Northville land sale should net city $500,000

staff writer

As early as next year, the city of Plymouth could gain $500,000 or more by selling 48 acres it owns in North-

At Monday's city commission meeting, officials speculating the land east of Beck Road and north of Six Mile, was worth more than the $475,000 offered by two area developers in a 1988 sales agreement, voted to deny their request for an extension.

"I think 22 months (since the agreement was struck) is a long time for a developer to put something together," said City Manager Gordon Jaeger referring to the developer's request to extend the sales agreement another year.

A major development, called Huntington Falls, is planned on 930 acres in Northville Township, in an area bordered by Sheldon, Beck and Five and Six Mile roads. Plans call for construction of offices, research facilities, houses, condos and a private golf course. "I think somebody's giving us a golden opportunity to make some more money," said Commissioner Jerry

"They (the developers) had that time to do that," said Commissioner James Jabara. "I think it's appropriate to take it off the market."

In the 22 months since the sales agreement was struck with the developers, Fairwood West II and Carrollton Arms, "the prospective purchasers were to conduct necessary studies such as a soil analysis and a wetlands analysis, gather pertinent environmental information, and prepare and obtain approval of a plan from Northville Township," Jaeger said.

"Some of the field work has been done, but no plan has been prepared and submitted to Northville Township for review and approval," he said.

While property values have risen since 1988, "It is unknown what the prospective purchasers will offer until the bids are in," Jaeger said.

Jaeger said the city will take bids on the property next year. "We're going to hold it off the market for Money from the eventual sale would go into the city's water fund. In order to determine whether the city can take some of the sale proceeds and use them to help solve the city's budget woes, Jaeger said officials must determine if money used to buy the land came from the water fund - and if such a transfer is legal.

The city bought the acreage in Northville Township, near a pool of groundwater, earlier this century as a source for city water.

But some residents complained that the water had too much iron in it, and voters narrowly approved a measure in the 1960s to buy water from Detroit instead, and the well field was abandoned.

Community to help shape schools' future

staff writer

Plymouth-Canton school board members and administrators want the community's help to prepare students to compete in the next century.

They're organizing a committee whose job it'll be to develop a view of education for the year 2010, and to determine present and future needs for facilities and equipment.

The expected outcome is a recommendation to go to voters with a bond proposal to pay for new schools, capital improvements and educational materials.

It'll be left to the committee to determine whether and when to place a proposal on the ballot. Speculation had centered on a date of June, 1991 and a bond request in the neighborhood of $50 million.

What if they gave a primary election and nobody came? Well, it wouldn't be much different from what happened when they gave an election on Tuesday. While observers predicted a low turnout - about 20 percent of registered voters - the actual turnout in Plymouth and Plymouth Township was even smaller. "It's dreadful," said township Clerk Esther Hulsing, of the 15 percent turnout in Plymouth Township.

"I don't think we ever had one that was quite this low," Hulsing said, in the 12 years she's served as clerk. In the township, 2,503 of 16,482 registered voters cast ballots.

In the city, 1,167 voted - just over 16 percent of those registered to vote.

In the Republican primary for the 36th District state House seat, incumbent Rep. Gerald Law defeated challenger Kathleen Keen-McCarthy, by winning 55 percent of the vote in Plymouth, Plymouth Township and Canton Township.

"I'm very happy obviously," said Law, who survived his first primary challenge since he first won election to the state House in 1982.

"I appreciate all the Republicans in the primary voting for me," Law said. He described his campaign approach as low key. "I put up some signs, did some phone calling, some mailing," he said.

Law's survey shows support for death penalty

By Kevin Brown staff writer

Most folks living in Rep. Gerald Law's state House district favor legal abortions, more state money for schools and the death penalty for those convicted of first-degree murder, according to a survey Law con-

The findings were compiled from 3,000 responses to a survey mailed to constituents in the 36th District, made up of Plymouth, part of Canton and Northville.

"I put it together," Law said of the survey. "I try and think of topics that people might be interested in, that will be before the legislature.

"It helps keep me current on opinions of 36th District residents, which in turn affects the way I represent them in Lansing," Law

For example, he said, the survey shows that 85 percent of the respondents favor a proposal requiring the state to spend all lottery profits plus 10 percent of the general fund budget on education.

"We may vote on that one," Law said, adding that he also favors such legislation, which is now before the House.

Another 68 percent "said they did not favor a law to make abortions illegal in all cases except rape and incest," Law said.

Law said he opposes abortion because of his religious beliefs.

The survey also showed that 68 percent of the respondents support legislation that would require a minor to obtain parental consent before having an abortion, he said. About 80 percent favor the death penalty for murder, he said.

Other survey results showed:

 Ninety percent approve of court-or-dered wiretapping by the Michigan State Police in the war on drugs.

• Fifty-two percent say employers should have the right to test employees for drugs in jobs involving the public safety.

• More than 90 percent favor building more prisons rather than reduced sentences for felons, if prisons are crowded.

After hearing from everyone on the board, with the exception of Dr. E.J. McClendon who was absent, Swartzwelter said, "the board's general consensus, as I read it, is that it's so important to the district, so much is at stake, and it's so important that we have a process that administration, the board and citizens are comfortable with, we don't want to do anything to jeopardize that."

The board agreed to select eight people to work on subcommittees that will look at new facilities, existing facilities and educational trends. With input from the Barton Malow Co.. which will serve as technical consultant, and community relations director Richard Egli, who will act as facilitator, the group will choose two people to be steering committee chairpersons.

Sub-committees representing elementary, middle and high schools will be included, and the superintendent's executive cabinet will

If on Labor Day weekend you happen to saunter onto a certain plot of ground in the westernmost corner of Plymouth Township, you might be fooled for a minute into thinking you've been swept two centuries back in time.

Replete with their buckskins, moccasins and muzzle-loaders, folks from all over the country will gather for the 11th Annual Black Powder Rendezvous at the Western Wayne Conservation Association's 87-acre facility, off Napier north of North Territorial Road.

New arrivals will sign in at a log-and-canvas registration booth, as a giant iron kettle of bean soup simmers on an open fire. Would-be Minute Men and their families will pitch teepees, tents and lean-tos and build fires. There will be encampments for 125, including a

Prizes will include turkeys, chickens and hams.

The WWCA hosted the Midwest Regional Air Rifle Championship last month, drawing competitors from Florida, California, Georgia, Indiana and Michigan. In September at the Western Beef Cook-Out, a country band will entertain as 300 pounds of beef simmer on an open spit.

Every February, more than 200 wild game lovers assemble at the WCCA to sample venison, elk, moose, and other delicacies prepared by four professional chefs and donated by the successful hunters among the the club's 1,000-plus members. The members hail from Plymouth, Canton, Garden City, Westland, Livonia, Northville, Brighton, South Lyon and Ann Ar-

"It's no longer a wild game dinner - it's a gourmet meal," said Laich. "We sold out last year."

Special events crowd the calendar, but there's activity just about every day at the WWCA, which has a bar, meeting rooms and banquet facilities for 250 in a huge room lined with the head of moose, elk, bush buck, white-tailed gnu and other animals hunted in places as distant as South Africa.

Year-round, trap and skeet shooters practice and compete in fields now in the process of being rebuilt.

Shooters take aim at clay pigeons electrically propelled a distance of 50 yards at 90 mph.

There's a 25-50-yard bunker range, and a 100-yard range for rifle shooters. The WWCA also has facilities for archers and air riflers, instruction by certified teachers, and archery and a playground for children.

'We're real proud of this place," said Laich, who added that clubgoers range in age from 10 to 80 years old. "It's a family-oriented place where everyone can come out and have fun."

Greg Blagus of Plymouth and Debbie Moore of Dearborn were out shooting Monday.

"I took it up because hunting season isn't all year," said Blagus, shotgun chairman and the overseer of the association's league. "It's no different than someone who likes to play pool or golf." 'I like to shoot; it's fun," said

"We're not just a shooting organization," added Laich.

For the past five years, the WWCA has taken part in the Rouge Rescue. On Arbor Day each spring, the club gives away pine saplings. Founded in 1938 by 10 Wayne County outdoorsmen, the club is working with a DNR biologist to make the Johnson Creek, a Rouge tributary, a viable fishing stream. The WWCA also is working with Browning-Ferris to develop a 47acre nature area in conjunction

Iragi invasion hits local development

The outcome of the Iraqi invasion of Kuwait will help determine who occupies a warehouse/distribution center under construction along the developing strips of land lining I-275 in Canton.

"The eating establishments have had a bad time of it," he said.

Some friends traveling in a car downtown "couldn't go 15 or 20 feet without hearing vulgarities, or somebody swearing at them," com-missioner John Vos said. "They won't be coming back to downtown

One commissioner raised the possibility of blocking off traffic coming into downtown. But Jabara said such an action "doesn't give you a good feeling about the city of Plymouth.'

THE MINI-ZONE concept, used last weekend and at other times in the past three years, involves "various lane closures that will help ease the traffic flow in the event we have excessive volumes," Sincock said.

Smith commended Myers for trying to deal with the situation.

"I'm sure they're trying to do everything they can, but it's not good "It's still a prominent problem.

Even when it's at a low keel it's still a problem - I don't know what the answer is." By using the mini-zone approach,

"Essentially you empty the street (Main) and there's not a show there anymore," Sincock said.

Police have also increased the presence of foot patrols downtown.

CRUISING - WHICH usually involves dozens, even hundreds, of young people driving cars or walking around downtown Plymouth in the evening — was a popular pas-time in the late 1950s and early

The activity picked up again in Plymouth five years ago.

Downtown cruising usually ends about the time school starts in September, officials said.

A farm area congressman put Livonia and western Wayne County on the state political map this

The Bill Schuette for Senate state campaign headquarters is a suite of offices at 17177 North Laurel Park Drive near the Six Mile intersection of I-275 in Livonia.

"This site is convenient to (Detroit Metropolitan) Airport, it's convenient to Lansing, and it's convenient to his home in Sanford," said an aide to the winner of Tuesday's cliffhanger Republican primary

His victory party was across the driveway in the Livonia Marriott ballroom. Schuette claimed a 54-46 percent victory over Clark Durant at 11:30 p.m., 40 minutes later than scheduled.

PAST CAMPAIGNS of any magnitude for state office have been run out of suites in Lansing, downtown Detroit, Southfield and Troy.

Until the early '80s, the Laurel Park site was a weed field.

'We cover the whole state from here," said the aide, Don Kraft, communications director. have a staff of 13 and lots of volunteers.'

A room loaded with wall maps is for field operations - getting out the vote, making sure county offices have all the literature and lawn signs they can handle.

An adjoining room has computers - for letters, finances, accounting for contributions and ex-

The staff is mainly young, like Schuette himself, who is 36.

"HERE COMES our star volunteer," Kraft sang out as Jack Tatigian walked into the office. Tatigian, a Livonian, was con-gratulated for recruiting friends to politics. I believe in the war drugs" - particularly Schuette's tough stand.

MARIJANE THAYER, 22, whose Madonna College degree is in international business and economics, started this week on the Schuette staff writing press releases and doing research.

"I'm interested in many of his ideas," Thayer said of Schuette's efforts in problems of the aging, Medicare and drugs.

The anti-drug theme popped up many times in chats with the young staffers and volunteers, who fear many in their age group, in the United States and Europe, are succumbing to drugs.

Thayer, a former Livonian now living in Northville Township, inherited some political interest from her mother, who worked on local legislative campaigns.

But Jeff Schroder, 15, led his family into politics. The Northville High student led 20 Teen-Age Republicans (TARS) in stuffing envelopes and running errands.

"Bill Schuette really motivates us," said Schroder, who put in 40 to 60 hours a week on the campaign. A former Livonian, Schroder brought his father and grandparents to the victory party.

Numerically, the young faces overwhelmed the numbers of party regulars such as the staff of U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell, GOP national committeewoman Ronna Romney, attorney L. Brooks Patterson, Oakland politicos Jim Alexander and Joe Knollenberg, and Redford Township clerk Joan Reilly.

AS A CONGRESSMAN, Schuette serves on the Agriculture Committee, sought aid for his bean farmers and voted conservative on most other issues

But Schuette the Senate candidate sees sees little difference between folks in different parts of the state, although he has "travelled the state for well over a year from the shores of Superior to the banks of Erie.'

He stresses "basics" - the economy, taxes, spending, personal safety, drugs, education.

The one-mill renewal translates to about $37.50 a year on a house with a market value of $75,000.

County officials had predicted dire times if the tax renewal had lost. Losing the millage would have de-layed opening of the new county jail, closed county parks, restricted county health care programs and forced layoffs for more than 400 county em-ployees, county Executive Edward McNamara said.

The tax provides an estimated $24 million. The county's overall tax levy is 8.07 mills. The figure includes 6.07 mills in non-voted operating taxes and 1 mill approved by voters in 1998 for a new county jail.

Plymouth man's words land in Congressional Record

James Moyian: "It made me

It's not every day that a citizen's letter is read on the floor of the U. S.

House of Representatives.
"It made me feel good," said
James Moylan of Plymouth, a design supervisor at Ford Motor Co., whose July 25 letter was read into the Congressional Record.

"I was impressed that the letter was read and digested. It was a nice sch," he said. "It was nice to know they (representatives) go through the letters like a representative should."

U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell read the letter on the House floor on Tuesday. "In my opinion, the current guidelines for banks and credit unions do not need to be revamped," Moylan

"I can only recall the last time the government 'broadened' the guide-lines of savings and loans for the 'betterment' of the saving public," Moylan continued.

'It was nice to know they (representatives) go through the letters like a representative should.' —James Moylan Moylan, who belongs to the Dear-born Federal Credit Union, said, "The main point is the credit union system and its regulations are work-ing right now. There's a low percent-age of credit unions falling now." He said regulations that allow credit unions to offer free checking and other services are "a good credit unions to offer free checking and other services are "a good thing," because they are able to compete with competition to banks.

Moylan, who in the past has written letters to newspapers on sports subjects, said he gets kidded by friends because, "I say I'm going to write a letter," but doesn't.

He said this was his first letter to a congressman.

Pursell, who said he's read letters on the House floor from constituents earlier in his career in Congress, plans to read additional letters from constituents in the future

"The people elect their represent-atives to speak for them," said Gary Cates, Pursell's press secretary.

families need emotional or spiritual support during that time."
Stutz, an ordained Lutheran minister, is the chaplain for Botsford General Hospital's newly established Pastoral Care Program.

The program is an interdenominational program, designed to helpmeet the spiritual and counseling needs of patients, families and staff. As chaplain, Stutz can provide pastoral services for people of all faiths.

According to Marilyn Kuncz, administrator of hospital services utilization at Botsford, the need for a formalized pastoral care program was expressed by both pa-tients and families. Pastoral care has been provided in the past by visiting volunteer clergy. However, a more formalized program adds to Botsford's dimension of personal caring for all people within the hospital environment.

"The program will add a spiritu-al, holistic dimension of health care and expands the hospital's

THE ROLE of a chaplain, Stutz said, is not to explain, cure or eliminate disease, but to help the patient and family put suffering in perspective.

"We're trying to help patients find meaning and understanding in suffering. We help to foster patients' beliefs and understanding of their illness and suffering."

As chaplain for the program, Stutz will provide ongoing spiritual and pastoral counseling to patients, families and staff. "Our goal is to provide support and care to patients during very anxious times," he said. "People like to know they have some kind of support and know that somebody does care."

A pastoral care program has many benefits for both patients and the hospital, Kuncz said. A chaplains' intervention lessens stress and may reduce the length of stay for a patient. This ultimately leads to lower health care costs.

"In addition, it adds to Botsford's dimension of providing warm, personal and immediate attention to all people within the hospital envi-ronment," she said.

Botsford General Hospital is a 336-bed leading osteopathic teaching hospital serving Farmington Hills and surrounding communities. It is affiliated with Michigan State University College of Osteopathic Medicine.

Three state Senate Republicans have gone to court to fight Gov. James Blanchard's unusual use of a line item veto - to raise spending on the Youth Corps and classroom computers.

"The fiscal integrity of the state's appropriations process is in jeopardy," said Sen. Doug Cruce, R-Troy, chair of the appropriations subcommittee on regulatory agen-

Cruce provided an exhibit in the Ingham County Circuit Court suit filed by appropriations chair Harry Gast of St. Joseph and vice chair Dan DeGrow of Port Huron.

"This puts school districts in a real quandary," said Garden City Schools superintendent Michael Wilmot, whose district applied for 10 computers under the state "Classrooms For Tomorrow" pro-gram. "Do you apply for something knowing you could get stiffed?"

The program promises state fi-nancing, Wilmot said, but would make local districts pay if the state rescinded its money.

Garden City's answer, he added was to apply, "for items we would have only bought ourselves any-

"I can't help but feel we got caught in politics," Wilmot said.

THE LEGISLATURE, in a supplemental budget measure called House Bill 5278, reduced spending in two key areas for the Blanchard administration.

Blanchard used the line item veto to eliminate the cuts.

The senators say it's an unconstitutional action because the constitution authorizes the executive to increase them. "He has leaped over the constitutional boundaries defining and separating the powers of the legislative and executive branch," said Gast.

The senators asked the court for a temporary restraining order against Blanchard's act.

THE ITEMS Blanchard vetoed are cuts of:

• $4 million for the Youth Corps, the nation's largest job training program. His act restores the budget to the $22.3 million in the original bill. Cruce has attacked the program as over-fund-ed. Not all of last year's appropriation was spent, and there are more pressing state needs, Cruce argued. Blanchard says he intends to spend some of the current budget in the following fiscal year.

• $2 million to finance a bond issue for the purchase of more than

That program has become highly politicized, with Republicans on the State Board of Education accusing Blanchard of trying to take credit for it. Republicans fear Blanchard will try to use the new computers when school starts in September for political "media

In addition, Republicans say the computer appropriation should be delayed to ascertain (1) that school districts can fund their local shares and (2) that teachers are trained to use the new technology.

An economic cloud hangs over the debate. In Lansing there is talk but no definitive reports — that the auto sales slump will reduce revenues to the point where the governor must make widespread spending cuts in the middle of the fiscal year. The fiscal year starts

House sugar vote isn't sweet for consumers

Here's how Observer & Eccentric area members of Congress were recorded on major amendments to farm legislation under debate in the e and Senate in the week ending July 27. Both chambers were work-ing to reauthorize federal farm programs for another five years.

SUGAR PRICE SUPPORTS — By vote of 150 for and 271 against, the e rejected an amer ower from 18 cents to 16 cents per d the level at which the government props up the price of domestic sugar. Although the program sets an artificially high price that works its way through to consumers, it oper-ates at small cost to the Treasury. The vote occurred as the House ded a five-year extension to federal farm programs (HR 3950).

Supporter Jim Moody, R-Wis., said 'the sugar program is a consumer program (providing) stable supplies igar at a solid, reasonable, predictable price."

A yes vote was to lower federal price supports and thus the market price of sugar. Wiliam Broomfield, mingham, voted yes. ing no were: Carl Pursell, Routh; Dennis Hertel, D-Harper ds; William Ford, D-Taylor; and Sander Levin, D-Southfield.

TO ELIMINATE SUBSIDIES

By a vote of 159 for and 263 against, the House rejected a farm bill amendment to deny federal crop support payments to the nation's wealthiest farmers, those with adjusted gross incomes of $100,000 or more. The amendment would have reduced appending for loans discovered. reduced spending for loans, direct payments and other subsidies by $700 million annually. Some 20,000 individuals and 4,500 farm entities would have been denied payments under the amendment.

Supporter Bill Green, R-N.Y., asked: "Is it such a harsh thing to ask that people who are above $100,000 a year in income come off the dole?"

Opponent Neal Smith, D-Iowa, said the purpose of farm payments is not income maintenance but to stabilize supplies and prices for con-

TO CHANGE PEANUT PRO-GRAM — By a vote of 57 for and 41 against, the Senate tabled (killed) a farm bill amendment to adopt a farm bill amendment to adopt a free-market system in place of the 51-year-old program that controls peanut production. By law, peanut growing for domestic markets is virtually the exclusive right of holders of federal quotas in seven states. The government further helps these producers by supporting the domestic price of peanuts at about helf-again the world market price. GOP's Adkins ready for Ford Candidate gears up for tough campaign resident Glen Kassel in the Republican primary Tuesday for U.S. Congress, but he faces a tough task in trying to pick off incumbent William D. Ford in November.

Burl Adkins

Adkins received 5,729 votes compared to Kassel's 3,966. Ford, who was unchallenged in the Democrat-ic primary, polled 15,864 votes. The 15th District includes Garden City, Westland, Canton Town-ship and part of Livonia in addition to several downriver communities.

Adkins outpolled Kassel in Livo-nia (730-536), Westland (769-663) and Canton Township (932-558). Kassel out-distanced Adkins in Garden City, 371-295.

THOUGH FORD faced no primary challenge he had a busy primary week.

Ford married Washington attorney Mary Whalen on Saturday in San Diego during services attended by both families.

His honeymoon was cut short, however, when he was forced to undergo emergency abdominal surgery Tuesday at Oakwood Hospital, Dearborn. Ford was "recovering nicely" by Wednesday morning, ac-cording to a staff spokesman, and was expected to be released from the hospital within 7-9 days.

Adkins edged Kassel by 365 votes in a four-way GOP primary two years ago, but he faces a tall order in the fall trying to unseat Ford. Even with George Bush at the top of the ticket, Ford defeated Adkins by a near 2-to-1 margin in

In line to become chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee, the 25-year congressional veteran could prove an even more formidable opponent this Adkins portrays Ford as an almost-imperial incumbent - isolated from constituents, out-of-touch with their concerns and ripe for upries of debates "to defend his liberal tax and spend policies."

"I feel people are looking for a change," Adkins said.

ADKINS IS founder and president of Global Technology Associates, Ltd., a Lincoln Park-based firm that supplies technical services to auto suppliers.

Kassel is a real estate and insurance agent with a Wayne-based agency. Adkins built his campaign on protection of American workers, especially auto workers.

Tax changes are necessary, Adkins said, to make American products more competitive. Tax breaks aren't needed, he added, for foreign, companies, building plants in the United States.

Adkins has been a particular critic of the Mazda plant in Flat Rock, claiming it will cost jobs, rather than expanding the work-

Teenager fighting to recover after leg severed

By Ralph R. Echtinaw staff writer

Westland teenager Ginny Denison's left leg lies somewhere at the bottom of Half Moon Lake in Washtenaw County, cut off by a motorboat propeller on the Fourth of July.

Denison, however, lies in the University of Michigan Hospital, heavily dosed with pain killers, without con-trol of her bladder or bowels, slowly recovering from an accident that for all intents and purposes should have killed her.

The 17-year-old girl was driving boyfriend Tom Elkens' jet-ski when a 28-year-old Redford Township man's boat collided with her, according to the Washtenaw County's sher-

The nurses attended to Denison, perhaps saving her life, before an ambulance arrived. Denison was taken to a clear spot where the hospital's helicopter could land, then rushed to Ann Arbor.

The Washtenaw sheriff's department expects to bring charges against the Redford Township man when Denison is well enough to be interviewed and to testify. Marine Safety Officer David Egeler said alcohol was a factor in the accident. cohol was a factor in the accident.

Denison's mother, Donna, has been at the hospital every day since the accident, as has Elkens. Mrs. Denison spends her nights at the Ronald McDonald House in Ann Arbor, husband George said, while Elkens vis-

DENISON HAD agreed to be in-terviewed, but Butler didn't think that a good idea. He's afraid, he said, Denison will falter further while contemplating the accident's effect on the rest of her life.

Butler added that he has devel-oped tremendous admiration for Denison. "She's a cute-as-a-button 17-year-old, yet she's tough as nails," he said. "(Her surgeon) told me this is one of the most traumatic injuries he's ever seen."

Denison had quit school before the accident and taken a dishwashing job at Denny's Restaurant in West-land. She was there four weeks before July 4 and manager Dan Kegley said he thought she'd just walked out on her job when she didn't show up for work

The dispute in a nutshell: the Livonia-based community college is considering changing its legal representation. But only one law firm has been interviewed — and recommended — for the

That firm includes former state Rep. Robert Law as a partner. And Law is a family friend of board president Mary Breen.

That relationship has thrown up a red flag for fellow trustee Jack Kirksey. In a display rarely witnessed at Schoolcraft board meetings, Kirksey accused Breen of "cronyism" in favoring her friend's firm for the job and hinted he might resign from the board in disgust.

And in the midst of the heated debate another trustee - Thaddeus McCotter - suggests the board should have considered the issue in closed

And finally, even if trustees disagree with one another on policy matters, there's no need to circumvent the Open Meetings Act and resort to holding closed sessions. That's bad policy.

Kirksey has suggested the board set up clear standards for evaluating the college's present law firm as well as potential successors.

Another trustee, Harry Greenleaf, suggested the attorney interview process begin again.

We believe both suggestions have merit. We urge Schoolcraft College trustees against entering into an agreement with any law firm until the college formally announces it is seeking new representation, invites bidders to submit proposals and conducts public interviews of bidders.

Beyond that, we urge trustees to make this the guiding procedure for all other outside services even those "on call" services, like college legal counsel, that involve neither a contract nor a retainer fee. We also urge the board to adopt new guidelines requiring all trustees to fully disclose any relationship, however minimal, with any bidder. We'd also like to hear the board reaffirm its commitment to open meetings.

Whatever its outcome, the legal services fiasco has damaged public confidence in the Schoolcraft board. Adopting these guidelines would be a major step toward regaining board credibility.

Dirty campaigns Candidates shortchange public

No, not the "Poltergeist" gang for another movie sequel. We're talking about abusers of campaign ethics.

Based on a sampling of just-concluded and downright-awful primary campaigns, opponent bashing and the use of questionable tactics look like they're here to stay as we head into the November general election.

That's too bad. Because while candidates have embraced this strategy as the easiest way to the winner's circle, voters are being turned off and the public is getting shortchanged

Here are a few examples of what voters had to shovel through on their way to the polls Tuesday:

• The Lansing-based Michigan State Republican Committee mailed a pamphlet to residents in Troy and Madison Heights last spring claiming state Rep. Wilfred Webb, D-Hazel Park, is on the wrong side of the drug war because he voted to "kill" a controversial bill that would allow police to wiretap the telephones of suspected drug users. Webb, running for re-election to his 66th District House seat, said the pamphlet misrepresented his December 1989 action, which was to keep the bill in committee, rather than send it to an immediate vote on the House floor.

 Debbie Schlussel, a Republican candidate for state House from West Bloomfield, admitted her claim to a reporter that she was, at age 16, the youngest Southfield City Commissioner was a tad misleading. Schlussel was talking about her tenure on a parent-youth guidance commission in Southfield, not a government body. Schlussel also mailed literature to potential voters with a misleading, bold-faced plea on the envelope: 'Open Immediately — Important Tax Information Enclosed."

 Wayne County Commission candidate Terri Reighard Johnson of Westland sent out an eightpage brochure on her priorities. The first six pages ripped incumbent Kay Beard for supporting pay raises and other perks. These are the same salary and fringes that Reighard Johnson will inherit should she win the seat — unless she decides to give them away.

EVEN STATE SENATE hopeful Rep. David Honigman, R-West Bloomfield, dipped into the mud last week after running a mostly clean campaign against opponent state Rep. Judy Miller. Honigman sent out a brochure with a fullcolor picture of Miller's new house with the message that taxpayers were "paying the price" for Miller's move. To less-than-careful readers, the brochure implied incorrectly that taxpayers were footing the bill for Milier's house. What

Based on a sampling of justconcluded and downright-awful primary campaigns, opponent bashing and the use of questionable tactics look like they're here to stay as we head into the November general election.

Honigman was actually referring to was that Miller missed a state House vote on property taxes because she had to attend the closing for the property.

This is nothing new, of course. But negative campaigning seems to have gotten a giant boost two years ago, when George Bush continually beat up on Michael Dukakis on his way to the White House. This year, the tactic has made the jump to statewide and local campaigns in Michigan — from the governor's race on down.

What has happened is that in this era of increasingly big-bucks campaigns the candidates are no longer in charge. That role has been taken over by consultants and marketing experts. Doubters should note that the political consulting field in the United States has grown from 200 in 1980 to 5,000 today, according to an article in the August Oakland Business Monthly.

When the grassroots style of running for office began to disappear, ethics started its predictable

WE FIND THAT no one — other than Tuesday's winners - is served by this new, high-tech kind of campaigff. In addition to soiling a calling that doesn't have the best reputation to begin with, it further removes from the people the political process and the government that process creates.

When the voting public gets some slicked-up marketer's version of a candidate and a little mud from his opponent, can they really make an informed decision at the polls? Unless they have kept up with newspaper coverage of the campaign or watched or attended candidates nights, we don't think so.

And how many potential voters - fed up with these phony images and negative tactics stayed home Tuesday? Nobody knows. But introducing further apathy to a public already disenchanted with its government seems to be the un-intended effect of these efforts.

Story of Detroit's ills is omen best heeded

"DETROIT IS not the enemy.

My colleague Leonard Poger, a longtime journalist and metro Detroit resident, was emphatic. He, like many, was reacting to the recent excerpts from Ze'ev Chafets' soon-tobe-released book, "Devil's Night and Other True Tales of Detroit."

The excerpts, which first appeared in the New York Times Magazine on Sunday, July 29, and since in the downtown Free News, have slapped the collective psyche of a metropolitan population upside the head.

And it hurts.

IN TRUTH, metro Detroiters have been masters at covering for and rationalizing away the tragedy of Detroit. But Chafets has ripped away the blanket of denial and, for once, we are standing naked for all the world to see.

In his book, due out in October, Chafets outlines the economic and social deterioration of Detroit since the 1967 riots. A former Detroit resito live in Israel.

Like Rip Van Winkle, he awakened to a radically changed city, bearing only a skeletal resemblance to what once was. Chafets is obviously shocked, as we all should be.

Certainly, there is enough blame to pass around. But we are far beyond the point of assessing fault.

Anti-growth zoning column challenged

To the editor:

Steve Barnaby's column, "Public Deserves Say in Development Wars," is breathtaking in its inanity. The writer's suggestion that municipalities re-zone private property to arrest development displays a shocking advocacy of the use of state power for the benefit of a few citi-

At a time when eastern Europe is freeing itself from decades of state repression of personal and property rights, it is appalling that Mr. Barna-by seeks to tighten government control here at home

If a municipality wishes to preserve undeveloped land, it should buy the property. This distributes the cost of such preservation across the entire community, instead of forcing the property owner to subsidize the plans of a few influential

I would here refer Mr. Barnaby to the final clause of the Fifth Amendment, which prohibits the taking of private property for public use without the payment of just compensa-

A restrictive anti-development zoning can strip tens of thousands of dollars from the value of a parcel of land. That Mr. Barnaby considers an individual directs part of his or this a small price to pay is self-evident - his property is obviously not at stake.

I will leave Mr. Barnaby with one final note. Studies reveal that apartment and condominium complexes, as well as commercial businesses, contribute more to a local community than the value of services they consume. In fact, the only type of property which poses a net drain on a community's resources is the single family home

It is fiscal suicide to continue this inequitable shift of the tax burden from homeowners to renters and business, while at the same time restricting growth of the latter resource. If gambling is Mr. Barnaby's intent, he should visit Las Vegas and cease his manipulations of local economies.

Greg S. Renaud,

Editorial is wrong on issue

To the editor:

Your editorial regarding my position on campaign financing is erroneous, and I'm sorry no one contacted me from your office before-

I have never suggested Michigan should change to public financing of campaigns.

You assume that there is only one form of tax checkoff, that in which her tax obligation be directed to the campaign fund. I would never support such a checkoff for campaign use because of problems created for the rest of our budget and my postion on tax credits and tax diversions has always been quite clear. No one could possibly "get their hands on your hard earned money" whom the voter did not like since voters concerned about this would simply not participate in this strictly voluntary program.

As chairperson of the House Elections Committee it is my responsibility to pursue various avenues for reform to assure the public Michigan's system is the cleanest and most efficient possible.

Drinking's public image slowly eroding

IT IS HAPPENING. The real story is getting out. Fatal auto accidents in which liquor is involved, families torn apart by alcoholism, crimes committed to get money to get high, a party turned surly because someone or someones had too much to drink.

The truth aided by community involvement is making inroads over past practice and advertisements which continue to portray drinking in a glamorous light. The image of drinking as the thing to do to have a good time is ever so slowly eroding.

In Sunday's Freep/News two sto-ries caught my attention: This California Bar won't serve liquor, especially to lawyers" and 'Drinking ebbs with new Navy attitude."

The State Bar of California is touting a new program to deal with substance abuse in the legal profession,

CLOSER TO HOME, each of Michigan's public universities this fall will offer students the choice of a non-drinking roommate. Michigan State University and Oakland University will go a step further to offer whole dorms where students who do not drink, take illegal drugs or smoke can choose to live without pressure to do otherwise.

Unfortunately, most teenagers still do not understand the message, although many of our communities are working hard to deliver it to them and to those who provide them with liquor

Most Oakland County and a few Wayne County communities covered by the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers now have house party laws, prosecuting those who serve liquor to minors in their homes.

Rochester Hills has recently carried this a step further, making it a misdemeanor for teenagers to at-tend those house parties. Other communities can do the same.

And many of our police departments are now sending underage de-coys into establishments to try and halt selling and serving to minors.

Cigarettes haven't disappeared in puff of smoke, but there are few people more uncomfortable than today's smokers. For a long time, that's how uncomfortable non-drinkers felt at nearly every social gath-

As I spent months poring over state buggets and Supreme Court opinions, the lady of the house ran the garden. THE TOMATO plants are 61/2 feet

The bib lettuce is the size of cab-

While supermarkets displayed sickly yellow beans (before Aug. 1, anyway), we were wolfing down vansized helpings of the tenderest, biggest beans this side of Eden. No, you can't have any. No, we won't even sell vou any.

THE REAL test will come when we see what we can do with corn. (I say "we" loosely because all I did was haul the 500 pounds of horse manure and spade the plot.)

In past years the sweetest - and most expensive — corn came from a nearby farmer. He has sold off much of his land for a subdivision of homes as big as Don Quixote's windmills. The lots are priced at double what my house sold for. In this McWages economy, we're wondering how folks

PURISTS SAY you should cook sweet corn immediately after picking. You should get the water boiling and run from the field with your bucket of corn. If you trip and fall along the way, forget it and get fresh

Our cornfield is two feet from the patio. No such freshness problems.

Michigan gold can be boiled a few minutes, or it can be soaked in water with a few husks on it and roasted over a charcoal fire until the kernel tips start to turn brown.

Give the elkhound my steak. I'll take the sweet corn.

I've smelled Florida citrus farms in February, Atlantic fish tugs, tobacco curing in a Carolina barn. Good smells, no question.

Kay had some company at Camp

Council camp. Her dad, Gary, came along for a recent "Dad and

"Oh, I think it's great," said Gary Kerstens, a Plymouth resident.
"It's a great opportunity."

The session was Friday-Sunday, Aug. 3-5, at Camp Linden in Livingston County. Some dads and daughters from the Plymouth-Canton community participated.

"This is our first time up here," said Kerstens, a pipefitter for B & C Technical Service, a mechanical contractor.

HIS DAUGHTER had been to camp with her mom, but Kerstens hadn't been camping with Kay until this past weekend.

"It seems like a lot of parents don't have the time anymore," he said. "You have to make the time. Helping them grow, raising your kids, you can't do it if you're not there."

Kerstens and his wife spend a lot of time with Kay and with their 10-year-old son, Wes. Gary Kerstens is a Cub Scout leader and spends time with his son at Scouting activities.

THE "Dad and Daughter" week-end included two nights of camping in platform tents. Sports, crafts, cookouts, nature study, swimming.

boating and other fun activities filled up the weekend.

"It's one of our top programs," said Sharon Spencley, co-director of Camp Linden. "They really enjoy it."

Dads and daughters can choose what activities they'd like to participate in, said Spencley, a graduate student in guidance and counseling at Eastern Michigan University. Last Friday evening included a dance for the campers.

THE PROGRAM is open to girls in kindergarten through high school, and non-Scouts are allowed to participate. Last weekend's camp session attracted about 160 people, including some dads with two daughters.

The Huron Valley Girl Scout Council also offers a summertime "Mom and Me" program for young campers and their mothers. Both programs give parents a chance to spend time with their daughters.

RICK SRODAWA hadn't been to a Girl Scout camp until last weekend. He came to the camp session with his daughter, Amanda, 7, a second grader at Farrand Elementary School in Plymouth Township.

"I think it's nice. It's something different," said Srodawa, an engineer with Detroit Edison. "We like camping."

Susan, a fourth grader at Galli-more Elementary School in Can-ton, came to camp "to have fun." She particularly enjoyed playing lots of games and swimming.

THIS IS the third year they've come to camp. Floied, who works for GM-Delco Products in Livonia, knows it's important for parents to spend time with their kids.

"It's got to be the greatest thing for fathers and daughters," he said. "I think it's super. The counselors do an excellent job. They are ex-tremely friendly, willing to help you always."

He appreciates being able to spend time with Susan.

"I've got some artistic talents, I guess. I just have a sincere interest in it and a love for it."

Peters, who has lived in Canton for three years, is president of the Canton Arts Council, an organization formed in October 1989.

"I've always been one to get involved in just about every place I live," said Peters, activities and special projects director for the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan.

SHE ATTENDED the initial breakfast meeting of the Canton Community Foundation, heard an arts group was being formed, and volunteered to help.

"I am a great organizer. It is one of my greatest strengths. I really enjoy getting things off the ground, seeing them grow and develop."

She has enjoyed working with other organizers. On the group's board is sculptor Joe DeLauro and others with a variety of backgrounds.

Organizers have several goals. They want to provide programs that are affordable and address the needs of people of all ages.

SHE IS working with Bill Sharpe, another council member, on converting a Canton barn into a theater. They have a specific barn in mind, and want to see it moved to Canton's historic district at Cherry Hill and We'd like to make it a fullfledged building that's usable for anything related to the arts but primarily theater. That's one of our main projects right now, to get that up and running. We're really excited about it."

They're bringing in a consultant to see if the barn can be moved in its entirety, or if it will need to be taken apart and reassembled. Peters isn't sure just when the project will be Shorter-term goals include offering "fireside chat" programs at a community site. Artists representing different media would demonstrate their work and answer questions.

Next year, organizers plan to have both an adult section and a student section at the show.

This year's show included a "Playa-Thon" in which local piano students raised pledges totaling $900 and played throughout the show.

"It was a very nice touch to have music at an art show."

PETERS, WHO grew up in Parma, Ohio, outside of Cleveland, brings a variety of skills to the organization. She studied English at Cleveland State University, and had originally planned to teach.

She worked for several years as a United Airlines flight attendant. She lived in Chicago for a while, and did some free-lance interior design

She studied ballet all through school. She took some art classes and can draw, but never had the desire to pursue that interest professionally.

"My interest got piqued when I was in college.'

She took a course that required her to critique several live performances. She also remembers seeing "Swan Lake" as a child with her aunt, and being impressed with that Peters, 43, was transferred to Detroit from Chicago 11 years ago. She was less than enthused about the move, but has come to enjoy living in Michigan.

"I love it here. I love it and my daughter loves it."

PETERS, WHO lived in Southfield before moving to Canton, has found there are things to do in the Detroit area. She and her daughter enjoy going to plays. They also visit art galleries and stores. Peters isn't all that partial to country and flower scenes.

"I'm a much more contemporarytype person."

Peters has worked for several organizations throughout her career. She worked in the computer department for A.C. Nielson in Chicago after leaving United Airlines.

She took some time off when her daughter was born, and then worked as an assistant to the vice president for computer operations at Kraft

SHE WAS working for Computervision, a computer design company, when she was transferred to Detroit. She then worked for Tandem Computers as a regional business manager, and has been with the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan, based in Farmington Hills, for one year.

she has found. Peters would like to see some improvements in recreational facilities. She is on the workstudy group that is researching recreational needs in Canton. There's really no central area for the kids to do things.

Peters, a single parent, keeps busy with work and volunteer commitments, but finds time to walk five miles each day. She enjoys reading and plans to start working on making her Christmas gifts.

Entertaining is also high on her list of things to do, and she particularly enjoys making French pastries.

Canton Arts Council leaders are looking for program ideas and for the names of artists who'd like to participate in next year's show or in the fireside chats. They're also seeking members and volunteers. Inquiries may be sent to the organization at 44920 Ford, No. 145, Canton

The popcorn wagon's a popular place to visit during Plymouth Community Band concerts and other community events.

Their business is popping

By Diane Hanson special writer

HE BAND'S musical sounds dance on the summer breeze as people gather in the park. They gather to listen, relax and enjoy the evening's entertainment.

There's the aroma of fresh, buttered popcorn, tempting the crowd as well as those strolling by or pedaling their bicycles past the horse-drawn wagon at the park's

An idyllic scene from the early 1900s? Thanks to the efforts of the Plymouth Kiwanis Club, it's a scene from the late 1900s as well. The only difference is that the wagon now rests on a trailer bed and is drawn by several hundred horsepower.

The brightly-colored wagon's a popular attraction at community events.

"People eat popcorn after 5 o'clock in the evening and eat it right up to midnight," said club member Harold Fischer. "That makes band concerts a perfect time."

THE IDEA of restoring an old popcorn wagon as a club project originated in the late 1940s as the brainchild of Fischer, now a 43-year member of the Plymouth Kiwanis Club, and Dr. Fred Foust, a member and local dentist.

Back then, they ran into obstacles with the county health department and decided to shelve the idea. The idea was rekindled in January 1988 when Fischer happened across a man who had just returned from a carnival convention, and knew of someone in Baltimore, Md., who might be interested in selling an old popcorn wagon.

The wagon was indeed for sale and armed with pictures sent to him, Fischer approached the Plymouth City Commission to seek permission to use the wagon. The Kiwanis Club then voted unanimously to buy the wagon, restore it to near original condition and volunteer to operate it.

The next hurdle was raising the money needed for such an undertaking. Club members came up with the idea of lending themselves the money. Some 20 members lent the club the $10,000 purchase price and an additional $4,000 for moving and restoration.

Fischer, Foust and another member, Bob Thoms, went to Baltimore to retrieve the Creders Popcorn Wagon, which had originally come from Howell, Mich. A great deal of restoration needed to be done.

THE ENTIRE roof had to be replaced, and that was done by using chicken wire to reshape the top and covering it with the same material used for the tops of antique cars.

The interior was completely revarnished, and some of the wood around the windows needed to be stripped before it could be restained and varnished. Much of the interior work was done by Fischer and Thoms, who worked on the wagon full time.

All the club members shared in painting the wagon's exterior in its original colors of red, tan and blue. The art work on the outside was painted by Fischer's son, Grant, and Grant's wife, Helen, of Milford.

The only additions - other than the air conditioner and electric heater, which had been previously installed - were a counter top and a stainless steel bin to hold ice for soft drinks. Those were added to comply with Wayne County Health Department standards. The original popper is still fueled by propane.

After two months of dedicated work, the popcorn wagon was ready to roll. That's exactly how it was moved on its original wooden-spoked buggy wheels from the Adistra Corp., where it was stored, to a spot on Union for the 1988 Fourth of July parade in Plymouth.

FOR LACK of a horse to hitch it to, four club members moved the wagon by hand (and foot) to its loca-

"It was really hard work," said Fischer, a Canton resident. "After that, nobody wanted to talk to me."

After that experience, club members decided to strap the wagon to a trailer and let a car do the work. These days, the wagon can be moved to almost any location.

The popcorn wagon will be open and available for any special event on the community calendar, Fischer said. The wagon was used this summer for Plymouth Community Band concerts in Kellogg Park and for Art the direction of Charles Curmi, popcorn committee chairman, and Timothy White, club president. A large box of regular or large cup of buttered popcorn goes for $1, and Pepsi's priced at 75 cents a cup.

Plymouth Kiwanis Club members

Club members use the proceeds for a variety of projects. "Once the loans for the popcorn wagon are all paid back, 100 percent of the profits go back into the community," he said. Club members provide money for scholarships at Schoolcraft College. They help students attend Boys State and Girls State, and provide horseback riding therapy for handicapped children. Kiwanians also plan to support the Drug Abuse Resistance Education (DARE) program and other community projects.

Popcorn sales are "very good," according to Fischer, and those who missed seeing the wagon this summer don't have to do without. The wagon comes out of its garage on Union Street during the winter. The Ice Spectacular is our biggest selling attraction," Fischer said. Along with the popcorn, hot chocolate and coffee are sold in the win-

Preacher believes in being a teacher

By Arlene Funke special writer

He's the preacher teacher.

"Education is the heart and soul of my ministry," said the Rev. Dr. Thomas Eggebeen, new senior pastor at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church (USA) in Livonia.

Eggebeen, 46, assumed the pastorate of the 1,300-member church in June He expressed as a major goal offering seminars which teach people how to "enhance their communication with God."

"Every church needs a strong educational program which involves everyone from the youngest to the oldest," Eggebeen said.

Eggebeen, a native of Wisconsin, believes it is his responsibility as pastor to provide a positive and encouraging Sunday worship that sets the tone for daily life.

"If I can put it in a nutshell, it is to provide a joyful environment in which people can learn about God and find out who they are," Eggebeen said.

HE WAS IN high school when he began feeling called to the ministry.

"I always lived with a sense of God being very close to me, and that isn't said arrogantly," he said. "It took a long time to clarify. A number of my friends couldn't believe it. I seemed too unministerlike.

"Ministers were thought of as being tight and stodgy. I was anything but stodgy and I still am not stodgy."

Eggebeen received his undergraduate education at Calvin College in Grand Rapids and his seminary training at Western Theological Seminary in Holland. He holds bachelor of divinity and doctor of divinity degrees. Ordained in 1970, Eggebeen has served churches in West Virginia, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania and Oklahoma.

A constant challenge is cutting through the invisible barrier that seems to exist between clergy and lay peo-

"Pastors need to continually counteract (that)," Egge been said. "The sword cuts both ways. Ultimately, we resent what we are afraid of. We (clergy) are here only because God loves us too."

EGGEBEEN HAS done much research and developed several topics for seminars, including study questions and take-home materials. These subjects include the meaning of baptism and learning to pray out loud.

"Sometimes people need a larger vocabulary," Eggebeen said. "They need words to help describe what they are thinking and feeling."

Eggebeen has studied the role of 16th century Protestant theologian John Calvin, whom he dubs the "theological granddaddy" of the Presbyterian denomination.

The class on "what it means to be Presbyterian" emphasizes the doctring of grand or the strong balled in hasizes the doctrine of grace, or the strong belief in God's forgiving nature, "from the beginning to the end,"

"Some people might think the world is under the influence of the devil, rather than God. Presbyterians feel very much the opposite — that we can trust what this world is, we can trust God.

"Evil is real, but God is more real."

Eggebeen has already begun to implement the Stephen Ministry, a St. Louis-based instructional program which teaches basic pastoral skills for handling such tasks as hospital visits and counseling people who are experiencing personal crises.

"It's a ministry of creative listening," Eggebeen said.

THE CHURCH already has a flourishing music program and active youth group, he said. A group of teens from St. Paul's spent time this summer fixing up and refurbishing dilapidated housing in Topeka.

Eggebeen will be looking to target some programs for people nearing retirement age and for others in their "Age-wise, it's a well-balanced congregation," he said. "Probably the largest group is aged 55 and up. But there is a very healthy proportion of young people with Community service has been a mainstay at St. Paul's. Several self-help and philanthropic organizations hold their meetings at the church.

Several congregation members donate their time serving meals at Fort Street Presbyterian Church in downtown Detroit. That once-a-week mission program feeds more than 500, Eggebeen said.

"I think this is a very friendly congregation," he said. "I perceive this as one of the strengths."

Eggebeen's wife, Donna, is a real estate saleswoman. Son Josh, 18, and daughter Rachel, 14, are enrolled at Stevenson High School in Livonia.

Eggebeen enjoys going to plays and reading history and biography books for relaxation. He likes to attend movies with Josh and browse in bookstores with Rachel. A motto which Eggebeen has adopted was a comment by fictional detective Sherlock Holmes that the sleuth sees when others only look."

"I would hope I would be able to do that myself," Eggebeen said. "To be able to really see and understand."

Weapons don't guarantee peace

Michigan is a beautiful state! At this time of the year especially we feel blessed with water, green forests and pretty nice weather. Recent reports tell us that our state leaders are concerned about bettering our environment. Even the DNR can no longer poison fish in our streams. But there is something else that is about to happen. Nobody seems concerned. It probably will not stir interest like the poisoning of fish in one of our streams.

The big missiles are being taken out of Colorado and are coming to Michigan. Each holds 10 H bombs. They will be mounted upon railroad cars and be ready to be moved about the state When this deadly cargo arrives in Michigan and joins the other 630 nuclear bombs in the state, we will probably not know about it. We will be concerned about our beautiful state and rightly so. We will watch to see that all our refuse dumps are carefully monitored. But who will note the arrival of the trains bearing

THESE TERRIBLE weapons have become just like the neighbor's little pet dog. As long as they don't make a noise, we will ignore their existence.

Yet, we all must remember. If we do not remember, we may suffer the consequences. Aug. 6 was the cele-bration of Hiroshima day. We began a new era 45 years ago.

We must remember the horror that was and the horror that can still happen. I met one of the survivors of that first atom bomb. She was a child then. Now she asks us to remember and work toward a future when this will never happen again. I remember Mrs. Amano from Hiro-

I am sure that there are military people who believe that the 630 nuclear bombs in Michigan have helped keep the peace. There are peace witnesses who believe just as strongly that removing these bombs from our state will help achieve peace more completely.

Isn't enough, enough? How many police standing on a corner insure safety? Do we want more H bombs in Michigan? The week in which Hiroshima day fell, 45 years ago, is a time to remember and reflect.

I believe that the world is chang ing. We need to be ready to change in the directions of co-existence and cooperation. How does it feel for this operation. How does it feel for this great state to be going backward?

This whole thing reminds me of an expressway bridge which was built in Boston. Subsequently, the route was changed, leaving the bridge in place, hanging in the sky to nowhere. How do we feel about more missiles coming to Michigan?

London, the smart way

QUESTION: My husband and I will be in London, England, for one week in August. Where ald we exchange dollars for pounds? What is the best way to get around? What are some neat places to eat, what light and entertaining plays should we see and where should we shop for souvenirs (not junk). Thanks for your help. Bonnie.

ANSWER: I've been to London many times, but asked travel photographer Micky Jones of Farmington Hills to answer your question, because he was there quite recently.

"London is a great place to visit anytime and there is so much to do there that your week will disappear rapidly.

'London is a great place to visit anytime and there is so much to do there that your week will disappear rapidly.'

- Micky Jones Farmington

Before you leave home, visit a local travel agency and buy two Visitor Travel Card Vouchers which entitle you to unlimited use of London's bus and underground systems for three, four or seven days, including the trips to and from Heathrow airport. (They don't cover transportation from Gatwick Airport). The Vouchers cost $15, $21 and $35 and cannot be bought in England.

"Since you may not have time to get informa-tion on London attractions, events, shopping and dining from the British Tourist Authority office in Chicago, you can get what you need from the Brit-ish Travel Center at 12 Regent St. in London. It is a two-minute walk south from Picadilly Circus, the London equivalent of Times Square.

"They will provide you with maps and guide books including the current issue of London Planner, containing a complete theater listing. London is like New York in one way, tickets to the top shows are hard to come by unless you pay scalper's prices or are lucky enough to get a cancellation at the box office.

"Half-priced tickets are available to many good plays and musicals at the Half Price Ticket Booth in Leicester Square. They sell matinee tickets noon to 2 p.m. and evening show tickets 2:30 to 6:30 p.m. on the day of the performance.

"You may be hustled while in line by scalpers selling very high-price tickets to sold-out shows like the Phantom of the Opera. Agatha Christie's 'Mousetrap', which has played continuously for 38 years and is the world's longest-running play.

"For quality products and souvenirs you can't go wrong at either Harrod's department store in Knightsbridge or Selfridge's on Oxford St. For less quality but more fun try Covent Garden and Portobello Rd. If you will be there Sunday, head for Petticoat Lane on Middlesex St. between 9 a.m. and 2 p.m. to see the biggest, most crowded and fascinating street market I've ever seen. It only operates on Sundays.

"There are so many London restaurants that it is impossible to make a few specific recommendations. Prices range from moderate to very high so check the menu posted on the window before entering. Most English pubs serve good inexpen-sive lunnches and are wonderful places to meet local people.

"Wander across Waterloo Bridge to the South Bank Center which is a large modernistic complex of theaters, concert halls, museums and restaurants. It is a good place for lunch or afternoon tea even if you don't stay for one of the shows.

"What do you do after the Changing of the Guard, the Tower of London, Madame Tussaud's, Westminster Abbey and the British Museum?

Take a relaxing boat ride on the Thames; you can choose one that takes 20 minutes or one that takes as long as four hours."

What I would add to Micky Jones' recommendations are a few thoughts about money. I never change my dollars in the United States. I buy American Express travelers checks, free with my membership in the Automobile Club of Michigan or for a small commission at the bank.

Exchange enough at the airport in England to get you through a day or two, then change as you go at English banks. Warning: they charge the same commission for $20 or $200 so don't exsmall amounts. You can change them at a hotel desk but the exchange rate is usually lower.

And remember this rule of travel: there is nothing wrong with scheduling your time loosely, as long as you schedule in time to wander, watch the pigeons and enjoy the street life of London.

By Iris Sanderson Jones travel editor

If I stood blindfolded on Queen Street, I would still know that I was in Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ontario. It's not just the smell of fudge from the Niagara Fudge shop, the marmalade from Greaves or the aromas wafting off the verandah at The Buttery.

I would smell the brilliant red geraniums that grow around the clock tower outside the Court House Theater. The flowers that hang from the lamp posts and make a red, yellow and blue passage down Queen Street, the main strip in town.

It is only a few blocks from the place where Highway 55 dead-ends on Queen and the corner where Queen becomes Picton Street and bends out of town between the Shaw Festival Theater and Fort George, but everything you need for a colorful short vacation is along that six-block stretch. The rest is available within a block or two on either side.

THE MUNICIPALITY of Niagara-on-the-Lake covers a large area at the end of the Niagara Peninsula, but the picturesque old town covers a few blocks at the very tip, where the Niagara River enters Lake Ontario 14 miles downriver from Niagara Falls.

Old hands say that Niagara-on-the-Lake has changed in 15 years from a small town full of locally owned shops to a tourist center. For a newcomer, it has only one flaw. Flowers or not, it costs more than you might want to spend for a few days in the village.

Any accomodation under $100 is considered moderate, although you can search-and-find less expensive mostly unlisted bed-and-breakfasts. Add $50 a person for a couple of Shaw plays and the bill starts getting high.

Some things cost less Tuesday through Thursday, so we drove in Thursday and stayed where Highway 55 dead-ends, at The Kiely House, a

Heather Pettit was weeding her large back garden when we parked and walked past the centuries-old Osage orange trees to the back of the house. If you arrive in the fall, watch out for the odd-shaped Osage fruit, which looks like a large warty orange; it thumps down on unsuspecting parked cars

"The garden smells wonderful," I said.

"It's the hedge," Heather said in her somewhat British accent. "Every time you trim it, it smells like oranges."

IT ALSO smelled like petunias and nasturtiums and geraniums as I followed the scent down Queen Street, past shops with names like Maple Leaf Fudge, Dansk Outlet Store and Cornelis de Jonge Collectibles to the Royal George, the first of the three Shaw Festival theaters I met during my brief love affair with Niagara-on-the-Lake.

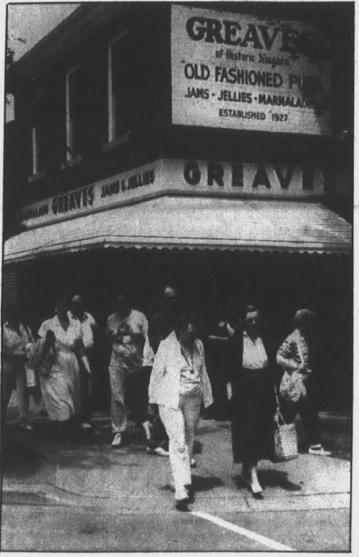

I planned to see Shaw's "Village Wooing" there the next day so I went on past the Courthouse building, on the site of the first capital of Upper Canada, now Ontario, in 1792, and settled in for a bowl of onion soup on The Buttery veran-

Any traveler who likes to do things right would start at the east end of town, where they fight the War of 1812 every day in Fort George. The little blue-and-white map, available in all hotels, tells you that this town was settled at the close of the American Revolution by loyalists, many of them members of Butler's Rangers, based across the river at Fort Niagara.

That's why you see signs, as you come into town, pointing to Butler's Burial Ground and the Negro Burial Ground.

Vintage Junkers renew dreamy days of flying and completely restored at Lufthansa's Hamburg maintenance base.

By William Coutant staff writer

For Lufthansa Airlines Capt. Didi Krauss, flying the Junkers Ju 52 marks the fulfillment of a boyhood dream. And although he's ferrying passengers in the 54-year-old aircraft without pay, hundreds, perhaps thousands, of other airline pilots would pay to take his place.

"I remember this plane from when I was a child," Krauss said. "In fact, we're the same age." Both Krauss and the distinctive passenger plane were born in April 1936. Lufthansa Airlines resurrected the vintage craft from seeming death and restored it.

The German airline has brought the plane with its corrugated, black and silver body to the United States for a 34-city promotional tour. After stops in Milwaukee and Osh Kosh, Wis., and Grand Rapids, the plane will come to Detroit for the weekend of Aug. 17-19.

Bunking up in comfort The best stays in Niagara-on-the-Lake travel editor

Where should I stay in Niagara-onthe-Lake? I learned a lot of things, and ran up quite a telephone bill, while trying to answer that question.

The Chamber of Commerce, (416) 468-4263, has an unusual reservation service. Call or write ahead, tell them what your priorities are and for $5 they'll find you accommodations that fit your needs.

They list 12 hotels and inns, with rates in Canadian dollars. Multiply by .86 to convert to U.S. dollars. Hotel rates range from $112 to $325 (U.S. $96-$280) a night for two. Inns range from $78 to $140. They also list bed-and-breakfast accommodations from $55 to $95.

I was surprised rates were so high, but Ontario prices are high for everything, and you pay extra for staying in a tourist town that can usually fill its beds, especially on weekends.

THE LARGEST and newest hotel, two blocks from town and overlooking the marina and lake, is Queen's Landing (416) 468-2195, $135 to $325. It is owned by the same family that owns the well-known Piller and Post (416) 468-2123, $132 to $195.

A new hotel across the street from the Festival Theater, the Royal Park (416) 468-2010, offers special rates of $95 to $120 this year. The best known historic hotel is the Prince of Wales (416) 468-3246, on the main street in the middle of town, for $112

I started calling my friends and learned that many B&B's are not listed with the chamber

SALLY SAWYER of West Bloomfield recommended the bed-andbreakfast home of Dorothy McCullough, "a delightful elderly woman who loves to play cribbage," at 300 Niagara (416) 468-4688. A Canadian friend told me she stayed there for $35 last year. But nobody was ever home when I called.

Al and Shirley Sandner of Lansing stay in the Old Bank House bed-andbreakfast (416) 468-7136, overlooking the lake three blocks from town. Rates: $88 with a bathroom down the hall or $125 "en suite" (with a bathroom in the room).

I couldn't get a room there, but they recommended The Wellington House (416) 468-4081, rate $65, run by Richard and Monica Taylor. By this time my phone bill was rising.

Mrs. Taylor was full too. She recommended Carol Grey (416) 468-

"TAKE HIGHWAY 55 until it dead ends at Queen Street and you'll see a large white house with black shutters," Heather Pettit said.

Our room at Kiely House was in the "new wing" built in the 1850s. It's a nice house. The room was small, up a long flight of stairs. The breakfast and ambience were delightful.

It cost $88 plus tax for the night, which still seems high to me as I adjust to village prices.

I ASKED two local people where they would put their relatives if they came to town. One said the Moffat Inn or the Prince of Wales. The other said the Prince of Wales or the Moffat Inn (416) 468-4116.

The Moffat, next door to the Prince, runs $75 to $90. It doesn't have much public space, no lounge, but it is highly rated and in the middle of town.

The Oban Inn (416) 468-2165, overlooking the golf course and lake, is the most popular place in town for dinner and probably has nice rooms for $90 to $130.

YOU MAY not have a choice. Al Sandner of Lansing always gets his accommodations before he buys the theater tickets; after that he

"I called the Oban Inn for a Friday night dinner reservation three weeks ahead and just barely got in," he said. "Niagara-on-the-Lake is a very popular summer destination."

THIS PARTICULAR model has an unusual history of its own, almost an encapsulation of all Ju 52s.

One of 5,000 planes built at the Junkers factory between 1932 and 1952, the "Fritz Simon" with its D-AQUI marking went into service on April 10, 1936.

In July 1936, it was sent to Norway, where it was fitted with floats and renamed the "Falcon" for air travel in the country's remote coastal region.

In 1940, the German army confiscated the plane and used it to transport troops

IN 1956 the Ju 52 was retired as jetliners were taking over the skies. With its large wingspan (30 meters), museums weren't even interested. But the plane found another life when an airline in Quito, Equador bought the plane, renamed it "Amazonas" and began flying passengers, cattle and cargo across the jungle.

In-1963, after 8,000 flying hours, the decrepit aircraft was falling apart. It was abandoned on the perimeter of Quito Airport. But once again it was rescued when a former U. S. Air Force pilot, Lester Weaver, bought the wreck in 1969 for $5,200 and had it repaired.

Another American, writer Martin Caidan bought the plane for $52,500 and gave it the name "Iron Annie."

"I just had to buy the damned plane," Caidan said.

After some stints with air shows in the United States, Caidan overhauled the plane in 1976 and put in new Pratt & Whitney engines. He then sold the plane to Lufthansa, which After the war it was returned to flew it back to Germany in 1984

The British, taking no chances, built Fort George on the Canadian side, where it was very busy during the War of 1812. What I like about that war is that markers on the U.S. side say that the Americans won it, and markers on the Canadian side say the Canadians won it.

Whoever won it, when they say "the war" in Niagara-on-the-Lake, they don't mean World War I or World War II, Korea or Vietnam, they mean the War of 1812.

I've never been an organized trav-

The Shaw Festival started on the third floor of the old courthouse in 1962 and now has three theaters going full tilt. The festival is not just about British playwright George Bernard Shaw. Mobile wash service targets professionals

By Doug Funke staff writer

Can a 25-year-old suburbanite successfully run a one-man mobile car wash business out of a pickup truck in an increasingly sophisticated technological world?

Michael Wright, a Plymouth resident, thinks so.

And it's because of technology that Wright can load as much as 55 gallons of water in a couple of tanks, a low-pressure hose system, vacuum cleaners, a portable generator, miscellaneous cleaning products and a cellular phone into his truck to seek fortune if not fame in parking garages and offices.

"It's a fantastic idea," Wright said. "Everyone told me I'm crazy for doing this. Yes, I probably am crazy for doing it, but nothing tried, nothing gained."

Wright, as owner of Executive Mobile Wash, does it all himself from knocking on doors in search of customers to answering his own business phone in the truck to hand washing the vehicles.

He first came across the concept last year while selling medical supplies in Las Vegas.

"I SAW guys washing doctors' cars right at their offices. I thought it was weird, the silliest thing I'd seen. But what an idea, I thought."

Wright returned to southeastern Michigan this year and worked for a while at a family-owned driving range.

"I love my family to death, but we didn't work well together. I didn't want to go to work for some-ne else."

Wright eventually stumbled across an ad in a magazine for a mobile wash business. The light of recall clicked.

"I DID some calling around, checked it out. Some people pull in $75,000 with one truck. I went ahead and bought the equipment."

That involved an expenditure of some $7,000, Wright said, but he figures that's his only overhead. And besides, it's all depreciable for tax purposes.

Wright generally charges $10 for an exterior wash, $20 for an interior/exterior job and a premium for shampooing carpeting. The average job takes about an hour and uses only about four gallons of water.

Wright is the first to admit that his service isn't for most people. He targets doctors, lawyers and salespeople for whom a clean car is an important part of their professional image.

"THIS IS for the very affluent. It's mostly for the higher clientele, guys who can afford the Porsche, the new Lincoln."

Even the wealthy could get their cars washed more economically elsewhere, Wright said. What he sells is convenience, quality and reliabilty, especially in winter when good intentions don't always translate into action.

"You have all that salt, garbage they're putting on roads. I know from personal experience a car gets grubbed up in winter, especially the interior."

WRIGHT WORKS just as hard at drumming up business as he does washing.

"If a guy thinks he's going to buy equipment, go down to the local mall and wash cars, he's wasting

Wright takes the direct approach, knocking on doors with fliers in hand.

"I personally go in there and talk to them, cold spec, first thing in the morning. If a guy can afford a receptionist, he's probably very busy and a service like this would probably be fantastic for him."
WRIGHT HAS a handful of regular customers so far, but he has only been at it a couple of weeks. One of his first clients was the Mayflower Hotel in Plymouth. "It was nice to see to see some-

"It was nice to see to see someone else give service," said Creon Smith, a co-owner of the hotel. "You couldn't say no to the guy. His price was right. His truck was clean. Someone like that, you have to give a chance.' Wright's work often is his best advertisement. People, curious as to what he's doing in a parking lot, will stop by for a closer look. Now. Wright figures if he can

Now, Wright figures if he can just get a big break or two while prospecting parking garages and large office complexes, he'll really be in business.

You could say that Patricia Braverman has come full circle.

Braverman, 28, grew up in Bloomfield Hills and graduated as valedictorian of Birmingham Seaholm in 1979. She earned degrees from Princeton and Harvard universities.

She has worked as a consultant with Bain & Co. in Boston and McKinsey & Co. in New York. She's toiled for Procter & Gamble Co. in Cincinnati and First National Bank of Chicago. She's also served as an intern in the Washington, D.C., office of U.S. Sen. Carl Levin.

But in March, Braverman came home. She accepted a job as marketing director for F&M Distributors, the discount health and beauty retailer.

Ann Korman, always stressed that family is most important."

Personal career considerations also played a big part in Braverman's decision to move.

"I HAD been a consultant for five years and felt now was the time to put knowledge to the bottom line and make decisions," she said.

So she interviewed with about a dozen companies here before finding a good match with F&M.

The company is comprised of hard working, progressive, loyal people," Braverman said. "I was always a value-oriented customer. It's very important for me to be associated with a product I understand.

"I always loved marketing of con-sumer products. I can touch them, talk about them."

Braverman, as marketing director, is responsible for advertising, research and public relations. While F&M uses outside consultants, Braverman essentially is a one-person inside marketing force.

The chain, with 75 stores earlier this year, most in the Midwest, intends to expand to 100 by year's end, she said. That growth potential proved to be especially attractive.

"MARKETING IS to understand what people need and want, then provide information to get them to try it," Braverman said. "Our whole focus is the store. We feel our store is our advertising."

Braverman, who initially thought about pursuing a career in law or government service, changed her mind after working a couple of summers for Levin.

"I found government to be a bit bureaucratic. It didn't move fast enough," she said.

A summer stint at the First National Bank of Chicago introduced her to alternatives. "Business deals with people a lot - law, reading and writing.

Braverman credits her parents, Helen and Arthur, for encouraging her and her three older siblings to

"I guess I've always set my sights very, very high," she said. "I've always had a lot of support from my parents. They always had a lot of confidence in me. They always told me to strive beyond my potential."

Frank Newman, president and chief executive officer of F&M, said he was delighted to find someone with Braverman's academic credentials to step into the job.

"HER ENTHUSIASM and her desire to be successful" especially made an impression, he said.

"In our company, we have a nice blend of industry professionals and aggressive, bright people who have joined from the outside," Newman said. "She has a good understanding of consumer products. We can teach the retail business.

"Her main responsibility will be to increase awareness in communities where we have stores through a combination of advertising, PR and community support activities," he

Newman isn't surprised that Braverman would want to come back to Detroit after living in other centers of government, finance and industry.

"While we certainly have our problems, there's a great many people who grew up here and it's home to them," he said.

Braverman is just glad to be back.

The oil panics of the late 1970s produced a short-lived, genuine interest in fuel economy. This is often cited as the main reason the imports began a sudden surge in sales that

THE REALITY is that to make any dramatic change in national fuel consumption, the whole automotive fleet must change, not just a handful of new cars. This takes a sustained change in thinking and policy that must continue for at least a decade—the minimum time to replace most of the cars on the road.

CITY OF PLYMOUTH WAYNE COUNTY, MICHIGAN ORDINANCE NO. 90-3

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND THE CODE OF THE CITY OF PLYMOUTH BY DELETING CHAPTER 21 AS AMENDED IN ITS ENTIRETY AND ADDING A NEW CHAPTER 21.

Section 1. That the Code of the City of Plymouth is amended by deleting Chapter 21, as amended, in its entirety and adding a new Chapter 21, which reads as

This Chapter may be known and cited as the "Solid Waste Disposal and Resource Recovery Ordinance."

It is the intent of the City Commission that this Chapter be liberally construed for the purpose of providing a sanitary and satisfactory method of preparation, collection and disposal of solid waste, and recyclable materials, as well as the maintenance of public and private property in a materials, as well as the maintenance of public and private property in a clean, orderly and sanitary condition, for the health, safety and welfare of the community, and to provide for a reasonable system of user fees to defray the cost incurred by the City in collecting and administering waste removal. The City Commission recognizes that in order to conserve our natural resources, as well as to control the ever increasing cost of solid waste disposal, that the separation, collection and sale of recyclable materials will reduce the amount of solid waste to be disposed of, reduce the cost of landfilling solid waste, extend the life of the existing and future landfills and protect and conserve our limited natural resources. All citilandfills and protect and conserve our limited natural resources. All citizens are encouraged to voluntarily recycle and to make use of the facilities therefore provided by the City.

The City manager and his agents are hereby authorized to make such rules and regulations as from time to time appear to be necessary to carry out this intent, provided, however, that such rules are not in direct conflict with the City Code or the laws of this state.

TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH

NOTICE OF HEARING FOR PROPOSED SPECIAL ASSESSMENT DISTRICT

Notice is hereby given to all persons interested, that the Board of Trustees of the Charter Township of Plymouth has tentatively declared its intentions to make the hereinafter described improvement:

The project consists of approximately 2,200 feet of approximately 22 feet wide paving of the existing gravel road in the Township along Morrison Avenue and Judson Avenue with bituminous concrete (asphalt) and complementing with drainage swales and storm sewer culverts as needed. The project area commences at the intersection of Morrison Avenue and Joy Road right of ways and proceeds north along Morrison Avenue to Marlin Avenue intersection. In addition, the project would include the paving of Judson Avenue from approximately 200 feet west of the west right of way line of Morrison Avenue to 235 feet from the east of the east right of way line of Morrison Avenue.

That it has further been tentatively determined that the following described lots and parcels of land will specially benefit from said improvement and will constitute a Special Assessment District against which the cost of said improve-

The project areas consist of lots 76 through 96, inclusive, and lots 98 through 118 inclusive, "Rocker Estates Subdivision No. 3" as recorded in Liber 75, Page 23 of Plats, Wayne County Records and a parcel of land in the southwest 1/4 of Section 35, T.15., R.9E., being tax identification number P89-78-061-99-0005.003.

Please take notice that the Board of Trustees of the Charter Township of Plymouth shall meet on August 14, 1990 at 7:30 p.m. at the Township Hall in the Township of Plymouth located at 42350 Ann Arbor Road, Plymouth, Michigan 48170, for the purpose of reviewing said proposed Special Assessment District, and hearing objections to the improvement, creation of the Special Assessment District, and the assessment thereon. All persons may then and there appear and make any objections they may have to such improvement and assessment. Appearance and protest at the hearing is required in order to appeal the amount, if any, of the special assessment to the state tax tribunal. An owner or party in interest, or agent thereof, may appear in person at the hearing, or may file an appearance or protest by letter. All parties or agents appearing in person at the hearing for purposes of protest should request the appearance be entered into the record of the meeting.

Please take notice that the plans, specifications, estimates of cost and recommendations of the engineer for said proposed Special Assessment District have been filed with the Township and are availale for public examination at the office of the Township Clerk.

Please take notice that periodic redetermination of costs for the proposed Special Assessment District may be necessary and may be made with notice to the record owners or parties in interest in the property.

recyclable ("waste or recyclables") found to be not in compliance on such premises (unless the same is on the abutting public right-of-way in which was no notice is required). Such notice shall be by hand delivery or 1st Class mail, addressed to said owner and/or tenant(s) at the last known address.

B. If solid wastes are not removed from the premises within six (6) days after the date of mailing such notice, or if the waste or recyclables are on abutting public right-of-way, the owner, proprietor, occupant, agent and/or tenant(s) of the premises shall be subject to penalties as set forth in Section 2.17 of this ordinance. City Manager is also hereby authorized and empowered to pay for the removal of the waste or recyclables or to order the removal by the City.

C. When the City has effected the removal of such waste or recyclable or has paid for its removal, the actual cost thereof, plus accrued interest at the rate of one per cent 1% per month from the date of removal, shall be charged to the fee owner(s) of the premises on the next regular tax bill forwarded to such owner(s) by the City, and said charge shall be due and payable at the time of payment of such tax bill.

D. Where cost of removal is not paid by an owner(s) within sixty (60) days after the removal of such waste or recyclable as set forth in parts (B) and (C) of this section, then the City Manager shall cause to be recorded in the Treasurer's Office the date and premises on which removal was done. The recording of such statement shall constitute a lien on the property and shall remain in full force and effect for the amount due in principal and interest until final payment has been made and shall be collected in the manner provided by law for collection of taxes; further, the total amount shall be subject to a delinquent penalty of one percent (1%) per month in the event same is not paid in full on or before the date of the tax bill upon which said charge appears becomes delinquent; said sworn statements recorded in accordance with the provisions hereof shall be notice to every person concerned that the amount of the statement, plus interest, constitutes a charge against the premises described in the statement that the same is due

SEC. 2.15 PROHIBITED WASTE.

A. No person shall place in any container or receptacle any material that might endanger the collection personnel, nor deposit or deliver any hazardous waste or any such waste or recyclable to a disposal site which would be detrimental to the normal operation of collection, inciperation, recycling or disposal, for example: gaseous, solid or liquid poison, dead animals, ammunition, explosives, undrained garbage of a liquid or semi-liquid nature, whether in containers or not, concrete, dirt, auto, or equipment parts, or any material that possess heat sufficient to ignite any other collected materials. No motor vehicle shall be dumped or abandoned at any disposal site.

B. No person shall be permitted to place leaves, yard waste or recyclables specifically required herein, or by City Commission resolution, to be separated from solid waste, in a refuse container for the purpose of refuse collection, removal or disposal, nor otherwise dispose of the item except in conformance with this ordinance.

SEC. 2.16 WASTE OR RECYCLABLE COLLECTION AND TRANSFER

A. Selection of Sites. The City Manager, with the approval of the City Commission, is hereby authorized to select and locate such waste or recyclable collection and transfer sites as he may deem necessary, upon any land owned or leased by the City or upon land privately owned, subject to consent having first been secured by the City from

B. Scavengers. No person shall take, remove or carry away anything deposited on such disposal site nor in any other way interfere therewith, except by permission of the City Manager.

C. Unauthorized Dumping. No person shall dump or deposit any waste or recyclable in any place in the City of Plymouth except in a collection and transfer site duly designated as such by the City Manager, as provided by Section 2.16(A). D. Licenses. The City Manager, with the approval of the City Commission, is authorized to license the use of private property within the City of Plymouth as a private collection and transfer site subject to such reasonable terms and regulations as he may deem necessary for protection of the public, which rules and regulations shall at all times be subject to revision, cancellation, alteration or amendment by the City Commission; provided, however, that any such permit shall be revocable at any time without cause and without previous notice by the City Manager or by the City Commission.

E. Use Permits. No person shall be permitted to dump or deposit waste or recyclables in any collection and transfer site without permission of the City Manager or his agents, which permission shall state the time the disposal site is open for use, and shall be issued upon the payment of such charges as the City Commission by resolution pres-

SEC. 2.17 ENFORCEMENT.

The Director of the Department of Public Works, Inspectors and the Police Department are hereby authorized and directed to enforce this Ordinance. The City Manager is hereby authorized and directed to establish and promulgate reasonable regulations as to the manner, days and times for the collection of waste or recyclables in accordance with the terms hereof. Such regulations shall be promulgated and effective not later than the effective date of this Ordinance, in the case of waste or recyclables specifically enumerated herein, and upon the date of the passage of resolution by the City Commission for subsequently added waste or recyclables. The City Commission may, by majority vote, change modify, repeal or amend any portion of said rules and regulations. The City Manager is hereby authorized to employ inspectors to have the care and control of established collection and transfer sites and to enforce this ordinance. Such inspector may be clothed with police power and duly authorized to issue tickets and shall enforce the rules that are or may hereafter be promulgated for the government and control of solid waste and recyclables.

SEC. 2.18 PENALTIES.

Any person, firm or corporation who violates or neglects to comply with any provisions of this Ordinance, or any regulation promulgated pursuant thereto, shall, upon conviction thereof, be punishable by a fine not to exceed Five Hundred ($500.00) Dollars and the cost of prosecution, except that the maximum fine for failure to comply with this Ordinance, and rules and regulations issued pursuant thereto, shall not exceed One hundred ($100.00) Dollars for an initial violation, and the cost of prosecution or in default of the payment thereof, by imprisonment at the discretion of the court. Each day that a violation is permitted to exist shall constitute a separate offense. The imposition of any sentence shall not exempt the offender from compliance with the requirements herein.

SEC. 2.19 RULES AND REGULATIONS.

The City Manager shall promulgate rules and regulations to carry out the provisions of this ordinance.

SECTION 2. SEVERABILITY. If any section, sentence or any other part of this Ordinance is adjudged unconstitutional or invalid, such judgment shall not affect, impair or invalidate the remainder of this Ordinance, but shall be confined in its effect to the section, sentence or other part of this Ordinance directly involved in the controversy in which such judgment shall have been rendered.

SECTION 3. REPEAL OF PROVISION OF ORDINANCES INCONSISTENT HEREWITH. All ordinances or parts of ordinances which are inconsistent with the provisions of this Ordinance are hereby repealed to extent of such inconsis-

SECTION 4. EFFECTIVE DATE. This ordinance is declared to be an emergency ordinance deemed necessary to provide for the public health, safety and welfare of its persons and property, and is to be given immediate effect upon 12 alternatives to lashing out at your kid.

The next time everyday pressures build up to the point where you feel like lashing out—STOP! And try any of these simple alternatives.

You'll feel better . . . and so will your child.

- 1. Take a deep breath. And another. Then remember you are the adult . . .
- 2. Close your eyes and imagine you're hearing what your child is about to hear.
- 3. Press your lips together and count to 10. Or better yet, to 20.
- 4. Put your child in a time-out chair. (Remember the rule: one time-out minute for each year of age.)
- 5. Put yourself in a time-out chair. Think about why you are angry: Is it your child, or is your child simply a convenient target for your anger?
- 6. Phone a friend.
- 7. If someone can watch the children, go outside and take a walk.
- 8. Take a hot bath or splash cold water on your face.
- 9. Hug a pillow.
- 10. Turn on some music. Maybe even sing along.
- 11. Pick up a pencil and write down as many helpful words as you can think of. Save the list.
- 12. Write for prevention information: National Committee for Prevention of Child Abuse, Box 2866L, Chicago, IL 60690.

Stop using words that hurt. Start using words that help.

BUSINESS NEWS

591-2300 ext. 325

The business section is published Thursdays. In addition to the story coverage and columns, the section contains several calendars: Business People covers promotions, internal awards and retirements for anyone living or working in our circulation area. We will print photographs if space permits. Datebook covers upcoming meetings and courses of interest to business people. MarketPlace briefly covers new businesses, new products and other business-related items.

Submit items for these in writing by 5 p.m. Monday. For these calendars call Barry Jensen, ext. 325. For all other items call Marilyn Fitchett, 591-2300 ext. 302

WEDDINGS, ENGAGEMENTS, ANNIVERSARIES

We publish photographs and announcements of weddings, engagements and major anniversaries of local residents or former local residents. These appear as soon as possible, depending upon available space. Forms for announcing these events are available from any of our local offices, or you may model your announcement on an example you've read in the newspaper.

The best reproduction can be made from a 5" x 7" black and white photo, but others are accepted. Please avoid regular or color Poloroid pictures.

PHOTOGRAPHS

Reprints of photographs that appear in the paper are not available. However, if a photograph is used and not needed for our files, it will be made availble to the first person calling in. Such photographs will be held in any of our offices for two months, awaiting pickup. To inquire about a photograph, please call the editor who ran the picture i.e.: Sports, Suburban Life, Entertainment, Creative Living, News.

Religious news is published Thursdays. The religion calendar is published on these pages. Calendar deadline is Monday noon. All material must be in writing. For more information call your local suburban life editor.

OBITUARIES

We publish obituaries of local residents and former local residents. Most obituary information is received from area funeral homes. If a local funeral home is not involved, please call the community editor at the appropriate telephone number. All obituaries appear at the discretion of the community editor. Obituaries are printed without

CREATIVE LIVING

News of the arts appears every Thursday. Notices of gallery shows must be legibly written and submitted by the 5 p.m. Monday deadline. For more information, call the appropriate Creative Living editor.

BUILDING SCENE

591-2300 ext. 302

Construction and building news appears every Monday and Thursday. All information related to this subject should be submitted to Marilyn Fitchett, editor, one week prior to publication.

ENTERTAINMENT

591-2300 ext. 305

Entertainment pages appear Thursday and include feature stories, theater and other entertainment reviews. Table Talk restaurant news column, and the UPCOMING calendar, which deadlines each Thursday (for items o appear the following Thursday).

Submit all information to Ethel Simmons, entertainment

editor. MOVIE REVIEWS

591-2300 ext. 331 All questions about movie reviews, which appear every Monday in our STREET SCENE section, should be directed to Sue Mason.

Johnson & Johnson wasn't in the business of producing bandages and pain remedies Tuesday night.

Those kind of products were needed to heal the damage done by this version of Johnson & Johnson.

Craig Johnson and Mark Johnson scored three goals apiece to pace the Bulldogs to a 13-6 defeat of the Falcons and the Metro Summer Hockey League championship. "I told (Craig), going out for the third period, we each had to get one more," said Mark Johnson of Livonia, who played for Junior A national champion Rochester, Minn., last season. "He got his and then I had to get one more, too.

'We've got two really good lines, and both can score. We have a really balanced offense.'

WHILE MARK Johnson skated on the line with Joe Burton and Alan Carnes, West Bloomfield's Craig Johnson was part of a trio that included Western Michigan University teammates J.P. LaRoche and Joe Bonnett.

Burton, LaRoche and Bonnett scored two goals each, and Carnes accounted for the remaining goal. Bonnett, LaRoche and Carnes also had four assists apiece and teammate Frank Mariani three.

'It helps, obviously, when you've played with someone long enough," LaRoche said. "(He and Bonnett) skated together for 4-5 weeks (at Western), but we tended to change lines a lot. I even skated with Craig Johnson for three years (on a Little Caesars team).

Mustangs finish high in world tournament

The Mid-America Mustangs rallied from an early setback to win five of seven games and finish 16th in the 76-team world softball tournament in Oklahoma.

The Mustangs split their first two games in the girls under-15 tournament but won the next four before being eliminated late Saturday. The Pembroke Lake (Fla.) Predators won the championship.

Lori Thomczek provided one of the tournament highlights for Mid-America when she pitched a perfect game against the American Legion team from Wellston, Ohio. Thomczek, in her third season with the Mustangs, pitched all seven innings of the 9-0 shutout, which came in the middle of Mid-America's winning streak Saturday.

"What a great way to end an outstanding career with the Mustangs, pitching a nohitter in the world tournament," Mid-America assistant coach Ron Movinski said.

THE MUSTANGS opened with a 6-3 victory over the Dell City (Okla.) Panthers last

Michelle Bohnke collected four hits and drove in one run, and Danielle Mortiere had two key hits that knocked in one run each. Britta Anderson and winning pitcher Thomczek had two hits apiece, and Anderson and Cindy Lehnis accounted for one RBI

The Mustangs fell into the losers bracket Friday after dropping a 3-2 game to the Jacksonville (Fla.) Raiders. Karen Jose and Lehnis drove in the Mid-America runs.

The Michigan team rallied later Friday by whipping a North Carolina team 28-3 in four innings. Stacy Movinski was the winning pitcher, and Lehnis and Jose were the offensive leaders with three hits apiece.

Thomczek, Jenny Horosko and Bohnke chipped in two hits each, and Mortiere added a two-run triple.

THE MUSTANGS won their first three games on Saturday - 7-6 over McCorkle of West Virginia, 9-0 over American Legion Post 371 and 3-2 over Louisville's Hit and Misses - the sxith-rated team in the coun-

Mid-America rallied from a 6-3 deficit in the sixth inning to beat McCorkle. Movinski's three-run double tied the score, and Stephanie Long's eighth-inning single was the game-winning hit.

Jose scored the winning run and had three hits, Lehnis and Sarah Rowe two hits apiece.

Maureen Drabicki was the winning pitcher. Thomczek hurled her perfect game, allowing no hits and no walks, in the next contest. She got offensive help from Lehnis, who had three hits and two RBI, Mortiere (two hits) and Kate Strahan, Long and Jenny Garvey with one RBI each.

Thomczek turned around and pitched the Mustangs to their upset win over Hit and Misses in the next game, and she also had the game-winning hit. Her sixth-inning triple sent Rowe to the plate to make the score 3-2.

Miller sees improved chances with pro team

By C.J. Risak staff writer

When he played football at Farmington Harrison, John Miller was

At Michigan State, Miller was an integral part of what blossomed into a very big show

Now comes Miller's greatest challenge. He's searching for his place, hoping for a break, wanting to prove he belongs in the biggest show professional football.

"I think they're pretty good," was Miller's estimation of his chances after the Detroit Lions' Friday morning practice session at the Silverdome. "I know they're better than

Ah, yes. Last year. Not a happy time for Miller, someone unaccustomed to having to prove himself. At Harrison, he was rated as one of the state's best football players. At MSU, he started for three years in the defensive backfield and helped the Spartans win the Rose Bowl in the season out with the Lions. He couldn't. He ended up on their developmental squad.

Training camp in '89 was a nightmare for Miller. "I didn't know what I was fighting for," he said. The six other safties in camp battling him for one spot on the roster didn't know, either. "Last year, it was like I just hung around to collect a paycheck through training camp. I knew I wasn't going to make it."

There's less competition this year, improving Miller's chances. He's currently the back-up to starting safety Bennie Blades, and he plays on all the special teams.

"They like what I'm doing with the punt-block situation," he said. "I think I belong on this team."

If his work in the secondary doesn't impress the defensive staff, Miller hopes special teams coach Frank Ganz will put in some good words for him.

He has his negatives. His size is fine (6-foot-1, 200 pounds), but his speed isn't (4.7 in the 40).

"They're always going to question AS AN UNDRAFTED rookie last

John Miller, former area prep grid star, is pointing toward a job in the Lions defensive secondary and on special teams.

year, Miller was just hoping to stick my speed," he said. "I'm not even sure they trust me back there."

> WHICH IS why the Lions signed cornerback LeRoy Irvin last week. Irvin may be nearing the end of his career, but he has experience and has had some outstanding seasons, twice making the trip to the Pro

Irvin doesn't play the same position, but his signing could have ramifications on Miller's fate. Should the Lions decide to carry five cornerbacks and only three safeties, instead of four and four, Miller's chances of sticking with the squad will dip. "It's a Catch-22," he said. "They want experience back there and I don't have it."

The catch is the Lions don't want to risk letting him gain experience at their expense

Miller refuses to let the numbers game - five-and-three or four-andfour - get to him. "I don't have any time to worry about what they're thinking. I have to keep my mind straight.

HIS PERSEVERANCE should work to his advantage. After failing to make the team last season, Miller stuck with it and kept on training. "I worked out here (at the Silverdome) all during the off-season," he said. "I was coming in from East Lansing.

"I think they knew I was commit-

But Miller's determination has its limits. "If this doesn't work out, I'll go somewhere else," he said. If no other team expresses an interest in him, though, Miller will give up his dream. Married six weeks ago, he has no plans to play in the new international football league next year.

"I'll have to go out and find a job," he said. It was clearly a prospect he didn't savor.

And it wasn't something he expected. Miller clearly believes he has a solid shot at making the Lions. "Whenever I start to look down at the situation, I think about last year," he said.

It was much worse then. Now, Miller knows the question of his making the big show will be his to answer, with his performance on the field during the exhibition games.

Concealed splits games

Concealed Security of Farmington posted a 2-2 record last weekend in the American Amateur Baseball Congress North Central Region Tournament in Battle Creek

On Thursday, Louie McKaig improved his record to 7-0 by pitching Concealed Security to a 3-1 win over Piqua, Ohio (30-9).

McKaig collected nine strikeouts, while scattering six walks and five Shannon Deagan's two hits paced the winners.

Concealed Security couldn't record a victory in its second game with Fort Wayne, Ind., losing 8-1.

Mike Malam suffered the loss, allowing three runs in just 3% innings.

Dan Lezotte had two doubles in the losing cause.

Concealed Security captured a 3-2 victory over Flint Grossi in the third game, thanks to a solid pitching performance from Keith Bozyk.

THE RIGHT-HANDER posted nine strikeouts, four walks and six hits. Shondell Currie had an RBI double and also scored the game-winning

Concealed Security dropped the final game of the tournament to Flint Goggins, 10-9.

Bozyk served up a grand-slam homer to Kevin Dotson in the final inning to end the game.

Bozyk entered the game in relief of starter Jim Solak, who gave up six runs on eight hits in 5% innings.

Paul Pirronello and Kevin Young each had two hits for Concealed Security. They finished the season with .456 and .450 batting averages

Kenny's collects crown

Kenny's Softball Club, the White League champion during the regular season with a 13-1 record, turned back all challengers to capture the Canton Parks and Recreation Services playoffs last weekend.

Kenny's, managed by Chris Drake, scored a 6-4 victory over over Frito-Lay I for the title after suffering its first loss in the double-elimination tourney by Frito-Lay, 12-1.

En route to the double-elimination tourney, Kenny's defeated American Yazaki I (18-10), Embassy Square II (14-13), Absolute Painting (18-13) and Canton Sports (10-1).

In the final, Kenny's erased a 3-1 deficit with single runs in the fourth and fifth innings before scoring three times in the sixth.

Frito-Lay I defeated six opponents en route to the championship including Eagle MTC (7-3), Welduction (15-9), American Yazaki I (14-2), Absolute Painting (10-5), Exotic Metals (12-9) and Canton Sports (19-2).

Ron Evina, goalie for the Bulldogs, and teammate Frank Mariani (2) combine to stop a shot attempt by David Garbarino in the Metro Summer Hockey League final.

Bulldogs blast Falcons

"We move the puck. Everybody is willing to pass the puck. We're unselfish. If you get someone who doesn't want to give up the puck, it kinda messes things up."

The Bulldogs had the best record in the MSHL, losing only once, and looked like the team to beat throughout the regular season.

In a game that went in streaks Tuesday, the Bulldogs lived up to that image early but just as quickly went in the opposite direction before rallying to win going away.

'WE'VE HAD a good team right from the start," said Craig Johnson, who celebrated his 19th birthday Tuesday. "We pretty much knew we had the best team out there.

'We wanted to go to Chicago (for the annual inter-city series) and anything less than winning the championship would've been a letdown."

The Bulldogs raced to a 3-0 lead with Burton and Mark Johnson scoring one minute apart and Bonnett getting the third goal at 10:29 in the first period.

Just when it appeared this year's final would be a blowout, the Falcons came back to tie 3-3 at the end of the period and take a 4-3 lead early in the second.

"We weren't really worried when they came back," Craig Johnson said. "As fast as we scored the first three, we could score the rest of the

The two players who combined for five Falcon goals - Chris Freeman and Glen Revak - started the comeback, and Freeman scored his sec-ond goal after the Falcons pulled their goalie late in the first period.

Revak, scoring the second of his three goals, lifted a shot over the shoulder of Bulldogs goalie Ron Evina to give the Falcons their only lead at 12:45 in the second period.

three minutes until Craig Johnson started a run of six consecutive goals for the Bulldogs.

Craig Johnson scored twice once on a textbook play that included an assist by Bonnett - and Burton and Mark Johnson once each in the second period as the Bulldogs led 7-4 at the end.

"After we got the big lead, we slacked off and took it for granted," LaRoche said. "(The Falcons) came back and sped up the tempo. That's the game our team likes to play. It helps when other teams play an uptempo game. We've always gotten stronger as the game goes on."

The Bulldogs began to turn the game into a rout when they started the third period with goals by Craig Johnson and LaRoche to lead 9-4.

The teams alternated goals - Revak (Falcons), LaRoche (Bulldogs), Scott Hunter (Falcons), Mark Johnson (Bulldogs) - to maintain a fivegoal difference at 11-6 before Bonnett and Carnes finished off the Bull-

The Livonia-Novi Spartan Aquatic Club finished fourth overall in the 1990 Long Course Swimming Cham-pionships held last weekend at the Southfield Civic Center.

Ron Orris (Boys 15-18), along with brother Mike Orris (Boys 13-14), and Ann Aristeo (Girls 9-10) paced the Spartan effort.

Orris, the ex-Plymouth Salem High standout bound for Michiga Staten University, finished first in all four of his events including the 100, 200 and 400-meter freestyles, along with the 100 butterfly.

Mike Orris gained second in the 1,500 frestyle; and third in the 200 backstroke, 400 IM, 400 and 800 freestyle; along with a fifth in the 200 IM. Aristeo took first place in the 100 butterfly; second, 100 free-style; third, 200 freestyle and 200 individual medley; fourth, 50 butterfly and 100 backstroke.

Morton Downey Jr. will bring his Big Mouth format and the Big Mouth podium to Joey's Comedy Club in Livonia for a show

staff writer

Once the most talked about talk show host, Morton Downey Jr. will bring his show to Joey's Comedy Club in Livonia for a special appearance Sunday.

"The Morton Downey Jr. Show" continues to rake up high ratings on CNBC Cable. The show that's coming here with the Big Mouth format and the Big Mouth podium is the last stop on a multi-city tour of live performances across the country

The format remains the same. Downey chooses a subject. He asks for volunteers from the audience who are knowledgeable about that subject. The audience-volunteer experts in turn choose to take a for or against stand on a question pertaining to that subject. Then the show

His show was once described as "Downey facing off with guests like a starved lion eyeing fresh meat.

What he does is infuse the interview form with a disturbing anger and rage that has led him to a mass audience seeking an alternative to the lulling monotony they found in existing programming, he says.

Downey makes no apologies for the television persona he has creat-ed. He is quick to defend his position as a kind and decent man, albeit an angry one.

TESTING THE bounds have been his legacy, one that has pushed the interview form far enough to discover the truth.

Downey is the son of Morton Downey, probably the most noted tenor of his day, and Barbara Bennett, sister to Joan and Constance.

He has proved himself a versatile entertainer over and over

He has had starring roles in a succession of films — "Tales from the Crypt" for HBO; "Predator II" opposite Danny Glover, the soonto-be-released film "Down and Dirty" opposite Robert Davi; and the NBC television movie "Thanksgiving Day" opposite Mary Tyler Moore.

Late in 1989 he walked away from Trump's Castle in Atlantic City with across-the-board rave reviews for his performance in a review of music that spanned the '50s to the '90s

Mellow singer

Bennett marks 40th show biz year

By Carolyn Barnett-Goldstein special writer

PEAKING FROM his Manhattan apartment in the softspoken, mellowed voice sometimes heard in concert and on his recordings, Tony Bennett is candid, and patient, with a readily infectious laugh.

In discussing his music and his painting (one of his watercolors, "Peace," is part of the permanent display at the United Nations Assembly building), his life's concerns, attitudes and goals and how he acquired his perspectives are revealed, as is the mind behind the works.

He is in the middle of a four-na-tion tour celebrating his 40th anniversary in show business and promoting his 91st album, the autobiographical "Astoria" (the New York city where he was born), that brings him to the Meadow Brook Music Festival with the Count Basie Orchestra at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

Describing his considerations in finding a song, Bennett says, "One of the games I play with singing songs, well, there are a couple of games but one is to try and find new songs that hopefully will enter into the American songbook permanently.

"BUT, THEN if there's a terrific standard that I like — I'm in competition with myself — but what I try to do is to try to get the definitive version of a song, of one of those great standards that isn't overdone. But I really try to nail it down "And one of the fun games is to try and have an orchestration, or an individual musician get properly involved with me and come up with something that just nails that song down to the ground. So they say, That's the way to do that song.' In other words, to try and make it my own, just that one tune."

He credits his music director of 25 years, pianist Ralph Sharon, with hepling him. Bennett says, "He and I really have this game of just being tunesmiths. I mean, where we just look for new songs by new composers, or undiscovered songs by great composers the public doesn't know about, and try and make them famous. And we've had good luck. We've had, maybe, 37 songs like 'The Good Life,' 'Who Can I Turn To?' 'The Shadow of Your Smile

"We try to find songs that other singers start doing. It's nice to find new songs, and then you hear all the other singers doing them."

Each song must relate to his heart. He must feel he is able to make it credible. "That's the only way I do it." For example, he never tires of "I Left My Heart in San Francisco.'

HE SAYS, "It's become my favorite song because it's given me the most wonderful music adventure. I've been able to sing for five presidents and for five Command Performances. I'm invited all over the world to sing. It's given me a handle where I'm able to sing without compromising (because it's a quality song). I can just sing the best songs

'If a singer doesn't love a song, he can't convey that kind of love to the audience. You know, I notice that

Tony Bennett has starred on 91 record albums and his hits include "The Good Life," "Who Can I Turn To," "The Shadow of Your Smile" and, of course, "I Left My Heart in San Francis-more than anyone else with Judy Garland. It was such a phenomenon to watch her when she was at Carnegie Hall. What I really saw, very clearly, more than any other per-former, is that she loved the audience so much that that's how much she got back. And I said that, that's what it's all about.'

He tries to sing from his heart to reach that of a listener's. "It's all about that. That's how I paint. It's like Joe Williams, the blues singer, told me, 'It's not that you want to sing. It's that you have to sing." Facing his 64th birthday the next day, he says, "I really feel like I'm starting out. I'm always learning. And it feels great."

Bennett's prerequisite of quality is automatically dictated by a self-re spect learned as a child from his mother's example. A seamstress, she raised three children alone after his father, an Italian grocer, died when he was 9. A peaceful, hard-working woman, she refused to work on a cheap dress. He quotes her as saying, "You give me a good dress, and I'll work on it."

HE ALSO LEARNED a lot about respect for his music as an altar boy in church

From his music he has learned "to have the courage not to compromise. You should be strong enough as an artist, no matter what the punishment may be (he laughs) just to do what you have to do. Whatever it is. Even if it's considered a failure to everyone else. If you know in your heart what's right, then, just do it. And usually when you follow your instincts, it just becomes right.'

The courage of his convictions comes from "just rolling through life (meeting) masters like Duke Ellington, who taught me to eliminate all negatives and stay away from stress and be positive, and, then, I use that as a study. There are people along the way that have given me some very wonderful lessons, and they're not only masters. They're just good

Composer Richard Rodgers told Bennett, "The audience is the critic. They're the ones. If they like it, that's it." His first vocal teacher, Abe Katz, former principal trumpet of the Metropolitian Opera, taught him his imperceptible breath control and continues assisting him in preserving his voice.

In painting as well as in music he believes, "You're supposed to communicate. That's why my champions are the givers like Louis Armstrong, Jimmy Durante, Sammy Davis Jr. They went on stage and gave a hundred percent. These are my heroes. BENNETT THINKS to be given this gift from God means one should not "sin against it." Like Fitzgerald, who he says is, "the most humble person in the world," he loves to sing for people.

He says, "It's a matter of just get-ting that lesson of not sinning against whatever humble gift that you've been given. I learned the hard way. We all made mistakes, but I've learned, don't abuse it. Be professional. I admire that in other people, so I decided I'd get disciplined about

"If you're disciplined, you know your center. You know what you have to do. You show up. You make it happen as many times as you can and good things come from hard

His painting helps his peace of mind. It's "very meditative." He says, "I'm almost three quarters finished with the painting (I'm doing) of the Grand Canal in Venice. And I'm looking at it right now as I'm talking - in the reflection in the mirror. I'm very happy with the way it's coming out. It's very good because, while it looks classical, there's a beautiful, modern motorboat going by a gondola (he laughs), so it makes it a mod ern painting."

Originally he studied to be a graphic artist before turning to music. He says, "Teachers today say, 'Come up with a new idea.' They don't say, 'Study life, study techniques. It's a hard job. Study the masters.

INSPIRATION FOR his paintings comes from music as well as literary works. He loves to read authors like Thomas Mann and Dostoyevsky. "I just think it's great to have a conversation, when you're reading, with a master. You're going to really learn something.

While his life's perspective is a combination of an Italian acceptance of life and that of a dreamer, he's definitely part of the American ou have to buy a newspaper ad in the Detroit market and vou're faced with a real dilemma. Circulation is down for the Detroit News and Free Press. Ad rates are up. How do you juggle the numbers, stretch your budget, and get the biggest bang for your buck?

You don't need a yardstick to see that your advertising dollar can buy more in SPRING. SPRING's network of 39 suburban measures up.

Detroit newspapers reaches more than 1,000,000 readers at a cost-per-inch that's below that of the News or Free Press — daily or Sunday

See for yourself how SPRING

That means you can run bigger ads or run more ads when you put SPRING in your media buy.

Get the lowest CPMs. This is pretty easy — even for math phobics.

Just take the total cost of your newspaper ad and divide that number by the circulation (the DNA's un-audited figures, or SPRING's audited numbers)

You'll find SPRING delivers Detroit's upscale suburban market at a lower cost per thousand than either the News or the Free Press. So, you can reach more consumers for less money when you place your ad in SPRING's newspaper network.

The bottom line? SPRING delivers the suburbs best.

No matter how you add it up, the bottom line is this: SPRING is simply a better buy.

SPRING reaches more than one million readers. SPRING's circulation is strong and stable. And all SPRING newspapers are audited by either CAC or ABC. Best of all, SPRING costs less per thousand - and less per inch than the Detroit dailies. Now that you know the score, shouldn't you put SPRING in your advertising plan?

two-week acting course.
Children's theater is Inge Zayti's thing, and director Arthur Rizzo says she is fabulous at it.

This summer, 200 children have been enrolled by their parents in the Marquis Theatre's Day Camp for Children, in downtown Northville. Each two-week session has two classes of 25 children each, all ranging in age from 7 to 14.

TOGETHER THEY receive instruction in singing, dancing, acting, improvisation, mime, makeup, stage movement and just about everything that is involved with a community theatrical production. On the final Friday, the children perform a show for their parents.

This has been a big success ever since we started it three summers ago," said Zayti, owner of the Marquis Theatre. Zayti came to the United States in 1966 from her native Badharburg in Germany. She received her experience in children's theater in Africa working for the German peace corps.

Bergamot: fragrant flower makes tasty tea

Hiking a trail throughout the year that traverses several habitats will always provide new scenery if you take the time to observe the differences.

As summer progresses each week brings new experiences. Spring wildflowers, like trillium and trout lily, are gone for the year. But they have been replaced by hawkweed and oxeye daisy in the meadows, which will be replaced by knapweed and Queen

Some flowers leave no trace of their appearance after they have finished setting seed. While other flowers leave behind a hardened "woody" stem and remnant flower parts to mark their location for the beautiful lavender flowers of bergamot which will replace the dried stems by late summer. It is easy to recognize the location of bergamot because the stems stand 4-5 feet tall. They prefer to grow in dry open clearings.

All winter long I am reminded of

ON TOP OF this towering stem is a half-sphere shaped flower head made of small tubes. Looking down into the flower head itself can be an interesting experience in shape and patterns. But if you take a flower head and crush it between your fingers and then smell it, you will be rewarded with a delightful minty fragrance.

It seems like this entire plant is a multitude of sensory experiences. If you gently grasp the stem and rotate your finger you will note that the stem is not round, but square. All mints have a square

These sensations can be experienced even before the plant blooms. In late summer the spray of tubular lavender colored flowers eminating from a half sphere base are very attractive to people and insects. Butterflies are common pollinators of bergamot because their long probosis can reach the Architect/adventurer built his career brick by brick

By C. L. Rugenstein

Until Indiana Jones and "Raiders of the Lost Ark" came along, archaeologists were percieved as quiet scholarly types who liked to poke around old ruins.

Now, with the publication of his autobiography, "From An Israeli Pioneer to An American Architect" (1989) Louis Redstone of Livonia may revolutionize our perception of architects. Few, if indeed any, architects have followed as adventurous or dangerous a path into the profession as Redstone seems to have.

Take, for example, the time in Israel (1920) when he was on a volunteer arms smuggling mission to fledgling Jewish settlements and was stopped by a British patrol.

Raids and searches of the settlements were frequent.

"Possession of arms was punishable by long prison terms (under British rule of then-Palestine) and heavy fines," Redstone said. Sometimes resisters were "shot on the spot."

He was given a water flask and told it contained a pistol.

That evening as the band of five amateur smugglers were rounding home, they heard the "heavy thump of a British patrol" followed immediately by the patrol itself.

THE CAPTAIN POINTED his flashlight directly at Redstone, who said he instinctively reached for the

In a daze he heard himself say, "If it's water you want, the flask is empty.

According to Redstone the captain replied,

The economy was bad, work was scarce. For Jewish people the situation was even bleaker.

"There was no hope for a higher education. Jewish people in particular were not being accepted (at universities) anywhere," he said.

He succumbed to the lure of recruiters to go and rebuild Israel.

Since the Russians and Polish were fighting over Poland, Redstone literally caught the last train out. received full union wages, $1.50 per Every train after his was stopped.

As a young pioneer in Israel he helped to replant trees (on Mount Carmel for one). But before he could do that, the workers had to build their own barracks. And Redstone's interest in architecture was born.

"It was my first experience at physical work, and the process of creating a shelter with my own hands was exciting," he said.

He apprenticed with an Arab stonecutter and learned how to make

He said he didn't realize it at the time, but he was learning the busiticed in the bauhauses (guild halls) of Germany, "An architect has to go through all the different work to get the feel of the material before he becomes an architect."

Adventure and danger were waiting for him when he immigrated to Detroit in 1923 to join his brother

"Bricklayers and plasterers were the highest paid . . . in construction at that time." Ironically he noted, "In Poland, bricklaying was (considered) the lowest profession."

While working as a bricklayer on the construction of another downtown monument, the Buhl Building. Redstone had another brush with

In those days builders didn't want to go to the expense of putting up scaffolding for bricklayers. The bricklayers had to walk out on finish mortaring (called "pointing") the brick around the windows. He was out on a plank when it shifted suddenly throwing him backward. But he said, "Some force threw me forward onto the plank," and he managed to get safely back to the building. The incident put him in bed with a wrenched back for a week, he Redstone and Cashwan celebrated 50 years of creative partnership three years ago. A small model of Cashwan's suspended sculpture in the lobby of Manufactuer's Bank headquarters sets on a table in Redstone's office.

'We met one summer vacation I was passing by Arts and Crafts (now the Center for Creative Studies) where he had his studio. I stopped in and said I wanted to study sculpture, he said "come on in," Redstone said.

Redstone collaborated on several of his books on architecture and sculpture installations throughout the world with Ruth Redstone, his wife of 51 years. Though retired as president of the

Woodcarving

An art beyond decoy ducks

George Kinsler of Westland proves that woodcarving is an art.

More than 100 exhibitors lined the aisles with carousel horses, rabbits, dogs, a stork and ducks at the 16th annual Livonia Wood Carving Show, Aug. 4-5. Art pieces from 200 varieties of wood were displayed at the Eddie Edgar Arena in Livonia.

A common misconception about wood carving is that the subject used by woodcarvers is always

If "you say wood carving, people think ducks," said Mary Finn, a wood-carving instructor at Craftsman's Cove in Livonia. "Woodcarving is sculpting. Woodcarving is an art." Albert Charles of Farmington Hills, a former tool maker for Burroughs Corp., agreed that it is an art, creating something from nothing. "You start out with a big hunk of wood. You start carving, then it starts taking form. Carve a little longer and it starts coming to life," Charles Along with the tools, books and wood that are needed to produce the woodcarvings, a contagious air of fun and festivity filled the arena. 'We have an awful lot of fun," said Bob Brooks, president of the Livonia Wood Carvers Club. "We share. We believe in sharing. We would like to get the community interested in "The show was started by the Livonia Wood Carvers Club, and for the last 16 years has been sponsored by the Livonia (Department of) Parks and Recreation," Brooks added.

Many "not for sale" signs hung in the arena and exhibitors agreed that people don't carve Woodcarvers carve wood because it relieves stress, it is fun and for the camaraderie - the friendship of fellow carvers. They carve wood to be together, to sit and talk, Brooks said. Bill Lovell and wife, Florence, of Southfield were popular for selling wood starters. "My starters are ducks for beginners to find out if they like to carve," Lovell said. He has carved ducks about the size of a 6-week-old kitten from over 200 different varieties of wood. Red cedar, walnut, cherry wood, and bass wood ducks with glass eyes stare at the browser from behind Lovell's enclosed glass display case. "TO START CARVING, all you need is an interest in woodcarving, and the gumption to do it," said instructor Finn.

"Buy a starting knife for $6 to $8, some basswood and a strop to keep your knife sharp, so you don't have to put it on a stone," Finn said.

"To start carving, we use basswood. Basswood comes from the linden tree. We start out with basswoood because it holds the shape well. It's soft and easy to work with."

The Livonia Wood Carvers Club had an endangered species table set up at the end of one aisle. The table was filled with carvings of several endangered species, and literature from the U.S. Department of the Interior, Fish and Wildlife Service. The brochures gave information on pesticide use and endangered species and what you can do to stop the extinction of wildlife.

For a vacation, visit homes of great writers

IF YOU'RE looking for a varytion that's a bit out of the ordinary this year, why not visit some spots that are of great historical significance? No. I'm not talking about stone monuments, museums, cometeries or battlefields. I'm suggesting you take a leisurely look at some of the places where great American writ-ers once lived and from which they produced some of their most memo rable work.

You might begin in the Northeast. which is a real hotspot in that regard. All of the following (just a partial list of places you could visit there) are open to the public.

Near Pittsfield, Mans. is Herman

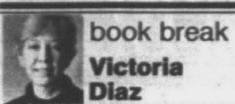

Melville's Arrowhead Farm, where he took up residence in 1850, and and completed "Moby Dick."

The simple white frame house, deep in the heart of the Berkshires, looks out on Mt. Greylock, which looks out on Mt. Greylock, which some observers have noted resembles a ghostly whale surfacing in the misty distance. A quotation from Melville's essay, "I and My Chimney," scratched out probably by the author himself, is still visible across the souty, kitchen fireplace.

LOURSA MAY Alcott wrote "Littie Women" and several other of her popular books from the family home, Grehard House, in Concurd, Mass. The two-story claphourd home, with its small, multioned windows, cramped rooms and uneven floors, overlooks Lexington Road. It was an aging house even when the Alcotts moved in in 1858. Alcott wrote in her drafty, upstairs bed-room while her father, Bronson Al-cott, entertained such colleagues as Hawthorne, Thorean and Emerson in his descentaine study by his downstairs study just inside the

In Cambridge, you'll find the splendid mansion Henry Wadsworth Longfellow called home for the last 40 years of his life. This silk-and-velvet splendor is not the condition, of course, in which most contemporary poets live, and it was certainly not how most poets lived in Longfellow's

Here, in his red-draped uly that looks out on the Charles River, he composed "The Song of Hiswatha," "The Wreck of the Hesperus," "The Children's Hour," and nost of the other works that made him one of the most popular poets of the 19th century. Longfellow himself planted several of the linden trees at

WHAT WASHINGTON Irving liked to call his "little Dutch cottage" hugs the banks of the Hudson River at Tarrytown, N.Y., and the wisteria vine he planted when he lived there still flourishes at the front door. He had already created his notable short stories, "Rip Van Winkle," "The Spectre Bridegroom" and "The Legend of Sleepy Hollow" when he took up residence in 1835 at the house he called Sunnyside. There, he spent much of his time working on the five-volume biography of his namesake, George Washington. The desk at which he worked - a gift from his publisher, G.P. Putnam -remains in his study, near the tiny alcove in which he slept when Sunny-

Popular western novelist Zade Grey was born in Ohio (Zanesville), and lived much of his life not in the western United States, but in a rambling, country home near Lackawaj-en, Penn.

Surrounded by large evergreens the white frame home of the dentist-who-became an author is multi-sto-ried, and filled with fascinating memorabilia, including old som-breros Zane collected, western and Indian artifacts, copies of Grey's 86 books, magazines in which his fiction and non-fiction appeared, plaques from his dental office, movie stills from "Riders of the Purple Sage," correspondence, old pens, pencils, yellow foolscap.

Grey's bare-floored office, with its cluttered desktop and rather worn-looking Morris chair (from which he wrote his first western novel, "Last of the Plainsmen") looks as if he'd just stepped outside for a breath of fresh, Delaware Valley air.

Mantelscape to sinkscape, it's time to re-do

By Joan Boram special writer

A dumpster on the front lawn is the status symbol of the '90s. It's what the Rolex and the BMW were to the

That's the latest from Home Magazine's merchandising editor, JoAnne Pier, speaking at a seminar co-spon-sored by Home and Schoolcraft College's Continuing Education Service in Livonia.

The theme of the program, at the Michigan Design Center in Troy, was "Redesign, Redecorate, Remodel" — the buzzwords of the '90s, according to Pier.

That's where the dumpster comes in. Pier didn't say whether dedicated trendies were abandoning last year's Rolexes and BMWs in the dumpster, but there seems to be room in there for almost everything else.

Traditionalists among us may think of redecorating in terms of new wallpaper or paint, but not those folks at

"Redecorating and remodeling are synergistic," said Joseph Reggiero, editor-in-chief of the California-edited publication. "Redecorating now means tearing down a wall to enlarge an area or to add a bath or potting corner. The ranch home of the 50s is being rethought

"Housing is prohibitively expensive; people just can't afford to move. A cheaper, more efficient use of money is to turn the attached garage into a master bedroom suite or to install custom-designed windows and French doors to open up a room to the outdoors."

MANY CALIFORNIA homes, influenced by indigenous Spanish architecture, are open to the environ-ment, hacienda-style. Master baths open to inner courtyards, kitchens and dining rooms to herb gardens. Often, shutters replace curtains, resulting in a less cluttered, Ruggiero predicts that, in the '90s, gardening will replace gourmet cooking. Why would anyone want to watch a souffle rise when they could watch a cabbage grow is his argument.

That's how we got the potting corner. After all, you can't very well throw your garden tools in the garage you've just turned it into a master bedroom suite. When you were a gourmet cook you displayed your copper Tablescapes and mantelscapes are an ideal place to show things you particularly like. This look could be changed using different acces-pots. Now that gardening is your thing, it's logical to display your garden tools. So just take a little space near the back door and strew the area with clay pots, pruning shears, a few seed packets and some nice black dirt. (But no pesticides; just leave them under the bed.)

It's part of the California rustica look, said Ruggiero, who moved to California from New York a year and a half ago. "Which is adapted from European country. Gardens are European, especially vest pocket gardens in the front yard.

"First impressions are very important. A combination of perennials - old fashioned flowers, such as hollyhocks, roses and daisies - along with pots filled with sories in an asymmetrical arrangement for a pleasant change of pace.

herbs that smell luscious as you come up the front walk, creates a much warmer, more welcoming, entrance than closely clipped grass and boxy foundation plant-

Together, Ruggiero and Pier elaborated on important new decorating elements of the '90s.

TO CREATE a personal style, mix textures and fin-ishes — real or simulated natural elements, such as stone, metal, natural grain woods, stoneware and tile. Fabrics are nubby and textural. Mix is what's important here. Minimalist is out.

American country is giving way to Eurocountry — a cohesive look, putting together a mix of styles, traditional blended with country. The days of one style furni-ture or one furniture finish are ended. No more relent-lessly "Mediterranean" rooms. Mix fabric patterns — plaid, floral, ribbons.

Pier said natural whites are the bridge between formal and casual. Shades and textures determine the mood. For example, an antique lace runner on a scrubbed pine table modifies the countryness of the table and adds a note of elegance. Queen Anne's lace in a silver teapot, completes the formal/country tableau.

"Grey was the neutral of the '80s. It was everywhere. The neutrals of the '90s are earth tones — taupe, brown, mocha. Jewel and spice tones are hot right now.

"But if you like pastels, as I do, stay with them. It's your home. The main thing is to suit yourself. Live with whatever you're most comfortable with."

TABLESCAPES AND mantelecapes are an important way of displaying both your personal interests and your good taste. A dish of vanilla creams and a pot of ivy just won't do it any more.

Pier cites an understandably anonymous authority who decrees that it's the kiss of death not to change the accessories in your tablescape once a week, a stunning blow if you expect a merit badge for dusting that often.

Tablescapes combine a melange of objects such as books, flowers (in non-traditional containers, such as a mug or a pitcher), a pretty plate, a piece of Majolica ware. All combine to achieve a French country look.

"Put a picture on the table and lean it against the wall," says Pier. "It's a very casual look, like you forgot Harmony is vital to a successful mantelscape. Unlike the charmingly disarrayed tablescape, the mantelpiece is a disciplined still life.

For an asymmetrical look, place everything at one side of the mantel, leaving the rest of the mantel bare. Such an arrangement might inleade an "important" piece of sculpture with Art Deco candlesticks or a "classical" steel of the sculpture with Art Deco candlesticks or a "classical" steel of the sculpture with Art Deco candlesticks or a "classical" steel of the sculpture with Art Deco candlesticks or a "classical" steel of the sculpture with Art Deco candlesticks or a "classical" steel of the sculpture with Art Deco candlesticks or a "classical" steel of the sculpture with Art Deco candlesticks or a "classical" steel of the sculpture with Art Deco candlesticks or a "classical" steel of the sculpture with Art Deco candlesticks or a "classical" steel of the sculpture with Art Deco candlesticks or a "classical" steel of the sculpture with Art Deco candlesticks or a "classical" steel of the sculpture with Art Deco candlesticks or a "classical" steel of the sculpture with Art Deco candlesticks or a "classical" steel of the sculpture with Art Deco candlesticks or a "classical" steel of the sculpture with Art Deco candlesticks or a "classical" steel of the sculpture with Art Deco candlesticks or a "classical" steel of the sculpture with Art Deco candlesticks or a "classical" steel of the sculpture with Art Deco candlesticks or a "classical" steel of the sculpture with Art Deco candlesticks or a "classical" steel of the sculpture with Art Deco candlesticks or a "classical" steel of the sculpture with Art Deco candlesticks or a "classical" steel of the sculpture with Art Deco candlesticks or a "classical" steel of the sculpture with Art Deco candlesticks or a "classical" steel of the sculpture with Art Deco candlesticks or a "classical" steel of the sculpture with Art Deco candlesticks or a "classical" steel of the sculpture with Art Deco candlesticks or a "classical" steel of the sculpture with Art Deco candlesticks or a "classical" steel of the sculpture with Art Deco candlesticks or a "classical" steel of the sculp sical" stoneware vase filled with flowers and one or two pictures layered against the wall.

Or, if your life is spent juggling career and family and housekeeping, you might just like to repair to the sink-scape and do the dishes.

Art alumni preserve Cranbrook splendor in show

special writer

Princeton University's Robert Judson Clark has said, "The influ-ence of Cranbrook is still with us, and is still being renewed."

The Cranbrook Academy of Art Alumni Show at Sybaris Gallery of Royal Oak through Aug. 25 lends credence to his statement. Art in the form of stoneware, screenprint on cotton, steel and bronze, woven construction, red earthenware, pewter

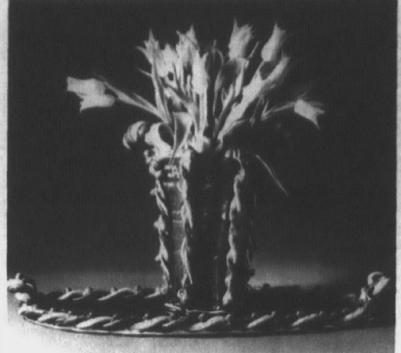

Jamie L. Goode has taken up the banner of "preserving our planet Earth." Her piece entitled "Mother Earth" was done in response to the outrage she felt after reading an article in the Smithsonian on the pollution of our waters. "I used my husband's Mig welder for this whole piece, working on it 10 hours a day and on the weekends."

Another of her works, a crucible with a cold forged and welded steel hand extending out of the top, holds an acorn. "I feel this is a hopeful piece. A great deal of my work has this kind of paradox."

The hand is used as a metaphor for the planet Earth and its fragile containment of resources. Her "Rusted Hand" exemplifies the result of the tons of waste being dumped into the earth, air and water and how we cross our fingers hoping it will go away.

Goode said, "We live with the fallacy that everything around us is ours for the taking, to do with as we this world in a state that can support

Vase and tray by Julie Terestman is of red earthenware.

Robin Claude McGee walked over to his pewter-textured tree trunk and casually lifted off the top. "It's a water pitcher, a teapot," he re-marked. "I'm a traditionalist at heart even though my images are different. I have a strong feeling toward utilitarian vessels."

He said he grew up near wooded areas and was hooked on the beauty please. It would please me to leave of trees. "One of the points of art is supplying enough information to build an image without doing it all for someone. Like a framework, you fill it in yourself."

THE THREAD in Randal Crawford's weaving is hand dyed over and over until it attains the exact shade he is searching for. His work is very slow, often taking many months to complete.

"I don't mind slow," he said. "I keep my spontaneity even when it takes months to finish.

All his pieces relate to the concept of journey. "A stripe records the dicurs, the line has been affected, the line marking the direction and measuring space. How far can I go be-fore a line is no longer a line? The different ways I can discover this line. What is the most interesting journey within the line?"
In his weaving, he records information and draws a path with threads. "I plot shapes within the given space and find new relationships as I continue. The cloth holds the memory of the experience."

"Frida's Quilt" came about as a result of a trip to Mexico, which JoAnn Giordano made with fellow students from Cranbrook. She uses screen prints to express her personal and social concerns.

"Social commentary and humor have been recurring themes in my work. The object, which seems pleasantly decorative at first glance, reveals another layer of meaning upon closer inspection." Her "Frida's Quilt" depicts the life of Frida Kahlo the painter, who was Diego Rivera's wife.

Her "Talisman For Frida" uses Mexican bingo cards as a border for one side of the print. "I used these cards because they're universal sym-

Others represented in this show are Doreen Mastandrea and Julie Terestman.

Sybaris Gallery is at 301 W. Fourth, Royal Oak. Hours are 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday-Saturday.

Antique bottle club presents show, sale

Old American glass? It's just glass, right? Wrong. It's American history retold in a handmade mixture of sand and heat that's beautiful and useful.

The 17th annual Metro Detroit Antique Bottle Club's show and sale will be Sunday, Aug. 12 at the Livonia Holiday Inn, I-275 and Six Mile.

Early American glass, in a range of shapes, colors and sizes, goes back to early colonial days and continues through our presidents and the introduction of the railroads (all shown on flasks), the patent medicine era (with its cures and tonics), the home canning period (with 4,000 different kinds of fruit jars) and the many early breweries and dairies (with pottery beer bottles and tin-topped milk

"Collecting early American glass is a hobby that gives an appreciation for history and geography, affords a network of friends from coast to coast and produces shelves filled with interest," said Richard Roosen, club member.

Prices will range from 50 cents to $5,000

Show-sale hours are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Admission is $2.

Hemingway is brought to life with two new stories

ecial writer

Granddaughter Margaux frolicing in a fish net in Playboy and two new short stories by Ernest Hemingway have shot the Papa legend full of more juice.

When he survived two fiery plane crashes in Africa, the novelist saluted Newsweek with a bunch of bananas in one hand and a pint of gin in the other. The broken-headed Papa roared that his luck was running good and denied worldwide bulletins that he was dead.

Hemingway, who said that reports of his demise were greatly exaggerated, today seems to be trashing detractors and obituary writers alike. Unlike Elvis, nobody has sighted Hemingway in a Burger King, but two new stories by the Nobel Prize winner, who killed himself in 1961. bring the writer back to literary life in smashing style.

Readers of "Philip Haines Was a Writer," which is thought to be Hemingway's last story, can rejoice that the writer kept his Rabelaisian good humor to the end. This manuscript discovered in the Hemingway collection of the Kennedy Library in Boston gives fans cause to celebrate. Its comic wit and sophistication have caused a furor.

THE OTHER story, "A Lack of Passion," is even more "inaccrochable" (novelist Gertrude Stein's word for unpublishable) than "Up in Michigan," the story set in Horton Bay, which was rejected for its frank depiction of sex on a dock on Lake Charlevoix.

Several fragmentary versions of "A Lack of Passion" touch on sodomy and homosexuality and Heming-way's venerable publisher, Charles Scribner, would have fainted at such unsavory subjects.

Even more troublesome is that the piece is strictly doze time. Only the most fervent Hemingway fans can wade through long, descriptive pas-sages about a pale, dumpy bull fighter who can't stab the animal and whose sexual prowess becomes a

Those who loved "Death in the Afternoon" and "The Dangerous Summer" will enjoy this newly discovpired by the writer's love of the bull spired by the writer's love of the bull ring. While academics quarrel about dating the story and Hemingway's handwritten changes, readers find the themes of tragedy and lost illusions memorable Hemingway.

Set in Paris, the Haines piece lays a trap for those hunting revelations of the much married Hemingway's personal life. Like Ernest, Haines loves his wife and yet innocently falls for her friend, Dorothy. Philip self-pitingly misses his hearth when self-pitingly misses his hearth when he divorces his spouse and must wait months for his lover to return from America.

Like the artist-hero of "Snows of Kilimanjaro," Philip regards himself as a "ruined writer" whose life depends on the mailboats and a note from Dorothy. Although neither of them knows it, the love affair ends with an exchange of angry correspondence.

The humor and vitality of Hemingway sing in those pages in which Philip buys new pajamas at the Carnival of Venice for a prospective conjugal night and then buys a pistol to protect a rented Citroen in which to surprise Dorothy.

THE IRONIC note on which the story closes underscores Philip's self-absorption which has left him with tragic realities to face.

He goes to see his wife when he is crazed from loneliness to find that she is about to marry someone else. When he hunts his returning lover on the ship at Havre, the bad air and the iron smell of the liner underscore human inflexibility and failure.

Those who want to read these two stories may join the Ernest Hemingway Society and receive the Hemingway Review and newsletter as part of the $18 annual dues. Hemingway spent his first 22 summers in the Horton Bay area on Walloon Lake and wrote his famous Nick Adams stories about his Michigan

Livonia Symphony puts dulcet tones 'under the stars'

The Livonia Symphony Orchestra will present a "Music Under the Stars" concert 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 16 at the Livonia Civic Center. Five Mile and Farmington Road.

The free concert will be moved indoors in case of rain to the Madonna College Activities Building, Levan and Schoolcraft.

Conductor Francesco DiBlasi has invited Cynthia Lark, mezzo soprano from Livonia, to appear as guest artist. She will perform excerpts from "The King and I" by Rodgers and Hammerstein and an aria from "The Barber of Seville" by Rossini.

A candidate for the master of music degree in vocal performance at the University of Connecticut, Lark has sung roles in Mascagni's "Cavalleria Rusticana" with the Opera Theatre of Connecticut and in Puccini's 'Suor Angelica" at the Chautauqua Institution as well as scenes with the University of Connecticut Opera

Theatre. The Michigan State graduate also has appeared with the Cleveland Orchestra and the Opera Company of Greater Lansing. While a student at the Cleveland Institute of Music, she was a member of the Robert Page Singers and was featured soloist with the group.

This year, she performed with the University of Connecticut Symphony

Cynthia Lark guest artist

Orchestra as a winner of the student concerto competition.

DiBlasi will lead the orchestra in the "Overture to Candide" by Leonard Bernstein, a portion of "Peer Gynt Suite" by Edvard Grieg,' "Hungarian March" by Hector Berlioz and "American Salute" by Morton Gould.

The evening's performance will conclude with John Philip Sousa's "Stars and Stripes Forever."

Museum drops to 5-day week

Facing a $1.8 million operating deficit during the 1990-91 fiscal year, the Detroit Institute of Arts will be open to the public five days a of budget and program adjustments week, Wednesday-Sunday, DIA director Samuel Sachs II has an erating budget deficit. nounced.

The new schedule went into effect this week.

"We reluctantly depart from our previous six-day public schedule in order to save approximately $350,000 in utilities and other operating costs," Sachs said.

Closing to the public on Tuesday is the single most cost-effective measure recommended by the museum's budget and financial studies. Other less-visible economies are being implemented during the coming weeks.

NEARLY A year ago, the Arts Commission and DIA trustees and staff began an internal examination

Over the past five years, the DIA has increased private sector fund raising, installed new financial control and management systems, and made substantial capital improvements to the building, while maintaining a balanced budget.

The total DIA financial activity budget has been in the range of $30 million in fiscal 1988-89 and 1989-90.

Annual financing from the state of Michigan in support of the DIA operating budget remains unchanged at the actual purchasing power of only $12 million, compared to 1985-86.

THE COMBINATION of city and state financing supports a significant part of the DIA's total annual financial budget activity. The other parts are provided by private sector financial support from individuals, corporations, foundations and endowments generated by the museum's Founder's Society, and earned income from ticket sales, Museum Shop sales and other program revenues.

Private sector support and other program revenues have increased for each of the past five years. Even nized performing arts program."

$16 million for the eighth year. Due this response has not been sufficient to inflation, $16 million today has to fully offset inflationary cost increases and flat public sector support. The museum projects continuing operating deficits in the range of $1.5 to $2.5 million annually.

"We have looked at every expenditure so we can continue to offer visual and performing arts program-ming of highest quality.

"We refuse to lower the quality of the DIA collection, exhibitions and programs, so the only resort is to trim an already lean operating budget and still maintain our strength as Michigan's foremost art resource. ranking among the country's most comprehensive fine arts collections, and featuring a nationally recog-

IN TODAY'S JOB MARKET EMPLOYERS WANT MORE THAN THE SAME OLD B.S.

Every year, over a million new college graduates put on their new blue suits and go job hunting

All of them have degrees. Most of them have hearty handshakes. But very few have what employers want most — practical work experience.

That's why there's a nationwide program called Cooperative Education. It allows students to alternate studies at the college of their choice with paid, practical work experience in the career of their choice.

So Co-op Education students graduate with more than a degree. They have practical knowledge. And a competitive advantage in today's crowded job market. And that sure beats trying to B.S. your way into a job.

The Crossings At Canton.

Apartment living just got better.

We're making The Crossings a better place to live and a better value. You'll feel it in the new hallways and newly refurbished clubhouse. You'll see it in the plush landson ing when you enter the grounds. And that's just the beginning. It's the new look and feel of The Crossings at Canton—and it's for you.

The Crossings at Canton offers 19 different floorplans with 1 to 4 bedrooms. And whether you choose a 2-level townhome or a luxury apartment, the renewed beauty of this charming rental community shines through in every one - the result of our recent "Capital Improvements & Upgrading" program. These apartments and townhomes are the largest in the area, yet are still incredibly affordable.

writing a classified ad that gets results—whether it be for real estate, employment, the personals, transportation, or merchandise— is easy if you follow the guidelines below.

1. Give the reader specific Information. Pretend you are someone reading the classifieds. What would you like to know about the item, service or job you are advertising? Be sure to add details such as color, size, condition, brand name, age, features and benefits. Be accurate! Don't embellish your ad with misleading information. Stick to the facts and reap the

2. Include the price. Don't waste your time or a potential buyer's time. If you advertise the price of the item or service you offer, the people who respond to your ad will be those who are genuinely interested. Surveys show that readers are more interested in those items and services they know are within their price range.

3. Avoid abbreviations. Don't make a potential customer work too hard! Although you may be tempted to cut down on the cost of your aci by using appreviations, surveys indicate that many people don't understand such abbreviations as EIK (eat-in kitchen) or WSW (white side wall) tires and won't take the time to figure them out. A confused reader is a

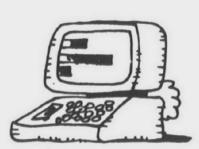

Include phone number and specify hours. Be sure to let potential customers know when and where to call. Surveys show that even if a person is very interested in your item or service, he or she will not call back after the first attempt. Stay near the phone during the hours you indicate you will be available. Don't risk missing a

Now is the time to clear out those closets, attics, basements and garages and make some quick cash in the process.

How do you plan a garage sale?

Just follow these simple guidelines:

- 1. Gather together the items you have for sale. Sort them into appropriate categories and price them fairly.
- 2. Place a classified advertisement in The Observer & Eccentric by calling one of the numbers below.
- 3. Hang signs throughout your neighborhood alerting residents to the upcoming sale.
- 4. Decide what to do with all the money you'll have after your sale!

Or, if you love to bargain-hunt and would rather shop then sell, be sure to look for our special garage sale listings every Monday and Thursday in your hometown newspaper. Observer & Eccentric classifieds make it easy to earn money and save money. Discover for yourself, today!

Thursday, August 9, 1990 O&E

Computer imaging can make a concept a reality by translating an architect's vision

Designers love dealing with computer imaging

By Gerald Frawley staff writer

For those who look at a blueprint and just don't get it, computer imaging may

Over the years, architects, builders, landscapers, interior designers and others in the building trades have grappled with the challenge of explaining concepts with two-dimensional drawings.

The solution? Union high deficition

The solution? Using high-definition computer imaging, architects can now graphically depict what a project will look like before work is even begun.

"It's like a Polaroid into the future," New Image Systems of Michigan Inc. president Rick Skiba said. New Image, in Warren, also has offices in the Design Center in Troy and plans to expand to Royal Oak.

Although still in its infancy, computer imaging already has many applications, Skiba said.

New Image sells both hardware and software to the building trades as well as other types of businesses, including cosmetic surgeons, dentists, hair salons, clothing designers, and even furniture

COMPUTER IMAGING systems cost from $9,000 to $33,000, but the average system is in the $15,000 to $20,000 range, Skiba said.

"At one time, the architects and designers were very skeptical of this," Skiba said. Creative people have frowned on computer imaging because it seems cold when compared to artists renderings done by hand, he said.

"But now they've found it not only enhances creative ability, but it speeds up the process," Skiba said.

Maurice Parkins, president of the municipal planning consultant firm Maurice Parkins Associates in Bingham Farms, said he has done a great deal of research into computer imaging and is currently learning how to use a system. "I'm really excited about it," Parkins

'We activiate one area, move it, tip, turn it, change it's color, add perspective - all without affecting the rest (of the image).'

> - Brian Pontillo design consultant said, adding that when a delegation of Soviet officials were in town last November, they were intrigued - as is he with computer imaging's possible uses in planning.

THE MOST impressive thing about computer imaging is its speed, Parkins said. "Let's say a builder who is building a subdivision has a model home, but a customer wants to see what it would look like with a wrap-around porch. That would take an artist a couple of days or maybe weeks (to draw a rendering). With computer imaging you can do it in min-utes or hours," Parkins said.

Computer Imaging is not a complex thing to learn, Parkins continued. "It depends on the ability of the student, of course, but it's no more difficult than taking a college course."

Brian Pontillo, design consultant with New Image, said most people can learn computer imaging in a couple of days.

"IT'S NOT difficult," he said. For example, if an office building owner wishes to add a new wing, the operator records an image of the existing site with a video camera.

Then, the video camera is hooked up to a computer that converts the image into data that can be read by the system, Pontillo said.

Once that is done, an architect can select items from a computer data base and superimpose these images over the old site to illustrate the new construction, Pontillo said.

The computer data base includes images of decks, spas, pools, plants, windows, doors and a variety of different surfaces that can be used to construct an entire house or building, Pontillo said.

If a new wall surface is developed, users can add it to the data base by taking a picture of the surface and loading it into the computer, he added. Pontillo said computer imaging works with blueprints or computer-aided drawing programs, changing a two-dimen sional drawing into an image almost indistinguishable from a photograph, he ed, computer images can be manipulated in size, shape, color and perspective without affecting the rest of the representation, he said. "We activate one area, move it, tip,

BECAUSE THEY are object-orientatturn it, change its color, add perspective - all without affecting the rest (of the image)," he said. The result is a very realistic image that can nearly pass as a photograph, Pontillo said.

Computer images can also be made to have an animated look which enables an architect to highlight a particular area, Pontillo said. Cessily Thalacker, design communications director with New Image, said computer imaging allows an architect or designer to very quickly convey an idea or concept with photograph-like clarity. "This is more important than most people realize because 30 percent of the population — and that's a conservative estimate — cannot envision a finished product from a flat drawing.

The bottom line is this is a creative tool," Thalacker said. Computer imaging is not meant to eliminate artistic renderings, but to be an extension of them, she

PHILIP DONDERO, manager of the Oakland County Planning Commission - which bought a computer imaging system at the start of the year - said the planning department uses computer

"It allows us to visually depict some thing so they can see what the heck we're talking about," Dondero said.

For example, there was a proposal to double the height of telephone poles in Oakland Township along designated scenic drives, Dondero said. "So we went out there with a video camera, took some pictures, and then sat down with the township people to show them what it would really look like."

Other recent uses of computer imaging include the landscaping of Oakland County's rails-to-trails program, in which abandoned railroad right-of-ways are converted to bike paths, and the pro-

al statue at the Oakland County Service

The planning department uses the sys-tem weekly, Dondero said, adding he thinks Thalacker's estimate that 30 percent of all people have difficulty concep-tualizing from two-dimensional drawings is too conservative.

New Image president Skiba said in addition to reducing time spent on renderings and helping to present ideas and concepts visually, computer imaging can help reduce a client's cost. "I worked in the architectural end and I know renderings can cost anywhere from $200 to

This kitchen ultimate in style

(AP) — If the 16th-century classical Roman architect Andrea Palladio were asked to design a kitchen for the 23rd-century starship Enterprise, it might look something like the one in this year's Kips Bay decorator show house in New York.

The stark yet luxurious black-and-white recent priced into air figures.

white room, priced into six figures, was designed by Eric Bernard to, according to him, make people in tuxe-dos look good. Features, he said, are "a ceiling that looks like a cathedral, a floor for an emperor's chamber and a range hood that looks like a pipe organ.

"Although 90 percent of my clients have a catering service or a cook, I thought it would be silly not to make the working part as easy and enjoyable as possible."

Thus he incorporated all the technological bells and whistles he could find. There are voice activated ap-find. There are voice-activated appliances, a revolving pantry, a garbage recycling system and a compu-terized scale that not only weighs you but suggests a diet when you've gained a few pounds.

The kitchen, 14-by-28 feet, is divided into three domed sections. The main circular work space is in the large central area. Entering the room, you find a multi-screened computer and audiovisual system. At the other end, in an alcove, is an oversize refrigerator with glass doors and the electrified pantry

WHILE THE LOOK is stunning — black granite counters, rounded white laminate cabinetry, smoked glass doors, glass domed ceilings and black-and-white Italian tile floors it's the technology that seems more

The voice-activated system, which can be programmed to recognize up to four voices, can turn lights and television on and off, start and stop the toaster, coffee maker, blender and food processor, and start moving the pantry shelves so you can easily retrieve a can of peas or a package of spaghetti.
The computer that can be linked to a bathroom scale has been pro-grammed to provide nutritional in-formation and recipes. If a list of foods on hand is kept up to date, the computer could list needed supplies, print out shopping lists for specific recipes and indicate appropriate recipes for dieters. Hookups between the videocasette recorder and computer make it possible to watch. puter make it possible to watch a cooking demonstration and then call up the recipe.

The pantry works like an electri-fied dumbwaiter. The compact unit has a series of shallow shelves that move up and down with the touch of a button. Instead of reaching up or down for the desired item, you press a button and wait for the item to come to you. Manual operation is possible, too, in case of power failure. Each shelf holds up to 50

BERNARD SAYS it would cost $200,000 to $300,000, depending on equipment, to duplicate the kitchen for a client. Of course, it didn't cost the sponsors anywhere near that because materials and labor were charitable contributions.

Contractor Ray Beech said this kitchen is different in degree more ens. The waste disposal system — a prototype — is designed with recycling in mind. Four chutes deliver sorted trash to separate containers in the basement. Beech said similar, less expensive, systems already are on the market.

The voice activator has been installed in 6,000 houses and costs $4,500. The pantry carousel is $8,000, not including labor and in-stallation. Computers already are a part of many kitchens, which these days are likely to be viewed as family rooms as well, he said.

It took Bernard seven weeks to complete the show house kitchen, a minor miracle in these days of construction delays. After just four weeks on display, it is destined to be dismantled unless the new owner of the house (a Japanese businessman) decides to pay to keep it.

The Kips Bay show house raises money for the Kips Bay Boys' and Girls' Club in the Bronx and for programs at two nearby schools.

"I like to poke fun at people who try to pretend outhouses never existed," says the public information specialist for Southern Illinois University-Edwardsville.

castle in Switzerland,

There were the portable outhouses with wheels, outhouses with window boxes and the occasional brick model with a fireplace. Some discriminating homeowners built two-sided structures, one for women, the other for men. Some homeowners tried to blend the privy into the architectural style of the home.

"If they had gingerbread trim on their house, they built the out-house to match. If they carpeted their floors, they carpeted the privy floors and seats, too.

The half-moon carved in many an outhouse door was utilitarian as well as decorative - it provided ventilation.

The sign of privy refinement was the type of catalog the owner offered as an early forerunner to toilet paper. Sears, Roebuck and Co. was the Cadillac of catalogs, Walter said.

"If you went into an outhouse and found both Sears and Montgomery Ward catalogs of the past season, you knew you were in a house of high means," she said.

Although the first indoor toilet was built by Sir John Harington in England in the 1500s, indoor plumbing didn't catch on until 300 years later when Thomas Crapper improved Harington's invention.

Outhouses came in from the cold in the United States around the turn of the century in the homes of wealthy urbanites. It took 40 more years before they became common in country homes.

To fight crime in Philly, people plant posies.

"The bad part of town" Abandoned cars. Sidewalks scattered with crack vials. Bombed-out buildings

A neighborhood whose spirit is as broken as the bits of glass that dot the street. There are only two things to do if your neighborhood becomes a war zone: give up or take action.

The Philadelphia Story One day, in the "bad part" of Philadelphia, a neighbor complained to a neighbor. And then to another. And then to more. People didn't like their homes being "taken over." Feelings of helplessness and resentment turned to action.

They went to the police for help. Soon a substation was established where folks could readily report crime. Weekly meetings began. Community watches started. Things started getting fixed up. Vacant lots were cleaned up and fenced. Abandoned cars were towed away. Painting and repairing programs began.

The neighborhood was cleaning itself up. The local 4-H Club even helped set up garden clubs where kids, teens and adults could work together on plants and flowers while talking over ways to raise awareness.

When people care and get involved, neighborhoods change. When a block doesn't look like a haven for crime and drugs, it won't be. And in this part of Philly, where once only apathy grew, seven gardens now bloom. This is only one success story of many. To find out what can be done in your neighborhood, write: The McGruff Files, 1 Prevention Way, Washington, D.C., 20539-0001. And help...
