Amoro Oil Co has agreed to pay Ralph Lorenz and Lorenz Square $600,000 in damages and to lean up contamination caused by eiking underground storage tanks state Department of Natural Reit Amoco's closed service station at Main Street and Ann Arbor Trail replacing oil-damaged sump pumps and drain tiles at the Meeting House He lost numerous tenants who complained of fuel oil fumes and health problems at the Meeting House

Since 1979, the area has been listed as a contaminated site by the sources

THE OUT-OF-COURT settlement was reached May 9, a few weeks before the case was scheduled to be tried by U.S. District Judge Patrick Duggan

I'd say the beauty of this settlement is that it was done via a con sent judgment, which means Judge Duggan will have his contempt powers available for the cleanup in the event things don't proceed as they should," said Michael Southerland, Lorenz's attorney

The consent judgment reads that Amoco will clean up the site according to whatever standards are required by the DNR. And it includes sanctions for non-compliance with the court. The dilemma is, we don't know yet what will be required '

UNDER THE consent decree. Amoco agrees to "mitigate and minmize threats to and provide ade-

"He and my father went to Washington (DC) to get funding for the city hall," said Paul Sincock, assist ant city manager. His father Robert preceded Wernette as mayor The old city hall was on Chur Street, the roof was falling down Sincock said Jabara recalls the period as a time when "things went along smoother You didn't have the controversy we had in recent years In announcing Wernette's election as mayor, the Plymouth Mail de scribed him as "a straight-from-the shoulder talker and a down-to-earth thinker Helen Hayes of Garden City was jumping for joy when her grandson, Kenneth Hayes made a surprise visit recently after returning from the Gulf War.

She was working at a drugstore and literally leaped over the counter to greet him.

AND SHE has ideas about how to prevent any future problems with Iraqi leader Saddam Hussein.

"I'd like to go over there and blow him apart," she said sitting across from Hayes, who was flanked by his parents Mary and Ron in their Canton living room.

Hayes said he walked away from

Kenneth Hayes picked up his brand new Escort GT Monday, a few days after returning home from the Persian Gulf. his war experience with two things he'll always have: Lifelong friends and memories of dead bodies lying in the streets. Hayes was at the front serving in the Army First Infanrty when the war began.

"We saw a lot of destruction and a lot of death. It was crazy.

"The dead bodies and stuff, that's something I'll never forget and Kuwait City was totally demolished."

He was amazed, too, to see Iraqi children, some as young as 12 years old, fighting.

Hayes grimace turned into a smile when he explained that U.S. troops followed Iraqi restrictions on magazines and liquor while the British troops ignored the rules and traded the scarce commodities.

Home for four days Monday, Hayes planned to pick up a brand new Escort GT. Future plans include finishing the remaining six months of his enlistment, and hopefully, getting a job in the area. If a job doesn't surface, Hayes said, he'll re-enlist. Intially, he joined the Army to help pay his college tuition. But, when he was shipped to the war zone, Hayes said, he knew he couldn't back out.

"We had people who didn't want to go," Hayes said. "I signed up, I knew I had to go. I was going to do my job."

HE SHOOK his shortly cropped head when he recalled the fear that overwhelmed him after hearing the allied forces were going to attack. But Hayes said if he had the chance to turn back the clocks, he would enlist again.

The support from people back home was tremendous, he said. While he appreciated the letters and packages that poured in from family and strangers, the most special delivery, by far, was a banner that spanned the length of his tent. It was sent by his brother, Shaun, 8, and his classmates at Gallimore Elementary School.

Hayes plans to personally thank those students, as well as, youngsters in a Sagniaw elementary school who became pen pals.

While Hayes was in the Saudi desert, his family worried constantly. His mom joined a Canton support group to help her through the toughest times. At a rally last February, she said: "I've had a really hard time dealing with this. There are days that all I do is cry. I hold a lot of it in and I get to the point that you need someone to talk to."

On Monday, Mary Hayes, was all smiles. She said she was thrilled when she learned that the war ended. "But I didn't realize that he was still in a bad situation," she said referring to Iraqi attacks on barracks after the war ended.

"And he certainly didn't tell us," she added.

Ron Hayes said he feared for his son's safety, "but I was proud of the fact that he was there."

He's not alone. Signs have gone up around Canton and Plymouth welcoming the young military man home. Some strangers shake his hand. Others say: "Thank you."

Speeding car caused crash, witness says

By Tedd Schneider staff writer

A Westland man in a red Toyota Celica was zig-zagging his way through morning rush-hour traffic on the I-275 Expressway at faster than 80 miles per hour when he caused the May 3 collision that killed two people, according to court testimony Tuesday

Arthur Joseph Bowes was bound over for trial on two counts of manslaughter following a preliminary examination in 16th District Court.

Killed in the accident near the Six Mile overpass were Mrija Kalaj, 47, of Canton Township and Karl Jay Beebe, 34, of Shepherd, Mich.

Judge James R. McCann refused a defense motion to bind Bowes, 22. over on a lesser charge of negligent homicide MCCANN HOWEVER, lowered bond from $5,000 cash or surety to $5,000/10 percent.

"He was going so fast," Albert Pistonetti, who witnessed the chainreaction collision from several car lengths behind, told the court.

He made three lane changes to the right and then three back to the left, probably in no more than 10 seconds," Pistonetti testified.

Pistonetti told the court he looked down at his own speedometer when the Celica passed him and saw it registered 78 miles per hour. He estimated the Celica was going at least 5 miles per hour faster.

Other witnesses, including a frontseat passenger in Bowes' car, gave conflicting testimony regarding the Celica's speed.

Edward Miskovich, a co-worker on his way with Bowes to the Wixom plastics plant where they worked, estimated the car was traveling 55-60 on the northbound freeway when it struck the rear of a Ford Tempo driven by Kalaj.

The impact sent Kalaj out of control, careening across a 52-foot wide grass median onto the southbound portion of the freeway, where she collided head-on with a Ford pickup truck driven by Beebe in the extreme right lane.

JAROSLAW DOBROWOLSKYJ, Bowes' court-appointed attorney called the crash "an unavoidable, tragic, tragic accident.

But Dobrowolskyj said there was ho evidence of the "gross reckless-mess" by his client necessary to support the manslaughter charge, which is punishable by a maximum 15-year prison sentence.

'He may have been passing a lot of cars to get where he was going. That, in itself, is not gross, reckless McCann, though, ruled that there was probable cause for a trial on the original charge and referred to Pistonetti's testimony as "the most Pistonetti testified Kalaj's car acted "like a slingshot" after its was struck from behind by the Celica. Parts from both cars showered other drivers after the initial impact, he told the court.

Pistonetti, who pulled over to see if he could help, also testified that he physically restrained the defendant. whom he felt was about to leave the scene before police arrived.

"I was a little upset. At that point I knew that already one person was dead," he said of his actions during cross examination Tuesday.

IN OTHER testimony, Michigan State Police trooper Gregory Stevens read the written statement Bowes gave police.

Bowes refers several times in the statement to slow-moving traffic on the freeway and characterizes his actions behind the wheel as "aggressive, but driving safely in my opinion.

behavior," the attorney said.

The walk route will then proceed east on Joy to Merriman and north on Merriman to Five Mile. Walkers will continue east on Five Mile to Middlebelt and then north on Middlebelt to Six Mile

Walkers will head west on Six Mile to Newburgh, south on Newburgh to Five Mile and then east on Five Mile to Farmington Road where they will head back to the ice arena

"The support from the community has been tremendous this year," said Mary Zuckerman, walk chairperson. "We have had several people, community groups, and businesses volunteer to get involved. In addition, there has been a dramatic increase in the number of adult walkers who are looking for good wholesome exercise.

Zuckerman promises the weather will be nice but adds, in case she's wrong: "Come on out, rain or shine."

Exchange students seek homes

Homes are sought for French exchange students who will be coming to the Detroit area this summer.

Students 13-19 will be coming to the U.S. through Leisure and Educational Culture, a non-profit French cultural exchange organization.

Host families accept a French student for one month. American families need only provide room and board.

Students are provided with their own pocket money. All students speak English, though fluency levels vary.

Students and families are fully insured. Parents also receive support through a network of coordinators. Students are accompanied by a French chaperone, who stays in the area.

Athough not an official part of the program, U.S. hosts are often later welcomed as overseas guests in the home of their exchange student.

Students will be in the U.S. in July and August. An estimated 40,000 students have participated in LEC exchange programs since 1972.

Additional information, including a host family guidebook, is available by calling area coordinator Chris Hall, 525-0134.

Police address rights issue 'Can't allow prejudice,' local chief says

By Wayne Peal staff writer

Only a half dozen discrimination complaints were filed against western Wayne police departments over the past decade, according to the state Department of Civil Rights.

Rights. But area civil rights officials say the number of claims does not necessarily indicate discrimination and brutality isn't a problem.

Relations between police and minorities became a national issue after the recent beating of a black motorist by Los Angeles police. Civil rights officials contend that incident would never have ever come to light if not captured on videotape.

DISCRIMINATION and brutality are "very difficult to prove," civil rights department spokesman Jim Horn said. "(In L.A.) had it not been for a videotape, the public might never have known."

Likewise, the most serious allegation against an area police department is largely unsubstantiatnight about three years ago, Jarrett said, after police followed the youngsters into Detroit on a high speed chase.

"I reported it to Detroit police as an assault and battery," he said. "But it seemed their attitude was that it wasn't much of a big deal." Livonia police were equally unreceptive to his concerns, Jarrett said.

Though he sought to represent one of the youngsters in a civil suit, Jarrett said the youngster told him police reduced the car theft charge in exchange for a pledge not to file suit against the department. Livonia Police acknowledged the Livonia Police acknowledged the incident occurred, but the department's description differs from Jarrett's.

"It was a situation where the suspect jumped the officer," Livonia Police Chief Lee Grieve said. "Sure, he hit him, but the officer was being assaulted."

The incident was judged minor, Grieve said, and no report was made.

If there had been a claim of brutality, he said, it would have been investigated.

Civil rights officials, said punishment, in itself, isn't enough to solve problems.

What is needed, they say, are preventative steps — and possibly a new outlook on law enforcement.

"After the Detroit riot, there was the Kerner Commission report," Horn said. "Sadly, while there's been much progress, we find many of the same things that were problems then are still problems today."

In many ways, Horn said, people seem even more tolerant of police brutality today than they were a quarter century ago. "We still live in a society that

"We still live in a society that values property over human rights," Horn said. "And that can lead to problems."

For police, however, the issue comes down to good administration versus bad.

"YOU HAVE to make it clear, right at the top, that this kind of thing won't be tolerated," Canton Public Safety Director John Santomauro said. "You have to reinforce it through discipline and peer pressure."

With a 7 percent non-white population, Canton boasts the largest percentage, and second largest number, of minority residents in any area community. Westland's non-white population is 5 percent, though its 4,102 non-white residents slightly outnumber Canton's total.

Plymouth Township's non-white population is 3 percent. In contract, racial minorities make up less than 2 percent of the population in Livonia, Redford, Garden City and Plymouth.

But integration of a community, or police force, in itself might not prevent brutality as the Los Angeles incident illustrated.

The beating is the talk of the national police community, said Santomauro, who recently attended an FBI training session for the nation's police chiefs in Quantico, Va. The message, he said, should be clear.

"You can't allow it (prejudice) in any form," he said. "You can't allow an officer to verbally abuse someone because there's only a thin-line between verbal abuse and physical abuse."

Still, Santomauro admitted, incidents occur.

Tax petition drives organized, here's how to join

Furs by Arpin

By Tim Richard staff writer

Three groups are organizing petition drives to put tax questions on the 1992 Michigan ballot.

One would cut property taxes and raise the sales tax rate 2.5 percent to 6.5 percent. The other pair would limit property assessment growth to 2 percent a year and limit the tenures of U.S. congressmen and state legislators.

Meanwhile, the state Legislature has put a proposal on the 1992 ballot to limit property assessment growth at 5 percent or the rate of inflation, whichever is less.

Still unknown is the fate of Headlee II, the Taxpayers United proposal to cut assessments 20 percent over two years. The state Board of Canvassers last week failed to certify it for consideration by the Legislature and voters. TU chair Richard Headlee of Farmington Hills said the next step is the state Court of Appeals.

Here is a rundown of the new petition drives.

Proposal: Amend state constitu-tion to increase sales tax rate by 2.5 percent; require state to refund 85 percent of property taxes on home-steads and resident farms (up to $10,000 per home, $12,000 per resident farm); give a 100 percent refund of school operating taxes for persons 62 or older; provide proportional refunds for renters.

Unaffected: Circuit breaker rebates of 100 percent for persons over 65 would continue; no break for commercial, industrial, personal and mining property.

Eriksson fair presents world tour

Traveling around the world in 80 days is a wonderful thing — you can't argue with Jules Verne — but at Canton's Eriksson Elementary School on May 9, students, teachers, parents and visitors could tour 35 countries in eight minutes if they wanted to.

The "World Fair" resembled a miniaturized Epcot Center — replete with costumed students who manned booths and offered information about the customs, traditions and features of each country.

Ethnic music and dances, origami, games, photos, maps, mummies in model pyramids, flags, food, newspapers and videos all added to the festive atmosphere.

"Each of our fifth graders researched a country and did an extensive report," said teacher Donna Jeziorski. "They put together booths and displays showing what they've learned."

"One of the things that turned out to be so exciting was that parents, and even grandparents, were so involved helping put the booths together," said principal Judy Ireson. "This is a festive way to celebrate what we are; a multi-cultural, multi-ethnic school."

As they strolled from displays on Zimbabwe to Hong Kong, China, Mexico, Hawaii, Egypt, Austria, Brazil, Finland, Argentina, Australia, Canada, Chile, Japan, Jamaica and others, there was no doubt students were enjoying themselves.

Third grader Jamila Zavala was all smiles. "I like the candy, and the koala bears," she said.

Michele Rykalsky, Kristy Hopkins and Danielle Bailey talk about the Jamaican exhibit.

For what it's worth, you may want to hold off on that import.

We certainly understand if you've spent the last several months zeroing in on the car you intend to buy. But if you're not necessarily locked into any particular mindset right now, and have an interest in keeping your options wide open, all we'd like to do here is offer up a thought for those whose real interest lies in finding an affordable, well-designed, meticulously built automobile: Give yourself a little extra time, you may find yourself a lot more car.

City races to be contested

HILE THE RACES for Plymouth-Canton school board and state representative have been getting the most attention because of their importance and immediacy, a contested election for Plymouth City Commission is shaping up.

That's a good thing. When races are contested everybody wins because candidates address all sides of the issues.

THERE ARE eight candidates vying for four seats on the city commission. They are: Mayor Ron Loiselle, who is seeking re-election; Robert Jones, who was appointed to the commission; Douglas Miller; William McAninch; Ken Way; Dennis Shewsbury; Thomas Doetsch; Rosita Smith.

They are after three four-year terms and one two-year term.

Nine candidates would have forced a primary election in August, but at least there will be contested races in November.

With McAninch in the race, voters likely will be hearing a lot about Mettetal Airport. McAn-inch is a co-founder of Plymouth Concerned Citizes, which has opposed the purchase of the airport by a Joint Operating Agreement composed of the city and Plymouth Township.

While the Plymouth Observer supported the airport proposal, we're happy that McAninch's name will be on the ballot. It will give voters a chance to express their opinions about the airport.

Fortunately there's almost a full plate of candidates. It will put the issues before the voters. That will be positive for Plymouth.

The follies Volunteers keep arts going

THE COSTUMES have been packed up in the trunks and the greasepaint has been washed off the faces of the cast of the follies, but the memories will linger.

bl For a week, volunteers from the Plymouth and Canton community danced, sang and sweated funder the hot lights at Plymouth Salem High School to help raise money for the Plymouth Arts Council. The product was "Moments of Madness," a stage show that was performed Friday and Saturday.

Nolunteers rarely get the recognition they deserve. That's partly because nobody really sits down to figure out the economics of their work. The cast of the follies gave a million dollar performance.

AND THAT becomes even more important these days because it looks like state financing for the arts is on its way out. So, if Plymouth and Canton want to continue to have arts programs, it's going to be up to them.

That makes the volunteer even more important.

After a while the memories of the performances will fade, and nobody will remember who sang what, or who told the best joke.

But the contributions made by the volunteers to the community will help the arts council keep

And that's a reward for everybody in Canton and Plymouth.

Priorities Clear heads can handle crisis

T'S MICHIGAN WEEK - a time of celebration but also one of concern as the state faces troubling issues.

The slumping economy; however, close scrutiny in tough financial times. It may well prove that dropping able bodied workers without children from welfare rolls will preserve programs for other, more needy state residents.

Suburbs ignore unrest growing within the city

THE IMAGES. COME back into focus too easily. And the pictures are always the same

Scenario One: A young man stands on the corner watching the billows of black and gray smoke roll across the summer sky. For as far as the eye can see, the horizon is filled with smoke while his ears are full of the sounds of sirens piercing the usual calm of a summer evening

Scenario Two: A bus maneuvers through a devastated city. The young man gazes in disbelief as he passes block after block of burned out houses and businesses. Olive green jeeps are posted at the street corners, each manned with an M-60 machine gun, silent sentinels watching over the rubble of a once proud city.

That was a lifetime ago, those horror filled days and nights in 1967 when Detroit exploded and it was forever dismissed in most people's minds as a desirable place to live.

CERTAINLY MUCH has changed in the the last 24 years. It would be folly to seek similárities between social conditions of today and in 1967. While many of us are better off, with our collective inability, or maybe our unwillingness, to deal with the racial situation, Metropolitan De-worse since 1967. For those who remember, as civil unrest swept the country that year, many predicted that riots could never happen in Detroit. Blacks, the experts said, were better off in Detroit than any place else in America.

So much for the experts. Now we face a much different America. Short on cash, short on patience. The rumblings of discontent are heard in just about every corner.

The warning signs are ominous and once again few are paying attention. Some residents of the the nation's capital seethe with rage and the police are called to quell the disturbance.

In Detroit a group of community leaders show up at city council to MAKING THE siuation worse, we have saddled ourselves with a governor who has little understanding of the deplorable social conditions in urban areas.

And Detroit, for most suburbanites, seems so far away. Who needs it, many suburbanites say, with all its problems.

But this time it will be different. There is nothing left in Detroit to burn. The young and restless of the underclass stand on the street corners, waiting for something to happen. Nothing does.

And please notice, it is hot already in May. So very hot. And when it's hot, trouble is bound to follow. Steve Barnaby is managing editor of Observer & Eccentric Newspapers.

shouldn't be used as an excuse to dismantle a state infrastructure that has served Michigan residents well.

With a budget deficit looming, this is clearly the time to hold the line on government spending. But there is a difference between keeping costs in line and eliminating programs altogether.

Cutting funding for state fine arts programs, selling state park land and dumping able bodied people off state welfare rolls may be popular, but it sets a troubling precedent.

FINE ARTS is not for the few. State funding for art and music is the best way to assure that all Michigan residents have equal opportunity for cultural enrichment.

Selling park land likewise sets a dangerous precedent at a time when many Michigan residents and communities are diligently working to halt development. Keeping park land open, if only as a green belt, also makes Michigan a much more livable place.

Welfare, like other state expenses, must face

Still, with joblessness high - and with infant mortality rates rivaling those of Third World countries in some parts our state - the need is clearly there.

IT COMES down to choosing priorities and the governor may not be making the right choices.

The trade-off seems to be cuts in social services and other programs in return for a boost in state education spending.

Even though increased education spending is politically popular, spending more on education may mean inflating teacher salaries in poor, outstate districts. It also may mean keeping small, no-longer economically viable districts afloat in an era when they should consolidate.

The governor's clinging to a property tax cut is puzzling in light of his concern about education, knowing that could take hundreds of thousands of dollars away from Michigan public school districts.

The budget deficit requires clear headed thinking. It's time the governor and legislators started displaying some.

Lucrative Expense fund revisions due

N THE WAKE of recent revelations of political misjudgments and conflicts of interest, the elimination of a special fund that lends itself to just such problems is long overdue. A state Senate panel has unanimously supported a bill that would elimintate officeholder expense funds. The bill would allow officeholders who leave the state Legislature by a certain date to keep whatever is left in the fund or return it to contributors or give it to charity. If they don't leave, they automatically forfeit the money. That is similar to the federal law regarding campaign funds.

The OEFs allow incumbents an unfair advantage over challenger's, who are not allowed a similar fund. Corporations, which cannot contribute to campaign committees, are allowed to contribute to OEFs. Chucking this fund would further "Michigan's longstanding objective of eliminating undue corporate influence on elected officials," in the words of Secretary of State Richard Austin.

THE LEGISLATION would severely limit the amount of money a candidate could spend at another candidate's fund-raiser. It would also eliminate uses of the money for questionable travel and entertainment expenses

The bill to eliminate the fund has already passed the Senate, as it did last year. It awaits action by the House Oversight Committee, of which Farmington Hills Rep. Jan Dolan is a member.

Dolan said that she doesn't have an OEF and would be glad to be rid of them. But a lot of other legislation is getting attention in Lansing. The bill could die, as it did in the last session. In fact, one wonders about a bill that almost nobody opposes not getting action. The delay provokes questions

Although this may seem like an administrative detail to some legislators, it isn't. They could help restore some needed credibility and eliminate a potential source of trouble.

Legistators should not put this off, but take care of this messy detail before it blows up in their face - and ours.

GOP didn't rig political appointments

By Thaddeus G. McCotter guest columnist

As chairman of the Wayne 2nd Congressional District Republican Committee, which encompasses Plymouth, Northville and half of Livonia, I am disappointed in the mendacious partisan rhetoric of your editorial, "The big fix: GOP bosses decide elections."

At no time did I or any member of Wayne II's executive committee participate in the planning or imple-mentation of a "signed, sealed and delivered political script."

For the editorial's assertions to be accurate, the hierarchy of the local Republican Party would have to have been involved in such a power play; but the immutable truth is that Wayne II would never be a party to the repugnant practice of "political fixing

THE EDITORIAL has made the classic error of inductive reasoning by discerning a grand conspiracy within circumstances that are easily explicable if examined objectively and separately

Take Mr. Breen's appointment to the county commission. The editorial admits he is qualified for his new position; however, the editorial degenerates into a polemic by neglecting to add the crucial facts that under the law the county commission had to appoint a Republican, and that 18, its staunch refusal to glimpse the Democrats of the 14 Democrats on Varger truth that Wayne County govthe commission appointed Mr. Breen ernment has been, is and will continnot an editor's imaginary Republican demons.

Concerning Mr. Law's appointment as Plymouth Township supervisor, the editorial never identifies an individual who could better perform the job, and fails to report that the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees appointed Mr. Law. (Where are the Republican demons?)

Regarding the state representative race, if there truly were a Republican conspiracy, there would be only one Republican candidate for the seat. The editorial's claims are contradicted by its own recognition that there is a crowded field of able Republicans for the seat.

As for these events transpiring within a week, why is this grounds for conjecture? Is it not common knowledge that the political field is fluid? And are not the needs of the public at the county and township level pressing enough to require prompt appointments?

WHILE mistakenly bemoaning the area's "one-party system, the Republicans," the editorial is myopic in ue in the foreseeable future to be a Democratic monopoly

There is a greater degree of oneparty rule in Wayne County than there is in the Soviet Union. If Plymouth, Northville and part of Canton are fortunate enough to be the exception to Democratic rule and be represented to some extent by Republicans, it is due to the efforts of the Republican Party in the area; the lengths to which the Democratic Party will go to gerrymander Re-publican votes; and, most importantly, the electoral will of the voters.

Herein rests the editorial's fatal flaw. The editorial implies that "arrogance and cynicism" are solely the traits of political bosses. But arrogance and cynicism afflict all human beings, whatever their station in life, be they political bosses, ordinary citizens or editorial writers.

TO CLAIM that the "voters are also to blame" for supporting a position one does not agree with is the height of arrogance. Thankfully, voters can and do vote as they please, and their collective judgments will be levied against all of the newly appointed officials and candidates.

While the potential outcome of these upcoming elections might not please the Plymouth Observer, voters should be spared from embittered personal attacks by editors who disagree with whatever electoral decisions are rendered.

Voters must be equally free from both "Boss Hoggs" and "Citizen Kanes.

Unjust rule strikes out on rights

BASEBALL IS AMERICA'S game. And the belief that a person is inno-cent until proven otherwise is an American's right.

But the South Farmington Baseball Club, a Farmington area little league, is undermining both those tenets by overreacting to an under-standably upsetting incident. James William Stoller, a Southfield resident, is awaiting trial on charges of sexually molesting boys between the ages of 10 and 13 whom he coached in the Garden City Youth Athletic Association. Stoller, a teacher and coach in DeWitt, was previously convicted for gross indecency involving young boys which was apparently not discovered until the Garden City incident. He, unlike the majority of sandlot coaches, happens not to be a parent.

South Farmington Baseball Club officials are worried that such an incident could occur in their league as well. But in their haste to reduce that possibility, they struck out - by passing a blanket rule prohibiting anyone who doesn't have a child in the program from coaching or man-aging a team beginning next season.

STRIKE ONE: Many other sports beat the bushes trying to get nonparents who love the particular game and who are unfettered by having to react to their own child to serve as coaches

Strike two: Whether or not you have a child isn't pertinent to whether or not you would molest or abuse a child.

Strike three: The move casts unfair aspersions on all non-parent coaches in the league

If this off-base play is allowed to stand, there could be further reverberations: Schools could be asked to terminate all teachers and extracurricular advisers who aren't parents; camps could eliminate all counselors who aren't parents; and how about the military eliminating all training officers who aren't parents.

IN WESTLAND recently, a pastor pleaded guilty, along with his wife, to abusing their two eldest children.

But they are parents, so under the South Farmington league's criteria, they still might make it as coaches or managers

South Farmington baseball officials are very clearly out in left field. It is they, not the non-parent coaches, who need to be pulled out of the line up and replaced with solid, non-hysterical leaders.

Stop flailing your bats at the non-parent coaches who give of their time and expertise. And start carefully reviewing your procedures in signing up coaches - parents and non-parents - to make them as failsafe as possible.

Although local police can't check out individuals on a routine basis, the Michigan State Police can. Background checks can be conducted on prospective paid workers or volun-teers at the request of individuals or

The background checks can be conducted by mail with a response in a week to 10 days.

"IF WE MADE a rule that looks like an injustice to someone, we're sorry but we didn't do it to hurt anyone," said Roxanne Fitzpatrick, commissioner of the South Farmington league. "I'm having a difficult time understanding why they can't see the good in us. They're only seeing the bad."

What we're seeing is an ill-thought out decision made in panic which undercuts what we are trying to teach our children - about fairness and freedom.

Instant replay shows that it needs to be immediately reversed.

Crowded classes hinder good learning

Q. My daughter was so excited about being accepted to the Univer-sity of Michigan last fall. Now she is not so sure. Some of her freshman classes had more than 450 students. Can 450 students in a class be a good learning experience?

A. This is not an educational experience. Some might say it is a ploy to earn big money fast.

The worst case scenario I heard of at the University of Michigan was a freshman psychology class of 650 students

Students were told (I am told) that the 650-student class would be reduced in size. It never was. Some students walked out in disgust and enrolled in other schools the next semester.

THIS SEEMS to me almost a white collar holdup by a university that knows it can get as many freshmen as it wants, so take it or leave it. And be advised this is not just the U-M; it is a common practice at MSU and other very large major universities.

Indeed, many students skip the sessions, and have their buddles take notes or tape the sessions, especially in classes where no attendance records are kept, which is most common. If attendance is taken, students often sign in their friends.

IT MIGHT be better to videotape the lectures and hand students copies when they pay their tuition rather than go to class. At least then the students could review and re-review what was said in the quiet of their rooms.

Furthermore, many of these "cattle yard" learning experiences are taught by graduate assistants, those with little or no previous teaching experience, some who just graduated themselves.

The more experienced and tenured professors generally teach the juniors and seniors or graduate students.

THE BOTTOM line, however, is that most students accepted by the U-M admission office will opt for the Ann Arbor campus rather than taking their first two years at the U-M-Dearborn, where small class sizes and experienced professors teach the classes

Why? For prestige, to get away from living at home and to cheer for the maize and blue.

The U-M and MSU are excellent institutions, especially for juniors, seniors and graduate students. The first two years, from my view, leave much to be desired.

tles and digital display and not enough on the traditional Howard Miller creation that hangs on the wall in the dining room. We had sworn that we would not do this. We would not let her rely on digital 'time-tellers until she had mastered the analog system.

But there was the microwave. And the VCRs. And the clock radio. And all the others.

So here we were, trying to interpret the time on a round clock face with one big hand and one little one and the numbers 1 through 12 encircling it.

For a second-grader, growing up in a digital age, it was, understandably, confusing

I remembered a study conducted by a U-M professor a few years ago. He had postulated that digital time pieces had altered our whole thought process, and I think he was right.

Looking at a traditional analog clock, we say things like "It's half-past 12" or it's "a quarter to 3." Time becomes relative, and we think of the present moment in relation to that which has gone before or that which is to come.

Not so with a digital timepiece. It tells us that the time is 12:31 or 2:46. Time becomes an absolute and life is a series of isolated minutes, each having no relationship to the past or the future

And, of course, with an analog clock, we must learn to tell time. A digital display tells us what time it is. We don't have to think; it does it for us.

IT'S TOUGH being an analog person in a digital world. But it's even harder trying to take a digital person of the '90s into the analog world of times past.

But I can't think about this any longer. My deadline is 10 a.m. and, according to the display on my com-puter screen, it's already 09:58:49.21.

Canton wins 4th crown the 'Hart' way

kids to play."

By Brad Emons staff writer

Make way Detroit Pistons, because the Plymouth Canton boys tennis team has broken new ground.

How does "Four-peat" sound? The Chiefs, despite some anxious moments from neighborhood rival Plymouth Salem, like the ring to their fourth consecutive Western Lakes Activities Association championship Tuesday as 11 schools competed in the tourney held at Livonia Stevenson

Canton, thanks to Shawn Hart's victory at No. 4 singles, won the meet outright with a team-high 21 points, nudging out the rival Rocks who scored 20. See statistical summary.

As the sun was setting late Tuesday afternoon and temperatures still hovering near the 88-degree mark, only Hart and Livonia Churchill's Nadir Khan were the only two players remaining on the courts.

A victory by the Canton senior would give his school their unprecedented fourth straight title, while a loss would leave the Chiefs tied with their neighbors.

Khan put up a fight, but Hart was in control from start to finish, wrapping up the match and the team championship with a 6-3, 6-2 triumph.

"I'D RATHER not know, I would have choked if I knew I was under pressure to win," said Hart after he was told the outcome of the meet was riding on his match. "I really kind of blocked everything out. I was just glad to have my teammates behind me.

"His (Khan's) backhand and ground strokes have improved since the last time I played him. He's an overall better player." Canton captured four of seven flights, a pair of titles each in singles and doubles

While Hart's win sealed the outcome, the victory by Canton's No. 3 doubles team of junior Mike Donhost and sophomore Eric Baden proved pivot-

The Chiefs took advantage of a two-point swing when Donhost and Baden outlasted Salem's duo of David Bell and Spanish exchange student Javier Angulo, 7-6, 5-7, 6-3.

The entire meet may have come down to the first-set nine-point tiebreaker which Donhost and Baden won, 7-2.

Bell and Angulo put up a real fight after going down earlier in the season against the same Canton duo, 6-2, 6-2.

"THERE'S ALWAYS some kind of strategy, but I just told them (Bell and Angulo) to keep the ball in play," Salem coach Judy Braun said. "It would have been nice to win it outright, but this tournament is always tough. There's always good competition in this tournament."

Canton's other doubles victory occurred at No. 2 where senior Dan Rosario and junior Stu Levenbach capped an unbeaten WLAA season with a 6-2, 6-3 win over Churchill's Todd Estes and Chris Machniak.

Canton, with juniors Adam Majewski and Joe Binder teaming up, also reached the finals at No. 1 doubles, only to fall to Salem's Mike Mulder and Jeff Rearick in three sets, 6-2, 5-7, 6-2.

At No. 2 singles, senior Rod Jesena of Canton beat Salem's Jason Grimm, 6-2, 7-5 for the title. (Canton also picked up a valuable point when Scott Jones won his first match at No. 3 singles before being eliminated.)

"Rod played over the winter and his tennis has really improved," Canton coach Jim Hayes said. "He's a tough kid."

Hayes attributes Canton's success to "hard work.

"We have more and more kids playing indoor tennis," he said. "And the kids at Salem do the same thing. We're fortunate that the families are interested and willing to spend money for their

Kennedy KO's Northville

Plymouth Canton clinched a tie for the Western Division baseball title in the Western Lakes Activities Association behind another solid pitching effort by senior Scott Kennedy

Kennedy hurled a one-hitter and struck out 16 opposing batters Mon-day as the Chiefs blanked host Northville 6-0. He walked only two in seven innings

It was the fourth shutout for Kennedy, who is 7-2 and averaging 13 strikeouts per seven innings. He has more than 100 strikeouts for the season.

"He's had the kind of year he's capable of having," Canton coach Fred Crissey said. "We knew it would take a while because of the surgery (to repair a tendon in one hand), but he has shown what he can do in the last two weeks."

The Chiefs, 8-1 in the division and 15-4 overall, had nine hits with Mike Wougamon and Brian Tiell getting two apiece.

Canton took a 2-0 lead in the second inning. Following walks to Jason Crain and Todd Pniewski, Brian Stidham sacrificed the runners ahead a base, and Jon Paupore and Wougamon followed with back-toback singles.

The Chiefs added four more in the third. Ben Hendricks smashed a two-run triple after Jason Riggs had walked and Tiell singled. The other runs scored on an error and a fielder's choice.

Canton can win the division outright with a victory Monday over visiting Farmington Hills Harrison. The Chiefs will represent the Western Division in the WLAA championship game on Tuesday, May 28, regardless of what happens Monday since they have beaten second-place Walled Lake Western twice.

Canton plays a pre-district tournament contest with Romulus at home on Thursday, May 23.

Livonia Stevenson girls soccer coach Mary Kay Hussey didn't know what to make of the Spartans' scoreless tie Monday against visiting Plymouth Salem/

"It either shows poor offense or great defense," she said. "I don't know which one.

Considering both teams entered the week ranked among the top five teams in Class A, the outcome probably had something to do with both teams' superior defenses.

Despite the tie, the Spartans still earned a berth in the Western Lakes Activities Association final game at 7 p.m. Friday at Livonia Churchill.

Both Salem and Stevenson finished tied atop Lakes Division at 3-0-1. The Spartans won the tiebreaker, however, by virtue of their 8-0-2 overall conference mark compared to Salem's record of 8-1-1.

Churchill, Northville and Canton were all 4-1 in the Western Division, but Churchill won the Western Division tiebreaker because it had a better overall conference record.

THIS WAS THE first Lakes Division title won in three years of coaching for Hussey, but she wasn't ready to go out and celebrate.

"I guess it's good but the state's are what matters," Hussey said. "Last year we were fifth place in the league and we ended up winning the state."

Salem, which is 11-1-1 overall, meets Plymouth Canton tonight at 7 p.m. for the battle of third place in the WLAA.

The Rocks' best scoring chance in the first half Monday came when senior forward Erin Harvey dribbled through a couple Spartans and shot the ball past goalkeeper Alicia Smith, but wide of the left goalpost.

In the second half, Smith came out of her net to make a save and the rebound was kicked toward the wide-open net, but defender Andrea Wittrock kicked the ball the other,

Harvey later left the game with a knee injury and is questionable for tonight's game.

We should have won 2-0," said

Salem coach Ken Johnson. "We had more chances than them. It was a good game, though; the toughest game of the season and we expected it. This could have been a state final game.'

HUSSEY CREDITED the goalkeeping on both sides for part of the shutout. But she was upset as well with her team's inability to score on Salem keeper Jenny Emmett, whom Johnson calls the best in the state 'by far.'

Stevenson kept the ball in Salem's end the last couple minutes in a desperation attempt to score, but Hussey believes the Spartans wouldn't have needed a late goal if they capitalized earlier.

We missed two open nets in the first half and didn't finish when we should have," Hussey said. "I don't think we played well. We were very anxious and a bit confused. Plymouth Salem is a good team. They won 80 percent of the balls and are very fast, strong and physical. We played hard but I don't think we were very smart about it."

Johnson said Salem paid special attention to Stevenson's best player, junior Ragen Coyne.

LaJoy accepts CC soccer post

staff writer

Phil LaJoy, Plymouth Salem's boys and girls junior varsity soccer coach since 1987, has accepted the Redford Catholic Central varsity boys soccer head coach's job.

LaJoy takes over in the fall for John Boots, whose contract was not renewed by CC despite leading the Shamrocks to a combined 32-8-3 record over two years. CC athletic director Bob Santello said several factors were considered in choosing LaJoy, one of which included his availability in making all practices and games

LaJoy owns Norrell Temporary Services in Ann Arbor, and it allows him to juggle his schedule to his own needs. Santello said in an earlier interview that Boots was not asked back because of his sales representative job, which took him from two weeks of practice and two games last fall.

LaJoy also has an impressive oaching background on both the coaching club and high school level. He was the first and only JV head coach at Salem and his boys and girls teams have a combined record of 96-11-3 in 4½ years.

LaJoy would not comment on whether he will continue as Salem's JV girls soccer coach next spring.

We think Phil will do a great job for CC," Santello said. "His occupation allows him to have flexible hours where he can adapt to our schedules. That's always an inherent problem when you're hiring someone outside your building.

"IN LOOKING at Phil's resume

He's coached at the club level a long time and has organized major tournaments in Plymouth and that tells me he's very good at the organizational level. He's a licensed soccer coach so he's done his homework there, and he's a registered official (referee) so he knows what it's like being on the other side. Besides his duties as JV coach at Salem, LaJoy also has assisted Ken Johnson on the varsity level for both the girls and boys soccer teams. Sa-lem won the girls Class A 1987 state title and this year the Rocks are one of the favorites to win it again.

Johnson, Dave Monk and LaJoy started the Canton Soccer Club in 1976. Johnson was the Canton Soccer Club's first president and LaJoy took over those duties in 1981 when Johnson resigned to become the Salem boys soccer varsity coach.

LaJoy graduated from high school in 1962 from St. Mary's High School in Wayne, and received a degree from the University of Detroit.

"CC is an excellent school, and I look forward to contributing in a

Canton gets share of Western crown

Plymouth Canton's girls soccer team finished in a three-way tie for first place in the Western Division of the Western Lakes Activities Asso-

The Chiefs ended with a 4-1 record after beating Farmington Hills Harrison 10-0 Monday at Centennial Educational Park. Livonia Churchill and Northville also were 4-1, but Churchill won the ciation tiebreaker based on overaft conference records.

The Chargers will play Lakes Division co-champ Livonia Stevenson for the WLAA title at 7 p.m. Friday at Churchill. The Spartans shared the Lakes crown with Plymouth Salem but won that tiebreaker.

Churchill was 8-2 in the WLAA, Canton 7-2-1 and Northville 7-3. Stevenson had an 8-0-2 league record, Salem 8-1-1.

TEN PLAYERS figured in the Canton scoring Monday. The list of goal getters included Leah Hutko, Colleen Connell, Mandi Salin, Jori Welchans, Amy Westerhold, Kathy Bahr, Ayana Nash, Laurie McNamara, Denise Koontz and Danielle Meyka.

The Chiefs, 11-3-1 overall, led 5-0 at halftime and scored the last five goals on headers.

We've been playing well, and I think we're going into the state playoffs on the right foot," Canton coach Don Smith said.

The Chiefs and Salem play at 7 p.m. tonight to determine third place in the WLAA, and they meet again Monday night in the first round of the district tournament. The Rocks won the previous game 1-0 early in the season

On Saturday, Canton returned from Midland with a 3-0 victory over host Dow High School. Nash, Britta Anderson and Salin scored the goals, and Connell, Anderson and Westerhold had assists.

Welchans has 10 shutouts as the Canton goalkeeper. The Chiefs outshot Dow 21-5.

Erin Harvey had a single-game, season-best of five goals and two assists Saturday in Salem's 8-0 victory over visiting Grand Blanc.

The Rocks are 11-1-1 overall after their tie Monday with Livonia Stevenson, the Bobcats 7-4-1.

Amy Krajewski scored one goal and had two assists. Erin Bagozzi and Kris Goff rounded out the scoring, and Mandy Drummond, Shelby Carey and Michelle Cronan got credit for assists.

Salem goalkeeper Jenny Emmett has 11 shutouts and has allowed only three goals all season.

IT TOOK TWO days to accomplish but Farmington Hills Mercy advanced in the Catholic League soccer playoffs.

The Marlins defeated Harper Woods Regina 3-1 Tuesday at Mercy after the game was suspended Monday because of bad weather.

The teams had played 17 minutes and the Marlins had a 1-0 lead when play was stopped Monday. The game was resumed at that point.

'It's and good and it's bad," said Mercy coach Deepak Shivraman of the delay. "It's good in the sense we can play defensively with a 1-0 lead, just kick the ball out and play a little secure.

"But it's bad in that you can play overconfidently. We played using it as an advantage. We played defensively but kept pushing offensively as well."

Senior forward Kathryn Dudley assisted on two goals and scored the third one. Tania Macioce and Carrie Dziadosz staked Mercy to a 2-0 lead, and Dana Lehmkuhl set up the score by Dudley.

Regina's goal was the result of a penalty kick. The Marlins, 12-2-2, were scheduled to play the winner of the Riverview Gabriel Richard-Allen Park Cabrini game in the second round Wednesday. The final will be played Saturday at Oakland University.

FARMINGTON COACH Cathy Kansman and possibly some of her players will be out to see the Marlins play this week.

The Falcons play at Northville tonight in a Western Lakes Activities Association crossover game, but Farmington is preparing for a rematch with Mercy on the opening day of post-season tournament play Monday.

The teams, which played for the district championship last year, meet at 4 p.m. on the Mercy field. The Marlins upset No. 1-ranked Farmington

The statistics are impressive. Cer-tainly, the three Madonna University players named to the all-NAIA Dis-trict 23 baseball team - and one who just missed - seemed deserv ing of the honor.

But that's not what made them dinstinctive. Nor was that what made them successful.

It was their "Who cares?" attitude that separated them from the rest.

Don't be misled. It wasn't arrogance - it was disdain for past accomplishments. Stats can be analyzed and admired during the offason; but the goal is to delay the off-season's starting time as long as

In talking to these four members of the Fighting Crusaders, that belief was prevalent. Ernie Bowling, the man who set team records with 16 homers and 54 runs batted in, said it best: "I would have given up the whole season to do well in the tournament."

BOWLING NARROWLY missed being named the all-district player of the year. That honor went to Aquinas College pitcher Tim Sullivan (10-0 record, 1.45 earned run average). So what the junior first baseman was offering to surrender - a .370 batting average, 14 doubles and a teamhigh 50 runs scored - were accomplishments worth relishing.

But his numbers, like those of teammates Joe Brusseau and John Bonham, also named to the first team, meant less than the outcome of last week's double-elimination district tournament. Madonna lost its first game 8-5 to Aquinas in 10 innings, won its second game over Northwood Institute 4-3 (also in 10 innings), then lost to Aquinas again 8-1.

He wasn't the only one with mixed feelings regarding a year in which Madonna recorded a school-record 32 victories (against 20 losses and a tie).

Said Brusseau, a sophomore sec-ond baseman from Redford Bishop Borgess who had six hits in 11 atbats in the tournament: "I'd give them all up for that one hit." And the hit he referred to? Any one that would have won a playoff game.

BRUSSEAU'S NUMBERS - a .369 average (more than 100 points higher than a year ago), eight doubles, four triples, eight homers, 33 RBI and 41 runs scored - were nice, in his estimation, but they weren't what stuck in his mind.

"The one thing I remember is at Northwood earlier in the season, with runners on second and third, nobody out, and I struck out," said Brusseau.

Success is in the eye of the beholder? It's relative? Both are true, as far as Madonna's three all-district selections and senior outfielder Mike Wozniak, who just missed being chosen, are concerned.

Post-season honors are great, but reaching the post-season so soon sure isn't.

Bonham provides a perfect example. He and Wozniak were the team's only seniors; Bonham wanted to get all he could out of his last season. "This is my last year," he remem-bered thinking. "You're going to have to shoot me to get me out of the lineup.

WORDS WITHOUT action are worthless. Bonham backed up his statement by volunteering, during the preseason, to become the team's catcher. A utility player in years past, he hadn't caught since he was

It was a gamble Madonna coach Mike George had to take, though. His catcher from a year ago, Steve Coffell, had back problems and couldn't play. The only other catcher on the roster was freshman Chris Gajewski. The move paid incredible dividends. Bonham caught 46 (of 53) games and made just five errors; he threw out 29 of 65 baserunners (45 percent). And offensively, Bonham broke new ground for a catcher by batting lead-off and stealing a teambest 27 bases (in 33 attempts). He batted .281 with four doubles, two triples, 11 RBI and 39 runs scored.

"I was kind of worried," he answered when asked his feelings about stepping behind the plate after an eight-year absense. "I thought it might hurt my speed."

But he wasn't about to leave the lineup, not as long as he could contribute. At one point, Bonham said he approached George about moving him into the outfield and putting Gajewski - whom Bonham felt was better defensively - behind the plate. George opted not to.

THE FINAL week of the season was filled with frustration for Wozniak, a Westland native (Livonia Franklin HS). He had five hits in 12 playoff at-bats (.417 average); he batted a team-best .375 during the season with six doubles, two triples, three homers and 25 RBI.

But, in the all-district voting, he tied for a spot on the team. In the ensuing vote-off, Wozniak lost.

Still, that loss wasn't as bothersome as the 20 games the team lost during the season. Nevermind the 32 wins

"If we had played every game like we did after getting off the plane in Florida (the Crusaders were 6-2-1 on their spring trip), we wouldn't have lost a game," he said.

Which made part of the season's conclusion happy. During the long season, Wozniak said, "We started falling off. We got a little bit laid back. That's when we started talking about being a team.

"We finally got back together, playing as a group instead of individuals

Like his three teammates who were named to the all-district squad, Wozniak will remember the big hits, the victories. But - for the near-future, anyway - not as well as the few disappointments from a successful season

Which serves, as well as anything. as a definition of a winner.

Plymouth Salem refused to let another possible victory get away Monday as the Rocks upset Lakes Division co-leader Walled Lake Central 6-5 in softball.

When the teams played April 25, Salem led 6-3 entering the seventh inning, but the Vikings rallied to score four runs and take a 7-6 victory

Central staged another seventh-inning rally Monday, but the Rocks cut it short and claimed the win that previously escaped them.

Salem again led 6-3 going into the last inning, but the Vikings got only two runs this time.

"They left the bases loaded; I thought it was going to happen again," Salem coach Rob Willette said. "It's nice to win a close one, because we've been losing these close ones."

The Rocks had only two hits off losing pitcher Jenny Czach. Both hits were singles by Emily Giuliani and Kristin Stackpoole. Caryn Tatterton walked four times and scored a run for Salem Czach struck out six and walked 10. Wild pitches accounted for four Salem runs. Jenny Garvey was the winning pitcher, going the distance and scattering six hits. She struck out five and also walked 10.

Carrie Cassinski had two hits and knocked in Central's runs in the seventh inning.

The Rocks are 2-7 in the division and 5-15 overall. The Vikings dipped to 7-2 in the Lakes and are tied for first place with North Farmington and Westland John Glenn.

PLYMOUTH CANTON defeated Northville 5-0 in league play Monday after winning the Novi Invitational on Saturday.

The Chiefs are 6-2 in the Western Division of the WLAA and 14-2 overall.

Kelly Holmes pitched a two-hitter against the Mustangs and struck out seven. She walked two while raising her record to 11-2.

Canton had only two hits, too, but Kris Ford's single contributed to a four-run first inning for the Chiefs. The game was stopped after five innings because of bad weather. There was no shortage of hits Saturday as Canton defeated the host Wildcats 8-3 in the tournament final. The Chiefs outhit the opposition 12-3.

Jenny Sekovich was 3-for-3 and Sarah Schimmelpfenneg 3-for-4. Julie Nicastri and Renee Dory had two hits apiece, and Nicastri knocked in two runs.

The Chiefs trailed 3-2 when they broke loose with six runs on six hits in the sixth inning.

"I was very pleased with the fi-nal game," Canton coach Jim Arnold said. "We're playing some good ball, and it's a good time to start playing well."

Canton began with a 7-4 win over Northville. Holmes struck out eight in seven innings to get the victory. Dory was 3-for-4, and Nicastri had two doubles and three RBI.

Shannon Murphy was the win-ning pitcher in Canton's 10-2 defeat of Redford Thurston in the next game. The Chiefs scored six runs in the sixth inning on walks, passed balls and errors.

Salem lost 8-0 to Novi and 5-3 to Northville in the tournament. The 13 runs allowed by the Rocks were unearned.

Amber Trombetta had Salem's lone hit in the Novi game. Andrea Welling walked only four but suffered the loss.

Welling and Stackpoole had two. hits apiece in the second game. The Rocks committed four errors; and Garvey, who allowed four hits and five walks, took the loss.

and we're hoping to make a tournament run."

PLYMOUTH SALEM needed a run in the top of the seventh inning Monday to edge host Walled Lake Central 6-5 and remain in contention for the WLAA's Lakes Division crown.

Scott Rodgers hit a single to center field, and Ed Gundry scored the winning run from second base.

'You have to send him in the seventh, and Ed got in under the tag," Salem coach John Gravlin said. Scott Niemiec's solo homer in the fourth inning trimmed a 3-0 lead by Central, and Scott Bright slammed a two-run shot in the fifth when Salem took a 4-3 lead.

Kurt Singleton (2-0) pitched the fifth and sixth innings and got the victory. Chris Tomas earned a save.

The Rocks are 7-2 in the division with one game remaining Monday at last-place Farmington. Salem, 15-4 overall, trails first-place Westland John Glenn by one game.

Salem was one of five state-ranked teams competing Saturday in the eight-team Midland Invitational.

Grandville won the championship and eliminated the Rocks 8-3 after they had beaten Traverse City 5-0 in their first game. Midland, Mount Pleasant and Midland Dow were the other rated teams.

Rodgers was pitching a no-hitter through five innings in the Traverse City game. He went six to earn the victory and struck out 10.

Gundry started the game with a solo homer, and Jeff Belisle had three hits and two RBI.

Grandville jumped in front 7-2 in the first inning of the next game, tagging Dan Hutchinson with the loss.

HAYES ALSO believes the team's success stems from a popular physi-cal education class the high school offers.

"We're fortunate to have an ele tive P.E. program," he said. "The tennis classes are open to everybody, from novice players to the kids on the high school team. During the fall semester I taught three classes. In the winter I got all the gyms. I taught four classes this spring. The popularity is enormous.

Despite having the distinction of of being "Three-peat" champions, Hayes was not totally confident going into the mee.

His No. 1 singles player, Brian Schmidt was scratched from the lineup after spraining his knee over the weekend. Hayes got the bad news Monday morning when Schmidt showed up for school wearing a cumbersome brace.

"We just had to set different goals as far as points go and the kids just accepted it," Hayes said.

Schmidt, who watched in frustration all day from the sidelines, is hoping to return for Friday's Class A regional at Ann Arbor.

'I'm mad at myself, I was playing around in a park," Schmidt said. "The team was also kind of upset with me."

Jeff Fuerst, who along with Eric Mitchell back up the 10-man varsity squad, filled in for Schmidt, but lost in the first round.

"CANTON DID WELL since their No. 1 singles player (Schmidt) didn't play," Braun said. "If he had played, I think he would have taken at least two points.

The No. 1 singles draw became anti-climatic after North Farmington's Seth Hoffman, a nationallyranked player, parted ways with the Raiders' squad only a week prior to the WLAA tournament.

That left the door wide open for state Class A singles runnerup Mark Schwagle of Northville, who beat Hoffman earlier this year, 6-1, 6-4.

Schwagle breezed through his three matches, including a 6-0, 6-0 triumph in the final over Farmington's Manoj rrivedi. (The two had to play their match on Wednesday because Trivedi had already used his allotted three matches on Tuesday.)

team this season). Overall champion: Plymouth Canton.

The other singles champ was K.C. Kirkpatrick, the 6-foot-6 senior from Salem, who upended Northville's Brad Telepo in the finals, 3-6, 6-1, 6-

Kirkpatrick, a first-team All-Observer basketball player, finds tennis to be relaxing.

"I was happy to win this because I lost in the finals the last two years," he said. "This sport is less tense. In basketall there's more pressure. At tennis practice you just go out and hit balls."

Amazingly, Kirkpatrick lost only one match in WLAA play while jug-gling his busy schedule between AAU basketball and track (where he's a 6-2 high jumper).

This weekend he'll be at two regionals (tennis and track), while tryng to fit in AAU games.

CC captures league tennis crown

By C.J. Risak staff writer

The key to Redford Catholic Central's tennis victory at the Catholic League Championships - depth - is what Shamrock coach Bob Miller hopes will carry his team towards a Class A state title.

It certainly was too much for CC's only true challenger at the league meet, Birmingham Brother Rice. The Shamrocks, who narrowly defeated Rice earlier in the season on a dual-meet tiebreaker, rebounded Saturday to win six of the eight flights at the 10-team meet, held at Farwell Field in Detroit Satruday.

Rice won two flights and opposed CC in the other six finals. CC finished with 60 points to the Warriors' 52. University of Detroit-Jesuit was a distant third (24), followed_by Warren DeLaSalle (22); Allen Park Cabrini (19); Harper Woods Notre Dame (16); Royal Oak Shrine (15); Redford Bishop Borgess (eight); Harper Woods Bishop Gallagher (six); and Pontiac Oakland Catholic (two)

"I felt somewhat confident (about our chances)," said Miller. "We beat Brother Rice on a tiebreaker earlier, but I felt we were the better team."

HOW MUCH better? Does the league championship - CC's first since 1987 - prove anything?

"I think what it shows is we've got depth," answered Miller. "Our teams are fairly even in singles, but where it shows is at the No. 2, 3 and 4 doubles. And we were able to win the close matches this time."

Indeed, the Shamrocks were good enough to win six matches this time. Paul Bozyk started it off by capturing his second-straight No. 1 singles championship, bettering Rice's Tom Herb 7-6, 5-7, 6-1 in the final.

At No. 3 singles, Scott Hazlett topped the Warriors' Enzo Garcia 6-3, 6-2. Rice collected wins in the other two singles, with Geoff Prentice topping Paul Thieme 4-6, 6-0, 6-2 at No. 2 and Joe Vincler defeating Bob Bhatia 6-4, 5-7, 6-3 at No. 4.

The doubles' flights belonged to CC, however. The No. team of Jayson Torres and Chris Alonte outlasted Rice's Victor Morales and Eric Podgorny with a comefrom-behind effort, 6-7, 7-6, 6-4. Torres and Alonte trailed 3-0 in the second set before battling back to win.

WHILE CC'S No. 1 pair scrapped to win, the No. 2 team of Dave Gallagher and Chris Matson completely dominated. They whipped the Warriors' Jon Hoffley and John Newman 6-0, 6-0 to win the title and complete a clean sweep - three-straight match wins without losing a game

The Shamrocks' No. 3 and 4 teams weren't quite as dominant, but they didn't lose a set in the finals. No. 3s Chip Shade and Dave Lombardi topped Rice's Jason Emory and Jim Molloy 6-3, 6-4, and No. 4s Steve Englehart and Mark Shaya ripped Chris Kowal and Chris Millar 6-3, 6-0.

The significance of winning the team title was not lost on Miller. "1987 was the last time CC had won the league championship in tennis, and Brother Rice had won the last three, so this was the first time any of these kids had been on a championship team, which is nice," he noted.

Now, if only CC can carry that success on to the state meet . . . The Shamrocks will begin their quest at the Dearborn Regional Friday and Saturday.

Church investigates pastor who abused children

By Darrell Clem staff writer

Michael Enersen, the Westland minister who admitted he abused his children, has come under investiga tion by higher church authorities who could oust him from his Assemblies of God pulpit, The Observer learned Tuesday.

Enersen, minister of Westland Full Gospel Church, is being investigated by his church's parent organization, the Michigan District Assemblies of God, and could face disciplinary action "as is deemed appropriate," district Superintend-ent William Leach confirmed Tuesday.

A decision to remove 36-year-old Enersen as an Assemblies of God minister would come from national headquarters in Springfield, Mo., Leach said.

The latest development came as word spread that Enersen's 700-member congregation, which continues to strongly support him, may vote to secede from the Assemblies of God.

Enersen again didn't return a telephone call from the Observer, and church members declined to respond to inquiries about the possible secession

"That would be something that you would have to speak to the pastor about," said a woman who an-swered the church telephone Tuesday.

Former church members who have friends still attending Westland Full Gospel said their friends had talked about the possible secession.

MEANWHILE, LEACH confirmed that a six-member executive panel of the Assemblies' Michigan District has launched an investigation of Enersen, who, along with his 33-yearold wife, Carol, admitted in Detroit Recorder's Court on April 25 that they abused their children.

Two of the children - a 16-yearold girl and a 13-year-old boy have been taken from the Enersens and placed in a foster home. Those children are Carol Enersen's stepchildren; Michael Enersen fathered them during a previous marriage. The Enersens' four younger children, ages 9 months to 10 years, remain in their parents' custody. Leach declined to comment at length about the Enersen case, which came to the attention of Westland police after two of the Enersen children escaped from home and sought help from a former church member.

"I just want to be careful that I say the right thing." Leach said. The district superintendent said a decision to discipline Enersen would be made by the Springfield-based General Council of the Assemblies of God, which will consider evidence obtained by district officials.

The investigation "undoubtedly" will be completed in time for the national council to consider the matter when it meets in June, Leach said.

Few details of the investigation were revealed in a written statement that Leach submitted to the Observer on Tuesday.

"WHEN ALLEGATIONS or charges of misconduct by an Assem-blies of God minister are brought to the attention of the district in which a minister is a member, it is the responsibility of that district to initiate an investigation and action as is deemed appropriate," Leach wrote. "The matter of charges against Mi-chael Enersen is being referred to our parent organization, the General Council of the Assemblies of God, for punishable by up to four years in prison. Carol Enersen pleaded guilty to one count of third-degree child abuse, punishable by up to two years in prison, Westland Police Sgt. Laura Moore, who investigated the case, said the Enersen children had injuries that included human bite marks and bloodied buttocks, caused by beatings with a wooden paddle.

Attorneys have indicated the En-ersens will be placed on probation for five years and forbidden to see the two older children.

LAST WEEK, Joseph Flower, the general secretary of the Springfield-based Assemblies of God, addressed the Enersen case briefly, though he had not heard of the controversy when contacted by the Observer.

"We certainly do not approve of child abuse," Flower said. Though he declined to comment at length, Flower questioned why the Enersens would plead guilty in court, only to later deny their guilt to their congregation. The Enersens have said they want-ed to spare their children the trauma of testifying in court. Moreover, they have said they wanted to avoid expensive legal fees.

Curtain up 39th season gets under way at Stratford Festival

By Ethel Simmons staff writer

CTORS HAVE been in rehearsal and already are doing preview perfor-mances for some of the 14 productions to highlight the 39th season at the Stratford Festival in Ontario.

This week, during breaks in rehearsal, a few of the stars took time to talk by phone to the Observer & Eccentric about their roles in shows that range from tragedy to light-hearted fare by Shakespeare and other playwrights.

For ticket information, call the Stratford (Ont.) Festival box office free from metropolitan Detroit, 964-4668

A direct approach to playing Hamlet

OLM FEORE has the plum role as Hamlet in the Bard's "Hamlet, Prince of Denmark," now in preview and opening the season Monday, May 27, at Stratford's Festival Theatre.

Feore takes his work seriously but he is not mesmerised by the character. He has played Richard III and lago. "Now it's Hamlet," he said. "We're just doing the play - very simple - as honest and direct as we can be."

Asked what approach this production would take to Shakespeare's drama, Feore said, "We've let each of the elements be featured." He believes it's dangerous to assume you can put a single interpretation onto a role as great as Hamlet.

"Nothing gets in the way of the words," he stressed. "You see more of the play and less of the art."

ANOTHER ROLE Feore will play at Stratford is Benedick in Shakespeare's "Much Ado About Nothing," also in preview and opening May 29 at the Festival Theatre. Hero and Claudio are the young lovers and Benedick and Beatrice are the cynical, older couple. In addition, he is cast as Horace, the boyfriend, in Moliere's classic comedy "The School for Wives," opening Aug. 2 at the Avon Theatre.

Feore, who is of Irish heritage, was born in Boston and raised in Ottawa and Windsor. He spent three years with the National Theatre main stage. But when Feore arrived at Stratford 12 years ago, "I started playing all sorts of big things," for two years on the main stage. Then, "I played smaller parts," on the young stage, which gave him further opportunity to develop his craft.

In 1989, he took a year off to do film and television. "I was terrified to leave. I was terrified to come back," he said. "It's great to grow and develop," he said contrasting his year away with his years at Stratford, "but you can get seduced by the security of this place.

Feore praised the festival's artistic director, David William, saying, "He's interested in the qualities of Actress can identify with sensitive Emily

"She's the kind of girl nobody wants to listen to. She's a real loser."

the opposite of Emily." The Canadi-

"N CONTRAST to Colm Feore's longtime Stratford stardom is the theatrical career of Ann Baggley, who is making her Stratford debut this season as Emily in Thornton Wilder's "Our Town."

Baggley first played the role of Emily four years ago at George Brown College, where she attended theater school for three years.

The actress, who was born and raised in Toronto, also has studied at the Banff School of Fine Arts. "I'm not in the Young Company show," she pointed out, "although I'm still a part of the Young Company." She considers herself very fortunate to have been chosen for the production of "Our Town," which is in preview and opens May 28 at Stratford's Avon Theatre.

She described the Young Company as a training ground for young actors, who have been working one or two years, and for apprentices. "Stratford likes to take young people and bring them up in the ranks," she

BAGGLEY SAID the character of Emily is "a bit precocious but she's very smart and sensible and simple. She's a girl, who becomes a woman by the third act. She's an example of a very sensitive young woman. I identify with her."

For the later production, director Martha Henry wanted to use more mature actors for a scene at a town council meeting. Artistic director David William will be one of the people with him in the crowd scene, Hopkins said.

Hopkins is directing "Twelfth Night," with the main company, opening May 30 at the Avon Theatre, and "The Knight of the Burning Pestle," with the Young Company, open-ing Aug. 2 at the Tom Patterson Theatre.

Asked to comment on director Martha Henry (a former Bloomfield Hills resident, who is unavailable for an interview at this time because she is directing a production in London, England), Hopkins said, "She's an extraordinarily talented person. She played Violet in 'Twelfth Night' in 1966 at this theater.'

Suspense is missing in 'Ten Little Indians'

Performances of the Smith Theatre production of "Ten Little Indians" continue through Saturday on the Oakland Community College Orchard Ridge Campus in Farmington Hills: For ticket information call 471-7500.

By Sally Dubats special writer

The production of Agatha Chris-tie's "Ten Little Indians" at the Smith Theatre has a questionable of the famed Christie e. Although well acted and paced, it sometimes misses the whodunit quality of the classic mystery/ thriller

Christie employs a famous nur-ery rhyme to the letter for her plot. In the play, typical of a Christie mystery, several unsuspecting guests are invited for a weekend stay at an ominous country estate. In this case, however, the home is on an island with no means of escape.

Director William W. Sharpe's staging of "Ten Little Indians" evidences little forethought or attention to detail. Entrances are made with other onstage actors blocking the view of the new arrival, actors are walking backwards and many times positioned to converse with other actors in a contorted fashion anything but conducive to conversation.

Lead player Lee Martin as victim/suspect/guest Philip Lombard delivers quickly said lines which lack meaning and innuendo. Martin, although an adept wisecracker, falls short of the playboy aspect of his character's ability to woo any woman, especially the intended target,

review

A saving grace of the show is Matthew Bierl as Detective Blore. Bierl possesses the self-confidence required of Blore and believably portrays the gruff but likeable detective.

Vera Claythorne (Cara Remund), another guest for the weeken nical style of acting does little to enhance the love interest in the plot, as no chemistry whatsoever is set up between Vera and Lombard, and her character doesn't show an ounce of visible nervousness as various characters are murdered.

The third leg of this flirt triangle, but only according to the script, is Matthew Scarlett as Anthony Marston. Scarlett chooses sarcasm for his character rather than the impetuous rich boy Christie intended. His delivery of lines leaves little room for the early-in-the-play flirting with Vera.

A saving grace of the show is Matthew Bierl as Detective Blore. Bierl possesses the self-confidence required of Blore and believably portrays the gruff but likeable detective. Tom Williams also renders a credible performance as Sir Lawrence Wargrave.

As various characters die off, the audience is traditionally inclined to wonder who the murderer is, but the staging, with few notable exceptions, creates no tension through the use of suspicious characters. Scott Mancha and Gail Bohacek as the manservant and cook are neither suspicious nor nervous. Mancha's "aging" make-up looks more like white and black cat whiskers, making his character all the more unconvincing.

Kristen Williams as Emily Brent, the forthwright religious fanatic foreshadowing doom, would do bet-ter to make her character a little more eccentric and her lines more significant, to add to her suspicion.

BY CONTRAST, supporting play-er Khaled Hanna is excellent as General MacKenzie. His performance as the lonely, feeble-minded old widower possesses the subtleties and complexities of excellent acting, and his quirky characterization succeeds in creating a mysterious atmosphere.

tribute more substantially to Mike's 401(K) plan, sell their stock at a capital gain in 1991, carefully reconsider whether Jo should go back to work (it may be worthwhile) and not shift any more of their assets into the children's names. All of these factors affect the expected family contribution and thus directly affect the children's eligibility for financial aid. This topic will be dealt with in depth in next week's column.

It is worth noting that having two children so close together in age may actually work to their advantage. With the children overlapping three years during their undergradu-ate studies, they will likely be eligi-ble for greater financial aid than if there were no overlap. This is a result of the family's expected contri-bution per child decreasing in the years when more than one family mber is in college

Although the Austins have not been able to provide money for their children's education to date, it is not too late to begin planning. In fact, it is a very good time for them to review their situation and create their own opportunities.

Next week, we'll examine those complex financial aid forms and tell the Austins how they might qualify for more financial aid.

Auto makers are bypassing dealerships, selling directly to fleets

It is one of those ironies of the U.S. auto business that car companies are willing to pay as much to sell a car as they pay wages to workers to build it. The relatively steep markup between the price of a delivered vehicle and the full retail sticker price (which can run between 8 percent and 16 percent, oddly, higher for more expensive cars), is sufficient to make some dealers richer than the chairman of the board at GM, a situation that was quite shocking to the Japanese when they first started marketing their wares.

In fact, until relatively recently, the Japanese didn't even use dealers, instead sent sala, ied salesmen doorto-door. Of course, their chairmen weren't making much either, which tended to keep everybody's nose to the grindstone until recently, when a few too many Harvard Business School graduates went back to the home islands.

The independent sales franchise in the United States, as a result, is the most aggressive in the world and manages to push an amazing variety of hardware, while maintaining some semblance of a service network as well. But the system is seeing some unlikely pressure these days.

MUCH OF it is coming from the companies themselves, who have been attempting to maintain sales volume by shipping large quantities of cars to the big rental fleets, thus short-cutting the retail markup and adding a substantial discount for big fleet orders to boot.

By itself, this cuts a substantial volume out of the retail franchise system. But it also means that the cars will return in a year or so as even-more-heavily discounted used cars, sold in blocks by either the rental companies, or in some cases by the auto companies themselves. It is, of course, dirty pool if you happen to have a substantial investment in a retail franchise, which supposedly means in principal that you won't be competing directly with the wholesale supplier.

On the other hand, the fleet sales game has kept Chrysler, notably, afloat since anyone can rememb It's no coincidence that the recently retired chief marketing guy at Chrysler, Ben Bidwell, was a former top gun at Hertz.

Curiously, while the practice of undercutting the dealer network is disquieting to dealers, it results in some tremendous savings for consumers, since they can buy a lowmileage car minus both the retail markup and the first-year deprecia-

The pressure coming from fleet sales is destabilizing the market and has the unfortunate side effect of also putting downward pressure on used car prices, thus hurting trade in

All of these are the kinds of things you would expect in a business re-cession, however. In fact, it is the way the real world reacts to cut prices in the face of the dismal demand for new cars these days.

In short, it is the downside of the same system that allows successful dealerships to rake in profits when times are good. At least some cus-tomers are benefiting, and that ultimately is what it will take to turn the current slide in retail sales around

Colleges pump economy while educating students

By Doug Funke staff writer

14B(LXP.C.R.W.G-128)

Higher education means big dollars as well as sens

There's Oakland University in Rochester with an annual budget of $61.8 million, Lawrence Technological University in Southfield with a budget of $18-20 million and Madonna University in Livonia with a budget of $17.5 million.

Those three institutions, along with Walsh College in Troy, St. Mary's College in Orchard Lake and William Tyndale College in Farmington Hills provide some 2,400 jobs.

While colleges are exempt from property taxes, people with jobs there pay all kinds of taxes, buy houses, cars, appliances, food and other things associated with day-today living. And often right in the community.

"Higher education is a major industry in southeast Michigan," said Robert Ellis, provost at Lawrence Tech.

David A. Spencer, interim president at Walsh, added, "There are some folks aware of the impact, but more probably see it as a community service rather than economic development operations."

Sister Mary Francilene Van de

Vyver, Madonna president, figures that her university annually pumps some $42 million directly and through dollar turnover into the economy.

"WE HAVE a mathematical formula the Association of Independent Colleges and Universities of Michigan has developed based on college revenue, student expenditures, college visits, increased alumni earnings," she said.

"Obviously, our faculty and staff and school does a lot of purchasing in the area," said Edward Meyer, St. Mary's president. "I would say the vast majority of money out of this institution goes locally. I know we make an impact, but to pin it down would be tough."

Oakland University spearheaded development of the 1;100-acre Oakland Technology Park adjacent to its campus in the early 1980s, said Keith Kleckner, provost there.

"Tremendous dollars are getting pumped into the area," he said. "This will ensure the economic viability of Michigan's basic industry, the auto industry."

in the future, Kleckner added

Ellis believes that a campus contributes more to a local economy than an industrial plant with the same number of workers due to the student factor.

"Most of our students do commute," he said. "Those who do use gas, eat lunches here. Restaurants around campus get an enormous amount of business from faculty and students.

"Lawrence Tech engineering students are very paramount at all major industrial and manufacturing companies in the area," Ellis said. "Engineers are out there generating knowledge, jobs and income for other people.

Spencer concurred. "As we produce graduates, they go out and create businesses; new jobs . . . and maintain growth in the community."

COLLEGES HAVE to survive to remain economic factors.

Together, OU, Lawrence Tech, Madonna, Walsh, St. Mary's and William Tyndale serve some 26,500 students pursuing degrees. All six of those institutions have been around a while. OU, which opened as a branch of Michigan State University in 1959, is the youngest.

Part of the marketing effort for Madonna College was changing its name. Here Livonia city

State University, University of Detroit Mercy, University of Michigan-Dearborn, Eastern Michigan University and the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor, some a short drive from local campuses.

Central Michigan University and MSU also offer degree programs in O&E communities through extension classes

The key is carving a niche, then getting that information out to prospective students.

COLLEGES STILL recruit at high schools and community colleges. But more and more focus on older, parttime, non-traditional students who earn while they learn.

"Because of diversity and the number of adult learners, there's a strong market as long as colleges relate to schedule needs, content needs and pricing needs," Van de Vyver said. Madonna is especially known for its nursing program, Walsh, a concentrated approach to business, Lawrence Tech, for architecture and engineering. 'Eighty to 85 percent of our students are here because they heard about us from other students," Van de Vyver said. "Happy students will bring in other students. St. Mary's is reluctant to accept an application from a prospective student unless meeting the candidate first, Meyer said. "It's silly for us to recruit a student if we can't prepare him.

"WE'RE A SMALL school . . where research isn't so strong. We are a Catholic school. We market that. Students are drawn to that, drawn to the smallness (486) of the place. We have high standards. They want to be pushed," he said.

"We try to market ourselves as a university offering a broad background," Kleckner said. "Students don't know where they're going to end up, so all of our programs have a strong liberal arts background.

"We're sort of in the middle," he continued. "We don't have as many programs as Ann Arbor or Michigan State, but more than a small place like Walsh or Madonna that is much more specialized."

Price isn't the major reason most students settle on a particular college or university, administrators agree.

"One fact we find in research is price is the third or fourth determinant," Spencer said. "First is program, second is the institution's reputation or image. A real close third is location.

"Some people get the breaks; others make their own.'

Mike and Jo Austin are beginning to face the harsh realities of college costs for their two children, Jill, who will be finishing her sophomore year in high school, and Ted, who is just completing his freshman year. A modest income and and other financial pressures have kept them from saving more than a modest amount for future college costs. They wonder what steps they should be taking now to allow their children the opportunity of attending the college of their choice.

The Austins have managed their financial resources relatively well over the past 20 years. Mike, 43, is a construction foreman and earns $39,000 per year. Jo is 42 and has remained home with the children, but she is thinking of going back to work as a receptionist to help pay for some of the college bills. This possibility will be discussed in a subsequent article.

They live in a comfortable house in Westland and have done a good job of setting a solid financial foundation. Mike's employer has a good insurance package of covering life and disability, and Mike has personal life insurance coverage of $250,000.

Mike insisted years ago that they establish an emergency nest egg. Despite the temptation a number of times to use this money to pay off debts or make a major purchase, it has grown to more than $15,000 and is currently in a certificate of deposit at a local bank.

THEIR FINANCIAL condition will receive a boost in June when they expect to receive a significant inheritance from Jo's mother, who recently died. They expect to receive $50,000. This was the catalyst that motivated them to write to us.

They were mulling over whether to use the inheritance to provide for Jill's and Ted's educational needs. But Jo's mother had specifically requested that the money be retained by Jo and used to ensure her personal future financial security.

They also believe that this money will be needed at retirement since Mike has no pension plan at work. The only retirement plan in place is a 401(K) savings plan that became available to Mike three years ago and which he immediately joined at the rate of 5 perce a of his salary.

To use this inheritance and nest egg for college costs would turn a college funding problem into a retirement problem. They ask, "We know that it is asking to have our cake and eat it too, but is there any way we can protect this asset and still provide significant help with our children's educational costs? You need to know that we put a high priority on providing the children with a good education.

First, let's review the cost of college education. Jill is an excellent student and would like to go to a small private college in the Midwest. She has looked at Albion College and Miami University of Ohio, but it appears that those institutions may be far out of grasp financially.

The cost is $15,000 per year now, and it could well be $20,000 per year by the time she enters college. Ted has had his eye on going to Michgian State University ever since he was in late elementary school. As a result, his costs would be about half of Jill's, or about $7,500 per year in current dollars.

BOTH CHILDREN plan to work at summer jobs to add to the $5,000 savings accumulated over the years from gifts and odd jobs. They are somewhat aware of their family's financial limitations.

An important point for the Austins to understand is that the cost of the institution should not necessarily be the primary factor in their choice of college for the children. This concept is sometimes hard to grasp for families of modest means, but it does not make it any less true. There are usually ways to find enough money and aid for college expenses, even after the governmental belt-tightening of the past several years.

The Austins need to start their planning right away. Some of the actions they take this year or next may significantly effect financial aid available. The earlier the process is started, the more likely it is the children will be able to attend the institutions of their choice.

A basic concept for them to understand in applying for financial aid is the concept of financial need. Each family is expected to pick up a cer-tain specific amount of college costs, called the "expected family contribution." This family contribution does not change based upon the cost of educational institution. If the family contribution is $4,000 at College A where yearly expenses are $3,500, the family contribution will also be $4,000 at College B, which may have an annual cost of $12,000.

FINANCIAL NEED is simply defined as the difference between the cost of the college and the expected family contribution. In the illustration, financial need at College A is zero, and it is $8,000 at College B. In this case, College B can help the Austins put together a financial aid package of $8,000. This aid package may be a combination of grants, scholarships, loans and work-study programs. It bears repeating that the family's expected contribution should be no larger than $4,000 regardless of the institution.

A major part of planning for college education costs can be pursuing strategies that reduce the expected family contribution. There are a number of significant strategies that the Austins can pursue to increase their eligibility for financial aid. As a brief overview, we would suggest that the Austins consider repositioning certain assets (including the inheritance), take out a home equity loan to consolidate debt, con-

The city of Plymouth Parks and Recreation Department will present its eighth annual ice show. Performances are scheduled 7:30 p.m. Friday, May 17, 1:30 and 7:30 p.m. Sat-urday, May 18, and 3 p.m. Sunday, May 19, at the Plymouth Cultural Center ice rink, 525 Farmer.

AAUW sale a (Danielle) Steel for some readers

By Julie Brown staff writer

A book doesn't have to be written by a Shakespeare or a Chaucer to surface at the annual book sale of the Plymouth Branch, American Association of University Women.

"Oh, no," said Lynne Homes, an AAUW member who's working on the used book sale. "We have everything."

Books by such popular authors as Sidney Sheldon and Danielle Steel will be sold, as will classics by Ernest Hemingway, John Steinbeck, Pearl S. Buck and others.

This year's sale will be Friday. May 31, and Saturday, June 1, in the gym at Starkweather Center, 550 N. Holbrook in Plymouth's Old Village. Hours will be from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Friday and 9 a.m. to noon Saturday. Saturday will be half-price day.

"A mystery lover's heaven this year," said Homes, a Plymouth Township resident. "We've got lots and lots of mysteries."

ROMANCE NOVELS by such authors as LaVyrle Spencer and others will be sold during the two-day event. Proceeds will be used for student scholarships.

"It's one of two major fund-raisers we have, the other being the play," said Carol Davis of Plymouth Township, an AAUW member involved in the sale. Each year, branch members stage a play for local children. "The book sale is just a wonderful opportunity for bargains," said Davis. Many hardcover books originally priced at $20 or more will go for a few dollars. Paperback bargains will be available, with choices to suit just about all reading tastes.

AAUW members work on pricing and sorting books all year long. They tend to toss a few titles they consider too raunchy.

This is the 37th annual sale, and the event has been popular through the years. In the past, some book-lovers have been lined up at the door for the opening day of the sale.

'So yes, they do like to read," said Davis, who also serves on the Dunning-Hough Library board in Plymouth.

IN RECENT years, branch members have held a smaller-scale paperback sale during the Plymouth Fall Festival. Proceeds from the used book sales provide scholarships for women who are returning to school.

Plymouth-Canton Community Education, the University of Michigan, Michigan State University, Wayne State University, Eastern Michigan University, Madonna University and Schoolcraft College are among schools receiving support from the sale.

Books are sorted by general category at the sale each year, although book-lovers are on their own when it comes to finding individual titles. There will be 26 categories, "one for each letter of the alphabet," Homes said. "This gym will be full."

Davis has found that people look for certain things at the sale.

"Cookbooks, cookbooks go really quickly," she said. Children's books are perennial favorites, as are biographies and sports/games books. "The Satanic Verses" by Salman Carol Davis(left) and Lynne Homes have deals in store for AAUW book sale goers.

Rushdie, the book that caused such a flap a while back, turned up among items donated for this year's sale. Books are donated throughout the year. A drop box is stationed in the Dunning-Hough Library for donated books.

Some records will be offered for sale, and some old and rare books will be available.

This is the first year the sale will be held at Starkweather, and organizers hope to get the word out about the new location, on Holbrook in Plymouth's Old Village. Signs will indicate where to park on sale days.

Former band members tune-up for reunion concert

By Julie Brown staff writer

20(P,C)

Some former members of the Symphony Band and Concert Band at Centennial Educational Park are now members of the "30-something" generation - or a bit beyond.

It has been a few years since some picked up their musical instruments, but they remember how enjoyable it was to play. That's why the musical-ly inclined alumni decided to have a reunion weekend.

Former band members will perform 3 p.m. Sunday, May 26, in Kel-lögg Park, Ann Arbor Trail at Main in downtown Plymouth. The concert will be moved to Plymouth Salem High School's auditorium, on Joy west of Canton Center in Canton, if it rains

"We're really looking forward to it," said Betty Smith, a co-chairwoman for the reunion. "It'll be a fun weekend filled with a lot of good

THE CONCERT, offered free of charge, will be co-sponsored by the city of Plymouth Parks and Recreation Department.

Several of the committee members got things going, said Smith, who teaches physical education at East Middle School in Plymouth. Graduates Tracy Massel, Jack Overhiser and Lew and Karen Burton thought such a reunion weekend would be a great idea.

An alumni picnic took place a few years ago in conjunction with a Marching Band reunion. Jim Grif-fith, director of bands at CEP, encouraged the other band students to organize such an event.

"I volunteered after it got going," said Smith, a 1978 Plymouth Salem High School graduate.

ORGANIZERS SENT out invita-tions and heard from about 80 graduates who "would be willing to dust off their cases and give it a go, give it a whirl.

"We were pleasantly surprised. For the committee members, it was encouraging. It'll be exciting, it'll be real exciting.

Organizers heard from many former band members who live in southeastern Michigan; in some cases, they weren't aware those graduates still lived in the area. Some plan to travel from more distant com-munities. Smith's brother, 1975 graduate Bob DeLano, lives in Virginia and will come to the reunion week-

For Jim Griffith's former musicians, it'll be deja vu all over again as Plymouth-Canton graduates gather to stage a free concert in Kellogg Park.

Others will come from New Jersey, Minnesota, California and other states. A Plymouth High School graduate from the late 1960s plans to attend. Most participants graduated between 1974 and 1979 or thereabouts.

MUSICIANS WILL begin the weekend with a Friday, May 24, rehearsal, followed by a social get-to-gether. Saturday, May 25, will include about five hours of rehearsal time, followed by Sunday morning rehearsal "if the powers that be de-cide we need it," Smith said. After the May 26 concert, a dinner party for alumni and spouses will take place. A Monday, May 27, family picnic is planned at Plymouth Township Park for those who can stay the extra day.

Some musicians have called in advance to get the music so they can practice. Organizers polled alumni on what they remembered best and wanted to play again. The concert will include "Russian Christmas Music" by Reed and "Broadway Curtain Time" by Krance, two alumni favorites, along with a number of other selections

"We've emphasized the fact that some of us might have to spend a little time practicing," said Smith, who grew up in Plymouth and now lives in Brighton. "We do have a number of professional musicians."

Some have remained active in the Plymouth Community Band or other musical groups.

THE ALUMNI will perform under the direction of Jim Griffith, who has been with the school district since 1957.

"I'm looking forward to it, I really am," said Griffith, CEP director of bands

He doesn't plan to take it easy during rehearsals. "Ob, absolutely. I'm going to give them more grief," he said. "I want to make them feel right at home.

"I'm sure they want to come back and make some beautiful music. We'll all work together to that end."

THE GRADUATES will be busy rehearsing and performing, but will find time to do some visiting. They'll talk about "kids, what we do, our careers and I'm sure a number of 'I remember this' stories," Smith said.

Most of the graduates played their final high school concert in Kellogg Park, so the weekend will bring back memories, she said. It's also beneficial for current students to see that friendship — and musical ability — can last through the years.

Marching Band alumni have re-turned to CEP through the years to perform at football games, Griffith said. Current students see them and realize that their involvement in the band meant a lot.

"I'm sure that that's had an impact," he said. "I don't think it's lost." on them at all."

French students find adventure on trip to area

By Julie Brown staff writer

ANY CHILDREN visit the Plymouth Historical Museum each year, but few travel all the way from France.

Youngsters from France did travel a few miles - or kilometers - to visit the museum last week. They're from Ormesson, outside of Paris, and are visiting the community as part of the French Back-to-Back program.

The 30 children arrived May 1 and are staying with Plymouth-Canton families during their three-week visit. They'll head home May 22.

"Oh, very nice," Eric Piedfer, teacher for the group, said of the warm welcome they've received. "It's a dream for us. All parents and teachers are very nice. The mood is very comfortable, very nice."

A Back-to-Back program has been held in the Plymouth-Canton com-munity for the past several years. French children visit the community, attend classes at a local school and do some sightseeing.

THE VISITORS stay with families during their visit. As part of the program, a group of local children then travels to France.

About 25 youngsters will visit Ormesson this June and July. They'll stay with the same French child they hosted in May.

Hoben Elementary School in Can-ton is the host school for this year's program. The French children are attending classes at Hoben. One day a week, children attend classes at their host child's school.

The travelers have visited a number of places, including Henry Ford Museum in Dearborn.

"We were very impressed by the cars, the planes and especially the steam locomotive," Piedfer said.

They enjoyed hearing the explana-tions of auto production and the assembly line as envisioned by Henry Ford. A Frenchman, Andre Citroen, was a contemporary of Ford's and had similar ideas about technological progress and social progress going hand in hand, Piedfer said. "These two men are very near, very close." Children have visited the Ann Arbor Hands-On Museum and the Plymouth Historical Museum. They followed their Thursday, May 9, trip to the Plymouth museum with a stop for ice cream at Cloverdale's in Plymouth

MOST OF THE French children are 10 or 11. Their teacher hasn't seen much evidence of homesickness

"It depends. Some are more homesick," Piedfer said.

He's had some help in taking care of the children. His parents, Gerard and Jackie Piedfer, are traveling with the group as counselors. "Oh, I think people are so nice," Jackie Piedfer said. "Parents are so involved in this program. They did a lot with them." The children haven't learned too much English yet, she said, although they have learned some basic phrases to help them get by. 'It's so lovely to see French and Americans to speak together." The language barrier doesn't keep participants from communicating, she said This is the first time in the United States for most of the children, and HE'S NOTICED that Hoben Elementary School is quite modern. It was built just a few years ago and is the newest grade school in the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

"Our schools are not so modern and well-organized," he said. There isn't as much administrative and clerical help available for educators in France, particularly at the elementary level.

The French visitors aren't the only people who are learning about a different country. American participants are learning as well.

Sarah Pong, an 11-year-old from Ormesson, is staying with the Ross family in Plymouth. Lynn Ross and her husband, Ron, are the parents of Kari Ross, 11, a fifth grader at Allen Elementary School in Plymouth. This is the first year the family's

'It just sounded so exciting," said Lynn Ross, a psychologist in the Livonia Public Schools. "We just thought it would be a real growth opportunity

"It's just been a wonderful, wonderful opportunity. I've seen all our youngsters mature They've enjoyed having Sarah stay with them.

"She's just absolutely delightful, she's just charming," Ross said. Sarah's learned to speak more English throughout her stay. The two girls enjoy playing the piano together. Sarah's enjoyed roller skating at

The two families have been communicating since last November, so Sarah knew a little bit about what to expect. Kari Ross will be among local children traveling to France next month.

"She's very independent and very outgoing, and is just looking forward to the adventure," Lynn Ross said She can hardly wait to study French in high school." Senon yold in Church music directors are fast becoming like baseball players who know to bunt; politicians who don't break promises and gas station at-tendants who wipe the windshield and check the oil. A dying breed.

Concert planist Gerald Goslin estimates 20 churches in the area are currently without music directors.

"Unfortunately, it's getting worse," said Goslin, who lives in Redford. Of course, Garden City Presbyterian isn't one of them.

The adjunct professor in both pi-ano and voice at Oakland Community College arrived in February at the urch near the corner of Ford and Middlebelt. GC Presbyterian was without a permanent music director. Several people filled in in the interim, but the position was far too important to let slide with temporar-

"(People) don't recognize what would happen if there wasn't any music," said the Rev. Gareth Baker. pastor of Garden City Presbyterian Church. "If you took it away, the service would be dead . . . I think it's taken for granted."

Enter Goslin, who is a highly re-garded concert pianist and raised in the Presbyterian church. More importantly, he's been music director at several churches, most recently for two years at Southwestern United Presbyterian Church in Detroit.

ALREADY IN just a few months since Goslin arrived, Baker said there is consistent attendance by choir members and a better variety in the music

The longtime pastor of the church paints a picture of a musical director who possesses an odd combination of perfectionism and patience.

"I guess I would say, musically, he's very enthusiastic," Baker said. "He wants it to be perfect. He wants to do his part right and he wants everyone to do their part right. He's always trying to improve.

"He's willing to give extra time in order for someone to become better.

The quest for excellence doesn't stop at the church steps. Goslin's managers, Brian Harris and Shane Taugher, relate how 18-hour practice sessions on the keyboards are not uncommon for Goslin Goslin's Redford quad-level home has four pianos, including a restored 1891 Steinway, two church organs and a harpsichord. His wife, Margaret Goslin, is music director at First Baptist of Ferndale and works with the Livonia Schools.

"She's on level four and I'm on level three. There's little (sound) bleed through at the house," he said.

Gerald Goslin laments the fact that church music directors are decreasing in number.

Somehow Goslin finds time to give private lessons in piano, voice and music theory in addition to performing on the concert circuit.

He's also released two albums, one is of sacred music and the other a piano solo LP. The piano solo, "Mag-ic of the Masters," is available at Dearborn Music

GOSLIN BEGAN taking piano les-sons at age 41/2; started on the organ soon after. His involvement in music stems to Westminster Church in Detroit where there were 19 pianos and seven organs. He would play the organ for Sunday school classes and sang in the youth choir.

"You're there to help people worship God," said Goslin, explaining his role as a church music director. 'Outside of the church, when you're in concert, you're more of a performer

"I think everything a Christian does is a service to God. When you're in church, it's more directed at

At Garden City Presbyterian, Gos-lin directs the adult, children's, men's and women's choirs and the Brass Ensemble. He also has to coordinate the anthems with the sermons planned by the pastor.

"Some of the themes, you have to look really hard . . . Fve never had a Sunday where I wasn't able to find something.

Part of the reason is the staff at Garden City Presbyterian is quite organized and the people are friend-ly, according to Goslin. Also, there's a strong base of young couples, something that appears to be miss-ing with mainline denominations.

But Goslin believes something else is amiss at some churches.

"I've always felt Christian musicians should be the best," Goslin said.

Decent housing for all should be a top priority

One of the great values of the area in which we live is good housing. Our homes are important to us. The dream for people in the Detroit area is to own your home. Individual home ownership has been strong. It has also been a powerful force for building community

We all realize that it is getting more and more difficult for young families to move into a home of their own. We have heard something about the homeless in our country. What we do not hear about is people who work but cannot afford a home.

More and more people in America are renting at prices they cannot afford. They may never be able to afford a home of their own. According to the Economic Policy Institute in Washington, D.C., 78 million Americans cannot afford the housing in which they are living. The shocking thing is that our nation is less and less committed to addressing this problem

ALL OF THE current economic trends reduce the probability that our nation will have affordable housing. The recession reduces the chance that private interests will build low-cost housing. The banks are not eager to lend money for this kind of purpose. The federal and state governments have reduced their investment in housing.

Ten years ago, the federal government spent $1 on housing for every $7 it spent on the military, according to The Christian Science Monitor. Now the ratio is $1 to $44. We in America just do not care if people can afford to live in a decent home.

While the homeless and almost homeless try to cope in the Detroit area, we hear that there are 35,000 homes which are abandoned but could be lived in. The political climate in both our city and state favors money-making schemes and sports stadiums but not decent hous-

Rehabilitating homes is not a priority. Where will this lead us? How bad does the problem have to get before there will be political pressure to address this critical problem?

Religious people should care. People become righteous about a war in the Middle East; at the same time, we refuse to acknowledge the economic and social changes that are making decent homes impossible for so many. Could most of us who have a decent home afford to buy it today?

I BELIEVE that there is a moral and religious blindness in too many people today. "Am I my brother's or sister's keeper?" Many people answer "No!"

How does this live itself out with regard to building community, preventing people from turning to crime, or aiding the next generation? If we ignore housing and continue in this direction I believe we will reap awful rewards.

The Detroit area has a great and long tradition of good homes. We have a heritage and a stewardship to uphold. Even more, we have a responsibility to our whole society, especially to the next generations to give them a chance to live a decent, full life

We need a change in our attitudes. We need a change in what we define as a religious issue. We need compassion for the plight of so many in our nation.

The Rev. David T. Strong is pastor of Central United Methodist Church in Detroit.

Sellers can save on traditional commissions

By Doug Funke staff writer

You neither have to pay a commission of about 6 percent to an agent for selling your house nor tend to all the details yourself to pocket the savings.

Some firms will find a buyer and shepherd the paperwork during the sale for a flat fee or a much smaller percentage.

There is one catch - sellers have to show their houses to prospects.

"The biggest advantage as opposed to the old-fashioned Realtor is sellers are paying much less and receiving as much or more services and expertise," said J.R. Paine, owner of Home Marketing Specialists

Her company, with offices in Southfield, Rochester, Fraser and Romulus, charges an up-front listing fee of $298, then $20.20 per $1,000 of the sales price at closing.

That totals $1,914 on a sale of $80,000 or 2.4 percent. "We can offer a full line of services to the seller and save them thousands of dollars. That's the bottom line," said Mario Ferrante, marketing manager for a Help-U-Sell franchise in Plymouth.

His firm charges a flat fee at closing based on the sales price of the house - $2,250, for instance, on a sale of less than $80,000 and $2,950 on sales from $80,000 to $150,000.

A 6-PERCENT commission, fairly common in real estate transactions here, amounts to $4,800 on an $80,000 house.

Joel Schmidt had nothing but good things to say about the work of HMS.

He listed in Farmington for $118,000 and sold for $114,000. Schmidt thought he had sold the house on his own a year earlier, but the deal fell through when the prospective buyer failed to qualify for a mortgage.

"They (HMS) sold my house in a hurry, in about a three-week time frame. They were very professional," Schmidt said. "It was worth the money to have them handle all the phone calls and paperwork." It took Help-U-Sell only 24 hours to sell his house listed at $82,000 in Westland for $80,000, said Dennis Beaver.

"I really did struggle with (a decision to hire) a 6-7 percent (agent) to sell the house," he said. "I thought there's no reason we can't do some of the work ourselves like showing it. We needed someone to do the paperwork."

Both Ferrante and Paine described their firms as full-service brokerages.

"I GIVE market analysis, just like any other Realtor," Ferrante said. "I will list your property, supply sig-nage. I do all the paperwork along the way through closing. I will guar-antee classified advertising. They're guaranteed to be part of an exclusive marketing system."

"We find the buyers," Paine said. "We provide every service from list-ing to closing. We extensively advertise."

Paine and Ferrante disagreed with a popular belief that sellers, be-cause they're too emotionally at-tached, shouldn't walk prospects through their houses. "I hear every day from buyers how grateful they were to have the 'The idea is not to be critical of any system. We have a free enterprise system and an owner should have a choice.'

seller show the house," she said. "We feel a seller knows more about his own particular home than a Realtor," he said. Paine and Ferrante try to avoid

Tax act provides relief for builders of low-income housing

I am a developer and understand that under the Tax Reform Act of 1986, Congress created new incentives to encourage the private sector to participate in the provision of affordable housing. Could your briefly give me some insight into that?

You are correct. In 1986 Congress created new incentives to encourage the private sector, especially corporations, to participate in developing affordable housing. The Low Income Housing Tax Credit was established as part of the tax reform act as a credit against federal income taxes. Corporations (other than personal service and sub-chapter S corporations) can use unlimited amount of LIHTC to reduce federal tax liability from business income (subject to the general limitations on business tax credits). But LIHTC cannot be used to reduce the alternative minimum tax. LIHTC is granted over a 10-year period. Depending upon the type of mortgage utilized to finance the housing, the total credit over the 10year period may approximate up to 40 percent or 90 percent of the original cost of the housing. Unlike the repealed investment tax credit, LIHTC does not reduce the tax basis of real estate assets.

Additionally, the LIHTC may be carried back to recover income taxes previously paid or carried forward to reduce future tax liabilities. Investment corporations may also use the passive tax losses generated by the housing. These losses, which are mainly due to tax deductions for interest and appreciation, may be used to offset regular business income as well as passive income and, for certain corporations, portfolio income. Obviously, this is a detailed and complex subject, and you are best advised to consult with a tax adviser of your choosing to get the exact details of this credit and whether it is applicable to your situation.
