Board member questions anti-drug program

By Kevin Brown staff writer

Some features of the anti-drug program geared to elementary stu-dents in the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools are being questioned by a school board member

Dr. E. J. McClendon, a long-time professor of public health at the Uni-versity of Michigan, wrote, "It is not my intent to nit-pick the DARE effort, but these are critical issues that need to be resolved."

The Drug Abuse Resistance Education program, founded in Los Angeles in 1983 and spread to schools throughout the country, seeks to teach kids how to resist peer pres-sure to use drugs and alcohol in classroom sessions headed by uniformed police officers.

Also through the program, kids are encouraged to see officers as friends, as the DARE officer eats lunch and takes recess with kids.

McClendon outlined his concerns ing message touted by DARE offi-

'To be perfectly honest, this has been the only negative letter we've received, but it's not totally negative.'

> - Lt. Tom Miller Michigan State Police prevention services unit

in a letter to Michigan State Police Director Col. R.T. Davis.

Among the concerns stated in the letter, McClendon questioned: the practice of some DARE officers sending teachers out of classrooms when police officers present the program; calling DARE officers teachers when state law requires teachers to earn a certificate; and officers making a schedule of when they'll be in the schools when the principal is responsible for such scheduling.

McClendon said he's also concerned that the no-alcohol, no-smok-cers to children can differ from values held by their parents, and such a message risks causing conflict in the Davis responded in a recent letter, McClendon said. As to DARE officers sending teachers out of a classroom when the DARE officer is making a presentation, "He said that if any DARE officer is doing that, that's wrong," McClendon said.

"The law requires a licensed teacher to be in charge of students at all times," McClendon added.

Responding to another concern posed by McClendon, Lt. Tom Miller of the MSP prevention services unit said police and school officials meet before the school year begins to work out schedules.

"To be perfectly honest, this has been the only negative letter we've received, but it's not totally negative," Miller said.

In the letter, McClendon noted he "recently voted in favor of imple-menting the DARE program in our schools, as did our entire board."

He said the changes suggested could be implemented "with no de-monstrable damage to the program.'

"In 1967, I wrote the first drug abuse prevention curriculum guide ever done for Michigan's schools," McClendon wrote. "It gives me pause to think how many things are in that guide which we now know are not valid," he said, adding students who have gone through the DARE program should be studied to determine if the program is getting results.

Dr. E. J. McClendon, a long-time professor of public health at the University of Michigan, wrote, "It is not my intent to nit pick the DARE effort, but these are critical issues that need to

Canton officials cool to plan for airport authority

By M.B. Dillon and Kevin Brown staff writers

Canton officials are less than enthused about a Mettetal Airport authority recently proposed by Plymouth Township.

Our board took a position at the time we voted 5-2 in opposition to purchase the airport not to encourage the creation of an authority," said Canton Supervisor Tom Yack.

"I don't think the board would close their eyes to a proposal, even though they're on record saying they didn't want to encourage anyone to create an authority.'

Canton trustees don't see Mettetal as having the kind of value "that would justify the creation of an authority and possibly the spending of taxpayer dollars in the pursuit of the airport.'

Plymouth Township trustees started looking at the possibility of forming an authority to buy the airport which is located in Canton Township.

The creation of such an authority would mean that Plymouth Township taxpayers would not be liable for any problems at the airport, according to Maurice Breen, Plymouth Township supervisor. Township trustees voted to act "to assist in the formation of an airport authority . . . for the purpose of making application to the Michigan Aeronautics Commission and the Federal Aviation Agency for funds that can be used to acquire the Mettetal Airport property," according to the resolution passed by trus-

'There's also the potential of it becoming a money pit. We would forever have to tax the citizens of Canton Township to run the airport. It has yet to be proven to me that that is not the case.'

> - Loren Bennett Canton clerk

I certainly was against it from the standpoint of Canton Township get-ting into it. I think the major reason is that there's a great deal of public opposition to it. We have a petition here in the office signed by over 1,100 people asking that we not go forward with consideration of the

"There's also the potential of it becoming a money pit. We would for-ever have to tax the citizens of Canton Township to run the airport. It has yet to be proven to me that that is not the case.

Said LaJoy: "I guess I'd be willing to listen to anything, but I have some reservations about it, just because of the safety of the airport and other concerns. It's also the nature of the permanence that we'd be getting into. I'm open to it, but it's just such a limited space. Those are a couple of the factors I have a problem

Officials: project will add 1,000 jobs

By M.B. Dillon and Diane Gale staff writers

Up to 1,000 jobs will be created in a planned industrial park south of Michigan Avenue and east of Belleville Road, says a developer who wants to construct "what ultimately will be the center for industrial activity within the Michigan Avenue

The 87-acre "Canton Center Commerce Park" - to include office, warehouse and manufacturing facilities - would anchor the "South Central Canton Industrial Development District," as proposed by Dearborn Real Estate and Brandon As-

Township officials are excited about the development. They're leaning toward approving a request for tax abatement from the developer. Abatement gives property owners a 50 percent tax break for up to 12 years. Canton Supervisor Tom Yack is "absolutely" in favor of the project. "It'll mean jobs and a tax base for the community in a part of Canton that hasn't shown much light industrial development," he said. "Once we set up the industrial district, it will allow the marketing of that district as an area where tax abatement could be obtained.

It's too soon to say what types of jobs will be created, Yack said.

Breen and officials from the Michigan Aeronau tics Commission and FAA worked out a step-by-step plan detailing how an airport authority could take over Mettetal, Breen said.

According to the plan:

 Plymouth Township trustees would pass a resolution to act as sponsor of an airport authority, which they've done.

 The township would apply for available state and federal grants to buy the airport.
 Township officials would obtain options on the property at the appraised value.

For one, keeping the airport open would head off development on the site — just south of the Plymouth Township border - that residents may not like.

Also, it could keep larger planes from dropping their altitude in the area — something to consider as Livonia residents have been complaining in recent months of noise from airplanes bound for and leaving Metro Airport as takeoff and approach routes have changed.

The Canton board of trustees decided Aug. 8 not to buy the airport, saying they didn't want to spend tax money on the project.

After a youth broke into his home, a 36-year-old Plymouth Township man held the youth at bay Friday by threatening him with a baseball bat, as he waited for police to arrive.

Police were called to the home at 12:40 a.m. The homeowner was detaining the 17-year-old Plymouth youth in the garage, and police arrested the youth on suspicion of breaking and entering.

According to the Plymouth Township police report, the youth said he used a coat hanger to enter the house to find some money.

Following a repair order from the city of Plymouth, about 30 volunteers last weekend performed much of the renovation needed on the house of a former city police

The city had ordered a variety of repairs to the house occupied by the former chief's wife, Hattie Greenlee, 86, at 558 Karmada. Her husband, Carl Greenlee, was Plymouth chief of police from 1948-57.

Saturday and Sunday, volunteers from the Plymouth Jehovah's Witnesses Kingdom Hall replaced the once sagging roof with a new one, and tore off the old porch and built a new one, said Tom Kayfes, church presiding overseer.

"We were very busy, we did more than we intended to," Kayfes

SATURDAY, VOLUNTEERS removed three layers of shingles from the roof, put on a new roof and trimmed some tree branches near it, he said. "We still have a little bit to do on the roof and the porch roof."

Work would likely be completed

Saturday, Kayfes said. Also last weekend, volunteers replaced some plumbing, after cleaning out other pipes earlier. We've still got to do the electrical work, and clear out some stuff from the home."

THE STORY opened in December, when the city served notice that repairs were required in 30

Upon hearing that federal grant money could go for fixing up houses owned by low-income residents, Kathy Johnson, Greenlee's daughter, called the city for information. The house is now in Johnson's

"You probably have to count the income the daughter has, I doubt they're eligible," said assistant city manager Paul Sincock.

In June, the city ordered roof, chimney and porch repairs, among others, to the house.

materials used to renovate the house, Kayfes said.

"If we get reimbursed, that would be fine, if not, that's fine."

"It just shows what can be done," Kayfes said of the volunteer effort to repair the house, which makes it more likely that Greenlee can continue to live there. Volunteers also plan to replace some windows and clean others. "If they can repair the items on the violation we gave them, if they can fix all those things I don't see any reason why it can't be as good as any other house in the city," said Jim Penn of the city's building de-

According to police reports one of two drivers who struck and killed a pedestrian Aug. 25 on Haggerty and Cherry Hill roads was legally drunk.

Michigan State Police determined that the 41-year-old Westland drivers' blood alcohol level was .18. State law determines that a person is legally drunk with a .10 blood alcohol level.

Police are continuing to investigate the accident, however, no warrants have been issued. The other driver left the scene without being

A second driver was traveling northbound when it also hit Barnes and left without stopping. Police are searching for the driver of that car, which was described by witnesses as a light color late model Chevrolet

"The medical examiner said the windshield post was probably a fatal blow," police spokesman Patrick Nemecek said.

Barnes was taken to Annapolis Hospital in Wayne where he was pronounced dead at 2:10 p.m.

BEFORE THE accident, Barnes apparently had spent a few days living at a friend's house in Westland, police said.

He had gone to a bonfire at a parwas walking in the middle of the ty in the Plymouth area the night before the accident, according to friends.

"Police broke up that party and all the kids ran," Nemecek said. That was the last time friends and family members saw Barnes.

Police had a hard time identifying

Barnes' brother and sister identified him from pictures police had of first impact where his head hit the the victim. A friend also identified him in the Wayne County morgue.

However, family members said that the victim may not have been their brother. Fingerprint experts cleared doubts, police said. They matched Barnes' fingerprints to fingerprints held by Westland police. Barnes had a police record with Westland police, according to Neme-

Inhaling coolant almost kills youth

By Diane Gale staff writer

A 17-year-old was clinically dead and revived after he inhaled car freon Sunday at 1:17 a.m. in an aisle at Meijers on Canton Center and Ford Road.

His heart began beating and other life vital signs were restored after Canton emergency medical technicians used a newly purchased defibrillator to revive him.

Defibrillators saved two people since Canton officials bought two machines last winter.

"If we didn't have it there's a possibility that it could have proved fatal for the young man," said Canton fire Chief Mel Paulen.

friends at Meijers when he was separated from the others, a Canton police report said.

Using a hose attachment to the freon that was on the shelf the youth inhaled the air conditioning coolant, walked over two aisles and dropped to the floor," the police report said. He was taken to Oakwood Canton Health Center treated and transferred to Unversity of Michigan Hospital, Ann Arbor. He was in good condition earlier this week, a hospital spokeswoman said. A defibrillator was used in another Canton case earlier this year. However, the victim died shortly after, Paulen said.

We feel our investment (in the defibrillator) and our training has THE 17-YEAR-OLD was with four paid off," Paulen said. "Our people are all pleased with the results. It has been used on other occasions, but the results were most favorable in these two incidents, because the shock brought the person back."

CANTON BOUGHT two defibrillators, one for each fire station, for $13,000. Firefighters, who are also trained as emergency medical technicians, must take 21 hours of training to use the defibrillator.

Cardiopulmonary resuscitation is performed first while the defibrillator is set up. If CPR fails the defibrillator is used.

With two sensors that are put to the patient's chest, the defibrillator monitors the heart rate and tells the emergency team if the heart muscles are coordinating to pump blood through the body.

Texas developer buys area property

panies in the United States is becoming a Canton landowner.

The sale to Lincoln Property of Dallas, Texas, of 8.2 acres at the southwest corner of Haggerty and Koppernick roads in the I-275 corridor has been approved by the township board.

A purchase agreement for $869,525 or $81,550 per acre, is in the works. "The sale would complete the process started some time ago to dispose of valuable township-owned property along I-275," said Supervisor Tom Yack. "The offer is reasonable and is advanced by one of the United States' largest real estate

THE LAND was on the market for just 45 days - not bad given the economy, he said.

"It looks like a good agreement and we were happy with Lincoln. This isn't necessarily a good time to sell because of the savings and loan problems in the southwest. Money is more difficult to come by, and generally the economy is slowing down. For that reason, Yack said, township officials are pleased to have a "major player" step in that has "substantial backbone, enabling them to operate even in this kind of environment. Even if they can't make use of the land at this time, you know they eventually will," he said.

Currently, Lincoln - unaffiliated with Lincoln Savings and Loan manages more than 40 million square feet of commercial space in more than 200 cities.

The firm also is one of the largest apartment developers in the country, with more than 135,000 multifamily residential units. It owns and manages 68,000 units.

The Haggerty-Koppernick project will mark Lincoln's debut in Canton as well as its first major foray into the Michigan market.

Crowds gather on 'ideal' weekend'

The 1990 Plymouth Community Fall Festival drew an estimated 80,000 to 90,000 to Kellogg Park and other festival sites last weekend.

"It was a very steady crowd both Saturday and Sunday and even Fri-day night," said Paul Sincock, assistant city manager and publicity di-rector for the annual festival.

Kay Beard counted on longtime party and union friends to carry her to victory in the 12th District Wayne County Commission primary — campaign spending reports indicate they didn't let her down.

Beard's campaign fund raised and spent more than $46,000 this year, reports show. Nearly $17,000 was raised and spent in the critical two-week period before the Aug. 7 Democratic Party primary.

Beard, D-Inkster, defeated challengers Terri Reighard Johnson of Westland, Hilliard Hampton Jr. of Inkster and Deborah Miller of Garden City in the primary. She will meet Republican Gerald Cox of Garden City in November

Spending reports for Reighard Johnson indicate something quietly acknowledged during the campaign - the Westland councilwoman was county Executive Edward McNamara's choice to replace Reighard Johnson's report includes a $2,000 contribution from McNamara's Band, the executive's political action committee.

If Reighard Johnson was McNamara's choice, Beard was clearly the choice of labor unions and party regulars.

The incumbent received contribu-tions of at least $1,000 from UAW, United Steelworkers and deputies union PACs during the campaign's

Beard also received a $2,000 cam-paign loan, since repaid, from com-mission chairman Arthur Blackwell.

Other campaign contributors include a who's who of area Democrats. U.S. Rep. William Ford, D-Taylor, U.S. Rep. Sander Levin, D-Southfield, sheriff Robert Ficano and Richard Manning, Redford dis-trict court judge and former commission chairman, were among Beard's contributors.

Reighard Johnson raised and spent more than $24,000 during the

ing heavily on campaign mailings.

Beard has spent at least $9,000 on campaign literature and mailings since the beginning of the year.

Reighard Johnson spent more than $15,000 to print and distribute campaign literature and mailings. Hampton spent more than $3,200 to

Miller, a Garden city resident, filed a campaign waiver, as did Cox. The waiver indicated they raised and spent less than $1,000 in their cam-

IN OTHER races:

• Incumbent Kevin Kelley, D-Redford, spent $4,785 in his 9th District primary victory over former state representative Jack Legel of Detroit. Legel filed a waiver, spending less than $1,000. Kelley is running unopposed in the fall.

Kelley's spending figures may have been inflated by repayment of a $1,328 loan from the 17th (Conessional) District Democratic Party organization. His largest actual expense was $1,000 for campaign lit-

Incumbent Kay Beard, left, and challenger Terri Reighard Johnson each spent heavily in the the 12th District primary, especially in the closing weeks of the campaign. Spending in other races was lighter, according to campaign reports filed Canton-area GOP nominee Victor Gustafson raised $1,110 and spent $438 in his 11th District primary victory over former township clerk Linda Chuhran. Gustafson contributors included Oak Park developer Richard Lewiston and Midwest Development of Livonia. Each contributed $500.

Chuhran filed a waiver, indicating she raised and spent less than $1,000. Incumbent Milton Mack, D-Wayne, who will meet Gustafson in the fall, spent $3,317 during the pri-mary. Major expenses included $1,000 for campaign signs and $1,500 for campaign literature and mailing

• Susan Heintz, R-Northville Township, didn't raise or spend a dime in the two weeks before the 10th District primary. Heintz, commission vice chairwoman, was unopposed in the primary and will be the only candidate on the ballot in the fall for the Livonia/Plymouth area

Dems pleased with their ticket

By Pat Murphy staff writer

Donald F. Tucker, a Birmingham lawyer, and Philip H. Power, chairman of the board of the Suburban Corp. which owns the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, have been nominated for the University of Michigan Board of Regents by the Michigan Democratic Party.

The two were nominated over the weekend in Flint at what was characterized as "the most spirited Democratic convention in years." It attracted more than 2,000 delegates.

"It's a good ticket," beamed Tucker, who is also Democratic chairman of the 18th Congressional District County. "I'm proud to be part of it." Tucker replaces Ann Arbor attorney Thomas A. Roach who did not seek re-election.

"They're all good candidates," said Power, an incumbent from Ann Arbor. "They represent a good cross

TUCKER AND Power will run against Republicans Marv Esch of Ann Arbor and Battle Creek Mayor Shirley McFee who were nominated by the GOP over the weekend.

Heading the Democratic ticket, of course, is Gov. James Blanchard.

His running mate as lieutenant governor is Olivia "Libby" Maynard

Two vie for new probate seat

By Wayne Peal staff writer

The race for the new Wayne County Probate court seat isn't likely to inflame voters, but it provides something many other races lack - a spirited contest between two vastly different contenders.

Patricia Campbell of Detroit and William Leo Cahalan Jr. of Grosse He each seek the eight-year, $91,807a-year, probate court seat after surviving a crowded, competitive primary. Probate court is often called "family court." Its docket includes adoption, child neglect, mental health and other family-related is-

Each candidate is stressing why they would be the best "family"

Campbell, 58, stresses her 15years' legal experience — much of it in Wayne County probate court-related jobs - as well as her experience as a mother of eight.

Cahalan, 32, son and namesake of the late Wayne County prosecutor and circuit judge, stresses his probate-related law practice, youthful energy and sympathy for young fam-

But the race could turn on Cahalan's family name - a circumstance even he believes is unfair.

To a large degree, Campbell's campaign strategy rests in alerting voters that the younger Cahalan is not his famous father.

"MY STRATEGY is to let the people know who I am and what my qualifications are and ask: 'Do you really know who the other candidate is?," Campbell said.

Cahalan said such a strategy underestimates his own ability as a candidate and campaigner.

'That doesn't take into account what I can offer," said Cahalan, who uses Leo, rather than William Jr., as his professional name. "I don't think

Students expect more than one job

Four out of five college students expect to change industries or careers during their work life, according to a study by Right Associates Inc., Southfield.

Almost half of those interviewed expect to start their own business, said Right Associates, a career management firm which surveyed 239 college students in 12 major cities across the United States.

"We think these findings present a unique dilemma for employers, said John Bourbeau, managing principal of the firm. "On the one hand, young people are ambitious. On the other hand, they expect to change jobs or start their own business if a job does not meet their immediate

Tying one

Thanks in part to an idea from members of the retail committee of the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce, more than 300 ribbons were placed around downtown Plymouth earlier this month "to remind us all of our troops and other Americans in the Middle East, and our hope for a quick and peaceful resolution," according to the card with each red, white and blue ribbon, signed, "your Plymouth merchants." At right, Charlene Miller, a chamber member, places one of the bows on a tree as Fran Toney, chamber director, and Larry Bird, a chamber member, watch.

"I talked to him at midnight the 24th (of August) and he sounded real-ly sort of like down," Joan Adis said, adding that her son wasn't allowed to reveal his embarkation time. "I said I'll call you at five in the morn-ing and (when I did) he was gone." The 1985 Wayne Memorial High School graduate was aboard the U.S.S. Raleigh, bound for the Saudi desert. "Tom told us (when he called last) that it's not the love boat," Joan

Tom joined the Marines in 1987. His mother said he plans to get out after his four-year contract expires next year. "One year to go and that stupid situation over there (hap-pens)," she said. "I hope he doesn't sign up again. We're a pretty close family and I think he likes that."

The family came closer together eight years ago when daughter The-resa died of leukemia, leaving two sisters and two brothers behind. Yet Joan said she may have cried more didn't want him to join the Marines to start with. "I just always played it down," she said, telling younger son Christopher, "Before I know it you'll be graduating and joining (the Marines too)." Chris, however, went to college.

THE ADIS family has had scant contact with Tom since he left. They received a first letter from him Saturday, written the day after the Raleigh got under way.

Tom's girlfriend was surprised when she received flowers on her birthday earlier this month. "Veronica called me and she said she was just shocked," Joan said. "He must have set it up before he left." While Joan never paid a great deal of attention to the national news before, she's virtually glued to the TV set these days, looking for her son. "I haven't spotted him yet, but I know

The regular customers at Adis' Westland bookstore, Paperbacks and Things, have been donating books for her to send to Tom's ship. "A lot of people have been asking for his address," she said. "I've been sending him all kinds of war books."

TOM ONLY asked them to send him one thing. "That was his one request," his mother said. "He said, end me some beef jerky.' '

Since Tom is involved with the military intelligence side of the 2nd Marine Regiment and not a front line dog-face soldier per se, his mother didn't think he'd be sent to Saudia Arabia.

Before he left, his mother told him, "I'm so glad you're not a grunt because a lady told me only the grunts go there, and he said, 'When I transferred here (to Camp Lejeune, N.C.) I became a grunt."

The state Legislature can either pass Richard Headlee's proposed 20 percent property tax cut or put it on the ballot for voters.

"I'd rather have them (lawmak-ers) do it," said Headlee, whose Taxpayers United group Tuesday filed 223,000 petition signatures with the Secretary of State's office.

"I'd rather have it go to the peo-ple," said his publicist, Bill McMaster of Bloomfield Township. "Make the politicians run on it. The people signed petitions, and they want to vote on it. Make the MEA (Michigan Education Associaton) come out against it."

HEADLEE'S TU needed 192,000 signatures to force lawmakers to consider its plan, and he said his petitons are valid ones.

"All the bad petitions were thrown out by us," he told a rally on the State Capitol steps, adding TU beat the Sept. 15 time deadline by four

Fully 45 percent of the signatures with 20 percame from two counties with 20 percent of the state's population. Macomb led with 57,712, Oakland 49,294, for a total of 106,806.

Wayne County produced 48,857. The petitions were presented in boxes provided by Alexander Hamilton Life Insurance Co. Headlee is board chairman of the Farmington proposal (House Bill 5919), lawmakers could later amend the law by a vote of 50 percent plus one.

THE LEGAL procedure for passage is complicated:

· If voters approve it, however, lawmakers would need a three-fourths vote to amend it, under the constitution. Thus, voter-made law is stronger than a legislative act, even when the wording is identical.

There is a timing problem:

Headlee said the filing was timely to put the matter before voters this Nov. 6. "They could count em (signatures) this week," he said. · State officials, however, said TU is too late for the 1990 ballot. The proposal could go on a special 1991 ballot, if the Legislature ordered it, or wait until 1992.

TU'S PROPOSAL, if approved, would cut property assessments from 50 percent of market value to 40 percent over two years - an effective tax cut of 20 percent.

The Legislature would have to repay counties, cities, villages, townships, schools and community colleges the lost revenue - estimated at $600 million.

Headlee insisted no state tax increase would be necessary to make up lost revenue, even if there were a recession.

"There's plenty of money. I don't have much sympathy for a government that's fat, full of slush funds and wasting money. We have to get our priorities straight," he said.

Veal protest

Activists make fools of selves

GROUP OF folks who don't like the idea of eating veal showed up at a veal dinner held during the Fall Festival.

They were there to protest the way veal is raised. They brought with them the small crates in which the veal is raised.

The point of the protest was that the animals are treated inhumanely because they are kept in the small pens and shot full of drugs to fatten

We think the protest was tacky. The protesters have a point. But as with other animal rights issues, they push their point to such an extreme that they make fools out of themselves and end up trivializing the issue.

We, too, question the way veal is raised. We don't think drugs should be used on animals to fatten them. We would like to see Congress look at the drug use.

However, that doesn't put us in the corner of animal rights activists. Our concern is over human health, not the rights of animals to live a life similar to that of a human. It's not that we want to see animals tortured, it's just that we think the lives of humans should be valued more than those of a cow or a fish.

And that's where we think the animal rights activists have gone over the edge and have slipped into insanity. They worry more about the so-called suffering of a goat or a pig than they do about a starving third world country.

IT'S ALMOST AS though animal rights activists grew up watching too many Walt Disney cartoons where the farm animals or wildlife in the woods happily cavort on the farm or in the woods acting like humans.

It's a dangerous mentality. Mules can kill you with a kick, cattle when stampeding will run over a human and deer die each year in the over those of deer. woods because there isn't enough food.

They aren't cartoon characters.

We think the anti-veal crusade and other animal rights issues are a product of a modern society that has lost touch with its agricultural roots. Kids no longer spend the summer on grandpa's

Instead of learning about the rhythms of life watching a chicken being killed for a Sunday dinner or watching a hog killing, kids spend their summer in front of a television set soaking up a cartoon view of life.

Instead of watching a chicken lay her eggs in a hen house, they're watching Fog Horn Leghorn. And instead of helping granupa get the pigs ready for the annual fall hog killing, they're watching Porky Pig.

It's no wonder we end up with animal rights activists who have lost their sanity. They've lost touch with the real world.

Animal rights activists can't seem to differentiate between somebody clubbing a baby seal and an angler spending his or her Saturday afternoon in a boat.

ONE CANTON attorney says he's convinced that at some point such activists will be in the woods and waters of Michigan during fishing and hunting season to disrupt those activities. We have wondered if such a thing could happen, and have doubted that it could.

However, the recent action of the anti-veal people at the Fall Festival makes us think it could. We hope it doesn't. Michigan's woods can be dangerous enough during deer season when more than 500,000 hunters are walking around with rifles in their hands. And add to that already dangerous stew a group of lunatics ready to throw themselves in front of the animals, and you've got the makings of a fatal dish.

And even though we think animal rights activists have lost their senses, we value their lives

It's time to recognize the insanity of the ani-

Ethnic intimidation: new penalties work

A YEAR AND a half ago, it would have been only a case of malicious destruction of property.

But an ethnic intimidation law initiated by state Rep. David Honig-man, R-West Bloomfield, and enacted by the state Legislature in March 1989 is making us take a harder line on acts of prejudice.

It provides added punishment for people found guilty of ethnic intimidation — a felony. Ethnic intimidation was at the tip of everyone's tongue last month when a fight between blacks and whites broke out at Harpo's, a rock concert hall in Detroit.

However, police now say that incident was not racially motivated.

On Monday three white teenagers from Macomb County were charged with open murder and ethnic intimidation in the beating death of a black Detroit teenager in Roseville, an incident that witnesses said was preceded by racial slurs and taunts.

Closer to home, dismissal of ethnic intimidation charges against an 18-year-old Birmingham man at a pretrial hearing has both the Oakland County chief assistant prosecutor and the director of the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith up in

The prosecutor's office will appeal 48th District Judge Thomas Brookover's ruling that the prosecution failed to show that the religious or ethnic background of the owners of a Birmingham store was a motivating factor in the young man's action. He will be tried on a misdemeanor charge of malicious destruction of property.

the Wells Cargo store on Woodward in downtown Birmingham after Browning was fired from his job by the store owner.

The ethnic intimidation bill reads that a person is guilty of ethnic intimidation if he or she commits an act "maliciously, and with specific intent to intimidate or harass another person because of that person's race, color, religion, gender or national origin."

Brookover called the spray painted words "extremely offensive" and "inexcusable," but ruled that the narrowly drawn intimidation statute did not apply.

The judge said the statute required more than just proof the teen painted the words, but proof that racial or ethnic hatred caused the ac-

Honigman is pleased that the law quickly and that publicity attends those incidents.

"It serves a didactic function," the sometimes scholarly Honigman says. "It sends a message to the society at large what the ideals of a society are."

Bell tries to get around that by offering discount rates for people willing to limit the number of local calls they make each month.

But they really don't have to go even that far. While there is plenty of competition out there for the long-distance phone dollar - just turn on your television or radio and you're bound to be bombarded by advertisements from AT&T, MCI and others - the five regional "Baby Bells" (Michigan Bell included) have the field all to themselves when it comes to local rates.

The long-range solution is to promote further deregulation in the telephone industry. Other companies should be allowed to furnish local phone service for Michigan residents.

In the meantime, we urge suburban residents to write to their legislators and the state Public Service Commission asking them not to adopt the latest Bell package without substantial changes. The PSC address is 6545 Mercantile Way, P.O. ited local calls made by suburban Detroiters. For Box 30221, Lansing, Mich. 48909.

A closer look New teachers facing scrutiny

ALK ABOUT IMPROVING the quality of our graduating teachers is no longer just rhetoric.

Oakland University in Rochester will begin the first five-year secondary education program in Michigan starting in January. Would-be secondary school teachers will take an academic major and minor through the College of Arts and Sciences, finishing the four years with a bachelor of arts or bachelor of science degree and some work in education

But no teaching certificate will be issued until the completion of an additional year-long internship under the close supervision of a mentor teacher. Participants will be given credit for the year of experience when applying for positions and will have earned some credits toward a master's degree

We applaud both Oakland University and the area school districts which have agreed to participate in the mentor program. They are: Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills, Ferndale, L'Anse Creuse, Oak Park, Pontiac, Rochester, Southfield, South Redford and Walled Lake

A 1989 Metropolitan Life survey of American teachers showed 86 percent of them favored a full-time, year-round training program to be completed before certification. Probably a survey of the taxpayers who foot the bill for education would show an even stronger response.

A strong education coupled with a year of monitored teaching experience should improve the quality of our graduating teachers and perhaps attract more bright young people to the teaching profession.

The rest of our state colleges and universities should follow Oakland University's example and make five-year secondary education certification the rule in Michigan.

See economy in perspective

To the editor:

Once again you are proving the "Power of Negative Thinking," and that our media can create a self-fulfilling prophecy.

It is easy to find things that are going bad and even easier to predict doom. Fear is an easy emotion to stir-up in people. Maybe this is why we can't have 25 years of steady economic prosperity. Why is positive news so boring, that you have to seek out despair, injustice, crime, sludge and disaster to keep the public's at-

Life has gotten so easy for some of us we have taken the following attitude: "If it's not broken, let's find a broken one to fix and if we can't find a broken one to fix, let's break this

Let's take the local housing market as an example. I've just returned from the east coast and it is no wonder they've had a dramatic fall in real estate values. People purchasing property in the east coast states were paying more than twice the price for the same home we can buy in the Detroit metropolitian area location, location, location. Like a pack of little Donald Trumps, most of the homebuyers were spending more than they could afford and financing the difference.

Happily, I'd like to report that we haven't seen this type of flagrant over-spending and exaggerated financing. Michiganders have memories, we have remembered the lessons we learned through the hardships of the early 1980s. I've never seen our media report the figure, but I'd bet we lead our country in saving per capita.

Now we can focus in on the economies of the east coast, west coast and oil producing states, then we can get all gloomy because they have been foolish or we can see our economy in a true perspective.

Bus route irks parents

To the editor:

We used a pedometer, they used an odometer. We measured the distance the children would walk; they measured the distance a car would drive. Consequently, our children must walk over a mile and one half to school while the bus they are not? allowed to ride is % empty.

They can compromise guidelines and violate regulations. They are the Plymouth-Canton School Board. We are only the parents worried about children walking on dark, foggy mornings as the school bus passes them by.

THE ANSWER is membership in the League of Women Voters.

That nonpartisan voter information group, though it doesn't promote candidates, should be bursting with pride that three of its own are so prominent on the 1990 ballot.

And it's a civic improvement. League training shows through when a woman reaches public office.

You study the issues. Really study. The purest form of study,' said Rep. Lyn Bankes, R-Livonia, a League member since 1975.

"But you study from a non-political perspective. That's what the League forces you to do - look at an issue non-politically and unemotion-

"Each year we do one national major issue, one state major issue and one local major issue. We can do a county major issue, but we haven't in a long time.

"It was very difficult for me. I liked to interject my personal feelings. But it was good discipline. And

THE LEAGUE does its studying methodically, to the point of dryness. Each year it produces a statewide voter guide, carried in this newspaper, asking candidates for biographies and answers to carefully worded questions.

In professional newspaper circles, we are debating whether and when to ask the "A" questions: Have you committed adultery? Have you had an abortion or has your spouse or girlfriend had an abortion? We report how much money was spent on a campaign, and which judicial candidate is suing an opponent over the size of billboards.

Their rigidity in oral and written debate drives my colleague, Steve Barnaby, to distraction, especially when a candidates exceeds the 75word limit on an answer and they cut it off with an ". .

It's the price we have to pay when dealing with an outfit that sticks to

THE DIFFERENCE between Maynard, Binsfeld and Miller and someone from the old political school - say Lt. Gov. Martha Griffiths - is clear.

Griffiths chastised those whom she has given a boost to the top and who ultimately turned on her. The old politics deals in constituencies, not what's best for the nation. The old politics says you do me a favor and I do you a favor.

I've heard Martha Griffiths give her "feisty" speeches. I've also seen a League type like Beverly McAninch of Plymouth operate on the transit board and on the nuclear waste committee.

I prefer League types.

THE IRONY is that the League of Women Voters operates much like that bastion of ancient male chauvinism, the Academy of Plato.

Socrates, the chief character in Plato's dialogues, said a philosopher wasn't a wise man (God alone is wise) but a pursuer of wisdom; that a philosopher should abandon an opinion once better facts and logic showed him another view was more enlightened. "Whither the truth flows, thither I go."

Vote Democratic or Republican, as you will, but you're going to get a League type in high Michigan office either way.

As I said, it's a civic improvement. Tim Richard reports regularly

Jeffrey's work, vision honored

THAT "WOMEN HOLD up half the sky" is a well known, feminist adage.

That Mildred M. Jeffrey holds up more than her share is appreciated by those who know her.

On Monday evening, Millie was the target for a great deal more personal commentary. For the record, she wore red as did her friend of 20 years, former congresswoman Bella Abzug. Bella, of course, wore a matching hat.

In the spirit of the "Millie for Roasting" evening in Greektown, you could say they were "big red in a hat" and "little red." The large audi-ence, with their applause and laugh-ter, got into the spirit of things from the beginning.

Millie's "Roast" wasn't just an ego trip. She's not the type. The evening at $125 a crack benefitted the fledgling Michigan Women's Foundation.

IN ADDITION to Bella; Geraldine Ferraro (who got the evening's most vigorous applause); Helen Milliken, former first lady of the state; Janet Blanchard, present first lady in Michigan; labor luminary Odessa Komer; Dr. Marjorie Peebles-Meyers; Claudia Morcom; and others took turns as roasters.

In the spirit of fairness and nondiscrimination, Neal Shine, media star, was the master of ceremonies. Two other males, Gov. James Blanchard and Leon H. Atchison, who served with Millie on the Wayne State Board of Governors, turned down the heat and used their time in praise of the honoree.

Olivia Proctor Maynard, newly annointed to run as the Lt. Governor candidate with Blanchard, was happily present, but the current holder of that office, Martha Griffiths, did not stand up for roll call.

"Who among us has not at one or more times been exhorted, lobbied, urged, leafletted, gentle-armed, prodded, led or whatever to support a cause, vote for a bill, march for a right or against a wrong or cough up bucks for all of the above (by Millie)?" asked Judge Vesta Svenson, in her tribute "Mildred Who?"

Svenson mentioned the small town in Iowa where Jeffrey was born and assisted her mother, the sole support of herself and her six siblings "It isn't surprising that she found home in the labor movement and has constantly fought for the rights of women and workers," Svenson

JEFFREY, worked her way through a bachelor's and master's degrees while organizing unemployed workers and picketing for labor rights. When she and her husband came to Detroit, she became the first director of the UAW's Women's Department, a director of WDET, and a coordinator in consumer affairs for the UAW.

An up-front activist, Millie's role in the Democratic Party took her from precinct delegate to Democratic National Committeewoman. She was instrumental in bringing the representation of women in the Michigan party up to 50 per cent.

A founder and chairperson of the National Women's Political Caucus, the roastee has given her ardent support to women candidates, both partisan and non-partisan.

Millie was "warmed" rather than roasted by the Michigan Legislature and other bodies who love and appreciate her. In the dinner brochure, 54 women judges in all jurisdictions lent their name to a tribute in her whether they really know her, so as the Annetta Miller of the State Board of Education, Appeals Court Judge Marilyn Jean Kelly, or Detroit Common Council president Maryann Mahaffey, learned that Millie is a "lightweight" (physically) and can't carry a note or a tune nearly as well as she can deliver a vote.

This fall, she won't run for the WSU Board of Governors again, and is trimming her activities somewhat. She's been to China, the Soviet Union, Mexico, Israel, France and Sweden, always on missions for women's rights, peace, child care, and equality.

Undaunted by the roasting, buoyed by the funds raised for the Michigan Women's Foundation, the beneficiary of the evening, Millie isn't going to sit back and smell the roses at all.

Too many people, her daughter and son included, depend on her wit and wisdom and on her enthusiasm and support. Millie Jeffrey's vision of a world of justice and equality has never dimmed.

And she's still too busy holding up her part of the sky.

'Target marketing' has new meaning

SOME DUDE DOWN in Chattanooga, Tenn., has given a new meaning to "target marketing."

Sheldon Smith, 24 years old (Get that? 24 years old!), and his wife, Sabrina, take perfectly good blue jeans out to a shooting range, stick them on targets and fill them full of buckshot holes.

Then they wash 'em, fade 'em and sell 'em for around $70 a pair. And the young shootist says he can't make enough of his "buckshot jeans" to fill the demand.

Good golly, Miss Molly. Where did I go wrong?

I missed out on the hula hoop, the pet rock, the tie-dyed shirts and the poodle skirts. Not to mention leisure suits (although I had one - lime green) and pedal pushers.

Well, not this time. This is the Nineties, and there's money in destruction. Look at all those high school kids last year, slashing gashes in the knees of their jeans and parading around like derelicts who couldn't pass the dress code at the local soup

So I've decided to start some trends of my own.

Those shirts hanging in my closet the ones with the missing buttons are going to be the Nehru jackets of the decade. Forty bucks for a shirt with one missing button, $65 if you want it without two and a cool $80 if you want three of them gone.

SHIRTS WITH elbow holes - the kind you get when you have a propensity for lying on the floor instead of sitting on furniture - are sure to cause major battles when Yves Saint Laurent and Oleg Cassini go mano a mano for the right to put their labels And jeans - forget the holes and the slashes. We're talking 'paint. That pair I was wearing when I painted the kitchen last year - the ones I had on when I accidentally sat down in the tray with the semi-gloss gray - they'll make the honchos at Gitano drool all over the board

But that's just for starters in the men's market. The folks at Oshkosh B'Gosh and Winnie the Pooh are sure to hit 10 digits when they start bidding on my kids' line of grass-stained coveralls.

The Carter's people will go wild over the pre-stained bibs featuring a "stain of the month" - strained green beans, to start. And wait 'til they get a look at my "soaked and soiled diapers." The mud-caked mini-jeans will be introduced as a part of the toddler line.

I'll get my son to endorse "floppy flippers" - sneakers with the sole already separated from the rest of the shoe. For an extra 10 bucks, the floppies will come with pre-punched holes in the toes. Nike and Puma can fight over the rights to that one. The "pre-stretched elastic bras"

will go to Maidenform, and Hanes should snap up the line of jockey shorts with pre-loosened waist

PANTY HOSE with starter runs will go up for bids, but I'm hoping Chistian Dior will pick up the soup-I think Stetson should jump at the designer hats with pre-sweated head bands, but it's an open market for the socks with the pre-formed toe

After I collect my first million or two from the garment industry, I've got in mind a new line of cosmetics. Lip gloss with flecks of boiled spinach - blusher with built-in mustard and ketchup stains or, for those special occasions, just a trace of chocolate syrup.

But that's for later. Right now I want to concentrate on the fashion market - and I've got a great name for my new line: "Rags to Riches."

New school law is aimed at 'quality' improvements

By Tim Richard staff writer

The state has $2.4 million to help local schools develop new long-range improvement plans, said education hief Donald Bemis.

"We think it will be $500 per school building," the superintendent of public instruction told the state board of education Tuesday night. The new law, Public Act 25, requires local and intermediate dis-tricts to do four things: develop school improvement plans, distrib-ute annual reports to public, adopt a core curriculum and prepare for ac-

"Local boards are concerned about how to accomplish quality improvements," said Dr. Anne Hansen, a Department of Education official in charge of school program serSTATE OFFICIALS held dozens of regional meetings in the last month to acquaint local boards, administrators and parents with the new law and how to get money.

"I went to four of these," said Dorothy Beardmore, a state board member from Rochester, citing a pair in Oakland County and Wayne-West-

"This is the legislation that mandates quality. PA 25 pulls in a lot of directions to change education — change from counting the number of books to who reads the books, from a focus on input to a focus on results. Beardmore said. "It (the meetings) invited comments from the field as to what really is core curriculum."

"It's a very important piece of leg-islation," Bemis said.

PA 25 also sets up conditions un-der which high schools may hire non-certified teachers in such areas as computer science, foreign lan-guages, math, engineering and robot-

The annual reports are to include student achievement test results, re-tention/dropout rates, accreditation status and parent participation

The money apparently will go to "in formula" districts which receive general state aid, not to "out of formula" districts. Out of formula districts are considered wealthy enough not to need state aid.

In a highly controversial move this year, Gov. James Blanchard and the Legislature cut categorical aid to out of formula districts - about 30 percent of the state. The majority of Observer & Eccentric area districts are out of formula.

The budget puts $1.6 million into grants to applying local and intermediate districts. Another $800,000 will go to intermediate districts to provide support services and techni-cal assistance for quality planning.

Bicycling enthusiasts hit the road

Yellowstone trip offers challenge

staff writer

Connie Cavanaugh and Phyllis Czapla don't consider being middleaged a reason not to exercise.

Both are in their mid-50s and ride regularly with the Ann Arbor Bicycle Touring Society's East Fringe group.

"We're the oldest ones," said Cavanaugh, a Canton resident and secretary at Plymouth Family Service. She and Czapla recently returned from a bicycle trip.

"We went out to the Grand Teton National Park and Yellowstone National Park," Cavanaugh said. Their Aug. 11-19 trip, a commercial tour, included 25 bicyclists and two ride

"I just never imagined that I'd be doing this," said Czapla, a Plymouth Township resident and self-employed seamstress. "It was challeng-

OTHER WESTERN Wayne County participants were Eileen McFarland, Janice Moore, Karen Wilson, Joyce Skinner, Sandy Rushlau and Diane Dorsch.

Most of their time was spent in Wyoming with a brief sojourn into Montana. They began and ended their travels in Jackson Hole, Wyo., and did some white water rafting on the Snake River before returning to Michigan - by plane.

Czapla, Cavanaugh and McFarland toured France by bicycle in 1988. Last summer, some group members bicycled from New Buffalo to Traverse City along the Lake Michigan shoreline.

Czapla and her husband visited Yellowstone in 1987 and the Cavanaugh family went in 1972. Those trips were by car, and the women found traveling by bicycle was quite

"It's really a great way to see everything," Czapla said. "You could stop at any time." Cavanaugh was impressed with the scenery. "There's nothing like riding down and seeing the Grand Tetons in front of you. They're magnificent."

They enjoyed seeing the animals, canyons, waterfalls and geysers at Yellowstone. They saw "Old Faithful," and found it wasn't much different from the other geysers.

A support wagon was available to carry gear and any riders who need-ed a rest, but Czapla and Cavanaugh never used the van.

They shared the road at Yellowstone with cars, RVs and motorcycles. Some RV drivers were inexperienced in handling the larger vehi-cles, but the bicyclists found most drivers were courteous.

Temperatures ranged from the middle 40s early in the morning up to the middle 80s in the afternoon. Most rainstorms were brief, but the women rode in a hailstorm for about an hour one day.

Some areas couldn't be reached by bicycle, so they did some hiking to see what they wanted to see. Evi-dence of the 1988 forest fire was easy to spot, although some ground

"It's still stark." A number of charred trees remain, Czapla said.

SOME MEMBERS of the East Fringe group are younger than Czap-la and Cavanaugh. They've found some younger people on tours and some tour leaders are skeptical about their ability to keep up. That skepticism is short-lived.

"They called us the Michigan Iron Maidens," Cavanaugh said of other bicyclists on the trip. "We can keep up with any 30-year-old guy. We don't have any problem."

They've found pacing themselves is the key to enjoying such a trip. Training's also important, as is the that. But if you've got 18 gears, you can do anything," Cavanaugh said.

'Life begins at 50. That's when you've got free time.'

Group members rented their bicycles, and found that was easier than having bikes shipped.

East Fringe members ride Mon-day and Wednesday evenings and Saturday mornings. They don't ride as frequently in the winter, but do

They also do some cross country skiing in Hines Park during the winter, and that helps them stay in "I guess you could say we're sort of addicted to exercise," Czapla said. Both women began to ride bicycles in earnest in the early 1980s. They had been busy raising families in their younger days.

"Life begins at 50. That's when you've got free time," said Cavanaugh, who has two sons, two daughters, and three grandchildren. "When you're raising kids, you don't have time really to do any extensive

Educator likes working with eager adult students

Mary Kay Frey visits the classroom of Charlene Anderson, a registered nurse who coordinates the nurse side training program. Frey, a Plymouth resident, is the adult education coordinator for Plymouth-Canton Community Education.

Mary Kay Frey remembers playing school when she was grow-

"I was always the teacher," said Frey, now the adult education coordinator for Plymouth-Canton Community Education. She began teaching locally in January 1979. "I started out teaching one class, four hours a week. It was a speed reading class."

She went on to teach reading improvement for Plymouth-Canton Community Education. Initially, that class was designed to improve reading comprehension. Educators reading comprehension. Educators discovered some students weren't ble to read at all, so the program

In 1984, Starkweather Center opened in Plymouth as an adult education facility. It had previously been used as an elementary school since the late 1920s.

"I find it very satisfying. They've made up their minds they're going to be here to learn." The atmosphere in an adult education classroom is often more relaxed and it's easier for educators to establish a rapport with their students.

"I'm definitely going to miss the classroom, I know that. I really liked classroom teaching. There are many challenges in this position too."

Frey came to Michigan from Frey came to Michigan from Chicago about 13 years ago when her husband, who works for the Ford Motor Co., was transferred. They have one daughter, 11, a seventh grader at East Middle School in Plymouth.

Frey earned a bachelor's degree in secondary education with English and history majors from Northern State University in Aberdeen, S.D. She earned a master's degree in English and reading from Purdue University in Indiana.

Her first job was teaching seventh and eighth grade English and social studies in Hawthorne, Nev., for one year. She then taught mid-dle school in Hammond, Ind., for six years.

WHEN SHE was in college, most women studied either teaching or nursing, and there were few in such fields as engineering or medicine.

"I'm not so sure women today are looking at teaching as an op-tion. I think many women are dis-counting education." That's unfortunate, she said, because the pro-fession's rewarding and can use the talents of motivated men and

Part of Frey's job includes su-pervising English as a second lanpervising English as a second language program. The program has open enrollment year-round.

"People come from all over the world." Adult students from India, the Philippines, Greece, China, Japan and other countries are enrolled. The school district also provides bilingual education for students in kindergarten through 12th grade.

Many of the foreign-born adult students have college degrees from their own countries. Their English skills are limited, however, meaning their employment opportunities in the United States are limited.

Adult basic education students enroll for a variety of reasons. Some want to earn a high school diploma or GED. "A lot of it is job-related. Jobs are changing, the workplace is changing. People need to update skills on a constant basis."

She's been involved in working with the Community Literacy Council since its inception in 1986.

That group provides volunteer tu-tors who work one-on-one with for-eign-born students and adult educa-tion students.

Frey has tutored in the past, and now does tutor training. She appreciates the help provided by tutors.

"That has saved many ABE students who otherwise just fell through the cracks. It just gives them the additional support they need. We have wonderful tutors."

Community education also includes a number of leisure-time classes. Frey doesn't supervise those classes, but she and her family have taken a number of them, including a Christmas crafts class she enjoyed.

"We offer something to everybody in the community."

staff writer Jeffrey Bruce knows how to make

After all, over the years, much of his business has been doing the makeup of TV and movie stars.

However Bruce, now in his 27th year as a makeup artist, gets his greatest pleasure from teaching women who are not famous how to maximize their beauty potential.

"I've been concentrating more now on the education of the consumer than anything else," said Bruce, a New Yorker, in a recent telephone interview from Florida, where he was vacationing.

"The main thing for everyone, men and women, is to learn to make the most of what they have," said Bruce, 43, who is somewhat of a celebrity himself.

Bruce will be returning to the area this month to share his makeup expertise. He has appeared on the popular morning TV show Kelly & Co., for which he has served as a guest host as well as guest.

A CONSULTATION with Bruce includes general cosmetic evaluation and instruction, answering of specific beauty questions, and wardrobe color selection.

A follow-up visit is then scheduled at which clients have a complete course in makeup application from a trained makeup artist/technician.

Makeup artist believes in bringing out the best

Bruce hopes that women will make appointments "who have never dreamed of going to a makeup artist." He hopes they will then feel so good about themselves that they will make accurately will make accurately with the medium. will make regular visits to a makeup

"I think it's important to go to someone whom you trust, and go periodically," he said.

Skin care and makeup application need not be a chore, he said — in fact, it should take only 15 minutes.

Everyone knows they feel better when they look better, and if it only takes 15 minutes, why not?" Clients with lifestyles geared more to grocery stores and station wagons than sets of talk shows and sleek limos need not fear that Bruce will give them a theatrical look.

THE ENTHUSIASTIC Bruce, also known for his quick wit, refers to some of the elaborate makeovers done in stores as the "handiwipe school of makeup." He shuns that method for one in which he helps women look their best.

"I ask each woman what she does for a living."

Then, through a process of elimination, he determines what is and is not going to look good on the client.

Bruce believes that good skin care is the basic ingredient for an attractive makeup application, and edu-cates clients on skin care routines as well as makeup.

"Your makeup is as good as what you apply it to," he said. Bruce, in fact, has developed his own aloe-based line of skin care products. For daily skin care, he advocates a cleanser, freshener, a product from his skin care line called "dermal feeder," and a mois-

Men can also use the products, he said, as they are for "humans" and not just for women.

Bruce, whose clients range from 9 to 94, said it is never too late to learn proper skin care techniques.

The biggest mistake Bruce said he sees is women who keep the same look for years. In his words, by doing so they become "frozen in time . . . they are in a time warp."

A WOMAN may, for instance, wear a ponytail and frosted lipstick into her 30s because as a teen, she was told that looked good.

"They should change their techniques with age," he said. "The older you get, the more makeup you need, and the better applied.

"I am painfully honest with these women. I am always nice, but I don't believe in wasting people's time."
He admitted, "The toughest thing subjective situation."

Bruce, it seems, has always been interested in faces. Portrait painting was a hobby in school. At age 17, he "got a wonderful break," and be-came an apprentice to New York hair designer Mr. Kenneth. A multi-faceted career as a makeup artist followed - one in which he has also been a representative for Estee Lauder and Revlon, and carved a niche as a lecturer and au-

In Michigan, Bruce has found another calling - theater.

"Four years ago, I made my theatrical debut at the Birmingham Theater in 'A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum,' " he said. That was followed by other theatrical ventures here.

"Michigan has been wonderful to me," he said. "People in Michigan are sophisticated and nice. I find

Caring for aging parents takes its toll

By Julie Brown staff writer

Taking care of aging parents who aren't in good health can be stressful. "Sandwich generation" members who must care for their children and their aging parents of-ten find that combination is tough

"We get spread pretty thin sometimes," said the Rev. Harvey Heneveld, pastor of Christ Community Church of Canton.

Helping people cope with those demands is the goal of a sevenweek seminar, "Understanding Mom and Dad." The seminar will begin 7-8:30 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 7, at the church, 45701 Ford, west of Canton Center in Canton.

Subsequent sessions will be 7-8:30 p.m. each Sunday through Nov. 18. Price is $10 per couple or

Every night we'll be covering a different dimension of the whole situation," said Heneveld, a Canton

TOPICS TO be covered are:

- Oct. 7: an introduction and "The Age Wave" video presenta-
- · Oct. 14: the aging process; · Oct. 21: sources of help;
- · Oct. 28: bureaucratic issues, including Medicare, Medicaid and Social Security benefits;
- · Nov. 4: legal issues; Nov. 11: housing options, in-
- cluding choosing a nursing home; Nov. 18: spiritual issues and such a seminar would be helpful for others as well.

THE PEOPLE that we have lined up are experts in their field. They recognize the tremendous need for this kind of thing." Nel Thompson from The Senior Alliance and Karen Ross from Madonna College's gerontology department have been particularly helpful, Heneveld said.

He knows that caring for aging parents can be stressful. Heneveld's parents are older and live in Holland, Mich.

"Fortunately, they are still in relatively good health."

His parents have continued to live independently, but bouts of sickness in recent years have placed demands on other family

CHANGES IN society mean more middle-aged people are caring for older loved on Greater mobility means that other family members frequently aren't available to help provide

In such situations, support for caregivers is eroded "to the point where we're really isolated. Often, that becomes very difficult.

Long-distance caregiving is among subjects to be covered in the seminar.

THE SEMINAR isn't limited to those who have elderly parents. Teens and young adults are also welcome, as are older people.

Heneveld was previewing "The Age Wave" video at home, and found his teenage children were in terested in the issues it raised.

Heneveld, the founding pastor of the Canton church, isn't sure at this point just how many people will sign up for the seminar. We've not done anything like this before. We could have a fairly good response

The $10 registration price is designed to cover the cost of refresh-ments and other expenses. It can be waived for those unable to pay.

Advance registration for the "Understanding Mom and Dad" seminar is requested. For registration information, call 981-0499. Nursery care ($1 per child) will be available at the church during seminar sessions.

care for their parents when necessary, Heneveld said.

The Scriptures are very clear in the teaching.

Honoring parents is one of the Ten Commandments

'That's one of the 10 basic principles of life, honoring and caring for our parents. It's something that is a high priority for us."

Parish grows by leaps and bounds

In the 25 years St. Gerald's Roman Catholic Church has been in existence, it's grown along with the parts of Livonia and Farmington it serves.

While its parish population almost doubled in the last 10 years from 500 to 960 families, its original building remained the same.

This year, the parish embarks on a construction project which will give it a new 9,500-square-foot worship area which accommodates 220 more seats than the existing one. The project is expected to be completed by next spring.

'The parish is very

"The parish is very enthusiastic," said its pastor, the Rev. Gerald McEnhill. "So far, a fund-raising drive has netted $700,000 in pledges and donations toward the $1,450,000 project."

Originally, the structure was intended to serve as a church only temporarily. Plans to turn it into an elementary school were never com-

"The ideal then was that every parish should have a school," McEnhill said.

INSTEAD, PARISHIONERS ended up making do with a church that seemed to be getting smaller each year. During Sunday services, a portion of the congregation was forced to stand outside the main worship areas and in the hallways.

Building plans call for the new worship area to be built in part of the existing parking lot behind the church garage and over the baseball backstop on Farmington Road, north of Eight Mile. The backstop will be moved

"It's going to be chaos," McEnhill said.

However, out of chaos will grow order. The new church will be built around the altar in much the same fashion as a theater in the round.

That allows parishioners to observe the services from most vantage points while maintaining an intimate family atmosphere in the church, according to McEnhill.

Small niches in the pews will permit people using wheelchairs to sit with everyone else. A ramp to the sanctuary will allow people using wheelchairs to be readers near the altar during services.

While the parish gains more space and comfort in which to worship, it also acquires a larger area for social gatherings. The old church will be used as a social hall. A kitchen and more storage and office space will be added.

ABOARD THE M.V. HORIZON: Passenger liners have changed a lot since Cary Grant and Deborah Kerr waltzed across the movie screen in tuxedo and evening gown earlier this century. If Capt. Gerassimos Andrianatos was so inclined he could set the M.V. Horizon on "automatic" and it would sail the 774 miles from

The Horizon is one of the new state-of-theart ships built for cruising in 1990, but some things haven't changed. The ship still makes that foghorn sound as it moves out of port late on a Saturday afternoon and voices still ripple excitedly across the deck "Are we moving?

As the skyline of New York City slides by, the band plays "Yellow Bird," the white-jacketed waiters carry trays of pina coladas and mai tais on their heads and passengers tap

I stretched out on a deck chair to watch Ellis Island and the Statue of Liberty go by, and the next thing I knew we were at sea head-

The Horizon spends Saturday and Sunday night at sea, Monday and Tuesday in Hamilton, the capital city of Bermuda, Wednesday and most of Thursday in St. George's, the historical city of Bermuda, Thursday and Friday

Most passengers are from the eastern seaboard because Midwesterners tend not to think of Bermuda as a cruise destination, but there are a few from Michigan. Irena Filipovic of Bloomfield Hills was aboard with her daughter Susan, a Lahser High School senior, and her son Dan, a University of Michigan student. The Filipovics have cruised extensively, so they are most interested in the sun-sea aspects of the Horizon. Other passengers cruise as a, preamble and a postcript to Bermuda and to use the ship as a luxury hotel and dining room

SATURDAY NIGHT was party night for most passengers, who lingered over a fivecourse dinner, explored the casino and the disco, watched the stage entertainment and filled the bars. Some of us even remembered to put our watches ahead an hour to Bermuda

One of the ways ships are defined as far as style is concerned, is by the way that people eat, drink and play, and what they wear while

Cruise to Bermuda brings party aboard

Squeezing the 95-foot wide cruise ship, Horizon, through the 130-foot entrance to St. George's Harbor in Bermuda requires skillfull navigation.

The sun deck of M.V. Horizon includes separate pools for children and adults.

they are doing it. Sunday was a glorious day and we were alone on an empty sea, waging a wide turquoise wake behind us and coloring the deck chairs around the pool with bathing suits. T-shirts and sunhats.

Like all cruise ships, the decks were covered with shorts and shirts at checkers, bridge, shuffleboard, skeet shooting, golf, wine tasting, arts-and-crafts classes, bingo, ping pong, aerobics and at all the poolside shenanigans organized by the cruise director.

Those who read the dress code know that on the Horizon the guidelines call for jacket and . tie after 6 p.m. Not everybody reads or abides by the guidelines, and nobody says anything if . they don't, but on the two formal nights during the week's cruise most sunburned noses rise above suits and cocktail dresses. We are almost as well dressed as the European waiters -who serve us in the large, elegant dining room.

By Iris Sanderson Jones statt writer

What a rotten break, I thought. Then I remembered Mittenwald, Adi, and Dinkelsbuhl.

Until last week, everybody who had signed up for the Oct. 2-13 tour sponsored by this newspaper and Lufthansa, the German airline, was excited about starting the tour in Berlin. Berlin, the city of reunification. Berlin, the city that used to have a wall down its main street.

Two weeks ago the two Germanies took the excitement another step. Reunification would take place Oct. 3. On the very date our tour was planning to be there. Too good to be true of course. We had to bow to history and leave the hotel rooms to the statesmen.

What a rotten break. Then I saw the new itinerary: Rothenburg, Dinkelsbuhl and Garmisch-Partenkirgschen. And I remembered Adi.

THE SCRAPBOOK I was looking for was in the basement, in a box, on a top shelf at the back, but I finally found it. It was a record of our first trip to Europe, told in words, photos, postcards, receipts and scraps of toilet paper. It was the first time we had sampled toilet paper that felt like sandpaper so we made a collec-

As I turned the pages I started to smile. There was the night we met young Germans in the Hofbrauhauus in Munich, where the man asked me to dance and twirled me so fast I fell on the floor. Where the girl carried three one-liter mugs of beer in each hand like a weight lifter.

There was Adi of the toothless grin, met in a "weinstube," a small version of a beer hall, in the mountain village of Mittenwald, near Garmisch-Partenkirchen. And there it was, straight out of the 16th century, the tiny village of Dinkelsbuhl, on the Romantische Strasse-the Romantic Road.

I WAS so excited on that trip that I wrote everything down for my scrapbook. How it felt to watch the sun come up from an airplane. Riding the cable car up the Austrian

'The Love Boat' stirs waves at Panama

Reader's Report features adventures taken by local travelers. If you would like to report on your recent excursion, please write to Iris Jones, Suburban Communications Corp., 36251 Schoolcraft Road, Livonia, 48150.

Lee and Ann Corless of West Bloomfield cruised through the Panama Canal last year aboard the Pacific Princess, which many of us remember as "The Love Boat" of national television fame. Here is their

After sailing at 11 p.m., we were up early the next morning to tour our first port - St. Thomas. This is an exceptionally beautiful island and definitely worth a return trip. In each port, we had the choice of several different excursions to take and the hardest part was picking which one, as it was usually impossible time-wise to get in more than one.

I very much wanted to get over to the two nearby islands of St. Croix and St. John, where the snorkeling is supposed to be fantastic, but we picked the round-the-island tour instead. We were not disappointed and can always return for a longer stay.

THE MAIN town of Charlotte Amalie has wonderful shopping opportunities, especially in lovely jewelry, but we managed to restrain ourselves and picked up nothing except more film. Some of our fellow cruisers spent the day swimming and sunning at beautiful Magens Bay and pronounced it one of the best beach excursions they had ever had.

Next stop in the West Indies was the island of St. Martin, Sint Maarten - half of the island is under Dutch rule and the other half French! The inhabitants can move freely from one side to the other with no showing of passports at the borders, which are simply marked with signs saying you are now entering the Dutch side or the French

Our guide told us this island is a favorite spot for celebrities, as no one bothers them here, not being as popular or well known as some of the other islands. Here, we enjoyed sampling and buying some of the locally produced liqueurs with exotic flavors such as guavaberry, mango, wild lime and spice.

THE FOLLOWING day brought us to French Martinique. This is also a lovely island and so much like Hawaii that, as we were driving around, we kept thinking we were on streets back in Honolulu. The vegetation and terrain are almost identical. Throughout the Caribbean, som of the islands are actually quite arid and not very tropical looking. Here, I finally managed to get in some snorkeling in the morning, and then Lee and I rented a taxi to drive us around in the afternoon

We had a very talkative and interesting driver. One of the delightful things about the Caribbean is the

Sailing 'Horizon' brings style to sea

By dusk Sunday night, Captain's Night, the deck chairs around the pool were empty. Those signed up for the first dinner seating at 6 p.m., popular because it leaves playtime in Bermuda, were eating Lobster Thermidor in the Starlight Restaurant. The second seating at 8:45 p.m. passengers were shaking the captain's hand.

Capt. Andrianatos, born on the Greek island of Ithaca, was on board with his New Zealand wife and children. Chandris Cruises, which owns Celebrity Cruises and therefore the Horizon, encourages senior officers to bring families aboard.

MONDAY MORNING we awoke to a voice coming through the ships loudspeaker: "Ladies and gentlemen, we are now sailing down the coast of Bermuda." I have already written about Bermuda (travel pages August 30) and the thrill of docking on Front Street in the midof Hamilton, with the whole of the small colorful Bermuda is wisely trying to keep its island life intact, so it recently reduced the number of cruise ship passengers allowed to enter the island from 150,000 to 120,000 a year. The Horizon keeps this wonderful "parking place," along with the Viking Star and the Nordic Prince, because of a 10-year contract signed between Chandris Lines and the Bermuda government.

Chandris is an expert at converting glamorous old passenger ships to cruise ship use, but has not been known as a luxury line. Their Bermuda contract for Celebrity Cruises, which presently includes the Horizon and the SS Meridian, is to attract upscale passengers to the island.

THE FOOD on ship is excellent, not surprising since the kitchen was established under the supervision of rescarrateur Michel Roux, who runs two British restaurants earning Michelin's coveted three-star rating. I didn't like the coffee but espresso is available at $1.50 a cup from the bar.

Neither gambling nor entertainment were allowed on the ship in port, so passengers were ready to party again when the Horizon sailed at 3 p.m. Thursday for its trip home. One more formal night. Another crack at the blackjack table or the nickel slot machines. Another day to broil in the sun. Soon enough we were listening to Australian Cruise director Neil Roberts tell us about buying that last duty-free item, tipping the cabin stewards and waiters.

"Leave your bags outside the cabin at midnight," he said. "You'll be packed early, so you might as well stay up until we get to New York in the morning!"

Iris Jones is travel editor for Camden Publications, serving Suburban Communications Corp. publications.

On the Horizon...

language of the natives; it is so musical you can almost hear a calypso beat. In most places, it is a mixture of English, French, Spanish and whatever. A highlight of Martinique was visiting a replica of the Paris cathedral of Sacre Coeur. However, here it is perched on top of one of the very green mountains in the interior, away from the main city.

Finally a day at sea to relax before the next stop. By this time, we felt we needed another vacation to rest up from our cruise! Curacao was next. This is a Dutch island, and the port of Willemstad looks like a mini-Amsterdam with its quaint, colorful buildings, tile roofs, and Dutch street

ONE CAN easily walk into the heart of town from the pier and getting there is part of the fun. You must cross the harbor via a swaying pontoon bridge that swings open frequently to allow ships to enter. If the bridge is open when you want to return, no need to swim, you just hop a small ferry that makes frequent crossings over the short distance.

The famous Curacao liqueurs are venir bottle - along with perhaps some Delftware. The shops carry imported articles from all over the world, and I was surprised to find the carved wooden animals I had seen in Bali for the same price as over there-after having been shipped some halfway around the world! And if one gets worn out from shopping, you can always sip a Heineken beer at a charming sidewalk cafe.

Some passengers skipped the shops altogether and went to the Seaquarium, and interesting and somewhat unusual aquarium where the fish are kept in natural habitats with access to the sea water.

Another day at sea and then the main attraction - The Panama Canal. Everyone was up early so as not to miss the start around 7 a.m. at the port of Cristobal (city of Colon.) The actual distance from where you enter at the Atlantic side to emerging in the Pacific is about 50 miles, with the complete transit taking about eight to nine hours. Cruise ships have first priority, so there was virtually no waiting in line.

THERE ARE six sets of locks in all. We first entered the Gatun Locks where three sets raise the ship a tomade here and naturally every tour- tal of 85 feet. This was perhaps the most exciting time, as all the passen-gers crowded against the various forward decks to watch the gates being opened in front - and then everyone would rush to the stern to watch them close behind the ship.

The operation of raising and lowering in each lock actually took only a few minutes. The locks are very narrow and it was hard to imagine anything much larger than our ship squeezing through. We were told the largest had only 2 inches to spare on either side!

Once you enter the lock, you are pulled along by four railway-type engines, appropriately called "mules," which run on tracks along either side. They are tethered to the ship by lines fore and aft. Although the entire operation is a marvel of engineering, one aspect still remains rather primitive. Two men in a small rowboat have to row out to pass lines from the mules to the ship.

After the Gatun locks, you enter the huge man-made Gatun Lake which was formed when the adjacent Chagres River was dammed. Ships travel slowly some 23 miles through this lake. There are many small islands in the water and the coastline is very tropical with numerous different birds to be seen flying about.

nine-mile Gaillard Cut (named after the U.S. Army engineer in charge of its excavation) through the highest portion of the isthmus, the Continental Divide. Here it is like sailing through an enormous ditch. This was the most difficult portion of the entire canal to construct, as it had to be carved through rock for most of the distance. I read that the amount of earth moved would be the equivalent of digging a giant trench all the way from Los Angeles to New York!

After the Cut comes the single set of Pedro Miguel Locks, where the ship is now lowered some 30 feet into tiny Miraflores Lake. You then go through the remaining two sets of locks, and finally drop down to the level of the Pacific Ocean and into the port of Balboa, just outside Pan-

The day we traveled through the canal was the hottest day of our entire trip. The sun burned down with such intensity that being out on the deck unsheltered became agonizing. The few people who were imprudent enough to stand outside in bathing suits most of the day came down with sunstroke. However, one could easily watch all the activity from a sheltered deck chair or gaze out the large windows while in air-conditioned comfort inside.

All day long during the transit, a local Panamanian guide, who had boarded the ship in Cristobal, was on the loud speaker explaining things as we went along.

THE PREVIOUS day, we had a movie and lecture about the construction of the canal, so it was more meaningful to us as we went through. During the day, the ship's boutique shop did a brisk business selling "Panama Canal" T-shirts and copies of the book "The Path Be-tween the Seas" which quickly sold

For me, a very exciting part of the trip came at the end of the Canal when we were anchored in Balboa for refueling. Here we were just outside Panama City and could see the buildings in the distance. Military helicopters flying overhead remind-ed us of the problems they had with Gen. Manuel Noriega. We were the first ship in a long time that allowed passengers to disembark for a couple of hours. To my delight, the Cuna Indians of the San Blas Islands had set up shop nearby and were selling their wares.

side of the Alps to the Zugspitz. Adi. The night we met Adi we had just finished dinner and walked into a weinstube. There was a row of booths down one side of a long narrow room and an "oompa-pa" band at the end.

We walked through, saw no empty tables and were ready to leave when Adi saw us. We didn't know then that Europeans sit at empty chairs even if a table is otherwise occupied.

"Setzen Sie hier! Setzen Sie Hier!" ("Sit here, sit here!")

The tall man with the big grin and two top teeth missing was in a semicircular leather booth with three other people. Obviously two couples out for the evening.

We crowded in at either end and had a hilarious evening. Adi couldn't speak English. I had learned a few words from "German Made Simple" but I couldn't understand him at all.

IT DIDN'T matter. As the band went "oompa-pa," we drank beer, thumped our steins and Adi yodeled. He yodeled about us, while we rocked back and forth, arms linked. He yodeled about "Deee- troit" about "A-mer-i-ca."

He made me promise to send him a postcard from Detroit. I sent a skyline picture of Detroit as soon as I cosy inn. We saw the girls in Bavarian dresses, the 15th century church and the women carrying their string bags to market.

The concierge, who looked like Raymond Massey, met us on the street as we were ready to leave town. He stood there in his well-cut suit, with a basket of lettuce over his arm, and waved us away.

Small memories. Great memories. It wasn't over then either, as we learned a year later when a tattered postcard arrived one Saturday morning from Mittenwald. The picture showed the exact semi-circular leather booth where we had yodeled through an evening with Adi.

On the back, in a mixture of German and English were these words.

"We miss you. Come back. Auf Wiedersehen."

Westland girl is a Torchlighter

When they throw the switch to light the United Way torch at the foot of Woodward in downtown Detroit on Monday, Sept. 24, Jennifer Swanguarin will be there.

In fact, the eight-year-old West-land resident will be helping to the throw the switch.

The daughter of Kevin and Jeanette Swanguarin, Jennifer is serving as a Torchlighter for the 1990 United Way Torch Drive which kicks off with the annual torch lighting ceremony.

The youngster is one of six metropolitan area residents selected to serve as Torchlighters this year. The Torchlighters represent the thousands of people receiving services from the more than 150 United Way-supported agencies.

The other Torchlighters are Crystal Slade of Taylor, Art Williams of Detroit, Matthew Ignash of Southfield, Michael McCarthy of Shelby Township and Jason Powell of Detroit.

Jennifer has leukemia and receives help from the Children's Leukemia Foundation. She is in the second year of a three-year treatment program for the disease and is "doing extremely well," her mother said.

Lawyering undergoes some changes

Legal check-ups reveal problems

By R.J. King special writer

In a spacious office overlooking the rooftops of downtown Birmingham, Frederick Hoops defuses time bombs using his more than 20 years of legal experience.

As an attorney specializing in preventive law, Hoops helps area companies avoid costly lawsuits.

"There are some very simple rules to follow to avoid lawsuits, and there are more complex ones, but violate either of them and it could ruin the company," said Hoops, president of the law firm Frederick K. Hoops & Associates.

"A company may have some misleading statements in their employee handbook or need help with deciding what to put on product warning labels, and that's where we come in."

While the practice of preventive law is nothing new, Hoops maintains it has caught on in recent years, especially among small- and medium-sized businesses ever mindful of a more litigious society.

And the reason many companies end up in court, Hoops said, is that they don't audit their operations for potential pitfalls or instill a legal consiousness in the employees.

"A BUSINESS can run into many hazards, both civil and criminal, if they're not careful," Hoops said. "A legal audit is one way to cut down on potential problems while at the same time offer peace of mind."

Comparable to a home inspection, a legal audit or wellness program, involves reviewing company procedures in employee hiring and firing, enviornmental hazards, singing of contracts, product liability claims and the maintenance of safe working conditions.

Depending on the size of the company, a set of policies and directives can be developed to guide those employees involved in litigation-vulnerable situations. For smaller companies, especially retail outlets, a detailed inspection of the store becomes necessary.

As an example, Hoops said companies need to make as thorough a check as possible on new employees, as employers can be held liable for negligent hiring if a worker harms or injures antoher worker or customer.

Even seemingly harmless decisions that stray from existing procedures can prove detrimental to a

In a case involving Ford Motor Co., an employee charged with destryong documents in accordance withe existing laws decided it was easier to transport the documents in their file cabinets to a landfill. The files were to have been buried in boxes.

WHEN THE case came to trial years later, the plaintiff's attorney questioned the employee, and finding the files housed in cabinets, moved to have a bulldozer dig up the buried material. The judge ruled in favor of the attorney over the objections of Ford.

"With a legal audit follows advanced planning," Hoops said. "If you're a small business owner with children, it pays to plan for your estate now, if you want your children to take over some day.

"Some people let it go, and if they suddenly pass away, there could be a long, drawn-out lawsuit to determine who should control the company. Such suits as these can be avoided in most cases with proper estate planning."

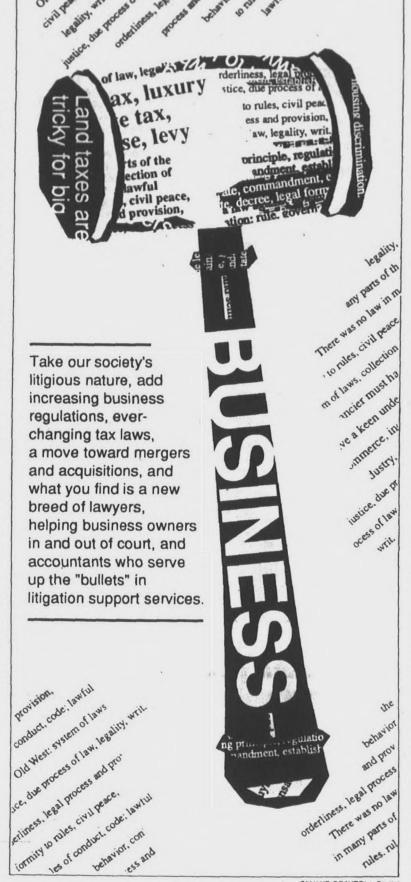

Depending on the size of the company and the nature of its business, Hoops said an audit could take a few hours to several days or weeks to complete. Hourly fees range from $100 to $200.

Henry Sandweiss, president of KWS Realty Services in Southfield, and an attorney, said he consuted Hoops for his expertise in securities in 1986, but the relationship soon moved into other aspects of his busienss.

"We structure a lot of limited partnerships for office buildings, warehouses and strip malls, and since this is a highly regulated business, Fred is always asking me: 'Have you done this, have you done that?'

"He makes sure we're in compliance with the law, and he has helped with other matters of our

Numbers people have bigger role

By Doug Funke staff writer

Accountants are looking toward the legal arena — apparently with good reason — to expand their practices.

Bankruptcy filings in the Eastern District of Michigan are on the upswing. Trustees, usually lawyers appointed by the court to monitor the process, frequently seek help pulling numbers together.

Executives considering bankruptcy often need assistance. Creditors aren't as willing to take their lumps without a fight.

Business valuations also are essential in liquidations, mergers and divorce proceedings. Insurance losses and breach-of-contract situations also provide opportunities.

As a result, more medium-sized operations are forming internal litigation support teams, according to Hector A. Bultynck III, principal in the Troy accounting firm of Bultynck & Co.

"It's not new to us and not new to the industry," he said. "What we're trying to do here is make the process more formal."

And carve other business niches.

"YOU'VE GOT to become profitable in other areas," said Lawrence Brown, partner in the Southfield accounting firm of Burnstein, Morris & Brown. "Overhead is killing you with regular accounts."

"Firms are trying to find ways to expand their practices," said Gary Leeman, a partner with Brown. "It (litigation support) is a natural with the litigious society we're in. The demand is there."

"It's a function of commercial litigation becoming more complicated. It requires more and more experts," added Robert McAuliffe, director of general practice for Coopers & Lybrand.

Coopers & Lybrand.

Mid-sized firms are best suited for litigation support activities, Bultynck and Brown maintain.

They reason that larger international accounting firms, even though they may have the staff to do the job, could easily find themselves in conflict of interest positions with their myriad of clients.

Litigation support services don't readily fall into the traditional management structure of larger accounting firms, McAuliffe said. Also, it's difficult to find experienced accountants with a feel for the task.

Smaller firms generally don't have the personnel and expertise to do the job, Bultynck said.

SO EXACTLY what does this litigation support team do?

"I tell attorneys we supply them with accounting bulle's," said Andrew Belsky, manager of consultant services for Brown's firm.

John Urban, who recently joined Bultynck to oversee the litigation support team there, elaborated a typical bankruptcy scenario.

"Because of the firm's difficulties, it may have fired its accountant two years ago to save costs. Records aren't up to date. Records may have been put in boxes while they moved to smaller offices.

"That's where we step in. We know what we're looking for and how to reconstruct records to put together financial statements so he can act."

LAWYERS ALMOST risk malpractice today if they don't get accountants involved in litigation support, Leeman said.

And, like everything else, experience counts.

"It's almost impossible for one guy to stay abreast of everything in the accounting profession," Bultynck said. "Almost all firms of our size are trying to develop a (litigation support) practice."

The American Institute of Certified Public Accountants and the Michigan Association of CPAs, professional organizations, have established litigation support committees this year.

Leeman is chairman of the state

The goal is to present articles, information and seminars to the emerging field.

"We like to say any case that involves damages could involve a CPA. The field has picked up," Leeman said. "Almost everyone in it happened to get a call from an attorney they knew. It was a first-time experience and they went on from there."

Firm looks at all angles in field of specialization

By Mary Rodrique staff writer

When Jim Simpson and Pat Moran became law partners in 1976, a strategy was born that has served the Birmingham practice well over the past 14 years.

"We took a look at why small firms stay small—basically by taking all the business that comes through the door, developing no specialties," said Moran.

Simpson and Moran would scale their clientele to concentrate solely on business.

"We were blasted and cursed with a changing economy in our formative years." Like today's escalating fuel prices, the firm experienced the problems of spiraling energy costs affecting one of its first clients, a major trucking company.

"It was a quick lesson on the cyclical nature of the Detroit economy," Moran said.

The basic philosophy that has kept the firm afloat through good times and bad has been expansion in good times, litigation in bad.

"In litigation our goal is not retribution, but to get business back on track," said Moran.

With the recent merger of Southfield-based Simon Deitch, Simpson Moran now boasts 44 attorneys, with a support staff bringing the operation to 100 employees. Big clients include the American-owned Ambassador Bridge Co. and Warren-based Central Transport, one of the largest trucking companies in the U.S.

the largest trucking companies in the U.S.

The senior partners practice what they preach—they themselves are businessmen and women and they hire young attorneys with the same mind set.

Taking advantage of the recent free trade pact between the U.S. and Canada, Moran owns a metal pallet plant in New Brunswick and is getting into the tire

> 'Whenever we work with a client, we try not to have a real narrow focus.'

— Clark Doughty lawyer recycling business in Ontario. Simpson is involved in real estate with condominium developments in the Birmingham area. From the newly merged Simon Deitch crew, founding partner David Simon is also the founder of Franklin Savings & Loan, which has grown into a three-branch operation generating $400 million in assets.

MORAN AND HIS associates have little patience with attorneys who have a take-charge attitude instead of using their clients expertise to garner the best results.

"There has been an attitude in law for years that the practice of law would be great except for clients. We don't believe that. We don't give yes or no answers. We tell (clients) better ways of doing things."

Clark Doughty is one of the breed of young attorneys trained in the Simpson Moran mode. A pharmacist turned lawyer, Doughty joined the firm as a clerk in 1982 and earlier this year made full partner. "It's an aggressive approach here. We focus on the entreprenuerial client who needs an innovative approach," said Doughty of Farmington Hills. His interests are real estate, mergers and acquisitions.

"Whenever we work with a client, we try not to have a real narrow focus," he said. "We take the approach—how does this affect the rest of your business? It's a proactive approach and also a preventative approach. And it's challenging. Because of that it stays interest-

David Simon, law school contemporary of Simpson and Moran, says the trio "grew up in the profession together." He characterizes the recent merger as adding depth and breadth to two solid Oakland County practices.

"Simpson Moran has a good practice in labor relations. Simon Deitch has depth in government relations practice.
"I'm in the positive results business. It's not how but what I do — fulfill a client's expectations. We know the business problems and how to resolve them. We are involved with them ourselves.

"All too often a valid criticism of lawyers is that they serve up the legal needs but not business needs," Simon said. "We try to serve up business and legal solutions to meet the objective. You have to understand business issues. If you don't, you can't provide an-

The Annuity with a Twist (AIT) published on June 7 aroused more in-terest than any other column I have published this year. But it also creat-ed a lot of confusion and raised many new issues. In a two-part arti-cle I will elaborate on my previous column. I will also conduct a seminar on this topic (see below).

Why a fixed annuity

Many investors are enamored by the attractive returns they believe they can get from equity invest-ments, but they often forget the risks associated with the market. Take a look at Table 1. The ABC mutual fund returned more than the fixed annuity in four out of five years.

Even more important, in two of those years, the fund returned more than 20 percent. And yet, after five years, returns on both investments were identical, even though the fixed annuity offered a very conservative 8 percent. So the moral is that a fixed annuity can be an appropriate investment for many risk averse investors

Immediate annuity versus AIT

In a typical immediate annuity the amount owed you by the insurance company gradually reduces to zero when the term expires. In contrast, in AIT, the insurance company owes you the original amount during the term of the contract. This contrasting feature is clearly demonstrated

Key differences in annuities

Table 3 underscores the major differences between a typical immediate annuity and the AIT. It reveals that the AIT is superior to a typical annuity in several respects.

For instance, over a 16-year peri-nificant amount for an initial $100,000 investment. In addition, the tax-free payout over the term is far higher for AIT than it is for the immediate annuity.

Next week: More on AIT.

Oil conservation is easy: Buy a higher-mileage car

Gather around kids, and I'll tell you stories about the old days, back when Iran was the bad guy, and the Shah had just put Ross Perot's man in jail, and Perot had to enlist the aid of the Ayatollah to get him out.

That was back when oil prices were soaring, and the Department of Energy put on show-and-tell sessions that had every crackpot inventor in the world sitting in rooms rented in the Hyatt, with some device that would save gasoline sitting in his lap.

Now comes the silly season again, as any thought of a gasoline tax goes out the window lest we have to cut the suntan oil rations for U.S. troops, and preposterous ways to "conserve energy" get yet another airing.

If I sound cynical, it's because I'm still mad about the state of Michigan raising my license plate fee for my old Volkswagen Beetle in the heat of the last energy crisis - effectively penalizing me for driving an econo-that the CAFE standard is supported mainly be people who feel that the law will mystically transform their personal gas hog into a delicate mini-sipper overnight, while it sleeps in their garage.

Bill Magavern, an attorney with the Public Interest Research Group, apparently is one of these dimwits, who claims cars could reach 50 mpg by using "multivalve engines, frontwheel drive, overhead cams and aerodynamic designs" - all features already on nearly every car being sold today, unnoticed by the likes of Magavern.

Arts 'n Apples shows promotion for a downtown

Probably the most challenging task facing any downtown shopping district is trying to come up with promotional programs that work. Just celebrating its 25th anniversary, the Paint Creek Center for the Arts' Arts 'n Apples Festival is an example of how a privately spon-sored event led to additional companion programs being created to benefit an entire downtown district.

Historically held as a fund-raiser for the center, this year's festival attracted 125,000 to downtown Ro-

WORKING IN conjunction with several other community groups and non-profit organizations offering everything from apple pies to enter-tainment, the festival's past success led community leaders to coordinate the Art Downtown program now being held in conjunction with Arts 'n Apples each September.

At a cost of $27,000 in 1989, the Northville Chamber of Commerce and its supporters agreed to act on the recommendation of local architect Greg Presley by sponsoring a Victorian weekend promotion to celebrate the heritage of tis downtown district.

WITH A crowd of more than 10,000, the chamber realized it had a winning promotional strategy and is now gearing for its second festival to be held this weekend.

According to Laurie Mars, executive director of the Northville chamber, corporate sponsorships have been crucial to the success of their festival. This year Dick Scott Dodge and Dick Scott Buick helped to bring the Flying Walendas' high-wire act to the festival.

"Although our downtown merchants provide us with donations to cover event expenses, their primary goal is to get people into their shops," Mars said.

Hold good stocks despite Persian Gulf turmoil

Q. Since the disturbance started in Kuwait, I have been bombarded by mail and telephone calls from bro-kers telling me I should sell my stocks and put my money in money market funds. I read an article this week in the Wall Street Journal in which the writer said the investor only had a few choices as to what he could do with his stocks: He could sell them and hold cash, he could sell them and put the money in money market funds or certificates of de-posit or he could sell them and put the money in stocks that hadn't gone down as much as the market.

To me, he left out the most important action you could take and one that I have elected to do. My portfolio, in my opinion, consists of good-quality stocks. They are grow-ing, on the average, a little better than 10 percent a year and are pay-ing dividends regularly. Consequent-ly, to me, the proper step to take is to hold onto my stocks and quit reading the paper and listening to TV newscasts for six months. Would you agree that I am taking the right

A. I would agree with you 100 per-cent. If your holding of stocks is in companies that are growing a little better than 10 percent a year, if they are of good quality and paying you increasing dividends, then I would see no reason to sell them in this wild, churning market. Remember that in spite of what goes on in the world news channels, the officers of the companies in which you, own stock are working just as hard as they always have to make their companies grow and prosper. Very likely, there will be no cases where the dividend is cut. If they are good companies, you are more likely to enjoy dividend increases.

With a market like we are having with this Iraqi action, you will have price of your stocks retreat 20-30 percent from their highs. In a few cases, they will come down even

But since you are not selling the stocks but are holding them for future dividends and growth, what they sell for in the meantime really means very little.

Incidentally, you should know that the action of holding on to your stocks puts you in a class with the majority of individual investors. Corporations tell me that 80 percent of their shareholders hold their stock over long periods of time.

Local economy declines percent

The National Association of Purchasing Management-Metro Detroit (NAPM-MD) reported an 8.7-point decline in the local economy between July and August. The composite index fell to 44.1 in August from 52.8 in July. This is the largest one-month decline since November 1987 following the stock market collapse.

The sharp decline in the composite index during August signifies near recession conditions for the Detroit area," said David G. Sowerby, vice president and economist at Manufacturers National Bank of Detroit. However, he cautioned that the metro area could still avoid an outright economic contraction.

Much of the decline in August reflected near-term uncertainty over the oil crisis in the Persian Gulf. Nevertheless, a weak local economy, particularly in the automotive sector, was also a major reason for the decline.

Production and new orders were down significantly in the auto sector. In June and July auto output was stronger due to pre-contract deadline inventory buildups.

Disturbingly, Sowerby noted that both the composite index for the auto and non-auto sectors are below 50, consistent with a deteriorating regional economy. August's survey revealed a sharp rise in the commodity price component consistent with a $12 hike in oil prices. This rise was one of the sharpest one-month increases in the price component since the NAPM-MD survey was started in October

The survey respondents indicated their increased pessimism was due to the combination of rising oil prices and the near-term threat of an

Crab spiders are easy to find

ONE OF THE simple but interest-ing activities I do with people while walking through fields in late summer, is to have them look for crab piders. They are common, colorful, and fairly easy to find. The first peron to find one gets my undying grattude, or some other nebulous prize.

Searching for crab spiders is best when goldenrod and Queen Anne's Lace are blooming. They do not make a web to catch prey with, instead they patiently wait for unsuspecting prey on the showy flower-

When an insect searching for nectar or pollen on the flower gets within range for the crab spider, the spider reaches out and grabs it with it's very long front legs. Crab spiders are easy to identify because their front two pair of legs are greatly elongated. Most crab spiders have rear pairs of legs which are much shorter and which are used to anchor the spider while it reaches with the

Unlike many spiders, the legs of crab spiders extend sideways or perpendicular to the long axis of the body. Because crabs have a similar leg orientation these spiders were similarly named.

As you investigate several flowers along the trail you will notice that the white spiders are on the queen annes lace and the yellow spiders are on the goldenrod. Like a chameleon, some crab spiders can change their body color to match their surroundings.

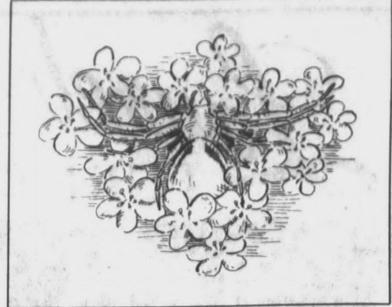

This ability to change color is advantageous to a spider for a couple of reasons. Camouflage for the crab by potential prey, and also by preda-tors that would eat the crab spider. Finding your first crab spider may be the most difficult, but after the first one you will spot them more readily. If you happen to find two crab spiders of very different size on the same flower, you have found a male and a female. Males are much smaller than females.

There are many things that one can watch for and investigate while walking trails, next time out try looking for crab spiders and note the delicate beauty of the flowers they frequent.

New country artist

Country artist Mark Collie didn't have any big expectations recording his first album, "Hardin County Line," on MCA Records.

"I was just trying to make a good country album," said Collie, who performs Saturday at The Palace in Auburn Hills. "I just tried to write good songs, be true to the songs and get the point across."

Something many country and western listeners might agree Collie is good at doing. His stripped down music is something of a blast from the past, striking images of the 1950s country sound of Hank Williams Sr., while having an edge that would reveal some primal rock'n'roll influ-

Musical influences? The Waynesboro, Tenn., native has a lot of them: Rock'n'roll and rhythm and blues along with country. He mentions Carl Smith and Williams Sr. along with '70s artists as the Eagles and Creedance Clearwater Revival in the same breath.

Collie started in country music at 12, joining his first band. After high school, he played with numerous outfits and spent a year-and-a-half in

He settled in Nashville in the early 1980s where he decided to sit down and focus on songwriting in order to land a record deal. Some patience was in order as the record deal didn't come around until six years

While waiting to be signed, Collie wrote a majority of the material for "Hardin County Line." One of the numbers, "Another Old Soldier," was written on Memorial Day 1988 and depicts a person who has fought in a couple of wars and whose life eventually fades away in a veterans hospital. The person in the song is Collie's father, who died seven years ago in VA hospital in Nashville.

Jome & Abroad ADVENTURE LECTURE SERIES

Hagopian World of Rugs is sponsoring a series of six lectures entitled "Home and Abroad" at their Birmingham and Ann Arbor stores. Attendance is by a voluntary tax deductible donation of $10 per person or $15 per couple for individual lectures. For the six part series, the donation will be $50 per person or $75 per person. All proceeds collected will be donated to WUOM/91.7 FM-Michigan Public Radio.

Lecture 1 - 4

Will introduce four of the most exotic destinations in the world: the magic of the Himalayas-Tibet/Nepal, the antiquity of Egypt, the wonder of China and the majesty of the Caucasus of southwestern U.S.S.R.

Lecture 5
The Creation and Origins of Oriental Rugs, will be presented by Mr. Edgar Hagopian, president of Hagopian World of Rugs, an expert and authority on the subject. He will augment his slide presentation with stunning examples of magnificent handmade Oriental rugs.

Lecture 6
Will present interior designer, Kay Isola. She will reveal wonderful home decorating tips and report on the latest in new fabrics, colors and patterns. She will also present her suggestions on how to arrange furniture and how to work with Oriental rugs in a home setting.

Dates and Locations for Lectures:

Pre-lecture refreshments will be served at 7:00 pm; lectures begin at 7:30

ill you send your teen to college sober?

What this young woman knows is more important than what she packs in that truck.

And one thing she knows is that using drugs and alcohol is a sure way to fail in college or out.

If your teen is in trouble with chemicals, get help now. Give him, or her, a chance to succeed.

Call Maplegrove for an evaluation.

Our center has helped over 600 teens begin their recovery from alcohol or other drug addiction

Rocks need qualifiers

staff writer

Plymouth Salem used its depth and balance to finish third in the Western Lakes Activities Association swim meet last year.

The Rocks would like nothing better than to reach the top this year, but defending champ North Farmington, runner-up Plymouth Canton and a number of other schools will make that a difficult step to take.

However, it would appear Salem has the ability at least to hold its ground in the always-tough WLAA. "If we can keep them healthy, we ought to have a pretty competitive team come league meet time," Sa-lem coach Chuck Olson said, "and, hopefully, we'll have some state qualifiers.

"In order to get in the top six (in individual league races), you'd better be thinking about being a state qualifier. That means we have to develop a couple state qualifiers if we're going to do well in the league meet."

SWIMMERS WHO might reach that level will most likely come from a group that include seniors Nicole Bosse, Kim McCormick, Anne Toms, Carrie Vanderweele and Meg Reilly, juniors Megan Andrews, Amy Austin, Candi Bosse, Julie Hickey and Jane Seidelman and sophomores Amy Homan, Kristin Stackpoole and Stephanie Long. All are among 27 letters winners on the team. Nicole and Candi Bosse have done well in early-season practices, and Olson has high expectations for Vanderweele, who was sixth in the backstroke at the WLAA meet.

(Vanderweele) did well at the conference meet, and I'm hoping she can step in and take over for Miss (Cheri) Vincent," Olson said. Vincent, the WLAA champion in the backstroke and an All-Observer swimmer, is one of the major graduation losses, others being Andrea Alex, Tammy Hickey and Jennifer Nicole Bosse (200, 100), Hickey (200, 500), Candi Bosse (50, 100), freshman Mandi Ras (50), Toms (500) and Seidelman (100) are the top freestyle swimmers at this time.

Candi Bosse and Reilly are leaders in the butterfly, Austin and Homan in the breast stroke, Andrews and

Salem optimistic following tourney

staff writer

Plymouth Salem's fine showing in the Ladywood Classic was an encouraging sign for a young and inexperienced girls tennis team, according to coach Judy Braun. It was a modest, four-team tournament, but the Rocks had one singles champion and won all three doubles titles. "It's promising," Braun said. "We're an extremely young team. We only have two seniors. Then we're basically ninth and 10th graders. No kidding. We really do have a young team.' Salem was 8-4 in dual meets and won the Lakes Division title last year. The Rocks finished third in the Western Lakes Activities Association and were fourth at the Ann Arbor regional. Salem is 1-2 this season.

Carolyn Munzenberger and Molly Pastori are the seniors, and Kathy Marschak, who is playing No. 1 singles, is the team's lone junior.

MARSCHAK PLAYED No. 1 doubles last year, but Salem lost all of its regular singles players either to graduation or other activities. She won the title at No. 1 singles Saturday.

Sophomore Susie Bozell, Munzenberger and Pastori are the Nos. 2-4 singles players this year, respectively.

The Rocks have five sophomores and one freshman playing doubles. Kelly Kirkpatrick and Leah Szafran are the No. 1 combination after playing three and two doubles, respectively, last year.

Jessica Holtz and freshman Melissa Kowalis are the No. 2 team, and Natalie Graves and Ann Bartalucci are playing No. 3 doubles.

All three pairs won their respective doubles flights

"This could be a good lineup, but it's not an absolute," Braun said. "We need to get the experience, but we certainly have possibilities.'

Most look for defending co-champion Northville to be the team to beat in the WLAA.

"Considering how many we lost and we do have a young team, I expect we'll peak around the time of the league and regional meets," Braun said. "And that's the way it should be, the reason being we're so young and trying to find ourselves right now.

Chiefs plan title defense

By Brad Emons staff writer

Plymouth Canton will try to defend its boys title, while Farmington hopes to keep its girls crown Saturday in the annual running of the Schoolcraft College Cross Country

The 25th boys varsity race, which begins at 9 a.m., features 19 teams and defending individual champion Ben Goba of Farmington, who covered the flat, 5,000-meter course in 15:47.52 last year.

Canton, which lost four of its top five harriers to graduation, will vie for the team title along with Walled Lake Central and Western; Redford Union, Thurston and Bishop Borgess; Livonia Churchill, Franklin and Stevenson; Farmington Harrison, country

Farmington and North Farmington; Westland John Glenn and Wayne Memorial; Plymouth Canton and Salem; Garden City, Northville, Novi and Trenton. Western could challenge for its first-ever crown, led by Jeff Grosso, who finished eighth a year ago. He is joined by teammate Bill Crosby. Another top 10 performer returning is Thurston's Tommy Biskner, who took 10th a year ago. THE 13TH GIRLS varsity race, which begins at 10 a.m., features 18

Farmington, which lost individual champ Jennifer Kiel to graduation, returns a top 10 finisher in Jennifer Derwinski, along with Allison Davis and Gretchen Clappison. Walled Lake Western is also a threat, returning Jennifer Ray and Wendy Proos, who finished third and fourth, respectively, last season. RU, second to Farmington a year ago, will rely on Liza Mockeridge and Kelly Murray, who took sixth and ninth a year ago. Junior Tracey James also returns. Other teams entered include: Canton, which returns Amy Smith, sixth a year ago; along with Salem, Harrison, North Farmington, Churchill, Franklin, Stevenson, Ladywood, John Glenn, Wayne, Garden City, Thurston, Borgess, Central and Tren-

Chiefs in Mercy Hoops

The Mercy Hoops Classic enters its 10th year, and longevity alone makes the annual tournament a classic in high school girls basketball, according to coach Larry Baker.

But there's no doubt Mercy Hoops has been host to some of the state's finest teams and players in the last decade, including those from the host school, Farmington Hills Mer-

Mercy won four of the first six tournaments (1981, 1982, 1984 and 1986) but has gone three years without winning the championship. The host team has been the runner-up three times.

But now the Marlins, undefeated (4-0) and ranked No. 10 in Class A, have a realistic chance of regaining the title this year.

In the first round tonight, Waterford Kettering plays Trenton at 6:15 p.m., and Mercy meets Plymouth Canton at 8 p.m. The consolation son a year ago. Four players who participated in game will be played at 6 p.m. Saturday, the final at 7:45 p.m.

ALL FOUR teams won Class A district championships last year and posted a combined record of 73-25.

St. Joseph, the runner-up in the Class B state tournament, won't be back to defend its title following its lone appearance in the Classic last year. Canton, the 1998 winner, is in the field for the fourth straight year. After a one-year absence, Kettering makes a comeback, and Trenton is making its second consecutive appearance.

Mercy senior Carrie Walton was a member of the all-tournament team and returns to lead the Marlins. Junior center Laure DeMattia, Kathleen Berrigan, Kathleen Gerigk, Maureen Paulin and Susie Atchinson are key players for Mercy, too.

Senior guard Mary Barna is the only returning starter for Canton, and Trenton is led by 6-foot junior Kim Hoppes. Julie Schmitt (5-10 sen-lor) and Jenny Land (5-6 senior) averaged in double figures last year.

Stackpoole in the IM, Vanderweele and Stackpoole in the backstroke. McCormick and Shelley Rodgers are the top divers. Hayley Meik, another freshman, could come along and help, too.

VINCENT IS the only relay swimmer the Rocks lost, so Olson expects Salem to be solid in those events.

In the team's season-opening, 116-70 defeat of Ypsilanti last week Vanderweele, Austin, Candi Bosse and Long swam the medley relay and had a winning time of 2:03.16.

Candi Bosse, Hickey, Toms and Long won the 400 freestyle relay in 4:07.5. With the 200 freestyle added this year, a possible foursome is Nicole Bosse, Hickey, Seidelman and Ras. "We should have all three relays qualify (for state) with the numbers we've got and the competition," Olson said, "but we need to get some individuals qualified.

"As a team, we're pretty good. We could go 2-3-4 in a dual and do real well. We have 47 on the team, so there is a lot of competition for spots."

Chiefs down Salem runners

So it was no surprising she was at the front of the pack Tuesday, leading Plymouth Canton to a dual-meet victory over Plymouth Salem,

Smith ran 21:52 at Cass Benton Park in the season opener for both The Rocks filled the next two spots with Stacey Witthoff taking second

(22:05) and Corey Gulkewicz third (22:11). But Salem couldn't match Canton's depth as the Chiefs put the next four runners across. Heather Meyer was fourth (22:18), Kim Gudeth fifth (22:34), Lana Boroditsch sixth (22:41) and Anne Dibble seventh (22:46).

Also scoring for Salem were Jill Czaplicki in eighth place (23:01), Kelly Morante in ninth (23:11) and Beth Turomsha in 10th (23:12).

Lutheran NW drops Eagles

Plymouth Christian Academy couldn't rebound from a 32-26 halftime deficit Tuesday and ended up losing to unbeaten Rochester Hills Lutheran Northwest 59-54.

Junior center Jenny Moore paced the Eagles with 15 points and 21 rebounds. Senior Tamara Tilly added 13 points, and Christin Thomason and Jill Butler contributed 11 points

EVE CLAAR tallied 30 points Tuesday to pace visiting North Farmington to a 40-36 victory over Waterford Mott.

Jody Dorr and Tami Cosnek paced Mott with 13 points apiece.

Ocelots open region with 6-0 win

A slow start has seemingly been overcome, and just in time for Schoolcraft College's men's soccer team. The Ocelots, blasted 6-0 in their season-opener by Oakland University, have since tied an impressive Lewis and Clark CC and more importantly - opened the Region 12 season with a 6-0 trouncing of Cuyahoga Metro CC in Cleveland Saturday.

'We had a very good game," said SC coach Van Dimitriou. "It was our best so far this season. The kids just totally ran all over them. After the Oakland game, this can only

We said after that (OU) match, 'Let's learn from it,' and we did. We're playing much better defense. We've started to put the pieces to-

"The team just looks good."

THAT DESCRIPTION should start with Chris Crawford. The freshman forward from Walled Lake (Western) shredded Cuyahoga's defense for three goals and an assist, as he and Khaled Zeidan (Livonia Churchill) proved too much to handle.

Crawford's first goal came at the 15-minute mark and was set up by Zeidan, who spotted Crawford open 18 yards in front of the net and slipped a pass to him. Crawford beat the goalkeeper one-on-one and

That got the scoring avalanche rolling. Five minutes later, Crawford put in a rebound of a Zeidan shot for a 2-0 lead. Zeidan followed 10 minutes after that, taking a return pass from Crawford on a play started by John Cortese and netting it to make it 3-0.

Bob Hayes' goal after a Jerry Staszel cross with two minutes left in the half gave the Ocelots a 4-0 halftime advantage. Crawford completed his hat trick with 15 minutes left in the match, chipping a shot over the keeper. George Abuamsha finished the scoring, slipping past a defender and the keeper to tuck the ball into the net with four minutes left.

Madonna gives potent OU a fight

The advantage of experience belonged to Oakland University. The Pioneers also possessed championship-caliber talent (they won the Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Conference in '88 and finished second in '89), a 3-1 season record and the homecourt advantage.

Madonna College, on the other hand, was 1-6 entering Tuesday's match at OU. The Lady Crusaders have never won a title, but then again, they've only had a team at Madonna for three years. In addition, there was nary a senior on the Crusaders' roster.

Sounds like a rout in the making, doesn't it? Not so fast - Madonna gave OU all it could handle in this rollercoaster affair before bowing in five games.

THE PIONEERS won the opening game 17-15 after trailing 14-10. Madonna won the second 15-9, OU took the third 15-5 and the Crusaders got the fourth 15-10. In the final, deciding game, OU prevailed 15-4.
"We played well," said Madonna coach Jerry Abraham. "It was a real good match. In fact, that was the best we've played this season." Jennifer Zielinski led the Pioneers with nine kills (a

The win improved OU's record to 4-1, with two important GLIAC matches at home this weekend: Northern Michigan at 7 p.m. Friday and Michigan Tech at 1 p.m. Saturday. Madonna, now 1-7, plays at Saginaw Valley State at 7 p.m. tonight, then travels to the Indiana-Purdue at Fort Wayne Tournament this weekend.

Williford helping youthful Pioneers to a strong start

The promise of youthful talent has blossomed into impressive production thus far this season for Oakland University's soccer team.

It showed in the Pioneers' 3-0 win over Tiffin University Sunday at the Detroit Polo Club in Bloomfield Hills, and last Wednesday (Sept. 4) in a 4-2 triumph over University of Michigan at Rochester Adams HS.
In the win over U-M, freshman striker Lee Davison scored three times, upping his season total to five goals (with three assists). Davison's 13 points tied him for the NCAA Division II lead.

Paul Phillips, one of OU's veterans, shouldered the scoring load in the win against Tiffin. The senior striker got two first-half goals, at 4:18 on an assist from Davison and at 16:41 with Derek Williford (from Livonia Stevenson) assisting. Williford has eight assists in three games.

IN THE WIN over U-M, the Pioneers trailed 1-0 at the half. The Wolverines' Jason Cardasis (Detroit Country Day) scored at 1:22 of the match to give his team the early

Big Reds, 28-0

By Steve Kowalski staff writer

LANSING - Midway through the third quarter of Redford Catholic Central's 28-0 win Saturday over Lansing Sexton, a referee shouted something to Shamrocks coach Tom Mach.

"Isn't No. 11 (Jon Barbara) sup-used to play offensive tackle?"

'Nah," Mach said. "We like the way he runs.

Especially Saturday. Barbara, a fullback who wears enough pads on his 215-pound frame to pass for an offensive lineman, gained 72 yards on 13 carries and scored a touchdown to lead the Shamrocks to the devastating win over the state-ranked Big Reds.

CC's starting tailback Mike Thomas saw limited action because of an ankle injury, so Barbara was anxious to show his own running talents. The bus ride home might have been uncomfortable with all those pads on, but he found his comfort zone against Sexton.

"I WAS HOPING coach would give me the ball more because I knew Thomas was out and I wanted to help pick up the slack," Bar-bara said. "Most people underestimate me, but today I proved them wrong. The line did a great job and I couldn't ask for anything more. It was easy."

The win improved CC to 2-0 overall. Sexton, coming off an easy win over Livonia Franklin a week ago, fell to 1-1.

This was the kind of win Mach likes to see after squeaking by Temperence-Bedford in the opening game, 10-8.

We were hoping to move the ball well - and we did," Mach said. "We ran a little different offense this week (without Thomas) and gave people more to think about. They say you show a lot of improvement between your second and third games. We're going to have to improve to beat (Detroit Martin Luther) King Saturday."

CC scored on its first three possessions and outgained the Big Reds, 355-157 in total offense. The Shamrocks, who weren't forced to punt until early in the fourth quarter, picked up 18 first downs and held Sexton to six.

THE SHAMROCKS' running attack didn't end with Barbara. Jeff Tibaldi scored a TD and gained 69 yards on 18 carries, and quarterback Jason Carr surprised the Big Reds with 54 yards on nine carries.

CC's defense, meanwhile, keyed on Big Reds tailback Howard Tripplett, holding him to 52 yards on 15 carries.

We're known for stopping good backs," CC cornerback Brian Chaney said. "We didn't forget about the rest of their team but we felt if we stopped Tripplett we could stop the rest of their offensive plan.

If Sexton thought it could throw against CC, it was wrong. On the game's second play from scrimmage, CC's Jack Davidson intercept-ed a pass thrown by Sexton's James McIntosh and returned it to the Big Reds 24-yard line.

Carr, who completed eight of 15 passes for 96 yards, found Mario Vassallo in the end zone for a 19yard scored and an early 6-0 lead. Brent Jenkins, who made all four conversions, gave the Shamrocks a 7-0 lead with the point after touch-

After stopping Sexton on four plays, CC got the ball back and drove 73 yards on nine plays to open up a 14-0 lead. Tibaldi scored from 2 yards out with 2:59 remaining, and Barbara helped keep the drive alive with a 23-yard run on second down near midfield.

CC SCORED again on its next possession, driving 64 yards on 15 plays and scoring on a 1-yard plunge by Carr. The Shamrocks overcame four penalties on the drive in taking a 21-0 halftime

CC took a 28-0 lead with 5:46 left in the third quarter when Barbara capped a 72-yard drive with a 1yard dive.

Sexton had a chance to score later in the quarter, but CC linebacker Karl Kowalyk intercepted a McIntosh pass inside CC's 5-yard line on fourth down.

It was that kind of day for Sexton coach Bob Meyers, who watched Keith Newbern drop a sure TD in the end zone in the first

"CC was obviously the better team today," he said. "We didn't play very well and they have no glaring weaknesses."

Shamrocks rout Chiefs, Rocks in big games

By Brad Emons and Dan O'Meara staff writers

TEEK NO. 3 of the high school football season will have long-range ramifications for a few Observerland teams.

The Western Lakes Activities Association begins its divisional cards this week with a couple of key matchups — Westland John Glenn at Plymouth Salem (Lakes Division) and Plymouth Canton at Farmington Harrison (Western Division).

Another big battle pits two of the state's top-ranked teams - Redford Catholic Central and Detroit King. The pronostication race is also in

going 11-4 to stand 23-9 overall. Here is a look at this week's ac-

> FRIDAY'S GAMES (all at 7:30 p.m.)

Ypsi Lincoln at Garden City: Both teams are unbeaten and coming off 1-8 seasons of a year ago. Lincoln, led by running backs Juan Perez and Brian Laster, routed Tecumseh last week, 42-0, GC. coming off a 7-6 win over Romulus, is hoping to continue its momentum. Remember, Lincoln edged GC for its only win last year, 14-13. Picks: The coin please Emons takes the Railsplitters

Dearborn at Redford Union: Northwest Suburban League action heats up this week with the preseason favorite. Dearborn (1-1), led by running back Jay Jakubowski, expected to beat RU (0-2) The Panthers, looking for their first win, nearly knocked off Waterford Kettering last week before losing, 21-19. Picks: Dearborn wins its NSL opener.

Wayne Memorial at Wyandotte: The Zebras are a surprising 2-0 and possess a fine passing combination of Jason Wetmore to Joe Coughlin, Wyandotte (2-0), led by quarterback Dan Yates, is coming off a big win over Taylor Kennedy and a narrow 7-6 triumph last week over Belleville. Wyandotte, returning 24 players, upset Wayne a year ago. Picks: Emons takes the (growling) Bears.

Farmington at Liv. Stevenson: The Spartans (2-0) have a favorable earlyseason schedule and should make it No. 3 grid predictions in a row against the Falcons, still looking for their first victory for new coach Bernie Call. Stevenson was knocked around for a half last week before rallying to beat Livonia Franklin, 21-12. Farmington lost to a formidable Plymouth Canton team, 43-19. Picks: Stevenson breaks down Farmington quarter-by-quarter.

Westland Glenn at Ply. Salem: The Rocks (1-1) may have been caught looking ahead to this key Lakes Division matchup after getting stung by Northville; 21-14. Glenn (2-0) has not been tested yet, but will get one this week. Last year Salem did everything but win, losing a heartbreaker 7-6. Salem is still looking for its first victory ever over the Rockets. Picks: Glenn's passing attack overcomes the running of Salem's Leon Hister, says

Liv. Churchill vs. W.L. Western (at Walled Lake Central): One of these teams have its first win before the night is over and one of these teams will be in first place in the WLAA's Western Division. The Chargers, down to 24 players, will have to find some help for all-purpose back Mike Brooks. Western, is coming off lopsided defeats against Novi and Westland Glenn. Picks: Western and Chad Pifer find a way to win, Emons says.

> SATURDAY'S GAMES (all 1 p.m. unless noted)

Taylor Center at Red. Thurston (noon): With linebacker Steve Koss back in the lineup after sitting out the opener, Thurston's defense is much improved. The Eagles won't do much offensively, waiting for turnovers as they did in last week's 6-0 win over Taylor Kennedy. Center (0-2) is coming off a 21-7 loss to Melvindale. Picks: Emons says Thurston will find Center is Taylor-made. Go with Northville at Liv. Franklin: The Patriots (0-2) meet the WLAA's most surprising team in Northville, led by the throwing and running of junior quarterback Ryan Huzjak. Franklin, with players like Tony and Jason Facione, Bobby Johnson and John Revels, can be physical, but the secondary is very suspect and mistakes seemed to be magnified in last week's 21-12 loss to Stevenson. Picks: Huzjak picks apart the Patriots, Emons says.

Ply. Canton at Farm. Harrison: A big game for very early in the season. Harrison (1-1) apparently righted itself with a huge win last week over Walled Lake Central. Canton (2-0) can score points, but can its defense contain the Hawks multiple sets? Defense will be the key. Picks: Hawks deny Canton again, Emons says.

W.L. Central at N. Farmington; Perhaps the mismatch of the week. North (1-1) should romp again after drilling Churchill last week, 42-6. Chris White will get the start again at quarterback. Central, held to negative-39 yards in three quarters last week in a 53-12 pounding against Farmington Harrison, will have its hands full again. Picks: The Raiders ride the victory ark again.

Tekonsha at Lutheran Westland: The host Warriors should equal a school record for victories (three) in a season against the Indians, who come to town with losses to state-ranked Wyoming Lee (14-0) and Allendale (63-0). "We make trailers here," said Nancy, a secretary at Tekonsha High. "It's really a pretty quiet town. Our football team lost a lot of seniors." Last year Lutheran Westland won, 26-0. Picks: The Warriors do another vic-

Clarenceville at Mount Clemens Lutheran North: North (2-0) runs the Flex and Shoot offense, led by quarterback Matt Wengler, who hit 18 of 26 last week for 166 yards and three TDs in a 47-0 rout of Bloomfield Hills Cranbrook. Clarenceville counters with its veer attack and senior quarterback Kendrick Harrington, who has 273 yards rushing in two victories. Expect a high-scoring affair. Picks: Emons goes with North, because of the home

Red. St. Agatha vs. Barrie (Ont.) North (7:30 p.m. at RU's Kraft Field): Where is Barrie? An hour north of Toron-

Who is Barrie's coach? Gary Inness, for-iner goalle with the Washington Caps. What's Barrie's enrollment? About 1,200 students. What NHL hockey players are from Barrie'l Mike Gartner and Shayne Courson. What was Barrie's record last year? 5-2. What is Barrie's record this year? 0-0. The team will only have eight days of practice before their opener. Does Barrie have to adjust to American rules? Yes. Their Senior League (17-19 yearolds) is going to four downs, but the field is smaller and motion is illegal. What does Barrie run offensively and defensively? Four-man front on defense and a wishbone attack out of the power-I on offense. Who are Barrie's best players? John Clarke, quarterback; Ben Vieira, Gregg Forde and Brandon Wayner, running backs: Corey Mark, middle linebacker. and Chris Cudmore, cornerback. How does winless St. Agatha (0-2) stack up without QB Brian Kutch (injury) in the lineup?. Picks: Emons likes Barrie in hockey and in football.

Bishop Borgess vs. Dbn. Divine Child (7:30 p.m. at Garden City Jr. High): With victories over Detroit Denby and Jackson Lumen Christi, Dearborn Divine Child has slipped into the state Class BB rankings. The Falcons are led by quarterback Jim Solak and running back Dustan Cunningham. Borgess (2-0) is flying high after a 40-6 romp over Class A Bridgeport. The Spartans have given DC fits over the years. Picks: Emons says DC squeaks by.

Redford CC vs. Detroit King (7:30 p.m. at Clarenceville): A monumental matchup pitting two of the state's top three teams. CC showed it can play with anybody after pasting Lansing Sexton last week, 28-0. The Sharnrocks will have to go to the air, however, if they're going to hold off King (2-0), which is led by senior fullback Edward Davis (over 200 vards vs. Finney last week) and 6-foot-6. 270-pound offensive tackle Herbert Gibson. Both are big-time college players. Picks: King plays Kong against the Shamrocks, Emons says.

PETERS QUALIFIES

Livonia golfer Rob Peters finished second recently in the Chrysler National Long Drive Championship sectional qualifying event at Hilltop Golf Club in Plymouth.

Peters advances to the district No. 5 championship, which begins Tuesday in conjunction with the Greater Grand Rapids Open at Elks Country Club, a PGA Senior Tour stop.

The top two district qualifiers move on to the finals, Sept. 29-30 at the Boca Raton (Fla.) Resort and Club. First prize is $18,000 and a new Chrysler LaBaron GTC Coupe. Total prize money is over $60,000. ESPN will televise the event from 12:30 to 1:30 p.m. (EST) Sunday, Dec.

Steve Guerra, a pro from Marshall, was the top sectional qualifier with a drive of 301 yards followed by Peters (300), Thomas Ericson of Farmington Hills (298), Todd Cooke of Willowdale, Ontario (295), Michael Caverilla of Novi (287) and John Roddy of Detroit (285).

Raiders recall '70 glory

ON HOLLAND HASN'T coached a high school football game in eight years, but a lot of people will be calling him coach again this weekend.

ington Public Schools, Holland spent nearly two decades turning out winning football teams at North Farmington High.

And this weekend Holland and some of his former players will gather to remember one of the finest moments in Raider football history.

Members of the 1970 team — the undefeated

Class A champions - will celebrate the 20th anniversary of that season and will be given special introductions prior to Saturday's North-Walled Lake Central game at North.

The scheduled activities begin with a round of golf Friday afternoon and a fish fry that night. There will be a tailgate picnic Saturday morning, the game in the afternoon and dinner at San Marino Golf Course in the evening.

"WE'RE GOING to show a few films of the old games," Holland said. "The coach is going to say a few words, and we're going to have a fun time.

Holland lost touch with many of the players, but he's followed the career moves of some and heard occasionally from others.

Twenty-seven of the 31 players and their spouses, including a number of the cheerleaders, have made plans to attend, Holland said. He estimates 60 percent still live in the metro area, but some are coming from as far away as California and Florida. Holland laughed when asked if he'll have trouble matching names with faces after all this time. "I might," he said, "but I'm sure when I hear them speak or see them walk I'll recognize them.

I hope they recognize me without my hat and whistle, screaming at them." The 1970 team is best remembered because of its No. 1 ranking in the final polls. But the 1965 squad also was unbeaten, and the 1978 team was 11-1 and runner-up in the state playoffs.

"WE THOUGHT we had three great teams," Holland said, "but the '70 team was kinda special.

Dan O'Meara

I think that team took all of its ability and maximized it.

"It was a unique team in every way. They had a lot of talent and worked well together

The best-known member was Drew Mahalic, who played quarterback and linebacker and later spent four years in the NFL with Philadelphia and San Diego. He and Mike Gow, who became a standout defensive back at Illinois, were the only ones who played college football.

"Drew got all of the recognition, because he ended up playing at Notre Dame and was an All-American," Holland said, "but we had a lot of other kids playing with them who were very good as high school players."

Most of the starters went both ways that year. The roster of 31 was actually small in those days when the Raiders had been accustomed to having 50-plus, Holland said.

But a new high school opened in the district that fall - Harrison would eventually become a football power, too - and North lost a number of its

Jim Smith, John Combs, Rick Herpich and Mike Collar were the ends. In addition to Mahalic and Gow, the other backs were junior Craig Gow, who set the school record for career tackles the next year, and Rick Fuelling.

"We were just a one-platoon team, and we rotated a few guys," Holland said.

The remembrances this weekend also will include a fallen teammate. The 1970 season was marked by tragedy when junior Greg Bobenage was killed in a motorcycle accident.

An award was named in his honor and has been given every year since to the most outstanding junior on the varsity team.

"It was very traumatic for our team," Holland said, adding the players' response was "another indication of the character of the team.

"ALL THE players were very understanding and sympathetic toward the family. Football wasn't as important, even though we were becoming a very good team."

The Raiders never had a bad week of practice that year, but Holland said he began to see a crack in the wall before the eighth game at Saginaw MacArthur.

"I blew the whistle and stopped practice, and I said 'Look, we only have a week and three days to go. I expect you to get practice in gear. They broke the huddle and went about what they had to do. They were a very confident group." North returned a 56-0 winner over MacArthur and beat Farmington to finish 9-0. But the crowning moment was still to come.

The start of the state playoffs was five years away, and Michigan recognized a mythical state champion then, dependent on the final media

THE INDIANS played their annual Thanksgiving Day game with rival Flint Northern, and the North coaches and players were on hand for the resulting upset that vaulted the Raiders to the

"We had a joyous ride home, because we realized we were No. 1," Holland said. "It was one of those things where you get lucky, but then I felt good this team got a chance to be No. 1 because they had been outstanding all season.

They won't have to take a poll this weekend. Players and coaches are certain to have another joyous ride home, this time down Memory Lane.

Defending champion Plymouth Canton was fifth and Plymouth Salem eighth.

Canton's A team of Jon Paupore and Kevin Holmes combined for 72, and the B squad of Kyle Musch and Brad Paskievitch had 82.

Chad Edgar and Dave Weaver, the Salem B unit, combined for 78 to lead the Rocks. Jason Behnke and Tom Fennelly finished with 79.

The first division included Ann Arbor Pioneer (142), Ypsilanti (148), Westland John Glenn (151), Dearborn Edsel Ford (153), Livonia Stevenson and Canton (154), Dearborn and Salem (157) and Walled Lake Western

The second 10 consisted of Ann Arbor Huron (160), Allen Park (161), Redford Union (162), Redford Thurston (165), Walled Lake Central (166), Trenton and Livonia Franklin (170), Belleville (174), Monroe (178) and Garden City (179)

The top four twosomes received trophies. Northville's A team was first, Pioneer second and Edsel Ford third. Northville's B unit won a playoff for fourth place with Pioneer's B and Canton's A.

HIMSICAL, FANTAS-TIC and comic ridiculous is what the Italian word "grottesco" means, and the word captures the caught-by-surprise originality of Theatre Grottesco's performing

"We're hard to pigeonhole," says John Flax, artistic director and performer in the ensemble. "Some consider us very avant-garde because we work in new styles."

The ensemble combines the sensitivity of mime, the physical energy of aerobics and slapstick, the stock characters of commedia dell'arte and the bite of satire and farce in a theatrical art form that's so old it's new. In the Middle Ages, troupes much like Theatre Grottesco traveled from town to town performing improvisational plays.

The ensemble adapts ancient forms from the Middle Ages and from 16th century Italy to universal modern themes in a style unfamiliar to most American audiences. Critics praise the antic physical energy, the refreshing imagination and the polished theatricality of Grottesco's production.

ITS WORKS ARE called intelligent but not intellectual in the sense of inaccessible. Randall Rutherford of Southfield, the company's new managing director, explains, "The shows are fun. It's not this obscure Samuel Beckett stuff. You don't have to know anything about theater to 'get' a Theatre Grottesco performance.'

Flax adds, "The style we work in is pre-TV. The masses went to the theater to have fun. Even when we do a serious play, we have a hard time keeping the comedy out. Every show we've done has been a tragic comedy.

The company's latest play "WENOMADMEN" (pronounced We Nomad Men) just returned from a 12-month tour through 14 states and will close its run with three performances Thursday-Saturday, Sept. 13-15, at the Players Theatre in Detroit.

Theatre Grottesco began in Paris in 1982, where Flax, Paul Herwig and Elizabeth Wiseman trained. The three Americans moved the company to the United States several years ago, and last year the ensemble made Detroit its North American base of opera-

The company performs in Detroit and tours extensively. The task of booking tours 12-18 months in advance, sending out promotion-al materials to 3,000 theaters, colleges and arts centers, applying for funding and corporate support, plus managing taxes and payroll, has become a full-time job.

FLAX SAYS, "We're no longer an adolescent company." So this August, Theatre Grottesco hired Rutherford as the ensemble's first managing director. A Wayne State University graduate and former Hilberry company member, Rutherford returns to Detroit after a stint at California State University, Long Beach, where he served as business manager for the newly formed California Repertory Com-up the performing artists - Flax, Herwig, Wiseman and David Salowich — to concentrate on creating and performing shows. Flax says, "A managing director is crucial to our survival. We couldn't have gone on much longer doing double duty."

Rutherford adds, "Theater is a business." Running payroll and computing tax returns using sound accounting principles is not something artists are trained to do. "In my view they shouldn't have to do it. It works a different part of the brain."

When Rutherford was looking for a new position, he met with Grottesco Board Treasurer Eric Dueweke, in California. Rutherford remembered seeing Theatre Grottesco perform "The Insomniacs" at The Attic five or six years ago. "It made a real impression," he says. He comes to his new job with conviction that, "The company has no place to go but up." Rutherford expects to see Theatre Grottesco explode onto the American theater scene within the next few years.

The explosion he predicts already may have begun. Michigan Council for the Arts awarded Theatre Grottesco a $10,300 operational grant and chose the company as one of eight Michigan groups with whom national consultants will work. The ensemble also is eligible for a quarter of a million dollars in long-term MCA grants over the next four years, and Channel 56 is currently reviewing tapes on Theatre Grottesco for airing.

WITH RUTHERFORD on board, the artists can concentrate on the intensive process of creating new material. Ordinarily the company creates one new show a year. The process from conception to polished piece takes three to six months rehearsal time. Flax says shows are "derived out of improvisations. We grow characterizations in workshops."

For Theatre Grottesco, image, the visual/emotional impact of each scene, is primary. The company often works from pictures on canvas to create on stage the visual image it wants. Its plays are loosely scripted both because scripts evolve through improvisation and because words are but one of the multiple levels which Grottesco's theater works.

Its play "The Insomniacs" was largely in gibberish invented by Flax and Wiseman, yet audiences had no difficulty understanding what was happening, testimony that image and movement can carry meaning without the assistance of words. One reviewer commented, "(Grottesco's) trained mimes and clowns can find more eloquence in a yawn than other actors can in a wellturned phrase."

The ensemble image/action appreach contrasts with word-enslaved productions of some establish plays, where the script rules and other modes of conveying meaning get shortchanged. "If we can get the message across without conveying words, then we choose to do it that way, says Flax.

'WENOMADMEN' examines future

Grottesco takes a look at a post-apocalypse future. The ensemble's foray into the world of science fiction combines the bite of satire and the lunacy of farce, as four unlikely characters escape the destruction of humankind on a jerry-rigged land

They build the Rube Goldberg masterpiece during the show, and the contraption carries its four passengers - a pompous academic, two students and a Mr. Fixit type - over an arid dunescape. ## Retirement villages — visit before moving

Q. My husband and I are consider-ing moving into a Retirement Com-munity. What kinds of things should we be looking for and what kinds of questions should we ask?

A. The first thing to decide is where you want to live, what type of climate are you looking for and what kinds of services you require.

It is wise to take the time to visit various communities before you make any decisions. On your visits make certain the community has the type of accommodations you seek, are the recreational, religious and cultural facilities and programs suit-ed to your lifestyle, does the community appear to be active and lively? How old are the buildings and how many units are occupied? Is the developer reputable?

Make certain you carefully review all the papers you would be asked to sign and seek proper legal advice prior to signing anything. Get copies, in writing, of all verbal statements or promises made to you by the builder or manager.

Inquire about lease termination and refund policies. Get the terms of the deposit in writing, ask if the deposit is refundable, how you go about getting a refund and at what percentage will interest be applied and at what rate. Inquire about monthly fees. If there are monthly fees determine if they are tied to an index.

If the community is a lifetime or continuing care community ask if nursing home costs are prepaid. If not, what will the additional cost be? Inquire about restrictions and such policies as: can grandchildren

Someone Is Taking Lots Of Money Out Of Your Checking Account.

Your Bank.

At Standard Federal, we think that you - not your bank should take money out of your checking account. So we have low minimum balance requirements and no checkwriting fees, no matter how many checks you write.

As the chart shows, our minimum balance requirement for free Regular Checking is just $250.00. That's lower than the average of five other major area banks. They also charge you more — and we save you more — if you dip below the minimum. And we offer you a variety of other ways to enjoy free checking, too.

The bottom line: The most you can pay annually for Standard Federal Regular Checking is $36.00. Our five competitors' average fees are $177.60. What more can we say?

Plenty. We offer free ATM use at over 150 locations including select Standard Federal branch offices and participating 7-Eleven stores. And right now, we'll pay you up to $10.00 for your unused checks from another bank when you open any checking account with us - Regular, Interest-Bearing or Money Market.

Stretch and flex

Young dancers hone poise, self-confidence

By Janice Tigar-Kramer special writer

EVEN YOUNG girls race into the dance studio, talking and giggling, hardly able to keep their feet as they fall in place

Some carpooled, but others haven't seen each other since dance classes ended last spring, so there's plenty of catching up to do.

One girl straightens her leotard. Another adjusts the ribbon in her braid as they ready themselves for a

The instructor begins a routine familiar to the girls, even after the long summer break. Suddenly, it's strictly business for this group of 8to 12-year-olds, who would rather stretch and flex than spend the hour on a playground.

Although dancing is serious work for members of this disciplined group, who have taken dance instruction for up to eight years, few will become professional dancers.

Yet dance lessons for youths in all age groups offer something more than training for a career in dance, theater or show business, said Gina Piazza, co-owner of Piazza Dance Company in Northville and an instructor for 16 years. "Not everyone will become a prima ballerina," Piazza said. "But students develop more here than just the ability to dance. Through dance, you gain poise and self-confidence."

BESIDES PROVIDING youths with important qualities such as selfawareness and pride in a job well done at the end of a rigorous class, dancing school is just plain fun, a place where kids make lasting friendships and become engrossed in an activity as wholesome as Little League or Girl Scouts.

"Some parents ask what their kids will be working toward when they register for class," Piazza said. "No one asks that when boys join Little League, yet not every boy will be a professional ball player."

For 10-year-old Tiffany Couillaix, tap, jazz and competition classes are almost as much fun as an afternoon at an amusement park.

"I always find myself dancing, even in the grocery store," said the Livonia girl. Tiffany started lessons at the Piazza school at age 5.

Her father encourages her interest. He believes the concentration developed through dance also is evident at school, where she earns straight A's.

Although dance class is a good place for Tiffany to meet friends and socialize, Jacques-Henri Couillaix believes the school provides his daughter with more than fun and camaraderie.

"Dancing develops a drive, a competitive edge," he said. "It also gives Tiffany the experience of working as

NINA HUNDLEY, who begins her eighth year of dance lessons at the school, easily balances piano and dance with school work, practicing routines at home with friends each week. Because the 11-year-old Plymouth Township girl has had so much fun, her mother, Terasa, signed up for adult tap lessons two years ago with five friends.

And a background in dance gave Mandy Napolitano of Livonia the edge to earn a spot on her school's cheerleading squad. Mandy, 12, who started dancing at the Piazza school at age 5, takes jazz, tap ballet and competition class this year. She expects to practice four hours a week at home.

The young performer was invited to attend a Livonia area arts camp for the third consecutive year. She often dreams of a career in dance. But for now, Mandy said, dancing is just for fun. "When I'm bored, I always dance.'

More than half of the school's 200 students take at least two classes per week. Advanced dancers often take up to five.

Besides lessons in tap, jazz, ballet, pointe, Hawaiian and Tahitian dancing, experienced dancers take weekly competition classes to prepare them for meets throughout the area. The school also offers rhythm classes for 31/2-5-year-olds, acro-gymnastics and adult tap lessons.

"KIDS WHO are serious about dance generally stay with us from grade school through high school," said Marilyn Esper, co-owner of the school and an instructor for 13 years.

Esper's daughter, Michelle, also teaches at the school and hopes for a career in dance. The 23-year-old Wayne State University graduate won the talent award at this year's Miss Dance of Michigan contest and was second runner-up in that compe-

"The younger girls look up to Michelle. They all want to be just like her," Esper said.

The Piazza Dance Company, 42977 W. Seven Mile, begins its 10th season this week.

The school was opened in 1981 by the Piazza sisters, Gina Piazza of Livonia, Marilynn Esper of Farmington Hills and Denise Sleete of Houston. It has more than tripled its enrollment, to 225, since classes be-

Piazza and Esper, who taught dance in West Bloomfield before openings Piazza Dance Company, feels well rewarded for their work.

'We become attached to the students. So it's great to see their progress," Esper said. "But the best reward is the compliments we receive from parents when they see what the kids have accomplished."

Support study group; savor historical roots

THINKING CREATIVELY:

Apathy or hastiness could doom

But with the right motivation and membership, the city's new historic district study committee could go a long way toward preserving, as planning consultant Bob Donohue put it, "the sense of place that Plymouth

The committee will take 1-3 years to analyze historical buildings and suggest a historical preservation ordinance. The 123-year-old city boasts such historic architectural styles as Greek Revival, Italianate and Victo-

A workable ordinance won't come easy. As Donohue said:

"The mistake that is often made is a community tries to do this in six months or less. There are a lot of questions that property owners will have, a lot of fears. You have to do a lot of public awareness and education. You have to show the benefits."

But chances are, the benefits willjustify the effort.

The fear among skeptics is that strict architectural guidelines will depress property values. But studies show property values tend to stabilize, then rise, Donohue said.

A historical preservation ordinance that's more than advisory doesn't preclude exterior building changes. But it does limit them. For example, it allows building additions but not alterations that change the

'view from the street," Donohue

For the committee to be effective, city leaders must support it through strict ordinance enforcement. That's the only way to assure Plymouth's historic buildings aren't architecturally raped.

 Historic ties — It's a very special place that thousands of motorists pass each day.

Called the Sutherland House, the historic house at 1142 S. Main, on the outskirts of downtown Plymouth, is now a professional building.

A Michigan historic marker on the front lawn of the prefabricated semi-bungalow, designed by Lewis Manufacturing Co. of Bay City, tells us William Sutherland, a horticulturist and developer, built the house, the first in the area, in 1921.

He then sold the surrounding land to the city to develop Sunshine Acres. Sutherland Street in that subdivision was named for him.

To the north in Farmington Hills, the 19th-century farmhouse of Palmer Sherman is a landmark for motorists along Farmington Road.

Better known as the Community Center of Farmington-Farmington Hills, the historic Longacre House is now home to the cultural arts, from concerts to art exhibits.

The original brick, two-story Victorian house was built in 1869. In 1915, it was acquired by attorney Luman Goodenough (1873-1947), the Detroit Rotary Club's first president and a master flower gardener.

After making it his year-round home in 1918, Goodenough hired architect Marcus Burrowes to redesign and expand Longacre into a 20room, seven-bath, Georgian country

In 1969, Goodenough heirs gave the house and five acres to the Farmingion area for use as a community center.

Incidentally, the house was the first in Farmington Township to have electricity and a telephone

Louise Scherer has won a blue ribbon in each of the past five Michigan State Fair rugmaking competitions. Shown is her newest prize winner.

Rugmaker bags blue ribbons

By Noreen Flack staff writer

HE DID it again. Louise Scherer of Redford Township walked away with the Best of Show blue ribbon in rugmaking in Michigan State Fair Community Arts competition Aug. 26.

For the past five years, her rugs have covered her path with blue ribbons from the state fair.

This year's entry, "Kent's Twig," an Old Sturblidge Village pattern, is a combination of geometric and floral design. The background is ivory with soft shades of pink roses. The geometrics run in pale shades of beige and turqoise.

Two of the 16 entrants in this year's show are Scherer's rugmaking mentors, who have taught her the art over the past five years. But there's no hard feelings directed at their winning protege, Scherer insisted.

"They're tickled pink. They're real pleased because it's like a feather in their cap."

"Her color sense is excellent," said Esther Butler, who teaches rugmaking at the Community Arts Center on the fairgrounds. "She always has very fine, even work. She's very meticulous.'

Artists: Train yourself to see and hear better

FOR THE past eight years, I have shared family experiences and (many times unsuccessfully) tried to relate them to the field of art.

Writing about the precious times or about funny or touching moments has been a particular joy and probably the reason for most of the comments I receive wherever I go.

Often, I'll be out shopping and a stranger will come up to me and ask, "Did Adam really throw a boomerang through your skylights?" Or they may comment, "My son's room is exactly as you described in your article!"

Well, things have changed folks. Those little guys who used to beam with joy as they read about themselves in the paper have grown up a

Scott is 20 years old and is attending Wayne State University. Adam (who was referred to as our "Adam Bomb") is 111/2 years old and is in the sixth grade

Years ago, upon hearing their name mentioned in my article, they would say, "Wow, Daddy," "neat," and "cool!" Now I get, "Oh, I'm about sure," "Cut me a break, Dad" and "bogus."

I TRY to seize every precious moment of their childhood, perhaps hoping that it will slow down the aging process.

Like when you are stopped at a railroad crossing. You try to count the passing cars as the seemingly endless train passes by. While counting, you think it will take forever to pass, but before you know it, the train is gone, you are on your way and only a moment or so has passed!

For most people to miss "the moments" is only sad, but for an artist to miss them is tragic. It is those moments that add depth to an artist's work.

artifacts David Messing

There are many types of moments that an artist can notice, experience and then incorporate in his or her artwork. There are precious moments, funny moments, touching, or sad moments, learning or teaching moments and the list goes on and on. The responsibility for an artist is to remove himself from himself enough to spot the moments when and where they occur.

IT IS the moments that make us laugh, cry, share, learn and experience the feelings that make us human beings. An artist, if aware of these special times, is doubly blessed. First, in that the moments were noticed and second, that they can be expressed through his or her art. The greatest thing for an artist is to be able to handle whatever medium is required to best suit the subject and/or feeling. What goes on around you is exciting, touching and often humorous.

So train yourself to better see and more clearly hear. The moments that I am talking about never tap you on the shoulder. They are usually fleeting and are rarely remembered. So make them obvious and freeze them in time within an inspired piece of artwork.

A thrill-a-minute aerial thrill show awaits southeastern Michigan residents at this year's Northville Victorian Festival.

High-wire act nears

The Great Wallendas will perform their highwire wizardy at three different locations in downtown Northville on Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Performance times are: Friday at 7:15 p.m. immediately following the parade; Saturday at 12:30 p.m. and 3 p.m.; and Sunday at 4 p.m. There's ample spectator space for the free events.

Laurie Marrs, director of The Northville Chamber of Commerce and event coordinator, said, "We were looking to use our Victorian Festival theme to reflect the actual festive spirit of the 1900s. The Great Wallendas filled that need.'

The act's sponsors, Dick Scott Buick, Plymouth, and Dick Scott Dodge, Plymouth, are enthusiastic. Dick Scott, company head, said: "We care about the Northville community and are very pleased to be able to give something back to our many faithful customers in this area.'

For updated festival information, call the Northville Chamber of Commerce, 349-7640.

Treat camera like a best friend Register

TAKING GOOD care of your cam-era will assure that it will perform years. Here are some basic tips to help satisfactorily for you for many you out:

Monte Nagler's fine photograph of the Cotswold area in southern England is due in part to camera equipment that is well taken care of and in good working condition.

Never leave your camera in a very hot or very cold spot. Tempera-ture extremes can warp delicate casings and fittings and distort mechanisms.

 Keep the body free of dust and dirt. A soft cloth works just fine. I've found that a Q-Tip dabbed in film cleaner solution is an ideal way to reach those hard to get at spots on the camera.

 It's easier than you think to accidentally have a camera knocked from your hands or bumped into a solid object. Accidents or rough handling can cause severe damage. So always use the camera strap. Having your camera securely around your neck prevents accidents (and theft).

· Most cameras aren't waterproof and can be damaged significantly if water gets inside. Take care to protect both body and lens from water. If your camera should get wet from rain, dry it off immediately with a soft, clean cloth.

• Don't touch the glass on the front or back of your lens. Fingerprints, if not removed right away, may eventually become permanent. Keep your lenses clean with a lens cleaning tissue and lens cleaning soe f you're not going to shoot for awhile, remove all batteries from your cameras. This will prolong their life and eliminate any chance of battery corrosion, which can damage your camera.

Try thinking of your camera as a best friend and treat it accordingly. If you do so, you'll enjoy a mutually rewarding and satisfying relationship that will last for many years. 01990, Monte Nagler

Redford woman finds enjoyment in rugmaking

MOST PEOPLE involved in rugmaking are 70-80 years old. With so few rugmakers, the "older" women who have been doing the craft for years are eager to share their knowledge in an effort to pass on the tradition, said Scherer, 50.

Scherer became interested in rugmaking when she saw Virginia Lampe of Rosedale Park displaying rugs in state fair competition years ago. Lampe became Scherer's teacher soon after and now gets much of the credit for the past five blue ribbons, Scherer

There are several patterns to choose from when beginning to create a rug: geometric, floral, fruit and Oriental patterns.

Her next creative piece will be an Oriental rug. Such rugs offer more of a challenge. You must be careful to watch pattern lines in the design or your color schemes will run together, Scherer said.

"It's definitely an art. It's painting with fabric."

TO BEGIN making a rug, start with a pattern. Patterns can't be bought locally; most come from the East Coast. Scherer orders patterns from Kennebunkport, Me., vacation retreat of President George Bush.

She then orders wool from Dorr Mills in New Hampshire. Although you can buy colored wool, Scherer dyes her own. "When I run out of a certain color, I want it right now."

Next comes the stripping machine, which cuts the fabric into strips of wool, sized to be hooked into the pattern.

The most difficult part of rugmaking is choosing the best color combinations, Scherer said. Once the pattern is laid out, you should study it and decide on the color

"Just when you think you have a great color scheme going, you put it together and it looks awful. But that's all part of it.

"When you go to work on these, hours go by. It takes a lot of patience to do this. You may work on one section for two or three hours and decide that it doesn't look good, so you have to pull it out and change the color scheme."

THE WORK starts with hooking, which is not latch hooking but similar to crochet hooking.

Scherer admits it takes six months to one year for her to finish one rug. She works on rugs sporadically, when she finds time.

But no matter how long she puts a "in-the-works" rug down, she has trained herself to finish them all.

'When they're finished, no one else has a rug like that. They become heirlooms for the family."

Scherer refuses to sell her rugs, although she has had several offers. There's "too much involved" with designing a rug. "I wouldn't begin to know how much to charge."

There's a lot of history in the art of rugmaking. Years ago, women would take old wool clothing and cut it in strips. Then they would draw a pattern on an old burlap sack and "hook" the strips in to

"I've used old clothes in my rugs before. These rugs last a long time. They really wear well."

ONE REASON to use old clothes is that rugmaking has become expensive. Wool is about $17 per yard, and patterns range from $15-$50 depending on detail.

There are two patterns Scherer has already chose for next year's State Fair competition: "Mille Fleur" and "Vermont Shell." Keep an eye out for them.

Traditional rug hooking classes are offered by Butler at the Community Arts Center on the Michigan State Fairgrounds in Detroit. Greenfield Village in Dearborn also offers rugmaking classes. "If you want to see some excellent work, you look at her work," Scherer said. "Between the two (Butler and Lampe), I can't go

If you're an artist interested in having your work critiqued, or would like to learn about marketing your art, or would simply like to network with fellow artists, plan to attend the Liyonia Arts Commission art critiquing session Saturday.

Hours are 1:30-5 p.m. in the Livonia Civic Center Library Auditoriurn, Farmington Road and Five Mile

"For the last year and a half, the Liyonia Arts Commission has been conducting workshops and seminars to assist artists in the business of marketing their work," said arts commissioner Therese Jaye, who initiated the workshops.

"We want to reach the artists who want to market their work," Jaye said. "And we would also like to give artists in the area the opportunity to network with fellow artists and learn what is happening in the art

Jaye described the critiquer, Nan-cy Thayer, as "an accomplished artist. Artists interested in having their work critiqued may bring three samples of their work to the session."

THAYER, WHO has a master of arts degree from Michigan State University and a master of fine arts degree from the Instituto Allende Mexico, teaches at the Center for Creative Studies in Detroit and at the Detroit Institute of Arts.

Her work has been exhibited in galleries in New York, Chicago, Florida, West Germany, Mexico and across Michigan, from Bay Street Gallery in Northport to the Rubiner Gallery in West Bloomfield.

CHAMBER MUSIC

The Leopold Hoesch Museum in West Germany recently held a four-month exhibition of Thayer's art. Only a short while ago, she returned from lecturing in West Germany before the International Association of

"Often artists work in an isolated atmosphere," Thayer said. "The critiquing session is being offered to give artists feedback and suggestions for improving their work."

Besides critiquing for composi-tion, use of color and technique, Thayer said, "The artist's work will be critiqued on the actual execution of the piece and the idea behind the ARTISTS WILL be allowed to bring three samples of their work to the session.

"The art critiquing is open to all fine artists and crafts people; all me-dia, two dimensional and three dimensional," Thayer said. "Phone ahead to make arrangements for having your work critiqued."

If there's an overflow of artists from this session, another critiquing session is tentatively set for Nov. 10.

MADONNA MUSIC

"Laying the Groundwork: Early Childhood Music" will be presented by the Greater Detroit Orff-Schulwerk Association at Madonna College, Livonia.

This creative approach to teaching music to children, the first of a series of seven workshops, will be 8:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 15, in the Commons Room at Madonna College's Residence Hall, 14221

Classes are open to Orff members, non-members and students.

Do you love to sing? Public auditions for Madonna College's chorale will be at 7 p.m. Tuesdays, Sept. 11 and 18, in Room 186. The college is at I-96 and Levan. Regular rehearsals will be 7-9 p.m. Tuesdays through December.

On Sunday, Dec. 16, members will perform in a concert that will include the "Christmas Contata" by Daniel Pinkham and works by di Lasso, Distler and Howells.

For details about either program, call John Redmon, music department, 591-5097.

The Crossings At Canton.

Apartment living just got better.

We're making The Crossings a better place to live and a better value. You'll feel it in the new hallways and newly refurbished clubhouse. You'll see it in the plush landscaping when you enter the grounds. And that's just the beginning. It's the new look and feel of The Crossings at Canton—and it's for you.

The Crossings at Canton offers 19 different floor-plans with 1 to 4 bedrooms. And whether you choose a 2-level townhome or a luxury apartment, the renewed beauty of this charming rental community shines through in every one—the result of our recent "Capital Improvements & Upgrading" program. These apartments and townhomes are the largest in the area, yet are still incredibly affordable.

hildren might see a field overgrown with weeds near home as an adventurous playground. A building con-tractor spotting the same land in a thriving community would see dollar signs.

It's called in-fill development, and it happens when a builder is lucky enough to find a patch of land passed over by earlier developments.

The land might accommodate six houses, or be spacious enough for 16. Other contractors might specialize in building just a single home or two on a smaller site. The key to making successful sales in such speculative ventures is that the community is already well established.

"I LOVE doing little projects," said Dennis Yashinsky, vice president of Jerry Richter & Associates, a company that builds residential dwellings primarily in southern Oakland County.

"Normally we take these projects on in a good area because development costs are so high. If the six lots are close to where I'm building. I could use the same overhead, the same superintendent from another

'I would do it in a good selling market in an established area. I wouldn't take a gamble in an untested market."

Yashinsky recalls three years ago developing a subdivision within a subdivision between Farmington and Drake roads, Walnut and Maple.

Called Woodland Oaks, the lots were attractive to buyers for their insulation from the hustle and bustle of traffic, in addition to being new homes constructed in an attractive setting.

BUT IN-FILL development is only as good as the current housing market. If home sales are fluid, the project will be successful. Likewise, in a downward cycle, sales will be

Two years ago Richter & Associates bought 19 lots off Farmington Road and developed one long cul-desac called The Oaks in Farmington Hills - another success story for the firm.

"With 19, we go in there with a whole presentation, put up a model home, then a sales office."

Some in-fill projects look like extensions of earlier subdivisions, albeit newer versions.

"One negative (for would-be buyers) would be traveling through an existing area to get there. That could be considered a detriment."

Although the housing market is slowing, Yashinsky said West Bloomfield and Novi continue to be good areas for new construction. The firm has a handful of major developments currently under way.

ASHLEY CONSTRUCTION has carved a niche out of in-fill developments dotted across west Livonia. In a project off Levan north of Schoolcraft called Fox Run Estates, the firm bought a home with some acreage, removed the house to another site, and created 10 new home sites.

Fox Run Estates has four lots left for sale. The custom-built homes are priced from $160,000.

"It's more costly to do it this way," said Margie Bourassa, a partner with her husband, Ernie Bourassa, and Michael Priest.

BUT THE firm has completed several projects in Livonia, including a development on Gill Road between Seven Mile and Eight Mile, where an old home on a large site was relocated to create space for 15 new homes.

They've done larger developments Prides Court is a 41-home subdivision west of Newburgh and south of Seven Mile. Whispering Hills off Newburgh north of Seven Mile will include 22 homes when complete.

"We've done quite well in Livonia Livonia is a hot market. I sold a home yesterday — it was the second sale this week," Bourassa said.

We like giving personalized service. People like one-on-one attention. You can't do that with 100 lots. We become friends with our clients. We don't work with Realtors. We don't even advertise, really. Our business is generated most by word

"I don't think there's one client who wouldn't invite us into their home for a cup of coffee. We believe in quality and custom designing homes to meet the standards of the family.

The Bourassas have been self-employed for the length of their marriage: 25 years. They began in the swimming pool business, moved to home modernization and started building construction with 10 lots in Livonia's Laurel Park in 1984.

Calling home takes on new sales meaning

By Doug Funke staff writer

Houses traditionally are advertised through multi-listing services and in newspapers and magazines. Builders showcase models and erect signs at subdivision entrances.

Word-of-mouth sells houses. Now comes PhoneHomes of Bloomfield Township. The business, established by Sue Mailing in June, enables buyers to "shop" Oakland County by community and price range with the ease of operating a touch-tone telephone.

Sellers pay a fee to record a brief description of their offerings, which buyers may access by phoning (932-HOME) 24 hours a day, seven days a week at no cost to them.

Inquirers also can access a list of open houses.

"Today's buyers are pretty sophisticated," said Arnold Simkus, marketing director for PhoneHomes. It's quick. It's responsive. It's reli-

For now, PhoneHomes has about 80 listings in seven communities — Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills, West Bloomfield, Farmington, Southfield, Troy and Rochester, Mailing said.

Listings are further divided into four price categories - under $100,000; $100,000-200,000; $200,000-300,000 and higher than $300,000.

CALLERS HEAR a description of properties, then a contact, usually the listing agent, to call for more de-PhoneHomes will accept listings gents and marketing representatives of builders.

"It really augments all (advertising) components a real estate or development office might have," Simkus said. "We're trying to support activities of the brokerage industry. We clearly don't want for sale by owners represented."

PhoneHomes has worked with seven realty firms so far, Mailing said. Sellers are billed monthly on a sliding scale depending on how many houses or condominiums they list.

Plans are to expand gradually — real estate people in Oakland and Macomb counties in the immediate future, western Wayne County and builders throughout the metro area

"We're just working with a core group of Oakland now," Mailing said. "We want persons making the call to the system to get information, get it quickly and have a positive experience using it."

"We want to make sure we have enough listings and brokers before we expand to other areas," Simkus said. "We definitely want to get the builder and developer involved with us because we think it's an excellent marketing niche."

PhoneHomes offers a private telephone line access option - for an extra fee - to sellers who may want to showcase only their homes instead of appearing on the general listing. Private access also allows sellers to receive direct messages from would-

THE SERVICE would be especially beneficial to builders who may have homes scattered in several communities, Simkus said.

Ronni Keating, a Realtor with Howard T. Keating & Associates in Birmingham, is giving PhoneHomes

"It could be another marketing tool for me," she said. "People don't know markets, don't understand prices. It would save me a lot of time in educating my buyers.'

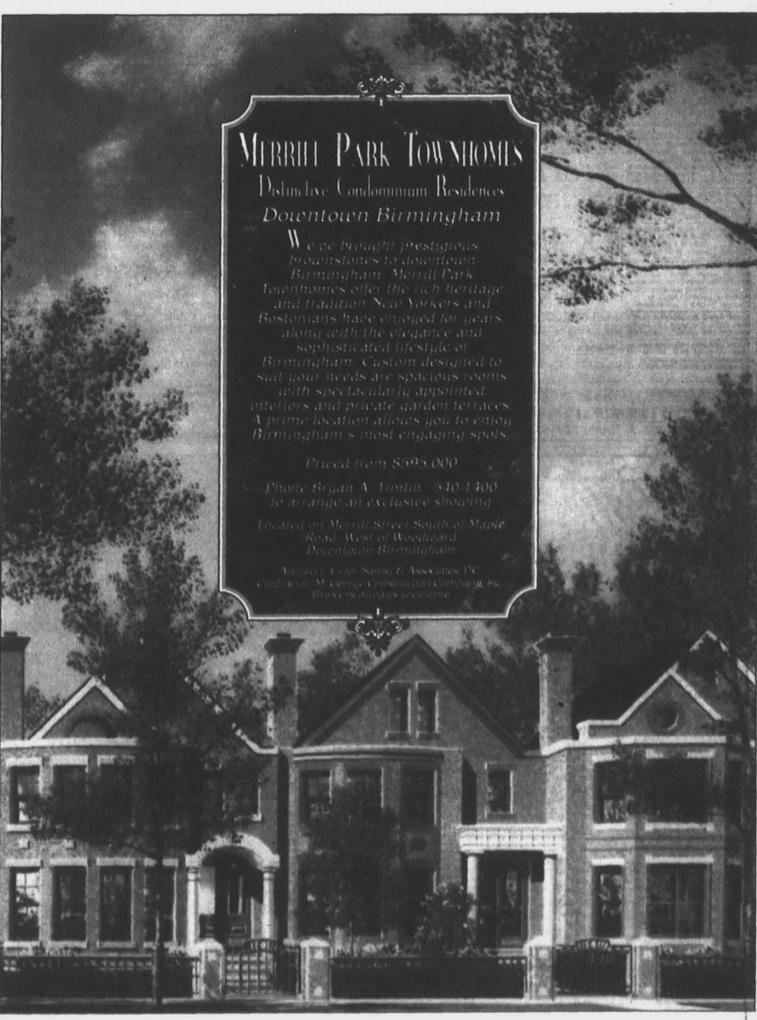

Reaching sellers is only half of the PhoneHomes equation. Alerting buyers to the service is the other

"We'll take a percentage of the revenues and commit to advertising in newspapers," Simkus said.

Fliers are placed in supermarkets and other stores where home-oriented magazines are available, Mailing said. She's also used direct mail.

LTU seminar tackles 'designing

By Doug Funke stalf writer

An attractive building design and the right kind of financing are cru-cial elements to any successful commercial development.

That's especially true now with a glut of space on the market, compe-tition for tenants and more stringent requirements of lenders.

mwrence Technological University in Southfield has put together a daylong seminar in which experts in the development business will present an overview of how all the pieces fit together.

The seminar, titled "Designing for Profits," will be offered Tuesday, Oct. 30, at the Radisson Plaza Hotel in Southfield. The cost is $249.

"It is intended for architects, civil construction engineers, builders, Rement professionals, contractors, anyone with an interest in real estate development," said Gary Kecskes, LTU's continuing education/professional development di-

"Architects rarely come into contact with tax implications . . . the impact the design of the building is going to have on profitability."

Financiers don't always understand that architects must fit projects into a community's master plan,

TOPICS to be considered include the significance of design in developing successful projects, the hows and whys of financing, tax ramifications and an economic case study of a typical development.

Closing up the cottage creates problems

AP — If you own a summer home or head south with the first cold snap, you know the difficulties involved in shutting down a house for

The obvious problem is that without heat, every pipe and appliance containing water will freeze if not drained or protected. For years, the only solutions were to drain all water appliances and supply piping and replace all trapped waste with automotive antifreeze. Because conventional antifreeze is highly poisonous, many homeowners stuffed rags in

While these methods work reason-ably well, they don't solve every problem and may produce a few of their own. The basic problem is that plumbing systems and their appli-ances are meant to be used, not left

A garbage disposer, for example, will rust tight when left unused. When dry, the rubber seals of a dishwasher pump can shrink and cause the pump to seize or leak when restarted. Galvanized pipes that are drained undergo increased oxidation, and existing rust that would remain relatively stable when wet will crust over and flake when dry. When the system is recharged, loosened flakes of rust will clog aerators, hose screens and toilet ballcocks.

As for protecting fixture caps, both alternatives present problems. Rags stuffed into toilet bowls and fixture caps do a moderately good job of blocking sewer gas but are less effective in holding back roaches, water beetles and other insects common to public sewers. As for automotive antifreeze, it should not be flushed into public sewers and can kill the nutrifying bacteria needed to maintain an effective septic

If by now you crave some good news, here it is. Nearly every problem associated with a winter sh down can be circumvented with careful planning and the right materials. Furthermore, the toxicity problems associated with antifreeze have been greatly reduced with the introduction of a new product.

The product is Dowfrost RV, developed by Dow Chemical and marbels. (Recreational antifreeze is one brand name). Dowfrost is an antifreeze, but when used properly, leaves no toxic residue. Its intended use is for freshwater systems of

Unlike automotive antifreeze which contains ethylene glycol, Dowfrost contains propylene glycol with toxin inhibitors. Thi trans 14 in n 1927, when Burroughs Farms recreation Larea was established, there was a real sense of tradition, of elegance and style. That tradition of classic elegance has been updated and transformed into Oak Pointe. Condominiums and single family homes reflecting contemporary style and taste have been skillfully placed within the natural landscape.

Tradition with style.

Two excellent Golf Courses, including the Arthur Hills designed Honors Course, weave their way through protected wetlands, mature trees and gently rolling hills.

A Beach, Private Marina and community picnic areas are at the disposal of Oak Pointe residents. There are nature trails.
