Candidates sue city for pulling signs

By Kevin Brown staff writer

A flap between the city of Plymouth and two city commission candidates over political signs has landed in Wayne County Circuit

John Vos III and Jerry Vorva. two of seven candidates vying for four seats on the commission in the Nov. 7 election, filed a suit Monday asking for a restraining order to stop the city from removing political signs placed on the grass between sidewalks and streets.

Circuit Judge John Gillis Jr. granted the request.

Vos, a Plymouth attorney, estimated that about 20 of his signs were confiscated.

"I think they only got a few of mine," added Vorva, a former city policeman.

Both said the city ordinance allowing placement of campaign signs is unclear.

"They even say one per residen-tial area," sai! Vorva, adding it's not clear whether this means one per yard or per block.

Vos said he talked to Ken Vogress, superintendent of public works, on Sunday asking him not to remove the signs until Vos could meet with city officials on Monday.

However, the signs were removed before the meeting was held, and Vos filed the suit.

"All signs that have been taken from any city property (the area between sidewalk and curb considered public easements dedicated to the city) will be returned to the candidates," Mayor Dennis Bila

In past years in Plymouth, few campaign signs were displayed during commission or state and federal elections.

But the number of political signs has grown in recent years, sparking the creation of an ordinance to regulate them. The ordinance was passed in March by the city com-

"What has arisen now is what a 'dedicated public easement' is," said city attorney Ron Lowe, quoting from the city ordinance regulating sign placement.

Two Plymouth City Commission candidates filed suit Monday in Wayne County Circuit Court to stop the city from removing campaign signs between sidewalks and streets.

Lowe said the city sought to keep political signs out of the areas between sidewalks and streets so they would not be an obstruction along roadways.

The city attorney said he would try to present a researched legal opinion on the matter to commissioners before election day.

Besides Vos and Vorva, other candidates for four seats on the commission are challengers Jean Morrow and Gregory Green, and incumbents Robert Jones, Jack Kenyon and James Jabara.

Commissioner David Pugh, named to the government body following the resignation of Karl Gansler, is not seeking election to the commission.

Area residents await news of quake victims

While friends and relatives in Michigan knew immediately of the devastation caused by Tuesday's earthquake, San Francisco-area residents and visitors said they had no initial idea of its severity.

"You probably knew more about it than we did," said Mike Regulski, a former Livonia resident who now makes his home near the Golden Gate Bridge. "Everything here was

The force "felt like someone was grabbing you by the lapels and shaking you violently," according to Regulski, who was in downtown San Francisco when the quake hit.

"AT FIRST, it felt like another earthquake we had about two months ago," he said. "But when we saw the lights out downtown, we knew it was more serious."

People gathered on front porches, huddled around portable battery-operated television sets, Regulski said. "That's how we found out.

The quake interrupted telephone transmission throughout northern California, making for anxious moments in several area households.

Sheridan's mother-in-law, Sylvia Kozorosky-Wiacek of Westland, used a borrowed telephone to tell her husband that she, the ballplayer, his wife, Melanie, and the couple's young daughter were safe.

Ironically, Sheridan was to have made his first 1989 World Series appearance in Tuesday's game, which had yet to be rescheduled as of dead-

Vernier, who pleaded innocent, was released on $5,000 personal bond. His preliminary examination was set for 9 a.m. Nov. 17 before District Judge John MacDonald. Negligent homicide is punishable by up to two years in prison.

Witnesses said Valicento, in a 1988 Crown Victoria LTD, was traveling east at 45 to 50 m.p.h. on North Territorial when the accident occurred at was southbound on Ridge.

Vernier, a senior at Redford Catholic Central High School, told police he stopped at the stop sign, then proceeded into the intersection after looking both east and west.

The vehicles collided, causing the LTD to rollover. Valicento was pronounced dead at the scene and transported to the Wayne County Medical Examiners Office. Vernier was uninjured.

THE CITY'S planning consultants recommended approving the schools' proposal, if certain revisions were made.

The consultants suggested lowering the building height, proposed at 37 feet to the roof peak. The maximum height, under the zoning ordinance, is 25 feet, the height of the existing schools' office.

Among other suggestions by the planning consultants was providing more screening from neighboring property along the south and west property lines.

The schools' administration has proposed adding a 5,100-square foot addition to the existing 10,200square foot building.

While at least 57 spaces are required under the ordinance, school officials proposed 73 spaces.

THE PLANNED two-story addition would house a board room 50 percent larger than the existing meeting room, as well as offices for the superintendent and associate superintendent, an elevator and a lob-

Police ticketed a 19-year-old Livenia man for reckless driving after he apparently abandoned his car on railroad tracks early Satur-day in Plymouth.

After city police were alerted that the car was sitting unoccupied on the tracks crossing Roo Street, a Plymouth Township patrol sergeant was called to the scene, as city patrols were occupied.

At 1:16 a.m., the sergeant approached the car, as did the driver, the township police report said. When the sergeant noticed smoke coming from the hood, he opened it and spotted flames.

The sergeant called CSX Rail-road to explain the situation, and got an extinguisher from his patrol car as Plymouth Police arrived.

The car was soon removed, and the driver ticketed, police said.

NO REFUND: A Plymouth Township man is seeking assault charges against a former roommate who he said pushed him, causing him to strike his head against a wall.

The victim, 20, said the former roommate, 19 and now of Canton, returned to the apartment on Risman Drive at 1:30 p.m. Saturday to collect $50 in refunded rent.

The victim told police he and his wife told the man to leave in September after he punched a hole in the apartment wall.

Upon returning to the apartment, the victim told the former roommate he wasn't going to get his money back, because he had allegedly taken a $30 book belonging

TOOK HIS PANTS: While many folks enjoyed the balmy weekend weather, warm temperatures played a part in a theft Saturday from an 80-year-old Plymouth Township man's house. The man told police he had hung his pants, containing a wallet with $300, over a chair near the front door of his house on Northern. He left the door open because it was warm, he told township police.

At 10 p.m., the man and his wife heard a noise at the front door. The next morning, they found the pants and wallet gone, he told police.

ATTEMPTED THEFT: Township Police reported the attempted theft early Sunday of a car parked on Oakcliff, as the owner discovered a passenger's door lock was punched out and the steering column broken.

Damage was estimated at $400. the report said.

Police departments have been g the way they release the ditails of crimes, prompting new disputes under the state's Freedom of Information law.

Several area departments no longet allow visitors to scan police logs the complete list of police calls in a given day - or view complete reports of specific incidents.

Reporters are shown a "media bpok" containing edited reports of selected crimes that lack such details as the names and addresses of arrested crime suspects.

The tug-of-war over police reports

"I CAN'T think of a public agency that wouldn't want to conduct its business away from public scrutiny," said Rebecca Daugherty, who researches national freedom of information issues for the Reporters Committee on Freedom of the Press in Washington D.C.

What is new is that disputes are rising 13 years after the state's

Preedom of Information Act appeared to provide a definitive guide for the release of crime

In many communities, reporters and other visitors don't gain access to police reports unless they ask for the report by its department code number. Withholding access to po-lice logs, reporters say, prevents them from knowing a report even

Edited reports make reporters 'second-class citizens" if unedited originals are issued to attorneys or insurance investigators - two other groups whose members routinely view police records - said veteran reporter Tim Richard. Richard is news service director for Suburban Comunications Corp., the parent company of the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, and the company's expert on Freedom of Information

While all visitors can file Freedom of Information reports on the spot, Richard said, there's no guarantee the request would force police to release the information.

Daugherty said the issue involves

THAT POINT was made recently in Livonia, when a group of Clarenceville School District parents demanded police alert the media that a convicted child molester had been detained by police after loitering near a local elementary school.

John Wark, chairman of the Michigan FOI Committee and an investigative reporter at the Detroit News, agreed there is more at stake than reporters' rights.

"How far does it go?" he said. 'What if I'm a family member or the person charged with the crime. Can they deny me access, too?" Police, however, say they are both abiding by the Freedom of Information Act and protecting public inter-

In an Aug. 10 letter to Santomauro, township attorney Timothy Cronin wrote: "information . . . released in violation to one of the exemptions to the Freedom of Information Act . . could result in liability to the township."

Cronin declined comment on the letter or whether it represented the general policy of his law firm, Nora, Hemming, Essad & Polaczyk. Another of the firm's clients, Northville Township, recently began issuing edited police reports to reporters.

Tougher ACT test stresses math, reading

By C. L. Rugenstein

Bad news for high school students the ACT test just got harder.

About 1 million to 2 million students in the U.S. annually take the ACT (American College Testing) exam that measures what they've learned and predicts how they'll succeed in college. And although the test is voluntary — students pay a fee to take it — the test scores are sequired for admission to most Michigan colleges.

The Enhanced ACT now stresses neading comprehension over content, has expanded it's math section and diminated the social science section, according to local educator Anita Marcus. The changes can be for the fletter, or not so good depending on the student, said Marcus, who pri-vately tutors students for the tests.

"If a student is real good in reading and verbal skills, the (enhanced) exam will help," she said. "But it will really hurt kids who have a problem with reading skills."

The main change is in the math section Marcus pointed out. "It changed dramatically, got harder," she said.

were added to the former 40 of the old ACT. Questions about trigonometry and pre-calculus are included in the new section.

"It will hurt kids who haven't tak-en advanced math," Marcus said.

On the other hand, they'll have a good "shot at the (revised) science section without knowing a lot about science," she added.

Each science problem will be a description of an experiment, which students will have to analyze to come up with conclusions.

A lot of graphs will be used. Actual factual questions and multipleguess questions are gone. The English test remains the same, but the social science test has become a reading comprehension section now with segments about Eskimos, fine arts, and battered women/victims.

"People with a general knowledge of graphing, logic skills, and deductive reasoning will probably do well," Marcus predicted.

WHEN ASKED why the test was changed Marcus replied: "That's an interesting question. I sat (at an ACT conference in Trayerse City last March) for three days and nobody gave a satisfactory answer."

She suggested that perhaps the ACT organization is "trying to make a push to become more nationally accepted," to have more stature where colleges are concerned. The SAT (Scholastic Aptitude Test) has been "the big exam in the past, especially at eastern colleges," Marcus

The basic difference between the two is that the ACT measures what a student has learned, while the SAT tests the ability to use that knowledge Marcus explained.

The SAT test is strictly a college admissions test," said Jack Reese, director of assessment services for the Midwest American College Test-FOR ONE thing, 20 questions ing program which developed and retooled the test.

Unlike the SAT, the ACT was designed to have "multiple uses,"

It was designed in 1958 by E. F. Lindquist, a well-known developer of testing materials, to be used for placement in classes, advising purposes and making career decisions as well as for college admission, said

"We re developing a whole new system," Reese said, "beginning with an eighth grade assessment test. The test will have English, math, reading and science sections, plus a career component with an interest invento-

The purpose, Reese said, is to try to link career and curriculum planning at an earlier age.

"A lot of kids have an idea where they want to go, but don't know how to get there," he said. But Marcus questioned the wisdom of giving a test like the ACT to eighth graders. "What happened to growing up naturally? This is too quick," she wrote on one page of her ACT conference materials.

In the educational system, people develop at different times, Marcus pointed out.

To state Rep. Gerald Law, dogrighting in a dirty, big business, com-bining the evils of drugs, gambling and cruelty. The Plymouth Republi-can says the way to stop it is tougher and more creative punishment.

To state Rep. Tom Power, Law's plan is too punitive. "A four year folplan is too punitive. "A four-year felony for being present (at a dog fight)? Guilt by association! Jeez! This thing is so hokey I don't even want to bother with it," said the Traverse City Republican.

With that and a few other expletives, Power walked out of the fourth-floor State Capitol room Tuesday as members of the House Judiciary Committee debated Law's House Bill 4909.

Judiciary chairman Perry Bullard, D-Ann Arbor, wouldn't take a final vote. He ordered the bill rewritten to provide staggered penalties for repeat violators. 'Looks like we've got a re-draft for penalties for audiences."

SUPPORTED BY the Michigan Humane Society, Law's bill 'would amend the penal code providing for fines of up to $100,000 (20 times the current level) and up to 1,500 hours of community service to avoid over-

The bill also would punish trainers, manufacturers of training devices, publishers of dog fighting newsletters, breeders and viewers of dogfights. State law already prohibits dogfights, cockfights and bear-

"If you don't have the audience, you don't have the business," said Eileen M. Liska, director of research and legislation for the Michigan Humane Society.

This is more prevalent than most people realize. This state is part of the Great Lakes circuit. Many in the audience also breed (fighting) dogs," she said in defense of the harsh lined how the business works.

"There are two types of dog fights: unorganized, usually in basements in Detroit; and organized, in more remote areas of the state.

She declined to say where organized dogfighting occurs. "I shouldn't tell you where. We've got investigations going on.

"It's continuing to grow. They (owners) rarely go to jail. They get small fines and go out and do it

Breeders keep the "gamest" puppies, usually euthanizing the rest. But sometimes the other puppies are sold to people who use them as guard dogs for crack houses:

Wagers run into the "tens of thousands of dollars," she said.

As for Power's complaint that fines for rape are lower than Law's proposed fines for dog fighting, Liska said, "That's the fault with the low-up to 1988's vicious animal law.

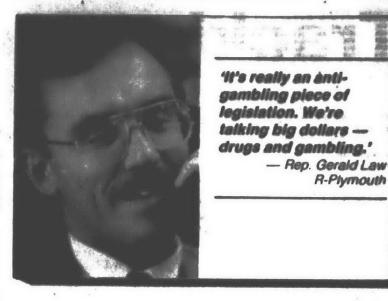

"It's really an anti-gambling piece of legislation. We're talking hig dol-lars — drugs and gambling. It's not easy to catch these people. It takes a year or two of investigation," he

Law's bill survived two attempts to cut the punishments in half, but Power convinced Bullard that there should be a scale of fines rather than a big fine for the first offense.

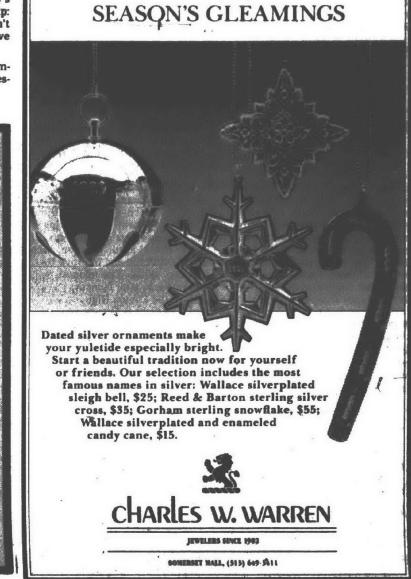

Law held out for the big fines. "The bill says 'up to. . .' They (judges) can go up to $100,000 if it's a multiple situation. The first fine may be only a few thousand."

Barely half the 19-member Judiciary Committee attended Tuesday's meeting, leading Bullard to quip:
"There are some people I haven't seen for several meetings, but I've forgotten who they are."

Scheduled House Judiciary Committee meetings are at 10 a.m. Tues-

Bill seeks parental consent for abortion

Cirls under age 17 will be more careful about getting pregnant if they have to get the parents' permis-sion for an abortion. That, at least, is

The point of the bill is that a minor won't make a decision alone," said Sen. Fred Dillingham, R-Fowlerville, chairman of the Senate Human Resources Committee which could be debated on the Senate floor as early as Wednesday.

Tuesday gave the bill 4-1 approval.

Dillingham said Senate Bill 513

Sen. R. Robert Geake, R-Northville, a supporter, predicted 30 of the 38 state senators would vote yes, but it will probably go to Perry Bullard's committee (House Judiciary) and be killed there."

RIGHT TO LIFE president Barbara Listing and the state Department of Social Services were on opposite sides of the bill, but agreed on one thing:

About 6,000 girls under 17 received abortions in 1986 and would have to ask their parents' consent if the bill becomes law.

Listing said experience in states with parental consent laws indicates about 25 percent will refuse - resulting in 1,500 fewer abortions. But later the teen pregnancy rate dropped, she said.

DSS opposed the bill, forecasting a 28 percent drop in the number of abortions for minors, a 28 percent

The bill would not apply to intrauterine devices or the "morning af-ter" birth control bill. Listing said those are hirth control, not abortion, DISSENTER ON the committee was Sen. John Cherry, D-Clio.

"I'd like to be informed of medical procedures my children undergo," he said. "I feel I have some parental responsibility, and that includes finan-

Cherry offered an amendment to make parents who refuse to consent to a girl's abortion responsible for pre-natal care and support of the child to age 18. The amendment died for lack of support.

"It boggles my mind that a victim of incest has to seek the consent of the perpetrator," Cherry went on.

But the sponsor, Sen. Jack Welborn, D-Kalamazoo, replied the bill allows a minor to get a state-paid attorney to seek a waiver of consent in the juvenile division of any probate court in the state. The probate judge would have to rule within 48 hours. The hearing would be closed.

'This will improve the status of incest victims," Welborn said. "Currently they can receive a 'secret' abortion. But if the minor went to court, the incest would be brought to

Cherry doubted that. "The child would have turned them into authorities prior to that," he said. "I don't rise in births and heavy increases in think it (the bill) is fair to victims of

3 out of 4 school asbestos plan

AP - Only one out of every four lichigan schools has an adequate Michigan schools has an adequate plan for handling asbestos more than three months after a federal deadline for implementing the plans, a state official said.

All but 179 of Michigan's 5,472 school buildings have submitted plans, Bill DeLiefde, asbestos coordinator for the Michigan Department of Public Health, said Mon-

Right now, we have approved about 25 percent of the plans that have been submitted," he said.

The remaining 75 percent have been rejected for failure to follow federal regulations regarding removal of the substance, widely used in schools until it was linked to gastrointestinal cancers, lung cancer and other lung disorders.

FEDERAL LAW originally required schools to submit plans for managing asbestos by Oct. 12, 1988, but Congress later granted schools an extension until May 9. Federal legislation required schools to begin implementing the plans by July 1.

Only one out of every four Michigan schools has an adequate plan for handling asbestos more than three months after a federal deadline for implementing the plans.'

- State official

The plans must identify where the asbestos is and detail how it will be maintained or removed.

"A lot of people are under the impression the law requires removal of asbestos. That's not the case. The intent is for them to identify it so they can manage it effectively," DeLiefde said.

Asbestos was widely used in schools for such things as floor tiles, glues, suspended ceiling tiles, pipe insulation and fire door cores.

Asbestos that is friable, or made up of fibers that crumble easily and can become airborne, is the most dangerous, DeLiefde said.

PLANS FOR managing asbestos can include periodic inspections, encapsulation and complete removal, he said.

Many of the rejected plans failed to cover all the asbestos in the facilities, spelled out inadequate maintenance plans or failed to include training for personnel designed to run the programs, De-Liefde said.

He blamed the widespread errors on the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's failure to provide more guidance and educational material to schools on how to Schools have up to 90 days after a plan is rejected to resubmit it, he said. Schools usually began imple-menting their plans before the July ne even without approval

BUT DESPITE the inadequ of the schools' plans, relatively few school children face a health risk, he said

"Probably the people most at risk is the maintenance people," he DeLiefde has no estimates of the cost of removing or making the asbestos safe, but it is far more than the $47.5 million the federal government makes in grants each year to help poor schools cope with the problem, he said. Michigan receives $1.5 million.

MEANWHILE, Rep. Joe Young Jr., D-Detroit, has asked the House to establish a special committee to study the asbestos problem in

Sale planned to benefit historic school

Almost 130 years ago, Newburg School opened its doors to its first class of students.

Today, the one-room schoolhouse in Livonia is being refurbished for a new generation of students more familiar with television and personal computers than with history.

To help furnish the building, the third Big Top sale is scheduled from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 28, at Bentley Center, Hubbard at Five Mile, west of Merri-

"This sale started off as part of Michigan's Sesquicentennial celebration in 1987," said Jay Young, chairman of the Newburg School Committee. "So far, we've raised more than $14,000 to renovate the school.

DOZENS OF crafters, vendors and flea market salespeople will set up shop and sell their creations in the former high school building. now being used as an community education center.

Admission is $1, with children younger than 12 admitted free. Food and refreshments will be sold during the show.

All money raised will be used to buy classroom items for the historic school, which opened in 1861 and closed in 1923.

The state and city have provided the majority of the renovation money for the school, now located at Greenmead Historical Village at Eight Mile and Newburgh roads.

Larry O'Connor

O&E staff honored in national contests

In the recent Suburban Newspaper Association contest, Suburban Life editor Sue Mason and reporter Larry O'Connor won third place for indepth reporting on last November's referendum vote on state-funded abortions, as seen through the eyes of local people involved in both sides of the campaign.

SNA solicits entries from suburban newspapers throughout the United States and Canada.

Mason, 38, edits the Livonia, Redford, Westland and Garden City Suburban Life sections. She also coordinates the Street Scene section that appears Mondays in all editions of the Observer & Eccentric.

A graduate of Wayne State University, she has worked at the O&E for four years. She lives in Westland.

O'Connor, 27, is a four-year employee of the O&E. He has worked on the Suburban Life staff for three years. He also writes and coordinates a music page in Street Scene. He is a graduate of Eastern Michigan University and lives in Wayne.

TWO OTHER O&E newspapers have taken two general excellence awards in the weekly newspaper division from the National Newspaper Association.

The Farmington Observer has won second place for general excellence for weekly papers over 10,000 circulation, and the West Bloomfield Eccentric third place for newspapers in 3,000-5,999 circulation published during 1988.

Bob Sklar is editor of the Farmington Observer. Reporters are Casey Hans and Joanne Maliszewski. Randy Borst is photographer and Loraine McClish edits the Suburban Life section.

Judith Berne was editor of the West Bloomfield Eccentric during the contest period. Reporters were Carolyn DeMarco and Jeff Counts. Photography was by Dan Dean. Rebecca Haynes edits the Suburban Life section.

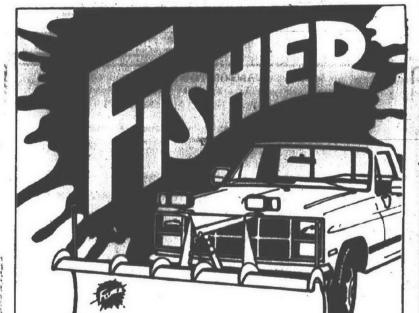

General excellence measures all facets of the newspaper, with heavy emphasis on its news content.

IN THE SAME contest, the Southfield Eccentric has won third place awards for its editorial page and its lifestyle pages for weeklies over 5,000 circulation. Sandra Armbruster is editor of the Southfield Eccentric; Shirley Rose Iden edits the Suburban Life section.

Corinne Abatt, editor of the Creative Living section, took a secondplace award in competition with all weeklies for best review.

Feds correct drop out rate for Michigan

AP - The U.S. Department of Education has agreed to revise a report that said only 62.4 percent of Michi-gan high school students graduate, ranking the state 48th in the country.

James Phelps, associate superintendent of the Michigan Department of Education, said Tuesday that federal officials agreed errors were made in the original calculation and the correct graduation rate should be 74 percent.

That would rank Michigan 25th in the nation for the 1986-87 school

"It was never our position they were going to be good numbers. They went from terrible numbers to not-so-good numbers," Phelps said.

State officials still are dissatisfied with the numbers of students who leave school early, Phelps said.

The state had challenged the dropout rate reported for Michigan in the federal government's 1989 Annual State Education Performance Chart.

Phelps said the first rate was figured using an estimate of 100,000 graduates for 1986-87, rather than the actual figure of 102,725.

State officials who reported the information to the federal government also had erroneously included 22,701 adult students in the total enrollment figure and that made the graduate rate appear worse than it was,

Hearing set on health care for veterans

A public hearing on health care services for Wayne County veterans will be 12:30-3:30 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 22, at VFW Post 345, Redford.

Veterans and their relatives are invited to comment on the federal government's new category system.

The category system, implemented in January, has proved controversial with some veterans claiming it denies them health care.

Health care professionals will also offer testimony. The hearing chairwoman is Wayne County Commis-sioner Kay Beard, D-Inkster, head of the commission's special committee on veterans services.

Class size

Schools should reduce them

Plymouth-Canton schools is more complicated than just hiring more teachers. The remedy involves a combination of firing more teachers and building more classrooms. Both are costly. Class size is a problem because a school district can't predict where the new kids are going to come from. In the word of one school official:

"Kids don't come in neat packages." That means that one grade school can be overcrowded one year with an influx of new kids but not have enough students a few years later. To predict where kids are going to be is impos-

While we can see the difficulty of predicting where kids will be, we still think that lowering the size of classes, especially in elementary schools, is a worthwhile goal for the district.

PRINCIPALS IN the school district say they worry most about the children in kindergarten through the second grade. They say older students can better cope with larger classes.

To us. Annette Remsburg summed up the issue best when she told the school board at a recent meeting: "We just encourage you to look into resources that could be used. We have to remember this is at the very core of quality education. It's worth striving for and achieving as soon as pos-

Remsburg is co-chair of CREW, the Committee Researching Educational Workings. The group recently made recommendations on class size in the school district.

lowering class sizes this year. Voter approval of RINGING DOWN THE class size in the a millage increase and a renewal has allowed the district to hire 20 more teachers. That has helped bring down class sizes in all the district's schools.

That's good. However, when the school district was trying to persuade voters to approve the millage, it promised to hire 24 more teachers. We think the district should keep that promise and hire four more teachers.

HIRING TEACHERS isn't the only remedy. There's also the issue of housing students. And that translates into building more school rooms or redistricting.

Adding classrooms means the district must go to the public with a bond issue proposal to raise money for construction.

But building classrooms takes time, and solutions are needed now.

Another way to ease overcrowding is to redistrict students. However, that's usually a tough way to go because it means sending kids to schools out of the area. Kids would be transferred to schools other than the ones in their neighborhoods.

That usually brings howls of protests from parents. Also, it creates a dilemma for school officials: Should class sizes be reduced or should the neighborhood schools be preserved?

There are no simple solutions to reducing class size. The cost of hiring teachers is high. Adding classrooms is expensive and takes time. And sending students to other schools is controversial.

However, although it is painful, we think that reducing class size is a goal the school district should adopt, especially at the lower grade lev-

The school district alone can't push that goal The school district has made some progress in unless there is enough community support. And that means money for teachers and classrooms.

Libraries are expanding to meet society's needs

IT MAY BE A myth that people just aren't reading any more. Libraries are big news in our suburbs.

New libraries, library expansions and battles over library fees are making front page news in communities from Canton to Rochester Hills. For example:

• In Farmington Hills, voters are looking at two library questions on their Nov. 7 ballot - a bond issue for a new main branch in the Farmington/Farmington Hills system and a millage for operations.

• In the Rochester area, a new library in Rochester Hills will replace the small, centrally located one inthe heart of the city - but where it will finally go - is still being deter-

• Canton Township last year opened a new main library next to township hall.

• Livonia last year completed a spanking new main library, and voted 1 mill forever to keep its three-branch system up to date. • West Bloomfield Township, which built a new main library in 1983, last year finished an expansion of the main library. A branch had been expanded earlier. • Bloomfield Township last spring completed a major expansion of its library, one of the two libraries of the Birmingham-Bloomfield sys-

 Surrounding communities, which must pay to use the Birmingham-Bloomfield libraries, are questioning the amounts being asked, while recognizing their value to their residents.

• Of the Observer & Eccentric suburbs, only Westland voters have continually refused to pay for a community library at all and must contract for service from neighboring Wayne.

YES, IT'S true that hot growth areas like Canton, West Bloomfield and greater Rochester are expanding their libraries to meet their growing populations. But, then, how do you explain Livonia and Bloomfield Township, which have more stable populations?

The answer is two-fold. People: ARE reading. And libraries, rising to the needs of today's more social, visually oriented society, aren't the silent, grim places they have been in the past.

Besides books, their offerings include: lecture and discussion series, space for community meetings, video rentals, children's programs and services for the handicapped.

To the editor: This letter concerns M.B. Dillon's articles on class size. In one article she quotes Dr. John Hoben as saying that recent studies show "no measurable relationship between class size and student achievement. The same is true for teacher experience, education and salary and expenditures per pupil. What we get is a lot of ballyhoo from unions and other places." In this article Dillon talks with many principals. All of them want lower class sizes and feel it is important, CREW members (parents and teachers) spent long hours researching and writing a report that supports lower class size and states the many advantages of lower class sizes. Teachers want a lower class size, state the advantages (especially in developmental grades) and will probably negotiate this point in their contract. Yet, Dr. Hoben feels it is "ballyhoo." Proper spelling is necessary

To the editor:

Jack Gladden's comments in regard to "Spelling Is Important," were very well put. I'm not sure I would like to be an elementary classroom teacher whose task it will be to explain to all those creative spellers that the dictionary really knows how to spell and they don't - really. Adults are supposed to know what they're doing, right?

When children draw they reduce images to stylized forms. Everything - people, animals, buildings, trees, the environment itself - are all reduced to symbols. The cliche goes like this: "Tell me about your drawing." "It's a picture of God." "That's silly, no one knows what God looks like." "Well, now they will!" I suspect that this is what "creative spelling" might be all about. Poets, for instance, take great liberty with language, words and spelling - and rightly so - but we are here speaking of adult poetry.

The truth of the matter is that language and spelling, being what they are now, require correctness. Teachers must help students (K-12) to know how the real world spells words. An historical note is that at one point in history there were many dictionaries produced with many being very esoteric. Those we use now tell us how all English speaking people spell English words

Dictionary skills must be taught and early elementary teachers must teach spelling. Creative spelling and word creation today are in the realm of the new. That which is newly created often requires new vocabulary and terminology.

The drawings children make are very personal. Drawings are a kind of language. The child tries to convey meaning in a drawing. A kind of hieroglyphics. Each child's drawing is, in a sense, a personal poetry. Perhaps this is what "creative spelling" is trying to tap, but I feel there is a vast difference.

Proper spelling, in language, is required. It may not convey much of anything if it is too esoteric.

The rule has the Latin name of stare decisis, meaning "let the deci-sion stand." The result is that lower courts and lawyers are bound by the legal rule established in that decision, whether the case makes sense

MY LATEST shudder came earlier this month when the Texas Supreme Court ruled the state's system of funding schools is unconstitution-

Again: "A Band-Aid will not suffice; the system itself must be changed."

The case was brought in 1984 by school districts with low property values. Some districts in Texas were able to spend as little as $2,112 per pupil; others as much as $19,333. Michiganians should know about it because we fund our schools much the same way Texas does - by a combination of state aid and local property taxes.

The difference is that the gap between districts in Michigan is tighter — $2,500 to $7,000. And $7,000 is an exaggerated number because it includes capital spending, not just operating costs.

TEXAS CLEARLY has a worse system that Michigan does. That's cary if the Texas case becomes any kind of precedent - or even an inspiration — to districts challenging the Michigan system.

The odds of its being a precedent are slim, fortunately. First, Texas Gov. Bill Clemens is reported to be seeking a special session of the legislature to remedy the situation, so the case is unlikely to be appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court. Second, the Texas court ruling was based on the state constitution, not the U.S. Constitution.

But you can see what kind of encouragement lawyers across the country will be getting.

Texas seems to have a pretty terrible situation. Yet it's the most terrible situations that make cases that set precedents for the rest of us.

CONSIDER THE U.S. Supreme Court's decision in the Stanford Daily case of the 1970s.

A student newspaper covered a disruption in which a campus building was taken over by an unruly lot. The local chief of the police decided he wanted the newspaper's files for evidence against the unruly lot.

The Stanford Daily's mistake was to cover the takeover from inside the building — behind the battle lines of the insurgents.

Ouch! The Stanford Daily lost. Since then, files of mainstream newspapers have become fair game for searches by cops too lazy to do

The defendant and victorious appellant was something of a creep, as read the news accounts, who genuinely intended to show disrespect for the flag and the good ol' U. S. of A.

Time changeover is part of society

IT'LL BE happening soon. That semiannual rite that always causes me to resort to the mnemonic device of "Spring ahead, fall back."

"It," of course, is the changeover to or from daylight-saving time, and it's the last Sunday in October when we all set our watches . . . let's see, fall BACK . . . yeah, back one hour.

We've been doing this for the past 22 years, since the Uniform Time Act went into effect in 1967, so the ritual has become as much a part of American society as interstate highways and home-delivered pizza.

But it was not always so. And when I read the other day about a law being considered by the Tennessee Legislature, it reminded me of what I used to call the DST Para-

Using this method of thinking, legislators might be able to solve most of society's major problems simply by passing more creative laws. Let me explain.

WHEN THE Uniform Time Act established daylight-saving time on a national scale, any state could, by an act of its legislature, exempt itself from participating in DST. Many legislatures took up the issue.

In Arkansas, where I was working for United Press International, the state Senate finally voted against an exemption, but only after a long and heated debate on the subject.

After the exemption was voted down, one disgruntled senator introduced a resolution that the Arkansas Senate go on record as proclaiming the earth to be flat.

When a colleague asked the purpose of the resolution, the senator proclaimed solemnly:

"If we can change God's time, we can change the shape of the earth." Such logic, it seemed to me, needed a name. I called it the DST Para-

In a laissez-faire atmosphthis may not be a serious problem by the nature of the leadership style that "everything will work out in time."

If a district's administration leans more toward a democratic consensus style, there probably will be less of a problem.

On the other hand, the teachers selected by the bargaining unit now become the critical variable. If members are the hard core, inflexible union members, the review committee could turn, into the mini-negotiating committee with review panel teachers defending their peer teachers right to grade as they see fit. Conversely, teachers could say that's the way it has been in the past, only with adminis-tration calling the shots.

The bottom line is that a new movement, called teacher empowerment, strongly endorsed by the Michigan Education Association is rapidly emerging in the education field. The movement involves teachers more in the decision-making process. It seems to have worked in Japanese business, industrial and education systems. The Japanese have actively involved their employees in the "quality circle" (where administrators and employees make joint decisions) for several years. Some say their work ethic, products and morale is exemplary.

Personally, I favor having a review committee for a grade change. Having served as "grade appeal" administrator in a central office, it makes sense to have checks and balances.

One way that people give is by letting family and friends know they care and remember through the sending of holiday cards.

At such a time, it seems appropriate that many of the holiday cards available are sold by service groups and organizations. Buying one of those cards is giving a greeting that continues to give long after the holiday season.

As a public service, the Observer and Eccentric annually publishes a sampler of holiday cards issued by non-profit organizations. The pages are published on a space-available basis in all 13 Observer and Eccentric newspapers.

In addition, scrapbooks of the cards are maintained at the five O&E offices: 744 Wing, Plymouth; 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia; 33203 Grand River, Farmington; 410 N. Main, Rochester; and 805 E. Maple, Birmingham.

There's a serious accident. Time is crucial. A helicopter is dispatched to speed the victim to the University of Michigan Burn Center...a service you, hopefully, will never have to call on. But it's there if you need it, and much, much more through M-CARE.

M-CARE is the only HMO that links all the resources of the U of M Medical Center to the personal care of your family doctor and your nearby hospital. M-CARE covers you for office visits, checkups, hospitalization even emergency helicopter transport.

Of course, with the M-CARE network of hospitals in cities like Royal Oak, Dearborn and Rochester, you don't always have to go to the U of M Medical Center. But isn't it good to know it's there whenever you need it? To find out more, ask your employer. Or call M-CARE at 747-8700.

But that wasn't the case for Jo Ellen Odom, who met with the Nobel Peace Prize winner during a visit to India as part of the U.S. Delegation for Friendship Among women. Odom met with Mother Teresa at her mission in Calcutta during the October 1988 trip.

"She is everything I'd ever heard about and more," said Odom, a Plymouth Township homemaker and community volunteer. "She had a presence of God with her that was very tangible."

During that meeting, Mother Teresa talked about AIDS, which she considered to be a far more serious problem than leprosy. Babies born to AIDS patients are infected with the AIDS virus. Mother Teresa also talked to the group about her views on abortion.

"She feels very strongly about abortion," Odom said.

Mother Teresa is opposed to abortion, favoring adoption instead, Odom said.

DELEGATION MEMBERS left Calcutta and traveled to Bhutan, a country about the size of Vermont and New Hampshire combined. Well-known for its postage stamps, Bhutan has a literacy rate of about 12 percent and a life expectancy averaging 47 years.

Per capita income in Bhutan is about $120 per year. People in that country are more self-sufficient than those in Nepal are, she said. They're able to grow most of what they need to eat, with rice and corn the major crops.

Nepal also has some beautiful countryside, Odom said, but she and the others didn't see those

While at a home in Bhutan, she spotted a poster of Van Halen, a rock music group.

"I guess teenagers are the same the world over," she said. Bhutan is known as "The Land of the Thunder Dragon," due to the fierce storms that originate in the Himalayas, she said. Rocks are sometimes used to keep shingles on roofs in Bhutan

Group members met with women from the Bhutan Women's Organization, established in 1971. That group was formed due to the fact that a women's organization is required for United Nations membership, Odom said.

Delegation members then visited Bangladesh, a republic with a king. Bangladesh is about the size of Wis-

Bangladesh is primarily a Muslim country, she said. It has many rivers and a tropical climate. Its literacy rate is 29 percent and life expectancy averages 54 years.

The country is poor, with a per capita income of $151 per year. Its economy is heavily agricultural, with jute and rice the major crops.

Group members visited Dacca, the capital of Bangladesh. Dacca has some modern buildings and streets. Odom said.

Their time included a visit to a clinic for mentally handicapped people and a visit to the YWCA of Bangladesh. They had dinner at a private home with a Bangladeshi

That meal included fish, rice, lentils, bread and vegetables with curry. Hospitality is very much expected in Bangladesh, Odom said.

"It improves your status, the more guests you have," she said. Group members ended their trip with some time in Hong Kong.

"We just lived it up," she aid. "It was a wonderful R and R."

A February 1990 trip to Oman and Morocco is planned by the U.S. Delegation for Friendship Among Women. Odom is considering making that trip.

She's overcome many obstacles

Erma Henderson's interest in politics goes back to her childhood.

She became active in politics first as a Republican and later as a Dem-

"I had always been interested in equal representation in govern-ment," said Henderson, outgoing president of the Detroit City Council.

She worked on campaigns to elect men to office. Those men said they were concerned about women's is-

"Yet when they got elected some-how it went on the back burner." She decided to run for office herself.

In 1972, Henderson was elected to the Detroit City Council. She's served on the city council for 17 years, and has been its president

Henderson earlier this year campaigned to become Detroit's next mayor. Her campaign was unsuccessful, and she will leave the Detroit City Council at the end of this

SHE CAME to Plymouth the evening of Monday, Oct. 16, to speak at a Plymouth Business and Professional Women's Club meeting.

Henderson decided to run for the Detroit City Council in the early 1970s when a vacancy came up. Some people told her she couldn't win because she was black, poor and "I said, 'Well, I can't change any one of those three things," said Henderson, who became the first

There comes a time when you want to do more." She was concerned about drugs, crime and other problems; Henderson wanted to work to see that laws and ordinances were enforced.

"I had some thoughts and ideas about what I would like to see done. Unfortunately, I didn't win. But I'm excited now that the wear and tear

"They used the ageism thing on me," Henderson said. "It was interesting, because I'm only nine months older than the mayor.'

Mayor Coleman Young's age wasn't a question, she said, in that Young demonstrated he had the virility to father a child late in life.

"The mayor and I have been friends for many years. We were not fighting each other."

HENDERSON DECLINED to express support for Young or for his challenger, Tom Barrow, at the meeting in Plymouth.

A lack of money keeps qualified women from getting elected, Henderson told those at the meeting, held at the Mayflower Hotel.

"Somehow, we have a tradition, women do, of making do with less." Other women can be women's worst raise money for a political cam-

Henderson said she's been in debt after each of her campaigns. It's difficult to compete with the campaign chest and fund-raising abilities of Mayor Young, she said.

"If you don't have money, then you're out of the ball game."

The arrival of U.S. Rep. John Convers in the mayoral race further clouded the situation, according to Henderson. Voters were confused as to why a longtime congressman was running in Detroit's mayoral prima-

"That question was never answered, but the media don't care."

Henderson has disagreed with Coleman Young on certain issues. She said too much attention is paid to the riverfront area in Detroit at the expense of the city's neighbor-

She is concerned about having a viable downtown area, Henderson said, but also feels neighborhoods should be taken care of.

Henderson, a Wayne State University graduate with a master's degree in social work, was required to give up her Detroit City Council seat to run for mayor. She's still sorting out her options following her primary

Judy Wyzlic already is seeing the effects on the parishioners of St. Edith Catholic Church. Renew already is bringing peo-ple together and building community spirit just over a week after getting started at the Livonia

"The whole parish is involved one way or another," Wyzlic said. Everyone is involved at whatever lèvel they felt comfortable at."

Renew is a program for revitalizing Catholic parishes developed by two priests from Newark, N.J. more than 20 years ago. The purpose of the program is to create a more vibrant faith community and caring Christian community, according to Nancy Branigan, a regional Renew coordinator.

"It's a spiritual growth process," she said. "Some people are afraid at first; Catholics are a quiet people and this a growth experience. It's Catholics taking a second look at where they're at and where they

Thirty-eight churches in the Archdiocese of Detroit began the Renew process Oct. 8. Four western Wayne County churches - St. Edith and St. Maurice in Livonia, St. Agatha in Redford Township and St. John Neumann in Canton Township - are participating in the program.

Renew is a three-year program, broken up into five six-week sessions in the fall and during the Lenten season. Each session has a theme that is conveyed through weekend liturgies, take-home materials, small and large group activities. Participation covers all age groups from teenagers to sen-

THE SMALL group activities can include such things as faith sharing experiences in which participants talk about how God touched them during their lives and helped them through good and bad times or reading from the Bible and reflecting on God's message, Branigan said. Large group activites include such things as prayer vigils and the weekend liturgles.

The theme for the first Renew session is "The Lord's Call." a look at the needs people have and how the Lord seeks to answer those

The other themes include "Our Response to the Lord's Call," a look at the need to make a choice for Christ, "Empowerment by the Spirit," which deals with the Gospel-based concern for social jusformation, and "Evangelization," newly revitalized Christian com-munities reaching out to others with the Gospel message they have

"The purpose is for us to better understand how Christ speaks to us through the Scriptures," Branigan said. "It makes for a more yibrant faith community and a more caring Christian community. People are more sensitive toward each

A team of parish members are trained in the Renew program, then go back to their church to help implement it. Wyzlic and her husband Jim are two of four coordinators at St. Edith. The Wyzlics took the training because "the calling was so strong for Renew."

'We couldn't refuse, but we never thought we'd be coordinators," the end result will be. We're the instruments of putting this together for the Holy Spirit, and the Holy Spirit will make Renew happen."

AT ST. EDITH, 350 adults have signed up for the fall session of Re-new and both Wyzlic and the pas-tor, Rev. Jim Scheick, expect that number to increase by the second

While Renew is broken up into sessions, Wyzlic said those sessions don't necessarily have beginnings

"We focus for six weeks and then let it develop, then focus again for six weeks," she said. "You go back to your activities with a renewed spirit and a sense of community." Scheick decided to look into the Heights and several other parishis.

"When you visit a church that's in the Renew process, you see a dif-ference," Scheick said. "The people are involved."

The timing of the Renew process is perfect for St. Edith's. The parish is in the process of building a new church and Renew will be "a good thing to find out what church means," he said.

"All those people (in Renew) tend to make a commitment and that tends to continue after the end of three years," Scheick said. "A lot of things happen. Renew is a great vision of how to revitalize the

Courage gives us that control over our lives

How do we take control of our lives? First, we must recognize our own capacity. Dr. Abraham Maslow, a noted psychologist, estimated that the average human being achieves only 7 percent of his potential. Should we rest content with such a meager harvest?

Our biggest handicap is a distorted self-image. When we think of ourselves as incapable, unlovable, unsuccessful, when we have a positive sense of self, our achievements will reflect that self-appraisal.

We tend to become what we imagine ourselves to be. We achieve as we believe. A person's outlook is determined by his attitude. We can either make ourselves miserable or make ourselves strong.

An anonymous poet conveyed this

"If you think you are beaten, you

If you think you dare not, you don't. If you like to win but think you can't, It's almost a cinch you won't.

If you think you'll lose, you're lost; For out in the world we find Success begins with a fellow's will;

This summer, a 29-year-old paraplegic paralyzed from the waist down since a 1982 climbing accident finished a grueling eight-day climb up El Capitan, one of the highest mountains in Yosemite National

Mark Wellman became the first paraplegic to make the 3,200-foot climb, doing 7,000 pull-ups on ropes placed by his partner.

Wellman told reporters "You have a dream, and you know the only way new and better reality.

The second step to achieving our best is courage.

For most of us, this word conjures images of soldiers going over the top, or other feats of daring, but courage is much more than this. It is the willingness to risk failure or disapproval in the effort to create a new and better reality.

A life without courage is a life over which we exercise no control. Consider this whimsical statement:

"There was a very cautious man Who never laughed or played. He never risked, he never tried, He never sang or prayed. And when he one day passed away, His insurance was denied. For since he never really lived, They claimed he never died.

provements contributed to the comfort of actors and playgoer.

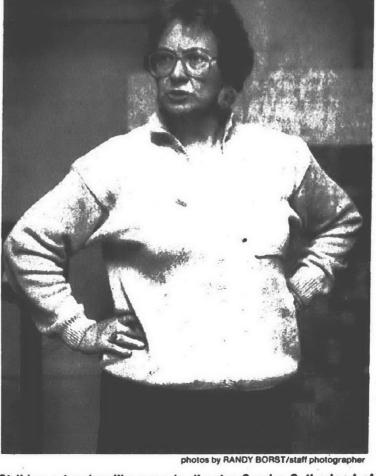

"This place was a real barn. No bathrooms, a dirt floor, no heat and pigeons in the ceiling galore," said Briggs. "We put in a wood floor. The milkroom was remodeled into the kitchen. We added restrooms and eventually got the pigeons to roost

Don Briggs was in on many of those barn improvements.

"HEAT, OF COURSE was a real concern," he explained. "When Our Lady of Sorrows Church was rebuilt, the builder gave us the old coal furnace. We got it over to the barn but it was too big. Well, we got the place heated with the installaton of three modern furnaces. Then we built an addition on the rear of the building so we'd have a place to build sets and store costumes. Recently, we' rewired all the electrical and brought it up to code."

An interesting sidelight of the remodeling process is the set of old theater chairs being reupholstered for the '89-90 season. Don Briggs explained: "They're quite old. Back when the Masonic Hall was being remodeled, we bought a bunch of these chairs for 50 cents apiece. We're re-

'Desert Song' an oasis

By Mary Jane Doerr special writer

Talent abounds when Northville's historic Marquis Theatre can cast 21 singers in the 1926 hit operetta sert Song" who look and act their

These are singers who had no trou-ble with Sigmund Romberg's challenging music and delivered acting that was just as exceptional.

The Lawrence of Arabia superman plot sets an unlikely British society columnist who writes for the Paris Daily Mail with several French generals in the Foreign Legion and a single woman from the convent who has set out for an adventure, into the middle of an Arab desert in Morocco.

An unhappy jilted lover, Azuri, with a knife in her belly dancing skirt, deals with the situation when her man, the volatile Captain Paul Fontaine turns his attention, on the newly arrived French lady, Margot.

The general's moron son, Pierre, is really the brilliant leader of the Arabs who dons a red mask and cape as the Red Shadow. He is the Robin Hood of the desert, or the Lone Ranger of the west, who comes to rescue the Arabs from their merciless dilemma of French rule and heavy taxation.

DAVID NELSON designed sets of subtle desert colors accented with gilded drapery materials and blended with Inge Zayti's lush costumes to give the feel of spaciousness of the stage. Victorian wicker furniture also gave the 1920s look of elegance. The Marquis Theatre has motorized

Mary Kay Kinlen carries the show with her bright "I am ready for some fun" presence. Never is the music too high for her operatic voice and the higher she goes the stronger she sounds. Ken Haering is a wonderful baritone especially in his duets with Kinlen ("The Desert Song") and his solo "One Alone."

He plays Pierre as a moron which entails moving constantly back and forth between self assured leader of the Arabs to the high pitch sound of a crouching Pierre. It was most real if not touching.

Acting kudos must go to Lori Monson, the knife carrying dancer, Azuri, and to Jeffrey Wooley who comically portrayed Benjamin Benly Worthington Kidd III, a misfit if there ever was one. Monson's acting set up the entire balance of the show. She brought out Paul Fontaines's (Paul Silver) real personality in their violent confrontations. She gave the show credibility in her expounding of the treatment of the native people and she set up the light-hearted ending. Wooley provided the comic re-lief of the foil role to perfection.

Elizabeth Wingert must be recognized for her castanet dancing in the Ali Ben Ali harem. Michael Olis's tenor voice is a beauty expecially in "If One Flower."

Broadway revivals are a fascinating reflection of earlier times. This show reflects the anger of the native peoples over colonial rule in Africa as early as 1925, long before the revolutions took place. It is serious comedy. When Leonard Turowski Jr. became the director of two funeral homes, he knew he had many tasks ahead. He didn't figure librarian would be one of them.

Turowski and his wife, Vicki, are just that after adding a grief library at both Leonard A. Turowski and Neely-Turowski Funeral Homes in Livonia. When grieving, people search for answers. They hope the library can provide some of them.

brary can provide some of them.
On the shelf in the firelit area are 130 books on bereavement by several well-known people in the field, including Robert Fulton, Robert Weiss and Dr. Earl A. Grollman.

If anything the library signals a change in the funeral business.

"My idea is that during a funeral, families have a lot of people around them who are very supportive and who are willing to help with the things that need to be done," said Leonard Turowski, president of Neely-Turowski Funeral Homes. "As time goes on, people go back to their everyday life.

"Immediate family members return home by themselves. For the first time, they're alone. Then the grief process begins."

Grief counselors will tell you that's when a survivor really needs peace of mind. On the well-stacked shelves of his funeral home, Turowski hopes people can find solace.

rowski hopes people can find solace.
The idea for the library came about after Leonard Turowski attended a Batesville Management Seminar in 1979. One of the speakers brought up the notion of putting together a library.

THE TUROWSKIS thought it was a novel idea. After a renovation three years ago, the family put together a grief library at the funeral home on Five Mile Road, near Middlebelt. Four months later everything was in place.

Books for the subject weren't difficult to find, Turowski said. Cataloging more than 100 books was a bit of a chore, however.

People can borrow a book for a week. They are checked out just as they would at a library, except there are no fines for overdue books.

"People will come in, not only immediate family, but people with children," said Vicki Turowski, who is pre-needs director for the funeral homes. "They want to make sure when children ask questions they have the right answers for them."

have the right answers for them."

For children, there are tapes and books to help them understand death a little more easily.

In two years, the library has taken on several functions. Not only are people who have experienced a death in the family using it, so are students from area high schools for resources on death and bereave-

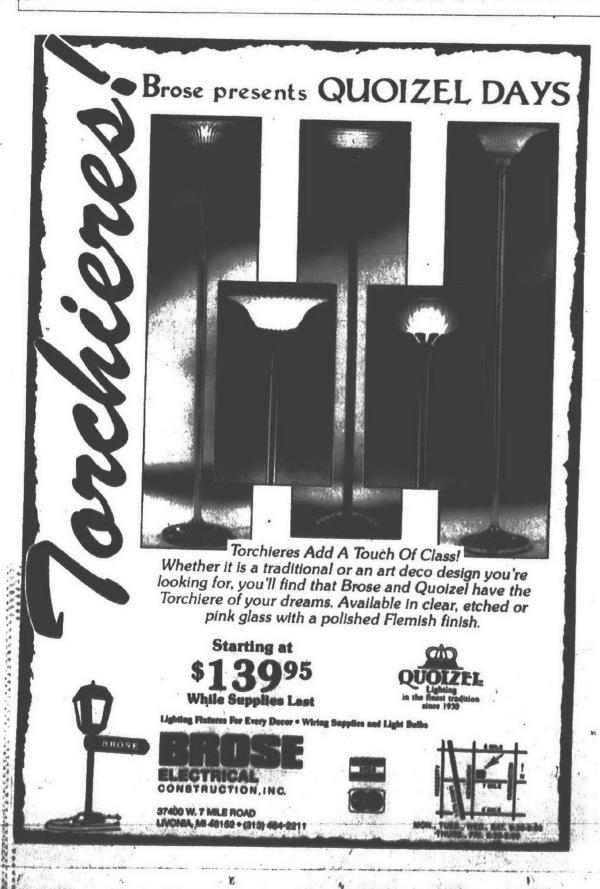

Community service has been a big part of the Turowskis niche in the funeral business. The family was a recipient of 1987-88 "Pursuit of Excellence Award" for its efforts.

Representatives from the fuseral homes have made presentations at career days at area high schools. Also, they have provided a professional resource person to teach classes at Madonna College about death, dving and hereavement.

TUROWSKI WAS also instrumental in starting the WISER (Widows In' Service) support group at Schoolcraft College.

The family has been in the funeral business since 1919, starting in Detroit. Then, a funeral home's role was solely one-dimensional.

First of two parts.

This month's Family Finances column focuses on some common characteristics of those who are successful financially. In analyzing the financial situations of the many respondents to our column, some common threads emerge in those who have been able to build their personal wealth. Through the sharing of these observations, we are hopeful that our readership will gain some insight that will be of assistance in accomplishing their financial goals.

To get money is difficult, but to keep it is even more difficult." All of us have money that we receive either through wages, investment income or other sources. It is how we manage this inflow that determines long-term financial success.

Generally, most people who have been able to accumulate significant assets fall into one of three categories. We will call these three types the savers, the achievers and the investors.

The savers remember the story of the tortoise and the hare. They believe that slow but steady financial progress will untimately win the race.

Establishing the habit of savings for the long term is the single most common attribute to financially successful people. Initially, it seems as if the amount saved does not matter establishing the habit is the important factor.

The savers have discovered that even modest amounts saved regularly over a long period of time will grow into significant sums. For example, $150 per month invested at 8 percent over 35 years would grow to more than $340,000. If an average rate of 12 percent can be achieved, the monthly investment of $150 would grow

THE SAVERS realize the magic of compounding. Over time, money grows exponentially when the interest is reinvested and compounded.

For many people, the forced discipline of an automatic savings plan is helpful. Several stragtegies can be adopted by those who want to begin a regular savings or investment program. Three methods will be discussed here.

Many employers will, upon request, automatically transfer a portion of their employees' paychecks into a credit union account or other savings vehicle. If used solely for investments and long-term growth, this money can form the foundation of future financial security. We typically recommend that this account be completely separate from your general checking account and any savings account used for periodic major purchases. This account should be used solely for longterm investments. Don't use the money for expendi-

mart to merge w

K mart Corp., based in Troy, announced an agreement Monday that says the world's second-largest retailer will purchase PACE Membership Warehouse Inc. for $23 a share, or about $322 million.

The board of the Colorado company, which has membership warehouses in Michigan and 10 other states, has approved the agreement and recommended that stockholders tender their shares, the companies

Under the terms of the merger agreement, a wholly owned subsidiary of K mart will begin a tender offer to purchase all outstanding PACE shares at a price of $23 per share in cash. Any shares not purchased in the tender offer will be acquired by K mart in a subsequent merger at the same $23 cash price.

"The combination of K mart and PACE Membership Warehouse represents a partnership of two fine organizations. The membership warehouse club concept has great potential, and the long-term prospects for PACE Membership Warehouse and its employees will be enhanced by the affiliation with K mart," a joint release issued by the two companies said. "PACE Membership Warehouse will continue to operate under its present management, as will K mart's Makro Inc."

Makro is a six-unit membership warehouse club chain with units located in the Cincinnati, Washington, D.C., Philadelphia, Baltimore and Cleveland markets.

K mart Corp., the world's secondlargest retailer, posted sales of $27.3 billion in 1988. As of Sept. 27, 1989, the corporation operated 4,150 stores in all 50 states and in Puerto Rico and Canada, including 2,283 K mart discount stores, 1,247 Waldenbooks, 141 Builders Square, 279 Pay Less Drug and six Makro stores.

PACE Membership Warehouse operated 41 membership warehouses in California, Colorado, Florida, Georgia, Iowa, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, Nebraska, North Carolina and Pennsylvania. Its 1988 sales were $1.3 billion.

Morgan Stanley & Co. and James D. Wolfensohn Inc. will serve as codealer managers of the tender offer. Goldman, Sachs & Co. acted as financial adviser to PACE in connection with the transaction.

In other news, the K mart board approved a cash dividend to be paid on Dec. 4, 1989, on the outstanding shares of the corporation's common stock to holders of record on Nov. 16, 1989, in the amount of 41 cents per share. K mart Corp. is the secondlargest retailer in the world, with 1988 sales of $27.3 billion

Home sales up, prices down

Sales of existing homes continue to outpace 1988 sales by 4.3 percent through the third quarter of the year in this area, METRO MLS, the state's largerst multiple listing service reported.

"Sale of 1,508 single-family homes and condominiums in September brought the third quarter total to 5,096, a 5.4-percent improvement over last year," said Eric J. Hunt, Metro MLS president.

"After a very strong August wich saw 1,930 units change hands, the market softened somewhat in Spetember, but still is continuing on a near-record track."

Median prices dropped to $76,000 in September down from the $80,500 in August. The year-to-date median price, $77,000, remained 6.9 percent above the $72,000 median price at this time a year ago. Median price marks the point where half of the homes sold for more and half for

"While listings throughout the area are still 7 percent above last year, they took a decided drop in September and were down 20 percent above the $72,000 at this time a year ago," Hunt said. "The combination of lower prices and fewer homes should be encouraging signs for the market during the remainder of the

STILL, HOME ownership declined nationally in the 1980s for the first time since World War II.

According to a study by a senior economist for the Joint Economic Committee of Congress, home ownership peaked at 65.6 percent of the population in 1980 and then began failing, hitting 63.9 percent last had fallen dramatically in the youngest age groups. In 1973 nearly one-fourth or 23.4 percent of people under age 25 - owned a home. In 1988 the rate was 15.5 percent.

In other younger age groups, the situation is similar: 43.6 percent of 25-to-29-year-olds were homeowners in 1973, falling to 36.2 percent in 1988. For the 30-to-34-year-old group, 60.2 percent owned homes in 1973, dropping to 52.6 percent in 1988. And in the 35-to-39 bracket, the rate fell from 68.5 percent in 1973 to 63.2 percent in 1988.

The average age of first-time homebuyers has jumped to 32 now, up from 18 years old in 1980. Hous-ing affordability is determined by several factors, including tax policy. income growth and housing prices, Matchmaking, expediting, networking.

It might not sound fancy, but that essentially is what the Southeastern Michigan Venture Group is all about.

"Basically, it's to provide a forum for investors, entrepreneurs and service providers," said Scott Eisenberg, president of the non-profit organization.

"We're a network," said Carl Meyering, a founder of the venture group four years ago and a former president. "The group itself doesn't lend money. It brings people together."

The Southeastern Michigan Venture Group, one of at least six in the state, meet at monthly breakfasts at Walsh College in Troy. They generally draw upward of 50.

ABOUT HALF are entrepreneurs with ideas at various stages of incubation, said Eisenberg, manager of the corporate finance group for Deloitte, Haskins & Sells.

The rest of the participants are service professionals like accountants and lawyers and investors such as banks and other private capital groups.

After a featured speaker, everyone has the opportunity to take a minute to tell the gathering about his idea, business or service pro-

Informal connections are made before, during and after the light

"Entrepreneurs, per se, are not members," Eisenberg said. "Most come to one meeting and don't come back. We don't have any idea of followup, what luck they've had.

"I think they shortchange themselves by not coming back," he added. "You hear all those presentations in one day, you can't re-member them all."

"It's just kind of exciting working with people at that level," said Guy Flannery, vice president of the venture group and finance di-rector for MIDA Dental Plans.

"SOME PEOPLE will have one piece missing, some might have all the pieces missing," Flannery add-

Daniel Beardslee, vice president of the Demery Seed Capital Fund and a venture group board member, said his company has invested with a business that floated an idea to the group.

That company, Rollforge of Benton Harbor, is involved with a high-speed forging process.

"This is one of the best ways we can see a lot of potential investments quickly and meet people," Beardslee said. "It's a lot different to read a business plan and see the person who wrote it.'

Meyering, president of the Meyering Group, said his private investing group is involved with several companies with which contact was made through the venture

"If you're a new business, you don't have any assets, you don't have collateral," he said. "Where are you going to go? The private fany employees have access to an even better fied of saving through payroli deduction: 401(k) is and tax-sheltered annuities. Both allow an indiidual to deduct the amount saved from his/her taxable income, and the accounts grow without being subject to current taxation. These tax advantages allow for greater contributions and higher returns than would otherwise be possible. For many, the convenience of payroll deductions as a forced savings cannot be overestimated. Placing 10 percent of your income into such plans is often mentioned as a desirable tar-

A third method of automatic, systematic investing is through a dollar-cost averaging program offered through many mutual funds. With this, you authorize the fund to deduct a specified amount from your checking account each month. It is deposited into the mutual fund, which then builds over time. This is an excellent way of using market fluctuations to your advantage. Rationale: If the market is up and shares are expensive, fewer shares are purchased with the set monthly investment; if the market is down, a greater number of shares are purchased at the lower price. When the market ultimately moves up, you then receive a bigger bang for your bucks.

A FINAL STRATEGY is to overwithhold on income taxes. This is not generally the best why to save, but if other methods are not working, it is reasonable option. When the tax refund comes, that amount can be placed into a long-term investment account.

In using all of these strategies, any investment in-turns will compound. Many savings and investment accounts allow for automatic reinvestment of dividends and interest; others require a special form to be filled out in order to direct the distributions to a separate investment account. In any event, this reinvestment can be critical to the long-term returns of these

We would extend this concept of reinvestment to include reinvestment of tax savings. For example, if $1,000 is saved through making deductible IRA contributions, that $1,000 should be placed into a separate long-term investment account. This is the only way that tax savings will build your net worth and help you to achieve financial independence.

Whereas systematic savings and investment is the most common and often the easiest method of achieving long-term financial goals, some people are able to use a different approach.

Next week we will examine the achievers and inves-tors to see how they accumulate wealth and achieve

Correct use of power aids owner of small business

special writer

British Lord Acton observed that power corrupts, and absolute power corrupts absolutely.

Power is defined as the ability to make happen what we want to happen, as well as being able to block the occurrence of events that are undesirable.

Whether you are aware of it, we all display some kind of power in our day-to-day dealing with the people we work with. The kinds of power small business owners and managers use and and how they implement them have a direct bearing on the management success they achieve.

IN HER book, "The Power Handbook," Pamela Cuming states that there are six kinds of power that are commonly used among management use each type is the key to becoming an effective and empowered leader.

Reward and coercive power are often used together. They are better referred to as the "carrot and stick" style of management. When you reward or provide one of your employees with something of value in exchange for desired performance, you are exerting reward power.

BUT WHEN you punish or take away something an employee desires to keep as a consequence of poor performance, you are displaying coercive power.

Both coercive and reward power should be used sparingly. Heavy use of coercive power leads to dislike, mistrust and non-productive behav-

Reward power can also be a problem when it is used as the main motivation for performance. Employees who get used to rewards will invariably begin to regard them as

WHEN A person is promoted into a management position, some type of power usually goes along with the position. It is not necessarily earned but is awarded, along with the posi-

This use of legitimate power can be effective if it is supplemented by reward and coercive power.

Next, expert power is the capacity to influence others because of the knowledge or skills a person is presumed to have. You have expert power when your employees are willing to follow your suggestions because they respect your expertise or ability.

Expert power cannot be conferred on a person; it must be earned.

SOME UNUSUAL proposals have been heard at venture group meetings over the years.

One woman wanted $50,000 to establish a chain of massage parlors. A man outlined a need for $7 billion to establish a new airline. Then there was the woman who talked about a business based on revenge, like sending someone who did you wrong a bouquet of dead flowers.

'These aren't necessarily bad ideas, just offbeat," Beardslee said. "I don't think anybody really laughs at people there, but you chuckle over peoples' creativity."

Other ideas aren't so offbeat. Minute pitches were heard at a recent breakfast meeting about personalized athletic shoes, an upscale nightclub for the yuppie set and an effort to buy a radio station.

'Most people have no idea what it takes to put an idea into fruition, to get off and running," Eisenberg said.

That's where the service providers - lawyers, accountants, administrators - can help.

"I FEEL meetings are a cheap way for people to come and test ideas," Beardslee said.

Individual members pay annual dues of $250, corporate members $350. That covers monthly breakfasts, a monthly newsletter, a listing of who attends meetings and some administrative odds and ends.

Most things are pretty much black and white. Oil and water don't mix. East is East. West is West. Something can't be solid and liquid at the same time. Well, not so with The FirstRate Fund. Because it earns you a great rate, without tying up your principal.

Earn 9 Percent For Up To 60 Days. From October 2

until November 30, The First Rate Fund earns interest at an annual rate of 9 percent.

After that, it's tied to the 91-day Treasury Bill, guaranteeing a highly competitive rate.

All it takes is a $10,000 deposit to start. And you can add to it, whenever you like. Make a withdrawal and you won't have to pay a penalty.

So, by all means, open your FirstRate Fund now, and earn an annual rate of 9 percent for as long as possible.

Solid. And Liquid, Too.

Making a will can involve some legalese

finances and you

Before you make an appointment with your attorney, here are a few of the legal expressions you may hear thrown about. Some are everyday terms used in everyday ways. Others

TESTAMENTARY CAPACITY -To draw up a valid will, one must have a "testamentary capacity." That is, under the law, it might have to be demonstrated that at the time the will was drawn, the individual was of sound mind and knew what the estate consisted of and how it was to be distributed. Although there are literally hundreds of varieties of wills, they can be classified into several categories as described below.

SIMPLE WILL - The simple will is signed by the testator (maker), before the required witnesses (usually two). The will lists the disposition and the distribution of the estate involved. This is usually the shortest and easiest will to write and execute when the estate is small and estate taxation is not a concern (estate is worth $600,000 or less).

RECIPROCAL WILL - If two people - most often husband and wife - simultaneously execute a will, then they leave their respective and totally distinct estates to each other. A reciprocal will can be drawn as a unified document, although the most common practice is to draw separate wills. For this type of will to be valid, the estates of the two parties need not be commonly owned. There could be separate property such as inheritances from previous wills, an estate that has nothing to do with the present marSid Mittra

MUTUAL WILL - A mutual will is one instrument created by two parties as their respective wills. Mutual wills, or joint wills, are neither the simplest nor the most efficient of wills and should be avoided if possiriage bond, or any other related holdings.

HOLOGRAPHIC WILL - This type of will is written entirely by hand by the individual, known as the testator or testatrix. Many legal battles have evolved over the use of a holographic will. Avoid this type of

BASIC STRUCTURE OF A WILL - A will can be a long, complicated document or it can consist of a single phrase, "I leave all my personal property and belongings to my spouse." Regardless of its complexity, the basic structure of a will should contain the following com-

 Exordium clause — This clause identifies the name, address and permanent residence of the testator. Thsi clause also invalidates all prior wills and declares this as the testa-

· Payment of debt and taxes clause - Oddly enough, this clause does exactly what the name indicates: directs the payment of debt and taxes

 Disposition of personal and real property clause - This clause provides for the disposition of personal property, such as furniture, jewelry, automobiles and clothing. It also directs the disposition of real estate

• Trust clause - This clause sets out the terms of any trust created by Appointment of fiduciary clause - This clause designates who will serve as executor of the will.

• Powers clause - This clause details the powers to be exercised by the executor. These include managing and selling property, handling the investible money in the estate and borrowing and lending it.

· Appointment of guardian clause - This clause designates who will serve as guardian of any minor

• Common disaster clause -

This clause specifies which spouse would be presumed to have survived the other in the event of simultane-

• Testimonium and attestation clause - This clause establishes that the testator recognized the will and provides for compliance with other requirements, such as signatures of witnesses.

CODICIL - Even the best-drawn wills may run into unexpected problems. Marriage or divorce might render a will obsolete. Other changes in the family, in the financial situation, or tax law, might require revision of the existing will.

An instrument, known as codicil, can be used to make these alterations in the will, thereby avoiding the problem of making a new will. The codicil should be drawn up by a lawyer, properly witnessed, and attached to the will.

There are, of course, situations in which it is better to draw up a new will rather than to modify the existing will with a codical.

Study finds caffeine increases stress respo

"Caffeine is the most widely used drug in the world, but we really don't know much about how it affects people," said William R. Lovallo, co-author of a new study on caffeine. "Our research is designed to produce results that can be generalized to dv-

Lovalle and his colleagues at the University of Oklahoma found a sharply increased stress-hormone response in hypertension-prone men who took caffeine while undergoing a demanding mental exercise. No such response occurred in a matched low-risk group.

The scientists compared 17 high-risk (because at least one parent had high blood pressure) men 21 to 35 years old with 17 men of the same ages but with so such family history. A tendency to develop high blood pressure often is passed from one generation to the next.

None of the 34 men had high blood pressure and those with a hypertensive parent were closen because they had blood pres-sures at the high end of the normal range, a second factor placing them at risk of devel-oping high blood pressure later in life, La-

The 17 with no family history were picked because their blood pressures were at the low end of the normal range, a second indicator of a low risk of hypertension later in life, he said.

APTER BOTH groups had taken caffeine and performed a demanding "psychomotor" test, researchers found the blood plasma of the hypertention-prone men contained sig-nificantly more cortisol, a stress-related hormone, than the plasma of the low-risk

"The results suggest that these men at high risk for hypertension were sensitive to caffeine and that caffeine combined with a demanding psychomotor challenge produced neuroedocrine (hormonal) signs of stress," Lavaloo said.

Caffeine alone did not increase the levels of cortisol in the high risk group. It was the task that produced the exaggirated corticol levels in hypertension-prone men, added Dr. Michael Wilson, co-author of the study. "This base't been shown before," he said.

"We are beginning to tease out some of the mechanisms and interactions that may cause permanent hypertension."

The psychomotor test given to the group involved pushing a button as fast as possible after a light turned on. The faster the participant reacted, the more money he earned as a reward. The caffeine given to them was the equivalent of two to three cups of coffee and was mixed with unsweetened grapefruit

In the study, the researchers found that some individuals, particularly the hyperten-blood pressure during the esterois and mus-caffeine exaggerated the response UV TO 10 BASED ON what is known, Levello re-commends that coffee drinkers have use; more than five cups a day since a few stud-ies have suggested that consuming more-than five a day is linked with a higher risk off heart disease. And the consumption of e-caffeine-containing soft drinks also should a be limited, Levello said.

"And during pariods of psychological and

"And during periods of psychological and physical stress; you should consume even less caffeine, especially if you have a parent, with high blood pressure," he said.

"We're not saying that caffeine is had for everybody," Wilson said, "but the effects in?

certain groups, such as those at high risk of developing hypertension, is quite striking."

Sights and sounds of autumn come alive these October weekends on the old Clinton Branch railroad line.

The Southern Michigan Railroad Society is operating fall color tours along the vintage railroad line Saturdays and Sundays through Oct. 29.

The trips begin in Tecumseh and travel the 151-year-old branch line across the River Ra-isin to Raisin Centre, where it in-tersects the Norfolk and Western Bailway. Travelers will be treated to cider and doughnuts during the station stop in Raisin Centre before the train returns to

The train will be made up of railroad "motorcars," gasolinepowered successors to the famed hand-pump cars. Once used to transport "gandy dancers" and materials to remote worksites, the cars are open-sided and riders should dress warmly for the twohour color tours.

THE TRAIN operates Saturday-Sunday, Oct. 21-22 and 28-29, departing on the hour between 11. a.m. and 4 p.m. Boarding will be at Evans and Pottawatamie streets, one block south of downtown Tecumseh. Fares are $7 for adults, $4 for children 5 to 12 years of age and free for children under age 5. Advance tickets are available at The Lucky Duck at the corner of Ev-ans and Chicago in Tecumseh, or by calling (517) 423-3269.

For more information, call the Southern Michigan Railroad Society at (517) 456-7677.

Ferko powers Canton past Salem

BILL BRESLER/staff photographe

Emily Giuliani of Salem cradles a rebound in Tuesday's game at Canton, while Christyn Halliday of the Chiefs tries to pry the ball loose. Canton won the game 58-29. Giuliani led the Rocks with six points.

staff writer

In one sweeping motion, Susan Ferko ducked under the basket, grabbed a rebound and used a power move for two points.

Ferko repeated that scenario plenty Tuesday night as host Plymouth Canton dominated the boards and rival Plymouth Salem 58-29 in girls basketball.

The Chiefs, rated No. 1 in Observerland, are 11-2 overall. The Rocks, who faced Canton for the first time since upsetting the Western Lakes Activities Association champion in the district final last November, fall to 6-7. "When the ball went up, we just concentrated on getting the rebound and second shots," said Ferko, who scored a game-high 25 points and hauled down a dozen or more re-

Unlike their close games in the recent past, the Chiefs left no doubt who was the better team this time, leading 32-16 at halftime and 44-24 after three quarters.

"WE STILL get ready for Salem like we do every game," Ferko said. "All of us were pumped up. It's always more exciting when we play Salem, no matter what the conditions.

Ferko, who had 10 field goals to the Salem team's eight, was supported by teammates Stacey Thompson and Jennie Clark. Thompson had 14 points - many coming on offensive putbacks, too - and Clark chipped in four as did Mary Barna and Shannon Murphy.

"Ferko, Clark and Thompson are the kids who have to pound the boards, and they did a great job tonight," Canton coach Bob Blohm said. "Our kids played well tonight. They came in focused."

What pleased Blohm most was the apparent improvement that was reflected in his team's play Tuesday.

"We had been turning the ball over too much, and when you get to Game 13 you wonder 'Is the team improving?'" he said. "That was very encouraging tonight. I was pleased our kids were able to step out, play a very intelligent game and be successful."

BILL BRESLER/staff photographs

The WLAA crossover game also was the first time Blohm and Salem coach Fred Thomann had opposed each other in a varsity contest, and it was the first time they were on the sideline together since they cocoached the Salem girls six years

"ANY TIME you play Salem which is a great rivalry — and a Salem team coached by Fred Thomann, you have to be ready to play," Blohm said.

The Chiefs had trouble with Salem's half-court press early, and the Rocks stay with Canton, trailing only 9-7 after a sweeping hook by Ferko broke a tie ballgame with less than three minutes to go in the first quar-

Thompson, who had eight first-period points, scored five of the team's next seven as the Chiefs moved in front 16-9 at the end.

"It starts off with Thompson intercepting the jump ball, and she scores on the play," Blohm said. "She was into the game right away, and the others followed suit.

"We were tentative against their trap. Finally, we loosened up, and Russ (point guard Jenny Russell) took things into her hands and started challenging it.

"People are probably getting tired of hearing it," he added, "but I thought Jenny Russell played another great game tonight.'

THE ROCKS made a run at Canton early in the second quarter, getting within 18-15 on Emily Giuliani's layup. But the Chiefs outscored Salem 14-1 in the remainder of the half. Ferko scored six of the points, all on putbacks.

"Susan really had a nice game," Thomann said. "They made some nice passes to her, and she finishedoff nicely. She's clearly one of the better players in the area and probably the state. "It's tough to play against her, but it's nice for her because she's really worked to get to the level she's at." Giuliani's six points were tops for Salem. Wendy Bailey and Betsy

McAllister had five apiece, Sarah Ruete four. While the Rocks are having a sub-par year compared to recent seasons, playing .500 ball would be considered a fine year at many schools. "We've got kids in the program who want to be successful and are striving to get to the next level," Thomann said. "We're not having what you'd call an outstanding season, but we do have a chance to play North Farmington for the division title if we do well against Walled Lake Central.

"So we still have goals out there and I see us headed in the right di

Chiefs make state finals

Observerland had reason to be proud of its showing in the Class A boys regional golf tournament at Brighton last week.

Farmington and Plymouth Canton were among the top three teams Friday at Oak Pointe Golf Course in Brighton and will compete for the state championship at Michigan State University's Forest Akers Golf Course this weekend.

Howell won the regional with 310 strokes, Farmington was the runnerup with 321 and the Chiefs were a close third with 323.

The emergence of the Falcons and Canton in post-season play was a reverse of the Western Lakes Activities Association meet three days ear-

Walled Lake Western won the league title with Livonia Churchill finishing second. Canton was third and Farmington a distant fifth, but that was turned around Friday with.

Western (335) coming in sixth and Churchill (346) 11th.

"I TOLD (HIS players) they'd have to play well and they did," said Farmington coach Gene Schoeneich, who admitted to being "sorta shocked" by the impressive regional results.

"I think they were feeling pretty low, because we had lost the city (crown), and they had to prove to themselves they could do it. And they are a good team."

Canton junior Rod Jesena, the regional runner-up last year, settled for second place again after losing a sudden-death playoff with Howell's Colby Pace on the second hole.

Both had tied for first place with 72 strokes, but Jesena hit his tee shot over the green on the par-3 11th hole, which measured 175 yards in

"I was on the green with (Plymouth Salem) coach (Rick) Wilson and said: 'Boy, I bet Rod doesn't know about the wind,' "Canton coach Fred Libbing said, adding the conditions had changed.

"He had to hit first, and he used the same club he had earlier. The tee is in a sheltered area, so you couldn't detect the wind but on the green you

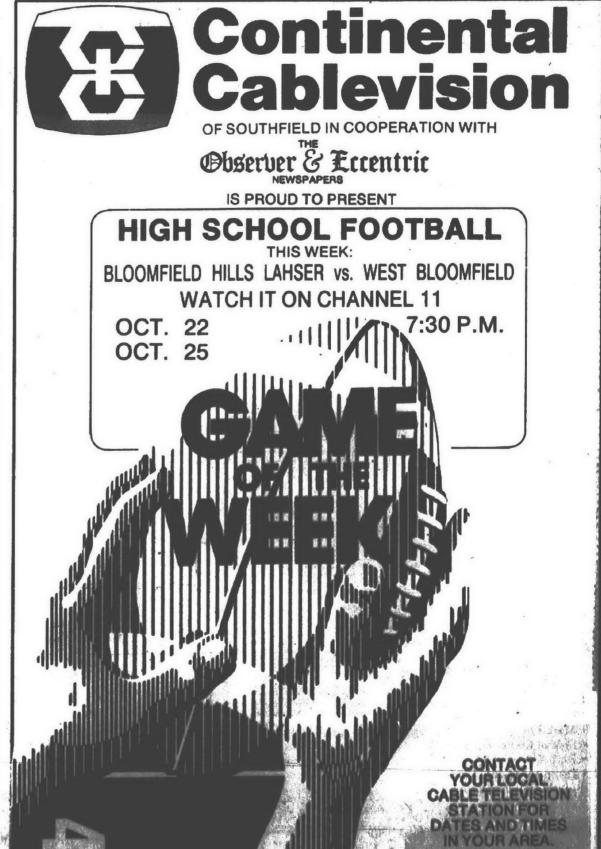

"(JESENA) BLEW it over the hole; the Holly kid saw what he did and was short. That's what happened, but it's still quite an honor to be runner-up to the medalist."

Skaters compete

Tammy Brown, a 19-yearold from Canton, practices her routine in preparation for the Plymouth Figure Skating Club's annual competition Saturday at the Cultural Center. Compulsory figures are scheduled for 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., compulsory moves 12:30 p.m. to 1:30 p.m. and freestyle and dence 2:15 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. Brown, a freehman at the University of Michigan, will compete in solo dance at the pre-gold level. Eighty skaters from various clubs are entered.

Victory puts SC atop region

The game was ever, and Schoolcraft College had every reason to rejoice after withstanding a Macomb Community College comeback to cap-ture a 3-1 mens soccer victory Saturday at Macomb. After all, the win puts SC in the driver's seat for the Region 12 title.

The Occiots jubilation was short-lived, however. Moments after the game ended, as the two teams met at midfield for the customary congratulations, words were exchanged; punches fol-

ALL OF WHICH detracted from a pivotal maich. Either SC or Macomb has represented the region in the National Junior College Athletic Association playoffs every year for the past decade.

As is normal when these two teams meet, the game was hard and rough, but SC was able to "play under control," as Ocelet ceach Van Dimitriou described it. And that, as much as anything, may have been the difference.

The Ocelots took a 1-0 lead in the first half after a restart following a Macomb foul near midfield. Khaled Zeidan took the kick, and he booted

"It was like the waters parted," said Dimitriou of Dinglie's effort. The SC stopper weaved his way past three Monarch defenders and buried a shot past Macomb keeper David White.

Still, the Ocelots had some shaky moments, particularly in the early moments of the second half. "I could see it coming," said Dimitriou. "We were in a daze out there." Macomb took advantage when John Vitale sped down the left wing and crossed a pass into Steve Ronney, who beat SC keeper Jeff Shuk to knot the score. IF MACOMB gained any momentum from the tying goal — and a tie game would have put the Monarche in a commanding position in the regional race — it didn't last long race — It didn't last long. Three minutes later, Zeidan got loose on a breakaway. As White came out from the goal to meet him, Zeidan popped the ball over the Macomb keeper. White decked Zeidan (no foul was called), but Brendan O'Reilly outraced a Macomb defender to the loose ball and headed it in for the go-

After that, it was just a matter of playing tight defense. SC was helped when Macomb's DiMaggio was red-carded after a hard tackle, forcing his team to play short a man for the last 18 minutes

"I think Schoolcraft did a helluva job," said Macomb coach Mick Lakatos. "They went to the ball well and did what they had to do to. They deserved to win.

"As far as what happened afterwards, what can say? Those were young kids' temperaments

Fortunately, neither team will face each other again this season, unless SC ties one of its final two regional games and a playoff for first is required. SC is 9-1-2 overall, 4-0-2 in the region; Macomb is 4-1-1 in the region.

Division switch puts SC in place

HE LOOK THAT spread across Dave Bogataj's face said all that need be said, really.

How does it feel, switching from the National Junior College Athlet-ic Association's Division I to Division II, the Schoolcraft College mens basketball coach was asked.

Bogataj knew the change in status had been in the works, but he had not received the word when the question was put to him.

When told the switch had, indeed, been made, Bogataj pressed his palms together and lifted them heavenward, sending a not-so-silent prayer of thanks to whoever would accept the call.

"I was hoping," admitted Boga-

HE WAS hoping the change would be made for a very basic reason: "By us playing in Division II, we will be competing against teams with the same recruiting power. We will be able to play teams on the same recruiting level.

The difference between the two divisions is enormous. Teams in the NJCAA Division I are allowed to give 24 full grants, including room and board. Division II teams are limited to 10 scholarships, with no room and board.

The change will not affect SC's program. The school was limited to 10 scholarships anyway, according to Michigan Community College Athletic Association bylaws.

Only two junior colleges in the state, Mott CC in Flint and Highland Park CC, are believed to be members of the NJCAA's Division I. Their status may change; schools are allowed to switch after three

THIS IS the first year SC could request a change in status. The NJCAA's second division, which exists only in mens basketball and golf, seemed a perfect place for SC. Other junior colleges, such as Oakland CC, Lansing and Delta, are far larger and are in the NJCAA II. Those three went on to win NJCAA

SC, however, was in a period of transition when the NJCAA II was formed. Mary Gans was giving up his athletic directorship for other duties at the college, and the mound of paperwork necessary to make the change to the second division was never initiated.

"This was one of my priorities when I got here," said SC's new athletic director, Marty Nowak 'It's a three-year commitment, and if you don't commit (to the NJCAA II), you're in Division I."

THE RANKS of the NJCAA II have swelled since its inception to almost 80, Nowak said. teams are realizing they can't compete with the Vincennes.

Lopsided recruiting competition is a prime example of the need for the NJCAA II. Vincennes is the only junior college in Indiana; it recruits nationwide and has dormitories for all of its students (which is mandated by the NJCAA; athletes cannot be given room and board if it is not available to all the college's students).

For Nowak, gaining entry into the NJCAA's second division was another step in the right direction for SC sports.

HE ALSO wanted to host an NJCAA regional. That goal was reached when SC was chosen as the site for the Region 12 volleyball tournament, which the Lady Ocelots should be favored to win.

How successful Nowak is in realizing another goal - keeping athletes academically eligible (which has been a problem, particularly in mens basketball) - remains to be

So far, he is encouraged by the Student-Athlete Support System which requires athletes to fulfill academic obligations each week to remain eligible. If Bogataj has the use of the players he recruits for an entire season, who knows? The next NJCAA II championship banner could be fluttering from SC's rafters.

Lady Ocelots gain tourney split

staff writer

It may take a month, maybe even more, but if the final goal is realized. people in the know just might look back on last weekend and proclaim it, "The turning point."

That, they may insist, is when the Schoolcraft College women's soccer team discovered its identity, after the Lady Ocelots battled back against formidable odds to unset the National Junior College Athletic Association's defending champion and No. 2-ranked team.

Don't misunderstand: There was nothing accidental or lucky about SC's 2-1 victory over Florissant Valley CC, from St. Louis, in Sunday's final match of the Schoolcraft College Tournament. The Lady Ocelots won with a determined effort, the kind that - more often than raw ability - carries teams to champi-

SC'S GAME-WINNING goal was a perfect example. The ball was centered out in front of the Florissant Valley goal by SC's Joan Arndt; teammate Cindy Bowman deflected it toward the net.

Angle Viviano, a reigning All-American, was in goal for Flo Valley. She made a remarkable attempt to prevent the goal, deflecting attempts by both Arndt and Bowman away from the net. But Bowman ed to give up. She finally just carried the ball into the goal with her body.

the match - guaranteed nothing. SC coach Nick O'Shea had benched keeper Tisha Guido, whom he felt had been struggling with a bad back, before the tournament. In her stead he shuttled several players, using Beverly DeJohn and Angee Stiglmaier against Flo Valley.

"That's why I was worried until the final whistle," O'Shea admitted after the victory.

A STRONG WIND from the south made the situation more tenuous for SC's inexperienced keepers. And that wasn't the end of the Lady Ocelots' problems.

"I had one sub today," said O'Shea after beating Flo Valley. It was an important victory, to be sure. In the tournament's first round Saturday, SC had been blanked 3-0 by another St. Louis team, Meramec CC. A second loss on its own field might have damaged the Lady Ocelots' NJCAA tournament chances.

The odds seemed stacked against SC when injuries decimated the lineup. Starting midfielder and co-captain Dawn Gabriel injured an ankle 15 minutes into Saturday's Meramec game. Lori Hodges was also nursing an injured ankle, and late in the Flo Valley match SC lost Amy Zanetti to a mild concussion.

"They played with quite a bit of intensity, especially with all the injuries," said O'Shea of his team, which improved to 8-3-1.

The Lady Ocelots knew it was going to be a struggle, particularly after Saturday's debacle. "We gave up three bad goals (against Meramec)," said O'Shea. more ball possession, but ball possession doesn't win games."

EVEN THOUGH DeJohn and Zanetti looked shaky in goal against Flo Valley - particularly DeJohn, who had the strong wind in her face in the first half - neither gave up an easy goal.

Bowman opened the scoring on a breakaway with 22 minutes left in the first half, a breakaway assisted by a Flo Valley defender. Shannon Meath tried to pop the ball forward to Bowman, but a defender intercepted. No matter, her attempt to head the ball away ended up on Bowman's foot as she sped for the Flo Valley net. Bowman beat Viviano to the right, and SC was ahead

Six minutes later, the game was tied. Flo Valley forward Kelly Drury was O'Shea's greatest concern, and Drury showed why by heading a crossing pass backwards, into the far corner of the net.

That was the end of the scoring in dent of his team's chances playing with the wind in the second half. "The wind was like an extra man,"

O'SHEA'S STRATEGY helped get the most out of every advantage. After scouting Flo Valley Saturday it defeated Monroe CC 1-0 - O'Shea shuffled his alignment.

Flo Valley was using five defenders, three midfielders and two forwards. SC countered with three defenders, five midfielders and two

"We took their five players (in the midfield and forward positions) out of the game," he said, adding all five were dangerous.

O'Shea also stuck defender Rose Hally on Drury, shadowing her. That move worked well, too.

As it turned out, the tournament which featured three of the top five teams in the NJCAA - couldn't have been more even. All four teams finished with a win and a loss. According to the tiebreaking formula, Meramec (the only unranked team in the field) won the title. Flo Valley was second.

Meramec defender Kelli Van Hoose was named defensive MVP; SC's Bowman got the offensive MVP

One other thing was gained at the tournament: a distinct feeling that three of these four teams will meet again, in the NJCAA tournament next month in Trenton, N.J.

You would think Westland John Glenn would have all the incentive in the world against Farmington Harrison when the two unbeatens (each 7-0) collide Friday night (game time 7:30 p.m.) for the Western Lakes Activities Association championship.

The Rockets are playing at home . . . and that's good news because they've beaten Harrison twice there before (1984 and 1987) to win WLAA titles.

But Glenn's home field is not a jinx for the defending state Class B champion Hawks, who own a 20-game winning streak and a national ranking.

"We beat Detroit Northern there once in the playoffs, and we even used the Glenn side," cracked Harrison coach John Herrington. "I don't remember those two other

And if that's not incentive enough, Glenn is hoping to make amends for last year's embarrassing 45-7 defeat at the hands of host Harrison in the 1988 WLAA title game.

'No one from John Glenn played that day the way they were capable of, but I'm not sure if we could have won that game anyway," said Glenn coach Chuck Gordon. "That Harrison team of a year ago was the best team in the state, regardless of class.

cumstances, but they beat us so badly last year that it makes me nervous, and that it could happen again."

GORDON and Herrington have formed a mutual admiration society despite last year's surprisingly wide spread.

The Glenn coach respects just about every facet of Harrison's game, starting with All-State quarterback Mill Coleman, who has completed 66 of 109 passes for 1,142 yards and 12 touchdowns (only two interceptions), not to mention his 413 yards rushing and three more TDs.

"They come at you in so many ways," Gordon said. "Mill is not only a great thrower, but he has tremendous feet. He has that great escape ability and that presents a Herrington, meanwhile, is leery of Glenn quarterback Eric Stover, who was the starting QB last season against Harrison.

This season, Stover has passed for nearly 800 yards and completed 60 percent of his

Last week he engineered a Joe Montanalike two-minute, 82-yard drive to give Glenn a 7-6 last-second win last week over previously unbeaten Plymouth Salem.

"He's very poised and he runs the team very well," Herrington said. "He has a good ootball arm, too. He's a year older, an experienced quarterback."

Gordon, meanwhile, realizes that Harrison is more than just Mill "The Thrill."

SENIOR TAILBACK Matt Conley has rushed 526 yards and 10 TDs, while Joe George has caught 18 passes for 225 yards. Another Harrison receiver, Mike Saputo, has added 312 yards in 12 receptions.

"They're excellent," said the Glenn coach. They can come at you with so many weapons. They're not a one-dimensional team at Herrington, meanwhile, is concerned about the Rockets' launching pad, which consists of tailback Shannon Layne (nearly 800 yards rushing), fullback Alonzo Jackson, tight end Garnett Woody and wide receivers David Ryan and Mark Wetmore.

"That scares you because they have a little bit of everything," Herrington said of Glenn. "They're terrific because they can run the ball with Layne and Jackson, but

"And their linemen are always big. The numbers change from year to year, but they always have people who are big and physi-

Gordon must also be concerned with Harrison's defense, which has adjusted well this season despite 10 new faces in the lineup.

With coach (Bob) Sutter they're always sound fundamentally," Gordon said. "They're always well-coached. They won't do dumb things to hurt themselves. They're also sound in what they do strategy-wise."

DESPITE SEVEN STRAIGHT lopsided wins this season, Harrison needs to be sharper going into the Glenn game this week, according Herrington.

"We haven't played as well as we've liked that past few weeks, but we had 411 yards in offense last week against Plymouth Canton (previously unbeaten), so I guess I can't complain too loudly," said the Harrison coach. "But we've made some mistakes and had some penalties that I wish we could

The high-powered Hawks have seen just about every defense imaginable over the course of the 1989 season.

Glenn may present a different look, but both coaches agree the game will come down to blocking and tackling.

"You still think you've get to play well up front," Gordon said. "Both teams have to run the ball and give the quarterback time at the line of scrimmage."

Adds Herrington: "They always hit us and we hope to hit them as hard. You still have to do the fundamental-type things to win." If the game is close, it could come down to the kicking game.

HARRISON RETURNS All-Observer kicker Steve Hill, while Glenn counters with the strong leg of Wes Taylor.

But the player who could tip the scales again in the Glenn-Harrison matchup is Coleman, one of the most prolific and heralded quarterbacks ever produced in this state.

Ironically, Herrington hints that Coleman could play some at safety on defense.

"He played there against Saginaw Arthur Hill (the season opener) and last week he played some against Canton (in a 28-7 win)," said the Harrison coach. "He has speed and savvy. He could be back there for us in a crucial game."

Gordon would like nothing more than to make the Hawks use Coleman on defense. but then again, maybe that isn't such a good idea because Harrison doesn't need anymore

WLAA, Metro champion-ships at stake

By Dan O'Meara and Brad Emons staff writers

EAGUE CHAMPIONSHIPS will be on the line Friday night in the Western Lakes Activities Association and the Metro Conference. Highly touted Farmington Hills Harrison and always-solid Westland John Glenn will decide the WLAA winner for the third consecutive year when they meet under the lights at Glenn. Harrison is rated No. 1 in Class B and Glenn No. 7 in Class A. Both are 7-0.

No team other than these two has ever won the WLAA championship. In the Metro Conference, once-beaten Livonia Clarenceville, enjoying its finest season in years and 6-1 overall, can claim a share of the title with a victory over visiting Auburn Hills Avondale.

The Rhinos are 7-0 and ranked No. 7 in Class B. Avondale, a perennial power that has dominated this series, won 47-7 last year. The Trojans will be looking for revenge Friday night.

League member Detroit Lutheran West will be hoping for a Trojan victory, also. The Leopards share second place with Clarenceville - both with 4-1 marks - and would figure in a tri-championship should the Trojans win.

On the prognosticating scene, Brad Emons extended his lead over colleague Dan O'Meara last week. Emons was 10-5, the other guy (who ever remembers the runner-up, anyway?) 9-6.

That puts Emons at 78-22 for the season, who wasit 73-27. O'Meara, by the way, will relocate after this season to Minnesota - the home of such noted runners-up as Hubert Humphrey, the Vikings and Walter Mondale.

FRIDAY'S GAMES (All games at 7:30 p.m. unless noted)

Farm. Harrison at Westland Glenn: The primaries are over. They took place last Friday when Harrison beat Plymouth Canton (28-7) and Glenn edged Plymouth Salem (7-6) to win division titles. The Hawks had a shaky second half that included four turnovers, and the Rockets had to convert a third-and-38 pass to keep alive its lastminute, game-winning drive. Regardless, this matchup can't be considered anything less than another classic Harrison-Glenn game. PICK: The Hawks, with the help of Mill Obleman's arm, wing their way to a second straight title.

Northville at Ply. Salem: These played on the second Friday of the season, and the Rocks won 14-0. That might seem like an usually low score for a team that boasts a 6-1 record, but the game was played in muddy, soup-like conditions. That was the badweather weekend when lightning and thunderstorms forced postponement of many games. PICK: Salem has a more impressive win this time and keeps alive its playoff

Walled Lake Western at Liv. Stevenson: The host Spartans are 3-5 after trimming Farmington last week and has some momentum heading into this WLAA crossover game. The Warriors are 1-6 and might be down after Churchill drove for the winning score in the final seconds Friday. 23-21. PICK: O'Meara made a big mistake picking Western to win last week, but he puts his faith in the Warriors once again. Emons takes

Liv. Franklin at Walled Lake Central: The situation is the same as in the Western-Stevenson game. The Livonians are 2-6, the Walled Lakers 1-6. The latter, however, hasn't won since the first week of the season and is 0-6 against WLAA teams. The Patriots finally showed some offense a week ago when they pummeled Northville 25-7. PICK: Franklin adds to the Vikings' losing streak.

Avondale at Liv. Clarenceville: The Rhinos struggled to beat Lutheran North (6-0) in their last game, which might raise the Clarenceville hopes. The Trojans beat the Mustangs 28-6. On the other hand, the Trojans lost to Lutheran West 6-0, and Avondale romped 42-6 over the Leopards. PICK: Neither the Clarenceville defense nor any zookeeper can restrain the Rhinos. Emons likes Clarenceville in an upset.

Bay City Glenn at Garden City: The visitors from the north are 7-0 and playing for a: possible Class A playoff berth. Glenn, champion of the White Pine Conference, has won league titles in five of the last eight years. The Bobcats, a running team that has outscored its opponents an average 34-11, are led by halfback Bryce Sturtz (5-10, 170), the school's career rushing leader who has scored 14 touchdowns this fall. The host Cougars are 1-6. PICK: Glenn wins this production of Cats. Redford Union at Waterford Mott, 7 p.m.: The Panthers (0-7) haven't won since the season opener, only to forfeit, but their chances for a second victory look pretty good this week. The Corsairs are 2-5. Mott is led by wide receiver Al Arellano, a former soccer player in his first season of football. Through six games, he had 23 receptions for 366 yards and six TDs. He also gives the Corsairs a field-goal threat. James Branch is the leading rusher with 309 yards. PICK: O'Meara says RU won't make apple sauce out

Wayne Memorial at Trenton: These teams are have been headed in opposite directions all season, and that trend should continue with this game. The Zebras are 5-2, their host 2-5. The Trojans are coming off a 22-0 loss to first-place Dearborn Fordson, a team Wayne nearly beat but for a late touchdown that gave the Tractors a 22-17 victory. PICK: The Zebras hit a high note against Trenton.

SATURDAY'S GAMES (all games 1 p.m. unless noted)

Liv. Churchill at Farmington: The Chargers (2-5) own a two-game winning streak after a poor start, although they played tough competition the first four weeks. Farmington (1-6) can tell you something about playing a rugged schedule, but the Falcons missed their chance to win two straight by losing to Stevenson last week. PICK: Churchill keeps the fans cheering.

Pty. Canton at N. Farmington: This is the best of the rest among the WLAA crossover games. Canton is 6-1, the Raiders 5-2. North's defense will present a problem for the Chief offense, which went flat against Harrison. But the question is: Can the Raiders move the ball on a pretty good Canton defense? PICK: The Chiefs rebound and keep their playoff hopes alive, too. North is Emons' choice.

Taylor Kennedy at Red. Thurston: Kennedy has won three straight — all by shutout since losing 11-9 to Allen Park. The Eagles have blanked Annapolis, Melvindale and Truman by a combined 48-0 count. Kennedy and Allen Park are co-leaders in the Tri-River with 4-1 records. Thurston (3-4) is on Cloud Nine after whipping Crestwood 27-0. PICK: The visiting Eagles bring Thurston back down to earth.

N. Branch Wesleyan at Luth. Westland: No need to make a prediction here. Wesleyan (4-3) has forfeited the remainder of its schedule, because injuries have reduced the team's roster to just 10 players. Lutheran Westland goes to 4-4 without playing a down.

Birm. Brother Rice vs. Bishop Borgess, 7:30 p.m. at Garden City Junior High: The Spartans saved the best for last, but that isn't necessarily good. Borgess (1-6) will have a load on its hands when the unbeaten (7-0) and No. 1-ranked Warriors come calling, even if quarterback Bob Utter (injured shoulder) is out. "We're healthy as we can get," said Borgess coach Walt Bazylewicz. "But maybe t should try that Oral Roberts treatment." PICK: Rice makes it hurt. Borgess looks for help from Mother.

Redford CC vs. Warren DeLaSalle, 7:30 p.m. at Livonia Clarenceville, Don't took, for a high-scoring game here. The Shamrocks don't score a for of points, and DeLaSalle isn't capable of it, not against a defense like CC's. The Shamrocks are 6-1, the East Siders 3-4. PICK: CC says the Pilots are grounded.

St. Agatha vs. Drbn. St. Alphonsus, 7:30 p.m. at RU's Kraft Field: It's first place to versus last place in this Catholic League C-Section confest. The Aggles have won six straight and are 6-1 overall. St. Alphonsus, coached by former St. Agatha assistant Kurt Wentzel, has a young team and is 0-7. The Arrows have been shut out five times and have scored only 15 points. PICK: The Aggies march into the Silverdome for next weekend's annual Pren Bowl.

CC gridders frustrate Fighting Irish

Led by senior tackle Ryan Bell fense, 250-176. (eight tackles and one sack), Redford Catholic Central recorded its sixth shutout in seven games Saturday, defeating host Harper Woods Notre Dame, 7-0.

CC is 6-1 overall and 3-1 in the Central, while the Irish slipped to 3-4

Dave Owens scored the game's lone TD late in the first half on a 6yard run, capping an 87-yard, 14play drive. The senior tailback finished with 142 yards rushing in 29 carries. (Owens now has 801 yards rushing in 167 attempts this season for a 4.8 yard per carry average.)

Jack Davidson, a junior starting his second straight game at quarterback, completed five of six passes for 60 yards. Jason Carr, coming off a broken thumb, also saw action.

Notre Dame's leading rusher, Dezjuan Reynolds, who did not enter the lineup until the second quarter (due to injury). He finished with just 41 yards in 17 carries. CC also limited the Irish to five completions in 19 passing attempts. (The Shamrocks' Brian Chaney intercepted a pass late in the game.)

Notre Dame missed a pair of scoring chances, failing on field goal attempts of 43 and 52 yards.

DeLaSALLE 17, BISHOP BOR-GESS 8: In another Catholic League Central encounter Saturday at Roseville Memorial Field, Warren DeLaSalle (3-4, 1-3) defeated visiting Redford Bishop Borgess (1-6, 0-4).

Borgess lost despite outgaining the Pilots in total yardage, 243-199. DeLaSalle took a 3-0 halftime lead on a

Post-smoking exercise reduces weight gain

I've just stopped smoking after 20 years of the habit. I have a fear of gaining weight. What should I do?

I think I've answered this question 100 times in the last few years. Medically speaking, I have talked to physicians who think smoking will increase our metabolism. I don't know whether this is a proven fact. I do know, however, that weight gain after smoking ceases is

A recent study was taken on three group of former smokers. The first group ate what they wanted; the second group carefully watched what they are and did not eat more food; and the third group also watched their food intake and added exercise to their daily routine.

As we expected, the first group gained the most weight. The other two groups also gained, but, naturally, not as much. The second group gained about half as much as the first and the third group gained

The exercise cut down the weight gain considerably. Physicians say weight gain is a sign that your body is getting healthier.

Smoking is not only bad for your lungs, but also your intestines. Smoking makes your intestinal lining so raw and irritated that many nutrients that would normally be absorbed are allowed to pass

When you stop smoking, the intestinal lining becomes pink and healthy again. Nutrients that passed through are now being absorbed and you do gain some weight from this process.

My advice to you is naturally cut down your food intake. Avoid animal fats and become a vegetarian for a while (during this transition period). I suggest foods high in complex carbohydrates. These foods will give you the energy you need to exercise five to six days per week. Alternate your exercise days to hard and easy so as not to put too much stress on the body.

Trade up one bad habit for a good habit. The exercise also will help the mental stress you may have at this time.

Hunters need field-dressing class pick with bunters,

"If it was up to me, there would be a regulation requiring all hunters to take a class in field dressing of wild game before they even step into the woods," Graves said.

The problem is that many hunters don't know the first thing about field dressing their game. And that aspect of the sport of hunting is just as important as the pre-hunt preparations

"Every hunter should learn how to properly field dress wild game," ex-plained Graves. "If it's done properly, you can save an awful lot of meat. If it's not done properly, you can lose an awful lot of meat."

Graves, who is retired from the Oakland County Road Commission, learned his butchering skills while working in a food locker after serving in World War II. With the help of his family, Graves has processed close to 300 deer each year for the last 20 years out of his north Oakland County home (he lives on Division Street in Oxford). Obviously, that doesn't leave much time for hunting. "I don't hunt too much myself anymore," admitted Graves.
"My son usually gets out the first day of rifle season, but that's it. After that we're too busy.'

THE BIGGEST problem Graves runs into with the deer people bring to him for processing is that many of the deer are not cleaned out thor-

"People should be sure to clean the deer out completely. By that I mean to wash the insides with clean water then dry it with a clean towel or rag as soon as possible," Graves said. "Hunters should also be sure to remove the bladder and the rectum. On does, many people leave the milk bag in the deer and they usually still have milk in them. It only takes a day or two for that milk to go sour and that will also sour the meat.

> — Don Graves veteran meat processor

Let's face it, hunters, field dressing is a dirty job, but it must be done. If you wait to let the processor do the work, you'll undoubtedly tarnish and/or lose a bundle of meat.

Throw a pair of rubber or plastic gloves in with your hunting gear. It helps make the job a little easier. Wearing gloves is also a good precautionary measure to protect against contacting Lyme Disease. Lyme Disease is transmitted to the bloodstream of humans through the bite of a deer tick. It is not known if the disease can be transmitted through contact with blood alone, but it's better to be safe now than sorry later.

If you've never field-dressed any wild game, ask someone who has to give you a hand. Don't start hacking away, or you'll undoubtedly do more damage than good.

GRAVES ALSO dispelled a couple of myths about hanging and storing

It is a good idea to hang fresh meat for a few days before processing. This will allow the blood to drain from the meat, which will take away some of the wildness in the taste. The hanging time also allows the cells in the meat to begin to break down - the process that dictates tenderness of the meat.

The ideal temperature for hanging venison is 32 to 40 degrees. In this temperature range, deer can actually hang for up to two weeks without the meat being damaged. However, Graves encourages hunters not to let a deer hang for more than four or five days.

"To hang a deer for more than four or five days is foolish," Graves said. "You will lose a lot of flavor

In warmer weather, it's best not to hang a deer for more than a couple of days. If the temperature reaches 65 to 70 degrees, the hunter should get the deer to a processor as soon as

Although excessive heat will accelerate the decaying process, the

The best thing to do, according to Graves, is to hang the deer with the hide intact in a cool, shady area and cover it with a tarp or canvass. Leave the bottom of the tarp open for ventilation. Then sprinkle pepper throughout the inside of the deer.

'If the weather is warm, leave the hide on and sprinkle the inside of the carcass with pepper," Graves said.
"The pepper will keep the flies away and keep them from laying eggs on the carcass. The peppered meat can later be cut away without much

GRAVES ALSO explained that, contrary to popular belief, it is all right to re-freeze venison.

'Many times people have venison in their freezer, the freezer breaks and the meat thaws," Graves explained. "They can't eat all the meat so they throw it away. That makes no sense at all. Unless the meat has been completely thawed for two or three days, you can re-freeze the meat and it won't hurt it at all."

Michigan law states that hunters cannot keep venison in their freezers for more than six months - an effort to help law enforcement officials combat poaching. But permits can be obtained from the Michigan Department of Natural Resources to keep meat in the freezer for a longer period of time.

'I wouldn't recommend keeping it more than a year," Graves said. "But actually, if you kept it for two years you probably wouldn't have

Observer & Eccentric CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

Today's real estate market can be very frustrating, especially if you're selling your home. We've all heard the bad news about interest rates and the scarcity of qualified buyers. But don't give up! There are many different ways to find qualified buyers, and many different types of financing. Observer & Eccentric area Realtors are selling homes by using creative financing methods you may never even have heard of. They're trained professionals, and they can find the home-buyer you're looking for.

'Our Town' at a glance

Birmingham's fourth annual "Our Town" art exhibiton and sale, in the planning for a year, is up and open to visitors all weekend. More than 300 two-dimensional works of art from 150 Michigan artists were juried into the show by Leslie Masters, artist, teacher and former assistant director of the Birmingham Bloomfield Art Association.

The five-day event, which kickedoff yesterday with a fund-raiser/ gala, is open free of charge 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. through Sunday, 380 S. Bates, Birmingham.

Carson Business Interiors of Southfield, sponsors of the event since it began, will present $10,000 in prizes to the artists at an awards ceremony and tea at 4 p.m. Sunday. Masters will present, "The Juror's Perspective" as she leads a tour of the show 1:30-3 p.m. Friday. Refreshments will be served The cost is $8.

The artists from all over Michlgan, including the Upper Peninsuls, bring many interpretations of "hometown" and its special meaning to them into their work in a variety of media — from oils, acrylics and watercolor to ink, woodcuts, collage, mixed media and photography.

Our Town, sponsored by Carson Business Interiors of Southfield, is a fund-raiser for The Birmingham Community House. Begun in 1921, The Community House annually attracts more than 360,000 people from the tri-county area to its wideranging calendar of educational and cultural activities. For information call, 644-5832.

"Bash Bish Falls," a 21-color print by Lucille Procter Nawara, is among the works shown at The Community House. Her interest in landscape began in childhood and was further nurtured by mountain climbing expeditions during adulthood.

"Faith of Our Fathers" is by Charles Gillies, an illustrator for a Troy firm. One of his paintings, "Jesus Walking on the Water," was selected in the 1986 Society of Illustrators' 28th annual exhibition in New York.

Lillian Moran's vivid watercolor abstractions can be seen in her "Fanfare." She aims at providing her audience with a kaleidoscopic view of the world.

"The Kitchen, Rochester Hills Museum," a photo of the farm kitchen in the historic Van Hoosen farmhouse by Karen Spitsbergen-Richardson, is also featured at The Community House.

Surprising show offers optimistic views

By Helen Zucker staff writer.

The remarkable landscape show currently on view at the Rubiner Gallery is an eclectic mix that somehow manages to rest the eye rather than confuse it.

The 25 artists with works hanging on the walls hail from all parts of Michigan, the Maine coast, Denver, the Napa Valley in California, Ohio and Boston. All in all, they represent a fair sampling of what's happening in landscape painting as we ap-

The pleasant feel of the show is all the more surprising in light of the dire predictions about our ruined landscape.

FAR FROM giving us images of ruin, Richard Jerzy, who teaches at the Center for Creative Studies, gives us three views of lush gardens in Indian Village.

Jerzy plays down the buildings behind his "Garden In July," "Dahlia Garden" and "Garden With Blossoming Apple." His brushstrokes are Soutine-like in texture, and the paint builds so that his blooms-seem to be pushing out of the canvas as well as out of the rich loam of downtown Details.

Tino Zago's powerful "La Porta" is a semi-abstract view of a scorching sunset behind rocks rising out of a turbulent sea. The sea slithers between the rock formations, then stretches into the horizon. Whatever port lies at the bottom of the canvas is dealt with in a series of quick, stretching from one end of the canvas to the other, sheds its light on everything. Man-made objects seem insignificant in this light. Despite the obvious modern technical achievement of this painting, the vision behind it is either late 19th century, or else the heated globe we've been warned is coming is not going to affect the earth as badly as expected.

The red sun above the rocks,

Zago, who was born in Michigan and went to Yale and Cranbrook, lives abroad and is showing at the O.K. Harris Gallery in New York.

Well-known Richard Koslow's
"Crater Lake," a dreamscape of the mind despite its being a real place, is an offshoot of Koslow's 40-foot-long mural at the new Michigan Library
Museum and Archives Building in

Using semi-pointilist techniques, Koslow manages to keep a clarity of line that invokes trees in the foreground, and hills in the distance beyond the dreaming lake. A deliberate blurring of pinkr and blue-greens keeps the essence of "Crater Lake" intact. Another canvas, "Ocean," subtly uses many shades of blue to evoke the sea and sky; flecks of rust on the beach play up the foaming

CAROL AND ALAN Rubiner, who own one of the oldest galleries in Oakland County, put this show together by inviting artists to do a new landscape and stud it is.

These include now artists — like William Francisco Vintors they found while biking in Maine — and artists like Migneratic Vin Cham Artist least to action of the Little Champarity (Champarity (Champa Burkert, whose work they've shown for many years.

Bracken's watercolors have a Wyeth-like feel. He does horses centered on the canvas in front of the great Maine coast, and his pictures are filled with air and light.

Cheng came up with lovely, textured leaf patterns, and Betsey Margolius of Denver sent rich work of the Jamaican landscape. Margolius, who lives near the snow-capped Rockies, goes to Jamaica to paint.

FRITZ MAYHEW stays home in Bloomfield Hills, works at Ford and manages to make time to do large watercolors of landscapes that expose the beautiful country we still have Up North. Mayhew works well in varying shades of brown and sepia, flecking the surface with drifting snowflakes.

Nathaniel Larrabee of Ohio University does cityscapes without people. His flat, orange rooftops, lit with dusky light, inevitably remind one of Hopper. But the roofs seem smaller; whether squashed together, or simply friendlier than Hopper's cityscapes are, depends on the viewer's

I was impressed by Richard Minuzzo's large abstract from the Napa Valley. The struts of a great bridge sweep across the painting golden land beyond it, a strutch of sky above; a bent surdine can, a small wheel and a miniscule metal object indicating debris beneath the bridge. But the benuty of the land-scape easily overtakes the rubbish. Minuzio seems to suggest that a recently asked several area writers if they'd read any good books lately, I wasn't surprised to hear that the answer was a resounding "yes." If you're cu-rious about recent favorites, read on.

LINDA BARTELL, author of "Britanny" (Avon) and other romance novels:

"I'm reading a historical romance, Seize the Fire' (Avon), that I think is absolutely wonderful, and also happens to be written by a friend of mine, Laura Kinsale. I'm about seven-eighths of the way through the book, and I've actually put it away for awhile because I don't want it to end for me, although I've never done that with a book before. It's set in the 1820s in Europe and the Falk-

"I'm also reading Anne Rice's 'In-terview with the Vampire' (Ballantine), which Laura Kinsale recommended. It's very different, very strange, but has really held my interest from the beginning."

LOREN ESTLEMAN, author of the newly-published "Peeper" (Bantam) and the popular Amos Walker detective series:

"Right now, I'm into 'Queen of the Damned' (Knopf) by Anne Rice. It's really quite a good (novel), set in ancient Egypt, about a woman who 'founded the vampire movement.'
I've read all of Rice's vampire books, and really like her (work) a lot. She opens up a whole new world, and really draws you into it.

"I also just finished an extremely well-written biography of Clark Gable, 'Long Live the King' (Heinemann), by D.H. Binney. I read biographies often. I think they've become high art."

MAIDA PORTNOY, area freelancer: "I'm just getting started with 'A Summons to Memphis' (Ballantine) by Peter Taylor, and I love it so far. I haven't read any of Peter Taylor's books before, and I'm planning to go back now and read others. I bought the book several months ago, but my husband, Bob, got to it before I did, and recommended it to me. It's beautifully-written.

JULIA GRICE, author of "How to Find Romance After 40" (Paperjacks), and "What Makes a Woman Very Sexy" (Dodd-Mead), plus "Lovefire," a best-selling historical romance. "White Palace" (Bantam) by Glenn Savan. It's a romance with characters who are alive and wonderful. I'm even recommending that some of my writing students read it.

'I think writers should read to keep up with their craft, and I'm reading 'How to Write Mysteries, (Writer's Digest Books) by Shannon Ocork. How to plot, how to develop (characters), all about 'red herrings' - she puts it all in very simple CORINNE ABATT, editor of the DON BELTON, author of "Almost Midnight" (William Morrow): "I'm really enjoying a book, which is a first novel. The title is 'A Visitation of Spirits" (Grove Press) and it's written by Randall Keenan. It's a really courageous book in terms of form and content. He sort of plays around with both, and really succeeds. Exciting things are going to be happening in the '90s in terms of gay men telling the stories of their lives.

"Another book, 'Sisters of the Spirit' (Indiana University Press), is simply incredible. These are 'religious memoirs,' written in the 1800s for a religious audience, by three black women who were evangelistic preachers. They were free, well-educated women: Jarena Lee, Zilpha Elaw, and Julia Foote, and the writing is very powerful. Much of the book is involved with stories of the journeys these women took in those days. The language is beautiful, and the book has really meant a lot to me. It really inspires."

TIM KISKA, Detroit News columnist and author of the recently-published "Detroit's Powers and Personalities" (Momentum): "I'm reading Thomas McGuane's 'Keep the Change' (Houghton Mifflin). I've read pretty much everything he's written. His settings are places like Florida and Montana, and I enjoy reading stories set against those backgrounds. You don't have to live in New York or Los Angeles to write a good book. His books are always tightly-crammed with great stuff. In fact, he makes me want to smash my fingers and throw my typewriter briefly speaking

 POLISH HERITAGE
 Madomia College, in honor of Polish Heritage Month, will present a Polish exhibit in the library wing on the college campus though Tuesday, Oct. 31.

Sponsored by the Polish Centennial Club, the exhibit will feature a tapestry of the Black Madonna (Our Lady of Czestochowa) along with native costumes, dolls, jewelry in crystal and amber, handcrafted wood and leather items plus Polish books, records, pictures and greeting and post cards.

Madonna is at I-96 and Levan Road in Livonia.

PHOTOGRAPHY EXHIBIT

The loan collection of Professional Photographers of America will be on display in Laurel Park Mall, Newburgh and Six Mile roads, Livonia, on through Friday, Oct. 20. Sponsoring the exhibit will be LaMoore Photography of Livonia. The loan collection is a series of top-scoring photographs chosen from the PPA's annual international print competition. The photographs represent the best of professional photography in portrait, commercial, industrial, wedding and unclassified (scenics) work. The prints were among only 280 selected for the collection from approximately 5,500 entries submitted for critique by qualified professional juries.

SINGERS NEEDED

Singers are needed for a performance by the Christian Community Chorus of Handel's "Messiah" at 7 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 10 in Our Lady of Sorrows Church, Farmington. Rehearsals will be every Sunday from 3-5 p.m. starting Sunday, Oct. 22 at our Lady of Sorrows, 23615 Power Road. Solo auditions will be 2-3 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 5 and 12 at Sorrows church. For more information, call John Stenson, 476-5133.

• POTTERS GUILD

A reception at 8 p.m. Saturday will kick off the opening of an exhibit by the Potters Guild of Ann Arbor at the Homestead Gallery, 136 S. Pontiac Trail, Walled Lake. The exhibit will continue through Sunday, Nov. 5. For more information, call 669-8980.

• PARKFAIR

Parkfair, a metropolitan festival of art, will be presented 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 28 in the North Rosedale Park Community House, 18445 Scarsdale at Glastonbury roads, Detroit. Featured will be jewelry, sculpture, pottery, ells, watercolors, prints, photography, woodcraft and other items. There will be a supervised art activity area for

• FACULTY RECITAL

Use brass accents to tone down orange

Q. Our family is really caught up with Halloween. We have Jack-o-lanterns in our dining and family rooms. My problem is I can't stand the color orange and am looking for ways to minimize the rustic look in favor of something more elegant. What would you suggest? And, by the way, what does the rejection of the color orange mean?

A. The way you can offset orange or any other bright color is to use other more powerful colors and textures to overwhelm the color. In this instance, I would suggest brass or copper accessories on a bold scale. You can easily find animal sculptures and candlesticks for both your dining and family rooms.

Incorporate brass or copper plate liners for your table setting. They'll look dramatic with white plates. Add pheasant feathers and grey-colored foliage, such as eucalyptus to your dried flower arrangements. Avoid any further use of orange, or even apricot. Shift into deep brown-cast reds, greens and whites for the tablecloth or any other item you care to introduce into these rooms. In this way, the brightest orange will become a mere accent.

Your dislike of orange usually signifies that you want to achieve serious goals and will not indulge in feelings for their own sake. You are also suspicious of people with overly friendly facades.

Q. I'm a 38-year-old male with grey-blue eyes and reddish brown hair. Because I'm outdoors a lot, my complexion is quite ruddy. I've heard about special colors for wornen to enhance their looks. Can any of these principles apply to men? I'm in business and need any type of competitive edge available.

A. Most color advice for women is based on either enhancing existing color of the complexion, eyes and hair, or or compensating for the lack of flattering color. For men, the color principles are somewhat different. Above all, you must avoid the colorful look, especially in a competitive business environment. This doesn't mean you should look drab

Try to strike a balance, in between the two extremes. Because you have reddish brown hair and a ruddy complexion; avoid greens because they exaggerate warm colors by contrast. Also avoid yellow and yellow ochre. Stick to blue, greys, black, cool beiges and a grayed brown called

An ideal outfit for you would look something like this: A navy blue, fine pin-striped suit either in a single, or double-breasted style, coordinated with a white dress shirt, accented with very fine pencil stripes in blue. The tie should be in a bright navy color for a real power look, or in a blue-cast, deep red with a small pattern. Don't experiment with the extra wide tie sizes or unusual patterns.

Make sure your cap-toed shoes are not in a too heavy style and that your socks are of a fine knit. Select a trench coat or a fine camel hair that isn't too warm in its color, but possesses a grayed or cool cast beige or taupe. Don't forget that impeccable grooming is the finishing touch that says you are to be taken serious-

"What I like about what I do," explains "Fat Bob" Taylor, "is that I get to do so many differ-

At 8 p.m. Friday, Nov. 10, in the Livonia Civic Center Library auditorium, he will do one of the things he does best and that is singing some of everyone's favorite songs mainly from stage shows and movies.

A special highlight will be a patriotic segment in honor of the nationwide observance of Veterans Day the following day.

Tickets at $3 are available at the library at 32777 Five Mile Road, during regular library hours. The event is sponsored by the Livonia Arts Commission and is part of an ongoing series of community events. Seating is limited.

"FAT BOB" IS perhaps best known in this area through his singing of the national anthem before Detroit Tiger ballgames, something he has done on opening days for the past 20 years. He has also sung the national anthem on opening games for the other Detroit sports teams, the Pistons, Red Wings and Lions.

Formerly part of the weekend lineup for radio station WJR, Taylor now has a regular morning radio show at WPZA, the station that was WPAG before pizza magnate Tom Monahan bought it and moved it to his Domino Farms complex in Ann Arbor. He also does a cooking show called "Fat Bob's Kitchen" for a Dearborn cable sta-

Taylor, who has also made several guest appearances with the Livonia Symphony (previous ly Oakway), was once the proprietor of a plumbing supply firm. It was during those days that he acquired the nickname "The Singing Plumber."

It was during his tenure at WJR that he was dubbed "Fat Bob" by radio personality J. P. McCarthy — a nickname that has stuck like the tire around his waist, Taylor says with a smile.

He lives his wife, Carol Ann, a senior graphic artist at the University of Michigan, on a farm outside Ann Arbor where they tend the llamas (which they sell as exotic pets), ducks, geese, 16 (count 'em, 16) cats and a burro.

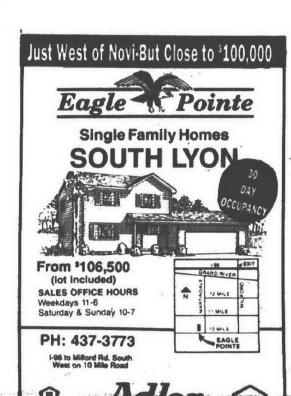

This lifestyle comes natural to him, Taylor notes, as he was born on a farm in Leamington, Ontario, where he spent his first 12 years before moving to the Detroit area.

Show exudes optimism

midget's finger, a small application of imagination, could sweep the debris from our highways and gives us back the fresh, green beauty that still lives in America.

Minuzzo has a very sure hand and a sense of vision that comes across in his acrylic bridge. He also has a smaller mixed media on paper here. He's so accomplished an artist that he manages to use many layers, yet achieve a delicate texture.

FRAN AND HAL Larsen have landscapes of the Southwest; Vicki Brett has a dramatic "After the Storm;" Ingrid Capozzoli of Boston went to Cape Cod and sent four very delicate beach studies. Jane Everhart, who shows in Chicago, has "Fruit Trees."

The clarity of the many watercolors and pastels in the show is cause for wonder. There is a marked absence of computer images, cartoon figures, mockery of the modern world. What there is plenty of in this show is high-quality craftsmanship, talent and a serious reminder that nature, not only shopping malls, is out there in abundance.

Marjorie Hecht Simon, painting her own garden in Huntington Woods, in "Passageway" provides us with a reminder that art is often the medium that puts us back in touch with the landscape around us.

Karen Carter, Arthur Chartow, Ken Christopher, William House, Don Irwin, Joel Jaecks, Andrew Paczos, Jeanne Tennent and William Zingaro round out this sumptuous show.

The Rubiner Gallery is at 7001 Orchard Lake Road in West Bloomfield. Hours are 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday.

For auto-bound autumn enthusiasts, the estate provides a starting point for a lour of the Rouge liver arm of the Ford Heritage Trails.

THE PAIR LANE Powerhouse on the estate grounds, built in 1914, was a prototype for Henry Pord's "village industry" mills, a series of small hydropower plants that manufactured parts for Ford cars.

These mills have been preserved over the years in various uses, and are being restored as sites along the Ford Heritage Trails.

The Rouge River trail route follows Hines Drive along the banks of the Rouge, taking travelers past five village industry mills sites from Dearborn to Northville. The Ford Heritage Trail highlights these mills and other Henry Ford landmarks.

A three-by-five-foot, full-color display heard explaining the Ford Beritage Trails is in the Fair Lane Visitors Center, which is open 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday through Saturday and 1-4 p.m. Sunday.

The estate is on the campus of the University of Michigan-Dearborn, Evergreen Road between Ford Road and Michigan Avenue. For more information, call 593-5590.

1-2 punch combines for stark drama

By Marilyn Fitchett ' staff writer

Developers of Fairlane Woods are hoping that old black magic will have buyers in its spell.

The first three detached condominiums (Fairlane Homes calls them patio homes) at the Dearborn site recently were opened to the public, with one model, the Stratford, done in black and white by Bob Siegel of Gorman's Gallery, Southfield.

"The emphasis is on the volume of space," Siegel said. "The object was to make the condo look as minimally furnished as possible. I didn't want to crowd it.

The comments of people who have been through it is that they like the openness of it."

Siegel, director of design, pointed out the twostory ceilings and the open staircase and called his treatment "realistically scaled volume."

He originally proposed a black, brown and white color scheme, but that was rejected by the builders. "The company wanted more mass appeal, so we decided on black and white and added hot pink as "It has the stark drama of contemporary with a punch of color."

Siegel carries the hot pink throughout the main floor. In the living room a three-piece sectional in black with pink flowers is joined by a hot pink loveseat. In the kitchen, serving pieces, place settings and napkins are hot pink. And in the family room area behind the kitchen, hot pink pillows rest on the white couch. Abstract art in varying shades of pink dress the white walls throughout the first

Get the look without the expense

(AP) - Decorating a home costs so much these days. If only a decorator would explain to the do-it-yourselfer where it is safe to cut corners and where it isn't.

With this in mind, we asked decorating authority Mary Gilliatt for some hints on how to economize and still create an attractive home.

"It's very important that the framework of a room be right," says Gilliatt, whose books include "Decorating on the Cheap." By framework, she means walls, floor, ceiling and Walls, she says, are among a room's most noticeable points, so start with good paint. Cheap paint will flake off and you'll have to redo the job, so you won't save in the long

"People tend to paint the room white when they don't have much to spend," Gilliatt says, "but terra cotta (or another dark color) will look more elegant, especially if you have

One of the more expensive paint jobs these days involves applying a faux finish, such as glazing, trompe l'oeil or ragging. Gilliatt says to get the look without the expense, hang one of the newer faux finish wallcoverings and then apply a coat of semigloss polyurethane with roller or brush. This will make it look more like an expensive painted finish and will be easier to clean.

ANOTHER IDEA for walls is to use borders to finish off the room. Choose a narrow border for just above the baseboard. Use borders to imitate a dado or chair rail - which adds architectural character. A real dado or chair rail can be added with ready-made molding. Paint walls above the line and apply wallcovering below it.

Saving money by cutting corners on quality is false economy, according to Gilliatt, especially where comfort is concerned. She counts mattresses and chairs and carpeting used in high traffic areas among furnishings that will repay you for choosing good quality.

"Put the good carpet where it will get the hardest use — in hallways and foyers," she says, but in a bedroom, where there's much less wear, choose a lesser quality if necessary. Also, shop the sales.

You can also save by choosing a less expensive floor covering such as matting or rag rugs, by leaving the floors bare or by painting them.

When shopping for dining room furniture, you can save money on a table, which is usually covered with a cloth anyway, but reward yourself and your guests with comfortable chairs, says Gilliatt.

With window treatments, remember that draperies should be lined to look good — an expensive proposi-tion no matter the type of fabric. So if you want to save money, use a less expensive treatment such as matchstick blinds or miniblinds. To lend these basic window coverings some distinction, spray paint a design on the matchsticks or paint them an unusual color to coordinate with your

THOSE WITH woodworking skills, or who have access to someone with the skills, can frame windows with 2-by-4 lumber and build a window seat for a custom look that's inex-

Some Gilliatt quick tips to make any room look better:

 Place interesting house plants in the room.

 Buy several inexpensive uplights and place them behind the plants and furniture. "This will make any room look enormously more expensive," she says.

 Disguise or minimize threadbare sofas and chairs with a piece of old fabric, such as a shawl, draped across the seat back.

 Paint a floor in a checkerboard pattern using two of your favorite colors already in the room.

His master bedroom bears that out. The upper portion of the walls behind the bed is painted flat black and is separated from the white dado by a horizontal stretch of mirror. The furniture is white, the curtains and bedspread a wide black and white stripe. Only the art against the black wall picks up the pink of the first floor but in subdued shades.

Siegel saw a bedroom that he designed for "grandma," as an isolation for her from the sharper black and white rooms of the main floor. He used softer colors, replacing the hot pink with rose. Siegel said he designed the condo, envisioning the owners to be "empty nesters with two kids off at college, who come home occasionally, and grandma."

'You have to be of a certain temperament to like (the black and white scheme)," Siegel said. "A person who is reserved or very unobtrusive couldn't like it. I picture the people who live here as 'up' and very interesting."

Look at our great setting: Say goodbye to spralling apartment complexes. Come live in what one visitor described as a "well maintained public park." Walk, pienic or just sit under the trees away from busy streets, traffic and noise.

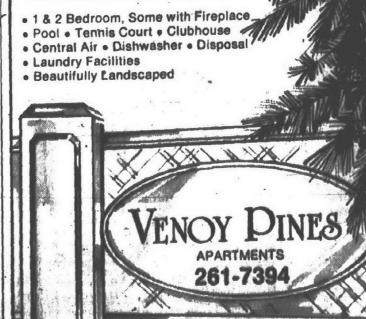

LOOK at our superb location: We're five minutes from downtown Birmingham, a short walk to Somerset Mall, shops and grocery stores. Nearby major highways make commuting convenient.

LOOK at our apartments: Richly decorated entry ways welcome you to your spacious one or two bedroom apartment with patio or balcont, tiled bath, ample closets.

Come look us over. We're sure you'll like what you see.
