Toilet paper caper ends

What some jokingly refer to as the toilet paper caper has ended - good news for the Plymouth-Canton school employee who lost his job

Brian Bedell was a plant engineer at Starkweather School last September when he was fired for allegedly stealing 96 rolls of toilet tissue from the school in Old Village.

An arbitrator ruled last week that Bedell should be reinstated with full back pay and reimbursement for arbitration fees and medical expenses totalling "upwards of $50,000," esti-mated Christopher Gearns, president of the Custodial/Maintenance Local

"The only thing he didn't get was interest on the back pay.

Maryann Ligato-Freydl, Michigan Education Association executive director, was unsure of exactly how much Bedell is entitled to, but said it's probably closer to $35,000 to

Said Bedell, with the district for 11 years, "I am glad that finally jun-tice has prevented here: It's taken all this time to get a neutral party to finally see what a sham this was. I have no ides whether management is doing this o they can put fear into everyone or what.' Walter Bartnick, Plymouth-Canton administrative assistant for labor relations, was unaware of the decision. "I haven't seen it, so I can't comment on it," he said.

Bedell exhausted his savings while hospitalized for heart and back problems and racked up $15,000 in medi-

'My family and friends have been really good about it. I owe them everything. If it weren't for them, I would have been on the street long ago," said Bedell, 33.

"I had no job, couldn't find work, and had the hospital calling me up every other day. It was crazy. And all for an empty cardboard box. Can you believe it?"

Plymouth residents soon will have an alternative to sending all of their solid waste to area landfills, assistant city manager Paul Sincock said Tuesday.

Instead of sending their solid waste to area landfills, residents can now collect their grass and leaves in biodegradable bags and have them taken to a composting center.

On July 3, the city commission adopted a policy statement that addressed the problem of solid waste in Plymouth. As part of that policy, the city kicked off a voluntary compost- bags.

Tree and shrub dispute may be taken to court

A dispute between residents of the Mayflower subdivision and operators of the St. David's Gate se apartment complex may go to court if it's not resolved in the dear future, said Plymouth Township planning director Jim Anulowics. Cooperative Seguines Inc., an Oak Park company that minages St. Da-vid's Gate, had 35-47 trees and hrubs removed June 18 from property that separates the apartments and the subdivision. The removal of the trees violates the original site plan for the property, Anulewicz

"I'm after an end result, a satisfactory resolution that will satisfy both parties," he said. "If, in my opinion, I feel that we are not making satisfactory progress toward that end, then fine, we may have to go to court."

The trees and show green barrier homeowners in the area are upset.

"It was a beautiful, woodslike setting, and I was shocked they cut it down," said Jan Peploski, whose home borders the St. David's Gate

'We'd like to see the trees replaced as soon as possible," she said. When Cooperative Services Inc. took over the complex from an Episcopal church six years ago, it was

Christian school eyes new gym

Plymouth Christian Academy needs to raise $500,000 by the end of this year so a new activity center can be built by next fall, said PCA superintendent Roland DeRenzo.

Increased enrollment, plus the need for an expanded sports/civic building, has been the catalyst behind PCA's fund-raising efforts that began in May, DeRenzo said.

The new facility will be primarily a gymnasium, housing senior sporting events and physical education programs, banquets, rallies and other civic events. PCA's new activity center will be open for community use, DeRenzo said.

"It will be open for community use, as our facilities have been in the past," he said. "We see the activity center providing availability for civic and public groups who may need

THE INCIDENT BEGAN at about 3 a.m. Sept. 10 when Plymouth po-lice officers David Bultman and Craig Schwartz responded to an alarm at Starkweather and spotted a Dodge Ram truck traveling the wrong way on a one-way street.

According to Bultman's report, Bedell "immediately apologized for the driving error" and said he had stopped at Starkweather "where he works to check a couple things."

Bedell told police that the area behind Starkweather is a popular drinking spot, and that he stopped by to remove beer cans and trash.

Officer Craig Schwartz noticed a closed box of one-ply Verigood toilet paper in the back of the pickup, Bult-

"If the police had reason to think the toilet paper was stolen, they should have asked to see it, and should have confiscated it. That's normal police procedure," said Ligato-Freydl. As a result, she said, the school district lacked proof.

"We have said all along that Brian didn't take the toilet paper," said Ligato-Freydl. "We're pleased an injustice has been rectified."

Police aim high at new gun range

staff writer

If you hear gun shots ringing out in the Sheldon and Michigan area there's no need to take cover.

Canton is constructing an outdoor police firing range and special operations training course on three acres. The cost: $12,000.

Firing practice by police officers has already begun.

IN RETURN, the township plans to save overtime costs by not having to send officers to ranges in other communities, said John Santomauro, Canton public safety director.

When Canton officers used Westland's range it was charged $450 a day and the department used it four days a year. Township police also used the Van Buren Township range for free until it closed.

Officers from Canton Township, Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Westland, Michigan State Police,

The public will not be allowed to use the range for liability reasons and because, Santomauro said, other police departments have booked it.

Officers will be assigned to use the range year round to similate all types of weather conditions they might encounter while on patrol.

IN ADDITION to the firing range, the area will also include a permanent training facility for Michigan Special Operations Training, "a three week, highly intensive special operations achool for police," Santomauro said.

"It will probably be one of the most physically demanding police schools in the state," he said. "Both of the facilities (range and school) are a cooperative effort to departments to consolidate cost effective training sites."

Course instructors will be from the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Department, as well as, Ann Arbor Canton, Van Buren Township and Northville Township police "who are seasoned special operations people. Santomauro said.

Annexation drive is slow going for group

By M.B. Dillon staff writer

A group of Canton residents wishheir subdivision to the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools is discovering just how difficult that's going to be.

Homeowners in the Greenbrook Village Subdivision in southeastern Canton want to send their children to nearby Hoben or Field Elementary rather than Walker - an elementary school in the Wayne-Westland school district 40 feet off Michigan Avenue in an industrial area.

Thus far, residents seem to be the only ones enthused about the plan.

'We don't have the sense that we have any allies," said Greenbrook Political Action Committee chairman Denise Shimokochi, who pulled her son out of Walker and is sending him to private school.

"Everyone has their own political agenda they have to take care of. In Plymouth-Canton, it's a head count problem. Wayne-Westland doesn't want to give up the state aid they'd lose if we left. Everyone is looking out for themselves," she said.

About 60 elementary school students and an undetermined number of older children would be affected.

Residents circulated annexation petitions and delivered them to the Wayne County Intermediate School District in time for a July 12 meeting, where the WCISD was to consider the annexation. The intermediate district has the power to approve annexation requests. Local districts may provide input, but have no vote. When residents asked to attend the meeting, we were told, "No, it was a closed organizational meeting," said mokochi.

"They said, 'We'll discuss it at the meeting, but it's not an agenda item. We'll review the petitions and the committee will set a date for your

Under the Open Meetings Act, public bodies can't close meetings unless litigation, land purchases or personnel matters are being consid-

Greenbrook residents later were told their petitions were invalid because they didn't contain signatures of two-thirds of subdivision property owners and residents, as required by the state school code.

JOYCE WILLIS, administrative assistant for WCISD Superintendent William Simmons, confirmed that the petitions were invalid but said the July 12 meeting wasn't closed.

"We follow the Open Meetings Act. All of our meetings are open to the public," said Willis. "I can't imagine how that could have gotten

"We're going after quality education," she added. "We're Canton residents and want to be part of a unified community. We're not Wayne or Westland residents; their district has other problems."

If annexed, Greenbrook residents would be assessed about 6 mills less than they are now.

Officials from the two districts aren't rallying to Greenbrook's "School boundaries rarely line up with city and township boundaries, which is unfortunate," said Richard Egli. Plymouth-Canton community relations director.

"We don't take in all of Canton. They're in Wayne-Westland. If we were to do that (recommend the annexation), there are other Canton residents who'd want to be includ-

Wayne-Westland Superintendent Dennis O'Neill said he's sympathetic with residents' concerns, but that his board "would testify in opposition. We're in-formula and certainly one of our concerns would be the loss of state aid.

'Granted there are some concerns about safety in terms of Walker's location. Walker School.was built 100 years ago when Michigan Avenue was nothing but a horse and buggy path. But at no time have we been told we are not delivering a quality program.

Primary canceled for city election

By Keith Postler staff writer

This year's Aug. 8 primary has been canceled because not enough candidates filed to run by the primary deadline, but that doesn't mean there won't be races in the Nov. 7 general election.

Eight candidates have filed to run for the four open seats on the sevenmember city commission.

A primary would have been scheduled if nine candidates had filed petitions to run by June 20, said city clerk William Graham.

Of the four city commission seats open in the November election, there are three four-year terms and one two-year term. The three candidates with the highest vote totals will win the four-year terms, with the twoyear term going to the candidate with the fourth-highest total.

In the November race are incumbent commissioners Robert Jones, R. Jack Kenyon, James Jabara and Dennis Bila. Also running are John Vos III, Jean Morrow, Gregory Green and Jerry Vorva.

A doting daddy, handy with video camera. A political coalition builder. Call it the mellowing of Michael Duggan, chief of staff for Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara, said he's lost none of his passion for his job during its heetic first 21/2 years. It's just that family responsibilities and a new sense of maturity may have softened Duggan's hard-charging approach.

'Most days, I'm home by 6," said

Duggan, deputy Wayne County Executive. "I want to spend more time with my family."

A behind-the-scenes type not immediately recognizable by most county residents, the Livonia resident is well-known to county insiders. While respected, his relationship with other county officials sometimes turned prickly, especially during the early days of the McNamara Administration.

Duggan had been point man for a number of key McNamara Administration proposals, arguing the administration's case for budget reform before often-skeptical county commissioners and state legislators.

in retrospect, Duggan said he was as tough as he needed to be in carrying out a tough assignment.

"EVERYTHING HAS been a struggle," he said. "You don't appreciate how many people you have sniping at you."

With the solvency package, we had outstanding support from the governor and even from Republicans, yet it was still difficult."

In the process, he earned a reputation as an astonishingly quick study, with easy mastery of complex details but something less than patient court. with those who took longer to grasp an issue's intracacies.

if feathers were unduly ruffled, Duggan said, he's sorry. "Hopefully, I'm maturing."

agree Duggan is maturing and that cial need, Duggan said, not politics. family life has been a key.

Duggan, 30, has seen his family

Just before the McNamara team took office, Duggan married the for-mer Laurie Maher. The wedding represented the union of two of the Detroit judicial community's most respected judicial families. Duggan's father is U.S. District Judge Patrick Duggan, his father-in-law is Michigan Appeals Judge Richard Maher.

The couple are parents of a one-year-old son, Michael Edward Dug-gan Jr., called "Eddie" by his dad. The family also includes 9-year-old Mary Mrs. Duggan's daughter by a Mary, Mrs. Duggan's daughter by a previous marriage.

Duggan himself admits becoming a husband and father has given him new priorities.

"I'M ONE OF those parents with a VCR who goes around taping everything," he said. Eddie's day-today growth and replays of Mary's soccer games are among the family's video treasures.

Being a family man also means clearing out time for family vacations. A week in Florida in February marked the first time off Duggan has had since assuming his appoint. Amann, a more recent addition,

Still, Duggan estimates he averages between 50-60 work hours a week. His six-day work week includes halfday Saturday sessions in his down-town office. "That's just to clear off my desk," he said.

From the start, Duggan has been able to count on strong support from McNamara. An attorney, with a law degree from the University of Michigan, Duggan has argued the county executive's case in Michigan Appeals Court in the jail control lawsuit between McNamara and County Sheriff Robert Ficano - an unprecedented step akin to having John Sununu, President Bush's chief of staff, argue a case in federal appeals

Duggan's role in representing the executive in court was itself the focus of a minor county controversy. The greater controversy - the executive's bid to wrest jail control from Those who have seen him in action the sheriff — was based upon finan-

"I believe he suit sent a political message to other county department heads, underscoring McNamara's commitment to a balanced county budget.

"It showed that if we were willing to do almost budget we were willing to do almost budget we were willing to do almost budget.

anything," Duggan said.

As deputy county executive, Duggan heads a mostly 35-and-under staff that also worked on the 1986 county executive's campaign - but for candidates other than McNamara.

Assistant county executive for administration Melvin "Butch" Hollowell was drawn from the campaign of Democratic primary runner-up Samuel Turner. Turner himself was appointed the county's chief legal representative for civil cases before resigning to become a Wayne County Circuit Court judge. Executive assistant Carol Steffani was drawn from the campaign of former county commission chief John Hertel. Assistant county executive for criminal justice Bryan

We've built a good, dedicated staff here," Duggan said. McNamara, though, is looking for even more coalition building as 1990 approaches. Strengthening what Duggan termed were already strong ties with the area's black leadership is a priority, he said.

McNamara is expected to run again, though he hasn't yet announced, and Duggan is a likely choice to head the re-election campaign and retain his post in a second McNamara administration.

Beyond that, Duggan isn't specu-lating on his future. His mother, Joan, is a former Livonia mayoral candidate. But whether he'll follow her on the campaign trail someday he isn't saying.

"Right now, I feel I have the best job in the world," Duggan said, surveying his third floor office in the historic Wayne County Building.

"I remember I used to come to this building when my dad had an office here. If anybody had told me then that (County Executive) Bill Lu-

UM-D, Oakland are winners in budget war

By Tim Richard staff writer

Two commuter universities found they did fairly well when the dust settled on the 1990 legislative budget

"Relative to the others, we did OK." said Oakland University president Joseph Champagne. OU got an overall increase of 4.6 percent, and its per-student aid will rise to $3,712 compared to $3,600 in the current

"The mood here is almost glee," safti Steve Waasko, news service chief at the University of Michigan-Dearborn, UM-D was boosted 5.1 percent overall, and per-student aid will reach the "floor" of $3,300.

THE STATE Senate had sought to adopt an enrollment-driven formula for aiding the 15 public universities.

Politically, it was Sen. William Sederburg, R-East Lansing, chair of the appropriations subcommittee on higher education, versus House appropriations chair Dominic Jacobetti, D-Negaunee, and Gov. James J. Blanchard, who had favored flat percentage increases for everyone, regardless of enrollment growth or shrinkage

Hines Park: Getaway for quiet summer day

Hines Park can be a pretty terrific place to spend a quiet summer afternoon. Families, vacationers and workers from nearby companies slip away to the park each day for sun bathing or an outdoor lunch. Above, Rob Anderson of Novi welcome the sun. much to the amusement of Westland resident Heidi Haas. At left, Erica D'Angelo, 8, and her brother Jamie, 7, try their hand at fishing while their mother, Barbara, looks on. The family lives in Salem Township. The park is also a nice place for a quiet conversation, as the pair on the right shows. Many people stop off in the park for a few relaxing moments before beginning their drive home. The rambling Wayne Countyowned park stretches along Hines Drive, extending from Plymouth Township, through Livonia and Westland, to Dearborn Heights.

Staff photos by Jim Jagdfeld and Chuck Heiney

It was a perfect afternoon for a stroll in the park — hot and sunny with miles of soothing greenery. Yet Edward Hines Park was not teeming with people. A couple here, a sunbather there and a few joggers thrown in for good measure. Serious minded bicyclists pedaled at fast pace. Walkers in clipped rhythmic fashion made their way along winding Hines Drive. An energetic Irish setter gave his master a brisk workout.

Dotted sporadically between the trees, their cars parked along gravel paths, workers on lunch break and moms with kids took a breather from daily routines.

Tammy Clark of West Bloomfield and David Weakland of Perrysburg Township, Ohio, both employees of Fretter's Appliance main store in Livonia, stretched out for some sun on a yellow blanket.

"We don't come out here much at lunch time - this is the first time this year," said Craig, swishing around the remainder of a McDonald's Coke. "Today's a nice day and we like the outdoors."

Nankin Mills, with about a half dozen cars parked along its hairpin gravel roadway, was one of the more crowded spots.

Under one tree Jim Hutchings of Plymouth, who works at Crestwood Dodge in Garden City, was lunching with wife, Cindy, and month old son,

"We brought him out for lunch to-day," said Cindy. The couple was eating carryout from Little Caesar's

"We like the park to relax," her husband added. Little Evan seemed oblivious to his surroundings, bundled in an infant carrier on top of the nicnic table next to his parents. He is their firstborn.

Just a stone's throw away, buddies Jim Radford of Livonia and Dave Hennicken of Westland chatted. Radford, who works for United Parcel Service, was on vacation. Hennicken, employed by Ram Chargers in Livonia, was on lunch break.

"I COME HERE every now and then," said Radford. "I drive through here. It's an easy way to get to work no stop lights. You can watch the Down at Merriman Hollow, Cheryl Hoskins and her 4-year-old son, Stevie, walked down from their Westland apartment complex to enjoy the park. Seated at their picnic table was Ron Jones, also of Westland, who Hoskins described as a "park regular."

'I JUST came down from Hawthorne Apartments where I live," Hoskins said. "There isn't much up there, just a swimming pool. (Jones is) here all the time."

His skin already deep bronze, Jones said he enjoys soaking up the sun. About 20-feet away, his car stereo blared rock music. "It smells down here, don't you think," Hoskins said. "It smells like frogs or something."

If indeed frog odor was in the air. it didn't seem to bother anyone much. With Stevie at her side, Hoskins seemed content to stay put.

Just another day in the park.

Firefighters take part in crash rescue training

Below is their entry. The event, co-sponsored by the Detroit chapter of the American Institute of Architects was open to design professionals. Sand sculptors gathered at the park volleyball courts to craft their wares. Though only three teams entered, castlebuilders went all-out to design the most elaborate and ornate sand sculpture. It was the second annual event. An estimated 40 people participated. Last year's winner, The Warlords, a group of former U-D students, finished second. Casties were judged on the basis of concept, originality and execution. The Farmington Hills firm will keep the winner's trophy for one year. Despite the hard work, the sand sculptures had a short life span. Most were destroyed less than two hours after the event's com-

Wilcox project

City should stop apartments

property on Kellogg Park is going to be renovated, but the most recent plans seem a bit much for downtown Plymouth.

The home's owner, Jack Wilcox, will be going te the Plymouth Planning Commission on Wednesday, Aug. 9, to ask for permission to build two, 51/2 story apartment complexes with 30 apartments in each building.

Structures of such height placed in downtown Plymouth where most buildings don't go over three or four stories is equivalent to having two high-rise buildings.

.We think it's the wrong thing for downtown Plymouth. Also, we're afraid it represents a significant change in the direction of the downtown

One of the reasons people live in the community is that it has a small town atmosphere. And placing two nearly six-story buildings next to Kellogg Park starts to erode that atmosphere.

And once a developer gets city approval to put up five and six story buildings, others are bound to follow. High-rise apartments will beget plans for glass and steel office buildings. It's not the direction in which we think Plymouth should go.

But it seems like that's the price Jack Wilcox sasking in return for renovating his house. Such renovation would make a lot of people happy. But just getting it painted would have satisfied those critics.

It seems to us that Wilcox is dangling a carrot in front of the city. The house will be renovated if the city accepts two apartment buildings.

We just hope the planning commission and the city commission don't bite.

Something different could be done with the Wilcox property, and since the city must approve the plans for the project, we think officials a better quality of future nominees.

E'RE HAPPY TO SEE that the Wilcox should use the opportunity to prod Wilcox and the developer, Marcello and Silvio Building Co., into doing something more with the property than just building another apartment complex.

There are indications that the project could involve, the purchase and tearing down of the Plymouth Grange nearby. We would hate to see the Grange go. Just by its location in the city, it helps gives Plymouth the rural character that residents value.

Also, the tearing down of the Grange and the building of two nearly six-story towers furthers the Birminghamization of Plymouth. Currently, Plymouth is a town with drug stores, barbershops and hardware stores. However, with high-rise buildings moving in, such a town can become an endangered species. Trendy stores that pay high rents start moving in, pushing out the more traditional, but lower-rent type

What results is a Birmingham-type town, which isn't really a town at all, but a collection of high-priced stores.

And it's something we don't want to see in Plymouth. We just hope city officials think about that next week when they meet to discuss the Wilcox project. There's more to it than the house and the apartment buildings.

If the planning commission approves the project, they are telling developers that it's open season in Plymouth.

And that's a big price to pay for having the Wilcox house renovated.

The planning commission and city commission have a chance to set a tone for Plymouth when dealing with the Wilcox project. Will they push the city toward becoming another Birmingham or will they chart a new course for the city?

Avoid the pig snouts when rating teachers

THINK HOT DOGS when pondering national educational standards. That's right, hot dogs, just like you buy at the ball park or hockey game. Education and hot dogs have a lot

Michigan, you see, has higher hot dog standards than most other states and certainly more than the most vaunted national standards.

We've managed to do away with most of those rotten byproducts which haunt other hot dogs around the nation. Something akin to nutritional value comes into the vocabulary when talking our dogs. Not so with those full of pig snouts and ears.

National education certification - now that is even more frightening than a bad hot dog.
But that's the thinking of some bureaucrats out there in the great hinterland of red tape and paper clips. The plan - certify teachers by some weak-kneed national standard.

THANK HEAVENS, a lot of heat will be raised over this issue by the teachers' unions, mostly for the wrong reasons, mind you. But anything which will kill off this crazy idea is good enough.

Southfield associate superintendent Roger Allen calls it a "significant step." I guess agreement would be in order if you count backward steps as significant.

In very few circumstances does centralization work. In education it never works. Education is the last bastion of local autonomy. It also is Local school boards aren't beholden to some narrow-minded pencilpusher, securely lodged in a Washington office.

This whole argument comes under the competition ethic. We all know that properly guided competition makes this country thrive. Misguided regulation makes it suffer.

MICHIGAN HAS a higher standard than most. Many southern states have a lower standard than most. A national governing board, as is the nature of national regulating groups, would probably come out somewhere in the middle.

Or even worse, it could perpetuate regulations which would force the lowest common denominator on the entire nation.

For a country of government bureaucrats who take pride in maligning communist countries for their mistaken bent for centralization, our national leaders certainly never seem to miss a chance at a hunk of central control for themselves.

Hoben won't listen

To the editor:

"Certainly there is an awareness out there that wasn't there before. I hope we'll continue to have that type of communication and they stay involved," said a quote of Dr. (John) Hoben in the June 15 Observer, after

That's not the communication I got when contacting Dr. Hoben and Shirley Spaniel's offices. I began calling June 8 about problems at Fiegel School and concerns about bond purchases. I tried daily for a week and could only voice my concerns to their secretaries. I could not get an appointment to see either one so I said I'd settle for a phone call. I received none until after my sixth call to Dr. Hoben's secretary, whom I vented my frustration on. These are our children in these Plymouth-Canton schools - and we pay our taxes to educate them. The least they can do is have the courtesy to listen, instead of being rude and ignoring my calls, my concerns as a parent, taxpayer and voter.

After apologizing to Dr. Hoben's secretary - it's not her fault. But, she was the only one they would let me talk to. Shirley Spaniel did call me and I explained about the problem at Fiegel she said she was not aware of. And some concerns regarding bond purchases made items the principal stated she purchased. I have questions regarding bond money being used for text-books. It was stated that bond money bought an HBJ Reading Series, and there are other stated bond purchases that I had questions about. At a PTO Council meeting Dr. Hoben had said bond money had to be spent on the items specified in the bond issue.

Mrs. Spaniel said she would have her secretary get the master list and check Fiegel's purchases. I asked her when she would call me back with this information so I could settle this in my mind once and for all. She said to give her a week, she was very busy, that she would definitely call me by June 23.

The CREW committee found communication was one of the major complaints of the district, it was said that they would work on improving communication. It seems to me we just got lip service. I am very offended at the treatment I received. I have given Mrs. Spaniel the benefit of the doubt and waited over a month. Have I gotten a phone call? No. Am I surprised? No! Gale Owens,

'Junk mail' column series was biased

I am writing regarding the rather biased series of articles being written by Ms. Dorothy Lehmkuhl concerning "junk mail."

Newspapers need extensive paid advertising in order to be profitable. Therefore, isn't it a little unethical to attack a competing advertising medium (mail) without acknowledging this conflict of interest?

Many individuals enjoy the freedom of shopping by mail in the comfort of their home. For others, such as senior citizens and invalids, it can be their only direct link to a variety of goods and services. It seems Ms. Lehmkuhl took the easy way out in writing her column rather than spend the time and effort researching the subject so she could inform and help her readers. Here are just a couple ideas gleaned from articles written by more energetic columnists:

 To the person complaining they purchase from one catalog and then receive catalogs from other compa-Tell Ms. Lehmkuhl, most catalog

Tell Ms. Lehmkuhl, to have them write to: Direct Marketing Association, Inc., Mail Preference Service, 6 East 43rd Street, New York 10017.

The association will tell their members to remove the individual from their mailing lists.

In closing, I would like to comment on her support of a tax to dispose of unwanted mail. Would it not be a good idea to also apply this to newspapers? The volume of newspapers discarded daily vastly exceeds unwanted mail.

Perhaps there should be a limitation on the number of advertising pages in the newspaper?

Yogurt business is when abortion funds cut newest retail trend

I usually call my friend who lives in California to track them. For whatever reason, they seem to start there and eventually wend their way to Detroit and its suburbs.

So generally, I was lying in wait for the cookie nooks, the video stores, the muffin shops, the oatbran muffins in muffin shops, the oat-bran in everything including cookles, the soft yogurt parlors. Somewhere in there, car telephones and facsimile machines came along.

In case you hadn't noticed, we're in the heat of the soft yogurt rage

It may not be spreading at the rate video stores once did - that's of course before the biggies came in and knocked the smaller ones off the block.

But, almost. Case in point, on Walnut Lake Road near Inkster on the West Bloomfield/Bloomfield Township border, a soft yogurt parlor has just replaced the defunct video store.

AND LAST SUMMER, it was a lineup on every torrid night (and there were a lot of them - remember?) at the TCBY on Orchard Lake north of Maple in ever-trendy West Bloomfield.

Now, there's seldom even a wait because of the invasion.

Soft yogurt is in - everywhere. Besides the shop in every mall, soft yogurt machines recently were add-

Now, you can move down the aisle spooning or licking the soft creamy stuff while you shop - by paying for it ahead at the deli counter when you're buying your luncheon meats

And for many of those trends you put in your mouth you can now "fax" out for - and have them waiting unless, of course, you'd rather phone ahead from your car!

What you put in your mouth is not the only obvious out-on-the-street trend. Sure, there are still joggers. But they have been joined, perhaps outnumbered, by the race walkers, the bikers (helmets on - a healthy trend toward safety), and most recently, the roller bladers.

In fact, the height of trendiness was one of my neighbors spooning it up in a soft yogurt shop outfooted in the newest aerobic trend - roller blades - on which he had skated

For those who choose the inside in ed to your regular ice cream store, which to exercise, aerobics are a aerobics, then low-impact aerobics, now it's high-low aerobics. Costumewise, you used to see the legwarmers that dancers wear. Well, no more. It's shorts-length or knee-length tights topped by a muscle shirt - and let those calves just hang right out. I guess they don't need to be kept warm after all.

SO WHAT'S NEXT?

THE FIRST post-A debate has oc-curred in Lansing, and it came out a Proposal A, if your memory goes back to 1988, did away with Medicaid-paid abortions. Government had been paying for about 18,500 a year at a cost of $6 million, but voters

Most of that debate had to do with "a woman's right" versus "a baby's right," and little of it had to do with what happens to our state budget if Proposal A passes.

Until two weeks ago.

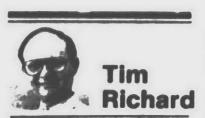

A CONFERENCE committee that included Sen. R. Robert Geake, R-Northville, was trying to achieve compromise on the House and Senate versions of the Department of Social Services budget.

The Blanchard administration reasoned that with fewer abortions, more babies would be born on welfare, and Michigan would need $10 million more to support them. Later DSS chief Patrick Babcock came up with a figure of $8.6 million.

The House of Representatives guessed it could cost $7 million.

The Senate, through Geake, said zero. It won't take any more money to put additional bables on welfare because the welfare birth rate won't

They finally compromised on $3.5 million. Actually, however, the issue won't be decided by Blanchard, Babcock, Geake or anyone else in government. It will be decided by the number of women who get pregnant when neither they nor the fathers have incomes.

BOTH SIDES — "pro life" and "pro choice" — agree that women on welfare will continue to have abortions, even without government

They agreed the abortion rate will drop 20 to 25 percent. The money will come from somewhere because rarely are folks on welfare totally without cash. And without government subsidies, doctors will reduce the prices of abortions.

Pro-choice people assume more babies will be born. I've never read why they make that assumption.

Geake, who is in the pro-life camp, cited Georgia. He could also have

The numbers, interestingly, come from the Guttmacher Institute, financed by Planned Parenthood, one of the leading pro-choice groups.

After the federal government in 1977 decided it wouldn't pay for abortions, Ohio and Georgia withheld state aid for abortions.

In 1978 Ohio found that the number of induced abortions among welfare-eligible women dropped to 2,600 (rounded off) from 4,000 the year before. But were there 1,400 more births? No. the number of live births fell from 6,200 to 5,900.

In 1978 Georgia showed 1,200 abortions compared to 1,500 the prior year. Were there 300 more births? No, the number of births dropped by 29 to 6,829.

Why? Well, the guess is that eliminating government-paid abortions not only reduces the number of abertions but also the number of conceptions but also the number of conceptions. tions. In other words, couples get more careful about conceiving.

PRO-CHOICF people see the DSS debate as irrelevant because they're concerned with an individual wornan's right to choose, whatever the statistical results. Pro-life people are concerned with the soul of a fetus and don't care if it costs $26 million more in state support of wel-

You'll notice I take no sides in their debate. My field is the effect of government money on human behavlor, not legalistic and theological

The issue, as I said, will not be decided in the appropriations commit-tee room in the State Capitol basement. This isn't like road building. where you spend the available money and then the road stops. It isn't like school budgeting, where you hire teachers until the mondy runs out.

The issue will be decided in bedrooms. But my notion is that Michigan humans are similar to Ohio and Georgia humans, and that couples will tend to be more careful now that there are no more freebies at the abortion clinic.

College planning should be discussed early

GOING OUT OF

EVERYTHING MUST GO!!!

STARTING AUGUST 3RD

Q: My son is going into his senior year. I am concerned because he hasn't taken any time to seriously study which college to attend after he graduates next year. I am worried because his senior year will be starting in another month. We have talked about it but not really investigated college selection. We will talk to his counselors about this issue. However, he does have a 3.5 grade point average so I guess he will be able to attend any school he wants. This is the first child we have going to college and I think it is time my husband, my son and I sat down and made some decisions.

A: You should have sat down in his freshman or sophomore year and began discussing colleges - you are considering one of life's major deci-

Why students wait till the senior year is mind-boggling but not untypi-

On the other hand, some students' decisions are literally made for them. Consciously or unconsciously, these will be going to the parent's alma mater, their brother or girlfriend's institution, where their buddy will be attending or the site of the great football team; it is hoped to an institution that offers a curriculum in line with their goals.

PLEASE SIT down now and discuss specific issues with your son. As a family, the first factor you need to consider is based on economic determination.

How much money do you have available for your son's education? Costs range from approximately $1,600 at a community college to $12,000 at a private liberal arts college to $17,000 at an out-of-state quality institution.

If money is tight, as you indicated in your letter, you should consider a room and board. Your son will receive as fine a first two years of education (if he selects the right teachers) as he would at any of the institutions in the state of Michigan.

Indeed, many large major institutions use graduate assistants to teach the first two years - the tried and true professors teaching upper grades or graduate school.

IN MY opinion, the size of the school is a critical issue. Some students literally get emotionally lost in

30,000 students are running around.

On the other hand, some students can't stomach the small liberal arts schools of 1,000 students and tend to feel the students are pumped out of the same mold with little diversification in thought or ideas.

The idea that a 3.5 grade point average will get your child into every school is a misconception. Some major universities and colleges in the state could fill an enrollment with 3.6 or 3.7 if that were the only criteria used for college entrance. Institutions tend to look for a solid academic background, but also for a well-rounded person who will contribute in many ways.

Since your son is not sure of his chosen profession but does know he prefers business courses, determine, with the assistance of his counselor, which schools offer quality business/ accounting programs.

Remember, however, that 50 per-don't fill out 15 applications. You 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150 cent of all college students change their curriculum by the end of their sophomore year. This is why colleges put students in a general liberal arts type curriculum the first two years and then focus on the student's major area the last two years.

NEXT, YOU must make some college visits. After you have narrowed your choice to a few specific schools, call the admissions office and set up a tour to visit each campus.

Do this now — this August — don't wait until school starts. Your son will be up to his ears in classes, activities, taking the SAT or ACT, etc. Talk to some campus teachers, review their curriculum, visit the student union, find out their job placement record for business majors.

Next file two or three applications to different institutions if your son is not positive of his choice. However, waste the college admissions officer's time and high school coun-selor's time by applying to institutions that your son may not want or even qualify for.

Open and honest communication with your son is critical. Help your son think this issue through, but pre-serve his sense of self-esteem and confidence by allowing his to be the major force in the decision-making process. And start thinking apil studying about a college or career choice for siblings early on. Dun't wait until their senior year.

The next time you go into a restaurant, take a good look at the walls. Chances are, you'll see some art work.

That art work may have been created by Northville Township residents Dennis Larsson and Janisse Lahti Larsson. Their work is displayed throughout the country, from Palm Beach to Hanover, N.H.

"There's a lot of restaurants we've worked on," Dennis Larsson said. They're working on chalk drawings for Olga's restaurants in the metropolitan Detroit area. That project will include approximately 10 to 15 drawings per restaurant.

THEY'RE ALSO doing 50-some paintings for The Summit Restaurant in Detroit's Renaissance Center. Janisse is doing most of that work. The project is scheduled to be completed by late September.

"It's going to be a beautiful place," Dennis said.

The largest painting will be 80-by-30 feet. The paintings will show various facets of Detroit's architecture.

The River Bistro in Detroit's Westin Hotel includes six 16-by-3-foot paintings the Large did. Those colorful, upbatt paintings have a look you'd find in a Paris cafe.

"They're fun kind of paintings," Dennis said. "They're very different from anything you'd see in Detroit."

THE LARSSONS grew up in the Detroit area. He's a graduate of Livonia Bentley High School, and she's a graduate of Livonia Steven-son High School.

Both attended the University of Michigan, where they studied art them to the University of Uppsala, north of Stockholm in Sweden.

They've been working professionally as artists since 1974 or so, and also sold some work during their student days. The Larssons, parents of 8-year-old Kirsten and 3-year-old Trevor, recently returned to Michigan after having lived in Vermont for 13 years.

Dennis designed the family's Vermont house and much of the its furnishings. Metropolitan Home magazine named him one of its personal style winners and featured the family's house in 1988.

MOST OF Janisse's work is painting. One project she completed involved painting animal scenes oh doors of examination rooms at the Shriner's Hospital in Tampa, Fla.

"I just tried to keep the color real soft," she said.

The manatee, for example, was painted in its natural soft gray

"I just tried to make all the art work real pleasing and not frighteng," she said.

Both have done illustrative work including signs for various businesses. During those years in Vermont, they did various graphic work projections.

The kids at Children's World enjoy visiting Plymouth Township Park and Griffin Park, she said. She too has some ideas about what makes a park the ideal place to be.

"Some place kind of quiet, with lots of trees and shade," Campeau said.. "I'd rather go and sit by the pond."

The city of Plymouth also includes a number of parks. Kellogg Park, at Ann Arbor Trail and Main Street, is at the heart of downtown. The park is closed 10 p.m. to 5 a.m.

Everybody thinks of downtown, they think of Kellogg Park," said Tom Willette, assistant recreation director for the city of Plymouth.

Kellogg Park doesn't have any playground equipment, although it does have a fountain in the center of the park; some comfortable benches and plenty of trees. Kellogg Park is the site of such popular events as the Plymouth Fall Festival and summer concerts presented by the Plymouth Community Band and the Plymouth Community Arts Council.

Nearby communities have a lot to offer

Visiting a park or playground is an enjoyable way to spend part or all of a day. What follows is a summary of popular playgrounds and parks in nearby communities. Per-haps you'd like to take some time to explore the metropolitan area's all-time favorite playgrounds.

Farmington /Farmington Hills:

You don't have to be a child to play in the parks in Farmington/ Parmington Hills.

Farmington City Park, Shiawas-see at Power, is made up of 18 acres along the Upper Middle Rouge Riv-er. In addition to baseball diamonds, the park offers two play areas with swings and slides and an 860-equarefoot covered picnic shelter.

Sports fans can take advantage of the two soccer fields and two basehall diamonds in Pioneer Park, on westbound Farmington Road, north of 13 Mile Road, Farmington Hills. The 15-acre athletic park also offers a picnic area for players.

THE TWO baseball fields, named in memory of civic activists Sandy Friedman and Jim Ellis, double as additional soccer fields in the fall. Although many leagues use the facility, it's open to everyone. As with all of the area's parks, Pioneer is open from dawn to dusk.

Family-oriented programs are offered during late summer and early fall in Heritage Park on the grounds of the Eleanor Spicer estate, on west Farmington Road between 10 and 11 Mile roads, Farmington Hills.

Spicer's arts-and-crafts-style house was built in the 1920s and has been designated a historic residence. Designed by architect Marcus Burrowes, it will reopen as a visitors'

Nature classes are conducted 10 a.m. to noon the third Saturday of each month throughout the year. Classes are open to everyone of at least elementary school age. As with all of the park's organized activities, there is a fee. For details, call the Parmington Hills Parks and Recreation Department, 473-9570.

People who aren't residents of Farmington or Farmington Hills will be charged an additional fee.

CHILDREN AGES 5-8 can bring their teddy bears to breakfast 9-10:30 a.m. Saturday, Aug. 5. The same age group can attend a back-to-school breakfast 9-10:30 a.m. Saturday, Sept. 9. Call for reservations.

It's tea time for girls ages 4-7 Saturday, Aug. 12. They're encouraged to dress in the best of mom's or grandmother's cast-off clothes.

From mid-September through October, hayrides will be offered through the trails at Heritage Park.

Westland:

The city of Westland has 17 city parks and the always-popular Hines Park, which winds through the northern portion of the community. The hidden jewel when it comes to entertaining youngsters, however, is Tattan Park, on Carlson just south of Ford Road.

IT'S LITERALLY a children's park, with a merry-go-round, rocking borses, Tot Town and a sevenhouse play area. Developed in the late 1970s, the park has a rustic appearance with split-rail fencing to set it off from its 110-acre neighbor, Central City Park. It also has a pavilion that is used for many of the city's parks and recreation department summer programs.

It's a short walk over a wooden bridge to Central City Park. That park offers tennis courts, a baseball diamond, a physical fitness trail with exercise stations, and a small lake where "small fry" have been known to catch one or two fish. The lake also attracts wild ducks and Canada geese, neither of which op-pose free handouts from park visi-

Garden City:

Garden City has nine parks, in addition to the county's meandering Hines Park. City Park, on the northeast corner of Merriman and Cherry Hill, is the best bet for spending a day communing with nature or just having fun.

YOUNGSTERS CAN enjoy playing on the playground, stocked with swings, a jungle gym, slide and mer-ry-go-round. Children can then cool off over lunch in the picnic grove or at the pavilion. The picnic area comes complete with grills, a good invitation to an afternoon or evening

There are also always-important restrooms, ball diamonds and horseshoe pits, not to mention swimming and wading pools. The pools have open swimming 1-3:45 p.m. and 5:30-

While it doesn't have permanent restrooms, parents will be glad to know that there are portable toilets at the park. More permanent facilities are across the street at Ford Field, site of baseball diamonds and the Eddie Edgar Ice Arena.

For information, call 261-2260.

Redford Township

Redford Township has three major parks, numerous small recreation areas set up for ballplaying and two Wayne County parks - Lola Valley and Bell Creek.

The standout when it comes to entertaining youngsters is Capitol Park a "hidden" park site in terms of finding it. Capitol Park is at Capitol and Hemingway, between I-96 and Plymouth Road. To get there, it's best to take Beech Daly south to Capitol, head west on Capitol and keep driving to the park.

gram. More children participated than did in earlier years. The children who can read on their own read more books than in years past.

This summer, the independent readers read some 6,681 books.

"I think they like to read," Teachworth said. Children also enjoy attending the summer activity sessions at the library.

Various contests were held as part of the "Reach for the Stars" program, with winners' names posted at Teachworth said.

the celebration party.

"That encourages them, I think, to be a part of the library," Teachworth said. She and the other librarians are already planning next summer's program.

Children who read a certain number of books, or had a certain number read to them, received "Eager Reader" coupons from Hardee's. The children also received certificates noting their achievement.

"So there are a lot of incentives for them to come in and read,"

A major expansion project is under way at the church, on North Territorial west of Sheldon in Plymouth Township. Construction work started last November.

"It's proceeding quite well," said the Rev. John Grenfell Jr., the pastor. He and others at the church hope to be moved into the new administrative office wing at the end of the first full week of August.

The project includes construction of a new sanctuary for the church. The old sanctuary is to be turned into a fellowship hall.

New administrative offices, a choir room and library are to be included, with a new parlor and kitchen. The building will be barrier-free.

The present office space, parlor and kitchen areas will be used for classroom space. The general contractor for the project is T.H. Marsh Co. of Livonia. Project cost is approximately $3.2

The First United Methodist Church of Plymouth has just over 1,400 members. The church has been in Plymouth more than 160 years; members have worshiped at the church on North Territorial since Grenfell and other church leaders anticipate the work being done some time next spring. There's some talk of being in the new sanctuary by ed some five years ago. A future Christmas this year, but that's not a planning task force looked at the certainty.

"You know how building programs go," Grenfell said.

Dealing with the construction has required a certain amount of patience and flexibility on the part of the staff and church members

Heart patients need exercise

Although cardiac rehabilitation programs generally provide heart patients with risk factor education and counseling, mid-to-moderate exercise therapy remains a key compo-

Unfortunately, due to the claims of a few overzealous enthusiasts. heart patients who embark on physical conditioning programs often do so with unrealistic expectations. Consequently, there is a need to clar-ify the benefits and limitations of exercise therapy for patients who have had heart attacks, bypass surgery, or balloon angioplasty.

Doctors now realize that regular aerobic exercise offers numerous benefits to the cardiac patient. It decreases the heart rate at rest and at any given level of exercise. As a result, anginal symptoms (chest pain) may be reduced.

Research has also shown that exercise training increases the cardiac patients' capacity to take in and uti-called HDL, can be increased with as regular exercise increases either the lipe oxygen - often by as much as 20 to 30 percent. This improved oxygen transport capacity gives the patient more energy, thereby reducing

EXERCISE ALSO has favorable effects on selected "risk factors" associated with heart disease. For example, elevated blood fats such as cholesterol and triglycerides can be reduced by a moderate exercise program, particularly when there is a concomitant weight loss. Moreover, the "good" form of cholesterol,

A recent analysis also revealed that exercise by itself — independent of weight loss and other factors — can significantly reduce resting blood pressure in moderately hypertensive persons: Average reductions tensive persons. Average reductions were about 10 millimeters of mercury for both systolic and diastolic ood pressure. Additional benefits of regular endurance exercise include decreases in body weight, fat stores, and stress levels. Cardiac exercisers also report increases in self-confidence, particularly in relation to physical tasks, an improved sense of wellbeing, decreased depression and anxiety, and more pep and zest for life.

ON THE OTHER hand, there are limitations to the benefits of exercise therapy. Unfortunately, we have no good scientific evidence that collaterals) feeding the heart mus-cie. Exercise also does little to improve the puming capacity (termed the ejection fraction) of a damaged heart. Furthermore, a physical conditioning program will not necessarily prevent heart disease from wors-

In summary, regular exercise should be part of a comprehensive cardiac rehabilitation program for heart patients, which also includes vigorous efforts at smoking cessation, blood pressure control, and dietary modification. It's important, howver, to put the benefits of exercise into proper perspective.

August features lunar eclipse Students need homes

The last half of August features two eclipses - only one of which is visible to us.

Full moon is at 11:07 p.m. on Aug. 16. The moon is opposite the sun, as seen from the earth, and is fully lighted. In fact, the moon is exactly opposite the two, and it will be totaleclipsed as it passes through the earth's shadow. This is a lunar eclipse, an eclipse (covering) of the

The earth always casts a shadow. It always points away from the sun and out into space. When the moon is opposite the sun, as the moon is during its full phase, it usually passes above or below our shadow and remains lighted. But should things line up precisely, the moon will pass through the shadow, and the light of the sun, streaming past the earth is

Many eclipses are partial; the alignment is close, but not exact. The moon will pass through a part of the shadow and only a portion of the moon will darken. This month, however, the alignment happens to be quite precise. This wil produce a total eclipse; the moon will be totally covered and should darken considerably. The last total eclipse visible from our area was in 1982.

THE ECLIPSE officially begins at 8:24 p.m. when the moon enters the penumbra (pen UM bra), the faint outer shadow of the earth. Because this part of the shadow is very faint, no change in the moon will be noticed to the casual observer.

At 9:20 p.m. the moon begins to enter the umbra, the darker part of the shadow. During the next hour the moon will darken from left to right until it is completely in the shadow.

Totality will begin at 10:20 p.m. The moon will be totally within our shadow for the next one hour and 36 minutes. The darkest "phase" of the eclipse will be at 11:08 p.m., when the moon is near the center point of the eclipse. The top part of the moon is nearest the central part of the shadow and should appear slightly darker than the rest of the moon.

During totality, the moon probably will not disappear from view, as the sun does during a total solar eclipse. Enough sunlight streaming past the earth will be refracted (bent) by our atmosphere and will illuminate the moon, but with an eerie red glow. (Sunrises and sunsets are red because our atmosphere refracts the sunlight's spectrum. This same

It is not possible to predict how "dark," or how red, the moon will be. Each lunar eclipse appears differently. The more dust and pollutanis we have in our atmosphere, the redder the moon. In December 1963, volcanic eruptions on the earth caused more light than usual to be blocked by our atmosphere, and the moon disappeared from view during

TOTAL PHASE ends at 11:56 p.m. as the orbit of the moon begins to carry it out of our shadow. The moon will be partially eclipsed again, getting light from left to right, from 11:56 p.m. until 12:56 a.m.

The moon will still be eclipsed by the fainter penumbra until 1:52 a.m., but for all intents and purposes the show is over at 12:56 a.m. The next total eclipse won't be visible from our area until December 1992.

An eclipse of the moon is totally safe to observe. Best views of the eclipse will be through binoculars or with a telescope at low power, although there will be plenty to enjoy if you just go out and watch with the

One week after the total eclipse of the full moon, the moon is at Last Quarter phase (officially at 2:40 p.m. on August 23). Look high in the southeast, about 45 minutes before sunrise on the 23rd, and locate the moon in Taurus. Below and to the left of the moon is the beautiful Pleiades (PLEE a dees) star cluster. This is the "shoulder" of Taurus. The bull's "eye," the orange-red star Aldebaran (al DEB a ran), is located below the Pleiades. On the morning of the 24th, the moon forms a triangle with the Pleiades and Aldebaran.

The Voyager 2 spacecraft will have its closest encounter with the outermost planet of the solar system, Neptune, on Aug. 24 and 25. (Because of the high eccentricity (oval shape) of Pluto's orbit, Pluto is actually closer to the sun than Neptune and will remain so until 1999.) While this event is certainly not visible to us, it is interesting to make note of mankind's involvement with an object that is more than 3 billion

Launched in 1977, two Voyager spacecraft were sent on a mission to examine the planets Jupiter and Saturn. After these encounters the spacecraft would both cruise the empty blackness of space for all eternity. A meeting with Pluto is not

The moon is near the "heads" of the Gemini twins on the 27th. The star to the left of the moon is Pollux and above Pollux is Castor. On the 28th the moon is located below Castor and Pollux.

Mercury is at maximum elongation (greatest apparent distance) from the sun on August 29. It will be 27 degrees east (left) of the sun in the evening sky, but it is close to the horizon and very difficult to see.

The second New Moon of the month is at 1:44 a.m. on Aug. 31. But, unlike the new moon of Aug. 1, this time the moon is located nearly exactly between the earth and the sun and there will be a partial solar eclipse. The bad news is: this eclipse is not visible from our area. It occurs at midnight, at which time the sun is not in the Michigan sky. To see this eclipse, you need to be in southern Africa, Madagascar or the Indian Ocean.

Southfield law firm fights software battle

staff writer

At what point does an idea take on qualities so explicit and exacting that it becomes like no other and can be

A Southfield lawyer is about to take that question, long fought in the music industry over song lyrics and sound-alike refrains, and in literary disputes over plagiarized passages, to trial.

This time, though, the battle for what now is called "intellectual property" will be fought over similarities between products developed by two competing comput-

Ashton-Tate of Torrance, Calif., is suing Fox Software, of Perrysburg, Ohio, for copyright infringement of its dBase program. dBase is a database that allows users to enter almost any type of information into the program and then store, sort and recall it in a variety of ways. Foxbase does the same thing in much the same

STANLEY WITKOW, general counsel for Ashton-Tate, says Fox Software pretty much lifted dBase, renamed it Foxbase and is now marketing the program as its own. Ernie Brooks, a principal with Brooks & Kushman, the Southfield law firm representing Fox, says Fox didn't copy the program — it merely used the same computer language to create Foxbase that Ashton-Tate used to create dBase.

Two key points will be at issue in the trial if the case gets that far (each side thinks the other doesn't have a case and would be better off settling out of court).

Brooks says one can't copyright a computer language any more than one could copyright Spanish, and there-and Ashton-Tate don't quibble with the fact that a language shouldn't be copyrighted, but they say Foxbase has even adopted the "look and feel" of dBase, that the similarities are far greater than the differences, and hence the lawsuit.

"THEY CREATED a product that uses the same commands; it implements the dBase programming language that we created," Witkow said. "It emulates the look and feel of our product, the screen emulation and the order of command structure."

Brooks says the look and feel of the two products are not all that similar but adds they do operate in a similar fashion. "That was an objective - it was a design criteria." Brooks said.

Tom Lewry, who is working on the case with Brooks, agreed. "Somebody who knows how to use dBase can sit down and use Foxbase," Lewry said, adding that was done on purpose so users with dBase files could use them on Foxbase. Brooks is basing much of his case on the history of the development of dBase. According to Brooks:

 U.S. Government employees at Jet Propulsion Laboratories in California developed a computer data base program called JPLDIS in the mid '70s.

• Wayne Ratliff created Vulcon software in 1978 and based it on JPLDIS. Ashton-Tate took a license from Ratliff in 1980 and began marketing Vulcan under the name dBase II. • Ashton-Tate bought the rights to dBase from Ratliff in 1983.

Brooks practices patent and technical law cases in general because, besides his law degree, he has undergraduate and graduate degrees in engineering. He's handling this case in particular because a client in Toledo,

The battle for what now is called 'intellectual property' will be fought over similarities between products developed by two competing computer software firms.

who knows a member of the Fox corporate board, recommended him.

AROUND THIS time, Brooks says David Fulton and Richard LaValley entered the picture. Fulton is the founder and former chairman of the computer sciences department at Bowling Green State University; LaValley is an attorney and certified public accountant.

Before he founded Fox Software with LaValley, Fulton also founded and managed DACOR Inc., which designed and implemented systems software for corporations and wrote several business-oriented computer languages, according to Brooks.

They were writing applications, used dBase, found it had bugs and recreated the program as Foxbase, as a perfected version," Brooks said.

That's where the differences between the two programs are apparent, Brooks says. Fulton used the same language to create Foxbase but added several enhancements he thought users would find useful, in addition to being compatible with dBase, Brooks said. For example, the newest Ashton-Tate release, dBase IV.

ASHTON-TATE, IN prepared material, says Fulton went beyond that point and built into Foxbase the same look, feel and operating sequences as dBase.

By way of example, Ashton-Tate has distributed printouts of computer screens, one with a dBase command sequence, the other printout allegedly showing the same command sequence in Foxbase. The printouts appear

Brooks says Fulton sent a copy of Foxbase to Ashton-Tate prior to 1984 and asked if they wanted to buy it. "They weren't hiding it," Brooks said. "In 1984, Fox marketed it as Foxbase II. The only complaint from Ashton-Tate was 'don't use the Roman numeral II.'

"In 1986, Tate started to work to buy Foxbase because it (Foxbase) reached a level of development they didn't have. Negotiations fell apart in '87, but there still was no claim of rights infringement," Brooks added. The lawsuit was filed by Ashton-Tate in November

"THEY KNEW about it (Foxbase) in '84 and '87 and didn't do a god-damn thing," he added. Brooks contends Ashton-Tate filed the lawsuit because its newest product, dBase IV, isn't selling well among computer users and that they want to slow down sales of Foxbase, which Lewry says are doing very well.

The case presently is in discovery. Witkow said he didn't know when it would go to trial. "It depends on whether Fox is willing to settle," he said.

Brooks also isn't sure when it will go to trial but hasn't written off a settlement - from Fox's vantage point. "There doesn't seem to be any gracious way out for Ashton-Tate," he said.

Friedman expands beauty business in strip mall

staff writer

Tamara Friedman, Soviet emigre turned American entrepreneur, envisions a beauty institute aimed at good health, not pampered indulgence, a comprehensive center amid plush decor.

"Instead of 'let's go shopping' or 'let's go to lunch," I want people to say 'let's go to Tamara's," Friedman, 41, of West Bloomfield, Tamara Friedman: "Women are used to caring for others. Being cared for is a change for most."

This week Tamara's Institute de Beaute moved from cramped quarters on Northwestern Highway in Farmington Hills to an adjacent strip mall Friedman and partner Stan Finsilver are current-

The Courtyard, designed by J. Wolf & Associates of Southfield, offers 18,000 square feet of retail space, 7,000 of which will house Friedman's expanded institute. Other merchants include a hair salon, a boutique and an art gallery. Two spaces have yet to be let.

Based on Friedman's concept, patrons may spend the entire day shaping up and shopping without ever leaving the building.

LOCATION has served Friedman well.

In 1981, with Michigan's economy in a severe recession. Friedman and husband Eugene, both of whom left the Ukraine with twin daughters in 1975, paid $135,000 for a "smelly" building on an land in the then-relativ ly und area of Northwestern Highway just south of 14

Less than five years later, they paid $300,000 for an adjoining acre. Michigan's economy had substantially improved, and the location is now a major artery for traffic and shopping.

The idea of the strip mall emerged three years ago. After two years of frustration, the couple entered into a partnership with Finsilver, a West Bloomfield developer and contractor, to build Courtyard, a $2 million project.

"It's pretty scary. We're talking about hundreds of thousands of dollars. But I always wanted my own building," Friedman said.

Within the institute, 1,000 square feet of space is partitioned for a toning salon employing muscle stimulation by means of electrical current. A dietician and nutritionist will staff the salon that has yet to be named.

Other tenants include Linda Hayman Gallery of Southfield, which has leased 5,000 square feet fronting Northwestern, an area formerly occupied by Friendman's institute. A hair salon and a boutique will lease some 3,000 square feet, and another 2.800 square feet remain available.

"We could easily lease 100 percent but we are choosy about the tenants. We want businesses that complement each other," Friedman explained.

"Simple elegance is how interior designer Renee Garno describes the interior of Friedman's new quarters: corals and peaches draping pickled rosewood, marble and polished ceramic tile.

A posh lunch room allows for special offers like the Mother/Daughter Champagne Treat that, for $220, buys massage, makeup treatment and lunch for two, or Tamara's Day of Pampering for $170 that includes a light luncheon.

"WOMEN ARE USED to caring for others. Being cared for is a change for most," she said, in describing her institute modeled after luxury European spas Friedman recently visited.

'The way I felt there is how I want people to feel at my spa, like a princess who is well cared for." Friedman is "hooked" on European-styled Ith and beauty treatment, a system she said is based on natural products that purify the body.

"The difference in treatment is unbelieveable. There, it is to cure. Here, it is to pamper." She wants her patrons to "feel" the difference.

Friedman's new center features Europeanstyled body detoxification and skin remineralizing, a new line of French lotions prepared from mineral and seaweed oils, a muscle toning program employing electrical stimulation and a hydro tub. There is also a small health food bar.

Each patron receives a consultation. "Only when we know everything about them and they trust us" does treatment begin, including massage and facials, waxing, permanent makeup (tattooing) and scalp therapy, makeovers, manicure and pedicure and exercise, all aimed at purification and good grooming.

Friedman is preparing a pamphlet on how to apply health and beauty tips because "education, education, education is the key to my success.'

Joining Friedman is her "newest partner," daughter Gabriel, 20, a graduate of West Bloomfield High School. Gabriel's twin, Edita, a student at Michigan State University, aspires to be a doctor, a goal that once was Friedman's.

Friedman admits developing a strip mall is "pretty scary," but she says she's always wanted her own building.

Bartering instead of buying

special writer

Fred Detwiler traces his work in the business of bartering to organizing a radio station party on a shoe-

Detwiler was told the employees could have a party so long as he didn't spend any money

"I was also told I could trade anything I wanted in order to get what I needed. We did a lot of one-on-one trades with other busineses, such as swapping commercial air time for restaurants and printing services when we needed them," Detwiler said.

It didn't take him long to find out that air time wasn't the only commodity he would be able to barter. "Once I got going, restaurants were asking me to get them alternative advertising services and vice versa. The idea to start a trade exchange took off from there.'

As president of the Michigan Trade Exchange, Detwiler's operation, which began in 1978 and is based in Oak Park, now has several offices through the state and in Ohio.

"We now exchange products and services for business owners throughout the country and have just begun trading on an international basis.

Acting primarily as marketing agent and clearinghouse, members of the exchange trade items such as concert tickets, condominium vacations, and college tuition. Participating companies are issued a membership card for a one-time fee to obtain products and services from any of the 10,000 card holders. Members are charged a $425 fee to join the exchange.

Account credits and debits are issued as members provide or receive goods and services through the exchange network. For tax purposes, transactions are treated in the same manner as cash deals. "Unlike the one-on-one trade situation, a member may get tires from someone one week and be providing his or her service to someone else the next," Detwiler said. He sees his organization as helping businesses move inventory, conserve cash and generate new busi-

BUT TRADING goods and services isn't always practical for all business owners.

"I can think of 100 items I'd like to obtain on trade, but I can't think of a single person who'd want what I have to offer," says Walter Sundquist, owner of Heeney-Sundquist Funeral Home in Farmington.

"There are lots of products and services out there that would never be considered as part of a trade situation. It's like anything else that people may 'need' but aren't necessarily willing to trade for.

Sundquist adds that trading may also pose a problem for firms that offer goods and services involving large cash outlays. "I have a business associate who manufactures customized conveyor systems for industrial applications. If someone out there needed one, it sure would take quite a bit to get back the equivalent value of products or services.

Customer satisfaction is another issue to consider before taking the step to barter.

The UAW's resounding defeat in Smyrna, Tenn., which is where they make Nissan automobiles these days, touched off a lot of handwringing about the fate of organized labor in general and the UAW in par-

It wasn't the first defeat for the UAW in its effort to expand its membership to include the so-called 'transplants," those auto production facilities owned and operated mainly by the Japanese on U.S. soil. The majority of Honda workers in Marysville Ohio, for example, turned down the UAW even after four members of the powerhouse crew founded what must have been the smallest UAW local in history. So far, the major inroads in organizing have been in plants co-owned by the Big Three, such as the GM-Toyota California

Of course, the greater Smyrna metropolitan area has never been a hothed of union activity anyway, one reason why Marvin Runyon, the fur-mer head of Ford manufacturing who directed site selection for the Nessan plant, chose the place to be-

Local culture puts the UAW in the same pot with big business, big finance and other evils of Up North that had them falling asleep in Detroit City and dreaming about the cotton fields back home for years. Now the benevolence of a company that brings wages at least comparable to the industrial North without the long bus ride seems sent from heaven.

The Japanese scare their children with comic books showing hulking UAW members swinging wildly at Toyotas with sledgehammers - an incident that in reality was the work of an overenthusiastic car dealer in Livonia but has since become a major symbol of the American auto worker with his back against the

All of this is not to say the UAW will have an easy time organizing a plant that pays at least lip service to modern personnel practices. It's fascinating to listen to the UAW's pitch about promising higher wages — arguably, the UAW never did accomplish that goal for its members.

What it did was reduce the gap between highly trained craftsmen and unskilled assembly line workers. Historically, the strongest issues that prompted organizing efforts in the U.S. auto companies were mainly practices such as calling in workers two and three times a day for a couple of hours and lack of any uniformity in personnel policy. This was compounded by blatant corruption in plant-floor management, likely making union dues seem a little cheaper than kickbacks

Arguably the main reason most plants, union and non-union alike, subscribe to more uniform labor policies today is because of the ultimate threat of union organizing.

But this is an abstract idea to a younger generation that never experienced the bad old days and seems to have a stronger faith in the essential fairness of modern management than their fathers ever did.

Curiously, one of the larger-scale tests of current attitudes toward unions doesn't seem as likely in Tennessee as back in Detroit, where Chrysler has announced an 8-percent cut in its white-collar workforce the first major-league cuthack most of this generation of workers has ex-

That the cuts will come mainly from the non-UAW side is a point that could easily raise more interest in signing up than any pitch stemming from a Smyrna motel room ever could.

"I never worked with an exchange network before. But I was badly burned the last time I traded services with another business," an Oakland County business consultant

"The exchange was fairly straightforward; they were going to provide custom-designed clothing for a television special I was hosting. and I was to provide them with the equivalent value of consulting ser-

"It didn't take long to realize that their work was inferior, yet I felt obligated to continue our arrangement in hopes that things would improve. Of course, they didn't, and now we're involved in a lawsuit so I can recover the damages I sustained."

Detwiler says there are no guarantees when entering into a swap agreement with other businesses. 'Any customer runs the risk of selecting a bad apple, although our exchange attempts to screen potential members beforehand."

He suggests persons investigate prospective trade partners beforehand. "All it takes is a few phone calls to others that have had past trading experience with the firm."

Some musts for cover letters

Business owners and managers would be wise to make good use of resumes as valuable employee screening tools.

I was recently asked to review several cover letters and resumes to help select interview candidates for a senior sales position.

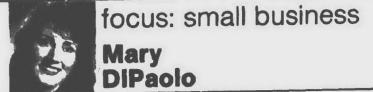

Of the four dozen packages that had been submitted, only a handful were given serious consideration. Here are some do's and don'ts of successfully evaluating submitted applicant information as part of the employment screening process.

Screen cover letters and resumes from a purely appearance standpoint. Regardless of the desired position, a sloppy-looking package of documents should never be accept-package we received contained 12 corrected errors on the cover letter alone. Even though the applicant was highly qualified for the position, her resume and cover letter were filed in the wastebasket.

Other "file 13" documents included those that were copied (and badly, I might add), handwritten or "decorated" with water marks, coffee stains and makeup.

Read cover letters that have passed the appearance test. A wellwritten cover letter clearly states the applicant's interest and purpose for writing, highlights important information that may be included in the resume and requests an interview indicating the candidate will call for an appointment.

IT SOUNDS easy enough, but a majority of applicants tend to use cover letters as a means to say everything else. If the cover letter is unclear, too long, or worse yet, reads like a form letter applicable to any position in any organization, it signals a communication problem.

Cover letters must be addressed to specific person within the organization, must be one page in length and must use appropriate language. "I would very much like to be hired by your company as soon as possible" not only sounds desperate but could be stated more professionally.
In the book, "High Impact

Resumes & Letters," the authors point out that resumes are "one of the most imitated, plagiarized and misunderstood documents individuals produce and use." Let goals determine size of your savings

Recently I was intrigued by a conversation I had with Lynn Stone Lynn claims that she has been saving on a regular basis but has never do so to reach a predetermined goal. Savings without a purpose is like travel without a road map. If you don't know where you're going, how would you know when you have ar-

You may use Table 1 to set your goals. The table not only specifies the amount of savings needed to finance each of the stated objectives but also commits future savings to these objectives.

Savings required

The next step is to calculate the amount of savings required to achieve a specified goal. This task can be accomplished using an inflation-adjusted, after-tax multiplier, presented in Table 2.

For instance, if the objective is to save $50,000 at the end of 10 years to finance a child's education, and if 4percent interest can be earned on monthly savings net of inflation and taxes, then the monthly savings required to achieve this objective is $340.26: Monthly Savings Required $50,000/146.9 (from table) -$340.36

Note, this is after-inflation return on your money. If, for example, the inflation rate is 6 percent and you can get an 8-percent return on your money, you are actually getting a 2percent increase, not an 8-percent

Tinkerer presents new putter to President Bush

If you take a swing at a golf ball every now and then, Bruce Woolsey's new putter might bring a smile to your face, like it did to President Bush's last week.

Woolsey, owner of Bob's Speedometer and Automotive Service in Parmington, is a tinkerer on the Parmington, is a tinkerer on the side. Recently, he came up with a golf putter he thought could help anyone, including the president.

Woolsey, 43, and his wife, Diane, 41, met with Bush for about eight minutes July 25. "He asked how the putter worked," Woolsey said. "He took a counter of strokes with it then took a couple of strokes with it, then picked it up and smiled."

Called the "Woolzie," the putter is made of a clear plastic with two red lines. One line is drawn across the Bush," Woolsey said. top; the other, on the side closest to the ball, is perpendicular to the first William Broomfield, R-Birmin

"By looking down through the top surface, this putter will allow you to line up your putt as good or better than Jack Nicklaus," Woolsey said. "There are so many people who miss a one- or two-foot putt."

WOOLSEY HAS been working on the putter for about two years.

His father-in-law saw Bush on national television in a golf tournament about a month ago. Bush said he needed help with his putting. "He suggested I try to get a hold of who, in turn, contacted the White House. That was June 21.

The Woolseys didn't expect to hear whether they could present the putter to the president for at least three months. But a telephone call July 24 sent "everything into a complete tailspin," Diane said.

It was Broomfield calling to say the president wanted to meet with them the following day.

The Woolseys headed out to Twelve Oaks Mall in Novi to buy

new clothes for the trip. "It's not every day that you meet the president," Diane said.

Bruce wanted a new suit, but was told it couldn't be tailored until the end of the week. Then he told the tailor he was meeting with Bush the next day. The tailor said he was a Republican; the suit was tailored a shoe store. When Diane asked the salesman for a certain style in her size, he told her none were left. That's when she told him she was meeting with the president. The salesman said he'd check again, and came out with seven boxes of shoes.

Ironically, Woolsey got his idea for the putter while shopping for shoes at the mall a couple of years ago. Trying on a pair of shoes in a three-way mirror, he thought it would be nice to be able to put a mirror on a putter.

WORKING WITH a piece of metal and a mirror at home, Woolsey tried to put his idea into action. "It worked great, but it looked like a real mess," he said.

Then he tried the same idea with plastic instead. "I remembered my college physics and that at a 45-de-

Once in Washington, the Woolseys had to turn the putter over to the Secret Service for inspection. They met Bush in the Oval Office, where they were carefully monitored by the Secret Service during their brief

"I was very nervous," Bruce said. "I took four showers that day."
"I told them I wasn't nervous, I was scared to death," Diane said. "But he was a very down-to-earth man, very understanding. He tried to put us at ease."

Sitting on Woolsey's desk at Bob's Speedometer and Automotive Service are a presidential tie clasp for him and a stick pin for Diane. The president also gave them golf balls with the presidential seal and signature on them.

Woolsey, a once-a-week golfer for 15 years, said the putter was made for golfers who have trouble putting. 'That's why I invented it. I was not a WOOLSEY HAS a patent pending on the putter in the United States. Canada, Korea, Australia, Canada and the Soviet Union.

He plans to manufacture the golf club and have it on the market by Christmas. The plastic version will sell for $80. Its glass twin, made of the same kind of glass used to make eyeglasses, will sell for $200.

Woolsey has tinkered with a lot of inventions, but hasn't patented any. He hopes this idea will take him a long way, possibly to a full-time business selling the putter.

"This, we feel, will launch us into an entirely new business," he said.

The Woolseys would like to present the putter to Johnny Carson, Lee Iacocca, Gov. Blanchard and a few professional golfers.

But they'll be keeping their eyes on Bush. "Every time we see him golfing from now on, we'll be looking for what he's using," Bruce said.

PRAYER TO THE HOLY SPIRIT Holy Spirit, You make me see everything & show me the way to reach my ideals. You give me the Divine Gift to longive & forget the wrongs that are done to me & You are in all instances of my life with me. I, in this short dialogue, want to thank You for everything & confirm once more that I never want to be separated from You, no matter how great the material desire may be I want to be with you, my Loved One, in Your perpetual glery. Amen.

Carnes was notch above other players

Coaches in the Quebec Major Junior Hockey League were asked to rate the circuit's top prospects for a newspaper survey last season.

One coach no doubt infuriated a good many players and hockey fans with his reply but apparently spoke his mind:

"The only one in this league I see playing in the NHL is Neil Carnes," he said

The prospects for future stardom, however, were snuffed out early Sunday when Carnes, an 18-year-old Plymouth resident, was killed when the motorcycle he was riding collided with a car in Plymouth Township. He was to be buried today. Carnes, who was drafted by the Montreal Canadiens in the third round of the 1988 amateur draft, had played for-the Verdun Canadiens and most recently the Laval Titans.

Team officials, a former teammate and a sports writer who covers junior hockey remembered Carnes as an outstanding hockey player, possessing the talent that would soon put him in an NHL uniform.

"I PELT IF Neil kept going the way he finished the season, with one year in the American (Hockey) League, he could play for our big team," said Andre Boudrias, assistant general manager and director of scouting for the Canadiens.

Carnes, who would have turned 19 later this month, had been invited to preseason camp with the parent team this fall but was expected to return to Laval. If he didn't make the NHL roster this year, Carnes would've had to spend another season in junior hockey but, undoubtedly, would have stepped up to the AHL and possibly the NHL after that, according to Jean Pierre Charest, assistant GM for the Ti-

Charest said the death of Carnes, who played center and helped Laval make the Memorial Cup playoffs after being traded to that team late last season, will leave a void on the

"We were counting on him for almost 50-60 goals for us," Charest said. "He always came up with big goals - winning goals, tying goals, overtime goals - so it was real bad

"We had a pretty good team, but he was the one who gave us the push. Of the guys we had last year, he was the closest to being a profes-

The 5-foot-9, 185-pound Carnes was said to have the necessary skills to make the grade as an NHL player, especially the crucial skating ability. He was remembered for having an excellent shot, and Boudrias said he was one of the best body checkers in the league.

"WE FIGURED he had the skating that is good for the NHL," Verdun GM Jacques Lemaire said. "Even though he was a small guy, he was stocky and very strong for his

Catherine Grace, who knew Carnes and reported on junior hockey for the Montreal Daily News, recalled a playoff game last season that demonstrated how fast and strong Carnes

"He hit the puck so hard it went through the net," she said. "The officials couldn't find the hole, so they disallowed it.

"After the game, the team owner went down and found the hole. That's how strong (Carnes) was. That's what Neil could do when he put his mind to it.

"He was just so strong. He could muscle his way down the ice, set himself up and blast it right through," she added."

In his first season with Verdun, Carnes scored a team-leading 88 points on 31 goals and 57 assists in 61 games.

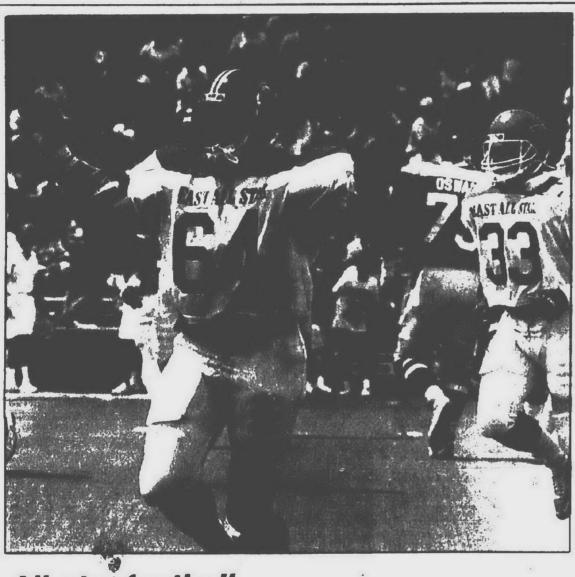

HE PLAYED in just 14 games with Verdun last season, refusing at first to report because of the club's losing ways and then being sidelined by a knee injury. Carnes had three goals and 11 assists for the Canadiens but contributed nine goals and 24 assists after being traded to Laval and appearing in 31 games for the

All-star football

Eric Ruth (Livonia Stevenson) and Plymouth's Lee Krueger (Redford Catholic Centrai) leave the field Saturday after the East defensive unit forced the West to punt in the annual high school all-star football game in East Lansing. The East, which included five Observerland players, won 31-26. See story on Page 3D.

Meath, Stabnick help Hawks win nationals

The Under-19 Michigan Hawks last weekend became the first Region II girls soccer team to win a national championship.

The Hawks, who won both the state and Region II titles last month, continued their successful season Sunday, winning the United States Youth Soccer Association's Athena Cup in Uniondale, N.Y.

Troy goalkeeper Brooke Gillespie recorded a shutout and fullback Natalka Litkewycz scored the only goal the Hawks needed as they beat Revere Travel of Kerney, N.J., 1-0 in the title game.

Knowing they were the first Region II team to win a national title made the weekend even more enjoyable, said Amy Trunk, one of the Hawks' top offensive threats.

SHE HOPES this gives Region II - generally regarded as the country's weakest region - more respect.

"It's great," said Trunk, who will be a senior at Farmington High. "No one was expecting us to be anywhere near good. They thought we'd be real bad because the Midwest usually is not very good

"We had a lot of chemistry. We have played a lot together and that helped. We really know what everyone's going to do.'

The Hawks defeated the Phoenix 71 of Cline, Texas, 5-4 in a shootout in the semifinal round. The Hawks and Phoenix were tied

3-3 at the end of regulation and 4-4

after two overtime periods.

Hawks coach Paul Dugan, who took an under-16 girls team to the Final Four in 1985, said Gillespie's play in the shootout was the differ-

GILLESPIE, WHO will attend Boca Raton College in Florida in the fall, made a save on the fourth Phoenix player in the five-player shootout, deflecting the ball over the net.

Troy's Christine Lamb converted the fifth goal in the shootout for the Hawks, assuring the team a spot in the finals.

"Brooke came up big in the shootout," Dugan said. "She almost got the first one - it went through her

Margaret Kopmeyer, Caeri Thomas, Trunk and Jacquie Silagyi were the other goal scorers in the shoo-hands - and the fourth shot she deflected over the top of the net."

Shannon Meath, Trunk and Silagyi scored for the Hawks during regulation, and Kopmeyer notched the only goal in overtime on a penalty kick to keep the teams even.

THE HAWKS won the Little Caesars Ilitch Division regular-season title with a 10-0 record and have lost only two games the entire season. They outscored their opponents 45-1 in the regular season play and 20-0 in five Region II playoff games.

But before Sunday, no one had heard much about the Hawks nation-

"I told them 'We're in the greatest position," Dugan said. "If we lose, so what. We're not supposed to win anyway. If we win, that's great."

The manager is Mike Yderstadt and trainer is Ralph Gibson. Statistician is Don Montgomery.

Fast-rising Indy driver got break with local outfit

TOBODY HAD TO tell Scott Pruett how to find Livonia, nor the Observer building at the corner of Schoolcraft and Levan.

He knew the way. "In fact, it's a lot like home around here," the upand-coming Indy-car driver said.

Pruett spent the last three years driving for Jack Roush Racing, located down the street from us news-

The 29-year-old Pruett graduated to a full-time spot on the Indy-car circuit this year, and he will line up alongside the hig names in his sport Sunday for the Mariboro 500 at Michigan International Speedway gan International Speedway.

Priest was in the Detroit area last nek to promote the race and numed one afternoon to discuss his udding career with the Observer sports staff. And it was more than. appropriate for him to do so in the same neighborhood where he got his

Though he had been racing since-he was 8 and had won 13 amateur and 10 professional go-cart titles, it was Pruett's connection with the Roush team that got him to where he is today.

"TEAT WAS my first major break into the big time," Pruett said. "That was my higgest move to that point. Jack played an integral part in helping me with my career, as well as Pord Motorsports."

After he and former Olympian Bruce Jenner made an impressive showing as co-drivers at Elkhart Lake, Wis., in 1986, Pruett was introduced to the Ford people and subsequently Jack Roush.

Pruett won four championships a pair of IMSA GTO titles in 1986 and 1988, the SCCA Trans-Am crown in 1987 and the IMSA GT Endurance title in 1986 — during his stay with Roush Racing.

But the transplanted Californian who now lives in Dublin, Ohio, was ready to move up late in 1988 and made three lindy-car starts. The Mariboro 500 will be his 10th this year, and his best showing to date was second place in the Detroit

Furthermore, Indy-car racing has not disappointed Pruett, who brought high expectations to this level. The ultimate experience was racing at Indianapolis where he finished 10th.

"Everyone said it would be frustrating, exhilerating, exciting," he said. "It's more than you could ever put into words."

But it hasn't been easy, either. Pruett, who started 11th and finished sixth in his most recent race at Toronto on July 23, has received his baptism under fire, which serves to underscore the success he has had in his rookie season.

"It's the toughest year of competi-tion I've seen," he said. "Ten teams can win any given weekend. You have to work for every little bit out "It's tougher than I thought it would be. Physically, it's more de-

The 21-year-old defenseman with one year of eligibility remaining at Northern Michigan University was a member of the bronze-medal winning North team. When reached by phone Monday night in Marquette, Podrasky said he was a bit under the weather, but the medal more than made up for any ill effects he was feeling.

Podrasky picked up an assist in the bronze-medal round when the North team beat the East Sunday, 7-3. As one of the North's most experienced and versatile defensive players, Podrasky earned the bronze.

But did he deserve the cold?

"I don't know why I've got the cold," Podrasky said. "It's probably because of the air conditioning down there. It's so hot outside but it seems like they turn the air conditioning down to freezing level inside all the buildings."

This was Podrasky's first Olympic Festival appearance and he looks forward to playing in next year's event in Minneapo-

"I know the parents and both brothers. It's really sad because I know his father was really proud of him." Lemaire and Canadiens scout Eric Taylor, who spot-

"It's something that can happen, and nobody knows when it can happen," he said. "It's sad when it does. There's always a lot of risk in what kids are doing."

It was well known that Carnes wasn't happy in Verdun because of the team's perennial last-place status. Accustomed to winning, he wanted out and asked to be traded, and Lemaire, after he became general manager, eventually worked out the deal that sent him to Laval, a playoff contender.

"When he had the injury, he started to worry whether he could make it in the NHL," Lemaire said. "When he had that and the team was losing, he didn't like it.

Out-of-season all-star games are usually prescribed for insomniacs. Yawns assured before the game's half over, followed by fitful sleep long before the predictably boring

But there are always exceptions, which is what Saturday's ninth annual Michigan High School All-Star Football Game proved to be. There was more action than drudgery (a refreshing change from the seventh and eighth "classics"), much of "Ittraceable to surprising sources - lo-

The biggest of the surprises, of course, was the final score: East 31. West 26. The result ended the West's two-game win streak - the West had three victories in the last four meetings - and established new scoring records, for one and two teams (both previous bests came in the West's 25-22 win in 1982).

THAT PART had to please game chairman Tom Moshimer, Plymouth Salem's football coach. After all, as he explained after the East had rolled to a 31-13 halftime lead, "The game is designed that way. The defenses are handcuffed. They can't blitz, so they can't put any pressure on. The game's designed to put points on the board."

Which is why, after West running back Tony Jackson scored on a 7yard run with 5:02 left in the third quarter, his team got the ball back. To try to keep the game from becoming a runaway, there is a 12point rule. If a team still trails by 12 points or more after scoring, it gets the ball back.

The rule didn't benefit the West. The closest it got after the first quarter was the final margin, and that came with just 2:11 left when Mike Nadlicki bulled his way into the end zone from 4 yards out.

BUT DENNIS EDWARDS, the defensive back from Rochester Adams, grabbed the West's ensuing onside kick attempt and the East's offense ran out the clock.

What made this game memorable weren't the final moments, however; it was the opening ones, which produced a bevy of trick plays and

The West drove 72 yards on nine plays to open the game, including a wingback reverse pass from Ty Hallock to Robert Oginsky to the 1 (Hal-

Milia and a couple of other Observer & Eccentric-area athletes who toiled on the offensive line for the East - Redford St. Agatha's Mike Boyle and Troy's Mike Ostrander — deserved credit for opening holes in the West defense so the running game could produce 172 yards.

And the guy who was most grateful was Bobby Johnson of Southfield. Johnson is listed as 5-foot-8 and 180 pounds, but he doesn't look nearly that big. Still, he was plenty big Saturday. He rushed for a game-high 69 yards on 10 carries, including a 13yard touchdown scamper with 4:13 left in the second quarter that put the East up 31-13.

UNLIKE MANY of his all-star mates, Johnson isn't headed to a bigtime university. "I'm not real big on name schools," he said after his superb performance. "All these guys around here are saying, 'I'm going to Michigan' or 'I'm going to Notre Dame.' I didn't want to go someplace where I'll have to depend on a tutor to pass a class for me.

Johnson is headed to Elon College, an NAIA school in Greensboro, N.C. "I liked it. I liked it better than all the other schools I visited. It had everything I wanted."

What Johnson wanted in Saturday's all-star game was plain enough: "I just wanted to go out and do my best. I wanted to give 100 percent, like in every other game."

on giving his best, a guy who also wasn't highly recruited for football, was Redford Catholic Central noseguard Lee Krueger, from Plymouth.

He wasn't alone. Another guy bent

KRUEGER WAS both disruptive and destructive. He's headed to Wisconsin, but he'll have to walk on to play football. His athletic grant is for wrestling.

The 6-2, 205-pounder grappled his way to 41/2 tackles against the West, including 11/2 sacks. Just as important, he rattled West centers Nick Roush and Mike Morrison into a pair of fumbled snaps in the first quarter, both recovered by the East and resulting in 10 points (a 7-yard run by Joe Youngblood and a 22-yard Djordjevic field goal).

"I didn't let anybody down," Krueger said afterward. "The West was picked to win. We were determined to beat 'em.'

Youngblood's run put the East up 14-6 with 3:23 left in the first quarter, and Djordjevic's field goal made it 17-6 with :38 remaining in the first. The two teams traded long scoring plays in the second quarter, Antoine Stevens speeding 48 yards was hang on to the ball; no defender for an East TD to make it 24-6 and was in the vicinity. He did, and when the West's Jim Clement retaliating Zoran Djordjevic booted the extra with a 61-yard scoring pass to Oginsky to make it 24-13.

Johnson's TD run capped the wide-open first half, and ended the East's

Football all-stars Miller tries to buck history

It's been quite awhile since a Michigan State University player has stuck with the Detroit Li-

But Farmington Harrison High product John Miller hopes to be an exception to the rule. It's been 18 years since the last MSU player, tackle Jerry Rush (1965-71), donned the Honolulu Blue

The odds aren't quite in Miller's favor, a free agent fighting for a job at safety. But No. 44 is determined to make the Lions coaching staff sit up and take notice.

"You wonder to yourself, 'Do you have a chance?' or are you just a look squad guy," said the 6-1, 192-pound Miller. "But you go through that at any level."

Miller proved himself as a do-it-all performer at Harrison. He did it again at MSU, leading the Spartans to a Rose Bowl title before earning All-Big 10. BUT THE KNOCK on Miller is lack of speed.

He doesn't ring up impressive statistics at the NFL combine workouts. He was bypassed in the April NFL draft. "I may look bad one-on-one, but 11-on-11, in a team situation, I think I can make all the right plays," Miller said. "I'm not an impact type play-

Miller must impress.
"I played all the special teams my freshman and sophomore years at State, and my senior year I took over the punt return unit," he said. "They're leery of my speed. I may be the slowest guy on paper, but I guarantee I won't be the last guy down the field. Kickoff returns is where a guy can make a name for himself."

Miller believes his football experience at MSU has prepared him for the pros.

"I PARTIALLY lucked into things because this system is similar to the one at MSU," said Miller. You have to learn more, but the terminology is almost identical to State's.

"And I don't think this (training camp) is any more demanding than State's camp. I figured I couldn't have it any harder than at State. George (Perles, the head coach) was very demanding when it came to running and staying in good

Miller also believes Harrison prepared him for his new challenge, but in a different way.

"There's a lot to be said about the school and the coaching staff," said the Lion hopeful. "John Herrington (the head coach), Bob Sutter and Bob Sallow (the assistants) developed me as a person off the football field. They molded my life and have done a lot of good things for me and my "They've been out to practice, and they'll al-ways be great friends of the family. They're al-most like my second fathers. MILLER IS A GOOD bet to stick through next Priday when the Lions open their exhibition sea-son, Saturday, Aug. 12, at the Silverdome against the Cleveland Browns.

The word around training camp is that the Lion coaching staff is willing to give Miller a good look.
"There's not a lot of feedback and sometimes it gets frustrating," said Miller after Tuesday's morning practice at Oakland University. "You just have to keep working your butt off and hope

"You have to keep the attitude and pick your-self up by the shoulders when you get down, even if you keep having had practices. But so far I think I've had a productive camp. I think I've been at the right spot at the right time."

Miller's game plan is to make the right decisions and play consistently.

"Frank Gansz (special teams coach) told me the other day that you have to be heady and this game is 70 percent in the head, it's heart and determination," Miller said. "If I do the right things, speed won't hurt me."

But the man Miller must impress above all is head coach Wayne Fontes, who happens to be an

Miller: 'Tony embarrassed MSU'

By Brad Emons staff writer

John Miller is hoping to make noise in the Detroit Lions' training camp, but this week he's gained more notice regarding comments made about former Michigan State teammate Tony Mandarich.

The eccentric Mandarich, a No. 1 draft pick of the Green Bay Packers, has been source of controversy ever since his senior year at MSU.

The mammoth 6-foot-5, 320-pound offensive tackle blasted the NCAA after he was slapped with a threegame suspension for violating rules last season. He also complained about being overlooked for the Outland Trophy, has made a challenge to fight heavyweight champion Mike Tyson, and since moving to a body building haven in Venice Beach; Calif., has taken on a callous attitude toward the Packers.

(Mandarich and the Packers are far apart in contract negotiations.)
He was also the subject of an in-depth piece in Sports Illustrated, which caused plenty of reaction, most notably from Miller, who first made his comments over the weekend to a Detroit television station.

Miller reiterated his feelings Tuesday during the Lions training camp at Oakland University.

"IT'S FUNNY, but I talked to my girlfriend the other day, and a lot of people in East Lansing are talking about it," Miller said. "I guess the CBS affiliate up there picked up the feed from Detroit."

Miller makes no bones about Man-friends. He just packed up and left. darich's escapades during the past He was a big part of the campus."

"I won't cut Tony down as a person, but his actions have been embarrassing. The things he's done has affected a lot of people.

'He had been a real role model. There were a lot of little kids who looked up to him, but he's just made a mockery of everything. He's had plenty of opportunity, but he's just out for the fast buck."

Miller said he noticed a change in Mandarich's attitude during the latter stages of the 1988 season. 'We were good friends all season, but the last two or three games he didn't seem to be the same kind of

guy," Miller said. "I think he got too

It may be interesting to see if the two MSU players ever meet on an NFL field.

If Mandarich ends his holdout with Green Bay and Miller makes the Lions squad, the two could literally bump heads Sunday, Oct. 29, in Milwaukee, the first of two meetings between the teams this season.

Pruett thrives on Indy circuit

Algely developed and thenly bused and there are in many quality out-till, the chambes of the individual

That's why the 5-foot-6 Pruett, a trim 148 pounds, finds it necessary to associate the word athlete with race-car driver — something previ-ously frowned on as being a non-athletic occupation.

Pruett maintains a year-round workout schedule, following "an in-tense Nautilus and aerobics program." He has built himself up in the last year through weight lifting and plenty of road work — running on two legs and not four wheels.

"I think we're seeing more of that trend," he said. "The competition is so close and demanding. You're in the car for 24 hours. It's hot and your level of concentration has to be on all the time

"Form that aspect, the better shape you're in physically, the better you'll be able to compete."

Being competitive in Sunday's race is certainly on Pruett's mind since his past experience as a Trans-Am driver means he's more at home on road courses than oval surfaces.

forgiving evals we'll run on," Pruett said. "It allows you to run two abreast, and there's really two turns instead of three or four like Indy.

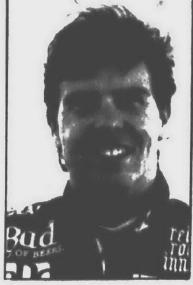

"WE RAN practice laps there a couple weeks ago and ran 216 (mph). So we were actually pleased with that, and it should get better as the time gets nearer.

"I think we should run strong. It's only my fourth oval with an Indy car, but from testing there lately I. think we can run strong."

Paragon tumbles

A costly call early in the second half turned the tide against Livenia Para-gon in Sunday's Great Lakes Men's Soccer League semifinal, which Plint Bud Light won 3-1 at Bicentennial Park.

With the game tied 1-1, Paragon defender Russ Gans was called for a hand hall inside the penalty area so ren minutes into the second half. Bud Light's Chris Larson converted to make it 2-1.

Forced to pressure for the game-tying goal, Paragon's defense was caught out of position with 18 minutes remaining in the game and Larson iced the triumph with his second goal of the game, after taking a pass from Jeff

It was the third-straight year Paragon, which finished third in the GLMSL regular season standings, has been ousted in the league's semifinals.

Carl Hopfinger opened the scoring with a goal for Bud Light. Paragon's Dave Conway tied it before halftime.

But despite a strong effort, Paragon failed to finish its scoring chances And that put them Jut of the playoffs.

Bud Light, regular-season runner-up to the Redford Marauders, plays the winner of the Marauders-Birmingham Cobras semifinal for the GLMSL championship at 6 p.m. Sunday at Bicentennial Park's Field No. 1. The Marauders meet the Cobras at 7 tonight at Bicentennial.

And what a way to pay tribute to Foust

Walter's will be making its first appearance in the prestigious All-American Amateur Baseball Association Tournament. The tourney, marking its 50th anniversary, is special because it brings together 22 collegiate-age teams (20 and under) from all over the country for nine days of play, Aug. 12-19 in Johnstown, Pa.

Walter's, the third-place team in the Livonia League during the regular season, surprised the four-team field, earning the trip by sweeping through three playoffs games by a combined score of 31-10.

IT WAS AN emotional night for Mike Keller after his team clinched the playoff bid.

But if there was ever a deserving coach, it's the man they cal! "Stick," whose tall, thin frame often have him mistaken for a basketball or volleyball coach.

But even in the glee and excitement over Friday's 7-2 playoff championship win over Hines Park Lincoln/Mercury, Keller paid his respects to a ballplayer he truly loved and admired.

"Now we can give Bob's jersey to Bob's parents," said Keller, still a young man (35) who has toiled as a coach and manager in the league for more than 10 years. "From the beginning of the season our goal was to go to Johnstown.

> "George gives us speed, and he led the league in hitting," Keller said. "Defensively he's one of the better second basemen in the league, if not the best. He can also DH (designated hitter) for us.

"With some rest, Darkowski can be effective. He'll help our pitching staff. Kloc has been there before and he can play the field also."

Pitching is what makes or breaks you at Johnstown.

The Walter's staff has not really had a stopper this season, according to Keller, but everybody has chipped in at one stage or another during the

RANDY BUCHLER, the star of the playoffs (he won twice), is coming off a stellar week of pitching, but Keller won't underestimate the talents of Joe Mackiewicz, the Redford CC product and Kalamazoo College junior (he won game No. 2); lefty David Houghthy, a Livonia Stevenson High grad from Henry Ford Community College, Steve Owens, the former Churchill High ace who has been effective out of the bullpen; and lefty Kevin Walker (ex-RU and Henry Ford CC), another reliever.

BUT BEFORE Keller loads up the van and cars, he'll present the league championship plaque to his team sponsor, John Mistak.

We'll have him mount it on the wall of his Livonia store," Keller said. "He's been the backbone of this team. John always said, 'Stick, whatever you need, you've got it.' Without Wally,' we wouldn't be out here. He's the kind of sponsor you like, just a nice guy.

Mistak was naturally thrilled about the playoff results.

For years he's played second fiddle to one of the AAABA's founding fathers and head honchos, another appliance dealer from Dearborn named Mike Adray

But this season, they may have something different to talk about in Johnstown, namely "Wallyball."

But regardless of the results or how Walter's performs, my recollections of the 1989 season will be that vellow and marooned-trimmed jersey, No. 21 hanging on the fence.

Records tumble in Redford runs

By Tom Henderson staff writer

It was a night of records Saturday at the sixth Redford Roadrunner Classic at Veterans Park in

A deluge of last-minute entries pushed the combined field for the eight-kilometer and one-mile runs to more than 1,500, an all-time record by 300. And records were shattered by the first man, first woman and first wheelchair racer.

But the best performance of the night may have been turned in by Jim O'Neill of Holland, Ohio. O'Neill finished the 4.97-mile loop in 25:48, good for 16th place overall and an average of approximately 5:12 a mile.

O'Neill broke the American record for 51-year-olds by 31 seconds, won his division by more than three minutes over Bob Paklaian of Troy and was the second runner over 40 to finish. Wally Herrala of Ann Arbor beat him by 10 seconds, but was running in the 40-44 group. O'Neill would have won the 17 and under division, competing against the local high school stars.

JOE SCHMIDT of Ann Arbor didn't set any records, but he was beaming as though he had at the awards ceremony, despite having finished second after leading for the first four miles. He beat his fourth place time of a year ago, came within a second of the old course record with his 24:24, and made himself the favorite to win a $500 bond.

The male and female with the best combined times from the Trenton 8K in June, the Roadrunner Classic (last Saturday) and the Allen Park Five-Miler (this Friday) win the Triple Crown, plus the bond.

Don Johns of Ypsilanti, who captured the Trenton race, skipped the Classic to run in the Olympic Sports Festival in Oklahoma City, making him ineligible for the Triple Crown. And Van Savell of Ann Arbor, who won the Classic with a blistering 24:08 and a ther. Race officials decided to withering final-mile kick, didn't award him a trophy (actually a run Trenton.

"I took it out too hard," said Schmidt, who was alone at the onemile mark, hitting it in 4:36.

How did he know it was too hard? "There were good enough runners in the race, I shouldn't have been alone. That's when I that point, you just gotta keep on

The guy who won it -1 don't know who he is, I haven't seen him around - he just came up and went by me," Schmidt said.

The unknown runner was Saveli, a medical student at the University of Michigan, whose studies Limit his appearance at local races.

Kathy Hadle., a former All-America at Tennessee running out of Ann Arbor, was more in competition with herself and her own course record than she was with the other women in the field. Only a physical breakdown could have stopped her.

Hadler led from the start and cruised to a 27:14 well ahead of her record 27:55, set a year ago. Ann Boyd of Ann Arbor tied the old record in finishing second.

"I knew Ann was a good runner," Hadler said, "she's really coming along. So, I tried to run like a scared rabbit. I didn't want to discredit her. I probably should have taken it easy. I need a break from so much racing. But I'm pleased with today's run.

BOB FITCH was beaming heartily at the post-race party. Fitch, of East Lansing, buried the wheelchair field with a time of 19:50

"It's the first time I've averaged under four minutes a mile." said Fitch, who credits a new, threewheel racing chair for his best sea-Fitch, 38, was 31/2 minutes ahead

Lindsey is a 5-year-old diabetic. Her daily insulin shots, diet restrictions and constant blood monitoring only provide day-to-day control over the disease. They do not cure it. So Lindsey, along with 11 million other Americans, still faces the long term risks of diabetes - like heart disease, blindness, stroke, amputation and kidney disease. The complications of diabetes will account for an estimated

150,000 deaths this year alone. But thanks to your contributions to the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation, Lindsey and millions like her have something more to look forward to. In the past decade, JDF research has made great strides in isolating the causes and conditions of diabetes, bringing us closer to a cure. At the same time, diabetes increases by 6% every year. And in ten years the number of diabetics will have doubled.

So you see, your help is needed more desperately than ever before. For more information on the warning signs of diabetes and its treatment, and what you can do to help, cali JDF at (313) 569-6171.

Folk music trio: songs old, new

By C.L. Rugenstein staff writer

Thursday, August 3, 1989 O&E

T'S BEEN SAID that the more things change, the more they stay the same. Fans of the Peter, Paul and Mary trio of folksingers will have a chance to see for themselves how the group has changed yet remained the same since they rode the crest of social protest movements in the halycon days of the '60s and '70s.

The group is scheduled for a concert at 8 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 10, at Meadow Brook Music Festival on the Oakland University campus in Rochester Hills.

Some of the songs will be Peter, Paul and Mary classics like "Puff the Magic Dragon." Other songs will be very old, and some, like "With Your Face to the Wind," will be very new.

IN ALL, promises Mary Travers, it will be "two and a half hours of a lot of music that deals with a lot of subjects - some absolutely frivolous, some absolutely serious.'

Old fans returning with a second generation, their children, "will find some meaning, even if nothing else but having a moment together as a family," Travers said recently in a phone inter-

Mother of two daughters, one with a daughter of her own, Travers seems pleased with the presence of some very young, new fans in Peter, Paul and Mary

"It's lovely to look out at the audience and see a father hug his little boy during a song from the father's college years," Travers said, "and to see that the son knows the words."

'A Peter, Paul and Mary concert is not about politics. It's about the human condition.'

- Mary Travers

Many of the children learned the trio's songs at camp or nursery school.

"IT'S NOT UNUSUAL to hear a baby cry, or see some little toddler who can't make it past six songs because they fall asleep," she said. But, "That's OK because we sing 'Puff' early."

Though she downplayed the group's influence in earlier civil rights and anti-war movements. ("It's important to know that being a hero is not a permanent job,"she observed.), their commitment to issues that deal with "the fundamental rights of people"is as strong as ever.

Travers noted that the self-indulgent grab for affluence and influence in the '80s is giving way to an awareness of urban prob-lems, and individual responsibility to do something about it.

'Certainly America spent a lot of time staring at its own navel," she said, but now, "People are saying, 'Gee, we're going to have to address those problems.'"

The plight of the homeless, pov erty, an alarming rise in the illiteracy rate, and the recent setback in affirmative action are some national problems Travers

"SOME OF OUR new songs address the issues,"she said.

One new song, "With Your Face to the Wind," is a solo written and performed by Peter Yarrow. He wrote it for the Wellness Community - "It's like a hospice,"Travers said - in Cali-

"William McBride," by a young Australian, is an anti-war song set in World War I. And "No Easy Walk to Freedom" deals with apartheid.

Travers was arrested for her part in an anti-apartheid demonstration she participated in, with her mother and daughter.

But Travers stressed that activism is not what Peter, Paul and Mary is all about.

"A PETER, PAUL and Mary concert is not about politics. It's about the human condition," she told in song.

"No Easy Walk to Freedom" was the title of the group's last recorded album, in 1986.

There's no new album in the offing, though Travers said she and partners Yarrow and Noel Paul Stookey (who is originally from Birmingham) have enough material for one.

"We're doing 60 concerts a year together now, and 30 as solo performers," she said, so finding time to do the recording is a problem. "At the end of summer, in September, we sit down and plot out our time for the following

Standard Federal builds with art in mind

special writer

This is a building with beauty and brains - and it flaunts it. You could describe the exterior as Aggressive Modern if it weren't tempered by a touch of Babylonian ziggurat.

Dominating the sloped 26-acre site on the corner of Big Beaver and Lakeview, in Troy, the 450,000 square-foot, six-story Standard Federal Headquarters is enhanced by a water retention area that utilizes grasses and wildflowers to add to the natural beauty of the

"The building was designed from the inside out," said David Swanson, senior project architect of Grand Rapids' WBDC Group. "The building draws on the latest interior and exterior design concepts to create a comfortable, efficient and cost-effective environment.

"At the same time, the design is flexible enough to anticipate and quickly adapt to new technologies as they arise. The facility was designed from the inside out to fit the bank's style of operations."

Believe it or not, the first floor is designed around a mortgage. An "adjacency study" done early in the planning stages led to the actual prototype for the design of the building.

The study was undertaken to determine which departments and key operations of the bank depended on one another in order to function efficiently. As a result, the first floor matches the route a mortgage travels from start to fin-

THE BUILDING is more than a mortgage factory, however. It is also home to a fine art collection, so it was designed to accommodate both mortgages and abstract expressionism.

"We knew when we designed the building that art was an integral part of the project." said Swanson. "The stage was set from the beginning. The building itself is a form art; it portrays Standard Federal. Anticipating an art program, we planned a building that would provide for art within art.

We used neutral colors, relying on rich materials, like granite, and designed vistas and curtain walls that didn't merely accommodate, but required, art.

"And, of course, the emphasis was on light. Natural light makes the art look better, makes the building look better and provides employees with a pleasant working environment. This is a people-oriented building, it was designed for people and their comfort. The bank's management knows that if people come first, innovation and productivity will follow naturally."

Swanson even went so far as Cold Springs, Minn., in the middle of winter to make certain that the walls without art got the most interesting granite. Granite with less 'character" was used on walls for which art was planned to avoid vis-

THE ART COMMITTEE included Joel Mettler, director of corporate design, Ford & Earl Associates and Thomas R. Ricketts, chairman and president of Stan-dard Federal. They were advised by Phyllis Fenton of Fenton Fine Arts, Fort Worth, Texas.

"It took us one and one-half years to put the collection together." said Fenton. "I visited galleries around the country, and, of course, I visited important local galleries. The committee would review slides that I brought with me. We had certain rules - no realistic pictures, no Warhol, no Lichtenstein, all abstract impressionism.

As in other areas of life, rules were made to be broken. A large Warhol silkscreen, "Indian head Nickel," hangs in the loan deptartment - a visual pun. There are other examples of representational art - Christo's lithograph/collage, "Wrapped Automobile" and Lakeman's acrylic, "Containers," of paint-spattered cans. A Lichtenstein hangs in the employee cafete-

Employee reaction wasn't universally favorable from day one. One picture in particular, the George McNeil acrylic, "Dorian Disco," was very controversial. People thought it was violent, that it didn't belong in a bank," said Fenton. "I explained to them that McNeil is 82 years old, that he had programs showing music and pho-tos in popular magazines. He had never actually seen a disco. The contorted faces, the gyrating bodies flying around, are not depictions of violence, they are what McNeil imagines a disco must look

EACH MORNING at 7:45, Fenton gives a one-hour seminar for employees willing to skip breakfast for the sake of art. "I try to select pictures that dare getting unfavorable comments and I encourage people to nominate a picture for the tour."

It's been a rewarding experience, both for Fenton and for employees. "Last week, an employee told me that he went to the Detroit Institute of Arts for the first time in years and that he even took his grandchildren with him. You overhear snatches of conversation between executives, comparing the Motherwell to the Stella, or, 'Ill meet you by the Obuch' and you really feel good."

"Collection" is not a popular word with Fenton. "It's institutional, and it has an elitist image. This is the employees' home for the better part of the day. I want them to be comfortable with the art, not think of it as a museum."

For the same reasons, Fenton insists that there be no signs identifying the picture or its artist on the wall, a la museums.

Late this year, Standard Federal will invite all artists represented in the collection to visit the building to meet employees and see how their pictures are displayed. Guided tours for the public are in the

For all its strident insistence on technological gee-whiz, space station architecture and please-Godno-flowers art, there is a Gilded Age opulence about Standard Federal's headquarters. Somehow, you just know that J.P. Morgan would have felt right at home here.

rea ark, the Art

Etchings and poetry of Livonia artist Jeanne Poulet are on exhibit at the Swords into Plowshares Peace Center & Gallery, Detroit.

Entitled "Man's Inhumanity to Mah," the exhibit is from Poulet's set of poems and prints, "Bernard with a Suesse (pacifier)." Poulet designed her own process of etching consisting of dots and scratches (as opposed to lines) that become a composite. She recently has moved from black and white to color etching, used in the current exhibit.

The exhibit closes Oct. 7. The gallery is at 45 E. Adams, Detroit, next to the Detroit Council of the Arts. Regular hours are Tuesday, Thursday, Saturday, 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. For information, call 965-5422, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. weekdays.

STARS SERIES Featured in the Thursday, Aug. 10 concert of Music Under the Stars sponsored by the Livonia Arts Com-mission will be the jazzy sounds of Tom Saunders and his Surfside Six. There is no admission charge, but concert-goers are reminded to bring lawn chairs. the concert will begin at 7:30 p.m. Location of the concert is the historic Wilson Barn, corner of West Chicago and Middle Belt roads. The following week, the concert will series will return to the Civic Center complex area for a performance by the Hamtramck Concert the little girl fleeing from the de-struction of napalm bombs or the haunting shot of the execution of the Viet Cong guerrilla.

Many of us remember pictures of President Dwight Eisenhower visiting our troops in Korea and the in-spiring flag raising over Iwo Jima toward the end of World War II.

Turn your thoughts to World War I and pictures of soldiers in odd shaped helmets huddling in muddy trenches come to mind.

And who can reflect on the Civil War without recalling photos of the many dead sprawled over the now lovely hills of our eastern states?

Revolutionary War and what comes to mind? Paintings and drawings. We can't relate as well to these occasions because, of course, photogra-phy didn't then exist.

Our backward journey through time using America's involvement in war as a yardstick is a good way to illustrate the significance of the photographic image as we note this an-

For the past 150 years, photographs have been used to inform, inspire, entertain, document or shock us in ways that no other medium ever could or ever will do.

Through photographs, we can travel to distant lands we can otherwise only dream about. Scenes we would never have known about if it weren't for photography can be etched in our minds.

We are able to share special moments with celebrities and athletes. And we have shared the sorrows of people just like ourserve who have lost loyed ones in a plane crash or other disaster. And all of this is possible through the wonder of photography.

Think for a moment during this milestone year for photography and imagine how difficult and unsettling life would be without photograph What else can evoke the emotion without the use of a single word?

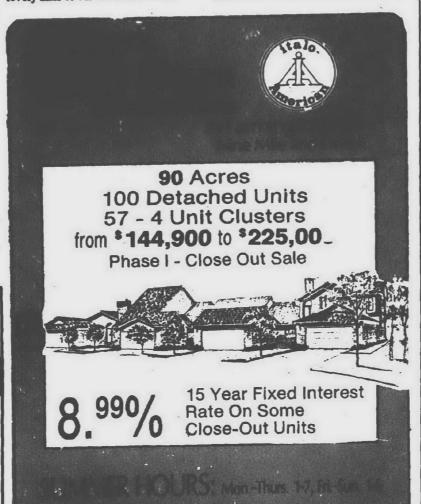

Whether it's the well-known image of John-John saluting a farewell at President Kennedy's funeral or an old, tattered picture of a favorite relative that has meaning only to a few, photographs touch us in ways no other medium can.

And we as photographers can touch people, too. We have the abili-ty to make visible what others can only sense. We can move people and stir emotions in a way that is unique.

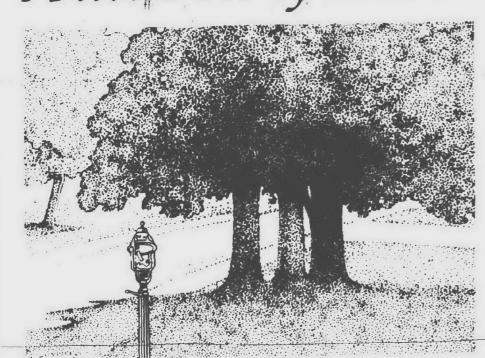

Take a moment to appreciate how very fortunate we are to have photography play such a vital role in our

Art competition

The Bank of Commerce has begun inviting lichigan artists to enter its sixth art competink president David J. Harris annou

As in the preceding competitions, Heritage '89 open to artists 18 years of age or older. Herige '89 welcomes works in two dimensional edia submitted by Oct. 20.

"Once again we are asking our artists to rect on our state's ethnic roots and heritage," artis said. "We are proud to continue this ue and productive program that has attracted benefitted so many fine Michigan art-

The bank has acquired over 30 artworks in the ve previous contests started in 1981 and prouddisplays them in several branch offices. The ve most popular paintings were reproduced in ne lithographic form and have been offered to a public since 1987.

IN HERITAGE '89, a process of slide review till be used to select 40 works, which will then evaluated in their original form. Then 18 fillists will be chosen and invited to the opening ceptions of the two month-long exhibits. First, Nov. 28, at the Bank's main office in Hamamck, followed by an exhibit in the Warren ity Hall opening on Jan. 9, 1990.

TRACING YOUR family tree is becoming a ular thing to do. One of my clients is forlection of photographs made more than a century ago. Many of the pictures were made in Russia and Poland. The originals were reproduced and are being framed at Knollwood Frame

Shop.

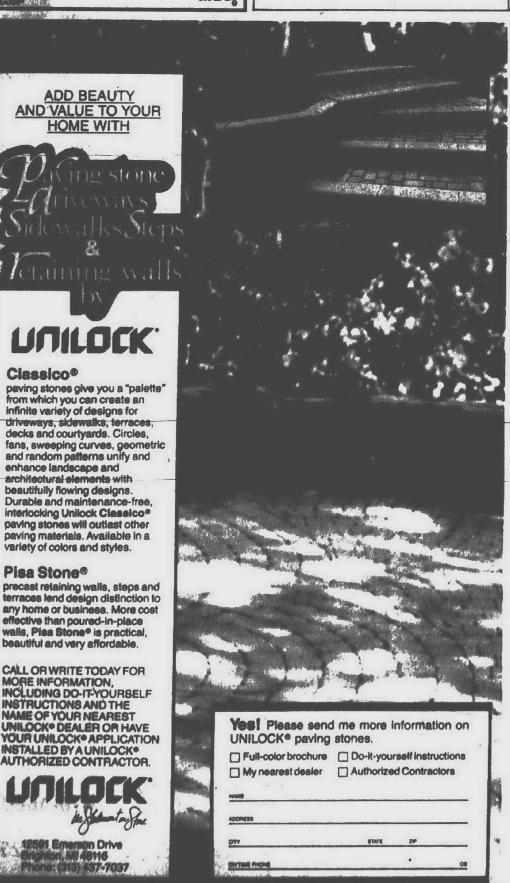

We selected four different-styles of frames and mats to complement each other. In total, 20 photographs are being framed. They will go up the staircase and the upper hall. I can't think of a painting that would surpass the pleasure this treasure will give to my client's children and their shildnen's children. their children's children.

LIVE AMONG THE RARE AND BEAUTIFUL

Aldingbrooks — West Bloomfield's premier rental community — has always attracted its own special flock. Our magnificent estate-like grounds are home to a collection of geese and swans. And to many of metropolitan Detroit's most discerning individuals and families. Set in a gated community, residents appreciate Aldingbrooks's world of privacy and custom options, with all the services they've come to expect from a luxury apartment community Residences up to 2800 square feet include such desirable features as private entryways, split-level or ranch-style designs, dens, breakfast rooms, cathedral ceilings, fireplaces and attached garages. All for much less than you'd expect to pay for such luxury.

From $650 to $1650 per month. Whatever your mind can imagine in luxurious living, you can discover on your first visit to Aldingbrooks. It is indeed rare and beautiful.
