Hulsing was one of 75 people from around the country presented with the Theodore Roosevelt Conservation Award by President George Bush "The Theodore Roosevelt Award about issues facing local voters, why in the last 10 years has he not voted in one school election, in not one city council election?"

Republican Law and Democrat Shrewsbury also explained their positions on issues affecting 36th district voters - the district includes Plymouth, Plymouth Township and north and east Canton in a League of Women Voters-sponsored candidate forum at the Carriage Park senior apartments in

"There are going to be tough decisions to be made on social issues," said Shrewsbury, a Plymouth attorney. "The question is who do you want to make these decisions," he said, saying he was for senior citizens, working people, and a pro-choice candidate.

"I am, if you forgive this trite expression, the people's candidate and I ask for your vote," he said. Law cited his eight years of experience in the state legislature, and experience in a variety of jobs including finance, and as a township trustee. That background, he said, prepares him "to deal with the problems coming before the state legislature."

"In the next year, we will be facing our own (state) budget problems," Law said. "We are not going to raise taxes," he said, adding cuts must be made. "If re-elected, I'm prepared to make those cuts and tough decisions."

Saying, "I'm a pro-life legislator." Law said government plays a role in protecting people most vulnerable, including senior citizens and the mentally and physically disabled. "I also feel the unborn are very vulnerable and need government protection," Law said. Besides having time to explain why they're seeking office, the candidates answered questions posed by an audience of about 40.

Responding to a question about the future of Mettetal Airport. Shrewsbury said, "It's a privately owned airport. It can stay privately owned, we don't need to buy it," adding an authority could run the airport if "the taxpayers tell their legislators" that money should be spent to buy it.

Law said the question of whether or not an authority should run the airport is "up to the local units of government.

One question posed to Shrewsbury challenged a campaign ad in which he maintained Law supported the purchase of Mettetal Airport to be run by an authority, to benefit "his rich friends."

Asked if he planned to retract the ad, Shrewsbury responded, "I don't think there are necessarily incorrect facts, I don't plan to retract anything.

Asked why he had resigned from the Canton chamber of commerce, Law said it had "become tough dues-wise" to belong to several chambers, and continued to belong to the Plymouth chamber because he lives in Plymouth.

The Middle East situation isn't helping Michigan, Kosteva said. Revenues are going flat. It just doesn't look good. BRINGING MORE school districts back into formula isn't an answer, Geake said. Out-of-formula districts such as Plymouth-Canton receive no general membership

"We cannot afford to bring more schools back into formula. To do that would cost $1 billion, and there's no way we can afford it," Geake said.

There's a chance changes in the Legislature will bring an income tax increase or other revenue producers after the election, Kosteva said. "But I see a underlying public skepticism of anything the Legislature might propose.' MICHIGAN IS watching closely as the federal government wrestles with its revenue problems, Geake "If the federal government increases the gas tax, it will prevent Michigan from even looking at that." Kosteva said the state may have to take "two steps back to take one step forward," not unlike many school districts that pass millages only after an initial millage proposal fails and drastic cuts are made.

services rendered.'

Maybe two or three years down the road, after voters experience painful cuts in such things as Medicaid, special education and speech and language programs, things will turn around, he said.

LOBBYIST Gerald Dunn, executive secretary for the Metropolitan Association for Improved School Legislation, predicted "guerilla warfare for existing dollars for adult education.

"There's going to be a very heavy push on the part of community colleges to take over funding for adult ed. It's very crucial for districts including Plymouth-Canton," Dunn said. "It's an ongoing battle we will have to fight."

Geake's summation wasn't quite as gloomy.

A visitor from the past chugged into Plymouth on Saturday.

The restored 1225 steampowered train engine pulled a line of 1940s freight cars into town Saturday morning, as part of preparations for the 1991 National Railway Historical Society convention in West Virginia.

Speaker shares merry-age tales

staff writer

Warren's answer to Mary Childs visited Plymouth recently, regaling the Elderberries of First Presbyterian Church with tales of the "Women I Have Married.

Retired Detroit Common Pleas Judge David Vokes, who estimates he's married more than 10,000 couples in his 85 years, sported a ceremonial style that differed from Childs'. The Plymouth City Commissioner marries couples with a flare uniquely Childesque - donning her black robes before bestowing brides and grooms with flowers and music.

Vokes, on the bench from 1929-1985, has married "a belly dancer, a cab driver, an actress, a can-can dancer, a stripper and a go-go-girl.

"I have married a barmaid, a gal who designed auto tires, many waitresses and secretaries. I have married a snake charmer and a lion tamer. If they are of the female sex I've married them, but in my official capacity as a judge," Vokes told his attentive audience after lunch in the church hall.

Vokes often officiated at his residence - "an old brick house out Gratiot. My brother, who was a doctor, had his office on the first floor. I lived upstairs, and I scheduled weddings in the former parlor. My brother's waiting room was my chapel," said Vokes.

Betty Black, the "blondest blonde I ever married," asked the judge to conduct her fourth wedding.

"She told me, 'It has to be at your house in front of the mantle, because that's my lucky mantle," recalled Vokes, who was accompanied by his longtime court reporter Dolores Bradway and friends Bill and Thelma Stokes.

ANOTHER BRIDE was insistent the marriage ceremony not take and said, 'We're ready; go ahead.'

place at the judge's house.

"She told me I don't want to be married in a doctor's office. It'd smell like I'm getting a shot. Won't you please come over to the house?'

'I found out that that's when a lot of things happened," said Vokes. "I wondered how they'd have a big wedding in their tiny cottage. But they had a couple of big tents in the

"It was a Polish-Italian wedding. The mothers were fighting over pots of kielbasa and spaghetti in the kitchen. They moved the furniture out of the house and put decorations up. The girls were going to be in the front bedroom. The bride and her father were to come through the front door. The groom and groomsmen were to come to come up from the basement.

They moved me into the room with the girl and the bridesmaids. I was in there just a short time when I knew something was wrong. The bride was crying; weeping like she was in excruciating pain. All her girlfriends were poking and tugging

'Finally the bride said, 'I'm going to tell him. His brother delivered me. I ought to be able to tell him.' Then she said, 'My skin is caught in my garter and it's going to drive me out of my mind.' I freed the skin from the garter, the music played and we had a very happy wedding."

ONCE, WHILE WORKING downtown, Vokes said he received a phone call asking him if he could marry a bartender right away.

The justice agreed, and "pretty soon the groom and the best man showed up. The bride and maid of honor were missing. After threequarters of an hour, they came in with great big boxes saying they'd been to the dressmaker.

"They left the boxes on the couch

When we were finished they asked whether I'd like to see what was in the boxes. I said yes, and they showed me two beautiful, exquisite gowns. I asked, 'Why didn't you wear them to be married?' The bride said, "What? Put these beautiful gowns on in a dump like this? We're wearing these to the saloon tonight."

Vokes said he's performed "many midnight marriages for tax purposes. I've married people at 6 a.m. because someone had to go someplace. A number of weddings were

"I've married a couple and then had the wife desert the husband on the way home. I had a basketball star kidnap the wife at the reception. And she wouldn't come back."

OLD MARRIAGE LICENSES were good until "you used them up. One day my clerk said 'There's someone here waiting to be mar-

"I said I'd be glad to accommodate them during a break. When we recessed, the wife was there, but the husband had left to go to the bathroom. He was gone for half an hour. We went to the men's room and called out, and no one answered.

"The bride gave up and went away. Two years later, a couple came in, gave me a license and asked me to marry them. I recog-nized it and said, 'You've been here before, haven't you? Are you the man who left to go to the bathroom? He said yes. 'What happened?' I

"He said, 'On my way to the bathroom the deputy sheriff marched in with all those prisoners in handcuffs and leg irons. When they passed me I suddenly remembered I had a wife in Kentucky I'd forgotten to divorce. That's where my wife found me. I'm

One morning when Vokes arrived early to court, a couple was waiting outside his door. "I assumed they wanted an extra copy of their li-cense. The man said, That's not why we're here. Do you still have our license?' I said yes. He said, 'Tear it

"I said I couldn't do that, and asked what happened.

"Well,' the man said, 'my wife had never been on a big boat before. On our honeymoon I went up to the purser and got the key to the state

'We let ourselves in and it was a cute room with a washbowl. My wife said, 'This is lovely. Where is your room?' I said, 'Well, right here with you." She didn't say a word about it. I said, 'Let's go down to dinner.'

"I took her to the dining room, not to the cafe or diner. Then we went up on deck. We were sailing down the Detroit River and through Lake Erie. The moon was out and it was lovely. About 11:30 p.m. she got cold and said she needed her wrap. I offered to go up to the room and get it, but she said, 'No, I'll get it.' I never did get in that room.

"So', he said, 'you'll do us a big favor if you just tear up the license. I said I was sorry, they would have to have it annulled."

VOKES' WIFE WAS FROM Yale, Mich. and "we spent a lot of time up there. I married a widow in Yale who was to take a boat to Buffalo and Niagara Falls on her honey-

"The groom and I were busy talking when she told him, 'If you don't hurry up, we're going to miss the boat.' He said, 'Here, I'll give you the tickets now.

Real spider web adds to decoration on porch

Laura Kardel of Canton was hang-ing a make-believe spider web to decorate her front porch for Halloween when she noticed the real thing with

"She saw the spider and discontinued the project," said her husband, Dan Kardel. "He's about the biggest spider we've ever seen.

Instead of swishing him away, or sending him to an even worse fate, the family began feeding the arachnid that made a home on their front porch.

Airport bill prompts concern

Wayne County Commissioner Susan Hubbard, D-Dearborn, announced plans for a telephone campaign to increase local control over airport noise. Hubbard, chairwoman of the commission's Special Committee on Airport Noise, said a bill pending in Congress could take away local noise regulating authority.

She expressed fear that Senate Bill 3094, would be rushed through in the closing days of Congress as a hasty budget attachment. Hubbard called on county residents concerned with airport noise to raise immediate objections by contacting their representatives in Washington through telephone or fax this week.

A regional study says drinking teens are more likely to run off the road than older drivers. 'When alcohol is involved in a traffic crash, teens are four times more likely (than older drivers) to run off the road, and 21 percent more likely to hit objects such as trees or mailboxes," according to a 1989 study conducted by the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG).

Project Graduation of Southeast Michigan presented a student leadership workshop Tuesday in Ro of Livonia for more than 1,000 student leaders, teachers and faculty advisers from 100 high schools. Housed and administered by WTVS, Channel 56, Project Graduation is sponsored by a coalition of more than 30 organizations comprised of volunteers, substa

New law extends parent responsibility past age 18

AP - There will be no more cutting off Junior from parental purse strings at age 18 if the young adult is still in high school.

A new law requires parents to maintain financial responsibility for their children until they finish high school if they're regularly attending classes, but not past the age of 191/4.

The previous limit of age 18 would apply if the children had completed high school by then.

The legislation was prompted by a divided Michigan Supreme Court ruling in November that said divorced parents cannot be forced to pay child support once a child reaches 18, even if the child is disabled or still in high school. The court cited the Legislature's move in 1972 to lower the age of majority from 21 to Courts, as they had prior to the Supreme Court ruling, now can resume ordering child support for offspring who haven't finished school by the time they turn 18, through the age of 19 years and 6 months.

Old orders will be enforced unless they go beyond the constraints of the new law, and those that were modified since the court decision a year ago can be modified again to revert

For the law to be pertinent, the young adult must be living in the home of the support recipient, be regularly attending high school and have a reasonable expectation of ents because lawmakers argued it wouldn't be fair to require that extra responsibility just of parents who don't have custody of their children while not of parents who have custody or still are married.

The few scenarios where an intact family would be called upon by a court to pay support include when parents cut off a child and the child seeks state aid or sues the parents, or when a child is removed from the home by a probate judge but the parents are ordered to continue finan-

Local economy getting weak

Through the first three quarters of 1990, the Detroit economy has experienced its weakest performance since 1982, according to economists at Manufacturers National Bank of Detroit

The Detroit Area Business Activity Index (DABAI) gained two points in September, rising to a level of 148, said economists David L. Littmann and David G. Sowerby.

But area business activity is operating 4.1 percent below the com-parable nine months of 1989, after adjusting for inflation.

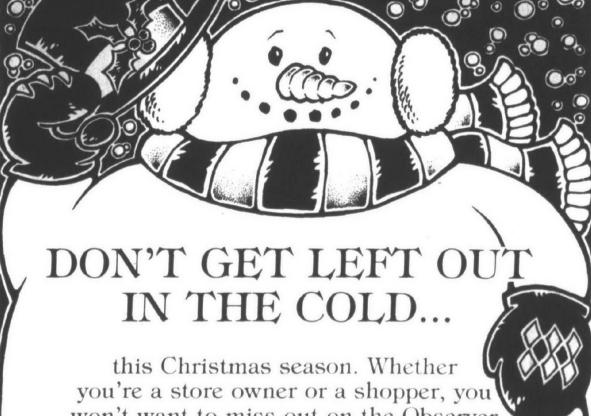

Five of the eight economic comonents which comprise the DA-BAI fell in September. The only notable exception: steel production.

However, Littmann added, over the past four months, steel production has been unusually erratic and will likely remain weak for the remainder of the year. Consequently, the DABAI should experience continued weakness in the fourth quar-

FASHIONS COURTEST OF JACOBSON'S

The Senate Challenger gets endorsement

ESIDENTS WILL face decisions Tuesday. Nov. 6, on the general election ballot for the Michigan Senate and Michigan House of Representatives.

For state Senate, incumbent Robert Geake, R-Northville, is being challenged by Livonia Democrat Patrick McDonald.

1990 is not the first time The Observer has not endorsed Robert Geake for state Senate.

The Observer continues to be disappointed with the senator's presence in and work for the district.

While visible in Northville, and sometimes in Plymouth, he has a low profile in Livonia and Redford.

When asked, Geake does not list any accomplishments for the district except for helping municipalities get grants. Community leaders do not give Geake high marks for working hard for cities and townships in the district.

WE ALSO are disappointed that Geake's experience in Lansing has not resulted in the senator exerting a greater role in the legislative process.

He is too willing to accept the continued existence of poor legislation instead of exerting leadership to repeal. He is too quick to accept the status quo instead of exerting initiative for

Neither is that experience and seniority applied in initiating significant legislation. Any one lawmaker can attach his/her name as a cosponsor of legislation.

FACED WITH those disappointments, this year The Observer and its readers have a choice in the candidacy of Patrick McDonald

As a former supervisor of Redford Township, McDonald has eight years experience as a municipal administrator and legislator. That's an important experience to become effective as a lawmaker in Lansing.

McDonald also is a longtime resident of the Livonia-Redford community and understands the needs of the district, and as a longtime attorney has some expertise in the function of law.

The challenger has enough credentials to provide hope of accomplishment. The incumbent offers little hope and has convinced us he is incapable of exercising the leadership the 6th District deserves. For that reason, we endorse Patrick McDonald for state senator.

McNamara Exec's been good for county

D McNAMARA doesn't need anyone's endorsement in his fall election bid - the Wayne County executive is running

But no matter who turned up on the other side, it's a fair bet McNamara would have received our endorsement anyway. The Livonia resident completed an unusually strong first term as the county's chief elected official.

His accomplishments - balancing the county budget, securing a new county jail, reducing the county's burgeoning health care payments, to name but three - were achievements skeptics doubted would happen in four decades, let alone a mere four years.

McNamara's staff includes some of the best and brightest young minds the county has to offer - male and female, black and white. That's a major plus.

While hardly a liberal, McNamara nonetheless believes that government can improve the quality of life for its citizens. The county's Westland homeless shelter, scheduled to open late this year, represents that philosophy put into action.

But McNamara hasn't let political events of the past decade pass by unnoticed, either. He's fought with commissioners over spending and he's shown a willingness to use his budget ax.

Likewise, his promotion of private/public partnerships could point the way to a bright new future for the county's venerable parks system.

Enough backpatting. With a second term assured, on with the issues

Economic growth, in part dependent upon the airport, ranks high on everyone's agenda.

We'd like to see the county and developmentminded communities working even more closely in the next four years, especially in reaping the benefits of Canadian trade.

For its part, the county could begin an even more aggressive marketing campaign.

Whatever the outcome, one thing is clear. The people of Wayne County have been fortunate to have Ed McNamara as their county executive.

Experience Campbell, Szymanski haye it

XPERIENCE SHOULD be the deciding factor in Wayne County's two Experience makes probate court administrator Patrica Campbell the best choice in the race for the eight-year probate seat.

It also makes attorney David J. Szymanski the best choice in the race for the six-year seat.

Probate court isn't glamorous. But its case load - including wills, estates, mental competency hearings, adoption, juvenile justice and other family-related matters - proves its importance. It also shows the importance of electing strong, well-qualified judges.

Campbell's 15-year legal experience, much of it in probate court, makes her clearly preferable to her less-experienced opponent. Campbell, a working mom who returned to college after raising her large, well-educated family, also boasts an impressive personal background. Because her opponent boasts a locally famous family name, it is particularly important for informed votes to cast their ballots for Campbell.

It's a slightly tougher call in the second race, where both candidates boast impressive back-

Szymanski, however, boasts the greatest legal experience. We're also impressed by his pledge to bring probate court to the people, working with service groups to raise awareness of the court and the cases it handles. We hope it is one campaign pledge that will be kept.

(Incumbents Martin T. Maher and Frances Pitts are running unopposed in other probate

We're aware that probate court races will occupy the minds of few voters as they go the the polls Nov. 6. We're also aware that the probate candidates will appear near the end of a crowded

Nonetheless, we believe Patrica Campbell and David J. Szymanski are the best qualified candidates for an admittedly difficult job.

Look for their names. And vote for them.

Which way success? School law no guide

I HATE writing columns like this.

At long last, Michigan schools are moving toward defining what children are supposed to learn in class. That is what the state Department of Education means when it talks about "outcomes" that are to be the result of the new "core curriculum" adopted last year. That's the good news.

The bad news is that I cannot find anywhere in the blizzard of paper now drifting around the program any discussion of just how schools propose to define and measure what children are supposed to learn.

It's bad because defining what you want to do while at the same time declining to measure how you are doing assures us that nothing will happen in the effort to reform our

ALL THIS comes about through passage last year of state Public Act 25. It required local school districts to "develop and deliver instruction to all students based on a model core curriculum . . . (to) articulate the broad outcomes to be achieved by all students as a result of their school experiences."

Great - an improvement over the old idea that 12 years of schooling guaranteed kids would learn something

In carrying out this policy, the state Department of Education has described what a student who has undergone the core curriculum would be like: "competent and productive participant in society," "creative, sensitive and flexible," "capable of learning over a lifetime" and so forth. And the department has set out the topic areas for the curriculum: arts, health and physical skills, language arts, science and math, and world studies. The department even makes a gesture toward the world of work by mentioning the academic, personal management and teamwork skills "necessary for a person to obtain, maintain and progress in a

So far, so good.

NOW COMES the problem. When the department gets around to defining and assessing success, it gets mealy mouthed. "Measurement of student attainment of the desired educational outcomes at the state, district and building level is an integral part of a good core curriculum model." OK, "Appropriate assessment techniques should be used to accurately measure student attainment of the various content, process and skill outcomes. Which techniques? They never say, neither in all the paper I've seen nor when asked orally in public or private. And I get very suspicious whenever somebody in government starts talking about "appropriate assessment techniques" without saying what those are. My suspicion started to thicken into irritation when I read the detail about the skills outcomes.

In math, kindergarten through third-grade students will "add, subtract, multiply and divide using models and add, subtract and multiply using computational algorithms with numbers appropriate to the models." But will they know their tables down cold?

The writing outcomes are even more bewildering. Organized into areas of "prewriting, drafting, revising, proofreading, publishing," the discussion never seems to focus on the idea that children should learn to write clearly, logically and quickly.

A GREAT SHAME, because PA 25 represented a terrific start in reforming our schools.

Why have the State Board of Education and the department ignored the real point of any reform: measure of performance? They may be bureaucratic, but these people are neither knaves nor fools.

I believe they are responding to a political fear. They're scared to death they'll be accused of bringing in a set of statewide required courses, standards and examinations, thereby destroying our treasured local autonomy of schools.

In Washington, the story is that there's a reason nothing whatsoever has come out of the much-trumpeted 'Education president and the nation's governors. The folks in the White House don't want anything to happen for fear President George Bush will be accused of destroying the sacred cow of local autonomy.

This is a legitimate political issue, one that ought to be debated just like how best to finance schools. But the debate ought to be out in the open, not disguised by mumbo jumbo about "appropriate assessment tech-

One of my favorite natural areas is the string of sinkholes in Presque Isle and Montmorency counties in northeastern Michigan.

The sinkholes weren't dug by miners. Over the years, water percolated through the soil and dissolved the limestone below, creating a big hole.

Fifteen years ago, the state Legislature, in a rare orgy of righteousness, passed the Open Meetings Act (OMA) and the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA)

They were designed to keep governing boards' meetings and public records public. Since then, it has been one crip-

CAN no longer remain silent on the Paul Vachher issue after reading the letter by Mr. Baidel in the Oct. 15 issue of the Canton Observer.

My sister's husband, John, was a colice officer (detective) in the Upper Peninsula for 20 years. In Sepember of this year he was involved in a similar incident. A man with whom he was familiar had blockaded himself in his basement after threatening to kill his parents with a knife.

The police attempted to "wait him out" for hours until he began to threaten to burn the house down. Since the houses in the neighborhood were very old and close together, a decision was made to enter the basement and to attempt to subdue him.

The man, who was a diagnosed schizophrenic, had been hospitalized in the past but was released based on the opinion of his psychiatrist (one who had taken Psychology 101, I'm sure). Free from any restraints, he decided to stop taking his medication. In the past, John had successfully convinced the man to not follow through on any similar threats

FOR THIS reason he felt he should be the first one to enter the basement. As it turned out, John was stabbed with a 10-12-inch fish filet knife. It entered the orifice of the eye and continued down into the brain.

He was airlifted to Munson Hospital in Traverse City, where he remains in a coma. The brain swelled to an unacceptable level and it resulted in strokes and massive frontal lobe damage.

IF I AM compelled to make a choice, therefore, I choose to sustain the life of the giving, caring individual instead of the one who will wreak havoc on society. If I could replay the event that John was involved in, my preferences would be in this order:

I also told him that I had heard somewhere that a person with a knife can run 21 feet in one second plus and stab a person repeatedly. I ended with a comment such as, 'So, John, if you see a person with a knife and he is closer than 21 feet, please shoot to stop the

SO, Mr. Baidel, I know that you sincerely believe that there is a better way to handle these situations. I wish you had been with John. Maybe he would not be among the living dead today.

If you know something that the police do not, I suggest that you volunteer your services the next time the Canton police encounter this type of situation. Maybe then the officers won't feel so compelled to protect themselves and the future of their families.

Law attacked for stand on Mettetal

It has been my understanding that an elected official's duty, regardless of his political party, is to represent all of his constituents and his community without prejudice.

On Oct. 3 I was petitioning near a local shopping mall in Plymouth Township when I was confronted by a man who seemed interested in what I was doing.

I petitioned this man and expressed my opposition to Mettetal Airport being municipally owned and supported by my tax dollars. In reply this man shouted very loud that my statement was a lie and everything I said was a lie and that I was deliberately lying to the people.

He created such a disturbance with his accusations and shouting that I walked away. I told him that he was too argumentative and I wanted no further discussion with him. His persistent demagoguery became too much for me so I asked him to lower his voice as he was creating a disturbance, and any attempt by me to petition the public was out of the question.

He introduced himself as Gerald Law. I couldn't believe what I was hearing, but then I recognized him from his photographs. This man was State Rep. Gerald H. Law who was making accusations that were totally untrue. I informed Mr. Law that I had supported him at each election since I moved to the area 11 years ago, but he had received his last vote from me.

After Mr. Law had regained his composure, he examined my petition, and of the seven points listed at the top he found (in his opinion) one questionable and one he did not agree with, but found no lies. I mentioned earlier unruly conduct and he agreed and apologized. In the discussion following, I found it difficult to extract an answer from him when I asked him pointed questions, such as, "Where does the money come from that is not funded by federal and state government grants?" since he stood firm that no taxpayer dollars would be used. He finally asserted that the Airport Authority would ask for a millage to be put on the ballot, and if approved, the local taxpayers would have to pay for it. The proponents of Mettetal Air-port are not being honest with the taxpayers when they say, "No local tax money will be used to acquire and support the airport." They prefer to call it "users fees." The Michigan Aeronautics Commission and the Federal Aviation Administration refer to it as a "users tax." A tax is defined as a compulsory payment of a percentage of income, property value, sales price, etc. Every single cent that is used to acquire and support Mettetal Airport is taxpayer money, local and otherwise.

So far the only point I can agree on with Supervisor Breen is his admission that the airport is not revenue producing and he does not expect it to be revenue producing. He further states that before he will allow local taxes to be used he would allow the airport to go into bankruptcy. My next question is, why then is he supporting purchase of the airport at all if he knows it is basically worthless as a revenue-producing endeavor? What Breen is doing is abusing municipal privileges by using Plymouth Township and his office to acquire an inflated price of $4,100,000 and pay it to the present owner who then walks away with a large profit on a bad investment.

There are many more questions to be answered and facts to be given regarding this matter. Hopefully Breen will give the people whose taxes are involved a chance to obtain these answers and hear these facts, and why he thinks the airport is a community asset when his own statements are contradictory.

Local U.S. reps split on revised budget plan

Here's how Observer & Eccentricarea members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes in the week ending Oct. 19. HOUSE:

To Reduce Deficit — By a vote of 227 for and 203 against, the House sent to conference with the Senate a Democratic-drafted budget reconciliation bill (HR 5835) that is the cornerstone of a plan to reduce deficits by $40 billion in fiscal 1991 and $500 billion between 1991 and 1995. Sponsors said they hoped the plan would cut annual deficits from the current $300 billion-plus range to double digits within a few years.

This bill accounts for nearly $200 billion of the targeted $500 billion, with the remainder to be achieved as individual committees make program cuts the legislation requires of them. Its major component is nearly $150 billion in new taxes (see next issue) that touch all income levels but hit hardest at the wealthy. Other key provisions are major spending restraints in medicare and farm subsidies. Milder curbs in a variety of other programs and lower interest payments that will result from the legislation.

A yes vote was for the Democratic-drafted budget bill.

Voting yes were William Ford, D-Taylor and Sander Levin, D-Southfield. Voting no from Michigan were Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth, Dennis Hertel, D-Harper Woods and William Broomfield, R-Birmingham.

The Democratic Fiscal Plan — By a vote of 238 for and 192 against, the House amended HR 5835 (above) to incorporate tax increases, Medicare cuts and other provisions drafted by the tax-writing Ways and Means Committee to form the heart of the $500 billion reconciliation bill.

Provisions aimed at the wealthy would increase top-bracket income tax rates from 28 to 33 percent, put a 10 percent surtax on taxable income above $1 million, levy a 10 percent luxury tax on certain expensive consumer goods and increase the alternative minimum tax utilized by many affluent taxpayers from 21 to 25 percent.

Among provisions that could afffect most or all income levels, the measure delays for one year that adjustment of income tax brackets for inflation, raises taxes on cigarettes and alcoholic beverages, increases airline ticket taxes, and allows certain tax-free capital gains. To cushion the impact of higher sales taxes on the working poor, it increases the earned income tax credit

Regarding the elderly, the measure increases monthly Medicare insurance premiums from $28.60 to $46.20 by 1995, raises from $51,300 to $100,000 the wage base for the 1.45 percent Medicare payroll tax

Trade With China — The House voted 247 for and 174 against to end trade preferences for China. Roll Call Report

Sponsor Gerald Solomon, R-N.Y., said "we cannot stand by while thousands of Chinese are imprisoned and hundreds are executed every month just because they want to be free like you and I."

Bob Michel, R-Ill., the minority leader, said "if we stay in contact (with China), the cause of democracy will be strengthened."

A yes vote was to stop favored treatment of imports from China.

Voting yes were Pursell, Hertel and Levin. Voting no from Michigan were William Ford and Broomfield. SENATE:

Fiscal Plan — By a vote of 54 for and 46 against, the Senate sent to conference with the House its version of the most massive deficit reduction ever attempted by Congress, a bill (S 3209) to reduce red ink by $500 billion between fiscal 1991-95.

One key difference between the House measure (above) the Senate bill is that the latter raises the federal gasoline tax, from 9 to 18.5 cents per gallon. Another is that the Senate does not raise the top-bracket tax rate, as the House does, but increases taxes on the wealthy by curbing their deductions. nor does the Senate go along with the House plan to delay for one year the adjustment of income tax brackets for inflation, a revenue-raiser that has drawn heavy Republican criticism. The Senate version achieves smaller Medicare savings than the House

The bills are similar or identical in most other areas, including plans to put an income tax surcharge on the wealthy, raises in taxes, add a special excise tax on luxury purchases, raise taxes on airline tickets and impose new higher taxes or fees on scores of government services for veterans, students, boaters and other constituencies.

A yes vote supported the $500 billion deficit-reduction plan. Voting no were Sens. Carl Levin, D, and Donald Riegle, D.

Gasoline Tax — The Senate refused, 40 for and 59 against, to take a crucial procedural step removing an increase in the federal gasoline tax from the budget reconcilation bill (2 3209; see preceding vote). This left intact language to raise the tax from 9 to 18.5 cents a gallon.

A yes vote was to move toward deleting the gasoline tax hike. Voting yes were Levin and Riegle.

LAYGOERS AT the Plymouth Park Players production of "Black Comedy" won't see much during the first couple of minutes.

The stage will be dark during those opening minutes, and audience members will have to do a lot of listening. The challenge for cast members will also be considerable; when the lights come on, the actors must pretend it's suddenly dark.

Math and science aren't just for boys

staff writer

For many years, educator Barbara Church asked her students to draw a picture of a scientist. It was rare that anyone, boy or girl, drew a picture of a woman.

"Their picture of a scientist was male," said Church, Plymouth-Canton Community Schools curriculum coordinator for science, math and computer education. Those pictures almost without exception showed a man in a lab coat with a pocket protector "and usually funny hair."

Church knows that those perceptions limit options for girls.

"The problem is not enough girls are going into math and science," she told those at a meeting of the Plymouth branch, American Association of University Women.

CHURCH, A Plymouth Township resident, discussed gender equity in math and science at a Thursday, Oct. 18, AAUW meeting, held at Ernesto's in Plymouth.

'We encourage boys and girls to take everything possible." Girls are well-represented in biology classes at Centennial Educational Park, but are far less likely to take physics. Girls who plan to go to college generally take algebra and geometry, but are less likely to enroll in trigonometry or calculus.

"Is it only a local problem? No," said Church, who taught middle school math, science and computers for 11 years. "When girls don't choose these options, they limit their choices in college."

Some 75 percent of undergraduate programs at the University of Michigan require four years of high school science, she said. Young women who have ability and interest in science often don't consider a career in a scientific field.

The average female college graduate earns less than the average male high school graduate, Church told AAUW members and guests. Higher divorce rates these days mean a woman's more likely to end up supporting a family, making decent earning power even more im-

GENDER BIAS comes from a variety of sources, including the home. Parents tend to treat daughters differently; they may, for example, put a worm on the hook for a daughter during a fishing trip, but expect a son to do the job himself.

"It's a lot of little things," she said. Parents buy different toys for girls than for boys. Girls are taught to be neat, quiet and not aggressive or obsessive about reaching goals.

"All these things come together at some point," Church said. "It's a subliminal message that goes out to our

TV programs on science and nature are rarely moderated by women. In the classroom, boys get more attention, both negative and positive, than girls do. Boys are more likely to call out answers, while girls tend to follow the rules and wait to be called

"There are differences in the way men and women perceive things, she said. "Girls like to see the big picture. They like discussion more than cut, right or wrong answers."

'When girls don't choose these options, they limit their choices in college.'

ChemCom, or chemistry in the community, is being offered for the first time this year at CEP. In that college preparatory class, students explore such issues as acid rain. The issue-oriented class is particularly popular with girls, she said.

'We need to provide courses for kids that meet boys' and girls' needs.'

The Plymouth-Canton schools formed a committee in 1988 on GEMS, gender equity in math and science. That committee's work includes having women science teachers talk to high school classes about

"I had to really scrounge to find information on female scientists," said Church, who earned a bachelor's degree in biochemistry and physiology from McGill University.

Science: It's also a field for women

GEMS committee members are planning an inservice training program on gender equity for kindergarten through eighth grade teachers. A March 16, 1991, conference for seventh and eighth grade girls and their parents is also in the works. At that Saturday conference, families will learn about opportunities in math, science and engineering for young women.

Parental encouragement is critical," said Church, the mother of two sons who can clean and cook. Many summer science programs are available for girls, and parents should encourage daughters to take advantage of those opportunities.

"If you have sons only, it's also really important that you talk to them about these issues," she said.

AAUW MEMBER Peg Britz, a Canton resident, enjoyed Church's

"I thought it was very enlightening," said Britz, a special education/ resource room teacher at Fiegel Elementary School in Plymouth Town-

AAUW branch president Gail Conte, a Plymouth Township resident, enjoyed the program.

"I think she's been very persistent in looking for ways of making the school community realize the inadequacies," said Conte, who works in corporate training at Henry Ford Community College.

Conte has sons ages 9 and 11 and daughters ages 15 and 17, and her husband teaches chemistry and biology in the Southgate schools. Their oldest daughter can handle math and science, but Conte's seen her aversion to those subjects.

Plymouth AAUW members plan to provide financial and planning support for the March 16 program for middle school girls and their parents, Conte said

The whole concept of promoting education is what we're all about, particularly promoting education for

Parents can help expand horizons

Parents can do a lot to encourage daughters to study science and math, according to Barbara Church.

Church is the curriculum coordinator for science, math and computer education for the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools. She offered these suggestions for parents during a recent meeting of the Plymouth branch, American Association of University Women:

• Encourage your son/daughter to collect things, handle things, take things apart and see how things work. They need to take bikes, clocks, flowers and other things apart.

 Don't be concerned about children getting things right. You need to be concerned if they aren't curious and wondering about things.

• Do you give your sons and daughters different kinds of toys? Do to look further, you might p you encourage them to pursue different kinds of hobbies?

The kinds of toys we buy are similar for children up to age 3. After that, we tend to buy "girl" toys and "boy" toys. It's believed that one important reason boys do better in math than girls is because boys have grown up playing with more mathematical/scientific toys.

 Don't "overhelp" your daughter (a tendency of parents with daughters much more often than with sons). Instead, help her to become able to rely on her own judgment, develop independence and the ability to make her own decisions.

will help them find out about contemporary and historical figures whose lives involve work in fields that use math and science.

 Talk about career plans with your children. Point out that many occupations require a good math and science background, and that their career options will be limited if they do not continue to take those subjects. Set expectations early that they will take three to four years of high school math and science.

• Identify a role model who works in a technological field for your child to "job shadow" (spend a day on the job). If possible, have that professional look like your child female for a girl, minority for a minority student.

The role model might be a relative, friend or neighbor. If you need company in your community or check with your child's school.

 Maintain open lines of communication with your children about the courses they choose in high school. Encourage them to enroll in calculus and physics. Foster intellectual risktaking. Remember that higher level math and science courses increase your child's options later in life.

 Above all, remember not all children will have the interest, ability or desire to pursue careers in science or math. Try to expose your children to many different options while at the same time realizing that the final choice of careers, interests and plans of study must be theirs.

Claire McLaughlin has certain ideas in mind when choosing clothes to wear to work at the Canton Public Library.

"I wear what I wear because of trying to shed the image of librarians as frumpy," said McLaughlin, adult services librarian and grants coordinator.

She knows that most librarians don't opt for a bun on the back of the head or orthopedic shoes.

"I have Reeboks," said McLaughlin, who's worked at the library in Canton for about 51/2 years. "That's as close as I come."

Dressing in a more professional style helps to upgrade the status of library science as a profession, she

"We seed to get closer to our users and have them see us as somewhat sophisticated." That's particularly important as libraries make greater use of computers and other high-tech

SHE WEARS some suits and

"I try to put a jacket on to dress it up, give a finished look." She has one white jacket she particularly likes.

"In fact, I have to watch that I don't wear it too often." She's found that the right belt and jewelry can make an outfit look better. McLaughlin rarely wears

"I'm not very proficient at scarf tying and all of that."

She likes wearing bigger earrings, and has noticed that seems to be fashionable "although I don't pore over the fashion magazines either."

Comfort's important for McLaughlin when she's looking for clothes for work. She avoids extremely high heels. She prefers natural fibers, and wears sweaters, khaki pants and jeans away from work.

She occasionally shops at such department stores as Lord & Taylor or Hudson's, but doesn't find shopping all that enjoyable.

One of Brindsley's neighbors, Harold, is a rather fussy antiques dealer. Brindsley "borrows" his neighbor's antique furniture without permission in an effort to impress his visitors. Harold returns unexpectedly, and the others must try to replace the furniture "before the lights come back on or before he notices it."

Another neighbor, Miss Furnival. is also prim and proper. When the lights go out, she accidently drinks large quantities of gin rather than lemonade and begins to kick up her

The play provides roles that are fairly equal for the eight cast members. The play's set in London, so student actors are required to speak with British accents and, for one cast member, in German.

The students will have been rehearsing for about seven weeks when the show opens. They'll take "Black Comedy" on the road in January and February for Michigan Interscholastic Forensics Association competition.

Tickets for "Black Cornedy," priced at $3.50, are available at the Salem auditorium. Tickets are also available at the Plymouth Antique Emporium, Main at Penniman in downtown Plymouth, and will be sold at the door performance evenings. For ticket information, call

Ever

His goal: foster understanding

By Larry O'Connor caff writer

p.m.

Rabbi Craig Allen hopped into his car and drove 1,500 miles from Houston, Texas, to Livonia. After a few fill-ups at the gas station, he arrived at Livonia Jewish Congregation to find out everything is just

In fact, the congregation has been able to function without a rabbi for more than a year. Rabbi Martin Gordon left in August of last year for an assignment in Laredo, Texas.

Experienced lay people in the congregation helped out with the services. Other times, for weddings or funerals, a visiting rabbi pitched in.

All of which is quite remarkable, considering Livonia Jewish Congregation is one of only two synagogues in Wayne County and has 78 family members.

"There is some reason the synagogue has worked," said Allen, 43, who arrived last week. "I'll find that out and put my own personality into . and seek out the advice of those around me.

SOME ADVICE might be needed. As leader of the only synagogue in northwest Wayne County, the rabbi is highly visible. Already, Allen will become a Livonia police chaplain and will be involved in Livonia's prayer breakfast.

Also, the face of the congregation has changed through the years. The Livonia Jewish Congregation bore the brunt of members moving to other communities. In the wake of the transitional period, a younger membership has emerged.

Such realizations don't bother Allen as much as intrigue him. After he explains his background, it's easy to understand why.

Allen was one of only 18 Jewish chaplains in the U.S. Army. He was stationed at Fort Benning, Ga., where only 65 out of 30,000 soldiers

'We're not threatened by other religions. Our duty, in fact, is to strengthen other religions.'

— Rabbi Craig Allen

"It was a constant struggle," Allen said. "Jiminy Cricket was my role in that environment. I had to point violations of First Amendment rights - the lack of accommodating religious freedom. You continually had school prayer, training violations . . . latent or overt anti-Semitism and racism."

Though the Army is an unusual path for a rabbi, it was natural for Allen who served in the Vietnam War. He was a private with the Nha Thrang Signal Battalion in Dong Ba

When he was discharged in 1970, Allen returned to his first love composing music. He quickly found it was difficult to make a living writing musical pieces. He returned to service, this time to the Navy School of Music in Norfolk, Va.

Allen attended the seminary in order to become a rabbi, enrolling at the Jewish Theological Seminary in New York and later the Academy for Jewish Religion. Upon his ordination, he returned to the service to become a chaplain at Fort Benning.

While at Fort Benning, Allen organized the first Holocaust memorial service at the base. Also, he composed a piece of music using the poetry of children at a Nazi death camp as an inspiration.

"Hopefully, music will impact on my agenda here," Allen said.

Before accepting his new position in Livonia, Allen taught Hebrew at Rice University and worked with Hillel, an organization for collegeage youths, at the University of

This area is not new to Allen. He rew up in Port Huron and his wife, Diane, has family in Southfield and Oak Park. The Allens have two children, Ian, 17, and Aaron, 13.

Allen talks of his preserving Jewish tradition andfostering better understanding between the synagogue and other people in the community.

With anti-Semitism reportedly on the rise, Allen believes generally ignorance about Judaism is the prob-

"We're not threatened by other religions," Allen said. "Our duty, in fact, is to strengthen other religions.

Rabbi Craig Allen is the new leader of the Livonia Jewish Congregation.

"The real problem is the inability to view religion as several different paths to God.'

Racism within, around us tough to change

From time to time we hear things that make us wonder where we have been, and perhaps more importantly, where we are headed. This happened to me recently when I overheard a woman complaining that a black man had come into a store in her neighborhood "as if he had every right.

The woman was white. She went on to explain that she herself was not a racist because she had worked with black people and even eaten lunch with them on occasion. But she wondered aloud why they can't stay in their own place

A short time after this, I had the privilege of meeting one of those people who make a difference even in the meeting. She is well-educated and does the human race proud. She was giving a workshop to a campus ministry group on the topic

This woman was black. She began our time together by inviting us (we were all white) to ask her anything we might want to ask a black person but had not for whatever reason. The result was a very memorable evening.

I WOULD like to believe that the woman who made the remark about black people staying in their place is as convinced of her sincerity as the leader of the workshop. She no doubt believed what she said when she claimed not to be a

Perhaps racism carries the same debit as other isms such as sexism, materialism and alcoholism. On careful scrutiny, they all represent addictive behavior.

More often than not, it takes a long time for an addict to admit to his or her addiction. Denial is very much a major ingredient. Those afflicted often remain convinced that the addiction is a problem other people have. Or perhaps it is seen as a problem I used to have.

Perhaps this is part of the reality that keeps racism alive in a world that should know better by now. There is a myth afloat that racism pretty much died out after the riots of the 1960s. And if it is still around it is among KKK types and neo-Na-

THE REAL problem, however, would seem to be those of us who cannot see or admit to the racism within us and around us. People are never motivated to change something they do not believe exists.

And even the admission is not enough. Attitudinal change comes with difficulty. But for starters, we would do well to listen to ourselves talk, to monitor ourselves thinking, to check out our reactions.

What do we do when we see a black in an otherwise white neighborhood? How do we react when we are told he or she is Arabic or Jewish or Japanese? What are our presumptions about people of color? How do we think on these

The answers may be only a beginning. But we do have to start somewhere if we are ever to know that all races do have their place and that is together in life.

What would you have asked the woman had you been to the workshop? Then if we could be as open to one another's answers as she was to our questions, perhaps we could discover that there is only meant to be one place and it belongs to all of us.

The Rev. Robert Schaden is with the Newman House campus ministry at Schoolcraft College in Livonia.

Salem, Mass. is the home of the infamous Salem Witch Trials of 1692, when more than 200 people were accused of being witches, 23 were convicted and 19 were hanged. This modeled witch trial is staged with mannequins. Here, the scene shows Rev. George Burrough's being hanged at Gallows Hill.

Witch trials haunt Salem for Halloween

Spooky tales bring chills to gothic town

By Phyllis Kreger Stillman special writer

It's Halloween every day of the year in Salem, the "witch city" of Massachusetts, but the chills and thrills are at high pitch for the seven days between now and Halloween.

The whole city participates in the Halloween festivities, with costumed storytellers scaring the wits out of the kids with spooky tales, haunted houses and pirate

A group of magicians will hold a seance, as they do every year, to try to make contact with the ghost of Harry Houdini, and this year they will do it at a secret location in Salem.

Salem is, after all, the home of the infamous Salem Witch Trials of 1692, when more than 200 people were accused of being witches, 23 were convicted and 19 were hanged. For years the town tried to live down its reputation; now they are living it up, especially on Halloween.

tion; now they are living it up, especially on Halloween.
In 1689, the Reverend Samuel Parris moved to Salem with his family - his wife; a daughter, Elizabeth; a niece, Abigail Williams; and two slaves from the West Indies, John and his wife, Tituba. Few activities were acceptable for girls in the Puritan society, so Elizabeth and Abigail had very few outlets for their energies.

To alleviate some of their boredom, Tituba would tell them, and several of their friends, stories. Because of Tituba's background, many of these stories were based on voodoo.

Soon after the stories began, the girls started behaving oddly. They were subject to convulsive fits and constriction in their throats, and they often stared into space or cried out in what appeared to be hypnotic states.

A doctor who was brought in to examine the girls found nothing physically wrong with them. At this period in history, many people believed in witches and possession by the devil. Since he could find no other explanation for their affliction, the doctor concluded that the girls were under the spell of witchcraft.

The Salem Witch Museum offers a dramatic presentation of the early witch trials. Visitors are ushered into a darkened room as a narrator tells the story of the hysterical girls who lied and sent many innocent people to their death,

The girls were repeatedly questioned as to who was casting spells on them. Eventually, one of the girls broke under interrogation and accused three women, one of them Tituba, of being witches.

And that's how the infamous witch trials of Salem began - with the rantings of bored, repressed, hysterical girls. Years later, one of the girls asked for forgiveness in public, and confessed that most of what she and her friends said during the period was untrue and most of their symptoms were manufactured.

labeled as witches.

For years Salem has tried to live down its reputation; now they are living it up the week of Halloween.

Two museums in Salem, The Salem Witch Museum and The Witch Dungeon Museum, graphically tell the story. A third attraction, The Witch House, is the restored home of one of the judges who served on the witch trials; he held pretrial hearings in his bed chambers.

The Salem Witch Museum offers a dramatic presentation of the story. Visitors are ushered into a darkened room. As a narrator tells the story of the hysterical girls and the inhumanity of the witchtrials, 13 different raised stage settings are illuminated in sequence.

The Witch Dungeon Museum, 16 Lynde Street, has its own horrors to offer. After briefly explaining the story, a Salem Witch Trial is reenacted by actresses portraying an accuser and the accused.

As the tour continues downstairs into the pitch dark dungeon, I had no trouble getting caught up in the spirit of the times. Mannequins are used to depict prisoners in

Prisoners were treated in a sub-human manner. Forced to pay for their room and board, those who could not afford better accommodations were housed in telephone booth-size cells, so small that the prisoner was unable to sit or even kneel, but had to remain standing at all times. The food was rotten and stale, and the water was salted so that prisoners would be even more thirsty and would have to buy more water.

In this damp, dark dungeon, I could feel the despair the prisoners must have felt (even though this is not the actual dungeon but a recreation.) To be treated the way they were and to live in the darkness and discomfort must have sapped the strength and sanity of all but the very strong.

The Witch House, 310% Essex Street, is, aside from its connection to the witch trials, an interesting place to visit. Built in the 1640's, Witch House is a good example of what the home of a wealthy person looked like during that period.

The Salem Witch Museum is open year round, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., with presentations every half hour. Admission is $3.50 for adults, $3 for senior citizens, and $2 for children.

Despite the dominance of the witch theme, Salem has many other attractions. Nathaniel Hawthorne was born and raised in Salem. The setting for his novel "The House of the Seven Gables" was based on the home of his cousin near the harbor in Salem. The home, with its hidden staircase used when it was a stop on the underground railroad, is open for tours year round.

Instructors meet at party to take fear out of diving

By Iris Sanderson Jones special writer

If scuba diving is an eerie idea that you have always wanted to explore, you should join John Burns and his fellow dive instructors at a Halloween party Oct. 30. The only thing you'll dive into is a glass of witch's brew, but it will be a good place to explore the underwater world.

John Burns, who grew up in Farmington and now lives in Novi, never expected to spend so much of his life underwater. He spent four years in the U.S. Navy but he didn't really discover scuba diving until he was back in Michigan, signed up as a student at Oakland Community College. IT WAS so much fun that he soon assisted OCC dive instructor Tom Williams of Novi and started exploring the shipwrecks of the Great Lakes and the great barrier reefs that run between Belize and Cozumel. Burns says that this reef is second

Doctors study vitamin B as a stroke preventative

A metabolic defect that can lead to blood vessel disease and increase the risk of stroke may be corrected by treatment with vitamin B, according to a group of researchers from Oregon.

The metabolic defect, called mild hyperhomocysteinemia, results in slight to moderate elevations of homocysteine, an amino acid that circulates in the blood.

At normal levels, it is harmless, but new evidence suggests that mildly elevated levels can damage blood vessels and lead to atherosclerosis or "hardening of the arteries" and its related complications including stroke.

'Mild hyperhomocysteinemia may be a direct independent risk factor for atherosclerosis and an indirect risk factor for stroke," said Dr. Bruce Coull, co-author of a study published in "Stroke," an American Heart Association scientific journal. Coull is associate professor of neurology at the Oregon Health Sciences University in

Coull and his colleagues examined 130 individuals, 99 of whom had either acute stroke, transient ischemic attacks (TIA), temporary interruptions of blood flow to the brain, or were at high risk for stroke because they had two or more of its major risk factors, including high blood pressure, diabetes mellitus, smoking and atherosclerosis

THEY FOUND that one-third of the subjects from each group had elevated levels of homocysteine. The levels were about 11/2 times higher than those of a control group of 31 healthy volunteers who had no history of cardiovascular disease or stroke.

Homocysteine concentrations did not differ among patients with stroke, those with TIA, and those at risk for cerebral vascular disease, Coull said.

Most studies of hyperhomocysteinemia and heart attack have failed to show a link, but Coull suggests this could be due to their design.

Other researchers have shown that homocysteine, like cholesterol, damages blood vessels, leading to a form of atherosclerosis that is characterized by lesions on blood vessel walls. The lesions may be caused by hydrogen risk prevention."

cysteine metabolism, Coull said.

If a clot forms on the lesion and blocks blood flow to the heart or brain, it can trigger a heart attack or a

Coull suggested that this potentially deadly chain of events may be broken with supplements of various B vitamins (biotin, B6, B12) or folic acid, a closely related substance that acts similarly to vitamin B.

BY COMPENSATING for the metabolic error, B vitamins and folic acid allow homocysteine to be broken down in the body normally, avoiding a toxic buildup.

"By lowering the levels, we may be minimizing the ngoing damage to blood vessels and may even reverse atherosclerosis," Coull theorized.

To test this theory, the researcher has begun a longterm trial of folic acid therapy to treat 24 patients with mild hyperhomocysteinemia. Each takes a 2-milligram tablet every morning. "Preliminary results indicate that it lowers the homocysteine in some patients," he said. High performance liquid chromatography, an inexpensive 30-minute test that can separate chemicals from blood, is used to measure homocysteine levels. If longterm studies show that folic acid can halt the arterial insults caused by the elevations, the test could be useful as a screening tool, the scientists said.

Individuals whose atherosclerosis cannot be explained by high cholesterol levels would be likely suspects for mild hyperhomocysteinemia and thus good candidates

Once identified, those who had mild hyperhomocysteinemia could be treated with either vitamin B complex or folic acid. The folic acid works by encouraging homocysteine to undergo a chemical change that converts it into a harmless amino acid called methionine.

"Inexpensive means are at hand to detect and treat subjects with vascular disease," Coull said. "I think we have opened up new avenues of cardiovascular disease

Book offers items for disabled

A first-of-its-kind publication now phone numbers are included, as well gives disabled people the opportunity to identify products and services to help them live and work better with their disabilities.

"The Illustrated Directory of Handicapped Products" came into being as a result of one family's experience with a handicap and a resolve to help other disabled people.

The directory is a 192-page buying guide, with some 700 photographs and descriptions of products designed to aid the physically disabled. The products range from wheelchairs and other mobility products to daily living devices designed to make life easier and more enjoyable.

The products listings are organized into 16 categories and each listing includes a 50-75 word description. Manufacturer's addresses and as retail suppliers throughout the

"There hasn't been one convenient guidebook of products for the disabled until now," said Monte Mace, publisher of the book. "People have little knowledge of the many helpful products on the market. They often are forced to choose from a limited selection at list prices because dealers carry only a fraction of what's available. In rural areas, the situation is even worse."

Eleven years ago, Mace and his wife Joyce learned that their daughter Suzy had been born with Spina Bifida, a defect of the spine which causes varying degrees of muscle weakness and paralysis. Since that time, they have worked with Suzy to help her overcome and deal with the condition.

They came to realize that disabled people and their families are not always able to find the products and services they need and end up choosing from a limited number of prod-

Trio Publications was created by the Maces to inform handicapped people about things that could help them and make their lives more independent. Three years ago, the company launched a card deck featuring products for the disabled which was mailed free of charge to more than 400,000 people.

The "Illustrated Directory of Handicapped Products" cost $12.95 (plus $2.50 for shipping). To order a copy, send your name and address to Trio Publications, 3600 W. Timber Ridge Ct., Lawrence, Kan. 66049.

In Vitro Fertilization

In vitro fertilization is one of several new treatments for infertility successfully being practiced at Oakwood today. This highly specialized procedure has enabled hundreds of Michigan couples, who otherwise would not have been able to conceive, to bear children. The procedure involves removal of eggs from the woman's ovaries, the addition of sperm to the eggs in the laboratory, and then placement of fertilized eggs into the uterus where the baby may develop. Physicians currently at Oakwood succeeded in developing the state's first in vitro fertilization pregnancy and have pioneered a number of new reproductive technologies.

At our state-of-the-art facility, couples undergo a comprehensive analysis process involving a team of highly skilled physicians, nurses and technicians. If you would like more information on in vitro fertilization or any of the advanced medicine we offer, your physician may refer you, or you may call the Center for Reproductive Medicine at Oakwood Hospital

Oakwood Health Services is one of the largest health care systems in Michigan, with five hospitals, more than 30 local health care and specialty centers and more than 1,000 physicians in every major health care specialty and subspecialty. Halloween suppliers roll in dough

Demand for decorations, candy rises

By Doug Funke staff writer

Children aren't the only ones who do well with Hal-

Retailers who sell candy, costumes, decorations and party supplies find that the holiday can be quite lucrative, too.

"The average home visited in the suburban readership area is probably spending $7-10 for candy," said Fred Marx, a Bloomfield Hills retail consultant.

Multiply that by the number of houses with porch lights on Halloween and the dollars begin to total quick-

Candy manufacturers and retailers don't reveal specific sales figures.

The gross margin for candy - the difference between what stores purchase wholesale then sell at retail ranges from 20 to 35 percent, with net profits ranging from 1 to 5 percent, Marx said.

"Candy sales are significantly ahead at this time," said Dennis Wozniak, vice president of purchasing for Arbor Drugs headquartered in Troy. He declined to

SOME ADULTS seem to enjoy Halloween as much as

"It's a big party time. It's gone beyond the trick-ortreat world," Wozniak said.

Andy Anusbigian, an owner of Windmill Fruit Market in Livonia, sells pumpkins, dried out corn stalks, Indian corn and gourds.

Anusbigian figures on selling some 70 tons of pumpkins this year at 15 cents per pound after paying farmers 8 to 10 cents a pound for the product. He prices decorative corn stalks at $2.99 after buying them wholesale for $1.99.

Adults do much of the carving and hold on to the stalks through Thanksgiving.

There's no doubt in Anusbigian's mind that Halloween is for adults as well as children.

Antitrust victory expected to have long-range effects

staff writer

A Rochester Hills computer maintenance firm's legal victory will not only net the company damages nearing $30 million but will fundamentally affect how computer hardware and software suppliers do business and revitalize the Sherman Antitrust Act.

Virtual Maintenance Inc. sued Prime Computer Cos., a Massachusetts hardware and software supplier of computer-aided design/computer-aided manufacturing (CAD/CAM), for its practice of tying customer software revisions to hardware maintenance contracts.

Virtual Maintenance's attorney, Jamal John Hamood, of the law firm Moll Desenberg & Bayer, with Detroit and Southfield offices, said Prime Computer was trying to create a monopoly.

Companies that purchase software and hardware frequently require updates, he explained, because needs change. "What Prime was doing is saying we won't sell you software revisions unless you sign a maintenance contract with us," Hamood said.

But customers were saying that if they could get (a third-party maintenance firm) to take over maintenance, they could save a lot money," he said. "Prime's contract wouldn't allow that."

HAMOOD SAID he fully expects the case will be appealed. "Any time you get an award of that size, you expect an appeal, he said. "Usually, you appeal to get a If appealed, the case would be heard in the U.S. Sixth Appellate Court in Cincinnati. Attorneys from Honigman Miller Schwartz and Cohn, who represented Prime Computer Companies, did not return phone calls.

Rodger Young, also of Moll Desenberg & Bayer, said the case is important for three reasons.

"First, the size of the verdict is one of the largest anti-trust cases handed down in recent memory," he

United States Federal District Court for the Eastern District in Michigan jury awarded Virtual Maintenance Inc. $8.5 million in damages - an award that is trebled under the Sherman Antitrust Act. Attorney fees, court costs and interest, since the case was filed June 2, 1989, will result in a judgment of roughly $30 million. Second, the case will have a significant impact on other computer companies that may have been considering similar unfair business practices, Young said.

OTHER COMPUTER companies have been considering tying maintenance and software revisions together,

"Computer companies are having a hard time making profits (through the sale of equipment and software) so computer maintenance is a good way of increasing rev-

Oil: An economic key

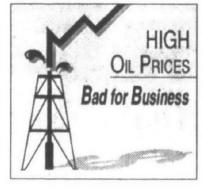

By By R.J. King special writer

The invasion of Kuwait by Iraq has hit home in more ways than the obvious deployment of U.S. men and women to the Middle East.

"Sentiment among economists right now is 2-1 that we will be in a full-scale recession by the end of the year or early next," said Ronald L. Tracy, chairman of the economics department at Oakland University in Rochester.

"The severity of the winter will have a big impact on how bad the economy gets, and if it's really severe, the country could lose thousands of jobs along with billions of dollars in production.

In the minds of most economists, Tracy said the third oil recession since the early 1970s will cause price increases on everything from tires to tulips as businesses pass on higher production and transportation costs

In turn, consumers will find their spending power diminished across the board as higher prices at the pump invariably means demand falls for everything else. As sales decline, businesses cut back investment in new equipment and limit their inventories, spreading the decline further.

And the inflationary impact is magnified as higher prices cause workers to offset their reduced spending power by calling for higher wages, putting further restraints on company ledgers.

IN A HOSTILE economic environment, what sectors of the local economy are likely to be affected by the run-up of oil prices? And how will they respond?

The list includes automotive manufacturers and suppliers, office buildings, schools, universities, shopping malls, grocery stores, and service outlets that deliver, to name a

"Actually I think we can survive this oil crisis a lot better than the last two (in 1973 and 1975)," said Frank Patak, manager of building systems for Kirco Realty & Development Ltd. in Troy, which owns and

Antitrust should be reinvigorated

Locking purchasers into maintenance programs, he said, is a good way of insuring a steady income. The problem, Young said, is it locks out competitors.

This decision sends a clear signal that won't be tolerated," Young said. Third, the award reinforces the basic tenets of the Sherman Antitrust Act, Young said. "This is a harbinger in a very real sense of the word that antitrust laws are a viable tool in keeping the mar-ket open," he said. Enforcement of antitrust laws, he explained, has been lax in the past decade due in large part to its low priority for the presidential administrations during with another was upheld by the courts, specifically when a company holds a patent on a product or when a company has done a great deal of research into a product, he said. and Prime Computers argued this was such an example.

But Prime Computers neither invented CAD/CAM software nor computers, and was thus unable to argue its programs are unique to warrant excluding third-party hardware maintenance firms

Hamood said the case sends a clear signal that unfair trade practices won't be tolerated. "The jury awarded us every single cent we asked for because it was such a clear-cut case of a company trying to prevent competition and carve out a monopoly," he said.

PRIME COMPUTERS contends its hardware and software is so unique that both hardware maintenance and software revisions are really one product and therefore they need to be performed by the same company, he said.

"That argument falls apart because no other computer companies make that claim, Prime was allowing (the Ford Motor Co.) to do its own maintenance, and Virtual Maintenance has already demonstrated it can do the computer maintenance," Hamood said.

"We say the two are distinctly different products," he said.

Rodgers said the case was made more complicated because the old antitrust laws are being applied to a new technology that is only now coming of age.

When the Sherman Antitrust Act was written in the early 1900s, there was no such thing as computers, let alone CAD/CAM, he said. It may be appropriate, he added, to change or update many of the country's older statutes to more accurately reflect "The difference between us and them is depth of merchandise line. They'll have basic items . . . but if you're looking for something unusual, you have to go to guys like us."

A 55-INCH Frankenstein's monster cut-out sells for $2.98, smaller witch and pumpkin cut-outs for less than 50 cents.

"If availability becomes a problem and shortages cause long lines at the pump, then we'll see more people shift to fuel-efficient cars. But right now, it's not a problem."

Because automotive companies make more money from larger cars, Muniga said the industry has learned to insulate itself from sale shocks by producing cars that are lighter, more aerodynamic and more fuel ef-

AS FOR THE SERVICE sector, small businesses that deliver everything from pizza to petunias are feeling an immediate pinch from higher fuel costs.

"In our local market, we've kept delivery costs at $3.95, and that's not likely to rise soon," said Gordon Reno, who with his wife, Linda, owns Wesley Berry of Plymouth Township, a florist shop.

But we use a service to deliver further away, and they've added a 5percent surcharge now, so we've had to add that to the cost of the purchase. We certainly don't like doing that."

Because flowers arrive daily from suppliers, Reno said rising transportation costs are bound to be added to wholesale costs, although prices have remained stable since August when the Middle East crisis began.

Car advertising has been getting a

The straight-forward pitch, whereby you get a catchy jingle and a direct order to buy the car from the star of a major TV show, seems to have disappeared altogether. The counterculture approach, where you got a short, cute understatement about the virtues of a trendy import that left you feeling morally superior if you bought the car, likewise has

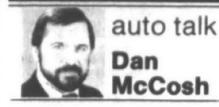

Both these types of ads sold cars, but then somebody notices the jeans

they start out with a pair of pants worth maybe about 12 bucks and star them in a surrealistic TV commercial filled with images that are supposed to make you feel that if you pay about 40 bucks for these pants, you will get to hang out on street corners and a person of the opposite sex will hang all over you.

It seemed inevitable that ads that sell a $12 pair of pants for $40 would drift over into the car business.

Image advertising got a jump start with the Heartbeat of America line at Chevrolet, a series of images (and a catchy jingle) that left you feeling as if you had been to the state fair, with cotton candy still stuck in

THIS SEEMED like a good idea, although you could wander down to your local Chevy dealer a little confused, since a lot of people now had little kids who expected to see elephants instead of a lot of dumb

Then came Joe Isuzu, a series of ads that left you feeling that if you bought this car, you had just bought the Brooklyn Bridge at a considerable discount.

Things really got fuzzy when Volkswagen started singing an incomprehensible song about four Fig Newtons, which baffled even those in their third year of German lessons. Infiniti seemed to be making the statement that if you could afford this car, you really didn't need to drive, but you could sit on the edge of a cliff somewhere and look out lines than with rural Tennessee. over the ocean.

PART OF the trick to image advertising is to match the images with the potential customer's life-

The new Saturn ads are heavy on dogs, children and old guys on front porches in rural Tennessee. Not really so surprising when you consider that the agency that did them, Hal Riney, sold a lot of cheap wine with a couple of old guys sitting on the front steps of a grocery store, but a little strange when you consider that Saturn is supposed to appeal mainly to LA-type women in their early thirties, who up to now have been known to identify more with Navaho art. BMWs and West Coast shore-

SINCE RINEY is from San Francisco, and up on the latest in West Coast trends, he must figure that LA-type women have changed their ways. If this is true, even now there must be a caravan of BMWs with "Shop Till You Drop" bumper stickers headed east in search of the simple life, dogs, children, old men on porches and Saturn cars.

I don't mind admitting I found it a lot simpler when the show ended and the blond lady said MMMMMMMUUUWAAH! and told me to buy a Chevy.

Why our economy is heading down

Last week I argued that our economy is extremely sluggish and may be headed toward a recession. Today I will expand on that theme.

There is an old saying that fluctuations in the stock market parallel the economic trends. There is, of course, no such thing as "the stock market." However, we can make judgments about what is going on in the stock market by analyzing certain key factors.

Price-earnings ratio

This common ratio for evaluating whether an individual stock is cheap or expensive is also applied to the broader market. The current level of the market index, typically the Standard and Poor's 500-stock index, is divided by the past 12 months' preshare earnings of the companies on

A high market P-E means the stocks are highly priced relative to corporate earnings and, thus, are possibly fundamentally weak.

At the end of September, P-E for the S&P 500 was about 16. While that's still well below the P-E ratios of 20 or more that have often prebeded major declines, it is above the long-term average of 13. And it is far higher than the P-Es of 7 or 8 that have often accompanied market troughs.

When the ratio exceeds 15, the stock market is starting to get fully priced. That's particularly true when corporate-earnings prospects are less than robust, as they are now.

Dividend yield

Another way analysts gauge the reasonableness of stock prices is by comparing prices to the dividend income stockholders receive. The key figure is the "dividend yield" of the S&P 500, the annualized dividend income provided by the underlying stocks as a percentage of the index

The current S&P yield is 3.4 percent. Like the market P-E, that's much closer to a sell signal than it is to a buy signal. Whenever it has gone below 3 percent, as was the case in October 1987, the market has invariably sold off.

The indicator has averaged about 4.5 percent over the past several decades. A dividend yield of 5 percent or 6 percent is generally considered a buying opportunity.

Market breadth

It is appropriate to call this factor as "Dow Jones Industrial Average vs. the rest of the 'stock-market' world." Various ways to measure

"breadth" show that a climb in the 30-stock Dow Jones Industrial Average over the past year wasn't accompanied by a comparable advance in the broader stock market.

That lack of breadth is a classic warning sign, because the broad market generally pulls those selected winners down

One of the easiest ways for investors to monitor breadth is to compare the percentage changes over time of various market indexes. While the Dow Jones Industrial Average has climbed 10 percent over the past 12 months, the S&P 500 has advanced just 3.6 percent, and the NASDAQ composite index of overthe-counter stocks has declined 3.3

Trading volume

Volume tells you the conviction behind a move. As the Dow climbed * toward 3,000, volume was not con-

Analysts say that they would be more bullish about the Dow if the daily trading volume on the big board had remained consistently above 200 million shares as the average made its recent move from 2,900 toward 3,000. We had a couple of good volume days, but it was eventually not sustained.

So, the prognosis is clear: Despite recent gains the stock market also signals a troubled future. If this trend concerns you, then you should seek professional advice at the earliest possible opportunity.

Most small businesses can write better sales letters

As a freelance writer and marketing consultant, I am frequently asked to prepare company propos-als, brochures and other written materials for organizations of all sizes. Regardless of the project, one ques-tion never fails to come up: "How can we write better sales letters?"

Unlike letters addressed to individuals, sales letters are designed to reach large numbers of current and potential customers at the same time. They must capture readers' attention and interest while further convincing them to do whatever it is you have asked. As a result, writing better sales letters requires much more than a unique writing style to be effective. The following guide-lines will help those who want assistance in this area.

Before you start, put yourself in the right frame of mind. Anyone who receives promotional material ex-pects to be sold on something and will throw your letter out if they have to waste time trying to discover what it is that you want. The pur-pose of any sales letter is to sell the audience - and to sell them right

Next, the opening of the letter can make or break its overall effect. It is at this point where recipients decide focus: small business Mary to keep on reading or file your letter into the wastebasket. Any opening remarks, headlines or introductory paragraphs must get attention and arouse interest if you want your audience to read one

Little-known facts, "startling" statistics and quotable quotes that DIPaolo pertain directly to the point of your letter would be appropriate to use in this section. And whatever you do, don't start off your letter with salutations such as "Dear Loyal Customer," "Dear Neighbor," or another meaningless greeting. It's already obvious to the reader that a sales letter is not a personal letter.

Maintaining reader attention until the letter ends is a trickier proposition, yet it is possible when you make your point immediately, ex-pand upon it and wrap it up. Don't waste words or include additional information that causes you to stray from your original point. If you want your material to promote a particular product or service of your business, don't confuse your readers by mentioning everything else that you offer. Your company brochure is meant to be used for this purpose, not your sales letters.

Also plan your letter so it will be written from the readers' point of view. Why should readers call you for an appointment, visit your sh or buy your product/service? What makes you any different (and better) than the competition? How reput-able are you? The answer to these questions explaining the benefits of doing business with you ensures that your sales letters will be written from the proper perspective.

It's a challenge

A big musical requires lots of effort behind scenes

Jerry McCray and Becky MacIntyre rehearse a scene from the Bloomfield Players production of the musical "Hello, Dolly!"

By Cathle Breidenbach special writer

OES ANYBODY have artificial roast chicken to spare for two weekends, or a plastic salad guaranteed not to wilt under lights?

Margie Montross, director and choreographer, is scavenging for plastic food to ride atop trays carried by eight dancing waiters in "Hello, Dolly!" musical production staged by the new Bloomfield Players Community Theatre. Performances will be Thursday-Sunday, Oct. 26-28, and Friday-Sunday, Nov. 2-4, at the Lahser High School auditorium in Bloomfield Hills.

Montross' biggest challenge in casting the show was finding eight male dancers to play the waiters. "I begged for men," she says. Then she had to juggle rehearsal schedules so all eight could work on the split-second timing of routines.

Last week, as the cast prepared for opening night Friday, the waiters were perfecting their duel with shish-kebab skewers and practicing how to dance carrying trays rigged with elastic on the bottom.

THEATER THRIVES on illusion. The chickens may be plastic, plates of food may be glued so they can't slide and the waiters may have elastic handles so they can't drop the trays, but as long as they carry the trays horizontally, the illusion pre-vails of waiters deftly balancing heavy trays of piping-hot-food while they execute fancy footwork. "You're gonna love my waiters," says director Montross.

Finding fake-food chickens is one of the myriad details of launching a big musical production like "Dolly!" The show boasts a 19-piece orchestra led by Valerie Palmieri, who teaches orchestra at Lahser High School. The set crew built an elaborate, lighted runway designed by Bob Pullar, a retired architect in Mature Minglers, and Montross will fill the Lahser High School stage with 54h on stage and behind the scenes is the aim of the Bloomfield Players. June Hamilton, director of the Recreation and Community Services Division of the Bloomfield Hills School District, says, "We want children, teens, adults and seniors. Our objective is for people to have fun."

The community theater group is sponsored by the Bloomfield Hills School District. Hamilton hopes to get the word out that everybody is welcome, even those whose only stage experience was walk-on parts long ago but ever since have yearned to make their stage comeback.

"You don't have to come in with a resume of 40 productions to try out," Hamilton says. Bloomfield Players is so serious about involving many people in the fun and the family feeling of putting on a production that it has been known to invent street scenes to give more players a chance to bask in the warmth of stage lights and to take their bows at the final uds the open auditions decision we want to encourage the Bloofield people, but if you close casting, you miss some great talent and the spark that comes with it. Open casting keeps it fresh, keeps it from becom-ing a stale group. This is the best of all worlds."

"We don't want to be elitist," says Hamilton, "so everyone can audition, but we want quality. I think we can be comparable to Stagecrafters and the (Birmingham) Village Players."

The new community theater group was launched last winter by a citizens advisory commission of the Bloomfield Hils Schools. Its January production of "The Music Man" starred local dentist Dr. Larry Miller as Harold Hill, and was well attended. Many who played in "The Music Man" have returned to be cast in "Dolly!" including Becky MacIntyre who plays the lead role of Dolly The lineup of past and future shows attests to the popularity of musicals with audiences of all ages. Last winter the Bloomfield Players brought "The Music Man" to town; Dolly, the matchmaker, takes center stage this fall, and "South Pacific" and "Fiddler on the Roof" are the two shows for next year. The council points out that all future productions need not be musicals.

Hamilton says they chose to launch the new theater group with upbeat shows likely to bring box office success. "We wanted crowd pleasers although they're more expensive to produce because of royalties. People like musicals."

THE NEW volunteer group is working to build a reputation and sell enough tickets to cover production costs. "Our objective is to break even," says Hamilton, but for the first couple of years Bloomfield Schools plans to subsidize the group by offering a stipend to the producer, the director, the orchestra conductor and the vocal director. 'Hopefully that won't continue after we develop our own cadre of people," she says.

Executive producer Hamilton hires the artistic and management people from resumes and interviews. Once she hires the staff, she lets them handle the creative decisions of putting on a show and stays only peripherally involved in productions.

Seed money for the new group comes from the Bloomfield Hills millage which voters renewed last 'We want to offer both passive and active reaction options," Hamilton explains. Nobody implies that the rigors of acting or building sets is passive, but compared to runaround sports like soccer, a broader segment of the community can take part in a musical production than can play in youth sports.

The citizens advisory commission wanted to diversify offerings of the Recreation and Community Services Division in part because, "Most resi-dents don't have children in schools." Hamilton says that they wanted programs supported by millage money to address the needs of the whole population of the district.

The commission focused on theater arts as a rich field for commu nity involvement. The department now offers three youth theater groups, the Candy Apple Players for pre-schoolers through second grade, the Knapsack Players for grades three through five and the Rising Stars for grades six through eight.

THE GROUPS take their shows on tour to at least two schools in the district. Junior thespians trained by these groups appeared in "The Music Man," and the hope is the classes will feed young talent to the Bloomfield Players. To encourage older performers, Bloomfield Hills runs a series of workshops on acting, dancing, and how to audition and be suc-

As clearly as she knows that she doesn't want to mimic other produc-tions, Montross knows she likes to make audiences feel part of the action of the show. It's part of her directing style.

"I like to break the barriers" (between players and audience), she says. In "Dolly!" the players parade down the aisles from the back of the house and the vivacious Dolly stops along her route to pass out business cards and greet people in the audience. And what do audience members say as she smiles her irrestible smile and shakes their hands? What else but - "Hello, Dolly!"

Season's opener a new beginning

Performances of "Arms and the Man" continue through Saturday, Nov. 10, at the Trinity House Theatre in Livonia. For ticket information, call 464-6302.

By Victoria Diaz special writer

The Trinity House Theatre opened its 10th season Friday night with "Arms and the Man," George Bernard Shaw's incisive, classic comedy about the follies of war and roman-

The production, directed by Trinity's new artistic director, Peter Senkbeil, represents a promising start of the season for the Livoniabased group, which plans to expand to professional theater within the next five years. In "Arms and the Man," Serbian officer Captain Bluntschil, fleeing Bulgarian forces during the Serbian-Bulgarian war, takes refuge in the bedroom of a young Bulgarian lady. Raina Petkoff What results from this temporary sanctuary is a treat for play-goers. It is also typically Shavian - often perfectly serious at the same time that it is uproariously comic.

AS THE good-humored Serbian officer with a weakness for chocolate creams and an intolerance for the romantic glorification of war, Jeff Hedeen turns in a highly engaging performance.

His stage presence, sense of comedic timing and remarkable way with Shaw's memorable lines make him a pleasure to watch and listen

As the rather silly and saccharine Raina, Julie Cullen does a good job in an often unappealing role that calls for a lot of fluttering eyelashes, pouty looks, empty-headed smiles and oh,-I'm-so-mad-I'm-going-tostamp-my-pretty-little-foot-again histrionics.

In the role of Raina's laughably insufferable fiance, Sergius, Jim Lisoski has his moments, as do Art McCoy playing her blustery, bewildered father; Linda Parolini as the spirited household servant, Luoka; R. Edward Anderson as Nicola, another servant; and Maggie Hineman as Raina's overwrought mother (although one wonders why, in this small theater Hineman persists in shouting so many of her lines).

Gary Brda as a frustrated Russian officer searching for the elusive Bluntschli does a lot with a small comedic role.

As any other legal agreement, the prepaid or preneed funeral contract is a binding document between the buyer and the seller. It should state that funeral goods and services brought and paid for before death will be delivered at the time of death. Funeral goods are items such as urns, caskets and burial clothing. Services are such things as collection, preparation and viewing of the body and the use of a hearse. Purchasers should have the goods and services itemized and described in detail in the written contract. Cemetery plots however must be purchased in separate transactions.

Anyone registered with the De-

William Leo Cahalan,

Q. My wife and I are thinking of partment of Licensing & Regulation may sell prepaid contracts. To make certain you are working with a legitimate salesperson you should ask for the seller's registration number. The seller may also charge a commission of up to 10 percent of the contract price that is nonrefundable. You may find that the seller is not the same person that will deliver the goods and services stipulated in the contract. In this instance, the person who does supply what has been ordered is known as the provider. The provider must be identified by name in the written contract. Monies received as payment for prepaid funeral contract, with the exception of the commission, are put into escrow. That is the funds must be deposited in a bank, credit union or other insured financial institution or, if the buyer agrees and signs a separate paragraph in the contract, with a cemetery or mortician's association of 250 or more members. The escrow agents are the only parties who may invest or disburse the escrowed money. Buyers must be provided the name and address of the escrow agent and notified of any change in that agent. There are two different types of prepaid contracts and the contract must indicate, in writing, the type you are buying. There is a guaranteed price contract which allows the buyer to select the exact goods and services wanted and pay for them at the time of purchase. The goods and services must be delivered as ordered at the time of death regardless of whether costs have increased. If the contracted goods and services are no longer available, then items of equal quality must be substituted. If there is any money left in the escrow account after the goods and services have been delivered, then the remainder goes to the provider.

and services desired and pay an amount toward their purchase. If at the time of death the escrowed purchase money, plus any income it has generated, is equal to or more than the cost of the goods and services, they will be supplied. If the amount is less than the quantity or quality of the goods and services will be reduced unless additional money is provided by the family or other

Prepaid contracts may be cancelled. To cancel before the death of the beneficiary, the buyer must send written 30-day notice to the seller of a nonguaranteed price contract or to the provider of a guaranteed price contract. Contract may be cancelled after the death of the beneficiary upon notice to the seller of a non-guaranteed price contract or the provider of a guaranteed rice contract by the person who bought the contract, the deceased's heirs or the person legally entitled to make arrangements. Contract sellers or providers may cancel prepaid funeral contracts only if a contract being paid for in installments is ninety days oro more in default or if the buyer has violated the terms of the prepaid agreement.

The Michigan Legislature, in order to protect the citizens of our state, enacted the "Prepaid Funeral Contract Funding Act of 1986." This law applies to all prepaid funeral contracts signed on or after July 1, 1987 and is administered by the Michigan Department of Licensing & Regulation. It is this department's job to make certain that all the regulations mentioned in this article are complied with by the sellers of prepaid or preneed funeral contacts.

Here's some health facts

 A patient's severe allergic re-action to Heartwise cereal was recently reported in the medical literature. This incident prompted the Kellogg Co. to put a "health warn-ing" on boxes of the psyllium-based cereal.

· Fire fighting, one of the most dangerous and demanding occupations, is associated with a considerable number of fatalities each year. Many of these deaths are due to heart attacks.

· Heart-lung fitness, as measured by the maximal oxygen consumption, generally decreases by about one percent per year. Since an exercise program will generally increase this variable by about 20 percent, the physically trained 60-year old may actually achieve the same fitness level as the inactive 40-year old (figure). In other words, regular exercise can lead to a 20-year functional rejuvenation in this respect!

rants have now moved into several hospitals across the nation. Needless to say, these restaurants are strongly promoting their "healthy" menu items like salads and broiled chicken

· At the Cleveland Clinic, the average age of heart surgery patients has increased by 10 years over the past decade. This is attributed, at least in part, to the fact that surgical techniques for treating heart disease in older patients have vastly improved.

· A just-published study showed that comprehensive lifestyle changes can actually reverse heart disease, without the use of cholesterol-lowering drugs. Patients in the ex-perimental group agreed to make major lifestlye changes that included a low-fat vegetarian diet, stopping smoking, stress management training, and moderate exercise. Overall, 82 percent of the people who made these changes showed some reduction in their coronary blockage after only one year.

How to save a bundle.

Each one of us throws out almost 1200 pounds of trash every year, and America is running out of places to put it. Much of this trash, over 40%, is paper — one of the easiest materials to recycle.

For many households, saving old newspapers is an easy way to begin the recycling habit. Simply: (1) Separate your newspapers from the other trash. (2) Sort out hard-to-recycle slick inserts and magazines. (3) Bundle the newspapers and take them to your local recycling center.

To learn more about recycling and other everyday things you can do to help keep the environment safe and clean, stop by your neighborhood M-CARE Health Center now through October 29th for a free copy of our new booklet, Earth Care: What's good for the Earth is good for your health.

And while you're here, pick up a free, reusuable, string University of Michigan shopping bag. Because if every shopper took just one less paper bag each week, we could save hundreds of millions of bags each year.

Wdowiak. The Rocks escaped with a 4-3 victory. See Page 4D for story on that game.

Chargers, Vella oust Salem, 2-1

By Brad Emons staff writer

Livonia Churchill forward Dominic Vella found a crack in Plymouth Salem's vaunted "Iron Curtain" defense Wednesday, scoring both goals in the host Chargers' emotion-filled 2-1 victory in a key Class A district semifinal matchup.

Churchill, now 12-1-2 overall, moves on to Saturday's district championship game against Dear-born Edsel Ford. (Game time is 1 p.m. at Redford Union's Kraft

Both of Vella's goals occurred during the first half of action.

The junior scored on a header from linemate Dario Rauker just three minutes and 24 seconds into the game. Tom Baker then tied it for Salem on a header off a corner kick from Joe Nunez with 24:36 left in the half, but Vella scored what proved to be the game-winner with 10:58 remaining until halftime on a cross from Mike Gentile, who had stolen the ball away from a stunned Salem defender.

It was only two days ago, in Monday's 6-0 district-opening win over city rival Franklin, that Churchill coach Mark Mason revamped his lineup, moving Rauker and Gentile up front from their midfield postions to complement Vella.

"THIS GAME I got a lot of help from those two guys and they played great," said Vella. "This is only our second game with this set-up, but we worked well together.

"Dario and Michael are both attacking midfielders, but with them on my right and left wings, I've got more freedom to get the ball. Before I had to work more to get goals, but because of them and the way our keeper (Jeff Cassar) played, everything turned out great."

Stevenson in district finals

Matt Grodzicki, on an assist from Jeff Thomas, scored 12 minutes into sudden-death overtime to give Livonia Stevenson a 1-0 Class A boys district soccer win Wednesday at Northville.

It was Grodzicki's fifth goal of the playoffs.

The Spartans, now 13-1-3 overall, will meet Birmingham Groves, a 4-2 semifinal winner over Farmington, in Saturday's final (1 p.m. at Northville).

Stevenson held a wide margin in shots on goal (25-4) and corner kicks (18-2), but had trouble beating Northville goalie Larry Osiecki. Meanwhile, Scott Plagenhoef recorded the shutout for Stevenson.

"It was a great defensive effort by Northville. They deserve a lot of credit," said first-year Stevenson coach Walt Barrett.

It was more than a four-man show, however, for the Chargers.

Nobody could argue that Churchill's defense - led by Scott Lamphear, Tim Riley, Laun Johnson and Jeremy Banks - rose to the oc-

They shut down Salem's dangerous restart schemes, particularly in the second half after Gentile missed the final 41 minutes of play with a deep contusion on his thigh.

"Salem likes a high aerial attack," said Mason. "Sometimes we're not tall enough to handle them. I held my breath every time they had a corner kick.

"But our defense played well and our midfielders, Aaron Sawicky and Eric Shamberger - who we moved up from defense because he likes to rush the ball up anyway - did a fantastic job. They deserve some cred-

SALEM APPLIED heavy pressure most of the second half, missing a golden opportunity to tie it when Phil LaJoy's shot hit the crossbar with 10:39 remaining.

"The ball bobbed all around their goalie, but we couldn't quite get it up in there," said Salem coach Ken Johnson, whose team bowed out with a 16-2-1 overall record. "I thought Cassar saved them in the first half. Their keeper made some key saves and that's one of the differences in a game like this. On any given day we're so close with Churchill. We had a tough time each time we played them. They marked up well and Vella was tough on us. He collected the ball very well."

It was the third meeting between the two teams - all held at Churchill - in a span of three weeks. The first meeting (Oct. 3) ended in a 1-1 tie. And only seven days ago, Salem claimed its first-ever Western Lakes Activities Association crown with a 2-0 win over the Chargers.

"I think we were up and we played a good game, but Churchill is a tough team and now I think they go to the finals," said Johnson, who led the Rocks to last year's Class A final before losing to Troy Athens.

Meanwhile, for Mason the win provided a big sigh of relief.

"Now we're over a big hurdle I think we can relax a little bit," said Mason. "But I know we've got some tough games ahead."

Canton-Salem clash has big-game appeal

By Dan O'Meara staff writer

Thinking about this year's Canton-Salem football game is like a deja vu experience.

The circumstances are nearly identical to those preceding the 1989 contest, which generated the most pre-game interest of any previous meeting between the traditional ri-

And the 1990 game holds no less suspense and anticipation in the hours leading to Friday's 7:30 p.m. kickoff at Centennial Educational

As was the situation last year, both teams enter the season finale with fine won-loss records, as runners-up in their divisions of the Western Lakes Activities Association and with post-season play a possibility for both. All of which adds to the pride factor that will be at stake.

Unlike last year, when each had only one loss, Canton is one game ahead of Salem at 7-1 overall. The Rocks are 6-2.

"IT WOULD be a heckuva ballgame even if there weren't so many things riding on it," Canton coach Bob Khoenle said. "It just enhances

If the pre-game similarities are striking, the teams hope the results are not entirely the same as last

The Chiefs, ahead in the playoff ratings, most likely would have qualified but were knocked out when Salem rolled to a 25-6 victory. Despite making up a lot of ground on the last weekend, the Rocks failed to qualify by a narrow margin.

Canton is No. 5 in Class AA Region II this week and, with a win and a little help, could be among the four teams that qualify. Like last year, Salem is down the line at No. 8 and would need a win and plenty of help, but last year showed it's not outside the realm of possibility.

But first things first, and that means neither team is thinking beyond Friday night.

"All we have to do is take care of what we can," Khoenle said, "and that is to play the game and win it. Everything else will take care of itfootball self. You can't worry about all the other things. You'll go crazy.'

SALEM COACH Tom Moshimer, whose ballclub trails the fourthplace team in the region, Redford Catholic Central, by 121/2 points, believes the same.

"Our attitude is it's the last game on the schedule," he said. "If something happens beyond that, great. For us, it's a matter of playing the last game and, obviously, we'd like to beat them as much as anybody

If Canton was expected to be in this position at the end of the season, with a winning record and on the verge of making the playoffs, Salem

With talented and experienced players back, it was assumed the Chiefs would have a strong team. But the Rocks, who were 8-1 with a senior team last year, producing another fine season is one of the remarkable achievements in the 1990 campaign. "I think Salem is coming on and peaking at the right time," Khoenle "The Salem staff has done a tremendous job with a young team. Considering all the people they lost, look where they're at. They're here and that's a credit to Tom and his The Rocks started 1-2, losing consecutive games to Northville and Westland John Glenn. But they've won five straight, including a return match with Northville last week. "WE WERE young and inexperienced, and we didn't know how fast we'd come around," Moshimer said. "We probably improved more than anyone because we were a young team - and we did that. We're a very good team now. "(The Chiefs) started out knowing they'd be a good team, and they've improved every week, too. They're a different team than the one that played Farmington Harrison early in the year.

A reason the Chiefs were expected to be good was quarterback Karl Wukie, who has passed for 946 yards and 11 touchdowns while completing 54 of 112 passes. He is also the team's leading rusher with 525 yards and 10 touchdowns on 63 carries.

Fullback Chris James (493 yards and four TDs) and tailback Jason Riggs (350 yards and five TDs, including two passing) are also talented players. Brett Howell has become a big-play threat at wide receiver, too. He's caught 28 passes for 614 yards and nine TDs.

"I think we have enough weapons they have to be concerned," Khoenle said, "and not just with Wukie, James and Riggs but the Howell factor, throwing to him.

The big difference is the offensive line, which is a credit to coach (Ernie) Krumm. We've got kids in there playing their first year and others who moved from other positions. They're doing a great job and, of course, we've had great play from the skill people.'

JUNIOR TAILBACK Leon Hister is the offensive star for Salem, having rushed for school records of 968 yards and 18 touchdowns on 133 carries. Rich Hewlett had 904 yards and 15 TDs in 1978

Suspense surrounds final week of season

By by Dan O'Meara and Brad Emone staff writers

HE 1990 HIGH school football season is going down to the wire on two fronts. The last weekend of the regular season holds the key for area teams hoping to make the post-season playoffs.

But undoubtedly of greater interest to fans and readers alike, Week No. 9 will determine this year's prognostication — not to be confused with procrastination — champion. Which sports editor will have office bragging rights for the next year — Brad Emons or Dan O'Meara?

Five of the 12 games involving Observerland teams this week have playoff implications.

Westland John Glenn, Wayne Memorial, Plymouth Canton, Plymouth Salem, Farmington Hills Harrison, Redford Bishop Borgess and Redford Catholic Central are either headed for post-season play, can clinch a playoff berth or greatly enhance their chances by winning the last game.

Glenn and Wayne play each other, and Canton and Salem meet in their annual season finale. So two area teams will benefit at the expense of other area squads.

Harrison will probably still qualify in the unlikely event of an upset by host Standish-Sterling, a 3-5 team.

Borgess and CC have uphill battles Sunday against Birmingham Brother Rice and Detroit DePorres, respectively, in the Catholic League's annual Prep Bowl at the Pontiac Silverdome.

On the prediction scene, O'Meara enters the final weekend with a two-game lead over Emons.

O'Meara went 13-2 last week while Emons was 11-4, breaking the previous stalemate. For the season, O'Meara is 97-23 and Emons 95-25.

After a poor showing in September, O'Meara has rallied in October. Surely, it must have been the midseason vacation that cleared the cobwebs from the crystal ball (or should we say the brain).

Perhaps he really did return from the Auld Sod with an unfair advantage, the leprechauns acceding to his pleas for help in his bid to unseat defending champion Emons.

O'Meara figures he can't lose now, not with the mothers of the Harrison football players rooting for him. Emons is a formidable opponent, however, and at least two thirds of this week's games can be considered toss-ups.

For a closer look at who's favored and who's not this week, read on:

FRIDAY'S GAMES (all games at 7:30 p.m.)

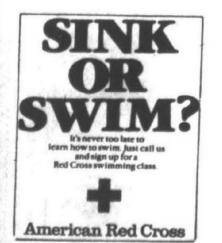

Red. Thurston at Liv. Clarenceville: The host Trojans (4-4) finished fifth in the eight-team Metro Conference (3-4) and Thurston sixth in the Tri-River League (2-5). The Eagles are 2-6 for the season. Clarenceville lost 18-6 to Lutheran East last week, while Thurston is coming off a 14-6 loss to Crestwood. PICK: Kendrick Harrington leads the Trojans to a winning season, according to O'Meara, but Emons likes Thurston's chances.

Liv. Churchill at Liv. Stevenson: The Spartans also hope to finish above .500 after edging Walled Lake Western 14-11 last week and improving to 4-4. Churchill has one last chance to register its first victory. Farmington did that last week when it beat the Chargers 21-13. PICK: Stevenson isn't too sympathetic to Churchill's plight, both agree.

Liv. Franklin at Garden City: The Patriots have won two in a row, including a 21-6 win over Walled Lake Central last week, and would like to end the year at 4-5. Garden City was shut out by Clarkston 45-0, falling to 3-5. PICK: Ben would be proud of Franklin's finish, both agree.

Wayne Memorial at Westland Glenn: The Rockets (7-1) were stunned by Harrison in the Western Lakes Activities Association championship game Saturday (29-0) and don't want to lose back-toback games. Furthermore, the Rockets have the playoffs for motivation, but so does Wayne. The Zebras (6-2) were third in Class AA Region II but dropped after losing to Monroe. They're in a must-win situation and must have help in addition. Glenn was No. 1 in the same region but stands a good chance if it wins. Everybody in the region has two losses except for Glenn, Canton, Battle Creek Central and Ypsilanti - all once-beaten teams. PICK: Both see the Rockets finishing 8-1.

Farmington at Redford Union: Farmington (1-7) got its first win for first-year coach Bernie Call last week and could make it two straight to end the season. The Panthers (2-6) were beaten 27-6 by Waterford Mott, but they still count a victory over Dearborn Edsel Ford among their successes. PICK: RU takes a turn at winning, both agree.

Pty. Canton at Pty. Salem: A win almost certainly puts Canton (7-1) in the playoffs. Even with a loss, the Chiefs might qualify, but they'd be pressing their luck. The Rocks (6-2) have an outside chance at making the playoffs, but a victory is absolutely necessary. The situation entering this game parallels that of a year ago. Both teams were 7-1, but Canton was higher in the playoff ratings. In that game, Salem rocked the Chiefs 25-6 and barely missed making the playoffs itself. PICK: Both cast a vote for Canton.

N. Farmington at South Lyon: This game is one of those toss-ups. At least, that's the way it appears on paper. North has lost to Salem and Canton the last two weeks and slipped to 4-4. The Lions also are 4-4 but upset Novi 23-14 a week ago and dealt the Wildcats' Class A playoff hopes a possible fatal blow. South Lyon ended up 3-3 in the Kensington Valley

grid predictions

More football, 5-7D

Conference. PICK: Emons goes with the Raiders. O'Meara takes his chances with the Lions.

W.L. Western at W.L. Central: The home team has scored first and won each of the last three meetings between these two teams. The Vikings have the better record at 2-6. But the Warriors (1-7) have the edge in talent with Jeff Kubik and Chad Pifer leading the charge. PICK: It's unanimous. The home streak is snapped as the Warriors pull it out.

SATURDAY'S GAMES

Det. Lutheran West at Luth. Westland, 1 p.m.: Lutheran West (6-2) crushed Cranbrook 42-6 last week to finish third in the Metro Conference. The host Warriors (5-3) pummeled North Branch Westeyan last week, Lutheran Westland will have to stop running back Damon Butler, who rushed for 183 yards and two TDs in West's victory. PICK: The Leopards win this match between fellow Lutherans, both agree.

Farm. Harrison at Standish-Sterling, 4 p.m.: The Hawks (7-1) caused a lot of people to believe in them again after their impressive win over Glenn. Standish is a Class B school with an enrollment of 580. The Panthers defeated Saginaw Buena Vista 31-20 last week but are only 3-5 for the year. Standish played other tough teams, losing to Chesaning and Pinconning, both unbeaten teams in Class BB Region I. PICK: O'Meara and Emons agree: It's Harrison hands down.

Red. St. Agatha vs. Det. Holy Redeemer, 7:30 p.m. at RU's Kraft Fleid: it's been a tough year for St. Agatha, which dropped to 1-7 in letting Dearborn St.-Alphonsus take its first win last week, 14-13. Holy Redeemer (1-7) is still trying to build a program after not playing football for some years. The Lions lost to Wyandotte Mount Carmel 13-6 last week and defeated Cardinal Mooney for their only win. PICK: The Aggles still have enough to beat Holy Redeemer, both agree.

SUNDAY'S GAMES

Red. Bishop Borgess vs. Birm. Brother Rice, 1 p.m. at the Silverdome: It will be a bit like old times when the Spartans (6-2) meet Rice (6-2). Borgess, a former Central Division member now in the Tri-Sectional, was tri-champion with Saginaw Nouvel and Orchard Lake St. Mary's but got the playoff nod because of a better point differential. The Warriors have lost only to Ypelianti and CC. The playoffs enter the picture here, too. Rice was fourth in its region last week and should qualify in Class B Region IV a week ago, definitely needs a victory and could jump considerably by beating a Class A team with six wins. PICK: Rice goes to the playoffs instead.

Red. Catholic Central vs. Det. De-Porres, 7 p.m. at the Silverdome: The Catholic League championship is at stake in this game, a rematch of an earlier meeting this season. DePorres (8-0) won that game 8-0. The Eagles, who are in the Class CC playoffs, have enough points to qualify as a AA team in some regions. The Shamrocks (6-2) definitely need a win to qualify in Class AA Region II, but they'll need some help from other teams if they do. PICK: Emons predicts CC to evenge its loss to DePorres. The Eagles' speed on the carpet will be too hard to stop, says C'Means.

Plymouth Salem guard Christy Parimucha and Livonia Franklin guard Dawn Warner angrily starred into each other's eyes, looking more like a couple of boxers than basketball players.

This scenario was typical of Tuesday's Western Lakes Activities Association showdown between unbeaten Salem and host Franklin. It took a pair of Emily Giuliani free throws in overtime, to give Salem its

50-46 win. "Anytime you play Plymouth Salem, you have to expect a physical game,"

Franklin coach Dan Freeman said. "I was pleased with the way our girls responded to the physical nature of the game.

Franklin led 44-43 with just over a minute to play in regulation time when Giuliani sank one of her two free throws to tie the score at 44 and send the game into overtime

Then, with 1:13 left in overtime and the game deadlocked at 46, Giuliani knocked down a pair of free throws to give Salem a 48-46 lead. Parimucha added two from the charity stripe with 35 seconds remaining to secure the

'WE HAD SOME close games in our non-league schedule and I think that helped us to pull this one out," Salem coach Fred Thomann said. "We knew Franklin was going to be ready for us coming in and I like the way we responded to that."

Salem improves its record to 14-2 overall and 10-0 in the WLAA. The Patriots are 12-3, 7-3.

"Salem has a lot of experience in pulling those games out," Freeman said. "They knew what they had to do."

One of Franklin's biggest problems was containing Salem center Darcie Miller, who seemed to slip by the defense for easy layups. She finished the game with a team-high 15 points.

We didn't confront her like we should have on defense," Freeman said. "A lot of our post players are playing for the first time this year - they'll learn. I definitely didn't like the way she was getting open all the time."

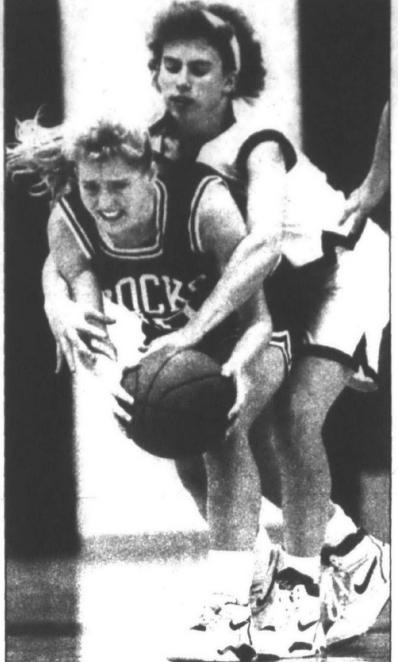

SALEM WAS forced to overcome the loss of senior guard Sarah Ruete throughout much of the second half. With 2:21 remaining in the third quarter, Ruete took a hard fall to the floor, resulting in a head and arm injury.

"This team knows how to tackle adversity and they did that in the second half tonight," Thomann said. "Sarah was a big loss for us, especially in a

The game was close from the beginning with Franklin taking a slim 29-24 lead at halftime. The game had tie scores of 32, 39, 41 and 44 in the second Sophomore guard Yolanda Jackson contributed nine points to the Salem offense, five of which came in the first half.

Warner paced the Patriots with 15 points and six rebounds. Senior forward Julianne Stesiak chipped in with 12 points, while senior center Jenny Mayle had 10 points and eight rebounds.

Dawn Warner goes over the back of Salem guard Christy Parmucha and commits a foul in Tuesday's WLAA game. The Rocks won 50-46 in overtime.

Davidson wins Class B crown

By Dan O'Meara staff writer

Winning her second straight state singles championship was a bitter-sweet experience for Farmington Hills Harrison senior Kori Davidson. Actually, it was more sweet than

The thrill of defending her Class B title was "awesome," but it also signaled the end of Davidson's illustrious high school career.

"I was so happy but I was so sad, because it was my last high school match," said Davidson, who defeated Sarah Akhtar of Bloomfield Hills Kingswood 6-1, 6-0 in the final Saturday at Holland Christian High

"I was up 40-love and thinking about the last point. It went to deuce, and I couldn't decide if I wanted it to end or not. But it was too cold to stay out there any longer."

DAVIDSON, WHO led the Hawks to a fifth-place finish in team competition, breezed through the tournament, winning eight sets and losing just six games.

More difficult than actually repeating as state champion was the mental challenge of living up to others' expectations. Having won as a junior, Davidson was the odds-on favorite all year to win again.

"The competition was easier, but the pressure was a lot harder," she said. "It was probably the best I've

My serve was better than it's ever been. It's been the worst part of my game, but it was the best it's been in the last seven years.

"It was close during some games," she said. "It just didn't show in the score, because I played well on some key points."

Davidson started her bid for a repeat by blanking Imlay City's Vesha Pollack 6-0, 6-0. She whipped Wendy Miller of St. Joseph 6-2, 6-0 and Mo Bertsch of East Grand Rapids 6-1, 6-2 to reach the final.

"SHE'S AMAZING," Harrison coach Bernie Goldstein said. "She just played incredibly good tennis, and there was no competition for her. These other girls are good tennis players, too. She beat the Kingswood girl 6-1, 6-0, and she was the secondbest player there."

Goldstein didn't hesitate in saying Davidson is the all-time best tennis player he's coached at Harrison boy or girl.

"I used to think we had a couple boys in the past who could play with her, but they couldn't beat her," he

"The only difference between her and the top-ranked boys is their serve. They can get more power on the serve. Otherwise, she hits as hard as they do baseline to baseline."

The Hawks, ranked No. 3 in Class B most of the year, finished fifth for the second consecutive year.

Kingswood repeated as state champ with 25 points. Sturgis (21), Battle Creek Lakeview (20), East Grand Rapids (19) and Harrison (18) rounded out the top five.

"I THOUGHT we could have done better, but fifth in the state is pretty good," Goldstein said. "There was more balance this year. We scored three more points than we did last year and finished in the same place."

Harrison's Jill Barringer reached the semifinals at No. 4 singles but lost 6-3, 6-2 to Emanuelle Leif of Lakeview, an exchange student from

All the other Harrison players -Merrilyn Onisko and Lisa Tomle in singles; Julie Heist, Jodie Whitehead, Melissa Prendergast, Kristie Cornwell Jill Rosenthal and Julie Gibbs in doubles - got to the quarterfinals.

"That's why we finished fifth," Goldstein said. "We got points out of everybody. It was definitely a team

Davidson, Onisko, Rosenthal and Gibbs are the only seniors on this year's team.

Chiefs strike quickly, rout Glenn The first quarter told the story

Tuesday for the Plymouth Canton girls basketball team, which used a 21-11 start to record a 70-48 triumph over visiting Westland John Glenn.

We got out in the first quarter and got some easy shots," said Canton coach Bob Blohm, whose team improved to 10-5 overall, 7-2 in the Western Lakes Activities Association. "They closed in in the second, but we had a great third quarter. We did a good job of getting the ball down in the post." Stephanie Gray was the power in the post for Canton, which increased its 10-point lead after one quarter to 14 (35-21) at the half and to 20 (53-33) entering the final period. Gray, a sophomore, poured in 27 points; Julie Nicastri added 14. Glenn, which fell to 5-11 overall and to 2-8 in the WLAA, got a solid coring performance from Cathy Mruk, who netted 20 points. Carrie Rachwal added 12.

MERCY 56, DIVINE CHILD 42: A 17-4 third-quarter outburst supplied Farmington Hills Mercy with a 20point cushion entering the final quarter, and the Marlins maintained it Tuesday at Dearborn Divine Child.

Laure DeMattia's 19 points fueled the Mercy attack. Carrie Walton added 12. Divine Child got 12 points from Rhonda McAllester.

The win boosted Mercy's record to 12-4 overall, 5-3 in the Catholic League's Central Division. Divine girls basketball

Child slipped to 0-8 in the division, 6-10 overall.

PLY. CHRISTIAN 32, BETHES-DA 31: Tamara Tilly collected 13 points and 14 rebounds to lift Plymouth Christian past Warren Bethesda Tuesday in Warren.

The Eagles (10-3 overall, 4-2 in the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference) overcame a 28-24 deficit after three quarters with an 8-3 fourthquarter advantage. Amy Hergender's eight points was best for Bethesda (4-2 in the MIAC).

STEVENSON 50. HARRISON 32: Livonia Stevenson limited Farmington Harrison to eight first-half points, a big reason why the visiting Spartans were able to run their record to 10-5 overall, 7-3 in the WLAA Tuesday.

Stevenson had a 22-8 lead at the half and was never threatened. "We weren't in trouble, we played decent defense," said coach Chuck Hebestreit. "But we'll have our hands full

All nine Spartans scored, for the first time this season. Karen Groulx led the assault with 11 points; Laura Zatorski had 10 and Kelly Cotter

Katie McAskin's 13 points - nine coming in the fourth quarter paced Harrison, which slipped to 3-13 overall, 1-9 in the WLAA. Heather Hopkins added nine.

N. FARMINGTON 44, CHURCH-ILL 40: Eve Claar again provided the offense for North Farmington, canning four three-pointers en route to a 25-point performance Tuesday at Livonia Churchill.

North (6-9 overall, 3-7 in the WLAA) trailed the Chargers 25-23 at the half but, with Churchill's defensive efforts aimed at containing Claar, others stepped forward and hit key shots. Dana Botwick got seven fourth-quarter points, and Seremet scored six of her eight points in the second half.

Chrissy Daly's 16 points was best for Churchill (7-8 overall, 4-6 in the WLAA); Christina Garry notched 13.

HARPER WOODS CLARENCEVILLE 35: A poor scoring first half doomed Livonia Clarenceville to defeat in its Metro Conference meeting with Harper Woods Tuesday at Clarenceville.

The Trojans (2-9 in the Metro, 2-11 overall) trailed 11-4 after one quarter and 18-9 at the half. They outscored Harper Woods - which defeated them 43-16 earlier this season 26-21 in the second half, but couldn't catch up.

Rhonda Saunders triggered the Trojan attack with 16 points. Leandra Hoffman chipped in with nine. Kelly Pitz had 11 points for Harper Woods (7-3 in the Metro, 8-7 overall).

REGINA 53, LADYWOOD 38: Trailing 31-24 at the half, Livonia Ladywood conceded in the third quarter, allowing Harper Woods Regina to roll to a 16-3 scoring advantage in the period Monday at Redford Catholic Central.

Three double-figure scorers ignited Regina (12-3 overall, 6-2 in the Catholic League's Central Division): Jill Johnston with 12 and Kristen Francis and Anne Marie with 10 each. Leslie Catanzarite scored 11 and Rebecca Willey had 10 for the Blazers (5-10 overall, 2-6 in the division).

CC advances to district final

staff writer

Redford Catholic Central soccer coach John Boots won't make any bold predictions about the state playoffs, but he has a strong opinion on

"Kerry Zavagnin is the best midfielder in the state," said Boots, shortly after CC beat visiting Royal Oak Dondero, 3-1, in a district semifinal game Wednesday at Bell Creek. "His vision and skill level are outstanding and he's very tenacious. There are not many players who want the ball in pressure situations like him. He was toying with these guys."

Zavagnin scored the tie-breaking goal with about 15 minutes left and later assisted on Adam Borchert's goal that put the Oaks away for good.

CC and Dondero were tied 1-1 at halftime, but the Shamrocks dominated the second half to improve their overall record to 11-5-2. CC plays the winner of Troy-Troy Athens in the district final at 1 p.m. Saturday at

"The key is to get yourself into the game mentally and the whole trick is to see what the other team is doing and counter that," said Zavagnin, who has 20 goals. "Mr. Boots has keyed the whole year on the state playoffs. To him, the season doesn't start until the Catholic League

Dondero ended its season at 6-10-2 overall. The Oaks, who finished eighth in the Metro Suburban Activities Association standings, took an early 1-0 lead on a free kick by Ben Craft minutes into the game.

Then came the inevitable for the Oaks, who have lost five games this year by one goal. Goalkeeper Ben Bancroft did all he could for Dondero, but he didn't get enough support against the talented Shamrocks.
"I don't get used to them (close losses), I never get used to them," coach Jim Miller said. "I would have taken overtime, but I wanted to win the game in regulation. It just wasn't meant to be." CC tied the game at 1-1 later in the first half on a goal by Anthony Verrino. Zavagnin helped set up the score, passing a free kick to Wayne Worosz, who deflected the ball to Verrino.

CC didn't score again until late in the second half when Zavagnin hed a shot to the left of Bancroft for a 2-1 lead. Minutes later, Zavagnin made a nifty crossing pass to Borchert, who leaped high in the air and headed the ball in for CC's final tally.

Boots was relieved to see the final score, and pleased with the performance of goalkeeper Jeff Sawicki. He also had praise for defenders Worosz and Matt McIntosh.

"Sawicki came up midway through the season from junior varsity and has done very, very well," Boots said. "This was a garbage game. With the way the field is (muddy) and the way Dondero plays with nine guys in the penalty box, it made it tough to pass. We had to wait for our breaks.

CC coasts in opener

Redford Union knocked Garden City out of the Class A boys soccer district playoffs Monday with a 2-1 win over the host Cougars.

RU, which lost to Garden City the week prior in a Northwest Suburban League game, got a pair of goals from Mark Payment, a senior captain. Payment's goal with 27 minutes remaining broke a 1-1 tie and moved the Panthers into Wednesday's district semifinal.

Garden City finished its second season under coach Scott Steiner at 2-10 overall. The Cougars could never get untracked this year after losing both Steve Taulbee (knee) and Dan Horvath (concussion) to injuries mid-

Scott Kendrick, on an assist from Jason Linangi, recorded Garden City's only goal against RU.

"It hurt a lot, not having two of our starters - two of our better players who played center midfield and center forward," Steiner said of the injuries to Taulbee and Horvath. "You hate to miss two seniors who play up the middle. It was a good game today, But they capitalized on their chances, and we didn't."

REDFORD CATHOLIC CENTRAL 5, U-D-JESUIT 0: The host Shamrocks scored four goals Monday in the second half to pull away for the Dana Orsucci had two goals, while Kerry Zavagnin, Anthony Verrino and Matt McIntosh each found the net once for Catholic Central.

Salem rally overcomes Chiefs

staff writer

Plymouth Salem's soccer team breathed a collective sigh of relief so loud Monday night it could be heard all the way to Bloomfield Hills.

The No. 2-ranked Rocks began post-season play with hopes of reaching the state final at Andover High School winning the state title that narrowly escaped them last

But they almost didn't survive the first round of district play, needing a three-goal second half to subdue unranked Plymouth Canton and avoid a major upset, 4-3.
"In the first half, we played horrible," Salem co-captain Ryan Fitzpatrick said. The Rocks trailed Canton, a team they had beaten twice, 3-1 at

"Everybody on our team thought we were going to blow out Canton. I've got to congratulate Canton, because they played a lot better than any of us thought they could."

THE ROCKS, who took a 16-1-1 record into the second round Wednesday against Livonia Churchill, hope to have learned a valuable lesson about tournament play while avoiding disaster.

"Oh, yeah, we've got to come out and play everybody the same right from the start," said Salem co-captain Andy Cosenza, who scored the winning goal with five minutes left

"I think it might help us play better in the rest of the games," Salem coach Ken Johnson said. "We can't play like this."

Canton, behind an outstanding. three-goal effort by senior Mike Presley, dug a hole for the Rocks in the first half, and Salem was fortunate to wiggle out in the last 40

"We played that well in the last three or four games," Canton coach Don Smith said. "Our intensity was

'To go out in the first round would have been horrible. We're ranked second in the state and, to lose to an unranked team, would have been a disgrace.'

With the upset apparently in the making, Salem began its comeback with Jake Baker's goal midway in the second half. John Truskowski lifted the ball toward the Canton goal, and Baker was there to knock

THE MOMENTUM changed when sophomore Joe Perron scored the tying goal with Presley and Chris Hayes out of the game temporarily. Cosenza passed through to Perron, who fired a crossing shot to make it

"We were hoping for the tie, because we knew we could go into overtime," Cosenza said.

Salem didn't need overtime when Cosenza scored his 19th goal of the season to make Salem's comeback

Tom Baker brought the ball across and made a short, through pass to Cosenza, who was about 25 yards away. Cosenza pivoted and sent the ball on its fateful flight.

"Once I took the turn and saw nobody there, I hit it as hard as I could," Cosenza said. "I didn't even

Presley came close to scoring a fourth goal and possibly forcing an overtime, but Salem goalkeeper Derek Olson made a leaping, save in front of the Canton forward, pulling the descending ball out of the air.

"HE HAD THE game of his life," said Smith of Presley, who left the game again briefly after that when he twisted an ankle. "That was really a good game he played."

The second half was a marked contrast with the first as the Rocks pressed the attack consistently, forcing Canton goalie Jim Bradley to make some key saves, and played sharper defense.

"The defense tightened up and the offense got it going," Fitzpatrick said. "Being a senior, it could have been my last game for Salem. I didn't want to go out losing to Can-

"To go out in the first round would have been horrible. We're ranked second in the state and, to lose to an unranked team, would have been a

The Salem defenders cleared the ball quicker in the second half, which they didn't do in the first, resulting in too much dribbling and errors the Chiefs seized upon.

"After all the goof-ups, when Jake got the second goal, from the 60th minute to the 75th, that was probably the best we've played all year." Johnson said.

"WE OUTPLAYED them in the second half, but they jumped on our mistakes. In the first half, they took us out of our stride with their spirit and speed."

The Chiefs wasted not time doing that. Presley scored on Canton's first possession in the opening minute. His corner throw was tipped by Olsen and was ruled a goal after a momentary delay.

The linesman called it in, but be almost let it go without (the referce) calling it," Smith said. "He should have let the referee know right

Presley put added pressure on the Rocks when he lifted a shot from 25 yards that was too high for Olsan. Tom Baker gave Salem some hope with a goal that made it 2-1, but Presley restored Canton's two-goal lead after taking a pass from teammate Craig Miller.

Salem had more chances in the first half, but the Chiefs got outstanding defense from Owen Crosby, who used his height to head the ball away numerous times, Todd Kearney, Miller, Gary Wiebe and Chris

While the Rocks seemed to press and press and get nothing for the effort, Canton capitalized on its fewer chances, rushing in and twisting about the defenders for a quick goal.

"PUTTING THREE forwards up there spread their defense and made more opportunities to score," Smith said. "We hadn't scored on them in two games, and the first goal proved to us that we could.

CC victory sets up rematch

Redford Catholic Central doubled its pleasure Saturday, clinching the Central Division football title coupled with gaining a rematch with unbeaten Detroit DePorres for the Catholic League's A-B Division crown (7 p.m. Sunday at the Pontiac

The Shamrocks downed Harper Woods Notre Dame, 21-7, in a game played at Livonia Clarenceville.

CC is now 6-2 overall and finished 4-0 in the Central. Meanwhile, De-Porres (8-0, 4-0), the AA-Division champs and the state's top-ranked team Class CC, will try and duplicate their 8-0 victory over the Sham-Tocks of three weeks ago.

Senior fullback Jon Barbara, who led CC rushers with 69 yards in 18 carries, scored on a pair of 1-yard Tuns in the first and second quarters, capping drives of 61 yards in 11 plays (all runs) and 59 yards in 14 plays, respectively.

Kerry Zavagnin kicked both extra points to give CC a 14-0 halftime

But Notre Dame (5-3, 2-2) cut the lead to 14-7 in the third quarter on a 1-yard run by Paul Carta, culminating a drive of 80 yards in 13 plays. Eugene Gunnery's PAT was good with 5:28 left in the period.)

But CC put the game away in the fourth quarter on a 55-yard punt return by Frank Yoakam, who had a big day on special teams. He also returned a pair of kicks for 55 yards. The Shamrocks held a slight edge in total yardage over Notre Dame in total yardage, 190-186. The Irish had 146 on the ground, led by Survell

CC's defense was led by tackle Gary Gurgold, who recorded three solo tackles and 11 assists. Defensive end Bryan Chaney had three sacks and six assists

FRANKLIN 21, W.L. CEN-TRAL 6: On Saturday, Livonia Franklin (3-5) won its second straight with a Western Lakes Activities Association crossover win over visiting Walled Lake Central (2-6).

All three Patriots touchdowns came

After a scoreless first quarter, Franklin's Mike Krompatic threw a 64-yard halfback pass to Steve Clemmons.

Later in the period, after Scott Olson blocked a punt, Franklin quarterback Mike Gieger hit Rahul Jadia with an 8yard TD pass. Bobby Johnson booted his second straight extra point to make it 14-

0 at intermission. The Patriots increased their lead to 21 points in the third quarter when Gieger hooked up with J.J. Drabicki on another

8-yard scoring pass. Gieger completed seven of 14 passes for 75 yards. The Patriots had 186 yards total offense, but only 47 on the ground.

"They shut down our running game with an eight-man front, we couldn't get outside," said Franklin coach Armand Vigna. "We had to rely on the pass, even that halfback pass."

Franklin held Central to a fourth-quarter TD, a 1-yard run by Gary Kurvers. The Vikings had just 95 yards total of-

LUTH. WESTLAND 34, N. BRANCH WESLEYAN 8: Bill Wargo enjoyed a big day rushing, racking up 133 yards and two TDs Saturday as host Lutheran Westland (5-3) upended North Branch Weslevan.

Wargo scored on a 66-yard run in the opening quarter and came back with a 48-yard TD run in the second quarter. (Dan Hoeft's two-point conversion run gave the Warriors a 14-0 advantage.)

But the Eagles cut the deficit to six just before the half on an 11-yard run by Tony Weldy, who also ran in for the twopoint conversion.

In the third period, Lutheran Westland struck for three TDs. Quarterback Jason Zielinski connected with Matt Grams on scoring passes of 86and 20 yards; while Jason Leimbach added a 13-yard run. (Leimbach also ran in for the two-pointer.)

Lutheran Westland outgained the Ea-

'Leon is a great athlete and has done a lot of great things for us," Moshimer said.

"He's worth keeping an eye on," Khoenle said.

Moshimer has a special place in his heart, however, for quarterback Chris Tebben, who has 380 yards rushing and three TDs and has completed 20 of 56 passes for 216 yards and four TDs.

"The most unsung player on our team is Chris Tebben," Moshimer "He's an intelligent quarterback, is almost flawless on audibles and has made some great runs.

"Because he's an option quarterback and doesn't throw the ball that much, he'll never get the recognition he deserves. Nobody is going to realize how good he is except us.

Salem has been able to find apable replacements for injured players, too. Wingback Jeff Thursby (Matt Kuzawinski), fullback Dan Burke (Rob Shepley), tight end John Flynn (Al Hysko) and defensive tackles Jim Rodriguez and Boyd Rudy (Pat Vesnaugh) have stepped in and done well, Moshimer said.

SALEM IS THE only team Canton plays that uses the wishbone, and that creates special problems for the defense, according to Khoenle. The Chiefs have a high-profile offense, but the defense has been very good, too. Canton has scored 78 points more than Salem and is allowing 11 per game. Linebackers Liam Rentz and Josh Walaskay are the top tacklers with 81 and 83, and tackle Dean Benedict has been outstanding, too. Joe Hutko has been the noseguard all season but is a doubtful starter because of injury.

"We have to put them in a position they have to do things they don't want to do," Khoenle said.

We have to ask ourselves 'How much do we want to change to confront them.' If we change too much we hurt ourselves. 'How many different things do we want to add, or are we going to confuse ourselves more than them?"

Moshimer expects the Chiefs to blitz a lot and open the door for some big plays as occurred last year when fullback Pat Bowie rushed for 183 yards and scored on runs of 69 and 94 yards.

Salem has always had a reputation for good defense. While the Rocks average 22 points a game, they're giving up only 94 - less than six during their winning streak.

Outside linebacker Steve Balog is the leading tackler with 41. Fellow linebackers Kevin Craggs and Jake Dempsey, lineman Allen August and the defensive backs have been key players, too.

"They hang in there and don't make mistakes," Khoenle said. "The defense they play is their forte, their strength. They get field position and go from there.

T'S THE WEEK THAT WAS. the moment of truth for area high school state playoff con-

The ninth and final week of the prep football season serves as a magical and yet mystical unveiling of who and who doesn't go to the 128-

Last year, 64 schools qualified for post-season berths in four different classes (A, B, C and D), but this year the field has been expanded, eight divisions of 16 teams, split into four regions per class (AA, A, BB, B, CC, C, DD and D).

Sounds complicated enough, but as far as Observerland teams go, this is the story. Here's a look at the three regions concerning area schools. Reregion qualify for the sweet 16, which begins Nov. 2-3.

CLASS AA (Region II)

Inside track: 1. Westland John Glenn (7-1), 94.750 points — The Rockets, de-spite a loss last week to Farmington Harrison, still lead. A victory over city rival Wayne, with a 6-2 record, makes them a shoo-in. Glenn has been to the playoffs four of the past five years. The only year the Rockets failed to make it, Wayne pulled off the upset (1987).

2. Battle Creek Central (7-1), 92.625 points: If the Bearcats, coached by for-mer Wayne standout Al Slammer, get by rival Lakeview (5-3), they'll be in. But remember, Lakeview is seeking revenge after a 3-5 Central team last year ruined its playoff hopes.

3. Ypsilanti (7-1), 92.625 points -The Braves will be a cinch with a victory over Lake Orion (7-1), but that's no gim-

Too close to call: 4. Redford Catho lic Central (6-2), 89.893 points - The Shamrocks get a rematch with the state's No. 1 ranked team in Class CC, Detroit DePorres, which handed the Shamrocks one of their two losses. A CC victory is far from a lock and playing a Class CC hurts.

5. Plymouth Canton (7-1), 88.750 - The Chiefs are right on CC's heels and a victory over rival Plymouth Salem (6-2) would vault them past the Shamrocks. Salem, however, ruined Can-

Longshots: 6. Wayne (6-2), 82.000 - The Zebras killed themselves with a loss last week to Monroe, but a victory over Glenn would give them a fighting chance. They also need Central, Ypsi, Canton and CC to lose.

7. Ann Arbor Pioneer (6-2), 81.667 points - The perennial state playoff qualifier needs a miracle. The Ploneers should beat rival Huron (3-5), but their schedule has been weak. Pioneer needs victories from Wayne, Lakeview, Lake Orion, DePorres and Salem to have a re-

8. Plymouth Salem (6-2), 77.250 points — The Rocks have too much ground to make up, but could upset the apple cart with a win over Canton.

CLASS BB (Region IV)

Inside track: 1. Mount Clemens Clintondale (8-0), 102.000 points - Even a loss to unbeaten Monroe Catholic Central won't keep the Dragons out. 2. Allen Park (8-0), 96.000 points — The Jaguars need a victory over 7-1 Riverview and a Clintondale loss to Monroe CC to climb into the No. 1 position, thus avoiding Farmington Harrison the first round.

3. Farmington Harrison (7-1), 95.857 points - The Hawks, defending two-time state champs, play 3-5 Standish-Sterling in their season finale. Harrison hopes to move into the No. 1 or No. 2 spot to gain home field advantage in the first round.

4. Auburn Hills Avondale (8-0), 83.000 points - Despite a weak schedule and a weak season-ending opponent, 0-8 Ortonville-Brandon, it shouldn't keep the Yellow Jackets from missing the post-sea-

Longshots: 5. Dearborn Divine Child (6-2), 73.500 points — The Falcons need a victory over Class A foe Harper Woods Notre Dame (5-3) to have any kind of hope. DC is just too far behind to make up ground. They need a miracle.

6. Warren (6-2), 70.250 points - The Orioles need Jim Palmer, Frank Robinson and Boog Powell to overtake the top five teams. A win over Clawson (6-2) is not an automatic either

> CLASS B (Region IV)

Inside track: 1. Riverview (7-1). 74.875 points — The Pirates, despite a 37-7 loss last week to Monroe CC, still sail the high seas. A win over unbeaten Allers, Park would make them a shoo-in.

 Dearborn Heights Robichaud (7-1).
 70.429 points — The Buildogs and sensation Tyrone Wheatley can make the playoffs with a win at Muskegon Heights.

Too close to call: 3. Marine City (6-2), 67.542 points — Will the Mariners drown or sail smoothly to a playoff berth? They need to beat region rival Yale (5-3) to put themselves in prime position.

4. Clawson (6-2), 67.000 points The Trojans can make a run for one of the four spots with a victory over BB foe Warren, a team with a 6-2 record (see

 Marysville (6-2), 66.250 points —
 Old Walt Braun may coach this team into the post-season parade with a victory over Class A foe Port Huron (3-5). Bonus points will determine if they can make the lege's men's soccer team is sow in the hands of Macomb CC. The Occiots have done their share.

SC clinches share of crown

Their 7-2 trouncing of Lakeland CC Sat-urday at SC confirmed their share of the Region 12 title. They finished the region season with a 7-1 mark.

Macomb has one regional game remaining, Saturday at Lakeland. A win and the the Monarchs and SC would meet for the regional championship 3 p.m. Tuesday at Eastern Michigan University. The winner of that match advances to the Inter-regional Tournament Nov. 3-4 in

"We did our job," was how SC coach Van Dimitriou summed up his team's performance against Lakeland. "The guys went out and played their best game of the year. They understood they had to win, no ifs, ands or buts about it."

It didn't take the Ocelots long to assure themselves of at least a playoff against Macomb. One minute into the game, Phil Todino got a crossing pass from John Cortese and buried it for a 1-0 SC lead.

The Ocelots continued to pressure, get-ting superb performances from Todino; Jerry Staszel, who had a goal and three assists; Jeff Vandemergel, who contribut-ed two goals; midfielder Jeff Saylor; out-side defender Billy Joker; and Khaled Zeidan, who ignited the offense with three goals and two assists.

Chris Crawford added two assists for SC, which led 5-1 at halftime.

Combined with last Wednesday's (Oct. 17) 2-0 blanking of Toledo, SC has raised its overall record to 19-2-1. It won't mean anything, however, if the regional title

"Our season will not be made until we accomplish our goal, and that's to win the league title," vowed Dimitriou. In the win over Toledo, SC misfired on several first-half scoring opportunities, including a penalty kick. But the Ocelots finally connected, with Zeidan scoring 15 minutes into the second half (Staszel assisting). Todino iced the win, converting a pass from Dave Dinglie.

SC WOMEN'S SOCCER: Nikki Johnson triggered the Lady Ocelots' assault with three goals and an assist in Saturday's 9-0 thumping of Oakland University's club team in Rochester.

Bonnie Boyle added two goals and three assists, Sarah Hayes had two goals, Cindy Bowman netted a goal and three assists, and Amy Zanetti scored her first collegiate goal.

Lindy Tatale was in goal for the first half; Bowman and Johnson split time in the nets in the second. Starting keeper LeAnn Adle and midfielder Donna O'Brien both missed the match due to two-game disciplinary suspensions. Both will return for this weekend's trip to North Carolina, where SC will play Brevard and Lees McRae.

Together, there's so much good we can do

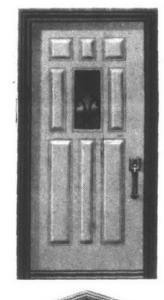

Sun Deer & campers are happy campers and it's no wonder because most severely asthmatic kids are forced to spend their summers indoors. At Camp Sun Deer * asthmatic kids ages 9-12 participate in a variety of outdoor activities, but they can't do it without your help. The limitations and doubts they face can be diminished by a volunteer who cares. Your participation at Camp Sun Deer* can make all the difference in an asthmatic child's summer.

Hawthorne's epoxygraphs are on display

By Linda Ann Chomin special writer

REGORY HAWTHORNE refers to his three-dimensional lithograph wall sculptures as epoxygraphs. His innovative lithographs, created in the futuristic medium of epoxy with figures in relief, are on exhibit at Posner Gallery in Farmington Hills.

"Hawthorne recently had a oneman show in Tokyo," said Karen Posner during an interview in her gallery.

Karen, of Farmington Hills, and her mother, Madeline, of West Bloomfield, co-own Posner Gallery. Originally in the Prudential Town Center in Southfield for four years, the Posners moved to Northwestern Highway in Farmington Hills one year ago.

Gregory Hawthorne describes his multi-faceted constructions as lithographs on hand-cut wood relief, with epoxy applied by hand, then baked. According to Hawthorne, there is no casting. The pieces are hand assembled, one at a time

Once Hawthorne applies the epoxy resin over the relief, then bakes it, the surface forms a strong, hard, resistant enamel finish, like polymer.

Hawthorne's "Music Box" is composed of one central female figure in relief with a bird perched on her extended leg as she reaches for the crank of a music box. A similar, but smaller surrealistic figure floats in the background. Ultramarine blue floods the background while light crimson colors the main figure.

two sizes, 371/2 by 31 inches at $2,500, and 4 by 6 feet at $12,500. Both include the choice of a white or black lacquer frame.

IN HAWTHORNE'S "River's Inn," the male figure in relief is harlequin-like with drink in hand. The female figure in the foreground has two faces, one frontalview imposed over a profile, cocktail with olive in hand.

"Little People" by Hawthorne has two character figures in relief,

In the composition, colored in violet and hot pink, Hawthorne uses lack Matisse-like lines to outline figures and objects. "Little People" retails for $1,700.

Although he now lives in California, Hawthorne originally is from Michigan. His epoxygraphs are in the collections of the Impression 5 Museum in Lansing, Michigan State University, Dow-Corning, and the Singer Corp. in Chicago.

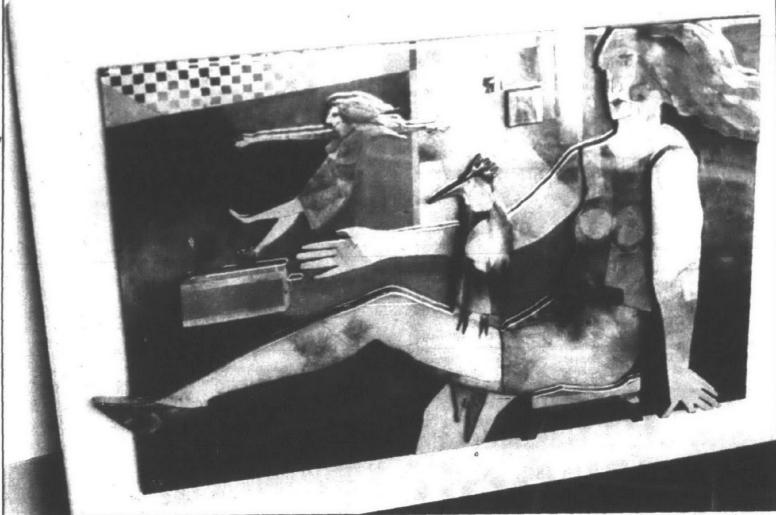

Madeline Posner said the gallery staff prides itself on being "very contemporary, as opposed to traditional." The fine arts gallery leans toward abstraction with a vast array of three-dimensional wall sculptures, along with epoxygraphs by Gregory Hawthorne.

CALIFORNIAN BUCK Levine's circular wall sculpture is made from enameled aluminum. Geometrically cut pieces are interconnected, forming a metal collage of color in three dimensions. Levine's wall sculpture is priced at

"Early Miro ate Miro" and "Kadinsky/Lichenstein." The floor cats are $475 apiece.

Dale Techner Sparage of West Bloomfield works in oil on canvas. She's creating a series of nudes entitled "Naked Bride."

"I, II, and III" from the series show a progression in color from dark to light, as well as a tendency to total abstraction. From burgundy and black, the nudes brighten to white, gray and flesh tones with tinges of pink in the skin. Sparage is working on a masters degree in art therapy at Wayne State University. Her nudes retail at $1,200

JOAN WENZEL of Florida creates wall-size, three-dimensional wall sculptures from acrylic modeling paste over metal on wood. Her "Three Frames" uses positive and negative forms of squares, rectangles and spheres interposed on an open frame background, texturally painted in impressionistic style. The geometric piece, "Three Frames," is priced at $7,700.

Musicmaker's roots run deep

By Janice Tigar-Kramer special writer

Little of Karen Nixon's musical career has been planned, yet the accomplished musician-turned-conductor couldn't be more content with the way things have turned out.

The 39-year-old musician-conductor, who originally played accordion, started playing the French horn during her sophomore year at Livonia's Franklin High for two reasons: she wanted to be in the marching band and the school needed another horn

"The accordion just isn't a marching band instrument," Nixon said, laughing. "So I took the horn home with a fingering chart and joined the

Enjoy brunch with dulcimer music

By Linda Ann Chomin special writer

If you enjoy the music of medieval stringed instruments along with your Sunday brunch, circle Nov. 4 on your calendar.

That's when the Livonia Arts Commission will host a buffet-style brunch with dulcimer music by the Felicity Strings in the Atrium of the Livonia Civic Center Library Auditorium, Farmington Road and

The musical brunch runs from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Cost is $7 per person. The brunch is a trial music event that "could quite possibly turn into a series like the Detroit Institute of Arts' Brunch with Bach," said

Livonia arts commissioner Geroge

THE DULCIMER group, Felicity Strings, consists of a hammered dulcimer, recorder, string bass, glockenspiel and folk harp.

Jim and Patricia Tait of Redford Township and Patricia Mallie of Livonia compose the musical ensemble specializing in dulcimer music. The group has been performing together for five years, most recently at Plymouth's Old Village Applefest in September

Balustrade, brunch, Baker House: all very special

'ROUND TOWN:

• Going up - Gov. Fred Warner, Farmington's favorite son at the turn of the century, would be proud if he were alive today.

Thanks to a major grant secured by the Quakertown Questers, a balustrade once again will adorn the front-proch overhang at the Farmington Historical Museum in downtown Farmington.

Adding a new wood railing will make the 123-year-old, two-story mansion appear the way it did in 1910, when Gov. Fred Warner, Michigan's first three-term governor, called it home.

The home's architecture is an example of Victorian Italianate. And balustrades are a Victorian feature. The Quakertown Questers, dedicated to historic restoration and preservation, landed a $6,000 grant from the International Organization of Questers to add the railing. The local chapter will chip in $50 to meet the $6,050 cost.

Says Dick Carvell, the museum's tireless curator, "It makes me feel good when someone or some group steps forward on the museum's be-

Thanks to the Questers' initiative, the Farmington City Council last week earmarked $4,400 from the museum budget to improve the porch's roof and cornices to accommodate the balustrade, which should be up by December.

Bob Sklar

Community plaudits also are appropriate for Farmington architect Carl Gaiser, who donated his professional services and found a qualified contractor.

The Questers, incidentally, aren't strangers to the mansion. They provide not only museum docents but also steady contributions.

With $6,700 in other exterior improvements nearly done, the Farmington Historical Museum indeed should, as Carvell put it, "look slick as a whistle" by the holidays.

Ironically, the TLC given to the museum is reflective of the era when the balustrade first went up. That's when Gov. Warner, the English-born foster child of Rhoda Botsford Warner and P.D. Warner, "resumed life in Farmington with the affection and interest with which he always bore his hometown."

• Music watch - Thinking big. That's what I like about the Livonia Arts Commission's latest endeavor: a brunch with dulcimer music. The buffet brunch, with duclimer music by the Felicity Strings in the Livonia Civic Center Library Atrium, is billed a trial event that could become another Brunch with Bach a la the DIA.

The sweet sounds of the dulcimer, a medieval stringed instrument, will provide the perfect melody for the trailblazing musical journey.

The price is right, $7 per person, And the setting, the Atrium, is a fitting backdrop for the chamber music-style program.

For tickets, call the Livonia arts hotline: 425-2327.

• Historic gem - I can't help but admire how dashing the historic Baker House in downtown Plymouth

The Italianate-style house, built in 1875, is the centerpiece of a picturepostcard setting at 233 S. Main.

"It's a great example of adaptive re-use, restoring an old house for use as a business but keeping the historic character intact," says Beth Stewart, Plymouth Historical Museum di-

Colors not easy to choose; men's style change

O COLOR MARKETING

Q: It seems to me that I'm seeing greater uniformity in color selecons offered by retailers, both in on and home furnishings. For the color around, I rarely see a old, orange, greens other than the eals, or persimmon, a red that used be popular years ago. The same niformity becomes apparant in owcase houses and most magazine dvertisements. Why, on the one and, are we all encouraged to be surselves, yet pressured to conform trends? Help me sort this out.

A: You've touched upon a major ocial trend of our times. It is called y sociologists, discontinuity, which ns we are living in an age with strong contradictory forces as our society shifts its entire enconomic focus and its place in the international scheme of things.

In this setting, certain individuals are becoming more aware of their needs and wants while many manufacturers are concerned with avoiding costly risks in bringing products to the consumer market. The more elements that can be controlled or anticipated, the more comfortable the manufacturer or retailer feels.

Color, more than style or design, has been recognized as a nearly controllable element in the marketplace. Nearly every large manufacturer tries to read trends by monitoring sales and researching the marketplace. Fewer color decisions are made by creative individuals.

Instead ,color decisions are worked out by fashion coordinators, buyers, suppliers and merchandise managers. It is the coordinators, in particular, who nearly all belong to the same trade and professional organizations, subscribe to the same color forecast services and attend the same exhibits or events that remotely might influence color. In the past few years, this tendency has accelerated. So it's no wonder they all appear to walk in locked

When you add to this the coordination, or packaging of product lines, you can understand that color has to fall into suitable categories of color to be coordinated.

There's also a further irony in color marketing. The sources being monitored for possible trends fall into contradictory areas: the very high-style expressions of mostly highly civilized French designers or the off-beat, alternate life-style statements by a variety of rebels in almost any field or profession. Of course, only few companies are will-ing to take risks on new color ideas. But those who do manage to become style leaders as far as the business community is concerned. A: Menswear styles, which have Until these discontinuities are reconciled, there are two ways you can achieve your individualized look in your home: take full advantage of customizing services offered by paint companies and certain smaller manufacturers. Trade up into more expensive and usually imported products, if you can afford it. Also consider hiring a knowledgeable interior designer who knows how to get the most out of resources and coordinate them to suit your taste. In fashion, it's quite another matter, other than getting a skilled dressmaker or tailor.

ADVENTUROUS MENSWEAR

Q: My husband, who is 28 years old and has reddish blond hair, insists on wearing the newer more flamboyant styles in colorful, double-breasted sports coats and the draped, pleated trouser. It's a terrific look and ac-ceptable among our friends. But I'm concerned how he'll come across in the business environment, even though the suits themselves are expensive. He's an insurance salesman and so far, doing quite well.

gradually evolved from their begin-nings in the 1980s Edwardian era, are about to make the biggest change ever seen before. But the shift in generally accepting the new styles hasn't been completed yet. Until then, one should proceed with some caution before wearing the new look in a business environment. It can be more acceptable if the coloring is subtle. But I wouldn't even risk that much due to the unspoken dress code exercised in most serious business environments.

Until these fashion innovations are fully accepted, I would suggest for business going along with the more conventional look, even buying as expensive a quality as possible.

I would reserve the newer styles for private life. There's not much point in sacrificing potential busi-ness advances for a pleat or a color.

ing a performance major, the musician had to join the orchestra when she re-entered the university. Shortly after the semester began, she became enthralled with Professor Gustav Meirer, conductor of the university's orchestra and opera. Coincidentally, the professor also turned up at the Michigan Opera Theatre that semester as the conductor for "The Magic Flute," an opera

"He inspired me," Nixon said. "He didn't just beat time. Through his body, I could see everything that was happening in the orchestra. Watching him, I decided I had to get out of the orchestra to study scores.

NIXON NOT only studied the music of classical composers, but she also started work on her master's degree in horn simply to study with Professor Meier. She even begged the Swiss-born professor to allow her

While working on the book, Nixon continually asks questions. The pro-fessor always supplies answers with grand examples that often turn into conducting lesson

"I learned the craft of conducting long before standing in front of an orchestra," Nixon said. "The professor is enlightening."

AS A conductor, Nixon has trained herself to listen to the whole orchestra instead of only the horn section. When she plays in the orchestra today, she often misses her cues because she's listening for the high notes of the bassoon or violin.

When you conduct, you feel like you're playing all of the instru-ments," Nixon said. "What's really conducting the way Beethoven or Mozart wanted it."

Nixon's dream is to teach Professor Mejer's method of conducting through private lessons or at the collevel. But for now, she's busy with Group du jour, a 45-piece or-chestra that she assembled and for which she conducts.

The group includes graduate students and friends from other orchestras. Like its name, Group du jour changes from time to time, playing everything from the classics to jazz. What won't change is its conductor.

Group du jour premieres at 2:30 m. Sunday, Oct. 28, at the Marquis Theatre in Northville. Tickets are available at the theater (349-8110) or at Beitner's Jewelry in Plymouth for $10 ($5 for students and seniors). The concert includes the music of Beethoven, Wagner, Rossini and Vivaldi.

Sullivan's art statement is made from handmade paper. "I used all recycled materials," she said.

She collected "lots of dryer lint and cat fur," put it into a blender, added pottery dyes, poured it over a acreen and then let it dry.

After drying the recycled handmade paper, Sullivan "sculpted it over" what appears to be a death mask of a Native American.

Mike Piontek, an eighth grader at West Middle School, won with his creative art poster, "The Future Is In Our Hands." He included in his poster a symbolic hand, holding a whole Earth. Alongside, he placed an identical hand crushing the globe, shattering it into pieces.

Piontek plans to pursue a career

JESSIE LOBENHERZ, a third grader at Farrand Elementary, said she created her artwork because she "thought (it would) help the Earth and the atmosphere."

Jessie is a very aware 8-year-old. The message of her poster is "help save the Earth and the rain forests. Jessie said her mother told her about the destruction of the Earth's rain

The three other poster winners

• eighth grader Steve Reger for his clever "Be Nice, The Earth Isn't Well" poster, in which he has drawn a well with purple water. • sixth grader Tiffany Williams for her "Save The Earth For Our Kids-It's Our Future" poster. • eighth grader Debbie Kearnev for her wonderfully executed, impressionistic artwork, "Keep Our World Beautiful."

The six poster winners won matting and framing to preserve the meaningful art creations. Framing was done by Frameworks on Penniman in Plymouth.

The six poster winners, paired with six winning essays were made into notecards printed on recycled paper, and wrapped in biodegradable packaging.

Inside one of the "Save Our Earth" notecards is this poignant message from seventh grader Tina Deukmaji:

"The World is our home; together we must work to solve its problems. Everyday people set fire to rain forests, they pollute our water, and kill animals for no reason. We must do something to help solve these problems."

The notecards are available at Little Professor On The Park in downtown Plymouth and at the Plymouth Community Arts Council office, 332 S. Main, across from Kel-

Garden talk

Plant spring flowering bulbs now

To force paper-white narcissus for an early taste of spring, you'll need a brushed clay pot or other shallow container. It is important to have the bulbs at the right level to ensure their successful bloom.

Other bulbs that store so much food all they need is water to bloom include hyacinths, muscari (grape hyacinths) and crocus. These latter three are often suspended in jars made especially for this purpose.

Other narcissus that are fine for forcing - enticing may be a better word - include varieties of N. tazetta, Chinese sacred lilies and "Soleil Paper-whites from Israel are reported to be very good quality. The Carmel brand (Ziva and Galil cultivars) will produce good results. Many mail-order companies carry these bulbs, but don't forget local nurseries, which offer bulbs of all descriptions at this time of year. ENTICED BULBS make excellent gifts and their "show" can be timed simply by advance planning.

If you begin the process at the end of this month and plant in two- to three-week intervals, a succession of blooms will result. Paper-whites for Christmas should be started about the middle of November. The gift can be presented (with instructions) right after you planted or when growth has begun.

A very simple way to entice narcissus into early bloom is to place gravel (add a bit of activated charcoal to keep the water sweet) in the shallow container

Use plenty of gravel to support the roots and add water until it just touches the bottom of the bulbs.

Next, set the pot in a cool (40-50 degrees) dark area. When roots start to grow, bring the pot to a sunny, cool spot. In about three weeks, the blooms will appear.

Bulbs grown in water should also be kept in a cool, dark place until roots are well developed and top growth is developing.

When the buds on crocus are about 2 inches tall and when hyacinth and muscari are about 4 inches tall (with flower buds showing through leaf sheath), bring them into the light so their cycle can continue to produce

Marty Figley

A very simple way to entice narcissus into early bloom is to place gravel (add a bit of activated charcoal to keep the water sweet) in the shallow container.

DIRECTIONS FOR planting bulbs in the garden are generally included in the packaging, but sometimes it is difficult to decide just where to plant them for the best effect.

When deciding upon the location of the bulbs, remember that the foliage must remain and turn yellow before it is removed, so that it can nourish the bulb for another season's

The bulb can be removed and stored for another year, annuals can be planted over the bulbs, or they can be planted as undergrowth for taller plants. In my bed of vinca minor (with blue flowers), I have planted "Violet purple-violet hyacinths, around the sundial since I want to keep that area one color. When the foliage dies, it will be camouflaged by the vinca.

An alternative idea would be t scatter crocus, perhaps "Princes Beatrix" (blue with a yellow heart) and then put tall narcissus "quail" i a focal spot, with mini trumpet nas cissi "Little Gem" cascading theil yellow blooms from the taller flo

Many new bulbs are on the man ket, so spend some time in the deci sion-making.

MANY PEOPLE like a variety of color in their gardens, and this can make a very striking display.

I would advise you to read the la bels as to bloom time, height an color so that one doesn't clash with another and the flowering time cal be prolonged, since all bulbs don't bloom in the same month.

It is best to plant bulbs close to gether so that the color is continuou rather than a dot here and a do

I like the look of naturalizing the smaller bulbs, such as snow-drops and scilla, through the grass to make a pretty carpet under a tree a spring arrives.

Bulbs can be planted in container and moved around to catch the sun at different times of the season or to make a pretty display at an eng trance, patio, balcony or desk, perhaps for a special occasion.

Now is the time to plant spring flowering bulbs and help the Dutch flower bulb industry celebrate its 400th anniversary.

A floating, curved stairway is not only functional but distinctive. It was designed by the Farmington Hills architectural firm Erdstein, Bryce and Pallazola. Below, an open staircase placed in the middle of a room adds openness. It was designed by Janet Compo of James D. Compo Inc. in Farmington Hills.

More than just functional, stairways act as focal points

staff writer

Few architectural elements offer as much of a chance for drama as the staircase.

Staircases don't just give access to upper or lower floors; they rise, they curve, they roll, they as-

And it beats climbing a rope.

Janet Compo, a designer and builder with the Farmington Hills-based James D. Compo Inc., said stairways can be focal points as well as functional.

For example, in the Parkview model home designed by Compo at the Builders Association of Southeast Michigan Homearama in Brighton, the stairway ascends from the entryway in a gentle curve before straightening out and rising to the upper floor. Open on both sides, the stairway looks over the foyer, dining and great rooms.

"We wanted to have it as a focal point where you walk in the door and it presents itself," she said.

Architect Robert Bryce, president of Erdstein, Bryce and Palazolla in Farmington Hills, said since staircases are almost exclusively placed near a home's entrance, they generally need dressing up.

"It's almost a given that a stairway will be introduced into the foyer - it's the most practical place to put it. So since it's practical, why not make it

ERDSTEIN, BRYCE and Palazolla designed the staircase in the Dynasty home built by Koch Development of Troy.

We try to make staircases both a focal point and a work of art," he said. But not every staircase is a work of art, he said.

What separates an average staircase from an outstanding one are its characteristics.

Placement of the stairway - whether it's in the middle of an open space, situated in a corner or enclosed along a wall - has a drastic impact on a staircase's influence on a home, he said. How the stairway is built also changes a staircase's impact.

An open stairway is more dramatic, an enclosed stairway is less so, and a stairway along a wall is more functional than dramatic. "If we float the stairway, we can see through it - the visual line beyond the stairway frames it - and it gives a sense of openness."

A closed stairway or a stairway with a supporting walls depends less on its surroundings and more the stairway itself for its appeal, he said. A truly impressive stairway becomes part of its surrounding and has intrinsic appeal, he added.

The stairway's shape, from a simple straight row of steps to a gentle curve, also affects a staircase's impact on a home. A curved stairway is much more sensual than a straight one. A straight staircase is more utilitari-

A SPIRAL, U-shaped or L-shaped staircase, offers a different appeal. A U-shaped and L-shaped staircase offers a landing or rest area halfway up; a spiral staircases usually gives a home a contemporary feel. "But spiral staircases are usually not the primary stairway - we try to use them only as a $5,000 to $30,000.

'It's almost a given that a stairway will be introduced into the fover - it's the most practical place to put it. So since it's practical, why not make it beautiful.'

- Robert Bryce architect

last possible solution because they're uncomfortable and more difficult." Finally, a stairway's intrinsic appeal comes from the material it's made of, the craftsmanship of the work and even its shape. For a wood staircase, the appeal often comes from the wood. Oaks, cherry and maple woods, for example, all have different attributes that change the appearance of a stairway, he said. Metal staircases give a more contemporary feel. and for a truly contemporary feel, glass panels or tubes and special lighting can be added, Bryce said, "Contemporary is sleek, crisp, clean and un-cluttered - what says that more than glass?" The intricacies of the pieces - the newels, balustrades, spindles and footings and rails - also make a big difference in a stairway's appeal, Bryce said. In the better staircase, pieces are custom milled so that the spindles and railings are unique." Compo said even in lower end homes the staircase has taken on an increased importance - even if the stairway is against the wall and out of the way. "In most cases people want their stairways to look good no matter where they are.

'What's important is the stairway should be designed to fit the home," Compo said.

ANOTHER CHARACTERISTIC that's largely forgotten when designing a stair, Compo said, is safety. "Let's face it, you spend a lot of time going up and down a stairway," she said.

"In the more expensive homes, people are putting emphasis on looks; in the less expensive homes, the staircases have to look nice, but the greater emphasis is on safety," she said.

Which is not to say that more expensive staircases are unsafe - all should be equally safe just that the predominant factor is safety, she said. It almost goes without saying that a stairway must be secure so it doesn't rock or sway, she said, and each type of stairway poses different problems. Floating stairways, naturally, are going to require a different type of engineering than a straight staircase built into a wall, she said

But as important as the engineering is, Compo said, the way the stairs climb may be just as important. "It must be a comfortable rise and tread.

'Older stairways were almost always too steep,' she said, adding stairways should have a suggested riser of eight inches and a minimum tread of nine

A staircase's width should be no less than three feet, she added. "Anything less can be a 'tripper.'

A staircase can add significantly to the price of a home, Compo continued. "It's not uncommon for someone to spend $3,000 to $5,000 more for a nicer stairway - really nice ones can cost an additional

special writer

When you are ready to begin shop-ping for your new house, you should begin shopping for your builder, too. Whether you are buying a condomi-nium, townhouse, in a subdivision or a custom-built house, the quality of your house will be determined by the quality of the builder.

Start your builder-search process by calling your local house builders association. It can give you the names of reputable builders in your tions and the quality of their work. The best way is to visit houses they have built and talk to the owners.

Ask the builders on your list for addresses of their recently completed houses, subdivisions, townhouses or condominium complexes. At the very least, drive by and see if the ouses are visually appealing.

Look at houses that are the same style as you plan to buy. A good time to visit is on a weekend morning when people are outside doing chores or errands. Just introduce yourself and explain that you are considering buying a house from the same builder who built theirs.

QUESTION THEIR satisfaction with the house and ask if the builder delivered what was promised in a timely manner. People will generally tell you if they are happy.

When examining a house, look at the quality of the construction feanetry, carpeting, trim tures: cabi work and paint.

In viewing each builder's houses, you must determine whether they lend themselves to the type of life-style you want to lead. Look at the amount of interior living space and how efficiently the space is used. Find out if the builder is using modern energy efficiency features, both in appliances and insulation.

A house is primarily a place to live, but it is also an important investment. Consider the appreciation potential of any house you may buy. Be concerned with the value you are getting for your money regarding lo-

Ask for a copy of the builder's warranty. Read the document thoroughly and be sure you understand what protection would be provided to you. If you have any questions about the coverage, be sure to clarify it with the builder before buying.

Almost all builders offer some form of written warranty. Many builders back their own warranties on workmanship and materials, typically for one year. Other builders offer warranties backed by an insurance company.

WHILE YOU ARE shopping for your builder, find out from each one you interview what you can expect regarding service after the sale. Typically a builder will make two service calls during the first year af-ter you move in. These calls are to make repairs on non-emergency problems covered by your warranty.

Plenty of hard work uncovers hardwood floor

(AP) We would like to refinish the hardwood floor that's under the lineleum in our kitchen. Is there an easy way to remove the lisoleum?

Unfortunately, there is no easy way. If the hardwood floor consists of oak strips and was originally smooth, then the linoleum was probably glued directly to the floor. Begin by cutting the linoleum into 12-inch strips with a utility knife. Be careful to set the blade depth so you don't cut into the wood. Use a longedged trowel to pry up the linoleum strips. A heat gun will help to soften the adhesive as you go. Eventually, you'll remove all the linoleum and some of the adhesive. Portions of the linoleum's felt backing, however, will stick to the adhesive that re-

If your hardwood floor had open joints or crevices, it was probably leveled with a quick-setting, plaster-like compound before the linoleum was applied. In this case, prior to Apply an interior paint designed to minimize the flow of moisture, or place a polyethylene vapor barrier between the studs and the drywall. Once you've corrected the moisture problem, scrape off the blistered paint and sand the wood bare. Prime the blistered area with an oil-base primer, then repaint the entire area. Note: Primers containing zinc are sensitive to water and should not be used on redwood.

should not be used on woods containing water-soluble extractives (natural moisture which can be drawn out), such as redwood or cedar. The water in the primer base will cause bleeding stains. Latex top coats may be applied over an oil primer.

The concrete walls in our old home were originally poured in small batches. Now the walls are spalling (chipping and breaking up) at these joints, and a white powdery substance forms during the decomposition process. A previous owner mortared over these areas, but that's flaking off, too. I'd like to chip out the bad spots, remortar and apply a scaler. Should I seal or remortar first, and what kind of scaler is

Your condition is a moisture problem occurring at the nonbonded joints (cold joints) between the pours. Moisture has let water-soluble salts, a concrete byproduct, leach

A support column in my basement is right in the way of my new pool table. Is there any way to remove that column without causing a sag in the floor above?

As your drawing shows a girder joint over the column in question, I believe that removing the column would cause total collapse. Your problem can be corrected, but to make absolutely certain you should seek the services of a professional engineer.
