State considers gate for Beck Road crossing

By Tom Henderson
staff writer

A state inspector visited the railroad crossing at Beck Road north of M-14 Friday as part of a state review process that may lead to the installation of a mechanical gate to block traffic as trains approach.

The crossing was the scene of a minor accident the previous Friday and the scene of a dramatic collision Tuesday afternoon that resulted in the derailling of three train engines and the demolition of a garbage truck.

The accident closed Beck Road until about midnight Wednesday, said police, while railroad officials said the track remained closed until about 10 a.m. Wednesday.

The truck driver, Kurt Sells, 37, of

A traffic sign covered one of the railroad flashers during the collision.

Ann Arbor — who was trapped in the truck for about 45 minutes before being cut loose by Jaws of Life equipment — was released Wednesday from St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor after being treated for facial injuries.

Mike Darragh, assistant to the division manager of the CSX railroad in Livonia, said that one train employee suffered a sprained wrist and bruises in the accident, which also resulted in the tearing up of a short section of track west of Beck.

DON RIEL, assistant administrator of the railroad safety and tariffs division of the Michigan Department of Transportation, said from his Lansing offices Friday that an inspector was at the site about noon.

"If necessary, depending on his report, we'll schedule a formal investigation, get out the road people down there and the railroad people and see if more precautions are needed," said Riel.

He said each railroad crossing in the state is reviewed about every two or three years to see if current precautions are adequate. Currently, at the Beck Road crossing, there are flashing red lights as a train approaches, but no mechanical gates.

Riel said there is a list of criteria in determining whether mechanical gates are needed, including traffic volume, the speed of traffic across the tracks, the number of trains using the crossing and their average speed.

Beck, once a dirt road, has been paved and received a dramatic increase in traffic in recent years.

— Mike Darragh

Traffic volumes will continue to increase in the area, with industrial and corporate parks going in both east and west of the crossing and with a 1,000-acre golf course/residential/industrial project planned for Beck and Five Mile.

"WHEN THE lights start to flash, you've got anywhere from 20 to 60 seconds' warning. When they come on, you don't have time to fool around," said Darragh.

Coincidentally, the morning of the accident, Darragh had been in Lansing at a meeting of Michigan Operation Lifesaver, a coalition of state, railroad and insurance officials who promote train safety. Darragh is the state chairman of the coalition.

"A car hitting a train is like a person stepping on an aluminum can," said Darragh. "We can't stop when these people run in front of us. No, we can stop, but it's so far down the tracks, it doesn't do them any good."

He said there is about one train and vehicle collision a day in Michigan, "and one out of 10 result in death and one out of two in injury."

A witness to the accident, Christine Gibson of South Lyon, said an orange road sign may have contributed to the collision. The sign announces a narrowing of Beck Road north of the crossing, a narrowing made necessary because of work on the shoulder of Beck and on an entry road into the Plymouth Corporate Park under construction.

Tuesday, the sign was about 25 yards south of the crossing, and from certain angles as a northbound driver approached the crossing, the sign blocked completely both the flashing lights and the metal railroad crossing sign.

Friday, the sign had been moved to about 20 yards north of the crossing. Plymouth Township Police Sgt. Robert Antal said he hadn't determined yet if the sign was a Wayne County sign or a sign used by a contractor working on the corporate park.

Antal said no ticket had been issued in the collision, pending an interview with Sells.

Clerks predict varied turnout

By Kevin Brown
staff writer

How large will the turnout be for Tuesday's election? What answer you get depends on who you talk to.

In Plymouth Township, Clerk Esther Hulsing predicts 50-to-60 percent of the township's 16,552 registered voters will go to the polls.

But in the city of Plymouth, Clerk Linda Langmesser predicts just 15 percent of the city's 7,156 registered voters will cast ballots.

"I'm basing this right now on the returns of the absentee ballots (so far) and citizen comments that I've heard over the phone and from people who come in," Langmesser said.

"There seems to be a lot of unrest with the political campaigning, the dirt slinging," Langmesser said.

SHE SAID CITIZENS have also complained about not getting enough information on non-partisan races. "So they don't really know these people," Langmesser said.

In Plymouth Township, Hulsing said the number of registered voters she's predicting will cast ballots is "fewer than the number who have turned out in the previous general election for governor."

Both clerks say they've sent out roughly the same number of absentee ballots as they did in the last governor's election: 1,500 in Plymouth Township and about 830 in the city.

The deadline for voting by absentee ballot at the two clerk's offices is 4 p.m. today. The deadline for returning absentee ballots already out is 8 p.m. Tuesday in Plymouth, and 5 p.m. election day in Plymouth Township.

election '90

Polls are open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. in both the city and township.

One of the races affecting Plymouth voters is the 36th state district race for state representative.

Rep. Gerald Law, a four-term Republican incumbent from Plymouth, is challenged by Democrat Dennis F. Shrewsbury, a Plymouth lawyer.

In his campaign, Law stressed his experience in the state legislature and his background before serving in Lansing — in finance and as a township trustee. Saying the legislature will likely face budget cuts in the next term, Law said, "I'm prepared to make those cuts and tough decisions," adding, "We are not going to raise taxes."

SHREWSBURY HAS stressed attention to social issues, saying he is for senior citizens and working people. He also stresses a pro-choice stance on abortion; Law is pro-life. "It's time government got out of the bedroom and took care of balancing the budget and other things," Shrewsbury said.

Now 94, William A. Buswinka of Plymouth experienced cold, hunger and good times too, during his train-hopping days in the 1920s.

Freight train hopper kept track in diary

Editor's note: This story is part of an occasional series on the railroads in the Plymouth-Canton area.

By Kevin Brown
staff writer

Men hopping freight trains probably sparks an image of Depression-era America for some.

But for Plymouth's William A. Buswinka, hopping freights sparks memories.

BUSWINKA TOOK SIX trips in the late teens and early '20s by hitching freights. On one cross-country trip, from April to July 1921, he kept a diary.

"What is adventure?" he asks, now 94. "Adventure is a glorified hardship."

The 126-page diary was typed by his daughter in 1950, and in the late '70s was bound into book form. Buswinka has seven copies of his diary, titled "Three Months That Were Different." One copy is in the Dunning-Hough Library in Plymouth.

Buswinka, a retired tool engineer for Chrysler Corp., made the trip when he was 25. The diary opens, "Started Thursday, April 21, 1921, a gloomy disagreeable day, and it poured during all of my trip down to Detroit from Port Huron in the Interurban — which I made alone."

TRACKS

Buswinka was living in Port Huron, where he settled after leaving his native Massachusetts.

After Buswinka and his friends Jack Shea and Joe Lindquist met up in Highland Park, Buswinka — who managed finances for the trip — "made my first disbursement when we ate supper."

"And incidentally, cut out dessert to lighten expenses, but in its place filled our pockets with sugar cubes which we enjoyed as much as candy," he wrote.

TRAVELING WEST toward Jackson, "We passed Ypsilanti and it seemed just full of girls. The state Normal School is located there."

Couple claims win in home schooling dispute

By Tom Henderson
staff writer

The attorney for a Canton couple who were convicted of misdemeanors for teaching their children at home said Thursday that a recent state Supreme Court decision sending the case back to the Court of Appeals is a victory for his clients.

"The future of teacher certification in Michigan is in doubt," said Christopher Klicka, a Virginia-based attorney for the Home School Legal Defense Fund Association.

IN NOVEMBER of 1989, the Court of Appeals upheld the convictions of John and Sandra Bennett of Canton Township and, in another case, the convictions of Mark and Chris De Jonge of Zeeland.

'To be perfectly honest, we're delighted with the way things have made a bit of a turn. It's time somebody looked at the issues and not just at the rhetoric the public school people have been giving the justices. We feel it's a victory, too.'

— Sandra Bennett

Klicka appealed to the state Supreme Court, and on Oct. 16, the Supreme Court issued a two-paragraph statement ordering the Court of Appeals to reconsider its earlier ruling.

ing "in light of Department of Social Services vs. Emmanuel Baptist Church . . . and decisions of the United States Supreme Court since the issuance of the Court of Appeals decision in this case."

Klicka said it was rare for the Supreme Court to remand cases back to the Court of Appeals. "Basically, the Supreme Court said, 'You were wrong and you need to reconsider.' We feel the Supreme Court was letting the Court of Appeals save face, letting them reverse their own decision instead of reversing it for them."

"We feel even if the Court of Appeals is obstinate and doesn't reverse itself, the Supreme Court will."

SANDRA BENNETT, taking a break from teaching four of her children at home Thursday, said: "To be perfectly honest, we're delighted with the way things have made a bit

Buswinka said the trio agreed not to get involved with women during the trip. Still, the diary contains several observations on the relative beauty of local women in towns along the way.

In the chapter titled "Shrimp Gumbo and Southern Women," Buswinka wrote, "As for the women of New Orleans, there's more varieties than any city in the United States. Not unanimously beautiful like Louisville, but you will find all types, shapes, sizes and colors."

"We voted New Orleans the second best city of the trip for women, and certainly the most interesting in that line in every other way."

Earlier, after Lindquist visited his fiancée in South Bend, the trio boarded "a flat car loaded with glass and oiled down out of sight. She went slow, very slow, but at last we were traveling and not paying for it. We went up quite a grade six miles. Jack thought this was the berries alright; he was for riding it forever . . . We were on our way to Chicago!"

Besides talk of women, another theme is food along the way. In a lunchroom in Decatur, Ill., "We had a hamburger sandwich and coffee and it sure tasted good," he wrote.

THE DIARY IS also filled with observations of various sights along the way. "We amused ourselves watching the sheep feeding on our hillside and the funniest vacant asinine looks on their faces as they would look up at us and say, 'Baa.' I know now what is meant by a person looking sheepish. Joe sketched some of them. I also wrote home."

Asked what the toughest times were on the trip, Buswinka said, "I've thought about those narrow escapes."

They included the time "when a railroad dick was pointing a revolver at us and he could have shot the three of us." That was later, in Arizona, when a man named Dick Martin had replaced Lindquist on the trip.

"Another thing was a narrow escape on the way home in Chicago," Buswinka said. There, he slipped on a railroad spur and started to slide toward a moving train, before rolling out of the way just in time.

Another time, he rode in a car loaded with steel, then found out later that hobos are easily killed when a load shifts to the other side of a freight car.

Of the good times, Buswinka said the one that stood out was the time he and Shea helped a Kansas farmer bring in the harvest.

He wrote, "The old man was saying how the city guys were no good and how they'd make a man out of me here and how when I got back — if I ever got into a fight to give them the 'Kansas Punch.'"

After repeated scoldings from the farmer who found fault with his work, Buswinka wrote that he told the farmer "I am sick of taking all your s--- on somebody else's account."

"I'd seen him get mad and loose his temper, but never as he did then. His eyes stuck right out of his head and he looked like the old Harry himself. He dropped the wagon tongue he had in his hand and grabbed me by the throat with both hands."

AFTER JOSLING a bit, "I ducked and aiming for his nose hit there squarely with all my might . . . Jack tried to get me out of it and had sense enough to realize that I hurt him not to hit him again as if I hurt him he's probably get the sheriff and get me juggled."

After getting paid, "We talked the fight over and laughed heartily many a time over the old man being the first one to sample the 'Kansas Punch.' We both agreed he had it coming to him for all the misery and hell he had given us, and that I had done a very satisfactory job."

Buswinka wrote.

Another time in Arizona, "We were talking to a guy who had TB (tuberculosis), he gave us 50 cents apiece and said, 'Whatever you do, don't say I'll pray for you,' and it was on the tip of my tongue to say it," Buswinka recalled.

What did his parents think about him making such a trip? "Somehow my folks let me pretty much on my own, they thought that I'd do the decent thing."

BUSWINKA SAID THAT Shea, a lifelong best friend, came to visit him from Massachusetts with his nephew on the 40th anniversary of their trip. He said Shea died about 10 years ago.

Today, he said, riding the freights is too dangerous. Cars aren't as easy to get onto, "and if you try to sneak into some warehouse, you'd get shot so damn quick."

But then, riding freights was more common, Buswinka said. "In the '30s if they were going to the city on a weekend, country people would think nothing of taking the freight," he said. "In those days it was nicer."

"All told, it was a wonderful experience. The good Lord was taking care of me."

Devil's Night pranksters pour shellac on car, van

Devil's Night revelers poured brown shellac on a car and a van parked on Beck near Joy Road sometime around 8 p.m. Tuesday, said reports filed with Plymouth Township police.

The owners of a 1989 Ford Tempo and a 1990 Ford Aerostar each sustained around $2,000 in damage to their vehicles, police said. The cases have been closed for lack of evidence pointing to suspects.

MORE MISCHIEF: Also Tuesday, the owner of a 1989 Honda car parked on Rocker in Plymouth Township reported $500 in damage, as someone scratched both sides of the car with a sharp object.

The incident occurred sometime between 10:30 and 11 p.m., the car owner told police.

Varied turnout forecast at area polls

During the campaign, Shrewsbury ran an ad claiming Law supported the purchase of Mettetal Airport to benefit his "rich friends." Law countered by saying he'd taken no stance on the airport purchase and questioned Shrewsbury's interest in local issues, as the challenger hasn't voted in a school or municipal election in the past 10 years.

In other local interest races, Democrat Patrick McDonald is challenging incumbent Republican Robert Geake for the 6th District state Senate seat.

Republican incumbent Carl Pursell is challenged by Democrat Elmer White in the 2nd District U.S. House race; incumbent Democrat Carl Levin is challenged by Republican Bill Schuette in the U.S. Senate race, and Democrat incumbent James Blanchard is challenged by Republican John Engler in the governor's race.

In Plymouth, precinct 1, 3 and 5 voters cast ballots at the Plymouth Cultural Center, 525 Farmer. Precinct 2 voters go to Starkweather School, 550 N. Holbrook; and precinct 3 voters go to Central Middle School, 650 Church.

IN PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP, precinct 1, 2 and 8 voters cast ballots at Farrand School, 41400 Greenbriar; of a turn. It's time somebody looked at the issues and not just at the rhetoric the public school people have been giving the justices. We feel it's a victory, too."

Bennett said she began educating her oldest child, Scott, now 17, at home in the fall of 1985. She said he had been a discipline problem at the Plymouth-Canton schools and was two years behind when tested. "But they just kept passing him."

She said he has since graduated, according to a review of his course work and an exit exam by the Cionlara School, a private school in Ann Arbor that assists parents teaching their children at home.

Bennett said she had intended only to teach Scott at home, but he responded so well she pulled all her children out of the public schools. She now teaches Erika, 16, Jason, 14, Krista, 12, and Lyssa, 5. "The public schools try to fit every peg into a square hole," she said.

THE EMMANUEL Baptist Church case referred to by the state Supreme Court was decided by that court earlier this year. Klicka said the court ruled that the state's licensing requirements for the church's day-care center were too restrictive, and that the administrator of the center did not have to meet the state's educational qualifications.

The U.S. Supreme Court case was Smith vs. Oregon, where the court ruled that the lower courts had to apply the doctrine of "compelling interest."

Applied to the Bennett case, Klicka said that doctrine would mean that the state would have to prove that teacher certification is essential for a home education "and there's no study on earth that proves a correlation between teacher certification and student performance."

Klicka said he is working on a new brief and would file it within a few weeks. He said the American Civil Liberties Union has told him it would enter the case on his behalf and would file its own friend-of-the-court brief. He said there would be no new oral arguments before the Court of Appeals.

ELMER WHITE
A DEMOCRAT FOR CONGRESS

• Economic Development — The Cold War is over. We don't have to send Federal money to the Sunbelt defense industry. The new American economy will call upon Southeast Michigan to provide the needs of peacetime markets. Michigan can meet the state; we have the skilled work force and our state Commerce department, under the leadership of Governor Jim Blanchard, has a matrix in place to support economic development. Recognizing that we need strong conventional military forces, ELMER WHITE will work in Congress to cut the defense budget and send Federal peacetime research investment to the Second District.

• Housing must be within the reach of working Americans. The government must audit and regulate the mortgage banking system so loan money is available for housing. In 1946 housing was made a priority. With the end of the Cold War ELMER WHITE will work in Congress for tax credits for first time homebuyers.

• Health Care must be available to all Americans, regardless of station in life. The ill health of any American is the concern of every American. The health care system of the 21st Century will encourage prevention. Health Care policy in the 90's must move us toward this goal.

• Environment of the Great Lakes is vitally important. 20% of the surface fresh water of the entire planet is found in the Great Lakes. The Congress must be made aware of how important maintaining and improving the biosystem integrity of the Great Lakes is to America's future.

• International Justice — The opportunity is present to find peace throughout the world. If we can find peace in the Middle East, we can find peace anywhere in the world; therefore, it is our greatest challenge. International justice requires that chemical and biological weapons be abolished. This is an old theme going back to the League of Nations; the time is now to insist upon abolition.

Plymouth marching band steps to honor

The Plymouth Centennial Education Park Marching Band reigns supreme.

Saturday, Oct. 27, for the fifth year in a row, the 182-member band was named the best in the state of the 40 bands in the Michigan Competing Band Directors Association competition at the Plymouth-Canton football field.

But the band members weren't able to rest on their laurels. The next weekend the band participated in the regionals in Toledo. It will compete in the nationals in the Indianapolis Hoosierdome on Nov. 17.

In addition, the Detroit Lions have asked the band to perform at half-time of their nationally televised game against Denver on Thanksgiving Day. Last year, the band appeared at one of the Sunday games and was so impressive, team officials asked them back for the traditional holiday game.

In the competition, the band played musical selections by Stephen Sondheim, as arranged by director Ralph Johnson, including "Not While I'm Around," "Have I Got a Girl for You," "Send in the Clowns," "Another Hundred People," and "Being Alive."

The band finished first in Flight I with 93.4 points, followed by Jennison High School (88.3 points) and Flushing (87 points). Linden won in Flight II, with Algonac first in Flight III.

Bands with up to 77 members compete in Flight III, with bands from 78-111 members in Flight II, and the largest bands in Flight I.

After the three flight winners are chosen by the judges, an overall state champion is crowned.

In addition to its flight and state titles, Plymouth won awards for best winds, best marching and maneuvering and best color guard.

The preliminaries in both Flight I and Flight III were held during the day at the Plymouth-Canton football field, with the preliminaries in Flight II at Livonia Franklin.

The top four in each flight then competed in the finals.

It was the second straight year the competition has been held in Plymouth.

Awards to the bands were passed out by principals of both Canton and Salem high schools, members of the school board and the president of the Michigan Competing Band Directors Association.

The Centennial Education Park band hasn't bowed to another band in the state for five years.

Literacy group seeks funds

after state denies it $15,000

By Diane Gale

An 80-year-old Westland woman depended on her husband to read and when he died recently she decided it was time to sign up for a literacy program.

The woman is the eldest of 102 students who are learning to read from 88 tutors involved with the Community Literacy Council, Inc., which started in August 1985.

The volunteer group operates out of Starkweather Center in Plymouth and although it's a separate organization, it works with the Plymouth-Canton School District.

HOWEVER, IN AUGUST the organization learned a state grant from the Library of Michigan was denied, according to council coordinator Carolyn Burns.

Plymouth's Dunning-Hough Library was denied the $15,000 grant it applied for on behalf of the council. Last year the Canton Library applied for and received the grant, Burns said.

Now the group is looking for other funding sources, including the Canton Community Foundation.

"We can't float the whole thing, but we might be able to help them out," said Bill Joyner, Canton Community Foundation executive director.

The foundation board decided Wednesday to loan the council $1,000 for an educational grant/loan, he said.

The state grant paid for reading materials, training volunteer tutors, the coordinator's salary, field trips to Greenfield Village and Henry Ford Museum, Greek Town and the Ann Arbor Museum of History as well as, publication and distribution of a newsletter.

The Canton Rotary has sponsored a walk/run for literacy benefit for the council and community awareness about the program.

Burns, a Canton resident, cautions that the tight financing doesn't spell the end of the program.

"I'M VOLUNTEERING my time as the coordinator," she said. "It's too good a program. It won't cease, but it's difficult to function on just a volunteer status."

Students and tutors are from Canton, Plymouth and other area communities. Half of the students are foreign-born.

One tutor, Burns said, worked with three men who worked for auto companies and were on the verge of retiring and wanted to start their own businesses. Their wives refused to be the only ones who could read.

For more information about the literacy program call 451-6555. Enrollment is open all year.

Computer helps speed court

By A. Giralt Bedford

The 35th District Court in Plymouth will be run faster and more efficiently thanks to a new computer system being put into use.

"We have portions up and running," said Judge James Garber, such as the traffic and civil side of the court.

The court was already computerized, but it had outgrown the old system, which together with some other 40 courts was connected to a main computer in Lansing.

"It was very slow reacting to us," Garber said, causing court employees to stare at blank screens for three and four minutes. As the main computer handled more cases, they drew power away from it.

THE NEW SYSTEM from Manatron Inc. is the first of its kind in Michigan, according to the computer manufacturer. One of its features is that it is a stand alone. "We can adapt it to fit our needs," Garber said.

The Manatron system includes two computer file servers and some 30 terminals. As the number of cases that the court handles increases, more terminals can be added. Another difference in the systems is that the new computers are considered "intelligent terminals, as one more is added, you're adding more memory," he said.

The chances of this system running out of space are almost impossible, said Garber who added the court handled some 38,000 cases last year and this year will take care of some 37,000 to 40,000 cases. For the new system to be outgrown, the situation in the court room would have to change drastically, he said.

At this moment, the court is operating both new and old computer system as the new one is being faced in. This can get hectic at times, Garber said, adding, "Things are running smoother than we thought."

The decision to buy the new system was made by Garber, the court administrator and the chief clerk. They searched for more than one year for the system.

Three people are seeking a spot on the Dunning-Hough Library board in Tuesday's election.

The candidates are incumbent Janet Campbell, Mary Kleam and Virginia Tornga. The Dunning-Hough Library as a district public library encompasses Plymouth and Plymouth Township. The board sets the library policies.

One of the issues library board members are discussing now is whether the library should be expanded or if a new building should be constructed in the township.

The three candidates for the four-year, unpaid term said they favor the library remaining at its present location.

Campbell has been a member of the board for six years. She said the main reason she is running for reelection is because she feels strongly about the library remaining downtown.

Kleam has been an elementary music teacher in the West Bloomfield schools for 10 years. For the last six or seven months she has been attending board meetings in preparation for her first run at elected office.

Tornga has been a volunteer at the library for six years. She said she feels this experience has made her aware of what the library needs are and how it works.

State candidates present views

The following candidates guide has been prepared by the League of Women Voters for the 6th District of the Michigan Senate and 34th District of the Michigan House.

Candidates in the 6th District, which includes Plymouth, Redford, Livonia and Northville, are incumbent R. Robert Geake, R-Northville, and Patrick McDonald, Democrat from Livonia.

The League of Women Voters is a non-partisan organization dedicated to encouraging participation in the democratic process by an informed electorate. The League does, at times, take stands on ballot issues but does not support or work against candidates.

In this guide, candidates provide biographical information in 50 words or less and answer six questions with answers limited to 50 words or less for each question. Following is the biographical information and questions-answers, arranged by districts:

6TH MICHIGAN SENATE

R. Robert Geake, 54, Northville, Republican, B.S. in special education, M.A. in guidance and counseling, and Ph.D. in education and psychology all from University of Michigan, state senator, elected trustee at-large Schoolcraft College 1969 and subsequently elected board chairman, elected to Michigan House of Representatives 1972, 1974, 1976 and to Michigan Senate in 1977, 1978, 1982, 1986.

Patrick McDonald, 43, Livonia, Democrat, B.A. from University of Detroit 1969, juris doctorate 1972 University of Detroit, self-employed attorney with office at 19120 Middlebelt, Livonia, former supervisor of Redford Township, active in CYO and Livonia Junior Football League coaching.

Robert Geake

Patrick McDonald

1. Question: What is your position on reproductive choice?

Geake: Pro-Life.

McDonald: I am Pro-Life.

2. Question: How would you provide for more equitable funding for schools? What alternatives are there to local property taxes?

McDonald: I would ensure that the state provides a minimal amount of funding for each student. Alternative to local property taxes for school funding being some type of sales tax or income tax earmarked for education. I'd ensure that funds actually go to schools, redirecting current state funds to education.

Geake: Senate Republicans support a cap on local property taxes and an increase in the Homestead Property Tax credit. We would allocate more general fund support for public education. Lottery income should not decrease general fund support but should be added to the school aid fund.

3. Question: What are your long-range priorities for the state of Michigan?

Geake: To broaden the role of the private sector in providing government services; improve the quality of public education; promote and expand environmental quality through stricter air and water pollution controls, toxic waste cleanup, and recycling incentives; expand and improve the delivery of mental health services; improve Michigan's job climate.

McDonald: (1) A more competitive educational system; (2) preserving our environment; (3) conserving our natural resources through recycling; (4) provide adequate jobs by forming a coalition between business and labor to prevent businesses from leaving the state and encourage new business growth.

4. Question: What should the criteria be for allocating funds among correctional facilities and various alternative programs?

McDonald: The cost of building new prisons and maintaining full prison facilities has skyrocketed and therefore it is appropriate that funds be allocated to half-way houses, boot camps, as well as parole programs for those types of prisoners who are non-violent and non-assaultive. It is important that we attempt to integrate the prisoners placed on parole back into society through half-way houses to insure that they do not end up back in our prison system again.

Geake: As vice-chairman of the Senate Appropriations subcommittee on corrections this has been an area of major responsibility for me. We can rehabilitate more convicted criminals at lower costs by expanding the use of required work programs, high intensity supervision of parole and probation, and the electronic tether program.

5. Question: What is the most serious environmental problem facing the state today? How should the remedies be funded?

Geake: Nuclear waste disposal —

We need a national plan for burial of low level radioactive waste in the most geologically secure area away from population centers, probably on federally owned land in the western part of the country. Less reliance on fossil fuels will lead to less air and water pollution.

McDonald: Michigan has numerous targeted toxic dump-sites that need to be cleaned up in future years at considerable expense to taxpayers. We must prevent development of further sites and continue to monitor and improve clean water/clean air standards. My opponent gives lukewarm support to the concept of polluters paying, which I wholeheartedly support.

6. Question: Access to health care for all in Michigan, medical insurance for the working poor, and long-term care for seniors and others are current health care issues in our state. How can you provide for these?

McDonald: A problem we face both on state and national level is providing adequate health insurance to all individuals including working poor and those not covered. Individuals and federal governments and business must create a plan meeting these needs. We spend enormous resources on health care but if properly aligned, we could provide coverage for everyone.

Geake: As chairman of the Appropriations subcommittee on social services, this is another area of major responsibility for me. Health care cost containment can be achieved through malpractice insurance reform, increased alcohol and drug abuse prevention and treatment, and greater competition among health care providers, yielding affordable health insurance for all.

Drunk driving laws' effectiveness questioned

By Janice Brunson
staff writer

On the eve of enacting tougher drunk driving laws in Michigan, critics suggest new laws are unnecessary, will not target repeat offenders who pose the greatest danger on the highways and may be unconstitutional.

The proposal, a reform package of five bills now under consideration by the state Senate, includes provisions that empower police to confiscate driving licenses prior to conviction and limits judicial discretion in sentencing.

Tougher laws are needed, according to Rep. David Honigman, R-West Bloomfield, because "judges are not exacting middle-range punishments. This ups minimum sentences for a serious crime that should be treated more seriously. Drunk driving is not victimless."

Honigman is chairman of the House committee that approved the package and sent it to the full House for final approval.

Birmingham attorney Robert Larin said existing laws are adequate and reform, if enacted as proposed, will result in "legal terror," because of a "tremendous opportunity for abuse."

Under the new law, motorists stopped for drunk driving must automatically submit to a breath test or lose their license on the spot, whether they are legally intoxicated or under the influence.

Breathalyzers, Larin said, are owned and certified by state police. Training to operate them is restricted by law to police officers. Although the tests are extremely sensitive, double testing for accuracy ceased two years ago.

SUCH A LAW "lets the officer make two judgments that the defendant is drunk and there is no right to refuse a breath test," said Livonia district judge Robert Brzezinski.

"These are points to be decided by a judge and jury. That's why we're elected, to determine the facts and find the truth. Defendants have a right to explain their side."

"Everybody's against drunk driving. But let judges do their work. If the legislature wants to take over, they should do it, but then don't expect us to rubber stamp everything they enact," Brzezinski added.

Farmington Hills district judge Frederick Harris said that if enacted, "the constitutionality of the law will ultimately have to be decided in the courts. I'm sure it will be tested."

Both judges said present sentences for drunk driving offenses reflect judicial discretion and are based upon sentencing guidelines established in Michigan's circuit and recorder courts.

New reform legislation would eliminate judicial discretion in sentencing, including the important area of restricting driving privileges. The proposal calls for an automatic 30-day suspension. (It also calls for a mandatory 48 hours in jail and 10 days community service for second convictions, up to 15 years in prison if the event of a death as the result of an accident, and up to five years in prison in the event of incapacitating injury.)

REFORM CRITICS say automatic suspensions of 30 days will create a new category of unlicensed motorists. Those favoring reform say the law will reverse the tendency by judges to impose lax sentences.

Sentencing trends since 1987, however, are towards harsher sentences, based on figures maintained by Michigan State Police.

During the past three years, the average fine for drunk driving has gone from no fine in 1987 to $400 in 1989. In the same period, the average fine for impaired driving has nearly doubled, from $300 to $500.

In addition, full or partial suspension of driving privileges remained steady from 1987 to 1989 — 180 days for drunk driving and 90 days for impaired driving.

In an analysis of drunk driving in Michigan, Marilyn Peterson of the House Legislative Analysis Section said figures in recent years indicate fewer arrests for drunk driving and declining traffic-related death rates. Still, alcohol continues to figure in half of all fatal accidents, drinking either by the driver or a passenger, she said.

Opponents and proponents of reform agree harsher laws are unlikely to affect repeat offenders.

"The real deterrent is the likelihood of getting caught," Honigman said, but most motorists who drink and drive are not caught.

Attorney James Jacobs of the New York University School of Law, an authority on the subject, disagreed.

"Drunk driving is the most commonly prosecuted offense in our lower criminal courts."

"Strong citizen concern and the enactment of implied consent laws, which pressure arrestees to provide breath samples on pain of license forfeiture, have joined with restrictions on pre-trial diversion to produce a very high conviction rate."

"Drunk drivers now constitute the largest offender category on probation. Under mandatory sentencing laws, they are also becoming an increasing presence in jails and state prisons."

Drunk driving is tragedy for driver, victim

By Janice Brunson

Elizabeth Granger's nightmare started Easter morning 1988.

Rushing to meet three adult children for holiday brunch, Granger, a soft-spoken woman of 57, ran a red light in Westland and hit another car, killing one occupant and crippling another for life.

Coping at the time with a divorce, the recent death of both parents and the suicide death of a close friend, Granger was drunk.

One year later, she pleaded nolo contendere to felonious driving and vehicular manslaughter, and was sentenced to 5-15 years in prison.

The former Southfield resident, once employed as a records supervisor in an area hospital, described herself as a once "active member in my community, church and children's schools." She is now incarcerated at the Florence Crane Women's Facility in Coldwater.

"My dearest hopes and prayers are to survive this harsh ordeal and return to a life with my family, to my work in a hospital and to all the normalcy I miss so much," Granger wrote recently in an account of life since the sentencing.

Her hopes and prayers may very well never be realized.

TWO FAMILIES have been destroyed, said Granger's sister, Rosemary Millon of Livonia, who visits Granger monthly in prison. "It's heartbreaking."

Granger's accident of April 3, 1988, continues to be devastating for occupants of the car she hit.

Driving to Easter Sunday church services, Gary Madar's car was struck at 10:39 a.m. Madar received minor injuries, but his mother, Doris Madar, 61, was killed. His wife, Elizabeth "Betsy" Madar, 27, was critically injured and is now a quadriplegic, requiring 24-hour care.

As for Granger's sentencing: "My sister is accepting (her fate) very well," Millon said.

"She is the exact opposite of someone you'd expect to be involved in something like this."

Keep Burger Center open, autism expert says

By Wayne Peal
Staff writer

The man who gave "Rainman" its authenticity has also given a vote of confidence to Burger Center, Wayne County's embattled school for autistic children.

The Garden City-based center should remain open according to Bernard Rimland, director of the Institute for Child Behavior and an advisor to the award-winning film. Praised for its sensitivity, "Rainman" depicts the relationship between an autistic adult and his non-autistic brother.

Burger Center, Rimland said, was one of the best facilities of its kind in the nation.

"This kind of center fulfills a need," said Rimland, who paid a late October visit to Burger Center. "There's a core of excellence here."

The only school of its kind in Michigan, Burger Center is at the heart of a controversy involving mainstreaming of special education students.

While the aging building will remain open next year, its long-term future remains in doubt.

AT ISSUE is whether autistic children should attend their own school or be "mainstreamed," like other special education students, into standard school buildings and classes.

Statewide, public school district have looked at placing students in the "least restrictive environment," said state special education director Richard Baldwin.

"We don't have a policy of mainstreaming per se," Baldwin said.

"But, since 1984 we've had a 13-step process for evaluating what's best for the child."

The process includes discussions with teachers, parents, school administrators, district psychologists and other mental health officials.

Those who favor mainstreaming say it encourages special education youngsters to function in the outside world, while increasing other youngsters' awareness to their special needs.

While mainstreaming is gaining widespread acceptance, Rimland remains critical of the approach.

"I think the (mainstreaming) ideology is fine, if it's not taken to the extreme," he said. "My feeling is that there are people who would rather see the ideology succeed than see the children succeed."

The ideal approach, Rimland said, involves both mainstreaming and center-based programs.

"MAINSTREAMING is like having a lot of medical clinics, they're great — but you need a hospital, too," he said.

The often-baffling nature of autism adds to the mainstreaming controversy.

Characterized by low ability to relate to others, diminished speaking skills and an almost robot-like dedication to daily routine, autism has only been acknowledged by the state as a distinct disability since 1980.

Almost all autistic children have either learning or emotional disabilities as well, experts say, making diagnosis even more difficult.

Burger's age and leaky roof is also an issue. Part of the building dates to the early 1940s, but the roof over a 1950s building wing poses the most problems.

Leaks were patched for the coming school year — 11 patches appear in one hallway.

While programs are supervised by the Wayne County Intermediate School district, the center is staffed by Garden City Schools employees.

Some 218 students, age 3-26, attend Burger Center programs. Students are bused from throughout the county.

Rimland's visit provided an overview of center activities. In one room, he watched as an energetic young teacher taught adolescents how to roll along walls, swing from a jungle gym, and power scooters across the floor — all in an effort to improve students' motor skills. In another room, he looked on as older students conducted woodworking activities.

Initially, a research psychologist, Rimland's involvement with autism studies began more than 25 years ago when his son was diagnosed as developmentally impaired. Upon study, Rimland learned the boy, now 34, was autistic.

"What I found was that the field was full of appalling ignorance," he said.

Rimland's San Diego-based institute publishes, "Autism Research Review," a quarterly newsletter devoted to autism-related issues.

His local visit was financed in part by Burger Center officials and by an area parents group devoted to keeping the center open.

"Having him here is a major event for us," said parents group leader Kenneth Howse of Livonia.

'Mainstreaming is like having a lot of medical clinics, they're great — but you need a hospital, too.'

ARTHRITIS AS A PAIN IN THE NECK

The neck vertebrae #1 and #2 are connected by a ligament whose lining is similar to the capsule that covers each hand joint. Thus, these 2 vertebrae are at risk for inflammation similar to the process that causes rheumatoid arthritis in the hand. When such inflammation occurs in the neck, the result is pain in the back of the skull.

In contrast, the neck vertebrae #5, 6, and 7 are prone to involvement in osteoarthritis. These are the vertebrae that move when we turn or bend our neck and over a lifetime of use the bone wears down. Calcium deposits may develop at the sites of movement, this process being accelerated by previous neck injury. The deposit can pinch the main nerve roots that come off the spinal cord, causing pain in the mid-neck area and numbness in the arms.

Ankylosing spondylitis is an arthritis that primarily attacks the back and neck. In this condition, the anterior part of the neck vertebrae may be encased in bone. This bone is brittle and even trivial trauma to the neck can cause a fracture of one or more of the neck vertebrae.

The above problems happen enough to put physicians on extra alert when an individual with arthritis complains of neck discomfort.

Attorney blasts state delay in school lawsuit

By Tim Richard
staff writer

An attorney told his 56 school district clients that the state Court of Appeals has failed for seven weeks to take the first step in their $72 million suit against the state.

"It borders on being scandalous," said Dennis Pollard, who filed the suit Sept. 13. He asked the appellate court to assign the Macomb Circuit Court their request for a preliminary injunction to prohibit the treasury from cutting their state aid.

"The court routinely could decide what forum to send adjudication of an injunction. Where's it going to be heard? We haven't heard. You have no access to anyone (in the court hierarchy) with any information," Pollard told a meeting of his 55 superintendent clients Thursday.

"In 'Durant' we had a decision (on assignment) within a week," said

Pollard, referring to a similar suit he won on behalf of Fitzgerald School District in Macomb County against the state.

Pollard predicted the case could drag on 10 years or more.

Pollard wants the appellate court to assign the new case to the same judge — George Deneweth — who upheld the school on ever major legal point.

TEN PERCENT of the state's 562 school districts — mainly in the metro suburbs and along the Great Lakes shores — are suing the state over the 1990 aid act. The law "recaptures" $72 million of aid for special education teaching and transportation, bilingual teaching and Social Security.

The schools contend the Legislature violated the 1978 Headlee amendment to the Michigan Constitution by failing to pay for programs the state mandated.

"That 'recapture' offends me," said Lawrence J. Nichols, superintendent of Royal Oak, previous superintendent in Northville and once an administrator in Livonia. "It says somehow we managed to sneak in, in the middle of the night, and stole it. The state government has failed to fund its own — not our — formula."

"Recapture" is a term coined by legislators.

The suing districts include Livonia, Northville, Plymouth-Canton and South Redford.

THE DISTRICTS all are "out of formula," meaning they receive no general state aid. The "recaptured" money was put into general state aid in a bill engineered by Reps. William Keith, D-Garden City, and James O'Neill, D-Saginaw, and Sen. Dan DeGrow, R-Port Huron.

"We've been portrayed as 'filthy rich, greedy districts,'" said Farmington Superintendent Michael Flanagan, whose district is also part of the suit.

"But in the long run, the in-formula districts will benefit. If they (legislators) can take it away from us, they can take it away from the rest."

The meeting was held in Gill Elementary School, in what Flanagan called the "modest" southern end of the Farmington district.

MANY PLAINTIFFS say they must ask local property tax increases or resort to layoffs to balance their budgets.

"Definitely next year we're into layoffs," said Rochester Superintendent John Schultz, predicting a $3 million revenue loss. The district has no plans to ask for a tax increase.

Flanagan said Farmington's $5.8 million loss is "devastating."

Royal Oak's Nichols said legislative leaders are talking about either statewide sharing of industrial and commercial property taxes or "dramatic" further cuts in categorical aid.

One superintendent asked Pollard if the appeals court's long delay were connected to the gubernatorial election.

"We have no idea what's going on," Pollard replied.

Both Gov. James Blanchard and his challenger, Sen. John Engler, supported the categorical aid cut. They and legislative leaders see it as necessary to reduce the funding gap between the richest districts ($8,000 per pupil) and the poorest (barely $2,500).

Nichols said that since 1978 the state had routinely underfunded categorical aid, but usually by only $20 million. This year the underfunding leaped.

"Sad? Sordid? Yeah, I think so — a tale littered with broken promises."

REP. KEITH, chair of the House Education Committee, has made no secret of his desire to end all categorical aid. His district includes Garden City and Inkster, both in-formula school systems.

Before the bill was passed, Keith said his idea is to put the "recapture" money into formula aid and increase the number of districts in the formula.

Currently about 70 percent of districts are in-formula. Keith would increase that to 80 or 90 percent.

GOP contender travels far to fight long odds

By Brian Lysaght
staff writer

Judy Miller admits she faces long odds to defeat Michigan's ever-popular Secretary of State, Richard Austin, but the Republican from Bloomfield Township says she is determined to try anyway.

Miller points to her car's odometer as proof of her efforts so far to out Democrat Austin. She's driven 5,000 miles in less than two months.

Along the way, the former Birmingham city commissioner and soon-to-be former state representative has learned the difficulty of campaigning for statewide office. Her state House district, the 65th, which includes Birmingham and Bloomfield Township, is tiny by comparison.

Miller's itinerary last week includes Grand Rapids, Jackson, Flushing and Alma, and she will be in Lansing on Election Day, Tuesday. There she will join the rest of the state Republican ticket: John Engler, the gubernatorial candidate who chose Miller; Engler's lieutenant governor selection, Connie Binsfeld; and his attorney general selection, Cliff Taylor.

"IT'S BEEN a very broadening experience for me," Miller said in an interview last week. If she doesn't win, she will return to her Bloomfield Township condominium, but she isn't revealing any plans beyond that. Miller represented the 65th District for six years.

Miller, 54, is given little chance of winning. Austin, 77, has been re-elected five times. The man whom drivers — and voters — see smiling from photographs in secretary of state offices was elected in 1970.

He trounced his last Republican opponent, Weldon Yeager, a former Bloomfield Township trustee, in 1986. Austin swept 82 of 83 Michigan counties and collected 1.6 million votes.

Miller is hoping for a better showing, though she seems realistic about her chances.

"It's a longshot no doubt about it. But there's no doubt also that I am the strongest candidate ever fielded by the Republican Party."

"MONEY? THERE'S not a lot of money," she said. Her campaign is centered on public appearances and a press packet sent to local newspapers and radio stations around the state, she said. She is concentrating on predominantly Republican areas of Michigan.

Miller said she would be a more active secretary of state than Austin, who rarely visited the legislature.

"I think he's resting on the laurels of what he did when he first came in to office," she said.

The Department of State could operate more efficiently and offices could be made "more user friendly," she said.

AMONG HER PROPOSALS:

- Increase the effectiveness of branch offices by better computer use, better staffing and more convenient hours and locations.
- Abolish the officeholder expense funds that legislators can set up, which she said allow for too many misuses — or at least to more strictly enforce rule breakings.

- Simplify the state's campaign finance law.

- Make custom license plates representing Michigan public colleges and universities to raise money for education and roads.

- Allow drivers to buy license plates every two years rather than annually to help cut lines.

She said Gov. James Blanchard has failed to provide leadership in Michigan, and that Engler would. Miller, who is pro-choice, said she found it easy to look beyond the abortion issue in supporting Engler, who is pro-choice. She said that Engler has a long record of appointing women to positions of power.

THIS IS Miller's second campaign this year. She passed up re-election to the House to challenge Rep. David Honigman for the state Senate seat vacated by Richard Pessier.

Honigman defeated Miller in the August GOP primary after a bitter and heated race. Miller said she and Honigman have yet to resolve differences from the primary.

"David and I have not really talked since the election," she said.

Miller said she is prepared to leave political office if Austin wins. She said her husband, Steven, continues to teach chemistry at Oakland University, and the couple would remain in their Bloomfield Township condominium.

She said she did not know her exact plans if not elected, but would not rule out another run for political office.

"I've always gone into something with the idea that it's the right thing to do for now," Miller said.

Never try to change tradition

If there is one thing I have learned, never tamper with tradition.

I once met a fellow food writer who always cut her turkey in half before roasting it. Finally, one holiday her husband said, "Why do you do this?" and she replied, "Because that's the way my mother did it." The husband then went to the grandmother and said, "Why do you do this?" and she said, "Because my oven was too small."

Hardly a column goes by without some mention of Wyandotte where I grew up, or my momma, and, believe me, when it comes to tradition, you never argue with a woman wearing a babushka and wielding a rolling pin.

Take last Thanksgiving, for instance. Families have been known to revolt at the sight of a strange dish. Marriages have become unglued because one partner preferred oysters in the stuffing.

Last year, I tried to bring some homemade cranberry relish to dinner. Now you have to realize that this batch of cranberry relish was made with two pounds of fresh-picked cranberries culled from a recent trip to Maryland and hand carried on the airplane to avoid smashing. The bowl was leaded Austrian crystal, hand wiped with a special $6 towel purchased just for crystal from some trendy mail-order shop on the West Coast. The recipe was made without the use of my Cuisinart and the berries were hand mashed. Even the orange peel was fresh dried from a dehydrator pulled from the bowels of the fruit cellar.

WHEN MOMMA hosts Thanksgiving, as she has done for the last 39 years of my life, you learn never to ask, "What can I bring?" You just make something and bring it. Last year I said to myself, "She always serves Ocean Spray Cranberry Jelly, so I'll surprise her with a homemade cranberry jelly that will blow the Ocean Spray away."

When I entered, carrying the sparkling bowl and its ruby red contents, Momma smiled and said, "Oh, that's nice." After the obligatory round of pre-dinner aperitifs, it was time to bring forth the bounty. As usual, all the women scurried into the kitchen. Not wishing to feel un-macho, I kind of slithered off the couch, mumbling something about the fact that I had to use the facilities. Then I turned left instead of right and headed into the kitchen. It was there I found my older sister, Rosie, preparing to open the Ocean Spray can on the old hand-cranked wall-mounted swing-away can opener. "Dear sister," I interrupted, "This year I made homemade cranberry relish so there will be no need to open a can."

I should have known better. Momma shrieked and almost dropped the Corning casserole of canned yams baked with marshmallows.

"Mind your own business, Lee," (Momma has always called me Lee when she is angry about something) was her retort. "Every Thanksgiving we served Ocean Spray and we will continue to do so as long as God grants me the ability to be here." At that moment she set down the bubbly casserole and whisked the can from Rosie's hand, only to open it herself.

THIS WAS ONE dish that had come straight from the can. While watching her position it on the Currier and Ives side dish, it almost looked like she was checking for the faint indentations on the cranberry jelly made from the side of the can.

I was going to attempt suggesting that this year's Thanksgiving dinner be at my house.

This column just changed my mind.

Pie PUMPKINS

Growers recommend sugar baby pumpkins as best for cooking

By Larry Janes
special writer

Three little pumpkins lying very still in a pumpkin patch on a great big hill. The first one said: I'm very very green but I'll be orange for Halloween. The second one said: I'm on my way to be a jack-o-lantern gay. The third one said: Oh me oh my today I'll be a pumpkin pie!

— a seasonal kindergarten rhyme

WHEN GROWING UP, my exposure to pumpkins was either culled from a pumpkin-patch selection that later would turn into a monstrous jack-o-lantern or Thanksgiving Day table.

Little did I know (or care) that statistics claim there are four different species of pumpkins and that each species contains more than 25 various strains. The pumpkin belongs to the gourd or melon family. Their cousins include the proliferous squash and those monstrous hill-climbers, the cucumbers.

The pumpkin is one of those lowly fruits (caught you — it's not a vegetable) that subscribes to Andy Warhol's theory that everyone is famous for 15 minutes of his or her lifetime. Seems that the pumpkin's popularity peaks during the last two weeks of October and then is rarely seen or heard from until next year.

The pumpkin has even been mocked during the Thanksgiving holidays. When you see pumpkin in a can, it better say 100 percent pumpkin because some crafty old geezer of a food processor seems to think it doesn't taste very good alone and therefore must be mixed with butternut and acorn squash.

THEN AGAIN, you probably never knew there are two basic kinds of pumpkins. The first and most widely known is, of course, the jack-o-lantern pumpkin, grown exclusively for table decoration. The flesh of the jack is very stringy and has about as much flavor as a ball of kite string.

The jack's counterpart is known as the "sugar brown baby" because instead of being grown for its girth, it is harvested small. The edible meat is only stringy from whence the seeds are attached. Once the seeds and seed strings are removed, the meat can be cooked into a very tasty dish.

It's anyone's guess as to why pumpkins are so popular around the end of October, but rumor has it from a few local pumpkin growers polled about their stock that the harvest moon makes cooking pumpkins so flavorful.

Apparently the "light" frosts make the fruit of the pumpkin sweeter. As the vines begin to wither, all of a sudden the pumpkin gets these shots of adrenaline, causing all the natural sugars to give it one last shot. But the sugar pumpkin grower has to work fast.

Perhaps sugar pumpkin growers meet and secretly sit around their television sets, watching the weathercast. When the almanac and weather reporters beckon a "hard" frost, growers click into a frenzy trying to get as many pumpkins out of their fields as possible before the frost begins to destroy what's left of the crop. Many pumpkins are left in the field to help seed next year's crop.

IF YOU THINK pumpkins ultimately end up gracing the front porch or in a pumpkin pie, try again. Trendy gourmards who enjoy eating turtle eggs and eel liver prize the pumpkin blossom as a true delicacy. These trendoids look for fully opened blossoms to make sure no bees are trapped inside. They then dip the blossoms into a batter and deep fry for one minute.

Next to the meat of the pumpkin itself inevitably ending up in pies, soups, breads and muffins, the next important by-product is the seeds. Some purists like to boil them first while some claim the only way to make good pumpkin seeds is to dry them for three days before roasting.

Proud as Peacocks of Amish turkeys

By Joan Boram
special writer

It's always a pleasant feeling to anticipate a trend, especially when you're 20 years ahead of the rest of the world.

Marilyn and Jerry Peacock are much too nice to act smug, but Peacock's Poultry Farm has been selling Amish poultry and beef, supplied by the same 12 Amish farmers, since 1970.

"It was before Amish was 'in,'" says Jerry Peacock, "and before people were concerned about chemicals and additives. My father, Thomas Peacock, was looking for a reliable source of farm-raised poultry and beef, and someone put him in touch with the Amish in Indiana."

"The chickens, turkeys, ducks and beef we sell are raised and sold without any chemicals or preservatives. It takes a full 12 weeks to raise a chicken without chemical help, as opposed to eight weeks with injections."

Jerry and wife Marilyn are the third Peacock generation to run the business. Located next to the Peacock home, which was formerly the Peacock farmhouse, the store also sells Amish jellies, jams and relishes, as well as Amish potato chips, butter, cheese and brown eggs. There's even Amish popcorn in small burlap bags. All are produced without chemicals or preservatives.

"WE HAVE a family policy," says Jerry. "We don't sell anything that we don't like, so we can give an honest opinion. If one likes something and one doesn't, we'll carry the item."

"There's just one exception to the rule," adds Marilyn. "The candy. It was so good, we ate it all. The Amish women make it by hand, and the chocolate was so creamy and the mint so fresh that we just couldn't keep away. Finally, we just quit carrying it."

"People have to be careful about poultry that's called Amish," she cautions. "Federal Compliance Law states only that a bird has to be killed in Amish country. It can be raised anywhere, under any circumstances."

"One of our longtime customers, who is allergic to chemicals, bought some Amish chicken at a large grocery chain and reacted to the chemicals in it. Consumers should ask for some proof that the poultry was actually raised by the Amish."

The Peacock family — including Lora and Cyndi (fourth generation) and Cyndi's kids (fifth-generation Shawna, 27 months, and Nicholas, 16 weeks) — is gearing up for the holidays. Nicholas is a mite young to get into the spirit of the season, but Shawna is already adept at helping her mother put the eggs on the shelf.

HOLIDAYS MEAN "turkey" at Peacock's, which sells at least 30,000 of them, wholesale and retail, in a seven-week period. This year, for the first time, the Peacock turkeys, raised especially for them, are wrapped in a cryovac vacuum bag. Each bag carries the Peacock name and specifies "Amish raised."

"It's important that the turkey be sealed in an air-tight bag because they're not frozen and there are no preservatives," says Cyndi, as she feeds Shawna slivers of creamy Baby Swiss cheese.

Every Peacock turkey has an oven timer that pops up when done. Amish turkeys cook faster than ordinary turkeys — about 12 minutes per pound, and they're much juicier than others, as well.

"You want to see a madhouse? Come out here the week before Thanksgiving. Cars are lined up on Rochester Road with their parking lights on, waiting for someone to pull out of the parking lot so they can get in. We just can't handle more than 400 people a day, even with extended hours. It's not a question of enough personnel, we just don't have the room in the store," Cyndi says.

Ninety nine percent of holiday orders are special order, and many customers have their orders in already. And — you won't believe this — the store just got a telephone for the first time ever.

"WE HAD TO," says Marilyn. "There's another store with a name similar to ours, and she was getting all of our calls. Then Cyndi called "information" and the operator said, "I wish I did have Peacock's number. I must have had 300 calls today asking for it," so we got a phone for humanitarian as well as business reasons."

There are rumors that smaller households are buying smaller turkeys, but you can't prove it by the Peacock customers.

"People like leftovers," says Cyndi. "We take orders for sizes from 14-22 pounds. The average is about 20 pounds. We have three or four old-time customers who just take the biggest turkey they can get. Last year, one customer, who weighs about 90 pounds, walked out behind a 44-pound turkey. She had to have help getting it in and out of the oven."

After the last car is out of the driveway and the last customer has walked out with the next-to-the-last turkey, what does Marilyn Peacock do? You might think she would go on a cruise or at least to a movie, but no. She goes to the cooler, takes out the last turkey and prepares a full dinner for 14 people. "We just love turkey," she says, with a broad grin.

THE SIX-MINUTE TURKEY

In planning your turkey dinner, remember that whole turkeys range in size from 6 to more than 30 pounds, are available fresh or frozen and may be pre-basted. If you allow 1 pound of turkey per person you will have plenty for the dinner and some for your favorite leftover recipes.

If the turkey is frozen, leave in original bag and thaw in refrigerator for three to four days (24 hours for each 5 pounds of turkey) or cover with cold water, changing water frequently (1/4 hour per pound of turkey). Refrigerate or cook turkey as soon as thawed.

For your 6-minute turkey, simply follow these easy steps. Remove plastic wrap from thawed turkey, remove giblets and neck from body cavities, rinse turkey inside and out, pat dry with paper towel, return legs to hock lock or band of skin, tuck tips of wings akimbo, back of turkey, and skewer neck skin to back.

Place turkey breast-side up on rack in foil-lined pan. Place a tent of aluminum foil loosely over turkey to prevent over-browning. Place in oven and roast according to chart. Foil tent may be removed last half hour for a final browning.

MOMMA'S STUFFING

6 medium onions
2 cups stale bread crumbs
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 tablespoon (or more) sage
2 tablespoons butter, melted
1/4 cup chicken broth or turkey broth
Salt and pepper to taste

Chop and saute the onions in the butter until tender, over low heat. Stir in the broth. Combine bread crumbs with parsley and sage. Using a slotted spoon, remove onions and toss into bread crumb mixture. Moisten with just enough broth to create a stuffing. Season to taste with salt and pepper.

MOMMA'S ROAST TURKEY

1 Hen turkey
Salt and pepper
One cinder block

First off, you must find one of the biggest turkeys in town. It must be larger than a Nesco roaster. Literally wash the bird in the kitchen sink, using everything but soap. If you miss a pinfeather, Momma will haunt you every Thanksgiving for life. Shake the bird dry. Season inside and out with salt and pepper. Stuff with sage and onion stuffing.

Place bird in Nesco roaster. Since bird is larger than roaster, it will be necessary for someone to go behind the garage and find cinder block. This cinder block must be washed well, first by the outside hose. (This can only be done on a 28-degree Thanksgiving morning.) The cinder block then must be scrubbed in the basement washtub and shaken dry. The cinder block should be wrapped in newspaper (preferably the food section) and wrapped again in three layers of tinfoil. Place the wrapped block on the lid of the Nesco roaster, hopefully to cover the bird. If the lid fails to keep closed, repeat steps using a second cinder block.

Roast at 325 degrees until the legs fall off, basting every 15 minutes with pan juices and an occasional shot of brandy.

APPROXIMATE ROASTING TIME

Weight: 8-12 pounds, unstuffed 3-4 hours, stuffed 4-5 hours; 12-16 pounds, unstuffed 3 1/2-5 hours, stuffed 4 1/2-6 hours; 16-20 pound, unstuffed 4 1/2-6 hours, stuffed 5 1/2-7 hours; 20-24 pounds, unstuffed 5 1/2-6 1/2 hours, stuffed 6 1/2-7 1/2 hours.

Turkey is done when meat thermometer registers 180-185 degrees, thick part of drumstick feels soft when pressed with thumb and forefinger or drumstick moves easily. Stuffing in a turkey needs to reach 165 degrees to be sufficiently cooked.

HOT TURKEY POT PIE

4 cups cooked, cubed turkey
1/2 cup butter
1 1/4 cups chopped onion
4 sweet red peppers, finely chopped
4-5 green chilies, halved and seeded
1/2 cup plus 2 tablespoons flour
5 cups turkey broth (chicken bouillon may be substituted)
2 cups grated Cheddar cheese
Salt
Freshly ground black pepper
2 packages (10 ounces) frozen patty shells, thawed (or your own favorite pie crust, rolled thick)
1 egg beaten

Melt butter in a saucepan. Add the chopped onion, peppers and chilies. Cook over low heat, stirring frequently for about 10 minutes. If desired, the chilies can be removed at this stage.

Stir flour into vegetables and cook for 1 minute. Remove from the heat and stir in the broth (chicken bouillon may be substituted). Cook, stirring constantly, until the mixture comes to a boil. When it has thickened, remove from the heat and stir in the cheese. Adjust the seasoning. Spoon over cubed turkey in 2-quart casserole. Place thawed patty shells very close together on a lightly floured board and pinch edges together to make a sheet of dough. Roll out into a shape to fit the top of the casserole. If using your own favorite pastry, roll out thick to fit casserole. Seal the edges and brush the top with beaten egg. Place on a cookie tray and cook in a very hot oven (450 degrees) for 30 minutes. Reduce temperature to 325 degrees and cook for 30 minutes longer.

TURKEY POCKET SANDWICH

2 cups finely diced cooked turkey
1/4 cup finely diced celery
1/4 cup minced green onion
2 hard cooked eggs, chopped
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
Dash cayenne pepper
1/4 cup mayonnaise

Combine all ingredients, mixing well. Can be covered and refrigerated for several hours to allow flavors to blend. Use as sandwich filling for pita bread or your favorite sandwich bread.

PITA BREAD (POCKET BREAD)

1 teaspoon sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup hot water
1 envelope (1 tablespoon) dry yeast
2 cups flour

In mixing bowl, combine sugar, salt and hot water. Stir to dissolve sugar and salt. Allow to cool to lukewarm. Sprinkle yeast over and allow to dissolve. Add flour, 1/4 cup at a time. Turn dough onto floured surface and knead thoroughly. Divide dough into 12 small pieces. Roll dough pieces into balls. With rolling pin, roll each ball into a 5-inch circle and place on baking sheet. Bake at 500 degrees for 5-7 minutes or until puffed and golden. Makes 12 rounds.

Sugar baby pumpkins are the best for cooking

Personally speaking, the first grade class at Cleveland School in Livonia and myself both agree that fresh-picked pumpkin seeds picked by tiny little hands make the best-tasting seeds, when the seeds spread out on a cookie sheet, sprinkled with fresh ground kosher salt and baked at 350 degrees for 20 minutes.

Pumpkin is also utilized by dehydration for many institutional foods. The pumpkin is first drum dried while being mixed with starch and sugar and can be used for many pies, breads and mixes. After dehydration, the pumpkin mixture is packed as is or mixed with additional additives such as dried milk powder, dried eggs and flavorings, for packaged, dehydrated pumpkin-pie filling. The average culinarian, however, will see little availability of these products as they are mainly intended for the institutional market.

Topping the list of culinary trends is the miniature pumpkin, grown in Michigan, Indiana, Tennessee, Florida and California. While not for carving into jack-o-lanterns, these perfect miniatures can be cooked and eaten like any winter squash. They lend themselves nicely to stuffing, in addition to being cooked whole with just a dollop of butter and have been burdened with an overly cute name — "Jack Be Little Pumpkins." They can be ordered through Frieda's Finest Produce Specialties, P.O. Box 38488, Los Angeles, CA 90058.

If your local grocer or farmer's market still has small sugar baby pumpkins sitting around, why not pick one up and try your skill with it in the kitchen?

BAKED PUMPKIN

1 small sugar pumpkin
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
3 tablespoons chopped onion
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon fresh ground pepper
1/4 teaspoon paprika
1/4 cup seasoned breadcrumbs

Remove seeds and strings from inside of pumpkin. Cut into pieces and pare. Boil in lightly salted water for 30 minutes or until tender. Drain and mash. Set aside. Melt butter in a medium skillet. Saute onions and peppers until translucent. Stir in salt, pepper, paprika and then pumpkin. Turn into a lightly greased baking dish and sprinkle with seasoned breadcrumbs. Bake at 400 degrees for 25 minutes. Serves 6.

EASY PUMPKIN SOUP

2 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon chopped parsley
Salt and pepper to taste

Mix pumpkin with stock. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat and stir in milk. Add remaining ingredients. Cook over low heat, stirring occasionally for 15 minutes.

PUMPKIN PIE

2 cups mashed pumpkin
1 cup milk
3 egg yolks, beaten
1/4 cup sugar
1 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon cloves
1/4 teaspoon ginger
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon salt
3 egg whites, beaten stiff
Plain pie pastry

Line a pan with pastry. Set aside. Mix the pumpkin with the milk and stir in egg yolks. Combine sugar with the cloves, ginger, nutmeg, salt and cinnamon. Stir into pumpkin mixture. Fold in beaten egg whites. Pour into pie pan lined with pastry and bake at 450 degrees for 10 minutes, then reduce temperature to 375 and continue baking for 20 minutes.

Chef's suggestion: Stir in chopped nuts, a little dry sherry or some raisins for a delectable addition.

PUMPKIN MUFFINS

2 cups cooked mashed pumpkin
1/4 cup oil
1/4 cup honey
1 1/4 cups whole wheat flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon nutmeg
1/4 teaspoon cloves
1/4 teaspoon ginger
Pinch salt
2 eggs

Mix together the pumpkin with the oil and honey. Combine dry ingredients and stir into pumpkin mixture. Beat eggs and stir in. Mix well. Pour into lightly greased and floured muffin pans and bake at 350 degrees for 20-30 minutes.

Recipe stands test of time and tummies

Sometimes I wonder if telephone directories aren't beginning to replace cookbooks. What with the fast pace of life today, many people opt for dialing "M" for meals, preferring to order out for a dinner that will be delivered rather than preparing it themselves.

Frozen dinners also have had their impact felt in the kitchen, with meal preparation often consisting of pulling a tray out of a box and zapping it in the microwave for the allotted time.

Although these are fast ways to get food, all of this dining and ordering out does change the way in which we live and eat, as well as the way we cook. Ultimately, it is bound to have an effect on the way in which we share and pass on recipes from one generation to another.

It was with great pleasure I received a letter from Gina Morgante-Raupp, who included a recipe for a dish that has been a family tradition through four generations. Originally prepared by Morgante-Raupp's Italian-born Grandma DiLeo, this dish has successfully withstood not only the test of time but also the test of many tummies. Based on that information, I knew it had the right stuff to qualify for being this week's Winner Dinner.

Hailing from Farmington, Morgante-Raupp is a buyer in purchasing in the Climate Control Division of Ford Motor Co. Currently she is one month into what will be a six-month medical leave, the first time in years she hasn't been working or going to school. Besides housebreaking her brand-new English springer spaniel, she has attended training sessions presented by the Oakland County Literacy Council and is looking forward to spending a few hours each week helping to teach another adult how to read.

WITH SO MUCH spare time on her hands while she has been convalescing, she also has been doing some sewing at home for the Dominican Monastery in Farmington Hills. Morgante-Raupp's love of cooking comes to her naturally, as her grandmother was a noted cook and her mother, Frances, cooked for the nuns at the Mary Magdalene Convent in Hazel Park for 12 years. Married and the stepmother of four grown daughters, she loves to travel with her husband. The couple especially enjoys staying in Bed and Breakfast inns throughout the United States and Canada. The two have become particularly fond of Santa Fe, N.M., and are considering retiring there someday.

Thank you, Gina Morgante-Raupp, for sharing your time-tested family recipes with us, and congratulations on being this week's Winner Dinner Winner. Wishing you continued good health, I'm sure that your grandmother would be pleased to know that her recipes were shared with so many people.

Observer & Eccentric Winner Dinner

GRANDMA DILEO'S BREAD CRUMB ROAST

This dinner has a stew-like consistency because everything is cooked in one pan, making it quick and easy to prepare. For entertaining, the recipe may be doubled and prepared well ahead of serving.

Trimmed round steak, cut into serving-size pieces, may be used in place of the chicken for a different taste treat. The chicken dish takes only 1 hour to cook but you would need to increase the cooking time for tougher cuts of meat.

- 1 chicken, cut in pieces — round steak may be substituted
- 2 large potatoes, cut into chunks
- 1 medium onion, quartered
- 1 cup Italian seasoned bread crumbs
- 1/4 — 1/2 cup grated Parmesan or Romano cheese
- 1 can peas, 17-ounce size

Sauce

- 1 can or jar of all-purpose Italian sauce, 15-ounce size (Morgante-Raupp recommends the Dei Fratelli brand)
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1/4 teaspoon oregano

Place meat, potatoes and onion in a roaster pan or 13-by-9-by-2 baking dish. Add 1 or 2 inches of water and cover. Bake at 350 degrees for 40 minutes. Remove the cover and drain almost all the liquid at the bottom of the baking dish. Mix the drained peas in with the sauce and pour that mixture over the chicken. Cover and bake at 375 degrees for an additional 20 minutes. Remove the cover and sprinkle the bread crumbs over the baked mixture. Spread the grated cheese on top of the bread crumbs and place the entire dish under the broiler until the cheese starts to melt and the bread crumbs are lightly browned. Serve with Italian bread.

GREEN BEAN SALAD

A refreshing change from the tried and true tossed salad, this green bean salad is easy to make and gets better the longer it has to marinate.

- 1 pound fresh, cooked green beans or 1 can straight or French cut green beans, 17-ounce size
- 1/2 teaspoon garlic powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt-free seasoning (Mrs. Dash)
- 1/4 cup red wine vinegar
- 2 tablespoons olive oil
- 2 green onions, chopped
- 2 tablespoons sesame seeds, optional

After cooking and chilling the green beans, sprinkle them with garlic powder, minced onions and salt-free seasoning. Add wine vinegar, olive oil and sesame seeds, and chill.

MANDARIN CAKE

- 1 cholesterol-free pound cake
- Low-cholesterol mandarin orange frozen yogurt
- 1 can mandarin orange segments, drained, 16-ounce size

Slice the pound cake and top with 1 scoop frozen yogurt. Spoon the mandarin orange segments on top.

Shopping List

- 1 chicken, cut in pieces (round steak may be substituted)
- 2 large potatoes, cut into chunks
- 1 medium onion, quartered
- Italian seasoned bread crumbs
- Grated Parmesan or Romano cheese
- 1 can or jar all-purpose Italian sauce (Dei Fratelli brand), 15-ounce size
- 1 can peas, 17-ounce size
- Salt
- Sugar
- Pepper
- Oregano
- 1 pound fresh green beans or 1 can straight or French cut green beans, 17-ounce size
- 2 green onions
- Garlic powder
- Salt-free seasoning, Mrs. Dash

Meritage uses blends of Bordeaux grapes

Meritage (rhymes with heritage) is the name adopted for California proprietary wines styled in the Bordeaux image. These wines are always in the super-premium category but may not be labeled with a varietal name since they contain less than 75 percent of a single grape variety.

Meritage wines must be blended entirely from Bordeaux grape varieties. For red wines, this includes cabernet sauvignon, cabernet franc, merlot, malbec, and petit verdot. For white wines, the blend is limited to sauvignon blanc, semillon and muscadelle.

Until 1978, the best California cabernet sauvignons were made entirely from cabernet sauvignon grapes and most California wineries followed this model.

Winemakers generally agree that, of the Bordeaux varieties grown in California, cabernet sauvignon is most complex in aroma and flavor. It is the slowest to develop and provides the structure which holds the other elements together.

MERLOT BROADENS the palate impression of cabernet sauvignon while contributing a fleshier, more expansive mouthfeel and a subtle perfume of strawberries and raspberries.

Cabernet franc has an aroma that emphasizes the cherry and bell pepper character of cabernet sauvignon. Malbec highlights the wine's fruit intensity with raspberry flavors reminiscent of zinfandel.

One of the leaders in the effort to produce proprietary Bordeaux-style wine is Lyeth Vineyards.

Eleanor and Ray Heald

Lyeth blends grape varieties and vineyard characteristics to build a wine that has both concentration and richness. "For my palate, 100 percent varietal cabernet sauvignon is frequently too aggressive," says winemaker Bill Arbios.

On average, Lyeth Red is 75 percent cabernet sauvignon, 20 percent merlot, and 5 percent cabernet franc and malbec.

Merlot from Alexander Valley contributes herbaceous, raspberry, plumy fruit aromas and flavors, along with richness and body. Cabernet franc is delicate and light with berry character that is often spicy and black peppery. Malbec provides depth of color, berry-like aromas and black raspberry and peppery flavors.

"WE'RE LOOKING for a complex, harmonious, balanced, rich, soft and approachable wine with no single component sticking out," Arbios says. "Cabernet sauvignon gives the wine structure. It has muted bell pepper qualities with plums, currants and varietal spiciness in the eucalyptus, mint end of the spectrum."

"The other three varieties flesh out the wine and give it complexity. Merlot shows green olives and cassis. Cabernet franc highlights strawberries and general fruitiness while malbec is chewy and spicy."

Arbios' goal with Lyeth White is to pattern it after the great white Bordeaux, Laville Haut Brion. Principally a blend of sauvignon blanc and semillon, the proportions vary from vintage to vintage depending on the ripeness of sauvignon blanc.

Don't despair if freezer fails

WINE SELECTIONS OF THE WEEK

1988 Lyeth Wine ($14) features melon, pear, orange rind and fig-like aromas with an effusive floral character. Its lush fruit and generous mouthfeel make this one of California's top white bordeaux-styled blends.

1986 Lyeth Red ($25) exhibits the aromas of violets, cherries, vanilla, chocolate, berries, toasty oak and spice. Rich, supple, full-range flavors reflect the nose with balanced oak, chocolate and nutmeg accents.

The well-integrated finish is long and persistent. Thumbs up.

Lois Thieleke

home economist, Cooperative Extension Service

Coping with a non-functioning freezer can be frustrating if it's packed with foods you have grown or foods you have purchased.

Time, energy and money lost are especially maddening, so naturally you would like to salvage as much as possible. No matter what season of the year we still experience power outages, or an appliance can be mistakenly unplugged or maybe it's a mechanical failure. Whatever the reason, the question remains, What can I save and what needs to be thrown away?

Don't panic. Freezers are well insulated and each package or frozen food acts as a block of ice protecting the food around it. If possible, find out how long your freezer will be out. If it can be started again in a safe time you needn't worry at all. Resist all temptations to look inside because each time you do you are reducing the freezer's effectiveness.

When you initially put food in the freezer, keep meat and poultry packages separate so if you have a melt down and they start to thaw, their juices won't get on other foods. Appearances or odor are not reliable indicators of a food's safety. Never taste food to check if it's OK. Even the smallest amount of certain food-poisoning bacteria is lethal.

REFREEZE ONLY if the package still contains ice crystals, is hard in the middle and is very cold to the touch. If the food is soft, mushy, lots of juice in the package and lukewarm — throw it away. Frozen bacteria are not dead bacteria. When they warm up they become active and can cause food poisoning. Throwing some foods away is certainly cheaper than a trip to the hospital.

Be careful refreezing thawed meats, poultry and fish. Examine these packages very carefully before refreezing or even eating. Ground meats are particularly susceptible to spoilage due to the large amount of surface area. Discard any ground meat or fish that is thawed to room temperature. Do not refreeze fish unless it is still mostly solid. If thawing but the fish is still cold to the touch, cook immediately and consume.

Throw any meat, poultry, fish product away that has been about 40 degrees Fahrenheit for more than two hours. (Do not ever thaw meats on the counter at room temperature.) These all must be thawed in the refrigerator to ensure a safe product.

Thawed fruits usually start to ferment when they start to spoil. This will not make them dangerous to eat but will spoil flavor and quality. Vegetables that are completely thawed but still in good condition can be cooked, eaten or cooked and refrozen. Refreeze packages of vegetables if they still contain ice crystals. The quality may be questionable on refrozen vegetables.

Refreezing thawed baked goods results in a very poor-quality product. Store thawed baked goods in the refrigerator to keep fresh and eat within a few days. Commercially frozen food packages generally say, Do not thaw or refreeze. Follow the directions on the box.

HOMEMADE COMBINATION foods can be refrozen if hard in the middle and still contain ice crystals. Do not refreeze thawed ice cream; the eating quality is very poor. Shake the cans of frozen fruit juices. If the contents are totally thawed, reconstitute and use.

Foods in the freezing unit above a refrigerator are more difficult to keep safe during a power outage. Keep the door closed as long as possible. Generally the temperature in these units are not as cold as an entire freezer so foods will thaw quicker. A separate freezer should run at zero degrees or below and a refrigerator freezer will generally run at 10 degrees above zero. Watch the ice cubes or ice cream. When they become liquid, start checking other foods and either cook and eat or cook, and refreeze if possible.

On the Oakland County Cooperative Extension Service Food Hotline (858-0904), about 40 percent of all calls are regarding food safety issues, not only about non-functioning freezers but thawing food at room temperature on kitchen counters. Remember, to keep foods safe, they should not be out of refrigeration or out of cooking temperatures for longer than four hours.

For some foods, two hours is a better guideline. Keep foods hot, above 150 degrees; keep them cold, below 40 degrees, and keep them clean by frequent washing of hands and utensils and working area. Many people attribute headache, diarrhea, vomiting, upset stomach to flu when more than likely it is a form of food poisoning!

IT'S GOT TO STOP!

For murderers, drug dealers and thugs, the Michigan Supreme Court has thrown out tough legal sentences.

Something intolerable is happening with the Michigan Supreme Court and you need to know about it.

Our lower courts are handing out tough legal sentences to criminals, but time and again, the Michigan Supreme Court is throwing out these tough legal decisions.

CLARK DURANT takes a hard-hitting approach to this issue because the Supreme Court is wrong. The incumbent justices up for re-election refuse to debate it and the issues in this campaign. People need to know what the Supreme Court is doing. It has to change.

And only YOU can change the imbalance on the Supreme Court.

SUPREME COURT CASE #1

PEOPLE VS. MOORE Decided May 8, 1989.

The Crime: On February 19, 1985, with two witnesses present, a 34-year-old man kills his ex-girlfriend. She pleads for her life. He shoots her twice. He stabs her seven times as she struggles to get away.

Conviction: A jury convicts him of second degree murder. The law says his sentence can be "life or any term of years."

Trial Court: At sentencing, the trial court considers the brutality of the crime, the defendant's past record over 15 years, including convictions for armed robbery and rape, and the judge's desire that the man not be on the street again.

The Sentence: 100 - 200 years.

Court of Appeals agrees.

Michigan Supreme Court: by one vote throws out sentence.

Michael F. Cavanagh, up for re-election, writes majority opinion and casts deciding vote to throw out sentence. Riley Boyle Griffin dissent. New sentence by the lower court then reduces the original by 50% because of the Supreme Court ruling.

The Bottom Line: Unless the Supreme Court is changed, this ruling requires all future murderers to get lower sentences.

SUPREME COURT CASE #2

PEOPLE VS. MILBOURN Decided Sept. 12, 1990.

The Crime: On December 18, 1984, a man breaks into ex-girlfriend's apartment. Destroys her belongings. Later terrorizes, threatens and assaults her. Karen Graham, the victim, says, "I was afraid, I felt that he would murder me."

Conviction: A jury convicts him of breaking and entering. The law says his sentence can be up to 15 years.

Trial Court: At sentencing the trial court says the defendant is "an extreme danger to society."

The Sentence: 10 - 15 years.

Court of Appeals agrees.

Michigan Supreme Court: throws out sentence.

Michael F. Cavanagh, up for re-election, votes to throw out sentence. Riley Boyle Griffin dissent. New sentencing is not yet scheduled, but a lower sentence is required because of the Supreme Court's ruling. Karen Graham, the victim, says, "I just don't understand the Supreme Court. I guess I'm afraid for my life again."

The Bottom Line: Unless the Supreme Court is changed, this ruling requires all future thugs like this one to get lower sentences.

SUPREME COURT CASE #3

PEOPLE VS. SCHULTZ Decided Aug. 29, 1990.

The Crime: April 28, 1987, a middle school teacher is convicted of possessing more than 225 grams but less than 600 grams of cocaine.

The Law: The legislature requires a minimum of 20 years in prison for possessing such a large amount of cocaine, no matter the prior record.

The Sentence: 20 - 30 years in prison.

Michigan Supreme Court: by one vote throws out sentence.

Michael F. Cavanagh and Patricia Boyle, up for re-election, vote to throw out sentence. Riley Griffin Brickly dissent. Lower court will order a reduced sentence, by at least 50%, because of Supreme Court ruling.

The Bottom Line: "Hundreds of drug dealers who were sentenced during and after 1988 are entitled to be resentenced," according to Michigan Law Weekly. "The court is just making this stuff up as they go along," says Michael Modelski, Chief, Appellate Division, Oakland County Prosecutor's Office.

Victim Karen Graham's Comments: "The Supreme Court didn't have to go through it themselves. They weren't in the courtroom. They didn't see the defendant. They didn't see the evidence. I don't trust them. They aren't for a victim. They're for the criminal."

In each case, Michael Cavanagh, up for re-election, voted to throw out tough legal sentences. The Detroit News, after reviewing a number of Justice Cavanagh's opinions, states that "the legal philosophy of Justice Cavanagh is too disconnected from the realities of everyday life."

WE'VE GOT TO CORRECT THE IMBALANCE ON THE SUPREME COURT.

CLARK DURANT will be the tough judge we need on the Michigan Supreme Court. The Detroit News says, "Clark Durant's kind of thinking will be useful on the Michigan Supreme Court." According to The Macomb Daily, "Durant... offers a diverse background to the state court (and is) able to weigh decisions on the merit of existing law, rather than partisan thinking.... Clark Durant will be a good addition to our Supreme Court."

The Traverse City Record Eagle endorses Durant; calls him an "intelligent, clear-thinking... well-spoken, reflective attorney" and notes Durant's respect for the Constitution.

CLARK DURANT is respected. A law grad of Notre Dame, Durant is a former Vice President of Hillsdale College. As Trustee of the Ann Arbor railroad, he turned around a bankrupt business. He was appointed by President Reagan to the Legal Services Corp., was confirmed by the United States Senate, and served four years as chairman. He's been married for 17 years. He and his wife Susan have four children.

Canton controls Rockets, 22-16

By Brad Emone
staff writer

Coach Bob Khoenle obviously believes that variety is the spice of life.

The Plymouth Canton Chiefs used some imaginative play-calling Saturday to make their first state playoff appearance a successful one, downing host Westland John Glenn in the Class AA Region II semifinals, 22-16.

Despite being out-gained 316-206 in total yardage, the Chiefs kept Glenn off-balance all afternoon and played almost mistake-free football to chalk up their ninth win in 10 games, while assuring themselves a spot in next Saturday's Region II final (against Saturday night's Redford Catholic Central-Ypsilanti winner).

Quarterback Karl Wukie, who completed 10 of 17 passes for 128 yards, orchestrated Canton's creative attack, throwing a pair of touchdown passes. He also made several big plays, particularly in the first half, to help give Canton a 22-0 lead.

The Chiefs threw everything but the kitchen sink at Glenn, running screens, draws, options, short passes, long bombs and halfback passes.

"We knew we had to come in and mix it up," said Khoenle. "You go with what you've got. These kids have confidence in what they do and they do it well. We were maybe a little more so (wide-open) today because of John Glenn. They're strong. We try to do what they don't expect."

GLENN, HOWEVER, wasn't counting on coughing up the ball on only the second play of the game.

The Chiefs' Josh Walaskay pounced on a fumble at the Glenn 16.

Four plays later, Wukie rolled out on a fourth down-and-6 play, spotting Roger Eaton wide-open in the end zone for an 8-yard TD toss.

The Chiefs then lined up for the extra point, but Wukie, the holder, faked and ran in for the two-pointer, increasing the lead to 8-0.

After stopping Glenn near midfield on its next possession, Canton cranked up its offense again.

Wukie hit Brett Howell with a 32-yard pass to open the six-play, 80-yard drive, and Jason Riggs finished it, breaking loose on a 32-yard draw play for a TD.

But the score stayed at 14-0 when Tad Quattlander busted through to block Jeff Nafe's extra-point attempt.

At the outset of the second quarter, Wukie was picked off by Jason Gould at the Canton 44 (with 9:49 to go), but Glenn, which racked up 94 yards in penalties, was set back by a personal foul call.

"It seemed like every time we had something going, we get a penalty or something," said Glenn coach Chuck Gordon.

Stopped for minus-2 yards in three plays, the Rockets were forced to punt.

CANTON WENT to work again, marching 89 yards in 11 plays (helped along with another Glenn penalty), capped by Wukie's 15-yard strike to the 6-foot-2, 195-pound Howell, who outdueling a pair of Glenn defenders for the ball.

Canton lined up for the extra point, but Wukie faked it again, waltzing into the end zone untouched for the two-pointer, giving the Chiefs a stunning 22-point advantage with four minutes left in the half.

"He's a good quarterback and a good athlete," Khoenle said. "That's why we put him on the spot."

Glenn, however, refused to fold, crossing the goal line with 44 seconds left in the half on a 21-yard TD pass from Lawrence Scheffer to Steve Fuller.

Fuller held onto the ball despite taking a heavy lick from a pair of Canton defenders. (The drive covered 69 yards in eight plays.)

John Ward, who led all rushers with 115 yards on 15 carries, then blasted in for the two-pointer, cutting the deficit to 16.

"We got on the board right before the half and we thought we had a chance because we had moved the ball," said Gordon. "But what we really needed was to score early in the half."

KHOENLE, meanwhile, said the Glenn TD may have benefitted his team.

"In a way it was a good thing they scored because it kind of put a burr in our pants," said the Canton coach.

Just when it appeared Glenn had gained some momentum in the third quarter, Canton's defense answered with a big play.

The Rockets marched down to the Canton 33 on their first drive, but Riggs came up from his safety spot to recover a fumbled Glenn lateral pass.

Glenn also got down to the Canton 29 at the end of the quarter, but Riggs was the man again, gathering in a tipped Scheffer pass in the end zone for an interception.

"You win with defense," Khoenle said. "We had a couple guys out (injured), but we'd always seem to come up with a big play, or a big interception. They played it tough."

Still maintaining a 22-16 lead, Canton found themselves straddled on their own 19 with 8:17 remaining.

Mike Wougamon of Plymouth Canton looks for some running room during Saturday's Class AA pre-Region II clash against host Westland John Glenn. Canton advanced to the Region II finals with a 22-16 victory.

But instead of sitting on the ball, Wukie came out firing on the first two downs, hitting Eaton and Howell on passes of 15 and 7 yards to give his team some breathing room.

"I guess that was a little gutsy," said the Canton coach. "I just turned my back on those plays because I was afraid, but the kids have confidence they can do it."

"THEY'VE DONE it all year," said Gordon. "They keep you off-balance and mix it up well. They're a well-coached team and they have good athletes."

"Wukie is an excellent athlete. He has great feet and escapes some things when he's pressured."

After Canton was forced to punt with just over six minutes left, Glenn tried to make a game of it.

Scheffer began finding the range, hitting five passes on an 87-yard, 17-play drive, capped by a fourth down pass of 11 yards to Fuller with 1:22 to go. Glenn was also successful on the two-pointer as the two — Scheffer and Fuller — hooked up again.

Things then got interesting. Glenn's Chris Bandy tried the on-side kick. The ball bounded high around midfield, and when the dust cleared, the Rockets thought that they had recovered the ball.

But after a conference among the officials, Canton was given the ball on an illegal touch before the required 10 yards.

"They (the officials) told us that it was touched early," Gordon said. "It was close."

Canton then sat on the ball to run out the clock, ending Glenn's season at 8-2.

"OUR SENIOR leadership was tremendous because they had a real challenge this season with pay-to-play (because of millage failures)," Gordon said. "We couldn't afford to get away from the team concept, be selfish and worry about playing time. They (the seniors) kept the focus on the team. It was a very hard-working team. This is one of my most enjoyable years I've had in coaching."

On the other side, Canton's Khoenle can enjoy another week of practice with his merry band of confident Chiefs.

"I started getting nervous about Wednesday," he said. "But these guys were 'loosey-goosey' all week. I wasn't too happy with them at practice yesterday (Friday). I gave them hell because they were screwing around too much, but come game time they came ready to play."

Rocks were ready for North this time

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

Plymouth Salem coach Fred Thomann didn't have to say much to get his girls basketball team ready for its first-round game in the Western Lakes Activities Association playoffs.

North Farmington gave the Rocks all the incentive they needed a week ago when the Raiders stunned Salem 37-34.

The top-seeded Rocks, playing their first game since that Oct. 25 defeat, showed up in a big way Thursday and pounded North 66-25 at Salem.

"All we had to tell them," Thomann said, "was 'We've got North Farmington. They just played you a heckuva game. How are you going to respond?'"

"That seemed to work real well. Tonight our players did a much better job preparing mentally to play the game."

SALEM IS 15-3 overall and plays at Northville in a semifinal game Tuesday. The Raiders are 8-10 and visit Livonia Stevenson.

The big challenge facing the Rocks was stopping North's Eve Claar, who scored 30 points in the previous meeting with Salem.

She still got 19 points Thursday, but 14 came in the second half after the Rocks were well on their way to winning the rematch.

"We did a better job of finding out where Eve was, getting to her and not allowing her

girls basketball

to have free reign on the court," Thomann said. "We were much more in tune defensively to the task at hand."

On the other side, Sarah Ruete played a big role in Salem winning the game. After missing the previous game, she contributed 19 points Thursday, and junior post Darci Miller led all scorers with a career-high 23 points.

"We knew we couldn't play like last week," Ruete said. "We came ready to play this game. We were focused and ready to win. It was good incentive, knowing we got to play them again and redeem ourselves."

RUETE SCORED 11 points in the first half, leading Salem to a commanding, 30-8 halftime lead. Her outside shooting early in the game rendered North's zone defense ineffective.

That contrasted with the previous game when the Rocks weren't hitting the perimeter shots and the Raiders were successful in that defense.

"I think they had one extra player in Sarah Ruete, and that was one heckuva player," North coach Lance Davis said. "Take those (19) points away and this game is entirely different."

"She made their defense that much tougher, too. Our baskets came much harder to-night. That's the coach getting them ready and the players doing it."

Thomann agreed Ruete's presence made a difference for the Rocks.

"Sarah adds a nice dimension to our team," he said. "She's a good perimeter shooter; she's a good defender. And she's a senior and a veteran."

"It was a bonus to have her here and playing. She added to our perimeter game, and that took away their ability to sag inside."

WITH THE lead, the Rocks could stay in their zone, and this time they were aware of where Claar was at all times. She was held

Salem, Chiefs conclude with dual-meet victories

Livonia Ladywood's Mallia Dixon won the individual title, and Redford Union took first place in the team standings Saturday in the Class A girls cross country regional meet at Marshbank Park.

RU took first place with 82 points, followed by second-place Livonia Stevenson (103) and Plymouth Salem in third place (110).

The Panthers, still running without their top runner, Liza Mockridge, at full strength, won their first regional since 1982 when the Panthers scored a record low total of 16 points.

The top three teams qualify for the Class A state meet, set for 11 a.m. Saturday at the Eastern Michigan University Golf Course in Ypsilanti.

All RU coach Bob Ouellette wanted to do was finish in the top three in order to qualify for the state meet.

So naturally, he accepted first place.

"Our kids did a nice job," Ouellette said. "The key for us was the fact that at the two-mile mark we did a quick score and found out we were in fourth place. The issue was not as much to win the regional as it was to qualify for the state meet. At the two-mile mark, we decided to go after them. The better teams will run better the last third of a race."

swimming

RU, RATED FOURTH in the latest Class A state rankings, was led by Tracey James, who took fourth in 20:40. Other finishers for RU included Jenni Sturdevant, who took 13th in 21:13; Melissa Still, 20th (21:23); Michelle Daraban, 21st (21:24); and Kelly Murray, 28th (21:41).

"Tracey and Jenni have come on like mad for us," Ouellette said. "They took over and it's very important because our seniors are really tired."

Stevenson, champion of the Western Lakes Activities Association, was led by Stacy Prais, who finished third in 20:34.5, and A.J. Koritnik, who was fifth (20:41.5). Stevenson's Carrie Creehan took eighth (20:51.7).

The Spartans' Gail Grewe took 31st (21:50).

"We were very hopeful of qualifying for state and would have been very disappointed if we hadn't," Stevenson coach Paul Holmberg said. "I thought we had a chance to win it. Our first three kids ran extremely well, and you couldn't ask for anything more from them. We didn't seem to follow up after three."

"All season our success has depended on what happens with our fifth runner. This was the only off meet Gail Grewe had; she's capable of being in the top 15."

SALEM, WHICH does not have a senior among its top five runners, was led by sophomore Corey Gulkewicz, who took seventh (20:50). Sophomore Stacy Witthoff was 12th (21:02), freshman Julie Cutting 27th (21:40), freshman Emily Farrell 29th (21:46) and junior Beth Tuomsha 39th (22:03).

"That was the meet we were shooting for all year," Salem coach Mike Krafchak said. "We have a young team and nobody counted us in all year. The only teams to beat us this year were Canton and Stevenson. We beat Canton in the regional, and we almost beat Stevenson."

Marlins let Marian off hook

By Neal Zipes
Staff writer

The third time was not the charm for the Farmington Hills Mercy basketball team Thursday night.

Jamie Racine's third three-pointer of the game with three seconds remaining in regulation lifted Birmingham Marian to an overtime, 53-49 victory in a Catholic League semifinal game at the University of Detroit's Calihan Hall.

It was the third time Marian has beaten the Marlins this year. The win put Marian (17-1) in the championship game Sunday night against Harper Woods Regina. Mercy is 13-5.

Racine's last triple culminated a remarkable comeback by the Mustangs, who found themselves down 44-35 with just 1:44 on the clock. The high arching shot sent the game into overtime at which time Marian's defense took over and Mercy's free throw shooting woes continued.

The Marlins converted seven of their first 10 free throws in the fourth quarter, but three missed attempts gave Marian the opening it needed.

EARLIER THIS year, the Mustangs nipped the Marlins by one point in overtime and won for a second time by five points. The third loss was no easier for Mercy coach Larry Baker to take.

"This is a great team to coach, but I'm not happy with them tonight," Baker said. "I don't think we're making it. It's easy to break down the game and see they ended the game and overtime by hitting their shots and free throws and we didn't."

"This is the second time we've outplayed them and the third time we couldn't finish them off."

Marian's dramatic comeback began with a Ra-

girls basketball

cine triple to close the margin to 44-38. After two free throws by Mercy's Laure DeMattia, Racine hit what looked like another three-pointer, but the referee nullified it with a traveling call.

"First, I couldn't believe it went in, but then when they called traveling, I wanted to cry," Racine said. "I didn't think I traveled, but that's not my call."

Dana Hudson stole a Mercy pass and laid it in while being fouled. Her free throw made the score 46-42, but it looked like Mercy would put it away with Kathleen Berrigan on the free throw line with just under a minute left. Berrigan made the first free throw but missed the second.

AFTER MARIAN'S Michelle Coughlin's basket made it 47-44, Mercy's Susie Atchinson missed the front end of her one-and-one free throw attempt and the Mustangs had :20 left to tie the game.

Racine launched a three-point attempt only to have it swatted out of bounds by Carrie Walton. But when the senior got the ball back, she made good on her second attempt.

"It was, without a doubt, the biggest shot I've ever made," an exuberant Racine said. "We had confidence that we could come back, because we've been down to them before and come back."

"The girls decided to play smart in the final two minutes," Marian coach Mary Lillie-Cicerone said. "They played defense and ran their three-point plays. They did everything they were supposed to do. I can't say enough about how well the team put it together."

Each team traded baskets to start overtime. A short jumper by Marian's Carmie Garofalo put the Mustangs ahead to stay 51-49. Marian added one free throw by Molly Ferguson while Mercy's struggle at the line continued. The regular offense wasn't working either.

"I'm very disappointed because we missed some crucial free throws and couldn't even get a shot off in our last two possessions," Baker said. "We pulled the ball up in the corners and didn't execute."

MERCY TRAILED 23-22 at halftime. Both teams generated little offense in the third quarter, scoring 10 points between them. But Atchinson came off the bench to score nine of her 12 points in the second half and spark the Marlins to what looked like a safe lead.

"We call Susie 'instant heat' because she can provide offense quickly," Baker said. "I was pleased with her two three-pointers, but she also missed free throws down the stretch."

"I didn't think we'd come back, but I couldn't let it show," Lillie-Cicerone said. "If I let it show, they would have let down. But they went out there after the timeout knowing they can win."

Marian's Trina Govan led all scorers with 17 points. Racine and Hudson added 11 and nine, respectively, for the Mustangs. Walton led Mercy with 15 points and seven steals.

"Carrie is a great kid and wanted to win this game really bad, but she also participated in tonight's free throw nightmare," Baker said.

Marian is playing in the league final for the fifth year in a row. It split a two-game series with Regina this year, each team winning in the other's gym.

Rocks roll past North in rematch to five first-half points on 1-of-9 shooting from the floor and 2-of-4 free-throw shooting.

Betsy McAllister, Christy Parmucha and Yolanda Jackson took turns guarding Clair on the perimeter of Salem's zone defense, and they always got help with a double-team whenever Clair tried to penetrate.

"Last week the fact we were able to play a tight zone, they couldn't score, and that kept the score tight," Davis said. "Fred had to do something to up the tempo, and they had to press us."

"They extended the floor and made it easier for us to get the ball to the shooter in open areas. Eve could maneuver and get a shot. Here, once she got past one girl (in the zone) another was there waiting for her."

"Tonight they hit the open shots," he added. "Therefore, our zone couldn't be compact. We had to open up, and they had the outside and inside games going."

That's where Miller figured in the outcome. Executing some nice turnaround moves to the basket, she scored nine first-half points and hit seven more field goals after halftime, including 10 points in the last quarter. Jackson added another 12 points for the Rocks.

"SHE REALLY delivered the ball to the basket," said Thomann of Miller.

"Her game is coming and, obviously, she has to keep it going."

The Rocks also dominated the backboards, getting second and third shots against the smaller Raiders.

Salem shot 42 percent in the first half while making 14 of 33 attempts, but North was only 2-of-24 for .083 shooting in the first two quarters. The Rocks ended up shooting 43 percent (29-67) for the game and North 19 percent (8-42).

"We had to stop them from getting the offensive boards, and we didn't do that," Davis said. "They must have had 15 offensive rebounds easy."

"In addition to the defense, we did a much better job rebounding the ball," Thomann said. "Last week every time they shot it seemed they got another one."

Compounding the situation for North was the loss of guard Dana Botwick, its second-leading scorer, at the start of the third quarter with an ankle injury.

Salem outscored the Raiders 18-7 in the third period and led 48-15. The Rocks closed in the finale with another 18-point quarter. Clair had eight of her team's 10 fourth-quarter points, including her third triple of the game.

"Obviously, I wasn't very pleased with our performance last week," Thomann said. "But they stepped in and won a game they had to win (to qualify for the WLAA playoffs), and tonight we won a game we had to win to move on in the tournament."

girls basketball

fense," Stevenson coach Chuck Hebestreit said. "And holding us to 34 points was even better. It was a game either team could have won, but I think it came down to them hitting their outside shots. They rose to the occasion tonight."

Stevenson could have tied the game in the final minute, but Northville forward Stacy Nyland stole the ball from Spartans guard Jenny Aude on the baseline.

The two teams were tied at halftime, 20-20, but the Mustangs went on an 8-2 third quarter run to put them ahead 28-22 heading into the fourth quarter. Stevenson didn't score a basket in the quarter and its only points were two free throws by

Hebestreit said the difference in the second half was the defensive intensity by Northville.

"Two points in the third quarter is not a lot of points to give up," he said. "They played an aggressive zone defense on us and we kept looking inside rather than shoot the perimeter shot. They took the inside game away from us."

JUNIOR GUARD Karin Pump led Northville with nine points. The Mustangs' leading scorer, Kate Holstein, in foul trouble most of the night, was held to six points.

Despite the loss, Hebestreit praised the defense of guard Tracy Morrell, who guarded Holstein most of the game.

"We did what we wanted to do — contain Holstein," he said. "She's their big scorer and we focused on her. (Tracy) Morrell gave up a few inches to her, but her quickness allowed her to contain her."

Canton rips up Western

Plymouth Canton opened the Western Lakes Activities Association girls basketball playoffs Thursday with an overwhelming 84-36 win over visiting Walled Lake Western.

The Chiefs, champions of the Western Division in the regular season, are 12-6 overall.

The win sends Canton into the second round of the WLAA playoffs Tuesday when it will play host to Livonia Franklin (15-3).

"I was really surprised," Canton coach Bob Blohm said of the wide margin. "The first time we played it was a 53-47 (Canton) win. We were real balanced to-night, scored inside, outside, and were solid defensively. The kids were charged and ready to go."

No one more so than Mary Barna, who made four three-point shots in the first quarter when Canton built a 30-14 lead.

Stephanie Gray led three Canton players in double figures with 25 points. Julie Nicasari added 14 points, as did Barna, who didn't score after halftime.

Nicasari led Canton with 11 rebounds and Gray hauled down nine.

Late basket wins for Mustangs

By Darren A. Nichols
Staff writer

Laura Apligan's three-point basket with 1:51 left in the fourth quarter Thursday gave Northville a 36-34 girls basketball win over host Livonia Stevenson in the first round of the Western Lakes Activities Association playoffs.

Apligan's bomb from the right wing put the Mustangs ahead 36-32. Stevenson sophomore forward Lori Shingledecker scored with 1:36 left to pull the Spartans within two, but that's as close as they could get.

Northville gave Stevenson plenty of chances to catch up, missing a layup and three front ends of one-and-one free throws in the last minute of the game.

"I'm sure glad to get out of here with a win," Northville Coach Ed Kritch said. "We had a chance to ice the game with the free throws at the end, but we missed. But in the last 1:30 of the game, we didn't have any turnovers and we forced them to rush on some of their shots."

"Our hats are off to Stevenson. They played well. Any time we only score (around) 40 points, we're in trouble."

Stevenson, which hosts North Farmington Tuesday in a WLAA consolation game, fell to 11-7 overall. Northville is 11-4.

Young bowlers on roll

HAVE YOU EVER wondered where you would find room for another trophy or plaque?

Five young bowlers were presented with a memento for scoring the highest team game in the nation for the YABA Bowlers — Mixed Senior Division — 1989-90.

Bill Heider, director of the Ward Burger King Youth Travelling Classic, presented the honors last Sunday at Clover Lanes in Livonia to Henry Noble (Livonia), Donald Harrison (Southfield), Scott Timko (Center Line), Ann Marie Thompson (Sterling Heights) and Jeff Tatro (Utica).

On March 4, the quintet ran up a score of 1,349 for the top spot. Their combined series of 3,350 was seventh highest in their division.

Rochester Hills resident Bruce Falcon, a student and member of the Saginaw Valley State University varsity bowling squad, made the Collegiate All-Star Team after competing Oct. 20 at the Brunswick tournament in Denver, Colo.

Of the 95 bowlers competing across the country, Falcon finished fifth in the two-day event with a 205 average. Saginaw Valley took fourth overall in the team standings. It's nice to have an individual from this area on the squad.

Entry blanks are available for the 60th annual Old Timers Bowling Tournament (and party) Saturday, Nov. 24, at Thunderbowl Lanes in Allen Park.

The entry fee of $16 includes bowling, banquet and refreshments. The event is open to men who have been associated with bowling for at least 25 years (you must be 40 years or older).

CC beats Ypsi; Chiefs next

By Steve Kowalski
staff writer

The Redford Catholic Central football team huddled in the end zone Saturday night after its 17-6 win over host Ypsilanti in a Class AA first-round playoff game.

Coach Tom Mach was curious about something, so he began his post-game speech with a question.

"Does anyone here live in Plymouth Canton?" Mach asked his players.

About half the team raised its hands. How interesting.

Saturday's win improved CC's overall record to 8-2, and more importantly set up a second-round date with Plymouth Canton either Friday or Saturday. CC hosts the game and possible sites include Pontiac's Wisner Stadium, Livonia Clarenceville or Ypsilanti.

The Chiefs beat Westland John Glenn, 22-16, Saturday in another first-round game.

As of Saturday, all Mach knew about Canton was that a number of his players are from there.

"I haven't seen them on film or in any capacity," he said. "I just read in the paper that they run the run and shoot."

CC showed a devastating defense and a high-powered offense against Ypsilanti, the regular-season South Central Conference co-champion. The Shamrocks outgained the Braves, 277-194 in total yardage and held Ypsilanti's bruising fullback Wardell Davis to 83 yards on 14 carries.

Davis, a 6-foot, 215 pound senior, entered the game with 1,353 yards. CC tailback Arshon Stewart, meanwhile, became the first back to gain at least 100 yards against Ypsilanti, finishing the night with 101 yards on 22 carries.

"They ruled the line of scrimmage and controlled the tempo on both offense and defense," said Ypsilanti coach Bob Kohn, whose team fell to 8-2. "They have the best defense in the state and I was impressed with the way their offense was able to pound on us."

CC scored on an 11-yard run by fullback Jon Barbara, a 27-yard touchdown pass to Frank Yoakam and a 20-yard field goal by Kerry Zavagnin. The Shamrocks, who led 7-6 at halftime, scored on their first series of the second half, marching 67 yards in nine plays.

Quarterback Jason Carr, who completed six of 11 passes for 92 yards, ended the drive with a 27-yard touchdown pass to Yoakam in the right corner of the end zone. Zavagnin's extra point gave CC a 14-6 lead with 8:27 left in the third quarter.

Carr earlier in the drive completed a pass of 15 yards to tight end Mike Grimes, so he wasn't bashful about throwing again.

"We threw the same pass in the first half and that time I hit the short guy," Carr said. "Yoakam told me at halftime to look deep because their secondary was coming up on the play. I knew we'd have success with it."

The catch was part of a big night for Yoakam, who caught three passes for 52 yards and rushed twice for 15 yards. He also returned an interception from his safety position late in the game. Yoakam, a 5-foot-10, 170-pound junior, has gotten increased playing time with injuries to two-way starters Mike Thomas (ankle) and Jack Davidson (broken collarbone).

"I've just come in to do the job, not take the job," Yoakam said. "God helped me out. I prayed before the game, during and after."

Ypsilanti drove into CC territory on its next possession, but the drive stalled after quarterback Ryan Lovelace was sacked at the 39 by the Shamrocks Dan Gusoff on a third down and nine play.

CC took the ensuing possession to Ypsilanti's three, where the drive ended and Zavagnin kicked a 20-yard field goal with 10:24 left in the game for a 17-6 lead.

Barbara, who gained 76 yards on 17 carries, kept the drive alive with a 12-yard reception near midfield on third-down and eight. Despite the success CC showed through the air, Mach isn't about to change his style.

"If you want to see a lot of passes, you can watch a game on Sunday," Mach said. "I think our ball control and our ability to move the ball was the key to the game. Because a 7-0 score is not going to hold up."

CC took a 7-0 lead with 9:24 left in the second quarter on Barbara's 11-yard run. The Shamrocks had a chance to score on their first possession of the game, but Stewart fumbled at Ypsilanti's three on fourth down and the Braves recovered.

Ypsilanti scored in the first half on a 3-yard run by Davis with 35 seconds left in the half.

Churchill storms into semifinals

By Steve Kowalski
staff writer

Livonia Churchill coach Mark Mason didn't even have time to enjoy the Chargers' Class A regional boys soccer championship Friday at Ypsilanti High School.

Shortly after Churchill's 3-0 win over city-rival Livonia Stevenson, an angry parent confronted Mason with another one of those nit-picky items. Seems the first-year coach omitted a player's name accidentally from the post-season program.

A loud exchange ensued between the two, with Mason having enough sense to walk away from the unforgiving parent. So he made a mistake. Give the guy a break.

At least his players are behind him.

"He's a good coach," said junior midfielder Mike Gentile, who scored two goals to raise his season total to 20. "He works us hard, but he's done a good job with us."

The win improved Churchill's record to 16-1-2 overall and sends the Chargers into the A semifinal at 3 p.m. Wednesday at Okemos. Churchill will play the winner of Saturday's Portage Central-Okemos game.

THIS WAS CHURCHILL'S first-ever state tournament win over Stevenson. The Spartans, who trailed, 1-0, at halftime, ended the season at 15-2-3 overall.

The loss also brought an end to the four-game post-season scoring streak of Stevenson's Matt Grodzicki, who had eight goals in district and regional play.

"Churchill played a great game and we came up unlucky," Stevenson coach Walt Barrett said. "We held our ground a long time, but when we missed two or three chances to equalize, that made it a lot harder on us. The season was a good experience. I was working with a lot of class kids."

Churchill benefitted from a change Mason made in the lineup during the game. Forward Dario Rauker was moved to a midfield position and Mason brought Kevin Dehority to the frontline, alongside Gentile and Dominic Vella.

The move, coupled with Aaron Sawicky's recent return to the Churchill lineup, enabled the Chargers to control midfield.

Churchill took a 1-0 lead with 11:23 left in the first half on a goal by Gentile. Vella set up the goal, making a pass to Gentile, who made no mistake from about 15 yards in front of Stevenson goalkeeper Scott Plagenhoef.

Some of Stevenson's players thought Vella committed a hand ball foul before passing the ball, but Mason thought otherwise.

"THE BALL BOUNCED up from the ground and hit his hand," said Mason, who naturally wasn't in much of a mood to talk afterwards. "If he makes a motion toward the ball with his hand it's a hand ball, but he didn't. It's one of those interpretive calls."

Churchill goalkeeper Jeff Cassar made a diving save minutes later to preserve the one-goal lead at halftime. Stevenson's Travis Roy took a free kick from about 40 yards out, which was deflected by teammate Todd Krzysnik right into the diving hands of Cassar.

With Churchill playing a defensive style in the second half, Stevenson controlled the play without being able to score. The Chargers took a 2-0 lead with 11:42 left when Gentile headed a corner kick by Tim Riley into the net.

"It was a relief, knowing we were up 2-0 put the pressure off us and more on them," Gentile said. "I take the far post on corner kicks and Dario takes the near post. It was a beautiful kick (by Riley) to the far post and I was able to connect on it."

The Chargers put Stevenson away for good with 6:32 left when Rauker scored his 19th goal of the year after a free kick by Dehority. Stevenson's Scott Wiggins had trouble handling the free kick inside the penalty box and Rauker controlled the ball and put it behind Plagenhoef.

"It wasn't that we didn't mark on them, they just got to the ball," Plagenhoef said. "They took advantage of their re-starts and had the height advantage on us. All our fullbacks are about 5-foot-7."

• What is the event?

• Who's sponsoring it?

• Who are the participants?
• When is it taking place?
• Where is it occurring?
• At what time is the event scheduled?
• Why is this event taking place?

• Where can people buy tickets?

• Who can the public call for further information?
Please provide the Observer with the name and telephone number of a person with whom we can verify the information.

Send the information to the Observer Newspapers, 744 Wing, Plymouth 48170.

You may ask for agendas

Under provisions of Michigan's Open Meetings Act, you're entitled to receive notices of government meetings. A public body must mail notices to people who, on an annual basis, request such notification. Under the act, payment of a reasonable fee may be required before notices are mailed. This provision applies to all local, county and state governments. At the local level this includes city councils, school boards and various boards and commissions. Locally, requests may be submitted to the city or township clerk, or to the school superintendent.

NOTICE OF HEARING FOR PROPOSED SPECIAL ASSESSMENT DISTRICT

Notice is hereby given to all persons interested, that the Board of Trustees of the Charter Township of Plymouth has tentatively declared its intentions to make the hereinafter described improvement:

The project consists of 23 feet wide of paving of the existing gravel road in the Township along Morrison Avenue and Judson Avenue with 4 1/2" thick bituminous concrete. The project area commences at the intersection of Morrison Avenue and Joy Road right of ways and proceeds north along Morrison Avenue to Martin Avenue at the westerly property line of lot 96, approximately 2400 feet. In addition, the project would include the paving of Judson Avenue from approximately 200 feet west of the west right of way line of Morrison Avenue to 235 feet from the east of the east right of way line of Morrison Avenue.

That it has further been tentatively determined that the following described lots and parcels of land will specially benefit from said improvement and will constitute a Special Assessment District against which the cost of said improvement shall be assessed:

The project areas consist of lots 76 through 96, inclusive, and lots 98 through 118 inclusive, "Recker Estates Subdivision No. 3" as recorded in Liber 78, Page 23 of Plats, Wayne County Records and a parcel of land in the southwest 1/4 of Section 35, T.15., R.9E., being tax identification number P89-78-061-99-0005.003.

Please take notice that the Board of Trustees of the Charter Township of Plymouth shall meet on November 13, 1990 at 7:30 p.m. at the Township Hall in the Township of Plymouth located at 42350 Ann Arbor Road, Plymouth, Michigan 48170, for the purpose of reviewing said proposed Special Assessment District, and hearing objections to the improvement, creation of the Special Assessment District, and the assessment thereon. All persons may then and there appear and make any objections they may have to such improvement and assessment. Appearance and protest at the hearing is required in order to appeal the amount, if any, of the special assessment to the state tax tribunal. An owner or party in interest, or agent thereof, may appear in person at the hearing, or may file an appearance or protest by letter. All parties or agents appearing in person at the hearing for purposes of protest should request the appearance be entered into the record of the meeting. In the event written objections for the improvements are filed with the Township Board at or before the aforesaid hearing by the record owners of land constituting more than 20% of the total frontage of the said road, the Township Board will not proceed with the improvement unless a petition is filed with the Board which is signed by the record owners of the land constituting more than 50% of the total frontage upon the said road requesting that the Township Board proceed with said improvement and Special Assessment District.

Please take notice that the plans, specifications, estimates of cost and recommendations of the engineer for said proposed Special Assessment District have been filed with the Township and are available for public examination at the office of the Township Clerk.

Please take notice that periodic redetermination of costs for the proposed Special Assessment District may be necessary and may be made without further notice to the record owners or parties in interest in the property.

There may be a nip to the air, but the water is a nice 102 degrees in the hot tubs at the Oasis.

Rubba dub-dub, let's go hot tub

By Anahid Derbian
special writer

Imagine lounging comfortably in a basin of rapidly bubbling water, while the sun shines brightly overhead.

Or, picture snowflakes gracefully falling downward on a cool winter's eve, as gurgling, steamy water envelops your body.

This exhilarating fantasy is actually no fantasy at all. At the Oasis Hot Tub Gardens in Ann Arbor, secluded hot tubs provide pleasure to people of all ages.

"It is a place for friends and families to come and relax, a place to escape from the mundane, daily routine," said Kathryn Burns, manager of the Oasis Hot Tub Gardens.

Dan Antor, Bob Lakey and Ken Schroder are the owners. They started the company in Kalamazoo in August 1983. Its prosperity prompted them to start a second one in Ann Arbor. This new place, on South State Street, has been open for about six months.

The owners picked up on the hot tub idea during their travels to Arizona and New Mexico, where hot tubbing is a prevalent activity. They felt people would enjoy a "one hour vacation."

There are 12 hot tubs at the Ann Arbor locale. Sunlit days, moonlit nights and delicate breezes accompany hot tubbers who choose one of the Garden's 10 outdoor spots. Two indoor tubs with skylights are also available.

EACH TUB offers complete seclusion, whether tubbing alone, with the family, with a group of friends, or with that special someone.

'It is a place for friends and families to come and relax, a place to escape from the mundane, daily routine.'

— Kathryn Burns

Each outdoor tub has a theme, and the decor reflects it. Themes include northern (winter themes), South Pacific, Asian and Mexican.

"We have people who come back and try every garden," said Burns.

Choose a garden, and step inside. A private, spacious dressing room with shower, mirror, cushioned seating, and hangers for clothes provide comfortable arrangements for before and after hot tubbing. A second door opens to the outdoors, where the hot tub gurgles refreshingly. High walls ensure absolute privacy. A wooden deck surrounds the tub and simple decorations reflect the garden's theme.

When entering "Casablanca," hot tubbers behold a multi-colored tarp draped above the square hot tub, resembling a caravan tent. The tarp permits the sky to be seen above. Patterns in pink, yellow and turquoise decorate the walls and tarp.

"Bali Gardens" features bamboo branches and branch-woven baskets next to a square tub. A yellow, turquoise, red and black print of a bamboo tree hangs on the wall.

Hot tubbers may choose either jets or bubblers with the push of a button. Jets provide a strong water force to relieve aching muscles and can be enjoyed simply for basking in the energy of the waves. Jets shoot out from the sides of the tub.

SHOULD HOT tubbers prefer a softer, more tranquil experience, they may press the bubblers button. Bubblers spurt out from the tub's bottom.

Young children all the way to those in their 60s appreciate the Oasis Hot Tub Gardens. Young children must be accompanied by parents.

Normally, Sundays bring families in after church. Friday and Saturday nights generally attract couples. Groups of friends and single tubbers come in at all times to take part in this rejuvenating activity, Burns said.

"Families come here because they're not watching TV, and it's not your typical evening of going to the movies, eating a bag of popcorn, and sitting in a row not talking with each other," Burns said. "Our hours are set up for people who work any type of shift. It's a great get-away especially when you've had a real hard day."

"Not only are you away from it all, no one can reach you by phone. It has a therapeutic effect. Whether you plan to or not, you're forced to relax."

The Oasis Hot Tub Gardens in Ann Arbor follows strict swimming pool guidelines for cleanliness. It is also regulated by the health department which checks the water regularly, and conducts surprise water samplings.

BROMINE IS used to disinfect the water, eliminating chlorine's strong odor. In addition, water in the tubs circulates constantly. Every eight minutes each tub goes through a filtration system.

"If you're in the water for one hour, the water has turned over six to seven times, and when you get out the water turns over again," said Burns.

An electronic, chemical water monitoring system continuously measures the pH and bromine levels in the water, maintaining a constant level. Water is also physically monitored every two hours.

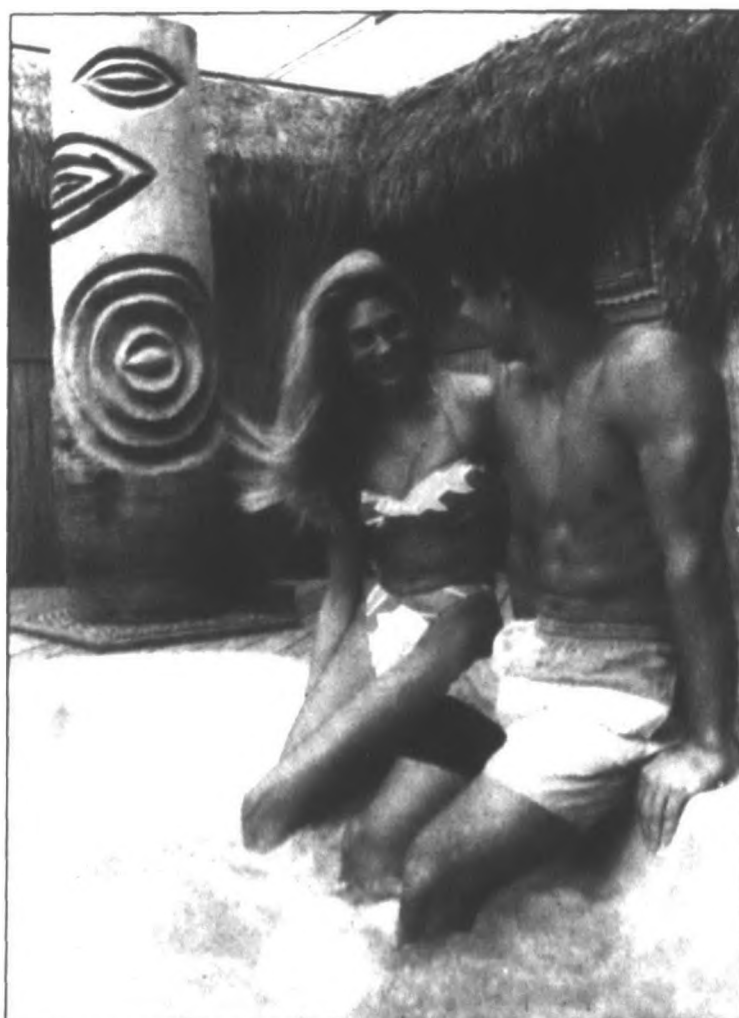

Tub water levels are three feet deep. The maximum water temperature — 102 degrees — is a comfortable temperature for hot tubbing in the winter.

"This is what keeps you warm in the winter, especially when there's freezing temperatures outside," said Burns. In summer, tub temperatures are turned down to 98-100 degrees.

In the winter, a maintenance crew clears fallen snow off the decks surrounding the tubs, so entering and leaving the tub is an easier task.

Burns anticipates a similar pattern of success at the newly opened Ann Arbor location, as Kalamazoo experienced. From September through May, Kalamazoo's hot tub demand is at its peak.

"PRIMARILY FALL, winter, spring has been the main season," Burns said. "Basically, more people hot tub when the weather is colder."

It's the next best thing to being in the South Pacific; the only thing missing at the hot tubs is hula dancers and exotic fruit drinks.

'Ladder:' Riveting success

By Dan Greenberg
special writer

For an absolutely sensational, riveting film experience, see "Jacob's Ladder" (A, R, 115 minutes). It will leave you limp but redeemed and rewarded.

Bruce Rubin, associate producer and scenarist of "Ghost" — destined to be this year's top box office draw — performed those same chores on "Jacob's Ladder," once described as the best unproduced script kicking around Hollywood.

"Jacob's Ladder," however, is a very different film, appropriately described as the dark side of "Ghost," which it ultimately will replace at the top of the box office charts. The reason is simple. "Jacob's Ladder" will appeal to virtually every segment of the viewing public.

Jacob Singer (Tim Robbins), a Vietnam veteran has left his wife, Sarah (Patricia Kalember), and is living with Jexzi (Elizabeth Pena), a co-worker at the post office. Notwithstanding his Ph.D. and comfortable home, Jacob has changed his lifestyle dramatically in his effort to come to grips with his Vietnam war experiences.

Robbins' masterful light touch characterizes this dark and somber fellow, Jacob, who carries the tragic baggage of Vietnam while looking for salvation. That perfect counterpoint is the hallmark of director Adrian Lyne's ("Fatal Attraction") style, a style of dark and brooding images emphasized by rapid cuts and tight, intense close-ups emphasizing character, atmosphere and the torment of the human condition.

UNLIKE SO much of the graphic violence currently popular in motion pictures, "Jacob's Ladder" deals realistically and appropriately with our violent world and has the good grace to do so with restraint. The dark images and hellish visions are not on the screen for their own sake but to make important points about life and death, love and hate, damnation and redemption. Also, Lyne has excellent instincts about when to cut away from the gross and repelling images.

Above all, "Jacob's Ladder" is about redemption of the human spirit. Reconciliation and liberation are at hand for all who will accept a state of grace. Louis (Danny Aiello), Jacob's chiropractor, notes, "It all depends on how you look at it."

"Jacob's Ladder" appeals to all those intent that the tragedies of Vietnam not be repeated. As well, the film will grip those concerned with the difficulty of finding a path through life in our tortured cities. Those determined to mature and discover their places in society and those troubled by the role, if any, of the human soul also will be rewarded by "Jacob's Ladder."

The film is marred only by a gratuitous end title about the Pentagon which does not interfere with this intense experience, one which will grab all viewers, no matter what their interests of concerns may be in this, or other, lives.

ALTERNATIVE VIEWING

'Days' links past, present

By John Monaghan
special writer

A trio of construction workers strategically place explosives along a brick wall. The resulting blast, with confetti-like debris, blows a hole through time to the stone streets of a village in the Middle Ages.

Juxtaposition of time and place is the key to "Book of Days," an enjoyable first feature from New York performance artist Meredith Monk. It plays this weekend at the downtown Tele-Arts Theatre.

A good portion of the film finds an unseen interviewer posing a series of revealing questions. Monk, a small woman with a Keaton-like stone face, plays the town madman. She answers only with wild eyes.

On this level, "Book of Days" accomplishes what high school history teachers long for. It provides a modern perspective on the past. The robed citizens field questions — "Who built the house you live in?" to

"What's a star?" to "Are you happy?"

MEANWHILE, A young girl has visions and feels compelled to carve images of cars and airplanes in sand and stone. Her grandfather, worried for the girl, listens attentively to her to her prophetic ramblings, then teaches her a wordless song to root her in her own time.

Aside from the interviews, there is little dialogue in "Book of Days." Images unroll slowly. Many of them are extremely beautiful, some funny. The camera pans over medieval artifacts until it ends on a package whose inner contents are revealed through airport security X-ray.

Monk filmed the historical sequences in the preserved medieval village of Cordes, France. She shoots in extra crisp black and white, contrasting the garish colors of the modern day which imposes every so often.

"Book of Days" draws obvious parallels between plague-filled streets and the modern AIDS virus. There is also a Jewish subtext as some citizens blame the Jews for the plague.

The premise is a good one for Monk whose music draws on heavily textured medieval style choirs but is also way ahead of its time. Her repetitive vocal tones provide the background music for the film.

AS WITH her stage work, Meredith Monk won't garner the national attention that David Byrne, Sandra Bernhard or Laurie Anderson did with their first features. In many ways, however, this is a much more unique and compelling effort.

"Book of Days," only 75 minutes long, will be seen in an edited form on PBS. Catching it at the Tele-Arts, you'll be able to see her short film, "Ellis Island," which pays tribute to the 16 million immigrants (including Monk's grandparents) who entered this gateway to the United States.

Double feature — "Woman in the Window" (USA — 1944) and "A Foreign Affair" (USA — 1948), starting at 7 p.m. Nov. 9-10. Two rarely screened films from great directors. In Fritz Lang's "Woman," Edward G. Robinson falls in love with the subject of a painting (Joan Bennett). When he meets her, he becomes involved in murder. In the second film, a comedy directed by Billy Wilder, Jean Arthur plays a reporter sent to investigate conditions in Berlin after World War II. Instead she falls in love with John Lund and tangles with Marlene Dietrich.

Making melodic images

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

Manchester: Smoke stacks, unemployment, undying passion for soccer teams named United and City. Perhaps, those are the first things that come to mind when thinking about the industrial port in northern England.

Gary Newby of the Railway Children protests.

"I think that image is a bit out of date," said Newby, whose band performs Thursday, Nov. 15, at Saint Andrew's Hall. "I imagine some people from London still think that. But actually Manchester is quite an optimistic place at the moment."

Musically, Newby has a point. The list of trendsetting groups coming out of Manchester is rather impressive, including house music faves Happy Mondays, psychedelia's new child Stone Roses, Inspiral Carpets and, of course, the Smiths and New Order before them.

The Smiths, in particular, portrayed a band in line with its city's image: Gloom and doom with biting sarcasm and guitars to boot.

If anything, the Railway Children rebel against doom forecasts on life. Instead, singer-songwriter Newby sings of blue skies, youthful yearnings, counting cotton in a native place where love heals all wounds.

In essence, the kind of unfettered optimism that would make "Mr. Melancholy" Morrissey toss his cookies.

AT THEIR worst, the Railway Children invite cynicism. At their best, the Railway Children exemplify a pop band that has mastered the infectious hooks and melodies — albeit laced with some syrupy lyrics.

The Railway Children deviate from the gloom to chart their own course in the Manchester music scene with a melodic pop sound with optimistic lyrics.

Newby offers no apologies, stating "I'm just an optimistic person in general, I guess."

Such euphoria is understandable, especially since the Railway Children's "Native Place" (Virgin) has been locked into the Top-10 of the Gavin Report since its release.

Also, the group is embarking on its first headlining tour of the United States. But the ground work has already been laid.

The band toured here with the Sugarcubes in support of its first LP "Reccurrence," which rose to No. 4 on the college album charts. "The album was praised for its in-trospective lyrics and overall heartland feel.

On the first tour, Newby visited college radio stations. He'd perform live acoustic sets, glad-hand with the programmers and crash on the station's couch.

Undoubtedly, such a grassroots approach has bolstered reception to the group's follow-up LP.

"It was good just seeing the country and traveling across the United States," Newby said. "It's also a pain in the butt because you're flying all over the place and checking into hotels... I hope to not have to do that again."

Jellyfish goes pop instead of squish

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

Get something straight. Jellyfish are not a '70s retrospective (Roger Manning told us so). They're not making a fashion statement (Roger Manning told us that, too). And they're not getting very much radio play in Detroit (Roger Manning told us so, but we could figure that out for ourselves because we live here and know how radio operates).

So just what is this group about anyway?

"It's definitely a force of the future," said Manning, whose band performs Thursday, Nov. 8, at Saint Andrew's Hall. "I'd be lying to say we weren't influenced by the music we grew up with from the '60s and the '70s."

Some have gone a step further, calling the San Francisco-based outfit's debut on Charisma something akin to a poor man's Beatles. Others have been more kind, lauding Jellyfish for its power pop, catchy melodies and neat arrangements.

"I'd be lying to say we weren't influenced by the music we grew up with from the '60s and the '70s."

— Roger Manning
Jellyfish

Yes, even their most fervent supporters say, one can detect a bit of the '60s-'70s bent to their act.

Perhaps the band's neo-psychedelic uniform of platform shoes, flowered bell-bottoms and ruffled shirts are the first tip-off. Give 'em peace signs and Jane Fonda would probably become a groupie.

does get them attention.

"We're not trying to make a fashion statement," Manning said. "We're just having fun dressing up. We wanted to put a whole production together with colorful clothes. We just want people to say, 'Whoa, what is that?'"

Most of the garb comes from resale shops and "raiding our parents' closets," according to Manning.

Many thought the band raided the musical attic for a producer, tapping the services of Albby Galuten. "Saturday Night Fever" was Galuten most well-known project, in addition to serving as producer for disco icons the Bee Gees.

Of course, Galuten filled hours with stories of Andy, Barry, Robin and Maurice. Right?

"Only when we asked him," Manning said. "In fact, we got on his nerves because we kept asking him about them. We're big on trivia."

Galuten was more concerned about working with Jellyfish, liking their tape so much he went up to San Francisco to close out the deal.

Jellyfish itself is rather new. Manning and Andy Sturmer have been performing and writing music since their high school days. The band also includes Roger's brother, bassist Chris Manning, and guitarist Jason Faulkner.

MANNING AND Sturmer were in a group, Beatnik Beach, which had one album released on Atlantic in 1988. In their high school days, the duo explored every style of music from punk to bluegrass. In the process, a pattern of creativity was established.

"I write all the words," Sturmer said. "We usually finish each other's ideas. That's how it usually works."

While avoiding the label of retrospective, Manning believes there is something to be said for the pop music of that bell-bottomed, flower-power era.

"There was a lot more innocence involved... just the pure, sugary pop that were into," Manning said. "It had more flash."

REVIEWS

INDUSTRIAL CHAOS — various artists

"Industrial Chaos" is a recent project of Scott Campbell's Detroit-based Nebula Records. It is a compilation of 14 industrial dance tracks by local groups like Aural Sect, Skin Horse, Lab Animals, Blue Nimbus, Rubber and Campbell himself and national groups like Terminal White, Gadfly and Static Effect. In all, there are 14 tracks.

The local groups are interspersed with the national groups and surprisingly (or not so surprisingly, if you follow the local scene), you'd be hard-pressed to identify which groups are local from song quality alone. In other words, we've got some talented folks in our town.

From the outside cover of M.C. Escher's tropy-turvy, which-way-is-up drawing "House of Stairs" to the final track "Hardlife" by Rubber, "Industrial Chaos" is consistent in its way of breaking traditions. Each band on the album throws out the traditional pop band set-up of guitar, bass, drums, vocalist in favor of drum machines, synthesizers and unusual or non-existent vocals.

Scott Campbell's song "Juggernaut" sets the tone for the album. Slow, deep, almost monk-like, chanting vocals boom over the back-drop of insistent, metallic drum beats.

The industrial dance noise continues with Warworld's song "Vast Waste." The Nitzer-Ebb-type buzzy vocals and the churning confusion of the rhythm adds up to the perfect soundtrack for a nightmare, which is good, if you like that sort of music.

The Dark Theater song "Undead" is an interesting mix of a sterile drum track with the almost funky sounds of an electric guitar. But, the vocals make the song. The unnamed vocalist sings and growls in a high clear voice and fuels the song with an intense passion.

Led Zep fans (and enemies) will enjoy David Kane's Decay of Western Civilization's industrial dance version of the '70s chestnut "Immigrant Song."

Other high points include Lab Animal's ominous tune "Whatever It Takes," Aural Sect's danceable "Testimony," Jimmy Lifton's "Of Mystics" (his "Wired for Sound" is also included) and the almost traditional sounding "Bed" by Terminal White.

RUNNING SCARED — Exene Cervenka

Exene Cervenka continues in the same direction on her latest album "Running Scared" that she started with her 1989 release "Old Wives' Tales." It is a toned-down, folkish-sounding release, with a little bit of country, a little bit of rock'n'roll.

There are two factors that have helped shape the music on "Running Scared" — her separation from X and Cervenka's skill as a poet.

In the late 1970s/early 1980s, Cervenka and her songwriting partner and then-husband John Doe fronted the critically acclaimed Los Angeles punk band X. Although the group is not officially broken up, it certainly seems like they are because they haven't put out an album in years and Doe and Cervenka are firmly entrenched in their separate solo projects.

After Cervenka left X, she married, moved to Idaho and had a baby. Many people think this is why she toned-down her sound so much on her solo projects as per the usual cliché of female punk rocker leaves the scene, has a baby and starts putting out dulled albums about the joys of home and hearth. This is not the case with Cervenka.

The quieter, more folksy sounds on Cervenka's album can be attributed to factors in the musician long before she left X. Toward the end of the reign of that band, she was beginning to incorporate more acoustic sounds into the group. And, buried under the layers of sound in X, there was always a bit of country in their music.

Songs on "Running Scared" cover a gamut of musical styles from rockers to ethereal ballads. The tunes range from the countrified sounds of "A Boy and His Sister" to a song veering toward hip hop, "Real Estate."

Although the songs on "Running Scared" musically lack the passionate punk punch of her work with X, lyrically, they hit just as hard. Cervenka continues to be a poetic punk, apparent in "It Fell," a song about being faithful to oneself. "The Inflation" tear drop finally fell like the blood-red drops of a bad spell/and when it fell and broke, lots and lots of water came out."

THE ONLY ONE I KNOW (EP) — Charlatans UK GLIDER — My Bloody Valentine

EPs serve one of two purposes. The format allows some bands to dump excess material not worthy enough to go on an LP for the unsuspecting record-buying public. Or, it can serve as a short, creative, and perhaps an affordable, introduction to the group's music.

U2, as an example, have used EPs to display some of their more obscure and experimental material as in "Sort of Homecoming." Also, the band's live EP "Under a Blood Red Sky" became the benchmark for their soon-to-be illustrious career.

These two releases by the stately My Bloody Valentine and the up-and-coming Charlatans UK fall into a similar category.

To their credit, each stretches creative boundaries of the four to five-song EP to enjoyable lengths.

Charlatans UK are currently the rage in England. On "The Only One I Know," this is easy to understand why. Whereas many bands on a nostalgia trip into the '70s, few have reinterpreted the psychedelia, power-chord days with the hook-ridden style of Charlatans UK.

The single, "The Only One I Know," is brimming with Procal Harem-esque keyboards and a thunderous rhythm section capped off by some riveting guitar work. That, in a nutshell, are Charlatans UK.

While the Charlatans are reinterpreting, My Bloody Valentine continue inventing. This dissonant sounding guitar band showcases an intriguing mix of material, including a pair of instrumentals "Glider" and "Soon."

GRADING THE MOVIES

EVEN SHIRLEY MacLaine can't save "Waiting for the Light" (C-, PG, 95 minutes) from its heavy-handed and simple-minded satire of human guilt.

She's Aunt Z (Zena) to Kay (Teri Garr's) two children, Emily and Eddie (Hillary Wolf and Colin Baumgartner). A semi-retired vaudeville performer, Aunt Z does children's birthday parties and has a mischievous sense about her role in life, primarily as a prankster keeping the pompous honest.

Despite an occasional sparkle, for the most part, MacLaine's a worn and wearisome Auntie Mame-like character. She and Teri Garr, as well as all the other competent performers, deserve better material than this script, essentially a one-line gag suitable for a half-hour sitcom. There just isn't enough here for a 90-minute feature film.

"Tune in Tomorrow" (C+, PG-13, 100 minutes) is this season's second older woman-younger man film. Unfortunately, it lacks the tension and excitement generated by "The White Palace" and turns out to be a disjointed, loosely structured comedy about radio soap operas in the '50s.

lot of reality impacting here" is his favorite comment.

HIS RADIO scripts are visualized on the movie screen while being read by radio actors, a technique which helps reality impact on viewers, but however clever, without tight editing and directing, is not enough to make me tune in again. Much of the comedy is flat.

In addition to his scriptwriting duties, Pedro takes it upon himself to play cupid to a young radio news writer, Martin (Keanu Reeves), and his "Aunt" Julia (Barbara Hershey). Martin loves Julia, 15 years his senior, who is a free thinker and radical type, at least by 1951 standards in New Orleans. The focus of their affair and Pedro's antics are not mixed as well as they should have been.

Despite considerable potential, "Tune in Tomorrow" is too loosely structured and scattered to take advantage of its strengths. It winds up in the "wait-for-dollar-night" category. Check your video cassette racks, it won't be long.

What would Halloween be without Frankenstein? Roger Corman has filled the bill with "Frankenstein Unbound" (*, R) which involves time travel as well as Dr. Frankenstein's original creator and John Hurt, the time-traveling scientist.

STILL PLAYING:

"Avalon" (A+, PG, 126 minutes).

Michael (Matt Craven) is one person who offers an explanation as to why Jacob (Tim Robbins) is plagued by terrible visions in "Jacob's Ladder."

Excellent film chronicles an immigrant family's successes and failures in America.

"Duck Tales: The Movie — Treasure of the Lost Lamp" (A, G, 70 minutes).

Scrooge McDuck from daytime TV in an entertaining and exciting animated feature that owes a great debt to Indiana Jones.

"Fantasia" (A+, G).

Excellent restoration of Disney's 1940 masterpiece.

Make an educated choice

Dear Barbara,

Recently, a doctor prescribed the drug Prozac to my husband for the mild depression he was feeling. I told him that I had heard that Prozac has harmful side effects and that it would be crazy to take it. What do you think?

Jane

Dear Jane,

Whether or not to take a drug is a question between a doctor and patient. This is a controversial subject at present and so I thank you for giving me the opportunity to address it.

When deciding whether or not to take a medication, one must consider:

- (1) How debilitating the present condition is.
- (2) The degree to which one will improve on the medication.
- (3) The possible negative side effects.

When Prozac was first released as a drug to combat depression, it was hailed as a "wonder drug" because it answered the second two questions positively. It was thought to stimulate great improvement with very few side effects, certainly fewer side effects than other antidepressants. It had the additional positives of only needing to be taken once a day and being safer, if large amounts were ingested.

That, however, was a short-lived honeymoon. On July 17, a 40-year-old woman filed a $150 million lawsuit against Eli Lilly and Co., charging that Prozac, their drug, had made her slash her wrists more than 150 times. The media has jumped on this case and many others who have taken the drug have also begun lawsuits.

Two million people worldwide have taken Prozac. The controversy rages. Is this a wonder drug or a suicide pill? There are many glitches in trying to ascertain the truth. Among them is that the rate of suicide for depressed patients has been reported as high as 22 to 36 times that of the general public.

Further, suicidal ideation is stronger in patients as they are improving. In the severest stages of their depression, they are too incapacitated to act on their thoughts. Therefore, suicide would be more likely after a person started taking Prozac than before.

Any drug has risks associated with it. There will always be documented side effects as well as idiosyncratic responses. The TV, newspapers and magazines are full of stories about this pill.

As with any illness and treatment about which you have a question, you should become as educated as is possible for you and then find a doctor whom you trust. You can never be 100 percent sure of a course of action, but you can make an educated choice.

Comedy circuit, video keep Soupy 'Sale-ing'

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

Pookie the Lion, White Fang and Black Tooth — they're all there. And, of course, so is Soupy Sales.

That's good news to those who grew up in the 1950s and '60s and made his TV show "Lunch with Soupy" a daily ritual. Chances are, though, the home video "The Best of The Soupy Sales Show" wouldn't strike an immediate chord with those 20 and under who were too young to catch his TV act.

Here's a pie in your eye. The 50-minute video capturing two episodes of Sales' hit TV show exemplifies self-deprecating humor at its finest. The tape also chronicles a nearly bygone era of television where everything was broadcast live — including mistakes.

Let the folks at "Saturday Night Live" whine about doing a live show for 1 1/2 hours once a week. Wimps.

Soupy did 10 shows a week — a children's program in the morning and a talk/variety show in the evening in the 1950s at WXYZ-TV Channel 7. All totaled, Sales was on TV 11 hours a week, enough to make Oprah look like a hermit.

"Those are the great days of live TV," said Sales, who will perform a special engagement Thursday through Sunday, Nov. 8-11, at Joey's in Livonia. "Those times were fun. It was like going to school and learning your craft."

"THAT'S WHY comedy clubs, movies and concerts are doing so well today... that love affair with television is over."

The love affair with Soupy and his TV audiences, though, is still in bloom. People who grew up watching "Lunch with Soupy Sales" as children are in their 30s and 40s now.

Today, those people pack comedy clubs to see his stage act, which includes an entertaining variety of jokes, gags and song parodies.

Not surprisingly, the VCR generation is also buying up his new video. Sales are doing particularly well in Detroit where Sales did his show starting in 1953. He moved to Los Angeles in 1960 and later to New York where his television show on ABC-TV became a nationwide hit.

The fondness of this area's audience is mutual. Sales said he turned down an opportunity to take part in a made-for-TV film with Jerry Lewis in Florida to do his upcoming engagement at Joey's in Livonia.

"Detroit is great. I was there seven years; it's my home," Sales said. "They (his fans) grew up with me. I was doing my show, and now they're adults. They've been with me all these years and I love them."

Part of the reason of Soupy's success is his ability to laugh at himself. Be it a pie in his face (an estimated 20,000 during the course of his career) or taking abuse from his canine nemesis White Fang. Such slapstick might be deemed "uncool" by today's "hip" comedians.

YET HIS comedic talents put others at ease. After all, who would imagine Frank Sinatra ever being involved in a pie fight on nationwide TV?

Only the Soupman could perpetrate such zaniness.

The 1965 black-and-white episode, which also features Sammy Davis Jr. and Trini Lopez, is included on the video. The tape also has a color episode filmed in 1979 and has Dick Van Patten, Alice Cooper and Dick Clark as guests.

The show with Sinatra, Davis and Lopez beat out the then top-rated "Rawhide," a remarkable feat at the time.

"I think it's the first time many people him saw (Sinatra) relaxed," said Sales, recalling the show. "He had this reputation that he wasn't a very easy guy to get along with at the time. The press was getting on his case and he was going through a messy divorce."

"Going on my show, people were able to see that other side of him."

Many of the tapes of "The Soupy Sales Show" were erased or lost. Then seven years ago, a person turned up and approached Sales saying he found 76 episodes in a New Jersey garage. For $5,000, he could have the reels. Sales bought them. The video captures only 50 minutes of Sales' comedic talents. Obviously, time doesn't allow him to include everyone's favorite show — including the one where Sales jokingly asked his audience of children for money and ended up with a pile of bills sent to him by mail.

"It doesn't have that," he said, "Or the one with the naked girl. That will come later."

Soupy Sales will appear Thursday through Sunday, Nov. 8-11, at Joey's Comedy Club, 36071 Plymouth Road, between Wayne and Levan roads, Livonia. For information, call 261-0555.

In addition to a 50-minute video capturing two still packing them in at comedy clubs, especially in the Detroit area.

Now, it doesn't make any difference what time it is.

You can place an Observer & Eccentric classified ad 24 hours a day!

Here's how it works:
First, you must have a touch-tone telephone.
Then, all you do is call us—remember, it doesn't make any difference if we're not here—to place an ad, cancel one or change something on one you've placed earlier.
Let's say it's eight o'clock at night and you've just realized that the cupid on the clock you're selling plays a tin whistle. It's a good selling point, so you punch up our classified number and wait for the operator to guide you through the steps for changing your ad. Have in mind the exact information you want to give us, speak clearly and a bit slower than you usually do. And that's it.

If it's after 5:00 p.m. on Tuesday, your changes will be made for the next Monday paper. Or, if it's after 5:00 p.m. on a Friday or the weekend, your changes will hit the Thursday papers.

Pretty neat, huh?
Of course, our Classified Ad Takers are here every Monday through Thursday from 8:00 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. and until 5:00 p.m. each Friday. But now, if you miss them, you can still do something about your ad—at your convenience.

Meet the Rockers . . . as in soccer

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

Detroit Rockers: Rock'em, sock'em soccer has arrived. Professional indoor game returns to the Motor City on Saturday, Nov. 10, at Cobo Arena. The Rockers host the Milwaukee Wave. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

Yes, that's right, we said returns. Remember the Detroit Lightning of the Major Indoor Soccer League who played at Cobo in 1979-80? Don't feel bad, judging by the low attendance, only the players seemed to remember to show up at the games. That hastily assembled outfit only lasted one season. Ten years later, the newest entry in the National Professional Soccer League opens the its home campaign a whole lot wiser and better prepared.

Never heard of indoor soccer? Well, think hockey on Astro-Turf. Better yet, think Steve Yzermanlike marksmen blasting a leather, hexagonal ball into the net. Think of more carooms than a pinball game. Think of battle-weary goalkeepers facing more point-blank shots than wooden ducks at a National Rifle Association-sponsored gallery.

For people already familiar with the indoor game — after all plenty of sophisticated soccer people live in the Observer & Eccentric area — this is a chance to see some of the best players in the country.

More importantly, though, this is yet another opportunity to see if professional soccer will float or sink in Detroit.

The cemetery of professional soccer franchises is quite crowded. Tombstones with Detroit markings read: Detroit Cougars (1968); Detroit Express (1978-80 resurrected again in the American Soccer League 1981-83) and the Detroit Lightning of the Major Indoor Soccer League (1979-80).

AT ITS height in the late 1970s, pro teams such as the New York Cosmos and the Tampa Bay Rowdies played before crowds of 70,000.

Today, professional outdoor soccer has been largely relegated to high school stadiums before crowds of a few hundred diehards.

Soccer, they told us, was the sport of '80s. They were wrong.

"Soccer never failed," said Paul Scicluna, part owner of the Detroit Rockers. "Soccer was never given a chance. American people were given a recycled product."

Indoor soccer is seen as the short-term answer. Unlike the outdoor game, goals come in bunches indoors where the action is fast and furious.

The game is played on 200-feet by 85-feet surface (same as ice hockey), surrounded by dasher boards and Plexi-glass.

Scoring in the NPSL is similar to basketball. Most goals are worth two points with shots outside the yellow line (blue line in hockey) worth three points. Penalty shots are good for one point.

Also, the nets have been enlarged this season to eight feet high by 14 feet wide.

Along with the high-paced action, soccer's indoor cousin has taken on the look of rock music video production. Teams are usually introduced amid dry-ice, smoke, strobe lights and the theme from "Star Wars."

"I DON'T know about the dry ice," said Ian Parratt, director of public relations. "We'll probably just stick with the lights."

The game also has its fair share of characters. One easily recognizable player broke the league scoring record last season with 167 points (two three-point goals, 39 two-point goals, 16 one-point goals and 67 assists).

Drago did all that without so much as two hairs to rub together on his head. The chrome-domed Yugoslavian has signed with the Rockers this season, joining an already formidable offensive threat that features former Express star Andy Chapman and NPSL veteran Dan O'Keefe.

"We've got some really good players," said Brian Tinnion, coach of the Rockers. "Dan O'Keefe has to be one of the most underrated players in the league. Drago and Andy (Chapman) speak for themselves."

"I think we have firepower and goal scoring ability."

Afterwards, kids swarmed onto the field to get autographs. Lines around Drago and Chapman were particularly long.

ALL OF which served a heavy dose of optimism to the team's owners. Gus Moffat, Scicluna and Tinnion have all been involved in soccer — both on an amateur and professional level.

Instead of talking about championships, though, Rockers personnel speak of sticking around long enough to establish a base of support.

For ticket information, call 473-0440.

Yucca plants, adobe style walls and strategically placed clay pots give a Southwest feel to one of the hot tubs at the Oasis Hot Tubs in Ann Arbor.

Kalamazoo books solid on Friday and Saturday nights all winter long."

Reservations are booked back-to-back at the Oasis Hot Tub Gardens. Hot tubbers can call one day ahead of time during the summer months to book a tub.

"People would be well advised to call about a week in advance during the winter months; it's a drag for us and for them when we have to say, 'Sorry, we don't have anything available,'" said Burns.

And Valentine's Day was exciting at the Ann Arbor Gardens.

"Between noon and 4 p.m. half the hot tubs were filled; from 4 p.m. until 2 a.m. we were booked solid, all 12 tubs, even with the terrible weather outside," said Burns.

An intercom is available in the dressing area should hot tubbers have questions or desire a change in water temperature. Intercoms provide hot tubbers with a link to the outside world without leaving their garden seclusion.

Prices vary, depending on the day of the week and the number of hot tubbers. For two people, the price is $9-13 per person, per hour. Weekdays are less than Friday and Saturday nights. The more hot tubbers in the group, the lower the per-person price.

OASIS' HOT Tub Gardens will open four new tubs in the fall. Eventually, each garden will receive more decorative attention.

The gardens will soon bring in a licensed masseuse. Fruit juices, fruit drinks and mineral water are sold at the desk.

"There is a man who comes to Oasis all the way from Ohio. We also have regular people who come from Ann Arbor, Toledo, Jackson, Ypsilanti, Lansing and the Detroit area," Burns said.

The owners believe the gardens' growth can be attributed to more than the comfort of hot tubs and pleasant surroundings.

"Ultimately, it is the continuing efforts of our staff that is responsible for our past and future success," they said.

The Oasis Hot Tub Gardens is open noon to 1 a.m. Sunday-Thursday and noon to 2 a.m. Friday and Saturday. To reserve a hot tub, call 663-9001.

She shares her love for Southwest

By Corinne Abatt
staff writer

IT'S A paradox that Michigan born and bred artist Cathy P. Aten should create and bring an exciting exhibit of her Southwestern art back to her home area.

But she did, and her vivid paintings on wool at Mesa Arts of Franklin, make a strong dramatic statement about that part of the country.

How did that happen? Why isn't she painting lakescapes, harbor scenes and sand dunes and with overtones of Chippewa Indian designs? Where did she pick up the Southwest influence?

Aten, in her mid 30s, grew up in Bloomfield Hills. She attended Kingswood School, where studied art with Robert Kidd and Ray Fleming.

She has a degree in textile design from Center for Creative Studies of Detroit. Her father, Roger Aten, was head of styling for GM before he died about 16 years ago. Her mother, Beverly Aten, still lives here as does her grandmother Mary Whiting.

ATEN HAD a successful career as a fabric designer going in Boston, but when some friends returned from a trip to the Southwest and told her about it, she was immediately interested.

"I didn't know what it was like, but I felt a call to go. I drove there and it felt like home, I just knew everything would be taken care of."

"I didn't worry as soon as I moved to the Southwest. My aesthetic changed so much that a gallery in Boston wouldn't take my work because they said they couldn't sell Southwestern art. My life changed so much for the better," she said, adding that she still wonders how it happened that she has such a wonderful life.

Her perspective on life changed and that, in turn, changed her art.

"My spirit gets very big there . . . My first reaction to the southwest was that I felt very vulnerable, the land was so big. It gave me a perspective of what we are in the world, which is not much. I like that."

She lives in Santa Fe, "in Billy the Kid's mother's old house," and she likes that, too.

She still does her large paintings on wool as she did in Boston, but now they reflect her environment, her love of the wide outdoors, the ancient marks or drawings she may find on a rock as she rides her horse in the desert, the brilliance of the sunsets, the geometric designs of the Plains and Pueblo Indians and her own inner responses.

Textile artist Cathy P. Aten designed the fabric for the jacket she's wearing. She designs fabric for clothing as well as for custom upholstery.

Cathy P. Aten said she feels comfortable working in a linear form as illustrated in this painting on wool with animal forms reminiscent of cave paintings.

This painting on wool, with a highly charged emotional appeal, combines hard edge and geometric designs, with personal symbols and broad sweeps of color.

WHILE HER paintings on wool may be, as she says, "very much like a journal," they can be enjoyed and interpreted by the viewer in a variety of ways. When she found hand prints and foot prints carved into a rock on one of her long rides, she brought her strong impressions to her painting using her own handprints much as the earlier artist used his.

She recalls that her father, who channeled his artistic talents into a highly successful career in automotive styling and design, always encouraged her, his eldest of four children, to have a wide vision.

"He supported me in whatever I wanted to do. He wanted me to follow my heart."

That, she says was a major factor in her decision to relocate in the Southwest, a place where she feels completely comfortable.

Aten works in several styles. Some of her work shows the influence of the landscape and Indian designs of the Southwest in linear form, framed by a contrasting border. In other pieces, she combines contemporary symbolism of the inner self with a more spontaneous, abstract approach.

Her paintings and several monographs will be at Mesa Arts, 32800 Franklin Road, Franklin, through Nov. 17.

Write down your goals

Q. I know you're supposed to write down your goals and everything you need to do, but somehow I can't get myself to do that. Even though I know in my head what I want to do, I seem to have an aversion to putting them down on paper. Do other people have this problem, too, and is it really all that important to write down your goals?

A. The answer to both questions is yes. We had a good discussion about this in our last Schoolcraft College class. Several participants expressed those same concerns.

Some of the reasons given for avoiding writing them down were that once goals were permanently affixed in writing, an immediate emotional barrier went up for some folks.

They suddenly became frozen because they felt that now they had to accomplish those goals or they would consider themselves to be failures.

Others had that same feeling, except they were more concerned about other people around them might consider them failures. Some people worried that if their partners or coworkers saw their written goals, the other person would begin to take control, that is, take responsibility for seeing the goal was accomplished by offering repeated suggestions and nagging them until it was done. This, of course, would ruin the fun of self-achievement and, in some cases, would actually inspire rebellion.

Built-in rebellion already exists for certain individuals. Residual anger from childhood plagues some people, who perpetually avoid the stress and anxieties caused by lists of any kind. They don't want to write down goals. "To Do" lists or even calendar events because they want to avoid the pressure perceived to be caused by these listings.

Additional participants were concerned about possible ridicule by others. After all, goal setting always incurs some risk taking and if a person's self-esteem is not secure, even the threat of being put down is all it takes to deter them.

To answer your second question, it is not imperative to write down your goals. It's just almost imperative.

Writing your goals helps you remember all of them instead of having various goals rotating through your mind at different times.

Putting them on paper clarifies your thinking, facilitates prioritizing, helps you analyze what steps are needed to achieve them and encourages you to set them within specific time frames.

The best reason of all for writing down your goals is removing the responsibility of having to remember so many things in your mind.

You need to identify why you don't write things down and deal with those anxieties. It might help to have a secret place to hide what you've written.

Zoning perplexes land owners

By Doug Funke
staff writer

People don't have unrestricted rights to do whatever they want with their property. And there's no guarantee that a community will retain its flavor at one particular moment for all time.

Those are the big lessons Ron Figlan tries to impress upon students in his adult education class on zoning and land use at Oakland Community College.

"There are a lot of people who don't realize zoning is a binding and legal document," he said. "It controls the use of land. A lot of older people feel, 'It's my land, I pay taxes. Why can't I do what I want with it?'"

"There needs to some control by the community so uses will be compatible," he said.

Figlan, a planning technician for the city of Troy for 20 years, has taught a six-week course at OCC for several years.

"I would go up to the counter every day (at work) and talk to real estate people," he said. "They wanted to know, 'What's zoning, how do you change it?' I found myself standing up there a half hour giving them lessons in zoning."

"I SAID, 'I wish I could talk to them all at once.' I called Lawrence Tech, OCC, Wayne State. They said they didn't have a class that offered that," Figlan said.

"OCC called back and said, 'Would you like to teach?' I said, 'Why not?'"

Figlan described the class as general rather than specific because procedures are different in every community. Initially set up for real estate professionals, students have included plan commissions, architects, landscapers, zoning inspectors and builders.

Figlan's course outline addresses kinds of land uses, zoning districts, variances, site plans, and municipal departments involved in the process.

"We look at a site through the eyes of the owner, the eyes of a real estate agent and the eyes of the city," he said.

FIGLAN SPENDS a lot of time answering real-life questions posed by his students.

"There might be a problem with dogs or a teenage boy working on cars keeps me up all night — what do I do?" Figlan said. "They ask questions getting into concepts and philosophies, social aspects of planning. Concrete and steel vs. trees."

"I like to hear other peoples' views, their side of the story," he said. "I guess you could look at planning as very precise — a building must be set back X amount of feet, there has to be X amount of trees."

"There's another aspect of planning, the psychological and sociological effect building has on planning in a community."

Figlan said he's surprised by how

'There are a lot of people who don't realize zoning is a binding and legal document.'

— Ron Figlan

naive many people are about zoning matters.

"WHAT I'VE heard often is, 'I bought this house and property behind me was nothing but trees and woods. Now you're proposing a sub behind there.'"

"What can you do to a developer who meets all the requirements for whatever zoning you're looking at? How can you deny him?" Figlan said.

Another situation that often surfaces — not enough attention is given to potential growth or change before moving in.

"A majority of people look at that house and property and take a casual look around the area and that's it. Especially if you're going to spend $250,000 for a house, look at what's going on or what could go on."

Some property owners don't become aware of development and rezoning that may impact their lifestyles until it's too late to have effective input, Figlan said.

"YOU GET in right at the beginning when it goes to the plan commission for public hearing," he said. "When you get in earlier, it's possible the plan commission may make a recommendation subject to Joe Blow's recommendation or question."

Judith Anderson, a West Bloomfield planning commissioner, recently took Figlan's class to see how other municipalities approach the planning process.

"It's a fun class for anyone interested in the community," she said. "It gives insight into what's done and why and how planning for the future is done as far as zoning, roads and things."

Dennis Randt, who accepted a job last summer as a zoning inspector for the city of Farmington Hills, took the course to get a perspective on suburban zoning issues.

"He didn't stick to zoning issues," Randt said. "He went into other issues — tax bases, assessments, etc. Land management, in general, was the most enjoyable part. He gave perspective on that."

Figlan expects to start the next session of his course in January at OCC Orchard Ridge, Farmington Hills. Contact the office of continuing education at 471-7541 for details.

Zoning provides control by a community to ensure land uses will be compatible.

Kickback allegations

I am a member of a condominium association who has been closely observing the actions of the board of directors as they relate to several contracting firms hired by the board on major projects. I believe that the company is giving kickbacks to at least the president of the association. I don't have any direct proof except a strong gut feeling. How do I confront the board about my suspicions?

Like corruption in government, there is always the ugly possibility of corruption in the governance of a condominium association, but it is hard to prove and, hopefully, very rare. Contractors who offer kickbacks to general contractors may also offer them to board members. Often service-related entities may also be inducing these uncompensated volunteer directors to look their way for business.

I would learn as much as you can about the relationship between the contractor you suspect and the board or managing agent that hired him. For example, what the decision made to hire him, who made it — the board as a whole, the president or managing agent, if there is one. Put your questions in writing but be careful because you don't want to slander someone by falsely accusing him or her of it taking payoffs. Be discreet but thorough. Your inquiry may itself have a chilling effect on any imprudent conduct that may be going on under the table.

Our association has a policy against "ghetto blasters" and the like being used in the clubhouse. Is it enforceable and if so, how?

Yes. It seems reasonable to require that members or guests using the recreational facilities of the condominium comply with reasonable rules regarding their use. Insuring that the facilities in question are free of excessive noise or other condo queries

disturbances is commendable and legally sustainable if these rules are enforced uniformly and consistently and were properly passed in accordance with the condominium documents and not for discrimination purposes.

Can you explain what is meant by the phrase — obtaining a title policy "without exceptions" when buying a condominium? Aren't all title insurance policies the same?

Not all title policies are the same; not all title insurance companies are the same. But there are certain expectations to most standard title insurance policies that are issued to ensure the owner that he or she has marketable title to the property purchased free of any liens or encumbrances except as listed on the "schedule to the title policy — the purchaser's mortgage."

But "standard exceptions" that are excluded from the protection to the title policy include such things as unrecorded mechanic's liens, survey errors, boundary disputes. If you ask for a policy without exceptions, these "standard exceptions" to the policy will be deleted. You may have to pay more for the policy, but it is well worth it.

Institute pushes builder licensing

By Gerald Frawley
staff writer

The problem? Too many builders, not enough licenses.

It's a widespread problem, according to Bill Lawson, principal partner of the Michigan Builders Institute, based in Rochester Hills, which teaches builders licensing seminars throughout the state.

Many small builders and remodelers who work on smaller projects, he said, are unlicensed and therefore working illegally.

The solution? Make them take the state licensing test.

Sounds simple, Lawson said, but there are problems involved. "There are a lot of builders who just don't like the tests."

Many builders are either intimidated by the state test or don't see the need for it, Lawson said. "Most builders are hands-on builder types, not sit-and-read types."

"I know more builders that are unlicensed than are licensed," he said.

Lawson, a partner in Michigan Home Builders Inc. and a builder himself, conducts seminars throughout the state, mostly through adult and community education programs put on by school districts. Lawson has worked in industrial design, urban planning and as a real estate broker in addition to being a builder.

Seminar participants are given a crash course in everything needed to pass the test, Lawson said, which has resulted in a 95 percent passing rate. Seminars range in cost between $115 and $150, depending on the school district sponsoring the seminar.

Seminars are either 16 or 32 hours in length, and address all areas covered by the state builder's license exam, he said.

PAUL BORK, Lawson's partner and fellow instructor, has worked as a landscape architect, a city planner and a broker as well as being a builder.

Which isn't to say that unlicensed builders are incompetent, Lawson said. "They just aren't test-taking people."

Most unlicensed builders know how to construct a home, but the state exam doesn't test that ability, Lawson explained. "It measures a builder's knowledge about state laws, inspection requirements construction liens and insurance.

"When you apply for the state exam, they don't ask if you know how to build from the ground up," Lawson said. "Basically, they want to make sure you don't get into trouble."

Actually, a builders license may be more important for the builder than the person who hires the builder, he said. Under state law, an unlicensed builder can get stuck with the bill for services rendered over $600.

"People who are in the building trades and are unlicensed are considered handymen for projects under $600," he said. "For projects over $600, an unlicensed builder can't collect if a person refuses to pay — even in court because the work was done illegally."

Lawson said there are basically four types of people who take his courses. Obviously, the builder who is already active in the profession, but doesn't have a license, is a prime candidate for the class, but people considering becoming builders also make up a significant number of students.

THEN THERE'S the home fix-it person who sees a license as a discount ticket for building materials, he said, adding many building material/lumber yards offer discounts for licensed builders.

The fourth type of person who may wish to get a builder's license, he said, is someone acting as a contractor to build their own home. Lawson said although someone building their own home does not need a builder's license, knowing the ins and outs of building is always helpful, and getting financing is sometimes easier for a licensed builder.

Lawson also said people can also benefit from having a builder's license in slower building times, because a builder's license is also required for large remodeling projects — which are more likely to increase.

Upcoming sessions include seminars in Brandon/Orionville Nov. 26; Lake Orion Nov. 26; Wayne/Westland Nov. 27 and Jan. 8; and Novi Jan. 14. Call local community education groups for times and costs. The institute's number is 651-2771.

HOROSCOPE

November 4 through November 10

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)
Don't take things too seriously and all will be well. Watch finances, but don't build your life around how much money you think you deserve.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)
Don't take loved ones for granted this week. Working will actually help you plan for the future. Stay cheerful no matter what happens.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
Take your time when completing tasks. Be cautious when entertaining the opposite sex. Don't rely on others to get things done.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)
Listen to others' comments and incorporate them with your own ideas. Don't let others accuse you of something you had no part in.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)
Family members might drive you crazy, but remember they are only trying to help. Don't waste energy fighting them; it is not worth it.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
You will spend much of your time trying to communicate with others. Your romance sector improves, and a loved one proves something special.

By C.C. Clark

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
Learn to trust people's intentions. A comment could upset you, but understand that the comment was not meant to offend you.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
It is possible to achieve goals you have only dreamed about. A positive attitude will keep you and those around you in a good mood.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
Your artistic abilities are at their best. A visit with relatives could do you a great deal of good. Take time to honor loved ones' requests.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
Don't let restlessness ruin the week for you. Use that energy to create wonderful things. A useless argument with a friend will only embarrass you.

'On Thin Ice' about more than ice skating careers

Tai Babilonia hopes movie offers encouragement

By Mary Ann Townsend

For Tai Babilonia, making a TV movie about her heartbreaking figure skating career was a painful, yet gratifying experience.

On Thin Ice: The Tai Babilonia Story, airing Monday, Nov. 5, on NBC, tells how Babilonia's passion for skating eventually tore her life apart. But more importantly the drama shows how she is getting back on her feet after depression over an Olympic defeat sent her on a path of self destruction.

The film opens with 6-year-old Tai watching idol Peggy Fleming on TV and moves rapidly to her matchup with figure skating partner Randy Gardner three years later.

In just four short years, the two were setting records as the most successful pair-skaters in U.S. history. Their success continued throughout the '70s.

It seemed only natural, and perhaps even expected, that the two would walk away with a gold medal at the 1980

Olympics. However, it was then that they became known as America's "heartbreak kids." The two entered the ice ready to perform their routine at the Olympics in Lake Placid, but an earlier injury rendered Gardner unable to perform. In front of millions of fans, they had to leave the rink without having the opportunity to live out their lifelong dream.

The incident was not only a crushing blow to the pair's dreams, but it also marked the beginning of a downward turn in Babilonia's personal life.

"I got through the worst night of my life without breaking down or exposing my true feelings, and that set the pattern of behavior I would follow for the next eight years," Babilonia said.

Her disappointments and feelings of isolation sent her on a self-destructive path that included drug and alcohol abuse, involvement in volatile relationships, and ultimately a suicide attempt in 1988.

Babilonia stressed, however, that On Thin Ice is not just a chronicle of the pair's career. Instead it offers a message of hope to others who believe they have hit rock bottom.

"It was very therapeutic, and it was, in a way, a healing process," she said of working on the movie.

With that healing, however, came some pain.

"Actually the more emotional scenes for me were the drinking, the alcohol parts. Some days I wouldn't go in to watch. It was just too painful," Babilonia said.

But, she admitted, it was also fun. Gardner and Babilonia reunited for the first time in a year to perform some of their own routines for the movie. They also worked with the three sets of actors and actresses who portray them as children, teenagers and adults.

Canadian actress Rachael Crawford and actor Charlie Stratton play the duo as adults.

"It was so funny having so many Tai and Randys running around. Not only were there actors, but there were doubles," Tai explained.

"So whenever they would call Tai, like six people would turn. It was pretty funny," Randy added.

They both laughed when I asked if it was easy to get back into the swing of their routines for the movie.

"It's never easy to just step into it. I wish it were," Randy said.

'A Political Scholar in TV'

John Akouri is a young political scholar. Since the summer of 1985 he has been involved with television. Although his programming is very diverse, he is still recognized for his political acumen. John is active in a political party and yet his television reputation is that he is a producer who is fair to all parties.

A graduate of Wayne State University in Politics and Broadcasting, John considers this to be his base of understanding. The combination of being on a politically liberal campus, part of a democratic society and amid the vocal era of equal rights, enhanced his determination that both sides are heard.

I asked him what it means to him to be politically involved? "You must take a stand and be certain of your political direction," he answered.

John has followed this premise in all of his television programming. His formula for general television preparation is:

- Assure yourself of confirmed guests.
- Secure location of the shoot, including reservations for equipment & facilities.
- Schedule the program on the TV Channel in advance. This will force you and your crew to follow through.
- Assemble the crew, asking grade-A people to help. These are the folks who have secured a lot of experience volunteering for other shows.
- Determine your Set. Acknowledge all people and stores who contribute. ("This is just like picking out furniture," exclaimed John.) For instance, Terrace Casuals of Farmington which he has participated in are:

- 1986 Ch. 12 first live viewer call-in candidates night
- 1987 Community Television Annual Ceremony
- Four Annual Akouri Family Christmas Shows
- Announcing Public Service Announcements
- Anchoring for Tri Outlook News and Newscenter 12
- Project coordinator for the Morton Downy, Jr. Show
- And, he continues to produce a show on political perspectives, "The Steps to the Capitol II"

Creativity is not only a sideline but a profession for John who is a professional photographer. It is obvious that the characteristics of keeping alert to interesting people and issues are key to innovative programming.

John always has seen himself as the "Sam Donaldson of the 90s". His dream is to be a television anchor. No matter what the future holds, John knows it will include television.

There are many other stories like John's because the open doors of community television make the individual a top priority. Multiple careers, creative life planning to incorporate one's personal interests, innate talents and trained skills can all come together to make future dreams come true. Hopefully, all will mesh and turn into a career and a life of personal fulfillment as well as a service to the community.

has provided sets for his programs and received thanks in the credits. Everywhere the programs are seen the credits will also be seen.

• Treat the people who help you with kindness. Thank them by providing food, which may also be donated by businesses than can also be recognized in the credits. Send those involved thank you notes for giving you their valuable time.

• Do a full fledged media blitz. "I do it myself", says John.

John meets President George Bush.

"I make the phone calls and write the press releases. If I want it done right, I feel that I must keep my hand in it." Making use of television, radio, newspapers, newsletters, bulletins and flyers are important. Be wherever your potential audience is.

John took the cable company's television workshop (MetroVision) "It may seem difficult when first introduced. Keep an open mind to learning and assist others before you venture out to do your own show."

With these basics in mind, I asked John how he applies his political knowledge to his television shows. "Very Carefully" he said in all sincerity. He went on to discuss how the Kennedy/Nixon television debates changed the political environment. We now see one issue candidates and viewers feel that they really know those whom they see on TV.

'Cheers' remains a success for variety of reasons

Comedy's 200th episode set

By Mary Ann Townsend

A certain something special has had the customers — and viewers — coming back to 'Cheers' for eight years.

Now in its ninth season, the show last week celebrated its 200th episode with an hour-long special. The actual 200th taped episode airs Thursday, Nov. 15, on NBC.

That certain something special isn't the beer. Actor George Wendt, who plays Cheers patron Norm Peterson, confirms the stuff on the set is near beer. No, there is something more that has kept the show in the top of the Nielsens for nearly a decade.

First and foremost is the writing, as Wendt and actress Rhea Perlman, who plays saucy barmaid Carla Tortelli LeBec, agree. The team of Glen and Les Charles is hard to beat, as is director and co-executive producer James Burrows. (One of the team's past credits was the successful series "Taxi".) Wendt attributes the show's success to those even further up the ladder.

There weren't any weak links in the chain. The ultimate answer is the writing, but also it was a real good time to be at NBC, with (Grant) Tinker and (Brandon) Tartikoff allowing us to be a failure for a year and a half, two years, ratings wise. It's a good studio, Paramount. Everything just sort of fell together," he said.

The show has bounced back from some major cast changes, such as when Nick Colasanto died near the end of the third season and when Shelley Long left as her five-year contract expired.

"When Nick died, that was a big blow, a really big blow," said Perlman. "I think he was kind of the Daddy of the show. He was a great actor and he ... was the heart of the show. No one could imagine who was going to be able to take over for that part."

Woody Hfarrelson managed to step into the role as the naive bartender, even though the character of Woody is not the father figure Coach was.

"And (about) Shelley leaving, Kirstie just took off. It just worked, it just did," Perlman continued. "Of course everybody was scared because the show was about Sam and Diane. It was a scary thing for us all. But I guess the show was really about more than that or it wouldn't have worked. We felt it was about Sam and Diane, but it was about the bar. It was about Sam and the people at the bar."

She added that she didn't know whether the show could survive if Ted Danson left. Danson won an Emmy this year for his portrayal of Sam Malone, a former baseball player who has owned the neighborhood bar off and on through the series' duration.

One of the writers' biggest successes is the chemistry that has developed between the characters. THE Cheers regulars and workers are a family that has stuck together through unforeseen situations. That, according to Burrows, was a concept the producers had from the beginning.

"The show has always been an evolutionary show", he said. "We never could predict how we would end up at the end of the year."

Perlman's character has gone through marriages, births and loved ones' deaths, but her ascerbic character has really changed very little. The actress likes that.

"I'm just real happy to have the lives to say, because in real life, I'm not real quick with lines," she said. "That's the great thing about Carla, she's always got the right thing to say at the right moment."

SOAP TALK

Jennifer, Jack's dialogue could be improved

By Candace Havens

Dear Candace: I am so tired of the horrible lines the writers give Jennifer and Jack on Days of Our Lives. It is a shame that with two such talented actors the writers give them such stupid lines. I don't really object with the actual storylines, though they are a stretch. But the conversation between the two characters is so absurd, I turn off the show every time they come on. —Disappointed in Days, Conroe, Texas

Dear Reader: I must say that many other viewers share in your disappointment. What amazes me is, most of the people who write in say Jennifer (Melissa Brennan) and Jack (Matthew Ashford) are two of their favorite characters. People are simply disgusted with the dialogue that takes place between the two characters. We can only hope the writers of Days will see the light, and soon.

Dear Candace: With all the talk about Steve and Kayla leaving to take a trip, I wondered if that meant they were leaving Days of Our Lives. Little Stephanie is such a beautiful baby, is her daddy really Steve? —Martha Bauch, Deming, N.M.

Dear Martha: Stephen Nichols has left the show to go on to other things. Mary Beth Evans will continue on the show, and it has been rumored that she will be paired with another leading man. Nichols is not the real-life father of Stephanie.

Dear Candace: Is the same girl who plays the FBI agent on One Life to Live the one who played Olivia on General Hospital? They look exactly alike. If not, are they twins? They are both very beautiful. —Tom in S.D.

Dear Tom: Tonja Walker did play Olivia Jerome and is currently the FBI agent working with Bo on OLTL. Walker originally auditioned for the part of Tina, but wasn't exactly right for the character. Paul Rauch, the executive producer of the show, was impressed with Walker and cast her in the part of the FBI agent instead.

I want to hear from you! If you have a favorite soap scenario you would like to sound off about, or a question about the soaps, write to Candace Havens, Soap Talk, P.O. Box 17748, Fort Worth, TX 76102-0748.

FAMILY FAIRE

'Winnie the Pooh' still strong at 65

By Amy Schmidt

Winnie the Pooh turns 65 this year. The old bear's been a hit ever since author A.A. Milne first created him back in 1926.

Inspired by Milne's 4-year-old son Christopher Robin, the name "Winnie" came from a bear in the London Zoo and "Pooh" from Christopher's pet swan. The author created a host of winsome characters — Tigger, Piglet, Eeyore, Owl, Rabbit and Kanga — to scamper about "Hundred Acre Wood," a pastoral setting similar to Milne's home of Sussex, England.

What has explained Winnie's success? ABC story editor Bruce Talkington has an idea: "Little kids love Pooh because they can really relate to not being able to make the connection to some of the adult things that are always going on. And adults love Pooh because it touches some kind of hidden memory — that childlike thought that you never really lose." The ABC cartoon The New Adventures of Winnie the Pooh is now in its third season. It has won two Emmys, a Humanitas Award, an Action for Children's Television Award and a Parents' Choice Award.

Milne's first book, Winnie the Pooh, sold 150,000 copies its first year. The House at Pooh Corner, the second book about Christopher Robin and friends, was published in 1928. Today, the books have sold more than 14 million copies.

LET'S TALK

Matthew Broderick found early success in acting

By Polly Vonetes

Q: I have become very interested in the career of Matthew Broderick, star of the movies Freshman and Glory. I would like personal information like marriage, children and date of birth. —Ernest Johnson, De Ridder, La.

A: Matthew Broderick was born March 21, 1962, in New York City. His father, actor James Broderick, was best known from 1976 to 1980 as Kristy McNichol's father on the TV series Family. Matthew had a phenomenal rise to stardom at an early age. He became involved with acting while attending the Walden School in New York City. After graduation he chose acting "as a great way to not even apply to college." A year later he was cast in an off-Broadway play, and soon after, an audition for Neil Simon led to a co-starring role in Max Dugan Returns and the lead role in the hit Broadway play Brighton Beach Memoirs. He has been kept busy ever since. As of this writing he is neither married nor the father of any children.

Q: I am interested in writing to Jimmy Stewart regarding the recent video release of the movie Harvey. Would you please send me his address? —Lucy Dover, Nacogdoches, Texas

A: You may write to Jimmy Stewart at P.O. Box 90, Beverly Hills, CA 90213.

Q: On the TV show Webster, was the character George Papadoupoullis patterned after a fictional character, or did someone really have a friend or relative by that name that the character was honoring? —Action Line, Watertown, S.D.

A: George Papadoupoullis is a fictional name. The character, as I understand it, was created in the writer's mind. He could be a composite of many people the writer may have known or heard about.

Q: I am writing for some information on my favorite actor Richard Grieco. Not only is he a good actor but he's the best looking guy on TV. Please tell me all you can about him. —Lisa Jasso, Hemet, Calif.

A: Twenty-five-year-old Richard Grieco was born in Watertown, N.Y. He comes from a large, close-knit family. A gifted athlete, he excelled in such sports as hockey, lacrosse and football. An All-American high school football player, Grieco attended Central Connecticut University on an athletic scholarship. With his sights set on a career in law, he chose political science as his major. While in college, he was entered in a national competition known as the "Best Face of the '80s" and emerged as a clear-cut winner. The contest led to a modeling contract in New York City. It was during this time he realized his desire to act and shortly thereafter began two years of intensive theatrical study. His first audition led to his first professional role as Rick Gardner on the daytime drama One Life to Live.
