The silver purse was valued at $30 and contained $8 in cash.

She described the thief as 5 feet 10 inches, 160 pounds with brown hair

2 men arrested

Two men arrested by Novi police Friday are suspected in the theft of $230 in cigarettes Thursday from the Speedway gas station at 15255 Sheldon

In the theft at 6:05 a.m. Thursday, a manager said that while he was in the back room, he heard a man come in and take a rack with displayed cigarettes.

The thief got into a Blazer which drove away from the scene, according to the report filed with po-

Novi police later reported they had arrested two men in a blue Blazer after they stole cigarettes from a store there. Plymouth Township police suspect the men in the local theft.

Community college leaders are 'frustrated' over aid plan

Schoolcraft's Richard McDowell summed up the community colleges'

'In tough economic times, we're asked to do more retraining of work But we end up losing mon-

McDowell, Oakland Community College's Patsy Fulton, James Stevenson, formerly of OCC's Orchard Ridge Campus, and others used the word "frust ting" repeatedly Thursday before state legislators.

ON PAPER, it looks as if Gov John Engler wants to give Mich? gan's 29 two-year colleges $238 million in state aid - the same as this

And since Wayne County Community College's special subsidy is being cut $3 million and spread to the others, it looks as if most are getting a 1.4 percent hike.

But in reality, the colleges said, they're facing cuts because:

• Retirement costs are rising faster than state aid - from 9 percent of payroll at Schoolcraft last vear to 11.28 percent this year to 12.03 next year

We get $116,000 more (state money), but our increase in retirement costs is $175,000, so we end up losing $60,000," said McDowell, Schoolcraft's president since 1981. That's the equivalent of one full-time faculty member. Chancellor Fulton said OCC's net loss was $130,000.

• In troubled times, many workers head back to community colleges to upgrade job skills. Fulton said OCC's enrollment is rising at 4 per-

• By state law, assessments are being held flat this year. Any local revenue growth must come from new construction - if any. · Cities and townships give property tax breaks and create downtown development authorities to 'capture" new business investment. It's illogical," said Stevenson, now president of Muskegon Community College, "to take the money away from community colleges which do the training work. Half of my county is in a TIFA (tax increment financing authority) or a DDA.

'In tough economic times, we're asked to do more retraining of workers . . . But we end up losing money.'

- Richard McDowell S'craft president

'I don't worry about one-year property tax freezes. Hell, I've got it forever," Stevenson said

"NO QUESTION we'd have given more to community colleges - if we had it," said Gov. John Engler's budget spokesman. "The problem is one of protecting (what's there) rather than increasing," Doug Drake told the panel.

And if community colleges are being robbed by TIFAs, then they should bargain with cities for a share of those revenues since the colleges play the worker training role in the economic development drama.

Said Rep. Tom Mathieu, D-Grand Rapids, chair of the House panel: 'I'm of a mind to put something in (the budget bill) to reimburse community colleges for TIFAs.

That won't work, replied Sen. Harry Gast, R-St. Joseph, chair of the Senate panel. "The state's policy should include (reimbursing) counties, townships and cities as well as community colleges." Besides, said Gast, the budget already is $500 million out of balance.

'Don't reimburse us. Just exempt us," said David Moore, president of Mott Community College in Flint. Moore said TIFAs cost Mott the equivalent of $2 per-credit hour of

TWO-YEAR colleges, enrolling 225,000 students, say they're being treated like "second-class citizens" on the pension issue

The state is picking up university retirement costs, but not community colleges', said Jackson CC president Clyde Letarte, adding, "There's a sense that somehow we're less important than anyone else.

Drake replied that it was an accomplishment to get all 15 universities "in the same boat" this year."

Rep. Tom Scott, D-Flint, suggested colleges in the I-75 corridor be boosted more than the others because of heavy job losses

But he was quickly shot down by other lawmakers, who noted that western cities' job losses were proportionately as heavy. Said Gast: "I didn't feel any sympathy (from other parts of the state) when Clark Equipment and Whirlpool moved out of southwestern Michigan.

UNDER ENGLER'S budget, which probably will be amended over the next few months, the 1.4 percent increase would bring area colleges these total amounts in state

• Schooleraft - $8.4 million. • OCC - $16.7 million.

• Wayne County Community College - $13.6 million. WC3, however, loses $3 million from what used to be a special $10 million state subsidy because it had no locally voted property tax millage.

Sewer officials respond to allegations

The Free Press mis-report on the Western Townships Utilities Author-ity's sewer project misstated and mischaracterized a number of facts about the project, its environmental importance to the Rouge River, and its ability to save homeowners thousands of dollars over 30 years.

Reporter Joel Thurtell refused to let the facts get in the way of his story. His premise is that our communities — Northville, Plymouth and Canton townships — could have received the same services we are going to get from WTUA if we had stayed with the Wayne County-Detroit sewer system.

Wrong. When WTUA completes its project in 1994, our citizens will be assured of reliable, efficient, environmentally sound sewage disposal for years to come. By sending our sewage to the Ypsilanti Communities Utilities Authority Plant, we will be the first in Wayne County to come into compliance with the Rouge River Remedial Action Plan.

Super Sewer communities will still be polluting the Rouge River whenever it rains, through combined sewer overflows, and the Great Lakes, through the overtaxed Detroit Waste Water Treatment Plant.

Super Sewer communities will be getting bills in the years ahead to correct the CSO and Detroit plant problems. The cost to fix those maor problems is probably about $2.7 billion. Congressmen John Dingell and William Ford are trying to obtain federal money to help cover some of that bill, but homeowners in the Super Sewer system will end up footing most of it.

WTUA users won't be hit with those bills. That's why forward-looking leaders from several communities are contacting WTUA today, trying to join our system and escape the huge bills looming for all of those who remain in the Super Sewer

guest column

Along with his faulty premise, Thurtell made a number of factual errors in his story:

• Thurtell says WTUA started with a $17 million project. He never gives a source. As of 985 - more than a year before our townships formed WTUA - the engineering firm of Wade, Trim & Associates gave our townships preliminary construction cost estimates of $47 million to deal with Canton and Plymouth townships. After that estimate Northville Township was added, the state Department of Natural Resources requested changes adding significant costs, and additional capacity was added locally. Nobody involved in forming WTUA in December 1986 thought the project would cost $17 million. Our township officials have known the costs were going to be much, much higher than that - and well worth it for what we were going to get.

• Our sewer rates are not "at least twice as high as those of the 12 communities tied into Super Sewer." Our citizens using the Wayne County-Detroit system are paying be-tween $9.50 and $11.30 per 1,000 cubic feet of water used. People using the YTUA plant, where we will be sending our sewage, are paying $12.62. If Thurtell would have bothered calling Super Sewer communities, he would have found our sewer costs are in line with their rates today - Somehow, Thurtell thought he should compare the rate that homeowners pay to YTUA ($12.62) with the rate Wayne County charges cities ($4.77). That's comparing a retail cost to a wholesale cost. The Wayne County system cities still have to charge their homeowners for reading meters, repair costs and the like.

Once the Super Sewer cities start to pay to deal with CSO problems and the Detroit plant upgrades, rates will head higher faster. Meanwhile, our accountants say WTUA city rates will have to increase at about the rate of inflation to cover our

• That Wayne County wanted to charge our communities $25.5 million to join Super Sewer. The only way costs would have been that low is if our communities would have received federal grants to cover 55 percent of the costs. Just ask the people of Van Buren Township about those 55 percent grants. County officials told them they could get one if they joined Super Sewer. They joined but didn't get a grant. And there was a very good chance that our communities wouldn't have received those grants either. So the real cost of Super Sewer to our communities would have been $60 million.

• From sources he never again identifies, Thurtell says we would have received capacity of 52.35 million gallons a day in the Super Sewer system. With the current Super Sewer system in place, any effort to shove 52 million gallons of raw sewage into the pipes would have meant a huge portion of that would have ended up in the Rouge River. Such an overflow on a regular basis is illegal under state law. The DNR slapped our communities with a construction ban to try to limit our share of Rouge River sewage overflow before we set up WTUA.

In 1986, the supervisors of Northville, Plymouth and Canton Town-by now - decided that it made sen to pay a little more for a regional sewer system that dealt with all pollution problems, was environmentally sound, gave adequate capacity to our people, and would protect us from the huge bills that lurk in the Wayne County-Detroit system.

In taking care of our constituents we angered some powerful individuals. They wanted to hogtie us into Detroit's sewer system, with its long history of mismanagement, high costs and refusal to introduce stateof-the-art sewage treatment techniques, forcing our citizens to pay exorbitant sewer rates to clean up other communities problems. That may be good for Detroit, but it's not good for our citizens.

We found a better solution. The DNR calls WTUA "a win-win solution" for the environment. It's been hailed by the chairman of the Rouge River Cleanup Executive Steering Committee. We're doing our part to clean the Rouge River. We know what our costs are, and have them under control. Super Sewer com munities are waiting for the double whammy of CSO and the Detroit plant upgrade to smack them.

It's hard to believe that the Detroit Free Press really wants us to continue to send raw sewage into the Rouge River. It's hard to believe the Free Press doesn't want our citizens to have cost-effective sewage opera-

Where's Robin Hood?

The word sweep came to mind. Then the old King Arthur legend. The Sheriff of Nottingham had nothing on these guys.

Let's face it — most traffic tickets are issued to raise money to support a bloated court system, not to enforce the law. In most cases they are taxes levied on the public.

What worries me is that as government scrambles for fewer dollars in Michigan, the cops and judges will just start issuing more tickets and fining, excuse me, taxing people even more.

Those added taxes will come at a time when General Motors workers and others are either being laid off or worrying about it.

The reason the cops and judges can get away with having a bloated system is us. The public. We see pork barrel projects for what they are. But when it comes to cops and judges, we're blinded by the word crime. We don't want it, and it's the cops and judges who put the bad guys behind bars.

IN THE Plymouth-Canton area a third judge will probably be added to the 35th district court. The possibility has a legion of lawyers salivating at the judgeship, which pays nearly $100,000.

Court officials are quick to cite all kinds of statistics about case loads that they say justify the creation of the judgeship. They're probably right, if you just look at the numbers. The only trouble is the whole assumption is wrong.

The rate for serious crimes in Plymouth, Canton and Northville just isn't that high. And when it comes to one of the most serious crimes, murder, all the judges and cops in the state can't stop some guy from shooting his wife.

What makes the case load high for district courts are the run-of-themill traffic stuff and misdemeanors There's the drunk driving cases, too. But most of those folks need counseling, not a judge

Here's a partial list of cases from recent day in 35th district court: Careless driving, drunk driving, failure to stop for a school bus, zonn code violations, larceny under $100 hunting ordinance violation, motor carrier violation, disobeying a red 'light and expired vehicle plate.

CHANCES ARE those folks ended up coughing up some stiff fines. But do the payment of those fines protect us from a drunk driver, somebody who doesn't stop for a school bus or runs a red light? Chances are all those fines will do is support the court system. It's more money in the pockets of rich lawyers and civil servants.

It's a system that's as old as the Sheriff of Nottingham and chances are it won't ever change

The only thing we can do is see things for what they are. The next time you see a cop with some poor sucker pulled over on the side of the road, see it as somebody being taxed.

Where's Robin Hood when we really need him?

Don't blame Art in Park

To the editor:

"Art In The Park" took another negative hit in the O & E. In a story which discussed the exodus of businesses from Plymouth, Mary Higgins, owner of Land & Seas Gifts, is quoted as saying, "I also wasn't allowed to participate in Art in the Park for nine years."

This is a blatant untruth. Land & Seas Gifts was an exhibitor at Art in the Park for nine years. Mary goes on to say, "The person in charge of it didn't want local stores in it so I lost a lot of business that weekend. Those were losses I couldn't make up." The fact of the matter is that Land & Seas Gifts was not accepted to be a participant in Art in the Park only in 1991 because, over the years, they consistently violated Art in the Park Rules and Regulations. They repeatedly attempted to sell "manufactured goods." Art in the Park is not a flea market and strictly enforces its requirement that "All art and crafts must be original and handcrafted. No manufactured items will be al-

It is important to note that Art in the Park encourages all artists, and certainly welcomes local Plymouth retailers and business owners. Cloverdale Dairy, Penniman Deli, Maggie & Me, Old Village's D & M Art Studio, the Arts Council and the AAUW have all been welcomed as exhibitors. The Jaycees have had a booth and the Canton Soccer Team made enough selling soft drinks to buy new uniforms.

Art in the Park is making a $1,000 contribution to the Wilcox Project and has pledged the same amount for next year. We support Plymouth. Furthermore, it is difficult to understand why Land & Seas Gifts lost money during the 1991 event. Other retailers report increased sales during our weekend because Art in the Park draws tremendous numbers people directly into downtown Plym-

If Mary Higgins wants to move her business to a new community and a new location, it is certainly her prerogative. Blaming her slumping sales, however, on Art in the Park is ludicrous.

Schoolcraft offers MET looming as campaign issue

Now would be a bad market time to reopen enrollment in the Michigan Education Trust, says state treasurer Douglas Roberts.

He opposes a bill by state Rep. James Kosteva, D-Canton, to order the MET board to reopen the prepaid college tuition plan.

House Democrats are making it a campaign issue, saying Republican Gov. John Engler wants to scuttle any program with former Gov.

James Blanchard's name on it.

BUT ROBERTS, an Engler ap-pointee, said the market is bad "at

First, MET investments would earn only about 8 percent today, versus the 9.75 percent when MET was started three years ago.

Second, tuition hikes would continue to be around 7.6 percent, although some universities are talking about

double-digit increases

This leaves 0.4 percent margin, said Roberts. "Expenses to the trust include federal taxes paid on trust earnings and administrative costs. When you do the numbers, the trust ends up with a negative adjustment to the fund balance

THE BLANCHARD administration started MET with assumptions of a 2 percent spread between in-

The theory is that a lump sum invested by a parent now would earn enough compounded interest to pay a child's college tuition at age 18. Roberts said, "Until the investment climate improves and/or the state is successful in reversing the IRS ruling on the fund's federal tax liability, new contracts should be placed on hold."

Why is it that your doctor rarely recommends hospitalization even when your arthritis flares so that you can hardly care for yourself? yourselt? Hospitalization is in order when you can't and shouldn't move. While rest plays an important role in treatment of painful joints, it is a dictum in arthritis that you keep active. Having no undertake basic care such as bathing, toilet needs, and meals means you must move. In a hospital all these concerns are attended to by others. Another reason why hospitalization plays a small role in arthritis is that the medicines for treatment are taken by mouth. Injections into joints are best handled in doctors offices, and other therapy like heat can often be undertaken in the home and on a schedule suitable for you. Insurance companies are critical when such treatment appears as the primary reason for in-hospital admission. Often arthritis is a continuing condition. The need to accommodate in the home setting as the primary reason for in-hospital admission.

WHY NOT HOSPITALIZE

Often arthritis is a continuing condition. The need to accommodate in the home setting is more than a cost decision. Staying in familiar surroundings gives you an incentive to concentrate on adapting your daily life to the condition. This choice is better than relying on hospitals with their expense and inefficiency to somehow get you through periods of crisis. You are better off if you put your faith and effort into yourself.

Rocks win 3rd gymnastics title in row

Kim Rennolds of Canton won the all-around championship at

staff writer

Mascots are supposed to bring their teams good luck.

In that regard, Milton has done his share to help the Plymouth Salem girls gymnastics team Milton, a giant stuffed rabbit and casualty of the post-meet celebra-tion after he was tossed off the crowded victory stand, got much of the credit for the Rocks winning a third consecutive Western Lakes Activities Association championship

Thursday. Without Milton we wouldn't be anything," Salem's Alysia Sofios said. "He goes to every meet with us. He's our inspiration.

"He's the heart and soul of our team," said a teammate. "Milton is like a god," proclaimed yet another.

☐ WLAA statistics, Page 2B

OTHER THAN Milton, there was nothing phony about the Salem victory. The top-ranked Rocks were expected to win again and did so by scoring 145.85 at Westland John Glenn.

Plymouth Canton made the final tally closer than expected with a school-record 143.40 and was a solid runner-up. North Farmington scored 140.70 to finish in third place and-was followed by Glenn, Northville, Farmington and Walled Lake West-

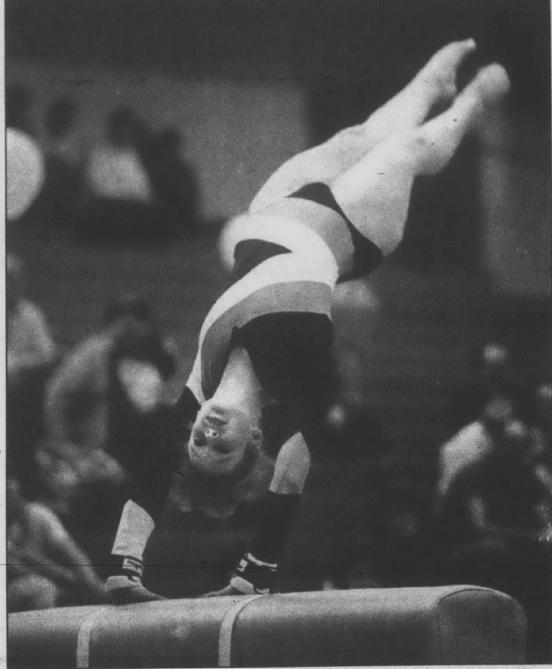

It's been quite a run of success for first-year Salem coach Becky Martin, who was previously an assistant at Canton. The Rocks have been No. 1 in every meet and invitiational.

"This team is fun; I like being the coach of this team," Martin said. 'We were pretty consistent, but bars was the high point of the day. We had a great day on bars.'

Salem achieved a record 37.55 on bars, taking four of the top six places. Melissa Hopson was first, Sofios second, Courtney Gonyea fourth and Stephanie Skeppstrom sixth.

The WLAA's top gymnast is Canton junior Kim Rennolds, who won the all-around title with a schoolrecord 37.10, breaking her own mark

Courtney Gonyea finished in third place on the vault Thursday and was Salem's top all-arounder, tying for second with a 36.20 score.

Chiefs clobber Spartans in WLAA hoop

By Neal Zipser staff writer

Plymouth Canton took awnile to get going Friday but advanced to the Western Lakes Activities Association haskethall semifinals with a 71-55 stomping of visiting Livonia Stevenson.

the WLAA finals with an overall total of 37.10.

With a total of 61 fouls called and 66 free throws shot, Canton's 13th consecutive victory didn't come close to setting any records for speed, but was good enough to set up a showdown with rival Plymouth Salem.

The Rocks, 77-56 winners over Westland John Glenn, will play host to top-seeded Canton at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday. The Chiefs improved to 15-3 overall and have won all 12 games against league opponents this year.

"It was a very physical game," said Canton center
Tony Coshatt, who scored 12 points and collected 15 rebounds. "The referees called everything in the first two quarters. They were very long quarters."

Canton converted 32 of 48 free throws (67 percent) as the Spartans were called for 31 fouls. Stevenson was

"STEVENSON IS a very aggressive team, and we took advantage of their aggressiveness by sinking our free throws," Canton coach Dave Van Wagoner said. This was a great win for our program. We took care of businesss tonight."

The Chiefs also dominated under the boards, ripping down 55 rebounds to Steve Jon Paupore poured in 15 points and led four Chiefs in double figures. Owen Crosby added 12 points and 13 rebounds, and Derrick McDonald had 13 points and eight ssists. Hal Heard collected 10 rebounds.

Matt Grodzicki paced Stevenson with 15 points. Guard Ryan Furkas and Mike Joseph added 12 and 11 points, respectively.

The Spartans, 9-9 overall, stayed close early with a three-point shooting display. As Coshatt scored at will underneath the basket, Grodzicki and Tony Stojov bombed away to keep Stevenson close at 13-12 late in the first quarter.

The game resembled the earlier meeting between the two squads in which the Spartans led 14-11 before losing Canton switched its zone defense to a man-to-man and proceeded to go on a 23-4 run over a five-minute period. As shots failed to fall for Stevenson, the Chiefs spent a good part of the first half at the charity stripe.

THE SPARTANS struggled against the man defense st of the first half and Canton led 38-20 at

"We decided to give them a different look," Paupore said. "They're a great outside shooting team and we may have confused them."

"We tried to switch up the defenses and go in and out from the man," Van Wagoner said. "We decided to start in the zone and see if they gave us problems — and they did. Stevenson is a very good outside shooting team. Our man (defense) was our ticket tonight.

"The kids have done a great job of playing defense. It's defense, rebounding and shot selection that win championships. Stevenson began the third quarter with a 7-2 run that closed Canton's lead to 40-27, but that was as close as the Spartans got to the Chiefs.

The Spartans employed a full-court press that gave the Chiefs fits for most of the third quarter. Canton committed nine turnovers but remained in control of the game by making most of its free throws.

MCDONALD MADE all eight of his attempts and guard Mike Brennan was 7-for-8 at the stripe in the second half. The Chiefs played without guard Mike Stafford, who sat out after being ejected from a game against Livonia Franklin last week 'We've pulled together as a team," Coshatt said. "We understand that if we go into a game and play like we have been we'll win. But we won't get big heads; I won't Salem blew an 11-point lead in the season's first meeting between the two Plymouth squads, as Canton used late-game heroics by McDonald and escaped with a 67-64, come-from-behind win. The Chiefs are looking forward to the rematch.

"It will be a great game," Paupore said. "There's going to be a lot of talking (at school), but we'll be ready for them.'

Schneider leads Salem to victory

The Rocks, who improved to 12-6 overall, will host Plymouth Canton, a 71-55 winner over Livonia Stevenson, in the WLAA semifinals on "The key to winning was our de-fensive intensity," Salem coach Bob Brodie said. "We did a good job on the defensive end. They are a perimeter shooting team, so we wanted to contest every shot and keep them off the offensive glass.

"I was pleased with how we played tonight. We've been a roller coaster-type team all year. It's been up and down. We didn't play well against Southfield on Tuesday (a 65-56 loss) and we came back and played well. Making the semifinals was the important step."

Salem beat John Glenn earlier this season, 65-64, in double overtime.

TWO OTHER Salem players were in double figures — sophomore forward James Head scored 15 points and Mike Slone chipped in 11 points.

Junior center Ken Taylor led

Glenn with 16 points, while junior forward John Miller added 13 points. The Rockets' leading scorer, senior guard Micah Orr, was held to six

"Tm very disappointed we didn't rise to the occasion," Glenn coach Pat Bennett said. "They basically clammed up. I think Salem came ready to play and we were flat-foot-ed defensively.

Blohm receives coaching honor

Bob Blohm would prefer to remain out of the spotlight, but fellow members of the Michigan Basketball Coaches Association decided otherwise when they named him Class A Coach of the Year in girls basketball.

Blohm guided his Plymouth Canton team to second place in the Western Lakes Activities Association, the state semifinals for the second time in three years and a 21-5 record last season.

"I find it a little embarrassing, really," Blohm said, regarding the award.

"I find it a little embarrassing, really," Blohm said, regarding the award.

"The coach is more of a background person. It's his job to help the players get ready and, on game day, it's their day.

"I enjoy the coaching, teaching and practices, and that's what I look forward to. I enjoy watching the kids work hard and go through the developmental process to get to the level they want to."

BLOHM, WHO is 56-17 in three years as the Canton coach and 179-42 overall, thinks of the honor as a team award, sharing it with assistant coaches Carol Gerulis, Mike Shay and Leigh Langkabel and his players.

"I think you have to look at the team and coaching staff and say "They

"It's a shared award. I'd rather have the team recognized in the end. That's really what it's all about.

The Chiefs were 2-2 early in the season, then won 14 of their last 16 regular-season games, losing twice to WLAA champ Plymouth Salem. Canton won its next five in the post-season tournaments before losing to state champ Detroit King in the Class A semifinals.

With many players on the '91 team returning, the Chiefs will be a team to watch next season, also.

"This group of kids works hard to prepare themselves, so I think they're going to want to continue on," Blohm said. "But it's not going to be easy. The challenge is always going to be there regardless of how many good players you have coming back."

Tve never scored that high in my life," said Rennolds, adding she thought she would be somewhere in the top five. "I think I flowed through my (bars) routine better. It wasn't as choppy. I was clean on everything. I stuck my beam routine, but I've done better vaults."

BARS MADE the difference for Rennolds, according to Canton coach John Cunningham. Rennolds scored 9.3 and placed fifth on bars, and she was sixth on vault (9.2), second on balance, beam (9.3) and third on floor exercise (9.3).

"Bars was the routine she did better, that got her the score to move her up," Cunningham said. "She has scored higher in each of the other events, but that was her season high for bars.

"She was extremely consistent, and that's what you have to do to get a high all-around in this meet."

North Farmington freshman Annie Jud won the league championship on vault (9.5), Hopson on bars, Glenn's Lori Trussler on beam (9.4) and Salem's Courtney Gonyea on floor (9.5).

Trussler and Gonyea tied for secd in the all-around competition, North's Jameelah Gater was fourth and Glenn's Kyna Morgan fifth.

Despite two falls on beam and finishing 20th in that event, Gonyea managed to have a good meet none-theless as she placed among the top five in the other three.

Salem's Sofios and Hopson did not compete as all-arounders because they missed practice Wednesday but entered two and three events, respectively. Sofios was second in both while Hopson had first, second and fourth places.

"BOTH GIRLS are of great importance to the team, but we have enough depth that we can work around that," Martin said.

Salem also had the top scores on vault (36.75) and floor (36.70) - both strong suits for the Rocks - while Canton was best on beam with a Salem's Sarah Makins, and Skeppstrom were key contributors, tying for sixth and finishing ninth among the all-arounders, respectively. Canton's Jenny Tedesco, who tied for sixth, equaled her personal high with a 35.50 total.

WLAA divisional awards also were presented at the conclusion of the league meet. Salem was the Lakes Division dual-meet champion and Canton the Western Division

Lectka to coach Eagles

Tracy Lectka was the youngest person to apply for the Redford Thurston girls softball coach's job and she didn't have nearly as much coaching experience as the other five applicants.

But there are two things the Thurston administration could not overlook:
Lectka is the daughter of Ron Lectka, who coached the Eagles the last several years before dying of cancer last November, and she is a former allstate pitcher from 1986 Class A state champion Livonia Franklin.

Although Tracy never acted as an 'assistant coach under her father, she helped from time to time at practice with proper pitching techniques.

"Tracy has worked with her father with the young ladies the last four years, the players know her real well and she knows them real well," Thurston coach Jim Urick said. "She's kind of like going to finish what her dad started. Tracy knows the game, understands what it feels like being on the mound in a tight situation, and what it takes to be a winner."

TRACY KNOWS being the daughter of the former coach had much to do with her hiring

"One hundred percent, they even told me so," she said. "I was ecstatic, surprised and shocked, actually, because I don't have any actual coaching experience. But just being a former player is an advantage. I just finished playing six years ago."

Lectka, who said she still has trouble dealing with her father's death, will take over a team that has won two Class B district titles the last three years and returns at least seven seniors.

Among the top players Lectka can rely on are senior shortstop Michelle Birchmeier, one of Observerland's best infielders, and outfielder Carolyn Nagel. Pitcher Sue Drotar, who was 18-7 last year as a junior, also returns.

CC wins 3-2 over Richard

Redford Catholic Central held off host Riverview Gabriel Richard in a Michigan Metro Hockey League en-counter at Wyandotte's Yack Arena

CC finished in third place in the West Division of the Metro at 9-4-1. The state-ranked Shamrocks (15-4-1) outshot Richard 40-22.

Pat Casey scored CC's first goal at 5:54 of the opening period from Mike Giordano and Joe Blaznek.

At 9:41 of the second period, Giordano scored from Mike Seiler and Vic Stesiak to make it 2-0. Jeff Helner then added an unassisted, short-handed goal at the 11-minute

The Pioneers closed the gap to 3-2 on a pair of goals by Brian Scantam-byrlo at 13:24 of the second and 4:57 of the third.

Mike Brusseau worked the first two periods in goal for CC and Jamie Ronayne finished up.

Eleven million people in the U.S. have diabetes. But almost half of them don't know it.

Untreated, diabetes can lead to heart disease, kidney disease, blindness and gangrene.

And for 150,000 people each year, it leads to death.

That's why you should be aware of the symptoms of diabetes: blurred vision, excessive thirst and frequent urination are just some of the warning signs. Because the sooner you find out if you have diabetes, the more likely you are to get it under control, before complications set in.

Finding out you have diabetes can be scary. But not finding out can be fatal.

Fitzpatrick sparks Harrison to victory

By Dan O'Meara staff writer

Andy Fitzpatrick led the Farmington Hills Harrison football team to an unbeaten season and state championship as its quarterback last fall.

So when basketball coach Mike Teachman needed someone to take charge in a tight game with visiting Northville, he tapped Fitzpatrick's leadership skills Friday night.

The 6-foot-4 senior forward responded with 23 of his career-high 25 points in the second half as Harrison broke a halftime deadlock and pulled away to an 83-75 victory in the Western Lakes Activities Association playoffs.

"We're basically feeding off (football coach) John Herrington," Teachman said, meaning the Hawks got "the ball in the quarterback's hands and let him make good decisions. When he got the ball at the top of the key, he made good decisions as to what he was going to do with it.

"In the second half, I went to the guy who's been here three years. That's the investment you get from keeping a sophomore on the varsity. When he's a senior, he saves you a couple timeouts and makes good decisions on the fly.'

NORTHVILLE USED an aggressive, 1-2-2 defense with a half-court trap and put pressure on the Harrison guards the entire game. Teachman moved Fitzpatrick from the low post to help break the press in the second half, and the veteran forward took charge once he got the ball from the guards.

Fitzpatrick, who sank nine field goals and was 5-of-8 shooting free throws in the second half, made an assortment of layups. He pivoted in the post and used a power move to the hoop, scored off rebounds or drove the baseline for reverse layups if he didn't kick the ball out to the

"I had foul trouble in the first half and couldn't play as aggressively,' Fitzpatrick said. "I only had two (at halftime), so I could play more aggressively in the second half.

It's a little difficult to get fouls and take the ball to the hole and be aggressive. I made sure I didn't get a third foul in the first half and saved a little energy for the second half. Things started going well and the adrenaline started flowing."

Harrison forward and 6-2 senior Duante Anderson also played a key role in the Hawks breaking away from a 37-37 halftime score as he counted half of his eareer-high 20 points in the second half.

Mike Pesci added 14 points for Harrison (14-4), which plays at Walled Lake Central in the second round Tuesday night, Dan Hight 11 and Paul Gilvydis eight.

"WE DIDN'T move in our defense," Northville coach Omar Harrison said. "When you don't shut down the middle man, that defense breaks down.

'(Fitzpatrick) is an aggressive kid. We knew he would attack the boards, so it didn't surprise me that he'd do that. It doesn't help that (Anderson) comes in and gets that many, and you don't expect him to do that."

Anderson, who got a scholarship to Bowling Green in football, is a sleep er in terms of his untapped and still-developing athletic skills, Teachman

Anderson, who moved into the Harrison district as a sophomore and got a late start that year on the JV basketball team, also had eight assists and seven rebounds. Pesci had 14 rebounds to lead the Hawks, Gilvydis 12 and Fitzpatrick six.

"If he's not the best pure athlete in our league, then he's tied with somebody," said Teachman of Anderson. 'It's been a joy to watch him develop. The amazing thing is he has a 6-1 body and he's up there with the

With Fitzpatrick and Anderson flying to the basket for layups in the third quarter, Harrison jumped to a 10-point lead and was up 57-48 at the end. They had four and three field goals in the third, respectively.

"In every game we've lost, including the first time we played Harrison, we've had a bad third quarter,' Harrison said. "We've been averaging 11 points in the third in games we've lost and 16 in games we've

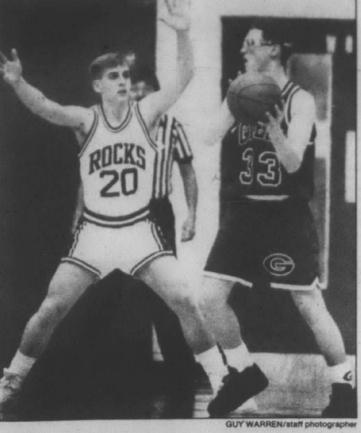

IN THE FIRST meeting, the Hawks outscored Northville 29-10 in the third quarter after leading 30-29 at halftime and eventually routed the Mustangs 74-53.

Not only was the score tied Friday, but the first-half shooting was nearly even. The Mustangs made 16 of 37 attempts, Harrison 15 of 37. But the Hawks were 10-of-19 for 53 percent in the third quarter while Northville dropped to 5-of-18 for 28 percent.

Harrison, with Fitzpatrick scoring another 15 points, also had a good fourth quarter and was 18-of-35 in the second half, the Mustangs 16-of-

The Hawks also created a favorable free-throw situation with their aggressive moves on offense. Harrison was 10-of-14 in the fourth quarter and 16-of-23 overall, the Mustangs 8-of-17.

"We created free throw situations when we were not in the bonus with Anderson and Fitzpatrick," Teachman said. "I looked up and the fouls were seven against us and three against them. That's when we started going to the line on our drives."

Salem scored six straight points on a pair of free throws by senior center Mike Abraham and two layups by Slone that put the Rocks up 63-49 with 2:52 left. Salem outscored Glenn 10-2 in the last 1:20 to secure the win.

"We dictated the tempo with our defense," Brodie said. "We played some man-to-man and some (matchup 2-3) zone. We knew we needed to do that (control the tempo) in order for us to win. They couldn't get in

Hickman tries to rebound at Liberty

By Brad Emons

staff writer

Parish Hickman said "I'm willing to forgive, but not forget.'

Now reunited with former Redford Bishop Boress High teammate Cordell Robinson at Liberty University in Lynchburg, Va., the former All-State basketball player Hickman is trying to get his life back together after being acquitted Nov. 27 of federal drug charges.

Hickman, who played three seasons at Michigan State, was charged, along with three other men, for trying to sell 2.2 pounds of cocaine to an undercover drug agent for $28,000 on the East Lansing campus last April.

He was ultimately acquitted of all charges and is now suing MSU after being refused readmission. MSU officials said Hickman, who sat out two quarters (semesters), did not have enough credits (under NCAA rules) to remain eligible for his final

The 6-foot-7 forward, who started seven games last season as a junior, averaging six points per game, thought we would regain his athletic scholarship after being exonerated following his trial last fall in Grand Rapids.

"It's sad to think that after all the time you put in, then they turn their backs on you," said Hick-man. "I tried as hard as I could to be reinstated, but they told me to leave.

"I SAID to myself, 'Why run and hide when you're innocent?' I was warned that I'd probably catch a lot of abuse if I came back to play (at MSU), and that people would talk behind my back and crack jokes. But I'd be immature to let that affect me

"Basically I was railroaded. Other guys (MSU athletes) who were in trouble with the law were allowed to keep going to class. I couldn't believe it, especially after the way they treated a guy like Scott Skiles. There's definitely a double standard.

(Skiles, a former All-America guard at MSU, now with the NBA's Orlando Magic, pleaded guilty to drug possession charges, but remained in chool and on the MSU squad.)

Hickman said he got little support from the MSU coaching staff or his MSU teammates during

Eagles win 3rd in row Plymouth Christian rallied in the second half Friday to defeat host Red-

Jason Neil led the Eagles (4-13), who posted their third consecutive victo-but a more startling figure prevailed St. Agatha. The Aggies committed 38 turnovers in losing for the 14th time in 16 outings. St. Agatha also hurt itself at the free throw line, making only five of 10 attempts.

BISHOP FOLEY 77, BORGESS 50: Redford Bishop Borgess fell to 9-8 overall Friday night with an embarrassing loss at Madison Heights Bishop Foley. The Spartans face Saginaw Buena Vista on the road Tuesday, and coach Mike Fusco frets about that trip.

"If we play like we did tonight, we'll be in for a real long ride," Fusco said. "We had a string of five or six good games, but the bottom fell out tonight.

We did not come to play."

Lamar Westbrook led Borgess with 12 points.

Every dog has its day. . and then some

By Sue Mason staff writer

It's safe to say Erik Bergishagen will be dog tired come Sunday eve-

By then he will have watched 3,400 dogs primped, pampered and paraded around the show rings of Cobo Hall by some 7,000 breeders and handlers. He will have watched 110 vendors peddle everything from books to antiques to dog goodies and jewelry and watched a hoped for crowd of more than 40,000 canine enthusiasts ooh and aah over 134 recognized breeds.

For Bergishagen, Sunday will be the culmination of a year of work putting together the 74th Detroit Kennel Club all-breed dog show and obedience trial. It's the fifth year he has reigned over the largest oneday benched dog show in North America as the president of the

"I sort of work on this all year round," said Bergishagen, breeder of Labrador Retrievers and owner of Jagersbo Kennels in Troy. "I do bits and pieces of it if not everyday at least twice a week.

It takes that kind of effort, if you want to "put on one hell of a dog show." But that's not to say Bergishagen works like a dog on it. He's the first one to admit that it's not a one-man operation.

There's his brother Finn, the show chairman, who manages a show that covers 600,000 square feet of the Cobo Conference/Exhibition Center. Working from a blueprint, Finn makes sure the rings, stands and bench areas are ready and waiting for the dogs and handlers that will begin arriving Satur-

It's no easy task, when you consider the "umpteenth number of trophies" the specialty clubs provided. A case in point is the Midwest Borzoi Club which has come up with more than 150 prizes for the show.

And while Ginny's busy with trophies, husband Frank is busy with money as the DKC treasurer.

"We all work very well together to make the whole thing work," Bergishagen said.

The DKC show is among five-six major shows in the country, falling in behind the "top dog," the West-minster Kennel Club Show at Madison Square Gardens. The DKC show got its start in 1916 at the State Fairgrounds, but didn't come to the forefront until it moved to Cobo 28 years ago.

But the show also is to entertain. There will be herding demonstrations With ducks or geese rather than sheep — and a Grand Prix jumping event, a precision drill and square dance teams, rocket relays and agility time trials that demonostrate canine energy and skill.

Clams! tune in to music

By Larry O'Connor staff writer

Bassist and vocalist Dave Giovannucci originally wanted to name his band's debut cassette "Love Mussel Explosion." But remaining members of Happy As Clams! thought the idea was half-baked.

Ha, ha. Chuckle, chuckle . . . ugh er, never mind.

"There's a lot of puns with a name like Happy As Clams!," said Giovan-We hit the gold mine on

But Happy As Clams! members want to hit on the fact that the band is more than just fun and puns. They mean business.

Otherwise, releasing a nine-song cassette would be a colossal waste of time, not to mention money. "Happy As Clams!," a nine-song effort, is neither. Rather it's a 1970s power pop pageantry devised of intricate rhythms and melodies also featuring an inflection of diverse styles from reggae to jazz to R&B.

Lyrically, the songwriting tandem of guitarist and vocalist Terry Hopman and Giovannucci continually strives for a literary higher ground, deeming their final product along the lines of "thought pop.

THE REAL PROPERTY WITH THE PARTY WAS THE PARTY OF THE PAR

Heady stuff, especially when Giovannucci recites the authors who have inspired him to write songs such as Victor Frankl and Milan Kundera. The bassist who's only a few weeks away from a doctorate in biology does so without a whiff of erudite pretension.

OF COURSE, Giovannucci adds, a fractured relationship or two have also been the source of the some of the reoccurring themes in the Happy As Clams! numbers.

Songs and friendship were at the enesis of the band, which had its debut in June 1990. Prior to that, Hopman and Giovannucci met in their early teens as students at Austin Catholic Prep School. Both had per-formed in different bands, but kept writing songs together.

Finally, they formed Happy As Clams! as a serious vehicle in an effort to let those collaborative efforts be heard. The original lineup included George. Schuster on guitar and Dan Dureki on drums. Both left, with Enter Jason Hinz, formerly with Bugs Beddow, and Shawn O'Brien on drums, both of whom Giovannucci credits with adding a new dimension to the band's overall sound. Hinz, in particularly, has been able to bring cool textures of jazz and R&B to the Clam musical dip.

"He knows what sounds good,"

Giovannucci said.

Live, the bassist contends there's no other band that sounds like Happy As Clams! He may well be right.

OPENING FOR Park the Karma awhile back at Exit Club, the outfit came across as somewhat hipperthan-thou but wholly earnest and entertaining with a tight progressive pop fusion set.

The term "alternative" may be applied loosely here. Actually, the outfit owes more to the keyboard-laden sounds of the genteel corporate rock run of the late '70s.

"Terry and I grew up listening to Pink Floyd, Styx and Foreigner," Giovannucci said. "He still likes it, but I can't deal with them. It still comes out in the music."

What wasn't fully coming out in live settings, though, was the band's commitment to thought-provoking lyrics. The tape, which was self-produced and recorded at Studio J in Grosse Pointe Woods, should rectify that and possibly open the Clams to

With no money down, Giovannucci shares the roots of the band's rather unforgettable moniker. Turns out, the name stems from a car excursion when he and a long-lost cousin were driving out east near Boston.

"We drove by a sign that said, 'fresh clams,' and then at the same time she said, 'We're just happy as clams to be together again.' It stuck its sleeve. Like the Scottish "Local Hero" a decade ago, this often magical movie hums along beautifully on the strength of its quirky characters

Micky, played by Adrian Dunbar, is a scruffy, amiable young concert promoter who books a man he beeves to be the famous Irish tenor John Locke. When he discovers he's been duped, Micky takes off to discover the real McCoy.

Reports vary on which Irish county Locke now calls home. It's common knowledge that the singer, based loosely on real-life tenor Josef Locke, fled the spotlight when the taxman came calling.

Micky, who easily talks a friend into taking the journey with him, is first to admit that "we're in the middle of a shaggy dog story." The re-sults are a mixture of clever dialogue, musical interludes and inventive sight gags worthy of Buster Micky's vain attempts to befriend the singer lead him to a livestock auction, where he innocently outbids Locke (Ned Beatty) for a prize cow. He shows up at Locke's house, the animal in tow, and leaves it as a peace offering.

THE COW returns unexpectedly when Micky drops heavy stones down what the locals consider a bottomless well. One of these weights is chained to the cow, which is pulled quickly toward the yawning pit.

The scenery plays a major role here. You get the feeling that anything can happen in the magic world of lush green fields and dramatically pitched cliffs.

While director Peter Chelsom deserves ample credit for maintaining this mood, Beatty is the real miracle of "Hear My Song." The portly character actor, his curly head resting on a frog's puffy neck, has earned his bread and butter primarily through undignified roles.

He's earned the chance to play a man that's not only revered but also quite romantic, having broken hearts across the continent during his heyday in the 1950s. In fact, it's one of the women he left behind that encourages him to return once more to

IN MANY ways "Hear My Song" is the closest thing you'll get to a modern movie musical. Characters regularly break into song at the drop

There's an irresistable moment aboard the ship returning Locke to England where he and his ragtag band of elderly musicians perform the title song. As an added plus, the tunes possess a jazzier quality than I remember from more traditional Irish ballads.

While it's obvious that Beatty doesn't do his own singing, you can easily put down your guard - as you have to do quite often in this movie and imagine the deep, sweet sounds coming from his barrelshaped gut.

Tower City breathes life into downtown

By Jennifer Stoffel New York Times Syndicate

ot unlike a number of cities, Cleveland has been waging an ambitious campaign to keep people and busin downtown. And, despite the pull of the suburbs, it has in many ways

A walk through the $400 million renovation of the landmark Tower City complex covering 34 acres in the center of the city will challenge any visitor who imagines this downtown is dead.

The central commuter rail station has been completely renovated and the interior of the 62-year-old Terminal Tower now includes a four-level retail mall elegant enough to lure the likes of Gucci, Barney

New York and Bally of Switzerland. In the works for nearly a decade, the Tower City complex opened at Christmas 1990 to nearly as much skepticism as acclaim. Yet it has brought people back downtown - to dine, shop, see a movie or just take a ride up to the top of the 52-story tower, with its view of the city, the river and Lake Erie.

A few blocks away the lavishly restored Art Deco Playhouse Square theaters regularly draw crowds for opera, ballet and traveling performances. Built to house vaudeville in the 1920s, the Palace, State and Ohio Theaters have been renovated and revived. And night clubs and restaurants line the Cuyahoga River. Ground is being cleared for a new pen-air stadium and indoor arena just blocks from Tower City. The 22-acre site will provide a new home for the Cleveland Indians baseball and Cavaliers basketball teams.

The site is expected to draw two million people downtown each year and be completed in 1994. (The Browns football team remains committed to the 60-year-old lakeside Municipal Stadium.)

Among projects planned for the Lake Erie waterfront is the construction of a rock 'n' roll hall of fame with a 165-foot tower. The project, which has been subject to delays, site changes and some difficulties in raising money, is now scheduled to begin this fall.

Just five miles east of downtown, University Circle, the city's cultural center, continues to thrive. A longstanding magnet for visitors, the neighborhood is centered on Wade

SIGHTSEEING

A free self-guided walking tour published by the Convention and Visitors Bureau takes visitors through downtown and the adjacent Warehouse District and nearby riverfront Flats.

The tour includes a number of architectural gems, including the 102-year-old, glass-covered Arcade, at 401 Euclid Ave., the city's first shopping center. For more information call (216) 621-4110 or (800) 321-1001.

For a view of the city's landmark buildings and historic neighborhoods try Lolly the Trolley. The trackless, motorized fleet offers regularly scheduled tours all year round as well as group tours of the city's ethnic markets, the museums of University Circle or the art galleries and restaurants that flourish in Little Italy.

two-hour tours, $6 and $9 per person, respectively, on various days and at various hours, depending on the time of year. Reservations are required. For more information call (216) 771-4484 or (800) 848-0173.

At this time of the year many residents will be out sampling Ohiomade maple syrup. Northeast Ohio Center in Cleveland is a 34-acre, $400 million renovation project - built to bring people downtown.

Tower City

has a substantial maple sugar industry.

Through March, celebrations of the season abound with educational tours and pancake breakfasts. On weekends through March 8, Cleveland Metroparks, the city's parks agency, will offer guided hikes tracing the history of the maplesugar industry, ending with syrup tasting, plus silver-dollar pancakes on the weekend. For more information call (216) 734-6660.

WHERE TO STAY

After a major push by civic leaders for an increase in the number of hotel rooms downtown, visitors can choose from a number of top-rated places.

Among the newest hotels, the year-old Ritz-Carlton Cleveland, at 1515 West Third St., is also the most luxurious, with 208 rooms and amenities that include a fitness center with indoor pool and spa. Standard doubles start at $160; clubfloor rooms are $235.

Next door to the Ritz-Carlton is the 174-year-old, 491-room Stouffer Tower City Plaza Hotel, at 24 Public Square, which recently completed a $37 million renovation of the rooms and lobby. Standard rates for two begin at $154; $89 on the weekend. For more information call (216) 696-

A few blocks away, the 400-room Marriott Society Center Hotel, opened in 1991, offers the standard comforts along with a health club with exercise equipment. Rooms for two begin at $140; a "Two for Breakfast" weekend package starts at $89. For more information call (216) 696-9200.

The Glidden House, at 1901 Ford Drive, University Circle, is the city's most well-known bed-and-breakfast establishment. Built in 1910 for the son of the founder of the Glidden Paint Co., the mansion has been made into eight elegant suites.

In a connected wing are 52 standard rooms attractively furnished in white pine and lace. Rates for two range from $99 to $145, with breakfast. For more information call (216) 231-8900.

For a limited time this spring many hotels have joined with area arts institutions, Continental Airlines and Thrifty car rentals for one- and two-night "Cultural Getaway Weekend" packages. For more information call the Cleveland Convention and Visitors Bureau

Tubac visitors get a hands-on history lesson

By Denise Mourges New York Times Syndicate

panish colonial history comes alive in the tiny community of Tubac, Ariz. Here, the Spanish colonizers, built a fortress to protect their conquests three centuries ago.

Tubac, situated in the vast Santa Cruz Valley about 45 minutes from Tucson, surprisingly was once Arizona's largest town. With a population today of only about 600 it is now best known for being the home of the first state park in Arizona

Park visitors can see the ruins of the Spanish garrison, including the first commandant's home, and the presidio, or fort, which is under excavation, as well as the remnants of a Spanish mission three miles south of the village.

The grounds of Tubac Presidio State Historic Park are set on 10 acres that begin in the southeastern corner of the village.

The community's five main streets, with low, sand-colored adobe buildings, some housing Tubac's many art galleries and shops, cover a little more than a mile, and both the park and village can be seen in a

The visitor center promotes hands-on experience: After signing the guest registry with a turkey quill-feather pen, one can grind corn with a pestle or plane wood with an

The ruins of the first presidio were discovered about five years ago just west of the visitor center, and visi-tors can watch archaeologists and volunteers from the Center for Span-ish Colonial Archeology in Tubac at

Using garden tools, the volunteers are patiently removing the soil from are patiently removing the soil from the wind-and-water-eroded silt adobe walls and the foundation of a 1760 home in the south barrio, a 14-acre site — 400 feet south of the park — that contains the ruins of 50 buildings dating to Spanish Colonial and Mexican territorial times. The first Spanish settlers rode north from Mexico into Tubac, following the Jesuit missionary Father Kino, who in 1691 journeyed ahead to allay the fears of Indian tribes such as the Pima, farmers and hunter-gatherers who had made their homes in this fertile valley for cen-

In 1752, after putting down a bloody Piman rebellion, Spanish troops built a presidio. A garrison of 50 soldiers, accompanied by wives and children, was left to protect the small visitas - a community served by the church but without a resident priest — from future uprisings by the Pima, who were tired of Spanish

Spanish defenses proved less successful against the fierce Apache, whose raiding parties descended until as late as 1890 from the shadowed foothills of the Santa Rita Mountains, a range that stretches, notched like a giant key, across Tubac's eastern horizon.

Recently discovered relics can be examined in the visitor-center lab, a large trailer set up in the south barrio. The lab's pottery shards give one a glimpse of the town's sometimes violent history.

A high percentage of relics found

A high percentage of relics found have been munitions, ranging from arrowheads and an Apache stone war club to unfired cartridges from the Civil War. Samuel Colt, the gun-maker, supervised a Tubac mining company in the 1850s.

"From 1752 until almost 1890, Tubac was in a constant state of mayhem," said Jack Williams, director of the archeology center. "It was very much like the situation that's been going on in Lebanon: an open

"Both the European and Native American people were trying to control the area," he said. "People lived their daily lives, of course, but they clearly lived in the shadow of that conflict."

In its early years the colonizers of Tubac centered their economic ex-change with Mexico, or New Spain as it was called until it became a republic in 1821. After 1835 the trade was reoriented toward Britain. Artifacts include lead seals used to bind bolts of cloth that were exported on Spanish galleons from England to Mexico, then transported by mule hundreds of miles overland to Tubac.

But to the surprise of the archae-ologists, 90 percent of what has been found, especially stone tools, was made either by Indians or by Spanish settlers using similar equipment.

Tubac was also the site of the first Spanish land grant in Arizona, given in 1789 to Toribio Otero, whose descendants still live in the area.

Grow basil for pesto, spaghetti

What started as a tiny seed has blossomed into a leafy green mass on my kitchen windowsill.

ALREADY MY basil leaves are the size of bay leaves, and will continue to prosper in the warm southern exposure until a transplant beckons after the last frost

Basil, like parsley, is one of those trendy kitchen herbs that thrives well in tiny pots on the kitchen windowsill, or in the garden.

GREEN THUMBS are not required. All that's mandatory is some dirt, a draining pot, sunshine and a little water.

A variety of basil seeds ranging from common garden to purple opal are available wherever garden and flower seeds are sold.

FOR THOSE of you who have never tried fresh basil made into pesto, let me conjure up a vision: a vision of a rich, thick, vibrant blend of pine nuts, garlic, sharp cheese, olive oil and of course, fresh basil.

Dressing a plate of fettuccine or simply accompanying ripe tomatoes and mozzarella chees basil performs its wonders with an aroma that makes you feel like you're wandering down the Villa Piazza in Roma.

Pesto literally means 'pounded," and the term really refers to any paste traditionally made with a mortar and pestle. Pesto has as many variations as there are ports of call in the

With today's modern culinary conveniences like food processors and blenders, making pesto is a snap. As a matter of fact, you will probably find yourself spending more time preparing the ingredients than making the

However, don't be fooled by modern technology. My Italian "mio" wouldn't think of adulterating pesto in the plastic work bowl of a food processor, or having it wreck havoc with the metal blades of a blender.

Tradition calls for the making of pesto in marble mortars. Cheaper replicas made of ceramic and porcelain can be made do; but never use wood or teak. The residual odor and flavor will remind you of basil every time it is used.

A FIRM circular motion with the pestle is needed to incorporate all the delicate flavors and oils which are pressed out of the leaves and give pesto its characteristic flavor and aroma

For some odd reason I have yet to discover, you seem to get better results by grinding the ingredients against the sides of the mortar rather than the bottom. This seems to yield a "press" rather than a "mash."

After the pesto has been made, it can be stored in the refrigerator or freezer if placed in a jar and covered with a shallow film of olive oil on top to prevent the sauce from drying out and becoming moldy.

Simply mix in the oil when ready to use, but remember, for optimum flavor, always bring the chilled pesto mixture to room temperature before serving.

IF YOU don't have a fresh herb garden, and can't wait to grow basil from seed, year-round supplies are available at the Eastern market, most good Italian groceries and at many of the so called "super" grocery

If pesto doesn't suit your fancy, fresh basil can be snipped into everything from spaghetti sauce to salad fixings. Of course, making pesto is not simply limited to the use of basil.

I have included a recipe that calls for using tarragon and even fresh oregano can be substituted for a totally different flavor and

Sprouts Nutritious, crunchy, fun to grow

It's easy to grow sprouts on your kitchen counter (left.) All you need is a jar with a lid and bowl. Sandra John (below) grows wheat seeds on dirt in trays. The sprouts form small plants producing an abundance of salad greens in five to seven days.

IRED OF lifeless meals on cold dreary days? Put some green into your menus with homegrown sprouts.

Crunchy, nutritious, tasty sprouts are easy to grow and inexpensive. A pound of seeds, beans, or grain sells for 89 cents or

In three to five days, a handful of seeds, beans or grain, about one cup, will yield one quart of sprouts:

"I DON'T think there's anything more nutritious than sprouts," said Sandra John, manager of Good Food Company in

"They're full of vitamins, minerals and enzymes, the necessary catalysts to all living things. Vitamins A, B complex, C, and E increase up to 300 percent or more in the sprouting stage depending on the seed, grain or bean. Calcium, iron, phosphorous, magnesium, potassium, zinc and protein present in sprouts serve to keep the body functioning properly.

I started growing sprouts nearly 20 years ago because they weren't available in stores. I liked the taste, and it was nice to have something fresh and green in the middle of winter.

Bonnie Blair of Farmington Hills sprouts mung beans and alfalfa seeds in her kitchen using old mason or mayonnaise jars covered with muslin or cheesecloth secured with rubber bands.

"I started using sprouts because it seemed very healthy for you and inexpensive, and there are no preservatives," she said.

"IF YOU do several different beans at once it's easy, and it's cheaper than buying them in the store. I have a recipe for mung beans and rice. The others I use in a salad or sandwich instead of lettuce.

John said eating sprouts can help lower blood cholesterol, and they're low in calories too. One full-packed cup of sprouts contains only 16 to 70 calories. Sprouts also have an anti-cancer effect.

Sprouts simple to grow

By Linda Ann Chomin

The cheapest way to grow sprouts is in a glass jar covered with cheesecloth or muslin secured with a rubber band.

A kit with a jar and three sprouting lids of various size meshes costs under $5. Single lids are $1.49, a set of three costs a little over $3.

There are other methods. I grow mine in three tiers of clear, plastic trays. Although not as quick to clean as jars, you can water them all at once. The Biosta Sprouter retails at just under $25.

It's important when growing sprouts to rinse them daily or they'll spoil. If you're growing them in jars, tilt the jar on an angle by placing it in a bowl.

For those who don't have time for daily rinsing, there's an electric sprouter that sprays water over the eeds automatically. It retails at just under $60.

You can also grow sunflower, wheat and buckwheat seeds on dirt in shallow trays. In five to seven days the sprouts will form small plants producing an abundance of salad greens.

For more information on grow ing sprouts see "The Indoor Kitchen Garden," by Joy O.I. Spoczynska (Harper & Row, Publishers, $14.95) "The Sprouting Book" by Ann Wigmore, (Avery Publishing Group, Inc. $7.95)., "Sprouting For Health in the 90s" (The Handy Pantry, $2.95).

Experience the flavor of single malt Scotch whisky

Single Malt Scotch whiskies have pined the league of upscale spirits frequently ending a great meal. Served in a snifter, they are offered after dinner at trendy restaurants.

Consumers are finding the same variety and flavor in single malt Scotch whisky they enjoy with wine or a fine cognac.

WHAT IS drunk all over the worldand known as Scotch is not malt whisky, but a blend of grain whisky with a proportion of malt (the better the whisky, the larger the portion of malt) to give it flavor and character. A single malt is an unblended whisky from a single distillery made only from barley malt.

Malts run the gamut from light and delicate to heavy and robust, with sufficient flavors and styles to keep the most avid fan intrigued.

Some are deeply amber, rich and concentrated while others are light

WE HAVE tasted a range of quality single malts that do not suffer from the look-alike, taste-alike syndrome. We like to nose and taste malts neat, in a brandy snifter. Addition of several drops of cold mineral water releases a bouquet of flavors and aromas.

To experience light, smooth, allpurpose malts, try Glenkinchie, Glenlivet and Cardhu. Graduate to fuller-bodied, more complex malts such as Knockando. The Macallan and Highland Park.

Lastly, after you've gained appreciation, taste Laphroaig, a heavily peated Islay malt which stands out as a bold dram even among other Islay malts.

GLENKINCHIE IS a delicate,

IF YOU'RE OLD enough to remember rent parties, mock apple pie and Depression soup, call me at 953-2105. Everyone is pinching pennies these days, and we want to help families make ends meet. Our sixweek series will kick off Monday, March 31, with a story about suppers from the great Depression. Even if you're not a cook, but have memories of what suppers were like during those lean times, give me a call at 953-2105.

DON'T FORGET Paczki Day is Tuesday, March 3. Comparing jelly doughnuts to paczki is like comparing Chevys to Cadillacs. Paczki are bigger and richer than jelly doughnuts, and filled with fruit pre-

The tradition started in Polish Catholic homes where, before the use of commercially prepared shortening, grease drippings from cooked were saved and used for frying. Since many people didn't eat meat during Lent, the grease had to be used up before Ash Wednesday, the day Lent begins. Even today, the day before Lent is called "Grease Tuesday" in some Polish homes.

As the saying goes "You don't have to be Irish to celebrate St. Patrick's Day, or Polish to enjoy Paczki Day." We call it "Fat Tuesday" and over-indulge with the promise of giving up sweets during Lent. People to Hamtramck for "real paczki," but I've been told that Paris Wygonik Bakery on Joy Road in Livonia makes good paczki too. If you've never had a paczki, you're in for a treat. They are simply delicious. Here's a favorite recipe from Loretta Michalczak of Hamtramck.

> PACZKI Makes 12

½ cup milk

1 teaspoon salt

1/3 cup butter ½ cup warm water

2 packages dry yeast 3 egg yolks

powdered sugar Heat milk in a small saucepan unpan; remove from heat. Add sugar, salt and butter; stir until butter is melted.

Let cool to lukewarm. In large bowl sprinkle yeast over warm water. Stir until dissolved. Add milk mixture, egg yolks and 2 cups flour. With electric mixer at medium speed, beat until smooth, about 2 minutes.

With wooden spoon, beat in remaining flour; beat until smooth. Cover with foil and let rise in warm draft free place until double in bulk about one hour. Punch down dough. Turn out onto lightly floured surface; turn over to coat with flour. Knead 10 times. Roll out half of dough to 1/4-inch thickness. Cut into 12 three-inch rounds.

Place one teaspoon jam in center of rounds; brush edges with egg white. Top with remaining rounds, and press together firmly to seal. Arrange on floured cookie sheet. Repeat with rest of dough.

Cover with towel; let rise until PICANTE SAUCE and salsa have replaced ketchup as America's "king of condiments," according to a preliminary report by "Packaged Facts. Inc., a New York-based market research firm.

In 1991, with sales growing by 14 percent, picante sauce and salsa sales surpassed ketchup sales by $40 million.

BETTY Crocker Tip of the week: Shrimp sealed and frozen in airtight containers will keep for three months. Store fresh, raw shrimp in the refrigerator for one to two days. However, it is best if fresh, raw shrimp is cooked and served right after purchasing.

Rich-tasting carrot cake high in fiber

AP - This rich-tasting cake looks like it came right from grandma's kitchen. While it tastes just as delicious, each piece offers more fiber than grandma's ever did. Wholewheat flour and wheat germ, plus the carrots, boost the fiber count of this honey-sweetened cake to 4 grams per slice.

That'll help toward the 20 to 30 grams a day of fiber you need every day. Even with the fiber, you should enjoy this cake as you would other desserts - in reasonable portions as an occasional treat.

WHOLE-WHEAT CARROT CAKE 2 cups whole-wheat flour

1 tablespoon toasted wheat germ 1 teaspoon baking powder teaspoon baking soda

1 teaspoon salt 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon

11/4 cups honey ½ cup margarine or butter, melted

4 eggs 3 cups finely shredded carrots

1 cup chopped pecans 1 recipe Cream Cheese Frosting (re-round baking pans. In a large mixing bowl combine whole-wheat flour, wheat germ, baking powder, soda, salt and cinnamon. Add honey, margarine or butter, molasses (if desired) and vanilla. Beat with electric mixer on low speed until combined. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Stir in carrots and pecans. Pour into prepared pans.

to 35 minutes or until a toothpick inserted near the center comes out clean. Cool in pans on wire racks for 10. minutes. Remove cakes from pans; cool completely. Frost be-tween layers and top with Cream Cheese Frosting. Store, covered, in the refrigerator. Makes 12 servings.

ounce package softened cream cheese and 1/2 cup margarine or butter; beat with an electric mixer on high speed until fluffy. Beat in 2 cups sifted powdered sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla and 1/2 teaspoon molasses or honey. Stir in 11/2 cup chopped pecans. PROJECT MANAGER

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, NVFEL, in Ann Arbor, Mi-chigan is tooking for an engineer with experience and high potential to lead and manage EPA's growing programs designed to investigate ways to reduce emissions from motor vehicles. You will be challenged to lead and manage EPA's growing programs designed to investigate ways to reduce emissions from motor vehicles. You will be challenged by the opportunities provided to work with your knowledge of fuels, engines, and emission control technology. Practical and theoretical expertise in engine design and development for spark ignition and compression ignition engines is highly desirable. The use of alternative fuels will be a key route toward achieving future air quality benefits in our most polluted cities. You will be the key technical program manager for EPA's efforts to develop clean engines that utilize alternative fuels and effective emission control systems for them. In order to quantify the benefits of alternative fuels such as methanol, ethanol, natural gas, LPG, and reformulated gasoline, you will be expected to have expertise in the use of both alternative and conventional fuels. You will be able to explore new ideas for fuel utilization and emission control from the concept phase to which you will be expected to contribute substantiality! through the engine and vehicle dynamometer test phases to small-scale fleet testing. Your management and presentation skills will be utilized, as you manage a variety of projects targeted loward enhancing the benefits of alternative fuels and overcoming any drawbacks associated with them. "In Sickness and in Health" aims to be fair

Actress appreciates when she first read the script. sensitive script

By Steven Alan McGaw "When I first read this script," reveals actress Marg Helgenberger, "it was just too much, I had to put it down." The script in question is "In Sickness and in Health", premiering Sunday, March 8, on CBS. But when she finally finished reading the work by Alan Hines and Joyce Eliason, she knew she had to take the role of friend and caregiver to a woman suffering from multiple sclerosis, a neurological disease that causes difficulty in speech, muscle strength and coordination.

Helgenberger, who won an Emmy for her work on "China Beach" after roles in "The 'Slap' Maxwell Story" and "Hill Street Blues", says there were several reasons she was drawn to the project, but her attraction to the story was largely personal.

"My father suffered from multiple sclerosis," she explains, adding that she had identified strongly with the teenage daughter

In the drama, Lesley Ann Warren and Tom Skerritt star as Anita and Jarrett Mattison, a couple who have forged for themselves and their teenage daughter Holly (Robin Lively) a simple, quiet life in Greenville, Texas, despite Anita's degenerative multiple sclerosis. Underneath a cheerful facade, Anita feels badly for the burder her deteriorating condition places on her family. Helgenberger says the character is "longing for companionship as well as caretaking.'

Help arrives when the Mattisons hire Mickey (Helgenberger), a single mother who's recently inherited a home in the neighborhood and is struggling to make ends meet. Warm, optimistic, Mickey soon infuses the Mattison household with hope, freeing Jarrett's mind from constant worry. Mickey also becomes Anita's truest friend, volunteering for the arduous task of taking Anita out of her home. A handful of visits to nearby flea markets makes Anita feel more alive than she has in a very long Dormant feelings in Jarrett are also stirred, and his attraction to Mickey is reciprocated. An affair seems inevitable, despite Jarrett's love for and devotion to his wife and Mickey's genuine affection for her newfound friend.

While the characters of Jarrett and Mickey might easily emerge as unsympathetic, it is a strength of the script, Helgenberger says, that they do not. Jarrett's frustration is understandable, she says, and Mickey is simply trying to assuage her own loneliness.

Too often in cases like this, the actress points out, the feelings of others are forgotten in caring for the one who is sick. "You don't deal with the other issues," Helgenberger explains, adding, "If these things aren't discussed, the results are unhealthy.'

As for playing Mickey, Helgenberger describes it as a "difficult role, but rewarding." The actress acknowledges the moral ambiguity of Mickey's actions, saying, "That's life... I don't like stories that tie up neatly with a bow at the end.
