Vorva, Vos victors; Jabara, Kenyon win

By Kevin Brown staff writer

Two challengers and two incumbents won election to the Plymouth City Commission, while a four-year incumbent was narrowly defeated in Tuesday's election.

By unofficial totals, former Plymouth policeman Jerry Vorva topped all vote getters with 1,669 votes and another challenger, attorney John Vos III, followed with 1,624.

Vorva beamed as he accepted applause from about 100 supporters gathered at Plymouth's Oddfellows Hall, then was overcome by emotion as he faced family and friends.

"When the chips were down you people stayed with me," he said.

"I thought the 'one issue' I was said to be touting was honest, upstanding government," he continued a reference to critics who stressed Vorva's effort to be reinstated as a city policeman.

VOS DINED with family and friends at the Mayflower Hotel as his victory was announced. "It was a hard-fought campaign," said Vos, who included a long list of commissioners and mayors past and present among his campaign's "honorary cochairpersons."

Vos said computer technology helped make his victory possible. We were able to get a data base of all the registered voters who voted in the last three elections and voters who registered since," he said, and mailed literature to these voters and to those obtaining absentee ballots.

Returned to the commission were former mayor and 11-year commission veteran James Jabara, with 1,279 votes, and incumbent Ralph (Jack) Kenyon, with 1,114 votes.

JABARA SAID he was glad to be elected, adding he was "dissappointed that Commissioner (Robert) Jones did not make it.'

Kenyon said, "I have mixed feelings, I was hoping for a four-year term," but said he was pleased to be

The new commission will be sworn in at a special meeting at 6 p.m. Monday at city hall.

Vorva, Vos and Jabara all won four-year terms to the commission, while Kenyon was elected to a twoyear term.

Jones, a four-year incumbent, was narrowly defeated as he finished with 1,107 votes - just seven behind Kenyon. "I'm dissappointed of course," he said, adding he probably wouldn't run again for a commission

Finishing sixth was Jean Morrow with 772 votes, and former planning commissioner Gregory Green seventh, with 452 votes.

City clerk Linda Langmesser said 2,670 voters, 37 percent, cast ballots - an average number for a city election.

"The absentee ballots were a little bit more," she said, as 759 voters cast absentee ballots - up from the usual number of just over 400.

Noting that some city officials view him as an outsider, Vorva said other commissioners will find that they can work with him.

Those who know say Plymouth politics will never be the same.

"I think this was a watershed election," said Ralph (Jack) Kenyon, narrowly re-elected to a two-year term on the Plymouth City Commission.

In former elections, commission candidates put up few if any signs. But some observers note that this year, votes cast for candidates appeared to follow the number of signs posted by candidates and their supporters - and how aggressively they campaigned.

The two top finishers, Jerry Vorva and John Vos III, put out the most signs. The No. 3 finisher, James Ja bara, was also third in the number of signs displayed in public. It could be as some candidates say

Government classes gain popularity

By M.B. Dillon staff writer

Last year, from a balcony seat in the United States Capitol, Plymouth-Salem High School sophomore Shellev Rodgers cast envious eves upon young people working as pages on the House floor.

This year, she's among them.

With fellow students from Salem and Canton High Schools, Rodgers visited Washington, D.C., last March with a program called Close Up. Upon her return, she applied for a page position and was one of 66 students selected from across the country to work as a congressional page this semester. Rodgers, who attends school in the mornings and works the rest of the day - and often into the night - hopes to work as a Senate page next semester.

Close Up is a non-profit, non-parti-san national foundation that emphasizes hands-on learning about government. Since 1970, Close Up has brought more than 160,000 students and educators to Washington, understanding of the responsibilities and opportunities of citizenship.

This year more than a significant the significant the

Every year for the past four years, Close Up enrollment at Centennial Educational Park has doubled in size. This year, a third teacher was added to handle the load.

The program receives no money from the 3chool district.

In a recent presentation before the school board, Close Up teachers played a videotape showing Close Up students quizzing government officials and attending workshops in Washington; and closer to home, trips to landfills and soup kitchens.

They hope to show the video "on the red-eye meeting circuit" to area clubs, organizations and businesses in hopes of receiving tax-deductible

THIS YEAR, FOR THE first time, Close Up students are volunteering for community service jobs at the Salvation Army, day care and health centers, with the Democratic and Republican parties, local government and soup kitchens. In return, "we help subsidize their trip," said McCauley. "We wanted to have kids do more than sell Kudo bars. That way, they learn more."

The community supports us; now kids are putting some of that support back," said Gretzinger. "There are no free handouts."

> Some students have their trips paid for, but most students are struggling with it, working minimum wage jobs and fund-raising," said

"We had one student last year who had to borrow clothes to go on the trip."

Thus far, area businesses supporting Close Up include Don Massey Cadillac, Hines Park Lincoln Mercury, Super Bowl in Canton; K mart, First of America and Omnicom. Service clubs including the Civitans, Kiwanis and Colonial Kiwanis also have come through.

"It's nice to see corporations and various sorts of organizations helping out," said MCauley. "It gets the kids involved in learning about politics and government.

"We really want to see parents' companies supporting this. Having a corporation sponsor a family member going on an educational trip is the best thing that could happen for the kids, their parents and their companies."

Vet remembers bad weather, 'phony armistice'

"THAT'S WHERE we had our first big action," Saxton said. "My job there was I was in charge of a team stringing (telephone) wire, a great big spool of wire.

"You have to be sure messages get through - to the outposts, brigade headquarters and division headquarters," he said.

Saxton also delivered messages on horseback.

"It was miserable. The weather was bad, you didn't get in till 2 o'clock at night, wet right through in the rain. I thought I'd get pneumonia again, but I didn't get it.'

Once, his team "got waylaid (ambushed) on a road," Saxton said.

HE EVENTUALLY was transferred to a town north of Paris.

"The Germans made a rush and pushed down to Paris, they rushed the Americans there to stop it. It started about Sept. 26, we pushed across the trenches and pushed the Germans back."

History buffs and World War I veterans recall the "phony armistice" of Nov. 7. A few days later, Saxton said that at first he didn't believe what the French were telling him, that a real armistice was announced for Nov. 11.

"(Upon returning to America), I worked for Ford Motor Co. for nine years, and started up this business in Northville, in 1928."

He opened the Plymouth store on Ann Arbor Trail in 1937.

SAXTON KEPT in touch with the Wisconsin veterans with whom he served, but never attended reunions, he said.

"I was too busy making a living," he said. "They had a reunion every year until five years ago in Milwaukee.'

The Wayne County Library for the Blind is misunderstood. A couple of years ago, the library was beset with requests from the news media for its reaction to proposed

The cuts never materialized, but librarians are still chuckling over the reaction of the news media.

"A Detroit News reporter called and said "We're sending a photographer to the library. Have some blind people sitting around reading Braille," recalled regional librarian Pat Klemans.

THAT IS typical of the misconception people have of the Wayne County Library for the Blind - if they even know about it.

"It looks more like a warehouse than a library because of the mailing aspect," Klemans said.

If we could afford $400 suits, we wouldn't wear them to work. It looks like a major warehouse operation, but a book is a book."

Most of the 120,000 books available are on record and tape cassette. They are available to patrons who receive updated catalogs periodically by mail.

magazines, too - everything from umer Reports to the National Review. The playback machines, talking books and magazines can all be sent through the mail; the user doesn't need to travel to the library or pay postage.

"Most scholarly works are in Braille. But (Braille) is very cumbersome. A mid-sized mystery novel would take up five or six large volumes of Braille.

Braille is alive and well. But some people who come upon blind-ness later in life are not Braille literate. Also, the fingertips must be totally sensitive for Braille. If circulation in the hands is poor, they would not be able to read Braille."

WAYNE COUNTY has a long history of serving the blind and physically handicapped. Books for the blind have been available for loan in the county since 1932. The present library was established during the 1950s, Klemans said.

Housed in the Wayne-Oakland Library Federation building on Van Born at Venoy in the city of Wayne, the library serves 2,500 residents of Wayne County. About two thirds of those patrons are blind or visually impaired. The remainder are physically handicapped and unable to read conventional printed materials.

KLEMANS ANXIOUSLY awaits computer equipment that can break down usage by community. This breakdown will tell librarians the number of patrons in each com-munity. That tally will be available soon. Then Klemans will share the figures with groups such as the Li-ons Club, which helps raise money for blind and visually impaired people.

"We have patrons using the service temporarily as they recover from stroke or an auto accident or any disability that makes conventional reading impossible."

To qualify for the free service, a person needs a certified letter from a doctor, health professional or educator testifying to his dis-

THE LIBRARY loans patrons equipment for playing the records or tapes and provides free maintenance. Special materials, such as typewriter manuals or pamphlets, can be read onto tape cassette by volunteer readers. The library also has a collection of large-print books, which can be sent by mail.

There are small collections of books on cassette and record, called Talking Book Centers, at 21 local Wayne County libraries. The library can provide telephone numbers of agencies and other resources for the blind community. Money to pay for materials, books and playback machines is provided by the Library of Congress, which also makes it possible for the free postage.

STAFF SALARIES, building and

"We are very proud of our ser-vice," said Klemans, who has worked at the library for two years. She has worked for the Wayne County library system 15

Schools failed to sway voters

Local school district endorsements apparently made no difference - and might have been the kiss of death - for Proposals A and B in Tuesday's voting.

Area voters overwhelmingly rejected both sale tax increases, even though each would have provided more money for schools and even though many school districts encouraged them to approve each. (For state and county vote totals, see related story.)

Redford voters overwhelmingly turned thumbs down on both proposals. They defeated Proposal A, 9,497-1.997 - or more than 4-1. They also defeated Proposal B, 10,298-996 or more than 9-1.

Redford Union Schools encouraged yes votes on each as did Clarenceville, which also serves a portion of the township. South Redford took no official position.

Redford Union Superintendent Kenneth Erickson was among those surprised by the outcome.

"THOUGH WE supported both, we thought B would be especially beneficial for a community lie ours, with heavy residential development and little industrial and commercial."

Westland voters rejected Proposal A, 11,346-4,001 — or slightly less property taxes for schools.

than 3-1. The margin for property tax-cutting Proposal B was even higher, even though Wayne-Westland has the highest school property tax rate of any local district. Voters rejected Proposal B, 12,792-2,066 - or more than 6-1.

Wayne-Westland Schools encouraged a yes vote on both, though Livonia Schools, which also serves a portion of the city urged voters to reject B and took no position on A.

In Livonia, voters rejected Proposal A, 18,990-4,282 - or 4-1. They rejected Proposal B, 21,240-1,753 or 9-1. The city is served the the Livonia and Clarenceville districts.

A DIVIDED Plymouth-Canton school board took no position on either proposal, though district voters were more clear. Canton voters rejected Proposal A, 6,144-1,534 - or 4-1. They rejected Proposal B, or 9-1. In Plymouth, voters rejected Proposal A, 1,989-607 - or 3-1. They rejected Proposal B, 2,236-290 - or 9-

League of Women Voters, Proposal B received little financial support compared with its rival. Pre-election polls showed the proposal trailing by a heavy margin.

Proposal A backers mounted $3 million advertising campaigns but a series of last-minute opposing ads may have sealed its fate.

Anti-Proposal A television ads featuring former Oakland County Prosecutor L. Brooks Patterson aired free of charge on WDIV-TV, Channel 4 and WXYZ-TV, Channel 7, Maverick state Sen. Gil DiNello, D-East Detroit, spent $1,000 of his own money on radio ads denouncing both proposals.

Farmington Hills insurance executive and former GOP gubernatorial nominee Richard Headlee said a lawsuit would have been filed to keep Proposal A from taking effect had it passed.

Proposal A supporters said the tax increase would have provided an estimated $400 million for schools statewide. Proposal B was seen as providing some $300 million more for schools.

Their rejection means the state sales tax will remain at its current 4 cent level. Vote totals are unofficial, awaiting confirmation by the state elec-

Budget could be revised without veto

By Wayne Peal staff writer

Wayne County Commission chairman Arthur Blackwell II said changes may be made to the newly approved county budget - but not because of pressure from county Executive Edward McNamara.

McNamara has threatened to veto the $1.3 billion budget approved last week by commissioners. The county executive said he was upset by changes commissioners made to his original budget proposal, especially in cutting off $37.8 million in funding for the new county jail.

Blackwell, however, minimized the changes.

"Really, except for four items, it is his budget," Blackwell said.

But the newly elected commission chairman said commissioners approved the budget as quickly as they did to provide time for adjust-

"WE GAVE ourselves 30 days to make changes and I know some commissioners feel they want more information," he said. "So we may review our action, but not because of the executive."

Commissioner Kevin Kelley, D-Redford Township, was among three commissioners who voted against the budget, requesting more explanation of budget projec-

Another dispute centers on across-the-board increases for county fees. McNamara calls the increases a tax increase in disguise. Commissioners said increases are necessary to provide computer equipment for the county clerk's office.

And so she waits, thinking about her son's fate for at least a few min-the source of the same of the in Action in Vietnam.

On Saturday, Veteran's Day, family members and friends will once again turn their thoughts and prayers to the war that ended 15 years ago for everyone else but still rages on for them.

The hope (that her son is alive) is always there, until they can show us some evidence that he's not," Teran

A MOMENT AT SER COM'S fa-e. Teruge connected in wides timistic outlook. "Sometimes I alwish he was killed in the battle, at least we'd know for sure," said tio Teran, 71. On May 6, 1970, Sgt. Tom Teran, of the Army's 101st Airborne Divi-sion, was less than 12 hours away from a weekend pass when the Viet Cong overran Henderson Hill where he was stationed, his mother said. To late, Tom and another soldier are the only two people who haven't been accounted for.

"It was a few days before his ($1st) hirthday," Anna Teran said. son's friends . . . I just knew some-dies were going to go celebrate." Teran, a 1967 Wayne Memorial High School graduate, was an easy-going, popular kid with lots of friends, his mother said. "He thought maybe he'd go to college, but he wasn't sure what he wanted to study and he didn't want to jump into anything," she said.

The summer following his graduation Tom took a job at Ford Motor Co.'s Wayne Assembly plant "to save some money and give him some time to decide what do so," his mother said. He considered enlisting in the Navy, but before he got the chance he was drafted by the Army.

TERAN UNDERWENT basic training at Fort Knox, Ky., and was transferred to an Army base in his father's home state of Louisiana, before signing up for officers training at Ft. Benning, Ga. He was promoted first to corporal, then sergeant.

He was shipped overseas two weeks before Christmas in 1969.

"He used to write every day so I'd have something in the mailbox all the time and two letters on Monday," Anna Teran said.

The letters always had a folksy tone, even after Teran arrived in Vietnam, his mother said. "He told me how beautiful the countryside was, how nice his Army buddles

"I think he was trying to convince me that he wasn't really in any danger," she said.

The family learned about Tom's then new MIA status a few days after his disappearance, on Mother's Day 1970.

Anna Teran refused to open her front door for the Army officer who had pulled up in front of the house. "He looked too old to be one of my

@ days/1 night

So the officer walked around back and delivered the message to Refu-gio, who was working in the yard. Teran, 64, and still an emotional woman, said she was a basket case for the first few months after her son's disappearance. "I cried, I passed out several times, I couldn't do anything," she said.

FINALLY, HER husband convinced her that her three other children still at home needed a strong mother, she said.

The Terans have joined activist organizations lobbying on behalf of MIAs and Prisoners of War, including the Washington-based National League of Families of American Prisoners and Missing in Southeast Asia and the Prisoner of War Committee of Michigan.

Being able to talk to other fami-lies in the same situation helps some, said Refugio Teran.

The Westland Chapter of Vietnam Veterans of America and in particular Robert Hysko, now a Westland police officer, have also helped the family in its search for information about their son, Ann Teran said.

THE CHAPTER helped in the effort to erect a plaque commemorat-ing Teran, Westland's only Vietnam MIA. The plaque sits adjacent to the Vietnam Veterans Memorial at city hall, dedicated in 1988.

People are constantly placing fresh flowers next to the monument, or stopping to say a prayer, Anna Teran said.

"I think people, especially people who have children, understand the added joy that (parenthood) brings and what's been missing from our

The dispute is now before state at-

UNDER THE city charter, the council has 60 days from the October 30 petition certification date to adopt the measure or place it on a ballot.

The wording of the question has been referred for review to city attorney Ronald Mack.

George Weitzel, legislative aide to state Rep. William Keith, D-Garden City, said a state attorney general opinion on the question was also being sought.

"I haven't received the letter yet but (City Manager) Jon Austin has advised us of the request," he said. "I believe they want to determine

Sierra Club will sue to overturn ash law

AP — Two Michigan laws relaxing rules for handling incinerator ash will be challenged in court, an environmental group said.

Anne Weiwode, director of the Mackinac chapter of the Sierra Club, said a suit seeking to overturn the state laws will be filed in ILS. District Court in either Language. U.S. District Court in either Lansing or Grand Rapids within the

"Our goal is not to put incinerators out of business. Our goal is to protect the environment of Michigan," she said

The suit would potentially affect operations at the Central Wayne Sanitation Authority incinerator in Dearborn Heights, as well as others throughout the state. The local incinerator serves Westland, Garden City and other suburban communi-

ASH FROM incinerators has been found to be hazardous weste but incinerator operators have maintained that disposing of ash in the same manner as hazardous waste would be too costly, Wolwode said.

Pressure from incinerator operators led lawmakers to approve two measures earlier this year that relax the standards for transporting and storing the ash.

But Wolwode said those laws violate the federal Resource Conservation and Recovery Act which prohibits any state from enacting standards less stringent than those in the federal law. The state laws have 21 provisions that are weather than the federal law, sie said.

"We depend in this country on ensuring that a common holtom line exists in the regulation of pol-lution, and that holtom line is set by federal law. The state of Michigan has wantonly defied the feder-al government's bottom line on ardous waste regulation," she

Other states have adopted regu-lations that are weaker than the federal law, but none except Michigan has passed a law that included weaker provisions, Woiwode said.

THE SUIT is expected to name Gov. James Blanchard, who signed the measures, Attorney General

Prederick Dilley, a Grand Stap-ids attorney representing the Sier-ra Ctub, said a decision has yet to be made on whether to seek a court order blocking the laws while

Film dispute Real issues getting obscured

ERE WE ARE AGAIN. There's another battle of the selfrighteous going on in the Plymouth-Canton school district over the showing of "Excalibur." an R-rated movie at Plymouth-Canton High School.

The losers in the battle are the sane, sensible parents, students and teachers who want to go about the task of preparing children for the

They're the losers because the real questions aren't being asked. Those questions are: Why are the kids watching movies anyway? Why aren't they reading? Somebody should be asking the district those questions.

However, we're afraid those issues will get lost in the shuffle as the Citizens for Better Eduçation confronts the district over the use of certain films in the classroom.

The group, which sees devil worship and pornography in every school hallway, has announced plans to picket when certain films are shown at the district's two high schools.

WE CAN SEE THE BATTLE shaping up. The protests will be met by the school district with claims that the films don't violate the district's policy and that teachers have the academic freedom to use certain materials in the classroom.

Both sides are right, which probably makes them feel so self-righteous. Students in high school probably shouldn't be shown two people Having sexual intercourse in a movie at school. On the other hand, teachers should be able to use materials in schools without being descended on by a mob of angry parents.

Apart from obscuring the real issue, the use of films in class, what bothers us most about the situation is that both sides will use the showing of of "Excalibur" to further their own causes

That's fine when there's a real issue. From what Citizens for Better Education leaders say. they will be protesting if "Macbeth" is shown at the schools.

That would be a real issue, but "Excalibur"

The losers in the battle are the sane, sensible parents, students and teachers who want to go about the task of preparing children for the world.

isn't "Macbeth." "Excalibur" is a forgettable movie that was probably made by film makers to cash in on the popularity of dungeons and dragons games. It's a Saturday morning cartoon compared to Shakespeare's works.

SCHOOLS ARE UNDER pressure to teach children how to read and we find it hard to justity the showing of "Excalibur" in a literature class. We acknowledge that some movies can help students understand literature. However, we wonder if the showing of too many isn't just lazy teaching under the guise of academic freedom.

Let's face it, we all can remember when movies were shown in class, it meant party time, the pressure was of and you could easily fall asleep without the teacher noticing

That's the question we think Citizens for Better Education should be addressing, instead of worrying about some stupid sex scene. Kids have probably seen worse on cable television.

But then again the group is just playing politics. And that seemingly will continue this year, if the district continues to allow teachers to show movies and the group continues to protest their

We just hope a sensible group or person steps forward to clarify the real concern of parents, which is: Is the school district teaching kids how to read and write?

There's time enough at night and on the weekends for cartoons like "Excalibur." Trying to justity showing that movie in school is like trying to justify the showing of the "Teenage Mutant Ninja

They could be fan, but they aren't "Macbeth."

Establishment stung by electorate at polls

THE ESTABLISHMENT took it on the chin this week.

Incumbents and their proposals crumbled under the wrath and/or discontent of the electorate which spoke out loud and clear.

The big punch, of course, went to the two statewide proposals A and B which were touted by various establishment groups. State leaders have been struggling with one another for years on how to deal with the school financing discontent.

The Legislature has been particularly impotent in coming up with any kind of solution. So with all the courage of a cornered varmint, they threw the hot potato to the electorate in a "you-figure-it-out" move.

But voters refused to take the bait and threw it right back.

Suburban Detroit voters led the way in rejecting both proposals.

Oakland County residents were particularly adamant. Proposal A, a half cent initiative went down 3-1. Proposal B was knocked out in a 7-1 decision in the state's fastest-growing area.

Maybe now that the people have spoken, state leaders will get serious about dealing with a troubled and inequitable educational system. And maybe they'll learn to listen a little closer to the voters who simply want

LOCAL leaders also found out that voters may not be as content as they originally thought. Just ask Westland's incumbent Charles Griffin who is licking his wounds and packing his bags this week.

Seems the voters resented the city-funded buyout of his pension plan from Griffin's former employer, the Michigan Education Association. Nothing illegal, mind you, but Westland residents, many of whom are union members themselves, took Incumbent William Ziemba also was sent to pasture by the Westland electorate.

On the Oakland County side of the ledger, the one-two punch was delivered to proposals which would have given the library system some breathing room. The $14.5 million bond issue for a new library facility went down as well as the 1.5 mill levy to support library services.

Incumbency for Farmington Hills council members Phil Arnold and Paul Sowerby proved of little help. Both lost. Three new council members now join the ranks of the gang up on the hill at the corner of Eleven Mile and Orchard Lake Road.

Hope they're used to long nights without Monday Night Football to alleviate the pain.

Steve Barnaby

FARMINGTON made history by putting yet another woman on the five-member legislative body. Joanne McShane replaced incumbent Arnold Campbell. She joins Shirley Richardson, the first-ever woman council member, who also won re-election.

Seems Detroit isn't the only city divided by the downtown versus neighborhood issue. Newcomer David Katulic rode to victory in Rochester on a crest of discontent from voters who feel the establishment pays too little attention to neighborhood needs.

Appropriately, Katulic celebrated the victory at home with his supporters, while the incumbents gathered in downtown Rochester at Cooper's Arm restaurant to commiserate with losing incumbent Kenneth Bilodeau. Steve Barnaby is managing editor of the Observer & Eccentric Newspaper.

'No knock' Search law would go too far

No-knock" is no good.

A bill that would allow police officers with earch warrants to enter homes without announcing their presence and intent — "no knock" has already passed the state Senate by a wide Committee.

The committee should deeply ponder the ramifications of compromising a citizen's constitutional right to privacy, and then it should take note of the design flaws in the bill. Careful scruliny will support the contention that no-knock should not be reported out of committee. No-knock came about as a tool to use primarily against drug dealers. It's designed to give police holding search warrants the authority which, in practice, they already have - to enter homes without knocking, identifying themselves, stating they have a search warrant or waiting for some kind of response from the person inside the

The purpose of this proposed law, Senate Bill 23. is twofold: let police recover evidence that might be destroyed if they announce themselves, and make sure police don't get killed once they do identify themselves.

Barging into a home, unannounced, is no guarantee of living through a drug raid. Quite the contrary - barging into anyone's home, without warning, is an invitation for the resident to protect him- or herself. Whether one is pro or con, remember: there is a constitutional right to bear arms, and millions take advantage of it.

Public Act 189 of 1966 and subsequent case decisions already have given officers with warrants the right to immediately enter a home, at their discretion. That fact alone should make Barging into anyone's home, without warning, is an invitation for the resident to protect him- or herself. Whether one is pro or con, remember: there is a constitutional right to bear arms, and millions take advantage of it.

consideration of this new no-knock bill a moot

There are many other reasons.

The bill says at the time a search warrant is requested, an officer also must ask a magistrate specifically for a no-knock clause on the warrant and cite reasons why it seems to be necessary. It could be argued that every circumstance warrants no-knock authority, and judicial generosity in empowering law enforcement officials with this opportunity could be abused.

Further, the magistrate will not be along on the raid, so the decision to implement the noknock clause, if granted, falls to individuals who already have that authority — the officers on the scene. Remote-control justice will not work.

These are all technicalities, and trivial when seen in the same light as our right to privacy. Don't confuse the issues, though - the life of an officer is anything but trivial. But we won't save any more lives by giving them powers they al-

The concern that evidence will be destroyed part two of the argument for this bill - is simply not a good enough reason to usurp our constitutional right of privacy. Miranda laws, advising a suspect of his or her rights, already have been weakened by the Supreme Court.

Further dilution, this time on the privacy front, means one conceivably could be sitting in a living room, have the police break down a door and, depending on the circumstances, maybe or maybe not advise that person of his rights. Our Constitution was intended to be amended - not bent out of shape.

It's important to look ahead, past the current drug war crisis, at the way these laws could be applied once the purpose for which they were created has ceased to exist. Many laws get put on the books: comparatively few are removed.

No one today should question an officer's right to kick in a drug dealer's door or return fire if threatened or fired upon. The solution is not to warp the Constitution. It's to get Lansing and Washington to provide more dollars for more resources to fight the drug war.

Let's worry about that, instead of trying to revise and subvert the laws by which the vast majority of individuals in this state and country

Both sides are wrong on abortion

To the editor: With all the heat blazing in this country over the abortion issue, it reminds me of watching a football game. What an analogy, you say. Many of our politicians are like avid sports fans switching to what they feel is the winning team. A true fan goes all the way (no pun intended)

Thousands of citizens are way out of control. They are on the sidelines wishing a lineman would crush the quarterback for a heavy loss in yard-age. A spectator should simply cheer for their own side in this-issue, and not try to manipulate the play.

Pro-lifers feel the only ones w become pregnant are simply promiscuous teenagers. Any pro-lifer who has stood outside an abortion clinic can tell you nearly 65 percent of all who enter are over 21 years of age. Study your own statistics.

Pro-choice must realize not all who enter an abortion clinic are not in their early stages of pregnanty. Many are in maternity clothes. Why the long delay? This is simply horad. Women should be allowed one

"He's cute," she said. "He's got a nice personality."

IT DIDN'T really matter. They were all discount dogs. "Pet quality," the ad had read. That, the breeder explained when we met her in person, meant that for one reason or another they weren't "show quality." We didn't care about that. We

So we took him home. The runt. The one that almost croaked right after he was born and had to be hand-fed by the breeder. She even took him to work with her and nursed him through his infancy.

That, I think, was his problem. He never knew he was a dog.

We had a terrible time agreeing on a name until mother and son came up with "Wicket." I suggested modifying it to "Sticky Wicket" -he'd been a problem since birth.

And that's who he became . . this son of "Braeburn's Main Event" and "Lady Towsie Macbeth." He didn't care about his heritage. He thought he was human.

He had another identity crisis about a year ago when we went to an orchard to pick apples and came home with a kitten - the last of a litter that had been abandoned in a ditch near the orchard.

The cat, who was dubbed "Wookie," thought Wicket was his mother and tried to nurse him and Wicket well, he wasn't sure who, or what, he was anymore.

Many, if not all, districts send progress reports home to parents halfway through the marking period to alert parents to their child's discouraging envelope with his

There is another dimension to this issue. Since you and your husband know that your son has not achieved acceptable grades in the past, communications must be a two-way street. You can get a "reading" on your son's progress simply by calling the school and asking his teachers. If they are in class, ask for your call to be returned. Your son also has a counselor that you can contact for assistance. It really is a bit late to react to this unfortunate situation at the end of an eight-week marking Nevertheless, this issue is always one of who is responsible for monitoring a student's academic or behavioral progress. Is it the parent's responsibility or is it the teacher's responsibility to be the surrogate parent? Should not the parents have a relationship with their son or daughter that is of such a nature that the parents know how their child is performing? Or is it the school district's responsibility to continually keep the parents advised of their child's progress or lack of progress.

In my opinion, it is the responsibility of both parties. Indeed, when I was a young teacher, many moons ago, I developed my own progress report and that report would go out as soon as there was any indication that the student was not performing - sometimes as early as the second or third week. My letters to parents can before the parents see it.

On the other hand, when a provement in a student grad attitude occurred, a letter state sent home informing the paretheir child's academic or below improvement. Through this du cess, parents receive both positive as well as negative feedback from the school district. Candidly, the pe letter oftentimes did more go the letter stating the student was not performing. Positive feedback of this nature is something educators need to take a long look at.

Keep in mind that some teacher contracts stipulate whether or not a progress report is a required condition of employment or a voluntary task. Some teachers now not will do to task. Some teachers are not ready to make a grade judgment after two or three weeks and believe a progress report is only timely when grailes have formed a pattern. The worst possible scenario (and I've seen this) is when no progress report goes out and the student's report card is handed to parents for the first time at the parent/teacher conference.

Imagine's parent sitting down, knowing how their child schle and then receive a report card with -say — two E's. What a disastrous circumstance for the parents' first meeting of the year with teachers.

Therefore, in my opinion, teachers should notify parents not only of failing grades or poor attitudes prior to report card time but also should notify parents of any positive improvement in grades or attitude. And parents have a responsibility to de-velop open communication so they know what level of effort and per-formance is going on in the class-room during week one, week two and throughout the entire school year.

Cold-blooded animals such as insects, reptiles and amphibians, whose body temperature is basically controlled by the ambient temperature, are unable to function during this time. They must survive the winter in a form that can tolerate the freezing temperatures.

WHILE BACK, Mary Cotter decided to sign up for some free art classes at the Plymouth Cultural Center.

"I just found I could do things and it was fun," said Cotter, a Plymouth Township resident. "I'm lucky that people like my pictures. People have been most generous with their thoughts."

She's still painting and takes lessons from a friend. Cotter particularly enjoys working with watercolor. She paints an occasional still life and has done some figure painting.

"I really like outside subjects. I suppose scenes more than anything.

COTTER'S INTEREST in art extends beyond painting, which she does part time. She's also a volunteer at the art rental gallery run by the Plymouth Community Arts Council.

Therese Gall, gallery chairwoman, persuaded Cotter to volunteer

The gallery, housed upstairs at the Dunning-Hough Library in Plymouth, is open for business each Wednesday, offering a variety of art work for rental. Some of Cotter's paintings are included in the gallery collection.

She used to work with the council's Art Lady program, taking art samples to area schools and talking with students about art. Cotter found she preferred being a gallery

SHE AND her husband, Patrick, an engineer, have lived in Plymouth Township for approximately 20 years. They have six children, including one daughter at home.

The Cotters traveled a distance to get to Plymouth. Patrick Cotter, who has also done some painting, is originally from Ireland. Mary Cotter is from England.

After completing school in England, Mary Cotter went to work at age 17 in a lawyer's office in London. She worked for a number of years as a clerk in the probate and trust section at that solicitor's off-

Cotter, who grew up in Essex, met her husband at church there. They got married in England, and had four children at the time they moved to the United States.

'We didn't actually come to Plymouth," she said. "We came to South Dakota and we lived there for 18 months before we came to Plymouth."

COTTER FOUND the move took some getting used to, and she was homesick in the beginning. She was accustomed to walking with her children to her sister's house, and

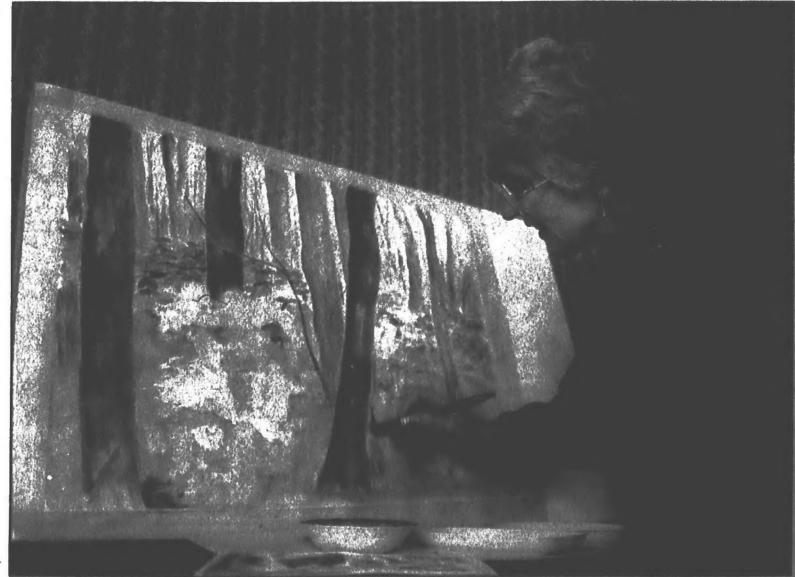

"I'd always lived around my family."

Cotter's husband thought there would be more progress for the family if they came to the United States. He had been to the United States on business before the family moved.

'So we decided to give it a try," Mary said. The Cotters arrived in the win-

Jim Allor has a certain way of looking at doors.

When I go somewhere, I start lboking," he said. "I think doors just eem to be interesting." He's had lots of experience looking at doors in Plymouth. Allor, 44, recently produced a poster of the 'Doorways of Plymouth." Allor lives in Plymouth Township with his wife, Terry, and their 9-year-old son, Noah. He's done freelance photography for magazines and for Greenfield Village. Allor works in sales for a conveyor belt distributor in Romulus.

He did the photography for a series of Plymouth postcards, including scenes of the Plymouth Ice Sculpture Spectacular, Old Village and others. He did that work a couple of years ago, and then sold those slides to a distributor.

After that, Allor got to thinking about some other projects with a Plymouth theme.

HE'D SEEN posters of other doors, including the "Doors of Dublin." Closer to home, Allor knew a man who photographed the "Doors of Birmingham.'

He started to drive around Plymouth and Plymouth Township, looking at doors.

We have good doors here." He jotted down addresses for the doors that looked particularly interesting.

"My mind was working on this project." At that time, Allor wasn't thinking about practical details, such as finding a printer and keyliner. He was concentrating on the creative

He narrowed down his selection of doors, and spent the winter obtaining the necessary model releases. Allor took time to explain to people what kind of project he was working on.

eople he approached — some were thrilled, others were skeptical, while some declined to participate.

"Others were more enthusiastic about it," he said. "I think just honored, thrilled, curious about how it was going to look. Overall, the support was there.

He got a lot of help from people whose doors he photographed. At one house, he had to photograph the door several times to get it just right.

"I met a lot of nice people, I really WORKING ON the poster took considerable time and effort. Allor got help from his wife and from friends. The couple's son chose the name for the poster, preferring "doorways" to just plain 'doors."

Allor got some help with the layout for the poster. He'd originally envisioned it as having five doors across and six down. The keyliner told him the poster would need to have six doors across and five down.

He got some advice from Charles Higgner of Door Center Publishing in New Jersey. That company distributes posters. Higgner offered advice on paper, film and types of lenses to use.

Allor photographed the doors this past spring and early summer. He had to do his work either in the early morning or late afternoon, when shadows on the doors weren't a prob-

It took Allor about three months to do the actual work, although the project was in the planning stages for some time before that.

He found a printer in Livonia, and got help from people there. A friend familiar with printing also helped.

The keyliner did a great job, as well, Allor said, help he appreciated because as he wasn't familiar with the techniques and terminology involved in printing the poster.

He found out that a good printer is essential to the success of such a project; no matter how good photos are, only top-notch printing can make them look their best.

Doors atthe Wilcox House, St. John's Seminary and the First Presbyterian Church of Plymouth are among those featured.

Allor included doors with a more traditional look, rather than those found on more modern homes. Although he saw some doors he'd like to have photographed, they were covered with storm doors, so they weren't included.

In doing his work, Allor found that people take pride in their doors.

They take pride in their house. I guess when you walk up to a house, that's the first impression you get."

He's also considering working on a calendar featuring Plymouth scenes. "I'm still kicking that around."

Churches enter the computer age

Computers are used by many churches and other religious organizations these days.

Software can't save souls, but se days, particularly at larger churches with greater resources.

"The computer is used basically to enhance and to supplement all of the ministries of the church," said Barry McKenna, director of administration at Ward Presbyterian Church in Livonia. That church has nearly 5,000 members, and many others who aren't members participate in activities at Ward.

Computers have been a tremendous help to the pastors and staff, said McKenna, who has worked at the church since 1980.

"Obviously, the use and the implementation of it is a growing, ongoing

WORD PROCESSING - for reports, correspondence, mailing labels and other items - is part of the work at Ward. A central data base provides some information for all departments, while some specialized functions are used by individual departments only.

It's difficult for McKenna to imagine what life would be like at Ward without computers.

"Anything is possible, but no, we would not even consider not having Entering the computer age has been an ongoing process at Newburg United Methodist Church in Livonia.

'We're not into it totally yet, but we're moving in that direction," said the Rev. David Church, the pastor.

That process hasn't been effortless, and deciding how to put the computer to good use has been a challenge

"And we've learned some of those things by hard knocks," Church said. His denomination has designed a computer program that works well for most United Methodist congrega-

Newburg United Methodist Church has about 1,100 members. It's been about three years since the church began to use the United Methodist emputer program.

Attendance at Newburg is still kept by use of a card file system. Church officials hope to use the computer for that soon, Church said.

The church's treasurer uses his home computer to keep track of financial records. The staff secretary at Newburg uses a word processor for correspondence and for parts of the church newsletter. Church writes his sermons on a typewriter. 'That's more a matter of personal choice," he said. "I'm still sort of new to the computer myself."

He could start to write sermons on a word processor at some point, as many of his colleagues do. St. John's Episcopal Church in Plymouth Township is also in the computer age. "We're sold on it," said Tammy Brand, parish administrator. "I don't think in this point of the ministry at St. John's they could function with-

"A lot of membership information is on the computer," Brand said. She's in the process of adding such things as baptism and confirmation dates, wedding dates and birth dates. It's been more challenging to get that information from church members than it has been to enter it into the computer.

"We have all of our bookkeeping on the computer too," she said. 'That's been fabulous. It just gives you a lot of good reference information. It's so much more efficient, just a better way to keep things." Computers have been used for several years at St. John's, and two are in the office. The rector and associate rector each have a computer at Brand has worked at St. John's for of Detroit, according to Jay Berman, archdiocese spokesman. "They're present in every office." The archdiocese's central services are linked together by computer, allowing use of electronic mail. 'We started about five years ago," Berman said.

Before that, the archdiocese used some individual computers in the areas of finance and administration.

Computers make communication between parishes and between various administrative levels of the church easier. The church hopes at some point to deliver all mail to parishes electronically, he said. Some 135 parishes out of 300 in the Archdiocese of Detroit use computers at some level. The archdiocese takes in six counties in southeastern Michigan, including

Wayne and Oakland counties. One concern of the Catholic church is privacy as it relates to computer use, Berman said. Access to information stored in computer files must be limited.

"So we have built-in safeguards all along."

Computers can't do everything, but can help churches operate more effectively, Berman said. A priest who used to write a homily on a yellow legal pad can now write more quickly on a word processor.

"Now he's got a half hour he can devote to people."

The church starts with the as sumption that technology is morally neutral, Berman said. "It just depends on what kind of use you're going to put it to. Presum:

YOU WON'T offend us if you didn't remember the 18th anniversary of this column, but forgetting or ignoring the features of internationrelationships that unfolded, the attack on our embassy in Iran and the 40 people who died in the struggle for civil rights in our country is to set in motion the very features that created the events we are to remember today.

Forgetting or ignoring our past is to imply that it never happened. There are some things that we would never want to forget or pretend never happened.

John McBrearty, senior vice president of finance for Entertainment Publications, prepares for the company's primary selling season following the issuing of its coupon book.

European partnership

For discount entertainment coupon books

By R.J. King special writer

Despite the many trade barriers, currency and languages, Entertainment Publications in Troy expanded in Europe five years ago. But the world's leading publisher of leisure discount programs soon ran into problems unrelated to government restrictions and individual cultures.

The Europeans, as the company soon found out, were not as savvy as Americans when it came to savings. Planning to mimic its success in the Unites States, Entertainment Publications wanted to introduce its discount books in 8-10 cities per year.

But since 1985, just four cities -London, Copenhagen, Glasgow and Stockholm - have booklets circulating, and only on a limited basis.

In a tale of how two can often fare better than one, Entertainment Publications recently signed a joint venture agreement with Rikskuponger AB of Stockholm, the world's secondlargest distributor of luncheon RIKSKUPONGER BECAME an equal partner in Entertainment's European subsidiaries — a move the companies hope will solve distribu-tion and cultural differences while us." putting savings booklets in as many European hands as possible.

"We were really in the pioneering stage of introducing discount programs across Europe, and we never were able to reach our expectations," said Hughes Potiker, president and CEO of Entertainment Publications. Potiker started the company in 1962 from an 8-by-15foot room in Detroit that doubled as the fledgling entrepreneur's law off-

"So the more we looked at it, the more it made sense to expand and develop leisure discount programs in Europe with a strong European partner. Rikskuponger already had an extensive background with coupons, so it really became a natural."

AN AFFILIATE OF the Wallenberg Group, which owns Saab and accounts for more than 40 percent of Sweden's national income, Rikskuponger developed as a result of the employer's desire to eliminate cafeteria service to employees, which is a typical benefit in Sweden.

The Swedish company distributed luncheon vouchers that workers could use to buy meals at local restaurants, Potiker said.

"With Rikskuponger's background in coupons, we thought it was a good idea to establish a strong link in Europe before the trade barriers come down in '92. We believe that when the Common Market finally comes together, it will allow for much more movement between countries

POTIKER EXPECTS to open branches in other European cities, but he wouldn't say where or when. The joint venture could provide the American publisher with a solution to its distribution problems, not only in households, but corporations, too, officials of the company said.

In addition to producing discount coupon books for families, the company has sold millions of custom coupon books for corporate clients to use in marketing and sales promotions. The companies include American Express, Procter & Gamble, Sears Roebuck and Troy-based Kelly

In fiscal 1989, which ended in June, Entertainment Publications sold more than 2.5 million books in 87 market areas. Revenues were up 20 percent from the previous year, at $74.4 million. But despite the success, Eurpoe still looms as an uncharted market.

"ANOTHER PROBLEM we ran into was that Europe does not have the non-profit and charity network that the United States has," said John McBrearty, senior vice president of finance. Seventy percent of the books sold by the company last year were through community and service organizations as the the American Red Cross, Easter Seals and Girl Scouts of America. Don't sweat it, put it on plastic.

Credit card purchases and advanced ticket sales are coming to a theater near you, according to James Merck, American Multi Cinema (AMC) director of marketing and public relations. Other theaters are looking at placing automatic teller machines in their lobbies to help solve their customers' cash flow AMC LAUREL Park 10 in Livonia is the first general run cinema in southeast Michigan to use a computerized automatic ticket sales (CATS) system that allows purchase of tickets with credit cards. Movie fans can also buy tickets up to three days in advance at the box office or over the phone.

CATS will also be available at the Wonderland 6 theater in Livonia when it opens Friday. AMC will evaluate the system and is considering installing it in other theaters, Merck said.

AMC, the largest theater operator in southeast Michigan, has 19 theaters in the area.

The AMC Maple 3 Theatres - which generally show limited distribution and art films - began using the CATS system in September, and Merck called it successful. In other areas of the country where the system is in use, approximately 12 percent of movie tickets are bought with credit cards, he said.

PHONE PURCHASES are picked up the night of the show at a designated window, Merck said. Customers can also put a $10 charge on their credit card to use at the concessions stand, he said.

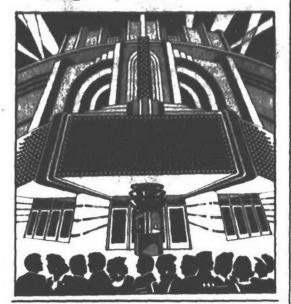

"You get a little slip of paper when you get your tickets and use it like funny money.'

Over-the-phone credit card purchases are assessed a 50-cent surcharge per ticket, but tickets bought in house with credit cards are sold at face value, he

CREDIT CARD purchases are just as fast as money purchases, Merck said. A window teller takes a card, runs it through a scanner and hands over the tickets and a receipt. Credit card purchases do not require signatures so the line should move as fast as cash lines, he said.

"What people really like is when you have a blockbuster movie like 'Batman,' you can call ahead and get tickets without standing in line. It's also of benefit to us because we know what we need for crowd

Merck is not certain how many credit card purchases are made in advance - it varies from movie

"There are a lot of advanced sales and we're certain we will sell more."

The system will accepts Visa, MasterCard, American Express and Discover.

BUT ROBERT KLEINHANS found using credit cards more trouble than it was worth. He is the local general manager for Star Theatres, which has three theaters in metropolitan Detroit - Star Rochester Hills, Star Taylor and the Winchester Mall Cinema.

Tickets can still be bought in advance, but the cinema requires they be bought with cash.

"We used to (sell tickets with credit cards over the phone), but then people wouldn't show," Kleinhans

NO-SHOWS - ESPECIALLY for blockbuster movies - are aggravating to both theater management and the movie customer who can't get in to see a show. No-shows can also cancel credit card purchases, so the theater loses both the pre-purchased ticket sale and money that could have been made if the vacant seat had been filled.

And credit purchases cost theaters more to process, Kleinhans said. With the cost of film rental and operating overhead, Star Theatres decided to stay away from credit cards because of extra costs, he

Without entrepreneurs, the U.S. economy cannot prosper.

Former General Motors chairman and chief executive officer Thomas A. Murphy told Madonna College business students Monday that they, the entrepreneurs of the future, are faced with the arduous task of keeping the American economy strong. "Entrepreneurship is what made this country great," he said, adding that risk-taking, the foundation of entrepreneurship, is essential for growth. Murphy was the first speaker in the Madonna College Michael F. McManus distinguished business lecture series at the Livonia campus.

But a willingness to take risks is not a guarantee of success, he said. Hard work and knowing how long to follow an idea or drop it are also critical. "Don't get so hard-headed that you refuse to acknowledge an idea is not going to work. "Anytime you try something, you gain from it. The reward may not be success," he added, but no effort is without some benefit - even if it is only experience and Murphy said that while the spirit of entrepreneurship is alive in this country, other countries have taken great valid. Entrepreneurial spirit - a willingness to take risks - applies to everyone, she said.

From the businessman who takes risks and drives the economy to government officials who must work along with business, entrepreneurship is important. Even for an employee it is necessary to realize the importance of risk taking and the need for entrepreneurship.

"He also made some good points about working hard and being the very best that you can be," she said. Student Ivan Love noted that entrepreneurship is critical for the success of this country. Since 92 percent of all businesses fail, it is important that other businesses start, he said. Love noted that manufacturing industries are probably more prone to failure than service industries, but risk-taking is still an essential part

Business student Gerry Abejuro said Murphy's emphasis on the individual in entrepreneurship "kind of hrew me," but he said the facts back up Murphy's assertions. He noted that in addition to the in-

Likewise, a Ford production twoseater has been in gestation for about four years, while competitors,

Anyway, these guys end up with a car to drive around, while their employer, after five years or so, still has nothing much to show for its mil-lions, special divisions, prototyping and joint-venturing.

And get this, these mavericks say they can build duplicates of their car, one at a time, for less money than GM wants for a Corvette after tooling it up and building it on an assembly line.

OF COURSE, they wouldn't get rich. I figure they would be paying themselves about $18 an hour for their time - about what skilled trades people get at the auto compa-nies anyway. Still, it's startling that two guys can even consider designing, building, and even going into small-time production at a cost competitive with a major corporation

Reaching financial goals gets tougher

The millenium is almost here. As we embark upon the decade of the 1990s, incredible events unfold, inviting reflection, warning, hope, fear, and both optimistic and ominous predictions.

Observed and analyzed ceaselessly, the current events provide compelling reasons to believe that the new decade will be different from the one before.

Americans are evolving into a different people: older, more diverse, insecure due to foreign domination, and worried about living too long with inadequate financial support.

We are also realizing that, in the 1990s, most baby boomers will approach their 40s.

For the first time in history, threequarters of all Americans will be of prime working age - 24 to 55. And as the median age rises to 36 for the first time, reassessments and new creations will become the order of

Of all the different types of revolutions we are likely to experience in the 1990s, perhaps none is of greater interest to Americans than the financial and economic revolution.

Even more important, economic prospects for the 1990s remain highly controversial at best, and totally confusing at worst.

AT THE other extreme are the optimists who reject the doomsayer's analysis.

According to this group, by the year 2000, America's debt of $1 trillion will be less than 1 percent of her gross national product of $120 trillion. The budget deficit, accounted for 5.2 percent of the gross national

The baby-boom generation, highly educated, sensitive to the global economic challenges, and with two dec-ades of work experience, will reach peak productivity, which will help push the nation's productivity growth to the 3-percent level.

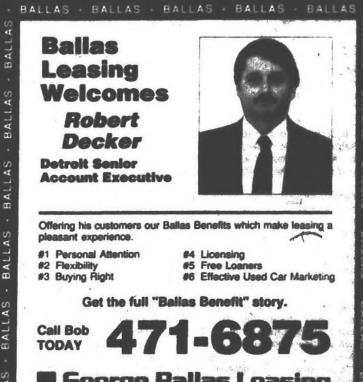

This massive confusion about where America is headed is the backdrop against which all Amerilishing and reaching financial goals is an enormous task.

To save money, study how you're working

By Mary DiPaolo

All businesses need to continually focus on ways to improve work methods because the results ultimately lead to lower operating costs and higher profits.

A study of work methods or a program to improve them often creates a nervous working environment until employees understand what is going

People often resent being questioned about how and why they do specific tasks. Employees often fear that a study of work methods will result in criticism. More important, most workers resist changes they don't understand.

Therefore, it is essential to explain why work methods are being studied, how the process will be implemented, and then solicit suggestions job. The best ideas for improvement almost always come from those who are involved directly in the job or activity on a day-to-day basis.

Before initiating any program for improving work methods, it is important that obvious bottlenecks in the operation are identified. These would be the areas of the business that create continuing problems.

Next, specific operational activities or jobs must be isolated to identify where a lot of time is being spent. Often, time-consuming tasks are the result of improper planning.

Last, the organization must pinpoint where apparent inefficiency exists and where problems constantly surface within a particular job or

Once this has been done, management can then go about the process of improving work methods through a basic four-step program. First, select the operational activity or job to be improved and establish the exact objectives to be achieved. At this point, it is essential and will produce worthwhile results. When an objective for improvement has been defined, analyze the area for improvement. Is the job any plan for change or improvement being accomplished in the right place? Is the right person doing the job? Is the job being done at the right time? It is a mistake to make changes before understanding what it is currently taking place. It is at this point where suggestions from staff and employees involved in the activity or task are most helpful.

After a thorough analysis has been made, management can then redesign the job to meet the required standards of performance. Here it is important to know exactly what you expect and what your employees expect from you.

The last phase of the program involves its implementation. Seldom is Edward D. Hall will stay in prison for the armed robbery of a Southfield store following the Michigan Supreme Court's 4-3 decision upholding his conviction.

Tuesday's decision was a victory for Graham Crabtree of the Oakland County prosecutor's staff, who argued the case before the high court a year ago.

Cards of area charities help children in need

AS A PUBLIC service, the Observer & Econotric Newspapers annually publishes samplers of Christmas cards sold by non-profit organizations.

These cards, which help support the research and programs of the especialities, are precising that continue to give all year.

The samples shown here are from area charities that in different ways reach out to help children in need

They may be ordered as follows:

These cards support the house which is near the Detroit medica center and a "home away from home" for families of children wit serious illneties receiving length treatment or hospitalization. In the house, families can relax, do laundry, cook and live as close to a nor treatment or hospitalization. In the house, families can relax, do laundry, cook and live as close to a normal life as possible during their time of stress, while staying close to their child. Cards sell at $6 for 15. To order, call the house at 745-5909.

Foundation for Mentally III Children:

The foundation is a 30-year old organization of volunteers who provide supplemental patient services for Fairlawn Center in Pontiac. It has no paid staff and no office space expense. All proceeds go directly to helping mentally ill children. This card was designed by a student at Fairlawn Center. The cards are $8 for a package of 25. Mail orders should be sent to: FMIC, 6478 Red Oak Lane, Troy 48098. Orders by phone should be directed to the following numbers: 879-2457, 540-6829, or 644-7714.

St. Vincent and Sarah Fisher Cen-

Card sales help support work with the children, young mothers and families served by the Center. There are four different styles available, this style sells for $10 up at the reception desk at the center, 27400 West 12 Mile Road, Farmington Hills 48018, or call the center at 626-7527.

Child & Parent Services

Card sales support the center, a state licensed adoption agency at 30600 Telegraph, Suite 3360, Birmingham 48010. These cards sell for $10 for a package of 10. To order, call the office at 646-7790.

Scrapbooks displaying namples of these and other cards are maintained at the five Observer & Eccentric offices at: 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia; 33203 Grand River, Farmington, 410 N. Main, Rochester; 744 Wing, Plymouth; and 805 E. Maple, Birmingham.

In 1988 over 200,000 people in Michigan suffered from Alzheimer's disease. By next year that number is expected to be over 332,000.

Feel fortunate that you're able to remember these statistics, because an Alzheimer's victim would be lucky to remember your name. For them, remembering how to do even the most simple tasks can be next to impossible. And as their mind deteriorates, their family's state of mind does, too.

Your contribution to the United Way Torch Drive supports 153 agencies in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties, like the Alzheimer's Association and Caregivers—two organizations which counsel families of Alzheimer's victims and provide in-home care. Plus, you'll be helping agencies which feed the hungry, prevent child abuse and offer services to the mentally disabled.

Please, think about how much your contribution does and how much more there is to be done. And this year give even more to the United Way Torch Drive. And help make the problems of those affected by Alzheimer's a little easier to manage.

Give, for all the good you can do.

Nightcats' plan 2 weekend performances

The masters of jump blues were a bit shook up. But not because of anything that was taking place on stage. ile took a back seat recently viien Little Charlie and The Nightcats heard the news of the San Francisco earthquake while performing in Florida. The Bay area is home for the band.

We were all nervous because we have family living in the Bay area," said Charles Baty, lead guitarist known as "Little Charlie. "But, fortunately, everyone was all right."

Any shake, rattle and roll Little Charlie and The Nightcats would prefer to limit to the dance floor, thank you. They certainly wouldn't mind any boogeying to their recently released album on Alligator Records, "The Big Break!"

The LP embodies the full-swing dance sound honed in traditional blues rtylings the Nightcats have patented on stage. And, of course, there are the usual humorous lyrics.

"The Big Break!" is an aptly-titled album for the Nighteats who are on the verge of bursting out. At least the signs point in that direction.

What takes place on stage tells the story. And this group gardered a reputation as a hot live act, heeping a yeoman's tour schedule of 250 dates

"We haven't had a vacation in two years," Baty said. "We're grinding it out. We have to. This is our big chance.

Band members drummer Dobie Strange, bassist Jay Peterson along with Baty and Estrin are steeped in blues music - more than 20 years experience. Estrin has played the harmonica with Muddy Waters, Son House, Sam Lay, Eddie Taylor, Detroit Junior, Johnny Littlejohn and Johnny Young.

Like Estrin, Baty was a student of the blues that were played nightly in the San Francisco-Oakland area. He was hooked after listening to a Little Walter record when he was 11.

"I get that record almost acci-dent," he said. "My mother wend down to get me a present. She usked a guy at the record store what was a good record."

Baty started out as a harmonical player and vocalist, only switching to guitar in the '10s. Today, he's considered one of the better guitar players on the blues circuit.

Little Charlie and The Nightcats, were a well-known commodity in Bay Area clubs. But it wasn't until Alligator Records' president Bruce Iglauer caught a listen to the group's demo tape and signed the Nightcats when all that changed.

"ALL THE Way Crazy" was the frond's debut album and brought Lit-tle Charite and The Nighteats national and international attention. "Dising the Peace" was the group's follow-up LP in 1988.

This time out the group not only sought a live feel on the album, but wanted to stay true to its traditional blues sound. "Dump the Chump" and "Lottery" certainly pay respect to the urban style of blues.

"We wanted to get into the Chica-go blues sound," he said. Little Charlie and the Nightcats will perform on Friday, Nov. 10, at Rick's Cafe in Ann Arbor and Saturday, Nov. 11, at Sully's, 4758 Greenfield, Dearborn.

Rocks rampage into WLAA final

By Dan O'Meara staff writer

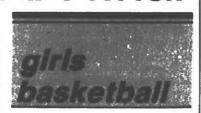

Plymouth Salem had reason to be motivated for its semifinal game with Livonia Franklin in the Western Lakes Activities Association girls basketball tournament Tuesday.

The Rocks were beaten by 35 points when they played Franklin during the regular season, but revenge wasn't what they had in

"We wanted to get to the championship real bad, and that was the motivating factor for us," said Salem junior Sarah Ruete, who scored a career-high 22 points to lead the Rocks (12-7).

Until last year, that was an annual tradition at Salem. After a one-year absence, the Rocks return to the WLAA championship game for their fourth appearance in five

Their opponent for the 8 p.m. final at Salem will be defending champion Plymouth Canton, which advanced with a 61-34 victory over North Farmington in the other semifinal Tuesday. The Chiefs were runners-up to Salem from 1985-87.

The 58-23 loss Franklin (16-3) inflicted in early October was a low point for the Rocks, but Salem, which owns a six-game winning streak, is following in the footsteps of previous teams and making a go of it late in the year.

"WE WERE struggling at that point in the season," Ruete said. 'We were winning some and losing some, and now we're starting to make our run.

"(Coach Fred Thomann) is the kind of coach who gets you ready for that. We take care of business during the year and give it our all in the tournament."

No matter how confident, Plymouth Salem's state championship hopes were imperiled somewhat by the absence of star Jeff Gold in the semifinal soccer game Wednesday.

As it turned out, it was a very small risk.

The Rocks thoroughly dominated Portage Northern, and Gold's replacement in the starting lineup, junior Andy Cosenza, led Salem to its 4-0 victory at Okemos High School.

'We knew we had to play tougher without him, because he's our leading scorer," said Cosenza, who scored two goals and assisted on another. "I was really glad to score and get the game started our way."

Gold, who has 30 goals and 19 assists to lead the team, watched in street clothes after being red-carded in Salem's regional championship victory over Redford Catholic Cen-

But the senior midfielder will be in uniform again Saturday for the chance to realize his greatest soccer ambition when the Rocks play Troy Athens for the Class A title at Bloomfield Hills Andover High School. Game time for Salem's first appearance in the state final is 3 p.m. "I WAS kind of scared because I had no control" over what happened on the field Wednesday, Gold said, "but I wasn't worried with (his teammates) out there.

"The team played incredibly well in the first half. I'm so impressed with this team right now.

"It's so exciting because the dream for all of us - and me since I was a freshman - was to go to state and now we're there," Gold added.

A victory Saturday will make either Salem coach Ken Johnson or Athens coach Tim Storch the first to win state titles in boys and girls soccer. Athens defeated the Rocks 2-1 earlier this season.

Johnson coached the Salem girls to the 1987 championship, Storch the Athens girls to the '89 title.

Not only was Cosenza a capable replacement for Gold against Portage, but he did what Gold usually does, which is score early and get Salem a quick lead.

Salem defender Ryan Fitzpatrick brought the ball the length of the field and dumped it inside, where Cosenza, with the game less than five minutes old, scored from in front.

ON A PLAY indicative of the way the game transpired, Cosenza won control of the ball in the attacking area and was having trouble maintaining possession with several de-

"I was surprised we dominated without Jeff," Matt Gold said, "but it was a big field and we're a good passing team. The wider field helped us. We made short passes to get around them instead of dribbling around them."

Northern coach Dieter Valk agreed with that assessment, saying Salem's passing and quickness were the difference. The Huskies, who were beaten by Livonia Stevenson in the semifinals last year, finish at 19-

"They played a beautiful game," Valk said. "They played like they should - quick and aggressive. They played the field, and that way they pulled the game apart.

"I THINK they have an excellent team, and you never mind losing to an excellent team," he added.

The Rocks led 3-0 at halftime on Joe Nunez' goal. Cosenza sent the ball across from the right side, and the Huskies left Nunez uncovered on the left, allowing him time to wind up for a hard delivery.

Christensen scored the only goal of the second half, which the Rocks dominated even more. Northern seldom crossed midfield and never had a serious scoring chance in the final 40 minutes.

Salem nips Canton at state; CC reigns

staff writer

When it comes to boys cross country, the decade belongs to Redford Catholic Central High.

The Shamrocks captured their third state championship of the '80s, winning the Class A title with 124 points in a meet held Saturday at Flint's IMA-Brookwood Golf Course.

Ann Arbor Pioneer was second with 145 and Milford third with 147.

Plymouth Salem, which defeated rival Plymouth Canton for the first time this season, took sixth in the 27-team field with 230. Canton was seventh with 243 and defending state champion Monroe finished eighth

It was only a week earlier when Canton surprised CC in the regional.

"We could have quit after the regional, but our spirits were up and we had a good week of practice," said CC coach Tony Magni. "In a way it helped us a little because going into the regional we were a little overconfident. All five guys didn't run well. But Saturday we felt going in that if we all ran well, we could take CC'S TOP MAN all season, senior Mike Sheridan, stayed close to the leaders before finishing third with a time of 15:48.77 over the 5,000-meter course.

Bill Cowan of Birmingham Brother Rice took the crown in 15:33.4. Bill Stricklen of Sterling Heights Ford finished second in 15:42.15.

"Mike would have loved to have won it, he's lost ly once all year," Magni said. "After Cowan took off at the two-mile mark, Mike could have burned himself but trying to keep up, but he wanted to make sure he make a good finish. "He said this (the state title) is better than winning

he individual."

The Shamrocks needed more than just Sheridan, however, to earn the title.

Jay Schemanske was 16th in 16:11.86; Chris Antezak, 19th, 16:19.27; Dave Galvin, 23rd, 16:24.58; and junior Jon Borke, 63rd, 16:53.6.

Galvin came on strong during the final three weeks

an attack over the summer.

Schemanske, meanwhile, ran his best race of the season, while Antczak stayed right behind him.

Borke, in his first year of varsity cross country after coming over from the school band, put on a spurt in the last 200 meters, passing 15 to 20 runners, according to Magni.

"I THOUGHT 140 (points) would win it," Magni said. "I knew we'd be in the hunt. As long as we stayed healthy, I knew we'd be there. We won it in '83 and '84, but this is more satisfying than the first two because it was kind of unexpected.'

Salem, meanwhile, recorded its best state meet finish ever. (The Rocks were 15th in 1987.)

Leading the way for Salem was junior John Thomas, who finished 28th in 16:29.25. Rounding out the Rocks' contingent was senior Brian Uryga, another first-year runner, who took 30th, 16:30.43; senior Brendan Masterson, 40th, 16:39.4; senior Dave Hamway, 62nd, 16:52.97; and Samir Bhavsar, 16:58.74.

"We save our best for last," said coach Geoff Baker. "They (Canton) beat us in every race, but we felt we could beat them. We just didn't prove it on those days that we ran them."

Masterson, Salem's top runner all season, was still feeling the effects from a virus that he been suffering from over the past few weeks

"After the regional, we felt Brendan would be back to his normal self," Baker said. "He still felt weak, but if he hadn't finished strong for us, we wouldn't have

"We felt we could have a 25-point swing there, and we would be right in there with Canton and CC. We felt we could beat both after the regional. CC must have been a little off at the regional because they came back and ran a tremendous race Saturday."

the finish. Grenen has guided the Lady Opplots to a 22-10 Eastern Confer-ence record in three seasons, twice shared the conference sluding last season with crown, including last season with an 11-8 mack. But it hathered Grenan that his um started out winning its first games, then stumbled, playing 500 hall over the final eight to fin-

"I thought we might have gotten a little bit tired at the end of last year," said Grenan. Three players were lest to assorted ailments, a key factor in the Lady Ocelots' seanding slump.

So Grenan cut back on the number of pre-Eastern Conference games, hoping to keep his players fresh - particularly the nine freshmen, who aren't used to playing a 30-game schedule.

DEVELOPING THOSE freshmen will be the No. 1 task for the fourth-year coach. Aiding him in that job will be five returnees, including three starters from last season's squad.

One "big" reason SC can be expected to vie for the conference crown again is 6-foot-2 center Barb Krug, from Plymouth Salem. Krug averaged 15 points and 10 rebounds per game in her freshman season at SC, but it wasn't until the final five games that she came into her own. According to Grenan, she averaged 20 points and 15 boards a game in that stretch.

"She's worked really hard in the off-season," Grenan said of Krug. The biggest thing about Barb now is she's mean."

Krug's new-found aggressiveness is one reason Grenan anticipates a strong post game from his '89-90 Lady Ocelots, who open their season Tuesday at Cuyahoga Metro CC in Cleveland.

Another is 5-10 power forward Lisa DePlanche, a sophomore from Allen Park Cabrini who averaged 13 points and eight rebounds a game last season. The third returning starter is Tracy Osborne, a 5-7 guard from L'Anse Cruse North who hit 40 percent of her threepoint opportunities as a freshman, averaging nine points.

OSBORNE ALSO excels defensively. So does sophomore Ann Hardy, a 5-8 guard-forward from Inkster who filled the sixth-person role last season until a rare problem was discovered — Hardy had three kidneys. She's been cleared to return and is currently battling Osborne for the starting point guard

Last season, the point was an SC strength with Denise Wendt and Denise Bazner. Both are gone, which leaves a big hole in the line-

"I've got six preseason games to figure it out," said Grenan. "I've got to find two or three, not just one. Point guard is a tough position, No. 1 because I expect them to be the coach on the floor, and No. 2 because I expect them to take charge.

So far, none of his incoming freshmen has exhibited those traits. Developing those areas ranks high on Grenan's list of priorities for the "preseason," or preconference season.

One player Grenan is looking forward to having back is Denise Kokowicz, who played for SC in 1987-88. A 5-10 forward from Garden City, Kokowicz averaged 11 points and seven rebounds a game that season, but sat out last year with academic problems.

"SHE BRINGS back maturity," said Grenan of Kokowicz. "She has an excellent outside shot. I'm looking for double-figures from her in both (scoring and rebounding)."

At least four of his five sophomores will start. The fifth position is wide open, depending on whether Hardy returns to her sixth-person role and which freshman steps for-

Alishi Winters is a 6-1 center from Dearborn Heights Crestwood who should be more than adequate as a back-up to Krug; Carlatta Dancy is a 5-6 guard from Wayne Memorial with excellent quickness; Laurel Haeper is a 5-8 forward from New Boston Huron who possesses solid fundamentals; and Teresa Farkas is a 5-9 point guard from Melvindale who's been hampered by a bad knee.

Several others will contribute for SC. Mo Merritt is a 5-9 forward who played center at Dearborn St. Alphonsus and must make the adjustment to a new position; Michelle Neff is a 5-6 guard who last played for Livonia Stevenson several years ago; and Kristen Kindred is a 5-10 forward from Dearborn Fairlane Christian.

TWO OTHERS, Bev DeJohn and 6-1 Tricia Lucas, will join the team after their current seasons end. De-John is playing for the SC soccer team, and Lucas is on the volleyball squad.

With much still in doubt - Grenan admits he's wrestling with "a dilemma, either to go inside or to use everybody and run up and down the court," — don't expect an 18-0 start. "This team is about a month behind last year's in practice (and development)," he said.

So Grenan won't be counting victories as measures of success. He knows there'll be mistakes, particularly as he tries to get the freshmen the playing time they need.

What I'm pushing for is for us to peak at the right time, in February," he said.

Which would leave the Lady Ocelots atop the Eastern Conference, just where they were at the end of last season. And if that happens, no one will remember - or - how they started the sea-

Plymouth Canton will be making another appe in the Western Lakes Activities Associaion girls basketball final.

The Chiefs, thanks to a convincing 61-34 victory Tuesday at North Farmington, will play for the coveted title for the fifth straight year.

The defending WLAA champions, who increased their overall record to 16-3, will meet rival Plymouth Salem (12-7) in Saturday's WLAA championship. (Game time is 8 p.m.) Salem advanced in the other semifinal with a 53-48 win over Livonia Franklin.

Leading by only three at the half, 20-17, Canton broke open a close first-half battle by outscoring the Raiders 25-4 in the third quarter.

Stacey Thompson, a senior forward, scored 11 of her game-high 27 points during the surge.

'Stacey is the kind of player who can score inside, from the perimeter and she's a good passer to boot," said Canton coach Bob Blohm. "She's the kind of player who gets better each time out.

"But it was a solid team effort all the way around. I'm really pleased for them.'

North coach Greg Capling credited Canton's man-to-man scheme as the key to the outcome.

"THEY (CANTON) played good defense," he forced us into bad mental errors.

"It kind of had a snowballing effect after they scored the first six points of the third quarter. It took us out mentally. Our only production offen-

"We played the same style of bas-ketball," Thomann said. "We just did a better job of executing, and we made some big shots early that gave us some confidence."

The real key, however, was the Rocks continuing to believe they could win despite being down by eight points, 28-20, at halftime, Tho-

The game turned in the third quarter when Salem rallied from a 10point deficit to lead 37-35 at the end. That made for a close fourth period with the Rocks never losing their edge in momentum

'This was one we wanted real bad," Franklin coach Dan Freeman said, "but we went cold in the third quarter. Dawn (Warner, who scored a game-high 26 points) had some bounce around the rim and out, and we had some defensive lapses.

"FRED'S TEAM, come tournament time - and I don't care what they're like at the beginning of the season - is always going to be ready."

Freeman and the Patriots had more serious matters on their minds Tuesday. Freeman, who will enter 'We wanted to get to the championship real bad, and that was the motivating factor for us . . . We were winning some and losing some (when Salem lost earlier to Franklin), and now we're starting to make our run.'

- Sarah Ruete

the University of Michigan Hospital today to receive a second opinion regarding treatment for a pancreatic tumor, was coaching his last game for Franklin this year.

Freeman said he didn't know if he'd be able to coach his team this week and told his players of his situation last Thursday.

"It was an emotional time, a tough time," Freeman said. "I held it back from the kids as long as I could, because I wanted them to concentrate on basketball.

"I don't know if it was a distraction tonight or not. We just got outplayed in the third quarter.

The story should really be the ballgame," he added. "Both teams played hard; we came up a little short. Juliann Stesiak scored the first basket of the third quarter to extend

Franklin's lead to 10 points, but the Patriots didn't score another field goal in the period.

SALEM, MEANWHILE, rallied to tie (31-31) on Emily Giuliani's hook shot. Wendy Bailey and Ruete baskets forced two more ties before the Rocks took their first lead, 37-35, since midway in the second quarter on Betsy McAllister's basket with :06 remaining. Warner, after going scoreless in the first period, scored 15 points. which included three triples, in the second quarter to lift Franklin into a 28-20 halftime lead. She was 4-of-4 shooting free throws in the third period and had three field goals in the finale, including a triple at the buzzer to account for the final margin.

"We adjusted at halftime to get better pressure on their perimeter players." Thomann said. "Even though we didn't get much off our pressure, it didn't allow' them to come down and get into a rhythm."

Ruete hit a triple to break a 39-39 tie early in the fourth quarter, and the Rocks held the lead for the dura-

Warner's baseline layup with 1:27 to play made it 45-43. On the try for a three-point play, she missed the free throw, but there was no Franklin rebound.

SALEM'S KELLY Austin, who scored 11 points, made three free throws, and Ruete and Giuliani, who added nine points, hit two each to give the Rocks a 52-45 lead with 15 seconds left. Shannon Eberly also had nine points for the Patriots. Thomann admitted to being a little surprised at his team, given the youth and inexperience with which it began the year, having the chance to play for the league title. "I thought we would get better as the season went on," he said, "but to get to the championship game with the really tough teams in our league I knew would be a tough task. "It's just a really neat feeling to watch young players grow and step out to make some shots under pressure. Lord knows you have to have defense, but you have to be able to make some shots, too.'

Calumet tips Eagles

St. Mary's College lagged after one half and failed to make it up in the second Tuesday, losing at Purdue-Calumet 89-80 in mens basketball.

The loss evened the Eagles record at 1-1. They defeated Fanshawe College (of London, Ont.) 102-90 at Dombrowski Fieldhouse Oct. 28 in their season

In the loss to Calumet, St. Mary's trailed 40-27 at the half. Three players reached double figures in scoring for the Eagles: Arnold Wilson and Denny Butcher with 12 points each and James Lakes with 11. Mike Uhles topped Calumet with 25. In the win over Fanshawe, St. Mary's got 17 points from Lakes and 16 points, 11 rebounds and seven blocked shots from Joachim Jerichow. Garth Howard added 15 points and Terry Koerner and Rayvlon Croon had 11

The final result could not have pleased Tom Teeters more - and anyone familiar with this perfectionist who coaches Schoolcraft College's volleyball team knows that's saying alot.

The Lady Ocelots had just played one of their best matches of the season, beating the University of Windsor 15-12, 11-15, 15-3, 15-11 Tuesday at SC. The match meant nothing it was a non-conference tune-up for the National Junior College Athletic Association Region 12 Tournament, which starts today at SC.

But this tune-up could not have come at a more opportune time. SC lost last Saturday to NCAA Division II power Oakland University (ranked 17th nationally) 20-18, 4-15, 15-9, 15-4. Teeters felt his team needed a spark if it were to make it to the NJCAA Tournament to defend the title it won last year.

The Lady Ocelots may have gotten it against Windsor. Indeed, Teeters thought this year's team may be in better position than last year's.

"ACTUALLY, WE'RE going in (to the regional) on a better note," he said, as his team improved to 33-9. "Last year, we lost to Windsor in four games (before the regional). This year we beat them in four, and Windsor has basically the same team.'

It may seem like Teeters is confident of SC's chances this weekend, but don't believe it. "Lansing is the No. 1 team in the region," he said, even though SC is the tournament's top seed. "They've beaten us, in the finals of our tournament. I feel we've got to take it from them."

And, although either SC or Lansing are considered odds-on favorites to capture the regional crown, Teeters said this tournament could be the most competitive in years.

'There're more teams going for (the title)," he said. "There are three dominant teams: Lansing, Southwestern CC and ourselves. Then there are three other contenders (Mott, Macomb and Lake Michigan), darkhorses who could win it."

ELEVEN TEAMS will start the double-elimination tourney at 10 a.m. today. Play will continue at SC through Saturday, with the start of the championship round slated for 4 p.m. If two matches are required, the second will begin at 6 p.m. Saturday.

The winner advances to the NJCAA finals in Miami.

As the top seed, SC gets a firstround bye. The Lady Ocelots won't play until 10 a.m. Friday; their opponent will be the winner of the Mott-Kalamazoo Valley match, which will be played at 6 p.m. today.

Other first-round matches today are Vincennes (Ind.) vs. Kellogg CC at 6 p.m. and Muskegon vs. Lake Michigan at 7:30 p.m.

a stern test for SC

In the second round, Lansing, which also got a first-round hye, meets the Muskegon-Lake Michigan winner; Macomb goes against the Vincennes-Kellogg victor; and Lakeland (Ohio) plays Southwestern. All second-round matches in the winner's bracket start at 10 a.m.

"The key for us," said Teeters, "will be playing consistently as a team and getting a lot out of our serves. We have to serve tough with very few errors."

SC, WHICH lost at home to Lansing 15-4, 15-10, will have to perform even better than it did against Windsor to beat the region's other top team. "(Lansing's) very tall, a great blocking team," said Teeters. "We'll have to play as well as we did tonight with fewer errors to beat

There are several players who could fill important roles for the Lady Ocelots. Alisha Love is one of them. The sophomore co-captain showed how dominating she could be when she rallied SC against Windsor, serving eight straight points - five of which were aces.

'She's going to have to have a really good tournament," said Teeters. When the game's on the line, I want her back there serving."

Others who could be important factors for SC are sophomore cocaptain JoAnn Kolnitys ("She has to have strong blocking games. She has to be a dominant force up there for us"); setter Jenny Sproul ("She's been consistent all year. She's shown me a lot for someone who never played setter in high school"); and Kirsten Stelzer ("She has to stay aggressive. We've been getting good hitting out of her since mid-season").

Teeters does think his team can repeat. "I don't know if we have the consistency we had last year," he said. "But our serving is tougher, and we're not as short. Also we have a much stronger bench than last

So the components are there. If they mesh, the Lady Ocelots will be taking aim at a second-straight NJCAA championship.

SC NOTES: In Tuesday's win over Windsor, the Lady Ocelots got nine kills from both Elena Oparka and Stelzer and seven kills and 12 block assists from Kolnitys. Hollie Brachel led the defense with 12 dias.

Love's serving turned the match in SC's favor. The two teams split the first two games, and Windsor led 3-0 in the third until Love stepped to the line. Her eightstraight points put SC in command the rest of the way; she finished with six ser-

In the loss at OU Saturday, Stelzer had 18 kills and Oparka had 17. Kolnitys finished with four solo blocks and 11 block assists, and added 12 digs. Love finished with 12 digs, and Brachel had 10.

North Farmington's Line Rives won the Class A individual race and Farmington finished fifth in the team race Saturday to highlight Observerland's showing in the girls state cross country championships. Walled Lake Western, Lutheran Westland and Redford Bishop Borgess runners also turned in fine performances.

The Western duo of Jennifer Ray and Wendy Proos captured second and ninth, respectively, in the Class A individual event, and junior Jennifer Gerlach, runner-up in the Class D team race, led Lutheran Westland to a second-place finish.

Rives had the second-best time among all Class A runners. Her time of 18:45.31 was second only to Ann Arbor Pioneer's Bridget Mann, a freshman who won the team race in 18:12.17.

The Warriors didn't have enough runners to have a team this year, but they had one of the best combinations around, as evidenced by sophomore Proos' ninth-place time of 19:39.82.

Lutheran Westland was runner up to Fowler in the Class D team race, finishing 10 points behind the (Eagles), 42-52.

Horseman, also a center, has been moved into the defensive starting lineup this week. He is only one of two Glenn players who will go both ways. (The other is Johnston, an offensive tackle.)

Some of Glenn's best defensive play this season has come from the secondary, led by senior free safety Tom Luxton (5-10, 162), whose hit in the end zone last week against Fordson prevented a touchdown.

He is joined in the secondary by senior Tommy Lawrence (5-11, 162), senior Brian Stephenson (6-0, 168) and senior Chris Madish (6-1, 186).

beings with supposedly magical powers.

Its defense chased the Phantom in the first round of the Class B playoffs last week, and the Jaguara will try to solve the mysteries of Houdini

Houdini will be wearing No. 6 and will be listed in your program as Mill Coleman, quarterback of the undefeated Farmington Hills Harrison team.

The Hawks, 10-0 and favored to repeat as state champs, will face Allen Park for the second time in three years in post-season play at 1:30 p.m. Saturday at Allen Park.

The Jaguars (9-1) couldn't stop Milan running back Jesse Walker last Friday but managed to win a 33-26 shootout and advance to the regional

ALLEN PARK coach Ed Bellas labeled Walker the Phantom after he rushed for 211 yards and scored three touchdowns Friday. He also called Walker, who gained more than 2,100 yards this year, the best high school running back he's ever

"He's the best quarterback I've ever seen," said Bellas, who remembers too well what Coleman, then a sophomore, did two years ago when the Hawks pounded host Allen Park 29-6 in the first round.

great quarterback in successive games. That's intent on setting a trap. "My defense is weaker. scary stuff. And the show Coleman puts on could It has been all year. I don't have the linebackers, be more frightening than Walker's disappearing the physical kids."

"And he's a runner, too - a real Houdini," said Bellas, who thinks Harrison coach John Herrington makes broken plays a part of his regular offense. "On a broken play, he'll score. If you have him trapped, he'll break away and he's gone."

ALLEN PARK was able to keep a handle on Walker for a half, long enough to take an 18-6 lead. But the Phantom was - well, untouchable - in the second half, and the Jaguars ended up winning with offensive fireworks of their own.

Allen Park also has a big-play threat in quar-terback Gordon Miller (6-1, 195), who rushed for 78 yards and two TDs and was 9-of-16 passing for 173 yards and one TD in the Milan game.

Miller, who will be matched against the most prolific passer in Michigan high school history Saturday, has rushed for 577 yards and 12 scores, and he has passed for 747 yards and 10 touch-

"I've been looking forward to it since my sophomore year," Miller said. "(Coleman) has always had a lot of press, and whoever plays against him feels he has to play up to his level.

"If I play like I did in the last game, I should be able to hang with him statwise. I'm excited about it. I can't wait to get on the field."

Coleman has thrown for 1,605 yards and 16 touchdowns this fall, and he has added 566 yards and four TDs on the ground. But the difference Saturday could be the Harrison defense, which shut the door on Riverview in the team's 23-7, first-round win last week.

"That's what saved us against Riverview," Herrington said. "We had a little trouble getting the ball in the end zone.

"IF THE DEFENSE plays well, I look for a lower-scoring game. I don't think it will be a 33-26 game like they had last week."

The Hawks average 381/2 points a game to sev-"We had him trapped I don't know how many en for the opponent, but the game is not apt to be a shootout between offense-dominated teams like the Milan-Allen Park contest.

'Harrison has a scoring offense and a tough So the Jaguars face a great running back and a defense," said Bellas, who sounds like someone Roverback John Williams (6-2, 215) and half-

HERRINGTON, noting his staff has charted 54 offensive formations used by Allen Park, is impressed by the way Miller, a mobile player, can scramble and run the bootleg pass — the same things Coleman likes to do.

"Our job as coaches is to get players in the right positions," Herrington said. "If we do that, then it's up to them."

He also thinks the Jaguars are better than the team Harrison thumped in 1987, because their offense is more diversified. "I don't think they have a John Jaskowski with the speed he had, but they have a running, passing quarterback and a big tailback." Boy, do they! If Miller doesn't keep the ball or throw is, he can give it to tailback Jim Cooper (6-

"I understand they've improved the last couple weeks and are peaking at the right time," Herrington said.

MUCH OF THE attention will be focused on Coleman, however. He runs the ball more, is stronger, calls more audibles and uses a wider variety of receivers than he did as a sophomore, Herrington said. Bellas hopes Coleman doesn't repeat his '87 performance when he passed for 114 yards and rushed for one TD.

"I would like for him not to do that," Bellas said. "The only thing we might do differently is have more control with my kids when they go after him. They'd run by him or he'd juke them and break out. We'll try to use more leverage on Bellas is aware of Harrison tailback Matt Conley, who has rushed for 766 yards and 14 touchdowns, and Gary Devine, who has added 387 yards and six TDs on the ground.

Junior defensive ends Kevin Kalczynski and Chris Delp, along with linebackers Steve Morrison and Jason Randall will have to pick up the slack. The defensive backfield which promises to be severely tested against Glenn includes Dean Polce, Ted Baumer, Chuck Taylor and Tony Paesano. Polce and Taylor both had interceptions against the Stags.

"WE PLAYED WELL against Mackenzie which had some pretty good running backs," said Fracassa. But we knew Mackenzie would run the ball, and, if we were going to beat them, we'd have to stop the run.

"But John Glenn has a more balanced attack like us, and we'll have to prepare differently for them," he

While the Rice offense averages a few points less than John Glenn, they are just as explosive behind the expert leadership of senior signalcaller Bob Utter. Rice scored on three of its first four possessions against Mackenzie, and put the game away the first time it touched the ball in the second half to go up 28-0.

Rice can beat you both ways.

All four of Rice's touchdowns last week, for instance, were scored on runs by Sean Johnson and Morrison. While Johnson and Morrison do most of the running, they are not the only Rice rushing threats. At one point against Mackenzie, five different players carried the ball for Rice on consecutive plays.

Utter is a smart, strong-armed thrower capable of picking enemy defenses apart with both shortrange, and long-range passes. Utter has thrown for nearly 1,000 yards and eight touchdowns this year while completing 68 per cent of his passes.

Tight end Pete Mitchell, who suffered a late-season ankle injury and has not seen too much action lately, Paesano and Andy Haislip are the leading Rice receivers. Mitchell and Paesano have combined to catch 48 passes for 711 yards and four touch-

Musical numbers hilarious in 'Oil City'

Performances of "Oil City" continue through Sunday, Dec. 3, at the Birmingham Theatre. For ticket information call the box office at 644-3533.

"Oil City" at the Birmingham The-atre is a highly entertaining, very funny bit of musical fluff adroitly performed by a quartet of immensely talented actors-musicians.

Ostensibly the four-piece symphony of fictitious Oil City, Ohio, is per-forming for its 20-year high school reunion, and the audience becomes their classmates in the crepe-paperfestooned high school gym.

Actually the plot is non-existent, though the cast manages to deftly create characterizations from the brief dialogue between the musical

Mike Craver and Mark Hardwick are two of the show's four creators and appeared in the original off-Broadway production as well. Craver's character, also named Mike, is a former flower child of the '60s, who both looks and sounds like the more dim-witted of the Smothers Brothers. His slow, soft-spoken delivery is an amusing contrast to the strident tones of the female cast

EACH MEMBER of the musical quartet specializes in one instrument but changes off to an impressive array of others. Craver's specialty is the synthesizer, which he comically suggests will make the other symphony members obsolete.

Mark, Hardwick's nerdy character, lives with his mother and looks very much at home with his accordian, though he actually spends more time at the piano keyboard. Hardwick has a wonderfully expressive face that speak volumes.

Christine Elliott's Mary specializes in the violin. She is as intensely uptight as her tightly curled hair, and the exaggerated exactness and volume of her voice suggests a cross between an elementary teacher and

The show's music is as diverse as the characters. It includes classical, rock, big band, gospel and ragtime. Some of it is familiar, and some of the numbers are very clever original spoofs. For a Michigan audience, surely the funniest is "Ohio AfterVermont" but with all the romance missing. Audience participation is encouraged for the "Hokey Pokey."

Director Larry Forde, another veteran of the original production, keeps the pace snappy. There's really no common thread holding the musical numbers together, but most of the time the audience is laughing too hard to notice.

Barbara Michals teaches high school English in Southfield. A theater critic for the last 15 years, she is an inveterate playgoer who regularly catches up on all the Guys upstage gals in 'Odd Couple'

Performances of the Plymouth Theatre Guild production of "The Odd Couple" continue through Saturday, Nov. 18. For ticket information call 420-2161.

"The Odd Couple" featuring that improbable pair Oscar and Felix is perhaps the best of Neil Simon's early work.

It's so good, in fact, that Simon later switched genders around, modified some dialogue and - voila! - he had a female version with almost as much comedic snap, crackle and pop as the original.

The Plymouth Theatre Guild production doesn't explode with hilarity, although its female characters manage their share of laughs. What's really funny (literally and figuratively) is how two men in minor roles upstage the whole cast.

Gregory Lee and Jeff Hammonds have great fun as two Spanish men-about-town who don't understand American women, the language or customs. Like "two wild and crazy guys" from "Saturday Night Live," they take com-mand of the stage with the energy, vivid characterizations and fast pacing required in comedy.

By comparison, the women seem to be coasting. Granted, the two men are more bizarre. But director Janice Anderson has cast an excellent variety of women.

A faster pace would really make them sparkle and bring to life the intrinsic humor of the plot.

WHICH, AS YOU may recall from the male version, centers around the incompatibility of two friends: Oscar, the slob, and Felix. a compulsive cleaning machine. In the female version, we have Olive, and Florence (newly separated from her husband, who moves in

One might wish, however, that she mod-erate the complaining and whining qualities and accentuate lint-pick ing and the rearranging of furniture and pictures. It would have been nice to see more of Florence tastes reflected in the aparts after she moves in with Olive.

The world's longest continuously running play has come to Troy.

Agatha Christie's "The Mousetrap" is the Troy Players' opening gambit of the season. Cleanly directed by Stephen Kiersey, the cast of eight who find themselves stranded in Monkswell Manor are a fair match for each other. It's an even production, all of the actors doing their best to frighten each other — and the audience — and succeeding. The troupe builds to a nice pitch. The suspense mounts with each scene.

the young, spirited, Christopher Wren. Wren likes to sleep in rooms with four-poster beds, winds up cooking the guest meals (Mollie's meals sound dreadful), and seems to be the right age to be the suspect.

Szatkowski manages to bring poignancy to his role as a hip dresser, a lonely boy hiding behind a great architect's name.

Angelo Valeri, dressed in an alarming black raincoat, white scarf and black hat (the clothes of the killer), turns in a fine performance as Giles Ralston. As Mollie's husband, he gets to tote heavy bags, chop wood, worry about his wife's attachment to Wren and run up and down the stairs a lot.

Valeri does all this with panache. He even manages to chew on his pipe and look guilty and irritated at the same time.

JILL SNOWDEN gives us a Mrs. Boyle who deserves what she gets. Mrs. Boyle wears a perpetual frown, believes a proper guest house should have a proper staff, but has done improper things during her tenure as a judge. It's hard to keep from applauding when Mrs. Boyle frowns

Joe Urkshus as Major Metcalf is mysteriously perplexed and forever-poking in the cellars while he chomps on his pipe. Urkshus does a fine job as the baffled Major.

Philomena Somers, sans makeup, plays Miss Casewell. She skulks around in cords, boots, cardigan, a. tie, the uniform of a London literary lesbian. Yet Miss Casewell lives in Majorca, doesn't write and has come to this deserted part of England on "personal business." Somers gives us a thoroughly shady Miss Casewell.

Guy Snyder as Mr. Paravicini, seems to have escaped from an Italian circus. His wild, unstoppable laughter, his ability to pick out the scary theme song "Three Blind Mice" with one finger, and the coincidence of his Rolls-Royce beingstuck in a snow ditch coupled withthe flimsy excuse that he's in this. part of the country on a junket to a friend's house make Paravicini a prime suspect.

First Theater Guild is undertaking a massive job with its current production, Rodgers and Hammerstein's

For its limited resources, the guild does a respectable job with the show, although much of the grandeur of Rodgers and Hammerstein's style is lost in the small Knox Auditorium of the First Presbyterian Church.

Downsizing big shows like "Carousel" always has inherent problems, such as trying to retain the grand feeling of the show. Musically, the guild provides an excellent show for the resources available. The small orchestra has a good sound to it and balances well with the singers, something many larger groups are unable to achieve.

Lead performers are good overall and have fine voices. Leading the cast is David Sikkelee as Billy Bigelow. Kelli Malisch as Julie Jordan, John Picha as Enoch Snow and Lau-

The Ridgedale Players producted "The Prisoner of Second Avenue is fast-paced and well acted. Under Kent Martini's direction, the cast manages to capture the madness of New York, and by extension, the madness that underlines much of life in America. Neil Simon wrote better than he knew; his black comedy about a couple who lose their jobs because of corporate cuthacks is timely in the late Eighties.

Treasure sources dry up

That whole unorganized community of scroungers who thrive in dust-filled air, dark flourished, she and a crew of helpers could get lofts and dank cellars, are suffering withdrawal

Marguerite Hague of Birmingham who runs two Wayne State University projects, the Cam-pus Treasure Shop, on Cass and the Shop's warehouse on Second where the architectural pieces she salvaged were kept, spent her final official day at the warehouse Saturday.

To scroungers, the warehouse was the mine where they occasionally uncovered buried treasures among the hundreds of doors lined up along the walls, in the bins of broken molding, in corners filled with parts of fireplaces, bannisters and newel posts and in the boxes of hardware, casters, knobs, tiles and hunks of marble.

The scroungers experienced the thrill of discovering a choice piece of hand-carved molding, an oak door with beveled glass panes or a black walnut railing in a heap of rubble. Hague, who

But pickings have grown thinner, permission to salvage is harder to get and even the brave don't want to go into abandoned houses.

The other problem is financial. When she moved from her former warehouse to the tune of $50,000 in 1980 to the one she just closed on Second, she made an agreement with the building owner, Roxie Yaldoo of Southfield.

He would give her the space rent-free and she would fix it up and make the outside look attrac-

But old habits are hard to break. She flashed a quick smile and said, "I still keep files on things people are looking for. I still have contacts. Already, I have a whole house we're getting. Where I'm gonna put it, I have no idea."

She is a careful record keeper. Her children gave her a word processor, which she also uses to record her memories. "I'm writing three books at one time," she said. She wants to share her experiences and write about the many people who were and are so important to her there.

Local novelist takes success in his stride

By Corinne Abett staff writer

Tom Sullivan, 48, of Lathrup Village is currently enjoying what all writers dream of — success.

He has two hot novels in the bookstores: "The Phases of Harry Moon," which came out last year, and this year's "Born Burning," both published by E.P. Dutton.

He will be the leading figure in "An Evening with Novelist Tom Sullivan" at 8 p.m. Monday at Cranbrook House, 380 Lone Pine, Bloomfield Hills, sponsored by the Cranbrook Writers Guild. Fee for nonmembers is $5.

Sullivan came on the national scene like a thunderbolt. But he had previously published what he calls a 'paperback potboiler" and sold a lot of short stories.

WHILE "Harry Moon" was nominated for a Pulitzer, and phone calls from movie people are not that unusual anymore, Sullivan is modest and boyishly friendly. Right now he plans to continue teaching school, he

"I'm there by choice," he said of his teaching position, ninth grade English at Fordson High in Dearborn.

Sullivan has been a gambler, "Rube Goldberg" innovator, coach, city commissioner and born-again athlete. He and his wife, Pris, have two children, Colleen, 16, and Sean,

THE WRITING gets squeezed in in the darnedest places. He's working on "Drummers on Glass," which has already been sold.

"I'm habituated to parked cars, bathrooms and restaurants. I love to write in restaurants."

Yes, he gets interrupted. No, he won't say on whose table he's currently writing. "I change regularly," he said with a touch of wry humor in his voice. "I always write the first draft in longhand - I want to see what I've crossed out."

He likes to have the history of the development of the work in front of him, "filled with all kinds of declensions and brackets," he said. But, "I can't edit it until it's in print."

"I WRITE about families," Sullivan said.

He classifies his stories as "mainstream," even though some unsettling elements can raise the hairs on the back of the neck.

In "Born Burning," it's the small son's fear of the historic teak chair, symbolizing the passing of the leadership from one family member to the next, and the strange fates that have befallen those who took on that role before him.

The novels of John Cheever had a major impact on Sullivan's writing career, he said. He didn't realize his own natural style was marketable until he encountered Cheever's.

LOT of us dream of being able to make a living doing something we love to do. Debbie Garrity, a 36-yearold Garden City artist/homemaker, is living that dream.

Ever since she stumbled onto her creative talent of forming bits of dough into appealing little characters 12 years ago, she has progressed from the craft tables of local bazaars to being a supplier to more than 30 specialty shops throughout Michigan.

Formerly known only as Debbie's elay things, Garrity recently gave her pieces an official name. She calls them "Debbie's Clay Babies," in memory of her grandmother, who first used that description.

Considering the affection Garrity has for her little creations, the name is perfect. Gently holding a 2-inch teddy bear dressed in a ruffled tutu, Garrity says "I put a piece of my soul into each one of these.

The 11/4-inch to 3-inch characters are completly handmade of a durable colored clay, which is baked to a ceramic-like finish. Popular figures include teddy bears, bunny rabbits, little girls and boys, Amish people and whimsical animal figures, dressed in a wide variety of colorful outfits. In addition to the assortment of original designs, Garrity also does custom orders.

CUSTOM ORDERS have included things like pregnant teddy bears, or a bunny in a sureing uniform. She also supplies a number of Michigan high schools with cheerleader teddy irs colored to the school's specifi-

"I sat home on Thursday nights, while my husband went bowling, and I made teddy bears. I didn't know what I was going to do with all of them," she said with a laugh.

ABOUT THAT TIME, Garrity saw dough art for sale at a craft fair, and remembers her first thought - "Oh, my goodness! People actually buy these things." Needless to say, she soon had her own booth.

When Garrity learned the Cambridge Center (an adult education program in Garden City) was looking for crafters to teach in their evening program, she became the center's dough art instructor.

Because of the delicate nature of dough art, and the amount of time it took to make, Garrity was delighted to find another compound was available for her craft. When a fellow craftsperson introduced Garrity to the clay she now uses, she became one of the product's best customers. "The company told me their busi-ness has quadrupled in this area," Garrity said. "They say it's because of Quaint and Country in Garden City," a reference to a shop she once

Through teaching Garrity had gained access to wholesale houses, which led to her desire to open her own shop. "I couldn't even sleep at night - I was a nut case," Garrity said about her craving for a shop. "The whole idea was to open up a little clay store," she said. "But that's not a real big market, so I decided to open up a store and sell my clay babies along with country ware, which is what I did," she said referring to the country gift shop, sho

THE NEXT BIG step happened to day while Garrity was working at her shop. A sales representative, came in to show Garrity miniatures made in Taiwan. But when she saw Garrity's clay babies, the sales rep offered to try and sell them to other store owners. About two weeks later, the orders started coming in. "I didn't take it seriously at first," remembers Gar-

"I thought, 'Oh, I'll wait to the last minute to do this.' But I've been trying to catch up ever since."

Garrity soon found herself having a hard time finding enough time to satisfy her clay customers and keep the shop going at the same time. "Td be up till 2 or 3 a.m.," she said. "I even had to close the store periodi-cally for two or three days, just so I could catch up on my clay orders."

So in September of this year, Garrity sold the shop and began working full time from her home, filling orders which average 400 characters each week.

"I LIKE THE freedom, and I like being home with my children," she said of her new arrangement. And she loves working with the clay. "I'm just like a little kid who likes to play with playdough," Garrity said. The only drawback for the artist now is the pressure of getting her orders out on time.

Garrity's husband lends not only his support, but also "his great, big hands," to help mix the clay into col-ors. The three Garrity children, ages 10, 9 and 7 also do their part, collecting cash from mom for each color they mix.

Garrity considers herself "really fortunate. There's a lot of people who haven't found what they're good at," she explained. "Or, they have to work at something they hate — I'm pretty spoiled really."

Garrity's current plan is to "fill ny orders and keep my cultioner's appy," But one day she popul to ep-

VERSATILITY IS, likewise, a key element for the successful artist. Of course "success" is a very relative term.

So let me clarify that by assuming that you wish to earn money doing artwork. If that is what you want, ask yourself, "What do I do that people would be willing to pay for?"

If you cannot come up with a selection of commercial amplications of your abilities, then relal applications of your abilities, then you need to become more versatile.

Without versatility, you are like a store that sells only one item. Artwork is much like a retail store. You are the store front, your abilities are your services and your artwork is your stock in

FOR EXAMPLE, last week I received a lastminute request for a master sculpture of a new toy to come on the market.

My original place was sent immediately to Tokyo for tooling and I thought I was all done. Two days later, I received an even more frantic

Of course, I didn't like the last-minute order, but the job was fun and rewarding. Then I painted some signs, started some sketches for an office plana logo and entered a few pieces in an art

On my "board" for next week is a caricature, a rubber mold for a customer's sculpture, pro-motional cartoons for a hospital and an airbrush retouching of a photograph. My point, of course, is to show you how open the field of art can be . . . if you are versatile.

HERE IS a checklist of some of the stock in trade you should carry in your art "store."

Product illustrations in pen and ink and color. Airbrushing, both paintings and photo retouching. Cartooning and caricatures are always in Sculpturing is wonderful, and often you are the inventor's first approach to a three-dimensional product. Not to mention the purely aesthetic qualities of sculpture.

Sign painting is a must, and the financial benefits are immediate. Fashion design or the ability to draw people will always bring you plenty of work as in catalogs, manuals and pamphlets.

Craft prompts career

special writer

LOT of us dream of being able to make a living doing something we love to do. Debbie Garrity, a 36-yearold Garden City artist/homemaker, is living that dream.

Ever since she stumbled onto her creative talent of forming bits of dough into appealing little characters 12 years ago, she has progressed from the craft tables of local bazaars to being a supplier to more than 30 specialty shops throughout Michigan.

Formerly known only as Debbie's clay things, Garrity recently gave her pieces an official name. She calls them "Debbie's Clay Babies," in memory of her grandmother, who first used that description.

Considering the affection Garrity has for her little creations, the name is perfect. Gently holding a 2-inch teddy bear dressed in a ruffled tutu, Garrity says "I put a piece of my soul into each one of these.'

Introducing he Crossings

Apartment living just got better.

We're making The Crossings a better place to live and a better value. You'll feel it in the new hallways and newly refurbished clubhouse. You'll see it in the plush landscaping when you enter the grounds. And that's just the beginning. It's the new look and feel of The Crossings at Canton—and it's for you.

The Crossings at Canton offers 19 different floor-plans with 1 to 4 bedrooms. And whether you choose a 2-level townhome or a luxury apartment, the renewed beauty of this charming rental community whines through in way one—the result of our recent / Capital Improvements & Upgrading program. These apartments and pownhomes are the largest at the arm, yet are still incredibly affortable.

Dale Northop special writer

-Architecture has been viewed as a form of advertising. Just as the style of house we live in confers socio-economic identification, so too does commercial architecture confer business success.

Today's office buildings are conscious of corporate identification, particularly when the corporation builds them. Such is the case with Michigan National Bank's headquarters in Farmington Hills, designed by Luckenback/ Ziegelman of Birmingham, and Standard Federal Bank in Troy by the WBDC Groups of Grand Although both newly opened headquarters were built to house banking operations, the contrast in architectural styles is unmistakable.

Michigan National's complex consists of four, 21/2-story buildings comprising 283,000 square feet at a cost of $31 million. Set on 25 acres, it all has the ambiance of American architectural vernacular: colonial Williamsburg and Thomas Jefferson's Monticello. The architects, however, were confronted with making traditional architecture satisfy the needs of a contemporary banking operation.

Within one of the buildings is an atrium light well below which is the 9,000-square-foot trading floor, a pecessary part of any banking operation. On the wall is a commodities screen that flashes the Dowof the current market when they're not looking at heir computers, contemplating the next saction on the programmed domestic and Parational market screens.

ture, calling to mind colonial Williams-

The years 1972-82 saw a tremendous growth of Michigan National. The building of a headquarters served to unite the administrative activities that had been scattered in eight suburban locations.

STANDARD FEDERAL rises six stories above Big Beaver Road, each floor set back and suggesting the appearance of a streamline Egyptian step-pyramid clad in polished granite. The horizontal spans are cantilevered out over the ribbons of windows affording an outside view from within the largely unobstructed office areas. The 450,000-square-foot, $80 million structure sits on five acres of the 27-acre site. Some of the additional acreage is given over to the open-air parking, a parking structure and retention ponds.

The interior consists of a six-story atrium space with projecting convex glass parapets reminiscent of New York's Guggenheim Museum. The space greatly facilitates an expansive feeling to employees at their work stations. The overall plan allows for a balance of artificial and natural light and an ease of intra- and inter-office comunication.

The office arrangement is based on product distribution; first floor - banking, brokerage and consumer lending; second floor - mortgage lending. A centralized computer facility serves the headquarter's personnel and entire branch system.

Despite the differences in architecture, Michigan National's and Standard Federal's headquarter buildings can be viewed as state-of-the-art projecting into the 21st century.

Dale Northrop is an architectural historian and college professor who lives in Troy.

Landscaping a 'sound investment such things as patios, decks, pathways, walls, barbecue areas, gardens and the like. The wonderful effects that can be schieved in the yard with bricks, mortar, concrete, paving blocks and other building materials are detailed in "Backyard Brickwork," edited by Mike Lawrence. The reader is cau-tioned to think carefully before getting started, as all of the things mentioned are permanent and will not yield easily to later changes.

Questions that must be asked in-clude: Must there be plenty of play-ing space for children or grandchildren? Do you hope to add a swimming pool at a later stage? Are you an enthusiastic gardener or do you

THE BOOK POINTS out that the days of huge houses with spacious rooms on cheap and equally spacious plots have gone forever. Building costs, land price and the presence of modern lifestyles demand that you make good use of every square foot of your property. Every dollar spent on well-designed outdoor living space is a sound investment. You will get it back in hard cash when you go to sell your house.

There is some good advice for peo-ple who cannot handle the outside improvements by themselves but can afford to pay for them. The book tells about trying to find somebody who has had such work done and can make a recommendation, then adds:

"You must not, under any circumstances, simply ask the first builder you find to begin work of any sort on the basis of a verbal agreement, par-ticularly if the quotation seems unusually low and you do not know

More than ever before, people of average means are acting as contractors to build their own homes, according to Michigan Home Builder School presi dent Fred Arnold.

The prospect of contracting a home can be intimidating, Arnold said, but it is not as difficult as people might think.

There's a recipe to building a home - like in baking a cake. You add all the ingredients in the right quantities and in the right order until it's

Contracting means acting as your own building manager and hiring subcontractors to do various fasks, Arnold said. "It doesn't mean picking up a hammer and going to work."

The Michigan School of Home Builders, based in Ann Arbor, offers intensive one-day seminars to individuals on how to act as a contractor. Seminars resume next spring.

Some of the topics covered at the seminars inelude buying a lot, affordability, pre-made plans versus hiring an architect, hiring and dealing with trades people and developing an efficient construc-

The Michigan School of Home Builders, Arnold said, is an offshoot of Home Builders Finance Inc. a lender specializing in construction loans for "do-itvourself" home builders. While working as a construction loan officer, Arnold said he saw many people who wanted to build, but who really had no idea how to start.

The most critical detail, he said, is an efficient construction schedule. Homes are built in phases, so an inefficient schedule results in workers waiting for one phase to be completed before starting on the next - that means additional cost to the final price of the home, Arnold said.

People interested in self contracting are typically seeking three things — saving money, ensuring a consistent quality of construction and building a home specifically suited for them, he said.

"Being your own contractor can save you as much as 25 percent on the cost of a home," Arnold said. "People are walking through homes and seeing what they get for $175,000 and they're saying, 'Wait, I can do better.' "

Arnold said it is impossible to easily define the average self contractor. Ten years ago, he said, the typical self contractor was 28- to 40 years old and looking for a second home, but today they range from those in the low 20s to empty nesters, and include first-time home buyers and people looking for vacation homes.

In 1988, between 14,000 and 15,000 single-family homes were built in the Detroit metropolitan area, Arnold said. Of those, almost 20 percent were elther self contracted or custom built.

"That's almost double the amount of 10 years ago," he said.

Arnold attributed the steady growth to the rising however, is better still.

costs associated with home building and also to fa-miliarity with the concept. "It's not unusual to see someone building a home these days — it's like a song on the radio, the more you hear it the more comfortable you get with it."

Ingrid Baker feels comfortable enough with the idea and intends to self-contract a home on a parcel of property near Dryden in Lapeer County. She said she will hire subcontractors for basic foundation and rough carpentry work and then complete much

An attendee of the most recent contracting semi-nar on Saturday at the Novi Sheraton Oaks, Baker said she has been thinking about building a home for more than a year, but now she is starting to get

Saving money is her prime motivation for self contracting, she said, but she also wants to ensure

she gets an individual home.

Another seminar attendee, John Stolla, said he isn't certain yet if he will contract his own home.

but he is definitely leaning in that direction.

Custom home builders and contractors have quoted him prices ranging from $85 to $95 per square foot - far more than he cares to spe "They figure that if you have property on a lake you've got a lot of money — well, they're wrong."

Stolla said he was fortunate enough to buy his lot before lakefront property values skyrocketed, but now building prices are driving up the cost of owning a home on a lake.

Brothers Matt, 24, and Rob Sprader, 19, are also considering self-contracting a home, but their motivation is to build a home and then sell it.

Matt Sprader said that under state law, he and his brother can build one a home a year without obtaining a contractor's license. In the past, the two have renovated other homes, he said, and now they've decided to take it one step further.

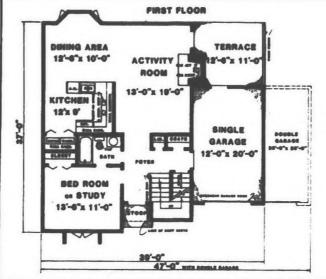

The brothers originally started out by looking for homes they could fix, Rob Sprader said, but it is becoming more difficult to find them. "There just aren't any handyman specials around anymore.' After buying some property in Walled Lake, the two began investigating several alternatives, including prefabricated homes, but none of the ones they were able to find seemed to suitable Insurance agency owner Richard LaFlamme said he has been thinking of building a home for about a year and has recently bought a lot in Michigan's thumb area near Caseville. LaFlamme said he isn't certain yet whether he will actually contract for the home's construction.

'I'm still looking for information right now." The benefits of acting as a contractor seem obvious, he said, but there is one substantial drawback - time. It may be difficult to manage the project and run his business from the Detroit area, he said. LaFlamme said he has hired contractors to build two previous homes, and he prefers the distinctiveness of a custom built residence. Saving more money and getting a custom home at the same time.

2nd floor offers 2nd layout

Upon entering the foyer of this two-story house, visitors will observe the open U-shaped stair to their right. Straight ahead to the rear of the first floor, is the great room that includes a fireplace and private terrace access.

The roomy dining room is adjacent to the great room and includes a bay window. The central kitchen has a U-shapedwork area and is open to the dining area. The washer and dryer are placed behind bi-fold doors within the kitchen area.

The first-floor bedroom has a separate entrance to the central bath that also serves daytime use. This bedroom can double as a study.

The second floor houses three large bedrooms and two full baths. A hidden stair to the attic leads to an additional storage depth master bedroom suite, complete with bath, tional bedroom and a central bath.

The traditional exterior is shown with stacked bay windows extending the two front bedrooms or the master bedroom for the alternate second floor. The exterior finish is stucco, and the roof design is gable.

Front wall changes necessary to accomplish the front shown are included on the working drawings.

Warding off woodpeckers

even as they keep the dust level up. And you con-gratulate yourself for building a home that blends gratulate yourself for b in with the natural settic But one day as you walk around your house, you spot a row of dime-sized holes running horizontally along your wood siding, revealing you have bugs in the siding.

But the holes are not from the insects; they're from woodpeckers. Woodpeckers can do a great deal of damage to houses in the fall, according to

Glenn Dudderar, extension wildlife specialist at Michigan State University. When holes follow a discernible pattern, they mean the woodpeckers are pecking for insects they can hear inside or under the siding or trim. Any of three kinds of woodpeckers may be involved. The downy woodpecker is a black and white, sparrow-sized bird. The hairy woodpecker looks identical to the downy but is more the size of a robin. The flicker has a brown back, a spotted breast and a white rump and is slightly larger than a robin.

"The houses most often damaged are those that have plywood siding with grooves cut in it to make it look like rough-sawn planks," Dudderar says. "The grooves intersect the core gaps between the interior plies of the panels and provide entry for

THE INSECTS go into the siding or under the corner trim over traditional clapboard siding. The pecking occurs when warm days following cold nights cause the insects to move around a little. Woodpeckers fly up to vertical surfaces and listen for insect movement. When they hear it, they peck through to where the insects are. "As long as that vertical surface is a tree or a fence post, the pecking generally causes no prob-lems," Dudderar says. "When it's the side of some-one's house, the homeowner sees significant damage occurring and wants a quick solution.'

Dudderar recommends spraying insecticide into the spaces where insects are hiding. But don't use a high-pressure sprayer.

"That kind of spraying is futile," he says. "You must spray directly in the openings to kill the insects. Then you need to seal all the openings in and around siding so that more insects don't move in."

If you don't want to use an insecticide, you can just seal the openings, but woodpeckers will continue to feed until the insects you sealed are dead.

Replacing the siding because it has insects is not only expensive, but it won't solve the problem if you replace it with siding that also provides hiding

"Spraying the spaces and sealing the openings may be laborious, but it is effective," Dudderar says. "And it's a permanent solution to woodpeckers pecking on houses to find food."

WOODPECKERS PECKING out winter roosting cavities is another problem without a surefire solu-

Winter roosting cavities (or nesting cavities in spring) are considerably larger than the holes made in serach of food. Depending on the woodpecker, they may range in size from the diameter of a 50cent piece to that of a baseball. The bird may make several holes although it uses just one.

"The homeowner's first impulse is to plug the hole but that will just about guarantee the woodpecker will peck new ones," Dudderar says. "Seal the holes only after you've gotten rid of the woodpecker."

Sometimes starlings drive the woodpecker away from the cavity. The woodpecker then starts a new

Because woodpeckers are a valuable part of the environment, Dudderar urges homeowners to try rightening them away before trying anything else

Hang strips of crumpled aluminum foil over the hole. Or hang an aluminum pie pan on a string so that it covers the hole. The flash of the foil or pan my repel the woodpecker.

ANOTHER TRICK is to put up a silhouette of an owl or a hawk. Bird repellent tape is also available. Contact your county extension office for informa-

Or place masking tape around the hole and smear a thin coating of a sticky repellent on the tape. When the woodpecker is repelled, remove the tape and repair the hole. Be prepared to treat any new holes as soon as they are started. You must change and vary your scare tactics every couple of days or the bird will get used to them. Be prepared to move your noisemakers to another section of the house if the woodpecker moves to another side.

If woodpeckers are after insects in the siding, frightening or killing the birds would give you only temporary relief - until another woodpecker came along and rediscovered the food source.

But if a woodpecker is making roosting cavities and frightening it doesn't work, the only course of action is to eliminate the problem bird or replace the siding with a non-wood type.

If you discover the only alternative is to kill the woodpecker, you must get a permit for your local conservation officer who will probably make sure you have tried a variety of scare tactics before issuing one.

Traditional furniture returns

Sofas and chairs are clearly made overstuffed and oversized with sau-sage-like arms, and they are slathered with deep cushions and extra throw pillows. The American love affair with a romanticized representation of our past continues unabated. New American country pieces that borrow from the past but don't reproduce it were among the most popular at the market. Copies of styles from the last three centuries of English and American design are a close second. French themes and neoclassical styles such as Biedermeier are mi-

INDICATIVE OF the pragmatic nature of design today, two of the major new furniture groups combine several English periods (Century and Drexel). Another is "contemporary with many references to the past" in designer Charles Pfister's words (Baker). The Lexington group "combines French, English and Italian influences in every piece," according to designer Lynn Hollyn.

Henredon copied about 35 antiques from the plantations for its licensed Historic Natchez (Miss.) Foundation Collection. This group, like Lynn Hollyn's, includes a variety of coordinating fabrics and accesgo with what most people already own. Manufacturers have finally sumers buy furniture a piece at a time. So there's less stress on large "suites" meant to furnish an entire room. A new cedar chest by Lane is a good example of this trend. The chest, decorated with a silkscreen version of a mid-19th-century primitive painting, is part of the 200-piece America Collection licensed by the Museum of American Folk Art. But it is interesting enough to stand on Another example is the Turkish chair introduced by Century. The opulently upholstered overstuffed chair, a close copy of the original owned by the Smithsonian, looks as if it came from a banker's parlor. It's also an example of the trend toward reproducing 19th-century rather than 18th-century antiques.

Those not up to buying even one new piece can update a room with accents in faux leopard skin. Mark Hampton selected leopard for an entire room display of his collection for Hickory Chair Co. to which several new pieces were added. But the fabric showed up as an accent in pillows or chair covers in virtually every stylish showroom from Drexel to Thayer Coggin. An oversize, fully upholstered ottoman was another common accent piece.

Upholstery fabrics moved in two main color directions: Jewel-like emerald, brilliant blue, red and eggplant, and clear bright florals in sunny yellow and blue or other flower-like colors used with white.
