Runway looks clear for airport authority

By Kevin Brown
staff writer

The Mettetal Airport authority is ready for takeoff.

Most Plymouth city commissioners say they'll vote tonight to join Plymouth Township trustees in creating an authority to run the Canton airport.

Five of the city's seven commissioners said last week they'll likely vote tonight to create the authority. Touted by Plymouth Township Supervisor Maurice Breen, the authority would use federal money to buy the airport and operate it.

Canton Township Supervisor Tom Yack, who opposes keeping the airport alive with public money, said, "This is obviously a major decision, but it appears they spent more time studying bag-tag (the new city garbage plan) than Mettetal."

"And this one's going to cost them a whole lot more than bag-tag," Yack added.

"I feel that if we're going to be a full-service community, and I mean by that the whole community, the airport is a vital aspect of that," said Mayor Dennis Bila, who said he'll vote to join an authority.

Further, "I'm convinced that no city-of-Plymouth dollars would be utilized now or in the future in support of the airport," he added.

"One of the major considerations I have in this is the opportunity to expand the post-secondary education in the area," said Commissioner Ralph (Jack) Kenyon.

Some airport backers maintain Schoolcraft College officials are interested in presenting aircraft-industry-related classes at Mettetal.

"I think Schoolcraft and community colleges can do great things. I am very inclined towards that," Kenyon said.

Commissioner Ron Loisel said, "I'm leaning in favor of the authority," but said he wants to review information to be certain "that it's not going to cost the taxpayers any money."

"Basically an airport is always a positive asset to a community," he said, adding it can attract business.

"They may or may not use it but it never hurts. It's an asset many communities don't have," Loisel said.

Commissioner Jerry Vorva said last week, "I'm keeping a real open attitude, still gathering information," adding he hadn't decided how to vote.

"My gut reaction is if you were to put it on a ballot it would lose two or three to one, but I want to be fair to all parties."

Vorva said that over the weekend he planned to discuss the issue "with the city attorney and other commissioners. I want to be open and listen to what everyone else has to say."

While Vorva said he's talked with Yack — who opposes the airport — "There was no uprising from the citizens (in Canton)" when trustees there voted against public ownership of the airport.

Commissioner Mary Childs said a vote to join Plymouth Township in creating an airport authority shouldn't be viewed as an insult to Canton trustees.

ACLU not likely to challenge manger scene

The manger scene in Kellogg Park violates the establishment of a religion clause in the U.S. Constitution, American Civil Liberties Union officials say.

But unless a local resident complains about the display, the ACLU won't challenge it, said the group's state legal director.

Further, "I don't believe the ACLU is going to be expending resources on scenes that have secular symbols," said Paul Denefeld.

"Unfortunately it seems to be a real losing cause."

"The manger scene has been in Kellogg Park for as many years as I can remember," said Paul Sincock, assistant city manager. "It's one of the multitude of holiday decorations in the community."

Sincock said the only complaint he's received concerning the manger scene "is that the figures need to be replaced, they're showing their age."

COURT DECISIONS last year established that local governments can erect such displays, under certain guidelines.

The city of Plymouth has long erected a Nativity scene in the park just off Main Street facing west. It features replicas of a manger and of the three wise men riding camels.

A Santa's house set up over the park fountain, and rows of decorated Christmas trees complete the holiday display.

Mimi Gendreau, chairwoman of the lawyer's committee of the Detroit ACLU, said that a main question the courts have looked at is "it part of a bigger display," but added, "The cases we had we did not succeed on."

In November 1989, the U.S. Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals upheld a

Gls' cookies give kids a taste of business

Students at Smith Elementary School know being away from home for the holidays can be tough. They decided to send care packages to the soldiers in the Middle East to provide some holiday cheer.

"They're decorating cookies to send over to the troops in Saudi Arabia," said Marilyn Sundstrom, a third grade teacher at Smith. Nearly 100 third and fourth graders met the afternoon of Dec. 12 to decorate cookies at the Mayflower Meeting House.

Smith students and staffers are involved in the Business-Education Partnership, a project of the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools and local chambers of commerce. The school in Plymouth is paired with the Mayflower Hotel.

"These are our adopted kids," said Creon Smith, co-owner of the Mayflower Hotel. He and Randy Lorenz of the Mayflower came up with the idea of sending cookies to the Middle East.

"It was timely with the soldiers being in Saudi Arabia. It's a good deed for everybody," Smith said.

HE DIDN'T have to pay the youngsters minimum wage for their efforts.

"They're donating their time and doing a good job at it."

Smith contacted Awrey Bakeries in Livonia to ask about buying cookies for the project. Awrey representatives agreed to bake 1,000 sugar cookies.

'It was timely with the soldiers being in Saudi Arabia. It's a good deed for everybody.'

Students went to work Wednesday afternoon, decorating the cookies with frosting, sugar and other goodies. Many of the cookies had a patriotic look featuring red, white and blue designs. Several teachers, Smith principal Claudia Kulnis and a number of parents helped keep things running smoothly.

Mayflower staffers arranged to ship 700 of the cookies overseas, and the remaining 300 were available for the students to enjoy, Smith said.

A photographer took pictures of the children with Santa Claus during the decorating session, and those photos were sent with the care packages.

"They'll have them in time for Christmas," he said. Letters and notes were included, and Mayflower staffers packed some of the hotel's baked goods such as date nut bread for the soldiers.

Sundstrom has found her third graders are aware of what's happening in the Middle East.

"They know a lot about it," she said. "One of my students has a brother there."

Smith was impressed with the stu-gether as a community. I'm not for one community or against the next one.

"From what I'm able to gather, a lot of people in Canton were for it," she said, adding that if the airport can help draw industry, that could "keep our (Plymouth) stores viable."

"I'd probably vote for it with the way I feel now," Childs said.

In a town meeting Dec. 10 on the airport issue, some Plymouth residents complained of aircraft noise. But Childs said noise isn't a big factor, adding an aviation school "could serve some students."

Commissioner John Vos said he was impressed that many attending the town meeting supported maintaining the airport. "Usually in meetings like this it is all negative, all the nay-sayers show up."

Vos said he was impressed that area developer Robert DeMattia supports maintaining the airport as a means to encourage local business. "For the city of Plymouth there's not any immediate direct benefit, but you have to look at the total community in the year 2000 and beyond," he said, adding the education possibilities should also be considered.

Vos said Township Supervisor Maurice Breen, who has headed the effort to create an airport authority, is "looking at the big picture. He's a visionary."

With a majority of Plymouth commissioners saying they'll vote to join the authority, Breen said, "It would be wonderful if that's the way it comes out."

He said action to create the authority could begin in the next few weeks. Breen said he'll recommend that the four-member authority board be made up of two Plymouth Township trustees and two city commissioners.

Commissioner James Jabara said Friday he will be out of town today and unavailable to vote on the issue.

lower court ruling allowing placement of a Nativity scene on property owned by the city of Westland, and placement of a similar city-owned Nativity scene in Warren.

That three-judge panel reaffirmed a December 1988 ruling by U.S. District Judge Phillip Pratt. He found that the displays weren't an endorsement of any one religion as they included non-religious symbols in addition to the traditional depiction of the birth of Jesus.

"The law is very unclear," Denefeld said. A 1989 U.S. Supreme Court decision ruled that "the test is whether a reasonable observer of the scene would interpret a display to be an endorsement of a particular religion."

"What it has meant as most lower courts have interpreted it is that Nativity scenes surrounded by secular symbols (including Santas and Christmas trees) are constitutional," he continued.

"Unadorned Christian Nativity scenes are still strictly unconstitutional. The proximity of the symbols does have something to do with it."

'The manger scene has been in Kellogg Park for as many years as I can remember. It's one of the multitude of holiday decorations in the community.'

— Paul Sincock, Assistant city manager

For example, Denefeld said an adorned Nativity scene in a city park not adjacent to a city hall can be considered less offensive by the courts, as a display in an adjacent park suggests a greater government endorsement of religion.

"As an organization, we wish that communities would show more sensitivity to the diversity in their communities," Denefeld said.

"From a non-legal standpoint it just doesn't show much sensitivity. And it's not just Christian displays. It's inappropriate for government to be giving a message that they endorse a particular religion. Jewish symbols or symbols of other religions unadorned are just as offensive to the separation of church and state — It's just inappropriate," he maintained.

To Santa Claus

Kids pin hopes on Christmas letters

By Christmas Carol
staff writer

Wondering what kind of letters are wending their way to Santa Claus's mailbox this year, Christmas Carol paid a visit to Postmaster John Mulligan the other day.

As she knocked and waited for Postmaster Mulligan to open his door, the strains of Christmas music could be heard coming from his record player. Postmaster Mulligan, busily working through the holiday rush, got up from his desk to greet Christmas Carol.

"Good morning, Postmaster Mulligan," said Christmas Carol. "I was wondering if you know where I could find Santa Claus and some of the letters girls and boys have written him this year."

"We take Santa's mail," explained the postmaster, "special delivery, to the Chamber of Commerce. From there, it's hand-carried to Santa's House in Kellogg Park. I'm sure if you go to the Chamber they can help you," he said, wishing Christmas Carol a Merry Christmas as she hurried off.

Santa's helpers at the chamber took Christmas Carol to Santa's House in Kellogg Park, where they exchanged greetings and Santa was kind enough to let her read some of his very important correspondence.

Dear Santa,

Pretty cold this year, huh? wrote Kim Mast. I've been a very good girl. I've been a very good girl.

For Christmas I would like a porcelain doll (Samartha), Pooch pull troll, Geo Safari (price $99.95), Marble Madness, wedding barbie doll and I got to go.

See ya, so by. Love Kim. P.S. Can I get some more stuff too? In school we need money to buy a book for poor.

Dear Santa, wrote Nick Galloway.

I have been good. I would like 1. any Nintendo game. 2. Fingerprint kit. 3. three surprises. Signed, Nick.

Carmen, who lives on Clare Street, wrote, Dear Santa Claus, How have you been doing? I have been fine. I've been extra good all year. I've helped my mommy dust, clean, feed Sparky, clean the toilets and rake leaves.

Here is a list of things I would like: music box, pink 2. picnic table 3. perfume 4. fancy shampoo. Carmen listed 21 things for Santa, some of the marked with stars, and told him, The things with one star I really like. The things with two stars I really, really like.

I hope Mrs. Claus and the reindeer and the elves are fine. I will leave you some cookies on a plate and a glass of milk to drink on Christmas Eve. Have a safe journey. Love, Carmen.

Other children drew and colored pictures for Santa. His mail was every color of the rainbow, decorated with bunnies and bears and Christmas stockings.

"Ho, ho ho," said Santa. "It's time for me to go. Merry Christmas!"

"Good-bye, and thank you," said Christmas Carol. "Merry Christmas to you, too, Santa."

Santa bundled up his letters in preparation for his long, chilly sleigh ride back to the North Pole, where requests from Plymouth and Canton children will keep him, Mrs. Claus and the elves working day and night til at long last, Christmas Eve arrives.

The Erickson children sent Santa a handmade Christmas card with no list at all.

Dear Santa Claus I've been extra good and nice.

These are all of the things I would like for christmas:

1. Camera
2. Hot wheels Blue mustang convertible car
3. Real nice ice skates
4. film for my camera it I wanted

Cable committee wants board to hire consultant

By Diane Gale
staff writer

Cable television programs and costs in the future depend on the agreement the township cuts with the cable provider.

The Canton Cable Committee will recommend Tuesday that the board of trustees hire a consultant to help hammer out the details of a franchise agreement.

They're suggesting Canton pay $47,000 to hire Larry Monroe of Municon. Trustees have the final say and will decide at a future board meeting.

"I feel strongly that this is the way to go," said Phil LaJoy, Canton trustee and cable committee chairman.

"We've talked to all the communities that he (Monroe) has served and he does do what he promises," LaJoy said. "Cable is a lot more complicated than you would think. The cable companies certainly get pros to work with them and we thought that's what we need for us."

CANTON'S franchise agreement with Omnicom Cable expires in February 1995. Canton must begin the renewal process by February 1992 to make changes in the agreement.

Cable television rates will increase

The consulting fee will span a two-year period of work for the consultant, LaJoy said, which will include reviewing the current cable ordinance, as well as the entire cable franchise renewal process.

"We spend a lot of money on attorneys for the township," LaJoy said. "If you look at what we're not getting from Omnicom and what we should be getting it's not a significant amount of money. I'm not saying that $47,000 is not important. I am saying that it makes sense based on the end result."

LaJoy said Friday that the committee planned to give the board a list of areas that Omnicom should improve. For example, LaJoy said, Omnicom decided to begin charging customers for the cable guide.

"And they had promised in the contract that it would be free," LaJoy said. "So in effect it's a rate increase."

LAST JULY, Omnicom started charging customers for the cable guide, however, existing customers were given coupons. Beginning Jan. 1, all customers will be charged 75 cents a month for the guide.

Omnicom spokesmen were unavailable for comment last week.

Cable television rates will increase $1.45 to $19.45 monthly for basic channels beginning Jan. 1.

The cable committee also mediates problems between Omnicom and cable customers. If you have a complaint call the township supervisor's office at 397-5380.

Township eyes new parks

The building of parks to serve east Plymouth Township residents will be studied in the next few months by township officials.

James Anulewicz, public services director, and Shirley Barney, community development director, are starting to review a 1986 recreation plan for the township.

"We'll be looking very hard at the eastern portion," Anulewicz said.

As the township has developed, zoning laws that were put into place after most homes in the east end were built have demanded that residential developers include playgrounds and open space in their developments.

And while the township park, at Ann Arbor Trail and McClumpha, is centrally located, "Some in the eastern end of the township have voiced an opinion that that's too far away," Anulewicz said.

In considering recreation, "Parks are mainly the issue," Anulewicz said. He and Barney will consider "the whole gamut" of items that could be included in a park, from playground equipment to tennis courts.

Anulewicz said that once park sites are identified, they'll be built in 1992. No money is currently budgeted for such a project, he said.

Man charged in restaurant robbery

A 24-year-old Detroit man faces felony charges in connection with the armed robbery of Mountain Jacks restaurant in Farmington Hills Dec. 10.

Charles A. Sykes is charged with two counts of armed robbery and two counts of felonious assault. He stood mute and not guilty pleas were entered on his behalf at his arraignment before 47th District Judge Margaret Schaeffer of Farmington Dec. 13. Sykes was arrested Dec. 12 at his Detroit home.

Sykes did not post the $150,000 cash bond set by Schaeffer. He remains in the Oakland County Jail. A preliminary examination on the charges is scheduled for 8:30 a.m. Dec. 21 in 47th District Court.

Conviction of armed robbery carries a maximum life sentence in prison and a maximum four years in prison for felonious assault.

Police arrested a second man but could not release details.

According to Farmington Hills police reports, three men entered the restaurant near 10 Mile and Grand River just after midnight Dec. 10 brandishing guns.

One carrying a sawed-off shotgun made verbal threats before shooting into the restaurant's rafters. There were conflicting reports about whether one or more shots were fired.

Judge takes aim at right to die says that an individual has the right to refuse medical treatment," Garber said. "In most terminal cases, and I don't know what that means, there's medical certainty that the person will die — usually about five days — when the machines are turned off and glucose is stopped."

In almost all states, Garber said, it's alright for terminally ill patients to have a respirator turned off and food and water removed. Instead of waiting the three to five days before the patients die those terminally ill people should have the option of requesting a lethal shot, he said.

Strict guidelines and mandating a tribunal review of each case are necessary, he said.

Does the state's interest in preserving lives mandate that a person live for those remaining three to five days? Garber asked.

GARBER TOSSED away other thesis ideas in favor of the right to die question during a time when suicide and the law are making the headlines on a daily basis.

For instance, suicide machine inventor Jack Kevorkian was cleared of murder charges last week by 52nd District Judge Gerald McNally. He was charged with first-degree murder for using a machine to help Janet Adkins, diagnosed as having Alzheimer's disease, commit suicide.

Last week an Oakland County judge threw out the murder charges against Kevorkian saying that Michigan needed better laws to deal with assisted suicide.

Regarding the Kevorkian case, Garber said: "Given my hypothesis, under no circumstances would I say a person in Mrs. Adkins' circumstances be allowed to die. On the other hand I don't disagree with Judge McNally that this case doesn't constitute murder."

There's no set formula to lead to logical results, Garber said, when tackling issues of passive and active ways ending lives and ordinary versus extraordinary means of extending life.

The controversy isn't likely to go away with the Kevorkian case, Garber said, pointing out that the right to die issue is mentioned in the Bible and has been debated ever since.

Cops find few takers for free bikes

By Diane Gale
staff writer

Need a bike but can't afford to buy one?

The Canton Chamber of Commerce and Canton police want to give away 17 bikes just in time for Christmas. But that's not always easy to do.

To get a bike all you have to do is prove that you're a Canton resident and sign a form saying that you're in a low income bracket, said Joan Bolek, Canton chamber director.

BUT SOME people refuse the bicycles once they see them, she said.

"Some of the people come into the chamber for a bike for their kids and say: 'My kid's bike is better than that.' And they don't take it," Bolek said.

Also, people accepting bicycles must pick them up at the chamber office and sign a release form saying that they recognize the bikes are used and that the chamber is not responsible once they leave the office.

This year the Canton police department has recovered all kinds, colors and sizes of bicycles. Right now there are about 100 bicycles crammed into the Canton property room.

If police can't find the owner within six months it's offered to the finder and if the finder declines it goes to the chamber to be given away as charity, said police property officer Carol Laelleman.

"The majority of bikes aren't claimed," she said.

Bolek said the chamber has some bikes there were never picked up the last time the police department gave them the bicycles.

"We put posters up in stores and a few people came over and looked at them and didn't want them," Bolek said.

MOST OF the bikes likely were stolen, discarded and found by someone who turned them over to police.

The common link between all the bikes is that none of them have licenses, said Pat Nemecek, Canton police spokesman.

"There's no license numbers so we can't follow through to find the owner," Nemecek said. "Some people will buy a $300 bike, but they won't buy a $1 registration fee."

Bicycle registration cards are $1 and available at the Canton Clerk's office in the administration building on Canton Center south of Proctor Road. Bring the bicycle serial number in with you.

If you're interested in a free used bicycle call the Canton Chamber office at 453-6040.

Bicycles that were likely stolen and found in Canton are kept in the Canton police property room for six months. If the owners aren't found and the finders decline to take them, the bicycles are given to charity.

Copper tubing worth $3,000 was reported missing Tuesday morning from a building on West Anchor.

The two-inch tubing — 280 feet of it — had been left in an unlocked building, according to the report filed with Plymouth Township police. The case was closed for lack of clues.

Local lawyer says state lawmakers are underpaid

By Pat Murphy
staff writer

Farmington Hills lawyer Burton H. Schwartz is definitely in a minority.

He's one of the heavily outnumbered people in Michigan — according to newspaper accounts — who believes the governor and other state officials are underpaid.

Schwartz, who has a law office in Farmington Hills and a home in West Bloomfield, is chairman of the State Officers Compensation Commission which Tuesday gave a 13 percent pay increase to the governor and a 16 percent hike to legislators over the next two years.

The outcry isn't expected to die down until February, the deadline by which legislators must act to reject the pay hike.

Both houses of the Legislature must vote by a two-thirds majority to reject the proposed pay hike. If the Legislature doesn't act, the increases go into effect automatically.

"We got a lot of feedback about the raises," Schwartz said Friday. People — including personal acquaintances and law clients as well as people calling talk radio shows — seem outraged.

Even governor-elect John Engler, who gets a $13,810 pay hike before taking office, called the increases "inappropriate" in light of the state's pending economic difficulties that may require state layoffs.

STATE REP. Lyn Bankes, R-Livonia, says she'll give her raise to charity, and Rep. Gordon Sparks, R-Troy, says he'd vote against the raises if given the chance.

Salaries for representatives and senators will go from the current $45,450 to $52,800 in 1992.

Legislators also get a more bountiful mileage allowance. Instead of being able to get mileage for one round-trip to Lansing per week, they will get mileage for every trip actually taken, providing they keep an accurate log.

Lawmakers will also get mileage for miles driven within their districts, something previously not allowed.

Even with the pay hikes and more liberal expense allowances, state officials are underpaid, insists Schwartz, whose background includes about three years with the Internal Revenue Service and years of experience as a tax lawyer.

"I base that assessment on the information we compiled comparing state officials with comparable jobs in private industry," he said. The compensation commission looked to sources like the U.S. Department of Labor and the University of Michigan when comparing factors like the duties and responsibilities involved in the jobs as well as the education and time required to do it right.

"It's common for some law makers to put in 70 or 80 hours a week when the Legislature is in session," Schwartz said.

He didn't say if that included time in smoke-filled caucuses.

Most of the uproar over the pay hikes is rooted, Schwartz said, in the general belief that most state officials are inept or simply don't do anything constructive, because of absenteeism or indolence.

Schwartz doesn't buy any stereotype of state officials as dawdling n'er-do-wells who couldn't hold a job in the private sector.

But even if they were, Schwartz said the job of the commission is to set compensation for the position, not the person holding it.

If Donald Duck were elected governor, the commission would still have to gear compensation for the chief executive of a high-tech industrial state with more than 10 million people.

If the electorate doesn't think supreme court justices (whose salary will jump from the current $106,610 to $120,000 in two years) deserve the pay, it should elect new people, Schwartz said.

The 7-member SOCC voted 5-1 in favor of the new compensation. Voting with the majority was Marvin C. Daich, an attorney who practices in Southfield and lives in Birmingham.

Schwartz didn't know that much about the commission when he agreed to serve on it three years ago. He had never met Gov. James Blanchard and considered himself to be a nonpolitical, independent voter when he volunteered his services.

BUT AFTER GETTING into the job, Schwartz said that if asked, he would serve another term. That's highly unlikely, however, because the 1988 law establishing the commission limits the tenure to one four-year term.

Schwartz's term ends next year. Ironically, the commission was established because of the difficulty associated with pay hikes for state officials and the public outcry usually resulting from it.

Applicants sought for SC post

Schoolcraft College has begun accepting applications to fill a soon-to-be-vacant seat on its board of trustees.

Applicants are being sought for the seat now held by Jack Kirksey.

Forms must be returned by 4 p.m. Monday, Feb. 11.

Kirksey, director of community education for the Livonia Schools, resigned from the board in an apparent dispute over selection of the college's new legal representative.

He is expected to leave the board in March.

THOUGH HE announced his resignation in October, Kirksey said he would stay on to vote on the college's next budget. At the same time, he said, his resignation was timed to leave "as small a window as possible" between his departure and next year's trustee race.

Kirksey has given no official explanation for his resignation, but said he would do so at his last meeting.

Though Kirksey received a six-year board term in 1989, his appointed replacement would serve from April 24 to June 30. Three board seats will be decided in next year's election.

In addition to the unexpired four years left in Kirksey's term, seats held by Michael Burley and Jeanne Stempien will also up for election.

The election is scheduled for Monday, June 10.

Schoolcraft, a two-year community college, serves a number of western Wayne County communities.

Eligible applicants for any Schoolcraft seat must live within the Clarenceville, Garden City, Livonia, Northville or Plymouth/Canton public school districts. A small portion of Novi Schools is also included in the Schoolcraft service area.

Trustees oversee the college budget and curriculum and are also responsible for hiring the college president. In addition, trustees oversee activities at the main campus and at Schoolcraft College-Radcliff in Garden City. They also oversee college contracts, including those governing development of Seven Mile Crossing — a Livonia office complex built on college-owned land.

Trustees serve without pay. Additional information is available by calling 462-4466.

Study links TV watching to low test scores

More television watching means lower test scores, according to a survey by Schoolcraft College.

The college examined results of 2,269 placement tests given first-year students this fall and found that the highest test scores were posted by the students who read the most books and received the most homework assignments while in high school.

In contrast, the lowest scores were posted by those who watched the most television.

Schoolcraft placement tests evaluated students' skill in reading, writing and mathematics.

Students who reported watching five or more hours of television a day posted scores an average 6 percent lower than those who only watched an hour a day.

In contrast, those who read five or more books in the previous year posted scores as high as 9 percent above non-readers in the three placements tests.

Students who reported being assigned six or more hours of homework a week scored as high as 10 percent above those assigned less than one hour a week of homework.

Scores were recorded on the college's ASSET placement tests.

Schoolcraft is at 18600 Haggerty, Livonia.

THE ROLE OF NON ASPIRIN SALICYLATES
In ideal circumstances, your aspirin is coated, taken with food, and each dose is separated by 4-6 hours. Even then you may experience nausea from the drug or develop a stomach ulcer.
Evaluations by independent medical investigators indicate that new non-aspirin salicylates are safe for the stomach and therapeutic for the joints. Furthermore, these substitutes do not increase the risk of bleeding as aspirin may, making these other drugs useful if you have a bleeding tendency or are on a blood thinner. Also, these alternatives, like aspirin, rarely interact with other medications, and are safe if you are taking a number of medicines.
These alternative salicylates also have limits. If they are not as bad as aspirin in side effects, they are not as good as aspirin as medication. Aspirin like changes such as ringing in the ears, deafness and dizziness occur with these other drugs to the same extent as occur with aspirin.
The cost of these alternatives is in the middle range. They are not as inexpensive as aspirin, but are not as costly as the other anti-arthritis drugs.
In sum, non-aspirin salicylates represent a compromise that gives you good therapy, excellent safety, and reasonable cost.

Humane Society works toward better future

By Wayne Peal
staff writer

Last year, the Michigan Humane Society was worried about survival. This year, it's looking toward the future.

MHS officials paid off more than $1 million in accumulated debt over the past 12 months, but they say the organization's reserve fund is tapped out.

"We're a lot more stable than we were a year ago," executive director Gary Tiscornia said. "But we still haven't been able to put anything into savings. With the possibility of recession, we're very concerned about the future."

Tiscornia is part of a new management team that took over the MHS after debts surfaced in mid-1989. At the time, a former MHS official was charged with embezzling an estimated $63,000 from the charity organization. Most of that money has since been recovered, MHS officials said.

Since then, the MHS has paid off more than $1 million owed to trade contractors.

"WHAT WE'RE proud of is that we've paid off our debt in full — 100 cents on the dollar," Tiscornia said.

More than $410,000 in debt remains, however, most of it associated with construction costs for the organization's Westland animal shelter.

MHS officials pledge to pay off all remaining debts, in full, by mid-1991. But to do that — and to rebuild the organization's reserve fund — they need another successful year of fund raising.

The past year was especially good to the MHS, Tiscornia said, especially after the organization sent out a December 1989 SOS through local media. Personal donations, and receipt of a sizable estate, helped the organization regain its footing.

"It was very gratifying the way people responded to us," he said.

The newly opened MHS outlet store in downtown Royal Oak proved another plus. Customers have flocked to the store, Tiscornia said, buying MHS T-shirts, sweat shirts and pet products.

Despite new fund-raising efforts, the MHS still had to lay off 10 middle management workers to balance its 1990 operating budget.

The nearly $4 million budget included cuts of $578,000. Most cuts were related to the layoffs, Tiscornia said.

"WE DIDN'T want to take anything away from direct services to the animals," Tiscornia said, adding that it was unlikely any of the laid-off workers would be re-hired in 1991.

Even though the budget shrunk,

MHS services increased.

According to MHS figures, the organization's rescue division responded to 10 percent more calls and its cruelty investigation division handled 23 percent more complaints for the first six months of 1990, compared with a similar period in 1989. Year-end figures are pending.

MHS officials worked out a repayment plan after meeting with creditors last fall. The MHS has also adopted audit recommendations from Deloitte & Touche, a Detroit-based accounting firm, to prevent further debt.

Though the MHS had an estimated $32,000 in reserves when debts were first reported, Tiscornia said that money didn't even carry the organization through its next payroll.

In addition to the MHS' traditional holiday fund-raising appeal, already mailed to area homes, the organization will hold two "Mutt March" walk-a-thon fund-raisers next year.

In addition, a major fund-raising event is also scheduled for April 7 at the Ritz Carlton hotel, Dearborn.

The MHS is a private, charitable organization dedicated to preventing cruelty to animals.

"We're a lot more stable than we were a year ago. But we still haven't been able to put anything into savings."

— Gary Tiscornia
MHS director

In addition to the Westland shelter, the MHS operates animal hospitals in Detroit and Rochester Hills.

Canton at odds over Mettetal

To the editor:

Efforts to save Mettetal Airport in Canton Township, through government intervention, have taken on an almost incredible tone.

My position on this issue has been clear since the Canton Township Board rejected a municipal purchase of the airport on Aug. 8. But since those who insist that government save this airport refuse to give up, it's a good time to restore perspective.

Although many airport advocates claim Mettetal is an enormous asset about which Canton simply doesn't care, we have given more than ample time to supporters of public ownership to justify and document their position. They have done neither.

We were first asked to purchase the airport in fall 1989, at which time the Canton board expressed no interest. In February, airport supporters approached me again asking that we reconsider. I agreed to recommend to the board a study. I recommended the appointment of a citizen's committee, which spent five months gathering information.

After six of the 10 committee members recommended the purchase, the information was reviewed by the Canton board. A majority of the board simply did not interpret the information in the same way and voted 5-2 in opposition to the purchase.

The four committee members who opposed the purchase made a compelling case that municipal ownership would carry great financial risks and sacrifices of future economic development and would benefit only a tiny sector of Canton's community.

This angered airport supporters, for whom the only fair outcome would have been the one they demanded. They claimed my office had somehow censored vital information that showed the purchase should be made, for the purpose of rigging the study. If the study had been rigged by me, I wonder why six committee members took the position opposite mine. And if arguments to save the airport were compelling and documented, why would I not have voted for it?

This has led to allegations that I control public bodies like the Canton planning commission, in spite of the fact that most of the planning commission was appointed by previous boards before I took office. I make no effort to control the boards and commissions that serve the residents of Canton. My contacts are limited to written correspondence and an occasional appearance before the boards.

The facts of this issue are simple: Mettetal Airport is a small, recreational facility that has almost no impact on local economic growth. As supervisor, I have made economic development one of my top priorities for Canton. If Mettetal Airport were an effective vehicle by which to achieve that goal, I would have a hard time not supporting it.

I do not believe, however, that an airport with a volume of 11 operations per day (according to the fixed base operator of the airport) is much of an asset for anyone except the small number of pilots who use it for recreation. A survey of 37 Canton manufacturers, conducted this year, turned up none who use Mettetal for business. Metro and Willow Run airports very adequately serve their needs.

Unfortunately, Canton's decision on what is best for our community has not been respected by the Plymouth Township Supervisor and board, who believe it's proper to use federal and state funds to take ownership of this facility, located outside their jurisdiction, over objections of the community in which the airport is located.

I have yet to hear justification for this position, other than that Plymouth Township wants to stop further industrial development along Joy Road in Canton. That position is unbelievable, especially since commercial and industrial development along the Plymouth Township side of Joy Road is a long-established fact.

What a contrast between the approaches of Canton and Plymouth townships on this issue. Canton formed a study committee, researched the issue, held public hearings and gave everyone who was interested numerous chances to be heard.

In contrast to our comprehensive, five-month process, Plymouth Township voted after two weeks of looking at the issue and after holding no public forums or debate.

One of the most frustrating aspects of this issue has been the undocumented claims made by airport supporters. Misinformation, half-truths, disinformation and distortions have been the rule of the day. Even well-known community members have participated in public distortions. It's amazing that boards and commissions have allowed themselves to be placed in a position to make a major policy decision without the benefit of basic information.

Good government doesn't involve itself in matters that can be handled by the private sector. If Mettetal is indeed the cash cow its supporters claim it to be, then a private investor can purchase and sustain Mettetal as an airport. And if one does, more power to him. But when government interferes, using public money and shielding itself from market forces, I cannot object strongly enough.

And when the government of one community interferes in the future and self-determination of another community, as Plymouth Township is attempting to do, their efforts must not be allowed to succeed.

Tom Yack,
Canton

Old friend remembered

To the editor:

On Nov. 26 a wonderful person passed away, leaving a big hole in everyone's heart that knew him. I'm speaking of Wayne Sparkman. As a tribute to him, I created this poem and would be proud to have it published for all his relatives and friends to read:

Wayne,
Who am I,
To ask why?
A healthy young man was he,
To die unknown and so needlessly.
He kept himself so physically fit,
Ran, biked, and exercised quite a bit.
So who am I,
To ask why?
While watching his diet ever so closely,
And eating the right foods without exception mostly.
We fought a great deal in the very beginning,
And ended as friends was the real winning.
Well who am I,
To ask why?
A friend that I will not ever deny,
Of a very very special guy.
I'll miss you Wayne with fondness sadly,

To be your friend forever,
With deepest respect, Sandy.

Tell PSC about rate proposal

To the editor:

I wonder how many other residents become as angry as I do when they open their telephone bill and read the amount they must pay for zone calls.

Before the federal government approved deregulation of the telephone company, we were able to purchase a service named metro calling which entitled you to call, for a flat fee, anywhere in the greater Detroit area.

Metro calling has since been discontinued by Michigan Bell. Upon speaking with someone at the telephone company about an error on my bill, I mentioned this and was told that proposals are before the Michigan Public Service Commission to revive a service similar to metro calling. This would save everyone a lot of money each month on their bills.

The Michigan Public Service Commission has a toll-free number 1-800-292-9555 which I called to ask that they pass this proposal. If you are concerned about your high telephone bills, please call this number and voice your opinion. There is power in numbers.

Senate not doing job on car insurance

To the editor:

In reply to the article "Michigan's No Fault Under Scrutiny, Again" by Janice Brunson, I would like to add that the Michigan Legislature, namely, the Senate should also be under scrutiny for not doing its job. Our Legislature much like the U.S. Congress on its budgetary obligations is also dragging its feet on much needed auto insurance reform. Sen. Dick Posthumus' Commerce & Technology Committee is holding up several important and worthwhile bills for Michigan drivers: The Maynard rollback Bill (HB 5131), Saunders Insurance Commissioner Ethics Bill (HB 4913) and the Gagliardi antitrust package (HB 4487 and 4496). All of these have already been passed by the House. But alas! — whose legislation waits patiently to take away our rights and benefits but (SB 713) Posthumus and (HB 5517) Wartner.

As Wayne Miller, attorney and vice president of the Head Injury Alliance for Wayne and Oakland counties states, the proposal is "60 pages of a virtual wish list for the insurance industry. Not a single reform is favored by consumer groups." Which encourages me to ponder... How much money do elected officials get from the Insurance Industry?

I've made myself familiar with the bills pending for auto insurance reform, have you? If you care about losing more of your rights, then you had better get behind the beneficial bills, (ie. Saunders, Gagliardi, and Maynard in opposition to the detrimental ones by Posthumus and Wartner), one feature of which would limit the vocational rehabilitation to those who were employed within one year prior to the date of an injury. How would this affect housewives I wonder?

I'm not so sure that Dean Bablak, or a lot of others who after sustaining a severe injury and were unemployed would fare so well under the Michigan No Fault Laws, if the Posthumus/Wartner bills are adopted by our Senate!!

Column was timely

To the editor:

I am writing to say thank you for the column in the Nov. 23 paper — it certainly was very timely and I am sure that many of your readers discovered that they, too, are "orphaned" parents!

We are now working on details of the upcoming series of workshops. The support of the newspaper is always greatly appreciated.

Why not make USSR our marketplace?

To the editor:

The Cold War is officially over. Momentous and irreversible changes have occurred in Eastern Europe. Cooperation between the United States and the Soviet Union has emerged in many new areas and we are, in fact, military allies in the Middle East.

Why then, hasn't the U.S. government responded to the acute food and consumer goods shortage in the U.S.S.R.?

I'm not just referring to aid, I'm referring to good old Yankee trade!

We have a huge surplus of many food commodities currently being stored at taxpayer expense. Why not convert this largely useless asset into Russian oil, natural gas or other minerals via a bartered trade agreement?

Have we become so lethargic and non-competitive that we can't identify and exploit a magnificent new market?

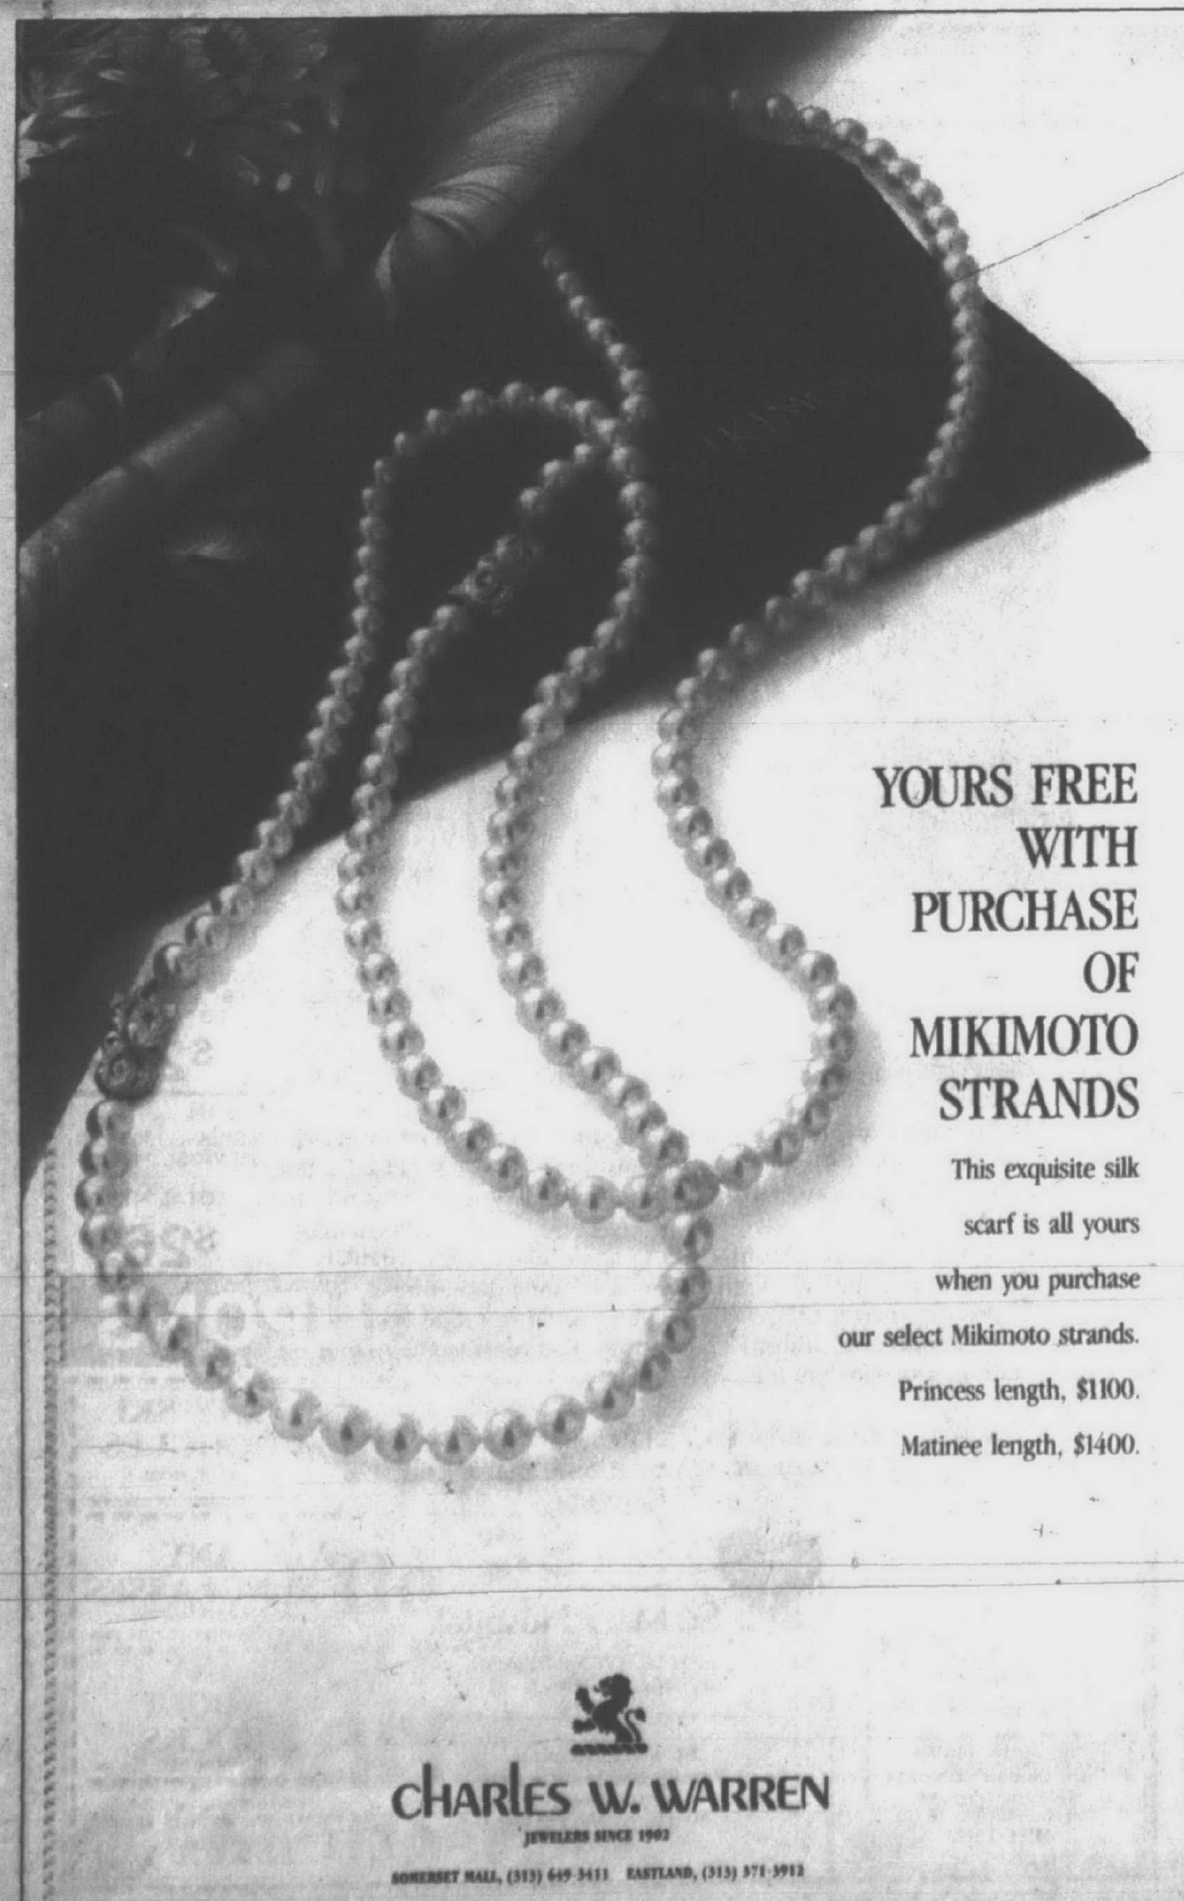

The Russian people need virtually everything that we over produce or have excess capacity to produce. God knows, we can certainly use oil in return. Why not make a deal? If we don't, our more energetic and competitive allies will surely do so and then we will be playing catch-up again.

We need strong, pragmatic and timely leadership from Washington. Unfortunately, history demonstrated that without public pressure, our elected leaders will not lead.

It's time for common sense and good old Yankee ingenuity to re-emerge.

Senate committee fails to act on adoption bills

By Tim Richard
staff writer

Three bills to cut the cost of adopting children died without debate in a state Senate committee last week.

"I haven't talked to anyone about them," said Sen. Dick Posthumus, R-Lowell, chairman of the commerce committee, which handles health insurance legislation.

Supporters criticized his lack of action on the bills, which were sent to his panel in April.

An adopted child isn't covered under the family's health insurance until one year after placement in the home, when the adoption is finalized.

House Bills 5443-5 would have required insurers to treat adopted children like newborns.

"It should be one of the major initiatives of the Senate next year," said Posthumus. "For those of us who are pro-life, it would make adoption a more viable alternative. Generally, the concept is OK."

BUT POSTHUMUS is taking heat because the bills languished in his committee for eight months after winning House approval March 28.

"He's responsible for what happens in his committee. I'm very disappointed," said the sponsor, Rep. Maxine Berman, D-Southfield. "We'll bring them back next year."

In Howell, Heather Divian said she was "terribly disappointed at the system. I wrote to him and got a form letter of reply."

Divian and her husband Jeffrey, a vice president at Capricorn Capital in Farmington Hills, have adopted a 4-year-old Korean-born boy. They are awaiting a second placement.

"We've been following the bills," said Divian, who has joined a dozen others in a support group in Brighton. She fired off an angry letter to Posthumus after learning the Senate would hold no more committee meetings this year.

"I'm terribly disappointed," said Don Marengere, president and founder of Adoption Option, based in Huntington Woods. "We don't discriminate on the bases of age, sex, color or religion. This is just discrimination against children who are adopted."

"We plan on coming back at 'em again," said Marengere, a Bloomfield Township resident.

The Senate's failure to act "just makes it harder to adopt. It's another roadblock to adoption."

Marengere said he received a letter from Posthumus' office expressing concern at "potential abuses of insurance. 'What abuses? It's not an abuse to adopt,' he said in reply."

POSTHUMUS and his panel have handled the highly controversial auto insurance and accident benefit bills in the last two years.

He also led the Republican Senate campaign effort. A confidant of Gov.-elect John Engler, Posthumus will succeed him as Senate majority leader in 1991.

Doug Cruce, R-Troy, will chair the Commerce Committee next year.

Some 5,300 families adopted children in 1988, according to Berman's staff.

Children who previously were wards of the probate court were eligible for coverage under Medicaid, the health care program for low-income people. But in some areas of the state, Medicaid-participating health-care providers are hard to find.

THREE BILLS are required to make the legal changes — one for health maintenance organizations (HMOs), a second for the Blues and a third for commercial health insurers.

"Blue Cross was not opposed. HMOs were not opposed. It was the private insurers," said Berman.

Private insurers said the proposal wouldn't have permitted them to charge higher rates for adopted children with pre-existing health conditions. But the law requires them to cover newborns with the same conditions.

Berman scoffed at the objection. "A child is a child," she said. "Their compromise would have cut out a tremendous percentage of hard-to-place children."

MEANWHILE, a package of bills to create a new Department of Family and Children's Services also died last week.

"As it related to Oakland County, it was not beneficial in the long run," said Sen. Rudy Nichols, R-Waterford, a sponsor of some of the 12 bills. "The delivery of services would not have been any better. Maybe it would have been worse."

The work of several other departments would have been transferred to the new, 20th department under the package engineered by Sen. Jack Welborn, R-Kalamazoo.

Secrets of good pie crust

Whenever foodies gather, even during the holidays, you will find them taking subconscious notes about other foodies' creations, presentations and flavors. One of the most-asked questions I get throughout the year has to be "Where did you get that?"

Surprisingly, many of the answers revert to suggestions gleaned from reading basic starter cookbooks such as "Betty Crocker's Cookbook" or the proverbial foodie favorite, "Larousse's Gastronomique."

All kitchens, regardless of your cooking talent, should include at least one or the other of these two cookbooks.

Take pie crusts for instance. "Betty Crocker's Cookbook" has three full pages devoted just to the basics of making good pie crust. One page includes full-color photographs more than adequately describing the rolling and fluting techniques alone. Ten or so additional pages have in-depth material on making fruit pies, meringue pies, custard pies and lattice tops.

One might ask why I rely on such cookbooks, especially when I have a Momma and friends who can make crusts from scratch without the aid of a Cuisinart, pastry blenders or $75 rolling pins. To this day, Momma still uses the old wooden-dowel rolling pin she received for a wedding present 54 years ago, beating out the likes of my ball-bearing rolling pin with eight or nine swift presses of the wrist.

THE ANSWER is simple. When you start with good ingredients, you make a good pie crust. Personally, I need the basic information these books offer with regard to amounts, along with other bits of information such as what happens when you use a self-rising flour instead of an all-purpose variety.

Here are a few examples of just what I'm referring to, compliments of Betty Crocker herself:

To make a perfect pie, use the right bakeware. Choose heat-resistant glass pie plates or dull-finished (anodized) aluminum pans. Never use shiny pans or the pie will take on a soggy bottom crust. Momma never knew why stainless pie pans were a no-no. She just knew from experience that her Corningware pans made better crusts than stainless.

To cut in shortening evenly, use a pastry blender. If you don't have one, use two knives with the blades almost touching one another. Momma suggests that a small wooden-handled meat fork with larger separated tines works just as well. The food processor creates too much friction, which causes heat from the rapidly turning blades making the possibilities for a tough crust too easy.

If using a self-rising flour, omit the salt. Pastry made with self-rising flour will be mealy and tender instead of flaky and tender from all-purpose flour.

FOR A LESS-floury-tasting crust, use a pastry cloth. Momma disagrees with this one, claiming that anyone who knows his or her way around the kitchen should know you only need to lightly flour the pin and board for optimum results. If using a board, use it only for crusts and bread, never to chop garlic or slice fish. Marble slabs, although pricey, keep a discreet coolness, making the crust easier to roll, although Momma claims she wouldn't know where to keep a big, old marble slab and instead relies on her old wooden board.

The list of suggestions and helpful tips for the world's best pie crust could fill this newspaper section, but if your momma doesn't do pie crusts, it might be a good idea to invest in a good basic cookbook like Betty Crocker's. It makes a great gift idea for a new homeowner or someone who doesn't have a momma to call for help.

Bill Hayes — the business executive known as the Candy Man to his family — makes toffee for gift giving, in kitchen of his Birmingham home.

Gifts from the Candy Man

By Janice Brunson
special writer

HOMEMADE CANDY, according to Bill Hayes of Birmingham, is the ultimate in gift giving.

Hayes should know. Dubbed the Candy Man by the women in his life — wife Lynn, four adult daughters and a young granddaughter — Hayes draws upon family tradition to turn out batches of delectable fare fit for holiday gifts.

"It's the ultimate compliment," Hayes said of his unique sweet treats. Preparing gifts of homemade candy makes for a personalized effort. You're putting yourself out for someone else. It sends a message, "I like you."

It is a message Hayes has sent countless times to colleagues, friends and family. In an interview over shrimp cocktail and chef's salad served in a private dining room of the stunning Standard Federal building in Troy, where Hayes is a vice-president, Bill and Lynn talked about the Candy Man and candy crafting in traditional family style.

"I've been cooking since I was a youngster. My mother was very ill. I was an only kid. She taught me to cook from her bed."

"I grew up doing many things, but one thing I always enjoyed was cooking," Bill said.

His mother was an excellent cook, according to Lynn, who recalls memorable goodies prepared by her, "wonderful assortments of Christmas cookies, the kind nobody makes anymore because they are so involved."

Reflecting on his youth, Bill also spoke of nightly card games, accompanied by treats of popcorn and homemade fudge.

His choice of preferred recipes today are those of his mother, "Grandma's recipes that she kept on three-by-five cards. She had a lot of them and they go way back. I take them out every once in a while and just look at them."

Lynn continues, "His candy recipes are old standards from his mother, real old times. Some can be improved. Others can't really be improved at all. They're near perfect."

Each of the Hayes' daughters enjoys cooking and one, Jody Roeder, has Grandma's original cooking book, a leather-bound tome of handwritten recipes that carries "great sentimental value" to the family. Other daughters are Wendy Davis and Katie and Jill Hayes.

Because the entire family enjoys cooking, the kitchen gets crowded during family get-togethers. "With five or six busybodies in the kitchen, I have to muscle my way in," Bill says with a laugh, falling back on an old expression he likely used when the girls were young.

"It can be a real rhubarb." The real rhubarb for Lynn is simple logistics. "Candy making is a slow process. Each batch is small. The real problem is it's not possible to make enough. His production line is never as big as those who deserve" to be remembered, she said.

"I'll tell you something else," Bill adds. Making candy is expensive. "Then he launches into a chatty list of helpful candy crafting hints, based on years of experience. "The big thing is temperature. A thermometer is the key. When candy gets to the cracking stage, you jump on it instantly and remove it from the flame."

"Use only the best ingredients you can buy. What's the definition of good chocolate? Taste."

"Pans are important. Use good utensils. In cheap aluminum, candy burns instantly."

"Pay strict attention while cooking. When making candy, you better be there all the time. You have to stay in the kitchen."

Bill's strict adherence to these tips means consistently good results, yummy fare fit for giving.

For "extra pizzazz, expand certain ingredients. If it calls for 1 1/2 cups of chocolate, and you really want to make it great, use 2 cups. If it calls for 8 ounces of nuts, use 10 or 12 ounces." He chops nuts by hand to assure consistency.

They've got the edge with muffins

By Joan Boram
special writer

Let's face it. Folk wisdom to the contrary, it doesn't take much ingenuity to make lemonade out of lemons.

But there's a real scarcity of people who made a financial success out of muffin edges.

In fact, at last count, there were only two muffin-edge moguls in the whole world, and they're in Troy, at the corner of Rochester and Wattle roads.

Cousins Jacqui Ridley and Gale Jacobs, of "Ridley's Baked in Good Taste" are the first to tell you that muffin chips started as a mistake.

"It was before we had the retail shop," says Ridley. "We were still just wholesaling tea breads and muffins. We were renting ovens from a caterer in his off hours. When the muffin dough ran over onto the pans, the help trimmed off the crispy edges and snacked on them."

"Then I started taking them home, and my sister-in-law said, 'Hey, you've got a good thing here. You should market them.' Well, you can't very well go around peddling the edges of muffins, so I didn't give it serious thought.

"Then we opened the store in Troy, and we started putting muffin edges on the counter as samples. On the days when we didn't have any, customers were so crestfallen that we felt guilty. Then we began to think, 'Maybe we really do have a good thing here,' and the rest is history."

WELL, SORT OF. It takes a special kind of intelligence to take a scientific approach to muffin edges, but Ridley (with a fine arts background) and Jacobs (a calligrapher) had the right stuff.

"We owe a lot of our success to Frank Farrugia of FAF Co. He not only had confidence in us, but from the beginning he gave us practical advice and helped us find the right equipment," Ridley says.

"Frank found us an old pizza dough roller in a former pizza shop in Southfield. We experimented with muffin dough until we developed one thick enough to accommodate the roller."

"Before that, we had a separate shift at the store, 10 people with rolling pins starting at midnight. Everybody hated the muffin chip shift.

"Why me?" they'd moan."

Muffin chips come in several flavors. The most popular recipe, "Nuts Over You," includes eight kinds of nuts. The treat is sold in four states and has just become available in area Kroger stores. An airline in the South is considering replacing bags of peanuts with bags of muffin chips.

The cousin/partners — they finish one another's sentences and obviously enjoy each other's company — credit Ed Jonna of The Merchant of Vino for much of their success. He was one of the first to carry muffin chips, and he was the prime mover behind their entry into retail.

RIDLEY SAID, "He called us in February and said, 'You're ready to enter the retail market. I found a shop. You have to take it.' Well, it was right next door to his store. To have him want us next door was a real vote of confidence. We looked at the store on Thursday and opened the following Monday."

Opening day at Ridley's Baked in Good Taste was like a scene from Chaplin's "Modern Times." The ovens, carried over from the previ-

Chicken and wild rice is great for company

Unless you are Martha Stewart, the thought of entertaining at this time of the year can almost make a grown woman cry.

Somehow, it all seems so overwhelming. But this week's Winner Dinner Winners, Halina Grossu and Carol Spencer, have found a way to take the "pain" out of entertaining by joining forces and cooking together when one or the other has a party.

Through the 13 years of their friendship, they have pooled their recipes together, resulting in many delicious and memorable meals. Bearing in mind that people often invite friends and relatives into their homes at this time of the year, these elegant but easy recipes are perfectly suited for upcoming holiday get-togethers.

Grossu grew up in Vancouver, British Columbia, and has lived in Birmingham for six years. The mother of three teenage daughters, she is a property specialist for Electronic Data Systems. She enjoys cooking and often prepares the chicken and wild rice casserole for company, as it can be made ahead and frozen, and is the type of entree that fits in well with her busy life.

SPENCER IS a longtime resident of Birmingham and has two children. She has worked as a part-time bookkeeper for her husband, a dentist, for the last five years.

Great friends, she and Grossu enjoy playing bridge as well as golf and tennis. They have had lots of fun together over the years and stories of their escapades are always a source of fun and good-natured teasing. Spencer's recipe for Tropical Salad Supreme beautifully complements the chicken dish, making for a delicious menu that you will use over and over again.

Submit your recipes, to be considered for publication in this column or elsewhere, to: Winner Dinner, P.O. Box 3503, Birmingham 48012. All submissions become the property of the publisher. Each week's winner receives an apron with the words Winner Dinner Winner on it.

Spoonbread: Southerners say it soothes

AP — When a Southerner yearns for comfort food, this corn-pudding-style bread satisfies. Spoon bread puffs as it bakes just like a soufflé.

LEEK AND PEPPER SPOON BREAD
1 medium leek, thinly sliced
½ cup chopped sweet red pepper

2 tablespoons margarine or butter
2 cups milk
1½ cups yellow cornmeal
3 beaten egg yolks
1 cup cream-style cottage cheese
1 cup shredded provolone cheese or Swiss cheese
One 8½-ounce can cream-style corn
½ teaspoon salt
3 egg whites

In a large saucepan, cook leek and red pepper in hot margarine or butter for 4 minutes. Combine milk and cornmeal; add to the saucepan. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture is very thick and pulls away from sides of pan. Remove from heat.

In a mixing bowl combine egg yolks, cottage cheese, provolone or Swiss cheese, corn and salt. Stir into cornmeal mixture in saucepan.

In a medium mixer bowl beat egg whites with an electric mixer on high speed until stiff peaks form (tips stand straight). Fold into cornmeal mixture. Spoon mixture into a greased 2-quart casserole. Bake in a 350-degree oven 55-60 minutes or until a knife inserted near the center comes out clean. Serve immediately. Makes 8 servings.

WILD RICE CHICKEN CASSEROLE

Delicious and elegant, this casserole is a perfect dish for entertaining. It is easy to prepare and can be made ahead and frozen. Be sure to let the casserole thaw before baking it, if you do freeze it.

2 4-6 ounce packages wild rice, cooked
½ cup chopped onion
½ cup butter
½ cup flour
1 can sliced mushrooms, 10-ounce size, drained but reserve the liquid
1½ cup chicken broth
1½ cup light cream
4 cups diced, cooked chicken — 3-4 whole chicken breasts
¼ cup pimento, diced
2 tablespoons parsley, chopped
¼ teaspoon pepper
1½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon garlic powder
¼ cup shaved almonds

TROPICAL SALAD SUPREME

Refreshing and colorful, this salad serves 6-8. After washing the salad greens, wrap them in a clean towel and let them chill in the refrigerator. Just before serving, combine all the ingredients.

1 large head of lettuce, washed and torn into bite-size pieces
½ package of raw spinach, washed and torn into bite-size pieces
1 can grapefruit sections, drained, 16-ounce size
1 avocado, sliced and cut into chunks
1 small can or bag of cashews

Combine the above ingredients and just before serving toss with the following dressing:

½ cup wine vinegar
1 cup Wesson oil
½ tablespoon celery or poppy seeds
¼ cup grated onion
½ cup sugar
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 teaspoon salt

HOT BUTTERED ROLLS

Buy as many packages of Pepperidge Farm Crescent rolls as you will need. Place the rolls on a baking sheet and brush with melted butter or margarine. Bake according to the directions on the box or until the rolls are heated through.

ICE CREAM BALLS WITH RASPBERRIES

Cover vanilla ice cream balls with either fresh or frozen raspberries. If desired, splash on a little Asti Spumante for a little extra zip and zest.

Green Valley vineyards well-suited for bubbly

The majority of sparkling wine producers in California established wineries with the expressed intent of producing sparkling wine. This was not the case for Iron Horse Vineyards.

The location of vineyards in Sonoma County's cool Green Valley appellation brought Iron Horse owners to the realization that they had vineyards in the ideal climate for sparkling wine production.

The Blanc de Noirs "Wedding Cuve" is 100 percent pinot noir. Depending on the vintage, the Brut is a blend of 60 percent to 85 percent pinot noir with chardonnay. The Blanc de Blancs is 100 percent chardonnay. Brut Rose is also 100 percent pinot noir but emphasizes a full-bodied rendition.

"There's a challenge in making good sparkling wine in California,"

WINE SELECTIONS OF THE WEEK

Iron Horse Vintage Brut ($22) emphasizes the depth of pinot noir with added finesse of chardonnay. Iron Horse strives for flavor depth with creamy palate textures. An attractive bouquet highlights fresh California fruit.

Maison Deutz Brut Cuvee ($18) boasts apple aromas with a hint of toasted bread. It leans to a Blanc de Blancs style due to the majority of white grapes in the blend. Complete malolactic fermentation contributes to the wine's elegance and finesse.

Forrest Tancer says, "Climate, more than technology, is the difference. Sonoma County's Green Valley appellation offers an extended growing season, allowing for proper grape maturity and flavor development."

"There's not one style that needs to be pursued. Style will be dictated by the climate and the people making the wine. I'm striving for flavor depth, particularly in the mid-palate. Additionally, I want the beauty of California fruit showing through."

"THE PALATE should be broad and creamy. More time en tirage is required to achieve it. Without it, the bubbling is simply too aggressive for the nose and on the palate."

"At Maison Deutz we grow grapes in Santa Barbara and San Luis Obispo counties because we get the acid we need for sparkling wine," says winemaker Christian Roguenant. "We grow pinot noir, chardonnay and pinot blanc 1.5 miles from the ocean on white, calcareous soil, very much like Champagne."

"Our pinot blanc is soft and round with fairly low acid and good body. Chardonnay yields a lemony-citrus character with very high acid and low pH. The pinot noir is elegant and full bodied, very much like that grown in Champagne. The fruit we harvest requires 100 percent malolactic fermentation, which results in a desirable, creamy mouthfeel."

Before coming to the United States, Roguenant was assistant winemaker at Champagen Deutz in Ay France. When given the opportunity to either become the head winemaker in France or to head up the winery operations in California, he took the bold step and moved to the United States.

Roguenant explains that Maison Deutz is the only California sparkling wine producer to use the traditional French wooden basket press. The shallowness of the base, relative to its width (2 feet high and 18 feet in diameter), allows the grapes to be spread out in a thin layer. This reduces skin contact with the juice, resulting in less color, a better sugar-acid balance and a lower quantity of solids in the juice.

MAISON DEUTZ also uses a higher percent of pinot blanc grapes than other California producers. The non-vintage Brut Cuvee is composed of 40 percent pinot blanc and 30 percent each chardonnay and pinot noir. The high percentage of pinot blanc gives the wine soft, creamy textures in the mouth.

"We achieve our delicate, creamy style by employing a very cold fermentation in the bottle," explains Roguenant. "The yeast has to struggle to consume the sugar while the carbon dioxide slowly dissolves and integrates with the wine."

HOLIDAY CRANBERRY ALMOND BREAD WITH ORANGE GLAZE

1/2 cup milk mixed with 1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/4 cup oil
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
3 tablespoons grated orange (about 1/2 medium orange, grated)
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon almond extract
2 1/2 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 cup chopped toasted almonds
2 cups cranberries, chopped

In large bowl of electric mixer, stir together milk and lemon juice, until milk is slightly thickened, about 1 minute. Add the next 6 ingredients and beat until blended. Add remaining ingredients and beat until blended. Do not overbeat.

Divide batter between 5 mini-loaf pans that have been greased and floured. Place pans on cookie sheet and bake in 325-degree oven for about 45-50 minutes, until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Allow to cool for 15 minutes. Remove from pans and continue cooling on rack. When cool, drizzle tops in decorative fashion with orange glaze.

Orange Glaze

1 tablespoon orange juice
1/4 cup sifted powdered sugar
2 teaspoons grated orange peel
1 tablespoon chopped toasted almonds

LEMON BUTTER BAR WITH RASPBERRY JAM AND PECANS

1 cup butter or margarine (2 sticks)
1 cup sugar
1 egg
2 tablespoons grated lemon
2 cups flour
1 cup raspberry jam
1 cup chopped pecans

Cream butter and sugar until mixture is light. Beat in egg and grated lemon. Beat in flour until blended. With floured hands, pat 1/4 of the dough into a lightly buttered 9-inch-by-13-inch pan. Spread raspberry jam to within 1/4-inch of the edge. Sprinkle chopped pecans evenly over the jam.

With floured hands, crumble reserved dough on top and flatten lightly.

Bake in 350 degree oven for about 30 minutes, or until top is golden brown.

Allow to cool in pan and cut into 1-inch-by-2-inch bars. Sprinkle with powdered sugar. Yield: 4 dozen bars.

See Larry Janes' column Taste Buds on Page 1B.

STANDARD PASTRY

For one 8-or-9-inch-crust pie
1/4 cup plus one tablespoon solid vegetable shortening or 1/2 cup lard
1 cup all-purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
2-3 tablespoons cold water

Cut shortening into flour and salt until particles are size of small peas. Sprinkle in water, 1 tablespoon at a time, tossing with a fork until all the flour is moistened and pastry almost cleans sides of bowl. Gather pastry into a ball; shape into a flattened round on a lightly floured cloth covered board. Roll pastry 2 inches larger than inverted pie plate with floured cloth-covered rolling pin. Fold pastry into fourths; unfold and ease into pie plate, pressing firmly against bottom and side. Trim overhanging edge of pastry 1 inch from rim of plate. Fold and roll pastry under, even with the plate and flute as desired. Recipe can be doubled for a two-crust pie.

Looking for a special holiday gift for that favorite baker? How about filling a basket with a glass pie plate, a cloth rolling pin and board cover, a pastry blender, a 1-pound can of real lard and a small bag of flour? Additional filler items can include some Granny Smith apples, a container of sugar with a vanilla bean inserted, and a pastry brush. Wrap in colorful plastic wrap and tie with a holiday ribbon.

Rocks win king-of-hill contest, 60-50

Salem defeats Rats again

Plymouth Salem's basketball team went to school Friday night and earned a passing grade in its biggest game to date.

In a showdown between a pair of unbeaten Class A powers, the No. 6-rated Rocks defeated seventh Ann Arbor Huron 60-50.

"We haven't been tested, and good teams have to win the close games," Salem coach Bob Brodie said. "The players handled it well at the end and knew how to finish it off."

"We showed we could play with one of the better teams in the state tonight."

The game was a rematch of last season's first-round regional contest in which eventual champion Salem nipped the River Rats 73-71. The Rocks are 4-0 this year, Huron 3-1.

ONCE AGAIN, it was a case of Salem demonstrating to an opponent that stopping Jake Baker — at least attempting to do so — won't stop the Rocks. Salem had one of its most balanced scoring nights with four players in double figures.

Baker was held to his lowest total of the season with 11 points, but 6-foot-5 teammate K.C. Kirkpatrick responded with a team-high 13 points. Baker also had 11 rebounds and Kirkpatrick 10.

Demon Brown played a good defensive game against Baker, holding him to three field goals, and the River Rats collapsed on the Salem star any time he had the ball near the basket.

"At times Jake was triple and quadruple teamed in the post," Brodie said. "But he was able to find the open player, and KC was able to get his opportunities."

Baker had one of his finest games (32 points, 14 rebounds) against Huron in the regional last season, but coach Harold Simons knew stopping Baker wouldn't do the job entirely.

"I think any team would make a mistake if it just tried to stop him," basketball

he said. "He sees the floor too well and (the other players will) can it."

IN ADDITION to Baker and Kirkpatrick, guard Chris Tebben, who is usually limited to playing the point and passing, scored 12 points and John Hoffmeyer 11. Shooting guard Mike Mulder added eight.

"I'm not known for my shooting," Tebben said. "I'm getting better, but I'm still not a Mike Mulder out there."

Brodie also cited the play of 6-5 Cliff Lee, who had nine rebounds and "took care of the basketball in key situations." Hoffmeyer and Mulder had six rebounds apiece.

Huron was minus 6-5 center David Amos, who hasn't played since the season opener because of stress fractures in both legs. In his absence, the Rats were lacking an inside game to contend with Salem and relied primarily on their perimeter shooting.

"Up to now, it hasn't hurt us because of the competition we faced," Simons said.

Huron guard Eric Culliver scored a game-high 17 points, which included 8-of-12 free throw shooting. Brown had 13 and guard Craig Thomas eight.

"The key in this game was our defense, not so much our ability to score," Brodie said, emphasizing the fact Salem held a team averaging 80-plus points to 50. "They were shooting the ball off balance, and we were flying people at them."

TEBBEN HAD probably the biggest basket of the game when he made a triple that gave the Rocks a 50-46 lead midway in the last quarter.

It came at a critical juncture and put Salem in a stronger position heading down the stretch. The impetus from that basket allowed the Rocks to take control of the game.

"He (Curtis Howard) was talking to me, telling me to shoot it," Tebben said. "I'm confident anyone on the team could make a shot in that situation, and it happened to be me."

"I felt we were getting stagnant at the end of the game. I didn't care if I scored or not. I just wanted to make something happen."

Knowing he isn't usually a scorer, the Rats played off Tebben and dared him to shoot whenever he had the ball alone on the wing. He missed a couple trey attempts earlier, but Huron's strategy backfired this time.

"He hasn't lit the nets on fire," Brodie said, "but he's not a load out there; he can shoot the ball. They dared him to hit one too often, and he knocked one down."

HURON HAD two misses and two turnovers on its next four possessions, while the Rocks stretched their lead to 54-46 on free throws by Mulder and Kirkpatrick.

In the last minute, Baker added two free throws, and Tebben closed it out with four straight free throws.

Salem was 24-of-29 at the line, including 13-of-17 in the last quarter. The Rocks were 16-of-39 from the floor, Huron 18-of-58.

Kirkpatrick, who missed the first two games with a pulled hamstring muscle, scored 11 of his 13 points in the second half, taking the ball to the hoop on strong moves from the wing for either a layup or free throws.

"The first two games were so tough, to sit down and watch everyone else play," he said. "I think it was an advantage to come back real hungry. When you sit out and look at all the action, you want to be a part of it."

Salem moved in front 25-22 following a 22-22 tie at halftime, but the Rats ran off 10 unanswered points. Culliver hit three straight perimeter shots and Brown canned a triple.

But the Rocks responded with eight points in a minute to lead 33-32, and the game stayed close until Tebben's triple.

Raiders win close game

By C.J. Rieak
staff writer

"I can't take this stuff," said North Farmington basketball coach Tom Negoshian. Not that the final result of the Raiders' game at Redford Union displeased him. No, not at all. North had just collected its first victory of the young season. And as Negoshian described it, "A win's a win. It goes into the left column."

The scenario the Raiders have adopted for their games is what bothered Negoshian. RU climbed back from a 12-point first-half deficit to within a basket of victory before succumbing, 57-56.

Such last-second dramatics are becoming commonplace for North. In its three games, the total number of points separating the winner from the loser is four. North lost to Berkeley 51-49 and to Birmingham Seaholm 49-48.

At least the Raiders were on the winning side. Which is more than RU coach Tip Smathers could boast.

"This was a tough loss," said Smathers. "We're going to have to work on execution-type things. In a close game, those things really count."

Trojans top Eagles

North Farmington began its boys swimming season Thursday with an impressive, 104-82 victory over visiting Novi.

The Raiders started by winning the 200-yard medley relay in 1:45.59. Jonathon Kershaw, Chris Knoche, Mike Drelles and Keith Lee comprised the unit.

It was one of just four firsts for Knoche, who also won the 200 freestyle and the 500. He swam a leg of the 400 freestyle relay, too.

Knoche finished the 200 freestyle in 1:55.14, the 500 in 5:11.03. Kershaw, Lee and Drelles, the anchorman, combined to post a 3:33.08 time in the last event.

Drelles also won the butterfly with a 57.57 time, and teammate Grant Shively took first place in the breaststroke at 1:10.82.

North's John Juliano was the winner in diving, compiling a 212.80 score.

The Raiders competed Saturday in the annual Western Lakes Activities Association Relays but don't have another dual meet until Thursday, Jan. 7, when they visit Northville.

things are magnified. There weren't any real mistakes committed by the Panthers down the stretch that upset Smathers. Indeed, they may have followed instructions too closely.

The final seconds provided a prime example. Bill Malecki's short jumper with :10 remaining would have given RU the lead, but it banged off the side of the backboard and was boarded by North's Bill Chwalik. Chwalik was fouled by Paul Nowak with :06 to play.

Chwalik's first free throw in the one-and-one was woefully short. RU got possession, and Malecki sped up court for a final shot. But before he could get it off, timeout was called — at the other end of the court, by his own teammate, who was following orders.

"We wanted a timeout right away, after their (free throw)," explained Smathers. "But we didn't get it."

Instead of letting Malecki get a shot off against a defense in disarray, the Panthers stuck to instructions and finally got their timeout — but with just :03 to go.

THE ENSUING inbound play was similar, according to Smathers. The Panthers followed instructions exactly, with no deviations. When the first two options on the play broke down, RU's Chris Mulka went to the third. Instead of taking a shot, he lofted a pass toward Malecki; the buzzer sounded before a shot could be attempted.

"The kids scrapped," Smathers added, obviously pleased with the comeback effort. Indeed, RU's zone defense smothered the Raiders, holding them to two points in the final 4:40. North aided the Panther rally by committing a pair of turnovers and missing two one-and-ones in the last four minutes.

The RU comeback actually started in the final 90 seconds of the third quarter. Trailing 50-41, Mulka scored three baskets to bring RU to within 50-47 entering the final period. A 5-2 Raider spurt to start the fourth put them up 55-49 before the Panthers ill-fated rally.

Salem crushes Chargers in first dual Plymouth Salem obviously did a lot of things right in its first wrestling dual meet Wednesday.

The Rocks, who crushed Livonia Churchill 66-6, achieved every one of their nine individual victories by pinning the opposition. Furthermore, all but one of the pins happened in less than three minutes.

"Right now the young kids know a couple of positions to get into, and they happen to be pinning," Salem coach Ron Krueger said. "So that's good."

"When you have a lot of young kids, you don't know what's going to happen, but when we fell we happened to fall on top of them."

The fastest pin of the match was the first. Freshman John Moran pinned Jason Samelko just 12 seconds into the 103-pound bout.

Scott Martin followed with a 46-second pin over Scott Gibson at 112.

Veteran wrestlers pinning for Salem included Dan Bonnett in 2:35 over Matt Cooper at 119, Jeff Shumate in 5:34 over Andy Brown at 140, Jeff Coleman in 1:10 over Ryan Beverdorf at 145 and Charlie Apigian in 2:41 over Jeff Belisle at 171.

Salem sophomore Wade Langdon and senior Ken Coker were forfeit winners when the Chargers voided the 189 and heavyweight divisions, respectively.

Churchill's only wins were a pair of decisions. Craig Shipley (125) edged Chad Wilson 9-6, and Rod Karadshah (152) defeated freshman Nate Obudzinski 6-1.

The Rocks wrestle at Livonia Stevenson Wednesday night and will be host for a four-team quadrangular meet Saturday with Holt, Adrian, Flint Kearsley and Belleville.

FARMINGTON HAD some encouraging results in its first wrestling dual meet Wednesday.

The Falcons are expected to be one of the stronger teams in the area this year, and their 43-24 victory over Plymouth Canton supports that contention.

"We're coming off a 3-13 season, but we've got everybody back," Farmington coach Al Beyer said. "I expected to be improved, and it appears we're on the right track."

"We had a good performance from the team in general tonight."

Farmington won four of the last five bouts to erase a 19-21 deficit and win the match going away.

Chris Kresl pinned Bill Buslepp in 1:08 of their 152-pound contest to put the Falcons back on top, 25-21.

Mike Pallo pinned Chad Getulna (103) at 1:00, the Chiefs were void at 189 and Farmington's Larry Malcheff pinned Matt Hirsch-er (9:15) at heavyweight.

After Canton's Andy Strahan pinned (3:39) Paul Anderson in the 103 bout, the Falcons won the next four weights to take a 19-6 lead.

John Lane pinned (3:02) Matt Berris at 112, Rob Sutton decisioned (9-1) Mark Armstrong at 119, Jon Duff pinned (1:04) David Yack at 125 and Steve LeMieux defeated (6-1) Jim Carnes at 130.

Canton, however, won the next three bouts to regain the lead, 21-19. Justin Reed pinned (1:09) Dave Clinard at 135, Joe Hunter won a decision (16-8) over Jason Holiday at 140 and Liam Renta scored a technical fall (10-0) over Joe Goudeseune at 145. At 171, George Young of Canton defeated Steve Walter 10-4.

Churchill avenges loss to city foe

By Darren A. Nichols
staff writer

In last February's Western Lakes Activities Association basketball tournament, Livonia Stevenson defeated Livonia Churchill in a game the Chargers let slip from their hands.

Churchill was determined to not let that happen again Friday night. The Chargers, using several strong rallies, beat host Stevenson in a WLAAC crossover game, 62-47.

"We were determined not to let this game get away from us," Churchill coach Fred Price said.

"They beat us last February in the playoffs, and we really wanted to beat them. We've been waiting a long time for this game."

Churchill improved to 2-2, while Stevenson dropped to 1-2 overall.

PHIL WOODS' pair of free throws with 4:56 left in the game got the Spartans within nine points, but Churchill went on an 11-5 run to end the game.

A thunderous dunk by senior center Randy Calcaterra at 5:37 in the third quarter started a 10-5 run that opened up Churchill's largest margin of the night, 43-27, with 1:50 left in the quarter.

Stevenson went on a 6-2 run that cut the lead to 43-35 at the end of the third.

After a sluggish 15-11, first quarter, Churchill outscored the Spartans 12-5 in the first 4:16 of the second.

basketball

Senior forward Scott Bowser scored six points in the rally, while Marcus Sarnovsky, Calcaterra and Mike Thomas each had a basket.

Junior forward Tony Stojov ended the rally with a basket that cut the lead to 27-18 with 2:27 left in the half.

PRICE SAID the lulls between the spurts and the aggressive trapping defense by Stevenson is what hurt his club.

"I think that's where we run into the problems, when we get the turnovers," he said. "We have to avoid turnovers. We (also) don't get good shots and we need to be more consistent."

"They played a tough, aggressive, 1-3-1 trap and a 1-2-2 trap and we were worried about that. They are a good pressing team with aggressive players."

Churchill was led by Calcaterra, a senior center who scored 17 points. Thomas chipped in 14 points, and Bowser added 12 points.

For Stevenson, junior guard Matt Grodzicki scored 11 points and Woods added 10 points.

"I was real pleased with our performance," Price said. "It was the best ball game we've played. We had a good balanced attack, and we truly played unselfish basketball."

"MIKE THOMAS played with a lot of intensity, and he had the toughest defensive assignment tonight. Russ McQuaid controlled the tempo well tonight."

Stevenson coach Jim McIntyre said his team was not on the floor Friday night.

"This was not a typical Stevenson effort tonight," he said. "We usually have consistent play and we play smooth and loose. We didn't have any shooting and we didn't play to a level where we could challenge them."

"We didn't play well enough to win."

WAYNE 59, WYANDOTTE 54: The Zebras managed to hang on to a 30-21 halftime lead Friday and defeat host Wyandotte.

Wayne is 2-2 overall and 2-0 in the Wolverine A Conference. Wyandotte is 1-3 overall, 0-2 in the league.

Wyandotte was led by Joe Alfano's 24 points.

DEARBORN 83, FRANKLIN 75: Livonia Franklin trailed 77-75 in the game's final minute Friday, but turned the ball over twice and fell to host Dearborn.

Dearborn converted 27-of-38 free throws.

"Looking at those free throws, that was the difference," Franklin coach Rod Hanna said. "If they don't go to the line 38 times, you have different game."

Franklin (2-1) was led by Dave Roman's 23 points. Steve McCool and Keith Roberts contributed 22 and 21 points, respectively.

Mohammed Abdrabbah scored a game-high 30 points for Dearborn (3-0).

HIGHLAND PARK 63, BISHOP BORGESS 60: Highland Park outscored host Redford Bishop Borgess 22-8 in the second quarter Friday en route to a victory.

Senior forward Terry Howard led Highland Park with 22 points. The Polar Bears went to the charity stripe 39 times and were successful on 23 of them.

Borgess falls to 0-2.

THURSTON 60, ANNAPOLIS 52: Redford Thurston got 20 points from Danny Pertulla Friday and defeated visiting Dearborn Height Annapolis in a Tri-River League encounter.

The Eagles are 3-1 overall and 2-1 in the league. Annapolis is 2-2 overall, 1-2 in the Tri-River.

Justin McEwen chipped in 11 points for Thurston, which outscored Annapolis 19-13 in the first quarter and 18-10 in the second quarter.

Todd Allee led Annapolis with a game-high 23 points.

TO START THE rally, Mulder made a triple, and Kirkpatrick was hammered going to the basket. Culiver was given a technical foul for a comment he made to Kirkpatrick. Kirkpatrick made his two free throws and Mulder one of the technicals. Hoffmeyer's rebound basket gave Salem the lead.

The Rocks never trailed after Kirkpatrick's three-point play put the Rocks on top 36-34.

"I told the kids coming out 'No matter how far you're up or down, it's not going to be over. It will depend on whether or not we can weather the storm,'" Brodie said. "We did and got a little help with the technical free throw situation. It could have gone either way, but we kept our poise and our mouths shut." Both teams left the gym Friday knowing there's a good chance they could play again in March.

"I don't think either coach would object if we were to meet somewhere after the district tournament," Simons said.

"(Amos in the lineup) will be a big difference in the game," Brodie said. "I just hope both of us have the opportunity to get that far and play each other again."

"We heard stuff about (the regional win) being a fluke," Kirkpatrick said, "and we wanted to prove it wasn't. Hopefully, we'll get another shot in the regional to emphasize a point."

The Plymouth-Canton Cruisers Swim Club won its ninth straight Southwest Michigan Swim League championship. The Cruisers scored 1,730 points, the Ypsilanti Otters 1,712, Ann Arbor Y 1,630, Pinckney 864, Chelsea 736 and Brighton 689.

The Cruisers have more than 150 boys and girls, ages 5 to 14, in its programs. New swimmers are welcome at any time. The winter season begins Monday, Jan. 7. For information call 459-6074.

Following are the top finishers for the Cruisers:

6-under — Chris Jones: fifth, 100 free; Elizabeth Day: third, 100 IM; sixth, 25 fly; third, 50 free; Allison Bracht: fifth, 25 free; fourth, 25 breast; Todd Bonner: sixth, 25 back; Blake Bernstein: fourth, 25 breast.

Relays — Josh Markou, Richie Ike, Chris Jones and Jason Rebarchik: third, 100 medley; Bonner, Bernstein, Stephen Graham and Dan Jones: fourth, 100 medley; Bracht, Vanessa Rennels, Day and Claudia Sell: third, 100 medley; Robin Edmonds, Jackie Barrowcliff, Allison Schmidt and Jillian Fargo: eighth, 100 medley; Rebarchik, Chris Jones,

North swimmers win

North Farmington began its boys swimming season Thursday with an impressive, 104-82 victory over visiting Novi.

The Raiders started by winning the 200-yard medley relay in 1:45.59. Jonathon Kershaw, Chris Knoche, Mike Drelles and Keith Lee comprised the unit.

It was one of just four firsts for Knoche, who also won the 200 freestyle and the 500. He swam a leg of the 400 freestyle relay, too.

Knoche finished the 200 freestyle in 1:55.14, the 500 in 5:11.03. Kershaw, Lee and Drelles, the anchorman, combined to post a 3:33.08 time in the last event.

Drelles also won the butterfly with a 57.57 time, and teammate Grant Shively took first place in the breaststroke at 1:10.82.

Bowling gift ideas plentiful at pro shops

IF THERE IS A bowler on your Christmas list, a quick visit to the local pro shop may be just the right thing to do.

Most of the shops carry the same basic assortment of bowling balls, bags and shoes, along with plenty of other items which would make good stocking stuffers.

If you are planning to buy your favorite bowler a new ball, there are plenty to choose from and the fitting and drilling is usually included in the purchase. The only exceptions are those extras like finger hole inserts and special weight balance.

The better urethane balls cost around $100 these days, but there are also lower priced balls available as well.

When you purchase the ball, do so undrilled. That way the person who is going to use it can get it drilled to his/her specifications.

Some of the more popular, high-performance balls today include the Columbia U2 Blue Hammer, AMP Cobra, Ebonite Dual Block, the Rhino Series from Brunswick, several specialty numbers for youth bowlers and products of smaller companies like Roto Star.

THE PRO Shop people will be able to give you the right advice as to which ball to purchase for that special bowler on your list.

In addition to single and double ball bags, bowling shoes make nice gifts. Some ideas for stocking stuffers include instructional video tapes, all kinds of wrist devices designed to get more ball action by keeping the wrist in the proper position, nice liners for wrist support, a tackified glove, crying towels, thumb tape, score books, grip spray, bowling shirts, jackets and — wouldn't you know it — there are also trading cards of the top professional bowlers available.

Let's hope Santa takes care of all those bowlers on his Christmas list this season.

• The Cambridge Pro-Am Tournament is history and our local contestant, Cheryl Silek of Woodland Lanes in Livonia, had a great time in Reno, Nev.

Silek brought home $400 in winnings, minus a few coins donated to the casinos. She bowled with such highly regarded bowlers as Ron Palombi, Dave Ferraro, Del Ballard, Lorrie Nichols and Don Moser.

• The Greater Detroit Bowling Association is accepting entries for the First Annual Mixed Team Championship.

The event will take place Feb. 2 through March 3 at the new Cloverlanes in Livonia.

FIRST PLACE pays $4,000 plus entry fee to the National Mixed Tournament. Any two men and two women in a local GDBA sanctioned league can form a team just for the tournament. Entries close on Friday, Dec. 28.

• Woodland Lanes in Livonia will have its annual New Year's Eve no-tap doubles beginning at 9:30 p.m.

The cost is $33 per couple and includes a purse of $600, bowling fees, cold cut relish trays, salad, champagne for a midnight toast and party favors. Jackpots are optional.

• Country Lanes in Farmington

Al Harrison

Hills will also be having a New Year's Eve no-tap doubles party.

Included in the $65 entry fee are buffet dinner and open bowling from 7-9 p.m., $500 prize to first place, five-place payouts, champagne at midnight, three games of no-tap bowling, mystery games, lucky strike pot of gold, plus plenty of door prizes, party favors and lots of fun.

For more information call 478-3201.

• Westland Bowl is having a New Year's Eve Bowling Party. The fun starts at 9 p.m. and a $30 entry per couple includes refreshments, door prizes and party favors.

Make reservations early!
• Westland Bowl has a weekly Low-Ball Tournament every Sunday beginning at 9:30 p.m. The lowest score wins, but you must hit at least one pin each ball. This is fun. Try it!

Look to schools, libraries for recycling information

Q. As a Junior High School teacher, I can't find many good materials on solid waste and recycling appropriate for my students. Can you help?

A. Yes. There are some good materials available. First stop should be your school library and/or media center. The Waste Information Series for Education (WISE) is a K-12 curriculum that was developed by the Department of Natural Resources in conjunction with The Michigan Department of Education. This complete curriculum package is being distributed to all public and private schools throughout the state this fall. It should be in your school now.

This curriculum is divided into four grade grouping targeting a specific concept. The lesson plans are designed to be incorporated into existing subject areas: English, Sciences, Math, Social Studies, Home Economics. In addition to the lesson plans, background information for the teacher is provided. Worksheets, transparency masters, fact sheets and material lists are also included with each lesson plan as well as learning and behavioral objectives.

The K-3 lessons focus on waste elements familiar to the student, such as litter, and explain where solid waste goes when it leaves the home.

Terry Gibb

Materials for grades 4-6 cover community interaction about solid waste and landfills. The focus is on the three R's - reduce, reuse, and recycle with a discussion about renewable vs. non-renewable resources.

The 7-9 grade lessons emphasize the complex issue of consumer impact on solid waste.

The 10-12 grade materials provide insight into the scientific, social and political concerns of solid waste.

There are also videotape and two filmstrips for use with targeted lessons. Two computer games provide students with reinforcement opportunities.

The California Department of Education has two very good solid waste education curriculums targeting second through sixth grades.

The 2-3 grade program, "Wizard of Waste," and the 4-6 grade program, "The Trash Monster," are two week solid waste education programs with lesson plans, activities and filmstrips that discuss solid waste and the three R's. Both of these programs are available from California or can be borrowed from several local environmental groups, including Concern Detroit, Inc.

Concern Detroit, Inc. has put together an extensive bibliography of reading materials for kindergarten through eighth grades including fiction, non-fiction, and periodicals. A copy can be obtained by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the address below.

Finally, the DNR has many good fact sheets and brochures available. To get a complete list of available resources (written and audio visual), write to the DNR, Waste Management Division, P.O. Box 30028, Lansing, MI 48909.

The Consumer Mailbag answers your questions. Address mail to The Consumer Mailbag, Concern Detroit, One Kennedy Square, 4th Floor, Detroit, MI 48226.

Winter means flu season, but shots can be available

Q. My uncle has Alzheimer's Disease and my aunt is caring for him at home. She could use some time for herself. Is there a day care center that will care for Alzheimer's patients that isn't too expensive?

A. The Alzheimer's Association runs a program on Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Barnum Health Center in Birmingham. The center accommodates 15 clients. Transportation is arranged by the clients. Lunch is supplied by the family and the program does provide a light snack and beverages. Persons are eligible for the program if they suffer from Alzheimer's or other irreversible dementias, are residents of Wayne, Oakland or Macomb counties, are continent of bowel and bladder, and if they are confined to wheelchairs, are able to attend to personal needs.

The purpose of the program is to give respite to caregivers by providing supervised adult activities in a day care setting. The program provides socialization and recreational activities based on each participant's individual level of cognitive and physical functioning. Fees are based on ability to pay and range from no cost to $13 per four hour session.

A new day care program will soon be opening in the Virginia Park Senior Center in Detroit. For information on these programs, on aging

Renee Mahler

call the Alzheimer's Association of Metropolitan Detroit, 557-8277, Monday-Friday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Q. I live in Waterford. My 85-year-old mother is now living with me and I think it would be very good for her to have contact with people closer to her own age. I would also like to have a few free hours a day to do my errands and leave her somewhere where I wouldn't have to worry about her.

A. The Waterford Senior Citizen "Drop-In Center" has an adult day care program called "Encore." The program is designed to provide a caring and protective environment for frail adults and to give respite for the caregivers. It offers individualized care including personal assessments, activity programs and counseling and referral. Recreational activities include arts and crafts, exercise and day trips. There are, however, no medical services.

The program runs Monday-Thursday. The charges are $20 for a five hour or half day program and $30 for the full day. Lunch and two snacks are included. Transportation is available to Waterford residents at $4 per day.

For additional information or to make arrangements to visit the center and see the program in action call 623-6500, Monday-Friday, 8:30 a.m.-4 p.m. You need not be a Waterford resident to participate.

Q. I have heard that the Visiting Nurse Association offers in-home health services for older adults. Can you tell me more about them?

A. Visiting Nurse Home Health Services is a subsidiary of the Visiting Nurse Association of South-east Michigan. They provide a variety of services to the homebound regardless of age. Their services include geriatric care and rehabilitation, skilled nursing, physical and occupational therapy, nutrition counseling, medical social work, speech-language pathology, pediatric services, home health aides, and medical equipment and supplies. Residents of Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties are eligible for these services. Prior hospitalization is not required. The agency accepts Medicare, Medicaid and Blue Cross/Blue Shield as well as payment from major insurance, health maintenance organizations and private companies.

To arrange for services call, toll free, 1-800-852-1232. Nurses or other trained personnel will answer your call twenty-four hours a day. Service will be provided within 24 hours.

Renee Mahler is a gerontologist and the Director of Communications and Admissions at a Rochester Hills nursing facility. Send your questions to her at Observer & Eccentric, 805 East Maple, Birmingham, MI 48009.

Some kids won't get beans for Christmas.

In this season of joy and good cheer, it's hard to believe that there are children who will go hungry this Christmas. For the Salvation Army, it is not at all unimaginable. But it is unacceptable. We want every child-and every adult-to have a special Christmas meal. That's why our staff and volunteers spend countless hours distributing and preparing food for the needy during the holidays. And we will continue to provide food, shelter and clothing in the cruel months to come. Your donations make it possible for us to help. Making a donation during the Christmas season may not be easy. But imagine what would happen if you didn't.

SC offers refresher courses for nurses

Schoolcraft College is offering a registered nurse refresher program for the nurse who has not worked in the acute care setting for the last three or more years. The course is designed to prepare a nurse to work in the medical-surgical area of skilled nursing home. The program includes two courses: medical surgical refresher for the registered nurse and care of adult patients.

The first course provides a review of medical surgical nursing theory. Topics include the nursing process, procedural skills, pathophysiology and patient care management. Nursing skills will be practiced in the college nursing skill lab.

The course will be offered from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Fridays beginning Jan. 11 and on Tuesdays beginning March 15. The class meets for 16 weeks. Cost is $270.

Medical surgical nursing theory is continued in the care of adult patients. Instruction and clinical practice will take place in a local acute care hospital under a faculty member's supervision. Students are taught communication principles to provide total patient care. The class meets for eight weeks. Cost is $220.

Schoolcraft is at 18600 Haggerty, between Six and Seven Mile roads. For more information, call 482-4400.

County prayer breakfast features Illinois professor

Tickets are available for the fifth annual Wayne County Inaugural Prayer Breakfast, 9 a.m. Saturday, Jan. 5, in the Renaissance Ballroom, Renaissance Center, Detroit. Guest speaker will be Dr. Earnest Campbell, professor of worship and preaching at Garrett-Evangelical Seminary, Evanston, Ill.

Tickets are $15 apiece. Reservations should be made by Friday, Dec. 21.

To order tickets, call 224-0852.

Works of 'art' . . . that are skin deep

By Joanne Sobczak

Perhaps you're the one at a loss to find that truly unique Christmas gift or birthday present. Or may be you would like to "pin" your heart forever on your beau for Valentine's Day.

Maybe all you want for Christmas is a tattoo or two. The House of Tattooing in Westland and Eternal Tattoos in Livonia can give you a tour of the old and the new in artistic designs beyond your imagination and befitting your taste and your skin.

Tattooing is fast becoming a fashion trend, and for the wearer, it's a permanent one.

An old world custom dating back to Egypt and 1300 B.C., tattoos are associated with the stereotypical bikers, sailors and soldiers. Today, they are turning up on people from all walks of life.

"We get everybody," said Terry "Tramp" Welker, owner of Eternal Tattoos. "Policemen, firemen, machinists and some professionals like engineers."

Welker views himself as an artist who transfers his clients' "fantasy to flesh," a philosophy that can be found on the business cards and his T-shirt. Welker and his partner and manager Chris Page see as many as 60-70 customers a week at their studio.

ACCORDING TO Welker, about 40 percent of the customers are women who usually select more feminine drawings like flowers or unicorns. But times are changing and it's not unusual for a female client to request a larger piece.

"People come in here with their own designs now versus years ago when they would just pick something out," said the Brighton resident, whose arms and side reflect several incidents in his life as well as his philosophy. He lists dragons, lions, eagles and an "unbelievable number" of Tasmanian devils as the most popular choices.

Being in the business for 14 years, Welker has the method down pat.

"First, I draw the design up

(which is approved by the customer), then I'll transfer it to their skin and work from my outline," he said while beginning to trace with a special pencil a sword on a client's arm from a sheet of paper. "I draw the outline using a (electrically powered) single needle. "After I finish the outline, I do the shading and details, then I put in the color."

A 10-day healing process generally completes the job. Like a doctor, Welker sends his clients home with a care/treatment plan that prevents infection and keeps the tattoo from scabbing which would ruin the design.

THE TRICK to obtaining a beautiful tattoo is in a daily application of Neosporin, an over-the-counter antibiotic cream, while protecting the body marking from excessive sun or chlorinated water.

Welker charges a minimum of $20 for a small rose, heart or name. The tattoo artist advises against names because the tattoo is permanent and the relationship may not be.

The average tattoo costs about $60-70 and takes about 15 minutes to apply, depending on size. Full back pieces take several one-hour sittings and can run in the hundreds of dollars, he said.

Marty Woodlan at the House of Tattooing (and it is a house) not only provides an assortment of patterns, but also does cosmetic tattooing.

Kathi Hann, a mother of four, was surprised by her husband's birthday present, a gift certificate for permanent eyelining. Hann had both top and bottom lash lines done with little pain and hardly any post-procedure irritation.

Woodlan charges $125 for each eye. In addition to eyelining, he also creates eyebrows, lip lines and beauty marks. His female clientele is 40-70 percent of his business. Beauty marks aside, the cosmetic procedures have benefitted many who by accident or birth have lived with flaws that made them self-conscious.

LIKE WELKER, Woodlan is a master at his art. He's been tattooing for 19 years and brags that even the health department representative who approved the premises returned to have a tattoo done.

The Westland resident and his two partners, Duane Fager and Charlie Dufresne, take care of from three to 15 people a day, six days a week. The customers include doctors, lawyers, nurses and musicians.

Some people make better candidates for tattoos than others. Women, for instance, take color better because their skin is softer. The skin of people with outdoor occupations tends to be tougher. And con-

Ouch — How to undo a tattoo

Viewers probably chuckled about the Sieko watch commercial that aired awhile back. In it, the actress announced that her husband, who had purchased the watch, was no longer around, but her Sieko still was.

Well, guys and gals, there's another romantic gesture that may even outlast a Sieko — a tattoo, particularly if it's your sweetheart's names.

That's why Terry "Tramp" Welker at Livonia's Eternal Tattoos prefers a customer not select a name for the skin engraving. A tattoo is permanent and one can never anticipate that the relationship will be the same.

One of his clients recalls having Welker tattoo a girlfriend's name on his body several years ago. When asked why he didn't advise otherwise, Welker said the client seemed quite sure about what he wanted.

"I knew I wanted the name, but it was my girlfriend who decided she didn't want me," the customer chuckled.

That's not unusual, according to Dr. Howard Weissman, who had a female patient who wanted the name John removed from her breast.

'I knew I wanted the name, but it was my girlfriend who decided she didn't want me.'

"She knows Bob now; she doesn't know John anymore," said Weissman. The patient had double trouble because it was a homemade tattoo.

Weissman and his partner, a physicist, while researching the use of an Argon laser for cosmetic hair removal, found it dissolved tattoos.

THE ELECTRIC needle commonly used by tattoo artists injects color at a consistent level beneath the skin's surface, making removal easier and with little scarring. But the needle depths of homemade tattoos, done by hand, are at various levels.

In short, his patient's tattoo could be removed by laser, but with excessive scarring. But it was worth the scar to the woman who was in a new relationship, according to Weissman.

A graduate of the College of Osteopathic Medicine in Des Moines, Iowa, Weissman specialized in nuclear medicine. For the past seven years, he has been using the Argon laser to destroy unwanted hair. Argon is an element, a greenish blue gas. The Argon laser beam recognizes every color but greenish blue which made it well suited for blood and dark colors.

"We were actually shooting for the blood vessel that nourishes the hair root as well as the hair itself," he said. While pursuing that method, the two men discovered a successful way of eliminating spider veins in the skin with similar good results.

Weissman admits using an Argon laser to remove tattoos isn't new; others have done it before him. But with the laser in his office, he was able to provide an additional service. He has removed about 150 tattoos.

Named after a character in one of Dr. Seuss' book, Southgoing Zakhas been playing together for three years, but things only jelled musically about a year ago.

The yak on Southgoing ZAK

By Jill Hamilton
special writer

Southgoing ZAK is a band that takes its name seriously. They are named after a character in one of Dr. Seuss' book and, at past concerts, the band has been careful to pay tribute to the good actor.

Dan Bellus, vocalist for the band, doubles as the "Seuss-orator" in what is called "Uncle ZAK's Dr. Seuss storytime sing-a-long." For the sing-a-long, audience members gather around the stage, sitting in a circle on the floor, while Bellus reads selections from the classic "Green Eggs and Ham." He reads from a page in the book, then holds it up so everyone can see the pictures.

"Like in kindergarten," said Bellus.

The ZAKs spice up their version of "Green Eggs and Ham" with the music from Edie Brickell and the New Bohemians' "What I Am." The song and the story seem made for each other. Sam I am, what I am — you get the picture. Anyway, during the chorus of the book — "I do not like you Sam I am, ect . . ." — the song suddenly emulates into a thrash version.

Kindergarten this ain't. So far the band only has one Seuss song in their repertoire.

"WE'RE PROBABLY going to do more Dr. Seuss songs, but none of them seem to have the same energy as 'Green Eggs and Ham,'" said Bellus.

But, with the Seuss gimmick or not, Southgoing ZAK is a band to be reckoned with. Their six-song cassette is one of the best releases of the year, filled with eminently listener-friendly tunes.

It also lacks problems that usually plague local recordings like buried vocals, hissing and muddy sound. The band recorded the tape at the tiny White Rose Studios. Bellus is from Chelsea and learned about the studio from fellow Chelsea-ites in the Holy Cows and Opossums.

"It's like a little house in the country, but he's (the studio operation) got all this equipment in his basement," said Bellus. "We spent 23 hours in there that weekend."

The work paid off. In addition to help to make an excellent sounding tape, the equipment in the studio allowed Bellus to do some interesting tricks like singing backing vocals for himself.

have been playing together for three years, things only jelled about a year ago. At the time, everyone in the band was sharing the singing chores. As Bioland puts it, "We needed a real voice."

THINGS STARTED changing when Bellus answered an ad that the band had put in a music store.

"I went in and jammed with them," said Bellus, a part-time student at Eastern Michigan University. It was a pretty daring move because, at the time, Bellus had never actually sung in front of other people.

"I had never been in a band before, never did anything musical before," said Bellus. "I was really nervous, definitely nervous. John (Marshall) sang a couple and I just tried to sing like he did."

He pulled it off — "They called and I was in." Since then, things have been going more smoothly for the band. The balance of power extends to songwriting. Bioland, Marshall and Heassler all work on writing the band's songs.

"Usually, one person will write a guitar line and lyric and take it to the band and explain how they want it to sound," said Bioland. "The person wrote it has 'veto power' over changes."

So far, the system seems to be working. In the past year, the band has come up with almost three hours of original music and has garnered gigs in Ann Arbor, Toledo, Kalamazoo and Grand Rapids.

THEY ALSO have a manager — a friend — to handle all the band's bookings. Why, there are even plans for a ZAK T-shirt in the works.

Right now, the band is taking a month or so off to work on writing more songs. After that, they're going to hop right back on the club circuit for some more live shows.

About playing live, Bellus said: "We're just there to have fun. We're not there to try and impress anyone." Whether they were intending to impress anyone or not, they've ended up doing just that.

But, we still don't know why they chose the name of the Southgoing ZAK instead of the Northgoing ZAK.

Gift-giving ideas with a local spin

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

Give the gift of (local) music. Or, at least, give it a listen. The holiday period is marked with a few releases by area musicians and groups. Record stores, such as Sam's Jams in Ferndale and Livonia along with Schoolkid's in Ann Arbor, have special local music bins.

Other stores, such as Harmony House, for example, mix local products among national releases — fitting since a good deal of this locally produced music is superior to some of the sap being released by major labels.

Here's a quick rundown of what's out there:

• "Live at Legs," John D. Lamb — A live recording is a rather heavy duty for any local musician. In Lamb's case, this cassette is an excellent forum for the singer-songwriter who's become a regular at places such as Alvin's. The spark of a live setting and Lamb's emotional, sometimes graveled voice provides an unbeatable combination.

• "From Can to Can't," The Hannibals — Byrds-like guitars along with some rather willowy vocals mark this latest release from the

REVIEWS

AN EMOTIONAL FISH — An Emotional Fish

The latest band from the currently fashionable hotbed of music — Ireland — An Emotional Fish come from the guitar-based camp, which, in the wake of the unmentionable U-know-who-2, include the likes of Something Happens, Power of Dreams and The Stunning, as opposed to the raggle-taggle, diddly-eye merchants like Hothouse Flowers, Waterboys and Energy Orchard.

With the dramatic and, excuse the pun, emotional vocals of Gerard Whelan and the driving bass playing of Enda Wyatt, an Emotional Fish strays into the INXS territory and sometimes wallow there a while.

Literally, they explore alienation and human torments. Witness this from "Lace Virginia." "See it's a land of make believe, telling stories of little broken boys from little broken homes/who have broken every single rule."

The lead off track, "Celebrate," is a wonderful song with one of the more memorable introductory bass lines this year. It is quickly joined by a strong and punchy guitar before heralding the arrival of those vocals delivering some marvelous lines.

"Blue" has a haunting melody line and fine guitar work, but backing vocals from Jill Turner, tend to steer the sound dangerously close to Pre-fab Sprout. This seems to occur whenever Turner's vocals are used, as in "Julien."

It is around this time in the order of the songs that Whelan's "emotional" singing degenerates, irritatingly, to breathless, throaty growls, ala Mr. Bono Vox of the aforementioned unmentionables.

Perhaps there is more to this, as Emotional Fish's first Irish break was given by U2's (oops, I did it!!!) Mother Records.

Style is changed somewhat on "Colors" when Whelan comes across as Lou Reed, with a spoken/sung vocal.

The CD version contains a bonus track called "Move On" which features some exemplary guitar work but once again suffers by the end of the song when Whelan has degenerated to his "screams."

"An Emotional Fish" is an intelligent recording but with a multitude of reference points, contains only a handful of identifiable "Emotional Fish" moments.

Red, Hot + Blue — Various Artists

This is a fine and long overdue tribute to one of America's greatest songwriters. It's . . . it's . . . Well, to lift a few lines from Cole Porter, it's great; it's grand; it's a wonderland!

Twenty performers organized by producer Steve Lillywhite revisit — and often pump up — the Cole Porter songbook. The combination of performer and song is often uncanny — Debbie Harry and Iggy Pop doing "Well, Did You Evah?" David Byrne galloping through "Don't Fence Me In," and the Gypsy band, Les Negresses Vertes doing "I Love Paris."

Red Hot is a slick, well-packaged benefit for AIDS research. The CD comes with two booklets containing, among other things, a list of musicians, a brief Porter biography and a 12-point list of what can be done to fight the deadly disease and dispel the myths surrounding it. "All people with AIDS are innocent," the booklet says.

Porter (1893-1964) wrote mostly for theater productions and, later, movies. His songs were adapted by pop and jazz singers like Ella Fitzgerald and Frank Sinatra.

Porter wrote about love and romance, and some songs, "Love for Sale," for example, were banned for supposed explicit lyrics. He accurately depicts both the joy and pain that love inspires. In "Ev'ry Time . . ." "Ev'ry time we say goodbye/I die a little/Ev'ry time we say goodbye/I wonder why a little/Why the gods above me/Who must be in the know/Think so little of me/They allow you to go."

Porter's work and that of his contemporaries has been neglected by rock and rollers, however. That's unfortunate. k.d. lang, The Jungle Brothers, Nenah Cherry and others here prove Porter ripe for interpretation. The red and white versions don't always work, and there is some uninspired stuff here. But it's the exception.

Buy this. Then try Ella Fitzgerald's Cole Porter Songbook.

GHOST OF A DOG — Edie Brickell and New Bohemians

Perhaps you were lured into buying this group's first album "Shooting Rubberbands at the Stars" on the strength of their first single "What I Am." The song was a nearly perfect pop ditty — quirky, catchy and a bit silly. The rest of the album was sort of a let-down. The songs were bland mid-tempo numbers, seemingly indistinguishable from each other.

Perhaps your disappointment was so great that you swore off Edie and Co. forever. Perhaps your anti-Edie resolve was strengthened by hearing their wretched Bob Dylan cover.

If that's the case, then give ole Edie another chance because "Ghost of a Dog" is a much better record than its predecessor. There's no instant hit like "What I Am" but, overall, the album is much more diverse, enjoyable and, well, mature.

As on the last album, Brickell writes most of the songs and lyrics. (She got her Cinderella-like start with the New Bohemians after downing a few shots of booze then joining them on stage. But, if after that, she wrote two albums worth of music and lyrics, then she must have had some sort of musical training previous to her drunken debut). Anyway, hanging around her friend Paul Simon (yes, that Paul Simon) seems to have improved Brickell's writing ability,

Her whimsical songwriting ability that was only hinted at on the last album is fully explored on this one. "Oak Cliff Bra," for example, is a silly little tune that sounds like a children's song. "A lady with a baby/with only one shoe/walks by/where's his other shoe?" asks Brickell.

Most of the music on the album is acoustic which suits Brickell's light, wispy voice. The album sounds more like an album than a collection of separate songs (if you can understand that).

"Ghost of a Dog" finds the band making more diverse and interesting music. The songs range from the requisite pop tunes like "Mama Help Me" to more exploratory, soul searching numbers like "10,000 Angels." Overall, it's a fine sophomore effort.

A choice of friendship or self-esteem

Dear Barbara,

My husband and I have been very agreeable and accommodating to the parents of our children's friend because the friendship means so much to our child. As a result of this and, also, since we probably aren't dealing with overly mature adults, they have become increasingly more demanding in expecting to always have their own way.

We have become resentful of their expectations and have started to exert some control over the situation. In turn, they have become more sarcastic and combative. Please comment.

A Parent desiring give and take

P.S. I like your new picture and hairstyle!

Dear Parent,

Thanks for your P.S.

If your description of the other parents is accurate, you are faced with a choice. Either you cut off all relationships between yourself and the parents, which might result in your child being unhappy at the loss of this friend, or you have an open discussion with them.

If your choice is to have an open discussion, explain the way you feel and give them a choice of changing their attitude toward you or of having their child lose his friendship with your child.

I am presenting this in the worst possible scenario because if you can solve the worst scenario any other ones will be easier.

The point is that you must make a choice even though neither one is quite satisfactory. If you allow yourselves to be abused for the sake of keeping the boy as a friend, you are giving your son the message that interdependence with others is of greater value than self-esteem.

You don't give his age and so he may be young for lesson learning. But your values will be transmitted to him through the years. High self-esteem even at the price of friendship is an important one to learn.

So, if your son loses his friend, you will try to help him learn this lesson at an appropriate age level. If you are successful, then you will have made a virtue of necessity.

GRADING THE MOVIES

disappointments are to be abandoned, not conquered.

"Mermaids" opens on one such frustration and the family Flax moves to a small Massachusetts coastal town where Charlotte is fascinated by the storybook convent on the edge of town. Charlotte is attracted as well to the handsome, silent type, Joe (Michael Schoeffling), who drives a truck and does chores for the nuns.

Meanwhile, Rachel quickly develops a relationship with Lou (Bob Hoskins), the local shoe merchant. Kate just dives into the local pool and swims for gold.

ONE OF THE film's greatest strengths is the carefree romantic attitude synthesized so well in Rachel's character. Both Mrs. Flax and the film never lose sight of the importance of family and of personal, stylish self-expression. While having a good time is their chief priority, value and worth lurk just beneath the surface.

June Roberts' well-written screenplay prospers with Cher's breezy delivery. Winona Ryder's voice-overs commentary — so often humorously and pleasantly at odds with the action and images on the screen — adds immeasurably to the film's appeal. The photographs terrific, too.

But the film centers on Cher and Winona — both are appealing with adolescence and maturity intermixed. Both are child/women who synthesize femininity's most appealing qualities. "Mermaids" is marred only by a somewhat forced and predictable semi-tragedy that serves to bring the girls together for their final splash.

"Edward Scissorhands" (C, PG-13, 100 minutes) is also about family at Christmas. But this family lives in a la-la land dreamed up by someone who was smoking funny cookies. Despite a successful track record, including "Beetlejuice" and "Batman," director Tim Burton seems to have misjudged the possibilities (which are slim) of a film mixing "Frankenstein" and "Beauty and the Beast" with a teenage sitcom/fairytale about the Avon Lady bringing snow to the suburbs.

BUT THAT'S what "Edward Scissorhands" is all about. Diane Wiest is the Avon Lady who decides one day to call on the castle at the end of her gaudy subdivision. (Don't ask how developers missed that tract, this is a fairytale). She finds Edward (Johnny Depp), a creation of the castle's owner (Vincent Price), an inventor who passed away before he could finish Edward's body. So poor Eddie has scissors for hands. Why not tweezers?

That's the set-up for numerous cliched sequences about aliens experiencing our culture. As well, there's the entire range of tired satire on middle America, conformity, fear of strangers and the desire to be a pacesetter, the very first on your block. The Avon Lady's daughter (Winona Ryder who's working a lot these days) has the local teenage Rambo (a hefty Anthony Michael Hall) for her boyfriend.

If all this seems too much for one film, go to the head of the class. It is and the half-baked satire is pretty limp. Despite all these complaints, betcha it sells lots of tickets.

This week's entry in the sequel contest, "Look Who's Talking Too" (F, PG-13, 75 minutes) demonstrates how a plot with enough story line for a 15-minute sitcom can be elevated to feature film length by adding a few toilet jokes and lots of music video sequences. It's all too cutesy for words... or borrrrrring.

REPRISING THE first edition, John Travolta's cutesy little sperm swim upstream and — here's the exciting new twist — they cleverly slip by Kirstie Alley's cutesy little birth control device and impregnate her cutesy little egg.

Even a cutesy Caesarean delivery of Mike's kid sister, Annie, lacks excitement. One might hazard a guess that Travolta passed out from boredom rather than, as the film tries to convince us, he wimped out at the sight of blood during the delivery.

It doesn't get any better than this. Since you only go 'round once, don't waste travel time on this ridiculous piece of fluff.

STILL PLAYING:

"Avalon" (A+, PG, 126 minutes). Excellent film chronicles an immigrant family's successes and failures in America.
"Child's Play 2" (*, R). "Chucky" returns.
"Dances With Wolves" (A, PG-13, 180 minutes). Kevin Costner's magnificent ode to brotherhood and brutality on America's western frontier during and after the Civil War.
"Ghost" (A-, PG-13, 116 minutes). Banker's ghost (Patrick Swayze) hangs around after life to protect loved one (Demi Moore). Spiritualist (Whoopi Goldberg) helps him in this romantic-comedy/thriller.

"GoodFellas" (B+, R, 145 minutes). Martin Scorsese's intense, compelling saga of three mobsters. Fine production techniques and excellent performances by Robert DeNiro, Joe Pesci and Ray Liotta notwithstanding, they are bad guys.

"Gaffiti Bridge" (*, PG-13). Written and directed by Prince, who also stars in another production for his fans and his pocketbook.

"Hearty and June" (C, NC-17, 135 minutes).

"The King of New York" (R, 103 minutes).

"The Krays" (*, R). Twins run vicious underworld empire in London.

"Memphis Belle" (D+, PG-13, 100 minutes).

"Misery" (D+, PG-13, 100 minutes). Story of writer and obsessed fan waffles back and forth from psychotic thriller to slasher epic.

"The Nightcracker Prince" (G). Animated fantasy based on Tchaikovsky's classical ballet.

"Predator 2" (C+, R, 98 minutes). The hunt continues, this time in the urban jungle of 1997 Los Angeles.

"Quigley Down Under" (D, PG-13). Humorous, trite western with Tom Selleck in Australia.

"Rescuers Down Under" (*, G). Disney animation has Bernard and Miss Bianca off to Australia to save rare eagle from poacher.

"Reversal of Fortune" (C, R, 110 minutes).

"Robot Jox" (*, PG-13, 87 minutes). Post-apocalyptic tale of gigantic robots settling international disputes.

"Rocky V" (C+, PG-13, 100 minutes). Stallone takes another licking but keeps on ticking.

"The Rookie" (D, R, 115 minutes). Travel beyond belief in this super-macho cop-film with rookie (Charlie Sheen) working with veteran (Clint Eastwood).

Diane Ford: Making people laugh, then and now

By Shirlee Rose Iden
staff writer

Some people gravitate into show business and others are born to it.

Thirty years ago, Diane Ford's kindergarten teacher evaluated her young pupil by describing her as "having a good sense of humor and the ability to make all the other kids laugh."

Ford laughs herself and says, "I always could be a jokester."

Kindergarten for her was back in the state of Minnesota where she was born and grew up, and where her family welcomes her back from time to time.

A stand-up comedienne, she's still trying to make everyone laugh.

Despite the California address, Ford says she's "the hardy Midwestern type."

"But I've been living in California since I was 19," she added.

Ford left the Midwest for California when she married a young man from the West Coast who had been studying for a master's degree in Minnesota when she met him.

The comic, a graduate of an all-girl Catholic school, completed two semesters at the University of Minnesota herself before giving up on higher education.

PRESENTLY, SHE makes her home in Santa Monica where she enjoys being near the beaches — that is when she's home.

Ford puts a lot of frequent flyer miles on in the 35 weeks a year she spends traveling the country.

"When I'm on the road less than 35 weeks, I begin to think something's wrong," she said. "I don't even have pets because I have to pay just to get my plants watered when I'm away."

A 12-year veteran as a stand-up comic, Ford said she's earned a good living at it for nine years and scraped through the other three.

Through the lean years, her family has always been supportive and understanding, she said.

Ford has always done her own writing without much difficulty or too much writer's block either.

"I like being in all areas of show business. I would really like to be Woody Allen, but I'd never give up stand-up," she said.

Just breaking into television she has appeared on two half-hour comedy specials on HBO and on other stand-up shows and enjoys the TV medium.

"I'm just beginning to try out for sitcoms," said Ford, who added, "I'm pretty open to audiences and they usually seem to like me. I try to play the strong women and be a strong example."

"I like to make fun of macho situations that put down women."

FOLLOWING A second marriage to a man from Michigan, Ford is presently single. Her free moments are spent going to movies and shopping.

"And I love to cook," she said. "I do gourmet cooking and love to try new recipes and interesting combinations and flavors."

From Dec. 18-23, she'll perform at Mark Ridley's Comedy Castle and expects to feel pretty festive about that.

"I have a lot of friends in Michigan since my second husband was from there," she said. "It'll be tough leaving the warm sunshine, but I'm accustomed to it. 'If there's snow, well I'm the hardy Midwestern type and I don't mind snow, if I see it because I choose to visit.'"

Little did Diane Ford's kindergarten teacher know that her observation of the youngster as having a good sense of humor be the prelude to a career in comedy.

VIDEO VIEWING

By Dan Greenberg
special writer

The controversy that swept through the motion picture business last summer with a half dozen films receiving an X rating from the MPAA Ratings Council has had a different impact on the home video market.

Distributors of films like "Tie Me Up! Tie Me Down!" "Henry, Portrait of a Serial Killer," "Henry and June," "The Cook, The Thief . . ." and several others rejected X ratings and chose to market their merchandise as "unrated."

Theaters that would not or could not screen X-rated films had no problem with unrated motion pictures. The ensuing brouhaha led to the establishment of the NC-17 designation, no children under 17 admitted.

Videotape distributors, of course, are not bound by the constraints of theatrical distribution and have long used MPAA ratings while distributing "uncut" versions side-by-side with R-rated films. Use of NC-17 varies with some waiting to see how attitudes evolve while others are leaping right in, knowing quite well that sensationalism sells.

There's a hypocritical view in our culture that it's OK to expose children to violence but not to sexuality and the NC-17 rating is supposed to deal with that by signifying serious, mature topics considered inappropriate for the younger set without stigmatizing them with an X, long considered the hallmark of pornography.

IF THAT'S THE case then RCA/Columbia Pictures Home Video made the correct decision in publicizing its distribution of Pedro Almodovar's ("Women on the Verge of a Nervous Breakdown") "Tie Me Up! Tie Me Down!" (1990, color, 103 minutes, in Spanish with English subtitles) as an NC-17, the rating the film ultimately received after rejecting an X.

Clearly, the film is explicit and toys with everyone's sensibilities but not for pornographic purposes. The rating is appropriate but that is not to be construed as advertising sensationalism. In "Tie Me Up! Tie Me Down!" Almodovar uses the explicit as well as the farcical to say a lot of interesting things about humanity.

Ricky (Antonio Banderas) is the classic outsider — orphaned at three, juvenile home at eight, mental asylum as a teenager. As the film opens he is released as cured according to the court order that is his ticket to freedom.

Ricky has a way with the ladies but is obsessed with Marina (Victoria Abril), a reformed junkie and porno star who is appearing in a horror film directed by Maximo. Her sister, Lola is the film's line producer.

Maximo, a great film director in the classic European tradition, is confined to a wheelchair since his recent stroke. This horror film within the film is his comeback but destined to be his last. His passion for Marina masks his reluctance to complete the film.

BUT MAXIMO'S ardor for Marina pales in comparison to Ricky's who stalks Marina on the set of the horror film in an extremely effective sequence commenting on illusion and reality in our lives — what is real and how do we know we're not being fooled by someone who has a bill of goods to sell?

Ricky kidnaps Marina in her own apartment and announces that eventually she will love him, they will marry and have children. Pretty cheeky, don't you think? While it may sound bizarre, Almodovar's direction creates excitement and tension.

Although captivity is threatening and unpleasant, Ricky is sincere and does try to please Marina. But the film's title and style telegraphs that eventually Ricky will prevail. When he does, unfortunately, Marina's transition from captive to lover is much too abrupt and doesn't fit the film's realistic style.

Aside from the glitch, "Tie Me Up! Tie Me Down!" is an excellent film alternating violence, humor and compassion quite effectively. Its well-taken commentary on the hell people can and do create for themselves is one significant point Almodovar makes.

BUT HIS MOST important concept relates to the ways in which we are imprisoned within ourselves and within our own homes. That we enjoy that captivity is an even more telling irony.

"Tie Me Up! Tie Me Down!" on cassette is an opportunity to view an exceptional film that didn't last very long at the theaters.

Catching up on video releases this month, MGM/UA Home Video released three new cassettes earlier this month including Bob Hope in "The Road to Hong Kong" (1962, black and white, no rating, 91 minutes). The first "Road" picture in 10 years, this was the last of that series. It features Bob and Bing as well as Dorothy Lamour, Joan Collins and Peter Sellers.

"The Long, Long Trailer" (1954, color, no rating, 103 minutes) stars Lucy and Desi along with Marjorie Main and Keenan Wynn in a humorous honeymoon story with a trailer that won't quit.

Surprisingly, the Peter O'Toole-Peter Sellers-Woody Allen vehicle, "What's New Pussycat?" (1965, color, no rating, 108 minutes) is appearing for the first time on video cassette. This was Woody Allen's film acting and writing debut. The title song was nominated for an Oscar and the movie features Romy Schneider, Capucine, Paula Prentiss and Ursula Andress.

Four classic gangster films are available for the first time on home video from CBS/Fox. "House of Strangers" (1949, black and white, no rating, 101 minutes) stars Edward G. Robinson, Richard Conte, Luther Adler and Susan Hayward in a story of a ruthless financier who uses his four sons to further his schemes.

"KISS OF DEATH" (1947, black and white, no rating, 98 minutes) also has an all-star cast with Richard Widmark in his first role. Victor Mature is a thief and Brian Donlevy is the D.A.

Nominated for two Oscars, "Panic in the Streets" (1950, black and white, no rating, 93 minutes) also stars Richard Widmark along with Barbara Bel Geddes, Jack Palance, Zero Mostel and Paul Douglas. The screenplay for this story of the New Orleans waterfront won an Oscar.

Finally, for viewers with a big appetite for old gangster films, "Seven Thieves" (1960, black and white, no rating, 102 minutes) features Edward G. Robinson as the master criminal on the international crime scene with Joan Collins, Eli Wallach and Rod Steiger helping him out.

The first film to receive the controversial NC-17 rating is the story of writer Henry Miller (Fred Ward) and his bizarre relationship with his wife (Uma Thurmond).

Season's Greetings

The Holidays are many things to many people. There are those who seek peace within themselves and fervently hope for a peaceful solution to the world's problems.

Many little ones anticipate the arrival of a red-suited elf and the toys that fill his pack.

More of us than the cynics would have us believe look for ways to help one another; to realize and acknowledge just how wonderfully individual each person is.

And, at this blessed time of year, all of us focus on our family traditions, beliefs and values.

It is our wish that your holidays are filled with the magic of your childhood and that the coming year holds many special moments.

A 'Dickens' of good time along Holly's Battle Alley

By Phyllis Kregor Stillman
special writer

"Roasted chestnuts! Get your hot roasted chestnuts here, mate!"
"Hot cider! Warm your hands on a cup of hot cider!"

Dirty faced merchants hawking their wares from outdoor booths on a cold December day, wearing knickers and torn gloves. Street people entertaining the crowds then passing the hat. Sleigh rides behind horses, jingling with bells.

The little pedestrian alley looks and sounds like a scene from a Dickens' novel. You might even expect to see Scrooge walking purposefully to work, scornfully eyeing Christmas decorations and chiding holiday shoppers.

In Holly's Battle Alley that's exactly what you'll see, but watch out, Scrooge doesn't take kindly to folks who aren't working, and he's not afraid to tell them so!

Holly is offering the Christmas spirit to visitors to the little town. With a downtown which boasts Victorian storefronts, Holly is a natural for the Dickens Olde Fashioned Christmas Festival. Joining Scrooge are other characters — the Christmas Ghosts, Bob Cratchit, Tiny Tim and Old Marley — in tales of a Dickens' Christmas.

MOST OF THE activities center around Battle Alley, which was originally known as Martha Street. In the early 1900s, Martha Street was lined with bars and taverns. Holly was a railroad town in those days, with two different lines running through the village.

Railroad workers would visit the taverns on Martha Street. Later, when spirits were high, fights would break out between groups from the two railroads. After a particularly raucous brawl, Martha Street became Battle Alley.

Now Battle Alley is home to all kinds of shops, selling romantic Victorian merchandise, antiques and gifts.

During the Dickens Festival, the alley is also crowded with outdoor merchants. Many provide food — baked potatoes with all the trimmings, chargrilled sausage sandwiches, hot cider, funnel cakes, spiced almonds and, of course, roasted chestnuts.

There's also booths with unique gifts. One sells ocarinas — small, round carved flutes. Another sells unusual kaleidoscopes, including a huge one on a pedestal. Still another sells handmade dolls.

The already festive atmosphere is enlivened more by all sorts of entertainment. There is a family of jugglers — a father and his two sons, who juggle a flaming torch, a fry pan and an egg, cooking the egg in the pan over the torch as a finale.

THERE IS A sword swallower, and you can stand up close while he swallows the torch and watch him struggle not to gag. There's also a myriad of choirs and carolers, and even a brass band.

One of the most outstanding acts in Battle Alley this year is the Imagine That! troupe — Gideon Quill and Mrs. Peerybingle. They snare hapless shoppers into helping them with a variety of comedy skits throughout the day. In one, Mrs. Peerybingle teaches manners to an impatient dragon. In another, greedy pirates sing about their exploits.

If you get hungry during the festival — in between your baked potato and funnel cake — the Holly Hotel is open for lunch and dinner. One of the cornerstones of Battle Alley, the hotel was originally built in 1891.

The structure has weathered several fires, reopening in 1980 after the last one as a restaurant only. The setting is clearly Victorian with lace curtains, stained glass in the windows, old-fashioned mirrors and prints and an axminster carpet.

The menu features many creative offerings — dishes like chicken strudel at lunch and roast lingonberry duck at dinner. The surroundings are beautiful, the service is pleasant, if somewhat slow, and the food is very good. Reservations are suggested during the festival. Call (313) 634-5208.

HOLLY RESIDENTS seem to enjoy the festival, which is in its 17th year, as much as the visitors. Volunteers serve as the Dickens characters and provide much of the entertainment, and most of the booths are manned by people from the area.

The whole town celebrates, decorated with simple, old-fashioned garlands and bows. Local people just seem to want to be there. Eve Dennison used to own one of the shops in Battle Alley. She's retired now, but has a booth during the Dickens Festival.

"I just love the festival," she said. "We're trying to give the impression of an old market where vendors shout and barter their wares."

They have hit that goal and surpassed it, creating for visitors just a wee bit of merry olde England and a lot of holiday fun.

The Dickens Olde Fashioned Festival continues on weekends until Christmas. The final weekend, which extends through Monday, Dec. 24, will be Father Christmas Weekend. Father Christmas, dressed in traditional green instead of the more modern red, will hand out gifts.

Dressed in 18th century clothing, carolers strike a "God Rest Ye Merry, Gentlemen" pose while singing.

Wearing a fur-trimmed green cape and a wreath made of holly, Dickens' Ghost of Christmas Present mingles with visitors to Holly's Battle Alley.

"SAY YOU HAVE a red piece of tattoo; when the beam is absorbed by the red, it's actually burning it," he explained. "If I can do it in several visits, I can just burn it gently each time then the person forms new skin."

"It has to be a period of time just enough to destroy some of the pigment and not the deep tissue."

Weissman, who recently retired from practice, said he removes the tattoo with a series of visits based on the size of the body marking. The average design, like an anchor on the arm, takes about a half dozen sittings that last about 20 minutes, spaced out by at least two weeks. That gives the skin a chance to develop a scab and the flesh to heal, he said.

There is no infection because bacteria can't exist at 10,000 degrees and there is no need for aftercare, he added. The total cost is $300.

Chris Page did a tattoo of a single rose on the ankle of his wife, Paula.

"The scarring is very little unlike the carbon dioxide laser (also used in tattoo removal) which is not color sensitive and will remove anything," Weissman said.

There is a layer of yellowish white fat beneath the epidermis, the outer layer of skin. The Argon laser beam, if it reaches that level, will bounce back, but a carbon dioxide laser won't, producing a major scar.

IN THE PAST, tattoos have been removed by surgery, skin abrasives, carbon dioxide laser and acid, but Weissman believes those may all be unnecessary with the Argon Laser.

But he stresses that it's not a miracle worker.

Persons considering a tattoo should take into consideration the advice of professionals like Welker about the permanency of the pattern selected. (A tattoo should be perfect in gloss and color for about 15 years.)

"It's a true mark, because we are not going to give the person the gorgeous skin that he or she had before the tattoo was applied," Weissman said.

Persons interested in tattoo removal using the Argon laser can contact Sinai Hospital's physicians referral number at (800) 248-3627.

tinued exposure to the sun can cause a tattoo to lose its glossy or colorful appearance.

"You can't tell how the person's skin is going to take color, whether the person is black or white," Woodlan said. "On a dark-skinned person some of the brightness isn't going to be as vivid in a lot of cases. But in some cases, it might not make much difference. It's more the body's metabolism."

mends tattoos in red, orange and green to his black customers.

There are sayings about the mixture of beauty, vanity and pain. No matter how professional, a tattoo artist can't prevent pain, but Woodlan said that what pain there is isn't bad.

"IT FEELS LIKE a sunburn while someone is scratching you," he said. "Your body produces a chemical, endorphin, the body's own morphine-like painkiller. As an artist continues to tattoo the skin, the body sends the endorphin chemical to that area and a natural numbing process begins."

By the time the outline is finished, the inner area about to be shaded and colored is so anesthetized that the rest of the procedure is relatively painless, Woodlan said.

Library display explores social history

Right: Andrew Koziol of Redford Township saves World War I collectibles, a hobby he began four years ago after reading the 1960s comic book, "Enemy Ace."

By Janice Tiger-Kramer
special writer

A COLLECTION of books and graphics offering a glimpse of U.S. social history of the past 200 years is on display through Jan. 15 at the main Detroit Public Library, 5201 Woodward, in the Detroit Cultural Center.

Ten local residents are among the 14 Detroit-area collectors whose memorabilia is included in the sixth annual exhibit, titled, "Detroiters Collect."

Sponsored by the Friends of the Detroit Public Library with the Michigan Center for the Book, the theme of this year's show is, "Americana."

"America is still young, so there is a variety of material to collect," said Dorothy Manty of the library's community relations department. "We want people to see that book collecting covers all subjects and can be a satisfying hobby."

Besides being a diverse show with displays ranging from automotive art and history to black genealogy, exhibitors have interesting and unexpected reasons for starting their collections, Manty said.

FOR ANDREW KOZIOL, 13, of Redford Township, the youngest exhibitor, collecting World War I material began four years ago after reading, "Enemy Ace," a comic book printed in the 1960s.

After his mother told him about Boy Allies, a series of war novels written for boys from 1915-19, Koziol began tracking down the books in local and out-of-town used book stores. He has 16 of the 26 volumes.

Besides owning about 200 books on the war, the Redford Catholic Central High School freshman collects war pictures and postcards, hats and uniform buttons.

"History has always been my favorite subject," Koziol said. "But I started my collection because, at the time, I didn't know of any other collectors."

His exhibit includes the first American edition of All Quiet on the Western Front printed in 1929.

FARMINGTON HILLS Mayor Jean Fox had a difficult time deciding what books to include in her exhibit about the country's founding fathers and famous poets.

Fox, author of several local history books, has a library of about 12,000 books, which mostly include American and English classics and American history books.

"I started collecting simply because I've always loved books and reading," said Fox. "As a child, I remember our house had bookcases filled on each side of the fireplace."

Included in her display are books about George Washington and Thomas Jefferson, a first edition by poet Henry Wadsworth Longfellow and a set of poetry books by James Whitcomb Riley. Fox also displays the poetry books of Edna St. Vincent Millay, which she bought at Hudson's in the 1940s for just $1.

George Weibel of Livonia became interested in American Indian tools and arrow heads as a child after spending the summer on his aunt's farm in the wooded, Missouri Ozarks south of St. Louis.

Weibel, assistant city attorney for Livonia, still visits the land that has been in his family since the Louisiana Purchase. Today, he brings his grandson along to search for artifacts.

"I've always liked to walk that country," Weibel said. "Collecting the artifacts was just something to do."

The display of books on Indian history, farming tools, hide scrapers, food grinders, axes and arrow heads represents about 20 percent of Weibel's collection.

WELDON PETZ, a former principal in the Farmington schools for 21 years, became interested in Abraham Lincoln at age 10 when his parents gave him a book about the 16th president. Petz did his master's dissertation on Lincoln. He now is a well-known lecturer and authority on the president.

"At first, I didn't realize I was a serious collector," Petz said. "My interest grew through the years."

Besides material on the Emancipation Proclamation, his display includes books on the president's youth, campaigns, family and public appeal.

A display of Michigan documents by Karl Pall of Farmington Hills includes the first Michigan Legislative Manual published in 1837.

It also includes an original Witherall Code, one of only 300 books printed in the 1800s that states the laws of the territory of Michigan.

Besides legislative documents, Pall displays the original sheet music of "Michigan My Michigan."

Pall began collecting the Michigan memorabilia in the 1950s at age 15 when he was a student of government in public administration at Wayne State University.

A representative for the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, a public employees union, Pall still uses many of the old books when doing research for speeches and papers.

"Many of the problems government faces today were problems in the past," he said.

OTHER LOCAL exhibitors include Eve Bloucourt of Birmingham, who displays textiles. Milton Shapiro of West Bloomfield displays a collection of Thomas Jefferson material, which he began collecting just five years ago.

An exhibit of genealogy material by Davene McKinney shows how the Southfield woman traced her family back eight generations to the 1700s. The display includes ancestry charts, census records, slave inventories and genealogy books.

Other collections include automotive art by Lee Kollins of Orchard Lake, and World's Fair memorabilia by Alex Krentzin of Birmingham.

Visitors also will see displays about World War II, the Detroit Police Department, the Broadside Press and black political campaigns.

Besides exhibits by Detroit collectors, the public library displays automotive history, original sheet music, material from the Burton Collection and several rare books.

Exhibit viewing hours in the third-floor exhibit hall are 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday-Saturday and 1-9 p.m. Wednesday. Admission is free.

Weldon Petz, a retired Farmington school principal, is a collector of Abraham Lincoln memorabilia.

Chart tasks to assure they're done by holiday

Q: Every year, I go into a quiet panic about whether I'll be ready for Christmas on time. This year is no exception. There's so much to do and so little time left to do it! Can you give me some insights that might help me?

A: The first thing you need to do is to calm down. Take a little time to pull back from the hubbub and find a quiet spot where you'll be undisturbed for a little while.

Close yourself off in your office or bedroom or sit in a bubble bath. If you can't find solitude at your home or office, take a long walk or go to the library or to a chapel.

Do some stress-relieving exercises such as taking some slow deep breaths and gently rolling your head and shoulders. Close your eyes and visualize yourself in a calm, serene, safe place free from any turmoil. Stay there mentally until you feel yourself calming down and your muscles relaxing.

Once the panic is gone and you can think more clearly, chart out the days left before Christmas on one or more sheets of paper. Begin writing in what you need to do, assigning those tasks to the days you want to get them done.

Dorothy Lehmkuhl

Next to each task, estimate the time to accomplish each one and add 20 percent for odds and ends. This will give you a realistic view of your time vs. your tasks.

As you list your items, think through the steps it will take to achieve each one. For instance, to bake cookies, you'll need the necessary ingredients.

If you don't have them, you need to make a shopping list and set aside time to buy them. For parties you'll attend, you'll want to set aside time ahead to assure your clothes will be ready, what you need to take, if you need a sitter and so forth.

Don't expect to complete this chart all at once. Make a good start, keep it close by and add to it as you go. Put the chart, with other associated papers, into a brightly colored folder for easy retrieval.

Each day, assign the specific times you'll tackle each task, starting with the most important items. If you have more things to do than you have time to do them, choose which actions to eliminate.

Don't keep delaying things because you'll end up with a terrible crash in the end. And don't stay up too late to accomplish everything because you'll end up exhausted and may ruin the holiday for you and those around you.

Christmas isn't the time for martyrdom, so be reasonable and ask yourself, "What will happen if I don't ress just fine without that one little nicety.

Keep telling yourself that, ready or not, Christmas will come and go and you'll get through it just fine. Laugh off things that don't get done with a hearty, "Ho, Ho, Ho!" And value most the people around you, not "things."

Dorothy Lehmkuhl is a Birmingham-based time management consultant.

Perhaps the most important area of your home to accessorize is the entryway; it sets the tone for the whole house.

Accessories: the most important furnishings

In this age of the eclectic interior, accessories may be your most important furnishings.

Pillows, throw rugs, collections on display, unusual lamps, intriguing wall decor — all make rooms more personal and interesting.

The key to a pulled-together look is to create a sense of continuity — using shapes, patterns, themes or colors.

For a country interior, for example, you might accessorize with rustic antiques or folk art items and place a handmade rag rug on the floor. You could drape your windows with lace and use lace to cover a table and throw pillows.

Repeating patterns is a subtle but effective way to create continuity. The obvious way to do this is to use the same material on several furnishings — for example, selecting a tablecloth to match your drapes. A more subtle but equally effective approach is to choose accessories with patterns (scrollwork, scallops, geometrics) found on woodwork, doors, mantels — even window panes and tiles.

Antiques are among the most in-demand accessories, perhaps because they convey a sense of time and history. To get ideas on accessorizing with antiques, tour historic houses or, whenever you travel, stay in period-decorated bed and breakfast inns.

One attractive practical trick used by innkeepers is to cover an antique tabletop with a custom cut piece of glass; between glass and tabletop, place a crocheted or lace doily. This forms a lovely base for a lamp or objet d'art.

TOUR THE ULTIMATE historic home, the Hearst Castle in California, and you'll see to-die-for art deco and Tiffany lamps and authentic collections of art objects from ancient civilizations. You can create the same look — without spending a king's ransom — with reproduction items found in gift and specialty shops.

Perhaps the most important area of your home to accessorize is the entryway; it sets the tone for the whole house. Tour model homes, and you'll see massive potted plants, huge vases or urns, expensive-looking oil paintings — all grouped artfully together just inside the front door.

Other secrets of model home designers include placing a dramatic object (such as a sculpture or floral arrangement) on the living room coffee table to create a focal point, using potted trees (real or artificial) to fill space in homes with vaulted ceilings, placing oversize pillows on sofas and beds to lend a sense of coziness and covering window cornice boxes with fabric that matches furnishings.

In the bathrooms of model homes, designers often roll towels and stuff them in baskets to lend a touch of luxury. In children's rooms, designers aim for impact with a strong theme, often emphasized by murals or wall graphics, plus something intriguing like a kite or miniature Kitty Hawk hanging from the ceiling.

Mirrors make rooms look larger; they also add light. They're normally hung at eye level as are paintings. Also consider covering an entire wall — or ceiling — with mirror tiles.

If you can't afford original art, start with posters — or if you're proud of a photograph you've taken, have it enlarged and framed. Family portraits, of course, are another option; you might want to place small ones in ornate frames and group them together.

ONE OF THE MOST effective room enhancers is a Persian or Oriental rug — it will make almost any interior look more luxurious. Buy the rug before choosing fabrics for the room because it's easier to match fabrics to a rug than vice versa.

Area rugs, in general, are important accent pieces. Did you know designs and colors can be custom ordered. It's possible to have a rug with the same colors and pattern as your wallpaper.

In wall coverings, the selection has never been greater. One unusual and currently popular option is trompe l'oeil (trick the eye). These designs, often similar to murals, have three-dimensional effect that adds depth — and a touch of drama or whimsy — to a room. Another trompe l'oeil effect, achieved either by wallpaper or hand painting, creates the look of a stone surface, such as marble, malachite or granite.

If you've ever felt frustrated because the linens, drapes and pillows that you need to make your home perfect aren't available, why not make your own? "The Complete Guide to Home Sewing" by Jeanne Argent (Chilton) has pages of practical suggestions and step-by-step diagrams for everything from slipcovers to tailored lampshades.

Another book, "Decorating with Fabric" by Caroline Clifton-Mogg and Melanie Paine (Prentice-Hall) is full of great ideas, even for non-sewers. For example, toss a bed sheet across a buffet table for a festive look; cover pillows with fashion scarves.

There are many ordinary objects you can transform into stunning room accessories. Brighten your kitchen by painting your child's wood highchair a sizzling color (select a tough high-gloss acrylic). Use a step stool as a plant stand; place silk flowers in unusual containers; replace standard door hardware with stamped brass or porcelain knobs and handles; jazz up your bathroom with a new sink and elegant faucets.

There are trends in accessories, just as in most decorative items. Currently, art glass, metal sculpture and anything ecology-themed (such as rain-forest-pattern patterns) is in vogue. Also, items designed by famous architects — such as linens, dinnerware and tea kettles — are popular status accessories.

Economy forces designers to turn to residential work

By R.J. King
special writer

Black and red, as color partners, look as equally smart on sports cars as they do on evening dresses. But what about an entire office done in those two colors?

That's right. Everything inside the offices of Schaerer Design Inc., an interior design firm in Birmingham, is black and red — including cabinets, cushions, staplers, tables, chairs, tape dispensers, even the Rolodex.

"You normally don't see this kind of behavior in an office setting," said Bob Schaerer, the straight-faced president who drew the color scheme from a Sioux Indian blanket, a gift from his grandfather.

But while Schaerer's use of black and red for his own office points to both presentation and practicality, it also serves as a symbol, however contrived, of where the design industry is headed.

Heading a looming recession, escalating oil prices, the prospect of war in the Middle East and threats of recession, the industry, like most others, is finding itself having to adapt or risk stagnation.

Schaerer admits commercial design, which makes up so much of his business, is beginning to slow.

"People are more cautious in the corporate world today," he said. There's work out there, but it's more elusive. At the same time, as the economy gets leaner and meaner, we're switching more to residential and remodeling as opposed to designing the interiors of new commercial buildings."

INTERIOR DESIGN, like its sibling counterpart, architecture, is one of those industries that is insulated from economic tremors to an extent by reason of some unique forces.

Designers ride the wave of new office and commercial developments in a strong economy at the expense of taking on residential work. This becomes clear considering it is easier to work on a $28 million project than 14 projects priced at $2 million each.

But during a recession, new office developments slow while residential still offers options, and may even increase as people, forced to spend more time at home during an economic tremor, choose to ready the house for the next boom.

"There are a lot of forces at work, but because a recession might upset vacation plans or formal entertainment plans, people are around the house more saying, 'Gee, we can't afford to move up but we can invest in that addition and we'll be better off when the market turns,'" Schaerer explained.

AND WHILE SALES volumes are larger at the commercial end, and with it profit margins, interior designers are more than happy to renovate older rooms or design new additions — for some work is always better than no work at all.

Lou DesRosiers, president of DesRosiers Architects, Birmingham, sees his firm diversifying in the coming years.

"If there's anything we learned from the last recession, it's that you have to be ready to make adjustments," DesRosiers said.

"We find a lot of people want to take on interior design in their own homes. We offer everything from color impact to finding the right finish for a dresser or bureau."

Colorworks will presents workshops on Jan. 23 and 30. The first session covers construction and includes selecting a builder and architect; designing a purchase agreement; financing; specifications; cost-effective extras; where to cut corners; scheduling and contractors; and warranties.

The second is on design and includes selecting the basics; cost vs. design, function and durability; color impact; finishes; layout and choosing a designer.

One session is $20, or $25 per couple. Both sessions are $30 per person or $35 per couple. Design students and design professionals can attend for $10 per session with identification. For information, call 851-7540.

Caution is urged at condo auction

Can you give us an idea of the feasibility of bidding on a condominium at an auction?

Watch out. First, you will no doubt have to waive your nine-day cooling off period that you normally get when you sign to buy a condominium from a developer. Also, there is, no doubt, a reason why the unit is being auctioned, presumably at below market value. While this may be merely a marketing ploy, it may also be an indication of severe problems in regard to the marketability of the units. You are best advised to inquire into the nature an extent of the viability of the condominium project before you even consider going to the auction. Buying a pig in a poke, even at a reduced price, will not help you, although there is the possibility that a good bargain can be obtained. All of the considerations that a normal purchaser would have to review in buying a condominium should be undertaken by a prospec-

Who cares what time it is?

Now you can place your Observer & Eccentric Classified Ad 24 hours a day!

Here's how it works:
 First, you must have a touch-tone telephone.
 Then, all you do is call us - remember, it doesn't make any difference if we're not here - to place an ad, cancel one or change something on one you've placed earlier.
 Let's say it's 10 o'clock at night and you've just realized that you forgot to include the fact that the car you're selling has air conditioning. It's a good selling point, so you punch up our classified number and wait for the operator to guide you through the steps for changing your ad. Have in mind the exact information you want to give us, speak clearly and a bit slower than you usually do. And that's it.
 If it's after 5:00 p.m. on Tuesday, your changes will be made for the next Monday paper. Or, if it's after 5:00 p.m. on a Friday or the weekend, your changes will hit the Thursday papers.
 Pretty neat, huh?
 Of course, our Classified Ad Takers are here every Monday through Friday from 8:00 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. But now, if you miss them, you can still do something about your ad - at your convenience.

HOROSCOPE

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)

You are eager to begin a new work project. This is a lucky time for you in love relationships. Remember that special gift for a loved one.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)

There is probably more action in your life than you can stand right now, but don't worry, you'll come out a real winner in all areas.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)

Your imagination is at an all-time high and can work for you in many ways. Don't delay a tedious project, it'll be over before you know it.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)

Stay out of a friend's romantic problems. You are good at helping others, but sometimes you need to help yourself even more.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)

You may continue to feel pressured, but by Friday it will all seem worthwhile. Your efforts have been noticed.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)

Paperwork may seem more of a headache than it's worth, but stick to it. Be firm, but polite, when dealing with family members who live far away.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)

Don't seek revenge against others. The consequences are not worth it. Problems with a loved one may be resolved just by listening.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)

Business partners aren't seeing things clearly. It is important you realize a loved one could be under great pressure from an outside source.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)

Attend to even the most minor of details. At the week's end you'll have a feeling of accomplishment. Take time out to play during the weekend.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)

This is an exciting time, but you may not always feel a part of it. Listen to your heart and you'll discover new things about yourself.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22)

Libras need a great deal of patience, especially when dealing with loved ones. Watch out for arguments and avoid confrontation if you can.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21)

Lighten up. It is time to kick back and relax. Don't let others dissuade your pursuit of pleasure. Let someone else take over.

Cable Comments

By LARK L. SAMOUELIAN
Executive Director,
SW Oakland Cable Comm.

Once a person becomes aware that they are able to express themselves artistically they become willing and even curious to try alternative mediums. Laura Novak is such a person. Laura is an amateur writer who is attempting to write murder mysteries. She took a writing class in which the instructor suggested that she try her hand at public access television. She then took MetroVision classes with 14 other people.

The television instructors suggested that each person would be more successful in following through with the television experience if they used their personal interests or causes to create a show.

Being a proud mother of twins, Laura created her first program around this subject which is dear to her heart. It made the learning easier and more fulfilling. She followed with two other children's shows, entitled 'Twins: Seeing, Being Double', 'Children's Christmas Celebration' and 'Children's Halloween Special'.

Laura then decided to tackle a more difficult project. She decided to create a documentary style, entertainment special. The theme of her show was an historical musical presentation written and performed by Candace Anderson. Laura secured a grant from the Southwestern Oakland Cable Commission to bring Ms. Anderson to our facilities.

Laura Novak's program is entitled "A Michigan Sampler... Pioneer Women: Their Lives through song". Candace Anderson is an historian in the Kalamazoo College Area. She researched pioneer women's lives and shared their experiences through song. This led her into their homes, their diaries and their letters.

"Listening to her songs makes one feel as if they were back in time," says Laura.

One song is about a Michigan Black woman who was a slave, had no education and could not read. As a slave she grew up and watched all her children sold into slavery. This woman was one of the speakers at a convention where the women wanted a chance to vote. The woman in charge of the convention heard that she was a great speaker and scheduled her to speak. The crowd was shocked because she was Black, however she prevailed with her eloquence and opinions on voting and she received a standing ovation. From this song you get a feeling of history and you feel like you know the person. Candace's songs are about these kinds of

Kennedy Center honors performing artists

Katharine Hepburn among honorees

By Mary Ann Townsend

President John F. Kennedy had a dream that one day the performing arts would be duly recognized in this country. To that end, he helped establish the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in Washington, D.C.

Years ago at a fund-raiser for the center, Kennedy said, "I look forward to an America which will not be afraid of grace or beauty... which will reward achievement in the arts as we reward achievement in business or statecraft."

His dream has become a reality.

For 13 years, the Kennedy Center has been recognizing those who have excelled in the fields of dance, theater, opera, motion pictures and television in the annual "Kennedy Center Honors: A Celebration of the Performing Arts." This year's honors show, a GM Mark of Excellence Presentation, airs Friday, Dec. 28, on CBS.

The five honorees are jazz trumpeter Dizzy Gillespie, actress Katharine Hepburn, opera star Rise Stevens, composer Jule Styne and screen writer Billy Wilder. Walter Cronkite will host.

At the "Kennedy Center Honors," taped Dec. 2 at the Kennedy Center Opera House, legendary actress Hepburn was moved to emotion when, for the first time ever, she viewed a clip of her Oscar-winning performance in "Guess Who's Coming to Dinner." It was not her performance that moved her, but the fact it was the final film of Spencer Tracy, her co-star in nine films.

Hepburn is known for openly expressing her thoughts and feelings. The second of six children, Hepburn was born Nov. 8, 1907 in Hartford, Conn. to unorthodox parents who encouraged candidness in their family.

Her parents were crusaders. Father Thomas, a distinguished surgeon, pioneered public education about venereal disease; mother Katharine tirelessly pushed for women's rights and birth control. It was at a women's suffrage rally that the then 8-year-old Katharine first performed publicly.

By the time she entered her mother's alma mater, Bryn Mawr College, in 1924, Hepburn had considered following in her father's footsteps, but looked at her prospects realistically. "I knew at that time I wouldn't have gone to a woman surgeon," she reasoned. "I felt, 'Well, I better dump that, and I

Q: I am writing to inquire about the actor James Garner. I remember some months ago he had heart surgery. However, I haven't seen anything or heard about him in the news or in magazines. Did he go back to acting after his surgery? One other question. When and how did Richard Long of The Big Valley die? —Dixie Muellerleile, Mankato, Minn.

A: I may have missed something along the way, but I don't think James Garner ever had heart surgery. In 1984 he starred with Mary Tyler Moore in the ABC Movie Special Heartsounds, the story of Dr. Harold Lear, who suffered and lived through a series of heart attacks. Garner recently starred in the NBC Hallmark Hall of Fame presentation Decoration Day. Richard Long succumbed to a heart ailment Dec. 21, 1974. He was 47 years old.

Q: What can you tell me about a young lady called Erin Moran from Happy Days? She is married and lives in Ventura County. I would like to have her address so that I may write to her. —John Daniels, Chicago, Ill.

A: Mr. Daniels, I must tell you, I have received all your letters requesting this address, and believe me I have looked. Your best chance of receiving information about her is to write to: Screen Actors Guild, 7065 Hollywood Blvd., Hollywood, CA 90028. Meanwhile, I will ask the readers of this column if they have information on Erin to please write me and I will pass it on to you.

said, 'I'd better become an actor. So I did.'

For Hepburn and the entertainment industry, it was a wise move.

More than five decades, the actress has made an indelible mark on the silver screen. Hepburn's credits include more than 40 feature films (many of which are considered classics), numerous TV movies and more than 30 stage productions. Nominated for 12 Oscars and winner of four, she has obviously achieved quality as well as quantity.

"My career has wavered around, stumbled, fallen, picked itself up, crawled back and jumped," the actress summarized. "If I'm confused about some things, I'm sure about one thing. I'm a professional actress. I'm an amateur painter, an amateur sculptress, but as an actress, I'm a professional."

FAMILY FAIR

Week filled with holiday specials

By Lee Irby

Frosty, that "jolly, happy soul" whose old silk hat full of magic has turned him into a musical Christmas legend, demonstrates his unique showmanship in the popular holiday perennial Frosty the Snowman. The animated special is narrated by Jimmy Durante and is to be rebroadcast Wednesday, Dec. 19, on CBS.

Comedian Jackie Vernon provides the voice for Frosty in the musical Christmas fable based on the popular song of the same title by Jack Rollins and Steve Nelson.

Another Christmas favorite, A Charlie Brown Christmas, is back this year. Charlie and Linus weed through all the commercialized trees to find the true, unornamented meaning of the Yuletide season. The show is also broadcast on Dec. 19 on CBS.

For a true trip back to the past, tune in to The Judy Garland Christmas Show on The Disney Channel, Sunday, Dec. 16. Legendary singer Judy Garland will be featured in a series of specials on The Disney Channel's Sunday Night Showcase. Garland performs holiday melodies with her children Liza Minnelli and Lorna and Joey Luft. She also gives a moving rendition of "Over the Rainbow."

TBS is showing a plethora of Christmas movies all week including Pocketful of Miracles, The Bells of St. Mary's, Miracle on 34th Street, A Little House Christmas, A Christmas Story and It's a Wonderful Life. *TV Listings Inc.

STAR NOTES

Dana Delany put feature films on hold

By Candace Havens

Dana Delany has the face of an angel, but she is best known for playing the tough nurse Colleen McMurphy in ABC's China Beach.

Delany received an Emmy in 1989 as best actress in a drama for the role. Born in New York City, the actress prepped at Phillips Andover Academy and majored in theater at Wesleyan University. After college, she returned to New York, where she remained for seven years, appearing in the daytime dramas Love of Life and As the World Turns.

She also performed on Broadway in A Life and in the off-Broadway production of Bloodmoon. That play then moved to Santa Monica, Calif., where Delany caught the eye of James Keach and was cast as Keith Carradine's girlfriend in the TV movie A Winner Never Quits.

She went on to make several feature films including Moon Over Parador, Masquerade and Patty, the story of Patty Hearst in which Delany plays a member of the Symbionese Liberation Army.

Delany was hesitant about putting her movie career on hold to take the role of McMurphy. She had created a minor sensation playing Tom Selleck's girlfriend in a couple of episodes of Magnum, P.I.

It proved to be a good move, since her movies didn't fare well at the box office and China Beach became an immediate success. *TV Listings Inc.

Michael J. Fox turns back the hands of time in Back to the Future, Sunday on NBC.

TIME OUT

Rams subject to 49ers' revenge

By Steve Paschal

The world champion San Francisco 49ers will have an opportunity for revenge Monday night when they travel to Anaheim, Calif., for a rematch with the Los Angeles Rams on ABC's Monday Night Football.

It was the Rams, along with the Philadelphia Eagles, who threw a monkey wrench into the much-anticipated showdown between the 49ers and New York Giants with upset victories Thanksgiving weekend. The Giants and 49ers were just one game away from the first-ever meeting between two 11-0 teams when the Eagles upset the Giants and the Rams took San Francisco. To make matters worse, the Rams stopped the 49ers just one game shy of setting an all-time record for consecutive victories. San Francisco had won 18 straight to tie a record set twice by the Chicago Bears and equalled by the 1971-73 Miami Dolphins.

Despite the loss, the 49ers still have an iron grip on first place in the NFC West and appear on course for another record-setting playoff appearance. The Rams, once thought to be a shoe-in for the playoffs, got off to a dismal start and are battling just to make it to post-season play as a wild card team.

Sunday, CBS features a schedule of regional games that begins with either Atlanta at Cleveland, Minnesota at Tampa Bay or Phoenix at Dallas followed by Green Bay at Philadelphia. *TV Listings Inc.

49ers quarterback Joe Montana (16) is set to take on the L.A. Rams on ABC's Monday Night Football.

BITS AND PIECES

Arnold Schwarzenegger adds muscle to action in the Middle East

Operation Desert Shield troops will no longer heave pails of sand to pump themselves up, thanks to actor Arnold Schwarzenegger. He rounded up 50 tons of weightlifting equipment for the U.S. troops in Saudi Arabia.

ABC has killed off Cop Rock two episodes short of Steven Bochco's 13-episode order. The final telecast of the cop musical will air on Dec. 26. Look for Equal Justice to move into the Wednesday time slot.

The Hollywood Foreign Press Association Board of Directors has chosen Jack Lemmon as the recipient of the 1991 Cecil B. DeMille Award, given annually in recognition of outstanding contributions to the entertainment field. The award will be presented at the 48th Annual Golden Globe Awards ceremony, to be held Jan. 19, in Los Angeles.

On Saturday, Jan. 5, moviegoers across the country will be able to vote for their favorite feature films and artists, based on the 10 top-grossing films of 1990. Ballots will be cast in 3,000 United Artists, AMC and Cineplex Odeon Theatres. Moviegoers' favorites will be revealed on a new awards show, The Movie Awards, which will be broadcast Jan. 29 on CBS.

Arnold Schwarzenegger

Delta Burke and Gerald McRaney will star as a couple inadvertently embroiled in a murder mystery set against a New Orleans backdrop in Love and Curses, a romantic comedy now in development for future broadcast on CBS. McRaney will direct.

Martin Mull will provide the voice of Dad on the new half-hour animated comedy series Family Dog, now in production for future broadcast on CBS. The series centers on the day-to-day concerns of a nameless family dog.

Michigan Pioneer Women. Other examples are a fur trader, underground railroad lady, and the woman who started Michigan's first Catholic Church.

The crew for the show fell in love with Candace Anderson, because she was so personable. Her premise is that true appreciation of the happenings of today can only come with an understanding of what came before.

Candace performs her songs in period costume, thereby visually capturing the imagination and emotions of the television viewer.

This was Laura Novak's fifth program. Her plans include involvement with local theatre groups as they become more familiar with videotaping their original works or public domain works. We can also look forward to seeing another Christmas program which will keep our spirits bright.

From week to week we will hear of more individuals who inspire others to share their creativity through the medium of Community Television, which richly appreciates all of the arts.

SOAP TALK

Daytime TV losing actors to hopes of success in prime time

By Candace Havens

You win some. You lose some. Daytime television is definitely on a losing streak as far as its top stars are concerned. Everybody wants to hit the big time, and most are heading to L.A. to discover their dream. Chances are, most are going to be sadly disappointed in the outcome.

It all began a few months ago when Days of Our Lives lost Stephen Nichols (Patch). Now they are losing a heartthrob of young and old, Billy Hufsey (Emilio).

It seems Hufsey is leaving because the daytime program ties down his schedule too much and he isn't as free to do other things as he would like to be. He reportedly had to turn down more than five feature films because the show's execs wouldn't let him off for an extended period of time.

All My Children is losing Michael Knight (Tad), yet again. Knight is also looking for work in prime time and films, but he's keeping his home base in New York. Much like Hufsey, Knight left the soap once before and returned when things didn't pan out the way he thought they might.

The folks at Guiding Light aren't faring much better. Michael O'Leary (Rick) has given notice and plans a relocation to Los Angeles. The part will be recast, hopefully by Christmas.

Early next year Robert Newman (Josh) is also relocating to L.A. to pursue a career in prime time. Newman spent some time out West earlier this year and was a great success in his two-show stint on Hunter.

And as if that weren't enough, Loving's Perry Stephens (Jack) isn't renewing his contract. You'll never guess where he's heading — L.A., of course! He recently married his long-time fiancée, Jenny Jackson, and now he's ready to try his luck in prime time and feature films. The show's execs haven't decided what to do with the character, so they are not going to do anything for now.

I want to hear from you! If you have a favorite soap scenario you would like to sound off about, or a question about the soaps, write to Candace Havens, Soap Talk, P.O. Box 17748, Fort Worth, TX 76102-0748.

LET'S TALK

Roger Whittaker backs efforts to save African black rhino

By Polly Vonetes

Q: I have read that Roger Whittaker's new album will be available in record stores. I thought he only sells his records on TV. He was truly wonderful in concert here in Los Angeles. At the concert, he mentioned he was an environmentalist and gets involved in good causes. Could you tell me what causes he is associated with and where I can send him correspondence? —Sid Shiner, Los Angeles, Calif.

A: No, Roger Whittaker's records are available in record stores across the country. Living and Loving, his newest recording, will be available in January, 1991, under the Capitol/Nashville label. Currently available is I'd Fall In Love Tonight, released under the Universal Records banner. He is active in efforts to help save the endangered African black rhino. Proceeds from program sales at concerts and recording royalties are donated to the Rhino Rescue Trust to create sanctuaries for the rhino in Kenya. Write to him: c/o Flo Selfman Public Relations, 330 Washington St., No. 400, Marina del Rey, CA 90292.

Q: For the last four years I have been watching Wheel of Fortune trying to find out how to write in and become a contestant. I watch every day and have not been able to find out what I need to do. I feel that I am a very comparable contestant and need to be on the show. —Danny Moore, Nacogdoches, Texas

A: You aren't the only one who has become frustrated looking for this information. All you would-be contestants write to: Wheel of Fortune, c/o Merv Griffin Enterprises, 1541 Vine St., Los Angeles, CA 90028.

Q: Please settle a dispute for us; recently we have seen Abe Vigoda star on a couple of shows. A few of us were under the impression that he passed away. Is he still living? —E., Rhineland, Wis.

A: Poor Abe, they have been burying him since Barney Miller went off the air. Born in 1921, he is an active senior-citizen actor of just 69 years.

Send your questions about the world of entertainment to: Polly Vonetes, Let's Talk, P.O. Box 17748, Fort Worth, Texas 76102-0748. Because of the volume of mail, only questions of general interest can be answered.
