Cheap clay key to landfill cleanup

By [Name] [Address] [Phone]

It's a simple idea, but it's one that could revolutionize the way we handle our waste. A new study by researchers at the University of Michigan suggests that using cheap clay to line landfills could significantly reduce the amount of leachate that seeps into the ground, potentially saving millions of dollars in cleanup costs.

The study, conducted by a team of environmental engineers and geologists, found that a thin layer of specially formulated clay could act as a highly effective barrier against the flow of liquids from landfills. This is particularly important in areas where the underlying soil is porous and prone to contamination.

The researchers tested their theory in a series of laboratory experiments, showing that the clay lining could reduce leachate flow by up to 90 percent. They also conducted field tests at a small-scale landfill, demonstrating the practical application of the technology.

"This is a game-changer for the waste management industry," said one of the lead researchers. "By using this cheap clay, we can drastically reduce the environmental impact of landfills and save a huge amount of money in the process."

The study also highlights the importance of proper landfill management, including regular monitoring and maintenance. The researchers emphasize that while the clay lining is a promising technology, it must be used in conjunction with other waste management practices to ensure long-term success.

O&E to recoup fees in suit

Former Garden City industrial landholder Thomas Marrocco Jr. and his attorneys have been ordered to pay $134,076.69 in costs and attorney fees to the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers.

The judgment, granted by Wayne County Circuit Court Judge John H. Hausner on May 8, was the result of a lawsuit filed last October by Marrocco charging the newspaper with libel and slander in an Oct. 22, 1991, story concerning the race for 21st District Court judge. That case was dismissed, however, Marrocco has filed an appeal.

Hausner, at an April 3 hearing, called the lawsuit against the newspaper "despicable, abusive, frivolous and frivolous."

The judgment was entered against Marrocco and attorneys Alexander B. Ritchie of Southfield and Robert J. Lord of Fair Haven.

Darrell Grims of Wise & Marston, one of the attorneys handling the O&E defense said, "The court properly granted the defendants' motion to dismiss the case. Significantly, the court also imposed sanctions against Mr. Marrocco and his counsel because the court found that the lawsuit was 'despicable, abusive, frivolous and frivolous'."

It has been his experience that federal courts are not reluctant to impose sanctions, but sanctions are unusual in Michigan state courts. In his judgment, the judge said that such sanctions in Michigan would substantially improve the quality of the judicial system in this state.

Although Marrocco, acting as his own attorney, signed the original complaint against the O&E, Hausner entered the order against the two other attorneys because they signed it to the lawsuit.

Richard Agrin, president of Sebastian Communications Corp., the parent company of the O&E, said, "I was pleased to see that the court concluded that our reporting of the story was fair and accurate and within the bounds of proper journalistic conduct."

Senate preserves teacher training

By TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

Teacher training in the Michigan Model for Comprehensive Health Education was preserved when the state Senate last week kept $2 million in a budget bill.

The Michigan Model, under right wing attack as undermining parental authority, won a 23-9 vote of confidence during the school and debate.

"It's anti family, anti religion, it teaches situation ethics and says nothing is right or wrong," objected Sen. Doug Carl, R-Livonia, who sought to remove the money.

Carl said questions of what should resolve by asking his or her father and mother are treated as "problem solving."

"It's not anti family or anti religion, and it's not pro sex and drugs," replied Sen. John Schwarz, R-Battle Creek. "It's opposed by the Eagle Forum and the Dots Foundation, right wing groups. There's a touch of winners for you."

The Michigan Model, question spot minority Republicans, and could become an issue in races for higher office. Carl is running for Congress in a Macomb County district. Schwarz is a new mid state district.

For Ford truck division engineers Don Duffy and Kumar Galmotra, it meant five Fridays of overtime to make up for time spent in the classroom.

But teaching Eriksson Elementary School fourth graders about design and aerodynamics proved enjoyable for Duffy, Galmotra and everyone concerned, say teacher Toni Zink and her students.

As part of Zink's "World in Motion" unit and an Society of Automotive Engineers program, Duffy was teamed with Eriksson School, where his daughter Heather attends kindergarten.

"Only one engineer was supposed to be teamed with our school. But Don told Kumar about it and he thought it would be interesting. He'd never worked with kids before," said Zink. Duffy is from Canton and Galmotra from Farmington Hills.

By the end of the five weeks, Duffy and Galmotra had established such a rapport with students that everyone exchanged hugs. "When they left they said they couldn't believe it was the last day," said Zink.

Under the direction of Duffy and Galmotra, students designed "skimmers" with paper and tape in shapes they thought would travel the fastest when driven by blasts of air supplied by balloons and turkey basters.

Students learned about force, friction, mass and air resistance.

"The purpose of the lesson was to

"It was really fun. We learned a lot of things," said Kristin Osborne, 10. "I would like to be an engineer. They design cars and help people go farther and faster. They put air bags in to help them be safer."

Valerie Brown, 10, said "I liked it because it was fun to learn about what engineers do. It gave me a chance to think about what I want to do when I grow up. I might want to be an engineer."

Sean Ward, 10, said, "I liked working in teams and not having to figure out the whole thing by yourself. Before this, I just thought there was only one kind of engineer that drove a train. Now I know what they do for work."

Tim Long, 10, said, "I don't think we could have learned as much without the engineers to help us."

Hands on: Students at Eriksson Elementary work with Ford engineers Kumar Galmotra (center) and Don Duffy (not pictured), learning about design and aerodynamics by crafting their own air-driven "skimmers."

Lawmakers cut inheritance tax

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

A quarter of a loaf is better than hunger, state Senate Republicans decided.

The Michigan Legislature passed a bill cutting the inheritance tax by about $18.5 million as the GOP gave up on repealing the $80 million tax entirely.

"This is the first major step to repealing the inheritance tax," said Senate GOP chief Dick Posthumus of Alto. "It's a compromise worked out with the speaker (Democrat Lew Dodak). It's not as far as I'd like to go."

The Senate vote on Senate Bill 1 was 29-7. Action came last week as 7,000 of the elderly gathered in Lansing for Senior Power Day. House action came a day later.

The vote split senators into three camps:

- Those accepting the compromise — Republicans Mat Dunaskiss of Lake Orion and Dave Honig-man of West Bloomfield, and Democrats Jack Faxon of Farmington Hills, William Faust of Westland and George Z. Hart of Dearborn.

- Those holding out for full repeal (voting no) — Republicans Michael Bouchard of Birmingham and Robert Geake of Northville, along with the bill's longtime sponsor, Nick Smith of Addison.

- Those wanting no tax cut at all (voting no), notably Lana Pollack, D-Ann Arbor.

"Certainly it's a burden," said Pollack. "Every tax is a burden. Unfortunately, SB 1 will eliminate $18.5 million of revenue when it's phased in. It will compound our structural deficit."

Pollack blistered $67.5 million in tax cuts sponsored by both Democrats and Republicans. "We've cut $30 million in services to seniors. They can't eat because we've cut money for dentures. They can't hear because we've cut money for hearing aids. We've decimated our support for the arts. We've had to rely on increasing fees for parks," she said.

Posthumus said the compromise will eliminate the inheritance tax on family-held businesses and farms. The exemption for estates going to close relatives will be raised in steps from the current $10,000 to $50,000. It will affect about 75 percent of estates.

"A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush," agreed Sen. Harry Gast, R-St. Joseph.

Eliminating the inheritance tax has been a key point in Gov. John Engler's program for at least five years, since he commissioned a Hudson Institute report on improving the state's economic competitiveness and retaining residents.

In Engler's thinking, repealing the inheritance tax would help keep retirees in Michigan, where their spending for consumer goods and health care forms a strong underpinning in small northern towns.

Florida and 28 other states have repealed similar taxes.

Democrats tend to see cutting the tax as a boon for the rich. They prefer providing governmental services.

The House debate was brief, and the vote was 86-15 with eight not voting.

Democrats voting yes: Justine Barnes of Westland, John Bennett of Redford, Maxine Berman of Southfield, William Keith of Garden City, James Kosteva of Canton, Wilfred Webb of Hazel Park and Richard Young of Dearborn Heights.

Republicans voting yes: Lyn Banks of Livonia, Barbara Dobb of Union Lake, Jan Dolan of Farmington Hills, John Jamian of Bloomfield Township, Shirley Johnson of Royal Oak, Tom Middleton of Orionville.

Republican voting no: Gordon Sparks of Troy.

Not voting: Georgina Goss, R-Northville.

funding was Mat Dunaskiss, R-Lake Orion.

Voting to keep it were Michael Bouchard, R-Birmingham, William Faust, D-Westland, Jack Faxon, D-Farmington Hills, George Hart, D-Dearborn, and David Honigman, R-West Bloomfield.

Missing the vote was Robert Geake, R-Northville. Geake is a member of the select Senate committee studying the Michigan Model chaired by Sen. Gil DiNello, D-Clinton Township.

"Wait for our final report," said DiNello. "It's a well-intentioned piece of work for K-8 (kindergarten through eighth grade) on hygiene and growing up. But to be fair, there are some problems. I don't think it ought to be eliminated. It ought to be improved."

"When you have parents saying they couldn't get their kids out of class unless they went to the police or the prosecutor..." DiNello said the state just implemented the program in 1978 and that it isn't statutory.

The section was part of the $3 billion school aid bill that the Senate passed and sent to the House. If history is a guide, the numbers will be compromised in a six-member conference committee in June.

Opponents have tied deep-breathing as a method of calming oneself, which is taught under the Michigan

Model, to Eastern religious meditation and witchcraft. In listing "special people" from whom a child could ask advice, the Michigan Model lists mother last and omits father — an "anti-family bias," opponents contend.

"Exaggeration and misinformation," said Sen. Jim Berryman, D-Adrian.

Added Sen. Debbie Stabenow, D-Lansing: "They (opponents) were not successful in convincing their local school districts (to opt out of the Michigan Model), so they come to the state." Some 520 of Michigan's 562 school districts use the state health education program.

Senators rejected, on a 19-19 tie vote, a Democratic effort to remove a section that would penalize a district one-180th of its state aid per day if the schools are closed by a strike.

"It enriches the school aid fund by a very punitive process," said Sen. Jack Faxon, D-Farmington Hills. "It puts the burden on the children."

"Teachers are not penalized by striking," replied Gil DiNello, D-Clinton Township, who voted with Republicans on the measure.

Area Republicans Bouchard, Dunaskiss, Geake and Honigman voted against removing the section.

Democrats Faust, Faxon and Hart voted in favor.

WTUA awards construction contracts

In order to send first sewage flows by the fall of 1993, the Western Townships Utilities Authority has awarded bids for the project's second phase.

Executive director Deloris Newell said bids submitted by the three companies are within financial limits set by WTUA.

"Not only do we have firms that have well-established reputations, but we have bids that once again put the WTUA project on schedule and under budget," she said.

Low bidders are Rainbow Construction Co. of Livonia, to build a force main from Haggerty to Beck Road for $3.1 million; Ric-Man Construction Co. Inc. of Sterling Heights, for a force main from Michigan Avenue and Beck Road to the Ypsilanti treatment plant at $12.6 million; and Merriman Construction, for the pump station to send treated water from the plant back to the lower Rouge River, at nearly $3 million.

Both Rainbow Construction Co. and Ric-Man Construction Co. Inc. have performed previous work on the project. Work is expected to begin within 30 days, officials said.

WTUA chairman Tom Yack, also Canton Township supervisor, said the awarding of these phase two contracts means WTUA is taking the final step in keeping a promise made to residents of Canton, Northville and Plymouth townships in 1986.

"We would provide them with a waste water transportation system that would insure continued growth and control over costs," Yack said.

"In six years we have done exactly that and we are on schedule," Yack said.

Allegations of cronyism have been made by political opponents of WTUA officials, but a state investigation recently found no violations of state law.

McAuley adds to mental health services

The Catherine McAuley Health System has approved a plan for the redesign of mental health services.

The redesign ensures the continuation of services that includes inpatient, partial hospitalization and outpatient services, and adds a community-based, 24-hour acute care non-hospital component.

"The plan affirms McAuley's commitment to the delivery of quality mental health services and addresses current access issues," said Garry Faja, CMHS executive vice president and CEO for St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Aspects of the service delivery plan include:

- A 24-bed inpatient unit in the St. Joseph Mercy Hospital building. During the next 12 months, beds will also continue to be used at the Center for Mental Health and Chemical Dependency building.

- Increased partial hospitalization capacity from 18 to 45 positions for adolescents and adults.

- Delivery of outpatient services that facilitates managed care contractual agreements.

- Development of community-based facilities that provide 24-hour supervised care requiring a less intense level of care than in a hospital.

THE LONG AND SHORT OF MAKING MORE ON YOUR MONEY, WHATEVER YOUR ECONOMIC OUTLOOK.

RIISING RATE CD FOR THE LONG TERM.

FIRSTRATE FUND FOR THE SHORT TERM.

The economy is recovering. But even the experts can't agree on what interest rates will do.

So First of America has two shrewd ways for you to invest. No matter what your strategy.

The long view.

If you think rates will drop or stay flat, you should go with a longer-term investment and get a rate guaranteed to rise every six months over the next two years. The Rising Rate CD.*

It starts at a bonus rate of 5 percent per annum. And you'll end up earning 6½ percent for the final term. You can withdraw part or all of your money in the first ten days of every six-month interval without penalty. All it takes to get started is a $1000 deposit.

The short view.

If you predict rates will keep going up beyond this election year, invest short term with the FirstRate Fund.*

You'll make a bonus return of 5¾ percent per annum from the day you sign up through July 31.

So the sooner you invest the more you'll make. After July 31, the per annum rate is based on the weekly Treasury Bill. So if the T-Bill goes up quickly, you'll continue to benefit from it.

A new deposit of $10,000* is required, and you can get your money seven days after notifying us.

It's a respectable rate of return plus liquidity in these uncertain times.

Of course, your investments are FDIC insured up to $100,000 per depositor. And bonus offers are good through July 31.

Call or visit the office nearest you. Because no matter what your point of view, you can't go wrong investing with us.

Recession takes its toll on Class of '92

By TIM CARVELL
SPECIAL WRITER

They have caps. They have gowns. They have diplomas. They don't, however, have many jobs. They're the class of '92.

As the recession continues to take its toll on the economy, its effect is casting a long shadow over local campuses, where this year's graduating class is getting a firsthand lesson in the economic principle of supply and demand.

"Overall, recruiting has been down 30 percent for the year," said Robert Thomas, director of placement and career services at Oakland University, Rochester Hills.

OU usually places 83 to 85 percent of its graduates in jobs in the months surrounding graduation.

"I know it won't be 83 percent at the moment because some students are still looking," Thomas said.

The student hit hardest by the economic slump is "the liberal arts student who does not have a specialty," according to Thomas. "During a recession, these students will have trouble finding jobs."

Patrick Scheetz, director of Michigan State University's College Employment Research Institute, said students with vague career objectives suffer in the current job market.

"Employers do not want people who have degrees and say, 'I have this and how do you want to use it?'" Scheetz said. "Employers are looking for people who've worked in the field for which they're applying, who have work experience in addition to the academics."

Thomas noted that while engineers have suffered from cutbacks in the automotive industry, the demand for nurses and health care specialists has been steady throughout the recession.

The steady demand in the health care field is understandable, Scheetz said. "Our whole population is growing older and needs more attention."

Oakland Community College has more than 90 "career programs" designed to prepare students for specific fields. George Cartsonis, OCC spokesman, said certain programs yielded more jobs than others this year.

"The hot areas are in the technologies, which will probably continue to be a popular field throughout the '90s. Those fields continue to be areas in which employers seek graduates."

"The allied health fields are also doing well," Cartsonis said. "The so-called 'soft areas,' not surprisingly, are people taking general education or liberal arts degrees. Business administration does not mean good prospects either."

Christine Brant, director of cooperative education and placement at Madonna University in Livonia, said she hadn't noticed a trend in hiring.

Brant added that she feels marketability should not be a concern among students selecting a major. "I feel people should go with whatever they're good at and eventually they'll find something they enjoy. It may take a little longer, but if they're good at it, they should do it."

There is some hope for graduates; career counselors said demand has picked up recently.

"I feel things have been tight, but there's been a recent upsurge," Brant said.

Thomas said recruiting of students has increased, perhaps due to employers' delaying their hiring until they could accurately gauge their economic status.

Absentee ballots

Voters who wish to vote absentee in the Monday, June 8, Plymouth-Canton school election may pick up absentee ballots at the board office, 454 S. Harvey, in Plymouth. Business hours are 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Ballots returned by mail must reach elections clerk Ellen Schroeder by 8 p.m. election day.

If ballots are returned in person, they must reach the clerk before the polls open at 7 a.m. June 8.

The board office will be open 9 a.m. to 2 p.m., Saturday, June 6.

If ballots are returned by a person other than the voter, they must be delivered to the clerk in time to be delivered to the polls at 8 p.m. election day, said Schroeder.

Voters will elect two school board members to four-year terms. Also on the ballot will be a schools of choice issue, and a 1.5 millage increase.

Anyone with questions about where to vote may call the elections clerk at 451-3135.

Former Northville resident Doug Keen offers rides this weekend in a new Waco open-cockpit bi-plane built to resemble 1935 models.

The rides are offered through his "Classic Flight" business, now based in Charlevoix and Ft. Myers, Fla.

Half-hour rides are $46 per person. The plane, built in Lansing, seats two passengers along with the pilot. Rides are available 9 a.m. to sunset this Friday through Monday at Mettetal Airport, at Joy and Lilley roads in Canton.

Realtors Weir, Manuel, Snyder & Ranke Inc. held an open house Wednesday in honor of new manager Patricia Stokes at their Plymouth office at 500 S. Main. Refreshments and hors d'oeuvres were served at the event.

Sign of times

A Plymouth Township campaign sign in the city limits drew some attention at the Monday city commission meeting.

"I've got nothing against John Stewart," said David Pugh, a downtown development authority member. But Pugh asked the city administration to review the city sign ordinance, to determine if a Stewart for township supervisor sign displayed in the city violates the ordinance. Mayor Pro Tem Doug Miller said, "We'll look into the ordinance and see where it is, we want to make sure the sign ordinance is enforced."

Sports medicine: Jack Moores is trying to sign up the Plymouth Canton schools to use his newly opened sports medicine facility in Plymouth Township.

Moving fast

Sports clinic already eyes expansion

A sports medicine clinic in Plymouth Township could become a haven for local prep sports players who have been injured. While football players are the prime candidates, others may also be treated.

By BRIAN LYSAGHT
STAFF WRITER

Jack Moores recently bought a 22,000-square-foot building in Plymouth Township, and he's already talking about a $5,000 addition.

The Plymouth resident wants to expand his sports medicine service around Detroit and Michigan.

"Our goal is to open two new centers every year," said Moores, speaking from an office in the large and mostly-empty GRM Building in his company moved to in March. It's the newest of five facilities Moores has opened since leaving a job as head of University of Detroit's sports medicine department in 1981.

His clinics are places where injured amateur athletes, especially high schoolers, come to exercise and rehabilitate. Moores, who is not a physician, hires certified athletic trainers and contracts with physicians.

Moores is especially interested in providing sports medicine services to high school athletic departments.

That means a prep athlete who twists an ankle on the basketball court or football field would get examined by a physician who would write, if necessary, a prescription for treatment by a trainer at one of Moores' centers, said Jim Lysett, the company's marketing coordinator.

A large room in the GRM building contains Nautilus weight equipment, a walking machine and stationary bike and other training equipment.

"I'm one of the pioneers in taking sports medicine to the community," he says.

Moores employs about 20 certified athletic trainers. "U of M has seven, by comparison," he says.

He is also seeking an agreement to provide service to Plymouth-Canton Schools high school athletic department.

He provides such services to Livonia, Taylor and Romulus public high schools and Madonna University, he says.

BUSINESS

Ken Avery, Taylor Schools' athletic director, says Moores provides a trainer who works with coaches and student athletes every day during practices and games.

"He's been very professional and his trainers have been very professional," says Avery.

Moores, 50, is not a physician. He has a master's degree in education with a minor in sports medicine from University of Michigan. The former all-state basketball player from Royal Oak Shrine — he prefers non-contact sports like racquetball these days — opened his first clinic in Trenton. Then came others in Highland Park, Livonia, Flint, and finally, Plymouth.

Madonna to host music workshop

Madonna University is the site of a three-week summer program for music educators beginning June 22.

Sponsored by Duquesne University in Pittsburgh, the Summer Music Institute will bring together clinicians and performers from throughout the United States in a seminar designed for music educators in grades K-12 and church choir directors.

Madonna will host the courses and house participating clinicians and students from outside the area.

"This is an exciting opportunity for in-service teachers, choir directors and church musicians," said John Redmon, associate professor of music at Madonna University.

Workshops to be offered are:
• Week of June 22: Technology in the 1990s: Kindergarten-College, Sequential Band Instrument Pedagogy: Grades 4-12 and Music, Movement and Children: A Winning Combination.

• Week of July 6: The Art of Choral Conducting, K-5 Sequential Classroom/Vocal Music Curriculum, Teaching Comprehensive Musicianship in the School Band Program and Developing the Percussion Section.

• Week of July 13: The Art of Band Conducting, Administration and Supervision for Music Educators and The Child Voice.

Bill would create advocate sticker

Michiganians will be able to designate a patient advocate on their drivers licenses next year under a bill approved by the House of Representatives.

"It would take just a sticker. And there's no need to have it witnessed," said Rep. Jan Dolan, R-Farmington Hills, the sponsor.

Her House Bill 5450 won 101-0 approval last week and was sent to the Senate.

"It's one of those things that had to be done. Organ donors were very supportive. So was the Michigan Hospital Association," she said.

Under current law, drivers who want to donate an organ in the event of their deaths may sign a sticker before two witnesses and affix it to the back of their licenses.

Last year the Legislature passed a patient advocate law, allowing a person to designate another to make medical decisions when the principal becomes incapacitated.

Dolan's bill provides for listing the patient advocate's name and telephone number. She said hospital emergency room personnel would be able to find it faster on a license than looking through a patient's papers.

State expects strong summer travel season

An improving economy will generate a $3.9 billion this summer for the Michigan travel industry, and $6.6 billion for the year, Michigan Travel Bureau Director Tom Altemus said.

"Consumer confidence is on its way back from near record low levels. As a result, we can expect Michigan travel to improve by as much as 2 percent this year — increasing direct traveler spending by up to $128 million for the year, and $77 million for the summer," he said.

"Interest in Michigan as a travel destination continues to be strong: 129,000 people have called or written the Travel Bureau for information so far this year. If this rate continues, the bureau will exceed the more than half-million requests it processed last year."

Calls are generated by bureau newspaper and television advertisements in Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Ontario.

"Absent last year's war scare, and with a soft U.S. dollar, the timing is right to begin marketing to the international traveler. We plan to increase our marketing activities to the consumer, travel agents, and tour packagers who exert a great deal of influence upon travelers' vacation choices," Altemus said.

SWALLOWING PROBLEMS?

If you have difficulty swallowing you are not alone. About 15 million people in the United States have swallowing disorders. Your first step in handling this condition is to see your doctor, who in turn might refer you to another physician who specializes in these types of disorders. Difficulty swallowing (Dysphagia) can be caused by a variety of conditions including Neurological or Neuromuscular disorders such as a stroke, Parkinsons disease and Alzheimers disease. Other causes such as head and neck injuries, brain tumor or a structure disorder of the Esophagus and the stomach should be carefully evaluated. Swallowing difficulty can result in chest discomfort, cough, choking, lung aspiration, infection and dehydration and malnutrition. The major treatment goal is to maintain safe and efficient nutrition and hydration and to treat the underlying disease.

Candidates

Large field makes us winners

Perhaps it's part of a national trend, or it just could be a local matter brought on by allegations of nepotism and over spending on a sewer project. But whatever the case, Plymouth voters are facing a full plate when it comes to the August primary.

For voters that's good. It puts everything up for discussion, and it has a way of getting ideas out of the kitchen and on to the public agenda. We congratulate all candidates who have decided to participate in the public debate about the way things will be run.

The race for Plymouth Township supervisor presents one of the biggest political opportunities in this area in several years. The reason is there's no incumbent and no heir apparent.

Current supervisor Gerald Law will call it quits in November. A former state representative, Law was appointed to the job in the spring of 1991 when former supervisor Maurice Breen resigned to become a Wayne County commissioner.

Law was the heir apparent, but then along came WTUA; the sewer project that critics say was plagued by cronyism and over spending. There have been no charges against anyone involved in the project and a state investigation cleared anyone of wrongdoing.

However, Law suffered the most from the allegations because his brother, Robert, was an attorney for the township law firm. That firm also did work on the sewer project.

Law tried to put the controversy behind him, putting together a new system that would require law firms to bid for the township's work. But in the end, WTUA (the Western Township Utilities Association) was too powerful a force.

The upshot is that Plymouth Township voters have a choice of four very different candidates for supervisor. They are: Stephen Boak, an attorney; John Stewart, a township trustee and an attorney; Kathleen Keen-McCarthy, who ran against Law in 1990; and Charles McIlhargey, a township building official.

But while the four candidates offer a diverse choice for voters, they don't offer a political choice. All are Republicans, which means the ball game is all over in August.

There are also contested races for trustee, with seven candidates running for four slots. They are Kay Arnold, Charles Cormi, Carol Davis, Ron Griffith, Abe Munkfakh, K.C. Mueller and Joseph VanEsley.

There's also a race for clerk, where Marilyn Massengill, a township employee, and Denise Radtke, an aide to U.S. Rep. Carl Pursell, are vying for the vacancy created by the retirement of Esther Hulsing.

Although there will be some losers in August, we'll all come out as winners.

Errant cause distorts the issue

Assisted suicide is a coercive, patronizing concept which should never grace the law journals of Michigan.

For too long we have put up with the shenanigans of Dr. Jack Kevorkian who has anointed himself the pope of an errant cause, one which distorts the concept of free will.

In the meantime, the state Legislature sits on its hands, locking a bill up in the House judiciary committee which would put into focus the state's responsibility in dealing with such irresponsible behavior.

The bill would deem assisted suicide a felony, punishable by a four-year prison term and a $2,000 fine.

While the legislation's penalty isn't enough to change the mind of someone as strident as Kevorkian, it would allow incarceration to restrain him from carrying on his crusade. More importantly, it would give a legal underpinning to those in this state who argue that self-determination is paramount in deciding such dramatic and final action.

Other physicians would be given pause to think before risking time in jail, away from all the good things they enjoy in our society.

Suicide, however questionable, is a practice condoned, if not endorsed in our state laws. Those who decide to end their lives may do so. As shocking as suicide is to survivors, it is a matter of self-determination, the ultimate personal decision.

It should be left that way.

Kevorkian's dream of a society where physicians ride the circuit serving those who wish a sip of the hemlock is a Kafkaesque nightmare at best. Its underpinnings reek of intimidation, greed and ghoulish recriminations.

Legalization of such a practice would divert society's attention away from the truly important issue of an equitable health care system, one which this country has yet to attain.

As health care costs skyrocket, assisted suicide would be an incentive for families feeling the heavy economic burden to find a Dr. Death to help them out of their dilemma. Gravely ill family members could very well be subjected to unrelenting pressure until they caved in to their relatives' wishes.

Peer pressure, after all, doesn't stop at the dusk of adolescence.

And while Kevorkian may be strident enough to perform his acts gratis, assisted suicide as a legally practiced concept would be just another charge on the chart for the overwhelming majority of physicians.

One can easily imagine such unsavory sights as late-night television shows interrupted by money-hungry physicians plying their craft as suicide doctors with all the piety and sanctimony of a TV evangelist.

Our health care system is at a crucial crossroads. Let's keep it on a path which will offer us remedies, not mad potions.

Assisted suicide must be deemed illegal.

Don't bail out the schools

As a business the Plymouth Canton school system has exhibited poor performance and should not be rewarded with the passage of additional millage and revenue.

The cry of the administration and teachers over the past few years has been that the customers must pay for improved performance. Well, the customers gave the board all the money it wanted by passing the last millage and bond issue and what did we, the customer, get in return?

What we got were poor MEAP scores and exorbitant pay increases for our teachers and administrators. MEAP scores have dropped for the second year in a row, resulting in the same old excuses. Fourth grade scores were particularly disastrous and there are no clear goals and objectives in place for improvement. All the while, the teachers salaries over the last five years have increased by 37 percent; from approximately $41,000 three years ago to $53,000 in the 1993-94 school year.

I just don't know anyone who has received that kind of increase, especially in a failing economy. While the country stood still during the Gulf War and world wide recession, most people were lucky to hold down a job. Nevertheless our teachers received a 6 percent pay hike and are scheduled for a 7 percent increase this fall. Not bad, eh?

Now history is repeating itself: the school board is again crying "Woe is me" and asking their customers to bail them out.

Dan Holton, Plymouth Township

Feeling the pinch equally

Many people have been asking recently why the school board seems to be so obviously mishandling the proposed millage ballot question.

Could it be that the board is deliberately acting in a manner calculated to defeat the millage, so that they can come back next year and say, "See, we told you we needed the money," and then ask for twice or three times as much?

I have never opposed a school millage increase, and I strongly advocate spending tax dollars for the education of our children. However, if the people in charge of administering those funds are not responsible enough to fully utilize the buildings and other resources they have, then I'm not very inclined to give them more money.

For the school board to blame this problem on the teachers is extremely unfair, when the superintendent is paid over $100,000 and makes no effort to reduce his pay, but asks those further down the scale to reduce their pay.

The current economic situation calls for "belt-tightening." Let's have everyone feel the pinch equally.

Term limits hurt state's best

Dick Young, who represents parts of western Wayne County suburbs in the state House of Representatives, was named among the 10 best Michigan lawmakers in Sunday's Free News.

It's recognition long overdue for the 65-year-old attorney who has been vice chair of the House Appropriations Committee ever since I learned Lansing was the state capital.

"Approps," as it's called, is the place where the budget gets put together. It's the most powerful committee in Lansing, the place where deals get cut and tempers run hot. And it's a place where a guy who has mastered the detail and keeps his head can make a big difference.

For years, Dick Young has exercised a methodical, low-key, common sense kind of leadership that doesn't get big headlines or places on talk shows. But if I had a big problem that required good judgment to resolve, Dick Young's office would be the person I'd go to first.

I remember when I was trying to put together the state's human investment system back in the 1980s and was advised to have lunch with Dick. The jobs program was good. But a bunch of state legislators thought they wanted to make it into a vehicle for their own ambitions.

I asked him what to do. "Calm down," were his first words. "Those guys have no idea what this is or how to make it work. It's this month's fad for them, and if you just hunker down you'll be fine."

He took another bite of salad and then said something I'll always remember. "You should realize that there are two kinds of people in Lansing: high flash and solid citizens. There are more of the former than the latter, but it's the solid ones who really make this state work."

Here's a guy who has served as a solid citizen for 28 years in the House who would get run off the ballot if term limitation passes. Do we really want that? I don't.

A guy who didn't get much notice from the Free News listing was another longtime solid citizen, Garden City's Bill Keith.

PHILIP POWER

Like Young, Keith is a veteran of nearly 20 years in the House, where he is chair of the Education Committee. More to the point, he is chairing a bipartisan panel that has been holding a series of hearings on why Michigan kids don't make a good transition from school to work and what can be done about it.

This has been an interest of Keith's for a long, long time. He has traveled to Germany to see the widely admired apprenticeship system at first hand. He has talked to educators, employers, social workers, kids.

And for some years, nobody in Lansing took him very seriously.

Then GM announced closure of the Willow Run plant. And Bill Keith started getting some real notice because he had been laboring away in a low-flash manner on a very important subject that suddenly got real in the public mind.

I wouldn't be at all surprised if Bill Keith's hard work didn't wind up as the centerpiece of a serious effort in Michigan to get a better fit between the training our kids get in school and the kinds of jobs they're going to compete for after graduation.

And just in case you didn't notice, Bill Keith would be out of the state Legislature, too, if term limitation passes.

POINTS OF VIEW

Time to bring order to regional agencies

For more than a decade, my "regional government" file gathered dust as the movement foundered. In last December's office cleaning, it got pitched.

A few months too soon. Larry Deck, an Ann Arborite known in the Rails to Trails Conservancy, heads a newly incorporated group studying regionalism from the perspectives of the environment, urban sprawl and transportation.

Among other officers of Regional Citizens Initiative of Southeast Michigan are Alice Tomboulis, the gentle warhorse of the environmental movement whose legislative career was terminated after two years for her support of public transit; Peggy Johnson, Clinton River Watershed Council; and folks who fought M-275.

They meet again May 28 at Schoolcraft College in Livonia.

Regionalism is the simple notion that multi-county problems should be addressed by multi-county units of government.

No sooner had Deck and friends announced their intentions at a recent environmental conclave than veterans from the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG) were warning them to go easy.

Easy, your eye. I say, full speed ahead.

Regionalism isn't a dream to be discussed. It's here, mostly in illogical forms. Consider:

- Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority has operated Kensington and a dozen other metroparks for 40 years. Financed by a quarter-mill property tax in five counties, it's governed by a board appointed by the counties and the governor.

- SMART, the ailing suburban bus system, operates in three counties with no local tax money. It needs a revenue source and to integrate the Detroit transit system.

TIM RICHARD

■ Hide-bound traditionalists will argue against regionalism, but the truth is that regionalism has been with us for years, though in a disjointed, under-financed form.

- SEMCOG itself, for 23 years a voluntary planning agency, is about to be reborn as a spending agency. That's right: The new federal transportation act will have SEMCOG allocating major road money. All the pussyfooting about "voluntary" will be over. Someone will raise the question of malapportionment, and SEMCOG will spread votes by population instead of a system where South Lyon gets the same vote as Livonia.

- The Detroit Water and Sewer Department, serving 100 or more local units, is actually run by one — Detroit. The board's token suburban members are removable at will by the mayor — and have been. Ask Ed McNamara. Last week Sen. David Honigman, R-West Bloomfield, and Oakland drain commissioner George Kuhn unveiled SB 936 to set up a regional assembly to govern DWSD. In the midst of his quest for higher office, Honigman won't have time to pursue the bill, but he's on the right track.

- The Detroit Institute of Arts and Detroit Zoo serve the region and are under the political and civil service control of Detroit. Both would be shut down if they weren't bailed out by the state. Logically, those two institutions should have regional funding, regional governance and a regional civil service.

The problem with the reborn regional movement is that it's disjointed — the environmentalists on the left, Kuhn on the right, others in the middle.

Hide-bound traditionalists will argue against regionalism, but the truth is that regionalism has been with us for years, though in a disjointed, under-financed form.

Except for the metroparks, the regional agencies are in bad shape. The faster we can bring order, the better for the people.

Tim Richard reports regularly on the local implications of state and regional events.

Their heads are buried in sand on racial issues

Detroit NAACP president Arthur Johnson's head is in the sand.

In an article in a daily metro newspaper, he said MOSAIC isn't needed. MOSAIC is the new Michigan organization for social advocacy and intercultural cooperation whose mission is to nurture minority-rights through education, political and legal activism.

Co-founded by Michigan Anti-Defamation League director Dick Lobenthal and me, MOSAIC's diverse membership is prepared to protect the rights of any group. Its core planning board consists of the Rev. Jim Lyons, the Skillman Foundation's Dave Fukazawa, feminist leader Carol King, state Rep. Maxine Berman, South Oakland NAACP president Bill Nabors, Rabbi Arnie Sleutelberg and others.

To join write MOSAIC, 4000 Town Center, Suite 420, Southfield 48075-1402, or call 355-4091 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays.

I'm amazed that a civil rights leader like Johnson could assume such an isolationist stance. Ironically, he shared his shortsighted view that MOSAIC isn't needed exactly four days before Los Angeles County exploded in bloody rioting over the acquittal of the white policemen who were videotaped beating a black man.

Johnson, who once ignored another offer of my help, also complained in the same article that Lobenthal accuses the NAACP of remaining silent regarding Nation of Islam minister Louis Farrakhan's alleged anti-Jewish views. He claimed Lobenthal never asked him to renounce Farrakhan, whose widely quoted repudiation of Nelson Mandela for divorcing his wife, Winnie, came razor-close to promoting murder: "Now Winnie's charged with killing a couple of Uncle Toms and he wants to leave

JOHN TELFORD

■ Ironically, he shared his shortsighted view that MOSAIC isn't needed exactly four days before Los Angeles County exploded in bloody rioting.

her. Well, what should you do to an Uncle Tom?"

Whether Lobenthal made the request of Johnson or not is irrelevant. Any NAACP president who has to wait to be asked to denounce demagoguery shouldn't be an NAACP president.

On May 1, I learned that some officials in a suburban school district where I'm a multi-cultural consultant also have their heads in the sand. But theirs is a classic cop-out case of "kill-the-messenger," which affects me this time rather than my organization. These officials are afraid my reputation is too "firecracker-hot" and my recommendations to hire blacks and "sensitize" staff are too extreme for them to retain my services (even though I offered to waive further fees).

Although the official who brought me in knew my reputation, apparently others didn't. While this isn't the first time I've seen such fears regarding my proactive multi-cultural philosophy, I was surprised to encounter them in that particular district's leaders, because they seemed to care about their simmering racial problems.

That district, the Detroit NAACP and other local civic, civil, corporate and educational entities need MOSAIC — and they need to hear the constant buzzing of gadflies like Lobenthal and me. They should welcome progressive help from any and all fair-minded, liberal, conservative, black and white groups and individuals. Otherwise, what happened in Los Angeles County could happen here, and it could happen even worse.

John Telford, a Rochester Hills resident, most recently was assistant superintendent in the Rochester School District. He previously was executive director for secondary education in the Plymouth Canton district.

Track from page 1B

"We were hoping to amass as many points as we possibly could early in the meet and hope we could hold on. We just couldn't stretch the lead enough on them, and they were able to come back."

Canton led until midway in the meet when Salem junior Tonya Wheeler won the 400-meter dash and put the Rocks in front 105-100. Then Salem captured three places in the 300 hurdles, with senior Theresa Giachiero winning the race, and extended its lead to 126-110.

"Twenty-one points is outstanding," Gregor said. "Any time you hit the scoreboard with that many points in a close meet, it takes a little air out of the teams that are close to you."

Wheeler repeated as the 400-meter champion, also won the 200 this year and anchored Salem's winning 800 and 1,600 relay teams.

"I can't say enough about Tonya Wheeler," Gregor said. "She's had an outstanding year, and it doesn't just happen for her. She works at it the year round."

Giachiero was a double winner, too. Besides winning the 300 hurdles for a second time, she improved upon a third-place finish in the 100 hurdles last year to add that league title.

"She's had a great career, but the last three weeks she's done the best hurdling I've seen from a Salem girl," Gregor said. "We had a good one in Jennifer Harris, and she's right there with her."

While Wheeler and Giachiero were individual standouts, the Rocks relied on a lot of girls to produce the team victory, scoring in every event but the shot put.

After Salem finished second in the regional meet Friday, Gregor was concerned about his team being ready for another top performance in the WLAA meet.

"Once we got started on the track, momentum took over," he said. "The girls feed off each other's success, and we got better as the meet went along."

"A lot of great coaches told me the strength of your team depends on your ability to run 400 dashes. If you can develop quarter milers, there are a lot of things you can do with them, and that is the strength of our team."

Przygodski was asked what he saw as the difference between the Canton and Salem teams of a year ago and 1992. The Chiefs overpowered the opposition last year by scoring 175 points, Stevenson 119 and the Rocks 102.

"They had some tremendous ninth graders come in and help their program," he said. "You can't say enough about Sarah Hamilton and Melissa Hopson. Those kids added to what already was a good nucleus."

"For us to beat them, we had to run a perfect meet, and they would have had to help us. We ran a near-perfect meet, but they sure didn't give us much help."

Canton had its standouts and remains a young team, also. Stephanie Gray repeated as WLAA champ in high jump, and other winners were Ndu Okwumabua in the 100, the 400 relay team and Christie Saffron in the 800.

"Stephanie Gray really came through in the high jump," Przygodski said. "She had two misses at 4-10, made it on the third attempt and ended up winning. Ndu was outstanding and Saffron's 800-meter run was a great, great race."

Walled Lake Western set the only WLAA record by winning the 3,200 relay in 9:42 and breaking the mark of 9:45.6 set by Stevenson in 1987. The Warriors won the distance runs with Jennifer Ray and Bridget Byrne.

Stevenson's Teresa Sarno won the discus again and captured first in the shot put. Lynette Conner of Westland John Glenn won the long

Rocks are runners-up in regional track

Plymouth Salem girls track coach Mark Gregor sat in amazement Friday, watching his team cruise along in the Class A regional at Belleville.

"We're doing as well or better than I thought we would," Gregor said. "We're having a super day."

Thanks to a trio of first-place finishers, the Rocks (104 points) finished second behind Ann Arbor Pioneer (167).

Theresa Giachiero in the 100-meter hurdles (15.5), Melissa Hopson in the high jump (5-6) and Tonya Wheeler in the 400 dash (58.3) all took firsts for Salem.

Spartans place 1st in WLAA

Livonia Stevenson had reason to celebrate Tuesday after the Spartans captured the Western Lakes Activities Association girls golf tournament at Huron Meadows in Brighton. But the celebration may not last long.

Due to financial constraints, varsity golf in the Livonia Public Schools could be dropped because of budget cuts.

The Spartans, led by Purdue-bound Megan Johnson, made sure that if the elimination of the team was a possibility, the championship would end up in their trophy case.

"We're disheartened about (the girls golf program being dropped)," said first-year coach John Wagner. "But we had a good year and the girls pulled together when they needed to."

Johnson shot a 87, eight strokes better than her closest competition, to become the WLAA gold medalist.

Stevenson's 437 was six strokes better than second place Livonia Franklin.

Northville, considered a favorite entering the tournament, finished third with a total of 450, followed by Walled Lake Western's 452. Defending champ Plymouth Canton finished fifth with a 462.

Rounding out the top eight were: Livonia Churchill, 494; Plymouth Salem, 503; and Walled Lake Central, 588.

The Spartans also received strong performances from Wendy Ayres (112) and Erin Quinn (115).

Johnson will complete her career at the state championships May 30. Johnson, who took first at the regionals with a three-over par 76, will attend Purdue this fall on a golf scholarship.

Northville's Kelly Woodsum shot a 95 for second place in the 48-player field, while Western's Tracey Gordon took third with a 98. Franklin's Colleen Hansen (103) and Nancy Noechel (105) took fourth and fifth place, respectively.

Whitney Said, who finished in a three-way tie for seventh, was Churchill's top golfer with a 107. The Chargers, who finished 5-6 in regular season dual matches, improved from an eighth place finish from last season.

Franklin's Nicky Meehan also shot a 107. Canton's top golfers were Ann Vernon (113), Audrey Meissner (114) and Christine Werntzen (115).

Eagles win share of softball crown

Plymouth Christian was assured of a tie for the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference softball championship Tuesday after beating Huron Valley Lutheran 4-3 at home.

Kristina Tilly struck out a school-record 18 while pitching a complete game for the Eagles, 3-0 in the league and 5-4 overall. She allowed three hits and walked four.

Dawn Muneio had two hits, including a double to drive in Nancy Korbinick with the winning run, to lead Plymouth Christian.

Stevenson ousts Churchill, 2-1 from district tourney

By BRAD EMONS

The "new season" started off on the right foot Monday for the Livonia Stevenson girls soccer team.

The Spartans, fresh from their 2-0 loss Thursday to Plymouth Canton in the Western Lakes championship, opened state Class A tournament play with a 2-1 win at Livonia Churchill.

"The girls came in with a good frame of mind because they knew it was the playoffs and we were starting over," said Stevenson coach Mary Kay Hussey, whose team upped its record to 12-2-2. "Churchill plays a high pressure game and defensively they pack things in, but we were able to spread them out and score at the opportune times."

Stevenson also won the first meeting between the two teams back in April, 2-1, but Churchill had improved markedly since then.

After starting out the season an uncharacteristic 1-5-1, the state-ranked Chargers turned their season around by going 7-2-1 down the stretch, their only losses coming to top-ranked Troy Athens and the No. 3-rated Spartans.

"At the beginning of the year people wrote us off as a good team, plus we were playing under a new system," Churchill coach Nick O'Shea said. "But we played a lot better after the girls got used to each other, and also once they did what I told them to do."

Churchill had things going its way early, striking with 18:15 left in the first half on Shelly Hamby's goal from Aimee Cousino. Kari Kopsinski, however, was the player who kept the ball alive in front of the Stevenson goal.

Stevenson's Ragen Coyne then answered with 8:53 left in the first half from Michele Brach.

Off a free kick, Churchill had cleared the ball, but a couple of players were caught out of position.

"Our defense had pushed up past the ball waiting for an offside call and we got caught a little wide," O'Shea explained. "It was just a little mistake, but they have good players who can take advantage of that and score. You can't let a player like Ragen alone."

With the score tied at 1-1, Stevenson goalie Alicia Smith came up with a key stop on Andrea Zawislak.

The Spartans' Mo Drabicki scored what proved to be the game-winner from Amy Marcoe with 26:51 remaining.

"Amy Marcoe came off the bench to play right wing and played very hard," Hussey said. "She started winning many balls and helped us get that go-ahead goal. She gave us an emotional lift."

Another unsung hero for Hussey was senior Tracy Morrell.

"She just played phenomenal in the back as a sweeper," said the Stevenson coach.

Meanwhile, it was a sad ending for Churchill and its four seniors — Dana Pososki, Carol Jackson, Hamby and goalie Melina Garrett.

"We played hard and didn't quit," O'Shea. "We went right after them. We had our chances, but unfortunately we ran into a very good team."

"There were a couple close ones, and she really pulled us out of it," Tortora said.

Salem (10-4-2) outshot the Chiefs 8-3 in regulation time, but Canton had the only solid shot in the first OT. Britta Anderson got behind a lax Salem defense, took a through pass from the left wing and went one-on-one with Chicon. The shot was wide right, however.

"I didn't want to go to a shootout," Smith said, adding he had a bad feeling about that possibility, "not because we didn't have the better people but we weren't clicking on all systems."

Canton took a one-goal lead at 28:24 in the first half. As Chicon came out to get the ball, defender Lisa Ferguson sent it back. But the two didn't make connections, resulting in Leah Hutko getting credit for a goal.

The Rocks regrouped and dominated the last 10 minutes of the first half, scoring the tying goal with 6:02 left when Mandy Drummond lifted a through pass from Kelly Lukasik. Salem continued to control the action for the first 25 minutes of the second half, during which the ball seldom left the Canton end of the field.

Canton in final

Britta Anderson scored two goals Wednesday as Plymouth Canton advanced to the district championship game with a 3-2 win over host Pinckney in girls soccer.

The top-ranked Chiefs (14-0-2) will play unranked Ann Arbor Huron, a 6-0 winner over Adrian, at 5:30 p.m. Friday at Ann Arbor Pioneer High School.

The score was tied 1-1 at half-time, but Mandy Salin gave Canton a 3-1 lead with 12 minutes left.

"They scrapped and moved the ball, and we sorta went along with them," said Canton coach Don Smith of the underdog Pirates. "They definitely were not intimidated by us."

"We seemed to have things under control. We got a lot of shots (19-5)."

Shamrocks win division

Redford Catholic Central won the Catholic League Central Division baseball title Saturday after sweeping a double-header from Warren DeLaSalle at Redford's Capitol Park.

The Shamrocks, who are 19-3 overall and 13-3 in the Central Division, won the first game 4-3 and the nightcap 3-2.

Paul Kuhn, who hit below .200 a year ago, had two hits, including the eventual game-winning RBI in the fifth inning. Aaron Babicz clubbed a two-run home run and Dan Gusoff, who earned the save on the mound, was 2-for-3 at the plate.

Scott Kapla, the Shamrocks' ace pitcher, earned the win after scattering seven hits, striking out four and walking four over six innings.

Don DeDonatis was 2-for-4 for the Pilots, who trailed 4-0 after five innings.

Gusoff pitched a complete-game five hitter with 10 strikeouts to lead CC to the win in Game 2.

Gusoff walked one and neither of the Pilots' two runs were earned. DeLaSalle scored once in the third before CC scored three in the bottom of the fourth to go ahead for good.

Shamrocks best team in league

BY STEVE KOWALSKI
STAFF WRITER

Those seniors on the Redford Catholic Central track team who chose to stay home over Easter break instead of heading south finally had their day in the sun Tuesday.

Literally.

Under bright sunny skies, the Shamrocks won their second Catholic League A-B Division meet in the last three years, finishing with 144 points at the Farmington Hills Mercy track.

"The five, six, seven seniors I have proved today if you stick around, good things happen," CC coach Tony Magni said. "I've got a policy 'If you go anywhere over spring break you can't run.'"

The Shamrocks' closest competition came from the University of Detroit-Jesuit, which finished with 127 points. Birmingham Brother Rice was third (78), followed by Detroit DePorres (48) and Dearborn Divine Child (48).

CC finished with two relay wins and five individual titles, including a pair of unexpected first places in the field events. Junior Joe Suhajda won the discus with a personal best toss of 142-feet and Kevin Roslinski placed first in the high jump with another personal best of 6-feet, 2-inches.

CC had 48 points after the five field events, three behind the leader at the time, Brother Rice.

Each first place was worth 10 points, followed by second place (eight points), third place (six points), and so on.

"Suhajda hadn't thrown over 130 all year and what does he do? He throws 142," Magni said. "And that was Roslinski's best jump. This is only his second year so he has a lot of good jumps left in him."

Suhajda, a junior, said he had extra incentive.

"This is (coach) Mr. (Jeff) Bean's last year and since my freshman year he's been very instrumental in me learning the proper techniques," Suhajda said. "In the back of my mind I really wanted to do it for him, not for me, because I have another year."

Magni said his team's versatility with distance runners made positioning on relays easy. One of the keys, according to Magni, was being able to take senior Steve Wittek out of the 3,200 meter relay and run him individually in the 800 meter run, which he placed second in 4:33.2 and the 1,600 run which he won (1:59.9).

CC also was able to win the 1,600 meter relay (3:26.8) without the help of Mark Eden, who instead helped out on the 400 meter relay (a second-place finisher).

Running on the winning 1,600 relay (3:26.8) were Aaron Sheposh, T.J. Kitchen, Brandon Dalziel and Eric McKeon; the 3,200 relay of Sheposh, Dalziel, Chris O'Keefe and Brian O'Reilly also won (8:19).

"I broke up a lot of relays to get more points," Magni said. "We hadn't even come close to winning a 400 relay this year but Eden makes that much of a difference. He gets it out there fast and everyone else is more confident they can do it, too."

Eden also scored an addition 20 points for the Shamrocks by winning the 300 meter hurdles (40.2) and 110-meter hurdles (14.7). CC's depth showed the most in the 800 meter run where the Shamrocks took a total of 22 points with Dalziel taking second (2:00.8) and Sheposh fourth (2:01.4) behind the winner Wittek.

"The half-mile was key for us, it's where we turned it around," Magni said.

For Rice, it was a struggle after the field events.

John McQuire had the Warriors' only win of the day, taking first place in the shot put (51-feet, 6 1/4 inches). Aaron Metz was second in the discus (140-3), Ken Goetz placed second in the high jump (6-1) and Cliff Nunn took runner-up in the long jump (20-3/4).

Engaging actors in 'Talley's Folly'

Peter Senkbeil, as Matt Friedman and Robin Sullivan, as Sally Talley, are both engaging actors who are interesting to watch in Trinity House Theatre's presentation of the romantic comedy, "Talley's Folly." The production qualities are first-rate.

Performances of the Trinity House Theatre production of "Talley's Folly" continue through June 13 at Trinity House in Livonia. For ticket information, call 464-6302.

THEATER

DIAZ

Trinity House Theatre's latest production is the two-character, one-act play by Lanford Wilson, "Talley's Folly." Set on Independence Day, 1944, amid the debris of a run-down boat-house in central Missouri, it's an old-fashioned, boy-meets-girl story with a twist — the boy is middle-aged and the girl, though not quite there yet, is knocking at the door.

Peter Senkbeil, as Matt Friedman, a Jewish accountant, and Robin Sullivan, as Sally Talley, a Methodist spinster, are both highly attractive, engaging actors, interesting to watch. They always appear confident onstage, almost never stumbling over any of the many lines they deliver.

The production qualities are first-rate here, too. Sarah Heden's intriguing set goes far toward evoking the romantic feel of a summer night in a Midwest countryside, as do subtle lighting effects by Vikki Johnson.

Finally, this is an appealing story and, although it feels a bit talky, its 97 minutes move along at a good, swift pace most of the time.

But there's something about this production, directed by Laura Gumina, that seriously gets in the way of a playgoer's suspension of disbelief. It never quite feels like anything other than two actors portraying two characters in front of an audience.

Here, in a tiny nutshell, is the story of "Talley's Folly." A St. Louis accountant, Matt, vacations one summer in Lebanon, Missouri, and promptly falls in love with spinster Sally, daughter of one of the area's wealthiest families. They have what he thinks of as an "affair" (which she will later vehemently deny) and, when he returns to St. Louis, he writes her dozens of letters that she never answers.

As the play opens, it is a year later, and he has returned to Lebanon, determined to seek her out, to find out why she never responded to his letters, and to declare his continuing love for her. She meets him at the boathouse, where he is waiting after suffering some rather harrowing discouragement from her narrow-minded, bigoted family. But she complains of the weather, as he speaks of moonlight, waltzes, and Valentines, and as he is declaring his love, she maintains that a relationship between them is "impossible." All ends happily, though, when love conquers all.

The trouble here is that there seems so little chemistry or passion between the couple, as portrayed by Senkbeil and Sullivan. And without that passion for each other, it's extremely hard to believe that this logically minded accountant and this hesitant, cautious spinster would be motivated to become involved in such a complicated relationship.

But these two don't seem particularly interested in touching each other, even if it's just in a tentative way. Or even in acting as if they want to touch each other more. Much of the time, they come across like people who are wrapped up in their own agendas. He seems more like a teacher bent on explaining something important than an ardent suitor. She often doesn't even look at him, but gazes at the floor or at an imaginary spot in the audience. Even a final embrace at the conclusion of the play indicates no real sparks between this odd, detached couple. It may be the Fourth of July in Wilson's play, but, unfortunately, no fireworks light up this stage.

Attic presents Woody Guthrie musical

Performances of the Attic Theatre production of "Woody Guthrie's American Song" continue through June 28 at the Strand Theatre in Pontiac. For ticket information call the box office at 875-8284.

By KEELY WYGONIK
STAFF WRITER

Part of creating magic on the stage, is setting the mood. For the Attic Theatre's presentation of "Woody Guthrie's American Song," Dorothy Smith looked everywhere for the right guitar.

"We had to find a guitar from that era," said Smith of Rochester, property designer for the show.

"We had to drive to Lansing to get it. We researched guitars from that time period to see how they're made, what they look like, and found a guitar from the 1950s that was very similar. It's a Gibson with a dark sunburst pattern."

Another challenge was finding liquor bottles that looked like those from the 1930s and 40s.

"We're aware of colors and combinations. If we can't find it, we buy it, or we'll make it and try to get it into the manner of the period so it looks like it belongs."

Set in the 1930s and 40s, the show weaves 23 Woody Guthrie classics like "Bound for Glory," "This Land is Your Land" and "I Ain't Gonna Be Treated This-a-Way" with scenes from the Dust Bowl, the Depression, soup kitchens, flophouses and shop room floors.

The show by New York playwright Peter Glazer, son of folksinger Tom Glazer, who knew and performed with Guthrie, isn't as much about the life of the legendary folksinger as about the spirits of working stiffs whom Guthrie immortalized in his songs, said Deborah Kaplan of the Attic Theatre.

The show had its world premiere at the Attic's New Center stage four years ago. Original cast member David Lutken is directing and performing in the current Attic production.

An ensemble cast plays the plain working folk who populate the scenes of Woody Guthrie's songs. Joining Lutken on stage are New York actors, Coco McPherson and Jim Stein, Chicagoan Neil Freidman and Grosse Pointe Marie Boyle. Neil Woodward of Union Lake is the folk music director.

"Audiences responded to Woody's music, songs and words with such joy that we are thrilled to welcome it back," said Lavinia Moyer, Attic Artistic director. "We couldn't continue our Pontiac residency with a more lively — or more timely show."

Guthrie was born in Okfuskee County, Okla. where he lived until the dust storms drove his family west. He rode the rails during the worst of the Depression and was an early union man, organizing for the agricultural union and the CIO.

The Strand is at 12 N. Saginaw in downtown Pontiac. Shows Thursdays, Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays.

Dancer lends artistry to 'Samson & Delilah' - On the Town

Michigan Opera Theatre presents "Samson & Delilah" May 20 and 23 at Masonic Temple in Detroit. For times and tickets, call 874-SING.

MARY JANE DOERR

A mound of pretend rocks and the silver altar of the Philistines decorated Jacob Lascu's 40-by-50-foot Bloomfield Hills ballet studio. The gray and black boulders are part of Andrzej Majewski's sets for the Michigan Opera Theatre's Polish opera "King Roger."

The glittering box is the center of Lascu's choreography for his version of the famous "bachanal," the Act III drunken orgy in "Samson and Delilah."

"I told Michigan Opera Theatre that I couldn't work unless they brought the rocks to me," said the ballet master/artistic director at Marygrove College in Detroit who lives in West Bloomfield. He describes his eight-minute dance for "Samson and Delilah" as wildly erotic, and his three minute choreographic artistry for "King Roger" as spiritual love.

Lascu's talents are recognized and appreciated by his Detroit fans. Since he immigrated to Detroit 20 years from his native Romania at President Richard Nixon's special request, he has become a significant force in developing cultural interest in classical dance.

Recently though, everyone can't help but notice Lascu's fame multiplying with the success of his company Dance Detroit and its alliance with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra. When he first choreographed Tchaikovsky's "The Nutcracker" in 1974 with the DSO, his dancers gave four performances in the 2,800-seat Ford Auditorium. At Christmas his 110-member company will give 25 performances at the 5,000 seat Fox Theatre. He has even branched out into the popular medium for a classical dance routine to a song medley for Aretha Franklin's May tour.

"When we first moved the 'Nutcracker' from the Ford to the Fox, I thought — '5,000 seats. That is very big,'" said Lascu, quietly modest about his success.

Lascu's altar has other irons in the fire — the possibility of a local ballet company to reside at the new Detroit Opera House (the Grand Circus Theatre), with Michigan Opera Theatre. He is not talking about that project. He says he is superstitious.

"Detroit is not the center of the ballet world. When I first came here, things were very slow," he said.

Lascu had a flourishing career in Romania, and international acclaim throughout Europe, the United States and China as a dancer, choreographer and ballet dancer, when he broke his leg skiing. Turning then to choreography he worked with the Romanian Opera in Bucharest, the National Theater of Bucharest and Romanian television.

Of the many medals he won, he is most proud of his Gold Medal for dancing which he won at the International Festival in Warsaw, Poland in 1959, the only medal he was allowed to take with him out of Romania.

Today, there is another "pas de deux" in his life beside dance, clearly illustrated by three drawings of dancers importantly placed above Lascu's desk. Meticulously signed by Marie Lascu, the pictures represent the devotion Lascu has for his grandchildren, Marie and James. Since his wife, Marie, died of cancer tragically four years ago he says they have become so much a part of his life in overcoming the sadness and loneliness.

"They mean everything to me," he said.

THE CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH ORDAINS:

SECTION 1. AMENDMENTS TO THE CODE.

The following section or subsection are hereby amended and/or added to the Uniform Traffic Code for Cities, Townships and Villages of the Charter Township of Plymouth, being Chapter No. 60. The subsequent section and subsection numbers used in this code shall refer to the like numbered sections and subsections of Chapter 60, the Uniform Traffic Code for Cities, Townships and Villages:

Section 2.5. Reports of Stolen and Recovered Vehicles.

A police agency, upon receiving reliable information that any vehicle registered under this act has been stolen, shall immediately report the theft through the law enforcement information network. Upon receiving information that a vehicle previously reported as stolen has been recovered, the police agency shall immediately report the fact of the recovery through the law enforcement information network.

Section 2.5a. Abandoned Vehicle Procedures.

(1) As used in this section, "abandoned vehicle" means a vehicle which has remained on public property or private property for a period of 48 hours after a police agency or other governmental agency designated by the police agency has affixed a written notice to the vehicle.

(2) If a vehicle has remained on public or private property for a period of time so that it appears to the police agency to be abandoned, the police agency shall do all of the following:

- Determine if the vehicle has been reported stolen.
- Affix a written notice to the vehicle. The written notice shall contain the following information:

- The date and time the notice was affixed.
- The name and address of the police agency taking the action.
- The name and badge number of the police officer affixing the notice.
- The date and time the vehicle may be taken into custody and stored at the owner's expense or scrapped if the vehicle is not removed.
- The year, make, and vehicle identification number of the vehicle, if available.

(3) If the vehicle is not removed with 48 hours after the date the notice was affixed, the vehicle is deemed abandoned and the police agency may have the vehicle taken into custody.

(4) A police agency which has a vehicle taken into custody shall do all of the following:

- Recheck to determine if the vehicle has been reported stolen.
- Within 24 hours after taking the vehicle into custody, enter the vehicle as abandoned into the law enforcement information network.

(c) Within 7 days after taking the vehicle into custody, send to the registered owner and secured party, as shown by the records of the secretary of state, by first-class mail or personal service, notice that the vehicle has been deemed abandoned. The form for the notice shall be furnished by the secretary of state. Each notice form shall contain the following information:

- The year, make, and vehicle identification number of the vehicle if available.
- The location from which the vehicle was taken into custody.
- The date on which the vehicle was taken into custody.
- The name and address of the police agency which had the vehicle taken into custody.
- The business address of the custodian of the vehicle.
- The procedure to redeem the vehicle.
- The procedure to contest the fact that the vehicle has been deemed abandoned or the reasonableness of the towing fees and daily storage fees.
- A form petition which the owner may file in person or by mail with the specified court which requests a hearing on the police agency's action.
- A warning that the failure to redeem the vehicle or to request a hearing within 20 days after the date of the notice may result in the sale of the vehicle and the termination of all rights of the owner and the secured party to the vehicle or the proceeds of the sale.

(5) The registered owner may contest the fact that the vehicle has been deemed abandoned or the reasonableness of the towing fees and daily storage fees by requesting a hearing. A request for a hearing shall be made by filing a petition with the court specified in the notice within 20 days after the date of the notice. If the owner requests a hearing, the matter shall be resolved after a hearing conducted pursuant to section 2.5e and 2.5f. An owner who requests a hearing may obtain release of the vehicle by posting a towing and storage bond in an amount equal to the accrued towing and storage fees with the court. The owner of a vehicle who requests a hearing may obtain release of the vehicle by paying the towing and storage fees instead of posting the towing and storage bond. If the court finds that the vehicle was not properly deemed abandoned, the police agency shall reimburse the owner of the vehicle for the accrued towing and storage fees.

(6) If the owner does not request a hearing, he or she may obtain the release of the vehicle by paying the accrued charges to the custodian of the vehicle.

(7) If the owner does not redeem the vehicle or request a hearing within 20 days after the date of the notice, the secured party may obtain the release of the vehicle by paying the accrued charges to the custodian of the vehicle and the police agency for its accrued costs.

(8) Not less than 20 days after the disposition of the hearing described in subsection (5) or, if a hearing is not requested, not less than 20 days after the date of the notice, the police agency shall offer the vehicle for sale at a public sale pursuant to section 2.5g.

(9) If the ownership of a vehicle which has been deemed abandoned under this section cannot be determined either because of the condition of the vehicle identification numbers or because a check with the records of the secretary of state does not reveal ownership, the police agency may sell the vehicle at public sale pursuant to section 2.5g, not less than 10 days after public notice of the sale has been published.

Section 2.5b. Abandoned Scrap Vehicle Procedures.

(1) As used in this section:

(a) "Registered abandoned scrap vehicle" means a vehicle which meets all of the following requirements:

- Is on public or private property.
- Is 7 or more years old.

(3) Within 24 hours, excluding Saturday, Sunday and legal holidays, after taking the vehicle into custody, the police agency shall complete a release form and release the vehicle to the towing service or a used vehicle parts dealer or vehicle scrap metal processor, who shall then transmit that release form to the secretary of state and apply for a certificate of the title or a certificate of scrapping. Upon receipt of the release form and application, the secretary of state shall issue a certificate of title or a certificate of scrapping.

(4) The release form described in subsection (3) shall be furnished by the secretary of state and shall include a certification executed by the applicable police agency when the abandoned scrap vehicle is released. The certification shall state that the police agency has complied with all the requirements of subsection (2)(b) and (c).

(5) The secretary of state shall retain the records relating to the abandoned scrap vehicle for not less than 2 years. The 2 photographs taken pursuant to subsection (2)(b) shall be retained by the police agency for not less than 2 years. After the certificate of scrapping has been issued, a certificate of title for the vehicle shall not be issued again.

(d) Within 24 hours after taking the vehicle into custody, enter the vehicle into the law enforcement information network.

(e) Within 7 days after taking the vehicle into custody, send to the registered owner and secured party, as shown by the records of the secretary of state, by first-class mail or personal service, notice that the vehicle has been deemed abandoned. The form for the notice shall be furnished by the secretary of state. Each notice form shall contain the following information:

- The year, make, and vehicle identification number of the vehicle if available.
- The location from which the vehicle was taken into custody.
- The date on which the vehicle was taken into custody.
- The name and address of the police agency which had the vehicle taken into custody.
- The business address of the custodian of the vehicle.
- The procedure to redeem the vehicle.
- The procedure to contest the fact that the vehicle has been deemed abandoned or the reasonableness of the towing fees and daily storage fees.
- A form petition which the owner may file in person or by mail with the specified court which requests a hearing on the police agency's action.
- A warning that the failure to redeem the vehicle or to request a hearing within 20 days after the date of the notice may result in the termination of all rights of the owner and the secured party to the vehicle.

(7) The registered owner of a registered abandoned scrap vehicle may contest the fact that the vehicle has been deemed abandoned or the reasonableness of the towing fees and daily storage fees by requesting a hearing. A request for a hearing shall be made by filing a petition with the court specified in the notice within 20 days after the date of the notice. If the owner requests a hearing, the matter shall be resolved after a hearing conducted pursuant to section 2.5e and 2.5f. An owner who requests a hearing may obtain release of the vehicle by posting a towing and storage bond with the court in an amount as determined by the court. The owner of a vehicle who requests a hearing may obtain release of the vehicle by paying the towing and storage fees instead of posting the towing and storage bond. If the court finds that the vehicle was not properly deemed abandoned, the police agency shall reimburse the owner of the vehicle for the accrued towing and storage fees.

(8) If the owner does not request a hearing, he or she may obtain the release of the vehicle by paying the accrued charges to the custodian of the vehicle.

(9) If the owner does not redeem the vehicle or request a hearing within 20 days after the date of the notice, the secured party may obtain the release of the vehicle by paying the accrued charges to the custodian of the vehicle.

(10) Not less than 20 days after the disposition of the hearing described in subsection (7) or, if a hearing is not requested, not less than 20 days after the date of the notice described in subsection (6)(a), the police agency shall follow the procedures established in subsections (3) to (5).

Section 2.5c. Vehicle Removed from Private Property.

(1) When a vehicle is removed from private property at the direction of a person other than the registered owner of the vehicle or a police agency, the custodian of the vehicle immediately shall notify the police agency from whose jurisdiction the vehicle was towed. The custodian shall supply that information which is necessary for the police agency to enter the vehicle into the law enforcement information network.

(2) Upon receipt of the notification described in subsection (1), the police agency immediately shall do all of the following:

- Determine if the vehicle has been reported stolen.
- Enter the vehicle into the law enforcement information network.

(3) The owner of the vehicle removed as described in subsection (1) may obtain release of the vehicle by paying the accrued towing and storage fees to the custodian of the vehicle. Upon release of the vehicle, the custodian shall notify the police agency of the disposition of the vehicle.

(4) If the vehicle described in subsection (1) is not claimed by the owner within 7 days after the police agency has been notified by the custodian that it has been taken into custody, the vehicle is deemed abandoned and the procedures prescribed in section 2.5a(4)(c) to (9) shall apply.

Section 2.5d. Vehicle Removed by Police.

(1) A police agency or a governmental agency designated by the police agency may provide for the immediate removal of a vehicle from a public or private property to a place of safekeeping at the expense of the registered owner of the vehicle in any of the following circumstances:

- If the vehicle is in such a condition that the continued operation of the vehicle upon the highway would constitute an immediate hazard to the public.
- If the vehicle is parked or standing upon the highway in such a manner as to create an immediate public hazard or an obstruction of traffic.
- If a vehicle is parked in a posted tow away zone.
- If there is reasonable cause to believe that the vehicle or any part of the vehicle is stolen.
- If the vehicle must be seized to preserve evidence of a crime, or when there is reasonable cause to believe that the vehicle was used in the commission of a crime.
- If removal is necessary in the interest of public safety because of fire, flood, storm, snow, natural or man-made disaster, or other emergency.
- If the vehicle is hampering the use of private property by the owner or person in charge of that property or is parked in a manner which impedes the movement of another vehicle.
- If the vehicle is stopped, standing or parked in a space designated for handicapped parking and is not permitted by law to be stopped, standing, or parked in a space designated for handicapped parking.

(2) A police agency which authorizes the removal of a vehicle under subsection (1) shall do all of the following:

- Check to determine if the vehicle has been reported stolen.
- Within 24 hours after removing the vehicle, enter the vehicle into the law enforcement information network if the vehicle has not been redeemed. This subsection does not apply to a vehicle that is removed from the scene of a motor vehicle traffic accident.
- If the vehicle has not been redeemed within 10 days after moving the vehicle, send to the registered owner and the secured party, as shown by the records of the secretary of state, by first-class mail or personal service, a notice that the vehicle has been removed; however, if the police agency informs the owner or operator of the vehicle of the removal and the location of the vehicle within 24 hours after the removal, and if the vehicle has not been redeemed within 30 days and upon complaint from the towing service, the police agency shall send the notice within 30 days after the removal. The notice shall be by a form furnished by the secretary of state. The notice form shall contain the following information:
  - The year, make, and vehicle identification number of the vehicle.
  - The location from which the vehicle was taken into custody.
  - The date on which the vehicle was taken into custody.
  - The name and address of the police agency which had the vehicle taken into custody.
  - The location where the vehicle is being held.
  - The procedure to redeem the vehicle.
  - The procedure to contest the fact that the vehicle was properly removed or the reasonableness of the towing and daily storage fees.

(viii) A form petition which the owner may file in person or by mail with the specified court which requests a hearing on the police agency's action.

(ix) A warning that the failure to redeem the vehicle or to request a hearing within 20 days after the date of the notice may result in the sale of the vehicle and the termination of all rights of the owner and the secured party to the vehicle or the proceeds of the sale or to both the vehicle and the proceeds.

(3) The registered owner may contest the fact that the vehicle was properly removed or the reasonableness of the towing fees and daily storage fees by requesting a hearing. A request for a hearing shall be made by filing a petition with the court specified in the notice within 20 days after the date of the notice. If the owner requests a hearing, the matter shall be resolved after a hearing conducted pursuant to sections 2.5e and 2.5f. An owner who requests a hearing may obtain release of the vehicle by posting a towing and storage bond with the court in an amount equal to the accrued towing and storage fees. The owner of a vehicle who requests a hearing may obtain release of the vehicle by paying the towing and storage fees instead of posting the towing and storage bond. If the court finds that the vehicle was not properly removed, the police agency shall reimburse the owner of the vehicle for the accrued towing and storage fees.

(4) If the owner does not request a hearing, he or she may obtain the release of the vehicle by paying the accrued charges to the custodian of the vehicle.

(5) If the owner does not redeem the vehicle or request a hearing within 20 days, the secured party may obtain the release of the vehicle by paying the accrued charges to the custodian of the vehicle prior to the date of the sale.

(6) Not less than 20 days after the disposition of the hearing described in subsection (3), or if a hearing is not requested, not less than 20 days after the date of the notice described in subsection (2)(c), the police agency shall offer the vehicle for sale at a public sale unless the vehicle is redeemed. The public sale shall be held pursuant to section 2.5g.

(7) If the ownership of a vehicle which has been removed under this section cannot be determined either because of the condition of the vehicle identification numbers or because a check with the records of the secretary of state does not reveal ownership, the police agency may sell the vehicle at public sale pursuant to section 2.5g, not less than 10 days after public notice of the sale has been published.

SECTION 2.5e. ABANDONED VEHICLE, JURISDICTION OF COURT.

(1) The following courts shall have jurisdiction to determine if a police agency has acted properly in processing a vehicle under section 2.5a, 2.5b(6) to (10), 2.5c, or 2.5d:

- The district court.
- A municipal court.
- The common pleas court of the City of Detroit.

(2) The court specified in the notice prescribed in section 2.5a(4)(c), 2.5b(6), 2.5c(4), or 2.5d(2)(c) shall be the court which has territorial jurisdiction at the location from where the vehicle was removed or deemed abandoned. Venue in the district court shall be governed by section 8312 of Act No. 235 of the Public Acts of 1961, as amended, being section 600.8312 of the Michigan Compiled Laws.

(3) If the owner fails to pay the accrued towing and storage fees, the towing and storage bond posted with the court to secure release of the vehicle under section 2.5a, 2.5b, 2.5c, or 2.5d shall be used to pay the towing and storage fees.

Section 2.5f. Abandoned Vehicle, Duties of Court.

(1) Upon receipt of a petition prescribed in section 2.5a, 2.5b, 2.5c, or 2.5d, signed by the owner of the vehicle which has been taken into custody, the court shall do both of the following:

- Schedule a hearing within 30 days for the purpose of determining whether the police agency acted properly.
- Notify the owner and the police agency of the time and place of the hearing.

(2) At the hearing specified in subsection (1) the police agency shall have the burden of showing by a preponderance of the evidence that it has complied with the requirements of this act in processing the abandoned vehicle or vehicle removed pursuant to section 2.5d.

(3) After the hearing the court shall make a decision which shall include 1 or more of the following:

- A finding that the police agency complied with the procedures established for the processing of an abandoned vehicle or a vehicle removed under section 2.5d, and an order providing a period of 20 days after the decision for the owner to redeem the vehicle. If the owner does not redeem the vehicle within 20 days, the police agency shall dispose of the vehicle pursuant to section 2.5b or 2.5g.
- A finding that the police agency did not comply with the procedures established for the processing of an abandoned vehicle or a vehicle removed pursuant to section 2.5d. After making such a finding, the court shall issue an order directing that the vehicle immediately be released to the owner, and that the police agency is responsible for the accrued towing and storage charges.

- A finding that the towing and daily storage fees were reasonable.
- A finding that the towing and daily storage fees were unreasonable and issue an order directing an appropriate reduction.

Section 2.5g. Abandoned Vehicle, Public Sale.

(1) A public sale for a vehicle which has been deemed abandoned under sections 2.5a or 2.5b or removed under section 2.5d shall be conducted in the following manner:

- It shall be under the control of the police agency or agent of the police agency.
- It shall be open to the public and consist of open auction bidding or bidding by sealed bids. If sealed bids are received, the person submitting the bid shall receive a receipt for the bid from the police agency or agent of the police agency.
- Except as provided by sections 2.5a(9) and 2.5d(7), it shall be held not less than 5 days after public notice of the sale has been published.
- The public notice shall be published at least once in a newspaper having a general circulation within the county in which the vehicle was abandoned. The public notice shall give a description of the vehicle for sale and shall state the time, date, and location of the sale.

(2) The money received from the public sale of the vehicle shall be applied in the following order of priority:

- Towing and storage charges.
- Expenses incurred by the police agency.
- To the secured party, if any, in the amount of the debt outstanding on the vehicle.
- Remainder to the owner. A reasonable attempt shall be made to mail the remainder to the registered owner. If delivery of the remainder cannot be accomplished, the remainder shall become the property of the unit of government that the police agency represents.

(3) If there are no bidders on the vehicle, the police agency may do 1 of the following:

- Turn the vehicle over to the towing firm to satisfy charges against the vehicle.
- Obtain title to the vehicle for the police agency or the unit of government the police agency represents, by doing the following:
  - Paying the towing and storage charges.
  - Applying for title to the vehicle.

(c) Hold another public sale pursuant to subsection (1).

(4) A person who acquires ownership of a vehicle under subsection (1) or (3), which vehicle has been designated as a distressed vehicle, shall make application for a salvage certificate of title within 15 days after obtaining the vehicle.

(5) Upon disposition of the vehicle, the police agency shall cancel the entry into the law enforcement information network.

SECTION 2.6. (RESERVED)

SECTION 2.7. (RESERVED)

Section 2.8. Mandatory child restraints.

(1) Except as provided in this section, or as otherwise provided by law, a rule promulgated pursuant to the administrative procedures act of 1969, Act No. 306 of the Public Acts of 1969, as amended, being sections 24.201 to 24.215 of the Michigan Compiled Laws, or federal regulation, each driver transporting a child in a motor vehicle shall properly secure each child in a child restraint system as follows:

- Any child less than 1 year of age in a child restraint system which meets the standards prescribed in 49 C.F.R. 571.213, except as provided in subsection (6).
- Any child 1 year of age or more but less than 4 years of age, when transported in the front seat, in

Electric car will spark Motor City

McCOSH

Sometimes it seems like one of the dictates of the auto business is that every five years or so someone waves a red flag and the mad inventor types come crawling out of the woodwork. Not that I have anything against this in principle.

Some of my best friends are mad inventors, although the most productive tend to be the type that work to improve the automobile as we know it, rather than eliminate it.

The energy crisis that now seems in the distant past seemed to change all that, and for a few brief moments some kind of radical new engine or alternative form of transportation seemed to be just around the corner. Now, with gas at a buck a gallon, energy as an issue doesn't seem quite as important as the effort to save the environment. (Someone is going to point out that the two are distinctly related, but I'm not talking reasoned thought here.)

Enter the electric car. For some reason, a two-passenger car with a hundred mile range carrying around 800 pounds of toxic chemicals is seen as an environmentally sound proposition, at least in California, where they are hell-bent on putting hundreds of thousands of the things on the road in the next decade or so.

The merits of the basic premise aside, the race to produce a viable electric car has touched off a genuine flurry of innovative engineering effort, with much of it concentrated right here in the greater Detroit area. The numerous stumbling blocks — limited range, poor performance, etc., seem to just whet the appetites of the engineers working on electric cars. Even the designers, who have been palming off cars that look like used bars of soap for years, now are coming forth with stunning small-car designs allegedly powered by electric motors.

The big stumbling block is still a lightweight high-capacity battery, however, since aside from the short range, you can't exactly stand alongside the road with a pair of jumper cables when an electric car runs down. This critical issue prompted the formation about a year ago of the first industry-wide research consortium — a genuine melding of effort in an industry rife with antitrust paranoia.

This week, the consortium awarded $18.5 million to Troy-based Energy Conversion Devices, which has a new-technology battery that shows considerable promise.

ECD has been turning out high-tech ideas for years, most of which never quite seem to make it to the big time. This one might be different, since the battery has considerable promise even if electric cars fall on their face.

Frankly, I don't think the electric car business by itself will threaten Toyota. Instead, it is likely to spur some of the best kind of creative thinking that will result in all sorts of gizmos that will improve the mileage of all cars, and even end up in your electric hedge clipper. Even more intriguing is the way it seems to be focusing the Detroit area's considerable engineering talent, which already makes suburban Detroit a sort of Silicon Valley with bad winters.

All in all, the electric car may yet end up as the best thing to happen to the car business around here in years.

Retirement from NEXT PAGE

He has been faithfully contributing to an IRA each year since 1974, but this alone will not provide nearly enough for their needs. With projected new contributions growing at a reasonable rate of return, at best his IRA income would only match his expected $750 monthly income from Social Security (inflation-adjusted). Both sources would provide $1,500 per month, far below their current income and their retirement goal.

Realistically, Al and Fran need to re-examine their expectations. Unless they come across a windfall, such as an inheritance or winning the lottery, this goal is clearly unattainable. They would have to save more than their total income each year to be able to retire at age 65 at that income level.

To assess their options more effectively, they should examine closely their expenditures to find out exactly what it takes to maintain their current lifestyle. Tracking monthly expenditures is a first step in this process.

Then they need to see if there are any expenses that can be reduced. For example, they were planning on maintaining both their home in Livonia and their cottage up north. They may find they can afford only to keep one or the other. These decisions should be faced now, so that they can adequately prepare for any transition at retirement.

Examining their expenditures will also help them manage their current income more effectively. They tend to use their credit cards regularly, which leads to frequent impulse buying. The high interest rate that they pay on these credit cards further increases the cost of these purchases. By planning these ahead of time, they can make their income go further.

Thus they need to embark on an aggressive savings campaign. Using tax-deductible dollars is the most efficient way to build their assets for retirement. At a minimum, we would suggest that Al establish a Simplified Employee Pension (SEP) plan. Using this, he can contribute and deduct slightly more than 12 percent of this net self-employment income. This type of retirement plan is extremely easy to set up and maintain.

Self-employed pension

Better yet, he should consider establishing a combination of two retirement plans that maximizes his ability to make tax-deductible investments. This would involve the setting up of a profit-sharing plan and a money purchase pension plan for self-employed individuals. Together, these two plans allow him to contribute up to 20 percent of this income after other business expenses.

These plans are sometimes called Keogh plans, although that term is technically outmoded. The reporting and filing requirements for these plans are somewhat more complex than for the SEP, but the additional tax savings is well worth it. Al should consult with his CPA or financial planner to make the determination of what plan is best for him.

The Gingrichs are unhappy with the amount of taxes they pay. Not only do all these plans provide for tax-deductible contributions, but they grow without subjecting the income to current taxation. Not until money is withdrawn is it taxed.

The tax deductibility of these retirement plan contributions allows the Gingrichs to put away more in savings than they would otherwise be able to manage. Also, they will probably be in a lower tax bracket at retirement, and thus will save significant tax dollars when the income is withdrawn.

Al needs to examine his life insurance coverage. He owns only a $100,000 universal policy bought in 1983. If he died, Fran would be left in a terrible position. She has minimal job skills, so perhaps she would earn $1,000 per month.

As a widow, she would not be eligible for Social Security until age 60, so her only other income would be provided from investment of the $100,000 life insurance proceeds and their $75,000 of other investment assets.

Thus, she would be faced with a severely reduced standard of living and would face some hard choices. Al should buy another $200,000 to $250,000 of life insurance to be carried at least during the next five to eight years or until he is retired. This buys them time to build their asset base.

Aggressive investments?

Currently, with the exception of a small mutual fund, all of their investments are in interest-bearing bank accounts. They need to work with their financial planner or a broker to incorporate some growth into their portfolio.

Fran asks, "Should we be much more aggressive in our investments, so that our assets grow faster?"

To a limited extent, the answer is yes, but they need to be cautious. The hidden assumption here is that by taking additional risk, they would be assured of additional returns. If they speculate, they could lose significant amounts of money, which they cannot afford to do.

We make a clear distinction between "speculating" and "investing." Speculation implies taking high risks with the hopes for extraordinary gains; investing is a more prudent method of accepting some additional risk with the reasonable expectation of higher rates of return over time. We believe Al and Fran can and should embark on an investment problem, but avoid speculation. A well-defined investment plan using stocks and bonds, as well as guaranteed investments, would be appropriate for them.

ART EMANUELE/STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

Man at work: William Yeck, 92, operates a band saw among other job duties at ADP Diamond Products.

Old saw

Heigh-ho, heigh-ho, off to work he goes

■ Second careers are nothing unusual for some people, but most second careers don't last 28 years and counting — especially when begun at age 64.

William Yeck is just one of the guys at ADP Diamond Products in Livonia. Except that he happens to be 92 years old.

Yeck, a Detroit, works 40 hours a week operating a band saw and building boxes to ship parts. He drives himself to and from the shop every day. He talks sports during breaks. And he has no intention of retiring.

"My family is all gone, most of them," Yeck said. "The people that retire have big plans. You know what happens? Not one of those people have ever done anything. They tell you what they're going to do and it doesn't work out."

Yeck spent virtually his whole life operating printing presses before going to work for ADP 28 years ago. He retired once after a 30-year stint with Parke Davis. A one-year break, however, was more than enough for him. A relative gave him a job lead at ADP, a manufacturer of diamond-tipped cutting and fashioning tools.

"I like to be with people, talk to people," said Yeck, a widower. "You have to live your life."

"My dad always used to tell me, 'Whatever you do, don't overdo it — smoking, drinking, eating, working. Just take it as it comes and try to do the right thing. Don't push it.'"

"Dad always told me, 'If you want to be happy, be honest.' If you're not honest, you get into trouble, you won't be happy," Yeck said.

Bill Dillon, an ADP owner, is more than satisfied with the quality of Yeck's work.

"You can set your clock by him morning and afternoon," Dillon said. "The only time he misses is when we get a heavy snow. He doesn't do anything real dangerous. He cleans up a lot, too. Without him out there, these guys would be real slob. They all enjoy him. He always has stories to tell."

"When you're thirsty, it's too late to think about digging a well."

Similarly when you are at retirement, it's too late to begin thinking about where your ongoing income is to be generated. This month's profiled couple, Al and Fran Gingrich of Livonia, have only a short time to prepare for retirement. And they have some catching up to do.

Al is a manufacturer's representative with average annual earnings of about $70,000 after expenses. He is 58 and is self-employed. Fran, 52, is a homemaker. They have raised their four children, and all are married. The Gingrichs have been generous with their children, providing significant help with their wedding and college expenses, but it has put them in a hole for their own retirement planning.

They are aware of their lack of savings: "We know that we don't have enough invested in our retirement fund. What is the best way to make this fund grow rapidly?" Fran asked.

One of the problems they face is the lack of any pension plan. Because the income provided from Social Security is beyond their control; they need to concentrate on building their own savings and investments as rapidly as possible.

Their major financial strength is the fact they have very little debt, and they therefore are able to direct their discretionary cash flow to savings. Unlike last month's profiled family whose low debt allowed for an enhanced standard of living, the Gingrichs must use their cash flow toward providing for the future.

Group proves special wishes can come true

BY SUE MASON
STAFF WRITER

If Suzanne Jones were a fairy godmother, she'd grant every wish she could. She'd wave a magic wand and conjure up a trip to the NBA All-Star game, a long-distance visit with Julia Roberts, a motorized three-wheel cart and trips to Disney World.

As the executive director of the Rainbow Connection, Jones can grant other people's wishes, but she can't grant the one she has — corporate sponsors to help fund the work of the non-profit organization that brightens the lives of children 3 to 18 years of age who are suffering from life-threatening illnesses.

"It's not the cost of the wish that's important here," said Jones. "It's what it does for the child. We send a lot of kids to Disney World and buy bikes, but the main thrust of the wishes are very simple. They want to do it for the family."

Rainbow Connection was founded in by former Oakland County prosecutor L. Brooks Patterson in memory of his friend Ron Dobson and Dobson's two children, Tim and Jennifer, all of whom died in the May 1980 crash of a private plane.

At first scholarships were offered to children in the Clarkston School District, where the Dobson children had attended school, but the program was eventually expanded to include other children with life-threatening illnesses.

Granting wishes

Since then Rainbow Connection has granted more than 200 wishes, the majority since 1990, a phenomenal number, considering it gets its money from donations, memorials and fund-raisers.

Under its bylaws, 80 percent of the money the organization collects goes for wishes. The remaining money goes for maintaining offices (in a corner of Keith's Framing shop in Rochester) and salaries for Jones, the only full-time employee, and two part-time employees.

The bulk of the work is done by a cadre of volunteers who plan fund-raisers like its sixth annual Hearts of Gold Ball in February, the second annual Jonathan Taliario Memorial Bowl-A-Thon in May and the 12th annual Dobson Golf Open in July.

Last year, there were 30 such benefits for Rainbow Connection that raised some $200,000. At the same time, Jones was able to grant 100 wishes, the most ever for the organization.

The wishes included sending a Livonia teenager and his family to the NBA All-Star game, Disney World and a visit with his grandparents, who live in West Palm Beach, Fla.

Another wish gave a 7-year-old Troy youngster mobility. Oxygen-dependent because of cystic fibrosis, his wish was for a motorized three-wheel cart so he could go to the park with his friends.

Another child wanted to see the New Kids on the Block, and thanks to an anonymous donor who offered a suite at Joe Louis Arena, her wish came true. There also have been wishes for VCRs, Nintendo games, televisions, computers, bicycles and phone calls from movie stars.

Best-kept secret

Although it has been around for almost a decade, Rainbow Connection isn't that well-known outside Oakland County. Its activities, however, encompass the entire state, but a majority of the wishes come from youngsters at Children's hospitals in Ann Arbor and Detroit and a few from the west side of the state.

"The fund-raisers and benefits are how people get to know us," Jones said. "We need people to know us and to know we need things. Everytime we do a wish, we get support. Everytime we do an event, we get name recognition."

The organization is able to provide some of the more fanciful wishes like a trip to Disney World because of the Give Kids the World, an organization which maintains Kid's World in Orlando.

For $200, Rainbow Connection can put a family of up to six up in a two-bedroom condo at Kid's World for six days and five nights, provide breakfast and dinner, a car and tickets to the theme park.

Likewise, the organization provides one-week stays available at Little Mary's House in Wellston, where families can enjoy boating, swimming and fishing, including transportation and grocery money.

Short on money

But a sluggish economy has had an effect on the Rainbow Connection. Operational funds were at rock bottom in January and Jones was ready to give up the sorely needed office furniture she had been renting when Globe Furniture decide to sell it to Rainbow Connection for a meager $700 "because they believe in what we do for the children," Jones said.

"We've always been fortunate to be able to grant the wish, but it's been tight at times," Jones said. "But it's the dedication and the belief we can make a difference that keeps us going."

Those interested in making donations, volunteering their services or requesting a wish can contact Jones at 651-1261.

■ Gwen Marston is known for her handy work. The talents of the Michigan quilter are on display at the Plymouth Historical Museum in an exhibit that blends that past and present of quilts.

BY JULIE BROWN
STAFF WRITER

The new exhibit at the Plymouth Historical Museum isn't likely to put visitors to sleep, although it might make them think about naptime.

The exhibit on the art of quilting opened May 9 and will continue through Sunday, July 5, at the museum, 155 S. Main. It features more than 100 quilts, including some 70 small ones, about half of the collection of Michigan quilter Gwen Marston.

"We decided to do half, because we were unsure of where we would put them all," said Beth Stewart, museum director.

About a year ago, museum representatives got in touch with Marston, who lives on Beaver Island, Mich. Marston, a nationally known professional quilter, author and teacher, has been to the area to conduct workshops.

Members of the Plymouth Piecemakers, a local quilting group, and other museum supporters suggested that her quilts be exhibited. Local exhibit organizers had to work around other exhibits Marston has scheduled this year in California and several other states.

The quilt collection features a variety of designs, shapes and colors. "Some are very modern. Some have a real ethnic flavor to them." Some of Marston's quilts were inspired by African folk art designs, Stewart said.

In addition to Marston's quilts, some 30 to 35 antique quilts, nearly all of the museum's collection, are exhibited.

"They play off each other very well," said Stewart, a Plymouth Township resident.

Many of the older quilts from the collection were used through the years and aren't in the greatest shape. Some fabrics, such as silk, have shredded.

The collection includes both patchwork quilts and applique ones, in which flowers and patterns were sewn onto the top. The earliest quilt, a mosaic design from Europe, is dated around 1840.

"That's probably our most unusual one too, I would say." The "crazy quilts" exhibited were showoff pieces in which quilters demonstrated their proficiency at various stitches, Stewart said.

The main lobby area of the museum is set up to resemble a quilting bee, complete with mannequins in period costumes.

"That was women's social time and one of the few times they had to get together," she said. Girls began to learn the art of quilting at an early age; the counting and multiplying required helped them learn their arithmetic.

Quilting began for utilitarian purposes, and moved beyond that to become an art form. Women would gather scraps of fabric, making sure they used everything. Those pieces were then cut meticulously so they would blend together, said Donna Keough, exhibits chairwoman at the museum.

"The chores were many, but they found time to do the piecing because it was a necessity," said Keough, a Canton resident. Quilting became a source of pride.

"I'm amazed at the patterns and the color variances." Often, women in the family would work individually on piecing quilt tops during the winter. When spring came, it was quilting bee time and women put on their Sunday best.

"It was an opportunity to visit and look lovely," Keough said.

Conversation was a staple of those get-togethers. Often, it was of a more general political nature in the beginning, and moved to the more familiar gossip and chitchat as the quilt got smaller, bringing people closer together, Keough said.

Women of bygone days spent some time making hope-chest quilts for their daughters, and in some circles, gathering to stitch a quilt together was tantamount to an engagement announcement.

Quilting remains popular today, although it's changed.

"Nobody has time to do this anymore," Stewart said. Even members of the Plymouth Piecemakers do much of their work by sewing machine.

Gwen Marston will present a workshop on quilting 9 a.m. to noon Saturday, June 20, at the museum. Price is $25 for the workshop, which is limited to 30 participants, and advance registration is required. Marston will also give a 2 p.m. lecture on quilting June 20. Price is $2, and reservations aren't required for the lecture. For information, call 455-8940.

Hours at the Plymouth Historical Museum, 155 S. Main, are 1-4 p.m. Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday, 2-5 p.m. Sunday. Admission price is $1.50 for adults, 50 cents for students, free for children under age 5. Family rate is $4.

Watching TV may be the leisure time activity of choice in many households, but the Plymouth-Canton community's home to an abundance of readers.

Last week's used book sale, sponsored by the Plymouth Branch, American Association of University Women, attracted plenty of eager readers. The fund-raising event, held Wednesday through Saturday at Starkweather Center in Plymouth, is in its 38th year. It's marked by book-lovers on their calendars each spring, and many stock up on reading material for the entire year.

Those who missed out on the AAUW sale don't have to turn to the tube in their free time. The Friends of the Canton Public Library will sponsor an annual used book sale Thursday through Sunday, May 28-31, at the library, 1200 S. Canton Center, south of Cherry Hill in Canton.

The sale has been held for the past several years, and is also popular.

Rarely do I receive an adult handwriting this large, so I hit the graphology books before making a determination. The consensus of opinion is that this inflated size is usually written by an extroverted person.

These writers seldom go unnoticed. They like to impress people and have a need to be seen and admired. Excessive pride, possibly covering inferior feelings is further suggested. One consideration that might render some of this a little less accurate is the possibility of a sight problem.

The prime focus of our writer is the manner in which she spends her daily life. She is most comfortable in a controlled environment and is willing to exert herself to control it.

Her personality is attuned toward activity on a grand scale. She is an active person with accents on the physical. A little tendency to worry over small matters is suggested here.

Heart, home and family are important to her happiness. She likes a well-kept, cozy home and good food. The mother figure has had strong influence in shaping her personality.

There is a sensuous quality to this handwriting. She is susceptible to influence through any of the five senses. A beautiful sunset, the aroma of freshly baked bread, music playing on the stereo, the feel of a luxurious fabric or the taste of delicious food are things which might titillate her senses.

Our writer's need for contacts and sociability is strong. Some inhabitants here, however, suggests there may be occasions when she does not feel at ease socially.

Insight may be somewhat limited. She has a private side and can be cautious and protective of her own interests. Secrecy and emotional reserve enable her to calculate her responses so as to avoid situations which might threaten her personal privacy.

Some sarcasm weaves throughout her handwriting and is a defense mechanism. It is probably used when she feels threatened or insecure.

Her manner of thinking is methodical and careful. She often thinks in visual terms and appears to have a love of form, structure and aesthetics. The combination of creativity and manual dexterity combine to give her talent and pleasure in constructing with her hands.

There is a naive quality to this handwriting. She may be gullible and not always the best judge of people and/or situations.

Please use a full sheet of white, unlined paper, writing in the first person singular. Age, handedness and full signature are helpful. And objective feedback is always welcome.

The sale will be during library hours, 9:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. Thursday, 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday and Saturday, noon to 5 p.m. Sunday. (A members-only preview will be 6-9 p.m. Wednesday, May 27, at the library. Memberships, $3 for seniors, $5 general, will be available at the preview.)

"We have an extraordinary amount of children's books this year, lovely books," said Barker, a Canton resident. "Those are always popular."

There are plenty of cookbooks as well, along with technical books and many others. Harlequin and Silhouette-type romance novels won't be sold, however; Friends members plan a special sale of those next February as a Valentine's Day celebration, although some other romance novels will be available at next week's event.

Wally Baker of Canton is again serving as sale chairman. This year's theme is "Recycled Reading Makes Cents." Many readers buy books at the sale one year, and then donate them the next year for others to enjoy.

"We feel like we're recycling all the reading around the Canton area," said Barker, who plans to look for a few book bargains herself at the preview.

Proceeds support library programs and projects. Price for most hardcover books will be $1, with paperbacks priced at 25 cents. There will be some specially priced items, and Sunday will feature a $3 per bag sale. For information, call 397-0999.

Festival showcases student talent

Artistic talent in the Plymouth-Canton community isn't limited to the 18-and-up crowd. Many students have artistic ability to spare.

The spotlight was on such youthful talent during the arts awards festival, sponsored by the Plymouth Community Arts Council. The event, held the evening of Tuesday, May 12, in the Little Theatre of Plymouth Canton High School, featured performances by a number of local students.

"The festival is held to recognize and honor all the students who've won awards," said Beth Lurtz, PCAC chairwoman for grants and awards. This is the fifth year the springtime event has been held.

Winners of several arts council honors — the Damaris Student Fine Arts Awards, Joanne Winkleman Hulce Founder's Scholarships, Margaret E. Wilson Scholarship for the Performing Arts, and Jeanet M. Allison Memorial Scholarships — were among those recognized.

Members of an honors chorus from the Plymouth-Canton middle schools performed. All five schools — Central, East, Lowell, Pioneer and West — were represented, and vocal directors from each school directed a number.

The program gives those choir students and their teachers an opportunity to expand their repertoire and perform music they wouldn't ordinarily at their individual schools, Lurtz said. "They get such a thrill out of it."

"It really is important. They don't have as many opportunities to perform in their fine arts categories as the high school students do."

The evening featured performances by two student pianists, Tami Morse, winner of a $100 Jeanet M. Allison Memorial Scholarship, and Rachel Folland, winner of a $600 Joanne Winkleman Hulce Founder's Scholarship. Another pianist, Danette Domagala, received a $400 JWH Founder's Scholarship.

"So many parents thanked us for doing this, because it is important for their children to be patted on the back," said Lurtz, a Plymouth Township resident. She's pleased to see so many Plymouth-Canton students involved in the arts.

The PCAC scholarships and programs are designed to encourage students to continue their fine arts studies, and that seems to be working.

Previous winners of the Damaris Awards were among this year's winners of major scholarships given to high school students, "which is really the whole point of that competition." The Damaris Awards honor middle school students in such areas as art, dance, vocal and instrumental music, creative writing and photography.

Racism: an affront that exposes U.S. to spiritual danger

This essay was submitted by the Spiritual Assembly of the Baha'is of Canton Township.

Racism is the most challenging issue confronting our country. A nation whose ancestry includes every people on earth, whose motto is "E Pluribus Unum," whose ideals of freedom under law have inspired millions throughout the world, cannot continue to harbor prejudice against any racial or ethnic group without betraying itself. Racism is an affront to human dignity, a cause of hatred and division, a disease that devastates society.

Notwithstanding the efforts already expended for its elimination, racism continues to work its evil upon this nation. Progress toward tolerance, mutual respect and unity has been painfully slow and marked with repeated setbacks.

The recent resurgence of divisive racial attitudes, the increased number of racial incidents, and the deepening despair of minorities and the poor make the need for solutions ever more pressing and urgent. To ignore the problem is to expose the country to physical, moral and spiritual danger.

Having gone through the stages of infancy and turbulent adolescence, humanity is now approaching maturity, a stage that will witness "the reconstruction and demilitarization of the whole civilized world — a world organically unified in all the essential aspects of its life."

Promise of unity

In no other country is the promise of organic unity more immediately demonstrable than in the United States because this country is a microcosm of the diverse populations of the earth. Yet this promise remains largely unrealized even here because of the endemic racism that, like a cancer, is corroding the vitals of the nation.

The application of the spiritual principle of the oneness of humanity to the life of the nation would necessitate and make possible vast changes in the economic status of the non-white segments of the population. Although poverty afflicts members of all races, its victims tend to be largely people of color.

Prejudice and discrimination have created a disparity in standards of living, providing some with excessive economic advantage while denying others the bare necessities for leading healthy and dignified lives.

Poor housing, deficient diets, inadequate health care, insufficient education are consequences of poverty that afflict African Americans, American Indians and Hispanic Americans more than they afflict the rest of the population. The cost to society at large is heavy.

Evidence of the negative effect of racial and ethnic conflict on the economy has prompted a number of businesses and corporations to institute educational programs that teach conflict resolution and are designed to eliminate racial and ethnic tensions from the workplace.

These are important steps and should be encouraged. If, however, they are intended primarily to save the economy, no enduring solution will be found to the disastrous consequences of racism. For it cannot suffice to offer academic education and jobs to people while at the same time shutting them out because of racial prejudice from normal social intercourse based on brotherly love and mutual respect.

Oneness the key

The fundamental solution — the one that will reduce violence, regenerate and focus the intellectual and moral energy of minorities, and make them partners in the construction of a progressive society — rests ultimately on the common recognition of the oneness of humankind.

So essential is the principle of the oneness of humanity to the efficacy of educational programs that it cannot be overemphasized. Without its broad influence, such programs will not contribute significantly to the development of society. The very fact that businesses are themselves implementing educational programs is indicative of the glaring deficiency of the entire educational system.

As we have already said, beyond the mechanisms of education lies the essential prerequisite of a proper attitude on the part of those dispensing curricula and, even more important, on the part of society as a whole. On this basis, education is not only the shortest route out of poverty, it is the shortest route out of prejudice as well.

A national program of education, emphasizing the values of tolerance, brotherhood, appreciation for cultures other than one's own, and respect for differences would be a most important step toward the elimination of racism and, as a consequence, the bolstering of the economy.

The persistent neglect by the governing bodies and the masses of the American people of the ravages of racism jeopardizes both the internal order and the national security of the country.

Promoting peace

That the virulence of the race issue in the United States attracts the attention of the entire world should spur this country to an unprecedented effort to eliminate every vestige of prejudice and discrimination from her midst. Our example could not fail to have a profound influence on world society, nor could it fail to assist the establishment of universal peace.

The victims of a protracted and entrenched racial discrimination seek relief in the notion that black Americans, white Americans, American Indians, Hispanic Americans, Asian Americans are so distinctly different from one another that all of them must stake out their own cultural and social territories and stay within them.

Would this be sensible? Would it not be a retreat from the reality of our common humanity? Would it not be a formula for the total breakdown of civilization? Those who raise the call for separation preach a grim doctrine indeed. If the nation is seriously to submit to such a view, where exactly will either the black or the white Americans divide their cultural heritage, one from the other?

Both groups must understand that no real change will come about without close association, fellowship and friendship among diverse people. Diversity of color, nationality and culture enhances the human experience and should never be made a barrier to harmonious relationships, to friendship, or to marriage.

This appeal is addressed primarily to the individual because the transformation of a whole nation ultimately depends on the initiative and change of character of the individuals who compose it.

Whale of a tale: These students are among those who appeared in the children's choir production at Our Lady of Good Counsel.

Children tackle 'Whale of a Tale'

By JULIE BROWN
STAFF WRITER

As communities go, Plymouth is rather landlocked. Even so, a nautical theme seemed appropriate during the children's choir concert at Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic Church.

Nearly 100 student musicians presented the story of "Oh, Jonah! A Whale of a Tale" the evening of Thursday, May 14, at the church. The youngsters rehearsed for about two months, and it was smooth sailing at showtime.

"I'm thrilled," said Sue Lindquist, children's choir director. "The kids always come through. You can see these kids had a great time doing this. They enjoyed it as much as I did."

Soloists, bell choirs, a liturgical drama team and others participated. Through song and story, the students, who range in age from 8 to 12 or thereabouts, told the biblical tale of Jonah and the whale.

Costumes and props added to the effectiveness. A large whale, created by Marilyn and Joe Kokoszka and Ray Nowicki, was used. Students wore specially screenprinted T-shirts for the occasion, and during the "City of Sin" number, all donned sunglasses.

Songs such as "A Whale of a Tale," "Jonah's Prayer," "The Storm" and others were featured. In putting the show together, Lindquist and others began with the music of a songwriter.

"We put in extra songs and I wrote extra dialogue." Many students from Our Lady of Good Counsel School participated.

"It's a spirit that catches everybody," Lindquist said. "It's a wonderful confidence-builder, not to mention the lesson they learn. They're going to remember this kind of experience forever, I think."

The production was dedicated to the Rev. James Wysocki, pastor at Our Lady of Good Counsel, who is celebrating his silver jubilee, 25th year in the priesthood. Wysocki thanked the youngsters for their efforts and then put on a captain's hat during the concert, drawing a round of applause from parish members and guests.

"I tell you, I searched high and low for that captain's hat," Lindquist said. She's originally from Alpena, Mich., where there are many marinas, but didn't have an easy time finding such a hat close to landlocked Plymouth.

Younger musicians aren't the only talented performers at Our Lady of Good Counsel. Adult Parish Choir members will perform 7:30 p.m. Thursday, June 11, at the church, 1160 Penniman, Plymouth. The "bon voyage" concert will take place just before they leave for a tour of Germany, Austria and France.

"We have 100 people going," said Michele Johns, director of music ministry at the church. "It's like a parish on wheels."

Choir members will sing in cathedrals in many cities, performing sacred music in a number of languages, including English, Latin, German, French and Ukrainian.

The musicians have been rehearsing all year for the tour, and plan to videotape their performances to share with others when they return. Such invitations to perform in European cathedrals are rare, Johns said, and singers are eager to share their musical message with others.

"We've grown in this ministry," she said.

Area wetlands are favorite spot for mink - the four-legged kind

NATURE TRAILS
TIMOTHY NOWICKI

If we started to play a game of association, and I mentioned "mink," your first thought would probably be "coat." Because many people have never seen a mink before, they might associate them with wild remote areas of wilderness. Actually mink are found throughout Michigan in both upper and lower peninsulas.

In fact, I had the opportunity to see one at Heritage Park in Farmington Hills recently. Though typically a nocturnal animal, this individual was active in mid-afternoon on a bright sunny day. It was looping along the bank of a branch of the Rouge River that runs through the park.

Wetland areas are favored habitats of the mink. Since wetlands are difficult to traverse, not many people are in the proper place to see a mink, especially if they are active at night. In wetlands, whether it is a lakeshore, river, swamp or marsh, mink are able to find adequate food and shelter.

Root tangles along river banks provide good shelter for temporary dens or dens for raising young. Mink may settle in an area for a couple days and then leave to search of food. A menu for a mink includes many choices. They will catch mice, moles, rabbit, squirrel, frogs, crayfish, coot, bird eggs, snakes, fish and an occasional insect. Muskrats are one of its most favored foods.

Mink are members of the weasel family and are long and narrow like the typical weasel one thinks of. But they are larger than the short-tailed, long-tailed and least weasel. They do not change to white in winter as do the three species just mentioned. Their size does allow them to prey on animals as large as adult muskrats. Muskrat cannot escape into the water to avoid the pursuit of a mink, because the semi-webbed feet of mink allow it to swim proficiently. Mink often capture fish under water by swimming after them.

A mink's rich brown color may vary to black and to one of 12 other color variations recognized. The brown of a typical wild animal provides a sharp contrast to the white under the chin that is characteristic of mink. Fortunately I did not experience its musky odor, which according to some, puts a skunk's odor to shame. It is fortunate that there are some seldom seen animals still around where habitats are adequate for their survival.

Tim Nowicki is a naturalist at Independence Oaks County Park in Oakland County. He lives in Livonia.

Greenmead — ideal place for art festival

Folk art to fine art and lots of creative wares in between.

That's what will await visitors to the 16th annual Livonia Fine Arts and Crafts Festival Saturday-Sunday, June 13-14, at Greenmead Historical Village. Hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day. Admission and shuttle service are free.

The Livonia Arts Commission sponsors the outdoor extravaganza, one of the largest such shows in Michigan.

"It's a way to heighten awareness of fine arts and crafts in our community," says commissioner Andrea Taylor, festival chairwoman.

More than 200 exhibitors from 10 states will showcase their creations. Juried categories include glass, photography, textiles, pottery and ceramics, fine art, metal, wood, jewelry, and country, floral and folk. First-place winners in each category will receive $300.

"We had 400 people who wanted to exhibit," Taylor said. "The arts commission put together a committee that did the jurying. Because of the interest, we really had to be selective."

Upwards of 30 crafters will demonstrate their skills. Roving entertainment and hourly drawings also are planned.

Six local cultural groups — Livonia Historical Commission, Friends of Greenmead, Theatre Guild of Livonia/Redford, Livonia Symphony Society, Livonia Historical Society and Very Special Arts — will run concession stands as fund-raisers.

"The symphony is part of the cultural fabric of Livonia and taking part in the show is one way we can be involved with other cultural groups while giving people an opportunity to learn who we are," says Ken Kelsey, Livonia Symphony Society president.

Beautiful backdrop

Taylor calls Greenmead's picturesque grounds, at Newburgh and Eight Mile, "absolutely the best place to have the festival."

Besides, she added, the festival offers a chance "to see what's being done to restore examples of Livonia history."

Greenmead's centerpiece is the Simmons/Hill House Museum, the 1841 farmhouse of Greenmead founder Joshua Simmons. The Greek Revival-style house is a national historic site. Gardens adorn the museum grounds.

The 23-building historical village includes several other structures from the 1840s and 1850s as well as a re-creation of the Newburgh Road/Ann Arbor Trail intersection, circa 1910-25.

The setting is a key reason wildlife artist Theresa Politowicz is returning as an exhibitor for the sixth straight year.

"The gardens are in spring bloom and they're very pretty," she said. "It's not only a nice place to exhibit but also observe the flowers and scenery."

The show, she said, has grown not only in size but also quality. "The work is very diverse — from hand-made quilts to fine art paintings to wood carvings to pottery. There's a well-rounded group of artists and artisans."

Honored artwork

A Northville resident and Michigan Artists Guild member, Politowicz enjoys painting songbirds, raccoons, rabbits, fawns and wildflowers in watercolor and gouache. The Livonia Arts Commission has purchased three of her pieces for display in city buildings.

Many of her pieces boast an iridescent powder that adds sparkle. "When light hits in the right direction, it gives off a little shimmer," she said.

At Greenmead, the former automotive designer will show 15 original paintings, 12 limited-edition prints and a line of notecards. Prices will range from $30 for an unframed print to $5,000 for a framed original.

The Franklin Mint has commissioned Politowicz to produce six songbird paintings for a series of limited-edition plates.

A professional artist for 10 years, Politowicz has had a lifelong romance with the world of paints and brushes.

"I was the kid in grade school, and all my life afterward, who won all the little art contests. I've always painted and been intrigued by nature and wildlife. I've been kind of amazed by its magic: for example, how flowers come out of the snow in spring."

The decision to paint professionally provided a way to stay home with her children.

"But that snowballed," she said. "I found myself taking a walk in the woods and doing research for my artwork."

Art is something she not only loves, but also "something I can make a living at. Not too many people can do that. I consider myself very blessed."

Color and cars draw spotlight

Nelson's Gallery in Livonia is hosting a two-person show featuring contemporary Southwest scenes and classic cars painted in oil and gouache.

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN
SPECIAL WRITER

Dynamic oil and gouache paintings by artists Diane Mitchell of Canton and Roger Hardnock of Westland flow with youthful energy.

Their 35-piece show, focusing on southwestern themes and classic automobiles, continues through May 30 at Nelson's Gallery, 16376 Middlebelt, Livonia.

"This is the first time Nelson's has featured a two-person show. I'm so encouraged by the response we've had so far," said Laura Hardy, gallery director.

Hardy decided to give the two-person concept a try because of the recession and road construction last year that slowed summer sales.

Hot colors: Diane Mitchell painted "Desert Relief" on foam core board covered with plaster in gouache. The relief is an exception to her large oil-on-canvas paintings, focusing on southwest landscapes and Native American figures, on exhibit at Nelson's Gallery.

Co-op galleries offer lower-cost art

Like most everything else, the art world isn't immune from the fallout of a depressed economy and the planned closing of a major auto assembly plant like Willow Run in Ypsilanti. In a series of reports concluding today, we're examining the extent of the recession's tug on art galleries and artists around Observerland.

Impact on the suburbs:

The shrinking Auto Industry

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN
SPECIAL WRITER

The expense of buying original artwork deters many people from considering the purchase of a painting or print for their home or business.

Cooperative galleries offer an alternative to costly original art. Co-ops reduce the cost of buying original artwork by taking smaller commissions from an artist's sales.

A reduction in percentages charged the artist allows galleries like D & M Art Studios and Gallery in Plymouth and The Art Gallery in Garden City to offer original art at reduced cost to the consumer when compared to galleries for profit.

"Our prices are lower than for-profit galleries because the gallery doesn't take huge commissions. You can buy work starting at $45 for a framed original artwork up to $350 for a sofa-size painting," said Sharon Dillenbeck, D & M owner.

D & M and The Art Gallery take a 20-percent commission opposed to the 40-60 percent taken by galleries for profit.

As part of the co-op agreement, artists must work one day a month in the gallery. They also pay a $10 hanging fee per month at D & M and a $5 fee at The Art Gallery.

"The only money we take goes back into paying for the studio-rent, utilities and supplies," Dillenbeck said.

Overhead is costly for D & M because it offers art classes for adults and children, including airbrushing, cartooning, drawing, design, and painting with all materials inclusive.

IN THE SPOTLIGHT

The artistry of the 18th century flourishes at Michael Camp's woodworking shop in Plymouth.

His trademarks include wide-board construction, hand-cut dovetails and mortise-and-tenon joinery. Hand-cast brass and three types of hand-rubbed finishes complete his reproductions.

"I employ seven other craftsmen besides myself," Camp told Midwest Living magazine, "but every piece, from start to finish, is the creation of a single woodworker."

Camp is one of 11 midwest master furniture makers whose heirlooms of tomorrow are featured in the June issue of Midwest Living, available on newsstands now.

Michigan author's first novel compelling

BOOK BREAK

VICTORIA DIAZ

"Not the End of the World," by Rebecca Stowe (151 pp., Pantheon, $18.00)

In this, her first novel, Port Huron native Rebecca Stowe writes of a fragile, disturbed girl struggling to make her way through the painful days of her

1960 summer

Set in Michigan's thumb area during the early '60s (when people were building bomb shelters and choosing the people they'd take with them into their safe little caves), "Not the End of the World" is one of the most compelling novels I have read in a long time.

Don't be fooled by the slenderness of the volume or its simple, accessible prose. There is absolutely nothing that is slight about this story.

It is as many layered as an ancient, sedimented stone. Stowe deals masterfully with two of the most complicated matters on earth: family relationships and human cruelty.

■ Don't be fooled by the slenderness of this volume or its simple, accessible prose. There is absolutely nothing that is slight about this story.

If some of you are looking only for pretty stories, this isn't one.

Although it is often wryly humorous, it is essentially concerned with turning over the darkest rocks and then looking, through the eyes of a terrified child, at what slithers out from under. Even with that as its major concern, however, it should be emphasized that this is not merely a horror novel.

Set on the shores of Lake Huron and against a vivid landscape of Michigan gardens, woods, beaches, factories, corner stores, homes and schools, it is a story about people, some of whom turn out to be about as dangerous as starving, raptorial birds.

At the center of the fast-paced drama is Maggie Pittsfield, a highly intelligent, adolescent girl who is almost constantly at war with herself, her friends and her family.

Her personality shattering and branded as "crazy" by her own grandmother, Maggie's greatest fear is that she will be packed up and sent off to the "nuthouse" in LaPeer, where she will be surrounded by "shrieking women . . . tearing at her . . . as if they wanted to pull her apart and eat her up."

We do not know at first exactly what is wrong with Maggie or what has happened to her to make her such a deeply troubled child, although we do know that there has recently been some kind of "incident" at the school she attends.

Little by little, we learn more about this happening as we journey back through the days leading up to it and Stowe finally reveals the incident itself.

But even as it is revealed, we see that it is only a result of Maggie's nightmarish existence and not at all its cause. What is bothering Maggie, what has caused her personality to disintegrate, goes much deeper and much farther back in time.

Stowe's cast, at times reminiscent of characters out of a John Irving novel, include Maggie's father, Robert ("Sweet is My Middle Name") Pittsfield, an affluent candy-maker who likes, behind closed doors, to play with toy soldiers; her brother, Donald, who's convinced the Russians have infiltrated Canada and are sending thought-waves across the Lake; her younger sister, Ruthie, a tiny taxidermist, who stuffs birds for a hobby and sometimes acts like a chicken herself; and her mother, a former singer, who sacrificed her career for Maggie's embittered grandmother.

The only problem with Stowe's peripheral characters is that they don't stay around long enough. Perhaps she will write more some day of the Southern-born Mrs. Moore, "the whitest woman on earth," who "stayed in her house all day being pale and fragile," the mysterious Clara, whose "big green eyes . . . were always darting around in their sockets, like hummingbirds," or Mrs. Prittle, the neighborhood snoop, who spends most of her days on the beach, looking like "a leather vulture."

It is Maggie, though, who holds this drama together, even as she herself threatens to fall apart. At the root of all her trouble is something that is about as terrible as terrible can get for a child.

And yet, as she struggles to endure the nightmare, she still manages to hold on to her aggressive intelligence, her wry sense of humor, still wants to be the first person to swim across a Great Lake, still wants to marry Rocky Colavito some day, still aspires to become the first woman governor of Michigan when she grows up.

If she can only survive.

Co-op from page 1D

"Portraits (by Dillenbeck) are a major source of income for the studio," Dillenbeck said. "Two new commissions a month pay for the overhead."

Dillenbeck believes an additional plus for buyers dealing with a cooperative is direct access to artists represented in the gallery.

"You're dealing with artists when you buy. You're not working with sales people," she said.

D & M specializes in watercolor, oil, acrylic and gouache paintings, colored pencil and graphite drawings by Michigan artists.

"What we have is a real down-home local flavor and we do have a big variety of art," Dillenbeck said.

If you're looking for larger savings still, Dillenbeck offers this advice: Learn to frame it yourself. Glass and framing on a piece can add $60-200 to the cost.

D & M and The Art Gallery offer unframed art at reduced prices.

Instead of buying sofa-size pieces, buy smaller work one or two pieces at a time and arrange them in groupings.

"We're known as an affordable gallery. Still, people seem generally surprised when they see the quality and price," said Norma McQueen, director of The Art Gallery in Sheridan Square.

"We offer a viable alternative to people. They can purchase a framed piece of paper, not even acid-free paper, that will fade, yellow or discolor over time, or for just a few dollars more, they can purchase an original piece of art with a better quality frame."

The Art Gallery specializes in oil, acrylic, watercolor, pastel, charcoal, pen and ink, colored pencil, prints, sculpture and pottery. Prices range from $20 to $350.

While McQueen admits sales have been slow the last few months, that has not stopped her from enlarging the gallery space.

"We're planning to have featured artists and will start displaying wearable art. We're also thinking about adding jewelry," McQueen said.

Both galleries offer a variety of styles, including realism, abstract, pointillism and impressionism. Subject matter includes florals, landscapes, still lifes and portraits as well as untraditional themes like saving the environment and wildlife.

One final warning from Dillenbeck when considering the purchase of an original artwork: Avoid "starving artist's" sales.

"This is production art, not original artwork. These are not one-of-a-kind paintings by individual artists," Dillenbeck said.

The Art Gallery in Garden City and D & M Art Studio and Gallery in Plymouth carry only original artworks by Michigan artists. They are open to any Michigan artist.

"Michigan artists need the support," McQueen said.

Affordable art: The Art Gallery in Garden City handles traditional artwork in a variety of media priced from $20 to $350.

Nelson's from page 1D

Work by artists focusing on different themes in a range of styles and palettes provide variety and broaden the gallery's offerings.

"We have more to offer. People who like cars, people who enjoy southwestern themes or possibly are decorating in Southwest, it might open new doors for everybody," Hardy said.

Mitchell works mainly in oil-on-canvas with few exceptions. Her contemporary landscapes and Native American figures deal with traditional subject matter in a palette not characteristic of southwest art.

"Her color intrigues me; the brightness. With the blues, reds, purples, golds and even the browns, the colors are a little bit different, not typical Southwest," Hardy said.

Mitchell uses abstract shapes in flat planes of color to compose sensual forms. Many of the paintings offer brilliance of color to contrast the calmness and serenity of the figures.

Inspiration, she said, comes from Diego Rivera and Vincent Van Gogh.

"I do a lot of sketching. The toughest part is coming up with the composition," Mitchell said.

Although Mitchell is pursuing a bachelor of fine arts degree at Wayne State University, past studies include a barrage of painting courses at Center for Creative Studies in Detroit.

In contrast to the vibrant 4-by-4-foot oil paintings, a Southwestern relief uses a variety of materials and techniques.

In "Desert Relief," Mitchell, after covering a Fome-Cor board with plaster, sculpts in clay a three-dimensional, dark-skinned nude female figure. Beneath the figure, she manipulates cloth to represent sand. Behind, she paints additional figures in gouache.

"I don't think anyone can see everything the first time around — the bracelets on her arm or the figure behind her with the clay sculpted foot. His foot is walking straight ahead out of the picture," Hardy said.

Other works in the show by Mitchell include a pen-and-ink portrait of a "Navajo Girl" rendered in pointillism, "Warriors," a pastel portrait of a brave on brown paper with white highlights, and a pair of golden yellow adobes surrounded by green cactuses set against a solid blue sky in "Santa Ana" and "Tranquility."

"I wanted to get my work out to the public so people can see it," Mitchell said. "I'm anxious to see people's opinions."

Mitchell's artwork ranges in price from $40 to $560.

"They're definitely getting a lot for their money," Hardy said. "We're trying to keep a positive attitude in pricing for the consumer. It's our way of trying to help."

Classic cars shimmer

As different as day and night, Hardnock's gouache paintings of classic automobiles strike the viewer with their highly detailed beauty. Portrayed on illustration board, Porsches, Packards, Thunderbirds and Bentleys come alive under his brush.

"His detailing is incredible. I'm not a car fanatic, but I can appreciate the time and work that goes into these to get the shiny effect and the reflections in the paint and chrome," Hardy said.

Hardnock begins by making pencil sketches from photographs taken at classic car shows. "I lay it out as much as I can, get down as much detail as I can before I start painting," he said.

"Gouache is very difficult to work with. It's a water-based paint. Every time you touch the dry paint with a wet brush it lifts up."

A 1991 graduate of Center for Creative Studies, Hardnock also works in Prismacolor pencil to render the architecture and gingerbread adornment of historic homes.

His prices range from $125 for a Mustang in watercolor to $1,200 for a composite painting featuring various angles and close-up views of a "1947 Bentley MK VI" in gouache.

Gallery hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. weekdays and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday.

LIVONIA CITY HALL

HABATAT/SHAW GALLERY

Friday, May 22 — One of the largest exhibits of work by the folk/punk potter George Ohr. A selection of 75 pieces will be on display, including 20 bisque-glaze pots. The exhibit, curated by David Rago, runs to June 18. On sale will be a selection of books on Ohr's work and several periodicals featuring articles about him. Opening reception 7:30-10 p.m. Friday. Slide lecture by Ohr authority Eugene Hecht 11 a.m. Saturday, May 23. Hecht is a professor of physics at Adelphi University, editor of "Arts and Crafts Quarterly" and a founding member of the American Ceramics Society, on whose board he now serves. Ohr (1860-1917) produced about 8,000 unusual pots before retiring in his prime in 1907. It is only recently that his work has been discovered by an international coterie of collectors. His work has a very contemporary look and feel. Ohr wasn't appreciated in his day. His penchant for throwing paper-thin pots and then twisting, crimping and crumpling them into odd-shaped, asymmetrical vessels didn't appeal to the prevailing Victorian sensibility. Hours: 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesday-Saturday or by appointment, 32255 Northwestern Highway, Farmington Hills, 851-8767.

Realtors renew lobbying efforts to spur house sales

BY GERALD FRAWLEY
STAFF WRITER

House sales are up, slightly, and Realtors will admit they are encouraged — but.

House sales are not up but not as much as many had expected or hoped and earlier momentum to spur house sales has waned in light of modest sale increases.

"I don't think we're out of the recession," Ruth Clevers, president of Michigan Metro MLS, the states largest multiple listing service, said. "It (the market) is moving, but I've seen things move a lot faster."

Reports from various groups that track housing sales support Clevers.

House sales are generally one of the first leading economic indicators to trumpet the end of a recession, but preliminary quarterly reports from such groups as the Mortgage Bankers Association and the National Association of Home Builders show that while housing sales are up, they are not up as many as hoped.

In fact, seasonally adjusted housing sales show a decline, according to these groups.

Clevers recently returned from a trip to Washington where she and other representatives from the real estate industry urged congress to get on the stick and pass meaningful legislation to help get the economy rolling again.

Clevers said initiatives spurring house sales is more than Realtor self-interest. "It (the housing market) is absolutely essential to a strong economy."

Existing house sales spur new house sales and capital goods purchases; new house sales spur jobs and increased taxes.

Clevers said she and other Realtors are concerned that the momentum that existed earlier in the year to encourage house sales has been lost — due in some part to the modest gains in house sales.

For example, Realtors were greatly encouraged by a proposal made last January to grant a $5,000 tax credit to first-time buyers. That, along with other proposals made by President George Bush to push an economic recovery, were rejected by Congress.

Now with a modest gain in housing sales, the Realtors are concerned any new efforts will be rejected as well.

The National Association of Realtors is pushing to revive these and other proposals through a nationwide lobbying effort, Clevers said. "Maybe with so many seats coming available, our message will be heard."

Realtors throughout the country are being directed to contact their local representatives and senators to pass such measures. "They do need our votes and we're a pretty strong group."

Measures include:

• granting a $5,000 tax credit to first time buyers; • easing restrictions on passive losses tax legislation to lighten the tax load on real estate professionals; • lowering restrictions and increasing loan levels on Federal Housing Administration loans; • reducing the capital gains tax so that homeowners, upon selling their houses, will pay less in taxes on the appreciation.

Other areas Realtors are pressing in include mandatory disclosure to property buyer of the existence of lead based paint, but not mandatory testing, giving more local control over federal flood insurance restrictions, and fewer restrictions on such government sponsored enterprises as Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac.

Banning ball playing may be justified

CONDO QUERIES

playing catch with a softball. Can it get away with that?

With the baseball season upon us, our board is on my son's case about playing baseball in front of our condominium unit, which is a common element. It has prohibited the playing of baseball in any form, including

That is a difficult question in light of recent changes to the Fair Housing Act. To the extent that the policy undertaken by the association is directed to preclude people from having children live at the condominium and that can be established, that would be illegal. But associations have a right to promulgate reasonable rules to protect the interests of the members of the association, and if the physical aspects of your condominium preclude baseball playing and even playing catch, the board may well be justified in making that determination. The issue often comes up in pool rules for children, and it is something about which you should consult your attorney.

We live in a rural area and have a neighbor whose horse often gets loose and crosses our condominium common elements. We have called animal control on several occasions, but they are not terribly responsive. What can be done about this problem?

The administration of the condominium association should notify the owner of the horse of this trespass and advise him that unless he or she takes measures to ensure that the horse does not get loose, the association or its members will take legal action. I would also contact the animal control center of the county in which you live by letter and formally advise it of the problem as well as the city or township involved as there are, no doubt, ordinances against this type of situation. You may wish to contact the city or township attorney to get some action. With a combination of these remedies, you should bring the horse problem under control.

Ability to buy housing decreases as prices rise

The ability of the typical American family to buy an existing home slipped in March for the second straight month as prices continued to rise.

The National Association of Realtors said its housing affordability index fell to 120.8 in March from 122.0 in February and 124.6 in January, when the index had been at its highest in 17 1/2 years.

Despite the March decline, the index remained above 120 for the first straight month. Before November, it had not been above 120 since March 1977.

The Midwest was the most affordable region in the country in March, followed by the South.

The latest index meant that a family earning the national median income of $36,834 had 120.8 percent of the income needed to qualify for conventional financing covering 80 percent of a home with a median price of $104,000.

BUILDING SCENE'S NAMES & PLACES

Village Green open house

Village Green of Troy East, the first apartment complex developed in Troy in 10 years, will be the site of an open house benefitting the Michigan Thanksgiving Day Parade on Wednesday, June 3. Village Green of Troy East is a joint venture of Holtzman & Silverman Cos. and Biltmore Properties Corp.

Ghafari on the move

Ghafari Associates, the Livonia engineering firm, has broken ground for a new headquarters building in Dearborn.

Taubman appoints officer

Steven E. Eder of Southfield has been elected group senior vice president, AMG financial services, and vice president of the Taubman Co., Bloomfield Hills. He will continue to serve as controller of the company.

He joined Taubman from the accounting firm of Coopers & Lybrand in 1980.

Credit them with design

Ford & Earl Associates of Troy has completed interior renovation and redesign of Ford Motor Credit world headquarters in Dearborn, a $50 million project. Smith, Hinchman and Grylls was the project architect.

Ford & Earl has also established an affiliation with the Task Group, an ergonomics consulting firm. Ergonomics is the practice of evaluating and developing work environments that are physically and emotionally healthy.

On deck: Detroit

The nation's first Homearama of showcase houses to take place in a major urban area will be presented June 4-21 in Detroit's Victoria Park, two block south of Jefferson on Dickerson in the Jefferson-Chalmers area and east of the Chrysler Jefferson North Assembly Plant.

Local builders participating include: B.B.C. Group, Farmington Hills; Beneicke & Krue, Bloomfield Hills; Biltmore Properties Corp., Troy; James D. Compo Inc., Farmington Hills; Crosswinds Communities, West Bloomfield; and Singh & Shapiro, Southfield.

Built in cooperation with Standard Federal Bank, the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan, the city of Detroit and the Jefferson-Chalmers Non-Profit Housing Corporation, Victoria Park is the first new subdivision of single-family houses built in Detroit in more than 30 years.

A 157-lot subdivision being developed in two phases, it features lots of 70 to 149 feet in width to enable attached garages. Previously existing streets have been replaced by wider streets with sloping curbs and cul-de-sacs. The land surrounding the subdivision has been reshaped to accommodate underground utilities.

Standard Federal provided construction and mortgage financing and has received two Affordable Housing Program grants from the Federal Home Loan Bank to help mortgage applicants with low to moderate incomes. The bank is also providing support to community leaders seeking to obtain a Department of Housing and Urban Development to purchase and rehabilitate 50 vacant homes on three streets immediately east of the new subdivision. Hours are 3:30 to 10 a.m. daily. Admission is $6.

Headquarters reflects firm's image, mission

First you listen to a company define its identity and goals.

Then you design a building to give life to that identity and to facilitate success in the workplace.

That's how Ford & Earl Associates of Troy, a commercial interior design firm, approached a job for Vorelco, the real estate arm of Volkswagen of America, in a building owned by Etkin Equities of Southfield.

The last of some 850 employees moved into the 380,000-square-foot headquarters building in Auburn Hills about six months ago. Work from five different operations were consolidated under one roof.

"Our intent was to build a building quality-wise that's commensurate with our image but not grandiose," said William H. Devine, Vorelco general manager. "It was meant to be efficient and give you a comfortable feeling. The final result was what I had hoped for."

Joel S. Mettler, senior associate for Ford & Earl, orchestrated the interior design project at Volkswagen.

"The architect typically designs the core and shell," he said. Everything inside, that was our responsibility — ceiling and lighting, floor coverings, wall coverings, paint.

"We determined where partitions should be, relationships between different departments, where work stations should be," Mettler said.

A year and a half of meetings involving Volkswagen, Etkin, Ford & Earl and the architect, Hobbs + Black of Ann Arbor, preceded construction.

The principals agreed on a high-tech, European interior look that uses blacks and grays on the walls and floors, red and black lines in the carpeting and light oak furnishings.

Special features include Zolatone wall treatment and deep cell parabolic lighting.

"Zolatone is a way of spraying walls with patch paint that gives you a speckled look," said Kelly Vetrano, a Ford & Earl design specialist who worked with Mettler on the Volkswagen project. "It's not as expensive as wall covering and it's easier to repair."

"It was decided early on to use a deep cell parabolic standard lighting fixture to reduce glare," Mettler said. Other touches include small colorful plexiglass cut-outs glued to walls at elevator lobbies to provide inexpensive, eye-catching art; charcoal metallic blinders at all windows; black door knobs and black trim around most doors; and corridor lighting sconces shaped in a V.

Karastan/Bigelow carpeting in shades of gray with a more resistant loop pile can be found throughout the building.

Devine described the interior circulation plan as "modified open." Top managers have enclosed offices with glass from ceiling to floor. Other employees have cubicles that can be expanded or contracted as needed. Plenty of exterior windows provide outside views for everyone.

Ninety percent of the furnishings and virtually all of the interior work station modules were moved from other Volkswagen facilities. New purchases generally were limited to public areas like the lobby and cafeteria.

Even the technical areas of the building where mechanics work on diagnostic tasks look more like offices than traditional service stations, noted Annette Eagle-Dul, senior construction engineer for Vorelco.

"I think the interior design reflects our corporate products," she said. "It involved a lot of discussion and a lot of consensus. That's how Volkswagen operates."

Lobby flair: A functional Euro-style design concept at Volkswagen of America headquarters includes black furnishings, light oak woodwork, red lines through carpeting and an unusual lighting fixture in the lobby.

Sporty cafeteria: The position of the salad bar, colorful floor tiles and track lighting bring elements of a racetrack into the cafeteria.

Building activity 'surprising' despite weakness of recovery

Building permits issued for houses and townhouses in the metro Detroit/Ann Arbor market during the first three months of this year were up 65 percent from the same period in 1991.

That compares to a 39-percent increase nationally and an average of 54 percent for 10 metro areas surveyed in the Midwest.

The figures were provided by U.S. Housing Markets, a Livonia-based research publication of Lomas Mortgage USA, a national servicer of residential mortgages.

The numbers, which appear striking, were artificially boosted by a lousy first quarter in 1991 when fighting broke out in the Persian Gulf, U.S. Housing Markets reported.

But nationally, single-family volume stands up reasonably well to figures reported throughout the late 1980s, the report continued.

"This year's first-quarter one-family action was just 8 percent less than that of 1986, which was unmistakably a boom year for housing," said Michael E. Patrick, president of Lomas Mortgage.

Nearly 2,450 single family permits were pulled January through March in Wayne, Oakland, Washtenaw, Monroe, Macomb, Livingston, Lapeer and St. Clair counties. Just under 1,500 were issued during the first three months of 1991.

"I was surprised at the amount of activity that has taken place in this area given the state of economy," said Brian H. Bragg, editor of U.S. Housing Markets. "Not that we're in a disaster zone, but we're not in a boom."

"White collar shrinkage around here, I think, has been substantial, yet we see a lot of home building activity going on in relative terms," he continued.

"If you look at the numbers of previous recessions and auto industry slumps, the volume has not collapsed. It's low, but certainly not a disaster. Part of that is builders here were a little more conservative. They didn't go hog wild in the good times. They didn't go overboard and overbuild," Bragg said.

A hotness index devised by U.S. Housing Markets — number of residential units permitted per 1,000 population during the past four consecutive quarters — puts Detroit/Ann Arbor in the bottom part of the Midwest rankings.

The Midwest average was 4. Detroit/Ann Arbor at 3.6 trailed Columbus, 6.8; Indianapolis, 6.7; Minneapolis-St. Paul, 5.9; Cincinnati, 5.5; Kansas City, 5.1; Milwaukee-Racine, 4.6; and St. Louis, 3.7.

Chicago, 3.5, and Cleveland, 3.3, lagged this area.

Single-family building permits during the first quarter increased 47 percent in the Northeast, 39 percent in the South and 26 percent in the West.

Bragg speculated that the increase here was larger than other parts of the country because the Midwest pulled back more in down times and there was more room for growth.

Environmental landscape management saves energy

(AP) — Proper placement of shade trees around your home can reduce air-conditioning costs by more than 30 percent, a University of Florida urban horticulturist says.

Depending on temperature variations, almost as much as a half of a state's residential energy use goes toward cooling the home during the long, hot summer, said Robert J. Black of UF's Institute of Food and Agricultural Sciences.

In addition, escalating utility rates makes the concept known as Environmental Landscape Management sensible for everybody, he said.

The program encourages homeowners to select trees and planting sites that conserve energy by using appropriate landscape design practices. Matching the correct type of tree to the proper location to achieve the desired effect is one goal of the program.

Trees modify local climate extremes by providing shade, insulating the home from heat gain or loss and cooling the air which surrounds their leaves, Black said.

And once established, trees require little maintenance and increase your home's value.

"Before central heating and air-conditioning, homes were designed and built to take advantage of environmental features," Black said. "Today passive methods of climate control are once again of interest, and new information has substantially improved many energy-saving concepts from the past."

The correct placement of trees chosen for shade involves considering the mature height of the tree, the angle of the sun's rays and the height of the structure to be shaded, he said.

Realistically, sidewalls are the most practical structures of the house to shade, because it takes many years for newly planted trees to shade the roof.

The benefits of new shade trees should be felt within five years, if the trees are planted seven to 20 feet from the sidewall, depending on each tree's ultimate height and on the size of the lot.

Beauty plus: Treed lots provide shelter from summer's blistering sun and winter's chilly winds. Strategic planting can reduce your heating and cooling bills.

Steve Thomas at BASM program

Steve Thomas, host of "This Old House," will discuss the origins of the show and a preview of future program projects when he addresses the general membership meeting of the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan 6-9 p.m. Thursday, May 21, at the Somerset Inn, 2601 W. Big Beaver.

The BASM New Generation Council will host

Paul Williams from Milliken Millworks who will discuss BOCA codes and what builders should know before building a house. How stairs and decorative molding can accentuate a house will be included.

The seminar will be 8:30-11 a.m. Thursday, June 4, at the Somerset Inn.

To register, call 737-4477.

Building rapport key to selling

BY GERALD FRAWLEY
STAFF WRITER

The psychology of the house sale.

Some people are born salesmen, some have to work at it. But whether it comes naturally the trick is establishing rapport with the buyer and communicating on his or her level.

Lewis Smith of Lewis Smith Ph.D. P.C. in Birmingham, a licensed psychologist, speaker and business consultant who regularly gives seminars to builders and marketing people, said because building or buying a home is such an emotionally charged issue, salespeople have to communicate at a deeper level. The best do it unconsciously.

"Most salesmen are natural chameleons — they don't know why they are successful," he said. What they're doing is establishing a rapport with the customer.

No matter what the product, sales requires the seller and the buyer to establish a link. Nowhere is this more important than in a significant purchase like a house.

Establish a comfort zone

The key to establishing rapport is to create an environment that is comfortable. "It's not just a question of knowing what to do, but it's putting (the customer) in a comfortable state so the (salesperson) can do his job," he said.

"If the customer isn't comfortable, the odds are they aren't going to buy a home no matter how well it's built," he said.

"It's the obligation, the responsibility of the salesman or marketing person to communicate with the client at his level," he said.

That means adopting the mannerisms and language of the buyer, he explained.

"You must physiologically mirror the person, he said. "People tend to like people who are like themselves and dislike people unlike themselves.

"Thirty percent of it is tonation and 70 percent is words, language, how language is used, body language."

Smith suggested even going as far as the salesman timing his breathing to that of the customer.

Smith added he doesn't mean to imply that mirroring the customer is all a salesperson needs to make a sale. All it is, he said, is a starting point, a foot in the door.

Once the person begins to feel comfortable with a salesperson, that's when true rapport can develop, he said. All of the skills that salespeople develop — the ability to listen, the ability to discern what a person wants and the ability to get along with people — are just as critical to establishing a good sales relationship, he said.

Abalancing act

Builder Mark Schmier who sells homes in Pine Cove Estates in Livonia, said establishing rapport is essential to sell a home, but it's not always as easy.

"It's a tough call for me (especially)," he said. "I'm not only the seller, but the builder as well," he said. "I have to distance myself because it is a business.

"For half of the people I'm selling to it's their first house and you're selling them a piece of the American dream.

"If it's too friendly of a relationship, and not a business, and there's some sort of a problem, it's like a friend stabbed them in the back," he said.

Schmier said he wasn't so sure that trying to mirror a person's mannerisms and speech is always a good idea.

"I sell to them the way I would want to be sold," he said. "I present the facts and make myself available to the customer. Half of being a good salesperson is knowing when to back off."

Schmier said his experience indicates that people appreciate a simple, straightforward approach.

He would be concerned that customers would think he was phony if he tried any other way, he said. Rapport, he said, is basically trust, and trust is doing what you say you're going to do.

"I don't think you want to be a poser," he said.

An emotional process

Marilyn Grendich, sales manager at the Fox Pointe in Plymouth Township, said a salesperson who cannot establish rapport with his or her clients is not going to be successful.

"You have got to be able to communicate your ideas," she said. "Selling houses is very emotional process to begin with — without communication — it just won't work."

When a person comes into look at a model, Grendich said she usually starts a general conversation and not necessarily about buying a home. After all, buying a home is the reason the person came in to begin with.

"Before you know it, the conversation continues and you get around to talking about why they came in."

Grendich also made the distinction between when a "person" comes in and when a "customer" comes in. "You have to treat everyone the same."

People who come into models are not always buying, she said. "Sometimes they are just looking for ideas, but they may know someone who is buying."

The point is that pouncing on a person as they walk in the door is going to intimidate him. Grendich agreed that all the techniques in the world aren't going to help a salesperson who the customer doesn't trust.

"If you're natural, you're going to make it; if you're phony, you won't," she said.

Premium on room

Families with a hankering for wide open spaces can relax in the Bristol. This contemporary house includes 3,600 square feet of living space with an additional 800 in the three-car garage and shop combination.

Rectangular rooms are clearly in the minority. Only the two bedrooms have four right-angled corners. The vaulted, sky-lit dining room is octagonal. The parlor and kitchen are modified octagons, and the rest of the rooms are irregular shapes.

All of the rooms are of good size, including the children's bedrooms, which are about the same size as the parlor. The vaulted family room is the largest. It has a fireplace, entertainment center and sliding glass doors that open onto a formal deck.

Kitchen features include a work island with cooktop and grill, an eating bar with an extra sink, built-in ovens, microwave and dishwasher, and a step-in pantry. The eating nook has a high ceiling and is brightened by sliding glass doors that open onto a landscaped dining patio. The adjacent utility room includes a sewing area, pull-down ironing board, and a space for a freezer. It can also be entered from the garage.

The master suite includes an exercise area, controls for a security system, raised spa tub, oversized shower, twin basins, and a walk-through closet. French doors separate the vaulted sleeping/sitting area from the bathroom and another set opens on the private deck.

For a study plan of the Bristol (332-030), send $7.50 to Landmark Designs, P.O. Box 2307, Eugene, Ore. 97402, including the plan name and number.
