Battishill spent $6,094 on his successful bid for the office. That in-

Diane Daskalakis, who founded the conservative Christian group Citizens for Better Education, supported candidates Robert Anderson and Diane Stamp. They came in third and fourth in the race, respectively.

Anderson spent $3,372 during the campaign. Stamp spent $1,542. Daskalakis loaned Anderson's campaign a total of $3,560. She loaned Stamp's campaign $1,075. Neither Daskalakis nor Stamp could be reached for comment before the Observer's deadline, but Anderson said he thinks the expense "was worth it.

Fate of city post office up in the air

With a new U.S. Post Office scheduled to open in Plymouth Township next spring, what is the future of the current Penniman Avenue post office?

City Manager Gordon Jaeger said that while the Postal Service intends to remain in the downtown Plymouth area, "It won't necessarily be in the same location."

Before Plymouth city commissioners on Monday, Jaeger reported on a recent meeting about the future of the Penniman Avenue post office with area Postmaster John Talick.

They are interested in leasing space," Jaeger said, in the down-

Most Penniman business owners near the U.S. Post Office say they'd could be bad for business.

"It would definitely hurt our business," said Larry Bird, coowner of Country Charm Inc.

The current post office location is probably the most convenient for people around here," he said. "I can't see why they couldn't keep a service center right here."

And because the area is growing, "they're going to need the space eventually," he said.

"I'm real ticked," said Scott Smith, owner of the Penniman Showcase. "This city needs a post office."

Some commissioners said an option would be for the city to do nothing. Jaeger said the city's legal counsel on the matter "said he feels eventually the state will take some action." By rejecting the grant, commissioners could spark state action against the city to direct cleanup of the landfill, he said.

"Now that we have a chance for $600,000, we are grabbing it, and I sort of accept that," Mayor Dennis Bila said.

But he said that by taking the grant money, "We seem to be accepting the responsibility we were supposedly denying.

"Is it possible that the DNR could say, 'Dig it all up,' " Bila asked, after the city spent the money to cover the landfill with clay.

"It's possible but not probable," said City Engineer Ken West.

"Other communities dumped things there, including Detroit," said Commissioner Jerry Vorva. "I think we really need to digest this a little bit more.

Mayflower rolls out red carpet with deal on 'Michigan dinner'

It looked like prom night on Turkey Run in Plymouth Tuesday evening.

But after the chauffeur-driven white limousine pulled to the side of the road, it was obvious no one was being picked up. Instead, a red carpet was rolled out, and an entourage of nearly a dozen Mayflower Hotel personnel exited the vehicle. They were armed with coupons for inexpensive chick-

Jaeger said that in discussing the situation with Talick, he found that the current post office, if vacated, would first be offered "to other federal agencies, then to state agencies, and last to local."

Should no government agencies want to lease it, it would be offered to the public, he said.

Gillespie said the Penniman Avenue post office served the Plymouth area when it was more rural, but that a larger facility is needed "because of the growth in the area."

Fumes at Ford plant send 5 to hospital; all recover

A release of chemical vapors late Sunday at the Ford Motor Co. plant on Sheldon Road in Plymouth Township sent five workers to St. Mary

One worker pouring the de-greas-ing chemical trichloroethylene became unconscious as vapors were released, said Fire Department Chief Larry Groth.

The 9:30 p.m. incident occurred because a valve was mistakenly left closed on the machinery the worker was using, said Ford spokesman

All 24 township firefighters were called to the plant by 10:21 p.m., Groth said.

Four workers who aided their coworker went to the hospital after complaining of numbness in their arms and legs and discomfort to the eyes, Groth added.

'We evacuated about 150 people," Groth said, as some firefighters donned special breathing equipment to tests the air in the plant. By midnight, the fire department "determined it was safe to re-enter the area." he said.

Serre said four workers returned to complete their shifts after being treated at the hospital. The worker initially overcome by the vapors was released from the hospital Tuesday crime watch morning, he added.

The Plymouth Township plant houses a Ford climate control division where automobile air condition-

Folks flock to farm for fresh produce

By Diane Gale staff writer

Ernie Costantino couldn't care less that President George Bush doesn't like broccoli.

And the president's taste, or lack of taste according to Costantino,

Farm owner Ernie Costantino said the president's taste, or lack of taste doesn't affect broccoli sales.

doesn't affect sales, either.
"Hell, it probably helps sales,"

said Costantino. "Everything he says is wrong anyway."

PEOPLE AREN'T flocking to the farm on Cherry Hill Road between Ridge and Beck roads to see how much broccoli they can pick. But that's OK, too, because most of the sales are from the roadside stand that features a variety of produce, including sweet corn, tomatoes, cantaloupe, peppers, cabbage and beans.

"We've been roadside standing it since '67, so we have a reputation since '67, so we have a reputation and a market already established," said Costantino, a Plymouth-Canton high school teacher and Westland resident. He recently bought a home in Canton.

The best advertisement for Costantino produce, he said, is the farm's proximity to the well traveled Cherry Hill road. "It's a ready market," he said.

"People want fresh, quality produce and they don't have to drive far to get it."

Anything that isn't sold is dumped at the end of the day to ensure freshness, Costantino said stressing that there's a family name and reputation to uphold. HIS GRANDFATHER, Ernest, first settled on a 40 acre farm at Cherry Hill just west of Canton Center in 1942. His father, Guido, and his mother, Rose, moved less than one mile away to the Cherry Hill farm that Ernest Costantino still works. His grandmother, Francis, lives in the first home settled by the Costantino's and his mother lives in the other family home less than a mile away.

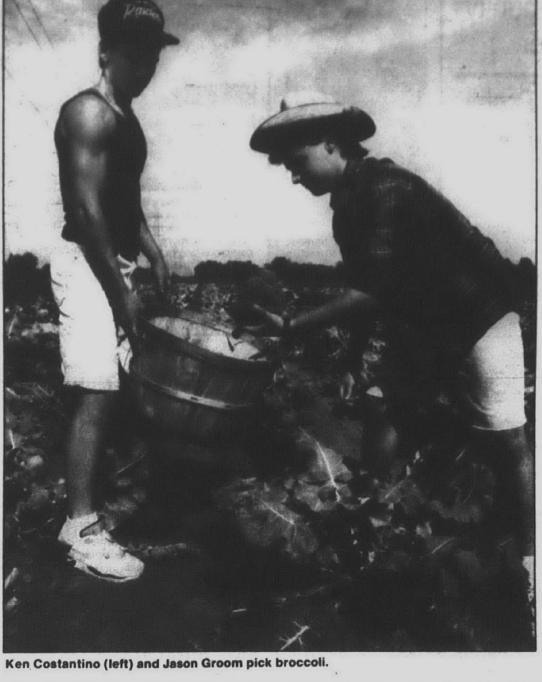

Today, the Costantinos rent more land than they own. They have 60 acres and farm 300 acres. And he expects to farm less land as development moves closer and closer to his fields.

"You don't stop development," he said.

And it's not likely that the agricultural land left in Canton will be sold to farmers, Costantino said explaining that land costs and taxes are too high to make farming look attractive to newcomers.

But the Costantinos plan to keep their roots planted in Canton for as long as possible.

"So as development comes in and we lose the land to developers we'll cut back on grain crops (soybean and corn) and expand more into the produce," Costantino said.

On a busy Saturday or Sunday the family sells 20 bags of sweet corn, with five dozen ears in each bag. The price ranges between $1 to $2 for a dozen ears.

The family caters to ethnic clientele, like Italians and Hungarians, looking for speciality peppers and other produce.

IN THE summer Ernie Costantino puts away his chalk and note pads, climbs a tractor and works the fields. His children, Ken, 16, 4 Kevin, 12 and Kristen, 7, along with friends, work the farm, too. Like their father and uncles, the young Costantinos are reliving a family lifestyle.

"It's my summer job," Ernie Costantino said. "It's in our blood. My dad had us do it as kids."

But times have changed. When Ernie Costantino and his brothers, Chris and Richard, worked in the fields, farm workers were paid 60 cents an hour. "Now kids can go to McDonald's and get $4 or $5 an hour flipping hamburgers." Farmers today, can't keep up with those wages, he said.

Ken Costantino, a football player who runs track, said he doesn't mind the hard work, because it's a good work out. And his friend, Jason Groom, laughed and said his motivation was Rose Costantino's cooking. "His grandmother feeds me," he said.

Self-help program cultivates inner strength and creativity

By M.B. Dillon staff writer

What if someone told you that in 30 hours' time, you could make the major decisions nagging at you; improve your relationships; overcome the problems and hurts preventing you from growing; free your life forces and creativity; learn to govern your own life; and grow in inner strength and peace?

"Dream on," you say?
Individuals involved with a self-actualization program called "Personality and Human Relations" say it happens.

PRH (the acronym is French) was founded in France 25 years ago by a priest who could see his seminarians weren't using their full potential, said Mary Ryan, a PRH "animator" from Redford Township.

"He knew there had to be a key to unlock their talents to let them be all they could be," she said.

By writing answers to questions authored by the Rev. Andre Rochais, the students got in touch with their strengths, gifts and hurts. So successful were they that Rochais' brainchild has been used by tens of thousands of people in 40 countries.

PRH is non-religious and is open to anyone 18 and over. "It's the most fulfilling thing I've

"It's the most fulfilling thing I've ever been involved with," said Ryan, a former teacher and head of the speakers bureau for Michigan Right to Life.

Ryan got involved with PRH several years ago and was amazed at the results.

It helped her with parenting as well as with her role as a political wife, she said. Ryan's husband is Judge James Ryan, who sits on the 6th Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati.

"PRH helps us explore our fears and to get rid of them. You get to the root of the fear, let it live, and it goes away."

Unlike traditional therapy that involves regular sessions, PRH gives individuals the writing tools to help themselves for a lifetime, said Ryan, who leads PRH groups in Cincinnati as well as in the Detroit area.

"If you learn the tools yourself, you can heal yourself in a much, much faster period," she said. And unlike Dale Carnegie-type

And unlike Dale Carnegie-type courses, PRH doesn't deal with just exterior behavior.

"With PRH, you go deep within to find out what's inside," said Ryan PRH has helped Ryan "feel confident in my own skin. Being a political wife, I don't need to pretend. I'm just me; take me or leave me. One of the biggest thwarts to growth is worry; worrying about what other people think."

Mary Ryan (left), Ed Starrett and Lisa Schneider talk about the ways a self-improvement program called Personality and Human Relations has enriched their lives. Ryan is a program facilitator.

Ryan also noticed immediate improvement in her relationships.

"It unleashed a lot of love and good feelings," she said. "It taught me to be more open and honest with my kids. It taught me I was a controlling person."

After 10 PRH sessions and more than 500 hours of training, Ryan became one of Michigan's five PRH animators.

Her next session is July 23-27, from 9 a.m.-4 p.m. in Redford. Cost is $120. To register, call 534-7659.

ED STARRETT of Redford and Lisa Schneider of Dearborn Heights can't say enough about the PRH sessions they took with Ryan.

"I found out I have courage and strength," said Schneider, an administrative assistant with Alcoa Building Products in Livonia. "Now that I know I have it, I'll use it. Sometimes you get labeled; you're told you're a girl, and that you can't do anything. PRH helps you find out more about yourself."

PRH also helps you "work out past hurts. You can set it aside and then you can concentrate on more positive gifts," she said.

"PRH was a little bit like a retreat, because I got away from my business," said Starrett, a retired teacher working as a registrar at Sacred Heart Seminary.

"But unlike a retreat where you're told to reflect on charity or something else, you are in the driver's seat with PRH. You are going where you have to go, or where your feelings take you.

"Through the sharing, I learned my problems weren't that bad," Starrett said. "It's amazing. There is something you get just from listening. It's a very gentle way of getting at certain things."

Starrett was elated to realize after the session that "a problem that had been bugging me for a long time, something I'd kept buried, was gone. It was like getting a load off my back. You end up stronger; more at peace with yourself.

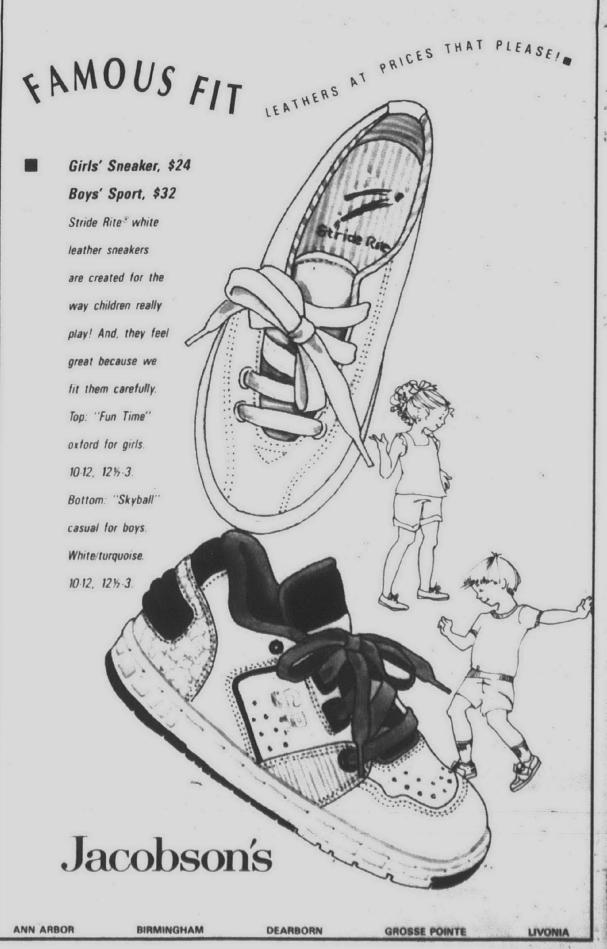

"For me, the world is a better place to live in," Ryan said. "Actually, the world is what you make it anyway. When you're carrying around a lot of junk in your mind, the world's a pretty lousy place. When you look at positive traits, the world is a better place. You are what you think you are."

RYAN CAN RELATE dozens of success stories. Many deal with people who've gone back to school to pursue interests squelched years before.

"I had a nun in her 80's tell me.

"Another woman in her 90's told me, 'I feel like a polished apple.' That's what happens when people do things for their emotional growth as well as their intellectual and physical health."

PRH sessions are offered periodically in locations including Redford, Port Huron and Canton. For more information, call 534-7659.

Residents hot over snow on TV; city, cable company will meet

Nearly 60 people in Plymouth are unhappy enough with their cable TV reception that they've contacted a city official to complain.

City commissioner John Vos. who asked residents to contact him if they noticed reception problems, got "about 50 phone calls and about eight letters" from city and township residents between July 5-16, he said.

Police disarm knife-wielding man at complex

By Diane Gale

Knives seem to be the weapons of choice in Canton lately.

Three police incidents in the township during the past two months have involved suspects wielding one or more knives.

The most recent case, at 11:59 p.m. July 16, involved a 27-year-old man in the Stoneybrooke Apartments, police said.

Canton police received a call from the man's neighbors, who reported a problem in his apartment.

When police arrived, the man was sitting at a kitchen table holding a knife to his wrist. There were holes in the windows and walls and the kitchen was damaged, police said. POLICE SAID the man had received a note from his girlfriend that she was leaving and taking their 5-year-old son.

S'craft summer programs let kids explore new fields

By Janice Brunson staff writer

Ninja turtles and splattered eggs the stuff of summer enrichment for area youths participating in College for Kids and Adventures in Learning at Schoolcraft College in

The flat green turtle, actually "my own character" that only resembles a Ninja, was sketched by Paul Wolfert, 8, under the guidance of West Bloomfield artist Joyce Gottleib, who is teaching Cartoon Capers for the second summer running.

The eggs, one hard-boiled, two that splattered and a handful that survived a two-story drop, were part of an experiment on speed and force in Exploring the Sciences, taught by veteran Wayne-Westland science teacher Tom Morgan.
Brian Robison, 8, of Canton knew his egg wrapped in disposable diapers borrowed from a neighbor would survive the drop.

"I tested it already. My mom threw it out the window," he said in a serious tone.

College for Kids, a series of classes offered for two or three weeks each, provides individualized and group instruction in such diverse areas as math, English, science and the arts. Adventures in Learning offers similar enrichment courses but is aimed at students who are talented or gifted.

"CARTOONING IS BASICALLY drawing, using distortion and exaggeration to tell a simple story," said Gottleib, who holds fine art degrees from both Wayne State and Eastern Michigan universities.

Gottleib's students range in age from 7 to 16 years, including the St. Louis children from Plymouth who display a definite artistic flair.

Vince, 11, and Ben, 9, have enrolled in the class twice, last summer and this summer. Sister Becky enrolled for the first time this year.

"I just add things and make a poster. It's regular cartoons," Vince said of his detailed pen and ink

HUDSON'S

Camp gives handicapped youngsters a lift

taff writer

For many handicapped young-sters, summertime can bring on the ues. Parents just don't have the time or resources to fill their children's summer days with adventure

That's why Scamp is such a hit. Every summer for six weeks, more than 400 campers aged 3-26 with physical and mental impairments are welcomed to the West Bloomfield day camp, regardless of whether they can afford the $550

Children come from more than 30 school districts throughout metropolitan Detroit.

Elks lodges in Plymouth, Farm-ngton, Redford, Livonia, north Oakland, Clawson-Troy, Rochester, Pontiac and Detroit donate money enabling kids to enjoy swimming, crafts, music, computer games and athletic activities. For the children who need it, there's speech therapy, physical therapy and occupational therapy.

WEDNESDAY, A group of Elks visited Scamp on the shores of Wal-nut Lake at West Hills Middle School. They saw the results of their fundraising efforts in the smiles of children playing floor hockey, hav-ing fun with teachers and counselors, enjoying the beach and buying things in the Scamp Store. "It was a day of pleasure," said Bob Schneider, chairman of Major Projects for the Plymouth Elks Projects for the Plymouth Elks Lodge 1780.

"It's enjoyable just being with the kids seeing what they do, and how they do it. Kids come up and want to shake your hand. Some of them want a hus."

This year's visit was tinged with sadness for Schneider. Last year he befriended Brittany, an 8-year-old girl who was born without legs

'She liked to swim; one of the volunteers would put her on her back and they'd have a ball in the lake,"

"I was looking forward to seeing her this year, but she died a few months ago. I missed seeing her.
"The people who work there deserve a lot of credit," added the Redford resident.

"When you see Jean Walker (Scamp director) you think of two words: patience and love."

The same might be said for Schneider. For the past five years, the Plymouth lodge under his leadership has raised more money to help handicapped children than any other lodge in the state. There are 78 lodges in Michigan.

THE ELKS raised $44,500 for Scamp last year. Michigan Elks lodges raised a total of more than $299,000 for the handicapped in 1989, up $6,000 from the year before.

seek out the Elks; the Elks are wonderful," said Joe Haddad, director of special education for 12 school districts in Oakland County.

Haddad says Walker, who is paid very little, is like a saint. She's done this for 18 or 20 years. She took it over soon after its inception and built into an opportunity for hun-dreds of kids to be served in ways they never could be served other-

"If it weren't for this camp, these kids would vegetate, because they can't participte in regular activi-ties," Haddad added. "Many of them come from single parent families who don't have the resources to hunt up things like this."

Fund-raising for Scamp is a yearround task for Walker. In addition to the Elks, Scamp donors include Chrysler, the Variety Club of Farmington, Rotary International, Knights of Columbus, Lions, Optimists, Village Women's Club of Bloomfield and Beverly Hills, Women's Club of Birmingham, the American Association of University Women, Rochester High School's basketball team, Orchard Valley Swim Club, garden clubs, parents, private foun-dations and individuals.

The current session of Scamp is filled. Parents interested in signing up their children for next summer may register after the first of the year by calling 540-5278. Slots are usually filled by March.

MET actuary labels criticism sour grapes

By Janice Bruneon staff writer

The Michigan Education Trust (MET), a prepaid college tuition pro-gram launched in 1988, faces ecoomic disaster apt to encroach on the future quality of higher educa-tion, according to the results of a new study by University of Michigan law professor Jeffrey Lehman, who predicts the program will require a tax bailout to remain solvent.

Sour grapes, counters Richard Kaye of Coopers & Lybrand, the actuary who sets MET enrollment prices and monitors the program's

"They're (university officials) scared out of their minds because they don't want someone looking over their shoulder when they pass along future tuition increases," said Kaye who lives in West Bloomfield.

MET, designed to protect parents against high tuition inflation in coming years, assures future colle costs at state institutions for children in the program. During the first two years, more than 49,000 con-tracts were sold at a total cost of $300 million

Much of MET's success is the program's relatively low price, according to Lehman. But such pricing spells trouble.

The program is dependent on the assumption tuition will increase slowly in the future. If schools face reduced tuition income, they will be forced to cut back on instructional programs, the study concluded.

NOT SO, said Kaye. The MET tuition increase assumption of 7.3 per-cent is based on actuarial accountings of the past 20 years that consider both actual tuition costs and mitigating circumstances.

Lehman's figures rely only on actual costs which, Kaye maintains, are simplistic and do not accurately reflect future costs.

The study also questions MET's taxing policies. Money from the purchase of a contract is viewed as nontaxable. Only income earned on invested monies is taxable.

The point is moot, Kaye said. A ruling by the IRS confirms MET policies, and it is unlikely the IRS will refute its own ruling.

150 REBATE

AIR CONDITIONING

Finally, the study concludes MET faces an eventual shortfall of $100 million that will require a bailout by taxpayers. If so, the primary benefi-ciaries will be Michigan's most af-fluent citizens because half of those enrolled in the program are in the top 20 percent of income.

Sabrina Keeley of the Michigan Department of Treasury refutes Lehman's findings.

'He believes in his study. We believe in MET and we stand by what our experts tell us. They have thoroughly researched the issue. Based on their findings, we are overfunded," she said.

An audit of Sept. 30, 1989 credited the program with a surplus of $1 million, said Kaye, who is a certified

Magnetic Resonance Imaging

Magnetic Resonance Imaging (MRI) is a breakthrough diagnostic tool being used routinely at Oakwood Hospital today MRI allows physicians to "see" into the body without x-rays sound waves or surgery As the name implies. Magnetic Resonance Imaging uses a strong magnetic field to produce multi-dimensional images of the inner structure of the body The patient experiences no pain

Oakwood provides patients access to MRI as well as the more traditional diagnostic procedures available at your physicians office or local Oakwood facility MRI can reveal disorders much earlier in the course of a disease In many cases, this early detection results in simpler and more effective treatment

Oakwood Health Services is one of the largest health care systems in Michigan, with five hospitals, more than 30 local health care and specialty centers and more than 1 000 physicians in every major health care specialty and subspecialty Oakwood will serve more than half a million patients this year

Marie Turri, 72, of Canton doesn't understand why most of the employ-ees at the Michigan Humane Society in Westland walked off the job last week. Nor, she said, is she particu-larly interested in the details.

But, she is certain of one thing. She wants Dr. Tim Dobson back on the job.

"He's been my pet doctor for years. He's like a son. He looks after my pets so nicely. I want these peoto reconcile their differences," Turri said as she picketed the facility earlier this week

The sign she carried read, "We need Dr. Tim Dobson and nine others back working."

Their return is unlikely, according to the society's director Gary Tiscornia, who said, "we will be replacing most of the (Westland) staff." The society employs 114 people in facilities in Westland, Detroit and Auburn

On Friday, 10 of 17 employees in Westland resigned in a dispute over a newly written employment policy that permits "at will" termination. Four veterinarians, including Dobson who supervised the Westland clinic, three licensed veterinarian technicians, one veterinarian assistant and two receptionists quit. On Monday, a fourth licensed technician

"FEAR AND INTIMIDATION. A or disability benefits. total disrespect of people," said Dob-son, in describing the working atmosphere in the clinic since Tiscornia's appointment as director last June, following an embezzlement scandal that left the society $1.5 million in debt.

Men, if you're about to turn 18, it's at any U.S. Post Office.

The present dispute erupted in May, when employees were required to sign a policy containing a new clause that permits termination "with or without cause, at any time, for any reason."

The former manual allowed for "at will" termination, but with rea-son, Dobson said, adding the new phrase removes "all recourse for wrongful discharge." Employees were issued a nasty "love it or leave it" ultimatum to sign, he said.

Tiscornia said the clause, prompted by a $2,000 employee severance settlement last fall, is "a desire to protect the organization. We cannot afford to litigate. We can't afford

The new phrase, he added, carries the same message as before. "At will means with or without reason. Our intention is identical. The legal effect is identical."

The expanded policy is also meant to end the practice of severance pay and voiding any existing employment contracts calling for it. In early 1989, Tiscornia received severance pay equal to three weeks salary when he resigned after six years as director of corporate affairs. The new clause now applies to him.

Michigan is an "employment at will" state, according to a spokeswoman for the Michigan Department of Labor. Specific phrases, such as "with or without cause," are relevant only in specific instances, such as in claims of unemployment

"I CAN'T UNDERSTAND what they're reacting to so violently," Tiscornia said.

The lack of understanding is precisely the point, according to Dobson, who said low staff morale is time to register with Selective Service

It's quick. It's easy. And it's the law.

Tiscornia and his general lack of respect toward employees who Dobson said are concerned with the future direction of the society.

Aside from economic viability, the society's main priority now is standardization of services between each of the three shelters and hospitals, Tiscornia said, "an across-the-board standardization."

Because each facility services a different clientele based on location, Dobson said primary services vary from one community to another.

Meanwhile, Lois and Jeff Scu-pholm of Redford adopted a new puppy, her first ever, as a skeleton staff attempts to maintain basic ser-vices in Westland, ministering nonprofit care to a multitude of ani-

Dobson, describing himself as dis-traught, said "we've worked so hard, hard, hard and look at how much we've accomplished." In the nearly nine years he worked for the society, staff in Westland increased from three to 17 employees.

Medicines for Asthma Symptom Relief

According to the Handbook of Nonprescription Drugs, as many as 7 out of 10 Americans experience asthma symptoms sometime during their lifetimes. Asthma is an obstruction or narrowing of the small air passages in the lungs. An asthma attack typically produces symptoms of chest tightness, breathlessness, wheezing (a fine whistling sound), and coughing.

Much asthma occurs as an allergic response to substances in the environment such as grass and pollen. Foods such as shellfish, chocolate, and eggs have reportedly caused asthmatic attacks. Running or other types of exercise may cause air passage constriction.

Asthma symptom prevention and treatment may be achieved with a number of prescription medicines. Theophylline causes muscles around the air passages to relax, improving the flow of air into and out of the lungs. Adrenaline (epinephrine) and adrenalin-like medicines such as metaproterenol also increase the size of air passages and usually cause rapid improvement of air flow. Another group of medicines which can improve air flow are the streroids, which include prednisone, beclomethasone, and dexamethasone. Cromolyn sodium is sometimes given to chronic asthmatics to prevent asthma attacks.

Seminary

Retirement center good idea

URNING ST. JOHN PROVINCIAL Seminary in Plymouth Township into a retirement center for 1,000 residents sounds like the best possible use for the

The 40-year-old seminary at Five Mile and Sheldon roads was closed two years ago because of declining enrollment and rising costs.

Since then, township officials have hoped that someone interested in running a convention/golf course complex would buy the property. There was even speculation at one time that it would be turned into a Japanese cultural center.

But apparently hopes for a convention center are gone, and the idea of a Japanese cultural center was no more than a rumor.

We suspect that the hopes and the rumor were based on wishful thinking. Such centers would bring big dollars into the Plymouth area.

However, we think a retirement center is just fine. In fact, we're glad to see such a beautiful building turned into such a center. Retirement homes aren't always big money makers and it's good to see another one established locally. The population is aging and will need places like the seminary

AND THE PLANS laid out for the seminary by Retirement and Health Services of Baltimore sound good. The home would offer medical care, along with independent living facilities.

But it's far from a done deal. The Archdiocese of Detroit, which owns the property, and the prospective buyer are in the midst of a 30-day factfinding period.

We just hope that the plans prove to be as good they sound and the deal goes through.

Post office Move an opportunity for city

HE POST OFFICE in Plymouth is making noise about moving to a larger building in the city. Officials say they need more room.

We wonder about such a move. The post office building on Penniman is not only conveniently located for residents and businesses, it's also a nice-looking structure.

We don't want to see the post office move, but if it must, we would hope officials take a look at the empty Farmer Jack's building on Main Street. The vacant store has been a thorn in the side of Plymouth city officials for several years, with city officials talking to its owners about its eventual fate.

The vacant store would offer good parking and plenty of room for the post office. Also, the location on Main Street would give it high visibility, making it easy to find. Our greatest fear is that the U.S. Postal Service will opt for a building in a remote strip mall, making it difficult to find.

AS FOR the current building, we understand from postal officials that it would be offered first to other governmental units, and if there are no takers, it would be leased to private business.

It would be a good location for city of Plymouth offices because it's close to city hall. But we suspect it would also be a prime office building for a private concern, especially since office space is at a premium in the city.

Although we're not very excited by the prospect of the post office moving, we see it as an opportunity to obtain a tenant for the vacant Farmer Jack's store.

We think the city should take advantage of the Tax limit petition drive falls short

77E NOTE with civic satisfaction that the bundle of fishhooks known as the Patterson-Anderson tax limitation amendment won't be on the state ballot this year.

Despite trumpeting by the sponsors that people were eager, the drive fell 40,000 signatures short of the quarter-million it needed to be placed before voters Nov. 6. Although the idea charmed some folks in Oakland, Macomb and Kent counties, much of the rest of the state yawned.

A state constitution is supposed to be a framework for government and a protection of people's rights. Clearly, the wordy proposal by former Oakland Prosecutor L. Brooks Patterson and economist Patrick Anderson was legislative in nature and had no place in our constitution, whatever its merits.

They sought to limit school property taxes. Fine. They sought to ratchet more money out of the state budget for schools. Cheers. But the proper way to do that is to leap into 1990 opportunity.

the sweaty fray of the budget battle, not sit in air-conditioned suburban offices and concoct paper formulas.

Look the social services lobby in the eye and say no. Look the prison operators in the eye and say no. Look the environmental cleanup people in the eye and say no. Look the job training, university research, tourism promotion, factory inspection, judicial and state parks people in the eyes and say no - that's what Patterson and Anderson should be doing.

The circulators had six months to collect their signatures. We hope there will be no effort to tinker with that law and lengthen the period. Michigan has too long a ballot as is without cluttering it with more confused and confusing ballot proposals.

Patterson, Anderson and friends should have been running for the Legislature, the body which for 153 years has had the power to do the good things they want done. They have wasted their

Telephones — fascinating, complex

ETTER GET your dialing finger in shape.
As if we didn't have enough buttons to push already, it's about to take three more numbers to place a phone call. By the end of this year we're all going to have to dial "313" for long-distance phone calls within this

We're running out of phone numbers, said Michigan Bell. In fact, if nothing's done by February of next year there will be no more new

In short, by using a 313 preface for local calls, the phone company can add much-needed exchanges (the first three numbers) to the system. The new exchanges will - for lack of choice actually be numbers with a 0 or 1 in the middle. like all the U.S. area codes. Bell computers, however, will get confused unless actual area codes are dialed first.

There is nothing simple about our phone system anymore. Things have come a long way from Lily Tomlin's "Ernestine the Operator."

It is now much more than merely vogue to have an answering machine. It's a necessity. And worse yet, we are expected to have them. The same goes for redial, speed dial, call waiting, call forwarding and all the other call somethings you can buy.

For those of us whose friends have call waiting, it's practically the norm to get put on hold half a dozen times during a single conversation, so that the friend — alerted by the obnoxious clicking noise - can check to see if the other caller is more interesting than we are.

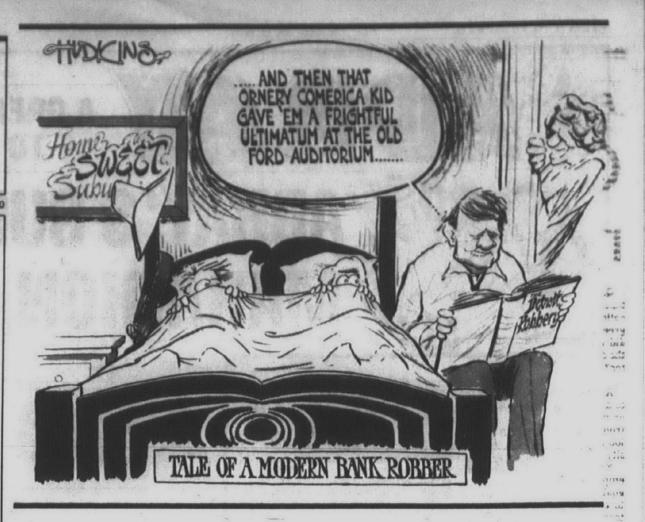

Ahhh, the joys of technology. Hopefully, though, the engineers have time to work on other challenges as well, such as why there are a zillion phone books for metro Detroit.

Or, better yet, the zone calling quandary. Translation: Why can a West Bloomfield resident call for free a number in Rochester, located an hour away, but not in Farmington Hills, which happens to be on the other side of the street? Or why do the poor souls who move to the Plymouth area feel they have been disconnected from all their friends who they have left behind in the rest of metropolitan Detroit?

Phone technology is fascinating, even helpful, but often in these days of free market deregulation, we yearn for the good old days when a call was a dime and one phone call could get you all the phone service you could possibly ever desire.

Now let's see, do I call AT&T or Michigan Bell for this problem?

Abstract legal principles intrude in family matters

I WAS AS shocked as anybody at the story in last week's Detroit pa-

A 6-year-old boy was ordered by a judge to be taken from loving relatives to live with his mother and her husband. He was taken away crying. He was then repeatedly abused. The Protective Services Division of the state Department of Social Services was notified. Neither the state agency nor the judge did anything.

Shortly thereafter, the boy was found beaten to death. The mother and her husband are in jail on a mur-

I'll bet the judge - Martin Maher of Wayne County Probate Court — feels awful. His decision to give the child back to the mother was reviewed by the state Supreme Court, which upheld Maher's decision but said the Legislature should have allowed probate judges more discration in handling such matters in the best interests of the child.

We have here a case in which the entire juridical (Judge Maher), legal (state law) and regulatory (DSS) apparatus of state government failed totally to resolve a complex and important family matter. A little boy is now needlessly dead. My guess is that the apparatuses of the state will continue to trundle on in their inflexible, mindless ways.

BUT THERE'S more to this than meditating on the many ways in which states botch things up.

In recent days, the U.S. Supreme Court has ruled to permit interposing the instruments of state control law, judges and bureaucrats into sensitive and previously private family matters.

The high court held that the state of Missouri could prohibit Nancy Cruzan's parents from having a feeding tube removed from their comatose daughter because there was no definitive evidence Nancy wanted the feeding stopped.

Following an auto accident that severely damaged her brain, Ms. Cruzan has been hospitalized in a "persistent vegetative state" for seven years. Her doctors testified she had no chance of recovery. Her parents finally decided to permit her to die, in part because she once had casually indicated she would not want to be kept alive as a "vegeta-

To Missouri, there was not "clear and convincing" evidence. The Supreme Court agreed. And so Mr. and Mrs. Cruzan are obliged by the apparatuses of state control - laws, judges and bureaucrats - to twist slowly in the wind.

They can hope the Missouri Legislature in its wisdom changes state law to permit their daughter to die. Or they can move to another state, which probably will set off another expensive and time-consuming round of legal wrangling. Or they can indefinitely continue to visit and grieve over the shell that once was their daughter.

PERSONALLY, I never have been enormously impressed with the timeliness, skill or subtlety of the ways governments do things

Judge Maher, for example, either made a decision that later events proved to be tragically wrong or found his hands tied by a state law that obliges judges to return children to their natural parents regardless of the welfare of the child.

Mr. and Mrs. Cruzan are experiencing a tragedy because abstract legal principles are being applied

Fine. But in practice, laws and judges do not always follow what people who sign living wills intend. Human intentions are overwhelmed by abstract legalisms and the apparatus of the state.

THERE IS A lot of talk about 'family values" and the importance of keeping families together - talk to which I wholeheartedly subscribe.

But it's a nearly universal truth what whatever governments intend works out just the opposite. The perverse consequence applies most profoundly to families and individu-

I don't want a judge imposing rigid, imprecise state law to tell me can or cannot end the life of an elderly or a son who is brain-dead after an auto accident. I suspect a lot of otherpeople feel the same way.

Risak column infuriating

To the editor:

Replying to C.J. Risak's column "World Cup soccer in Need of Alteration," I am infuriated to read his comments about soccer

Agreed, some rules do need changing and this will be done to ensure the next World Cup in 1994 will be less repetitious. However, what he and all the other American sports writers, fail to understand is that when they watch games in this competition, they are not watching soccer as it is normally played. The pressures and prestige of playing in the most popular world sporting event (matched only by the Olympic games) becomes a matter of national pride.

To take the World Soccer Cup back home as victors is what children from around the world dream of from the time they are able to walk. Consequently, the pressures on each player are greater than any that can be imagined by an American sports writer because American professional athletes rarely compete in competition of this magnitude

As for the compassion of Isiah Thomas's bravery on the basketball court, the game of soccer is often accompanied by broken legs, collar bones, shoulders and jaws, to say nothing of the multitude of cuts and bruises. When a player has his legs unceremoniously taken from under him while running at top speed, he is obviously going to fall heavily. So excuse us soccer players if we take a moment or two to get back on our feet because with injured legs it is difficult to get up and stay up. If Isiah was to be taken down in this fashion he too would have difficulty in resuming play.

It is a pity when so many American kids, and their families, are such avid soccer enthusiasts that they have to read such comments by unknowledgeable sports writers. The soccer tidal wave has begun to en-gulf America, so the sports writers had better take it upon themselves to get better acquainted with this sport or they will lose a sizeable number Lyn Clarke,

This is a tough question. There are obviously certain state institutions of higher education that do focus more on teacher education than other schools

However, there are colleges and universities whose major focus is not education but who also deliver good to excellent teachers.

I WILL have to say, as a former assistant superintendent for instruction, I really didn't care where they graduated from as long as they could

Indeed, I scheduled myself into classrooms on a regular basis to get has the best teacher education proout of the central office with all its gram is impossible.

A major research study of every education department, and its professors and their performance would be necessary to draw any conclusions. Then, those education departments rated average or below by the study would reject the findings.

To answer your question, the best teachers sort of evolve once they are in the field, in the classroom. They learn from peers, the quality and exemplary teacher role models in their own building and from dynamic staff development experiences.

They don't come from any certain college. They come with a desire and commitment to be the best. They are teachers who are constantly selfevaluating their own performance. They improve every day.

They are more concerned of their performance than their administration is - they are those with that certain, special gift. Don't kid yourself, students know them and parents know them.

BERMAN IS seeking legislation to require that House of Representative candidates get at least 50 percent of their contributions in amounts of $100 or less and state senate candidates $150 or less.

The perception, Berman says, is that huge Political Action Committee contributions control all campaigns. Her proposed legislation will end that perception, according to

This has been tried in other states. and I remember some manner of public financing in presidential races. We checked off a box on our state income tax returns to donate to the war against child abuse. This seems a more valid expenditure.

The 1990 Senate races, including Levin's, are pitting pro-life candidates against pro-choice candidates.

In a three-cornered tussle, Democrat Levin defends legalized abortion. Republican challengers Clark Durant and Rep. Bill Schuette denounce it.

THIS RACE and others have been targeted by national and state groups on both sides of the abortion issue. That means PACs of these activist organizations are supporting candidates who think as they do.

Abortion, in at least one state senate runoff, has been declared a pivotal issue

With so many other problems, such as skyrocketing property taxes, financially strapped school districts and environmental whim whams, contributing to campaigns on the basis of a single issue seems nearsight-

I'm not minimizing the importance of the abortion issue. The question of governmental intervention into a private decision will not soon be resolved.

Pro-choice and pro-life voters aren't likely to change their minds or be influenced by special interest groups. The issue is delicate, volatile and divisive.

SENATE HOPEFULS deny that they are single-issue candidates. The abortion factor has been fueled by the media and activist groups, according to political opponents.

But the Michigan Abortion Rights Action League, for example, is determined to put pro-choicers into office regardless of their stance on other issues.

A candidate who is not being endorsed by any PAC, is likely to sav he or she is against special interest groups and is being supported by individuals including party heavyweights.

I'm not sure Maxine Berman's proposals are on the money. But some kind of campaign financing reform is needed. The best guy or gal for the job may not have the war chest to beat an incumbent or other

HOW DID we make our decisions before the advent of television? Who were the image makers before the Madison Avenue type TV ads with production pizzaz?

There's no denying that a $1 million media effort improves name identification. The candidate who hands out emery boards, ball point pens and swizzle sticks isn't likely to make it to the top.

When so much money is needed to cure the many ills of cities, counties, states and the nation, the millions spent on political campaigns seem downright obscene.

It may be naive to believe that there's a better way to go than buying votes. Money makes politicians shift positions and promise to do more for a popular cause than they possibly can. Compromising for bucks lacks the dignity and ethics we should expect from elected officials.

When Luis Mourao returns home, he'll have a colorful Detroit Tigers pennant to put up in his room. Luis, 13, is from Lisbon. He's among a group of Portuguese teen-agers visiting the Detroit area through the Interchange program sponsored by Children's International Summer Villages.

Luis is staying with Matthew Lee and his family in Plymouth. Luis went to a recent baseball game at Tiger Stadium and saw the Tigers lose to the Kansas City Royals. He likes the fast food found in the United States.

"Cars are much different," Luis said. "Cars are better." He's particularly impressed with the limousines seen occasionally on U.S. roadways.

THIS IS HIS first time in the United States, and Luis would like to return at some point.

"But here in Plymouth, not in the big cities. They're too noisy."
He and the others from Portugal arrived June 29 and are scheduled to return home July 27. A visitor from Brazil, 15-year-old Carlos Henrique Nobrega, is also staying with the Lee family. Carlos, the guest of Christo-pher Lee, lives in Londrina. Christopher visited Carlos last summer through the CISV program.

"It's very beautiful," Carlos, a first-time visitor, said of the United States. "It's very different. For me, it's a new experience."

Members of his CISV delegation recently visited Disney World and Epcot Center in Florida. Carlos liked that visit and is also enjoying his time in the Plymouth area.

"The food here is very different," he said. "In Brazil, you eat more natural. But I like this food."

Carlos and some of the others went to downtown Detroit to see the Fourth of July fireworks. His father saw those fireworks on Brazilian TV, and called to let him know about Communicating with the visitors hasn't been too difficult for the local families. The students speak English, and some have also studied French. The families have written and called each other in recent months, in preparation for the summertime

"They seem to just enjoy the American way of life," Randy Lee said. "I think they keep a real busy schedule. The visitors enjoy the same activi-

Dulcimer concert ends on high note

staff writer

Mary Ann Stokes went on a home tour in Marshall, Mich., a number of years ago. During that event, she heard the dulcimer played for the first time.

Stokes liked the sound of the in-strument and decided she wanted to learn to play. Getting her hands on a dulcimer was the first step.

"I finally found one," the Plymouth resident said. "It took me a year to find one."

She's been playing the piano since age 10, and that musical knowledge helped her learn to play the dul-cimer. She taught herself how to play the instrument.

"And watching other people, I learned a lot from that."

Stokes, who has played the dulcimer for about eight years, per-formed during a recent "Music in the Park" concert sponsored by the Plymouth Community Arts Council.

a guitar player, also performed dur-ing the Wednesday, July 11, concert in Kellogg Park. Stokes has played at previous "Music in the Park" con-certs, but this was Turner's first time performing in the series.

"I enjoyed it," said Turner, a Canton resident. "Once I got over the nervousness, it was fun."

Turner and Stokes are former neighbors and have been performing together for seven or eight months. They've played at weddings, and their goal is to play at the Ark in Ann

"That's a ways off," Turner said. He's been playing the guitar on and off for about 15 years, and was in bands as a teenager. Turner works as a painting contractor.

Stokes is a registered nurse at the pain clinic at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor. She also works as an industrial nurse for the Ford Motor Co. North American Automotive Operations in Dearborn.

Stokes finds playing the dulcimer

Playing with wooden toys keeps some young concert-goers occupied. Among those at last week's performance were (from left): Sandy Weger and her son, Max, 3, Katie Wood, 21/2, Irene Basmadjian and Dian Lajdziak, 8.

"It's nice to have another interest, another hobby."

When she worked in psychiatric nursing, she occasionally played for patients and found that even young people who were Twisted Sister fans liked the instrument's sound.

SHE PLAYED a hammer dul-cimer during the Kellogg Park con-cert. The instrument is played with two sticks, one in each hand, used to

Turner and Stokes performed a number of Irish songs during the concert, along with some waltzes and fiddle tunes. Her ancestry is Danish and German rather than

"I just like Irish tunes," she said. She and Turner are looking for a fiddle player and bass player to fill out their group's sound. They're planning to play Saturdays at the farmers' market sponsored by the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce in downtown Plymouth.

They've found performing at "Music in the Park" concerts is different from playing at weddings.

"When you do something like this, you can get more into the music,' Turner said. He liked the relaxed atmosphere at the park during the concert, as did Stokes.

"I think it's wonderful," she said. "I'm glad to see all the people."

Remaining "Music in the Park" concerts will be held noon to 1 p.m. Wednesdays, through Aug. 22, in Kellogg Park, Ann Arbor Trail at Main in downtown Plymouth. A different performer or group is featured each week in the series, which is sponsored by the Plymouth Community Arts Council. Remaining Plymouth Community Band concerts will be held at 8 p.m. Thursdays, through July 26, in Kellogg Park.

When Alan Brandemihl Jr. gets home from work, he hangs up his overcoat and helmet, slips off his boots and puts away his ax. Then maybe he'll shower to rid himself of the smell of smoke, or think back to the big smile on the old woman's face whose cat he rescued from a

MUCH OF the week he spends as a firefighter at Station No. 3 of the Livonia Fire Department. And when he's not spending time with his wife, Sandra, and children, Vickie, 12, and Alan, 10, the Rev. Brandemihl can be found attending to the duties of the deacon of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church in Livonia.

Brandemihl, 36, grew up in the Livonia area and attended Franklin High School. And as a youth, he was involved with St. Andrew's as an altar boy and in the choir. Although he didn't know it at the time, the church was to play a great role in his life.

"Church was a really important thing for me as a child," he said. "I didn't understand the calling back then, but I enjoyed the capacity I served in."

Following high school, Brandemihl served a stint in the U.S. Marine Corps and was stationed outside Memphis, Tenn. While there he kept practicing the faith as a lay reader and lay Eucharist minister, taking communion to the sick and shut-ins. He was in the service when he met his wife.

UPON RETURNING to Livonia, Brandemihl decided to follow in his father's footsteps, becoming a firefighter for the city of Livonia in 1979. His father had been a Livonia firefighter for 27 years.

'Many fathers who are firemen have children who become firemen. But the real motivation was that I wanted to work for a service organization. With the fire department you see people at their worst, but in the same breath, it's so rewarding to help people at their

to fight fires and help those in trouble, serving people both physically and spiritually.

On June 9, Brandemihl became the Rev. Brandemihl at a service officiated by the Rev. R. Stuart Wood at St. Andrew's Church. Brandemihl was ordained as a deacon, third in line behind a priest and a bishop.

"As Christ said in Luke 22, during the Last Supper dispute, 'It's not the one that sits at the table, it's the one that serves.' And that's what I do in both professions."

that serves.' And that's what I do in both professions."

And to Brandemihl, the physical and spiritual healing often cross each other as a servant of God and a servant to the public.

"EMERGENCY MEDICAL Service (EMS) serves a role of healing. Also, over at our parish, we have a significant healing ministry that goes on."

So with the crossover in the two jobs, how do his parishioners and fellow firefighters feel about his two pro-

fun. I think they've grown to know me from who I am and who I've become, and they accept this."

WITH HIS busy schedule, Brandemihl still manages to find time to play a little golf or softball with his fellow firefighters. And he spends valued time with his family at church and in the outdoors.

"Family camping is a real fun thing that we like to do. And since I've channeled my energies into different church activities, I get to spend time with my family there doing different things."

Livonia firefighter Alan Brandemihl Jr. has been involved in St. Andrew's Episcopal

St. Andrew's has an interesting mix in the clergy, one as unusual as it is effective. Not only do they have a firefighter, but they also have a former Los Angeles County sheriff, the Rev. Robert A. Clapp.
Brandemihl will be the first to admit that police and firefighters have a notorious relations problem, yet, in their case it have worked out for the best.

"TYPICALLY, COPS and firefighters don't work well together, but we really do. We have an advantage because of having dealt with things at their absolute worst, which can make most things in the ministry seem rather easy at times.

gives us a good sense of balance in being able to relate to good and bad. So for Brandemihl, you could say that his careers are measured not by monetary excellence, but by the reward of helping those in need. "For persons in the church who are alone and scared, just being able to hold their hand or put my arm around them, gives me a great sense of satisfaction . . . and you can't put a price on that.

Talents exceed our character

"There may be times when you will be sorry about something you said; sorry that you stayed too late, or sorry that you went so early; sorry that you won something, or lost, but all your life you'll never be sorry you were kind."

These words, from an unknown pen, move us forward to another truth as expressed by John Luther:

"Good character is more to be praised than outstanding talent. Most talents are, to some extent, a gift. Good character, by contrast, is not given to us. We have to build it piece by piece - by thought, choice, courage and determination."

The recently concluded economic summit in Houston was assessed by a White House official as a "fact . . . that the United States is no longer the world's pre-eminent economic power."

IT IS REGRETTABLE that he did not notice how our moral character and stature has shriveled. The competitive nature of the economic summit did not extend, enrich nor Bush also blocked a provision that carbon dioxide emissions would be cut by 25 percent in 15 years.

What did not change as a result of the Houston summit is the fact that the United States is still ranked No. 1 in military power. We build the best weapons, equip and train more ar-mies and can control more people with armed power than any other nation in the world.

With very few exceptions, politicians are a talented people. Their range of skills and abilities is greater than the average. It is regre that talents do not guarantee charac-

Canadian appeal draws on canoes, crafts and cruises

8日本本(本-6日)

One of these days we should come back and do

I heard myself say that over and over last week when we weekended in Peterborough, Ontario.

Peterborough is in heavily treed Canadian Shield country north and west of Toronto. It's about 90 minutes by car from Toronto unless you go during Friday rush hour, as I did, and then it takes three hours.

Peterborough is on the Otonabee River and is part of the Trent-Severn Waterway system that allows passage from Lake Ontario to the Georgian Bay in Lake Huron.

The city of 60,000 population is in the Kawartha Lakes region, a fabulous inland recreational center where canoe and kayak championships are held regularly and where sailors are in their glory. The lakes and rivers of the 240-mile-long Trent Waterway, traveled by Champlain in 1615, are now the preserve of pleasure boaters who mo-tor and sail through its 45 locks.

THE MOST-FAMOUS lock is the historic Hydraulic Lift Lock, which is said to have the highest lift of any lock in the world. I saw the lock once a long time ago. One of these day's I'm going to come back and take a cruise through the lock and up the waterway to Stoney Lake and the Viamede Resort, a wonderful old restored wooden lodge.

There are three companies which cruise the waterway. Bobcaygeon Cruises ((705) 738-4779) does a two-hour cruise daily except Friday out of Lock 32 as well as sunset cruises, and is the oldest lock on the waterway. Stoney Lake Cruises ((705) 652-8389) does several cruises a day through Labor Day during the summer plus fall cruises, Sept. 16 through Oct. 15. Liftlock Cruises Ltd. ((705) 742-9912), does a two-hour cruise over the lift

All cruises cost approximately $12 Canadian for adults and $6 for children. I'm going to do that sometime. This time, we explored the countryside by land. A country auction outside a church in the rain, with the auctioneer selling china cups and Canadian paintings and the antique glass bowl of a kerosene lamp.

We ate lunch at the Curve Lake Indian reservation where we delighted in wild rice soup and an Indian fried bread called Saucegun. We went shopping at an elegant gallery of Canadian Indian crafts, which carries everything from $12 handmade bead earrings from Owen Sound to $3000 bentwood painted boxes made by the Haida Indians in British Columbia.

The Trent Canal widens into Little Lake in the heart of Peterborough, and the city throws a free party every Wednesday and Saturday night during

LAST WEEK the historic boats were in, including some from Michigan; their sleek mahogany hulls rocking at the Little Lake Marina. We sat on lawn chairs and laughed through a stage presenta-tion by Dave Broadfoot, a well-known character in the Royal Canadian Air Force. Lots of you laugh through that program weekly on the Cana-dian Broadcasting Corp. station out of Windsor.

We were stopped at a customs station and rest area just inside the French border near Italy. The guide went through the usual routine, telling us that it is only: (1) her skill as a linguist, (2) her savoir faire as a briber and/or (3) her charms as a femme fatale, that will get us through unharmed.

Though it is never said, we all understand that without exercise of all of the above, we would be pulled out of the bus by cold-eyed French officials, none of whom could speak a word of English.

We detoured off the highway for a turn on the Corniche in order to get a glimpse of Monaco. Alessandro, our driver, maneuvered the long coach on a hairpin switchback road as if there were nothing to it.

We came back to Corniche for dinner that night in the little cliffside village of Eze, in a restaurant run by a charming couple known to our guide. We were promised the meal would be superb. French cuisine. We were not

We later went to the Casino at Monte Carlo. We were hoping to catch a glimpse of Prince Rainier or Princess Caroline. Tres charmante!

MONACO and the Monte Carlo Casino are filled with elegant women and handsome men who lean over gambling tables, lounge at the bar and promenade the

We won a little money at the tables, but lost it before we were through. We enjoyed a consolation coffee in the Cafe de Paris. It's a French-speaking version of a downtown Las Vegas hotel lobby.

We returned to our hotel in Nice and were in bed by midnight. The next morning, we walked around town. Nice is a beautiful city with a population of 750,000 and the climate of San Diego, Calif. The shops are full of expensive and elegant merchandise. Small parks stand along the inland and sea shore.

Heading toward Cannes on the coach again, we passed the Hippodrome de Cote d'Azur.

Cannes was named for the reeds that grow everywhere in the marshes nearby. The city is beautiful, warm and rich and looks across the bay toward an an-

We made our lunch stop after winding along the Boulevard Carnot and the Rue Jean de Rioffe. The beachfront is lined by expensive hotels: Miramar, Splendid, Carlton, Grand, Cornet de la Reine, Majestic, and Gray Albion, the latter in honor of expatriate Englishmen and British tourists who developed the beach area and continue to donate time and labor to keep it neat.

MAKING OUR WAY through the city, we encountered construction work around which our coach had to detour down narrow streets and alleyways. Seeking a path through the maze, we confronted a semitruck and

Our coach and the truck were hood-to-bonnet in a street so narrow that the sides of each were nearly scraping the stucco off the buildings that line it.

Alessandro and our guide conferred with the driver of the semitruck. There was much waving of hands, scratching of heads, kicking of tires and spitting. Someone soon gave way. As Alessandro would say, it was time to apply "l'arte di ariangiarsi," ("Working things out; finding a compromise.")

We stopped for lunch in Cannes, on the fashionable avenue which rims the seashore and the strand. At a sidewalk cafe drenched in glorious French sunshine, we ordered potage de poisson, crusty French bread, and cool white wine. Nectar and ambrosia!

After lunch, we depart along the Rue Georges Clemenceau, the Boulevard du Riviera and the Boulevard Franklin Roosevelt. We turn north toward Grasse, where we visit the Parfumerie Galimard.

Each parfumeri (there are several in Southern France) has at least one "nose" (Les Nez) who is responsible for quality control in the works. The French perfume industry has some 40 noses, nearly all male.

ON AVERAGE, Les Nez work for an hour a day, 15 days per month. This gives them plenty of time off in which to rest their famous nostrils. It is vital that they be up to snuff for the delicate work of sniffing out new fragrances.

By 2:45 p.m. we were on our way to Avignon and Aix le Provence. The fields were full of flowers; the hillsides were latticed with grape vines. Low mountains rim a shallow valley. They were covered with stunted pines and brush, not too unlike the Fremont River Valley in southern Utah. The air was bright with sunshine and fairly dry. Forest and brush fires have ravaged many square miles. There are strict regulations concerning campfires. We entered a divided highway and drove past mile green of the vines mixed with the flaming colors of deciduous trees and the dark green of pines. Here in the Vaucluse region, as in Provence and Languedoc, the vines are not staked as they are in Italian vineyards.

We passed the village of St. Maximin, named for the saint whose tomb is located there, but better known for the place where Mary Magdalene is believed to be bur-

WE PASSED Mt. Victoire and stopped briefly at Provence on the Cote d'Azur, the fabled Azure Coast, en route to Avignon.

Avignon is a massive, intricate building, home for several popes after falling out with the Vatican in Rome. Catherine of Siena, patron saint of Italy, was responsible for their getting back to the Holy City where she thought they belonged.

Back on the coach, we follow the Mediterranean westward to the foot of the Pyrenese.

Looping through Wonderland

on water rides and roller coasters

By Roberta Schwartz special writer

Sprinkle in some excitement, stir with a dash of spectacle and shake well with color to concoct a day of fun at Canada's Wonderland, a somethingextra theme park near Toronto. That something extra comes in many forms including the Canadian discount on the U.S. dollar, which rates at 17 percent or more. It's easy to get there too. The drive from Windsor via highway 401 takes about three hours. Wonderland rests just off highway 400, 10 minutes north of 401. This year the park celebrates its 10th anniversary of keeping folks happy beneath 150-foot high Wonder Mountain.

Yet the terrifying variety of huge roller coasters reigns suspreme as Wonderland's premier attraction. Challenge the Bat, Ontario's first and only backward looping coaster and Sky Rider, Canada's only stand up, looping coaster requires riders to forget their instinct for self-preservation upon boarding.

The Mighty Canadian Minebuster throws its devotees down 94 slopes at 100 kilometers an hour. Many visitors awed by the thrill rides are amazed when they find that they are still alive at the end of each roller coaster ride.

Wonderland hosts a wide variety of spectacles for those who would rather watch than be turned inside out on the coasters. Street entertainers, clown bands and cliff divers keep more passive visitors happy. Italian celebrations, fireworks spectaculars, and heritage days saluting different ethnic groups still add more spice to the overflowing Wonderland pot.

Two theme areas for youngsters give kids a chance to meet their favorite cartoon characters and shake hands with such stars as Fred Flintstone and the Smurfs. They love exploring Hanna Barbara Land and meeting Scooby Doo and the Jetsons. These cartoon celebrities hug their fans Wonderland takes pride in its claim of operating the wettest rides in the Western Hemisphere. Wonderland managers boast that the park's laser show, light and muextravaganza can't be matched for the beauty of its special effects. This year the park has added Jet Scream, but warns that the new ride is only for those with the right stuff. This 10-story ride goes through 360 degree loops that would test the courage of King Kong.

Ten live shows a day including a Broadway musical review, fairytale follies in which kids star in their favorite stories, and salt water friends show featuring dolphins, sea lions and a high comedy dive show staged on a galleon. These attractions leave visitors wondering what they should see first.

For those who want some refuge from excitement and all the challenge, international restaurants featuring the foods of many countries, wooden horses and antique cars offer some fun and consolation.

This year the park has introduced a special $5 children's concert series which brings top children performers to the Kingswood Music Theatre.

This $35 million park can come up with some of the hottest attractions anywhere, serving thousands of visitors every season. Harry and Sue now can turn their attention to their other goals, especially their retirement planning.

In recent years, their financial savings efforts have been focused on assisting their children through college. They are very concerned now about their own future, and want to make retirement planning their primary goal.

HARRY, AN insurance adjuster, and Sue, a store salesperson, both plan on working for 10 more years; although if financially able, they would consider retiring earlier.

Both Sue and Harry contribute to a 401(k) retirement plan where they work. They have recently increased their contributions. Harry now puts 12 percent of his income, and Sue adds 14 percent of her weekly income to these plans. This totals about $350 per month, which is helping to form a solid founda-tion for their retirement planning.

They wonder whether they are putting too much money into their retirement plans. Specifically, they asked, "Should we cancel Sue's 401(k) plan and bank the $50 per week contribution?"

We would strongly recommend against any reduction in contributions to their retirement plans. Their retirement plans are excel-lent places to build their retirement assets. It is convenient for

In May 1989, a 30-year-old truck driver died in a steering-loss accident in Ontario. The accident was traced to a counterfeit bolt, manufactured overseas, that was falsely marked as meeting Society of Automotive Engineer standards.

Today, automotive manufactur-ers, including the Big Three, continue to fight counterfeiters of replacement parts. Companies estimate that as much as $3 billion of the $50 billion per year automotive aftermarket involves counterfeit or simulated parts. The Federal Trade Commission translates this into 210,000 lost jobs for Americans, who would be producing legitimate equivalents.

"Counterfeiting is the imitation of something genuine with the intention to defraud or deceive," said Michael Dinger, Chrysler product development manager. "In my five years of fighting this problem, all counterfeit parts I have examined were definitely inferior to genuine ones.'

Counterfeit parts may originate overseas, imported legally as generic parts before being placed in counterfeit boxes, or be made in the U.S. Original equipment manufacturers warn that these parts usually fail to meet industry or individual company

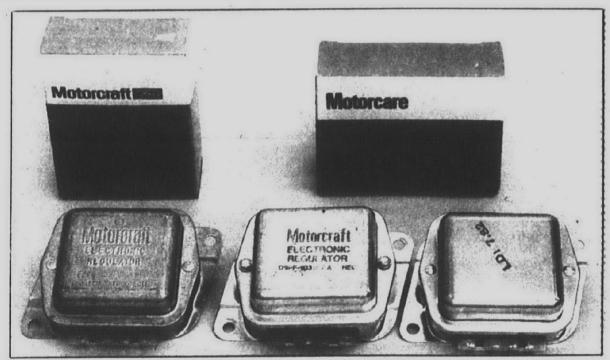

In other cases, called simulation, parts of uncertain quality are of-fered in "look-alike" packages. Boxes with Motorcare and Autocraft labels, for example, have been used to deceive customers looking for Ford's Motorcraft trademark.

THE COUNTERFEIT and simulation problems need to be distinguished from the current crash parts controversy where less costly, but clearly marked, parts are used in collision repairs, Dinger said. In this case, automakers contend that such "imitation" parts do not provide satisfactory quality of repairs.

Manufacturers, worried about safety as much as lost sales and reputation, are getting tough with counterfeit parts makers and distribu-

Energy tax plan would hurt state, utility chief says

Michigan and the industrial states would be hardest hit - in the export pocket — by proposed federal energy taxes, says the chairman of Consumers Power Co.

"Energy taxes will fall very heavily on an industrial economy," said William T. McCormick Jr., who heads the utility selling natural gas and electricity to two-thirds of Michigan's residents. "This is going to be war between the states."

The firm estimated that $1 billion of the first year's $20 billion of budget-balancing taxes would fall on Michigan homeowners and business-

Levin said he has "pre-judged none" of the tax ideas.

But Levin warned the estimated budget deficit - raised Monday to $168.8 billion for fiscal 1991 - is two-thirds higher than President Bush's estimate of six months ago. With the bailout of savings and loan depositors, the total deficit could reach $231 billion — "a very, very serious budget problem in this country," said Levin.

McCORMICK CALLED a news conference Monday in Detroit to say the energy tax proposals are "highly regressive, hitting people on fixed incomes and the poor

"It would do great harm to the industrial economy. Michigan is the nation's ninth largest energy user and the fourth largest exporter. It would affect our country's competi-tive position. It would be unfair and discriminatory to the large industrithem since they save by payroll de-duction and it provides them with significant tax advantages.

THE CONTRIBUTIONS they make are currently tax deductible, and there is a very real possibility that the money withdrawn at retirement will be taxed at a lower rate than they currently pay. Alternatively, they may be able to take advantage of favorable five year averaging treatment on a lump sum distribution from their 401(k) plans. If their contributions continue at their present rate, it could increase their retirement nest egg by more than $100,000 — a significant sum for

The Pierces should review their expected retirement needs and estimate their future living expenses. This will also help them to determine if their current savings will be sufficient to allow them to live in the desired manner.

Harry estimates relatively high inflation in the future, as much as 10 percent, yet all of their assets are in investments which have little inflation protection — bank deposits and certificates of deposit. They may want to give some thought to including some growth assets which have inflation protection over the long term, such as stocks, real estate and

ONE OF Harry and Sue's goals is to pay off their house by the time they retire. At the current payment rate, the mortgage will not be paid off for 13 years. With retirement just 10 years away, they are considering retiring the mortgage three years

They wonder if they should make extra payments on the mortgage at this time so that the mortgage is paid off when they are ready to re-tire, or whether they should bank the money between now and retirement and then pay the mortgage balance in a lump sum at that time.

Their current mortgage rate is only 7 percent, and we would recom-mend that they not make additional principal payments on their mort-gage. Because home interest is a fully tax deductible expense, the interest rate cost is only 5 percent after

At retirement they will have assets to pay off the mortgage if they desire. However, even at that time it may make more sense to maintain their regular monthly payments rather than paying a lump sum to eliminate that debt. With their mortgage interest at just 7 percent, the only reason we would recommend paying the mortgage off early is if it would add to their piece of mind. In that case, it might be an acceptable

One of the financial strengths of the Pierces is that they have adequate medical, disability and homeowner's insurances. However, their auto insurance liability coverage is only $100,000. They should raise this to $300,000, which is in line with their current coverage under their homeowners' policy.

IF HARRY were to die unexpectedly with his current life insurance ($141,000 face value), the income from the proceeds would only replace about one-third of his current income. It also would not replace his pension and 401(k) retirement plan contributions during the next 10 years. We would recommend that Harry consider an additional term insurance policy covering him for the next 10 years to protect Sue in the case of his premature death.

Currently, Harry and Sue own three certificates of deposit jointly with their children. Each of the children is named as joint owner with Harry and Sue on the three different CD's. While this arrangement can avoid probate under Michigan law, and perhaps avoid Michigan inheritance taxes, it can become very unwieldy if it is intended to be used in lieu of a properly executed will.

Fortunately, the Pierces have wills in place, so that should not be a problem. In an effort to be fair to each child, they may create prob-lems if not all three of the CD's are cashed in and used at the same time. One or more of the children may receive a disproportionate amount of their estate. In addition, at least theoretically, the children are entitled to a portion of the CD during their lifetimes, which is not the intent of the Pierces. Care should be taken with this type of relationship.

AS YOU can see, with increased assets available for retirement come financial strength. However, proper planning for that retirement is a necessity. The Pierces are allocating a significant portion of their assets to meeting the primary goal of retirement, and they should allocate a significant amount of time to be certain that their goal is realistic. As the financial assets and planning come together, the Pierces can move toward the realization of a sound retirement

The suit charged that Roy Lanza operator of both busin operator of both businesses, sold in-ferior oil seals as Federal Mogul parts he placed in counterfeit Federal-Mogul boxes that he had printed.

"We discovered the problem in 1988 when a customer of Mr. Lanza tried to return the oil seals to Federal-Mogul for credit," said George Bashara, Federal-Mogul vice presi-dent and general counsel. "This practice, involving hundreds of thousands of dollars of parts, had been going on for at least three years."

In a federal court-approved settlement, Lanza admitted fraud, pledged to stop counterfeit practices and agreed to pay damages to Federal-Mogul. The counterfeit parts and boxes were confiscated by the U.S. Marshal's office.

"simulating" genuine parts are sub-ject only to civil penalties.

The message for counterfeiters Bashara said, is that "Federal-Mo is no longer going to assume that this is a cost of doing business and let it go at that. In the past, Bashara said, Federal-Mogul feared bad publicity but now will prosecute whenever it

In 1989, aftermarket sales accounted for 68 percent of Federal-Mogul's earnings of $56 million. Federal-Mogul components include en-gine bearings, sealing devices, fuel pumps, and lighting and electrical

Federal-Mogul continues vigilance against counterfeiters with the same strategies used by the Big Three: constant checking of products in the field, information programs, improvements in packaging, and the willingness to prosecute offenders. In January, a nationwide FBI sting netted 30 counterfeit parts distributors. The FBI had been working on the case with major manufacturers for nearly three years. The investigation is continuing.

Seven indictments have been handed down, but no cases from January have been completely settled yet," said Ken Myers, marketing manger for Ford's Parts and Service division.

WHILE MYERS sees less counterfeiting from Ford's standpoint in the last few years, he believes that it

"probably will never go away; there is too much money to be made."

Myers said that counterfeit parts distributors are getting more sophisticated, with some using telemarketing schemes to reach auto service

Both Chyrsler's Dinger and Ford's Myers believe that counterfeit parts are more likely to be found in repair centers than auto parts stores.

"In my experience, no prosecu-tions over the last four to five years have involved any legitimate parts stores," Dinger said.

Locally, auto parts dealers also see less of a problem than in the past. Scott Harthun, manager of Southfield Auto Parts in Southfield, said he has never encountered any counterfeit parts or offers of them.

'We also buy direct from manufacturers, so we are unlikely to have the problem," Harthun said.

Bob Morton, owner of Stem's Auto Supply in Livonia, agreed.

Morton and Ginther, each with more than 20 years of experience in auto parts, suggest buying from reputable stores and repairing cars at well-established service centers which are more likely to resist the temptation of selling off-brand parts as genuine.

"The problem is probably greater away from the city, especially when you are on a trip and need a repair," Morton said. He recommends carrying routine replacement parts such as belts or hoses when traveling.

As consumers defend against counterfeit or poor quality parts by careful shopping, a new motto based on manufacturer resolve emerges -Counterfeiter beware.

No matter what, owners complain about their cars a

This is the first year in history that an auto manufacturer managed to build a car that nobody complained about.

The source of this startling information is the J.D. Power & Associates "initial quality survey" of new cars. Power's people survey new car owners and ask them if they have anything to complain about. The re-sults are tabulated annually and then the auto companies brag about them if they are on the top of the list or complain about the survey if they are at the bottom.

AUTOMAKERS SCRAMBLE to get a good ranking in the Power survey so they can claim their car is better than the next. What they don't want anybody to notice is that according to Power, all cars are still Power says that two-thirds of the people buying the best-quality car in the world (the Toyota Cressida, according to the survey) complain about it anyway. In fact, until this year, no car brand had averaged fewer than 100 complaints per 100 cars, which means that somebody was complaining about every car.

Even really terrific cars have more than one person complaining about them. Buick, for example, had 1.13 complaints per car, which means that somebody's spouse must have put in their two cents' worth. Most cars get at least two complaints, and some get up to three, which means that probably the neighbor came over and picked at something as soon as he saw the thing pull into the driveway.

I THINK one reason that Power gets so many complaints is that he is basically a nice guy, and when he asks people to complain about their car, nobody wants to disappoint him.

"Yeah, I've got a few complaints, but what the heck, nobody's perfect" already adds up to about 300 complaints per 100 cars sold.

Actually, if you spend a lot of money on a car, you aren't about to complain, which I figure is why Mercedes, Lexus and Buick usually do pretty well on Power's complaint do pretty well on Power's complaint survey. On the other hand, when you find yourself driving, say, a Dodge Omni, you probably have other worries and aren't so picky anymore, which explains why the Omni ranked higher than the Honda Civic on this year's survey. I never really complained about my Omni, but I mut-

HOW YOU feel about your car is clearly the deciding factor as to whether you complain about it. For example, my old Triumph had lots of flaws - such as a glove box that was a real cardboard box that was supposed to be attached behind a lit-tle leather-covered door that unlocked with a key. But when you put a set of socket wrenches in it (don't ask why), the box would fall off and hit your passenger on the ankle.

Then you had to put the glove box with the wrenches in it in the trunk, which meant that you could open the little leather-covered door with the key, hold your hands up behind the opening and do a passable rendition of a Punch and Judy puppet show.

I thought it was astute British engineering that left space in the trunk for the glove box. Funny, I never thought to complain about it. I won-der what Mr. Power would have thought of that.

Put your money where it counts.

Even using the DNA's un-audited figures, SPRING delivers Detroit's suburban market at a lower cost per inch and a lower cost per thousand than either the News or the Free Press.

In short, your advertising dollar will pack a bigger punch when you place your ad in SPRING Trust the right numbers.

The Detroit News and Free Press' own figures show suburban circulation of both the dailies and Sunday newspaper is down.

At the same time, SPRING's network of 39 Detroit suburban newspapers offers a solid, stable circulation of 530,000. (That represents more than one million readers!) What's more, all SPRING newspapers are audited by either ABC or CAC.

Obesity can start a chain reaction to poor health that can be devastating.

To begin with, most physicians and researchers consider obesity to be the major cause of diabetes in adults. Up to 90% of adults diagnosed as having diabetes, in fact, are overweight.

Of course, once you have diabetes your chances of developing heart disease, kidney disease, or going blind increase dramatically.

As a person with diabetes you'll be twice as prone to heart disease. 17 times as prone to kidney disease. And 25 times as prone to blindness, if you are insulin-dependent.

Diabetes, in fact, can shorten your life expectancy by one-third.

Fortunately, diabetes in adults, in most cases, can be prevented with careful weight control, healthy eating habits, and regular exercise.

So if you're overweight, doesn't it make sense to take off the extra weight?

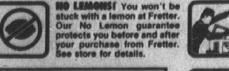

Instead of years off your life?

FIGHT SOME OF THE WORST DISEASES OF OUR TIME. Support the American Diabetes Association.

CANTON TOWNSHIP

REQUEST FOR PROPOSALS

The Board of Trustees, Charter Township of Canton, is requesting proposals for a community-wide Beautification Master Plan, for the purpose of developing recommendations for public beautification projects. Copies of the RFP may be obtained by contacting the Resource Development Division, Township Administration Complex, 1150 S. Canton Center Road, Canton, Michigan 48188, (313)

Sealed bids must be received by the Office of the Clerk, First Floor, Township Administration Building, 1150 S. Canton Center, Canton, Michigan by 11:00 a.m., Thursday, August 2, 1990. This project is federally funded and all bidders must insure that employees, applicants for employment, and subcontractors are not discriminated against because of race, color, religion, sex or national origin.

Award of the project will be based on all information requested. Canton reserves the right to award this project to other than the low bidder or to reject

Notice is hereby given that all noxious weeds growing on any land in the Charter Township of Canton, Wayne County, Michigan must be cut and destroyed on or before the first day of August, 1990. Any owner, occupant, or person having charge of any such land must notify the Township that such weeds have been destroyed within three (3) days of such cutting. Any person failing to comply with this notice on or before the date men-I shall be liable to the imposition of the penalties set forth in Ordinance No. 64 of the Charter Township of Canton, Wayne County, Michigan and shall be liable for all expenses incurred by the Township in destroying said noxious weeds, which expenses, if unpaid by the Owner or occuant, shall be spread against the property on the next County and State tax roll or the next general Township tax roll and/or place a lien upon the property to secure the collection of such expense. The Township of Canton may notify by certified mail with return receipt requested, the owner, agent or occupant as shown on the current County and School tax roll, of any lands on which said noxious weeds are found growing. Such notice shall contain methods of treating and eradicating such noxious weeds and a summary of the provisions of this section of the Ordinance. Failure of the Township to give such notice shall not, however, constitute a defense to any action to enforce the payment of any penalty provided herein or any debt created hereunder.

"Now, there's a new Cadillac in your future"

a month/36 months*

It's a great time to improve your driving. Because you can get a 36-month lease on a new Sedan de Ville - America's most spacious front-drive sedan—for just $398 a month.

Up to a $2,000 cash bonus. You can receive a $2,000 cash bonus direct from Cadillac when you purchase a new Cadillac Seville or Eldorado. Or a $1,500 cash bonus direct from Cadillac on a new Cadillac Fleetwood, De Ville or Brougham. See your dealer for details.

Whichever of these Cadillacs you choose, your investment is protected by 24-hour Cadillac Roadside Service® and backed by Cadillac's 4-year/50,000-mile Gold Key Bumper to Bumper Warranty.

But act promptly. Because the selection of these luxurious Cadillacs continues to diminish. And you don't have to be Arnold Palmer to appreciate outstanding drives like these.

HPLM defeats Duffy's

Hines Park Lincoln-Mercury outslugged Duffy's Plumbing 16-12 to defeat the Livonia Collegiate Baseball League leader 13-9 in a makeup game Monday night.

Winning pitcher Bill Bannon en-tered in the bottom of the second inning in relief of starter Dennis Szczechowski, who allowed eight hits and saw his team fall behind 8-4.

But Bannon limited Duffy's to four hits and one run over the last four innings of the six-inning game.

Szczechowski was a factor with the bat, however. He was 3-for-5 with a solo home run and three RBI. Bannon also had an impact, going 3for-4 with two RBI.

Dan Niemiec was another threehit player for Hines Park, and Mike Culver's two hits included a two-run homer. Jeremy Krol had two hits, DUFFY'S LEADING hitters were Mike Siwajek with three and Mike Kaczmarek, Todd Fracassi and Matt Scalf with two each. Scalf drove in four runs with a pair of doubles, and Brent Haywood hit a two-run single.

David Jones was the losing pitcher, allowing six runs on eight hits in 2 3/2 innings.

On Sunday, Duffy's and Little Caesars split a double-header, Duffy's winning the first game 5-4 and Caesars the nightcap 17-13.

Siwajek's two-run homer in the bottom of the seventh inning enabled Duffy's to win the first game. Eric Linck hit a three-run shot in the top half to give Caesars a 4-3 lead. Fracassi and Steve Michelz chipped in RBI singles for the winners, and Paul Pirronello had two hits for Caesars.

Doug McGregor pitched 6% inn-ings for the win despite mixing eight walks with six hits. Losing pitcher Jim Miller had a no-hitter through five innings but eventually gave up three. He also walked eight and struck out seven.

IN THE SECOND game, Caesars jumped to a 12-2 lead after two innings and outhit Duffy's 16-12. Gerald Davis hit a three-run homer for the winners, Joe Ransley a two-run shot and Adam Hazey a solo dinger.

Rich Roy led Caesars' attack with three hits, and Tom Hill, Linck and Bill Bertera added two apiece. Siwajek, Scalf, Kevin Adams and Michelz had two hits each for Duffy's. Fracassi had no hits but two RBI. Omar Ahart got all but one out in the six-inning game dominated by the hitters. Mike Dalimonte got the final out with the bases loaded. Bill Wicker pitched one inning for Duffy's, allowing seven runs on seven hits, and was the loser.

Wendy's of Ann Arbor swept a Sunday double-header from visiting Tom Holzer Ford, 9-4 and 10-6. Stuart Hirshman had three hits (homer, double, single) and four RBI in the first game for Wendy's. Jim Izzo managed three hits for Holzer, John Frazzini two hits and two RBI.

Steve Hirshman went the distance on the mound for Wendy's. Steve Ross also pitched a complete game for Holzer.

EIGHT WALKS led to Holzer's undoing in the nightcap. Greg Hysell lasted only 11/3 innings, giving up seven runs despite only three hits.

Holzer started with five straight hits and four runs in the first inning but couldn't contain Wendy's. Rob Baumgartel, Brian Daniels and Brian Frellick had two hits apiece. Walter's Home Appliance also made a complete sweep of Sunday's action, beating Total Travel Value

Jerry Koester hit safely in three of four trips and had two RBI in the opener. Joe Sturtz, a holdover from the 1989 championship team and playing in his first game of the summer after recovering from surgery, and Jay Gabel had two hits and three RBI apiece. Jeff Pendell and David Houghtby chipped in two hits and one RBI each.

Anthony Chandler surrendered all nine of Total Travel's hits but pitched 4% innings for the win. Chad Wrona struck out six of the eight batters he faced in relief.

Jason Hicks pitched 2% innings, gave up nine runs on nine hits and suffered the loss. In the second game, John Gotts drove in three runs with two hits for Walter's. Total Travel rallied with a four-run sixth but merely dented Walter's 9-2 lead.

DAMIAN HALL also had two hits for the winners. Steve Pollock's three-run double was the big blow for Total Travel in the sixth. Dave Schmaltz had two hits and two RBI, and Chris Schmid also hit safely on two occasions.

Steve Owens pitched 5% innings to become the winner. He was nicked for eight hits but struck out six while walking only two. Craig Murray, working the first 2% innings, got tagged with the loss.

In a Saturday makeup game, Hines Park bombed Walter's 11-1 as Krol pitched a two-hitter, which included five strikeouts and one walk. Culver had two hits and two RBI, and Niemiec doubled home a run.

Used equipment would help needy By Dan O'Meara staff writer of Detroit Anti-Poverty Program.

Being in the pop and beer retail business, Frank and Christine Cahill know about recycling.

But the Farmington Hills couple have undertaken another recycling project in which used sporting equip-ment will be collected and redistributed to the less fortunate in the metropolitan area.

The Cahills, who have four athletic children and enough no-longer-needed items in their house to begin the program, use their Discount Pop & Beer stores in Farmington and Livonia as the collection points.

"I was cleaning out the garage and basement," Frank Cahill said, "and we had an endless amount of things that were usable but not used any

"The items were too good to throw away but of no current use to us. Six of us play tennis at our house, so we must've had 15 tennis rackets."

THE CAHILLS will accept most any used piece of equipment but especially balls (baseball, tennis, basketball, football), bats, tennis rackets and baseball gloves

The assortment of items already received includes a pair of ice skates, a hockey stick and even three bowling trophies

Cahill prefers to leaves clothing items to other charitable organizations but will accept specialized footwear such as spikes and cleats. If there isn't a known need for something that's offered, Cahill will try to

"I didn't know what to expect, so I would say (the response) has been good," Cahill said. "But I don't think we've tapped the enormous re-sources that are out there."

Frank Cahill

Inner-city recreation centers will be the initial focus of the Cahills' effort. Frank, who has offered the benefits of his program to the Police Athletic League, has identified one such center in Hamtramck and another in Detroit.

"We're looking to give it to the recreation centers to store and when a kid comes along and will take care of it give it to him," Cahill said.

The director of one Detroit center told Cahill a baseball program had to be canceled last year because, though 40 youngsters signed up, only three had gloves.

Cahill, who coached baseball for 10 years in the South Farmington organization as well as basketball at Our Lady of Sorrows and soccer in the city parks and recreation program, recalled an experience during the 10 years he worked for the City

His office overlooked an urban park where the basketball courts went unused for several hours. Then, suddenly, a group of 20 or more youths would crowd the court.

Cahill solved the mystery when he observed there was only one basketball, and it was only when the owner arrived with his tattered possession the game began. "I'd like to get cracking on it, so we don't miss the whole summer.

Cahill said. "By the end of July, I'd like to ship some of it." CAHILL'S HOPE is to involve other stores as collection centers and then draw the interest of a beer or pop distributor, which would collect and transport the equipment from various sites and act as a clearing house. "If we get it rolling, I'd like to get drop boxes in many places around the tri-county area," Cahill said. "I really think one of the companies will support it because it is relatively effortless.

"If we can get one of the beer or op companies to go along, we can fill one of these (recycling) bags with sports equipment instead of empties. Then the driver could take it back to the plant at night.

"I want to get some response myself," he added, "so when I go to them I can say 'We got 500 items out of our limited area' and show them proof people will respond to it."

Anyone wishing to donate used sports items can do so at either one of the Cahill stores: 32434 Grand River (just west of Power Road) in Farmington or 15348 Middlebelt (just north of Five Mile) in Livonia. The hours are 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday. For more information call the Cahills at 477-6479.

Jennifer Harris qualified for nationals

Harris to compete for TAC nationals

Jennifer Harris, a 1990 graduate of Plymouth Salem, placed in three events at The Athletic Congress regional track and field meet Saturday in Lexington, Ky.

Harris, a member of the Spitfires Club composed mainly of Plymouth and Canton athletes, also qualified for the TAC Junior Olympics in Lincoln, Neb.,

the week of July 24-29. Harris, competing in the 17- and 18-year-old division, was second in the 100-meter hurdles (15.2), fifth in the high jump (5-1) and fifth in the long

The regional took place on the campus of the University of Kentucky. The University of Nebraska will be host for the nationals In the district meet at Ypsilanti Lincoln High School in June, Harris was third in the hurdles (15.9) and long jump (16-3) and fourth in the high jump (5-

The top six at the district meet advanced to the regional, and the top three in the regional meet qualified for the national finals.

Harris, a first-team member of the All-Observer squad, will attend Eastern Michigan University in the fall and compete for the EMU women's track Summer Hockey League games at the start of the week to jump from third place in the Eagle Conference standings to first.

Replacing the Huskies as the division leader, the Wolverines thumped the Wildcats 9-2 on Sunday and the Spartans 11-2 on Monday to improve their record to 3-2-2.

That gave the Wolverines a halfgame lead over the Huskies, who lost their grip on first place with a 9-6 loss to the Lakers and stand 3-2-1.

The Bulldogs, meanwhile, continue as the only unbeaten team, leading the Bakes Conference with a 5-0-1 mark following an 8-3 win over the Falcons on Sunday.

The Lakers, with their defeat of the Huskies and an 8-3 victory in their game Monday with the Bron-cos, stepped up from third to second place in the Bakes at 4-1-2.

Following are summaries of three MSHL games played Sunday and two

One of the teams to reach the final four in its respective age division is the Michigan Magic Wolves. They qualified for the national tournament, to be held July 28-29 in Fairfax, Va., by capturing the USYSA Region II title Tuesday in Kalamazoo.

The Magic Wolves, a 1974 boys' team coached by John Boots, edged the Dynamo (from Columbus, Ohio) 2-1 in an overtime penalty-kick shoo-

Two other teams, the '76 Livonia Wolves, a boys team coached by Paul Scicluna, and the Vardar '78 boys, coached by Morris Lupenec, collected regional crowns as well, but there is no national tournament for their age divisions. The Wolves blanked the Huber Heights (Ohio) Stingers, 4-0. Vardar toppled Busch of St. Louis, 2-0.

TWO OTHER area teams reached the finals of the region, which covers 12 states and 13 districts: Michigan, Ohio north, Ohio south, Wisconsin, Indiana, Illinois, Kentucky, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota and Kansas.

The Livonia Hawks '74 girls, coached by Tom Coyne, lost 1-0 to the Beechmont (Ohio) Blitz; the Birmingham Blazers, a '78 girls squad coached by Roger Cummings, fell 4-0 to Wisconsin.

The Magic Wolves, 2-1 winners over Kansas in Monday's regional semifinal, were pushed to the limit before advancing. A goal in the 10th minute by Travis Roy put them ahead, and they clung to the lead throughout the match - almost. With just two minutes remaining, the Dynamo tied it to

After a scoreless extra session, the two teams went to penalty kicks. Kerry Zavagnin, who assisted on Roy's goal, and Will Bothe hit their tries for the Magic Wolves, but misses on the next two penalty kicks left the two sides tied 2-2 after four.

STEVE SCHWARTZ connected to put the Magic Wolves ahead. Tim Webb stopped the Dynamo next effort, but the referee ruled the Magic Wolves' keeper had moved too soon. Webb, though, was up to the challenge, stopping the retake to preserve the victory.

The '76 Wolves' match wasn't nearly as dramatic. They led 3-0 at the half on two goals by Richie Walos and one by Shamus Rustin. Kenny Perlin got the fourth score in the second half. Alan Placek blanked all five Wolves' opponents in the tournament, including a 3-0 triumph over Missouri in the semis.

Paragon relies on depth in Great Lakes tourney

staff writer

There are several reasons Paragon Productions should be considered the favorite to win the Clarke Cup, presented to the Great Lakes Men's Soccer League playoff champion, according to Paragon coach Dan Duggan.

"If I was a betting man, I'd say we'd win the league," said Duggan. His reasoning? "We're deeper than (other teams) are."

Paragon's depth, which accounts for its "several reasons" to be favored, made it the regular-season champ. In the Great Lakes playoffs, there's no roster limit and substitution is open. The Michigan Cup tournament, on the other hand, limits teams to 15-player rosters, and in the National Amateur Cup tournament only two substitutions are allowed per match. We'll run five guys in and out of the lineup every 15 minutes," said Duggan, defining his strategy.

The Great Lakes playoffs start Sunday at three sites: Livonia's Bicentennial Park (two fields), Henry Ford Community College in Dearborn and Flint Atwood Stadium. There will be four matches in Livo-

Paragon is slated to host the Ann Arbor Hattricks at 6 p.m. at Bicentennial. The other three Division I matches were not set; they would be determined after Wednesday's make-up between the Redford Marauders and Livonia Wolves. If the Marauders, the defending Clarke Cup champions currently in fourth place, defeat the Wolves, they would play the Def Koreans, Brothers United would meet the secondplace Birmingham Cobras, and third-place Bud Light would go against the Wolves.

The eight playoff teams in the second division were decided, but the match-ups were not. The Birmingham Cobras II had clinched first, with the Corinthians second. Livonia Venom and Ann Arbor City Grill were tied for third, with the Venom playing the Homenetmen Wednes-

Other second division playoff teams were the Rochester Rebels, Phase I, Homenetmen and the

THE GREAT LAKES semifinals were originally slated for July 29, but the start of the Michigan Cup Tournament begins on that date and runs through the last Sunday of October, with games scheduled on the final Sunday of each month.

So the Great Lakes has rescheduled its semifinal matches for Wednesday, Aug. 1. The Clarke Cup final will be Sunday, Aug. 5. Although Duggan is confident of his team's chances, he knows potential upsets abound. The Marauders made a lengthy run in the National Amateur Cup Tournament earlier this summer (which, because they were forced to reschedule several matches, affected their Great Lakes season) and are dangerous.

So is Bud Light, which tied Paragon 0-0 during the season. "They're technicians," said Duggan of Bud Light. "They all played together at Michigan State, and they all play the same game."

The second-place Cobras could challenge as well. For that matter, Paragon's opening-round opponent, the Hattricks, could be troublesome. Paragon, 6-0-3 for the season, tied the Hattricks in their season opener.

Wayne hoop coach takes WLW job

By Brad Emons and C.J. Risak staff writers

One district's loss will be another dis-

That is the belief of the two athletic directors involved in Chuck Henry's departure as Wayne Memorial's boys' basketball coach for the same job at Walled Lake Western.

Wayne is losing someone who will be, at the least, difficult to replace. Western, on the other hand, is gaining a coach who will be counted on to turn a poor program

Henry's impressive credentials speak for themselves. In 13 years as a coach at Wayne and Dearborn Divine Child, he has compiled a 207-82 overall record and has guided his teams to three state district and six league

Think Wayne HS is going to miss him? Consider what AD Bill Hawley pointed out: "He's had 19 wins or better for the last five

Now that's impressive, in a sport limited to 20 regular-season games.

WALLED LAKE school district AD Bob Atkins was, not surprisingly, extremely pleased to get someone with such proven ability to replace Dick Hobson, who guided Western to a 5-16 record last season and was 12-31 in his two seasons as coach.

"He's an outstanding coach and, more importantly, an outstanding person," said Atkins. "That's the key.

"He's a basketball person, very knowledgeable about the game. He's been a winner and winners know how to put a program together from the ground up, organization-wise. He has a very sound philoso-

But, as important as philosophy and or-ganization and motivational ability are, a team still needs talent to succeed. Henry will be hard-pressed to come close to post-ing numbers similar to those he had at

His leaving the Wayne-Westland school district was not an easy decision, according to both Hawley and his brother, Dan. Henry basketball left on vacation last week after making his decision and could not be reached for com-

"TO WALK away from a program like that is very hard," said Hawley, who was Wayne's coach in the mid-"70s and hired Henry as his assistant. "But what it comes down to is you have to take care of your family first. That's what's most important, even though I hate to see him go.

"He's one of the best coaches I've ever seen. There's no doubt about it, I would have no qualms recommending him for any coaching position in the country."

Henry, who served for 19 years in the Wayne-Westland school district, most recently as a physical education teacher at Adams Junior High (he also taught an advanced basketball class for one hour a day at Wayne), based his decision on factors outside the basketball arena, according to Hawley and his brother.

Because of the recent miliage failure, staff cutbacks and reassignments are necessary. Henry had reportedly lost his phys ed teaching position and was going to have to teach junior high science, a subject he had never taught before. "That wasn't even his minor (in college)," said Dan Henry.

"That was a very prominent reason (for his leaving), no doubt about it," said Hawley. Money, too, played a role; Henry would get a substantial raise for relocating at Western, where he will again be teaching phys ed.

TRUE, HENRY'S reputation will precede him, and that could place him in a pressurized situation. But it would not have been any easier at Wayne, where - again because of the millage failure - athletes and others involved in extracurrieular activities will face a pay-to-play situation.

According to Hawley, that fee will be $210 for athletes and marching band members. Family fees and some hardship grants will also be available.

Still, if a family pays the fee, it may expect to see their young athlete play — a lot. That won't make it any easier for the coach.

All these factors figured in Henry's decision, which was not made easily, said Hawley. "Chuck really felt bad about leaving," the Wayne AD said. "But when you get a position that pays considerably more, and he had lost his job teaching phys ed, well . .."

While Atkins wasn't figuring on an immediate turnsround of Western's struggling diate turnaround of Western's struggling basketball fortunes, he couldn't help but feel optimistic about the future. "He'll instill discipline in (Western). He'll attract the good athletes (in the school) and get them to per-

"The people I've talked to say Chuck epitomizes all that. It's not going to happen overnight, but Chuck will have an impact here his first year."

And if Henry lives up to his advanced billing, that impact is bound to be positive at Western - and harsh at Wayne.

Karate tourney at Canton High

The 16th Annual Isshinryu Grand Nationals will take place Saturday at the Plymouth Canton High School gymnasium.

American masters in the martial art known as Isshinryu, the brand of karate orginating from the island of Okinawa, are expected to compete in the tournament, which will determine national champions. Registration begins at 8 a.m. for competitors. Competition is scheduled to start at 10 a.m. and continue until early evening. Tickets are $5, but senior citizens and children under 10 will be admitted for $3.

For karate students wishing to compete, the registration fee is $35 for American Okinawan Karate Association members and $40 for non-members in one or two events, $40 and $45 for three events.

The event begins with forms followed by fighting and will range from the 6-year-old level to the black-belt heavyweights. Between 300 and 500 are expected to participate.

Two of the sport's most noted experts, Harold Long of Knoxville, Tenn., and Lewis Lizotte of Enfield, Conn., will attend the grand nation-

Neither competes any longer, but Long is a 10th-degree black belt and Lizotte a ninth degree and former world champion.

"Both are masters of teaching ability," said Sam Santilli, an area resident and sixth-degree member of the AOKA. "They could compete, but they'd probably hurt somebody. They're still very good."

Cardinals fail in upset bid

For two innings Tuesday at Ford Field, it looked as though the Langlois Cardinals were going to do the previously impossible — defeat the Mustangs and take over first place in the Livonia Connie Mack League.

Things didn't work out the way Langlois had hoped; the Cards ended up losing to the Mustangs for the third time this season, by an 8-7 margin. They previously lost by 12-0 and 8-6 scores.

Langlois' record is now 13-3, while the Mustangs are 14-2.

Langlois jumped to an early 5-0 advantage following the first inning, thanks to four walks and a run-scoring double off the bat of Dave Bor-

"OUR GUYS were really on a high when we jumped off to that lead in the first inning," Langlois coach Bob Murray said. "But you have to like the way the Mustangs fought back. It showed a lot of character on their part."

Langlois added two more runs in the second inning when Borkowski crushed an RBI triple to right field, scoring Andy Hathaway and Brett Welling.

The Mustangs made their comeback in the top of the third, scoring eight runs on six hits. They sent 11 batters to the plate.

Scott Marinkovich and Jeff Graham led the offensive attack in the third inning. Both had run-producing triples.

"YOU GOT to like the way we fought back," Mustang coach Jim Karoub said. "That is the mark of a good baseball team."

Tad Dennis earned the victory for the Mustangs, hurling four innings and striking out two. Craig Overaitis got credit for the save, pitching two solid innings of relief. He collected

Rick Fowler suffered the loss for Mussat. Fowler tossed 3% innings, striking out six and walking two. He allowed two runs. Mussat pitched 21/3 innings, allowing six runs and four hits. He collected one strikeout.

"IT WAS a tough day for pitchers," Murray said. "There were some bad hops and some of the guys had trouble with the lights. But that is a part of the game. Both teams have to deal with it."

The Mustangs had six hits, all of which came in the pivotal third inning. Langlois managed just four Murray says he enjoys the matchup between the Mustangs and Langlois because of the friendly competition it offers.

"It's a fun game when these two teams get together," he said. "A lot of the guys on the two teams know each other and its friendly competition. We played a good game tonight. We weren't humiliated like the previous two games. We played well.'

Ab curis can help prevent backaches

Dear Myras:
I have back problems. My doctor has told me to work my abdominal muscles in my stomach. He wants me to get advice on how to strengthen myself. I hate exercise, probably more than going to the doctor. Can you

Can I help you in a letter? Sounds like you don't want to get too close.

Well, I can try to help without seeing you, but don't expect miracles.

Your abdominal muscles are called rectus abdominis. They are long, nder muscles on the front of your torso. Abs, as we refer to them, start at the pubic bone and insert on your fifth, sixth and seventh ribs. The right and left halves of this muscles are separated by the linea alba, a half-inch tendon. Its vertical muscle fibers are crossed by three horizontal tendons that create the washboard effect you might see in well-developed abs.

The oblique muscles form your waist. The external obliques start on the lower eight ribs and attach to the pubic bone and linea alba. Oblique muscles cover a wide area of the abdominal wall, from the sides of the rectus abdominis to your back.

The internal oblique lies directly beneath the external oblique. Its fibers run at nearly right angles to those of the external obliques. Together they form an inverted V.

Now, how to strengthen these muscles to benefit your back problems?

Your abs probably need lots of safe work to strengthen them properly. I recommend simple ab curls. Ab curls can be done in variation. Positioning is were important. Your position must not allow any movement (up or ing is very important. Your position must not allow any movement (up or down off the floor) in your torso.

By holding your legs at a 90-degree angle to your trunk, you prevent any movement. The best and safest way to execute an ab crunch is to lay on your back and rest your lower legs on the edge of a seat so that your thighs are perpendicular to your torso. Place your hands in the centerback part of your head. Breathe out and lift your shoulders, neck and head in one line off the ground, raising your upper torso as high as you comfortably can. Return down slowly and repeat at a moderate rhythmic pace. Try it 20 times the first time, then gradually increase.

Ab curls are the best and easiest position to begin with. Without seeing you, I wouldn't recommend any more of an advanced position. You will feel this exercise mostly in your upper ab areas, but as you continue, the upper muscle fibers will call upon the lower to help work, You will be mainly strengthening the rectus abdominis. To strengthen oblique muscles (also important for you), I have to work with you for safety reasons.

Who knows? You might start to like exercise after all. Strengthening the center of the body is important for all movement, especially to prevent injuries. Hope to see you.

The Muskegon River is widely acknowledged to be an important state salmon spawning stream, particularly that area upstream near Croton Dam. "Although this pair is too young to nest this year, we are hopeful that they will nest successfully in 1991 or 1992," DNR director David

The reintroduction program was supported jointly by the DNR's Natural Heritage program, Michigan State University and private wildlife conservation organizations. A large portion of the fund-ing for the project has come from citizen contributions to the Nongame Wildlife Fund through a check off on the Michigan income tax form.

In the reintroduction effort. Trumpeter swan eggs are obtained from the wild and from zoos, and are hatched and raised at MSU's Keilogg Bird Sanctuary in Kalamazoo County. The young swans, called cygnets, are held until they are two years old, at which time they are released into a suitable wetland area.

The goal of the restoration program is to reestablish 30 pair of nesting Trumpeter swans in Michigan by the year 2000. Plans call for the release of 40 swans per year through 1993. Only a small portion are expected to return to Michigan.

Trumpeter swans can be distinguished from mute swans by the color of their bill. Trumpeter swans have a black bill while mute swans have an orange bill with a large knob on the top.

Five of the nine swans released this spring were fitted with a yellow neck collar to allow tracking of movements. The DNR asks citizens to report sightings of these birds, or other color-marked swans by contacting the DNR wildlife division at (517) 373-1263.

HE DODWORTH Saxhorn Reserve Band plays hit tunes like "Slumber Polka," "Water Witch Quick Step," "Helter Skelter Galop" and the "Wedding Schottishe." Hit tunes of the 1860s, that is.

"This was the rock and roll of the 1860s," said Alexander Pollock, founder of the 5-year-old, Plymouthbased Victorian band. "The waltzes we play were the dirty dancing of the 1880s."

The 12-member reserve band performs in a variety of settings: Victorian balls, historic home tours, Civil War dedications, political rallies and

It will perform in concert in the gazebo at Southfield's Historic Village, Civic Center Drive and Berg Road, at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, Aug.

For this summer concert, members will wear shirts typical of the Victorian times, not their usual wool uniforms from the Detroit Street Railway Band, which are too hot for a summer evening.

If the band's music was considered vulgar in the late 19th century and the dances risque, the instruments the band uses were thought to be "brassy.

The band uses original Americanmade saxhorns popular in the middle of the 19th century and made between 1843 and the 1880s. Pollock owns 43 of these horns, which have been restored by the band's piccolo in D player, Tim Holmes, who does instrument restoration for Henry Ford Museum, Dearborn.

"These instruments were not used in orchestras because their sound was considered too 'brassy' at that time," said Pollock. "By today's standard, the sound is quite muted and soft.'

POLLOCK THEORIZES that little has changed in American musical tastes in the last 100 years. The music this band plays is melodic, upbeat, toe-tapping and short. Like today's pop tunes, the pieces only last 2-3 minutes.

"Compared to high-brow European classical music, this was the American rubbish - the frontier music," said Pollock. "I think the music symbolizes the way we do things in America — quickly. We want immediate success."

One reason the instruments were ot accented in orchestras was the change in brass instrument design in the 1880s. These instruments are conical instruments fashioned with the diameter of the instrument increasing in size from the mouthpiece to the bell, which faced behind the players, not toward the audience. They did not produce the large volume of sound for the orchestra.

Today's cylinder instruments have one diameter from the lead pipe to the bell and have a mouthpiece that the players can use without tiring.

'We use the original mouthpieces even though they have a sharp edge and are smaller. It is painful if they are played for more than an hour at a time. We could use modern mouth-

Victorian Band founder Alex Pollock owns 43 restored pieces but the band members found that we couldn't get the same sound quality with the modern mouthpieces. So everyone voted to use

BECAUSE THE instruments were made by different U.S. manufacturers, they are pitched differently, not at the standard pitch of 440. The band members have found that if they tune to 457, it seems to be a common denominator for all the instruments.

The music the band uses is often copies of handwritten manuscript, very difficult to read. The music comes from several sources: the Smithsonian, the Library of Congress and two private dealers, Mark Elrod of Maryland and Paul Mayberry, a musician who transcribes music of this vintage.

The pieces may be popular and short and the instruments may be brassy, but that does not mean the music is easy. The musicians of the times practiced diligently and their extreme dexterity is evidenced in the excessively difficult composi-tions of the day. Apparently, the public wanted showy numbers played in brilliant virtuoso style.

"We don't play 'When Johnny
Comes Marching Home,'" said Pollock. "We try to concentrate on the other music of the era, entertainment pieces that were performed in

EVEN THOUGH the band doesn't perform the military music of the Civil War, the instruments came from the Civil War time. About 50,000 such instruments were made in America. Few are left, the metal being used in World War I or for other uses.

In the Civil War, each regiment had 20 companies. Each company was expected to provide two musicians, making a band of 24. Detroit Light Guard Band of 1862 was a regiment band, 24 musicians all playing saxhorns

'A musician's life in the Civil War was not easy. They performed until the troops went into battle. Then they became the surgeon's orderlies

Of the 43 instruments Pollock has bought at antique sales and auctions, and from dealers all over this country and in England, the E flat bass is the more noteworthy. It was used at the inauguration ceremonies for President Abraham Lincoln.

When the Civil War was over, the musicians took their instruments back to their hometowns, where they formed their own bands. The cities could hire a musician who would then train the other members to play as in the story, "The Music Man."

cessful year for two Detroit Institute of Arts programs, the Detroit Film Theatre (DFT) and and the Detroit Youtheatre. Final attendance results released by DFT show that attendance increased by 19 per cent last year, the program's 17th year at the museum. Close to 126,000 patrons came to see such films as "Camille Claudel," "Henry V" and Oscar nominee "My Left Foot".

During the past season, the DFT offered foreign, classic and present day films. It's season opener, "sex, lies and videotape," brought 22,000 people to the theater and broke previous DFT attendance figures. Other films shown included "The Little Thief," "Story of Women" and "Weapons in the Spirit." The DFT is currently taking a summer break and will resume in mid-August.

Mickey Miners, Detroit Youtheat-

er founder and curator, reports that the Youtheater celebrated its 25th year this past year, presenting theatrical productions for more than 468,300 people. The program began its season with a musical production of "The Wizard of Oz" presented by its resident company, the Prince Street Players. Next year, the company will present "The Emperor's New Clothes" and will take it on a tour to Japan.

ers almost all of the Motown favorites by taking on the personas of the era's great recording stars. Smokey Robinson, Marvin Gaye, Tammy Tyrell, the Temptations, the Supremes and many more go through sets of their greatest hits.

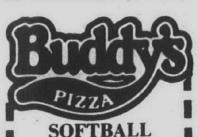

All cast members sing well, and the taped background music blends nicely with the human voices, with a few exceptions. But the real treats here are the dancing and the bound-less energy exhibited by the cast.

Those of us who grew up listening to Motown records without experi-encing a live show got only the tip of the Motown iceberg.

Choreographer Jay Johnson's dance numbers sizzle with an energy and precision that you are not likely to see matched on any Detroit stage this year. The show-stopper of the evening is a frenetic audience-participation number called "The Bird Song," as performed by Morris Day and the Time. Rick Ingram as Morris Day is joined by Johnson and back-up singers Earl Vinson and Larry Johnson in a hilarious and musically exotic performance.

MY OTHER personal favorite was a tribute to the Jackson Five, featuring 14-year-old Myron Tate as Michael. With silver lame jumpsuits and oversized Afro-wigs, the boys

Other stand-outs include Lavorse Clark as both Diana Ross and Mary Wells, Bobby Allman as Marvin Gaye (with support from Ingrid Clark's Tammy Tyrell), and Larry Johnson, who handles the all-import-ant falsetto roles of Smokey Robin-son, David Ruffin and Eddie Ken-

Applause also goes to the show's costumers, whose outfits range from super-sophisticated formal wear to get-ups wild enough to get you arrested in most states.

The show's climax begins as a tribute to the Temptations and the Four Tops and builds to a crescendo featuring the Supremes and Gladys Knight as well. Finishing the show off with "I'm Gonna Make You Love Me," "If I Were Your Woman" and 'Ain't No Mountain High Enough" just leaves the audience hungry for more. I went straight home and put on my old "Smokey Robinson's Greatest Hits" album.

of "Bye Bye Birdie," set in those innocent years when censors worried that showing Elvis's swivelling hips on TV would undermine national morality. A splendid cast and dy-namic dance numbers bring back the days when Elvis was King.

The story tells of rock star Conrad Birdie (a singer with the same ani-mal magnetism and looks as Elvis), who gets tapped to go in the Army. Before he leaves to do his patriotic duty for Uncle Sam, his manager cooks up a publicity scheme to have Conrad (Kevin Blair) give a goodbye kiss to the president of one of his many fervent fan clubs.

In tune Violinist volunteers as a mentor

By Linda Ann Chomin special writer

F YOU ask Livonia violinist Linda Ignagni why she gives so much of her time to benefit young violinists, she will tell you she wants to give back a little of the help given to her as a young student.

"When I was 9 years old, my parents were opposed to my studying violin.

"I credit my first instructor, Lester Farkas, with making my violin studies possible," she said during an interview in her Livonia home.

When he learned that my parents would not give me money to rent a violin from the Livonia Public Schools, he let me use his violin while in class.'

Before attending Wayne State University on a full scholarship in music performance, her instructor, Jack Boesen, who was with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, gave her a violin that he put together.

"After such positive experiences, I decided one day when I was able, I would return the help which I had received.

FOR THE last four years, Ignagni has served on the board of directors for the American Youth Symphony Orchestra.

But no matter.

That doesn't make the art on display in the lobby of the Livonia City Hall any less fulfilling for either the artist or the viewer.

For the art aficionado, the monthlong displays provide a creative respite to the typically routine business conducted at city hall.

For folks less than avid about the world of artistry, I'd suggest they seriously consider the wise words of Livonia arts commissioner Dorothy

"If people who have no interest in art come to city hall and take the time to look at what's displayed, they might develop an interest. And if they do, that's great. Art is such a big part of our culture.'

The latest exhibit includes 17 paintings by Karyn Butler De Alvarado of Livonia.

That hook soon extended to art galleries and juried art shows. Favorites in the Wilshaw home are wildlife paintings and photographs, and birds in china, glass and pewter.

VISIT to the Farmington Hills home of noted artist David McCall Johnston and his wife, Ruth, is a journey into yesteryear, a trek to a masterpiece of historical accuracy and architectural integrity.

The house, built in 1843 by Cornelius Davis and later the site of Gravlin's Drive-In at Northwestern Highway and 13 Mile, was salvaged by the Johnstons, who bought the decrepit dwelling in 1985 for the princely sum of $500.

Once forgotten and certainly scheduled for destruction, the home, since moved, is now perfectly restored to its original Greek Revival style at a cost substantially more than the purchase price. A year ago, it was listed in the State Register of Historic Sites. "Literally, we saved this house," David said. "Its present presentation is a good part of who we are." His former home, also historic, was a converted post office in Franklin vil-

"It goes beyond being just a possession," David said. "It's a love of history and it's in our blood."

Ruth, whose purchase of an antique mesh purse in her youth gave birth to a lasting love of things old, said, "We live this house."

THE MAILBOX at the front of the operty, painted early red, is the first hint there is something special beyond the stand of wild growth.

Approached from a gravel drive through a rolling field of natural grasses and wildflowers, the first impression is decidedly Cape Cod. The Johnstons vacation annually at the Cape, where they have photographed a twin of their refurbished

Queen Annes Lace, Yarrow and Chicory give rise to a vintage 19thcentury farmhouse of stately white splendor, fronted by a porch of forest green and guarded by three Greek columns.

The old front door, complete with brass fittings, opens into a large entry that is sided by rooms of similar size: the parlor, library and dining

Through the entry is the kitchen with its five doors leading elsewhere and the home's only original bathroom. At the back is the carriage house, now a studio where David transforms creativity into striking works of fantasy and Americana art sold throughout the country.

TWO STAIRCASES lead to upstairs bedrooms and a second bath added during restoration. The staircase of 1860 is used most often because its climb is less steep.

At the top of the steeper case is a seam that splits the floor planks, the only remaining proof the entire house was divided in half by saw for easier transport from its original site to its new home nearby.

JOHN STORMZAND/staff photographer

Artist David McCall Johnston in his home art studio, once the carriage house.

"It's right as rain. Absolutely pristine," Ruth said, both of the restoration and the furnishings within. The home is genuine circa 1840 and most furnishings date from 1820 to 1860.

The overall project was "a bit of a nightmare," Ruth added. David's eyes roll upward in recall. Then mirth

While the project presented countless obstacles, present satisfaction more than compensates for nearly three years of labor, from late 1985 to the summer of 1988 when the final coat of exterior paint was applied.

IN THE midst of the project, David suffered a heart attack, brought on, according to his wife, by the stress of it all.

All interior walls were reduced to the wooden frame and plastered anew. Hardwood floors, laid in the 1950s, were removed, revealing original hand-hewn planks. Finish carpenters restored missing or damaged moldings, now repainted in period colors of Shaker and Williamsburg paints

Most doors with porcelain handles are original. Those missing are replaced with antiques of exact vintage. Twenty-two windows of 12panes each were built to replace modern installations and the glassed-in front porch was returned to open-air columns.

David McCall Johnston's paintings reflect a rebirth rooted a decade ago in a new marriage, a new child and a ng self-awarenes

"It's trying to get more deeply in touch," he said, "a new beginning" that combines the old and the new.

The result is a matured expression springing from an original love of graphic design and now translated into Americana pieces of strong color fantasy in muted shades. He works in ink and gouache or opaque watercolor.

"Jordan On The Carousel" is purely Americana, a true whimsical re-flection of the spirit of America. Johnston's son, Jordan, now 8 rides a restored circa 1900 carousel at Greenfield Village, Dearborn. Background vignettes suggest other pleasureable moments. Johnston is also father to twins Dave and Dan, 23, and Kim, 26.

Johnston's Americana is colorful and graphic, strongly influenced by folk art. It is, he said, a natural outgrowth of training in design. He is a graduate of the Art Center College of Design in California.

Much of Johnston's work hangs in his home, period pieces that embellish the 19th-century farm house. He also produces unusual Americana portraits that, in a single work, tell much of a family's history.

Johnston's fantasy, complex line works that include finely executed pattern and texture, transports one to another world, Johnston said. Colors are more muted as a result of detailed lining.

Fantasy is most often used in chil-dren's book illustrations for Harper and Row, MacMillian and other publishers. Johnston has also completed commissions for Steuben Glass. His work has adorned covers of such magazines as "Heritage" and "Country Home." Four of his works hang in the Jules Verne Museum in Nates, France

His work is carried in 62 galleries across the country, including Knollwood Art Frames & Gallery in Birmingham. Prices range from $2,000 to $20,000

U-M panel debates censorship of art

By Jill Hamilton special writer

What exactly is obscene? Who, for that matter, should answer this ques-tion? Are blasphemous works of art protected by the First Amendment? How about homoerotic works? Or racist art? Or sexist art?

By refusing to fund so-called objectionable art, is the U.S. government censoring it? In other words, is censorship the same thing as refusal

These are the questions that a con-ference at the University of Michi-gan Museum of Art called "Censorship, Obscenity and Funding of the Arts" set out to answer Saturday. And the verdict was . . . there are no easy answers to these questions.

It was not for lack of trying or intelligence that the forum, hosted by the U-M Museum of Art in conjunction with the Ann Arbor Street Art Fair this week, failed to provide any

A three-person panel was moderated by Elizabeth Douvan, University of Michigan professor of psychology and women's studies.

The two featured speakers were

Lee Bollinger, U-M Law School dean, and William Hennessey, U-M Museum of Art director.

THE AUDIENCE of about 100 seemed to have set ideas on the issue at hand when they arrived at the two-hour forum.

"I think it's a very important issue in the country at this time," said Beverly Galtner, an educational administration professor at Oakland University, Rochester Hills. "Serious forces have been unleashed that are dangerous to the country. I want to make my support known.'

What brought Galtner to the con-

'It reminds me, quite frankly, of totalitarian countries. My oath to this country is to defend the Constitution - not Jesse Helms' oath."

Her husband, Gerson Galtner, a Troy businessman, agreed. "The things that they want to censor are the things they censor in Germany in most totalitarian countries. They (the NEA) are in perfect agreement with the old-style Commu-

Galtner finds it ironic that people are concerned with monitoring the arts while violent TV shows escape such scrutiny. "You can kill another person but not make love to them," he said with disbelief.

A spokeswoman for the NEA in Washington said Monday the NEA has a multi-tiered review process in-volving both a council and a panel. "It's a review by peers," she said. The panel changes every year.

"And that's about all I can say."

A LARGE part of the audience

Sunday was composed of folks 50 or older. "There is no limit when you start censoring," said an older wom-an to her friend in the audience.

That seemed to be the prevailing belief of the audience; no one actual-ly stated their views aloud. It was all very fair and polite — each person would argue a position, then offer a counterargument.

Hennessey got closest to stating a position in his closing remarks:

"Art is not to make us feel good. It's not a visual hot tub. And we have to remember that not all visitors to museums are thin, white, male, heterosexual Christians.

"Artists today are pushing the limits harder and farther than ever before. It's our job to open ourselves up to their work and to listen to what they say."

The issue, which had seemed clear at the beginning of the conference, grew clouded as the day wore on. Where should we draw the line on what should be funded by the government? If nudity is OK, is child pornography all right also? Should anti-Semitic, racist or sexist works be funded? Hard questions all.

A POSSIBLE solution came from a young woman who waited until the end of the conference to speak. She suggested that art be classified as "celebratory" or "condemnatory."

A Mapplethorpe showing homoerotic activity, for example, would be celebratory because it upholds a way of life or thought.

A racist piece of work, on the other hand, would be condemnatory because it tries to criticize another way of life or thought, thereby depriving the victim group of its

When snapping photos, pay attention to details

PATTERNS AND designs, encountered so often in our daily lives, can play an important part in our photography. They can make order out of chaos and lend harmony to a seemingly meaningless design.

How exciting it is as a photographer to draw attention to the often unnoticed wealth of detail in the patterns and designs around us.

terns and designs around us.
Your home is a good place to begin. Patterns in brickwork, a design in the floor tile or shadows on the steps all have photographic potensign possibilities. Look closely at buildings, even some under construc-tion, and you'll see exciting photo-graphic design opportunities.

Be sure to look for pattern in nature. Windswept sand, a close-up of a shell or an intimate inspection of an individual leaf will reward you with meaningful pictures.

ALWAYS HAVE your photographic vision turned on. A recent visit to friends enabled me to make the accompanying photograph. While on the patio, I looked up to see the in-teresting design of shapes and tones in the opened umbrella.

One of the best ways to see pattern and design is to use a viewing mask. A "window" cut from a piece of cardboard will do just fine.

Your viewing mask will isolate pattern and design from distracting surroundings. You'll find yourself zooming in on meaningful subjects you never knew were there.

Remember, the aim of creative photography is to make a visual interpretation of something that moves you, not just to record an image. With design and pattern, you can do just that.

FLOODED OUT—Splashing through flooded streets is not in the best interest of any automobile. Avoid such streets, if possible, but if you must drive through them, do so slowly, with patience and

Save Your Fun On Water For Ride In Boat

Cars were not intended to be water-borne vehicles, and encounters with flooded streets can only increase the chance of a car malfunction.

During the rainy season, avoid standing water at intersections or elsewhere if possible, particularly if it is above the bottom of the wheel rims. However, if you have no alternative but to drive through, here are some tips to help you safely navigate these water hazards:

Drive through the water very slowly. Rapid movement might cause the water to "swamp" or stall the engine, and perhaps leave you stranded.

If you do stall as you cross a deep puddle, try to coast toward the side of the road and wait for the engine to dry out before trying to start it. Wiping off the spark plugs, wires, and other parts of the ignition system with a dry cloth can help you get moving faster.

Remember that the car's brakes may be affected by driving through standing water, and you should check their stopping ability before an emergency demands their

Getting away from it all within your home

staff writer

Call it what you will - a library, a den, a study, a "personal space room," whatever, but specializa-tion in the home is pushing builders to include extra rooms beyond the traditional family, dining and living rooms. While still a fairly exclusive amenity found in luxury homes, the extra room is becoming a popular addition and may be the new status symbol for keeping up with the Jonses. Upstairs and downstairs libraries, dens off master suites, studies, home offices — the extra room attracts a lot of buyers, according to sales manager Linda Friedman of Harbor Oaks Development in

Walled Lake. Usually identified as libraries on floor plans, Friedman said the extra room serves a special function in the home. They may not be the traditional library with book-lined shelves along the walls, but they serve a similar purpose — they offer the homeowner someplace to get away from the rest of the house Harbor Oaks is currently developing a joint ven-ture in Lake Orion with Welcome Homes in Clarkston in which libraries are a standard amenity in many of the floor plans. Libraries have also been popular in the company's previous developments in West Bloomfield and Oakland Township.

FRIEDMAN SAID libraries in new construction have been around for several years now, but it's have their own offices." beginning to catch on more. "Now that people have seen them, they like what they're seeing.

"People use them as an office or as a private space — they like having a separate room away from the rest of the house," she said. "It's an extra room that is not a living room or a family room it's someplace to get away from the rest of the family for a little privacy.

Given a choice between two houses of similar size - one with larger rooms or one with an extraroom - the home buyer is more likely to buy the latter house. "(In one of Harbor Development's subdivisions) we have two different styles of colonials $125,000 to $150,000 range. - the one with the library sells more.

Friedman said she doubts libraries will become common in less expensive homes strictly because of cost limitations. A certain amount of square footage is necessary to include a library in a floor plan and square footage costs money.

"I don't think you'll see (libraries) in homes less expensive than ours — we're known for giving a lot for the money," she said. Typical Harbor Develop-ment properties start at around $179,000.

In that way, libraries buck current building trends by developing a room meant for seclusion rather than gathering, Rutkowski said.

The den or library provides a place of solitude for the homeowner, he said. "It's comeplace for the parents to get away from the kids, or for the kids to Increased specialization in homes is evidenced by other types of rooms, Rutkowski continued. Kitchens for cooking, nooks for informal eating, dining rooms for formal dinners, great rooms for casual gathering, and living rooms for formal gatherings are forerunners of the offices, dens, libraries and media rooms of today.

'If I had to pick something, I'd say media rooms will be the next big craze in home building," Rutkowski said. Media rooms, which typically include built in televisions and surround-sound stereo systems, are like small theaters, he said.

"This is a program of encouragement."

The average sales price of houses in western Wayne and Oakland counties (new and used housing combined) was $95,157 for the first half of 1990, according to the Michigan Association of Realtors.

THE BUILDERS Association of Southeastern Michigan puts the average cost of new house construction at $114,000 in the seven-county region including Wayne and Oakland counties.

That figure is higher in southern Oakland and western Wayne counties, although an average was unavailable, said Peter Logan, BASM spokesman.

Loan applications will be made to lenders who sign up for the program. A list of participating lenders and other application information will be made available to the public in the fall.

"Any program that helps people get into property is a plus," said Lynn Egbert, spokesman for the Michigan Association of Home Builders in Lansing.

Free A Poor Child Being Held Hostage.

At this very moment, hundreds of thousands of children in Third World countries are being held hostage by poverty, disease and ignorance. These children desperately need help.

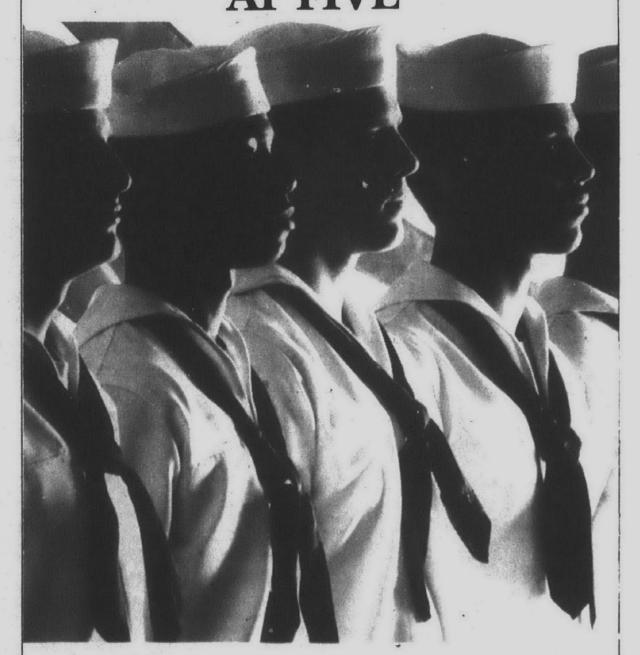

Through CCF, you can sponsor a needy girl or boy. The cost is $18 a month—only 60¢ a day. Your sponsorship ensures that a poor child receives food, clothing, medical assistance, a chance to go to school or whatever is needed most.

Take a bold step. Please pick up your phone now and call this toll-free number. Your gift can mean so much to an innocent child.
