Artley wins, tax increase approved

Election at glance

Board of Education -4 year term

By Doug Funke staff writer

Incredible. Stunning. Awesome. Plymouth-Canton school administrators, staff and board members weren't exactly preening as election returns were posted Monday night.

But you could tell they were very pleased with emphatic voter approval of an 8-mill property tax renewal, a 4-mill increase and re-election of David Artley to a four-year term on the school board.

A record turnout of 16,293 - 25 percent of registered voters in the district - participated.

"For the first time, we're getting an overwhelming victory in the total area and that's a good sign for the schools," Superintendent John M. Hoben said of the tax proposals.

In recent years, Canton residents have tended to support tax increases for the schools, while Plymouth city and township residents have opposed them

"EACH OF US can make a difference and a whole lot of people made a difference this time," Artley said. The 4-mill increase was approved by nearly a 6-4 margin, 9,555-6,666. Voters said yes in every precinct except Allen School, 460-518, and those casting absentee ballots, 796-867

The 8-mill renewal won by an even larger margin districtwide, 12.018-4,275.

Artley, who anticipated spending upwards of $5,000 on his campaign, placed first in every single precinct. Artley, a planner and fundraiser, collected 6,168 votes.

Robert J. Anderson, a financial planner backed by the Citizens for Better Education, a group of Christian conservatives opposed to certain teaching materials in the district, was a distant second with 3,166 votes.

Other candidates in order of finish were:

• Carl Battishill, a teacher, 2,074. · Joan Kotcher, a business consultant, 916

• Brian Kidston, a lawyer, 739.

· Ronald Turner, a painting contractor, 567.

· Mary Buti, a human resources consultant, 495.

In the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees race incumbents Mary Breen, Jack Kirksey and Harry Greenleaf were elected to six-year terms. In the race for a four-year term, newcomer Thaddeus McCotter was successful. (For more on the Schoolcraft race, see Page 7A).

A STEADY STREAM of voters trooped to the polls throughout the day. Waits of at least an hour were common in some precincts.

Four tax increase proposals in the district had gone down to defeat in succession during the two years prior to Monday's vote.

It took patience - more than an hour's worth - to vote at Canton High School. Folks at the end of the line within earshot of the Little The-

Both Artley and Hoben attributed the change in fortune to the tireless work of millage supporters on committees like I CARE and CAFE, Committee for Academic Freedom and Excellence

Record voter turnout Concerned residents pack precincts

By M.B. Dillon staff writer

More voters than ever before turned out for Monday's Plymouth-Canton school election - a happening that baffled some, delighted oth-

Rodgers attributed the high turnout to "better coverage, media-wise. I think having more exposure has helped a lot. It wasn't CBE." Citizens for Better Education is a Christian conservative group opposed to Rrated movies and controversial a materials in schools. It supported Bob Anderson in the school board race "If anything, people are deciding they need to support their schools and to be verbal, rather than taking a back seat," added Rodgers. CBE was partially the reason a Canton woman went to the polls, however.

"I feel very strongly about voting against someone like Bob Anderson. I don't like what he represents, or what he stands for. I don't think things like the 'Wizard of Oz'" are all that objectionable, she said. PRISCILLA BEHNKE of Canton credited the citizens' I CARE Committee for the all-time high voter turnout.

Artley breezes past Anderson

By M.B. Dillon staff writer

In a commanding victory at the polls, Plymouth-Canton school board president David Artley outdistanced six other candidates in a bid for a single four-year term in Monday's election.

Artley, a fund-raiser for a Livonia human resources firm, received 6,168 votes, winning all 15 precincts and the absentee vote. Robert Anderson, a Canton certi-ers and came as no surprise to still others.

At Allen School, the only precinct to defeat the 4-mill tax increase, 980 people had voted by 7:58 p.m. At 8:05 p.m., 15 were still waiting to cast ballots.

"I never dreamed we'd be this busy," said Allen election worker Eunice Magee. "I've worked 20some elections, and I've never seen a school election this busy."

Had they known what was going on at Canton High School, voters waiting at Allen might have felt lucky.

At 8:30 p.m., more than 300 people - lining one hallway and reaching around the corner, seemingly the length of a football field - killed time reading, talking with folks in line, shifting their weight and doing their best to keep kids, their bedtimes fast approaching, quiet.

Gene Schuler of Canton waited an hour and 15 minutes to vote at the high school.

"They usually have 600 people vote here," said Schuler, walking to his car at 8:15. "So far today they've had 1,500." In all, 1,747 cast ballots at the Canton precinct. Debby and Marv Rodgers of Canton waited even longer, but didn't seem to mind.

"People in China are dying to stand in lines like this, right?" asked Debby Rodgers.

District plans to rehire teachers

By M.B. Dillon staff writer

The bad news is that residents in the Plymouth-Canton school district will pay higher taxes in the wake of voter approval of a 4-mill tax increase.

The good news is that per-pupil spending will be going up by $400, to about $3,900.

The district's budget won't be made final for a couple of weeks. But tentative plans call for the rehiring of 24 teachers and the replacement of failing roofs at Hulsing, Eriksson and Field elementary schools at a cost of about $175,000 each, said Ray Hoedel, associate superintendent for business.

The district also plans to re-open elementary buildings after 5 p.m. for extracurricular activities; to restore $225,000 to the textbook budget (now at zero) and to eliminate sports participation fees. Fees next year would have risen to a minimum of $75 per student and a maximum of $225 per family.

There'll also be $140,000 in block grant money, $9 per student, available for educational supplies and materials.

Series examines animal cruelty HOMES Complaints escalate of the finest distinction Annually, hundreds of animals in Wayne and Oakland counties are shot, hung, set afire and tortured. Many die as a result of the abuse

Last year, 5,122 complaints of cruelty were filed with the Michigan Humane Society, a non-profit organization based in Detroit that maintains shelters in Westland and Auburn Hills.

In the first quarter of this year, the society has already received 1,589 cruelty complaints.

Of the total number received each year, an estimated 70 percent constitute thoughtless neglect by pet owners who fail to provide adequate shetter, food, water and medical treatment as required by state law.

In these cases, education is the best way to solve the problem, according to the five humane officers employed by the society to investigate cruelty complaints.

The remaining 30 percent of cases are violent acts visited upon helpless creatures. Many incidents are truly horrifying.

New studies suggest that cruelty to animals may set the stage for later acts of violence against people. Yesteryear's child who mistreats an animal may well grow into tomorrow's adult who harms humans.

The issue will be explored in a three-part series which begins today on Page SA. The series will examine links between animal cruelty and other criminal behavior, what is being done about it and ritualistic killing, perhaps the most chilling form of animal cruelty.

HOBEN ATTRIBUTED Articy's victory to the fact "that he worked awfully liard. He also had the ennt of both papers, which I think is significant." Boben dismissed the contentions of some that Artley, who spent more than $5,000, bought the election. "I bet you more money was spent by Anderson. Mrs. (Diane) Dasks lakis (of CBE) put out quite a bit of money," Hoben said.

Daskalakis, at work but weary the day after the election, declined to discuss details of the campaign. But her disappointment was obviouf.

This means more money, more drugs and more R-rated movies in the schools," she said. "If Bob Anderson would have got in, (R-rated) 'Ex-calibur' would be opened up again. Now that rape scene will be shown over and over again."

ence, added Anderson, who ran for school board two years ago. "I probably spent as much as Artley did." Anderson still sees a problem with communication on the board. "There still are a lot of people who don't know what is going on. A lot of the people do know what is going on, and like it that way," he said.

"A lot of people worked real hard," said Anderson of CBE. "I don't think it was a total loss. I think we informed a lot of people that the current board and administration are very liberal when compared to any other district in the area. Hopefully people learned that the prog-ress students are making is not always as good as the image that they are trying to portray."

Supporters are urging Anderson to run again - something he'll give "serious thought to in another 10 months. A lot of things could happen between now and then," he said.

BATTISHILL, WHO spent 12 hours campaigning in the rain election day, also awaited returns at the board office. "I'm happy with the results, and I Battishill wants to run again be-cause "I think I have something to offer. I'm someone who doesn't have a small, narrow agenda. I just want the best thing for kids. I care, I can communicate, and I think I offer something people are attracted to." Joan Kotcher said, "I kind of feel

"I spent $300, and for that amount, I'm very happy with the re-sults," Kotcher added. "I'm not closing any doors.

Kotcher was gratified by voters' approval of two millage proposals, and expressed hope that it won't necessary to renew the 4-mill tax increase after two years.

"CARL ALSO has done things, directing the community band and the choir at First Presbyterian," said Artley. "He deeply cares about the community in which he lives. I think Carl made an excellent showing for a first-time candidate. He should stay involved. He has good potential.

aware of what's being voted for," said Behnke. "Other elections weren't that publicized. There was no I CARE Committee."

If the atmosphere was festive at the board office election night, it was a party at the I CARE headquarters.

Election volunteers, most of them dressed in red and white "I CARE" T-shirts, packed a storefront off Ford Road that's served as their campaign headquarters.

There was live entertainment, compliments of East Middle School chorus teacher Shelby Holcomb.

Accompanying herself on a synthesizer, she played tunes including a rock ballad she wrote entitled "Yes, Yes, I Care." If anyone went home hungry or thirsty, it as their own fault. Liters of soda pop, pretzels, chips, popcorn and chocolate chip cookies filled table after table.

EACH TIME THE phone rang, the crowd fell allest. Cheers and peaks of joy filled the room as if was announced that precinct after precinct had approved both the 8-mill renewal and the 4-mill renewal.

"I think people realize what was at stake here," Jack Farrow of I CARE said over the din. "Do we want to have quality schools or not? It's not a matter of do we want frills or don't we?"

An estimated 1,200 volunteers distributed 20,000 flyers, manned phone banks, spoke to community groups and staged rallies.

"I've never seen a group so dedicated, doing all the things they did to make this a postive vote," said Farrow.

At the board office, a huge sign from the I CARE committee hung on the door.

It thanked volunteers for everything from donating baked goods to making financial contributions.

"This community will never again be the same because of this outpouring of care and support, which is only the beginning of a new spirit of unity," it read in part.

Inside, there was praise for I CARE as well.

"I think a lot of credit goes to the citizens" group I CARE - and estetially fluit's what it should be citizens supporting their tchcols," and John Bobes, supertification.

"Clithene have from to the second don in they have in the plan, and in i magnet they will in the future." would be to say it's the best election campaign we've ever had," said Ray Hoedel, associate superintendent for business. "There was a lot of support and a lot of people working. It's going to be hard to thank everyone.

"It's a real vote for education," Hoedel added. "No one wants to pay more taxes, but everyone wants quality education."

Dick Egli, district community relations director, had an hour's drive home awaiting him at 11:30 p.m.

He was exhausted, but happy. "Til admit — I was tired. So it's good to see the validation of education by the community," Egli said. "This is the kind of thing you know, but it's nice to see it. You know people care about education, but when they show it with their vote, it's great."

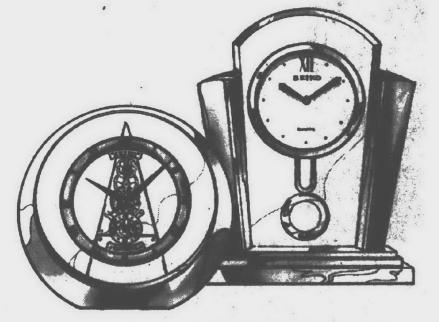

THE CITIZENS' CAMPAIGN was largely the idea of Ray Buckman of Plymouth Township.

"This is great. I didn't get to sleep until 3 a.m. this-morning I was so keyed up," Buckman said Tuesday. Buckman wants to keep the momentum going.

"I am recommending a citizens" committee he formed whereby they'll be adviatry to the board." Buckman skys to stay tuned.

Library plans for expansion

By Doug Funke staff writer

Library administrators and the library district board have launched a study on the ability of the Dunning-Hough Library to meet the long-term needs of the Plymouth community.

A consultant will be hired to assess present and future space requirements.

An expansion of the present facility at 223 S. Main or construction of a new library - if either were to occur - probably won't happen for at least several years, said Pat Thomas, library director.

"During peak times, it's getting more and more crowded," she said. "You can't dictate to people when they come to the library. They come when it's convenient and they do want somewhere to sit down.

"It's not something where we're feeling a huge awful crunch now," Thomas added. "It's still something we have to be concerned about."

THE LIBRARY, about 12,000 square feet, was doubled in size with an expansion in 1984.

Books, magazines and VCR tapes are on the main floor. A meeting room capable of seating about 60 and a small quiet room are on the second floor.

Circulation has steadily increased, Thomas said, going from 204,000 volumes in 1987 to 244,000 last year.

The library is on pace to circulate about 270,000 this year, she said.

Property owners in the city and township pay a library tax - currently $1.12 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation - for operations and to finance bonds that financed the 1984 renovations.

Larry Fobes, president of the library board, said he doesn't know if anything will change as a result of the study.

"ONCE IN a while you stand back and you look at your operation," Fobes said. "It seems we're kind of running at capacity here. Just from a cursory view, it looks like we might be getting to a saturation point.

'We should be looking where we are, where we may be in 10 years and go accordingly," he said.

Library officials haven't put time frames on their study. "We want to do it right," Thomas said. "We want an outside firm to look at it so we're not self-fulfilling.

A general rule of thumb nowadays for library space is threequarters to 1 square foot for every resident served, Thomas said.

According the the 1980 census, the two Plymouth communities combined had a population of just over 33,000 - indicating the need for a library of 24,750-33,000 square feet.

City commission finally settles on official tax rate

At last

It's official — finally. The Plymouth City Commission has settled on a tax rate for the upcoming budget year after approving a tentative tax rate last month and grappling with preliminary information provided by Wayne County assessment authorities.

The commission Monday adopted a rate of $16.59 per $1,000 of state equalized valaution (half of market value). The tax rate is applied to a property's value to determine tax due.

The city tax rate this year was $17.05.

The tax bill of the typical homeowner in the city will rise by nearly 13 percent even with a decrease in the tax rate because of soaring assessments.

taxes this year. Commercial and industrial assessments remained flat, so those property owners actually will pay less next year than this year.

Jones' proposal drew no support. "I have a concern about residential citizens picking up the brunt essentially," Jones said.

OTHER COMMISSIONERS said they believe residents want additional improvements like traffic lights and railroad crossing that necessitate the higher tax rate.

City Manager Henry Graper also wants to build the city's surplus account. The tax rate of $16.59 is the highest the commission could have set without a Truth-In-Taxation hearing.

The commission had adopted a tax rate of $16.43 in May and was considering adjusting that rate to $17.20 based upon preliminary assessment figures supplied by the county bureau of taxation.

The rate of $16.59 was set after the county finalized all of its data. The budget year begins July 1.

THE PERSPECTIVE also was ranked among the top nine publications among high schools with more than 2.500 students.

The American Scholastic Press Association recognized the paper as "an outstanding overall example of a scholastic publication in format, content, and presentation," and awarded the Perspective a "first place with special merit" award.

Also, the CEP Perspective was honored with the Buckeye Award from the Great Lakes Interscholastic Press Association for "its achievement in quality publications service to its school and communitv.

"It's tough to say much against your paper," judges said in their summary comments for the competition. "It is a tribute to what high school journalism can be."

The Perspective also was named a Gold Crown recipient by the Columbia Scholastic Press Association. The award goes to the top 1 percent of high school newspapers in the country.

Last year's CEP Perspective staff included editors Dan Ream, Minal Hajratwala, Debbi Steffen, Richard Cundiff, Cyndi Mueller, Soo Mee Kwon, Ashley Miller, Kevin Dilley, Emily Zinn, Kyle Karinen, Jeff Williams, Renee Levay, Wade Garard, Karen Phillippi, Carrie Gilmore, Linette Lao, Curt Pavia, Laura Stearnes and Kristi Tanner. Christopher Peal acted as Perspective adviser.

One of Walter Quarrels more vivid memories as a youth in Pontiac during the 1950s is the day the neighbor's cat was found hanging from the front porch of its owner's home.

Quarrels, a detective with the Bloomfield Township police, said residents of the area pointed to the neighborhood bully as the culprit. A large boy noted for taking pleasure in teasing small animals, the cat's mistress had scolded him for the inappropriate behavior just days before the unfortunate feline was killed.

"It was never proven, but we all knew who did it," Quarrels said, in recalling the incident some 30 years later.

Detroit, the sixth largest city in the nation, is in need of a conciliatory mayor capable of forging a truce with suburbanites while stimulating downtown development and Tom Barrow is the man for the job.

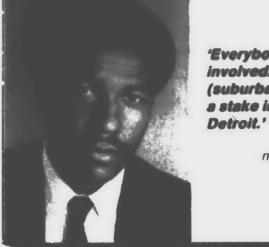

Barrow, a candidate for mayor in November elections, carried this message to the suburbs Tuesday, during a press luncheon in Farming-ton Hills aimed at "spreading the word.

"Detroiters means black and white. Us-vs.-them pits us against one another. We have to realize the suburbs and Detroit are inexplicably intertwined.

"Everybody's got to get involved. Every single (suburban) mayor has a stake in the future of Detroit.

"As Detroit goes, so go the suburbs," Barrow said.

Police feared for safety at abortion sit-in

By Marie Chestney staff writer

Demonstrators who assaulted inti-abortionists at a Nov. 12 sit-in at a Livenia medical clinic were not arrested because police feared for their own safety, said Livonia police officers who testified Tuesday in oth District Court.

The three or four officers who first arrived at 7:30 a.m. at the Woman's Advisory Center, 27549 Six Mile, were not enough manpower to handle the approximately 75 prochoice demonstrators who descended on the clinic at 8:30 a.m. and began assaulting the anti-abortionists sitting in front of the clinic's three doorways, said both the officers and assistant city attorney Cathy White on the opening day of the trial for eight anti-abortionists arrested at the November demonstration.

"The pro-choice people tried to remove the anti-abortionists," testified police officer Ronald Dehne, one of the first officers to arrive at the demonstration.

"Some were being physically dragged by the pro-choicers. There was no strife until the other group arrived. There was physical violence against the protesters but none of those people were arrested. It was far beyond our capabilities at the time to arrest them.

WHITE SAID that "more damage would have been" done if the three or four police officers first at the scene had tried to arrest demonstra tors from either group. "Police could not safely make arrests with all the pushing and pulling going on," White said. "They didn't have enough manpower."

The trial for eight of the 57 antiabortionists arrested at the demonstration began Tuesday before Judge James R. McCann. All eight had pleaded not guilty to the charge of being a disorderly person by block-ing the entrance to a building, a misdemeanor.

On trial are Ann Rock of Livonia, the Rev. Donald Mullett of Garden City Christian Church, Tamara Grant-Hubbard of Ypsilanti, John Whisenhunt of Roseville, Donald Champine and James Suzio, both of Detroit, Joseph Klee of Plymouth, and Douglas Ranville of Toledo.

POLICE OFFICER John Raymond testified he saw members of the pro-choice group assault antiabortionists sitting in the doorway. "But it was not safe to make arrests.'

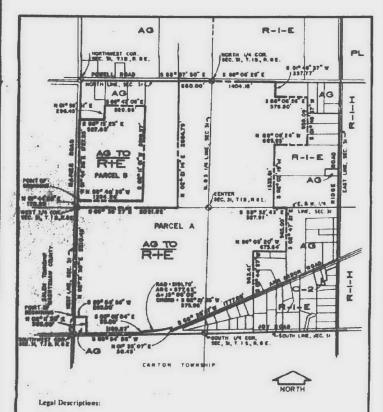

Lt. Gary Valuet testifed the melee had died down and he saw no physical assaults when he and more police officers arrived at the clinic at 9 a.m. He testified he read the ordinance banning the blocking of an building's entrance and gave the anti-abortionists one minute to leave before being arrested.

When "no one complied" after about four minutes, he testified, the arrests began.

Store merger may cut 100 employees

By Keith Postler staff writer

The merger of the Farmer Jack Supermarkets chain and the A & P Supermarkets chain may eventually result in the termination of as many as 100 employees chainwide, Gilbert Borman said recently.

In a memorandum dated May 4. Borman's Inc., owner of the Farmer Jack Supermarkets chain, notified Southfield Mayor Donald F. Fracassi and Detroit Mayor Coleman A.

Young of plans to terminate "approximately 30 employees" at A & P and Farmer Jack stores throughout Metropolitan Detroit. Farmer Jack and A & P operate a combined 15 stores in the Metropolitan Detroit area, Borman said.

Borman, vice president of public relations with Borman's Inc. said, "You have two very large entities merging, with combined sales estimated at over $1.5 billion, and there are potentially as many as 10,000 employees who could be affected by the merger and we've done everything we can to minimize the affects of the merger.'

BORMAN'S INC. became a wholly owned subsidiary of the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., operator of the A & P Supermarkets chain, at the end of February.

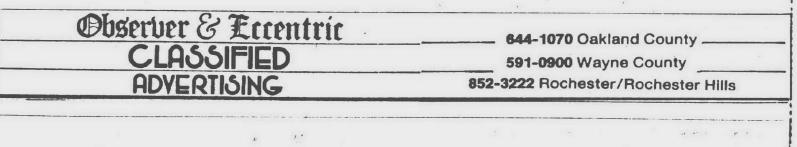

The memorandum also stated that:

• The A & P office at 19900 Nine Mile in Southfield will be closed, with an unspecified number of employees from that office being transferred to Borman's 18718 Borman, Ave., Detroit office. Employees at Borman's Detroit office will be terminated.

BILL BRESLER/staff photographer

• The expected date of the first terminations will occur within the two week period of July 7 through July 21; concurrent with federal guidlines.

Borman also indicated that employees who will be terminated will' receive retirement benefits, severance pay and assistance in relocating for other jobs.

Schoolcraft College's newest trustee will also be its youngest.

Thaddeus McCotter, 23, was elected to a four-year college board seat Monday, in a narrow victory over veteran campaigner Thomas Davis.

McCotter, of Livonia, edged Northville Township resident Davis by 141 votes. A large margin of victory in his home city helped push McCotter to victory.

(For information on the race for the six-year seats, see related story.) It was McCotter's first try for elective office.

Final, though unofficial, vote totals were:

• McCotter, 3,077. • Davis, 2,936.

Patricia Sacha, 2,296

- Ronaele Bowman, 2,172 Richard Hayward, 1,819.
- M. Andrea Taylor, 1,320.
- Jeffrey Theodore, 568.

McCotter, who stayed up until 2 p.m. awaiting election returns, said he was surprised by his victory. "I FIGURED Tom (Davis) and Ronaele (Bowman) would be the top vote-getters," he said. While he said the said name recognition helped him in Livonia, where his mother is a city councilwoman, McCotter also said he worked as hard as his limited campaign budget would allow

'There's no doubt the name helped in Livonia," he said. "But in Plymouth, the name isn't that well known. I did work hard, even though I wasn't able to have the big billboards some other candidates did. After all, I am a college student."

McCotter is a law student at the University of Detroit and recipient of the school's Jerome P. Cavanagh Scholarship. He is also a law clerk at the Livonia firm of Brashear, Tangora and Spence.

An accomplished musician, McCotter is also lead guitarist for a rock band and has had several songs published.

He said he hoped to be a voice for Schoolcraft's "under 30 student population" while expecting no difficulty in working with other, older board members.

"MY GOAL in the first year is to sit back, listen and learn and only take leadership in those areas where I'm clearly sure of the direction," he said

Veteran Schoolcraft trustee Harry Greenleaf, also a winner Monday said he believed McCotter would prove a solid addition to the board.

"He doesn't have the experience yet, obviously, but he's a very bright, articulate young man," Greenleaf said. "I believe he has the potential to be a good board member."

Davis, a campaign manager for former Livonia Mayor Edward McNamara, was the leading votegetter in Plymoth/Canton, the last district to report. His margin, however, couldn't overcome McCotter's

"WE DID everything we could and it wasn't in the cards," Davis said. "So be it."

Davis said it was too early to speculate on whether he'd try again.

"As always, my family comes first, my job second and my commu-nity service, third," he said. "So, I'd have to give it some thought."

Davis lives in Northville Township. He is a Ford Motor Co. finance supervisor

Results were slow in coming from Plymouth-Canton where a believedrecord 25 percent of district voters went to the polis, spurred by a con-troversial local millage renewal and increase.

Sacha, 61, lives in Livonia. A retiree, she taught in the Detroit public schools and held various supervisory positions with Birmginham Schools. Bowman, 46, trains youth assistance volunteers for the Michigan

Incumbents were winners in the race for a trio of six-year seats on the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees Veteran trustees Mary Breen and Harry Greenleaf were returned to office in Monday's balloting while incumbent Jack Kirksey gained his first full term.

Lawrence Whitmarsh finished fourth and fifth in the race. Winners will be sworn in July 5.

(For information on the race for the four-year board seat, see related story.)

"I worked hard in the weeks lead-Newcomers David Tatman and ing up to the election," Breen said. "I guess I felt that if I had to be there election day, I would have been in trouble anyway."

Kirksey carried Livonia, on his way to a second-place finish. Greenleaf, also elected, placed third in all six areas of the Schoolcraft district.

Parents await student's return from China

By Amy Rauch staff writer

Studying in China was a dream come true for Michaela Ludwick, 21. of Troy. But her dream took a nightmarish turn when soldiers opened fire on students in Beijing last week.

The Oakland University student, who just completed her junior year, left at the end of April to begin a sixweek study of the Chinese language and a two-week tour through a summer program at Nanjing University in Nanjing, China.

But violence broke out in the capital city of Beijing as troops opened fire on student protesters, killing an estimated 7,000 and wounding thousands more.

"We're very concerned right now for her safety," said her father, Rex Ludwick. "I had no real reservations about her going to China . . . until the demonstrations and the violent reactions to the demonstrations."

Michaela finally had an opportunity to call her father and mother, Patricia, at 2 a.m. Thursday. Her parents said the conversation, interrupted twice, was closely guarded. Michaela indicated only that she wanted to come home, they said.

GETTING A telephone call spoken to her only when she calls. They have an emergency number through which they can try to reach her.

"What you have to do, basically, is hope that the person on the other end speaks English," Rex Ludwick said. And that's if you can get through."

If the person who answers the phone does not speak English, the Ludwicks have to repeat Michaela's room number over and over until the person understands and goes to get her. The phone lines have been tied up since the violence began, Rex Ludwick said.

There have been problems on Michaela's end, too, her mother said. When she was leaving Metro Airport in April, one of her bags was mistagged and was lost for time.

The city of Nanjing is about 600 miles south of the capital, her father said. Michaela, along with her group, will leave mainland China for Hong Kong on Monday. It was the earliest flight the group could get out of the country, her father said. She will return to Detroit this week.

"We were very concerned about how fast, if at all, it (the violence) would spread to other cities," Mr.

Ludwick said. "We'll be much more comfortable when she's out of mainland China."

BILL BRESLER/staff photographer

JUST DAYS before the violence broke out, Michaela and the group she is with toured Shanghai, her father said.

Because of the news blackout by the government, people in China know very little about what's going on, he said.

Beginning in August, Michaela will spend a year in Taiwan studying the Chinese language on scholarship through the Mandarin Training Center in Taipei., prior to starting school in August," her father said.

Michaela, a 1986 graduate of Troy High School, is majoring in East Asian studies and minoring in the Chinese language and political science at Oakland University, where she had a cumulative grade point average of 3.3 on a 4.0 scale.

Suit asks state to pay for all trial courts

By Tim Richard staff writer

Local city and county officials are pondering whether to join a major lawsuit that asks state government to pay for all trial courts.

You rarely get a chance to participate in something as fundamen-tal as this constitutional question," attorney Robert W. White told an audience of 30 - mostly city attorneys and county budget officials - in a Southfield hotel last week.

White and partner Douglas Van Essen held meetings all around the state, hoping to sign up as many as possible of the 174 units that pay for 55 circuit courts, 79 probate courts. 100 district courts, six municipal courts and a recorder's court as clients in their class action lawsuit.

Deadline is Aug. 20 for them to sign up for a suit which, if successful, could cost the state $400 million. WHITE AND Van Essen are in a

Grand Rapids firm which represents many counties and cities. So far, eight western Michigan counties and the city of Grosse Pointe have paid a $300 retainer fee to be part of the class action, and others have passed resolutions of intent.

In this area, only the city of Plymouth issued a prompt, flat "no," they said Phase one will be a largely legal battle in the Court of Claims division of Ingham Circuit Court. Their suit contains three counts: • The state Legislature in 1979 passed a law (PA 438) stating its intention of gradually taking over funding of all courts, but never appropriated the money in subsequent years. The formula called for 80 percent state funding in 1986 and '87. The counties ask for that 80 percent. (Under the statute of limitations, they can't ask for the money from prior years.)

Legislators and Gov. James Blanchard's legal adviser say one Legislature can't bind another. The counties say PA 438 "created a legal duty.

 The 1963 Michigan Constitution creates "one court of justice." The counties say that makes all courts part of the judicial branch of state government. "The state can't pass on its costs to local units any more than it can pass on the cost of renovating the Capitol to Ingham County or the costs of the University of Michigan to Washtenaw County," said Van Es-

• They want court expenses au-dited, just like every other unit of government.

ATTORNEY GENERAL Frank Kelley's staff is characterizing the movement as a "break the bank" kind of suit.

But Van Essen said the total cost would amount to a small fraction of the state's nearly $7 billion budget, whereas local subsidies of courts are a far bigger proportion of local budgets.

In a 1980 bailout, the state took over funding of Wayne Circuit and the Detroit courts - costs and revenues both. Many outstate counties resent that double standard of court funding.

White believes the Court of Claims will rule late this year or early in 1990. Appeals could take two or

SOME LOCAL units think their courts are money-makers - that the fines and charges they levy cover their costs

"But are you sure?" White asks, advising them to have their accountants look not only at payroll and cash costs but overhead, building depreciation, parking lots and the like He argues the state could be paying them rent.

He asks those who want to opt out of the class action: "In fairness, reject it on some theory other than (the current system is) a good deal - say you don't like the lawyers, or you think courts shouldn't be funded by the state."

Van Essen added, "We believe it is a more powerful statement if we stand before the seven justices as a class rather than eight wild-haired counties."

If they win, Van Essen envisions a system whereby local units would 'front-end" court costs and be reimbursed by Lansing. Such a system would be far preferable to a single statewide plan, in which court personnel in Keweenaw and Detroit would get the same pay rates.

THEY TOLD "horror stories" of conflicts between judges and local governing boards over court budgets, saying the conflicts would be ended by state funding. You can no longer line-item a budget. You must give them a lump-sum budget," said Van Easen. "Yo can't even audit them.

"Sometimes (conflicts are) blamed on a 'failure of diplomacy.' Bob and I originally subscribed to that view. But diplomacy alone isn't enough." They told of a judge who threatened to jail county officials who wouldn't buy the brand of photocopier he wanted and of a northern Michigan judge who recognized his four employees as a union one morn-ing, gave them a 100 percent pay raise and sent the bill to the county that afternoon; the county won - at the cost of $100,000 in legal fees.

EMILY TIMS and Rebecca Humphrey, both Plymouth-Canton High School seniors, were awarded the Delta Kappa Gamma Soroity award.

STEVE MARSH, director of debate and forensics at Plymouth-Canton High School, was inducted to the Speech Coaches Hall of Fame, established to honor speech coaches who for a period of at least 10 years have provided outstanding service to debate and individual events to high school students. Marsh was cited for his 1980 and 1981 state Class C-D debate championships; his teaching at both the Central Michigan University and Wayne State University summer debate institutes; and his excellence in administering debate and forensic tournaments.

LAURA A. DAVIS, Brian Dugas, Sheryll A. Gildo and Jessica L. Handley, all of Canton, were named to the dean's list recently at Saginaw Valley State University.

DOUGLAS DINGELDEY of Canton graduated with honors recently from State of Michigan DeMars Correctional Academy. He has been assigned as correctional officer to Brooks Regional Correction facility in Muskegon DEREK CLEMENS and Robert McClain, both of Plymouth, placed among the top 25 in their grade level at the state mathematics finals at Central Michigan University.

Of 153 criminals from Leaven-worth and Danbury prisons who were examined in the study, those considered aggressive, prisoners re-peatedly violent against others, abused animals in their youth five times more often than these who are not aggressive or violent.

Sixty percent of the participants reported at least one instance of ani-mal cruelty during childhood and one admitted to "40 or 50 times for fun and excitement" because he "enjoyed" hurting cats.

THE STUDY CONCLUDED, "Although a single act (of animal cruelty) is not predictive of another act, a pattern of substantial animal abuse may conceivably be associated with a pattern of recurrent violence directed against people." The study also cited nine primary reasons for animal cruelty, including displaced hostility, retailation, sadism, control and for amusem

Of the 5,122 complaints filed with the humane society last year, nearly one-third involved deliberate cruel-ty, including 293 incidents of beating and torture, 141 shootings and killings, nine burnings and six poisonings.

Of the 202 cruelty cases successfully prosecuted by the society be-tween early 1986 and late 1988,

'Our treatment of animals serves as a sociological mirror. It literally reflects how we treat each other.'

> - David Wills, director Michigan Humane Society

some 25 instances involve defendants with additional criminal records.

The cases, compiled into a list entitled Correlation Between Animal and Human Abuse, begin with an in-cident in January 1986. Three young

Detroit brothers nearly beat their mother's dog to death with a metal baseball bat. Earlier, the three had severely beaten a 12-year-old boy with the same bat when he refused to give the brothers money

Also included on the list is an incident that occurred in Canton in No-vember 1987. A man was found guilty of throwing a spaniel over a 10-foot fence, allowing it to fall 23 feet into a lake. In an unrelated inci-dent, he was convicted of "bodily harm less than murder and destruction of property."

HUMANE SOCIETY OFFICIALS view the connection between animal and human crime seriously enough to devote a fund-raising brochure to the subject.

"Granted, every case of animal abuse doesn't lead to human abuse," the brochure reads. "The fact is, normal people don't abuse animals. Such actions are an early sign of deviant behavior. Recognized, it can be corrected. Ignored, it gets worse." Of growing concern to society offi-cials is the dramatic increase in pecent years of animal cruelty case involving youth, according to Sh Silk. Silk, a Bloomfield Town wife and mother, has for eight ye headed up all crueity investigation in the metropolitan area for the Michigan Humane Society. "Of the complaints we handle each die each year, there is a trend towards more and more juveniles, kids 13- and 14-years-old, who are doing horrible things to animals," she said.

Next, what is being done about animal cruelty and how do humane officers fit into society's protective network.

Wilcox to conduct baseball camp has been nearly three years former Tiger pitcher Milt Wil-retired from major league base-but his involvement in sports

For the seventh year, he will be day a baseball camp through the stland Parks and Recreation Deent this month.

Wilcox also hosts a sports televi-m program on the PASS cable levision station, runs business pronotions featuring sports personali-les, is involved in horse racing and breeding and will soon provide color commentary for cable television broadcasts for Toledo Mud Hens

ONE BIG adjustment of retirement, ending the extensive travel required from baseball players, was a mixed blessing, according to Wilcox. Not traveling was a big adjusttent after 19 years. You get to see a lot of friends you made in other places," he said. "But now I can enjoy the summers off and play golf, be with my kids. I couldn't do that before." When his daughter, now 19, was growing up, Wilcox said he was gone so much that he missed much of her childhood. Since his retirement, he said he has been able to spend more time with his 13-year old son.

"The first year or so I had a bit of trouble adjusting," Wilcox said of his 1986 retirement from baseball.

"I stayed away from the ballpark, probably too much. I felt like I'd want to pitch. Its still in your blood."

AFTER TWO shoulder injuries in 1984 when Wilcox played for the World Series-winning Tigers, he said he never really was able to come back. He retired after playing half the 1986 season with the Seattle Mariners.

"When I got out of baseball, I said

I'd like to be a broadcaster," he said. They didn't seem to work too hard."

After spending 1% years doing a cable sports talk based in Dearborn, Wilcox said the show was picked up by PASS in 1987.

"We've really gone on to do all kinds of sports and talk with all kinds of sports figures," Wilcox said. "We have also expanded from doing one-on-one interviews. We do a show each month from Milan Dragway."

Tiger fans have also seen Wilcox on the pre-game Tiger Roundtable discussions on WDIV-TV.

"I enjoy doing that and a lot of eople see it. I have close ties to the Tigers. That's were I played the longest," said Wilcox, who joined De-troit after playing with the Cincin-nati Reds, Cleveland Indians and Chicago Cubs.

FORMER AND current Tigers. players are prominent in the Wilcox baseball camp, aimed at players 7 to 17 years old. Gates Brown and Jim Northrup spend a great deal of time at the camp, Wilcox said, with appearances for photos and autographs by active players like Alan Trammell and Matt Nokes.

"About 95 percent of the kids we see are playing organized ball some-where but only about three or four of the kids will actually know the fundamentals," he said. "The camp emphasizes the fundamentals. The right way to hold a ball and how to think before you hit."

WILCOX HAS maintained close ties with baseball for his promotional business, providing sports figures for business openings and other related functions.

"Its really grown," he said. "I found out how hard it was for business people to make contact with professional sports figures for promotions," he said. In addition to Tigers players, Wil-less has exp cox said the busis outside the Detroit area and to include non-baseball celebrities such as Pistons center Bill Laimbeer, Cincinnati Bengals quarterback "Boomer" Esiason, Red Wing Lee Norwood and former St. Louis Cardinal Lou Brock.

ANOTHER SPORTS venture for Wilcox are horses, which he first became involved with in 1982 at Detroit Racing Course.

"I grew up in Oklahoma but I wasn't a cowboy. I didn't like horses as a kid," he said. "A guy invited me to jog horses at DRC and it was a great feeling to control a big animal like that."

With brood mares and stallions, Wilcox said his horse breeding activities have become almost a full-time job.

IF ALL these activities weren't enough, Wilcox said he was consider-

Bob and Louise Siegmund of Farmington Hills go back to the Detroit Grand Prix race track this weekend

The Slegmunds are members of the Sports Car Club of America (SCCA), one of the largest, most active competition organizations in the world, said Beth Kish of the Detroit Grand Prix Race Committee.

Locally, the Detroit Region of SCCA is involved in all areas of the sport. The Detroit Grand Prix, in its eighth year, is the largest. The SCCA also conducts several club races, driver schools, autocross events and

Bob Siegmund, an announcer with 35 years' experience, is active with public relations for the event. He is a partner with the All Michigan Underwriters Agency, an independent insurance agency in Livonia. Louise, a 18-year member of SCCA, is a nationally licensed timer and scorer. She works as a part-time biology and math teacher for the Whitman Center in Livonia as well as teaching pregnant teenagers part time at Marillac Hall in Farmington Hills.

"You might have five or six cars going by at once, so there's quite a bit of juggling," said Louise of the weekend event

THE DETROIT Grand Prix track is 2% miles long. The cars whoosh past at a 90 mph average, climbing to 120 to 130 mph on the Start/Finish straight, according to Bob.

Former Livonia residents for 22 years, the Siegmunds moved to Farmington Hills last September.

When the Siegmunds' two sons, Bob, a chef in California, and Jim, a student at Michigan State University, were growing up, the amateur auto racing circuit served as a wholesome family activity, said Bob. When our boys were 10 and 12 years old, all four of us would pile into the car and go out to Waterford and overybody was involved. That's the nice thing about amateur racing, it's good fun," he said. The Oukland County Sportsman Club is in Waterford.

Detroit Renaissance Inc. is the promoter and sponsor of the Grand Prix race. It has the responsibility for all of the business and promotional aspects of the race. The De-troit Grand Prix Association is a volunteer arm of DRI, whose members are responsible for things such as ushering, crowd control, hospitality, media center and transportation. The Detroit Region of SCCA is the race organization and is responsible for all the functions directly related to the race.

Aspirin bandits give store headache

The Sunday aspirin bandits apparently struck again - for the fourth time in five weeks - at the same Perry Drugs store in Redford Township.

But this time the aspirin bandits added a stop at another drug store.

A man fled the Perry drugstore shortly after 10:30 a.m. without taking anything after a store manager saw him in the process of filling a shopping cart with assorted boxes of aspirin, Redford police said.

About a half hour later, two men stole two garbage cans that apparently were loaded with stolen merchandise from the Revco Discount Drug Center, Grand River at Beech Daly, a store employee told police.

Someone obtained the license plate number of the getaway car and it matched the plate number a witness got for the auto seen fleeing after the aborted aspirin theft at Perry Drugs, Grand River east of Beech Daly, police said.

It was not immediately clear whether the thieves took any more aspirin, but they did steal two garbage cans loaded with Revco merchandise, an employee told police.

Investigators have yet to learn from store personnel what was taken, police said.

The employee told police that two men were seen placing several unidentified items in the two garbage cans, which also were stolen from the store. The duo fled in a 1987, blue-colored, four-door Plymouth. the employee said.

Witnesses at each store gave similar descriptions of the getaway car, police said. A large quantity of assorted boxes of aspirin was stolen from the Perry store by two men on three successive Sundays in May, police said. 🖉

Store officials suspect the same two men were involved in the thefts on May 14, 21, 28.

The duo skipped Sunday, June, 4, but apparently returned this past Sunday.

Election results Voters spoke convincingly

OTERS IN Canton and Plymouth spoke Monday and we like what they had to say.

They said yes to providing youngsters with quality education and no to the Citizens for Better Education, which has charged the district with teaching the occult and Satanism in classrooms.

David Artley's school board victory over CBEbacked Robert Anderson Jr by a 2-1 margin shows that the general public isn't buying CBE's line.

The voters' voice was loud and overwhelming, with 25 percent of registered voters going to the polls. That's a big turnout for a local election.

But now with the devil put in his place, it's time to look at the future, and that's in two years when the 4-mill increase expires.

School officials said the increase is a temporary measure needed to cover an expected loss of state aid. Plymouth-Canton will lose state aid for direct classroom expenses when it soon goes out of formula under the state's complex financing system. When it does, it will be able to collect more taxes.

We hope the district remembers its promise.

WHILE SCHOOL officials and backers are savoring their victory, they should remember past millage and Headlee override defeats. Credibility earned in this campaign could easily be lost.

One of the first challenges faced by the board is a teacher contract that expires in a year. We hope the teachers have learned something about school financing during this recent millage war and fhat their contract doesn't suck up every available dollar.

The board should also look to making peace with CBE. The group's candidate, Anderson, finished second in the seven-person race.

We think the board should reach out to CBE, and talk to its members, at least about some of their less-fanciful concerns. One of those concerns has been that R-rated movies are shown in classrooms. We think the board should deal with concerns such as this by involving a CBE member in the review of teaching materials. During the millage campaign, we were disappointed in CBE. We had hoped that a strong outside group would challenge the district on its financial policies. CBE didn't do that.

Barbara Graham, a CBE-backed board member, visited the schools and made a fuss over a copy of the Metro Times, an alternative urban weekly newspaper.

That visit handed I CARE, the pro-millage committee, a wonderful issue — censorship.

Also, CBE's constant waffling on the two millage questions hurt the group. First, it was opposed to the millages, and then later it was taking no position. We were uncertain what its final stand was because of the change.

THE VISIT and waffling obscured the real issues of school spending and responsiveness of the board to residents.

Those are the challenges we see facing the board, and we hope that some group picks them up and runs with them.

We think the board and the educational establishment in the Plymouth-Canton schools needs to be continually challenged. When a school district has a millage increase in the bag, it tends to get fat and sassy. We don't want to see that happen.

THERE ARE a couple of things that would help.

The Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce endorsed the 4-mill proposal, but said that an outside group should review the district's finances. We hope that happens.

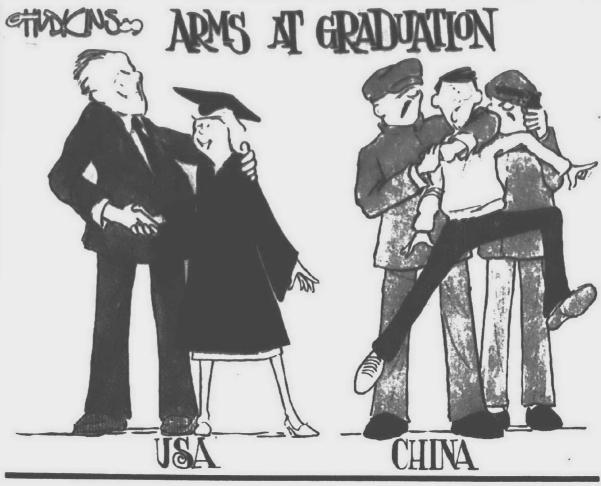

Also, during our interviews with school board candidates, we were impressed with what Carl Battishill had to say. Voters agreed, and he placed third. We encourage Battishill to stick around. There's work for an informed person like him to do at board meetings.

We are pleased that the two millage questions were approved, and that Artley was re-elected. But we would like to see some fresh blood on the school board to challenge the district. We hope to see Battishill's name on the ballot next year.

Report card

Legislature: mediocre results

ICHIGAN'S Legislature is like a college

School district battle is a mirror for us all

THE DRAMA going on in Clarenceville in a lot of ways is the story of the struggle across this country — big versus small, money versus local control. It's a struggle you should know and understand. When it comes to talking about school districts in metropolitan Detroit, few people think of Clarenceville.

If somebody put it on a list of least known facts about southeastern Michigan, it would range close to the top of the list. Heck, if you ask most folks in Livonia, Farmington Hills and Redford Township, it would do about the same.

And that's unusual because the Clarenceville School District, a virtual dot on the map of metro school districts, shares ground in all three of the above-mentioned municipalities.

But for a moment, at least, you should learn about the battle going on in that district. For the parents of the 1,976 students it's a struggle of principle against principle, a struggle for the heart of a community.

Clarenceville, although a school district, is and has been for many years, a community. Although it hasn't a mayor or city council, for many it has been just as much a community as most any hometown where families grow up, work and live.

At one time school board member Sam Prisk was called the "mayor of Clarenceville." Now he's retired, but the spirit remains.

He explained in a 1979 interview, "Our school district is our heart, our center. We're like a dog that thinks it's a human. We're a school district but also a community. We're a community that thinks it's a town."

IN FACT CLARENCEVILLE is the oldest "community" in the area. Founded in 1837 as a settlement, it is named after a previous owner of the Botsford Inn, Thomas Clarency.

But some in "town" see Clarenceville through a different shade of glass than does Sam Prisk. They see a district whose enrollment has dwindled substantially and which has had to close two of it's four grade schools.

The district had only one high school and a middle school.

And recently, they've been on the stump to persuade others to vote in favor of dissolving the district.

You can't really fault them for holding that view. But then, you can't fault the other side either. It's a battle that, in the end, will foster hard feelings for years to come sort of an emotional civil war.

The fact is that residents are taking the disagreement so seriously that police are investigating deaththreats against an organizer of the dissolution movement.

LOOKING AT THE FACTS and figures, it would seem sensible to close shop and let residents put their children in one of the three other districts wherein they reside. The district is small, the millage rate high and the facilities so-so.

But many of those who have gone to school there and feel that the benefits go beyond tax dollars and elaborate facilities are fighting hard to maintain the district's autonomy.

"The way I see it, bigger is not better. This is what I wanted for my family. I don't want to see this destroyed," Butch Bowden, who has two children in the district, said recently.

student who goofs off all semester and then, just before a final exam, studies all night. Maybe he passes, but the overall result is likely to be mediocre.

This week the Legislature has major pieces of school quality reform and the budget in conference committees. It means that in five months the two chambers have passed two different versions of each topic, and this week they're "cramming" to reach last-minute compromises.

CONSIDER:

• Core curriculum, with $2.4 million in incentive funds — The Senate bill mandates core subjects: the House makes it permissive. No conclusion.

• School improvement planning, a requirement that school districts map out five-year plans — Different versions in each chamber.

• Statewide accreditation plan for elementary schools — Different versions in each chamber, although a conference committee was due to meet yesterday morning.

• Employability skills test, based on a profile compiled by employers of what they need in future workers — The Senate passed a bill, and a House committee its pondering a second substitute. No conclusion.

• GAIN, the Governor's Achievement Incentive plan to reward individual school buildings that raise performance levels — It's still in a House committee.

• Schools of choice, the plan born in the Bronx and implemented in Minnesota to break up government's monopoly by letting parents choose which public school their kids will attend — The Senate passed a bill; a House committee ran out of time and will take it up in fall.

• Math and science centers, a system of challenge grants to stimulate innovation — Separate persions are in conference committee. No conclusion.

• Dropout drivers, bills to allow the suspension of driver's licenses of kids who quit school or are truant — Vigorously supported and just as vigorously attacked, these bills couldn't be completed in committee in time for a vote this spring.

And so on. If the lawmakers weren't being forced out of the Capitol for six months of renovations, they might have made even less progress.

SOME BAD IDEAS have been put to sleep. The Senate rejected a bill designed to permit cation gambling. In the western Upper Peninsula.

food - gambling is an unproductive acthat scoops money from poor suckers' Michigan's Legislature is like a college student who goofs off all semester and then, just before a final exam, studies all night. Maybe he passes, but the overall result is likely to be mediocre.

The elderly in our population are interested in "living will" or "right to die" laws that will allow their wishes to be carried out if they become incapacitated. There is wide agreement in Lansing, but the debate is gummed up by arguments over fetal rights. No conclusion.

After a debate both technical and emotional, the Legislature passed bills to ease landfill requirements for toxic incinerator ash. Opponents believe any incinerator is a detriment to the environment. Others believe they have worked out an honorable compromise that will allow trash reduction plans to move forward in Detroit, the suburbs and across the state.

After another donnybrook, the House passed a bill acceptable to environmentalists to allow the state to keep most of the unclaimed deposits on beer, pop and wine cooler cans and bottles. The cash can go to environmental cleanup. If the compromise sticks, Michigan United Conservation Clubs won't have to go through with a costly, 300,000-signature petition campaign to rescue that money from the industry wholesalers.

Gov. James Blanchard correctly vetoed a bill that would have let alcohol retailers off the legal hook unless kids to whom they sold also were prosecuted. But the retailers have a point: Kids who buy booze shouldn't get off too easily.

KEEP YOUR EYES on two lawsuits that really shouldn't be in court because the problems should have been solved in the Legislature.

One is the effort by poorer school districts to get a better cut of Michigan's educational assets. The schools are buoyed by a Kentucky court decision saying the Bluegrass State's school funding is inequitable.

The second suit is by counties and cities to get state funding of trial courts. Michigan has a double standard — one for Wayne County and Detroit (full state takeover), another for the rest of the state (local subsidies):

The student who goofs off all semester andthen "crants" for one night might squeak by with a C-minus, but he doesn't learn much. A legislature that operates the same way warrants a similar mediotre grade.

Gives thanks to school staff

To the editor:

I am writing this letter to you to call your attention to several employees of our school district who helped us to make the best of an unfortunate situation this winter.

On Feb. 12, my son Bruce, a seventh grader at West Middle School, suffered a broken leg as a result of a skiing accident. The severity of the injury required a long, heavy cast and two weeks of being confined to his bed. I called the school office with information regarding Bruce's absence and the fact that he would be confined to a wheelchair when he did return to school. Multiple trips up and down the stairs were out of the question. Bruce's schedule included physical education and his other classes were divided among the first and second floors and a portable classroom.

I spoke first with Lee Harrison, assistant principal, and then with Judith Stone, the principal. They met with Marcia Porterfield, our counselor and came up with a revised class schedule, all on the first floor. We concurred. The teachers did their best to accommodate Bruce. Teacher's aide Susan Sayers also provided support.

support. Judith Paviti stepped in to fill the void created when physical education could not be replaced with another elective. She not only gave Bruce the opportunity to be a library aide, but also saw to it that he had lunch and avoided the cafeteria traffic. And, in her own inimitable fashion, Mrs. Pavitt offered the help and guidance for which she is so well known.

Mrs. Stone, Mr. Harrison, and Mrs. Pavitt all sent get well messages to Bruce when he was confined to bed during the winter break.

Kari Miller, the school nurse, was tremendously helpful and encouraging. She helped to arrange for special transportation, and saw to the many details necessary to make the smooth transition to becoming a wheelchair-bound student.

Mary Tidwell, in the transportation department, scheduled our wheelchair van and bus. Charlotte Leonard and Janet Bury, our drivers, were pleasant, courteous and helpful. They always went that "extra step," like carrying the book bag and crutches to the door when I didn't come to the curb fast enough.

Yes, all of these people were doing their jobs . . . but not JUST doing their jobs. They were caring and kind, and I appreciate the manner in which they dealt with our family. Thank you to all of them. Elaine R. Bain,

McDonald's speaks out

To the editor:

I would like to comment on the article "Fast Food Pollution" printed in the Thursday, May 11, Canton Observer.

As for chloroflourocarbons destroying the ozone layer, you are correct. And it is also true that at one time plastic foam was linked to releasing CFCs when it was broken down. But it is not true that McDonald's plastic foam containers contain CFCs. At the end of 1988, all U.S. McDonald's restaurants phased out CFCs from their foam packaging.

I realize you are concerned about the well-being of your family and community. In regard to John W. Pyhtila of Canton, I hope this helps ease your mind.

Disturbed about title

"The performers may have been amateurs . . ." is a disturbing leadin to your Monday, May 15, article covering the Plymouth Follies.

As a professional entertainer, I am certain you can understand my concern at being included within a group of non-professionals. My contribution to the Follies was gratuitous despite the fact that I perform primarily at a "paid" of professional level.

It seems to me that when a performer, who is normally compensated, voluntarily commits time to a fund-raising event, the press has a responsibility to make this contribution known to the public. I earned a professional status several years ago and have worked hard to retain that ranking. It is disconcerting to be treated so carelessly.

I would very much appreciate hearing from you and perhaps discussing a "feature" article about Alvis Alan.

Junk case? Squandering of tax money

I KEPT MY chat with Paul J. Fischer short because I didn't want to consume too much tax money.

Fischer does appellate work in the Oakland County Prosecutor's office Recently he won a decision in the state Court of Appeals, but he wasn't gloating.

"This was a nonsense case," said Fischer. His tone was disgust.

THE CASE was filed by Ronnie Williams, who is doing time . well, let the court opinion recite the facts:

Following a jury trial, Williams was convicted of larceny over $100 from a Hudson's store in Waterford. Later he pleaded guilty to being a "habitual offender-fourth" and was sentenced to 21% to 30 years in prison with credit for 528 days served.

'On appeal by right, both defendant and the state appellate defender's office have submitted briefs, raising a multitude of issues," said the appeals court.

Fischer explained that Williams filed his own 50-page brief, the maximum allowed, and the appellate defender's office filed another 50 pag-

It seems that Williams handled his own defense before Circuit Judge John N. O'Brien with the assistance of a court-apponted attorney. Being n prison, Williams was unable to arue his appeal, so the state appellate defender did it. Result: 100 pages of legal briefs.

'A laundry list," Fischer called it. "Somebody's got to read it and prepare answers for all that junk."

"JUNK?" IS that any way to describe Williams' case? Yes.

First, Williams argued he was denied a speedy trial, but presiding Appeals Judge Roman Gribbs found, "Much of the delay in this case was attributable to defendant."

Judge O'Brien set trial for May 12, 1986. Williams' attorney also was defending his client on a heroin possession case. The attorney petitioned for a competency exam in the larceny case but filed it under the heroin case number. Williams was ruled competent to stand trial Feb. 5, 1987.

The details get complex, but the appeals court found it was basically of defending appeals: 2,500 filings from prisoners against the state; 600 federal habeas corpus cases; on average, 120 new cases a month. The Attorney General's office has 21 staff attorneys plus support staff and a total budget of $2.5 million just to handle appeals.

Obviously, not all the appeals are laundry lists of junk. But one needn't be an ordained lawyer to wade through these piles of pink legalsized paper that the Court of Appeals issues and conclude that a majority of the criminal cases are junk.

It made me wonder if I'm not squandering newspaper resources writing about the squandering of our taxes.

That's why I kept my chat with Paul Fischer short.

Doyle asked: What grade is toughest?

Q: In your Observer & Eccentric introduction, it stated that you had taught kindergarten through gradu-ate school. What is the toughest grade to teach?

The toughest grade to teach de-pends somewhat on the nature of the person. Therefore, I can only speak for myself. I would say that the easiest class I ever taught was Advanced Chemis-try; students were well motivated and disciplined to the task. However, being the easiest class does not mean that it was the least amount of work.

Indeed, to keep up with a group of academically talented young adults whose minds were like sponges, ab-sorbing all you can give them, requires considerable additional research and preparation after the school day is over.

Having taught remedial math and science was very difficult. The major reason is that you made gains in such small increments that to receive job satisfaction, you have to accept this fact and appreciate any small gain made. These children tend to have very poor recall of information and a continuous review of what was previously learned is a continual, ongoing task.

TEACHING in the middle school is a unique experience. The typical middle school student is wiggling and waggling, can't sit still; and in the classroom, I say affectionately. looks like "a bucket of worms."

They are being impacted by the initial development of their secondary sexual characteristics (breasts, body hair). Girls begin to notice boys more frequently. The attention span of a middle school student (both boys and girls) tends to be limited.

A teacher shouldn't lecture for

Probably the easiest and most-rewarding experience for me was the students who had finished high school by the path of least resistance.

(R.W.G-17A)# 184

the most-difficult grade I ever taught was kindergarten. Because of cutbacks in the district, I was place in an elementary physical education position with no understanding of the developmental process of young 5-year-old children and it was a nightmare.

When I asked the kindergarte kids to get in a circle they just looked at me. When I started walking in a circle they followed me like the Pied Piper. When I raised my voice, three started crying, two were pulling on my legs, one wanted mother and another wet his pants. After some lengthy in-service train ing from the kindergarten teachers it ended up to be one of my fine experiences.

Therefore, it depends on the individual teacher; an advance place ment physics class could be the toughest for one teacher while kine dergarten could be the most challenging for another.

structured to keep them mentally involved. Teaching educational graduate school courses to teachers at night is another story. You have teachers K-12 sitting there who have just completed a full day's work, thinking about children at home, about their next-day class, and you are responsible for motivating them in a three-hour block from 7-10 p.m. It is very difficult. Probably the easiest and mostrewarding experience for me was the students who had finished high school by the path of least resistance. That is, finding those teachers who would carry them because, at that time, they were not turned on to education. They leave school, end up in a $4.50 an hour job and decide there has to be something better in life and come back to a community college. The community college students I taught recognized their life was unfulfilled; they were now ready to learn. They re-entered education based on a self-made decision, not because mom and dad wanted them to go to college. It was the most rewarding teaching experience I had ever had.

IN RESPONSE to inner city crime and a loss of confidence in Detroit police, Barrow recommends formation of a drug task force comprised of 100 of Detroit's best police officers who would be drug tested twice annually.

Their main task would be destroying the drug network. They would be untouched by the police bureaucracy or the political bureaucracy.

Barrow said he would also submit twice annually to drug testing and would require it of all department heads.

In addition, he would make police more accountable and decentralize police services.

That petition drive over unclaimed can and bottle deposits is still on - "just to keep a safety net in case the legislation collapses.

That was the word from Michigan United Conservation Clubs spokesman Don Stypula as the state House of Representatives passed a bill saying unclaimed deposits belong to the people and will be used for environmental cleanups.

The bill is on the Senate calendar. "The Senate leadership put it on second reading, bypassing the committee. That is very unusual," said Stypula. That was his good news.

The less favorable news was that senators would hold up the bill until a House committee acts on a companion bill to create a trust fund for the money. The bills are tie-barred, meaning one can't become law unless both do.

MUCC REVERSED its earlier opposition to the unclaimed deposits measure, House Bill 4704, after it was amended to the environmental group's satisfaction.

The formula was changed to put 75 percent into environmental cleanup programs and give 25 percent to the retailers," Stypula said.

Currently, wholesalers keep the enosit money on heer, wine cooler and pop cans and bottles that aren't returned. Estimates of the total take vary from $20 million (industry claim) to $38 million (MUCC's estimate).

An earlier version of HB 4704 would have split the money between toxic cleanups (60 percent), alcoholism programs (15 percent) and retailers (25 percent). The measure got 71 votes, 12 short of the threefourths needed to amend a voter-approved law

THE REVISED BILL last week sailed through the House on a 100-6 vote.

All Observer & Eccentric area lawmakers supported it except Rep. Mat Dunaskiss, R-Lake Orion, who missed the vote.

The Michigan Interfaith Council on Alcohol Problems favored the MUCC version. Said newsleter editor Alan B. Rice II:

"Backers of (the original) HB 4704 say they don't understand why we are not in favor of their bill, since it not only provides money for environmental cleanup, it would give about $4.5 million a year for alcohol and drug programs.

"It's really very simple. The MUCC petition drive is in complete harmoney with the original purpose of the (1978) bottle bill, namely to clean up the environment from carelessly tossed beverage cans and bottles.

"The substance abuse amendment really has very little to do with alcohol and drug programs. Its purpose (was) to pick up votes from those who support substance abuse services in the hope of nullifying the MUCC petition drive."

THE MUCC office is handling work on a multi-group petition drive to put its own unclaimed deposit bill on the 1990 ballot.

Stypula said Rice's organization this week contributed 500 signatures to the petition drive. Already more than 22,000 signatures have been collected in its quest to get the reuired 192,000 signatures for the

'just in case" ballot proposal. He said petition forms are available by sending a stamped, self-ad-dressed envelope to: Committee to Keep Michigan Clean, PO Box 30235, Lansing 48909. Kensington avant-garde graphics, creativity on crepe, 28.50 Kensington paisley palette, in

Principal's work a labor of love

By Julie Brown staff writer

George Dodson will go to Canada this summer to do some fishing.

"There's a group of us that go up there," said Dodson, principal at Smith Elementary School in Plymouth. "We have a good, good time." A fishing trip isn't unusual for Dodson, a Plymouth Township resident. What's unusual is that he won't be back at Smith in the fall.

Dodson has been principal there since 1980 and has been with the school district since 1965. His retirement will be effective June 30.

"I won't be here to see the kindergarteners come in. It's a happy time for me. Anyone likes to be needed, and I feel I'm needed that day.

Dodson started teaching at Geer Elementary School in 1965, and now serves on the Geer restoration committee.

That committee's working on renovating Geer, which has been closed since the early 1980s, and plans to open the school to youngsters from the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools. Students would attend classes there for a short time to learn about school days in years gone by.

DODSON'S MEMORIES of his two years at Geer are fond ones. He taught fourth, fifth and sixth grades there.

They were years of magic for me." Some of his former students from Geer, now in their 30s, were able to attend a recent retirement party for Dodson.

After leaving Geer, Dodson went to Allen Elementary School in Plymouth to teach sixth grade. Af-

During his four years as a counselor, Dodson worked with students from Starkweather, Gallimore and Our Lady of Good Counsel schools. In 1972, he became principal at Gallimore Elementary School in Canton, a position he held until

"I've always liked children," he said. "They're just people and they ought to be treated that way. I think I've had the best job in the world.'

Ronald Carlson works with student Mark Farris. Carlson was selected as one of the state's nominees for the Presidential Awards Program for Excellence in Science and Mathematics Teaching.

Carlson is among six Michigan teachers selected as the state's nominees in the 1989 Presidential Awards Program for Excellence in Science and Mathematics Teaching. The program is sponsored by the National Science Foundation.

"I was certainly very pleased and surprised," Carlson said.

Three teachers, including Carlson, were chosen for their success in teaching math. Three others, including Stewart Schultz of West Bloomfield High School, were chosen for their ability as science teachers.

Carlson earned a bachelor of science degree in mathematics from the University of Michigan and a master's degree in math education from U-M. He works mostly with 10th through 12th graders and specializes in teaching computer skills.

His wife, Elizabeth, also taught in the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools for a number of years and is now a graduate student at U-M.

Ronald Carlson is past president of the Michigan Association of Computer Users in Learning, having led that statewide educators' group in 1987. Currently, he serves as vice president of the Community Federal Credit Union board of directors.

CARLSON ENJOYS helping students learn and apply what they've learned to solve problems. But he said students won't be able to solve all problems they come across.

That changes every day, but they do get the tools for how to attack a problem," he said.

Some students don't see math as an exciting, growing field.

"It is too bad," Carlson said. "A lot of students look at math as a subject that has already been done."

Students think all the proofs and theorems are set, and don't see how much opportunity for additional work and study there is.

Many of Carlson's students go on to study math and computers in college. He's kept in touch with some former students.

"That's always helpful, to hear from students who've graduated."

Businesses give support to symphony of auto manufactur ig and those created by a topflight symphony generally don't have much in common.

The Ford Motor Co. will help the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra create beautiful sounds during the 1989-90 season. Ford, through its Community Relations Committee at the Sheldon Road Plant in Plym-outh Township, recently donated $2,500 to the symphony. The contribution came in the midst of the symphony's business fund-raising campaign. Some 20 steers, under the direction of Frank Meterko, a Plymouth Township resident and Ford employee, are working on raising funds.

"This is the most concerted effort we've ever had," said Holly Lubowicki, business manager for the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra. More than 200 businesses are being contacted. The campaign started in mid-April and will continue for another month.

THE FORD Motor Co. and First of America Bank-Plymouth long have been supporters of the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra, which will start its 44th season this fall. First of America Bank-Plymouth has pledged $1,500 as part of this year's campaign, Lubowicki said.

Unisys Corp. and the Mayflower Hotel are also longtime supporters of the PSO. Many others are generous supporters.

Business support is "an absolute necessity," she said. "The success of this is vital to the future of the symphony.'

During the 1988-89 season, business support accounted for about 12 percent of the PSO's budget. Symphony leaders hope to increase that percentage.

Business representatives are being contacted for face-to-face appointments. Lubowicki likes to tell those representatives about the symphony and its performances.

Not all the musicians and patrons are from Plymouth, something Lubowicki emphasizes in meetings with business representatives. She also talks about concert costs, how players are paid and how that payment compares to other orchestras

"Most of them are willing to sit and talk with us." Business leaders enjoy learning more about the PSO's work.

"Hopefully they'll become interested in us as well and would like to attend some of our concerts."

The PSO has a Corporate Leadership Program to recognize support from businesses and corporations. The program provides participants with a variety of recognition, marketing and public relations opportunities.

THE PROGRAM includes a number of categories for business supporters: Friends, under $100; Business Circle, $100; Business Associate, $250; Corporate Sponsor, $500; Corporate Patron, $1,000; Corporate Benefactor, $1,500; Major Sponsor, $2,500; Major Patron, $5,000; and Major Benefactor, $10,000.

Fund-raising efforts for the PSO aren't limited to businesses. This summer, the PSO will kick off its fund-raising campaign directed at individuals.

The support of the Plymouth Symphony League, the fund-raising branch of the PSO, is helpful as well.

"They are vital to our existence," Lubowicki said. The PSO recently received a check for $10,500 from the league, most of it ($8.000) from the "A Melody of Homes" home tour in May.

The PSO will start its 44th season this fall with an 8 p.m. Friday, Oct. 6, performance in the auditorium of Plymouth Salem High School. Israeli pianist Rina Dokshinsky will perform Stravinsky's "Firebird Suite."

Other concerts are planned throughout the season, with Russell Reed, the PSO's conductor and music director, leading the way. Performances of "The Nutcracker" are set for Friday and Saturday, Dec. 15-16, in the Salem auditorium. Those holiday performances should be popular, Lubowicki said. "There's a nice variety this year "

The Plymouth-Canton Community Education graduation and awards ceremony was held that evening in the auditorium of Plymouth Salem High School. Members of the class of 1989 received their long-awaited diplomas GED recipients were also honored, and certificate program awards were presented to medical assistant, dental assistant and pharmacy assistant students.

Mary Deaven and Tonya Monteith, who received their diplomas that evening, spoke to the graduates, friends, family members and educators. Deaven and Monteith, who plan to continue their education in college, may not have the skills on a basketball court that Isiah Thomas and Bill Laimbeer do. Nevertheless, they have plenty of reasons to be proud.

Summertime concert series scheduled

Music-lovers will have an opportunity to enjoy "Music in the Park" concerts in Plymouth's Kellogg Park this summer.

The annual concert series is sponsored by the Plymouth Community Arts Council. The first performance will be held from noon to 1 p.m. Wednesday, June 21.

The musical trio Skylark will begin the series with a program featuring traditional American music played on the hammered dulcimer, banjo, guitar, mandolin and fiddle. Skylark is made up of Betsy Beckerman, Anne Jackson and Tom Wall.

Concerts will be held at noon Wednesdays in Kellogg Park through Aug. 23. Local and area musicians will be featured at the concerts, and a variety of styles and forms of music will be presented.

OTHER CONCERTS planned are: • June 28. D.L. Turner is a local performer who has entertained at the Mayflower Hotel, Mountain Jack's and the Plymouth Fall Festival. He is the youth choir director at the First United Methodist Church of Plymouth and has released a record album. A singer, guitar player and harpist, Turner performs easy listening music in a pop and folk style.

 July 5. Jerry Jacoby is a teacher, guitarist, songwriter and storyteller. He earned his bachelor of music and master of music degrees from Wayne State University, where he served as assistant director of bands for two years. He has performed at banquets, schools, private clubs, camps and conferences

• July 12. Clarinetist Mary Kleam plays a variety of musical styles, from classical to pop and jazz. A graduate of the University of Michigan, she plays in the Plymouth Community Band and teaches elementary music in the West Bloomfield schools.

• July 19. Chris Romanowski is the winner of the Plymouth Community Arts Council's Margaret E. Wilson and Joanne Winkleman Hulce scholarships. A percussionist, Romanowski is a graduating senior at Plymouth Salem High School who plans to attend Central Michigan University to study music.

• July 26. The Arbor Winds Saxophone Quartet plays a variety of music, from classical to Big Band jazz. Its performers include: Michael Letovsky, soprano sax, director of bands at Grass Lake Community Schools; Paul Devee, alto sax, member of the Ambassadors Big Band; Greg Koltyk, tenor sax, former tenor soloist with the Tommy Dorsey Orchestra; and Patricia Letovsky, baritone sax, a teacher in the Milford and Ann Arbor areas.

• Aug. 2. Deborah Rebeck Ash, flutist, holds a master of music degree in flute performance from the University of Michigan. She is director of the handbell choirs at Westminster Presbyterian Church in Ann Arbor, where she maintains a teaching studio. She has played with the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra since 1981. She was the PSO's principal flutist during the 1988-89 season and was featured as a soloist last March. • Aug. 9. Debra Hynes, violinist, received her music education degree from Brigham Young University in Utah, where she taught junior high and high school orchestra for three years. She currently teaches violin in Canton, and will be joined by her string quartet for this concert.

• Aug. 16. Ronnie J plays the guitar and harmonica and sings. He is the owner of RJ Music Productions, where he produces commercials for radio and television. In addition to the original songs he has written, he performs easy-listening music from the 1950s through the 1980s.

 Aug. 23. Mary Ann Stokes will play the dulcimer, performing with guitarist Brian Pratt. The final concert of the season will feature oldtime folk and Irish music.

Kellogg Park is at the corner of Ann Arbor Trail and Main Street in downtown Plymouth. For more information on the "Music in the Park" concerts, call the Plymouth Community Arts Council, 455-5260.

He served with the U.S. Army infantry in Europe during World War II. Dodson remembers the children he saw in France; those children had an effect on him.

"Somehow or other, I wanted to work with children."

Dodson grew up in Texas and Oklahoma, and went through high school in Oklahoma. After the war, he went to the University of Missouri.

DODSON TAUGHT elementary school for three years in Missouri. That was before he'd completed college; a bachelor's degree wasn't required in those days.

'I couldn't make a living, but I liked it so much. There's not any money in it, but boy, there's a joy.' He earned a bachelor of science degree in business from the University of Missouri and went to work in the business world. Dodson was successful in the real estate business in Missouri but missed teaching.

"We have a better curriculum, but the children have not changed. They just come to you with eagerness and bright eyes. The kindergarteners are just a delight to work with." He enjoys seeing students grow.

TODAY'S CURRICULUM is spread a bit thinner but covers more areas. When Dodson started teaching, the emphasis was on reading and arithmetic.

"You had some social studies in there." These days, other subjects, such as writing and health, have been incorporated.

"We're more in tune, I think, with our environment too." Every year that he's been at Smith, trees have been planted on the school grounds.

Dodson earned a master's degree in counseling/administration from Eastern Michigan University. He's done additional postgraduate work at EMU and Wayne State University, and in 1976 participated in the Harvard Summer School at Har-

Deaven recalled having a job she enjoyed and a fine family, but still feeling that something was missing. "It's always bothered me that I hadn't finished my high school edu-cation." She wasn't sure she wanted to put up with hassles and homework, she added. "But I knew in my heart this is what I really wanted."

WHEN SHE arrived for her first day of classes at Plymouth's Starkweather Center, Deaven had clammy hands and a pounding heart. She found the courage to go into the classroom, and soon realized others there were just as apprehensive as she was.

Monteith, now 21, remembers that school wasn't really for her in her younger days.

"I know for many of us life has not been easy," she said. Monteith originally returned to school planning to get her GED, and later decided to go on for her high school diploma.

"I feel more confidence in myself," Monteith said. Both she and Deaven benefited from the help and concern of their teachers and other adult education staff members.

"They've really brought out the best in me," Monteith said.

The graduates entered the auditorium that warm Tuesday evening to the sweet sounds of "Pomp and Circumstance." They sat in the front rows of the auditorium, where they could be seen by proud friends and family members.

The graduates, wearing red or dark blue caps and gowns, crossed the stage one by one. They received their diplomas from Marilyn

A SPECIAL award was presented to John Schwartz of Canton in appreciation for his efforts supporting community education. Schwartz serves on the Canton Public Library Board and is chairman of the Canton Rotary Literacy Committee.

A scholarship from the Plymouth branch of the American Association of University Women was presented to LeeAnn Schmittou, one of the graduates.

During the ceremony, John Soave, an evening program supervisor for Plymouth-Canton Community Education, reminded the students of just how far they've come.

"You gave us your trust and your confidence," he said, adding that coming back to school as adults took courage and commitment.

"You made those sacrifices," Soave said. "You're here because you hung onto your goal. We're so proud of you and we share in your excitement."

Plentiful career opportunities exist for graduates in fields such as math, science and engineering. Students who don't major in those areas are still likely to face some requirement for math study in college.

More down-to-earth arithmetic skills are needed as well. Completing tax forms, for example, requires certain skills.

Many employees had difficulty completing their W-4 forms a while back, Carlson said.

'It seemed to be more a problem of interpretation."

THE COMING years will include greater use of calculators and computers in math instruction, he said. Teachers will need to change their teaching methods, helping students learn to think through and solve problems.

"That's quite a challenge for math teachers.

Carlson won't know for a few months yet if he'll be chosen for the Presidential Award. Awards will be given this September to one mathematics and one science teacher from each state.

Teachers receiving the $7,500 awards will be recognized for improving students' understanding of math or science. Those teachers will be honored for having a thorough grasp of their subject area and for providing professional leadership.

To be eligible, a teacher must spend half-time or more in a public or private middle school, junior high school or senior high school. A minimum of five years of teaching experience is required.

The program is managed for the National Science Foundation by the National Science Teachers Association and the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics.

Plymouth Canton High School teacher Ronald Carlson is one of six educators from Michigan nominated for the award.

He's heard from many parents, students, former students and staff members who've wished him well in his retirement.

"They don't want me to retire. They would like me to stay, but they're understanding."

Dodson, who received the school district's "Extra Miler" award in 1987-88, has nothing but praise for his colleagues and his school district.

Halboth is the third generation of his family to be a pastor at Grace Lutheran Church. His grandfather, the Rev. Victor Halboth, Sr., served as pastor at the church from 1945 until his retirement in 1971. His fa-ther, the Rev. Victor Halboth, Jr., has been pastor of church since 1957.

Timothy Paul Halboth is the fifth consecutive generation of clergy-men in the family to be on the roster of the Lutheran Church -Missouri Synod. His great, greatgrandfather served at Trinity Lutheran Church in Wyandotte in the 1860s and his great-grandfather was a pastor in Milwaukee, Wis., for 50 years.

The president of the English District of the Lutheran Church -Missouri Synod, the Rev. Dr. Roger Pittelko will be the guest preacher at both services. His father, the Rev. Victor Halboth, Jr., will ordain his son into the ministry. The Chancel Choir and the Junior Choir of Grace Church will render special anthems, under the direction of Mary Prokopy, organist and music director of Grace Lutheran Church. There will also be special organ, trumpet and violin selections. A reception will follow each service in the fellowship hall of the church.

HALBOTH, 26, was born in De-troit and baptized at Grace Lutheran Church in Redford. He was also confirmed at the church.

He graduated from Redford Union High School in 1981. While in high school, he sang tenor in the Concert Choir, the Madrigals and also played trumpet in the marching, the concert and stage bands at the school. He traveled to Europe with the Redford Union Band in 1979

Halboth has always been active Grace Lutheran Church. He sang in the Junior Choir and then in the Chancel Choir. He served as a vacation Bible school teacher and was involved in the High School Youth Program. He also served as an Acolyte and coordinated the Acolyte schedule for several years.

During the summers of 1986 and 1987, he served as a summer Vicar at Grace Church and was in charge of the vacation Bible school, teaching adult Bible classes and assisting the pastor in other parish activities.

Halboth is a 1985 graduate of Concordia College in Ann Arbor. While in college, he was a member of the concert choir and played the trumpet in the concert and jazz bands. He graduated May 19 from Concordia Seminary in St. Louis, Mo., with a master of divinity degree

Power Road Baptist plans dedication week

The Power Road Baptist Church, 25275 Power Road, Farmington Hills, will have a church dedication week Sunday, June 18, through Sunday, June 25.

The church recently moved to Farmington Hills, but has a history going back more than 43 years. It was started by the Rev. Lewy Hanner in Detroit as The Fundamentalist Baptist Temple.

Through the years, thousands of people have attended the church. Of those, several become missionaries, pastors, music directors, youth pastors and teachers.

Recently, the church sold its Detroit building. From July 1988 through February 1989, the congregation did not have a building to meet in. They had to rent a location for awhile and even met in a Farmington park on one occasion for Sunday services.

a picnic on the church grounds. Following the picnic, Dr. Frank Holman, president of the Midwestern Baptist College in Pontiac, will speak at the dedication service. The picnic and the services are open to the public.

100-voice choir and 40-piece orchestra will present such favorites as Wilhousky's "Battle Hymn of the Republic," Lee Greenwood's "God Bless the USA," and Irving Berlin's "God Bless America." A special presentation of the flag by the local

Each day, as we watch the news and read the newspapers, we are aware of cheating and lying in the government, drug use, stealing and violence within the family. Even though we live in a land of freedom and the economy is strong, vast numbers of people are depressed or

"A danger foreseen is half avoided."

This month's column discusses common financial problems gleaned from the responses we have received from readers of this column. This departure from our normal financial profile format is part of our continuing effort to provide readers with insight into actions that can improve their financial lives. Marking the second anniversary of writing this column, we believe that by noting these common pitfalls our readership would be able to make better financial decisions.

One of the most common shortcomings we see is a lack of any financial plan whatsoever — much less one that is broad in scope and comprehensive in nature. Frequently, people will spend more time planning a two-week vacation than they will spend planning their entire financial lives. A plan can become the foundation for financial success. Without such a plan, chances for reaching financial goals are considerably diminished.

In creating a plan, financial organization is important. Readers request and are sent a data questionnaire if they are interested in being profiled in this column. Many that are returned are incomplete or inaccurate. To make good financial decisions, it is important to have an accurate picture of your current financial condition.

Another common problem is lack of clear goals. Almost everybody has both short-term financial goals and long-term goals. Most people overemphasize one or the other. They are either restricting their standard of living unnecessarily to provide for the unknowns of the future (the hoarders) or else they spend every dollar that passes through their hands, making no provision for their long-term financial security (the spendthrifts). Goals and priorities should be clearly established, and then income can be allocated accordingly to reach both short-term and long-term goals.

TO HELP develop goals, think of them in three categories: short term (under two years), medium term (two to five years), and long term (five years and longer). Then develop a financial wish list and place the items on the list into the time frames. Finally, prioritize the items on a scale of one to five.

After goals are set and a plan formulated, another common pitfall is failure to follow through with the plan established. It takes persistence to reach many long-term goals. In our society, we have become so used to the idea of immediate results we have instant tea, instant replay, instant gratification - that we have frequently lost sight of the time and patience needed to reach a meaningful goal. Although winning the lottery or receiving a significant inheritance may provide financial security for a few, most of us must build our financial futures through diligence and consistence of effort. Putting aside a moderate amount of money on a monthly basis to help save for a new car or a home is the kind of habit necessary to achieve financial goals. A second major problem area frequently mentioned is one of controlling expenditures. This is probably the single most common reason people fail to reach long-term financial goals. Note that the emphasis here is on expenditures, not on income. There are people at all income levels who are successful financially, while others at that same income level are unsuccessful financially. There is almost no limit to what one can spend. But it is how the available income is handled that determines financial success.

Most people have no real idea of where their money goes each month. Only if some dollars just happen to be left over at the end of the month is money put away for the future. Even if modest savings are achieved, frequently they are depleted when a major purchase such as a car or a vacation is made.

It is important to put away a portion of your income each month for long term — to provide for the old man or old woman you will hopefully become one day. As a general rule, 10 percent of gross income is a good target. Start modestly and build up to that target. Again, consistency is important.

A THIRD MAJOR area where oversight occurs is in the insurance coverages. Perhaps surprisingly, the most frequent shortcoming here is in long-term disability area. Many people are unsure whether they have any coverage, or mistakenly assume that their employers have provided them with this coverage. Statistically, only about one-third of employees have any long-term disability coverage, and frequently this coverage is inadequate. Coverage should provide between half and two-thirds of predisability income and should last until age 65. The monthly premium on a policy that provides a $2,000 monthly benefit for a 40-year-old would be approximately $65.

Life insurance is another frequently neglected area. Many respondents have the wrong amount of coverage. Sometimes they are overinsured,

Deciphering annual reports

If you find annual reports baffling, you're not alone. People try to read them the way they read a book or magazine — and that's a mistake.

made or lost during the period reported.

The income statement matches the amount the company received from selling its goods and other items of income against all the costs of operating the company. The difference between the two figures is the net income or net profit - the proverbial bottom line. This number represents the amount available to pay shareholder dividends or to be reinvested in the company. Search the income statement for extraordinary items that don't recur each year, such as a large tax credit or the sale of a subsidiary. Keep in mind that such an isolated event may distort the current year's profit statement

Annual reports are reference works, according to the Farmington Hillsbased Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants.

You don't read the dictionary the way you read Dickens, and you don't approach an annual report the way you do People magazine.

When you are considering an investment or looking for a job, annual reports can be a valuable source of information if you know how to read between the lines. The first section of an annual report usually contains the chief executive's letter to shareholders and management's discussion of the company's condition. The letter generally highlights the company's financial data, summarizes the year's events and describes the company's goals for the future. While the letter to shareholders makes every attempt to put the company's best foot forward, a good letter will point out both the firm's weaknesses as well as its strengths.

To test a chief executive's credibility and gauge past management predictions, review the annual reports of the past few years. Compare projections made in previous years with subsequent results. How did the CEO's promise to increase company earnings fare? Were research and development projects completed on schedule and within the budget outlines by the chief executive?

If read carefully, the section called "Management's Discussion and Analysis" can provide valuable insight into a company's financial condition and operations. Generally, this section includes information about the company's liquidity, capital resources and operational results.

FOR MANY readers, the biggest mystery of annual reports is the financial statement - also called the "numbers" section. The core of the financial section consists of a balance sheet and an income statement. The balance sheet shows where the company stood as of a particular date and should be viewed as a snapshot rather than a moving picture. The balance sheet describes what the company owns (its assets) as well as what it owes (its liabilities). The difference between these two figures is the company's net worth or shareholder's equity.

While the balance sheet reveals the company's book value, the income statement measures the firm's earnings, costs and profitability. Income statements are also called profit and loss statements, operating statements or income and expense statements. Whatever its name, the purpose is always the same — to detail how much money the company SOME EXPERTS suggest that the fastest way to evaluate a company's financial statement is by reviewing the auditor's opinion, which appears near the end of most annual reports. An independent auditor issues an opinion on the financial statements provided by the company's management. The auditor's primary responsibility is to provide the public with reasonable assurance that the company's financial statements and the related disclosures conform with generally accepted accounting practices.

Last year, the Auditing Standards Board of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants approved nine new statements on auditing standards. As a result, auditors will now have the increased responsibility for detecting and reporting fraud or illegal acts, for evaluating the system of internal control and for considering and disclosing doubts about a company's ability to continue in existence.

Another useful tool in ferreting out important information is the footnote section, usually found at the end of the annual report. If the footnote section is long, read all the items with special care. Footnotes generally serve one of two purposes — either they explain the company's accounting policies or they provide critical disclosures. The condition of the company's pension plan, heavy use of tax benefits, plans to sell a subsidiary or pending lawsuits are all examples of the type of information tucked into footnotes.

If you need to analyze financial statements for investment purposes, CPAs advise you to consult an expert for help in understanding the facts behind the figures.

ADVANCED ONE TAKES OVER

To perform properly, the human body depends upon several systems. If just one of them develops a problem, it affects the entire body. Which is why we developed another, highly advanced system—Metro Medical Group.

Metro Medical Group is a system of nine medical centers, including a specialty center for rehabilitation and sports medicine. And Metro Medical Group centers accept most insurance and health care plans, including Health Alliance Plan.

The next time one of your systems needs attention, make an appointment with our system.

We have also found that auto and uners coverages frequently indequate liability coverage sufficient property coverage. Especially as assets grow, one be-comes a more attractive target for any lawsuit. Often an umbrella lia-bility polley that neutronic line. ity policy that provides up to $1 Wien of liability coverage is a desirable additional coverage that will cost $15-$150 per year.

All too often, property values have increased while coverages have re-mained the same. This results in substantial under-insurance and exposure to substantial unrecoverable es. That's why it's important to regularly review coverage or to purchase policies that have an inflation guard built into them.

A FOURTH MAJOR problem area is the bandling of investments. Is creating an investment program, the single most important factor is to establish that regular savings hab-it. "Pay yourself first" is an oft-re-restablish that regular savings hab-it. nents.

te - Pay journell in the construction of advice. Many individuals we see have a poor balance in their portfolio. As their assets grow, they should avoid concentrating the majority of their assets in any one area, whether that be stocks, bank CDs, treasury bills, estate or any other single investment area. The price one pays for putting everything into "guaranteed investments" is a reduced long-term return; the price one pays for putting everything into non-guaranteed areas is increased short-term volatility and uncertainty of return. An appropriate mix and balance is a critical factor in the structure of an investment portfolio.

Occasionally, we see an undue emphasis on tax reduction as a portfolio goal. Though tax savings are one aspect of portfolio decisions, they should not be the primary motivation behind the choices made. This should be a significant consideration for those in the top tax bracket. But economic return is more important than tax savings, so it is wise to avoid letting the tail wag the dog.

Many investors are also overly concerned about short-term performance. They are constantly chas-ing last month's or last year's winners, only to be disappointed when that performance is not repeated; or perhaps they change investment positions too frequently, before an investment has had time to achieve its stated goals. Frequently, expectations are too high or unrealistic, which leads to inevitable disappointment and a lack of persistence. Invest for the long haul.

OUR FIFTH AND common problem area is in estate planning. Perhaps it is natural to want to avoid thoughts of death and dying. But that is no excuse for avoiding the subject entirely. Good estate planning will simplify the handling of your affairs when you are no longer able to do so, reduce " taxes and administrative costs, and it will give you greater control over the ultimate distribution of your assets.

All too often people don't even have a simple will. Thus, even the most basic estate planning decisions are left to the inflexible rules of the state intestacy laws.

Although a will is sufficient in many cases, often it is desirable to add trust arrangements to your estate planning. Trusts can accomplish a number of objectives that cannot be incorporated into a simple will. Candidates for a trust could be people with minor children or the elderly who may worry about their ability to handle their finances as they advance in years. Those with estates of more than $600,000 should also consider setting up trusts.

Beneficiary designations on insurance policies and qualified retirement plans need to be updated periodically. These should be reviewed living wills are frequently used es-tate planning documents that pro-vide for incompetency or serious medical problems. All of these estate planning tools are legal docu-ments that should be created and reviewed with an attorney specializing in estate planning.

Many of the suggestions made in this article can be accomplished without assistance. Other areas, especially as a financial picture becomes more complex, require substantial assistance from specialists. Determine a course of action and decide what areas can be tackled yourself. If assistance is needed, it is usually well worth the cost to get expert advice. The cost of failure to follow through in any of these areas is far greater over the long term.

The regular Family Finances format will return next month when Dan Boyce and Alan Ferrara will review financial data and make general recommendaafter any change in cirumstances. Durable powers of attorney and resources and goals. The infor-

2-day conference will examine the Reagan legacy

The eight years of the Reagan Ad-ministration were characterized by mic growth, a decline in unemment, a reduction in inflation and a generally healthy economy. Is this apparent success due to what George Bush in 1980 referred to as "Voo-Doo Economics" or what Reagan called the miracle of Sup-ply-Side Economics? During the Reagan Administration

During the Reagan Administration the federal budget deficit reached an all-time high as did the U.S. trade deficit. In the last eight years the na-licent debt increased more than it did during the previous 200 years, and the U.S. became the world's largest debtor.

CLEARLY, THE Reagan economlogacy is one of accomplishments a anomalies. Consequently, it is peropriate to undertake an exami-tion of the entire scope of economic policies that characterized the Reagan years.

Fortunately, an outstanding conference has been organized that plans to do just that. This conference, to be held June 30 and July 1 at Oakland University, will feature personalities such as Martha Seger, member Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, Thomas Moore, Hoover Institution and former member of the Reagan Council of Economic Advisors, Kenneth Lehn, chief economist, Securities and Exchange Commission, Don Fullerton of the National Bureau of Economic Research, and Craig S. Hakkio of the Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City.

WHEN YOU poked the tiny TV on the demonstration car, it responded by showing a road map with a trian-gle that indicated the present loca-tion of your car. Then another poke, and stored information on local hotels would come on.

Another poke and information appeared such as room rates, the quality of the roast beef, etc.

Likewise for restaurants and other travelers' amenities. The car also was equipped with a cellular tele-phone, which could be activated by poking a sign called "Westin," for in-stance, and it would dial automatically. Not content with dial-a-poke, the car also could be voice-trained to recognize the driver's command, so you could just grunt "Westin," for instance, and get the reservation desk.

Unfortunately, this leads to the possibility of your family dog getting hold of the system, bark-training the voice recognition system and book-ing himself into a luxury suite, but that's something GM will have to work on in the future.

THE TINY TV also keeps business records, information that can be downloaded from a central office computer through the telephone into your car's computer.

The demonstration included minibiographies and telephone numbers the armrest, the CD player, the over-head microphone for the hands-off cellular telephone, etc. At which point it dawned on me that GM had created the potential for a centric unbeauting in the stars for a genuine upheaval in the way we do business. While this thing might have started out as a way to get things done while stuck in traffic on the way to the office, it clearly presented the option of never getting to the office at all.

how do you go about meeting some-body in his or her office? Instead of body in his or her office? Instead of those crowds of sales reps at GM purchasing, we could have streams of cars chasing important people down the freeway, calling each other on their cellular telephones, faxing memoes and poking at the TV persons for the part drive, or screens for the next drive-in up ahead so that they can do lunch. problems with speaking before thinking - or listening. According to Johnson, a good lis-tener adjusts to emotionally laden words. This suggestion represents the fourth point in the eight-step pro-cess of developing successful listening skills.

As we listen to another speak, there are certain words that trigger emotions. These words can cause a person to stop listening and focus on a bad or good experience. Examples include usage of the words, "inflation." "administration" and "expenses," to name a few.

Because these words may conjure intense feelings, Johnson recom-mends that the listener act, rather than react to their usage from the client's point of view. By avoiding associations of your own emotions to that of the client, the listener is in a better position to find out exactly what the client's concerns are.

Along with this, remember that a good listener listens to emotions as well as to the facts. Theoretically, 20 percent of communication is strictly facts and 80 percent is emotion.

Listening to emotions as well as facts ensures that a person will be better able to receive the entire message and respond accordingly.

A good listener hears the speaker out. Everyone dislikes being interrupted, especially when speaking may be used as a means to think aloud before a decision is reached. By waiting until the other person is finished speaking, the listener is in a better position to respond to what points have been made.

A good listener prepares for a conversation. By having an outline of previous conversations, relevant notes or other material, information may then be gathered through a logical and flowing framework for ready referral.

This not only gives the listener a good idea of other questions to ask that may not have been previously covered but builds on the rapport that has been developed up to that time.

Finally, a good listener adjusts thought speed to speech speed. We speak at approximately 200 words per minute and think four times as

A poor listener drifts off and easily becomes distracted. Rather than letting this happen, Johnson suggests mentally summarizing what the cli-ent has said, anticipate what he or she may say next, and keep track of the main points that have been made.

Being a good listener takes work and practice as does the ability to listen, think and then speak. For a copy of Johnson's listening skills self test, call MarkeTrends at 474-1149."

Ford will expand facility

Ford Motor Co. will spend $97 million during the next four years to expand and renovate its scientific research laboratories in Dearborn.

A 125,000-square-foot addition will provide space for research in response to environmental needs, consolidation of engineering activities from other buildings, and a joint project between Ford's Electronics Division and the integrated circuit laboratory. This addition will be built in front of the existing facility and linked to , it by a 40-foot-wide atrium. The new building will house all the laboratories for chemistry, physics and metallurgy.

Ground breaking for the new wing is expected to begin at the end of the year. Renovation of the existing facilities will be phased over several years, with 1994 targeted for project completion.

If You're In The Market For A Home Equity Loan, Take A Few Notes.

The renovation and expansion will allow Ford scientists and engineers to develop research programs that respond to the company's need to meet potential federal and state regulatory requirements brought about by environmental concerns.

Major new environmental programs planned include:

• The development of advanced, lightweight materials for body structural components to help achieve greater fuel efficiency in the 1990s.

• The exploration of innovative concepts for recycling of plastics and fiber-reinforced composites.

• The establishment of an interindustry cooperative program to develop processes for recycling paint sludges and other manufacturing wastes.

The renovations "will accommodate the substantial changes that have 'taken place in the focus of Ford's research and engineering ef-fort during the past three decades," paid John P. McTague, Ford vice president - Research.

"The present facilities, constructed in 1957, were designed during a relatively static time in the industry - long before issues such as CAFE and emissions were national concerns, and before the invention of the integrated circuit made use of computers widespread."

Emissions, electronics, simulations, catalysis and supporting activities today make up approximately two-thirds of the company's research efforts, he said.

The Scientific Research Laboratories, in the Research and Engineering Center in Dearborn, house Research Staff and the vehicle concepts and powertrain engineering of-fices of Engineering and Manufacturing Staff. Approximately 750 people are employed there. The men and women of the Scien-tific Research Laboratories serve Ford's worldwide operations by their advanced studies of powertrain concepts, electronic and manufacturing systems, materials and design analyphysical and che

23 Michigan firms honored for growth

Twenty-three Michigan companies were honored Tuesday, June 13, for creating jobs and contributing to the economic vitality of the Great Lakes state at a dinner hosted by Michael J.¹⁷ Brenner, managing partner of Coopers & Lybrand's Detroit office, and William Stapleton, area vice esident of AT&T.

Honorees were named to the Inc. 500 list of fastest growing private companies in the U.S.

The common bond among these companies lies in their exceedingly fast growth. Michigan Inc. 500 had combined gross sales 1987 of $187,394,000. This was an increase of 1,539 percent during the preceding five-year period. Robert B. Reich, author of Tales of a New America, as quoted in Inc. magazine, said, "Growth in the in-Junia, New Jersey - is up. This is part and parcel of a resurgence of American manufacturing, and may be the harbinger of a renaissance in industrial America." To be included in the Inc. 500 list, a company must have been independent and privately held on Aug. 1, 1988, the day applications were due to Inc. magazine. The 1988 rankings are based on the percentage in-crease in sales from 1983 through 1987. Each company must have shown an increase in sales between 1986 and 1987, and its sales in 1983 should have been no less than $100,000 but not more than $25 million. Holding companies, regulated banks and utilities were not eligible. Coopers & Lybrand and AT&T are co-sponsors of the national Inc. 500 conference.

1988 Michigan Inc. 500 winners included:

'Junk' bonds are always risky

I am hearing a lot of talk about unk bonds. Many of my friends who have been successful investors seem to be buying them. They don't usualty buy junk. Would you five me a little information about them?

The June issue of Better Investing magazine carries a story on junk bonds by Leonard Beiser, which you should find interesting. Reiser defines those bonds as risky bonds that pay a high interest rate. The are usually issued by companies whose credit ratings are below investment grade. For your information ,that is a very large number of corporations, since less than four percent of all U.S. corporations have investmentgrade credit ratings.

THE DEFAULT rate of less-thaninvestment-grade corporations is not large. Ithas been just 1.2-1.5 percent. However, in recent years the humber of these bonds has risen exposively. In 1948, there were just $2 billion of these bonds; in 1986, the total was $180 billion. Such bonds are now estimated to be as much as 20 percent of the debt issued by approximately 1,000 corporations.

A large amount of these bonds have been issued in connection with corporate takeovers and restructurings. The extra risk comes from at least two areas. One is the less-than-investemntgrade quality of the issuer.

THE SECOND is the fact that in most cases they represent a sizable increase in the debt of the issuing corporation. The volume of debt makes the corporation much more subject to getting into trouble if there is a slight downturn in business

It is not likely every corporation

In the mid 1990s, these bonds will start to come due. It will be interesting at that time to see how many holders will receive cash and how many will be asked to take another piece of paper.

Hot ticket Ticketmaster makes its move to bigger quarters

By Cathle Breidenbach special writer

ITH THE PISTONS basking in their championship season, Grand Prix cars priming for this weekend's race and a sizzling lineup of entertainers heading for Michigan this summer, selling tickets is big business.

Ticketmaster, the only computerized ticketing company in Michigan, recently moved to larger quarters in Bingham Farms and hired additional staff to handle its growing business. The Los Angeles-based company, which services more than 100 cities nationally, brought in Jeff Kline as new general manager to run the Michigan office now in the Bingham Office Park on Telegraph Road.

The 26-year-old Kline, who lives nearby, headed Ticketmaster's Colorado office before he came to Michlgan full-time in March to oversee the new headquarters. Since his arrival, he has introduced a ticket method using wrist bands, to make buying tickets safer and more orderly and to eliminate "camping out."

Giving reasons for the new plan, Kline said, "Parents don't want to worry about their kids waiting overnight to get concert tickets, and Ticketmaster outlets won't tolerate camping out and the problems that come with it."

TICKETMASTER SELLS tickets for an impressive list of clients including Pine Knob, Meadow Brook Music Festival, Cobo Hall, Pontiac Silverdome, Joe Louis Arena, Palace of Auburn Hills, Fisher Theatre, Detroit Lions, Detroit Tigers, Detroit Pistons, Kellogg Arena, Detroit Symphony Orchestra, Boblo Island, Detroit Symphony Orchestra, Detroit Science Center, Ford Auditorium, Royal Oak Music Theatre, Shrine Circus, Ringling Brothers Barnum and Bailey Circus, and 'When tickets for the Who went on sale several weeks ago, each outlet had 500 consecutively numbered wrist bands to distribute.'

- Jeff Kline

Grand Prix, as well as numerous nightclubs.

Consumers who want tickets to any of hundreds of events around Michigan have three options. They can make a special trip to buy advance tickets at the box office where the event will take place. they can buy tickets at one of the 70 Ticketmaster outlets which include Harmony House and Hudson's as well as numerous independent stores, or they can call Ticketmaster direct at 645-6666 to charge tickets over the phone using Visa or MasterCard.

The service charge Ticketmaster adds to ticket prices corresponds to the convenience of the ordering method and depends in part on the event. Ticketmaster keeps service charges for family shows lower than for musical events.

Customers who order by phone pay the highest service charge, $1.50-$3.50 per ticket because phone ordering is the ultimate convenience. Those who buy tickets at the outlet store near their home or business pay a bit less in service charges - between $1-$2.50.

Kline said Ticketmaster expanded its office facilities and staff to better serve customers. The office's enlarged phone center includes a training room where new operators practice for a week before going on the floor. Approximately 90 operators on different shifts answer calls 365 days a year, seven days a week - from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Mondays-Saturdays and from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sundays.

A NEW PHONE center coordinator on staff monitors each operator's efficiency and keeps records of how long customers remain on the line before they are served, as well as the number of calls received and what percentage of callers are ordering tickets and calling for information. Nationally five out of six callers ask for information on upcoming events and one out of six places an order.

Credit cards account for a large percentage of Ticketmaster's business. Fred Rosen, chairman of the board for the national company, said Ticketmaster "has ways of protecting customers and itself from credit card fraud." He declined to go into detail because he says, to remain effective, these methods can't become public knowledge.

He added that the Michigan office currently sells 70 percent of its tickets at outlet stores and 30 percent over the phone. The national norm is 60 percent at outlets and 40 per cent over the phone, and Rosen expects Michigan will evolve to the national pattern.

Ticketmaster introduced wrist bands to Michigan after the method STEPHEN CANTRELL/staff photographer debuted successfully in New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, and Denver. Kline said wrist bands avoid "camping out," which people once did to hold their place in line waiting for tickets to go on sale.

Kline said, "When tickets for the Who went on sale several weeks ago, each outlet had 500 consecutively numbered wrist bands to distribute," to those who wanted to buy tickets. After wristbands had been given out, Ticketmaster drew a number and the person wearing the wristband with the chosen numer was the first allowed to buy tickets.

the event were sold in numerical ofder, beginning with the number drawn. When customers returned to the outlet store to pick up ticking, their place in line was astrond by their wrist band number. Kline sold that by eliminating long waits and "camp outs," the wrist band system is safer and more convenient. "It also cuts down on the potential for scalping because people can't pay others to wait in line for them."

The self-sufficient office employs 150 people including computer oper-ators, programmers and repair technicians who keep the computers - the queen bees of the complex - thriving. Ninety phone operators on var-ied shifts handle phone orders, and promotions and marketing personnel publicize what is coming to town, to increase ticket sales for concerts, plays and sports events.

Every month, Ticketmaster publishes the Michigan Guide featuring upcoming entertainment and events. The small guide is jam-packed with information on hundreds of events, such as closed-circuit TV coverage of the recent Leonard-Hearns fight or Bob Dylan's appearances Wednes-day-Thursday, July S-6, at Meadow Brook Music Festival.

THE MICHIGAN Guide is distrib uted at all outlet stores, mailed along with tickets ordered by phone, and sent to subscribers who pay to have the guide mailed to their homes ses. Subscribers receive or busin special coupons and incentive programs.

Kline said Ticketmaster differs from other ticketing companies because it pitches in to help with mar-keiing. Last week the company's notions staff arranged to have a Kline pointed out that Ticketmas ter is not involved with booking which acts come to town - the company simply sells tickets and helps promote events. Yes, he has met a few celebrities, as a Ticketmaster general manager, but he doesn't hob-nob with the stars.

The Denver native studied political science as an undergraduate and always thought he wanted to be a lawyer like his father and eventually a politician, or else a professional comedian. He has always delighted in comedy, "loves to be in the public eye" and frequents comedy clubs.

One week in law school was enough to squelch his lawyerly ambitions, but comedy remains a highlight in his life. A Pee Wee Herman doll sprawls on a conference table in his fourth floor office, adding a light touch to the otherwise thoroughly businesslike decor. Be-fore Kline "fell into" ticket sales, he worked for the government and in advertising.

He says Detroit takes some getting used to because suburban sprawl makes getting anywhere take longer than it did in Denver. The Pistons compensate for having to adjust to a new city. Kline is "a big Pistons fan" and enjoys living in a town

MIDWEST PREMIERES

The Theatre Company will present two Midwest premieres and a Michigan premiere, along with a contemporary comedy classic and a current regional theater favorite, for its 19th season at the University of Detroit.

"Shooting Stars" by Molly Newman, a comedy written by a co-author of "Quilters," running Oct. 6-22. The play tells the story of a septet of female basketball players touring small town mid-America in 1962, playing and often beating men's teams in a style reminiscent of the Harlem Globetrotters. Another Midwest premiere runs Nov. 10-26, with Ara Watson's "A Different Moon," a study of three women coming to terms with a crisis not of their own making. "Talk Radio," directed by Mary F. Bremer, plays Jan. 26 through Feb. 10. It features David L. Regal as the call-in talk show host of "Nighttalk with Barry Champlain," on radio station WTLK in Cleveland, Ohio. The contemporary comedy classic "Rosencrantz and Guildenstern Are Dead" will be performed March 8-25, directed by Arthur J. Beer. Rosencrantz and Guildenstern are the fellow students of Hamlet, and their story is what happened behind the scenes in Shakespeare's play. "T Bone N Weasel" follows the antic adventures of two ex-convicts, one white, one black, as they make their erratic way across South Carolina in search of a hot meal or an easy mark. The Michigan premiere is directed by Yolanda Fleischer and runs April 20 through May 6. All five plays will be presented in the Earl D.A. Smith Studio Theatre on the University of Detroit campus. Subscribers can see all five plays for the price of four. For more information or to be placed on the mailing list to receive a brochure, call the Theatre

One bird — many names

Rob-Lincoln, butter-bird, Maybird, meadow-wink, reed-bird, rice-bird, skunk-bead blackbird and white-winged blackbird are all common names for the what is officially called the bobolink. But no matter what it is called, this bird brightens any walk through a meadow.

When we think of saving land, we often only think about forests that support old trees that have been around since before the first automobile. Meadows, prairies and grasslands, however, are also legitimate habitats that provide nesting areas for animals like the bobolink.

Observing bobolink and other grassland species of animals is in-creasingly difficult in southeastern Michigan. Often, these seemingly "vacant" lands are developed or used for various other purposes. Within the last five years, I know of three bobolink nesting areas that are no longer suitable for nesting

ONE AREA that several of my former students and I particularly enjoyed was a meadow carpeted with ox-eye daisy. As we walked through these white-rayed yellow orbs, we listened to what Thoreau described as "This flashing tinkling meteor bursts through the expectant meadow air, leaving a train of tinkling notes behind." A bobolink's black underparts with white stripes on the back and rump, complemented by the buttercolored nape of the neck, make it one of the most interesting of blackbirds. In combination with the tinkling of notes that pour forth from the male, as he beats his wings in shallow strokes, there are few events that are as appealing. The song is a melodious combina tion of notes that people have tried to describe with phrases such as Bobolink, bobolink; spink, spank, pink," or "Tom Noodle, Tom Noodle, you owe me, you own me ten shillings and sixpence.

NEITHER OF these descriptions can really portray the burst of ener-gy with which this bird sings.

Males travleing 5,000 miles from their wintering grounds in Brazil will have fewer places in which to sing their songs and raise their young in coming years.

The writer is a naturalist at Indpendence-Oaks Nature Center in Oakland County.

Pets of the week

Muffin, a 2-year-old female spaniel/collie mix, and Dinky, a 1½-year-old spayed female kitten, need homes. Muffin (Control No. 233109) is spayed, housebroken and good with children and cats. Dinky (Control No. 232007) is litter trained and declawed. The domestic calico is good with children and other cats. To adopt these pets or others, or to check for lost pets, call the Westland Kindness Center of the Michigan Humane Society, 721-7300. The center is at 37255 Marguette, Westland.

Class of '89 Clarenceville star wins top honor

By Steve Kowalski staff writer

Sometimes, versatility can earn a person respect.

In this case, it helped Livonia Clarenceville's Roberta Wiggle become the 1989 Observerland Trackwoman of the Year.

Wiggle isn't a member of the All-Observer first-team, but her overall excellence in several events this spring made her stand out among peers.

At the Metro Conference meet held last month, Wiggle was second in the long jump, leaping 15 feet, 41/2 inches, she won the 800-meter run in 2:27.0; and led off the 1,600 relay team that placed first in 4:16.9.

She is a three-time qualifier for the Class B meet in the 800 run and her best leap of 15-7 this spring qualified her for the state in the long jump. Wiggle's time of 15.9 in the 100-meter hurdles was the third best in Observerland.

In short, she does it all.

"She has been running very well, she has a lot of heart and works hard," Clarenceville coach Dick Davio said.

The Coach of the Year is Bruce Brown, who guided Farmington High to its first-ever Class A regional title. The Falcons also won the Western Lakes Activities Association meet

She had a real consistent year She went 34, 35 and finally 36. She steadily improved to the end.

Jessann Martin, Stevenson, discus: Martin recorded Observerland's secondbest toss of 118-1. Six times this spring. she tossed the discus at least 110 feet. Only a junior, Martin finished second in the Western Lakes Activities Association meet. Only once this spring did Martin fail to win a dual-meet discus event.

Martin was third in the Class A regional and coach Paul Holmberg expects even better results next year from Martin.

"Jessann is very dedicated to the throwing events and with continued work she should be one of the best in the state next year," Holmberg said.

Tracey Livermore, Salem, long jump: A WLAA champion, Livermore was a major reason the Rocks finished the dual-meet season at 6-2. Livermore had Observerland's best long jump, leaping 15-11.

Livermore also anchored the 1,600meter relay team and was a member of the area's second-best 400 relay group that clocked 51.7. The versatile sophomore clocked 12.88 in the 100 dash, good enough for seventh in Observerland.

"She's a great competitor, an allaround athlete," coach said. "Tracey was an important part of our team, and made great contribution to our 6-2 record and third place finish in the conference meet.

Rebecca Willey, Ladywood, high jump: Willey, a sophomore, defended her Catholic League high jump title successfully, and she finished second at the regional (5-2). Her personal best of 5-6 edged Farmington's Julie Lawton for Observerland's best jump. Willey has won every dual-meet high

Steve Timmons, member of the gold-medal winning 1988 U.S. Olympic volleyball team, visited the Observer office recently to discuss his career and the USA-USSR rematch at The Palace on Monday night.

Volleyball ambassador hypes USSR rematch

NOT EVERY DAY an Olympic gold medalist comes walking into your office. Make that a two-time Olympic gold medalist.

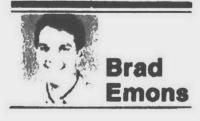

Steve Timmons certainly turned a few heads when he came strolling in recently. Many recognized the 6foot-5 redhead and his trademark, the flattop haircut. Few, however, could recite his name.

Timmons and Karch Kiraly, members of the USA team, put the sport of volleyball on the map with their awesome display of power during the 1984 and 1988 Games.

They were the home run hitters, the sultans of spike. They were Mahorn and Laimbeer, the Bad Boys of volleyball.

But even though they've gained national notoriety (Timmons once appeared on TV's David Letterman appeared on TV's David Letterman Show), the sport is still searching for nationwide identity. And there the reason why Tim-mons stopped by the Observer. He was here promoting the EDS Stars and Spikes Series, part of a live-city stop, set for Monday, June 19 at the Palace of Auburn Hills. That's when the 11 & Medicael Theorem will take on the U.S. National Team will take on the silver medalists, the Soviets, in a 7:30 p.m. start.

The 30-year-old Timmons, a native of Newport Beach, Calif. and graduate from Southern Cal, certainly has cashed in on his Olympic Gold.

A FEW of the 1988 U.S. team members have migrated to the Italian professional leagues to seek fame and fortune, making as much as $150,000 per year, but Timmons has stayed put, choosing to make it lucratively — the American way.

"The money is very good over in Italy, but not quite good enough to get me over there," he said.

Among the ventures he's currently marketing: real estate, RedSand volleyball and beachwear, underwear, a Steve Timmons-autographed optic-yellow volleyball, which has already grossed nearly $2 million in sales for Wilson

And it doesn't hurt that his future father-in-law is Dr. Jerry Buss, the multi-millionaire businessman who happens to count the Los Angeles Lakers as part of his vast empire.

But despite all his interests, Timmons manages to keep the competitive fires going, while doubling as an ambassador for the sport of volleyball.

"THIS IS A five-city tour and with a company like EDS (Electronic Data Systems) based here with some 10,000 employees, we hope they all come out for the match," Timmons said. "Without sponsors like that, it's hard for us to compete year-round and to train. You need to bring in the Russians and play them because that's definitely a team we need to see more than once a year. We need to see how we're progressing and how we match up against them." Timmons, who led the '88 U.S. squad in kills and blocks, may have gotten everything he wants out of competitive international volleyball.

COACHES: Art Petzer of Frankenmuth and Mary Lille-Cicerone of Marian will coach the Class A girls East team, Fred Thomann of Salem and Kathy McGee of Fint Powers the West squad. OTHER: There will be a girls three-point shooting contest between the 1 and 3 p.m. games, and a boys slam-dunk contest is scheduled for the intermission between the 5 and 7 p.m. games.

'I remember watching Dena Head last year. and they kept announcing her as Miss Basketball every time she did something. I thought "boy, that sure is a lot of pressure."'

> - Jennifer Shasky 1988 Miss Basketball

Wearing the numeral 1 on her jer-sey Saturday will be somewhat akin to being on Broadway and having the spotlight directly on Jennifer

In the keeping with tradition in the annual coaches all-star basketball game, the Birmingham Marian star will wear No. 1 to signify her status as Miss Basketball.

Shasky, Michelle Fortier of Plymouth Canton and Dawn Brooks of Rochester will represent the East in the Class A girls game at 3 p.m. in Bowen Field House on the Eastern Michigan University campus. Plymouth Salem's Jill Estey will play for the West.

While the special treatment for Miss Baksetball is meant to be a high honor and carries a lot of prestige, there is one drawback, however.

"I remember watching Dena Head last year, and they kept announcing her as Miss Basketball every time she did something," Shasky said. "I thought 'boy, that sure is a lot of pressure.'

SHASKY. WHO led Marian to the Class A title and will attend George Washington University in the fall, had no idea then she would be the one in that position this year. Though she admits to being anxious about it, the weighty expectations can inspire a player, too. "All the past Miss Basketballs have gone on and done well, and I feel I have to play well every time," Shasky said. "Otherwise, people will question why I was chosen

"I'll just try to do my best and not think about it. I'm just going out to have fun."

That's the same advice Fred Thomann, who coached Head at Salem and will be on the opposite bench Saturday directing the West squad, has for her.

"I'd just tell her to play hard," he said. "If you try to create something that's not there, you're asking for trouble. It's not a game you should put on any added pressure.

'It's a showcase time. We bring the best players together, try to develop a fast-paced game and let them exhibit their skills. Everybody tries hard to win, but it's more important that the good players have a SHASKY'S HIGH school coach, Mary Lillie-Cicerone, who will assist Art Pelzer of Frankenmuth on the East bench, thinks her star pupil will do just that. Teams are required to play man-to-man defense, and Lillie-Cicerone doesn't believe Shasky can be stopped by one player. "If she can handle the pressure, I think she'll do alright," she said. "Every time she touches the ball it will be Miss Basketball, Miss Basketball, and others who were in the running for the award will want to outshine her.

"She's improved her strength and her shot since the end of the season, and she's more of a threat from the 3-point line than she has ever been." Shasky, who averaged 21 points and 81/2 rebounds while leading the Mustangs to a 26-1 record last season, went the farthest of any Michigan high school player in recent tryouts for the U.S. Olympic Festival, getting as far as the second-tolast cut.

Shasky, Fortier, Estey and Dana Filzek of East Detroit also are members of the AAU team coached by Thomann that won the state championship and will compete in the national tournament June 28 to July 6 in Charleston, W.Va.

For the all-star game, Estey and Thomann will represent the opposition and vice versa, but a quality game with high-level players will be a good experience for all, according to Thomann.

"Near the end of the (school) year there aren't a lot of opportunities to practice," he said, citing tournaments in other sports, graduation, banquets and honors ceremonies, etc.

FOR ESTEY and Fortier - who became teammates after being rivals throughout their high school playings day - the all-star game will be a temporary return to their former status.

"It's like going back to old times," said Estey, who will attend the Unviersity of Illinois on a basketball

He will be 33 by the time 1992 Games roll around around in Barcelona Spain

He contemplates retirement, but eyes on one last Olympic harrah, a-la Kareem Abdul-Jabbar.

"You have to consider the travel schedule and being out of the country so much," he said. "Personally I've accomplished quite a bit, and it might be time for a change.

"Right now I'm not sure. I'm undecided. After this tour I'll see. I don't know anybody that's played that long. Physically I think I could do it, but mentally I'm not sure.

ALTHOUGH FOUR starters continue to play for the touring USA team, a changing of the guard is expected by '92, according to Timmons.

"We have a good influx of college talent," he said. "You see the difference in the high school kids, many are using the jump serves. The exposure on TV and the tours are really great for it."

Timmons admits volleyball remains primarily a West Coast sport with 'pockets" of interest in such places as Phoenix and Minneapolis.

Pro beach volleyball, which Timmons dabbies in, has capitalized from some recent cable television exposure.

But despite greater interest in the sport, Timmons believes the number of Olympic-caliber players available is this country is small.

"That really says something for our accomplishment of winning two gold medals with the talent pool that we have," he said. "There maybe could have been 30 players from our country who could have played for any of the 12 countries during the past Olympics. That's it."

Timmons could have played basketball. He was an all-state junior college player in California, but he decided to concentrate on volleyball.

PART OF TIMMONS' lore is that he once defeated former Laker Kurt Rambis in a game of one-on-one after being whipped soundly in their first encounter.

Never backing down from a challenge, Timmons was confronted again upon leaving our office.

With Brian Muir, the Stars and Spikes Tour public relations representative from International Management Group in Denver, as a witness to a friendly wager, Timmons promised to wear a Pistons "Bad Boys" T-shirt during the warmups of the upcoming Soviet match, contingent upon Detroit beating the Lakers in the NBA series.

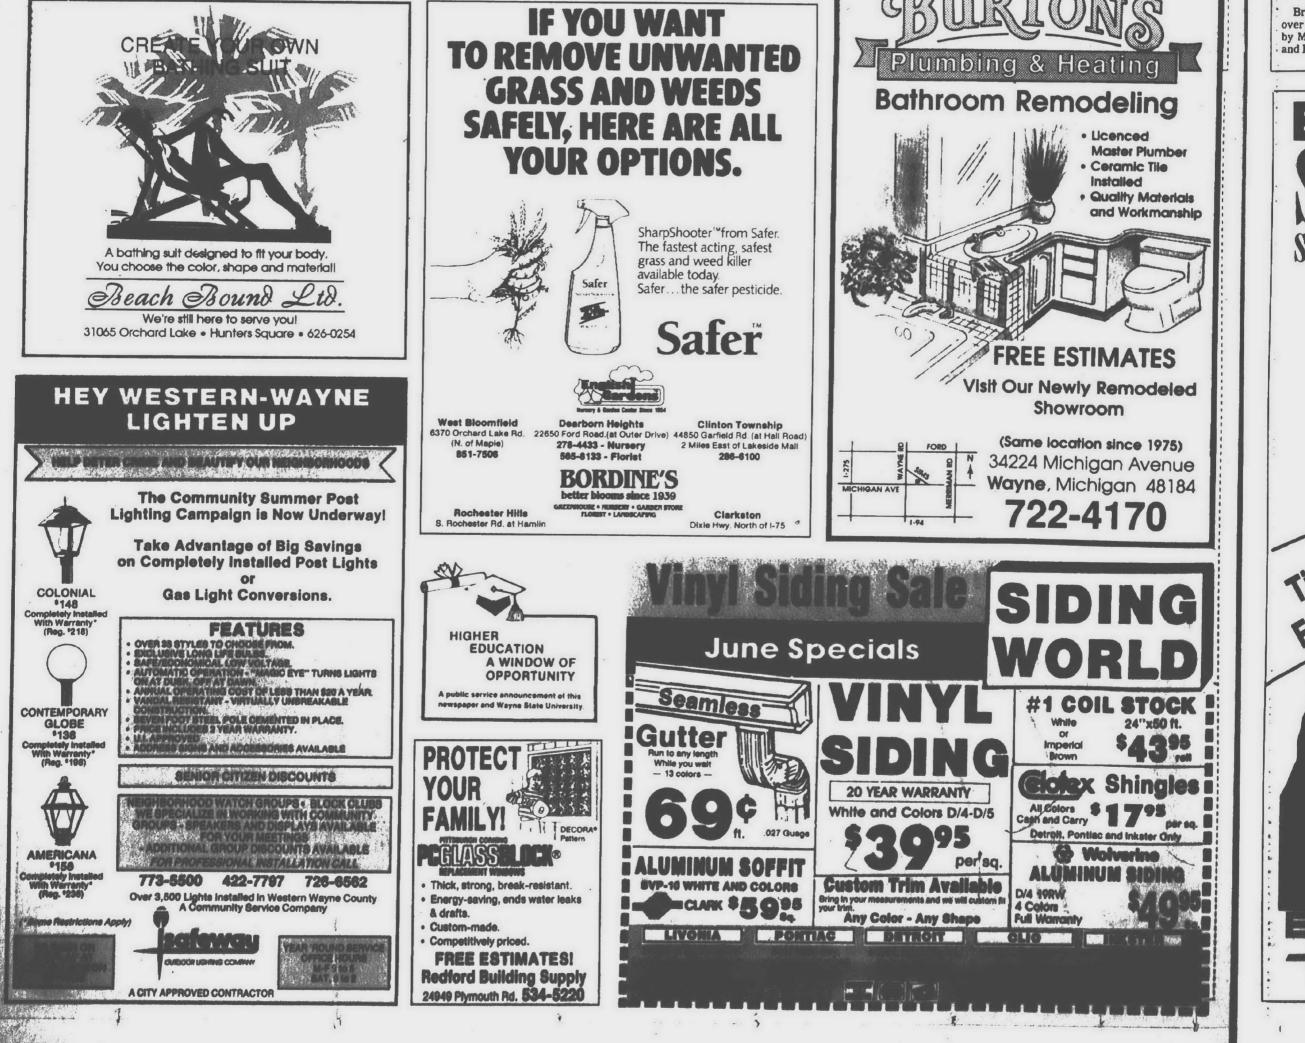

If LA prevails, members of our sports staff will attend the volleyball match donning Lakers "Threepeat" shirts.

Of course, Timmons could get off the hook if the Pistons-Lakers go to a seventh and deciding game. That comes one day after the Stars and Spikes match.

But then again, it's not every day when you can take on an Olympic Gold medalist in a game of one-on-one - in your own office.

Tickets for the USA-Soviet men's volleyball match, 7:30 p.m. Monday, June 19 at the Palace, are now on sale at the Palace Box Office, all Ticketmaster outlets, Hudson's, select AAA and Great Stuff outlets. Prices are $20, $17.50, $13.50 and $10.

Craig Murray had been nothing less than Superman when pitching for Farmington Hills Harrison this year

Therefore, it took some extraordinary circumstances for Harper Woods Bishop Gallagher to circumvent the hard-throwing senior and defeat the Hawks 7-4 in tournament play Saturday.

During a scary moment early in the regional game at Allen Park, opposing pitcher Troy Wilcox smashed a line drive that caromed off Murray's right knee, knocking the Harrison ace to the ground and out of the game.

Murray, amazingly, returned later in that third inning and finished the game with a credible performance, but the freak occurrence was just enough kryptonite for the Lancers to gain the advantage.

The Hawks, who finish with a 20-6 record, were leading 2-0 at the time, and Murray was in command of the contest. After he left, Gallagher scored six runs in the inning off loser Jason Lichtman and later Murray.

"IT WAS AN unbelievable thing," Harrison coach John Herrington said. "You never anticipate something like that.

"It wasn't just that. It disrupted our defense. We had to switch guys around, and we kinda fell apart for a while."

When Murray got hurt, Herrington was left without an experienced shortstop. Lichtman went to the mound from that position, and Murray is the regular shortstop when he's not pitching. Steve Ellison, the usual backup, was taking a college entrance exam, and Dave Najarian had to move from second base as the replacement.

Craiger stays atop standings

Craiger of the Canton Babe Ruth League improved its league-leading baseball record to 4-1, winning two of three games played last week.

The week included an 8-3 win over Twist 'N Shake, as Craiger got 5³/₂ innings of relief work from Sammy DiPrima. DiPrima surrendered only three hits and struck out six.

Mitch MacDonald had three hits and Steve Leiger hit safely twice with two RBI for the winners. Twist 'N Shake's George Young went 2-for-4.

The Canton-based team also had an easy time against the Grosse Pointe Dodgers, winning 6-2 behind the six-hit pitching of Chris Tomas. Leiger continued his strong hitting, recording two hits and three RBI. Kevin Goff and Scott Kapla each went 2-for-4 with one RBI.

The Dry Clean Co. remained in second place at 3-2 with victories over the Grosse Pointe Farms Tigers and Grosse Pointe Farms Dodgers.

Marc Pennebaker and Scott Bailey had two hits each, and Kurt Singleton struck out nine batters in five innings, leading Dry Clean Co. to a 5-4 win over the Tigers

The Dry Clean Co. beat the Dodgers 5-3 with the win going to Brett Romack, who allowed only three hits and fanned five in five innings. Pat Adams had three RBI.

The Dairy Junction Express is 2-3 and in third place, with both of its wins coming last week over The Dry Clean Co. and the Grosse Pointe Farms Red Sox, respectively.

Brian Spears and Chris Kitchen each had big efforts in the 6-5 win over the Dry Clean Co., collecting three hits apiece. The Junction's Shelby Mills went 4-for-4 with four RBI against the Red Sox, and Eric Kida and Bradley Paskievitch pitched five innings of relief to save the 6-5 win.

'My stomach just kinda fell out,' said Herrington of his reaction when Murray was hit. "When I found out we had to put Lichtman in and didn't have another shortstop I felt even worse

"They hit the ball, too, but it just broke our concentration," he added. When play resumed, Lichtman pitched to four batters without getting an out. Marty Vetrano's single loaded the bases, and the Lancers scored their first run on a fielder's choice that didn't get anybody out. Mike Julien's single tied it, and John Czech made it 4-2 with a two-run sin-

Murray returned at that point and gave up a walk and two hits, including a two-run single to Joe DiMarco. A forceout at the plate and two strikeouts finally got Harrison out of the nightmarish inning.

The Lancers had six of their eight hits in the third inning, but three were infield hits and two barely made it to the outfield.

"THAT WAS the turning point of the game," Gallagher coach Tom Trompics said. The Lancers, 19-13, won the regional later Saturday by beating Southgate Aquinas.

"It's just like Magic Johnson (getting hurt in the NBA finals). Did we beat them because we're better or because they didn't have their best player?

"It was something I had no control over," he added. "It's part of the game. You take advantage of what you can get. I hate to see anybody get hurt, but it was the turning point. He was throwing well."

Murray, who finished with a 9-1 record, pitched well when he returned, considering most people figured he was done for the day. He pitched scoreless innings in the fifth and sixth and gave up an RBI single to DiMarco, the only Gallagher player with two hits, in the seventh.

Despite striking out nine, Murray, who walked seven while pitching a five-hitter, said he wasn't the same pitcher after the injury.

"I couldn't throw the fastball; I was throwing mostly curves," he said. "I couldn't push off with the leg and I was wild."

Murray said he didn't think he'd be back either, but when the Lancers began to rally the flow of adrenaline helped him forget about the pain in his knee.

'IT HURT BUT they started scoring, and I didn't want to lose," he said

The Hawks, who also had eight hits - all off Wilcox, got an RBI single from Rob MacDonald in the first inning, and Jon Schaeffer raced home on a passed ball in the top of the third for a 2-0 lead. After Gallagher went ahead, Harrison scratched out single runs in the next two innings, closing to within two, 6-4. Dan Justice knocked in a run with a single, and MacDonald made the dash from third base on another passed ball. For the game. Justice and MacDonald were 2-for-4.

A strong wind blowing in from left-center field didn't help the Hawks in their deficit situation. Late-inning flyballs by Tim Horton, MacDonald and Jeff Skinner that might have otherwise have fallen or been out of the park were caught.

ton said, "and with Murray pitching that's always been enough. It was just that unfortunate second inning." Since the Hawks were winning and Murray looked strong at the time of the mishap, Harrison can only speculate about what might have been had Murray continued uninterrupted.

"As it was, they only got one run off Murray," Herrington said. "It could have been the difference, but we'll never know for sure.

"I GIVE CRAIG a lot of credit for pitching after that. He didn't have his velocity and his knee was stiff, but he still gutted it out and shut them down.

"I thought he was done for sure, but you get this far and you want to play," he added.

Murray was a little more certain about the outcome had he and the Hawks been able to stay on course.

"I think we would have won, because they weren't hitting the ball." he said. "I didn't think they were that good of a hitting team."

Milford, CC meet in semis

taff writer

40(P,C)

Mike Shearer has found his niche in Milford, but the long-time Livonia Clarenceville coach might as well be in heaven.

Shearer languished for 13 seasons at Clarenceville, reaching only one district baseball final.

But in his first year as the Milford coach, he finds himself in the Class A semifinals, facing Redford Catholic Central in a curious 9 a.m. start Friday at Lansing's Municipal Park.

It was only a year ago that Shearer took a year's leave to become the head football coach at Milford.

Taking the job on a contingency basis, Shearer got the break he was looking for when a teaching position opened in his certified field, health and physical education. The move became permanent.

Shearer was also named head baseball coach and he couldn't be happier, leading the Redskins to a 22-11 mark.

"IT'S JUST A great place to teach and coach," said Shearer, who lives in Brighton. "Milford has a good youth system. They play a lot of baseball in the area. You also have outstanding backing from the parents"

Milford and CC (25-9) have shared similar experiences this season. Each team has caught fire during the single-elimination tournament.

Both teams struggled during the league season, particularly in league play.

The Redskins finished fourth at 5-7 in the seven-school Kensington Valley Conference.

But Shearer calls the KVC "real tough."

'We're playing a little bit better. but we really haven't done anything different during the tournament," said the first-year Milford coach. "I'd say the pitching we've faced in our league is much tougher than what we faced outside the league.

"It's an excellent league, but as everybody knows it takes some breaks to get this far."

MILFORD upended Grand Haven and Lansing Sexton in last week's regional after defeating Belleville, South Lyon and Lakeland in the districts.

CC can also point to a tough Catholic League Central Division schedule for its post-season success. The Shamrocks finished tied for third with Harper Woods Bishop Gallagher at 12-8.

Two other Central Division clubs are still alive in the state tournament, including Harper Woods Notre Dame (27-?), which faces Saginaw

Heritage (21-9) in the other 'A' semi-final at 11:30 a.m. Friday; and Gallagher (17-13), which takes on Spring Lake in one of the Class B semifinals

CC and Milford will each start left-handers on the mound Friday.

The Shamrocks will rely on senior Leo Hutchinson, who is 15-2 this season and 30-10 over his four-year varsity career.

'He's pitched 106 innings this season and that worries me a little," said CC coach John Salter, who guided the Shamrocks to a state crown in 1987. "But during the last three weeks Leo has had a week off in between starts and the rest should help.

HUTCHINSON, who recently signed a national letter-of-intent with Eastern Michigan, has become the long-awaited ace of the CC pitching staff.

"It was his senior year and I think he got more serious about playing," Salter said. "He started thinking about college and he's become more mature.'

Meanwhile, the Redskins counter with senior Matt Carter, who pitched 10 innings in last week's regional, allowing only one run.

Milford can also go to junior righthander John Finley, who is hitting .426 as a designated hitter; and sophomore right-hander Greg Petru, who also plays second and is hitting .300.

Behind Hutchinson on the CC staff is right-hander Keith Bozyk (5-5), who pitched a complete game in last week's regional final against previously unbeaten Taylor Center.

"When we won the state (title) two years ago, we had the horses right from the start," Salter said. "Everybody thought we'd be good. We had more depth on the pitching staff two years ago, but this year we've relied primarily on Hutchinson."

SOLID DEFENSE has also turned around the fortunes of both clubs during the tournament.

"The last four games we have not made an error," Shearer said.

CC's defense has also improved as Salter has settled on senior Tom Hill at shortstop and junior Mark Clary at second base to comprise his double-play combination. "Moving Hill to short from third has helped us," Salter said. "Hill is playing with a lot of confidence. We tried Chris Johnston at short, but we moved him to the outfield along with Paul Pirronello. That's probably where they belonged all along. Clary is not spectacular, but he has been steady at second."

Pirronello remains at the hot corner when Bozyk pitches, but shifts to right field when Hutchinson is on the mound.

A junior, Pirronello his the Shamrocks' most dangerous hitter. He leads the team with 30 RBIs and 15 extra base hits, not to mention a .368 average.

Milford, however, may have a decided edge in the catching department.

Jeff Irish is undoubtedly the Redskins' team leader.

A seventh-round pick of the Toronto Blue Jays earlier this month in the Major League Amateur Draft, the 6foot-1, 195-pound catcher is hitting .419 with eight homers and 36 RBIs. Sporting a 3.8 grade-point average to boot, Irish is now faced with the dilemma of turning pro after signing a letter-of-intent with Central Michigan University.

"JEFF IS THE best player I've coached," Shearer said. "It's going to be close signing with the Blue Jays. One of their chief scouts was at our practice the other day."

Irish is not the only big stick in the

"It's funny in the state tournament because a couple of teams can hot at the right time," said the CC coach. "At the end of the league season we were a bit discouraged. We had only one pitcher and our defense was bad

But for Salter, things turned around in a hurry, but maybe not as fast as Shearer, who has to be pinching himself after coming over from Clarenceville.

HIS ONE IS for Gus, the fat man who used to shake, rattle and roll, dancing in the mezzanine during those dark Piston days.

I can still remember him hanging over the railing at Cobo Arena, spewing "Hoo, hoo ... hoo, hoo

Piston loyalist can wipe away the tears

Even long-suffering basketball fans like Gus, who bitterly stayed downtown when the Pistons headed north, have to feel vindicated this week.

The heck with Kareem's storybook finish. The heck with Pat Riley. The heck with Chick Hearn and "showtime." The hell with "Three-peat."

Some of those LA-LA fans have no idea what anguish we've been through. I'm talking about the chalkeaters: Dyan Cannon, Lou Gossett Jr., Chevy Chase, Ryan and Tatum O'Neal, the ones who have jumped on the Laker bandwagon of late.

They have no idea what it was like for guys like Gus and me, and what we endured through all these years. I can't go all the way back to Fort Wayne, but I saw a Zollner special when I was only 7. The date: Feb. 8,

1963 My dad took me to Cobo to see my first Pistons game, primarily to catch a Bradley University man, a fellow alum named Chet "The Jet" Walker, who played for the Syracuse Nationals THE ONLY THING I remember about that night was how many points the Nats scored: 162, which at the time was an NBA record.

Ironic, isn't it? This Pistons team now yields about 162 in two games.

The other thing I remember about that night was the skimpy turnout, sparse enough that my dad escorted me into the Syracuse training room afterwards to say hello to "The Jet" himself.

"Come on in," smiled one of the ushers.

If you walked now into the visitors training room, you'd be arrested for trespassing. Security would haul you awav.

But this championship certainly makes up for all the mistakes, all the heartbreak and all the disappointment during my formative Pistons fan years.

How bad were the Pistons way back when?

Bad enough that a couple of high school buddies of mine beat' Butch Komives and Erwin Mueller in a game of two-on-two in a shopping center parking lot during a Stroh's Ice Cream Clinic in Plymouth.

This makes up for 1970-71 when the Pistons opened the season with eight straight wins, finished above .500, but didn't have a good enough record to reach the playoffs.

This makes up for 1968 when the Pistons won their first two playoff games in Boston, then dropped four straight.

This makes up for Game No. 7, 1974, against Chicago when Bob Lanier was more interested in renegotiating his contract than winning a Brad Emons

It makes up for Herb Brown's lox and bagels sessions with Kevin Porter, Bob McAdoo's malingering and Eric Money's tantrums.

It makes up for Kelly Tripucka getting scorched by Bernard King, Antoine Carr's fleeing to Italy and Dick Vitale's screaming, "I'm a failure," when the Pistons couldn't execute a simple in-bounds play to clinch a victory.

It makes up for that dreaded pass against Boston in the sixth game of the 1987 playoffs. This also lets us forget Vinnie Johnson and Dantley smashing heads, Dennis Rodman's ill-advised comments and Rod Thorn's fines.

Somehow people think Adrian Dantley deserves a ring, but I can't feel sorry for A.D. He had his chance. It was Game No. 6 in LA, a wide-open turn-around jumper on the baseline that could have clinched the championship with just over a minute to play.

IF YOU'RE LOOKING for some body to feel sorry for, how about Terry Tyler? He and John Long were the glue, the players who held this franchise together until Jack McCloskey brought in fresh troops. Somehow, I wish Terry had a piece of that ring.

I feel sorry for Dave Bing, the classiest Piston of all time. Certainly I wish he was standing on that podium, accepting congratulations from the commissioner.

Or how about Don Adams? He was the man they called "Smart," not very good, but a team player all the way. Or Willie Norwood, John Mengelt, Otto Moore, Cliff Levingston, Joe Strawder, Bob Quick and Eddie Miles? And don't forget George Trapp, the man they called "Instant Heat?" Or "the Geezer" - Howard Porter?

These were the good guys and now we have the "Bad Boys," which has to be the most overblown tag or label ever stuck on an NBA team.

Remember, of course, the NBA of the '80's is Hollywood and Broadway all wrapped into one, following a script. It's CBS and Brent Musberger and Boston-baked reporting.

Funny as it may seem, the Pistons were never the "Bad Boys" until they beat the Celtics.

Light up a cigar for me, Red Auerbach.

I KNOW THE the Pistons still belong downtown and they've catered to a different type of clientele to fill their plush arena.

But this week I can overlook all those negative things. I can overlook that a guy named "Brow" is now the Sinking ship?

Whitlow tenders resignation at Madonna

By C.J. Risak staff writer

Just when it seemed Madonna College's athletic department had its direction determined, the course has been altered.

Bob Whitlow, hired only one year ago to guide the Fighting Crusaders' men's basketball team as it entered the NAIA, is expected to tender his resignation by the end of this week because "they don't have any scholarship money."

Whitlow, who assisted Lynn Reed at Oakland Community College before taking over at Madonna, criticized the school's administration for its lack of support. "I'm disappointed with what's happening over there," he said. "They keep jerking (me) around. I can't sign anyone. I don't want to promise them something and then not deliver

WHITLOW'S RESIGNATION could jeopardize Madonna's upcoming mens basketball season. He said he has already contacted several of the colleges he had on next season's 35-game schedule and cancelled

Ray Summers, Madonna's athletic director, would not comment on Whitlow's pending resignation "because he hasn't submitted anything. I can say it would be unfortunate for Madonna if we were to lose coach Whitlow."

Summers also refused to speculate on the future of Madonna's men's team should Whitlow resign. "At this point, the jury's still out on whether or not men's basketball will survive," he said. "We're still on hold."

Asked if a search would be conducted to find a coach and save the program for next season, Summers said, "I think the administration would try and do that " vacillated on intercollegiate athletics. The committment last year seemed genuine and, after Whitlow guided a makeshift team to a 13-17 season, the future looked bright.

But Whitlow claims the lack of financial support stymied his efforts this season. "You can't play good teams with pick-up guys out of the hallways," he said. "I had some good guys lined. up, but they're not going to come here now.

"Ray (Summers) said last year they were going to give me a little bit of help and keep increasing it every year. He talked one way, but when it came right down to it he didn't have the authority.

According to Whitlow, Summers had no control of the athletic budget. Instead of receiving funds to work with, Whitlow said he was promised "$4,000 if I could raise $4,000 first. There was no money until I went out and raised it. They wouldn't give me anything until I raised $4,000.

Whitlow, who coaches part time (he works full time for an air freight company), said he was hired to coach, not fund raise.

Asked if his resignation was certain, Whitlow replied, "It's a done deal."

SUMMERS DISPUTED Whitlow's contention regarding fund raising. According to the Madonna AD, all coaches were hired knowing they would have to raise money for their programs.

"(The coaches) were made very aware of it," said Summers of the fund-raising responsibilities. "Our scholarship endowment for athletics has increased every year. It still hasn't been able to match that of other colleges, it's true. We got financial disclosures from several other colleges. The administration is well aware what we're up against."

Madonna's NAIA District 23 opponents have budgets as large as $100,000 (at Siena Heights). Whitlow said he submitted a budget to Madonna for $20,000. "We were by far the least" in the district, in terms of money available for basketball, said Whitlow.

"I could have gotten by with $15,000, but they wouldn't even talk to me (directly) about it," he added. "I would talk to Sister Nancy, then she'd take it in to (Madonna president) Sister Francilene. But they never made a decision, until they told me I would have to raise the first $4,000."

MIKE GEORGE, the Crusaders' baseball coach, said he knew from the beginning (he was also hired last year) he would be expected to raise money for his program. "Bob's situation was different than mine," said George. "He doesn't have the resources to raise money I have. "If we hadn't raised $12,000 last year, we wouldn't have had a program. There wasn't any money budgeted for baseball last year." George added he did not receive any matching funds a year ago. He will this year. Summers said the administration has guaranteed a maximum of $17,000 in matching funds for athletics.

"Coach Whitlow hasn't the time nor the resources to fund raise," said Summers. "I think he's frustrated. He cannot compete in the recruiting wars with colleges that have budgets in six figures."

Whitlow said he wanted to coach somewhere this year, if possible. He has talked briefly with St. Mary's College coach Glen Donahue about an assistant's position.

OCC pulls pivot move with big recruit

By C.J. Risak staff writer

It's far too early to make plans to be at the 1990 National Junior College Athletic Association Division II men's basketball championships isn't it?

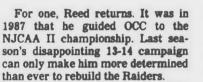

Listen to Lynn Reed, Oakland Community College's coach, and such a thought may not sound so outlandish.

"I'm really excited about our chances," the OCC coach admitted after examining his list of returnees and newcomers.

But all coaches are bubbling with optimism during the recruiting season. And much of Reed's confidence is generated by a few maybes.

But there are enough certainties to convince one that the Raiders may indeed make a return trip to the NJCAA II tournament next spring.

"Let us Service your Roofing and Siding Needs"

Also, six players - 6-foot-3 Mike Bailey, 6-6 Toine Murphy, 6-4 Tim Robinson, 6-6 Tim Maxfield, 6-2 Ed Pasque and 6-2 Bobby Dinges - will be back, giving Reed an experienced nucleus to build upon.

THEN THERE are the redshirts - players in the program last year er," said Reed), from Florida; 6-0 Starling Stevens, from Saginaw; and 6-0 Mike Shelman, from Detroit.

- the recruits. Freshmen certain to be part of OCC's program next season are Earl Mack, a 5-11 guard, and Pedro Ellis, a 6-3 forward, both from Pontiac Northern; Wayne Parris, a 6-4 forward from Walled Lake Western; John Bonner, a 6-8 transfer who didn't play for Northwood Institute and will have two years of eligibility remaining; and 6-0 Roger Sheldon, from Rochester Oakland Christian.

The size of the newcomers makes it obvious OCC should have no trouble rebounding next season. But it doesn't end there. Reed has a few sizable transfers who could contribute heavily jump event in two years of competition for Ladywood. She also ran a leg of the 1,600 relay and competed in the hurdle

"Rebocca is extremely versatile and highly noticed," coach Leslie Snyder said. "She's quite an asset to Ladywood this year and we know she will be for the upning two years.

RUNNING EVENTS

Shelli Gaul, Farmington, 100meter hurdles: Gaul's time of 15.5 was first among Observerland performers and it established a new Farmington school record. The sophomore showed significant improvement since the first day of practice, finishing first at the WLAA meet and second at the regional.

"Shelli's improvement has been stunning," coach Bruce Brown said. "She dropped a total second in one week. It has been exciting watching her confidence grow.'

Lisa Christensen, Stevenson, 300 hardles: The WLAA meet champion placed second at the regional and ninth at the Class A meet. Christensen's time of 47.5 tied Farmington Hills Harrison's Jane Peters for Observerland's best showing of the year.

"Lisa was our leading scorer and most versatile runner," Holmberg said. "In addition to the hurdles, she anchored the 800 and 1,600 relays."

Jennifer Reed, Farmington, 100 dash: It was a year of firsts for Reed, the senior at Farmington High.

Reed was first in the Farmington City meet, placed first in every one of Farmington's dual meets and she was first in the WLAA met. Reed set a new schol record with her personal best time of 12.5, which also was Observerland's best time.

She was second at the regional.

"Jennifer is a quality runner and a quality person," Brown said. "Her mental preparation is outstanding. We had to send her home from practice because she always wanted to do more."

Philana Hooper, Borgess, 200 dash: A hamstring injury slowed down the senior at the Class B meet, but she came up with nothing but medal-winning performances during the regular-season. Hooper had Observerland's second-best time in the 200, clocking 26.5. She was the Catholic League champion and placed second at the regional. Hooper also was a member of the 400 and 800 relay teams.

"Philana really developed this year," coach John McGreevy said. "She displayed a lot of courage running on sore shins most of the season."

Alyssa Belaire, Churchill, 400 dash: Alyssa's efforts this spring made track fans realize there are two athletes from Churchill named Belaire starring on the track.

Her brother, Jason Belaire, is a key member of the Chargers boys team.

Belaire, a sophomore, was first at the WLAA meet, clocking 1:00.5, and she was third at the regional. She also won the East Detroit Invitational with a time of 1:01.4.

Belaire was a member of all of Churchill's relay teams, anchoring the 400. 800 and 1,600 units. She also competed in five other events.

"In the last two years of coaching Alys-Lyshely McGowan, Borgess, 800 run: A Catholic League and regional champion, McGowan's time of 3:20.1 was a new school record. She also anchored the 800 and 1,600 relay teams.

In her career, McGowan competed in every running event. As a sophomore, McGowan was a member of the 3,200 relay team that set a new school record.

Lyshay's a tough little nut," McGreevy said. "She is the best when the meet is on the line - pulling strength from hidden reserves when she knows the team depends on her performance. Lyshay is a winner

Jennifer Kiel, Farmington, 1,600 run: Kiel was eighth at the Class A meet, clocking 5:17.5 - a new school record. She was second in the regional and WLAA meets. Kiel took first place in the 3,200 run at the regional.

"Jennifer has developed a mental toughness that has made her an extremely strong competitor," Brown said. "She is just now realizing how good she can be. She carries her outstanding concentration over to the classroom and is also an outstanding student."

Michelle Gayney, Borgess, 3,200 run: Gayney, who earned a partial schol-arship to run track and cross country at Hillsdale College, was first at the regional in the 3,200 run (11:59). Gayney's time of 11:38 earned her eighth place at the Class B meet.

She was the Catholic League champion in the 1,600 run, clocking 5:20.6, and she was runnerup in the 3,200 run at 11:53. Gayney set a Borgess school record last year when she finished 3,200 meters in 11:27.5.

Gayney is a 3.5 student.

'Michelle has been a very fine runner for four years," McGreevy said. "She is a classic example of a student/athlete. Her graduation creates a tremendous yoid that will be hard to fill."

RELAY EVENTS

Farmington, 400 and 800: Jennifer Reed, Shelli Gaul, Nicole Tocco and Angie Forge earned first place at the regional in both the 400 and 800 relays. They had Observerland's best times in each event, clocking 51.0, and 1:45.4, respectively. Their best time in the 800 set a new school record.

"These two relay teams have been our bread and butter," Brown said. "Much of the credit for the consistency falls on Angie Forge. Angie has anchored the relays for four years. Angle is one of the most competitors I have ever coached. Nicole Tocco is one of the best around at cutting in as the third girl after the second handoff.'

Farmington Harrison, 1,600: Maria Chalogianis, Nivin Hakim, Audra Cockerham and Jane Peters clocked 4:11.4 at the Class B meet and they were the Stafford Relay champion. They won the WLAA meet.

'This mile relay team had its mind set on being WLAA champs and all area from the first day of practice," coach Mark Babcock said. "They set very lofty goals and worked extremely hard to achieve them.'

Livonia Stevenson, 3,200: Suzanne Moore, Jennifer Knapp, Jennifer Pfander and Tracy Clark scored often for the Spartans and held Observerland's best time of 9:52.4. They were WLAA champions, the regional runner-up and placed Breast self-examination is easy, takes only a few minutes and can be performed in the privacy of your own home. It's an important way you can detect early and highly curable breast cancer. Through monthly breast selfexaminations, you will learn how your normal breast tissue feels and will be able to recognize a change if one occurs. In fact, most breast lumps are found by women themselves.

Take control of your body and your life.

Make breast self-examination a part of your monthly routine. And see your doctor regularly for clinical exams and advice on mammography.

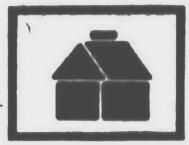

For a free pamphlet about breast self-examination, call your local American Cancer Society.

Alice Nigoghosian quality is uppermost

Serving 'town and gown' is Press challenge

By Joan Boram special writer

TERESTING cities, like interesting people, reveal themselves slowly, surprisingly familiar with unsuspected vistas. Imagine learning that a dear old friend can juggle, or read Sanskrit. How wonderful! Why didn't they ever tell you? Your friendship takes a new turn, enhanced by discovery.

Detroit, too, behind the headlines and the ubiquitous Renaissance Center, holds pleasant surprises.

One such surprise is the Wayne State University Press, a secret so well-kept that even the Wayne State switchboard never heard of it.

"The Press was established in 1941 to publish books for the scholarly and literary communities," explains interim director Alice Nigoghosian. "Everybody knows the saying 'Publish or perish,' but what they don't know is who does the actual publishing. Generally, it's university presses." The functions of a great university it came out in time for Christmas, as Callahan points out.

"But we couldn't do as good a job of printing if we had to meet that deadline." Nigoghosian said firmly. She will not compromise the quality of the book, even if it means losing sales. Callahan nods. He knows she's right, but he is, after all, the marketing manager.

Nigoghosian, who lives in Troy, has been with the press since 1961, starting as a "gofer' while an undergraduate majoring in mass communications. She has been production and design manager, editor, and jack-of-all-editorial-trades. Twelvehour days are the norm, and she often leaves her Troy apartment early in the morning, returning late in the evening. "I still can't believe I made a career out of publishing," she said with the air of one counting her blessings. "When I was growing up, you could be a teacher, or a nurse, or a librarian, but that was about it.'

"YOU HAVE TO be able to handle anything when you work for a small press," she said. "But we do call upon outside help to supplement our staff of 22 (the number includes clerical help). For instance, we would call upon a free-lance editor for a technical book, and we use freelance book designers. The book designer for "America's Favorite Homes" was Mary Primo of Birmingham." Libraries are the largest single type of customer for university press books, with library sales accounting for 30 to 40 percent of all press sales. For this reason, the Wayne Press has traditionally published mostly hardcover books. However, there has been more simultaneous hard- and paper-cover - publishing in the past few years, as the Press reaches out to the non-academic community. Poetry, published mostly in paperback, falls into the popular category, although most commercial publishers won't risk it. Nigoghosian is proud of the poetry list, and relates that some of their books have had very good reviews in the New York Times. She and Callahan smile broadly at the memory.

Environmental statement Photos bring imagery into drawings

By Corinne Abatt staff writer

Barbara Dorchen knows about patience. She knew her new work should be seen as a unit and not mixed in with that of other artists. So, she waited for the right opportunity. Her show at Cade Gallery, 214 W. Sixth, Royal Oak, through June reinforces her belief.

Dorchen has traditionally expressed herself in black and white or monochromatics. In the new work, she adds subtle bits of color, and collages photographs on a number of her pieces. She has also gone from pastel and prisma color on charcoal background to oil pastel and prisma color on acrylic background. While these changes are relatively subtle, the photographs are a new and strong element.

Dorchen said, "I've been taking photographs for a number of years for my own reference." She never thought of using them as any more than that until recently. Now, she said, "I feel the photos are an important aspect of my intent. . . the whole series is the "Found Object Series". . . They're more about nature and environment. The titles indicate a landscape connotation."

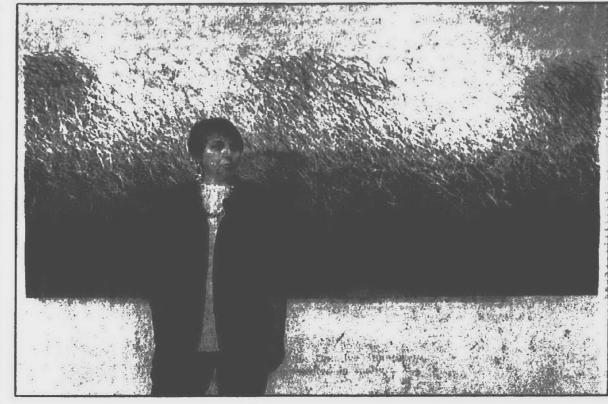

But, she said she doesn't think of them as that at all. "When I'm drawing, I'm just drawing — it just comes out that way."

She added, "The photos are a conscious effort to bring content into my work. This is an important concept for me." She said she sees this as the beginning of a whole new body of work.

"Content is something I have been wanting to happen and I didn't know how I wanted to do it."

She said she is careful not to try to make things happen or to make her efforts look contrived. She succeeds when she has a lot of things such as found objects around her and lets them fall naturally into place in her work.

What looks initially like masses of random lines on dark paper in each drawing gradually begins to coalesce into an individual entity. The viewer becomes aware of more color, strong unseen light sources and deep shadows. There is an organic quality to the several large ones, as though things are moving and changing just beneath the surface. This is especially true of the largest work in the show, "Moonrise." There is no photo in this one, nor is one called for. This sensitive work stands out in a room full of good pieces. The photos in some works are better than others, but there is no doubt about the addition of color. She handles that like a pro and it mellows her are teaching, research, and dissemination of the results of scholarly inquiry. To assist Wayne to achieve these goals, the Press publishes several scholarly journals, concentrating on such topics as the history of discoveries, 18th century German culture, and population biology and genetics. American Imago, "A Psychoanalytic Journal for Culture, Science and the Arts," was founded by Sigmund Freud and Hanns Sach in 1939.

"OVER THE PAST, few years, the mission of the Press has been expanded to include books that are of general interest, but will never become blockbusters. Commercial publishers are less willing today than they were in the past to publish unprofitable books on the basis of literary merit, subsidizing them with the profit from best-sellers."

What would happen if a book assumed a life of its own and sold millions of copies?

Nigoghosian and marketing manager Patrick Callahan exchange glances and each smiles knowingly. She doesn't name names, but at least one university press was almost wiped out by a run-away success, a Frankenstein's monster, as it were.

"Their entire program for the year was put on hold. The marketing manager was delivering books to bookstores, and the senior editor was working on the loading dock. The best thing is to sell the rights to a commercial publisher as soon as possible," she said.

It seems that in university publishing, as in religion, nothing fails like success.

Miracles (or catastrophes) aside, the average run of the Wayne State University Press is 1,500 copies, a typical number for a scholarly press. By comparison, the average run for a commercial publisher is 10,000 copies.

NIGOGHOSIAN IS ONE of the lucky few who loves her work, and she displays the artwork for a new book with the same enthusiasm and care that a Tiffany salesperson would lavish on a magnificent gem. The book, "America's Favorite Homes: Mail-order Catalogs as a Guide to Popular 20th Century Houses," by Robert Schweitzer and Michael W. R. Davis, is expected to sell very well. Not as well as it would if In 1986, the Press launched "Great Lakes Books," an imprint of original and classic regional history.

"Regional" doesn't mean "dreary," as the selection of subjects proves. Titles include "Walnut Pickles and Watermelon Cake, a Century of Michigan Cooking;" "The AIA Guide to Detroit Architecture," and "Coleman Young and Detroit Politics." A recent publication is the stunning "Edsel and Eleanor Ford house," with photos by Balthazar Korab and Dirk Bakker, available in both paperback and hardcover.

TECHNICALLY, THE Wayne State University Press is a non-profit institution, and therefore cannot turn a profit. The goal is to break even. Currently, the university provides 25 percent of the Press's operating budget, plus services such as parking and building maintenance.

"A university press faces a continuing challenge to strike a proper balance between its role as representative of its parent institution and its role as a popular publisher," said Nigoghosian. "Increasingly, we're serving both "town" and "gown." Scholarly publishing is a test of editorial wisdom, sound management, and financial acumen." style a bit without taking anything away from her statement.

All of the elements she uses she said mesh together "to create a personal statement which signifies awareness about the fragility of the environment, the state of nature's precarious balance, the mortality of life and the profound sensitivity expressed through personal concern."

Dorchen completed a bachelor's in art at Center for Creative Studies, has been represented in many regional exhibitions and has work in many private and corporate collections.

Cade Gallery hours are 10:30 a.m. to 7 p.m. Tuesday-Saturday.

one of his eccentric father's many wives, and sometimes finds out more than he wants to know.

Willman also praises Toni Morrison's prize-winning "Beloved," a novel set in post-Civil War Ohio about an escaped slave haunted by her past.

· Elaine Morse, assistant manager at Borders Book Shop in Birmingham, suggests Mary Morris' "The Waiting Room" for summer readers. The new novel centers on a young woman's journey of reconciliation back to her hometown.

Others on the book store staff named "The Greenlanders" by Jane Smiley, an epic saga set in 14th Century Greenland, and focusing on the last generations of Greenlanders and their disappearance, and "Augustine of Hippo," Peter Brown's biography of the saint long recognized as Christian antiquity's greatest thinker.

Both books are available in paperback.

William X. Kienzle, South-. field's prolific mystery writer, said he recently finished reading Patrick Leigh Fermor's "A Time of Gifts" and "Between the Woods and Water," and considered both first-rate. The non-fiction works make up two parts of a trilogy based on Fermor's remembrances of his journey on foot from Rotterdam to Constantinople.

Kienzle, whose latest popular who-dunit is titled "Eminence," said he's looking forward to Donald Westlake's "Trust Me on This."

"I haven't read it yet," he said, that this is a very good book. It's a funny mystery and Westlake has always been one of my favorite writers.'

Work," is enthused over Jerry Blad-sor's "Bitter Blood," a son-fiction account of the mysterious murders. of several members of a southern family and the subsequent police and detective work done on the case. Kantner also highly recommends

Ed McBain's latest 87th precinct mystery, "Lullaby."

I'd suggest you take a look at E. L. Doctorow's "Billy Bathgate" -whether it's summer, winter spring or fall. Nobody can take you away to another place and another time like Doctorow. If you happened to read "Ragtime," you know what I mean and "Billy Bathgate" is perhaps a notch above "Ragtime" in that regard. In this story of a povertystricken boy with the notorious Dutch Schultz gang, you'll not only see, hear and feel the dark and gritty underworld of the Depression-era New York, but taste and smell it as well. The opening scene is simply unforgettable.

Also, if you're an armchair traveler (or even if you're not), Paul Theroux's "Riding the Iron Rooster: By Train through China" - now in paperback - can be a grand adventure and an especially timely one this summer.

The opulent lifestyle is easy to see. Detached condominium homes of up to 2700 square feet boasting vaulted ceilings, Roman-style sunken tubs, floor-to-ceiling windows, twostory great rooms, fireplaces. 141 acres rich in woods, wildlife, and even a natural lake. A secluded atmosphere with an air of prestige.

who have trained for the large rep-ertoire of composers such as Puccini. Their voices depend on volume for clarity and sound, negated in this hall into reverberation.

Rose has vastly developed since this critic last heard her. She delivered some rather fine moments in the use of her planissimos in the high notes in "O Mio Babbino Caro" (from "Gianna Schicci") and "Si, Mi Chiamano Mimi" (from "La Boheme"), although her choice of selections is not thoroughly convincing with her voice

WITH A true sense of feeling for his Italian music, Milito sang "Ideale" by P. Tosti, "Rondine al Nido" with its moving harp accompaniment, and "Donzella Fuggite" by F. Cavalli. His best performance came with "Nulla, Silenzio" (from Il Tabarro) where harshness in his voice is played to great advantage.

Hawk turned to heart-wrencher Vesti LaGiubba" (from "I Pagliacci"), the famous Caruso number, to please his audience. Lighter arias would showcase a more lyric sound and allow more resonance to penetrate.

Hawk and Milito sang "AuFond Du Temple Saint" (from "Les Lecheurs De Perles") to bring the program to an enthralling conclusion. Milito sustained the dramatic, slow moving tempo.

lark calendar for Ann Arbor Art Fair

rly dissociative years is quite an achieve-and that's what the Ann Arbor Street Art Pair is celebrating in 1989. Its local founders thought they were develop-ing an excellent event but had no idea it would still be around after 30 years. The Ann Arbor Street Art Fair is the third oldest outdoor art fair in the United States.

More important, along with longevity, it has achieved national recognition for presenting high-quality contemporary fine crafts and art on istent basis a cons

ART FAIRS and festivals have become very popular in the past 30 years. The 1989 Michigan Council for the Arts listing of Michigan Art Fairs lists more than 400 visual arts/crafts fairs or festivals in Michigan alone.

The Ann Arbor Street Art Fair ranks in the top 10 nationwide when one is looking for top quality art work and high attendance. Approximately 400,000 people are expected to attend the Ann Arbor Street Art Fair on South and East University avenues in 1989.

The Ann Arbor Street Art Fair is not only special with its record for quality and attendance, it is special in that it now presents concurrently with two other Ann Arbor art fairs. Ann Arbor's central downtown has three distinct shopping districts.

THE ORIGINAL juried fair, the Ann Arbor Street Art Fair, was developed by community members and the South University Merchants. In 1960 and ever since, artists' booths have been on South University Avenue. As the fair grew, booths were added on East University Avenue.

By its eighth year the Ann Arbor Street Art Fair was so successful the merchant group on State Street decided to develop their own fair -The State Street Area Art Fair.

A FEW YEARS later the third merchant area added its own art fair run by the Michigan Guild of Artists and Artisans and now called the Summer Art Fair. All three fairs meet together monthly as the Mayor's Art Fair Committee (city, University of Michigan, and county officials are also members) and do planning and coordination.

Even so, each fair is separately in charge of its own specific geographic area. Artists may apply to more than one fair but they can only have a booth in one area. All three art fairs agree on this rule and adamantly enforce it.

The combination of three separate but connected art fairs, happening concurrently, brings nearly 1.000 artists and their work to downtown Ann Arbor for four consecutive days.

ORGANIZERS FOR the three fairs cooperate in many ways. All three fairs work with the Ann Arbor Transportation Authority to bring visitors on shuttles to the downtown area from an outlying shopping mall. Then circulators move visitors from one fair to another. (The three fairs are within walking distance, but the circulators help get visitors back to their cars or back to the fair at which they started.)

In 1960 only the Ann Arbor Street Art Fair existed. Then 100 artists signed up by the July 11 deadline to sell their work on South University Avenue. Organizers described the Street Art Fair as an "experiment" at the "local level."

IN 1989, the 30th annual original juried Ann Arbor Street Art Fair will feature 230 artists and their works, from 30 states. Approximately 80 of the artists are new to the Street Art Fair in

Heritage Park

1989. The categories of sculpture and clay were totally rejuried by slides, and there are new artists in every category. These 230 featured artists are chosen by professional jurors from more than 1,200 artists who applied by the current Feb. 15 deadline.

THE ORIGINAL juried Ann Arbor Street Art Fair, on South and East University avenues, continues to lead in quality of art presented and innovation of related activities. A month before the Street Art Fair, the work of selected Street Art Fair artists will form an exhibit at the University of Michigan Hospitals. This is the second year for this exhibit that reaches special audiences and previews the fair to come.

During the fair itself, nearly 20 artists in a variety of media will demonstrate their art to the public A schedule of these demonstrations is available at the information booth. These free demonstrations by professional artists offer an opportunity to learn about the processes of creating art.

MOST OF the booths in the Ann Arbor Stree Art Fair hold the work of one artist, and that artist is present to sell their work and talk to the public.

In three areas space has been assigned to an arts group. These three groups are: the Potters Guild, the Senior Citizens Guild, and Students of the University of Michigan School of Art. The Potters Guild has been a part of the Street Art Fair all 30 years, but the School of Art is joining the Street Art Fair for the first time this year.

The art fair will take place July 19-22. Wednesday-Friday hours are 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. On Saturday the fair runs from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. For additional information, call 994-5260 . .

During the fair itself, nearly 20 artist in a variety of media will demonstrate their art to the: public.

Sculptor builds in a poetic frame of reference

Corinne Abeli If writer

Todd Erickson talks like his sculpture looks. He describes ch piece with a poetic, philosophic turn of phrase and says, each piece with a poetic, philosophic tu "Each has a narrative that goes with it."

Like his sculpture, he is an interesting study in contrasts. He scribes how exciting it was to live in Detroit's Cass Corridor, yet he is a nature lover who has a bachelor's in biology with an hasis on botany.

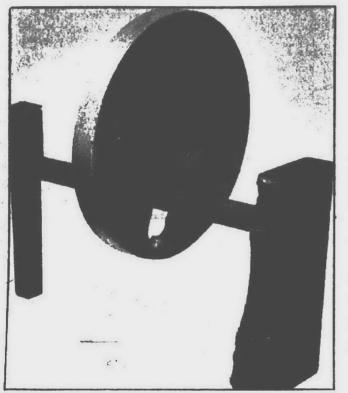

He speaks of urban renewal, but said, "I don't mind things in decay and I have a fascination for rust." He compares trees that fall apart to buildings that fall apart. He said he saw more animals such as raccoons and kestrels (small falcons) in the city than he has seen in the suburbs.

His pedestal and wall sculpture pieces, at Cantor/Lembery Gallery, 538 N. Woodward, Birmingham, through June 24, embody equally strong, unexpected combinations of elements. Several look like wood with a honey gold patina. In truth, they are steel finished with repeated layers of chemicals and stains. Parts look almost fragile, yet they are very strong. "I transform nature into bronze," Erickson said. "I work in two modes -- lost wax bronze casting and steel assemblage."

ONE PIECE, "Paddle Wheel," has a machine-type connotation. Others are closer to people in their meaning and symbol-ism. The symbolism falls in layers like the chemicals and stains. It shines through at two or three different levels.

Some, such as "Mr. Sisyphus" - named after the Albert

JERRY ZOLYNSKY/staff photographe

Wheels and rolling things fascinate Todd Erickson. He often uses them as symbols for people and their relationships to the development of civilization.

Camus character who struggled desperately to push the boul-der to the top of the mountain only to see it roll all the way back down — are relatively uncomplicated. "Wheelies on Woodward" is another whose meaning appears clear. However, the symbolism of a multimedia wall piece, "Imagination of Nature," remains elusive even after Erickson explains it.

The long, horizontal sticks or rods represent the lay system of magnetic currents in the earth's surface, he said. What looks like a section of fence behind is reminiscent of the hay drying racks he saw when living in Yugoslavia. There are some man-made towers, something like those of stones in Ireland and a heavy piece of granite.

This is one of two multimedia pieces in the show. The other is an aerial view of deserted shelter in the city created from things he found near his former Cass Corridor studio. He described the rest in the show as possibly more focused.

WHILE HE obviously likes all of them, he explained the nu-ances of the "cow field" piece with a warm attachment.

"It integrates the cow to the field. They become multiple images by bridging one layer on top of another until they become hybrids."

Owners of Erickson's sculptural works should definitely treat themselves to a first-hand narration. He looks like a park ranger or Boy Scout leader and thinks like a dramatist, seeing the world as a stage and people as wheels or rollers moving at different speeds across it.

He successfully transfers his ideas to three-dimensional art, using highly unpliable materials and making them look buttersoft. He may spend hours shaping one-inch-square area of steel and flame cut a large section next to it in seconds. His outstanding piece, inspired by the German artist Fredericks' painting of a ruined gothic cathedral, involves both of those techniques.

ERICKSON'S FAMILY moved to Birmingham when he was in the seventh grade. He graduated from Seaholm High School. Erickson realized about midway through Hope College "that art could be a direction for me," he said.

He completed his master's at Cranbrook Academy of Art in 1986, working under Michael Hall in sculpture. After he completed his bachelor's and while he was at Cranbrook, he was a youth worker with the Birmingham schools. Later he began teaching at the Center for Creative Studies, where he is currently an instructor in sculpture, foundry techniques and welding. He and his wife live in Redford, where he has his studio.

Gallery hours are 11 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Tuesday-Saturday.

Matching fabric adds finishing touch

From a reader: We have just completed our summer-winter scation home up north. We love to ski so we want our getaway together to look right no matter the season. We have a two-story living-dising room with a cathedral ceiling that has exposed beams. Our fireplace is reclaimed brick. The room size is 18by-30. We want as much seating as possible. We like the country look.

A. I suggest you find a wallpaper that has a matching fabric. Paper between the beams. Repeat the fabric wherever you can — windows, throw pillows, chair pads. Your room is large enough to use three sofas. A games table and chairs will give additional seating.

In selecting a games table, consider a fliptop so that you may be able to seat eight rather than four. Be practical — use lami-nates that complement your style. Duck or sailcloth would work well for your sofas. A bright cotton print of brick red, avy and yellow for chair pads. Draperies will work well for all

- The Clarence House wallpaper books by Kinney have wall-coverings and fabric as I have described. Your local paint and wallpaper store should have the books or try the Michigan Design Center. The Groia showroom represents the Kinney Wallcoverings.

I've often written here about how your home makes a statement about the people who live there.

Recently I visited a home which truly exemplifies this. Shelly and Joel Newman have such a house in West Bloomfield. Their house looks loved and says welcome, I'm glad you're here. Joel gets credit for the manicured lawn and Japanese garden at the front of the house

er

The interior furnishings are eclectic. The Newmans' artifiacts are serious and also fun. A magnificently groomed marionette doll graces the side of the family room fireplace. The other side has a suit of armor, a leftover from an Addams Family party.

The marionette is a remembrance of a trip to Venice. There are Murano glass figurines in the foyer, religious art from their trip to Israel and, best of all, daughter Casey's works of art. Casey's first piece from Sunday School was a Seder plate celebrating the Passover and the figure of a child wearing a dress made of the matzo cracker. Shelly designed the lucite frame with a red flannel mat.

My eye was drawn to a particularly interesting montage amd I was told that this too was done by Casey. Here we see a baseball and bat made from newspaper wrapped in gauze and then painted. The frame is a lucite shadow box and the mat is red flannel.

And everybody gets excited with Andy Warhol's Campbell soup painting — Casey is 6 years old.

Matthaei gardens looking for docents

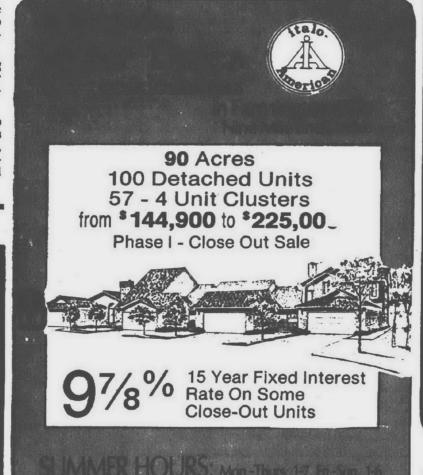

The University of Michigan Matthaei Botanical Gardens will hold docent preparation classes beginning in September. Docents are a key link between the gardens and the visitors to the conservatory and grounds. They are volunteers who introduce and explore the many worlds of plants with audiences of all ages.

All interested persons are encouraged to apply early. A curiosity about plants and an interest in people is required; some exposure to bi-ology or botany is helpful. The course will include a review of basic botany, special topics pertinent to the Gardens' collections, tour techniques and practice sessions.

All persons intrested in becoming docents are invited to follow a tour for a first hand look at Matthaei Botanical Gardens Docents in action.

To arrange to follow a tour, and to obtain an application, call Sue Boss at the gardens (9 a.m. to 4 p.m., weekdays) 763-7061. For further information about the program, call either 662-5455 or 426-5101.
