School hears both sides of millage issue

Pros, cons and cuts explained

By M.B. Dillon
staff writer

Government students and teachers at Plymouth Canton and Salem high schools heard last week from supporters and opponents of the millage proposals to appear on the ballot June 12.

Voters in the Plymouth-Canton school district will be asked to renew 8 mills, and to approve 4 mills for two years.

School board members Roland Thomas and Dean Swartzwelter explained why the millage is needed, and talked about the $3.1 million in cuts that will be necessary if the millages fail.

Diane Daskalakis, chairwoman of Citizens for Better Education and a former school board candidate, outlined for students the reasons her organization is opposing both millages. CBE is a community group of 2,600 Christian conservatives that objects to the showing of R-rated movies and the use of other teaching materials.

STUDENT REACTION to Thomas and Swartzwelter was generally positive.

Salem sophomore Matt Klepack attended Thomas' talk. "I liked him. I thought he was nice. He wasn't trying to threaten us," said Klepack.

Daskalakis spoke to four consecutive classes, each one filled to capacity. During second hour, she walked out after students became upset with Daskalakis for not answering a question from student Natalie Franks.

Without being called on, students asked Daskalakis to respond. Daskalakis said, "I don't have to put up with this," and walked out. She returned after a few moments, but left the room again when students resumed questioning, this time for the remainder of the hour.

School board member Barbara Graham, supported in the last election by CBE, fielded questions for the rest of the hour.

"If you're going to attack, draw back and think of the other side," said Graham. "Money doesn't always equate to a better school system." Graham recalled a Detroit millage election that succeeded, but netted no new programs or textbooks because a "teachers' contract ate up every penny."

CANTON SENIOR Chris Symanns wrote Daskalakis a letter and left it on the podium for her.

"She was telling us about what is wrong with our teachers, but she has no interest in what we have to say about her views," said Symanns.

"I wish she would have taken time to hear our views when we listened to her for two hours."

Symanns said he and Daskalakis clashed once before.

"My sophomore year, she was here to speak on censorship. I was removed from the room by her after I said that the job of a school is to teach many different viewpoints, right or wrong. She said that was an obnoxious question."

Canton senior Brian Lindman said he disagreed with Daskalakis' views. "We feel basically that as students, we're being denied our education and having money taken away from us on the basis of revenge, just because she didn't get the response she wanted from the board."

Company, residents OK 'good neighbor' plan

Related story, 2A

By Doug Funke
staff writer

A manufacturer of jet engine parts in Plymouth Township and residential neighbors to its immediate east have agreed on a plan to deal with noise and odors coming from the plant.

Robert Zaetta, president of the Arbor Village Homeowners Association, said he was "pessimistically optimistic" that an agreement reached with Howmet Corp. the past several months will hold up over time.

Ron Hitzel, manager of the plant on Ann Arbor Road, told Zaetta and the township board last week that his company plans to be a good neighbor.

"We will continue to try to do better," Hitzel said. "When you hear something, we want to know about it so we can take care of it."

Projected timetables to deal with such problems as clanking metal parts at the loading dock, noise from delivery trucks, humming noises from inside the plant and noxious odors ranged from a week to several months.

HOWMET HAS come under fire from its residential neighbors a couple of times over the years, most recently last December.

Homeowners cast doubts on the validity of a noise study conducted there. The residents also presented a petition asking the township to intercede on their behalf with Howmet.

Several meetings between representatives of the association and the company prompted by James Anulewicz, township planning director, resulted in a written action plan on specific problems and a pledge to work together in the future.

"I think we've established some communications channels. They will meet on a permanent basis," Anulewicz said. "Howmet has committed to the agreement on the public record."

ZAETTA SAID he's concerned about recourse should Howmet fail to follow through.

"This is the third time we're fighting this battle," Zaetta said. "We've had commitments from Howmet before."

"My belief is we have a gentleman's agreement to solve problems," Hitzel said. "I'm looking at this to be an on-going commitment on our part and your part."

"The difference, I think, is you're not going to make a phone call in the middle of the night and some one will tell you to go to hell," Hitzel said.

Trustee John Stewart said, "Sitting down and getting a cooperative, positive effort is going to be 80 percent of the remedy."

Zaetta said in conclusion, "As far as I'm concerned the proof of the pudding is in the eating."

The residential subdivision was constructed before Howmet, but the land on which Howmet was built was designated for industrial use before many houses were completed, Anulewicz said.

Observer's price jumps

For the first time since 1976 we are raising the newsstand price of our newspapers. As everyone knows, all prices have increased dramatically since 1976.

Since our last price increase many improvements have been made in the content and quality of The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers.

New sections such as Taste, Street Scene and Monthly Album have been added and Creative Living has been expanded. We have focused our news coverage on the communities we serve. Our classified advertising sections are the largest available in the suburbs. We are the only real source of local news and advertising in the communities we serve.

This price increase will help us continue to grow and improve the quality of The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers for our readers and advertisers.

Pact approved for dispatchers

Plymouth Township has reached an initial collective bargaining agreement with its dispatchers represented by the Police Officers Association of Michigan.

All 13 operators up to now had signed personal services contracts when hired and were classified as part-time employees.

The highest paid dispatcher prior to negotiation of the contract was paid at a rate of $6.25 per hour, said Catherine Broadbent, human resources analyst for the township.

The contract calls for establishing four full-time dispatching positions and supplementing those with as many part-timers as necessary.

The full-timers will be paid at a rate of $9.25 per hour retroactive to April 27, $9.75 per hour effective April 27, 1990, Broadbent said.

Full-time dispatchers also will receive medical benefits and vacation and sick leave.

Part-timers will earn $6.50-$7.50 per hour retroactive to April 27 based on hours worked, $6.75-$7.75 hourly effective April 27, 1990, she said.

Part-timers will receive no benefits.

Applicants for the full-time positions must have at least 2,000 hours of experience.

The contract calls for establishing four full-time dispatching positions and supplementing those with as many part-timers as necessary.

The two-year pact, signed by both sides, expires April 26, 1991.

Dispatchers in other area police departments earn $23,000-$25,000 annually, said Gerald Radovic, a business agent for the union. However, he called the initial contract with the township a good base from which to begin future negotiations.

Dispatchers were first hired when the township established its police department in June 1985.

Negotiations are continuing between the township and firefighters, Broadbent said. That pact expired in March, but work continues under terms of the agreement.

Labor agreements with police officers and public works employees expire in December.

Candlelight vigil

Approximately 70 students listened to speakers and music Friday as the Plymouth Salem High School chapter of Amnesty International held its candlelight vigil in Kellogg Park. The group was trying to focus attention on human rights violations in the world. Testimonials from prisoners helped by Amnesty International were read, and political conditions in South Africa were discussed.

CEP hears both side of millage issue

Canton senior Danielle Walquist is starting an organization to promote the millage, student rights and economic freedom.

Walquist takes exception to what Daskalakis is doing.

"Each person has a right to their own opinion. I don't mind her opinion as much as the fact that she is trying to force them on us. We have to deal with her spiteful revenge against administration, which I don't think students deserve.

"If the millage doesn't pass, there will be $3 million in cutbacks. She said one good thing about our schools is that we have many choices. If the millage doesn't pass, our choices will just about be eliminated," she said.

LIBRARIAN MARGIE Ledzick said that while students and staff may not have liked her message, "it was good to let Daskalakis come in."

"If it is really true that the board hasn't had a meeting with her ... if in fact she is not getting response from central administration, then she does have a right to be hostile. If this comes down to a communication problem after four years — my God."

Canton senior Mike Kelly said, "She's hurting our education. We'll have a harder and harder time getting into college if we're not getting the education we're supposed to get."

Kelly said he is concerned about his "brothers and sisters in lower grades. I have a sister in special ed. How is she going to learn properly? Special ed is one of the areas they will have to cut if the millage doesn't pass."

Canton senior Holly Ciofani said, "If we don't learn about homosexuality, sex in general, drugs and AIDS in high school, what are we going to do when we're out in the world?"

"I don't care if I'm impressionable. I'm old enough to learn about it. If I learn about it, I'll know what to do when someone throws some needles at me," said Ciofani.

After fourth hour, Daskalakis said, "I feel like I've been through the ringer. It's apparent the teachers have been sharing viewpoints with the students. The millage obviously has been spotted about at great length. The kids are convinced the district will be destroyed without the millage. I'm confident there will be no destruction without the increase."

Township may update noise ordinance

Plymouth Township board members made a little noise last week about the possibility of updating its noise ordinance which a consultant has determined is technologically outdated.

Trustee John Stewart wanted township lawyers to go over several noise ordinances enacted by other communities — all college towns in Michigan — and select the best parts of each for a noise ordinance suited to Plymouth.

Other board members, questioning whether there is a noise problem here other than at Howmet Corp. and occasionally at Spartan Warehouse, wondered about the wisdom of spending a lot of time on the issue.

In the end, the attorney was asked to compile a list of all existing local disorderly conduct, land use, traffic and animal control laws having to do with noise.

"If we have a problem, let's address the problem," said trustee Abe Munfakh. "I don't think we can continue to pass ordinances just to pass ordinances."

Trustee Ron Griffith read a section of one ordinance submitted by Stewart pertaining to bird noises.

"These can get ridiculous," he said. "I hope we can keep any ordinance to the point."

Police chief Carl Berry said there already are laws on the books — separate from a noise ordinance with specific decibel levels — to deal with complaints like loud parties and barking dogs.

"I think we need to get our heads out of the sand," Stewart said of the need for a general noise ordinance. "This is no longer a rural, isolated community."

"With the industrialization of Plymouth Township, I think we're going to have to watch ourselves," Stewart said. "In the last election that's all people talked about — control of growth and industrial development."

Wilcox says he'll develop property

Jack Wilcox, owner of a historic house overlooking Kellogg Park in downtown Plymouth, will develop his property with the Marcello and Silvio Building Co.

One of those principals, Marcello Scappaticci, has built several projects in Plymouth Township including the Plymouth Office Park, Plymouth Atrium Center and the Italian Cucina restaurant, all on Ann Arbor Road.

Wilcox declined comment on what is planned for the 3½-acre site. "We're very flexible at this time," he said.

Scappaticci was unavailable for comment.

Wilcox's lawyer, Michael W. Maddin, indicated in a letter to the Observer that the property would be developed for residential use. Restoration of the house is part of the plan, the letter indicated.

Maddin didn't elaborate and couldn't be reached Friday for further comment.

Officials in the city planning department said Friday that no one has filed any paperwork or requested any city action regarding the property.

However, workers were cutting trees on the parcel at Penniman and Union late last week.

"I'm very pleased with Mr. Scappaticci and his brother (Silvio)," Wilcox said. "I hope Plymouth will get to appreciate him as much as I do and the community in which he works does."

Wilcox was part of a partnership which received city approval to build a six-story, 46-unit condominium on his property in 1986. The units were projected to sell at between $161,000 and $250,000.

Marketing and financing problems arose and the project never got off the ground. A legal dispute then developed among the partners which tied up the property until November 1988, Wilcox said.

Wilcox and the Scappaticcis will have to start over getting city approvals for any project before building.

Caring...

We feel very lucky to be critical care nurses here at Catherine McAuley Health Center. We are encouraged to take leadership positions in moving the nursing profession forward. While others are only talking about the new directions of nursing's future, we are actively planning, implementing and evaluating ideas such as shared governance, primary nursing and case management.

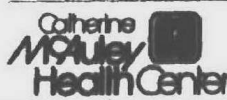

Our units provide progressive, highly technical and holistic medical and nursing care, requiring us to be educated, confident and assertive. We are encouraged to collaborate not only with physicians, but also with our patients and their families to formulate unique, individualized plans of care. There is a strong sense of cooperation and camaraderie here.

Without a doubt, our patients and their families are the most important reason we're here. We are fortunate to have a nursing administrator who encourages us to take a stand and get involved in the new directions which ultimately will increase our job satisfaction and enhance the care our patients receive. Once again, nursing is exciting!

Show brings out variety of talents

Sharon Belobraidich, talent chairwoman for the Follies, tells participants how rewarding they'll find it to perform on stage. Belobraidich, a teacher at Hoben Elementary School in Canton, has been involved in a number of previous Follies productions.

By Julie Brown
staff writer

Talent isn't required for performers in the "Spice of Life Follies."

The variety show gives people from all walks of life a chance to perform for friends, families and neighbors.

"We have some people who are very talented," said Sharon Belobraidich of Plymouth, talent chairwoman for the Follies. "We have a lot of people who have a little talent."

Some participants don't have much artistic talent at all, but still contribute to the show's success.

"And they look good," Belobraidich said.

Performers are hard at work, rehearsing for the 1989 Follies. Performances will be at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday, May 12-13, in the auditorium of Plymouth Salem High School, 46181 Joy, Canton.

The song-and-dance show, presented every other year, is sponsored by the Plymouth Community Arts Council.

Belobraidich, a first and second grade teacher at Hoben Elementary School in Canton, has been involved in each Follies performance since 1977. This year's show will be the seventh.

SHE ENJOYS working with friends and neighbors on the show. "I think it's the camaraderie. You make friendships here that last forever."

Belobraidich will most likely perform in this year's show "a little. You can't do all this work and not perform."

This is the third Follies performance Bill Baxter of Salem Township has been involved in. He's chairman for this year's show, which will feature the talents of some 100 to 125 performers.

Baxter will perform in the Follies if his presence is needed. He gave a memorable performance during the last show in October 1987.

"I don't have much talent, but I had a heck of a lot of fun," said Baxter, a salesman for Exotic Rubber and Plastics in Farmington who also raises black angus cattle in Salem Township.

Baxter has found the show is a great way to meet new friends. Friends Baxter has made have helped him and his wife, Mary, during her illness. Mary Baxter, a teacher at Plymouth Canton High School, is recovering from a stroke.

Proceeds from the Follies support the work of the Plymouth Community Arts Council. Participants enjoy knowing their work is supporting a good cause, Baxter said.

"It's going to be a variety show with music from Cole Porter." Music from the 1950s and 1960s will be featured as well.

"It's a variety show that we've never done before," Baxter said.

THE SHOW will include skits, dance performances by show girls, "some added surprises and some well-known celebrities from the Plymouth area. We hope to provide a classy show that the Plymouth community can be proud of."

Bill Dugan of Cargill Productions, director for the Follies, tells prospective participants about the rehearsal schedule they'll be expected to follow. The fund-raising event is presented every other year by the Plymouth Community Arts Council.

Planning for the Follies has been under way for about a year, Baxter said. Volunteers have been selling ads, putting together the program, and taking care of other essential behind-the-scenes tasks.

A full-costume dress rehearsal will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday, May 11, in the Salem auditorium. That performance will be for senior citizens.

"We'd like to see a big crowd Thursday night," Baxter said. Tickets for that performance, priced at $3, are available from Carol Donnelly at the Plymouth Cultural Center, 525 Farmer. Transportation will be provided for senior citizens that evening.

Ticket prices for the Friday and Saturday, May 12-13, performances are $8 general admission, $6 for the balcony, $5 for students and senior citizens. Tickets are available at Beitner Jewelry, 904 W. Van Arbor Trail in Plymouth. Tickets are also available at the Plymouth Community Arts Council office, 332 S. Main in Plymouth, from a.m. to noon Monday through Friday.

For more information, call 455-1260 during those hours. Tickets will be sold at the door on performance evenings.

THE PERFORMERS don't have much time to rehearse. The show director, Bill Dugan of Cargill Productions, arrived Monday, April 24. A "Meet the Director" night was held Tuesday, April 25, at Pioneer Middle School in Plymouth Township, with rehearsals starting the next day.

Cargill Productions of New York City provides the director, music and costumes. Performers have about 2½ weeks to rehearse. "Sometimes, it's really tough and go," Dugan said. A show he directed in Corvallis, Ore., wasn't going well up until the dress rehearsal.

"And then they really came through like gangbusters."

Dugan hasn't done a show in Plymouth in the past, but has done shows in recent years in Grosse Pointe and Battle Creek.

"I want the show to look good," he said. He'll put a great deal of effort into seeing that the choreography and staging are just right.

Working with amateur performers doesn't mean the show can't be a polished production.

"Usually there's a lot of eagerness, enthusiasm," Dugan said. "People who do this kind of thing tend to be very special people. The only reward you have really is working harder."

1 arrested, stolen car recovered after chase

A 20-year-old Detroit man was apprehended but another man escaped after the two allegedly stole a car and led Plymouth police on a short chase that ended at the Highland Appliance headquarters on Sheldon Road.

The incident began about 3:30 a.m. Wednesday when a Karmada Street resident called police to say her car had just been stolen. A patrol officer spotted the automobile at Junction and Sheldon, and the car was driven across Sheldon into the Highland parking lot.

The driver crashed the car through a gate and stopped it in the rear of the lot, police said. Both men then fled on foot. The driver managed to scale a barbed wire fence, but the passenger was apprehended. The suspect had to be treated for an injured arm because he fell off a guard rail during the chase, police said.

Michigan State Police were called to search the area with a tracking dog but were unsuccessful.

The recovered car reportedly had damage to the front end, steering column and driver's side window.

WINDSHIELD SMASHED: An 18-

crime watch

year-old Plymouth man discovered his car's windshield was smashed and his hood and door damaged after he attended a movie at the Penn Theater Tuesday.

The victim told police he left his car on the top deck of the downtown parking structure about 9 p.m. and discovered the damage when he returned two hours later.

Police said a blunt instrument had been used to break the window and dent and scratch the body. Damage was estimated at $250 or more.

CAMERA STOLEN: A 53-year-old Pinetree Street woman told township police that someone removed a $355 camera from her car early last week. Police said the unlocked car was parked in the woman's driveway at the time.

DRUNK DRIVING ARRESTS: City and township police charged three men with driving under the influence of alcohol last week.

A 35-year-old Canton man was picked up early Tuesday by a Plymouth Township officer. Police said the man was stopped at N. Territorial and Beck at about 2:45 a.m.

In the city, a 33-year-old Westland man was stopped about 1:30 a.m. Wednesday at Plymouth and Haggerty roads because an officer saw the car swerving. Police said the man was also cited for driving with a suspended license.

A 62-year-old Livonia man was charged with driving under the influence about 8:30 p.m. Wednesday after city police pulled over his car on North Mill, south of Liberty.

These are just some of the incidents recently reported to or by Plymouth police. Phone 453-8800 or 9-1-1 to contact city police; 453-3869 to reach township police.

Park place

Work to shift movement on Fleet

Some merchants in downtown Plymouth may be inconvenienced during the next few weeks by construction to improve Fleet Street.

But shoppers and other visitors will reap one benefit — free parking in the nearby Central Parking Deck. Businesses bounded by Harvey, Penniman, Main and Ann Arbor Trail use Fleet, a circular street, for delivery services.

Fleet will be resurfaced, transformers will be screened and smaller trash compactors will be installed. A brick walkway also will be built around the road.

Work will be done in two phases to avoid totally disrupting delivery service or use of the parking deck.

Motorists who want to park there now should enter on Harvey and use the upper level, city officials said. The Ann Arbor Trail entrance is closed.

In about three weeks, the Ann Arbor Trail entrance will be open and Harvey closed.

Auto parts and building materials, items not generally picked up on trash day in Plymouth, will be hauled away this week only, May 1-5, as part of the city's annual spring clean-up, fix-up effort.

"We'll go right behind the residential sanitation truck. What he doesn't pick up, we will," said Mark Ham-mar, assistant DPW director. Homeowners were reminded by Hammar that doors and lids on such items as freezers and refrigerators must be removed so that children won't be trapped inside.

The free parking isn't exactly a financial bonanza. A quarter normally will enable you to park all day in the upper level and get you three hours in the lower.

The work on Fleet is funded by a $200,000 bond issue financed by property tax revenues generated in the downtown development authority.

He was named Charlie Brown with the hope that he'll soon have a sibling that can be named Lucy or Linus to share his childhood with.

But Charlie's childhood won't be that long. As with other baby raccoons, it can't be. "They have to grow fast or they'll be eaten," Farmington Hills resident Beverly Cornell said.

Charlie was born two weeks ago today. As of Thursday, he weighed a grand total of eight ounces.

"He landed in someone's fireplace in Livonia," Cornell said of the infant who came into her care when he was three days old.

Charlie lost his mother and siblings when he fell down the chimney of the fireplace in which his mother was nesting with her newborns. The Livonia residents called Critter Control. But by then, the mother and her other babies had left.

Charlie was given to the state Department of Natural Resources, which called Cornell, licensed by the agency to care for wild orphaned animals until they are either old enough or well enough to be returned to the wild.

CHARLIE'S EYES are still closed and will remain so for perhaps another 1 1/2-weeks or so. His tiny ears are just beginning to unfold. At first, Cornell fed Charlie with a syringe, giving him a puppy supplement and vitamins one drop at a time every 4 minutes. "Every day, he can go a half-hour longer (before feeding)," Cornell said.

There's no leaving Charlie on his own. Because he has to be fed so often, now with a pet nurse bottle, the baby raccoon accompanies Cornell just about everywhere she goes, whether to a bridge game or to dinner with friends.

Charlie lives in an aquarium warmed with lights, similar to an incubator. Cornell made him a little sleeping bag, complete with a thermal baby blanket, which Charlie has fallen in love with. "He sucks on his blanket to go to sleep," Cornell said.

His bedroom also is complete with a stuffed animal and clock, reminding him of his mother's heartbeat. When he's a bit older and his eyes are open, Cornell will put in a cat litter box and start him on nibbles of dry dog and cat food. But Charlie will remain on the bottle for about two months.

With his eyes closed and his ears only beginning to open, Charlie is learning about his surroundings with the help of ever-moving nose. "It's interesting to watch his instincts react," she said.

Charlie already appears to know — through scent — who in the Cornell family is caring for him at any given moment.

AS CHARLIE grows, he will live in a new large cage, with toys and equipment to help teach him how to be a raccoon. He'll learn to climb on a cat scratching post. When he's old enough, Cornell will take him outside, where he'll learn to dig for worms and other important skills raccoons need to know to survive in the wild.

Ideally, Cornell would like to get another baby raccoon so Charlie learns how to interact and become a raccoon. "He's going to think he's a human or a dog," Cornell said.

While Charlie matures, Cornell is keeping a log, hoping one day to publish a book on caring for wild orphan animals. Charlie is not the first orphan Cornell and her family have adopted. Birds, squirrels and other baby raccoons have taken the same route Charlie is now taking.

"I try to do a lot of reading. I read any book I can get my hands on. But there's not a lot of information on wild orphan animals, so I'm learning a lot on my own," Cornell said.

When Charlie is about four or five months old, Cornell will take him to a friend's acreage and let him go. Former baby raccoons Jack and Jill, cared for and raised by Cornell and her family last year, now live there.

The raccoon pair was released to the wild last summer. The Cornells continued to visit Jack and Jill in the wild. The last time they saw the raccoons was in February, and the pair still came running when the Cornells called their names.

"I think we'll stay away for awhile, because we want them to really not to know us anymore," Cornell said.

Anti-smoking crusader to visit

If you'd like some help kicking the habit, you're in luck.

Dr. Arthur Weaver, widely recognized as metropolitan Detroit's leading anti-smoking crusader, is coming to Plymouth Canton High School.

Sessions are set for 7:30-9 p.m. May 1-5 and 8. Sessions will be in Rooms 243 and 247 at Canton High School on Canton Center and Joy roads.

Weaver has conducted more than 400 stop-smoking clinics in several states and in countries as distant as Pakistan and Taiwan. He is credited with helping 100,000 smokers to quit.

Weaver's numerous awards include Michigan Cancer Foundation Man of the Year.

Weaver originated the Better Living Seminars, which focus on nutrition, stress control and health and fitness programs.

Weaver is chief of the head and neck section of the surgical service of the Veterans Administration Medical Center in Allen Park. He is affiliated with Harper, Hutzler, Detroit General and Grace Northwest hospitals in Detroit. He is a professor of surgery at Wayne State University in Detroit.

Area's residents face off over abortion

By Wayne Peel
staff writer

John Yurko of Plymouth said he spent Saturday outside two abortion clinics to save children. "I'm here for the children," he said, carrying a brochure depicting photographs of aborted fetuses. "How can you look at that and say it's not a human life?" But Marylee Long of Farmington Hills wondered what kind of choices her own children would be forced to make if abortion were outlawed. "I'm concerned we're going backward on the issue," she said. Yurko and Long, as well of hundreds of other area volunteers, formed the back bone of grassroots campaigns that met head on, as the national abortion controversy spilled over into suburban Wayne and Oakland counties.

THE DAY began with songs and sloganeering outside Women's Center, 23770 Orchard Lake, Farmington Hills, and ended with the arrest of an estimated 40 pro-life volunteers outside Womancare of Livonia, 27634 Five Mile. Additional protests were held outside a Sterling Heights clinic.

Pro-life and pro-choice heavyweights, including Joseph Scheidler, founder of the Pro-Life Activist Network, and Molly Yard, president of the National Organization for Women, were active in weekend events. But it was the local volunteers who served as foot soldiers in the on-going abortion rights battle.

Those in favor of outlawing abortion estimated that at least 400 people demonstrated outside one or both of the centers.

Those in favor of its continued legalization estimated at least 150 people were involved in counter-demonstrations. Both sides said the bulk of their ranks was drawn from metropolitan Detroit volunteers. "We have some people from out of state, but I'd say most are from somewhere around here," said Bob Hoey of Troy, who participated in both area demonstrations.

"WE'RE NOT protesting against them," Hoey said, referring to the pro-choice forces nearby. "Really, this is a repentance for our own inaction for so long."

Pro-choice advocates also said they were making up for past inaction.

"Our voices might not have been heard in the past, but now they are," said Carol King of Detroit, an organizer for Metropolitan Detroit Action for Choice, a newly formed coalition of NOW members and members of Planned Parenthood and the Michigan Abortion Rights Action League, among other groups.

Yard, also present at both sites, agreed. "If we didn't show up, the news media would present one side and that would be very, very misleading," she said. Leaders on both sides of the issue gathered in the Detroit area this weekend, as the U.S. Supreme Court reviewed Roe Vs. Wade, the controversial 1973 high court ruling that prohibited state interference with abortion during the first three months of pregnancy.

Pro-life forces heard speeches and viewed films during a two-day meeting at a Livonia motel.

Meanwhile, pro-choice advocates gathered at NOW's Southfield headquarters to discuss their own strategy.

Approximately half the pro-life forces gathered at the Madonna College parking lot, but said their early morning meeting wasn't under the auspices of the Livonia liberal arts college.

"We've used Madonna as a launching pad before," said pro-life advocate Al Kresta of Detroit. "But it wasn't under their auspices." A college spokeswoman, contacted Friday, said she had no knowledge anyone would be using the college's Schoolcraft Road lot.

Pro-life advocates said they were supportive of Operation Rescue, the group that organized the Sterling Heights demonstration, but added most weren't formally aligned with that group.

"We're more of a loose organization," Hoey said. "Most of these people found out about it in some way and wanted to help."

JOHN STORMZAND/staff photographer

Livonia Police arrested an estimated 40 pro-life demonstrators Saturday outside an area abortion clinic. Many of the same demonstrators on both sides of the issue also attended demonstrations outside a Farmington Hills clinic earlier that day.

Abortion question threatens right-to-die bill

By Tim Richard
staff writer

A patient's "right-to-die" bill sailed through the Michigan Senate but may be doomed in the House because it tries to protect the unborn.

"Right to Life wants to use this as a way to get fetal rights into law. It has no chance in the House," said Rep. David Hollister, D-East Lansing, who recently abandoned his efforts for a patient's rights bill after 15 years.

"It could be mused up by pro-choice people," said the bill's sponsor, Sen. Fred Dillingham, R-Fowlerville.

THE 29-5 VOTE for Senate Bill 293 — with all area senators voting yes — failed to reflect the deep division over a section to protect the unborn and the "nutrition and hydration" issue.

Here are the basic provisions:
Under common law, a person's grant of power of attorney loses effect when the person becomes incapacitated. Dillingham's bill, an amendment to the probate code, would allow a patient to grant a "durable power of attorney" to make medical treatment decisions after the patient becomes incapacitated. Usually, the power will be granted to a close family member.

But pro-choice senators such as Lana Pollack, D-Ann Arbor, fought a provision to protect an embryo or fetus. It says that if a patient were pregnant, a patient's advocate decision to withhold medical treatment would have to be reviewed by a probate court. The judge would have to appoint a guardian ad litem to represent the unborn's interests — which would include its survival.

"IT'S BEING entangled with the abortion question," said Pollack, one of the "no" voters.

Added Sen. John Kelly, D-Detroit, another "no" vote: "I'm opposed to a guardian for a fetus or embryo. We invite a stranger in, in derogation of a mother's wish."

Senators narrowly defeated, 16-18, an amendment by Sen. William Sederburg, R-East Lansing, to drop the rights of the unborn section.

"With advancing technology," said Sederburg, "how do we handle the political rights of the embryo? ... The extension of that argument (a guardian for an embryo) staggers the mind."

Sponsor Dillingham argued against Sederburg's amendment but conceded the section has little chance in the House, where pro-choice Rep. Perry Bullard, D-Ann Arbor, chairs the Judiciary Committee.

"What is the case where there's an inheritance in question? Shouldn't an embryo have the right to enjoy money?" said Dillingham, defending the section.

Here is how Observer & Eccentric area senators voted on the key Sederburg amendment:

Yes — Doug Cruce, R-Troy, William Faust, D-Westland, Jack Faxton, D-Farmington Hills, and Richard Fessler, R-Commerce.

No — R. Robert Geake, R-Northville, George Z. Hart, D-Dearborn, and Rudy Nichols, R-Waterford.

Senators also rejected, 16-18, an amendment by William Faust, D-Westland, to remove a section prohibiting a patient advocate from withholding nutrition and hydration of the terminally ill.

The majority listened to Dillingham, who argued: "We distinguish between 'allow' and 'cause' (the patient to die). If death is due to lack of nutrition and hydration, it's wrong."

THE USUAL conversational buzz on the Senate floor stopped as Sen. John Schwarz, R-Battle Creek, told of his experience as a medical doctor.

He told of a cancer patient he kept alive for six months although the man's wife and family couldn't bear to enter his room. "The man died of neck rot ... You can't talk, you can't eat, you smell bad, and your face is falling off ... It blew out his artery, and he died."

Schwarz added: "I have made horrible mistakes, keeping patients alive weeks and months past their time. Make no mistake: With cancer, there is a time ... Patient advocate is a good concept."

"It could be mused up by pro-choice people."

— Sen. Fred Dillingham
R-Fowlerville

Area residents win honors for photos

Nine residents from Wayne and Oakland counties received honorable mention honors during the recent Michigan Humane Society photography contest.

Their photos, and those taken by all other prize winners, are on display at the Fisher Building, Detroit now through May 14.

graph of a snow leopard behind bars.

Honorable mention prizes went to: Tom Bert and Paula Suter, both of Rochester Hills; Mary Birchman, Farmington Hills; Kathy Brinkman and Janet Colligan, both of Troy; Delphine Delaney and Frederick Wolff, both of Redford Township; Joyce Stevens, Livonia; and Mickey Wier, Canton Township.

Over 500 entries were submitted, a Michigan Humane Society spokeswoman said.

The contest raised money for the society's Emergency Rescue Program.

The humane society is a private, non-profit organization that operates three shelters. Shelter sites include Rochester Hills and Westland.

Additional information is available by calling 872-3400.

Children's Olympics scheduled

Nursery School Olympics will be held at Hines Park on Saturday, May 20.

Open to all nursery-school aged children, the event includes paper plate discus, marshmallow shot put, very miniature golf, soft dart throw, guessing contests and checkerboard penny toss, among other events.

Children may participate in as many events as they like.

Participants are encouraged to decorate their tricycles or strollers for a red, white and blue parade after the events. School banners are welcome.

Events will be held 11-11:45 a.m. The parade will be 11:45 a.m. to noon.

Participants are invited to bring a blanket and picnic lunch.

Those who plan to participate are asked to write the Wayne County Parks, 33175 Ann Arbor Trail, Westland, Mich. 48185. The parks system needs to know how many children each adult will bring.

Because parking is limited, participants are asked to car pool.

The event is co-sponsored by Livonia Recreation and the Greater Detroit Cooperative Nursery Council. More information is available through the Wayne County Parks, 261-1630.

Wine tasting class planned

Wines of the Americas, a five-week class targeted toward budding wine connoisseurs, will be offered at Schoolcraft College beginning May 15. The fee is $80.

Dental Assistant in six short months!

Our beautiful nationally accredited facility, located in the new Laurel Park area of Livonia, is offering morning, afternoon, and evening classes (Mon.-Thurs. for 4½ hours per day) beginning in June & July. Registration ends May 31 and June 30. Financial aid available to all who qualify. Placement assistance.

ANKYLOSING SPONDYLITIS
Ankylosing spondylitis illustrates why doctors separate joint disorder into over 100 different types. Most arthritis conditions start in the hands and wrists and work up to the shoulders and neck. In contrast, ankylosing spondylitis starts in the back and neck and then involves the shoulder and hip joints, occasionally the knees, and only rarely the hands and feet. Spondylitis can involve the eye in inflammation like pink eye. Spondylitis may reach the heart and cause a leak in the aortic valve or a block in the conduction system that controls the heart rate. The treatment of ankylosing spondylitis is different than for rheumatoid or osteoarthritis. Aspirin is only mildly helpful in ankylosing spondylitis, the newer drugs are untried, and there is no role for methotrexate or gold therapy. In contrast, physical therapy is very important. It can place the back in a position of good function so that if deformity occurs, little impairment results. It is necessary to differentiate ankylosing spondylitis from other types of arthritis, as its outlook, involvement in the body, and treatment are distinctive. The same holds true for other arthritic conditions and is the reason why they are classified as distinctive entities.

Graham visit, millage spark controversy

Censorship by CBE

An open letter to CBE officials:

Thank you for the unsolicited Newsletter that I received from you and the group called Citizens for Better Education or CBE.

On the first page, you state "The video (What Are Friends For) portrays religious alternatives with satanic/occultic origin. The adverse psychological result and emotional side effects that can result in experimentation — paranoia — fear — suicidal thoughts — and so on." Any religion can cause these results including Christianity. A little further down on the same page, you state "The video is an excellent introduction into religion, promotion of which is prohibited in a public educational institution." What your group doesn't seem to realize is that to prevent any visual or reading material which does not follow your standard of "what is morally appropriate" is in itself, promotion of a religion, yours.

You quote the American Heritage Dictionary to censor "to examine literature, plays, or other materials and remove or suppress what is considered morally or otherwise objectionable." I agree, but who makes this determination for the community? You?

I am sorry you could not stick to your point and had to bring into the discussion, how you felt about abortion and sex education. Maybe we can take up these subjects in another discussion.

"We the People, Govern the Schools" you said in your newsletter. I again agree. The school board was elected by you and me and is charged with making decisions that reflect the communities wishes. Six of the seven members are doing just that. One only listens to herself or you.

School System. We feel it is a good school system, with good teachers and programs. It scares me, however, that a group like the Citizens for Better Education, headed by Diane Daskalakis, seems to be gaining so much power over that system: power to jeopardize millages needed to keep these teachers and programs, and power to elect school board members who pull students like Barbara Graham did when she disrupted the classroom of Plymouth Canton High School English teacher, Barbara Masters.

I was appalled when I read your article, "Official's visit upsets students." Graham had no business going into Masters' classroom and interrogating her students in a "hostile manner," nor had she any right to remove teaching material from the classroom.

I attended Plymouth schools from kindergarten through my graduation in 1976. Mrs. Masters' Zen and Emerson class was one of the best I had. In her class, I was not taught satanism, nor was I turned away from Christianity. I was not turned into a rebel, and I did not learn about homosexuality. However, had any of these subjects come up, I'm sure it would have been discussed in a reasonable, intelligent, and open manner. In Masters' class, I learned not what to think, but how to think; to keep my mind open to all sides of an issue (I cannot think of a more important lesson for today's high school students). It's ironic that one of the teachers who Diane Daskalakis seems determined to censor is the one from whom she could learn the most.

I hope an investigation will be conducted regarding this incident. Plymouth schools stand to lose too much by allowing this fanatical witch hunt to continue in the name of "Better Education."

Ann Anthony,

transferring to our children the skills, knowledge, and concepts we value as important to life and living. These values, of necessity, are based on our morals.

So, the differences in viewpoints we are witnessing in our community derive from a fundamental difference in morals. Some believe that illicit sex, satanism, and occult influences are completely normal and should be accepted as a regular part of the human experience. Others feel these influences are counter-productive and have no place in the educational process.

The average parent takes certain things for granted regarding the education of their child in public schools. For instance, most parents would expect their child to learn the basics — math, science, English, etc. Beyond that, the parents also expect specific points of knowledge, important to our culture, to be included in the curriculum. Information about U.S. history and government, world geography, political systems, and religions contribute to the student having an "open mind" (we've been hearing so much of lately). Parents are increasingly finding that their children are not learning "the basics."

Many of the critics of CBE are trying to imply that the organization's only concern is to eliminate the controversial material. However, our problems are much larger than that. In addition to eliminating destructive course material, we need to raise our academic standards and performance goals. After all, students will seldom achieve beyond what is expected of them by their parents and teachers.

To this end, more money is not nearly as important as more commitment. Perhaps, once the citizens see this higher level of commitment from the school board, administrators and teachers, they will stop defeating every millage request that comes along.

Robert E. Anderson Jr.,
Canton

Graham visit an intrusion

To the editor:
Hello!

I am writing in regards to the article that graced your April 17 front page, "Official's visit upsets students."

It seems Barbara Graham has the right to do what she wants, when she wants, because she is a school board member. If I had walked into that classroom, refused to identify myself and interrogated students, they would have dragged me out by my heels. And rightly so!

What gives her the right to do this and get away with it? The rules of any school state that visitors are to identify themselves at any time and not disrupt the function of the school day.

I agree with the humanities teacher, Barbara Masters, on her opinion of Graham as unethical and unbefitting a school board member. If Graham had time to kill, why didn't she observe the school after identifying herself instead of agitating students and teachers alike.

Barbara Graham has pushed the CBE (Citizens for Better Education) back by promoting censorship against the Metro Times. She must realize homosexuality is a part of this world and students must deal with it, not hide behind a curtain of ignorance. Students need to learn about this world so they will continue to learn long after they graduate.

If Graham decides to repeat this crude stunt, I hope they eject her from the school for disruption and trespassing. Schools should not cater to any one person or group. Society must guard against censorship of any kind.

No person should censor another, since no person thinks or feels like the other.

Thank you for your time and consideration on this matter. And I commend the Observer on its commitment to reporting the news that affects our city.

Kevin Bolton,
Canton

Graham visit supported

To the editor:

We were both amused and amazed by your headline in the April 17 issue, "Officials visit upsets students." I think the teachers and principal may have been upset by her visit and comments but surely not the students. Your paper says "unannounced" — the Crier states she checked in at the office. You further state students and faculty will lodge a complaint with the Board of Education.

Barbara Masters, the teacher of the classroom visited by Barbara Graham (who happens to be a member of the Board of Education) found Graham's visit, to quote your article, "Outrageous, unethical and unbefitting." Why? Because she criticized the art work displayed in the classroom, calling it depressing? Or was Miss Masters upset because Graham is backed by CBE, which has been critical of astrologers and R-rated movies that were shown in the school, until recently and maybe still are. Graham also removed a copy of the Metro Times, which she found inappropriate in a school room. We have never even heard of the Metro Times, but your paper states there are ads that deal with "gays and homosexuals." Masters states the paper was there because of an article on the destruction of the rain forest.

If Masters thought the article was of interest to her class, why didn't she clip it out and then show it to students? We are sure the high school students are aware of homosexual behavior, but papers with ads of this nature have no place in a classroom.

Perhaps this letter makes us sound like supporters or members of the CBE. We only know of them through your paper, and I know, again from your paper, that they are opposed to a millage increase for the schools, as I and my husband are.

Taxes are out of sight in Canton, as in most communities, and it is time the people of Canton took a long hard look at how our money is being spent on "educating" our children.

If fees have to be charged for students to play sports, so be it. We are not being critical of sports per se, but if it is a choice of the three R's and sports, we choose the three R's. The schools have to learn to bite the bullet just like "some" of us in Canton do. We're sure there is waste in the schools.

We applaud Barbara Graham on her school visit, and perhaps other board members should do the same.

A few years ago we read in the Observer that the fire alarm system had been disconnected in the high schools because students were setting the system off. At the time we thought, "How sad for students lives to be endangered because a few thought their pranks were cute," not to mention what the system cost the taxpayers to be installed. Tell us, is it in working condition today?

Three cheers to you, Barbara Graham — you're our kind of lady. Keep up the good work!

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cullen
Canton

Kids are the issue

To the editor:

For the past several months, the Observer has devoted a great deal of space to the Plymouth Canton Schools, particularly the financial needs and problems. I've read letters to the editor about teachers' pay, the CBE, censorship, taxes and school financing, the behavior of board of education members, and even the kind of car the superintendent drives.

I'm very worried that the citizens of the community will confuse these issues with what is really at stake on June 12 when, once again, the millage question is placed on the ballot. These issues are not what we will be asked to address. The issue is kids and what we as a community are willing to provide for them in educational services.

When we moved to Canton 13 years ago, we were told two things: 1. The schools were good. 2. The taxes were high. Both things were true. Our children have received a good education and we've always felt that the people who run the schools sincerely care about providing a sound educational program for kids.

Our taxes are indeed high and increasing every year. However, it is a question of priorities and good schools, even if they mean high taxes, remain high on the list.

The future for our kids — that's what we are being asked to vote on June 12. The board of education has hopefully received the message that there are some very real and very serious concerns about the schools and every attempt should be made to become responsive enough to the community to resolve them.

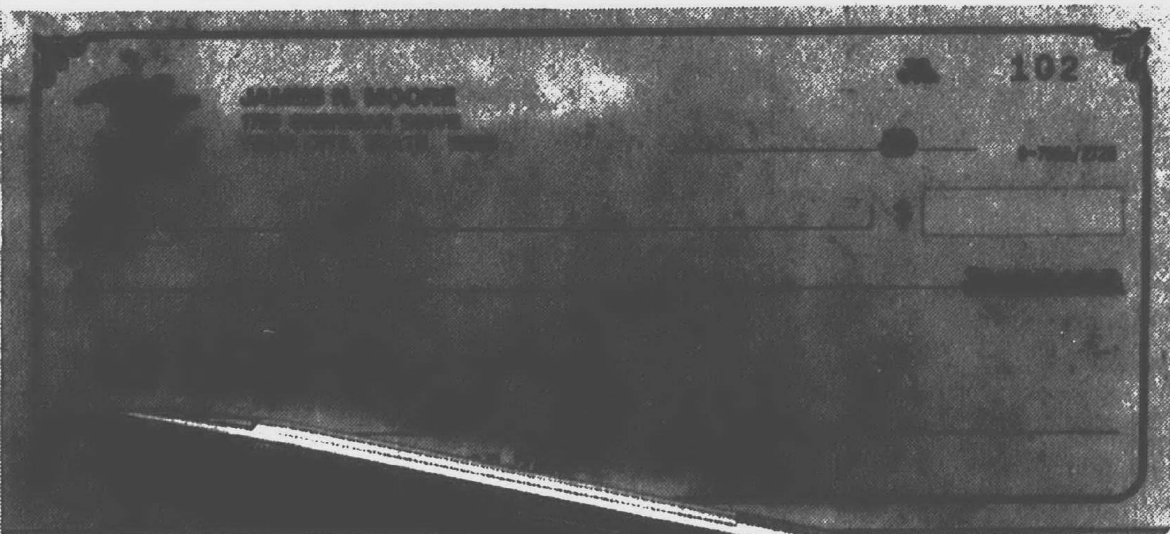

However, the vote on June 12 is not going to decide those issues — that will take time and those other issues will still be there regardless of how we vote that day. Our vote is going to decide what happens to our kids immediately in the next school year.

I cannot believe an educated, informed and involved community like Plymouth Canton will let their children down by refusing to provide additional money for education. A community that won't educate and nurture its children, regardless of the hardship, is a community that has lost its soul.

I sincerely hope that we will keep in mind that this is the real issue on the ballot. The issue is kids.

County parks plan celebration

Wayne County Parks will celebrate its 70th anniversary Saturday, May 6, with a series of programs at Hines Park.

Activities for children and adults will be held at the Nankin Mills Recreation Area, Westland, beginning at 1 p.m.

Children's events include:
 • Diaper Derby — A crawling race for babies. The male and female winners will be crowned king and queen.
 • Toddler Trot — A race for children 3 and under.

• Big Wheel Grand Prix — Races for children of all ages will be held through a slalom course. Events for older children and adults include:

• Walk Michigan — Everyone who walks at least one mile along Hines Drive will be entered in a free drawing to win an all-expense paid trip to Mackinac Island for this year's Labor Day Bridge Walk.
 • Nature Walk — A tour through Holiday Park, the event is sponsored by the Holiday Park Nature Association.

• Parkway Art — Artists are invited to draw on a section of Hines Drive with chalk. The winning artist will receive tickets to a Detroit Tigers baseball game.

• Art in the Park — The judged show is open to works capturing the parks' heritage and country spirit. Drawings, painting and photography will be included. Hines Park's beach volleyball courts will be open for games and a sand castle building contest. The anniversary celebration also kicks off this year's "Saturday in the Park" series.

Six miles of Hines Drive will be closed to traffic every Saturday through Sept. 23 for walkers, joggers and bicyclists. Hines Drive will be closed between the Warrendale Picnic Area, west of Outer Drive, and Nankin Mills, near Ann Arbor Trail.

Other upcoming parks events include Mud Day, Saturday, May 13, and the Nursery School Olympics, Saturday, May 20.

Mud day is set for kids to get dirty just for fun

Mud Day, a day for youngsters to play in the mud with their parents' consent, returns to the Wayne County Parks on Saturday, May 13.

A mud field will be set up at the Nankin Mills Picnic Area, on Hines Drive near Ann Arbor Trail, from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Youngsters who make the biggest mess of themselves will be crowned Mr. and Ms. Mud.

Participants are advised to wear their oldest clothing to the event and bring a clean set of clothes for the ride home. All participants must wear shoes.

A changing area will be provided, though participants are advised to bring a towel for cleaning off. Participants will receive a plastic garbage bag to take their dirty clothes home. Representatives from Tubs and Tumblers Coin Laundry and Dry Cleaning will be handing out discount coupons to mothers and fathers.

Because parking is limited, participants are asked to carpool. The event will be held Sunday, May 14, if Saturday temperatures fall below 50 degrees.

Six miles of the Middle Rouge Parkway (Hines Drive) will be closed to traffic 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. every Saturday through Sept. 23 for walkers, joggers and bicyclists. Hines Drive will be closed between the Warrendale Picnic Area, west of Outer Drive, and Nankin Mills, near Ann Arbor Trail.

taste buds

chef Larry Jones

Flowers to smell and eat

Ah, spring!

With spring comes flowers, a delight to the senses. Not only do flowers offer us a lovely fragrance to behold, they also include a sight that will cheer and a touch that can soothe.

But most of us never get the opportunity to realize that flowers are also intriguing to the sense of taste. Many flowers are edible and what was originally touted as another flaky California trend continues to blossom for the adventuresome cook.

In total honesty, Californians never really started the trend of cooking with flowers. Rose water dates back to the first century B.C. in Persian literature. The Romans enjoyed honey with lavender and frequently cooked with roses and violets to add zest to their dishes. Gladiolus bulbs were once baked with wine, as many of us do today with garlic bulbs.

However, since the 19th century, cooking with flowers has been looked down upon, mainly because flowers then were so often associated with peasants, who regularly cooked with them.

EATING FLOWERS is as easy as picking them from your garden, especially the blossoms from herbs, as long as they have not been sprayed with pesticides.

Flowers add a new dimension of color and taste, reviving an outdated trend, a resurgence of aroma to various salads, dressings, vinegars, sauces and ice creams. Chopped flowers such as pansies and borage can be used in flavoring homemade pastas. Steeping rose petals or geranium leaves in milk for ice cream will give the ice cream a more unusual taste and a definite sweeter aroma.

My tiger lilies are just beginning to sprout but I can't wait to get my hands on the buds and combine them with game dishes, especially duck. They can be inserted in the cavities while cooking or can be strategically placed around the wild game.

I'm really excited about the fact of using squash blossoms with cooking. Anyone who has planted a few zucchini plants can appreciate the fact that there is only so much you can do with club-sized zucchinis. Now, an early-morning jaunt to the garden will have me reaping all the new blossoms which can be stuffed with cheese, chopped, fried and sprinkled over pasta or just plainly sauteed with other vegetables.

The range of edible flowers is wide, but be warned that only certain varieties are edible. For example, you can cook with the pot marigold (calendula), but the African marigold is a poor choice for cooking. The marsh marigold (American cowslip) is poisonous.

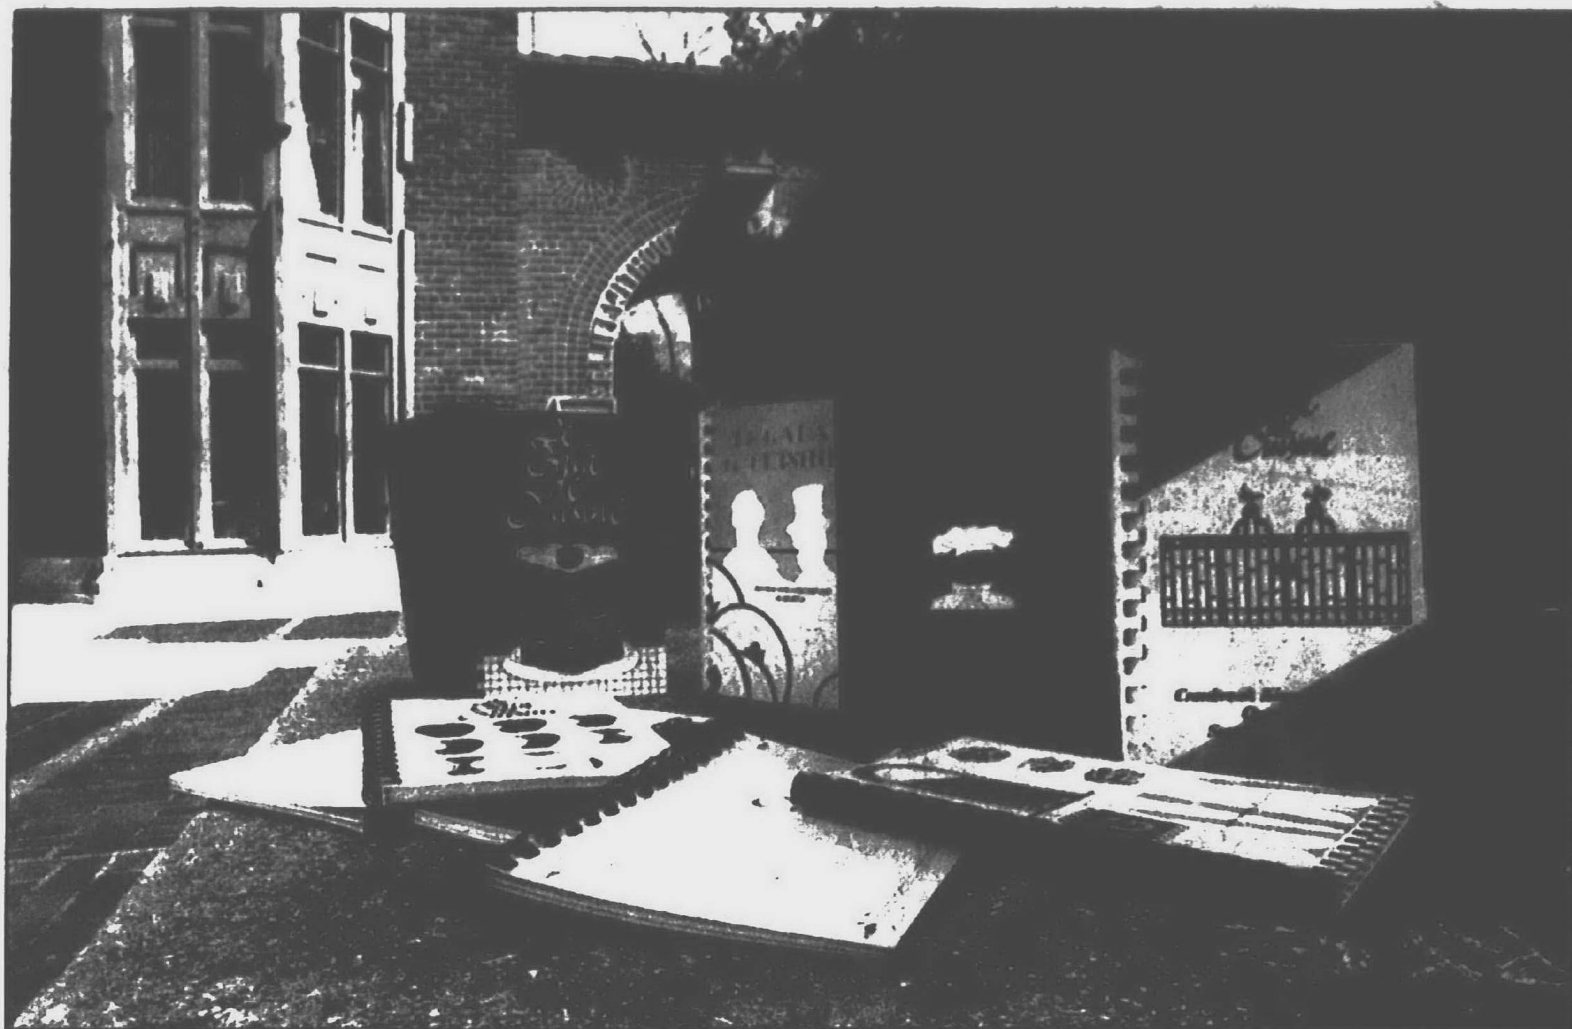

If you are looking for a good source, check out "Cooking With Flowers" by Jenny Leggett (Fawcett Columbine, 1987). Another good choice would be "Cooking from the Garden" by Rosaling Creasy (Sierra Club Books, 1988).

Here are some recipes you might like to try.

BEER BATTER SQUASH BLOSSOMS
2 large eggs, separated
1 tablespoon white vinegar
1 tablespoon water
1 1/4 cups flat beer
1 1/4 tablespoons oil
1 1/4 cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
pinch sugar
15-20 squash blossoms

Place egg whites in a food processor bowl or mix by hand, using a wire whip. Stir in vinegar and mix till the whites hold their shape. Beat egg yolks, beer and oil in processor or by hand until well mixed. Add flour, salt and sugar and beat well. Stir in beaten egg whites. Cover and store in refrigerator for 2 hours. Before dipping squash blossoms, mix well by hand.

STEPHEN CANTRELL/staff photographer

The 10 cookbooks printed for Le Gala de Cuisine are photographed at the Cranbrook Schools' Quadrangle, where the annual culinary event is held. The benefit, always the first Sunday in May, will celebrate its 11th year. Recipes from participating chefs are featured in the cookbooks.

The 11th annual Le Gala de Cuisine will be held from 3-7 p.m. Sunday at Cranbrook Schools' Elsie Saarninen-designed Quadrangle. Tickets are $125, or $175 patron, $200 benefactor. Proceeds benefit Cranbrook Schools' scholarship funds. For more information call 645-3134.

By Ethel Simmons
staff writer

A LONG WITH ALL the glorious food and drink at Cranbrook Schools' Le Gala de Cuisine, afternoon partygoers receive a specially created cookbook and a poster each year.

Chairman of the 1989 Le Gala is Mary Ann Lutomski of Bloomfield Hills, who has been attending the annual event since its first year in 1979. She said that, as far as she knows, she is the only person who has collected a copy of each Le Gala cookbook — all 10 of them.

Unpretentious and practical, Lutomski is planning this year's event with an easy manner that belies her busy schedule. She squeezed in an interview, leaving her house just as an inspection for its upcoming sale was getting under way. After a stop at the Cranbrook School Quadrangle, where photographs for this article were taken, she chatted about the cookbook in Cranbrook's public relations office before going on to a diet program she has just enrolled in.

Each of the chefs who participates in Le Gala is asked to contribute a

Each gala brings new cookbook

recipe to the year's cookbook, although not necessarily the same recipe they will be serving. Lutomski said, "Normally, the chef is attempting to serve you something new and exciting at Le Gala. For the cookbook recipe, they can submit an old favorite."

THIS YEAR'S cookbook is still at the printers. Students in the middle or upper school of Cranbrook Kingswood compete to create the award-winning design that is translated to the Le Gala poster. The runner-up's design is always used for the cookbook cover.

First prize in the 1989 poster contest went to Rina Saigal, a ninth grader at Cranbrook Kingswood School. She learned the steps of silk-screening when her design, of lobsters on a plate, was turned into a poster by Grafiskas of Birmingham.

Ghita Jones, the second place winner, is a senior at Cranbrook Kingswood. "She has been accepted at Parsons in the field of fashion design," Lutomski said. Jones' design, showing the fountain of the Quad, will grace the cookbook cover.

Lutomski said this year Le Gala planners are updating the look of the cookbook. There is a redesign, with more emphasis on the recipe, and the chef's photograph moved from the top of the page. "I don't like to put my fingers on people's faces," said Lutomski, opening one of the old cookbooks to show how that was a problem.

"We are also going to be numbering the pages and have an index and table of contents," she said. "Our aim is organizing the recipes so they are easily referred to and used."

Lutomski said, "I love to cook." She admitted, however, the previous Le Gala cookbooks were more for perusing than using. "I read them and get ideas," she said of the 10 she has. "I feel some of the recipes are very vital."

KINGSWOOD GRADUATE Tobye Wietzke of Bloomfield Hills, cookbook chairman this year, is working on the cookbook redesign. She and her business partner, Judy Lloyd, are creative advertising consultants in the Detroit area.

Lutomski is a graduate of Kingswood School and her husband Karl is a graduate of Cranbrook School. She has attended every Le Gala since the event began, keeping the cookbooks from each year, and has worked on Le Gala committees for the past five years.

'Creative cuisine' is tops at Medallion

The Laxa family has had a battle on its hands operating a restaurant in West Bloomfield's Crosswinds Mall. Antonio and Avelina Laxa fought for business under the banner of the Aristocrat and Oliverio's before winning their way into diners' hearts under the latter name.

Then, in 1987, an ice storm forced them to close for several months of repairs and remodeling. The new operation had a new look and, unfortunately, few of its old customers.

All that's behind them now. The Laxas are conquering new worlds under their new name, Medallion, and with their sons, Pierre and Tony, at their sides. They deserve the restaurateur's Red Badge of Courage.

Taking its name from the Laxas' quest for excellence, and using the Medallion rose as its motif, the restaurant offers comfort, style — and great food.

WHATEVER YOU CHOOSE from the varied menu, your meal will be served on an extra-large white china plate, looking quite elegant against the black tablecloth. The fresh vegetables: potatoes, pasta or rice, and entree will be arranged with care and an eye for color (as when they add a splash of purple cabbage). Here, the presentation counts, too, for a complete dining experience.

Medallion's "creative American cuisine" is just what it advertises. Take the grilled chicken breast ($10.95), which sounds a bit ordinary, and add Chef Eddie Matteson's mixture of fresh herbs and you have a meal worth remembering. The Canadian whitefish ($11.95), served with a sauce of tomatoes, oyster mushrooms and fresh dill, is another example of taking something that could be bland and turning it into a winner with careful preparation and presentation.

Not surprisingly, the word "medallion" sets off some of the restaurant's specialties. Like medallions of monk fish. Or medallions of beef. The beef medallions ($16.95) were tender and juicy, complemented by an almost tangy bernaïse sauce.

Entrees give customers quite a choice, from white Peking duck ($13.95) — served with a different sauce each night — and green lip mussels and linguine ($10.50) to Provimi calves liver ($10.95) — sauteed and served with a sauce of caramelized onions, balsamic vinegar and dried cherries — or cheese tortellini ($8.95), tossed with boursin cheese, bacon, fresh sage, caramelized onions, mushrooms and tomatoes.

Among the array of desserts was an OK chocolate mousse, which became exquisite when garnished with frozen strawberries.

YOU CAN NOW choose a cappuccino or espresso to complete your meal, but we enjoyed the "regular" coffee accompanied with grated chocolate, cinnamon, and fresh whipped cream. Nice touch.

The restaurant has an air of elegance, with its etched-glass windows, green and black interior, and clusters of booths and tables. We liked being tucked into a comfortable booth in a quiet corner, where we received excellent service. Somehow you feel welcome to linger — and we did. It wasn't until a week later that we learned the restaurant normally closes a half hour before we finally tore ourselves away.

When friends get together for an overdue visit, it's great to find a spot where the food is premium, the service is excellent — and the setting offers privacy, comfort and an unhurried atmosphere.

We found all that at the Medallion. Details: Medallion, 4343 Or-hard Lake Road, north of Lone Pine Road, West Bloomfield. 851-5540. Seats 200 and has a room for private parties. Carryout. Catering.

Hours: Lunch: Mondays-Fridays 11 am to 2:30 p.m., Dinner: Tuesdays-Thursdays, 5-10 p.m. and Fridays-Saturdays, 5-11 p.m.

Prices: Lunches: $4.50-$8.95. Dinners: $7.95-$16.95. Visa, MasterCard, Diner's Club, American Express, Carte Blanche, honors Michigan Trade Exchange.

Value: Great food, comfortably elegant setting, style. You can't lose.

LAVENDER ICE CREAM

14 ounces milk
5 ounces fresh lavender leaves and flowers
3 ounces crystallized ginger, chopped
1 cup sugar
3 egg yolks
2 cups heavy whipping cream

In a saucepan, slowly heat milk to 200 degrees. Remove from heat and add lavender. Allow to steep for 15 minutes. Strain while still warm. Add crystallized ginger and sugar, mix well. Place egg yolks in a small bowl, then place half the milk mixture into the yolks, mixing well while adding. Place over low heat and cook, stirring constantly until mixture reaches 200 degrees. Add 2 cups cold cream and freeze until well chilled. Process in any ice cream freezer.

SCENTED GERANIUM GRAPEFRUIT DRESSING

2 tablespoons fresh-grated pink grapefruit zest/rind
2 tablespoons sweet pink grapefruit juice juice 1/2 lemon
1 tablespoon fruit-flavored vinegar
1 teaspoon cider vinegar
3 tender, scented geranium leaves, minced salt and fresh pepper to taste 2 cup light-flavored olive oil

Place all the ingredients, except the oil, in a bowl and whisk lightly. Add the oil slowly, while whisking. Taste for seasoning and adjust with additional salt and pepper, if necessary. Allow to stand 30 minutes for full flavors to develop.

Le Gala chefs contribute to cookbook

with the cookbook recipes. "I think all the chefs are very aware that people are fascinated with them (their recipes), and they are making them so that people can use them. They (the chefs) are not as secretive as in the past."

She said a lot of the chefs are getting into heart-healthy kinds of recipes. "Tom MacKinnon has a vinaigrette salad dressing that has no cholesterol." Among other new recipes this year are Keith Fannie's Warm Escalope of Salmon Salad and the Midtown Cafe's Scrambled Eggs with Chives and Gold Caviar. "Hogan's wants to use the same recipe as last year, Sugoluso Sauce and Garlic Butter."

In 1979, some 24 chefs each contributed a recipe to the cookbook. Now, close to 50 chefs take part in Le Gala, and the cookbook is considerably bigger. Among new restaurants represented at the event for 1989 are the Townsend in Birmingham and the Rita-Carlotta in Dearborn.

"IT'S DIFFICULT to work a new chef in," Latomski said. "Each year, some drop out, or the committee requests they rotate." The Breadwinner bread store is participating in Le Gala for the first time this year. Charley's Crab, the seafood restaurant in Troy, was represented in the dessert category last year because of no openings in Le Gala, but this year, "They have been moved to the right position."

Three categories, appetizers, entrees and desserts, are highlighted at Le Gala, with some appetizers served in the classroom area of the Cranbrook campus and under tents in the Quad. Desserts also are arrayed in the outdoor tents.

Entrees occupy 14 places in the spectacular dining hall, and this category cannot be expanded because of the limited space.

Le Gala tries to avoid duplications in the food categories. Seafood and pastas are especially popular now.

In the entrees, one chef is doing pork and two are doing beef. "They're getting back to the basics," Latomski said.

She observed, "More and more chefs are requesting techniques to grill things — natural grilling." This has moved some of the chefs outdoors. "If it rains, you'll see a lot of chefs with umbrellas," she said with a laugh, adding that it seldom has rained on Le Gala.

Getting the chefs to turn their cookbook recipes in on time can be difficult. Latomski said last year's cookbook chairman Edie Ho was on vacation in Hawaii when she had to call Chef Raymond Wong of Wong's Eatery in Windsor, for his recipe, which had not arrived.

The current cookbook chairman, Tobye Wietzke, will head the same committee next year. In a brief phone interview, she described a change in the cookbook for 1990. "We're going to try to have the chefs photographed in their environment at Le Gala and use the photos next year," Wietzke said.

WARM ESCALOPE OF SALMON SALAD
Chef Keith Fannie, Les Asteurs, Royal Oak

12 ounces Norwegian salmon, sliced thin bowl of mixed greens
1 red onion, julienned thin
1 pound assorted sliced wild mushrooms
2 cups tomato concasser (diced tomatoes cooked in olive oil)
1 Idaho potato, sliced thin and oven-fried in olive oil
2 cups of basil vinaigrette
flour

Saute mushrooms in olive oil until browned. Put aside. Divide up greens on plates, arrange onions, tomatoes and mushrooms on greens. Lightly flour salmon and saute slices in hot olive oil. Arrange warm salmon slices on greens. Drizzle 1 1/2 ounces of vinaigrette on greens. Place sliced potato chips on plate

SCRAMBLED EGGS WITH CHIVES AND GOLD CAVIAR
Chef Donald R. Tiderington, Midtown Cafe, Birmingham

4 eggs
3 chives, minced salt, pinch
pepper, pinch
4 teaspoons gold caviar

Cut the tops off 4 eggs with an egg cutter. Wash shells in hot water. Save tops. Scramble eggs with chives. Season with salt and pepper. Spoon back into shells. Top with caviar.

SUGOLUSO SAUCE
Chef Thomas McGlone, Hogan's, Bloomfield Township

1 jar of sun-dried tomatoes
1 small onion
1 tablespoon garlic
1 cup olive oil
pepper, dustless

Puree all ingredients in food processor until fine, except pepper. If mixture is too pasty, add a little more olive oil. Add pepper to taste.

GARLIC BUTTER

1 pound butter
1 tablespoon garlic, freshly chopped fine
1 tablespoon parsley, freshly chopped fine
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 teaspoon chervil
1/2 teaspoon gran. garlic
1/2 teaspoon lemon juice, fresh
1/2 teaspoon white wine

Mix all ingredients well with an electric mixer, cream well. Add salt and pepper to taste.

Pasta — Cook any pasta (1 pound) of your liking.

Shrimp — Peel and de-vein any size shrimp. 1 pound.

Bread — Spread half loaf of Italian bread with garlic butter, slicing vertically. Place in foil and bake at 350 degrees for 8 minutes. Reserve rest of garlic butter for entrees.

Convenience without guilt Cheesy surprise

Lola Thelake

Home economist, Cooperative Extension Service

We are all looking for ways to save time, money and energy, especially in the kitchen. But for many of us, if we achieve this we either lose taste, texture, or quality. The convenience is getting in the way of good nutrition.

Frozen vegetables, meats, etc. freeze, thaw, and cook, and are found in the frozen-food section, which seems to be growing by leaps and bounds lately. Many of them have claims to the frozen-food section can be an advantage to any chef.

Freezing foods is an excellent way to help preserve nutrients. The rapid freezing used commercially maintains the nutritional value of frozen foods. Freezing helps retain in the freshness of the product. Food companies select foods that are at their peak of freshness, flavor and nutrients and freeze them within hours to preserve this quality.

Since frozen foods require little or no water for cooking, more vitamins are retained. Frozen vegetables also keep their bright colors because of the quick freezing. Read the labels to make sure you know what you are eating and if anything has been added to keep the quality.

ENERGY, OTHER THAN when carrying the foods into the house, is used during the cooking time. For frozen foods, a shorter time is required.

Easy as pie

AP — We aren't kidding when we say to open the muffin mixture onto the hot fruit mixture. That's the secret to a light, tender, done-to-perfection cobbler.

EASY-AS-PIE COBBLER
two 20-ounce cans apple pie filling 1 cup raisins
1/2 cup orange juice
1 tablespoon lemon juice
one 7-ounce package brown muffin mix
Light cream or milk

In a medium saucepan combine pie filling, raisins, orange juice and lemon juice. Bring to boiling, stirring occasionally. Meanwhile, prepare muffin mix according to package directions, except use only half the liquid called for on the package. Transfer hot apple mixture to a 12-by-7-by-2-inch baking dish. Immediately spoon the muffin mixture into 8 mounds on the hot fruit mixture. Bake in a 400-degree oven about 20 minutes. Serve with cream. Makes 8 servings.

quest. If you're using microwave cooking, many foods are cooked in their own containers, or a food pouch. This makes for quick and easy clean-up after dinner.

Frozen foods are convenient. The company has done all the chopping, dicing and chopping for you. You are not paying for extra, plus, since or risk with frozen foods, so they can be economical. There is no food waste with frozen foods. Many are conveniently packaged to suit your family's needs.

For the most part, frozen vegetables need not be thawed. Cook vegetables or there is the refrigerator for 24 hours to use in salads, soups, casseroles, appetizers and soups.

Make sure all the frozen foods are the first ones you put away when you arrive home from shopping. Ice crystals form on foods that have refrozen after thawing. This changes the texture and the fresh flavor. Keep your freezer set at 0 degrees or lower to keep the quality of the frozen product. If a frozen vegetable completely thaws, store in the refrigerator and use within three days.

Roasting is a favorite pastime for many of us. Frozen food packages include the calorie count and nutritional value of the food. However, watch the sodium count on many of the packaged dinners. Also, avoid the vegetables with better and cream sauces.

PURCHASE PLAIN vegetables, heat and add your own herbs or seasonings. Another plus is that frozen dinners are often packed in the portion size. Add a salad and a glass of milk.

also with one can have a dinner's worth of food.

As a parent, it does seem a little every time food preparation is taking a lot of time. But if you want to keep the kids happy, then you are going to have to do it. These meals are designed to appeal to the kids from 1 to 5 years of age. The meals will be packaged in single-serving dinners with no extra or vegetables. They are being as versatile as high in protein, complex carbohydrates, vitamins and minerals, low in saturated fat — no salt, sugar, artificial ingredients or preservatives. What will they think of next?

Frozen foods are available year round, and generally cost less than fresh foods. Watch for sales on frozen fruits and vegetables as the new crop arrives in the market.

clarification

The Kitchen With column by Goodale, which appeared April 17, should have included the following: The recipe for Richard's Cobbler should have listed 2 cups hot water as one of the ingredients. The recipe for Richard's Mashed Potatoes should have listed between 1 1/2 to 2 cups (depending upon your taste) as one of the ingredients. The recipe should be added the same time as the rhubarb.

Voles often are mistaken for mice

nature
Timothy Nowicki

Shortly after I turned my car into our subdivision the other night, the headlights revealed a small brown mammal in the road. It hesitated briefly, probably because of the bright lights, and then scurried off to the side of the road.

During that brief pause I was able to identify it as one of the most common mammals in Michigan, a meadow vole. To many people, a small, 4-inch-long animal is a mouse, but closer examination will reveal differences between a mouse and a vole.

Meadow voles have a reddish brown coat color, small eyes, small ears that are hard to see, a large head that blends into the body, and a short tail only 1 1/2 inches long.

Typical white-footed mice that are seen by many people have either a brown or a gray coat color, large ears, very large eyes, a body shape that distinguishes a neck, and a tail 3 inches long.

As their name suggests, meadow voles live in open, grassy, fallow fields. They have been found in grassy logs and beaver meadows, in cultivated grassy areas, in clover and in alfalfa. One requirement meadow voles need in their desired habitat is overhead grass that they can tunnel through.

UNLIKE A mole that spends most of its time underground, voles spend all of their time on the ground surface. They construct narrow pathways approximately 1 1/4 inch wide through the dense grass in order to provide protection from predators overhead.

Spring is a good time to search for these tunnels in meadows and fallow fields. As you follow the tunnels, occasionally you will see a large cluster of fine grasses that was a nest or sleeping quarter.

Voles are relatives of lemmings, and like the lemming exhibit periodic population fluctuations. On the average, these cycles of high and low densities occur every three to four years.

Meadow voles have a reddish brown coat color, small eyes, small ears that are hard to see, a large head that blends into the body, and a short tail just 1 1/2 inches long. They live in open, grassy, fallow fields.

Michigan's high density of 50-60 voles per acre has not come close to a density of 2,500 voles per acre found in Oregon during November 1957.

SMALL MAMMALS at first glance may look similar, but there are differences in physical makeup and in their behavior.

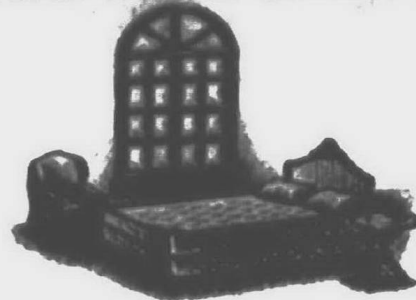

Mice may use the tunnels built by voles, but do not construct their own. Mice eat seeds and fruits, while voles eat just the leafy parts of plants. Differences such as these help these small mammals co-exist in the same area.

Russell inspires Chiefs to 3-1 victory

By Steve Kowalski
staff writer

Jenny Russell has a broken hand, but that won't stop her from being active. Russell's sport is soccer, and she has one of the strongest legs in the area. The high-scoring senior forward put it to good use Friday for Plymouth Canton, collecting an assist on every goal in the Chiefs' 3-1 win over visiting Livonia Stevenson.

Russell had her right hand placed in a cast after breaking it Wednesday against Walled Lake Western, but she intends to play the rest of the season regardless.

The Chiefs are 5-1 overall and wouldn't be the same team without Russell. Crossing passes by Russell set up Canton's goals — scored by Shannon Meath, Molly Menard and Jenny Steinhebel.

MENARD'S AND Steinhebel's goals came minutes apart midway through the second half and broke a 1-1 tie.

"The broken hand has slowed me down, but I just try not to think about it," Russell said. "Everyone has injuries and you've got to play through them."

Said Canton coach Don Smith: "She's pretty tough to hold down. She's a good worker. She'll make things happen, I know that. We'd miss her quite a bit."

Stevenson, 3-2-1 overall, controlled play most of the first half, and the Spartans took the game's first lead when Karen Carney scored on an assist from teammate Nicole Quarles.

Meath tied the game 1-1 with less than a minute left in the half when she converted a pass from Russell, blasting it by Stevenson goalkeeper Alicia Smith.

STEVENSON HAD two fine opportunities early in the second half to take the lead, but a direct kick by Lisa Thomas was batted away by Canton keeper Michelle Fortier and Lori Godlewski slid a scoring chance wide of the net.

The Spartans seemed to play uninspired the rest of the way, and coach Mary Kay Hussey did not have any answers afterward. "They played well and we didn't play at all in the second half," Hussey said. "We had breakdowns in the team — the whole team.

"The goals weren't (goalkeeper) Alicia Smith's fault. We were hustling to the ball in the first half and moving to the ball."

Meath's goal near the end of the first half gave the Chiefs momentum at halftime, and it might have taken some away from the Spartans, Hussey said.

"If they didn't score at the end of the first half, it might have killed them," Hussey said. "Who knows? They're one of the stronger teams we played."

MEATH SAID Stevenson compares favorably with Salem, the No. 1-ranked team in Class A. Canton lost 2-0 last month to Salem.

"They have more of a passing game than Salem. Salem is a kick-ball team," Meath said.

The Spartans' passing game at midfield and the play of defender Tracy Morrell gave Canton trouble most of the night, but they couldn't match the Chiefs' second-half intensity. Canton plays at Northville — a state-ranked team — at 7 p.m. tonight, so Smith knew a win over Stevenson was of vital importance.

Northville is one of Canton's rivals in the Western Division of the Western Lakes Activities Association.

"You bet your boots this was important," Smith said. "We were on a downslide, and we had to get this one. Everyone played well — our defense offense, goaltending. We knew we had to come out and run (against Stevenson). They weren't going to stand still. Stevenson is a good, young team."

Team effort key to dual-meet win

Of the 16 events in Thursday's Plymouth Canton-at-Northville girls track meet, the Chiefs won 13, including 11-of-12 individual events. Among those 11 individual winners, there were no repeaters.

"Everybody's contributing," said Canton coach George Przygodski, whose team prevailed 90-38 to improve to 2-0 overall, 1-0 in the Western Lakes Activities Association's Western Division. "There are no double or triple winners."

Canton winners in field events were Ifoema Okwumabua in the shot put with a toss of 30-feet, two-inches; Marnie Smith in the discus (97-2); Heather Spencer in the high jump (5-2); and Khristina Kozuch in the long jump (14-11 3/4).

In the running events, Canton winners were Sandy Sherwin in the 100-meters (13.8); Alecia King in the 200 (29.9); Kristy Brugar in the 400 (1:05.3); Adrienne Garrow in the 800 (2:38.9); Cindy Spessard in the 1,600 (5:53.3); Amy Smith in the 3,200 (12:20.0); and Amy Van Buhler in the 100 hurdles (18.4).

Brugar, Okwumabua, Charlene McFaul and Sherwin teamed to win the 400 relay (55.8), and Lori Penland, Garrow, Missy Tashnowski and Kris Marquard combined to capture the 3,200 relay (11:09.3).

PLYMOUTH SALEM extended its unbeaten streak in girls track dual meets to 3-0 with an 84-44 trouncing of Westland John Glenn Thursday at Salem. The victory was the Rocks' first in Lakes Division competition. Jenny Harris collected three individual firsts and Amy Hobgood had a pair to spark the Salem triumph. Harris' wins came in the high jump (5-0) and the 100-meter (16.13) and 300-meter (50.66) hurdles; Hobgood was first in the 400 (1:04.6) and 800 (2:42.31).

"We had some good efforts and we continue to improve," said Rock coach Mark Gregor. "Our schedule gets tougher right away. Livonia Stevenson (Salem's next opponent, Thursday at 3:30 p.m. at Stevenson) will be a real challenge for us."

Other Salem individual winners were, in the field events Tara Murphy in the discus (82-6) and Triah Hill in the long jump (14-10 3/4); and on the track, Tracey Livermore in the 100 (13.49), Traci Thomas in the 1,600 (5:53.06) and Tammy Hickey in the 3,200 (12:42.07).

The Rocks swept all four relays. Kim Ploucha, Nikki Wygonik, Livermore and Andrea Kinnelly won the 400 (53.93); Wygonik, Ploucha, Hill and Rima Zayed were first in the 800 (1:54.5); Jenny Marahke, Livermore, Harris and Zayed captured the 1,600 (4:31.93); and Marahke, Holly Fody, Tammy Carlson and Hobgood triumphed in the 3,200 (11:35.37).

The loss was Glenn's third in five duals. The Rockets are 0-1 in Lakes' meets.

Jenny Harris won the high jump at 5 feet Thursday as the Plymouth Salem girls stayed unbeaten in dual meets, defeating Westland John Glenn. The Rocks are 3-0. The high jump was one of three events won by Harris, who was first in both hurdles races. BILL BRESLER/staff photographer

Canton leaves no doubt who's better

Chiefs whip Stevenson for 6-1 tennis triumph

By Brad Emons
staff writer

Plymouth Canton High proved that it takes more than one man to win a boys tennis match.

On Wednesday, the Chiefs overcame Hungarian exchange student Roland Wolff to beat Livonia Stevenson in a key Western Lakes Activities Association match, 6-1.

Canton is now 4-1 overall, while Stevenson dropped to 4-1. Wolff won the meet's feature match at No. 1 singles, downing Canton senior Jim Gallagher for the second time this season, 6-4, 6-1.

But it was all Canton thereafter as the Chiefs won all three doubles matches. Also, three of the six wins came in long, three-set matches.

"The score was 6-1, but it was a lot closer," said Canton coach Jim Hayes. "But our guys are fighters. Sometimes I had to look out there and say, 'Where's the fourth point (win) going to come from.'"

The Chiefs won six matches with two to spare.

EVEN THE LOSS by Gallagher to the talented Wolff, couldn't dampen Hayes' spirit.

"Jimmy played better than the last time," said the Canton coach. "The last time when they met, it was 6-2, 6-2 and it was over in 45 minutes. Jim made him (Wolff) work today."

"But he Wolff is very good. He should be a state qualifier."

Wolff is a good bet to be a state qualifier, even if the Spartans don't advance as a team.

But Canton may have an excellent shot to win the WLAA as long as senior Dan Orlandi (No. 2 singles) and junior Chris Harper (No. 4) continue their hot play.

Orlandi outlasted Mike Berens, 6-3, 5-7, 6-4, while the unbeaten Harper overcame Joe Emrich, 6-2, 7-6.

"Orlandi had a rough junior year (at No. 2), but right now he's playing better than he's ever played," Hayes said.

The Chiefs also prevailed at No. 3 singles where sophomore Brian Schmidt defeated Joe Soper, 6-3, 3-6, 6-3.

IN DOUBLES, Canton made it a clean sweep led by Tony Spagnola and Rod Jesena (No. 1), who edged Jeff Wiegand and Alan Paterson, 6-4, 7-6.

At No. 2 doubles, Jeff Binder and Scott Jones scored the most lopsided win on the day, smashing Bob Dimitriou and Bob Holycross, 6-2, 6-3.

In another close match at No. 3 doubles, Canton's Brad Flowers and Jeff Hines downed Scott Coru and Shane Miller, 6-4, 6-7, 7-6.

Hungarian tennis whiz does it all so effortlessly

ROLAND WOLFF'S TEAM-MATES often mispronounce his first name.

"They say Ruland or something like that," mused the No. 1 singles player for the Livonia Stevenson High tennis team.

But that is about as annoyed as the tall and gangly 18-year-old from Budapest, Hungary, ever gets.

Granted a year's visa, Wolff is spending a year here perfecting his English as well as his tennis game.

And it appears he's mastering both courses quite successfully.

His court-side demeanor mirrors his personality, very placid, but always polite. Wolff rarely shows any kind of emotion. It's a Borg-like quality. Very European.

"I never hit the ball hard," said Wolff, who speaks English very fluently. "I just try to be consistent and wait until the other guy makes a mistake."

On Wednesday, Wolff towered over his opponent — eight inches or so over Jim Gallagher of Plymouth Canton.

Gallagher is your typical scrappy American kid, who plays every point like it was his last.

And after losing to Wolff 6-2, 6-2 a couple of weeks ago, Gallagher altered his strategy somewhat for the return match.

GALLAGHER'S PLAN was to make this Goliath sweat and hope-fully make him feel like he was hitting against a wall, hours on end.

Ironically, the perspiration rang off Gallagher's shirt and Wolff gracefully walked off with another victory, 6-4, 6-1.

Brad Emons

Wolff comes off as humble sportsman, the type George Bush would nominate to some kind of ambassadorship.

That's because Wolff reflects a kinder and gentler nation our president calls for.

The 6-foot-4 foreign exchange student appears to have all the tools — big serve, long reach, a pinpoint backhand and a steady volley. And what makes him unique is that he does everything so effortlessly.

Wolff has been making opponents cry ever since he lost his opening match of the season to Southfield-Lathrup's Brett Drennick.

And by state tournament time Wolff may have his opponents crying uncle.

"I'd say he's the best player I've seen at Stevenson," said veteran coach George Croll. "Roland is very mature and easy going. I haven't had to do much coaching. When you play like that it's easy to coach."

NOT EVERYTHING has come easy for Wolff, who is living with cousin Gabriel Bandy of Livonia, an engineer with General Motors who came to this country in 1988.

Wolff admits he is still somewhat homesick.

Rocks clobber Stevenson

Jo Whiland, Katie Venaugh, Ann Munding and Kris Bradley got three hits apiece as Plymouth Salem topped Livonia Stevenson in a six-inning mercy softball game Friday, 14-1.

Munding drove in three runs; Venaugh delivered two, and Bradley had one RBI as the top half of the batting order did all the damage.

"It's been the same girls all season," Salem coach Rob Willette said. "The girls we need to be hitting aren't hitting. After the fifth spot, the girls aren't even hitting their weight."

Holly Hinemann stopped the Spartans on three hits and six walks, striking out three. The win improved Salem's record to 4-5 overall and to 3-1 in the Lakes Division.

CANTON 3, CHURCHILL 6: Kim Schulte figured in all the scoring for Plymouth Canton in a game dominated by pitching. Both Stacey Thompson and Livonia Churchill's Marilee Grom fired one-hitters, but Grom walked 13 while Thompson issued just one base on balls.

Schulte made Canton's only hit count. It came in the sixth inning after Julie Nicastri and Karen Keenan walked and Kelly Rische was hit by a pitch, loading the bases. Schulte singled to drive in two runs.

Schulte scored the game's first run in the fifth. She walked, stole second, went to third on a wild pitch and came home after Thompson walked and the Chiefs pulled a double steal.

The win improved Canton's record to 8-3 overall, 4-1 in the WLA's Western Division.

On Wednesday, Canton upended Livonia Franklin 4-3 with two unearned runs in the sixth inning.

Franklin led 3-2, but the Chiefs had Thompson on third and Val Gildhaus on second in the sixth when the Patriot catcher tried to pick off Thompson but threw wildly into left field, allowing both runners to score. Canton's first two runs came in the first on Rhonda Kibillo's single.

Thompson was the winning pitcher, limiting Franklin to four hits and four walks.

JOHN GLENN 18, FARMINGTON 6: Jimmy Massey gave Farmington very little chance to upset top Western John Glenn team. She allowed the Patriots just two hits — a Jimmy McAllister single in the first, and a Kristen Norman single in the fifth — in hitting the Rockets to a lopsided win Friday at Farmington.

Massey did not walk a batter and struck out one. Farmington pitcher Lisa Gale was just as tough through three innings, but John Glenn — 5-3 overall — pushed across two runs in the fourth, five in the fifth, two in the sixth and one in the seventh.

Tracy Syvester had three hits and knocked in a run, and Michelle Myers and Kristen Beeny each had two hits for Glenn. Gale pitched all seven innings for Farmington (now 9-8) and gave up 13 hits and nine walks.

On Wednesday, Massey gave up just three hits in Glenn's 19-1 win over Plymouth Salem. She walked seven and struck out five.

The Rockets got 10 hits in the game, with Christine Hoffman getting three and Myers and Tracy Martin accounting for two each. Hoffman scored four runs; Martin scored three and Myers had two. Martin and Myers also had one RBI each.

Christine August was the loser for Salem. She lasted six innings and gave up 11 runs. Holly Hinemann pitched the final inning for the Rockets. Salem's only run came in the fourth inning on Ann Munding's double and Betsy McAllister's run-scoring single.

Salem blanks Lakes baseball foe

Howie Blanchard and Rob Kowalski combined on a five-hit shutout Friday for Plymouth Salem, a 6-0 winner over Livonia Stevenson.

The victory improved the Rocks to 5-2 in the Lakes Division of the Western Lakes Activities Association, 5-3 overall.

Blanchard started and moved his mark to 3-1, throwing a three-hitter over five innings. Kowalski pitched the final two innings and surrendered two hits and fanned three.

Paul Namel went 4 1/3 innings and suffered the loss for Stevenson, giving up eight hits.

Tom Noonan, who has 13 hits in eight games for Salem, went 2-for-3 as did J.P. LaRoche. Dave Noonan's two-run double in the first inning and Kevin Beals' solo homer in the second highlighted Salem's scoring.

Scott Kosikowski had two hits for Stevenson.

Stevenson beat Watford Lake Central, 4-1 Thursday in a Lakes game.

Mike Dallmonte picked up his second win against one loss, hurling a complete game. He allowed three hits and struck out six.

Rob Chanko and Paul Namel had two hits. Single RBI belonged to Chanko, Namel and Kosikowski.

John Glenn knocked off Salem 9-7 Wednesday, as Bob Lawrence earned the win for the Rockets.

Salem's Tim Lake was 2-for-4 with one RBI, and Scott Niemiec had a single, a home run and two RBI. Brian Stephenson, Bryant Satterlee, Eric Stover and Jerry Shippe had two hits apiece for the Rockets.

Sophomore Scott Rodgers started for Salem, but reliever Dave Mackowicz worked the last 2 1/3 innings and took the loss.

"Had we played up to our capabilities, we could have won that ball game," Salem coach John Gravin said.

CHURCHILL 3, CANTON 2: Livonia Churchill upset visiting Plymouth Canton in eight innings Friday to move its Western Division record to 3-2.

Dan Ackerman went the distance for Churchill, striking out four and allowing five hits. Jeff Kugelmann suffered the loss in relief of starter Mike Sulak.

Bob Perros' suicide squeeze bunt drove in Ray Foley, who led off the eighth inning with a single.

Churchill's win came on the heels of its 18-2 loss Wednesday to Farmington Harrison. Jeff Skinner had three hits and three RBI and Dan Justice was 3-for-3 with two RBI to lead Harrison's win.

GLENN 12, FARMINGTON 4: Mark Johnston gave up nine hits Friday for Westland John Glenn's baseball team, but it was good enough to lead the Rockets to a 12-4 win over visiting Farmington.

The Rockets scored nine runs in the third inning to propel them to their fourth win in five Lakes Division (Western Lakes) encounters. Glenn is 6-1 overall, while Farmington fell to 2-3 in the Lakes, 5-3 overall.

Johnston, who moved to 3-0, walked only two and struck out none in going the distance. Brian Vicchio suffered the loss, and lasted only two innings and gave up six runs for Farmington. Scott Lakatos relieved.

Bryant Satterlee was 3-for-3 with an RBI and scored two runs for Glenn. Bob Lawrence had two hits, two RBI and scored two runs, and Eric Stover also drove in a pair on two hits.

Kevin Van Ord led Farmington's hitting parade with three hits. P.J. Green had two hits and scored twice.

Farmington defeated North Farmington, 8-3 Wednesday at home, getting a strong seven-inning, eight-hit outing from Norm Celinska. Jeff Rejc was handed the loss, pitching 5 1/3 innings in a starting role. Only three of the seven runs Rejc allowed were earned.

Green was 3-for-3 and scored three runs and knocked in two while Van Ord and Chris Adams had two hits apiece. Joe Sturtz was 3-for-3 and scored two runs for North.

HARRISON 7, NORTHVILLE 2: Jason Lichtman earned the win for the Hawks, who remained undefeated in six games, 4-0 in the Western Division of the Western Lakes Activities Association.

Lichtman scattered four hits in six innings and Gary Devine relieved in the seventh.

Rob MacDonald had a two-run homer in the first inning for Harrison and singled in the fifth. Harrison stole six bases with two belonging to Mill Coleman, who scored twice.

In a game played Wednesday, Harrison had 20 hits and bombarded Livonia Churchill, 18-2.

Steve Miller, who went six innings, and Devine, combined on a four-hitter.

Jeff Skinner had three hits and three RBI and Dan Justice was 3-for-3 with two RBI to lead Harrison's attack. Sean Murray also hit safely three times, while Lichtman, Tim Horton and MacDonald had two hits apiece.

TRENTON 3, WAYNE 1: Billy Wicker worked eight innings on the mound for Wayne Memorial Friday, but his teammates could muster only one run behind him against Trenton.

Rob Puckett and Roger Ayers had two hits apiece for Wayne, 1-4 in the Wolverine A Conference, 2-7 overall. Trenton remained unbeaten in six games.

Wayne's only run came on in the sixth when Ayers singled home Puckett, who had tripled.

Trenton tied the score in the seventh on a squeeze bunt, and scored two more times in the top of the eighth on a Wayne throwing error and a sacrifice fly.

HURON VALLEY 7, PLYMOUTH CHRISTIAN 3: Plymouth Christian posted a 3-1 win Friday, chasing Huron Valley pitcher Steve Henz after only 1 1/3 innings. Christian is 4-6 overall.

Flyers post unbeaten season

The Flyers of the Plymouth-Canton Hockey Association won the regular-season Mite A championship in the Adray Community Hockey League with a 21-0-1 record.

Team members were Tony Keshishian, Mike Porter, Justin Schroeder, Stevie Jackson, Jason Brassfield, Nikki Derouin, Mike Schultz, Derek Hodgins, Ricky Marnon, Mark Mink and Trevor Oger.

The Flyers featured a high-scoring offense that averaged six goals per game while their defense limited opponents to 34 goals during the entire season. The traveling Flyers, consisting of players age 7 to 9, are products of the PCHA's Mite House program.

The Flyers, who also won the Little Caesars Thanksgiving Tournament, finished the year at 32-0-2 after beating the Lansing Spartans 4-1 in the Adray championship game.

The team was coached by Dick Marnon, Bob Mink and Gary Schultz. Jackie Marnon was the team manager.

Gymnast captures state title

Thirteen-year-old Courtney Gonyea of Canton won the state championship on the balance beam at the Class II state gymnastics meet last month in Bay City.

Gonyea, Kim Berres and Katey Gilles are members of the Gym America Club. Gonyea and Berres, 12, competed in the Junior Division and Gilles, 10, in the Children's Division. Berres and Gilles are from Plymouth.

Gonyea also took fifth place in floor exercise. Berres placed sixth on the uneven bars and balance beam and was ninth in the all-around. Gilles was fourth on bars, beam and all-around.

In the regional meet April 21-22 at Denison University in Ohio, Gilles was sixth on bars, Berres 11th on beam and 14th on bars, Gonyea 11th on floor.

John Glenn tips Rocks in dual meet

Westland John Glenn handed Plymouth Salem its first boys track dual-meet loss Thursday, defeating the visiting Rocks 82-66.

The loss dropped Salem to 5-1 overall and 0-1 in the Lakes Division. The Rocks won four of the five field events, but Glenn won five of the eight running events and swept the relay races.

Roger Parry was a triple winner for Salem, clearing 6 feet, 2 inches in the high jump and placing first in the long jump at 30-3/4 and the high hurdles at 15.5.

Rick Van Dornelle won the shot put for Salem with a throw of 44-1/4, and Don Parrish earned a first by throwing the discus 119 feet.

Salem's other wins belonged to Scott Stryker, who claimed first place in the 1,600-meter run at 4:36.4 and the 3,200 run at 10:18.8.

Glenn's Andrew Dobbins won the 100 and 200 dashes in 11.2 and 23.2, and he anchored the winning 400 and 800 relays teams, too.

PLYMOUTH CANTON opened the Western Division dual-meet season in impressive fashion Thursday, downing visiting Northville 78-61.

The win keeps Canton undefeated at 2-0 overall.

Brian Beach won two events for the Chiefs — the 1,600 run (4:46.9) and the 3,200 run (10:16.4).

Single wins were recorded by Mike DeJarnett in the high jump (5-9), Eric Miller in the long jump (19-8), Ron Staples in the 400 run (52.9) and Mike Ream in the 800 run (2:06.7).

Ream also figured in two of Canton's three relay wins. Ream, Miller, Dave Washenko and Jeff Prylak won the 1,600 relay in 3:41.1, and Ream teamed with Jason Napolitano, Beach and Matt Boland to win the 3,200 relay in 8:43.5.

In addition, Canton's Jeremy Rheault, Don Green, Staples and Miller combined to win the 800 relay in 1:36.8.

The Chiefs have a key division meet Thursday when they travel to Livonia Churchill.

Exchange student eyes state meet

"The first two or three months was the hardest," he said. "I started to miss Hungary. I missed being there. I missed by mom and dad, my friends."

Adapting to the culture and the food often took its toll on Wolff's nerves.

"Sometimes my stomach hurts," he said. "I weigh 177 here, but I should weigh 190. The food is very different, but I like turkey."

Wolff is gradually becoming more comfortable with his surroundings and it's starting to show his true skills. ("I used to be good player," he confesses.)

But before his arrival, Wolff was out for seven months because of ankle surgery. And to compound his problems on the court, he had to make the transition from clay to hard surfaces while in the states.

And then there's the difference in racquets.

For the first time he is using a Prince Graphite, an oversized model.

"At first I was scared to hit," he said, referring to the match against Drenick. "He (Drenick) is a very good player, a consistent player, but I haven't lost since I played with my new racquet."

WOLFF IS GETTING better, but he may never be as good or as famous as some of Hungary's sports heroes such as Balazs Taroczy (tennis), Tomas Danyi (swimming) or Zolt Komoromy (wrestling).

Wolff, however, has already made a name for himself around the western Wayne County tennis community.

"He's a smart player, he doesn't miss much at all," said Gallagher. "I tried to keep the ball going, but he was more consistent. He covers the court well."

"The last time out I was more aggressive, but this time I didn't want to make as many mistakes. I thought I had my chances. Hopefully I'll get one more shot at him in the conference meet."

Canton coach Jim Hayes has faced the likes of state powers Ann Arbor Huron and Ann Arbor Pioneer this season. He believes Wolff belongs in the same class with their No. 1 singles players.

"He's right up there, that's for sure," said Hayes of the Stevenson ace. "He's comparable to the guy at Plymouth Salem — Rich Cundiff."

Wolff has not ruled out staying in the states and playing collegiate tennis.

His father, Peter, a manager for Inter-Continental Hotel in Budapest, would not be opposed to the idea.

"PERHAPS, possibly," said the Stevenson netter. "I'm not going home until June or July. I'm an only child. It's my option. I don't know yet. It's hard (the decision)."

But the prospect of furthering his education at an American university is enticing. Wolff would like to major in business management.

And with what appears to be a good head on his shoulders, Wolff should be able to master any field he chooses.

As a student in the Livonia Schools, he starts the day by taking two English courses at Churchill, where he hitches a ride with teammate Matt Donner. That is followed by courses at Stevenson in Life Management, Physical Education and Business Math ("I just dropped it, not enough time for tennis. That's my sixth hour," he said).

In Budapest, Wolff attends school from 8 a.m. until 2 p.m. each day before developing his outside hobbies and interests.

"Usually you participate in a club, or a major sport, but it's very expensive," he said. "High school competition is different here than in Hungary. We have no high school teams, we just play for the club."

His club now is Stevenson and it won't be long before teammates or opponents learn how to pronounce the name of one of its most heralded members.

Salem trims Mustangs

Erin Harvey scored both goals Wednesday as No. 1-ranked Plymouth Salem defeated Northville, another Western Lakes Activities Association soccer power, 2-1.

Sara Hayes and Jill Estey assisted on the goals. Salem goalkeeper Jennifer Emmett allowed her first goal of the season. The Rocks outshot the visitors 14-10.

"We played well, but it was a tough game," Salem coach Ken Johnson said. "Northville was fired up."

The Rocks boast a 6-0 record.

clarification

In the Thursday, April 20, issue of the Observer, Brian Beach was inadvertently omitted from the list of tri-captains on the Plymouth Canton boys track team. The other captains are Ron Staples and Jeremy Rheault.

In the name of sports

Indianapolis by any other name is "the 500," but the Indiana state capital has carved out a niche for itself in sports other than car racing. It's now pegging itself as a world-class sports city and the "amateur sports capital" of the U.S. See Page 6D.

FLANNEL MICHIGANIAN

and all for sale

By Carolyn DeMarco
staff writer

Just suppose!
Your folks in Florida are pining for Traverse City cherry preserves or Sanders hot fudge.
Your kids in the Ivy League ask you to send a souvenir of the home state to further clutter up the dormitory.
Your "show me" client in St. Louis wants a real look at the Cedar Springs red flannel long Johns or the famous Petoskey stone.
Where do you go in search of those things? Maybe not as far as you think.

If you're in Birmingham try Michiganiana, located, since October downstairs at 205 Pierce, across from Punchinello's.

The Birmingham location is one of three stores owned by David Hayhow, chairman of the board of Publicom, Inc., a mid-Michigan public relations firm, and his wife Jan, former deputy director of the Michigan Travel Bureau.

The store is devoted exclusively to the sale of items guaranteed to be authentic Michiganiana - created and produced in Michigan by Michigani-ans.

THE FIRST Michiganiana store opened early last year in Lansing with products from 75 producers, artists and craftsmen. A second boutique-size store opened in October in East Lansing's Holiday Inn University Place.

Birmingham's Michiganiana is 1,200 square feet with an estimated 1,500 separate products from 200 producers. The inventory, according to store manager Gail Bahl, ranges from quarter postcards to $760 Kalamazoo train sets.

"We try to offer a wide variety of quality Michigan products," she said. "You'd be amazed at the quality we find."

Every item sold in the store is juried through the Lansing office's general buyer although all stores have input.

"It boils down to quality," Bahl said. "We're very strict about quality. We're always looking for new products, but we're limited by time and resources."

Some small-scale artisans have found Michiganiana, while other larger producers like Pewabic Pottery were sought by store buyers.

"I'm sure they could live without us," Bahl said.

Known entities include Pewabic's ceramics, Sanders' goodies, Gwen Frostic's prints on stationery and Whitehall Metal Studio's weather vanes, sun dials and mailbox markers.

Every item sold comes with an insert card telling the buyer a little about the product and the artist.

For instance, the card on American Spoon Foods reads:

"JUSTIN RASHID, a self-proclaimed food forager, began his gourmet food business in 1978 in a small northern Michigan market, selling only the finest wild blackber-ries, blueberries and morel mushrooms. Today, he oversees production of award-winning preserves, catsups, jams and other gourmet items that are stirred in small batches with wooden paddles in copper kettles at American Spoon Foods' charming Petoskey kitchen and shop in Lake Street."

Other items include fudge and vinegars, state history travel and cookbooks, games, bird houses, decorative boxes, wooden vases, jewelry, candles, quilts and art prints. Many are featured in a Michiganiana catalog available at the store.

Some sample producers are:

- Red Flannel Factory in Cedar Springs, makers of red flannel underwear. Long Johns for men are $42, items for kids, from $14.
- Harmony Hollow Bell Works of Ann Arbor makes windchime bells "guaranteed for 350 years." Prices range from $25-$100.
- Aristoplay in Ann Arbor makes educational board games in the $20-$30 price range. "By Jove" is a classical adventure requiring some knowledge of mythology. There's also "Music Maestro" on music themes and "Made for Trade" on early American life.
- Frank and Mary Anne Ettawagashik of Karlin create pottery through an Indian process using decaying granite. Prices range from $5-$60.
- Bill Stinson of Birmingham hand makes Birmingham sweatshirts for $26.

Bahl is always willing to talk to Michigani-ans about stocking new products. Call first at 647-1444 to sound her out.

Getting married Hawaiian style

By Debbie Sklar
special writer

Hawaii.

A place far off in the Pacific where coconut palms sway above little grass shacks, beaches glisten with white, golden or black sand, and dark-eyed women, wrapped with flower necklaces, trail their hands in the smooth waters of a palm-ringed lagoon.

And every night, as the setting sun slips into a gold-brushed sea, the air is filled with the strumming of guitars and the aroma of roast suckling pigs and taro. Silken evening breezes and sun-warmed sea; the casual extravagance of orchids tossed on your pillows at night.

Oh, what a place for a wedding!

"Almost everyone has dreamed at one time or another of being married in paradise, amid tropical splendor, whispering surf and the soft winds that are Hawaii," said Lurline Waring, owner of the Damien Waring Estate in Honolulu, Hawaii.

Now that dream is coming true for an ever increasing number of couples each year. They're being married in Hawaii at Waring's $2 million ocean-front estate.

Hawaii, already the number one honeymoon destination, is quickly becoming the "in" spot to get married, according to Waring.

"Hawaii is the most beautiful and exotic place anyone could ever imagine," said Debra Holmes of Livonia. "It was a logical place for our wedding after all the chaos and trouble we went through trying to plan it."

DEBRA, 36, AND her husband Randy, 35, were married on Nov. 25, 1988, at the Damien Waring Estate after a tough bout with pre-wedding planning. They were engaged for six months before their marriage.

"I looked through dozens of travel brochures ranging from the Poconos to Las Vegas; nothing appealed to me," said Debra, an as-

Randy and Debra Holmes were the picture of contentment when they posed for their wedding portrait on the grounds of the Damien Waring Estate in Hawaii.

Suspense holds 'Criminal Law' together

Winona Ryder stars as Veronica Sawyer, a high school junior, in New World Pictures' outrageous black comedy, "Heathers."

"Jackie" (B+, R, 96 minutes), the Robert DeNiro Vietnam vet story, was rescheduled at the last minute. Check last week's "Street Scene" for a discussion of the excellent acting that carries this film despite some significant structural flaws in its plot.

"Criminal Law" (B, R) works well as a suspense thriller, but falls dismally as a psychological portrait of two men, defense attorney Ben Chase (Gary Oldman) who becomes obsessed with entrapping his own client, a serial killer, Martin Thiel (Kevin Bacon).

"Oldman's character has a cynical charm that slowly emerges as the motivation for his moral conviction as well as propelling his descent to the murderous level of the evil he confronts. Bacon captures the aloofness and total dementia of the serial killer.

The film has problems with both the plot and dialogue as events are so obviously contrived that they spoil the mood. Writer Mark Kasdan is heavy-handed as he attempts to mirror Oldman's descent through the eyes of Bacon's character, but using a blow torch while talking about the fires of purification is about as subtle as using a sledgehammer to hang a picture.

Director Martin Campbell must have realized these problems as, for the most part, he focuses attention on a strong sense of suspense. On that level, "Criminal Law" succeeds nicely. (Reviewed by Susan Finchman.)

"84 Charlie Mopic" (B, R, 95 minutes) is another look at the Vietnam War, this time through the eyes of the "grunt," the common foot soldier, slogging through the jungle on a reconnaissance mission. "Mopic" is jargon for motion picture, and the unusual twist here is that the story is seen through the eyes of a young cameraman sent with the recon squad to film footage for an Army training film.

The camera is right among the men, almost like another person, providing a particular point of view as the men talk to it, tell it their dreams and hopes for the future as well as their fears of the present.

The fact that this recon squad consists of five veterans, specially trained paratroopers on their last mission before leaving Nam, adds poignancy to their commentary and confessions to the camera run by a newcomer. The fact that they're commanded by a "green" lieutenant reinforces the film's impact. (Reviewed by Kathy Guyor.)

"Heathers" (C+, R, 100 minutes) is all about popular, powerful, clique-ish and trend-setting girls in a Midwestern high school. But their hijinks go awry. The three most popular girls are all named Heather and the new girl breaking into the crowd is Veronica (Winona Ryder). Her name's different and so, of course, is she. Although she doesn't really like the "Heathers," she plays their silly games in order to be popular.

Veronica finds love with Jason (Christopher Slater), who shoots a gun in the school cafeteria to frighten the jocks. Veronica and Jason decide to trick everyone, but the movies

Dan Greenberg

Jason turns it into murder disguised as suicide.

Well, there's a lot more and it's not a teenage story as the film points a finger at delinquent parents, police officers who perform poorly and teachers who turn teen suicides into media events. The film has so many messages that it gets confusing and you might as well wait until the video arrives. It's promised for July 25, 1989. (Reviewed by Kathy Guyor.)

"The Horror Show" (D-, R, 90 minutes) is just that and it's another one of those criminally bad productions about a hatchet murderer, Max Jenke (Brion James), who returns after being executed in the electric chair. He invades the dreams of the police officer (Lance Henriksen) who captured him. The film is never clear what is a dream and what is not, but with laughably poor special effects, Max gets to butcher lots of people in highly unoriginal ways. It truly is a horror. (Reviewed by Kathy Guyor.)

"K-9" (C+, PG-13, 100 minutes) asks the question, "Who is smarter, man or beast?" The answer certainly is not director Rod Daniel, who apparently thinks one funny scene makes a great movie.

That truly funny scene involves narcotics detective Thomas Dooley (James Belushi) convincing his superior, Lt. Brannigan (Ed O'Neill), to let him team up with Jerry Lee, a German Shepherd police dog trained to track down drug smugglers.

Dooley is obsessed with his work and that makes it tough on his girlfriend, Tracy (Mel Harris) — that's right, an actress named Mel — but she doesn't mind him bringing the dog home. In fact, Dooley has to compete with the dog for her affections.

Well, there's a lot of potential here, but it's not well realized as Daniel and director of photography Dean Semler erroneously conclude that a fast-paced, attractive film has lots of subjective camera plus short, choppy shots that blur back- and foreground while tracking actors. They were wrong; it was just overdone and twitchy.

"Loverboy" (C, PG-13) is the latest from Joan Micklin Silver ("Hester Street" and "Crossing Delancy"). It stars Patrick Dempsey, Kate Jackson, Barbara Carrera, Kirstie Allen and Carrie Fisher, among others, in a story about a young man learning how to treat women.

"A Sinful Life" (C) (R) deals with the problems of a single mother and her unusual child. From the advance materials available, it doesn't look like a major motion picture.

Grading the movies

A+	Top marks - sure to please
A	Close behind - excellent
A-	Still in running for top honors

ALTERNATIVE VIEWING

Breillat takes look at her life in '36 Fillette'

By Anne Sharp
special writer

By American standards, French filmmakers have a downright indecent fascination with child sexuality. Frank, nonjudgmental depictions of 12- to 17-year-olds sporting with each other — or, more often, with adults old enough to be their parents — are hair-raisingly common place in movies exported from this devoutly Catholic country.

A prime example of this is "36 Fillette" at the Tele-Arts this week. The fact that this sexual coming-of-age tale was directed by a woman, Catherine Breillat, proves it's not just dirty old men like Louis Malle who find inspiration in this sort of subject matter.

Malle, you'll remember, grossed out thousands of decent American filmgoers a decade ago by casting little Brooke Shields as a 13-year-old happy hooker in "Pretty Baby." Commentators expressed concern and indignation over Malle's salacious exploitation of this young, impressionable performer.

Interestingly enough, few if any eyebrows were raised during the recent re-release of Malle's "Murmur of the Heart," and few questions were asked about whether or not it was a good thing for Malle to ask the pubescent Benoit Ferreux to play a 14-year-old boy who is shown engaged in the act of love with three women, including his own mother.

"36 FILLETTE" is the story of Lili (Delphine Zentout), a 14-year-old who, in the words of her older brother, is "ripe for the plucking."

On vacation with her family in Biarritz and feeling restless, she strikes up a flirtation with Maurice (Etienne Chicot), a 40-year-old computer salesman.

Breillat reports that her portrayal of Delphine is autobiographical in spirit, based on an early relationship with an older man "for whom I felt both extreme attraction and repulsion."

Eventually, Lili and Maurice engage in an erotic encounter in one long, unbroken scene that lasts 11 1/2 minutes. Lili also goes to bed with another teenager but isn't very impressed by the experience.

Breillat is aware that making such a film would not endear her to those concerned about the image of women in films. Indeed, her first feature film, "Tapage Nocturne," raised feminist hackles with its portrayal of a woman willingly engaged in a sadomasochistic affair.

"My own position is that a woman must be a militant feminist in life," Breillat said, "but when she is making a work of art, things are different. Real life is confused."

"As a feminist, it is difficult to take responsibility for feelings, such as unease, confusion, shame, self-destruction and sadomasochism — all these human feelings you can claim as an individual, but as a feminist, they are obviously not the ones you can easily highlight."

INTERESTINGLY, Breillat reported that "36 Fillette" did not go over all that well in the "land of ooh-la-la."

"Audiences in France did not accept the film," she said. "When the lights came on at the end, you could see they were furious. Whereas, to my great surprise, in Toronto, they were entirely positive and in New York, people were howling with laughter."

"French people did not laugh at the film at all because I touched on things that are completely taboo, things that are too disturbing."

A Solid Gold Invitation to WJR Listeners

Dear WJR Listener,

Just recently I had dinner with a couple of friends who, like you, listen to WJR. We began talking about the similarities and differences between our station, WKSJ/KISS-FM, and WJR.

They told me there are many reasons they listen to WJR. J.P. McCarthy has been around for years and has become a habit with some listeners. He talks to newsmakers, politicians, sports figures and famous coaches. The rest of the day there's talk about different issues every hour—about abortion, drugs, the latest diet fad, AIDS or gardening.

On my show in the morning at WKSJ famous people often call in, so I get to talk to celebrities just like J.P. I must admit that I too enjoy being a name dropper! The big difference is that I talk mostly to everyday listeners like yourself. Call Damone and me at 298-6090 and see who answers the phone!

Where WJR (like most AM stations) emphasizes news, talk and play-by-play sporting events—KISS-FM emphasizes the music! Tune us in at 102.7 on the FM band and see what we mean by "DETROIT'S GREAT OLDIES, ALL THE TIME!" Many people who listen to WJR for talk, tell us they listen to KISS-FM for music.

Because WJR is more of a regional station with listeners in Flint, Ann Arbor and beyond they cover the news in great length. KISS highlights the major stories of the day and concentrates more on local events in your neighborhood, with accurate and concise updates of local news, local weather and traffic.

On The Paul Christy Show, Damone and I carry through on this local focus. In fact, chances are pretty good I talked with a neighbor of yours on the air in the past week.

As good as WJR may be, they can't possibly be your radio station all the time. We at WKSJ/KISS-FM know that even the most avid sports fan may not want to listen to radio play-by-play of every sporting event and many of us need a rest from the discussion of abortion and AIDS from time to time.

YOUR SOLID GOLD INVITATION... TAKE "THE KISS-FM LISTENING TEST!"

Next time you are tuned to WJR and they are broadcasting something that doesn't interest you... TUNE to WKSJ 102.7 KISS-FM. We are offering you an alternative WKSJ plays "Detroit's Great Oldies All the Time"—songs from the 60's and 70's (just like the few songs WJR plays every day), the best songs of Roy Orbison, Neil Diamond, the Beach Boys and the Motown Sound. The big difference is that we play more records per hour and in FM stereo! For some of you the difference between FM Stereo and AM will be as stark as the difference between color and black and white TV!

And... speaking of TV, fill out and return the form below and you may win one from us! Naturally I hope you choose color!

Sincerely,

Paul Christy

Campus 'stars' make the move to mainstream

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

Tammy Faye Bakker indirectly helped in the make-up of Guadalcanal Diary's latest album, "Flip-Flop." And we're not talking about applying rouge to the record sleeve, either.

The Athens, Ga., based band recorded their fourth LP at Reflection Studios in Charlotte, NC. — the very same place Bakker cooed and yodeled her albums.

"She left a lot of atmosphere," said Murray Attaway, vocalist and guitar player for Guadalcanal Diary. "You know how recording studios have framed album covers on the wall of albums that were done there. She had about 10."

"When we were doing the song, 'Ten Laws,' the engineer kept bringing out this one album cover with her in a fur into the vocal booth. It aggravated me to the point I'd deliver a more impassioned vocal each time I looked at it."

Some were so impassioned, they became angry screams that couldn't be used on the disc.

But the song on "Flip-Flop" (Elektra) is one of many thought-inspiring, riveting numbers. The latest effort by Guadalcanal Diary certainly might rank as its best.

After making progress with last year's "2 X 4," the four-member band is poised to break out of the college circuit.

IF THIS story sounds familiar, look up R.E.M. They, too, are from Athens. They, too, have made the transition from a campus favorite to mainstream success.

Guadalcanal Diary's jangling sound has often been compared to Stipe and Buck Inc. For every similarity, though, Attaway has scissors. Let's start with being from the same hometown.

"That's what's ironic," Attaway said. "We're not originally from Athens (They are from Marietta, Ga.). We never really consider ourselves part of the Athens scene, no matter what year you're talking about — 1981 or 1989."

"We spent a lot of time in the early part of our existence denying any connection with Athens whatsoever. That's difficult to explain that you're not part of the Athens scene, especially when you move there."

What Guadalcanal Diary won't deny is their continual involvement as a band with bite.

"Flip-Flop" marks the emergence of drummer John Poe as a songwriter. He wrote five of the album's 11 songs.

Usually, Jeff Walls and Attaway take care of the songwriting chores. One Walls-Attaway collaboration on "Flip-Flop" is the multi-layered ballad "Ten Laws."

Guadalcanal Diary includes Murray Attaway, John Poe, Rhett Crowe and Jeff Walls.

Attaway was inspired from an essay by mythology scholar Joseph Campbell. The erudite-looking vocalist/guitarist said the essay related how ineffective Christian ethos is when taken literally in the 20th Century.

THE ALBUM covers of Tammy Faye Bakker only helped drive the point home when recording the song.

Along with Bakker, the band had help from producer guru Don Dixon (Smithereens, R.E.M., Marshall Crenshaw). It marked the third time Dixon and the band has collaborated.

Dixon has been instrumental in bringing out the group's snarl. Yet he doesn't suffocate the rather adroit musicianship band members possess.

"Don doesn't have any big attitude problems," Attaway said. "He's just a real good guy. He doesn't come into the studio with a super ego. He might be a superstar producer, but he doesn't act like it."

Guadalcanal Diary doesn't act like a band that might be on the threshold of bigger things. They're very active in the causes they believe in.

One of which is the animal rights movement.

Last June, the band performed in a People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals (PETA) concert in Washington, D.C., along with Howard Jones, Natalie Merchant and Peter Buck of 10,000 Maniacs.

The group is working on songs for an upcoming PETA album. Attaway's views on the subject are to the point.

"I don't have a big problem with a person eating meat, if they want to," he said. "I'm not going to get on a soap box, telling people they should do this and they shouldn't do that."

"I don't like it the way animals are raised for consumption. Their lives are little patches of misery. I don't think we have a right to do that. . . . I wouldn't treat my cat like that."

Guadalcanal Diary will perform along with special guests, Treat Her Right, Friday, May 5, at The Ritz, 17580 Frazho, Roseville. For information, call 778-8150.

Roulette: Funny, serious, dramatic

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

Girls, girls, girls. Sure, the rock band Roulette writes about them.

But, hey, these guys pen them from a different viewpoint. You know, avoiding those cliches like potholes on Telegraph Road. At least that's the good word from Zen, a guitarist with the band.

"How many times can you write about girls without saying the same thing?" asked Zen, who lives in Warren. "We try to write our songs from a different perspective."

An example, perhaps, is needed. Jaye McIntosh of Farmington Hills, who is the lead singer, gladly obliges. He offers this little ditty from a Roulette song, "Sin, Sin, Sindy."

"Hey little baby, I can see through your disguise; Your deception and your filthy lies," said McIntosh, dutifully reciting the lines. "This girl, I can tell. See, everyone thinks this girl is an angel. Then it goes, 'You've got it down, you look so naive . . . na, na, na . . . Sin, Sin, Sindy.' People can relate to it."

Betcha Gloria Steinem would just love to throw down to that one.

THE BAND has become a well-known entity, performing regularly at such hallowed halls of rock'n'roll as The Ritz, New York New York and the Token Lounge in Westland. Also enhancing Roulette's stock is its knack of landing on radio promotion recording projects.

Roulette has gathered a following on the local music trail, performing regularly at The Ritz, New York New York and the Token Lounge in Westland.

The four-man outfit has songs featured on WRIF-FM "Local Riffs" CD and on the soon-to-be released WLLZ-FM's "Digital Detroit, II." Hocus pocus, and suddenly, Roulette has everything in focus.

The group is working on their own tape, which they intend to release in the not-so-distant future. From there, anything is possible in their minds. Record deal, sure why not? Chance to hob-nob with Guns'n'Roses? Hey, anything is possible. By the way, what's W. Axl Rose's favorite drink?

"There's a lot of bands out there," said Zen, who won't offer his real name. "We have our show. We have our look together to the point we feel we can compete with other bands. We take a lot of time writing our songs."

And added McIntosh: "They don't just let anybody on CDs."

Good point. But they didn't let Roulette on the first time around. The band's song, "Temporary Permanence," was beat out by a tune from Ann Arbor's neo-intellectual rockers Map of the World.

So Roulette sent in another offering. This time "Lost Without Love" struck paydirt. Ironically, the much harder edged "Temporary Permanence" will be on "Digital Detroit, II."

WITH THAT type of push, Roulette hopes to go where few bands have gone. Their stuff definitely has commercial possibilities. McIntosh said his group avoids the political and dodges the obscure when writing songs.

REVIEWS

BASEBALL'S GREATEST HITS — various artists

As a musical subject baseball ranks right up there with stamp collecting. But that hasn't prevented songwriters and musicians from trying to immortalize the diamond sport and its heroes in song.

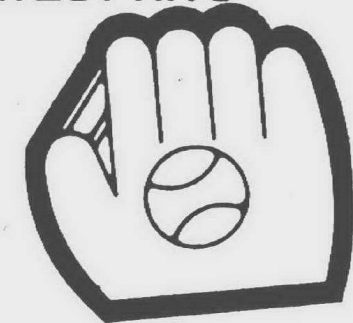

Rhino, that inventive little California-based label, captures many of the best in this amusing collection.

Some of these songs were even hits. The Intruders' "Love Is Like a Baseball Game" graced the Top 30 in 1968, that most magical of Tiger years. Bandleader Les Brown's "Joltin' Joe DiMaggio" was also a national hit way back in 1941, the year its subject batted safely in a record 56 consecutive games.

Most of these, however, are novelty songs. "I Love Mickey" features the first and mercifully last record appearance by Yankee slugger Mickey Mantle, providing spoken backup to '60s pop star Teresa Brewer.

Jazzman David Frishberg's "Van Lingle Mungo" celebrates the hard throwing, hard living 1930s Dodgers pitcher, along with a number of equally obscure ballplayers of the same vintage.

Steve Goodman's "A Dying Cub Fan's Last Request" might be a tad too serious for this light-hearted collection. Lou Gehrig's famous 1939 farewell speech, also included, can still bring a tear or two from even the toughest of bleacher bums.

Other historic broadcast clips include Bobby Thomson's 1951 pennant-winning home run and Dodger manager Tommy Lasorda's expletive-deleted assessment of Mets star Dave Kingman, a track itself better left deleted.

Inclusion of Abbott and Costello's classic "Who's on First" and DeWitt Hopper's vintage 1909 recitation of "Casey At the Bat," the set's opener and closer, returns things to their proper perspective.

In baseball lingo, this is a solid hit. And a must for fans. (Of special interest to Tigers rooters: "Move Over Babe: Here Comes Henry," a tribute to home run king Hank Aaron, was written by venerable Tiger broadcaster Ernie Harwell and performed by Bill Slayback, a member of the team's 1973 division champs.) — Wayne Peat

HOLD ME IN YOUR ARMS — Rick Astley

— Rick Astley

Fans, the wait is over. The long-awaited second album by Rick Astley is finally out.

Titled, "Hold Me in Your Arms" (RCA), it sounds like another album full of songs for young girls to dream about. Well, dream on girls because there isn't much depth in Astley's second attempt in the record industry.

His heart is there, somewhat, but it must have gotten lost in the studio looking over material suited for his style and voice (which he didn't find).

There are still plenty of dance songs. The first song, "Take Me to Your Heart," was written by Astley and produced by Astley along with Phil Harding and Ian Curnow. This tune is on the pop charts and sounds a lot like some of Astley's other Top 10 hits.

The beat slows down a bit with Astley's "Giving Up on Love." He wrote the song, but it certainly is not one of his best.

One of the best songs on the album is "Ain't Too Proud to Beg" by Holland and Whitfield. Astley's strong voice seems to do well with this song. Soul is where Astley should concentrate.

HOLD ME IN YOUR ARMS

The last three songs on the album are written by Astley and attempt to draw a picture of what emotions lovers can go through in relationships.

The first of three, "I'll Never Let You Down," is a tune with promise of just what the title says. "I Don't Want to Be Your Lover" could be a true story, but doesn't do anything. So why sing it? There really isn't a catch to the song.

The last song, "Hold Me in Your Arms," the album's namesake is a slow and moving song.

What a way to end an album, maybe people should play side two first and side one last. Or, perhaps, maybe Rick Astley should take writing and mixing a little more seriously. — Gail O'Connor

FUN AND GAMES — The Connells

A glorious guitar crunch at the beginning of "Something to Say" welcomes the listener to the third album, "Fun and Games" (TVT Records), from The Connells.

This band from North Carolina debuted in 1986 with a wonderful LP called, "Darker Days" and followed it up with "Dayton Heights" that topped Rolling Stone magazine's National Alternative Chart.

Since then, they have been recording, obviously, and touring which included an exciting, though ill-attended, gig at Ann Arbor's Blind Pig.

These first two LPs were noted for their marvelously melodic and catchy guitar driven songs. "Fun and Games" is more of the same.

This is not meant to say derogatory praise. As a matter of fact, it's a relief to hear solid, smart songs again.

As I mentioned, The Connells are a guitar-based band, so it's electric or acoustic. But what gives them somewhat of an original sound is their overall combination of guitars and vocals. It is reminiscent of Phil Spector's "Wall of Sound" production in that it comes across as big and full but not as rambling as, say, The Ramones.

With only two instrumental songs with lightweight lyrics, "Set" and "Lay Me Down," it leaves little room up to the TVT Connells' usual standards.

It must be said though that this album is not an immediately accessible one as their previous two so therefore would not be as good an introductory LP.

But with familiarity, it is outstanding. — Gervase Wright

STREET CRACKS

His comedy is family affair

By Bob Sadler
special writer

For Damon Wayans, comedy is a family affair.

His older brother is Keenan Ivory Wayans, the man who brought the recent box office smash, "I'm Gonna Get You Sucka," to your local movie theater. And for right now, following in his brother's shadow doesn't bother Damon much.

But he doesn't plan to stay there for long.

"With my career (so far), I've only scratched the surface," Wayans said in a recent interview. "I'm starting to come into my own."

He's already had roles of various magnitudes in "Beverly Hills Cop," "Colors," "Roxanne," "Punchline," and "Hollywood Shuffle" (which was directed by and starred his long-time friend and mentor, Robert Townsend).

He also played a thug named Leonard in his brother's film "I'm Gonna Get You Sucka," which like "Hollywood Shuffle" is a parody of the way blacks have been portrayed on film.

Wayans rounds out his resume with a good deal of work on the stand-up comedy beat. His improvisational talent and ability to work in an ensemble got him a spot in the cast of "Saturday Night Live" for one season — one he'd rather forget.

"I WAS part of the bad cast," Wayans said. "The one with Anthony Michael Hall, Robert Downey Jr. and Randy Quaid. Those people weren't really comics. They (the producers) were just trying to do it with names. They needed a gimmick."

For that reason, Wayans couldn't get along with the producers of the show. At the close of his first season, Lorne Michaels fired him.

Wayans' humor has an urban bite to it, almost to the point of being pessimistic. He prefers the term realistic, like the humor of his idol Richard Pryor.

"I'm not as blue as Pryor," Way-

Damon Wayans is finding comedic success on the big and little screens, including stints on "Saturday Night Live" and an HBO comedy special and in the films "Beverly Hills Cop" and "Colors."

ans said, "but I'm definitely as honest."

The fourth of 10 children, Wayans grew up in New York City, mostly in the Chelsea district of Manhattan. He was born with the handicap of a club foot, for which he had to wear special shoes in the ninth grade. He's incorporated these experiences into one of the characters in his act, a handicapped bully. There are a few other characters in his arsenal, but the versatile comic can also do straight observational material as well.

The Wayans family is a close-knit one, and their influence is apparent on Damon. Of the 10 children, he remembers, "Half of them are very funny. The other five can't tell a joke, but they were a good audience."

Damon still values the opinions of his family, feeling their thoughts are just as important as those in the entertainment industry.

OF COURSE, Damon always looked up to his older brother Keenan, suffering from what he calls "chronic little brother syndrome." Bring up the subject of his brother and Damon's tone becomes very respectful, almost awed.

"I've always tried, in everything I do, to be just like Keenan," he said.

Since they worked together on "Sucka," Damon and Keenan have joined forces again, this time for Keenan's new series for the Fox network. Entitled "Urban Renewal," it is expected to be a part of Fox's fall lineup. Damon also recorded a "One Night Stand" special for HBO which premieres Wednesday.

On the big screen this month, Damon looks for big things from a film called "Earth Girls Are Easy." Directed by Julian "Absolute Beginners" Temple, the film stars Wayans, Jeff Goldblum, Geena Davis, Jim Carrey and Julie Brown (not the vee jay on MTV). Goldblum, Wayans and Carrey portray furry aliens who crash their spacecraft in Davis' swimming pool.

With all this success on the big and small screen, Wayans hopes to give stand-up work in the future. He doesn't think highly of the club scene.

Indianapolis: There's life after the 500

By Iris Sanderson Jones
contributing travel editor

Q: I am going to Indianapolis on business in May. I guess I can't go to the Indy 500, but can I visit the track? What else is there for a sports lover to do in Indianapolis?

A: You probably can't get tickets, except to stand in the infield, for the Indianapolis 500 Race May 28 (people line up a year in advance for grandstand tickets), but you can visit the track from May 6 through race day at very minimal cost.

Two dollars will get you into the grounds of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway during pre-race weeks. Five dollars will get you in on weekends, when you can watch the drivers practice and run time trials from any seat in the stadium, even seats that cost big bucks on race day.

You can also take a guided tour of the Speedway for $1 (all ages). Check ahead because tours don't go when the track is being used for racing, practice or is closed due to bad weather. Pay another $1 for admission to the Hall of Fame (16 and under admitted free) where you can roam among the great race cars of the past.

If you are a sports fan, you already know what Mayor William H. Hudnut III wants everybody in the world to know, that Indianapolis has more first-class sports facilities than other city of its size, and most other cities of any size! Politicians do exaggerate, but Indy's four-term mayor has used amateur sports as an economic development lever in this state capitol, now promoted as the "amateur sports capitol of the world."

"We don't have mountains or seashores, but we really do have sports," Hudnut said.

Hudnut didn't invent Indiana's well-known mania for sports when he brought the Pan Am games to Indianapolis in August 1987, but the facilities built for the games are a bonanza for sports fans.

Ride the elevators in classy hotels like the Hyatt or the new Westin and you'll find yourself accompanied by sweatshirts of all kinds — out-of-town swim teams, bicycle enthusiasts, tourists heading out for the natatorium or the fitness center.

SPORTS IS an important part of other Indianapolis attractions, too — the state museum, the new downtown state park, the world's best children's museum, even the zoo.

Here's how to take advantage of it all:

The 73rd annual Indianapolis 500 will begin with the words "Gentlemen, start your engines" on Sunday, May 28, when 33 drivers and an estimated 400,000 fans enjoy the "world's largest one-day sporting event." General admission tickets are $15, in advance or at the gate, and will get you only into the infield.

You can attend the race car practices Saturday, May 6, through Friday, May 12, and Monday, May 15, through Friday, May 19. Gates open at 9 a.m. Cars will be on the track from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. — $2 midweek, $5 weekends.

The big qualification days are Saturday and Sunday, May 13-14 and 20-21. Gates open at 9 a.m. except May 13, when they open at 7 a.m. Time trials are 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturdays, noon to 6 p.m. Sundays.

Carburetion Day is Thursday, May 25. Gates open at 9 a.m. Final track practice 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Pit stop competition is 1 to 3 p.m.

Those are the bare facts, but the whole month of May is really a party in Indianapolis. The Indianapolis 500 Festival runs throughout the month. The theme this year is "The American West — From the Frontier to the Future."

Festival goers will be at all the race events mentioned above, as well as at the Mechanics Recognition Party, which includes a pit stop contest and tour of the garage on Carburetion Day, May 25.

THOUSANDS OF runners will run the 13-mile mini-marathon from Monument Circle downtown to the Speedway May 28. A memorial service for armed services veterans follows the marathon. The 33rd Memorial Day Parade, touted to be second in size only to the Rose Bowl Parade in Pasadena, will draw 400,000 spectators May 27.

The Hall of Fame Museum is part of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, although it costs you another $1 to get in, if you're more than 16 years old. The museum is small, but contains several dozen winning race cars donated by famous drivers like A.J. Foyt and several historic race cars that will blow the minds of real fans. Check out the six-cylinder Marmon Wasp, which won the first Indy 500 race in 1911 and was driven by Ray Harroun.

What else can you do? Watch the FINA World Diving Cup when athletes from 25 nations converge on the $21.5 million Indiana University Natatorium May 3-6.

Explore the Science of Sport exhibit, which tells you how sports can be affected by chemistry, psychology, physics, anatomy, mathematics, sociology and economics. It's at the Children's Museum May 13 to Aug. 28, and if you think you're too old for a children's museum, you might like this story:

A public relations official for the city was taking a national magazine reporter around town, but the reporter kept saying, "No, no, I don't want to go to a children's museum."

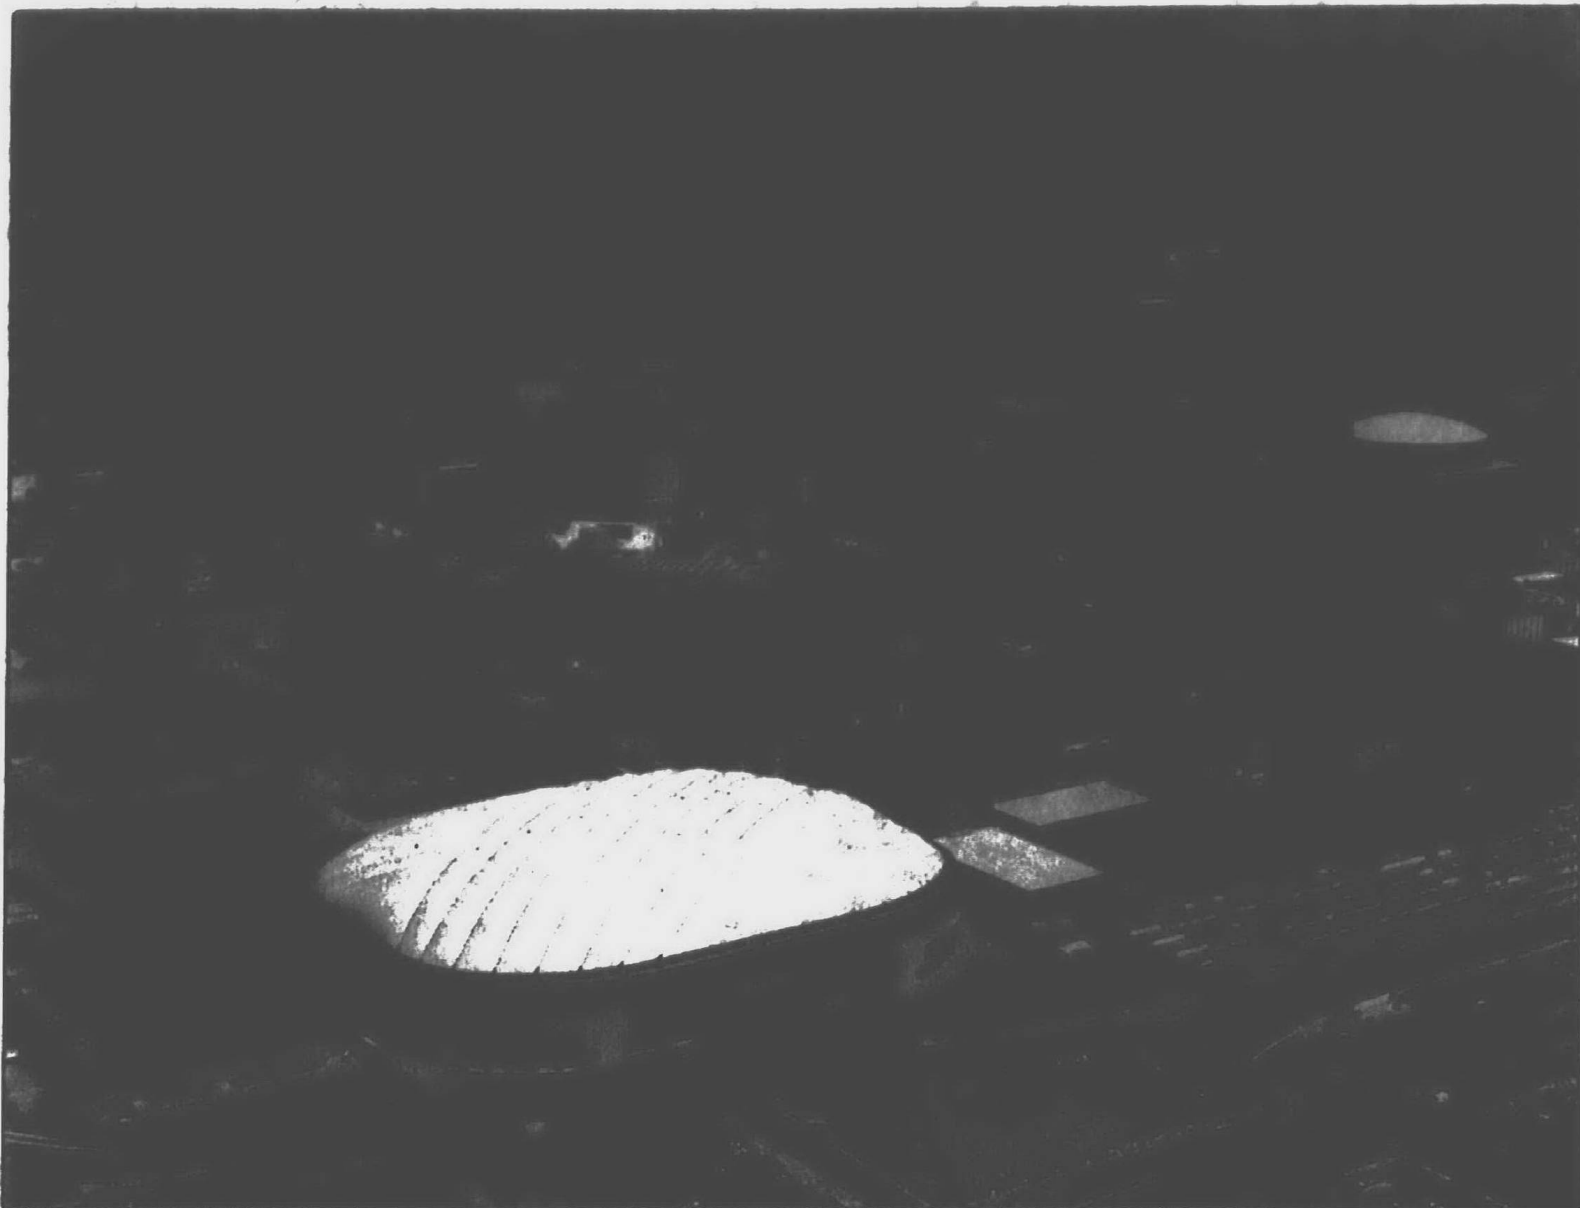

This isn't just any children's museum and when they finally dragged him there, they couldn't get him out. He missed his plane home.

The Children's Museum is not just for kids. It's free and it's one of the most fascinating, fun museums I have seen in the world.

THE INDIANA Museum of Sports opened this year on the top floor of the Indiana State Museum, in the beautiful old former city hall downtown. You'll find the Indianapolis Colts, Pacers and Indians there along with Hoosier athletes and memorabilia. They're all there — Larry Bird, Bob Griesse, Don Lash, Fuzzy Zoeller and Carl Erskine.

There is a great annual balloon festival at Connor Prairie May 27. If you miss it, still go to Connor Prairie. It is a small well-done version of Greenfield Village.

Call toll-free (800) 232-INDY to find out what's going on at the Hoosier Dome, a smaller, newer version of the Silverdome, only this one is smack in the heart of downtown Indianapolis.

McGUIRE STUDIO

Indianapolis has more first-class sports facilities than other city of its size, and most other cities of any size, which is one reason why it's now promoted as the "amateur sports capital of the world."

Its amateur sports facilities give city a world-class glow

By Iris Sanderson Jones
contributing travel editor

Indianapolis has an incredible variety of world-class sports facilities, most of which are open to the public when not reserved for a special event.

Pick your sport:

SWIMMING — The U.S. Olympic trials for synchronized swimming and diving were held in the Indiana University Natatorium, which has been called "the finest swimming pool complex in North America." You can do laps from 6 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 1 to 5 p.m. Sunday for $1.50 a day, if you show a hotel room key, $2.50 a day otherwise.

The catch? Call 274-3517 to make sure a special event doesn't preempt you. If that happens, use the weight room.

CYCLING — The $2.5 million Major Taylor Velodrome was the site of the 1988 Grand Prix of Cycling. You can ride the 333.3 meter outdoor track, with maximum banking of 28 degrees, and bring 5,000 of your friends as spectators. If you're between 15 and 61 years old, it will cost you a buck to ride from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Friday, and you can rent a bike for $2. Don't bring your kid brother unless he's more than 8 years old or just wants to watch.

The Sundance Grand Prix of Cycling will be held at the Velodrome June 8-10.

TENNIS — There are 20 hard courts and 4 clay courts in the $7 million Indianapolis Sports Center, site of both 1988 and 1989 GTE/U.S. Men's Hardcourt Championships (to be held Aug. 7-13, 1989). You can play 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. seven days a week for $4 hour a person, but there are only a limited number of rackets available and balls cost $3 a can, so bring your own.

ICE SKATING — They spent $7 million for two world-class indoor rinks as a training center inside the Pan Am Plaza downtown, and you can use the Olympic rink from 11:45 a.m. to 1:15 p.m. Monday through Friday, from 1-3:30 p.m. Saturday or Sunday and from 7:30 to 10 p.m. Saturday. It's $2.75 for adults, $1 skate rental.

OTHER SPORTS interests include the Rowing Course at Eagle Creek Park, the nation's only rowing course sanctioned for international competition by the International Federation of Rowing Associations. It was the site of Olympic trials and national championships in 1988. The U.S. National Rowing Championships will be held there June 21-25.

The $1.3 William Kuntz Soccer Center, used for Olympic qualification games, is used by the city parks and recreation department for youth soccer leagues. The $2 million Hoosier Horse Park in nearby Edinburg, Ind., has three all-weather dressage arenas, 192 box stalls and will be expanded this year. The public can use it by reservation.

Softball, soccer and volleyball are played at the Indiana University Athletic Fields.

For more information, call toll-free (800) 232-INDY. Ask them to send you information on another fascinating sports facility, the National Institute for Fitness and Sport, which opened last year as a national center for research, education, training and service, providing the latest information on human health, physical fitness and athletic performance.

Getting to and around the 'sports capital' of U.S.

By Iris Sanderson Jones
contributing travel editor

Southwest Airlines has a discount fare of $19 each way from Detroit City Airport to Indianapolis, and other airlines are matching the fare. There are conditions, including advance purchase and Memorial Day weekend blackout. Then there's the Share-A-Ride for $6 per person by the Indy Connection Limousine to get from the airport to downtown Indianapolis.

If you are on an expense account, or get a weekend package, try the new Westin or the Hyatt, both situated between the Hoosier Dome and the Indiana State House downtown; the beautifully restored Canterbury Hotel (have afternoon tea there); or the most interesting Holiday Inn that I've ever seen. It's built into renovated Union Station and includes traditional guest rooms as well as some in railway cars.

The University Place Hotel is near a natatorium and the fitness center. The Riverpointe has suites and apartments at good rates a little out of the town center. Thirty bucks a night will get you a single room at the Inn Tower. Stewart Manor Bed & Breakfast costs $50 and up.

Indy is a walkable city in which everything is moving into the downtown area instead of out of it. Walk to the stores, to Market Square Arena, to the information office at Indianapolis City Center and to restaurants and shops at Union Station. You need a car to go to the Indianapolis Museum of Art or the restored houses of Locherbie Street.

There is big excitement about White River State Park, which opened in the heart of downtown with the usual jogging paths and picnic sites, but much much more. They moved the Indianapolis Zoo into the park and had a million visitors the first month. It is a good zoo, and has a Sea World-style pool and show.

ONE OF THE most exciting new museums in North America is in the state park. On June 24, the Eiteljorg Museum of American Indian and Western Art opens. Don't miss it!

There will be a new state museum in the park some day, but while you're waiting for that, here are some other things to do in the city:

• Hit the Cabaret Club, Dance Kaleidoscope, the Repertory Theater, the Symphony or the Indianapolis Comedy Connection. Check out the Walker Theater, especially the Friday night jazz upstairs, where you can order a drink and listen to live musicians in a setting reminiscent of the 1930s. Cruise the jazz clubs in town.

After hours, you'll like the clapboard houses that have been turned into art galleries, boutiques, restaurants and pubs in a charming north-side area called Broad Ripple. It's 20 minutes from downtown and has everything from coffee houses to feminist bookstores.

• In Broad Ripple, try Renee's

French Restaurant and Deli. There's a little bar, called the Alley Cat, with pool tables, pinball machines, jukebox, darts and poetry readings. Go for a beer; it's down a small alley at 6267 Carrollton Ave.

Or check out the Wellington, a traditional English pub connected to a place called the Corner Wine Bar at 6361 Guilford.

The Ambrosia, 915 Westfield Blvd., connected to the Blue Pointe Oyster Bar, has a very eclectic atmosphere; every age and type is there. If you are under 21, you'll find friends at a coffee house called Cafe Espresso, 527 Broad Ripple Ave.

THE BIG name music groups go to the Vogue at 6359 N. College road; that's almost punk is at the Patio, 6306 Guilford, both in Broad Ripple.

The latest yuppie hangout is the Safari Bar, 5910 E. 82nd St., on the far north side of town.

• Lauderdale's in Union Station is a great dance place after a Col's game. There are four well-known places near Jackson and Meridian, just outside the main door of Union Station — Jackson St., Cheaters, a '50s place called Ike and Jonesy's and a down-and-dirty place called the Sports Bar and Grill (video games, TV, etc.).

If you're downtown and love jazz, try Chatterbox, 435 Massachusetts Ave., or a Place To Start at 54th and College. Mugwumps Cafe and Pub, 408 Massachusetts Ave., is where you go for folk music.

Too much trouble? There's a chill parlor/bar in the Hyatt Regency called Charlie and Barney's. They say Shapiro's Delicatessen Cafeteria is the best New York deli in the Midwest. It's a mile south of downtown (another one a mile north).

Or if you want to eat on the grass, go the Joe O'Malley's, a fancy food grocery store in an old Sears store downtown. Or call Bar-B-Q Heaven at 625-1667 and they'll deliver to your downtown hotel from 10 p.m. to 2 a.m.

A half-hour drive north is an area called Keystone at the Crossing, where the "in" crowd hangs out at The Fashion Mall. It includes a Radisson Hotel, restaurants, bars, a comedy club and office buildings and is a hit on the yuppie scene.

DALTS SERVES kids, is quieter and less of a bar scene, so I would go there for dinner. Then to Crackers, one of the three comedy clubs in town, and then on to TGIF, which is definitely the in place to go.

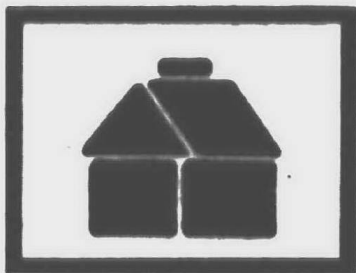

Other dinner places are Keystone Grill, which is expensive, or the Cooker, which is moderate.

You might like a funky evening's entertainment at Duck Pin Bowling Action Bowl at 285 S. College Ave. Grapefruit-sized balls, 10 pins. Or play the dart boards, pool tables, video games, 10-hole indoor golf course while chewing on pizza and drinking beer. It's a family place and the kids love it, too.

Keep W-2s forever

Q: Now that my tax returns have been filed, I wonder which receipts I need to keep and how long to keep them?

A: This is probably the most-frequent question I get about paper, and the most difficult to answer.

First, keep copies of the tax return itself and your W-2 forms as long as you live. More important than your tax return is your W-2. The IRS can supply copies of your returns from several years back (for a fee), but Social Security provides no such service. Since you may need W-2s to verify your employment for social security, you may even want to keep your W-2s in a safe deposit box.

Generally, keep any papers which substantiate your tax returns for three years. For long-term investments such as homes, stocks and bonds, etc., this means keeping receipts which verify the basis of property three years after you dispose of them.

The only reason for keeping receipts longer would be in case of fraud — which gets into a grey area. After six years, it is up to the IRS, not you, to prove you were fraudulent, so if you have been completely honest, there should be no reason to retain your receipts. However, should the IRS suspect falsification, you could have difficulty without your supporting papers.

One man recently related a horror story about being promoted to a top public relations job with an almost-unlimited expense account. When he suddenly began depositing large sums of money (the reimbursements from his company) into his bank account, the IRS became suspicious that he was dealing drugs. Without his careful documentation, he could have been in real trouble; as it was, they gave him a rough time.

Besides long-term investments, it's wise to retain receipts for possessions you still own (— pitch the one for the coat you gave the Salvation Army five years ago.) These may be needed to prove ownership to your insurance company in case of fire or theft. Staple these receipts to your warranty, maintenance information or service contract and keep them in a separate file.

condo queries
Robert M. Melsner

Q: I am embarrassed to tell you that I had a mouse in my bedroom in my condo and I was petrified. I called the management company of the association and they are balking at sending out an exterminator. Do I have any legal rights, and against whom?

A: See your lawyer and start a trespass action against the mouse! Seriously, I empathize with your dilemma and believe that more than likely the condominium documents provide for extermination services to be at a cost of administration of the association since, presumably, the mouse has come in from the outside through a wall that is a common element of the condominium.

Of course, time is presumably of the essence. You should arrange to have whatever extermination services done if the association fails to do so, and send the bill, along with this article, which may serve to enlighten your association of their responsibilities. Good luck!

Male presence often overlooked in decor choices

By Joan Boram
special writer

A LOT of husbands are "doing time" in their own homes.

That's the word from Carlton Wagner, founder of the Wagner Institute for Color Research in Santa Barbara, Cal.

"Often, when I'm decorating a home, the husband will speak to me privately and beg me to set aside a comfortable place for him. It can be anywhere — behind the furnace, even, if it's a place where he can kick off his shoes, relax, and not be distracted by 'trendiness' or 'prettiness.'"

"Rooms aren't always published in magazines because they live well, but because they're pretty. When decorating, ask yourself: 'What should the space feel like?'" he said.

Lecturing on "Color Power" to a group of professional designers at Troy's Michigan Design Center recently, Wagner insisted that response to color is far removed from aesthetics.

"Aesthetics is a reaction in a particular moment of time. If people wanted aesthetics, they would fill their houses with museum pieces. Don't make life's choices on aesthetics, unless you're a curator in a museum," he said.

WAGNER CITED HIS own experiences with color consultants to point up the difference between aesthetics and color response. "I've been to numerous color consultants; I've been a spring, a summer, and a fall, but never a winter. They advised me to wear green to bring out the red in my beard, which is the last thing I want to do. Can you see me appearing before the board of a Fortune 500 company wearing a green suit? I'd look like Robin Hood!"

"Favorite colors vary according to situation. A metallic color is perfectly suitable for our automobile, but more than a touch in clothing and furniture would be considered outrageous." A man with conservative gray and navy blue suits may have a collection of red ties, he continued.

Clients can fail to analyze their own color responses, he said, complicating the decorator's life:

"A very wealthy client and his new wife went off on an extended honeymoon, leaving me to decorate their new home while they were away. 'Don't use green,' they said. 'We hate green.' Well, one side of the house was all glass and the woods was practically growing right into the living room! How could they hate green?"

"Normally, in a situation like that, we would use green in the interior to integrate it with the outdoors, but they hated green, so we worked around it. One day a bolt of silk showed up from China. It was green! I cabled them to call me. A couple of weeks later, an armoire from France arrived. It was green! I called them: 'A terrible thing happened to the silk on the way from China: it turned green!' 'Oh, they said, 'We don't hate that green.' Their actual response to green was different from their aesthetics."

CARLTON HAS degrees from UCLA and the Karl Jung Institute in Zurich. His plans for a career as a clinical psychologist were sidetracked when he became intrigued by the influence of color.

A friend's graduate thesis on the influence on a person's behavior of influences outside the body — climate, humidity, color, etc., had captured his attention. Soon he had learned enough to consult with manufacturers on the psychology of color — using color to sell soap. When he won an award for an office interior or he had been invited to design, he decided to attend New York's Fashion Institute of Technology, where he wound up teaching color theory.

At the Wagner Institute, he researches projects, teaches advanced classes for design professionals and acts as a color advisor for corporations. In design courses such as he recently taught at the Michigan Design Center, he provides participants with a basic understanding of physiological, psychological and geographic response to color.

As a fledgling designer, Wagner was given a garage to design as his part of a "designer's idea home." Through research he had found that most men hated the designer look. Wagner made his garage the ultimate man's toy. He installed a huge receiving dish, with an enormous screen, and the Playboy channel. There was a bathtub that filled and emptied itself at the touch of a button on the telephone. There was an electronic closet — "the clothes went whirling by."

"THERE WAS EVERY electronic gadget and trick that I could think of. I designed the room to get the men's response, and I did. They were lined up around the block to see that garage. Everybody else was doing French country, but I had tapped a new market. I had hit notes the men felt good about," he said, chuckling.

Wagner is an innkeeper as well as a color guru. He attributes much of the success of his Bayberry Inn, in Santa Monica, to the woman who owns the inn across the street. "She just loves purple rooms. Men take one look at them, and flee across the street to my place."

Wagner predicts that the country look will hold for the '90s, but is being altered. Country blue is the new big seller in interior paint, after all-time best-seller off-white. Prints will stay, but backgrounds are changing to white or cream.

Eighty-two percent of the paint sold in the United States is off-white, Wagner said, and the result is visual deprivation, or cabin fever.

"People say they're not going to get tired of it," he said. "It started out tired. They say it makes the place look bigger. That's because no matter where you go, it looks like where you've been."

'Rooms aren't always published in magazines because they live well, but because they are pretty. When decorating, ask yourself: What should the space feel like? What do you want in the end?'

— Carlton Wagner

The Green Hill difference:

Do you come home to an apartment or a 75-acre estate?

Most apartment living measures 600+ sq. ft. Ours measures over 3,000,000 sq. ft. Green Hill residents enjoy a gorgeous 75-acre estate setting of park and woodland, peace and tranquility. You're right next door to the I-275 corridor, Michigan's multi-billion dollar explosive growth area and just minutes away from I-96, a direct route to downtown Detroit. See our 1- and 2-bedroom luxury apartments, terrace residences and country townhouses on 9 Mile, 1 1/2 miles west of Farmington Road in Farmington Hills.

"I finally found a townhome as large as a home."

"I looked long and hard to find a 2000 sq. ft. cathedral ceiling elegant three-bedroom townhome. (Of course, I could have chosen a two or three-bedroom ranch.) With my own two-car attached garage, my own private basement and patio. And luxury touches like deluxe kitchens and whirlpool tubs plus landscaping that I love. Nothing could get me to move from Covington. Nothing."
