Ford blasts hiring of lobbyist

WTUA paid a Washington, D.C., lobbying firm $800,000 to help the authority obtain a $20 million federal grant for the sewer projeet that will serve Canton and Plymouth townships. The firm's fee has come under attack by U.S. Rep. William Ford.

The word on a $20 million federal grant to offset Western Townships Utilities Authority sewer project costs probably won't come until next year, a congressional aide said.

While WTUA officials had been told some word would likely come in mid June or July, a delay in putting together the federal budget means word won't come until later.

But Canton Supervisor Tom Yack said delays have not lessened WTUA expectations that grant money will ultimately come.

The authority has paid a Washington, D.C., lobbying firm about $800,000 since 1989 in hopes of getting federal grants.

David Geiss, an administrative assistant to U.S. Rep. William Ford, D-Taylor, whose district includes Canton, said Thursday that money for the project is not now included in bills before the U.S. House.

Yack, who is also WTUA chairman, said the grant request "has to go through a process that includes authorization language."

Eventually, the grant request goes to various committees and then to the House floor.

While some have criticized WTUA for spending a sizable amount on a lobbying firm, Cassidy & Associates, Yack said hiring a lobbyist is standard practice in seeking federal money.

The lobbying firm has been paid $20,000 a month "for almost four years now," Yack said.

Answering those who would question hiring a lobbyist, Yack said, "I wonder why the University of Michigan, East-

Shared services on menu

BY KEVIN BROWN
STAFF WRITER

Some folks at city hall aren't giving up on merging fire and police services with Plymouth Township.

That's because the city could save $100,000 and the township $300,000 if shared services goes through, city officials say.

So to try to get talks on shared services moving again, city manager Steve Walters wrote a letter June 1 to township supervisor Gerald Law and the four candidates for his job, which Law will leave in November.

"People in the township don't understand, they should be up in arms," said commissioner James Jabara, on the benefit to taxpayers if shared services happens.

Some township officials have estimated the savings to taxpayers as far less than that estimated by city officials.

It's been about two years since former city manager Gordon Jaeger started talking with township officials about merging police and fire dispatch services, seen as an opening to merging more services, even police and recreation.

But efforts to share services stalled earlier this year, as the township and city failed to work out an agreement on shared dispatch and fire services.

Walters said the purpose of the June 1 letter is to keep communication open with the township.

"New officials are being elected to some of the township offices in the next few months," he wrote.

"The city continues to believe that a jointly operated fire service can be established which would provide better service to both the township and the city," Walters said, "and at the same time would provide significant savings to both township taxpayers and city taxpayers."

Teens give resounding thumbs up to tax hike

If it were up to Close Up government students at Centennial Educational Park, their parents would pay more school taxes.

By a vote of 208-77 in a mock election Thursday and Friday, students approved the 1.5-mill, one-year tax request that will appear on today's Plymouth-Canton school election ballot.

Students turned thumbs down to the schools-of-choice proposal, 69-203.

The measure would allow students to attend, space permitting, the school of their choosing.

Trustee E.J. McClendon was re-elected to the school board with 122 votes. Candidate Jack Farrow was the top vote getter with 182 votes.

Two candidates will be elected to four year terms in today's election.

School election

There's still time to vote in the Plymouth-Canton school district election. The polls are open until 8 p.m. and there's plenty on the ballot to interest folks.

The prime issue is a property tax increase. The schools are seeking 1.5 mills for one year. That will cost the owner of a house valued at $120,000 about $60 a year. The school district wants the money so it won't have to lay off 56 teachers and cut programs.

The school district is facing a $4.3 million to $5.6 million deficit in its 1992-93 school budget of $77 million.

Also on the ballot is schools of choice. It's a state-mandated plan to make schools compete with each other for students. But most agree in the Plymouth-Canton district that it will do nothing but increase the cost of school transportation, with students going from one to the other.

There's also a school board race in which six candidates are vying for two school board seats. In the race are incumbents Barbara Graham and E.J. McClendon. Newcomers are: Jack Farrow, James Mills, Marilyn Schwinn and Carol Bollman. Thomas Vetter's name will be on the ballot, even though he withdrew from the race.

Live results

Omnicom Cable will broadcast live school election returns from the offices of the Plymouth and Canton Observer Newspapers starting at 8 p.m. tonight.

The program will feature school officials and school board candidates and is being moderated by the League of Women Voters.

Call 459-2700 for election results after 8 p.m. or to ask questions of the officials to be interviewed.

Library candidates

Candidates can pick up nominating petitions to seek election to three four-year terms on the Plymouth District Library Board. They must be 18 or older and residents of the city or Plymouth Township. Petitions are available at the city or township clerk's offices. The filing deadline is July 16, with the election Nov. 3.

The board operates the Dunning-Hough Library. For more information, call library director Patricia Thomas at 453-0750.

Facilities provide phone service for handicapped

The Michigan Relay Center opened its doors to the public Saturday, marking the first anniversary of a system that provides barrier-free telephone service to deaf, hearing-impaired and speech-impaired customers.

Michigan Bell facilities in Birmingham and Dearborn provide a statewide telephone service which connects customers who use telephones with those who use special keyboard devices called TDDs (Telecommunications Devices for the Deaf).

Michigan Bell operates the MRC on behalf of the state's 37 local telephone companies.

Monthly calling volume has reached 64,000, and MRC manager Carla Smit already is anticipating the day in 1994 when the monthly calling level will hit 100,000.

"Calling volume grows as people learn how easy MRC service is to use," Smit said, adding that trust also is involved.

"Confidentiality is our first priority."

Security requires employee ID cards and special entry codes, and prohibits visitors to the operations area. Center employees do not edit calls made through the MRC. They are forbidden to disclose any information from calls, and no records of conversations are kept.

■ 'Calling volume grows as people learn how easy MRC service is to use.'

Carla Smit
manager

"Right now, about 80 percent of calls are initiated by TDD users," Smit said. "Over time, we expect to see an increase in the number of hearing customers who initiate calls through the centers."

The Birmingham center is at 155 Henrietta (second floor) and the Dearborn center is at 23460 Michigan Ave. (first floor).

The MRC operates 24 hours a day, seven days a week. It can handle any call originating in Michigan, including local and area code calls, and interstate and international long-distance calls.

The center accepts billed-to-third-number, collect and calling card calls. There are no additional charges for using the relay system. Normal local and long-distance charges apply to calls placed through the MRC. The toll-free MRC number is 1-800-649-3777.

Last year's start-up of the Michigan Relay Center made telephone service easier to obtain for many of the state's 600,000 residents who faced communications barriers.

TDD users are able to have two-way communication by employing the instrument's keyboard and screen. Previously, TDD users could only communicate with others who also had TDDs in their homes and offices.

Now, specially-trained operators called "relay representatives" receive the keyboard messages on their computer screens. They "voice" these typed messages to the person called. When the called party replies, relay representatives send a typed version of the spoken response to the caller's TDD screen.

Jack-hammer turns up

■ CRIME

A jack-hammer turned up at 6:28 a.m. Wednesday in the northbound lanes of Beck Road just north of the railroad tracks, a Plymouth Township patrol officer reported.

The jack-hammer, worth an estimated $800, has the serial number SKL26086 and is being stored at the township police station.

Lawn job

Damage was estimated at $500 Tuesday after a Pine Ridge homeowner noticed tire tracks across his front yard at 11:30 p.m. There was no description of the car given to police.

Window busted

The rear passenger's side window of a 1987 Escort parked Tuesday at the Lakepointe Village Apartments was reported broken out, and the owner estimated the damage at $150. Two cassette tapes stolen from the car in the theft. Police have closed the case, for lack of leads or witnesses.

Mower taken

A mulching lawn mower valued at nearly $600 and other items turned up missing Tuesday from a garage on Powell Road near Napier, according to a report filed with police. The theft was discovered at 11 a.m., there were no signs of forced entry to the garage, the report continued.

Main Street business to open

A celebration is planned for June 16, when home accessory and specialty shop Country Charm re-opens in a new Main Street location.

The first 100 customers will each receive a $5 gift certificate, the mayor and city manager will preside over a ribbon cutting, and there will be free balloons for kids.

There will also be door prizes, including a $500 shopping spree.

Owners Jane and Larry Bird, former Farmington police officers, bought the business at its former Penniman location in 1987. They had two employees on staff in 1987 and now employ 13.

The new store is accessible for handicapped and for strollers and evening hours have been expanded to 9 p.m. Thursday and Friday.

The new location, in the former Del's Shoes, has 3,000 square feet for retail, compared with the 1,000 square feet at the former site.

The Birds say they now can offer a larger furniture selection. "There will also be a significant increase in a handcrafted furniture line which is made here in Michigan," said Jane Bird.

The store will also have a Cat's Meow Gallery of little wood houses.

The building exterior was designed by Plymouth architect Joseph Phillips. With the help of Greenberg and Associates, an architectural firm that specializes in retail store spaces, the interior will be divided into nine rooms.

A variety of paint schemes, wallpaper and a hardwood floor are intended to create a homey atmosphere.

"We want to keep the charm," Bird said.

Thumbs up from page 1A

James Mills, a CEP graduate, was the next most successful candidate with 91 votes, followed by incumbent Barbara Graham with 58, former trustee Marilyn Schwinn with 29, and Carol Bollman with 20 votes.

Close Up students held a candidates forum last month.

"It's intriguing," said Close Up teacher Bill Gretzinger.

In voting on the millage, "students tended to look at the program and how it was going to affect them. The vote shows they're acutely aware of how it (school finance) will impact on them, and they want it resolved. Their parents will no doubt look at their pocket book."

Students' election of Farrow and McClendon "clearly shows the candidates they thought were most responsive to their questions. They obviously liked Jack Farrow and E.J. McClendon," said Gretzinger.

On the schools of choice issue: "I think they listened to the explanations of the candidates and agreed. There's a pretty emphatic statement there," he said. "It will be interesting to see how well the results correlate."

ern Michigan University, Children's Hospital and any number of universities, hospitals and public bodies have lobbyists on retainer if that's not the way it's done?

Geiss disagreed, saying Ford "could not understand from the very beginning what these communities needed outside assistance on."

"Our office was always open to any proposal from the WTUA. We do not need a third party to come in and plead the case."

Ford is running for re-election in a newly drawn U.S. House district that will include the other WTUA communities in addition to Canton — Plymouth Township and Northville Township.

Yack said the office of U.S. Rep Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth, has been more helpful in seeking federal grants for the WTUA project.

To raise the estimated $90 million project cost, WTUA has issued bonds. Yack said the project is currently running at $3 million to $5 million under cost.

The WTUA board on June 17 is expected to review an audit of the project. The auditors were also asked to report on "whether we paid excessively for design fees or attorney fees," Yack said, as project critics have charged.

"I'm looking for something to help us in professionalizing WTUA," he said.

Parts of the system should be in use by November, Yack said, adding November 1994 is the expected final completion date.

Talks on shared services broke down with township negotiators accusing the city of not keeping verbal agreements.

The city also wanted contributions to a joint fire department based on property value in the two towns. Such an agreement would unfairly favor the city, township officials said, as the less property rich city would get far more service that it would pay for.

Township officials also rejected a provision sought by the city to terminate joint fire service at any time.

In his letter to Law and supervisor candidates, Walters reiterated that the city will pursue this item.

Also in an agreement, "All existing firefighters, both from the township and from the city, must be treated equitably and not be financially harmed as a result of the merger," Walters wrote.

An agreement should also "recognize the fact that the township will grow significantly in the next 10 to 20 years in proportion to the city," Walters said.

Contributions to a joint fire department must be made "in proportion to their size and use of the service, both now and in the future," he added.

Graduation day happy for students, parents

Graduation isn't just a day for parents to be proud. It's for kids, too. And the more than 1,100 graduates of Plymouth Canton and Plymouth Salem high schools proved that on Sunday.

They walked across the stage at Hill Auditorium in Ann Arbor, heads high and diplomas in hand.

But the big day was more than kisses from mom and dad and friends. It was along a day for a party.

And for students from Canton and Plymouth it was a safe one. More than 900 attended an all night party at the high schools that started at 9 p.m. and lasted until 4 a.m.

The annual event is aimed at giving students a good, but safe graduation night. Students who leave the party are not allowed to re-enter.

This year's theme was "Fun in the Sun," and featured beach scenes and a cruise ship.

Students win computer contest

Once again, computer students from Centennial Educational Park cleaned up in the ComCon Superbowl computer contest, held recently in Pontiac.

Defending champion Salem became the first back-to-back winner in the 10-year history of the contest, entered by schools from three leagues in Wayne and Oakland counties and southern Ontario.

The Canton team placed third.

Competitors are asked to write computer programs to solve four problems. The Salem squad solved all the problems in an hour and a half. No other team was able to solve the four problems in the allotted three hours.

"They did terrific this year," said Salem's Tom Cotner, computer programming and math teacher who coached the team to victory. "They did a heck of a job. I was hoping they had a chance to win, because two of the kids (on the four-person team) went last year. But they won pretty easily.

"It's nice to see in light of all you hear about the schools of choice thing," said Cotner. "Sometimes being in public education, you have the private schools held up to you. It's good to see kids do better than their counterparts at schools like Cranbrook and Country Day."

The Salem champs were seniors Leon Hong, Matt Houser, Wilson Lee and Janet Wu.

Ron Carlson, Cotner's counterpart at Canton High School, also was proud of his third-place team, comprised of Steve Sedore, Todd Price, John Pythilia and Piyush Bharti.

"Our team was in second place until Livonia Churchill passed us in the last five minutes of the competition," said Carlson. "We expect to beat Salem next year, since three or four members of our team will be returning and the Salem team consisted of all seniors."

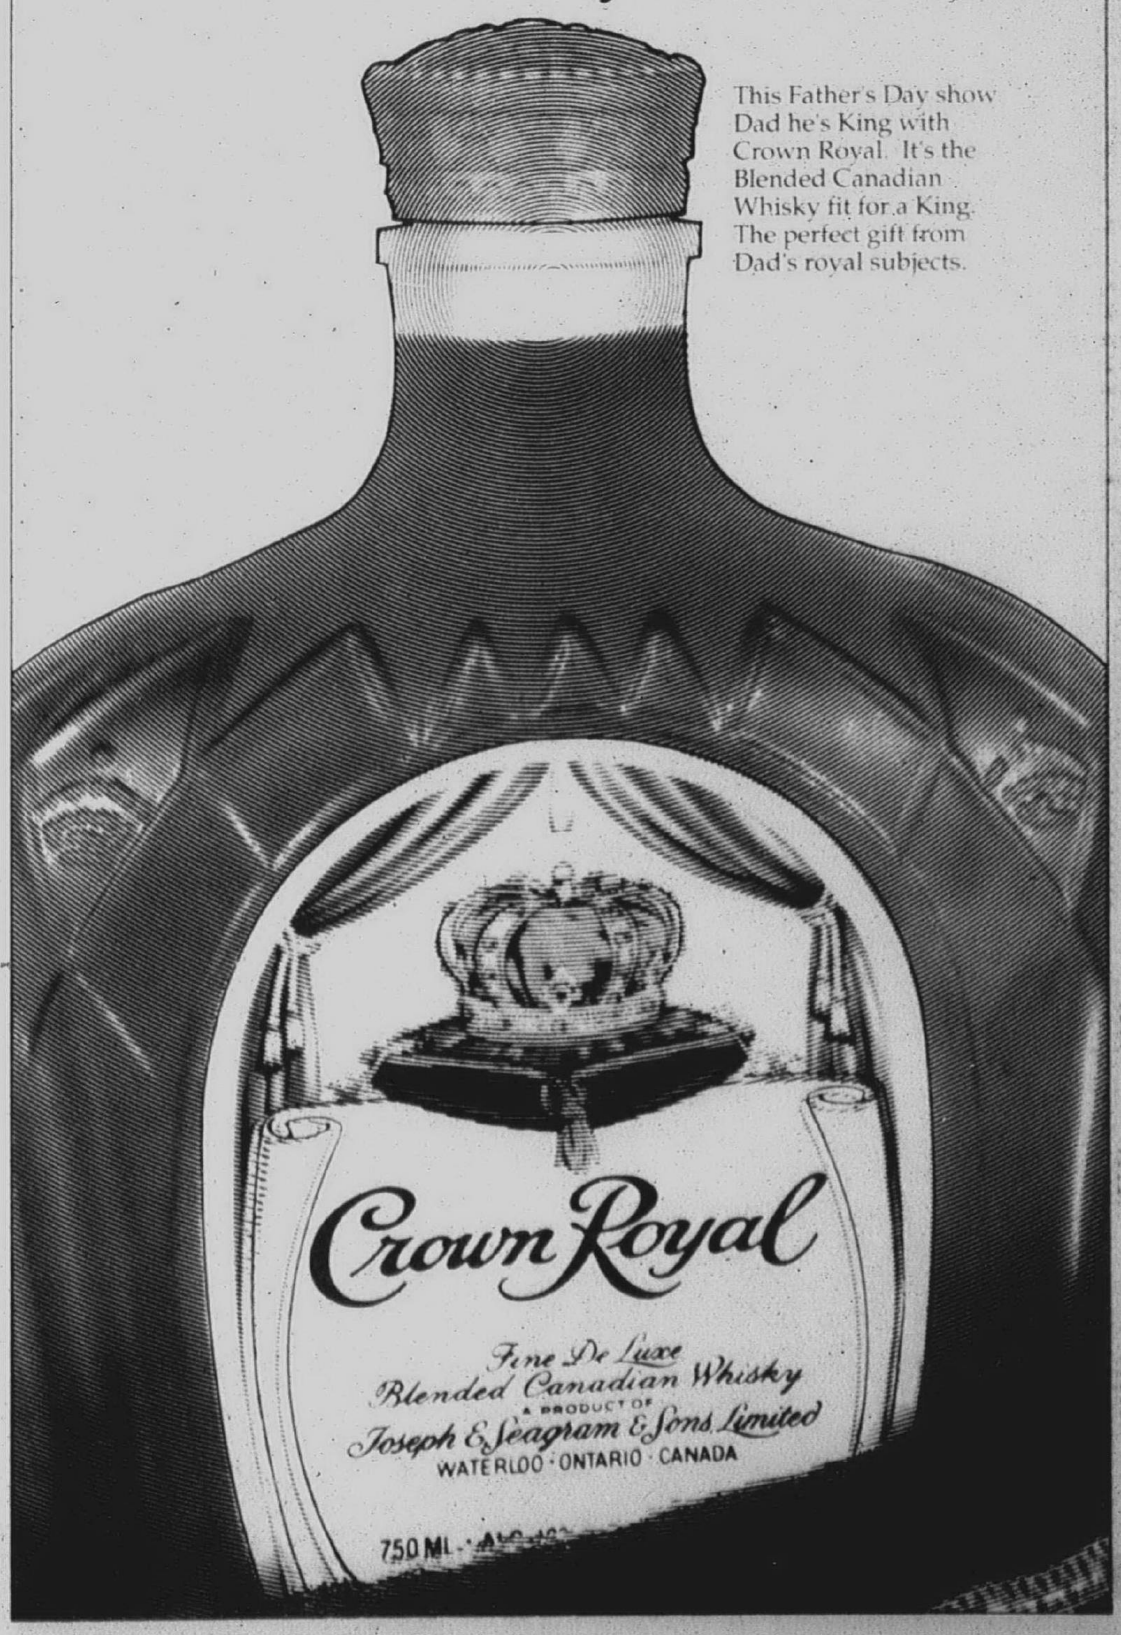
Canton sent a second team, which placed eighth. Members included Matt Wood, Brian Burns and Pat Barnes.

Salem and Canton finished among the top three in the Metro Computer League, composed of 16 schools from public and private schools in Wayne County.

Cotner said the time invested was well worth it.

"Teaching this class is a lot more work than teaching some other classes," he said, "but it's rewarding to actually see your kids compete with kids from other places and do so well. And they have a good time."

Give Dad the Royal Treatment



Coast Guard Auxiliary can help out

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW
STAFF WRITER

Hi ho, hi ho, it's off to sea we go . . . in the official Canton/Plymouth version of the United States Coast Guard Auxiliary.

There might not be any lakes in Canton bigger than the miniature body of water behind town hall, but there are plenty of boaters in town, including several tireless volunteers who lay it all on the line for boating safety in the Coast Guard Auxiliary, Division 11, Flotilla 11.

In fact, if you attended the Grand Prix last weekend you may have seen some of your neighbors working offshore in an attempt to keep seaborne spectators from screwing up things.

Along with the annual Thunderfest hydroplane races, the Grand Prix is one of the primo events the Auxiliary covers this year. Auxiliarist Mike Baker, a Canton resident, said the Coast Guard expected to have 20 Auxiliary boats in the waters around Belle Isle for the Grand Prix.

That's all well and good, you say, but what does the Auxiliary do for me personally?

To begin with, auxiliarists don't have guns or police powers (although they do wear uniforms), so they can't arrest you or write you a ticket.

As if that weren't enough, auxiliarists will help boaters in trouble. Stuck in the sand? They'll pull you off. Run out of petrol? They'll proffer a tow. Fall in the water? They'll pull you out. Get lost? They'll look for you. Don't know beans about boats? They'll teach you. Aren't sure if your boat's safe? They'll inspect it for free.

Baker is Flotilla 11's vessel inspection officer. He'll look over your boat, in the water or not, and tell you if you're missing anything like life savers, fire extinguishers, anchors and so forth.

"Believe it or not," Baker said, "we run into people with not one life preserver on the boat."

Shirley Kinsler and husband Bob are charter members of Flotilla 11, founded in 1984. Shirley Kinsler, who works for the Internal Revenue Service, remembers the summer of 1988 while she was out on patrol. A 12-foot outboard had swamped in the Detroit River by trying to back up into the waves.

Four people went in the water with "ripped and torn" life savers, Kinsler said. "They were good anchors."

The auxiliarists pulled the boaters from the water and even gave CPR to an elderly gent who had been caught underneath the swamped boat.

But mostly the work is something like yelling at drunken boaters who are throwing firecrackers in Canadian waters. Or . . . "Generally you find that a fisherman on a hot day is going to drift into the weeds and sand because he's had too many beers," Kinsler said.

And the biggest problem? "Not enough people know the rules of boating," Kinsler said, noting that no license is required to operate a floating vehicle.

She harkened back to last year's Freedom Festival where some dude had rented a huge cruiser, but knew not how to drive the dang thing. The boat wound up bumping against the breakwater in front of the grandstand and the Wayne County Sheriff had to take it in tow.

"As long as you've got a credit card, you can rent a boat," Kinsler said.

Auxiliarist Lydia Olson, a Plymouth resident, remembers an overboard guy she saved once who insisted on getting his catch of fish into the boat before he would be rescued.

In normal times, the auxiliarists generally do weekend duty out on the Detroit River between the Ambassador Bridge and a point six miles south of Grosse Ile. Sometimes they stand radio watches for the Coast Guard on Belle Isle or Grosse Ile. Most of them are professionals with interesting occupations.

Bob Kinsler is a Ford engineer. Jerry Rodviewcz is a retired air traffic controller. John Milligan is the Plymouth postmaster. Johnnie Johnson is an electronic engineer with Chrysler and served in the Navy aboard the USS Cutlass, SS-478, a diesel submarine out of Norfolk, Va.

Johnson liked the sub life so much that he named his 19-foot cuddy cabin the Cutlass II. "I just hope it doesn't go under water (like its namesake)," he said.

Drum and bugle corps to perform

Music lovers will thrill to sounds of some of the nation's finest drum and bugle corps at 7:30 p.m. Monday, June 22, in Centennial Educational Park's high school stadium at Joy at Canton Center roads in Canton.

Two 1991 world champion finalists will be showcased in the Centennial Brass Review — a drum and bugle corps contest sanctioned by Drum Corps Midwest. Audiences will hear the Cavaliers of Rosemont, Ill. and the Bluecoats of Canton, Ohio.

The Cavaliers were runners-up and the Bluecoats 11th-place finishers in the 1991 World Championship finals in Dallas last August.

Also featured will be the nationally competitive Northern Aurora of Saginaw; the Kiwanis Kavaliers of Kitchener, Ontario; the 12th Command of Taylor; and the Bandettes of Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario.

All seats are reserved. Tickets are $8. They're available by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope and check to the Plymouth-Canton Music Boosters, P.O. Box 87026, Canton, 48187-0026.

Tickets also are available at Ticketmaster outlets, or by calling 981-3352.

Drum and bugle corps offer the opportunity for musically-talented 14-21-year-olds to perform fast-paced, intricate marching drills, intertwined with explosive musical programs.

Drum and bugle corps launch their season in November with monthly weekend camps, learning the musical portion of their shows.

AAA: Insurance rates to fall if voters set cap for damages

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

Voters should start studying five pages of fine print about auto insurance — the "Lower Rates Now" plan of AAA Michigan.

The state's largest auto insurer Tuesday will file its ballot proposal to "cut auto insurance premiums an average of 20 percent by controlling medical and legal expenses," in the words of president Ronald L. Steffens.

AAA will file more than 200,000 petition signatures for a spot on the Nov. 3 ballot in the wake of the House of Representatives' failure Thursday to enact a new essential insurance law.

There were many sticking points, but the simplest had to do with maximum benefits for such "catastrophic claims" as closed-head and spinal injuries. Current law caps them at $5 milllion; AAA's plan would cap them at $250,000; House Democratic leaders want $3 million; Republicans and dissident Democrats seemed to have a majority for $1 million.

All sides want insurance rates cut by 15 to 20 percent.

Vote cut off

As minority Republicans and 10 dissident Democrats shouted protests, House Speaker Lewis Dodak, D-Birch Run, twice cut off roll call votes on a compromise plan that seemed sure to pass, then adjourned the House until Tuesday.

"A total obstruction of the process. An abusive display of power," said Rep. Barbara Dobb, R-Union Lake.

"We need a new speaker," said Rep. Jan Dolan, R-Farmington Hills. "It's wrong what he did — tie everybody up because it wasn't going his way."

"We had great bipartisan support," said Rep. John Jamiam, R-Bloomfield Township. "They were fearful that with a few amendments we'd get something done today."

But Democrats portrayed AAA as holding the House hostage.

"AAA will be voted down (by the public)," predicted Rep. James O'Neill Jr., D-Saginaw.

"I'm sick and tired of a major PAC telling us we have to vote. This House still belongs to the people — not AAA, the lawyers or the doctors," said Rep. Maxine Berman, D-Southfield.

"Berman was wrong about AAA holding us hostage," said Rep. Lyn Bankes, R-Livonia. "In order for us to get good bills, we have to have some clout over the speaker's head. We were ready to work 'til midnight. I'm embarrassed for government."

AAA to file plan

AAA's proposal, due to be filed with the Secretary of State Tuesday morning, has a couple of barriers to leap — the Board of Canvassers and the voters.

"Anyone with any influence with two members of the Board of Canvassers can block the petitions," said Rep. Lyn Jondahl, D-Okemos. The four-member board, which checks petition signatures, has two Democratic members who could block the process, as Republicans have blocked a Democratic property tax plan.

Then voters would have to approve. Although AAA's insured members circulated petitions, most Democrats will oppose the plan, and many Republicans are cool.

"Dodak may be banking that the people won't back an insurer-backed proposal," said Rep. Frank Fitzgerald, R-Grand Ledge. But Fitzgerald thinks voters might like voting on Gov. John Engler's 30 percent property tax cut and AAA's 20 percent insurance rate cut Nov. 3.

"I don't believe AAA is bluffing," said House minority leader Paul Hillegonds, R-Holland. "The public is very angry at the legislative institutions that are unable to solve their problems."

Dems cap rejected

After more than 1½ hours of caucuses, the House rejected a Democratic bill with a $3 million cap on catastrophic claims.

In the day's only roll call, members were 48 in favor and 56 against with five absent. Here's how area members voted:

Yes — Democrats Justine Barns of Westland, Maxine Berman of Southfield, and William Keith of Garden City.

No — Republicans Lyn Bankes of Livonia, Barbara Dobb of Union Lake, Jan Dolan of Farmington Hills, Georgina Goss of Northville, John Jamian of Bloomfield Township, Gordon Sparks of Troy.

Not voting (equivalent of voting no) — Democrats John Bennett of Redford, James Kosteva of Canton and Wilfred Webb of Hazel Park.

Kosteva turned out to be a key behind-the-scenes player, emerging as one of the 10 dissident Democrats supporting the $1 million compromise plan on which Dodak blocked the roll calls.

That compromise also contained another feature that Republicans and insurers like but Democrats and trial lawyers oppose: a limitation on lawsuits. A person more than 50 percent at fault would be unable to sue for damages.

The 10 dissident Democrats represented a major shift from party thinking which has favored state-ordered rate cuts without limits on benefits.

AAA describes its rate cut plan:

Michigan AAA's Larry Givens, vice president of corporate relations, gave this outline of the insurer's plan for an average preminum cut of 20 percent or $150:

- Catastrophic claims would be capped at $250,000, but customers could choose to buy up to $5 million coverage. Some 99 percent of claims are $250,000 or less.
- Assessment for catastrophic claims, which have jumped to $111 today from $33 five years ago, would be cut.
- A medical fee schedule — fixed rates for doctors — would be set.
- "Double-dipping" would be prohibited. An injured person could not collect from auto and health insurance.
- Only seriously injured people could sue for "pain and suffering."
- Drivers more than 50 percent at fault would be barred from suing.
- Policyholders could waive current mandatory liability coverage to protect them from suit. Insurers, however, would be required to offer protection from being injured by an uninsured motorist.
- Insurers could give discounts to customers who are claim-free for five years.
- Companies would have to give customers refunds if premium income exceeded claims and operating expenses by more than 5 percent over three years.

Future holds 200-day school year

BY M.B. DILLON
STAFF WRITER

If a Vision 2010 committee report is implemented in the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, students will attend school 200 days a year. Teachers will work year-round, and a merit pay system will be set up for all school personnel.

The district would adopt an "outcome-based" educational concept "focused around the clearly-defined outcomes we want all students to demonstrate when they leave school," said Plymouth Township's Richard Hoerner, who chaired the committee.

"That's the whole keystone, and why the schools' educators and the business sector have to be in tune with each other."

The committee, which presented results of an 18-month study to the school board last week, acknowledged that many of the recommendations would have to be negotiated with employees.

Committee co-chairman Dr. James Gillig of Canton said that while obstacles stand in the way of many of the recommendations, it's crucial that they be removed.

Today's graduates lack many of the skills necessary to compete in the marketplace, he said.

Students are immersed in a system developed decades ago, and are leaving school ill-equipped or unable to meet the expectations and needs of today's employers.

"Uneducated people will be death of us if we have too many," said Gillig. "We are going to be in big trouble; we already have that situation to a greater extent than we can afford."

Desired skills and abilities for Plymouth-Canton graduates include:

- Communicating with words, numbers, visuals and sound.
- Thinking and solving problems to meet personal and academic needs.
- Functioning as a citizen in the local, state, national and global communities.
- Understanding both the diversity and the interdependence of people.
- Working cooperatively both in groups and independently.
- Developing physical and emotional well-being.
- Contributing to the economic well-being of society.
- Understanding the ethical issues facing citizens in a global community.
- Being aware of and appreciating man's creativity as represented in the fine and performing arts.
- Demonstrating a mastery of technology, recognizing both its potential and limitations.

Plymouth-Canton schools need to change the way they do business, said the committee, comprised of 36 appointed school administrators, business people, community members and teachers.

To restructure, the district needs to "establish a business partnership among school personnel including administration, teachers and counselors for all periods when the students are not in school to expose them to the realities of the workplace."

Also proposed was a "master teacher/mentor system" to help train new teachers, and more in-service training for all staff.

Tenure protection for teachers is a "major obstacle to improving the quality of education," the committee said. "We should support efforts to extend the probation period to four years for observation and monitoring and replace the Tenure Commission with binding arbitration for discipline and discharge cases."

Chuck Portelli, president of the Plymouth-Canton teachers union, said the membership hasn't had a chance to review the report. But he doubts the recommendations will be popular.

"I don't think the message is that teachers are against change. But some of the issues are bargainable issues that have to be negotiated at the table.

"We are always in favor of updating teacher skills. However, it's always on teachers' time, not on district time," said Portelli, who served on the committee for a time but stepped down when it appeared some conclusions had already been reached.

"Teachers do update their skills. They have to put in six hours of in-service after school. I would wager most teachers put in much more than that. There comes a point where you can't keep doing it forever and ever."

WHAT EVERY MAN SHOULD KNOW ABOUT IMPOTENCE.

IT'S TREATABLE.

The real tragedy of impotence is letting it go untreated even one more day. Stop denying yourself and your sexual partner an important part of your life. Impotence can be treated in almost every case.

The STAR™ program developed by Grace Hospital provides complete diagnosis and treatment of male impotence. This confidential program is directed first at determining the cause of the problem. Diseases such as diabetes, cancer, multiple sclerosis and problems with prostate, heart and high blood pressure are common causes. There are many others. Injuries to the spinal cord, and low hormone levels can also cause erection failure. So, too, can fatigue, alcohol, drugs, smoking, stress and depression. Medicines used to treat such things as depression, high blood pressure and ulcers can be part of the problem. Age alone is not a cause of impotence. And, yes, some impotence problems are psychologically based; even organic impotence has an important psychological component that requires identification and treatment. An accurate diagnosis is the key to effective treatment. Sometimes, only a change in medication is needed. More serious problems may require surgery. But help is available. Complete, confidential and supportive. Call today and talk to one of our professionals.

Cleanup going well, experts say

BY WAYNE PEAL
STAFF WRITER

Rouge River cleanup projects are flowing smoothly, area officials said, but some warned they could hit a log jam if federal funding is lost.

Substantial progress has already been made toward cleaning the heavily polluted river, experts said during Friday's Rouge River legislative conference.

The event coincided with the global environmental summit in Rio De Janeiro.

"In Rio, they're getting together but they're only doing it once every 20 years," University of Michigan-Dearborn professor Orin Gelderloos said. UM-D has hosted each of the seven annual conferences.

There is good news locally, said Paul Zugger, water quality chief of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

"Progess has been strong; major efforts are being planned," Zugger said.

Many communities are already taking steps to eliminate combined sewer overflows by revamping their sewer systems. Old, outmoded combined sewers — CSOs for short — dump both storm water and sewage into the river as they back up during heavy rainfall. CSOs are considered the leading cause of Rouge pollution.

A $300 million multi-community sewer replacement plan is underway. An interim plan is expected to be revealed in May 1993, with 1997 set aside as the year for sewer construction.

U.S. Rep. John Dingell, D-Trenton, predicted projects could hit a log jam if a proposed federal balanced budget bill passes.

"I'm voting against it," said Dingell, who said it could jeopardize $82 million in federal money sought for the Rouge. The Rouge project has already received a $46 million federal grant.

Federal money has thus far been reserved for cleaning the river, though Rouge boosters envision the river eventually coming alive as a recreation area.

Toward that end, they've applied for consideration as a National Heritage site like the Lackawanna River Valley in Pennsylvania, as well as areas near Lowell, Mass.

The heritage program pulls together business and community leaders to restore the "cultural landscape" of an environmentally sensitive area like the Rouge.

It requires congressional action to join the program and while the Rouge Valley has recently been a finalist, it hasn't yet gained necessary approval.

Even without additional federal support, Rouge boosters plan to restart recreational activites near the river early in the next decade.

"We are going to have a river that's returned," said Wayne County Public Works chief James Murray.

HOW TO JUDGE A CLAIM
Your joints ache, you are not sleeping because of the pain, and the discomfort dogs you throughout the day without letup. The therapy your doctor tries either does not work or makes you worse.
Then a friend tells you about a new pill that made a neighbor "feel great."
Short of trying the medication, there are ways that you can judge if a claim or ad has sufficient merit to warrant your pursuit.
First you have your common sense. If something sounds too good to be true, it likely isn't true. Furthermore, you realize from experience the distortion that occurs when someone tells you what happened to yet another person. You know that at intervals, your joints feel fine for no reason you can identify. Something just out hasn't passed the test of time to allow anyone to separate chance from change.
Second you can evaluate the medicine itself. Be skeptical if the new cure is said to contain a rare earth metal previously overlooked by science or uses mega-amounts of ordinary minerals and vitamins.
Finally, ask your doctor what he thinks. If he says he never heard of the medication, do not take his honesty as ignorance. Likely the medical community has not assessed the purported cure because persons who would profit from the drug have deliberately kept the medication from scrutiny.

POINTS OF VIEW

Even fish know that kids need a father at home

From the boat launch, I looked into the shallows and spotted him — less than seven inches long, hovering over a saucer-shaped depression. Earlier in spring, the bull bluegill had scooped out the nest, herded in a female, then fertilized the eggs she laid.

The bull bluegill, with his iridescent gill covers and yellow bowtie, will guard the eggs until they hatch. Let a minnow, beetle or another fish venture too near, and the bull 'gill attacks, his sharp dorsal fin flashing. When a slovenly carp or idiot speedboater stirs up the bottom, the bull 'gill fans away the silt with his pectoral fins. The 'gill is vulnerable to anglers when he's on guard because, hungry or not, he will take a whack at anything that comes near the nest.

Other fish, like muskie and salmon, scatter their eggs and spawn, then depart. Not the bluegill, who has an excellent reproduction rate and is one of Michigan's most widespread and successful species. The buli bluegill, though cold-blooded and pea-brained, is a better father than many human males. The importance of Father's Day isn't told in syrupy verses of Hallmark cards. It's found in the sociological statistics. Bad things happen to kids born into a household with no father.

- Their infant mortality rate is double their counterparts, says the state Department of Social Services.
- They are three times more likely to be classified EMI (educable mentally impaired).
- They are more likely to be raised in poverty. "Women and their children account for 70 percent of Michigan's poor, largely because of the poverty of single parents. . .55 percent of female-headed families with children were in poverty," said the Michigan Women's Commission.
- Welfare is needed by 73 percent of teen mothers within four years, it being understood that 70 percent of births to teens are out of wedlock. Says the National Urban League: "That act alone is a passport to poverty."
- There are no hard statistics, but DSS says kids in single-parent families do poorly in school.
- Three years ago, I wrote about monitoring child disaster stories — small children who get shot, drowned, left in dumpsters and so on. Only about one story a year involves children with two parents. Watch them on TV yourself. You'll see grieving mothers, aunts, sisters, grandmothers — rarely an adult male.

TIM RICHARD

■ The importance of Father's Day isn't told in syrupy verses of Hallmark cards. It's found in the sociological statistics. Bad things happen to kids born into a household with no father.

The worst result of a kid not having a father, however, is prison. Some years ago, the Michigan Department of Corrections released some horrifying figures to the effect that a disproportionate number of prison inmates were from fatherless families. As I recall, a kid from a fatherless home had three or four times as much chance of going to prison as a kid from a two-family home. This is not to say that all kids from two-parent homes will do well. Witness Leslie Williams, the confessed serial killer and rapist.

Nor is it to say that every kid from a single-parent home is doomed to hell. Witness statesman Willy Brandt, Leonardo da Vinci, Lawrence of Arabia and conquistador Francisco Pizarro. It's a matter of odds. It's possible for a colt carrying 145 pounds to win the Derby against a field carry 120, but that isn't the way you want to bet. Dads won't eliminate rioters, but they will better the odds their kids won't grow up to riot. Good fathers are important in raising kids and keeping them out of prison. Even a fish knows that.

Tim Richard reports regularly on the local implications of state and regional news.

Sports drought will mean fewer Olympic medals

In this Olympic year, recent racism could hurt the historic dominance of America's dashmen. In 1957 my sprint teammates on the United States team were mostly black, and African-American runners have essentially ruled ever since. But now our annual share of the world's fastest sprint times is declining sharply. The pool of young blacks who could prevent this decline has lost thousands of potential sprinters to prison or violent death.

The imprisonment rate for black males — a group plagued with problems unimaginable to middle-class whites — is 3,370 per 100,000 compared to the overall figure of 455. A myriad of urban youngsters are running drugs instead of track. Meanwhile, the few inner-city track clubs are ill-financed. High school track budgets have been cut, and college scholarships and programs are disappearing as a partial result.

Just look at Detroit. During my day our Detroit Track Club's sprint relay teams medalled nationally and broke a world record — but the club no longer exists. The Wayne State University program that made me an All-American and turned generations of street kids into top sprinters is gone, too.

Thus, the records I set at WSU 35 years ago will stand forever. The University of Detroit track program which physically developed Cleveland Browns' defensive back Jim Shorter and other good dashmen is also defunct. The U-D track is now a parking lot.

When I dashed in Detroit in the 1950s and coached there in the 1960s, dual meets between powerful schools drew more than a thousand spectators. Clockings like Cliff Hatcher's incredible 48.8-second 440-yard dash for the city title in 1951 and the "Gray Ghost" Henry Carr's world-record 20.0 220 a decade later consistently bettered state and often national records. (And we dashed on dusty dirt rather than expensive Astroturf).

JOHN TELFORD

■ Our annual share of the world's fastest sprint times is declining sharply. The pool of young blacks who could prevent this decline has lost thousands of potential sprinters to prison or violent death.

Detroit launched international sprinters Lorenzo Wright out of old Miller High, Carr from Northwestern, John Lewis from old Northeastern, Eddie Tolan from Cass Tech, Stan Vinson from Chadsey, Marshall Dill from Northern, Elliot "The Train" Tabron from Murrary-Wright and me from Denby. All but me were black, and Tabron 10 years ago was the last of the breed.

Beyond the Motor City, the drought has been even longer. Except for Reggie Jones of Saginaw in the 1970s, there hasn't been a Michigan-bred international speed-burner from outside Detroit since Hayes Jones of Pontiac and Rex Cawley of Farmington in 1964 — and they hurdled more often than they sprinted.

The NCAA's escalated admission standards will further handicap ghetto students. Community college track programs like the excellent one at Macomb Community College with its liberal admissions have eased that problem a little, but football money is luring more sprinters — and older stars like Carl Lewis are fading.

Don't be surprised if several Olympic gold medals go to non-Americans at Barcelona this summer and at Atlanta in 1996. Sadly, there will be no more Michigan gold medalists like Hayes Jones and Cawley and Wright and Tolan and the great Gray Ghost.

John Telford, a Rochester Hills resident, most recently was assistant superintendent in the Rochester School District. He previously was executive director for secondary education in the Plymouth Canton district.

SOMEBODY'S DYING FOR A NEW PAIR OF SNEAKERS.

All over America children are the victims of violent crime. They are being assaulted and even murdered for the sake of anything from a pair of sneakers to some loose change in their pockets.

It's a situation that's only getting worse. Unless you do something to fight back, your child could become one of those victims.

Brazil's beaches: Rio de Janeiro's South Atlantic beaches have long exerted a legendary allure.

On the road to Rio

Brazil's capital city spruces up for Earth Summit

BY JAMES BROOKE
NEW YORK TIMES SYNDICATE

■ TRAVEL

Back in the days when environmentalists called themselves naturalists and traveled by steamship, Rio de Janeiro's green forests, gray granite hills and south Atlantic beaches exerted a legendary allure.

So it is appropriate, 30,000 environmentalists have descended by jet on Rio, a tropical city where nature is never far from view.

Formally called the United Nations Conference on Environment and Development, the meeting will last until June 14.

Preparing for what may be modern history's largest environmental gathering, Rio's city leaders have invested heavily, hoping to reverse in one stroke a negative image of crime and decay.

From Rio's newly refurbished international airport visitors will speed down a specially constructed five-mile superhighway that feeds into tunnels leading to the Southern Zone's beachfront neighborhoods.

Along 20 miles of open ocean beaches, from Copacabana to Barra da Tijuca, new sidewalks, new bicycle paths, new food kiosks, tightened water pollution control and improved police protection have restored Rio's special lure: the urban beach.

Despite its surface sensuality, however, Rio is not a Caribbean resort but a city of 6 million people, largely poor, and street crime is a serious problem.

Avoid pickpockets by walking in the same alert way you would in the downtown streets of a large American city. Leave your hotel with the minimum — a cheap watch, a photocopy of your passport, enough cash for the day and, if necessary, a camera hidden in an old shopping bag.

Cultural events

At the Museum of Modern Art, at 85 Avenida Infante Dom Henrique, six expositions will take place. There is a $2 charge for entrance to all of them.

Until July 26, noon to 9 p.m., the Eco Art 92 gathering of 120 artists from the Americas will exhibit their paintings on ecology. Concurrently, there will be an exhibit by Franz Krajcberg, a renowned Brazilian artist. For more information call 210-2188.

There are two English-language, event-oriented programs on Rio radio: "That Man in Rio" every day from 6 p.m. to 6:05 p. m. on Tropical FM 104.5 and Eco Radio on Imprensa FM (102.1) from 6 a.m. to 10 a.m. until June 20.

Tips on how to avoid muggers will be given every morning on ECO Radio by Ronald Biggs, the British mastermind of the 1963 Great Train Robbery, who has lived in Rio since 1970.

The way to truly enjoy Rio's exuberant flora and fauna is on foot. For $1 admission the doors swing open at the Botanical Garden, in the neighborhood of the same name, Jardim Botanico.

One square kilometer of greenery planted in the heart of the city, the 184-year-old garden contains 6,200 species of plants and trees from all over the tropics. Spruced up with its largest cleanup in 40 years, the garden's well-kept paths are ideal for quiet walks and quiet talks. The garden is open Tuesday through Sunday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Visitors who do not have the time to fly 2,000 miles north to the Amazon will be happy to discover that an untouched chunk of rain forest is a 20-minute $10 cab ride from downtown Rio.

Tijuca National Forest, a dense, 13-square-mile tangle of Atlantic jungle, is considered the largest urban forest in the world. Hikers routinely get lost, marooned in the wilderness only a few miles from a city of 6 million people.

Brazil Nuts, a travel agency here, offers a Tijuca National Park Ecology hike — a six-hour, $50-a-person program that includes a guided hike to the 3,350-foot summit of Tijuca Mountain and a stop for lunch ($10 extra) at the Floresta Restaurant, an 18th-century house renowned for the hummingbirds on its veranda.

On most tours here, prices are lower for larger groups. For more information call Brazil Nuts in Rio 511-3636, or Brazil Nuts in Fairfield, Conn. (800) 553-9959.

Another colonial structure worth visiting is the Acude Museum, at Estrada do Acude, Alta da Boa Vista. Surrounded by walking trails and endowed with a rare collection of Portuguese tiles, this museum on the edge of Tijuca park reopened May 30 after extensive renovations.

Indeed, in preparation for the Earth Summit, 240 workers have been cleaning trails and sprucing up the park. The museum will be open from Thursday to Sunday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Admission is 40 cents.

What to do

In a city filled with fresh-air excursions a newly popular outing is to rent bicycles and pedal down the new paths alongside beaches or around Rio's internal lagoon.

Bicycles can be rented for $2 an hour from a tattoed young surfer named Robson who operates the southernmost food stand on Leblon's oceanfront avenue, Delfim Moreira, near Rua Rita Ludolf. (Prices may briefly ballon during the Earth Summit.)

To master Rio's confusing geography of hills, tunnels and beaches, first-time visitors traditionally have climbed to Rio's landmark statue, Christ the Redeemer, at the top of 2,329-foot Corcovado Mountain. Access is by taxi or funicular train, which leaves every hour during daylight from 513 Rua Cosme Velho.

The visit has been improved by a recently completed $2 million overhaul of the 61-year-old statue.

Shopping Around

One of the most charming, evocative places in Ireland is the Dingle Peninsula.

On the map it juts out like a finger from the southwestern corner of Ireland. Dingle is the northernmost of five such peninsulas, the most famous being the Ring of Kerry.

It is mountainous with gentle, sweeping valleys. In some areas the cliffs dip into a raging Atlantic Ocean. Sun, wind and rain often occur at once; the colors of the sea and sky are always changing.

The land is sparsely populated and Irish is the first language. Many visitors come to see the area's array of Iron Age fortifications and early Christian monuments.

The Dingle peninsula is also home to Louis Mulcahy, one of Ireland's best-known potters. A former TV cameraman for RTE, the national network, Mulcahy is a self-taught ceramacist who left Dublin and moved to the remote village of Clogher in 1975 with his wife Lisbeth, who is Danish.

"We began as a two-man operation," Mulcahy says, "and now we employ 23 people here at the pottery, mostly locals. There's lots of unemployment in this part of the country, and we walk a knife's edge trying to keep young people from emigrating."

Indeed, the Dingle peninsula is not an easy place to make a living. While the region is dotted with picturesque cottages, many of them are holiday homes, inhabited only a few weeks a year.

But the Mulcahys have braved a sparse resident population and the vicissitudes of the climate.

In fact, they use elements of the landscape in their crafts. The forms and glazes of Mulcahy's pottery, which is popular throughout Ireland and abroad, display the colors of the landscape.

The designs are simple, sensuous and strong. The glazes are as full of contradiction as the Irish sky. For example, a blue glaze is never solid blue, but mottled with green and gray.

■ 'We began as a two-man operation, and now we employ 23 people here at the pottery, mostly locals. There's lots of unemployment in this part of the country, and we walk a knife's edge trying to keep young people from emigrating.'

Louis Mulcahy

Among the most affordable buys are bowls, which display Mulcahy's glazes very well and range from about $29 to about $60. Dingle oil lamps are about $13. Table lamps can be fitted for American electrical service. They range from about $35 to about $108.

The tall planters and urns for which Mulcahy is well-known start at about $300. A bathroom-vanity sink about 15½ inches in diameter, available in a variety of glazes, is about $110.

A pale-blue dinner service for six, with the pieces edged in terra cotta, is about $389. A tea set for six is about $143 and a cappucino set is about $63. All these pieces can be shipped to the United States.

Lisbeth Mulcahy, a weaver, owns The Weavers' Shop in the town of Dingle, a charming seaport in the heart of the peninsula.

Located in a 60-year-old house on Green Street, the two-story shop is filled with hand-loomed articles which she designed.

Throughout the day visitors hear the timeless and hypnotic clacking and banging sound of one of the shop's four looms as Mulcahy patiently makes shawls and rugs.

Like her husband, Lisbeth Mulcahy is influenced by the look of Dingle's terrain — and she actually uses the natural plant dyes from local plants in some of the knee rugs and shawls.

Mulcahy uses only natural fibers to make scarves of alpaca or linen and cotton. Her wall hangings and floor rugs are made of wool or colored yarn.

Gossamer light linen/cotton scarves are about $17.50; alpaca scarves are about $22. Finely woven wool stoles in majestic color combinations of purple and black or purple and green are about $98.

Shawls are about $80 and floor rugs that could double as wall hangings range from about $316 to about $687. Soft Knee rugs, perfect for cuddling in front of a fire, are about $49. All items can be shipped to the United States.

Both Mulcahys keep a small stock of each other's wares at their respective shops. Keep in mind that 21 percent of each item's price is the value added tax, which is refundable on leaving the country.

Vary colors, textures to make perfect salads

Salad season has come; warm days that call for no-cook meals with great flavor!

Salads are delicious and nutritious. They're one of the oldest of culinary traditions. Regarded as a food of the Gods by citizens of ancient Rome, the salad has been popular dining fare for many centuries. In Shakespeare's England, the salad was thought to be a fountain of youth. Salads went on to gain popularity as an addition to the meal in the early 1900s and a meal in themselves by the 1950s.

There are a few set rules, more guidelines than anything to follow when a culinary attempt is made to create the perfect salad. One of the foremost suggestions is that you use several types of greens which will provide a variety of colors, tastes and textures.

Head lettuce is OK, and especially plentiful and cheap during the summer months, but an addition of watercress, endive, celery leaves, beet tops, raddichio and romaine will make the blandest salad simply jump with flavor! Always pick or buy greens that are fresh looking. Lettuce should be bright green.

Storing greens

To keep the greens as fresh as just picked, wash greens immediately and wrap in layers of paper towel. Store in a plastic bag and place in the crisper. The dry paper towels will absorb any additional wetness and the coolness will keep the greens fresh and crisp for at least two, possibly three days.

If you were one of those who bought the so-called great salad spinner of yesteryear (some are still around today) now is the time to get your money's worth. I put mine in the garage sale, not because I was disappointed in it's performance, but because my kitchen is already cramped and the space needed to store the thing was just not there. I even tried hanging it in the corner, filled with dusty plastic flowers, all to no avail.

There are some very trendy additions that can be added to many salads. With the influx of haute cuisine, a few of the more upscale markets now stock interesting varieties of greens virtually unheard of three years ago.

Trendy greens

Greens like arugula, which was grown and used first in Italy has emerged as the "in" green. Tasting very tender with a mustard flavored bitterness, it resembles radish leaves in flavor and appearance. Not being ready to be upstaged by the Italians, the French have their own trendy green called Mache, also called lambs lettuce or corn salad. The leaves have a tendency to taste somewhat nutty, closely resembling he richness of Bibb or butter lettuce. Unfortunately, trendiness does come with a price and these greens are expensive.

A suggestion would be to buy small amounts of various greens and combine them, adding both texture and varying flavors to an otherwise plain salad. Lest you forget, these greens are prized for their interesting flavors and should never be saturated in a heavy, creamy based dressing. A simple dousing of a vinaigrette, made with olive oil and flavored vinegar allows the flavors and the pricey taste to really emerge.

Salad dressing

Last but not least, one of the big mistakes most salad makers make when preparing the salad is the timing of the dressing. Pour the salad dressing on at the very last minute because the vinegar or lemon juice in the dressing causes the greens to become limp in an amazingly short period of time. And, whatever you do, DON'T drown the poor salad. Each leaf should be only lightly coasted with the dressing. Contrary to popular belief, the dressing should not puddle in the bottom of the salad bowl.

Speaking of salad bowls, if you own a wooden bowl, you shoud be aware that under no circumstances, should the bowl be washed. EVER! (I can see my mama just cringing knowing that I never wash my wooden salad bowl) Wooden bowls, when washed, dry out and crack, ever so easily.

The best possible way to clean a wooden salad bowl is to pour in ½ cup of ordinary table salt and to wipe vigorously with a dry towel or paper towel. The salt, being aseptic, not only absorbs the grease from the dressing but acts as an abrasive to cut through dressing build up. If your wooden bowls are excessively oily, it might take 2 or 3 trys with this method, but trust me, it works.

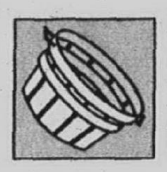
FRESH PICKIN'S

Strawberry patches roll out welcome mats



Red, sweet, juicy, Michigan strawberries will be ready to pick this week. Some farms open June 11, others won't open until June 16, call ahead before you go. The strawberries are about two weeks later this year than last year. See the map for U-pick farms.

BY KEELY WYGONIK
STAFF WRITER

Mother Nature's spring cold snap didn't hurt the strawberries, but it will make them a little later this year. "I've found that strawberries have a way of recovering, if it's cooler, it takes longer for them to ripen," said John Sherman of the Strawberry Patch in Milford.

Sherman who offers fresh picked berries at his farm, said he's opened on June 10 eight of the last nine years. Other farmers predicted the berries would be ready sometime between June 11 and June 17.

"There should be a really good crop," said Barbara Middleton of Middelton Berry Farm near Lake Orion. "The berries like cooler weahter. We have some enormous blossoms, and that means big berries."

Most farmers don't price the berries until the crop comes in. This year's prices are expected to range from 60 to 99 cents a pound. There are about 1¼ pounds in a quart.

Don't wear your Sunday clothes when you go berry picking, they'll get dirty. There are only two ways to pick strawberries — on your knees, or stooped over.

Call before you trek out to the farm, and leave the pails at home. Farmers will provide baskets to put your berries in.

Michigan berries don't ripen after they're picked. What you see is what you get. When you find the perfect berry, snap it off at the stem.

Besides tasting good, strawberries are low in calories, about 55 calories a cup, and high in vitamin C and potassium.

If anyone tells you a strawberry isn't a fruit, don't argue. Botanically they are a member of the rose family.

COOL SALADS for HOT DAYS

WINNER DINNER

BETSY BRETHEN

Mother Nature sure has had her fun with us this year, hasn't she. This has been the coldest and the longest spring I can remember in a long time and hopefully, now that the calendar officially reads June, we can all look forward to some much-needed and long-awaited warm weather.

To help ease you into the summer swing, this week's Winner Dinner offers a menu that is best when prepared in the morning so it can "chill out" until dinner time.

Submitted by Anne Albertus of Rochester Hills, this week's Winner Dinner is sure to become a summertime classic as it is easy to make, delicious tasting and terrific for picnics. Married to Steve and the mother of five children, Albertus and her family have lived in Rochester Hills for five years. She is a full-time homemaker and enjoys doing volunteer work for her church as well as for her children's schools. Like many moms today, Albertus is often pressed for time and, although she does enjoy cooking, prefers to select meals that are easy to make and low in fat.

With summer vacation about to begin, Albertus is looking forward to doing some biking, hiking and camping with her family. She is also anticipating "bleacher burn-out," as she has two children signed up for summer baseball programs.

Thank you, Anne Albertus, for kicking off the summer season with your delicious recipes and congratulations on being selected this week's Winner Dinner Winner.

Submit your recipes, to be considered for publication in this column or elsewhere, to Winner Dinner, P.O. Box 3503, Birmingham, MI 48012. All submissions become the property of the publisher. Each week's winner receives an apron with the words Winner Dinner Winner on it.

OBSERVER & ECCENTRIC
Winner Dinner Recipes

If you don't have a lot of time to cook, or wonder what to make on days when it's too hot to cook. This menu is for you.

Make the salads in the morning, and they'll be waiting in the fridge for a quick, cool, no-fuss dinner.

Instead of plain ice tea, try ice tea with lemon. This ice tea gets its lemony flavor from lemonade. It's simple to make, and very refreshing.

COLD TUNA PASTA SALAD

2 cans tuna, 7 ounce size, rinsed and drained well
1 tablespoon dill weed
1 cup celery or carrots, chopped finely
½ cup red onions
4 ounces cooked rotini noodles, about 2 cups uncooked
1 cup peas
½ cup mayonnaise
½ cup plain yogurt
2 tablespoons vinegar
salt and pepper to taste

Combine all the ingredients and mix well.

Chill for at least two hours before serving. Serve plain or on a bed of lettuce. Serves 4-6

This delicious summertime salad is best when made in the morning and refrigerated until serving time.

For a quick and easy side dish that requires no cooking, slice some tomatoes and cucumbers to serve with cold tuna pasta salad.

Potato bread rolls or pumpernickel bread are suggested to round out the meal.

Serve Orange-Pineapple Salad for dessert.

ORANGE-PINEAPPLE SALAD

1-2 bananas, sliced
1 large can chunk pineapple, drained or 1 fresh pineapple, cut into chunks
1 large can mandarin oranges, drained
½ cup coconut
1 cup small marshmallows (optional)
½ cup vanilla yogurt (or plain yogurt mixed with some of the reserved fruit juices)

Combine all of the ingredients and toss with the yogurt dressing. Refrigerate until chilled.

ICE TEA WITH LEMON

4 cups or 1 quart water
3 to 4 tea bags
4 cups of lemonade

Pour water into glass or plastic container.

Hang tea bags inside container and place in refrigerator for several hours or overnight.

Remove bags, add lemonade. Stir to mix. Add ice cubes, and garnish glasses with a lemon slice if desired. Makes ½ gallon.

Ease into summer with salads

See Larry Janes' column Taste Buds on Taste front.

Here's an assortment of salads, tossed, composed and marinated. Most of them can function wonderfully as meal-in-one summer treats!

KIWI FRUIT AND TURKEY SALAD

2 cups cooked turkey, diced (chicken or ham can also be used)
1 cup cabbage, shredded
1 cup watercress or fresh spinach, chopped
½ cup walnuts, chopped
¼ cup green onion, sliced
¼ cup red pepper or radishes, sliced
3 kiwis, pared and sliced

Combine all salad ingredients except kiwis and cabbage. Toss. Arrange salad on cabbage on individual plates. Garnish with kiwis. Pour dressing over salads (see recipe below). Serves 6 to 8.

DRESSING

1 kiwi, pared and sliced
2 tablespoons wine vinegar
2 tablespoons vegetable oil
1 teaspoon minced fresh gingeroot
salt and pepper to taste

Place dressing ingredients in a blender or processor and process until smooth.

TOTEABLE LIME BEAN SALAD

1 (15 oz.) can red kidney beans, drained
1 (15 oz.) can garbanzo beans, drained
1 pound fresh or 1 package frozen green beans, cooked and drained
⅓ cup chopped green pepper
⅓ cup sliced green onion
⅓ cup sliced ripe pitted olives
⅓ cup salad oil
¼ cup lime juice
2 tablespoons vinegar
2 teaspoons sugar
dash salt and pepper
lettuce leaves and lime slices to garnish

In a large bowl combine beans, pepper, onion, and olives and toss gently. Combine remaining ingredients and shake to mix dressing. Pour over bean mixture and allow to marinate in the refrigerator at least three hours or overnight. Place lettuce leaves on a plate and place 1 heaping cup of the bean salad on the leaf. Garnish with lime slices. Serves 6-8. Salad tastes great with cheeses and cold cuts.

GREEK ROTINI SALAD

3 cups (9 oz.) rotini pasta, uncooked
2 tablespoons lemon juice
½ cup olive oil or vegetable oil
dash salt and pepper
¼ teaspoon dried oregano (½ teaspoon fresh)
1 clove garlic, crushed
2 tomatoes, cut into wedges
1 cucumber, peeled and thinly sliced
1 cup thinly sliced green pepper strips
1½ cups (6 oz.) feta cheese, crumbled
8 radishes, thinly sliced

Cook rotini pasta according to directions. Drain well. Cool. Combine lemon juice, oil, salt, pepper, oregano and garlic. Mix well Should be thick and creamy. Combine rotini pasta with remaining ingredients. Toss gently. Pour dressing over the top. Toss gently to coat. Serves 6-8.

APPLE AND WILTED LETTUCE SALAD

6 cups romaine lettuce, torn
4 cups leaf lettuce, torn
2 apples, cored and thinly sliced
½ cup sliced celery
6 slices bacon, fried until crisp (reserve drippings)
⅓ cup cider vinegar
¼ cup water
1 (6 oz.) package Italian salad dressing mix
2 teaspoons sugar
¼ cup sliced green onion

Place greens, apple and celery in a bowl. Toss to mix. Add vinegar, sugar, water and Italian dressing mix to bacon drippings. Bring to a boil. Pour over salad. Sprinkle with crumbled bacon and green onion, toss to coat. Enjoy. Serves 8.

Bread, desserts are strawberry delights

See related story on Taste front.

STRAWBERRY APPLESAUCE BREAD

3 cups applesauce
1 cup coarsely pureed strawberries
5 jumbo eggs
5½ cups cake flour
1¾ cups raisins
¼ cup melted butter
3 cups granulated sugar
1 tablespoon salt
1 tablespoon plus 1½ teaspoons baking soda
1 tablespoon ground cinnamon
1½ teaspoons ground cloves
¾ cup chopped pecans
1 tablespoon plus 1 teaspoon baking powder

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Combine all ingredients in the bowl of an electric mixer and stir with paddle — or by hand — just until all ingredients are combined thoroughly. Do not overmix.

Fill three buttered and floured 9-by-5-inch loaf pans a little over half full. Bake in preheated oven about 20 minutes, then quickly rotate pans in the oven to ensure even cooking. Bake another 20 minutes, or until toothpick inserted in the middle comes out clean.

Remove pans from the oven and transfer to a baking rack to cool. Turn loaves out of pans after 5 minutes, and continue cooling right side up. These freeze very well if wrapped tightly as soon as they are cold. (Makes three 9-by-5 inch loaves)

PEPPER-BERRY FOOL

2 pints strawberries
2 cups lemon yogurt
¼ to ½ teaspoon freshly ground pepper
½ cup heavy whipping cream, whipped until stiff

Reserve four of the prettiest strawberries for garnish. Hull and chop the remaining berries. In a medium bowl, use a fork to thoroughly crush 1 cup of the berries. Stir in the yogurt and pepper. Fold in whipped cream and remaining chopped berries. Spoon into four stemmed glasses; garnish each serving with a whole strawberry. Cover and refrigerate for at least three hours.

FRESH BERRY PIE

5-6 cups fresh blueberries, blackberries or strawberries, picked over
1 cup sugar, or to taste
3 tablespoons cornstarch
2-3 drops food coloring (optional)
1 (9-inch) conventionally baked pie crust
whipped cream

Place 2-3 cups berries in a food processor and puree. Transfer to 2-quart bowl, add sugar to taste and cornstarch, stir, and microwave on high 2-3 minutes, or until mixture reaches a boil. Stir and microwave on 70 percent power 5-7 minutes, or until thickened, stirring several times. Stir in food coloring, if desired. Cool fruit glaze to room temperature.

If using strawberries, halve or quarter remaining ones, if large. Spread about 1 cup glaze on bottom of pie crust and arrange remaining berries in shell. Spread remaining glaze over berries. Garnish generously with whipped cream. Serves 6-8.

"Microwave Cook's Complete Companion," Rosemary Dunn Stancil and Lorela Nichols Wilkins, $24.95, Fawcett Columbine, New York.

STRAWBERRIES ROMANOFF

1 quart fresh strawberries
3 tablespoons superfine sugar
2 large oranges
2 tablespoons Grand Marnier
2 tablespoons Cognac (optional)

Remove the stems from the strawberries and rinse them quickly under cold running water. Do not let them soak in a bowl of water or they will become waterlogged and tasteless. Dry the berries on paper towels, arrange them in a servig dish, and sprinkle them with the sugar.

Peel the oranges and cut between the membranes to remove the orange segments. Add the orange segments to the strawberries; squeeze the orange juice remaining in the pulp over the berries. Add the liqueurs, toss lightly, and serve well chilled. (serves 4)

Blend berries, lemon juice for quick cooler

AP — For a quick cooler, serve Strawberry Snackin' Slush. All you need are fresh strawberries, some sugar and the juice of one lemon.

STRAWBERRY SNACKIN' SLUSH

2 cups fresh strawberries
2 cups hot water
1¼ cup sugar
Juice of one lemon (about 3 tablespoons)

Wash and hull strawberries; place in a blender. Combine hot water and sugar; stir until sugar is dissolved. Add lemon juice. Pour juice mixture into blender jar; puree until smooth.

Pour mixture into six 8-ounce durable plastic cups or margarine containers. Do not use plastic cold cups because they are not strong enough. Freeze for one hour. Remove and break up mixture with a spoon until slushy. Return to freezer for 45 to 60 more minutes or until desired firmness is reached. Break up mixture with a spoon; serve immediately. Makes 6 servings.

Combine apples, new potatoes in refreshing salad

Refreshingly different: Combine apples, tender new potatoes and mint for refreshing change from the familiar potato-egg-mayonnaise salad.

Crisp fresh summer apples and tender new potatoes make a great salad pair, especially when sparked with tangy dressing. The combination is a refreshing change from the familiar potato-egg-mayonaise salad, and is the perfect go-with for cold cuts, barbecue, chicken or sandwiches.

Here are two apple-potato salads, both made with delicious crunchy sweet-tart summer Granny Smith apples just shipped from orchards in the Southern Hemisphere, where the seasons are reversed from ours. They are the freshest apples around.

In the summer months, these large beauties reach supermarkets in the U.S. just two to three weeks after being picked, arriving with bright green, naturally polished skins and abundant juicy white flesh. These apples stay white, too, when sliced or diced, so salads keep their fresh look longer. Although the U.S. produces Granny Smiths, any offered for sale now were harvested last fall and kept in storage.

These high quality summer Granny Smith apples are picked only when fully mature to develop firmness and their characteristic tangy taste. Their skins are naturally lustrous, never waxed, and serve to seal in the juice. What's more, they are a good source of fiber in the firm of pectin, and complex carbohydrates, providing 15 grams per 3½ ounces.

Minted Apple Potato Salad is unusually appealing on a warm day. Granny Smith apples and peas contribute cool green color, with yogurt, horseradish and mint adding flavor to the dressing.

Granny's Apple Potato Salad is a delicious main dish salad combining diced Granny Smith apples with strips of tender pink ham and potatoes in a flavorful dilled blue cheese dressing. Serve this on crisp greens with crusty bread for an easy lunch or supper when the temperature soars.

MINTED APPLE POTATO SALAD

2 Granny Smith apples, cored and diced
½ pound small, red potatoes, cooked, sliced ¼-inch thick
1 cup frozen peas, thawed, drained
1 cup plain yogurt
2 teaspoons prepared horseradish
1 teaspoon chopped fresh mint or ¼ teaspoon dried mint leaves
¼ teaspoon salt
lettuce leaves

In medium bowl combine apples, potatoes and peas. In small bowl combine yogurt, horseradish, mint and salt; mix well. Pour dressing over apple mixture; toss. Cover. Chill several hours. Serve on lettuce leaves. Yield 4 servings.

Srawberry lovers, don't miss the 16th annual National Strawberry Festival in beautiful Belleville, June 19, 20 and 21. The event has grown from a festival at St. Anthony Church to a city-wide event featuring food, rides, games, arts and crafts, and live bands. The Elias Brothers Big Boy strawberry pie has been selected as the official pie of the festival.

Each pie is filled with over 26 ounces of fresh, ripe strawberries piled three inches high in a nine-inch flaky, but firm pie crust, and covered with Big Boy's own semisweet glazing.

There will be five main festival sites. To get there, take I-275 south to I-94 west, exit at Haggerty Road, turn left onto Huron River Drive. This will take you to the main festival parking lot.

Plenty of free parking will be available throughout Belleville 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. on festival days with free shuttle bus service between sites. Nearly 125,000 people are expected to attend the festival, and consume five tons (10,000 pounds of fresh strawberries). For information, call the Chamber of Commerce Festival Hotline, 697-3137.

Did you know soft drinks and salad dressings are the leading sources of calories and fat in women's diets, according to the Continuing Survey of Food Intakes analyzed in a recent Journal of the American Dietetic Association.

Lots of people are counting calories, and cutting the fat in their diets. nearly six in 10 shoppers, (58 percent) say they've made major changes in their diets for health reasons in the past three years. Also, a majority (60 percent) believe it's easier to cook healthy foods now than three years ago.

These findings come from a 1992 study by Food Marketing Institute in cooperation with Prevention magazine. Diet changes generally fit into these categories — Switching from full-fat to low-fat products, such as skim milk, low-fat cheese and yogurt, white meat and low-fat mayonnaise.

CLARIFICATION

Use butter or margarine when you make the cake listed in the May 25 Winner Dinner recipe. Non-stick spray won't work. "The graham crackers absorb the butter," said Winner Dinner Winner Bonnie Goodrich. The corrected recipe is below.

CAKE

1 box graham crackers
2 packages instant French vanilla gelatin pudding
8 ounce carton Cool Whip
3 cups milk
Butter or margarine to grease pan

Rub the sides of a 9x13 pan with butter or margarine and line with whole graham crackers. Mix pudding with 3 cups of milk. Fold in Cool Whip. Put half of the pudding mixture on top of the graham crackers. Add another layer of crackers, the rest of the pudding mixture and then another layer of graham crackers. Spread frosting on top. Refrigerate overnight before serving. To make frosting combine, 1½ cups powdered sugar, 2 packs of Nestle chocobake, 1 tablespoon light Karo syrup, ¼ cup butter, and 2 tablespoons milk.

Good one: Dillon Fence — Scott Carle, Chris Goode, Kent Alphin and Greg Humphreys — have come out with a sterling debut release in "Rosemary."

Dillon Fence puts pop in music

All Dillon Fence wanted to do was come out with a guitar pop album. They succeeded in doing that with their latest release, "Rosemary." But even so, the North Carolina band is faced with the fact that their music isn't getting played on the radio.

BY LARRY O'CONNOR
STAFF WRITER

As Squeeze, XTC and, of late, Matthew Sweet continue to prove, pop in its purest and most joyful form triumphs over the arcane debate whether its AOR or alternative. Dillon Fence makes such labeling insignificant.

The Chapel Hill, N.C., foursome perform a shimmering brand of guitar pop, using the broadest strokes and the simplest melodies that need no classification.

"It's alternative in the sense it's not getting played on the radio," said vocalist and guitarist Greg Humphreys with a laugh.

Dillon Fence achieves this accessible, all-encompassing platform by not sounding the least generic. And they certainly don't sound like a jangly guitar R.E.M. derivative despite being from the Southeast region.

An intensity bores through on the outfit's 11-song debut "Rosemary" on Mammoth Records that solders each number to their armor of impenetrable pop convictions.

Ron St. Germain produced "Rosemary," helping cultivate a collaboration of Scott Carle, Chris Goode, Kent Alphin and Humphreys into a sterling debut release. Humphreys credits the producer of such renowned outfits as U2, The Cure and Mick Jagger for getting the best out of the band in the studio.

The good songs were already there, eliciting a wide variety of comparisons from '80s British pop bands like Style Council and Aztec Camera to the flourishing soul of Marvin Gaye.

For Humphreys, songwriting is an arduous process. He sits down with an acoustic guitar and bangs out a core of a number on a four-track. From there, it's dissected and rebuilt to perfection in the studio.

But what makes a good number?

"I think it's when the melody meets the lyric," Humphreys said. "When the lyrics are honest and hit the listener and they can feel what the song is about . . . it sounds so simple but it's really difficult."

Many of Dillon Fence songs are about perhaps the non-simplest emotion of all — love. Theirs is not bitter recants of relationships gone sour. Rather, Dillon Fence focuses on the often vulnerable state in which love leaves us.

Revealed in the hook-ridden "I'll Wait": "Sometimes I get a little impatient/Sometimes I get a little frustrated/Go away and use that phone/'cause I'll be sitting right here alone."

Or as further explored in the guitar-driven melancholy "I Will Break": "My side hurts every step, but I just can't accept/You don't love me — you don't love me."

Against furor of the guitar and bass interplay, though, such pain is almost betrayed in a cathartic, triumphant way.

Dillon Fence was formed by the most natural inspirations. The success of bands such as the dB's and Mitch Easter's group Let's Active led Humphreys met Alphin to put Dillon Fence together while students at the University of North Carolina.

Crowds in the Southwest immediately took to Dillon Fence, reflected in the 8,000 sales of their self-produced EP and the subsequent 20,000 copies of "Rosemary" being gobbled up.

"We just wanted to make a guitar pop album," Humphreys said.

And, quite simply, they did.

Dillon Fence will perform open for Flat Duo Jets Friday, June 12, at Blind Pig, 208 S. First, Ann Arbor. For information, call 996-8555.

Bleeding's pit stop is 'Penetration' LP

BY LARRY O'CONNOR
STAFF WRITER

Paul Lemos of the underground industrial outfit Controlled Bleeding says the band's latest LP is not a sign on the road of things to come but merely a pit stop.

"Penetration," the outfit's latest on Third Mind, came about as a result of several fragmented ideas Lemos collected and recorded informally in his home. When Lemos took them into a 24-track studio with creative collaborator Chris Moriarity, he found the numbers suddenly took on a life of their own.

The release isn't reflective of a particular direction the outfit is headed in the future.

"It really depends on the general feeling at the time," said Lemos about the process of making records. "All of our records are very personal. It depends on how angry we are . . . or happy we are will depend on what mood the records will take."

For that reason, Controlled Bleeding has never been one easy to gauge. Previous releases spanning back to their 1983 debut "Knees and Bones" have ranged from pri-

Parents take heed; Kids get obnoxious in really sweet way

JILL HAMILTON

Kids 10 and under are in a bit of a quandary — they want to assert their independence but aren't quite sure how.

They know that one good way is to annoy their parents. From the first time they discover the many wonderful uses of the word "No!" at age two, kids grasp the awesome powers of refusing to do what their parents want.

The no tactic works well for a few years. It's very effective in forcing parents to realize that their cute little baby is developing a personality — quite possibly a trait they're not yet sure they're going to like.

But saying no gets old after awhile. The independence-minded kids need to develop more and better tactics to get under mommy and daddy's skin.

For the 10 and under crowd, two very effective tactics — getting a rad haircut and wearing tough-looking clothing — are out. Between allowances and tooth fairy earnings, the single-digit age group simply doesn't have the cash to get these symbols of independence.

So, it has to be something they can afford. In a word, candy.

And it works. Actual parents have formed committees to fight the insidious threat of kids buying certain candies, like "Garbage Pail Kids" trading cards. Presumably, the idea is that buying one "Atomic Fire Ball" is the first step on the road to debauchery. A kid eating "Tear Jerkers" will be well on his or her way to living in a moving box, babbling incoherently to invisible friends.

Is this a real problem or do some parents just need to get a hobby?

In the interest of investigative reporting, we had to find out. We scoured local mom and pop stores, searching for the best examples of parentally incorrect candy. Here's what we found:

"Cry Baby"/"Extra Sour Tear Jerkers"/"Sour FX": These little candies are the Holy Trinity of the obnoxious candy world. Eating them in front of peers is sort of a rite of passage in the elementary school set. The test is whether or not a child can actually eat the candy.

All of these are coated with a vile, sour tasting substance on the outside. If the kid can make it though the yucky outside into the sugary jaw breaker or gum inside, he or she is cool.

A taste test revealed that, indeed, eating this candy is a true test or courage. The outside has a taste akin to bathroom scouring powder. The fact that kids eat this stuff anyway is a tribute to their fortitude in the quest to annoy Mom and Dad.

Parental annoyance factor: High.

Typical parental comment: "Is that stuff safe?"

"The Real Ghostbusters Slimer Bubble Gum": It comes in a toothpaste tube and is the the color of bright green fluorescent toxic waste. For some kids, it's the only green thing they'll volunteer to eat. The slime has the consistency of ultra-sugary, watered-down cookie dough.

A taste test revealed that grown-ups don't have the right jaw power to compact the slime into actual gum.

Parental annoyance factor: High due to an extremely elevated gross-out quotient.

Typical parental comment: "Don't get that stuff on the couch!"

Garbage candy: This product is made in China, is simply labeled "candy" and comes in a tiny blue garbage can. The little tangy candies are shaped like garbage can delicacies like meat bones, fish scales and empty soup cans. Yum.

A taste test revealed that, shape aside, these aren't too bad and the garbage can can be used as a handy storage container.

Parental annoyance factor: Medium due to easily concealed size.

Typical parental comment: "Now, why would you want to put something like that in your mouth?"

Thumb candy: This candy consists of a plastic ring mounted with a life-size edible thumb, complete with lines and fingernail.

If you're Caucasian, the thumb is the color of your skin, so it's like sucking your own thumb. If you're African American, native American, Asian, etc., the thumb is the color of someone else's thumb. (Perhaps, you could pretend it's George Bush's thumb.)

A taste test revealed that the candy has a mild cherry flavor although the concept of eating a body part was difficult to get over.

Parental annoyance factor: High due to fears about infantile behavior.

Typical parental comment: (overheard) "Hon, do you think we should talk to the doctor about Junior's oral fixation?"

Nose candy: This tiny, pellet-like candy is dispensed from the nostrils of a 3-inch tall plastic nose. The idea is that they're boogers. When eating these, it is proper to call over a friend and say, "Hey look, I'm eating boogers!" Supposedly, hilarity ensues.

A taste test revealed that these aren't so bad tasting and not at-all like real boogers (or so we assume).

Parental annoyance factor: Medium to high. Parents are usually relieved that Junior has switched to fake boogers.

Typical parental comment: "So this is why you didn't eat the delicious egg salad sandwich I made for you."

'Patriot Games': It's an edge-of-your-seat thriller

TICKETS PLEASE

JOHN MONAGHAN

Most espionage thrillers are so busy advancing their sophisticated plots that they forget how to have fun. "Patriot Games," starring Harrison Ford in the latest adaptation of a Tom Clancy novel, doesn't have that problem at all.

It starts with a bang. Jack Ryan, a retired CIA analyst and teacher, soaks up the London sights with his family in between speaking engagements. When he spots a small battalion of ski-masked terrorists attacking a car, he runs blindly into the scene, disarms one of the bad guys and shoots another stone cold dead.

Although lauded as a hero on both continents, Ryan now becomes the target of a surviving terrorist desperate to avenge the death of his baby brother. When Ryan's family is threatened, he joins up with American intelligence and methodically tracks down his pursuer.

While it does offer an appropriately sicko villain, "Patriot Games" is more than just your simple revenge tale. For one thing, it takes you behind the closed doors of the CIA, where computer screens wage the war against terrorism.

In one memorable scene, Ryan joins his colleagues to watch the heat-sensitive blips (taken from a spy satellite) invade a terrorist installation in the North African desert. Ryan can barely hide his disgust as the event is treated like a football game.

This obvious humanity makes Ryan a memorable hero. No sadistic glee or smart remarks play across his lips the way they do when James Bond, Steven Segal, or Clint Eastwood dispatch their adversaries.

Ryan, despite his military training, is like Cary Grant in "North By Northwest," caught in a web of intrigue purely by circumstance. And like the classic Hitchcock thriller, "Patriot Games" strings together a series of gripping suspense scenes en route to an edge-of-your-seat climax.

A paranoid Ryan walks alone from classes towards his car, perhaps followed by a clean-cut man in an Annapolis sweatshirt. He glances behind him through the mirrored window while a mysterious-looking jeep creeps up on him from the street.

Much of this excitement is generated by director Phillip Noyce, best known for his Australian-based thriller "Dead Calm." He knows exactly how to manipulate an audience and also create memorable, sometimes beautiful images along the way. He shoots here in wide screen.

Harrison Ford (reprising the role played by Alec Baldwin in "The Hunt For Red October") remains more a movie star than an actor. You feel comfortable with him on screen.

You feel that same familiarity with Anne Archer, who returns for the umpteenth time as the suffering wife to some dynamic male lead. At least here she gets to drive a Porsche that she probably bought on her own salary as a surgeon.

Look closely during the CIA scenes and you'll spot former Detroiter Ted Raimi ("Lunatics," "Evil Dead II"). He makes the most of his few minutes on screen.

Although similar Clancy characters will lead some to call it a sequel, this thriller remains wonderfully original. "Patriot Games" is shaping up to be one of the summer's best.

SCREEN SCENE

■ HENRY FORD CENTENNIAL LIBRARY
16301 Michigan Ave., Dearborn. Call 943-2037 for information. (Free)

"Face to Face" (1952), 7 p.m. June 8. James Mason and Robert Preston star in film adaptions of two classic stories — Joseph Conrad's "The Secret Sharer" and Stephen Crane's "The Bride Comes to Yellow Sky."

■ MAGIC BAG THEATRE CAFE
22918 Woodward Ave., Ferndale. Call 544-3030 for information.

"Rhapsody in August" (Japan — 1992), 8 p.m. June 8-10. Akira Kurosawa's most recent work, about a grandmother haunted by images of the atomic bomb blast at Nagasaki. When a rich Japanese-American nephew (Richard Gere) urges her to visit Hawaii, she is leery to make the trip. ($4)

"Until the End of the World" (USA — 1992), 8 p.m. June 12. Wim Wender's latest is a difficult but worthwhile odyssey through the human spirit. It's 1999, and despite warnings of nuclear destruction on the horizon, a pair of lovers trek through several different countries on an endless search for truth. William Hurt stars. ($4)

"Psychomania" (Britain — 1971) hosted by The Ghoul, 7:30 and 10 p.m. June 13. In this bizarre horror film, a motorcycle gang makes a pact with the devil to remain immortal. Each attempts a grizzly suicide only to rise (or in some case ride) from the grave. Special live appearance by The Ghoul, the popular UHF horror movie host from the 1970s and early '80s. ($6)

■ MAIN THEATRE
118 N. Main, Royal Oak. Call 542-0180 for show times. ($5; $3 children and senior citizens)

"Daughters of the Dust" (USA — 1991). Set at the turn of the century, this first feature by director Julie Dash focuses on a group of women who reside on an island between South Carolina and Georgia. Although the film doesn't follow the usual rules of narrative, it's full of beautiful imagery.

■ MAPLE THEATRE
4135 W. Maple, Bloomfield. Call 855-9090 for information. ($5.50; $3.75 twilight)

"Howard's End" (Britain — 1992). A romantic tale of two families and the inheritance of a beloved ancestral home. In the tradition of "A Room With a View," the producer/director team of Ismail Merchant and James Ivory turn to another E.M. Forster novel with completely winning results.

■ MICHIGAN THEATRE
603 E. Liberty, Ann Arbor. Call 668-8397 for information. ($5; $4 students and senior citizens)

"Hear My Song" (Ireland — 1991), 7:15 p.m. June 8. In this charming Irish film, a London concert promoter tries to lure a famous Irish tenor (Ned Beatty) back to the stage.

"Toto Le Heros" (France — 1991), through June 17 (call for show times). In this brilliant new film from France, a man is convinced that he was switched at birth with another baby. He feels cheated of everything from wealth to education to true love.

"Where Angels Fear to Tread" (Britain — 1991), through June 11 (call for show times). Another E.M. Forster adaptation, this time starring Helen Mirren as a free-spirited British widow who is packed off to Italy to (hopefully) keep her out of mischief.

mal rage to almost classical in nature.

On "Penetration," which was co-produced by Bryan Martin of Swans fame, Lemos and his cohorts take the listener on an ungilded excursion into industrial-induced dementia.

Controlled Bleeding experience is hardly a soothing one. Their venom, frustration and glee is also the listener's to sort through.

What has served as their catalyst, rage or what has been termed "emotional vomit" in the past, has never been tenable for even them to work with. Lemos and Moriarty formed Skin Chamber as a side project to serve as an extention for their anger.

Such even spills into the creative collaboration between Lemos and Moriarity.

"We're friends, but when we work together there's a volatility an explosion that occurs," Lemos said. "I think it made some of our earlier albums too varied, too schizophrenic."

Skin Chamber has resolved some of that, leaving Lemos and Moriarty to explore more organic elements of industrial music. Ensuing LPs have been more focused, albeit diverse in content.

The transformation began to take root after Controlled Bleeding released two EPs "Grinding Wall" and "Fodder Song" and one LP "Trudge"on Chicago-based Wax Trax! The band left the renowned industrial label and released the gothic sounding "Golgotha."

"Penetration," in a sense, is back to basics LP unearthing industrial music's most brooding potential without derivative multi-beat state the genre has digressed into.

"I find it sad," Lemos said about the state of industrial music as a whole. "I find it lifeless. It's a generic type of sound that keeps getting watered down. When everyone in the neighborhood is going out and forming an industrial band, it's time to move onto other things."

"Penetration" is available on Third Mind Record, 225 Lafayette St., Suite 407, New York, N.Y. 10012

Salem grad is softball MVP

University of Detroit-Mercy's Denice Tackett, a senior from Plymouth (Salem), was named most valuable player in the Midwestern Collegiate Conference's softball tournament.

The Lady Titans won the title for the fourth time, winning three-straight games: 3-1 over Loyola, and 2-1 and 5-0 over Notre Dame.

Tackett, a first baseman, was 4-of-9 at the plate in the tournament, driving in three runs. She was also named to the all-MCC first team after leading the conference in batting (a .371 average) and runs batted in per game (0.76; 26 total). She totaled one home run, six doubles and three triples.

Chiefs put 5 on district team

The Plymouth Canton softball team is well represented on the 1992 all-district honor roll.

The Chiefs, who won league and district championships and tried to add a regional title Saturday, put five players on the team and Jim Arnold was named Coach of the Year.

"It's an honor but it's all due to the kids," said Arnold, who guided the Chiefs to a 29-3 record through the district tournament. "All I can do is teach them the game. You can say I owe it to them — and that's true."

The Canton representatives are junior pitcher Kelly Holmes, senior first baseman Julie Nicastri, junior second baseman Kate Strahan, junior shortstop Dani Mortiere and senior outfielder Sarah Schimmelpfenneg.

Going into the regional tournament, Holmes was 20-2 with a 0.21 earned run average and 250 strikeouts. As of last week, she had 598 strikeouts in three years as a varsity pitcher.

Mortiere was leading the Chiefs with a pre-regional batting average of .414. Schimmelpfenneg was hitting .359, Nicastri .359 and Strahan .328.

Senior third baseman Nicole Sequin, senior catcher Renee Dory and senior outfielder Holly Miller received honorable mentions.

Gundry top district player

Plymouth Salem senior shortstop Ed Gundry was selected the top player in the Michigan High School Baseball Coaches Association all-district balloting last week.

Gundry, one of four Salem players on the team, hit .509 with four doubles, three triples and five home runs. He also had 19 RBI.

The other Rocks to be honored were pitcher Chris Tomas, outfielders Dan Hutchinson and Curt Singleton and second baseman Bryan Danek.

Tomas posted a 7-1 record. Hutchinson hit .368 and had 16 RBI, Singleton batted .367 and Danek had a .315 average and only two errors in 78 fielding chances.

Plymouth Canton junior first baseman Mike Stafford (.385) also was named to the all-district team as were Westland John Glenn pitcher Aaron Scheffer and outfielder John Ward.

Gundry, who signed with Eastern Michigan University, also was chosen to play for the North team in the upcoming Junior Olympic Festival in Idaho. He could be one of 18 selected to play for the United States in international competition later in the summer.

Redford Catholic Central's Scott Kapla (Canton), Dan Gusoff and Brian Hicks were named to the All-Catholic baseball squad. CC's Paul Kuhn earned All-Central Division honors.

Salem, the 1991 Class A champion, was eliminated in the district tournament and finished the season with a 15-10-2 record. The top-ranked Shamrocks, champions of the Catholic League, were 24-3 as of Saturday entering the regional tournament at Temperance Bedford.

CC alum named best golfer

Mark Stephens, a Redford Catholic Central graduate, was honored as most valuable performer for Saginaw Valley State's golf team. A sophomore, Stephens capped an outstanding season by finishing first in the Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Conference Tournament.

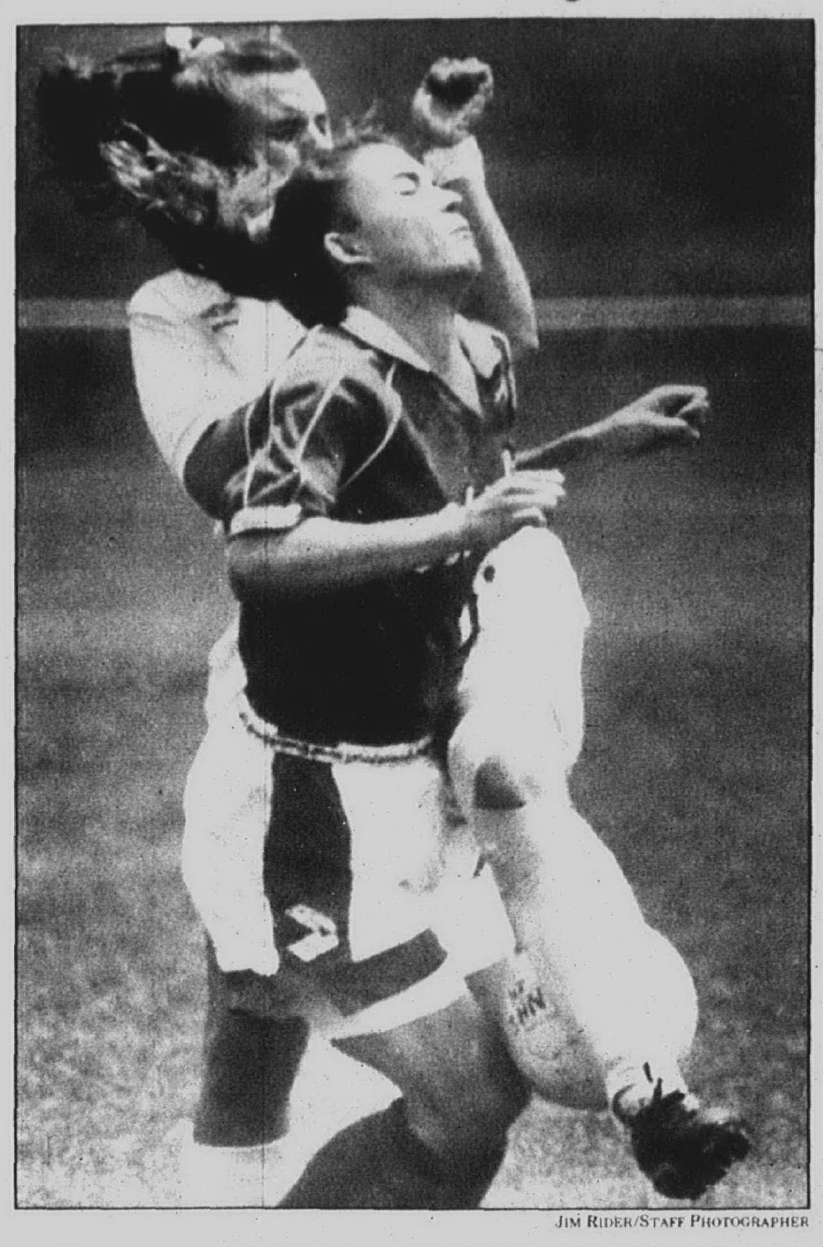
His play throughout the season — based on scores in five tournaments — earned him a spot on the all-GLIAC team. Stephens averaged 77.8 strokes per 18-hole tournament.

Plymouth golfer makes cut

Kelly Nagy of Plymouth qualified Friday for the United States Golf Association Women's Amateur Public Links national championships June 24-28 at Haggin Oaks Golf Course in Sacramento, Calif.

Nagy shot 82 at Indian River Country Club in Indian River and became one of 15 women from Michigan to qualify for the finals. Approximately 200 golfers attempted to qualify at three sites in Michigan, including 100 at Indian River.

Chiefs' only loss comes in final



JIM RIDER/STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

Collision course: Canton's Amy Westerhold and Adams' Tracey Steel run into each other while going to the ball Saturday.

Jeannine Augustin's goal five minutes into the game Saturday proved the difference as Rochester Adams emerged as the state's top Class A girls soccer team with a 1-0 victory over Plymouth Canton.

BY C.J. RISAK
STAFF WRITER

The difference in the game was obvious — painfully obvious, to Plymouth Canton people.

Rochester Adams dominated play in the first half of Saturday's Class A soccer final, played at Northville High School.

Canton controlled the second.

The above-mentioned difference was bluntly pointed out by Chiefs' coach Don Smith: "We didn't put one home."

Adams did, and made it stand up through nearly 75 minutes of challenges to capture the crown with a 1-0 triumph.

The loss was Canton's first of the season; the Chiefs finish their season with an 18-1-2 record. The Highlanders conclude with a 20-2-1 mark.

"We came out and played hard," summed up Adams coach Tony Williams. "From the get-go, we were ready."

No arguing with that. Perhaps the Chiefs weren't expecting that kind of aggressiveness from such a young (only two seniors) opponent. But throughout the first half, the Highlanders provided it.

The game's only goal — the one that would ultimately lead to Canton's defeat — came just 5:25 into the game. It was also, according to Smith, "The only bad goal (keeper Jori Welchans) has given up this season." For that matter, it was just the 10th Welchans has surrendered this year.

Kara Nance started the play, lining a corner kick from the left sideline into the middle of the box. Welchans got her hands on the ball, but lost it. Adams' Jeannine Augustin pounced on the loose ball and poked it into the net.

"I think our defenders were caught by surprise when she dropped it," said Smith.

The Chiefs looked to be surprised by the Highlanders throughout the half. Canton, after all, was the state's top-ranked team, the winner of the always-powerful Western Lakes Activities Association (producer of seven of the previous nine state soccer champions).

But with Nance thoroughly dominating the midfield, Adams seemed unbeatable during the first 40 minutes. "They were better than us in the first half," conceded Smith. "They were quicker to the ball."

Indeed, the Chiefs were fortunate to be trailing just 1-0 at the break. Welchans was tested at least twice more, once by Nance after she gained control at midfield and dribbled through Canton's defense to hammer a shot from 20 yards out that the Canton keeper managed to tip over the crossbar.

The next chance came from McKenzie Webster with 13:15 left in the half. Her shot from 10 yards out forced Welchans to make a diving stop. Then, late in the half, Webster had another shot that went just over Welchans' outstretched hands, but missed the net.

"We were winning the air balls," said Williams of his team's first-half performance. "Once you let them bounce, you're in trouble.

"This is a young team, but they step up and take charge."

Canton came out attacking in the second half. The Chiefs were trying to overcome the loss of two key forwards,

Canton claims regional softball crown, 9-3

BY DAN O'MEARA
STAFF WRITER

Despite its success this year, Plymouth Canton had the reputation for being a slow-starting softball team as far as offensive production.

That changed Saturday when the Chiefs hit the ball early in two regional games and claimed their first such championship with a 9-3 victory over Trenton at Temperance Bedford.

Canton (31-3) will play Flint Kearsley in a Class A semifinal game 10:30 a.m. Friday at Battle Creek's Bailey Park. The final will be played at the same time and site Saturday.

"It's nice to have a team start early for a change," said Canton coach Jim Arnold after watching the Chiefs pound 12 hits in support of pitcher Kelly Holmes in the final.

"The last couple of weeks we've been jumping on teams in the first or second inning, and we still come alive in the fourth. We're starting to put together a total offensive package for the entire game."

Trenton (25-14), which upset Garden City 4-3 in the first round, had seven hits off Holmes but most came late in the game with the Chiefs ahead 8-0.

The Trojans helped Canton with seven errors, three coming in the second inning when the Chiefs scored four times.

"Our whole problem has been catching the ball, and it showed here in this game," Trenton coach John Biedenbach said. "They put the ball in play and made us make mistakes.

"We've had teams that could hit the ball and didn't have the pitcher. Now we have the pitching staff and can't catch the ball."

The Chiefs also had three hits in the second inning, the big one being a two-run single by Julie Nicastri. Sara Rowe singled home another run and scored on an error.

Canton's Nicole Sequin went 3-for-3, Nicastri had two hits and seven others had one apiece. Trenton sophomore pitcher Candy Babyak was the loser.

"Everybody in the lineup has done something great this year," Holmes said. "Like Julie, who had a tough time batting against Churchill and stepped up against Trenton. Somebody is always coming up with the big hit."

Canton's other runs scored on a bases-loaded walk to Holly Miller, RBI singles by Sequin and Laura Cintar and a pair of outfield errors following base hits by Sequin and Miller.

Holmes, who struck out nine and walked two, was cruising on a two-hitter until the sixth when Trenton scored three times on four hits and a walk.

Chrissy Toth ripped a run-scoring double, and Kristin Jagmin and Christy Sadowski had RBI singles. The Trojans left two runners stranded in the seventh.

"I think they just got their timing down after a couple innings," said Holmes (22-2), who has 618 strikeouts and 52 wins in her career. "I probably should have thrown more change-ups.

"We knew we would probably run into some trouble, because we saw them against Garden City and thought sooner or later they would start to hit."

The next stop is the semifinals and a game with Kearsley, which eliminated defending state champion Waterford Kettering 8-3 Saturday.

"I expect to see teams as good as we are or better," Arnold said. "We just have to attack them and do what we've been doing all year — having fun. (The Canton players) get the job done but they have fun, too. They've taught me a lot about coaching this year."

Madonna adds recruits to baseball team

BY C.J. RISAK
STAFF WRITER

There's a bit of rebuilding to do for Madonna University's baseball team, and coach Mike George has wasted no time tackling that task.

Some of the notable losses are pitchers Mike Hocking and all-NAIA District selection Chris Kloc; first baseman Ernie Bowling, a two-time all-district pick; shortstop Jeremy Krol; and part-time center fielder starter Kevin Learned. All have completed their eligibility.

But there's something else George would like to lose — the poor attitude that infested certain members of the team the last half of the '92 campaign, during which the Crusaders slipped from 21-6 to a final 29-22, going 8-16 over the final three weeks.

"We're going to have a wholesale attitude change," promised George.

He embarked on that mission by signing players possessing what he believes to be "fierce, competitive attitudes." Already committed to Madonna are Alpena natives Chad Zann, a pitcher/first baseman and Tim Kasovbowski, a second baseman.

Steve Zann, a catcher and Chad's older brother, is expected to transfer from Central Michigan with three years of eligibility remaining starting next season.

George added three more to his list of recruits last week when he got commitments from Rob Valentino, a pitcher/outfielder from Dearborn Divine Child; Craig Peterson, a pitcher/outfielder from Milford; and Craig Overaitis, an outfielder from Livonia Franklin and Henry Ford Community College.

Of his two new pitchers, George said: "They've both got size, both are athletes. They're going to make an impact."

Valentino comes with star-quality talent. The 6-foot-3, 185-pound right-hander was 8-1 for the Falcons entering Saturday's district play.

"He'll go both ways for us," said George, insisting Valentino — also an outstanding basketball player — could play in the field when not pitching. "He's a very, very intense kid. He's a fastball pitcher and he's got a good overhand curve."

His coach at Divine Child, Mark Falvo, also serves as pitching coach for Madonna. George said Falvo would work with Valentino on a split-finger fastball and a change-up.

Peterson is not only identical in size to Valentino, but his other attributes are mirror-like, too. He was 7-1 for Milford this season and, according to George, is "totally committed to the game. He's going to do what it takes to win." Peterson is a "relatively hard thrower" with good control.

Overaitis, a 5-10, 185-pound left-handed hitter, will have two years of eligibility left. George is hoping he can help replace departing slugger Bowling. "He's got some power," the Crusader coach said of Overaitis. "He's got some pop in his bat."

Last season, Overaitis hit six homers in 46 games for Henry Ford CC. He batted .437 with 29 runs batted in. "We've got to do something to replace Ernie," said George. "I don't know if we can, but we'll try."

New mound recruits Valentino, Peterson and Zann, combined with redshirt freshman Mike Grahl and returnees Dennis Hamilton, Jeff Kugelman and Lou McKaig should provide George with a solid corps of starters. "As far as pitching goes, we're in good shape," he said.

If he can replace Bowling's bat and infuse his team with a tough-to-the-finish attitude, the Crusaders may make more than a token, one-day appearance in the 1993 District 23 tournament.

Shamrocks tumble in loss to Rockets

BY BRAD EMONS
STAFF WRITER

Talk about reversal of fortunes.

It was only late April when Westland John Glenn's baseball team was mired in a slump and off to an uncharacteristic 2-6 start.

But on Saturday the Rockets came full orbit, knocking off No. 1-ranked Redford Catholic Central, 5-4, and Lincoln Park, 2-1, to win the Class A regional title at Temperance-Bedford.

Glenn, now 17-7 overall, returns to the state semifinals Friday at Battle Creek's Bailey Park. The Rockets, who have won 13 of their last 14 games, will take on Port Huron regional champ Lapeer West. (Game time is 1 p.m.)

It's Glenn's second trip to the state semifinals. The Rockets were beaten in 1986 semis by Birmingham Brother Rice, 1-0.

"I always thought we had a shot getting here," Glenn coach Norm Hoenes said. "But early in the season we could not pick up a ground ball. Now, when somebody makes an error, it's OK because we're not making five or six."

Hoenes, with the help of sophomore defensive whiz Derek Besco at shortstop, a late-season call-up from the JV squad, appears to have all the pieces of the puzzle in place.

The Rockets made only one error on the day in 14 innings.

Defensive turnaround

"It's been fielding and defense, and now we have confidence in each other," said junior right-hander Aaron Scheffer, who beat CC on a four-hitter and ran his personal record to 6-4 after an 0-3 season start.

"We're a lot better defensively now, everyone seems to be hitting the ball, and we're closer as a team," said senior center fielder John Ward, whose two-run homer off CC ace Scott Kapla in the fifth inning provided the final margin of victory.

Now in his 27th season as Glenn's varsity coach, Hoenes may well savor the semifinal victory over CC for quite some time.

"I remember when we were ranked No. 1 in the state back in '87 and CC came in and knocked us off in the district at Garden City Park," Hoenes said of the 9-8 defeat. "I remember the reverse feeling, so we said to ourselves, 'Why can't we do the same to them this time?' It meant a lot to us because CC is an excellent ballclub and if you beat them it means you're doing OK."

The Shamrocks found themselves down 3-0 after the top of the first when the Eastern Michigan University-bound Kapla, who was drafted Wednesday by the Detroit Tigers (in the 42nd round), got into a jam after walking three of Glenn's first five hitters.

With two out, Glenn's Jamie Murphy beat out a routine grounder, scoring Scheffer, and sophomore Mike Bint made CC pay for its mental mistake when he delivered a two-run single.

"It hurts when you're down 3-0, plus I think it gave them (Glenn) some confidence," Catholic Central coach John Salter said. "Kapla was a little wild, but we had the groundout.

"He threw 82 pitches in the first four innings and that's more than normal."

Ward delivers

Kapla did not survive the fifth after Ward's two-run homer. Reliever Dan Gusoff came on and blanked Glenn over the final three innings, but the damage had been done.

Scheffer, meanwhile, cruised through the first four innings before suffering a wild spell of his own in the bottom of the fifth.

He walked three batters and hit two more. CC pushed across four runs with the benefit of only one hit, an infield single by Brian Justice. (Kapla collected CC's other three hits.)

But somehow, some way, Scheffer regrouped and kept CC off the board the rest of the way. He got DH Aaron Rumberger to line out to Besco at short, stranding Kapla on second base, to end the game.

"We hit two balls hard (in the fifth) with the bases loaded and could have tied it up," said Salter, whose team is 23-4 overall. "The kid (Scheffer) pitched a good game. He hung in there."

Glenn's one-run win over Lincoln Park (20-5) was somewhat anticlimactic, but just as important.

Kirkey wins nightcap

Senior right-hander Chris Kirkey ran his record to 6-0 by holding the Railsplitters to just two hits and three walks in going the distance.

"Kirkey's pitched well all year," Hoenes said. "He's not as flashy as Aaron, but he's always around the plate. And if they hit the ball off him, it's usually not too hard. And he doesn't lose his composure."

Glenn got a run off Lincoln Park lefty Jeff Muntean in the first when Besco's infield single scored Tamas.

Lincoln Park responded with a run in the third, but Kirkey helped his own cause when he picked off Jason Maher at second base.

"We've practiced that play all year, but this is the first time it's worked," Hoenes said.

The Rockets tallied what proved to be the game-winner in the fourth on Tamas' RBI sacrifice fly. Ward, Besco and catcher Martin Potter each contributed two hits as the Rockets outhit Lincoln Park 8-2.

Kirkey, bolstered by the solid infield play of Tamas (third base), Besco (shortstop), Scheffer (second base) and Tayo Farley (first), retired the final 10 Lincoln Park hitters in order.

"Once we brought the 10th-grader (Besco) up, everything fell into place," Hoenes said. "It's solidified our infield and we've been on a roll ever since."

Chiefs halt Chargers in softball regional

BY DAN O'MEARA
STAFF WRITER

As it turned out, Plymouth Canton coach Jim Arnold had nothing to worry about Saturday in the first game of the Class A regional softball tournament at Temperance Bedford.

With junior Kelly Holmes pitching and her teammates providing timely hits, the Chiefs defeated Livonia Churchill for a third time this season, 7-1.

Canton (31-3) later claimed the championship with a 9-3 victory over Trenton and will play Flint Kearsley in a state semifinal game at 10:30 a.m. Friday in Battle Creek.

"To be honest, they scared me," said Arnold of the Chargers (17-6). "We had beaten them twice and the kids might say 'It's a piece of cake' and be overconfident.

"But they assured me they would play some good ball — and they did."

Holmes tossed her sixth one-hitter of the season and struck out 11 and her teammates supported her pitching with nine hits. Holmes issued four walks.

Sophomore Karen Jose pitched for Churchill, striking out six and walking three. The Chargers lost 5-0 and 8-6 to Canton in the regular season.

"I was actually pleased that we got the bat on the ball better than the last two times we faced Kelly," Churchill coach Dana Hardwidge said. "We just didn't find the holes.

"I was impressed with their hitting today. They had hits when they needed them and we didn't."

Dani Mortiere and Sara Rowe had two hits apiece for Canton. Stacey Fields had the lone hit for the Chargers, a run-scoring single. In three appearances, Churchill slugger Vicki Lucas had a flyout, strikeout and groundout.

The Chiefs got started early, scoring twice in the first inning on Sarah Schimmelpfenneg's RBI single and Nicole Sequin's RBI groundout.

"When we jumped out in the first inning, I knew we were going to be OK," Arnold said. "We usually don't get started until later. I said 'Man, we're not even to the fourth inning. We're going to be all right.'"

Fields made it 2-1 in the fourth, but Canton answered with Holly Miller's two-out, two-run single in the bottom of the inning. The Chiefs added three runs in the sixth. Rowe delivered another two-run single with two outs and scored on Mortiere's triple.

"Two times we had two outs and came through with some hits," Arnold said. "It's been that way all year. It doesn't mater if there's one out or two, we're going to attack the ball."

Churchill loaded the bases in the seventh on two Canton errors and a fielder's choice that failed to get anybody out. Holmes gave up an RBI walk to Kelly Szymanski before getting the third out.

"We had runners out there and couldn't get the hits," Hardwidge said. "By that time we were behind by quite a bit and had to be conservative."

"I'm really proud of this team. We've come further this year than we could have guessed."

Britta Anderson (injured knee) and Colleen Connell (mononucleosis), which hurt their efforts.

"I was subbing with two ninth-graders," said Smith afterward. "That's no excuse. We had enough players."

Canton could have used Anderson's size and Connell's scoring ability (10 goals, seven assists), however. The Chiefs did get their chances in the last 40 minutes, the best on head balls. With 35:00 left, a corner kick from Alyson Noune reached Kelly Reeves, but Reeves header went over the bar.

With 23:00 to play, a free kick from Noune got to Leah Hutko, but Hutko also misdirected the header over the net. She got another chance with 10:30 left, after Noune passed to Mandy Salin, who centered it to Hutko for a header. Again, it missed the target.

That gave Adams' sophomore keeper Katie Roek a shutout, the 14th her team's had this season. And it gave the Highlanders something else that eluded them in 1990, when they lost 2-1 to Livonia Stevenson in the Class A final — it gave them bragging rights as the state's best.

30633 SCHOOLCRAFT (BETWEEN MERRIMAN AND MIDDLEBELT) LIVONIA

Herberholz inducted into hall of fame

BY STEVE KOWALSKI
STAFF WRITER

Two men from Redford St. Agatha and one from Redford Catholic Central are among 25 new inductees into the Detroit Catholic League Hall of Fame.

Don Silvi, currently an assistant football coach at St. Agatha, and Kevin Rich, a former three-sport star for the Aggies, will join CC Dad's Club member Jack Herberholz at induction ceremonies tonight at the Chateau Restaurant in Warren.

Silvi has 28 years of football coaching experience — all as an assistant. A Livonia resident, Silvi started his coaching career in 1964 at Dearborn Divine Child under head coach Tony Versaci.

The Falcons won several Catholic League titles during Silvi's six-year stay at the school and they played in the final Goodfellows game in 1968 against the Detroit Public School League champion. Current University of Colorado coach Bill McCartney and current CC coach Bernie Holowicki also were on the DC staff at the time.

Silvi was an assistant at St. Agatha in 1974 and '75 and returned to the school in 1989 to assist head coach Jim Goddard.

Silvi also has had assistant football coaching stints at CC, Dearborn Heights Crestwood and Dearborn Heights Annapolis high schools. Goddard nominated Silvi for the induction.

"Don's had more championships than Carter's had pills," said Goddard, who has shared a pair of division titles in the last three years with Silvi. "I think his induction is fantastic."

A humble Silvi said he learned a lot in his years at DC.

"We were small, but quick," he remembered. "We used some things that the University of Alabama was doing at the time and we were way ahead of what everyone else was doing (in high school football). This (the induction) is quite an honor and surprise. I don't know what I've done to merit it."

Rich graduated in 1987 from St. Agatha where he was an All-Catholic League choice in football, basketball and track. An all-state tight end for the Aggies, Rich also was the Catholic League's high jump champion.

Rich played football at Central Michigan University as an outside linebacker and is graduating with a degree in communications. He started the last three years of his collegiate career and last fall was a second-team All-Mid-American Conference selection for the Chippewas.

Rich is one of 11 former Catholic League athletes elected to the hall.

Herberholz, whose sons graduated from CC, has been a Dad's Club member at the school for more than 20 years. He was inducted into the hall for "distinguished service."

"He's been dedicated to years to Catholic Central High School and is well deserving of the honor," said Dan Wandzel, a CC Dad's Club member from Livonia. "He's a nice guy, always there when you need him."

HOCKEY RECRUITS

A pair of Central Collegiate Hockey Association schools have attracted some local talent.

David Mitchell, a goalie from Livonia, has been invited to try out for Western Michigan. Mitchell was a member of the Detroit Little Caesar's midget team which won the 1991 and 1992 U.S. National Midgett AAA titles. Last season, he posted a 2.54 goals-against average with a 12-1-2 record. In '90-91, his 2.08 goals-against average was the best in the Midget Major division in the state.

Dwight Parrish (Farmington) has signed a national letter of intent to attend Ferris State. A 6-foot, 191-pound defenseman, Parrish played for the Lakeland Jets last season and was named to the North American Junior A Hockey League all-star team.

■ CAGE SIGNINGS

A pair of Lutheran Westland graduates have been signed by Concordia College as basketball recruits.

Kristen Strang, who will also play for the Cardinals' softball team (she pitched for Lutheran Westland), was an all-conference guard for the Warrior basketball team. She averaged 13.4 points, 5.6 rebounds and 4.4 assists per game.

Lori Gentz, an honorable mention all-conference selection, averaged 4.7 points, 2.2 rebounds and 3.4 assists for the Warriors. Both Strang and Gentz are from Westland.

They are the third Lutheran Westland players to move into the collegiate basketball ranks in the past two years. Stephanie Locke performed ably for Concordia University of Wisconsin last season, averaging 6.9 assists and eight points a game for the 22-4 Falcons. Her efforts earned her rookie of the year accolades.

■ TRACK STARS

Kurt Roth, a freshman at Western Michigan from Livonia, placed third in the javelin at the Mid-American Conference-Missouri Valley Conference all-star meet in Muncie, Ind. A Churchill graduate, Roth tossed the javelin 196-feet, 11-inches, helping the MAC to a 167-111 victory.

University of Michigan's men's track team wasn't exactly overpowering at the Big Ten Championships, finishing eighth, but Matt Smith turned in a solid performance by taking third in the steeplechase in 9:06.61. Smith, from Westland, is a Redford Bishop Borgess graduate.

Star-studded lineup

CC, Churchill show well on Observer team

BY STEVE KOWALSKI
STAFF WRITER

Athletes from Redford Catholic Central, Livonia Churchill and the city of Farmington highlight the boys track All-Area first team for 1992.

CC, which had a Class A state champion in the 3,200 meter relay, also has the Observer's 1992 coach of the year, Tony Magni. On several occasions this year, Magni made changes in his relays and the Shamrocks usually benefitted.

CC won the Observerland Relays as well as the Catholic League and the Operation Friendship meet against the Detroit Public School League. The Shamrocks were the first Catholic team to ever win the Operation Friendship.

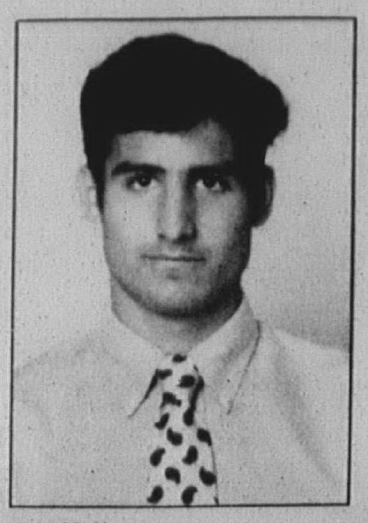
Farmington Hills Harrison, the third place team in the Western Lakes Activities Association, had the top three runners in the 100-meter dash. Two Harrison relays were first team and two boys runners made the first team.

Churchill was strong in the field events and it shows with a pair of first team nominations. Farmington also had a pair of boys field event nominations.

FIELD EVENTS

Aaron Dusso, shot put, Churchill: The Chargers' sophomore surpassed 45 feet six times and his best toss of 46 occurred in the final dual meet. He was a member of the shot put and discus relay teams that placed second at the Observerland Relays and his best throw in the discus was 138 feet.

"Aaron is in his second year as a thrower and we are very excited about his future the next two years," Churchill coach Fred Price said. "He is a very determined and dedicated athlete both in track and football. He is always trying to improve himself through weight training and intense practices."



Eric McKeon
Redford CC

Chris Pelczar, discus, Churchill: Pelczar placed fifth in the Class A regional with a toss of 135-7 and was runnerup in the Western Lakes Activities Association, seven inches behind the winner. Pelczar's best throw was 144-10 in the last dual meet of the season. The junior was a member of the shot and discus relay teams that placed second at the Observerland Relays.

"This is only his second year working in these events and we feel that his best years are ahead of him," Price said. "Chris is a hard worker and very focused on the goals he set for himself."

Brandon Buck, long jump, John Glenn: The senior who was a WLAA and regional champion, holds the Glenn school record with a long jump of 22-10 3½. Buck placed seventh in the Class A tournament despite wet conditions. Buck had four jumps over 22 feet and was never under 20. He also participated in the state-qualifying 400-meter relay team.

"It was unfortunate that the rain hampered his jumping in the state finals but Brandon has been a pleasure to coach during his three-year career and we will miss him," Glenn coach Jess Shough said. "Brandon had a fantastic year. He showed great leadership serving as co-captain and was a very consistent jumper."

Jason Tucker, high jump, Farmington: Tucker's best clearance of 6-feet, 6 inches set a new record for juniors at Farmington. He was a WLAA, regional, Observerland and city champion in the high jump. The senior also placed second in the Oakland County Meet and third in the long jump.

"Jason performed well in the pressure meets and worked hard at his event," Farmington coach Dave Catherman said.

Chris Marting, pole vault, Farmington: Marting, a senior, was a Class A regional (12-feet, 10 inches) and Observerland (12-6) champion. He also placed third in the Oakland County meet (12-3) and had a best leap of 12-11. He missed 3½ weeks because of injuries suffered in practice. Marting also was a key relay runner.

"When he was hurt this year it really affected our relays," Catherman said. "He was a very good sprinter and his versatility in a lot of these events would have been real helpful. He was able to collect good composure toward the end of the year and make outstanding heights."

RUNNING EVENTS

Marc Eden, 110-meter hurdles, Redford CC: Eden finished eighth in the Class A tournament (15.1) and supplied coach Tony Magni with several points each time the Shamrocks competed. He won the Catholic League 110-meter hurdles championship (14.7) and also had the same time in winning the Observerland and regional crowns. The junior was first at Oxford (14.8) and second at Jackson (15.0). Eden also was a member of the 1,600-meter relay team that set a new school record (3:25.4).

"Marc was the heart and soul of our team and I am very happy that his hard work has paid off," coach Tony Magni said. "Marc is extremely versatile, competing in the high hurdles, 300 intermediates, long jump and three relays."

Nathan Loosle, 300 hurdles, Churchill: The three-year letterwinner was a team MVP as a junior and one of four captains in '92. His best 110 high hurdles time was 15.2. Loosle placed fourth in the regional, fourth in the WLAA meet and third at Observerland. His best 300 intermediate time was 40.7 at the WLAA meet where he finished second. He ran a leg of the 1,600 meter relay team that took second at the WLAA (51.7).

"Nathan's success is a result of his dedication and hard work in the hurdles," Price said. "He has been a great example to our young hurdlers this year."

Duante Anderson, 100 dash, Harrison: Anderson, headed to Bowling Green on a football scholarship, was a WLAA (10.8) and regional champion and anchored the Hawks' record-breaking 400 relay team.

The senior also finished third in the Oakland County meet and sixth at the state Class A meet.

Eric McKeon, 200, Redford CC: With a year remaining in his high scool career, McKeon owns or has tied four school records. He tied the 200-meter dash school record (22.0) and has the new school record for the 400 meter dash (49.3). He also was a member of the 1,600 and 3,200 relay teams that set school records. The 3,200 relay team won the state meet.

The junior was second in the Catholic League meet, third at Oxford and second at Jackson.

"Eric is a very aggressive runner, was willing to run just about any race that I asked him to," Magni said. "Eric is not only being a fine sprinter/middle distance runner, he was one of the top five cross country runner this last fall."

Warren Provencal, 400, Lutheran Westland: Provencal, who placed second in the Class C state meet in the 400 meters, leaves Lutheran Westland with school records in the 200 (23.0) and 400 (49.5) events. He was a Michigan Independent Athletic Conference champion in the 200 and 400 races as well as the 800 and 1,600 relays. The senior was undefeated in all dual meets. The 1,600 relay team he ran with placed fourth in the state meet.

"After placing sixth in last year's state meet, Warren dedicated himself to be state champion this season and came up just short," Lutheran Westland coach Mike Unger said. "Warren had the confidence to believe he was going to win any race in which he entered."

Brandon Dalziel, 800, Redford CC: Dalziel didn't win any major invitationals but was a model of consistency for the Shamrocks. He placed second in the CC Invitational (2:00.4) and Oxford Invitational (2:00.9). The junior also placed third in the Jackson Invitational (2:01.9) and fourth in the Operation Friendship meet (2:02.1). He was a member of the state champion 3,200 relay team.

"Brandon is an excellent example of how hard work and dedication helps you reach your goals in life," Magni said. "Brandon is talented on the track as well as in the classroom where he maintains a 4.0 grade point average."

Steve Witek, 1,600 meter run, Redford CC: A member of the state champion 3,200 meter relay team, Witek's best finish came in the Catholic League meet where he was second (4:29.1). He placed third at regional (4:27.1) and Operation Friendship (4:31.3) and ninth in the Class A final (4:26.2). He also ran the 800 meters in a personal best time of 1:57.8.

"Steve provided steady senior leadership," Magni said. "He dedicated himself to the sport this year. Steve is a confident runner who strives on competition. He has great ambition and determination."

Jason Zdyrski, 3,200 meter run, Harrison: Zdyrski, headed for the University of Michigan in the fall, was a WLAA champion and placed ninth in the state meet. His best time in the 3,200 was 9:46.3 and he had a personal best of 4:26.4 in the 1,600.

RELAY EVENTS

400-meter (Duante Anderson, Roy Granger, Scott Gurke and Jason Dreyer), Harrison: The Hawks' 400 relay team won the WLAA crown in record time (43.7) and also won the regional and placed 10th in the Class A meet. Coach Rich Esker called the foursome the best he's ever coached.

800-meter (Roy Granger, Jason Dreyer, Gil Chavez and Duante Anderson), Harrison: Esker used this foursome in selected meets and they didn't disappoint. Their best time was 1:32.7. Three of the four will graduate this month and the lone underclassman, Chavez, is a freshman.

"We didn't use this team in too many meets, but every time we did, they won," Esker said.

1,600-meter (Aaron Sheposh, T.J. Kitchen, Marc Eden, Eric McKeon), Redford CC: The quartet won the Catholic League, Elks and Observerland events and holds a new school record (3:25.4). They were third in the state meet and regional and third in the Operation Friendship.

"Aaron's performance in the leadoff spot, to put us in the lead came through hard work and dedication," Magni said. "T.J. did an excellent job running his best time at the regional. Marc runs the relays as he does the hurdles — all out. Eric would go after the leaders in a conservative, but aggressive manner."

3,200 relay (Aaron Sheposh, Brandon Dalziel, Eric McKeon and Steve Witek), Redford CC: These four were perfect in '92, winning the state championship with a school record time (7:58.0) to go with six other major titles. They also won the Catholic League, regional, Oxford, Elks, Observerland and Jackson invitationals.

"Aaron, as he did last year, got us into position for a competitive race," Magni said. "Brandon, concentrating on our position, would run with the leaders. Eric, a very competitive runner, would either put us into the lead or not lose contact with the leaders. Steve is a very intelligent runner who would hold off any opponent or go after the leaders to win."

Fishing trip becomes an adventure

BY DANDEAN
STAFF WRITER

FISHING

■ 'Presenting' the fly to the natural, unstocked, brook trout I could see swimming not more than 10 feet away made the first step seem simple.

Little Yellow Stone flys, Blue Wing Olives, March Browns No. 12, fly leaders and tippetts sounds like terminology one might hear on a tour of the Cranbrook Nature Center, not a weekend fishing trip with high school buddies. To the accomplished fly fishing person these are as common terms as night crawlers and Labatts to the bait caster.

Ol' Rochester Adams buddies Jon Moyer and Tim Grant took me along with them to North Central Pennsylvania for an introduction to surface hatches and hip waders, in a fly fishing crash course. Tim being the same guy who tried to teach me to windsurf on Lake Michigan in two foot waves, I should have known I was in for an adventure. The trophy trout streams named Cedar Run and Slate Run would be my training ground.

For the avid fly fishing person part of the art of catching trout is identifying the surface hatches of insects as they ascend from the stream bottom as nymphs and hatch on the surface into flying bugs . . . aka trout food. This is where choosing the correct fly to fish becomes important.

So once Tim or Jon did the first process for me, I figured all I had to do was cast the fly out onto the stream and reel in the fish.

"Presenting" the fly to the natural, unstocked, brook trout I could see swimming not more than 10 feet away made the first step seem simple. The trees and weeds that lined the small stream, however, became the first thing I caught. After losing the first two flys before they ever touched water Tim and Jon made sure I knew how to attach a fly to the near invisible line called the Tippett.

After two days of fishing for trophy trout unsuccessfully, we finally convinced Tim that we should take one last stab on the much larger Pine Creek where the dreaded bait casters were reeling in fish all weekend. "Cheaters" Tim would grumble, along with other things I can't print.

But it didn't take long for Tim to catch his first fish. Not long after I actually got a bite and finally caught my first fish on a fly.

In my excitement to catch more of these suckers, I ventured further and further across the river with the water reaching up near the top of my hip waders. Soon I found I didn't need trees or weeds to snap off flys and as dusk approached I lost the last one in mid-cast. The fish were laughing at me now, so the time was right to call it quits.

Just to make sure the fish got their money's worth from this out-of-towner I slipped on the bottom crossing back. As my waders filled with the rushing waters of the Pine Creek I frantically moved to the shore and arrived back at the car so Tim and Jon could share in the laughter as I grumbled something unprintable about fly fishing.

On the bright side, the scenery was beautiful, and yes, I will probably go again, if only for that reason. However when I attend Tim's wedding this Saturday in Grand Rapids and he wants to go fly fishing I will definitely take along a dozen crawlers and an icy cold frosty Labatts.

Getting an edge

Caesars beats Walter's for early lead

SANDLOT

Mike Giacomantonio hit two home runs on Wednesday to lead Little Caesars past Walter's Appliance 5-2 in a Livonia Collegiate Baseball League game played at Livonia's Ford Field.

Caesars is 2-0 while Walter's fell to 1-1.

Giacomantonio, who plays at Siena Heights College, hit a three-run homer in the first inning that scored Brent Tapp (Wayne Memorial) and Aaron Mack. Giacomantonio also hit a homer in the fifth and Caesars got an RBI double in the third inning by Jerry Shippe that scored Giacomantonio in the third inning.

Mark VanAmeyde was the winning pitcher, tossing a nine-hitter.

Caesars opened the season on Sunday with a 6-2 win over Hines Park Lincoln Mercury at Ford Field. Giacomantonio led Caesars with three hits in four at-bats, including two doubles, and three RBI.

Pitcher Brian Endicott allowed four hits and earned the win in going the distance.

Hines Park wins

Delwal outhit Hines Park Lincoln Mercury 10-5 but still lost 2-1 in a game played Wednesday at Novi High School.

Scott Kennedy, who earned the pitching victory, and Jeff Pawluk combined to strike out 13 for Hines Park.

Hines Park scored a pair of runs in the first inning after a home run by Scott Niemiec (Plymouth Salem, University of Michigan) and an RBI triple by Ed Gundry (Salem).

Delwal scored its only run in the fourth on a single by Billy Hardy to score Mike Schwartzenberger.

Schwartzenberger went 3-for-3 to lead Delwal. Chad Chapman and Mike Pesci (Farmington Hills Harrison) added two hits each.

Wyandotte Class A

The Redford Chaplains fell to 1-4 overall Tuesday with a 4-3 loss to Dearborn Dingells at Wyandotte Memorial Field.

Dingells is 5-0 overall.

Tom Berry (Redford St. Agatha, Xavier University) suffered the loss on the mound for the Chaplains. Berry went the distance, allowed four hits, struck out five and walked two.

The win went to Tom Nester, who threw a five hitter and struck out nine with one walk.

Marc Salah (St. Agatha, Xavier University) led Chaplains' attack with two hits and two runs scored. Tim Wilson (St. Agatha) and Dave Borkowski each contributed RBI singles.

Chaplains led 2-0 before Dingells scored four in the fourth inning to lead 4-2.

Looking for someone special?

A bowling partner, a travel companion or someone to share your life?

Every Monday and Thursday your Observer & Eccentric Newspapers will publish a PERSONAL SCENE directory—listings of people who are looking for people.

PERSONAL SCENE has five classifications—men seeking women, women seeking men, people who want to share sports interests, seniors who need companionship and people who need someone with whom to travel.

PERSONAL SCENE also takes advantage of our electronic age. When you've composed your five-line listing, which will run free for eight issues, call 591-0900 and our ad takers will be happy to help you record your message so that it can be heard by people who are interested in what you've said in your ad. You will never receive unwanted calls at your home; all responses will be recorded and left in your electronic PERSONAL SCENE message center. Note: It will cost $1.49 per minute to check the responses to your listing.

Readers who wish to respond to a listing in our PERSONAL SCENE directory, may use a touch-tone telephone to call 1-900-454-8

HOROSCOPE

By C.C. Clark

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20)
You will receive news concerning matters that have caused you anxiety. An elderly person could figure prominently in your near future.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22)
Your life seems to be the same old routine. Break free and try new activities. You must decide to make some positive changes in your life.

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22)
You will overcome some tough obstacles ahead. A friend's message could have a deeper meaning than you first suspect. Read between the lines.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22)
You must examine information closely to understand the true meaning. News from afar could cause major life changes for you and others.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22)
Great joy is found in the simplest activities. This is not a good time to show weakness. Many people could be looking to you for leadership.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 - Nov. 21)
You may receive an intriguing proposition. Think matters through and don't make rash decisions. This is not a good time to spend extravagantly.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21)
You cannot believe everything you hear, even from trusted friends. There is a good possibility your friends could be misinformed.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19)
Material success is in the near future for you, though it may not be quite what you expected. Recognize those around you for a job well done.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18)
There could be trouble on the domestic front and you may not know how to deal with another person's anger. Take some time to think things through.

PISCES (Feb. 19 - March 20)
You must recognize jealousy for what it is and get over it. There is more to your life than you realized and there are people out there who envy you.

ARIES (March 21 - April 19)
Responsibilities could weigh heavily upon you. Try looking at the lighter side of life and be assured that this period of doubt will not last.

TAURUS (April 20 - May 20)
Show compassion to those around you. Determination to see things through will prove to be a saving grace later on. Pay attention to detail.

There's a lot to learn from "Age-Old Friends"

Cronyn, Gardenia soar in award-winning portrayals; dialogue, not plot, is writer Larbey's chief skill

By Steven Alan McGaw

Comedian Richard Pryor used to perform a routine about an old man in his neighborhood. The bit was hilarious, detailing the elderly gent's wandering mind and repetitious conversation, but it didn't stop there. The piece concluded with a warm remembrance of the old man's plain-spoken sagacity, a lifetimes worth of acquired wisdom. Pryor's colorful verbiage makes a direct quote impossible, but a flavorful paraphrase might read: "You don't get to be old by bein' stupid."

It's a thorny question to decide if the media is responsible for society's obsession with youth or vice versa, but the facts remain. Older people just do not appear very often in movies or television, except to be used as sources of humor or irritation. The sympathetic elderly character is rare, while the strong, independent older person with heart and mind intact is seen even less often.

This is why "Age-Old Friends," airing Friday at 9 on CBS, is so refreshing. With [illegible] performances from Hume Cronyn and Vincent Gardenia, and stylish direction from Allan Kroeker, the film offers two seventysomething gentlemen who aren't crazy, aren't dying and aren't giving up.

The movie was originally made for HBO and won wide acclaim in its 1989 debut. Cronyn was honored with an Emmy and an ACE award for his performance, and Gardenia received the Emmy for Best Supporting Actor in a Movie or Miniseries. Bob Larbey fashioned the script from his play "A Month of Sundays."

Cronyn plays widower John Cooper, a man whose mercurial changes from acid-tongued curmudgeon to sweetly melancholy charmer are as sudden as summer lightning. Cooper can also turn into a glib rone in the presence of his pretty nurse Wilson, played by Michele Scarabelli. Though his mind is sharp as a tack, Cooper's physical condition is deteriorating and it infuriates him. Still, he cherishes his relative independence and has previously, we learn, turned down his daughter's requests to live with her.

Cooper's constant foil and friend, though relatively newfound, they hadn't known each other before coming to the home is Michael Aylott, played by Vincent Gardenia. Aylott's physical health is sound, but his memory seems to be receding, and the old man's game efforts to dismiss the problem dissolves into icy fear after he gets lost on the way to a nearby candy shop.

Infirmities aside, both men's spirits are strong and their friendship a sustaining presence. Whether playing chess, discussing least-liked residents (a priggish retired colonel tops the list) or remembering their departed wives, the affection between the two men is palpable. They also enjoy a drink every now and then.

"What would you say to a little nip?" Cooper asks coyly.

"Hello, little nip," comes Aylott's game reply.

Cronyn and Gardenia are equally terrific in their roles. Cronyn makes of a John Cooper a character of real strength, hampered but not defeated by his advanced years. Gardenia's character is more outwardly vulnerable, but his performance never surrenders Aylott's dignity.

Esther Rolle heads a strong supporting cast as Mrs. Baker, the irascible housekeeper who wearily agrees to sing for, and even dance with, Cooper. Tandy Cronyn (his daughter in real life) plays Cronyn's only child, and her performance is fair and engaging.

Larbey's script is full of sharp dialogue that perfectly suits his actors' crisp portrayals. This is fortunate, since the actual events in the film are fairly easy to predict. Still, with fine acting and fast-paced direction, these "Age-Old Friends" have a lot to offer.

Huber shares 'Sporting Life'

By Steve Paschal

Some sports shows are better than others, but until now none has cut through the hype that distances superstars from the rest of America.

CNN has added a touch of class to TV sports with The Sporting Life With Jim Huber, a monthly half-hour that promises sports from a different perspective and actually delivers. The first Saturday of every month, Huber presents features and profiles with a refreshing style that's more Charles Kuralt than Dick Vitale. In the process he bridges the gap separating the athlete from the public and shows viewers the difference between a sports celebrity and a role model.

The Sporting Life's May debut featured a touching portrait of Heather Farr, the former LPGA Player of the Year who is fighting to return to the tour after a three-year battle with cancer. Then Huber took an amusing look at the "real-life" Crash Davis, the inspiration for Kevin Costner's character in the movie Bull Durham. Future stories include visits with NBA Hall Of Famer Earl Monroe and former NHL goalie Mike Palmer.

The recipient of six Associated Press Georgia Sports Writer of the Year awards and two Cable ACE trophies for CNN Sports Tonight, Huber is an outstanding sports journalist. In fact, the only thing wrong with The Sporting Life is that it airs just once a month.

Tom Cruise plays an apprentice to a famous pool hustler in The Color of Money, Monday on ABC.

LET'S TALK!

Shedding a little Light; Blossom no sap

Q. I am a big fan of Judith Light and Dinah Smith. They were in a TV movie about a year ago. She played a pregnant woman and he was a policeman. Please tell me the name of that movie. Tom Mills, Greenville, N.C.

Judith Light

A.

Q. I have been trying to find out if there ever was a videotape made of the movie Make Up and Love, made back in 1937. I have written to numerous people about this but can't get any response. Alice Faye and Jack Haley were the stars, and Buddy Clark's voice was dubbed in for Jack Haley. I was involved with making the picture and can't find a tape, if there is one. Bill Conners, Sun Cities, Ariz.

A.

Q. I just saw Straight Talk and loved it! Dolly Parton was wonderful! What other movies has she starred in and where can I write her? S. Maria, Santa Barbara, Calif.

A.

Q. My mom and I were talking the other night of Blossom. We both think she is much older than her character age. Cassandra King, Smithfield, Md.

A.

TRIVIA, ETC.
