DDA to decide on bid for post office

By Kevin Brown

An offer to buy the post office on Penniman is scheduled to be approved by Downtown Development Authority members tonight, after city commissioners on Monday approved the plan to buy the building

The U.S. Postal Service had given the city a Tuesday deadline for making an offer on the building which the postal service plans to vacate early next year

CITY MANAGER Steve Walters said Tuesday he'd contacted postal officials who said they II send forms the city can use to submit a written offer for the property, which postal officials have appraised at $390,000

Local officials decline to state what they're offering for the building, prior to negotiating a purchase The city plans to eventually sell the building to a private owner City officials say DDA ownership of the building would allow the city to protect the building's architecture and control development there and create a greater likelihood that those uses would contribute positive Is to the commercial environment on Penniman Avenue, Walters wrote in a meme to city commis-

It's an 'Annual' task in PC high school class

By M.B. Dillon staff writer

Each spring, Lauren Pearson of Plymouth Salem High School goes recruiting. Not for football players. not for soccer standouts, cross country runners or basketball players but for yearbook staffers.

'Yearbook isn't a class you just sign up for." said Pearson, advisor for the Annual staff who also teaches public speaking, acting and advanced composition

"I INTERVIEW kids before they sign up. I talk to their teachers and see how they're doing in their classes, because there's a lot of responsibility involved managing money, editing and writing. You need strong skills, and you need kids who understand what hard work and leadership

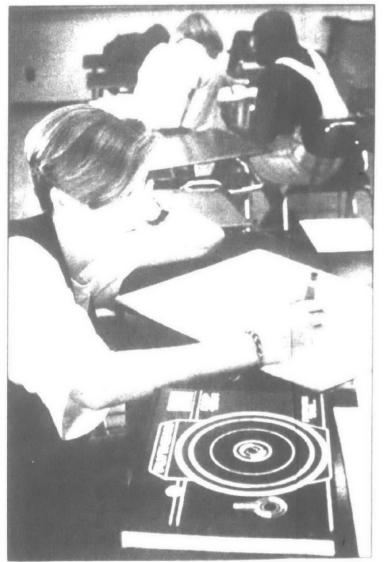

The Annual is printed by Walsworth Publishing Co of Marceline, Mo. The nation's largest independently owned yearbook publisher. Walsworth publishes 3.500 yearbooks for high schools, colleges and cruise ships in the United States and Park's Annual is the yearbook for the 4500 students attending both Plymouth Canton and Salem High Schools, it totals more than 400 pages every year.

That's one big book. It's on the top side of the largest books we do." said George Kurten, Walsworth spokesman CEP staffers have received numerous awards, among them Walsworth and Columbia University honors

We've enjoyed working with the people who've helped produce the Annual They know what they're doing, he said.

School has just begun, but you wouldn't know it visiting with the 24 students in Pearson's two yearbook classes. At "yearbook camp" at the Holidome in Livonia, Annual staffers began working on their 1991-92 cover By Oct. 7. that big decision will have been made; and 45 pages many of them on last year's spring sports - will be finished and sent off to the printer

Several Annual editors are beginning their third year on staff Editorin-chief Becky Heneveld describes her job as fun, hectic and

My first year I was kind of laid back Last year. I did a lot, and I was kind of stressed out at times But I've enjoyed the last few years," said Heneveld, who with Pearson and other staffers has spent many an evening, weekend and vacation day working on the yearbook.

I like the people in the class, and our teacher, said the Canton senior She's awesome, she's really good What makes all the hard work worth

I think you learn to communicate with other people, and deal with other people You learn about deadlines Stuff has to go out on that day how to work by yourself at your own pace You learn a lot of things I will take to college with me." said Heneveld, who plans to major at Hope College in English

CANTON SENIOR Sandy Miller is organizations and events editor, responsible for making sure everything from the Rockettes to the Chiefettes to the Fall Festival and Plymouth Ice Sculpture Spectacular are allocated space in the yearbook

Miller's experience has prompted her to consider a career in publishing "I like to write, but I don't know that I d necessarily make it as an author I like to be creative, and this gives you an opportunity to be creative within guidelines. It's a lot of

One of the not so-good aspects of working on the Annual is the criticisms the staff receives when the vearbook is published

Plymouth paving faces rough road

That's what City Manager Steve Walters told city commissioners Monday, after he and Mayor Jack Kenyon met recently with Russell Gronevelt, a director of county engineering services "It's classified as a five that's the worst classification," Walters said. for roads needing repairs

The Wayne County official told city officials that there is not enough available money to perform all classification five repairs.

It may not survive the cutoff point depending on the funds available Walters told commissioners

What we're competing with is other communities that get tired of waiting and are willing to pay more than 50 percent, 'he said For county roads such as Plymouth Road, the county requires the local community to pay half

Commissioner Jerry Vorva said the city should encourage Plymouth Township to contribute to the road repair cost "I put that in my letter to (county commissioner) Maury Breen," said city commissioner Rob ert Jones

Walters said another reason the county might not elect to work on Plymouth Road is that other roads with a five classification carry more traffic than Plymouth, and that could encourage the county to attend to those roads first.

Hoben — who three weeks ago met with Engler and school superintendents from Lansing, Muskegon, Ann Arbor and Mount Pleasant to discuss the governor's proposed reforms - is slightly more supportive

"I'm not opposed to revenue tax sharing. I think it has some good qualities to it and addresses itself to the particular issue of equity, but we will lose some money on it," he said.

"I THINK what the governor came up with is certainly equitable," added Hoben. "We ought to deal with the equity issue as well as the quality issue in this state. It's fairly difficult for a school district that happens to be in a rural area with $2,000 or $2,200 to spend per student to offer the same quality as a city with a power plant that's able to spend $10,000 or $11,000 per student.

"So to that extent, I think they have to deal with that. But rather than bringing the districts with means down, it would be nice if the state could bring everyone up to them," said Hoben.

Chuck Portelli, president of the Plymouth-Canton Education Association, sees problems with some of Engler's suggested reforms.

He doesn't favor split-off, tax-supported schools. "Personally, I don't see how it can work," he said

Portelli sees little merit in a measure that would make it easier to fire teachers. "You can fire bad teachers now. You just have to follow the procedures. From my point of view, administrators evaluate teachers. If they're not doing their job, you follow the Tenure Act, which is there for

PORTELLI ALSO opposes non-certified teachers instructing students. "That would be like bringing a doctor in that wasn't certified. No one wants a doctor who isn't certified."

State Rep. Jim Kosteva, D-Canton, voted for the tax-sharing legislation, sponsored by State

Rep. Bill Keith, D-Garden City.

It makes too big of a difference where a child is born and raised as to their opportunities in a public educational setting in Michigan," said Kosteva, a champion of reform in school funding since his first days in Lansing.

"When you're trying to seek equity, you don't have many choices. Our options are somewhat

The amount of money spent annually per student in Michigan districts ranges from $2,300 to $7,500. House Bill 4267 narrows the disparity by an estimated couple of hundred dollars, said Kos-

'It's a very small step toward narrowing the gap, but the fact is that over 10 years, it ends up being $250 to $300 million added into the school aid formula." he said.

Other ways of bringing about funding equity are either politically unacceptable or would have been even more devastating to out-of-formula districts across the state, Kosteva said.

A regional transportation service for seniors is being considered by the Conference of Western Wayne.

Though details are far from set, conference members are expressing fresh interest in regional transporta-

Senior transportation is definitely something we're looking at," said conference director Daniel Gilmar

While there's talk of the conference running its own service, some members seem to prefer a coordinating role only. In that role, conference members would work with SMART (Suburban Mobility Authority for Regional Transportation), metro Detroit's regional busing authority, as well as The Senior Alliance and the Michigan Department of Transporation, to coordinate routes

Some members view the conference's role as a one-stop information center on area transportation

Action isn't expected, however, until SMART issues its own plans for 1992 and beyond. Those plans are expected in about 30 days.

While the conference seeks to ex pand services, it also seeks to expand its budget.

IT EXPECTS a $40,000 budget cut for fiscal 1992 Last year's $116,035 budget will be trimmed to $75,767 due to a now-expired Michigan Department of Natural Resources

The grant financed the conference solid waste coordinator's office. The coordinator, an outside consultant, had advised area communities on solid waste issues. The post is now vacant. Gilmartin said.

In addition to providing senior transportation, the conference is also looking at boosting revenue by providing services to Wayne County government.

WORKSHOP

DISCOVER HOW TO MAKE YOUR HOME WORK FOR YOU.

Designing a home is not easy. Basic principles must be observed, no matter what your lifestyle or how much you wish to invest. During 4 two-hour sessions. Hudson's professional interior designers will pass their expertise on to you. Here's a week-by-week breakdown:

WEEK ONE

History & Lifestyle. Review the history of interior design and explore your interests, hobbies, and your pattern of living. It's the most important basis for your decorating plan. Our personality surveys will give you surprising insights.

WEEK TWO

Floor Planning. You and your designer will work with your floor plan to achieve a workable, livable room, taking into account traffic patterns, conversation areas and natural focal points

WEEK THREE

Color, Backgrounds. First, discover how to use color to solve problems and create moods. You'll discuss how to make the most of your favorite colors and which colors work almost everywhere. Then we'll discuss ceilings, walls and floors. They are a big part of every room, and we'll study everything from carpet to mirrors.

WEEK FOUR

Accessories, Putting it all together. A quilt. An antique chest with a high tech lamp. Artwork you've acquired over the years. Discover how accents can bring a room to life. Finally you'll get to see an empty room furnished in logical stages from furniture and rugs to valances and chandeliers.

Throughout the workshop, you'll be using an information filled manual that's yours to keep. See hundreds of slides of beautiful rooms. You'll be able to ask lots of questions and have the opportunity for a personal consultation with a designer. Fee is only $60. Workshops are limited and will fill up fast, so sign up now. Call the Interior Design Studio nearest you. Monday through Friday 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Workshops begin the week of October 7

Canton man to help honor Tony the Tiger

At a ballgame on May 2, 1939, at Tiger Stadium, New York Yankee Lou Gehrig took himself out of the lineup. A disease that would named after him was debilitating Gehrig to the point where he felt he could no lönger hit and field.

On the Fourth of July of the same year, "Iron Horse" Gehrig addressed 61,000 fans in Yankee Stadium, and in a bone-chilling speech told them he felt like he was "the luckiest man on the face of the earth."

Two years later, Gehrig was dead at the age of 37; a victim of amyotrophic lateral sclerosis. The progressive neuromuscular disease is now known as Lou Gehrig's disease.

Fifty years later, Gehrig's courage is still inspiring others to support the fight against ALS.

At 11:30 a.m., Friday, Sept. 20, at the St. Regis Hotel in Detroit's New Center area, Amyotrophic Lateral Sclerosis of Michigan will hold its annual Iron Man luncheon. The fundraiser honors the Detroit Tiger whose character, skill and determination make him the most reminiscent of the legendary Gehrig.

A COMMITTEE consisting of Tiger announcer Ernie Harwell; former Tiger outfielder Jim Northrup; Charlie Vincent of the Detroit Free Press; Eli Zaret of WJBK; Ray Lane of WKBD: Don Shane of WXYZ; and Bernie Smilovitz of WDIV "looked at which Tigers in their opinion most demonstrated the traits that would be representative of Gehrig," said Dave Artley of Canton, executive director of Amyotrophic Lateral Sclerosis of Michigan.

Based on the results of that balloting, the winner is Tony Phillips, with Cecil Fielder a close second.'

"Phillips has played every position except pitcher and catcher" since joining the Tigers last year, said Artley.

"He had a real oustanding year last year, and this year has been even better. "Through the first 120 games, he was the leading hitter and fourth in RBI man Award" each year to the individual "who has done the most throughout the year to support the fight against ALS," said Artley. This award also honors first baseman Gehrig, who played 2,130 consecutive games with the Yankees.

Tiger physician Dr. Clarence Livingood and Sportsland, USA owner Neil Heffernan finished in a dead heat for first in the balloting.

"DR. LIVINGOOD wasn't the originator of this award, but he was the sparkplug that made it happen," said Artley. "Heffernan is being recognized for the contributions he's made to the event over the years. Neil donated all the door prizes and was helpful in making contacts in the media field to get folks involved," the name of the United States, and more than 20 years later no one knows for sure what happened to them.

Craig Mitchell Dix, of Livonia, is among the local servicemen still unaccounted for. He was a 21-year-old door-gunner on a four-man helicopter shot down while transporting South Vietnamese troops to Dix's Army helicopter was flying in a 10-plane line formation when it was hit by ground fire as it circled to land near the dense jungles of Snoul, Cambodia. South Vietnamese soldiers later reported that the crewmen survived the crash and were taken prisoner.

One man was killed in captivity and Dix, an Army sergeant, was shot in the ankle as he tried to escape, they said. Dix has been missing since March 17, 1971.

Dennis L. Gauthier, of Rochester, was 20 when he was reported wounded in the leg and hidden behind a log by others in his unit as they advanced against North Vietnamese troops at Pleiku, South Vietnam on Oct. 31, 1967. When they returned for him he was gone.

Refugio Thomas Teran, of Westland, vanished after Viet Cong overran a guard station at an ammunition dump near Henderson Hill in South Vietnam's Quang Tri province, killing 33 Americans.

Teran, 20, and another paratrooper were last seen running toward a barricade. He graduated from Wayne Memorial High School in Westland.

Gerald Allan Holman, of Northville, was 27 when he was piloting a propellerdriven warning plane nicknamed Willie Fudd off the USS Franklin Roosevelt when an engine failed.

Two of the four crewmen were rescued, but Holman was not found. He graduated from Bentley High School, Livonia and attended Eastern Michigan University. He was presumed killed in action in 1966.

OAKWOOD WOMEN AND CHILDREN'S HEALTH CARE CENTER

"I Wanted To Be A Good Mother Even Before My Baby Was Born.

That's Why I Chose Oakwood."

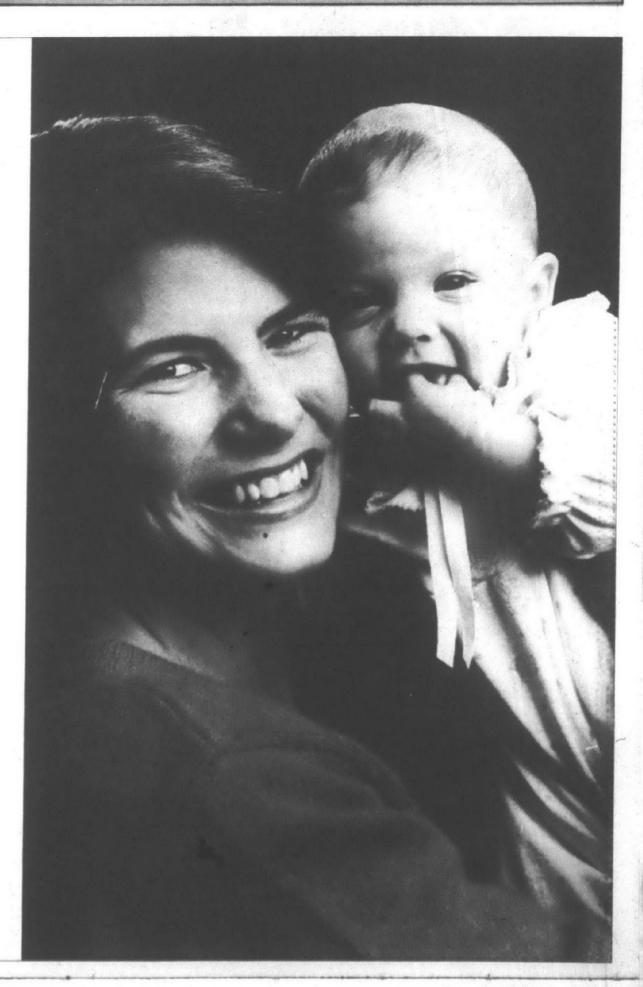

I knew that in order to be a good mother to my baby, there was a lot I needed to learn. That's why we went to Oakwood's Women and Children's Health Care Center before my baby was born. They provided us with comprehensive, on-going prenatal care classes, and physicians who specialize in the latest in prenatal medicine. And when the time came to give birth, we had our very own mother/baby nurse. We even had their Labor, Delivery, and Recovery Rooms to make the event special for our whole family. I'm glad I chose Oakwood. They helped me be a good mother to my baby, before we even met."

This year more than 5,000 babies will be delivered at the Oakwood Women and Children's Health Care Center, a Level III perinatal center that's part of the Oakwood health care system, one of the largest health care systems in Michigan, with six hospitals, more than 30 local health care and specialty centers and more than 1,000 physicians. For the name of a physician on our staff, call the Oakwood Physician Referral Service.

money management skills and increase their financial knowledge.

Tonquish Creek Manor is located one block west of Harvey and one block north of Ann Arbor Trail. Enter off Joel.

A total of 71 students may be accommodated. Registration deadline is Wednesday, Sept. 25. For information call Claire Temmerman or Dan McIntosh at 483-1418, weekdays, between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Several local experts will take part in the seminar. These include certified public accountant Jean Stanwood and attorney Sharon Downes, both of Plymouth.

Although the seminar is being held at Tonquish Creek Manor, a residence for elderly, it isn't limited to seniors. Sponsors hope to attract a variety of ages.

According to Temmerman, AARP has pioneered similar workshops nationwide and "the response has overwhelming.

"Women haven't been raised or encouraged to handle their own finances," Temmerman said.

Persons attending the seminar will receive a money management

Driver accepts reduced charge in fatal accident

By Darrell Clem staff writer

A Michigan truck driver pleaded guilty to causing a March 11 accident that killed a Westland mother of two, but the charge was reduced from negligent homicide to reckless

The sudden plea by 43-year-old Kathy Link of Caledonia, near Grand Rapids, came after the prosecutor and defense attorney reached an agreement averting a jury trial that tad been set to begin Monday, Sept. in Detroit Recorder's Court.

The family of the victim, 43-yearold Margaret Gary, also favored the lea agreement that allowed Link to lead guilty to the misdemeanor charge of reckless operating of a motor vehicle, instead of the felony of negligent homicide.

Link's plea came as she appeared Sept. 9 before Recorder's Court Judge Gershwin Drain. The judge plans to sentence Link on Monday,

Sept. 30. Link could be sentenced up to 90 days in jail and fined $500 on the misdemeanor charge. Had she been tried and convicted of negligent homicide, she could have faced two years in prison. Westland police officer Steven Frazer, who investigated the case, said Link is expected to be placed on probation for causing the accident that occurred at 9:42 a.m. Monday, March 11, as she was driving south on Newburgh Road at the Palmer intersection.

Link, who drove her semi-trailer through the traffic light as it turned red, collided with a 1989 Ford Taurus that Gary was driving east on Palmer. Gary's car was crushed and dragged 210 feet south of the intersection.

DURING THE crash, the truck's wheels rolled onto the back of Gary's car and came to rest near the driver's seat, pinning Gary in until rescue personnel pulled her out by cut-ting through the vehicle's roof.

Gary, a mother of two teenagers, died about two hours later at Annapolis Hospital. She had been running errands on her day off from her job at United Parcel in Livonia. Under the plea agreement, Link will not lose her job, but is expected to be placed on probation, Frazer said. She also is a mother of two, and she is the children's sole provider, he

"She won't be fired from her job," Frazer said.

Though the accident was tragic for the Gary family, Frazer said both sides in the case believed that Link should be allowed to plead guilty to the lesser charge.

There was no drinking (of alcohol) involved, and she wasn't speeding," Frazer said. A Westland police department revealed that Link was obeying the 40 mph speed limit.

Moreover, Frazer said, Link "had never had a driving violation."

Area lawmakers split on school tax plan

By Tim Richard staff writer

A bill requiring suburban school districts to share their business property tax growth with poorer districts is on its way to the state Senate.

The House of Representatives Tuesday scraped together 73 votes - a bare two-thirds majority - to give the immediate effect as soon as it's passed by the Senate and signed by Gov. John Engler.

Last week the House approved, 68 to 35, a House-Senate compromise of the controversial bill. The immediate effect vote had to wait until several missing lawmakers returned this week.

The Senate could take up House Bill 4267 as early as this morning.

"A Robin Hood scheme . . . hypocritical . . . it will reduce the quality of education," said six suburban Republicans, including Lyn Bankes of Livonia and Georgina Goss, in a written protest explaining their no

First year total loss to affected districts: $87.4 million.

THE BILL bears the sponsorship of Rep. William Keith, D-Garden City, though it was advanced by the partnership of Rep. James O'Neill Jr., D-Saginaw, and Sen. Dan De-Grow, R-Port Huron.

While praising the tax-base-sharing concept, Keith, whose district includes Inkster, dislikes its companion feature - returning some categorical aid (such as special education) to well-heeled districts.

Gov. John Engler is certain to sign the bill. "It will make sure every child has an equal educational opportunity," Engler said Sept. 11 in his special message on school quali-

Area lawmakers living south of Joy Road voted yes on final passage and immediate effect; those north voted no. The roll call:

Yes - Justine Barns, D-Westland, William Keith, D-Garden City, James Kosteva, D-Canton.

No — Lyn Bankes, R-Livonia, John Bennett, D-Redford, Georgina Goss. R-Northville.

Months ago both chambers produced different versions of the bill, which were ironed out in a six-member conference committee last week. Sen. Jack Faxon, D-Farmington Hills, and an outstate Republican representative refused to sign.

THE BILL would work like this:

· 59 of the state's 562 school districts would have to give half their growth in commercial and industrial property taxes for schools to other school districts. Existing business tax base would not be affected, nor would houses, farms, forests and mines. In the first year, they would send $27.2 million to other districts.

· The state's recent practice of 'recapturing' (taking back) $72 million in categorical aid from those districts would be phased out. In the first year, recapture would be reduced $1 for every $2 shared; the second year, $2 for every $1 shared; thereafter, $1 for $1 shared.

 Michigan's 83 counties would be split into two regions. Region 1 would be Oakland, Macomb, Genesee, the Thumb area, northeastern lower Michigan and the Upper Peninsula. Region 2 would be Wayne, Washtenaw, Livingston, Kent, the southern two tiers of counties and the Lake Michigan shoreline up to Grand Traverse.

THE STATWIDE effect looks like this, according to the House Taxation Committee staff: Without the bill, affected districts lose $72 million a year. In the first year under tax base sharing, they would lose $87 million $27 million from tax base sharing and $60 million from recapture.

In the second year, they would lose $67 million — $27 million from sharing, $40 million from recapture.

The O'Neill-DeGrow plan, after the first year, is to leave affected districts better off under the combined effects of sharing and reducing

NO FIGURES were available for what gaining districts will receive.

This House analysis shows how losers will be affected in the first

- $4.6 million lost Livonia through recapture drops to $4.1 mil-lion; $1.1 million is lost through sharing. Total loss $5.2 million. Plymouth-Canton - $713,000 lost through recapture drops to $222,000; nearly $1 million is lost through sharing. Total loss $1.2 million. South Redford - $305,000 lost through recapture is reduced to $223,000; $164,000 is lost through sharing. Total loss $387,000. Northville - $1.7 million lost through recapture is reduced to $1.4 million; $546,000 is lost through sharing. Total loss nearly $2 million.

Who pays the cost of illiteracy? Everyone.

Think about it. Imagine for a moment that you cannot read. How easily are you going to find a job? Do you find a a low-paying job that doesn't require reading and let social welfare and government unemployment compensation take up the slack?

Or, suppose you do find a job. What happens to production when you can't understand written instructions? Who pays for the wasted time to correct your mistakes? Perhaps you haven't found a job. Your self-esteem is in the basement. You turn to a life of crime.

Did you know that 60 percent of all prison inmates are functionally illiterate and the figure is higher among juvenile offenders?

How can you help?

If you know someone who cannot read, contact one of the agencies below and give them the opportunity to open up their world.

HE CITY of Plymouth's Downtown Development Authority should quickly purchase the post office building on Penniman.

The site and the building are gems that not only should be preserved for the architectural and historical values, but also for the location.

The cost of the building is $390,000 and it would be paid for with money from the Downtown Development Authority's budget surplus. Taxpayers will not be asked to foot the bill.

One of the prime criticisms of any city involvement in the purchase has been that there is plenty of space available in Plymouth and that the city could get stuck with the building.

That's shortsighted.

IN SPORTS terms the post office building has potential. Even if the city were unable to sell it quickly, it could be used as a meeting place, a exhibit hall or a temporary home for the Plymouth Arts Council.

The city would like to see the post office house a business that would attract traffic to Penniman. A restaurant has been mentioned as one possibility. That sounds good to us.

Another city goal is for the postal service to retain a service counter at the Penniman location. It's an admirable goal, but one that doesn't appear to be realistic.

The post office is required under law to maintain a barrier free facility. And the old building just doesn't offer that feature. We suspect it could be altered to give the handicapped better access. However, we doubt it would be worth the investment. The new post office on Beck Road has good access for the handicapped.

We support the DDA and the city in their quest to buy the building. They have a vision for the building. We share it.

County board

Egos outweigh logic over act

government — especially those big, amorphous bodies called the Oakland and Wayne County boards of commissioners.

But the Oakland County group has made a mistake - one that the Wayne County board, county prosecutor and state attorney general should learn from.

Nineteen of its 27 commissioners met March 17 behind locked doors while attending a conference of the National Association of Counties in Washington, D.C. Although no decisions were reached and no action was taken, the meeting was beyond public scrutiny Tnat's an apparent violation of the Michigan Open Meetings Act and an affront to the public interest, no matter where you live.

THEY WERE MEETING to talk about possibly the hottest issue in Oakland County history: the $500 million solid waste program, including the controversial incinerator in Auburn Hills. The issue is also one voters will be involved in on Nov. 5, when they vote on a financing proposal,something that needs public information.

Board chairman Roy Rewold called the secret meeting in the nation's capital, then later said he didn't think Michigan law applied because commissioners were outside the state.

According to Oakland County prosecutor Richard Thompson, commissioners were notified of the morning meeting the night before. "One commissioner said he was notified there would be a meeting before leaving Oakland County.

The wife of one of commissioner was excluded from the meeting, Thompson said.

By excluding an Oakland County resident from

T'S HARD TO GET excited about county the meeting, and subsequently locking the doors, commissioners demonstrated their intent, Thompson said.

> THE OPEN MEETINGS ACT says in part: "All meetings of a public body shall be open to the public and shall be held in a place available to the general public. All persons shall be permitted to attend any meeting except as otherwise provided in this act."

Thompson asked the commission to sign an agreement, reached with Rewold, that the meeting "may have constituted an unintentional violation of the Open Meetings Act" and stipulated that future meetings would comply with the law.

By a 19-5 vote they refused, and the prosecutor promptly filed a civil suit against them, seeking a declaration that a violation of the law occurred and asking for an order that future meetings comply with the Act.

Judge Hilda Gage has set a trial for Nov. 25. The only commissioners who favored the agreement were: Rewold, R-Oakland Township; Frank Millard, R-Sylvan Lake; Larry Crake, R-Waterford; Richard Skarritt, R-Milford; and Donna Huntoon, R-Clarkston.

IT IS TO REWOLD'S credit that he has worked out a way to make amends. Ditto for the four commissioners.

As for the rest, it is apparent that their egos outweigh their logic.

The Oakland County Board of Commissioners must sign the agreement not to violate the Open Meetings Act. It's an act which strengthens the right of residents, regardless of where they live, to know what goes on in government by requiring public bodies to conduct nearly all business at

Amendments guarantee universal voting rights

NIVERSAL voting rights didn't come easily, but were achieved only with the passage of three key Amendments to the Constitution.

The Twenty-Sixth Amendment, ratified in 1971 when many young people were protesting the Vietnam War and otherwise expressing their political views, delivered the right to vote to adult citizens aged 18 years and older. It was the most swiftly ratified Amendment.

The Twenty-Fourth Amendment, ratified in 200th Bill of Rights 1964 at the height of the Civil Rights struggle, put an end to the use of the poll taxes that sometimes were used to deny the right to vote to otherwise qualified citizens. And the Twenty-Third Amendment enabled residents of the District of Columbia to participate in presidential elections. District residents had been clamoring for the vote at least since 1801, but the Amendment that gave it to them was not ratified until 1961. Only later did they get the right to elect non-voting representatives to Congress.

Engler education plan lacks financial backing unveiled in a special speech to the Legislature his long-awaited proposals to improve school quality.

The most important thing about the speech may be that it was given at all. After nine months in office, it is clear that the governor's promise to focus on education is being kept.

Whether Engler's proposals make any sense in substance or in the hurly-burly political process in Lansing remains to be seen. My experience is that the politics of school improvement are much more difficult than the substance.

Some parts of the Engler package make more sense than others.

THE EMPHASIS on the young atrisk kids is very good.

The governor wants to spend lots more on all-day kindergarten for them. He wants tutoring for these kids through second grade to give them a good start in math and read-

Last year, around 10,000 Michigan at-risk 4-year-olds attended statefunded half-day programs, out of an estimated 13,000 eligibles. Another 28,000 children participated in federal Head Start and Chapter One

Research findings - from a University of Michigan study in Ypsilan-- are definitive: Special early help really makes a difference for at-risk kids. As Wayne-Westland Superintendent Dennis O'Neill said, "If we can get kids ready at an early age and get them the appropriate

ANOTHER GOOD idea is to have schools guarantee the basic job-related skills of graduates to their em-Pioneered in the Plymouth-Canton school district, the system is simple. Every graduate comes with a warranty that reading, writing, math and reasoning skills are up to snuff. If the employer finds that isn't so, the kid is returned to school and remediated free.

This sensible approach focuses on results. It uses incentives - free remediation - to satisfy customers -

It is unpopular with a lot of school people who are accustomed to passing kids from grade to grade. I got dirty looks when I suggested a version of the idea to state government heavyweights five years ago. Here's hoping the climate in the Legislature has changed since then.

THE GOVERNOR did pay homage to conservative ideology. Schools of choice are to be achieved through something called "charter" schools, partly funded by the state but run by former teachers or private business

Teachers unions are sure to oppose two other good ideas: making it harder for teachers to get tenure and allowing non-certified (i.e., not unionized) people to teach.

Local superintendents remain fearful of more tinkering with the school aid formula. "The last time the state did something major for education, we lost $6 million," said Farmington Superintendent Michael Flanagan, referring to the "Robin Hood" bill that shifted $50 million from rich to poorer districts for the 1990-1 school year.

THE BIGGEST problem remains

Take Engler's interest in lengthening the school year from 180 to 200 days. He proposed $300,000 in incentives for pilot projects - a drop compared with the hundreds of millions needed to do it statewide.

It highlights the interesting way the governor is using the state's present budgetary crisis. He can advocate all kinds of improvements for our schools, knowing full well that the money to pay for it just isn't

It's a politician's dream, being able to support both sides with nobody around to call him a hypocrite.

Educational needs are addressed

To the editor:

In regard to the reader who spoke in favor of the (Michigan Model) I am furious. Do you really want to live in a society where everyone thinks alike and there are no differences? Children need to be individuals to be able to form their own opinions and be confident about their ideas. We, as parents and teachers, can and should guide our future generation to think, reason and act in a humanitarian manner

Mr. McDonald, you speak about having harmony in the universe, having children on this planet retrained and properly socialized. To whose standards are you referring? Yours? You have obviously been brainwashed and can no longer do critical thinking of your own. If our future holds neutrality as you would hope, then we would not have had the accomplishments of Abraham Lincoln, Martin L. King, Winston Churchill, Helen Keller and Susan B. Anthony to name a few.

I hope we as a free society will never put one person's ideas for-ward, without there being room for other thought. We already know it doesn't work.

Bond issue endorsed by chamber

To the editor:

As members of the business community, we know the value of good schools. The employees and customers of tomorrow's community are in the Plymouth Canton School District today.

On Tuesday, Sept. 24, a vote will be held to consider providing a bond issue to further develop and upgrade our school investment. This will make our current schools and facilities even better The $59.7 million bond issue to be voted on that Tuesday will provide additional building for students to relieve overcrowding, provide the latest technology so that our students can be up-to-date in their knowledge and have the skills necessary to work with that knowledge.

The bond project will relieve crowded cafeteria facilities at Plymouth Salem High School, build additions to elementary buildings which are in need of those additions, expand some school libraries, update buildings throughout the district, provide extra parking, playground and walk areas, and provide a number of other much-needed improve-

The sale of these bonds will accomplish this task without increasing our debt levy tax rate. The debt levy millage was 2.3 mills last year. With passage of this bond proposal it will remain at 2.3 mills this year. Equally important is the fact that the new facilities will be paid for by the people who are using them as they are being used because this extends, rather than increases, the debt With bond interest rates at their lowest in many years, now is an excellent time to be selling the bonds for this bond project. With construction costs down as well, the timing for this project wouldn't be better. A good school system develops good future citizens for our community. It also maintains the value of properties because it attracts people who want to live, work and grow in an area where quality education is available to everyone. For these reasons, we endorse this project and encourage you to go to the polls and vote "yes" on Sept. 24.

Guv's message lacks focus

SOME REFLECTIONS on Gov. John Engler's special message to the Legislature on school quality and how the media covered it:

That Republicans thought it innovative and Democrats didn't was hardly news.

What surprised me was the way everyone picked out something different to praise or bash: charter" schools . . early education . . the importance of parenting . . "New American" schools . . easier certification for non-traditional people

. . . 200 class days . . . doubling aid for teacher improvement . . high schools' warranting their graduates . . . how we're going to pay for it

It was a nightmare for news people. Every paper you read, every broadcast you heard, every politician you talked to opened with something different.

TRUE, MUCH of what Engler advocated wasn't new, as Democrats pointed out.

That's par for governors. There is no copyright on political ideas, so governors are free to "borrow" them, the way Huck Finn borrowed watermelons. Jim Blanchard (1983-90) used to borrow Republican ideas all the time, to the Grand Old Party's delight.

Engler's message goes on for 49 pages, but here are the unifying themes:

 Kids at risk. Some are 4-yearolds from poor families. Others have been kicked up to 12th grade without learning what they were taught. (Read Phil Power's column.)

• Teachers. More in-service training. Empowerment — more chances to start alternative schools of choice. Reform of protective tenure laws. Easier certification for those with non-traditional backgrounds. Less "student teaching."

Parents. Unlike Blanchard, who would have introduced teachers who had benefitted from state programs or his own favorite mentors, Engler introduced his first two and most important teachers — mom and dad. More chances for parents to choose programs for their kids. Some teaching of parenting. It was a conservative's political message. "Schools don't count; families do" — Moynihan.

There was nothing for superintendents, nothing for principals, little for bureaucrats and not much for college-bound kids from stable, working families. But that's OK.

I'M NOT CERTAIN whether it was the fault of the listeners or with Engler for not providing a crisper, more pungent, central theme.

The TV crews were there, and film clips were on the 6 o'clock news. But by 11 p.m., the topic of improving educational quality was dropped completely in favor of extended coverage of the Wayne County Jail shooting.

CBS newsman Mike Wallace, in a University of Michigan appearance last weekend, called metro Detroit TV news some of the worst in the country. "Murder and mayhem," he said.

Most of my friends have noticed it, too, for the last two years or so.

Blame station managers, not the individual TV reporters and anchors. WJBK has ignored state government for years. WDIV's "senior political correspondent," Bob Pisor, has been shunted to chasing fire engines and soon will take a leave of absence, perhaps never to return. WXYZ's Jim Herrington is being wasted on general assignments and rarely is sent to the Capitol any more. Except for WJR, metro Detroit radio has no one on the spot.

Tim Richard reports regularly on the local implications of state and regional events.

Gender decides school access

GROWING UP IN a neighborhood heavily populated by first-generation Poles and Italians, it wasn't hard to see that sons were prized and daughters were nice to have, but not quite as vital.

Parents would scrimp and save to put money in the bank to ensure that their sons would attend college after high school, get a fine education and get a solid job to provide for the wives and children they would have. That was the dream.

Daughters, well, they learned to cook and clean. If they did well in school, it would mean that they could help their future children with their homework. Parents put money away for their weddings, not for their education.

It's an Old World idea.

Today it seems abhorrent.
Or, rather, today it should be abhorrent. Women have a place in the workforce, and there shouldn't be even a question about that. Women do not have a mental deficiency because of their hormones.

BACK WHEN THE Equal Rights Amendment was a possibility, feminists argued that women deserved equal standing in the law and in opportunities. Feminists argued that women weren't covered by the Constitution because they weren't named specifically, as were men and blacks. The Happiness Of Womanhood group — remember them? — argued that women had all the protection they needed without another amendment to the Constitution.

We'll see.

The women's issue should again be coming to the forefront now that President George Bush has declared that federal laws should be changed to allow publicly financed male academies. Some Michigan legislators also want state laws to allow such financing.

It seems they would have the principle of "separate isn't equal" apply to racial questions but not to matters of gender.

WHAT MESSAGE IS the president sending? Are girls less valued than boys? Is it worse for a male to be an illiterate than it is for a female? Why are only inner-city boys considered to be at risk?

Niemiec

Don't little girls count? Maybe the question is, did they really ever?

And now the nation is close to having a conservative black Supreme Court justice who is a firm believer in natural law, whatever that is. It would seem most ironic if nominee Clarence Thomas were to be a deciding voice in permitting all-male academies and breaking the "separate isn't equal" rule. Wouldn't his predecessor — Thurgood Marshall, who successfully argued before the court in Brown vs. the Board of Education, which ended racially segregated schools — rue the day he retired?

The new Supreme Court test then could be that separate is equal, if it

TWENTY YEARS ago, women came so close to being legally equals. But now it seems as if women have slipped back to the less-thancitizen status that they "enjoyed" during the 1950s and 1960s.

Through the fine efforts of Bush, Clarence Thomas and certain Detroit school leaders, parents will again be scrimping and saving to send their sons to school, devoting their energies to the male portion of their family. And girls will stay in the background.

Rather than putting a poor girl through the shame of scoring lower on college tests or dropping out of school, this kinder, gentler nation will once again encourage that girl to learn to cook and sew and find herself a good husband. Preferably, he would be one of those lucky enough — based on gender rather than smarts — to go to such a publicly financed, all-male school.

Old habits stay despite new sins

I'VE FINALLY figured out why they call them "sin taxes."

You know what I mean: Those exorbitantly high levies that governments have been placing on alcohol and tobacco products lately.

I always thought they were called that because only "sinners" would spell relief a-l-c-o-h-o-l or n-i-c-o-t-in-e. The taxes are loosely based on the notion that "if you play, you've gotta pay." And, of course, socking the sinners is an easy way to put extra money in government coffers.

But now the phrase has taken on a new meaning. According to published reports, those sin taxes, in Canada, anyway, have turned some law-abiding citizens into criminals. And they are starting to cost the government money it had intended to Canada has imposed such heavy taxes on cigarettes in the last couple of years that the little coffin nails sell for as much as $7 a pack or $60 a carton. For a pack-a-day smoker that comes out to over $2,500 a year.

WELL, SOME Canadian smokers are finding ways to avoid paying the tax, which can run as high as $35 a carton.

One Canadian Mountie estimated that 90 percent of the 13½ million cartons of Canadian cigarettes exported to the United States last year were smuggled back in and sold on the black market.

There are even rumors of cocaine smugglers switching to cigarettes because there's more money in them and, if they do get caught, the penalties are much less severe than those could bring up to four years in prison and a $25,000 fine. It all smacks of the bootleg era in the United States during prohibition. People who otherwise wouldn't consider breaking the law think nothing rettes over the border.

A customs official in Windsor said that in the past 18 months there have been about 25 major seizures at the Windsor border crossing plus hundreds of smaller ones.

AND HOW is this affecting the government's fund-raising activities? According to a report by a to-bacco industry group in Canada, smuggling has cost the federal and provincial governments $373 million a year in lost tax revenue.

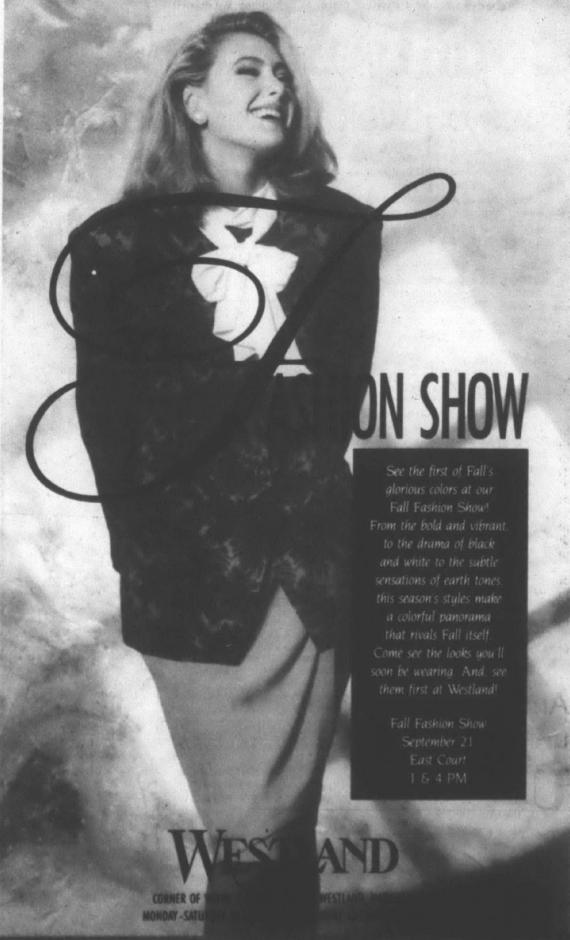

It's called the "shooting yourself in the foot syndrome:" Pushing "reforms" to the point that they become intolerable and nobody pays any attention to them.

It can happen here if U.S. proponents of the "sin taxes" don't learn something from the experience of their northern neighbors.

Soccer rivals fight to draw

By Dan O'Meara staff writer

Graham Wilk has many more Canton-Salem soccer games ahead of him, but the first could be the one he remembers best.

Thursday, September 19, 1991 O&E

The Plymouth Canton freshman scored the second-half goal Wednesday night that enabled the Chiefs to tie their Centennial Educational Park rivals, who have dominated the series, 2-2.

Wilk headed the ball into the Salem goal after a free kick by Chris Hayes with 7:40 remaining.

"I dream of having goals like that and it just came true," Wilk said. "I'm proud of my team for stick-

"I'm proud of my team for sticking in there. Hopefully, we'll see them again, and I think we can beat them the next time."

THE ONLY thing that could have topped that goal would have been to get the game-winner, which Wilk nearly scored a half minute later when he got another shot at the Salem goal.

"I can live with that (tying) goal," he said.

Canton coach Don Smith likes the enthusiasm with which his first-year players have played.

"(Wilk) and Jeff Fliss, the other outside half, are both freshman and its pretty tough for a freshman to come up and play varsity," Smith said. "Both have been playing tough all season."

Smith saw the outcome as a confidence-builder for his team, which played a much stronger second half after the Rocks tended to dominate play in the first.

The No. 3-ranked Rocks are 7-1-1 overall and No. 7 Canton 6-2-1.

"IT WAS A good game for us because we came back," Smith said.
"This was a good tie for us. It proved to them we can play with these guys and maybe beat them. We haven't been beating them, and a tie is the next best step."

Salem led 1-0 at halftime and went ahead 2-1 on Brian Spuck's goal at 27:10 in the second half. He sent a cross from the right corner that ended up being more than just a centering pass. not "I scored a goal like that when I 10s."

was playing, too," Salem coach Ken Johnson said. "You're going down the line, hoping to hit someone in the center with a pass; you hit it a little too hard and it goes in."

The Rocks had a chance to take a two-goal lead and possibly put the game out of reach with a penalty kick at 10:03. Rich Andrusiak was tripped in front of the Canton goal on a breakaway, but John Truskowski's free shot was wide of the net.

"He tried to place it too fine for the corner," Johnson said, attempting to explain what had happened on the shot. "The penalty might have made some difference. It might have taken some steam out of them."

Following Wilk's goal, both teams displayed high intensity in the time remaining, and the Chiefs nearly pulled out a victory in the closing minute. Salem defender Matt Lee blocked a shot by Hayes, and goal-keeper Nick Dazer stopped another by Owen Crosby.

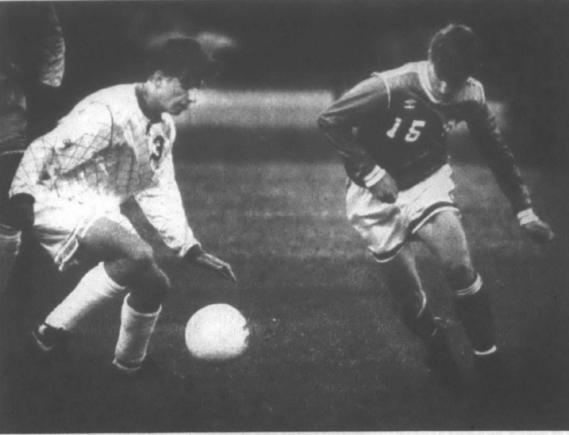

"I THINK THE kids realize what they can do if they come out running," Smith said. "Salem has some super players. Truskowski, (Tom) Baker and Lee are national players. Sometimes you shy away and think you can't run with them."

Salem took a 1-0 lead early in the game when Eric Stemmer scored with an assist from Truskowski. The Rocks outshot Canton in that half and controlled the action, though the Chiefs showed a greater confidence on offense later.

"We could very easily have tucked our chins (after the first goal)," Smith said, "but they're not going to do that against Salem. If they're going down, they're going to keep Salem's one-goal lead held up until 33:50 in the second half when a header by Hayes hit the right post and bounced in the goal. It was an even game after that, with both teams going from end to end.

"We won the first half; they won the second," Johnson said, adding the Chiefs were the "usual fired-up team. We're happy with the tie because they're a quality team. We would have liked to win, but we're not disappointed. It was two top

Eric Stemmer (left) gave the Rocks a 1-0 lead in the first half, but the Chiefs rallied in the second half and forced Salem to settle for a 2-2 tie. The teams could meet again next month in the Western Lakes Activities Association playoffs and the district tournament. The battle of state-ranked teams left the Rocks at 7-1-1 and Canton 6-2-1.

Canton denied victory

By Dan O'Meara staff writer

Providing there are no stunning upsets, Livonia Churchill will play Livonia Stevenson for the Western Lakes Activities Association boys soccer championship next month.

Churchill all but won the WLAA's Western Division title when it defeated host Plymouth Canton 1-0 Monday.

The Chargers, ranked second in Class A behind Stevenson, had already teaten Northville and No. 7 Canton was the only other Western team with a legitimate chance to topple Churchill, 3-0 in the division and 6-1 overall.

For a while, an upset seemed entirely possible as the Chiefs (2-1 and 6-2) produced big defensive plays to keep Churchill scoreless in the first half. But Dominic Vella's goal with 26:55 remaining ended up being the difference.

Vella raced up the left side, took a pass on the run from Vince Troiani and fired a hard shot into the opposite corner. Canton goalkeeper Ryan Henkel made a lot of impressive saves, but Vella delivered the ball too fast and at too difficult an angle for him to stop it.

"We had a lot of pressure (in the first half), but we usually finish more in the second half."

Junior goalkeeper Kal Kaliszewski played the entire game for Churchill, replacing standout Jeff Cassar, who was sick last week but could have played Monday.

"I decided Kal could use this kind of game just to keep him fresh," Churchill coach Mark Mason said. "On any other team, he would start. We have two of the best goalkeepers in the state. I can play either one and the defense still has the same confidence in them."

Waite prepares for shot at becoming pro pitcher

By Dan O'Meara

Steve Waite was surprised to know Jack Morris was an infielder turned pitcher, too.

The former Plymouth Canton baseball star can store that bit of information away and one day use it to remind himself it can be done at the highest level.

Waite, who completed his eligibility at Eastern Michigan University this year, signed a basic minor league contract last month to pitch for the Detroit Tigers. Like Morris, who went to Brigham Young University as an infielder and left as a pitcher, Waite's career underwent the same transformation at EMU.

Waite was an all-area shortstop at

Canton High and made the Mid-

American Conference all-star team

BUT THE EMU coaches began to experiment, bringing the hard-throwing Waite in to pitch in relief situations. He did so well he became a starter this year.

"It was a big transition for me," he said, "but I had a good pitching coach and they stuck with me."

Waite had a 4-1 record in the MAC and 1.60 earned run average, and he became one of the few players to make the All-MAC team at different positions in separate years. He was 5-4 overall with two saves and a 3.00

When he wasn't drafted, Waite attended a Tiger tryout but was told their rosters were full for this season.

"They told me to get on a summer team, get some innings in and if they saw improvement they would offer me a contract," he said.

Waite played in Battle Creek and was a post-season addition for two teams, getting picked up for state and national tournaments as each previous club was eliminated.

WAITE DID well enough for the Tigers to give him a chance. He will report to spring training in Lakeland, Fla., and from there be assigned to a minor league team next

In the meantime, Waite will spend the winter working out at Tiger Stadium and EMU, preparing for the biggest challenge of his baseball career.

"I plan to be in the best shape of my life," he said. "I'm working out three to four times a week and running as much as I can because it's important to have my legs in shape.

"This spring training will be the most important step in pro ball. It's the first hurdle I have to get over."

Despite his limited experience as a pitcher, Waite evidently had enough raw talent to stir enough interest in the Tigers.

"Hopefully, when they offered me a contract that's what they had in mind," he said. "I don't think they would sign a player to be in the minor league if they didn't think they could pitch.

"WHEN I signed a contract, I definitely had being a pro pitcher in mind. It's up to them. All I can do is perform."

The fact Waite is relatively new to the art of pitching could work in his favor, he believes. "By the fact I haven't been throwing that much, I think my arm will be more lively than someone who has been throwing 3-4 years in college," he said.

"If I keep performing, hopefully, I'll be moving up. If I continue to move up, the only one who could stop be would be myself, if I stop working at it."

Waite experimented with a sidearm delivery at EMU but lost six miles per hour off his fastball when he did, he said. The scouts didn't ap-to have more strikeouts.

"The only thing I'm going to miss about pitching is not hitting," Waite said. "That's what I'm going to miss the most."

PCA led 17-4 after one quarter, 30-10 at halftime and 42-12 entering the final period. Leandra Hoffman scored six points for Clarenceville, 0-2.

The Eagles had only eight fouls called against them as opposed to 28 on the Lady Trojans. PCA made only 10 of its 27 free throws, however.

On Saturday, the Eagles defeated host Hamtramck Immaculate Conception 33-22. Moore and Lyndsey Horton had nine points apiece for the winners. Moore also had 10 rebounds.

CANTON 49, POWERS 44: Plymouth Canton regrouped after its second-half collapse Saturday in the final of the Mercy Hoops Tournament to upset the top-ranked team in Class B Tuesday.

The Chiefs, who were outscored 19-6 by Farmington Hills Mercy (No. 10 in Class A) in the fourth quarter Saturday and lost 43-38, rebounded with their stunning upset over unbeaten Flint Powers on the road.

Canton (3-2) led 23-20 at halftime, fell behind 32-30 after three quarters and then outscored the Chargers 19-14 in the

REGINA 50, SALEM 42: The Rocks attempted to rally from a 15-point deficit in the fourth quarter Saturday but fell short against the No. 6-rated team in Class A.

Salem is 1-4 overall, having played four ranked teams. The Rocks also have lost to the Nos. 8 and 10 teams in Class A (Birmingham Marian and Farmington Hills Mercy) and the top-ranked ballclub in Class B (Flint Powers).

The Rocks trailed 28-13 at halftime and 40-25 entering the last period in which they outscored Regina 17-10.
"It was an up-tempo game," Salem coach Fred Thomann said. "We had some great scoring opportunities early, but we didn't connect. We did a much better job in the second half and made it close at the end, but we were a little too far behind." "We're coming along even though it isn't reflected in the

MODIFIED CHAMPS

Basic Ideas of Plymouth and Livonia won its second straight Downhome Days Modified Softball Tournament last weekend in Mason, Mich., defeating EMB of Delton, 13-5, in the championship game.

Basic Ideas won all five of its games during the 10-team tournament. In addition to beating EMB, it also beat Bedson Electric of Livonia, 16-8; Wally's of Delton, Mich., 15-3; Art's Bar of Mason, 10-8, and Prarie Dawgs of Delton, 17-3.

Tom Willette of Plymouth led Basic Ideas, hitting .667 with 14 RBIs. Brian Chessman of Canton hit .563, Plymouth's Doug Kirkpatrick hit 471, Paco Chavez of Westland hit 467, Dave Brubaker, .455, and pitcher Brian Murphy won all five games. PUNT, PASS, KICK

Chargers have division title in sight

Kaliszewski was not tested to the extent Henkel was, certainly not in the first half when the Chargers pressured Canton continuously but failed to make the right connections to achieve a goal.

"Sometimes we get a lot of momentum but pull up on the ball and don't get a shot," Mason said. "We have to try and pass it around more to get a good shot."

WITH PLENTY OF talent, Churchill can do that and prefers to build its attack in progressive steps but, at the same time, it can't take forever to develop, Mason said.

Like a football team needs a balanced offense, a soccer team needs to mix that approach with an occasional long ball to provide a variety in its attack, he said.

"We try to get 6-7-8 players into the attack, and that's the way you can play if you have a skilled team," Mason said. "We just weren't getting anything going fast enough. We just weren't getting behind the defense

We can work the ball as well as anybody, but if you're too slow you give (the opponent) a chance to get back. We wanted to give Dominic and Mike (Gentile) a chance to go 1on-1. They play well when they face the goal."

Canton coach Don Smith could accept the fact his team lost because of a well-executed play by the Chargers. It was a solid goal, definitely no

"It was just a quick break down there, and they took advantage of it," he said. "There was a quick transition from the middle of the field and boom, boom, boom.

"THEY'RE OPPORTUNISTS, but they work the ball so well and create a lot of opportunities, too."

The Chiefs went on the attack more in the second half but still were outshot by Churchill.

Canton's best chances resulted from a pair of Mike Hayes corner kicks, and Kaliszewski later stopped quality shots by Jason Ripp and Chris Hayes. The Chiefs increased but without result.

"I thought we were a little intimidated in the first half," Smith said. "In the second half, the midfielders got into the offense more and made their midfielders work a little hard-

"I don't think we tired out. We had some chances down there. If we had put one in, I'm sure we would have come back with some more energy."

Neither Mason or Vella was surprised by Canton's strong performance.

"We heard they had a good team, a lot of good players," Vella said, "but I think we had a little more talent and maybe that gave us an edge at the end."

Mason cited the play of freshman midfielder Charlie Roberts and that of junior defenders Kevin DeHority and Brian Peters. The latter two "are always solid back there," he said. "They mark pretty well and can cover for (Lamphear) when he

Plymouth Salem avenged a loss to Kalamazoo Central in boys soccer Saturday and took care of Livonia Franklin in Western Lakes Activities Association play Monday

The Rocks, ranked No. 3 in Class A, were 3-1 in the league and 7-1 overall heading into a Wednesday game with seventh-ranked Plymouth Canton.

Central handed Salem its first loss (1-0) a year ago after eight straight wins, but the Rocks were ready for the rematch in Kalamazoo, winning 8-2.

Salem ran up a 6-1 halftime lead behind three goals by John Truskowski, who also had an assist.

Truskowski, scoring the first goal of the game on a penalty kick, sandwiched a pair of scores around one by teammate Tom Baker. Dave Sudia, Rich Andrusiak and Truskowski made it 6-0 before the Maroon Giants scored just before the end of the half.

In the second half, Baker scored his second goal on a direct kick, and Andrusiak notched his second of the day following a pass from Baker. Brian Spuck, Matt Cook Jason Oberhelman and Ryan Phipps received credit for goal assists.

Salem scored four goals in the first 15 minutes, essentially deciding the issue in the first quarter of play.

The Rocks blanked host Franklin 3-0 behind a pair of Sudia goals and the first varsity goal by Oberhelman. Truskowski, Eric Stemmer and Matt Lee assisted on the Salem goalkeeper got his fourth shutout of the season. "We dominated play but we weren't as smooth in fin-ishing as we were Saturday," Salem coach Ken Johnson said. "We did enough to win."

Not including any points earned Wednesday, Truskowski leads the team with 28 on nine goals and 10 assists. Baker has 19 points (6-7) and Andrusiak 17 (8-1).

REDFORD CC 1, FOLEY 6: Rich Walos scored the only goal and goalkeeper Jeff Sawicki earned his third shutout Monday as Redford Catholic Central defeated Madison Heights Bishop Foley at Bell Creek Park.

Brendan Sullivan earned the assist on Walos' goal, which came before halftime. The non-league win moved the Shamrocks' record to 6-0 overall. Foley, a highlyranked Class B team, fell to 5-1.

Salem facts corrected

Plymouth Salem football coach Tom Moshimer and members of the 1982 Salem team are owed an apology for a mistake in the Thursday, Sept. 12, edition of the Observer. In the weekly grid predictions story, it was reported the Rocks had never won the Lakes Division title in the Western Lakes Activities Association and would be playing Farmington Hills Harrison for the first time Saturday.

But Salem did win the division in 1982 — the first year of the WLAA — and played Harrison for the league championship. Salem and the Hawks have played 12 times overall, with the series split at six wins spiece following Harrison's 21-12 victory Saturday.

 The Rocks (1-1) gave Harrison a good test — much better than some le expected and certainly better than Birmingham Brother Rice, which lost 32-0 to the Hawks the previous week. For that reason, Moshimer saw a silver lining in the defeat.

"Any time you lose, it's heartbreaking but I think our kids found out they can play with the best," Moshimer said, "and will have renewed confidence in their ablility as far as the rest of the season is concerned. Salem dropped from the Class AA state rankings after the defeat, and the Class BB Hawks (2-0) remained the top-ranked team in the all-classes poll, Stay tuned. The two could meet again for the WLAA title in late October.

· Harrison coach John Herrington said Rice and Salem were the toughest back-to-back opponents the Hawks have ever played in their first two games. Herrington gave the Rocks their due, crediting them for a fine effort. But playing state-ranked teams in consecutive games tested Harrison's psychological preparedness, too.

We had preached to them all winter long these would be two tough games," Herrington said, "but I don't think we reached the emotional peak we had last week. They were quiet and confident, but it was not the same emotion of going to the Silverdome and playing Rice."

Lions JV tames Cougars

The Canton Lions junior varsity football team defeated the Belleville Cougars 13-0 Sunday with Kurt Larson scoring all the points.

Larson combined with teammates Shaun Cavin, Bryson Wolf, Brett Burleson and Jordan Jones for 200 yards rushing.

Burleson and Chris Sample had quarterback sacks, Kevin Guse blocked two punts and Burleson intercepted a pass. Doug Kinney, Kevin Butler, Robert Malchow also played well for the Lions.

The varsity romped past the Cougars 27-13. Robert Ujkaj scored two touchdowns and recovered a fumble that led to another TD by Jason Rad-

Derek Ellison, Jon Stopera and Kevin Costatino scored extra points for the Lions. Scott Gocaj blocked a punt in the fourth quarter to set up the team's final TD by Ken Seadeek. The freshman team lost 19-0. The Lions and Plymouth-Canton Steelers play Sunday at Central Middle School. Kickoff will be at 1 p.m. Steelers stomp Redskins

The rushing combination of Robert Johnson and Ian Searcy led the Plymouth-Canton Steelers junior varsity football team to a 19-6 victory Sunday over the Dearborn Heights Redskins. Johnson rushed for 78 yards and Searcy 65. Each running back scored a touchdown. On the second play of the game, Johnson raced 45 yards to put the Steelers in front. His interception set up the second TD, a run of 65 yards by Searcy to

Nathan Gray intercepted a pass and then made a 20-yard TD reception for the Steelers. The Redskins scored on a quarterback sneak with 22 seconds left in the game. Chris Movinski and Tim Kocoloski also had solid performances for the Plymouth-Canton squad. The varsity dropped to 1-1 with a 29-0 loss. Shawn Dyer had 24 yards rushing and recovered a fumble. The freshman team suffered a 13-0 defeat.

New number for coaches to call O&E

Coaches and statisticians calling in sports results to the Observer should be advised of a change in phone numbers. Dan O'Meara, sports editor for the Farmington and Plymouth-Canton Observers, can now be reached at 953-2141. This is a round-the-clock direct number to the Observer sports department.

Schoolcraft men rally

It took quite a while for Schoolcraft College's men's soccer team to start playing like the defending NJCAA Region 12 champions they

Indeed, the realization of just what it will take to regain that title almost came too late.

With less than 10 minutes remaining in their first match in regional play, against visiting Cuyahoga Metro CC Saturday, the Ocelots found themselves trailing 3-2. Fortunately, they also found a pair of very important veterans on the field in Chris Crawford and Jeff VanDemergel.

Crawford took a free kick from midfield with seven minutes left. A Cuyahoga defender tried to head the ball out of danger, but wasn't quite able to reach the ball. Van-Demergel was, though; he figured what would happen and raced behind the defender to field the ball, putting it into the net for the tying

After that, the game belonged to SC. The Ocelots dominated the two 15-minute overtimes, with Dave Hebestreit and Crawford each scoring in the first OT to deliver a 5-3 victory.

"OUR GUYS just totally dominated (the overtimes)," said SC coach Van Dimitriou. That wasn't the case during regulation, however. "It wasn't that we were outplayed, but when they made a rush we didn't defend properly."

SC opened the scoring 12 minutes into the match when Rick Menary scored from six yards out. John Varro rallied Cuyahoga, however, scoring a goal on a hard drive at 30:00 and setting up a second when he was hauled down in the penalty area by SC sweeper Mike Presley at 36:00. John Abusada scored on the penalty kick, putting Cuyahoga up 2-1.

With under a minute left in the half, SC's Brian Hauman slammed home a pass from Menary to tie the game at 2-2. Cuyahoga again forged ahead when Varro drilled a free kick from 25 yards out past a mis-aligned SC defense.

"There were a number of situations where we just had miscommunications on defense," said Dimitriou. "I cannot remember when we have allowed three restart goals in a season, and we've already done that this year."

It's something the Ocelots, now 2-1-1 for the season, will have to straighten out quickly, if they plan on remaining in title contention.

The play of Schoolcraft College's women's soccer team matched the weather, according to coach Nick O'Shea.

"We played terrible," was his summary after the Lady Ocelots tied Hope College 1-1 Saturday in Holland. The match was played in the rain, and SC played it without top forward Shannon Meath, out with a leg muscle pull.

The game was scoreless through regulation. Hope got the first goal, two minutes into the second 15minute overtime, but it was scored by the Lady Ocelots. As Jennifer Whitfield prepared to clear a ball from in front of the net, it skipped off the wet turf and went off of her side and into the goal.

At that point, with just 13 minutes left to retaliate, O'Shea said "It didn't matter if we gave up another goal, so we pushed (stopper) Lori (Place) up front. In four minutes we had a goal. We almost gave up two in that time, though,"

Without Meath, SC forwards Carol Pietila and Becky Diverno had trouble handling the ball on the wet grass. O'Shea tried pushing midfielder Nikki Johnson up front, but then there was no one at midfield to move the ball forward.

Only when he put Place up front did the SC offense finally click. Place was pulled down just outside the penalty area, and she put the direct kick into the net to knot the

Hopson paces golf win

Senior Jeff Mopson emerged from his teammates' shadows Monday by shooting a 1-over-par 37 to lead Plymouth Salem to a 204-254 Western Lakes Activities Association golf victory over Farmington Hills Harrison. Hopson, usually the No. 4 man for the Rocks (5-2), tore up the San Marino course and shot his lowest nine-hole total of his career. 'He's playing real well lately," Salem coach Rick Wilson said. "He's on a roll. He's sneaky long. The kids on the team remark on how long he hits the ball, but you don't think that when you watch him. He hits the ball hard."

Salem senior captain Brian Botwinski shot 39 to finish second, while seniors Jeff Kotlarczyk and Ray Alvarado shot 41 and 42, respectively, to round out the team scoring

Mike LaCosse's 46 topped the Hawks, who are 0-4. The Rocks finished second last Thursday in a four-team meet at Leslie

Park. Ann Arbor Pioneer won the meet with a 253. Salem's 269 total edged Plymouth Canton, which shot 271. Hopson led the Rocks with 41. Howell finished fourth with a 305 total.

CANTON WON its WLAA opener by defeating Farmington 209-235 at Hilltop Monday

Senior Mike Ross led the Chiefs by shooting 37 and was the medalist. Senior Jeff Woodruff took second with 39. Jason Buha was low man for the Falcons with 41.

Other Canton scores included sophomore Matt Paupore's 43 and a pair of 45s from seniors Brian Gabbaert and Jon Paupore.

St. Agatha, Mulka rush past Liggett

Redford St. Agatha coach John Goddard didn't get to watch Mike Whelan try a field goal Satur-day for Grosse Pointe University-Liggett — but you won't find Goddard complaining Whelan, one of the Midwest's best placekickers, got most of his work accomplished during pregame warmups. St. Agatha dominated the line of scrimmage and stunned favored Liggett, 27-0, at Hilbert Junior High.

It was a rout from start to finish as Agatha improved to 2-0 overall.

St. Agatha fielded the opening kickoff by Whelan and on the first play from scrimmage, full-back Pete Mulka raced 88 yards for a touchdown and a 6-0 lead. Liam Shivers' first of three extra points gave the Aggies a 7-0 lead.

Liggett, a Class C team, brought a state-ranking into the game but it was St. Agatha which resembled a highly-ranked team. The Aggies outgained the Knights, 328-190 in total yardage and had a one-two backfield combination which was next to impossible to stop. Mulka finished with 214 yards on 14 carries and three TDs and tailback Cardell Davis was a perfect complement, scoring once and gaining 90 yards on nine carries.

Despite the domination, Goddard prefers the Aggies' underdog status.

'I don't believe right now we're one of the state's top 10 teams (in Class C)," Goddard said. "Rankings don't mean anything and that's what

Mulka gave St. Agatha a 14-0 halftime lead, taking a hand-off from junior quarterback Paul Parsell and scoring on a 42-yard run in the second quarter. It was Davis' turn in the third quarter as the senior raced 56 yards for a score on the second play of a drive for a commanding 21-0

Mulka finished the scoring in the fourth quarter, capping a 50-yard drive with a 21-yard TD run. The Aggies' rushing game was so effective they needed to pass only one time - an 18-yard completion from Parsell to wide receiver River

St. Agatha lost two fumbles and the Aggies' defense caused three fumbles by the Knights. Goddard said defensive linemen Shivers, Scott Brigmon and James Pierce dominated the line

REDFORD CC 23, MUMFORD 0: Lineman Dan Kelly and linebackers Gary Stegall and Joe Her-man stood out Saturday as Redford Catholic Central's defense dominated the non-league game against De-troit Mumford at Livonia Clarenceville.

Kelly, a nose guard, had one solo and 12 assisted tackles, while Stegall finished with two solo and 10 as-quarterback Tachallah Chapman completed only one-of-11 passes for 4 yards and the Shamrocks limited rd to 105 yards in total offense.

CC placekicker Kerry Zavagnin buried two kickoffs in the end zone, punted for a 39.5 yard average, made a 21-yard field goal and kicked two extra points.

The Shamrocks gained 187 yards, all on the ground, with quarterback Chris Barbara, fullback Dan Gusoff and Jason Krueger all scoring on 1-yard runs. Mario Vassallo helped set up CC's first score with a 42-yard

CC's senior tailback Jeff Tibaldi led all rushers with 93 yards on 19 carries

LUTH. WESTLAND 34, ST. ALPHONSUS 14: In another game played Saturday, senior halfback Paul Seltz had 117 yards on 15 carries and two touchdowns, leading the Warriors to the win at home

Lutheran Westland moved to 2-0 overall. Dearborn St. Alphonsus is 1-1.

Seltz scored on runs of 32 and 9 yards and added two interceptions for the defense. Senior halfback Matt Grams gained 30 yards and a touchdown. Lutheran Westland, which had 353 yards in total of-fense, led 20-6 at halftime and scored twice in the third quarter to seal the victory.

Lutheran Westland held St. Alphonsus to 150 total yards, and senior linebacker Troy Smith led the Warri-ors with five solo tackles and seven assisted tackles. "We're improving," said Lutheran Westland coach Dennis Tuomi. "We looked good in some moments and bad in other moments. I was pleased for the most staff writers HE GAP CLOSED just a bit between your two expert prognosticators.

After going a mediocre 8-6 last week, the smiling Irishman (Dan O'Meara) now stands 23-8 on the season

He still maintains a two-game lead over the frowning Welshman (Brad Emons), who cut that four-game deficit in half over the weekend, going 10-4 to up his record to 21-10 overall.

As for Week No. 3, what's in store? For the Western Lakes Activities Association. it marks divisional openers. League play also opens up in the Northwest Suburban League, while the Metro Con-ference and Tri-River begin its second week of league

The Catholic League is still one week away from its

How many unbeaten teams are left in Observerland? The answer is seven - Redford Catholic Central, Westland John Glenn, Livonia Stevenson, Farmington Harrison, Wayne Memorial, Lutheran High Westland and Redford St. Agatha.

That number could be cut in half after this weekend. Here is a preview of the action:

An iner blockbuster battle looms between the powers of the Catholic League and PSL. King (2-0) is loaded again, despite the graduation losses of such players as Herbert Gibson (Notre Dame) and Ed Davis (Michigan). CC (2-0) beat the Crusaders in last year's state Class AA final, 21-0, after losing 20-7 during the regular season. PICKS: King wins a defensive struggle, says Emons, but O'Meara takes CC.

Redford Union at Dearborn (4 p.m.): The Panthers (1-1) got a boost after beating Waterford Kettering last week by a point. Dearborn, defending Northwest Suburban League champs, are human, despite a 2-0 record. Can RU's defense do the job? PICKS: RU hates Friday afternoon football, go with Dearborn.

Westland Glenn at Liv. Stevenson: Both teams are unbeat en. Glenn, however, whipped the Spartans last year by a 41-0 count. Stevenson is a better football team than a year ago, but is that enough? PICKS: Glenn gets tested, but earns passing

N. Farmington at Ply. Salem: Both teams are 1-1 and play murderous schedules to open the season. North is coming off a 26-15 win at Canton, while Salem is licking its wounds from a North do the trick twice at Centennial Educational Park? PICKS: O'Meara isn't counting out North just yet. Emons likes the Rocks' chances.

Pty. Canton at Northville: The Chiefs (1-1) somehow must find a way to contain Northville (1-1) quarterback Ryan Huzjak, one of the top signal callers in the state. This could be a wide open, high-scoring affair. PICKS: Canton finds a way to win,

Farm, Harrison vs. W.L. Western (at Walled Lake Central): The euphoria at Western has subsided. After getting a rare win against Novi in their opener, the Warriors fell back down to earth, losing last Friday to Farmington. What Jekyl and Hyde team will show up this week? PICKS: Western falls into a large crater as unbeaten Harrison rolls to victory No. 3.

Garden City at Ypsi Lincoln: The Railsplitters (1-1) rely on defense. They defeated Detroit East Catholic and lost to Tecum-seh last week 23-0. GC (0-2) is searching for its first win after being drubbed 19-2 last week by Romulus. PICKS: Flip a coin, both take with the Land of Lincoln back David Little has been a plus. Churchill's defense has to come up big if a victory is going to take place. PICKS: Franklin pulls out a win.

W.L. Central at Farmington: The Falcons (1-1), fresh from a win against Western, are looking to make it a clean sweep against the Walled Lakes. The home field should help for sure. Central (0-2) lost last week to Northville and standout QB Ryan Huziak, 34-20, PICKS: Farmington puts the Vikings in the cellar of the Lakes

Taylor Kennedy at Red. Thurston: There are a lot of similarities between the two schools. Both teams are nicknamed the Eagles and are both 0-2. Both are picked up finish near the middle-to-bottom of the Tri-River League. Thurston has only scored two points thus far in losses to Robichaud and Crestwood, while Kenne dy tallied 13 last week in a defeat against city rival Truman. PICKS: No ties in this one, both like JFK over Lee

Lutheran North at Liv. Clarenceville: Turn out the lights, the Trojans are playing a rare afternoon game at home. Nothing, however, has been bright about the Trojans' 0-2 start. North (1-1), a state playoff team a year ago, has a strong defense led by linebacker Aaron Carenter. The Mustangs, who toppled Bloomfield Hills Cranbrook last week, were picked by some to challenge Avondale for the Metro Conference title. PICKS: The Trojans fall to 0-3.

St. Agatha vs. Innisdale, Ontario (at Det. Benedictine): The Aggies (2-0) are flying high after beating state-ranked Grosse Pointe Liggett last weekend, 27-0. Pete Mulka and Cardell Davis form a potent backfield Mulka had 214 yards on 14 carries last week on TD runs of 88, 42 and 21 yards. Davis had 90 yards rushing. including a 56-yard TD run. Innisdale, a Class A size school (with grade 13) located in Barrie, Ontario plays Canadian rules (12 men, wider and longer field). Innisdale just started practicing two weeks ago. If you recall, Agatha lost last year to Barrie North, 6-0. PICKS: This is a better Aggie team than a year ago. Both stay with the Aggies another week.

Bishop Borgess vs. Dbn. Divine Child (7:30 p.m. at Dbn. Hts. Crestwood): The Spartans (1-1) have traditionally given Divine Child (2-0) fits over the years. DC however, appears to be hitting on all cylinders after posting wins over Detroit Denby and Jackson Lumen Christi (13-12 last week in overtime) Borgess may have its hands full. PICKS: We're flying high with the Falcons this time.

Madonna 1st in tournament

Progress took a major step for ward for Madonna University's volleyball team last weekend. The Lady Crusaders captured the Baldwin-Wallace College Invitational in Berea, Ohio, winning fivestraight matches to improve their record to 9-6.

In Saturday's title match, Madonna downed Alma 7-15, 15-8, 15-7. The opening-game loss was the only game the Crusaders dropped in the tournament.

They' defeated University of Michigan-Dearborn 15-2, 15-8 in the semifinals Saturday, and in pool play Friday topped John Carroll University (University Heights, Ohio) 15-12, 15-2; Bluffton College (Bluffton, Ohio) 15-12, 15-6; and St. Vincent College (Latrobe, Pa.) 15-5,

"The kids really came together," said Madonna coach Jerry Abraham. "As far as offensively or defensively, every time we needed a big rally or to win a long rally, they rose to the occasion."

SOPHOMORE HITTER Dana Hicks-Finley was named the tournament's most valuable player. "Her play was very, very good, both at the net and as middle-blocker," said Abraham. "She controlled the net and was a dominant hitter. She made us go on offense."

Hicks-Finley finished with 64 kills in the tournament, averaging nearly six a game with a .316 kill hitter Maureen Paulin had 18 kills and sophomore outside hitter Melissa Mars had 15 kills. Freshman middle-blocker Julie Adams added eight solo blocks.

Senior Jenny Sladewski paced the defense with 41 digs. Sophomore Evette Sluder and freshman Sue Bell had 21 apiece. Senior Penny Baker and sophomore Mazie Pilut split time at setter and, according to Abraham, "both did a great Madonna plays at Hillsdale at 7 p.m. tonight, then hosts Alma at 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

ON TUESDAY, the Crusaders traveled to Wayne State and came up losers, 15-12, 16-14, 15-7. Although Abraham praised his team's effort, he added it wasn't quite enough.

"We played extremely well, offensively and defensively," said Abraham. "We just didn't put them away when we had them on the ropes. But it was a great match."

Madonna had an 11-7 lead in each of the first two games and couldn't hold it. Junior Elena Oparka paced the Crusaders with 14 kills; Hicks-Finley had 13, Smith got 10 and McFadden finished with seven. Sladewski's 14 digs were best among the defenders; Paulin and Smith had nine each.

Choose a positive outlook, consultant says

By Doug Funke staff writer

Negativity is learned. Negativity can be unlearned. It's up to everyone to decide as individuals whether they want to have a positive outlook in the workplace and at home, then make a conscious effort to do so.

Be prepared for a more satisfying life - and some funny looks - if you make the transformation.

That was the gist of a message provided Monday by Lois Wolfe-Morgan, a management consultant and motivational speaker, to a marketing club of the Livonia Chamber of Commerce.

"Every workday experience is a call to action," she said. "We can no longer wait around for someone to put rocks in our positive buckets. You have to do it yourself.

'You will get there if you remain strong and keep taking baby steps. My challenge is to say yes to positivism and say yes to life.

One of the best ways to get out of the negativity rut is to find ways to say yes rather than no to yourself and others, Wolfe-Morgan advised.

you've heard 'no' 300,000 times," she "We hear it from parents, teachers, children, bosses, friends, people we don't even care about.

"PEOPLE WHO don't have their expectations met form negative expectations," she said. "Negativity is a habit. Most people I meet don't prepare, plan or expect to be posi-

We sometimes set ourselves up for a negative experience in the morning when an irritating alarm rouses us out of a sound sleep. We see how lousy we look as we stumble into the bathroom, we hear all kinds of bad news from the radio or TV while getting ready, then we get bogged down in traffic while heading to work.

"Wouldn't it be neat if we could wake up and say, 'What a great, new morning,' Wolfe-Morgan said. "Most people don't believe they have options. They believe they're stuck in their rut.

"We can't wait around for the rest of the world to give us the compli-ments we need," Wolfe-Morgan repeated. "We have to tell ourselves those things."

But taking a few seconds to give undivided attention - and a compliment - to your children or colleagues at work will make you and them feel good.

When you have increased satisfaction, you have increased productivity . . . the bottom line is up," she

'When you have increased satisfaction, you have increased productivity. The bottom line is up.'

- Lois Wolfe-Morgan

WOLFE-MORGAN identified four magic phrases — "hmmmm," "ahhhh," "oh," and "tell me more" "hmmmm," - that defuse negative conversation on the job and at home.

'You would be amazed at the pow-er of these words," she said. "Use these four words over and over.

What it does is stop you from fueling the fires of negativity.

Sure, you'll end up in some boring conversations, she said, but better boring than negative.

"We move in the direction of that which we think about," Wolfe-Morgan said. And excuses about lack of opportunity, dysfunctional families, divorce, poverty are just that - excuses, she said.

"Environment impacts life, people impact life but do you know who has the biggest impact on your life?

Don't be surprised if you're regarded a bit differently when you can change your outlook, Wolfe-Morgan said.

"People think you're weird because they're not accustomed to positiveness," she said. "They have become so comfortable in life it (negativity) has become part of their personality."

Beverly A. White, sales director for Lazer Images, agreed especially with Morgan-Wolfe's assertion that people choose to be positive or negative.

have that choice. It is your choice, under all circumstances, to be positive," White said.

"I thought she was an excellent speaker," said Patty Donohue-Ebach, physical education director for the Livonia Family YMCA. "We have it in our power to choose to be positive or negative. I think most people make their own beds, then put the blame in other places."

"I liked the fact she said not to encourage a person who has a negative . and (suggested) ways to cool them off," said Janet Ramsden, an'administrative assistant at Suburban Medical Center. "It's something we can all put to use.

"You're not going to succeed if you have negative thoughts," said Peggy Crilley, a sales representative for Business & Pleasure Travel. "Positive thinking has to be not only in the workplace, but day-to-day liv-

Pension options affect decision on early retirement

John Wright is facing one of the most difficult decisions in his career. Along with many of his peers, he has been offered an early retirement package from Unisys. Although he is inclined toward accepting the offer, he has requested our evaluation regarding his options.

Wright, 57, has worked for Unisys (formerly Burroughs) for the last 26 years. His wife has never worked outside the home, and their three children are grown and financially independent. They have a house in Plymouth that will be paid off in

Wright has always planned to work at Unisys at least until age 62, and probably 65. He had never considered retiring until this recent package was offered. But if they can afford it, he would like to accept the

Incentives in the early retirement package include a favorable formula used to determine the pension benefit. This calculation bases his pension on his higher "final average earnings," rather than on an average "career earnings," which would be used if he stayed on until age 62. Offsetting this somewhat is the fact he will have fewer years of service, a factor that reduces the pension benefit. Also, his medical insurance, would be, in effect subsidized. We calculate the value of the medical benefits package at approximately $100 per month.

More important, an early retirement would give him the option to pursue other vocational opportunities. He has often thought he would enjoy teaching at the college level. But if landing a position proved difficult, he could work as a computer systems consultant/independent

IN PREPARING for retirement, a major focus must be on the necessary income to meet projected expenses. Fortunately, the Wrights have tracked their actual expenditures over the past few years. This provides them with an accurate picture of the income needed during retirement, which they estimate at $2,600 per month to maintain their current standard of living.

Retirement income generally comes from three sources: pensions income from investments and Social Security. Because it will be five years before Wright reaches 62, he will have to rely initially on just the pension and investments plus any outside earnings from a new job.

At first blush, it appears that the Wrights should have no problem reaching their income goal. If Wright took the maximum pension for which he is eligible (unreduced by survivorship options or lump sum payouts), he would receive almost $1,500 per month. Income from his investment assets of $250,000 could provide the $1,100 per month needed to reach the $2,600 goal.

But Wright is concerned about the effects of future inflation on his required income. The pension payments are a fixed amount that will not increase over time. With a life expectancy of 20-25 years, the purchasing power of this pension benefit would be drastically reduced over

We would point out that they, in fact, have some built-in future increases in their spendable income. When Wright reaches 61; the house will be paid off and they will effectively increase their spendable income by $450 per month. The following year, when he reaches 62, he will be eligible for Social Security of more than $700 per month, and his wife would be eligible for Social Security benefits of $350 the following

BUT EVEN THESE amounts might not provide them with the needed cushion should inflation be come a major problem. At just 5 percent inflation, their income needs would increase to more than $5,500 by the time they reach their late 60s. Our projections indicate that they might be financially secure with their current assets, but that this is dependent upon relatively favorable economic assumptions.

We conclude that he can accept the early retirement offer, but we would highly recommend that he pursue a teaching or consulting position for at least the next five years. By supplementing their income in this manner, they should be able to leave their investment assets virtually untouched, reinvesting all interest and dividends. The growth of these assets during the next few years will help provide a larger margin for a comfortable retirement even in more adverse econom-

Wright has the option of taking his pension in a single lump sum payment rather than monthly payments. Under the basic pension plan, he could opt for a $125,000 lump sum payment, and there is a special retirement incentive that could pay him a lump sum of about $36,000. Although the lump sum payments would increase their asset base, we would recommend that Wright elect to receive the monthly pension pay-ments. This would not be the right solution for everyone. But especially because his wife has no pension of her own, the pension can provide a steady base of income for their daily living expenses. Cash flow is simply easier to monitor and manage with this regular income.

Also, the lump sum distribution would generate substantial immediate income tax liability. Because of this tax, they would have fewer assets earning interest. The actuarial interest rate assumption in the monthly pension is more than 8 percent. A lump sum election would require even higher rates of return to generate the same income because the taxes paid immediately reduce the principal.

The standard form of the pension provides that if Wright died, his wife would continue to receive 50 percent of the pension benefit. Alternatively, they could elect to have 100, 75 or 0 percent payable to the surviving spouse. Obviously, the greater the survivor benefit, the lower the pension payment will be. For example, the 100 percent survivor benefit option is only 85 percent of the amount paid under the single life option in which no survivor benefits are paid.

We would strongly suggest that they choose the 100 percent survivor option. Because Norma Wright has no pension of her own, she will need continuing income should she become widowed. Her income would already be reduced because she would not be receiving any of her husband's future earned income, nor would she receive his Social Security at age 62 although her widow's Social Security benefits would be available at age 60. A 50 percent or more reduction in the pension benefit in addition to these other reductions could be devastating.

Evaluating an early retirement package is not an easy process. Each individual set of circumstances is different, and there are few blanket answers. We'd encourage the Wrights to seek the advice of a personal financial adviser on these matters. This is a critical period for them, and the financial decisions made now may impact their future financial security for years to come.

A Home Is The American Dream.

Finding Affordable Housing Is A Nightmare.

To help solve this problem, NBD Bank is sponsoring the 1991 Housing Conference on Saturday, September 28, at the University of Detroit Mercy Conference Center. Conference workshops are designed to help

INDIVIDUALS

- · determine how much they can afford
- · learn how to buy a home and sources of financing

COMMUNITY GROUPS

- · acquire and rehabilitate property
- · obtain financing for development projects

CHURCH LEADERS

- · start their own housing development projects
- · build and stabilize neighborhoods

REALTORS AND DEVELOPERS

- transform housing development into profits
- obtain innovative financing

Workshops will be led by community leaders, developers, legal experts, representatives from Detroit, HUD, and local universities, and NBD officers. The cost is $15 for the first person from an organization, and $10 for others from the same organization, or for individuals. Scholarships are available. To register before September 20, call 225-3492.

The Bottom Line

Advantages of Early Retirement: ✓ Provides option to pursue other interests ✓ Favorable pension formula.

Retains option to work elsewhere.

✓ Favorable medical benefits package.

Disadvantages of Early Retirement: ✓ Earned income will decline significantly. ✓ "Years of service" (for pension calculation) less than anticipated.

Pension has no cost of living adjustment. A significant asset (Unisys stock) has just had a major decline in value.

Mary Harmsen teaches an 11th grade class at Plymouth Christian Academy in Canton.

World changes enliven classes

Teacher Sam Gaines recently put together a test for some of his students at Plymouth Christian Academy on the changing Soviet Union. He had to revise the test when two more of the Baltic republics declared their independence.

Gaines agreed this can be a fascinating time for students in social studies classes.

"It is, it's really exciting," said Gaines, a Canton resident and social studies department chairman at the private school in Canton. Events in the world, including the rapid changes in the Soviet Union, help students realize there's more to social studies than pages in a book.

Courtney Armstrong, 12, of Canton's one of the seventh graders at Plymouth Christian Academy who took that test on the Baltic republics. "We get to learn about how Russia's changing," she said.

SHE'S BEEN watching the TV news and reading newspapers to keep up with world events. Courtney likes social studies and also enjoys her math and science classes. Classmate Bobby Mayer, 12, of Plymouth agreed that

"You get to learn more about the Soviet Union," said

He and Courtney have been learning about the Baltic republics declaring their independence from the Soviet Union and other changes in that region. Bobby, who considers math his favorite subject and social studies his second, likes studying the "neat stuff" that's going on.

Educators agree changes in the Soviet Union and elsewhere have provided plenty of material for classroom

"It's an exciting time," said Mary Harmsen of Canton, who teaches secondary social studies at Plymouth Christian Academy. Students enjoy studying events that are occurring right now, and she likes being "able to explain to the kids that these things really do happen."

Harmsen's students have been studying current events

"I think it gives them a new perspective," she said. "They can actually see things that are happening right

TEXTBOOKS, MAPS and globes in local classrooms are becoming outdated almost every day, so educators have relied on other materials for teaching. Newspapers, news magazines and TV and radio coverage have helped students and teachers keep up with the changes

"We really try to encourage them to read the paper as well as watch different newscasts," she said.

Harmsen's found it helpful to rely on a number of sources to get different perspectives on such subjects as the best route for the Soviet Union to take. She's also been reading about the Senate hearings for Supreme Court nominee Clarence Thomas.

Teacher Penny Nuechterlein has been using newspapers in her sixth grade social studies classes at Pioneer Middle School in Plymouth Township. She's found political cartoons from daily newspapers are an effective teaching tool.

Students are aware of what's happening; many keep up with changes through news coverage, and also hear their parents discuss the changes.

"They have a lot of knowledge," Nuechterlein, a Northville resident, said of her sixth grade students.

THE STUDENTS recently studied a political cartoon related to Cuba's Fidel Castro and the domino effect. The sixth graders are able to understand sophisticated concepts with the help of such cartoons, she said.

"You definitely have to use current types of things. You can't just use the textbook," Nuechterlein said. Her students have talked about the fact that classroom maps are rapidly becoming outdated. West Germany and

East Germany, of course, are now one and the same. "There are changes on a daily basis," Nuechterlein said. She agreed the past few years have been exciting ones for teaching social studies. Nuechterlein hasn't found it difficult or burdensome to keep up with the changing times.

"You're teaching something you're interested in," she

"Oh, I think it's great because some of these people never get out," Mary Bunch said. "They need this outlet to get together. It's really great for them to get together and meet people."

OFTEN, NEWCOMERS to the community find it enjoyable to get involved in Council on Aging activities, she said. "SeniorFest 91," held Wednesday, Sept. 11, was sponsored by the Plymouth Community Council on Aging and by Northville's senior citizen organi-

Such get-togethers are beneficial for seniors "because they have a lot in common, and that's the important thing," said Mary Childs of Plymouth, incoming president of the Council on Aging.

Sheila Alles uses such words as "stimulating" and "thought-provoking" in describing the changes in the Soviet Union and the rest of the world and how those developments relate to teaching.

"It's very exciting. Major changes are occurring daily," said Alles, curriculum coordinator for language arts and social studies for the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

"When you think about the changes that have occurred, the social changes, economic changes, political changes" that have taken place, "it's an exciting time to be cult to do.

SHE'S FOUND maps printed in newspapers and used on TV to be helpful. "You need to be able to visualize them. I think that's extremely helpful for adults."

Changes in the Soviet Union extend beyond changes of borders, she said. Government, lifestyle, culture and other aspects are changing as Students in the Plymouth-Canton schools study geography from kindergarten through 12th grade. Geography's integrated into the social studies curriculum.

Each part of the curriculum looks at a target area and compares it to others in the country, region and world, Alles said. Global interdependence is emphasized.

"Our concern is for the well-being and the stability of the people within those countries," she said. Students study problems that develop in countries where such dramatic changes are taking place.

Plymouth-Canton students learn about different cultures and environments throughout the world. "Social studies is the vehicle that takes them to other parts of the globe," Alles

SOCIAL STUDIES teaching has changed in recent years. There's less of an emphasis on memorizing facts and dates "and more of an emphasis on the reason why things happened, what caused them to happen." The past is studied in terms of its impact on the present and future. Tests have changed as well. Many middle school students now take essay and short answer tests in social studies classes. Elementary school students work together on projects, doing such things as building three-dimensional models of Plymouth or

Canton and learning geographical concepts in the process. The Plymouth-Canton school district has a Social Studies Task Force. Each elementary school, middle school and high school is represented. Members share information related to issues and topics in the social studies curriculum, said Alles, who serves as committee chairwoman. Members find newsletters, such as those published the Michigan Geographic Alliance at Central Michi-

"So it's a friendly get-together," said Childs, a Plymouth city commissioner and former mayor. The senior citizens have plenty of experience to draw on and a lot to give, she said.

The weather cooperated for the "SeniorFest." There were a few clouds in the sky, but no rain fell. Temperatures that day were just perfect for spending time out in the Plymouth park.

Entertainment was part of the afternoon's fun. The New Generation Dance Company from Schoolcraft College took to the stage to perform for the senior citizens.

Compelling message

Baby boomers find their niche at this Canton church

By Arlene Funke special writer

What is your personal relationship with God? Why do bad things happen to good people?

The Canton Community Church, which this month marked its second anniversary, regularly explores such timeless themes with fresh techniques: dramatic readings, skits, mime performances and contemporary Chris-

The church is affiliated with the Evangelical Free Church of America, a small mainline Protestant denomi

"We want to make our messages compelling," said the Rev. Eric Moore, 32, pastor of the church. "We get to be creative.

Moore, a Canton resident, is targeting baby boomers who, for a variety of reasons, aren't attending church. He is convinced that many have strong "spiritual longings."

Cynthia and Mike Shaft of Plymouth Township have responded to Moore's unorthodox approach. The Shafts, chiropractic physicians with a Canton practice, have five children ages 4 to 13.

THE SHAFTS were particularly concerned about their children, who had become bored with church ritual. Cynthia Shaft said the kids enjoy the skits at Canton Commu-

Tradition is very important, but I think the traditional church has become weighted down," said Shaft, 32. She and her husband wanted their children to retain spir-

Currently, around 120 people attend weekly services. Sunday worship is 10 a.m. in the gym at Field Elementary School, on Haggerty between Cherry Hill and Palmer

Moore and his wife, Kim, have two children, ages 4 and 5; a third is due in March. Most members of the church also are young married couples with growing

Sunday worship, which Moore calls the "seeker's service," is geared to non-members. There is no choir. Music is provided by talented member-musicians, or by tapes, rather than the traditional organ. There is no passing of a collection plate. Donations may be dropped into a box, if desired.

"People who haven't been at church for a long time are apprehensive," Moore said. "We try to take the sting away."

A DIFFERENT service takes place on Thursday evenings. Members have the use of the Christ Community Church, on Ford Road west of Canton Center in Canton, where they sing spiritual songs and study the Bible.

During a recent Thursday service, a dozen people were baptized by immersion. Because the church encourages personal choice, those being baptized are typically age 10 or older, Moore said.

Other small groups meet in members' homes for discussions and fellowship.

The Evangelical Free Church of America is rooted among Scandinavian-Americans traditionally in farming areas of the Midwest, Moore said.

Moore, a Romulus native, has a bachelor's degree in communications from Tennessee Temple University and a master of divinity degree from Temple Baptist Theological Seminary. Both are in Chattanooga, Tenn.

Moore also teaches speech at William Tyndale College in Farmington Hills.

Member David Shull says his affiliation with the Canton Community Church is "rejuvenating."

Shull, 47, is a marriage and family counselor. His wife, Marian, 38, is a registered nurse. They moved to Canton from Portland, Ore., around three years ago.

The Shulls have five children, ranging in age from 10 months to 12 years.

"We found it very easy to make friends," Shull said. There is a lot of excitement and growth when young people are around. David Shull heads up one of the small study groups.

Marian Shull is the church's nursery director. The Shafts are involved in the music ministry. Mike Shaft, 35, plays drums. Cynthia Shaft plays the flute. Cynthia Shaft had attended high school with Moore, but had lost touch with her former classmate until she began attending the church. She describes Moore as

'humble and quiet," but inspiring. "This is real exciting, starting from scratch," she said. There is something going on here. The words 'born again' sound like a cliche, but that's what it is."

"We want to make our messages compelling," said the Rev. Eric Moore, pastor of the Canton Community Church.

We can reach out to overcome loneliness

The subject of loneliness is one that few of us discuss with anyone except psychiatrists, and then only when we feel we are in deep trou-

As Suzanne Gordon noted: "What was once a philosophical problem, spoken of mainly by poets and prophets, has now become an almost permanent condition for millions of Americans, not only for the old and divorced, but also for the men and women filling singles bars and encounter groups, the adolescents running away from home, the corporate transients who move every two or three years and the people calling suicide and crisis hot lines in search of someone to talk

Why are there so many lonely people in our midst? Among the moral perspectives

primary causes are family instability, high mobility, the increasing divorce rate, and the striving for independence and personal success.

CONSIDER THE effects of divorce on the family. There are an estimated 8,000,000 children under 18 whose parents are divorced. What impact do you imagine this has on the emotional integration of these children?

One 12-year-old girl of divorced parents put her feelings down on paper: "I get lonely because I miss my mom. I live with my aunt. My mom left me here while she was looking for a job. And then she got this boyfriend and she never came for me. I guess I could never talk to my mom when I felt lonely because she was lonely too."

Psychologists believe that this increasing stress in the family may be one of the factors for the growing rates of both alcoholism and suicide among young people. Indeed, the latter is the second leading cause of death for those between 15 and 24. What we see emerging in white middle-class America is the kind of instability that used to be solely peculiar to poor and black families.

Even within "stable" marriages and interpersonal relationships, there can be loneliness if there is no communication. Couples can be strangers, friends can be remote, and neighbors can be emotionally distant. In the absence of communication and sharing, the loneliness grows. "Dialogue is the elixir of life," writes James Lynch.

SOME LONELY people withdraw from human contact because they lack trust in the honesty and the sincere caring of others. We can prove to them by our patience, understanding and supportive presence that their fears are unjustified. Selfishly, when you dig another out of his troubles, you will find a place to bury your own.

If we are to rediscover trust and friendship, we must be willing to respond and graciously accept the hand of caring. And, if there is no hand to grab, then we must initiate the reaching out. We must become activists and become involved in our community and in helping others. He who builds walls about himself or herself will, in turn, become isolated from the mainstream of humankind.

Dr. Sidney Jourard, in his book about "the transparent self," tells us that we make ourselves opaque and unknowable in order to protect our fragile egos, but at the cost of our physical, emotional and spiritual health. The answer, he says, is to make ourselves "transparent," to make ourselves open and available to those we most love - our families and friends.

This is the escape route out of the prison of our loneliness, a path marked by sharing, self-disclosure and openness.

This happens because God has given us the capacity to love, to care about others. To look at the world through the eyes of love is to become related to all mankind and thus to become insulated against the ravages of loneliness

Rabbi Irwin Groner is with Congregation Shaarey Zedek in Southfield.

JET soars into its 3rd season

Performances of the Jewish Ensemble Theatre production of "Crossing Delancey" continue through Oct. 6 at the Aaron DeRoy Theatre at the Jewish Community Center, 6600 W. Maple Road in West Bloomfield. For tickets, call JET at 788-2900, visit any Ticketmaster outlet or call 645-6666.

By Cathie Breidenbach special writer

RTISTIC BRILLIANCE alone can't keep a theater afloat in the turbulent waters of modern American arts, especially in Michigan waters made more treacherous by cutbacks in arts funding

The Jewish Ensemble Theatre of West Bloomfield, one of metro Detroit's newest professional theaters, knows theater is a business as well as an art.

Critics can acclaim productions, and praise for JET's productions to date has been generous, but unless a theater fills the house regularly, builds a subscription base, and makes wise business decisions, the stage lights are destined to dim.

WITH TWO successful seasons under its belt, and the business acumen to keep the momentum building, JET is opening its third season this week with the romantic comedy "Crossing Delancey.

The New York hit pits a contentedly-single, modern Jewish woman against her meddling grandmother, and a professional matchmaker who conspire to pair her with a bachelor in the pickle business. The warmhearted comedy abounds with wacky Sylvia Kauders, who created the grandmother in the original New York show recreates her role in JET's production.

SUBSCRIPTIONS HAVE tripled since the theater opened its doors in February 1990 in the 180-seat auditorium of the Jewish Community Center on Maple Road in West Bloomfield, said James August, a founder, and immediate past presi-

That first year, subscriptions started at about 300; this year they

He cites "A Rosen by Any Other Name," last season's closing show about a boy preparing for his bar mitzvah, as an example of how JET's following is growing.

The show sold out a number of nights; its run was extended two weeks, and numerous non-denominational school groups attended.

"It was a cross-cultural experience they could relate to," said Evelyn Orbach, JET's artistic director. 'The whole genesis of the theater was to share the Jewish experience with a broader audience," adds Aug-

"THE FIRST year, buying a subscription was an act of faith because we had no track record," said Orbach. Before they committed to create JET, founders Dorothy Gerson, James August, Bryant M. Frank, Mary Lou Zieve, Sol Wineman, Hen-

The mandate was clear - Yes, the Jewish community would welcome a theater provided it was a thoroughly professional venture and provided productions that had a recognizable Jewish content.

In theater, the word "professional" connotes more than top-notch productions; it means that an agreed-upon percentage of cast and crew in each production will be members of the professional union, Actors Equity.

JET INCORPORATED the community mandate into a mission statement that reads "plays must be by Jewish playwrights, andr on Jewish themes, andr of interest to Jew-

Orbach points out that "the 'and/ or' in the statement is very important," because it gives the theater flexibility in selecting the season of four plays plus, each spring, a festival of staged readings of new works

JET's play reading committee uses the mission statement as a guideline when it reads 60-100 new plays per year and selects four to be included in the festival.

The committee also makes its way through 150 plays, and recommends about 30 as possibilities to include in the season of full productions.

JET recently added a touring company, which Orbach calls "a van and a car full of actors who bring Jewish theater beyond the borders of the metro area."

"We wanted to be not just a terrific professional theater providing theatrical entertainment. It was important to be a platform, a sounding board for new voices and new ideas, to facilitate the development of aspiring playwrights as one way to contribute to the community as a whole," said Frank.

A JET subscription package includes tickets to the spring festival of staged readings. Last year, 500, hundred people who aren't season subscribers, attended staged readings and Talk Back sessions between the audience, playwright, and actors

Comparing JET to other, established professional theaters in the area, Orbach said, "they have the administrative machinery already in place. We're still building our machinery. For the first two to three years we were using start up energy and money from the Fisher Foundation (which funds new enterprises)."

JET's third season promises challenges as the new theater comes of age. New staffers will be hired to carry the increasing administrative workload as the theater moves to become financially self sufficient.

WITH ONE big case of mistaken identity and a set that includes no fewer than six doors, the comic antics start flying at a breathtaking pace.

The star of the show, though you'd never know it to look at the program or read the press releases, is clearly Larry Cahn in the demanding role of Max.

Cahn takes this bullied assistant manager and transforms him from a whiny nebbish into a dashing ladies man when he impersonates the great Merelli at the last minute. Cahn's performance is energetic, endearing, and features perfect comic timing.

Workshop helps artists learn the business

By Linda Ann Chomin special writer

Are you an artist struggling to turn your creative output into a successful business? If so, plan to attend the Livonia Arts Commission workshop, "The Business of Being an Artist," with artist and lecturer Nancy Thayer of Lathrup Village.

The informative workshop for artists of all experiences is scheduled for 1:30-5 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 21, in the Livonia Civic Center Library Auditorium, Farmington Road and Five Mile.

Thayer will discuss "vital information that every artist needs to know." Topics include writing an artist's resume, how to maintain a studio, what not to put into a portfolio, what is tax deductible, the best way to keep track of expenses and alternate

"It is important in today's economy for artists to function in a businesslike manner. They must be able to keep records, pay taxes, use contracts as well as spend quality time in their studio. It takes an enormous amount of discipline," Thayer said.

"In addition, I'll be discussing the differences in writing resumes for artists. Resumes for artists are different than resumes for business. I'll also discuss alternate sources of income such as sales directly out of the studio, street fairs, and agents and representatives."

AN ACCOMPLISHED artist, Thayer received a Master of Arts Degree from Michigan State University and a Master of Fine Arts from Instituto Allende, Mexico.

She teaches at Center for Creative Studies in Detroit, as well as the Detroit Institute of Arts. Her work is currently exhibited at Rubiner's Gallery in West Bloomfield, Volid Gallery in Chicago and Windsor's Gallery in Boca Raton.

Thayer is curating an exchange exhibition between five Detroit area artists and five artists from West Germany for 1992. She is busy working in her Pontiac studio, developing a body of new work to exhibit next year.

Livonia arts commissioner Therese Jaye initiated the series of workshops and seminars for artists in 1989. Since that time, guest speakers have given information and tips on topics ranging from framing artwork to selling your art.

"Although they're artists, they are not familiar with marketing their work. We aim to give them an idea of how to market their work," Jaye said.

SINCE THE first art workshop two years ago, artists from Livonia, Plymouth Canton,

Farmington Hills, Birmingham and West Bloomfield have gained insight into the art

One of the local artists benefiting from the workshops is Canton resident Gwen Dietrich's first one-person exhibition, 'Dogs and Dames," at Nelson's Gallery in Livonia last March was so well-received, she is working toward a second one-person show in 1992. In February, new works by Dietrich will be exhibited at Livonia City Hall in a Livonia Arts Commission show.

"The workshops target specific ways to pursue goals as an artist," Dietrich said. 'Organization, recordkeeping, how to document and deduct art-related expenses are just some of the helpful hints that I learned by taking part in the workshops."

Dietrich, who works in pastel, colored pencil and watercolor, added: "I learned the importance of having my own studio, solely used for my art business as opposed to a corner of the bedroom. The painting that I've left the night before on the easel or drawing board compels me to get back to my studio."

THE FEE for "The Business of Being an Artist" is $5. The cost of the workshop has been underwritten by the Livonia Arts Com-

During a mid-afternoon break, refreshments will be served. Jaye said the arts commission prefers that artists planning to attend the workshop preregister by calling the Livonia City Hall Community Resources Center, 421-2000.

"The workshops are important because the networking is valuable to artists. For anybody interested, we will accept people at the door," Jaye said.

Even so, according to one local resident, most newcomers are forgetting an important accessory — one that existed long before aircushioned insoles

Lew Pleasant of Canton has been crafting walking sticks and hiking staffs by hand for the past several years. As his skills improved, he decided to display his work at local arts and craft shows, including the annual Plymouth Art in the Park,

A special education teacher with the Detroit Public Schools for nine months out of the year, Pleasant still considers his craft to be merely a hobby, a natural outgrowth of his fondness for annual Renaissance Festival in Holly one year that Pleasant saw firsthand what could be done with sticks and branches. Though the ones he saw at the festival were more on the ornamental side, they inspired him to begin finishing his own sticks.

We started having permanent sticks and we began taking our own favorites out on hikes. Then friends wanted sticks and we started giving them as gifts. That's when the idea came to me, just by going to craft shows, to start offering them for sale."

The process of crafting a walking stick or a hiking staff (the two are essentially the same, differing primarily in length) begins with the gathering of raw materials, namely branches from dead trees.

"I make note of local construction that's going on and where workers have uprooted trees," Pleasant said. "I don't use any exotic woods. I've discovered that some of the softer, lighter woods such as cottonwood, aspen and linden are very strong.

AFTER GETTING the chosen branches home, Pleasant cuts them down to the size he wants. Using only his knife, he then strips the bark off each branch, concentrating on one stick at a time. Once the wood is dry, Pleasant gets out his sandpaper

"I'll sand it down, moving from a coarse grit to a very fine grit to prepare the surface. Then the process of staining begins."

Pleasant feels each piece of wood has a character all it own and he can be very particular with each

"If I can get the look I want with just one coating of stain, then that's all I'll use. But that doesn't happen very often. I can apply as many as five coats of stain just to get a color that I'm satisfied with."

Once the staining is done and the stick is dry, Pleasant then decides whether he wants a satin finish or a "high-gloss" look. "Some people like a high lustre and some don't, so I try to give them a variety."

Since he sometimes applies up to six coats of all-weather varnish to a particular stick, a finished piece can take up to two weeks to complete

Though the labor involved is quite time-consuming, the cost is not reflected in the price he charges. None of his walking sticks or hiking staffs cost more than $35, and some of them are priced as low

"This really is only a hobby and I musn't figure the time spent in the price. There could never be enough money that would make it worthwhile on an hourly basis."

UNLIKE OTHER sticks he has seen that were merely for show, Pleasant hopes his customers will actually use his creations.

"You're saving wear and tear on your feet, your legs and your back by using a staff. You're actually coming off a longer hike less tired than you would be if you just walked, even though you're carrying a staff."

When giving advice on selecting a stick, Pleasant keeps it simple: "The only way a person can judge a stick is to handle it themselves and see how it feels."

If you don't want to wait until the 1992 Plymouth Art in the Park to buy a walking stick/ hiking staff, Lew Pleasant can be reached at (313) 981-5958.

Geer School, craft show, ballet dancer earn spotlight

ARTSY OBSERVATIONS:

 It stands as a spirited reminder of what a rural school and lifestyle were like a century ago.

Thanks to an enterprising team of volunteers, Geer, built in 1880 as the schoolhouse for the Geer School District, will reopen to fourth graders in Plymouth-Canton Community Schools this fall. When closed in 1982, Geer, part of Plymouth-Canton schools since 1965, was a two-room elementary school. Students will spend a week at a Aime at the reopened school, learning the way their counterparts might have in the late 19th century. But they'll ride the bus instead of trudging miles through snow to get there.

The first visitors will be Rita McClumpha's class at Hulsing Elementary School. She was the last to teach at Geer, named after the original school director, William Geer, Geer's new curriculum will focus on Plymouth, state and U.S. history in the 1880s. It'll include making crafts of the times.

"What started out as an effort to just save a historic building turned into a living history project," said Plymouth Township resident Janet Campbell, a Geer School preservation committee member. "I'm very excited for the kids. This will make history more real to them."

Private donations have generated $60,000 for restoring the red brick, one-room school, on Plymouth Road at Gotfredson, just inside Washtenaw County.

Improvements to the building, water damaged after it closed, include

"We're trying to get as much of an 1880s flavor as health, safety, fire and handicapped laws will allow," Campbell said.

Fulfilling a five-year quest, Geer School's boosters deserve to go to the head of the class for their unflagging commitment to enriching the quality of learning within Plymouth-Canton. An informative salute to Geer is Greenmead grounds.

Fund-raising aim: turn mill into arts center

By Linda Ann Chomin special writer

The Plymouth Community Arts Council has begun advance cam-paign activities for "Celebrate the which it hopes will raise $765,000 to convert one of Henry Ford I's water-driven industrial plants into a regional arts center.

Wilcox Mill Arts Center is envi-sioned as a cultural resource for all of the communities in western

Wayne County. The 68-year-old mill, known as the Plymouth Plant in Henry Ford I's day, will provide a spacious home for the Plymouth Community Arts Council, consolidating the Art Rental Gallery with educational and recreational programs. Total estimated cost for the renovation and planned development is $991,000. The arts council is responsible for raising $765,000.

Construction costs are projected at $685,000. Another $80,000 is needed for architectural fees and the estimated 3-percent costs of raising the money.

The Wayne County Parks Division plans to obtain grants for the re-maining $226,000 to renovate the mill grounds and surrounding park

"WE KNEW it would need a lot of work and that we needed to pull a team together to raise the capital funds," said Kathryn Savitskie, arts council executive director.

The Ann Arbor architectural firm of Quinn-Evans developed plans for Wilcox Mill. The firm is noted for historical restoration projects such as the Smithsonian Institution in Washington and the Old Wayne County Courthouse and Orchestra Hall in Detroit.

The arts council will raise 7 percent, or $55,000. Of that, $45,000 already is in the bank. Major corporations, businesses and individuals will be asked to contribute the remaining 30 percent, $230,000.

PLANTING COLORS

Cranbrook P.M. plans a fall morning at the Goldner-Walsh Nursery in Pontiac, where horticulturists will give help and suggestions for plantings to guarantee a continuous display of color for April and May.

The program will take place 10 a.m. to noon Thursday, Sept. 26. The fee is $12.50. A second visit to the nursery will be Saturday, Sept. 28.

For information and to register, call 645-3635.

Trees, shrubs, perennials and bulbs will be discussed. Samples of plant material will be available. Wear comfortable shoes for the nurserv tour.

PIANO TEACHERS

The Oakland Piano Teachers Forum will host its first meeting of the season Friday, Sept. 27 at Hammell Music, 15630 Middlebelt, Livonia.

The discussion topic: an update on piano manufacturing and a presentation of keyboard technology. Speak-

Laurel Park Place will host art show

Laurel Park Place will host a fine-art exhibit and sale Saturday-Sunday, Sept. 21-22.

Presented by the Livonia Artists Club and the Visual Arts Association of Livonia, the exhibit will include watercolors, oils, acrylics and multi-media presentations.

As an added attraction, fine-art demonstrations will take place during the show:

 Saturday, Sept. 21 — noon to 3 p.m., Eileen Bibby, watercolor, Irene Kallas, oils; 3-5 p.m., Al Weber, watercolor.

 Sunday, Sept. 22 — noon to 3 o.m., Audrey Harkins, watercolor, 2:30-3 p.m., Janice Benda, multiings have been exhibited at Laurel Park Place," said Marge Masek, Livonia Artists Club co-president. "Laurel Park Place will provide the perfect environment to highlight our members works of Livonia Artists Club was organized in 1960 to stimulate and encourage creative ability and individual talent in the arts. VAAL was formed in 1973 as a sub-group of the Livonia Arts Commission to promote the enjoyment of fine art.

Laurel Park Place is east of the I-275 Expressway at West Six Mile and Newburgh in Livo-ers will be Tim Hoy, president, and Pierre Fracalanza, pianist.

The business meeting is at 9:30 a.m. The program starts at 10. Lunch will follow. For reservations, call Marilyn MacFarland, 373-8108. The forum plans a learning and presentation program for 1991-92. Monthly meetings review the newest and most effective ideas in keyboard instruction.

Four assemblies will be held to allow students to meet each other and hear music performed by other boys and girls at different level of accomplishment.

The scholaship competition is open to all forum students. The recital in May allows young people to hear each other in the company of their families.

POLISH ART

Friends of Polish Art, in conjunction with Orchard Lake Schools, will sponsor the sixth anual Richard Kubinski Art Competition in October.

Artists of Polish descent born in Michigan or who now live here may enter new original work in any media. Prizes range from $25 to $250.

Welcome Aboard!

Sunday, Oct. 6 in the Galeria on the St. Mary's Campus, 3535 Indian Trail, Orchard Lake. The exhibition runs to Oct. 27.

Entries will be received 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 28. Call Johanna Bielecki for entry details: 581-4198.

• CHILDREN'S MUSIC

Music classes for children ages 4-5 will begin Oct. 1.

This is the Kindermusik curriculum that includes four 15-week semesters, each including playing instruments, listening, vocalizing, movement activities and writing and reading pitches and rhythms.

Openings exist for the tuesday AM class and the Wednesday early PM class. Call teachers Brenda Krachenberg, 453-9486, or Thomasine Preniczky, 420-2660 for more informa-

HOLIDAY GATHERINGS

If you're planning a holiday-sea-son event, we'd like to hear about it so we can consider it as a calendar item in our Gift Guide.

That annual special section comes out on Thanksgiving Day.

The listing should include the kind of activity or event, who's hosting it, the date, time and location, the admission charge, and the name of a contact person and phone number.

Mail listing information to: Special Sections Editor, Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150.

The deadline is Oct. 1.

O HOLIDAY MEMORIES

It's that time of year when we ask or readers to recount their fondest memories of Thanksgiving, Christ-mas, Hanukkah and New Year's those special memories that brighten these special holidays.

Send your reminiscences to us by Oct. 1. We'll consider printing them in the Gift Guide special section we'll publish on Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 29.

Submissions will be subject to editing. Because of limited space, please keep your memories to 250 words or less

Writers whose special moments are published will receive a snappy O&E nylon briefcase.

In submitting memories, include your name, address and daytime phone number. It's fine to include a favorite photo. Color is acceptable; just make sure it'll reproduce in black and white. We'll gladly return the picture if you note that you want. us to do so on the back.

Send your warmest reflections of the holiday season to: Holiday Memories, Special Sections Editor, Editorial Department, Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia MI 48150.

The kickoff reception is 2-5 p.m.

New novelist hits bull's-eye with whodunit

"Carpool" by Mary Cahill. 258 pp., Random House, $19.00.

Buckle your seatbelts and get ready for a fast and riveting trip with this set-in-the-suburbs whodunit from first-time novelist Mary Cahill.

A former pilot for a medical air delivery service, 35-year-old Jenny Meade is married, lives in the suburbs, and has three kids who, as suburban kids will, require care, feeding, and TRANSPORTATION.

One day, as a respite from trips to three different schools, the orthodontist's office, the dermatologist's, swim classes, music and art lessons track practice, the library, PTA meetings, etc., etc., the earthbound Jenny stops off for a stroll through the local cemetery - one of the few places, in her harried life, where she can hear herself think.

Meandering from gravestone to gravestone in a thick morning fog and alone with her thoughts, she stumbles into something.

Turns out, it's the very dead body of her neighbor, John Jensen, who has apparently hung himself from an old oak tree in the graveyard.

TURNS OUT, though, maybe John didn't kill himself after all. Turns out, apparently he was murdered instead, and Jenny Meade is going to be directly involved in tracking down his killer

As the inscrutable, semi-retired detective Tom Black Cloud sagely observes early on: "No single act (is) ever really a single act. One thing connects to the next."

The mysterious crime and its solution will eventually connect with Jenny's frenetic life on the road, her dream of one day returning to flying, her parents' death some 10 years earlier, John Jensens's wife and her family, other neighbors, the illicit affair of an unlikely couple, land developers, the U.S. government, even some soda pop cans littering a ditch.

Characters along for the ride here include Jenny's spelunking, "cave-man" husband, Berlie; assorted carpool passengers; the quiet bachelor, Black Cloud, who eats fettucine for breakfast because things like Rice Krispies, toast and bacon are like 'the 1812 Overture in your mouth, right up there next to your ears;" the ghostly, anachronistic Flower Lady; and Bart Stott, who's even mean in

OFTEN, NOVELS that are, by turns, funny, sad and sinister don't work all that well. But Cahill manages to pull everything off here almost without a hitch. True, things get a little cliched now and then. There's the suburban orthondontist, for example, suffering a mid-life crisis, driving a red Porsche, and having an affair with a blonde. A bad guy is "an old coot," or "weasely," or going "to hell in a handbasket."

Also, Cahill flits from one different viewpoint to another, so much and so abruptly that readers may feel a bit discombobulated at first. But ultimately, the action is the thing and, on that, Cahill delivers with finesse. If you're looking to be entertained, here's entertainment.

By the way, aspiring novelists will be especially heartened to learn that Cahill's debut novel was submitted unsolicited and unagented to Random House.

You can meet Mary Cahill at 1 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 21 at Borders Book Shop-Novi. She'll be signing copies of "Carpool," and drawing the winning name in the Easy Rider contest, conducted by Borders in connection with the release of the book and Cahill's visit.

Local realty managers earn national designation

By Doug Funke staff writer

The managers of day-to-day office operations at two area realty boards are among the first group of candidates to earn a new professional designation — Realtor Certified Executive - from the National Association of Realtors.

Arthur L. Mullen Jr., executive vice president of the Western Wayne Oakland County Association of Realtors, and Judy Waugh, vice president of the Rochester Board of Realtors, met experience requirements, then passed a six-hour exam to gain certi-

"The purpose is to increase professionalism and just give an extra professional development activity, something to strive for," said Julie Ann Read, leadership development manager for the National Association of Realtors.

Waugh, a Rochester Hills resident, has served as that board's top administrator for 10 years. Mullen, who lives in Livonia, has served his board for five years.

"I just believe it was the appropriate thing to do," Waugh said of her motivation for pursuing the certification. "It does say to the membership that we have reached a certain level of excellence. It underscores to me that I do have a working knowledge of the day-to-day process.

Mullen articulated similar

Judy Waugh

"BASICALLY, what it's for is to ensure and certify you are, in fact, excellent in your profession," he said. "It makes you aware of all the various facets, the complexities, of association management.

"No one can remember everything," Mullen said. "It (certification) gives you the opportunity to review material, bring it in focus and know where to go to get informa-

To take the exam, candidates had to have at least three years of experience as an executive officer or five years experience as a staff specialist for a Realtor organization.

Both Waugh and Mullen are highly regarded by the presidents of their respective boards

"It involves hours and hours of work and dedication even to go for that designation," said Nancy the real estate profession today and Howell, president of the Rochester board. "That's just like Judy to do something like this.

'She is probably the best execu tive officer this board has ever had," Howell continued. "She has a great personality. She's one in a million. She makes my job easy.'

We encouraged him to do it (certification) this year," said Allen C. King, president of the Western Wayne/Oakland Board. "He went at it and got it accomplished. I think that's fantastic.

"It's kind of like graduate training," King said. "You keep going on and getting better and better."

Executive officers who pass the exam must take continuing education classes to maintain their certifi-

Stormy waters for slip owner

We live in a marina condominium. One of the boat, owners adjacent to our slip has carousing parties at all hours of the night. The condominium association board won't do anything. I am wondering what we can do. I don't want to start an altercation with my neighbor.

Check your restrictions to see whether "improper, immoral, or obnoxious conduct" is expressly prohibited in the documents. If not, there may be a general catch-all clause that may apply. You should write the board of directors of the association advising them of the difficulty you are having and requesting that it take appropriate action to deal with the problem. I presume that you have already attempted to talk to your neighbor, but if not, a calm discussion may have some beneficial effect. If the board refuses to take action, you may have to seek legal counsel to provide you with remedies against the association and your recalcitrant boat slip neighbor.

A fledgling professional group, the Michigan Association of Certified Appraisers, will sponsor a half-day symposium to focus on the particulars of a state law that requires the licensing of appraisers.

The session, which runs 8:45 a.m. to noon Friday, Sept. 27, at the Sheraton Inn in Southfield, will consider several aspects of the law that takes effect Jan. 1.

The law imposes a licensing requirement on residential appraisers who take jobs from a federally insured savings and loan or bank. Licensees must complete at least 75 hours of classroom instruction, acquire 2,000 hours of experience and passed a state exam.

The symposium panel includes Judith Dennis, licensing administrator for the Board of Real Estate Appraisers; Kathleen M. Wilbur, director of the state's Department of Licensing and Regulation; and state Rep. Raymond M. Murphy, who sponsored the new appraisal legislation.

Fee for the symposium is $25 for charter members, $35 for regular members and $45 for non-members.

The Michigan Association of Certified Appraisers was established about four months ago as an educational and professional forum for persons interested in appraisal practice, theory and law.

With change in the law . . . appraisers I don't think appreciate what is happening," said Jon Gutek, a MACA founder, a certified appraiser, a lawyer and a certified public accoun-

"Our group thinks the time has come to pull the appraisal professional together and move toward professionalism," Gutek said. "Appraisers have been left out in the cold. You can call any college and get the accounting department. They don't have appraisal departments." Prospective members don't have to be appraisers.

For more information about the symposium or MACA, contact Gutek at 644-4343 or write the assocation at P.O. Box 4691, Troy 48099-4691.

MAKE THE MOVE NOW!!

THERE'S NO BETTER TIME TO BUY

If you've been thinking about moving from your current residence to the house of your dreams or from an apartment to a starter home, this is the time to do it.

- · The selection is excellent.
- · Low interest rates are available.
- · There are many financing options available.

Go ahead, make the move. Now is the right time to buy a home.

NOW is the right time to Buy a Home!

Purchasing a home has always been a wise decision, but current market conditions are making it even more attractive to buy now.

EXCELLENT FINANCING IS AVAILABLE NOW

Interest rates are lower, and mortgage lenders are offering a wide variety of financing options. Low interest rates mean you can get more for your money.

- · 30-year fixed mortgages are still available as well as many other financing alternatives.
- · First time buyers are encouraged to purchase now through financing packages offering small down payments.

YOUR HOME IS YOUR BEST INVESTMENT

Purchasing a home is the best way to build a solid financial foundation. A home not only provides you with warmth and comfort, it also serves as a secure investment.

- · Today, homes in the area continue to be a wise investment.
- · Equity in your home can be used as collateral, thus providing you with additional financial security.
- · Home ownership provides you with a sizable tax advantage because interest paid on mortgages is fully deductible. Property taxes can also be deducted.

Plain or fancy — How do you dress a model house?

staff writer

What you see is what you get? Truth in advertising?

So, exactly what's included in this

All the flash and excitement that goes along with models can be a cause for confusion for potential home buyers, according to Richard Komer, president of the Wineman & Komer Building Co. in Southfield.

Komer said during the last year he has noticed a trend in "dressing down" - more model homes will be base models without the frills.

Traditionally, a builder's model includes all the extras - more square footage, fancy trim work, upscale lighting fixtures, extra space, finished basements, better cabinets, skylights and larger bathrooms, to name just a few.

The problem, Komer said, is when a prospective buyer comes in to look at a model, it's difficult to discern what comes for the advertised price and what's extra.

"Let's say you have a $500,000 home with $250,000 in amenities you have a real stunning house, but when the buyer finds out what he sees is $750,000 (and the home was presented as a $500,000 home), the people are mad."

This strategy works just as well in the $100,000 homes as in the $500,000, he said. "People are doing a lot of comparison shopping, and if you have a home with all the extras, it's difficult to do that.'

KOMER SAID that he has tried two models - one dressed up and the other basic, but showing the extra features through displays and pictures seems to work just as well.

And if a buyer wants to purchase upscale features, his sales staff can

"A base model is still very nice. It may not have a hardwood floor entry, or top of the line cabinetry, or extra trim, but a base model should in no way be anything less than a complete home. Nor does it mean the home is undecorated. "We'll still have furniture, curtains, paint and wallpaper - we still want to show a home as some place lived in.

"We want them to walk out with a good impression.

Builders have traditionally dressed up models with luxury features, additions and upscale interior decorating to show buyers what options and upgrades are available,

Komer said he believes most buyers are aware that models are dressed up versions of the basic model but still doesn't make visualizing the basic model any easier.

While these models give a good idea of what a home's potential is, they don't convey what the buyer gets for the advertised price that brought the buyer to the development in the first place.

"If someone bought the model as presented, it would generally cost thousands of dollars more because of the added amenities," Komer said.

But having only basic models makes selling the extras more difficult. "We have catalogues, displays and pictures of what (the amenities) - it makes it a bit harder to sell the extras, but I think we have a better rapport with them."

ELLEN WHITEFIELD, marketing director at Selective Group in Farmington Hills, said a bare-bones, basic model breaks with traditional marketing strategy.

'That first impression is too im-

In the future, builders will be "dressing down" their models so buyers can see what the base price brings. If this base model living room at Boulder Park was the typical model of five years ago, it probably would have included skylights, more ex-

"We firmly believe a well-merchandised model is our best tool," Whitefield said. This often includes homes with extra amenities not found in the base model.

"But," she added, "if we advertise a home for (a certain price) that home is available." There may not be a model - although there often is a basic model - but there are at least detailed plans.

Whitefield stressed that model home strategy - building a home that is more than the basic model was developed to show buyers the possibilities - not to be misleading or confusing.

When a builder shows a model, he wants to show what can be done either what they can provide or what (the homeowner) can do later," she said. It's not uncommon that a buyer hase model

In a state like Michigan where housing is predominantly stick-built, builders live and die by lumber pric-

In recent months, builders have been cringing — if not dying.

If wholesale lumber orders are any indication, wildly fluctuating costs have resulted in some builders holding off on starts in hopes that the winter will bring lower lumber pric-

James Bonadeo, president of the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan, said builders are used to fluctuating prices, but this year seems worse than previous years.

I've found lumber prices have one wild," Bonadeo said. Bonadeo said he's not aware of local builders putting off projects until prices come down, but the fluctuating prices are having an effect on builders' cost estimations and bottom line.

When pricing a home, lumber costs make up roughly 15 percent of the total cost second only to land costs, he said.

'Rough lumber that would have cost me $14,000 last year, is costing $2,000 to $3,000 more this year," he "These costs are just being passed onto the buyer."

THE MAIN REASON builders have been given for the price increase, Bonadeo said, is acres of Pacific Northwest forest land are being preserved for the spotted owl.

'Well, it's true some of the blame belongs to the spotted owl, but some of the blame goes to the big lumber

Bonadeo estimated roughly 40 percent of the lumber used in this area comes form the Pacific Northwest - another significant portion comes from North and South Caroli-

If lumber prices are based on supply and demand, Bonadeo continue prices would have been much higher had it not been for the housing slump throughout the country

Bonadeo said local housing starts, while lower than last year, are significantly higher than other areas of the country

"We're doing just about as well — in fact, in the last two months things have been really moving."

BONADEO SAID it seems as if the companies that supply lumber to the wholesalers figured they wanted "x"

Rising lumber costs passed on to consumers amount of dollars, and they were going to charge that amount regardless of how much lumber they had.

"That's unconscionable," Bonadeo said. Bonadeo said he has even heard talk that - because a lot of lumber comes from government lands there could be a government investigation of lumber gouging.

The lumber increases are especially discouraging because the building industry is working so hard to contain costs.

But if supply is the reason for the increases, there is reason to believe that timber from other sources can help limit fluctuations in the future.

Now that the U.S.-Canadian free trade agreement is under way, Bonadeo said a growing proportion of lumber will come from Canada. Bonadeo also suggested that the United States could import a great deal of lumber from the Soviet Union in coming years.

FRANK RENNER, sales manager for Georgia-Pacific Corp. at the Toledo Distribution Center, said this has been a tremendously volatile year for the lumber industry.

Throughout the wholesale lumber industry, costs have increased, supplies have dwindled, lumber mills have closed and orders from retailers have dropped, he said.

"Even for people in the industry, (estimating prices) is very difficult," he said. "(This year) really caught us all by surprise.

Renner said he's been in the lumber industry for more than 20 years and few times have compared to this year. "Lumber prices were at a 10year low in late winter, early

"Then they went up drastically," Renner said.

Lumber costs continued to climb through late July when they started to drop off again. After falling for more than a month, lumber prices jumped slightly several weeks ago.

"Lumber trades like soy beans or any other commodity - more supply means lower prices and more demand means higher prices," he said.

Prices were low in the winter and early spring because the economy was slow and builders weren't buying, he explained. Prices were so low and business was so slow, in fact, that some of the lumber mills were either shutting down temporarily or going out of business.

WHEN DEMAND rose slightly in the spring - as it usually does be-cause of the seasonal building economy - lumber stock was quickly depleted and the lumber mills weren't able to get up and running.

That's why it took until July before the prices began to fall, Renner said. The recent increase was a result of more builders becoming optimistic and starting building projects.

The price increase wasn't as severe because many of the mills were operating and the industry was able to respond to the demand.

"When it gets cold in the next month, prices will begin to fall," Renner said, adding that late November and early December are always the least expensive time for

Renner noted that the builders may not have seen similar increases and decreases. 'This is what's hap-pening in wholesale; retail lags behind - retail prices reflect (the cost) of the last shipment.

"That's the simple answer," Renner said. The industry is slightly more complex than simple supply and demand. Lumber prices are also determined by how much land is being devoted to timber.

Growing environmental pressures that remove thousands of acres of timberland to preserve natural habitats are also causing price increases.

"But overall, people don't realize this, but over the last 15 years lumber prices - when you factor in inflation - haven't risen that much," Renner said.

AP - New home sales dropped 8.5 percent in July, the government said last week, raising doubts about whether the housing revival would be strong enough to lead the economy out of recession what the options are isn't going to ask for them, and may not even buy them if the builder points them out.

"If they see something they like, people will stretch themselves to the limit to get what they want," she said.

The one big plus behind the homes with all the extras is it will generate sales. Buyers may be put off by not being able to purchase all the extras, but they will be impressed by the home's possibilities.

"And occasionally, you'll get a person who wasn't planning on buying a house, but was so impressed with it, they decide to buy," Brandt

How a model — extras or not — influences a person depends on their finances, Brandy said. Some people shop for houses in their price range, some shop for houses below their price range, and some shop above their price range.

A basic home will appeal to someone shopping in a specific price range because they don't have to be concerned with figuring price differ-

A basic model, she added, may also help sell more homes in slower economic times when people have less to spend.

Some people look for houses below their price range because they intend to add the extras — in these cases, people want to see models with all the extras so they can choose what they want in their home.

"The best way would be to have two models," she said. That way, the builder appeals to both potential

Dust, rust top list of furnace enemies

AP — Tuning up your gas furnace is something you can do yourself in less than an hour with a few simple hand tools and a vacuum cleaner.

In most cases, the entire job consists of cleaning and lubricating the blower unit, and cleaning and adjusting the burner assembly ing the burner assembly.

This simple maintenance is your best front-line defense in the battle against the twin threats to furnace life and efficiency — dust and rust. As long as you stay clear of the control valve and limit switches and put back everything as you found it, there's little chance of error.

You can see if your burner is improperly adjusted by watching the burners in operation.

A standard gas furnace will have two, three or four burners, each with some sort of ignition crossover device. When the furnace starts, ignition should progress evenly from one burner to the next and without hesitation or a late flash. Once lit, the burners should operate with a steady blue flame.

If you see a burner-to-burner startup ignition that displays a noticeable puff and small flash, then gas is not moving through the crossover pieces that ignite each burner in sequence. In all likelihood, one of these crossover members is clogged with dirt or rust.

If you see a burner that doesn't ignite at all, or only puffs on and off sporadically, it's a good bet that the gas jet that feeds the burner is partially clogged with dirt or rust.

On the other hand, a burner that shows flame gaps along its length during normal operation suggests that some of the gas ports are clogged.

If you see a burner whose flame lifts off its ports, you can bet that the air mixture on that burner is too rich. Conversely, a flame that burns orange and lazy (wavering from side to side) means there's too little air in the mix. Before attempting to regulate the air intake the burner assembly should be cleaned.

Before working on the furnace shut off the electrical disconnect switch so the furnace can't come on. If there's no switch, turn the gas control from ON to PILOT. Then vacuum the inside of the cabinet.

To remove a burner for cleaning, remove the securing clip that holds the burner to the feed pipe. Then carefully lift the burner up and slide it out of its seat below the heat exchanger cell.

Once it's removed, turn it so the open end faces down, and tap the burner repeatedly on the floor or some other hard surface to dislodge rust particles inside.

If you've noticed gaps in the flames on that burner, poke a thin wire or small Allen wrench into each of the burner openings. Then tap the burner on the floor again. Finally, clean the openings in the crossover member with a thin-bladed knife and vacuum the entire chamber thoroughly.

To service the gas jet, back the entire jet from its threads in the feed pipe and then clean it with a thin wire or small Allen wrench. When the jet is cleared, thread it back into its opening until snug. No joint compound is needed.

Burners are adjusted usually by either sliding sleeves or rotating end caps to align their openings to a greater or lesser degree with openings on the burner.
