City's police chief returns from academy

By Doug Funke staff writer

Richard Myers, nearing his fourth anniversary as police chief in the city of Plymouth, said his recent 11week training session at the FBI National Academy in Quantico, Va. was the best learning experience of his

"The caliber of instruction was head over heels better than I've ever had," he said. "It went beyond theory (to include) leadership role-playing

Myers studied executive leadership, futuristics in law enforcement, organizational communication, legal problems for police administration and unions and labor relations.

"I had reinforced for me the concept that education is the key to professionalism in law enforcement," Myers said.

Futuristics taught me a different way of looking at the world," he said. "Let's not just be report takers. Let's be problem solvers.

No major changes will be immediately implemented locally as a result of what he learned at the academy, Myers said.

"Change is a difficult thing for people to cope with," he said. "It has to be done at a manageable pace. I'm not looking to disrupt things. We're on an even keel. But we have to prepare for the future.'

'I learned of the entire importance of creating a positive work environment and encouraging creativity.'

The program was intense, Myers said, adding that he was in the classroom up to 36 hours a week.

Talking informally about common problems with some of the 200 law enforcement officers attending the academy from around the country also was a valuable learning experience, he said.

Myers roomed with a captain in charge of the detective bureau in Framingham, Mass.

'You find the caliber of people rising to the top is so high now. People are exceptionally bright, creative thinking," Myers said.

"I learned of the entire importance of creating a positive work environment and encouraging creativity. Excellence is a worthwhile thing to pursue," he said.

Students' paper will defend anti- gay column

Peggy Aulino

Plymouth-Canton School District administrators and the staff of the Plymouth Canton High School newspaper have responded to criticism generated by a column that has been called anti-gay.

The CEP Perspective will publish an editorial in its April 21 edition defending student columnist John Minuth's right to express his opinion.

Thomas Tattan, principal of the high school, said he is responding by letter to the Ann Arbor gay rights group that has threatened to picket Centennial Educational Park. Superintendent John M. Hoben said he has written a letter to the Lesbian and Gay Rights Organizing Committee.

The editorial said the CEP Perspective staff feels "justified in allowing Minuth to express his views, although they may differ from the paper's as a whole."

The controversy arose after Minuth, a junior, wrote a column

Central Middle School students went south of the border last week - to Canada.

You can find out all the boring things from the library, but you can't find out about the people," said Earl Harrington, a seventh grade teacher at Central, who came up with the idea for the international exchange day.

"They read about Americans in the newspaper and they think about us as running around with machine guns and they're afraid of us," Harrington said.

Sixth, seventh and eighth grade Central students boarded a bus to make international ties with their counterparts at Percy McCullom Elementary School in Windsor.

"His school is way bigger," said Canada's McCullom Kenneth Tulk, nodding his head toward Central's Chris Soave. "And the kids from his school are a little bit bigger."

To the editor:

I read your front page article in the March 30 issue, entitled "CBE against tax increase and renewal." Is Ms. Daskalakis for real?

I note that Ms. Daskalakis owns a velry store. Perhaps her attitude with respect to shutting off needed revenues to operate a hitherto highlity school system amounts to reverse alchemy. Should she have her way, she would turn a diamond into

In reading through the article detailing her posture, I am somehow caused to rethink the recent hullabaloo over the publication of "Satanic-Verses" by Salman Rushdie. The Avatollah also has "certain beliefs."
To be constituted with her fellow ex-tremists, perhaps she should put out a general contract on the school beard and a special contract on Mike

It seems like every time I pick up a copy of the Plymouth Observer this past year I undoubtedly find etther a negative article or letter to the editor about the Plymouth-Canton school district. So many people pointing the finger at someone else. Administrators make too much money, kids are undeserving, the school board is inept, teachers are incompetent. And of course there is the cry, "my taxes are already too high, why should I vote to raise them?"

We are a community of mostly residential properties. We do not have the large and diverse tax base from commercial property bringing in revenue that, say, a community like Livonia has. And we are a district that has been able to maintain quality education at a comparatively lower operating cost per pupil than our neighboring districts. (In Southfield revenue spent per student each year from all sources is over $6,000, in Livonia they spend $4,739 per pupil, in Northville $4,401, in Wayne-Westland $3,962 is spent, and in Plymouth-Canton we spend only

The bottom line is this. We no longer have sufficient funding, be it state, federal or locally tax secured, to provide the children in the Plymouth-Canton school district with an adequate education. And the sad thing is that we shouldn't have to go begging for an adequate education for our children, we should all of us be demanding an excellent education for them! And by all of us I do not only include the parents of the children in the district. Because whether. you are a retiree, a large corporation or a small business owner, we all benefit from a school system that turns out literate contributors.

No. the Plymouth-Canton schools are not perfect places; board members, teachers and administrators are not all knowing and all seeing; and yes, there is certainly room for improvement in public education today. However, turning our backs on taxpayers are not already doing their fair share of supporting our schools. A neighbor of mine sees it the same as I, as he states, "I moved here from Canton, Ohio, last year. My taxes were 1/3 of what they are here and we had the same schools. the same city services, the same roads, I just don't understand it."

(And by the way, this was before our latest 17 percent increase in property assessment.)

It's kind of comical that just before a school millage election (and I've seen a few in past years) my kids come home from school saying we need to go to the store dad, we're out of pencils and paper at school!

Here is a tidbit of information for those that wonder why the state lottery is not helping. It seems that before the lottery was introduced 29 percent of the state's general fund went to finance schools and their programs, but presently by some mystical happening a whopping 7 percent finds its way toward educating our children.

Would it not make more sense that the millage election should be held in

Let's add it up — 15 percent property tax increase in 1988 ($300), 17 percent property tax increase in 1989 ($400), $200 millage increase in 1989. $900 in increased taxes in less than two years!

Detroit area, have a distorted view of outstate Bichigan. They, for some reason, think that people sit around pot bellied stoves wearing plaid hunting shirts and those Elmer Pudd-like hunting hats with a brim and ear flaps.

Those perceptions come from some pretty educated people. I was discussing Bay City, where I spent 14 years working at a newspaper with a circulation of 40,000, with a colleague who was not only dumbfounded that the city had a daily newspaper, but who also asked me if life was more slow-paced in Bay City.

The apparent basis for my col-league's question was the belief that somehow life is slower, people are duller and there's nothing going on outside of the Detroit area.

That perception is far from the People outside of the Detroit area work hard and are affected by the same economic problems that face people in metro areas. In fact, one of the stories that received much coverage in central Michigan was the effect of stress on farmers caused by the economy.

Even lawyers, who you may think would know better, aren't immune to parochialism. Once while visiting Detroit several years ago, I was talking to a lawyer at a party. The attorney asked me if there was a full-time court in Bay County. I informed him there were two circuit court judges and three district court judges who work full time.

Also, when friends from the Detroit area would visit me in Bay City, they would arrive thinking they had arrived in Hickville. They would ask: What's there to do in this town?

No, there's no major league baseball or an art institute, but there's golf, sailing on Saginaw Bay, restaurants and neighborhood sports bars where you were bound to meet old Maybe those activities aren't the same as being able to catch an afternoon ball game, but there are other things that make up for it. Because there aren't a lot of easy things to do in smaller outstate communities, residents have to plan and organize their own events.

One such event in Bay City is an annual St. Patrick's Day parade that pers.

And that's not the only event created by the residents. Hydroplane races during the summer on Saginaw Bay have even attracted the Hollywood set. Miami Vice's Don Johns showed up last summer with Barbra Streisand in tow.

Being a native Detroiter, it took me a while to understand and appreciate the difference between a small city and a metro area. When I first moved to Bay City in the early 1970s I remember writing a letter to some friends, comparing Bay City to Mayberry R.F.D. In that letter, I made fun of the sugar beet trucks rolling through town, with sugar beets falling out when they made a turn.

I guess it seemed funny and quaint to a kid from Detroit, but later as a reporter I discovered that those trucks were causing problems. About every year there was at least one serious accident, often causing a

It's not so quaint to get smashed by a sugar beet truck.

So next time you drive through some small, seemingly idyllic county town or city, take a little longer look and you'll see that life is just about as complicated as your life in the big

Recently I read a story that quoted a woman living in the Appalachian Mountains in the South. She said tourists who come by "seem to think we should be sitting on the front porch barefooted happily playing the dulcimer." She said people seemed disappointed when they don't find that scene.

The media is partly to blame. The national media seems to have a fixation with showing starving or warring people in Third World countries.

I think it's time we have a renewed awareness of our own country. There are lots of different worlds in the 50 states, and we should try to understand them.

Is Your Child Too Small?

Most kids grow at their own rate. And there's nothing to be alarmed at if they're a little above or below the growth chart.

For some children, though, it's different. For any number of reasons, they just don't grow like other kids do. But if treated in time, many of them can be helped.

And that's the purpose of the Growth Assessment Clinic sponsored by Pediatric Associates of Farmington, in affiliation with Children's Hospital of Michigan and the Human Growth Foundation. If you're worried about your child's growth pattern, give us a call at (313) 228-2769.

We'll set up a private screening on Saturday, April 15. And it won't cost you a penny.

A "national service" program heing considered in Congress is re-ceiving a mixed reaction from those whose lives it would affect.

Proposed by Sen. Sam Nunn, D-Ga., the plan would require a year of military or alternative government service of any youngster applying for a federal college loan.

A random sampling among area high school students found some who thought the plan "lousy," but others who thought it could make a positive difference in their own lives.

"I DON'T think it's a bad idea, I mean they're going to be doing the paying," said Plymouth Canton stu-dent Ron Hutchinson. His friend, Pat Mosher of Canton, agreed. "This could probably provide some good work experience. I'd say I was for Darryl Lahiff, a Livonia Churchill student, also liked the idea. "I'm going to be going in the army after graduation anyway," he said.

Not everyone favored the concept, though those who didn't were less likely to be willing to see their names in print.

"I'm familiar with it, and I think it's a lousy idea," said a female Plymouth Canton student. "But I'd rather not talk about it." .

"No war, man - peace," joked a male Churchill student.

Some students favored the idea, but questioned whether it should be elections — perhaps as a trial program that would supplement current "Some students might really need this program, but they shouldn't be required to participate," said Amy FitsGerald of Westland John Glenn education grants.

The proposal is "an enormous con-tribution to the youth services field", said Frank Slobig, coordinator of Youth Services America, a group representing youth agencies throughout the nation.

The act would require two years' military service at two-thirds regular pay, or up to two years in a civilian work corps at $100 per week.

Civilian volunteers would receive a $10,000 voucher for each year served, upon completion of their duty. Military enlistees would receive a $24,000 voucher once their two year hitch was up, though would be required to spend an additional six years in the military reserves.

Vouchers could be used for education, job training or down payment

After a five-year implementation period, military or civilian service would be required of those seeking student loans or grants, though exemptions would be granted those unable to perform national service tasks

Create sweet fantasy

A wedding cake should be a creation of dreams, a delicious fantasy to sweeten the event and delight the memory.

Good, talented cooks can trust their memories and sweet fantasies to a professional baker, or they themselves can create a wedding cake of their dreams?

If you don't already own, or can beg, borrow or steal a few of the professional cakemakers' gizmos, creating a dream of sponge cake, pearl frosting and fresh flowers can be an enjoyable, fulfilling and inexpensive undertaking.

First off, and probably the most important, you must have a plan or direction for making and assembling the

HOW MANY GUESTS will the cake serve? Is the choice of batter and frosting conducive to the climate? Will the cake be layered or presented in tiers? Can the cake be transported and assembled at the reception?

Think of all the "what ifs" including weather, time frame, construction, transportation, serving, decorating, presentation and taste.

Cake bakers and professional decorators rely on a bevy of support personnel here in the metropolitan area. Of course, there is the venerable Kitchen Glamor in Redford, West Bloomfield and Rochester. When it comes to cakes, if they don't have it, you don't need it.

Another local favorite that has a growing reputation is the Bakers Acre at 5637 Middlebelt in Garden City. Husband/ wife Jim and Linda Pratt have owned the notable cake supply establishment for almost eight years and have watched it grow from a wedding cake house to one of the most reputable supply establishments for

Linda Pratt, a professional cake baker herself, offers these little known tips for a successful cake: First timers should begin by preparing cakes as simple as possible. Regardless of how simple or elaborate the cake will be, it must be level or the cake itself will look crooked, no matter how it is decorated. Use a sharp knife or fine string to lop off those "bulges" everyone experiences on the top of

SECONDLY. WHEN the cake is removed from the cake pans after baking, place the layers immediately on cardboard sheets or cake racks and place them individually in plastic garbage bags. Pratt added. "This will not only keep the layers incredibly moist with lesser crumbs for longer periods but will allow the preparer an opportunity to clean up the area before decorating begins."

Budding cake decorators can also take advantage of the many cake decorating videos that are available to rent or purchase. Many highly touted equipment manufacturers such as Wilton have cake-making videos for the beginner, intermediate and professional baker with state-of-the-art and up-to-the-minute tips and techniques for making the perfect wedding cake.

As far as supplies are concerned, most wedding-cake-type pans can be rented. You will also need a good-quality, heavy-duty mixer, an icing spatula with a long, straight edge, cardboard circular or rectangular cake boards, pastry bags and assorted tips. Most professionals use disposable parchment paper bags but yours truly finds it just as easy to purchase the disposable plastic decorator hags. They are more durable and, with the use of a coupler

HEY'RE ALMOST too pretty to eat, those elaborate wedding cakes created by Kevin Paulina of Northville.

"All my cakes are one-of-akind," said Paulina, who holds an associate's degree in culinary arts from Oakland Community College in Farmington Hills. "The style of the wedding is very much part of the cake."

Paulina, 26, is winning raves and loval clients who want an intricately decorated and tasty cake for that most special occasion - a wedding.

The cakes, which may cost hundreds of dollars, are filled with fruit and rich chocolate and decorated with delicate roses, lacy fronds of icing and fat cupids. All the decorations are made from sugar, egg whites and other edi-

"He is an artist," she said. "Everyone commented on how beautiful the cakes were. And they were delicious."

Making fancy cakes is only one of Paulina's interests. He also is a consultant and food stylist who creates attractive displays of food so they will photograph well.

Dan Miller uses Belgian chocolate for his mousse cake fillings and fresh frozen whole strawberries for his bavarian cream.

Miller, a baker, specializes in torte wedding cakes using fine ingredients. The name of his shop, Elite Sweets, expresses his philosophy.

"We sell taste," said 28-year-old
Miller, a Westland resident. "Once people taste it, they want it. You use a superior product that you're proud to serve at your wedding."

Miller, a graduate of Livonia Franklin High School and School-

Franklin High School and School-craft College's culinary arts pro-gram, opened Ellite Sweets last Octo-ber. The stop, which sells a variety of chires and sweets, is on the south side of Eight Mile Road, west of Farmington Road, in Livesia.

ELITE SWEETS sells 24 variations of torte cake, with sumptuous fillings of chocolate mousse, strawberry Bavarian cream and fancy liqueur flavors. According to Miller, there are many definitions of the term torte cake. Generally the cake is rich and multi-layered and may contain large quantities of nuts and eggs. At Elite Sweets, a torte cake is made with yellow or chocolate chiffon cake, split and layered four times with a variety of creams and fresh fruits.

Each tier of a wedding cake may be different.

"A chiffon cake has egg whites whipped into it," explained Miller. "It's higher, more airy. It's a moist, very light cake. It's more time-con-suming to make chiffon, but it's a better product."

Miller's flair for fine desserts blossomed when he enrolled in Rich-

"WEDDING CAKE is very architectural," Paulina said.

All three of the major styles of cake design are antique English from the 1800s, according to Paulina. The Lambeth, or English, method is known for fine strings of frosting layered into scrolls and other de-

The Australian method has a layer of rolled fondant frosting over the cake, garnished with loops or fringes of frosting, emblems, leaves and flowers. A third style is the South African, or Nirvana, which features an interior cake enclosed in a box of rigid frosting with cutout, windowlike arches. The shell, or box and decorations, can be removed and discarded, or saved.

Paulina will create any one of several flavors. He especially favors an English pound cake, which is light in texture with a rich, buttery taste. The cake is enhanced with fresh fruits and butter cream frosting.

While the decorations should be lovely, "The inside should be the most important," Paulina said. "It should taste good. The possibil-

THE FIRST wedding took place last May, when the Schaknes' daughter, Susan, married Allan Marion at the Somerset Inn in Troy. The white cake, with raspberry filling, was frosted with lattices, strings of icing and delicate flowers which some people mistook for porcelain.

We tried to make the cake a focal point," Schakne said. "People were n awe. And it was delicious."

Six months later, in November, Susan's sister Robin married Dr. Lawrence Lash in a ceremony at Congregation Shaarey Zedek in Southfield. This time, Paulina prepared the cake according to kosher dietary requirements in the kitchen at the synagogue.

The second cake was similar to the first, although the decorations reflected each bride's personal preferences. While Susan had a round cake, Robin chose oval shape.

"It's too pretty to cut," several people said, as they admired the cake.

"When I do a flower I haven't done before, I go to a florist and buy the flower and tear it apart," Paulina said. "There are times that I wonder if I need to be as realistic. But when they pick up the (icing) flower and smell it, I know it's worthwhile."

The Jacobson cake took from 80-100 hours to complete "because of the flowers," Paulina said.

He estimates a work period of one-half hour per guest. That time includes sketching the design, deciding the appropriate style and ingredients to be used and the laborious molding and tinting of flowers.

To ensure freshness, the cake is baked two days in advance. Then Paulina decorates the cake in "however many hours it takes me."

At the Paris Bakery, Miller learned about high production and time management. At Schoolcraft, he learned business techniques.

"And I learned never to say you can't," added Miller, who from the beginning was determined to start his own bakery.

Helping to promote sales is Mil-ler's partner, Rob Cortis of Farmington Hills, who owns a catering tiness and operates the New Grande Ballroom in Westland.

Elite Sweets is sparkling-clean and fragrant, with the aroma of pure vanilla, rich chocolate flavors and butter cream frosting wafting from the baking area. The shop employs seven people. Miller decorates the

THE LIGHT CHIFFON cakes are complemented with rich, thick mousse fillings, such as the subtle, feathery white chocolate or the intense, deep dark chocolate.

Miller is very particular about his ingredients. He imports large blocks of chocolate from Belgium to make his creamy chocolate mousse fillings. He purchases pureed orange and ground lemon flavoring from France, and his strawberry and raspberry fillings are made from

"Sure, it costs more, but it's worth it," Miller said. "You pay the price and get a superior product."

The various choices carry tanta-tizing names such as Batley's Irish Cream Torte, a chocolate chiffon cake split and layered with chocolate mouse infused with the popular Irish liqueur. "THIS IS NICE for a second wedding," Miller said. "It's elegant, yet different from the traditional wedding cake."

One bride recently ordered a yellow chiffon cake with multiple fillings. The bottom, 12-inch layer was filled with fresh strawberries. The middle, nine-inch tier was filled with white raspberry mousse, and the top, six-inch tier contained white chocolate mousse.

The cake was covered with ivorycolored cream frosting and embelblack lace.

thinks you should know the facts about exercise spas.

FACT 1: When it comes to visitors at Plymouth Fitness Studio, we are different from most exercise facilities. Your first visit is always FREE — No Coupons necessary — We don't believe in High Pressure Sales — you join because of desire — NOT INTIMIDATION!

FACT 2: Plymouth Fitness Studio Instructors and Staff excel in personal instruction. Once you join other facilities, they forget about your personal attention. At Plymouth Fitness Studio, we motivate you and follow you through your program to make sure you get the most out of it.

FACT 3: Plymouth Fitness Studio features aerobics on the newest concept in aerobic flooring. Aerobic exercise on tile or carpet is potentially harmful to joints and can cause shin splints. Plymouth Fitness Studio features the Sentinel Aerobic mat which gives you the ultimate comfort and cushions impact to avoid any injury.

FACT 4: Plymouth Fitness Studio sanitizes equipment and wet areas twice daily. All fitness facilities are not as clean and sanitary as you may assume. Plymouth Fitness Studio monitors our whirlpool PH 2 times daily. Water is also monitored 2 times a month by an Environmental Agency for your protection.

FACT 5: No limitations on memberships or hidden exclusions. Plymouth Fitness Studio is open 6 days for women only. Visits are unlimited and include full use of the facility and aerobics. No Limitations — No Exclusions.

FACT 6: Experience and Training make a difference. Other fitness facilities hire sales people to work as instructors. Plymouth Fitness Studio Instructors are certified in aerobics and CPR and have had specific training on all machines and free-weights.

One-on-one weight trainers are available.

FACT 7: Plymouth Fitness Studio also features extras. We offer CHILD CARE, THERAPEUTIC MASSAGE (by appointment) and YOGA CLASSES.

SHOULDER PAIN — WHERE YOU HURT AND WHAT IT MEANS

If you have shoulder pain, you may think treatment is a simple matter. You point to the pain and tell the doctor: "put a shot here." Just the opposite is true: the shoulder joint, the cause of the problem, hurts hardly at all, and muscles that pain the most are basically sound.

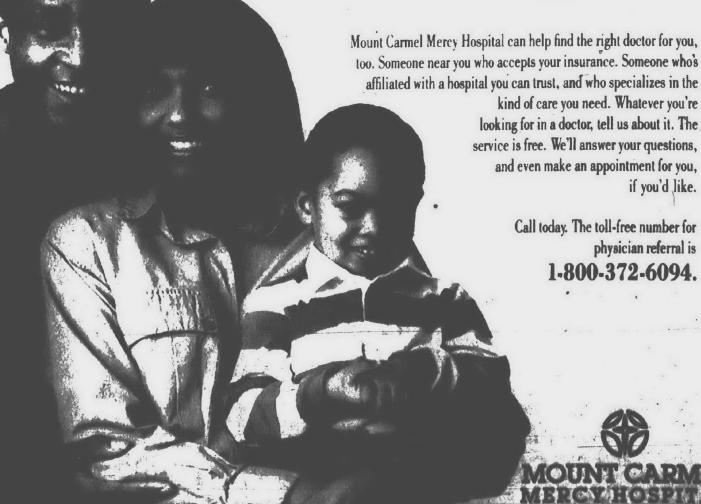

What is the explanation for this contradiction? Because the shoulder oint is inflammed, it will not move. To compensate, the muscles above and below the joint take on the added work of splinting the shoulder joint and moving the arm. The joint does not hurt because it is at rest; the muscles ache because they are working in ways not appropriate for their size and Pain that radiates up the neck and down the arm means that the trapezius (neck) and the deltoid (arm) muscles are trying to take over the movements the body reserves for the shoulder joint.

Such pain is not likely to resolve until therapy ignores the neck and arm discomfort and vigorously treats the impaired shoulder joint.

Plymouth's Carnes at home in Laval

By Larry O'Conno staff writer

In a season when Neil Carnes supposedly became a carpenter, things turned to sawdust.

Newspaper reports coming out of Montreal had the Plymouth native leaving hockey altogether to become a woodworker.

Certainly, there had to be some explanation of why Carnes left his junior team, the Verdun Junior Canadiens, in a huff and returned home for three weeks.

The carpenter story was fabrication, he said.

"I never did any carpenter work in my whole life," said Carnes, who's playing with the Laval Titans of the Quebec Major Junior Hockey League. "I don't know where they got that from.

"I heard that when I was home, and then I got a call from my friends in Montreal and they asked me about how I liked working as a carpenter."

THE PLAIN truth of the matter was that Carnes didn't want to play in Verdun for another season. The team was in last place, again. Tired of losing, he asked to be traded.

When management refused, went home for three weeks. Carnes returned to Verdun, where he eventually received his wish in February. The Canadiens traded him to Laval, which finished second in the QMJHL and is battling the Granby Bisons in the playoffs.

More than anything, Carnes is trying to put a nice finish on a season splintered by injury and blistered with unhappiness.

CARNES HAD surgery on his knee last June. He went to the United States National Junior camp in August but came back too soon.

He missed what would have been his first training camp with the Montreal Canadiens, who drafted Carnes in the third round of last year's National Hockey League amateur

The knee gave him more trouble during the World Junior Championships where the United States finished a respectable 3-3-1. Carnes had four goals and five assists in the

Then there was the three-week walkout and another arthroscopic probe in his knee.

WITH ALL that, Carnes has only played in 22 regular season games. He still scored 15 goals and added 27 assists for 42 points. The playoffs are a chance at redemption.

With Laval, Carnes has been granted, in his mind, a reprieve. He doesn't mince words about his disenchantment with the situation at Ver-

"In Verdun, there were only two players who were good," Carnes said. "All of the rest were average. In Laval, I'm still one of the top players, but there's a lot of players who make playing much easier. In Verdun, all the pressure is on you. They're counting on you to score the

"HERE, YOU give a guy the puck, you know you're going to get it back. In Verdun, I'm playing with some guys when you pass the puck you're not sure if you're going to see it from Verdun wasn't the first time Carnes was unhappy. In his rookie year of 1986-67 in the QMJHL, he returned home from Verdun after experiencing homesickness.

Carnes said leaving the scene this year hasn't caused him any difficulty with the Canadiens, although Verdun is owned and operated by the NHL club. While he was at home, Carnes said he received a letter from general manager Serge Savard asking him

THE AVERAGE person, though, might not have thought much of Carnes' decision to leave.

"They look at it both ways," he said. "One way was that I like to win and I was tired of losing. Some people look at it as me being a quitter

Rocks get overhaul for '89

staff writer

The standards by which teams are judged indicate John Gravlin should be filled with anxiety as he enters his sixth year as Plymouth Salem baseball coach.

The Rocks lost 17 seniors - a figure that includes all nine starters and the top four pitchers - to graduation after winning a district championship and posting a 21-9 record

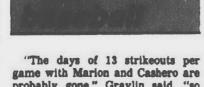

Picking up the pieces in the wake of such losses should be a dreadful chore, but Gravlin is enjoying the challenge even if it is an enormous

"I'm having the most fun I've had as a coach," he said. "I've thoroughly enjoyed putting together a team from point zero. I almost prefer to be the underdog."

Salem, a perennial contender in the Western Lakes Activities Association, could be in the running again, but the Rocks certainly won't appear as formidable as they did a year ago.

THE BIGGEST losses were allarea pitchers Todd Marion, who is playing for the University of Michigan and contributed as much at the plate as he did from the mound, and Fidell Cashero.

But the Rocks also will be minus Steve Woodard, Mike Stout, Brad Wright, Bob Files, Chris Michalek, Andy Gee, Matt Metikosh, Chris Adams, Howie Blanchard and John probably gone," Gravlin said, "so we'll have to be a team that plays defense and limits mistakes. If we can do that, by the end of the year we'll be a very good team."

Before anybody thinks of writing off the Rocks, it should be remembered the last time Salem was thought to be weak in 1985 it won the league title, according to Gravlin.

The Rocks have only one pitcher back with much varsity experience, that being senior Howie Blanchard, a right-hander who was a spot starter with a 2-1 record.

Rob Kowalski, a junior right-hander, had a 1-1 varsity record and beat the host and state-ranked Chemics in the Midland tournament last year. He was the best pitcher on the JV team, fashioning a 9-0 mark. Sopho-more right-hander Scott Rodgers is expected to be the No. 3 starter.

Borgess hires veteran coach as grid leader

By Brad Emons staff writer

The standard retirement age is 65, but for Walt Bazylewicz, life is just beginning.

One of the Catholic League's alltime winningest football coaches, Bazylewicz is back on the gridiron after 17 years. He was named last week as Redford Bishop Borgess's new head coach, succeeding Dan Henry, who went 13-14 during his three-year stint.

Borgess athletic director Mike Fusco, who interviewed eight different candidates among 20 applicants, said Bazylewicz's age wasn't a factor in the decision.

"Walt may be in his 60's, but he's going on 40," said the Borgess A.D. "We feel very fortunate to get someone of Walt's caliber. He's a Catholic League man and he has a tremendous background." Bazylewicz was the Catholic League director for 15 years before retiring in June of 1988.

His last job as a head coach was in 1972 at Redford St. Mary's in De-

"I DON'T FEEL like I've been out of football," said the new coach. "I don't think kids have changed. They'll always be like they've been. If you communicate with them, and get them to react and like the discipline, it's just like the 'old days."

Bazylewicz added, "only the philosophy, and teaching is different. "It's still going to be fun," he said. 'I'm getting back and doing something I like to do."

Bazylewicz is quick to point out that during his hiatus as a football coach, he scouted for professional teams, ran summer camps and winter coaching clinics. "It's no problem because I've been with football all along," said Bazy-lewicz, who has worked for BLES-TO, the scouting combine of the National Pootball League, as well as the NFL Pittsburgh Steelers, and the Baltimore and Philadelphia Stars of the USFL.

Bazylewicz, sporting an impressive career record of 154-39-5, ranks second (tied with Tony Versacci) only to Birmingham Brother Rice's Al Fracassa for Catholic League ti-

First-year principal Sister Joan Charnley then opened up the job again after elevating Fusco, the school's head basketball coach, to the athletic director's chair.

Bazylewicz, who applied for the job during the first go-around, was granted a second interview.

The decision may have come as a surprise, but "Basy," as his friends in the Catholic League call him, is raring to go.

"I've got my desk set, I've had a meeting with the kids and I've set up my fund-raisers," said the new coach. "I've already set my calender team two years ago.

"We look for him to be a leader offensively," Gravlin said. "He's a very intense young man, and I hope that rubs off on the other players. Leadership is what we've got to have from him."

The lone returning outfielder is senior Kevin Beals, who will start in left field: He played half the year on the JV and hit .444.

Gravlin compares junior Brian Rudolph, the likely starter in center field to former Salem all-stater Tim Dowd, who plays for Central Michigan University, in terms of his ability to run and catch the ball. Three weeks ago. Rudolph suffered a broken jaw when he fouled off an attempted bunt, but he should be in the starting lineup for the season opener Friday at Northville.

Either Rodgers, Mackowiec or first-year player J.P. LaRoche, an outstanding amateur hockey player, will start in right field. LaRoche ran track two years ago but didn't play a spring sport last year.

"He has great speed and looks good on the basepaths," said Gravlin, who is thinking of putting LaRoche in center and Rudolph in right. "He has played a lot of baseball, but we have to work out the kinks and rusti-

Salem seeks to reverse fortunes

By C.J. Risak staff writer

There is just one direction Plymouth Salem's girls golf team is interested in - up.

After two years at rock bottom, what else is there? The Rocks haven't won a dual match since 1987. But that's the bad news, and - they firmly believe — it's in the past.

"Last year, we had absolutely a new team," said coach Jim Stevens. "This year, we have some new players and some older players. It's a lit-tle more optimistic."

Stevens plays down Salem's con-secutive 0-for-14 seasons ("The challenge to me is to develop these young players"), but there's no doubting the past two campaigns are a heavy bur-

Of course, having goals is one thing; attaining them is another. The question is, can Salem win one this

"I hope so, for the kid's sake," answered Stevens.

Which brings us to the good news - the losing skid should, indeed, end. Four reasons why are Sarah Andrews, Jennifer Burtka, Elizabeth Knehl and Erika Suomela

All four played for Salem's varsity last year. Andrews is the team's only senior and is the team captain. Burt-

THOSE AREN'T the only reasons. Here are three more - Megan Andrews, Michelle Stuber and Natalie Joyce. Stuber and Joyce are sophomores, and Andrews, sister of the team captain, is a freshman. Each has potential, according to Stevens.

Now for the best reason of all why the losing streak will end: Jamie Cloar, a junior transfer from Livonia Ladywood. How big a difference can Cloar make? "As of right now, she's going to play No. 1," said Stevens.

During the semifinal eliminations, Joe Herbstreth came through with a sew game and carried five more strikes into the next game for an amazing run of 17 strikes in a row for a 279. He paced all scoring with a 746 series. The teams finished in the following order: University of Detroit-Jesuit, Warren Cousino, Warren Woods Tower, Warren Lincoln, Mount Clemens Chippewa Valley, Dearborn Edsel Ford, Parmington Harrison, St. Clair Shores South Lake, Sterling Heights, Oxford, Ann Arbor Gabriel Richard, Utica Ford, Warren De La Salle, Harper Woods Bishop Gallagher and Wayne

A total of 45 schools entered. The number of total participants equalled 254 with 239 being male and 15 female bowlers. The overall average for all bowlers in the entire

The event was organized by Harry Burkey and Mike Martus, both of whom worked hard to put it all together. Plans are now in the works for next year with a bigger and better format, more scholarship funding, and perhaps a state-wide level of participation. There will probably be separate divisions for boys and girls teams as well. There will probably be separate divisions for boys and girls teams as well. Let's face it. Buying a swimsuit isn't all that much fun. In fact, a recent survey by a national consulting firm found that buying a swimsuit ranked in the top five of the "most disliked" items to shop for.

The respondents were women be tween 25 and 50 years of age. Although the survey didn't ask why it's disliked, it's easy to conclude, considering all the hype surrounding Sports Illustrated's annual swimsuit issue.

Women with average bodies tend to feel self-conscious when they try on suits that seem only to flatter the ultra slim models with picture-perfect measurements.

Not to worry, say the designers of the itty bitty bikinis that have found their way back to the beaches after a couple of years of unpopularity.

Yes, the bikini is back! But — and it's a big but - the designers also know they have to sell to the masses and that includes those women with bodies that may not have yet visited local exercise clubs.

For Tamara Friedman, owner of Tamara Institute deBeaute in Farmington Hills, it's "never" when it; comes to a one-piece suit. She's saving those for "old age."

An accomplished cast, good music and fine photography, all compliment Oscar-winner David Ward's ("The Sting") screenplay. Ward directs his own script with a sharp sense of comedy. He wisely includes romantic sub-plots, personalizes the fans, and neatly summarizes an entire 162-game season with handful of exciting moments.

"Major League" makes many comic observations on the American sports scene. In particular, Indians sportscaster Harry Doyle (Bob Ueck-er, the former Milwanakee Brewers' announcer) and Wesley Snipes (Willie Mays Hayes), the guy who wasn't even invited to the loser's spring training yet he became a star. The Fleet Street British tabloid press is often portrayed as a lessthan-savory bunch of news hounds.

But when it comes to covering music, the Brits are the best. Three prominent magazines, Sounds, Melody Maker and New Musical Express, are usually at the forefront of any trends happening on the alternative

On top of that, music mavens can suppliment their fix with an abundance of "fanzines," publications that are devoted to certain bands or genres of rock'n'roll.

So, understandably, John Huston, Dave Segal and Michael Segal, were more than a bit giddy when New Musical Express recently carried a favorable item about their fanzine, You Can't Hide Your Love Forever.

"We're getting a lot of letters," said Michael Segal, 25, whose fanzine is published quarterly in Southfield. "Most of it is positive. A lot of people can't believe something like this is coming from a place like Michigan, liking the same music that

One glance at the cover, it's quite evident about the musical tastes the threesome cater to. Names like The Fall, Wedding Present, the Pixles and Throwing Muses scream out.

Inside, the 30-page publication is chock full of record reviews and insightful interviews with the likes of Mark E. Smith of The Fall and Bjork of the Sugarcubes.

WHAT SETS You Can't Hide Your Love Forever apart from most inksmeared and sophomoric faffines is that, simply, it's not. With obvious budget restraints, the publication is still well-designed and well-written.

That's no accident.

Dave Segal, 26, of Birmingham is a journalism graduate from Wayne State University; his brother has a graphic arts degree from WSU. Huston, 21, is an English major at the

More than that, though, all three share a common passion for the music they enjoy. It is music they certainly couldn't read about regularly, especially in bloated American music magazines such as Rolling Stone.

Using the British music press as an inspiration and with the financial support of Play It Again Records in Southfield, You Can't Hide Your Love Forever was launched in Janu-

"I think the British press has more enthusiasm and takes the music more seriously," said Huston, who lives in Southfield. "I think American critics are more jaded . . . I think some of them act as if the punk movement never existed."

But the readers of You Can't Hide Your Love Forever know different. Bands of the post-punk era are displayed predominently throughout the magazine.

At first, bands like the The Fall, Wedding Present and My Bloody Valentine dominated the coverage. But more and more American ies and Throwing Muses, are being featured.

UNLIKE SOME major American music magazines, You Can't Hide Your Love definitely has a focus.

Which is why people are writing from as far as the U.K. and calling from California to get a copy of the Many would be entrepreneurs might interpret such interest as a chance to make money. Yet Segal, Segal and Huston said they don't want to expand. They only want to make a better fanzine within the current format boundries.

There aren't even subscription offers for the fanzine. The publication is only sold by single issue (for $2.25) at record stores throughout the United States and Britain and by mail.

Staff members like it that way. For them, the fun is introducing new bands to people.

"There are a lot of good things about it," Dave Segal said. "There are some bad things about it. The bad thing about it is sometimes you'd rather be outside then inside writing about music."

But added Michael Segal, "When you find out someone else is into the band you like, there is a magic feel-

THE SKY AND THE GROUND — Pierce Turner

Pierce Turner's second solo release is an awkward piece of work. He is an Irishman who has made his home in the States and on this album he tries to come to terms with various personal and immigrant memories. As far as I know, before his solo career, his involvement with the music industry was about eight years ago in a band called the Major Thinkers who released a few inconsequential 12-inch records which were destined for the bargain bins. were destined for the bargain bins.

This album, "The Sky and the Ground" (Beggars Banquet/RCA), sees a shift in style from those dance redord days. He is now operating in a maye individual, idiosystemic style.
He collaborates in the song with his friend and producer of his first album, Philip Glass.
Through his lyrics, he true to paint a picture of certain memories of Ireland, or of situations he has witnessed in his new home of New York. His vocal style is somewhat reminiscent of Marianne Faithful but, unlike her, the quality of his voice is not strong enough to carry it

The awkwardness I referred to is that born of someone trying to be different to opposed to someone ac-tually being unique.

His vocals strain for a melody that cannot exist as he attempts to narrate his way through his ideas. The other awkwardness is his over-emphasis on his little accent. Its "stage-irishness" is as unaggerated and emharrassing as Fred Astairs in "Pintan's Ralinbow."

ORANGES AND LEMONS

- XTC

Nine albums and a dozen years after its inception, XTC is still re-ferred to as "new music."

"Oranges and Lemons," the band's latest release, is a thoroughly enjoyable piece of pop craftsmanship. It is an upbeat, optimistic follow-up to the brilliant dreariness of 1987's "Skylarking," which contained XTC's controversial American beautithmenth "Deep God."

XTC's controversial American breakthrough, "Dear God."

The two-record set, packaged in a wouderfully psychodelic cover, definitely contains more oranges than lemons. Andy Partridge's songwriting shines throughout and bassist Colin Moulding contributes three solid tunes, including the fine second single. The containing the fine second single. Another highlight is "Here Comes President Kill Again," a true piece of sarconin as only the British can cocced if. Partridge despribes a leader, "dressed in pounds, dollars and yen... taking lives with a smoking pes."

The toe-tapping single, "Mayor of Simpleton," is the tale of an unlearned miss woods his five. The toucher best, clearly cutchy lyrics

Perhaps It's more accurate to say that Goodly is back. Comedy came back in January, when it replaced golden cidies as the main attraction at the Lake Orion nightspot.

Geochy is the cerebral but naive persona created by Mike Cathers, a 1982 graduate of Rochester High School in his second year as a fulltime comic.

"Grenades" are what Geechy calls his jokes, "I tell 'em, and there's a little pause before people laugh," he explained. It's like in the movies, when somebody pulls the pin on a grenade. . . there's a delay. . . then

Geechy seemed a little skittish before his March 30 appearance. Jitters before a hometown crowd are to be expected. But this was a small crowd, about 10 people, including the

"I like more people," Geechy said. After a reminder that perhaps a few came out just for him, he smiled. 'it'll be a challenge."

IT'S NOT that Geechy is not a huge draw, said Sue Jette, manager of Rachal's Comedy Club. That's the entertainment side of the Lakeview, which was known as "Reflections," when disc jockeys the oldies but goo-

But the nightspot doesn't usually have live entertainment on Thursdays, so people aren't used to coming out, Jette explained. "Besides, Thursdays are just laid back. Nobody does anything," she said.

But a good opening act can get even a small crowd going. And comic Eric Head did just that with questions like "How come pit bulls don't have names like 'Fluffy'?" and observations about condoms as fashion

No, there are not Geechy twins. That's just a reflection of the one and only cerebral but naive jokester, the alter ego of comedian Mark Cathers, a graduate of Rochester High School.

Then Geechy ambled on stage with a blank expression and an aura of innocence and naivete. His 6-4, 170-pound frame, seemed confused

. . . maybe even lost. Then came the grenades.

First, a word about his roots. He had a good job before Rochester Hills incorporated, Geechy said, but he had to quit. "Who ever heard of a city Liles?" city idiot?

Then Geechy ventured a prediction. "I'm going to win the Psychic of the Year Award in 1992," he said.

In a moment of introspection, Geechy, a bachelor, confided to the audience that he was having prob-lems with his girlfriend. "I asked her what I could do to improve our love life." he said. "'Got any friends?' she The response from the audience reminded him of his love life, Geechy said. "Laughs in the bed-room and groans on stage."

LIVING THE fast lane life of a comic in San Francisco is what he's always wanted, Geechy said. But the cosmopolitan life has prompted him to ask some probing questions, he

"Why does it cost $500 to file bankruptcy?" he asked.

"How come the penalty for skipping achool is expulsion?" Geechy said. "And how come nobody works on Labor Day?"

The Geech said his travels also helped him find religion, or at least the Hible. "I really got into the Hible while I was at a motel," he said. "So I took it. I really liked it until I got to the part about Thou shalt not steal'.

Geechy wondered if the Christ Child missed out on much because his birthday was on Christmas. While he didn't consider himself to be overly religious, Geechy said, he did give up his New Year's resolu-tions for less. tions for lent.

Although he's single, Geechy said he does have a child, "at least until the parents pay the ransom."

Given the tough neighborhood he grew up in, that's not far-fetched, Geechy said. "Gun shops in our neighborhoods used to have Back to

Some had indeed come out just for Geechy. "I liked his insbesnee," said Jennifer Moore, who works in Rochester. A friend, Lynn McRobb, said she liked Geechy's naivete. Diane Kaiser, a Rochester residest who went to junior high school with Geechy, said she lifted his clean, offbast comes of her clean, offbeat sense of humor. "He's not like those guys who are filthy rather than funny," she said.

Asked what, if anything, would prompt him to give up comedy for a regular job, Geechy looked puzzled. "Maybe a radio job that paid $60,000 a year to do what I'm doing right

POR THE time being, however, Geechy doesn't have to worry about that, 'according to Jette, "That Thursday crowd was small, but we were almost packed on Friday and Saturday," she said, referring to the final shows of his three-day stand.

Saturday," she said, referring to the final shows of his three-day stand.

Geochy said altitough he makes a living, he's still looking for the big break that will put him in the category of a Steep Martin or get him on the Johany Carron Stow.

He expected his entreer to get a boost from his Priday appearance on the Showtime Councily Clab.

Fred Smith of Southfield had the best seat in the house for taking in all of the field at Tiger Stadium last week. There was only one problem for the avid baseball fan, no one was playing.

By Shirlee Rose iden staff writer

Big league baseball's just beginning to bloom like the dandelions we'll see next month, but for stalwart "society" members, baseball is never out of season.

Over pizza and beverages, members of the Society for American Baseball Research (SABR), the "Society" put their heads together every once in a while to find out what's going on in the world of baseball, past, present, and future.

Joe Hauser, 89, puffs on his cigar at a midnight meeting in Minneapolis, and holds folks spellbound telling how Ty Cobb, a tough Tiger once, tampered with his batting stance in 1928.

A born Detroiter who has no favorites but "loves' em all," Jerry Bucholtz can conjure up visions of the Tigers back to 1930. "I used to come to the ball park and help turn the stiles. My pay was entree to the game," Bucholtz recalled.

"I'd get off school at 1 p.m. and the games all started at 3:30 so I'd take the streetcar and get down there every time I could."

Bucholtz played in sandlot baseball, but like other "SABR rattlers," he counts himself as "strictly a baseball fan," and loves the history, the mystery, and the trivia of it all.

FRED SMITH, Southfield's baseball trivia writer and a former employee of the Detroit Baseball Club, remembers the same kind of sandlot or amateur baseball the Bucholtz does. "It was something. In those days those you could go to Northwestern Field to see a game and find there wasn't an empty seat in the place."

Smith, who can tell you without swallowing what oldtime Tiger executed an unassisted triple play (Johnny Neun, 1927) or how many Tigers got over 3,000 hits in their careers (12 did with Ty Cobb getting 4,191 and Al Kaline hitting 3,007) has a special interest in the Detroit Chapter of SABR.

"It was formed 17 years ago and it's named after me," said smith. (This time he had to swallow.)

"SABR,"he said, has about 50 members in the metro area, but nearly 10,000 nationally." The pre-1989 preseason opener meeting took place at Tiger Hall, 1401 Michigan on the last day of March and Smith was in his element. Tell a SABR member like Smith, you became a Tiger fan-atic in 1940 and he'll challenge with: "Who was on second?" (Barney McCoskey).

Smith has been a Tiger fan virtually all his life. A Detroit native, he says the first game he ever attended was on May 20, 1927.

"A guy named Lindberg landed a plane in Paris and they came around the park with megaphones and announced it," he explained. "They didn't have a public address system then."

FOR MORE THANtwo decades, Smith earned a living selling insurance for AAA, 12 years of them in Lathrup Village. When he quit, it was to go to work for the Tigers as a group ticket salesman.

Poor eyesight had precluded a professional baseball career for Smith, so he became, instead, a professional booster.

His first baseball book was written with Ernie Harwell, Tiger commentator, and titled "Tiger Trivia: a treasury of Tiger Lore."

His latest publication is "Tiger Tales and Trivia."

look at the Tigers and it was love at first sight."

Ruland sees more baseball in Lakeland than at Tiger Stadium in recent years and feels he's in his element with SABR members. They always appreciate the story of how Ernie Harwell calls Ruland's wife, Marge, "the bravest lady" because she grew up in Brooklyn as a

GARY DUNSTON started college in 1959, yet didn't go to his firs baseball card show until 1970. The young man from Otisville, Mich. became a SABR member when his brother gave him his membership last year for Christmas.

"There's something about thegame, the way it has stayed the same, the stats, and how you can compare one generation to another that makes baseball appealing. I can remember chasing Rocky Colovito for an autograph (he got it)." Dunston said.

autograph (he got it)," Dunston said.

From the outfield, another SABR, and another point of view comes from Jim Northrop, manufacturer's rep of Waterford, an 10 year member of Tiger teams. "I'm still in baseball," he said, "will do color for the Tiger games on PASS this season."

Northrop put off getting his degree to play professional baseball, but when he hung up his glove, he earned an undergraduate degree, satisfying, but not the medical degree that had first been his goal.

"These people (SABR) are fanatics about the history and trivia of the game," said Northrop. "I love being with them."

A recent first-time grandfather, Northrop said though some see continuity and similarity in the game and players, he can't help but recall that his salary in his final years was in the $20-25,000 range. "If I were playing today, I'd be making about $1.7 million but not really earning it in my opinion.

"The 1960 Tigers earned as a total $980,000," he said.
"Today's managers make big money, but not coaches, it's a shame."

Ask any SABR member and they'll tell you when the Detroit Tigers joined the National League back in 1881, team members were paid from $1,100 to $1,400 a year.

So, what's it all about, SABR? It's about the dreamy look in a guy's eyes when he goes back in memory to recall a batting average, an earned run average, or a home run total. It's about hot dogs, pizza (?), peanuts, ice cream and icy cokes.

And it's about the study of baseball as an institution, establishing an historical account of the game, the sharing of research information, and the stimulation of interest in baseball and keeping its history secure cooperatively.

For SABRE members, love of baseball heeps the dream alive for these wide-eyed dreamers, part hero worshippers, and part sports historians whose fountain of youth is found on a baseball diamend.

Fashion model Constantina also favors a black one-piece suit by Norma Kamali that's high cut at the thighs, accented with bows on each side, and "very low in the front."

"I JUST wear it for looks because I've never subbathed in my life," she added.

Pamel Swift, fashion designer and partner in Strictly Swift Fashion Manufacturing, wears a bikini, but is opposed to swimsuits.

"I think swimming and sunbathing in the nude makes more sense," she said. "But, of course, you can't do that publicly, so in that case, my favorite is a two-piece white bikini that is very skimpy."

She also likes fringe and glitter, adding that the suit "should look good" even though it doesn't have to be practical. "It shouldn't get wet," she said.

Her partner, Anne Strickstein, likes a two-piece black suit by Got-

"The material is great and the style is fatulous," she said. "I particularly like a strapless top. Black with gold or silver trim is what I really like."

Their favorite suits may not necessarily be what the designers have in mind this season, although, generally speaking, the basic swimsuit styles never really go out of style.

"One-piece suits are still very much in," said Roelyn Rock, owner of Roslyn's Intimate Apparel in Southfield. "The big story seems to be brights — colors like yellow and bet wight are charges."

Creative Living

Q: My husband lives in perpetual disor-der. His car is a mess, his desk is overflowing, the garage is piled high, and there's a constant "nest" around his side of the bed. Regardless of whether I clean up after him or how long I ignore his trail, it doesn't seem to matter. He leaves for work at a different time each day; there seems to be no rhythm to his life. This, of course, affects our life, our children and our home.

A: The majority of functionally disorganized adults continue this destructive lifestyle because of psychological problems in-curred during childhood. These people are living out a guilty rebellion — usually against a parent, even though the parent may be long dead.

It may have begun when his parents said, "Johnny, clean up your room," and Johnny inwardly replied, "You can't make me." Johnny may have been a "good boy" — that is, not openly rebelling with drugs, alcohol or vandalism - but, since almost every teen will rebel in some way, this is the method he chose

Johnny perceived his parents' admonitions as an invasion of his territory and an attack on his identity and autonomy. Although the "attack" may have been imagi-nary, he correctly sensed his parents' need to control. That's when defiance set in. Johnny proceeded to live chaotically in the mistaken belief that order equals "being controlled" and disorder equals "freedom."

Another aspect of this lifestyle is being "busy, busy," wherein Johnny is frantically active, taking on more than he can possibly achieve and providing himself with "excuses" for not cleaning up. A Catch 22 results with the inability to change, yet sub-consciously believing, "I must be bad." In the meantime he continues to sabotage his own life and those around him.

The chronically disorganized person must understand it is not "cute" to be messy. It's neither clever nor endearing to "get away" with being chaotic - or to expect someone else to clean up. Show this article to your husband, but don't expect a quick change. With time; however, he may begin to understand the problem and improve some of his

Q: Our board is having a problem interpreting the rights of the adjacent landowner for an easement over our roads. The adjacent landowner wants to construct a private hospital. We are deeply concerned about his rights to go over our roads and come into our subdivision at various locations. We have talked to the developer but he says, "You'll find us in court." What can we do?

A: The first thing your homeowner's association should do is contact legal counsel to review the purported easement, which gives the neighboring developer the supposed right to use your roadways and/or to cut into your subdivision.

The attorney should examine the purported intent of the easement and whether it gives the neighboring developer the rights he claims that he has. Sometimes developers win by intimidation, particularly over a homeowner association that is underfunded. The homeowner association should determine whether, in fact, it has any legal rights against the developer, and whether it has the right to raise money by way of assess-ments in order to meet the developer head-

Also check to see whether the developer has gotten the proper permits and/or approvals from the local municipality and whether the members of your subdivision are adequately notified of the purported subdivision or the purported building plans of the developer.

There may be ways to stop the developer in his tracks short of litigation and you are well advised to get a determination of all of your legal rights.

Kitchen and bath Elegant versions of intimate spaces

OW ARE we spending our remodeling dollars on the kitchen and bathroom? Here's a roundup of the newest designs and products.

Yellow kitchens and pink bathrooms are out, and white is in. If you can't live with white, accent with a primary color. Otherwise it's pale gray (teamed with black, peach or jade) or al-

Kitchen designs are big and look more like work centers and family rooms than past de-

European high-tech ideas are the strongest new look, and Wilsonart has perfected its faux marble and granite laminate counters to include factory-built decorative counter edges, which previously were constructed by the installer, says Wilsonart representative Ron Wood. The benefit, he continues, is speed and price.

THE COUNTRY LOOK is still available, but for the '90s it's more sophisticated, with elegant dark cherry woods or bleached oak and pine topped with contemporary countertops and Eurostyle faucets and hardware.

The L-shape kitchen is still a popular floor plan, but look for islands to contain extra sinks and work space, as well as eating areas. Televisions, phones, microwaves, computers and popcorn poppers are now built-in under the ton cabinets, allowing a maximum of counter space.

A third generation to those old white Corningware stovetops, modern ranges are called cooktops and come with a newer, more heat-effective black glass top that can be installed over almost any counter.

The buzzwords for the cooktops of the '90s are induction, downdraft, solid disk and quartz halo-

Induction cooktops use magnetic waves instead of conventional heat, and the pot gets hot but not the counter. The catch is that you must use iron or steel pots.

DOWN-DRAFT REFERS to the exhaust system that eliminates the need for an overhead

The solid disk cooking system is a European idea with American emphasis on easy-cleaning appliances. The disks are sealed to the glass surface, and automatic sensors control cooking temperature. The system uses any kind of cookware and has the advantages, and the disadvantages, of cast-iron cooking.

And quartz halogen, the wonder stove of the year, uses neonlike tubes that generate a very intense, red-hot light (the burner actually glows red) that cooks the food as fast and easily as gas without the mess of a traditional gas stove.

Among the higher profile cooktop manufacturers are Amana, which calls its entry for the 90s InstaGlow. The cooktop features a cooking system with a black glass top over three star-shaped heating elements that have instant-response coils and one quartz halogen heating element designed to give rapid heat. Benefits are easy cleanup, quick heating and use of any cook-

General Electric, which calls its line Monogram, offers several styles of cooktops, including gas, electric heat, solid disks, induction cooking and the down-draft cooking systems.

EUROPEAN MODELS include the British Solarspeed Ceramic Cooktop. It has two halogen elements and a solid plate electric cooktop with a fine porcelain finish over two sealed elements, one temperature-sensing element and three fastcooking elements.

The West German company Miele offers stainless-steel cooktops with solid disk heating systems, ceramic cooktops covering automatic cooking zones and highspeed zones for a variety of cookware sizes.

MIELE'S GOURMET Combiset System integrates electric, gas and ceramic top units plus a grill built over a water bath to remove all cooking odors and provide a rising steam to keep meat tender.

For the rest of the kitchen appliances, the key word is invisible. Most are built-in and covered with wood (either bleached oak or European lacquer) or a sheet of black glass, but they usually blend in with the decor.

Details to look for in refrigerators include night-lights, water and ice dispensers and doors with pullout shelves that make it easy to pull out meat and vegetable drawers for cleaning.

Dishwashers have been updated and have shelves that can be moved to accommodate large pots and pans, but the star is by Miele, which features three tiers instead of the usual two, with a tray for flatware on the top.

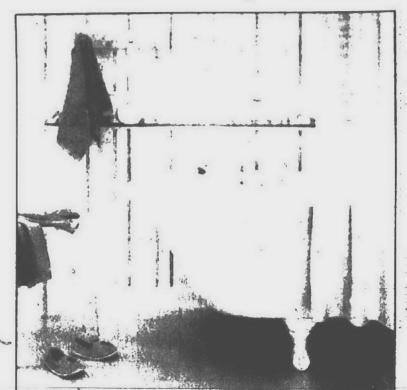

OVENS TEND TO be conventional, convectional and microwave, and General Electric combines all three for the serious chef.

You'll still see white procelain and stainlesssteel sinks in the kitchen, but companies such as Corian by DuPont are designing drop-in sinks that look like they and the counters are one unit (without the standard metal rim or tile grouting around the sink).

It's very tactile. People want to touch it, explains Jim Bechtold, a Corian spokesman, who adds that he marble-looking material, invisible seams and inlay designs created by injecting liquid Corian into solid Corian are part of the new international look Americans are favoring in the kitchen, as well as the bathroom.

Also showing European flair are sinks with a beveled drain board on one side (for drying one's imported crystal) and Corian counters with built-in lights along its edges. This company now offers customers matching faucets in gold trimmed with Corian by Pacific Faucet and matching switch plates for kitch bathrooms.

In the past five years, gold (actually brassplated) faucets were the rage, but now it's a futuristic white or red faucet that's running hot

For a children's bathroom, use bright colors and an old-fashioned bathtub. And what could be more appropriate than a bright yellow rubber ducky theme?

One of the trendsetters in this category is a $400 model by KWC of Switzerland that features a single-lever faucet with anti-scald temperature restrictors, built-in noise reducers, a popup, pullout two-flow function hand sprayer and a drip-free design that's guaranteed for 20 years.

ANOTHER EUROPEAN company, Hansgrobe, makes its sleek faucets in red, white, yellow, black and chrome with similar features. Pop-up hand sprayers and single-lever styles are standard equipment, and they feature color-matched hoses that don't twist because of a ball-bearing design. Shower heads are self-cleaning with a variety of jet sprays available. For those who still like separate hot-and-cold water faucets in gold or chrome, you'll find them, but instead of decorative fish and swans, the look is short, square and squatty faucet handles with a no-nonsense attitude.

The bathroom is either streamlined in the European manner or lavish and decadent in the European manner. Take your pick.

Go for a spar-and-square-shape toilet that flushes with the touch of a button on the top, a sensuous black with gold-fleck design that matches the tub, sink and bidet. Or turn your powder room into a French court with gilt and baroque designs, assured that early Americana bathrooms (and kitchens) are passe.

The country look is still available, but for the '90s it's more sophisticated, with elegant dark cherry woods or bleached oak and pine topped with contemporary countertops and Eurostyle faucets and hardware.

and sun should be a boon to builders and backyard do-it-yourselfers this season. The product is Wolmanized EXTRA Weather-Resistant Lum-

The new product has been pressure-treated with a water repellant to resist warping and cracking caused by the absorption and release of moisture. Like regular Wolmanized pressuretreated wood, Wolmanized EXTRA also resists fungal rot and termites.

Tests which simulated two to three years of exposure to weather have demonstrated that Wolmanized EXTRA lumber shows almost twothirds more moisture resistance than pressuretreated lumber protected with a leading water sealer. Even after 10 years' simulated exposure, Wolmanized EXTRA lumber showed almost 40 percent less water absorption than lumber protected with surface sealer.

Area Church's Lumber Yards stores are one of the outlets for the new product.
