If legal hurdles can be cleared, St. John Provincial Seminary in Plymouth Township will become a retirement center for about 1,000 residents.

Lorenz settles with Amoco

Amoco cleanup plans, 3A

By Kevin Brown

Mayflower Hotel owner Ralph Lorenz will get $225,000 from Amoco for past damages, by an agreement reached with the giant oil corporation.

The pretrial judgment, entered in U.S. District Court on June 27 before Judge Patrick Duggan, stems from a lawsuit filed on behalf of Lorenz Square against Amoco.

Lorenz has claimed damages to his business due to fuel oil leakage from underground tanks at the former Amoco station on Main and Ann Arbor Trail.

A SETTLEMENT conference will take place to discuss future damages from the fuel oil spill and a cleanup, he said.

"Their (cleanup) method is what I'm concerned about, so it (the area) doesn't have a stigma," Lorenz said.

The current underground contamination, he said, "of course makes it impossible to lease or to mortgage."
"I tried to talk to them about leasing the station to the city for a public facility," Lorenz said. He would probably raise that subject again at the settlement conference, he said. Amoco spokesman Walter Brown said that while a settlement conference is planned, he did not know what day it will convene. "We will be meeting with Mr. Lorenz," Brown Should the two sides agree to a cleanup plan, Lorenz said the Department of Natural Resources would also have to approve it.

AMOCO WILL be ordered to start cleaning the area in accordance with the state leaking underground storage tank act that went into effect in December, a DNR spokesman said in

According to the DNR, oil from a heating oil tank at the service station was believed to be collecting beneath the Mayflower Meeting House (next door), said David LeClerc, a geologist hired by Amoco to determine the extent of the spill.

"Amoco removed the tank and installed a new heating oil tank. While the apparent source of oil contamination had been removed, oil continued to collect in the sump pump of the meeting house," LeClerc said. "Tenants of the meeting house registered complaints of fuel odors."

Tests have indicated the area of fuel oil contamination extends under the Box Bar and Grill, the meeting house and the intersection of Ann Arbor Trail and Main Street.

LORENZ'S ATTORNEY, Michael Southerland, declined to discuss items to be raised at the settlement conference with Amoco.

Commissioner pursues better cable reception

By Kevin Brown staff writer

With some cable TV subscribers complaining about bad reception of some channels, a Plymouth city commissioner is trying to push cable officials to fix the problem.

Specifically, commissioner John Vos said he and other neighbors in western Plymouth can get a better signal for cable channel 22 - which carries broadcast channel 2 - by using their traditional antennas, and that isn't right.

"I think they're giving us shoddy service," Vos said.

In his job as attorney, "I travel all over the country and stay in hotels where there's clear reception.

"There's no reason why you can get 2 on your broadcast antenna bet-

THE CITY commission will review the contract between Omnicom Cablevision and the Plymouth area community "to ascertain if the vendor is living up to their side of the contract in terms of both quality service and quality television reception," Vos wrote in an open letter to residents.

Some citizens are circulating petitions in Plymouth for filing before commissioners "regarding their complaints," Vos said.

Omnicom manager Lisa Boland was out of town Friday and unavailable for comment. "If anybody has experienced poor reception, and if it's not the fault of your own sets, they've (Omnicom) got a duty to do something." Vos said.

Omnicom engineers have given him "the runaround" when he has raised concerns, he said.

VOS WANTS to set up a meeting between officials of local governments and Omnicom, and include a representative from a competitor, Barton Cablevision, he said.

"We want to tell them (Omnicom) that either you're going to shape up, or we're going to replace you."

Vos is urging cable subscribers who have had reception problems to leave a telephone message for him at Plymouth City Hall, 453-1234, or write him in care of the city commission, city hall, 201 S. Main, Plym-

The corporation that rents the former Farmer Jack's store on Main Street in Plymouth has resealed most of the parking lot termed an eyesore by city officials.

"Big deal," was City Manager Gordon Jaeger's reaction to the action, as city officials are pressing Borman Inc. - owners of the Farmer Jack supermarket chain - to sub-lease the property.

Jaeger said, "I'm convinced that they're really trying to get a tenant in there, and I think they will . . . We'll just keep calling and see what happens.

On June 19, Borman's official Ernest Berthold responded to a letter from Jaeger outlining concerns that the storefront has continued to stand vacant.

"I am advised that we have been pursuing a reasonable solution with the landlord and have also, as you know, sought suitable sub-tenants for this location," Berthold responded.

The re-sealing of the parking lot is "an improvement, that's about all I can say," said Mayor Dennis

"We want to see a tenant in there, clearly," Bila added. "Someone that provides a necessary service to the downtown area."

In early June, Borman Inc. officials said they have spoken to possible sub-leasees about renting the vacant storefront, the largest one downtown with 16,855 square feet of floor space.

While the lease requires Borman Inc. to use the site to sell food, Jaeger said the firm has talked with businesses that don't sell food about renting the site.

Don't look for the underground oil spill centered at the closed AMOCO service station at Ann Arbor Trail and Main Street to be

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources has been expecting AMOCO to submit a revised cleanup plan, after reject-ing plans submitted in March and October of last year that didn't fully address the problem.

But AMOCO officials say they

We still haven't heard from the DNR. They haven't approved it and they have not rejected it," said Walt Brown, AMOCO spokesman. "We kind of need their response."

THE AREA, centered in Plymouth's main intersection, has been on a DNR list of contaminated sites since 1979. For decades, fuel oil and gasoline seeped from underground storage tanks at the AMO-CO service station on the corner.

AMOCO's cleanup plans were re-jected because AMOCO hadn't established the extent of the contamination, said Dave Rymph, environmental quality manager with the Testing to date shows soil and ground water are contaminated in an area extending from the AMO-CO service station to the Mayflower Meeting House, and east of the Box Bar & Grill.

Contamination also has been found under both Main Street and Ann Arbor Trail by former AMO-CO consultant Neyer, Tiseo & Hindo Ltd. of Farmington Hills.

RYMPH LEFT the DNR three months ago, and it's possible his orders to AMOCO were presented verbally and not in writing, as there is no record of the rejection in the file, said DNR district supervisor Dipo Oyinsan.

The DNR and the state attorney general's office are "preparing a class action suit against AMOCO." Oyinsan said.

The reason is we have a problem with compliance with most of AMOCO's stations, including this one. The only way we can fine them is by taking them to court which is what we're doing," Oyin-san said. "That's our only option if we can't get them to comply."

"I'm not aware of them having asked permission," said Plymouth city attorney Ron Lowe, who's handling the matter for the city. "I can't confirm that they've request-ed more wells. I'd be greatly surprised if we didn't agree to the wells; it doesn't take that long to

New Rotary award honors officer, firefighter for daily work

Law should protect flag

To the editor: On Sunday, June 24, an editorial was printed in the Detroit Free Press concerning the individuals' right to burn or desecrate the flag of the United States under the banner of freedom of expression or free

The Free Press reports that the 10 crats and one Republican bers of the Michigan congresal delegation who voted against sional delegation who voted against a proposed constitutional amendment to ban flag burning were "valuing a higher form of patriotism over its more symbolic forms."

Granted, the flag is a symbol, however, it is a symbol of the greatest nation on earth. A country that was founded on democratic principals that had only been dreamed of in other lands. Today millions of people the world over would gladly give up their worldly possessions just to up their worldly possessions just to come here and have a chance to start over again in a free country

The point I want to make is this, if there is one symbol that should have the full protection of the law it is our national flag. I gave over 20 years of my life, along with my wife and children, in the service of my country. Service given to protect the rights granted by the Bill of Rights. Now I see the liberals of our country attempting to destroy from within the moral fiber that made our country great. The liberals now want to belittle and demean those ideals which have made our country a world lead-

Those individuals who hold a special place in their hearts for our flag, who get a chill through their bodies never the flag passes by in a parade, need to take a stand now.

Whether you are a Democrat or a Republican it is time now to put your congressman on notice that enough is enough. Let your representative know that they have lost touch with their constituents. Democratic Congressmen Ford, Bonior, Carr, Conyers, Crockett, Dingell, Hertel, Kildee, Levin, and Wolpe, and Republican Henry, you have lost touch with reality. Maybe it's time to elect someone to your jobs who still understands and values the importance we place on our flag as a symbol of greatness.

I am not wrapping myself in the flag for political reasons. I am ex-pressing myself as an American citizen who is concerned for our nation's future. When we have lost sight of the values our flag stands for then we are a nation in decline.

Mandela a murderer

I believe that Nelson Mandela is a murderer as well as a Commu traitor to the people of South Africa, both black and white. Rather than keeping him in prison for the past 20 years, this man should have been executed. The African National Congress, which he heads, has murdered hundreds and perhaps thousands of blacks who would not support a strike against the government called by the ANC. One of their favorite methods is to burn their victims alive by putting a tire around their neck, filling the tire with gas, and lighting it. In addition, many inno-cent whites have also been murdered. The ANC has been backed by the Soviet Union which is looking to. capture mineral rich South Africa for the Communist Bloc.

That so many Americans have been duped into supporting Mandela and the Communization of South Africa is a tribute to the pro commu-nist mass communications media in America. The fact that the majority Mandela is ignored by our press. The fact is that the Zulu tribe, which con-stitute the majority of blacks in South Africa, are opoosed to Mande-la's ANC and the Communist slavery for which it stands. This opposition has cost many South African blacks their lives. This wholesale slaughter of innocent, unarmed blacks in South Africa by Mandela's armed communist thugs has been reported in the pro left American press as a "civil war, black against black" to cover up what is actually going on.

This is not the first time a commu nist on the verge of taking over a once independent nation has been assisted by the U.S. government and eulogized by the U.S. media. In fact it has been a pattern in one country after another. Fidel Castro, prior to consolidating power in Cuba was eulogized by the U.S. media as the "Robin Hood of the Sierra Madre." He even appeared on the Ed Sullivan show to denounce those "extremists" who at that time were trying to ex-

Nelson Mandela openly supports Fiedel Castro, Kahadafy of Libya, the PLO in the middle east and other Communist or terrorist organizations. He openly advocates the con-tinued use of "violence" in South Africa. What our press fails to report is that this translates to the murder of more innocent people in South Africa, both white and black. Money paid by perhaps well meaning but duped Americans to Mandela on his U.S. trip will help finance more slaughter in South Africa.

school board election. You're right. Social change is what the schools are after. I don't understand why parents are not enraged about what is happening, unless they are not aware of the new twist on education. On the national level, legislator Bryant has written a book entitled, "The Nine Faces of Legislator Bryant." These nine faces are the nine people who he believes live inside him. This man is on the Education Committee. He is on the Education Committee. He believes change is needed and children need a new way of thinking.

So, on the state level we have problem solving-with-people (PSP) as the core of the Michigan Model for Comprehensive Health Educa-tion. This "health" program covers some physical health, but covers more of the mental health and val-ues. It also begins at kindergarten level with a "quieting reflex," so that by 7th grade level, students can not the measures in a hymnelic state. put themselves in a hypnotic state. Although the state downplays this, teachers who attended the three-day teaching seminar for the model were teaching seminar for the model were told the most important thing in the model was to teach the children the relaxation techniques. This includes mini-vacations (in your mind) by the 7th grade. In other words, they are teaching our children Altered States of Consciousness. But I need to clarify this - not all teachers teach this, because some are not willing to do it Another aspect of the model is "affective education" used in PSP. The Nalepa tragedy is a result of the section on "feelings." Affective education involves emotions or feelings and using these to sway people and change values. Sidney Simon, father of values clarification, says it is a method to change children's values without getting caught. He says they don't need to hear about right or wrong any more. Students are taught in PSP to make decisions on how they feel, not on law or morality or especially not by what their parents have said.

This health program covers AIDS, drug use, tobacco use, sex-education, and death. (The goal of the sex-edu-cation part is to have clinics in every school to dispense birth control and abortions, not to decrease sexual activity). Tobacco education has been funded by R.J. Reynolds (cigarette manufacturers) in a similar program called "Quest" for teens. Are you people really naive enough to believe that Planned Parenthood and RJR are not in it for the money?

What would their goals be?

The state is using the model to take out parents' values and put in theirs. I think this is terrible, but Hitler would have loved the idea for social change. Some of the model's choices are unbelievable, like a survey which only allows a child to state whether he uses marijuana occasionally or frequently — never is not a choice. These same fifth graders are asked to write about their sexual experiences, including masturbation, wet dreams, etc., and hand them in to their teachers. By the way, monogamy in the model is defined as having sex with one person at a time. How many people are we supposed to have sex with at once? AIDS is also classified as not a highly contagious disease, but as one like cancer. Why did the Gay-Lesbian Coalition have this inaccuracy put in? Because they love our children or because they want homosex-uality to increase? Children are definitely being manipulated. PSP, which begins in kindergarten is nothing other than group therapy. By second grade, students have to vote on their responses so that peer pres-sure will eventually force them to all respond the same on ethical is-sues raised by teachers. There is a lawsuit by 19 students in Pigeon Creek against the model. Will Plymouth and Canton please wake up.

Canton needs tax breaks not commons

I guess I have become shockproof, since I was not surprised to read your editorial supporting the further soaking of Canton taxpayers to build a $6 million "Commons.

When will you and Canton officials realize that Canton is not and should not attempt to be another Bloom-field Hills or even, thank God, another Plymouth? Instead of building yet another taxpayer funded monument to some politician's ego, Canton should return to what it was that first attracted most of us here. It was a good place to live that the average person could afford.

The building of such a "Commons" would only be the tip of the iceberg.

Soon they will realize they need 10 custodians, four administrators, a bike trail consultant, a farmer's in market consultant, etc. to go along with the recently hired $42,000 a year "tree" adviser.

I am a retiree and have recently" listed my home for sale (because of current taxes) but cannot find a buyer (because of taxes). Talk to any realtor about what is happening in Canton and give us a break.

A new report on public school libraries has added more fuel to the fire in Michigan's long running school financing debate.

A state board of education report, published last week, found vast differences in spending for li-brary books and supplies among Michigan's rich and poor school

An Observer survey of local school districts found some who spent more than 10 times as much on libraries as others - with outof-formula districts generally spending more than those still re-ceiving state aid for basic school

Garden City spent an estimated $18,000 — less than $3 per student on library supplies in the past school year, Witkowski said.

The difference between in-formula and out-of-formula districts might be best shown by comparing the similarly sized Wayne-West-land and Livonia school districts.

While in-formula Wayne-West-land spent roughly $115,000 on its libraries - more than $6.50 per student - Livonia spent $373,000, or about $23 per student.

Plymouth-Canton, another of the area's larger districts, spent a whopping $864,601, though only $51,655 came from its general operating budget - the rest came from a new millage.

The typical Michigan school library contains about 7,992 books, the survey said, more than 2,000 fewer than typical libraries in other north central states.

Nearly two-thirds of the libraries surveyed reported that at least half their books are more than a decade old.

"Since 1988, approximately 50,000 youngsters have been enrolled in MET, making MET bigger than the state's largest university. The board's decisions were based on the actuarial soundness of the $350 million MET fund and the continued public interest in the program,' Bowman added.

PSYCHIATRIST BRAINWASHES FAT

A Detroit area psychiatrist is using classic Russian and Chinese techniques to brainwash people into losing weight. The brainwashing is based on more than 6 years of medical research using alternating periods of sensory deprivation and sensory overload to plant a new thin belief system in the mind. The brainwashing makes cravings disappear and stops binging and compulsive eating. The program was created for people who have never been able to stay on a diet, and has helped thousands of people lose weight and keep it off over the past 6 years. The BRAINWASHING DIET has been featured on the Joan Rivers Show, Sally Jesse Raphael and Larry King Live. The BRAINWASHING DIET BOOK by William Nagler, M.D. and Anne Androff, M.A. contains the complete 12 Hour Brainwashing Seminar thousands have paid $395 for. Now you can brainwash yourself at home. This book will not be in bookstores until 1992. But you can receive your advance hard back copy now, for just $19.95 and postage. AZATHIOPRINE

Azathioprine is another medicine physicians use to treat rheumatoid arthritis. The medication is a consideration if gold, and/or methotrexate, penicillamine, or aszulfadiene have failed to halt the activity of the arthritis.

Like these other medications, azathioprine has toxic side effects. They include the stopping of production of red blood cells, platelets, and white blood cells. In addition, azathioprine may cause injury to the kidney, liver, lung, and skin.

The basis for these different toxicities is that azathioprine stops the proliferation of rapidly dividing cells. Central to the development of rheumatoid arthritis is a rapid increase in lympocyctes that cause self immunity. A medicine that stops this growth possibly could stop the arthritis.

Unfortunately, azathoprine may destroy any rapidly dividing cells, not only lymphocytes, but also blood cells, platelets, and other cells of the liver and kidney that are involved in the activities of these organs.

More physicians are turning to azathoprine because experience has shown that its toxicity is less than other drugs such as gold or methotrexate. Unfortunately, the efficacy of azathioprine is still unknown; greater use of the medication will establish its place.

Bill will reduce state aid to some school districts

By Tim Richard staff writer

"Robin Hood" school aid bill was approved by a 3-1 margin in the state House of Representatives only a day after the Senate gave it bare

The vote was 74 to 24 with 12 ab-

The bill reduces categorical state aid to many suburban school dis-tricts by increasing the so-called "recapture" amount to $72 million from last year's $22 million.

"Almost $20 million of that $50 million will be on the backs of the taxpayers in Oakland County," said Rep. Mat Dunaskiss, R-Lake Orion, who filed a formal protest against the bill.

He predicted many districts will-have to ask voters for local property tax increases to make up for lost state categorical aid.

AMONG OAKLAND lawmakers, the bill was opposed by Dunaskiss, Maxine Berman, D-Southfield, Jan Dolan, R-Farmington Hills, Judith Miller, R-Birmingham, Gordon Sparks, R-Troy, and Wilfred Webb, D-Hazel Park.

David Honigman, R-West Bloom-field, voted yes, making school aid a major issue in his next election. Honigman and Miller are rivals in the Aug. 7 Republican primary for the 17th District Senate seat being vacated by Richard Fessler, R-Com-

Both sides described it as a "Robin Hood" bill, taking from the out-offormula districts with large proper-ty tax bases and giving to the districts within the state aid formula.

Among Wayne County lawmakers, the bill was favored by sponsor Wil-liam Keith, D-Garden City, Justine Barns, D-Westland, and James Kosteva, D-Canton.

Missing the roll call was John Bennett, D-Redford.

Lyn Bankes, R-Livonia, and Gerald Law, R-Plymouth, had excused

The $3.15 billion state aid bill includes about $650 million in categorical aid for Social Security, pensions, bilingual, pregnant teens, special education and other defined purposes.

Until the last two budgets, all districts — rich and poor — had received categorical aid.

Dunaskiss and Sen. Doug Cruce, R-Troy, talked of a lawsuit challenging the bill on the ground that the Headlee amendment to the Michigan Constitution requires the state to pay for services that it mandates local recoveraments to perform.

for services that it mandates local governments to perform.

Keith said his long-range goal is to remove as many categoricals as possible from the aid bill and use the money in the general aid formula. If that were done, the proportion of districts receiving general state aid would rise to 90 percent from the current 71 percent.

IN OTHER business, the House fell far short of overriding Gov. James Blanchard's veto of a bill greatly reducing the state inheritance tax.

With 74 votes, a two-thirds majority, needed to override, the House mustered 49 yes votes, less than a simple simple majority, and 46 nays.

Petitions ask state Legislature to enact parental consent bill

Citizens for Parents' Rights has submitted a total of 332,787 signatures to the Secretary of State in Lansing in favor of a proposed abor-tion regulation bill called the Paren-tal Rights Restoration Act.

Right to Life of Michigan President Barbara Listing, CPR spokes-woman, said the petitions ask the state Legislature to enact the bill to require a minor seeking an abortion to obtain parental consent.

"Once again, Gov. Blanchard's extreme pro-abortion stance has caused the citizens of Michigan to resort to their constitutional right to initiate legislation to restore parents' rights," Listing said. Blanchard vetoed a similar bill passed by the Legislature, but the House was unable to muster a two-thirds majority to override the veto.

If the Legislature acts on RTL's initiative, the bill could not be vetoed by the governor.

Listing said the group exceeded the quota of signatures by about 140,000 and also beat the 180-day deadline for signature collection by two months. Some 9,000 volunteers from all 83 counties obtained the signatures in less than four months, she

The completed petitions are under review by the state elections division. Listing said validation is expected by early September.

May figures are best showing for state economy this year

The Michigan Business Activity Index is heading up again. The May index jumped five points to 132 compared with 127 in April, Manufacturers National Bank reported.

"This is the best showing for the state's business conditions since the year began," said David L. Littmann, the bank's first vice president and senior economist.

"Nevertheless, year to date, the MBAI is 0.8 percent below the first five months of last year, with May nearly 4 percent below the same month a year ago.

"Michigan's economic strength in the month of May came principally from the automotive sector, with higher car sales contributing 1.5 points and Michigan motor vehicle production adding nearly three

"Some of May's robust activity is clearly attributable to typical auto industry output patterns in a bar-gaining year." Littmann added. The MBAI represents 10 measures of Michigan economic activity compiled monthly by the bank."

Most of us are accustomed to a creamy-smooth, melt-in-yourmouth concoction usually con-taining more total calories than a rotund French chef. But mo don't necessarily have to be laden with sweet cream, sugar and chocolate

A recent story on turning calo-rie-laden cheesecakes into savory lunch or light dinner entrees spurred this writer into research-ing what the average household cook can do to transform another cool, summer-loved treat into a light brunchable or tres chic cool

SAVORY OR sweet, the cold mousse is the queen of summer's epicurean dishes

MOUSSE, IN FRENCH, means "moss," "froth" and "cream" — all apt descriptions of this supersmooth concoction.

Whipped cream with gelatin as a stabilizer is the base for most cold mousses. For picture-perfect results, the cream shouldn't be whipped to a fare-thee-well, or the mixture will be grainy.

Rather, it should be whipped just until it begins to take the form of gentle mounds and pillows, never stiff peaks.

THE GELATIN should be used aringly to avoid a rubbery consistency, and it always must be thoroughly dissolved before being added to any of the mixtures.

Generally, a tablespoon of plain gelatin will gel one pint of liquid, and commercial unflavored gelatin is usually packaged with one tablespoon of granules per packet.

A call to the cooking professionals at Kitchen Glamor, the metro area's gourmet haven, found what kitchen connoisseurs consider to be the best in unflavored gelatin, dubbed Grayslake.

Available exclusively .from Kitchen Glamor, this pure unflavored gelatin not only excels in mousses but can be made into marshmallow.

WHILE MOUSSES may be served directly from a bowl or, for dessert, in individual glasses or bowls, savory mousses are most attractive when chilled in a mold and garnished after unmolding on a serving plate or

The more decorative the mold, the more dramatic will be the presentation of the dish.

Again, Kitchen Glamor has a vast array of attractive molds, as do many of the kitchen depart-ments at major retailers. In all honesty, however, yours truly has even used, in a pinch, a suitablesized bowl from the kitchen cup-

BEST OF all are the light-weight tin molds, easiest to unmold by inverting on the serving plate and covering with a hot towel wrung out in hot water. Of course, a light spray of a food-re-lease agent such as Pam also can do the trick. Ring molds are especially good for mousses requiring a sauce or for holding garnishes. In general, a 11/4-quart mold will easily serve

Old-fashioned meat market

With new ideas

By Janice Brunson staff writer

N SOME WAYS, a step into Porterhouse Meats on Main Street in Plymouth is a step into the past.

Sides of beef are hung to age in the style of yesteryear. Bacon, cured on the premises, is warm from smoking. A dozen varieties of sausage reflect customer request. Sauces, home canned from personalized recipes, adorn countertops.

Moreover, the sense of an earlier time is flavored by good old-fashoned service. Such an atmosphere is not mere happenstance.

It is the result of 14-hour-workdays, attention to detail and an artistic bent by owners Jack and Kristin Trabue — parents of three young daughters — who purchased the butcher shop four years ago.

According to Jack Trabue, dressing meat, improving standard butchery fare and fashioning new fare is akin to the advanced degree in fine arts he holds from Eastern Michigan University.

"It's the same process. The atti-tude is the same. The mentality is the same," said Jack, the acknowledged idea man of the pair.

Kristin, a speech pathologist who graduated from Michigan State University, attends to business. "My job is to know the customers and tell them about the products he devel-

ANDOUILLE CAJUN and Creole Cajun sausages are a case in point.

Though something of a master sausage maker, Trabue was unprepared when an area caterer ordered spicy Cajun. "I got on the phone and started calling butcher shops in New Or-leans," Trabue said. Half a dozen calls later, he had pieced together zesty recipes for Andouille and Creole. Both are now standard fare. Other customer requests that are now staples include Boerewors, an African sausage of beef and lamb, and Chorizo, a Mexican blood sausage. On request in the fall, Trabue prepares Thuringer or venison sausage for area hunters. When a group of gourmands who meet monthly required a specially prepared rolled lamb loin without bone - an unusual request that requires a certain amount of butchery skill to prepare — they turned to Trabue. "I don't know if they could have found anyone else to do it."

Trabue's city chicken, marinated skewers of chicken breast and pork tenderloin, is an adaptation, as is improved chicken cordon bleu, a smaller, more secure version that is less likely to leak tasty cheese stuff-

Jack and Kristin Trabue show some of the butchery fare, as well as their own new product line, that they offer at Porterhouse Meats in Plymouth.

Such things, he said, "are small changes but customers seem to like Trabue also accommodates increasing health concerns by stocking specially raised Amish chicken and by smoking bacon with less salt, a process that requires seven days of preparation. He also smokes wild boar, pheasant, caribou and salmon upon request.

SUNDAY IS "FUN DAY" at Porterhouse Meats, a day set aside for special requests and one-of-akind orders. "I'm willing to cut any-thing," Jack said, adding, "I always meet a lot of new customers."

Sunday also permits ample time to visit with customers, Kristin points out.

All beef used in the shop is top-choice, aged, hanging beef that allows for more tender meat. Sides of beef are available at $1.59 a pound, a hind quarter costs $1.89 a pound and a front quarter is $1.49 a pound.

Although quality is higher, Porterhouse prices are comparable to area supermarkets, according to Kristin, who said, "People assume we're more expensive but we're comparable." Bulk purchases are possible, phone orders are accepted and delivery is available for the homebound.

Though cuts of meat, poultry and fish are the mainstay of the business, Jack's legendary enthusiasm in experimenting with new culinary ideas is also an important part of the busi-

Passing interest in spaghetti and barbeque sauces and chili led to cooking marathons at home and in the shop. Word of Mouth Spaghetti Sauce, Jack's Smokey BBQ Sauce and Word of Mouth Chili are now prepared and packaged for sale at Porterhouse and other location chili is available in frozen ...-

Once, using an old recipe, Jack even prepared soap from leftover tallow. New ideas for a steak salt and a vegetable drink are in the planning stages.

BIGGEST CHALLENGE of the moment, according to Kristin, is maintaining quality, in view of Jack's busy schedule. "I can sell it but I don't know how to make it," she said with a laugh, referring to the special cuts of meat and homemade sauces that require much of Jack's

Game for a great meal? Try reliable MacKinnon's

Ten years ago, the west-side restaurant scene - below Oakland County's glitz and glitter belt - was generally dreary.

Downriver cuisine had not yet graduated from braised muskrat to raw fish, and in the Western Wayne County heartland, restaurants were stuck in the steak sandwich stage.

Tom MacKinnon didn't singlehandedly change that when his new restaurant opened nearly a decade ago in downtown Northville.

But the opening of MacKinnon's did coincide with a west-side restaurant renaissance, and today a night of fine dining no longer means heading to Ann Arbor or downtown De-

THOUGH MackINNON'S bears the strong stamp of its 34-year-old co-owner, a big part of the package is its location.

MacKinnon's front window, draped in lace curtains, looks out on downtown Northville, a pleasant main street community with a Victo-

Mallard, pheasant and quail are captured in paintings and lithographs hanging on the brick walls; in a lovely stained glass panel; and in little treatments like the napkin

Much of the artwork is that of Leonard Wades, the other co-owner who has done as much for the restaurant's ambience as MacKinnon has done for the food.

IN SEASON, MacKinnon does venison, buffalo, pheasant, quail and other game, often combined with a fruit sauce - black current, for ex-

A year-round staple is duck, and the best dish on the menu is "blownup duck," where the chef injects air underneath the skin of a half duck before baking.

The result is crisped skin while the meat underneath remains moist. Add a raspberry sauce, and you've got a real heart stopper.

Char-grilled mallard breast is one of three items in the Scotch grill, a plate that adds a lamb chop and smoked salmon in a pastry, served with two sauces.

MacKINNON ALSO has a confident hand with fish.

Our Dover sole was cooked perfectly in herbed butter and then fileted artfully at the table.

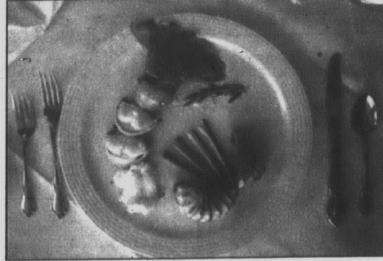

It was served with two delicious sauces, a zesty bearnaise and a milder lobster cream sauce. A recent swordfish special also was excellent.

THOUGH THE menu changes periodically and is always supplemented with an array of specials, two items have been around almost as long as the restaurant (which opened on Devil's Night, 1981).

Those are the rack of lamb served with a black current sauce and the Beef Wellington, complemented with a bordelaise sauce.

We like the crawfish bisque, we like the duck pate, we like the French crepe-like taco, we like the sirloin with green pepper, we like the ravioli with tomato prosciutto sauce, we like the wild turkey tenderloin with spiced berry sauce.

WE CAN'T remember anything we haven't liked about MacKinnon's, except that every once in a while the gruyere gets one touch over the line

Piedmont's specialty is the big red wines

Italy's Piedmont region is the land of the Fiat, white truffles, prestigious Vermouth houses and Asti Spurante producers. It also boasts a significant production of Italy's finest dry sparkling wines.

Annual Piedmont wine production approximates 120 million gallons from 250,000 acres of vineyards.

Flinty, crisp white Gavi wine from the Piedmont is fast becoming a chicker. Distinctive, rich, dry Arneis is Much of the picturesque terrain consists of Alpine or Apennine slopes covered with south-facing vineyards.

This is a land blessed with many small independent growers and win-eries with impeccable standards and world-class red wines.

THE NOBLE grape of the region is nebbiolo. However, this variety represents only a little over 2.5 percent of all grapes produced in the re-

Translated as "foggy," the name nebbiolo derives from the fog that covers the hills of the Piedmont until late morning.

Documentation of the cultivation of this grape in the hillsides of the Piedmont, principally between the towns of Alba and Asti, dates to the

IT IS A difficult grape to grow. Cultivation is localized in limited areas chosen for the proper soil, elevation and sun exposure. Nebbiolo gains its greatest distinction in the wines from the villages of Barolo and Barbaresco near the town of Alba in the Southern Pied-

Here, brothers Bruno and Marcello Ceretto continue the work of their father, Riccardo, who founded the family winery in 1935.

IN 1952, the brothers made history as the first Italian producers to ferment red wines in stainless steel

"Stainless steel fermentation of red wines in the Piedmont is most important," Bruno Ceretto said. "Without it, temperature control is impossible and the wine suffers a loss of fruit."

The Cerettos specialize in premi-um single-vineyard Barolo and Barbaresco wines, and boast ownership of the prestigious Faset Vineyard in Barbaresco. The very limited pro-duction 1985 Barbaresco Faset was first released in 1988.

FROM THEIR Bricco Rocche Estate in Castiglione Falletto, the Cerettos produce three "cru" Barolos: Brunate, Prapo and Bricco

The Ceretto winery in the town of Alba also vinifies grapes grown in vineyards the family leases for 30year periods - the approximate lifespan of a vine.

A TASTING of the wines from the diversified vineyards reveals a distinctive charm and charisma.

1988 Arneis Blange ($18) is lean and tannic with solid supporting fruit. The straightforward presentation is a good introduction to the nebbiolo grape in the style of a Barolo.

1985 Barbaresco Asij ($18) represents the higher tannin levels of the vintage in a round, well-extracted wine with solid fruit and finish. It exemplifies a handsomely styled Barwill benefit from continued bottle aging for several more years.

Because of Italy's lengthy winemaking history, the top producers are continually faced with upholding special regional traditions while striving to bring the region to its fullest modern potential. The Ceretto brothers have done this extraceding all wards. traordinarily well.

"THE PIEDMONT tradition continues in quality vineyard sites, even though the winemaking techniques are modern," Ceretto said.

"1989 is the vintage of the centu-ry. It's better than the acclaimed 1961. All wines will be uniformly excellent with concentrated, extracted

"Good to average wines are made in years when it is sunny only during the months of July and August. In great years, like 1989, it is very sunny from April to November."

Secrets of grilling fine cheeseburgers

AP - The American Dairy Association has the following tips for grilling great cheeseburgers.

 Use your hands to gently shape ground beef into patties, but keep handling to a minimum. The more the beef is manipulated, the less juicy the burgers will be.

• Grill burgers over medium coals. The coals are considered medium when they appear to glow through the layer of gray ash that covers them. This usually takes 30-45 minutes. Or hold your hand, palm down, about 4 inches above the coals for four seconds before the heat becomes uncomfortable · Wait to salt burgers until after they have been turned.

Collegiate all-stars plan Adray ambush

staff writer

As a prelude to the Major League All-Star Game Tuesday night at Chi-cago's Wrigley Field, the Livonia Collegiate Baseball League All-Stars will take on the best from the Detroit Adray League in a 9:30 a.m. matchup at Tiger Stadium.

The LCBL All-Stars will be trying to avenge a 16-2 loss last season to the Detroiters. Baseball fans will get an added bonus at 12:30 p.m. Tuesday as the Detroiters take on the Lansing-area All-Stars.

Admission is free for both games. Spectators can enter Tiger Stadium through Gate No. 15 beginning at 9

Detroit again will be managed by Bob Atkins, whose first-place Adray Appliance team, now 13-1 in league play and 19-2 overall, boasts 11 representatives. (Dave Racer of Hines Park Lincoln-Mercury will manage the LCBL squad.)

The most impressive player to date for the Appliance squad is catcher/outfielder Mike Heard.

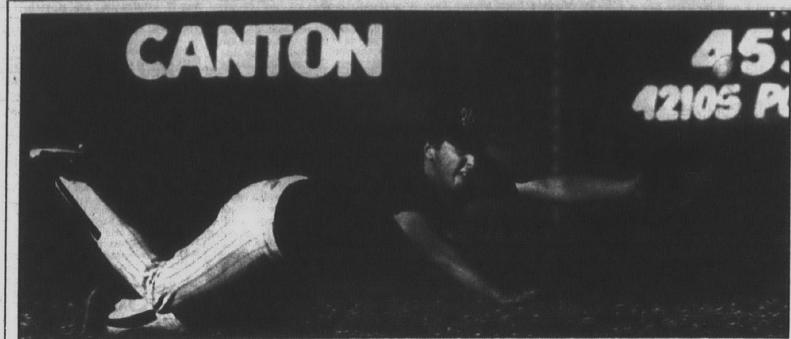

HEARD, a product of Wayne Memorial High, is batting cleanup for Appliance. He will be a junior this fall at Siena Heights College where he made the All-NAIA District 23

"He's done very well for us, he's been outstanding," said Atkins. "Mike does a lot of things right. He's alert and aggressive."

The versatile Heard, likely to be drafted next year, has been filling in for injured Appliance starting catch-er Mike Stefanski, who has been bothered by a sprained knee.

Stefanski, a Redford Union High product, will play Tuesday if his knee comes around, according to At-

Another familiar face from Observerland is ex-Westland John Glenn High pitcher/outfielder Clint Straub, who sat out last season at Henry Ford Community College after dropping out of Western Michigan University.

ALSO SCHEDULED to play for the Detroiters is left-handed pitcher Leo Hutchinson, formerly of Redford Catholic Central High and a sophomore-to-be at Eastern Michigan University.

Hutchinson, who plays for the EMU-based Adray Photo team, won three games this spring for the Hurons after leading CC to the state Class A semifinals in 1989.

Birmingham's Matt Newton, pitcher for the Canuck Spinners, a Windsor-based team in the Detroit Adray League, has also been select-

He helped Seaholm High School to the 1988 state Class A crown. The LCBL starting lineup, meanwhile, is set. The starting infield will be: LCBL RBI leader Lee Tappy of Duffy's Plumbing, a first baseman who played at RU; second baseman Todd Fracassi, also of Duffy's, who went to Livonia Stevenson High and Henry Ford CC; Duffy's shortstop Steve Michelz of Oakland University; and third baseman Jeremy Krol, who went to Garden City High and now plays for Madonna College. The catcher is Grass Lake native

Tim Crabtree of defending LCBL champion Walter's Appliance. He is a back-up catcher at Michigan State.

Scheduled to play in the outfield: Mike Siwajek of Duffy's, who attends Kalamazoo College; Little Caesars' Jim Miller, the outstanding red-shirt freshman quarterback prospect for MSU (Waterford Kettering High); and Jerry Koester, who attended Glenn High.

THE DESIGNATED hitter is Caesars' Jõe Brusseau, who prepped at Redford Bishop Borgess High before going on to Madonna. See LCBL lineup and roster.

Racer is unsure about his starting pitcher, but will most likely call on one of the Hirschman brothers, Stu or Steve, from Wendy's of Ann Arbor. Both play at MSU; or former Stevenson High and Henry Ford CC left-hander Dave Houghtby of Walter's, the LCBL's winningest pitcher.

Area fans can get a sneak preview of the LCBL All-Stars beginning at 7 tonight at Livonia's Ford Field when they take on Feigert & Feigert, a team from the Pontiac Class A League coached by Scott Combs.

Feigert has several former Collegiate and Adray league players on its roster including Wayne State pitcher Henry Miller, shortstop Randy Barringer, outfielder Jim Rousseau, second baseman Scott Wyler, designated hitter Jeff DePorter; former minor league catcher Dave Slavin, formerly of Plymouth Salem High and the University of Missouri; and infielder Art George of the University of Evansville and Redford Thurston High. George played last season for Caesars in the LCBL.

Coach considers Boles expendable

HOUGHTS WHILE waiting at another long train crossing at Merriman Road.

Boles 'em over?: From all indications, ex-Westland John Glenn High star Tony Boles will not be back this fall in the University of Michigan football uni-

Fifth-year seniors at U-M are traditionally considered "risks," and with Boles' grades and knee in question, new head coach Gary Moeller figures the two-time All-Big Ten tailback is expendable.

If the Michigan people were concerned about his situation, he would have been enrolled in the spring term.

Unfortunately, Boles is another victim of the "100 Yard Lie" that Sports Illustrated's Rick Telander writes about in his book about the abuses of college football. Considered damaged goods, Boles can easily be re-placed in the backfield by such guys as Jon Vaughn, Allen Jefferson and Ricky Powers.

Boles' father Daniel also made an interesting comment about his son being somewhat miffed when the U-

M people downplayed his prospects for the Heisman.

Ironically, if Boles would have been at Notre Dame or Michigan State, the promotional campaign would have been in full swing.

Things are done differently in Ann Arbor, whether it's right or wrong.

My main concern about Tony Boles is will he find his niche in life without pro football or a college degree? But whatever happens, Boles certainly gave me plenty of exciting Fridays and Saturdays to last a lifetime. He was a gifted, natural athlete, through and through, a-

Maybe getting ready to play in the new World Foot-ball League this spring is Boles' best option. I can empathize with him.

Ron Way-ward?: Former Wayne High pitcher Ron Way was progressing nicely through the Pirates organization until he had a run-in with a manager down in a Class A team last month in Augusta, Ga.

Way, who was 5-2 with an ERA under 3.00, was suspended indefinitely and sent home.

The confrontation didn't sit well with some of the Pirates staff, but I learned recently that Way will be reassigned to another farm club. Last week he flew back to Bradenton, Fla., awaiting reassignment.

Maybe the best solution for both parties concerned to find another organization that will take Way, possibly in

Here's the boot: Just a reminder, high school football is only five weeks away with the first practice scheduled Aug. 13 and the first game Aug. 31.

This season should be more bizarre than ever with eight different divisions.

The Michigan High School Athletic Association released its region breakdowns, and here is how Observerland schools fall into line:

AA (Region II) — Plymouth Canton, Plymouth Salem, Garden City, Livonia Churchill, Livonia Franklin, Livonia Stevenson, Redford Catholic Central, Wayne Memorial and Westland John Glenn.

A (Region IV) - Farmington, North Farmington,

Emons

Redford Union, Walled Lake Central and Walled Lake

BB (Region IV) - Farmington Harrison and Redford

B (Region IV) - Livonia Clarenceville and Redford Bishop Borgess. CC — nobody

C (Region IV) — Redford St. Agatha and Lutheran Westland.

DD and D - nobody.

Sabo an All-Star: Observerland will be represented in Tuesday's All-Star game at Wrigley Field in Chicago. Redford Catholic Central grad Chris Sabo was voted the starting third baseman for the National League Sabo has been up over the .300 mark most of the season and displayed some power with 16 homers.

He is one of the reasons the Reds are on top the National League West. Sabo is making his second All-Star appearance.

Not bad for a guy who at one time wanted to be a goalie in the National Hockey League.

Mac's Attack: John McIntyre, another CC product who recently graduated from the University Missouri, is planning to attend both the Detroit Pistons and Boston Celtics free-agent rookie camps this month.

McIntyre's stock rose considerably during his senior year at Mizzo Look for the 6-foot-4 guard to play in Europe this

Another CC grad, Greg Wendt, spent the year playing professionally in the Germany. Livonia Stevenson product Tom Domako, the last cut by the Houston Rockets last fall, spent time in the Continental Basketball Association last winter, most recently in Columbus, Ohio.

Baseball talk: This year's winner of the Livonia Collegiate Baseball League playoffs does not get an automatic bid to the All-American Amateur Baseball Association tournament in Johnstown, Pa., (Aug. 12-18).

The LCBL winner must first get through a regional qualifier in Zanesville, Ohio.

Wondering: Who is going to be the new boys basket-ball coach at Walled Lake Western and Westland John Is Livonia Clarenceville close to hiring a new football coach?

Why don't girls wear caps in high school softball?
Franklin's Amporn (my favorite first name) Wagner was the only exception.

Reflexology helps to detect and treat

Dear Myrna: I recently hired a massage therapist to come to my home. The first two visits she did what she called Swedish Massage and pressure points. I am a runner and really treasure this time. Her last visit, she worked with my feet for awhile. My feet were very sensitive. I hated it while she worked my feet, but could feel the benefit after. Could it be because I run that I need the extra foot

Sounds like reflexology to me. Your running does not necessarily cause extra foot sensitivity or a need for extra foot massage. But reflexology is good for your feet and other parts of the body as well.

What is reflexology? The human body is divided into 10 zones which run vertically from the top of the head to the top of the toes. The theory behind this is that every part of the body corresponds to an area — a reflex point — on the feet and hands. By applying specific pressure techniques to these reflex points, disorders in the rest of our bodies can be detected and treated. By working over the feet (the feet being more sensitive than the hands, therefore, will detect body parts better), you are massaging the tension in that part of the body. The body areas that need attention will reflect on your feet.

How does this work? The treatment relieves stress and induces a state of total relaxation. Blood circulation improves and so distribution of nutrients to the cells and removal of waste products will become much more efficient. The feet are sensitive. There are supposedly 7,000 nerve endings in each foot. It is possible that such pressure techniques could have some sort of stimulating effect on them. Good in your case — being a runner.

Reflexology is certainly enjoying a revival. Like other ancient therapies, such as acupuncture, it is used as a natural way to treat many ailments as well as relieve stress, both physical and mental.

The general philosophy has been around for thousands of years. In Ancient Chinese and Egyptian medicine, the feet were massaged to promote good health. Reflexology is certainly enjoying a revival. Like other ancient therapies, such as acupuncture, it is used as a natural way to treat many ailments as well as relieve stress, both physical

A whole reflexology treatment lasts approximately 45-50 minutes. During this time, the massage therapist will follow a certain route over your feet, usually using her thumb to seek out the problem areas. She will then concentrate on these areas to relieve the stress interspersed with satisfying strokes. With your sensitive feet, breathe rhythmically and relax. If you have specific areas that trouble you, you probably will feel a difference.

A few months ago I went to a spa with seven friends. We stayed four days. Reflexology was my best spa experience. Besides enjoying my friends, of course. (I hope you're reading this guys!)

A regularly organized and very struc-tured sport, lawn bowling should not be confused with bocce ball, another popular member of the bowling family.

For the most bocce ball is played rather informally in parks and at the beaches, while lawn bowling is played on specially groomed areas known as bowl-

Usually the bowling green is a well-manicured Pen-Cross Bent Grass which is groomed to a perfect level and smooth

The Westland Lawn Bowling Club, 36500 Marquette, maintains a green and full facilities in Westland near Ford and Newburgh roads. It is an attractive club with a regular slate of competition, luring players from such places as Flint, Chicago, Milwaukee, parts of Florida and foreign countries.

A three-day tournament was held earlier this month with some of the area's top lawn bowlers turning in strong perfor-mances. Cup soccer: all defense, no offense

7 THAT HAS BEEN billed as the world's greatest sports spectacular has cli-maxed. Now, hopefully, the residents of the earth will take a moment to regain their collective breaths after the exciting conclusion of the once-every-fouryears battle for worldwide soccer supremacy. I watched. I marveled. I appreciated. But in the end, mostly I wondered,

"What's the big deal?" I asked myself. World Cup soccer doesn't seem such a tough game to

True, you can't just send college-experienced players out there and expect to succeed, like the United States does in basketball and it tried to do in this World Cup. But as far as strategy goes, it shouldn't be so difficult. For our country to put its national team into the Cup's final four in 1994 (when we host the tournament), all we have to do is find a decent keeper; one big (maybe 6-foot-6), fast, mobile striker proficient at heading the ball; and nine other guys to play a zone-like defense surrounding their own goal. Trust me. Follow these directions and you'll be in the Cup semis.

Oh, one other thing. Make sure the guys chosen to the U.S. team - all of them - are wellpracticed in shooting penalty kicks.

IT'S NO SECRET that the best soccer in our state is practiced within the boundaries of the Observer & Eccentric coverage area. Consequently, I realize a lot of the folks who read this paper are soccer nuts.

So what I've proposed is nothing envisionary to the experts. Are you kidding? It's all too appar-

I saw the four quarterfinal matches a week ago. Three were decided by penalty kicks, one in an overtime penalty-kick shootout. Then both semifinal match winners could not be decided before the overtime shootout.

C.J. Risak

Seems pretty ridiculous to me, but hey, if FIFA (the international group governing soccer) wants to even things up among all the teams in the world, why fight it? If you watched any of the Cup on TV, there's no arguing it's a defensive game. There isn't much room for offense. A one-goal advantage is nearly insurmountable.

WHAT'S WORSE, there's very little drama. Has any team in the tournament come back to tie after trailing by two goals? No. The only real excitement has come during shootouts.

And that, folks, isn't really soccer. I guess I expected more. Wait - let me take that a step further. I've watched World Cup games in the past, and I've seen better. Just watching TV highlights of Cup finals from years past is enough to prove the game has changed considerably. Defenses are so suffocating the only way to score is on a penalty kick or by blind

Two thoughts struck me during the lackluster matches: First, how can fans all over the world get so excited about something like this; and second, how are Europeans going to handle American football when it debuts on the continent next

Of course, it also occurred to me that Americans can't sit still during a Cup match featuring endless minutes of mindless probing by the team with the ball. Our sports are more action-packed and fast-paced, which raises doubts in me about soccer's future in the U.S. - certainly the defensive style now in vogue.

AMERICANS ALSO like tough guys. Soccer players are always falling down and rolling around on the grass. I'm not saying they're not hurt but -

Let me draw an analogy: An average soccer player is about 6-foot, 180 pounds, about the size of the Pistons' Isiah Thomas. Thomas fearlessly slices through defenders a foot taller and 100 pounds heavier, gets knocked to the hardwood floor, then gets up and sprints downcourt on de-

This might happen to the Pistons' captain two or three times a game. No timeouts are called, the play doesn't stop.

I think this injury act so many soccer players like to use would be tempered if more substitution was allowed. Then, if a guy got hurt, out he would come and the game could continue.

As for shootouts, can 'em. Instead of two 15minute overtime sessions to be played in their entirety, just have sudden-death OT. And, unless the substitution rule is altered according to the abovementioned guidelines, give each team at least one additional sub for the extra time.

The offsides rule is already being relaxed, and that's good. But my opinion is, it isn't enough. Of course, I'm just an American. And what America thinks doesn't have much influence on the conservative worldwide soccer community.

Proben didn't have long to relish golf victory

staff writer

On Thursday he was a statewide hero, having conquered a prominent field of competitors and the much-heralded, Jack Nicklaus-designed Bear to win the Michigan Open.

But by Friday, Bob Proben had to be back on the job.

The Redford native (Thurston, class of '73) rose early that morning in Traverse City, site of the Open, and drove back to West Bloomfield, site of Knollwood Country Club and work. By early afternoon, the assistant golf pro was busy giving lessons.

"I don't mind at all," Proben said of the transition. "I got to go play in the Michigan Open, and I happened to win it."

With the victory, Proben also collected his biggest single-prize ever — $12,000. In addition, he qualified for the $18,000 Michigan Bell Showdown in August.

Proben's victory was hardly ex-pected. No factor favored him entering the tournament. He had never played on the Bear; his practice round, scheduled for the Saturday before the Open, was washed out.

HE HADN'T exactly been playing all that well, either. The week before the Open, Proben competed in the state's assistant pros' championship at Oakland Hills Country Club.

"I played terrible. It was the worst I've played in a long time."
In the week between the two tournaments, Proben spent some time working on his game, and it helped. Definitely.

"I was hitting the ball extremely well before I left (for the Open)."

STILL, HIS first two rounds didn't reflect it; he had a 77 on Monday and a 75 Tuesday, which left him eightover par and 10 strokes behind coleaders Buddy Whitten and Mike Er-

"I struck the ball very well the first two days." What he didn't do well was putt; he had 38 putts in his 77 and 33 in his A new putter and a few adjustments solved that problem.

On Wednesday, Proben climbed back into contention with the best round of the tournament, a 67, which included just 28 putts. That put him at 219, four strokes behind Whitten,

BY THE conclusion of the front nine in Thursday's final round, it was apparent Proben was in control.

Whitten opened Thursday with three straight bogeys as Erickson took the lead. Double-bogeys on the seventh and 11th holes ended Whitten's hopes.

A Proben birdie combined with an

Erickson bogey at No. 8 left the two tied for first. The ninth hole proved pivotal.

PROBEN WAS 30 yards from the hole, but it was "a fairly easy chip." He hit it too hard and expected it to roll 12 feet or so past the cup. Instead, the ball struck the stick and dropped in for a birdie.

Was fate turning his way? "That's exactly how I felt," Proben said. "I thought, 'This may be my day.' "

The shot affected Erickson and Whitten, too.

Former Express signs with Rockers

The first player signed by the Detroit Rockers indoor soccer club is a familiar one. He should also provide a valuable starting point as the Farmington Hills-based pro franchise begins to build its team.

Andy Chapman will give the Rockers three ingredients important in constructing a successful squad: Eirst, he's local (he lives with his family in Birmingham) and identifiable; second, he's experienced, having played 11 seasons in the Major Indoor Soccer League; and last but hardly least, as Rockers' spokesman Ian Parratt said, "He can still play."

Express in 1981 and was an integral part of the team, helping guide it to an American Soccer League championship in 1982. He was named to the ASL's all-star team and led the league in scoring during his three years (1981-83) with the Express.

His goal-scoring ability is a proven commodity, but Chapman will be called upon to provide much more for Detroit. Rockers' coach Brian Tinnion knew Chapman when both were with the Express. Chapman will also serve as Tinnion's assistant

"As a player, he is well-rounded with good vision and creativity, and his prolific goal-scoring will obviously be a great asset to us," said Tinnion. "As a coach, his maturity and experience, along with his infectious personality, make him an ideal Chapman's signing is the first by the Rockers, who will open their inaugural season this fall. Others will be added through similar free-agent signings and the two player drafts.

An expansion draft from current National Professional Indoor Soccer League rosters will be held within the next month. The college draft is slated for Aug. 18 in Rockford, Ill.

Boyle Chevy ties for lead

Boyle Chevrolet forced a tie for first place in the Livonia Men's Modified Fast-Pitch Softball League by defeating Total Foods 12-4 at Ford Field on July 2.

Both teams were deadlocked with 7-4 records after that game in which Boyle pitcher Curt White scattered eight hits and walked only three. Pete Lynn suffered the loss.

Keith McManaway was 3-for-4 and slugged a three-run homer that gave Boyle a 7-2 lead in the fourth inning.

White and Ron Wandzel were 2for-3 with a triple, and Boyle teammates Dave Brubaker and Rick Dreher went 2-for-4.

In a pair of important league games today, Total Foods plays AJ's and Boyle faces Primo's. AJ's and Primo's are tied for third place and only percentage points behind the co-leaders with 6-4-1 records.

Boyle was fifth in the Port Huron Tournament the weekend of June 30-July 1, winning its first game with Port Huron Bluewater Bible 8-5 but losing to Secory's 9-8 and Total Foods 9-8.

Mike Kesson hit .668 with seven hits in 11 at-bats. Little Caesars won the tournament, and Secory's was second.

What's an advertiser to do?

d rates in the News and Free Press are up. Circulation is. down. Yet, hundreds of thousands of eager, affluent consumers in the Detroit suburbs need to know what you sell. What should you do?

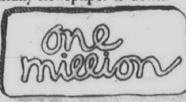

Put your money where it counts.

Even using the DNA's un-audited figures, SPRING delivers Detroit's suburban market at a lower cost per inch and a lower cost per thousand than either the News or the Free Press.

In short, your advertising dollar will pack a bigger punch when you place your ad in SPRING Trust the right numbers.

The Detroit News and Free Press' own figures show suburban circulation of both the dailies and Sunday newspaper is down.

At the same time, SPRING's network of 39 Detroit suburban newspapers offers a solid, stable circulation of 530,000. (That represents more than one million readers!) What's more, all SPRING newspapers are audited by either ABC or EAC.

Switch to SPRING.

Lower your cost per ad. Drop your cost per thousand. Hit your budget. And reach the SPRING suburban buyers you want to reach.

Put more SPRING in your next media buy.

One call. One order. One ad. One million readers. One heck-of-a-buy.

All the old familiar faces are back George, Jane, Judy and Elroy —

"Last Exit to Brooklyn" (B-, R, 100 minutes) has a little bit of everything: sex, violence, conflict, a "cause" and interaction among all the characters. The men, members of Local 3392, are on strike and that cause as well as their constant conflict with soldiers from the army base located near their plant is a central aspect of the film.

The conflict, often sexual, in the characters' lives is the most important element of this story about a for-saken nieghborhood in lower Brooklyn, the last exit on the subway line before the train reaches Manhattan.

One of Local 3392's leaders, Harry (Stephan Lang), a husband and father, faces marital conflict along with strife at work and has a homosexual affair which weakens what had been his very strong, masculine

It's a tight neighborhood and everyone is acquainted, especially Tralala (Jennifer Jason Leigh) who is involved with a different kind of sex. She lures soldiers in order to steal their money with the help of her boyfriend, Vinnie (Peter Dobson), and his buddies. Tralala surprises herself by falling for one of the soldiers.

Another character in this forlorn neighborhood is Joe (Burt Young), a hard-working man who tries to care for his family, especially his preg-nant, unwed daughter.

to the movie-going public. Given the $50 million box-office receipts after the first 10 days, apparently advertising works. A press conference the next day at the Disney-MGM Studio's Superstar Television Theatre featured Warren Beatty flanked by Michael Eisner, chairman and CEO of The Walt Disney Co. and Jeffrey Katzenberg, head of Disney Studios. Throughout the proceedings, the media evinced an excess interest in the Madonna/Warren Beatty relationship despite its irrelevance to film production. Although stars' private lives are no one's business, a good part of the motion pictures' appeal to the America public has always been snooping on the hijinks and lifestyles of celebrities.

THAT'S THE major reason War-ren Beatty has avoided talking to the press for so many years. The invasion of privacy and, more importantly, he feels the press distort for the sake of stories. He was asked why he was more receptive to the press these days. "I don't really believe in movie distribute movies now requires it for some reason." Beatty continued: "I stopped doing interviews for about 12-13 years because I found that I was misquoted, that I was taken out of context, that other things were added to the inter-proposition." Beatty explained that he thought that if he stopped doing interviews everyone would know that he didn't say those things, but, "they just invented it anyway so I would rather do the bad stuff myself."

The charismatic and debonair actor is also a very thoughful, analytic person who believes "we are in a communications" crisis (with) technology that far surpasses our ability

Despite this analysis, reporters continued throughout the day to nag whomever they could about the Madonna/Beatty relationship.

Following the press conference, round-robin interviews were held on the Disney-MGM Soundstage 2. One hundred-twenty reporters and film critics sat at 12 tables while Beatty, Dustin Hoffman, Glenne Headly, Charlie Korsmo and virtually everyone else associated with the "Dick Tracy" production moved from table to table answering questions.

Madonna, under doctor's orders to rest, was the only major figure missing from the festivities.

CHARLIE KORSMO who plays The Kid in "Dick Tracy" is a re-markably talented and self-assured 11-year-old boy. He first appeared in film as as Jessica Lange's younger son in "Men Don't Leave." He fielded questions with a great deal of poise and, despite some rather rude badgering from one reporter, maintained a calm demeanor. When asked for the umpteenth time, "Do Madonna and Warren still have a relationship?" He retained his composure and responded quietly, "I don't know, I haven't been around them that much." As Dick Tracy learns early in the film, The Kid is all right.

Dustin Hoffman stopped by while our table was questioning Beatty. His light-hearted approach set the right tone. As Hoffman put it, in a teasing manner, "You guys don't know how to ask questions. Pretend I'm Warren. Ask me about Madonna. Yes. Are we . . . Yes." And so it went with Hoffman providing a rapid series of questions and answers that left reporters laughing and Warren Beatty blushing.

It also left the distinct impression that it was nobody's business except the principals.

Warren Beatty summed up the media/communications crisis and the first amendment issues involved in contemporary press relations by advocating unfettered free speech without libel laws. That, he believes, will drive out the gossip-mongers because the public will recognize their foolishness: "eventually technology will permit free speech to prolifer-

TALES LIKE THESE

— Wildflowers

When you see this album by the Wildflowers, you may notice that it is on the Slash record label. You might think to yourself that Slash is some independent label so maybe "Tales Like These" will be different from the hoards of releases from huge, mega-corporation record companies. Wrong.

Look a little closer at the fine print on the album - Slash is a division of Warner Brothers. Warner Brothers is one of the largest record companies in America. Perhaps you thought that Reprise Records, Atlantic, Elektra, Sire and Atco were all separate labels. Well, they are . . . but in name only. They still answer to the big bosses at Time-Warner Inc. In other words, a record on Slash is the same thing as a Warner Brothers release. The Slash name is just there to make the buyer think that they are getting a choice. Ha Ha

Perhaps this is why Slash signed the Wildflowers - because the band fits the label's status quo. You won't find anything too original or espe-cially challenging on "Tales Like

The Wildflowers play a somewhat bland mid-tempo pop/rock. Singer Neil Cook has a competent voice al-though he leans a bit heavily on strongly echoed vocals a la Steve Miller. Echoed vocals are usually OK, but Cook goes a little overboard and sounds sort of silly.

The credits list Simon Atkins as the drummer, but he should watch out for his job because he could easily be replaced by a machine. Atkins seems to favor banging away on one drum in a thumping, plodding man-ner. Yes, yes, drummers are supposed to thump in a rhythmic manner, but, Atkins is almost too rhythmic to the point of boredom.

The best song on the album is the first tune, "Shakedown." This is a full-tilt pop/rock, full of dance po-tential. "This Feeling's Gone" is a watered down version of "Shakedown," but the song is also OK. Finally, by the third song, "Put the Blame on Me," the Wildflowers have hit their stride of blandness: boring drummer Atkins is completely in his listless thumping mode, the back-ground vocals are half-hearted and the guitars are plodding.

For the rest of the album, expect more of the same thing. Sorry.

Hothouse Flowers is everything everyone wants the group to be: possess a little Celtic wisdom (a la Van Morrison), have a fistful of feeling (like the Waterboys), and encompass a boatful of soul (take your pick).

In the past this has led to some rather disjointed music as this fiveman outfit has searched for an identity. The band's debut LP "People" had its moments, but, for the most part was unfocused.

"Home" (Polygram/London) is far more polished, but it's not without its This doesn't stem from a lack of

But when O'Maonlai is not trying to be the Irish reincarnation of Al Green, he can be damn fine at the mike. The slow, elegant path pur-sued on "Sweet Marie" and the uplifting tone of "Give It Up" provides cover for such blemishes. Credit has to be given here for the willingness to experiment with the traditional sound. Hothouse Flowers ducer Daniel Lanois and recorded the cajun-tempered number "Shut Up and Listen." This is one of the more intriguing songs on the album, revealing some future possibilities for the Flower's Celtic/soul render-

By dabbling with the chemistry of its music, the group has one mishap. The remake of "I Can See Clearly Now" starts off beautifully with O'Maonlai's vocal interpretation of this classic.

Then, for no apparent reason except to flex their I-Have-Soul tattoos, the song breaks up into an Up With People tag-team gospel fest. With apologies to the Angelical Voice Choir, there should be a moratorium declared on rock groups using gospel groups as back-up vocal-ists. This is a tried and tired formula. Besides, Foreigner's "I Want to Know What Love is" and U2's "I Still Haven't Found What I'm Looking For" is enough for one century

Then again, subtlety has never been this group's friend.

LLOYD COLE - Lloyd Cole

Lloyd Cole could easily record ultimate pop album to make all the girls swoon. He's smarter than that.

His first album without the Commotions, titled simply "Lloyd Cole" (Capitol), deals with being spurned, loneliness and lovelessness. All of which Cole encountered in dour times before moving to New York from London and eventually marrying a woman from Kalamazoo.

To simply write this off as melancholically LP would be an injustice. Against the backdrop some of the most gorgeous guitar pieces heard in quite awhile, Cole's lyrics take on new meaning, new life. So much so, a listener almost feels guilty for bathing Cole's misery.

And bitter this boy is. Heard in the harmonica-twinged "Blue Skies":
"Hey baby, want to leave be my guest/All I'm going to do is cry/
Then I'm going to find someone else and tear the stars out of the sky."

Or in "What Do You Know About Or in "What Do You Know About Love?" Cole opines: "Take a look at my face to get my meaning/Mister I've got scars on my knees/Take a look at the hands that have been praying/I do believe you better be leaving."

In the past, Cole has self-admittedly tried to be too literate with some of his lyrics. On this effort, the words flow with ease. Heck, the guy who studied American Literature at who studied American Literature at Glasgow University even resorts to a cliche in "Long Way Down."

The feelings are real. When Cole snidely refers to "a punch drunk... S.O.B." in "Long Way Down" or refers to a woman as "you're sure looking pretty when it's hidden on your face." in "Downtown," the anger is there.

So, too, is the municianship, Cole

So, too, is the musicianship. Cole has surrounded himself with quite a crew on this, his first solo LP. The wind-blown effect of the horn in the background, for example, provides one of many subtleties that makes "Lloyd Cole" certainly a contender as best allown of the year. as best album of the year.

PART OF these films' success lies in skilled action directors Michael Curtiz and Raoul Walsh, who often persuaded Flynn to perform his own stunts. Flynn always considered himself underpaid for his film work, though he was doing much more daring things for free in his explosive De Havilland was finally able to break free of Flynn's shadow and her good-girl persona. The highly ac-claimed "The Dark Mirror" (1946) and "The Snake Pit" (1948) both cast her as mentally unstable women who had more to do than pine for a handsome leading man.

Flynn, de Havilland Conversation can lead to solution

Hi. It's me again, the one who wrote in to tell G.A.'s daughter to stand up for herself. It was a shock to see my letter in the paper 'cause I didn't expect you to print it. I'd write something in to the Detroit News that I was positive they'd put in, but no luck. Thank you for printing it. It shows you care for printing it. It shows you care about this kind of thing.

Even though when I read your re-sponse, at first I felt like you were putting my 'advice' down (especially the headline "Solve problem intelligently" — I figured you felt my response wasn't an intelligent solution). I came to realize you were right, too, that sometimes there are better ways to solve a problem like that than a confrontation, especially if it's like a whole "gang" of folks look forward to messing with you every day, not just two or three. What I mean to say is that you should at least try to stand up for yourself and kick back at these people rather than think you can avoid it. To be quite honest, I never did that when I was 11 and I felt I let myself down. Then a year later in eighth grade, I saw the same kind of thing happening to me with a differ-ent person and I realized I had to show them I had had it and I wasn't going to take it anymore. Let me just

I really hope that G.A.'s daughter comes through this situation trium-phant and that both her parents love her and listen to how she wants to handle it. I'll be rooting for her and I'm sorry if I've been going on and on about it. This is the last of my

Area possesses rich jazz history

By William Coutant staff writer

With all that jazz out there, the uninitiated might well wonder just what is and what is not jazz.

That is not always an easy question, because as one musician and jazz teacher put it, the form is "always evolving."

Morris Lawrence, born in New Orleans and raised on jazz, said dixieland, contemporary and big band are all styles of jazz, always subject to a new arrangement.

"I developed a love for it," said Lawrence, who teaches music at Washtenaw Community College and is a fixture with his Jazz Connection ensemble at University of Michigan home basketball games in Crisler Arena. "You can always improvise and it's always changing. It is always modern music. That's what I love about jazz. It's always new."

And according to Michael G. Nastos, jazz disc jockey at WEMU-FM in Ypsilanti and a jazz critic for sever-al publications in the area, jazz has strong roots here. "This area has a great legacy of jazz and blues from the 30s and 40s,"

THAT LEGACY includes many fa-

The Montreux Jazz Festival in late August gives many jazz musicians a chance to show their stuff,

Stunt Johnson Theatre: Comedy by committee

By Susan Steinmuelle staff writer

If you're in the mood for a comedy club act that's a little different from the traditional stand-up comic, you might want to go see a performance of the Stunt Johnson Theatre.

First, you'll hear funny lines from not just one comedian, but from all five members of the comedy group.

"Visually, just to see us up there, just sets us apart from the start," said group member Buddy Moore-house. "Even if we aren't funny, visually, we're different, and we have that going for us."

Second, you'll see a wild and wacky act that can be, and is, described by Moorehouse as equal parts Second City, Monty Python, 'Saturday Night Live" and the Three

Basically a series of short skits, the show features the All New-Three Stooges, with Moe, Larry and the newest Stooge - Charlie Joe Manson. Also, there is a touching scene from the latest "ABC Afterschool Special," in which a gang of nerds mercilessly picks on a football play-

There is also a skit in which the five drive around in a car "acting juvenile," and it turns out they are really doctors. Even the "worst possible audience" always enjoys it,

Moorehouse said. THE STUNT Johnson Theatre got its start 1½ years ago, with a successful "open mike" night at the MainStreet Comedy Showcase in Ann Arbor.

Since then, the members have been a favorite on the Detroit area comedy club circuit, headlining at many of the area's top clubs, among them Joey's Comedy Club in Allen Park, the Looney Bin in Belleville and the Toledo Comedy Club.

They have also been a featured act at several other well-known clubs, including Mark Ridley's Comedy Castle in Royal Oak, and Bea's Comedy Kitchen in Detroit.

In the past year, the Stunt Johnson Theatre has also shared the stage with such national acts as Tim Allen, Thom Sharp, Bobcat Goldthwait and Diane Ford, and film star Jeff Dan-

THE FIVE members are actually longtime friends, who have been interested in performing since high school days when they took drama

In addition to Moorehouse, the members are Larry Koch, Brian Kruger, Matt Hale and Todd Wooster. All are Ann Arbor area resi-

The five had done other projects and skits for various activities before, Moorehouse said, before deciding to see if their act would play in comedy clubs.

While it has been successful, they haven't yet quit their daytime jobs, which range from teaching to writ-

THEY ARE also exploring other creative avenues. These include working on a television pilot, the format of which they believe "will give us a chance to do a lot of different type of things."

In the meantime, they are having fun going for the laughs together.

We just have the best time working together," Moorehouse said. Being with your best friends and doing what you love - it really is

Talking Heads

Scott: Radio's individual

By Larry O'Connor staff writer

A few minutes past 9 a.m., com-mercials blare in the background. Time for a break in the WXYT-AM studios in Southfield.

The host of the "Mark Scott Show" is not resting, though. Instead, he hovers over a pile of newspaper clippings, studying the articles like a college student before finals.

They will serve to line the gloves on his first punch of morning thought. A signal is given from the other side of the glass partition. Mark Scott slowly draws back his chair and rises to his feet.

Let the preamble begin. "Are we safe? Are we secure?," says Scott, pointing a menacing finger at no one in particular. "The major issue in the United States today is can we protect ourselves."

His opening salvo is a lengthy oratory that pushes all the buttons. Scott somehow weaves gun control into a massive ball of rhetoric that goes on to include declining moral values, the alarmist environmental movement and germ warfare by SCOTT LISTS the problems; he labels the culprits. Environmentalists are "tree huggers," social workers are "social engineers" and tax-collectors in government are "legalized criminals."

Slowly, the phone lines light up.
The talk show host prides himself as a warrior of the individual, the person who fights for his rights and who doesn't wither under the guilt pushers of church, govern-ment and '60s folk singers.

"They (the audience) recognize that," Scott said. "They know I put it on the line."

His resume reflects that.

Scott was canned in 1988 from WWJ-AM after only a few weeks on the job after moving from WXYT-AM. Many believed he was fired because his views were too extreme for the all-news station. Loyal listeners rallied behind him, sending him off to New York at WWOR-AM as something of a deposed hero of the common man.

In February, Scott returned from exile to WXYT-AM. The event was marked by Scott appear-ing on stage in Marine fatigues during Rush Limbaugh's "Rush to Excellence Tour" at the Masonic Temple, promising to run the Commies out of town.

Today, Scott is in his familiar spot: inciting audiences with his reactionary views that go against the grain of popular thought. His show is aired 9 a.m. to noon on WXYT-AM 1270. His tone of voice doesn't change once the mike is off.

 Organized religion: "Organized religion is the most destructive force in the world today. It always has been. It's never going to change. I've seen it ruin lives; split families."

defense scene with Howard Rourke," said Scott, describing the climactic scene in the book. "He's in the middle of the court room and he tells the people no man should live for the sake of another. A man should live for his own sake and not expect from other people."

At first, Objectivism presented an "enormous conflict" for Scott.

Altruism: "Altruism is sacrifice. Sacrifice is not high and noble."
 Benevolence is high and noble."
 Some members of government: "These guys who take advantage of us are legalized criminals."
 Not surprisingly, Scott is against gun control and big government.
 Unlike most conservative idealogues, though, Scott's views are grounded in a philosophy called

He was heavily into religion and his political views were somewhat to the left. With a laugh of irony, WXYT-AM's Mark Scott's controversial views are grounded in a belief called Objectivism, which touts the rights of the individual.

'Disagreement and argument is how you learn, it's how you grow. Out of that comes solutions to the problems."

- Mark Scott talk show host

Scott even recalls how he and a few Marine buddies considered joining Che Rivera to fight the revolution.

NOW HE fights his revolution on the radio. As a talk show host, Scott sets himself up as the champion to be dethroned.

Scott stands defiantly as the first wave of calls come through. For every argument, he has a counter argument. He doesn't suffer fools with any patience.

On this day, though to his disappointment, a majority of the callers appear to agree with him.

"Disagreement and argument is how you learn, it's how you grow," he said. "Out of that comes solutions to problems."

Rush Limbaugh's success as a radio talk show host has evolved beyond the airwaves. His "Rush to Excellence Tour" packs auditoriums around the country.

The Rush of right-wing views

With a large American flag in the background, Rush Limbaugh meets his radio talk show audience face-to-face.

The voice of good ol' moral values and conservatism is matched up with a rotund figure who only a few minutes into the presentation of "Rush to Excellence Tour" is already perspiring.

On this night at the Masonic Temple Auditorium, though, it's no sweat for Limbaugh. Members of the sold-out crowd include the wellheeled in business suits and the soles of the working class in nylon union jackets. Few dissenters are in attendance. Three black men promptly exit after Limbaugh begins lambasting Detroit political leaders Mayor Coleman Young and Con-

For the most part, though, they're his.

Limbaugh doesn't disappoint. He asks for women volunteers from the audience. They trip in their high heels rushing up to the stage

In the course of making a point of how women shouldn't be allowed to fight in military combat, he drops a card. He requests a woman bend over and pick it up for him;

She obliges.
FROM THERE, Limbaugh expounds on such topics as the exag-gerated plight of the homeless, the liberal bias in the media and frog licking. Oh, and yes, Limbaugh inflects a little humor on the pro-

"What has 80 eyes and nine teeth?," asks Limbaugh. "The front row of a Merle Haggard concert."

At $15 a ticket, talk is not cheap in this case. Yet Limbaugh continues to pack them around the country with his to the right of Goldwater oratories.

As a talk show host, Limbaugh's success is unrefuted. His daily audience is more than one million dio stations nationwide, including noon to 2 a.m. WXYT-AM 1270 in Detroit.

So successful is the midday callin program Limbaugh turned it into a traveling road show. His popularity even befuddles him.
"It's really been a curiosity to me," said Limbaugh in a recent telephone interview from New York. "I have at times tried to figure it out and other times I've said, 'Naw, don't mess with this.'

"I'm awed by it. It's humbling. I'm proud of it. It's deserving." Born and raised in Missouri, Limbaugh forsaked a career in law for radio. He left home for a radio job in Pittsburgh at 20. LIMBAUGH QUICKLY earned a reputation as a master of parody and put-on with such pranks as calling a sporting goods to order a left-handed baseball bat or asking for slacks with a left-handed After leaving radio for three years, Limbaugh worked as director of Group Sales for the Kansas City Royals. He returned to the airwaves in 1983.

garnered a reputation for combining humor and conservatism to outrageous lengths.

But many don't find Limbaugh's views all that funny. His AIDS updates have been considered inflamcommentaries on people who are homeless have been deemed insen-

"I'm not insensitive," Limbaugh said. "Sensitivity is the new fascism. What they really mean is I'm not saying what they want to hear.

"I attack the politics of issues that I disagree on. I don't make fun of the homeless. I merely say the people who are friends of the homeless are frauds. They try to blame the country, the policies of Ronald Reagan.

"The AIDS updates ran their course. They were targeted towards a small minority in the gay community: the militant gays. These people trash St. Patrick's Cathedral and send letters to Paul Michael Glasser's wife saying that she shouldn't be using Ronald Reagan in TV (AIDS awareness) ads. I take offense to that."

LIMBAUGH CONSIDERS himself the messanger of the conservative viewpoint. He doesn't place his show on the intellectual level as say, George Will or William F.

A sports show with a twist

By Larry O'Connor staff writer

"The Ted Tevan Show" on CKWW-AM 580 is a sports call-in show. Or so we are told. But there's no meaningless trivia here. If you want to know what Cecil Fielder hits against right-handed throwers with French surnames, better dial somewhere else. On a given night, a listener is likely to hear the gravel-voiced host play a little Neil Diamond, soothe a woman caller whose husband is in the hospital after a massive heart attack and discuss the real action between the lines of a game called life. "Life is more than scores," said Tevan, whose show can be heard in the Detroit area 6:15-9 p.m. weeknights. "2-1, 3-2 . . . screw that. I leave that to the other guys."

Those other guys couldn't hold a lit hockey stick to Tevan in terms of whackiness

His show is a bit, well, free form. During a break for the news, Tevan leaves his studio for a remote stairwell of the CKWW-AM offices to fire up a MacDonald cigarette.

"HEY COACH!" yells his producer, Troy "McGillicuddy" Robinson. "Time to go back on."

"Ah, throw on another song," hollers Tevan, taking another drag on his cigarette. "Play 'Yesterday.'

As of today, Tevan has performed more than 4,700 shows, mostly in Montreal for CFCF-AM.

At one time, he had the highestrated show for both English and French audiences. He also had a syndicated talk show in Canada that lasted less than a year.

Tevan headed down Highway 401 to join much smaller CKWW-AM in August of last year. HE DOESN'T look at the relocation as a step down, citing the gold mine of a potential listening audience across the Detroit River where the Tigers, Red Wings, Pistons and Lions are always hot topics of conversation.

Already a growing number of callers are from the Detroit area. One regular is Kathleen who is part of the show's "little family," ac-cording to "McGillicuddy." Kathleen of Westland phones in to talk hockey, Wally calls in jokes, the "Gorilla" is an Italian who discusses soccer, "Earl the Pearl" simply "knows it all," Kevin is a "big Boston fan," Elaine loves Wayne Gretzky and "Ross the Boss" hates No. 99.

"One time we crossed the lines," Robinson said. "It was World War III. Ted turned off his mike and let (Elaine and Ross the Boss) go at ANOTHER MEMBER of the Little Family is Eleanor, whose husband recently died after a heart attack. After he was admitted to the hospital, she called in to Tevan, distraught.

Tevan, who has been known to cut off callers with canned ma-chine gun fire, consoled Eleanor on the air. Since then, other callers will ask how Eleanor is doing and Kathleen occasionally calls the older woman at home to chat.

Unlike many radio talk shows, telephone conversations on Tevan's show last longer than the average inquiry to the operator. He has been known to keep some callers on up to 45 minutes, sometimes even longer.

IN MONTREAL, a woman called in who had just slit her wrists in a suicide attempt. Another man phoned saying he had a gun in his hand and wanted to speak to Tevan before "he left this world."

In both cases, Tevan talked them through the ordeal.

"She was right out of it," said

Tevan, recalling the first incident, which lasted three hours.
"Police said her touchtone phone was caked with blood. She was calling me names, screaming at me. I went off the air. I played love songs for her, I cajoled her."

Fortunately, the baby sitter for the woman's children happened to be listening to the show. She recognized the caller's voice and phoned police. Tevan later personally met the woman, who thanked him. TEVAN SHAKES his head at such incidents, dismissing it as one of the great whys of talk radio. He does know why his show works.

"I'm the best at what I do," Tevan said. "This is information and entertainment. Some can do one. Some can do the other. Nobody can do both as well as I can.

"I've been getting ready for to-night's show all my life."

Ted Tevan mixes humor and music on his zany sports call-in show heard 6:15-9 p.m. weekdays on CKWW-AM 580.

Posner Gallery plants roots on Northwestern

Editor's note: These three galleries in northern Farmington Hills are part of a fast-growing art community in the Southfield-Farmington area of western Oakland County

ADELINE POSNER and her daughter Karen, co-owners of Posner Gallery, 32407 Northwestern, Farmington Hills, fill their gallery with original works by local, national and international artists.

"Our direction is to be a contemporary gallery as opposed to traditional," said Madeline Posner

The gallery has been around for four years. It was in Southfield's Prudential Town Center before moving to Farmington Hills 71/2 months ago. "This location is more visible, has adequate parking and easy access off the road," she said.

Before getting involved with the gallery, Posner worked as a volunteer at the Detroit Institute of Arts. That plus her involvement in corporate art, where she selected art works for professional surroundings, prepared her for a career in art.

"You have to have your own little niche and decide where you want to be in the art field," she said, adding that the gallery will begin to offer more representational pieces - works which people can readily understand and identify with. Most of what she presently

"People often feel that a New York or Chicago artist has more national or international appeal. Therefore, there is a resistance to paying what the local artist determines the piece is worth.

"Whatever appeals to you is what you should have.
Art is to decorate your home and make you feel good.
When someone is looking for a painting and says, 'I know I shouldn't look for color or match it with my room,' I say, 'buy it to make you feel comfortable.' "

Posner encourages browsing in her gallery. "Galleries, by and large, are intimidating, so we encourage our customers to take their time and browse. We want people to rely on our judgment and trust our taste,"

On this particular day, a browser would have seen raku earrings by Dani Jeffries, a local artist; three large nudes, Naked Bride I, II and III, by Dale Sparage of Bloomfield Hills; a large abstract oil in rich lavenders and blue-greens by Jim Fekete of Southfield; and an untitled acrylic on paper by New York Douglas Eisman that appeared both calm and zesty.

INDA HAYMAN, owner of Linda Hayman Gallery and Art Poster Co., 29555 Northwestern, Farmington Hills, said the arts in the metropolitan area are in desperate need of more exposure.

"People don't have any sort of a guide as to where to go and what to see. And there is so much out there." Her 5,600-square-foot space includes a fine arts gallery, poster shop, frame shop and offices, all in one centralized, modern location. "ELEVEN YEARS ago, my children were getting older and I was looking for something to do.

She moved from her Southfield location in 1984 to La Mirage shopping plaza off Northwestern highway and 12 Mile, where she opened a retail poster shop and phased out of the catalog business.

HAYMAN MOVED to her present site in October 1989. Sliding walls house more than 500 modern and traditional frames. "Doing my own framing offers me ing isn't framed properly, it can lose its value. Acid-free matting helps preserve art."

Posters are subject-divided by ti-tles such as Art Deco, Sports, Famous People, Food and Detroit.

ISPLAYS FROM both local and national artists fill the 3,300-square-foot Ilona and Gallery in Hunters Square, Orchard Lake and 14 Mile, Farmington Hills

"The craft market today is very strong. People like one-of-a-kind gifts, and are more aware of special colors and designs," said Toni Lev-ine, who co-owns the gallery with her husband, Hirschel.

The 10-year-old Ilona and Gallery occupied three locations before set tling into its present site five years

"We started out in the basement of my sister's home," Hirschel said.

THE GALLERY carries glass. pottery, jewelry, wall hangings and paintings, but generally doesn't handle wearable art, wood, leather or functional earthenware, he said.

"Earlier, the craft field wasn't considered mainstream business, but now our craft items compete against other stores' gift items," he said. Petoskey artist Don Doak's miniature glass and sterling silver ring boxes are displayed in a choice of soft colors. New Jersey artist Peggy Karr's checkerboard-trimmed glass fruit plates offer a new and refreshing approach to eating fruit.

Each handmade, female beanbag Poupee Dolls by French artist Pablo flaunts a hat and pumps to match its French, psychedelic outfits. Garments for small children by Mitzi Jacobs of West Bloomfield are both charming and functional. "WE HAVE a varied clientele come in. We try to find out what they want and stay within their price range," Toni said. The gallery's jewelry buyers begin at about age 12, ceramics and glass purchasers start at about age 20, and wall hangings and paintings buyers run from age 25 up. The Levines make about 12 buying trips a year to find art. Most of their merchandise comes from the East and West coasts, especially from New York, Baltimore and Boston. HOWEVER, THE gallery currently represents more local artists than Glassware from Lumen Essence, a Troy-based company, (artist, Lau-rel Clark) includes large and small innovative bowls and candlesticks, all with a sea-green hue, which resemble organic rather than man-made objects.

Hand-painted bowls, colorful clay snakes, blown glass perfume bottles in fluid shapes and transparent colors, plus Delaware artist Peter ger's clay coffee sets, illustrate the diversity and variety that characterize this gallery.

The Crossings At Canton.

Apartment living just got better.

We're making The Crossings a better place to live and a better value. You'll feel it in the new hallways and newly refurbished clubhouse. You'll see it in the plush landscaping when you enter the grounds. And that's just the beginning. It's the new look and feel of The Crossings at Canton—and it's for you.

The Crossings at Canton offers 19 different floor-plans with 1 to 4 bedrooms. And whether you choose a 2-level townhome or a luxury apartment, the renewed beauty of this charming rental community shines through in every one—the result of our recent "Capital Improvements & Upgrading" program. These apartments and townhomes are the largest in the area, yet are still incredibly affordable.

- A Clubhouse with sauna, indoor pool, exercise room, a new party room, nd more!

Joint owner can't cut off in-law

I hold title to some real estate with my brother-in-law. The deed says that we hold it as "joint tenants with full rights of survivorship." Can I convey my interest in the property, which I am told is a life estate, and cut off the interest of my brother-inlaw upon my death?

The answer is no. There is no rule prohibiting you from transfering your life estate interest in the property to someone else. On the other hand, your conveyance of your life estate to someone else would not destroy what is called a "contingent remainder" of the joint tenant who was holding the proeprty with you. In other words, even if your convey your life estate to a friend, if that person dies before your brother-in-law, your brother-in-law will have legal title to all of the property. Simply put, upon the death of either of the original co-tenants, the other cotenant, or any person to whom he has transferred his contingent remainder, takes the whole estate. The state Supreme Court has recently confirmed this conclusion and also has held that the joint life estate may be partitioned without affecting the contingent remainder. This simply means the property can be divided up during your lifetime but that does not affect the right of the contingent beneficiaries of the life estate to their interest in the property.

Our management company has just submitted a new contract with us in our condo, and they apparently have divested some of the partners and are in the process of forming a new corporation. Our present attor-ney has had some affiliation with the old managment company in that it was responsible for sending him a number of accounts and, in fact, he had some business relationship with the management firm in that they were joint owners of a building, among other things. Several members of the board think that it is necessary to retain another attorney to review the new management contract to look into its legal and financial background. Do you thing that is nec-

You board is astute in ensuring that they will be free from any criticism on the part of the members of the association by retaining an independent attorney who has no affiliation with the managment firm, either financial or proprietary. To the extent that the management company is responsible for the attorney receiving numerous accounts almost exclusively, and if the attorney has some business relationship with the management firm, the attorney may well be in a conflict of interest. Even if he or she is not, it may appear that he or she is and the best judgment of the attorney may be altered because of this financial relationship with the management firm. Prudence being the better part of valor, you have made the right decision in retaining someone who is totally independent of any tie-ins with the managment

My husband and I have found a condominium that we really like, but it is a cooperative condominium where we would own the condo but not the land. In the cooperative all property is owned by the corporation which is owned and operated by the members. We would lease the land and the lease is good for 99 years. It

er. Could you please tell me what is your opinion on such an arrange-

Obviously, without reviewing the "Condominium Documents," it is hard for me to determine exactly what you are intending to purchase. It appears that you may be dealing with a leasehold condo wherein the land is not part of the condo but it is being leased under a 99-year lease. You may be confused as to whether, in fact, it is a cooperative where all of the premises of the project are owned by the condo association. It may be that you are confused as to what you are intending to purchase. The best advice I can give you is to get a knowledgeable attorney to review the "Condominium Documents" in regard to the cooperation-condo-leasehold condo to determine exactly what you are thinking about purchasing and to give you an opinion in regard to it.

Looking at a new sub? Consider.

(AP) - Some brand new, still-onthe-drawing-board housing develop-ments can convert even die-hard old house lovers

For starters, you don't have to worry about buying something that has a leaking roof, a not-so-hot water heater or a moldy basement. You get spacious walk-in closets, better-designed kitchens and bathrooms, and enough electrical outlets.

At the same time, you're dropping a lot of money into something that's not even there yet - and may not be finished when you want to move in. You may not get what you ordered. Builders sometimes substitute materials and alter designs, a prerogative written into many new-house con-

If that sounds to you like a potential nightmare, you're reacting properly. Buying a not-yet-built home isn't like buying an existing one. It's harder, according to the editors of Changing Times magazine.

In short, you're not buying a piece of land and a house; you're buying a builder. More to the point, you're buying a builder's reputation.

In addition to making the usual checks with the Better Business Bureau and the local builders' association, you'll probably look at model homes. But when you see a model, keep in mind that you're looking at the builder's best effort, loaded with eye-catching "decorator's options," such as additional molding, custom lighting and special finishes on cup-

TO GET A MORE realistic picture, go to a comparable subdivision also built by your builder. (Get subdivision names from the builder or the real estate section of your newspaper.) Visit folks who live there. Talk about quality and service. Ask the owners how long it took to complete each home and how many were delivered when promised.

Ask the builder what happens to unsold homes. Houses that are discounted to sell quickly can affect the value of the entire subdivision. As a result, builders try to avoid pricecutting, except perhaps on the final handful of units. In a slow market a builder may pay points on your mortgage.

As with existing homes, timing affects the price. You may find a slower market in the fall and winter. You probably won't be able to get a discount, but you may be able to negotiate for options like decks or carpet upgrades. The downside of buying during the winter: Landscaping would be delayed until spring. And it may be harder to maintain the quality of a house under construction during the cooler months.

You'll also want to consider when in the construction cycle to buy. Prices may be lower when you buy a house that's built early on. In booming markets, houses often jump in $10,000 increments as a development is completed. But buy too early and you'll wind up living in a construction site for several years.

IF YOU WAIT, you may end up farther from the busy highway at the entrance or closer to the lake that was just a hole in the ground when the first buyers moved in. There's also less risk when you buy later. You can monitor the quality of the houses and watch how the neighborhood shapes up.

You put a contract on a new house just as you would on an existing house, except you face a lot more de-

If the market is active, you may be advised to put down a deposit on the lot immediately. Typically the deposit is 5 percent, but you may be able to bargain even in a competitive market. As with the purchase of an existing home, you should be able to get the deposit back if the deal falls through - because of financing, for example.

Then you and the selling agent hammer out the details of the contract. You pick the model you like and the options you want to add. If you are sitting in a model, you can point to things you want. Otherwise, you'll be using illustrations, brochures and samples of materials.

YOU'LL WANT to consider how to pay for each option you choose. When the cost is lumped into your mortgage, it's easier to afford, but it's more expensive in the long run because it's amortized over three decades. If you add the options later, you save some interest, but some things are more difficult to add after the house is complete. Decks are easy; bay windows and bathrooms

You probably won't be able to get the builder to guarantee delivery on a specified date, for example, and there will be little you can do during construction of your house to keep the builder on schedule. But you can add a clause to your contract demanding that your house be built to the quality standards of the model.

Ask whether the home you're considering is covered by the Home Owners Warranty Corp. or another insurance plan. Such plans cover repairs for major construction defects and usually last for a period of 10 years. Builders pay the premiums for these insurance plans, but they remain in effect even if you sell the

HOW TO DO A LITTLE BUSINESS ON YOUR OWN.

Holding a garage sale is a fun way to do a little business on your own . . . but it takes a bit of planning.

Like you'll want to decide what to sell and how much to charge for each item . . . and then you'll need price tags so other people will know what you're

And you'll have to be able to make change for all your customers . . . so that means you should have lots of one dollar bills and an assortment of coins.

Then you'll want to advertise your sale to attract that crowd. You can do it with a sign or signs in your neighborhood . . . but you'll want a bigger crowd than that . . . so you'll run an ad in Classified which tells the time and place of your sale to a host of potential buyers.

Have fun with your little business adventure!

Pick up your free Garage Sale folder in our office when you place your ad! (Contains two signs, two arrows, a handy ledger, 14 tips for a successful sale and nine tips for a successful ad)
