Randy Byrne reintroduces himself to Plymouth City Commission members Dennis Bila, mayor, Jim Jabara and John Vos III.

Financial skill earns Byrne city's top job

By Kevin Brown staff writer

Randy Byrne of Grand Blanc has been chosen to be Plymouth's next city manager.

The city commission on Monday voted to begin discussing a contract with Byrne, 36. He has served as Grand Blanc city manager since

Byrne was chosen from four finalists: William Graham, acting city manager; Jerome Kisscorni, Tecumseh city manager; and John Strutner, a representative of the Virginia Department of Economic Develop-

In announcing the commission's choice, Mayor Dennis Bila said the city manager search consultant, Rod Bartell, "felt much as we did.

Compromise plan puts 9th graders in high schools Boundary changes force student transfers

staff writer

It's going to cost the school district $200,000, but parents and Plymouth-Canton school board members have settled on a compromise regarding school attendance boundary changes.

At two recent public forums, parents balked at recommendations designed to relieve overcrowding.

Drafted by the district's housing task force, the initial proposals called for the transfer of students at four middle schools and nine elementary schools. Some but not all ninth-graders would have been assigned to Plymouth Canton and Plymouth Salem high schools.

Residents criticized the redistricting as disruptive and hazardous for children who'd be forced to cross busy streets. Others called it a "band-aid" solution to a permanent

School budget shows extra $1.4 million

By M.B. Dillon staff writer

The Plymouth-Canton Community Schools are better off financially than anticipated.

A revised 1989-1990 operating budget approved by the school board Monday night reflects an extra $1.4 million in the district's fund balance. "It's kind of a good news budget," Ray Hoedel, associate superintendent for business, told board mem-

He said the general operating fund balance as of June is projected to be $4.6 million. When the board of education adopted the budget in June of last year, it was projected that the fund balance would be $3.2 million.

The additional $1.4 million represents a $1 million increase in state funding. State funding levels weren't set at the time the district adopted its initial budget.

THE ADDITIONAL $1.4 million represents a $1 million increase in state funding. State funding levels weren't set at the time the district adopted its initial budget. Also reflected is an increase of $408,000 in local revenue due to "increased income on investments and also due to receiving tax revenue for tax-abated properties," Hoedel said.

The district also received a $248,000 federal grant for the re-moval of underground storage tanks. Total expenditures, pegged at $50 million, will not change, Hoodel said. The district's revenue totals $66

- $60 million from local sources, $2 million from the state, $1.9 million from the district's project fund and $1.9 million in fund balance monies.

Board members appropriated $61.4 million Monday night. Allocated for instruction was $33.2 million, while $25.8 million went to support services and $2.3 million to the project fund.

THE ENHANCED financial picture means the district can make nding changes that will reduce delays in capital replacements, increase the textbook budget by $115,000 to $340,000, step up mainte-nance and possibly grant a $5 in-ent it to Byrne today. "We hope to go to the commission Monday night with a contract in hand," Bila said.

Byrne would likely begin at his new job in about six weeks, Bila said. After interviews with the four finalists on Saturday, Bila said the city manager selection committee called the three outside candidates. to see if they were still interested in being considered as "final, final candidates.

Byrne, he said, had the most "enthusiasm for coming to the job."

All three outside candidates, Bila said, were concerned about relatively higher housing costs in Plymouth. Both Kisscorni and Strutner "just didn't have the same degree of enthusiasm." he said.

Strutner, Bila said, was hesitant about leaving Virginia, and wanted more time to think about the Plymouth job.

After their choice, commissioners took turns praising Byrne. "I believe he has eyes on the future," said Commissioner John Vos, adding Byrne is

A couple of fingers and a little knowledge will make even the most unruly suspect wither and listen to police commands.

Expressions of pain were on the faces of Canton and Plymouth Township police Saturday at the Plymouth Salvation Army meeting room as they learned how to find spots on the body - like the neck and jaw - where pain is certain to follow if pressure is applied.

"That is amazing - you cannot resist that," said John Robertson, a Canton Township police reserve officer as he fell back into his chair. His partner pushed him with a few fingers at the hollow point of his throat.

"That is incredible," Robertson said.

THE TECHNIQUE, a lot like martial arts, is to stop aggressive behavior with the least chance of injury to the person or officer, said Canton officer Kevin Rize.

He serves as co-instructor of the course with Plymouth Township of ficer Jim Jarvis

They describe the pain as medium to high intensity.

"And it reduces liability." Jarvis said. "It gives the officer more confidence to take on someone larger." Rize once used the technique to subdue a 6 foot 6, 400-pound man who was resisting arrest.

OFFICERS ARE required to take the 16-hour course, which was developed in the late 1970s.

But using nerve pressure points to gain control of a situation is a technique that has been around for thousands of years, Jarvis said.

The only time the vehicle was unoccupied during the sergeant's shift was while he was on a short break at Daly's on Ann Arbor Road, he said. The squad car was parked in the northernmost spot in the lot, and wasn't visible from where the officer was sitting in the restaurant. There are no suspects.

HOME ON WHEELS: Police impounded a 1977 Oldsmobile from Dick Scott Buick in downtown Plymouth at the request of the dealer, who said the car had been abandoned for six months. It appeared someone was living out of the car, as numerous personal items were inside.

The interior was stained and ripped, and the car had various dents, especially on the left side, officers said. All the tires were flat or nearly flat.

SNOWMOBILE STOLEN? A 37year-old Westland man told Plymouth Police his $5,000 Yamaha snowmobile was stolen from Pilgrim Motorsports on Ann Arbor Road sometime Thursday night.

He left his Exciter snowmobile and trailer parked in the unfenced lot about 8 p.m., he said. The next morning, he called Pilgrim asking that the vehicle be serviced.

An employee told the man there was a trailer but no snowmobile parked outside the store

When the owner dropped off the snowmobile, he observed a man, age 40-50, in the parking lot of the car wash next door, he said. He assumed the man was an employee because he was working on the vacuum cleaners, the owner said.

The snowmobile owner asked the man if he could dispose of some garbage in a dumpster at the car wash and was told that he could, he said.

There wasn't an employee on duty at the time, the car wash owner told

From 6:20 a.m. to 6:27 a.m. Saturday, a northbound train blocked traffic at the Mill Street crossing.

At 1:36 p.m. Saturday, a north-bound CSX train obstructed traffic at N. Main for seven minutes.

CSX was ordered to appear in 35th District Court in 20 days.

ADMITS THEFT: Plymouth Township Police were called Sunday to a local restaurant, re an employee told them he took $250 from the restaurant safe the day before.

The 31-year-old Northville man, who just moved to the area with his family, said he wanted to pay the money back and keep his job, according to the police report.

WALLET, MONEY STOLEN: A .man exercising at Vic Tanny on Ann Arbor Road in Plymouth Township found his wallet and $250 had been stolen from a locked locker Monday.

The Livonia man, 60, discovered the theft at 4:30 p.m., after exercising about two hours, he said. The lock remained locked on his locker. the police report said.

The Speedway service station at Main and Mill on the outskirts of Old Village was robbed by a lone gunman of an undisclosed amount of cash shortly after 8 a.m. Wednesday. No one was hurt in the incident, the city's first armed robbery of the year.

Police said a black male aged 25-30 with short cropped hair, black framed glasses, dressed in blue jeans and a khaki hunting jacket entered the gas station and asked to fill out an application.

The man, about 5-feet-9 and 165 pounds, pretended to make a purchase before brandishing a nickel-platd chrome revolver and ordering an employee to "Open the safe up," said Lt. Robert Commire.

School districts are unhappy

Local reaction to Gov. James Blanchard's education spending proposals ranges from modestly pleased, to displeased to very dis-

Blanchard's proposed $7.6 billion budget calls for a 2.5 percent cut in all areas except education, which, the governor said, would receive an overall 14 percent increase. Education spending has become a key political issue in the race between Blanchard and likely GOP challenger John Engler, state Senate majority leader.

deemed too wealthy to qualify for direct state aid - are displeased The increase would be provided, in part, from taking away the state aid these districts receive for retirement and Social Security benefits

At the same time, those districts that just fell out-of-formula say losing state money for benefits would not only push them behind wealthier out-of-formula districts, but also behind in-formula districts.

Kenneth Erickson, superintendent of the financially pressed Redford Union Schools, said the governor's proposed increase was "more than we expected

"IT'S NOT really 14 percent, because some of that goes to other things, but we estimate there will be about a 44 percent increase for basic education costs and we're pleased with that." Erickson said.

Wayne-Westland Superintendent Dennis O'Neill also questioned the 14 percent figure but said the issue runs Montecillo said. Categorical aid is given to all districts for special education programs and transportation costs.

School talk set

The ineffectiveness of traditional elementary schools and programs in today's society will be the topic of a talk presented by Carolyn Cummings at a Board of Education workshop at 7 p.m. Monday, Feb. 19.

Open to the public, the session will be at Canton High School's Little Cummings has served as a private consultant for more than 200 Michigan school districts. For 16 years, she worked as a consultant for early childhood education for the Saginaw Intermediate School District.

She is a project consultant for the Carnegie Foundation.

She has taught graduate classes at Central Michigan University and served on the Early Childhood Task Force of the National Association of State Boards of Education.

CHANGES ARE needed to meet the needs of elementary school children better, according to Cummings.

Cummings recommends few, if any, retentions in the early grades; developmentally and age-appropriate curricula for all children age 4-8; no transition classes between grades or differentiated kindergartens; greater involvement of parents; and collaboration with agencies and businesses to provide more comprehensive services to children and their families.

For the 30 ladies who attended a leisurely luncheon yesterday at the Sweet Afton Tea Roan in Old Village, Valentine's Day vas a treat for the palate as well a affirmation that success is reactable and romance is alive. Guests heard from two newly published romance authon: Terey daly Ramin of Pontiac and Valerie Mangrum of Inkster.

But first they enjoyed high tea. British-style.

Seated at tables adomed with Victorian valentines abp flowered linens graced with laceoverlays, patrons sipped cranberryflavored "alcohol-free, sugar-free and preservative-iree" champagni and wild strawberry tea blended by the Queen's own Fortnum & Mason of London.

In delicate blue dishes, purple cole slaw with celery-seed dressing and strawberry cream chese arrived. Then came the main curse - cold salmon mousse served in heartshaped pastry puffs with an arrow of dill and a side of sweet pickles.

FOR "SWEETS," slerry trifle was served - custard itop sponge cake laced with sherry and garnished with grapes, pears ind peaches topped with whipping cram, shaved chocolate and a giant strawberry.

Before autographing copies of their books, Ramin and Mangrum told an attentive audence how they've turned dreams into dollars.

Ramin, 37, and an award-winning writer since her days at Pontiac Central High School, sole the first book she ever wrote - "Vater from the Moon." In 1987, her Silhouette Intimate Moments romanæ won the Golden Heart Award, the nost prestigious honor awarded to previously unpublished authors by theRomance country, the contemporary romance deals with high school sweethearts who after 20 years run into each other amidst a government coup.

"I believe in dreams. You can make them come true," said Ramin, who has a husband, two children, two dogs and three cats.

"From the time I was nine, I knew writing was the only thing I wanted to do. It's an emotional experience for me. I get into characters the way actors must be with the roles they

"My career to me was an overnight success; I dreamed about something for 20 years and then it happened.

When Ramin decided to get down to business, she bought herself a "real nice phone and answering machine - big stuff. Anything you can do to get yourself into a self-discipline mode is worth it.

"To sell yourself you have to believe in yourself," she added. "You have to follow through to make your dreams come true.'

MANGRUM, 29, took a detour before entering the field of writing.

'Acting was my dream since I was 7," said Mangrum, whose first book, "Sweet Protector" was published last November by Silhouette.

"I wanted to be Judy Garland or Betty Grable. That's what drew me to the genre in the first place."

"I've been married to the same man for 10 years. He says he never knows what's going to happen day to day with me. Romance can survive real life," she said.

"Just remember that the nitty gritty things are pieces of the whole. Have a sense of humor and visulaize people naked," she added with a

Report looks at taxpayer rights

Michigan's tax collection system needs reform and taxpayers must be more accurately informed about their legal rights, according to State Rep. Gerald Law, R-Plymouth.

These are two of the recommenda tions in the recently released report of the House Republican Task Force on Taxpayer Rights, Law said.

He said the report rests on a set of seven taxpayer rights that must be safeguarded and would be implemented by 20 specific changes in tax administration policy.

The concept of taxpayer rights began with the federal bill of rights legislation passed in 1988, which created new protections for taxpayers with respect to IRS audits, notices, installment agreements and taxpayer litigation, he said.

California, Texas, Indiana, South Carolina and Kansas have enacted similar laws to protect taxpayers. Other state legislatures also are considering taxpayer rights reforms.

The report recommends the creation of a Taxpayer Ombudsman Office that would be independent of the Treasury Department. Decisions made by the office would be binding, Law said.

Other recommendations in the report are: creating a Taxpayer

BEFORE

Grievance Council to review docu mented taxpayer complaints, requiring any penalty and interest provisions that might be used against taxpayers be equally applicable against the state, prohibiting tax laws enacted during November or December from taking effect until the following year, requiring an initial notice of inquiry to taxpayers prior to any notice stating an intent to assess penalties and interest, developing and publishing uniform rules governing installment payment plans of overdue taxes, providing a uniform 45-day appeal opportunity for all taxpayers sent assessment notices.

Law said that although the Treasury Department has developed new taxpayer assistance programs in the last few years, tax administration is complex and more needs to be done.

There has been no formal legislative review of Michigan's tax collection practices since reorganization of the department in 1963, he said.

Greater legislative review is especially needed because of the 1986 tax amnesty program," Law said. The amnesty period granted sweeping new powers to the Treasury Department for the collection of delin-

Percentages show how often members voted for the lessspending alternative on 71 House roll calls or 40 Senate roll calls. Perfect pro-austerity voting is 100 percent.

The 111 votes are all of the year's roll calls presenting a clear-cut choice of higher or lower federal spending, excluding those (such as on abortion funding) where the policy issue overwhelmed fiscal concerns.

Rankings show where members stood in the 435-seat House or 100-member Senate. The lower the number, the higher the rank

Roll Call Report

Spending patterns recorded

The Roll Call Report syndicate's third annual "Spending Index" encompassed nearly all House and Senate roll calls that presented lawmakers with a choice of more or less spending, regardless of the amount at stake. Constituents can use it to compare actual performance with political promises on the largely non-partisan issue of deficit control

THE SURVEY TRACKED House and Senate efforts to establish new programs or eliminate existing ones: create new agencies or commissions or dismantle established governmental units; increase or outlays, curb increases and inflict direct cuts.

It excluded a few roll calls where furor over the policy, such as abortion funding, made fiscal concerns almost irrelevant to the issue. It also omitted votes on final passage of the basic spending bills necessary to operate the govern-

The 1989 Spending Index measured 71 House and 40 Senate votes, about one out of every six roll calls held during the year.

It covered expenditures as small as $9 million in aid to the upcoming Nicaraguan elections, and as large as the $50 billion savings-and-loan bailout. Also included were new programs such as a $270 million venture to tighten airport security and a $1 billion oil-spill liability ing World War II, and a permanent appropriation for the Martin Lu-ther King Jr. Federal Holiday

A long list of roll calls affecting spending for weapons programs, pork barrel projects and congressional pay and perks is also in the 1989 Spending Index.

CONGRESS ENDED the 1989 legislative session in technical compliance with Gramm-Rudman deficit-control requirements, but with lawmakers once again having avoided the institutional reform and individual discipline that all sides agree are essential to lasting deficit reduction.

The 1989 Spending Index shows the great majority of members consistently opted for more money when the roll was called. The average pro-austerity score was 30 percent for senators and 36 percent trim entitlement benefits, raise for House members. The Senate approved the less-spending alternative on seven of the survey's 40 issues and the House on 18 of 71.

> Rep. James F. Sensenbrenner Jr., R-Wis., compiled the most frugal voting record in the House last year, supporting less spending on 72 percent of the roll calls that offered a clear choice of higher or lower federal outlays.

> Rep. Jim Courter, R-N.J., was the House member whose voting showed the least concern for deficit control. He voted "pro-austerity" 1 percent of the time, according to a survey by Roll Call Syndicated.

In the Senate, the most frugal voters were Max Baucus, D-Mont., Tom Harkin, D-Iowa, and Bob Kerrey, D-Neb. Each opted for the less-spending alternative 48 percent of the time.

One advantage of a Comerica home equity loan is obvious.

You might not even realize it, but many smart borrowers are taking advantage of the fact that the interest on a Comerica home equity loan is fully tax-deductible." They're also discovering that Comerica charges no upfront fees, and gives you these three loans to choose from.

• EQUITY LINE-A credit line you can draw on when you need it with convenient check access. Line amounts available to $200,000.

• IDEAL CREDIT LINE-A credit line available when you need it offering check or VISA' access. Line amounts available from. $5,000 to $20,000.

 FIXED EQUITY INSTALLMENT LOAN-A one-time fixed rate loan in amounts from $5,000 to $50,000 with fixed installment payments.

All three are ideal to pay for your children's education, consolidate debts, make home improvements, or even buy that dream car. Whatever need you might have, a Comerica home equity loan makes a lot of sense. Because when it comes to borrowing money, there's no place like home. To learn more, call 1-800-292-1300 or visit the Comerica branch nearest you.

Full war chest Exec sets sight on a $1 million campaign

By Wayne Peal staff writer

Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara's finances send a strong message to any would-be challengers in this year's executive's

Bring money McNamara is sitting atop a nearly $400,000 nest egg, preparing for what staffers expect could be a $1 million campaign According to information filed with the county clerk's office, McNamara has $399,897 in his campaign fund. The first term incumbent also has $63,511 in his office holder expense fund, though that money is generally used to support other candidates.

Campaign staffers expect to double the money already on hand during the executive's annual fund-raising breakfast in May. Offical records weren't available for last year's event - which drew Gov. James Blanchard among other notables though estimates placed the money raised at $400,000-$450,000.

At this point, McNamara is still an unofficial candidate for re-election. He is expected to make his formal announcement March 17. The St. Patrick's Day holiday has been a traditional kick-off date for McNamara since his early 1970s campaigns for mayor of Livonia.

No such well-known competitors have yet emerged this year. If none do, McNamara's fund-raising ability could also provide a boost for other candidates.

Filings for 1989 showed McNamara contributed to all county commissioners, except former board chairman Arthur Carter, who resigned at mid-year to take a position with the Detroit schools and was replaced by his wife, Deborah Carter.

McNamara's contributions included $1,000 to Susan Hubbard of Dearborn and $400 to Kevin Kelley of Redford, both of whom faced election challenges after being appointed

City manager

Let's hope he's best choice

E HOPE THAT the Plymouth City Commission hired new manager Randy Byrne for more than his fru-

We're concerned that the city commission possibly engaged in a knee-jerk reaction to recent budget problems and hired the person who gave the most tight-fisted image during his interview.

If that's the case, the city commission based its decision to hire Byrne on the wrong criteria. A city manager needs more than financial sense, he or she should have some vision of the job, and a view of the future.

However, that's not an easy thing to do these days. Even with the help of a consultant, you can't totally draw a person out during a job interview, especially these days when everybody seems to have read the same books about man-

During his interview Byrne said, "I'm kind of known for my frugality." That's what Plymouth commissioners wanted to hear. But those are just words. And those words have to become real before they do anything to Plymouth's budget.

But while we are somewhat suspicious of the thinking behind the hiring of Byrne, we were impressed by him during the interviewing.

As manager of Grand Blanc, a suburb of Flint that has a population of about 6,800. Byrne had the following experience:

• He oversaw a city budget that had a sur-

 Was experienced at working on projects with surrounding townships.

Was a financial conservative.

But on top of all that, he is considered a people person and doesn't spend much money on lunch. During his interview he said he holds weekly staff meetings where he tries solving problem by getting people to work as a team.

On the lunch issue, Byrne said his expenses on kunch are about $100 a year. Former Plymouth City Manager Henry Graper spent about $23,000 on entertainment expenses during 11 months from July 1988 through May 1989. The spending became an issue in Graper's resignation.

We're concerned that the city commission possibly engaged in a knee-jerk reaction to recent budget problems and hired the person who gave the most tightfisted image during his interview.

BUT WHILE WE HOPE the commission didn't hire Byrne just for being tight-fisted with money, we think some good things happened in the interview process.

The commission was open-minded when it came to the candidates, giving each a fair hear-

We supported Acting City Manager William Graham and wished that the commission would have been more serious about looking for manager candidates from within the city

We think local candidates get a perfunctory glance from the commission.

However, at this point we have to agree with Commissioner Jerry Vorva, who with Commissioner Mary Childs did not agree with spending $20,000 for a consultant to head a search.

Vorva originally supported Graham for the job, but said that once the money was spent, "It was important for me to have a clear and open mind to this whole selection process.

"We are entering into a time where we need some fresh ideas, some youthful vitality," he

He said that some restructuring of city departments may be in order.

"I feel someone from the outside can best do

Let's just hope that the $20,000 spent on the hiring process was worth it and that Byrne is the

Waste plans DNR should take swift action

T SHOULD be a thumbs up or thumbs down. Michigan's Department of Natural Resources should accept or deny county solid waste master plans, not hang onto them.

Numerous counties are drafting solid waste master plans, including Wayne and Oakland, the state's most populous and biggest waste-generators. And the time has never been more right. There's never been more public pressure for disposal solutions, nor has there been such public willingness to begin the kind of changes necessary to make any waste reduction plan a success. The problem is the DNR is apparently thinking of holding onto early-arriving plans from some counties until plans are also submitted from the other counties to which they ship waste.

While the announcement came during an address to the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments, not an official DNR edict, and while there are also concerns about approving a unified state plan rather than a series of individual plans, it's a dangerous policy to make any county wait for approval.

IT'S ESPECIALLY dangerous to the heavily populated counties of southeast Michigan.

sell its communities on the idea of waste reduction and recycling.

Oakland has a contract for its waste-to-energy incinerator and is negotiating with individual communities to implement its $470 million solid waste program.

By failing to take swift action on proposed waste disposal master plans, the DNR would be telling these communities that recycling and other waste reduction options aren't a pressing priority. Such action would knock the wheels right off the waste reduction bandwagon.

Because of their size and the amount of waste they generate. Wayne and Oakland counties simply can't afford to wait before adopting new waste reduction methods.

That necessity extends to other communities, as well. Wayne County currently ships waste to landfills in Macomb, Washtenaw, Livingston and

Simply put, the sooner Wayne, Oakland and other counties begin cutting down on waste, the better it will be for everyone in southeast Michi-

History lesson

Schools: keep pace with change

ONDER WHAT HISTORY teachers in our suburban schools are teaching these days as history is being made

Did they stick with the curriculum during the student-led Chinese uprising in Tiananmen Square? Did they stay with their weekly lesson plan as the Berlin Wall came tumbling down, starting the domino effect among the rest of the Eastern bloc nations?

Are they discussing the Soviet Union's stepby-step march toward democracy going on before our eyes? Did they forsake that scheduled exam Monday to discuss the impact of the freeing of Nelson Mandela? It even happened as many schools are celebrating Black History Month.

And is anybody monitoring this?

Does the principal suggest that classroom and history teachers hold discussions and try to help students put these events in context?

Do parents question their kids over the dinner day these world-shaking events were mentioned? Do middle, junior and high school students request such classroom discussions as part of their right to a quality education?

If not, why not?

WITH THE RELEASE of the statewide Michigan Education Assessment Program scores last week, a lot of attention has been focused - and properly so - on the reading, math and science scores in our local schools.

Until college-bound students take the American College Test there is no such state-wide method to measure their knowledge of history and certainly their knowledge of current events unless someone takes a poll.

Think about it. Students taking American history rarely made it past World War II even years ago. Today, do they even get to the Korean War. the Sixties, Vietnam?

As history grows, whether world or American, it still is being covered in the same year-long table as to whether anywhere in their classroom course. That's not realistic.

Importance of books is lost on our youth

LAST YEAR at this time, Ronald sands of volumes were destroyed. Hairston and Carlton Collins were just a couple of middle class teenagers, recently graduated from high school, never really been in any trouble of consequence, enjoying life as only teenagers can.

Today both are in jail.

A blow against knowledge is the way that Judge Alice Gilbert described the crime which destroyed the Southfield High School Lbrary. On Feb. 20, 1989, Hairston and Collins broke into their alma mater and set several fires

The majority of $2.5 million in damage was to the library facility...

Last week Gilbert sentenced the two to 4-10 years in jail and fined them more than $2 million.

It's tough to figure, this one. Journalists spend a lot of time covering crimes. Murder, drugs, robbery have become all too common place. We have come to understand that often they are linked in a vicious circle of addiction and greed. We abhor these crimes, but in some morbid way, they have an order, a reason, howev-

BUT ATTACKING a library, burning books. To what end? Neither Hairston or Collins every really gave much of a reason for their act. ThouThe building was closed down.

The community was in shock Before being sentenced, with tears in their eyes, both of the perpetrators apologized. But it really was too late for apologies. The scar is just too deep.

Under most circumstances my political leanings recoil at harsh sentences for first offenders. Prisons, after all; rarely help anyone, rarely act as a deterrent

But somehow there is something different about this crime

And it is questionable whether Collins or Hairston understand the gravity of their offense. If they had, it is doubtful they would have set those fires.

It is doubtful whether either understands the importance of books to our society

AND YOU have to ask yourself. how many other Carlton Lee Collins and Ronald Hairstons are there waiting to destroy something for which they have no respect? It's frightening to think about.

These young men weren't hoodlums. In many ways, they had a pret-ting the message. But than again, maybe they aren't being sent the message, either.

While the sentence certainly seems just, Gilbert's fine of more than $2.3 million seems a waste. They obviously never will be able to pay. Perhaps a better fine would be to make them become intimately involved with the care and nurturing of books for many years to come.

Get involved in prevention

To the editor:

I agree with Ms. (Judith) Berne that "Hiding local police news does a disservice to all.

If crimes are being committed in the community, the residents have a right to know about them. The newspapers' responsibility to its readers is to report them

The city's public safety and community relations directors may not want these crimes reported. I agree with these officials that it's detrimental to the city's image, but it is far more important to the residents of the city to know that these crimes are being committed.

We as concerned residents can then become more infolved in crime prevention activities. This will truly

Peace asked for kids sake

For the past few months there has been a problem at a bus stop at Leon and Yale, between the children that attend St. Michael and Garfield elementary schools (in Livonia). The operative word here is "children." Unfortunately, some parents see these children as criminals. The Catholic vs. public controversy I am a product of a Catholic and public school education and a productive, functioning member of society. In Catholic school I learned that "God is the Supreme Being that made all things" and in public school I learned that everyone doesn't wear green on St. Pat's Day. When I attended Catholic school, I was told (by the mother of a public school friend) that I thought I was better than everyone else; when I attended public school I was told (by the mother of a Catholic school friend) that I was receiving an inferior education.

I place the blame on the parents for perpetuating this prejudice. We pray for peace in Ireland and the Middle East, and won't work toward peace in our own neighborhood. We should be grateful we can choose the school our children attend and not make it a controversial issue I don't want to enter into the year 2000 and still battle Catholic vs. public. When next Christmas rolls: around and you sing "Peace of earth, good will toward men," make. that children, too!" Toni A. Briggs,

IN THE EARLY days of World War II, a joke making the rounds concerned an American who was in Berlin on business

Why so expensive?" the friend

Because," said the American. they took it out through my ear." Why on earth would they do

"Simple," was the reply "You can't open your mouth in Berlin."

I THOUGHT OF that story last week as I read about the turmoil surrounding Andy Rooney

Rooney, the resident humorist at CBS, has been suspended for three months without pay over a statement he claims he didn't even make. The precise details are a bit confusing, but basically the scenario went something like this:

* In December Rooney made a comment on a CBS Special that offended some gay organizations. In the wake of the protests that followed. Rooney apologized (although some accounts say his written apology contained rather graphic language about homosexuality).

He later agreed to be interviewed by a young reporter from The Advocute, a gay newspaper with a national circulation.

In the article that resulted, the reborter quoted Rooney as saying blacks have watered down their genes because the less intelligent ones are the ones that have the most children."

Rooney denied making the statement, said he never used the word blacks" and was not referring to blacks, although he did acknowledge making a statement to the effect that children in all poor districts drop out of school at a young age to have children.

While former colleagues Walter Cronkite and Fred Friendly issued statements supporting Rooney and Mike Wallace gave him some on-theatr backing on last Sunday's 60 Min-not have made such a comment. That's all well and good. I'm inclined to agree. Rooney claims he , was set up by the young gay reporter, and I'll bet he's right

BUT THE WAY I see it, that's not even the issue.

Suppose, just for the sake of argument, that the quote attributed to him was accurate. So what?

You say it's racist? Yeah, so what? This IS America, isn't it? We have a Constitution, a Bill of Rights, freedom of speech. Even the ACLU has supported the right of Nazis to parade around spewing their doctrine of hate because they have the right to do it.

Rooney's no Nazi. He's a commentator. A professional curmudgeon. He's not supposed to get on the air and make nice-nice. He's supposed to say what he thinks, in his own unique way, and if that riles people up, so be it. Besides, this alleged comment wasn't even made on CBS.

No. I'm not saying racism is all right. It's insidious.

Gov. skips state's 'superdrains' message into a TV show. Gov. James Blanchard introduced seven families of "Michigan Superstars

These were fine folks who had been helped by one state program or another to help themselves save for college, to get better skills for better jobs, to buy a home, to build a business, or rebuild their neighborhood," said Blanchard.

The governor failed to mention 'Michigan's superdrains" like Fred (not his real name), who cost us big bundles of tax money and never do anything for society in return

THE DAY before Blanchard's speech, the state Court of Appeals ruled against Fred. He had appealed Wayne Probate Judge Frances Pitts' (real name) decision to terminate his paternal rights to the daughter he had sired.

The girl was born Dec. 29, 1988, to 13-year-old Denise (not her real name), who won the court ruling against Fred on last Feb. 23, 1989.

Fred is 14 and in the eighth grade. He provided no support for Denise during her pregnancy. He provided no support for the baby. Neither did his family.

The judge said Fred has "a file and a record" and is himself a temporary ward of the court on a neglect petition. He lives with an aunt. (I attempted to look up the original court file to flesh out Fred's bi-, ography, but a clerk in Wayne Coun-

The court opinion said Aunt Vinnie has three sons (no husband is mentioned) and lives on general assistance, a welfare program that few states but Michigan dole out.

Fred wanted Judge Pitts to appoint a lawyer to represent him. She refused He appealed. The Court of Appeals upheld the judge, citing a Supreme Court opinion that "the probate court has discretionary authority to appoint counsel to assist

BLANCHARD'S "SUPERSTARS" needed only one program per family to help them But let's count the ways Fred has cost us tax money

• He has been neglected (not his fault), requiring the attention of a $90,000-plus judge and her staff. The Wayne County records, if anyone could locate them, probably would show he's on welfare

• He apparently has been in scrapes with the law himself, one infers from the appeals court record He has had sex with a girl of 12

· He has helped bring into the world an out-of-wedlock child who starts life with 2.9 strikes against

• He has never given the mother or his child a dime of support, leaving that to others.

• He took up court time (money) fighting Denise's effort to terminate his parental rights.

• He wants custody to go to a woman on welfare who no doubt would be able to use the baby to collect more welfare. • He failed to get a court-aplevel but apparently succeeded in getting one to go to the Court of Appeals

• The Court of Appeals panel consists of three learned judges who collect nearly $100,000 annually apiece. They have offices, law books, computers, clerks, telephones and research staff. They produce a sixpage opinion, which is considerably longer and more researched than the typical 112 pages. (Source Appeals Court case No. 115869, entitled In the Matter of April Archer, Minor, decided Jan. 9.)

No. Blanchard won't talk about the Superdrains like Fred who are costing the state far more than the

FOOTNOTE: The Court of Appeals caseload in 1989 was 28 percent higher than the year before. The Supreme Court is recommending that nipe judges be added to the 24judge Appeals Court

Council offers scholarships

Several scholarships are offered by the Plymouth Community Arts Council. Scholarships are for students who live in or attend school in the Plymouth-Canton community.

The Joanne Winkleman Hulce Founder's Scholarship is offered to encourage students to pursue a career in the arts. The $1,000 cash award is for high school seniors who show promise in an artistic field and who wish to further their education

A committee of judges with ex-pertise in artistic fields will consider applicants. Applicants come from a variety of fields, including painting, ceramics, dance, design, graphics, drama, photography, sculpture, textiles, instrumental/vocal music and

STUDENTS WHO wish to apply should write a letter, including name, address, phone number, background in their artistic field and plans for continuing education. Students should include a personal profile explaining their qualifications for the award.

Two letters of recommendation from a teacher and from another person familiar with the applicant's artistic abilities should be submitted. At least two representative pieces of work are required, and performing arts students should be prepared to perform for the judges.

Applications can be mailed to the Plymouth Community Arts Council, JWH Scholarship, 332 S. Main, Plymouth, Mich. 48170. The deadline for applications is Friday, March 16. Finalists will be interviewed or auditioned on Saturday, April 7.

The PCAC also offers the Jeanet M. Allison Memorial Scholarship Fund for Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp. The council has budgeted $600 to help students in grades 6-11 attend Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp in 1990.

The camp then matches amounts awarded by the arts council, making a total of $1,200 available. Scholarships are available in art, dance, music and theater. Applicants will be evaluated by a panel of judges on the basis of talent and interest. Judging will be done Saturday, April 7, and the deadline to submit applications is Friday, March 16.

WHERE APPLICABLE, students should submit three samples of their best work. A letter of recommendation from a teacher or someone else familiar with the student's talent is

Material should be delivered to the PCAC office, 332 S. Main in Plymouth (by Fred Hill Haberdashers), between 9 a.m. and noon weekdays. The office will also be open 3-5 p.m. Filday, March 16. After winners have been selected, art work may be picked up at the council office beginning April 16 or by

The council also offers the Margaret E. Wilson Scholarship for the Performing Arts. The single award of $350 is available for a student pursuing a career in dance, drama or music. Applicants will be judged on the basis of talent rather than financial need.

The scholarship is for any graduating senior or graduate of the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools who has been accepted into an appropriate professional program. Application requirements include: a written description of goals, aspirations and career plans; a letter of acceptance from an accredited program, teacher or coach; two letters of recommendation from people closely associated with the applicant's talent; a tape not to exceed 10 minutes and to include more than

Live auditions in dance and drama are acceptable. Finalists will be required to interview and perform.

The deadline to apply for the Margaret E. Wilson Scholarship for the Performing Arts is Friday, March 16. Applications are available in school counseling offices and at the PCAC office. Completed forms are to be returned to the Plymouth Community Arts Council, 332 S. Main, Plymouth, Mich. 48170.

MacDonald was impressed with the ingenuity of early photographers. Many experimented with film and equipment, creating what they needed as they went along.

THE EXHIBIT includes equipment and photos from the studio of the late Romeo Wood.

Wood opened his first studio on Penniman in Plymouth in 1908 when he was 23. In 1918, he and his wife, Dora, settled in a house on Ann Arbor Trail in Plymouth, and operated a photo studio from their house for many years.

Photos included in the exhibit provide glimpses of family and community life in years gone by.

"So it was fun to be able to pull that together," MacDonald said.

The exhibit includes cameras and other equipment from more modern times. MacDonald would have liked to include some more futuristic items, such as those used for space photography and television broadcasts. Working on the exhibit gave

Bowling provides fun, help for those in need

Bowlers at Plaza Lanes this past weekend had more than just fun on

The fund-raising "Bowlathon" was the afternoon of Saturday, Feb. 10, at Plaza Lanes in Plymouth Township. The annual event is sponsored by the Mayflower-Lt. Gamble Post and Auxiliary No. 6695, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

'We've had these for many years," said Alice Fisher of Westland, chairwoman for the event. "We choose a charity, usually different charities every year."

Proceeds from this year's "Bowlathon" will be used for cancer research, treatment and patient assistance. The state president of the VFW Auxiliary has a strong interest in helping cancer patients, Fisher

Jim Dray served as co-chairman for Saturday's event. Both Dray and Fisher found time to do some bowling, in addition to organizing the event and keeping it running smooth-

About 40 bowlers, most members of the VFW Post or Auxiliary in Plymouth, participated. Some non-members also bowled, Fisher said.

SOME PARTICIPANTS bowl regularly in senior leagues, and others are more occasional bowlers.

Most are average bowlers, said Fisher, who has an average of 135. The sponsors recruited by bowlers pledge either so much money per pin or just a flat sum.

The Plaza Lanes owner donates the cost of bowling for participants back to the group, Pisher said, and that support helps a great deal. Participants bowled three games

Saturday afternoon. There was some competition among the friendly

"All of us like to do well," Fisher said. "Of course, people who pledged are a little worried. They don't want it to get too high."

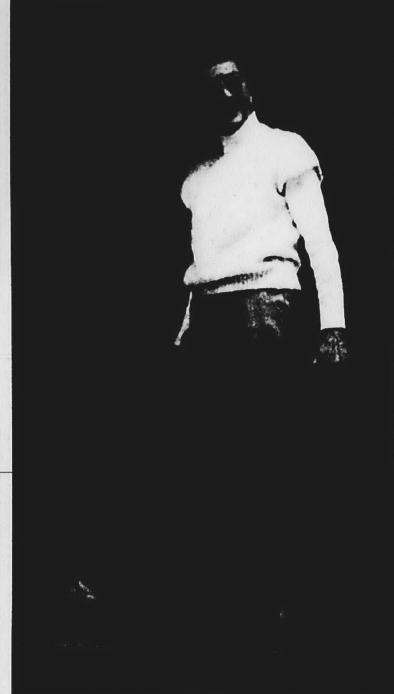

PARTICIPANTS ENJOY bowling and supporting worthy causes each year. Many bowlers have had cancer themselves or know of a friend or family member who has had cancer.

Fisher had breast cancer and underwent surgery in 1975. She considers herself fortunate to be a survivor, and has found that a positive attitude makes a tremendous difference in fighting cancer.

"I've been lucky.

Bowling provides fun, help for those in need

Bowlers at Plaza Lanes this past reekend had more than just fun on

The fund-raising "Bowlathon" was the afternoon of Saturday, Feb. 10, at Plaza Lanes in Plymouth Township. The annual event is sponsored by the Mayflower-Lt. Gamble Post and Auxiliary No. 6695, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

We've had these for many years," said Alice Fisher of Westland, chairwoman for the event. "We choose a charity, usually different charities every year."

Proceeds from this year's "Bowlathon" will be used for cancer research, treatment and patient assistance. The state president of the VFW Auxiliary has a strong interest

Jim Dray served as co-chairman for Saturday's event. Both Dray and Fisher found time to do some bowling, in addition to organizing the event and keeping it running smooth-

About 40 bowlers, most members of the VFW Post or Auxiliary in Plymouth, participated. Some non-members also bowled, Fisher said.

SOME PARTICIPANTS bowl regularly in senior leagues, and others are more occasional bowlers.

Most are average bowlers, said Fisher, who has an average of 135. The sponsors recruited by bowlers pledge either so much money per pin or just a flat sum.

The Plaza Lanes owner donates the cost of bowling for participants back to the group, Pisher said, and that support helps a great deal. Participants bowled three games

Saturday afternoon. There was some friendly competition among the

"All of us like to do well," Fisher said. "Of course, people who pledged are a little worried. They don't want it to get too high."

PARTICIPANTS ENJOY bowling and supporting worthy causes each year. Many bowlers have had cancer themselves or know of a friend or family member who has had cancer.

Fisher had breast cancer and underwent surgery in 1975. She considers herself fortunate to be a survivor, and has found that a positive attitude makes a tremendous difference in fighting cancer.

"I've been lucky.

Bowler Mary Robertson's a bit concerned about the direction the bowling ball's taking in this frame.

Mary Robertson is pleased with the direction the bowling ball took during this frame. Many members of the VFW Post and Auxiliary participated in the fund-raising event, as did some

It has been 45 years since Nate Garlinkel was liberated from his Nazi captors, but he remains a prisoner of his past.

'My crime was that I happened to be born Jewish," said Garfinkel, a 69-year-old retired barber, born in Poland and now living in Southfield.

Garfinkel was one of the lucky ones. He survived 54 years in a Nazi labor camp, followed by a forced "death march" at the end of World War II

"I speak for the millions of people who have no monuments, no cemeteries," Garfinkel recently told an audience of about 70 people during a speech at St. Edith Catholic Church in Livonia

'I transfer it to you to keep this alive, to teach people so it won't be repeated again.

Garfinkel, a slender man with a friendly demeanor, became soft-spoken and serious as he expressed the agony of losing family, friends and neighbors to the Nazis, whom he calls "perpetrators."

"I don't get rid of it," he said, referring to the pain.

DURING THE St. Edith presentation, Garfinkel was accompanied by Leonard Trunsky, 62, of West Bloomfield. Trunsky, president of a steel company and an activist in the Jewish community, is a guide at the Holocaust Memorial.

Adolf Hitler made the Jews his scapegoats for Germany's economic troubles during the 1920s, said Trunsky, who served with the U.S. Army during the war.

Many Jewish people are frightened about the possible reunification of Germany, which was split after World War II, Trunsky said. 'Militarism is in their blood."

GARPINKEL WAS form into an Orthodox Jewish family. He had eight siblings. In 1939, when Garfinkel was 19 years old, German soldiers invaded Poland. Soon Jews were being loaded onto trains and shipped to concentration camps.

Five members of Garfinkel's immediate family died during those war years. Garfinkel and five of his sisters survived.

Today, Garfinkel spends a lot of time trying to educate people. In addition to speaking before church groups, Garfinkel spends one day a week talking to visitors at the Holocaust Memorial Center in West Bloomfield.

"Holocaust" is derived from a Greek translation of a portion of the biblical book Genesis, and means "total burning." The Holocaust has come to refer to the murder of 6 miltion Jews and the destruction of thousands of Jewish communities by Nazis and their allies from 1933 to

Nate Garfinkel talks with Valerie Elliot, a Madonna College student, about his experiences. He spends much of his time trying to educate people about the horrors of the Holocaust.

GARFINKEL TOLD bow Nazi soldiers took a knife and hacked off his father's beard.

"I never saw my father cry," Garfinkel said. "But he cried. Since then he never walked out of the house. He sat in the house, praying in his prayer shawl and robe.

The father, a wheat broker, later was hidden for six months by friendly farmers. He was shot dead by Nazis when a peighbor reported his whereabouts.

One of Garfinkel's brothers, who had joined the Polish Army, "disappeared" in 1941 while being held as a prisoner of war. Garfinkel's mother, along with two of the younger children in the family, died at the notorious Treblinka extermination camp.

A sister fled over the border into Russia with her husband. They later emigrated to Israel, then lived in Cleveland before retiring to Toronto. She is now deceased. Garfinkel and four other sisters, all healthy and robust, were sent to work camps. Conditions were harsh. Many people became ill or simply gave up and died.

VIOLENCE WAS ever-present. A guard knocked out Garfinkel's teeth. All five of the Garfinkels survived.

"It's a miracle," Garfinkel said. "The average person didn't survive more than weeks. If you didn't work, they would shoot you.

While at the camp, Garfinkel was assigned to a mill that made potato flour. One day in 1944, he became demoralized and "tried to negotiate with God.

"I said, if you let me survive with my four sisters I will sacrifice my body," Garfinkel said.

THE NEXT day, Garfinkel's hand became caught in a machine. His Nazi boss, in an act of kindness, sneaked Garfinkel back to the barracks and brought bandages and medication. Two days later, Garfinkel was shipped to the Buchenwald camp to spend the remaining months

"Thanks to this Nazi, I survived," he said.

In early April 1945, when the Allied forces were closing in, the camp guards forced the inmates out on a monthlong death march to "kill their evidence," Garfinkel said. Most of the prisoners died or were killed. The handful that lived were weak, emaciated and nearly starved.

Garfinkel fought to survive. He volunteered to push one of the supply wagons, keeping his injured hand hidden in his pocket. When rescued by American forces in early May, Garfinkel felt an "indescribable mixture of joy and sadness."

During the next few years, Garfinkel was hospitalized several times. His weakened body became stronger, and he underwent surgery on his hand.

bers expressed curiosity about spiritual and emotional issues.

'Did you ever lose your faith?" asked Carol Savage of Canton.

Garfinkel, noting that Jews were taught to believe they were God's chosen people, said he became

"If choosing me means destroying me, why?" Garfinkel said. "I am only a human being."

Garfinkel came to the United States in 1952. He and his wife, Mildred, have three children. His four sisters who had been in work camps also moved to the United States. Two

Eagle's Journey

Charly Heavenrich will present the series "The Eagle's Journey: Going Where We've Never Been Before" 7:30-9 p.m. Thursdays at Unity Church of Livonia, 28660 Five Mile, between Middlebelt and Inkster. The series is designed to present ways to effect health changes. Heavenrich will discuss how people use such tools as support, choosing work that suits values and interests, awareness of purpose and the ability to manage transitions. For information, call 665-0024 or 421-1760.

Communications in Church: 352-6200

"Communications in Marriages" is designed to enrich marriages by learning a technique of communication called Dialogue. The Marriage Encounter will take place Friday through Sunday, Feb. 16-18, in Romulus. The sessions are led by a United Methodist clergy couple and three presenting couples. The weekend is open to couples of all faiths. For information, call 522-3473

School of Prayer

Every Home for Christ is sponsoring a "Change the World School of Prayer" for the Plymouth-Canton area 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 17. The seminar will be at St. Michael Lutheran Church, 7000 Sheldon, Canton. The seminar will feature a discussion of aspects of a practical prayer life. The Rev. Dick Eastman is international president of the interdenominational training effort. Participants learn how prayer can change people, communities and the world. Enrollment charge is $25, including tuition, 265-page manual and lunch. For registration information, call 459-3333.

Speaker at church

Olive Lane Horning will speak at 7 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 17, in a program sponsored by the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. The church is at 12401 Ridge, Plymouth. The program will be based on the life of author Corrie ten Boom during the Nazi takeover of Holland in World War II. The author wrote about those experiences in her book "The Hiding Place." In her presentations, Horning takes on ten Boom's personality, helping to tell her story. Corrie ten Boom, now in her 80s, lives in California. Dessert will be served after the program. The public may attend.

Outreach Conference

The 1990 Outreach Conference will start Sunday, Feb. 18, at Ward Presbyterian Church, 17000 Farmington, Livonia. The Rev. "People are responding quite well," said Doud, "but then people who wear glasses are always interested in a better product."

LENSCRAFTERS is a new breed

'A lot of times people were saddled with thicker or bulkier frames to hide the lenses. Now, they can use thinner frames, even wires.'

> - Glenn Fitzgerald area operations manager, LensCrafters of optical manufacturer. Rather than warehousing its eyeglass production, the firm puts its grinding laboratories within each of its store fronts, making eye glasses a retail industry

LensCrafters only has store fronts in shopping malls, so customers can pick out their frames and lenses, do a bit of shopping and then return latter to pick up their finished pair of glasses, Fitzgerald said.

"It was created by a few guys from Procter and Gamble," he said. They got together with some friends in the optical business to see if they could put the whole thing under one roof.'

The men did just that in Florence, Ky., in 1982, and today LonsCrafters Ry., in 1983, and today LensCrafters has become the nation's largest optical company with 300 stores nationwide. Plans are to add another 100 stores in 1990, including one scheduled to open at Westland Center in April, Fitzgerald said.

Polycarbonate thermoplastic lenses really aren't new to the eye glass industry. For years, they've been used to make safety glasses. But what makes FeatherWates new is the development of equipment so that the lense can be produced within LensCrafters one-hour format. FeaterWates' good points include a dense nature, making them more impact resistant. They can be ground thinner than plastic lenses, making them lighter. With the refractive nature of the lens, they filter out out damaging ultraviolet single vision, bifocal and trifocal prescriptions, a unique feature for a new product, Doud said.

THE PEDERAL Drug Adminis tration sets a standard for the thickness of glass and plastic lenses and the thinnest such lenses can be is 1.7 milimeters. No standard has been set for polycarbonate lenses, so LensCrafters' quality control department has set an in-house standard of 1.5 milimeters.

And with thinner lenses, the selection of glass frames is increased, Fitzgerald said.

"A lot of times people were saddled with thicker or bulkier frames to hide the lenses," he said. "Now, they can use thinner frames, even

The lenses have a down side. They are easily scratched so a special silicon polymer hard coating is added to make them scratch-resistant. FeatherWates also don't tint as dark as plastic lenses, even with the application of a "Suncoat," which, makes the lens more receptive to tinting, said Lori Smith, Fairlane Lens-Crafter lab manager.

FeatherWates tint only half as dark as plastic lenses used for sunglasses, Smith said.

The Fairlane LensCrafters is also handling special requests for the FeatherWates lenses from private physicians. Doctors call in the prescription, the lab prepares the lenses and then ships them out by Federal Express, Doud said.

While LensCrafters plans on introducing the FeatherWate lens to the country next year, it plans to introduce next year the companion FeatherWate frames, made of titanium and graphite composite materials to make them durable and lighter, Fitzgerald said.

Today will be yesterday tomor-

This month's couple, Jim and Pat Thorpe, have a number of important goals that should be acted upon without delay.

Jim and Pat, and their two sons, ages 19 and 13, live in Lathrur Village. Jim is 46 and a millwright earning $37,000 per year. Pat, 43, is an accounting supervisor at Ford Motor Co. who earns $62,000 per year. While they are concerned about retirement, their most immediate concern is the education of their sons. Jim would also like to start his own business although he has not developed specific plans for this goal.

As their joint income is approaching $100,000, this is a good time for the Thorpes to make a commitment to accumulating assets to help meet their most important goals, including retirement. One of the best ways to accumulate retirement assets is through the use of a 401(k) salary reduction cash or deferred plan, such as Pat has available at Ford.

Contributions to this type of retirement plan will help achieve their goals of tax reduction because every dollar contributed is not currently taxed, and the earnings on the funds are tax deferred until withdrawn. Although Pat is currently contributing 6 percent of her salary into the 401(k) plan, at a minimum she should increase this to 10 percent because Ford matches a portion of the first 10 percent of contributions to that plan

If possible, Pat should consider deferring additional compensation even if it is not matched by the employer because of the advantageous taxation of the savings. This should be the primary depository for planned retirement savings

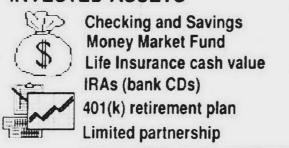

WE WANT TO note that current law allows a participant to borrow from a 401(k) account. Although we do not recommend such action, Pat's 401(k) account could be a source of funds to finance their older son's education. We would suggest they also begin planning for the financing of their younger son's education. If Jim and Pat are able to set aside $200 to $300 per month specifically for this goal, they will ease their burden significantly when their youngest son reaches college age.

Overall, we suggest the Thorpes target at least 10 percent of their annual gross income for longer-term goals, including education and retirement. This will require some reprioritization of their financial goals, but it should be within their capabilities to accomplish this.

Their purchases of automobiles is an example of this prioritization issue. Even though they currently have a debt of more than $17,000 on a car that requires a $400 per month payment, they are considering financing another new car for $15,000 in the fall. This will be a further drain on their income. We ask: Is this such an important priority that they are willing to spend more than 10 percent of their after-tax income on car payments? They will need to discuss their expenditures and make some hard choices. Through this thought process, they will discover what things are important to them and perhaps reprioritize their goals.

The Bottom Line

Financial strengths

- Two wage earners with good incomes
- Good savings and pension plans available
- Excellent health and disability coverage through work
- Solid emergency réserve in place

Financial weaknesses

- No wills or estate plan in place
- Inadequate life insurance, especially for Pat
- Inadequate liability insurance coverages
- Lack of education funding

If Jim follows through on his goal to leave his current employers to start a business in a few years, Jim and Pat should definitely be building up their investment capital. In addition to continuing living expenses, there may also be significant capital expenditures necessary in the startup phase of the new business. A substantial nest egg for this purpose is advisable. The investments for this purpose should be in liquid, readyaccessible investments.

BEFORE STARTING a business, Jim should consider a number of items. First, he should meet with an attorney and an accountant to get an understanding of the types of business entities available and the advantages and disadvantages of each. He should also become aware of the tax consequences on the startup of the business as well as the ongoing tax issues. Also, an accountant can be valuable in helping prepare a proper business plan for submission to banks if financing is necessary.

Thus far Jim and Pat have done no estate planning. Jim "does not see the importance of pursuing this." While not wanting to belabor the point we have made in prior articles, proper estate planning can save significant time and money in probate costs, Michigan inheritance taxes and federal estate taxes. In addition it can provide a proper transition of assets from Jim and Pat to their children. At a minimum, Jim and Pat should each have a will that details where their property is to go and that designates who are to be guardians of their youngest son.

Jim and Pat each have approximately $200,000 of life insurance, which is a combination of group term provided by their employers and personally owned universal life. If they were to lose Pat's $62,000 income, the $200,000 would be insufficient to allow the family to meet its current financial obligations, much less reach the family's long-term financial goals. We would suggest that they buy additional term insurance, first looking at any optional life insurance offered through employers and then seeking insurance outside their employers. Assuming they are both in good health, the premium for term insurance should be easily manageable.

We would suggest Jim and Pat raise their liability coverage on both auto and home owners insurance from $100,000 currently to at least $300,000 and raise the amount of uninsured motorists coverage from $20,000 to at least $50,000. Jim and Pat asked if an umbrella policy is a necessity. We believe that while it is an option, it is more important to raise their liability coverage to at least the levels discussed above.

If Jim and Pat can successfully implement some of the planning steps we have discussed, we are certain that when tomorrow comes they will be glad they took the steps necessary to reach their goals.

Recovery predicted next year

By Tim Richard staff writer

As usual, Michigan will have a greater loss of manufacturing jobs than the rest of the nation during the 1990 downturn, Eastern Michigan University economists predict.

But the 1991 recovery will be just as strong for most Michigan regions, they said.

'We predict that the manufacturing employment declines of 1990 wil be largely reversed by 1991," said economist David B. Crary, "and that the regions with the largest declines in 1990 will have the largest increases in 1991."

But three areas won't see a full 1991 recovery: Benton Harbor, Lansing and Muskegon.

Crary said the gyrations in auto production are being caused by the industry's effort to continue employment at the 1988 rate although '89 sales failed to keep up. Layoffs occurred during the last quarter of '89 and the first quarter of '90 as inventories are

Metro Detroit will see manufacturing employment drop 2.6 percent this year and pick up 1.7 percent next year.

The nation as a whole will see a 0.5 percent drop in '90 and a 1.4 percent recovery in manufacuturing jobs next year. Michigan will see drops of 2.4 percent and a recovery of 2.4 percent, respectively.

PROPERTY VALUES will continue to grow faster than incomes, EMU economists told a gathering of business leaders and newspeople last week.

In metro Detroit, real personal income will grow 0.43 percent this year and state equalized valuations (SEV) 1.1 percent this year. For next year they predict 1.59 percent growth for incomes and 3.74 percent growth in SEVs.

Metro Detroit includes seven counties: Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Livingston, Monroe, St. Clair and

In 1990 Ann Arbor and Grand Rapids will see the largest growth in SEVs - about 2.35 percent. 'Detroit will join the faster growing regions in

The barometer rose to 1.1 in January, the first time it has been higher than 1.0 since January of 1989. In 1989 the barometer was negative for the eight months from April to November. Littmann said the barometer provides a two-quar-

Buying stock regularly will get you the best price

You can't outguess the stock mar-ket. But you can outsmart it by using the time-tested strategy called "dollar cost averaging."

Although a favorable result can never be guaranteed, by investing the identical amount every month over a period of one year would most likely result in your buying more shares for the money than you would if you tried to outguess the market. And this is likely to occur regardless of whether the market is rising, falling, fluctuating or stable

The gains from using the strategy of dollar cost averaging in a rising market are illustrated in Table A. As you can see, in this hypothetical example 34 additional shares were added in a falling market (Table B), and in a fluctuating market (Table

The truck will be built in a U.S. plant and sold through U.S. dealers, with wholesale profits pocketed by a Japanese company. This is a role reversal from the common practice of U.S. companies buying cars built in Japan, so-called "captives," pocketing the wholesale profits and selling them through their U.S. franchises

THE LEXICON of foreign trade has been getting a little complicated lately. It used to be simple - cars built overseas and shipped to the U.S. were called imports. Mainly, these were sold to U.S. distributors, which resold them to independent

The captives were next Then Volvo and Volkswagen complicated things by becoming the first postwar overseas companies to build manufacturing plants, with heavy Canadian, U.S. and state subsidies to build cars for North American sale. When the Japanese followed suit, someone called these transplants

THE ECONOMIC effect of all this was getting a little fuzzy. Obviously, U.S. companies were cutting their work force, but foreign companies were hiring Subsidies, mainly coming from local governments panicked by lost jobs, encouraged more transplants, more lost jobs, more subsidies and more transplants

Finally, Ford got into the act by getting Japan's Mazda, owned 25 percent by Ford, to reopen a former Ford factory in Flat Rock where

Mazda would build a car about half Ford and half Mazda on Japanese machines to be sold by Ford Nobod even tried to name that one

MEANWHILE, A 25 percent tariff levied against light trucks was reinterpreted a year ago or so to include two-door light utility vehicles. The reasons for singling out a single body style made about as much sense as taxing just imported pickups, but the result was that Japanese manufacturers importing two-door utility vehicles suddenly are getting taxed pretty much out of the market.

tariff by putting two more doors in

Toyota and Nissan reacted to the

their light utility vehicles, since U.S. customs decided the extra two doors excluded the cars from the tax

INTO THE market vacuum created comes the Mazda Navaho, the first tax-free, Japanese nameplated, U.S. manufactured light utility vehi-cle sold through U.S. dealers and distributed by a distribution company recently acquired from U.S. ownership by Mazda Which, of course, is partly owned by Ford. It is the ultimate creature of a byzantine foreign trade policy, local tax subsidies and a nightmare of conflicting interests in the internass community

It could well be the ultimate egal tarian symbol of melting pot trade save for the fact that the Japanese refuse to sell it in their own country since they prefer to ship cars back to the homeland that are built mainly with parts manufactured in Japan.

If you are looking for a name for the phenomenon, I'd say the Navaho is a hostage

You must learn to promote to help a business prosper

Have you ever enthusiastically promoted the "perfect" candidate to a management position in your company, only to discover later that you chose the wrong person?

What did you do about it? More important, what action have you taken since then to keep the same mistake from happening again?

Promoting someone in your organization can be the most rewarding management experience there is when it works

UNFORTUNATELY, TOO many business owners have been discouraged by promoting the wrong people and have subsequently chosen to look outside the company when seeking management candidates

The problem is that the time, effort and expense to do this may be better spent sharpening your. own promotion-related judgment skills. No one system exists that will enable you to select the best person for a given management position.

Because promoting employees is a key management function of any business, it will never be replaced by anything but an attempt to become more astute in this area of management decision making.

THERE ARE several simple steps you can take to increase your success rate in promoting the right employees.

DiPaolo

When considering an in-house promotion, write out a complete description of the position to be filled. Make this description as detailed as possible and include required skills. necessary experience, key responsibilities, work hours, authority and

Next, compile a list of employees who should be considered for the position, along with their work history, job training, experience and goals.

AT THIS point, some business owners may find that they do not have an employee within the organization who will fit the position. Often, these owners will then resort to irrelevant criteria (such as length of employment or employee career goals) in finding a probable candidate for promotion.

This is a mistake. If you cannot objectively come up with the name of at least one employee who would be a strong, qualified candidate for the promotion, it is then appropriate to look outside the company

Advancing an employee into the wrong position because it seems convenient at the time will only create problems and bad feelings at a later

THE KEY to promoting the right employee is to take the time necessary to identify and evaluate the position and the candidates, while developing criteria to create the best match between the two.

This will provide the potential for the greatest possible success both for the employee and for your organ-

Unpopular stocks may be best buys

Q. I was talking with some investor friends, and the idea came up that the best way to make money in stocks is to look at companies that are unpopular at the moment. If they are basically OK - enough mose) a good product, etc. - we ought to do well by buying them beause their prices are way down and waiting for a couple of years until they recover.

If you a'gree that is a good idea. would you suggest some companies that fit that description?

A That is an idea that makes very good sense, but as with any general statement the results you get will depend upon the individual stocks ou pick to try to carry out the idea.

Tone idea isn't new. It is called conbuying contrary to popular opinion.

· At this particular time, the computer industry is experiencing a reession, and most of the stocks are selling near their lows for the past two years

THIS ALSO means they are down substantially from the highest prices they have sold at in the past two'

The Wayne-Hummer Newsletter recently listed 12 of the major mainframe and mini-computer manufacturers as shown in the accompanying

The two stocks that Wayne-Hummer favored in that list were IBM and Unisvs

IBM WAS favored because it is the Box 220, Royal Oak 48068

leader, the biggest and probably the strongest financially, and because it is expected to introduce a number of new products in the near future that should turn its profit picture around

It is selling hear its five-year low and at less than 10 times its estimated 1990 earnings per share.

"Unisys has been hit harder than most of the 12 companies and is down 67 percent from its high.

HOWEVER. IT is engaged in a massive restructuring, and Value Line estimates its earnings will recover to $2 per share in 1990.

According to a just-published study of some 10,000 men and 3,000 wemps, even moderate levels of physical fitness appear to be protective against an early death from heart disease. All participants were initially free of any know chronic disease and had a normal exercise test. Persons who were not fit enough to walk on a treadnot fit enough to walk on a tread-mill set at 3.3 miles per hour (mph), 5 percent elevation, had the highest subsequent death rates; in contrast, those who could walk at 3.3 mph, up a 14 percent grade, had the lowest mortality. Interestingly, higher levels of fitness did not seem to offer any more protection. These findings suggest that inactive adults who begin even a modest exercise program can de-crease their risk of heart disease.

R. NOONE, you've got a lovely daughter. British rock star Peter Noone (of Herman's Hermits) sang his way to fame with such hits as "Mrs. Brown, You've Got a Lovely Daughter.' Now he dotes on his 3-year-old daughter, Natalie The little girl was sucking a chocolate lollipop when she and her mother, Noone's

French wife, Mireille, stopped by the table at the Townsend Hotel

where Noone was being interviewed over coffee Before bidding her daddy goodbye, Natalie said, "Have a good day at the show, Pappa." Noone grinned. "She says that to me every day." Noone stars in the musical "Romance, Romance," through Sunday, March 18, at the Birmingham Theatre His daughter also said, "I'll give you a flower later." "She saw that on television," Noone explained. She loves old movies in black and white. "She gives me a flower every day."

ALTHOUGH NOONE'S wife of 22 years has herself stayed away from a show business career, the outgoing entertainer predicts his daughter will end up on stage. Even now, when she helps him with something he needs for the show,

'I'm what an American would call a yuppie, or what we (in England) call a nimby, which means "Not in My Backyard."

- Peter Noone

she wants to hand it to him onstage, rather than before he goes on. Noone said.

With his streaked, blond hair; vivid blue eyes; ruddy complexion, and unlined, boyish features, Noone looks far younger than his years. He's been a star since the '60s (he was 15 when he became "Herman"). But when he goes up against other guys for a part in a show, he always looks different than "the other 40-year-olds."

"I always played 10 years younger," he said. "Now I-play 32 instead of 22." Noone is pleased that in "Romance, Romance," "I finally play a man, instead of a boy."

The Tony-Award-winning show is actually two musicals. In the first one, he is two different characters, as he plays a man who pretends to be a poet. In the second act, "I'm what an American would call a yuppie, or what we (in England) call a nimby, which means 'Not in My Backyard.'

Noone said he loved the show

when he first saw it on Broadway He and his wife would fly to New York and see eight shows 'sometimes you can get in nine shows. 'Romance, Romance' was the one I liked best, next to 'Fhe Phantom,' and the roller skating."

He fell in love with the music in the show. "I'm really a tenor," Noone explained. But in order to do, 'Romance, Romance,' trained to be a baritone."

HE FREQUENTLY goes on tour as Peter Noone, the musician, and he hopes to put some of the songs from the musical into his touring "I like simple, charming things," he said.

Noone, his wife and daughter live in California. He said he also has a home in England and family in Liverpool but seldom can spend time there. As a child, he lived with his grandmother in Manchester, where his father sent him to the college of music. He hoped to continue his acting career, which began when he was around 12 years old, as a regular for two years on the British TV hit "Coronation

In college, he studied both acting and music but hung out with the guys who played music. "I got the bug," he said. Early on he played guitar and piano but then became lead singer, "because they get all the girls." Herman's Hermits played the same circuit as the Bea-

In 1964, the song "I'm Into Something Good" became a No. 1 hit in England, and was in the top five in the United States. First No. 1 record in the U.S. was "Mrs. Brown, You've Got a Lovely Daughter."

The band toured from 1964 to 1972, selling more than 50 million records. And in 1965, Herman's Hermits sold more records than the Beatles. Noone said he usually wrote the song for the "B" side of the records. Last year for the film "The Naked Gun" he remade the song "I'm Into Something Good."

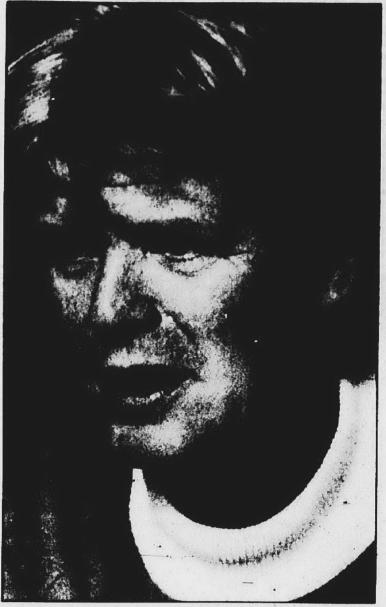

"I'M A LUCKY little fellow," Noone said. He attributes his luck to "being in the right place and working so hard."

Currently Noone is host of "My Generation," the No. 1 rated show on cable channel VH-1. The show takes a look at music and other trends of the '60s through the '80s and uses a format similar to a show he did years ago in France.

I've never had a real down period," Noone said. After leaving Herman's Hermits, from 1972 to 1975 he had a hit TV series featuring comedy and music, called "Look," on the BBC. He starred as Frederic in "The Pirates of Penzance" on Broadway and London and on tour.

'Basically, I'm a musician," said Noone, who flew on 218 flights last year. He wants to cut this down.

"The travel wears on my family because I'm never home." he said.

At the Townsend Hotel in Birmingham, a casually dressed Peter Noone talks about his many years in show business, including starring in the current production of "Romance, Romance" at the Birmingham Theatre.

Unconventional 'Celebration' nicely handled presented by the Theatre Guild, continue through Sunday, Feb. 25, at the playhouse in Redford. For tacket information call the box office at 538-5678.

By Bob Welbel special writer

"Colebration" is a very "theatrical" show, a musical fairy tale if you will, for sophisticated adults. You wen't find it in Mother Goose. But then, the Theatre Guild tends to present the unconventional - and does it very well. Thanks to director Rebecca Smith, "Celebration" is no exception.

To set the mood, artist William Mandt created six stunning black totem poles. They dominate the stage.

The faces seem to be from some distant primeval past, when it was man against the elements.

The time is winter. It is dark. The sun is in eclipse. Men sit by fires, waiting for the light to return. Hope is frozen in the wind. What is there

A genial narrator proposes a par-able. In it we learn that life is full of conflict: Summer-Winter, Youth-Old Age, Love-Hate, Life-Death, Good-Evil and so on.

WHAT WE HAVE to celebrate is life itself. We celebrate our primitive need to survive, to struggle, to savor every sensation, to believe that the morning will bring the sun and its warm glow will prevail over the seemingly endless chill of

Guiding us through the evening is as a con man. John Grant Stokes has a rather likeable acting style that sometimes undercuts his villainous moments. A little more flair, a little harder edge would do wonders.

David Podulka is right on the money as Orphan, a naive young gardener. He is cold and hungry, but he carries with him the stained glass eye of God - through which he sees the basic goodness of mankind and can feel the warmth of the sun. His rendition of "My Garden" is flawlessly done

Susan Gorski scores as an Angel (fallen, of course) who desperately wants to be somebody and has no time for a nobody like Orphan. She has eyes for the likes of Mr. Rich.

David Podulka is right on the money as Orphan, a naive young gardener.

John Estman is Mr. Rich. He commands the stage like a raging George C. Scott. Everyone has to deal with him. He owns and controls everything. Life is a bore. He's old and depressed. There is nothing left to feel. He's had it all. And Eastman leaves nothing in the bag as he chomps on lobster, acts the fool and tries to cheat Father Time.

William Butler, Marie Delewsky, Joey Johnson, Patricia Jones, Tony Krempa and Nancy Delewsky Vi-leneuve play revelers who sing and dance a variety of roles in masks. A good job by all

Designer Judy Nakdimen and her crew did an outstanding job on the masks and costumes. Kudos also for artful lighting and orchestra.

Musical 'Brigadoon' lively at Plymouth Theatre Guild

By Bob Weibel special writer

They say that once each century, the Highlands of Scotland can be seen rising above the morning mist.

And there is this village, where people still live and dress as if in the 18th Century. Joy and goodwill abound. Outsiders would give anything to experience such happiness if only for a day. For you see, they say this mystical village appears for 24 hours each hundred years.

Now that couldn't really be true. could it? One thing is for sure. Our little story is the basic plot of The Plymouth Theatre Guild's entertaining production of the romantic musical "Brigadoon."

It's about two lost and weary American hunters who dare to enter the idyllic village of Brigadoon. One falls in love, learns that his beloved cannot leave without breaking the spell, and is confronted with the choice of remaining - or returning to a familiar but unsatisfying world where he has been searching for something to believe in.

Stephen Tadevic is in good voice as the "searching" Tommy Albright, review but his character would be better served with more naturalness and less tautness. Gregory Lea plays his sidekick Jeff Douglas, in a laid back style that gets plenty of laughs with his deft touch for delivering comic

Susan Krekeler seems most comfortable in the role of Fiona MacLearn - the lovely young lady

Tommy cannot forget. She moves about the stage with assurance and sings beautifully. And four stars to Karen Groves, who sparkles in voice and character as the effervescent Meg Brockie

Other standouts in director Rob James Morisi's cast of 30-plus include Chuck Miller, Lisa Brandow, Elizabeth Racer, Bill Schauwecker, Al LaCroix and Duane Peters. And Jim Patterson gives a note of authenticity with his playing of the bagpipes.

The costumes are realistic and colorful (is there any plaid left in Plymouth?), the orchestra is splendid, the singing is good and the dancing is energetic (we trust it will be more fluid and look less rehearsed in later performances.

One big problem - and it's a major distraction, considering the magical nature of "Brigadoon" - is the staging. The opening mist scene gets us really exists. Then, it's time-out for a scene change; some of which were longish and awkward. Alas, the spell

The Water Tower theatre doesn't have the wing space or loft required for big scene changes. And it needs more curtains and lights. It's good to see that PTG is presenting musicals again. Until they work out the kinks, here's hoping PTG will keep it simple with a few suggetive set pieces. Audiences have a marvelous imagi-

It's well suited to dinner theater

Performances of "They're Playing Our Song," presented by Theatre Arts Productions, continue through Saturday, Feb. 24, at the Days Hotel - Southfield Performing Arts Center. For ticket information call 557-4800.

By Mary Jane Doorr scecial writer

Getting in touch with your feelings was a psychological mode very typical of the 1970s. Getting in control of your feelings is more the meaning of the musical "They're Playing Our Song."

Theatre Arts Productions presents this 1979 love story in a simple but penetrating style at the new Days Hotel in Southfield. Unlike today's extravagant Broadway hits, "They're Playing Our Song" reduces well to dinner theater - to the comfortable cozy atmosphere of refreshments and overstuffed chairs.

What makes this production so satisfying is not the four-course meal served with the ticket. It is the convincing acting of the two leads. Paul Marquis is Vernon, a songwriter with two Grammies and an Academy Award, who broke up with his last fiance by leaving a message on her machine. Jane Shaffmaster is Sonia, a lyricist who wears theater costumes every day, talks with angels and turns every songwriting sesion into a psychoanalytic session.

Unlike most songwriters, Marquis has a pleasing ballad-type baritone voice shown off to its best advantage in the first number "Falling." The songeets the mood for the rest of the story, summed up by simply chang- and musical theater.

HOW THESE two well-suited personalities get together, learning to live with each other's eccentricities, makes an appealing "When Harry Met Sally" story, with lover's quarrel, break-up, maturation and a happy ending.

Shaffmaster's voice has color and emotion. It would be nice if she topped the quintet throughout the show as she does in the finale. What she does with "I Still Believe in Love" is heartfelt.

Michael Klier's stage direction is effective. Although the show is too long (two and one-half hours), Marquis and Shaffmaster are so involved with each other they manage to carry the action with the delightful help of the all-purpose Motown singers Larry Johnson, Earl Vinson and Rick Ingram. This tightly choreographed trio adds dimension every time they come on stage, either as the angels, the stagehands or the make-believe English sports car.

Nancy Tatum's black and white sets are decisively upbeat. Shaffmaster's and the trio's angel costumes are smashing. Pianist Rebecca Klier keeps strong Motown rhythms

Although singular in its appeal, 'They're Playing Our Song" is a collaboration of Neil Simon and Marvin Hamlisch, and it is Simon's doublemeaning lines which make it worth seeing several times.

Lead actor Lutzky carries show

Performances of the Jewish Ensemble Theatre production of "The Man in the Glass Booth" continue through Sunday, Feb. 25, at the Jewish Community Center in West Bloomfield. For ticket information, call 788-2900.

By Berbers Michele special writer

In a plum dramatic role, Dan Lutzky is outstanding as the title character of "The Man in the Glass Booth." He sets a standard of excellence for the new Jewish Ensemble Theatre at the Jewish Community

While the supporting cast is very uneven, Lutzky's performance is strong enough to carry the whole production. Robert Shaw's riveting. enigmatic play is still as fascinating a psychological study of the Holocaust as when it debuted many years

Lutzky plays Arthur Goldman, prominent Manhattan real estate tycoon and Holocaust survivor. Or is he really the diabolical S.S. Col. Adolph Dorff? As first one facade crumbles and then another, you are left to wonder whether Goldman is insane or has cleverly plotted to sacrifice himself, expunging his guilt at surviving while exposing the Nazi Captured by Israeli secret agents. and whisked to Israel for a public trial, Goldman/Dorff wears his Nazi uniform and arrogantly testifies from a bulletproof glass booth. Physically the scenario resembles the Adolf Eichmann trial, but unlike Eichmann, Dorff readily admits his atrocities and never hides behind a defense of merely following orders.

LUTZKY DOES a wonderfully consistent German accent, tempered by Goldman's many years in the United States. He also does a fine job of showing the character's restless energy, nervous quirks and mercuri-al mood shifts.

As Charlie, Goldman's most trusted assistant, Richard Mariatt conveys unswerving devotion to his employer, and the very real bond between the two men only adds to the mystery of Goldman's behavior. However, throughout the play Mar-latt looks so much like a bewildered child that it strains all credibility for Goldman to regard him as so capable and valuable

Laurie Logan makes an attempt at proud disdain and tough Israeli convincing as the head Israeli agent, Mrs. Roses. It doesn't help any to have a supposed secret agent make her arrest in a very dramatic, conspicuous cape and leopard-akin hat.

Director Nick Calanni has all the supporting players sit on either side of the stage whenever they are not on, acting as silent witnesses throughout. The staging works nicely, and Calanni keeps the pacing generally crisp. The minimalist set is very handsome for Goldman's office but too makeshift in the Israeli scenes, though the Israeli fatigue

Among the many witnesses who testify at the trial, Ann Bleecher is believable as the elderly-woman who quietly exposes Goldman/Dorff a second time. Bryant Frank is effective as a South African witness and also as Charlie's nervous, puzzled

Barbara Michals teaches high school English in Southfield. A theater critic for the last 15 years, she is an inveterate playgoer who regularly catches up on all the New York productions.

Canton depth decides meet with Rocks

By Dan O'Mears staff writer

OK, here's your question His initials are J.C. and his statements are being remembered as prophetic

Jesus Christ? No, wrong It's John Cunningham. coach of the Plymouth Canton gymnastics team

Cunningham called it right in January when he said "Plymouth Salem has a couple girls who are better than any of mine, but can they beat me with depth? We're going to be solid in every event, and it's going to be tough for teams to beat us. Nobody has in seven dual meets. and the Rocks are latest team to make an unsuccessful bid.

The long-awaited meeting between rivals and two of the state's top-ranked teams finally took place Monday, and it was the Chiefs winning with - you guessed it - superior depth.

CANTON, RATED No. 3 in the state, scored 137.90, and the No. 5 Rocks posted a 135.0 without one of their top gymnasts, freshman Courtney Gonyea, who broke a toe Friday.

Cunningham was on target in assessing Salem's talent. Kim Miller. another freshman, won every event and compiled the best all-around score at 37.25. Miller achieved 9.2 on vault, 9.4 on bars and floor exercise and 9.25 on beam

Salem coach Kathi Kinsella and Cunningham agreed a healthy Gonyea would have made the outcome tighter, but it's still questionable whether she could have turned the meet in favor of the Rocks, who are 6-2 overall

"It would have been an extremely close meet with her," Cunningham

gymnastics

said. "That hurt them two or three

One of the judges said we would've made up three points with her in the meet." Kinsella said. "I guess we'll just have to see on March I. won't we'F

The Western Lakes Activities Association meet will take place Thursday. March 1. at Northville High

MILLER WAS the star of the meet, and Kinsella was impressed by the fact she scored above 9.0 in

The club experience shows, but she's still a little young.". Kinsella said

Everything she does is high superior, which is technically the hardest you can do. As far as scores getting better, it's going to be a matter of maturity and getting a little older.

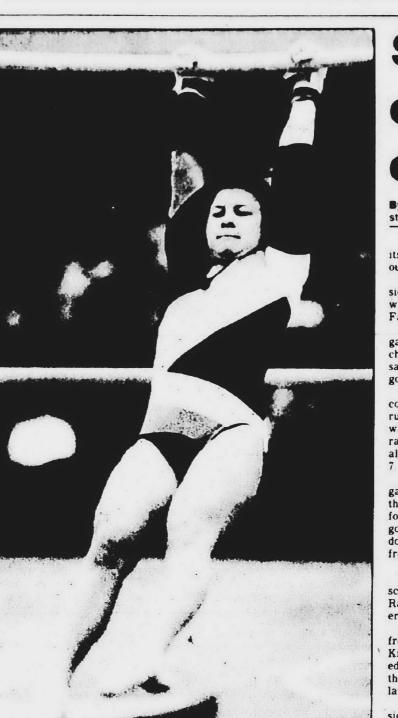

The team score turned on the fact Canton received a stronger effort from more gymnasts. The Chiefs had four of the top six scores on beam and floor, and the teams were divided evenly on vault and bars.

Canton's Kim Rennolds scored 34.75 in the all-around, Johanna Anderson 34.7, Dawn Clifford 34.0. Danielle Mirto 33.65. Jenny Tedesco 33.2 and Heather Murphy 32.2. Salem's Autumn Bunch had a 34.5 to-

I would compliment my kids on a team effort." Cunningham said. "No one was spectacular, but we had a lot of good performances.

Salem cagers clinch

By Dan O'Meara staff writer

If the mark of a champion team is its ability to win close games, Plymouth Salem deserves the title The Rocks earned the Lakes Division basketball crown Tuesday night when they fought off host North

Farmington 61-55. 'If you're not winning the close games, it doesn't say much for your character." Salem coach Bob Brodie said. "and our character is pretty good right now The Rocks clinched their second consecutive Lakes championship. running their division record to 8-0 with two games remaining Salem. ranked No. 8 in Class A, is 14-1 overall The Raiders dipped to 5-3 and 8-

"We treated it like a championship game." Brodie said. "We decided this is what we're going to do - play for the championship. We weren't going to worry about what the others do, just take care of it through the front door

SENIOR GUARD Matt Hoffman scored a game-high 23 points for the Raiders but was the only North player in double figures.

Salem countered with 17 points from Jake Baker and 16 from K.C. Kirkpatrick, both of whom connected for the victory-clinching play as the Rocks survived a tight situation late in the game.

The Rocks led 58-55 when possession following a jump ball went to them. Kirkpatrick flashed toward the North basket, took the inbounds pass from Baker, made the layup and converted a three-point play

Salem advances 7 to regional tourney

staff writer

Plymouth Salem wrestling coach Ron Krueger usually doesn't have a problem making up his mind.

But after Saturday's Class A individual district wrestling tournament at Walled Lake Western. Krueger couldn't decide if he was happy or sad, despite the fact the Rocks will be represented at seven weight classes in the regional tournament, which takes place in Salem's gym Saturday

"I would have been very happy with eight (regional qualifiers), and I would have been sad with six." Krueger said. "So I guess I'm somewhere between happy and sad.

"Of all the kids going, I wouldn't have wanted to loose any of them. I would have liked to see (heavyweight) Scott Breithaupt go. His division was tough, but he's wrestled well all year and deserves it

SALEM FINISHED the district with three champions, one runner-up and three third-place finishers. The top four wrestlers in each weight class advance to the regional. Steve Burlison, Pete Israel, and Brian Burlison won individual championships for the Rocks

Steve Burlison, 36-0-1, pinned South Lyon's Larry Olson in 4 40 of the championship match at 160 pounds. "Olson was 29-2 and he took Steve down, put him on his back and was ahead 5-0," Krueger said. 'We went at it pretty good, and I'm caught him in a cradle in the third period and pinned him," Burlison said. "I knew he was a good wrestler, but I didn't think he was as good as he was.' Israel (31-11) hammered out a 13-5 decision over Howell's Jason Steinacker in the title match at 171.

"Steinacker is only a freshman, but he's pretty good," Krueger said. "He wrestled well, but Pete really wrestled well. He'll face up with (John Glenn's Kraig) Kuban in the semis Satrurday but even if he loses to Kuban he'll drop down and wrestie people he's already beaten.'

Brian Burlison (40-0) wasted little time in the championship match at 189, sticking Howell's Tony Paruzzini in 1:05.

The Howell kid was a thrower, and he comes out and is going to throw Brian," Krueger said. "Brian says 'No, no' and throws him instead and pinned him."

Salem's other regional qualifiers are Julian Sell, Ken Stopa, Dan Bonnett and Scott Martin. Sell (36-5) advanced to the championship match at 130 before losing a 1-0 decision to Novi's Mike Gowans.

"Gowans has been up at 135 all year," Krueger said. "We've got Gowans and (Bedford's Nick) Buchanan (at the regional). The others he's beaten or hasn't wrestled.

"If he can win the first one, the second match will be with Buchanan. and we're going to go after Buchanan. We hope it's our turn. Buchanan has beaten us three times. We've gotta try and not get behind in the first period this time.

Martin (31-11) earned an 8-5 decision over South Lyon's Mike Herbert in the consolation match at 103. Bonnett (28-9) decisioned Pinckney's Ed Boeving, 12-4, in the consolation match at 112, and Stopa (32-10) earned a 7-6 decision over South Lyon's Robert Haps in the consolation match at 125.

SEVERAL OTHER area wrestlers also advanced to Saturday's regional at Salem.

North Farmington will be represented by three wrestlers, Walled Lake Western, Livonia Churchill and Livonia Franklin by two each and Walled Lake Central and Livonia Stevenson one each.

Matt Thompson led the Raiders. winning a district championship in the 140 class with a 7-1 victory over Brighton's Chad Clark Thompson had been at 145 for much of the sea-

"He was second at the (Oakland) county meet at 140," North coach Dick Cook said. "From then, just before Christmas, til the league meet, he wrestled 145 but he's actually a 140-pounder

I think he could do the whole thing this year. He's got enough in him. The potential is there. We'll see if he can hold through the next two

North's Lucian Van Cleave finished second at 135 pounds, losing only to South Lyons' Jaff Damesworth, 7-5, in the championship match

Adam Cook, battling both opponents and the flu, advanced to the finals, then defaulted his final two matches, doing the minimum necessary to get to the regional. From being sick, he might not be ready to wrestle Saturday, either.

"If he had to go another minute of wrestling Saturday, I don't think he'd be going," Cook said. "It's still pretty CENTRAL'S SOREN Murphy was the only other area wrestler to win a championship. Murphy won his first three matches by pin, then earned a default in the championship match over Howell's Noel Allen. Murphy, a senior, improved to 29-1 overall.

'Soren went out and had an outstanding day," said Central coach Carl McBride. "He is starting to wrestle smart. He's not just pounding people any more; he's outslicking

"Soren has had a cold and he's not getting any better. He's going to have to be well Saturday, because and it worked perfectly all three times," Kirkpstrick said. "It was a good screen and a good look

Salem was guilty of a free-throw lane violation that would have padded a 53-49 lead, and Hoff-man banked a shot that made it a two-point game instead

Baker countered with a three-point play for a 56-51 margin, but Hoffman converted back-toback Salem turnovers to pull the Raiders within one, 56-55, with a minute remaining.

Kirkpatrick produced the first of two big plays down the stretch.

RYAN JOHNSON hit guard Tom Noonan with a pass as he entered the lane, and Noonan bounced it to Kirkpatrick as he went to the glass for a 58-

"That just kinda developed," Kirkpatrick said. "I was just filling the lane, and a 2-on-1 developed. We've tried to play unselfishly all year and look for whoever is open near the basket.

Hoffman then missed consecutive 3-point attempts before a Salem missed free throw led to the jump ball.

'You gotta shoot the ball," North coach Tom Negoshian said. "We said if the three is there, take it. If not, go to the basket and call timeout. We not only got one three, we got two."

The Rocks, with Baker, Kirkpatrick and Johnson in the starting frontcourt and capable reserves on the bench, are tough inside as it is, but North foul trouble made it even easier for them to control the lat ? in the second half.

Eric Carlson and Bill Chawlik had three fouls apiece at halftime. Carlson fouled out early in the fourth quarter, Chwalik midway in the finale.

WE ENDED up alternating the two big kids to keep one on the floor," Negoshian said. "For their part, it's smart to go inside, because there's such a tremendous mismatch. That's where the ball belonged, and to their credit they did that."

Brodie couldn't overlook his team's defense, especially its' defensive rebounding in the second half when the Rocks usually held the Raiders to one shot. Baker pulled in 14 rebounds, Johnson 12 and Kirkpatrick seven.

'I keep telling the kids defense is the key, and that was true again tonight," Brodie said. "Hoffman got his points, but we were pretty solid on everybody else.

"The plays at the end were critical. K.C. made the big plays, but that's not what wins or loses games. It's the long haul.

It was apparent by halftime Salem wasn't going to stage a repeat of last month's blowout when it beat the Raiders.

The Rocks extended a four-point lead to 32-21 in the second quarter, but North scored the last 10 points of the half, including six by Hoffman.

THE RAIDERS jumped in front to begin the second half, but Salem pulled away from a 39-39 tie - Baker scored five points and assisted Kirkpatrick on a fast break basket - to lead 46-43 after three periods.

Noonan and Johnson chipped in seven points apiece for Salem, and John Hoffmeyer added six off the bench. Chris White was next for North with nine points, and Eric Detter scored eight.

Brodie continues to mix his playing combination more as the season goes on, playing several starters with players who previously were reserves only. Hoffmeyer, Cliff Lee, Chris Tebben and Mike Mulder played at least half the game.

"Early in the season, we were two distinct teams," Brodie said. "Now we've got a lot of people who can contribute, and that makes it a little better for us with rotations.

'We got in some foul trouble, too, and we got a little tired because of the intensity of the game. We rotated guys in and consequently people like Kirkpatrick and Baker were fresh for us later.'

Highland Park shoots holes in S'craft plans

To hear Dave Bogataj describe it, the most difficult thing to under-stand is how his Schoolcraft College men's baskethall team lost 92-$1 Saturday at Highland Park Community College.

After all, the Ocelots shot very well (57.1 percent from the floor). They outrebounded HPCC, too (32-24). And they got an outstanding performance from Randy Watters: 42 points on 16-of-20 shooting (80 percent), including three-of-five three-pointers, and 10 rebounds.

So how the heck did they lose? "It really turned out to be a ball-game," said Bogataj. "Unfortunately, 12 points is not indicative of the way we played.
"The kids played a good defensive ballgame. Highland Park did not get the ball inside, in the paint. They had to shoot 3-pointers."

Which, as it turned out, wasn't good. The Panthers converted 12 triples, seven coming in the first half as they built a 46-31 lead. SC cut into that, trimming it to four in the second half. With 1:30 remaining, the Ocelots were still within striking distance, trailing by six.

BUT TWO turnovers and a missed shot later, their hopes for victory were gone. "We got beat on the perimeter," said Bogataj. "And our 18 turnovers killed us. That's 18 threes as far as I'm concerned, because it seemed every time we turned it over, they hit a three."

This was not the same Highland Park team SC upset Jan. 10. There were four new Panthers who joined the squad at the start of winter semester, including one familiar face: Deon Frederick, a guard who played one semester for SC two years ago before being sidelined by poor grades.

Frederick looked like top-grade stuff Saturday. He scored 18 points for HPCC. Andre Johnson led the Panthers with 22 points, including two triples and 12 points in the first half. Eric Robinson contributed 10 points. Roderick Edmonds and Deandre Anderson also had two three-pointers each in the first

Al Hudson connected on six-ofeight floor shots for SC, scoring 16 points and grabbing nine boards.
Tony Rumple added eight points and seven assists.

But the offensive show belonged to Watters. "He was just awe-some," said Bogataj. "I just can't say enough about him."

Watters had 18 points in the first half and 24 in the second. In addition to his sharp floor shooting, he hit seven-of-nine free throws.

The loss dropped SC to 11-18 overall, 4-10 in the Eastern Conference. The Ocelots conclude their season at Mott CC, the conferenceleader, at 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

Churchill knocks Pats from lead

staff writer

Livonia Churchill returned the favor Tuesday against city rival Franklin, dealing the visiting Patriots a tough blow in the Western Division basketball race in the Western Lakes Activities Association.

The Chargers, behind forward Mike Juodawlkis' game-high 24 points, scored a 65-61 victory.

The Chargers, now 9-5 overall and 4-4 in the division, overturned a 51-48 setback against Franklin on Jan.

The Patriots, who went into the game in a three-way tie for the lead with Northville and Farmington Harrison, dropped to 8-7 overall and 5-3 in the division. (Both Harrison and Northville won Tuesday.)

Juodawlkis, a 6-foot-3, 220-pound senior, was the Chargers' main man.

He also pounded the boards for 12 rebounds.

"It was probably his best ballgame this season," said Churchill coach Fred Price, whose team kept its divisional hopes alive. "Once he can get going, he can do'a lot of things.

"Later in the game we made it a point to go to him with the basketball. He's taken more authority now and he's showing his senior leadership. He's improving each time out."

THE CHARGERS ALSO had big games from Kevin Hannigan (16 points), Mike Thomas (12) and 6-6 junior Randy Calcaterra (nine). Hannigan collected four of Churchill's five shots beyond the three-point line.

But it wasn't easy for the Chargers, who committed 18 turnovers and shot only 20 of 36 (55 percent) from the free throw line.

The Chargers led 18-14 after one quarter and 34-28 at intermission thanks to Thomas' three-point shot at the buzzer.

In the third quarter, Churchill opened up a 12-point lead, 42-30, on a hoop by Scott Bowser with 6:16 left, but Franklin came flying back to within two at the end of the quarter on a hoop by John Santi.

Churchill appeared to have things well in hand again with 3:26 left in the game when Hannigan drilled his fourth three-pointer of the night, giving the Chargers a 61-52 advantage.

But Franklin clawed back to within three, 61-58, on a three-pointer by Craig Overaitis with 2:13 to go.

sition to tie it, but junior center Steve McCool, who paced the Patriots with 19, was called for an offensive foul, his fifth, on a drive to the basket with 1:52 to play.

JUODAWLKIS then powered his way inside for what proved to be the game-winning deuce with only 1:25 remaining.

"After watching the film on the last game with Franklin we felt every time we got the ball inside something good would happen," said Price. "The kids are becoming more and more convinced that this is something we have to have. I'm not sure Franklin is good enough to stop us inside without giving up a foul."

McCool and Santi (10 points) were each saddled with three personals in the first half.

The Patriots apparently couldn't overcome their absence, shooting 44 percent from both the field (22 of 49) and the free throw line (14 of 32).

"I can get guys from the street that can shoot better from the line,"

"That was very disappointing." Overaitis, the catalyst with 25 points in Friday's big 70-43 win over first-place Harrison, was not quite as effective against the Chargers. He finished with 14 points, but hit only five of 18 shots from the floor and drew a technical foul, out of frustration, late in the first half.

BUT THE Patriots biggest problem besides poor free throw shooting was turnovers (19) and stopping Churchill's front line.

"We did not do a good job defending in the post area, particularly Juodawlkis," said the Franklin coach. 'The early foul trouble with McCool and Santi was another factor. We also made some bad decisions.'

Franklin now finds itself in a must-win situation tonight when they host first-place Northville. (Game time is 7:30.)

"We have to tighten up our defensive work and work on our free throws," Hanna said. "We have to play better because it's Parents Appreciation Night."

Eagles, Chiefs on losing end

An incredible second-half comeback - ignited by junior guard Manish Nandani's shooting - fell short for Plymouth Christian Tuesday, as the Eagles lost " d-56 at Saline Christian

The loss dropped Plymouth to 4-10 overall; Saline is 17-6.

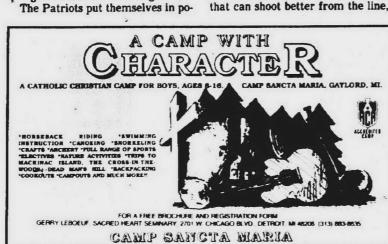

The host team had a 15-8 lead after one quarter and a 25-15 advantage at the half. After Plymouth Christian opened the second half with a basket, Saline Christian took command and eventually opened up a 26-point lead. But the Nandani-led Eagles caught fire late in the third, pulling to within 43-27, then nearly overtook Saline in the fourth. Nandani was spectacular. He scored 36 points in the game, hitting eight-of-16 three-pointers. Six of his treys and 23 of his points came in the fourth quarter, as Plymouth outscored Saline 29-16. With 10 seconds left, the Eagles trailed by six. Nandani canned a three-pointer and was fouled; his free throw trimmed Saline's lead to two with six seconds still left. But Plymouth had to foul to get the ball, and after Saline made one-of-two free throws, Nandani's buzzer shot from three-quarters court bounced off the rim. Larry Miller led Saline with 30 points. Vance Geddes scored 10.

OZYK, Hubenschmidt and Pirronello may sound like the name of a law firm. Sometimes Keith, Jesse and Paul act like clubhouse lawyers, but when they're working in sync, opposing high school hockey teams want to put them out of order.

They are Redford Catholic Central's high-scoring line, which through 18 games has accounted for 72 percent of the team's goals - 83 of 116 to be exact. They average 4.6 guals of the Shamrocks' 6.4 per game. Their combined plus-minus ratio is a plus-198.

Indicidually, the numbers are even more impressive.

Bozyk, a 5-foot-11, 170-pound senior left winger from Canton, has 31 goals and 35 assists for 66 points with only 10 minutes in penalties. He is in his third season.

• Hubenschmidt, a 5-8, 158-pound junior center from Redford, playing his first year with CC, has 25 goals and 36 assists for 61 points.

• Pirronello, a 5-11, 170-pound senior right winger from Farmington Hills, has added 25 goals and 36 assists for 61 points with only 10 minutes in penalties.

IN A 9-2 victory Saturday over Ann Arbor Huron at the Redford Ice Arena, Pirronello had four goals and one assist. He had three goals in a span of one minute and nine seconds. Hubenschmidt added two goals and five assists, while Bozyk contributed two goals and three assists.

They have led CC to a 12-3-3 overall record and a top 10 state ranking. "I've never had a line score as ' said CC veteran coach Jack Gumbleton. "They can put the puck in the net. Some kids can and some can't, but they're all finishers." Needless to say, all three are

Pirronello paces Shamrocks, 9-2

Paul Pirronello scored three goals in a span of 1:09, leading Redford Catholic Central to a 9-2 Michigan Metro High School Hockey League victory Saturday over Ann Arbor Huron at the Redford Ice Arena.

CC is now 12-3-3 overall and 7-

2-1 in league play.
Pirronello finished with four goals and one assist, while Jesse Hubenschmidt collected two goals and five assists, and Keith Boyzk contributed two goals and three assists.

Sean Cartwright had the other CC goals, while Joe Cyrek contributed two assists.

John Vivan led Huron with one goal and one assist. CC goaltender Matt Fennelly made 26 saves.

"We push each other," said Bozyk, "but we're still working as a line. And one line doesn't make a team. Our line is more offensive, but others are maybe defensive. They keep it out of the net.'

Gumbleton has tinkered with the thought of breaking the three up, but admits, "I don't know if they were on another line that they'd be as domi-

In a 3-1 loss last month against state-ranked Trenton, CC could muster only 13 shots on goal. Ironically, the Bozyk-Hubenschmidt-Pirronello line tallied the only goal.

"They (Trenton) outskated us and that's where this line had to pick it up," Gumbleton said. "If they're not skating hard, the rest of the team in practice follows them. Sometimes I lean on them, but not that much. They're pretty coachable. They responded well on Saturday against PIRRONELLO would like to continue to play hockey in college. In the spring he'll shift gears, going to the diamond to play as a third baseman on CC's baseball team, which reached the state Class A semifinals last year.

Bozyk, also a member of the CC baseball team (he is a pitcher), would like to play hockey and baseball in college. He plans to study sports medicine and physical theratling for the CC varsity and playing for the Redford Bantams. His brother Jim, who graduated from CC a year ago, was "one of the hardest workers I've ever had," Gumbleton said. "When these three want to, they can work tremendously together," said the CC coach. "When they put the work ethic into it, they can play the two-way (offensive and defensive) game." With two big games this week against state-ranked teams (Birmingham Brother Rice and Southgate), the line without a nickname will be put to the test.

"Coach calls us the 'green line' because in practice we wear green jerseys," said Pirronello.

Owens ships out with Navy

staff writer

Wednesday was D-Day for college football coaches and recruits with several players from Observerland signing national letters-of-intent. Redford Catholic Central High, 7-2 last season, will send three players to the Division I-A ranks — tackle Ryan Bell to Vanderbilt, safety Mike Mathis to the University of Cincinnati; and tailback Dave Owens to the U.S. Naval Academy.

Owens committed Saturday to the Midshipmen and newly hired coach George Chaump, who succeeds Elliott Uzelac after coming over from Marshall University (W.Va.).

Owens, who gained 1,058 yards rushing his senior season, narrowed his choice down to two service academies — Navy and Army.
"I visited Navy (in Annapolis, Md.)

on Dec. 6 and like any 18-year-old I was very impressed," said Owens, who would like to study sports medicine. "It was a hard decision, but I talked to a lot of the players and the rewards of making it out of there are great. That's one of the things that gave me a different perspective as far as a service academy goes.

"It's tough to go through, but once you get through it (the nine-year commitment), it's worth it. It makes you that much more marketable."

ANOTHER NOTABLE signing yesterday came from All-Observer linebacker Trent Naumcheff of Livonia Churchill.

Naumcheff, who took his only visit Jan. 28 to Mount Pleasant, immediately committed. He will join his older brother Brett, the team's long nes and it's the place I've alway sted to be," said the 6-feet-1, 196 yard dash. "I like the all-arou mosphere. I've found a home."

Naumcheff, who plans to study wildlife biology, hopes to "grow into" a linebacking role. He will also get first shot taking over as long snapper on punts and field goals af-ter his brother graduates.

"I did it in high school and I'll be doing it a whole lot more now," said Naumcheff, who cancelled a scheduled visit to Grand Valley State.

Both Naumcheff and Owens will participate in spring sports.

Naumcheff will play baseball and Owens will run track.

OTHER COMMITMENTS came last week from a pair of standouts from Westland John Glenn, which reached the state Class A quarterfinals en route to a 10-2 record. All-Area linebacker Mark Johnston, also an first-team All-State pick by the Detroit News, signed yesterday with Hillsdale College. Record-setting Glenn quarterback finish at 152. His only loss was a 5-1 decision to Brighton's Jason Seitz in the championship match.

Eric Stover, meanwhile has signed a tender with Grand Valley State. He will also play baseball.

'Todd's real tough on his feet and has been taking everybody down." Western coach Dick Watson said. 'He was seeded fifth or sixth and did a real nice job."

Ilacqua, nursing a sprained ankle, won his first two matches at 135, then defaulted his final two matches to avoid further injury. His record stands at 31-8.

CASEY KRAUSE and Eric Shellenbarger will represent Churchill at the regional. Krause finished third at 130, and Shellenbarger placed fourth at 145. Franklin's Jay Wheeler (160) and Dave Roccaforte

"IN GENERAL, that's the way we win, with a team effort. We beat them not with the top of our lineup but the middle."

Canton's beam score (34.30), as well as its bars total (33.40), was a bit low, according to Cunningham, but the Chiefs had their biggest margin - a full two points - over Salem on beam.

Four of the state's top 10 teams are WLAA members, and Canton has defeated the other three - defending champ North Farmington, Salem and Northville. Using that as the yardstick, the Chiefs should be favored to win the league meet.

"It's a dogfight," Cunningham said. "I think the top three (Canton, North and Salem) are evenly matched. The question is who will

E. Kentwood keeps S'craft title

East Kentwood volleyball coach Bud Cole forgot to bring back the Schoolcraft College Invitational Championship trophy

Cole, who came into town Friday with his No. 1-ranked (Class A) Falcons, did get the trophy in on time, however, for Saturday's tournament, but he could have left it at home as his team ran roughshod over the 28team field for the second straight year, repeating as champs in the grueling 14-hour tourney.

"Honestly, I really did forget it," said Cole, whose team won the title with a 15-8, 15-11 triumph over defending state champion Livonia Ladywood. "I made sure somebody brought it up on Saturday. I wish I could say I did it purposely, but there is no guarantee because there are too many good teams here."

The Falcons (57-1-1), who boast six returning starters from last season, including four who have committed to Division I colleges, put on an awesome display of power.

You have to catch them on an off day and we'll have to play great to beat them," said Ladywood coach Tom Teeters. "Cole is a good coach and they have a good nucleus. They're good in the middle and they have a good outside attack, too."

LADYWOOD MADE the Falcons sweat, but the Blazers couldn't content with Lori Willemsen, Amy Westhouse, Kerri Kuiper, Jan Belanger, April Oswalt, Teri Wilholt, and company.

"Willemsen and Oswalt always make nice blocks and great hits," Cole said. "And Wilholt is all over the court. She takes 85 percent of serve receives. Four of these seniors have been with me since they were sophomores and Belanger (the setter) has been with me since she was a freshman.'

Rebecca Willey, the 6-foot junior, paced Ladywood with 49 kills in 80 attacks on the day. The Blazers also got solid play from senior Kari Domanski, the team's setter.

"Ladywood has some nice outside hitters and they're strong defensive-

Garden City, second behind East Kentwood in Pool A, opened elimination play with a 16-14, 11-15, 15-10 triumph over Grand Blanc before losing to Ladywood in the quarterfinals, 15-2, 15-4.

"We lost our best hitter, Diane Allison (sprained ankle), in the very first match of pool play, but we rose to the occasion and overcame adversity," said GC coach John Groves. "We had a good day. I'm happy to get out of our pool and I'm extremely pleased. We didn't come in expecting to beat East Kentwood or any of the state-ranked teams. We just wanted to make a good showing"

Junior Krystal Matesic led GC on the day with 24 kills, 16 ace serves, nine solo blocks and four digs. Teammate Lona Palise added 17 aces. See results.

Rivals meet again

Farmington Hills Mercy and Livonia Ladywood steam respective opponents Monday in the Catholic League volleyhall semifinals, setting up a rematch for the championship tonight at Wayne State

The Marlins, 45-3 overall, beat Royal Oak Shrine, 15-4 and 15-3, and Birmingham Marian, 15-5 and 15-1, at Mercy to advance. Ladywood also won in straight games, beating Madison Heights Bishop Foley, 15-7 and 15-8, and Riverview Gabriel Richard, 15-3 and 15-13, at Bishop Foley. In its four-game totals, Mercy was paced by Jennifer Goff with 13 kills, Andrea Velthoven with 10 kills and Maureen Paulin with eight kills and eight aces. Lee Albrecht had five kills and added six blocks for Kari Domanski led Ladywood, contributing 28 assist kills, 12 spike kills, four aces and four blocked shots. Rebecca Willey had 12 kills, and Marsie Spender added seven kills. Ladywood, the two-time defending state champs, will try again to beat the Marlins, whom the Blazers have lost to in each of their three meet-"IT'S GOING to be another dogfight," Mercy coach Tim DeBeliso predicted of the title game. "If we do the things we've been doing all year. we should be all right. We're very excited about meeting them again, and

I'm sure they're anxious, too. Ladywood coach Tom Teeters said bench strength is what has helped Mercy dominate the regular-season series.

They have much more depth than we do," he said, "but we're a team that plays well at tournament time. We're hoping for a big upset - and it would be a big one.

Both Ladywood and Mercy had three players named to the All-Catholic League team, which was announced Tuesday night. For Mercy, Goff. Nikki Burns and Velthoven were named. Ladywood representatives included Domanski, Willey and Keli Haeger.

SC star picks school

It's a decision that doesn't seem to make sense, at least not to anybody but the only one who matters - the person making it.

JoAnne Kolnitys, the Wayne Memorial graduate who has anchored Schoolcraft College's volleyball team from her middle blocker position the past two years, has decided to take her talents to a struggling NCAA Division I team: Indiana State.

Kolnitys, who stands 5-foot-9, had other options. "I was really looking toward Central (Michigan)," she said. "Everything between the two schools was comparable - the housing, the girls on the team, the campuses, my education - but I just liked the Indiana State coach better." riiat says alot for Rhonda Woodward, because it couldn't have been the team's outlook that attracted Kolnitys. After all, Kolnitys is acclimated to success, both at Wayne and at SC, where the Lady Ocelots captured a National Junior College Athletic Association championship during Kolnitys' freshman season.

SUCH-TRIUMPHS probably won't be forthcoming at Indiana State, at least not in the near future. Woodward took over a program in disarray last year. There were 15 players on the squad when the season started; by the end of Woodward's first season at the helm, only seven remained. Oddly enough, Kolnitys found something significant in that. Those who left were "weeded out, by choice," she noted. "Those that stayed really wanted to stay. They were dedicated. "The athletes that are still there are dedicated. I like that."

Kolnitys also liked being one of Woodward's top recruits. She's almost assured of a starting position. And her coach at SC, Tom Teeters, figures she'll step in and do well.

Zebras storm past John Glenn cagers

staff writer

How sweet it is.

Wayne Memorial coach Chuck Henry nibbled on a cupcake following Tuesday's game with Westland John Glenn, not only savoring the frosty treat, but the Zebras' 70-57 basketball victory over the visiting Rockets before a packed house at

"This is a big win for us," Henry said. "Other than Detroit Redford, John Glenn is the best perimeter team we have played all season."

Wayne improves its record to 15-1. Ironically, their only loss was to Detroit Redford earlier in the sea-

The Zebras, on two threepointers and a layup from senior guard Larry Johnson, quickly spurted to an 8-0 lead just minutes into the game. But the Rockets quickly closed the margin to 17-15 following the first quarter.

"Wayne's defense hurt us in those opening minutes," John Glenn coach Bob Killingbeck said. 'We had a lapse, but thankfully managed to come back."

The Rockets (8-7) took a 30-29 lead at halftime and a 40-36 advantage early in the third quarter, but that is where they began to fall apart.

Wayne scored 16 unanswered points to jump out to a commanding 52-40 lead early in the fourth quarter.

"I think the key to that whole stretch was stopping Bobby Law-rence," Henry said. "We let him score from all over the floor early in the game, but we did a nice job defending him in the second half, particularly in that run."

Lawrence, a senior guard, poured in a game-high 25 points. Henry credits Johnson and Pierre Hixon for defending Lawrence in the second half.

"Pierre Hixon and Larry Johnson did a superb job of defending Bobby Lawrence," the coach said. "He hit a three-pointer early in the second half and a couple of baskets towards the end, but basically we stopped him during those crucial times in the second half." Johnson led the Zebras offensively, scoring 24 points. Hixon and senior forward Kevin Hankerson tallied 17 apiece. Hankerson also grabbed 10 rebounds.

Junior Vic Fournier had 16 points in a losing cause.

THURSTON 55, ROEPER 39: Redford Thurston broke open a close contest Tuesday against visiting Bloomfield Hills Roeper with a 21-6 fourthquarter surge.

The fourth quarter, according to Thurston coach Mike Schuette, "was a combination of us putting the ball in the basket and they began turning the ball over. We pressed a little bit and basically played real well."

The non-league win lifted the Eagles to 12-3 overall; Roeper is 11-4. Jamie Zalewski's 15 points paced Thurston. Jamal Merida and Colin Shanahan added 10 apiece. Roeper's top scorer was David Best with 21.

Employers are needed for job fair

Employers are sought for the 1990 Spring Michigan Collegiate Job Fair. Friday, March 30, at Oakland Community College, Farmington Hills.

The fair represents a rare opportunity for employers to pre-screen the resumes of student candidates in advance, and then follow up with hundreds of interviews in one place." said Jon Crusoe, Wayne State University director of placement ser-

WSU and Eastern Michigan University are co-sponsors of the event. More than 140 employers and

2,000 students participated in last year's job fair. The one-day fair includes a continental breakfast and lunch. Cost is

$200 per company. Packets of resumes from participating students are available in advance for a modest fee. The service allows employers to pre-screen applicants for interviews. Resumes are categorized in seven areas: management and business; sales and marketing; accounting and finance; data processing; science and engineering; communications and liberal arts; and engineering and manufacturing technology. Additional information, including a detailed brochure on the fair, is available by calling Kay Kozora at WSU, 577-3390 or Ken Meyer at EMU, 487-0400.

Geake holds track party

Citizens for Geake will hold their 15th annual race track party March 29 at Northville Downs Raceway.

The event is a fund-raiser for state Sen. R. Robert Geake, R-Northville. Geake's district includes Livonia, Redford, Canton, Plymouth and Plymouth Township.

Tickets are $75 per person and include clubhouse admission, a complimentary racing program and buffet

Checks should be mailed to Citizens for Geake, P.O. Box 5298, Northville, 48167. Only personal checks will be accepted.

Fund-raiser benefits parade

A fund-raiser on behalf of the 10th annual metro area St. Patrick's Day Parade is scheduled 2-9 p.m., Sunday, Feb. 25 at Monaghan Knights of Columbus Hall, Farmington Road, Livonia.

The event will feature many of the Detroit area's best-known Irish singers and bands, including Murphy's Men, balladeer Jim Buckingham, Cahill & Murphys and the Birmingham Celtic Pipe and Drum Band.

Traditional musicians Eddie
McGlinchey, Mick Gavin, Seamus Egan and Jessie Ann Beaton and a Strathmoor, a newly-formed Irish band will also appear.

Wayne County Commissioner Kev-in Kelley, D-Redford, will be master of ceremonies.

The event is free, though donations will be sought at the door.

Museum-type store boosts library

By Victoria Diaz special writer

N A way, the gift shop, operated by the Friends of the Livonia Public Library in Livonia's Civic Center library, is a rare first edition in Michigan.

And in many ways, it's off to being a best seller, if early sales figures are any indication of suc-

"There isn't a library in the state that has something like this," said Jan Bennett, the shop's assistant manager and Friends past presi-

According to shop manager and current Friends president, Trudy Pinto, many libraries across the state (including Detroit's main branch) are looking into setting up similar gift shops of their own in the future and are keeping a close eye on the little shop located off the atrium in Livonia's new library to see how things go.

"Friends of the Livonia Public Library hosted Michigan Friends of the Library last fall at a meeting here," said Bennett. "They'd heard about the success of our new library and what we trying to do in the gift shop. We hadn't opened (the shop) yet, and they wanted to know ut our plans. Now, they're all waiting to hear how we're

SINCE THE SHOP'S opening on Nov. 12, business has been bustling.

"I was absolutely floored at how well we've done done from the very beginning," said Bennett. "We really can't believe how busy we've

The past holiday season was proof enough that the shop, manned by volunteers, was a hit with library-goers. That success was underscored recently at the used book sale the Friends had.

Store sales amounted to $1,000 over the three-day period, Pinto reported. (On a separate note, however,the book sale itself brought in close to $9,000 over the three days). Much of the credit for the shop's success could be attributed to what is offered for sale. Shoppers at the small, brightly lit shop tucked away just off the atrium will find its shelves and countertops brimming over with "Gifts from Around the World and Around the Corner." Items from faraway places include lace-like camel-bone bracelets from India, soapstone carvings from the Soviet Union, colorful jackets from Tibet, hand-blown glass pitchers from Mexico, African tribal scarves, and Guatemalan "worry dolls" (Gua-temalan custom has it that, if you tell your worries to the thimblesize dolls and place them beneath your pillow at night, your worries will be gone in the morning.)

Originating closer to home: a line of unusual jewelry called "A la Carte," designed by Bentley High School alum Claire Edwards, plus pieces by several other Michigan jewelry designers, greeting cards and bookmarks, some of which have been created by local artist Gayle Gerig (see related story), and woodcarvings by Livonia craftsmen Fred Tuck and Don Lenz.

FOR COOKBOOK collectors. there's the 1990 Livonia Jaycees Celebrity Cookbook, featuring recipes from such VIPS as Barbara Bush, actress Cloris Leachman, and former mayor Edward McNamara, and the Heritage Cookbook, a publication sponsored by the Livonia Historical Society and benefitting restoration at Greenmead

Shoppers can also take home sweet treats like Michigan cherry butter, fresh from Rocky Top Farms near Traverse City, or munch away on "healthy-type" cookies commercially baked in the community.

Toys, games, puppets, dolls, stuffed animals, storybooks, candy, and school supplies make the shop especially attractive for younger shoppers.

Pinto and Bennett buy much of the merchandise, most of which is priced well under $30. At $220, one of Fred Tuck's intricately-detailed butternut carvings is the highestpriced item in the shop.

We wanted to set up a museumtype shop with some high quality pieces, as well as a lot if impulse things," said Pinto.

According to Bennett, the idea for the shop began at least a decade ago when she and the late Rosina Raymond, then a member of the Library Commission, attended a League of Cities Convention in Atlanta. While there, the two visited Atlanta's new public library and also dropped in at the new library

"I THOUGHT AT the time that it would be marvelous if, when Livonia had its own main library, we could have our own gift shop," recalled Bennett. "That was the thing that just put it in our mind. Then later, when (construction of) the library became a reality, Rosina and the Friends and many others just kept saying 'This has to be.' The city fathers went along with us and, eventually, the shop became a

About 20 Friends, including buyer Nancy Sannar, and bookkeeper Mary Pulick, donate their time in order to keep things running smoothly, Pinto said.

None of the volunteers involved in establishing the store had any professional experience in setting up and running a gift shop, said Bennett. The exception was Pulick who had helped in the establishment and operation of a gift shop in an area hospital in connection with her job as volunteer coordina-

Success has brought still another change to the shop. Originally open only three days during the week, Pinto said the store will now be open every day from noon to 4 p.m. and, of course, it's open on Sunday from 1-5 p.m.

All proceeds from the shop ultimately benefit the Livonia Public Library.

either the "hi" or the goodbye.

The hugs are a trademark for a growing greeting card business Gerig launched several years called what else - Hugworks because, as Gerig explains, "a hug works."

The Hugworks cards and bookmarks are on sale at the Friends of the Livonia Library gift shop.

They've also been available at gift and card shops in the area. In the Plymouth area, a Hugworks card accompanies a cuddly "stuffie" created by Gretchen Tulek that included rabbits and angels.

Gerig writes the material herself but one of her former co-op students, Kit Gentry, does the artwork. They became acquainted at REMTECH. acronyn for Regional Educational Media and Technology Center for the Wayne County Intermediate School District. Gerig has been director there for 10 years.

Important to learn new techniques

I worry about terms that I heard in school but forgot what they meant.

Like the term "dangling modifer." Did I ever dangle a modifier? Are my participles past or present, or is there such a thing as a future participle?

It amazes me to see the writers at the newspaper. They type a line or two, answer the phone, write another line or two, answer the phone, etc.

I write about 1 a.m. because there is little chance for any distractions. Because I am inexperienced at writing, it requires much of me to make a statement in print. On the other hand, I am more experienced in art and it requires less of me to express myself visually. While I am laying some out some commercial job, a customer can be telling me, stroke by stroke, how she painted a sunset once in Florida, in the winter of 1952. Honestly, distractions like that never bother me because I am experienced in these areas of art and it requires little of my

MY POINT IS, not to become discouraged by the time and effort required to produce a convincing drawing or painting. Often students will say apologetically, "I can't believe I have Often a student will have taken art lessons for several years and done most of the varied techniques in our lesson book. I have to smile at their reply when I ask them to repeat some of the lessons: "Oh, gee, Mr. Messing, I did pen and ink two years ago.

IT IS important to try new techniques and media. But they are like my writing - an uncharted course.

With new media, you must rely heavily on the experience and ability of your art teacher. In media that you yourself have

Here is a good way to look at art lessons. Your teacher will introduce you to, let's say, pen and ink. He or she will also help to get to know the basics about it.

But by the time you use pen and ink again, your teacher would like you to be, at best, old friends or, at least, a casual acquaintance with the art form.

Affordability key to sales

THERE'S A cash-flow advantage to saider as well. Mobile homeowners in't pay property taxes except for a jonthly $3 school assessment. But mobile home parks charge month-rent for lots. Westland Meadows bills

155 for a single lot, Old Dutch Farms 2281-$301, Commerce Meadows $285-

A well-defined marketplace keeps rents from rising to the stratosphere.

The biggest thing keeping us from raising rents out of sight is the surrounding area," said Richard Duhl, operations manager for Westland Meadows. "The market will only bear a certain dollar amount. Beyond that, we won't draw

"I think competition out there keeps it in line," said Tom Lackey, sales manager for American Living Mobile Homes in Drayton Plains

Lots apparently are in demand. Westland Meadows, with 650 occupied lots, intends to add another 175 this spring. Plymouth Hills, with 489 existing sites, plans to add 190 by fall. Chateau Anchor Bay, with 1,200 of 1,300 lots now occupied, plans to build another 200.

"THERE'S CERTAINLY a market," said Jeff Kellogg, president of the Chateau Land Development Co.

"The persons buying are retired or fairly young, 26-27, recently married, maybe with a small child, fairly new in

"Typically, they come out of their parents' home or an apartment," Kellogg added. "It's a starter home for them." Retirees are attracted by the benefits of ownership without a large lot to care for or property taxes to pay

Newer models of mobile homes hold their values when it comes time to sell, operators said. "Appreciation deper on how well they're maintained and where they're located," Kellogg said.

"I think the industry has grown up considerably in the last 15 years with HUD codes applied to all homes in '76,' O'Branovic said. "Now, the product is so much better. Ones now being constructed are being built to lifestyle rather than last-resort housing." Duhl agreed.

Going up

The Birmingham firm of Luckenbach/ Ziegelman and Partners has designed the W.K. Kellogg Foundation headquarters in downtown Battle Creek. The site consists of a 150,000-square foot building to accommodate a staff of 300-325 and a 270-car parking deck to be built at a cost of $64 million. Completion is is expected in late 1991. Johnson Johnson & Roy of Ann Arbor will serve as landscape architects and Waldbridge Aldinger of Detroit as construction manager.

have a lot of money but still wanted to own and build equity.

Now, they're looking to move out. Rents have skyrocketed to the point where the monthly payment for the mebile home and lot exceeds $500.

Rent now is $275, Copple said. It was $185 when they moved in.

The rent isn't the only thing in the park that has the Copples looking elsewhere. "You have so many rules and regulations. Constantly, people are complaining about this or that," she said.

Tim Crissman expects to leave Westland Meadows this month after a brief

"THERE'S TOO many rules," he said. "It's too cluttered, too close together, not enough land."

'Universal' kitchen built for all ages

A "universal" kitchen that "ages in place" by allowing all family members to use it was the goal of Whirlpool Corp. and Home magazine when it designed a kitchen for the National Association of Home Builders' show in held in Atlanta recently.

"It's a kitchen that the typical adult will find convenient, easy to use and easy to maintain, said Carole Eichen, the kitchen's co-designer. "But with the planned design and special features built into the kitchen it's also one in which school-age children can learn to cook with ease. And older people or those who develop a disability will find the adaptable elements allow them to continue to use it with minor to no changes."

The concept of a universal design for housing and consumer products is a configuration that is usable by all people. It features components assembled in a way to provide access and use for a broad range of people. They can be incorporated into any size or style of house, kitchen, bathroom or consumer product.

THIS KITCHEN started with a basic barrier-free plan. Components or appliances, cabinets, flooring, counter surfaces and lighting were added one by one.

The final design is an 18-by-24 kitchen that includes a desk, computer and telephone center, an eating area; work centers for storage and preparation, cleanup and waste dispotal and laundry; a gardening cen-

In the baking center, a built-in microwave oven and self-cleaning radiant oven combination are installed at a lower-than-standard height to allow reach and use by a wide range

A second microwave oven is positioned below a counter adjacent to the eating area and across from the cooking center. The low installation is useful for children and for those who work seated. The cooktop has front controls and staggered placement of cast iron solid elements.

The cooking center includes a moveable cabinet unit and pullout work surfaces at varying heights.

The food storage area consists of a side-by-side refrigerator and a deep pantry with pull-out baskets.

THE TABLE SITS at the center of the kitchen's activity. With its Corian surface, tasks such as sit-down work like chopping and mixing, folding clothes or doing homework can be accommodated. The table and peninsula counter provide work space near the bar cabinet.

The curved cabinets and rounded corners add to overall kitchen safety for youngsters or anyone with reduced vision or mobility.

Overall the kitchen has a high level of illumination, controlled by dimmers for dining or watching television. Task lighting is hidden in the ceiling, soffits and under cabinets. Specialty lights are installed in some cabinets and above toe-kick areas.

Good lighting, appliances with front controls and color contrasts between cabinets and appliances are the most prominent elements of a "universal" kitchen.

A second microwave is installed under the counter (left). The kitchen doubles as a laundry.

With this in mind, we asked decorating authority Mary Gilliatt for some hints on how to economize and still create an attractive home.

"It's very important that the framework of a room be right, 'says Gilliatt, whose books include "Decorating on the Cheap." By framework, she means walls, floor, ceiling and

Walls, she says, are among a room's most noticeable points, so start with good paint. Cheap paint will flake off and you'll have to redo the job, so you won't save in the long ta (or another dark color) will look more elegant, especially if you have white woodwork."

One of the more expensive paint obs these days involves applying a faux finish, such as glazing, trompe l'oeil or ragging. Gilliatt says to get the look without the expense, hang one of the newer faux finish wallcoverings and then apply a coat of semigloss polyurethane with roller or brush. This will make it look more like an expensive painted finish and will be easier to clean.

ANOTHER IDEA for walls is to use borders to finish off the room. Choose a narrow border for just above the baseboard. Use borders to imitate a dado or chair rail - which adds architectural character. A real dado or chair rail can be added with ready-made molding. Paint walls above the line and apply wallcover-

Saving money by cutting corners on quality is false economy, according to Gilliatt, especially where com-fort is concerned. She counts mattresses and chairs and carpeting used in high traffic areas among furnishings that will repay you for choosing good quality.

"Put the good carpet where it will get the hardest use — in hallways and foyers," she says, but in a bedroom, where there's much less wear, choose a lesser quality if necessary. Also, shop the sales.

You can also save by choosing a less expensive floor covering such as floors bare or by painting them.

When shopping for dining room furniture, you can save money on a table, which is usually covered with a cloth anyway, but reward yourself and your guests with comfortable chairs, says Gilliatt.

With window treatments, remember that draperies should be lined to look good — an expensive proposition no matter the type of fabric. So if you want to save money, use a less expensive treatment such as matchstick blinds or miniblinds. To lend these basic window coverings some distinction, spray paint a design on usual color to coordinate with your
