Wilcox says project to be scaled down

By Kevin Brown staff writer

Next month, Jack Wilcox says he plans to present final engineering plans on the two five-story apartment buildings he wants to build on his downtown property.

"We have addressed some of the concerns and have scaled down the height of the building," Wilcox told planning commissioners at their monthly meeting on Wednesday.

Some commissioners approved of Wilcox's stated intention to lower the height of the two five-story apartment buildings to 62 feet from the previously proposed 73 feet.

While declining to detail the final plans, Wilcox said the building height will be lower because the first floor is now planned to be at ground level, not raised as before.

Wilcox said he would present final engineering plans to the commission at its 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 11

Amoco wants Mayflower Hotel to drop suit

By M.B. Dillon staff writer

Amoco Oil Co. is asking the Mayflower Hotel to drop its suit over underground contamination in downtown Plymouth, and to instead take the matter to arbitration.

Michael Southerland, attorney for Ralph Lorenz of the Mayflower Hotel, has rejected the

"Before we even consider something like that, we want to see some good faith as far as them acknowledging responsibility" for the underground oil spill, said Southerland.

While Amoco has agreed to clean up the contamination, "they are not admitting as a matter of law that they were the causative agent," said

"If they're going to have us jump through scientific and legal hoops to prove that they're the cause of the problem, my feeling is they probably are not going to be as cooperative as I would have hoped. I will be happy remaining in federal court contending unwarranted denial of responsibility."

For years, fuel from underground tanks at the Amoco service station at Ann Arbor Trail and Main Street seeped into soil and groundwater. The area has been on a Michigan Department of Natural Resources list of contaminated sites since

The DNR and the state attorney general's office recently launched an investigation of Amoco after learning that no other company operating in Michigan has more contaminated sites

AMOCO'S LEGAL department referred calls to its public affairs department.

Walt Brown of Amoco's public affairs office said he was unable to get any information concerning the arbitration request. "I can't get anybody who can answer that. But in general, we are interested in resolving the matter short of court action," he said. Brown said a cleanup plan has been submitted to Amoco by its consultant, Neyer, Tiseo & Hindo Ltd. of Farmington Hills, and is being reviewed now by Amoco. Amoco won't divulge details of the cleanup proposal until it is submitted to the Southerland and Lorenz are growing increasingly frustrated with Amoco's lack of progress.

"We want the thing to receive top priority, just like the spill up in Alaska. It's not moving along as quickly as I'd like it to, but at the same time, ve're sort of at their mercy in a sense," said Southerland would like the state "rather than even worrying about Amoco's additional sites, to jump on ours and say this has been around long enough; this is your resonsiblity. Let's do something about that.

Tests find more pollution spread

Testing ordered by the state Department of Natural Resources and done by Amoco Oil Co. in downtown Plymouth this summer showed that petroleum-based underground contamination has spread farther than previously

The polluted area extends from the Amoco service station at Ann Arbor Trail and Main Street to east of the Box Bar and Grill, the southern side of the Mayflower Meeting House and west of Main Street.

The area has been on a DNR list of contaminated sites since 1979.

Concentrations of petroleum products including benzene, toluene, ethylbenzene and xylenes ranged from .2 parts per billion to 9,500 parts per billion, according to Amoco consultant Neyer, Tiseo & Hindo Ltd. of Farmington Hills.

The cost to get rid of your trash is going up.

Dumping fees this year will be more than Plymouth city officials planned, and will likely spark a 5-percent cut in the city's 1989-90 fiscal year budget.

This 1989-90 fiscal year, the city may have to pay as much as $300,000 more than anticipated in dumping fees to the firm operating the dump used by all three commun-ities, said William Graham, acting city manager. Next week, Canton Township trustees will also take up the issue, as the township will pay $295,000 more this year to dump trash than last year

In Plymouth Township, officials anticipated continued rate increases, and more than doubled the fee charged to residents to pick up trash - from $4 to $11 per month, announced earlier this year.

THE ARBOR HILLS Landfill, at Six Mile and Napier in Salem Township, is raising its rates Oct. 1.

The rate increases are needed to pay for environmental improvements to the site, company officials said. Those improvements include a new leak system and liner, said landfill manager Dan Nelson.

Doctor adds world view to state council

staff writer

A retired Plymouth Township physician who once ministered to the children of the ruling families of Kuwait has been appointed to the state Mental Health Advisory Council by Gov. James Blanchard.

Jamil Kheder, 71, brings a wealth of experience to the 12-member council, which attempts to improve mental health programs by making recommendations to the governor, legislators and the Department of Mental Health.

A native of Iraq, Kheder has lived in the Plymouth community since 1953, when he was recruited by the state to direct the outpatient department of the Plymouth State Home and Training School, which is now clásed.

CURRENTLY, KHEDER is program chairperson for the Arab-Chaldean Social Services Council, a post that has helped prepare him for his new role ^f·We started nine years ago to take care of recent immigrants from the Arab countries, basically from the Middle East, and particularly Lebanon and Syria," said Kheder, whose son, Noble, preceded Agnes Mansour as director of the state Department of Social Services.

"IT IS belping the whole system by assisting people who have a lan-guage barrier or a lack of training in certain things," said Kheder, who be-fore his retirement in 1982 served on the staffs of Wayne State University and Wyandotte General Hospital.

"This gets them into the mainstream, eliminating them from dependence on financial support. It decreases the reliance on public assistance, which is demeaning."

Given the size of the Detroitarea's Arab population, that's not a small undertaking.

"The largest grouping of Middle Easterners outside the Middle East, better than a quarter milion," resides in metropolitan Detroit, KHEDER CAME TO Michigan from Ohio State University, where he served as medical director of the Birth Defects Clinical Study Center of Children's Hospital, affiliated with Ohio State.

Kheder moved from Iraq to Columbus in 1948 to accept a medical scholarship. The pediatrician was one of just seven candidates from all over the world to receive an American Academy of Pediatric Research fellowship.

He received his medical degree from Baghdad University in 1943. From 1943-48, Kheder worked as a medical officer with Baghdad University, with the Iraqi army as a reserve medical officer and for the atient Clini Outpatient Clinic.

Having raised two daughters and two sons in Buckeye country before moving to Wolverine territory makes for interesting football Saturdays, Kheder said.

IN THE 1960s, Kheder was among a small group of area health professionals who revolutionized the mental health system.

Mentally impaired individuals "were being warehoused all over the country," Kheder said.

"When I came here, patients who were mentally retarded were institutionalized by the court. It was a very inefficient way to choose patients for admission.

"The thing I did immediately was to get an extensive assessment of that patient, regardless of the court order," said Kheder, who involved psychologists, social workers, nurses and other medical professionals in the process.

In 1965, "we were able to convince the court not to commit until we evaluated the patient. That very much affected the incidence of unnecessary commitment to the state."

Kheder also was instrumental in "eliminating the so-called treatment of applying straitjackets for the con-

Sheriff: Drivers will be stopped in drug fig

As soon as tomorrow, drivers in western Wayne County could be stopped at a police check point as part of a crackdown against illegal

An experimental check point will be established in an undisclosed western Wayne County community, Sheriff Robert Picano said Friday. All vehicles approaching the check

Though he declined to name the site, Picano said deputies are establishing the check point at the community's request.

The check point is being established in response to traffic complaints, the sheriff said, though a department release added that check points would target "areas of parcotic acwould target, "areas of narcotic ac-

"IF WE'RE going to put some teeth into what we're doing, we're going to have to take drastic steps," he said, pledging to "do everything legally possible" to fight the drug trade.

These are the first such check ints authorized since he's been heriff, Ficano said.

Though state police check lanes or suspected drunken drivers were for suspected drunness universe to be deemed illegal, Ficano said he believed the new check lanes would pass judicial acrutiny.

"The big difference is that this is not a random search," he said.

Deputies will chase cars attempting to clude the check point by making a U-turn.

The first check lane represents a "pilot program," Picano said. If successful, check lanes could be established in other suburban communities. At this point, there hasn't been discussion of check lanes in Detroit. Local police officers may be used

Rival tax plans aim for '90 ballot

By Tim Richard staff writer

Anti-tax people can take their pick of two suburban groups working for 1990 ballot proposals to cut property

"It's better if we let everyone go their own way," said economist Patrick Anderson after the former CUT (Citizens Unfairly Taxed) split Sept. 9. He is allied with former Oakland prosecutor L. Brooks Patterson.

The rival group is keeping the old CUT name and is headed by William D. McMaster, Bloomfield Township public relations man.

"It was a rocky marriage," quipped Patterson, "and I thought it was better to split before we had

HERE ARE the differences:

• The Patterson-Anderson group, which reorganized last weekend, advocates a complex amendment that concentrates on cutting school millage rates and allowing assessments to rise no faster than inflation.

• McMaster's group attacks assessments, the valuation local government puts on land and buildings for tax purposes. It rejected the Anderson-Patterson proposal.

After crediting Patterson and Anderson with much volunteer work, McMaster summed up their differences: "They concentrated their attention on changing the school millage rate that not only wouldn't cut property taxes, but contained provisions that would have guaranteed continued future increases in property tax assessments."

Countered Anderson: "We limit it (assessments) to the inflation rate and new construction.'

JUST WHO HAS the right to use the CUT name is unsettled.

McMaster last week issued a statement on behalf of CUT, accusing Patterson and Anderson of "quitting and leaving the meeting. Upon their departure, the majority of the total board members of CUT voted to have McMaster serve as 'acting chairman of the CUT board of direced the group last Saturday morning (Sept. 9). We had four of the five officers — three there and a proxy.

"He (McMaster) used the name in the press release. But he's not going to be able to use it because we have it registered."

Anderson said a dozen of the 35 board members were with McMaster. Anderson and Patterson say the rest of the board members are with them.

Anderson said it's relatively unimportant who has the CUT name because the group has no treasury. "All the work, the people, the momentum — that comes with us," said Anderson, chief economist of Alexander Hamilton Life Insurance Co. in Farmington Hills. Each group will need 240,000 legal signatures to get its plan on the bal-lot — 320,000 actual names to allow a margin for errors.

THE POSITION of Richard Headlee, chief executive of Alexander Hamilton, was unclear.

"Dick was out of town and didn't participate (Sept. 9)," said Anderson.

"I talked to him on the phone afterwards, and he didn't seem broken up.
"He has not taken a formal rôle in the group Patterson and I have. He's very much interested in opposing Proposals A and B on the Nov. 7 ballot. My guess is that he'll just work against A and B."

Headlee chaired the group that won voter approval of the 1978 tax limitation amendment - the socalled Headlee amendment.

Anderson said his group wants to strengthen the Headlee amendment

 Reducing school operating property taxes to a 30-mill limit, saving $600 million statewide.

• Allocating more of the state budget to K-12 education without compromising local control.

• Limiting assessment increases to the rate of inflation. Currently the Headlee amendment allows ass ments to rise with the market but requires a corresponding tax rate cut if assessment hikes exceed the consumer price index of inflation.

To the editor:

It's pleasant to find unchanging things in a changing world. Plymouth and its Mayflower Hotel are two of these.

It was my custom in the years immediately before and after the Korean War to pause at the Mayflower for lunch two days a west while commuting to the University of Michigan from Detruit to work on my masters degree (eventually in, of all things, Laurel and Hardy.)

That led to bringing my children to the Mayflower for dinner where they could accumulate points as members of The Clean Plate Club. This eventually earned them a free

They were welcomed in grand style at the Mayflower by your youthful Fyfe and Drum Corps and many local residents, both distinguished ed and ordinary, friendly,

Bus changes draw ire of parents

As the school year begins, parents re again concerned about children's afety. However, it seems the Plymouth-Canton transportation system is not as concerned. Last year bus 30 to Gallimore School stopped at a cen-trally located stop to pick up chil-dren in our addition (Claymore Court East and West). This was a good stop because the children waited at a little-traveled area and did not have to ross busy stree

This year the transportation de-partment moved these stops to Brunswick Drive and Charrington Drive. Several mothers called in to protest the change because these new stops are on heavier traveled streets and not visible to the parents. Also, most of the children live by the former stops. The transportation director, David Rocker, said these stops were "more efficient." How can the difference of two blocks be more efficient and more important safety-wise than the safe stops of the past few years? And time is certainly not a factor since Bus 30 arrives at school 20 minutes before school starts, which means the children are waiting outside.

Last Spring parents were called via the phones, the media, and children's schools to support Plymouth-Canton schools through higher taxes. We supported this call through volunteer work and voting. Now it seems our voices don't matter. The people paid by our taxes from this voting are turning a deaf ear, preferring to "listen to" a computer, in the (false) name of efficiency. If this is what "I care" and working together means to the school system, don't ask for our support in the future.

Barnaby is way off base

Steve Barnaby is way off base in his column of Aug. 31 about police use of 9mm semiautomatic weapons. First of all, he refers to the 9mm semiautomatics as "killer-type weapons." I would ask him to show me a revolver that does not fit into the same category.

Barnaby was upset because, an off-duty Livonia police officer "whipped" out his 9mm semiautomatic and "pumped off" seven rounds to stop two thieves from taking his car.

I am not familiar with the incident and I'm not in a position to question the officers judgment. However, I do not see how the incident relates to Barnaby's objection to police officers using 9mm semiautomatics.

The officer could have just as easily shot six times with a revolver.

Barnaby claims semiautomatic weapons are unnecessary and dangerous. If the criminals all carried slingshots, I might agree that they are unnecessary, but they don't.

As far as being dangerous, he is flat out wrong. They are no more dangerous than any other firearm in the hands of a qualified user. Barnaby advises police officers to wise up and demand weapons, which will make a defense force, not an assault force, but fails to inform us of his weapon of choice. I would be interested to see what his choice would

Support for homeless is needed now

To the editor:

As a concerned citizen about the problem of homelessness, I am writing about an important event that you will, no doubt, want to write about in your suburban papers. This event is Housing Now! A march on Washington scheduled Oct. 7 to bring pressure on our legislators to take action for affordable housing. As many as 3 million Americans are presently homeless, this is surely a national disgrace.

Last week I heard on the radio that the average cost of a house in this country just topped $100,000. Where will even a small portion of these new homeless save enough for a down payment or qualify for a mortgage. We cannot think it just for some of us to have everything, and others to have nothing. Neatnik 'myths' clarified

Q: I just don't understand people who are poorly organised. Tell me about those people who come to you for help.

A: I'm always amused when "neatniks" question "those people" who need organizational help. A number of people have made similar statements and I welcome the opportunity to clear up some myths.

MYTH 1: Only terribly disorganized people take organizing classes. Of all stigmas, this one needs eradicating most. My students represent a healthy cross section of society. Many have good jobs and beautiful homes but feel weighed down with too many time commitments or need help with filing. Many highly orga-nized people take time management classes. Because society is becoming more and more complex, they re constantly striving for better ways to control their lives. Of the innumerable consulting jobs I've done, only one or two were truly cluttered. More often they were neat and tidy but the client just needed help in refining a few specific areas.

MYTH 2: Disorganized people are "losers." Not true! Many highly successful executives are poorly organized. (Of course, their secretaries help!) It is more difficult to be successful without order but certainly not impossible. They just have to work harder.

MYTH 3: "I'm the only one 'who's ' disorganized." It's fun watching some of my new students arrive at classes with a little anxiety and then seeing them relax as they realize there's a whole room full of people there just like them.

MYTH 4: Being disorganized means you are dirty and lazy. Actually, many people who live in disarray are not only very clean but are hard workers, too. They have just never learned how to systemize. Depression may be a factor for some, while others may just be "creative."

5 IS NOT A MYTH: Organizing students do tend to sign up late for classes and arrive late for the first sessions. Procrastination does seem to be a hallmark of those who need help. By the end of the series, however, that changes.

6 IS NOT A MYTH, EITHER: Being a saver causes disorder. About 95 percent of my students admit they are savers. I help them understand their affinity for saving and teach them how to overcome that tendency.

Dorothy Lehmkuhl's classes will begin the week of Oct. 2. Daytime "Organizing For Success": Tuesdays — Birmingham Community House (644-5832); Wednesdays — Schoolcraft College (462-4448). New pilot course, "Organizing Your Business Life": Thursday evenings — Troy Adult Education (879-7582). Call those centers to enroll.

Cranbrook Guild

Violin prodigy highlights 38th season

OR ITS new season, starting be next month, Cranbrook Music Guild is presenting a roster of artists from as far away as Poland, Germany and Bulgaria and as close as Chicago and Bloomfield Hills.

As in other years, the chamber music series offers a variety of artists, and music ranging from early works through the romantic era to the 20th century. All concerts are held in library of Cranbrook House, former home of George and Ellen Scripps Booth, founders of the Cranbrook complex, internationally recognized for the beauty of the grounds and architecture. Afterglow receptions are held in the Oak Room.

The Penderecki String Quartet of Poland will be the guests for the season's opener at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 11. The group, named for Polish composer, Krzysztof Penderecki, was singled out by Musical America as "young artists to watch in 1989."The Quartet made its American debut in 1988.

Trio Fontenay (piano, violin, cello) of Hamburg, Germany, will give the concert at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 7. Their recordings of the complete Mozart trios will be released on the Teldec-Decca label in 1991.

Penderecki String Quartet

opens series

THE ALWAYS POPULAR Christ-mas concert, at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 5, will feature the Ashbury Brass Quintet of Chicago which won two prestigious music competitions in one year. The repertoire ranges from jazz, spirituals and rag to folk and musical theater selections. The Cranbrook student brass choir will return by popular demand to perform ancient carols at the front door of Cranbrook House to set a holiday mood for the evening ahead.

Bulgarian pianist, Pavlina Dokovska, will be featured for the concert at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 27. She studied in Paris and at the Julliard School on a Fulbright. She placed first in the Debussy competition in France and at the International Piano competition in Senigalia, Italy. She was a guest artist at the Festival of Two Worlds in Spoleto, Italy, the Mai Musical in Bordeaux, France and the Interforum Festival in Hungary.

One of the highlights of the season will be the return to the Cranbrook Music Guild series of Corey Cerovsek, violinist. The 17-year old musical and mathametical prodigy is in doctoral programs in math and music at Indiana University where he studies violin with Josef Gingold.

Pavlina Dokouska pianist is guest artist

He will be accompanied by his sister, Katja, who is also a highly regarded artist and student at Indiana Univer-

HE HAS PERFORMED with the Israel Philharmonic Orchestra, Zubin Mehta conducting, the Montreal Symphony with Charles Dutoit and last summer at the opening concerts of the new Opera de la Bastille in Paris as part of the French Bicentennial celebration.

The April concert will be given by Frederick Weldy, pianist, winner of the Guild's Betty Brewster Scholarship. The annual award is given to an outstanding graduate student at University of Michigan School of Music in an effort to promote and support outstanding student talent.

Season tickets are $65. For brochure and information, call 751-2435.

Cranbrook House is on Lone Pine, just west of Cranbrook, Bloomfield Hills. Parking is in the Christ Church Cranbrook lot across the street with shuttle bus service to Cranbrook

Building Scene_

Monday, September 18, 1989 O&E

James S. Bonadeo, president of the Builders Association of Southeast Michigan and owner of a building company that bears his name says, "You would be amazed at young couples under 40 moving into houses at anywhere from $300,000 to $600,000. It's amazing." One such subdivision is Beacon Meadows in Plymouth Township.

There's no predicting building hot spots

By Doug Funke staff writer

A bank robber when asked years ago why he robbed banks reportedly answered, "Because that's where the money is.

Developers who build residential subdivisions, shopping centers and office buildings think along similar lines. They go where the vacant land is.

But it's much more complicated than that.

Land seems to be available in metropolitan Detroit. The trick is to build not necessarily where people and their money are now, but where they want to be in the years ahead.

'What makes for a hot spot - I don't think anyone knows," said James S. Bonadeo, president of the Builders Association of Southeast Michigan and owner of a building company that bears his name.

"I don't think there's any simple answer to that question," said Bud Kasselman, vice president and branch manager for the real estate firm of Cushman & Wakefield of Michigan.

BUILDING PERMITS were issued for more residential units in Farmington Hills (565), Novi (434) and Rochester Hills (315) for the first six months of 1989 than any other community in Oakland or Wayne counties.

Those preliminary figures were provided by the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments.

Southfield and Troy continue to show the highest volume of office construction, according to a mid-year market report prepared by Coldwell Banker Commercial Real Estate Services.

That report said 1.6 million square feet are under construction in Southfield, 1.1 million in Troy.

Chrysler Corp. expects to move some people into the first phase of a 3.3 million-square-foot corporate headquarters under construction in Auburn Hills later this

Construction of other speculative office buildings in Auburn Hills likely will follow.

The suburban office market, with a vacancy rate of just over 17 percent, may be approaching the saturation point, said Scott Elliott, vice president and resident manager for Coldwell Banker.

Nationally, the suburban vacancy rate is 21.4 percent,

"It seems like most new projects going on have been on the drawing board for a long time," Elliott said.

"In the I-696, I-275 corridors, there's still some things happening in Southfield, Novi, Farmington Hills and Livonia primarily being finished up, but not much new stuff is starting now," he said.

"WE'VE CERTAINLY had five, six, seven years of the biggest boom we've ever had," said Dick Roeser, president of Beachum and Roeser Development Corp. and president of the Building Owners and Management Association.

"I don't think any of us seasoned players would suggest it would continue ad infinitum," he said.

Elliott said he believes lenders are hesitant to release money for office construction until demand catches up with supply

Commercial construction seems to be sprouting everywhere.

"We've been in a period of relatively inexpensive money," Kasselman said. "It encourages development. It encourages people maybe new to development. Building strip centers is one of the easiest ways to get into the development business."

He especially notices commercial hot spots along Haggerty Road in Wayne County and along M-59 in Oak-

OTHER FACTORS come into play, at least where residential is concerned, Bonadeo said.

Buyers of detached homes today seem to prefer large houses on large lots with a rolling teas ain and streams in places like Rochester Hills, Plymouth and Novi, he

"The school system is very important," Bonadeo said. "You would be amazed at young couples under 40 moving into houses at anywhere from $300,000 to $600,000. It's amazing."

Another big factor, regardless of kind of development, is cooperation of local government officials to expedite paperwork approvals so a developer can get

It generally takes 18 months to two years from when property is acquired to when work begins with the construction of utilities on a project, Bonadeo said.

"Cooperation or accessibility to a community's agencies - inspection department, building department, zoning - a harmonious working relationship obviously prevails in hot areas," Richards said.

TO OVERSIMPLIFY, development of residential, commercial and office tends to stimulate each other, real-estate experts said.

A desirable housing stock will draw commercial. Office development shifts to where clients are in business and where employees live.

There's no magic formula to determine whether a given area will become hot. Demographic studies don't always accurately forecast what area will hit or miss.

Bonadeo has been in the residential development business for 42 years.

"It's a matter of touch and experience," he said. "I look at it, drive around. I'm familiar with communities.

"I fly by the seat of my pants. I think you'll find a lot of builders feel the same way. It's a gut feeling," Bona-was the feature that convinced Homearama visitors to vote the Bayview the favorite house of the annual showcase of idea homes.

The Bayview, also cited for its woodwork, took 23 percent of the vote, beating out the Brookshire with 20 percent and the Jacquelynn Maria with 16 percent, in a poll taken the weekend of Sept. 9 at the Oakland Township site.

Built by Palazzolo Brothers Construction Co. of Utica, the Bayview was designed by architect Ron Meyers & Associates of Plymouth.

WITH 4,400 square feet, its price range is $390,000-$550,000. It features an open foyer with an oak circular staircase, four bedrooms plus

A traditional colonial's floor plan a 300-square foot "bonus room" off the master suite, six bay windows, three fireplaces, four full and two half baths, and a finished walk-out basement with kitchen/bar area.

Homearama will close Sunday, Sept. 24, with a sale of furniture and accessories from most of the houses. The houses, in the $375,000-$675,000 price range, will be for sale after the show closes and can be bought with furnishings included.

Homearama is in the Hills of Oakland subdivision, developed by Moceri Development of Grand Blanc, on Adams Road north of Dutton Road, which is north of Rochester. Hours are 3-11 p.m. Monday through Friday and noon to 11 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. Admission is $5.

'In-house' attorney a bad idea

Our board of directors insists upon us ing an attorney who lives in the condominium project to assist in drafting contracts for the site. Some people are concerned because the attorney is a personal injury lawyer and has no experience in real estate. Others have claimed that there may well be a conflict of interest particularly if the attorney "screws up." How can we convince the board that this action is not proper?

Tell the board to exercise common sense and think the matter through. If a co-owner is also the attorney for the association, how can be exercise independent judgment with respect to advising the board? He may also become involved in the political process to keep the present board in power so as to preserve his position as attorney for the association. If a problem arises either in regard to his competence, performance or billings, the fact that he is co-owner at the condominium makes things even worse. It can create potential divisiveness in the condominium that would not ordinarily be there. Finally, he may actually be in a conflict of interest in performing his duties for the association while being a co-owner

The best insurance for the board of directors is to run the association in a prudent fashion.

Is there a law protecting homeowner association boards in the event of a lawsuit? We are a new subdivision checking into the necessity of liability insurance. Our research shows such rates to be astronomical, thus prompting the above

An amendment to the Nonprofit Corporation act of 1988 basically limits director liability in certain instances if the amendment has been approved and assed to the articles of incorporation. But it does not totally eliminate director responsibility. Moreover, while there should be provisions in the association bylaws providing for indemnification for the directors, that too may not be foolproof, particularly if the association does not have the funds to satisfy the requirements of indemnification,

Obviously there are ways of drafting your homeowner association documents to insulate certain liability of the board, but the best insurance for the board of directors is to run the association in a prudent fashion, to get good advice and to have adequate insurance to protect the interests of the board of directors as well as the association.

Would you please describe the benefits of incorporation as opposed to operating as an individual? I am buying a home and wish to rent it out and wonder whether it would be advisable to incorporate.

Putting aside consideration of the tax ramifications of operating as a corporation as opposed to an individual, when one incorporates that means the person is not personally responsible for the debts of a shareholder in the corporation.

Generally speaking, in a small, closely held corporation, the investor will be liable only to the extent of his investment in the corporation. The obligations of the corporation must be satisfied from the assets of the corporation. Therefore, it may be advisable for you to own the home as a corporation so long as the tax ramifications are not detrimental to you. You should consult with your tax adviser in that regard.

Rite stuff: downing an oyster

It used to be tue that oysters should only be aten in months that end with an"r." For all we cared, the monts could end in "z," because swallowing one's first raw oysteris a rite of passage reserved or that minute classification of people who dared eat tripe, mountain oysters and snails.

Oysters are nither cute nor do they have a ompelling aroma. One must workat loving oysters.

If memory grves me correctly, I was into the age of adulthood before I sampled my first raw oyster. It was smewhere between my second and third new car and well past the ige when my driver's license vas no longer required proof trenter a bar.

All oysten are considered "filter feedes," meaning that they do not necessarily move about to get their food but, instead, get norishment by pumping hundreds if gallons of water a day through their valves and filtering out tny larve and plankton for nourishment.

OYSTERS [HRIVE on every coast and are rategorized by that geographical efinition. Domestically, there are Atlantic oysters, Pacific oysters and Gulf oysters.

In the last lew years, an incredible amount if new classifications of oysters his sprung into prominence. Wha used to be simple groups like Bluepoints, Olympias and Cotuius have been integrated with the assorted tastes like Belons, Hg Island Sweetwaters and Portuguese, along with about a dozen orso other varieties. And that doesn't even begin counting the thousand or so varieties available from other worldwide coast-

As stared earlier, it used to be written in seawater that oysters only be consumed during months that en(with an "r:" namely, September, October, November and December.

Oysters reproduce during the imme and, as a result, most summer mainland oysters used to be unappealingly fat (about to spawn)or have a strange texture (just spawned). However, oyster harvesers now say that oysters can be perfectly acceptable in summer, especially if you order some of the colder-climate varieties like those from Washington State, British Columbia or Nova

Because oysters are filter feeders, they are continuously exposed to infectious bacteria and viruses that get pumped through their bodies along with the food supply. These bacteria and viruses are usually found in waters polluted by industrial wastes and sewage. Periodically, the U.S. Food and Drug Administration issues advisories warning consumers not to eat raw shellfish, including oysters.

BUT THE FDA has never really come forward and said that eating raw oysters is harmful. If it's any consolation, all oyster harvesters and distributors must use a detailed system of tagging every box of oysters that reveals the exact date of harvesting, including the specific oyster bed and the date received by the distributor and the date received by the restaurant. Restaurants are supposed to keep the tags on hand for 60 days, ensuring that any resulting health problem could be traced quickly.

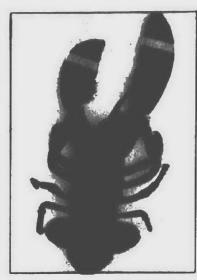

Judging from oyster sales, safety is not weighing on most oyster-lovers' minds. Oysters have become so popular that for several years they have been over-harvested. As a result, there are fewer and fewer oysters, and they cost more and more.

According to data from the National Marine Fisheries, on the East Coast alone, 48 million pounds of oyster meat valued at $46 million were sold in 1976. By contrast, in 1986 only 35 million pounds were sold, valued at $72 million. That's a 27 percent decline in production and a 57 percent increase in price.

Lobster

Crustacean stars at ultimate bash

Its claws taped, a live lobster awaits its fate.

By Larry Janes

F YOU REMEMBER correctly. it was just a few short months ago when a story was run on a Livonia firefighter's quest to throw the ultimate backyard barbecue - a pig and lamb roast for about 150 close friends, neighbors and fellow firefighters.

Watch out, Livonia, because vying for a little friendly one-upmanship are Keith and Louise Malinowski and the firefighters from Redford.

Right after the last story ran, this reporter received an invitation to a backyard lobster bake and I've got to admit, it was quite a party.

It never ceases to amaze me how folks can throw parties for between 125-150 friends, with ease. Simple get-togethers at Chateau Janes for six people send me over the proverbial fire hydrant, and thoughts of multiplying the guest list 20-fold sends shivers down my spine.

So what's the secret to these ultimate backyard bashes? The Malinowskis and their kids from Redford have been doing this for the last seven years, and the only time I noticed firefighter Malinowski slightly flustered was when he was told by another firefighter that they were having trouble with the beer tap.

BEFORE MALINOWSKI could utter an, "Oh no, what next?" his friend volunteered to head to the nearest party store and get another tapper. Ah, the secret has been revealed. It isn't enough that these guys trust their lives with each other every day. They all seem to band together and help each other when the

To pull off a party of this magnitude, however, a few months of solid planning are de rigeur. So what if the weekend weather bantered back and forth with intermittent showers and sunshine? After successfully throwing parties like this for the last seven years, a little experience never hurt anyone The reason for the ultimate lobster bake came up many moons ago when the Malinowskis discovered their taste for fresh Maine lobsters. After many pilgrimages to the East Coast, they found themselves carrying back requests from firefighters and other friends for fresh, live Maine lobsters and clams.

Fortunately, with today's jet-fresh transport services just a short drive away at Metro Airport, it seemed like a piece of cake to request 12 dozen lobsters and 50 pounds of clams to be packed, wrapped and sent via air cargo. Malinowski claims his East Coast supplierwholesaler said the lobsters were still swimming in the ocean Friday morning, and after being caught Friday afternoon, they were immediately boxed, topped with seaweed and put on a plane for the Motor

Unlike the Livonia firefighter's, pig roast where a straw hat was passed at the end of the soiree to help defray expenses, the Malinowskis send out a flyer every summer asking guests to r.s.v.p., along with a check to secure their requests. For those attending the party who chose not to indulge in live lobsters. New York strip steaks prepared just the way you like them also were handled on a large, porta-

FIREFIGHTER Jim Gomulka and Malinowski's brother, Mark, were in charge of grilling while the big boss man and compadres Gary Burke and Ed Leonard assisted the chef himself with the "exactly 13 minutes in rapidly boiling, lightly salted water" for the lobsters.

In addition to the hardy surf-andturf fare, Malinowski included fresh, boiled, corn on the cob and what I thought were the best-tasting onions I had ever sunk my teeth into. A side trip to the Detroit Eastern Market at a.m. the day of the party had the Redford fireman slinging 50-pound sacks of corn and onions over his shoulder for the hungry guests. The onions were boiled in their skins till tender, again for about 13 minutes.

Immediately upon their removal from the steaming, institutionalsized cauldron, the root ends were sliced off, and tender, juicy, tasty onions were squeezed out by hand. I could have a dinner just on the onions, but I chose to indulge in the other culinary fantasies in order to save my breath from sheer disaster.

Tucked away in the tidy Malinowski kitchen was Bob Thomas, president of the firefighter union lo-

ove that pizza — from wood-burning oven

Its doors opened just a few weeks ago, but America's Pizza Cafe is having no trouble finding customers. It seems like everyone who loves pizza (and that's everyone, right?) is rushing to try out Mike Ilitch's newest venture, a diner-like gourmet pizza place in Southfield.

And the response is just about as enthusiastic as the staff that serves you: good and excitingly different pizzas, modest prices and a fun atmosphere. The pizzas are definitely terrific - familiar enough to be comfortable, yet different enough to inject a whole new enthusiasm for

The setting is upbeat too. Whitepainted brick walls, turquoise vinyl booths, formica-topped tables, copper-trimmed counter, ceiling fans and a wonderful, lifelike sculpture of two waitresses sharing a smoke.

The standard pepperoni et al pizza is all but gone from this menu. Here you can select from a dozen variations including Mexican burrito style with chicken, Italian and cheddar cheeses, as well as mild salsa, pinto beans, onions and tomatoes; a teriyaki chicken version with chicken in an orange teriyaki sauce, onions and red and yellow peppers; or Greek style with lamb sausage, grape leaves, red onions, tomatoes, olives, green peppers and, of course, feta

THE NEW-YORK-style cheese and garlic pizza features a great combination of Italian cheeses and is very heavy on the garlic. The light, crisp crust and touch of tomato sauce are gentle reminders that this is, indeed, a pizza.

Another wonderful selection is the 'Polynesian" pizza featuring pineapple, Canadian bacon, ground cashews and tomato sauce. It has a refreshingly sweet taste. One of the most popular selections is the "traditional bar-b-que chicken" with a sweet sauce, red onion and cilantro.

All the pizzas are cooked, in full view of the diners, inside a woodfired oven which brings a little different taste to the food. Each pizza is small, designed for one person. Most customers order at least one pizza per person and then share. It seemed everyone was leaving with a "car-

The menu isn't exclusively pizza. There are 12 pasta dishes, some of which are similar to the pizzas offered - like the lemon-garlic pasta or the garden vegetable marinara. The pastas also are moderately priced ($4.25-$7.95), though they definitely play second to the pizzas.

You can finish your meal with a dessert, like harvest apple cobbler pie or caramel praline cheesecake. Beverages range from standard soft drinks, California wines, wine coolers and beer to Kaliber, a nonalcoholic Guiness beer, and Perrier. Expresso and cappuccino are also available.

BECAUSE THIS restaurant is taking off like a rocket, allow time for standing in line - especially on weekends. We waited nearly an hour, but the amazingly upbeat staff made the wait as pleasant as possible. We were constantly reassured that we would be seated as quickly as possible - and we were. The instant a table was vacated, it was prepared for the next customers.

Even though the strain of the steady stream of traffic was showing on some faces (there was still a line at 9:45 p.m. on a recent week-end), the staff was exceedingly friendly. They seem to share the exuberance of the place. Or maybe they sense they are onto something

A call to a few of the local area's major seafood retail outlets has found an interesting assortments of opsters for sale. Some, like the Bes, are definitely for discerning lates, but for the most part, a basic supply of the top flavor-getters are available, for a price.

Expect to pay anywhere from 39 cents to about $1.50 each, depending on where they came from and their size. All the retailers polled stressed that they can special-order just about any type of oyster. Some of the selections available locally include:

• Belon. Used to hail from Brittany, France, but is now grown on both coasts. It has round, flat shells, with a pronounced metallic flavor, especially iron.

Bluepoint. Originally from Blue Point, Long Island, this oyster is no longer harvested. Bluepoint is a generic term for a mild Atlantic oyster. Cotuit. From Cape Cod, Mass., me-

His job was to prepare the 10 gallons of steaming clam chowder that served as a welcome accompaniment during a sudden downpour, as guests buddled under a miniature circus tent set up between the volley ball net and horseshoe pit. Both Maiinowski and Thomas laid claim to the recipe, with Thomas calling most of the shots and offering piping hot howls to guests who had to cut through the kitchen to use the facili-

And if all that wasn't enough, all you had to do was look around to find a 25-pound bowl of fresh cole-slaw on the service table, not to mention the numerous kegs of beer, wine and soft drinks.

I wandered through the crowd, trying to spot the experienced lobster eater going after what I consider to be one of the most tasty parts of the crustacean next to the tail, those tiny little legs. I wonder if the

When it came time to depart, I noticed a few of the guests wrapping what was left of their orangey-red treats for take home, surely to be enjoyed the next day in a salad or stuffed into pita with some ripe tomates and crispy lettuce.

And to top it all off, if a guest worked up a little hunger on the horseshoe pits or volleyball field, giant platters of Louise Malinowski's "Down East Blueberry Cake" was brought out to satiste any remaining hunger pangs. This recipe was purportedly gleaned from an old fisher-cole slaw dressing. Refrigerate.

Look for mushrooms with the veil attached

AP - Mushrooms grow in the dark. But you needn't be in the dark when it comes to buying, storing and preparing fresh mushrooms. Follow these simple tips to add their special elegance to everyday meals.

· Look for smooth, firm mushrooms with the veil - the membrane between the stem and cap still attached. Those with open veils are still delicious, just more mature.

 Mushrooms are marketed in three general sizes: small (button), medium and large. Size is a matter of preference, not quality or age. Choose the size most appropriate for · Store fresh mushrooms. unwashed, in the refrigerator. Store pre-packaged mushrooms in the package.

· Loose mushrooms or those in an opened package should be stored in a paper bag or a damp cloth bag in the refrigerator. This allows them to breathe so they stay firmer long-

• Do not store in plastic bags; this causes mushrooms to deteriorate more quickly.

 Stored properly, mushrooms will keep for several days.

 Do not wash mushrooms or soak them in water. Instead, wipe gently with a damp cloth or special mushroom brush. Because they're porous, mushrooms absorb water like a sponge, softening the texture and causing a loss of nutrients.

• Store-bought mushrooms never need peeling.

· Choose button or medium mushrooms for slicing in salads or sauteing in butter or wine. Large mushrooms are best for stuffing as appetizers, broiling, or in stews or soups.

· Cook mushrooms covered and

PORK ORIENTAL

This was one of my favorite dinners growing up. You might not think that any child would like this, based on the ingredients, but everybody who has ever tried it loves it. Potatoes, chicken mix well in microwave

AP - The potato is earning a reputation for being fast, thanks to the microwave oven.

A whole potato cooks in the mi-crowave in about 6 minutes, a sliced potato in about 5, and you can have a meal-sized potato dish in 12 minutes.

Cook and serve this Southwesternseasoned meal on the same microwave-safe platter. The secret is the arrangement of foods, with the slowest-cooking food placed on the outside, the fastest in the center. You don't even peel the potato.

2 green onions, sliced 8 flour tortillas (optional)

Arrange potato slices around edge of a 12-inch round microwave-safe platter or pizza dish. Place chicken pieces in a ring inside potatoes, over-lapping about 1 inch. Combine corn and 1/2 cup of the Southwestern Chili Sauce; place in center of platter. Spoon remaining chili sauce in a 1inch ribbon between potato and chicken pieces. Sprinkle green onions over corn. Cover tightly with clear plastic wrap, turning back one side slightly to vent steam. Cook on 100 percent power (high) for 12-14 minutes until chicken is no longer pink and vegetables are just tender, giving platter a half-turn after 6 minutes. Spoon mixture into warm tortillas, if desired. Makes 4 servings. Southwestern Chill Sauce: In a me-

Recipes in 'Food for Friends' stand the test of time

By Geri Rinschier special writer

"Food for Friends" by Barbara Kafka, Harper & Row, 1989,

When I was first asked to review 'Food for Friends," I thought the title sounded familiar. As it turns out, the original, cloth version was published in 1984.

Why reprint a paperback five years later? Well, first of all, "Food for Friends" received a prestigious Tastemaker award. That's a literary award given annually to a select number of cookbooks in a variety of categories such as best ethnic, international or basic.

Since 1984 Kafka has gone on to write two other award-winning books. "Microwave Gourmet" and "American Food and California Wine." Besides being the recipient of these distinguished awards, Kafka also writes a food column for the Gary and Lauren Ray of Livonia for their Old No. Seven Chili, which used a traditional chili recipe. Third place and $50 went to "Chili Joe TV Chili," which used a not-so-traditional chili recipe.

Contestants varied from the cultured cooking expert to the firsttime novice.

"Chili" Joe Wnuck had a simplified version of his Guiness world-record chili, which contains 1,000 ingredients. Motor City Chili cookers Neil Michaels of Westland and Ken Kirkman of Livonia said their team's secret was sirloin marinated in wine and cooked in dry beer.

"It's one can of beer in the chili and six cans of beer in the cook," Kirkman joked.

Their strategy was to entertain as well as please the palate, so they greeted fairgoers in cowboy hats and rang cowbells. Michaels and Kirk-

I don't know why I didn't remember "Food for Friends" because the recipes do appeal to me. Although many of the recipes are basic and traditional, a number of them are healthy, easy to prepare and made with some unconventional ingred-

FOR EXAMPLE, the first recipe I tested for a family dinner, Vegetable Pancakes, worked out nicely. It's prepared with the same technique you would use for making potato pancakes but shredded zucchini and shredded carrots are added to the batter. I was disappointed there weren't any herbs included in the ingredients. So I improvised, which is just what the author encourages in

There are a few other recipes I'd still like to try this summer, which sound appealing — Raspberry Bread Pudding, Curried Chicken Salad and Parsley Soup. Not all the recipes in "Food for Friends" are summer dishes but just the most appetizing

My biggest disappointment with this cookbook is that there are no suggested menus or advice on dishes which specifically complement one

Some of the recipes are simple, others a bit complicated. The title suggests a collection of recipes for out-of-the-ordinary recipes - which is just what I look for when I entertain friends. Does the book meet with those expectations? On a scale of 1-10, I rate this one 71/2, but that's just this cook's opinion.

Homemade pickles are tasty treats, fun to make

True, it takes a bit of work to make pickles. But they taste so much better than any you can buy that you won't ever be sorry you did PICKLES ARE the "frosting on the cake" at any meal, but with a lot less calories. One whole dill pickle averages from one to seven calories. And even a whole ounce of the sweet varieties, such as crisp sweet gerkins; bread and butter pickles; slippery jacks, or candied types average only 18-40 calories.

Of the recipes I have included here, Mae Bullock's Sweet Relish is my favorite. Once you have tasted it, store-bought relish will never again satisfy you. You may never want to eat another hamburger without it as long as you live.

success, and your arthritis leaves. Or assume the medicine is a thorough failure, and your arthritis becomes worse. In either case, you have no problem deciding whether or not to continue the therapy.

Unfortunately, most arthritis medicine rarely works so well or ill. Usually you must make a decision when it has helped in less than a perfect manner. How can you decide?

Ask yourself the following specific questions: Were you stiff for hours in the morning when you started the medication, and now the stiffness lasts only minutes? Or, has the duration of stiffness remained unchanged? Did you formerly awaken 3-4 times a night, and now only 1-2 times? Or, are you still repeatedly disturbed from sleep? Finally, how many joints are swollen today as compared with the past and how long do they now stay swollen? Changing medication is fraught with hazards of side effects and unexpected interactions. However, reliance on a medicine that isn't helping is foolish. The guidelines described above allow you to decide whether it is appropriate to continue present medications or to consider other choices.

Exotic vegetables can liven up an ordinary meal

For health reasons, there has been a renewed interest in vegetables. Many grocers are carrying some very foreign looking vegetables right alongside the familiar carrots and

For variety as well as nutrition and good taste, these vegetables are worth trying. Some of these vegetables may even come with a label that offers tips on handling and cooking. Many can be eaten raw and are easy to cook, low in calories and relatively high in vitamins, minerals and fiber. Perfect for everyone.

Q. How long has Michigan had Lotto

A. Advance of Jackpot prizes past $1 billion in the August 23 drawing occurred just two days short of the fifth anniversary of the first drawing on August 25, 1984

Q. How many players have been jack-pot winners?

A. The August 23 winner was the 378th to win or share a Jackpot prize Of these, 85 won Jackpot shares of less than $1 million and 107 others won between $1 million and $2 million. Ten have won prizes of more than $10 million

Q. What's been the average won? A. Wins have averaged just over $2,645,000 to provide annual pre-tax payments of about $132,000 for 20 years

Q. What's been Michigan's biggest

A. The largest Jackpot, $33.5 million came in September, 1988, after seven consecutive rollovers. It was shared by two winners. This followed a $28.9 million jackpot shared by five winners after six rollovers in January, 1988.

Q. Why doesn't Michigan have more big jackpots like those we hear about in other states?

A. These high jackpots usually occur in more populous states with higher odds games where more frequent rollovers keep the Jackpot growing along with player

Chiefs zap Franklin for best football start

staff writer

Plymouth Canton's football team broke new ground Saturday in a 21-0 victory at Livonia Franklin.

The Chiefs, who have never had a winning season in the school's 18-year history, ran their overall record to 3-0 with the Western Lake Activities Association (Western Division) triumph. It was also Canton's fourth straight win dating back to a victory over rival Plymouth Salem in the 1988 season finale.

"I'm not over-excited about this because you have to keep things in perspective," said Canton coach Bob Khoenle, whose Chiefs are off to their best start ever.

"IT'S NICE, but what we have to do is keep it going. I still see a lot of room for improvement."

A steady rain made playing conditions treacherous, but Canton was able to come up with the key plays and stay away from costly mistakes.

The Chiefs got a break on their first score when junior quarterback Karl Wukie's pass deflected off Jeff Kenney, the receiver, and into the hands of Chris Robinson, who, while sprawled on his back in the end zone, cradled the ball into his arms for a 23-yard touchdown.

AND WHILE Canton's offense sputtered at times, the defense was rock-solid.

Four Chiefs picked off passes: Brian Riggs, Jason Lee, Dave Cessante and Jason Riggs. Craig Piwko and Liam Rentz also recovered a fumbles.

The score remained 7-0 until the final quarter when Rentz pounced on a loose ball off a punt at the Franklin added another TD via the run, running by a blitzing Patriot defense on an option keeper for a 73-yard TD run with 1:23 to play.

Six plays later, Wukie scored on a 4-yard keeper, and Mike Krejcar kicked the second of his three extra points to make it 14-0 with 9:19 left to go.

"Our defense held us in," Khoenle said. "But we have some kids who can make the big play. He (Wukie) has been through this, and he knows.

'Franklin was big and strong up front, a lot stronger than we were, so we had to do some of the other things that we do best offensively to try and get them going.'

THE PATRIOTS, who were outgained 235-204 in total offense, could only point to the six turnovers, untimely penalties and fumbled snaps for their demise.

"We were embarrassed by mental mistakes," said Franklin coach Armand Vigna, whose team fell to 1-2

"Not that they didn't hit us and play a good football game, they're a good football club. They kept making the big plays. Their quarterback (Wukie) did a great job under the conditions. We couldn't throw the ball as well.

We dug our own grave, and they kicked us in it. The defense played very well, but they were on the field too

"WE COULDN'T generate any offense. I don't know what was wrong. I thought we were ready to go.'

A win next week by the Chiefs against Livonia Churchill would match the highest victory total ever by a Canton team.

Khoenle, however, remains cautiously optimistic. "We had a lot of opportunities to score today, and we didn't take advantage," he said. "We made some mistakes out there, too. The offense has to catch up with the

Ironic, isn't it? A Canton football coach guarding against complacency

Kowalski carries out Rock grid plan, 41-0

staff writer

Plymouth Salem football coach Tom Moshimer ventured above the playing field Friday night, but quarterback Rob Kowalski was staying down to earth.

For the first time in his 31-year career, Moshimer was calling plays from the press box instead of walking the sidelines. He made the right choices often enough as the undefeated Rocks (3-0) handed winless Farmington a 41-0 defeat at Salem.

"I wanted to go up there and see if I could do a better job of calling the ballgame," Moshimer said. "It's a different experience up there, and it worked out pretty well. You see more and get a little better feel.'

What Moshimer saw was a lot of Kowalski making the big plays. The senior passed for one touchdown and rushed for two others.

Kowalski finished the night with 133 yards on nine carries, including an 86-yarder that set up his second TD, and completed four of 11 passes for 64 yards.

DESPITE THE big numbers, Kowalski was keeping things in perspective and talking about the team instead of himself.

"On the passes, I got the blocking from the line," he said. "On the runs, I got the blocking from my backs. That's the difference between other teams and this team. We play as a team.

"I'm not going to overglorify (the individual results). I'll get compliments, but once Monday rolls around it's back to work.'

The Rocks, who turned three Farmington turnovers into first-half touchdowns and a 22-0 halftime lead, are a team off the field, too, according to Kowalski.

'We get together and do things as a team," he said. "In school, we eat lunch together. Thursday nights we get together for dinner. We care about each other and, on the field, we protect each other."

The Falcons stopped Salem on its first two possessions and looked up to giving the Rocks a struggle, but back-to-back fumbles started Farmington on its way down the slide.

"ONCE WE MAKE a mistake we seem to lose confidence," Farmington coach Rick Milhizer said. "They outplayed us, no doubt about it, but we seem to make a mistake and get down.

"We stopped their inside run early, and they went to the air and picked us apart. When they beat you because they're better that's something you can live with, but the mistakes you can't."

Scott Austin scooped up a loose ball and raced 37 yards for Salem's first TD. On the ensuing kickoff, Brian Vicchio was stripped of the ball, and it took the Rocks three plays to score again - Kowalski passing 35 yards to Bryan Schultz.

Salem's third TD of the first half was set up by Ryan Johnson's 49-yard halfback pass to Austin, and Kowalski ran 10 yards untouched around end on the next play for the TD

"Our kids played great once we got going," Moshimer said. "These are terrible playing conditions (muddy, chewed-up field), but it helped us a little more because we're a little stronger.

St. Joe's team effort knocks down Canton

Tracey Bloodworth is the star of St. Joseph's girls basketball team, but it was the way the Bears played as a unit that proved successful

St. Joseph used a tight-knit defense and a hustling offense to upset Plymouth Canton 43-41 in the first round of the Mercy Hoops Classic.

The Bears played host Farmington Hills Mercy for the tournament championship Saturday night, and the Chiefs had a rematch with Trenton in the consolation game.

"We're not a one-person team," St. Joseph coach and Tracey's father, Rick Bloodworth, said. "We have to make the passes, give the ball up and make good decisions, and then we become a good basketball team."

Tracey Bloodworth, a 5-foot-9 forward, scored a game-high 16 points, guard Liz Vernasco 11 and forward Allison Remble nine, but defense was more important than offense on this night.

THE SMALLER Bears (2-0) managed to deny Canton (1-2) access to the lane and, shutting off the pass into the low post, held 5-11 center Susan Ferko to 14 points. Stacey Thompson added 11, but nobody else had more than four.

St. Joseph didn't have the height to dominate on defense but made up for that with its scrappy, aggressive

They took away our inside game," Canton coach Bob Blohm said. "We had some easy hoops early when they were in a man, but they went to a 2-3 zone and it was hard to get Susan in there. We didn't recognize our opportunities."

The Chiefs jumped in front 6-0, but St. Joseph responded right away and was within two at the end of the quarter, 10-8. The Bears went on a 13-2 run in the second quarter (21-12) and led 23-16 at halftime.

Bloodworth capped the run of points with a triple and sank a lavup with three seconds left in the half. "Ferko is a good player," Rick Bloodworth said. "We have nobody who can really play in there, but I think we made it tough.

"WE TRIED TO really pinch down. We don't have people who can guard those people, and I think the zone gave them problems." St. Joseph was able to work the

Canton defense for passes inside that resulted in easy scores — again an example of the team's cohesive play - and frustration for the Chiefs. 'The game can be summarized by lack of recognition offensively and not being able to adjust to what they were trying to do," Blohm said. "(St. Joseph) did a great job of controlling the tempo." The Bears scored the last seven points of the third quarter to lead 34-20, which was a score more indicative of the game than the two-point final. Bloodworth again made a lastsecond layup. Canton, however, made a strong, fourth-quarter bid to salvage a win, and when the Chiefs got it down to 41-36 with under two minutes left it was still possible. Jenny Russell's rebound basket made it a three-point game, and Christyn Halliday grabbed a key defensive rebound. Bloodworth sank two free throws with :05 remaining before Russell hit a triple at the buzzer. "I thought we did a real nice job defensively until late," Rick Blood-worth said. "Our guards got too cautious and let them sneak between in

"They were smart. They didn't foul Tracey (an excellent free throw shooter) until they had to."

S'craft challenge to repeat '88 feat

By C.J. Risak staff writer

Now the impossible begins.

Or so it seems. How does one follow up a national championship season? The best to be hoped for is matching the previous success. And when three of six starters are graduated, that task seems insurmountable.

But it's nothing new for Tom Teeters, to whom the unlikely seems an everyday chore. Remember, a week after guiding Schoolcraft College to the National Junior College Athletic Association volleyball championship, he was back at the controls as Livonia Ladywood's coach. Two months later, he took the Blazers to their secondconsecutive Class A state title.

Can Teeters do it again? Can he reconstruct SC's team and have the Lady Ocelots in contention for another NJCAA crown by November?

PREDICTIONS AT this time are pointless. A year ago, no one could have anticipated SC would win the national championship. This year's team can be viewed in the same light.

The Lady Ocelots aren't that big they're tallest starter is Tricia Lukas at 6 feet. But they were no bigger a year ago.

Last year, however, they had a proven setter in Chris Paciero and a pair of topquality hitters in Marla Evans and Nikki Stubbs. All three have gone on to four-year schools; their replacements will be the key to SC's season. 'I never used height as a judge for hitting," said Teeters. That belief was proven a year ago when Teeters installed a newcomer who measured a mere 5 feet as rightside hitter. Alisha Love proved to be outstanding; she was named to the NJCAA alltournament team.

LOVE IS back for her sophomore season, and this year Teeters hails her as "our top returning player." Her value is evident, according to her coach.

"She's what we call our bait on the right side," he explained. "She baits the other team into coming her way. They feel they can take advantage of her size. "But Alisha can get up there with the best of them. She plays the best defense on our right side, and she's probably the best server in the country."

That is something that must be understood about Teeters' teams: If you don't play all facets of the game, you don't play much. Returnee JoAnn Kolnitys is an example. Although Kolnitys, a 5-9 sophomore from Wayne Memorial, was an outstanding blocker a year ago, her hitting wasn't what Teeters had hoped for.

Kolnitys has improved, said Teeters. "She still has to learn to hit different kinds of sets," he said. "The more kinds of sets she can hit, the better team we'll be."

TWO NEWCOMERS Teeters is expecting major contributions from are Elena Oparka and Angellette Love, Alisha's younger — but not littler - sister. Angellette stands a whopping 5-6 and possesses the same kind of leaping ability her sister has.

'Angellette is our top hitter," said Teeters, who has inserted the younger Love on the left side. Oparka ("She's the strongest, the hardest hitter on our team") and Lukas also expect to see playing time in hitting roles.

Anjanette Lankford, from Garden City, was slated to be a starting middle blocker until she wrecked an ankle at Michigan Tech's Husky Invitational a week ago. SC lost its first two matches at the tournament while Teeters tinkered with the lineup, then won its final two to capture the title. Lankford could be back within a week.

Shamrocks pop Pioneers

By Bred Emone staff writer

For Whom the Bell Tolls?

It wasn't exactly out of Homing-way, but it was darn close Friday as a sturdy Redford Catholic Catholic defense, led by 6-foot-3, 246-pound tackle Ryan Bell, limited usually high-scoring Ann Arbor Pioneer to only 94 yards total offense in authoring up an impressive 13-0 victory. It was the Shamrocks' third straight shutout in 1989, but more importantly, it signaled that CC is a team to be reckoned with again this

In past years Pioneer has tormented a perennially sound CC defense with short passes and gimmick plays, but on this night in a battle of state-ranked teams, it was all Sham-

On Pioneer's first play, junior tailback Damon Jacobs literally had his Bell rung as the massive CC tackle threw him to the ground for a 1-yard

Bell also ended his evening of terror by throwing Pioneer quarterback Kevin Meyer for a 10-yard loss, stopping Ann Arbor's only real scoring

"IT KIND OF set the tone." said CC coach Tom Mach of the game's opening series. "That first hit is what we needed. We came in as a young team trying to find ourselves. We had not played up to this level until this point.

"A guy like Ryan Bell, who is playing well both ways, provided the senior leadership we were looking for. I'd say he's got to be one of the best lineman in the state."

Pioneer coach Chuck Lori, who has led Ann Arbor to a pair of state Rocks roll to big win

"We started substituting early. We spotted it here and there, but we did start substituting. When you're better than somebody, you can't yank kids out right away because you score."

On the first play of the second half, Kowalski ran nearly the length of the field to Farmington's 2, and he got the TD two plays later on a 1-yard

"I had to give Kowalski that one after he ran it all the way down

KOWALSKI, WHO had a similar run last year, said he got bogged down in the thick mud and didn't simply run out of gas. Farmington's Tom Economy caught Kowalski from behind and prevented him from scoring on the play.

"I got down here to the 20-yard line and hit a mud spot, and that slowed me down," Kowalski said.

Johnson made it 35-0 with a 3-yard run late in the third quarter, and reserve quarterback Chris Teppen ran 49 yards on an option play mid-

Teppen rushed for 67 syards, Steve Burlison 48, Pat Bowie 22 and Johnson 16. Austin caught two passes for 62 yards. While the Rocks had 286 of their 339 yards in total offense on the ground, Farmington was held to 58 yards, of which 53 was passing.

"Everybody got to play quite a bit," Moshimer said. "We're a 40-man squad, and everybody got a couple snaps. We gained the opportunity to play some kids who might not have in a 20-0 game, and they did well."

When you're playing a good team you've got to control the ball, but they did things defensively that we weren't prepared to face," he said. "We adjusted too late and part of that is my fault. They came at us with an eight-man front with their tackle over our tight end. It created a mismatch.

"And there is Bell knocking the crap out of our 180-pound tight end. We needed more time to change our offensive line schemes.' Mach called the early going "a

Schoolcraft soccer settles for 1-1 draw

A seesaw battle turned into a slugfest and ended in a 1-1 tie Tuesday when Schoolcraft College's womens soccer team visited Siena Heights.
Siena finished fourth in the NAIA a year ago, so the tie was encouraging to SC coach Nick O'Shea. The Saints scored first and, according to O'Shea, they "dominated the first half."

That changed in the second. The Lady Ocelots came alive and took the match to Siena. Joan Arndt converted a Cindy Bowman pass into the game-tying goal for SC. The back-and-forth complexion continued into the two overtimes, with Siena exerting great pressure in the first with some good crossing passes and SC taking command in the second.

With three minutes remaining in the second OT, SC sophomore defender Rosemary Hally and a Saint player started exchanging punches as both benches cleared. After the teams were separated, Siena's Lisa Broccardo (from Livonia Stevenson) and Hally (Livonia Churchill) went at it again, according to reports from the SC side.

Hally and Broccardo were given red cards. Hally hurt her knee in the melee, but the injury was not expected to be serious.

fall practice has become a pleasant surprise. Teeters decided to switch Jennifer Sproul, an outside hitter at Livonia Churchill, to setter. 'She's 5-8, she had nice hands, and she was a good hitter," he said.

Sproul also lacked experience, having never played the position before. Wasn't that a problem? 'No, it hasn't been," claimed Teeters. "She has strong athletic ability and she's putting it all to-surprisingly well that Christy Clark, who last year at Churchill was setting for Sproul, has become the backup setter to Sproul. Clark in true Teeters style, has excelled elsewhere. "She's very good at all three back row positions," he said.

Mercy cagers handcuff Trojans

By Dan O'Meara staff writer

Farmington Hills Mercy emerged from its "offensive funk" for one quarter Thursday night, and it was enough to put the Marlins in the championship game of their own basketball tournament.

Mercy (2-2) raced to a 16-0 lead against Trenton in the second game of a double-header and snapped a two-game lósing.streak with a 35-22 victory.

The Marlins played St. Joseph, which defeated Plymouth Canton 43-38 in the first game, for the Mercy Hoops Classic title Saturday night.

"You have to look at that as a real key," Mercy coach Larry Baker said of the fast start, "given where we've been for the last week - which has been a giant offensive funk."

Joanne Stephens sank back-toback triples to begin the game and, judging by the reaction of the Mercy players when Trenton called a timeout, one would have thought the Marlins had won.

ACTUALLY, MERCY did as it turned out, with Carrie Walton adding a couple baskets and point guard Jenny Clinton an additional four points to fuel the Marlins' momentum. After a couple more timeouts, Katie Mans finally erased the goose egg from the Trenton side of the scoreboard with 35 seconds left in the quarter.

"We had seven field goals (in a 42-28 loss to Plymouth Salem) and became incredibly cautious," Baker said. "The three-point shooting at the start told everybody it was OK. Jo got us started, and the defense was great the rest of the way."

The offensive flare left Mercy in the second and third quarters. The score was stuck on 18-2 for the longest time, and the Marlins led 21-8 at halftime and 23-14 after three quar-

"Jo shot them out of the zone,"

BUT IT WAS the defense that limited Trenton to 25 shots overall and the visitor's poor shooting (36 percent) that enabled the Marlins to survive the middle quarters.

Mans and Kim Hoppes, both 6-foot seniors, were ineffective in the middle. Mans had three field goals and 10 points, Hoppes four points. Trenton also made 14 turnovers in the first half and 21 for the game.

"Joanne and Maureen (Paulin) kept things sealed tight on the baseline, and Lee and Laure (DeMattia) took care of the middle against Mans," Baker said.

"We just beat a Class A semifinalist. With all due credit to South Lyon and Salem, we beat ourselves the last two games by not playing aggressively and letting some pressure take us out of our offense.'

The Trojans, who were 25-2 and one game from the state championship last year, have been struggling this season and are 1-2.

"We're not playing together as a team," Trenton coach John Biedenbach said. "We've got some talent. Mans and Hoppes are very goo players.

"The frustrating thing is these kids have been around for three years and should know what the heck is going on. Defense kept us in the game; the offense stunk up the place."

One of the better "Classic" Leagues has undergone a slight change. The Miller Lite Classic League bowls each Friday, in two shifts, at Plum Hollow Lanes. The name is different, but most of the faces and high shooters are the same, since this had formerly been the Budweiser Classic.

Many of the area's finest bowlers compete here, with a 300 game by league sec-retary Dick Lang highlighting the open-ing night. This was the 10th perfect game for Lang.

Lang has had a lot of highlights in his career as a bowler, including several berths on the All-City tehm and a first-place finish in the GDBA Masters Tour-

Other recognizable names competing at Plum Hollow include Eddie Lubanski, Billy Golembiewski, Dave Tulak, Mike Samardija and Randy Pierce.

Other highlights from opening night included a 755 series by Eric Tulley of Livonia, a 748 series by Jeff Lillard and a 289 game by Amos Mathis. Tulley and Mathis are fresh from the ranks of youth

Anyone who is interested in watching some of the best bowling in the area should get over to Plum Hollow Lanes at Nine Mile road and Lasher any Friday

· Not to be overlooked, the women are starting the season with some nice scoring in the Ladies Classic League at Country Lanes on Nine Mile road in Farmington Hills.

'Hey, buddy, will you sell that guitar?'

By Kevin Brown staff writer

If you're a big fan of Bruce Springsteen, you probably know he plays a Fender Telecaster guitar on

That's because fans who closely follow the top-name artists of the rock'n'roll age often know the topname guitars played by the stars.

To many rock fans, a mention of Fender guitars sparks images of Keith Richard flailing away on his Telecaster, or Eric Alapton bending strings on his Stratocaster.

Say Gibson guitars, and it calls to mind Chuck Berry duck-walking with his ES-335 model, or Guns 'n' Roses cranking out power chords on their Gibson Les Pauls.

As rock enters its fifth decade, musicians have come to treasure vintage Fenders, Gibsons and other select guitars as fans treasure vintage recordings.

And that's where Doug Wasserman of Southfield comes in.

He's one of a half-dozen or so guitar brokers nationwide who searches out the vintage guitars prized by top artists.

Wasserman, 35, has sold guitars to name players including Graham Nash and Earl Klugh, and to amateurs and semiprofessionals who seek top-quality instruments.

"I've been playing for 29 years," Wasserman said. "I had a large collection of instruments I had amassed over a period of years and I didn't realize how valuable these instruments had become."

"I HAD A friend stop over one day and he offered me a large sum of money for these instruments. The light bulb went on in my head I know where some more of these are," he said, recalling how he entered the business seven years

To find vintage instruments Wasserman travels to cities around the country, making stops at certain music stores. He's a friendly guy, but don't ask what cities and which music stores.

"I don't want to give away trade secrets," he said.

But the popular models are no secret to guitarists, as the vintage guitar market has taken off in the Players into Fender guitars prize pre-CBS models - those made before CBS bought the company in

"Pre-CBS guitars have a whole different feel and sound to them,' Wasserman explained. "The woods are generally lighter in weight. (Fender used ash in the early '50s, then alder.)

"And their pickups were different too, they seemed to have a more open sound, what we term now that classic Fender sound."

When talking vintage guitars in general, "what seems to cause the prices to go up is a great number of rock'n'roll stars use these vintage guitars," Wasserman said. "And of course every kid who sees MTV wants what their favorite rock stars play."

While Fender guitars have been hot in recent years - Springsteen plays a vintage Telecaster Wasserman said Gibson Les Paul guitars are currently the hottest, possibly because the popular band Guns 'n' Roses plays Les Pauls.

THE TOP ON a Les Paul is maple, a dense wood which allows a player to sustain a note longer, Wasserman said.

"Different types of woods will produce different types of resonances," he explained. "The Les Paul electric guitar has always been the consummate rock'n'roll guitar, ever since the late '50s.'

The Les Paul - named for the popular '50s performer who designed it - is prized in part for its style of construction, Wasserman

"It's a set-in neck that is glued to the body rather than bolted on (like a Fender)," he added. "They're just excellent playing and excellent sounding guitars and they're extremely durable.

'You're a cool guy if you have a good guitar, and they've always been considered a good guitar."

Particular players who seek out the Gibson ES-335 model — B.B. King plays his on a current McDonald's commercial going for ones made between 1958-63. Wasserman said. In this period, the guitar featured PAF (patent applied for) pickups and mahogany necks, among other features.

While Gibson and Fender guitars are the most popular, Wasserman said vintage Rickenbacker guitars played by John Lennon and Roger McGuinn of the Byrds - and Gretsch guitars — played by George Harrison with the early Beatles - are extremely popular. And in certain models, bringing extreme prices.

"And there are more, of course," he said.

When you're talking vintage acoustic guitars, "Martins are certainly the most coveted. Gibson J-200s (a big, rounded body acoustic with flowered pick-guard) have always been popular," Wasserman said. Old Guild and Epiphone guitars are also valued.

Settling in at Michigamme lodge

By Iris Sanderson Jones contributing travel editor

Travelers love to discover new places, especially off-the-road accommodations that nobody else knows about. I found such a place and you could probably still get in for the color season this year, if you want to drive as far as the Upper Michigamme Lake Lodge, a log cabin lodge set in the trees above Lake Michigamme, 33 miles west of Marquette on U.S. 41, isn't even known to most Yoopers although it's been open since May.

Linda and Frank Stabile are part of a family of hotel owners that is slowly creating a dynasty of hotels in the U.P. None of them had been in the hospitality industry when Frank and Linda left the Detroit area to move north a dozen years ago to replace city streets with a world of lakes and trees.

Frank and Linda bought, and still own, the Bay View Motel in Escanaba and later the Westwood, now the Days Inn, in Marquette. In the meantime, two other Stabile brothers emigrated to the U.P. Ralph bought a hotel in Curtis. Jim and Shirley bought the Cedar Lodge, a roadside motel with adjacent log cabin accommodations in Paradise. They were all enjoying Upper Peninsula life, their fortunes rising and falling with the tourist cycles in the U.P., when the lodge on Lake Michigamme came on the market a couple of years ago.

The lodge was built by a local financier, Sam Cohodas, in 1934 as a private retreat for family, friends and business associates. Cohodas entertained a lot of important people there over the years.

THERE'S NO way to make a totally logical decision about a place like this, so Frank and Linda Stabile took a plunge and bought the lodge when Sam died.

There is a certain mood to any lake in the north country of Michigan, where glaciers carved lake beds out of ancient rock cons ago. Gleaming water, surrounded by low treed hills. Water slapping against boat docks and boat houses. Occasional houses and cottages peek out through trees to the lake.

It's what most of us think of as cottage country, but most cottages don't look like this. Nobody used the word atrium when this place was built, but the word describes

Detectives Keller (Al Pacino) and Touhey (John Goodman) question Raymond Brown

(Michael O'Neill) about his extramarital dating

This 'Cookie' crumbles as slow-paced comedy

"The Two-Headed, Schizoid Scenario From Hell" is not the latest low-budget, sci-fi epic -- it's a plague striking screenwriters and this week's two major releases, "Cookie" and "Sea of Love," are perfect examples of films that haven't decided what they want to be when they

"Cookie" (C+, R, 90 minutes), under Susan Seidelman's ("Desperately Seeking Susan") direction was written by Nora Ephron ("When Harry Met Sally ") and Alice Arlen ("Alamo Bay").

One would expect such a talented crew could do a lot with a clever idea and a good cast. Not so, however, as "Cookie" crumbles under the slow-paced weight of a romantic comedy about reconciliation and bonding interwoven with a doublescam D.A./Mafia movie. Big-time mobster, Dino Capisco (Peter Falk), is paroled after 13 years. Under the terms of parole, he must go home to his wife, Bunny (Brenda Vaccaro) - she grooms dogs - even though his heart belongs to Lenore (Dianne West) with whom he had a daughter, Cookie (Emily Lloyd), about 18 years ago. Cookie is a tough, streetwise chick, long since alienated from her father.

Meanwhile, Dino learns from bigtime developer Arnold Ross (Jerry Lewis) that his mob partner, Carmine Tarantino (Michael V. Gazzo), defrauded Dino of big bucks while Dino was in the slammer. As Dino takes action to get his due, mob warfare spreads, complicated by pressure from a federal attorney trying for headlines to bolster his run for Well, what will it be? Will Dino and his estranged daughter reconcile? Will Carmine's heavies hit Dino? Will the Feds nab somebody?

The slow-paced, domequic comedy of Dino and Cookie learning to love each other gets in the way of the fast-paced mob action and the double-scam whereby Dino and Cookie outwit cops and robbers alike.

Part of the fun in such films is watching the hero/heroine outwit the bad guys, but "Cookie" has too many loose ends and the hoax here is never clearly presented.

The other problem with "Cookie" is heavy-handed stereotypes. While the acting is good - Peter Falk does an excellent Peter Falk and Emily Lloyd is a very talented young lady the gravelly wheezing of mobsters and Brenda Vaccaro's semihysterical, "Brooklyn-broad" gets old pretty quick.

Al Pacino may not drown in a "Sea of Love" (C, R, 110 minutes), but somebody better throw screenwriter Richard Price ("The Color of Money") a life preserver before he goes down for the third time in a sea of maudlin confusion.

Billed as an "erotic suspense thriller," "Sea of Love" has Pacino as New York detective Frank Keller alternately pining and slobbering over Helen (Ellen Barkin). She returns those sentiments which are more erratic than erotic.

There isn't a great deal of suspense either as Keller tracks down a psychotic, serial killer. First, Keller teams with Detective Gruber (Richard Jenkins) who is married to Keller's ex-wife. Then detective Sherman Touhey (John Goodman) joins up with Keller. If Pacino and Goodman generated more charisma, had better lines and more screen time together, they might have pulled it off as a duo in the ever-popular buddy genre.

As it is, "Sea of Lion" flounders badly in Keller's maudlin cynicism. He's just another divorced, burnt-out detective waiting for a good woman to save him from himself. That cliche needs buddy-buddy charisma, a meaninful love story, real suspense, or a script without loose

Film pays tribute to comics :

By John Monaghan special writer

Documentary filmmaker Ron Mann was reading a comic book in an airport lounge when he noticed people around him giving strange looks. He saw his mission - to convince people that comic books are an art form, not just junk culture.

His resulting film, "Comic Book Confidential," traces the history and future of comics, and it's as entertaining and offbeat as the works themselves. The award-winning film screens this Friday and Saturday at the Detroit Film Theatre.

Faster than a speeding bullet, 'Comic Book Confidential' breezes over the creation of superheroes like Superman, Batman and Captain America. Artist Jack Kirby discusses the patriotic role of comic books in Battling the Nazis. After the war, comic books had other battles to fight. William M. There were, however, mavericks working outside the superhero realm. Robert Crumb, for instance. relates in the film how he quit his job at a Cleveland greeting card company to create the drug-inspired "Mr. Natural" and "Keep on Truckin."

Director Mann understands that kind of passion. To get the film he wanted, the Toronto-based filmmaker scraped together $325,000 in funding, "borrowed" spare film stock from other projects and talked technician friends into working for part of the profits.

For Mann, "Comic Book Confidential" is the third in a trilogy of documentaries about artists. The others, 'Imagine the Sound" (1980) and "Po-

In each film, he has steered clear of the dry documentary style. Instead of simply interviewing the artists, he asks them to marrate stories while he pans back and forth across their panels. In the '50s, Hollywood box office suffered as everyone stayed home to watch television. The movies retaliated with the slogan, "Movies are better than ever!"

While that wasn't necessarily true, films in those days certainly grew bigger, longer and more extravagant as Hollywood offered what blackand-white TV on small home screens couldn't - wide-screen, technicolor

CBS-Fox Home Video has just released four of those blockbusters in a package called "Swords and Sandals." All are unrated and in color. Each may be rented separately. While there's plenty of cleavage and epic battles, it's pretty much G or PG stuff by today's standards. "Swords and Sandals" includes

'Demetrius and the Gladiators" (1954, 101 minutes) with Victor Mature and Susan Hayward. Mature also stars in "The Egyptian" (1954, 139 minutes) with Jean Simmons, Gene Tierny and Peter Ustinov.

Susan Hayward and Gregory Peck headline "David and Bathsheba" (1951, 116 minutes) while Stewart Granger, Pier Angeli and Anouk Aimee star in "Sodom and Gomorrah" (1963, 148 minutes). That's almost 81/2 hours of "big-budget, biblical blockbusters with casts of thousands.

If you watch them all, you'll overdose on moral rectitude, sword fighting and chariot racing, but at least one or two are worthwhile. Even on your small home screen, they are pretty spectacular.

STUDENTS OF "Genesis" may be surprised how Hollywood rearranged biblical history but then the movies always favored spectacle over accuracy. Along with "The Robe," these Twentieth Century Fox spectaculars were the product of Darryl F. Zanuck out-DeMilling Ce-

"Sodom and Gomorrah" is the lone exception. An Italian production filmed in Morocco, a Joseph E. Levine film directed by Robert Aldrich with Stewart Granger as Lot, Pier Angeli as his wife, Ildith, the pillarof-salt-to-be.

The music was by Despite all that talent, the plot besides differing radically from the Old Testament - is pretty stodgy and leaden. Lot shows up with his portion of the Hebrew people after he and Abraham split. His arrival is manipulated for their own ends by the various forces in Sodom. There's a pretty obvious moral lesson with soft and sexy living in Sodom representing the seductive evils of materialism.

Sodom's wealth was founded on its control of salt mines and the original film had graphic sequences of slaves working in those mines, but that footage is missing in the current video that runs six minutes shorter than the original film.

THE SALT MINE sequences, like much of the film's violence, are pretty tame. It's a puzzle why that footage was excised. What's six minutes more when you've passed two hours? In those days, cameras had the good grace to avert their eyes at particularly unpleasant moments.

Now, of course, the lens zooms in and rubs our noses in the gore. All this notwithstanding, "Sodom and Gomorrah" is worth watching, over and above its historical stature " and position. There's lots of singing and dancing - the Hebrew children doing what we might term folk music while the Queen of Sodom has, some suggestive court dancers doing .

. some pretty slick dancing. There's also lots of Helamite cavalry trotting around and if you watch closely, you'll be able to count a "cast of thousands." That was not an idle boast. The battle scenes are expansive and quite impressive.

"Sodom and Gomorrah" is the longest and least successful of the 'Swords and Sandals" package, but any of the four are worthwhile. Of . course, if you like one, try the others. , Susans might be increasingly diffi-cult to come by, but Band of Susans has never been short on guitars.

The New York-based coed group endured personnel changes that in-cluded two of the three Susans leaving and has released what some say is its best album to date, "Love Agenda" (Blast First/Restless).

REVIEWS

LOVE AMONG THE CANNIBALS

- Starship

There are times when it's just not worth it - writing these reviews I mean. OK, so I get to hear a lot of the latest releases, and usually that's not too bad. It can be enjoyable.

But then along comes that one day when it's time to pay the ferryman. That one day the editor has been reiishing. He's a gentle soul beneath it all, but it's the evil malicious side that comes out after a late Sunday night's indulgences. Monday morning has arrived a bit too quickly. Everything is colored bloodshot.

The Monday morning Mr. Hyde

glares in my direction and sees the innocent, blameless child who slaves so selflessly to make him happy. A cracked Freddy Krueger grin breaks across his face. He kicks a passing messenger boy and launches an LP, Frisbee-style, toward me. Upon extracting the sharpened corner from my eye, and in an immense philosophical moment, I comprehend the glares in my direction and sees the heavy toll to be paid for the decadent life led by all record reviewers.

But my sadness runs deeper than that. It is a heartfelt devastation for the whole of humanity. It is a slap in the face of Glasnost. It is an aberration that strikes against East, West, black, white, Arab, Jew, Catholic and Protestant. It is a crime to be treated with the same contempt reserved for the evil of the Holocaust.

Ignore their despicable attempt to fool you with the name change.

Jefferson Starship has released a Barn as many copies as you can. We have got to work together to save the world. Greenpeace will forgive for you damaging the ozone layer for this one cause.

MARSUPIAL ERUPTIS

— Opossums

The Opossums don't put a headlock on the music listener and whip them into submission. Instead, this Ann Arbor-based foursome plays an endearing brand of a rock'n'roll that invites you to sit down and enjoy a tall cool one. The Opossums make it sound so simple on their 11-song debut LP on the independent label Picnic Horn

An easy backwoods beat, snappy lyrics and effortless vocals are the hallmarks of "Marsupial Eruptis." What's remarkable is that this disc was knocked off in two days' time in the studio, providing not only a live feel but a cohesiveness as well. Whether it's the Byrd's-like guitar lines provided by Mark Neff and Marty Fletcher on numbers such as "Hearts Run Wild" and "Roll River" to the rock'n'roll free-for-all "Alpha-

Oliver Cromwell's name is not often mentioned in rock and roll lyrics. But the English lord protector is cursed on The Pogues fifth recording, in a song that sent listeners scurrying to their World Books. Liver pate, lush lawns and Arnie

Believe me, life in the suburbs is not as safe as it looks. Sure, the inner city has crime, drugs and poverty. But living in suburbia poses its own special dangers. Consider this case in point:

According to eye witnesses, a recent DSO concert at Meadowbrook was interrupted by a near-tragic accident. Sometime during the overture to Mozart's "Magic Flute," a concert goer stood up and headed for the restrooms, cautiously tip-toeing his way between the checkerboard of picnic baskets, he squinted in the fading light.

Suddenly, his right Gucci slipped on a loaf of French bread. Groping for balance, his left foot came down on a liver pate. Lurching into the air, his body flew upward, landing heavily on a platter of clams casino. Greased by a superb bernaise sauce, he began to roll wildly down the grassy hillside, his linen Perry Ellis picking up bits and pieces of gourmet food as he went.

Seconds before catapulting into the covered seating, he was finally stopped by a gooey mocha torte.

Although the unidentified man was unhurt by his fall, 13 spectators were injured by attorneys rushing to represent him.

AS DEADLY as classical music can be, there's an even worse threat in suburbia that can't be seen or heard. Of course, I'm referring to "immaculate lawn syndrome" — the new religion of the '80s.

Ironically, the reason many folks moved to the suburbs in the first place was to escape the pollution of the city. Out in the new frontier, a man could stand tall in his wife's slippers and smoke a cigarette in fresh, clean air.

You see, out here, we don't tolerate factories covering our homes with soot. No incinerators. No hazardous waste dumps. Even our rivers don't catch fire.

In fact, we're so environmentally conscious, we passed ordinances making it illegal to burn our leaves. A permit to roast hot dogs must be obtained two weeks in advance. Aerosal deodorants can only be applied on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

And yet, all is not well. In our escalating quest for landscape perfection, we voluntarily spray millions of gallons of deadly poisons, weed killers and pesticides on our lawns, shrubs and slow-mov-

Try to follow the logic here: We give up red meat. We eat more oat bran than Mr. Ed. We insist our ice cubes be made from Perrier to avoid contamination. All in the name of good health. Then we shell out big bucks to soak our lawns with known carcinogens. Does this make sense to

NO ONE fully knows what the long-term side effects of lawn chemicals will be. However, preliminary reports trickling in may be worth

• In Southfield, a prominent newscaster accidentally dropped his toupee on the freshly sprayed lawn. The next morning his hairpiece had grown to the size of a Quonset hut and a family of four squatters had moved inside.

• In what is perhaps the strangest development yet, certain hardy species of weeds have actually developed a resistance to the poisons. Instead of keeling over as planned, they have miraculously developed the powers of speech and have been overheard ordering hundreds of anchovy pizzas to punish the homeown-

Concerned that the lush, green lawns surrounding my home represent an ecological time bomb, I began a door-to-door campaign, urging people to switch from toxins to salad

"Couldn't you just spray the weeds with oil and vinegar? I mean it always makes my salad go limp . . .

Yesterday, my speech was inter-rupted by a sports-minded neighbor who helped me put the whole lawn care issue into proper perspective:

"Look, on one hand, it's a definite health hazard. But on the other hand, it's a welcome mat for any pro golf-er in the area. Suppose Arnold Palmer drives by. If my lawn's up to snuff, he might pull over and practice putting. You don't expect me to pass up a free lesson like that?"

STREET SENSE

No love? Better forget marriage

"Glide" (let's call her that) and I met'about 18 months ago and waited 3% months to begin making love. That has been the most positive area

In general, I can only describe the overall relationship as pleasant because the lows are as frequent and as exaggerated as the highs. We seem to meet verbally in our goals, but in living, we diverge rather

I prefer the simple life, generally happy with who I am and what I do. She prefers the night life, always desiring the new stimulus, the new band, the new place to hang out. Money is important to her; my work portant to me.

I am not afraid of the time and effort required to obtain the Ph.D. that I want, but "Gilda" is. The question that I strive to answer is whether or not I'm being too selfish.

What should love feel like? Is it all-consuming or is it simply pleasant? How would you feel if you never saw your loved one again? It scares me that "Gilda" says that she would "die" if she lost me, that she would be heart broken. I, on the other hand, don't even think I would be fazed in the slightest, if I never saw her again. That scares me because it just doesn't seem right.

Is this normal? In many ways I want to be married. I am not kidding when I state that the most noble thing a person can do in this world is family and remain together in our rer-macho society.

There is another factor which makes the marriage question so pressing. "Gilds" has a condition which will make child-bearing dangerous as she grows older, so I feel guilty in asking her to wait. That's what I would like to do. Also, my desire to start and raise a family is starting to increases and that plays a factor in my confusion.

I am looking for some telltale signs that would help indicate whether or not we have a chance or whether it would be best for both of us to exit the relationship right now.

Guilty Lover

Dear Guilty Lover,

In reading your lengthy letter, which I have condensed here for publication purposes, you have told me you don't love her, that you want to get your Ph.D. and that you are being pressured by her to make a move to marriage at this inopportune time.

In other words, you are painting a picture of not loving her and then asking if you should marry her.

The only conclusion that follows from the data as you have presented it is, "no." Marriage with such reservations as you present starts out with two strikes against it (if not three.)

I receive letters from others and I see many people in my practice who are trying to put "round pegs into square holes." They want to get married or have a baby so they pretend that the fit with another person is a good one. After the marriage and parenthood, when the romance is gone and the reality bleak, they wonder how they didn't see the poor fit.

If you do not like yourself as you are because you feel incapable of loving deeply, you would be better off with competent professional help than with the pretense of a loveless

Dear Barbara, I saw "When Harry Met Sally this week. I loved it. I feel so uplift-

My problem is that I am dating a man with problems similar to Harry's. He was divorced about a year ago by his wife and now seems fearful of another committed relationship. He says he feels he must protest himself from ever suffering similar pain again.

Our relationship is different than Harry's and Sally's because
"George" and I are physically in-

My question is how long do I wait? My friends have told me to break up with him or at least start dating other people. I really don't want to. He says that if he could love someone it would be me.

TYPICALLY, prime vintage guitars range in price from around $1,000 to "many thousands of dollars," Wasserman said.

"The type of instruments that I see from the collectability standpoint in the future are going to be the genuine luthier-made type instruments," Wasserman said.

Just when you thought all the comics in the world came from New York, here comes Wayne Cotter.

Oops. He's from New York, too. But he was born there, not just transplanted by the necessities of comedic big time. Still, a lot of the comics roaming the American club circuit happen to be from the city that doesn't sleep, the Big Apple. Cotter just thinks the comedy factor is a matter of percentages.

"There's a lot of people living in New York," Cotter said.

BORN IN the Bronx, Cotter shuns any comparison with that Brooklyn bad boy whose career has taken off like a rocket recently — Andrew "Dice" Clay. "That act of his . . . well never mind. I forgot for a minute that this is print," Cotter said.

Cotter has maintained a commitment to clean material through the vears, and it has earned him regular status on "Late Night with Letterman" and appearances on the Showtime Comedy All-Stars and "The Tonight Show." He believes the television work has been a natural outgrowth of his approach to come-

"I'VE ALWAYS done my act like I was working on television," Cotter said. He mentioned how he leaves the microphone on the stand (something only a fellow comic would pick up on) and keeps the comedy squeaky clean.

He started developing the comedy technique at an early age, making an impression on family, friends and called my mother in for a conference. I was terrified. I didn't know what I was doing wrong.

"My mom came home all excited because what he'd wanted to discuss Wayne Cotter has always admired the work of television-era comedians such as Alan King.

was her kid's exceptional sense of

By Cotter's teen years years, his zeal for comedy became even more

"ALL THE kids back then were getting into Iron Butterfly and Mountain. I had comedy albums. I had a big clunky tape recorder that was my dad's. "I used to hold the microphone to the TV and record the comedians, then listen to them over and over

Among his favorite comics of that time were Robert Klein, Bob Nowhart, Shelly Berman, Albert Brooks, Mel Brooks and Alan King. "If I could turn into another comedian, Alan King would be the guy."

When Cotter finished high school, an electrical engineering scholarship put him in Philadelphia — at the University of Pennsylvania.

He never got his degree but managed to get a day job in engineering. At night he performed at Philly's Comedy Works, on of the first places on the infant club circuit.

BY 1981, Cotter quit his day job. The turning point of Cotter's career came in 1987, when "Late Night with David Letterman" left a message on his answering machine. He was on the show the next day and has become a regular.

Those appearances on "The To-night Show" and Showtime (with Birmingham's own Tim Allen) also increased recognition of him.

Like all the comics around today, Cotter is riding the crest of the comedy boom, which has seen clubs spring up just about everywhere.

However, Cotter knows all good things must come to an end, and that eventually the club circuit will shrink, with just the better-run places surviving.

He's determined to still be standing on his comedic feet.

There were comedians before (the boom), and there'll be comedians after it. I'm just trying to make sure I'm one of the guys still there."

As Ernest Hemingway and his first bride, Hadley Richardson, reached the crest of the biggest hill overlooking Petoskey and Little Traverse Bay, the groom asked his driver, Earl Bacon, to stop the car.

"See all that. Talk about the beauty of the Bay of Naples. I've seen them both and no place is more beautiful than Little Traverse in its autumn colors," Heminguay exclaimed

Today, Bacon, a retired farmer of 84, and a handful of his contemporaries still recall their famous neighbor whom they call Ernie.

Forty years after the Nobel Prize winning novelist last visited Michigan, Hemingway's memory lives on in the northern woods that became the settings for his comic novel, "The Torrents of Spring" and the Nick Adams stories. Memories of 21 Michigan summers gave Hemingway the people and places from which he forged his fiction.

The novelist's favorite sister, Madelaine, nicknamed Sunny, still spends her summers in the family's cottage on Walloon Lake. The 83-year-old Sunny Miller seeks to preserve her privacy, but Windemere, a national historic landmark, attracts Hemingway buffs from all over the world.

Bacon's grandfather, sold Dr. Clarence Hemingway of Oak Park the property on which he built the summer place for his wife and their six children in 1898.

The two families became lifelong friends and when the Bacons were ill, Dr. Hemingway attended them. In turn, the Bacons supplied produce to the Hemingways on a regular basis and Ernie came for milk every day. Bacon's brother Carl became a good friend of Ernie.

Carl, who was four years older than Earl, appears as Carl Garner in the stories and teases Nick Adams about his Indian girlfriend, Prudence Mitchell

Although Hemingway's stormy relationship with his mother is well known, Earl perceived Grace Hall as a great lady.

"She was stern, autocratic and very aristocratic, a very proper person," he said. "When you were around her, you were courteous. "Mrs. Hemingway was a wonderful person who gave me books to read about young folks growing up. She is partly responsible for my being what I am tody." He recalls Hadley Richardson of

He recalls Hadley Richardson of St. Louis as an attractive woman of 30, eight years older that her husband.

"I took an instant liking to her. She was friendly, courteous and magnanimous. What Ernie wanted, she got for him and she looked after Ernie as well as she could."

Although the Bacon farm has long since been torn down, the home where Irene Gordon first met her date, Ernest Hemingway, in 1919 still stands across from the Bay View Post Office. Gordon, who was Irene Goldstein then, was exactly Ernie's age and they played tennis together. In later years, the writer sent copies of his poems and even a Built around 1875 by A.J. Stroud, the Horton Bay General Store still carries the groceries and hardware items popular in Hemingway's day.

"Horton's Bay, the town, was only five houses on the main road between Boyne City and Charlevoix," Hemingway wrote in "Up in Michigan." "There was a general store and a post office with a high false front and maybe a wagon hitched out front."

Except for a few photographs left by a TV crew, the locals maintain that the store has remained unchanged since Nick Adams described Almost directly across the highway stand the Dilworth cottages, Pinehurst and Shangri-La, both important locations in Hemingway's life and literature. He returned to the cottages with friends for fishing trips.

William Ohle, 77, recalls the wedding guests assembling beside the store before Hemingway's nuptials in 1921. The wooden Methodist Church, bedecked that day with wild flowers, has long since been torn of the Hemingway family, proudly exhibits Hemingway's helmet and canteen from World War I, which the young soldier had given to his friend, Wesley Dilworth, at Horton Bay's Fourth of July celebration.

Ohle said his first cousin, Marjorie Bump, was hurt by her portrayal as the character of Marjorie in the stories, "The End of Something" and "The Three Day Blow." She died last year and was buried in Petoskey, but in 1981 wrote a letter acknowledging that she knew Hemingway when she had a summer job as a waitress at the Dilworth cottages.

"SHE ALWAYS kept her friendship with him in the background," Ohle recalled. "She wrote that her relationship with him was not romantic, but that 'he was like a brother and good to me who was so much younger and afraid of boys.'"

Bump was in high school when she knew the young soldier who had come back to Michigan to heal his Ernest first met Bill Smith in Horton Bay in 1916 and they remained lifetime friends. Smith later stayed in the Hemingways' apartment in Paris and traveled to Spain with them.

Smith appears as Bill in "Three Day Blow" and "The End of Something," companion tales of a broken love affair.

"Bill's only rupture with Hem came when Ernest wanted to tell his brother, Y.K., that his wife Doodles was having an affair," said Smith's widow, Marion. "There was some drifting apart. Bill wrote him that blood was thicker than water and he sided with his brother. He cried a lot when Hemingway shot himself in 1961."

THE PETOSKEY library on Mitchell Street, where young Hemingway exhibited his bullet riddled breeches to the ladies auxiliary, still attracts fans of the writer.

So does the Potter rooming house at 602 State St., where Hazel Potter remembers th boarder in the top front bedroom forever banging out stories on the typewriter.

The Nativity window, dedicated to the memory of Ernest by his sister Sunny, in the Emmanuel Episcopal Church also draws visitors.

Not everyone is touched by Hemingway fever, however.

In Kalkaska, the scene of one of Hemingway's most famous stories about a homosexual cook and two obese prostitutes, neither the ladies in the museum, which was the railroad station where the prostitutes argued, or the Kal-Ho Bar, where Nick Adams and his friend drank, know that Hemingway wrote about the town.

The small town inspired the story, "The Light of the World."

After he was married in Horton Bay, Hemingway never returned to Petoskey for a long stay. In 1947, Gordon saw him on his last visit to Michigan.

"He came into the store with a great deal of gusto," she said. "I remember he grabbed me and kissed me and I said, 'Ernest, why haven't you been up here before?'

"He said, 'Irene, I've always been

"He said, 'Irene, I've always been disappointed in places where I've returned. I have such loving memories of northern Michigan that I didn't want them interrupted."

Just shooting 'craps' the Lelanau Sands way

By Corinne Abatt staff writer

Forget the neon lights and naughty shows, Frank Sinatra and Wayne Newton. If you want straight up, no frills, blackjack and craps, the Leelanau Sands Casino is fair game.

Not only is it the only game in the state outside of

Not only is it the only game in the state, outside of New Jersey and Nevada, it's one of a very few in the entire country.

The casino, set back off Route 22 in a rather unobtrusive enclave of cedar finished one-story buildings, just north of Suttons Bay on the Leelanau Peninsula, has been in existence since 1984.

It is operated by the Grand Traverse Band of Ottawa and Chippewa Indians as a fund-raiser for the Indians who live on the Federal Indian Reservation there. As such, it succeeds far beyond what any number of highly influential rain gods and sun gods could ever have done.

Indian bands in Mt. Pleasant and the Upper Peninsula and in other states run bingo games regulated by the Indian Gaming Regulatory Act passed by Congress Oct. 17, 1988. The card and dice games, which were taking place at the Leelanau Sands Casino before the act was passed, were grandfathered in.

That cleared the way for the bigger action on the Leelanau Peninsula, seven nights a week during July and August and Wednesday-Sunday the rest of the year. Video poker is available 2-6 p.m. when the casino is open.

"THE VIDEO poker machines are real popular," said Greg Bailey, casino general manager. "We have 15 (lined along the back wall of the casino's main room) we could easily have $0-60."

There's a $2 minimum at the blackjack table and a $100 limit, but you can play two hands. Bets at the craps table are $1-25. And if there's a pause while you wait for a place at blackjack or video poker, there's something called pull-tabs for light amusement, not unlike the $1 state lotto games.

On a week night summer evening, Bailey said there will be 125-250 people in and out and more than double that on weekends.

Dress is informal; the decor is clean, tidy, bunkhouse modern, the atmosphere is quiet, relatively businesslike; and the employees are pleasant, but not effusive. Not a single dealer looked up and said, "Good evening, my name is Ellen and I'm going to be your croupler this evening."

The security guard by the door is moderately friend-

Indians cash in with casino

By Corinne Abatt staff writer

The Grand Traverse Band of Ottawa and Chippewa Indians, like its counterparts around the United States, is really a nation within a nation.

According to an annual report published by the Economic Development Authority (EDA) of the tribe, "The modern day era of the Grand Traverse Band began on May 27, 1980, when the federal government acknowledged its historical and legal obligations to the Tribe."

This included, according to the Tribe, a complex status as a sovereign "domestic dependent nation" within the federal and state system of government.

JOHN PETOSKY, EDA director, tribal member and attorney, first reminds his listener that the 2,000 members of the Grand Traverse Band are the "children of the people who signed treaties with the federal government in 1836, 1865 and 1858."

"The Indians believe the non-Indians stole their lands," he said quietly, alluding briefly to these treaties.

He also mentions modern day animosity left from the fights over fishing rights.

He is business-like, but not secretive about the financial situation of the Grand Traverse Band. Casino gambling nets approximately $1 million a year and Super-Bingo $500,000 — that's above the cost of doing business and beyond what is funneled back into tribal programs. That's pure profit, money in the bank, so to speak.

ACTUALLY, IT'S becoming a trust fund. As stated in the annual report, "This trust fund is the beginnings of a permanent fund for tribal programs and purposes that will benefit the Tribe."

The jobs that the gambling provides for the 350 people presently living on the reservation is important, but obviously, secondary.

"There are 125 employees in the summer, 60 percent are Indian and all the management is Indian," said Greg Bailey, casino general manager.

Training programs for dealers are every spring for both Indians and non-Indians, Petoskey said. Many of the dealers are college students who took the course, passed and return for several summers to be dealers. Current pay for dealers is approximately $9 an hour.

No question about it, gambling proceeds are helping raise the standard of living for fiese Indians. The stated long-term goel is to raise it to that of the non-Indian population.

Granted the quality of life is gradually improving. Indian young people can now think in terms of college and careers. Yet, Petosky and Bailey are keenly aware that their house of cards and dice could collapse at any time.

They know laws can be amended, restrictions imposed, promises broken. This time, they want an ace in the hole — if and when the casino folds.

ly — pay your $2 entry fee and choose your game. Drinks, for players, are on the house.

Just east of the casino, a long wooden outdoor stairway, with half a dozen or so landings for quick R and R, leads to the Indian-owned and operated GTB Motel. At night, it's dramatically accented by tall globe lights every few feet — the only concession to the nighttime drama of Monte Carlo or Reno.

THE ATTRACTIVE, 28-unit motel, built last year, is surrounded by tall trees and woods. The $1.1 million price tag was completely covered with proceeds from the casino and Super-Bingo.

Rates are modest by area standards — $45 for two people September-April; $55, May-June; and $65 July-August. And that comes with a $5 complimentary gambling chit for the casino.

Rooms are attractively furnished, with two double beds and a VCR. There's a VCR library behind the lobby. Continental breakfast is included in the room rate. No pool, restaurant or bar, but it is handy to gambling, if you don't mind a hundred or so stairs.

"Everything's cash, but we do take Visa or Mastercard," shid Bailey.

The casino, Super Bingo, the Peshawbestown Indian Art Store, the motel and all other enterprises on the Reservation are under the direction of a Tribal Council, the elected governing board of the tribe. As such, they are really community property. The council, in turn, appoints the board of directors of the Economic Development Authority, EDA, which acts as the administrative manager of these and other enterprises.

WHILE THE Leelanau Sands isn't into bringing in plane loads of gamblers at bargain air rates a la Las Vegas and Atlantic City, there are bus loads of optimists arriving regularly at the GTB Motel's door from downstate, arranged by the bus transport companies.

Nobody says you have to gamble if you stay at the GTB Motel, but if you do, be assured your picture won't show up on the pages of People Magazine, GQ, or the daily papers.
