Fest begins weekend of food and fun

It's that time of year to put our diets on hold for the weekend and take part in the smorgasbord served up at Plymouth's annual

On the menu at The Gathering is chicken, veal, spaghetti and steak. Booths along Main Street will offer up everything from hot dogs to Italian sausage.

The event gets going at 5:30 p.m. Thursday and continues until 6 p.m. Sunday. During the four days, the event is expected to attract thousands of visitors to Plymouth. (See our special section on the Fall Festival inside of today's paper.)

According to the National Weather Service, Mother Nature will be in a cooperative mood for the most of the weekend.

The mid-week long-range forecast calls for a weekend of fairly mild weather and fair conditions.

"We're looking at high pressure over the southern lakes, so it looks like it'll be fairly mild with fair conditions and below-normal temperatures," said Gail Hartfield, meteorologist trainee with the National Weather Service at Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

Hartfield said there'll be a chance of thundershowers tomorrow with a high Friday in the mid-

"The high on Saturday should be in the mid-70's, and our computers are calling for a high of 73 on Sunday with clear skies," she said.

But even if there is some wet weather, it will be dry at The Gathering on Penniman across from Kellogg Park. That's where most of the major events will be held.

For those who can't make it to all the events or who would like to

Barbecue is nothing to squawk about

By Kevin Brown staff writer

You don't need to publicize it, we said. The Rotary Club Chicken Barbecue, at noon Sunday at Kellogg Park, has long been a feature of Plymouth's Fall Festival. Everybody knows about it, we said.

If you cook them, they will come, we said. But he's an ornery, persistent - and, dare we add, oud-mouthed old rooster. Of course, we're talking about none other than Foghorn Leghorn, of Warner Brothers cartoon fame. He's the self-appointed executive director of publicity

SO WE agreed to the story, if only to quiet him down.

Q. Well Mr. Leghorn, how did you come to head publicity for the chicken barbecue? A. "I say, I say son, the business, the cartoon business - it ain't what it used to be. And all I hear, I say, all I hear around the ol' henhouse is, 'Foghorn, when are you gonna get a job?' It's about to drive, I say, drive a poor boy crazy, all the time nag, nag, nag.

Q. Ahem. Well Mr. Leghorn, it does seem that a fowl celebrity, I mean, celebrity fowl like yourself could scratch out a good living by endorsing Kentucky Fried Chicken, Holly Farms or Chicken McNuggets. Get any

A. (Clearing his crop) "No."

Q. We can't imagine why.

A. "WELL, YOU see, it's like this: My boy, everybody is into 'lite' this lo-cal that exerci derstand what I'm tellin' you, boy? Well, them highfalutin' executives are sayin' ol' Foghorn is a might too hefty - I mean fat, boy - to represent their product. They say people will think their chicken is unhealthy if this ol' bird's picture is on the box. It's hogwash, son, hogwash. I mean, I say boy, I've never been (clears crop) sick a day (clears crop again) in my life!" (Coughs several times.)

Q. Here's a glass of water, Mr. Leghorn.

A. "Thank you, son. (He drinks.) Say boy, you wouldn't have anything a little stronger for ol' Foghorn to sip on now, would you?"

As new site for Arts Council

By Kevin Brown staff writer

Old Village backers are trying to encourage the Plymouth Community Arts Council to seek a new headquarters in an Old Village church.

"It already has an office, air conditioning, classrooms, it's been renovated recently, it's ready to go," said Mark Oppat, Old Village Association

And for Old Village, "It would really be a nice thing, it would put the icing on the cake," Oppat said.

The property is the Praise Chapel
Church of God at 585 N. Mill. While it's not for sale right yet, "The church is going to go on the market," said Pastor Rod Trusty, as church members are seeking land in town on which to build a new church.

Last week, the city commission agreed to explore a possible addition to the Plymouth Cultural Center to house galleries and classroom space for the arts council.

Arts council director Kay Jaeger, who has toured the Praise Chapel Church with Oppat, said it was too early to talk about which facility the council likes best. "I think the arts council is trying to pursue all options and see what's available," she said.

Oppat said that if the arts council opted for the church site, those who use the facility would be closer to restaurants and shops.

The arts council board was scheduled to tour the church on Wednes-

Trusty said the church was appraised at $379,000 last year. Since then, "We have done some improvements, and there's been a year's escalation in property values," he said. The arts council had sought to use the Wilcox Mill in Hines Park, but that would have required "a significant amount of renovation and costs for upkeep," said City Manager Gordon Jaeger. The arts council is seeking state grant money to pay for a place to locate an office, gallery and classrooms.

The council awards more than $3,000 each year to talented local

Student 'skips' school to follow sun down under By Kevin Brown

Unlike her University of Michigan classmates, Plymouth's Paula Finnegan will spend part of the fall semester driving a solar-powered car through the Australian desert. Because the U-M Sunrunner solar car finished first July 19 in the General Motors Sunrace USA, it qualified to run in the World Solar Challenge, which begins Nov. 11. The race opens in Darwin in northern Australia, and finishes in Adelaide, 1,900 miles to the south. Finnegan, 21, said it's OK that

Today's young adults share concern

The twenty-something generation: Fairly or unfairly, it's been characterized as an overly sensitive group that is responding in specific ways to having grown up in an era of drugs,

James Tokarz, 14, says even though a lot of things are changing, he doesn't see many differences between the freshmen of 1990 and the freshmen of divorce and economic strain. These young adults - born during a time when the U.S. birthrate dropped to half the rate of its postwar peak — is postponing adulthood and delaying relationships in an effort to avoid hurt and risk Sometimes called "baby busters," these young people prefer shortterm tasks that bring tangible results. They take a passive approach to overwhelming social problems have a taste for travel to exotic

What do they share with today's high school freshmen that sets them apart from older Americans? HEALTHY DOSES of self-direction and a desire to obtain high-paying jobs in order to afford the finer things in life. And an enhanced awareness of the drug scene, AIDS, sex and a higher possibility of being victimized by crime. Differences are emerging between the age groups as well. More of today's high school freshmen work. "In many ways, there's more pres-sure to achieve academically," said Charlotte Sherman, assistant principal at John Glenn High School in Westland. "The guaranteed jobs aren't there, and they know it. More of them are going to work," she added. "Ten years ago, ninth and 10th graders never worked after school. Now it's very common. They assume more responsibility for earning a share of their expenses.' Agreed Dawn Virant, a ninthgrader at Garden City Junior High: 'Most of my friends want to go to college and get a job so they can earn money. Earning a lot of money is a big thing. They want everything; like a big house, a nice car and the ability to travel. Younger kids are working so they don't have to depend on their parents for money. You need that to fit in.' Classmate Neil Marano said family ranks up there too, "because they do everything for you. The way you get these expensive clothes is usually KUBIAK HAS put off marriage and family because "I've seen too much. I've seen too many people who've not stayed together; too many men who have lost their kids because of divorce. I've even seen women who've lost their kids or are under too much of a stain raising kids on their own.'

"Personally, I'd like to hope that the increased materialism that's shown up over the past decade or so in surveys of high school seniors doesn't represent a permanent difference, but differences in the national mood," Bachman said. "I'm hoping those will change, and when they do change, that we won't be stuck with one generation of people moving through the whole life cycle permanently set on a materialistic mode." AN ENCOURAGING trend is the decreasing popularity of drugs among high school seniors, added

Pam Yockey has taught for 14 years and coached for 25 in southeastern Michigan school districts. She notes definite differences between today's high school freshmen and their counterparts of 1980. Yockey's 1984 John Glenn High School graduates were dynamic, adult and very much in command of their lives, she said. "They have very high goals for themselves. They know exactly where they are going and what they are going to do. They don't have patience for the older generation right now. Even if these young people have come from troubled backgrounds or have experienced serious problems, they bounce back and doggedly pur-sue their goals, she said. While they may be concerned about environmental and other issues, "they're still trying to set their life.' Today's freshman, says Yockey, are smarter, and a bit more street-

They know a little more about drugs. It's no longer a drug scene just for kids. Now it's showing up in homes, and showing up in homes with parents. What's allowed on TV today I don't think we would have seen 10 years ago," she added. While the younger generation hasn't lost its curiosity, "this group is not as adventurous," Yockey said. Many of them are growing up with less parental support and in singleparent households. Because the world has grown less safe, kids today are more restricted and are therefore not as adept at decision-making and acting independently. "Because they can't go out and experiment safely, they don't pick up on things. They wait for things to arrive in

For many of today's freshmen and teachers, the information explosion which sees our total knowledge double every six weeks - is proving overwhelming, Yockey said. 'We're expecting them to know so much. There's so much that kids today are going to have to be special-

But while older communities struggle to maintain their current population, Canton is more than happy with it's growth.

PAC rates candidates in MSU trustee race

By Tim Richard staff writer

The Green and White Political Action Committee will get a test of its clout this weekend when the two major parties nominate candidates for the Michigan State University board.

"We determined which candidates are qualified to seek the nominations," said Kevin A. Kelly, chair of the 13-member panel of mostly MSU alumni.

Three of five interviewed candidates received the "qualified" rat Larry Owen, incumbent Democrat seeking re-election, an East Lansing attorney.

Dee Cook, of Greenville, a Republican already tapped by gubernatorial nominee John Engler for the ticket.

 Gerald M. Finch, a certified public accountant from Jackson who has audited MSU's books.

Engler, however, passed over Finch's name and Tuesday picked retired MSU administrator John Shingleton of East Lansing to run for the MSU board. AMONG MEMBERS of Green and White PAC are veterinarian Dr. John Richardson, former mayor of Farmington and past president of the state veterinary medicine association, and Bruce McCristal, of Bloomfield Hills, an industrial executive.

One member, associated with Engler, didn't take part in the interviews. Others are business and professional people, Democrats and Republicans, from around the state. Kelly is executive director of the Michigan State Medical Society.

"Later we'll interview the sctual nominees," said Kelly, "and make our endorsements. The total we have to contribute will be $10,000 to $15,000.

Green and White PAC's "qualified" list was circulated to the candidates, party chairs and state party committee members.

Sixteen people wrote to the PAC but only five sought interviews, Kelly said.

THE GREEN and White PAC was born in 1987 and rejuvenated this year in the wake of several controversies at MSU.

The biggest was the board's 5-3 decision to give football coach George Perles the additional job of athletic director over the objection of President John DiBiaggio.

Others had to do with closed meetings of the board, athletes on steroids, a tuition increase that prompted Gov. James Blanchard to veto MSU's appropriation, and a shantytown protest.

Richardson said MSU must have excellent governance because of its next-door location to the state capital. The campus newspaper is distributed from it the Could Building

The PAC seeks candidates who preferably are alumni or have a demonstrated interest in MSU, have management and fiscal experience and be "team players."

A 1988 candidate had no ties to MSU. And there is great disagreement in political circles, Richardson added, as to how deeply board members should be involved in day-to-day campus business.

Airport group plans to meet with citizens

By Wayne Peal staff writer

County residents unhappy about airplane noise will have their say before a special county committee. Meetings before unhappy homeowhers will be scheduled, possibly before the end of the month, said airport noise committee chairwoman Susan Hubbard.

"I can't say whether it will be public hearings as such, but we are interested in meeting with home-owners," said Hubbard, a county ioner whose district includes Dearborn. Committee members are looking at western Wayne meeting sites.

Members of a citizen anti-noise group apparently can't wait for the meetings to be held.

"Once they schedule them, we'll come," said Dearborn attorney David I. From a scales man for the vid J. Esper, a spokesman for the Committee Against Airport Noise (CAAN). Petitions circulated by the citizens group forced a November referendum on airport expansion.

While CAAN's proposal seeks to block $100 million in airport expansion at Detroit Wayne County Metropolitan Airport, the county committee is steering clear of ex-

"WE'RE JUST looking at how we can reduce noise," Hubbard said. "We aren't concerning ourselves with airport expansion at Toward that end, committee members are investigating noise reduction techniques at 15 other airports nationwide. They're also looking at a series of noise reduc-tion methods that had earlier been rejected for flights at Detroit Metropolitan Wayne County Airport.

Ideas under consideration include engine noise mufflers, to be added at airlines' expense, and maximum noise standards, with fines assessed against airlines whose planes exceed limits.

"We expect to have about half our work done by the time of our next meeting (Thursday, Sept. 13)," Hubbard said.

Esper, who attended the committee's first meeting last week, said he was cautiously optimistic a solution could be found tell whether it's going to be a sin-cere effort, or whether this is just being done for political purposes," Esper said. "But we are hopeful something will be accomplished."

County commissioners formed the committee last month due to rising complaints about new flight patterns at Metro.

Committee members include area commissioners Kay Beard, D-Inkster and Kevin Kelley, D-Redford. Beard's district includes Westland and Garden City. Commissoners Ricardo Solomon of Detroit and downriver commissioner Edward Boike round out the committee's membership.

Flights have primarily been redirected over Dearborn but noise complaints have surfaced among Livonia, Garden City, Westland and Redford neighborhoods. Flights were redirected as a safety mea sure, according to the Federal Aviation Administration.

CAAN's petitions were recently upheld by the county clerk's office. The issue will appear on the Tuesday, Nov. 6 election ballot.

The proposal involves $100 mil-lion, in bonds for a new 3,200-car airport parking structure - a part of a planned $1 billion airport improvement project.

Group members said they filed petitions under a little-used provision of state bond law because there was no provision for a direct vote on airport expansion or noise.

County Executive Edward McNamara's staff members have said the vote could jeopardize further expansion and, in the long term, force Northwest Airlines -Metro's main carrier - to move services to other airports.

Anti-freeze solutions containing toxic and cancer-causing substances have been discharged from airport drains into the Detroit River, eventually reaching Lake Erie, according to a report filed by the Southeastern Michigan Environmental Resource Association, Inc. (SMERA)

The problem centers on ethylene glycol, a de-icing solution similar to automobile anti-freeze, and 1,4-dioxane, a cancer-causing by-product.

Though the airport has a permit to discharge the substance, SMERA found airport discharges exceeded the permit's mandated safety level 373 times over the past two years.

Because of excessive discharges, the DNR has deemed the airport in non-compliance with safety standards since December. Airport and DNR officials have met periodically since then to discuss the problem.

"The problem is that anti-freeze runs off the planes and is carried along with rain water and melting snow," deputy county executive Mi-chael Duggan said. "The solution is that we need to modify our retention system, separating the ethylene glycol from storm water."

Heavy flooding near the airport occurred last March because retention ponds were already full with the anti-freeze material, Duggan said.

Discharges pose a greater hazard to fish, DNR spokesman Powers

"The problem is it takes a lot of oxygen to break it down," he said. "It could lead to a lack of oxidation in the water and that could result in fish kills or an inhibition of fish reproduction."

As for 1,4-dioxane, Powers said: "We're confident dioxane is going to be well below the level of danger if the airport remains in compliance."

The SMERA report, however, lists 1,4-dioxane as a major risk.

Dioxane, an impurity that occurs within glycol, is different from more heavily publicized dioxins such as Agent Orange.

"When one realizes that a mere four ounces of ethylene glycol will kill an adult and that 13 10-milconstitutes the daily carcinogenic dose, you an begin to appreciate our concerns," SMERA members said in

Engler taps Miller to challenge Austin

By Tim Richard staff writer

Republican Judy Miller will run an issues-oriented campaign to unseat Democrat Richard Austin, whom some pundits call "secretary of state for life."

"Age will not be an issue," quipped gubernatorial nominee John Engler, who tapped Miller, 54, of Birmingham, to challenge the 77-year-old in-cumbent seeking an unprecedented

'She's a veteran campaigner who can talk knowledgeably on a wide array of issues," Engler told a Wednesday morning news confer-ence in the Bloomfield Township

He cited Miller's four years on the Birmingham City Commission and six years as a state representative, with service on the elections and state affairs committees, two panels that deal with Department of State tin had gone too far in seeking voters registration through his office rather than local clerks.

One priority will be "accountability in the area of campaign financing," she said. Engler added he wanted to do away with officeholder expense funds.

Miller said she would promote ways for better public service. Would that include providing seating for people who have to wait in long lines at the Secretary of State's off-ice? "That would be a wonderful thing to do," she replied.

Both frowned on the notion, popular among some Democrats, of same-day voter registration. "No way," said Miller.

T've never been an advocate of it because of the difficulty with security," added Engler. "I don't think it's an undue restriction on the right to vote to have people register in ad-

MILLER WILL be the third Oak-MILLER AND Engler agreed Aus- land County Republican in four elections to challenge Austin. Others were state Rep. Mel Larsen of Lake Orion (1978) and Bloomfield Township trustee Weldon Yeager (1986).

Engler's announcement, leaked to the press a day earlier, ended weeks of speculation that Miller would be on the ticket after an unsuccessful run for a state Senate nomination.

"Election night, John came to my party, and I indicated I would do whatever I could to get him elected governor," she said. "I began reading about it (her name on the ticket) in — well, the newspapers."

A native of Detroit, Miller attended high school and Western Reserve University in Ohio. She and husband Steven have two children, Elizabeth and John. From 1976-84 she owned a dressmaking service. Memberships include the League of Women Vot-ers, Birmingham Republican Women's Club, American Association of University Women and Birmingham/Bloomfield Art Association.

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON En-

gier completed the partisan part of the Nov. 6 state GOP ticket by endorsing Lansing attorney Cliff Tay-lor for attorney general. It made him the first gubernatorial candi-date in modern times to endorse every candidate on the ticket, leaving the GOP state convention in Detroit this weekend little to do but rubber

Tuesday Engler endorsed three more education ticket candidates:

 Marv Esch, 63, of Ann Arbor, former 2nd District congressman and 1976 Senate nominee — for the University of Michigan Board of Regents. Now president of The Communications Group, Inc. Each tought at nications Group, Inc., Esch taught at U-M in the 1960s.

 Shirley McFee, mayor of Battle Creek — for U-M. A former teacher and college instructor, he has served on the Calhoun County board.

 John Shingleton, retired place-ment director of Michigan State University - for the MSU board.

All 14 posts on the state ballot are held by Democrats.

months of speculation about his running mate by tapping Olivia (Libby) Maynard for lieutenant governor.

"I look forward as lieutenant governor to playing an even larger role in helping the governor move Michigan forward," said Maynard, 54, who has directed the Office of Services to the Aging for Blanchard's eight years in office.

The Flint resident was the 1978 candidate for the same job when held for two terms.

Fall Festival

Nothing trendy, just tradition

T'S THAT TIME of year again. The kids are back in school, Labor Day is behind us and fall is just around the corner.

But before the leaves turn there will be enough chickens turned on the grills at Plymouth's annual Fall Festival to give the Kentucky colonel a run for his spices.

NO. THERE AREN'T any new, dramatic or trendy additions to the festival which runs Thursday through Sunday at and around Kellogg Park. However, that's the charm of the Fall Festival. Folks around here just don't need to get trendy to have a good time.

As far as we're concerned, the big news this year is that the women of the Plymouth Grange won't be here for the first time. The folks at the Grange dished out a taste of the Midwest in the basic, American food they served.

But while they will be missed, there will be plenty of food to keep us full and activities to keep us interested.

Here's our itinerary of free events for the fes-

On Thursday night it's the opening ceremony and music. The festival starts at 5:30 p.m. with a performance by Johny Chase and His Magic Musie Sound. The opening ceremonies and city beautification awards are set for 6:30 p.m.

On Friday night there's more music with the Dowariver Dulcimers and Innovation Variety Music, a band. The events start at 5 p.m.

Oh Saturday things get started at 9 a.m. with the Optimist Pet Show and end at 7:30 p.m. when the Johnny Trudell Orchestra performs. In between there will be Irish step dancers, Polish dancers, clowns and other bands.

WHEN IT COMES to entertainment, we just can't resist a brass band. And the Centennial Education Park Marching Band will be on our agenda Sunday when they perform at 4 p.m. But there will be other musicians on hand Sunday for other tastes. The Step Brothers will perform at 12:30 p.m., the Sidekick and Sweet Adelines at 1 p.m., The Reason at 2:30, the Plymouth Community Chorus at 3 p.m. and the Plymouth Fife & Drum Corps at 5 p.m. Also on tap for Sunday are the Plymouth-Salem High School Rockettes, the Plymouth-Canton High School Chiefettes and the Plymouth Theater Guild.

But before the leaves turn there will be enough chickens turned on the grills at Plymouth's annual Fall Festival to give the Kentucky colonel a run for his spices.

As for food at The Gathering, located at Kellogg Park, there's something for every taste. Veal parmesan and spaghetti are on the menu starting at noon Thursday at The Gathering. Friday night features ribs served by the Knights of Columbus. And for breakfast on Saturday, it's pancakes served at 7 a.m. by the Plymouth Kiwanis Club. Saturday is steak night sponsored by the Knights of Columbus.

ON SUNDAY THE word is chicken. The Plymouth Rotary Club will be doing its thing with the birds over open pits and seasons with a secret Rotary seasoning.

Rotary Club members say the chicken can't be duplicated, but we think it goes further than that.

We think the festival can't be duplicated. And that's to the credit of everybody in Plymouth.

Bickering obstructs integration's success

PUTTING TOGETHER a workable integration plan in suburban Detroit is sort of like fighting a fire with gasoline. The harder you try to put out the fire, the worse it gets. Just ask the folks over at Southfield city hall. The most newsworthy and dramatic story in suburban Detroit today is the struggle of Southfield to maintain itself as an integrated com-

The future of suburban Detroit, including your community, will be determined by how integration fares in this middle class community which rests on the northern boundary of Detroit

In recent years blacks have, in ever growing numbers, moved there. This is a first for a Detroit suburb.

Unlike other parts of America where integration has taken a tiny foothold, it has consistently met defeat in southeastern Michigan. For years whites have been running, first within Detroit, from neighborhood to neighborhood. Then after they ran out of neighborhoods, they ran to the suburbs, which, up until Southfield, have been mostly lily-white pre-

WE HAVE suburbs for blue collar folks. We have suburbs for white collar workers and we have suburbs for the rich. We have parts of suburbs for Jews, for Arabs, for Poles and a variety of other ethnic groups. We even have a suburb for blacks. But we have never quite mastered America where integration has taken a tiny foothold, it has consistently met defeat in southeastern Michigan.

Unlike other parts of the art of living together. Blacks have especially been victimized. The reasons are relatively simple as well as tragic - the majority of white people are afraid to live with blacks. They mistakenly associate black neighbors with crime.

This fear is exacerbated by some who find profit in it.

Southfield government officials, much to their credit, have been making an honorable attempt to deal with this perception in hopes of pre-venting the white flight which has crippled previous integration efforts. Unfortunately, like the good inten-tions of the Detroit Lions, they play hard but sometimes fumble the ball at critical times.

THEIR ATTEMPTS are made more difficult when coming up against the fear mixed with the pervasive racism which permeates our area. Those tion must fight a dirty whispering campaign, always hidden from public view, but always present.

Recently Southfield's challenge became more so when that city's mayor, Donald Fracassi, made some remarks which infuriated black leaders. Former councilwoman Barbara Talley, a black, said the may-or's remarks "took me back to the '60s when doors were slammed in my face."

The mayor has apologized and black leaders and residents should accept the apology and move on. Honest efforts, as is the mayor's and city administration's, need support. Mistakes must be forgiven. After all, nobody is perfect.

The respected Canton Township Board rejected the purchase of Mettetal and saw no economic or significant benefits to their community by purchasing this land within their township.

Why then should Plymouth Township proceed any further in any venture alone or jointly to operate this

A much better option in my opinion would be to cooperate with Canton Township and help develop the Mettetal land into additional light manufacturing sites

The taxes derived from this new industry would benefit the Plymouth-Canton School District with a much needed source of tax revenues. We cannot ignore that schools and jobs are important to Plymouth, Plymouth Township and Canton This is far more important than

City manager Show support insensitive to cut trees

To the editor:

To the city manager: In your handling of our concern over the destruction of seven trees alongside our property, our loss of privacy and our loss of property value, you have demonstrated your complete insensitivity and lack of concern for the residents of the City of Plymouth.

You have also destroyed a portion of our positive image of life in Plymouth and have lost at least two strong promoters for anyone looking to move to Plymouth. With your apparent attitude, however, that probably doesn't matter to you. What a sad commentary.

The large trees are gone - too late for them now - but a show of good intent and caring could be demonstrated by planting new trees and restoring at least some of our privacy, not to mention our faith in the goodness of people. Your support for the DDA beautification project seems in direct conflict with your lack of support for replacement of seven unjustly cut, healthy trees. I would like your comments in writing, or possibly I'll hear them personally during an upcoming city council meeting.

To the editor:

As a Vietnam veteran family and an active member of Vietnam Veterans of America, I urge all residents of the Plymouth/Canton communities to show their support of our military personnel who are currently serving in the Middle East by prominently displaying a yellow ribbon and burning a single candle or lumi-nary in your window until they are safely home.

This past week many of our veteran friends, particularly nurses, have been notified to get their personal affairs in order and to pull their personnel files. These women who cared for their brothers in Vietnam are now being recalled to care for their sons in Saudi Arabia. Please let these selfless women know you care by attending the "Veterans" Tribute to Wartime Nurses," scheduled for Sept. 15 at Ford Field in Dearborn. Even though a large contingency of the women who are being honored will not be there they will know by our attendance that their fellow Americans are behind them. This will help lighten the heavy burden they are again bearing.

So, Plymouth/Canton, let's pray for the safety of yet another generation of defenders of our precious freedoms and a speedy end to this conflict. Proudly display your candle and yellow ribbons until they return.

There oughta be a state law on pursuit policy, but there isn't. Several years ago, the Michigan Legislature increased the penalties for fleeing a police car. But much remains to be done in terms of standardizing policies between the State Police, 83 sheriffs departments and hundreds of city, village and township departments.

Conditions vary. Some entire counties don't have a single traffic light. Some cities have a light every block. All units guard their home rule rights, sometimes too jealously.

In Lansing the House Judiciary Committee is studying a package of bills (HB 5896 and 5901) aimed at establishing a high speed pursuit policy. The bills would establish a commission of professionals to draw up a model policy.

Life released the list last week. According to Mary Steinbauer, the editor of the special issue, it's a list of the "most influential people of the past 100 years, not the famous.

"In making our selections," she said, "we looked at how our lives would be different if each of our honorees didn't live."

Many of the people on the list are, indeed, famous. Included are such obvious selections as Henry Ford and the Wright Brothers (the only three names to be chosen by all 60 members of the selection panel), polio vaccine developer Dr. Jonas Salk.

Now the problem - and the fun of making lists like this is that someone is always second-guessing you. So my family and I did a little second-guessing ourselves and came up with some names that we think should be added to the list. Some contributions are positive, some are not. In no particular order, they are:

HUGH MOORE, an inventor who, in the early 1900s almost inadvertently invented the paper cup in an attempt to sell water by the drink. He later founded the Dixie Cup Co. Blame him for all the disposable utensils that are around today. Richard S. Reynolds, nephew of tobacco magnate R. R. Reynolds, the man who introduced aluminum foil (now almost generically known as "Reynolds' Wrap") to the world in 1947. Dr. Percy Spencer, father of the microwave oven.

Hugh Hefner, who managed to combine high quality writing with soft pornography and gave a certain "respectability" to the "girly magaand, more significantly, polarized zine." For better or for worse, he changed the whole nature of this particular medium and gave new meaning to the term "explicit."

> Ted Turner, who certainly has been as influential in changing the face of cable television as D.W. Griffith, John Huston and Louis B. Mayer (all of whom made the list) were to movies. Timothy Leary, who became virtually the poet laureate of the drug generation, and who, without stretching a point too far, could be a major reason behind the widespread drug use today.

> Ruth Handler, who founded a toymaking company called Mattel in 1945 and, 13 years later, gave the world its first full-figured adult doll, named after her daughter, Barbie.

And finally, but certainly not least, Rosa Parks, whose refusal, in 1955, to give her seat on a bus to a white man in Montgomery, Ala., almost single-handedly set off the Civil Rights movements of the '60s.

Those are our selections. How about yours?

The point is that Binsfeld knows all corners of the state from personal experience, not just from vacations. The average metro Detroiter thinks anything beyond US-23 is tree stumps. The average outstater thinks of metro Detroit as an overpriced smoghole.

Engler values people like that. The 41-year-old senator from Mount Pleasant has taken an enormous amount of time learning the people even Democrats - and issues in this corner of the state.

CONNIE BINSFELD is someone you've read about only intermittently in these suburban newspapers. As a state representative in 1975, she served on a committee which produced the Open Meetings Act. She was there but said little in the mid-'80s when a Senate committee visited the UM-Dearborn campus to probe surrogate motherhood - a practice in which childless couples paid a woman $10,000 to bear a baby and attorney Noel Keane another $10,000 to arrange an adoption. Binsfeld abhorred the practice and sponsored the law to prohibit it. I covered the Senate Judiciary Committee when she sponsored a bill allowing the videotaping of child witnesses in sexual abuse cases. It seems that kids in such circumstances wind up telling their stories eight or nine times to a teacher, principal, cop, prosecutor, and so on, until it unnerves the poor kid. Binsfeld trotted in a batch of people, mostly women, to tell their stories and make their case. She did a competent, thorough, workmanlike job - no theatrics, no oratory. Her League of Women Voters training showed through.

WE MALES in the media tended to overlook Connie Binsfeld because she wasn't vociferous on the megabuck, commercial issues.

Women reporters tended to overlook her because, let's face it, they're overwhelmingly pro-choice and Rinsfeld is anti-abortion.

Yes, Engler bumped her out of a leadership title four years ago. But look where she landed: on the Appropriations Committee, chairing two subcommittees and serving on the joint capital outlay panel. Those aren't token jobs for a sweet, smiling grandmother. Those are very responsible assignments. One last point: Besides teaching school, she has served four years on county board. Neither Gov. Jim Blanchard nor Engler has a day's experience in local government.

UNEXCITING? The TV-watching. non-reading couch potatoes say so.

In that jaded view, public affairs are entertainment and not the serious business of allocating nearly $8 billion into the right priorities.

Running mate Binsfeld has enormous experience in life, education and politics.

Tax base sharing gains support

By Tim Richard staff writer

Business property tax base shar-ing — a notion long popular in rural school districts — is gaining popu-larity in outstate urban areas.

"The idea emanated from Grand Rapids," said an aide to Rep. William Keith, D-Garden City, sponsor of two enabling bills.

House Bills 5885 and 5886 have had hearings before Keith's House Education Committee in Grand Rapids and Midland, where so far there is no opposition, the aide said.

Keith has scheduled a public hearing for 10:30 a.m. Tuesday, Sept. 11, the day the state Legislature returns for a three-week session. It will be in room 424 of the restored Capitol

THE PUREST form of tax base sharing is for commercial and industrial property taxes to be collected in common for a large jurisdiction such as a state or county.

Farmers long have advocated the dea as a method for their sharing in urban industrial wealth without giving up political control of their rural districts or taxes on their farms.

Keith's bills, however, contain two major differences:

 Enactment would be voluntary within an intermediate school district, which generally follows county lines. Any school district within the county could veto the plan.

Only growth in commmercial and industrial property values would be taxed countywide. Existing business property would be unaffected.

Residential, farm and mining property would be unaffected.

Little support is expected for the Little support is expected for the plan in Wayne County, where com-munities have competed fiercely to attract business growth and there are three dozen school districts.

But Keith's aide said the Oakland Intermediate District was interested in having a public hearing. And Midland County, with only five school districts, is attracted by it.

hind the bills, the aide said.

"Gov. Blanchard is supportive of the concept. (GOP challenger John) Engler is supportive of the concept. The speaker (Lewis Dodak, D-Montrose) is supportive.

"The Senate will have the same bill, introduced by Dick Posthumus (R-Alto)," said the aide. Posthumus is Engler's right hand man in Senate policymaking.
When identical bills are introduced in both chambers, it is a sign that a broad base of lawmakers is serious about a subject.

A form of statewide tax base sharing was contained in Proposal B, defeated by voters 3-1 in 1989. It would have allowed statewide collection of a portion of school property taxes.

If passed by the Legislature in September, the measures would be phased in beginning next July 1.

TAX BASE sharing could be implemented in second to the second text.

The bills contain guarantees to help sharing districts maintain their revenues. According to a House Democratic research staff analysis:
"(T)he distribution would be adjusted to ensure that in-formula school districts would receive at least the same amount of revenue that they would have been entitled to if there had been no tax-base sharing proposal.

"In exchange for tax base sharing, out-of-formula school districts would be exempted from categorical re-capture provisions contained in the state school aid act."

Under that controversial measure, the state took away $70 million in categorical aids to richer school districts. The law is extremely unpopular among suburban districts in the metro Detroit area.

Gas company to give rebates

Residential gas customers of Consumers Power Co. can look for net refunds averaging $11.60 apiece in their next monthly bills.

The refund credit is due to refunds received from natural gas pipeline suppliers, the Jackson-based utility said. Some $29.5 million, including interest, based on 1987 gas consumption, will be credited to accounts.

At the same time, the utility is billing gas customers $11.7 million, including interest, due to an underrecovery of actual gas costs for 1988. The utility's typical residential gas customer who has received service since 1987 will receive a net credit of approximately $11.60 as the result of the adjustments.

A typical residential customer consumes approximately 130,000 cubic feet of gas per year.

"This adjustment further reduces gas costs for our customers who already pay rates among the lowest in the nation," said Michael G. Morris, Consumers' executive vice president of natural gas and marketing.

A recent American Gas Association study showed that Consumers Power's rate for a typical residential gas customer was lower than that charged by 81 percent of the nation's gas utilities.

"Stable rates for customers will continue due to unique long-term contracts Consumers Power has negotiated with gas suppliers," Mor-

Clothing styles reveal much about history

staff writer

Studying changes in fashion's a good way to learn about history, as Jeanne MacDonald can attest.

"It's really interesting as you study fashion," said MacDonald, exhibits chairwoman at the Plymouth Historical Museum. The clothing styles of a particular era reveal much about economics, geography, politics and history.

"You saw women's bodies as they're supposed to be rather than contorted," MacDonald said. That look included a rounded bosom, small waist and full skirt.

In 1954, Chanel brought back her little suit accented by a matching blouse. That classic look is still popular with many women today.

Short skirts were worn by many women in the 1920s and more recently in the 1960s. Britain's Mary Quant introduced the mini in the

NE MOMENT of carelessness on a hunting trip is all it takes to lead to tragedy. Bob Hall, who's been hunting for about 25 years, knows that's true. "It all adds up, if you're alive after you've made that mistake," said Hall, a Livonia resident who began hunting at age 12. Hunters need to handle firearms carefully, and shouldn't hesitate to speak up if their fellow hunters aren't as cautious. 'You're the example for all of us," Hall told a group taking a hunter safety course. Being an ambassador for the sport helps to give hunting a more positive image.

The hunter safety course was offered last week by the Mayflower-Lt. Gamble Post and Auxiliary No. 6695 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Hall and Bob Biallas were the instructors.

We try to bring in all the firearms we have, different types and styles," said Biallas, a Canton resident. Firearm safety's among the most important areas cov-

THE YOUNG people and adults also learned about training, hunting ethics, wildlife identification and management, first aid and basic survival. They learned about bow hunting and use of rifles, shotguns and

The final class session at the Plymouth VFW Hall, held Saturday, Sept. 1, included a field demonstration. Students shot BB guns, and learned about the 450-foot buffer zone - the minimum distance from a building a hunter must be in Michigan when shooting.

Neil Biallas, 11, was among the younger students in the class. He's gone with his dad on hunting trips.

"I learned how you should handle firearms, be safe around them," said Neil, a sixth grader at Pioneer Middle School in Plymouth Township. "I think it's important that you should have the responsibility of handling a firearm properly.'

Students were required to take a written test and to get a score of at least 75 out of 100 to pass. Those who finished the 12-hour class got a certificate.

Younger hunters are required to take such a class to get a license, but more experienced hunters can also benefit from a refresher course, Hall said. In fact, teaching a newcomer can be easier than teaching someone with 20 or 30 years of experience

"They have no bad habits to get over," Hall said.

HALL AND Biallas have gone hunting together, and both belong to the Washtenaw Sportsman's Club. They've taught the VFW hunter safety class for several years and have taught similar courses through the club. Biallas has been hunting for about 25 years, since he was 14. He knows that some hunters aren't as careful as they should be, and give the sport a bad name.

It's important for hunters to avoid drinking alcohol,

"Alcohol and guns and hunting do not mix. They do not mix in any way, shape or form." Having a beer or two at the end of the day is OK, but hunters should never try to hunt while under the influence of alcohol,

"People that do that do not hunt with me." Hall and Biallas, who both work for the Ford Motor Co., reminded students in the class that wearing hunter orange is a good safety practice. In Michigan, use of at least one orange garment is required for most hunting.

"You can see it from a long way off," Biallas said.

Being polite when hunting by permission on another person's property is essential, Hall told the students. Hunters should avoid damaging such property and should remember to pick up after themselves. That also applies when hunting on public land.

HUNTERS NEED to be aware of game limits and regulations that apply to hunting. Those vary from state to state and are different in Canada than in the

"Don't break the law. There's no excuse for not reading the rules," Hall said.

Informative booklets are available free of charge at conservation offices and sporting goods stores, he said. Public libraries house a wealth of information, and Michigan's Department of Natural Resources will mail such booklets free of charge upon request.

Hunters can take a few other steps to make sure hunting trips are enjoyable and safe. It's important to exercise throughout the year to stay in shape, Hall said. Heart attacks are the most common killer each year during hunting season. Too often, hunters who are out of shape head for the woods and overexert themselves.

Hunters need to practice regularly with a bow, rifle or shotgun. The aim of the sport is a clean kill in which the animal doesn't suffer, and regular practice is essential, Biallas said.

Using the entire animal is also important, he said. Hides can be used to make clothing, and antlers can be used to create jewelry.

Hall's family saves a great deal on grocery bills because he hunts.

"We buy no meat until the freezer's empty." Hunting's a family occasion for Hall. His wife goes on hunting trips, although she chooses not to hunt. Their 6-year-old son and 10-year-old daughter also go on

Hall and Biallas have found it takes some time for young hunters to become comfortable with the idea of shooting. Even more experienced hunters sometimes opt to take a break. Biallas occasionally hunts with a camera when he's had enough of more traditional hunt-

"Wildlife photography is a form of hunting." Hunters shouldn't let others put pressure on them to shoot.

They also know that hunting's not the sport for everyone. Hall suggests to skeptics that they come along on a trip to learn more about hunting. If they still don't care for the sport, that's fine.

"I'll respect your right to that, and you have the right

She recalled one requirement at her prep school in South Carolina: a student was allowed to go downtown only if wearing a hat and gloves and carrying a handbag. The presence of a chaperone was also required.

"And that was not that long ago, the late 40s. We looked very prim and proper. It was very nice, but not very practical."

Many of today's fashions are designed with comfort and practicality in mind, she said. More active lifestyles call for more practical cloth-

Development of synthetic fabrics also changed fashions. Early swimsuits, for example, were made of knitted fibers, mostly wool, and were shapeless. The more flexible, chemically produced fibers used today make for more form-fitting swimwear.

Performers bring a message of hope

By Julie Brown staff writer

A group of worshipers from Tri-City Assembly of God in Canton re-cently took a silent message to West Germany.

Silent Message, in fact, is the name of a mime group at the church. The group, including 14 teenagers and five adult leaders, traveled to Europe Aug. 1-10.

"We did street mime," said the Rev. Tom Lange, youth pastor. "We shared our faith in Christ, bringing the message of hope.

"Jesus really can change your life. There is forgiveness of sins through him."

They began their work in the West German city of Bad Kreuznach, and stayed there for the first six days. Their final three days were spent in Nuremberg.

We traveled by train to each location," said Lange, who traveled with the group. "It's a great place. I recommend it to anyone who wants to travel."

BELLEVILLE RESIDENT Lisa Hildebrandt, 15, was among the students who went to West Germany. She'd never been to Europe be-

"It was really great," said Hildebrandt, a sophomore at Belleville High School. "More things happened than I expected would. All the people were really receptive, and they talked to us.

"It was something new and something different," Hildebrandt said. "I just gave it my best. We didn't really have any problems."

Members of Silent Message have performed at outreach programs at area churches. They found performing on the streets in a foreign country was a bit different.

"It was a very moving experience," said Rocky Barra, 15, a Canton resident. "The spirit of God sage of God's love.

Germany, but did see some signs of political change in the region. Lange, 28, noticed signs in West Germany offering free room and board to East Germans who were first-time traveler to Europe. She moved on the streets, in the church.

It was unstoppable." Barra, a sophomore at Fairlane Christian School, hadn't been to Europe before this summer. His father's the senior pastor at Tri-City Assembly of God.

Barra found the teenagers in West Germany weren't exactly like students in the United States.

"They're the same, but they need something to do over there. They don't have anything to do." Visiting discos and drinking beer are among the few activities available; even younger teens are seen on the streets of West Germany smoking, often in the presence of their par-

'We take a lot of stuff for granted," said Laurie Lange, 15, of Belleville. That's true not only of religious freedom but also of more mundane things such as clean drinking water.

Lange, a sophomore at Plymouth Christian Academy, was also a

"I think we would have gotten a lot more persecution," she said.

THE LANGUAGE barrier wasn't much of a problem for the group, as much of their performing was done through mime. They worked with four translators, and learned a few simple words in German before leaving. They found many West Germans spoke Eng-

The Americans visited some West German churches and did some singing.

"On the streets, we would pray before we started the mime," Laurie Lange said. She and the others found some resistance to their efforts, but that was more the exception than the rule.

Planning for the trip began in the summer of 1989. Tom Lange contacted the German Assembly of God district. In December, he heard that West German church leaders were interested in having a team visit.

Each student raised $1,200 of his or her own support, "which was quite a feat," he said. "And they did that. That was great."

Group members held car washes and other fund-raising events, and got some pledges from family members.

They stayed at a youth hostel and then in a dorm for nurses. Group members sang for some nurses and patients while in Nuremberg.

The visitors kept busy during their trip, but found time to do some shopping and sightseeing.

"We went and we saw a castle,"

Hildebrandt said.

Mime group members, who did quite a lot of practicing before their trip, are part of the Light Force Youth Ministry. Teens and young adults meet at 7 p.m. Wednesdays at the church, 2100 Hannan in Canton.

Some of the West German teens they met have already written to them. After returning to the U.S., group members presented a pro-gram on their travels during a Sunday evening service at the church. Group members heard about the Middle East situation during their time overseas. The TV broadcasts were in German, but the visitors still heard quite a bit about the cri-

Diversity ensures society's creativity

Why are we becoming so divided? A friend of mine told me that she wanted to buy a home in east Dearbern. She was advised that only Moslems will be comfortable, or indeed even safe, in the area she had

Diversity, whether in the city or in the suburbs, seems to be an explo-sive element. Yet it is only one aspect of a society that does not seek whole answers. Differences are perceived as something that divides

It is an element of the insecurity which so pervades our society. Hang close together with those who are like you and you will feel safe.

But insecurity does not go away Our fears are too often projected upon others. Sometimes it is expressed in individual violence. The worst case is when we hear of children abused or even killed.

THEY BECOME victims of a fear of others, especially others who are different. Whether it is a diversity based upon race, religion, culture and language, sex or age, diversity of persons is under attack.

There is a deeper reason for this. Division is characteristic of western, modern society. Reason and specialization have become idols of our pe-

Beauty, music, religious tolerance and the humanities have been relegated to the fringes of life. The model of the machine and the mathematical equation has been replaced by the artificial intelligence of the com-puter. We are paying a high price for this division

A new book by Joel Mokyr, "The Level of Riches . . ," suggests that "Diversity is the mother of inven-The author makes a historical analysis of powerful civilizations that have come and gone. Diversity is a most important factor. Diversity will ensure the creativity of a society. "It is crucial that the world pre-serve a measure of diversity... As long as some societies remain creative, others will eventually be dragged along."

How will religion serve as a means toward creating a helpful solution to the problems caused by division and diversity? It may seem trite to say it, but I believe that religion must focus upon love.

RELIGION MUST lift our vision so as to include all of the diversity of creation in this love. But an effective, peace-seeking religion must also address our insecurities.

There are reasons for our insecuri-

Religion needs to address the specters of hate, prejudice and fear. Above all, a healthy religion will address God and say "God have mercy upon us, heal our divisions."

We are planning a trip in early October to South Haven. Could you please give me information on South Haven and the surrounding cities we might visit? Toni, Livonia.

I want to take my son fishing in Lake Michigan somewhere between South Haven and Grand Haven. Any suggestions for fall? Keith, Novi.

- Fishing off the edge of a dock or from the deck of a charter boat. • Walking down a small town street.
- · Checking out the antique shops

 Staying in a bed and breakfast. Walking an autumn beach.

These are some of the small pleasures along the southwest coast of Michigan in the fall; mosey and poke

Start by walking the beaches of South Haven in a sweatshirt. Most of the cottagers have gone, but the town is big enough so that it doesn't close down as some summer towns

You might still find a volley ball game on the beach, or you might just sit and watch the sun go down behind the lighthouse. A brave soul, who doesn't mind cold water, might even be windsurfing against the setting

If you feel like being a tourist, go to the Lake Michigan Maritime Museum or call the Lakeshore Convention and Visitors Bureau at (616) 637-

There are all kinds of things to do up and down the coast. Most people go north, and if they have seen the Dutch windmills of Holland, go on up to Saugatuck or even Grand Haven.

If you stand within the smell of the popcorn stand in Grand Haven. you can watch the pleasure boats cruising up and down the Grand River, follow the T-shirts along the boardwalk or visit the museum and old train cars at Harbor St. and Washington.

There is a large brass map set into the plaza there, so you can "walk" the Grand River as it meanders in brass past Grand Rapids to the sundial that marks Grand Haven.

Fewer people go south past Benton Harbor and St. Joseph to the small pleasure of that golden crescent of sand beach where Michigan finds its way towards the Indiana

It-is well worth an hour or two touring the Cook Energy Information Center, where robots will explain nuclear energy to you in an educational and entertaining way.

It is also a great time of year to visit the wineries around Bridgeman or go on to the sand dunes at Warren Dunës State Park, where you can join the hang gliding enthusiasts or just sit and watch a glorious sunset.

If you really want to do it all, have a hamburger at Redamaks in New Buffalo where the main street ends at the lake, as it does in all these southwest Michigan towns.

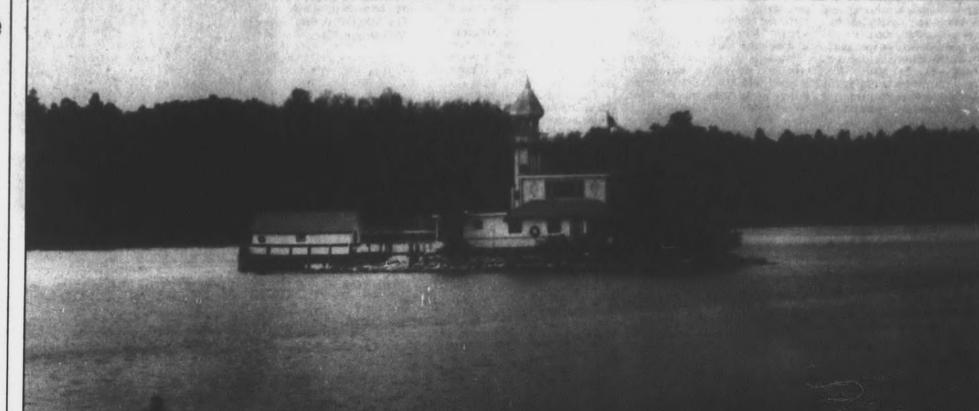

Pick up one of the many newsprint visitors guides available up and down the coast and check out the festivals, especially cider and apple festivals as well as Octoberfests. The southwest corner of Michigan is full of pick-your-own farms, although October is too late for most fruits and vegetables.

As for fishing: October is a great month for fishing in Lake Michigan. The water has cooled down so the fish are vigorous. The Great Lakes has good shore fishing for perch and walleye because the shore is warmer than the rest of the lake.

Charter fishing gets a new lease on life in October, when the fishermen go out after next year's salmon, which are not yet mature enough to go upstream. You may have to go north as far as Grand Haven to get the best late fall fishing, although I have seen fishermen standing on the rocks in Michigan City, Indiana, in October, hauling them in.

For more information, contact the Southwestern Michigan Tourist Council, 2699 M-139, Benton Harbor, 49022 or call (616) 925-6301. Or call the state tourist office at 5432-YES.

Nearly everything is more fun on a boat. That includes seeing the fall colors.

Along the way we meet Bob and Sue Schmidt, of AuSable. "In mid-September you'll see a lot of boats along here, especially near Foote dam," Bob said. "The chinook salmon will be coming up the river to spawn."

Because of the dams that supply electric power to nearby communities, you can't navigate the river in one pass. And in some of its sections the water averages from one and a half to three feet deep, so boaters have to watch for deadheads and other submerged hazards.

These waters are ideal for canoers, who can portage around the dams. Every July, two-person teams compete in the annual AuSable River Canoe Marathon. They start at the river's beginnings near Grayling and paddle at 60 to 90

This river does not run as the crow flies, however. It meanders entrancingly through a forested wilderness for 240 miles. It passes through the sand-hills of the Huron National Forest, which extends over 425,000 acres.

We visit the flooded pond above Foote dam, the first and the lowest of them. We find a lake-like area with developed campgrounds, picnic areas, beaches and launching ramps, much like the ponds above the other dams on the river.

But in many parts of the AuSable we feel we are hundreds of miles from civilization. The wildlife thinks so, too. Bill Csapo, a National Forest Guide, tells us with pride that there are 14 pairs of bald eagles now nesting between Grayling and Oscoda, all having chicks every year.

The peak color time in this area is from mid-September to mid-October. As for overnight lodgings, this part of the state boasts that prices are more moderate on its "Sunrise Side." ### Mountain pilgrimage

Swiss travel 'combo' is picture-perfect ride

The 1819 Lowendenkmal, Lion Monument, is a tribute to Swiss mercenary troops killed in the French Revolution.

special writer

If there is any kind of jet flight into Lucerne, I never want to take it. In the heart of Switzerland, Lucerne should be approached only at ground zero, on mountain roads or across long, deep lakes. A sense of pilgrimage is part of the excitement.

On a country-wide tour a friend and I didn't want to miss this quintessential Swiss city, so after "Arrivederci, Lugano" it was "Guten Tag Lucerne" via train and boat, a new travel combo called the "William Tell Express."

The W.T. Express is a train-addict's train. You're not hermetically sealed in but can stand and open windows, feel the rushing air, and take pictures without a glass barrier. Skimming through a narrow valley and several tunnels (some tunnels spiral inside the mountain) the William Tell speeds through vistas of pure grandeur in the Gotthard Pass; over places it once took weeks to get through.

Too soon we reached the lakeside depot in Fluelen, where 60 seconds were allowed to sprint from train to a waiting boat. Time is the art of the Swiss, I remembered On the Vierwaldstattersee, Lake Lucerne, snowy peaks became remote, but green mountains and rock cliffs kept up the drama, 'til they became pleasant hills at the north end of the lake. The chalet villages seemed idyllic. To tell passenger natives from tourists you mere-ly note who is staring across the rail and who We were sailing the "Stadt Luzern," an antique paddlewheeler being TLC-ed toward its second century of service. In the elegant small dining room (green plush chairs, morning glory light fixtures, a Victorian sideboard) could dawdle over lunch, watch scenery and read how this region gave birth to the Swiss Confederation. The towns where we stopped for passengers had once known the legendary Herr W. Tell himself.

Everyone got off at Lucerne, crowning the north end of the lake, but concerns about luggage and getting a taxi to the hotel limited my chance to look around. I did note the huge train station nearby (train-boat transfers are part of Swiss travel), and children playing near a fountain with a bronze horse. Throbbing tour buses lined the curbs.

Our cab darted through traffic that was probably schooled in New York, passed a castle-like turret and covered bridge and came abruptly to the Rebstock Hotel. Small, moderate, modern, and with an excellent outdoor restaurant. Its location seemed close to everything and we were pleased. In the late afternoon I walked back to the wooden covered bridge (Kapellbrucke; Chapel Bridge) angling across the Reuss River for pedestrians. The "castle" turned out to be a

I kept walking as a lowering sun put the tower and nearby ancient buildings in a golden haze. People were feeding a flock of swans; laugher was on the rise from riverside cafes. I began to notice other towers lit by spotlights and standing guard over dormer-loaded rooftops. I gazed in all directions, charmed to

It was love.

At breakfast my friend had a glas-sy look. Her room turned out to be an echo box for the cathedral bells, only 200 yards or so away. "Every hour! Little bells in the night, big bells after 6 a.m. Big bells go mad at 7:30." I hadn't heard a thing and offered to alternate rooms.

We toured the great Swiss Transport Museum (from sleds to spacecraft) and explored the Lucerne Collegiate Church, the twin-steepled landmark that nearly did her in.
The bells were easier for her to take the next night so we window-shopped in Muhlenplatz and climbed towers on the Museggmauer, a sec-tion of Lucerne's medieval wall. At day's end we stood in front of Lowendenkmal, famed 1819 carving of a dying lion, a tribute to Swiss mercenary troops killed in the French Revolution. Mark Twain called it the saddest piece of rock in

I felt a little sad myself. There wasn't time to visit the Museum of Fine Arts, see Picassos at the Am-Rym-Haus, ride a cablecar to the top of Mount Pilatus, have lunch at the Old Swiss House or go to a concert.

We left, caught by changes in 20th century schedules, yet I have a sense of expectancy. A journey to Lucerne never ends. The road will make a Uturn soon.

Boats give a better view of Michigan's fall colors

Les Cheneaux means "the chansels" and is pronounced "lay shen-no." It is often called "the Snows" by locals at the nearby villages of el and Cedarville.

It's an archipelago of 36 wooded in and peninsulas along the south shore of Michigan's Upper Peninsula. Some 20 miles northeast Mackinac Island, it's a wellsheltered part of Lake Huron with the good winds, flat waters, and inng places to explore so loved by sailors. There is a harbor of re-

There were no roads in the area until the late 1800s, so early settlers communicated only by boat. Hotels sprang up on the islands and the mainland.

Vacationers began arriving by the thousands. "They came for the hotels, by steamer," attendant Alvina Firack said as we studied memorabilia in the historical museum in Cedarville. "The hotels are gone now. The last one was torn down about 1972. They weren't safe and people came up and built their own places."

From the water, we see the picturesque cottages and boathouses people built on the mainland and the is-lands. The buildings add their unique charm to the blazing cedar, tamarack and yellow birch trees along the shorelines. Some of the cottages are still occupied by fourth generation family members. We take a short cruise among the islands aboard the Chippewa. The motor ship is owned by the same Arnold Line whose steamers brought vacationers to the area in the late Chippewa's skipper is the handsome Jimmy Brown, grandson of the late U.S. Senator Prentiss Brown who obtained authorization to build the Mackinac Bridge. As we pull away from Hessel, our guide points out the Senator's boathouse, near the cottage where Capt. Brown spent much of his childhood.

The area reminds us of the Thousand Islands. Every twist in this maze of channels brings another island or passage into view. Some of the uninhabited coves and islands are rich with animal life.

Fall colors should peak here from mid-September to early October. You can get information about accommodations by calling the Les Cheneaux Chamber of Commerce (906) 484-3935. St Ignace is 35 minutes away, call its Chamber of Commerce at (906) 643-8717.

Les Cheneaux is lined with picturesque cottages and boathouses. Some cottages along the shorelines are still occupied by fourth generation family members.

Lake Leelanau. We agree with the Indians, who named the Leelanau Peninsula "The Land of Delight."

We recommend it for fall colors because it's more like a river than a lake, with nearby wooded shores on both sides. It lies like a long, narrow cat-scratch along the little finger of the Michigan mitten. It is really two lakes, pinched in the middle like Mae West, at the little town of Lake Leelanau. The lower lake is bordered by a long range of sandy hills on its eastern side and there are six public launching sites.

The strong winds off Lake Michigan once submarined both hulls of Allan's 20-foot catamaran into Lake Leenanau. He was able to resurface it without a capsize, leaving a trail of boat cushions, sweaters and other flotsam. Jetsam floated out too, notably one shoe in which a passenger had placed his glasses for safekeeping. Neither shoe nor glasses were ever recovered. A few days later we ceremoniously deep-sixed the other shoe, while everyone sat at attention in the boat and we all hummed "Taps."

You can see one of the vineyards, the Boskydel, from the lake. The gracious owners keep the vineyard open year round, seven days a week. They invite visitors to drop in between 1-6 p.m. any day except for major holidays. Call (616) 256-7272.

Fall colors here should peak from late September to mid-October. For places to eat and sleep, Leelanau County is dotted with wonderful restaurants and resorts. Sugar Loaf Resort in Cedar is 10 minutes from Lake Leelanau and has tennis and an excellent golf course. Call (616) 228-

The Homestead in Glen Arbor offers fine food and tennis courts. Call (616) 334-5000. Both resorts are open until Oct. 22.

Allan keeps his monohull sailboat docked at Holland on Lake Macatawa, which is connected to Lake Michigan by a short channel. The old lighthouse marking Macatawa's entrance is one of Michigan's most famous landmarks, and adds a bright It lies directly across the channe from Holland State Park.

We enjoy sleeping aboard the boat on mild fall nights.

The water is usually flat and the traffic quiet except for an occasional boat passing us on the way in from Lake Michigan.

We hear the breeze in the rigging and feel a gentle rocking, and tend to sleep like we've been sandbagged. We dock sometimes at Eldean's three reflecting pools with playing fountains surrounded by marble benches. In one area, skating is permitted in winter. All eleven buildings are connected by a quarter mile concourse which includes shops, banks, and restaurants, and a New York State Vietnam memorial is housed in this area.

Also in the cluster is a convention center, a legislative building and a justice building. The old state capital is on its original site between State and Washington Streets.

Albany is 137 miles north of New York City on freeway 87 along the Hudson River. On October 6, 1978, The Plaza was dedicated to Nelson A. Rockefeller in honor of the former governor who had brought about its creation. (He died less than a year later in 1979.) By the end of World War II Albany had realized it was desperately in need of more office space. By 1962, with Rockefeller's insistence, the idea of The Empire State Plaza was born.

It took from 1962 until 1978 to clear away the 1,150 buildings and more than 3,000 family units while the deteriorated downtown area was generally rejuvenated.

The architecture is overwhelming and yet calming because of the simplicity of its lines. We arrived at lunch hour and shared the beauty of the area with munching visitors, maintenance people and legislators. Farmers had set up produce stands between agency buildings. Nearby, in a playground, children were using swings, a sandpile and climbers.

A visitors assistance center is at the north end of the concourse. Guided tours, maps and often, en-tertainment is free. The Veterans Memorial Park is open seven days a week year round. The resource center and art gallery are open daily. Check with the visitors assistance office for hours.

Self-help groups only part of the answer

ELF-HELP GROUPS, ranging from Alcoholics Anonymous to Parents Without Partners, have won wide support for belping individuals overcome pernal difficulties.

But for many individuals with serious problems, self-help groups are not a substitute for professional treatment, according to a professor at the University of Michigan's School of Social Work.

A combination of strategies may be best, said Professor Thomas Pow-ell. In cases of serious mental illness, especially when they are com-pounded with drug or alcohol abuse and other family problems, self-help programs coordinated with professional therapy may be the most effective remedy.

"It is no criticism of either selfhelp or professional services to say that they can do certain things well and other things not so well or not at all," Powell said.

Powell has received a $1.8 million grant from the National Institute of Mental Health to establish a Center for Self-Help Research and Knowledge Dissemination at U-M. The center will research ways to coordinate self-help with professional care.
The U-M project will include re searchers from the Michigan Department of Mental Health's hospitals and community programs, Michigan State and Eastern Michigan Universities and U-M's Schools of Social Work, Nursing and Public Health, Institute for Social Research and Medical Center.

The research also will involve the leaders of several self-help organizations — Manic Depressive and Depressive Association, Schizophrenics Association, Dual Recovery AA groups and consumer-run mental health programs.

help groups can be more effective and how persons with serious mental problems can be encouraged to make use of them.

"The instant recognition AA re-ceives indicates the level of acceptance it has achieved with the general public, and it and other groups, such as Narcotics Anonymous, are often regarded as the most important long-term resource for recovery by professional therapists and treat-ment facilities," Powell said. "The mental health field needs similar arrangements with self-help groups." In most cases, self-help efforts should be coordinated with profes-should be coordinated with professional therapy. However, it must also be recognised that many self-help groups have weak organizations, ineffective programs and few resources, Powell said.

"Under these circumstances, the fair-minded observer will conclude that self-help services have a way to go before they can become full partners with professional services," he said.

Ironically, through self-help pro-grams, many people have become more aware of professional services and more inclined to seek them out, according to Powell. In an earlier study, the U-M scholar found that members of Parents Anonymous who were also receiving professional therapy felt that the services complimented each other. Therapy was helpful in illuminating their difficulties and self-help support helped them deal with daily problems, he said.

Another problem of self-help groups is that they don't reach some segments of the population, Powell there are self-help groups for nearly every conceivable personal problem or problematic life situation . . . it is discouraging that most organizations, except for a few such as AA, do not have local chapters in anything but large communities and have too few chapters in most innercities," he added.

Self-help groups also "have an abysmal track record with members of minority groups," Powell said. Al-though several explanations have been offered for the low rate of minorities involved in self-help organizations, "the problem is that many minorities don't feel welcome by many self-help organizations," he

Powell suggests that self-help groups could dedicate chapters to minority groups, just as they do for "other culturally homogeneous but privileged and largely white groups, such as businessmen and health care professionals."

Powell is author of "Self-Help Organizations and Professional Prac-tice," published in 1987. He also edited "Working with Self-Help," a book being published by the National Association of Social Workers.

Clean roads have friends in volunteers

By Mary Rodrique staff writer

Motorists may notice signs sprouting on Michigan highways that have nothing to do with traffic instructions or destination markers. The white sign with little green trees says "Adopt A Highway - M-DOT" followed by the name of a local business or civic group.

"The idea is for a community group or business to adopt a twomile stretch of interstate, Michigan or U.S. roadway and agree to pick up litter four times a year on both sides of the road," said Scott Wheeler, project coordinator for the Michigan Department of Transportation.

The project was launched last April, but M-DOT has a related year-old program. The more comprehensive "Adopt A Freeway" asks businesses with properties abutting major thoroughfares to cut grass, plant shrubbery and pick up litter on the stretch that adjoins their business Alexander Hamilton Life Insurance Co. in Farmington Hills, Oakland Mall in Troy, and the cities of Troy and Southfield participate in "Adopt A Freeway." Eventually, the two state programs might be combined, Wheeler said.

The concept of grass-roots highway cleanup drives began in Texas about five years ago, according to Wheeler. He says about 25 states now have programs in place.

SERVICE CLUBS, Scouts, local church or employee groups are asked to make a two-year commitment in the "Adopt A Highway" program. M-DOT supplies garbage bags, safety vests, safety literature and designates specific pickup periods in April, June, July and Aug-

"We have groups doing more than the minimum," Wheeler said. Tru Green, a subsidiary of Waste Management Inc., has adopted I-275 between Six Mile and Eight Mile roads, straddling Livonia and Novi. Next spring the volunteers plan to seed the grassy medians with wildflowers.

"We were going to do it this year, but there's so much engineering involved," said Chris Wipp, a Waste Management employee who oversees the program.

Waste Management Inc. spent $10,000 to provide the state program with the huge orange garbage bags used for clean-up. The August cleanup between Six and Eight Mile netted 56 bags of "all kinds of litter," Wipp said. Tires, windshield wipers — even a dead deer — were discovered during the last outing.

"Waste Management is a solid waste processor/recycler," Wipp said. "We feel strongly that waste should be disposed of properly. This program is an ideal opportunity for businesses to get involved. If we all pitch in together, we can make a difference."

CURRENTLY 280 applications have been received by M-DOT and 180 have been approved. M-DOT estimates 300 businesses or organizations will be involved by the end of the year.

"The surprise to me has been the area with least participation is metro Detroit," Wheeler said. There has been a mere 20 applicants from Wayne, Oakland, Macomb and St. Clair counties com-

The greatest response has come from Kalamazoo, Jackson and Grand Rapids. Waste Management's Grand Rapids division clears a 10-mile stretch of roadway in that city, Wipp said.

A tight budget (Wheeler estimates $100,000 in start-up costs) has made publicity for "Adopt A Highway" scarce. Not much has been done to publicize the program besides an initial mailing that went to approximately 1,000 groups around the state.

"I think the (highway) signs are going to stir more interest. We were late getting them up. But people are responding to the signs," Wheeler said.

The Plymouth Canton Civitan Club has adopted a two-mile stretch of M-153, the Plymouth Elks Lodge has a strip of I-275 and the Farmington Masonic Lodge volunteered to clean a stretch along

Labor pool here is still strong

By David F. Stein special writer

A national labor shortage as the baby bust generation - those born 35 and 1979 - enter t workforce has not had an impact on the local job market, according to an informal survey of employers.

The next decade is expected to bring dramatic changes as the children of the baby boom generation enter the work force. The number of 16- to 24-year-old job seekers will drop 10 percent from the current 22.7 million to 21.1 million in 1995. The core entry level workers aged 20 to 24 will decline 19 percent from a 1981 high of 16 million to just over 13 million in 1997.

Joining these entry level workers will be an increasing numbers of women, minorities and immigrants.

Many local companies have yet to feel the labor crunch. In Troy, nei-

Anton estimates that Kelly spends $4 million to $5 million per year on training, a move spawned by trends in office automation over the last six or seven years.

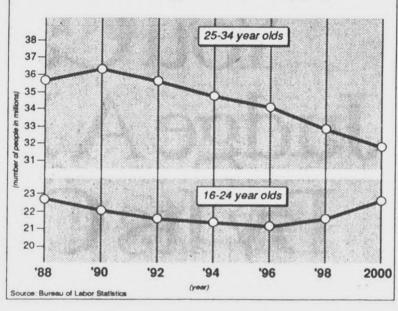

"We're in the training business to stay for a long period of time," said Anton, who sees a greater training role for all types of businesses in the

Think about computer buy

The right computer is an investment in your company's growth and overall success. Not only can it help you run your business more efficiently, but it can also expand you financial management capabilities.

But installing the right computer isn't just a matter of going out and buying the latest model. The process of converting your existing records and processes to a computer system can be lengthy and difficult. Here's some hints about making the right selection by the Farmington Hills-based Michgian Association of CPAs.

Before you visit your local computer store, ask yourself these questions: Do I really need a computer? What do I hope it will accomplish? Will it be cost-effective to install a new system?

What hardware and software will I need? Does the software already exist or will it have to be developed? How much will it cost to do the entire conversion and how long will that process take? How will I train my employees to operate the new system?

Whether you are converting from a manual system or upgrading your existing system, you should begin by evaluating your current operations and identifying problems. For example, late and inaccurate monthly financial statements or slow turnover of accounts receivable may indicate that is time for a new or better system.

Next, evaluate your current business procedures to determine which type of system will best satisfy your needs. For example, you may require a system to help reduce labor costs associated with high clerical involvement. Or you may need a system to help eliminate repetitious or numerous timeconsuming tasks. Another reason to buy or upgrade a system is if your business requires mathematically complex calculations, highly accurate record keeping and timely preparation of reports.

A PROPERLY designed system can help you perform many of the critical business functions of your company, such as speeding the preparation of financial statements and reducing potential for clerical and computational errors in accounting and other administrative Software is the term given to the application programs that enable you to run specific tasks, such as word processing or spreadsheets, on the computer. Software comes in several varieties: general purpose, custom written or industry specific. But asking key questions can help you make the right choice.

For instance, how easy is the software to use? Are qualified installers nearby? What is the quality of the documentation? What is the reputation of the vendor for providing good support?

Hardware includes the computer, storage devices, terminals and printers. The hardware you select must be fully capable of accepting data, processing it and generating output within a reasonable time.

When you are ready to select computer hardware, consider the following factors: present and projected volume of data to be processed; amount of technical and service support you will receive from the manufacturer; the ease with which you can operate the equipment; the ability to expand or upgrade the equipment; and the reliability of the hardware, the vendor and the manufacturer. You should also take into account environmental considerations such as heat, noise and electrical requirements.

After you review your current procedures and determine your software and hardware needs, develop a plan for implementing the system. Pay special attention to selecting computer operators and to setting up a training program.

One field already looking for entry level workers is health care.

"We are facing a shortage of younger workers and a shortage of skilled professionals," said Robert Godek, director of human resources for St. Mary Hospital in Livonia.

By the year 2000, less than one eighth of job force entrants will be white, non Hispanic males, according to Malcolm Cohen, director of the University of Michigans Institute of Labor and Industrial Relations. Still, added Cohen, the workforce will grow 1 percent per year from 1988 to 2000, one half the growth rate of the previous 12 years.

Eighty five percent of managers of companies with over 5,000 employees surveyed at the 1990 American Management Association convention foresee a crisis in skilled labor. This compares with a 76 percent response last year.

This is enough to make me feel my age, since I remember 'way back when even safety belts weren't required, and the subsequent decades-long debate over airbags, better brakes, and other major advances most commonplace on the family automobile today.

Actually, I don't remember anybody advocating unsafe cars in all those years. Mainly it was a debate over money - cost of the improve-ments to be more precise, with a couple of side issues involving personal responsibility.

The latter debate seemed to draw in the genuinely strange advocates, including the Hells Angels, who successfully lobbied the California legislature to repeal the state's motorcycle helmet laws.

RALPH NADER, of course, who found the true nerve center of public opinion by playing Crusader Rabbit against General Motors, the company then making the biggest, safest cars on the road, ignoring worst, most noticeably the Volkswagen Beetle and various British sports cars, apparently because Nader's growing political constituency drove mainly imported cars.

Even today, this line of reasoning prevents wholesale criticism of Japanese automobiles, which regularly do poorly in crash testing. Strangely, a growing consumer movement in Japan has begun that insists only Manufacturers have been going along with this because they don't want to be accused of installing less-than-best technology, and also because the investment to equip all cars is indeed tremendous.

Curiously, I still feel with all the new emphasis on safety and safety-related technology, there is some-thing missing from the equation. That is the sense of responsibility that simply must accompany driving a car on the public roads.

Your Bank.

At Standard Federal, we think that you - not your bank should take money out of your checking account. So we have low minimum balance requirements and no checkwriting fees, no matter how many checks you write.

I need better information abo federal and state money programs. So far, what I've read about grants and loans for business owners has been either too generic or too com-plicated. Is there some book or reference manual you can recomm sed on your experiences as a small siness consultant?

Matthew Lesko, president of In-formation USA, has recently pub-lished an excellent reference manual called "Government Giveaways from Entrepreneurs" (Edition II). In it, Lesko not only presents answers to almost any question you may have on the subject of government money programs, but does so in an easy-toread and humorous fashion.

Some of the major topics covered include: "How Other People Got Government Money," "Types of Money Available," "See a Winning Application First," "Your Chances of Getting the Money," and "Federal Money Programs: 40 Free Money Programs." State money program information includes the types of money and help available by state. Lesko also reviews the venture capital option and lists several organizations and government agencies will-ing to invest in new or growing ven-tures for a percentage of equity.

Lesko's other topics are govern-market studies, how to track state legislation, finding experts and free on-line databases. The manual costs $29.95 by calling Information USA offices at 1-800-32-LESKO.

IF YOU ARE planning on starting a business before the end of 1991 and if you would like to participate in a market research study, contact MarkeTrends at 474-1149. The study aims to identify information and service needs of would-be entrepreneurs. ALSO LENDING support is Rebert's wife, Karen, who will soon begin a student teaching position in the

Troy School District. The couple will be apart on their third anniversary. As a way of dealing with the separation, Rebert's wife plans to start a support group

While he's away, the congregation at Crown of Life will "keep the faith" and ask guest preachers to temporarily fill Rebert's shoes.

Rebert won't be replaced as the church minister, Pearson said.

"It's been a long time without a pastor," she said. "He's still going to be our minister when he gets back: We'll just be patient and hope and pray for peace.

The Most Common Pain Complaint

The most common pain complaint is headache. According to recent reports, 45 million Americans suffer with chronic headaches. Approximately 10 millon Americans report having headaches every day. Headache pain often can be relieved with aspirin, acetaminophen, or ibuprofen all nonprescription medicines.

Migraine headaches are among the most difficult to treat of the common headache types. Migraines occur when blood vessels in the head become enlarged, pressing on nerves and causing pain. The pain generally occurs only on one side and lasts from several hours to several days. Prescription medicines are used in the prevention and treatment of migraines.

Muscle tension headaches are caused by contractions in facial, neck, or scalp muscles. These headaches often occur following a specific event that causes muscles to tense. Physical problems in the eyes, teeth, jaws, or poor posture also can cause tension headaches.

Inflammatory headaches occur when pressure within the head causes pain. One of the major causes of inflammatory headaches is clogged sinus passages. Nasal decongestant medicines may relieve the cause of the pain. Other less common causes of inflammatory headaches include fever and

'Dead' trees: New phase in nature's cycle

During the summer when lush green vegetation is on the plants, dead trees and their skeletonized forms contrast sharply with the full bodied look of leafy trees. To some these are "eyesores" and are often removed. To naturalists and animals, they are an important phase in the life cycle of a tree. New, healthy trees supply leaves for animals to eat. They provide nuts, fruits and berries for many animals, including people. Leafy branches serve as protection from enemies and the elements. Not to mention the fact that they also provide oxygen for all living things.

If the tree should be infected by fungus, reach old age, or be injured by lightning, a new phase of its im-portance begins. Wood begins to soften and woodpeckers can excavate a hole to serve as a nesting site. Wood-peckers will also be able to probe and search for insects which have in-vaded the sickened tree.

Dead branches are more common and they are often used by birds to build their nests. Abandoned wood-pecker holes are occupied by other hole nesters such as chickadees and titmice. They are dependent on woodpeckers or natural cavities for nesting sites since they cannot exca-vate holes in hard wood.

By now a wide variety of insects have taken up residence in the tree.
Carpenter ants tunnel through the decaying wood. Bark beetle channels can be seen as flakes of bark begin to peel away. Honey bees may build a hive in a natural cavity formed inside the tree. side the tree.

Mammals seek refuge inside the tree, too. During the cold months of winter, raccoons, squirrels and opossum find warmth and protection in dead tree cavities. Hawks can often be seen perched on leafless dead branches because they can see so much better without the leaves obstructing their view.

A tree itself may be dead, but it is not a dead tree. Many plants and ani-mals depend on the later stage of the life cycle of a tree. Even when it falls to the ground, there are a host of plants and animals which depend on its nutrients and shelter. So if you have a "dead" tree that is not causman health, let it be.

Aulakh, who was half of the No. 2 doubles team, moves up to No. 3 singles, and junior Jennifer Davis rounds out the singles lineup at No. 4. Davis, however, is currently sidelined with a sprained ankle Seniors Lorena Sanford and Gina Fuerst appear to be the new No. 1 dou-of Canton's top newcomers along with freshman Ellen Gaston. The other doubles combinations will come from a group of players that includes senior Jenny Schafer, sophomores Kelly Caulfield, Shazia Ahmed, Anne Zachary and Kelly Blanche and Gaston.

Michaels expects Northville, which shared the WLAA title with Canton and returns many of its top players, to remain a league power.

The Mustangs won the Western Division dual-meet title last year, but Canton, which was 12-1 in duals, won the WLAA tournament and forced a cochampionship for the overall title.

After several years of trying, Farmington as Western Lakes Activities Association boys cross country champion.

Now the Chiefs must attempt to stand their ground and play King of the Hill. And they just might have what it takes to do it.

Despite some major graduation losses, Canton returns enough quality runners to be considered a contender once again.

The Chiefs, who won the Schoolcraft, Redford Union and Ypsilanti invitationals, captured a regional title and finished seventh in the state, won't easily replace Brian Beach, Matt Boland and Matt Hall.

Beach was an all-league and allstate runner. Boland and Hall, who never missed a varsity race in four years, were all-division people. Beach runs for Wayne State University, Boland for the University of De troit

Canton coach Jim Hayes expects Walled Lake Western, with Bill Crosby, Jeff Grosso and Brandon Keeney back, to be a formidable opponent in the Western Division and the WLAA.

"I think we have a pretty good team," Hayes said. "I don't know if we're good enough, but we hope to be competitive with them.

Gulkewicz, a sophomore, was the No. 1 runner as a freshman last year until stress fractures ended her season prematurely. Czaplicki has done an excellent job of filling the leadership role that Harris had on the team, Krafchak said.

SENIORS ANDREA Kinnelly and Kristen Bernhardt, junior Karla Kerhier and sophomore Sharon Bansal return, also.

The top newcomers are juniors Beth Turomsha and Marsha Woodburn, sophomores Kelly Morante and Stacey Whittoff and freshmen Emily Farrell and Julie Cutting.

Whittoff has been running times similar to what Harris did last year, Krafchak said. At summer camp, she was running in the No. 1 position until being beaten by Gulkewicz during a scrimmage Saturday.

Kinnelly was hampered last year by a recurring foot injury that is a problem this year, too.

Boyle finishes season

Boyle Chevrolet, a modified fast-pitch softball team, finished 1-2 over the Labor Day weekend at a national tournament in Meadsville, Pa.

"All in all, the team did well this year," coach Dave Brubaker said. We had five guys in their first year of playing this game, so it looks promising for the next five or six years."

Boyle, which finished 35-13, opened the tournament Saturday, stroking 14 hits in beating Penn Bank 12-5. The winning pitcher was Jerry Staszel, who surrendered 10 hits and two walks.

Doug Kirkpatrick was 3-for-4, and Tim Robinson, Brian Tiller and Dave Brubaker had two hits each. Boyle scored five runs in the seventh inning, with Brubaker, Tim Bowden and Jim Foster slugging run-scoring doubles and Dan Pierce stroking an RBI triple.

Boyle suffered its first loss later Saturday, 1-0, to Roaches (N.Y.) Garage. Staszel was the loser, although he allowed only three hits and two walks. Mike Kesson had Boyle's only hit.

But perhaps no proof is needed. At least nothing more than what was provided Sunday, when SC tied National Junior College Athletic Association powerhouse Lewis and Clark (III.) CC 3-3 at SC.

"That team was loaded," said Dimitriou of Lewis and Clark, which the day before beat Macomb CC 2-0. "But we put some of the pieces together. And our kids were fired up."

Actually, the Ocelots should have fared better. They scored twice in the game's first 12 minutes, both on rebounds. Chris Crawford poked in the first goal two minutes into the match; John Cortese got the second 10 minutes later.

But Lewis and Clark battled back, scoring twice before halftime. The visitors first goal came at the 25minute mark; they tied the game with just a minute left in the half.

THE SECOND half was controlled by SC, said Dimitriou. With only five minutes remaining, midfielder Bobby Haves beat a defender and sent a hard shot from 18 yards out into the net for the go-ahead goal.

Madonna returns 0-6

The letdown was inevitable. After losing three hard-fought, tough volleyball matches on Friday at the Mesa College Tournament in Grand Junction, Colo., - two going the full five games - regaining form for three more matches against the same competition Saturday was going to be challenging.

Madonna College couldn't do it.

The Lady Crusaders lost all six of their matches over the weekend, a dismal end to what had been a glorious start to the season.

On Friday, they were bested by Asuzu Pacific (Calif.) 15-3, 7-15, 15-8, 15-10; by Mesa College 15-9, 10-15, 6-15, 15-8, 15-11; and by Chadron (Neb.) College 15-12, 13-15, 15-3, 13-15, 15-11.

Saturday was rematch day, but Madonna fared no better. The Crusaders lost to Chadron 15-7, 7-15, 15-8, 15-8; to Asuzu 15-5, 15-9, 15-3; and to Mesa 15-10, 15-8, 15-11.

"WE HAD a confidence problem Friday night," said coach Jerry Abraham. "And we didn't play nearly as well Saturday. One problem

S'craft makes policy clear to athletes

ICKETS ARE VERY ESSENTIAL if you plan to get by in life.

You need a ticket to go to a movie or concert, see a ballgame, fly commercially, or win the lottery. The same goes for athletes at Schoolcraft Community College, where academic standards are a bit more stringent. If you want to be an Ocelot, you have to have a pink ticket to play a varsity sport. "Haggerty High," as we all like to call it, is no high school when it comes to imposing standards for its athletes. Schoolcraft is to Michigan community colleges what Northwestern is to the Big Ten. Northwestern prides itself on not accepting just anybody who runs the 100 in nine-flat. And Schoolcraft, under the eagle eye and direction of its Dean of Instruction, Dr. Louis A. Reibling, requires that SC athletes maintain a 2.0 grade-point average, 25 points higher than the suggested National Junior College Athletic Association standard of 1.75 (while completing 24 credits per year).

It was only last week that incoming student-athletes and second-year players from all varsity sports, along with their parents, met for dinner in the Waterman Center for its annual Athlete Orientation Night.

FOR MANY YEARS, SC administrators have quietly complained that our sports department reports only negative news about Ocelot athletes who become mid-year academic casualties, most notably the men's basketball squad, while ignoring the academic achievers.

At the urging of new athletic director Marty Nowak, I decided to attend Schoolcraft's Athletic Orientation Night to better understand the administration's program

It was enlightening and helpful, I must admit.

But I also caution that playing sports at Schoolcraft is not for everybody and that some student-athletes should look elsewhere, perhaps Macomb, Henry Ford, Highland Park or OCC for starters.

Midge Carleton, Assistant Dean for Athletics, made it clear that students playing varsity sports are there to get an education, first and foremost Fair enough, Midge, who revealed to the group that "I'll be dropping in from time to time on some of your

PARDON THE PUN, but Gudan covered all the

The LAC (Learning Assistance Center) is open to all students from 8 a.m. until 8 p.m., Monday through Friday, and for part of the day on Saturday. Student-athletes can set up times to work with tutors ("We have a staff of 10 to handle a crowd," says Sirkka) to confront any academic problems they might encounter, al-though some former student athletes have complained to me privately that setting up an appointment at the LAC is like waiting at the doctor's office, often cutting into afternoon practice time.

But Gudan stressed that LAC people will help students set up a study-management plan (to be completed by the third week of school), insuring that athletes block off their time effectively in order to keep up with their workload

SASS also provides study group sessions and free tutoring. Audio visual tapes are also available to supplement textbooks. And if that is not enough, a member of the LAC (Lee Rebain) will stop by the Physical Education building for three hourse each Wednesday afternoon to handle any questions or problems.

Gudan also made it point to stress that regular class attendance is essential to staying eligible.

"Our main goal is to get them to class," said Sirkka, in no uncertain terms

BUT THE most important thing of all is the pink

Student-athletes must submit a weekly progress report (form) to each one of their instructors. The instructor must initial it and have the student return the form to LAC for scrutiny. If the LAC deems academic progress is satisfactory, SC student-athletes can prac-

Sirkka maintains that SC student-athletes usually get the cooperation from their instructors, but cautions, "We can't force an instructor to initial it (the progress

I can relate to that difficulty. When I was a tennis player way back at Franklin College (of Indiana), I remember asking one of my professors for a Friday off from his class to play out of town in a tournament.

His initial reaction: "Do you want to be a journalist or a tennis player?"

My response was the usual: "I just want to be a ten-nis player for one day, sir."

He relented, giving me the opportunity to skip class and make up my work at a later date. SC professors, according to Gudan, are usually as sympathetic.

SUMMING THINGS UP, the key to staying eligible at SC is to: (A) Go to class; (B) manage your time wisely; (C) ask for help if you get behind; (D) get your professor to cooperate (don't SASS your teacher); (E) get the LAC to sign your pink ticket.

Jokingly, I asked Gudan if you get any credit for doing all this paperwork.

She laughed, "We do have a one-credit class in college notetaking and Lee (Rebain) will pass out study "Gudan also said those students with reading disabilities can get special attention.

Of course, Gudan admits that despite all the resources available, athletes mirror Schoolcraft's general population where 70 percent maintain a 2.0 GPA or better, while 30 percent fall below the standard-"We expect some people to fall by the wayside," she said. "Not everybody is going to make it."

The second half of the program (following Gudan) dealt with eligibility requirements, transcripts, etc . Ron Randall, SC's Eligibility Officer who works out of the Student Services Center, made it clear that he's available to answer any questions about NJCAA or SC

BY THE TIME Randall had finished, the final order of business on the agenda was honoring last year's top student-athletes

And while watching SC's top students being recognized, I reflected back upon Reibling's opening state-

'We have a tremendous academic program here at Schoolcraft," he boasted. "Our support program for student-athletes here models the University of Michi-

Funny that U-M always seems to be a model.

SC administrators will incounter many of the same problem's as U-M's.

For every Rumeal Rabinson (U-M basketball star) who takes advantage of the system and completes his work despite great obstages, there's a Sean Higgins (another basketball star) who drifts away, becoming yet another academic casualty.

ROYAL OAK

By Dan O'Mears and Brad Emons staff writers

The first week of the 1990 football season ooked like shades of '89 for the Observer's prep ticators.

Brad Emons, the reigning champ, had a fine start, going 15-2 on the opening weekend of play.

But it was a woeful beginning for his counterpart, Dan O'Meara, who apparently made some wild and careless picks. The bid to get ahead backfired. He ended up 12-5 and promptly fell three games behind.

That's the same margin we saw in the prediction race at the end of last season when Emons finished with a 98-28 record.

And there are more differences of opinion this week. Will the race tighten, or will Emons do like the '84 Tigers and make a farce of this contest before the season is half over?

Stay tuned. Read on:

FRIDAY'S GAMES (all games at 7:30 p.m. unless noted)

Liv. Clarenceville at Harper Woods, 4 p.m.: The Trojans started the new season where they left off last year, winning. Clarenceville saw that first-year coach Mark Ladd had a successful debut with à 22-0 win over Centerline St. Clement. Harper Woods was on the losing end of a 29-0 score with University Liggett of Grosse Pointe. PICK: Ladd stays unbeaten as Clarenceville coach for another week

St. Agatha at Grosse Pte. Liggett, 4:15 p.m.: The Aggles miss injured quarterback Brian Kutch as evidenced by their loss to Detroit East Catholic. But the Chargers, ranked No. 2 in Class DD, would have been a load with Kutch, and now St. Agatha must face another state-ranked team. Liggett is No. 6 in Class C. PICK: Both forecasters don't foresee Aggles coach John Goddard taking a victory dip in Lake St. Clair.

Liv. Franklin at Liv. Stevenson: The Patriots played one of the state's top-ranked teams, Lansing Sexton, predictions

Union last week. Can Franklin balance the scales this week and put both teams at 1-1. The Patriots will have to contain Stevenson back Chris (Don't call me Doug) Lehti, who rushed for 107 yards and a touchdown in the opener. PICK: The Spartans win a close game

W.L. Western at Wsld. John Glenn: The Warriors were hammered by a good Novi seam last week while Glenn looked sharp in beating Highland Park. The Rockets have to pay to play now, but it's still a quality brand of football. PICK: John Glenn improves to 2-0.

Northville at Pty. Salem: It could be a high-scoring game. Northville has nine starters back on offense and shut out South Lyon 20-0 last week. Salem tailback Leon Hister showed he's capable of having the big game. PICK: The Rocks win their home opener.

Farm. Harrison at W.L. Central: Harrison is 0-1 to start the season for the first time in nine years. The Vikings also are 0-1, but the Hawks have the clear advantage here. Harrison will be eager to have a victory after losing 18-15 to the No. 1 team in Class CC, Detroit De-Porres. PICK: The Hawks start a new winning streak Romulus at Garden City: Former Bishop Borgess coach Dan Henry got the Eagles turned in the right direction last year, but Romulus opened with a 21-12 loss to Taylor Truman. Garden City had an impressive win over Dearborn Heights Crestwood in the opener, but can the Cougars make it two in a row? PICK: O'Meara gives the home team the edge, but Emons likes the visitors.

Trenton at Wayne Memorial: Trenton is troubled after being steamrolled by Plymouth Salem 33-7. The Zebras, meanwhile, are in a good mood after nipping South Central Conference contender Adrian 21-20. PICK: Wayne begins Wolverine A Conference play with another victo-

Red. Thurston at Taylor Kennedy: The Eagles will definitely win a game this week. The question is "Which Both teams are coming off lopsided losses the Thurston Eagles losing 38-0 to Dearborn Heights Robichaud and the Kennedy Eagles losing 56-12 to Wyan-dotte. PICK: Kennedy wins this Tri-River League opener.

Wat. Kettering at Redford Union: The Corsairs, coming off a 4-5 season, return the most starters (12) of any team in the Greater Oakland Activities League. RU hopes to rebound from that 28-8 loss to Livonia Steven son. PICK: Kettering keeps the Panthers caged up.

> SATURDAY'S GAMES (all games at 1 p.m.)

Redford CC at Lansing Sexton: The Shamrocks and the Big Reds collide in this week's version of The Game of the Decade. CC nipped Temperance Bedford 10-8 on the big carpet up in Pontiac while Sexton blitzed Livonia Franklin. The Big Reds are ranked No. 2 in Class AA, the Shamrocks No. 4. The question is whether or not CC's always-tough defense can stop Sexton running back Howard Triplett. PICK: The Big Reds pull out a victory. according to O'Meara. Emons says CC's defense is up to snuff, and the Shamrocks have enough offense, too.

St. Alphonsus at Luth. Westland: Is Lutheran Westland becoming a football power? The Warriors whipped Cardinal Mooney 28-7 last week and could be 2-0 this weekend. St. Al's took a 30-0 beating from Lutheran West in its opener. PICK: The Warriors break the Arrows.

Liv. Churchill at N. Farmington: The Raiders suffered a setback in their season debut, losing a game they could have won to Pontiac Northern, 13-10. The Chargers faced a state-ranked power in Sterling Heights and lost 35-14. PICK: North rebounds on a positive note.

Ply. Canton at Farmington: The Chiefs showed a lot of promise in whitewashing Monroe 33-0 in the opener, while the Falcons, who lost 34-13 to West Bloomfield, still have a ways to go under first-year coach Bernie Call. It doesn't get any easier for Farmington, which faces another strong opponent. PICK: The Chiefs take a 2-0 record into next week's early-season showdown with

Bridgeport vs. Bishop Borgess, 7:30 p.m. at Garden City Jr. High: Bridgeport was a 24-12 loser to Harper Woods Bishop Gallagher, but the Spartans gave coach Walt Bazylewicz a 20-6 victory over Algonac. PICK: O'Meara says Bridgeport goes home a winner. Emons

Shamrocks nip Bedford, 10-8

Redford Catholic Central football coach Tom Mach is happy to win any game by one point

He must have been thrilled, then, to have gotten past Temperence-Bedford, 10-8, Saturday in the season-opening football game at the Pontiac Silverdome.

"Most of our games are close," Mach said. "I didn't know what to expect, but I thought Temperence-Bedford was a good team. I don't look at it as an escape, it's just a victory.

Senior Mike Thomas made a memorable debut at tailback, gaining 99 yards on 14 carries and scoring the lone CC touchdown on a 36yard second-quarter carry. CC's other points came on a 30-yard field goal by senior Brent Jenkins, his first of his career. CC led 10-0 at halftime.

'Mike did a lot on his own and showed he has great potential to be one of the great backs around," Mach said. "He's just beginning to really see everything happen."

CC outgained Bedford, 122 to 78 on the ground and recorded 11 first downs. The Shamrocks' defense, led by tackle Rob Sylvester and linebacker Jon Barbara, held Bedford to eight first downs. Bedford's only score came on an 80-yard third quarter drive, but Mach didn't have much else to complain about.

Sylvester had 12 tackles, including two sacks for minus-13 yards, and Barbara 10.

"Our defense played pretty well, but I don't like the long drive," Mach said. "The drive kind of made us take a long look at everything. It was two good football teams playing each other."

Senior quarterback Jason Carr completed six-of-13 passes for 83 yards and one interception. Four of the passes were caught by Jack Davidson for 38 yards. The Shamrocks receive another non-conference test at 1 p.m. Saturday against Lansing Sexton.

Bazylewicz, the second-year coach, then rattled off a list of "things" the Spartans must work on, showing they're a long way from being a polished team.

Special teams play was one thing that impressed Bazylewicz. Of the Spartans' 20 points, 14 were scored partly because of the special teams.
Borgess, which led 12-6 at halftime, opened the scoring in the first quarter on a 75-yard punt return by Anthony

Al Fernandez blocked an Algonac unt in the second quarter and Marvus Hood downed it in the end zone for the Spartans' second score. Quarterback Tom Cole, who was four of 11, threw a 55-yard touchdown pass to Bob Cariton to finish the scoring. The Spartans out-gained Algonac, 268-123, in total of-

EAST CATHOLIC 28, ST. AGATHA 18: Playing its first game without injured quarterback Brian Kutch, Redford St. Agatha suffered a 10-point loss Saturday to visiting Detroit East Catholic.

Agatha missed Kutch, out at least three games with a knee injury, dearly, falling behind 14-6 at halftime and 20-6 after three quarters.

The emphasis was on the run, and Aggies' running back Cordell Davis was impressive, gaining 117 yards on 15 carries and scoring on a 65-yard second-quarter run. Brian Wilson, who was three of five in the air as Kutch's replacement, threw a 16-yard TD pass to Joe Boards, and Derwin Henderson scored from 26 yards for the Aggies

McIntyre will get Pistons tryout

John McIntyre may be considered a longshot, but he's at the gate.

The former Redford Catholic Central High cage star has put himself in position to make the Detroit Pistons, that's right the NBA World Champions, who signed him to a free agent contract Thursday at the Pal-

The Pistons invited McIntyre, who averaged 10 points and three assists last season for the University of Missouri, to veterans camp, which begins the first week of October.

McIntyre, who played for both the Milwaukee Bucks and Golden State Warriors free agent/rookie teams last month in the Los Angeles Summer Pro League, knows the odds are stacked against him.

"Right now my chances are not great, but if they don't sign a guy like Vinnie Johnson, they're much better." said McIntyre

McIntyre met with Piston general manager Jack McCloskey to go over the terms of his agreement with the team. His agent, Tom Condon, of Kansas City, Mo., who represents 54

National Football League players,

"HE WAS REALLY enthused and he (McCloskey) said he had watched me the last two years and he told me if I didn't make it, some day I would play in the NBA because of the way I play," said McIntyre, a 6-foot-5, 185pound guard. "They (the Pistons) like their guards to play both positions and be able to shoot the threepointer. To play in the NBA you have to be good and lucky, and . . . who's there is also a big factor."

Also going to the post trying to make one of Detroit's 12 roster spots will be guard Lance Blanks, the team's No. 1 draft pick from Texas; former University of Michigan forward Mark Hughes, who recently signed a guaranteed contract; free agent guard Chris Harris from Illinois-Chicago; forward Nathan Buntin, McIntyre's teammate at Missouri; Anthony Cook, the team's firstround pick two years ago from Arizona; and Tree Rollins, a veteran NBA center who was released after last season by Cleveland.

WHERE DOES McIntyre fit in?

"My approach is to simply go in consummated the deal by phone. and try to make the team," he said. "This is really everything I've been working for ever since I started playing. It would be a dream come true after living here all my life to have an opportunity to play for the Pistons. McIntyre played for the Bucks during July's four-way free agent/ rookie mini-camp held at the Palace.

He went out to California where he averaged 13 points, five rebounds and five assists for Milwaukee's squad playing against such NBA players as Tony Campbell (Minneso-Timberwolves), Byron Scott (LA Lakers) and Sean Kemp (Seattle Super Sonics).

For Golden State he got to play the point.
"I thought I played really well in "I thought I played really well in Detroit's California, but not great in Detroit's mini-camp," McIntyre said.

While in LA, McIntyre attracted the interest of a professional team from Israel.

"An international scout talked to me and wanted to send me to Israel for 10 days and depending how I liked it, I could stay or leave," he said. "But I turned it down because that's not the best place to be right

THE PLACE to be is the Palace, as far as McIntyre is concerned.

And if things don't work out, he can fall back on the Continental Basketball Assocation where he was the fourth pick overall by Columbus,

"I can either go to Europe or come back after I take a year and be that much better," he said. "Being picked (by the CBA) made me feel like a third-round draft choice."

Miller, Farr ponder futures

SUNSHINE evoked contrasting greetings from two guys who want to make a game their livelihood. Both John Miller and Mike Farr had been waived by the Detroit Lions a day earlier. That meant any team in the NFL could claim them. None did.

For most of those waived, it also meant the team they had spent the past several weeks training with a team that no longer wanted them. Look for something else to do, was the unspoken - but all too clear message. You'll never make it in the

Neither Miller nor Farr are ready to give up the game. Not just yet. Both firmly believe they can play pro football.

Miller may never get another chance. The Lions kept just the two starting safties when they waived Miller and Herb Welch. They resigned Welch after he cleared Muddling the picture further, the Lions signed another defensive back, waived by the New York Giants, on Tuesday. "I don't know what's going on," said a disappointed, disillusioned Miller, a Farmington Harrison and Michigan State graduate.

FARR'S PRO plans seemed far brighter. After clearing waivers, he was re-signed by the Lions. The former Birmingham Brother Rice and UCLA standout at wide receiver will be on the roster when Detroit opens its season Sunday against Tampa "Ever since I was a little kid, I dreamed of playing in the NFL," said Farr, son of former Lion great Mel Farr. "Then I had to sign as a free agent . . . I was upset about Ah, but all's well that ends well, right? And Farr can at least see sunshine in his future. Miller's pro hopes are bleak at best.

What bothers Miller most is trying to figure what went wrong. If some part of his game were weak, if he needed to improve his tackling or pass coverage or defensive reads, well, OK. He could handle that.

It would be concrete, tangible. A problem? I'll fix it.

That's not the case, however. "It's frustrating for me," he said. "I felt I played good enough to make the

"Whether it's a numbers game or not, other guys who didn't play well enough to make the team, whatever their position, made the team. I thought I did too."

Miller served as back-up to starting free safety Bennie Blades throughout training camp. He was also on all the special teams. He played with the first unit most of last week, making him think he would start the final exhibition game at Cincinnati.

INSTEAD, MILLER played one qearter. "In the back of my mind, I knew I was on the bubble," he admitthe 40 nearly sidelined Farr's dreams before the NFL draft.

"What everyone thought were drawbacks, weren't," he said. "I'm faster than everyone thought and I have better hands than everyone

Farr dropped passes during the Blue-Gray game, and he ran a 4.61 40 at the combine. "That's the slowest time I ever ran," he insisted. His normal 40 is from a personal best of 4.43 to 4.5 - fast enough for the NFL.

"I have to say I was on a mission," said Farr of his decision to sign as a free agent with the Lions. "There was a force, a drive I had . . . something I wanted to prove.'

WHEN FARR reported to a Lions' minicamp in April, he was a fourthstring receiver. "I'd have to say I've come a long way," he said.

Attitude played as big a role as ability in Farr's success. Not getting drafted, then watching the betterpaid draftees waltz cockily through practices, could have tormented him. He didn't let it.

"I tried to put all that stuff behind me and I thought about the future, he said. "I kept telling myself, 'I have a chance to make this team

There are two other factors in his making it, Farr said: His belief in God, and his ability. "The reason I'm on this team is I can play football," he summarized simply

But so could John Miller - and look what happened to him.

The sun's shining on Farr, for now He knows that could change very quickly. In a few weeks, Miller may be basking in it as he chases down the sideline for the Lions to cover a punt, living his lifelong dream.

LIFETIME AGO Nick Simos yearned for a life as an en-tertainer. During the '50s Simos thrilled audiences when he dressed up as ghoulish movie characters such as Frankenstein

"I loved it," said Simos, now 54 and living in Westland. "I wanted to make people happy."

Those early successes faltered in the face of illness and personal setbacks. Simos packed away his dreams and settled for the security of factory work.

know it's going to take a lot of work," said Simos, whose mustache and curly hair are flecked with gray. "I don't care if I make a lot of money. I figure I have about 10 years."

The twice-divorced father of three grown children was born in Detroit. Simos, the youngest of eight children, was scarcely more than a toddler when he began singing and dancing for the customers in his father's tavern.

LATER, HE SPENT all his free time in movie houses, mesmerized by horror films and musicals featuring Fred Astaire and Gene Kelly.
"I clowned around and danced, Simos said. "I couldn't wait for Halloween to dress up. I thought it would be thrilling for people to see

His talents as a makeup artist blossomed. Sometimes he put on blackface makeup and did song-anddance routines like Al Jolson's. He particularly enjoyed assuming the look and menacing gait of the Frankenstein character.

While those monster roles made Simos feel "strong and powerful," they worried his father, now de-

"He was afraid I would take on the person of a monster," Simos recalled. "He told me to give it up. He thought it was like showing off. He said, 'Don't be a big deal.' "

Eventually his father's sentiments had a chilling effect on Simos' confidence. "It was like a jinx," Simos Simos dropped out of high school to join the Marine Corps. He received a medical discharge because of a "nervous breakdown" which Simos attributed to overwork. He returned to Detroit and completed his high school requirements.

SHOW BIZ beckoned. With the encouragement of his first wife, Patricia, Simos spent several months in California studying acting and makeup. Back home in Detroit he

Although his ego was gratified he earned meager wages ranging from 10 to $30 per day.

"It was the only thing I enjoyed doing," Simos said. "I didn't like factory work.

DURING HIS spare time Simos appeared in makeup on the old Soupy Sales nighttime show and played small parts in local TV shows.

In 1959, at age 24, Simos was seriously injured when a car in which he was riding crashed. He suffered cuts gled nose and lips. A head injury resulted in persistent sleep problems.

"Every time I started going up the ladder something would happen to get me down," Simos said.

Following his recuperation Simos was hospitalized for depression. Later Simos and his first wife were divorced. He took another factory job and worked part time as a doorman at a go-go joint. Soon he was spinning records. While the songs were playing he often jumped into a costume and entertained customers with songs and skits.

Recently, Simos has been praticing the magic tricks and vocal characterizations of his Tricky Nicky character, a long-nosed, redand-blue- faced funnyman.

Simos had been booked for a November senior citizens party in Livonia. He also has been sorting and arranging his record collection of 4,000 pieces, many from the big band era. He hopes to be hired as a disc jockey Simos bills himself as the "Golden Greek Disc Jockey" with the longest name in show business. His business card contains a tongue-twisting stew of his and friends' names: Nickolopolaus Michaelangeous Simopopolaus Andropolous.

HE INTENDS to lay to rest the ghosts of past disappointments. Any use of monster characters would be for comic relief, Simos said. He is at no cost, young school children or kids in hospitals.

Simos admits to a love-hate relationship with his aspirations. "I have a passion for making people laugh,' he said. "When I hear people enjoy what I'm doing, I'm blessed. I feel cursed when deals fall through. I'm doing the thing I love best."

Homeshare program offers companionship for elderly

Q. I am interested in the program that helps people to find others to share their home. Where can I find out more about this?

A. Homeshare or Michigan Match is a program sponsored by the State Office of Services to the Aging and the Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments.

This program is available for residents of Livingston, Oakland, Washtenaw, Monroe, Macomb and Wayne counties. It is available to adults 18 and older; however, one person in the match must be at least 55 years old. The home-seekers must be 18 years or older, willing to assume responsibilities of cooperative living and be able to provide references.

Home providers must be able to provide a private room in their home or apartment, be willing to assume the responsibilities of cooperative living and be able to provide refer-ences. Among the benefits of home sharing is companionship, affordable housing, safer environment, sharing the costs of food and utilities and help with household chores and er-

Q. My mother injured herself in a fall in a parking lot last week. I wanted her to see her doctor but she has refused. She claims that she can't afford a doctor visit at this time. Won't Medicare help pay for the office visit?

A. If your mother has met the $75 annual medical insurance deductible, Medicare medical insurance will pay 80 percent of the approved charges for any covered service received during the office visit. She will be responsible for the remaining 20 percent. If she has a medical insurance policy which supplements Medicare, that policy may pay part or all of the 20 percent not covered by Medicare. For additional information contact your Social Security office or your Medicare carrier.

A. Medicaid fraud is a very serious offense. Attorney General Frank Kelley has recently established a toll free hot line in the Health Care Fraud Division in order to receive reports concerning Medicaid fraud and patient abuse in hospitals and nursing homes.

Examples of Medicaid fraud may include: billing for brand name drugs but giving less expensive gen-provided, prescribing and billing for controlled substances that are not medically necessary, billing for more expensive services than those actually given and if medical providers accept cash or other benefits from medical laboratories in return for patient referral.

The toll free hot line number is 1-800-242-2873. The hot line is staffed from 8 a.m.-5 p.m., Monday-Friday. On weekends and after business hours, messages may be left on the answering machine.

HETHER YOU'RE looking to buy a piece of history for yourself, as a gift for someone special, or just wish to support the arts, then the Plymouth Fall Festival Antique Mart is the place to visit this

The Plymouth Symphony League will host the 28th annual Antique Mart, which benefits the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra, on Thursday-Saturday, Sept. 6-8, in the Plymouth Cultural Center, 525 Farmer.

The Antique Mart will feature 23 dealers from Indiana, Ohio and Michigan. Included in the show will be European and American antiques, prints, primitives, estate jewelry and silver, linens, English copper and brass, oak furniture and Victorian and country antiques, all for pur-

For 27 years, the Antique Mart has been a three-day show. Although now cut back to two days, it still will begin with a preview reception from 7:30-10 p.m. tonight. Tickets are $15 and will be available at the door. They include a light supper. The Plymouth Symphony will provide

"The preview reception, put on by the Plymouth Symphony League, is a fund-raiser for the benefit of the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra," said Peggy Blaisdell, who chairs the Antique Mart dealers.

General admission to the Antique Mart is $3.

Blaisdell also is one of the antique dealers. She and her husband, John, have sold antiques for five years, but collected them for about 15.

'Almost every weekend we go to antique shows, estate sales and auctions," she said during an interview at her Plymouth home.

Antique brass candlesticks, stuffed rabbit toys, wooden terns and sandpipers on stilted legs lined the mantel and shelves, while an antique oil painting of an English Setter and a dog's head, which was a Victorian whisk broom holder, hung on the op-

ANTIQUE IRON and tin kitchen items, such as cookie cutters and apple peelers, butter stamps, ironstone jelly molds, collections of antique coffee grinders and pitchers and a brass jelly pail that hung over open fires to make jelly around 1830 or 1840, are a few of her smaller items.

A turn-of-the-century, inlaid, tilttop table, an 1880s walnut quilt rack, an 1860 one-drawer stand, a late 1800s pine, butter table used for making butter, and a walnut drop leaf table from 1880, which can be used as a dining table or as a kitchen table, are just some of the larger an-tiques she'll show.

The preview reception will spotlight the 18th century. In colonial times, edible pyramids were all the rage, when hostesses would set a long table of embellishments. At the preview reception this year will be edible pyramids of fruit, cookies, candy, finger foods, cheese tarts and chocolate truffles.

So if you are looking for a copper made from iron, still boasts its original coat of green paint.

ARTBEAT ACCENTS:

 Deserving honoree — Kudos to Gwen Tomkow, a Farmington Hills watercolorist whose artistic creations include northern Michigan's picture-postcard landscapes

The 1988 Farmington Artist Club Artist in Residence is one of 128 artists chosen to exhibit in Watercolor USA 1990 at the Springfield Art Museum, Springfield, Mo.

She's one of just four Michiganians to earn a spot in the elite 667-artist field. The show is one of the toprated nationally for watercolorists.

Tomkow's painting of hay bales with bright sunny colors, "Harves-time," won a Patron Purchase Award from the Dunnegan Museum Gallery of Art, Boliver, Mo. It'll become part of the gallery's permanent collection.

A tribute to Tomkow, "Harvestime" was chosen to appear in full color in Watercolor USA's exhibit Tomkow strives to weave her imprint on each of her works.

As she put it: "When just one person says, 'That's a Gwenie painting alright, just look at those grasses dancing and at that color, which is so exciting,' being an artist has its own reward.

Think protection — I apprecitroversy surrounding an architectur-ate the concern among some of my fellow history buffs that sprinklering the Hill Museum at Livonia's Greenmead Historical Village might detract from its historic character.

Ideally, I'd rather see the house flooded by an overflow than burned to a crisp. A predawn fire might never be controlled in time to salvage the 149-year-old historical gem. But realistically, a smoke/security alarm might be wiser.

Greenmead's shaky fire safeguards came to light after a suspicious fire gutted the 123-year-old farmhouse on the nearby Historic Fruit Hill Farm Aug. 12. The farm-house had been restored and made into law offices at a cost of at least $350,000.

Sue Daniel, Livonia Historical Commission chairwoman, estimates that it'd cost $30,000 to hook Greenmead's 11 major exhibit buildings to a smoke/security alarm.

That kind of alarm seems more realistic in view of the cost and conally disruptive sprinkler system.

Last year, the city sold three acres at the southeast end of Greenmead to the U.S. Postal Service for $350,000. The money is in a special historical preservation fund.

'We're struggling financially to restore these buildings," Daniel said about Greenmead, conceding, "We need to give more attention to the whole subject of fire protection."

This fall, the historical commission plans to ask the city council for the go-ahead to seek bids for an architectural survey to restore the 11 original Hill Farm buildings at Greenmead's west end

A lot of volunteer time and taxpayer money have gone into saving vestiges of Livonia's early days. TLC has reigned.

But Livonia fire marshal Arnold Klinger convinced me about the need for better fire protection at Greenmead:

Every penny and every hour of labor they've put into it would be a total wipeout. If there is a fire, we'd do the best we can. But destruction is inevitable."

It makes little sense to devote years to preserving the fragile buildings at Greenmead but not retrofit them with basic protections against the ravages of fire.

Sweet success sprouts

By C.L. Rugenstein special writer

LESSED ARE those who parlay their hobbies into profit, for they shall have fun and make money, too. Livonia resident Lydia Sweatt (pronounced "Sweet") is among those fortunate few - and her success couldn't be sweeter. Within a year of opening her doll many retail businesses don't make it through the first two years, and most won't realize a profit for the first two years," she said in the lace-curtained shop where a music box played in the background.

fancy and be in excellent condition. Rather, Sweatt specializes in ew dolls by artists who established themselves recently in the field. ome of the hot ones among collectors are Annette Himstedt (Sweatt's personal favorite for her "Barefoot Babies"), the team of Lothar Groessle-Gudrun Schmidt of Gernmany and Yolanda Bello.

"DOLL COLLECTING is more exciting than people realize because artists are considered more talented now. They're considered artists rather than doll makers."

In the not-so-distant past, dolls were made only to be pretty. "In these days, they're made to be more like a real child.'

Limited edition, numbered dolls were produced 250 at a time for worldwide distribution by Groessle-Schmidt. The couple used their real-life son as a model for the sleeping, blond doll, "Robin."

Or Johanna. A 3- or-4-year-old imp in blue-striped pinafore, her wild corkscrew, gingery curls caught in two pony tails, she's one angry little girl. She's sticking out her tongue, in fact. She's so angry, her little firsts are balled and the toes on her plump feet are curled. Sculptured detail on her facial features is so lifelike, one can feel the frown ridges on her forehead.

Johanna is a Groessle-Schmidt. She resembles another little barefoot toddler doll named "Lynn."

Each is immediately recognizable as a Groessle-Schmidt because each artist's work is marked by his or her style - like a Picasso or a Van Gogh. "It's the style that intrigues people."

It's also the style that causes people to spend $50 to $10,000 for a particular artist's doll. "I have one client who said, 'Every doll you have of theirs (Groessle-Schmidt), I

ALTHOUGH SHE has been a lifelong doll lover, Sweatt's first doll at age 6 was a "Chatty Cathy," now worth thousands, Sweatt said. Sweatt got into the business end of collecting strictly by accident.

Collectible dolls fill the Sweatts' Victorian doll shop in downtown Northville.

Her husband, Ron, a restaurateur in Detroit for 20 years, suggested a doll shop. "Everywhere we would travel in the world, I would buy dolls."

Even when she was in a funk, she'd console herself with buying dolls rather than clothes.

The shop is modeled after her doll room at home. She used the same floral-striped, Victorian wallpaper and antique reproduction furniture, in and on which the dolls are displayed throughout the shop.

"It was a passion for me for years. When I was upset or stressed, I'd go into the doll room, and it would be so relaxing."

She may have spent a lot of time in the doll room after making the big decision to go into business. As a first-time business owner, she said she found the prospect "kind of scary."

BUT HUSBAND Ron proved a

"He was totally supportive. He"s developed an expertise himself and knows all the dolls by name," as well as their artists, Sweatt said.

He also accompanies her on buying trips during the year and has a good eye for what will sell, she Still, it took her two years to accumulate the trappings for the shop before she opened. "You could not move in my house. There were boxes, doll buggies, baby beds and wicker prams all over the place. The storeroom in my basement is crammed with antiques."

Some of the furniture is Munchkin-sized reproductions, but all are props, used to display the dolls in settings, rather than hide them in sterile glass cases.

But all the props are for sale. Sweatt said she'll just get more to arrange her favorite Annette Himstedt dolls, "Kai," the wild-haired, lute-playing boy doll on, or her Groessle-Schmidt doll, "Heddy."

As she put it: "That's the fun part - putting it all together."

CHINESE PAINTINGS

Wu Guanzhong, a contemporary Chinese artist, introduces one of China's leading painters in his first exhibition to tour the United States.

Wu, now 71, works to bridge the gap between traditional ink and coloring painting and mainstream international art.

The free exhibition opens at the Detroit Institute of Arts Saturday, Sept. 8. It runs to Sunday, Nov. 11.

Large ink and color landscapes oils, drawings, sketchbooks and an album reveal the virtuosity of this artist, who now lives in Beijing.

With the re-emergence of artistic freedom in China after 1976, Wu developed his own style combining the fluid brushwork of traditional Chie painting with the semi-abstraction of modern Western art.

During 30 years of government censorship of the arts, when Russian-inspired socialist realism was the only style of painting acceptable to the government, Wu clung to his goal: to nationalize oil painting and modernize traditional Chinese paint-

The exhibition was organized by the Chinese Culture Foundation of San Francisco and supported by the National Endowment for the Arts.

THe DIA exhibition is supported Detroit Testing Laboratory, the state of Michigan, the city of Detroit and the Founders Society.

Museum hours are 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Wednesday-Sunday.

"The Odyssey of Wu Guanzhong" will be described by Richard Barnhart, Yale University art history professor, during an illustrated lecture at 3 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 14. There is a charge.

Laurie Barnes, DIA assistant curator of Asian art, will discuss se-lected works in the exhibition at 2 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 12, and Friday, Nov. 2. Admission is free.

A clothbound, slipcased catalog (184 pages), with 70 color plates and essays by four scholars, is available for $60 in the DIA Museum Shop.

Admission is free.

The juried exhibition and sale will feature the works of dozens of artists and artisans from the metro area and other states. Many art media will be represented: oils, watercolors, ethnic wall hangings, stained glass, jewelry, pottery, photography, woodcarvings and textile design.

In the children's craft center, volunteers will help kids make an art project or have their faces painted by a clown.

Fest proceeds will go toward the North Rosedale Park Community and its programs.

GALLERY BENEFIT

A recent benefit for Detroit Focus Gallery, "Live from Detroit Focus," raised $7,200.

The highlight was on-the-site portrait painting by three well-known area artists, Glen Michaels of Troy and Robert Wilbert and John Hegarty, both on the Wayne State University art faculty. Each did a portrait of a live model during the evening. Those attending the party crowded around to watch the artists work, each with a different style and approach to the same subject.

Later in the evening, the paintings were given as prizes. Marilyn Symmes, graphic arts curator, Toledo Museum of Art, won Wilbert's portrait. Mary B. Stephenson, 20th century art curator, Detroit Institute of Arts, won Michaels' work and Laurie Bouchez. An arts patron won Hegarty's painting.

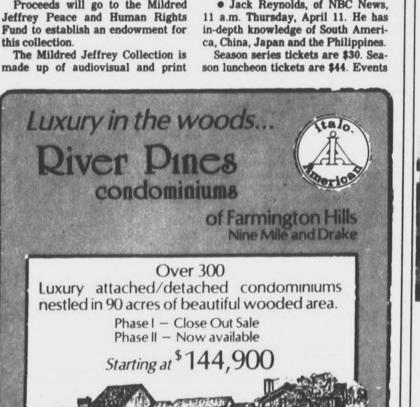

Detroit Focus, a not-for-profit gal-lery, is at 743 Beaubien, Detroit.

Renting art: popular pastime in Plymouth

staff writer

ENTING A picture from the Plymouth Community Arts Council Rental Gallery is a very simple process.

"You walk in, plop down five bucks and walk away with a picture," said Therese Gall, gallery co-

And every year, hundreds of peo-ple from the Plymouth area who want to try out a month's worth of new art on their walls do just that.

On the second floor of Plymouth's Dunning-Hough Library, the gallery does heavy business on Wednesdays, the only day it's open.

Pictures may be renewed for a second month and are then returned to circulation but, Gall said, prospective renters should be warned that the competition for favorites can be

To get around the time limit, some people will send their neighbors in to rent their favorites for them over and over again.

Fortunately for those who become especially attached to a rented picture, "it's not unattainable," Gall

The gallery periodically sells its pieces, replacing them with new acquisitions. With 250 pictures in its collection, the gallery has seen enormous growth over the last 15 years.

FOUNDED BY the arts council in 1975, the gallery began circulating its 10 or 12 pictures to local businesses and public buildings. As word of the gallery's rental system spread, it began to make more money and buy more artwork.

All of the profits go into new acquisitions and the general fund of the arts council. Last year, the gallery provided the general fund with $10,000, Gall said.

The gallery attracts several different sorts of people.

First, there are the regulars, those who "just like the idea of having different pictures on their walls all the time." They come in each month to trade in one of the gallery's pieces for another.

Gall said she knows some husband-and-wife teams who "fight to get home from work first so they can come up and pick out the picture for

- artist Jim Hardy

Then, there's the set of people who have just moved into their new home and want to fill up their bare walls.

Finally, there are people who stumble upon the gallery because they happen to be in the library on a Wednesday. Some people in this crowd, Gall said, "have lived in town forever" and are amazed to find such a special community resource they were never aware of before.

IN ADDITION to providing area residents with affordable art for their homes, the gallery has helped many local artists establish a reputation and start successful careers.

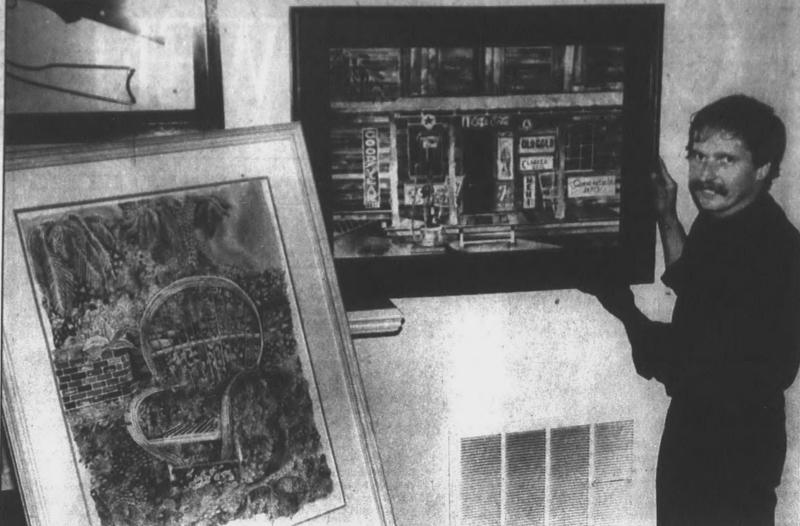

John Krieger and Johnnie Crosby were two Plymouth residents who started out at the gallery and have since gone on to show and sell their work nationally.

Buying new work from local artists at the metro area's art shows and at the sessions the gallery schedules for artists to bring in their work is Gall's favorite part of her job. But she admits it is sometimes painful to turn away artists whose work doesn't find favor with the gallery's judges.

"It's hard to say, "This is awful," but Gall and Pam Minscher, gallery co-chairwoman, as well as the rest of the gallery's volunteer staff, knows what people in the community like to rent. And they insist that the gallery maintain its standards.

The quality of the work that artists try to sell to the gallery varies, Gall said, "but there are some artists we know we're going to get good stuff from.'

One of these is Jim Hardy, a longtime Plymouth resident who has been working with the gallery for almost eight years. After discovering his work at the Plymouth Fall Festival several years ago, "Therese befriended me and kind of adopted me," Hardy said.

HIS JOB as a golf course superintendent keeps him busy seven days a week during the summer. But in the winter, after his kids go off to bed, Hardy sometimes stays up all night painting in the room that serves as a library, an office, an alcove and a

"It's really therapeutic," he said. "I look up and I realize eight or 10 hours have gone by and I haven't thought of anything other than what's on the canvas or paper."

Hardy considered trying to make a career out of his painting, but he decided to keep at it as a hobby when "I realized I had to be somewhat of a businessman, a marketing analyst and a public relations person if I were to make a living out of it."

Although some of his paintings have sold for $300, Hardy figures he makes just $1-$2 an hour for his

"It's not uncommon for me to spend 200 hours on a painting, so I'm barely making minimum wage."

Hardy said he's not in it for the profit. "So long as people like them, that's all that's important to me."

AFTER A period during which he painted mostly Depression-era scenes, depicting the "despair and decay" of the Dust Bowl and the cities in sepia tone, Hardy has moved on to a style he said is influenced largely by the Impressionists.

His colorful floral paintings are very popular at the gallery. And since some of his pieces that his wife liked the best have been sold, he has become a regular patron of the gallery, as well as one of its best contributors. "I come up here and rent often."

Gall said it has been fun over the years to watch people such as Hardy change and grow. The gallery is also always growing and changing. New renters are always welcome.

'We have renters from all over the area and we're anxious to have more. All they have to do is fill out a card." Gall said.

Books serve up lots of insight into learning

SINCE THE week that just was was the week in which many area kids started back to school, I think it's time we got to a subject I've been meaning to talk about for some time: school books.

No, I don't mean textbooks. I mean books about schools and learning, books that offer help and advice to concerned parents, books that bring readers into today's classrooms, books that bring us closer to teachers, that help us better to see our own children, that help us to gain clearer and more complete picture of the educational process itself, that show us how to bring about change where it's needed in our schools.

Sliding SAT scores, illiteracy problems, rising dropout rates and teacher shortages — they're all part of the picture in hundreds of schools across the country. As the problems grow, the appeal of "school books" increases, not just for parents of school children, but for every one of

Educator Healy, believing our present methods of teaching are faulty, bases her conclusions on neuropsychological studies that reveal how children learn, plus her own observations of classroom techniques.

S YOU walk into the little gift shop, Betty Omar's em-broidered sweat shirts are the first handcrafted items to catch your attention. The shirts are displayed on the entrance door.

The Friends of the Livonia Library Gift Shop, in the atrium of the Livonia Civic Center Library at Farmington Road south of Five Mile, is crammed with jewelry, Although other states have gift hops in their libraries, the idea is new to Michigan, Bennett said.

"We opened about a year ago," the Livonia resident said. "The Livonia Civic Center Library is the first in Michigan to open a gift shop in its library. We thought Betty's shirts would be a great item to sell here because so many Bentley grads live in the area."

"I GOT the idea because myself, my husband, Ronald and oldest daughter, Susan, graduated from Bentley," said Omar, a Livonia resident and Bentley graduate.

"Our youngest daughter, Becky, would have graduated from Bentley also if there had been a graduation class in 1986. Becky spent her senior year at Churchill instead."

When Bentley was closed, there was a big brouhaha," Omar said. 'A lot of people were very upset."

The Roman poet Horace (65-8 B.C.) said, "Adversity has the effect of eliciting talents which, in prosperous circumstances, would have lain dormant." So Omar decided to make sweat shirts out of the adversity stemming from the closing of Bentley.

"The first shirt I monogrammed took 45 minutes. Now I can finish a shirt in a half hour," Omar said. "The monogramming is done on a machine like a sewing machine."

The sweat shirts come in white with green lettering or with white lettering on a green sweat shirt.

Omar said she'll "monogram sweat shirts with just about any kind of an inscription on them' from "I love my Irish Wolfhound" to the logos of Ford, Porsche, Newsweek, Nescafe and others, which can be legally copied.

Omar prefers to have one week to complete a customized sweat shirt order, but if it's needed in a hurry, she can have it ready within three days.

The cost of her custom sweat shirt is $20.

IN ADDITION TO sweat shirts, the gift shop carries jewelry designed by Claire Edwards of Livonia, a recent graduate of the Detroit Center for Creative Studies, and Janet Snyder of Livonia.

The earrings, pins and necklaces la Carte, are large, colorful creations. Snyder's handmade jewelry is finely beaded.

The gift shop carries woodcarv-ings of Saint Nicholas by Don Lenz of Livonia. The handwoven baskets are made of sumac, lilac or maple.

The customized City of Livonia mugs are made by Debbie LaRocque of Livonia. She specializes in making personalized mugs with photos, business cards, draw-ings, logos or whatever you desire, printed on them.

Viola Canfield's handwoven baskets, Don Lenz's woodcarvings of Saint Nicholas and Debbie Larocque's personalized mugs are only a few of the items sold at the gift shop.

Kitchen design lags recycling

Trash separation and recycling may be the wave of the future, but you'd never know it from local designers and builders.

Little seems to be on the market or drawing board to help deal with sorting, storage and disposal of glass, metal, plastic and paper waste in kitchens.

Ask what's happening and you get responses like, "Absolutely nothing, as far as I'm concerned," said Gene Brown, president of a Plymouth construction company.

"You're asking a good question. Nobody's giving up extra space for papers, plastics. Why, I don't know. Something probably should be done," Brown added.

His was far from being a lonely voice in the wilderness.

"It's all in its infancy," said Stuart Cykiert, owner of Lenwal Building Co. of Farmington Hills. "You know how it is - we're all reactive rather than proactive. We're just waiting to see what happens."

Hear Rodger Houck, owner of Creative Kitchens of Rochester. "There's nothing really happening." And James Allcorn, owner of Bloomfield Custom Kitchens.

"IT'S JUST beginning to come to a head now," he said. "I think our association (National Kitchen & Bath) will start addressing it soon."

Recycling and separation of recyclables probably will drastically change the lives of families who now dump all of their trash into one bag. Separate storage compartments would require more room than a single compactor or receptacle.

Then there's the matter of attrac-

'We were out to a kitchen and bath show last spring in Chicago," said Kevin Fox, a designer for Robert R. Jones Associates in West Bloomfield. "I noticed a number of companies supply kitchen cabinets a sort of pantry unit with a series of bins for separate items.

"I think this sort of thing will filter down fairly quickly," he added. But perhaps not until recycling is (recycling) is not unlike the business of energy conservation," Fox said. 'Very few customers are interested in spending money on extra insulation.

"I'm only guessing, but if you apply that same line of thinking, why spend money for extra cabinet space and figure I'm not going to use it,"

Not a single customer has asked for recycling elements in the kitchen yet, Fox said. Houck reported "no demand" and Allcorn only a couple of inquiries. Trash separation seems inevitable, regardless of current demand for a working area to accomplish that objective. Cykiert suggested that the kitchen isn't the best place to deal with recyclables, especially in smaller

"We have a cove area in the garage - a multipurpose area - for tools, storage. They'll do it there," he Allcorn and Fox also mentioned that the garage may be a better site than kitchen.

BUT IF THE kitchen is the room of choice, expect cabinetry design to provide solutions.

Allcorn said he now sells a popular storage cabinet in which two plastic or wire bins pull out on a track. However, more bins are needed for trash separation. More bins will add weight to the system and could affect the ease with which they slide on the track. "Maybe in the upper end of the market, builders will supply Trashmasters for glass and papers," Cykiert said facetiously.

Enter Paul Sincock, assistant city manager in Plymouth. "Some of the homes I've seen have multiple trash compactors," he said.

Sincock is in charge of Plymouth's recycling program.

"Should a builder plan for space for a recyclable area in the kitchen? Yes. If not in the house, in the garage area," he said.

"Plan for space. Recycling programs are changing on a daily basis. What works today may not work a month from now, six months from now or a year from now," Sincock

Moving forward on Auburn Mills

Work was expected to resume at the site of the Auburn Mills mega-mall in Auburn Hills after an Oakland County judge last week dismissed two lawsuits filed to block the project. Opponents, concerned about expansion of urban sprawl, traffic congestion and damage to the environment, have said they will appeal. Western Development Corp. says the $200 million regional mega-mall with nine anchor and five major stores, more than 200 discount shops and a hotel will provide jobs and property tax revenues without a net destruction of wetlands acreage. A trial on further wetland matters remains to be scheduled on an expedited basis. No official groundbreaking ceremony or major structural work is expected until all legal challenges have been resolved. Meanwhile, Western Development plans to move forward on site preparations. To date, preliminary work has included grading for road improvements, moving some trees and demolition of a couple of houses. The mall is expected to open in the fall of 1992. Stores are billed as selling merchandise at 20-60 percent below retail prices. The development will be built on 200 acres bounded by 1-75, Baldwin, Joselyn and Lake Angelus roads.

Less tolerance for drug abuse in construction

By Mary Rodrique staff writer

Sawed-off fingers, spilt wheelbarrow loads of cement, and self-inflicted nailgun wounds were traumas one construction company suffered.

The bizarre accidents and screwups compounded by tools stolen from job sites finally led the San Diego Fence Co. to drug test its employees. The results: 15 out of 43 workers either failed or refused to be tested

In a nationwide poll of eight industries, construction workers had the dubious distinction of rating the highest in substance abuse problems, according to Builder magazine.

That statistic echoes the findings of a 1987 University of Michigan survey that found 10 to 15 percent of all construction workers are substance abusers. Subsance abuse costs the industry at least $20 billion annually in absenteeism, health care, accidents and workers compensation.

"I think there's far more awareness today of the problem and less tolerance," said William Maloney, U-M associate professor of civil engineering and a former construction engineer who headed the survey.

Commissioned by the Construction Industry Institute, the survey said at least 600,000 of the nation's six million construction industry workers had a problem.

'More than 100 contractors and architectural firms took the report and developed programs and work-shops to combat the problems," Maloney said.

He cited an Albuquerque firm, New Mexico's largest contractor, which implemented a safety program in tandem with drug testing. The result: Worker compensation dropped from $950,000 to under $50,000 in a year.

SOME LOCAL builders feel the worst is over in terms of substance abuse in the workplace.

"It appears that construction workers have cleaned up their act considerably," said James Bonadeo, president of Bonadeo Builders and spokesman for the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan.

"There is much less lost time (due to substance abuse) than there was three or four years ago," Bonadeo

Just a few years ago, Bonadeo recalls a time when a crew would work until 10 a.m., "pass the smokes around at coffee break," have an unproductive late morning, break for lunch and call it a day.

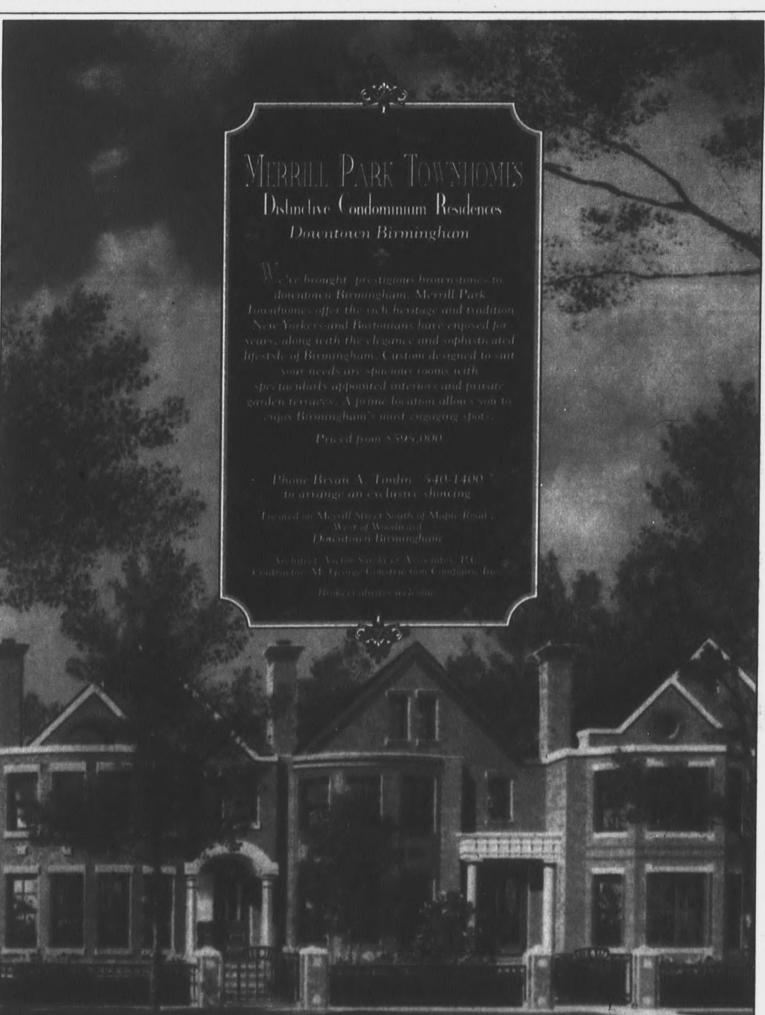

"I think the young men have ob-served too much of what happens when they become drug dependent. They've seen what has happened to other people. The industry is relatively clean today," he said.

To some extent alcohol abuse remains, Bonadeo said.

A spokesman for Nosan Cohen & Associates, a West Bloomfield-based builder, agrees "there's always potential in the industry for alcohol to be a problem, what with guys who want to cut out at 3 o'clock. But personally we don't have a problem with drug abuse. It's a big zero."

IN FACT, alcohol was the drug of greatest abuse cited in the U-M

GE testing house built of plastic components

Architects will tell you there defi-nitely is a trend to make many building types, including laboratories, more personalized and homelike. General Electric's $,000-square-foot Living Environments Laboratory, created to test an entire spec-trum of plastic housing components, carries this design concept to the

Located in a residential area close to GE's Plastics Technology Center in Pittsfield, Mass., the research lab serves as an experiment in but one of the company's many interests outside of electricity and light bulbs. The Living Environments Laboratory displays a number of building materials and systems that are designed to be adaptable to a more typically sized 1,200-square-foot, expandable house for the future.

Architect David George of the firm Richardson Nagy Martin in Newport Beach, Calif., designed the prototype.

The lab, called the Plastic House, maintains a traditional American home look, especially from the out-side. The siding, which looks like wood, was developed specifically for the project using an extruded plastic resin that has improved weathering capabilities. Inside the wall, experimental insulation of corrugated wood panels coated with a fire protective thermoplastic skin functions like a giant thermos bottle to regulate the inside temperature. The roof incorporates plastic composite shin-gles and molded plastic panels. Perhaps the most striking element of the house is the part that normally isn't seen: the way that all the environmental systems are controlled and linked together. A Total Envi-ronmental Control unit integrates the systems for heating, cooling, water conditioning and heat recovery. For example, the TEC water collection system in the basement can take water directly from an integrated gutter system, which also can be used for heat storage. ADDITIONAL COMPONENTS, such as waste heat recovery units, can be added to the lines as snap-on units. All of the TEC units can be plugged in and out like household appliances. All the piping in the house can be accessed through pop-off wall and floor panels. Hard foam plastic underfloor tiles, shaped like an up-side down eggcrate, form a grid through which pipes can be run. Electronics in the Total Living Environments lab are equally well integrated. Molded baseboards include raceways that carry electrical power, telecommunications, tem-perature controls and security sys-tems to a central computer control. Door frames contain space for wire raceways and integral light switches. A liquid crystal control changes the window glass from transparent to frosted as natural light changes.

Recycling also plays an important part in the GE Living Environments Laboratory. Concrete for the basement floor and the walks outside the house incorporates aggregate made of recycled thermoplastic. A dispos-ing unit in the kitchen reduces domestic plastic waste to recyclable pellets. Other portions of the house demonstrate state-of-the-art equipment, such as a complete exercise unit in the master bedroom.

Drug abuse in construction

"It's an issue the industry historically tolerated," Maloney said. "Workers drank beer right on the job. Even television commercials showed iron workers breaking for Miller time.

"Although many people do not consider it a drug, alcohol is the most abused drug by a significant margin," he added. "On-site construction workers are the last of the macho cowboys."

The survey was conducted as the country grap-pled with substance abuse. More organizations are willing to begin drug screening. Unions run drug testing programs where clean workers are given a certificate of health.

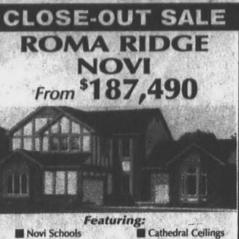

Of the 250 contractors who responded to the survey, 136 said they perceived a serious drug problem throughout the industry, while only six reported no problem at all. Fifty one said the problem among their own employees was serious, compared to 138 who said substance abuse in house was not serious.

"Health care, workers compensation, absenteeism, accidents, injuries and turnover rates all are higher because of substance abuse," Maloney said. "Impaired workers are not as careful in their work and tend to cause accidents or create safety prob-

SUBSTANCE ABUSE is by no means confined to construction craftsmen, Maloney added.

"It occurs throughout construction organizations, from the carpenter in the field to the project mana-ger in the office, to the designer at the computer," Maloney said.

Designers, the group that includes architects, draftsmen and urban planners, estimated the low-est rate of substance abuse in the industry. Individual design firms reported the rate of substance abuse among their own workers at 3 percent. Of the 52 designers who responded, only five perceived a serious drug problem in the industry.

Routine care can save money later

IT'S THAT time: to batten down the hatches and bundle up the house. Fall is the best time to get the house ready to do battle with the winds, rains and snows of winter. And routine care can mean saving on major future expenses.

Starting at the top often is the best bet - and that means the roof. Examine it for broken or curled shingles that can mean leaks. Roofing experts say a 20-year-old roof with evident signs of wear should be checked and, likely, replaced.

Have the chimney checked annually. Chimney sweeps recommend a full cleaning after about 180 uses

Pull out the ladder and make for the gutters this fall. Clear out all gutters and downspouts and check for any alignment or leakage problems

One way to keep unwanted snow and ice from gutters is by installing heat tapes in a zigzag pattern along the last few courses of shingles and in the gutter trough.

Gutter guards that keep leaves from accumulating are a good preventive measure.

WINDOWS OFTEN are the big culprit when it comes to drafts and loss of heat in the house. They should be caulked every two or three years. Putty where it's necessary. Take down the screens and put up the storms. Replace any loose weatherstripping around the doors.

The cold can cause extreme damage to water lines so insulate any pipes that might be subject to freezing. While you're still outside. check the driveway for any cracks and seal them

This special fall home improvement guide, appearing today in all editions of the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, is intended to provide a backdrop for getting in the proper spruceup spirit.

F YOU'RE trying to decide whether to remodel your house or look for another one, there's no easy answer.

Whether remodeling is a good investment depends largely upon what you're doing, how much you're spending and where you live.

"The improvements would have to be attractive across the marketplace. not just to the owner," said Bowen Broock, president of Max Broock Realtors in Birmingham.

And if you're considering major improvements, you might also consider moving.

"A lot of families move within 2-3 years after complete redecoration of their home," he said. "Some people feel it's wise, when they get that urge, to consider another house."

IF YOU decide to go ahead with major home improvements, you should consider how much the improvements will raise the value of your house. That could play a factor in the resale value.

Clean it before deciding to refinish dull furniture

special writer

FTEN FURNITURE doesn't need to be refinished. It's just irty and needs to be cleaned. "Before you do anything else, just apply mineral spirits to a rag and clean the piece of furniture, or even a hardwood floor," advises wood care guru Homer Formby. "You'll be surprised what will come off, and you can save yourself a lot of work.

In the mid-'50s, Formby owned 17 antique stores. Frustrated because he couldn't find men to learn the art of refinishing, he developed his own "goof-proof" finishing products, and went on to become the "Ann Landers of furniture problems.

To clean a floor easily, Formby recommends that you put a rag over a wax applicator, and dip the mineral spirits from a roller pan, such as is used for paint

If the piece looks worse clean than dirty, refinishing is the answer.

HERE. FORMBY shares a list of tips that will make your furniture refinishing easier and more successful:

• Identify the finish. Varnish, lacquer and shellac should be removed by different processes than paint and polyurethane. To identify the finish. touch a spot with a cotton ball dampened with nail polish remover. If the cotton ball sticks or softens the finish, it's varnish, lacquer or shellac. If there's no effect, it's polyurethane.

• Pick the right product. Avoid products that have a water base or require a water rinse. Water can cause extensive damage to wood. Also, the best finishing products don't require sanding after the finish is removed.

• Read the instructions thoroughly and follow them.

 Protect decorative trim. Cover with heavy-duty plastic to protect and cut down on cleanup.

• Choose your work area. Refinishing projects should be undertaken in a well-ventilated area with good lighting

• Use a furniture refinisher that will gently dissolve old finishes without damaging wood.

• Pour out at least two cups of refinisher. This slows evaporation and will make your product go farther. Use only deep metal containers, like a coffee can.

· Work on one small area, about the size of a dinner plate, at a time.

• Absorb excess finish. You can use a cotton cloth. dry fine steel wool or finish remover pads · Work from the top down

 When choosing a paint remover. go for the heavyweight. The heavier • Paint removers work best when the temperature is between 65 and 85.

• The older the paint, the harder it will be to remove. "If you know you're dealing with aged paint." Formby said, "apply generous amounts of paint remover and allow a little extra time for it to work.

• Stroke in one direction.

• Use a plastic lifter, rather than a metal one, to lift the old paint. Metal is more likely to scratch the wood.

• To get paint out of wood grain. carvings or other tight spots, use a genuine brass brush. Brush in one direction only to remove paint pigments. Brass brushes will stand up to wood and won't scratch when used correctly.

• After removing the paint. immediately "wash" the wood with paint remover wash on steel wool.

• Protect the wood. Whatever type of finish you remove. don't forget to apply a new protective coating of tung oil varnish or polyurethane to the wood "Look for finishes that can be hand rubbed." Formby said. "Hand rubbing gives you a finish that will last and look naturally beautiful

For toasty comfort, try these cost-efficient tips

special writer

THEN IT'S blustery and chilly outdoors, it's nice to come home to a house that's toasty and cozy. But toasty and cozy can be costly if you're relying on outdated, inefficient heating systems or fireplaces that send more heat up the chimney than into the house.

Luckily, your options for heating your home when temperatures drop are numerous. Books, such as 'Heating, Cooling, Ventilation" by Jay Hedden (Creative Homeowner Press), outline the choices, as well as their pros and cons.

WOOD WAYS

Whether you go through harsh winters in the Midwest or mild ones in the Southwest, the fireplace is more than a homey amenity. Stone fireplaces are particularly efficient as they radiate heat into the structure of the house, offering warmth long after the fire has died.

Wood-burning stoves are an ideal source if you have an inexpensive, plentiful supply of wood. The downside is that wood-burning stoves cause pollution. But more manufacturers are outfitting their stoves with catalytic converters, which cut polluting wood particles by as much as 60 percent, according to Hedden.

If you opt for a wood-burning stove, invest in a high-quality steel plate or a cast-iron model. A good, 500-pound stove will radiate heat for hours after the fire has gone out.

When using fireplaces or wood-burning stoves, the kind of wood you use makes a difference. Varieties, such as dogwood, live oak, apple, black birch or white ash, have high heat value. Black spruce, red fir, noble fir and white spruce have a low heat value. If you want warmth. obviously, choose a

By Joan Boram special writer

JUST love over-the-counter furniture refinishing products. Not quite the sentiment you'd expect from Steve Szuba, owner of Farmington's Old World Refinishing Ltd.

But the cherubic Szuba has a good reason for his fondness for do-it yourself wood products:

"They bring me a lot of business, he said with a broad smile. "Either they don't perform as the client expects them to, or the client gets discouraged half way through, and I finish the project for him."

Eighty percent of the furniture refinished at Old World is antique But a specialty of Szuba's firm is repairing and refinishing furniture damaged by fire.

"We've been called in where homes have burned to the ground. The pieces that we restore in case of fire are not necessarily old, or even valuable. People realize that restoring even badly damaged pieces is only one-third of the price of buying new and if the pieces are 20 or more years old, they're better made than even the finest new

Old World offers furniture refinishing, repairs, stripping, seat weaving and caning.

SZUBA OUTLINES the steps involved in quality refinishing:

The first step is regluing and repairing. Chairs are completely disassembled and broken dowels replaced. After the chair is glued, it is put into clamps for 24 hours. "This forces the glue into the pores and cell structure of the wood," Szuba said. "A properly glued joint is stronger than the wood itself without the use of nails

Next, the piece is stripped, entirely by hand. "It's a painstaking process." Szuba said, "but it won't crack or dry out your furniture. like tank dipping

Then the project is thoroughly hand-sanded, eliminating small dents. Large dents are filled.

F YOU can read a tape measure, scrape with a putty knife and turn a screwdriver, you can add new beauty to a dreary looking, old steel door.

It's quick, easy and inexpensive, and will do wonders for the looks of your home's entryway, all of which adds up to a perfect warm weather, do-it-yourself, mini-project.

Almost any steel door with a window in it (the trade calls them "doorlights"), with or without smaller windows at the sides (they're called "sidelights"), is a candidate for revival.

Appropriately enough, the replacement doorlights and sidelights needed for the job are named Revival. And the Revival series offers three designs for homeowners to choose from.

SINCE REVIVAL replacement lights are readily available, and installation requires no caulking or other mess, your toughest tasks will involve measuring and, then, selecting your favorite design.

You can choose from Morning Mist, an etched floral design; First Frost, frosted glass with fluted accents; and Sunrise Splendor, a combination of one-of-a-kind, frosted glass and etched glass.

After taking the measurements. selecting and buying your choice of replacement lights, removing the old ones and scraping away the remains of the caulking used to install them, the Revival process is a simple matter of setting in the new units and using a Phillip's head screwdriver to secure them in place.

Since the outside frames come precaulked, nothing more is needed to assure a weathertight seal. The project is complete when you paint the frame to match the door, or re-do the entire entryway for a totally new look.

high heat value. For ambiance, select wood with a lower heat value.

Hedden also suggests mixing green wood with dry to make the fire burn more slowly. And use care disposing of ashes: scoop them out of the stove or fireplace with a metal shovel and put them in a metal container in case there are hot coals among the ashes.

Once you have the right wood, there is the challenge of starting the fire. This "very basic act," Hedden said, "can frustrate a beginning fire maker."

Always open the damper, light newspaper and kindling wood, then add larger pieces of wood. Never use gasoline to start a fire.

Have your fireplace or wood-burning stove cleaned and inspected by a chimney sweep every year to clean away highly flammable creosote and check the damper.

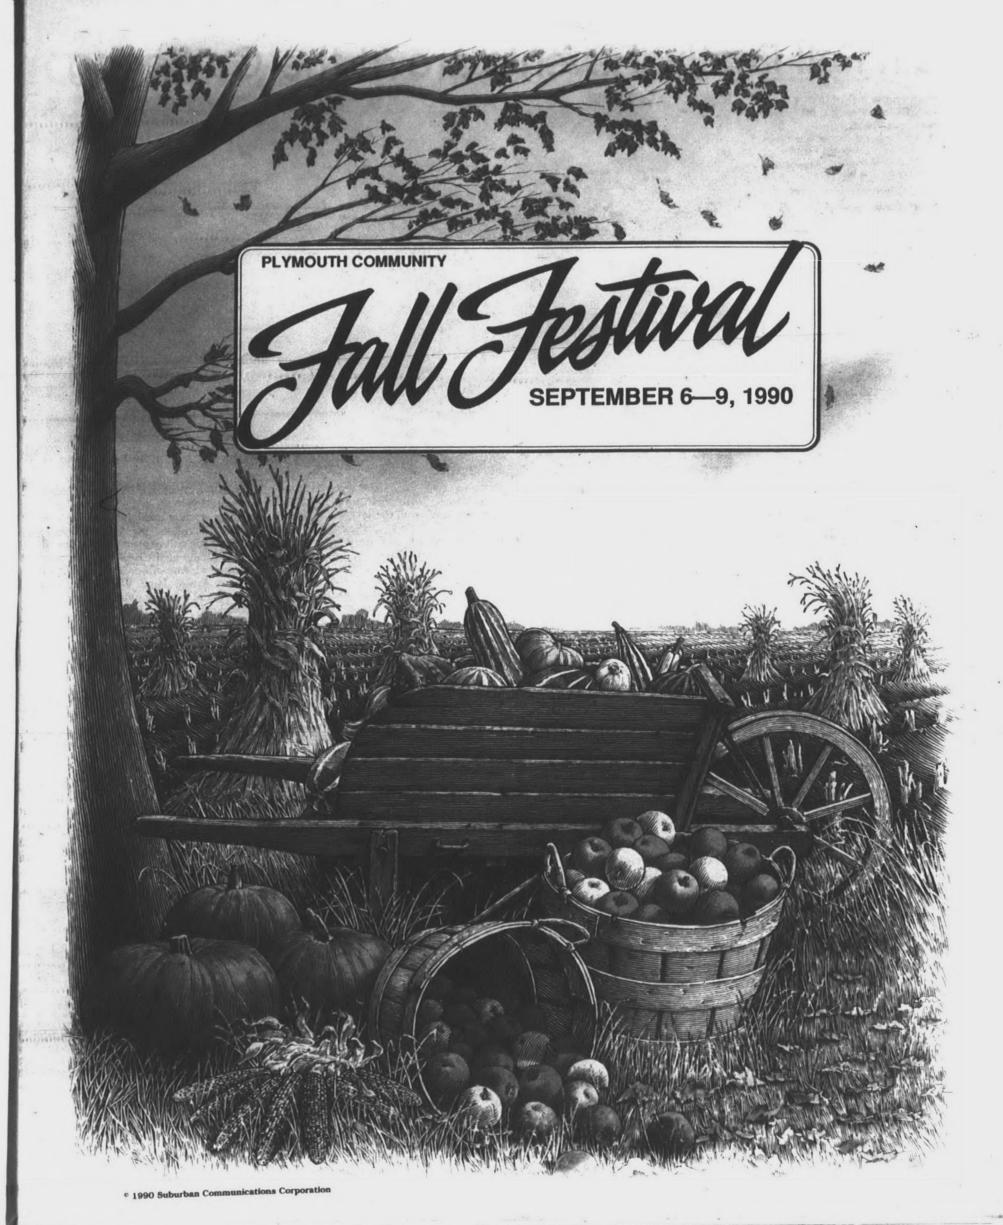

• HEATING METHODS

Homes can be heated in a variety of ways and how your home is heated, says Hedden, depends on when it was built. Houses older than 50 years often have gravity hot air, water or steam systems. Newer homes often use forced hot air.

"No matter how old your heating plant is, if it is working well, don't replace it just to get a more modern system." Hedden said. "The difference in efficiency may be so slight that you will never recover the cost of the new heating appliance."

You can, however, improve and modify a less-than-perfect system by improving your home's ventilation or bolstering its insulation, both of which are important for energy conservation and efficiency during hot and cold months.

Firefighters sponsor safety house

One popular exhibit at the Fall Festival last year was the children's Fire Safety House

The house gives children a firsthand safety presentation on fire in the home. The city of Plymouth Fire Fighters along with some help from other departments give children a fire safety lesson and the place them inside the house, which is sized for children, for some real life experience with smoke in a house. The smoke used at the fire safety house is a special non-toxic theatrical type smoke so no harm will come to any of the participants.

Expenses related to bringing the Fire Safety House to Plymouth for the festival are being met by the Plymouth Rotary Club.

Plymouth and that tradition will be carried on again this year starting today when the festival gets going.

The events range from a good old fashioned chicken barbecue sponsored by the Plymouth Rotary Club to art and craft shows. But between the two that appeal to every taste.

Rotary Club started Fall Festival

The annual Plymouth Community Fall Festival was started by the Plymouth Rotary Club in 1956.

More than 30 years ago the local Rotary Club had the idea to host a community picnic at a neighborhood park to raise money for playground equipment for that park.

The Rotarians banded together and served 500 chicken dinners at Hamilton Park, located at Wing Harding streets. The park is now called Jaycee

Since 1956 the Plymouth Rotary Club Chicken Dinner has grown from serving 500 dinners to as many as

The purpose for the Rotarians work has changed from playground equipment to earning money for a wide variety of community projects and world community service projects.

The Plymouth Rotary Foundation annually gives money for student scholarships and funded the fountain in Kellogg Park and Plymouth Rotary Park is located at Wing and Herald streets. This park has some highly popular new playground equipment due in part to the Rotary Chicken

While the Plymouth Rotary Chicken Dinner has grown in size over the years, the one day community picnic has grown into a full blown four-day event. The four day event now serves the needs of many of the Plymouth Community non-profit organizations.

If, for example, the improvements will raise the value of your house from $70,000 to $100,000, but the houses in your neighborhood average in price at about $70,000, you may not get back what you put into it.

"Chances are, you won't get it (the value) out," said Bill Bliss, president of William O. Bliss and Associates in Farmington Hills, an appraisal firm. "You're pricing yourself out of the market. If people are looking for a $100,000 house, they're not going to look in a $70,000 neighborhood.'

Substantial improvements are worthwhile on certain lake-front properties as well as areas like Birmingham, where land values are rising and covering the cost of the improvement, "But that's the exception rather than the rule.' Broock said.

*Improvements may also be worth your while if you plan on doing them yourself. "If you're handy, you can come out pretty well with minor and even major improvements," Broock

Though they made the improvements for their personal enjoyment, it increased the value of their house as well

"We remodeled basically for our own enjoyment, but also hoping that it would improve the value of the house.' Sheri said. "And it did. We got the asking price for our house within a

The asking price, Torch said, was about $10,000 more than the average value of houses in the neighborhood. "We did everything ourselves. That's where the savings were." she said

Though people are still remodeling their houses, the trend is moving toward buying new homes, according to Shelley Raymond, president of Baker Street Interiors Limited in Livonia.

When people do decide to remodel. they're looking to please themselves rather than future buyers. "More and more people are doing it the way they want it," Raymond said.

Certain improvements probably won't raise the value of your home while others will.

A real wine cellar, with temperature and humidity controls to protect quantities of precious vintages, is something that's beyond most people who live in average apartments and

But Palace Brands Co., which imports wines, says anyone can create a small cellar in a closet.

Choose a closet used for off-season storage because the temperature will remain constant and cooler than one opened every day. Reserve about two square feet of floor space, add a wine rack, and collect a cellarage of 12 to 24 bottles.

The closet clutter - clothes, sports equipment, or whatever - will help maintain a good climate for the wine storage, away from light, heat and

• DO-IT-YOURSELF

The following simple home maintenance projects and suggestions can save you hundreds of dollars.

Water damage can sneak up on you Check and repair the caulking around sinks and tubs regularly, reseal tile grout as needed, and make sure your landscape drainage directs water away from the home's foundation.

Next time it rains hard, head for the attic. Look for leaks, and if necessary. make plans to repair the roof. Catch a leak early and you won't have to repair or repaint ceilings and walls in rooms below the attic Moisture, wind, heat and cold can warp, fade and damage outdoor decks. Make sure the wood is completely dry then apply a protective sealant. (Ask for recommendations, based on the type of wood and degree of exposure. at your local paint and hardware

Check your garage door - particularly if it is a mechanical one. Tighten the screws and oil the hinges; read the owner's manual and follow the maintenance suggestions.

• CLEANING TIPS

Vacuuming once or twice a week helps preserve your carpet. If seams have separated, call a carpet repairman immediately.

When you clean windows, also clean window tracks. Rub a candle or paraffin wax along tracks to lubricate them - it's easier on nylon rollers and won't attract dust. Make sure "weepholes" are clean and unobstructed, so water won't accumulate.

Throw salt in your fireplace. It helps prevent soot accumulation and adds color to flames.

Avoid washing wood cabinets - instead, treat them like fine furniture Dust regularly and polish with lemon oil. Pay particular attention to cabinets exposed to moisture and heat such as those near the sink and dishwasher) If you have hardwood floors, first vacuum them to lift the dirt, then dust mop Buff occasionally and rewax once

The key to a successful remodel is finding the right contractor. A rule of thumb is that good contractors make good contracts. Make sure everything is in writing: detailed plans, project scheduling, reasonable prices, types and amounts of materials - then have your lawyer review everything.

Narrow your search for the right contractor by asking local architects and designers for referrals. And be sure to talk to any neighbors and friends who have recently remodeled their homes

When you find a promising contractor, make sure he's solvent. The worst thing that can happen is for your contractor to go out of business in the middle of the job. Check his fiscal health by calling his regular subcontractors and suppliers. Ask if he pays promptly.

To find out if a contractor is reliable, interview past clients. Ask how well he met deadlines, estimated his fees, and solved problems that arose during the job.

• COOL WEATHER

check the putty around window glass. Paint over it to seal it, or, if it is crumbly, replace it. Take down the screens and install storm windows.

Inspect the roof. You don't want to have to replace shingles during a storm, so take care of any loose ones now. While you're up there, make sure gutters and downspouts are free from blockages. Inspect the metal flashing around the chimney and reseal it if Trim the bushes and trees in your yard, and repair fences and walls. If driveways or walkways are cracked, have them sealed. Also seal any cracks in the home's foundation.

How's the paint on your house? Now's the time to sand and patch any peeling areas.

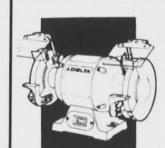

Check the heating system, remove room air conditioners, and if it hazbeen a while since the chimney was cleaned, make an appointment with a chimney sweep. Check your home's hot water heater, and service any radi-

Tip talk: cabinets, faucets, circuits

Q. - I have built-in corner cabinets in my dining room that I painted to match the room trim. The cabinet doors are pine, and after two years, the knots are bleeding through and looking really bad. The doors now have four coats of paint but it doesn't stop the bleeding. Is there an easy way to seal these knots to prevent this from happening again when I repaint the doors?

A. — Probably your cabinet doors were not primed and sealed prior to the original painting. The Parks Corp. of Somerset. Mass., has a product called UnderCover, which they claim will keep wood-knot and sap stains HOMEFACTS low secure is your home?

sealed beneath its prime undercoat. UnderCover is available in paint stores and costs about $20 a gallon.

Don't add a fifth coat of paint to the cabinet doors. Strip off the four coats now on the doors and sand all the rough areas for a smooth, clean surface. Apply the UnderCover primer paint, let it dry thoroughly and then

Q. — I have a problem with the shower diverter on my bathtub faucet. When the knob is pulled up to divert water to the shower, a lot of water continues to flow into the tub. Is there any way either to replace or repair this fixture without having to open up the

A. — Yes. The diverter valve mechanism you refer to is inside the tub faucet spout, not inside the wall. The spout is screwed onto the water pipe and can be unscrewed easily. Once the spout is off, you can see the mechanism. It's a small gate valve on the base of the plunger shaft. Water pressure holds it up (closed position). Turn off the water and the gate valve drops, opening the tub spout so water flows into the tub next time it's turned

If the diverter can't be repaired, it's cheap and easy enough to replace the entire spout, including the diverter mechanism. These spouts are available at plumbing supply stores and home centers and usually cost between $10 replacing the entire panel box with a new one that would cost between $500 and $600. Is there a safe but more reasonable solution?

A. — There may be a more reasonable solution than replacing the entire electrical panel box. Your split bus panel is not causing your circuit breaker problem even though it is not in compliance with the latest electrical

After 25 years, if a circuit breaker has never tripped it is possible that corrosive deposits have formed that would cause the breaker to stick and malfunction. As a precautionary measure, it's a good idea, at least once a year, to trip the breaker (move it to the off position) and reset it for each circuit, including the master disconnect, if there is one. Replacing all your breakers, especially those that are hard to trip and reset by hand, is cheaper than a new panel.

The greater your space-heating requirements, generally the greater your hot water bill. That's a lot of money for hot water!

Many homes have a separate water heater, with a burner to do the heating.

Although the energy factor for a gasfired water heater is as low as .40, the more typical is .55.

But more important than efficiency to the homeowner is the actual cost for the hot water his family normally uses. For example, a 40-gallon, gasfired water heater, with delivery the first hour of 65 gallons, would cost about $190 per year if the gas rate is 60 cents per therm

A 40-gallon electric water heater, on the other hand, may have an energy factor of .90, and could deliver about 45 gallons the first hour, but would cost $482 per year to operate if the electric rate is 81/2 cents per kilowatt

MILLIONS OF homes, however, obtain their domestic hot water without needing a storage tank or separate water heater. They use a simple device called a "tankless heater." a coil of copper tubing that's inserted in the hot water of a boiler.

Cold, fresh water feeds into the copper tubing, which picks up heat from the hot boiler water. The water remains in the tankless tubing until a hot water faucet is opened.

During the heating season when the boiler is operating, fuel used for water heating is directly in ratio to the amount of hot water used, the boiler itself being used to heat the house, explains the Better Heating-Cooling Council.

During warm weather, the domestic hot water continues to be heated in this way by means of the automatic controls, which are provided with the boiler, even though the house heating is cut off by the thermostat.

These are some additional facts for the energy-conscious consumer to keep in mind when making a decision on a

CONSIDER THE importance of garage doors and openers. When opened by hand, a garage door should operate smoothly and lift easily with no binding. The mainspring used to lift the door is installed under tremendous tension and can be very dangerous when proper precautions are not taken. If a door needs to be adjusted or replaced, it should be done by a professional.

There are three different types of garage opener systems. Trac drive systems are the easiest to install, are quiet running and never need lubrication or maintenance. Chain drive openers use a gear and chain system that require periodic lubrication and adjustment. Screw or worm drive units use a long-threaded rod that turns to open the door.

Once installed, occasional lubrication is needed. Review safety, convenience and security features when buying a garage door opener.

Plan ways to control trash and clutter in the garage. A versatile wet/ dry utility jet vacuum will help keep your new workshop or gardening center free of dirt, sawdust and debris as well as any liquid spills.
