Plymouth resident Matthew Lee, a manufacturing and related trades instructor at Schoolcraft College in Livonia, has written his second book, "Seagrave, a Pictorial History of Seagrave Fire Apparatus."

The Seagrave Co., founded in 1891 by Frederic Seagrave, became a world leader in the design and production of fire ladders, engines and other fire apparatus products. The Seagrave book explores 100 years of the company's existence. The book, priced at $40, is available at most major bookstores.

The Seagrave book was produced by Lee in collaboration with his family.

A borderline prominent local lawyer and grandmother was uted down Thursday at the weekly meeting of the esteemed Plymouth Press Club when noting that lawyers, politicians and other wastrels now outnumber members of the fourth estate attending the weekly function-demanded that the name be changed to "Plymouth Politicians Club."

Cable service gets mixed reviews

staff writer

Some Plymouth Township folks unhappy with cable TV service got a few licks in Thursday during a hearing on cable TV service.

Twelve residents showed up at township hall to complain about service outages, reception and responsiveness to customers.

"I'm sure there's more people with problems we're not hearing from tonight," John Crowley, one of the unhappy residents, told Omnicom Cablevision representatives and township officials.

Two residents at the hearing praised Omnicom's service.

MORE THAN 700 cable customers responded to a recent survey sent out by the township administration. Thirty-seven percent said video quality was fair to poor, and 52 percent

But Omnicom general manager Lisa Boland said the company's most recent telephone survey showed 90 percent of customers rated Omnicom's service as "good to excellent."

Crowley urged Omnicom to specify on its bills how much customers were being charged for cable TV boxes and remote controls. Some customers with 54-channel cable-ready TVs don't need to pay $6 per month for a cable company remote. "I paid for four years for a box I don't need; yes it does irk me," he said.

34-channel cable ready TVs and certain scrambled channels still need cable boxes.

Of the complaints lodged Thursday and others, she said, "We take them very seriously; we look at them very closely.'

John Lindquist of Waverly Drive said that when his cable service went out when a neighbor was digging in their backyard, "I called Omnicom on a Saturday, and a gentleman came out and put a whole new cable in. I'm perfectly happy about it."

But Paul Black of the Ridgewood subdivision said, "We have had continuous problems with our cable going out. You call and nothing happens; you call again and they argue. I am so sorry we got Omnicom cable in.'

Neil Borkowicz of the Quail Run subdivision said, "The cable signal quality is really poor. The reception is worse than with standard rab-

He said an Omnicom representative said the signal would be fine-tuned later when the subsigned on, he wasn't told that the reception would be poor. "I wasn't told that; they took my money," he said.

John Wickett, also of Quail Run, said that cable service was bad when he lived in Birmingham. "But they're not as bad as Omni-

"I think Omnicom ought to get into the 20th century as far as equipment goes," he said.

Township Supervisor Gerald Law said more public hearings would be scheduled before the current franchise agreement with Omnicom expires in December 1994.

Township officials have joined other communities served by Omnicom in hiring a cable TV consultant to head negotiations with Omnicom on a new franchise agreement. "We will be compiling a list of demands," he said.

news crew was in Plymouth and Canton Thursday to interview people on a story about how Japanese competition with American auto companies was affecting people. The first stop was the Mayflower Hotel, where reporter Pat Roszkowski asked co-owner Creon Smith about the impact on his business. The four-person crew, led by director Shoichi Kondo, also asked interview subjects - including an Observer reporter - if they'd noticed much Japan-bashing. "So far, we haven't found anyone that wants to say anything negative about the Japanese," Roszkowski said. The crew also planned stops at the unemployment office in Canton, and a Plymouth party store that sells "made in America" T-shirts. The report is to air on Japanese television Sunday, March 22.

4-year-old saves mom

By Kevin Brown staff writer

Four-year-old Scott High of Can-ton probably saved the life of his mom, eight months pregnant, by dialing 9-1-1 on Tuesday.

"He called and told the dispatch operator that his mom had low blood sugar and that he needed help," Officer Tammy Colling said.

His mother, Beverly High, had passed out at about 5 p.m. and lay unconscious on a sofa "as a result of apparent insulin shock," Colling

Emergency medical staff responded to the call from the home on Coronation and administered glucose. 'She regained consciousness and did not require additional treatment,' Colling said.

"It is believed Scott High likely saved his mother's life," she added. Scott knew to call, because "I've been teaching him since he was 2 years old," his mother said.

Beverly High said she's been diabetic for 17 years. She told Scott to call 9-1-1 "when mama's asleep and you can't wake her up."

Because her husband had to work until 8:30 p.m., High said it was for-tunate that Scott called. "It would have been three-and-a-half hours before my husband came home."

Canton police and fire officials say Scott High, 4, of Canton, likely saved mom Beverly High's life Tuesday when he dialed 911 after mom, who is diabetic and eight months pregnant, became unconscious.

Canton Fire Chief Mike Rorabacher said, "It's such a neat thing to happen. Every day you come in and hear bad news."

"That's about as good as a 4-yearold can do it."

Scott is being recommended for a civilian award by the Canton Police.

Local voters split as primary nears

By Wayne Peal staff writer

Bill Clinton has the early lead, Jerry Brown is gaining and Paul Tsongas seems to be falling behind — at least in the race for key Wayne County supporters.

While Arkansas Gov. Clinton appears the clear Democratic front runner, observers aren't ruling out the possibility of a Brown upset in Tuesday's primary.

"I think Clinton is going to do very well. But with Brown, you get the sense that he has more support than we've been able to gauge," said Dan Paletko, chairman of the Redford/ Southfield/Dearborn Heights area party organization.

Richard McKnight, head of the Livonia/Westland/Garden City party organization, was more skeptical.

Brown may do well, but a victory probably isn't likely," he said.

Support mixed for primary hopefuls

No upsets are expected on the Republican side where Presdent Bush is expected to handily defeat conservative columnist Patrick Buchanan.

"I think this area is pretty solidly behind the president," said Harry Greenleaf, chairman of the GOP organization representing Livonia/Plymouth area voters.

Just in case it isn't, however, Buchanan supporters have scheduled what they're calling an election night victory party for the Mayflower Meeting room in Plymouth.

Despite Clinton's strong early support,

there are signs the Democratic race could be up for grabs

DESPITE THE state's importance, Livonia and Westland officials reported absentee ballots were barely keeping pace with those for the low interest 1990 gubernatorial primaries - a sign voters could wait until el tion day to decide or shun the primaries alto-

"We're still getting a lot of complaints from people who say they don't want to register as either a Democrat or a Republican,' Westland Clerk Diane Fritz said.

That means name support and political muscle could be even more important.

BIG LABOR has for the most part rejected him as a conservative from a right-to-work state. State AFL-CIO leader Frank Garrison has been vocal in his call for other candidates.

The departure of Iowa Sen. Thomas Harkin from the race has left many union households scrambling for a candidate.

"I don't see any one candidate getting all of Harkin's support," McKnight said. Tabloid scandals about Clinton's personal life continue to cast a shadow.

"I'm voting for him, but as a judge, I really can't endorse anyone," Kaufman said.

Main park tops list for improvements

By Kevin Brown staff writer

Improvements to Plymouth Township's main park, at Ann Arbor Trail and McClumpha, are a "first priority" among plans to improve parks and open spaces in the township.

That's according to a draft recreation and open space plan prepared by public services director James Anulewicz and township staff.

By the plan, township officials propose to buy more than 17 acres north of Plymouth Township Recreational Park, land now owned by the school district.

HALF THE COST to buy the land would come from state or federal grants, the plan states. The township's share could range from nearly $60,000 to more than four times that

Township officials say they hope to implement the plan over the next five years.

Should the township get the land, the focus would be "utilizing and preserving that natural wood lot," Anulewicz said.

'We'd probably look to have some trails to let people meander in and through there," he

Other park improvements could include expanding the east parking lot and adding two more soccer fields.

To seek opinions from residents on what sort of neighborhood park and open space improvements they'd like to see, a public hearing is scheduled 5-8 p.m. Tuesday at township hall, 42350 Ann Arbor Road.

The plan also addresses improvements to the Hilltop golf course.

"The club house is just in deplorable condition, eventually something is going to have to be done." Anulewicz said.

Part of the current club house was once used as a Plymouth Township government office. The structure has been expanded several

The plan projects that the cost to build a new clubhouse at $900,000, with half of the cost coming from the township and half to be sought from the state.

On March 10, township trustees approved golf rate increases sought by operator John Jawor to meet rising labor and material costs. The rate increases range from 50 cents to $1 per round in most categories, but remain comparable to rates at area courses.

Plans also call for adding parking and redoing the No. 10 hole and possibly others on the southwest corner of the course. The recreation plan also calls for zoning ordinances to encourage park development in neighborhoods, putting golf course proceeds in the township recreation budget, and protecting Miller Woods, among other items GET OUT OF

16 best spellers square off

HERE WAS some tough competition going on Fri-day at Our Lady of Good Counsel in Plymouth. But it had nothing to do with sports. It was a spelling bee.

The event, sponsored by Lawrence Technological University and the Detroit News, attracted 16 of the best spellers from Plymouth, Canton and Northville. The public schools were represented along with private and parochial schools.

The winners of the event will participate in regional competition on April 7 at Lawrence Tech.

The competition at Our Lady of Good Counsel was handled by Rosemarie Shilcusky, the school's librarian, who pronounced the words for the kids. The judges were Maureen Murphy, assistant principal of Pioneer Middle School, and Ted Behn, principal of Our Lady of Good

The Rev. Michael York vows to keep a Japanese restaurant out because it will serve alcohol.

Pastor opposes liquor license

The pastor of a Canton Baptist Church said this week his congregation would continue efforts to derail a nearby restaurant owners' liquor license request.

"We're going to do everything in our power" to stop the proposal, said Rev. Michael York, pastor of the 300-member Main Street Baptist Church.

"We believe we should have a right to have an alcohol-free zone around our churches and schools,' said York, a recovering drug abuser who leads a substance abuse group Friday evenings at the church.

At a Canton Board of Trustees meeting last week, Hidezo and Joann Fujiwara outlined hopes to create an open grill restaurant with seats for 100 patrons. The couple said they would invest $200,000 in the project.

The board must make a recommendation on the Fujiwara's license request, which the state Liquor Control Commission will decide Several members of Main Street Baptist spoke against the couple's request, as did two residents who live near Coventry Commons.

The issue might prove tricky for township board members, especially in an election year. They don't want to seem insensitive to church and neighborhood concerns, and they don't want to cause difficulties to a prospective retailer promising to fill vacant shopping center space.

Supervisor Tom Yack said he had concerns about lack of parking at the proposed site and hopes the developer, David Nelson, and the would-be restauranteurs could decide on another site at Coventry

"I'd like see them find a location that works for themselves and the community," said Yack

He also said he thought Main Street Baptist may have a hard time showing the Liquor Control Commission that the church "would be impacted negatively" by a restaurant serving alcohol.

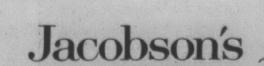

York showed that his church's covenant urges believers "to abstain from the sale of, and use of, intoxicating drinks."

He said of the alcoholics and drug users he meets as part of a substance abuse ministry, "They are suffering."

He said church members are writing letters urging the Canton board to recommend against the liquor license request.

"We are not hurting for tax revenues in Canton. We have other options," York said.

Developer Nelson could not be reached for comment.

The exact procedure is up in the air because Michigan's congressional redistricting is still before a panel of three federal judges. The state is scheduled to be pared from 18 U.S. representative to 16.

Delegates to the state convention will be elected May 19 at county conventions attended by precinct delegates elected in 1990.

Engler likely will chair the Michigan delegation to Houston.

DEMOCRATIC voters may choose between Edmund G. (Jerry) Brown of California, Gov. Bill Clinton of Arkansas, Paul Tsongas of Massachusetts, Sen. Tom Harkin of Iowa, Sen. Bob Kerrey of Nebraska; the imprisoned Lyndon LaRouche, and "uncommitted."

The real battle will be between Clinton, endorsed by former Gov. James Blanchard and the Michigan Education Association, Tsongas, and Brown, preferred by labor chieftains after Harkin quit the race, and uncommitted.

The state has no provisions for removing Kerrey's and Harkin's names, and the LaRouche turnout is expected to be minimal.

THE POLITICAL director of the state Democratic Party, Jerry Moffitt, explained how Michigan's 147

delegates will be chosen:

• 86 will be allocated to the congressional districts.

• 14 will be state members of the Democratic National Committee.

• 28 at-large delegates will be chosen by the Democratic State Central Committee May 16 in Kalama-

 17 will be party leaders and elected officials pledged to candidates.

 Two will be "add-on" unpledged delegates.

THE 86 FROM congressional districts will be allocated on the basis of the primary vote.

To be awarded any delegates, a candidate — including uncommitted — must receive 15 percent of Tuesday's vote.

On May 9, congressional district conventions will be held across the state. To attend, one must be either:

Canton traffic accidents down

By Brian Lysaght staff writer

Consistent traffic enforcement proved effective in reducing traffic accidents and deaths in Canton last year, the public safety director said.

So maybe some good comes from all those tickets drivers received last year. Canton officers wrote 11,475 citations in 1991, up 51 percent from the previous year. Meanwhile, the number of traffic accidents dropped 13 percent to 1,740 from 1990. Traffic deaths declined 22 percent to sev-

"When you start getting a 22 percent reduction, we're very happy with that," said public safety director John Santomauro. The statistics are contained in the 1991 Canton public safety report.

There is cause for concern in the serious crime pata. Consider:

Criminal sexual conduct cases reported to police jumped 16 percent from the previous year to 57.

Burglaries increased 8 percent to 392.

• Vandalism incidents rose 15 percent to 1,215.

Robberies were up 42 percent to 27.
Car thefts increased 5 percent

• Arson cases nearly doubled to

OVERALL, HOWEVER, Canton's serious crime, as grouped by authorities, declined 1 percent. Canton was murder free in 1991; there was one murder in 1990. Santomauro said

Canton compared favorably against other metro-Detroit communities in crime per capita.

The township's total calls for police service increased 5 percent last year, following a similar rise in 1990.

Santomauro said the township's population growth will keep the police department busier. Response time for police — the amount of time it takes officers to respond to a call for service — improved slightly from the year before.

He said he was concerned about the rise in some serious crimes but didn't want to attribute it to township growth, however.

Police need to increase patrols and remain a visible presence, Santomauro said.

SMART's future still depends upon suburban money

By Wayne Peal staff writer

SMART buses will keep running through June, 1993, but the transit service's long-term future rests with suburban taxpayers.

A short-term operating plan announced Thursday is expected to overcome $7.7 million in current debt, and keep the Suburban Mobility Authority for Regional Transportation from incurring more debt next year. Major SMART bus routes were to have shut down March 27.

SMART's plan also temporarily preserves Nankin Transit, a local service - financed through SMART - that serves people in a five-community area including Canton, Garden City and Westland.

"THIS GIVES Nankin Transit 15

salvation," said Bryan Amann, the Wayne County delegate to the SMART board

The plan includes:

 Budget cuts of $4.3 million for 1992-93, including a wage freeze for SMART union workers. Next year's SMART operating budget will be cut 10 percent across-the-

• Additional savings of $1.7 million, to be determined in 90 days among items ranging from health care to a first-ever early retirement plan.

Budget cuts range from large scale - $326,524 from leaving currently vacant position unfilled to small scale - $6,000 in eliminating seminar travel and fees.

tions director Paul Majka.

"Everything we've presented is a safe estimate," said Majka, a former Garden City councilman. "I'm confident there's even more that can be saved.'

Despite that, SMART officials soon expect to begin campaigning for a transit tax.

"This only keeps us going to June 1993, after that we need a source of dedicated revenue," SMART board president Matt Wirgau said. "It could be a sales tax, it could be a property tax, but we need some-

Other moves, already approved by SMART officials, include postponing buying new buses, and sell-ing SMART property in Birming-ham, Bloomfield Hills and Detroit.

Both moves are expected to bring a combined $1.45 million in savings and new rever

In addition, SMART will eliminate nearly $4.5 million in what Duggan called "unnecessary reserves"

The $1 million reserve fund isn't needed because of other assets already held by SMART, Duggan said. The $3.45 compensation fund isn't needed, he added, because the state will already cover worker claims should SMART cease opera-

At $47.8 million, SMART's projected 1992-93 is more than $5.3 million less than this year's budget. SMART officials still hope to merge with the Detroit Department of Transportation, though there have been no recent talks.

"We've been putting all our energy into this," Duggan said. Duggan, deputy Wayne County executive, has been SMART's chief officer for the past two weeks.

Not included was a proposed plan to tap an estimated $10 million pension fund surplus.

Such a move would have required approval from the state Legislature. Former general manager James Aho, who advocated using pension fund money, resigned in a dispute with other officials.

Previously, SMART had been financed through state and federal grants, as well as bus fares.

Declining grant money and ridership prompted SMART's debt.

Right to Life presses for tougher informed consent law

Worker retraining is key issue facing state, says Clinton

By Tim Richard staff writer

Gov. Bill Clinton said he's the only presidential contender to support a plan requiring employers to spend 1 percent of payroll on training their existing workforces

And the Arkansas Democrat, leading the polls prior to Tuesday's pri-mary, said, "I would like to have (former Michigan Gov.) Jim Blanchard in some capacity in my administration.'

The interview, during a drive between campaign stops Friday, concentrated on retraining the existing workforce, a key issue in Michigan as General Motors prepares to close plants with 9,000 workers.

"No matter what government policies we have, within the workforce we must mobilize for change," Clinton said.

"In America, companies spend a little more than 1 percent, on average, for training and education on average. But it's skewed. We spend 70 percent of our money on the top 10 percent in each corporation.

Our European and Japanese competitors, who have higher rates of growth than we do now, spend more down and down the line, and try to put more decision-making in frontline workers.

"I think we ought to give adequate incentives to business to spend it, and if they don't I would ask them to put into a National Skills Development Center.'

THE IDEA comes from "America's Choice: High Skills or Low Wages," by the National Center on Education and the Economy. That bipartisan panel was headed by former Labor Secretaries William Brock (Republican) and Ray Marshall (Democratic). One member was Arkansas first lady Hillary Clin-

Companies that didn't do their own workforce training would be charged for it by the government.

Clinton called it "the best thing ever done in this country for education, and he "absolutely" supports the same group's idea of national education performance standards for all students.

"When we drafted the national education goals, we asked for standards in five subjects with the option of adding more on, with reliable national examinations at fourth, eighth and 12th grades."

ON BLANCHARD, a key Michigan supporter, Clinton said, "I would very much like to have him involved. He's a very gifted man.

"When we worked together, most people thought he was one of the premier innovators among the gover-we were elected in 1982, with states that had very depressed economies; no national strategy to revitalize. So we thought of things we (states) could do.

"Michigan has a very good skills development program, initiated in the Blanchard administration; a very good venture capital program; and a terrific college savings program, initiated in the Blanchard administra-

ON OTHER topics, Clinton said:

• He would give communities and regions flexibility in using federal transportation funds for mass transit, including construction and maintenance of rapid rail transit. "One of the things I'd like to see done, as we pare down the defense budget, is increase our investment in rapid transit - high-speed rail. More and more people will want to

• Arkansas voters put "right to work" — a measure abhorrent to organized labor in Michigan — into the constitution decades ago, "and they have reaffirmed it recently. My own position is we don't want an anti-labor or anti-union administration because we don't want to give the impression we want a hard-work, lowwage economy, which is happening to 60 percent of our people (national-

· He dislikes most proposed constitutional amendments except perhaps an executive line-item veto. Michigan and Arkansas have such a veto, and President Bush wants one. Clinton said, "It would add some discipline to our spending process," adding he uses it up to 20 times per legislative session

Daseball scores in Baltimore

Babe Ruth's hometown sports new stadium

By Christopher Corbett New York Times Syndicate

Baltimore will revel in the sporting life this spring, from the traditional running of the Maryland steeplechases to the Orioles' first season in their new ballpark at Oriole Park may not be the house that Ruth built, but its center field is the site of the house where the Babe lived. In sports-crazed Baltimore (Ruth's hometown), that's nearly as

The new $105.4 million ballpark is just a few blocks west of the Inner Harbor on the south side of the city. The opening of the ballpark will be marked by a parade down Pratt Street through the heart of downtown at noon, April 5, and the inauguration, on April 6, of the first leg of metropolitan Baltimore's $446.3 million Central Light Rail Line — a 13-mile section linking suburban Timonium on the city's north side with the downtown stadium.

The old-fashioned design of the 48,000-seat stadium predominantly brick with a distinct turn-of-the-century style incorporates a landmark Baltimore & Ohio Railroad warehouse that will provide office space for the ballclub and the Maryland Stadium Authority.

Architects nationwide have praised the new ballpark for its attempt to mesh with the "urban fabric" of downtown Baltimore.

Oriole Park is only a short walk from Federal Hill and Otterbein, two of the city's oldest and most historic neighborhoods. The districts are warrens of renovated late 18th- and early 19th-century brick row houses, narrow streets paved with Belgian blocks and lined with brick sidewalks.

Federal Hill, much of which is on the National Register of Historic Places, is built around teeming Cross Street Market, one of the city's most active public markets, dating from 1846.

The hill from which the neighborhood takes its name, a Colonial-era observation point, offers a stunning view of the Inner Harbor, where an array of Tall Ships sailing vessels from around the world - will be arriving throughout the spring and summer months.

SPORTING EVENTS

Tickets have long been sold out for the opening day at Oriole Park on April 6, when the Orioles play host to the Cleveland Indians.

However, baseball fans still have a chance to witness the first ball game in the new park when the Orioles meet the New York Mets at 3:05 p.m. on April 3 in an exhibition game. Tickets have yet to be sold. For more information call (410) 685-

If you just want to see Oriole Park it will be open on April 2 from 11:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. Bring your own lunch. On April 5, at 8:30 a.m., an 8-kilometer road race, limited to the first 2,000 runners who sign up, will follow the nearly 5-mile route from Memorial Stadium to Oriole Park. For more information call (410) 882-5454 or write, with self-addressed stamped envelope, to 8K Home Run, P.O. Box 11394, Baltimore, Md.

On April 5, at 2 p.m. fans will be allowed to watch an Orioles workout in the new ballpark. Tickets will be $3. On April 8, the Orioles will play their first night game, against the Indians, at 7:35 p.m.

The Babe Ruth Birthplace and Baltimore Orioles Museum (home of the Maryland Baseball Hall of Fame), a few blocks west of Oriole Park at 216 Emory St., is open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. from April to October, but hours will be extended on game days until 7 p.m.

Admission to the museum is $4; children, $1.50; senior citizens, $2.50. For more information call (410) 727-

Though baseball may be the focus of this year's sporting season, no event harkens back to the cultural and social roots of the Chesapeake Bay region more than the annual spring running of the steeplechases in the hunt country north of the city.

The three major steeplechases of the season are held each year on the final three Saturdays in April culminating with the running of the Maryland Hunt Cup, which horsemen regard as one of the most grueling events of its kind on either side of the Atlantic.

The My Lady's Manor race will be run April 11 on the grounds of the Elkridge-Harford Hunt Club in Jacksonville, Md. For more information call (410) 557-9570.

The Grand National follows on April 18 in Butler and the Maryland Hunt Club - now in its 96th year completes the circuit on April 25. For more information on the Grand National: (410) 666-7777; on the Maryland Hunt: (410) 833-5355.

CULTURAL EVENTS

The violinist Pamela Frank will perform with the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra, David Zinman conducting, April 3, 4, 5, with a program including works by Jaromir Weinberger, Dvorak and Tchaikovsky. The flutist James Galway follows April 15, 16 and 18 with works by Haydn, Dvorak, Nielsen and Robert Beaser, also with the symphony.

Both events will be at the Joseph Meyerhoff Symphony Hall, at 1212 Cathedral St. For more information call (410) 783-8000

Donizetti's "Daughter of the Regiment" will be performed by the Baltimore Opera Co. at the Lyric Opera House on March 21, 25, 27 and 29. For more information call the box office at (410) 685-0692.

The local theater company Impossible Industrial Accident presents David Mamet's "Water Engine" at Theater Project, at 45 West Preston St., from April 1-12. For more information call the box office at (410) 752-8558.

Center Stage, at 700 North Calvert St., presents two premieres by American writers — "Police Boys" by Marion Isaac McClinton and "The Baltimore Waltz" by Paula Vogel in repertory from March 26 to April 26. For more information call the box office at (410) 332-0033.

'Marking the Decades: Prints 1960-1990" at the Baltimore museum of Art, at Art Museum Drive, runs through April 26; the exhibition includes works by Jasper Johns, Willem de Kooning, Roy Lichtenstein, Robert Rauschenberg and Andy Warhol. Admission is $4.50; students and senior citizens, $3.50; children 4-18, $1.50. For more information call (410) 396-7100.

Quebec's cuisine has new flavor

New York Times Syndicate

Beans and lard. Pea soup. Meat pies and maple syrup. The traditional cooking of Quebec was hearty lumberjack fare - and a cholesterol nightmare.

Since Expo '67 attracted French chefs and Escoffier cuisine to Montreal, Quebec's cuisine has been the butt of endless jokes.

A film starring the slapstick dou Ding et Dong (the Quebecois Laurel and Hardy) has the comedians ordering a pickle pizza. The joke was no doubt inspired by the Quebecois love of chunky homemade ketchups and relishes to lather the tourtiere — the ground-pork-and-beef pie that is the staple of any traditional meal.

In truth Quebec's gastronomy has two extremes. At one end are the fatty, sugary excesses served up in the cabanes a sucre or sucreries (maple-sugar shacks) in the spring. Specialties are fritters dribbled with maple syrup, fried eggs in maple syrup, maple-sweetened pork and beans, fried maple-smoked ham glazed with syrup, and oreilles de crisse (ear-shaped slivers of salted pork rind crisp-fried in oil - sometimes mispronounced as oreilles de Christ, or Christ's ears).

For dessert it's more maplemania: maple sugar pie, maple pud-ding, molded maple sugar candy, miniature wafer cones filled with maple butter and maple taffy boiling syrup poured over a long trough of fresh snow.

At the other end of the culinary spectrum is Quebec's contemporary cuisine, which uses fresh local products rather than the post-Expo imports from France. As high-tech transportation and communications blur regional difces the world over, Quebec's new generation of young chefs has banded together to assure the evolution of a distinctly Quebecois cuisine (independent from France and California) celebrating the differences of the province's 12 regions.

To be sure, Quebec's cuisine was and is still based on wild and domestic meat and game, fish and seafood. The first settlers from Normandy and Brittany flavored their dishes with cinnamon and cloves, or herbes salees (parsley, onions, parsnips, sa-vory and celery leaves preserved in coarse salt), and left them to simmer or bake for the day.

Today's cuisine features leaner meat and a variety of vegetables that leaves the bean and potato in the dust.

The two culinary extremes are embodied in two restaurants: La Binerie Mont-Royal, or The Beanery, the cultural landmark celebrated in the Quebecois film based on Yves Beauchemin's novel of Montreal street life, "Le Matou" ("The Alleycat"), and the uberge Clementine in the picturesque and now infamous (post-Mohawk rebellion) village of Oka, on the Lac de Deux Montagnes at the confluence of the Ottawa and St. Lawrence Rivers.

La Binerie's 50-year history roves there's abiding comfort in a bowl of beans. This family-owned, 18-seat restaurant serves up 27 tons of feves au lard ("les petites delicieuses") a year. The beans are simmered with pork for 18 hours over a low fire in a brick oven.

The nostalgic menu is hefty enough in calories to deforest the Laurentians, although owner Fernand Groulx stresses that all meats are defatted before use.
Some dishes are old Quebec favorites: ragout de pattes et de boulottes (meatball and pig's feet stew); coeur de veau (sliced veal heart with potatoes and carrots); sandwich au lard and lard sale froid (salted pork boiled in pea soup); baked beans with sausage; homemade pickles; and sticky-sweet puddings and fruit pies.

The prices at La Binerie are reasonable: about $5, including dessert, before tip and federal and provincial tax of over 15 percent. All prices have been converted to United States dollars calculating the dollar at $1.06 Canadian.

The new cuisine is well-represented at Auberge Clementine, a cozy 125-year-old waterfront cottage with drive from Montreal. The chef, Michel Beaulnecq, and his wife and pastry chef, Louise, marry tradition with invention in the manner of "la Cuisine renouvele du Quebec" ("the renovated cuisine of Quebec").

A-la-carte prices at Clementine add up steeply: from $4.75 to $16 for appetizers, $17 to $26.50 for entrees and $5.70 for desserts. But the sevencourse menu gastronomique is a sumptuous bargain at $50 a person, and two people ordering different selections can sample a variety of tastes and textures.

It's back to ethnic roots for Dems in primary ethnic things. My wife's going to vote for the Greek, and I'm going for the upscale redneck on Tuesday.

But nevertheless, we'll be voting in the same party for the first time in 20 years. For me, it'll be the first time voting in a presidential race in more than a decade.

The reason is the lack of choice. Like many folks, I dozed through the Reagan years, with a high disinterest in national politics. The Democrats were the only folks who captured any interest, and that was because they kept shooting themselves in the foot.

That came to a head four years ago when Jesse Jackson was nominated and gave his speech. His rainbow party was there in full force gays, feminists, lesbians, blacks and bother to apply to be a Democrat. Most folks didn't and Dukakis ended up holding the hotdog without the chili. And what's a Greek without a Coney Island?

IT SENT A loud and clear message to America. If you're not a

Well, my wife, who is of Greek decent, went for Bush. She regrets it now and this time she's saying opa to Tsongas. Not really opa. The only Greeks I've ever really heard say that are the waiters in Greektown and they're getting paid to perform.

Anyway, she's getting back to her ethnic roots. So am I. For me it's Clinton. The reason is that anybody who's from Arkansas knows hard times and the mire of racism. They also know Bubba. He's the white guy in a pickup truck who works in blue collar job and who, when he goes to vote, has the political knowledge of a political science major from Harvard.

Bubba knew during the 1980s that the Democracts were in a minority frenzy and there was no room for him in the party.

Clinton's the one to lure Bubba back into the Democratic fold. He showed that during the Democratic debates on TV. When asked about restoring land to Indians, Clinton said that Native Americans need the same government services as any other group: health care, education

YEAH, HE dodged the question a bit, but his point was well-taken. He wasn't part of the minority feeding frenzy. He was there with Bubba. There are plenty of poor white people who need the same things.

My only worry is that Democrats won't get a chance to pick their presidential candidate in the primary elections. It seems like every time anybody talks about Tsongas or Clinton there's an echo "Cuomo" in the background.

To me, Cuomo has the stench of old, dead politics about him. But for Bubba doesn't like Cuomo. He rep resents the East Coast liberal elitists. And that's what made Bubba turn to Reagan and Bush in the first

Of course, it would be just like the Democrats to walk off a cliff again with Cuomo.

Personally, I'm bracing myself for four more years with Bush

Tickets should be a lesson

The following is a response to Jeff Counts' column "Where's Robin Hood," in the Monday, March 2, edition of the Observer.

You stated that you saw four Wayne County Sheriff's Deputy cars within two miles, lights flashing and some poor slob receiving tickets. You mention King Arthur and that the Sheriff of Nottingham had nothing on these guys. You state that we ssue tickets to tax the people.

I beg to differ. The Wayne County Sheriff's Department receives a $5 surcharge on civil infractions only. (This just started this year). This money pays for a 13-person traffic enforcement unit - the four cars you saw on the same section of Hines and where two young women had been involved in a fatal accident.
You stated: "The district court system had run of the mill traffic stuff and misdemeanors." Also drunk drivers.

You further said, "The next time you see a cop with some poor sucker pulled over on the side of the road, see it as somebody being taxed."

MR. COUNTS, maybe you could have been with one of the cars with flashing lights on — the car that was pulled over had just caused an acciient that sent three young women to

You mention misdemeanors. When was the last time your car was broken into, or stolen? If you did, did you feel violated? I know I did.

The run of the mill traffic stuff speed kills. Come with me to the impound yard, I'll show you the two imprints in the windshield because of run of the mill traffic stuff.

My belief of the district court system is, yes, you have to pay a fine but it should be a lesson to slow down - don't drink and drive.

Speed limits are posted for a reason. If you don't think so, come to the emergency room and tell the parents a drunk just killed their child — so I

Ticket money goes to district court system

To the editor:

This rebuttal is in response to the, so called, editorial that was written (by Jeff Counts) in last week's Observer titled - "They're after bucks, not justice." The journalistic wizards that your paper employ never cease to amaze me or the rest of your paying customers. After reading the editorial, it was apparent to me that the 'poor slob" Mr. Counts referred to, when describing a traffic violator in his article, was undoubtedly none other than himself. It was obvious by reading his gibberish that Mr. Counts was attempting to blame someone else for a traffic violation that he received and probably deserved.

The way Mr. Counts whined about how the police issue tickets for the sole purpose of "taxing the public" was not only incorrect, but also absurd. If the Wayne County Sheriff patrols had "four cars stopped with-in two miles," that only leads me to believe one thing - that the traffic laws on that particular stretch of roadway are being broken or violated on a large scale and there is not only a need for increased enforcement in that area, but also a demand by the general public.

Can you imagine what the streets would be like if the police discontinued issuing traffic tickets to violators and only concerned themselves with "more serious crimes," as Mr.

Why did this editor single out "General Motors Workers" as being the group of people who would suffer the most from being ticketed? Are you insinuating, Mr. Counts, that General Motors employees are the most frequent traffic violators, or is it they should be held less accoutable than the rest of the driving pub-

Also, the fact that you regarded drunk drivers as "folks who need counseling - and not a judge," really must of earned you some brownie points with MADD and the surviving families of those killed by violators who chose to drink and drive.

After doing some research (which you should have done before writing) discovered the revenue generated by those traffic fines, does not all go back into the court system nor in the pockets of "rich lawyers and civil servants." The majority of the money goes to the district courts (not local city funds), with a small percentage going to the state for various lives of folks To the editor:

help save

I was disappointed as a reader, and as a law enforcement officer, in the editorial, "They're after bucks, not justice" by Jeff Counts. Mr. Counts finds it necessary to criticize the Wayne County Sheriff's Deputies that he observed writing tickets within a two-mile span. What would he prefer to see them doing when they are not responding to runs, sit idle behind a building?

His assertion that traffic tickets are written only to raise money is a very narrow minded view. Studies have shown that enforcement of traffic laws, especially in high accident locations, reduces the accident rate. It is not difficult to understand that punishment must be unpleasant as a means of deterrence. When a violator is paying a fine and having points added to their driving record for running a red light or failing to stop for a school bus, they will most likely not repeat their action. This may also contribute to saving the life of your son or daughter, wife or husband, the next time that violator comes upon a red light or school bus.

Campaign heats up, Niki Tsongas fills in at area fund-raiser

By Shirlee Rose Iden staff writer

Approaching the Presidential Primary in Michigan, candidates of every stripe made their pitches to ministers, auto workers, and the faithful at $1,000 a plate hotel banquets.
Crisscrossing metro-Detroit were

Democrats Jerry Brown, Bill Clinton and Paul Tsongas and Republicans Pat Buchanan and George Bush. Some sent surrogates, with vice president Dan Quayle visiting, too.

Brown's campaign got a boost last week when he picked up support from Michigan Teamsters and the International Union of Electrical Workers. Other labor leaders say they are attracted to Brown because of his record as governor of California but they stopped short of endorsing him.

In a brief press conference last Thursday at Detroit City Airport, Brown criticized Clinton's worker safety record and called for economic justice.

Although he stopped short of mak-ing any predictions in Tuesday's race, Brown said he was hoping to hear "a roar from Michigan voters."

Tsongas was the only candidate who planned to visit the Republican stronghold of Birmingham-Bloomfield this week, but his plans hit a snag on Wednesday when his plane got stuck in the mud at a Chicago airport.

Tsongas, who has been quoted as saying "if you don't have charisma, marry it," was represented at a Bloomfield Hills home fund-raiser by his "charismatic" wife of 22 years, Niki.

Many guests said they wanted to learn more about what Tsongas stands for, others have already climbed on his bandwagon.

Dorothy Mahlin of Southfield measures Tsongas as honest, straightforward and with integrity. "What's really important is that he understands

"Why does a conservative support Paul Tsongas?" Mahlin said. "After reviewing the candidates, I find myself not against anybody but for him. He's pro choice, is supportive of Israel and would take the nuclear missiles out of Iraq."

Bloomfield Hills resident Diane

Scholnick said she came to the tea "to be exposed and to learn so I can vote with knowledge.

Joyce Blum of Southfield is con-"it's time for a change. I know the Tsongas' are interested in changes in the health care field and my husband is a pediatrician. This is important to us Niki and Paul Tsongas live in Lowell, Mass, where his home-state victory was celebrated the previous evening. They are the parents of three young children: 10, 14, and 18. "We try hard to make them feel a part of all this," she said.

An attorney, Niki Tsongas, went back to law school when her husband, stricken with lymphoma, declined to seek re-election to the Senate in 1986, earning her law degree from Boston College in 1988. "Paul's bone marrow transplant was in 1986 and he's in good health now. He's a better man and better candidate because of what he's been through.

"Paul can build coalitions and lead our country," she said. "We can't get a handle our economic problems unless we find a way to create national wealth.'

She said her husband is pro-choice, pro-environment and pro-civil rights. "And he has no anti-business bias. His national health plan was called viable by Time, Newsweek and other media. It calls for universal coverage including preventive care, with government setting the standards and maybe subsidizing.

"To Paul education is the key to economic recovery and he would invest heavily in vocational training. He believes there should be financial aid for everyone who wants to go to

Potatoes stretch paychecks

The closest I can come to being Irish is the fact that while living Downriver, I was a "regular" at Patty's Pub.

The Janes Gang nevry really seemed to get into the Irish spirit while I was growing up. We never taped cardboard cutout shamrocks to our front door two weeks before March 17.

As a matter of fact, we kids would stand in awe while the folks at Cahallan's Drug Store went wild painting all their windows green, and on St. Patrick's Day, throwing an instore party that would have rivaled a Janes Gang New Year's.

I CAN remember one St. Patrick's Day, however, that wasn't ended in the traditional corned beef and cabbage cooked to death in the Nesco roaster. I must have been around 14 or so and remember dad not going to work for a few weeks because of something called a "layoff."

Being a staunch union man, dad rarely complained, but I can remember a few months where dinner consisted simply of vegetables and potatoes

I can remember a tummy warming potato soup and bread dinner, another with simply scalloped potatoes and stewed tomatoes put up from the year priors' garden, and on Friday's when meat was never allowed in Catholic homes, potato pancakes. Potatoes were first grown on a large scale in Ireland hence the name — Irish Potato. It was during a famine that the spuds were found to be plentiful and easy to grow, especially in the moist, sandy soil.

Many Europeans viewed potatoes negatively because of their familiarity with the "nightshade family" (grown underground) which during the 16th century was known as

It really didn't help that there was no mention of potatoes in the Bible either.

POTATOES WERE first brought to North America in 1719 by Irish immigrants. As in Europe, North Americans were slow to adapt and potatoes were not grown on a large scale until the depression era of the 19th

Since 1950, the consumption of fresh potatoes has declined steadily while the use of processed potatoes has risen. Now more than half the total crop is processed.

Potatoes are used in starches and flour, canned soups, stews and hash, frozen food entrees, frozen French fires, dehydrated boxes, and made into chips and shoe strings.

Sometimes when cutting into a delectable, steamy spud, you will notice a slightly green tinge to the skin or a "hollow heart" or "blackheart" somewhere throughout the spud.

"Greening" occurs when the spuds are exposed to natural or artificial light for long periods of time. You will usually notice this for potatoes "held over" after the growing season is long over.

"HOLLOWHEART" IS the formation of a hollow cavity or hole inside the spud and usually requires only minor trimming.

"Blackheart" is a rotten spot that is easily trimmed and should be discarded.

High quality control by wholesalers, shippers and retailers make these problems few and far between.

Don't buy or use potatoes that are very green, wrinkled or spoiled because they can contain harmful amounts of a toxic alkaloid called Solania

Never eat the potato "greens" from the plant, and make sure to trim off all sprouts as they also contain this toxic alkaloid.

Potatoes are great family meal alternatives, and in the event of a budget crunch, great paycheck

Anne Curley-Poppe (left), Kitty Heinzman and Rosaline Brennan talk about their favorite Irish foods over a cup of tea, freshly baked Irish soda bread and scones. All three were born in Ireland.

'The Fry'

Friends reminisce about their favorite homeland foods

By Joan Boram special writer

All that's lacking is the soft glow of a peat fire: Three Irish ladies chatting amiably over tea and scones, brown bread and thickcut Irish marmalade, occasionally bursting into hearty laughter

They're American citizens now Kitty Moran Heinzman, formerly of Westport County Mayo, now of Livonia, pours black Irish tea into translucent Belleek cups for guests Rosaline O'Sullivan Brennan, a West Bloomfield resident born in County Kerry, and Anne Curley Poppe.

Poppe came from Tipperary to the states seven years ago to work as a nanny, and met and married Jeff Poppe. The couple lives in Redford.

AS SO often happens when friends get together, the conversation turns to food. Someone mentions "The

Every Irish person knows what "The Fry' means," said Heinzman, slathering a raisiny scone with mar-malade. "The classic Irish breakfast is eggs, brown bread, rashers (bacon) and sausages. The sausages are of two kinds: black pudding (what you call blood sausage), and white sausage, very fat and mealy. These sausages are what we call 'The Fry.' " Obviously, cholesterol is not a ma-

"As far as I know, the only store in the States that imports these sausages is Irish Imports, in Dearborn. The owner, Jack Derrick, is from Westport, my hometown."

Anne Poppe speaks lovingly of "The Fry," also. "I go back home once a year, and I bring enough sausage back to fill the freezer. That's all I eat for breakfast for three months after I return. My husband won't touch it."

ROSALINE BRENNAN recalls that Ash Wednesday and Good Friday were "Black Days," gastronomically speaking, in Ireland.

"On the black days, we had black tea or coffee, no cream or sugar, no butter on our bread, and no meat. We had colcannon for dinner: Boiled new potatoes, mashed with chives, salt and pepper, lots of butter, baked until the top was light brown. That was our dinner on Black Days. (Dinner the main meal, is traditionally served at 12:30 p.m. in Ireland).

In Westport, recalls Heinzman, another potato dish, boxty was a stable during the six weeks of Lent.

We only had meat once a day, if at all, and for the evening meal we often had boxty."

Heinzman's daughter, Elizabeth, is eager to learn Irish cooking, but traditional cookery is likely to rely on "dabs" and "pinches," and is difficult to write down in exact terms.

"I do love American potatoes," said Heinzman. "Especially the Idahoes. We don't have them in Ire-

In the American mind, two items are generally associated with Irish cooking - corned beef and cabbage, and Irish soda bread.

All three of the ladies are quick to point out that there's no such thing as corned beef in Ireland - the authentic Irish dish is Irish ham and cabbage

"In Kerry, ham and cabbage is a traditional meal," said Brennan.
"Corned beef is the closest you can come to meaty, salty, Irish ham here in the States.

"THE DISH I most associate with home is ham and cabbage," said Poppe. "My mother made it twice a week, and you could smell it as soon as you walked in the door. I hated

Irish spirits are not blarney

By Eleanor and Ray Heald

Who invented the green beer served on St. Patrick's Day? Not the Irish. There are only two Irish beers (and they are not green) readily available across the United States. They are Harp Lager and Guiness Stout.

Harp Lager is amber-golden in color with intense barley aromas. It's a medium-weight brew that's fully flavored with a solid finish. Guiness Stout is a very dark, very malty tasting ale. Both the flavor and color come from the addition of roasted barley to the brew. Its appeal is the refreshing, slightly bitter finish.

The term whiskey is Gaelic in origin and there's no doubt that the Irish make acres of the most all the statements.

doubt that the Irish make some of the most distinctive. There is a common misconception that Irish whiskey is a potato whiskey. The Irish do refer to moonshine as poteen, but this word refers to the small, easily dismantled pot still, not potatoes. Similar to Scotch whisky, Irish whiskey is distilled from a fermented mash of grains such as malted and unmalted barley, corn, rye, wheat and oats. By Irish law, it must be aged for a minimum of five years in previously used cooperage (such as sherry casks).

HOWEVER, IT is usually aged for seven or eight years and up to 12 years or 15 years for the heavier distillates requiring extended time to achieve roundness, and the essential smoothness.

Prestige Irish whiskeys are pot still single malts with a small amount of single grain whiskey added to enhance the malt character. They are distilled three times as compared to the double distillation used to make Scotch whisky.

Since 1606, in the small yillage of Bushmills, Ireland.

Since 1608, in the small village of Bushmills, Ireland, the art of whiskey distilling has flourished in the Old

Bushmills Distillery, home of both Black Bush and Bushmills Irish whiskeys. While they have the same home, they are different and appeal to different

If you unfamiliar with either, our recommendation is to start with Bushmills. Drink it neat in a snifter. It's lighter and gentler with an elegant, finesseful finish. Once you've gained some experience, try Black Bush served the same way.

You'll notice the bigger, bolder aromas and flavors, many of which originate in the hand-picked sherry casks used during the aging year. If you like cognac, armagnac or single malt scotches, you'll take to Black Bush immediately.

ENHANCE THE aroma appreciation of both of these whiskeys with a few drops of water added to the snifter after the whiskey has been poured. Irish whiskeys may also be served on the rocks.

The big difference in taste between Scotch whisky and Irish whiskey stems from the fact that in Scotland the barley is dried over peat. The smoky or peaty character of Scotch whisky is absent in Irish whiskey. Irish Mist is a blend of spicy-flavored Irish whiskey and heather honey liqueur from Tulloch Mhor. In 1692, the tale goes, the original recipe was lost during an exodus of warriors. Some time later, it was discovered in Austria and returned to Ireland.

Today, Irish Creams originating in Ireland, are very popular as after-dinner pours. Fresh cream is blended with whiskey and stabilized so that it does not need refrigeration on the shelf.

Bailey's is the original Irish Cream. After it was first released, it was so popular that new cream liqueurs

Make your own turkey sausage

AP - When you buy breakfast sausage, you may find that up to 80 percent of its calories come from fat. Fortunately, you can skip much of that fat, without missing out on sizzling sausage texture and flavor, by making your own turkey sausage patties. This sausage recipe uses the leanest turkey meat of all, skinless breast, so only 12 percent of the calories are fat calories. To make sure you're starting with really lowfat ground turkey, ask your butcher to grind the turkey breast meat for

TURKEY-APPLE SAUSAGE

1/4 cup soft bread crumbs

1/4 cup finely chopped peeled apple 1/4 teaspoon salt

1/4 teaspoon ground sage

1/4 teaspoon pepper 1/2 pound ground raw turkey breast or lean ground raw turkey

In a medium mixing bowl beat the egg white slightly with a fork. Stir in bread crumbs, apple, salt, sage and pepper. Add ground turkey; mix well. Shape into eight small patties, about 21/2 inches in diameter.

Place sausage patties on the unheated rack of a broiler pan. Broil 4 to 5 inches from the heat for 4 minutes. Turn and broil for 4 to 5 minutes more or until no longer pink. Pat sausage patties with paper towels. Makes 4 servings.

AP - Creamy soups taste velvety rich and thick, but they can also score high on the fat chart. The good news is that you can still create smooth, thick and flavorful soups that are also low in fat. The secret is to thicken them with pureed vegetables instead of the traditional butter sauce and-or cream. Squash and Apple Soup is good served as an appetizer or as a sandwich go-along. The JudyBats, the six-member collection of mostly University of Tennessee students, have come out with their second release, "Down in the Shacks Where the Satellite Dishes Grow."

Crossed signals

JudyBats muddle their music on 'Shacks'

By Larry O'Connor

On their 1991 debut "Native Son," The Judy-Bats displayed an enormous amount of musical adroitness, forming a delectable synthesis of pop, jazz, folk and dance rhythms.

More so, the Sire Records release revealed a group with a clear, cohesive vision in genre too often beset by banality.

What happened? 'Down in the Shacks Where the Satellite Dishes

Grow," the follow-up from Knoxville, Tenn., seems muddled by comparison. On this release, The JudyBats sound like a band torn asunder rather than the brazen eclectic outfit showcased on "Native Son." The nine-word album title only mirrors the confusion.

The usual cliches could apply here. The six-member collection of mostly University of Tennessee students had its whole life to make the first album, less than a year to prepare its second.

VOCALIST AND songwriter Jeff Heiskell doesn't buy it.

We had enough time, I think," said Heiskell, whose band performs Friday, March 20, at Todd's in Detroit. "In this business, people probably have too much time. We had 34 days in the studio. I wouldn't have wanted any more.

Heiskell writes a majority of the lyrics. He hunkered down in his basement for two weeks, churning out a wide array of brooding, melanchol-

When done, he realized the words spoke volumes about himself far more than he intended or "It made me feel a little bit exposed," Heiskell

Vulnerability echoes through several numbers on "Down in the Shacks Where the Satellite Dishes Grow," which herein will be referred to as the second release This disarming approach may be the LP's lone saving grace and may lend further credence to The JudyBats' commitment to their craft. Heiskell said the album documents "a lot of things," but adds the death of a friend sparked a tumult of emotions within himself for more than a year. In retrospect, those feelings of mourning found their way into his songwriting.

'Saturday," the band's first single off the second release, is an example of Heiskell's detached commentaries on the human condition compiled in folders he keeps around. He wrote the song a weeks after visiting an old friend in Florida.

"HERE HE was working the same job at some supermarket for six or seven years, living in a small cinderblock house with his wife. He was happy," Heiskell said. "Doing this kind of work, you're cut off from the real world.

The JudyBats in a sense have always been cut off - even initially from the Knoxville scene that would later embrace them.

The band, whose name is derived from a batwielding puppet in the Punch & Judy show, formed in 1986, a coalition of guitarist Ed Winters and Heiskell with neighbors Peggy Hambright, who performs on keyboards, violins and vocals; Timothy Stutz, a bassist; and Johnny Sughrue, acoustic guitarist.

The latter three were joyous purveyors of a "thrash sound," according to Heiskell, while he and Winters possessed a folk sensibility. Together, a dynamic was created that would sustain a creative thrust, unleashing a meld of rock, folk, jazz and pop upon somewhat puzzled thrash-saturated audiences in Knoxville.

"I was really paranoid when we started out," said Heiskell, noting the Knoxville area's thriving hard core scene at the time. "I was the only guy around who sang on key . . . We didn't have any cutting edge axes to grind. We took a lot of flack in the beginning."

SOON. KNOXVILLE took to the band as well as Sire Records, which promptly released a maxisingle "When Southern Bells Sing" after signing The JudyBats. "Native Son" drew immediate praise from critics and ended up on Billboard's

With the same producer, Richard Gottehrer (Ramones, Marshall Crenshaw, Blondie), the band returned to Bearsville Studios in order to try and recreate the magic.

"I wasn't aware we were going for something different when we went into the studio," Heiskell was our doing. We all agreed the first record was overproduced."

Production aside, Heiskell maintains knowledge of what makes a good pop song.
"A good song well come out in the first three minutes you're goofying around with it. You just

Fanzines: U2, 'Star Trek' and more

This column has mentioned topics like environmental degradation, Rush Limbaugh and the proliferation of strip malls, but the thing that got readers most riled up was a comment on the lack of fanzines around these days.

None too surprisingly, everyone who was irate about the subject happened to produce a fanzine of his own. So, in the interest of keeping the peace, here's a look at some of the 'zines produced in our neighborhood.

For those who don't know what the heck we're talking about here, a little review is in order. Fanzines are tiny magazines, usually printed with a Ditto machine, that are written by folks with a yen for publishing and a little extra time on their hands. If you'd like a full list of fanzines from around the world, write to Factsheet Five, 6 Arizona St., Rensselaer, N.Y. 12144-4502.

U2 And Then Some ($1 to Amy Johnson, 14154 Hubbell, Livonia 48154): As you may have guessed, this small booklet is dedicated to extolling the virtues of U2. But, since U2 wasn't doing anything for the past several years, Johnson fills her pages with other tidbits of info like a reader survey. The style is perky stream-of-consciousness. In John-son's letter to "Left of Center," she complimented this column, saying 'I sort of really enjoyed it.' Gee,

thanks, I guess

Protect Yourself - A Woman's Survival Guide on Campus: ($1 to Allen Salyer, P.O. Box 1551, Royal Oak 48068): Kudos to any man who can put out such a serious anti-rape 'zine. This earnest booklet advises women how to avoid rape with a slew of tips and article clippings. The motto is "Read this. Copy it. Pass it along to a friend. Protect yourself. If it of-fends you — too bad."

Infantazine ($1 to 501 Avis Drive, Suite 1, Box 130, Ann Arbor 48104): Every part of this 'zine is sure to offend someone. It treads the line between funny and disgusting. The style is the rantings and ravings of a madman. The troublesome thing is, the author seems to be serious.

Hailing Frequency: (U.S.S. Intrepid, P.O. Box 1094, Dearborn 48121): This isn't really a fanzine, but it's the newsletter for a local Star Trek club. Lorraine Hefner describes the club as an "alternative life style that we hope will lead to peace, caring for humanity, scientific discovery, ad-vances in education and wholesome social interactions." Sentient beings who believe that Star Trek is not just a TV show but rather a set of guide-lines to living one's life should contact the address above.

Several months ago, State Rep. Perry Bullard introduced legislation to establish a Michigan Registry of Bothersome Practices. The tonguein-cheek resolutions would allow folks who are bothered by things like junk mail and those little subscrip-tion cards that fall out of magazines to get them officially registered with

Here are some suggestions of bothersome things for the registry: (1) Unfunny comic strips like "Garfield" and "Funky Winkerbean." The Hall of Famer in this category is "Nancy."

(2) CD maxi-singles with 7 remixes of the same song. Listening to the same song seven times in a row is not healthy.
(3) The cost of food at the movies.

It works like this: The "wee junior drink" is two bucks, the large drink huge bucket o' pop or the hungry man, family-size barrel o' popcorn. What a bargain. (4) Infotainment TV shows. I'm hoping that these shows peter out from lack of material. After all, there are presumably a limited num-ber of brutal crimes involving ue and end up with the obscenely

(5) Local TV News. The hair-do's, the egoes, and the lack of any actual news are bothersome enough, but the worst part of these shows is their preoccupation with violent crimes. If on a given day, they don't meet their quota of local violent crime, they will show footage of violent crimes that happened in other cities.

THE OTHER thing is their copy-cat mentality. A few months ago, there was a plane that almost crashed at Metro Airport. It didn't crash or anything, but since the all news crews were already down there, they kept covering the non-

Every 15 minutes or so, they'd break into regular programming to say something like: "We're at the scene of the place where that plane almost crashed. The plane is still fine, and everyone is still uninjured." To beef up this kind of thorough news coverage, they interviewed bystanders who had witnessed that, indeed, the plane did not crash.

Armand Assante (left) portrays Cesar Castillo and Antonio Banderas is Nestor Castillo in "The Mambo Kings," the story of two brothers who bring their music and dreams of love and tame from Havana to New York.

Latin rhythms fuel 'Mambo Kings'

Havana in 1952, brothers Cesar and Nestor Castillo head for the swankiest Mambo palace in New York, The Palladium. Soon Cesar is on stage with Latin master Tito Puente, performing a hot drum solo.

Like your favorite stupid musical, "The Mambo Kings" is wildly entertaining, if not especially plausible, fueled by the belief that anything can happen with talent and guts.

It's a mess of a movie fueled by hairy-chested heros and hot Latin rhythms.

Armand Assante has his flashiest role to date as Cesar, the more outgoing of the two brothers. He's disgustingly macho but loyal to family and friends. He remains wary of flashy managers who want to control his career

Antonio Banderas, a regular in the films of Spanish director Pedro Almodovar, makes his American debut as Nestor. He can't seem to get Cuba or an old flame named Maria out of his head, even though he tries to share his brother's love of America and its opportunity.

IT BECOMES painfully obvious early on that guys dominate "The Mambo Kings." Marushcka Detmers, a powerful international actress, is relegated to the role of Nestor's long-suffering wife who watches him reach the top on a love song written for Maria, the woman whose name he mumbles in his

Cathy Moriarity has even less to do as Cesar's girlfriend. She pops in and out of the film while never establishing much of a character. It's tickets please John Monaghan

implied that Cesar remains faithful to her, despite his opportunities to sleep with any woman that catches the flash of his stiletto smile

What first-time director Arne Glimcher lacks in basic storytelling he makes up in visuals and music. These keep "The Mambo Kings" plodding along through the soap opera elements of the plot, which was based on Oscar Hijuelos' Pulitzer Prize-winning novel.

Expect for a couple of graphic sex enes, "The Mambo Kings" could have easily been made in the 1950s. The set design and clothes evoke the era, while the garish Technicolor compositions recall "Written on the Wind" and other campy melodramas by Douglas Sirk.

CHARACTERS cha-cha across the screen while the Castillo brothers' band, The Mambo Kings, struggle to ers. On weekends, they play bar mitzvah, birthday and bachelor parties until they get offered a big break

That break comes from none other than Desi Arnaz (grotesquely played by Desi Arnaz, Jr.), who gets the brothers a spot on the "I Love Lucy" show. In a brilliant bit of technical wizardry, the film will have you be-lieving that Lucy is really performing a skit with them.

The Mambo Kings" has simple goals and achieves them for the most part with style and flair. See it soon before you grow sick of Armand Assante, who is destined with this single film to become a household name and major American heartthrob.

'Month in Country' lacks strong plot

A terrified solider fallen to the muddy ground on a battlefield in France during World War I. That's a brief scene, a nightmare of a British veteran, that resonates through the film "A Month in the Country."

With a pronounced stammer, Colin Firth plays the veteran, one of those walking wounded survivors of the war. Taking a commission to uncover a Medieval mural hidden by layers of paint on a church wall, he heads for Yorkshire, his hands trembling so badly he has a difficult time lighting his cigarette on the train.

Things don't get any less stressful for the man when he arrives at the church, met by a surly cleric who makes it clear he doesn't want the painting uncovered.

The sour-faced minister doesn't have much choice since its a requirement of a larger bequest from a wealthy congregation member. Revealing the religious painting will only distract the congregation from worship says the reverend. But while he's at it, Firth might as well add a bit of color to some of the more faded sections of the ancient work.

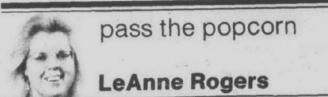

A SECOND project, funded by the same benefactor, is under way on the grounds surrounding the small country church. A second veteran, played by Kenneth Branagh, has been hired to dig up the body of an ancient ancestor buried outside the church grounds. Branagh is using his funded purpose to underwrite his own personal archeological scheme

A more outgoing and friendly sort of chap, Branagh seems intially to have survived the war better than Firth. But he's developed a strong fondness for trenches.

Branagh sees the irony of being one of those who survived the war "intact" and bitterly wonders if it wouldn't have been easier to deal with the loss of a limb or some other visible wound.

Rather reluctantly, Firth is sort of adopted by the local stationmaster's family and even roped into subsituting for the father to preach to a small church service. He doesn't provide the usual fire and brimstone sermon the congregation gets from the stationmaster.

"A Month in the Country"is one of those films that really doesn't have a strong plot, it's really a character study. Firth and Branagh are young men who are weighted with grief at

tional energy is spent trying not to deal with those memories. Both are drained and unable to move on to the rest of their lives with any success.

Firth develops a strong attraction for the reverend's rather young wife and is barely able to speak, let alone express those feelings. There is an aura of sadness about these young men that rarely seems to lighten.

Even the cleric, who lives with his wife in a large house with few furnished rooms, isn't the usual rural pastor disappointed in seeking a larger parish. His sourness stems from his disappointment that his congregation members don't share his religious devoutness.

He ministers to people who view him as useful insurance in getting divine intervention for good weather

Salem finishes 2nd in state again

By Dan O'Meara staff writer

Plymouth Salem will have to wait and try again next year to win a state championship in girls gymnastics.

Despite their No. 1 ranking, the Rocks were unable to dethrone defending champ Muskegon Mona Shores, which won its second straight title Friday night at Trenton.

The No. 2 Sailors, led by all-around standouts Heather Schneller and Becky Swelnis, scored 146.8 to out duel runner-up Salem (142.2) by a comfortable margin.

Plymouth Canton finished third (139.05), Bloomfield Hills Lahser sixth (135.85), Rochester seventh (134.7), Rochester Adams eighth (133.4) and Westland John Glenn 11th (130.1) in the 12team finals.

"It's disappointing but we didn't have a really good day, either," Salem coach Becky Martin said. "We did our best. Sometimes you're on and sometimes you're not.

"I'M PROUD OF everybody and what the team has done this year. All of them tried their hardest and did their best.

Martin, who coached the Rocks to their third straight Western Lakes Activities Association title, four invitational wins and a regional victory in her first year, thought Salem "got ripped" on floor exercise when the judges gave lower scores than expected to at least two routines.

Salem's Melissa Hopson and Courtney Gonyea received 9.15 each for their floor performances, but they should have scored 9.45, according to Canton coach John Cunningham.

Gonyea, a junior who finished fourth two years ago and ninth last year, had her best all-around performance in a state meet and moved up to gymnastics

third behind Schneller (37.9) and Swelnis (37.75)

"I think it's great considering Becky and Heather are really good," Gonyea said, adding another good bars routine (9.05) helped as it did in the regional where she was first.

"If I wasn't up in the nines again, I don't think I would have finished third. If I don't have a good bars, I don't have a good all-around. I just think it's really neat, because I never thought I would be that high. It was really surprising, actually.

Gonyea qualified for the Division I individual finals Saturday in every event. She was third on vault (9.4) after the first day, eighth on bars, second on beam (9.25) and sixth on floor (9.15).

HOPSON WAS 10th in the Division I all-around (35.95) and qualified in everything but bars. Stephanie Skeppstrom qualified on vault but just missed on bars, and Salem's Kristen Atkinson went to the Division II finals on vault.

Canton, ranked No. 3 for much of the season, upheld its statewide ranking while finishing in that position once again.

We were within two points of Salem, which is the best we've done all season," Cunningham said, "and I'm not disappointed with 139 because there were two low-scoring events. Floor and bars were "In no way am I disappointed with any routine we had today. We had some of the best performances we had all year.

Canton's Kim Rennolds finished eighth (36.1) among Division I all-arounders, moving up four places from last year, and qualified for finals on Teammates Jenny Tedesco and Dawn Clifford were sixth (34.45) and 11th (33.75) in Division II all-around. Tedesco advanced to the finals on vault and beam and Clifford, who was second Fri-

Troy Athens didn't qualify for the team competition but had two of the top Division I all-arounders in Vicki Epple and Stacey Kamar, who finished fourth (36.6) and fifth (36.45), respectively.

KAMAR, WHO improved upon her 14th-place finish in all-around last year, competed for the individual title on vault, bars and beam, and Epple qualified for finals on vault, beam and floor.

Lahser had its best team finish in coach Guy Theissen's four years as coach.

We've gotten a little better every year," Theissen said. "We were solid. We had a few mistakes, but we were basically pretty solid. We were seventh or eighth coming in and we're going out

Deanna Pierce of Lahser was second in Division II all-around (35.0) and was first on vault, fifth on beam and seventh on floor going into Saturday's round of competition. In addition to her, teammates Julie Wagner qualified on bars and floor, Lidia Spiroff on beam

Rochester finished seventh in the team competition for the second year in row, equaling its best placement under ninth-year coach Gale Renk-

We made it here and that was the hardest part, because our region was the hardest," Renkiewicz said. "We didn't have a great day but we tried. Someday-we're going to peak and you'll know who we are.

Rochester's Heather Cicero had a good first day in Division II competition, holding first place on bars, third on vault and beam and fifth on floor.

Canton wins 2nd straight district title

By Steve Kowalski staff writer

Plymouth Canton won a Class A boys basketball district championship Saturday night at Novi High, but now the Chiefs face an even taller order.

Literally Canton whipped Livonia Stevenson 60-47 in the district final to earn a right to play towering Adrian in Wednesday's 7 p.m. regional semifinal at Ypsilanti High School. Adrian is 21-2 overall and has a 7-foot center and 6-foot-4 player, each of whom has signed with Division I schools.

'They're very good," Canton coach Dave against Stevenson, outrebounding the smaller Spartans 53-25. Hal Heard, a 6-5 senior forward, led a balanced attack with 16 points and 16 rebounds. Senior guard Derrick McDonald also scored 16 points, while 6-7 senior center Tony Coshatt added 11 points and 11 rebounds.

The Chiefs led 32-30 at halftime before outscoring Stevenson 14-9 in the third quarter to open up a 46-39 lead. Stevenson (12-10 overall) missed its first seven shots of the quarter and for the game was 18 for 56 from the field (32 percent).

THE CHIEFS also struggled from the field (making 17 of 48 shots), but made 21 of 24 free throws, including 10 of 13 in the fourth quarter.

championship for the Chiefs and the third victory over the Spartans this season.

We felt going in that defense and rebounding would be the key," Van Wagoner said. "In the second half we started doing both extremely well. Both titles were very sweet. That (two straight championships) is a real accomplishment. Seven seniors played for the final time in a Stevenson uniform, including guard Matt Grodzicki, who scored a team-high 19 points Senior Colin Stockton added 14 points, but the Spartans tallest player, 6-4 senior Tony Stojov, had a less memorable final outing. Stojov failed to score in double figures and fouled out with 6:17 remaining. Coach Jim McIntyre knew the Spartans had matchs and their 19 fouls to only 11 by Canton proved that.

When your biggest kid is 6-4 and their point guard (Mike Brennan) is 6-6, you don't need to be a rocket scientist to figure that out," McIntyre said. "It was a nice effort tonight, I had no complaints about that. But I don't remember 20 of those rebounds being above the rim, and we didn't get the opportunity to get to loose rebounds that we' should have swiped off the floor."

McINTYRE SAID he'll miss the seven seniors but life goes on. Every year you lose seniors, kids that have been around three years," he said. "You just have to re-establish a family. The senior kids are class young men and do an excellent job everywhere." Canton also has seven seniors, including Brennan, who came up big in the second half. After an uninspired first half, Brennan finished with 14 rebounds and penetrated the key to set up his teammates on the Brennan scored only two second-half points, but had another two called off for offensive goaltending early in the third quarter on an impressive tip dunk. Even though the dunk didn't count, Brennan and the Canton crowd got fired up over it.

'I've done that in practice and I've wanted one all year in a game and finally got it done," Brennan said. "I felt the second half I played a little better. Coach was saying at halftime that the win (Wednesday) over Salem wouldn't mean a thing if we didn't make it to the regional.'

Gondek helps CC win title

By Steve Kowalski staff writer

Marc Gondek cut Detroit Henry Ford star Marco Hammond off at the pass Friday night, then made the pass that helped send Redford Catholic Central to its second straight Class A district championship.
The Shamrocks held off Ford, 57-

49, in a defensive battle sparked by Gondek, a nearly-forgotten junior re-serve guard. Gondek, who entered the game when senior teammate Tom Laco fouled out with 7:27 remaining in the third quarter, was later assigned to guard Hammond in the fourth quarter.

Hammond finished with a gamehigh 23 points, but missed five of his last six shots. Two of the misses were air balls and a third missed badly as Ford (5-11 overall) tried to rally late in the game.

"When we put Marc on No. 32, he never got another shot," said CC coach Bernie Holowicki, who won his 14th district title as Shamrocks' coach. "Marc can jump out of the GONDEK ALSO made an alleyoop back-door pass on an in-boun play to senior center Chad Varga, who banked in a two-foot shot for a 54-49 lead with 1:15 remaining in the game. Varga made a pair of free throws with 37 seconds left and split another pair with :26 left for a 57-49 lead, but both coaches agreed the back-door pass was the key play of the game.

"That was the one play we worked on in practice, we've seen them do it at least six times in the tournament

Chiefs avenge loss to Rocks

By Dan O'Meara staff writer

To Plymouth Canton coach Dave Van Wagoner, it was something on the order of destiny.

It was more a matter of age and experience, according to Plymouth Salem coach Bob Brodie.

Depending on one's view, it was the difference Thursday night when Canton fought off a Salem rally late in the second half and defeated the Rocks 68-59 in the district basketball tournament at Novi.

Thinking 1992 is their year, the Chiefs believed they would not be de-nied a victory in the post-season meeting between rivals after they were upset 58-57 by Salem in the Western Lakes Activities Association playoffs.

'Our guys have a lot of pride," Van Wagoner said. "The last game - when they beat us by a point - hurt them and hurt me, and we responded tonight.

"I think we proved we are the better team this year. We were a very determined team. We're a veteran team and I knew our guys were going to hang on at the end."

THE CHIEFS (17-4) showed their determination at the outset as they gained a surprisingly big lead, jumping in front 20-9 early in the second

Canton led by as many as 16 points in the second half, but just when you begin to think it's going to be an untypical, suspenseless Can-ton-Salem game something happens to change that.

In this case, it was full-court pressure by the Rocks (14-8), who turned a near blowout and 15-point deficit

basketball

into an ern tion-filled contest and five-point di 'erence within the span of 45 seconds

Tony Coshatt dropped in a six-foot shot to give Canton a 55-40 lead with 4:45 left in the game, but Salem trimmed that margin by two thirds at the four-minute mark with 10 unanswered points.

Brian Jensen's layup and Eric Stemmer's free throws started the rally. Then the Chiefs made three straight back-court turnovers and Salem converted each one.

Mike Abraham, who scored a game-high 23 points in his high school finale, scored twice and Stemmer once to finish the run, which increased the intensity inside the packed gymnasium.

We never relaxed," Van Wagoner said. "They just put good old-fashioned pressure on us and, for a couple minutes there, we didn't handle it very well.

BUT MY KIDS are a veteran roup and I had confidence in them. No matter what happens our guys were going to figure out a way to win this game, I thought."

The experience on the Canton team, which finished the regular season 12-0 in the WLAA, showed through at the end despite losing center Tony Coshatt to a fifth foul with 3:01 remaining and the Chiefs up 57-51.

A pair of Jensen free throws cut the Canton lead to four (57-53). But

Zebras ground Rockets

By Brad Emons staff writer

Coach Chuck Henry has now won five Class A district boys basketball titles at Wayne Memorial, but Friday's final tally had to be the most

The Zebras romped to an 89-49 victory at Garden City High, running their overall season record to 19-3.

The reward for winning the GC district is a date with perennial state power Detroit Cooley, which squeaked by city rival Cody on Friday, 68-66. Wayne and the Cardinals will square off at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday at Southfield High in the regional semifinals

"Cooley is number one in the state and undefeated, but what impresses me more than anything about them is that several times (this season) they've been down by large margins and have come back," Henry said. 'That means they have a group of kids who will really scratch and claw to win. They're mentally tough and that's what I respect more than anything about them.

Wayne was never in serious trouble against Glenn (12-10), a team which has not beaten the Zebras in 10 years.

It was 18-10 after one quarter and 36-19 at intermission.

THE ROCKETS, a 72-53 loser to Wayne earlier this year, couldn't find the basket with a base fiddle, shooting a meager 24.2 percent from the field (8 of 33) on the night.

"In the first half we wanted to go inside and get penetration to the basket," Glenn coach Pat Bennett ex-plained. "We got the ball in there, but didn't put it down. And we also wanted to get to the free throw line, and we didn't." (Glenn was seven of 12 from the line).

Wayne senior forward Rick Barnes pumped in 17 of his gamehigh 21 in the opening half.

The Zebras continued their assault the third quarter, outscoring Glenn 30-16 to put it way out of reach. During that stretch Wayne shot 70 percent (12 of 17) from the "Obviously we're very happy with the way things went," Henry said. "We were a little jittery early and missed some shots. And I was concerned about their big lineup.

"But I was surprised that things went our way as well as they did. We were consistent both offensively and defensively."

Twelve different Wayne players scored with junior guard Dontez Prewitt coming off the bench to contribute 11.

"WAYNE'S QUICKNESS and depth get to you," Bennett said. "And the next thing you now they're mak-ing steals and baskets.

Their defense is solid, too. They're a well-rou take advantage of what's given to

Once again Glenn had problems keeping Wayne off the offensive

"Barnes came flying in from I don't know where, sometimes out near the free throw line," Bennett said. "We talked and talked about getting body contact. The job was done, but not completely."

Aaron Scheffer, a junior, led Glenn with 11 points. Ken Taylor and Kevin Champion added 11 and nine, re-

With Glenn comfortably out of the way, Henry can now concentrate on Cooley, a team which eliminated the Zebras in 1989 and '90 regionals.

"They're very aggressive and come at you full-court, they also have a 6-foot-8 kid in the middle to contend with," Henry said. "But the key is how we get the ball down the court and how well we can get a shot off."

Hal Heard scored the next four points, including two free throws, for the Chiefs, and Derrick McDonald (five) and Jon Paupore (two) scored the last seven Canton points at the

"It's a game of peaks and val-leys," Brodie said, adding his team showed poise, character and heart with its fourth-quarter effort. "Canton was trying to hold a lead and we had nothing to lose. We were coming at them with reckless abandon, but good teams are going to regroup and hold their own.

"I give Canton credit. They're an experienced team and they had a lot of talent back from last year. They certainly aren't going to get rattled under our pressure and let us take a big lead early in the game."

McDonald scored 19 points to lead Canton and was 7-of-9 at the line in the last period. Heard notched 11 of his 17 points in the second half, and Coshatt finished with 16, scoring a lot of first-half layups as his team-mates looked for him inside. Paupore added seven.

Tony stepped out and played 6foot-7 for us tonight," Van Wagoner said. "He just did a great job. Hal Heard has been a real consistent player for us. You can count on Hal night after night.

"THE GAME was over once we got on the line. There's no one I'd rather have on the line than Derrick McDonald. He has ice water in his Stemmer, another senior, scored 11 points, Bobby Schneider seven, Mike Slone and Jensen six apiece for the Rocks, who shot 38 percent (21-55) from the floor. Canton was an even 50 percent (27-54) in its shoot-

McDonald scored eight first-quarter points as Canton made half of its 14 shots and led 14-9. The Chiefs scored the first six points of the second quarter on layups - Coshatt sank two - and extended the margin to 11 before Salem got back to within nine at halftime, 29-20.

"Our defensive concentration was lax early in the game," Brodie said. "We talked about the things we wanted to do against them, and we just weren't doing them in the first

"You can't afford to have lapses on defense if you're struggling on offense and not making free throws (six first-half misses) like we were. You can't struggle on defense, too, and expect to win the game."

Canton started and ended the third quarter with six and seven unanswered points. McDonald scored twice and Heard, who had seven points in the period, once to make it 35-20.

PAUPORE SANK a triple, Mike Brennan scored off a rebound and Heard finished with a layup following a turnover as the Chiefs upped their lead to 49-33 at the end.

Slone made a three-point play, Abraham hit a three-point shot and Slone sank a free throw to get Salem within 11 early in the last quarter, 51-40.

Salem got a bad break in the first quarter when 6-6 sophomore James Head (three points) twisted an ankle and tried to play with limited mobility after that.

"He couldn't guard people very well," Brodie said. "That has an effect just on sync when you take a big body out of there.

'What's neat about our comeback is that we did it with him on the bench. Other players stepped forward and did the job for us."

and knew it was coming," Ford coach William Carter said. "We didn't allow them to execute it the entire ballgame but our kids were tired and broke down mentally. It was the play that broke our backs."

The play, as usual, came after a CC timeout. "It's a safe play and it's been good to us," Holowicki said. "Even the kids on the bench wanted to call it." THE WIN WAS the fifth straight for CC, which improved to 18-4 overall. The Shamrocks in all probability will meet Detroit Southwestern in Tuesday's 8 p.m. regional semifinal at Southfield High School.

Each team struggled miserably, especially in the second quarter, from the field. CC missed its last 12 shots of the first half and for the game was 18-for-52 (34 percent) from the floor. Ford missed its last 11 shots of the first half and finished 17-58 (29 percent).

The Trojans wanted to hold CC's powerful tandem of Varga and senior forward Bob Kummer to less than 35 points and they almost did. The pair combined for 37, with Varga scoring 12 of his 21 points in the fourth quarter and Kummer finish-

The Shamrocks received an early boost from Laco, who scored nine first-half points. Junior Brian Paluk (seven points and nine rebounds) and reserves Damien Baskerville, Will Marcoux and Andy Slankster played strong in the second half.

But no one could stop Hammond in the last four minutes of the third quarter, when he made three shots from three-point range and a threepoint play to erase a 34-29 deficit and put Ford up 41-38.

A steal and two-handed dunk by Kummer pulled CC within one, 41-40, with 25 seconds left in the third quarter and the Shamrocks scored the first eight points of the fourth quarter to open up a 48-41 lead.

A THREE-POINTER by Paluk and tip-in by Varga highlighted the run.

"Our goal was to stop Varga and Kummer and allow the rest of them to pick up whatever they could pick up and we could still win the ballgame," Carter said. "But late in the game we lost our concentration, took a couple ill-advised shots, but nevertheless played hard. Give CC credit. Kummer and Varga are fine players and are going to make great Division I players.'

CC enjoyed a 41-27 rebounding advantage with Kummer leading the way with 12 and Varga adding 10. Ford's 6-foot-7 sophomore center Maurice Taylor didn't score a point until he got a dunk in the third quarter and finished with six points and seven rebounds.

Taylor blocked several shots by Varga and Kummer in the first half but didn't grab as many rebounds as expected. Senior John Lathan gave the Trojans a boost with nine points, all on threes in the first half. Ford led 15-13 after one quarter but trailed 25-24 at halftime.

After losing last year's Class A state championship to Trenton, Brother Rice's hockey team sat in their locker rooms at the Flint IMA Arena in tearful silence.

It was a dramatically different emotion the Warriors experienced this year.

Brother Rice captured the first state ice hockey championship in its storied athletic history Saturday evening with a 6-1 pasting of surprise finalist Ann Arbor Pioneer.

When the buzzer sounded to end the one-sided, anti-climactic game, the Warriors threw their sticks into the air and raced to celebrate with All-State goalie Derek Billis. A few minutes later, the Warriors skated jubiliantly around the IMA's big rink, taking turns holding the state-championship trophy aloft in Stanley

This year, the locker room was filled with unrestrained joy.

"THIS HAS been a goal of ours

after last year's game. We were crying last year," said Rice captain Brian Hartwell. "But we brought it home this year. That was our motto - bring it home. And we did.

"It feels incredible to be the first team to win a hockey state championship at our school with all the athletic tradition we have," he said. "It's the ultimate feeling. This team has worked so hard. It's a dream come true.'

the Pioneers.

The Warriors' first-period goals were tallied by Matt Allen (two), Mitch Murlick, Matt Fleury and Hartwell. Allen tallied the first goal of the second period to complete his

> The spectacular advances in medicine have reached heart disease and cancer, to date, arthritis therapy is excluded from such headline advances. However you should not conclude that now, as in decades past, 'Arthritis is something you have to live with.' The arthritis that dogs old age - osteoarthritis, gout, polymyalgia and frozen shoulder - are amenable to treatment. Available therapy includes salycitates in forms that do not upset the stomach or interfere with medications for other ailments. Joint aspiration often gives prolonged return of function and orthopedic surgery is available for nearly any badly deformed joint with age no barrier to this intervention.

Rice's previous four state playoff games - two of which went into overtime - weren't decided until the final minutes. The Warriors took care of business right away against

Rice outshot Pioneer in the first period by a 16-1 margin and scored five times to take command right

With the care possible if you have arthritis, there is no need for narcotic painkillers, or reason to become wheelchair bound, nor requirement to enter a nursing home because of arthritis

The modern treatment of arthritis is not spectacular, but it is steady. If your limbs are in pain

O HOCKEY FINALISTS

The Mite Double-B Indians of the Plymouth-Canton Hockey Association will play for the Little Caesars championship at 5:30 p.m. Wednesday in Joe Louis Arena against the AFI Thunder.

The Indians reached the final with a 3-2, double-overtime victory over the Redford Red Wings Tuesday at Canfield Arena in Dearborn.

Eric Mayer scored all three goals for the Indians, including the gamewinner with 16 seconds left in the second overtime. Brett VanderMale assisted on the winning goal, and Sean Nappo was credited with assists on the first two.

The Indians, who were 13-5-2 in the regular season and 4-1-0 in the playoffs, are coached by Mike Patrick, who is assisted by Hugh MacEachern.

KICKS UNBEATEN

The 1982 Plymouth Kicks were undefeated in 16 games and won indoor soccer championships in two divisions (under-10 and under-11).

Team members are Jeremy Borsos, Justin Bruner, Jeff Chrza-nowski, Jonathan Dale, Adam Demchick Scott Duhl, Ian Evans, Stephen Gordan, Matt Jahnke, Jonathan Johnson, Adam Kolb, Jason Lukasik, Michael Liss, David Pinta, Andrew Rea, Nick Show, Chris Touhey and Kyle Winkler. ADAMS' COACH Shellei Lang was pleased with her team's showing, especially since it was the first time she has taken the Highlanders to the state meet.

"As a team, in our region and with all our injuries, I was just hoping to come here, and then we won it," Lang said, adding Adams was coming off an emotional high following the regional in which the Highlanders scored 140. "It was a new experience for them."

Julie Barnes of Adams was 12th (33.65) in Division II all-around and went to the finals on bars and floor, and teammate Regan Hall qualified on vault. Glenn's state-finals appearance was the career finale for coach Pam

"It's a good way to finish out my last year of coaching," she said. "I'm retiring to do some mothering. My daughter goes into high school gymnastics next year (at Salem), and I'd like to be a mom."

The Rockets qualified Kyna Morgan for the Division II finals on vault, bars and floor. Other area individuals advancing to the second round were Troy's Beth Gould on bars and beam and North Farmington's Michelle Tsai and Jameelah Gater on bars.

Canton gymnast wins 3

Justin Semion of Canton earned three first-place ribbons on his way to a third-place overall finish in the semi-annual boys gymnastics meet Feb. 23 at All-Around Gymnastics Center in Livonia.

The 16-year-old also picked up a second and third in the meet that drew more than 40 boys from nine teams across the state.

Semion finished first on vault with a score of 8.4, first on parallel bars (7.5) and first on the high bar (5.9). He scored 5.1 on the pommel horse to earn second place, and his 7.9 on floor exercise was good for third place. Semion finished with an overall score of 41.1 in a meet last week at the Great Lakes Gymnastics Center in Avon Lake, Ohio. He placed fifth on vault with a score of 8.4 in the meet featuring nine teams from four states. Doug Stibel, another 16-year-old Canton all-around gymnast, will compete with Semion next weekend against other elite-class gymnasts from across the country in Colorado Springs, Colo. This meet with be an Olympic-level Stibel, a sophomore at Plymouth Canton, is ranked as one of the country's top 15 gymnasts by the United States Gymnastics Federation. Both boys are coached by All-Around owner Kevin Watson.

Livonia soccer stars sign with Wisconsin

By Brad Emons staff writer

The Observerland connection keeps growing at the University of

The Badgers added a pair of men's soccer recruits when Livonia Stevenson's Travis Roy and Livonia Churchill's Scott Lamphear recently signed national letters-of-intent.

The All-State and All-Observer performers join Plymouth Salem product Jeff Gold, who was an 18point scorer last fall for the recordsetting 17-4-1 Badgers.

Livonia Stevenson's Lisa Thomas is also headed for Wisconsin's final four women's soccer team (joining Farmington product Carrie Maier).

Roy led 20-0-3 Stevenson to the state Class A championship last fall en route to Michigan's Mr. Soccer and state Gatorade Circle of Champions Player of the Year honors. He was also a All-American selection.

Roy, who also considered Penn State, is as talented in the classroom as he is on the field. He carries a 4.0plus grade-point average.

The senior scored a 31 on the ACT and a 1,340 on the SAT while reaching the final round of the state high school mathematics competition.

'Wisconsin's chemical engineering program is number one in the nation and it's a big school, 45,000 to 50,000, so there are many things to keep you occupied," said Roy, who scored 30 career goals to go along with 35 assists. "The campus is huge. It's beautiful, surrounded by two lakes. It's a typical midwestern campus."

ROY, an all-around performer who excels at sweeper, was a member of the Metro Magic club team which captured the U.S. Youth Soccer Association's Under-16 national crown in 1990 before losing the 1991 Midwest Regional (Under-17). He plans to play this spring for the Vardar Under-19 team.

"Travis is a very talented player whose versatility allows him to play anywhere on the field," Wisconsin coach Ray Launder said. "He's extremly strong, so we'll look to play him up front."

Lamphear also plans a career in chemical engineering

Carrying a 3.59 G.P.A., Lamphear scored 100 percent on his science placement test and was a top student debater on the Michigan state team for three years.

"It was the combination of the two - chemical engineering and a top 20 soccer program," said Lamphear, who also considered Notre Dame, University of Detroit-Mercy and Cornell. "They give the athletes a lot of benefits.

"Except for the cold (weather), it has everything I need."

Lamphear, a four-year starter, played sweeper for the 16-2-2 Chargers, who were rated No. 1 in Class A during most of the regular season.

THE CHURCHILL standout played on the Olympic Development Program's regional team from 1989-91 and was a member of the Vardar III Soccer Club that placed third in the Patrick Indoor Nationals.

"Scott is an excellent defender who's very smart," Launder said. "He should fit into our system well because he can go forward.

These are two of the top studentathletes in the region, who can fit into our system immediately.

Wisconsin also may be close to signing another All-Stater and All-Observer performer.

Churchill striker Mike Gentile, a Parade All-American and member of the Olympic Development Junior National squad, has narrowed down his choices to Wisconsin and Duke.

"I've put in a little nudge for him," Lamphear said of his high school teammate. "We'd work well together and it's good Travis is going, too. We all know each other. It would be

APARTMENT HUNTING!...

Every Monday and Thursday in the Classified Real Estate Section.

You'll find an impressive number of listings that cover a large suburban area. You're sure to find that special place among the large number of listings in...

Observer & Eccentric CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

644-1070 Oakland County 591-0900 Wayne County 852-3222 Rochester/Rochester Hills

How interested are you in selling your home?

Interested enough to spend a few moments and discover the best place to advertise the fact that your home is for sale?

Good. We knew you were intelligent. In fact, more than 40% of our readers have college degrees or better.*

And if knowlege is power, let's look at a few powerful facts: this newspaper, the one you're reading right now, reaches some of the most affluent households in Wayne and Oakland counties:

FACT: When you advertise with us you will reach 9 out of 10 adults in the Observer & Eccentric market area who have read weekly classified advertising.*

FACT: 91% of the adults in our market area who had read classified advertising in the past seven days had read it in the Observer & Eccentric*.

By the way, did you know that all those little ads in the back of this newspaper—the ones placed by people like you—are published in all 12 newspapers?

Therefore, when you advertise anything from a horn to a home, you will automatically reach this huge, interested reading audience.

What else can we say? We've had years of experience in publishing newspapers and are proud of our record for successfully putting home buyers in touch with home sellers.

In fact, we've just introduced HOMELINE, a great new way to find out about open houses simply by using your touchtone telephone.

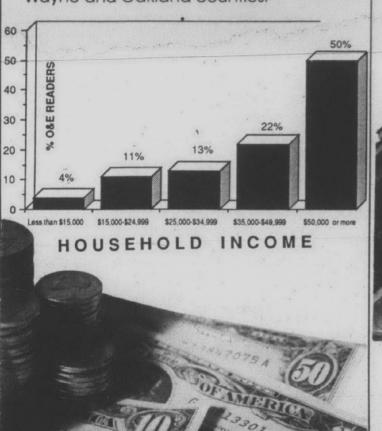

Be sure to mention it to your Realtor® so that when it comes time to show your home, it will be described on HOMELINE.

That's a median household income of more than $50,000—$10,000 more than the income of the people who don't read our newspapers. So when you advertise in your Observer & Eccentric newspapers, you not only reach thousands of smart people, you reach people with substantial incomes.

Now, that's something to smile about.

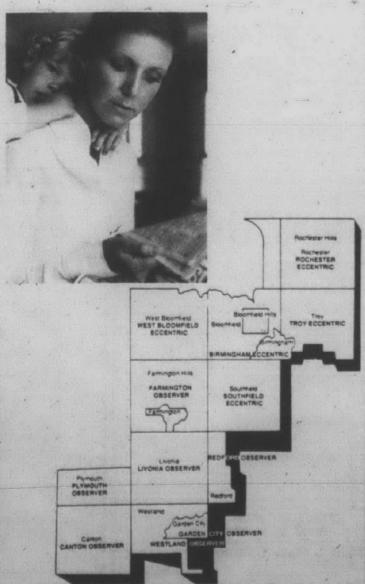

Our circulation area has 90% home ownership and look at the value of our reader's homes:

So, we can offer you one quarter of a million adult readers and a very rich market, what else do we have for you? How about an award-winning newspaper— a newspaper that people trust and look forward to reading? One that reaches 25 communities with important local news that's not available anywhere else.

That's us.

By Candace Havens

March 16-March 22, 1992

Dear Candace: Janine Turner of Northern Exposure was once on General Hospital. Do you know when and what role she played? - Lonoine Gerich, Royal Oak, Mich.

Dear Reader: Turner portrayed the very sexy blonde Laura Templeton from 1982-83. Laura was the sister of Jackie Templeton, portrayed by Demi Moore. Ironically, the two look like they really could be sisters now, with their short dark hair.

Dear Candace: I'm writing you to say Jessica Tuck (who played Megan on One Life to Live) is a great actress. Her last scene where she died in Jake's arms was so convincing it had me in tears.

Would it be possible to get her address so I can write to her? Maybe you could give some information on Tuck. No one else could have been better as Megan. —Camille Martinez, Tucumcari, N.M.

Dear Reader: You are not alone in your praise of Tuck's performance. I have received a good deal of mail indicating viewers were going to stop watching OLTL because Tuck left the show. Many felt ABC should have done whatever it took to keep her.

The network did make several lucrative offers to Tuck, but she chose to leave. She felt that she had done all she could do with the character. She is looking forward to finding work in prime time and feature films. It will be interesting to see if she does indeed find work, or heads back to daytime with her tail between her legs.

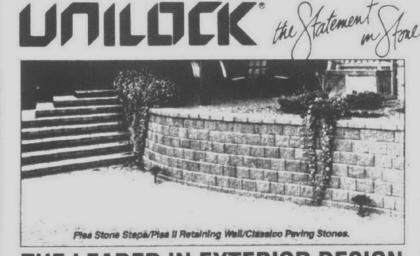

Tuck has several theater credits to her name, and she made her television debut on OLTL in August 1988. A native New Yorker, she attended boarding school in New England, and then earned her bachelors degree from Yale University, where she majored in psychology.

One of Tuck's greatest passions is cleaning up the environment. She is a self-described "outdoor girl," and avidly pursues skiing, softball, horseback riding and mountain climbing, and can even milk a cow.

You may write to Tuck c/o, ABC-TV, One Life to Live, 77 West 66th Street, New York, NY, 10023. The show will forward her mail.

"Broadway Bound" a real gift to viewers

Skillful cast hits perfect note

By Steven Alan McGaw Neil Simon turned a corner in 1983, as a playwright and, one suspects, as a man. That was the year his nostalgic, emotionally centered 'Brighton Beach Memoirs" debuted on Broadway. His well-known skill for rapid-fire one-liners was still in evidence but balanced with a serious, wistful story line. Eugene Jerome, a 14year-old in love with radio, writing and the Yankees, reflected the young Simon, and the play offered a window to the writer's youth.

Next came "Biloxi Blues," as the 18-year-old Eugene found himself in the blazing Mississippi heat. learning a little about the Army and a lot about love. Like the earlier play, "Biloxi Blues" was made into a movie and reached a wide. appreciative audience, if slightly diluted from Simon's original dark, often melancholy drama.

'Now, the third installment of Eugene's saga is set on film, this time for the home screen, and it's the best of the lot. Billed as an "ABC Theater" presentation, "Neil Simon's Broadway Bound" debuts on Monday, March 23. Simon himself has adapted his play for the intimacy of television, and it's a perfect match of medium and

'Broadway Bound' takes place in 1948, once more in the Jeromes' worn Bronx household. Eugene and his older brother Stan, each in their 20s, are struggling to make a name for themselves as comedy writers. Thus far, their success has been limited to a few monologues sold to a man who plays weddings and bar mitzvahs. Then Stan hears of an opportunity... to show their work to someone at CBS. There's only one problem: The brothers have just one night to write the sketch.

Stan and Eugene are not alone in the house. Their irascible, socialist grandfather Ben is likely to be found asleep somewhere or covering his failing health with off-putting bluster. The boys' devoted, sharptongued mother is always ready to offer something to eat, but less generous with disclosing the sadness of her loveless marriage. Jack Jerome is almost a stranger in the house, distanced from his wife and sons by his own disillusionment

As the boys wrack their brains for comedic inspiration, they realize not only the depth of their ambitions. but what the inevitable source of their humor will be. Out of their own lives, their own troubled. contradictory family, the jokes will almost write themselves. The brothers have inherited their mother's gift of humor, of displacing her own pain and unrest with a fresh and funny viewpoint. Laughter is not flight from reality, but the best way to wrestle with it.

Matthew Broderick created the role of Eugene Jerome on Broadway, with understudy Jonathan Silverman stepping in for the screen portrayal in "Brighton Beach." Broderick then reclaimed the role for the big-screen adaptation of "Biloxi Blues." Now, Corey Parker plays the thinly disguised Simon alter ego and he's every bit as good as his predecessors. Silverman now takes the role of Stan, in a performance that's alternately charming, angry and hilarious.

Anne Bancroft is luminous as Kate Jerome, the mother whose humor and toughness inspires her sons more than they know. Hume Cronyn is hilarious and touching as Ben, and Jerry Orbach makes a tragic hero of the boys' largely unsympathetic dad. Michele Lee delivers a brief but excellent performance as Blanche, Kate's sister, whose marriage to a rich man is a source of ceaseless irritation to her leftist father.

"Neil Simon's Broadway Bound" is television at its best, in every aspect. The direction, by four-time Emmy winner Paul Bogart, is taut and sure, and the costumes and art direction hit the period mark

C-SPAN a tool in the classroom

By Chris Carpenter When the Cable-Satellite Public Affairs Network (C-SPAN) began broadcasting live sessions of the U.S. House of Representatives in 1979. good things started happening. Legislators draped themselves in snappier suits, and interested constituents were suddenly able to see before their very eyes what their local politico was or was not doing to earn their vote.

A non-profit cooperative of the cable industry, C-SPAN has expanded its coverage of government to include call-in shows, open forums and even a weekly session of Parliament.

If C-SPAN's programming schedule reads like the syllabus of a high school government class, it should. Schools are more than encouraged to sign up for C-SPAN in the Classroom. a project offered free of charge to any educator with the hutzpah to wheel a television and VCR into class. Not only are there no copyright hurdles, C-SPAN will gladly provide teachers with instruction ideas, brochures and a toll-free hotline for daily schedules.
