Drunk driving arrests increase

By Doug Funke staff writer

Drunken driving arrests by city of Plymouth police officers rose nearly 71 percent through the first five months of 1989 compared to last year, according to figures provided by the department.

Ninety-nine arrests were made through May of this year compared to 58 during the same period last

What makes the figures astonishing is that the city consists of only 2.3 square miles. Plus, police Chief Richard Myers said that no special enforcement effort has been implemented to crack down on drunken drivers.

"I can't account for the raw numbers being higher," Myers said. "Anything's possible. I know in the last three years as a department we have put a higher priority on traffic enforcement in general.'

ALMOST TWICE as many drunken driving arrests occurred in April and May than during January, February and March both this year and last, city police figures indicate.

'Typically at this time of year, you see more alcohol-related events," Myers said. "It's warmer, graduation, picnic season, vacation season. People tend to go out more. And cruising. That's a factor.'

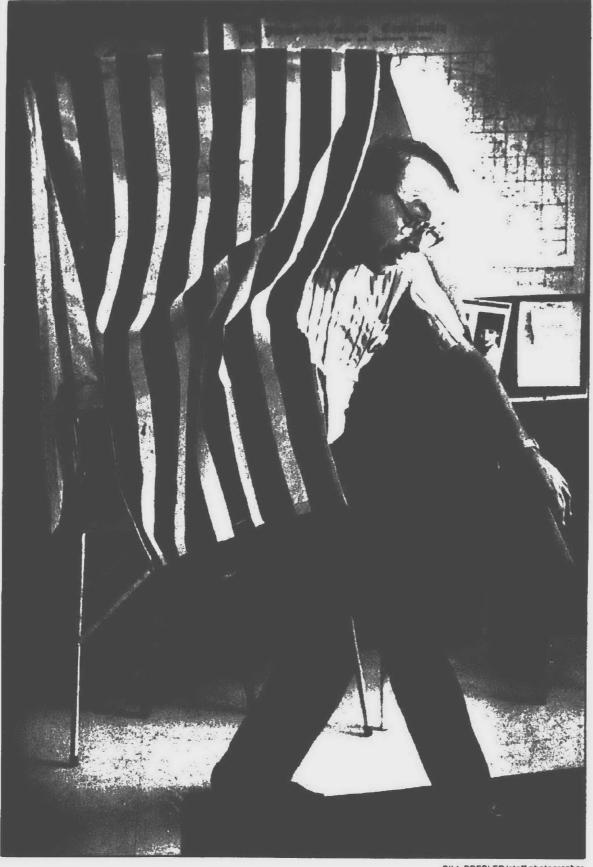

Carl Berry, police chief in Plymouth Township, said that officers in his department are on approximately the same pace as last year with drunken driving arrests.

Township police had made 99 arrests for drunken driving through last Thursday, Berry said. They collared 255 all of last year. Drunken driving arrests in Canton through the first five months of this year compared with last are down 18 percent - from 144 to 118, according to Dave Boljesic, community relations officer.

NEITHER BERRY nor Myers believes that the number of people who Voters at the polls today are taking part in one of the most heated elections in the history of Plymouth-Canton Community Schools. Turnout is expected to top 15 per-

As of Friday, 1,496 absentee ballots were taken out — an all-time high, said district election clerk Bernice Nichols.

On the ballot are a request for an 8-mill renewal and a property tax increase of 4 mills. Both are twoyear proposals. The polls are open until 8 p.m.

"They've made an outstanding effort to open up communications. And we're very much interested in keeping them open once this election is over with," Hoben said.

'This should be our biggest turnout," he added. "I think information has been disseminated, and it's finally getting its proper airing. People realize the district is in

Farmer Jack tenant may be in store

Jack store on Main Street in Plymouth said last week that he expects another tenant - most likely a nonfood retailer - to be in business there "in the next couple of months."

Borman Inc. unexpectedly closed its downtown Farmer Jack store last December just before plans to merge with A&P were announced. The 16.855-square-foot store has been vacant since until 8 p.m.

"There's nothing in writing between us and another tenant at this point," said Stanley Dickson Jr., a Grosse Pointe lawyer who owns the building.

"There's been a fair amount of interest. We've had businesses from restaurants to hardware stores to grocery stores interested in the property," he said.

Students call in DNR over dump

By M.B. Dillon staff writer

The only things spoiling the beauty of a woods in Plymouth Township where Erik Schultz played as a kid are strewn-about barrels and bedsprings, tires, rusted car doors, washers, refrigerators, gas cans, bricks, dirty carpeting, pallets and pools of stagnant, discolored water.

For years, debris has been dumped among the trees, bushes and wild daisies that cover about 100 acres bounded by the C & O railroad tracks east of Sheldon and south of M-14.

Schultz, now a junior at Plymouth-Canton High School, was reminded of the area while studying environmental issues in a social studies class. He and a friend, Brendan Rutledge, took a walk through the woods. Not much had changed.

"Someone's using that area for a dump," said Schultz. "We found two barrels in a stream that said CSX on them. There's water that smells really bad, and it's different colors."

Schultz and Rutledge called Plymouth Township and the state Department of Natural Resources.

Anthony Pitts, DNR environmental quality analyst, toured the area with Schultz and Rutledge last week.

They found plenty of household refuse and a few empty drums, but no evidence of what Pitts called priority pollutants. Because of that, Pitts said the DNR will have minimal involvement in cleaning up the Many in the district have said they believe Citizens for Better Education — a group of Christian conservatives backing Anderson for school board — has overshadowed the election.

Hoben doesn't share the view.
"I'm not too sure it has influenced anyone one way or another," he said.
"People have their minds pretty well made up. Whoever is elected, we will have to work with."

CBE has taken a neutral stance on the 8-mill renewal. It has opposed the 4-mill increase.

'CBE chairwoman Diane Daskalakis, who's spearheaded the Anderson campaign, said she's optimistic.

"Let's face it. The lines have been drawn. Bob is the only true conservative running. And Bob is the only one telling people it is OK if they den't vote for that increase."

"I think it's very important that there be a voice such as mine that takes a stand for morality," said Anderson. "There is such a thing as right or wrong."

right or wrong."

"I believe the school board hasn't reflected the values of taxpayers," he added. Anderson who supports the renewal and said the 4 mills isn't needed.

ARTLEY HAS received criticism for his election expenditures. The school board president estimated be'd spent $5,600 as of last Thursday.

"I'm really upset about the amount of money he is spending," said Kotcher. "I've spent so much less on my campaign I can't believe it. I don't think this election should be bought."

"This reflects on the type of member he's going to be. I'm selective with my spending so that I get a good return for my dollar.

"That's the way a board president ought to be in work, a campaign and on the board," she said.

Responded Artley, "I had to give 101 percent. I would have run an aggressive, hard campaign no matter who was in the race. I would have done this if it was myself and one other candidate or 30 other candi-Rotcher said she thinks the I Care Citizens' Committee, 'has achieved the votes they'll need to pass the 4 mills." She's less hopeful about her chances of being elected.

chances of being elected.

"A lot of people have told me I am a very highly qualified candidate," she said. "I think if CBE weren't involved, things would be a lot different. I hate to be a casualty of that, but I believe the community is more important."

Kotcher also has been encouraged by, "a couple of board members who've said that if David Artley is elected, he will never be president again because he's such a poor president. He's mishandled the public, and he's the reason for the problems

"People who go to the board come away very unhappy with the reception they get. That's very important. If people are dissatisfied with one contact, they're dissatisfied with the whole school system," she said. "You're not going to get your Headlee overrides and your milleges."

Kotcher also found on the campaign trail that "a lot of people are dead set against R-rated movies" being shown in school. "But they're afraid to say anything because they don't want to be affiliated with CBE."

CBE objects to the classroom use of R-rated movies and materials dealing with the occult, satanism and witchcraft.

BATTISHILL, WHO has spent about $900 on his campaign, said, "I've been really happy with the way I have been able to communicate the things I think are important in this campaign.

"People are realizing that quality education is more important and a priority, rather than just allowing CBE to overwhelm the public mind."

Battishill also was happy to see a clean campaign.

"I feel like all of us have respected the differences among us," said Battishill. "Every one of us is committed to making better things happen in the achools.

"People I've talked to are very "People I've talked to are very supportive of the millages," he added. They realize schools cost money and they're willing to pay their fair share."

Artley, said Battishill, "has escaped a tremendous amount of criticism because of CBE. If elected next year, I'd really have to confront him and say we have to move forward here."

Battishill differs with Artley about whether Plymouth-Canton has some of the best schools in the state.

"I teach in schools (in West Bloomfield) that have won national awards. This district is really average. That is one of the reasons I am running." Battishill wonders how many people realize Plymouth-Canton schools spend thousands of dollars less per student than do numerous metropolitan area districts.

"It costs $3,000 a year to send a child to Red Bell nursery school. We spend just barely over that," he said.

BUTI, WHO is new to the area, said she's "very surprised" at the high level of interest in the election.

"This has been much more controversial than I ever thought it would be. It's gratifying because it shows that the community cares about what's happening in the school district."

If elected, Buti would use her annual $1,500 stipend to revise and update board policies and procedures.

"They really need to have a person consolidate them. It's a document they live by, yet aren't that familiar with. I'd condense it so that we'd have a working document."

TURNER SAID, "the fact there is a CBE candidate in the running has taken too much attention away from other issues. I may be naive, but I don't see the CBE as a major issue. I don't think they deserve that much credit."

Kidston couldn't be reached for comment.

"We'll refer them to township hall and excuse ourselves from the case," Pitts said.

Because the site is being developed, the problem may soon be taken care of, said Charles Van Vleck, Plymouth Township administrative assistant to the fire chief.

R.A. DeMattia Co. and CSX Transportation in a joint venture are building Plymouth Oaks Business Park. About 21 large buildings will eventually comprise an industrial subdivision.

Bulldozers were clearing the land as Pitts, Rutledge and Schultz walked through the woods.

CSX IS "unable to determine what was in the barrels," said Lloyd Lewis, CSX media director.

"There shouldn't have been anything out there like that," said Sue Page of CSX. "It appears to be almost impossible to keep people out of there. That's something the railroad fights all the time.

"People are forever coming in and dumping."

DeMattia could not be reached for comment.

Van Vleck praised Schultz and Rutledge for drawing attention to the matter.

"It's certainly a cause we have to address. What they did was pretty good. It showed some real initiative."

Van Vleck said he's unsure exactly how the township will proceed.

"We've never run into this type of situation before," he said.

Purses stolen in Plymouth

Two purses, containing credit cards, eyeglasses, keys and a check-book, were stolen from a house on Mayville last week, according to a report filed with Plymouth Township police.

Residents were in the family room at about 11 p.m. Thursday when they heard a noise and the sound of keys dropping in the front hall, police said. An investigation revealed the purses were gone. No suspects were found in an immediate search of the area.

The front screen door had been left unlocked and the interior door was open, police reported.

actually get behind the wheel of a car while drunk or impaired has changed much in recent years.

Judge James Garber of 35th District Court also addressed that point.
"My suggestion is the amount of drinking drivers doesn't fluctuate much," Garber said. "Amount of enforcement determines numbers brought into the court. "It's not so simple you can say this is the factor causing it. There probably are five or six factors caus-

"You get increased crime attractors, increased enforcement, increased population. Therefore, you have more crime."

Garber said he hasn't noticed a recent increase in the number of drunken driving cases he hears. Then, again, many from May and June haven't yet come before him.

Garber hears cases from Canton, both Plymouths and Northville.

AS MAY be expected, most drunken driving arrests take place on the most heavily traveled roads — Main Street in the city, Ann Arbor Road in Plymouth Township and Ford and Michigan Avenue in Canton.

Most arrests occur in the late evening and early morning hours. More men than women are stopped.

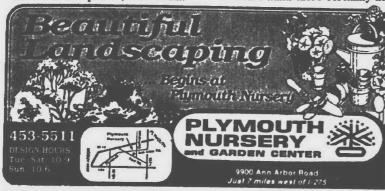

Police observation of erratic driving is the most common reason for a traffic stop in the city that leads to a drunken driving arrest, Myers said.

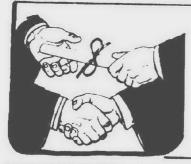

Coming upon accident scenes and notification of a potentially dangerous driver are the next two common ways police meet up with drunken drivers, he said.

"ALL THE publicity and programs out there haven't decreased the number of drunk drivers on the road," Berry said. "I don't know why."

Lt. Larry Stewart of the Canton police takes a slightly different view.

"I would think there certainly has

FBI, police probe burning of cross

staff writer

A wooden cross was burned earlier this month on the front lawn of a 36-year-old white Canton man, Canton Police reported.

The College Park mobile home resident told police he believed the burning was "due to his attitude toward blacks or possibly since some of his visiting relatives are Arab Americans'

THE VICTIM declined comment to the Observer, saying it was too early to speculate what happened. He said he wants to wait until after police investigate the incident.

Historically cross burnings have been used by white extremist groups to terrorize blacks.

This case is considered a civil · Pights violation and is being investigated by the FBI along with Canton Police.

No one was reported injured and the only damage was to the small area of grass where the cross burned, said Dave Boljesic, Canton police spokesman. There are no suspects, he said. The 30-year-old neighbor, who put the fire out, told the victim he wasn't sure if the incident happened at dusk June 3 or 4, a police report said. 'All I know is we put it out," the neighbor told the Observer. A police report said the neighbor found the cross on the front lawn next to the door of his neighbor's mobile home. The victim was on vacation late last month and early this month and wasn't home when the incident occurred, a police report said. At least two other cross burnings have been reported in metro Detroit in last couple of weeks.

WHEN POLICE believe civil rights are violated, the FBI is asked to conduct a preliminary investigation that usually takes 20 days. And that information is sent to the civil rights division of the U.S. Department of Justice.

'We instituted an investigation on that cross burning as of today," said John Anthony, FBI special agent.

Bigger Challenge Fest planned

Rehind them a senior citizen raised $300 for the cause. And along the way 60 kids were trying their luck during the last of a two-day fishing derby.

These were just some of the sights in Canton Sunday, June 4, the last day of the Canton Challenge Fest.

HOWEVER, EVEN BEFORE it came to a close, organizers were looking at ways to improve next year's community festival.

They talked about what activities to keep, pull and add. But no decisions will be made until later this year, according to Bill Joyner, festival promoter.

Within 30 days of the Challenge Fest organizers will sit down for a debriefing on the ups and downs of the festival, he said.

"This is a first of a longstanding tradition," said Joyner.

THE 10-DAY fitness and sports event, promoting "Family, Fitness and Fun," replaced the Canton Country Festival held annually. The oneweekend festival featured contests and crafts in a carnival setting.

Bob Dates, Canton recreation supervisor, said: "People have been pleased with the events and I think they're looking forward to a bigger and better festival next year."

"It draws a wider range of people to a lot of different activities," said Dates, comparing the country festival to this year's activities.

Deciding dates and times will be the first item of business for the festival committee in making recommendations to the Canton Board of Trustees, which has the final say.

The junior golf tournament attracted more than 37 entries and likely will be recommended for next year's festival, Joyner said. One of the bigger successes, he said, was the Youth Fitness Field About 250 fourth and fifth graders

Second place went to Katie Macinnis and third place went to Jennifer Cardwell, who caught a 15% inch trout. Second- and third-place winners were given Canton T-shirts.

ON THE down side, the co-ed softball tournament was canceled because not enough teams signed-up. Joyner suggested providing more sign-up time next year.

THE CHILI cook-off drew only one entrant, but set the stage for a 1990 chili cook-off, Joyner said.

'We will have a winning recipe that will be challenged next year,"

Adding a township-wide bowling tournament has been suggested for next year, Joyner said.

Activities to use more local sports facilities, like the Rose Shores Canton Racquetball, likely will be added to the 1990 events.

The Canton Challenge Fest was successful in generating "awareness and creating a foundation on which to grow upon," Joyner said.

"And next year it can go one way," he added. "We'll probably just expand rather than cut back."

Four groups — including a Who's Who of local and national developers and famous golf pros - have made bids for major developments on 1,000 acres of land Wayne County owns in Northville Township.

The deadline bid was 4 p.m. Thursday. Bidders involve groups aligned with Jack Nicklaus, Lee Trevino and Bill Wild, the county's director of business development, declined to give details of the bids. He said the four bids would be narrowed to two finalists in about 90 days, with approval of the eventual developer by county executive Edward McNamara and the county commission expected by September.

Wild said demolition of about 50-55 buildings on the site could begin as early as next winter.

County to clean up contamination at development site

By Tom Henderson staff writer

Wayne County officials say the county, not developers, will pay for the clean up of soil and buildings contaminated with PCB at the Northville Township site that is for Thursday was the deadline for bids on the site, nearly 1,000 acres between Five and Six Mile and east of Sheldon to Beck.

According to Glenn Brown, director of environmental health for the county, the site will be cleaned of PCB before a decision is made on which development group will get the property. (See related story about who made bids and possible plans for the site.)

Abandoned buildings and soil near Sheldon were contaminated with PCB in early May, when thieves apparently tore apart old electrical transformers looking for copper. Liquid used to cool the transformers contained unknown levels of PCB, or polychlorinated byphenyl, an insulating material used in electrical equipment manufactured before 1970.

Contact with PCB has been linked to rashes, swelling and intestinal dis-

To the Editor:

I would like to comment on the article "Past food pollution," printed in the May 11 Canton Observer.

As for chloroflourocarbons destroying the ozone layer, you are correct. And it is also true that at de time Styrofoam was linked to asing CFCs when it was broken wn. But it is not true that McDonald's Styrofoam containers contain CFCs. At the end of 1988, all U.S. McDonald's restaurants phased olit CFCs from their foam packag-

Recycling the answer

I am a concerned student in the eighth grade. As you may know, there has been much talk on the garbage scare, and that much of this problem can be solved by recycling. Sadly enough, our country only recycles 10 percent of all of its trash, out of the 150 million tons we create each year. This is enough to fill 1,000 football fields with buildings 30 stories high. Just one day of Michigan's trash alone is enough to fill the Silverdome. Items like aluminum cans, glass bottles, newspapers, office papers and plastic bottles can all recycled. Recycling not only saves money to buy the materials needed, but it saves the time and energy it takes to make them. So by recycling, we can help also cut down of the amount of landscape needed for our garbage. Recycling is our only hope for the future of our garsponse to the article regarding pay raises for the three elected adminis-trators in Canton Township: the supervisor, clerk and treasurer. The ition issue has in the past created a great deal of emotion and will continue doing so in the future. I feel a compelling need to express my opinion on the matter.

In 1988 the township's Merit Commission made several recommend tions for pay increases, which were ultimately adopted. The commission also recommended that future increases for our administrators be tied to those of the various department heads. That is the point of contention to my way of thinking. I equate that to the deplorable situation that exists in our Congress today. Congress gets a raise every time U.S. government employees receive one. Then they have the gall to try to ramrod separate pay increases through. This last time the people spoke up loud and clear and said enough is enough. Will the same thing happen in Canton?

Our department heads are eminently qualified to fill the positions they occupy as evidenced by the length of time each has been employed. They have the right to negotiate their pay with their employers to ensure adequate compensation for the times we live in. Our administrators should also negotiate with their employers, the voters of Canton Township. If our elected officials receive an increase every year automatically, then the matter is entirely out of the hands of the people they

My point is this: Elected officials' pay should never be tied in with the pay of salaried, contracted employees. The compensation of elected officials must at the very least be presented as an agenda item during an open township board meeting. All facets must be debated publicly, and then voted on, to be a matter of public record. Then an interval of time should be established to allow input from the citizenry.

Statements have been made in the past that in order to attract "quality" individuals to seek elected office they must be paid adequately. Individuals who make that statement after being elected to public office must not view themselves as "quality," otherwise. why would they have sought elected office for jobs that are thought to be underpaid? To our elected officials I ask you to please stop using that statement. If you feel a raise is justified, argue the merits openly. Keep the people informed. Allow your employers the opportunity to express their opinions, and then listen to them.

Lastly; don't allow automatic pay increases to become the rule. By allowing automatic pay increases you create an attitude that destroys initiative and fosters complacency, which will have the opposite effect to attracting qualified individuals to seek elective office.

Ralph H. Shufeldt,

Turn off the TV

To the editor:

It has recently been brought to my attention that several people have been asking that businesses remove their ads from "Married . . . With Children." Although I don't enjoy the show and feel that it is vulgar and contains too much sexual content, I also believe that every TV station has the right to carry any series it pleases without outside influence from home viewers. Let's look at a few things that I thought were important. First of all, "Married . . . With Children" was doing quite well and was actually quite a popular item for businesses to have their advertisements on. Next, I feel that every show has the right to run without viewer interference, especially when the viewers that object to the show are a a small percentage of the people that actually watch it. Unfortunately, these complaining viewers can also be very verbal. Finally, although I feel that it is an appropriate thing to voice your opinion, is there not a line that must be drawn between voicing one's opinion and interfering with a business that one may know nothing about?
In conclusion, I would just like to send this message to all those viewers who feel it is their duty and God-given right to interfere with a show that many others enjoy. If you don't like it, just do what I do — use the off switch!

Derek Thompson, Canton

New approach is needed to fund education

The May 18 issue of the Observer has forced me to write and express my views. What can citizens possibly do to stimulate public educational institutions to devise plans which will not constantly revert back to the tax-paying public for support.

Several years ago a front page request appeared in the Westland Observer for suggestions on how the Wayne-Westland Community Schools could cut $2.5 million. Igno rance forced me to offer suggestions to the school administration for which no recognition was given nor courtesy of response exercised. I am led to believe that the pleas for fi-nancial or supportive assistance are merely words used in an attempt to appear caring and considerate of the individuals being educated and their

Strikes have been a threat to the educational process for years. Shortage of funds to meet expenses is al-ways the reason. Millage increases have always been supported by parents in our city. However, teachers are still being eliminated, as with the recent 63-teacher cutback plan. Something is drastically wrong with the method of operation which allows a constant lack of necessary funding to meet expenses for an efficient education program. Governing bodies are hired to administer and direct functions for promoting quality education, but appear only to hold positions implying to do so. It is regrettable that we have become victims of a system that is now obso-

Let us now commence solving problems which are more than a ecade old with innovative solutions.

Time is now ripe to promote a method of financing so successfully used by institutions of higher education in order to finance our K-12 programs and to gear efforts toward that of philanthropy. There is a growing segment of society affluent and prospering who are willing to share their success with others. These Americans wish to return a portion of their wealth for the benefit of mankind and consist of a group of society interested in the education and welfare of youngsters.

If public education is to succeed today, a development program must be implemented for the purpose of financing the system. We must not separate our schools into "haves" and "have nots" and can no longer rely on government to subsidize education because it has not proven fair. The administration must further extend its concern by reconsidering present financing methods.

We have an obligation to develop more successful avenues for promoting elementary and secondary education. Blame for current problems rests with us. Surely we can offer more efficient programs and, in turn, produce future generations of individuals responding with a better way of life for all Americans.

Beef up choices for grill

Readers who are aware of the Janes Gang eating habits know that beef products are not a high priority in the family food budg-

But with Father's Day just around the corner and traditional family barbecues heating up all over, here is a primer for getting the most for your money at the butcher's or meat department of your favorite grocer.

The grades used on all meat and meat products may include the grade names of the U.S. Department of Agriculture and/or the grade names of packers and Both grade and brand names are applied to meat with a roller stamp, which leaves its mark the full length of the carcass of cuts. The bluish vegetable-base marking fluid used on all beef and for the inspection stamp is totally harmless.

PRIMARY PURPOSE of the Federal Meat Inspection Stamp is protection of you, the consumer, by guaranteeing that all meat inspected is from healthy animals. It states that the animal was slaughtered and butchered under sanitary conditions and that it is entirely suitable for consumption.

Primary factors determining the value and general acceptability of the carcass include:

a. Conformation. This refers to the general form, shape or outline of the carcass. Superior conformation is characterized by thick backs with full loins and ribs; deep, plump rounds; thick shoulders, and short necks and shanks.

In addition, the quality of the meat is determined by checking the maturity (age) of the animal, marbling or the flecks of fat within the lean portions which enhances palatability, juciness, flavor and tenderness and, last but not least, the color, firmness and texture of the lean sections.

b. Cutability. This refers to amount of usable meat in a carcass. High cutability of carcasses combine a minimum of fat covered with very thick muscling. The USDA cutability grades are numbered from one to five, with one having the best cutability.

c. Aging. Usually, only the ribs and loins of high-quality beef, lamb and mutton are aged. To be suitable for aging, meat must have a very thick covering of fat to prevent discoloration of the lean portions and keep evaporation to a minimum. This is why the biggest, fattest steers are awarded blue-ribbon prizes at State Fairs.

VACUUM PACKAGING is more noticeable in the butcher's meat case these days. This form of moisture and vaporproof film protects meatfrom the time it is processed till the time it is consumed and reduces weight loss and surface spoilage for two to three weeks.

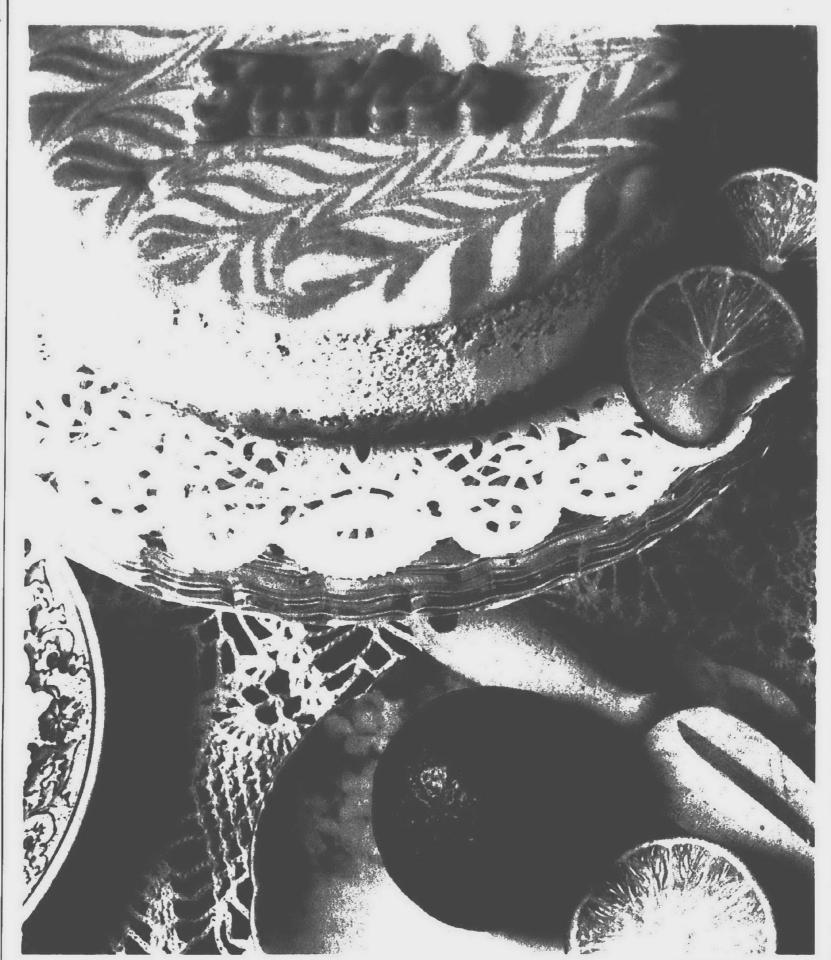

Quality grades are given to beef cuts so that consumers can use a guideline to choose what they prefer and can afford. The various grades include prime, choice, good, standard, commercial, utility cutter and canner.

You may be surprised to learn that meat grading is not compulsory. It is a voluntary service on the part of the wholesaler and slaughterhouse, which pays a fee to the U.S. Department of Agriculture, whose inspectors make the decision on how the meat will be graded. What is compulsory, however, is the USDA stamp of approval on the health of the

If you are looking for the best cuts of beef for your summertime grilling, the top of the line is prime, which features light-colored meat with firm, white fat and fine-textured, even marbling throughout the meat. Less than two percent of the meat in the butcher shops and markets are prime, so when you see it, expect to pay for the quality.

Plastic plates for real, really good food

It was so good, we could have licked the plate of the house salad, and it didn't even matter that the salad was served on plastic.

But you will have to get around that fact if you want to enjoy the food at Kruse and Muer, a restaurant that literally fits into a hole in the wall in Rochester Hills' MeadowBrook Village Mall.

In something under 2,000 square feet, Kruse and Muer packs a culinary wallop into very little space. The menu includes homemade pasta, fresh fish, a varied selection of chicken dishes and pizza. There's also a smattering of items borrowed from the Muer Corp. - Charley 's Chowder and homemade bread. Something not borrowed is the plastic dishes, which at first seem out of place and then seem almost accept-

In a note to customers, co-owner Bill Kruse explains that plastic dishes mean more room for cooking (and thus menu diversification) because china storage and a dishwasher no longer become an issue.

CONSIDERING THE concept of Kruse and Muer, it makes sense.

'We wanted to be a carryout for that two-income family, with both Mom and Dad working. We wanted to provide nutritious, well-balanced carryout meals," Kruse said.

The concept, he added, seems to be "dead on." Nearly 35 percent of the restaurant's business is in the takeout department. As the restaurant approaches its one-year anniversary in August, Kruse hopes to see the percentage increase to 50. The "we" part of Kruse and Muer is Chuck Muer of the famed Charley's Crab. A 17-year Muer Corp. employee, Kruse served his last seven years there as vice-president of operations. During his tenure, he learned the restaurant business and developed with Muer the concept for the Rochester restaurant, which is separate from the corporation. Muer, said Kruse, "is my financial partner and my operational mentor. Before I left the Muer Corp., Chuck and I were talking a lot about carryout — and "SO. WE THOUGHT we'd give it a whirl. The 50 seats we do have were really to help promote the carryout business. The restaurant ended up telling what we were all about"

And what is that, exactly? The restaurant focuses on three areas. 1. Bread - homemade and hot out of the oven. 2. Fresh fish and homemade pasta, and 3. Pizza.

Our favorite was a wonderful combination of greens and fruit concocted by Kruse's wife, Cindy, that makes up the house salad. A delightful and distinctly different flavor results from combining cantaloupe with romaine lettuce and tossing it with a honey-mustard viniagrette, which you can buy by the pint ($3.95). The salad changes depending on what's freshest at the time. The evening we had it, we could have made a meal of the salad alone. Do not miss it.

For dinner we tried the chicken primavera, not one of the top three draws but delicious nevertheless. Crunchy broccoli, red pepper and other vegetables are mixed with a chicken cooked just tender. The entree was delicious and plentiful at $7.95, including bread and salad.

Another entree tried was the Shaft barbecue ribs. While we were impressed with the amount of meat on the bones and the flavor of the sauce, the grease factor — though always expected with ribs - was still more than we cared for. The ribs were made to imitate those at an Aspen restaurant named the Shaft. Maybe after a long day of skiing, all that grease warms you up. In Rochester, it provides a little too much finger-licking.

INDEED, IF there is one complaint overall, it was the excess liquld factor. Not so much to make it intolerable but enough to notice.

o doesn't need a chee It's the perfect gift for Dad," said Mairian Sheridan, co-owner of the Gourmet Cheesecake Club based in Farmington Hills. "For the month of June the flavor is Key Lime."

Four years ago Sheridan, 35, a for-ner medical technician, and her sister Linda Ozog, 39, who still is an art director for an advertising agency began looking into businesses that they could own and somehow came up with cheesecakes. "I knew of a lady in Colorado who had a cookieof-the-month club," said Sheridan. "I thought, 'Why not cheesecakes?' It could be so much better.'

And, so they say, history was made

Sheridan said that before things could really take off, packaging and recipes needed to be perfected. "I al-ways made cheesecakes, but I didn't know how well they would ship," she said. "I also didn't know how long they would stay fresh.'

While exploring their options, the men discovered a mail-order catalog that shipped cheesecakes. "We found that to be something very interesting to stumble upon.'

FROM THERE they had to come up with a scheme that would allow them to begin, but without having to purchase "thousands of boxes."

"It took us about four months of earching various states before we found someone to cut forms and corrugated material that would go into the gift boxes," she said.

Sisters Marian Sheridan (left) and Linda Ozog originated the idea for the Gourmet Cheesecake Club four years ago.

Once the search for the perfect packaging material ended, the busiss officially kicked off in May "It was great. We opened up for Mother's Day," she recalled.

Since then, the Gourmet Cheesecake Club has been baking unique and elegant cheesecakes, ready to eat and to send.

We got so busy that we had to hire another baker, who does all our baking for us out of a licensed kitchen in Berkley," explained Sheridan. "In the experimental stages, my sister and I did the baking out of my

Sheridan said eventually the club would like to branch out and operate its own bakery - minus a retail front. "Instead of contracting out, we could do all the baking our-

SHERIDAN SAID their cheesecakes are made with the finest, freshest, natural ingredients. There are 13 in all. Each month, a different gourmet flavor is featured, such as irresistible Raspberry Ribbon, Amaretto, and Chocolate-Crowned Holiday Rum Mocha, all baked in an exclusive golden-walnut crust. A traditional-style cheesecake is offered as an option to any of the 12 gourmet flavors. The recipes are a combination of mine and my sister's," she said. "We don't use any plain crusts, such as shortbread or graham crackers. I have a hard time even eating that type now." The crust varies with either almonds, chocolate, pecans or walnuts, depending on the particular flavor. "To me the crust really sets off the cake," she said.

You can opt to send either one cheesecake on a one-time basis or sign up for a membership. Seventy percent of the business is one-time orders, according to Sheridan "Membership-wise there are peo-ple who will enroll friends, relatives maelves into the club," she der, which is 10 servings, 2 pounds 8 ounces, $21.96; 18 servings, 3 pounds 8 ounces, $27.95; three-month club, $61.50; five-month club, $102.50; eight-month club, $161.50; 12-month club, $234.50, and six-month club (bimonthly), $124.50. All prices include delivery except for air shipments.

WHEN ASKED how quickly their idea took off, Sheridan said, "It took off almost immediately because it's so different, People get tired of buying the same gifts over and over again. Our idea is fresh, delicious and unique. Cheesecakes have become so popular that some people even order them for weddings and other special occasions."

"We've grown by word of mouth, and through recommendations by numerous Chamber of Commerces, she said. "Over 30 percent of our accounts are commercial accounts."

Many of the Gourmet Cheesecake Club's scrumptious cheesecakes make their way from coast to coast. "One out of every four travels out of state." Large numbers also are sent to parents in Florida and California.

"I had a customer who enjoyed the cheesecake that she received so much that she signed up for a 12month membership," she said. "For us that's the ultimate compliment."

"In our opinion, a cheesecake is a lot better than another old tie, and if you're watching your weight these are quality calories," she said.

Mail orders for Father's Day cheesecakes need to be placed by noon Wednesday for out-of-state orders and no later than Thursday (June 15) at noon for local orders. The Gourmet Cheesecake Club can be reached by calling 553-2883.

Morel finders

Arthur Borucki of Bloomfield Township recently found morel mushrooms in his own home town. Bloomfield Village Officer Henry Rogalsi told Borucki where he had seen some mushrooms, and Borucki, who has hunted morels before, gathered them up. "They're not supposed to grow south of Bay City," said Borucki, who found two 10-inch-tall ones and two 8-inch ones, among 11 morels. He said they were found in a woodpile and believes the spores were in the wood when it was brought from up north. (Another Observer & Eccentric reader wrote to say she found six morels, one sixinches tall, in her Livonia backyard.)

The next grade is choice, a grade that accounts for 20 percent of all the beef sold and is what most supermarkets and butchers carry for consumer purchases. The meat is also light colored and has a firm layer of fat, but the marbeling is uneven and there might be little pockets of fat. Choice meat is a tad more coarse than prime.

THERE CAN BE quite a difference between top choice and low choice, since about 15 years ago the breeders and growers changed the grades, incorporating plain choice into top prime and the grade below choice, good, into choice.

So the choice meat you get now encompasses a wide range of quality. This is why you can see some meat marked as "top choice." No one, however, would dare advertise their meat as "bottom choice."

The "good" grade of meat formerly was the commercial grade. This grade is for folks who don't like a lot of fat. It is plain meat with hardly any marbling and is apt to be tough, with little flavor. These cuts usually lend themselves to marinating and slow cooking, which enhances flavor and tenderness.

The good and standard commercial grades may include some cows and bulls. The last grade, which is the cutters' and canners' grade, is seldom seen in retail markets but is mainly used by the processors of frankfurters, bologna, knockwurst, sausages and canned or potted meat

Yours truly has a simple rule that is followed by all the Janes Gang. Momma always said never to buy steaks or good meat that was cut and wrapped in a smothering plastic. She always said that you should get to know your butcher or meat person so that when quality counted, you could depend on his or her recommenda-

TO THIS DAY, she still relies on Mr. Szymanski and, in all honesty, at the family barbecues, you can always tell. Of course, an occasional Momma Janes pie and loaf of fresh bread never hurts.

So light up those grills and heat up those broilers, but when you want the best, rely on a good butcher or meat market for the tastiest cuts. Bon Appetit!

CLASSIC LONDON BROIL

Although many people think of London broll as a cut of meat, it is actually a way of cooking meat. A boneless piece of meat is marinated, broiled, then sliced into thin slices and is usually served with a mushroom sauce. Flank steak has traditionally been the best cut for London

Place the steak on a cutting board and with a sharp knife, cut thin slices on the bias. Serve plain or with a mushroom

You will also need some demitasse cups. Plain ones, with no pattern inside are best, if you plan to read the coffee grounds. Cups also should be round-bottomed, so that the grounds will adhere properly to the bottom and be easier to read.

Turkish coffee is stone-ground to a fine powder, and its consistency is somewhere between old-fashioned instant and the finest fresh-roasted

To make Turkish coffee, pour a demitasse of water for each cup into the ibruk (pot) and heat until it starts to steam but not yet to a boil.

Look into the grounds at the lines, images and symbols you see there and interpret them according to your feelings about that person. Once you start, it will be easy.

I do suggest you might like to experiment alone a few times beforehand, by preparing the coffee for yourself and reading your own cup. You will be more at ease with it when you do it for your guests.

It's fun to plan food for a crowd

The crowd is coming and you're in

Whether it is a school graduation open house, a wedding anniversary party, a garden wedding reception or just a summer neighborhood gettogether, make it a pleasurable, not stressful, experience.

Get a paper and pencil and start planning the event to make it go smoothly. Your celebration should be determined by your available space and your pocketbook.

The idea is to create a joyous atmosphere with the least amount of work. A celebration is a time for sharing a special occasion with family, friends or neighbors.

Yet too often the people in charge lose control of the situation because they neglect to plan. They end up spending too much on decorations, buying too much or not enough food and spending all their time running for extra ice, parking cars or handling emergencies.

ADVANCE PLANNING is the key in being able to enjoy your own celebration.

Once you have determined the type of party you want to give, it's best to get your ideas down on paper. Keeping all the information in your head will not work. A typical response when under pressure is for the mind to short-circuit right when you need the answer.

Your planning should include the party menu, the guest list, considering the party location, with plans for fair and foul weather, and if you are preparing the food, considering storage facilities and special sizes of equipment needed for cooking and serving quantities of food.

Many people turn to a caterer because they lack the experience in preparing food in large amounts, or lack the time needed to prepare the food. Some people just prefer to have a caterer plan the menu and deal with the details.

MANY SUPERMARKET delicatessens can provide prepared foods in quantities. The advantage of using this resource is that they can store your order until just before the party. Then you don't have to re every refrigerator in the neighbor-

Just because you are excited that you are able to produce 50 pounds of potato salad with your own two hands doesn't mean you have to show it all off at once. Serve small amounts of food at a time and keep the rest refrigerated for safety rea-

Memorize these temperatures:

Keep cold food below 40 degrees and hot food above 145 degrees. That will ensure that the food will be safe to eat. You want your party to be memorable, but not if everyone who attends becomes sick.

Store foods in shallow pans in the refrigerator, or use many plastic bags. They are convenient and mold to the space available for storage. When you are cooking food, cook in shallow pans. Otherwise, in the time it takes to penetrate the prepared food either with heat or cold, bacteria can start to grow. IF YOU ARE planning a party where most of the people will be fed at the same time, serve the food buffet-style. To create a working buffet table, consider the use of both sides of the table.

One way to use your space efficiently is to elevate the center of the table by creating two tiers. If you are planning to use paper cloths on the serving table, cover the paper with a thin, clear plastic sheet. There are always spills and things to clean up, and you especially want the serving table to stay attractive If you are offering drinks or a punch bowl at your party, it's a good idea to have the beverages placed in another location, separate from the food. You may also want to create a separate dessert table as well

To cover foods on an outside buffet table, take large embroidery hoops and stretch a plastic wrap over the hoop and pop together. Use these on top of your serving bowls. The plastic wrap allows people to see the food but keeps the unwanted

HOW MANY pounds of potatoes do you need to make potato salad to feed 150 people? Many cooks mistakenly take a "tried-and-true" recipe that feeds 10 and multiply the ingredients by 15. This is not the best or most accurate way to deal with

To get the best results, find recipes that are designed for quantities. The local library has many quantity cookbooks. Personalize a recipe by adding your own special seasonings or garnishes.

The whole idea to putting on a party is to have fun. Let the fun begin when your guests first receive their creative invitation, and keep the good times rolling until the last serving dish is put in the dishwasher.

When the crowd is coming and you're in charge — with good advance planning — be assured it will be fun and you will remain calm.

SOLAR ENERGY

A main drawback to solar energy has been its higher cost in relation to other forms of energy. However, solar energy researchers are getting closer to making solar energy cost competitive with coal and oil.

Scientists at the Arco Solar Co. and the Solar Energy Research Institute, a division of the U.S. Department of Energy, have increased solar panel efficiency from 8 percent to 11.2 percent. Fifteen percent efficiency would make the panels costcompetitive with other energy sourc-

This efficiency improvement was achieved with the use of copper indium diselenide (CIS), a semiconductor material that converts sunlight into electricity.

CIS produces large amounts of electrical current in panels, but at the same time lowers the panel's maximum voltage. When the voltage was raised, the current was reduced to unacceptable levels.

Scientists found by adding the element gallium to CIS they could raise the voltage without getting the usual reduction in current

The Solar Energy Research Institute believes that these CIS/gallium panels should one day produce power at half the cost of power generated by present day solar panels and cost competitive with coal or oil.

Arco hopes to market these new panels for limited commercial use by 1990.

GLOVE AND STOCKING NEUROPATHY You may know someone who suffered shooting pains and numbness in the hands or feet and was thought to have arthritis.

If such pain occurs in the extremities, involves the right and left side equally and is worse when resting, then the cause is not arthritis. Rather, the probable reason for the pain is a neuritis - an inflammation of the nerve endings that provide a sensory network for the fingers and toes.

This neuritis is called "a glove and stocking neuropathy," a term as descriptive as it is colorful. The pains that originate in these nerve endings start in the toes or fingers, and gradually work up the arm like a formal glove, and up the leg, like a

Reasons for this neuritis include diabetes and certain vitamin deficiencies, but In most instances the cause is unknown. Fortunately, over time, in the majority of cases, numbness subsides and pain decreases. One exception is the glove and stocking pain that can occur with rheumatoid arthritis. In this instance, specific therapy if started soon enough, will stop the neuropathy. If not begun in a timely fashion, the therapy will fall regardless of the dose used and the duration

CC deals defeat to Rams in final

Redford Catholic Central opened its own little shop of horrors Saturday afternoon, smothering No. 1ranked Taylor Center in the Class A regional baseball finals at Plymouth Canton, 7-3.

CC snapped the Rams' unbeaten streak at 29 after getting a scare from Canton in the semifinals earlier in the day at adjoining Salem High, 7-4.

It was CC's day all the way. The Shamrocks' defense was superb, gobbling up everything in sight.

"That's been our weakness all season, not handling the ground balls, the fly balls . . . at times we've thrown the ball all over the place, but today we came through," said CC coach John Salter, whose team will take a 25-9 record into the state semifinals, 9 a.m. Friday against Milford at Lansing's Municipal Field. (Milford beat Grand Haven, 12-4, to win the Lansing Waverly regional crown.)

It appeared innocent enough, but oh the significance.

Troy Athens freshman Angie Marino took on the role of hero Saturday afternoon as her 30-yard floater early in the second half eluded Northville goalkeeper Kristi Turner and proved the difference as the Red Hawks claimed the 1989 Class A girls soccer championship with a 1-0 victory over the Mustangs at North Farmington High School.

The title was the first in the eightseason history of the Athens girls program. The Red Hawks had previously reached the final game in 1985 and 1986. They dropped a 5-2 decision to Livonia Stevenson in '85 and suffered a 3-2 overtime loss to Livonia Churchill in '86.

"I've won four now and lost three (finals) and it's so much more fun winning a championship," beamed Athens coach Tim Storch, whose three prior state championships have come with the Red Hawks boys teams. "This is something I've wanted to do for a long time.

"THE GIRLS program started in 1982 and it was slow going in the beginning," continued Storch. "It took me time to learn the differences in coaching the boys teams and the girls teams.

"But this is a personal culmination for me and it means a lot to me as a coach and I'm sure it means a lot to the girls."

The Red Hawks, who finished the season with a 22-2-1 ledger, came into the contest playing stellar defense as they allowed only three goals in six post-season victories. In 18 regular-season games, the Red Hawks allowed only 10 goals.

DAN DEAN/staff photographer feated the Mustangs 1-0 to win its first state title in girls soccer.

But McGough proved equal to the WITH THE WIND favoring Storch's troops in the second half, the Red Hawks carried the play to the Mustangs and just missed on a number of good scoring chances.

But with 29:21 remaining, Marino turned what looked like a routine play in front of the Northville net into Red Hawk soccer history.

Marino, who was called up to the varsity in the middle of the season, took a pass from sophomore Andrea Olesik directly in front of the Mustangs net and lofted the ball toward Turner. Turner's initial break was forward, and as the ball inched closer, she was unable to backpedal and "I thought it was going over (the crossbar)," said Marino, who scored only three goals all season. "I couldn't believe it when it went in."

"I knew it had a chance," said Storch of the winning goal. "She's (Marino) a girl who can hit the ball from 25 yards out."

FRESHMAN LISA GRACE, the Red Hawks' leading scorer, had opportunities to increase the lead, but a 30-yard boot found Turner's hands and a shot from closer range brushed the side of the net.

The difference, what will keep Westland John Glenn and Livonia Franklin at home next weekend while Taylor Kennedy takes a shot at the state title, was Wendy Jamula.

The junior pitcher single-handedly dismantled John Glenn, 7-0, in a regional semifinal by hurling a threehitter while striking out 10 and slugging a first-inning, three-run ho-

In the regional final, Franklin proved more stubborn, but again Jamula prevailed in a 4-2 eight-inning triumph. She surrendered one earned run on five hits, striking out three, and stretched two singles into doubles that turned into runs - the second the game-winner.

"HER PITCHING didn't beat us," said Franklin coach Joe Epstein of Jamula. "What beat us was her hitting. A single for anyone else is a double for her. She makes things happen on the basepaths." Taylor Center coach Jerry Abraham would hardly argue. "Isn't she great?" he said after the win, which carries the Rams back to the final four tournament in Lansing Friday and Saturday. Center lost in the finals a year ago to Jenison. Friday's opponent will be Harper Woods Re-

The Patriots, who were runnersup to Glenn in the Western Lakes Activities Association, provided a stiff challenge before being subdued. Twice the Rams got leads, twice Franklin battled back to tie, and twice the Patriots thwarted Center scoring efforts.

The third Ram rally, however, was a winner. Jamula started the eighth inning with a drive into center field, which she legged into a double. A sacrifice bunt moved her to third, and with Lani Mauritho at the plate, a Lisa Allen pitch got past catcher Leslie Szaflarski. Jamula slid under Allen's tag for the go-ahead run.

CENTER ADDED another after a walk and left fielder Dawn Warner's two-base error put runners at second and third. Helena Guts grounded out, scoring the run.

Karen Brown started Franklin's half of the eighth with a single, but Jenny Mayle flew out to center field and Sherry Weiss' pop was caught by shortstop Ronnie Ronco, who tossed to first to double up Brown and end the game.

"We made a couple of mental errors and throwing errors, otherwise we could have won the game 2-1," said Epstein. "But I'm proud of the

The Rams scored in the first inning after a lead-off single by Ronco. She stole second, went to third on a ground out and scored on Jamula's

All-America recognition for Krueger

Lee Krueger of Plymouth has been named a high school All-American by the National Wrestling Coaches Association. The team was announced in the May edition of the Amateur Wrestling News. Krueger, who graduates from Redford Catholic Central this month, won the Class A heavyweight championship last February. He won the 198-pound title as a junior.

"I didn't anticipate it, but I hoped to be (an All-American)," Krueger said. "I figured I had a chance, but I wasn't sure."

Krueger, who will play football and wrestle at the University of Wisconsin next fall, was one of five wrestlers on the NWCA team who will compete for the Badgers.
"Going to Wisconsin will be like starting all over," Krueger said. "It's a bigger challenge than (when he was a freshman at CC). I'm kinda nervous about it."

Krueger, who made the All-Observer football and wrestling teams during the 1988-89 school year, reports to Wisconsin in the second week of August.

Three other Michigan state champions — Shane Camera of Rochester, Chris Henderson of Lansing Sexton and Dean Mosko-vic of Birmingham Brother Rice — were named All-Americans by the coaches, too. Krueger and CC teammate Matt Helm were honorable mentions on the USA Wrestling All-America team last month.

"It wasn't that bad because we were up 5-0," said Hutchinson of the slam. "But if we had been down 5-0, it would have been a different story.

CC ADDED another run in the fourth.

Paupore allowed a single to Paul Pirronello, but infield errors by shortstop Derek Humphries and third baseman Geoff Allen (with the bases loaded) pushed him home.

In the seventh, pinch hitter Brett Welling lined a single to left, scoring Hill with CC's final run.

"I thought we played over the start, but you can't make seven errors," said Crissey, whose team bowed out at 22-9. "You just can't play defense like that. That's been our downfall all year, but we're not short on heart. These guys never gave up on themselves.

TAYLOR CENTER brought its glittering 29-0 record into the final after edging Trenton in the other semifinal, 3-2.

The Rams got away with a series of shabby defensive plays to oust Trenton, but couldn't overcome the same miscues against CC.

Fireballer Bill Kostich, a lefthander drafted in the ninth round of the Major League Amateur Baseball Draft by the Seattle Mariners earlier in the week, worked five innings against Trenton. He is available to work four more in the championship

But Taylor Center manager Tom Bluhm elected to start right-hander Davey Jones, who was roughed up, a-la Sulak, in the bottom of the first "Strangely, defense and bunting as the Shamrocks scored three Batting cleanup, Elezovic delivered a two-run single, scoring Tomasi from second and Pirronello all the way from first after Taylor Center right fielder Thad Finley let the ball squirt past him trying to make a diving grab.

Hill then followed with a double, scoring Elezovic.

Kostich came on in the third inning and retired CC in order, but in the fourth he was the victim of three Wheeler, coupled with a pair of successive Taylor Center infield errors, ballooned CC's lead to 6-0. (Kostich, who started the game in center field, threw only two innings before giving way to Todd Boike in the fifth inning.)

The Rams finally got on the board in the sixth on an RBI triple by Bryon Keatley. They added two more in the top of the seventh and threatened to score more before CC second baseman Mark Clary knocked a shot down in the hole, throwing out Boike for the second Bozyk then struck out Dan Woldt to end the game, finishing with fivehitter. He struck out four and walked only two in squaring his record at 5-

Bozyk, who missed part of the semifinal game against Canton because he was taking an ACT exam, was in command the entire way.

"He did a nice job," Salter said. "He threw strikes and we made the plays with runners on. We caught the ball and they (Taylor Center) had some defensive problems. When you get at this level, you can't make those mistakes."

Salter's counterpart, Bluhm, painfully recounted all of his team's mis-and and came home when Szaflarski's throw got past shortstop Emily Skura, who was covering the bag.

But Franklin - which advanced to the final with an easy, 12-2 fiveinning mercy win over Detroit Cass Tech - battled back to tie it again. Allen singled and Kris McComb ran for her. Two groundouts moved her to third and Weiss' double down the third-base line delivered the run.

That, however, was the extent of the Patriots' offense this day. They managed just two more hits and Jamula did not walk a batter (she walked one in the win over Glenn) No Franklin baserunner reached second base after the third inning.

Defense and Allen's pitching kept the Patriots close early. Center loaded the bases with one out in the second but failed to score when Allen fanned Nedrow and got Ronco on a pop fly. In the fifth, Ronco tripled to open the inning but was tossed out at the plate when she tried to score on Mauritho's bunt.

Center, ranked No. 1 in the state, improved to 30-1-1 (it's only loss was to Redford Thurston). Franklin bowed out at 20-9.

JOHN GLENN was finished by the time the third Center hitter had batted. That hitter was, of course, Jamula, who followed Ronco's walk and Mauritho's single with a line shot over right fielder Tina Bush's head for a home run. Jamula finished with two hits in three trips; Ronco added a two-run single in the sixth.

For Glenn, lead-off hitter Michelle Myers had two hits and Tracy Sylvester had one - all singles. Only two Rocket baserunners reached walks, with one strikeout. Sara Morey relieved in the sixth and was tagged for three runs on two hits and a walk. She fanned three.

Franklin had little trouble with Cass Tech in its regional opener. The Patriots had a 10-0 lead after one inning, with Szaflarski singling in two runs and knocking in a third in her second at-bat of the inning on a groundout. Linda Kulesza also brought in a run with a groundout, and five more scored on errors.

Trish Vasseliori added a run-scoring single in the fourth. Mayle had two hits and got the pitching victory, tossing a four-hitter, with two walks and nine strikeouts. Cass Tech committed seven errors in the game, six in the first inning.

"I thought we would need more than one goal, but when it got under 15 minutes, we wanted to make sure we held on," said Storch. "But you have to give a lot of credit to Northville, too. They just kept coming at Northville coach Bob Paul, who watched his team finish with a 14-4-4 record in his first year at the helm, felt his Mustangs may have been caught up in all the excitement in the early going.

"We made a lot of mistakes and didn't do the things that got us here," Paul said. "We got here on ground play, but we got excited and started popping the ball up in the air. 'But they (Athens) played tremendous and deserve a lot of credit,"

Paul added. "I think this experience will help the kids out and we're already looking forward to next year." WITH A STATE championship tucked safely away, the Red Hawks, too, are already looking forward to the 1990 campaign. With only three seniors on the roster, it comes as little surprise. "We have absolutely the best freshman team in the state," noted Storch. "I think the strength in the state is with the young players and I feel we're a team that will be heard from again and again.

The win by the Red Hawks marks the first time a team outside the Western Lakes Activities Association has won the Class A championship.

S'craft camp addresses psychology of athletics

Summer camps for athletes abound. You can master a left-handed hook shot at any number of basketball clinics, or perfect a centering pass from the left wing at several soccer camps. The same is available for almost

But one important aspect of sports has remained untouched: the mental game.

That will change this summer, when a pair of noted sports psychologists conduct a series of workshops called "a mental training program for dedicated athletes and coaches" at Schoolcraft College.

The first of the workshops is for coaches, from 8:30 a.m. to 5:15 p.m. June 24. There will be a second coaches' workshop Aug. 5 (same times). Cost for the one-day coaches' clinic is $125, which includes workbooks, beverage breaks and lunch.

THE FIRST of the athletes' two-day workshop is July 8 and 15, from 8:30 a.m. to 5:15 p.m. each day; the second is Aug. 12 and 19 (same times). There will also be two four-day workshops, 6-10 p.m. July 10, 12, 17 and 19, and July 25, 27, Aug. 1 and 3. Cost for the athletes' workshops is $195, which includes workbooks and beverage breaks (two-day clinics include lunch).

The object of the workshops is simple. As Terry Mills, the director of the Competitive Performance Center (a workshop sponsor), explained: "Most athletes spend 75 to 80 percent of their training time preparing physically. But if you ask them what's more important, they'll say their sport is 90 percent mental.

We just want to balance the scales a bit between mental and physical training."

Both Mills, who has a master's degree in sports psy chology, and Hugh Bray, who has a doctorate in psychology, are well qualified for such a program. Bray has served as the Detroit Red Wings team psychologist for the past four seasons; prior to that, he had a similar position with the St. Louis Blues for 2½ years.

"THIS IS probably the wave of the future," said Bray. "We may be a little ahead of time with it, but I think you're going to see a lot more camps dealing with the mental end of sports (for youths)."

Not that Bray and Mills are breaking new ground. As they pointed out, the United States is lagging far behind other countries - particularly in the Eastern bloc - in

Bray added that some pro hockey teams, like the Red Wings, have sports psychologists on staff. But teaching techniques on how to mentally approach a sport have not been available to the young, aspiring athletes be-

"It's a logical way to go, because it's already been accepted by the pros," said Mills. "So amateurs should

Bray and Mills have their workshop divided into eight parts:

· Self-talk, in which an athlete learns how to correctly evaluate his performance. Visualization, or envisioning success.

· Relaxation ("A relaxed athlete has to work far less than an intense athlete," said Bray).

• Goal-setting, or how to set proper goals for your-

 Self-confidence, which is positive thinking but with consideration to reality.

 Pre-game preparation. · Concentration, both improving it and knowing when and how to turn it up a notch. • And after-the-game evaluation ("Most athletes evaluate performance, but on a win-or-lose basis," said

Many of the skills and techniques taught by Bray and Mills originate with the most successful of pros. "Most of the above-average athletes do many of these things intuitively," said Bray. "What we do is break down what they do to be successful."

BRAY NOTED that they will not set goals for athletes, but will teach them how to set them. "There should be an A, B, C, D approach to setting goals, so you're going one step at a time and not trying to skip from A to Z," said Mills.

Bray added, "The focus of self-evaluation is on the process, instead of the end result." Which means that, if sights are properly set, winning or losing becomes secondary to goal-accomplishment.

The whole idea is to enhance performance with the proper mental attitude. "This isn't hocus-pocus stuff," said Mills. "It's a scientific approach."

Entry forms and information on the workshops is available at Schoolcraft College's athletic department, or by calling the Competitive Performance Center at

The finals will take place at Country Lanes in Farmington Hills, July 8-9. This is the 43rd year for the "Champion of Champi-ons" and it's produced by the Bowl-ing Centers Association of Michigan (BCA), formerly known as BPA or the Bowling Proprietors Association.

The tournament, sponsered by Kessler's, has a total prize fund of $87,000 with first place worth $15,000 and a trip to Las Vegas for the winning team; second place, $7,500; third, $3,500, fourth, $2,500; and fifth, $1,500.

The BCA has expanded its coverage this year to include eligible teams from Port Huron, Pontiac and Ann Arbor. Let's all try a little harder this upcoming season and get in on this prize fund.

• Back in January and February, bowlers were asked to contrribute one dollar to the bowling charities. Those who participated and bowled well enough to qualify for the local competition then became eligible to advance to the state finals if they were among the top finishers. The final competition was held over the weekend in Gaylord. The results will be printed in this column as soon as they are official. Prizes in the Bowling Charities Tournament are $2,000 for first, $1,000 for second and $500 for third, along with other items such as televisions and radios. This year, the bowling charities raised a total of $94,000 for various charities throughout the state.

• We would all like to become winners and in order to bowl better it is necessary to try and improve our own game. I have reviewed a good videotape, "Maximum Bowling," by Marshall Holman and John Jowdy. You might want to rent or buy the video cassette as it has a lot of very good tips to improve the techniques for most bowlers.

It is a five-point program in which they demonstrate the proper method of: 1. rhythm, 2. slide, 3. hand position, 4. release point and angle; 5. Follow through.

There are many good video cassettes available for self help in bowling and if you look at the good ones, this is like getting the best professional instruction if you concentrate on the material.

• I have also reviewed the Earl Anthony Tape, "Going for 300," which is good material but a bit dated, along with the Sybervision Series by Marshall Holman and Johnny Petraglia, which is not instructional

However, it pertains to the mental imaging theory which can also work well if you are able to spend the time and concentrate. I recommend "Maximum Bowling" by Marshall Holman as a useful self-improvement aid for the average intermediate and better bowler. There is no substitute for a real live bowling instructor if you seek to get the most out of your game, and I will

Fabulous fakes

You may lack the buying power to dress in mink and dazzle your friends in diamonds, but for a few dollars less you can dress like you've found success with fabulous fakes. Yep, cubic zirconia may be a girl's best friend in the 1980s. And fake furs may be one way to avoid confrontations with animal rights activists. Don't let the T-shirts scare you. This pit crew is anything but "Bad Boys" when it comes to keeping its car in competition.

FLAT ROCK:

life in the fast lane

The action isn't quite as fast-paced as at Indy, but it's just as exciting as the cars handle the curve of Flat Rock's quartermile track.

'I like the competition.

Something about having all that power underneath you.'

Steve Cronenwett

The fans come in all shapes and sizes on a Saturday night at the Flat Rock Speedway.

in the street stock division at Flat Rock Speedway. "My five brothers all raced at one time or another. It's a family thing.

"I like the competition. Something about having all that power underneath you."

The machines they drive are definitely their own, usually resurrected from a junk yard and converted into a race car.

First, they gut the car's interior. Then a steel cage and sheet metal are placed inside. Braces are installed to support the frame and the engine and the engine.

Cronenwett proudly pats the hood of his red street stock car, which he said cost roughly $5,000 to build.

"This one here, a friend of mine had an old car and I bought it for $50," Cronenwett said, "and I started from there."

Cronenwett hops in through the driver's side and then a person hands him the steering wheel. He screws it in. A hulking figure wipes the windshield and then spills gasoline into the car.

Todd Irvine is one of Cronenwett's pit crew, which consists mainly of friends and family. Around the pit area, it's not uncommon to see wives, brothers and sisters wiping windshields, changing tires and fetching tools.

"YOUR CREW is volunteer," Cronenwett said. "You can't afford anybody. You have to keep them fed and give them what they want to drink. That's all you can do."

When Cronenwett pulls the safety goggles over his eyes. "Knock 'em dead," said Irvin, hitting his fist on the top of the car.

A few feet away, another guy sips on a Pepsi and chats with some other drivers. Joy Fair, 58, has been knocking them dead on speedways since 1949. At Flat Rock Speedway, he holds the record for most wins in the Late Model Stock Car Division — a grade up from street stocks.

His list of 10 season championships run from 1965 until 1981. He hasn't won a season championship since 1981, but Fair doesn't sound like a man who's ready to throw in the wrench.

Saturday nights at Flat Rock Speedway have become such a routine, he wouldn't know what else to do.

Montague Inn: A gem of a B&B

By Mary Augusta Rodgers special writer

Q: I see that the Montague Inn in Saginaw is now listed in the guidebook, "Country Inns and Back Roads," and am wondering what it's like to visit. Also, should we take our toddler there, or leave him home with a baby-sitter?

A: The Montague Inn is a gem in an unusual setting, considering Saginaw's reputation as an industrial, have-a-beer-and-go-to-the-hockeygame town.

It's the kind of country inn that used to be found mainly in Europe, offering a quiet, pleasant setting, attractive decor, good food, good service and attention to details. Nothing has brightened the U.S. travel picture as much as the recent appearance of places like the Montague Inn.

Business men and women are most in evidence during the week, with travelers and country inn enthusiasts taking over on the weekends. It's not surprising that people think of the inn for special occasions — five honeymoon couples once arrived on the same weekend. The Montague Inn is a stately Georgian manor house, built of rose-colored brick with cream colored trim and green shutters, set on eight acres and surrounded by fine old trees, shrubs and flowers. At the back, a well-tended lawn slopes down to a small lake. Gulls circle overhead and the Lake Linton water sparkles in the sun.

The house was built in 1929 by Robert Montague, a farmer who made a fortune from a hand-cleaning formula he sold to the Jergens Co. Mr. and Mrs. Montague and their two children lived there in fine style, with a staff of five servants, and entertained a great deal.

ants, and entertained a great deal.

By the early 1960s, the Montague era was over. The house was used for city offices, then stood empty for years. It might have been demolished, if a few people hadn't seen the possibilities in the dilapidated but strong old place, built with oak beams and hand-made bricks and with six fireplaces.

SO THE HOUSE was bought and restored under the direction of Norman Kinney, one of five owners. Kinney had previously restored the National House Inn in Marshall.

MOVING PICTURES

The traditional curriculum at Welton Academy is given new life by charismatic English professor John Keating (Robin Williame) in "Dead Poets Society."

Masterful performances shine in 'Poets Society'

Societies have always agonized over proper education for the young so that when they do mature, they will assume power and wealth and control the culture in ways pleasing to their elders. The principles of education adopted by any given society, of course, reflect the rul-ing establishment's view of how well things are going.

The terrible tragedy presently being played out in China indicates conflict between various elements of the power structure and their divergent views about how Chinese children should behave.

That same issue is at the heart of Peter Weir's ("Witness," "Gallipoli" and "The Year of Living Dangerously") latest film "Dead Poets Society" (A+, PG, 124 minutes).

John Keating (Robin Williams) is the new English instructor at Welton Academy as the fall 1959 semester begins. Welton is the very best, the most traditional, the finest prep school in New England, or anywhere else in the country for that matter. Just ask the faculty or the headmaster, Gale Nolan (Norman Lloyd).

Welton Academy specializes in discipline, achievement and tradition, hence Keating's injunction to his students, "gather ye rosebuds while ye may," doesn't sit too well with the establishment which, of course, wants to replicate itself. "If it was good enough for our fathers

In particular, Keating inspires seven young men in his class, four of whom figure dramatically in the forefront of this very well acted, finely photographed and generally excellent movie. Neil Perry (Robert Sean Leonard), Todd Anderson (Ethan Hawke), Knox Overstreet (Josh Charles) and Charlie Dalton (Gale Hansen) revive and lead the Dead Poets Society, a long defunct "club" that Keating had been part of as a student at Welton

17 years earlier. The entire cast, under Peter Weir's direction, performs in the finest manner imaginable. The fact that the seven young actors - the four noted plus Dylan Kussman, Allelon Ruggiero and James Waterston - lived, worked and played together during the 10-week shoot sustains the warmth of youthful friendship and idealism so aptly portrayed on screen, a mirror of the personal bonds established during filming.

Robin Williams' portrait of a dedicated teacher whose warm humanism overrides the rigidity of the system is as much, or more, than anyone has the right to expect from an actor. The inspiration of his personality will stand as a guide and symbol for many for a long time.

These masterful performances were photographed by John Seale as were the very vivid, scenic settings which are Welton Academy and its several thousand acres. ("Dead Poets Society" was filmed in Middleton, Del., at St. Andrew's School, founded in 1930 by Felix DuPont.)

Those images, perfect for this story, will remain in your mind's eye long after the film has ended. Tom Schulman's extremely literate script, Maurice Jarre's fine musical score and all the other motion picture crafts are combined under Peter Weir's direction into one of the better films to premiere in a long Despite some good moments, only hardcore Trekies will rave about "Star Trek V": The Final Frontier" (C+, PG, 100 minutes). Of course, all the favorite stars are back and need no introduction, but plot number five needs a lot of explanation.

Sybok (Laurence Luckinbill) is a charismatic, half guru, half psychiatrist on Nimbus II who hijacks the Enterprise because he needs a starship to go find god. If Indiana Jones can recover the Ark of the Covenant and the Holy Grail with a whip and a pistol, I suppose it's logical to find god with a starship where no man has gone before.

Every film, fantasy or otherwise, has its own logic and part of the fun is playing along with someone else's imagination. Unfortunately, here the imagination is spotty and there are too many continuity and plot flaws to make "Star Trek V" work.

The major plot flaw, of course, is how easily Sybok "converts" antagonists who then enthusiastically join his quest. It just doesn't wash, but someone obviously washed his headgear so that the film opens with Sybok wearing a clean, fresh headpiece after a long, dry, dusty horseback ride

The film's two best moments has those three good chums, Captain Kirk (William Shatner), Mr. Spock (Leonard Nimoy) and Dr. McCoy (DeForest Kelly), gently and goodnaturedly bantering with one another. There's some fine, warm comedy in those sequences.

However, just when the film seems ready to take off on a sophisticated tact with significant discussion of man's role in life, it turns into simple-minded space opera with totally unsatisfactory conclusion.

The film's last 15 minutes have an incredible array of unexplained plot elements, impossible (even for fanta-

Home movie worth seeing

Sullivan's 'Guide' has the gusto

By John Monaghan special writer

Four years ago, filmmaker Fred G. Sullivan decided that his family was as good a subject as anything Hollywood could produce. His resulting movie, "The Beer Drinker's Guide to Fitness and Filmmaking," may be the best home movie ever

The 83-minute film won special recognition for originality at the U.S. Film and Video Festival and recently played to good reviews in Boston and New York. It arrives in Detroit via the downtown Tele-Arts Theatre this weekend.

The film opens with Sullivan setting a camera on automatic timer, then running into the picture field before it clicks. From here, the film chronicles the joys and frustrations of day-to-day life in Saranac Lake, N.Y., with Fred G., wife Polly and their four children.

IN BETWEEN changing diapers and picking toys up from the front lawn, Sullivan dreams he is Adirondack Fred, stripped to the loincloth, stalking through woods like Rambo with a beer belly. In reality, Fred G.

As in "Sherman's March" (Ross McElwee's highly personalized look at his relationship with Southern women), the independent filmmaker is seen as an idealist, outsider and nut. But where McElwee could only be seen when aiming his shoulderheld camera into a mirror, Fred G. becomes a fleshed-out local hero that almost everyone can relate to.

"THE BEER Drinker's Guide" cost $50,000 to produce and its investors (a pair of local businessmen) probably worried when the film, originally titled "Sullivan's Pavilion," opened to less-than-boffo business. Only after adding the word beer to the title (which cost an additional $4,000 to change the opening reel), did it start to make money.

In fact, "The Beer Drinking Guide" did so well in Burlington, Vt., that it actually outgrossed "Rambo 3" for seven straight weeks.

This weekend, Adirondack Fred faces an even bigger challenge competing with the likes of "Star Trek" and "Indiana Jones."

Ya mon Let's kick out the jams.

Reggae meets rock'n'roll. Rock'n'roll meets reggae. The two make for quite an interesting pair, especially when you have a new four-member band like Skanking Voodoo Dolls taking a crack at mixing the musical styles

The band recently made its debut, playing before an appreciative throng at the Hamtramck Pub. Members come from other wellknown bands in the area. Lead singer and guitarist Beaux Mitchell used to be with reggae outfit Raggamuffin. bass player Jim Megerian performed with Black Market, drummer Perez played for Robb Roy and lead guitarist Brian Smith jammed with heavy metal groups Mad Hatter, XXAN and TOC.

Together, they make for an interesting, if not unusual combination of musical styles.

Megerian is at the forefront of the Skanking Voodoo sound. He's the reggae aficionado, often traveling to Jamiaca to check out the latest

On the other side of the coin is Smith, who supplements the heartbeat reggae rhythms with some scorching guitar solos. Then there is Perez, considered by many to be one of the finest drummers on Detroit

MITCHELL FRONTS the band with her ethereal voice, who raises to a coo at times. She takes the role of spokeswoman, making out the alliance to be more of spiritual one than a musical one.

"This band is healing," said Mitchell, sitting at a table before the band's soundcheck. "The minute we walk into the rehearsal room, we come together . . . The energy is so

The energy onstage has an edge. Megerian likens the Skanking Voodoo Dolls' music to a cross "between Van Halen and Bob Marley."

"Hardcore reggae lovers are going to either love it or hate it," he said. Which is what we want. We don't want people to feel indifferent about

The music of the Carribean appears to have some commercial appeal as well. UB40's "Red Red Wine" made it on several rock radio playlists. The difference with Skanking Voodoo Doll is their music takes a much harder approach.

Megerian is quick to point out the group is not on a reggae preservation trip, instead making their own

"We're not trying to jump on a happening bandwagon," he said. 'We're not trying to take something that's already acceptable and make it even more acceptable."

THE NEW sound is accepted by band members, but adjustments were definitely needed. Smith's experience, for example, was strictly in hard rock circles. But he's been a quick study.

"At first, it was different," Smith said. "I didn't know where my place was. In heavy metal, the guitar is more dominant. My role now is keeping rhythm. The solos are more melodic instead of trying to tear peoplé's heads off though we still try to do that once in awhile."

Added Perez about drumming to reggae beats compared to rock'n'roll: "You have to learn not to play as fast."

Skanking Voodoo is taking it slow in its beginning phase. There are no plans for marketing the band to record labels or making LPs. They are content to play local club dates and see how things develop.

"We love it," Megerian said. "You can make all the big plans you want. As long as we're having fun, that's the main thing."

Skanking Voodoo Dolls will perform tonight at Todd's, Seven Mile Road, Detroit. For informa-

Universal Congress is in (jazzy) session

In the Universal Congress Of, there is the house of jazz and a senate of rock'n'roll. The speaker of the body is guitarist and vocalist Joe Baiza, who espouses a musical philosophy of Mecolodics.

Fear not, music maven. The Universal Congress Of is not as unusual as name and style of music suggest.

"It's pretty accessible, really," said Baiza, whose group performs tonight at the Blind Pig in Ann Arbor. "That's my goal: To create music that's entertaining and yet chal-

The jazzy nature of the Universal Congress Of would certainly not sound foreign to most ears. There's nightclub beat of the drums, scratchy vocals and blasts of tenor

If anything, it might spark memories of the beatnik sound. Baiza said he's was intrigued with that of 1950s and 1960s style of music, especially after reading Jack Kerouac's "On the Road."

BUT THE dips and turns Universal Congress Of takes on its latest "This is Mecolodics" (SST), makes this sound their own. With no radio play, the music is something out of the ordinary for most people.

'In towns like Huntsville, (Ala.), they don't know what to do at first," Baizo said. "This one song, 'Stove Top.' has rift shift that changes into weird intervals that sounds dissident. People in the club were saying, These guys are making mistakes. They aren't playing the songs right."

Such are the drawbacks to taking such an improvisational approach. The Universal Congress Of doesn't ing out the songs on stage as they go along. Baiza said the group gauges the crowd and goes from there, sometimes performing obscure jazz Baiza's interest in bebop music came out of a boredom with rock'n'roll. His experimental nature can be traced to the punk movement, which gripped the Southern Califor-nia area in the early 1980s. Bands such as Black Flag and The Minutemen came out of the scene as did a group called Saccharine Trust. which for whom Baiza played sax. In fact, Baiza's neighbor was the late D. Boon, who was a member of The Minutemen before he died in an automobile accident.

Baiza said he was always on the outside looking in when it came to the hardcore movement.

"You've got to move on to new things," he said. "I'm not disillusioned by it. There's still a number of punk bands out there today. It's not new to me anymore.'

UNIVERSAL Congress Of is not new. The band has released two albums "Prosperous and Qualified" and "Universal Congress Of," both on SST Records. Yet, it's still developing. Baiza refers to the songs the band performs as "exercises."

The term Mecolodics sums it up best, even if it has no particular "People ask us all the time, 'What kind of music do you?' We tell them Mecolodics to confuse them," he

ELLA MENTAL — Ella Mental

All I know about this band is that their manager, Billy Gaff, used to work to work with Cream and Rod Stewart and on a night when he was supposed to check out an unknown Irish band called U2, ended up going to a different bar and getting drunk. He signed the Lookalikes instead.

Need I say more? Ella Mental are his new darling and it seems as through it may have been a similar night when he signed Apparently, Ella Mental consists of a duo, Tim Parr and Heather Mac, aided by studio musicians. All but one of the songs on this self-titled debut for Warner Records are composed by the aforementioned pair.

Lyrically they aim toward a "rev-olutionary" political stance with songs like "Freedom Jive" — "Lay your guns down, too many people crying, young souls, reach out,/ They need to find a way to reach a new beginning/We don't stand alone against a system we can't condone, we don't stand alone against the hard hearts in control."

This theme flows throughout with an emphasis on South Africa. Despite this hip "correct" political stance, Ella Mental can't seem to decide who they are musically.

While ignoring their inclusion of a schlock cabaret cover of Bob Marley's "No Woman No Cry" (It may be a decent song, but you've got to suspect the motives of a band doing such an awful version of it), they swing from the dramatic Simple Minds-ish guitar and keyboard sounds on "Seeds of Tomorrow".to a saunter in Jamaican-style Calypso on "Africa" to a second-rate Fleet-wood Mac on "Is It Any Wonder."

Now there is a scary thought.

Their attempt at credible lyrics is not quite enough to save them. The quality of this album is so low, it's like saying that you are using a step ladder to get out of the Grand Can-

BUZZ FACTORY - Screaming Trees

Sorry, but loud and obnoxious guitar bands are beginning to lose their appeal in this camp. Face it, the stuff is getting old. Even the Replacements have begun to tone it a

At times, the Washington-state based group Screaming Trees sounds like one of many derivative guitar groups on their latest LP "Buzz Factory" (SST). Then there are some numbers that are intriguing. The question is: Who is the real Screaming Trees?

Is it the band that shows a bit of a pop flair on the easy-feel of "Too Far Away"? Or is it the group that digresses to the point that its music is a rehash of '70s acid rock as songs such as "Wish Bringer" seem to indicate? Who knows?

It's easy to understand why some songs work while others don't. Let's start with guitarist Gary Lee Conner, an ax man of considerable skill. He's able to find a groove on such numbers as "Where the Twain Shall Meet" and "Windows," Conner doesn't dominate here; he carefully sets the pace.

Conner's able to bring some rather unpolished numbers out of their doldrums with some rather spirited guitar work. "Subtle Poison" benefits from his artic blast of guitar in this slow moving song.

Then things take a turn for the worse. The last three numbers are throwaways - "Revelation Revolution," "The Looking Glass Cracked" and "End of the Universe." This is guitar muck.

One gets the feeling here that the songs weren't much to begin with and Conner took it upon himself to juice them up with his guitar work.
Well, it doesn't work. And if anything, it doesn't leave a good impression of an album that shows a group with promise. - Larry O'Connor

A sudden crash interrupts the conversation. Peter Berman sighs and yells to his roommate.

"You gotta be kidding me," he says, without covering the phone re-ceiver. "You just broke another dish?' Excuse me, everything is falling apart on my roommate."

Life's little nuisances have a way of creeping into Berman's discussion about comedy. Berman pauses

The comedic picture for Berman is hardly pathetic. If anything, the young comedian is on the rise.

After his appearance this week at Joey's Comedy Club in Livonia, Ber-Berman said. "I said, first of all, I don't consider being selected one of the top four young comedians in the country as a loser. If I perform to Confidence is in plentiful supply when Berman takes the stage. His act is a mixture of storytelling and real-life anecdotes. One could call it observational comedy. Berman's not sure what to label it.

"What would you call my comedy?," he asks another person while on the phone. "I don't how to describe myself."

After consulting his girlfriend, he agrees it's observational. In this area, Berman has been observed opening up for the likes of Jay Leno, Judy Tenuta and Rita Rudner.

The task of preceding a headline act is not easy. People in the audience are there to see them, not you.

"Opening up for Rita Rudner, that was tough," Berman said. "She's very nice. The audience is much quieter. Judy Tenuta is on the edge. The audience for Judy Tentuta was ready to party.

"WHEN I go on stage, no matter what I'm doing, whether it's as emcee, opening or headlining, my goal is represent myself the best of my Berman is originally from Massachusetts but moved to Ann Arbor to study at the University of Michigan. He has a degree in communications from U-M. While in school, he got the notion to pursue comedy.

Soon, Berman was a regular at area comedy clubs. He was the winner of the Starbound talent competition and was selected No. 1 in Northeast Region of the U.S. College Comedy Competition. He was also a semifinalist in the 1988 Michigan Laff-Off and a finalist in the Joey's Comedy Club competition.

Berman's been featured on "Live at Nick's Comedy Stop" on cable TV and "MTV's Spring Break '89" comedy special. He also has the somewhat dubious honor of finishing second as a contestant on the music network's 'Remote Control" game show.

"I got beat by a guy named Puck," he said. "Isn't that humiliating? Why couldn't I have I been beaten by a guy named Bill or something."

Thrills, spills and Flat Rock Speedway

"It's so much work, if I could find anything else that was less work I'd do it," Fair said. "I haven't. So I play racer."

"It's something to do. It's better than fighting with the wife," he added, turning to his wife who is dressed in a black blouse with the name "Fair No. 1" embroidered in yellow on the back.

Between waves of the checkered flag, there has been pain for the racing legend. He was involved in a serious accident at Toledo Speedway in 1972 that put him into the hospital. Some 10 years later, he hit the wall during time trials at Flat Rock. He suffered a broken leg, broken ribs and a fractured skull.

Fair shrugs off those incidents with the same nonchalance with which he discusses his numerous wins. For racers like him, the game is a break-even proposition

A WINNER OF the main event Late Model race pulls in $600. Other preliminary runs earn $30 to $50 for first-place finishes. But Fair said overhead it usually runs $300 a night.

Things, though, are generally better than they used to be at the track.

"It used to be dark and dangerous," said Fair, who started at Motor City Speedway in Detroit. "There used to be fights in the pits. Now it's evolved into more of a gentleman's circuit."

One of the gentlemen is next to him smoking a pipe. Dave Kuhlman is the heir apparent to Fair's status as a track legend. Kuhlman has won the Late Model Stock Car division the last three years. But he has no aspirations of going on to bigger things.

"I'm sure everyone thinks about it," he said. "To go beyond this, you have to travel the circuit. You really need a good sponsor. The jump is 10 times what it is from here.

The circuit is small, but tough. Cars race around the quartermile oval track at speeds exceeding 75 miles per hour. The small size of the tracks, with its numerous turns, makes for rather some rather wild and crazy driving.

In the first Late Model race, a car tangled with another and left one driver kissing the wall. He emerged from his mangled car dazed and limping, but is all

The people in the stands are a cross-section of families and teenagers, women and men. Behind the bleachers, kids wearing blue jeans and rock'n'roll T-shirts with the likenesses of such bands of Guns N'Roses and Led Zeppelin walk around.

Underneath, James Morgan tunes out the fan noise with the radio broadcast of the Tigers game. He sits by the door, eating a hot dog.

Morgan has been a porter at the speedway since 1954. He sweeps and mops the floor and changes the toilet paper in the stalls. A sign above the urinal reminds people to tip the porter on the way out. With every clink of change in the coffee can, Morgan smiles and says "thank you." He said he's a race fan.

"Oh yeah," said Morgan, who is a retired driver from a security company. "I watch the races all the time. The Figure Eights are my favorite."

So, too, are they for many of the fans in attendance. Figure 8 racing is yet another division at Flat Rock. This is the most primitive of racing where drivers go in figure eights, trying to avoid hitting one another in the intersec-

Fabulous fakes: Putting on the dog on the cheap

By Mary Rodrique staff writer

You want to project that upwardly mobile image, but you're not that upwardly mobile yet?

No problem. Furs, jewels - even car phones - can be faked, in some cases so well no one but your retailer will know for sure.

Ever heard the the words cubic

No, it's not a skin cream or the latest fad in cube games.

"It's an imitation diamond, a hard substance that holds up very well," said one local jeweler. "It's been around for about 10 years. There's another substance called chatham, created emerald and chatham, created ruby. It's a patented process that looks very much like the real thing.'

A real emerald (a favorite bauble of Sarah, the Duchess of York) costs about $10,000, but the chatham-created version sells for a mere $500 at some local jewelry stores.

"It has all the same properties as a natural stone," the jeweler said, though to a trained eye, it looks too

Corey's Jewel Box, in Livonia's Wonderland Mall, sells imitation diamond earrings of cubic zirconia, from studs to multi-stone fans and clusters.

The Loop, at Westland Center, not only sells cubic zirconia earrings, but also pendants and rings for would-be diamond lovers.

"THE EARRINGS are set in 14

karat gold and range in price from $14.88 to $45.88," said saleswoman Michelle McKimmy. "Rhinestones, imitation diamonds, pearls and crystals are popular. "We sell a lot of necklaces for proms, weddings, and retirement parties.

Majestic Counterfeit Jeweis in Birmingham does custom design and custom copying and is a place where jewel dreams become a reality. In addition to take diamonds and colored gems, the store carries replica watches, designer copy pearls and copy colognes.

Cubic zirconia is a good fake, McKimmy added.

You can put it next to a diamond and you'd have to be an expert to tell

(the difference)," she said. Big hoop earrings are fashionable, and gold is always tasteful and fairly popular, she added.

Tea ties — brightly colored plastic pieces in square, circular or rectangular shapes worn woven through a Tshirt - are a new trendy item. The Loop is selling them like hotcakes, McKimmy said. Majestic Counterfeit Jewels in Birmingham is, "like a candy store for women familiar with this type of work," said owner Sylvia Gerenra-"We do custom design and custom copying. It's a place where you can make your jewel dreams become a reality.

In addition to fake diamonds and colored gems, the store carries replica watches, designer copy pearls and copy colognes.

Customers can choose from what they see or bring in a picture and have the piece copied.
"You can get several custom-designed pieces at a fraction of the cost," Gerenraich said. Engaged couples can choose fanc custom designed settings, she said and travelers can pick a piece of jewelry to blend with their real piec-

THE BIRMINGHAM store opened just before Christmas and business is good, Gerenraich said. The store originally opened in Trappers Alley downtown Detroit in February 1988.

"There are a couple of (similar) stores in California," Gerenraich said. "One in Beverly Hills copies all the latest designs from the rich and famous."

So you've got the (ahem) jewels and now you want to top it off with a fur? If fake fits your budget and your conscience (even designers are creating fakes and discontinuing natural furs to appease animal rights groups) they're out there, but hard to find in spring. As any good fur wear-er knows, the coat should be in storage after March or early April.

Neither Hudsons, Crowleys nor J.C. Penney in Westland carry fake fur coats at this time. "We had them, but we got rid of most of our winter stock in January," said Sharon Estevez, sales woman at J.C. Penney in Westland Mall. "They sold pretty well — imitation minks and some fox."

Fake furs can still be found at the Burlington Coat Factory in Redford

"We have imitation fox, mink, coyote - jackets, full length coats and hats," said Martha Whitlow, a saleswoman. "Yes, they are really popular. We have people coming in asking for them all the time."

Younger women like Whitlow, 19, prefer leather jackets trimmed in fake fur, she said. Older career women opt for full length coats.

Big this spring are gabardine wool coats - some with leather trim, and shining material trench coats in shades of peach and beige, according to Estevez at JC Penney

IF YOU want to look like a very important person motoring are town, Murray's Discount Auto Parts sells fake cellular phone antennas. Some people have gone so far as to carry take car phones in their autos.

"I've got a regular customer who has a fake pink plastic car phone," said John Wisz, co-owner of Beverly Hills Auto Service, a 10-minute oil change shop in Birmingham. "He says he has it to make fun of all his friends who have car phones."

But who is he kidding. The same customer drives a Jeep Chero which Wiss proclaims "is very lar with the yupple crowd. It's a cheaper version of the Range Rover," a real yup

Postal service rule target in junk mail fight dlers avoid this responsibility? While this might send a shock wave through the advertising industry at vice's own figures, it delivers 1.9 billion pounds of unwanted mail annually in the U.S. This figure is based on a study of recipients who indicated that 25.6 percent of third class bulk mail was either objectionable or un-

As I learn more in my "Less Is Better" campaign against junk mail, I suspect these figures are low. The Direct Marketing Association suggests that direct mail advertising produces an average of two-to-three percent return, hence I wonder if at least 75 percent (or over 5.6 billion pounds annually) of bulk mail is unwanted useless refuse. Of course, none of us wants to bury this waste in our own back yard, to breathe the smoke from its incineration, nor to cut down enough trees to support this "habit."

I respect the fact that many people, including me, do enjoy certain items, like catalogs, and that bulk mail provides many jobs and important services. I believe any legitimate business has a right to advertise and every person has a right to receive mail they enjoy. Advertisers do not have the right, however, to harass individuals, produce mind boggling unnecessary waste or destroy the environment in the process.

RESPONSIBLE advertising is the answer. With radio, TV or newspaper advertising, private citizens do have some recourse: They can drop subscriptions or turn off the noise. There's no way to stop the incessant deliveries to your mailbox, however, nor to avoid the physical act of disposing of the unwanted stuff. If we could eliminate 25 percent of bulk mail and recycle the rest, individuals would benefit without time consuming irritants and we could make a giant leap toward cleaning up our environment.

I propose, therefore, that the Postal Service be convinced to change its rule so that bulk mail can be returned at the sender's expense. That way, those who want advertising could keep it, while unwanted mail could be returned.

Since getting advertisers to remove names from their lists is sometimes a problem now, the double expense of paying for returned adver-would surely force irresponsible mailers to maintain their lists more selectively. Emexptions could be made for mailings required by law.

The Rate Commission Office in Washington told me that changing this rule is a feasible idea, although it would necessitate increased bulk CURRENTLY, WHEN third class bulk mail is given back, the Post Office throws it away. Postal patrons can have first class mail returned to the sender - this service is included in the first class postage rate and is not abused by the average citizen.

I believe that after an initial transition period, the same would hold true for bulk mail. Why should first class mailers be forced to pay for this service, while third class pedously fought by them) it seems the net result would be less, but better targeted, bulk mail.

A famous person once said, "I wondered why somebody didn't do something, and then I realized I am somebody." If you are unhappy about junk mail, what can you do? 1. Make an effort to have your name removed from undesired mailing list. Many will happily remove your name on your first request. 2. Return unwanted first class ad-

Q. Are local code restrictions regarding the number of individuals that can occupy a specific type of a unit enforceable? We are wondering if this is a way around family status restrictions of the new Federal Statute regarding housing.

A. You are, no doubt, referring to the Fair Housing Amendments Act of 1988. The act states that it does not limit the applicability of any reasonable local, state or federal restriction regarding the maximum number of occupants permitted to occupy a dwelling. Therefore, local restrictions can be applied without committing a violation of the act. Of course, if you attempt to operate a subterfuge in a veiled attempt to circumvent the protection of the Fair Housing Act as it relates to family status, you will not be

A. In the Fair Housing Amendments Act of 1988, the new act provides that it is unlawful to refuse to permit, at the expense of the handicapped person, reasonable modification of existing premises if the proposed modifications are necessary to afford the handicapped person the full enjoyment of the premises. The act defines the word "premises" as the interior or exterior spaces, parts, components or elements of the building, including individual units in the public and common use areas in the building.

Therefore, the act requires that a landlord make reasonable modifications to the public and common use areas of the building as well as to the interior, but, at the expense of the handicapped person. The handicapped person, however, does not have to restore the common areas back to their original condition. The obligation to restore is restricted to the interior of the
