Rep candidates pitch voters at forum

The winner will go to Lansing

election '91

By Kevin Brown
staff writer

There were no major blunders. And no candidate's oratory shamed others into withdrawing from the state House race.

The scene was a League of Women Voters sponsored forum Wednesday in Plymouth Township. All three candidates for the 36th District state House seat got a chance to state their positions on issues affecting residents.

CANDIDATES GEORGINA GOSS, Jerry Vorva and Deborah Whyman appeared at the one-and-a-half hour forum, before more than 100 filling the former Friendly restaurant at Ann Arbor and Lilley roads, now containing offices and a meeting hall.

The candidates, all Republicans, agreed on trimming state spending, limiting legislators' terms, educating the young to head off drug abuse and all said they were against quotas in hiring.

Goss, Northville Township supervisor, stressed her experience, efforts to protect her township's wetlands, and position as chairwoman of the Western Townships Utilities Authority.

Vorva, a Plymouth city commissioner, said he got into politics because he was frustrated by politicians who are "unresponsive and not responsible to the taxpayers," adding he's a person "who says what he means and means what he says."

Whyman, a systems engineer for Ford Motor Co., said, "I am a common person, not a career politician," adding families should "keep more of what they earn."

Different ways to cut state spending were offered by each candidate, in the League of Women Voters-sponsored forum.

Whyman suggested reducing fat in government. "There is foolish spending we do in this state," she said, adding that spending $11,000 on an aerobics instructor to lead prisoners in exercise is wasteful. She said arts funding should be cut, and tax credits provided to those donating to arts groups.

state budget, and said a sales tax increase earmarked for education could be presented for voters' approval. Goss said she supports a property assessment freeze, raising the homestead property tax credit, and added "some cutbacks are necessary" in arts funding.

Vorva said, "I have never seen a government agency that is not fat," adding budget cuts are needed. He also suggested that legislators lead by example, and cut their pay. Saying that by better educating children the state can head off other problems, he suggested that school districts can also trim fat from their budgets.

"We should share the tax load to make it as fair as possible," he said, and not burden homeowners.

Asked for their views on the Michigan Model — a public school health curriculum that stresses problem solving and critical thinking skills — all three candidates said the model needs some revisions. Asked if he favored retaining the model, Vorva

Every other year, the skunk population rises dramatically before falling the next year. Mike Broughton of Critter Control shows how a skunk is removed from a trap without harming the animal, as business owner Kevin Clark looks on.

Raising a stink

Skunk removal: a risky business

By Kevin Brown
staff writer

PEPE LEPEW and his skunky kin are on the loose in Plymouth.

"There seems to be a big problem in the Old Village area," said Kevin Clark, owner of Critter Control in Old Village.

Clark said that in the last three months, he's been getting about 25 calls per month to remove skunks from under porches and decks or from sheds and garages.

IN RESPONDING to one call, Clark removed 11 adult skunks from underneath one house.

Why the increase in skunks? Clark shows Department of Natural Resources statistics which show that the skunk population follows a pattern of being down one year, up the next, down again the next year, up the next, and so on.

For the next few weeks, Clark is offering to come and remove skunks for homeowners who report an actual den hole on their property. His business phone number is 453-6300.

Clark and assistant Mike Broughton, a wildlife management biologist, place oblong fenced traps near a skunk den, baited with tuna fish. The cage door closes after a skunk enters.

The skunk is then removed by using a long pole with an adjustable loop end. The loop is placed over the animal's head and behind his front legs, to secure the animal without choking it.

'Extreme success'

Recycling is saving the township money

By Kevin Brown
staff writer

Nearly one year after it began, Plymouth Township's mandatory recycling program is saving money.

"It's been an extreme success," said James Anulewicz, director of public services. He said an estimated 95-97 percent are complying with the program, started in September 1990.

STILL, THE TOWNSHIP plans in the next newsletter to remind homeowners of what's acceptable and what's not, when putting out recyclable material.

Anulewicz said such an effort is needed. Waste Management Inc., which empties the bins placed at curbside, has reported that two loads of recycled plastic were rejected because plastic lids contaminated the loads.

"One lid can spoil 1,000 pounds of good plastic," Anulewicz explained.

Also, some have been including glossy newspaper inserts in with recycled newspaper, and that can spoil loads which are sold to defray costs of the program.

Waste Management reports that 31 percent of the bins "continue to have glossy inserts," Anulewicz said.

"That is one of the problems we will try to address. To the end market, it makes a tremendous difference," he said.

Anulewicz said he gets calls from residents who ask why plastics numbered three through seven can't be put out for recycling. "There's just no market for it," he said, adding township officials and their trash hauler continue to look at market demand.

ACCORDING TO A RECYCLING study Anulewicz prepared for the township board of trustees, the quarterly cost for trash hauling per house was $10 to $12. This year, with 31 percent of the township's garbage being recycled or composted, that quarterly cost is at about $9.50.

Composted material makes up 13 percent of the township's trash load, while recyclables make up 18 percent, the study found. Of total recyclables, newspapers make up 69 percent.

Anulewicz said 71 to 75 percent of homeowners are putting out full bins, which is encouraged by the trash hauler.

In composting, "One of the problems that we seem to be running into is separation," he said. Bags or cans containing compost should have no food waste included, he said.

Along with Dearborn and Southfield, Plymouth Township was one of the first communities in Michigan to start a curbside recycling program. Officials from other communities seeking to start such programs call Anulewicz "on a daily basis," he said.

While there have been some reported incidents of bin stealing, "That has been extremely low," Anulewicz said.

Joe Russell, city of Plymouth solid waste coordinator, said city officials are considering starting a mandatory curbside recycling program in April.

said, "We cannot be afraid of knowledge. We can't tell our kids not to think about things."

On sex education in schools, Whyman said, "Abstinence training works — That's what we should be teaching in our schools." Goss said the subject "should be taught in the homes," adding, "Schools can come up with an acceptable program." Vorva said students "are not getting the education from home," adding schools can put together good programs.

ASKED TO STATE their stands on abortion, Whyman said she was pro-life, Vorva said he was pro-choice, and Goss said if the issue came before legislators she'd make her decision based on the wishes of the district.

Both Vorva and Whyman said they were against Plymouth and Plymouth Township efforts to buy Canton's Mettetal Airport. Goss said, "It is clearly a local issue," adding it should be resolved locally.

Asked how they would encourage new business development in Michigan, Goss said she favored lowering the single business tax and easing restrictions. Whyman suggested eliminating the small business tax and creating incentives for business to locate here and less government regulation. Vorva said a well educated work force "will act as a magnet" for businesses, adding, "We need to assist business."

The 36th District is made up of Plymouth and Plymouth Township, Northville and Northville Township, and north, central and far east Canton. The three candidates are competing in an Aug. 6 primary. The winner faces no Democratic challenger in the Aug. 27 general election.

Police arrest apologetic fugitive

After Plymouth police told a man wanted on a charge out state that they'd have to arrest him, a 25-year-old Detroit man screamed "No way!" and ran.

But police soon caught and arrested the man, in the 2 a.m. incident Thursday. Police had stopped the man on a traffic violation, then after running a computer check discovered he was wanted on a charge of fleeing and eluding police in White Cloud, according to the Plymouth police report.

After his arrest, the man apologized to police, and said he didn't want to return to White Cloud, near Grand Rapids, the police report continued. The man was transferred to White Cloud police.

COOL THEFT: The theft of an air conditioner from a Plymouth business was reported early Wednesday, as a nearby homeowner saw the thief leave the scene at 12:40 a.m., according to a report filed with police.

The homeowner told police he heard a sound like breaking glass and footsteps, near ARA Tube on Pearl, the report continued. A window-mounted air conditioner was reported stolen.

The thief was described as a heavy-set white man in his mid 20s, crime watch

with sandy-brown hair past his shoulders and wearing a T-shirt and jeans.

WHO'S DRIVING?: A car parked on Pearl apparently slipped out of gear Wednesday, as it rolled across the street and eventually stopped after striking a business at 312 Pearl, damaging the business, according to a Plymouth police report. No injuries were reported in the 12:35 p.m. incident.

CAR TV STOLEN: A 10-inch TV mounted in a van was discovered missing Wednesday, a Plymouth Township man reported to police.

The theft from the 1989 Ford Econoline van parked on Firwood was discovered at 10 a.m. A video player was also taken in the theft, according to the report filed with township police.

Loss from the theft was reported at $500, and damage to the van was reported at $100 as a thief broke a side passenger window to get inside and damaged the wood trim housing the TV.

CAR STOLEN: A 1984 Pontiac Trans Am was reported stolen Wednesday from a home on Firwood near Brownell in Plymouth Township.

There was no broken glass or other evidence of how the car was stolen at the scene, township police reported. Police are investigating the theft, discovered at 9 a.m.

SISTERS: A Plymouth Township woman, 33, told police Wednesday she would file assault charges against her sister, 45, claiming her sister punched and kicked her and pulled her hair in an argument over use of a van.

The incident was sparked when the younger sister turned down the older sister's request to use her mother's van, according to the report filed with township police.

Skunk removal is risky

By DNR rules, "They can be released on private property with the landowner's permission," Clark said, adding certain area farmers allow this.

What will happen to the captured skunk is up to the homeowner, he said. "They can be released on site, released in an alternate location, or humanely euthanized," he said.

The latter option is performed by the Humane Society, which uses gas, he said.

ONE MIGHT ASSUME that getting sprayed by a captured skunk would be a main occupational hazard, but Clark said it's not really a problem.

"Usually they don't even spray," Broughton said. "They have to get real upset."

In demonstrating how to remove a skunk from a trap with a loop-end pole, a skunk raises his rear end and sends an arc of scent gland excretion about eight feet away, where it falls harmlessly near a fence. "They can spray 15 feet with accuracy," Clark said.

Should one get sprayed by a skunk, Clark suggests washing in something acidic to remove the smell — tomato juice or vinegar.

To remove the smell, "Mostly it just takes a lot of time," he said. One reason skunks can flourish in the city, Clark said, is "not many things mess with them."

September school bond vote set

By M.B. Dillon
staff writer

Voters in the Plymouth-Canton school district will be asked in a special election Tuesday, Sept. 24, to approve a $59.7 million bond issue to build two new schools.

The bond issue also would pay for capital improvements in the district, including $12 million in high technology equipment for K-12 classrooms.

BALLOT WORDING was approved last week by the Plymouth-Canton Board of Education.

Part of the $59 million would be used to build, furnish and equip two new elementary schools in Canton, and to add classrooms to three existing elementary schools as well as to Canton and Salem high schools.

If approved, the bond issue would put into place recommendations proposed by the "2010 Committee," a group that since last October has studied the district's needs.

The committee is comprised of 50 community leaders, administrators and parents, representing schools throughout the district.

"We're trying to look at bringing the district up into the 20th century," said Glenn Schroeder, a former Plymouth-Canton school board president who is co-chairing the 2010 Committee's Existing Facilities subcommittee.

"A lot of the school districts in this area are going out and funding technological changes in their classrooms with bond issues.

"If this bond issue fails, I think the district is going to be poorer for it," Schroeder said.

Because the district's elementary schools are overcrowded and studies project further growth in elementary enrollment, the 2010 Committee is recommending the addition of eight classrooms each at Eriksson, Field and Hulsing elementary schools and the construction of two elementaries in Canton.

"THERE APPEARS to be a significant shortage of classrooms," said Schroeder. Indications are "we should build two new schools, and they should be built in the southern part of the district. That's where the population growth is."

"The district has a site between Canton Center and Beck Road south of Warren Road that looks like an ideal site to put in an elementary. Another school south of Ford Road is probably desirable," he added.

Eventually, schools will have to be built in the northwestern section of the district, "but not right away. Looking out 10 years, we might want to put other schools to the northwest in Plymouth Township."

PLYMOUTH-CANTON SCHOOL officials have toured districts in and out-of-state that have introduced computer, video and satellite technology into the classroom. Plymouth-Canton is seeking federal funding to make the district a national demonstration site for such high technology.

The $12 million that would be designated in the bond issue "would give us a very good start, but it isn't the entire amount required," said Schroeder.

More should be known in three to six months about whether Plymouth-Canton will receive a matching federal grant.

"It seems there's a fairly reasonable chance the district will get it," said Schroeder.

"We visited two or three different districts (including Romulus) that have these technologies. It's a great teaching tool. These districts utilize computers to a greater degree than we do currently. They have computer labs for writing and computer labs for advanced mathematics. There've been significant additions of computers in chemistry and physics as well," he said.

"We want to start with the elementary classrooms and increase the use of computers and television for teaching aids."

OVERCROWDING AT THE HIGH schools would be addressed by the conversion with bond money of the welding shop area at Canton High School into about eight classrooms. There's existing space at Sa-

Teachers focus on language skills

More than 50 teachers from the Plymouth Canton Community Schools participated recently in a three-day workshop on whole language instruction.

The workshop, "Whole Language: Integrated Learning Workshop," focused on reading, writing and language arts programs, according to Shelia Alles, reading specialist and coordinator of the program.

In whole language instruction, students learn language as a whole process using many reading, writing and oral language skills, including phonics. The focus is placed on developing meaning, as well as students acquiring specific skills.

"For many years, students were exposed almost exclusively to drill and practice materials," Alles said. "While basic skills are not overlooked, the concentration now is placed on direct reading instruction using a learner-focused curricula with emphasis on the whole child as an active learner in the classroom."

Fifty-two first-, second- and third-grade teachers from Plymouth Canton participated in the workshop. The workshop was presented by Laura Conlon of the Wright Group, a professional organization which conducts workshops in the area of whole language.

The workshop was divided into three one-day segments. Day one focused on the need for a balanced reading program. Emphasis was placed on phonics, meaning and structure. Participants learned how to create an integrated learning environment using reading centers, shared reading techniques and various elements of a daily reading program.

The second segment concentrated on a balanced writing program. Teachers learned strategies for creating successful writers, which included model writing, journal writing, guided writing, content writing and spelling.

Day three was spent on balance in the overall language arts program. Participants were exposed to strategies for helping children gain the knowledge and skills they need to apply their learning to assigned tasks. In addition, Conlon simulated a teacher's daily schedule by bringing together all of the whole language teaching methods.

"The workshop gave teachers a first-hand look at whole language reaching methods with an opportunity to ask questions and share classroom experiences," Alles said. Follow-up workshops will be held this fall, she added.

Little links, but lotta fun

Players enjoy mini golf

All golfers aren't headed for the links at Fellows Creek Golf Course in Canton. Some head to a place with a smaller scale, the Canton Fun Center, a miniature golf course on Michigan Avenue in Canton Township.

But just because there aren't any 200 yard drives, doesn't mean the players don't have fun. And the putting? It's just as intense.

lem for four classrooms, Schroeder said. The bond issue also would finance the expansion of the cramped Salem cafeteria.

The changes would accommodate "present growth based on the existing population," at the high schools, he said. "The Future Facilities subcommittee will look at what we do in terms of additional high schools. Within 10 years, we'll have to do something."

Every school in the district would receive bond money to finance capital improvements identified by their respective staffs, added Schroeder.

Improvements include expanded media centers, and the updating of electrical, plumbing, heating and mechanical facilities.

As Schroeder sees it, the bond issue's biggest plus is that it won't mean more taxes.

"There are two millages that taxpayers pay: one is the operating millage and the other is debt retirement millage. The operating millage is around 35 mills, or $35 per $1,000 of assessed valuation. The debt retirement is 2.3 mills, or $2.30 per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

"This bond issue can be handled by the district without any change in the debt retirement of 2.3 mills. We don't have to increase or charge to accomplish this $59 million bond issue. If voters authorize the district to sell the bonds and to pay the interest and principal out of the existing debt retirement millage of 2.3 mills, we don't have to pay additional monies, which is a great selling point."

Airport expansion spurs new Sumpter wetlands

By Wayne Peat
staff writer

It's the largest wetlands project of its type in the Midwest, possibly the world, but it's not necessarily the answer to all wetlands issues.

Wayne County is planning to create nearly 200 acres of wetlands in rural Sumpter Township, replacing wetlands expected to be lost during ongoing airport expansion.

The man-made wetlands could prove the largest project of their type ever undertaken, but project engineers say wetlands mitigation might not be the answer to every community's wetlands woes.

"WE'RE NOT suggesting mitigation is the answer, but because it's available it allows us to move forward with development," said Steve Ott of Johnson, Johnson & Roy, a private contractor that is overseeing the county wetlands mitigation project.

Wetlands mitigation — building new marshes and ponds for displaced plant and animal life — has been endorsed by federal, state and local politicians. Both President George Bush and Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara have endorsed the concept of "no net loss" — replacing wetlands acre for acre.

Many environmentalists, however, are cool to the concept, believing it would bring more damage than benefit.

Due to the expense and amount of work required, however, mitigation is generally considered only for major development projects.

"There is expense involved," Ott said. "The county hasn't yet acquired all the land."

The chosen site — three miles west of I-275 — features abundant surface water, Ott said.

It's distance from the airport is also seen as a plus. Ducks and other water fowl have occasionally posed a safety concern by flying into the engines of low flying aircraft.

Perhaps the most intently-watched aspect of the project will involve removal of endangered plant and animal species. It would be seen as a major boost to wetlands mitigation if plants and animal thrive in the new setting.

In addition to building wetlands, the county will also build a buffer zone, separating the land from nearby farms.

"We know we don't want to build wetlands up to the edge of the road," Ott said.

In what is the largest wetlands project of its type in the Midwest, possibly the world, Wayne County is planning to create nearly 200 acres of wetlands in rural Sumpter Township, replacing wetlands expected to be lost during ongoing airport expansion.

The county site is scheduled to include 179 wooded acres and 60 acres of shallow to deep water. Wetlands mitigation plans were reviewed by a citizen advisory panel including representatives of the University of Michigan-Dearborn, the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments and county parks.

Adopt local wetlands laws, experts say wetlands on their own, Dean said, due to insufficient state maps.

But she also advised communities to build partnerships with Michigan Department of Natural Resources officials and developers.

Building state/local partnerships could prove difficult, Dean acknowledged, due to limited DNR staff and time, but she said the DNR usually responds to programs — like Tuesday's — that bring many communities together.

LOCAL CITIES and townships may find they need to draft wetlands protection ordinances, Dean said, but other options, including the state wetlands permit process and local site planning and review, should be explored first.

Oakland and West Bloomfield townships have already adopted wetlands protection ordinances. Rochester Hills and Southfield also have wetlands ordinances, with Southfield recently adding a woodlands protection ordinance as well.

Representatives of two area environmental groups said they would take Dean's advice to heart, though in slightly different ways.

"We're already spending a good deal of our time on education," said Heidi Wayco, a board member of Friends of the Rouge, the Livonia-based agency that sponsors the annual volunteer Rouge Rescue.

Environmental education programs to developers could form the basis of a future Rouge project, she added.

Education projects are also under way through the Clinton River Watershed Council, a group which primarily serves residents in north Oakland and Macomb counties, according to council member Peggy Johnson.

But Johnson said many developers in her area already appeared to be getting the message on wetlands protection.

"I'd say the better developers are already taking wetlands protection into consideration," Johnson said. "It's the Johnny-come-latelies that sometimes cause prob-

"IT SEEMS people have come around 180 degrees on the issue," she said. "There was a time when we'd pay people to clear up marshy areas. Now, developers themselves show pictures of their property as seen through a wetlands site. They know it adds to the value."

PALINDROMIC ARTHRITIS
There are over 100 different kinds of arthritis, and some are unusual even to doctors. Palindromic Arthritis fits in that category. This arthritis is characterized by pain that comes on suddenly and then marches progressively to other joints. If the arthritis begins in the ankles, it will work up to the knees, next to the hips and then leave. If the condition starts in the hands, it will move up to the elbows, shoulders, neck, and leave. Palindromic arthritis can come at the same time each year, last a set number of days, disappear only to return again next year in the same pattern. Or, the attacks may come throughout the year, but will reoccur in 3-4 month intervals never varying in its appearance and leave. The cause is unknown. Effective treatment is difficult to identify as the condition subsides spontaneously; few practitioners accumulate enough patients to comment as to what therapy helps. Usually injection of swollen joints provides sufficient relief until a natural remission occurs. Occasionally a patient with palindromic arthritis becomes part of a new drug study. The patient's recovery is attributed to the drug rather than to nature, and the public is misled into expecting more from a new therapy than it really offers.

Con-Con haunts 'closed' presidential primary

WORDS UTTERED BY Weldon O. Yeager in the 1962 state Constitutional Convention came back last week to haunt Zolton Ferency.

Republican Yeager, most recently a West Bloomfield resident, was a delegate to Con-Con from the Livonia-Redford area of Wayne County three decades ago.

Ferency, a long-time politician and professor, was plaintiff in the current lawsuit challenging Michigan's "closed" 1992 presidential primary.

A three-judge Court of Appeals panel upheld Michigan's closed primary — for which voters must register by political party at least 30 days in advance — as constitutional.

Yeager offered a proposal to prohibit closed primaries constitutionally. "A subcommittee took a look at it," Yeager said 30 years ago, "and stated to me they turned it down as being legislative."

THE COMMITTEE thinks it sim-

ply unwise," said delegate James K. Pollack, a University of Michigan political scientist, "to write into the constitution either the open or the closed primary and therefore hope that you will defeat the amendment."

Pollack and other delegates decided it was up to the Legislature whether Michigan had "open" primaries, where voters decide in the voting booth which party's ballot they will mark, or "closed" primaries, where they must register by party in advance.

The court opinion reported

Yeager's amendment went down 55 to 60.

Later in the convention, delegate Peter Buback, later sheriff of Wayne County, said, "I rise to oppose the Yeager amendment for the following reasons: in the first place, it is strictly a legislative matter and should not be in the Constitution."

Yeager's amendment lost on a 58-58 tie vote.

MICHIGAN WILL continue to use the open primary next August when voters pick candidates for U.S. Congress, the state House, county and township offices.

But earlier in the year, they will hold their first closed primary of this century when they choose between presidential candidates.

Democrats needed the change because national party rules prohibit the seating of national convention delegates picked in an open process. Democrats had two bitter experiences with the open process: in 1972, when Alabama's George Wallace won half the vote due to a large crossover vote, and in 1988, when Jesse Jackson won half the vote in a loose caucus system.

Republicans had their own problem with an influx of conservative newcomers supporting Pat Robertson for president. It began in 1986 when the Robertson forces fielded a swarm of new people as precinct delegates, assuring them a major role in the state convention.

Result was the 1988 law setting up the closed presidential primary in 1992.

FERENCY RAN for governor in 1966, split with the Democratic Party over the Vietnam war, ran several times as a Human Rights Party candidate, returned to the Democratic fold, became an Ingham County commissioner, taught criminal justice at Michigan State University and ran unsuccessfully for a state Senate nomination last year.

His lawsuit sought to halt Secretary of State Richard Austin from conducting the '92 closed presidential primary. The Democratic and Republican parties helped Austin with friendly briefs.

Ferency's argument was that the law added a new qualification for voting not contained in the Constitution. He won at the Circuit Court level.

Reversing the lower court, appeals Judges David H. Sawyer, Harold Hood and William B. Murphy dipped into Con-Con records to determine the delegates' intent.

Yeager, who could not be reached for comment, went on to serve as state representative from northwest Detroit, secretary of the state Republican Party and West Bloomfield Township trustee. He was the 1986 GOP candidate against Austin for secretary of state.

Sniping misses target by both gun lobbyist sides

The sniping going on in the war over gun control basically pits two groups against each other, and it really doesn't have much bearing on folks who like to shoot at targets or animals.

On one side are the guilt-ridden liberals who are ashamed of our cultural heritage, which included the use of guns in the taming of a wilderness.

And on the other side is the National Rifle Association, which seems to think that we all have a right to walk around with assault rifles.

Recently I was in the market for a shotgun for bird hunting and picked up a copy of "Shotgun News," a publication that's been sort of a Blue Book for folks in the market for hunting weapons.

When I looked inside, there was every type of military weapon, but no shotguns.

THAT'S NUTS. As somebody who believes in the Second Amendment and likes to do a bit of hunting, I'm sick and tired of both sides. I'm all for banning the sale of military assault rifles and the control of handguns. If they save even one life, the measures are worth it.

There is little use for an assault rifle. It does too much damage to a deer, and it would turn a grouse or a duck into a puff of feathers. And if you want a handgun for legitimate reasons, there's no problem with waiting a few days.

What's at the heart of the gun control debate between the ban-the-gun reformers and the let's-arm-them-to-the-teeth crowd has nothing to do with guns. It has everything to do with liberals thinking they're smarter than other people.

YOU CAN expect there will always be gun nuts who want to head for the hills, not pay their taxes, go back to the gold standard and hide from the 20th century. There are laws on the books to control that.

However, it's the liberals who are the real problem. They heed only what they want to hear and believe. And what they want to believe is that handguns somehow go off by themselves and kill people.

There's always somebody at the other end of the gun and only a liberal could be pretentious enough to preach that guns kill people. There have been several cases recently where robbers used their cars to run over their victims. We could look as well at banning cars because they have been used as lethal weapons.

The real reason we have a violent society is that we've lost the social contract. That's the agreement whereby we agree to behave in exchange for our citizenship.

The irony here is that rulings by liberal judges and legislation by liberals have absolved people of abiding by that social contract. And that's what has caused the violence in society, not gun ownership.

Let's face it, the founding fathers saw gun ownership as a right of good citizens who abide by the social contract. That's what the Second Amendment said: "The right of the people to bear arms shall not be infringed."

I SUSPECT that political practicality was one of the prime reasons that the founding fathers put the right to bear arms in the Bill of Rights.

In the late 18th century, firearms were needed for protection against Indians and for hunting.

Taking somebody's gun away was a death sentence, especially in the West.

It has been a good amendment, too. It has given the general population a certain bit of power when dealing with the government and with crooks, which are both the same at times.

If it hadn't been for the family shotgun in many areas of the South, ravaging federal troops at the end of the Civil War would have totally destroyed that region of the country.

And in a sense that's what liberals are today. They're the leaderless ravaging federal troops who are trying to swoop down on honest, hard-working people to take away their guns because they know better.

God save us from the reformers.

Easy to use, Dutch oven is versatile

For hundreds of years, good solid grub from an old-fashioned Dutch oven has satisfied the appetites of explorers, colonists, pioneers and miners.

Still used by campers, hunters and picnickers, the Dutch oven remains one of the most utilitarian cooking devices ever created. It can be used for frying, poaching, baking, roasting and even takes the cake, literally, along with the soup, stew, bread and biscuits.

There are basically two types of Dutch oven. The outdoor type has three short legs, to elevate the oven above the bed of coals or hardwood to circulate air, and the indoor type, with a flat bottom and somewhat rounded lid, designed to be used on the stovetop or inside an oven.

Almost any recipe can be adapted to Dutch ovens. With the lid firmly in place, it can be made into an oven regardless of location as long as there is a heat source. As a general rule of thumb, cooking out on the open range using a grand, old, cast-iron Dutch oven, internal temperature hovers around 300 degrees over a slow coal or wood fire; about 375 degrees for a well-started, grey ash coal or wood fire, and about 450 degrees for a fire with 3- or 4-inch flames surrounding the Dutch oven.

REMEMBER, IT'S easy to use too many coals and hardwoods and burn the food. It's always best to increase the heat later or just cook it a while longer. If the need arises to add more coals or hardwood, always add them on top of the smoldering ones rather than on the bottom of the Dutch oven where the food is more likely to burn.

Paul Revere is credited with the design of the Dutch oven. His initial design had a flat-lid with a turned-up lip to hold the coals or hardwoods, which in turn provided the heat to cook, simulating an oven's environment. The pot itself stood on three short legs, which could be settled evenly over a slow fire.

The oven was named for 18th-century itinerant peddlers — many of Dutch descent — who sold pots and pans from the backs of their wagons. These peddlers usually were eagerly awaited. Households often had several Dutch ovens that were used for cooking, baking, laundry and dyeing fabrics.

Venture into any good gourmet or houseware shop and you are likely to find aluminum and cast-iron Dutch ovens. The aluminum varieties were developed purely for their ability to be easily transported because they mainly weighed but one-quarter of their cast-iron counterparts.

Enameling also has been introduced, but something as heavy and cumbersome as a Dutch oven frequently chips the enamel coating during handling and storage.

Cast-iron Dutch ovens should always be washed and seasoned before using. After washing, simply rub the entire vessel with oil, lard or shortening and place in a 250-degree oven for 4 hours. Turn off the oven and allow the oven to cool slowly, retaining the oil in its pores.

WHETHER YOU are planning to cook in the convenience of your kitchen or do some Old West cuisine on the range and over an open fire, you might want to consider taking along an old-fashioned Dutch oven. New units are expensive, and the best bargains usually are found at garage sales and flea markets.

For a fine kettle of information, check out "Chuck Wagon Cooking" by Stella Hughes (University of Arizona Press, 1985, $8.95).

FIRST THERE was the chino hiking shorts. Next came the hooded parka/rainslick, guaranteed to fold into a package no bit bigger than a portable face-tissue box. Subtotal $142.59.

Granted, any hiking boot might do, but I just had to get the gray suede hikers with ultra-cushion insoles and hydro-durabond soles. They were on sale at $119.95.

Special hiking socks especially made to repel blisters were $20.

Chalk up another $40 for incidentals like a compass, a Swiss Army knife and a hatchet. I borrowed a top-of-the-line backpack from a friend and saved myself almost $300.

I could see it would be very easy to drop $1,000 without even trying. There was little doubt I looked like a backpacker.

NOW I wanted to eat like one, too. Shopping for totable hiking cuisine was like visiting a NASA supermarket.

Freeze-dried stroganoff, freeze-dried beef bourguignonne, freeze-dried fettuccine primavera, and peanut butter in toothpaste tubes, not to mention film canisters filled with condiments, and a cookstove that weighed less than a one-pound box of macaroni and cheese. Food total: $137.25.

It cost $5.98 for a two-serving AlpineAire Sierra Chicken, $4.49 for another two servings of Richmore Beef and Rice with peas and onions, $8 for Harvest Foodworks Sweet and Sour Ginger Rice, $6.49 for Natural High Fettuccine Primavera.

AND THAT was just for me for two days. Multiply that by two, for two people, and then figure an additional five days.

"This stuff will taste greater after a long day's hike" said the salesman at Backpacker's Paradise.

"Yeah, but what if I wanted to try it first at home?" was my retort. There was little doubt, after trying a few samples at the Janes Gang kitchen compound, either this guy's idea of fine cuisine was a hot dog and fries or he was the best of salesmen. I was correct on both counts.

NOW KNOWING that anything dehydrated or freeze dried that only needs water to make it taste good is not for backpackers who enjoy good food, I set out to offer you solace amidst the mountains of fog.

There can be good eats, nutritional eats, guaranteed better than anything served in a 12.4-ounce hermetically sealed plastic package. May I suggest:

The most talked-about food term at any backpacker store has to be carbohydrates. If you choose to eat good food while backpacking, be prepared to eat pasta, rice, bulghur, quinoa, kasha and legumes.

If there is no convenience store within hiking distance, plan on using non-fat dry milk. Anything liquid is heavy, and the risk of leakage is always prevalent.

ANYTHING DEHYDRATED and pre-packaged is expensive.

If you know someone with a food dehydrator, you can save megabucks by drying your own fruits and vegetables. If not, experiment using a clean screen in a low oven with the door propped open for circulation.

Bouillon is a flavor sent by the gods. It is very salty, however. Look for the low or no-sodium varieties.

JUST ABOUT anything can be made to taste good with enough condiments.

Small, empty film canisters work wonders to hold condiments. You can even buy shaker tops at the camper's store.

Better yet, most outfitters also sell a product called food tubes.

These are empty and refillable toothpaste-like tubes that can be crammed with the likes of gravies and sauces. Guaranteed to turn any boiled pasta into an Alfredo with minimal effort.

Getting personal about food

By Joan Boram special writer

When we think of personal shoppers, we tend to think of a person shopping for busy executives who want to be properly dressed but don't have the time to shop for their own clothing.

At the Quarton Food Market in Birmingham and the Market Basket of Franklin, however, a personal shopper means something entirely different. Their personal shoppers make sure their clients are properly fed.

"Our customers tend to be very busy people. We'll go to almost any lengths to see that they get the service they need," said Ted LaVergne, co-owner of the markets.

"We accept telephone orders, and our fax machine is operative from 6 a.m. to 4 p.m. for those who wish to send orders from the office."

The stores' policy is to have the same clerk assist the same customers, if it is at all possible. Customers often ask for "their" clerk by name and will call back if he or she is not available.

IF A CUSTOMER has a taste for a particular cheese, or an exotic fruit, a personal shopper will advise when such delicacies are in stock.

"Our customers travel a lot, and often they'll come back from a trip

Ted LaVergne is general manager of the Quarton Food Market in Birmingham, a service-oriented store where customers often are assisted by "their" favorite clerk.

STEPHEN CANTRELL staff photographer requesting novel foods, such as edible flowers, or an herb or spice that they experienced," LaVergne said.

"They'll ask us to order the item so they can serve it at home."

AS YOU would expect, prepared foods are a specialty of the service-oriented stores.

Customers can order anything from fully cooked roast beef to stuffed chicken breasts or meat loaf.

The deli provides salads made on the premises, and cheese or vegetable trays are made up for special occasions.

There are no pre-packaged meats at the butcher counter. Instead, there are real, live butchers ready to give you exactly what cuts or quantity you need.

If you're a novice at cookery, and words like "boning," "butterflying" and "larding" strike terror to your heart, these people will do those tasks for you.

The stores are renowned for their gift baskets, assembled under the direction of Stan Fishman.

"I KNOW MOST of our customers by name," Fishman said. "And I've chatted with most of them in the past 20 years. We discuss families and friends and social events."

"So when they order a gift basket, I can frequently anticipate what will appeal to the person who's receiving it."

"We don't make any 'formula' baskets. They're all tailored to the recipient."

BUT THE stores' special claim to fame is a trademarked sandwich — the Dilly Roll, named after one of LaVergne's favorite places — London's Piccadilly Circus.

"It was inspired by the Lawash bread made in Pontiac by American Bakery Products Co.," LaVergne said.

"The unleavened bread contains no fats, preservatives or sugar, and we wanted to make it available to our health-conscious customers."

"We devised a calorie/cholesterol-conscious menu of fillings for the flat bread."

"The customer can select from lean roast beef, turkey or several other choices, and we'll add lettuce, tomatoes or cheese, as he or she decides."

"Then we roll the bread up, and — voila! — a Dilly Roll. The sandwiches are neat, compact, ideal for eating on the run, in the car, or relaxing under a shade tree."

The sandwiches were "invented" in 1987, and continue to be a great success.

Dilly Rolls are available in the Quarton and Market Basket markets, as well as at Just Nuts and at Muffins and More, both in Birmingham.

The Quarton Food Market is at 1744 W. Maple, Birmingham, 644-5510, fax 644-6844. The Market Basket of Franklin is at 32654 Franklin Road, 626-2583.

New editor at the helm

Keely Wygonik, a seven-year veteran of the community newspaper business, is the new Taste/Entertainment editor of the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, assistant managing editor Bob Sklar announced last week.

An O&E copy editor since mid-1989, Wygonik replaces Ethel Simmons, a 29-year veteran newspaperwoman who starts today as Suburban Life editor of the O&E's Birmingham-Bloomfield edition.

Since joining the O&E, Wygonik has been a copy editor, overseen the new computerized library, written feature stories and served on redesign and special section committees.

"I'm excited about Keely taking the reins of these two key sections," Sklar said. "She's outgoing, upbeat, hard working, full of fresh ideas and sensitive to what readers think."

"We'll miss Ethel and the fine work she did in editing these sections the past five years," Sklar added.

Before joining the O&E, Wygonik was a reporter and later administrative editor for The Citizen in Hamtramck. She co-edited and authored a commemorative book on Pope John Paul's 1987 visit. She also won many professional awards for her writing and editing.

RIB ROAST OF BEEF

- 4-rib standing rib beef roast
- 1/2 cup coarse salt plus 2 teaspoons pepper

Bring the roast to room temperature, and rub salt and pepper on top of the fat, but not the flesh.
Stand the roast on its bones, fatty side up, on a rack in a shallow roasting pan, and put it into an oven, preheated to 325. Do not add water.
If you are using a meat thermometer, insert it so that the point is in the center of the meat, not touching the bone. If a thermometer is not used, use the timetable to estimate the time required to reach the desired degree of doneness.

When the desired degree of doneness is achieved, place the meat on a warm platter to rest while making the gravy and any other accompaniments.

STANDING RIB ROAST

(5 to 8 pounds) roasted in 325-plus-degree oven

Degree of doneness	Minutes per pound	Meat thermometer
Rare	23 to 25	140 degrees
Medium	27 to 30	160 degrees
Well done	32 to 35	170 degrees

Thin pan gravy

Skim all excess fat from the meat drippings, leaving any meat pieces in the pan. Stir in 1/4 to 1 cup of beef stock. Bring to a boil, scraping the bottom of the pan to loosen the meat pieces. Simmer the gravy for 1 minute, season to taste with salt and pepper, strain and serve separately.

Varietal wines are Lakespring's speciality

Like just about every business in the world, the wine industry has its buzz words. It's "in" today to say that Winery XYZ is "stylizing" its wines to harmonize with food.

Doesn't it make sense, then, for a winery to be established by internationally known food professionals?

Founded in 1979, Napa Valley's Lakespring Winery is family owned by brothers Frank, Harry and Ralph Battat, internationally known food professionals who grew up in San Francisco, about an hour's drive from the winery.

Some wineries, even those bearing the world-renowned Napa Valley appellation, aren't hyped.

They go on vintage after vintage, quietly making super-premium bottlings because they were founded with this principle in mind.

Lakespring Winery is one of these, producing about 18,000 cases annually of cabernet sauvignon, merlot, chardonnay, sauvignon blanc and Elixia, a rare dessert pour.

AN ELEMENT of the Lakespring winemaking philosophy is production of 100 percent varietal wines.

"In Bordeaux, complexity is achieved by growing complementary grape varieties on the same property," Frank Battat said.

"In California, this is not necessary. A 100 percent varietal wine gains its complexity if there are multiple sources for the grapes or if the vineyard is sufficiently large to offer multiple microclimates.

"We believe the latter is the case with the 700-acre Yountmill Vineyard, a label-designated source for both Lakespring sauvignon blanc and merlot.

"Both grape varieties need a cool climate. It is my opinion that merlot should not be grown next to cabernet sauvignon. Cabernet needs a much warmer climate."

In essence, Battat is philosophically opposed to vineyard-designated

WINE SELECTIONS OF THE WEEK

While we like the style of all Lakespring wines, our particular favorite is merlot. We highly recommend the 1988 Lakespring Merlot ($17) with its full, ripe blackberry and cherry aromas and flavors. This is a delicious, user-friendly wine with a solid finish, balanced oak and soft tannins.

"IN CALIFORNIA, we've learned how to make wines that can be drunk young," Battat said. "They're delicious without long years of cellaring."

"This fits the modern American who has been brought up buying pop and orange juice, opening it and drinking it immediately. "This concept is the true California wine revolution. Additionally, California wines have the added dimension that, in the main, these wines can also age and do become better with time."

When discussing wines, Battat makes a lot of sense. This is revealed in large measure when he discusses the "fractional composition" production method for chardonnay.

CALIFORNIA CHARDONNAYS are produced in one of four ways: cold, stainless steel fermentation to preserve fruit; barrel fermentation followed by extended barrel aging sur lie; barrel fermentation followed by barrel aging without sur lie; and barrel fermentation accompanied by malolactic fermentation.

At Lakespring, all four production methods are used, in approximate 25 percent "fractional" portions.

"We've learned how to better barrel ferment chardonnay keeping ambient temperatures low to preserve fruit," Battat said.

"Aging sur lie offers creaminess and an additional hint of yeastiness. Our aim is to intensify chardonnay flavors without making a wine that's overblown or overoaked."

IN ADDITION to 100 percent varietal, food-complementary table wines, Lakespring produces the full, viscous, nectary, late-harvest chenin blanc with the proprietary name Elixia ($13.50).

"To my knowledge, this is the only late harvest botrytised chenin blanc made in the United States," Battat said.

"It offers the perfect ending to a meal because it is a low-alcohol (10 percent) dessert wine."

Meet Rick Young: Golf is the game, Ricque the name

By Sue Mason
staff writer

You could say Rick Young is the Rodney Dangerfield of the metro area. He doesn't, as Dangerfield would say, "get any respect around here."

After six years of hawking his own line of golf equipment, the 35-year-old Livonia resident is still shipping a majority of it out of state.

Golf's the game and Ricque's the name of Young's company. Housed in an industrial park in Novi, Ricque (pronounced RI-KAY) provides custom-made golf equipment for people who are "serious about their game."

You won't find his line of men's and women's clubs in your neighborhood sporting goods store next to the offerings of Wilson, Spaulding, Ram or Ping, even though its such manufacturers he hopes to snag business from.

Young has slowly built up his business through pro shops and at his showroom adjacent to the manufacturing facility.

"The market is definitely there to support another equipment line, especially one my size," he said. "I cater to a smaller segment of the golfing population."

Maintaining a handicap of eight on the links, Young decided to turn a hobby into a business for two reasons — discontentment with his job and his love of the sport. If he had his druthers, he'd play golf seven days a week.

YOUNG HAD been repairing golf clubs as a hobby for about six years when he chucked his job at Deluxe Check Printers and started Ricque. At first he maintained his office in the basement of his home and sublet a small facility in Redford to do the manufacturing.

The setup was "very convenient," but he outgrew the arrangement as word of his clubs got out. Last year he moved Ricque into a small suite on Catherine Industrial Road in Novi.

"One thing lead to another," Young said. "I did design work, got to know the manufacturing end of the business, and went on from there."

Young contracts out the casting work to foundries; the assembly work is done at the Novi building. Likewise, his line of golf bags are purchased from two companies, including one in Tennessee which manufactures 70-80 percent of the bags for Titleist, Wilson and Spaulding.

Young said he has the "best of both worlds" by manufacturing and marketing his own product, but he laments the lack of recognition in the Detroit metropolitan area. Most of his equipment sells as wholesale to golf shops, 60 percent of which goes out of state.

"People associate California as the primary producer of golf equipment, but I don't run into the opposition out of state that I do in my own backyard," Young said. "One of the reasons I opened a showroom here is because the product hasn't been received with open arms around here."

THAT'S NOT to say Ricque is drowning in a sea of obscurity. Sales have topped $500,000 and Young is at a point where he has to decide if he wants to remain a small company with $1 million in sales or achieve more growth.

"I've had thoughts of becoming a company with a national product distribution," he said.

And as Young decides which way to go with Ricque, he also is expanding his line of golf products for women. There are 28 million golfers in the country, but the biggest influx of new golfers in the last three years has been women.

The Ricque line includes a barrel-shaped putter called the SoftStroke, designed to increase accuracy, enhance the "feel" and help develop a better putting stroke.

"It's totally cylindrical, so regardless of the hand position you don't change the face of the putter," Young said. "There's less chance of scuffing the putter on the back stroke."

There's also the "Big Dawg," a 4 1/4-inch jumbo driver with an oversized head and longer (one to two inches) shaft that translates into a wider arc and more distance on tee shots.

"YOU CAN experience a 20- to 25-yard distance gain on this club," Young said. "It's a very forgiving club, especially for the golfer who can't hit in the center of the club every time."

There's also a gray smoke shaft of graphite and boron, made specifically for Ricque that with its increased playing ability and light weight, golfers can hit the ball faster and farther.

Prices are in line with other manufacturers. The bottom line for a set of eight irons with steel shafts runs $260, while those with a gray smoke shaft cost $530. What sets Ricque apart from other manufacturers is how quickly a golfer can be outfitted.

"There's nothing different in the design," Young said. "The thing we're able to do is offer variety to the customer . . . shafts and grips to fit the clubs and our turn-around time is three to five days. Larger companies may offer the same in three to five weeks."

YOU WOULD think that, with such an interest in golf, Young grew up with a club in his hand. No such luck. He took up the sport as a senior in high school. He was, he said, "more concerned about working and saving money to buy a car." Now, he has a handicap of eight.

And as he cruises around the links whether in a Michigan Publinks Golf Association tournament or for fun, he's seeing more and more Ricque clubs.

"Now it's not that uncommon to go out and play a round of golf and look three, four fairways over and see our product," he said. "There's a certain amount of personal gratification when you see your product out there."

Ricque is at 24371 Catherine Industrial Road, north of 10 Mile Road, Suite 227, Novi. For more information, call 344-1280.

Sparks fly as Rick Young cuts the shaft of the golf club to its proper length.

Once the shaft is cut to its proper length, Young attaches it to the head, in this case a wood.

Mark Moscone finds a market for his 'Kat'

By Debbie Sklar
special writer

Even when he isn't actually playing golf, Mark Moscone is still puttering or putting around.

The 22-year-old Farmington Hills businessman spends his time pushing a putter that's used by President George Bush. Moscone made headlines, of sorts, this year when he bought the rights to produce the putter.

Moscone won't talk about how much he paid financially troubled Kiti & Taylor Enterprises, just about why he did it.

"I was looking for a business to get involved in," he said. "I wanted a company where I could manufacture something. I was always interested in business ventures."

THE PUTTER is the Pole Kat, the main product of Florida-based Kiti & Taylor.

When the president started using the putter, sales went up to about 4,000 a year, but the company had a lot of back orders. The company couldn't finance the inventory, Moscone said.

"That's where my company came in. I knew about business because I started up my own company in Toronto during my last year of high school. It was a company that picked up litter from around shopping malls, fast food restaurants, etc.

"It was very successful and it really started growing fast. I ran it out of my basement and it really took off."

WITH A degree in marketing, Moscone formed M2 Capital Corp., which has been operating out of Farmington Hills since March.

The Pole Kat putter is the first venture for M2, an investment firm formed by Moscone and his father, who heads an auto supply company in Toronto and is currently developing a golf course in South Lyon.

Moscone, who was born in Grosse Pointe, expects M2 to have about $240,000 in Pole Kat sales this year and about $1.4 million in 1992. Sales representatives are making the rounds of pro shops and specialty stores in an effort to market the putter.

The Pole Kat is available in lengths 40-52 inches and sells for $99-$120.

"It's a high end putter that is really very unique. If someone isn't happy with this putter, they definitely can return for a full refund — that's a guarantee."

WHAT DOES Moscone see as his next project?

"In 1992, I'm hoping for a full line of putters. And in 1993, I'm hoping for a full line of Pole Kat clubs. I want to be another PING. I want the same recognition in this industry."

But he would like to accomplish more. Like his father, he would someday like to build a golf course and housing community.

AND HOW good is the president of M2 Capital when it comes to the game of golf?

"I'm really not that good," he jokes. "I only play once a week because I'm too busy putting in 60-70 ours a week at the office."

Moscone has other interests besides golf. He likes boating, fishing and playing tennis.

"If I could spend the same amount of time out on the golf course as I do in the office, my game would be awesome."

Mark Moscone of Farmington Hills knows he'll see green on the links and in the bank with his Pole Kat putter, the same putter used by the Prez — George Bush himself.

Final note?

Gig could be Roughies' last

By Larry O'Connor
staff writer

The Orange Roughies have decided to scale things back completely. Or are they just yanking the line?

For all intents, the Orange Roughies' upcoming show Friday, Aug. 2, at Paychecks Lounge will be the band's last. The group plans to release one more album by Christmas, but gigs have come to a halt.

Reasons for ceasing operations can be attributed to many things.

The major one includes lead singer John "Rosey" Pineau leaving to finish his law degree at the University of Colorado-Boulder. He's also getting married on Saturday (12 hours after Friday's show). Also, guitarist Dave Feeny is quite busy running his studio, The Tempermill. "It's sad," said Pineau, lamenting the band's proposed demise after more than four years of toiling on the local circuit and beyond.

BEFORE THE Roughies obituary can be written, though, there is this little matter of one last release.

Any chances of reviving the Roughies would be tied to any substantial success of the band's long-awaited follow-up to "Knuckle Sandwich."

"The band's not dead," Feeny said. "If it does pretty well . . . we could reform with or without our singer. It's hard to predict."

If such occurs, "All they have to do is come and pick me up and off we go," Pineau said.

OTHERWISE, ADD the Orange Roughies to the seemingly endless list of good local bands who never saw their vision completely come to fruition. For the Roughies, this is particularly frustrating in that they did all the things a band is supposed to do.

They amassed a solid collection of indelible guitar gushing songs, played regularly in Detroit without overexposing themselves and journeyed across the country to gain mass appeal.

The band's one and only full-length release, "Knuckle Sandwich," charted in the College Music Journal's list of the top 150 albums in 1990.

What went wrong?

FOR STARTERS, the Orange Roughies chased the elusive major record label deal. That blind pursuit could have been to their detriment.

After the release of the EP "Seven Simple Songs," the band was courted by 14 major labels. One A&R man, in particular, showed a considerable amount of interest in signing the band. He helped get the Roughies booked into places like the Cabaret Metro in Chicago to gauge how they would do live.

The same A&R representative then slid in and out of detox centers three times, Pineau said. The deal fell through.

As a result, the band's first release "Knuckle Sandwich" was delayed considerably. Instead, the band released the album independently on the Detroit-based label Nocturnal Records three years after the Roughies formed.

Feeny estimates this yet-to-be titled upcoming release should have been the band's fourth, not their second.

"We paid our dues," said Feeny, who is from Livonia. "We paid them to the wrong people."

THOUGH "Knuckle Sandwich" found its way onto several college radio charts, Feeny said a lack of promotion hurt the group on ensuing tours. One particular excursion had the band traveling roughshod to the Southwest and up the West Coast.

During one 21-day period, the band only collected $112 for gigs.

"There was a point where only sheer stamina kept us going," Pineau said. "We ended up voting whether or not to continue."

ONCE THE Orange Roughies reached San Francisco and later the Northwest, though, fortunes changed. Apparently, the experience wasn't enough to sustain the band too much longer.

The Roughies' finest hours were spent playing before on their home ground. Starting out as an opener for such groups as the Hysterical Narcotics (Feeny's previous group) and the Junk Monkeys, the four-man outfit quickly graduated to being a headline act.

One highlight of the Roughies' four-year existence, Pineau said, was seeing Paychecks packed shoulder to shoulder for one of their shows after starting out at the Hamtramck club as an opening band.

Despite an endless line of bass players, which presently includes former Mr. X and the Idiots member Glynn Scanlon of Livonia, the core of the Roughies remained the samewith Pineau, Feeny and Malburg.

Band members don't appear to have any definite plans if Friday's show is, indeed, the last one.

"I'm sure I'll find something to do," Feeny said.

Orange Roughies will perform Friday, Aug. 2, at the Paychecks Lounge, 2932 Caniff, near Jos. Campau, Hamtramck. For information, call 872-8934.

Clowning around at Magic Get-together

This is the time of year when most of us like to slow down and savor summer. Photograph the water birds in Kensington Park. Take a picnic to the nearest stretch of grass. Let the sun shine on our faces and forget that the grass at home still needs to be mown.

If you have more active ambitions, there are a million things to do in Michigan.

MAGIC GET-TOGETHER

You might know him as Milky the Clown. In Colon, where he goes every year to Abbott's annual Magic Get-together he is known as Clare Cummings. The get-together is Aug. 7-10 this year.

Clare is 80 years old now. He has lived in Birmingham since 1917, when "it wasn't much more than a one-horse town." He fell in love with magic when he was 8 years old, got a Mysto Magic set for Christmas and was soon entertaining his neighborhood friends on Sunday afternoon.

By age 13 he was performing for Boy Scout troops and hanging around with a magician called George Pullin, who passed on all of his professional equipment to the budding magician.

"When I was getting ready to go into the service during World War II, I knew I had to go to Colon," Cummings said. "The magic performers used to go there on a Saturday afternoon in summer. My girlfriend Peg, now my wife, went with me to Abbott's Get-together in Colon in 1942."

"They held the get-together in the opera house then, but the festival was so popular that the opera house soon wasn't big enough. By the time I came back after the war in 1946, they were holding it in a tent. The tent burned down and it moved out of town."

Cummings became Milky the Clown after Twin Pines Farm Dairy discovered him doing a marionette and live rabbit show called Peter, Clare and Oscar. "They wanted a magician and clown. I performed on television from behind a table, so I was only a clown from the waist up."

For information on the Magic Get-together, call Abbotts Magic Co. at (616) 432-3235.

Artpark had its gala opening in 1974. It is funded by New York State's Office of Parks, Recreation and Historic Preservation through the National Heritage Trust.

Artpark in Lewiston, N.Y., is just downstream from Niagara Falls. The theater building seats 2,300. At large performances or during very warm weather, the back wall of the building opens up like a garage door, and spectators can sit on the hill.

New York's Artpark: Experience the art of creation

Sally Sawyer is a playwright and amateur theater director from West Bloomfield.

By Sally Sawyer
special writer

There are paintings, but there are no walls. There are artists, but they are under the trees. If you would like to introduce your family to hands-on and face-to-face art in a natural setting, you will find that experience at Artpark in Lewiston, N.Y. It is just downstream from Niagara Falls.

Walk the perimeter of the park and you'll see large art works in progress. "Omega," a very popular finished piece, has been on loan from the New York artist Owen Morrel since June 1980. Morrel trained at Cranbrook Art Academy in Bloomfield Hills.

"Omega" is 110 feet long, 42 feet high, 48 feet wide and is suspended over the Niagara Gorge. There are 52 see-through steps to climb and every platform is at a 7-foot angle. Mirrors reflect the water below and the clouds above. It took me 15 minutes to get to the top, heeding the cheering section below: "Don't look down!"

Once aloft, I experienced a weightless, heavenly floating feeling. No funhouse on Halloween could have been more exciting!

Near "Omega" is an outsized sandpile for toddlers and a working forge where a sweat-beaded smithy hammers pig-iron into shapes. While in the woods, you may visit the turtle-shaped Indian burial mound.

In clearances are the theater-in-the-woods and The Performance Center where University of Niagara drama students in multicolored overalls have fun with audiences and get invaluable experience. Bring a basket lunch, find a picnic bench and be entertained while you eat.

Delicious smells and growing appetites drew us to The Eatery in the Art El, a huge covered wooden ramp with many levels, where all sorts of "making art together" activities happen near the upper parking level.

While sipping sun tea and eating spinach pie, we hear the rhythmic beat of an African drum and an eerie pipe, wailing to help children create dance stories and music. The children make the instruments themselves from large plastic pop bottles and cardboard tubes.

At Artpark you will find gifted young people like Steffanie Samuels of Ann Arbor. A granted artist-in-residence last year, she works mainly in clay, concrete and glass and was chosen not only for her many professional credits but for her affability. We found her talking freely with children in "the Clay Place" and showing them how they, too, can create exciting and beautiful things with their hands.

Steffie graduated in 1983 from University of Michigan in ceramics and Asian studies. She started out studying law and has always had a keen interest in jazz.

The evening crowd at Artpark is entirely different; all spit and polish. They are at one of the most unusual theaters and performance spaces in the country. Amazingly, the price is nominal.

The theater is a permanent building, seating 2,300, built near the bottom of a hill. At large performances or during very warm weather, the back wall of the building opens up like a garage door, and lawn seating up the hill can be sold. (The theater has no air conditioning or heat.)

The season opened June 5 with Big River, the family oriented musical about Huck Finn.

Artpark charges a daytime workshop pass fee; $3.50 for adults, $2 for children plus a $3 parking fee. The park is open through Aug. 25. For a brochure, write Artpark, Box 371, Lewiston, N.Y., 14092.

Joe Dumars had a captive audience for his one-hour talk, including Elizabeth Gould of Plymouth (from left) and Michael and Mark Juska of Ann Arbor.

Dumars has message for youths, Isiah

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

Joe Dumars couldn't pass up the chance to needle his Detroit Pistons teammate, Isiah Thomas.

Being the first to visit the basketball camp at Centennial Educational Park last week, Dumars gave the youths in attendance a message to give Thomas when he arrived for Saturday's final session.

At the conclusion of his hour-long talk Thursday evening before some 500 hundred campers and parents, Dumars reminded the boys and girls of what it was they were to tell Thomas.

"What are you going to say? What is it now?" Dumars asked, turning an ear to the children gathered in front of him on the Plymouth Salem gym floor.

"Isiah, Joe said you don't have a very good jump shot," they responded in unison. And with that, the all-star guard waved goodbye and headed for the proverbial stage door.

But most of what the young campers — and adults — heard from Dumars was no act. He talked about his upbringing in rural Louisiana, how it influenced his personality, the attitude necessary for success and, yes, what he thinks of the Chicago Bulls.

Here are some of the topics he touched on and what he had to say about them:

NO HANDOUTS: "I didn't grow up with handouts, so I don't expect any." Some athletes think "because I'm a superstar, somebody owes me this. Not so."

"You have to work hard for it. If you get it, you're hard work pays off. If you don't get it, you have to work harder."

"Don't think I got here because I woke up one day, was 6-foot-3 and could shoot a basketball. It doesn't work that way."

TEAM WORK: The Pistons have been successful because of it, he said. "Everybody has to have the same agenda, the same game plan. With some teams, I can tell when they step on the floor they have too many agendas . . . they're not thinking about winning."

RIGHT ATTITUDE: "If the coach tells me to do something, whether I like it or not, I'm never going to let him know that. I'm going to get it done."

"I'm not going to frown, I'm not going to say anything, I'm going to get it done. I might go home and kick the chair, but I'm not going to have a bad attitude."

EARLY LESSON: Dumars said he was the best athlete in his school as a sixth grader, but he didn't win the best-athlete award because he knew it and acted like he knew it. His coach told him "You're better than anyone here, but until you learn sportsmanship it's not going to happen."

"I was determined to come back and win athlete of the year. I came back with the best attitude and won the award, even though I didn't play any better than I did the year before. But if he had given me that award and if he hadn't told me that, I wouldn't have changed my attitude."

KEEP TALKING: Though a liquor store was a stone's throw from his house, Dumars said neither he nor any of his six fellow siblings were led astray by the lure of the streets.

Years later he asked his mother how she did such a good job of raising her children. "We always heard what you said; we didn't always agree but we heard you," she told him. "We always had a dialogue going back and forth."

BULLS FLASHBACK: "People ask me all the time 'Do you hate Chicago, do you hate Michael Jordan?'"

"No, it takes effort to hate or say something ugly. Did I dislike losing to Chicago? Yeah. Are we going to try to annihilate them next year? Oh, yeah! But having a good attitude doesn't mean you're going to be No. 1 all the time."

ALWAYS ON MY MIND: Dumars conceded pro players aren't always thinking about basketball every moment of every game.

"Here's Isiah and me at the free throw line. We'll be talking and I'll look around and say 'I bet all these people think we're talking about this basketball game.' But I'm asking him 'What are you doing after the game? Want to meet at Bennigan's? OK, see ya there about 11:30.'"

WHO'S THE BEST: Michael Jordan, no question about it, is the best player in the NBA, according to Dumars.

"I've seen a lot of basketball players, but I've never seen anyone who can do what he does when he steps on the floor. When he gets in that triple-step position and drops his tongue out of his mouth . . ."

Jason Buha of Farmington Hills won the Youth Insurance Golf Classic state championship at Radrick Farms in Ann Arbor.

Buha wins Big 'I' golf title

By Dan O'Meara
staff writer

It's a good thing Jason Buha likes golf, because he'll be playing a lot the first two weeks of August.

Actually, the Farmington High School junior won't just be playing golf; he'll be competing at it.

Buha earned a trip to the national tournament Aug. 10-13 after winning the state championship in the Insurance Youth Golf Classic last Monday at Ann Arbor's Radrick Farms Golf Course.

The national event also will be played at Radrick Farms, but the Farmington Hills resident will have to travel quite a ways to get there.

Buha will be in Dallas for the Ben Hogan Boys Championship in the American Junior Golf Association Aug. 3-9 and will get back to Michigan just in time for the IYGC tournament.

"I'LL BE getting off the plane the night before, and I play in the Big I the next morning," Buha said. "I'll play eight (18-hole) rounds in eight days."

The 16-year-old Buha regularly plays five times a week, usually with

'I scrambled around for a pretty good score in the second round. I started playing better, hitting the ball better and obviously scoring better.'

— Jason Buha
Farmington Hills golfer

his father (David) and brother (Barry) at Meadowbrook Country Club.

"It's a real important part of life in our house," Buha said.

Buha shot a 36-hole, three-over-par total of 147 to win by three strokes over Brandon Silverthorn of Alma in the one-day state tournament. Buha shot 75 for the first 18 but was at even-par for the second half.

"In the first round, I was pretty shaky starting off," he said. "I scrambled around for a pretty good score in the second round. I started playing better, hitting the ball better and obviously scoring better."

Buha, who carded three of his five birdies during the second round, didn't have the advantage of playing with the other leaders or seeing a scoreboard to know how others were doing. But it was probably just as well.

"I DON'T think it mattered," he said. "After 18 holes, I was in second place, so I went out there for the second round to play the course and shoot as well as I could."

"If it did (matter), it was probably an advantage. I wasn't worrying about what anyone else did. I just played my game and played as well as I could. That's all that mattered anyway."

The par-3 15th hole was a potential trouble spot for Buha in both rounds, but he managed to avoid any setbacks.

"I hit into a bunker both times but got up and down for par," he said. "It was a good save and it kept me going. It helped to make par and get that hole to maintain my momentum."

"In my first round, it was a turning point, because I had played poorly on the front side. Saving par there helped a lot on the last few holes."

It also helped Buha win the tournament.

"I'M REAL happy to win any tournament, especially the Big I," he said. "Obviously, you're playing against some of the better players in the state. You give it your best shot and if that's good enough to win that's great."

Buha said his victory will give him confidence for the nationals, but he doesn't think the tournament also being at Radrick Farms will necessarily give him an edge.

"Until this tournament, I had never played there," he said. "In my practice round, I shot a 1-under-par. Going on that, I don't know if people who haven't seen the course will be having any trouble."

Runners sweat out Redford Classic race

By M.B. Dillon
staff writer

The more than 1,000 runners and walkers who entered Livonia's 8th Annual Redford Roadrunner Classic found out what it feels like to run in an oversized oven.

By the 6:30 p.m. start of the eight-kilometer run, the mercury had risen to 96 degrees, and the accompanying high humidity made it virtually impossible to sweat and cool off.

But the sponsoring Redford Roadrunners made it up to the runners, walkers and wheelers: the post-race party featured non-stop music, co-ed showers, lots of food and drink, prize give-aways, customized medals and gift certificates for winners, and dancing under the stars 'til midnight.

The heat didn't seem to faze overall winners Don Johns, 26, of Monroe and Terry Mahr, 42, of Oregon, Ohio.

JOHNS — WHO recently ran a 2:14 marathon and is knocking on the door of the U.S. Olympic team — went out at just over five-minute pace with the lead pack of nine. By the three-mile point, there were three: Johns, Guy Murray of Ferndale and Wally Rodriguez of Perryburg, Ohio.

"Guy got a little bit away from me and made a little bit of a move," said Johns, second in the NCAA 10,000 meters while at Eastern Michigan University in 1988.

"When he stopped his move, I tried to make a move on him. We hung together for another mile or so. With about three-quarters of a mile to go, I made another move. I could hear there was someone behind me, but for the last 100 yards, I couldn't hear anyone anymore," said Johns, who finished in 24:56.

Mahr, a native of London, England, showed that being 40-something can be something to write home about. She captured both the masters and open division in 29:12. It marked Mahr's third Redford win in the masters division.

"I'M PRETTY happy that I could break 30 minutes," said the self-coached runner. "Until about the mile-and-a-half point, I was with Debbie Nowak and Laurel Park. I felt quite strong, so I put on a surge, and no one came with me. Of course then I was committed and I had to gut it out."

The overall wheeler champ was Chuck Patten, 41, of Grand Rapids, who bested the field and his paraplegic open division by nearly three minutes with a personal best of 21:28.

What was it like out there? "Terrible," said Patten. "It was hot, and the first mile and a half we had a head wind. But you can't have it all, can you?"

Tom Ottenwess of Grandville took the quadriplegic open division in 23:51, edging Scott McDonough of Livonia, who clocked 24:06. Pat Ford of Linden topped the women wheelers with a time of 31:21.

"This is a good race. I've done all eight of them," said Ford, whose husband Jim Ford finished in 28:14, sixth in his division.

SEVERAL WHEELERS stole hearts as they finished, among them Farmington's Donna Cruz.

For nearly three months, Cruz, a veteran of the United Cerebral Palsy Olympics,

Huskies move up in MSHL

The Huskies forced a tie for first place in the Eagle Conference of the Metro Summer Hockey League by knocking off the Bulldogs 7-4 Wednesday night.

The Huskies followed with an 8-7 win over the Broncos on Thursday to improve their record to 7-3 and pull even with the Wolverines.

Scott Lock scored three goals and had one assist to lead the Huskies in their game with the Bulldogs, who lead the Bakes Conference with an 8-2 record. Jesse Hubenschmidt assisted on three goals.

Rob McDonald scored one goal and had one assist, and Matt Surowiec got a pair of assists.

The Huskies rallied from a 5-1 deficit in the first period to defeat the Broncos. The score was tied 6-6 after two periods, and Hubenschmidt scored the winning goal with 54 seconds left in the game.

Mike Kneiding had three goals, Lock and Hubenschmidt two goals and one assist piece for the Huskies. Joe Bonnett posted two goals and four assists for the Broncos.

In other games played Thursday, the Wolverines whipped the Spartans 13-7, and the Wildcats nipped the Lakers 7-6.

Joe Burton scored four goals and assisted on two for the Wolverines, Tim Osborn had two goals and two assists and Paul Goleniak recorded a hat trick.

Phil Berger had a goal and three assists for the Spartans.

Vic Decina's three goals and two assists paced the Wildcats, and teammate Mark Hernandez added one goal and four assists. Mike Kerske had two goals and two assists for the Lakers.

The last regular-season game will be played tonight, and the playoffs begin Tuesday.

The conference standings are as follows:

BAKES: 1. Bulldogs, 8-2; 2. Wildcats, 5-4; 3. Lakers, 5-5; 4. Spartans, 1-8-1.

EAGLE: 1. Wolverines and Huskies, 7-3; 3. Broncos, 4-5-1; 4. Falcons, 1-8-1.

3 share lead in Babe Ruth

With the regular season in its last week, there is a three-way tie for first place between Craiga, the Dry Clean Company and the Plymouth Rocks in the Canton Babe Ruth League.

Craig avenged a loss to Dry Clean by winning Tuesday night 19-17 behind the hitting of Zack Fowler, who was 3-for-5 with a home run and two RBI, Dave Kapla and J Rozum (three hits apiece) and Mike Brannan and Jeff Korczyk (each 2-for-2).

Chris Kennedy, a 13-year-old left-hander, went 5 1/3 innings in relief of Rozum to pick up the win.

The Rocks, behind the pitching of Bobby Schneider, beat Dry Clean 10-2 Wednesday to cause the three-way tie.

The last game of the regular season, 6 p.m. Wednesday at Flodin Park, between Craiga and the Rocks will determine whether a three-game playoff is needed to decide the league championship.

Ten-year-old Matt Hertlein of Plymouth cools off after participating in the one-mile race during the Roadrunner Classic.

A roar went up as the crowd spotted Cruz nearing the finish, kicking and gliding backwards in her wheelchair. The cheers spurred her to push even harder, and a determined Cruz breezed through the finish in 1:13. Wearing a smile to beat the band, Cruz later joined runners and wheelers dancing the night away in her chair.

Another wheeler — Jim Keskeny of Pinckney — also completed his first five-miler. Keskeny has multiple sclerosis, and twice has competed in the Paris Marathon with the aid of able-bodied runners who took turns pushing him.

This time, members of the People Who Run Downtown pushed the former Birmingham resident until the last quarter-mile, where Keskeny took over and wheeled in under his own power in 45:46.

Downtown runners raised more than $500 in pledges for the M.S. Society in conjunction with Keskeny's race. The top pledge raiser won use for two weeks of a Toyota Lexus, donated by Toyota Motor Sales, U.S.A. and arranged by Toyota Midwest regional manager John McCandless.

Winners of the 12-and-under Classic mile were Robby Abbott for the boys, and Jessica Welch for the girls.

Magic 3rd in state

The Mid-America Magic travel softball team finished third in the USSA girls 15-and-under tournament in Sterling Heights July 20-21.

The Magic was organized as a developmental team for the state champion Mid-America Mustangs and consists of 15 of the top 13-year-old players in the area.

The Magic has performed beyond expectations while competing in an under-18 league, a women's Class D league at Canton Softball Center and all of the world qualifying USSSA sanctioned tournaments.

In the state tournament, the Magic scored more runs (4) against the Mustangs than all other teams combined.

Magic highlights included a grand slam by Stephanie Smith; a game-winning, three-run homer by Heidi Wahl; a one-hitter by pitcher Amy Geary; 3-for-3 hitting with two triples in one game by Robin Neada; and a .615 batting average by Sue Huber.

The Magic roster consists of Kelly Albus, Carah Best, Huber and Nikki Wisniewski of Canton; Patricia Kesner, Colleen Wutke and Smith of Garden City; Neada, Geary and Jenny Myslinski of Farmington; Katy Duncan and Kelly Klene of Westland; Allyson Woodruff of Detroit; Wahl of Southfield; Kristi Drinkhan of Plymouth; and Carol Braund of Northville.

The Magic staff includes manager Jim Elliott, coaches Bob Smith and Dave Wutke and scorekeeper Judy Geary.

Kelly tosses no-hitter for Spitfires

Mary Joe Kelly pitched a no-hitter Thursday as the Livonia Spitfires swept a softball double-header from the Farmington Hills Diamonds in the Commercial Carpet Corporation League, 10-0 and 13-3.

Kelly was the winning pitcher in both games but no-hit the Diamonds in the first, striking out 10 and walking four.

Amy Yocum hit a two-run homer and Molly Bourgeois had two hits and one RBI for the Spitfires (6-0) in the opener.

Kelly allowed only three hits in the second game, striking out eight and walking two. Erin Kurtin had an RBI double and Ann Zazulo an RBI single.

Karen Seremet, the losing pitcher in the first game despite giving up just four hits, and Jennifer Holtzman triple and scored a run in the nightcap for the Diamonds (1-6).

Krista Miller tossed a one-hitter in the first game as the Farmington Hills Majestics swept a pair from the Livonia Lasers, 13-0 and 15-3. Miller struck out 10 and Ariana Poniatowski had two hits and two RBI.

Erin Wiehe was 2-for-2 with three RBI in the second game, and Heather Jonna was the winning pitcher.

The Livonia Commanders won two games from the Salem Shags, 6-4 and 18-3. Tracy McManamou and Niki Italia were the winning pitchers.

MAKE THE MOVE NOW!!
THERE'S NO BETTER TIME TO BUY
If you've been thinking about moving from your current residence to the house of your dreams or from an apartment to a starter home, this is the time to do it.

- The selection is excellent.
- Low interest rates are available.
- There are many financing options available.

NOW is the right time to Buy a Home!
Purchasing a home has always been a wise decision, but current market conditions are making it even more attractive to buy now.

EXCELLENT FINANCING IS AVAILABLE NOW
Interest rates are lower, and mortgage lenders are offering a wide variety of financing options. Low interest rates mean you can get more for your money.

- 30-year fixed mortgages are still available as well as many other financing alternatives.
- First time buyers are encouraged to purchase now through financing packages offering small down payments.

YOUR HOME IS YOUR BEST INVESTMENT
Purchasing a home is the best way to build a solid financial foundation. A home not only provides you with warmth and comfort, it also serves as a secure investment.

- Today, homes in the area continue to be a wise investment.
- Equity in your home can be used as collateral, thus providing you with additional financial security.
- Home ownership provides you with a sizable tax advantage because interest paid on mortgages is fully deductible. Property taxes can also be deducted.

HOROSCOPE

July 28 through August 3

By C.C. Clark

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22)
It seems you are looking at your life from the outside, rather than living it. You say things you don't mean, then can't figure out how to rectify the situation. Follow your instincts.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22)
You will be happy with loved ones this week. Even when you are knocked off your feet, you'll come up swinging because of your family's support.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22)
Your work environment get you down, things will get better soon. Turn what little energy you have toward making a positive change in your life.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 - Nov. 21)
It's important you get plenty of rest this week so you can party on the weekend. You might meet the person of your dreams.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21)
A new person will cause profound changes. An argument with this person will give you new insights.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19)
Don't lose your cool when dealing with difficult people this weekend. They are trying to get under your skin, so don't give them the satisfaction.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18)
Try not to draw attention to yourself. Others will abuse your time they can. Listen carefully when being instructed on a new project.

PISCES (Feb. 19 - March 20)
Don't let anyone threaten you. You don't deserve that kind of treatment. You may make a mistake, but it is an honest one.

ARIES (March 21 - April 19)
Don't worry about someone saying no to you, especially if the comment comes from an authority figure. Someone else may know what is best.

TAURUS (April 20 - May 20)
An important assignment will have you running in all directions. You may want to run away. Resist temptation.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20)
You may get into a philosophical argument with a loved one. Keep an open mind and remember they have as much right to their opinion as you do to yours.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22)
Your love life might just take a turn for the better this week. You will also feel closer to estranged family members.

'Cesario's new comedy special a gem'

'Assembly' delivers whimsical goods

By Steven Alan McGaw

People like to laugh. Maybe more importantly, people need to laugh. It's not unwarranted to speculate that perhaps the state of the world today places us more in need of laughter than ever.

We seek laughter in many different places. Storytelling is increasingly a lost art, but written humor continues. Radio offers few chuckles anymore, save for bad pop songs and worse talk shows, but movies and television bombard us with earnest attempts to make us giggle, chortle, howl and guffaw.

Maybe that's the problem, and why so few films and so little on television seem genuinely funny. Stand-up comedy, in particular, while enjoying greater popularity than ever before, often comes on really strong. That's undoubtedly why Showtime's latest comedy special, "Jeff Cesario: Some Assembly Required," debuting Friday, Aug. 9, is a welcome breath of fresh air.

Cesario is the antithesis of those stand-up performers who seem to lunge and shout at the viewer. It would be a grim burden to label the handsome Cesario a "thinking man's comic" and inaccurate, too. There's nothing especially intellectual about his material (all self-penned), but the combination of his simple, dead-on observations about daily absurdities and his gentle, guy-next-door delivery make for a pleasant excursion.

The look of the show is terrific, partly because it's on film and also because they basically remodeled the Comedy Works Club in Denver for the making of the program. The lighting and camera work enhance the show immensely, adding to the intimate feel. That quality was important to Cesario. "My first special for Showtime, we did at the World Theatre in St. Paul, Minn.," said the comedian in a recent interview. "I just wanted to do jokes in a club." Cesario said he felt the new material demanded that kind of intimacy, and he's right. The special's opening segment, a bewildered musing about society's increasing need for things to go as fast as possible ("A Ford Festiva ... with Turbo?") is funny stuff, but it's made funnier by the friendly, casual feel of the presentation. Asked if performing his stand-up act for the camera required special preparation, Cesario thought for a moment. "I combed my hair."

Behind the easy, nice-guy style of his delivery, Cesario has some points to make within the jokes. Speaking of gun control, Cesario says, "I live in Los Angeles, where the only obstacle to buying a gun is correct change. I think 'kinda funny eyes' oughtta keep a guy from gettin' a gun."

Amid film and television's constant barrage of alleged comedy, where car-chases replace real wit and cheap shots pass for keen insights, it's refreshing to find a performer who's funny mostly because he's smart. Jeff Cesario is that kind of performer, even asking the audience to think a little, too. He knows there's nothing wrong with telling an audience "Some Assembly Required."

Resident Showtime comedian Jeff Cesario makes audiences chuckle with his low-key brand of humor. "Jeff Cesario: Some Assembly Required," premiering on Showtime Friday, is the performer's second comedy special on the network.

STAR NOTES

Hollywood's dark side on A&E

By Dan Rice

All that glitters has a dark side. The glamorous fantasy of Hollywood is peeled back to reveal a tough reality in the BBC's six-part series Naked Hollywood, premiering Sunday, July 28, on A&E. Big wheels like Sydney Pollack, Mel Brooks and Robin Williams offer insights into a cutthroat industry where careers can be made or broken over lunch. In the first episode, "The Actor and The Star," James Caan's meteoric rise and descent is compared to Arnold Schwarzenegger's quest for superstardom.

Speaking of the luridness of show business, that "Material Girl" Madonna is guaranteed either to excite or incense you when HBO presents a one-time only encore of her Blond Ambition World Tour '90 on Sunday, July 28. First seen in August 1990, the special worked "Like a Prayer" for HBO, netting the cable channel the highest ratings in its history.

Of course, there are some people whose exotic feats are done for the redemption of the soul. Come Saturday, Aug. 3, The Discovery Channel's Terra X: India - Myths and Mystics presents Hindu holy men practicing ascetic self-denial and body piercing.

Proving that for every event there is a camera crew, The Discovery Channel offers The Sporting Life: Anything is Possible, also on Saturday. Go hurtling down mountains and deep into underwater caves, with fearless filmmakers tempting fate and gravity. © TV Listing Inc.

'Exposure' puts actress in limelight

By Lisa Otoupal

Janine Turner plays Maggie, the unlucky-at-love, tough-as-nails pilot/landlord on CBS' surprise hit series Northern Exposure. And while she may be as tough as her character, this actress is certainly not having a run of bad luck.

Turner was born in Lincoln, Neb., and her family moved to a town near Fort Worth, Texas, when she was 3 years old. As a child, she studied dance and apprenticed with the Fort Worth Ballet.

At age 12, she took her first trip to New York and was captivated by the city. She returned there two years later to become the Wilhelmina modeling agency's youngest client. When she turned 17, her parents insisted she return home.

Fortunately for Turner, the hit series Dallas was being shot on location near her home. She met producer Leonard Katzman and was cast as Lucy Ewing's friend, Susan. Then came the part of Laura Templeton on General Hospital.

Chynna Phillips plays Roxanne Pultizer in the rebroadcast of Roxanne: The Prize Pultizer, Sunday on NBC.

Turner's feature-film credits include Young Doctors in Love, Knight of the City and Tai-Pai, which was filmed in China. After returning from China, she packed up and moved to New York.

For three years, Turner studied acting and performed in off-Broadway shows. She also co-starred in Monkey Shines and Steel Magnolias before getting a starring role in Northern Exposure. © TV Listing Inc.

Approximately 350 residents of Wheeler, Ore., turned out to watch Patrick Swayze film a scene in Point Break — only Swayze wasn't there. He was filming 20 miles north up an oceanfront road. It wasn't a total loss, however. The mayor of the town got to be in the movie as a fisherman-extra. The bulk of Point Break, which was released July 12, was filmed in Los Angeles and Hawaii.

Rodney King, the black man videotaped while being beaten by Los Angeles police officers, wants his story told. King sold an option to the Los Angeles-based film company Triple 7 to make a movie about the incident. The terms of the agreement were not disclosed.

Talk-show host Phil Donahue will continue his nationally syndicated interview program through the 1993-94 television season, according to Multimedia Entertainment, which has just signed a new contract with the dean of daytime talk. In the last year, The Phil Donahue Show, which will celebrate its 25th season in 1992-93, has shown a ratings increase of 17 percent. With numbers like those, Donahue could give Johnny Carson serious competition for longest-reigning host honors.

The USA Network has renewed two of its series, Swamp Thing and Counterstrike. Swamp Thing enters its second season this fall, and Counterstrike, which stars Christopher Plummer and Simon MacCorkindale, makes its third-season debut on Sept 21.

A longer version, never before seen in the United States, of Twin Peaks' pilot episode will be released on videotape Sept. 11. Warner Bros. is releasing the 113-minute tape, which will retail for $79.95.
