking a sabbatical of sorts — for how long, I can't say. The fiction world beckons and I've been wanting to explore its possibilities for a long time. I may well get lost — hopelessly lost — but I wouldn't miss the trip for anything.

But not to worry — Book Break will continue and an interim columnist will be announced within two weeks.

Animal life is focus of exhibition

Twenty area artists are featured in an animal life art exhibition and sale in progress at Somerset Mall in Troy.

Participating artists include watercolorist Elbert Weber of Livonia.

Commenting on the show, its coordinator Carol Piligian said: "Although there are many talented, innovative contemporary artists working today, relatively few portray animal life in their work as a theme."

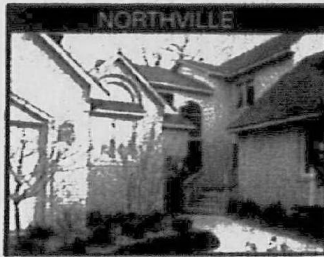

"Reasons for the comparative scarcity of this imagery are no doubt multiple, but one major factor is that of a society becoming increasingly more urban, technological and less agrarian resulting in a physical remoteness from our fellow creatures."

Somerset Mall is at 2801 Big Beaver, on the southeast corner of Big Beaver and Coolidge. The exhibition continues through March 12 and is open for viewing during normal mall business hours.

IMAGINE DYING FROM A DISEASE YOU NEVER KNEW YOU HAD.

Eleven million people in the U.S. have diabetes. But almost half of them don't know it.

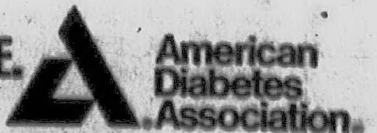

Untreated, diabetes can lead to heart disease, kidney disease, blindness and gangrene.

And for 150,000 people each year, it leads to death.

That's why you should be aware of the symptoms of diabetes: blurred vision, excessive thirst and frequent urination are just some of the warning signs. Because the sooner you find out if you have diabetes, the more likely you are to get it under control, before complications set in.

Finding out you have diabetes can be scary. But not finding out can be fatal.

FIGHT SOME OF THE WORST DISEASES OF OUR TIME.

Soprano Kirkland miniconcert soloist

Soprano Glenda Kirkland will join the Livonia Symphony Orchestra for the final of its Friday night miniseries in the Livonia Civic Center Library.

Glenda Kirkland
'All-American Night' soloist

Praised for her interpretative skills, radiant, charismatic stage presence and beautiful voice, Kirkland has won the Regional Artist Award from the National Association of Teachers of Singing, the Society for Musical Arts "Young Artist Award," and was a finalist in the local Metropolitan Opera Competition.

SHE RECEIVED HER education at the Julliard School of Music and is currently an associate professor of voice at Eastern Michigan University. She has appeared with the Detroit Symphony and Michigan Opera Theater.

Tickets are $8.50 general admission and $5 for students and seniors. Tickets are available at Civic Center Library on Five Mile Road, Madonna College and at the door.

'Cinderella' ballet has special highlights

Friends of ballet teacher/choreographer Jean Newell have waited a long time for this.

The longtime Livonia area personality will have a role in the production of "Cinderella" which her ballet company, Livonia Civic Ballet, is presenting in two performances Saturday in the Plymouth-Canton High School Little Theater.

Newell will be cast as the stepmother — "not the ugly, just the mean," she added with a wry smile.

The production, to be given at 2 p.m. and again at 7 p.m., has as its co-director Dawn Green, a teacher at Joann's Extension dance studio in Plymouth.

BOTH NEWELL AND Green are members of the Cecchetti Dance Council of America. Newell is a past president.

Special choreography for the show was done by Peter Pawlyshyn, a member of the Nevada Theatre Ballet, who has taught the past two years at the Cecchetti Council's summer conference at Michigan State University.

Pawlyshyn studied Ukrainian Dance in New York and trained in Kiev, Ukraine, USSR, at the Pavlo Virsky Folk Dance Studio. His ballet training has been with the Royal Winnipeg Ballet and he taught character for its summer sessions of 1981 through 1985.

Cast in the role of Cinderella is Dawn Rhodes. The stepsisters will be danced by Jackie Long and Arnell Newell. The cat will be played by Catrina Choate at the matinee and Dawnell Dryja in the evening. The prince will be played by David Tschudy. Duo roles of the beggar woman and the fairy godmother will be done by Carolyn Morrison. Admission to "Cinderella" is $5.

"I finally found a townhome as large as a home."

"I looked long and hard to find a 2000 sq. ft., cathedral ceiling elegant three-bedroom townhome. (Of course, I could have chosen a two or three-bedroom ranch.) With my own two-car attached garage, my own private basement and patio. And luxury touches like deluxe kitchens and whirlpool tubs plus landscaping that I love. Nothing could get me to move from Covington. Nothing."
