When a fire started in the kitchen of his Plymouth Township home on Thursday morning, five-year-old Justin Bailey grabbed his sister Kel-sey, 3, and led her out of the family's house on Beechcrest.

"I can't say enough about that pro-gram," said the kids' mom Cindy Bailey. She was just outside the front door writing a check to a man from a landscaping company, when the kids hurried out of the house past

Justin had just finished the Safety Town program, which includes lessons in fire safety. "He knew to get out right away, he knew to never leave his sister alone," Bailey said.

FIVE TRUCKS and 12 firefighters responded to the 9:44 a.m. call, arriving five minutes later. "There was a very intense fire in the kitchen, the kitchen was engulfed in flames upon our arrival," said Fire Chief Larry Groth.

He said the fire, caused by a de fective toaster, nearly destroyed the kitchen. "There was extensive smoke and heat damage throughout the house," Groth said.

Groth noted that Justin had attended Safety Town classes. "Obviously he was paying attention, he led his sister out of the house, and it's my understanding that when they looked through the window there was not much time to get out."

Safety Town teaches children to stay low, underneath smoke caused by a fire, and not to open a hot door.

SC poll says suburbanites less likely to visit city now

By Wayne Peal staff writer

Suburbanites believe there is plenty to do in downtown Detroit, but a new poll indicates many are just too scared to go there.

The poll indicates violence during this year's Freedom Festival fireworks display made many suburbanites less likely to visit Detroit. Poll results are based on random interviews conducted Aug. 5-12 by Schoolcraft College sociology students. Poll results show nearly two-thirds of the nearly 400 people sur-veyed said they were less likely to visit the city as a result of the widely reported attacks on suburban women and their perception of how the incident was handled by Detroit police.

In contrast, the overwhelming majority of those surveyed in the Schoolcraft student poll said they believed the city contained interesting activities not available in RESULTS STAND in sharp contrast to an earlier Detroit Free Press poll that found only 23.5 percent of those surveyed were less likely to visit the city as a result of the incident.

Of those polled by Schoolcraft

• 63.9 percent said they were less likely to attend Detroit events in the future, the figure contrasts with 23.5 percent who responded to a similar question in the Free Press poll. In contrast, 33.2 percent said such incidents wouldn't affect their decision to attend Detroit events.

An additional 70.5 percent said "my feeling police security is inadequate" played a role in their decisions not to attend events. But 26.8 percent disagreed police security or its alleged lack — played a role in decisions whether to attend.

• 86.4 percent, however, said there were "interesting things" to do in Detroit; 78.5 percent said the city had "attractions not equaled by the suburbs."

• 69.8 percent called media coverage of the incident "fair and objective" while 88.2 percent said they believed not all violence was reported by the media.

"It shows suburbanites reaction to Detroit was strongly affected by the fireworks incident," said poll supervisor Conrad Behler, a parttime sociology instructor at the Livonia-based community college.

Survey finds nursing shortage continues

Michigan's nursing shortage isn't likely to end any time soon, area hospital administrators said, but nurs-ing school officials hope steps taken now will ease the shortage by decade's end.

A recent Michigan Hospital Association survey indicated a nursing vacancy rate of 13.6 percent for Michigan hospitals — well above the national average of 8.7 percent.

The survey didn't examine the reasons for the nursing shortage.
"We really didn't look at that, but we do have some theories," MHA spokeswoman Nancy Fiedler said. "Vacancies are generally higher in rural areas and Michgian has considerably more rural hospitals than other states. Michigan also is a leader in the number of outpatient clinics it has and some nurses leave hospitals to work in an outpatient set-

Nurses in urban hospitals earn $15.62 an hour, compared with $13.41 for nurses in rural hospitals, according to a recent survey by the William M. Mercer Co. of Detroit.

The shortage is no secret to area hospitals, where administrators have been scrambling to fill aursing spots.
"There's no question we've had a

Tracking traffic on a crazy 8

By Pat Schutte special writer

BALL.P.C.

Have you ever felt like just ramming some idiot driver with your car? Someone who, when you're late and finally get your car up to speed, decides to pull out in front of you and drive 10 miles per hour below the Speed limit.

Wouldn't you just like to tromp on the gas pedal, slam into their back end and send them careening into a guardrail or something?

Thought about it? Definitely. Actually done it? Not likely. Why? It could dent your bumper, maybe knock out a headlight, not to mention possible jail time if there were any surviving witnesses.

Enter the recent Wayne County Fair.

Mingling with blue ribbons, livestock and the bark of carnival workers is the roar of engines as cars skidded around track in pursuit of first place. Cars just a few feet short of the junkyard, sporting checkerboard paint jobs and hand-lettered messages like Duane's Love Machine and Whitey's Auto Salvage, sailed around the track, slamming into whatever got

In front of a couple thousand witnesses, the cheesed-off drivers did their best to ram each other into guard rails, over logs and into two giant tires in what's known as Figure 8 racing.

If you've never seen Figure 8 racing before, they're great. If you've seen a million of them, they're still

IN DEFINING Figure 8 racing, it would be best to say that it's a demolition derby but with a little more racing strategy. The Figure 8 racers do just that, race on a track constructed in the shape of the figure eight. And the coolest part about racing junk cars around a track shaped like an eight is that there's an intersection — minus traffic lights or stop signs. "Guys can lag back in the pack and then hammer the gas pedal and spear the leader in the intersection," said Dusty Pearse, 37, of Belleville, an official with U.S.A. Demolition Derby which sanctions Michigan's

U.S.A. Demolition Derby which sanctions Michigan's demolition derbies and Figure 8 races. "The drivers don't necessarily want to hit anybody... but they Flyin' Brian Butler, 25, of Ypsilanti was participating in his first Figure 8 race. And like the demolition derbies he's run in in the past, Butler's strategy was cut and dry.

"Keep the car running and keep the pedal to the floor," he said, leaning against his modified pile of scrap - a '76 Chevy Impala - he hopes will get him to the feature race.

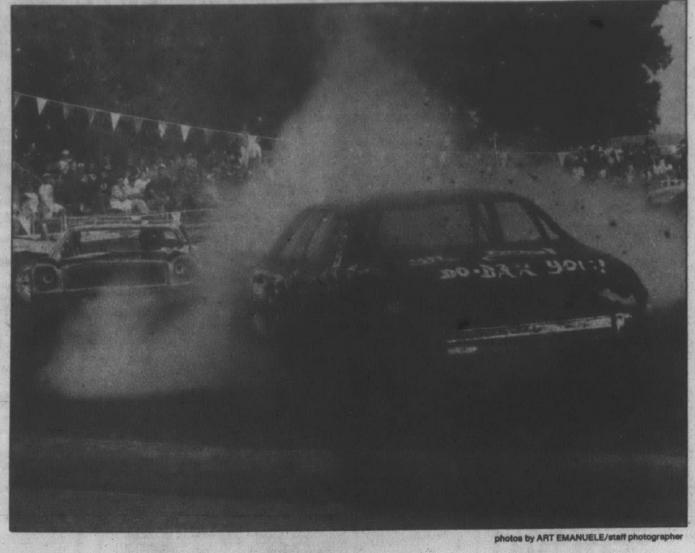

In Figure 8 racing, there's 49 cars. There are seven cars in each of seven races with the seven winners going on to the feature race.

LAST SEASON Butler was the crew chief for the eventual state Figure 8 champion, Darryl McCormack, 29, also of Ypsilanti. McCormack, the defending Wayne County Fair champion knows what it's like to get creamed in a Figure 8 race.

"This one time I was stalled and was bending over to check the battery connection when I got rear ended," he said. "The race challenges your driving skills more (than a demolition derby)."

For McCormack, the best race strategy is to "get out ments of two cars that collide in the intersection of the front and stay out of trouble."

Dirt flies and smoke billows from the engine compart- Figure 8 track. But it's a tense moment for drivers like Rita Murray who are waiting for the start of the race.

"You have to have a tough attitude and be really aggressive," said Rita Murray, 37, of Belleville. "It's just a natural high." Murray is one of two women in the field of drivers. She's piloting a 1975 Plymouth

Steps are taken to prepare the cars and make Figure 8 racing as safe as possible for the drivers.

Forget glass. Windows, even rear view mirrors, are removed. The last thing these drivers need is being pelted with broken glass.

Next is the gas tank. Don't look for it in the rear of the car. It's been replaced with a five-gallon tank, secured tightly in the back seat. Considering the rear end collisions that take place on the track, the back seat is the best place for it.

The battery also is moved from the front end of the car to a milk crate by the passenger's seat.

THE BUMPERS are chained on, the doors welded shut, the fender wells cut off and a giant slab of metal afixed to the driver's door to give him some added protection in case he gets broadsided.

Other precautions include exchanging the stock tires, usually bald, with snow tires for traction. And (obviously) the drivers are required to wear a helmet, eye protection and a seat belt.

That's a lot of protection for the driver, but the cars take a pounding. Smoke pours out of the hood of one car, the engine snuffed out in one exchange. And the cars' sleek lines, if you could call them that, give way to crumpled fenders and buckled hoods.

This night doesn't bode well for McCormack. He loses both rear tires in his heat. Gone is the the chance to defend his county fair title.

"I got whipped pretty good," he says dejectedly.

A fair amount of fun

special writer

It began as a forum for companies to promote their agricultural equipment to area farmers and a place for farming families to show off their prize livestock.

Although livestock and overgrown crops still have their place at the Wayne County Fair, the monster trucks, demolition derby, carnival rides and junk food attract a majority of

We've been coming here for the last 30 years," said Grant Campbell of Wayne. "Back in the early days it was more or less for the 4-H kids."

That was the early days, when Wayne County was known as the sweet corn capital of the world.

On display are Westlander Darlene Walter's blue ribbonwinning quick bread, the traditional giant sunflowers (13footers), a 20-pound watermelon (which even beat out a pumpkin for the heaviest crop) and an anatomically correct female scarecrow, which won over a Desert Storm scarecrow.

The rides are as wild as ever. Most of them spin you around in one way or another or make your stomach fall out. Pretty tame

But there is this one ride at the fair that strikes terror in the minds of kids and adults all over the country . . . The Zipper.

Quite an unassuming name for a ride that, with the exception of a high-speed roller coaster derailment, will cream you with sheer horror and mess with your guts like no other ride on the carny circuit.

That is until a new ride came to town. . Gravitron.

"First you start to spin really, really fast," said Michelle Tamer, 17, who works the Skee Ball booth next to The Zipper. "Then the seats slide up the wall — and all of a sudden - they drop. Then it does it again and again.

Not all the kids at the fair are spinning themselves into a satisfying world of dizzy oblivion. Nope, the teenage crowd was doing what they call "scoopin'."
According to Priscilla Short,

17, it's "like cruising around, talking to and meeting new guys.'

"I like the atmosphere," said Chet Atwell, 17, who was sporting a haircut called a high-top fade, which kind of looks like a nuclear silo. "Everything's cool."

On the dance floor, they'd call it a box step. On a Figure 8 track, it's a traffic jam with four cars trying to get through the in-tersection.

Difference: Viva la 'Groundswell'

Building on past success

By Larry O'Connor staff writer

The Difference should not be releasing "Groundswell" with its $30,000-plus price tag. At least not

Past accolades would have people predicting a better fate for the five-man band of funkmeisters. After all, wasn't this the band that MTV called "Best College Band in the Nation" in 1988 and that Musician magazine picked as one of top 15 best unsigned bands in the country the same year?

Drummer Tom Campbell wearily nods his head yes.

We sort of sat back and thought record companies would approach us," said Campbell in the living room of his Whitmore Lake home. "They didn't.

"We were a little naive about it. What we should have done was walk into their offices and crammed it down their throat.'

Major labels better invest in some throat lozenges, as "Groundswell" is headed for the industry's collective tonsils.

The self-produced compact disc was 2½ years in the making, recorded and mixed at three different studios, such as Producer's Color in Southfield and the Schoolhouse and Solid Sound in Ann Arbor. The band, instead of a record label, is paying the bill for its re-YES, THIS is crunch time. Yes, this is the release to either put the band over the top or leave them languishing as one of those who could've, should've but never did.

Any repeat of past history is unlikely, especially judging by the infectious energy emanating throughout "Groundswell."

The Difference has always been able to tap the source in live shows, which have always been sultry groove-infested affairs burning the wax off of dance floors. Bassist Randy Martin double-jointed gyrations alone are a sight to behold.

But try getting that on record or as Campbell put it, "Energy is tough to capture in binary code."

The Difference's previous two projects have been wayward at best, including a five-song EP "Culture Shock" that was recorded in New York with studio time won MTV contest. The project was never released.

"Our first couple of projects we didn't feel represented our music the way we liked," Campbell said. "People also commented that they thought the live show was better."

"Groundswell" reveals a group as something more than a funk-inspired aerobics session. Stirring

Difference has spent 21/2 years and more than $30,000 to produce "Ground Swell," meant for record companies to sit up and take notice of the group.

rhythm blues, mystical Celtic soul and flat-out rock'n'roll are detected on the 13-song effort on the band's own label, Bad Dog.

VOCALIST/GUITARIST Ramsey Gouda has been in New York the CD is getting air play on college radio.

If anything, "Groundswell" is an injection of morale for a band whose members were glum. The studio offered rejuvenation. "This time it was a lot more creative," Gouda said. "We had a better engineer (Geoff Michael). He was working real hard to get our ideas across. "It was nerve-wracking," Camp bell added. "Being in the studio was a joy. We opened our minds this time. We let everybody do what they wanted. We had fun.

"The nerve-wracking part was the differences in opinion over the remixing . . . It's like writing a book but writing it with four other authors. All of you have to agree." Through the bleak times, live shows helped sustain the Difference. The group continued to forge ahead, performing up to 10 shows a month across the Midwest and the East Coast

There are some hard times when you start wondering what's wrong with the music industry or what's with your music," Gouda said. "If you're sincere about your music and it's a part of you, it won't burn out."

With the CD, the band wants to make up the difference between live shows and a recorded product.

"I think it's a contrast; we've attempted to merge them instead of separate them," Campbell said. "I think we go with what we go with on stage. That's one of the ways we've grown up."

REVIEWS

RAG AND BONE BUFFET

XTC singer/songwriter/guitarist Andy Partridge said that "Rag and Bone Buffet" is the "weirdest" record they've ever put out and for the "truly dedicated and misguided XTC fan."

The only reason they made the ecord was to preserve the songs on CD, he said. Partridge's final analy-"This album has some of the best work we've ever done and some

Some highlights. The first song "Extrovert" was supposed to be on "Skylarking." It's notable mainly because Partridge said it was the only vocal he has ever done drunk.

"Mermaid Smiled" also has a "Skylarking" connection. It was on original pressings of the record, but when "Dear God" was a surprise hit, they added that, and knocked off "Mermaid" because it was the shor-

The majority of the songs are those that were made for albums but tropped for one reason or another "Ten Feet Tall" and "Over Ru Water" from "Drums and Wire and "Heaven Is Paved With B Glass," "Punch and Judy," "Tissu Tigers (The Arguers)" and "Blam The Weather" from "English Settle

KEYS TO THE KINGDOM - Moody Blues

How long has it been for these guys? Well, no matter. "Keys to the Kingdom" (PolyGram) finds the veteran British band in good tune and humor, if not exactly in a position to recapture past glories.

The leadoff track, "Say It with Love," may be the catchiest they've yet recorded — far better than their last big hit, "Your Wildest Dreams," way back in 1986.

Still, there's too much repetition and too little of the orchestral majestry that marks their best work. And what of a band that in 1991 dares title a tune "Never Blame the Rainbows for the Rain"? C'mon guys, the '60s were over a long, long,

Take lesson from way kids love sports

IT'S BEEN over a year since my then 12-year-old son looked at me as we were fly fishing in the Fox River in the Upper Peninsula and asked if I'd ever caught a fish with just a line and a fly.

I looked at my $200 L.L. Bean fly rod and thought for a moment. It was a kid's question. No, I hadn't, was my response. He tried it and hooked onto a nice size brook trout.

It made me wonder why I paid so much money for a rod that probably wasn't necessary. A quote from Spanish writer Jose Ortega y Gasset roughly says: If you buy enough of something, you can be it. It kind of explains why we spend so much on sporting equipment.

THIS SUMMER I watched two kayakers spend the day on a beach in the Pictured Rocks in the Upper with their equipment.

They looked as though they had purchased everything the L.L. Bean catalogue had to offer, lock, stock and backpacking stove.

It was a wonder they fit it in just two kayaks. It's not a problem the Indians had to face. They didn't have L.L. Bean to tell them what they needed to survive a canoe trip.

The two kayakers missed out on a perfect day at the beach because they were field testing their equip-

And I think that's happening a lot

Sports aren't sports anymore. It's all equipment and status. The fun's gone for adults. Watching our chil-den play and then following their lead is the only way out of the swamp of sports equipment in which we've become bogged down.

AFTER WATCHING the kayakers, my son and I were hiking back to our car from the beach. And as we walked, we were almost trampled and made deaf by a herd of runners. I don't know what was worse, dodg-ing them or listening to them whine about the uneven trail, the wrong shoes or their aches and pains.

And of course all the runners were clad in the latest gear, with running world family earns in a year.

Later in the week as I was driving in the Leelanau Peninsula, I watched as a grown man in his 40s bicycled next to me. This man was ready for the Tour de France. He was also a prime example of why the fabric Spandex can be worn by few people over the age of 19. The only exceptions are anorexics from third world

The man's head was down in the classic racer's position. He was in training. But for what? A five mile race in Traverse City?

It's not that I'm against exercise, it's just that we've taken the play out it, especially for adults.

HERE'S A LIST of things adults

do with much expense that kids do just for the fun of it and at much less

• Golf: It's nothing more than just walking around whacking a ball with a stick. Kids do that when they're 2 years old. And they don't worry about their score.

 Fly fishing: It's nothing more than wandering around in a river or lake catching fish with a $400 rod and flies that can cost up to $5. It's really the same thing as wading into a creek, catching frogs and putting them into a jar. And the cost? The price of any empty jar.

· Bicycle racing: God knows the price of those mountain bikes. Then there's the Spandex suit. If you're a male, you just have to hope Dolly Parton doesn't enter the race. Watch a kid ride a bike sometime. They don't need the helmets, mountain bikes, Spandex suits or races.

· Running: Only adults need to South American family earns in a year in order to run. Try catching a barefoot kid sometime and the question of shoes should be settled.

LATER ON my vacation I sat watching my kid swinging a bat behind the farm house we were at. He had a bat, but no balls. But there was an apple tree. He quickly made the connection and in no time was using the fallen apples as balls.

He still knows how to have fun without maxing out the Master Card at the sporting goods store.

We could all learn a lesson from

Benefits outweigh danger of liberal meddling

ONE OF MY co-workers continually complains about so-called liberals screwing up the country.

Those liberals, the newsroom ound bays, are to blame for nearly every social ill in our society.

The liberals, he continues ad nauseum, are merely a bunch of whiners who cry like babies if they don't get their way on issues ranging from gun control to U.S. Supreme

Another colleague frequently complains that government is too in-olved in issues that are none of its ness and that should be left to individuals or the private sector.

Please, the barf bag on both beefs.

IT'S THOSE same people, usually unservatives, who generally comlain when something is amiss and then their ox is gored. They want government to step in and do some-hing about it.

I recall a former state representaive, hardly a liberal in anyone's mind, addressing a western Wayne County Republican convention. The nce was made up entirely of hite, middle income people, mostly LET'S TAKE a quick look at several examples of the "big, bad government" and what it did to mess up the country.

When few people could afford a single-family house, the government created FHA- and VA-backed mort-

When industrial employees wanted to gain an advantage in collective bargaining with uncooperative em-ployers, they pushed Congress into enacting the National Labor Rela-tions Act, which establishes guidelines for union organizers and companies in union recognition and bargaining matters.

Later, when corruption was dis-covered in the Teamsters Union in the late 1950s, the government got into the act again to make sure union elections and pension funds were run

Taxpayers pick up travel tab for reps

special writer

Planeloads of lawmakers, their aides and often spouses too streaked repeatedly through international skies last year, as more than half the ership took hundreds of official trips ranging from import-ant business to nationally televised

Democrats Stephen J. Solarz of New York and Bill Richardson of New Mexico were the leading travelers among the 238 members who made house calls on foreign ports at taxpayer expense, according to Roll Call Report Syndicate's second annual survey of congressional globe-

Solarz spent the most days outside the United Staes, 64, on six trips to 27 countries, Richardson had the most trips, seven, spending 42 days in at least 10 countries.

Other House leaders, each with five trips and at least three weeks overseas, were Maryland Republi-can Helen Delich Bentley and Demo-crats Jaime Fuster of Puerto Rico, Dennis M. Hertel of Michigan, Jim Moody of Wisonsin, Solomon P. Ortiz of Texas and Charles B. Rangel of

THE 238 HOUSE members, including several who left office at the end of 1990, took 517 trips over 3,239 days to 1,086 countries at a cost reported by committees at $5.8 million. Roll Call Report's 1989 survey Identified 214 members making 419 trips over 3,048 days to 929 countries, at a committee-stated cost of $4.5 million. The cosT figures also cover staff travel overseas.

The survey did not cover Senate travel or House members' extensive global travel at the expense of special interests.

It is based on reports that commit-tees are required to file for publica-tion in the Congressional Record The reports do not state what the trips accomplish, nor indicate when spouses go along. But when the travel involves military aircraft, as most practice also permitted spousal lodging to be covered by the approximately $300 per diem each lawmaker received from taxpayers for daily expense in Paris.

Several of the Houses' 1989 travel leaders were much less footloose in 1990. For example, California Democrat Mervyn Dymally had the most trips in 1989, eight, and the most days away, 59. He cut that to three trips and 28 days in 1990. California Republican David Dreier, who took the second most trips in 1989, six, was shown in committee records as going abroad only three times in 1990 on official business.

Trips abroad are almost always scheduled to avoid conflicts with legislative business. But some members still manage to miss record votes because of their travel.

IN THE "VOTE lag" category roll calls missed as a result of jetting abroad - the 1990 leader was Tex-as' de la Garza, with 14 no-shows recorded during an Agriculture Committee trip to Mexico in June. Maryland's Bentley was absent for eight votes while visiting Eastern Europe in May. Ohio Democrat Edward F. Feighan missed eight roll calls as a result of an April trip to. Cyprus and Oregon Democrat Les Au Coin missed four votes because of a June trip to Switzerland.

While lawmakers made more trips to war mobilization areas of the Persian Gulf than any other destination, they also flocked to such perennial pleasure zones as Paris, London, Vienna, Brussels, Bonn and Zurich.

Barbados, normally a coveted port, proved less hospitable than ex-pected to nine House members who stopped there in April for a few days at or near the beach. Each member and staff aide had a per diem allow-ance of at least $235, according to

Hidden ABC news cameras also showed up, giving taxpayers their first nationally televised view of a congressional junket in progress when the visit was later featured on the network's "Prime Time Live"

According to House records, the lawmakers nabbed at Barbados by Sam Donaldson and crew were Dan Rostenkowski and Marty Russo of Illionis, Thomas J. Downey of New York, George Miller and Peter Stark of California and Barbara B. Kennelly of Connecticut and Repu Raymond J. McGrath of New York, Richard Schulze of Pennsylvania and Guy Vander Jagt of Michigan.

Arthritis Today

ROLE OF GOLD THERAPY IN RHEUMATOID ARTHRITIS

You may have read that recent research found that gold injections, a basic therapy in rheumatoid arthritis, is "of no value."

What the investigation showed was that at the end of five years the degree of pairment differed little between patients who had received gold therapy and those who

Physicians who treat patients with rheumatoid arthritis had no quarrel with the results of the study. However, the investigators did not take into account that the way of life differed between the group receiving gold injections and the group that did not.

Gold injections may not stop impairment, but the therapy diminishes pain. The patient can ambulate and continue activity to a substantially greater degree then the patient not taking cells.

can ambutate and continue activity to a substantiary greater degree than the patient taking gold.

Perhaps in five years the impairment of grasp, reach, gait and grip are the same in the two groups. But individuals on gold therapy have more days that are "good" days then the group not using gold.

The term "quality of life" is often used as a slogan. However, the phrase has meaning when applied to gold therapy. As this medication improves the way a patient lives day by day, gold injections will remain a part of a physician's response to a patient's need.

A challenging campaign in CEP

8 starters gone, but Salem's tough

By C.J. Risak staff writer

They know. And Ken Johnson knows they know

It's really no revelation. The majority of the players responsible for guiding Plymouth Salem to its first-ever Western Lakes Athletic Association boys soccer championship are gone

"We've lost eight starters," admits Johnson, entering his 11th season at Salem's helm.

Eight starters gone, from a 16-2-1 team. . . So now Johnson realizes his rivals 'n the always-tough WLAA are well aware of his predicament. But he also knows that most of them are equally aware of his new wave of The Rocks are rebuilding, to be sure. But all is not lost — not by a long shot. Not when there are still 10 seniors on the team. And not when the others were part of an unbeaten junior varsity in 1990. "We're kind of rebuilding on three terrific players," said Johnson. "Matt Lee, John Truskowski and Tom Baker. Those three are the building blocks."

ALL THREE started last year, Lee (a senior) at stopper and Truskowski (senior) and Baker (junior) in the midfield. Johnson has shifted Truskowski to center striker this season, changing his alignment from a 4-4-2 (four defenders, four midfielders and two forwards) to a

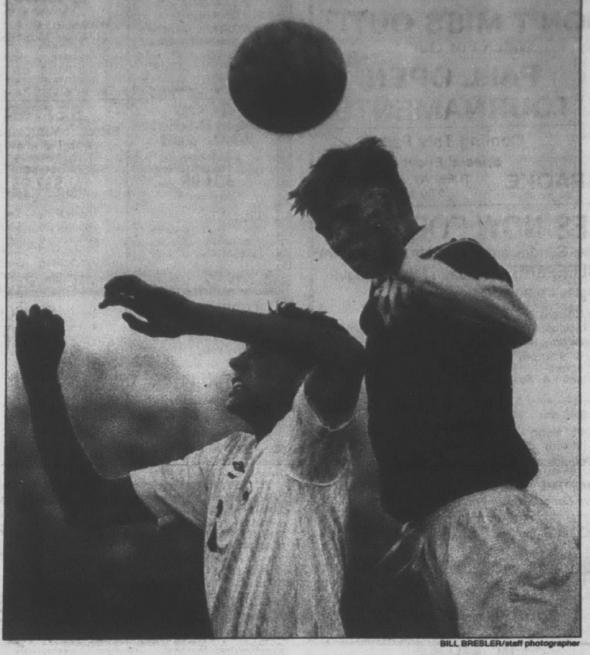

There are a couple of reasons for the switch. "We had a bunch of midfielders last year, and several of them were attacking midfielders," explained Johnson. "We don't have that this year."

What the Rocks have in abundance is speed. "We've gone from size to speed. This year, we're lighter and

To take advantage of their faster feet, Johnson opted to use three forwards. Joining Truskowski on the forward line will be senior Rich Andrusiak at right wing and junior Joe Perron at left wing. "They can fly down the wing," the Salem coach said.

ANOTHER REASON for going to a three-man mid-field was Johnson's regard for Baker in the middle. And there's plenty of depth, with seniors Eric Stemmer, Dave Sudia and Ryan Kramer; juniors Brian Spuck and Ryan Phipps; and sophomore Jason Oberhelman.

Eric Stemmer (left), a midfielder for Salem, and Owen Crosby, a defender for Canton, are both being counted on by their respective teams in another tough season in the WLAA.

Veterans infuse Canton with hope

By Dan O'Mears staff writer

Plymouth Canton made an early exit from the Class A boys soccer tournament last year, but the circumstances of the defeat gave the Chiefs reason to be optimistic about the 1991 season

As ironic as it might seem, Canton saw its 4-3 loss to heavily favored Plymouth Salem in the first round of district competition as something positive to build on.

The Chiefs had lost twice to the No. 2-ranked Rocks during the regular season - both times by shutout but nearly upset the Western Lakes Activities Associa-tion champion in post-season play. A three-goal rally in the second half saved Salem, which trailed 3-1 at half-

"I think it gave the returning kids the feeling they could beat these teams," Canton coach Don Smith said, referring to traditional WLAA powerhouses Livonia Stevenson, Salem and Livonia Churchill. "We played very good games against Salem and Stevens

The Chiefs were 9-9 overall, finished second in the Western Division behind Class A runner-up Churchill and placed fourth in the WLAA.

WITH NINE seniors among its 15 returning varsity players, Canton expects to do as well if not better this Six losses occurred in games with the aforementioned trio, and they are the opponents at whom Canton is taking aim once again.

"Those are good teams, but if you want to be the best you have to get them," Smith said. "It's too bad we see them so often, but that's the only way you're going to

"I think we've got the best shot (at Salem) we've had in a while. We didn't do too badly before. I think we believe we can do it this year. We went after them before, but I don't know if we believed we could do it."

The Chiefs, who begin the season Thursday, Aug. 29, at home against Trenton, have veteran players everywhere on the field but especially on defense.

The LCBL playoff champions were eliminated by Johnny's Auto Sales of Baltimore, Md. in the fourth round of the All-American Amateur Baseball Associaton (ages 20 and under) tournament at Johnstown, Pa., 7-3.

Despite out-hitting the defending AAA-BA champs, 13-8, Caesars headed home from the double-elimination tourney after leaving a total of 12 runners on base, including 10 in the first four innings.

Johnny's broke open a close game in the ninth inning, scoring three times to put Caesars away. Tom Taylor keyed the surge with a two-run homer

Teammate William Phillips also homered off Caesars starting pitcher Eric Stanczak, who went the entire nine innings. Stanczak walked four and struck out

Johnny's starter Mark Foster also threw a complete game. He struck out five and

But the Livonians muffed a chance to have a big inning, leaving the bases loaded. Baltimore got two back in the third, but

Caesars regained the lead when Earl Johnson, who went 3-for-5, and Jeff Bates, each Johnny's tied it in the fifth and took the lead for good with another run in the sixth.

Jeff Miller also added three hits for Caesars, while Heard and Brent Hayward added two each.

After beating Cleveland (14-5) and Schnectady, N.Y. (11-6) in the opening two rounds, Caesars suffered their first loss of the AAABA tourney Wednesday when Milford, Mass. handed them a 23-13 lashing in eight innings (mercy rule). A total of 42 hits were collected in the slugfest at Roxbury Park.

Milford, led by Louis Merloni's 6-for-6 performance, mounted a 26-hit attack highlighted by four homers, including a grand slam.

CAESARS HAD 16 hits, led by Heard, who went 4-for-5 with a pair of runs scored. Bates contributed three hits, including a homer. Stanczak, Miller and Mike Giacomantonio each added two hits. Miller also scored three runs.

Caesars ended the season with a 21-13-1 overall record.

Defending champion Grand Valley State is picked to repeat

Brian Tiller, a Plymouth Salem grad, will return to play cornerback for Saginaw Valley State after missing a year. By C.J. Risak

Defense is what matters, football coaches in-

Now explain why those in the Midwest Intercollegiate Football Conference cast their first-place votes for a team that is loaded offensively, but has more than a few question marks defensively - Grand Valley State.

Of course, it must be noted that the Lakers went 10-2 last year and won the inaugural MIFC championship with a 9-1 record. They lost two offensive starters, but got one they missed most of last season back — tight end Bob Mitchell, a 1990 pre-season All-America candidate.

Still, eight seniors have graduated from the defense, including all three starting linebackers, which will put pressure to produce on those with experience who return.

Like Eric Thornton, a 6-foot-2, 220-pound junior defensive end from Westland John Glenn HS who recorded four quarterback sacks in part-time duty last year. The defensive line is solid, with senior defensive tackle Jim Cramer, an All-American candidate, returning.

BUT WITH a new corps of linebackers, the defense may be vulnerable. Brian Kelly, Grand Valley's 29-year-old first-year coach, knows it.

"I don't think there's an offensive coordinator around who wants to be in a position where they have to outscore the other team," said Kelly, who served as the Lakers' defensive coordinator last year. He succeeds Tom Beck, who left to join the Notre Dame coaching staff.

Still, if it comes to that, he has the offensive tools to do it - starting with senior quarterback Jack Hull (2,152 yards passing, 19 touchdowns and just five interceptions) and senior running back

football

Eric Lynch (977 yards rushing, 20 TDs).

Controlling the line will be an experienced group, said Kelly. "We return a lot of veterans on a very talented offensive line," he noted. Included is starting senior guard Doug Strehl (6-2, 250), from John Glenn.

Mitchell's return (48 catches in '89) strengthens the receiving. Top pass-catcher Michael Short is gone, but seniors Ted Monken and John Sanders are back. So is junior Todd Gesund (6-0, 185), from North Farmington. Gesund caught 13 passes for 249 yards and one TD last season

IT MAY BE tough to repeat, however. Ashland College was picked to finish second, with Hillsdale College third and Saginaw Valley State fourth. Ferris State and Northern Michigan tied for fifth in the poll; any of them could challenge for the championship.

At Hillsdale, a strong offensive line and tough defense could propel the Chargers (7-4 overall, 7-3 in the MIFC last season) into contention. The offensive line is anchored by senior center Kurt Urban (6-2, 240), from Plymouth Salem. Urban started every game last season

"Our offensive line is going to be as strong as it's ever been," said coach Dick Lowry as he prepared for his 35th season. "The question mark will be at quarterback."

Lowry hasn't found a suitable replacement for graduated Craig Como at quarterback, and hinted a freshman may even fill the position. Another notable loss to graduation was tailback Jeff Cameron, who led the team in rushing and receiving.

JUNIOR SPLIT end Joe Ransley (5-11, 175), from Livonia Franklin, should help offset the losses; he had nine catches for 193 yards and two TDs in '90.

Of course, should the offense falter, it will be nice having all-MIFC punter Mark Wolter, a senior from Livonia Stevenson, to boot the Chargers out of trouble. Wolter averaged nearly 41 yards a kick last year

And on defense, there's an abundance of talent. "Our defense is as good as it's ever been," said Lowry. "We have a lot of speed on defense.

Two-year starting defensive tackle Joe Jouppi (6-2, 230), from Plymouth Salem, is a key component on an able defense. Jouppl had 49 tackles, including three quarterback sacks, last year. "Joe should be an awfully good defensive lineman,"

Hillsdale should be an awfully good team, if capable replacements at key spots are found.

At least one opposing coach tabbed Saginaw Valley State as the team to watch this season, with good reason. The Cardinals won the last five games of their 1990 campaign after losing five of their first six (one on a forfeit for using an ineligible player). They finished 6-5, 5-5 in the MIFC.

THE DEFENSE is experienced, with 14 of 18 players who started during the season returning. One is junior defensive lineman Alan Pitts (6-3, 255), from Stevenson. Pitts numbered two sacks and three tackles for loss in '90.

Also returning is senior cornerback Brian Tiller (5-8, 170), from Plymouth Salem. Tiller sat out last season after starting as a sophomore. "We're feeling pretty good. Brian Tiller is back after a year away," said Cardinal coach George Ihler." 'We're glad to have him back."

Salem grads to start

Ihler's also happy to have an extremely productive ground attack back. Sophomores Brett Mullins (1,178 yards rushing) and Brett Burris (860 yards) will be joined in the backfield by senior Kevin Mitchell, who rushed for over 1,000 yards for three consecutive seasons before sitting out last year.

Other teams can contend, but have bigger questions to answer. Ferris State, 5-4-1 in the MIFC last season. needs junior quarterback Doug Arneld to return to the form of his eshman year. Pat Pettit (6-0, 168), a junior flanker from John Glenn, was one of Arnold's favorite targets last season with 28 catches for a team-best 497 yards and two TDs.

Northern Michigan (5-4-1 in '90) has a new coach in Mark Marana and a strong offensive line, which includes senior guard Andy Avery (6-3, 253), from North Farmington. But the Wildcats have lost quarterback Jason Cornell and linebacker Mark Maddox to graduation. Neither will be easily replaced.

FOR WAYNE State, this could be a turn-the-corner season. The Tar-tars were just 3-7 last season; coach Joe B. Horn is expecting much better this season.

"Our offense should be strong," said Horn. "On defense, we have a lot of guys who have played but not a lot of standouts. We're going to win some games."

His defense has eight players with starting experience returning, including sophomore defensive end Eric Ruth (6-3, 245), from Stevenson, the team's most valuable defensive lineman and honorable mention all-MIFC in '90. Ruth had 50 tackles last year, including five sacks and 11 tackles for loss.

Also back is sophomore safety Eb bie Herbert (5-11, 185), from Redford Bishop Borgess, who also gained honorable mention all-MIFC honors and was named way's MVP in the secondary. Herbert had 49 tac-kles and two interceptions in '90. Expect sophomore strong safety Brian Piergentili (5-11, 180), from Stevenson, a part-time starter last season, to see plenty of action, too.

One major question at WSU is the kicking game. Horn hopes redshirt freshman Erik Burton, from Redford Catholic Central, can provide the answer. "Erik Burton is the best technical punter I've worked with, but he is a freshman," said Horn, noting Burton's occasional miskicks.

Still, with the right breaks and some contributions from a few newcomers, the Tartars could finish in

The Farmington Hills Majestics swept a double-header from the Livonia Spitfires Thursday to become co-champions of the Comp cial Carpet Corporation Softball

The Majestics, who trailed the Spitfires by two games entering the final night of play, won the first game 7-1 and the second 9-8. Both teams finished with 13-3 records.

Krista Miller was the winni pitcher in both games and was 2-for-3 in the nighto Majestics teammate Jackie Rajkovich hit a three-run homer to start the scoring in the first game, and she had a pair of doubles in the second. Cyndi Knuta hit a pair of homers — a two-run shot in the first game and a solo blast in the second.

Allison Gunn contributed a pair of triples and Kathy Misteravich two hits in the opening victory.

Jenny Banish, who had a home run and four RBI, tied the nightcap at 7-7 and knocked in the winning run with a groundout in the seventh inning. Andrea Thibodeau also was 2for-3 in that game.

The Canton Cobras finished third and were followed in the standings by the Livonia Commanders, Farmington Hills Diamonds, Salem Shags, Farmington Fantastics and Livonia but junior Matt Deluisio also returns from last year's varsity. Sophomores Joe Sisko and Craig Provenzano were JV defenders, and sophomore Billy Power is a utility player who could help there, too.

The league had its first all-star game Saturday night in Plymouth. Cobras coach Jim Arnold was in charge of the National team, ar Spitfires coach Curt White guided the American stars.

Canton has a pair of experienced goalkeepers in senior Jim Bradley and junior Ryan Henkel who shared the

"I think I'm going to stick with one, but I haven't ade up my mind," Smith said. "Both are very good, and I hate to let one of them sit.

"Both are better than they were last year, and they did a good job last year. They also have good size (Bradley is 5-foot-11 and 185 pounds, Henkel 6-2 and 185.). The football team would like to have them."

Canton lost its leading scorers — Quang Quach had eight goals and six assists, Mike Presley six goals and nine assists — but has four varsity holdovers at the forward positions.

forward positions

Seniors Brett Kearney, Chris Hayes, Jason Ripp and Craig Miller saw considerable playing time. Hayes had seven goals and four assists, and the other three scored three goals apiece. Freshman Graham Wilk and Power will get playing time at forward, too.

CANTON SCORED 40 goals last season for an average of 2.22 per game, but Smith would like to see that number increased, adding it took three games to score three on Salem.

"It's necessary if we're going to beat those good teams," he said. "If Hayes gets the same and the others double that, we'll be in good shape."

The returning midfielders are seniors Ray Rogissart and Stu Levenbach and juniors Mike Hayes, Mike Wdowiak and Kirk Wahtera. All played a lot last year, though Wdowiak and Wahtera were mainly defenders. Freshman Jeff Fliss has great potential, according to Smith, and will be on the varsity, too.
"Overall, we should be fairly solid," Smith said.

We're two deep at each spot, which I like.

"It should be a good year for us. I think we'll enjoy it. If we get off to a good start, we could do fairly well."

Rocks rebuilding

"It's not as bad as I thought it would be," said Johnson of his front six. Still, there's a good deal to replace, like forward Andy Cosenza and midfielders Todd LaJoy and Brad Fisch. But: "I'm happy with the front six. I wondered how we were going to replace them, but all of the front six can hit the ball hard."

The concern is the defense, said Johnson. "(Lack of) Experience in the back," he said "Hopefully, Lee will-be able to hold them together. The ones we graduated played together back there for three years."

Hardest to replace will be sweeper Ryan Fitzpatrick. "He had size and speed. We'll miss his ability to come forward." Juniors Jeff Kley and Chris Saline will bolster the defense, which will be anchored by Lee at stopper - the only returnee.

DEFENDERS CHRIS LaJoy and Jake Baker, and keeper Derek Olson, have also graduated. That means seniors Matt Cook and Brian Kirby, and sophomore Greg Szydlowski, must contribute. In goal, senior Nick Dazer is slated as the starter, with senior Jeff Little as his back-up. Dazer was Olson's back-up last season. While all sorts of questions face the inexperienced Rocks - Can the defense defend? Can the offense produce? Can Baker keep a three-man midfield in control? - there is no question which is the team to beat in the "Livonia Churchill, without a doubt," said Johnson.

The Chargers return most of the team that reached the Class A state final. Salem had a good deal of success against Churchill prior to the state tournament, tying the Chargers during the regular season and beating them in the WLAA final.

But Churchill eliminated Salem in state district play. Johnson figures Churchill to be the favorite, with Livonia Stevenson and Salem right behind. Plymouth Canton will be in the chase, too."

But to contend, Salem must find suitable answers to its many questions.

Not so wild about 'Wild at Heart

Any number of adjectives can be, and have been, used to describe David Lynch's films and television show: interesting, strange, funny, violent, disturbing. Clearly he is not a writer/director everyone will appre-

Lynch's best known film, "Blue Velvet," was strikingly original. It was a tightly focused film with some fruly weird characters and a plot that had some strange refractions.

There are scenes in that movie that I've never forgotten, Dennis Hopper inhaling from his gas mask and Dean Stockwell's Roy Orbison with a work light as a baby spotlight. Even now, if I happen to catch Bob-by Vinton singing "Blue Velvet" while riding in an elevator, I mentally hear Isabella Rosselini's incredibly off-key warbling.

I was expecting to really like Wild at Heart." Unfortunately, I was disappointed.

"Wild at Heart" starts out with abrupt violence, as Sailor Ripley fends off a knife-wielding assailant who was sent after him by his girlfriend's mother and who attacks him outside a nightclub. Girlfriend Lula, played by Laura Dern, stands by Lula's mother, Marietta, played by Dern's real life mother Diane Ladd, watches as the first of many plots against Sailor, played by Nicolas Cage, go awry.

The next scenes take place months later when Sailor is released from prison after paying his debt to society for killing the assailant.

Juicy tips for grilling burgers

I love summer. I enjoy getting out of the kitchen and expanding my experiences on the grill. I like experimenting with grilled vegetables, ribs, chicken and fish - and, of course, the ever-popular hot dogs and

Last week, the Janes Gang gathered at the McLouth Steel Retirees Picnic with Mom and Dad and enjoyed juicy burgers, cooked to perfection over red-hot

But what goes into making the best grilled burgers?

Ground beef is sold in every supermarket I have ever walked into. Does hamburger make the best hamburgers? Just how lean is lean? And which is the best choice? Ground chuck? Ground

THE NAME "hamburger," or chopped or ground beef, means solely that this product is made from 100 percent beef. No water, binders or fillers may be added.

It must contain at least 70 percent lean meat. But what about the other 30 percent, you ask? Fat, plain, pure and arteryhardening fat.

Many markets are getting into the habit of labeling their ground beef mixture by the percentage of fat within the mixture. The level of fat is not regulated by the USDA.

Most markets also designate which part of the animal the meat primarily comes from. Is ground chuck better than ground

THERE IS more than one "best" choice, depending on how you use ground beef. For strict fat-controlled diets, the leanest meat obviously has the least amount of fat.

But, since fat also gives flavor and moisture to meat, super-lean meat may easily become dry and crumbly, especially if overcooked.

great rare burgers, but if you like them a little more cooked, I suggest ground chuck.

I CAN vividly remember Momma going into the A&P in Wyandotte and searching through all the packages of stewing beef looking for the leanest one.

Then, and only then, would she hand the package to the butcher and direct him to "fresh grind" her some ground stewing beef.

Old habits die hard. I still do that, even at my favorite butcher Even ground turkey and ground chicken can make decent burgers, with a little help. RIGHT OFF the bat, you must know that these products are very lean and can use some additional fat, or at least a healthy slathering of oil, during the grilling process. Also, be aware that both ground chicken and turkey are virtually tasteless, so they lend themselves to being mixed with herbs, spices and other additions that make flavorful burgers.

When I get in the mood to grill burgers, I light the coals and wait until I get a gray ash over all the coals (too hot cooks too fast).

THE JANES Gang kids like their burgers plain. Depending on my mood, I might stir in some chopped green chile peppers and a little taco seasoning for a Southof-the-border treat that can't be

For an Oriental flavor, I might toss in some finely chopped water chestnuts and a slathering of hoisin or soy sauce.

A personal favorite is my famous "French" burgers, made into patties with a crumbling of bleu cheese, a little onion, some dijon mustard and a sprinkling of tarragon. Talk about a flavorful

Warming up for the State Fair

Baker rises to to the top in yeast breads

By Joan Boram special writer

T 6:30 a.m., Aug. 18, Larry Galbraith began a gruelling 18-hour marathon. Like a topseeded athlete pitted against the best in the field, he'd spent weeks getting ready for his Galbraith's gear had been ready for a week: 40 pounds of bread flour, a 2-pound bag of dried yeast, eggs, milk, sugar, spices, butter and dried fruits. New August potatoes from a favorite supplier at the Eastern Market were at hand. Larry Galbraith was warming up for the yeast breads competition at the Michigan State Fair!

"It's usually the hottest Sunday of the year," said Galbraith. "I enter 10 different categories. That means I have to turn out 10 perfect examples of yeast breads, rolls, and coffee cakes on Sunday, and deliver them to the fairgrounds for judging on Monday.

"I've worked out a schedule beforehand — there are 10 different rising times, and several different oven temperatures involved. But the schedule is subject to the weather.

"IN HOT, muggy weather the yeast works faster, and the dough tends to be stickier. Don't ever let anybody tell you that yeast baking is an exact Galbraith's love affair with yeast began in 1983,. when he took a baking class through an adult education program. He was just "looking for something different to do."

"I had fooled around with frozen dough, and I figured there had to be a better way," he said.

"After I took the class, I started baking three or four nights a week. I gave it to neighbors, to coworkers at the New York Carpet World (Galbraith is manager, customer relations), to my three teenagers and their friends. It became a family tradition that I make pizza for Sunday dinner

"I love yeast — I bake nothing but yeast breads. It takes time to understand yeast and flours: you don't get the feel for doughs overnight."

WHEN GALBRAITH isn't in active competition, he's a coach. In 1988, he began teaching breadmaking in the Southfield adult education program.

The class is strictly hands-on," says Galbraith. There are six ovens available, so class size is limited to 12 people. There are six 3-1/2-hour sessions, and they begin baking the first night.

We start with a basic white bread, and the second week I show them how to make a classic braided egg bread. By week three, they're getting pretty good, so we make potato bread and English muffin bread.

"Week four, we make coffee cake; weeks five and six are usually determined by the time of year. The class has a vote. If it's a fall class, we concentrate on breads.

"And, somewhere along the line, we make rolls. Everybody who has ever taken my class has wanted to learn how to make rolls."

GALBRAITH GLADLY shares all of his knowledge and techniques with his classes. "One of the hardest things for beginners to recognize is when dough has been over- or under-floured. They'll add as much flour as the recipe calls for, whether the dough needs

"I tell them that if the dough has cracks in it, it's over-floured. Just run it under the tap for a second to add a little moisture.

JERRY ZOLYNSKY/staff photograp

Old-Fashioned Potato Bread, baked by Larry Galbraith of Southfield was a first prize winner at the Michigan State Fair 1986 through 1990.

"If you cut the dough in half, and press your finger against the cut side, your finger should pull away without sticking. If your finger sticks, the dough needs more flour

But Galbraith doesn't just abandon his students after six weeks. They have his home phone number and are free to call him if they get stuck in the middle of a recipe "Our phone rings off the wall Thanksgiving and Christmas mornings. It's 'Help Mr. G, my bread won't rise. What am I doing wrong'?"

"MR. G." walks them through the steps until he's found the problem, and then he goes back to his own holiday baking.

"One day, I spent almost two hours on the phone with a student, and I just couldn't spot what he was doing wrong. Finally, he told me he was trying to raise the dough in a microwave oven.

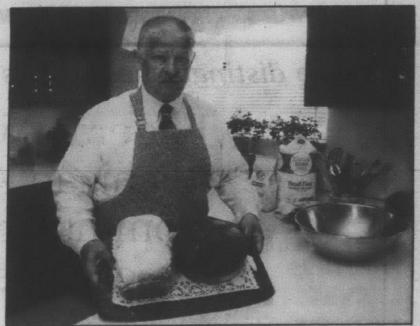

"Yeast won't grow in a microwave because there's no air circulation!"

Galbraith's children coaxed him to enter the Michigan State Fair competition in 1985. First time out, he won five ribbons for 8 entries. "I felt pretty good when I picked up the ribbons.

Then I found out there were 1,400 entries, and I felt even better!' In 1990, his 10 entries earned nine ribbons Altogether, since 1985, Galbraith has earned 47

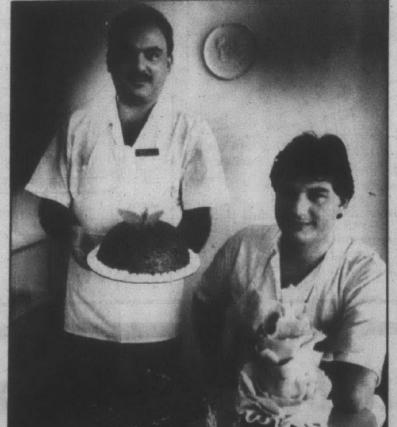

But he's never won a first for white bread. "Last year, I thought it was perfect. But I only won a econd. This year it's going to win!

Sweet Dreams offers royal treats

By Keely Wygonik staff writer

You'll be treated like royalty at the newly opened Sweet Dreams in Livonia where brothers Michel and Sam Daher make pastries and ice cream fit for a king.

Trained in Lebanon, Italy and Paris, Michel, 32, was a pastry chef for the royal family in Saudi Arabia, and worked in hotels before coming to the United States.

SWEET DREAMS specializes in wedding, anniversary, birthday and other special occasion cakes all made from scratch with natural ingredients, and Callebaut Belgian

Whether it's for a special celebration or dinner, these edible works of art will draw rave reviews from your family and friends, especially those who can't ever get enough chocolate:

Sweet Dreams offers 12 flavors of cakes and cheese cakes, seven varieties of ice cream cake and eight ice cream flavors.

"We really have good experience and do fancy, fancy cakes. A fancy cake is hard to make, I like the chalbrother.

Some specialties are Charlotte, which Michel is holding in the photo on the left, a cake made with strawberry, vanilla and chocolate ice cream, covered with slices of Swiss cake roll, and strawberry glaze; Fort Apache, shown in the foreground, a cake made with a chocolate brownie, vanilla ice cream, surrounded by hazelnut biscuits; and Chocolate Fantasia, chocolate cake with chocolate and raspberry filling topped with a white chocolate rose.

ANOTHER CAKE, White Leaves, is made with alternating layers of chocolate chiffon and white chocolate mousse, topped with leaves of thinly sliced white chocolate.

Fruit lovers will like "Venice Fruit" - alternating layers of vanil-la chiffon and vanilla mousse, with fresh fruit inside, topped with mouth-watering slices of cantaloupe, kiwi fruit, star fruit, honeydew melon, blueberries, strawberries, blackberries and raspberries.

There's also "Bananna Baileys" with layers of chocolate chiffon, chocolate banana bailey mousse, learned pastry-making from his topped with chocolate ganache, a glaze made with cream, butter and chocolate and hazelnuts Sam says this cake is for chocohol-ics - a layer of chocolate brownie. chocolate ganache, chocolate chiffon and chocolate mousse, topped with chocolate buttercream frosting.

FOR SMALL appetites, there are eclairs, individual cakes, bite-sized brownies and cream puffs filled with vanilla, raspberry and lemon

"I come here almost every day," said Bashar Alashkar of Livonia."I like the ice cream. There's nothing artificial in it. It's very high quality and carefully made. It's excellent. I also like the chocolate raspberry cake, it's light and moist."

For something different, try Ashtta. "It's like vanilla, only richer, more creamy and flavored with spe-cial spice," said Michel.

Hours are Monday through Sunday, 9 a.m. to 11 p.m. Sweet Dreams is sandwiched between Foley's Uniforms and Egghead Software in the Middlebelt Plaza, 18762 Middlebelt, Livonia, 476-6665.

DINNER ROLLS

Everyone always asks about making dinner rolls. White bread or potato bread make excellent rolls. Remember, you're using smaller amounts of dough (less volume), so baking time will always be less than for baking loaves of bread.

Use 8-inch, 9-inch, or 10-inch cake pans. If you use muffin tins, 90 per-cent of the rolls will be crust because of the small amount of dough used. After dough rises, punch it down, and divide into 21/2-3-oz smooth balls. You'll need six balls in the 8-inch, seven in the 9-inch, and eight in the 10-inch pan. Place balls in greased pan, spacing ½ inch apart. Brush with butter or margarine and cover with plastic wrap and a towel. In warm place, let rise for 35-40 minutes or until doubled in size. Dazzle guests with lamb

To keep that summer party exciting, you might want to try serving something a little different this year from the usual hamburger or chicken fare. One suggestion is grilled lamb — one of the "in" foor's for Leaner than ever before, this meat offers great taste and nutrition in a variety of recipes requiring only minutes of preparation.

Favored for the grill are some of the new, smaller lamb cuts now sold in your local supermarket. Very popular for the summer cookout are kebabs, which may be sold prepackaged or easily cut from a sirloin oast or leg.

Taken from the leanest part of the lamb, with only 176 calories per three-ounce serving, kebabs offer a lot of fun on a skewer accompanied by a medley of vegetables or fruits.

To cook your kebabs to perfection, stack briquets in a pyramid and preheat coals 20-40 minutes until bright red and covered with gray ash. After spreading briquets evenly apart, you can test for the proper moderate temperature when you comfortably can hold your palm approximately four inches above the coals for four seconds.

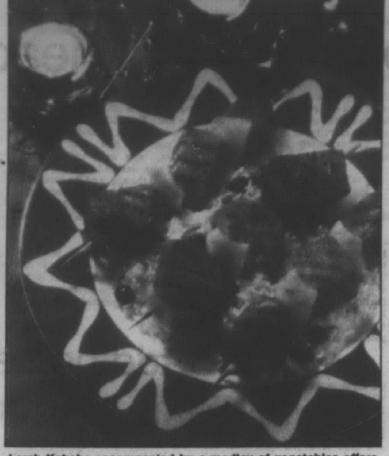

In the recipe, "Stars and Stripes Lamb Kebabs," lamb cubes are marinated in dry red wine or orange juice, broth, grape jelly, red wine vi-negar, garlic, rosemary, marjoram, bag leaf, salt and ginger. When you're ready to start the meal, skewer alternating pieces of lamb and onion, ending with a red pepper star. Once placed on the fire, the kebabs grill in 10-12 minutes. Serve with a Blueberry Rice Salad of fresh blueberries, cooked rice, sliced almonds and a sweet vinaigrette.

The Chateau Fuisse vineyards encompass about 100 separate parcels of land midway up slopes in both the Pouilly and Fuisse districts. Each offers a distinct character to the wine and is vinified separately to maintain the original identity of the vineabout 1,700 acres in the southern Maconnais. Vincent's vineyard sources in Fuisse, constituting about % of the blend, are selected for their lively chardonnay fruit, producing a wine of depth and richness.

"POUILLY-FUISSE chardonnay is not as sophisticated as a Meur-sault or Puligny," Vincent contends. "It is also not as pricey and is a per-fect wine for fish and lighter food preparations. It is a soft, pleasant white wine that makes a good value

Macon-Villages is the largest appellation in the Maconnais, with nearly 6,000 acres. Vincent's wine (100 percent chardonnay) is a blend of three villages. The first offers a muscat character elevating the wine's aromas. The second lends structure to the wine, and the last gives finesse and elegance to the "Blending wines from three vil-lages builds a more harmonious-wine," Vincent said. "The 1990 Macon-Villages is one of the best in the last 10 years. The acid levels arebalanced and the wine overall is much better than the 1989."

The vineyard sources for the St. Veran wine are in the northern part; of the appellation. The area produces chardonnay wines with both pearand peach aromas and flavors.

Seek and ye shall find in Amish country

GOSHEN, IND.: I met Bill and June Lewis of Farmington Hills in the pottery shop of the Old Bag Factory. That's not a place that makes old bags, it's an old soap factory reincarnated as a craft center in Goshen.

If you haven't been to Goshen lately, you'll find it across the Indiana state line south of Kalamazoo in Elkhart County. It is east of Wakarusa and Nappanee, southwest of Middlebury and Shipshewana, in the heart of Indiana Amish country.

The Lewises sometimes make the three-hour drive to this area for the day, sometimes for the weekend. "It's a whole different slower way of life, and we find it very peaceful and relaxing," June

"We don't go to the weekly antique auctions and flea market in Shipshewana, because the town is so crowded, but we love week ends. You can park and walk down all the side roads and into the shops, which are full of country crafts."

THERE ARE several bed and breakfast places around Amish country; June and Bill usually stay at Green Meadows, where a Mennonite couple called Ruth and Paul Miller raise miniature horses and serve a good Amish breakfast in their home set way back from the road north of town.

"Shipshewana is good for country crafts but not for antiques, June said. "We couldn't get into Green Meadows this trip, so we went to Goshen."

That's where I met them, at the Old Bag factory, a complex of old brick buildings on Chicago Avenue, built in 1895 as the Cosmos Buttermilk Soap Factory, reborn as the Chicago-Detroit Bag Co. in 1910, and reincarnated again in 1985 by furniture maker Larion Swartzendruber.

You can stand on a balcony in the large main building and watch Swartzendruber's furniture being made, browse in his showmaker outside, hit the quilt shop, buy antiques, or explore stained glass and woodworking shops in a basement level known as Down

June Lewis had the same experience that I had while searching for furniture makers in Amish country. There are a few wellknown places, but most are Amish carpenters hidden away in unsigned private homes and farms.

"We went looking for a wagon wheel once, and went down lots of country roads asking questions before we found a wagon maker. He was recommended by somebody."

When I asked around, I heard directions like this: "Chris Bontrager and Menno Yoder make furniture in that house with a trailer behind it just left of the red light in Shipshewana." Or: "There's a man called Lambright in Topeka, Indiana. And another place off State Road 5, take Highway 20 east to the four-way stop

The moral of this story is: slow down to the pace of black Amish buggies, take time to browse, seek and ye shall find. For more specific information, contact the Elkhart County Convention and Visitors Bureau, 429 South Main St., Elkhart, Ind., 46516 or telephone them at (219) 293-7394.

Spinning the Jones Shaker story in Kentucky

Writer Eleanor Breitmeyer of Farmington sent this travel report from Shaker Village in Ken-

By Eleanor Breitmeyer special writer

LEASANT HILL, KY. Every time I pick up a broom to sweep my kitchen I will think of this 2,700acre farm community built by the Shakers before the Civil War.

It was the Shakers, a dissident sect of the Quakers, who first crafted the corn broom, along with the clothespin, washing machine and circular

The Shakers are gone but you can still eat, sleep and tour your way through their 19th century life here in Shaker Village.

Mares and colts grazed the countryside, beside black Angus cattle and Border Leicester sheep, when we drove to the neatly stacked fieldstone fences of the village.

An interpreter in an ankle-length cotton dress and white net cap welcomed us, gave us a brief introduction to Shaker life and sent us to explore the 30 original structures built here in the early 1800s.

The limestone, brick and clapboard buildings, set off by white picket fences, are furnished with a stunning collection of 2,500 pieces of Shaker furniture and tools.

A friendly guide spun the Shaker story in the 40-room Centre Family Dwelling. An illiterate textile worker called Ann Lee led eight dissidents, seeking religious freedom, from the English factory town of Manchester to the New World in 1774. The United Society of Believers in Christ's Second Appearing settled outside Albany, N.Y., and eventually built 18 colonies stretching from Maine to Indiana.

The Shakers' goal was to create Utopia on earth by practicing celibacy, renouncing worldly possessions and living in communes in a spirit of racial and sexual equality. By 1830, the Pleasant Hill community was a thriving place with 500 residents and some 5,000 acres of land.

Two separate doorways lead into the Centre Family Dwelling - one for women, the other for men. Men and boys slept on one side of the house, women and girls on the other. 'Did anyone ever cheat?" I asked.

The elders dusted the hallways with flour, so cheaters would leave footprints behind," the guide said.

"If the Shakers were celibate, how did the community grow?"

"They took in orphan children and few converts from the area. When the children became 21, they could decide whether to leave or stay."

Our next stop was at the white frame Meeting House, where a costurned interpreter directed us to a bench, then burst into song. The brothers and sisters of the congregation cleansed themselves of carnal desires by singing and dancing. They shook themselves so violently that they shook the sins out of their bodsundown, as their songs were dedicated to worship and work. That work is still visible in the buildings scattered around Shaker Village.

Women card and spin wool, make quilts, dip candles, dry herbs for medicines, weave fabrics and rugs. Men make shoes, flat brooms, shaped oval boxes, barrels and cabinets. The Shakers sold seeds, brooms, herbs and preserves as far away as St. Louis and New Orleans, until the Industrial Revolution and the Civil War weakened their thriving community.

The number of converts and orphans dwindled. By 1910, the 12 remaining Shakers deeded their last 1,800 acres to a merchant in nearby Harrodsburg, who looked after them until the last member died in 1923. The village was deteriorating badly when a preservation group formed

Today this outdoor museum flourishes as a monument to a people who believed that perfect craftsmanship reflected their spiritual beliefs.

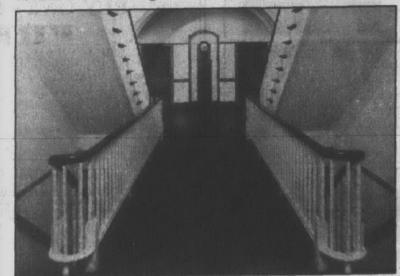

Twentieth century visitors can see their hand-crafted chairs hung on pegs on the walls of rooms where they once lived.

Shaker men and women dined in silence on identical food served in separate rooms. We ate on the same rough-hewn tables, where dinner is served family-style in the former Trustees Office. The meal was bountiful, sumptuous and nicely served by young costumed waitpersons.

We spent the night in one of the 83 guest rooms scattered in 15 buildings on the grounds. The room was large, comfortable, air-conditioned, with private bath. It was furnished with pieces from the Shaker collection, many of which are available in the gift shops.

We wound up the evening down by the pond skipping stones and watching a mother duck and her brood bobbing about the water. Visitors can also hike or drive to Shaker Landing on the Kentucky River, where the foundations of Shaker warehouses still stand, and take a one-hour tour on the paddlewheeler

For information, contact Shaker Village, 3500 Lexington Road, Harrodsburg, Ky. 40330 or telephone (616) 734-5411. Admission is $7.50 adults, $4 children. Accommodations are $50 to $65 for two people.

Elders shook flour on the floor at Shaker Village so that men and women, who entered by separate stairways, would not cross the halls at night.

Area readers recommend overnight stay in village something wonderful about walking around the top of a Kentucky mountain after the crowds have gone

"We love the idea of staying in an historic place that is both clean and charming. Stay overnight. Imagine what it would be like to stay in Greenfield Village overnight!"

Amy Crumm of Canton worked in a Shaker shop in Ann Arbor several years ago, and learned about Pleasant Hill from a guide book. "We love to go in the early spring, to get away from the drab chilly weather in Michigan. The spring wildflowers are out there.

"I advise people to reserve in advance for the dining room and to stay overnight, especially if they want a specific room. Drive to the Dixie Belle paddle wheel boat on the
