Trash program sparks foul, fine reactions

By Kevin Brown staff writer

The trash bag-tag program touted by Plymouth city officials is sparking reaction - both negative and positive - from residents.

"We've had a half-dozen calls each way," said Paul Sincock, assistant city manager.

"A lot of them have questions related to the why and how. They ask, 'Is this going to affect me this Commissioners have opted for the bag-tag program over another alternative - adding a garbage-related user fee to utility bills.

Officials suggested that the user fee added to the utility bill approach would probably spark less negative reaction from residents. But city officials are opting for the $1-per-bag recycling.

"We've got to get the word out on the program," Sincock said. The city administration plans to do that through speaking with civic groups, and by distributing fliers to residents.

Among the negative calls about the bag-tag program, one resident "said he has no intention to recycle. He's going to throw out whatever he wants to: Well, OK," Sincock said.

Some callers, he said, are glad to hear that the millage levied for garbage collection, 2.5 mills, is being reduced to 1.5 mills in July.

Sincock said that compared to the user-fee tacked on utility bills, the bag-tag program bills residents "more justly for that service, you pay for what you throw away."

Paul Sincock has been promoted from assistant to the city manager to assistant city manager.

"Under the new arrangement, Police Chief Richard Myers and Fire Chief Alan Matthews will report to the assistant city manager," City Manager Gordon Jaeger said Friday.

Saturn dealership has new location

By Kevin Brown staff writer

A plan to level houses on Ann Arbor Road to make way for a Saturn car dealership has been scrapped by auto dealer Don Massey.

On Wednesday, the Plymouth Township planning commission agreed to set a July 18 public hear-ing for Massey to seek approval for placing a Saturn dealership behind his dealerships at Ann Arbor Road and I-275.

"We had suggested originally that he place it by his original dealer-ship," said Dick Gornick, planning commission chairman.

And with time running out before the GM Saturn is to be introduced nationally, Massey has agreed to give up the effort to place the dealership on Ann Arbor Road west of Bill Knapp's restaurant.

In May, township trustees rejected the plan to level homes to make way for the Saturn dealership. To further challenge that decision "would take a long time," said Karen Tibus, Massey general manager and Saturn dealer operator.

"We need to be in business by Nov. 19," she said, "and we want to be Massey owns all the houses between Bill Knapp's and the Elks, on the north side of Ann Arbor Road. Tibus said future plans for the property are "unknown."

Last week, reports circulated in national newspapers that Saturn was having problems with its car doors, as they would expand in warm weather and not close properly.

'I'm glad they're finding these problems out before they're going for sale," Tibus said. "That's Saturn's commitment to producing a worry-free car."

With the hearing set for July 18, Tibus said they'll start building "hopefully on the 19th," pending planning commission approval of the Neighbors of the Ann Arbor Road property owned by Massey west of Bill Knapp's told township trustees development would increase traffic, endanger their children, and encourage more commercial development near the site.

'We turned down an application for rezoning because the township master (zoning) plan doesn't call for commercial development in that area," said Township Supervisor Maurice Breen last month

Quartet has Star Spangled time at stadium

Four Plymouth men sang the national anthem Wednesday before the Detroit Tigers game with the Oakland Athletics, and they're invited to return in September.

Get nervous before singing the national anthem at Tiger Stadium? Not Plymouth's Brian Elliott.

Wednesday's home game with the Oakland Athletics marked the fourth time Elliott has sung the Star-Span-gled Banner before a Tiger Stadium

Joining him this time were three other Plymouth residents, Alex Cave, Norm Nettles and Dave Schmitt. "I'm the only member that's kept doing the anthem," he said, since the first time in 1988.

A Tigers spokeswoman said after Wednesday's game that the group "did a good job."

"It went real good, we were invit ed back," Elliott said.

As the group left the field to applause, a wire service photographer told them, "Boy, that's the way the anthem should be sung," Elliott said.

What's the hardest part about the group singing the anthem in four-"You just make sure you breathe at the same time," he said. "You

Two of the youth got into an argument in the back seat and were asked to leave the car by the driver, said Westland police detective Sgt. Russell Nowaczck. After they left the car, one youth made a phone call from a nearby house while the other broke into the garage and stole two baseball bats, Nowaczek said.

Outside again, the two apparently got into a loud argument with other neighborhood teens, Nowaczck said.

Since September when the design team was formed, Finnegan, 21, said, "I've put in 30 to 40 hours a week on it, and that's in addition to being a full-time student."

Her major is industrial and operations engineering, which in part ex-plains her interest in the project. Also, the GM-built sunracer was displayed on North Campus last fall, and she said that like other engineering students, she was fascinated by

Once recruited, Finnegan's job was to design the interior of the oneperson car, in a way to make riding and operating it comfortable for the driver. Her ideas had to be balanced with other team members' design ideas on the rest of the car.

BECAUSE OF the car's tadpolelike aerodynamic shape, the interior had to be designed in a way that requires the driver to sit with his back tilted lower than the typical car

"I have driven it for two hours at a time, it's fairly comfortable," she

In recent weeks, she's joined other design team members for long days at the Michigan International Speedway, where the car is being tested, often 7:30 a.m. until sundown.

"The satisfaction and sense of accomplishment felt in producing parts of the car — seeing designs become reality — was a strong motivation to continue for all team members," she said.

In building the solar car, "We had to hand-clean the 14,057 razor bladesized solar cells, solder then together in strip, and mount them to the car," Finnegan said.

The cost to develop the car, around $750,000, was raised from corporate sponsors.

The finished car, which travels at a top speed of 50 mph, was first driven under its own power June 7. "A tremendous amount of pride and elation was evident among the mem-bers present that day," Finnegan

The race opens at the Epcot Center in Florida, and finishes at the GM technical center in Warren. A van will travel the route just before the U of M solar car, and its crew will transmit by radio information on road grades and other reports helpful to the solar car driver.

Finnegan said the team hopes the U-M car will be one of three chosen to participate in World Solar Challenge in Australia this fall.

The University of Michigan junior, from Plymouth Township, is one of nine design team leaders of a stu-dent-designed and built solar car, scheduled to race July 9-19 in the General Motors Sunrace U.S.A.

Since September when the design team was formed, Finnegan, 21, said, "I've put in 30 to 40 hours a week on it, and that's in addition to being a full-time student."

Her major is industrial and operations engineering, which in part ex-plains her interest in the project. Also, the GM-built sunracer was displayed on North Campus last fall, and she said that like other engineering students, she was fascinated by

Once recruited, Finnegan's job was to design the interior of the oneperson car, in a way to make riding and operating it comfortable for the driver. Her ideas had to be balanced with other team members' design ideas on the rest of the car.

BECAUSE OF the car's tadpolelike aerodynamic shape, the interior had to be designed in a way that requires the driver to sit with his back tilted lower than the typical car

"I have driven it for two hours at a time, it's fairly comfortable," she

In recent weeks, she's joined other design team members for long days at the Michigan International Speedway, where the car is being tested, way, where the car is being tested, often 7:30 a.m. until sundown.

'The satisfaction and sense of accomplishment felt in producing parts of the car — seeing designs become reality — was a strong motivation to continue for all team members," she said.

In building the solar car, "We had to hand-clean the 14,057 razor blade-sized solar cells, solder then together in strip, and mount them to the car," Finnegan said.

The cost to develop the car, around $750,000, was raised from

corporate sponsors.

The finished car, which travels at a top speed of 50 mph, was first driv-en under its own power June 7. "A tremendous amount of pride and elation was evident among the mem-bers present that day," Finnegan

The race opens at the Epcot Center in Florida, and finishes at the GM technical center in Warren. A van will travel the route just before the U of M solar car, and its crew will transmit by radio information on road grades and other reports helpful to the solar car driver.

Finnegan said the team hopes the U-M car will be one of three chosen to participate in World Solar Challenge in Australia this fall.

Upon graduating, "I definitely want to go to grad school," Finnegan said, and study either law or engi-

Man pleads not guilty in murder

The man charged with killing a Westland resident at a Canton Township apartment complex June 3 pleaded not guilty at an arraignment in Wayne County Recorder's Court Friday.

The defendant, William R. Corbin, 27, is charged with first degree murder in the shooting death of Terry Serman. At the time of the shooting, Serman was at the home of a woman he was dating.

The woman, Kimberly Ann Boland, had previously lived with Corbin and the couple had a child to-

Area muffin makers cook up success

Joyce Sherman and Susan Borin, co-owners of the western Wayne County Motor City Muffin Co., have watched their company grow ometrically since they started three years ago after experimenting with recipes in Sherman's kitchen.

Now they've added to their accomplishments by receiving a 1990 Michigan New Products Award for their eggless oat bran cherry muffin. Borin, a former TWA flight attendent, and Sherman, a former French teacher, are sisters-in-law. They say they began their muffin making business with about $1,000 capital and a hunch that metropolitan Detroit was ready for all-natural muf-

Bills shorten eviction waiting time after illegal drugs found

Landlords could start eviction proceedings seven days after finding their tenants in possession of illegal drugs under legislation unanimously passed recently by the Michigan

Sponsored by state Rep. Lyn R. Bankes, R-Livonia, House Bills 5318 and 5612 would shorten the current 30-day period landlords are required to wait before seeking eviction proceedings through courts.

"Under current law, landlords are allowed to seek court intervention seven days after tenants fail to pay their rent," said Bankes. "Possession of illegal drugs certainly should warrant the same treatment.

"Federal, state and local governments should avoid subsidizing crack dens. The last thing we want to do is condone the sale and use of drugs." Bankes drafted the legislation, which she said is strongly supported by the governor, after Michigan public housing directors expressed concerns about drugs in public housing.

"My bills are intended to help promote safe and hospitable environments for all tenants. They also provide one more weapon in the ongoing war against drugs." Nebraska has passed similar legislation into law.

'No knock' missed point

I just read your editorial in the May 24 issue. I think your editorial writer missed the point when he or she wrote about the proposed "No Knock" legislation allowing police to execute search warrants without the courtesy of knocking on the front door of a suspected dope house.

You seem to be suggesting that the purpose of this statute is to fight the "drug war" and confiscate drugs while arresting drug dealers.

I think that even a casual observation of this proposed bill would show that the purpose is to protect the lives of the police officers when they enter these drug houses. It is common knowledge that, where you find drugs and drug sellers, you also find firearms (often semi-automatic or automatic weapons) and you also find people who do not want to be arrested and are more than willing to use these weapons to shoot the police and escape arrest.

Perhaps your editor would like to go along as the point person on a search warrant team. He or she could stand in front of the door and times doing that has you torials might take a different opi on "No Knock" legislation.

Family has suffered enough

In response to your article in June 14 issue, I must say that I was absolutely appalled that the police union is demanding an apology from the Vachher family.

The pain and suffering that the Vachhers must be in certainly will be compounded by such a tasteless move by the POAM.

If the Canton police have such fragile feelings and emotions, perhaps they should seek another line of work, instead of causing the Vachher family any more suffering.

Who is pushing big companies to change their packaging? Shouldn't our legislators be pushing McDonald's and others who turn out excess packaging to clean up their act?

Targeting the packaging practices of corporate America would seem to be a more far-reaching way to reduce trash produced here.

But as mentioned earlier, the onus is being placed on the consumers. And sure, many of us are doing what they tell us — making compost piles, stacking newspapers, crushing cans and recycled plastic — and hauling the stuff off to a recycle center.

But what about those of us - and there's got to be plenty — who won't take the time to do all this?

You can't make everyone recycle, or expect them to. That's not being negative, it's just recognizing cold, hard reality.

If consumers would get a little more angered with big corporations that over-package their goods, if we'd scream at lawmakers to get on the backs of these corporations, then we would really be doing our part to save the earth.

INJECTING JOINTS WITH CORTISONE:

Usually A Help Possibly A Hazard

Steroid injections into inflammed joints is a proven strategy in the treatment of arthritis.

The steroid preparations used stay where injected; they do not enter the blood stream. Thus, you need not be concerned that the injections will lead to hyptertension, obesity, salt loss, and softening of bones as can occur when you take steroids by mouth. The injections are longacting, so you littely will obtain a sustained effect.

However, the procedure has its hazards.

One is that steroid crystals themselves can cause an irritation more painful than the inflammation that the injection is meant to treat. The pain comes from crystals of steroid that act like slivers in the joint. Usually this reaction clears in twenty four hours or less.

Another hazard is injection when a joint is infected. In this instance the steroid tieleats the body's own defenses and makes the infection worse!

Another problem is that the injection doesn't always work. The expectation of being free from pain and able to resume work may only led to disappointment. Because of the above hazards, your physician may be wary about using steroid injections at a time when you want to try them without delay.

Andre Dawson's most devoted fan couldn't remember his name.

"My grandmother was like a mother to me. I turned to her for motivation and inspiration. But with Alzheimer's Disease, she gradually forgot the people around her. She couldn't even recognize me. All I could do was witness a very long, slow death...and suffer watching."

Andre Dawson knows first-hand-the isolation and lonelinesss of caring for a loved one with Alzheimer's Disease. Now for the millions of family members who stand by a loved one with Alzheimer's Disease... there's someone to stand by you. The Alzheimer's Association.

At the Alzheimer's Association, we have support groups where you can get in touch with your feelings. And community services that can put you in touch with the facts. And, we are leading the way in funding medical research that hopefully, one day, will put us all in touch with the cure

Oysters a rite of passage

I'll never forget eating my first raw oyster.

The passage into culinary adulthood was right after my 20th birthday. A group of friends had driven to Miami to catch a $39 day cruise to Freeport in the Bahamas. That day I would slurp my first bluepoint, in addition to purchasing my first bottle of $1.78 gin, inuring myself to a long week in a compact car with three other guys whose only bath was in a salt-filled ocean.

Enough said about the gin and the friends. Fortunately, that radical part of my life is behind me. The bluepoints, however, were just a start to an amorous relationship with shell-crusted mollusks. In all honesty, I never chewed the delicate bi-valved creature, instead opting to swallow him/her whole, embellished with just a splash of fresh lemon juice. There was definitely more flavor from the lemon than from the oyster, but since it was my first taste, I wasn't complaining.

Oysters are proliferous little creatures. At various stages of an oyster's life, it can be either male or female. The oyster can't seem to make up its mind which is better. Seems there are a number of factors that will help determine the sex of an oyster — the num-ber of plankton in its diet, water temperature and the salinity of

BECAUSE THEY are so sexually ambidextrous, one male, when ready to mate, sets off a chain reaction in the oyster bed. Females lay eggs in their shells and when the male releases his sperm, eggs and sperm from all the oysters in their beds are released virtually simultaneously until the water turns a milky white color.

A fertilized egg then develops into larvae, which attach themselves to almost anything, only to begin a life of sedentary growth with millions of other oysters still not sure which gonads they want to keep.

Oysters have been cultivated for thousands of years. In the Eastern United States, most oysters are grown in natural beds rather than cultivated and are still harvested by traditional methods. From Long Island, home of the internationally known bluepoint oysters, following the coast past Florida to Texas and going as north as Olympia, Ore., home of the most delicate Olympian oysters I have ever tasted, coastlines are the homes of our nation's oysters. Man is presently the largest threat to oysters. Not discounting the effects of nature, the biggest threats to the oyster population are pollu-tion and overfarming.

Oysters, unfortunately, are usually associated with many myths. Are oysters aphrodistacs? No self-respecting Roman orgy would have been complete with-out a Nubian slave shucking oysters by the thousands to satiate the lusty diners. Actually, any food of the sea can ride this wagon of love

The sea and romance will be forever intertwined because Aphrodite, goddess of love, rose from the depths with the power of granting beauty and invincible tion that those who ate the most werful seafood were the most vent in love To test this theory, drink the oyster liquor in your if shell - it's all sea water Judge for yourself

O SAY THAT eating in the '60s is different from eating in the '90s is quite an understatement. In 1960, Americans consumed as much butter as margarine. Since few of us were aware of the nutritional values of the two, the assumption is that the preference for margarine was based on price.

Few of us were cooking with oil except to prepare eth-nic dishes from the Mediterranean or Middle East. Without a doubt there was always a can of Crisco vegetable shortening on the pantry shelf for deep frying.

As we plunge into the '90s, it's obvious that most Americans (a ratio of 3-to-1) have given up butter for margarine, for a variety of reasons.

Margarine and the new vegetable oil spreads are still much cheaper than butter. Often they are half the price. Today, the outstanding advantage is not price but the fact that margarine has no cholesterol.

COOKING STYLES are changing quickly. Everyone is cooking lighter and healthier in home and professional kitchens alike.

Manufacturers of oils, margarines and vegetable oil spreads are constantly introducing new products increasing our options for reducing cholesterol and saturated fat from our diet. As a result, many of us are confused, trying to decide what's best for cooking and eating.

ALTHOUGH THERE is no one answer, a few cooking tips and shopping guidelines should help you to worry less and enjoy cooking and eating more.

Both butter and margarine are fats. Butter by law must be made with no less than 80 percent milkfat.

On the other hand, classic margarine must be made with 80 percent fat but generally from vegetable oil such as soy, corn or safflower oil.

Margarines labeled light or diet usually have less fat but contain more water. Although home cooks may substitute margarine for butter in a recipe, this often works because butter and margarine have the same fat content.

RELATIVELY NEW in your grocer's dairy case are vegetable oil spreads such as I Can't Believe It's Not Butter, Imperial's A la Mode or Land o Lakes Spread with Sweet Cream. Most of these spreads have a low percentage of fat and cannot be labeled as margarine.

According to the National Association of Margarine manufacturers, vegetable oil spread does not have a standard of identity and can have anywhere from 40 percent to 80 percent fat content.

Therefore, if you read the fine print you will notice manufacturers do not recommend them for cooking or covered with Parmesan cheese.

ALONG WITH the variable fat content, vegetable oil spreads also have variable amounts of salt and milk sol-

Like margarine, vegetable oil spreads are cholesterol-free (and unlike sweet butter, which has 36 milligrams of cholesterol per tablespoon, sorry to say).

For many of us, margarine is not an acceptable alternative to cooking with butter for the sake of lowering cholesterol. Instead, substituting vegetable oil low in saturated fat works well in most stovetop recipes.

CANOLA OIL has the lowest amount of saturated fat (6 percent) and no cholesterol, according to the United States Department of Agriculture's Handbook No. 8-4.

Safflower oil has 9 percent saturated fat, corn oil 13 percent, olive oil 14 percent, soybean oil 15 percent, butterfat 55 percent and coconut oil 92 percent. As a result, canola oil's popularity is growing rapidly.

Sharon Masselink, owner of Birmingham's Muffins and More, is very particular about the ingredients she uses in her oat bran muffins and breads approved by the American Heart Association.

"I began using canola oil about six months ago," she "It's a very mild, light oil which I use in salad dressings, for sauteing, and for making our zucchini breads, or, for any recipe that has oil as an ingredient. "As a matter of fact, our muffin batters are even lighter than when we used corn and safflower oil. CANOLA OIL is a vegetable oil made from a plant called rape, which is similar to turnip greens. The oil is pressed from seeds contained in long, slender pods.

Canola oil, along with safflower and soybean oil, can be considered as an all-purpose oil for most cooking techniques. Although canola oil is lowest in saturated fat, it lacks flavor.

For salad dressings, you may want to compromise by mixing canola oil with virgin olive oil, which is not as low in saturated fat. I prefer reserving virgin and extra oils

For occasions when you want a bit of a butter taste, I recommend Hain's All Blend Oil. It is made from a blend of soy, safflower, walnut and peanut oil.

All Blend is great for stir-frying and making mayonnaise. Look for it in the health food sections in most local grocery stores or in a health food store.

BAKING AND cooking oil sprays are another way to cut back on fats from your diet. Olive Mist, which is 100 percent extra virgin olive oil, is among my favorite new discoveries. It's great to saute vegetables and omelets, and to coat baking pans when making savory muffins and quick breads.

Olive Mist is distributed by El Molino and also can be found in grocery stores and health food markets.

'87 Bordeaux wines for drinking, not collecting

Bordeaux is a city on the Atlantic coast of France. It is also the regional name for France's most renowned Wine connoisseurs are eager to collect these wines, especially from great years. Wine drinkers, rather than collectors, will be happy to know that 1987 Bordeaux wines are meant for them and the price is

There are four types of vintages, said Bruno Prats, owner of Chateau Cos d' Estournel, a Bordeaux second · Those with ripeness and concentration (1988, '86, '85 and '82) are the great vintages to cellar.

focus on wine

Eleanor and Ray Heald

IT HAS BEEN our experience that conscientious producers, those that make a severe grape selection, make good wines even under less-than-ideal conditions.

This vintage is a blessing since most Americans buy wine, age it in the car on the way home and drink it

Unfortunately, too many consumers buy wines from the great vintages, pay more and drink the wines too early.

A RECENT tasting of 1987 Bordeaux illustrated a user-friendly vin-

"The '87s are great now and will be for the next five to six years," said Madeline Triffon, somm the London Chop House in Detroit.

"I like the delicious, unrestrained style, forward fruit, youthful balance and soft tannins. Some wines are a touch herbaceous, but that will drop off with another six months' bottle age.

"These wines are made for drinking, not collecting. They are easy, balanced and delicious. What else can you ask for?

"I will buy these wines for the restaurant and put them on our list for a good price. I will serve the '87s while waiting for the '85s and '86s to mature. The restaurant trade needed this vintage. I'm very happy."

Triffon prefers the Chateau Beychevelle ($27.50), Chateau Cos d'Estournel ($32) and the Chateau Margaux ($65). For good value she selects the Chateau Meyney ($14) and Chateau Les Ormes de Pez ($14).

"GO FOR THE wines in the lower-middle-price range to drink now, not to cellar," said Richard Vincent, owner of the Traffic Jam restaurant

"This is classy stuff at a good price for the short term. These wines are mostly hits with few misses light and flavorful. I'll sell them at TJ's by the glass."

Vincent's favorites include an excellent Chateau Lynch-Bages ($26), a fabulously sensual Chateau La Mission Haut Brion ($47) and a chocolatey Chateau Plagnac ($7.75) that represents a tremendous value.

"I also liked the Chateau Latour

I'd buy either the Chateau Piche Longueville Baron ($25) or Chateau Gruaud-Larose ($26)."

STATUS-SYMBOL VINTAGES are easy to sell, said Claudia Tyagi, er at the Whitney in Detroit, but she will be recommending several of the 1987 Bordeaux to diners, she said. "The wines are pleasant, enjoy-able and very viable inclusions for our wine list. "I noted a continuing herbal theme as I tasted the wines. That component is attractive when the wine is balanced but represents a flaw when the wine is out of balance.

"I'm very enthusiastic about these wines. They are drinking nicely now and will continue to please the palate for another five years.

"Great wines do not always taste delicious when young. Someone tasting a young wine from a great vintage will certainly wonder what the critics think is so great.

Of course, the flip side of the coin is that they are staying up later — but that is OK, too. We are enjoying the more relaxed pace of sumr living and, at least so far, no one has cut loose with that old and familiar ner lament, "I'm bored and don't have anything to do!"

As summer begins to hit its stride and the long, languid days are ours to enjoy, there is one discordant note that never seems to go away. What's that, pray tell - 'tis the dinner bell

You know the scenario. You have put in a long day with the kids, it's hot, the back of your neck is sticky, it's 5 p.m. and one of the kids asks, "Hey, Mom, what's for dinner?" You, who have been busy all day playing camp director, realize with horror and disbelief that the fact of the matter is there is nothing for dinner. This situation probably never happens to you. After all, you are an organized, efficient woman of the '90s who always plans ahead. But in case it ever does, I send the following Winner Dinner to your rescue.

SUBMITTED BY Jayne Wochomurka of Farmington Hills, this week's menu features a meal that can be prepared entirely in a food processor. Wochomurka has worked as a food processor demonstrator for seven years. The mother of two boys, she has found the machine to be a time-saver on a daily basis.

Her menu for chicken salad, garnished with tomatoes and cucumbers; blueberry muffins, and strawberry ice offers a cool and refreshing summer dinner for you and your family that can be prepared from start to finish in one hour.

A native Nebraskan, Wochomurka and her family moved from Tennessee to the Detroit area two years ago. They love Farmington Hills and feel very at home and settled there. Besides loving to cook and doing a lot of car pooling, Wochomurka has done volunteer work for the Farmington Hills school system. She is a member of the newly formed Farmington Hills Community Education Advisory Council and is looking forward to teaching food processor cooking classes for the Community Education program as well.

CHICKEN SALAD GARNISHED WITH SLICED TOMATOES AND CUCUMBERS

Recipes

Chicken salad has never been easier or better. This recipe, which generously feeds four, is intended for a smaller food processor and easily can be doubled. Although using a food processor will speed up the preparation time, the recipe can be made just as easily by hand.

1 pound cooked, whole boned skinless chicken breasts, cut into 1-inch pieces (Wochomurka recommends using two packages, 7.5 ounces each, of Tyson frozen marinated chicken breast filets/ Italian style)

2 tablespoons parsley leaves 1/4 of a small onion, peeled and quartered

3 cup mayonnaise 2 celery stalks Salt

Pepper Curry powder (optional)

Chop parsley and onion fine with the metal blade, about 10 seconds. Scrape down the work bowl and add mayonnaise and chicken pieces. Pulse/chop 3-5

Leaving chicken mixture in bowl, remove metal blade and insert the medium slicing disc. Cut celery into 4-inch lengths and slice vertically through the feed tube.

Remove the slicing disc and use a spatula to incorporate celery into chicken salad. Season to taste with salt, pepper and, if desired, curry powder to taste.

Place a rounded mound of chicken salad on a bed of lettuce and garnish with sliced tomatoes and cucumbers.

BLUEBERRY MUFFINS

The crunchy cinnamon sugar topping adds a special touch to these fluffy muffins. It is a wonderful way to make use of in-season berries. Paper baking cups can be used to line the mulfin pans. Yields 12 muffins.

11/4 cup flour

1/2 teaspoon salt 1 teaspoon baking powder 1/4 teaspoon baking soda % cup milk

1 stick melted butter or margarine

2 eggs 1 teaspoon vanilla

1/2 cup sugar

11/2 cup blueberries (frozen blueberries can be substituted for fresh berries.)

2 teaspoons sugar 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon

Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Grease required number of 1/2cup muffin pans. Mix flour, sugar, salt, baking powder and baking soda with the metal blade until combined, about 5 seconds. Stir milk, butter, eggs and vanilla together in a bowl. Add to dry ingredients and pulse only 2 times. Do not overprocess as the muffins will be tough. Use a plastic spatula to gently stir in berries. Divide batter among prepared pans. Combine remaining sugar and cinnamon and sprinkle over muffins. Bake in preheated oven until golden brown, about 20 minutes. Run a knife around each muffin to loos-

You can substitute 2 cups of any fresh fruit, peeled, cored and cut into 1-inch chunks. Or, you can use frozen fruit directly from the package. If it is sweetened, cut down or omit the sugar. This recipe yields 1 pint and can be easily doubled.

How to make chocolate candy

AP — For making molded choco-late candles or dipped chocolates, use the slow, low-temperature melt-ing method. The candles can be stored at room temperature without developing streaks or smearing when touched.

MELTING CHOCOLATE

• In a 4-cup glass measure or 1½-quart glass mixing bowl combine the amount of semisweet chocolate pieces and shortening called for

• In a large glass mixing bowl pour very warm tap water (100 to 110 degrees F) to a depth of 1 inch. Place measure or mixing bowl containing chocolate inside larger bowl. Water should cover the bottom half

Stir chocolate constantly with a rubber spatula until the chocolate is completely melted and smooth. This takes about 15 to 20 minutes.

 When water begins to cool, remove measure containing chocolate.

Discard cool water, add warm water. Return measure containing chocolate to bowl of water.

• If chocolate becomes too thick while dipping candies, remove measure containing chocolate and replace water with warm water. Return measure containing chocolate to bowl of water and stir chocolate until it again reaches dipping con-

Belisle delivers for win

Jeff Belisle drove in four runs with a pair of doubles Wednesday to help Plymouth Salem defeat visiting Northville 8-4 in Mickey Mantle

Jeff Hopson contributed a two-run single, Tom Davey doubled in a run and Dan Hutchinson added an RBI single for the Rocks, 3-1.

Kurt Singleton pitched four innings for the win. Northville scored a run in the top of the fourth to tie 2-2. but Singleton was officially still on the mound when Salem rallied with four runs in the bottom of the inning. He allowed half of Northville's six hits, walked one and fanned four.

Hutchinson, who pinch hit for Singleton in the bottom of the fourth, pitched two-thirds of an inning in the fifth and gave up two runs before Chris Tomas came on to finish the game, not allowing a hit or run in the final 11/2 innings.

ON TUESDAY, the Rocks suffered their only loss when host New Boston Huron edged Salem 8-7 in eight inn-

An outfield error put the winning run on base. The runner advanced to second with a steal and third on a sacrifice, eventually scoring on an infield error.

Tomas, who entered in the seventh in relief of Mike Makowiec, was the loser. Makowiec gave up four runs on eight hits in the seventh, allowing Huron to tie 7-7.

Davey started and went four innings, giving up three, first-inning runs followed by three scoreless frames. Makowiec pitched the next 2% innings.

Salem padded a 4-3 lead with three runs in the seventh. Belisle had three hits and three RBI, and Scott Bright, Kevin Werner and Hutchinson had two hits apiece. Bright also had two RBI, Werner one. Hutchinson scored two runs.

Summer league enters 8th year

The Metro Suburban Hockey League begins its eighth year of op-eration this week. The league's longevity is a tribute to its creator, A.J. Baker.

Baker has seen to it the MSHL remains functional each year, and the 1990 season starts Wednesday with a 7 p.m. double-header at the Plymouth Cultural Center.

The five-week regular season fea-tures games on Sunday, Monday and Wednesday nights at the Plymouth facility and Thursday nights at the Wayne Ice Arena.

The regular season ends Monday, July 30. The playoffs begin the next day and conclude with the championship game on Tuesday, Aug. 7.

According to Baker, commissioner of the MSHL and its driving force since its inception, the percentage of returning players is near 70 percent.

"That's a big part of what the league is based on — guys getting to know each other and wanting to play with people they know," Baker said. Baker will have two leagues once gain, the MSHL and the four-team MSHL II. Both are for players 15 and above, but the younger ones fill out the MSHL II ranks with some ex-

The college players include Glen Revak of NCAA champion Wisconsin, Plymouth Salem grad and Western Michigan player J.P. LaRoche and Dave Burke, a Redford Union grad, former Compuware player and member of the Cornell squad.

Some of the familiar names include Alan Carnes and John Smith of Plymouth and Mike Stahley and Dan Phelps of Livonia. Pietila is a plentiful name with 10 brothers and cousins in the league, including vets Tim and Keith.

Area stars uphold tradition of excellence

"People talk about having a quick, live bat. The ball just flies off Jason's bat. From an offensive standpoint, he has been a fantastic player the last two years."

Paul Pirronello, infielder, Catholic Central: Pirronello, a member of the Class A all-state first team, hit .452 with 42 hits in 93 at bats. He had 17 extra-base hits, including 12 doubles. Pirronello, who will play for Madonna College next year, also hit two triples and three homers. He knocked in 31 runs and

"He's the top hitter we've had in my nine years at CC, average-wise," coach John Salter said. "He played very well at shortstop. Actually, his best position is outfield, but we had to use him at shortstop. He has a strong throwing arm, runs the bases well. He's a smart baseball player - knows the game."

Geoff Allen, Infielder, Canton: Alien was an all-WLAA pitcher, but his versatility afforded him a place as an infielder on the all-area team. He played shortstop when he didn't pitch and, like Schmid, was equally as good at both.

din-Simmons or Kansas City Community College, hit .420 with 28 hits in 69 plate rances and had 28 RBI. His hits included six doubles, two triples and two home runs.

As a pitcher, he was 8-2 with a 2.09 ERA. Allen threw a no-hitter and three shutouts. He struck out 74 and walked 17 in 68 innings. Opponents had 40 hits and 23 earned runs.

"You'd like to have nine guys like him," Crissey said. "Every day he comes to the ballpark, win or lose, he gives his best effort. To me that's the mark of an athlete who's going to successful if he goes on."

Jerry Shippe, infleider, John Glenn: Shippe was one of the most feared hitters on yet another quality Glenn ballclub, having eight extra-base hits and a .410 average.

"He's hit well ever since he was a sophomore," said Glenn coach Norm Hoenes. The second baseman didn't strike out once in 61 at-bats, scored 31 runs and batted in 21 runs. His extra-base hits consisted of five doubles, three triples and two homers. He also stole 12 bases.

"Jerry worked hard this winter on his defense and it paid off," said Hoenes. 'Jerry wasn't going to be a DH. He want-four homers - in 90 chances. His .473 career average is a school record. Young, a three-year varsity player, struck out only four times and walked seven. He also stole 22 bases.

"Kevin has the best baseball skills of anyone I've ever coached," Kansman said. "He's strong all the way around. He has a good glove, a good arm and hits Andy Weighill, outfielder, Clarenceville: Weighill was the most valuable player in the Metro Conference, hitting .438 with four homers and 19 RBI.

The senior captain, who hit .550 as a junior, was twice an all-league player and was named the top male athlete at Clarenceville this year. The center fielder would like to continue his career at the University of Detroit.

"Andy was our tearn," said first-year coach Mark MacDonald, who had Weighill on his South Farmington Connie Mack team last year. "He's the reason I coached the team. He's a great kid on and off the field. He has excellent speed, quick hands and great awareness."

Gary Devine, outfielder, Harrison: Devine also excelled as a pitcher and fielder, leading another late-season charge that took the Hawks to a Class B district championship game.

As the lead-off batter, he hit .410, walked 23 times and scored 36 runs. He also had 18 stolen bases, nine RBI and 11 extra-base hits. He had eight doubles, giving him a school career record of 18, and two homers.

He had a 5-6 pitching record and was one shy of a single-game record when he struck out 14 against Auburn Hills Avon-dale in the district. Harrison won nine of its last 11 games to finish 10-13.

"He was our most outstanding player, both as a pitcher and outfielder," coach John Herrington said. "He was the heart of our team, and we're looking forward to having him back next year.

"He had great power for someone his size (5-5, 150). He started as a sophomore and already is closing in on school records for steals and extra-base hits."

Keith Bozyk, at-large selection, Catholic Central: Bozyk meets the criteria of a true all-area player as well, doing the job on the mound and at the He posted a 7-2 record for the Sharnrocks and fanned 98 batters in 68 innings.

He issued 55 walks and had a 2.45 ERA. Boyzk, who will play for Adrian College next year, also became a force with the bat, hitting. 333 and, with 19 walks, having a high on-base percentage.

"He helped us as much offensively as he did with his pitching," Salter said. "He really improved over his junior year. He was under .200 last year and hit .333 this vear. He batted lead-off and had a knack for getting on base."

AN ALL-STATE hockey player, Pirronello is also unsure about his college plans, but may stay locally to play hockey over the winter in the Junior A circuit.

In the meantime, he'll play in two summer baseball leagues including the Livonia Collegiate circuit for Little Caesars. Rochester Adams' shortstop/

The injury to his left hand required surgery. Two pins were in-serted, but will be removed sometime this week, hopefully in time for him to participate in the U.S. Olympic Festival in Minneapolis where he aims to become a member of the Junior National team.

BONNICI'S future, however, is bright. He has the option of signing with the Mariners, or accepting a baseball ride to Michigan State.

"Right now I'm leaning to go to school," he said. "Wherever it is, I'll go anywhere they'll play me." Missing a chance to play at Tiger Stadium, however, couldn't dampen Bonnici's spirits. "It was tough not being out there," he said. "But it's still fun being here.'

Bubba Wyngarden, a catcher/out-fielder from St. Joseph, hit an insidethe-park homer in the second inning en route to West team MVP honors.

Steve Bender of Utica, who knocked in a pair of runs, was named East squad MVP.

The winning pitcher was right-hander Dave Wood of Berkley, who hurled two innings, giving up a run. He relieved starter Bill Hardy (Detroit Benedictine), who went the first three, allowing a pair of runs.

Culver lifts Hines Park, 6-4

Mike Culver's inside-the-park home run snapped a 4-4 tie in the seventh inning Wednesday and gave Hines Park Lincoln-Mercury a 6-4 victory over Total Travel Value. The win evened Hines Park's record at 5-5 in the Livonia Collegiate Baseball League and dropped Total Travel to 3-8.

Total Travel took a 4-2 lead in fourth inning at Ford Field with three runs off starting pitcher Brian Paupore, who left with two outs and the bases loaded.

Reliever Jeremy Krol gave up an RBI walk to Rob Young and a two-run, bloop single to Mike Julian before getting the final out. Krol finished the game and ended up the winner after Hines Park rallied for two runs in the top of the fifth and two more in the sixth. The game was stopped after six innings because of a time limit. Hines Park tied the game in the fifth on three walks and two errors. Dennis Szczechowski and Bill Bannon drove in one run each with sacrifice flies. Young had two hits for Total Travel, and teammate Jack Herberholz tripled and scored a run.

No runs were charged to Krol, who allowed two hits and two walks in 21/2 innings. Paupore gave up four runs on five hits and four walks in 3%

Brad Ryan was the losing pitcher, allowing six runs (three earned) on four hits and nine walks. He struck out five. Rick Rachner pitched the final two-thirds of a inning.

Playing 'cat and mouse' on a bicycle

By Pat Schutte staff writer

It's known as a "velodrome."

To bicycle enthusiasts, it's home for a high speed sprint style of bicycle racing. To the casual onlooker, it may seem more like an old, broken down reservoir or an odd-looking foundation of some sort.

It's definitely not something you'd expect to find on the outskirts of Detroit.

But there it is. Hidden inside a hilly park on Outer Drive that used to be used to race Soap Box Derby cars, it sits foreign to all of the other architecture in the area. as if aliens of something had constructed it centuries ago.

But instead of aliens and centuries, it was Mike Walden, Sam Ruzzin and Fred Cappy and it was a few decades ago.

Created with sweat and cement in 1969 by the Wolverine Sports Club, the Dorais Velodrome has seen a lot in its 21 years. It's survived on very limited funding. It's felt the freezing and thawing and shows it in its cracked surface. And it's put up with the idiots who think it's a proving ground for their cars.

And through all the years, it's been the velodrome's friends at the Wolverine Sports Club who have kept it going.

kept it going.

"We're in the process of trying to get Detroit to back the building of a new facility or re-vamping this one," said Walden, 72, of Royal Oak, who coaches at the track and was just elected to the National Bicycling Hall of Fame in Summerville, N.J. "It would take $50,000 to re-build this track and that's with no lights or bathrooms. It would take millions to build one like they have at Indy (Indianapolis)."

THE VELODROME'S cement oval is one-fifth of a mile around. The turns are banked at 28 degrees with the straights gradually flattening out to 12 degrees. Its banked curves and the transition between the corners and the straights that allow for such speeds to be attained.

"I'd say that sprint speeds on a good course approach 45 miles per hour," Walden said. "Here, we reach about 40 miles per hour."

The bikes that they race and work out on at the velodrome are unlike a normal 10-speed, although they look similar. The most notable characteristic is that they have no brakes.

Called track bikes, they also have a direct drive mechanism which allows the riders to finely tune their speed with their pedaling, so they don't need brakes. That also means that the bikes don't coast.

They also are considerably lighter than the average 10-speed, weighing only about 20 pounds, have a stiffer frame and smaller tires. The cost for one of these bikes runs from $300-400 up to $2,000.

Bottom line . . . They're built for speed and nothing else.

The riders are dressed for speed much the same way the bikes are. "Second-skin" Lycra shorts and shirts, foam helmets that are flared in the back for minimum wind resistance and shoes built for maximum power that clip into the pedals. And to top it of, the guys shave their legs.

Along with the difference in styles, the shapes of the riders themselves can be compared to the difference between speed and endurance athletes.

"THE TRACK riders are more like sprinters, shorter and chunkier," Walden said. "The road men are more like cross-country runners, long and lean."

Races are counter-clockwise against other riders, teams of other riders or against the clock. There are basically two types of races. Pursuit or chase races are where two riders line up on opposite sides of the track and try to catch each other. Match, or sprint, races are shorter in length and involve more "cat-and-mouse" strategy. Match races run three laps, with the last 1½ laps being the actual sprint.

"There's a lot more action than road racing," Charlie McCall, 19, of Dearborn, who's been racing at the velodrome for four years. "I like the fast pace of it."

Sitting next to McCall, getting ready to drop into the bowl-like track, was Doug Chubb, 18, also of Dearborn. There was one noticeable difference between the two. While McCall was snapping his shoes into his pedals, Chubb was wrapping gauze and bandages around his leg. . . from the ankle to the hip, he looked like he'd sideswiped a "cheese garter."

"I was racing at Indianapolis, with three laps to go, when a guy crossed in front of me and hooked my front tire," said Chubb as he kept wrapping his leg. "I slid all the way down the track on my side with my foot still in the pedal. It was my worst crash in 3½ years of racing."

BOTH CHUBB and McCall agree that velodrome racing is more intense than road racing.

"The track races are short and extremely fast," McCall said. "Yeah, and everything's magnified," Chubb added.

The two racers also mentioned that things can also get pretty physical.

"Guys use their elbows and knees to get ahead in a race," Chubb said. "And the new thing is head butts. You see people getting away with just about anything as long as they keep their hands on the bars."

The Wolverine Sports Club races at the velodrome — on Outer Drive between Ryan and Mound roads — at 5 p.m. Tuesdays. They'd be happy to have you come out and watch them race.

"We built this track for two reasons," Walden said, "to race and to entertain people."

Mike Walden of Royal Oak, one of three responsible for the construction of the Dorais Velodrome. Today, he coaches the Wolverine Sports Club.

'I'd say that sprint speeds on a good course approach 45 miles per hour. Here, we reach about 40 miles per hour.'

Getting in shape:

12 pounds to go

staff writer

Its' hard to believe six weeks have passed since I started a 90-day training program at the One-on-One Athletic Club in West Bloomfield. But hey, time flies when you're having

Under the watchful eye of my personal trainer Mike Anthony, Mr. Michigan 1990, I've been working on a weight loss/tone-up program. My ultimate goal is to drop 30 pounds

So far, I'm ahead of schedule. I've dropped 18 pounds already, but I'll be the first to admit it woen't easy.

Anthony broke me in easy the first week. It was more of a feeling-out tilus equipment and a time for Anthony to learn a little about my attitude, desire and work ethic.

The second week we went to work, and to be honest, there were times I wondered if I hadn't made a big mistake.

I worked muscles I hadn't used in years and the end result was a lot of aches and soreness in my legs, arms, chest, back, etc. . . etc. . . etc. . . . etc. . . . "Ninety days of this," I thought to myself. "I'll never make it. I'll burn myself. "I'll never make it. I'll burn out. I'll come apart at the seams. I'll never walk again without a limp."

THEN THE REALIZATION set in that those aches and pains were good aches and pains. They weren't life the pain you get when you wrench your back or twist a joint. After I

If could go wrong it does when Eddie Hopper (Alan Alda) gives his daughter Betsy (Molly Ringwald) a fantastic formal wedding in "Betsy's Wedding." Also appearing in the film are Ally Sheedy, Dylan Walsh and Madeline Kahn.

This 'Wedding' is terrific

The world premiere screening of "Betsy's Wedding" (A, R, 90 minutes)
June 15 was in the shadow of the "Dick Tracy" hoopla at DisneyWorld in Orlando. Nonetheless, it's a terrific film, synthesizing American concerns with family, ethnic diversity and making choices about whether or not you're going to be your own person.

Ethnic diversity and family are at the core of "Betsy's Wedding." A very imaginative Italian builder, Eddie Hopper (Alan Alda), and his wife Lola (Madeline Kahn) who is Jewish, have two daughters, Betsy (Molly Ringwald) and Connie (Ally Sheedy). Connie's a police officer and Betsy, a design student, is about to marry Jake (Dylan Walsh).

In real life, Alda is Italian and his wife Arlene is Jewish. They have two daughters. He started making notes on this picture when his youngest daughter got married and finished editing it when his oldest daughter got married.

Betsy's fiance, Jake, is a pretty straight guy with waspish parents, Nancy and Harry Lovell (Bibi Besch and Nicolas Cage). They're also quite wealthy. Therein lies the plot's chief motivation. Eddie can't let the Lovells pay for the wedding despite the, fact that his business is coming in on a wing and a prayer.

Despite his inability to pay for it,

Eddie assumes the father of the bride's responsibility for an expensive wedding. When one has a family, there's always someone who will help. Eddie turns to his brother-inlaw Oscar Henner (Joe Pesci) who is a successful contractor albeit with certain questionable associates, in particular, Georgie (Burt Young) and his nephew Stevie Dee (Anthony La-Paglia), two characters straight out of Damon Runyon's gallery of comic

In what turns out to be a pretty suspicious deal, Eddie gets the money he needs from Georgie in return

The Hopper/Henner/Lovell families have lots of relatives with all the quirks we recognize from our own experiences. Ready recognition of those foibles is important in comedy and Alda exploits them very well.

Although the film is supposed to be about Detroit, a phone number on what was represented as the Rouge Plant has a Chicago area code and none of the locales looked familiar.

Certainly, the uni-dimensional caricatures of a black Detroit mayor and a local corporate head were so transparently awful that even Coleman Young's and Roger Smith's strongest critics will not be amused.

There's also a lot of questionable science and murky cyborg psychology while Robocop Murphy's strengths and weaknesses are unclear. Also, the plot is simple-minded. "Doctor Zhivago," released in

VIDEO VIEWING

By Dan Greenberg special writer

For video viewers who can't wait until Warren Beatty's current hit, "Dick Tracy," reaches video cassette distribution, there are plenty of older Dick Tracy movies available this Everyone's been discussing the background of the comic strip started by Chester Gould in October 1931. What hasn't garnered as much interest are the old movie serials and television programs done in the '30s, '40s and '50s. Now that Dick Tracy is back in the public eye, some of those programs and movies are being released on video.

Ralph Byrd starred in a 1937 Republic Pictures serial, "Dick Tracy," followed by additional episodes in 1938 ("Dick Tracy Returns"), 1939 ("Dick Tracy's G-Men") and 1941 ("Dick Tacy vs. Crime Inc.). All were 15 episodes each. In 1947, RKO continued the series with four features including "Dick Tracy Meets Gruesome" (not rated, black and white, 65 minutes) which is available June 27 from Media Home Entertainment. Anne Gwynne is Tess Trueheart and Boris Karloff is Gruesome, a terrible villain who wants to release a lethal gas that turns people into statues.

Byrd, the original film Tracy, appeared in the early '50s in a television series. In addition to some of these films appearing on video at the end of June, UPA Productions will be releasing six volumes (10 car-toons each) in their "Animated Adventures of Dick Tracy" series.

MEDIA HOME Entertainment will also release a 62-minute blackand-white cassette, "Dick Tracy Detective." This 1945 film featured Morgan Conway as the great detective and Anne Jeffreys as Tess True-Billed as a "second feature," Tracy combats a mad slasher, known as 'Splitface," which was the title it was released under in England. In this film, Junior, Tracy's son, helps unravel the mystery. For those suffering from Dick Tracy overkill, there's plenty, of other videos being released this week.

Four episodes of "Bonanza" — modestly billed as "America's most loved westerns" - are now on the stands. Originally aired in 1964 and '65, "The Pure Truth," "Bullet for a Bride," "The Cheating Game" and "The Trap" are 50-minute tapes from Republic Home Video available for just under $15 each or gift packaged together for $60.

This Lloyd Cole chap is quite a conversationalist. In the course of 15 minutes, subjects shift from golf's U.S. Open, soccer's World Cup, a girl from Kalamazoo, the literary works of Raymond Carver and a little thing Except the latter seems more than just a little thing with Lloyd. In fact, judging by "Lloyd Cole," it's almost

His self-titled solo album on Capitol Records tackles love and relationships in a sardonic sort of way, sounding a bit like Morrissey on the

Yet, the solo effort sparkles with freshness, a direct way of looking at the emotions at hand. Coupled with the fact this is Cole's first LP minus the Commotions makes this record a triumph of sorts.

'Frankly, I'm relieved I can make a record without a band," said Cole, who will perform on Sunday, July 1, at Clubland with Michael Penn. "That was the real challenge. Once ny, life would be excruciatingly that was overcome, it was to make depressing."

Also, "Lloyd Cole" is a personal record. Most of the emotional aspects in his life he said had ended in 1988, splitting from his band and his personal life in a funk. He decided to write about it.

IN THE COOL style of Lou Reed or Bob Dylan, Cole expresses his feelings lyrically . . . although he's a bit bitten by cynicism.

Heard in the number "To the Church:" "I'm looking for a religious girl/With child-bearing hips and a wedding veil/But I'm saddened to report that it's not easy."

Ironically, after Cole had written the songs for his solo album he became married. His wife, Elizabeth, was born in Kalamazoo. They were married in December of last year.

"I've always had a skeptical view of romance," he said. "That's not to say I don't encourage it. I think I do. I think life is full of contradictions. I think the song that says it best is . . . 'We're forever saying of forever.'

"Life is full of irony. Without iro-

Cole's career is his lack of recogni-tion stateside. He's always been something of a pop idol in England, yet in America his work has been only appreciated by college and alternative listeners.

Therein lies the irony, since Cole's music is a bit quirky, but certainly palatable for commercial radio with its melodic pop leanings.

FOR THE FIRST time, Cole's touring American venues on his own. He said it's somewhat scary, but so far fans have been receptive. A hardcore following is familiar with all of his songs.

Cole has always been lauded for his highly literate lyrics. He studied American literature at Glasgow University before forming the Commotions in 1983.

Without a doubt, American author Raymond Carver is his favorite. Cole calls him the greatest writer of the century.

"He seems to get right to the heart of the matter," Cole said. "I just worship the guy. Unfortunately, to the extent it damaged my music for

THE BERLIN WALL OF SOUND - The

Today's subject is the new album by the Chesterfield Kings. It's called "The Berlin Wall of Sound." There are many reason why you probably shouldn't buy it. Eight reasons, in fact. Here they are:

Chesterfield Kings

The album cover. It features all four of the Kings sitting around after some probable debauchery an empty vodka bottle sits on the floor, beer bottles are strewn around and someone is smoking a cigarette.
One of the Kings holds a Weekly
World bearing the headline "Hitler Is Alive." This is presumably to show us that he can, in fact, read. Perhaps he is interested in history. O Lyrics like, "Gonna get myself a shotgun — I only want a little revenge get myself a shotgun — my trigger finger's itchin' again."

O The look. This is known as the stereotypical rock star look. If you don't know what that is, watch a Bon Jovi video — that's the look. Bangs in eyes, cowboy boots and lots of black. The Chesterfield Kings have black. The Chesterfield Kings have dutifully watched Bon Jovi videos, so dutifully, in fact, that they are wearing exact replicas of the clothes from the video "Dead or Alive."

• Lyrics like, "I been drinkin' again/It's too bad she couldn't say/ In a trash can I threw her away." It addition to this lyrich chairman.

lition to this lyric's obviously flaw, it contains awkward phrasing. Guilt by association. The album is inexplicably dedicated to Muddy Waters. Poor Mr. Waters.

· Lyrics like, "I'm gonna shoot to kill I got my ray gun/I'm gonna shoot to kill I'm gonna have some fun." Yeah, it's true, there's nothing more fun than walking around with a ray gun and shooting people.

• The song "Coke Bottle Blues."
This is a blues number sung in a fake black dialect. Didn't this sort of humor go out of style when "Amos 'n Andy" was cancelled?

e Lyrics like, "Cuz I'm so sick and tired of you, (repeat)/I finally get thru and you ain't gone you're busy puttin' all your make-up on."
Well, as a woman myself, I can youch for the validity of those lines. I know that several hours of my day are set aside exclusively for "puttin" "on make-up.

In final analysis, don't buy this album. Maybe you should try not to even think about it.

never more so than for an artist like Morrison, who long ago dropped any amibition for hit singles.

So — from "Mystic Hyes" to "Blue Money" to "Wavelength" — somebody's favorite Morrison tune is bound to be missing.

But the 30 songs on this compilation provide a balanced overview of Morrison's far-flung recording caracas.

For the first time, his hits with the seminal Irish rock band Them, including "Gloria," his early solo hits, including "Brown Eyed Girl," his Warner Bros. classics, including "Moondance" and his later work, including several aslections from last year's socialmed "Avalon Sunset" album, are brought together in one package.

Other favorites, including "Domino," "Wild Night," "And It Stoned Heaven When You Smile" give the package depth.

Though the material spans about a quarter-century, sound quality holds up. The acapella opening to "Jackie Wilson" is surprisingly clean.

Almost from the beginning, Morrison has laid claim to a spot in the rock pantheon, yet his contributions have sometimes been over looked — perhaps because his work has been spread over so many labels and not always in print (this album's compiler Mercury Records, is Morrison's fourth U.S. label).

While a boxed set would have been preferable, this one CD package does put things in better purspective and should further secure Morrison's position as one of rock's major artists.

est bit interested?

Believe me, it's only a matter of time until hydraulic cement becomes the hot topic around your house. Usually, the event that sparks this new interest is opening the basement door and seeing your furniture bobbing around in two feet of water.

Until you can experience your own personal flood, take my word that leaky basements build character. They even build muscles.

Today, there are several waterpoofing systems to choose from, but the most permanent solution is still the original technique of blowing up your entire yard with explosives and encasing your foundation in a 40-foot ring of concrete.

If local zoning prohibits the use of TNT, you'll have to resort to digging around the outside of your basement by hand. At first, this sounds difficult, but as you get further into the project, you'll realize that it's merely impossible.

Your goal is to dig a narrow trench, eight feet deep around your entire home. Nature's goal is to bury you alive in the process. Nature uses two weapons to entomb you:

FIRST OF all, it always rains at the most critical time. This dramatic event not only fills the trench with muddy water, but causes it to collapse on you in a true avalanche experience previously known only to miners and mountaineers.

The other trick of nature is a physics principle called the "angle of repose." Theoretically, this dynamic tension between gravity and friction determines the relation between the height and width of a pile of soil. In reality, it means unless you heave the dirt from your hole 30 feet into your neighbor's yard, it will spill back into the trench and bury you.

If the prospect of digging your own grave doesn't sound challenging enough, consider these additional hardships:

First, all your valuable shrubs must be removed. Professional gardeners suggest you carefully dig around each bush and encase the root ball in damp burlap to "reduce trauma." My method is no doubt more upsetting to the plant's psyche. Wrap a chain around the bush, tie it to your car's bumper and accelerate wildly down the driveway.

Secondly, the loose top soil you first encounter will give you a false sense of progress. About 18 inches below grade, you hit a cement-like barrier known as Michigan clay. For the next seven feet, you'll need a pick to loosen it and a burro to haul

THE WORST enemy is tree roots. Even if the nearest tree seems miles from your home, you'll spend the better part of your active years hacking and sawing roots. Why? Botanists tell us that root systems will travel incredible distances to find water. This insatiable thirst means the roots choking your trench probably belong to a tree standing somewhere in Alpena.

Barring death from heart attack or cave-in, you will eventually unearth a row of ancient ceramic drain tiles. These are the culprits. They must be replaced with new corrugated plastic tubing that looks exactly like the arms on Will Robinson's robot in "Lost in Space."

Incidentally, "Lost in Space" premiered on CBS in 1965, starring June Lockhart (Lassie's mom) and Guy Williams (the original TV Zorro). Despite heavy inter-planetary rainfall, their stranded spacecraft never had drainage problems.

Next, the leaky walls must be sealed with black, gooey pitch often used to repair roofs and trap mastadons at La Brea. Ideally, this tar is applied with a trowel.

HOWEVER, WHEN the fumes and fatigue kick in, you'll plunge your bare arms directly into bucket. Before long, you'll smear your body from head to toe and just roll along the walls as a human applicator.

The final step is hanging giant sheets of plastic to completely seal the walls against, pardon the expression, hell or high water.

At last, you're ready to back fill the trench. Using an expression like "Hey, I'm not shoveling, I'm back filling!" may make you sound more important, but is better translated, "I think my spine is broken."Note: If there is anything you wish to bury (time capsule, toxic waste, pesky neighbor), this is the ideal time.

Congratulations! By doing it yourself, you now have a dry basement, a new job skill and a sense of accomplishment. Best of all, you saved about $3,000 which can be applied directly to back surgery.

Originally, Anthony and I had decided to work one hour a day, four days a week. But because I wanted to lose so much weight I've decided to do more cardiovascular work (Stairmaster, which simulated climbing stairs, and a stationary bicycle), so I could really sweat it off.

I'm up to about 11/2 hours a day with 40 minutes dedicated to cardiovascular work. The rest of the time I work out with light weights and do three sets of 12-15 repetitions on each machine. Two days a week we work my upper body - arms, chest, back and shoulders. The other two days I work my lower body calves, thighs and hamstrings. I rotate between upper and lower body so we don't work the same body part two days in a row.

Ken Dumm's last name has inspired some jokes over the years.

When Dumm appears at local comedy clubs, he starts by playing off the "dumb" pronunciation of his name, "sort of to loosen people up a little bit. I've lived with it, I might as Dumm, 26, was born and raised in Redford. He graduated from Bishop Borgess High School in 1982 but wasn't known as the class joker

"Actually, I was pretty shy in high school. I never really was a class clown or anything."

He went to Wayne State University, earning a bachelor's degree in mass communications and television production in 1987.

"I've been doing magic for about 15 years now," said Dumm, a Redford resident who works for Metrovision in Livonia. More recently, he's begun to add comedy to his perfor-

HE'S PRIMARILY a self-taught magician. Dumm watched "The Wonderful World of Magic," a 1970s syndicated TV show hosted by Bill Bixby, and became interested in magic. He got some props and books from a magic store and went on "It was something I just started doing for the fun of it." He met other magicians at conventions and lectures and learned from them.

Throughout high school and col-lege, Dumm did local magic shows. In recent years, he found he particularly enjoyed performing for adult

With adult audiences, Dumm is able to be more spontaneous. He also benefits from their lengthier attention span, and is less concerned about offending an adult audience.

"Kids really don't view magic as entertainment, they view it as a game they want to learn to play." Performing for children can be even more difficult than performing for adults, although Dumm likes to do children's shows.

About five months ago, Dumm began to expand into the territory of comedy. He appeared at open mike nights at comedy clubs, including Chaplin's Comedy Club West in De-

He went on to do some emcee work at Miss Kitty's Cornedy Club in Oxford. Dumm participated in a competition for comics there and

HIS PERFORMANCES include comedy and magic tricks. He's written some material to go along with the magic and includes some one-liners or "groaners."

He uses a number of props and gets some help with magic tricks from people in the audience.

"It involves them in the show. It makes the evening even better for the entertainment value."

In one routine, he borrows a coat from an audience member and proceeds to hide a lit cigarette in the coat's folds, making the cigarette

"Of course, at the end everything works out fine."

Performing doesn't take all of Dumm's time. His work at Metrovision involves producing cable TV commercials for local businesses, primarily those in Redford, Livonia, Farmington, Farmington Hills and DUMM, WHO is single, has worked for Metrovision for nearly three years and started in the Oakland County office. He's not sure he'll end up working in comedy full

"It's just a matter of seeing what will happen with my career. I really enjoy producing commercials."
"Night Court" star Harry Ander-son, who got his start as a magician, went on to do comedy and then got his own TV shows his own TV show.

"He's the success story," Dumm said. He wouldn't mind if his career took a similar turn.

For now, Dumm's trying to get an agency interested in booking him at comedy clubs. He's working on getting as much stage time as possible and making contact with club own-

"It's kind of tough to break in, because there are a lot of talented guys out there. Some people make it, some people don't."

Dumm's concentrating on doing the best he can and wouldn't be devastated if his name didn't end up in

"For me, it's a kick just to be able to perform. I'll always continue to be doing magic on the side."

Ken Dumm will appear at 8 and 10:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday, July 13-14 and 27-28, at Miss Kitty's Comedy Club, 595 N. Lapeer Road (M-24) in Oxford. For reservations, call 628-6500.

Here's one comedian who doesn't mind being called "Dumm." That's his name — Ken Dumm — and he's lived with that name for 26 years.

Mountain Bike: What the Mountain Man rides.

Well, you don't really have to be a "mountain man" to ride a mountain bike. Maybe if you're just a, say, "hilly person" or a "frequent 10-speed rim bender," you can own nance over the outdoors and its elea mountain bike.

Come to think of it, if you can ride a bike, you can be a mountain bike person.

You've seen them. They look like a 10-speed with pregnant tires and straightened-out handlebars. They work as well on the street as they do in grass, gravel, sand, mud and any other obstacle that Mother Nature can throw in their way. They've been around for years, but more recently, they've developed as a hybrid cross between the 10-speed and BMX bike.

Their origin is arguable . . . as with most sports. The most documented case for the mountain bike's origin is the "re-pack run" story.

Here goes. Back in the 1960s, in Marin County Calif., a handful of bicycle/speed enthusiasts used to truck their old Schwinn "Typhoon" style bikes, the one's with the balloon tires and frames that resembled the skeletal remains of a Humpback whale, up to the top of the local fire roads in the Marin County foothills. Once at the summit, they'd hop on their bikes and turn them loose down the steep and windy gravel roads, reaching speeds in excess of 60 miles per hour.

THE TERM "re-pack run" came about when the riders got to the end of the steep road. They'd have to re-pack their bicycle hubs (where the axle is housed) with grease . . . the speeds they attained actually liquefied the grease in the hubs.

The mountain bike was born. Now, it is raced.

A case in point — the 1990 National Off-Road Bicycle Association Coors Light National Point Series which made a stop at Sugar Loaf Ski Resort on the Leelanau Peninsula outside of Traverse City for a weekend of thrills and spills, the likes of which a tornado rodeo couldn't match for excitement.

The bikes were there. Thousands upon thousands of dollars represented in tubular, two-wheeled fun tickets.

The riders were there. Clad in skin-tight spandex in so many colors that some of haven't been named yet, they stood with their bikes like warriors with their horses preparing for battle.

It was pretty cool.

The downhill portion of the races, which drew the most spectators, opened with a bang . . . the "Kamikaze Downhill." Up to automotive type speeds of 45-50 mph, beginner to expert mountain bikers dared the serpentine steeps of Sugar Loaf's back runs.

Some met the finish line with success, while others ended up in the weeds or carrying their bike back down the mountain. But for all, the Kamikaze Downhill was to foreshadow an exciting day of racing to come.

"You just try not to think about it too much," mumbled Brad Stanley, 26, of Clarkston as he climbed aboard the starting ramp, obviously focusing on the hell-ride he was about to endure. "First, you have to finish before you can finish first."

finish before you can finish first."

"GET OFF THE brakes, get off the brakes ... Pedal, pedal, pedal," screamed people lining sides of the course, oblivious to the terror many of the riders were feeling as they sped by

feeling as they sped by.

The knobby tires, which hummed across the sandy portions of the course, sounding like a swarm of bees, were rivaled only by the clanking noise of the chain banging on the bicycle frame.

Next was the Scot Trials, or the obstacle course, a course so treacherous that even a "Weeble" hiker stood a good chance of tipping over.

Although the speeds were not nearly as breakneck as they were in the downhill, the Scot Trials course was much more physically demanding. Riders took on natural items such as logs, rocks, ditches, water, mud, sand and even spectators in a cross-country romp that tested balance and stamina to the hilt.

One log setup in particular, at the base of a steep loose dirt hill, captured riders like a tiger trap. One after another they dropped down the hill, only to dig their front tire into a log and launch over the handlebars and onto their helmeted

The crowd loved it. The riders didn't care . . . unless they were run over by another racer.

Everybody in attendance was pumped for the next and final event . . . the Dual Downhill Slalom. Head to head action. Furious speed. Grinding turns. Dust and dirt. Nano-second margins of victory. And losses that end your weekend.

THE DEEP SAND, gravel, and weeds of the Kamikaze Downhill gave way to burnt grass, ruts and black soil in the Dual Downhill Slalom. Racers hiked up the hill with their bikes, scoping out the course, looking for the best lines.

"Start your turns early . . . don't get behind," said one racer to another. "It's just like skiing." "But I've never raced on skis be-

"To bad," the first one said.

With break-away gates (the poles that mark the course), the course did actually act like a downhill skiing slalom course. For many of the racers, this would be their first time through a course like this.

11th annual art show features works by three artists — Suzanne Marie Young, Detroit, sculptor, Joseph C. Gagnier, Roscommon, painter; and Bruce Langton, Granger, Ind., wildlife prints. Opening with the artists 3 p.m. Sunday. Continues through July 1. Open daily free of charge 1-9 p.m., 1390 Quarton at Woodward, Bloomfield Hills.

"Milles as Mentor"

Carl Milles, 1875-1955, Swedish sculptor, had a major influence on the lives and careers of many contemporary sculptors while he was at Cranbrook Academy of Art from 1931 to 1951. As head of the sculpture department there, he never did give formal instruction, rather he advised and critiqued from his spacious Cranbrook studio. At right is Milles' "Head of Beethoven," a bronze done before 1934 that is part of an exhibition, "Milles as Mentor: The Work of Cranbrook Sculptors," which continues at Cranbrook Academy of Art Museum through Sept. 9. Hours are 1-5 p.m. Tuesday-Sunday, 500 Lone Pine, Bloomfield Hills.

Mid-year goal re-evaluation

It's almost the Fourth of July and most of us have our minds on fireworks, picnics, swimming or vacations. Except those charged with handling fiscal year budgets, most of us feel it's a time to "get away from it all" rather than to concentrate on work. The first of July, however, marks a milestone in our year - the mid-way point. Incredibly, half of 1990 is already gone. What do you have to show for it?

This is a perfect time to review your progress in the last six months. Do you remember those New Year's Resolutions you made back in January? Did you put goals in writing? If so, can you find where you put them? Have you worked on the goals you said you were going to accomplish?

For some, reviewing your goals will be a time to sit back and enjoy a feeling of satisfaction and accomplishment. You've put your goals in writing and things just seemed to take shape and happen. For others, despite good intentions, nothing has changed and things are still exactly the way they were the first of the

One woman has kept on her bookshelf a separate loose-leaf notebook of her goals since 1985 and she says it's amazing to go back over her folder and see the progress she's made during that time. Not only does she set yearly goals, she writes out long-term five and 10 year goals, as well. She also sets out the steps necessary to accomplish each one and transfers those tasks to her calendar to act on them regularly. My friend keeps separate Personal Growth pages of improvements she wants to make. Another page lists goals which will provide the greatest financial income.

BEHIND THAT section she has a page of roadblocks or obstacles which are on-going problems for her, along with ideas of how to overcome them. These have proven especially valuable because they specifically point out the areas needed to accomplish her goals. In other words, they explain what's holding her back and remind her to face her problems head-on.

Not only has this method kept her focused on what she wants to achieve, the book has turned out to be a kind of journal showing her progress, because she dates each goal as she enters it and then marks organizing

Dorothy Lehmkuhl

The best page of all is the first one in her notebook which lists a summary of her accomplishments. Each fronted with a wonderful long list of her personal successes. Even if she was feeling discouraged when she took out her folder, that feeling quickly dissipates as she reviews her achievements.

My intention in writing this article is not to ruin your 4th of July by nagging you to work harder. Instead, however, I hope you will find just a little time to review the first half of your year and to renew your vigor for the coming months.

Use your dishwasher only when it is full. Turn it off when the final wash cycle is completed and open the door. Your dishes will air-dry. It's best to use your dishwasher in the cool of the

Where would Her Majesty live Birmingham?

At Buckingham,

naturally. She'd love the royal park across the street. She'd dote on the spacious two-bedroom apartment with fresh new interiors from the most modern appliances to the best lighting fixtures to designer carpeting to contemporary verticals. She'd like the uncommon amount of room and royal way the service staff treats her. After all, a person's home ought to be their palace. Buckingham Manor Apartments

Choose manager carefully

We are thinking about changing management companies. Do you have any suggestions as to who we can talk to concerning how to pick a management company. It as that every management company, like a life insurance agent, says that it has the best "policy."

Choosing a management company is one of the most important decisions that a board of directors will make. A good management company for the association is essential. Finding one may be more difficult. You may be best advised sitting down with an outside management consultant or attorney who has had experience with management companies and who does not have any direct financial relationship with the management company. You want to find a person who will be able to provide you with the right questions to ask or a knowledge of the management company's inner operations that only an attorney or CPA working with the management company may be able to gather. After analyzing this information, the board should consider the benefits being offered by the management firm, not what is necessarily the cheapest management company proposal being offered.

Builders turn to advertising

By Gerald Frawley staff writer

Advertising is nothing new in the business world, but it wasn't until recently that builders began to promote their projects and services to the general

In the last year, the names of builders are becoming known as more begin to advertise their Kojaian Properties in Bloomfield Hills has been regularly running advertisements in such publications as the Wall Street Journal, Time, U.S. News and World Report and Crain's Detroit Business. Pistons fans in the Palace of Auburn Hills and commuters along I-75 have also been exposed to the Kojaian name with arena and roadside billboards.

ANGELA KIMBALL of Kojaian's corporate communications said the company advertises for the same reason that anyone advertises - "to attract customers."

Advertisements for its build-to-suit services, which emphasizes Kojalan's expertise in everything from site selection to construction management, is a new thrust for the company.

'Here we're trying to reach the corporate executive officers and the people who have to make these decisions. We want people to know we're in the are-- and I don't mean in the Palace (of Auburn Hills) - and we can help them with their building needs," she said.

Advertisements with similar messages for the R.A. DeMattia Co., in Plymouth, have cropped up in similar places.

Mary Beth Winkworth, manager of community relations with Kirco Realty and Development in Bloomfield Hills, said the company has a select audience, and different companies have different methods of reaching the audience.

Kirco advertisements present a very businesslike message mainly on radio. "Our business is serious real estate," she said.

OTHER COMPANIES have tried more humorous, light advertisements, but Kirco believes it can best convey a respectable corporate image through serious advertisements.

Kojaian Properties, on the other hand, has made conscious decision to develop an advertising strategy that will reach a wider audience, Kimball

From a Palace of Auburn Hills billboard, which is designed to create name recognition, to the "humorous" magazine and billboard advertisements. Kojaian is trying to convey an image of a friendly, human company, she said.

Ads typically reflect the idea of a company that has grown beyond its current space limitations and needs new space.

Ads depicting a crowded office - so crowded that people are always on top of each other - with changing faces and sayings, a fish in a too-small fish bowl, and a man sprawling over a desk too time to suit his needs depict the problems faced by the growing company in a light-hearted way.

THE DESIRED message, Kimball said, is that Kojaian is approachable.

'Humor plays a big part in that. It generates in-Winkworth of Kirco said build-to-suit expertise is only part of what a developer is advertising. Most companies blanket advertise, promoting everything from a corporate image to floor space in a specific

There are benefits to different ways of advertising," she said. "It depends on who you are trying to

FAMILY FARE

Roger Rabbit and company appear on The Disney Channel

By Donna Gooch

Now you and your family can find out Who Framed Roger Rabbit when the movie-making milestone airs on The Disney Channel Friday, June

The story is set in 1947 Los Angeles and Toontown, where humans and cartoon characters work side by side The stuttering Roger Rabbit, a Toon as they're commonly called, is framed for murder, and a down-on-his-luck gumshoe (Bob Hoskins) is reluctantly drawn into the scandal.

Watch for "special appearances" by animated stars such as Bugs Bunny, Dumbo, Mickey Mouse, Yosemite Sam, Betty Boop, Tweety Bird, Goofy, Porky Pig and many others.

The story is straight from a '40s detective dime-store novel, but the creation took all the ingenuity its makers could muster.

The costly, $45 million film received four Academy Awards, including the 1988 Special Achievement Oscar for

Animation Direction

The unusual blend of real actors and animated cartoon characters, occupying the same space and time in a three-dimensional format, presented almost insurmountable problems.

The film had to achieve a new reality. to blend the human and cartoon worlds so that the Toons would appear naturally in the scenes, not painted onto them. It's been done before in memorable moments in Mary Poppins and Song Of The South, but the challenge was to sustain the interaction for an entire picture.

It required a Los Angeles and London animation crew of 326 people, who painstakingly painted all of the 82.080 live-action frames. The film required more than 1,035 optical illusions, the equivalent of 10 special effects feature Putting aside all the technical wizardry, this entertaining film can be enjoyed by both parents and kids.

By LARK L. SAMOUELIAN Executive Director. SW Oakland Cable Comm.

We have so far concentrated on introducing community television to the general public. The fact is that the community service of community access television may begin and end through governmental television. Please, read on for I know how ominous this sounds.

I have worked in and around local government for fifteen years. The length of time represents my commitment to the understanding that it really is at a local level where the differences are made. Local government is becoming ever more responsive to the individual. If you never venture down to city or township hall then you may feel alienated. However, just walk through those doors and your views will change. The formula to making change is to become involved. Your opinion will have more authority if your involvement entails more than just showing up to complain.

Over the past few years all types of government have shown a growing level of sophistication in communications by bringing on board community outreach staff and public relations professionals who recognize the need to reach the general public. Television is the 'power punch!' But with community television, we have to initiate all the action and productions ourselves. This is why it takes so much time developing the fine art of community television.

One of the first signs that government is receptive to the option of the Television Channel is through the Government Alphanumeric Channel where the announcements are typed upon the screen. In the Canton, Plymouth and Northville Area this is Channel 10. In the Farmington, Novi and Farmington Hills area this is Channel 18. Council meetings may also be seen on these Channels. (In the C. P. N. it is Ch.

Through the Cable Contracts with local governments, moneys are available to develop a city or township cable television department if the municipality so

The City of Farmington Hills has funded a cable TV department through their Special Services Department for the last five years. They have been under the guidance of Cable Coordinator David Teitmeyer, producing twenty shows the first year (1985) and growing to 100 shows in 1989! David works very closely with all the city department heads. The City Public Relations person, Ester Frank, also works very closely with the television medium. David. reflecting on city television, said, "Video is there. Everyone is now very accepting of our presence." Ester Franks commented on the "sense of openess one feels on whatever goes on within the city." Both David and Ester emphasize how closely the city staff and the residents and city council work together on all reflect such efforts.

To better understand what a city television department offers let's explore the programs which have been seen in Farmington

Viewpoint has so far produced 105 shows. It is taped twice a month. It highlights what is happening in Farmington Hills. City Manager William Costick and the Current Mayor Jean Fox host the shows. Past Mayors Jan Dolan and Terry Sever have also hosted. The subject matter stays within the confines of that which affects and is affected by City Senior Messenger is a monthly program which compliments the monthly Senior Messenger Adult Newsletter. Targeted to Seniors, the show provides local. state, and national news. Co-Hosted by Loretta Conway and Maggie Loridas of the Senior Adult division of the Department of Special Services, this lively and lovely pair captivate the Senior Audiences with a truly thought-provoking and entertaining show. They feature a Volunteer of the Month as well as highlighting the Senior Adult Center at Mercy Center.

Horizons is a monthly on-location program featuring some fascinating residents of Farmington Hills. Ester Frank is coproducer with David Teitmeyer and also hosts the program. David's creative eye captures the surrounding environment to enhance the subject matter. People and subjects have been: Jean Fox, an Historical perspective; Astronaut Sharon Newman, Medical Anthropologist, Phillip Singer on 'Ways We Go About Healing.'; Father Pat with his view of 'Times of Today'; Maskey Burnstein Ph.D. a view of the movies as in Irish Movies; and Floyd Cairns, 'Go with the Flow', join rather than fight.

Features are programs which dedicate an entire program to projects. The television shows foster a better understanding of a city project.

> These are only an example of the ways a city television department can create a better bond with the citizenry. David Tietmeyer says that their efforts are building a time capsule which will be an historical and accurate view of the city.

May I encourage you as the NIKE commercial does, "JUST DO IT"!!! Your involvement may be as simple as just asking the first question of your city or township officials. Check with your city clerk to determine whether or not there is a Cable Committee or Commission established. What a wonderful feeling to be able to contribute to your community and be creative at the same time!

Dixie Carter as classy as 'Designing Women' character to return in fall

June 25-July 1

By ANNE WHEELER

Julia Sugarbaker is one classy lady, but then again so is the actress who plays her on CBS' "Designing Women," returning to Mondays in the fall.

Dixie Carter plays the composed, sophisticated Julia, who runs an Atlanta interior design firm with her boisterous sister (Delta Burke), and skeptical (Annie Potts) and naive (Jean Smart) associates.

Carter's own sophistication started at an early age. While young girls often aspire to experience the glamour of Hollywood, Carter's earliest ambition was to become an opera singer.

That appreciation for music never abated and she continued singing lessons throughout college, moving to New York City to enroll in more intensive study after graduation.

Then came the rude awakening. I did not have the voice to sing opera." Carter said. "My voice was not big enough for opera, so I adjusted and trained for musical comedy and acting."

The training paid off. In the meantime, a friend recommended she audition for Joseph Papp's Shakespeare in the Park production of "The Winter's Tale." She got the part and embarked on a promising acting career. Not long after, however, she put her career on hold for eight years while she focused on her marriage and her two daughters.

The stage soon beckoned her to return "in any musical I could find," she said modestly, despite the Broadway role as Melba in "Pal Joey" and as Ann in "Sextet." She was later nominated for a Drama Desk Award for her

'Designing Women' role as Calamity Jane in "Fathers and Sone" and won an off Broadway Theatre World Award for her portraval of Belle Starr in "Jesse And The Bandit Queen.'

While theater work kept her busy at night she began working on television during the day with a regular role (as Brandy Henderson) on "The Edge Of Night." Her long hours put a strain on her marriage, and she and first husband Arthur Carter ultimately divorced.

A chance to recreate her role of Calamity Jane opposite Richard Chamberlain brought Carter to Hollywood, where she found success on television like she had had on stage. Prior to her current role on "Designing Women." Carter has been a regular in four series, cast as Aunt Marion in "Out Of The Blue." flip copywriter April Baxter in "On Our Own." TV show host Maggie Drummond in 'Diff'rent Strokes" and Carlotta Beck in "Filthy Rich."

The latter began her association with Linda Bloodworth-Thomason, the creator and executive producer of "Designing Women.

In addition to television series. Carter has appeared in several made-for-TV movies as well, "Ohms" and "The Killing Of Randy Webster." While making that movie in 1981, she met Hal Holbrook, who she married in April of 1984. The two have appeared together on an episode of "Designing Women" and in TV ads.

When she is not acting, her interests include her family, and of course, singing. She has developed her own cabaret act which she presents at supper clubs across the country

Since I was a little girl. whenever I sing, the audience is the other participant," she said, explaining. "If I do my show right, they go right along with me - everybody knows the feelings of all the songs I sing."

Book gives tribute to corny, fun series

By Steven Alan McGaw Folks, give me another week to supply the details of the next write-in project. In the meantime, go the bookstore and check out Lost In Space 25th Anniversary Tribute Book by James Van Hyse about (what else?) the series Lost In Space. Sure, it was a silly show, kinda cheap, kinda tacky, but I loved it. How about you?

Ouestions:

LET'S TALK

Kabir Bedi worked hard toward career in performing

By Polly Vonetes

June 25-July 1

O: Why haven't we seen more movies with Kabir Bedi? (Malik in Ashanti with Michael Caine and Gobinda in Athens, Ala. Octobussy)? He's proven he can act. Where is he from? Where was he educated? What does he do for a living when he's not acting? Any and all information on this intriguing, mysterious gentleman will be appreciated. -Victoria Ross, Chino Valley, Ariz.

A: Kabir Bedi was born in 1944, the son of an Indian father and an English Enjoy the attention that you receive Do not remain where you are being mother, in Lahore at a time of great conflict in India. His family moved to Kashmir and then to Delhi, with Kabir attending many different schools. His desire to act was nurtured in his teens at Sherwood College, a mini-British public school in the Himalayas. His interest in acting continued through his college years at St. Stephens, Delhi. He supported himself through college by working for radio and TV stationsannouncing, interviewing and doing quiz programs. After graduating with an honors degree in history, his natural acting talent and good looks led him to become India's highest paid and most widely known male model. In 1970 he was offered the starring role in the Bombay Theatre Group's production of Tughalq, which opened the door to the Indian film industry for Bedi. He made his American television debut in the 1978 NBC special The Thief Of Baghdad. He continues to make his home in Los Angeles and frequently guest stars on TV series.
