City to kick in for new fields

To serve nearly 1,000 area soccer players ages 4 to 19, the city of Plymouth plans to spend $18,000 for three new fields.

The fields are planned for the Ford Motor Co. Sheldon Road plant in Plymouth Township.

The three current fields available in the city, at the Unysis facility, Hines Park and Tanger School, are being damaged from overuse, said Chuck Skene, Plymouth director of parks and recreation.

"We're really destroying all three of those fields," he said.

"We have five games a day on Saturday and Sunday, we need to rest these fields."

By creating new fields, "We can take a season off and re-seed them," he said.

PLANS CALL for the fields to be along the southern border of the plant, near M-14.

Ford Motor Co. representatives will present plans for the three 110by-65-yard fields at an early November meeting of the Plymouth Township Planning Commission for possible approval, Skene said.

The city sought to locate fields outside of the city boundaries, Skene said, "because we're a landlocked community, we have no place to put soccer fields.

City wants lower look for project

Plans for two proposed five-story apartments on Jack Wilcox's downtown property are being revised once more.

The design of the building should fit more with the Wilcox House and surrounding properties, said several Plymouth planning commissioners and some residents at a public hearing on the project Wednesday.

So developer Marcello Scapraticci agreed to come back to the Nov. 8 planning commission meeting with reviséd plans.

While more than half of the dozen or so residents addressing the hearing complained of the height of the proposed apartments, most planning commissioners joined some of the residents in questioning the apartments' design.

Planning commissioners met earlier with Wilcox to discuss changing the first plan, which called for a brick exterior on the apartments. Commissioners said the brick would make the structures look massive.

The revised plan proposed Wednesday called for blue-gray cedar siding along the top four floors of each building. Still, commissioners said, that wouldn't help make the building seem less imposing.

"I see a five-story extrusion coming out of the ground," said planning commissioner David Schaff. "I feel I can't approve it the way it is."

"Our motto is this is "The city of homes," said planning commissioner Richard Moyer.

"My fear is people will say, 'My God, that's a beautiful home (the Wilcox House), but whoever put those huge buildings there?" Moyer said to applause.

Fuel oil and gas from underground tanks at an Amoco station at the corner of Main and Ann Arbor Trail have been seeping into the ground for several decades, causing fumes in the offices, which are on the first floor of the Meeting House.

The cleanup would mean extensive work to the first floor of the building, and the newspaper would be unable to operate in the location, according to Lorenz. However, Amoco has denied responsbility for the leaking oil in court and is expected to fight the suit. A spokesperson for Amoco called the action a typical legal, protective-type step.

The area where the building is located has been on a state Department of Natural Resources' list of contaminated sites since 1979.

Lorenz and the Box Bar and Grill, which is also affected by the leaking oil, are waiting for Amoco to submit a cleanup plan.

If the plan is implemented, work to be done on the building's foundation would make it impossible to operate the newspaper at it's present location.

The move will not affect the operations of the newspaper. Also, our telephone number, 459-2700, will remain the same. Office hours from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. will not change.

It'd be logical to assume that with all the building going on within the Plymouth-Canton school district, student enrollment is up this fall, right?

Wrong. There are 373 fewer students attending Plymouth-Canton Community Schools this year than Total enrollment, K-12, is 14,943, down from 15,316. Many area districts reported enrollment figures last week, following the fourth Friday of the school year on Sept. 29. Plymouth-Canton totals weren't available until this week.

Superintendent John Hoben said the figures show "we have a highly transient population."

Last year, 998 students in grades K-9 left the district, up from 960 the year before. Of those, 608 left to attend other schools in Michigan. Leaving for schools outside Michigan were 273 students. The number who left to attend non-public schools was 117.

THE DROP in enrollment surprised Hoben.

"That's kind of hard to understand with all the building going on. It isn't providing children."

A look at family patterns helps explain it, Hoben said.

"Back in the 1950s, we used to get high densities. There were 1.7 - 2.54 children per household. In the 1960s and 1970s, during the boom in Canton Township, the number was 1.1 - 1.4. Now U.S. 8 children per household districtwide."

Hoben did a 20-year study on Lake Pointe subdivision in Plymouth Township, which traditionally had a John Colorn Control in the second second

"The first six years, the rate dropped from 2.5 to about 1.9. Over the next two years, we had an increase. Second owners brought the number back to 2.2," said Hoben.

"The last 16 years, we've steadily decreased to .3 kids, and that is typical of what happens in subdivisions. As they grow older, people don't move on. In the very expensive subdivisions like Ridgewood, you don't get the density. Where you get it is in area of older children, middle school and high school."

This year's numbers show the baby boomlet is making itself felt throughout the district.

"We're bowed in our enrollments. The lower grades are growing," said "We've plateaued in the middle last year, Hoben added. The financial impact of Plymouth-Canton's fourth Friday count isn't fully known, partly because it's a time of transition for the district.

This is the first year Plymouth-Canton has been out-of-formula, so the district receives no per-pupil state aid. It does, as an out-of-formula district, receive "categorical" aid for such things as special education and transportation.

Hoben said he has "no idea" yet what total revenues will be

"We're going to hurt for a while. This is our first experience at recapture. We don't know how much they'll take away from us. As an outof-formula district, you don't get all of your categoricals. Most all of our program grants have been cut."

Losses Hoben is aware of - incentive grants given to districts that keep K-3 class sizes at 25-and-under, and that impose specified graduation requirements - total about

More will be known once amendments to the new state aid formula ar: passed by the Legislature, the superintendent said.

The uncertainty created by going out-of-formula was anticipated.

"This is really a pleasant surprise, to find out they never left," said Barker, a Plymouth Township resident. "I think everybody's relieved.

He attended Michigan Technological University in Houghton, Mich., leaving to serve several years in the U.S. Coast Guard.

Donnelly got married and decided to become a police officer, joining the police department in Lansing in 1968. At the time he was killed, he was serving in an undercover organized crime unit.

What's new in middle schools

Plymouth-Canton middle school staffers packed Central Middle School cafeteria last week to listen to educational consultant Kathy Hunt of Colorado, soon to leave for Germany where she'll help set up middle schools on American military bases. Hunt spoke about research on the development of 10-14-year-olds —"the age when children try to bring up their parents" and explained why "this country is going middle school crazy." Statistics are showing "that kids are growing up too fast, and how damaging that is," Hunt said. Plymouth-Canton schools are revising their middle school program.

Schools split on tax issues

By Wayne Peal staff writer

Everyone, it seems, is taking a stand on Proposals A and B — two separate ballot issues that would raise the state sales tax and give more money to Michigan's public

From Gov. James Blanchard to the Michigan Chamber of Commerce, endorsements have been flying thick and fast for the proposals, which will be decided by voters in statewide balloting Tuesday,

But what about the beneficiaries? Where do the area's public schools stand on Proposals A and

They don't stand united - that's

Differences between wealthy and poorer school districts prompted both ballot issues. Those differences carry over to the differing endorsements issued by western Wayne school districts.

Endorsements from the area districts have varied because of a series of factors, including district tax rate, economic base and how much money each district currently receives from the state

IN LIVONIA, home of auto plants, numerous office buildings and three major shopping malls, school board members turned thumbs down on Proposal B because it would limit local millage rates and redistribute a portion of local tax revenue on a statewide

It would "allow the state to capture a very significant part of the local tax base," Livonia school board members said in a prepared statement issued to city taxpayers. "Proposal B would result in direct financial loss to the Livonia School District.'

Livonia Schools officials stopped short of endorsing Proposal A. however, only encouraging voters to give "serious consideration" to the half-cent sales tax increase. (For details of each proposal, see

• Livonia - More than 100 volunteers removed two log jams, a couch, storm door and tires along the upper Rouge. Students from Livonia Churchill, Franklin and Stevenson high schools participated.

• Plymouth - Volunteers working along Tonquish Creek removed an estimated 40 cubic yards of debris. Members of two area group homes were among the volunteers.

• Redford - Roughly 110 volunteers helped clean the Rouge in Lola Valley Park. Five log jams and more than 60 cubic yards of debris were removed. Items removed included bicycles, tires and an air conditioner. Students from Redford Union and Thurston high schools participated.

colunteers worked with the Hollida Park Nature Preserve Association to clean Tonquish Creek in Hines Park. Volunteers removed six log jams and cleared more than 60 cubic yards of debris. Items removed included shopping carts and a hot wa-ter tank. Students from Churchill, Franklin and Stevenson high schools participated.

Another 114 volunteers worked the Nankin Mills site sponsored by City Management Corp. More than 200 cubic yards of debris were removed at the site. The site also featured the first serious injury in the event's history when a man was struck in the jaw by a tree branch. He was taken to the hospital and released two days later.

It was the fourth annual Rouge Rescue. Its purpose is to clear debris from the river to improve stream flow, allowing the river to rid itself of pollution.

Ford Motor Co. provided financial support. Waste Management, Inc. provided containers and landfill

Site coordinators announced student participation from all grade levels was particularly high during this year's event. Freinds of the Rouge, the group sponsoring the event, had promoted school programs in advance of the cleanup.

Is consolidation next for schools?

Consolidating Michigan school districts may be the way to narrow the funding gaps between them, say two senators sponsoring consolidation legislation. But superintendents of the area's smaller public school districts aren't sure the bill will have any effect on their students - or will even pass through the Legislature.

Where schools stand:

sales tax to 4.5 cents per dollar a half cent increase. Proposal B would raise the sales tax to six

Both would amend the state con-stitution to mandate that lottery proceeds and a portion of cigarette and liquor sales tax revenue be awarded to schools.

Both would withhold sales tax revenue to districts that failed to adopt a state-approved core curriculum and a series of classroom measures designed to assure "quality education". While A wouldn't touch local school taxes, B would cut most local school taxes and replace them with a statewide tax — 9 mills on homes; 14 mills on businesses. It would also limit voter-approved increases to four mills.

Voters will decide the issue Tuesday, Nov. 7. Should both proposals pass, the one with the most "yes" votes becomes law.

Here, in brief, are recommendations to veters from locals school districts on each proposal:

• Livenia — No on B, while urging "serious consideration" on

• Redford Union - Yes on

• South Redford — No position on either under board policy on proposals drafted outside the dis-trict.

Sen. Jack Faxon, D-Farmington Hills, a bill sponsor. "While the public is constantly bombarded with the inequalities among school districts, it's about time to realize the flaw is in the structure itself and that no amount of money is going to make an inherently inefficient and uneconomic operation better."

The bill sponsored by Faxon and Sen. John Schwarz, R-Battle Creek, would chop the number of districts from the current 562 to no more than 250, merging smaller districts into larger, more efficient units.

THE RESULT would be to narrow the disparities in spending among districts, reducing the need for school finance reform that prompted the two proposals on the November-special election ballot, the lawmakers said.

Clarencville Schools, partially contained in Faxon's Senate district, has recently been subject to a consolidation request from a group of district parents.

But Clarenceville Superintendent Jerry Montecillo said he didn't believe the bill would automatically mean his district would be absorbed by larger neighboring dis-

"I don't see Clarenceville going out of business," Montecillo said. "The way we see it, the bill is aimed at districts in trouble financially or districts that are having problems providing quality programs for their children. We are financially capable and we provide quality programs for our students." Redford Union Superintendent Kenneth Erickson, however, said the bills would have a profound impact on all Michigan school dis-

"They're talking about going from more than 500 (districts) to 250 and that would affect just about everybody," Erickson said.

Because of that, he added, the

Ex-music pro becomes campus leader

Richard Saunders recalls his musical debut as a young child standing on the front porch of his mother's house in downtown Detroit. "I'd stand there and sing for anyone who would listen," he said.

Little did he know that he would later work with such Motown leg-ends as the Supremes, the Tempta-tions, Stevie Wonder and the Jackson Five. Or that he would spend some summers helping produce Holly-wood's original "Dating Game" tele-

Those thoughts were far from the mind of young Saunders, a Depression-era child who lived in his mother's inner city boarding house. His father had died before he was

"Those were lean times," he said.

BUT NOW, at age 54, Saunders fondly reflects on those memories as he sits in his Oakland Community College office at Highland Campus, where he has been president for 15

A former Schoolcraft College assistant dean, Saunders has strong ties to western Wayne County. Early in his career, he served with the Livenia and the former Nankin Mills

Saunders has nearly always man-aged to combine his love for music with his education career. The top clarinetist at Wayne State Universi-ty, where he earned a master's de-gree in music, his first job in 1957 was band and orchestra director for Southgate schools. Drafted into the U.S. Army in 1958, Saunders returned two years later to start a music program in the state's then-smallest school district, Nankin Mills. While there, he led the district's junior high band to a na-tional first place victory in the Mu-sic Educators National Conference an honor he ranks among the highlights of his career.

In 1965, Saunders became band director of Livonia's Stevenson High School for what would be six of the most exciting years of his life. That's because he also worked to recruit entertainment for the Michigan State Fair at a time when the Motown sound reigned supreme.

STEVIE WONDER was a child of when Saunders met him, And Saunders recalls talking backstage with such groups as the Supremes and the Temptations. He introduced and the Temptations. He introduced Gladys Knight to her first large audience, and he watched as Motown executives began manuevers to make Diana Ross a soloist, separate from the Supremes.

While recruiting such talents, Saunders met up with "Dating Game" executives who sometimes sent couples from their show to the Michigan State Fair for a date. He was asked not only to appear on the program but also to help produce it.

Although he helped on the produc-tion end, Saunders never appeared as one of three contestants who competed for a date on each program. He was engaged then to his wife now of 20 years, Janis, a physician. She "didn't think very highly" of her fiancee going on the "Dating Game."

IN 1971, Saunders made his first major career move into education administration when he went to Schoolcraft College to become director of fine arts and assistant dean of arts and sciences. Yet his links to music continued as he became conductor of 27 players from the Detroit

So when he heard that Highlan Campus was seeking a president, he became one of 40 candidates an eventually won the post.

Since coming to Highland Lak Saunders' musical influence has n gone unnoticed. The campus had first-ever summer concert series, which drew 3,000 people and featured music ranging from bluegrass to 1920s-style orchestra. Highland Lake also has seen a major expansion of its performing arts program, and other projects, such as a Christmas concert and a Valentine's Day ball, are in the works.

Regional trash recycling plans are placed on hold

Regional trash recycling won't begin, at least for now.

The Conference of Western Wayne declined to submit an application for state "quality of life" grants by Fri-day's deadline — essentially ending any chance for regional recycling in 1990.

A CWW spokesman said the organization and its 17 member cities and townships remain interested in the concept, but postponed their application because there wasn't time to develop a uniform disposal code.

There's just so much to do that we decided to hold off, at least for this year," CWW director Daniel Gilmartin said. "We have to determine whether communities could order or whether they'd have to alter their Expected adoption of a county waste disposal plan also helped scuttle CWW efforts. "We didn't want to adopt something that we might have to change under the master plan, Gilmartin said.

The county plan is expected to be adopted next year.

The CWW represents Garden City, Livonia, Plymouth and Westland, as well as Canton, Plymouth and Redford townships, among other com-

THREE OF its members, Canton, Plymouth and Northville townships, are moving ahead with a recycling plan of their own.

The three, members of the Western Townships Utility Association, have applied for $500,000 in quality of life grant money to build a recy-

Though the WTUA was rejected in its initial application, Bollin said township officials were confident the new application would be approved.

"We've already lined up markets for recycled goods," Bollin said. Waste Disposal, she added, has promised landfill space would continue to be open for items that couldn't be recycled.

The townships' program could help spur regional recycling, said Bollin - a former CWW director.

"This is something they could build on," she said.

Privately, however, school offi-cials prefer Proposal A to the tax-base-sharing Proposal B. "I can tell you Proposal A would be better for our schools than Proposal B, but that's not a formal position." Jacobs said. South Redford, like Livonia, receives no direct state aid.

Wayne-Westland Schools supports both proposals, but school of-ficials are pulling more heavily for Proposal B. For them, it's Proposal B's millage cutting provision, not its revenue-sharing, that is the major selling point.

"If you look just at Wayne-West-land and our taxpayers, I think B is the better of the two," Superintendent Dennis O'Neill said.

Even though it receives direct state aid, Wayne-Westland has the highest millage rate of any local district.

Plymouth-Canton Schools went out-of-formula this year, losing most of its state aid. But school officials haven't yet made up their minds on whether A or B would help them most.

They did have a proposal to support B and oppose A but that was defeated 4-3," said district spokesman Richard Egli. "Some said we should support both, some CATASTROPHIC COVERAGE REPEAL — The House voted 360 for and 62 against to cancel a 1988 Medicare expansion designed to promedicare expansion designed to pro-tect the elderly and disabled against catastrophic hospital, doctor and prescription drug costs. The repeal was included in budget reconciliation legislation (HR 3299) later sent to the Senate.

Under the 14-month-old Catastrophic Coverage Act, Medicare beneficiaries must pay for the expanded benefits. Most of the cost falls on those with enough means to pay federal income taxes, with many of the elderly paying up to $800 annually in tax surcharges. The repeal drive answers protests from those who would finance the catastrophic

Michigan representatives Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth, Dennis Hertel, D-Harper Woods, William Ford, D-Taylor, and William Broomfield, R-Lake Orion, voted yes. Sander Levin, D-Southfield, voted no.

CHILD CARE LEGISLATION -By a vote of 195 for and 230 against. the House rejected the less extensive of two proposals before it for expanding the federal role in providing child care.

This cleared the way for approval of legislation to provide several billion dollars over five years in areas such as expanding Head Start, increasing child-care tax credits, funding state programs for children and setting federal quality standards for child care personnel and facilities.

Included in budget reconciliation legislation (HR 3299), the Democratic-authored program was backed by labor, education and civil rights groups. The alternative defeated by this vote was supported by President Rush and business groups. It cost not establish federal standards, gave more emphasis to programs run by the private sector and was more beneficial to church-run programs.

Thomas Petri, R-Wis., said the alternative relied on choice by parents rather than "social engineering" to achieve its objectives.

Mary Rose Oakar, D-Ohio, said she opposed the alternative because it "guts the child care package."

Members voting yes supported a less extensive federal approach to child care.

Michigan representatives Pursell and Broomfield voted yes. Hertel, Ford and Levin voted no.

GAY RIGHTS ISSUE - By a vote of 262 for and 154 against, the House endorsed a Senate effort to exempt church-related universities from the District of Columbia's gay rights law. The vote instructed House conferees on the fiscal 1990 D.C. appropriations bill (HR 3026:) It urged them to accept Senate language keeping Georgetown University, a Catholic institution, from being penalized for declining to accommodate gay student organizations.

Supporter Henry Hyde, R-Ill., said the main issue was Georgetown University's freedom to practice relig-

Opponent Steny Hoyer, D-Md., said "this amendment picks on a minority that is not popular" and resembles "the same kind of onslaught that we saw in Nazi Germany. . .

Members voting yes wanted to protect Georgetown University gainst D.C.'s gay rights law.

Michigan representatives Pursell and Broomfield voted yes. Hertel, Ford and Levin voted no.

TO RESTORE FAIRNESS DOCT-RINE - By a vote of 162 for and 261 against, the House rejected an amendment in opposition to the "fairness doctrine." The vote preserved language in a budget reconciliation bill (HR 3299) restoring the federal requirement that broadcasters give opposing views on key issues a chance to be heard. The doctrine was repealed in 1986. Amendment supporter Harold Rogers, R-Ky, said "how dare this Congress even contemplate a law which would fine broadcasters whose news coverage the government does not like."

John Dingell, D-Mich., said it is "only fair that when broadcasters own that wonderful right to use that money machine which they are given by the FCC, that they should use it in the public interest."

Members voting yes opposed rein-statement of the fairness doctrine. Michigan Representative Broomfield voted yes. Pursell, Hertel, Ford and Levin voted no.

FLAG PROTECTION BILL - By a vote of 91 for and 9 against, the Senate sent to conference with the House a bill (HR 2978) making it a federal crime to physically desecrate the American flag. The bill is a response to a U.S. Supreme Court ruling that flag desecration is dissent protected by the Constitu-Supporter William Cohen, R-Maine, said the bill "restores protection for the flag without the need for a constitutional amendment.

Opponent Orrin Hatch, R-Utah. said "a constitutional amendment is absolutely necessary" to protect the Senator voting yes supported the flag from desecration.

Michigan Democratic senators Carl Levin and Donald Riegle voted

TO NAB NORIEGA - By a vote of 74 for and 25 against, the Senate tabled (killed) an amendment reaffirming that President Bush can order U.S. troops to bring Panamanian leader Manuel Noriega to trial in the United States on drug-trafficking charges. A federal grand jury indicted Noriega in 1988. The vote came during debate on a bill (S1711) implementing the president's drug strategy. Arlen Specter, R-Pa., who voted to table the amendment while condemning President Bush's refusal to intervene militarily during the un-successful Oct. 3 coup attempt against Norlega.

Senators voting yes opposed the amendment encouraging an American military snatch of Noriega.

Michigan senators Levin and Riegle voted yes.

y manager wide search is best for all

HE SEARCH FOR a new city manager is on, and although we agree with the idea that the city should hire the best candidate who presents him or herself, we also agree with the sentiment that local candidates shouldn't be overlooked.

Commissioner Mary Childs at a recent commission meeting suggested that the city save the $15,000 it plans to spend on the search by hiring William Graham, who has been the acting city manager since Henry Graper resigned in July.

· We agree with Childs that the city could save some money. Graham seems to be a capable administrator and would probably be a good choice.

However, to be fair to Graham or any other local candidate, we think the $15,000 would be well spent on the search. By looking at other candidates, the commission can see what they have in their own house.

If Graham or other local candidates are the best of the lot, so be it. Also, if Graham were selected, he would be able to operate from the basis that he was the best of the lot. That's what we mean when we say going through the process would be fair to him.

We agree with the comment by Mayor Denis Bila that: "We would not do Bill Graham any favors by handing him this job on a silver platter."

It's best to start a job without the burden of not having competed against others for the job. It may cost some money, but it will be fair to all.

Racism

It's athletes vs. skin heads

HERE ARE TIMES when athletics become more important than just what's on the field or gym.

Parental consent

Proposed bills victimize youth

ERE WE go again. Some state legislators are taking a tragic situation and trying to make it even more tragic.

Fresh from a victory in outlawing Medicaid-paid abortions, pro-life advocates are low taking a second step in trying to cut off bortion rights to another group.

We oppose the bills now being debated in Lansing that would make it mandatory for those under 18 years of age to receive permission from parents before getting an abortion.

On the face of it, the legislative initiatives sound to many like the right thing to do. After all, encouraging a closer relationship between parent and child is a lofty goal. But a closer examination reveals that the state Senate and House bills, if adopted, would only serve to victimize the youth.

The only relief allowed in this proposal would the a waiver of parental consent by the courts.

at and the pro-life movement in general — un-compromising, lacking compassion and totally unrealistic.

Few youths would have the know-how to seek legal counsel. Those needing it the most dut legal counsel. Those needing it the most would be the least likely to avail themselves of the courts.

JUNDER THE proposal, the waiver only could the granted if the judge determined that a minor as "sufficiently mature and well-enough inormed." Again, it is unlikely that a youth needing the courts help would be one who was wellrounded in abortion education - thanks mainly to pro-life advocates who have consistently opposed realistic sex education initiatives.

In this cynical age, legislators should rememher that most children do turn to their parents in Those who don't often find their parents to be the problem. Some parents just don't realize it.

In other, more tragic, circumstances, children are pregnant because of incest. Expecting an understanding parent in this case is simply ridicu-

Females, whether they are 15 or 50, should have the right to privacy and a confidential relationship with their physician. This bill would prohibit those under 18 from maintaining that kind of relationship.

Abused teenagers shouldn't be expected to turn to those who have battered them for advice and

And physicians shouldn't be turned into criminals because they are performing a procedure approved by the highest court in the land.

Certainly, abortion can take place under tragic circumstances. But adding to the misery by inflicting an unrealistic and unjust state law to the books would only help the situation deteriorate. Women, either alone or with the people of their choice, must suffer through the decision. We really don't need the Michigan Legislature determining in whom we need confide.

codes and would apply to people age 16 but not yet 18 who drop out of school, are expelled or fail to meet attendance requirements.

The school superintendent would inform the Secretary of State's office, which would then suspend the driver's license.

It would be up to local school districts to adopt a policy of seeking license suspensions.

Legislation like this will no doubt succeed at keeping some teenagers in school. It doesn't mean they will become better students, though.

For others, the threat of losing driving privileges won't be much of a deterrent

The solution to the dropout problem goes beyond holding uncooperative students hostage in the secretary of state's office.

It's time to address the problem, not merely mask the symptoms.

March the other way for peaceful Sunday

A FEW OBSERVATIONS from the editor's desk:

• Sunday will be one of the more eventful days in usually quiet Farmington. For those of you who don't know, a civil rights peace march will be traveling down Grand River, led by local resident Derwin Success.

Success, a black man who is attempting to stir interest in civil rights, claims that since living in the area, he and his family have experienced blatant incidents of racial harassment.

Problem is the planned march is turning into something of a political circus as fringe political elements plan on making it a day to be noticed. A local unit of Nazis plans on donning its armbands and jackboots to goose-step its way down the avenue in protest of the peace march.

Not to be left out, so to speak, is a local group of Communists who will make an appearance to protest the Nazis' protest of the peace march. Strangely enough, this group of Reds embraces a philosophy that leans toward less than peaceful resolution of political differences.

IN THE MIDDLE is Frank Lauhoff. Farmington public safety director, who is gathering his troops, crossing his fingers and dreaming of days of yesteryear when Farmington was the last place anyone would expect such happenings.

Tributes paid to U-D coach

On Sept. 25, a perfect autumn day, hundreds attended the funeral of Bob Calihan, the winningest coach in the history of the University of Detroit. Not so many Septembers ago, Bob Calihan, a 6-foot-4, 190-pound future All-America, was making his way to U of D from Chicago.

Riding shotgun in his 1931 Model A was his pal, Frank O'Donnell. The basketball players were driving down McNichols, nearing U of D. The Chicagoans were on the lookout for a large limestone building with a red slate roof. After nine hours of driving, one appeared.

Calihan pulled in, parked, and the two looked around. To them, it looked like an awfully small cam-

"We knocked on the door and asked, 'Is this the University of Detroit?' " recalled Frank O'Donnell, now a Redford resident. "The man said, "This is Michigan

Bell. U of D is down the road." When the pair did reach U of D, they found the athletic office and walked in.

"Gus Dorais, the football coach, and Lloyd Brazil, the athletic director and basketball coach, were there," recalled O'Donnell. "Coach Brazil said helle to Cal, who was 6-feet-4, 190 pounds. Then he looked at me — I was 5-feet-9 and 135 — and asked, 'Who is this guy? Get him out of here.'

"Dorais and Brazil argued back and forth til Cal spoke up and said, 'Coach, he's Frank O'Donnell. My mom said to tell you that if he can't stay, I can't stay either.' That's how I got my scholarship," said O'Donnell.

At Calihan's funeral, former players, friends and family told funny stories and recalled away games played in Madison Square Garden and home games contested in Naval armories and high school gyms before U of D had its own gym. The nice thing about it was that

Cal didn't miss out on the laughs. That's because his players gathered just about every year to celebrate their coach's birthday. In 1977, Cal's party was attended by 900 people. The Rev. Malcolm

Carron, then president of U of D, capitalized on the occasion, re-christening the school's sports arena "Calihan Hall." Last year was number 70 for the former U of D athletic director, dubbed "The Smiling Irishman" years ago by Detroit sportswriters. It was commemorated at a golf tournament at Glenhurst and a banquet at the Monaghan K of C in Livonia. Relived were seasons in the Six-thought on my mind — don't forget to buy lottery tickets.

Whew! Lost lottery is a relief

It was Wednesday of last week and there weren't too many people in the state of Michigan - and its immediate neighbors - who didn't know that the Super Lotto payoff was $24

I confess I'm not a regular buyer of lottery tickets. Since the lottery has been going. I have probably bought a total of 10 chances. That's not counting the time I received a year-long ticket as a gift.

The truth is - all of us dream of winning a free vacation, a new car, Jeopardy - but in the light of day, would you really want to win $24

I mean, it would change your life-

One of the lottery ads jokes about finally being able to tell your boss off. Another, about not wanting to win money, only carrots. I mean how do you get rid of that work ethic? SO YOU DECIDE to maintain Judith Doner your work and friends and use your winnings for a few luxuries - travel, a shopping spree at Border's, adding on that screened-in porch, and giving a lot to charity.

But what could it mean to get that premotion, to win that client, to come up with an idea for better inventory control? Meantime, "Why is he/she here?"

your fellow employees would whisper to each other in the hall. "My gosh, he doesn't have to work for a living - he could buy this place."

And what about your relatives? There's cousin Bill - he's never been able to make a go of it and hasn't been in touch for years. He's Certainly it would give you an unprecedented opportunity to aid the non-profit institutions and causes you believed in. But would you ever be able to sit down to dinner without being interrupted by calls from every solicitor under the sun?

EASY STREET is not easy, I recited as I left work and headed home. Walking into my neighborhood grocery for a few odds and ends, I was still unsure whether I was going to buy the tickets.

I picked up a couple of greeer; items, then stood in line. The though occurred to me that I hadn't sto at the money machine — and I was out of checks.

The man in front of me was buying a $5 ticket. I fumbled in my wallet - came up with four singles and not quite enough change for a fifth number, but lo and behold I found the rest in the bottom of my purse.

It was the groceries or the lottery

I put back the groceries. When I got home, I called my husband and asked him to stop and buy - no, not the groceries - another $5 ticket.

And, about 7:30 p.m., we breathed a sigh - of relief - along with all but four other people. Our lifestyle was safe. We didn't win.

The look on the professor's face was a cross between irritation and

A couple of years later, Mary and I were in the same news editing class. She, too, had decided to

The professor called on her. "What's a kicker?" she asked. The professor sputtered.

vey this week indicating that many students are graduating from col-lege without knowing what Lynne V. Cheney, chairwoman of the National Endowment for the Humanities, called "basic landmarks of history and thought."

Heck, I could have told her that. Over the years when I was teaching I gave my students a "general knowledge quiz" every semester. It started out just for fun, but soon became a sad commentary on how little many of them knew about the most basic things.

Many of my students didn't know how many states comprise the United States, and even more could not calculate how much change they should get from a $10 bill after buying a specified list of items. So I also was not surprised that, along with the survey results, Cheney released some recommendations that colleges develop what amounts to a rigid core curriculum in five basic areas of knowledge instead of turning students loose with what amounts to a supermarket offering of courses and almost no direction as to which ones they should take.

The concept is a bit like re-discovering the wheel. That's the way colleges used to operate before the "reform" movements of the 1960s turned campuses into socially relevant zones where students were free to "do their own thing."

WHILE SOME educators have praised Cheney's recommenda, tions, others have attacked them as being too "superficial, rigid and impractical." Some have criticized the method used by the survey seeking specific answers to questions - as not being a true test of knowledge. That's garbage.

The fact is that most universities have abdicated their responsibilities to provide students with an education. Their primary goal is research and it is the researchers, not the teachers, who are rewarded. But it's the students who are cheated in the process. That's what the Gallup survey proves.

A COLUMN written by Judith Doner Berne appeared in the Observer & Eccnetric referring to the new University of Michigan policy on what can and cannot be brought into Michigan Stadium.

In the column, mention is made of an individual who leads cheers at the games. I'm that individual.

Spiritless without my spirits? No Nothing is more intoxicating than a Wolverine victory. That's right. I'm the "funny guy" who leads cheers on the wall during the Michigan football games. In the column, Judith stated that she wanted to see what I was like after the University of Michigan instituted their new policy of no containers in Michigan Stadium. She said I usually started out quiet and as the game went on I started to "get into it" inferring there was some correlation between my enthusiasm with the amount of alcohol I was supposedly drinking. She said what was going on down on the field didn't matter to me.

It's time to set the record straight! The M-I-C-H-I-G-A-N cheer started back in 1983 when we were playing Wisconsin (a school that certainly knows what "spirits" are all about). Their fans were in the normal visiting team's section (the south end zone) and, even though Michigan was ahead by three or four touchdowns, the Badger fans were out-cheering the whole southwest corner of our own stadium. I couldn't take it any more. I couldn't believe 100,000 fans could be so passe about their team. So I got up on the wall and did the first thing that came to mind. I wanted to let those Badgers know where they were, who they were playing, and who was winning the game. Out came M-I-C-H-I-G-A-N !!! No preplanning, no practice, no forethought. It just happened. And it's been happening ever since, usually after Michigan scores a touchdown. But the cheer has also been known to appear after a key field goal (Iowa, 1986), before the start of the game (Ohio State, 1987), or after an opponent's key fumble (Michigan

THE REASON the cheers come more frequently later in the game is because that is when Michigan does the most damage to its opponents. The third quarter always seems to be Michigan's best. Sometimes I need a breather after the third quarter myself. It's not easy getting up on a wall made for size 9 shoes when you're wearing 12s. I can't imagine doing that under the influence of anything but "Maize and Blue spir-

One last thing - Judith did say she hoped I would continue cheering Don't worry, I will. She also said I was an institution. I have friends that think I belong in one. But I love this school. I love this football team. And as long as Bo is stalking the sidelines, the band is playing "The Victors," and we are chasing the dream of another Rose Bowl, I'll be on that wall in section 20.

Spiritless without my spirits? Never. And, oh yeh, Judith, I might need some help on Nov. 25. What do you

Israeli pianist

By Julie Brown staff writer

Israeli pianist Rina Dokshinsky is glad she took her teacher's advice to pursue her musical career in the United States.

Dokshinsky, 23, was the featured soloist at the Friday, Oct. 6, Plymouth Symphony Orchestra concert.

Dokshinsky, who was born and grew up in Israel, started to learn plano notes at 5. From age 6 to 16, she studied with the same teacher in Israel.

Her teacher wanted Dokshinsky to come to the U.S. to study, so the young musician sent a tape to the New England Conservatory of Music in Boston, Mass.

She's been in the U.S. for the past seven years, and her performing schedule has taken her to Texas, California, Florida, Michigan and other parts of the country. "It was great for me to see the country," she said. Performing in the U.S. has helped Dokshinsky grow professionally. "I got, I guess, stronger, because of the competition," she said. "I need to practice, to learn new pieces."

HER RECENT Plymouth Symphony Orchestra performance featured the Beethoven Third Piano Concerto. Beethoven is a favorite composer of hers.

Dokshinsky earned bachelor's and master's degrees in plano performance from the New England Conservatory of Music and continues to study with teacher Russell Sherman. In 1987, she performed in the Young Concert Artists International Auditions. She and another pianist were chosen for the top honors, leading to her New York recital debut.

Earlier this year, Dokshinsky returned to Israel to perform in the Rubinstein Competition. She was the fifth-place performer in that inter-national competition.

Dokshinsky knew she would find greater professional opportunities in the United States. Coming to this country also meant she was able to bypass the required military service in Israel.

She's benefited from her time on this side of the Atlantic.

"I would like to go back someday, not yet," she said.

She'd like to learn more in the U.S. first, she said.

IF DOKSHINSKY gets married and has a family, she'd like to raise her children in Israel, she said, because families are close in Israel, as are neighborhoods.. "I think for the children it's very open," she said. "I feel it's a very healthy environment." Dokshinsky said she is impressed with the quality of the schools in Israel and also wants her children to be able to speak Hebrew.

For now, she plans to continue performing, and won't pursue a doctorate in music.

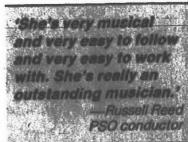

"I don't want to be a music history teacher," she said. "That's not my interest. I don't want to be a student all my life." Dokshinsky's family includes a 25-year-old sister who is completing her studies in Hebrew literature and cinema at Tel Aviv University. Dokshinsky's 16-year-old brother is in high school.

In her free time, Dokshinsky enjoys drawing. She took drawing leasons in her younger days and also

"I had to quit because I started having more concerts," she said.

Dokshinsky said she enjoyed her recent visit to the Plymouth-Canton community. The afternoon of Thursday Det. 5, she attended a "Meet the Active" matternoon by the

Plymouth Symphony League at the Evola Music Center in Plymouth. AT THAT gathering, she talked about her background and played the

"It's great," Dokshinsky said. "I love playing with orchestras. The conductor is very nice."

Russell Reed, music director and conductor for the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra, was happy to have Dokshinsky perform.

"I didn't know what to expect," said Reed, a professor of music at Eastern Michigan University. "She's very musical and very easy to follow and very easy to work with. She's really an outstanding musician." Rehearsal for the Beethoven portion of the concert was a bit difficult, as only one evening of rehearsal with Dokshinsky was possible. Even so, everything worked out just fine for the musicians.

This is Reed's third season as PSO conductor. It's unusual for an international performer to play with the symphony, he said.

"We wanted a plane soloist for the first concert," he said.

In 1979, Kerry Hettinger was serving as an electronics technician with the U.S. Navy. Those days on the USS Eisenhower weren't his best.

"It was a low time in my life and I reached out for God's help. God reached out and healed me. I was left with a question — what now?"
He considered pursuing an engineering career but followed a different path." "God spoke to my heart and led me to see he wanted me to help people who were hurting in the same way I had been hurting." He's now the Rev. Kerry Hettinger, pastor at the Canton Free Methodist Church. This is his fourth year on the job. Hettinger, 32, is the solo pastor at the church, which has approximately 100 members. His responsibilities include preaching, counseling and performing weddings and

He and other Canton clergy representatives work in the emergency chaplain service at Oakwood Canton Health Center. Hettinger's the administrator at the church, serving as chairman for most of the boards and committees.

HIS WORK includes trying to reach out into the community to meet needs there. He's the "shepherd" at the Canton Free Methodist Church, watching over the congregation and sharing God's message with worshipers.

Hettinger, a Canton resident, had a four-year enlistment in the Navy. He graduated from Portage Central High School.

Coming to Canton didn't require too much of an adjustment on Hettinger's part.

"I grew up in Portage, south of Kalamazoo, and the communities are almost identical."

school, in the 11th grade, didn't attend church younger than that. I was attracted to the youth group." In the 12th grade, Hettinger accepted Jesus as his personal savior. I had a spiritual lapse that lasted about three years, from the age of 17 to 20. I questioned God and his part in my life." Hettinger later attended Spring Arbor College in Spring Arbor, Mich., graduating in 1983 with a bachelor's degree in philosophy and psychology. He attended Asbury Theological Seminary in Wilmore, Ky., earning a master of divinity degree in 1986.

His position at the Canton Free Methodist Church is Hettinger's first full-time position in the ministry, and he plans to stay for at least several more years. The church is approximately nine years old.

THE FREE Methodist Church isn't generally as well known as the United Methodist Church is.

'The United Methodist Church is much larger, obviously," Hettinger said. "Our doctrine is almost identical. In many areas, there's really no difference.

The separation between the Methodist groups occurred in 1860. The New York founder of the Free Methodist Church was an outspoken abolitionisti-

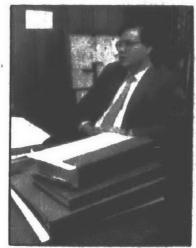

"He got in some trouble with the mainline church," Hettinger said. "The church was really struggling to maintain unity.

Methodist leaders of that era believed the church should be a bit quieter on the issue of slavery. The Free Methodist Church founder and his followers disagreed.

"The church basically kicked him out," Hettinger said.

IT'S UNLIKELY the two churches will join again, "just because 100 years has created some changes, though they're subtle."

Merging with some parts of the United Methodist Church would work, while joining with others wouldn't, he said. A union with the Wesleyan Church or with others would be more likely.

In Michigan, the Free Methodist Church includes the Southern Michigan, Eastern Michigan and Northern Michigan Conferences. Hettinger's church is part of the Southern Michigan Conference, which includes the lower third of the Lower Peninsula.

GOING INTO the ministry isn't unusual these days in Hettinger's family. His father is now planting or establishing a Free Methodist Church in South Haven, Mich. That's a recent career change for "My father is following in my footsteps," Hettinger said. "He's at the level of being a ministerial candidate, which is close to ordina-

HETTINGER'S FAMILY includes his wife, Celeste, a 12-yearold son, Kerry, and twin daughters, Saryn and Elizabeth, who turned 1 in August.

Hettinger enjoys spending time with his family. Fishing is also high on his list of things to do. His father-in-law has a dairy farm in Coldwater, Mich. That farm has a nice pond with sizable bass. Hettinger likes reading and spending time with church members. The family has many friends at the church, and enjoys bowling, visiting with them. "Occasionally, we even get a baby sitter and my wife and I go out on a date," he said with a smile.

Gambling in Oakland County's courthouse Did the county officials approve? Did the voters of Oakland County approve? Is official approval or permission the primary issue?

A couple seeking a divorce met with their lawyers in the county courthouse. Following the meeting, I joined the woman for a cup of coffee in the courthouse cafeteria. It was closed for the afternoon break, so we used the vending machine. Carrying the cups to the table, I noticed playing cards printed on the cups, with four presented face up and one face down. A note on the bottom of the cup told what was on the face-down card.

I distinctly remember that my cup presented a king, a queen and two tens. The fifth card was identified as a joker. I looked at the other cup and suddenly realized what I was doing. Without even consciously thinking about it, I had moved far into the process of gambling. I quickly resolved to go no further.

SOME WOULD insist that using cards like that to determine who buys the coffee or the lunch or anything else in the cafeteria is surely harmless. The stake is so small that no one will be harmed by it, so why the fuss?

The size of the stake in this exercise of chance is not the issue. The size of the stake does not determine whether one is gambling or not. Gambling is nothing more or less than playing a game for money or property . . . to stake something on a contingency. The cups used in the coffee vending machine in the Oakland County Courthouse openly invite the practice of gambling.

Gambling in a county courthouse? Playing a game for money or property . . . staking something on a contingency . . . I could suggest that as the reason for many being there in the courthouse.

seeking divorces do not marry to get divorced . . . they gambled and lost. People do not commit acts of crime and violence to be prosecuted and sent to prison . . . they gambled and

PLAYING A card game in the county courthouse cafeteria, to choose a buyer for a coffee break, is not only in bad taste (the coffee's not much better, either), it's a flagrant disregard for the power of example and the exercise of restraint.

The Biblical mandate cannot be more explicit . . . faithfulness in a little is the pattern for faithfulness in more. The opposite would be equally true . . . faithlessness in a little is the pattern for faithlessness

Gambling will not end if the cups are changed in the Oakland County Courthouse cafeteria coffee vending machines. Cafeteria customers will still play games to identify buyers for coffee, et al. But it is a place to start in our exercise of moral leadership and role modeling. And isn't the beginning the most difficult part in the whole exercise of restraint and

THE BIGGEST issue now facing veterans is the need for better health care and hospitals, according to "Too many veterans who need care and help are turned away," said Brown, a frequent visitor at Veter-ans Administration hospitals. "This was promised to them and they deserve it for being veterans."

While agreeing with the congressional investigation into VA hospitals, Brown said he disagreed with how long it will take to get the study

Most veterans groups are pretty much the same in terms of their activities, according to Brown, but the Purple Heart is unique because of its membership requirements.

UNLIKE groups which accept any veteran as a member, the Order of the Purple Heart restricts its membership to combat wounded veterans who have received the Purple Heart.

"We represent over 700,000 Purple Heart recipients and work for veterans rights and we do communi-ty service," Brown said. "Everyone wants a Purple Heart, but they don't want to earn it."

A need for computer rentals?

Yes, former teacher finds

By Doug Funke staff writer

Michael Poniatowski, a former school administrator who saw a market in short-term computer rentals, said he still can't believe how much his company has grown since he launched it nearly seven years ago from the basement of his home.

Micro-Rental USA, which then consisted of four Apple IIe computers owned by Poniatowski, his father, his father-in-law and a teaching colleague, recorded rental revenues of $1.1 million last year, he said.

Revenues this year are projected to top out at approximately $2.4 million, Poniatowski said, due in great part to a merger in May with Biz-Tech of Livonia/Ann Arbor.

"I still don't believe where we are," said Poniatowski, 38, president and majority stockholder of the privately held company. Last week, he was supervising a consolidation of Detroit operations to Southfield from Livonia and Bloomfield Hills. Micro-Rental USA also has branch offices in Grand Rapids, Chicago, Indianapolis, Cleveland and Cincinnati.

"NOW WE'VE grown so much our goal for at least the next year is to develop the market to its fullest. This is a very cash-intensive business. We've expanded as far as we can afford to," Poniatowski said.

The company, strictly involved in hardware rental, has earned a profit every year since its birth, Poniatowski said. Approximately 95 percent of its rentals now are to business clients.

It all started in fall 1982 when Poniatowski, then supervisor of the talented and gifted program for the Troy School District, began pursuing an advanced degree in computer education at Oakland University.

At first, most renters were nontraditional college students - homemakers and working people pursuing a degree. Some rented for a week, some a month. By March 1983, friends and relatives had boosted the inventory to 17 computers and Poniatowski had a couple of students working out of his Auburn Hills basement.

Business rentals soon surpassed rentals to students when IBM introduced a personal computer with business applications.

TWO EVENTS eventually propelled Poniatowski out of his basement into what he called the legitimate business world.

Poniatowski's business mentor and whom Poniatowski termed "an entrepreneur's entrepreneur," rented from him in June 1983. The Better Business Bureau, acting on an inquiry, checked him out in June 1984.

"Ray said this has the notential to get big. To get the right financing, you're going to have to get out of the basement," Poniatowski said.

The BBB recommended the same. In a reorganization engineered by Okonski, the original individual

Contractors show goods at exhibition

Call it networking for the manufacturing subcontracting set.

Unwards of 500 job shoppers, many from the Observer & Eccentric area, were expected to participate in the sixth annual Contract Manufacturers Expo this week at Cobo Conference/Exhibition Cen-

"It's strictly subcontractors all those shops you see around everywhere who do stamping, who do custom work, 'prototype work," said Patrick Witherspoon, executive director for the Contract Manufacturers Association.

"It's like a big market. It brings buyers and sellers together," he said. "They'll meet more people in three days than they normally would in five years. It's an inexpensive way to make contacts and gives them exposure they normally wouldn't get." Exhibitors make components for the Big Three automakers, aerospace industry and appliance manufacturers. They produce building materials and parts for toys. They're government contractors.

THE BUYERS include major manufacturers, but exhibitors often do business with each other,

"Some guys at the show get business right at the show, some six to eight months later," Witherspoon

Craftsmen and shop owners often are much better and more comfortable doing work than drumming up business, Witherspoon said. The expo was set up for them.

"It's hard to go to a cocktail party and talk about it," he said. These guys are craftsmen. They just don't go out and advertise. There's a lot of business out there. We bring them together."

Witherspoon described the average association member and exhibitor as a company that has been around for at least 20 years, employs 50-100 and has gross sales of $4-$5 million per year.

H&H Tube & Mfc. Co., with administrative offices in Southfield and three factories around Michigan, attended the expo for the second year in a row.

Tire account lucrative

By Doug Funke staff writer

A 20-foot inflatable tire and a banner in front of W.B. Doner & Co. headquarters on Northwestern Highway Monday told the story.

The Southfield-based advertising company had acquired the BF Goodrich (tire) national advertising account. Grey Advertising of New York had the account for 17 years.

The BF Goodrich account is expected to generate upwards of $25 million in billings over the next year, according to AdWeek Magazine.

Between 15 and 25 jobs will be created at Doner to service the Goodrich account and several others the agency has acquired in recent months, said W.B. "Brod" Doner, chairman of the executive commit-

"I guess you'd have to say they (Goodrich) just liked the way we think," Doner said. "There's no question it automatically is in the top three or four of our accounts."

Doner declined to give specifics about the campaign. The account will be managed by Steve LaGattuta in Doner's Southfield office and Jerry Preyss in the Cleveland office. Other key people involved with the account are John DeCerchie, Mike Sullivan, Dan Hackett, Mike Rutka and Gary Wolfson in creative and John Considine in research, Doner Doner's campaign probably will be introduced to dealers in late January and hit the national airwaves in March, Hargrave said.

"We're in a very competitive industry and feel that W.B. Doner can give us the edge," Hargrave said. Doner demonstrated to us their complete understanding of our target market and a unique way to communicate with that customer."

Hargrave identified the target market as owners of new sports cars that originally came with performance tires, and car buyers who acquire sporty cars to make a state-ment about lifestyle.

He also declined comment on the specifics of Doner's campaign.

'Grey liad served us well. We were delighted with their efforts but pact with that theme," Hargrave Doner was one of four finalists to pitch a TV campaign to Goodrich. The others were Chiat/Day/Mojo of Los Angeles, Saatchi & Saatchi of New York and Grey.

"IN THE ADVERTISING community, these are heavyweight, creative agencies," Hargrave said. "It's not so much they did anything wrong. Doner out-performed them.

Doner said he has no plans to use the Goodrich account to land the account of a major auto manufacturer. Doner unsuccessfully pursued the GM Saturn account.

"This is such a wonderful account in itself, we can't think of it as a springboard," Doner said.

Poniatowski said he hasn't regretted the decision to stay with the business when his one-year educational leave expired early in the game.

"I didn't know how to get out of it. It was almost no decision," he said.

"I lucked out, to find something no one thinks of. There's a need. We have a good management team."

Is Your Child Too Small?

Most kids grow at their own rate. And there's nothing to be alarmed at if they're a little above or below the growth chart.

For some children, though, it's different. For any number of reasons, they just don't grow like other kids do. But if treated in time, many of them can be helped.

And that's the purpose of the Growth Assessment Clinic sponsored by Pediatric Associates of Farmington. in affiliation with Children's Hospital of Michigan and the Human Growth Foundation. If you're worried about your child's growth pattern, give us a call at (313) 228-2769.

We'll set up a private screening on Saturday. October 14. And it won't cost you a penny.

Managers talk. Leaders have learned to listen.

Listening is the glue that holds every business together and repre-sents the sixth aspect of leadership that is important but seldom urgent.

According to Willam A. Martstell-er, author of "Creative Management," "the occupational disease of poor management is the inability to listen and to ask the right kinds of questions." As such, listening and observing are the basics behind both the learning and leadership development processes.

AS MANAGERS "manage," leaders do what they do well. A leader has the ability to know what he does particularly well and where his or her weaknesses lie.

If you're a top-notch salesman, share your sales secrets with your sales force. If you are not a "num-bers cruncher," develop someone within the business who is.

A good leader realizes that he cannot be all things to all people, so he develops key people to cover the weak areas.

ALTHOUGH MANAGERS are honest most of the time, leaders make a point to always tell the truth. When you find it necessary to tell "white lies" to the people you work with, you might as well pack it in. When they find out, you will have ruined your credibility with them. Leaders realize that people can accept and respect the honest truth, no matter how difficult it may be to swallow at the time. Praise may be used by managers to manipulate people; leaders use praise to develop a person's self-es-

LEADERS KNOW that the most effective method of encouraging people is self-motivation. Leaders praise people for a job well done — immediately and sincerely.

Unlike managers, who sometimes lavish their people with cheap praise in an effort to push them harder, leaders help foster self-worth, value and importance among their employee staff.

Managers work their required schedule. Leaders work whenever their leadership support is needed. How many times have you asked your employees to work an extra weekend or stay late to fill an im-

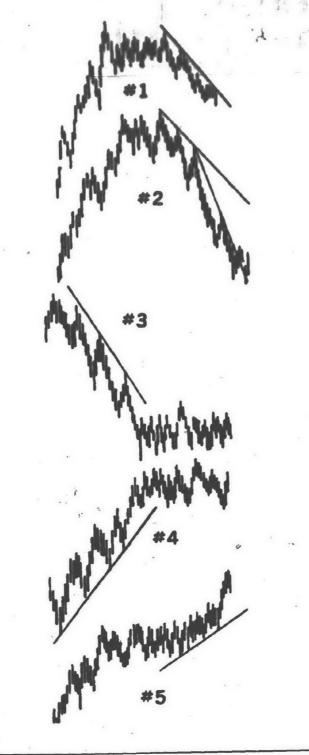

AN IMPORTANT rule of great leadership is to never require someone to do something you wouldn't be willing to do yourself. This doesn't mean that every time you ask somebody to work late, you have to work

It means that you must have the sensitivity to know when it is important for you to be there reinforcing and supporting the efforts of vour employees.

Last, a manger evaluates his employee's performance; a leader evaluates his or her own perform-

Managerial ego is a lot like the steam that fogs your bathroom mirror - it distorts reality. To avoid self-analysis is a symptom of personal weakness, mediocrity or both.

Technicians see future in graphs

Last week we presented key as-pects of technical analysis. Basically, technical analysis of individual stocks involves the interpretation of important chart patterns known by such esoteric names as head and shoulders, triangles, wedges, flags

Each pattern signals to technical analysts a major or minor upward or downward movement in the stock. Several popular chart patterns are discussed below.

Support and resistance levels

One of the most important aspects of chart analysis is the identification of support and resistance levels. A support level is a barrier to price decline, a resistance level is a barrier to price advancement.

Although the barrier is an obstruction, it is by no means impassable: stock prices do break support and resistance barriers.

Head and shoulders configurations

Basic reversal patterns help analysts identify the turning points so that they can decide when to buy or sell stock. The key reversal pattern is popularly known as the head and shoulders configuration.

This configuration is merely another name for an uptrend or a downtrend in a stock; "neckline" is

Five broad patterns

It is worth noting that of all the many chart patterns and techniques discussed above, five broadly classif fied patterns are claimed to best de scribe the price behavior of mos stocks. These patterns, shown in the attached chart, should be self-expla-

Technical analysis endeavors to predict future price levels of stocks by analyzing past data from the market itself. This analysis is based on the belief that the price of stock depends primarily on supply and de-mand and may have little relationship to any intrinsic value.

Canton's Thompson riddles Patriots

BILL BRESLER/staff photographer

Canton's Susan Ferko, a 5-foot-11 center, stops Dawn Warner of Franklin on the baseline in a key. Western Division game Tuesday. The Chiefs took home a 54-46 victory.

staff writer

Livonia Franklin knew it had to stop Plymouth Canton center Susan Ferko if it was to win an important Western Division girls basketball game Tuesday night.

The Patriots didn't figure on Stacey Thompson filling the void, how-

She scored a game-high 21 points, which included a 15-point second half, and powered the Chiefs to a hard-fought, 54-46 victory'at Frank-

"(Canton coach) Mr. (Bob) Blohm told me I haven't stepped up yet, and I guess this was the game to do it," Thompson said.

"Their defense centered mostly around Susan. With the effort on Susan, that left me open. That's what happens when you have a great player on your team like Susan; you start to have opportunities."

THE 5-FOOT-11 Ferke, who finished the game with four fouls as did Franklin star Dawn Warner, scored 15 points for Canton, which completed the first round of division play at 5-0 and is 9-2 overall.

Warner's 20 points paced the Patriots, and Cheryl Hintz added 10. Franklin, 3-2 and 8-2, has another key game tonight when it plays host to division foe Walled Lake Western, the only other team to have beaten the Patriots.

"We didn't play our normal defense at all tonight," Franklin coach Dan Freeman said. "Prior to this game, we hadn't played 30 seconds of zone.

"We had to pinch in on Susan; we don't have anyone equal to her size - or ability. In the second half, we ran out of gas and didn't rotate around and cover Thompson.

"Not to fault the girls, because they played real hard," he added. "We just got tired in the second half and couldn't shut off the inside."

The Patriots played well, indeed. Franklin's pressure caused problems (12 turnovers) for the Chiefs in the first half, and the Patriots led 25-24 at halftime. It was still only a fourpoint difference (50-46) with 25 seconds remaining.

"THEY CAME after us, and the bench really helped out," Blohm said. "When Susan got in foul trouble, we had to rotate some players, and we held together real well.

"I really like their team. They're big, but they play together very well."

While Warner had only five points in the first half, Hintz scored three big baskets at the end of the fast break, and Juliann Stesiak added eight points for the game. Patty Shea was a leader out front on the press, and center Shannon Eberly gave a gutsy performance going up against Ferko in the post.

Though Warner reached her scoring average, Blohm and Freeman were impressed by the defense Canton guard Jenny Russell played op-

"I think they were a hard-earned 20," Blohm said.

'Twenty is a fine game for her, going against Jenny Russell," Free-

"She's a good defensive player; I'll ve her that," Warner said.

KRIS FORD and Christyn Halliday were the bench players who combined with the starting five to ning to blend and unify, according to

When the Patriots threatened to open a lead in the second quarter, Halliday hit back-to-back corner shots to tie 23-23. Her 3-pointer with three seconds left in the third period gave Canton a 41-38 edge heading into the finale.

The Chiefs made a move early in the second half as Mary Barna, Thompson and Ferko combined to give Canton a 34-27 lead. But the momentum changed as Warner hit a triple and, after Ferko got her fourth foul, added a layup to make it a twopoint ballgame again.

"When we had the seven-point spurt, I thought we were on our way, but they fought us off," Blohm said.

improved the Chiefs to 5-0 in the division and

"All in all, I'm not unhappy with the effort we put out," Freeman said. "Next time, we'll make some adjustments and plan on getting. them at their place.'

THE CHIEFS never trailed after Ferko made it 43-42, and Thompson scored the next seven points for a 50-44 lead. Ferko and Thompson made. two free throws each in the last half minute to secure the victory.

"(Thompson) made some big buckets, didn't she?" Blohm said. "Stacey, played a great game against Salem in the district last year, and this was equal to that game.

"She finished off a lot of nice plays and also went to the glass. She had an all-round nice game.

Salem's only first is most important

Upon initial examination, it does not seem to be the stuff champions

After all, not one Plymouth Salem swimmer managed to win an event at Saturday's Western Wayne Invitational at Belleville And that's no way to go about defending a champi-

Still, there's no arguing with results. And as Salem coach Chuck Olson accurately described it, "We didn't have any firsts, until the meet was through and they totaled up the points.

That final total revealed the Rocks as champs again with 416 points, an easy victory over runnerup Livonia Churchill (366). Belleville was third (163), followed by Livonia Franklin (137), Westland John Glenn (63) and Dearborn Fordson (40).

IT WAS the third-straight Western Wayne title for Salem in what amounted to, according to Olson, "a dual meet between us and Churchill." And although no Rock was good enough to win an event, they were good enough to collect 10 (out of 11) seconds, five thirds and six fourths.

"It's the way our team is," said Olson. "We have some kids who know how to swim, and swim well."

Cheri Vincent led the Rocks with a pair of individual seconds, in the 200-yard individual medley (2:25.6) and 100 freestyle (57.45). Vincent was also a member of the secondplace 200 medley relay (2:02.13), with Amy Austin, Candi Bosse and

Her older sister, Nicole, mauched Candi's effort with a second in the 200 free (2:07.02) and a third in the 100 free (59.19), and Nicole teammed with Julie Hickey, Jane Seidelman and Megan Andrews for a second in the 400 free relay (4:07.62).

HICKEY MANAGED a second in the 500 free (5:55.62) and a fourth in the 50 free (27.93), Stackpoole was second in the 100 backstroke (1:08.72) and third in the 200 IM

(2:30.03), and Austin was second in the 100 breaststroke (1:16.65) and sixth in the 200 IM (2:38.56).

Jennifer Ezzo earned second in the diving with a total of 312.1 points. Tonya Aylsworth was fifth (213.1) and Sherry Wells sixth (196.75).

Other swimmers to score were Andrews, fourth in both the 200 (2:13.41) and 500 (6:00.72) freestyle; Andrea Alex, third in the 100 fly (1:07.89); Amy Homan, fourth in the 100 breast (1:20.77); Carrie Vanderweele, fourth in the 100 back (1:11.22); Seidelman, fifth in the 100 free (1:02.72) and seventh in the 200 free (2:18.49); Ann Toms, fifth in the 200 free (2:14.88); Laura Maciag, sixth in the 100 back (1:14.12) and seventh in the 100 fly (1:12.33); and Meg Reilly, sixth in the 100 fly (1:10.01).

Vanderweele, Homan, Alex and Tammy Hickey combined to finish third in the 200 medley relay (2:08.83), and Toms, Sue Carter, Kim White and Reilly teammed for a fourth in the 400 free relay (4:15.33).

All told, it ended up being a long day in Belleville. Not that Olson didn't find that the time was spent

TS GETTING DOWN to the nitty-gritty for area high school football teams as Week No. 6 approaches.

Both the Western and Lakes Division titles will be on the line Friday night in the Western Lakes Activities Association.

Plymouth Canton will be gunn ing for its first-ever Western Division crown when it hosts topranked Farmington Harrison in a battle of unbeatens.

Look for passes to fill the sky when Canton's Karl Wukie and Harrison's Mill Coleman start winging the ball from their respective quarterback slots.

The Lakes Division matchup finds Westland John Glenn hosting Plymouth Salem. Both teams are also unbeaten. Glenn's defense will be primed to stop Salem's dangerous wishbone attack, led by halfback Ryan

The Rockets also can throw on occasion led by senior quarterback Eric Stover.

IN YET ANOTHER key matchup, Redford St. Agatha will try to make its second straight appearance in the Catholic League's C-D Division title game at the Pontiac Silverdome, but first the Aggies must get past nemesis Center Line St. Clement. (Game time is 7:30 p.m. Saturday at Hilbert Junior Highe Kraft Field in Redford.)

Both beans are 5-1 overall and 3-1 in the division.

These three key matchups will not only determine championship berths, but also go a long way in determining state playoff berths.

As far as your prep prognostica-tors go, Emons had a big week, picking 13 of 14 games correctly, raising his overall record to 68-17. O'Meara, meanwhile, hopes to rebound after going 10-4, slipping to 64-21 overall. Here is a capsule look at the weekend matchups:

FRIDAY'S GAMES (all games 7:30 p.m. unless noted)

Lutheran Westland at Waldron (7 p.m.): Both teams are coming off loss Lutheran Westland (3-3) fell to Detroit St. Hedwig, while Waldron (1-5) couldn't stop Pittsford. Don Rowley is a strong running back for the Spartans. He gained 214 yards and scored four touchdowns in Waldron's only win over Litchfield. Picks: The Warriors go on the warpath again.

Hamtramck at Liv. Clarenceville: The Cosmos (0-6) have been in outer over the Belleville Cougars.

The Plymouth-Canton Steelers varsity football team

Chris Bassett scored two touchdowns and gained 91

yards on the ground for the Steelers. Both touchdowns space all season, while Clarenceville (5-1), led by quarterback Chris "The Boss" Foss, is marching toward a showdown next week with unbeaten Auburn Hills Avondale. Picks: The Trojans ride high on their horses.

Dearborn at Garden City: The Cougars earned their first victory last week over Northwest Suburban League toe Redford Union, 21-19, as quarterback Jim Marszalek passed for one TD and running back Frank Gotham added two others while rushing for over 100 yards for the fifth time this season. Dearborn (3-3) took NSL leader Edsel to the limit last week before losing 20-14 It's GC's homecoming this week Picks: Dearborn wins a tight battle.

Woodhaven at Redford Union: Two teams that are on the skids will try and right themselves in this NSL battle. Woodhaven (2-4), which was expected to challenge this year for the NSL title, is coming off a 40-15 shellacking by Pinckney. RU, meanwhile, lost to previously winless Garden City, 21-19. Picks: Emons asks for the coin, please; it's RU. O'Meara is buying stock in Woodhaven.

Belleville at Wayne Memorial: The Zebras could be undefeated, but after tight losses to Wyandotte and Dearborn Fordson, they're 4-2. Ironically, Belleville is also 4-2, coming off a 33-14 victory over Southgate. Can Wayne rebound from its heartbreaking 22-17 loss to unbeaten Fordson? Picks: As long as Wayne finds a way to get Pierre Hixon and Larry Johnson the ball, the Zebras will prevail

W.L. Western at Liv. Churchill: Both teams have identical 1-5 overall records and are 1-3 in the Western Division of the WLAA. Churchill broke a six-game losing streak (dating back to 1988) by smothering city rival Franklin. Western, meanwhile, did not back down from Harrison, Picks: Churchill uses the home field advantage, says Emons. O'Meara believes it's round-'em-up, ro-

Ply. Salem at Westland Glenn: When is the last time Salem beat Glenn? Don't ask. Salem is 0-4 against the Rockets. The key may be the throwing of Salem quarterback Rob Kowalski, who must figure out a way to pass enough to keep the Rockets' defense honest. Picks: Emons foresees Glenn making it five straight over the Rocks, but O'Meara senses a Salem surprise.

Liv. Franklin at Northville: The Patriots (1-5) are doing a lot of soul searching these days, especially on offense. Franklin coach Armand Vigna is shaking up his lineup in an attempt to corral the Mustangs (2-4), a team which is mediocre at best, but probably good extra point.

Steelers have reason to celebrate

19-13 defeat.

Mustangs saddle one up in the victory

Farm. Harrison at Ply. Canton: This is Harrison's most severe test since they opened with a 34-18 victory over Sagi naw Arthur Hill. The Hawks have been in a number of big games, but this is Canton's first major test in the school's history. The Chiefs may have already figured out a way to contain Mill Coleman on the outside, but do they have enough to stop the Hawks inside? Picks: Harrison shows who's boss.

N. Farmington at W.L. Central: North Farmington (4-2) must regroup after losing to Salem in double-overtime last week. Central (1-5) should be easy prey for the Raiders. This is another battie between the "Hayes" and the "Have in the Lakes Division of the WLAA. Picks: Take North and a bundle.

SATURDAY'S GAMES (all games at 1 p.m. unless noted)

Liv. Stevenson at Farmington: Let's examine some comparative scores: Glenn 42, Farmington 7; Glenn 55, Stevenson 0; North 21, Stevenson 0; North 38, Farmington 0; Salem 41, Farmington 0; Salem 26, Stevenson 0. Both teams beat Walled Lake Central (Farm-38-7; Stevenson, 16-13.) Where's that crystal ball when you need it? Picks: Emons can't make a decision, but goes blindly with Farmington. The Falcons helped O'Meara see the light

D.H. Crestwood at Red. Thurston: Both teams are 2-4 overall, but Crestwood is coming off a 17-3 triumph over rival Dearborn Heights Annapolis. Thurston had no offense to speak of in a 29-0 loss to Allen Park. Thurston needs a victory to stay out of the basement of the Tri-River League. Picks: Emons likes Redford CC at Harper Wds. Notre Dame (1:30 p.m.): The Shamrocks (5-1) better be careful because Notre Dame (3-3) is not a bad team. Dezjuan Reynolds had 189 yards in 30 carries in a 14-8 win last week over Warren De-LaSalle. The Irish beat CC, 7-6, in 1985. Picks: The Shamrocks skate through.

Bishop Borgess vs. Warren De-LaSalle (7:30 p.m. at Garden City Jr High): The Spartans (1-5) lack depth. but not heart. They've given Divine Child, Redford CC and Bishop Gallagher tussles before losing. DeLaSalle (2-4) is probably the Central Division's biggest disappointment. Each team will try and avoid the cellar. Picks: Borgess los-

St. Agatha vs. Center Line St. Clement (7:30 p.m. at RU's Kraft Field): Agatha is confident and primed to make another trip to the Silverdome. St. Clement relies on the passing of junior Vince Bastine and the running of Dave Sauger. Agatha, as you remember, blitzed St. Clement last year in this key title matchup. Picks: The Aggles are riding high into Pontiac as coach John Goddard gets drenched in Gato-

In terms of anticipation, Friday rates as the greatest day in the football history of Centennial Educational Park.

Its two teams, Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton, are 6-0 and will play for the championship in their respective divisions of the Western Lakes Activities Association that night.

The scenario for Friday's showdowns is unprecedented in the sevenyear existence of the WLAA. All four teams are undefeated, including 4-0 division records.

Salem visits Westland John Glenn. and Canton will be host to Farmington Hills Harrison. Game time is 7:30 p.m. at both sites.

"The school is pretty upbeat about it," Canton coach Bob Khoenle said. 'There's quite a bit of talk about it, and the team is excited about it."

SALEM COACH Tom Moshimer said his players have a pretty serious attitude this week.

'They're all business; there's not a lot of rah-rah," he said. "They're concentrating and the goal among themselves is to eliminate the mistakes we've been making."

In terms of what actually happens, the results will determine whether Friday night goes down as the greatest in the history of CEP football.

Salem and Canton are considered underdogs in most circles.

The Rocks have never beaten Glenn, the defending Lakes Division champ, in four previous meetings. The Chiefs, who have won seven straight, are the equivalent of David in their Western Division game with Harrison — the defending Class B champs and No. 1-rated team in that bracket.

"You know we're the underdog; everybody thinks that," Khoenle said. "But everybody is for the underdog, right?. Maybe with everybody pulling for us, we might get something out of this."

KHOENLE AND his staff envisioned the possibility back in August of going into the Harrison game unbeaten if Canton could win the opener with Monroe. That much is in the record books.

"Something like this is what you look forward to and wait on,' Khoenle said. "These are the games you like to play."

The Rocks are looking forward to the challenge of playing Glenn, too. Comparing scores offers little indication of an edge, but the Rockets Moshimer believes Glenn is better than it was a year ago, and Salem will have to be at its best against the well-disciplined, mistake-free Rockets. The Rocks made four turnovers in beating North 21-18 in double overtime last week, and they can't afford to do that Friday.

We had four turnovers and still gained 233 yards," Moshimer said. We have the capability of beating Glenn if we don't mistake ourselves out of it."

GLENN QUARTERBACK Eric Stover is a senior and more experienced now, Moshimer said, and the Rockets have a different style runner in tailback Shannon Layne. "(Bryant) Satterlee was a big strong power runner (last year)," he said. "This kid can move; he slices and goes." Salem has the bigger, stronger backfield with Ryan Johnson and Pat Bowie, and the wishbone offense has a major role to play Friday. "We have to move the ball and keep them from having it all night," Moshimer said. "If we turn it over like we did against North Farmington, we haven't got a chance." Canton will have its hands full with all-state quarterback Mill Coleman, who despite his 5-9, 165-pound size can hurt a defense as much as any runner or passer. You're not going to stop him, really," Khoenle said. "You have to hope you restrict him a little bit.

"IF HE COULD only pass, you could maybe stop that, but he does both very well. You have to figure out which one he is least likely to beat you with." The Chiefs won't give up a lot in terms of size, though Harrison's inside linebackers - Steve Hill (6-3, 210) and Blazo Sarcevich (6-3, 212) - are college material and will rely on their quickness. The experiment of playing Ron Groh (5-7, 170) and Ron Barlow (5-10, 175) at defensive tackles has worked well for Canton. "They're not overpowering (physically) either, I don't think," Khoenle said, "but they have the great tradition and execute very well. These are the basics of any good football Quarterback Karl Wukie has been

Canton's offensive leader as a runner and passer, and the Chiefs will try to spring tailback Jason Riggs for consistent ground gainers.

We'll do the things we've done well to this point," Khoenle said. 'We're just going to try and do them a little better this week."

Rocks crush Falcons

With the regular season now more than half over, one of the more surprising things is that Plymouth Salem's girls basketball record is un-

That is an unaccustomed position for the Rocks to be in. Indeed, by season's end, they may be back to their usual spot — at the top of the Western Lakes Activities Association standings.

While it's true Salem has struggled - Tuesday's 55-34 triumph over visiting Farmington was only the Rocks' fifth against six losses one is tempted to point out the team's Lakes Division mark: a sparkling 4-1. Which means Salem is still in the hunt for the WLAA crown.

"Yeah, we got a chance," admitted Rocks' coach Fred Thomann. "We've got to play a real good game at North Farmington to be there (in the fibal). But first we've got to worry about Livonia Stevenson and Walled Lake Central.

"We're hanging in there, we're coming along."

FARMINGTON, MEANWHILE, continues to struggle. The Falcons dipped to 3-8 (1-4 in the Lakes) with Tuesday's defeat.

Salem used overwhelming advantages in the first and fourth quarters - the Rocks outscored Farmington 18-4 in the first and 17-7 in the fourth, a total of 35-11 - to subdue

Sarah Ruete did most of the damage for Salem, scoring 18 points. Next highest was Yolanda Jackson with eight, as 10 of 11 Rocks scored. Emily Giullani led the rebounders

High scorer and rebounder for Farmington was Erica Hatcher with eight points and eight boards.

Spartans nip Rocks

on isn't the power-

ortans remain the defending and state champions, and Pete Scerri believes the tradition in the sport con-Monday to a 2-0 defeat of at Plymouth Salem.

If hetche that's 80 percent of winning," said Scerri, who then summa-rized the pep talk he gave his players at halftime of a 6-0 ballgame. "I told them we're Stevenson, and we'll find way to win. I'm proud of them; there's that tradition.

As it usually is when these teams play, the Lakes Division title was at stake, with the winner getting a rematch with undefeated and No. 1ranked Livonia Churchill next Wednesday in the Western Lakes Activities Association championship

The Spartans, 2-0-1 in the division and 9-1-1 overall as of Monday, had beat Walled Lake Central on dnesday to make it official, but the Salem game decided the issue for all practical purposes.

Steven. on, ranked No. 8 this week, has won six straight and appears to be coming on despite being in what Scerri calls a rebuilding year after losing a lot of talent from the team that captured the Class A crown last

The Spartans beat the No. 7-rated Rocks with goals by Shane Millner and Greg Smith, and goalkeeper Jerry Smolenski played a solid game, king several key saves on Salem

"Some people are counting us out, but it's not over until it's over," Scerri said. "We're underdogs this year; I admit it.

"I didn't expect to be this far, but we've only lost to Churchill — and Churchill has a beautiful team this year. They're one of the best I've seen in the state."

The Spartans, who lost 1-0 to Churchill earlier this season, welcome the opportunity to play the Chargers, who are 12-0 and have won their last 11 games by shutout, in the WLAA final. The game is scheduled for 7 p.m. at Stevenson.

"I know they are a better team, but we're not going to take a back seat to anybody," Scerri said. "It's the other way around now. The pressure is on them for a change. They're No. 1 and nobody has scored on

The loss was devastating for Salem, which had hoped to end a frustrating week with a meaningful win over the Spartans. Instead, its woes both of late and historically in its rivalry with Stevenson continued.

The No. 7-rated Rocks, 2-1 and 10-3-1, were 0-3-1 in their last four games before playing North Farmington in the regular-season finale Wednesday. Salem had lost 1-0 to Churchill on Monday, Oct. 2, tied Walled Lake Western 0-0 on Wednesday, Oct. 4, and lost 2-1 to No. 4 Troy Athens on Saturday.

Furthermore, the Rocks saw their winless streak in games against the Spartans extended to 0-12-2.

'We just couldn't finish," said Salem ceach, Ken Johnson, who saw his team outshoot Stevenson and, for the most part, dominate another game

"We're not getting any breaks. It's just one of those things. I can't say we'll do this or practice that.

Every game we think it (will turn he added. "It's gotta change one day; I don't know when. Maybe in the state (tournament) it will change."

In an attempt to offset Salem's ballhandling skills and compensate for its comparative inexperience, the Stevenson plan was to stretch the field and catch the Rocks in transi-

Midway in the second half, Millner took a pass from teammate Rob Haar, turned and fired a strong shot that carried into the upper corner of the net, too high for Salem goalie Matt Tudor to reach.

"We switched the field nicely, got it across and I happened to be there," Millner said. "It was just a great cross from Haar. I aimed for the corner and hoped it went in."

The Rocks continued to have the majority of scoring opportunities until Smith chipped a shot over Tudor, who had started out of the net in apparent anticipation of a rush on the Salem goal, with under three minutes left in the game.

"Some people criticize the way I do things and say we're playing kick ball." Scerri said. "But when we're playing a good team like that, I want to use the long ball - go 1-on-1 and try to surprise them.

What good would it do playing in the middle," he said, pointing to the field. "That's boring. The way they were outplaying us, we had to juggle the lineup and try to find a way.

It's become a familiar trait in Plymouth Canton swim meets: Both teams end up with about the same number of first-place finishes, but the Chiefs are way out in front in the final score.

Against Trenten Tuesday at Canton, the Chiefs won just five of 11 events. Still, the Trojans were no match, losing 90-73.

Nicole Drake accounted for two of Canton's firsts, capturing both the 200-yard (2:02.95) and 500-yard (5:24.15) freestyle. Drake then teammed with Janet Rebests. Roberts, Jenny Cooper and Pam Pritchard to win the 400 free relay (3:54.86).

The Chiefs' only other wins came courtesy of Pritchard in the 50 free (26.54) and Val Gildhaus in the 100 breaststroke (1:19-39).

However, their depth allowed them to capture seven second-place finishes. Cassic Cummins had two seconds, in the 200 individual medley (2:24.57) and 100 backstroke (1:04.0), and she combined with Gildhaus, Chris Lang and Cooper for a second in the 200 medley relay (2:02.41).

Lang was second in the 100 butterfly (1:06.95), Stacey Belisle was second in the 100 breast (1:21.83), Pritchard was second in the 100 free (57.54) and Roberts was second in the 200 free (2:10.41).

The victory improved Canton's dual-meet record to 3-1, with a home meet at 7 p.m. tonight against Walled

So far this season, Schoolcraft Colege's mens soccer team has not en beaten by a Region 12 foe. But the Ocelots will still have their backs to the wall when they visit regional. rival Macomb CC Saturday.

Rice ends losing streak against CC:

By Marty Budner staff writer

Brother Rice has won its share of big games over the years. Most of them, naturally, have produced sheer jubilation. But Sunday's triumph over Redford Catholic Central was different - it spawned nothing

The Warriors defeated their arch rivals, 31-14, in the 45th annual Boy's Bowl played at Pontiac's Wisner Stadium before an overflow crowd of more than 7,000 spectators.

Catholic Cental had defeated Rice five consecutive times entering the game, including four straight Boy's Bowls and the 1987 Class A state playoffs. Warrior fans were beginning to wonder when the losing streak would end

So it was no surprise the Brother Rice faithful stormed the field and mobbed their heroes with unrestrained joy when the highest scoring Boy's Bowl in 19 years ended in Rice's favor.

"I'm relieved. This is a great victory for us," said Fracassa, whose team is now 6-0 and just three games away from his fifth undefeated regular season in 21 years as Brother Rice coach.

'You begin to wonder - 'five times in a row'. You keep thinking about that. I told the kids I'd been thinking about Catholic Central for 61/2 days," he said. "Then I started thinking about our team and the players we have here. That helped me out. That gave me a lift."

The Warriers, paced by a balanced scoring attack that netted 300 total yards, mustered 31 points against a CC team which had not allowed a point in five games.

And although Rice opened the scoring, CC should have. The Shamrocks took the opening kick and held the ball for 10% minutes, only to come up short when Kerry Zavagnin's 20-yard field goal attempt was blocked by Rice's Dean Polce.

Shortly afterward, CC's Rick Walsh intercepted an Utter pass deep in Rice territory to give the Shamrocks another glorious scoring opportunity to begin the second quarter. Again, the Rice defense held and Zavagnin's 28-yard field goal attempt went wide.

So the Shamrocks were blanked, even though they dominated the game's first 14 minutes.

'We hurt ourselves. We opened the game with a 10-minute drive and didn't put the ball in when we should said CC coach Tom Mach, whose team is now 5-1 overall, "Not putting the points on the board always changes the momentum. We were playing real well and it didn't put it in."

Rice then began to assert itself of-fensively, tallying the first points of the season against the Shamrocks defense when junior Kevin Cook booted a 20-yard field goal — his second of the season - five minutes before halftime

Rice's defense forced a punt and got the ball back with 2:35 left. It took the Warriors just two minutes to score as Utter raced in from 2 yards out to cap a 40-yard drive with 43 seconds left in the second quarter. Cook hit the extra point to give Rice its 10-0 halftime lead.

The Warriors iced the game by scoring a pair of touchdowns within 10 seconds of each other early in the third quarter.

Rice took the opening kickoff 80 yards in six plays to make it a 17-0 game. The drive's key plays were a 24-yard run by Steve Morrison and a 38-yard touchdown gallop by Sean Johnson around left end.

On the ensuing kickoff, Rice's Kevin Kalczynski raced downfield and recovered what had to be a record for the longest on-side kick in Boy's Bowl history.

The Warriors scored on the first play after recovering the ball when Utter threw a 20-yard scoring pass to Morrison. Cook booted the extra point, and all of a sudden Rico was in nd with a 24-0 lead.

hurt us," said Mach. "A 10-0 lead was nothing to worry about, because I thought we had the ability to come back. But that really hurt when they got those two touchdowns."

CC broke Rice's shutout bid when quarterback Jack Davidson, subbing for Jason Carr who broke a finger in last week's win over Bishop Gallagher, threw a 10-yard scoring pass to Mike Grimes. The Shamrocks 2point attempt failed and the third quarter ended with a 24-6 Rice advantage.

Each team scored in the final

Utter hit Pete Mitchell with a 9yard pass to make it a 31-6 game. Then, with 2:31 left in the game, Davidson threw a 15-yard touchdown pass to Mike Thomas. Davidson successfully tossed to Arshon Stewart for the 2-point conversion to account for the final score.

Utter completed 11 of 17 passes for 152 yards with two interceptions. Mitchell caught six passes for 107 yards. Morrison caught two passes, rushed for 60 yards and averaged more than 51 yards on three punts, including a 72-yard second-quarter

Clarenceville trounces Cranbrook

Racking up more than 400 yards in total offense, Livonia Clarenceville cruised to an easy 33-6 Metro Conference football win Saturday at Bloomfield Hills Cranbrook.

Clarenceville is 5-1 overall and 4-1

Quarterback Chris Foss showed the Cranes (2-4, 1-4) who was boss, completing 16 of 20 passes for 248 yards and three touchdowns. Kendrick Harrington, who caught nine passes for 175 yards, scored on TD catches of 50 and 55 yards, while Gary Lay added a 30-yard scoring Andy Weighill contributed a 25-vard TD catch on a pass from halfback Derrick Herr, while Jay Larson (50 yards in five carries) added a 35vard TD run.

Clarenceville led 33-0 after three quarters before Cranbrook's Kamu Williams broke the shutout with a 6yard TD run in the final period.

Agatha is 5-1 overall and 3-0 in the C-Section, while the Lakers dipped to 4-2 and 1-2.

Agatha broke open a tight game right before the half when linebacker Ken Kroll blocked a Lakes punt and John Di-Ponio recovered in the end zone to make

"Brian Rutch made a great punt to the coffin corner and then we called three timeouts," said Agatha coach John Goddard. "It was a big play for us because of being up only 14-6, it's 20-6 at halftime. It took the wind right out of them.'

Kutch, junior, had another big day, completing seven of nine passes for 97 yards. He threw a 17-yard TD pass to Joe Boards and ran 3 yards for another Ken Prokes, who rushed for 103 yards in 17 carries, added a 29-yard scoring Agatha outgained Lakes in total offense, 277-89.

"Our defense really did well," Goddard said. "I told our kids that they had to control Lakes up front, and they did. Our offensive and defensive lines did a great

Pat Wagner, a 6-foot-3, 220-pound senior tackle, anchored the offensive line, while Boards, at end, spearheaded the defense along with Wagner and Brian Rich. (Shannon Tonti also picked off a pass.)

Teeters not too pleased as Lady Ocelots go west

By C.J. Risak staff writer

This was not the form Teeters was looking for. This was not the kind of tune-up

His Schoolcraft College volleyball team labored through an Eastern Conference match Monday, beating Delta 10-15, 15-3, 15-4, 15-9 at SC.

"I was not pleased at all by our play," said Teeters, even though the Lady Ocelots improved to 16-4 overall and to 5-0 in the conference. "We were very stiff, we were very straight up. We have to improve against the weaker teams. We have to learn to play our best game all the time, not just some of the time."

Teeters would have liked to see the improvement by this weekend. SC has a major test coming up: the Jefferson College (Mo.) Tournament, which will include eight of the top 20 junior college teams in the country.

Included in the field are defending tourney champ Barton County (Kan.), Miami Dade South, host team Jefferson, Illinois Central CC, Lake Michigan CC, Southwestern (Mich.) CC, Johnson (Kan.) CC and SC.

EVERYONE PLAYS everyone else in the round-robin format, with play starting Friday and concluding Saturday. "It's going to be tough," said Teeters, who named Miami Dade and SC as favorites.

A year ago, the Lady Ocelots lost their opener at this tournament to Southwestern CC, then railied to eventually finish second. Teeters is hoping for a similar performance. SC will have its chance. It opens against Southwestern again, at 2 p.m. Friday. In the win over Delta, only Angellette Love garnered unbridled praise from her coach. "I was real pleased with her," said Teeters. "Her intensity was real good the last three games, she was hustling after balls."

Love finished with 14 kills in 26 attacks with four errors - all four coming in the opening game — for a .385 kill average. Jenny Sproul contributed six service aces and 22 assists-to-kills, and JoAnn Kolnitys collected two solo blocks, four block assists and six kills.

The defeat dropped Delta to 0-5. Last Saturday, SC ripped Macomb CC in three straight games to keep its conference win streak alive. Since Teeters took over as coach four seasons ago, the Lady Ocelots have not lost an Eastern Conference says he'll be ready to foresake his Livonia home for a go at the Hollywood writing scene.

Playwright examines retirement years

Jim Jagdfeld/staff photographer

After "Sandwiched Light" finishes its run with the Rosedale Community Players, Evan Keliher

special writer

Schools

HERE'S A FUNNY thing about Evan Keliher. He's witnessed and survived active combat duty in Korea and 30 years in the Detroit Public

His tenure as a teacher was marred by violence and finally retirement under the threat of death. But the funny thing is his sense of humor — the fact he even has one. And how very intact it is as evi-

Keliher's most recent work is 'Sandwiched Light,' a three-act comedy concerning life in a retirement home. It premieres at 8 p.m. Friday, Oct. 13 in the Rosedale Community Players' Upstage Theater, 21728 Grand River near Lahser, Detroit.

denced in his work as a writer.

A long-time Livonia resident, Keliher puts stock in a good cigar and strong drink, not superstition. He dismisses any notion of bad luck regarding the opening night of the seven performance run.

"Director Sue Story, the cast and crew - we're all very excited about 'Sandwich Light' and ready to break a leg," he said, referring to the tradition of not wishing a performer luck.

With a cast of nine, 'Sandwiched Light' is a fast moving comedy directed by Susan Storey, a member of the Eastern Michigan University Department of Communication and Theater Arts. Last year, Storey received the Michigan Drama/The-

"This play is about the inhabitants of an old folks' home," Keliher said. "Among other things, 'Sandwiched Light' addresses the validity of miracles, the value of holy water nd whether there's life after death. I've done a bit of writing about aging maybe because I'm slowly doing

SOME OF that writing has included the 'Rose Hill Mutiny,' the story of how a group of town elders train military style to regain control of their small town from the crime ele-

In the 'End of the Trail,' an older man is put in a retirement home, only to escape to adventure in the city. He then tells the media of the horrors and indignities the elderly must endure in so-called retirement residences.

Kehiler received national notoriety including an appearance on television's Tom Snyder Show and numerous death threats after selfpublication of his book, 'New Africa High: a low comedy' back in the mid-

The book is a scathing satire of the state of education in the Detroit Public Schools and the beleaguered educators trying to cope and teach in an environment of violence. Muggings, riots, rapes, shootings, fires ("Eightythree in a three month period at Mackenzie and I'm not talking wastebasket fires") and rampant

"I received my master's and doctorate in education from Wayne State and taught in Detroit for 30 years. Twelve of those years I spent at Detroit Mackenzie, which becam New Africa High in my book. No publisher would touch this work fiction based on the unbelievable but true situation at a Detroit high school. So I published 500 copies myself and sold out by word of mouth, mostly through teachers, in one week. We went back to press and ultimately sold 15,000 copies across the U.S."

Keliher recounted how the Detroit Board of Education was none too pleased with him for speaking out so bluntly about the situation at Mack-

"But they really couldn't do anything because I was tenured,' he said. "But they did transfer me for my own 'safety' three miles away to Detroit Cody where I taught for the next 10 years in much the same situation that existed at Mackenzie."

"I couldn't believe it, the kid's mother said she'd help him do it." he said. "I had received threats before, all teachers do in Detroit, but this kid had a wild look in his eye and I was close to retirement - so I said, 'I'm through; I'm out of here.' "

Needless to say, biographers weren't exactly flocking to do the Johnny Diesel Story.

"The hardest thing I had to go through was this stage where it was play or not play," said Diesel, 23, whose band The Injectors will perform Friday, Oct. 13, at the Ritz in Roseville. "It was actually costing me money to play, having to buy gui-tar strings and all. I used up all my money and credit cards and the debt collectors were banging at my door. "I thought, (heck), what's going

That desperation pours through in the form of pointed hard rock riffs on Diesel's guitar. The stuff that blues music is made of is driven home on Diesel's self-titled debut al-burn on Chrysalis records. "Johnny Diesel and the Injectors" is hailed as one of the best hard rock albums in a while, mainly for what it isn't. The LP isn't overproduced glam rock like many of its Midwestern contemporaries. Non is the group easily cast into the latest and long wave of bands from Australia.

The sound is basic, heads down, pin-your-ears-back rock'n'roll in a gut wrenching shade of blues.

"WE'RE BASICALLY a bluesbased band," said Diesel, who was born in Massachusetts but moved to Australia when he was 5. "People will ask us, 'How blues based are you?' When you see the band, it's more of a blues feel than actually playing blues chops."

Johnny Diesel and Co. can thank producer Terry Manning (ZZ Top and Joe Cocker) for that. Manning rounded up the four members and headed into the studios in Austin, Manning set the tone, letting the Diesel's raw guitar passion and Bernie Bremond's saxophone to blare unfettered. The results have people buzzing.

"Terry Manning is a purist," Diesel said. "He wanted to make an album that sounded like a bunch of guys who unfortunately had to go into the studio because we're very much a live band." The LP has received rave reviews in metal magazines such as Kerrang in Great Britian while also appealing to the hard rock crowd in the United

But for every note of success, Diesel has a symphony of hard luck tales. He left school at 15 (permitted in Australia), playing the grueling pub circuit in the Land of Oz.

Johnny Diesel and the Injectors formed in 1986. The band had little luck in Australia, so Diesel went to England. No luck, though. He mentioned "work" at customs and wasn't allowed to enter the country.

THE U.S. was next on the Diesel travel itinerary. He pumped gas dur-ing the day in New York, taking time off to drop tapes by the record com-

Nearly broke, Diesel received a call from his bandmates. The group was about to open for Angel City on a tour of western Australia. Faster than you can say "kangaroo," on a plane back.

An A&R rep from Chrysalis caught the group's act and signed Diesel and the Injectors.

The group's hard-edge rock'n'roll was too good to pass up. Especially the crew cut axe wielding frontman, whose guitar style has been likened to Keith Richards of the Rolling

Thrill of the chase lingers on

By Corinne Abatt staff writer

HE PLEASURE THAT COLLECTING art has brought to George Brewer of Birmingham led him to smile many times as he walked around Meadow Brook Art Gallery before the show "Contemporary Art from the Collection of Maxine and George Brewer" opened.

He adjusted a piece or two and complimented Kiichi Usui, curator, on the way the show was hung. It wasn't easy Usui commented because the works are so diverse. Still, after deliberation, he found the links and relationships which give this collection a special, provocative flavor.

This show opens with a 3-5 p.m. reception Sunday. Hope Palmer will give a lecture about the collection at 3 p.m. "Chinese Art," gift of Mr. and Mrs. Amitendranth Tagore, is showing in the south gallery simultaneously. Both exhibits will continue through Nov. 19.

Maxine Brewer died in March of 1985. The couple had been married for 18 years and during that time they collected and enjoyed art with a passion. Her presence in the exhibit is strong, not only is she represented by a painting and a sculpture which she herself did, but many of the others bring stories to mind that Brewer tells with great joy. He has also written these remembrances and they are included in the catalog.

He said, "My father was a collector. My first father-in-law was an art dealer, but I consider myself Maxine's student."

HER EYE FOR ART, sometimes operating as swiftly as a single glance, was a great source of inspiration to him. In his reminiscences he remembers asking her what caused those "irresistible urges to buy?" They decided that it wasn't the specific type of art that moved them, such as abstract or op or folk art, but rather a quality which they termed "abbreviated reality."

He wrote, "This does not only cover paintings, but also three dimensional pieces like the animals by Todd Warner and soft sculptures like Wendy Meidner's "Chorus Girls."

Three outstanding examples of this abbreviated reality hang on one wall - "Cave Garden Bay II" by Alex Katz, "The Temptation of Sante Rita" by Fernando Botero and "Plantadores de Bananas" by Brazilian artist d'Janira. While this is an unlikely group of three, it's fascinating to see how each artist has refined the image down to the sparsest details and caught the very essence of Botero's nun, so tightly held in by her clothing, looks like she was inflated with an air pump. Without the tiny sparkle in her eyes behind what appear to be super thick lenses, the small apple over Sante Rita' head wouldn't make any sense at all. Very small in the background, but carrying large impact is the a smoking volcano which could be about the geography, the political situation of Brazil or Santa Rita's heart.

WHEN BREWER WROTE to the artist, and correspondence with the artists has brought particular pleasure, Botero wrote back, "This is one of my best."

They had heard a lecture by Henry Geldzahler, then curator of modern art at the Metropolitan Museum of Art, whom Brewer affectionately calls "my hero." A quote from that lecture became almost a credo for the couple, "When I see a piece of art and it hits me in the guts pleasantly or unpleasantly - so that every detail is engraved forever in my inner eye and when I find on careful study that it is a good work, then I know it's a masterpiece.' Brewer found such a painting hanging "between the checkroom and the washroom of the Museum of Modern Art" and a two-year long chase to find the artist began. At a gallery in Houston, Texas, they bought the painting which Botero later titled, The Temptation of Santa Rita."

On a trip to South America, they found and immediately decided to buy the carved, wooden folk art sculpture of Padre Cicero de Joaceira in a flea market in Rio de Janeiro. Brewer likes to tell the story of how Padre Cicero negotiated the release of a hostage taken by the bandit, La Pierro.

He added with no hesitation, "We always agreed on what to buy, yes, we always agreed."

FBAS HE WATCHED THE IN-STALLATION of the show, he turned the 20-inch high black ceramic church around in the case, so the entrance could be seen better and recalled the story he tells in the reminiscences. They were in Mexico when they saw it and both liked it immediately, he remembers he said, "Too bad we cannot take it home." His wife replied, "George, when I want something, I don't have trouble getting it home."

He has donated several works to Oakland University, one being the Botero painting of Sante Rita. He continues to see and buy art and his interest in local artists is apparent, for there are pieces by Michigan artists Lois Teicher, Richard Doerer and former Cranbrook faculty member Jun Kaneko. Maxine Brewer studied art at Andre L'Hiote atelier in Paris and at the Society of Arts and Crafts (now Center for Creative Studies) troit and served on the board from the late 1940s to the early 70s.

Children's book authors to star at fall luncheon

Two outstanding contributors to children's literature will be the guests for the fall program of the Birmingham Bloomfield Children's Book & Author Society at noon Tuesday, Oct. 24, at Temple Beth El of Bloomfield Township.

The program which always attracts librarians and teachers as well as parents, writers and other professionals in the literary field, features a luncheon, followed by about an hour-long program.

The guests, Gail Gibbons and Robert Kimmel Smith, will sign books and talk informally with guests following their program.

Gibbons writes and illustrates her many "way things work" books - from how libraries are run to the way clocks work. She was a successful TV graphic artist and animator who was suddenly launched as a successful writer/ illustrator of children's books after "Willy and His Wheel Wagon, which explained the new math set theory, was published in 1975.

She went on to write about weather forecasting, skyscrapers, museums, TV production, boats, tools, parakeets, soos, trains, holidays and other subjects. "Sunken Treasure," written in 1988, is about finding the wreck of the Spanish galleon, Atocha, which sunk off Key West in 1622.

Smith begin his writing career creating advertising copy. After 10 years with major agencies, he switched to writing children's books and won immediate acclaim when "Chocolate Fever" was published in 1970. His characters tell their own stories, conveying both the humor and frustration of growing up.

"Jelly Belly" (1981) is about a fifth grader on a diet, a subject with which Smith says he is all too familiar. "The War with Grandpa"(1984) which won 10 national awards, and "Mostly Mi-chael"(1987) are written in a "story for school" form and diary form respectively. His most recent book, Bobby Baseball," was doubtless inspired by Smith's two ambitions when he was a youngster — to write books and to pitch for the Brooklyn Dodgers. He and his wife and two children are ardent base-

Paul and Sue Nine of Bloomfield Hills share an interest in the arts, their aima mater and business.

Bodnant Gardens in northern Wales provided Monte Nagler with the opportunity to capture this miniature landscape on film. This was one of many pictures within the picture that he was able to make.

Small details suggest larger view

Too often photographers try to shoot the broad panoramic view while ignoring landscape details. Within every large landscape are hundreds of smaller ones just waiting to be captured by your camera.

Lily pads shimmering on the surface of a pond, a cluster of fallen leaves or a wave gently lapping the shore — each of these and many more can be just as exciting and picturesque as the more expansive

Any environment contains an inexhaustible supply of fascinating miniature landscape detail.

Other than a keen eye, no elaborate equipment is needed. At times, a set of close-up filters or a macro lens will help to move in close and a tripod should be used to-maximize sharpness and depth-of-field. Seeing "simply" is a good way to begin to photograph miniature landscapes. That is, start to look through the viewfinder and withdraw simple elements from the whole that, in themselves, make exciting, dramatic photographs. In other words, begin to see pictures within the picture.

The view of a majestic mountain across the lake will make a beautiful, overall landscape shot, but don't overlook the miniature landscape produced by the velvety row of moss-draped rocks that coat the water's edge.

The Bodnant Gardens in northern Wales provided me with many sweeping landscape opportunities. Yet isolating only the simple elements of a single water lily as shown in the accompanying photograph, produced a picture that "says it all" about these vast, impressive gar-

Miniature landscapes will give an exceptional perspective to your pic-ture and will emphasize texture and tones you often won't get by shooting the whole.

Remember, you're making photo-graphs, not taking snapshots. Let your miniature landscape be a com-... plete picture in itself while at the same time conveying the flavor and essence of the whole.

Bad day? Drop art work

F THIS day was a painting, I'd throw it We've all had bad days . . . but, of course, it isn't the day that is bad - it's our attitude. Attitude means the angle at which you approach an object. Did you ever wonder, 'Am I the only one or is this a bad day for everybody?" Again a quick look around and you realize that most of your problems are between your

I don't know whether it is the alignment of the planets, blood pressure, or just too many coffees, but some days you can't draw for beans. So what do you do? Quit? Well, sometimes that is the best thing. For the rest of the day just do something else.

Professional artists have an occasional offday, but their technical knowledge usually helps them produce a pretty good piece.

But it is especially frustrating to the non-professional artists when the thing they love to do betrays them. Like a refuted lover, they look at their work then stare at their hands and wonder "How can you do this to me?"

Of course, your art ability isn't in your hands but in your head. By getting away for a few moments you allow your eyes to reapproach the RESTUDY THE SHAPES and colors. If the problem isn't obvious, hold the piece in front of a mirror. If the problem is not instantly reflected back to you, then "the problem" is in you and not the work.

Your attitude can breathe life into a piece of art or choke it to death. Perhaps the problem is the subject you choose or maybe it is the medium. Maybe it is the place you are attempting to work. Perhpas you expect too much too soon. About a year ago I wrote, "that even Louis 'Satchmo' Armstrong, as a child, at some time struggled to toot out on his trumpet, "Twinkle, Twinkle Little Star.' "

Of course, there are many factors that may contribute to an off day. Never permanently stop doing your art regardless. Your art is or will become a visual expression of your inner self, a vehicle for inspiration, and even a ventilation for creative urges. Art is like anything else that you first try. You probably surprised yourself with the success of your first few attempts. In time you expect more of yourself and here is where you can be frustrated but don't be. Because the point of frustration is the point of seeking to learn and the point of learning is the point of growth. Finally, the point of growth is the point of expression through good art.

Art is usually a wonderful escape for people having "one of those days." And an even higher plane for those having a good day. But someday it will happen to you and you'll ask yourself "What am I doing to this poor picture?" So don't get an attitude - just pack your art stuff away

. . tomorrow is another day.

The key of the Beetheven Third Plane Concerts is C minor — the storm and stress key signature for the composer. But the case and style displayed by Dokshinky defied that analogy. Each note was clearly pronounced in all of her runs, arpeggios and trills. The major melodies were transparent to the secondary melody. Her trills were shaded at times to just the tenderest of assects the makes her audience enjoy the muof sounds. She makes her audience enjoy the mu-

Beethoven's Third Piano Concerto is a mix between the classical form and the coming Romantics. Dokshinsky gives the romantic meaning to the music, especially to the second movement, but does so in a classical style. She is the kind of musician who would record well because of her well defined, flowing sound.

Dokshinky has just graduated from the New England Conservatory of Music where she won the Concerto Competition in 1985. She is a child prodigy who soloed with the Israel Philharmonic at 13 with Zubin Mehta. She has won numerous prizes in Italy and in her native Israel.

FROM THE OPENING bars of Berlioz comic opera, "Beatrice et Benedict Overture," the message from the Plymouth Symphony was clear — this was a concert to enjoy. It rang true all the way through. The well-balanced string sections of the orchestra — a rarity in itself when it comes to community orchestras matched the winds in this very directed interpretation by conductor Russell Reed of Berlioz's poetic music

The Plymouth Symphony definitely exerted an ideal interaction with the soloist in the Beethoven. They duoed with her, each of the principals taking a turn with the solo parts. In the Stravinsky "Firebird Suite," the orchestra unleashed the sound it is capable of but reserved, for the appropriate moments, playing with refinement during most of the evening.

Stravinsky ballet "Firebird Suite," the 1919 shortened version of the 1910 ballet, included the essential famous melodies in a satisfying performance. The suite offered the principals in the orchestra a chance to perform the electrifying music to the enjoyment of everyone. Without the visuals of the ballet, this shortened version is preferable.

Reed has unfortunately not included his credentials in the program. His musical leadership of the orchestra is showing markedly in a musical refinement becoming more evident with each performance. We can look forward to the Nov. 10 concert of Sibelius Violin Concerto, the Brahms Symphony No. 4 and the Mendelssohn Ruy Blas Overture.

When Craig and Nancy Lentini first sat down to study the purchase contract to their dream house, an English Tudor they were having built by a developer in Troy, they noticed the contract was too generic.

'We looked at the literature describing the home, and it listed a high-efficiency water heater, but in the purchase contract it just listed a water heater, so we had that changed," said Craig, a marine account manager for Ford Motor Co.

"In fact, all the appliances in the purchase contract were listed as 'dishwasher,' or 'stove,' so we had the contract changed right down to adding the model numbers of the appliances so we knew what we were getting."

The Lentinis bought their first house in Bloomfield Hills in 1982. Four or five years ago they started looking to build their Tudor. When they found the Oak River East subdivison, they started looking at the houses offered by the six builders working in the subdivision before signing a contract with Bing Master Bildor in January of 1988. They moved into their $300,000-plus house in August of the same year.

In looking back at their first building experience, Nancy, a product planner for Chevrolet, said her only regret was not talking more to neighbors.

"In building a house, there's so many opportunities to spend money that you have to be very careful," she said. "We found introducing ourselves to people on our street saved us a lot of time in shopping around."

The introductions also paid off economically. Taking a tip from a neighbor, the Lentinis found a nearby store that offered a wide selection of interior and exterior lighting fixtures. By shopping for lights on their own, they were able to save $2,000 as compared to the builder's

"If you're handy, you're able to save a lot of money," Craid added. Every home here requires a sprinkler system for the lawn, and the builder wanted $2,000 to put it in. By doing it myself, it only cost $1,000.

Landscaping was the same story. The Lentinis learned a couple down self, it really pays off," Craig said. "And the money you save on im-provements to the home makes it appreciate that much quicker."

The Lentinis also recommended first-time builders double check all estimates and inspect the builder's progress on a day-to-day basis. For instance, a salesman underestimated the couple's tax assessment by $3,000. In another case, the circular stairway leading to the second floor was uneven and had to be removed.

But aside from all the problems and the countless decisions, the Lentinis said their house is exactly tailored to their aspirations and li-

When you hire an architect, you're asking him or her to give form to your dream by developing a design that fits your needs, your lifestyle and your budget.

To find the architect who's right for you, be prepared to do your homework, says Chicago architect Margaret I. McCurry. Check with friends or relatives who have worked with architects. Drive the area in which your

Building demands attention to detail

When Meadow Brook Hall was first built by Matilda Dodge Wilson and her husband Alfred in 1929. no expense was spared on the Tiffany and Waterford light fixtures, the hand-carved plaster ceilings and the pewabic tile bathrooms that make up the Rochester Hills estate. The 100-room "dream home" took more than three years to build and $4 million to complete.

While nearly everyone shares the fantasy of living in beautiful surroundings, only a few can afford the splendor of Meadow Brook Hall. "Most people find that their dreams are bigger than their pocketbooks," said Gunnar Birkerts, president of Gunnar Birkerts & Associates, an architectural firm in Birmingham. "But once people balance reality with their dreams, they usually find they can afford a custom-built home, and one that fits their lifestyle

The first step toward building your dream home is to determine a location.

"Find out what community offers the best amenities for your family," said James Bonadeo, president of the Southeastern Michigan Home Builder's Assocation who owns a Plymouth building company. "Is there shopping close by? Where do you want your children to go to school? Is there a recycling program? Once that's settled, the next step is to decide what kind of house you want.

Jack Saylor, president of Saylor Building Co. in Troy, looks at location in terms of property values.

While an inexpensive piece of property may be appealing, in the long run, it may not increase in value as fast as a home located in a thriving neighborhood. It also pays to know if a technology park or large commercial building will be located next door some day. That could serve to appreciate or depreciate property values, so it pays to ask ques-

First-time builders should also be prepared to deal with zoning laws. Many communities have strict codes in force concerning building specifica-tions and layouts. In the Indian Mound area of Bloomfield Township, for instance, zoning laws specify that garages must be attached to the home and accessible from the rear.

To determine whether your dream house will meet community requirements, talk with city building officials and owners of custom-built homes in the area in which you want to live. Local real estate agents, builders and architects also have information about available land, market prices, mortgage financing, insurance, real estate taxes, permit fees and landscaping.

IN SEARCHING for available property, a great deal of time can be saved by consulting a local real estate agent, said Steve S. Cole, associate broker of RE/MAX Professionals II in Troy.

"Oftentimes a real estate office will have computers which can locate property quickly and provide all the necessary information concerning price, ownership and zoning laws particular to that area." (There may be a small fee for this service.) The next step is to match your dreams with the needs of your family. For instance, how many bedrooms will you need? Do you plan on entertaining? If so, does your house need a deck or patio? Do you require any special rooms such as an artist studio, music room or mother-in-law suite? How much garage space do you need?

To put a price tag on your dream, a local architect or builder will often provide a range of current square-foot costs of houses in a particular area. Saylor said that the square-foot cost for a home car. range from $50 to $100.

BY THIS TIME, people may believe planning for a dream home will prove to be too time-consuming, Saylor said. "Not that many people set out to build their dream home from scratch. People either have a strong passion for designing and overseeing the building of their dream home or a great deal of time on their hands. What we find most people do is select a developer who fits their style and then tailor a choice of available models to their exact

But while your dream home may often cost more than an older home of comparable size or a new house built by a developer according to a set plan, an exceptional custom-built house - often designed for energy savings and flexibility of living spaces — can command a higher resale value than other alternatives.

And beyond economics, a dream home is also tailored to the owner's special requirements, aspirations and lifestyle.

"Really a dream home has to be designed to make the family feel good about themselves and about the world in which they live," said Bill Finnicum, president of Finnicum, Brownlie Architects in Franklin. "The future owners have to ask themselves what does the house need to evoke in the way of emotions, even down to their sense of humor.'

Just as your bank or mortgage company will investigate your finances, so should you check into your builder's.

"You're the buyer and you want to be secure in your heart that you will be pleased with the final roduct," Bonadeo said. "By all means, ask the builder or architect for the name of their bank and do as much background checking as you can. Building a home is the biggest deal most people ever become involved in, so make sure everything is on the level."

The next step is to maintain an open dialogue with the various parties involved and to check progress on a regular basis.

"The most important thing is empathy on both sides," said Birkerts. "Designing or building a home is a very private and personal matter. The architect or builder literally becomes a member of the family. It's your lifestyle and your image which you will live with the for the rest of your life, so it's nearly important to always convenients." very important to always commun

Eyestrain tops listing of office worker gripes

Office workers place a great deal of importance on the physical office environment to facilitate their pro-

In a survey conducted by Louis Harris and Associates for Steelcase Inc., nearly seven in 10 (60 percent) claim it is "very important" to have the right kind of physical office environment" to enable them "to do as much work as they reasonably can."

This appears to be especially true for workers in technical jobs (77 percent claim it is very important). The proper environment is also important to union members (76 percent), government workers (73 percent) nd workers who have not attended college and earn $35,000 or less per year (74 percent).

But only 60 percent of top executives and 58 percent of facilities managers think their office workers would say the physical environment is important.

The survey revealed that eye strain tops the list of office hazards with 44 percent of the respondents listing this is a "very" or "somewhat serious" problem.

Top executives (36 percent) and facilities managers (40 percent) do not think workers believe eyestrain is a much of a problem as the workers report. In contrast, contract interior designers (86 percent) think it's a much greater problem.

THESE THREE groups are also not in synch with office workers on other possible office hazards. All three groups report that workers are more wary of air quality, hazardous material exposure (such as asbestos), and AIDS exposure at work than workers themselves indicate.

Of those 27 percent of office workers who report air quality a "very" or "somewhat serious" problem, 44 percent attribute it to "poor circulation/stale air," 27 percent to "tobacco smoke," and 17 percent to "toxic

More than a quarter (27 percent) of office workers are concerned about radiation from video display terminals. "Neither top management (22 percent) nor facilities managers (18 percent) sense this concern to the same extent as their employ-ees. Contract interior designers (41 percent) indicate they believe work-ers are more concerned about this issue than workers themselves report," the survey said.

The preference for private office has declined since the last survey in 1988. This year, 61 percent of office workers state a preference for private space, while last year 65 percent preferred such space. But the desire for an open space with others increased over the same time span from 11 to 14 percent.

Of the different job types, workers in secretarial/clerical positions (42 percent) and technical positions (53 percent), report a lower

design in the next five years

Of those office workers now occupying a partitioned space vs. open space shared with others, only half 59ace snared with uthurn, very man (50 percent) prefer a private office (down from 55 percent in 1988). Of workers currently in an open space, 30 percent would prefer a private

AS THEY DID in previous years, facilities managers report that par-titioned office space is the most common form of office environment in their organization. According to their estimates, office employees occupy a median of 50 percent parti-tioned space, up slightly from 48 percent in 1988.

Contract interior designers report the median percentage of facilities designed in the past year at 52 per-cent for partitioned space. Neither of these groups anticipates any change in type of space to be occupied in five years.

"It is important to note that both groups work primarily with larger organizations," the study said.

Almost one-third of office workers

(32 percent) who work at organizations of varying sizes, report they oc-cupy partitioned space, which is reported more frequently by office workers in very large organizations (40 percent) and among heavy computer users (45 percent). More than one-third of office workers (38 percent) report occupying private

Looking to the future, telecommunications and computer needs are expected to have a great deal of impact on facilities design in the next five years, according to 87 percent of contract interior designers, 77 percent of top executives, and 75 percent of facilities managers.

IN TERMS OF ASSET management, senior managers may not be aware of how much responsibility facilities managers shoulder. Almost three-fourths (70 percent) of facilities managers claim they have "a great deal" or "some" control over office automation installation, but only 47 percent of top executives be-

And 66 percent of facilities managers say they have control over telecommunications services and equipment," while only 57 percent of top executives believe this is true.

"These discrepancies may result from 'responsibility by default,' " the survey said. "For example, a data processing department may focus on mainframe computers only, leaving the job of PC networking to facilities managers. Top executives may well believe their data processing department assumes all responsibility for this function.

"Similarly, telecommunications where facilities managers must exercisé additional responsibility possibly unknown to top management.'

The Steelcase survey reports that of workers currently in an open space, 30 percent would prefer a private office.

House doesn't "suddenly appear"

By Nora Richter Green special writer

You've selected architect, design, builder and location. Now what? "Don't expect your dream house to suddenly appear," said Don Lutes, an Oregon architect. "Most people who build houses do so once in a lifetime. All their inspirations have to be fulfilled in this one project. That requires an ongoing dialogue between architect and homeowner."

That dialogue will determine the success of your project. It's important to communicate effectively with your architect, from the initial sketches of your dream house to your choice of interior finishes.

First, sit down with the architect and discuss exactly what services will be needed. Basic services include sketches and construction docurnents but can also include supplemental services - landscape and interior design, for example. The services you and the architect agree upon will serve as the basis of the owner-architect agreement, the formal contract that spells out what both of you expect from the professional relationship.

STANDARD CONTRACT-forms listing architectural services are available through the American Institute of Architects (AIA). Make sure you understand all items listed in the agreement. The design process usually begins when the architect develops preliminary sketches of the interior and exterior of your dream house based on conversations about your needs and aspirations. From these free-hand drawings, you and the architect can discuss the design elements that work best for you. Is the porch large enough for entertaining? Should the master bedroom be closer to the stairs? Do you need an additional entrance to the kitchen from outside?

It is important you pay close attention to every detail. Once you've approved the design concept, the architect will use the sketches to prepare detailed construction documents the contractors will use to build dream house.

The contractor is usually hired once you've selected an architect. Some homeowners choose their own contractors; the architect often recommends contractors who have provided good service in the past. In either case, check references and inspect the contractors' current projects. By doing so, you'll be able to judge the quality of their workmanship from the laying of the founda-tion to the installation of interior moldings.

Meanwhile, you and the architect will be choosing interior finishes for your house. The finishes on all surfaces of the house need to be selected - from kitchen counters to bathroom floors to living room walls.

It's your business to be involved in each phase of the project. Design and budget decisions will have to be made jointly to keep the project on track. A key to success, Lutes said, is a strong working relationship.

Shaping the dream

Get a list of architects from the American Institute of Architects. The Detroit chapter is beaded by Raw Dumke who can be reached at 965-4100. Ask for information about recent architectural design award winners in your area and set up appointments with architects to see photographs of their work.

McCurry also suggests home-buyers read architecture and home fashion magazines such as HOME and Architectural Digest, and architecture trade magazines such as AR-CHITECTURE, Architectural Record and Progressive Architecture. These publications will not only help you identify architects whose work you like, but will help refine your understanding of current architectural styles.

ONCE YOU HAVE chosen the top firms on your list (usually three to five), begin the formal interviews. Describe your dream to the architect. What does he or she see as the most important issues or considera-

Don't ask for free draw ognize that the architect is a pr sional who requires time and effort to develop sketches that adequately express your ideas.

Ask about compensation. Does th architecture firm want to be paid a percentage of construction costs? Or will payment be based on an hourly rate? Or are there other options? Get an estimate of anticipated total hours required to design and administer construction of your dream

Designing your dream house is a process that requires hundreds of decisions. To make it rewarding, take the time to find an architect you feel comfortable with, one who inspires confidence and generates excitement about the project.

Once you've done that, you've al-ready laid the foundation on which your dream will be built.
