Residents baffled by recycling

Like Plymouth Township and other neighboring communities, the city of Plymouth has started picking up residents' recyclables at the curb. In the two weeks since the program began, however, city hall has received numerous questions from confused residents.

BY ANNE SULLIVAN
STAFF WRITER

Curbside collection of recyclables is underway in the city of Plymouth, but some residents still have questions about the new program.

The city began curbside recycling on July 6. In the two weeks since the program was implemented, city hall has received several calls from residents regarding pick-up practices.

Some residents say the recycling and refuse bags are picked up at the same time — but that's exactly how it's supposed to work, said Paul Sincok, director of public works.

The city has contracted with Mister Rubbish in Whitmore Lake to handle the pick-up, disposal and recycling of residential trash.

The city has a three-bag scheme to identify types of wastes. Residents place all recyclable products in yellow bags, solid waste in the green bags and compost in clear plastic bags.

Glass products and household batteries still must be taken to the city recycling center.

Mister Rubbish hauls the waste and recyclables to its material recovery facility (MRF) in Whitmore Lake.

Sincok sees this as a more cost-efficient way of disposing of the waste than using bin trucks.

"Bin trucks can have one bin full, and a half-full truck is going to the dump," said Sincok. "And running a half-full truck costs more."

At the MRF, waste products are separated and processed for reuse.

Clowning on the weekend

For a lot of us, vacation means lounging in the sun (with the exception of this soggy summer) and weekends are reserved for fun, or chores around the house.

Ken West's priorities, however, are a little different.

West, who works weekdays as Plymouth's city engineer, devotes a considerable amount of his weekends to bringing smiles to the faces of handicapped children.

He does it with the Shriners as an award-winning clown.

If you happened to attend the Farmington Founder's Day parade earlier this month and spotted a tall, robust, black-wigged hobo with a black hat and a bulbous red nose, you saw a well-disguised Ken West. He entered the parade along with fellow Shriner Dan Fowler of Plymouth, who impersonated the Phantom of the Opera.

Both West and Fowler fared well in national competition at the Shriner's convention held in Florida a couple weeks ago.

"In character parading, our unit took third," said West, affiliated with the Detroit Moslem Temple covering southeastern Michigan.

Individually, West placed in the top 10 in tramp costume and make-up competition.

Contributions received at the parades are donated to hospitals and agencies caring for children who are handicapped or victimized in fires and accidents.

"The southeastern Michigan clown unit raises about $17,000 annually on its own. With the circus, we raise $4 million," said West.

Why does West go to all the trouble? "For the kids. Your compensation is their smiles," he said.

"It makes you feel good, and gives you a lot of energy when you make someone else feel good."

Bear wrestling at bar draws cheer, jeers

BY BARBARA WILSON
STAFF WRITER

Eli and Denny weren't there, but Caesar the wrestling bear was certainly not alone last Thursday.

Approximately 350 people, including at least a dozen media representatives and a dozen Canton police, were on hand at John Sassak's Urban Cowboy Saloon in Canton to watch Caesar wrestle eight daring bar patrons.

The event drew attention when Channel 2 personalities Eli Zaret and Denny McLain refused to participate because of reports that Caesar's claws and teeth were inhumanely removed and that he had bitten the fingers off a wrestler at a previous presentation.

Caesar's owner, Sam Mazzola, disputed these reports.

Officials on hand

Anti-cruelty officials visiting Caesar Thursday found the 950-pound Black Bear to be healthy and well cared for.

"He has his fangs and he has his claws. He is obviously taken care of and treated well," said Sherry Silk, director of operations for the Michigan Humane Society. "He is also very well socialized."

Silk was prepared to issue a warning and prosecute Caesar's owner Thursday, but found no reason to do so.

"I don't approve of what they are doing, but the bear is fine," she said.

"Yes this is exploiting the bear, but it's not unnatural for this bear," said

Candidate files

Another candidate has entered the race for Plymouth Township supervisor.

Ronald Edwards, 37, a certified public accountant, turned in 244 petition signatures to the township clerk's office by the filing deadline Thursday. That number of petition signatures is more than the 166 required to get on the ballot.

Edwards will run as an independent. He declined to talk much about his candidacy, until the petitions are certified.

"I've lived in the township 10 years, I have a wife and four children," he said.

If certified, Edwards will meet the winner of the Aug. 4 Republican primary.

PLYMOUTH PIPELINE

Vying for the Republican nomination are: Stephen Boak, Kathleen Keen-McCarthy, Charles MacIlhargy and John Stewart.

Ribbon cutting

A ribbon cutting ceremony for the opening of Metro West Industrial Park Phase Five is planned by Ford Motor Land Development Corp. and the R.A. DeMattia Co. at 3 p.m. Tuesday.

The industrial park is on Helm Street, west of Sheldon, one block south of Five Mile.

Dolls galore

If dolls are your thing, then you won't want to miss the current exhibit at the Plymouth Historical Museum running through Oct. 4.

Hundreds of dolls will be on display.

Cracknell's Doll Fashions of Alpena will display over 100 dolls, doll fashions and accessories at the Plymouth Museum.

The Historical Museum's collection of antique dolls will also be displayed.

The museum is at 155 S. Main Street and open 1-4 p.m. Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday and 2-5 p.m. Sunday. Admission is $1.50 for adults, 50 cents for students (5-17 years), children under 5 are free. Family rate is $4.

M.C. Mike Killian, director of investigations for the Michigan Anti-Cruelty Society. "This is the only way of life this bear has known. He is domesticated."

Well-cared for bear

Killian, who also found the bear to be healthy, said Caesar would never survive in the wild now and neither would his offspring.

The 10-year-old bear is the fifth generation of bears born in captivity, according to Mazzola. Caesar has been wrestling for nine years and can expect to live another 30 years.

Members of the Washtenaw Citizens for Animal Rights and Humanitarians for Animal Rights Education called police to warn them of the event and to suggest that it may be in violation of state law. The law states that it is illegal to bait or provoke an animal.

Police on hand

Canton Township Public Safety Director John Santomauro was on hand with several officers to ensure the event did not get out of hand. No tickets were issued by officers, but a report on the event will be submitted to the Wayne County Prosecutor to determine if the event was in violation of the law.

"If the bear or any person's life were in danger, we would stop the event, but otherwise we're just here to observe," Santomauro said Thursday. "It will be up to the prosecutor to decide if it is a violation."

Township police officials said there has been an ongoing investigation of the exhibitions through state agencies, but they doubted that any charges would be filed against Mazzola because the activity didn't appear to meet the criteria of "baiting and provoking" an animal under state law.

An attorney for one of the animal rights organizations disputed that, claiming the bear was being provoked for the purpose of entertainment.

Reaction

Some animal rights activists were satisfied with this response from police Thursday night, although they were hoping for a much bigger victory. Canton resident Linda Robinson was just passing by when she decided to join the protesters.

"I think it's fine. I would hope they would stop it if it became dangerous," Robinson said.

Plymouth resident Mike Chiado has been a longtime supporter of animal rights.

"I think they treated us well, but I would have liked for them to issue tickets," Chiado said. "I know that they cannot interpret the law though."

Chiado said he found counter-protestors (mostly saloon employees) to be quite hostile, but believes the police presence helped keep the situation under control.

"I think it's pretty absurd. I don't believe in exploiting animals in any way, not for food, not for clothing and not for entertainment," he said.

"I am concerned for this bear, but I am also concerned for all the other animals this man (Mazzola) exploits."

Mazzola also keeps tigers and other North American native animals on a 250-acre farm outside Cleveland.

Chiado admits there is a gray area in regard to the fact that Caesar is a multi-generational captive animal that could no longer support itself in the wild. He still, however, maintains that wrestling in a bar is treating the bear with disrespect and should not be allowed.

Wrestlers were nervous about climbing onto the mats with Caesar, but several later said it was like playing rough with their dog. Nobody was able to pin the bear, and therefore the $1,000 prize was unclaimed.

There are two Caesars in the family of animals owned and trained by Mazzola. In addition to the wrestling, Mazzola takes the North American native animals he raises into high school classrooms to educate young people about the animals and about careers associated with animals.

In addition to the event Thursday, Mazzola also sold T-shirts and sweatshirts as souvenirs and pictures with Caesar's son. Petitions from the group "Putting People First" were also distributed.

Promotion plan to be unveiled

A marketing campaign to promote Plymouth is scheduled for unveiling at 8 a.m. Wednesday in the Mayflower Meeting House.

"It's open to anyone at all," said Fran Toney, Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce executive director.

The chamber is scheduled to give details on a new marketing and communications plan that includes radio and newspaper advertising and direct mail, following the theme "Discover the Exciting Worlds of Plymouth."

Sorting: Mike Bellinger culls the last recyclables from a conveyor. The remaining trash will go to a landfill.

Shredding or bundling await trash on a round trip

Building refuse: Lumber, concrete and other construction waste is also sorted for recycling.

By ANNE SULLIVAN
STAFF WRITER

New trucks displaying a "We Cater Weddings" motto have been seen driving through the city of Plymouth.

They are not food service trucks. The motto and accompanying logo, a butler carrying a garbage can, are painted on the side of Mister Rubbish trash hauling trucks, the firm hired to cart off the city's garbage and recyclables.

Mister Rubbish makes its rounds daily, picking up the recyclables and trash and hauls it to its material recovery facility in Whitmore Lake.

There, trucks dump trash onto the floor of a 25,000 square foot facility. The piles are placed on a conveyor belt where workers pull off the yellow recycle bags and place them on another line.

The recyclables are sorted, shredded or bundled, and sent to firms that recover them.

"Our reasons for going into recycling were two-fold," said Steve Dawdy, the firm's general manager. "Landfills are filling up, and between 1983-91, the rates went up 520 percent."

"We can't keep that up, and we can't pass that on to the customer. We had to do something. And the residents were demanding recycling. We got into the program early."

More sorting: John Greenwald, left, rips open bags containing cans, which like other recyclables are dumped down appropriate chutes for later pickup.

The highest volume recyclable product is newspapers. Corrugated cardboard and plastics also do a high volume.

Old newspapers are separated, shredded, baled and sent by the ton to a broker who in turn sends it to a mill.

Wood products are chipped and 95 percent of the recycled product is sent to the Dow Corning facility in Midland, where it is used as fuel. The remaining wood is used for landscaping and as animal bedding at a nearby cattle farm.

Plastics labeled PET I and PET 2 are also collected for recycling. Although there are recycle numbers on plastics for seven different types, Dawdy said the demand and market for the others is so low that it's not feasible to recycle them.

The plastic products are turned into pellets and sold back to plastic companies, and returned to consumers in products such as catsup bottles. Any food product that is made of recycled material must have an inner layer that is not reused.

The aluminum and tin cans are separated and sold back to brokers.

Glass is the only product Mister Rubbish doesn't handle. "Michigan is at a disadvantage with glass because of our deposit law," said Mike Bellinger, facility manager.

Scrap steel, such as old window frames and doors, are sent to a processing facility in Taylor where it is melted down and reused.

Bellinger said about 48 percent of what comes in to the facility is recycled.

Dawdy said while recycling is best for the environment, it is not the most cost-efficient enterprise.

"We wouldn't be in the recycling business if we weren't in the (waste hauling) business," said Dawdy. The costs that would be passed on to consumers for recycling, without hauling trash would be prohibitive.

Mister Rubbish's material recovery facility operates two shifts, six days a week. It's situated in the southern tip of Livingston County and has 40 collection trucks and six tractors that take sorted recyclables to their end market.

Mister Rubbish got into recycling in 1988 with a drop off center. When the material recovery facility opened in March 1991, the company plunged into high volume recycling, and now services communities in Washtenaw, Livingston, Oakland and Wayne counties.

Business community rates Goss' voting record tops

The Michigan Chamber of Commerce has released its Job Providers Index, a record of votes by Michigan state lawmakers on business issues.

Georgina Goss, R-Northville, who represents Plymouth and north Canton, earned a 100 percent rating.

The 1991-92 index found 42 of Michigan's 110 state representatives seeking re-election achieved a voting record of 70 percent or better, earning automatic endorsement by the chamber. Of those, 40 are Republican, two are Democrats.

In the Senate, which is not up for election this year, 25 of 38 members achieved voting records of 70 percent or better. Of those, 17 are Republicans, eight are Democrats.

"Since 1984, we have used the same standard to determine campaign endorsements for incumbent legislators," said James Barrett, president of the Michigan Chamber of Commerce. "Any lawmaker who receives a 70 percent or better record automatically receives an 'earned endorsement' from the Michigan Chamber. We believe this process is fair, and has had a positive impact on both the legislative process and election campaigns during the past 16 years."

The nine House and 10 Senate roll call votes analyzed by the Job Providers Index deal with key issues facing business. Most deal with taxes or health care issues this year, Barrett said.

"Michigan's job providers — and workers — have a lot at stake in terms of what does or doesn't happen in the state Legislature," said Barrett. "The Job Providers Index is a clear way to see what lawmakers are supporting creation of new jobs and retention of existing jobs in Michigan. We hope that voters will take it into consideration when they cast their ballots during the August primary and November general election. It is a major part of the current 'Michigan Forward' magazine, now being distributed to 18,000 persons around the state."

The Michigan Chamber represents 6,000 employers across Michigan. About two-thirds of the members are small business with fewer than 100 employees; about 6 percent are manufacturers and about 40 percent are in the service sector.

Vandals pry open door to mall

Somebody broke into the Westchester Square Mall on Forest late Tuesday or early Wednesday, according to a report filed by Plymouth police.

Police found at 12:27 a.m. that the door to Empira Care IV at 550 Forest had been pried open, apparently by a screwdriver. No items were found to be missing from the business or other mall stores, the report continued.

Police have no suspects.

CRIME

Golf clubs taken

Wilson irons and some golf balls, all worth about $350, were found missing Tuesday from a parking garage on Deer Court, according to a report filed with Plymouth police.

The theft was discovered at 6 p.m. The garage door had been left

Tools valued by their owner at more than $600 were taken Tuesday from the bed of a 1991 Ford pickup truck parked at Plaza Lanes, according to a report filed with Plymouth Township police.

Police closed the case for lack of suspects or evidence.

Contest winner: John Sutphin and his family will keep riding in their Aerostar, after choosing cash over a Corvette.

Spartan employee rings up big win

By BARBARA WILSON

Fifty dollars was a lot for Canton Township resident John Sutphin to spend on a raffle ticket, but he got a pretty good return on his money.

Sutphin and a co-worker at Spartan Stores in Plymouth were the winners of a $30,000 drawing at the Farmington Founders Festival.

"That was a lot of money for me to spend on a raffle ticket. I might spend a couple dollars a week on the lottery, but I've never paid $50 for a raffle ticket," Sutphin said.

Now, he's glad he made this exception.

The raffle ticket was $100 and the grand prize was a choice between $30,000 or a Corvette.

Sutphin wasn't present at the drawing because he never imagined that he would win.

"I've never won anything like this before," he said.

Sutphin and his family went out of town the weekend of the festival and when he returned he received a call from co-winner Patricia Williams of Dearborn Heights.

"She said You better invite me over," he said. "I didn't know why, but I did."

The next thing he knew Williams was at his door with a bottle of champagne.

"She said that we better toast the winners," Sutphin said. "I couldn't believe it."

are separated for recycling at Mister Rubbish.

The non-recyclable trash is hauled to a landfill.

The city's recycling program was a multi-phase project approved by the city in July 1989.

Curbside compost pick-up began in August 1989, and was followed by the opening of a drop-off recycling center at city hall in September of that year.

After much study, the city started the $1 bag-tag system for disposing trash in December 1990.

Curbside pick-up is the latest phase, according to Sincok. Residents still buy the city of Plymouth green bags or tags to dispose of non-recyclable trash. Each residence in the city gets 40 yellow bags for recyclables every July, said Sincok, adding research shows the average household would use 25 bags a year.

Additional recycle bags can be purchased at city hall.

The key to the success of the program is "education and enforcement," said Sincok.

The city sent out fliers on the program, used public access television, a 24-hour voice mail system at city hall, and dropped off fliers with pizza delivery establishments to explain to residents how to dispose of cardboard.

In the two weeks of the curbside program, enforcement has not involved just issuing citations, but explaining to residents what's wrong.

Sincok predicts the program will be successful because residents are eager to recycle and want to do it right, and because the times demand it.

With its recycling program, the city of Plymouth has been able to reduce its solid waste millage rate twice.

Before the program was implemented, the rate was 2.5 mills. In July 1990, it was reduced to 1.5, and to 1.37 this month.

Commission challenge

Ethics become issue in county board race

By WAYNE PEAL
STAFF WRITER

The 10th district Wayne County Commission race boils down to one issue: incumbent Maurice Breen.

Breen, a former Plymouth Township supervisor finds himself embattled on several fronts as he fights to retain the Livonia/Plymouth/Northville area seat.

Patrick Downes, one of three Republican challengers in the Tuesday, Aug. 4, primary, said he's running because of "Maury Breen and some of the things he's done."

Downes, 24, has issued campaign literature alleging Breen unfairly profited from a 1986 land sale by deliberately withholding information that was a partner in the group selling the land. (For more on the issue, see related story.)

Breen, 59, is also embattled on several other fronts.

He is among several local politicians linked to the controversial Western Townships Utilities Association sewer project — where allegations of cronyism and abuse of power have swirled since a newspaper investigation earlier this year.

Even Breen's 1991 appointment to the commission has become an issue, involving several job switches among people also linked to the sewer project.

Challengers take aim

Not surprisingly, challengers are making the most of Breen's troubles.

While Plymouth Township resident Downes has been the most aggressive, fellow challenger Thaddeus McCotter is stressing "my integrity" in pointed reference to Breen.

"I'm running because of my commitment to public service," the 23-year-old Livonia resident said.

Clayton Stacey, 63, who says he's known the incumbent for more than 25 years, is also making issue of the allegations against Breen.

"You don't take a public job with the idea of making yourself rich," the Plymouth Township resident said.

The controversy has enlivened a normally placid district. Former incumbent Susan Heintz faced no challengers in 1988 or 1990.

Differences of opinion

Likewise, the challengers differ little on the issues. All call themselves fiscal conservatives — though Stacey favors the proposed 0.5-mill increase for programs to benefit needy county residents. Others called the ballot proposal ill-conceived and poorly worded.

All generally agree that poor condition of county roads is the biggest local issue.

While accusations against Breen are the biggest campaign issue, Breen calls the accusations all size, no steak.

Breen defends land deal with developer

A 1986 land sale involving then-Plymouth Township supervisor Maurice Breen looms large in Breen's 1992 re-election bid for county commissioner.

GOP rival Patrick Downes alleges Breen unfairly profited from the land sale — charging the property was rezoned, improving its marketability, without township officials' knowledge Breen was a principal.

"For the $500 cost of a 'Letter of Credit,' Maurice Breen and friends pocketed a real profit of $876,000," charges Downes in literature sent to likely voters.

Breen acknowledges he profited from the sale but says Downes "has his facts wrong."

"It was made public that I was involved," Breen said.

As for Downes' charge the sale was contingent on rezoning, Breen said: "I have no knowledge of that."

The facts, according to both sides: former state land was bought by a contingent including Breen, his brother and two other principals seven years ago and sold one year later to Plymouth-area developer Robert DeMattia and subsequently rezoned from residential to industrial.

Downes said he has the answer — a personal code of ethics in which he vows to, "comply with both the letter and spirit of all conflict of interest regulations and disclosure requirements."

But codes, like land deals, could be only as good as the paper on which they're written.

Geiger pledges NEA support for Clinton

By TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

NEW YORK — As a Democratic convention orator, Keith Geiger got high marks from one of his bosses.

"Oh, great! He's a real bragging point for us," said Livonia school board member Dick McKnight, Clinton delegate from Westland.

"You know, he's technically on a leave of absence. We approve it every year," said McKnight.

A former Livonia math teacher, Geiger is president of the National Education Association and a resident of Fairfax County, Va. In fact, with Virginia's delegation seated next to Michigan's, Geiger literally sat behind McKnight when his 10 minutes at the convention rostrum were over Wednesday night.

The transplant Geiger was as close as any Michiganian got to a place on the Madison Square Garden rostrum in front of 4,000 delegates, 15,000 media folks and thousands more of the party faithful.

Geiger appeared at 6:45 p.m. in the middle of a pack of speakers on "Democratic Values" that included former presidential hopeful Sen. Bob Kerrey and vice presidential short list contender Lee Hamilton.

He got at least as good a reception as any and a far better one than Manhattan Borough president Ruth Bessinger.

"Wonderful! You could actually hear him up here. He has a teacher's voice," said Gail Nolin, a Clinton delegate from Sylvan Lake and Michigan Education Association official.

So was it tough for a teacher used to addressing classes of 25 or 30 to get up in front of 4,000 delegates?

"There's half as many here as at our NEA convention," replied Geiger afterwards. "We have 8,600 delegates — twice this size. With the noise level in here, you're talking to the TV audience. But it's unexpected to look over the crowd to see the screaming and yelling."

Geiger told the convention, "I pledge that 2.1 million members of the NEA will work in every city and village to elect Bill Clinton."

How could he make such a pledge on behalf of a union with a large contingent of Republicans?

"All the surveys taken of member have been consistent — one-third, one-third and one-third (Democrats, Republicans and independents)," Geiger said. "At our conven-

THORACIC OUTLET SYNDROME
What if you developed disturbing sensations in your right or left arm? At times the arm felt cold, then numb, later felt swollen, then for a while, went weak. What if these odd feelings came suddenly, stayed for an instant to hours, then left for days? What if you found that positioning the arm over your head brought on these changes?
You may have Thoracic Outlet Syndrome.
The major arteries and veins, and the group of nerves that supply the arms start from the heart and neck. At the upper edge of the first rib, these structures come together and travel through the axilla until they reach the upper arm. There the blood vessels and nerves diverge into the networks that supply blood and sensation for the extremity from the shoulder to the fingers.
If either the large vessels or major nerve roots are pinched at some site in the axilla, then you can undergo the experiences described above. What arm problems you encounter depends on whether the nerve, artery, or vein is the structure impinged upon, or if more than one site of pressure exists.
You may be told by a friend you have carpal tunnel syndrome. However, do not be surprised if your physician sends you to a vascular specialist to test blood flow through the arm, or to a neurologist to assess if the nerves in your axilla are intact.

Dream trip to France thrills, annoys youths

By ANNE SULLIVAN
STAFF WRITER

Chocolate sandwiches for lunch... rich, delicious ice cream... three weeks without parents... hunting for shells on the beaches in southern France... running up the mountain side...

It sounds like a dream come true for any kid.

That dream was realized last month by a group of fifth and sixth graders from Plymouth-Canton Community Schools. The 11 girls and 5 boys were part of the Back to Back program started by the French Ministry of Education in 1959. The program enables French students to spend three weeks in the United States, learning our culture and ways. American students then ventured to France to experience the culture and lifestyle of the French.

After playing host to a French student for three weeks in May, the group of Plymouth-Canton students headed to France in mid-June. The children stayed in and around Toulon, France.

They liked the mountains, a trip to the Jacques Cousteau Oceanographic Museum, and Aqualand, a water amusement park.

"I liked the port (of Toulon)," said Katie Hofbauer, 11. "It is the home base of the French Navy. There are a lot of unique shops. I liked shopping."

The students all brought home souvenirs, but much to the surprise of their parents, the T-shirt slogans were in English.

"They just loved my clothes," said Kara Vidusic, 10. "I was just wearing navy blue shorts and a white shirt. They like American clothes."

"But sometimes they'd look at your clothes and say 'old-fashioned,'" chimed in Shannon Glutting, 12.

Being the center of attention with their wardrobes was not the only adjustment for the young students. There were many ups and downs throughout the trip, particularly with French cuisine. Some students just couldn't adjust to eating foods like squid.

Katie didn't like the food, and lost 10 pounds while in France. The family Kara stayed with thought she was too skinny, so they gave her chocolate bar sandwiches for lunch everyday.

But some host families were very accommodating to their visitors, serving them American food.

The students' living conditions varied greatly.

Shannon stayed with a family that owned a house. They also had a pool.

Kara had an adjustment in the other direction. She stayed in an apartment with no playground area for the children. It was approximately 700 square feet, compared to her 1,700 square foot home in Canton Township, and no one spoke English. She read books she brought from home over and over.

Preparation helped

Before traveling abroad, the local students spent every Wednesday for a year in class learning French and studying French culture. Even with the preparation, no one was comfortable with the language when they got there. That forced them to be creative.

"I'd point to pictures," said Joe Paladino, 10, explaining how he ordered from a menu. Shannon's host mom and brother spoke English and translated for her. Others just managed.

Even with preparations, the students faced challenges.

"As parents, we prepared (our children) for the trip," said Karen Hofbauer, Katie's mom. "But we knew deep in our heart that no matter how much they prepared and studied, they would not be prepared."

Horror stories

Kara, Joe, Shannon and Katie all enjoyed the trip, but each had horror stories. None of the luggage returned with the students. It never got on the plane. But the parents consider that a typical travel experience.

Shannon, Kara, Joe and Katie were horrified at how easily French students slap their peers. Kara and Shannon both were slapped by a host sibling.

"I think my little girl was just jealous because I was getting a lot of attention," said Shannon.

But these four agreed they didn't have it as bad as one of their classmates.

The girl was staying with a family that stole her belongings. Her brother was also in the program and she ran away to his host family. She stayed in three homes during her stay in France.

BILL BRESLER/STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

Back in town: Local students Kara Vidusic, Katie Hofbauer, Shannon Glutting and Joe Paladino recently spent time with host families in France.

Still worth it

Despite the hard knocks, Joe, Shannon, Katie and Kara were glad they went, and felt their younger siblings should participate in the program when they are old enough.

"We've all seen a lot of growth (in our children) and it was worth every dime spent," said Katie's mom.

The program cost between $1,400-$1,600 per child, plus spending money.

Clinton camp stresses jobs, economy to local delegates

By TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

NEW YORK — Bill Clinton's campaign manager told key Michigan congressmen he will co-operate with them on an industrial states consensus strategy in Clinton's bid for the White House.

"We will not bring in our preconceptions. We will not send somebody in (to dictate). There will be a consensus strategy," said David Wilhelm, the Chicagoan who is Clinton's campaign manager.

"We'll decide mutually what's best," Wilhelm told reporters after addressing the Michigan's delegation's Friday morning caucus and huddling intensely for about 10 minutes with Sens. Carl Levin and Don Riegle, Reps. Sander Levin, Bill Ford and John Dingell, and state AFL-CIO president Frank Garrison.

Dingell, the state's longest serving Democratic lawmaker, and Carl Levin appeared to be doing the most talking.

Wilhelm said Clinton will concentrate on economics and jobs in an attempt to bring Michigan back into the Democratic fold.

David Wilhelm, Clinton's campaign manager, said Clinton will concentrate on economics and jobs in an attempt to bring Michigan back into the Democratic fold.

Despite the euphoria of party unity, Democratic strategists said they were wary about an ABC poll showing Clinton with a 17-point lead over President George Bush. After the 1988 Democratic conventions, nominee Michael Dukakis had exactly a 17-point lead over Bush, too.

"I'm very worried that people will relax or Republicans will crank up their dirty tricks," former Gov. James Blanchard told the caucus.

A quarter-hour later, Sen. Tom Harkin of Iowa gave delegates exactly the same warning.

Clinton will start his campaign with a 1,000-mile train trip to St. Louis, but Michigan isn't on that itinerary, Wilhelm said. "We'll come back to Michigan," he promised.

In all the questions, the name of running mate Sen. Albert Gore Jr. of Tennessee didn't come up.

The ABC poll showed Clinton with 45 percent, Bush with 28 and Perot with 20.

Blanchard announced Michigan's tally at Thursday's presidential nominating session: 120 for Clinton, 35 for former California Gov. Jerry Brown, four for "other."

Although that job normally goes to the delegation chair, state Democratic chair Gary Corbin turned the honor over to Blanchard because of the latter's close and long association with Clinton.

It further fueled delegate speculation that Blanchard would have a major job in a Clinton administration.

In other delegation business, Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara asked Democrats to oppose two issues on the Nov. 4 ballot:

• "Term limitation can be very, very devastating. We have Dingell, Ford and Carr (in key committee positions). There is a great desire of Southern states to tap into Great Lakes water. We can't afford to lose our seniority rights." The proposal would amend the constitution to limit U.S. senators to two terms and U.S. representatives to three terms.

Gov. John Engler's "Cut and Cap" property tax cut would hurt local units of government. "It has to come from somewhere," McNamara said, referring to the state's obligation to make up lost revenue to school districts. He predicted Lansing would cut aid to cities, townships and counties, that fire and police service would be affected; and that local units would have to seek tax increases.

Area delegates say Clinton benefits from Perot pullout

By TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

NEW YORK — They're happy Ross Perot quit, but most Michigan Democrats would have been happier if the wealthy Texan had stayed in the presidential race longer in order to do more damage to incumbent George Bush.

"Mr. Perot spoke out forcefully for change, and a number of people listened, but Bill Clinton stands for change as well," state party chairman Gary Corbin said just hours before the Arkansas governor made his acceptance speech Thursday.

"We put out the welcome mat (for Perot supporters). His withdrawal will help Democrats, ultimately. In a three-way race, the incumbent has the advantage. It's up to the Democrats and Clinton to earn the support of Perot people."

Most area delegates were optimistic Democrats would benefit, on balance, from Perot's exit.

"He basically said the Democrats got our act together," said Ron Thayer, development vice president of Channel 56 and long-time Democratic operative. "I wish he'd stayed in longer."

Terry Awhal of Livonia had a different perspective. The spokeswoman for area Arabs and a Clinton delegate thought the entire campaign was a Perot ego trip, not a serious run for the White House.

"Perot wants the limelight. Look at Iran (his rescue of hostages).

I'm 35 years old and I just learned how to eat.

Losing weight was the hardest thing I've ever done. I tried everything...except eating right!

All my life I've been struggling to keep my weight down. I'd try the latest fad diet. Lose weight. Then put the pounds right back on.

Then I found Weight Watchers.

At Weight Watchers, I began to feel in control of my body. I learned that there are no forbidden foods — just forbidden amounts of food. Every day, I was feeling more comfortable with me. And I found something I thought I had lost a long time ago. My self-respect.

So call Weight Watchers and give it a try. They did for me at 35 what nobody else could do my whole life. They taught me how to eat.

Sour on the Big Apple, our reporter heads home

Most Democrats I'm covering like big cities and are thrilled about New York. And in truth, the locals have treated us marvelously.

But my view of the Big Apple will forever be jaundiced by two signs in the window of a chain restaurant.

The first: "Hiring — $4.25 an hour."

The second: "Not participating in a national promotion because of local cost factors."

Um, er, fellas, $4.25 is minimum legal wage.

Aggravating my view was this sign on a parking garage: "Parking reduced to $4.44 for 1 1/4 hour."

In other words, it costs, on a bargain day, twice as much to park your car as to hire human labor. This isn't my kind of town, even if it does have the Philharmonic and the art museums. Sorry.

In economic terms, New York City is suffering from the opposite problem of the southeastern Michigan region. Here, there are too many people crowded together, labor is cheap, land is expensive. At home we suffer from urban sprawl: paving cornfields, manicuring lakeshores and abandoning the big city and older suburbs.

Macy's department store was kind enough to give visitors a red tote bag, if you could find your way through the maze of corridors to the right department. Sure, it was promo, but it was nice.

But Macy's is kitty-corner from Madison Square Garden, where 4,000 delegates, 15,000 media types and a multitude of hangers-on congregate each afternoon. Streets are jammed with delegate buses. Shoppers can't get in, according to a remark we overheard by a floorwalker.

Macy's sign boasts it's the nation's largest department store. It made this native Detroit resident sad because that honor once belonged to the downtown J.L. Hudson store, which towers three or four stories higher but has been shut down since 1982.

We press types are supposed to be guardians of the English language, so I have to beat up a bit on Bill Clinton, a man who otherwise is one of the most knowledgeable politicians I've ever covered.

Clinton misuses the word "investment." He applies it to all kinds of government spending programs, particularly when he talks to business audiences. The programs may be worthy, they may help the downtrodden, but they are government spending, not "investment."

TIM RICHARD

■ In other words, it costs, on a bargain day, twice as much to park your car as to hire human labor. This isn't my kind of town, even if it does have the Philharmonic and the art museums. Sorry.

You can see why. Clinton is positioning himself as a middle-of-the-road moderate, much like Eisenhower in 1952 and Gov. Jim Blanchard in 1982. Among middle-of-the-roads, "investment" is a nice word and "spending" a dirty word.

Democrats actually rejected a Paul Tsongas amendment to the platform that used "investment" correctly: "The viability of our manufacturing base is the essential component of (a thriving) economy. To strengthen the private sector, we will create an investment tax credit for all businesses. And instead of creating a capital gains windfall to the wealthy and those who speculate, we commit to a targeted capital gains tax cut for securities held long term. . . . A differential to start-up companies will be provided."

Now that, friends, is investment used properly. It lost.

The Democrats are friendly, exuberant, talkative and easy to cover. But I have one complaint, and it is scored double fortissimo for brass and tympani: They make the weekly press pickup credentials (tickets to the Garden) EVERY DAY. That's four trips, 18 blocks to the Ramada, 18 back, a $10 cab bill for the round trip, an unpleasant hike through a cement steam bath if you walk, an hour or more out of the middle of the day (pickup time is 10 to 2, sessions don't start until 5).

In short, wasted time, wasted money, aggravation.

Republicans issue the entire week's credentials at one time.

I don't know who the author is, but many Democrats were using this clever description of the three presidential contenders:

George Bush — "An aristocrat who thinks government should work for his class."

H. Ross Perot — "An autocrat who thinks government should work for him."

Bill Clinton — "A Democrat who thinks government should work for all of us."

Sen. John (Jay) Rockefeller of West Virginia delivered this variation to the Michigan delegation caucus Wednesday morning prior to Perot's retreat: "George Bush hates government. Ross Perot disdains government. We Democrats like government."

'92 Democratic convention embraces Year of the Woman

At age 2, I landed in New York in mid-July as an immigrant to a land of freedom. Forty-five years later, I landed in New York in mid-July to be part of the democratic and Democratic process.

As the gavel fell to announce the formal beginning of the campaign, veterans of other conventions and first-timers like myself had strong feelings of anticipation.

After several hours of welcoming remarks and reports, Texas Gov. Ann Richards, chair of the convention, was introduced, and what had been an almost chaotic atmosphere of personal discussions suddenly quieted to a polite undercurrent. As she spoke, there was an immediate sense of awareness among women delegates that somehow this convention would be different.

Indeed, as U.S. Sen. Barbara A. Mikulski of Maryland spoke and was followed by five impressive women Senate candidates, I knew this was "the Year of the Woman." Excitement and camaraderie filled the room. Women cheered loudly and displayed signs as their issues were raised.

Carol Mosley Brown, Barbara Boxer, Jean Jones, Lynn Yeakel and Diane Feinstein became not only candidates but symbols of a political awakening. Women who hardly knew each other could perceive each others' thoughts at a glance in Madison Square Garden.

There were three keynote addresses, but I couldn't help focusing on Rep. Barbara Jordan of Texas as she called for better health care, protecting a woman's right to choose, and an end to all forms of bigotry.

Next morning the daily Women's Caucus drew several thousand — delegates and non-delegates, newcomers and experienced hands, young and seasoned women — to hear women Senate and House candidates. Some in the audience were affiliated with Emily's List and the Women's Political Caucus; others were about to be affiliated. What drew them together was a sense of minority status and a feel they could make a change.

■ Carol Mosley Brown, Barbara Boxer, Jean Jones, Lynn Yeakel and Diane Feinstein became not only candidates but symbols of a political awakening. Women who hardly knew each other could perceive each others' thoughts at a glance in Madison Square Garden.

A surprise: Gov. Bill Clinton chose this gathering as the only one he would speak to on Tuesday. He assured them he understood their concerns: child care, medical coverage and choice. Hillary Clinton was there, too, as a signal she would make a difference.

I had an opportunity to speak with Diane Feinstein, the California candidate who had been in my home several years before for a fundraiser as she raced to her next event.

The women of New York were able to combine with women of all states to create an event which took on new forms and meanings. They set a tone for the entire country.

A fundraiser to support women candidates raised more than $750,000. It was clear women were being educated in the issues and importance of campaign financing. Actress Glenn Close emceed and showed her support. I heard from numerous sources this was a financial and political success.

Certainly times have changed for women. They demonstrated throughout the Democratic convention and the Women's Caucus that they are ready to accept the responsibilities of office and want to ensure their voices are heard on issues which impact on them.

Through their own networks, information is passed along. As a small child, I came to America to find freedom. In New York last week, I found the ability to express and learn about freedom as a Michigan delegate and as a woman living in the United States in "the Year of the Woman."

Zina Kramer, who operates Events Marketing in Bingham Farms, was an at-large Clinton delegate to the national convention.

BE A BIG FISH.

It's easy to get your bank's undivided attention—if your business or practice is the size of a great white shark. Smaller companies may be left to flounder on the hook.

Come to a bank that values your business, even if you're not "Jaws".

Franklin Bank's Commercial Checking account has all the angles you need. Corporate vehicle financing, payroll services, and the lowest cost commercial checking account in town.

And most important—to us you're a big fish. You'll get big attention, big service, and the President's phone number. If your big bank is treating you like small fry, call Franklin Bank today. Being a big fish is a lot more fun.

To find out more about Franklin Bank's corporate services, contact a Franklin Business Development Representative at 358-5170.

Speeches wow delegates

NEW YORK — The speeches are Great. Great. Great. . . great.

Some delegates like Stella Evangelista were on a continuous emotional high as Democratic big names like Ted Kennedy, Jerry Brown and Mario Cuomo unleashed their speeches.

"I've never been in anything like it. It's contagious. Once you come inside, you get hooked," said the Bloomfield Hills pediatrician from the Philippines who will be voting in only her second presidential election.

"Electrifying. A once-in-a-lifetime experience," she went on.

There was a reason: "There was martial law in the Philippines — no elections there for 20 years. It took 10 years to get our citizenship papers. My first vote was for (Gov. James) Blanchard in 1986."

Son Marcus, 20, one of six children of the Dr. Evangelista, is getting a taste of Democratic politics, too, as a go-for intern for the national committee. He's a liberal arts student at the University of Michigan.

Dave Katz, a Livonian at his first national convention, finds one can get information overload at a convention.

"NACO (National Association of Counties) had a conference," said the chief of staff of Wayne County Executive Ed McNamara. "I went to some of that kind of stuff. It's not terribly invigorating."

"I've never been to New York before. I'm a frog out of water. I'm enjoying it. I went to a play — 'Man of La Mancha.'"

In contrast, Bertha Bowerman, a Tsongas delegate from Birmingham, said, "I really don't want any publicity."

DOUG ASHLEY

Keith Geiger: A former Livonia math teacher who is now president of the National Education Association pledged that "2.1 million members of the NEA will work in every city and village to elect Bill Clinton."

tion, 88 percent voted to endorse Clinton. That's the strongest showing for a candidate we've had since we've been endorsing.

"Some of his strongest (NEA) supporters were Republicans because George Bush has done nothing," he said.

Clinton told the convention that "12 years of White House policies have dimmed American children's dreams." He accused the Reagan and Bush administrations of "the politics of child neglect."

"Children cannot vote. We must be their surrogates. . . They're tired of politicians who think kissing babies is a substitute for vaccinating them," he said to cheers.

Geiger gave Bush an "F" as an education president, using an old schoolmate adage: "It's the lowest grade I can give."

"The cold war is over, but millions of children are still out in the cold."

"Gov. Bill Clinton and Sen. Al Gore will bring help to school employees," Geiger said, concluding with his pledge to bring 2.1 million NEA members into the presidential fray.

Geiger did indeed have to speak over crowd noises. Convention officials didn't turn off the hall lights, raise the sound level and put a spotlight on him as they did for Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts.

Shrugged Darlene Berent, a Jerry Brown delegate from Madison Heights: "It was OK. I don't think most of the people paid any attention at all. None."

"A wonderful job of crystallizing educational issues," said former schoolteacher Maxine Berman, a legislator from Southfield and a Paul Tsongas delegate.

Wayne County Executive Ed McNamara and U.S. Rep. Howard Wolpe were so busy talking that they hardly knew Geiger had spoken. McNamara recalled how in 1976 he and Geiger sat as "bored delegates" during unending speeches.

"It was great," said Dave Katz, a Livonian and McNamara's chief of staff. "I was going to school in Livonia when he taught. He's very charismatic."

"He did very well," said Ron Thayer of Southfield, "considering a lot of people don't pay attention in you're not a Jesse Jackson."

Look at GM (where he criticized management style after selling his data company to the automaker). Ross Perot is going to be a VIP forever.

"It's gonna help us," said state party treasurer Larry Daich, Birmingham lawyer and convention visitor. "Now there are two clear choices: People who want change will be with us."

Shopping center developer A. Alfred Taubman, sitting with the delegation on an "honored guest" pass, saw Perot's dropout cutting two ways.

"First, conservative voters who are disenchanted will go for Bush, Second, women's rights voters — those interested in choice — will go to Clinton."

Taubman's response was interrupted by a shoulder-slapping U.S. Sen. Carl Levin. "Welcome home," he told Taubman. "One of my greatest supporters. Welcome home."

"My guess," said Birmingham marketer Zina Kramer, "is a fair number of those interested in Ross Perot are not strongly committed (to others). I'm not sure whether they'll wind up helping Bush or Clinton. I ran into someone who called a Las Vegas bookmaker a month ago to bet on Ross Perot, and they wouldn't take the bet."

"Very helpful," said Mickey Meltzer of the Perot withdrawal. A Birmingham Clinton campaigner, Meltzer said, "An election is a referendum on the incumbent. Until Perot dropped out, there was division on where (dissatisfied) people would go. We could get 'em with our candidate and program, but now it's easier and cleaner."

"I'm concerned because now the Bush camp will do everything to attack Clinton — negative and derogatory," said Stella Evangelista, a Bloomfield Hills pediatrician and Clintonite.

FAMILY READING CHALLENGE 1992

Let's talk about it:

Ask members of your family to choose the story in today's newspaper that interest them the most. At dinner this evening, have each person share his or her story and discuss why it is interesting or important.

After you choose your story, you can organize your thoughts in the space below or on a separate piece of paper:

HEADLINE: _____

WRITE a sentence here that tells the story's main idea _____

FAMILY READING CHALLENGE 1992 ENTRY FORM

Yes! I have read at least:

3 newspaper articles and 3 books and discussed them with my parent(s) or guardian or another adult.

Spotlight on education

Teachers flex union muscle at convention

By TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

NEW YORK—Eileen DeHart, a Westland Clinton delegate, thinks AFSCME, the government employees union, may have the biggest bloc of votes at the Democratic National Convention.

Keith Geiger, a former Livonia teacher who heads the National Education Association, says the honor may belong to school employees: 372 delegates and alternates.

But to Luigi (Lu) Battagliari, education is clearly the winner for Democratic attention in Madison Square Garden, in caucuses and on nominee Bill Clinton's agenda.

"What's exciting to me as an educator is the speeches bringing education to the forefront. There's a commitment to children and their well-being," said the Clinton alternate from Rochester Hills.

"The Reagan and Bush administrations have talked but done nothing about it. When they talk about education, they say it's 'throwing money' at it. But when they talk about the Pentagon, they say 'allocating funds.'"

Battagliari, a first-time delegate, teaches in Fraser's program of alternative education for at-risk children aged 12 to 17. "Of the 15 in my program," he said, "only two or three come from Norman Rockwell-type families. The rest come from single-parent families, go from one school to another."

Raised in Dearborn, Battagliari earned degrees from Michigan State in 1972 and 1976. After heading the Fraser Education Association, he now is president of Local 1 covering 16 Macomb districts with 4,400 teachers, bus drivers and school staff.

Programs like Head Start and at-risk kids are vital additions to Clinton's interest in education, Battagliari said. "The money for at-risk programs comes from recapture, the (state) Robin Hood plan."

In New York he attended a reception for U.S. Rep. David Bonior, who faces a tough re-election battle in his now Macomb-based district. "Bonior's the best thing that ever happened to Local 1 next to Clinton and Gore," Battagliari said.

He's getting his own taste of Oakland County politics as a Democratic candidate for the board of commissioners.

NEA members also got together with those from the American Federation of Teachers. "We had a joint reception Sunday night, and Monday the New York teachers sponsored a boat tour around Manhattan," said Gail Nollin, a Waterford elementary teacher and whip for the Clinton caucus.

The question of whether teachers or state-local government employees are the biggest bloc in the Democratic convention wasn't entirely resolved. But DeHart of Westland shed some comparative light on AFSCME's strength:

"We're equal to the fourth-largest state. Only California, New York and Texas have more delegates here."

Metro cuts parking rate for summer travelers

Summer travel from Detroit Metropolitan Wayne County Airport will be a little easier on the pocketbook, thanks to a special discount offer announced by Wayne County.

Now through Labor Day, Sept. 7, daily parking rates will be reduced in parking decks and yellow Lot, (just past the traffic light on Rogell Drive).

The airport's summer parking special reduces close-in deck parking from the normal $9 per day rate to $6 per day — just one dollar more than the airport's green (long-term) parking lot rate. In addition, the daily parking rate for the airport's yellow lot has been reduced from $6 to $5. Rates in all other airport lots remain the same. As always, free shuttle service to and from the terminals is provided from all on-site airport lots.

Travelers with parking questions can call the airport's recently installed airport parking hotline at 1-800-642-1978.

Olives and olive oil have ancient history

I really can't tell you which I enjoy more, strolling through a Greek grocery breathing in air scented with Calamatta olives or stirring a few anchovy-stuffed olives in a vodka on the rocks.

I love olives! Whether they're served on a steaming botana or sliced and tossed with some cherry tomatoes and a light vinaigrette, I love 'em even more.

Olive history

The olive is one of the oldest known fruit crops. Man grew olive trees even before recorded history. It is not known when the wild olive was first brought under cultivation. But records point to the limestone hills of Attica, the Greek peninsula, as the seat of its first cultivation. The olive is frequently mentioned in the Bible.

The Spaniards brought the olive to California in 1769. In the early Franciscan missions, the fruit was pressed for oil and used in cooking and for lamp fuel.

At last count, there were over 15 million acres of olive trees in the world. Each year, over 9 million metric tons of olives, and more than 3 million tons of olive oil are produced. There's no doubt that olive oil, especially the more trendy upscale pressed virgin varieties, are hot sellers in local delis and specialty stores.

Prices range from under $2 for domestically produced varieties to more than $30 for some of the more exotic venues.

The countries bordering the Mediterranean Sea grow most of the world's olives, with Italy and Spain taking top honors in both the production of olives and olive oil.

The olive tree is adapted to a hot, dry climate; and does well on many different soils. For bearing fruit, it must have water, along with good drainage. Trees come into production at five years of age, but are not in full production for at least another 10-15 years. They are long-lived however, because it is known that trees brought to the United States by the Spaniards are still bearing fruit.

Harvesting methods

For the production of high quality table olives, the fruit must be picked by hand. Harvesting olives for oil is usually done mechanically, either by knocking the fruit from the trees or by shaking.

Methods for processing olives for the table vary widely. There are three different methods. The traditional Spanish method which has unripe yellowish-green olives being fermented. Secondly, the American method in which half-ripe reddish fruit is fermented, and lastly, (my favorite) the Greek method, in which fully ripe, dark purple fruit is preserved.

In most processing methods, a weak solution of lye is applied to neutralize the bitter principle. The lye penetrates the olives and hydrolyzes the bitter taste. Then the lye treated olives are immediately rinsed and soaked in water with frequent changes to remove the lye.

The washed olives are then placed in fermentation tanks and barrels and covered with brine. The use of lye is not allowed in Greece; instead, they rely on the brine to lessen and mask the bitterness, hence the different taste.

Processing olives

Olive oil is produced by mechanical extraction of the ground fruit. Traditionally, this involves three steps — the crushing of the fruit, the pressing (usually two-four times), and the separating of the oil from the liquor.

Most table olives are prepared commercially in ready-to-serve form, using one of these methods. Canned or bottled green Spanish olives are usually pitted with the pit cavity being stuffed with pimentos, onions, almonds, anchovies or other edibles.

Canned, ripe American olive production is centered in California. The olives are picked when they are yellow to red in color, cured, and packed in enamel-lined cans, covered with a salt solution, sealed, and sterilized.

Black, naturally ripe olives from Greece are kept on the trees until they are fully matured and completely dark. The fruit is brined with a frequent change of water to hasten the softening of the bitterness. Sold mostly by bulk in Greek groceries and some smaller stores, they come whole with pits intact.

Olives are low in calories with the average large olive coming in at about five calories each. So the next time you want to swizzle one in your martini, what the heck, ask for two!

In the spirit of the summer Olympic games, embark on a culinary voyage to Espana, the land of explorers. Discover culinary treasures like paella and gazpacho.

BY KEELY WYGONIK
STAFF WRITER

The party is just beginning in Spain. There are two events to celebrate — the summer Olympic games, and 500th anniversary of the discovery of America by Christopher Columbus whose voyage was financed by Queen Isabella and King Ferdinand of Spain.

Don't forget Spanish explorer Juan Ponce DeLeon who discovered Florida in 1513 while searching for the mythical fountain of youth. Now it's your turn to explore and discover Spain's culinary delights.

"Spanish food is not hot, but it has a lot of flavor from herbs like rosemary, thyme and cilantro," said Angelica Rivadeneira of Beverly Hills who lived in Spain for two years.

Like Michigan, Spain is on a peninsula bordered by the Atlantic Ocean and Mediterranean Sea. Fish and shellfish are abundant and featured in many dishes. Vegetables and fruits of all kinds flourish. Spain is known for olives, and Valencia oranges. Olive oil, garlic, saffron, paprika, rice, chickpeas, and smoked sausage are also prevalent in Spanish cooking.

Paella is the national dish. According to legend, it originated centuries ago in Valencia when field workers cooked a communal lunch of rice, vegetables, seafood, chicken, and sausages in a shallow iron skillet (paella pan).

"In Spain when families have picnics they cook paella outside over a fire made from orange tree branches," said Rivadeneira. "The orange wood gives it a special flavor."

Gazpacho, a colorful, chilled tomato, cucumber soup, is another popular dish.

"Spain is old in tradition, the cuisine is part of that tradition, and it continues," said Ismael Durin, manager of Don Ricardo's Spanish restaurant in Redford Township.

Lunch is the main meal of the day in Spain, and is served at 1 p.m. Dinner is served, 8:30-10:30 p.m. Tapas, (appetizers) precede dinner, and are served around 6:30 p.m.

Spanish wine producers make Olympic strides

Spain's acceptance this year as a member of the European Economic Community has given Spanish wine producers a challenge. They've been forced to compete on a quality level with the best wines of Europe or drown in a sea of wine.

During the decade of the 1980s, Spanish producers prepared for the quality challenge in a country with unusual grape varieties perfectly adapted to the soil and climate. One short feature doesn't do Spanish wines justice. There are sherries, cava (Spanish sparkling wine) and magnificent Riojas on the threshold of greatness to be enjoyed.

If you've not discovered these wines, let the Olympic spirit get you started searching out the superior wines of Vega Sicilia and Pesquera from the Ribera del Duero region. Producers such as Miguel Torres in Penedes and Codorniu's Raimat estate are soaring to new heights with well-priced bottlings.

Try your hand at matching Spanish wines with tapas — the appetizer-styled dishes unusual to the Spanish way of life which offer the perfect excuse to chat with friends over a glass of wine.

The origin of the word tapa, which literally means cover, goes back to Andalusia in the south of Spain, around the middle of the last century, from the name given to a slice of ham, cheese or bread used to cover the wineglass served to the horsemen as they arrived at the roadside inn tired and thirsty. The tapa protected the wineglass from dust or rain. In fact, the tapa was free — the patron paid only for the wine.

Before lunch, and the dinner hour in Spain, bars and taverns fill with friendly groups carrying on animated conversations while nibbling small portions of anything edible, from almonds and olives to tiny fried fish or sausages.

Not far from the French border, close to the Pyrenees, the Rioja region has been producing table wines since the 12th century. The name Rioja is a contraction of the Rio Oja, a mountain stream in the area which flows into the River Ebro. More than 40 bodegas (wineries) are currently producing Riojas that you will recognize as sensibly priced, flavorful wines made principally from tempranillo and mazuelo grapes.

The character of red Rioja wines, rich in color and tannin, develops with the unusual, extended aging in oak casks which is a regional tradition. Conde de Valdemar, a producer with more than a century's experience producing Rioja is relatively new on the American wine scene. About 20 years ago, this fifth generation family bodega began to depart slightly from the traditional Rioja wines. Today, they are without a doubt some of the finest Riojas on the market.

The Torres family has owned vineyards in the Penedes near Barcelona, and produced wine since the 17th century. Their entry into the world market began in 1858. Today, Torres is the largest individually owned producer of premium Spanish wines, and the number one selling Spanish table wine in the United States.

Available in bookstores "The Catalan Country Kitchen," ($22.95), authored by Marimar Torres, President of Torres Wine North America, includes 100 recipes and sample menus. It is an excellent way to learn how to prepare tapas, paellas and just about everything that's culinary Spanish. It also includes valuable information on pairing food and wine.

PAELLA

¼ cup olive or vegetable oil, divided
13 ounces chicken cutlets, cut into cubes
1 cup diced onions
3 small garlic cloves, minced
1 cup red bell pepper strips (3-inch by ¼-inch strips)
2 medium tomatoes, blanched, peeled, seeded and chopped
12 ounces large shrimp
6 ounces uncooked regular long-grain rice
1 teaspoon each salt and crumbled whole saffron
3 cups boiling water
1½-pound lobster, cut into pieces (green sacs removed)
4 ounces diagonally sliced smoked beef sausage
8 each small clams and small mussels, scrubbed
1 cup fresh or frozen peas
Garnish: lemon wedges
In 8-inch nonstick skillet heat 2 tablespoons oil; in batches, add chicken and cook until browned on all sides. Remove from skillet and set aside.
In same skillet heat remaining 2 tablespoons oil over medium-high heat; add onions and garlic and saute until onion is golden, 2 to 3 minutes. Reduce heat to medium-low, add peppers and tomatoes, and cook stirring occasionally, until liquid evaporates and mixture becomes a thick paste, about 30 minutes (be careful not to burn).

Preheat oven to 400 F. Shell and devein shrimp, leaving tail "feathers" on; set aside. In paella pan or 14-inch nonstick skillet that has a metal or removable handle combine rice, tomato mixture, salt and saffron; pour in water, stir to combine, and bring to a boil. Remove from heat and arrange chicken shrimp, lobster pieces, sausage, clams, mussels, and peas over rice. Set pan on bottom oven rack and bake until liquid is absorbed and rice is tender, about 20 minutes (do not overcook). Remove pan from oven and let stand for 5 minutes. Serve garnished with lemon wedges. (Serves 8).

1 cup and 2 Tablespoons, tomato puree
¼ cup cracker or matzo crumbs
¼ tablespoon salt
½ tablespoon ground cumin
2 cloves garlic, mashed
¾ Tablespoon tabasco
¾ Tablespoon Lee & Perrin Worcestershire
½ cup olive oil
½ cup Heinz or other good wine vinegar
1 quart beef bouillon

1 branch celery, dice ½-inch
1 tomato, peeled, seeded, diced ½-inch
1 green pepper, seeded, diced ½-inch
½ cucumber, peeled, diced ½-inch ½ bunch scallions, sliced ½-inch toasted croutons
chopped green olives chopped hard boiled egg

Using wire whip, in a stainless steel, ceramic or glass bowl, mix first 7 ingredients to a smooth consistency. Add all liquids and mix again. Cut celery, tomato, green pepper, cucumber, and scallions, add to soup. Taste and correct seasonings if needed. Refrigerate at least four hours before serving. It will keep 2 days, refrigerated. To serve, ladle into cups, top with croutons, eggs and olives. Yields 2 quarts, approximately 9 servings.

POLLO A LA CHILINDRON

4 Tablespoons olive oil

3-3½ pound, chicken, cut up into chunks salt and pepper
1 Tablespoon chopped garlic
1 large onion, sliced thickly
1 red pepper, seeded and cut into strips
1 green pepper, seeded and cut into strips
4 medium tomatoes, peeled, seeded and diced
6 green olives, pitted and cut into halves
6 black olives, pitted and cut into halves

2 anchovy fillets, mashed

Season the chicken with salt and pepper. Into a nonstick skillet, pour the oil and heat up; over moderate heat saute the chicken until brown on all sides. Remove and set aside. Add onion and garlic to the pan and cook until translucent. Add peppers and tomatoes, and cook over high heat to evaporate most juice. Add olives, anchovies and chicken, cover and stew over low heat about ½ hour until chicken is tender. Serve with steamed rice on the side. Serves 4.

Get a taste of Spain without leaving home

If you can't stand the heat in the kitchen, but want to taste Spanish cuisine, visit Don Ricardo's Spanish Restaurant, 9565 Telegraph, Redford, (313) 533-8000.

Open one year in October, Don Ricardo's offers authentic Spanish cuisine prepared by Roberto and Rodolfo Caceres. Natives of Spain, the brothers studied culinary arts in Barcelona and worked in numerous restaurants before moving to Miami eight years ago. In Miami they continued their culinary education while working at different Spanish restaurants. They moved to Michigan last year to join the staff at Don Ricardo's.

The restaurant is open 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. Monday through Friday, 2-11 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays. Flamenco dancers perform at the restaurant, on Fridays and Saturdays, the show starts 9:30 p.m. There is a $5 cover charge.

Watch the Olympics on the wide screen television at Don Ricardo's in the wine cellar starting July 25. They will be offering tapas and Spanish wines with a 10 percent discount. In October, the restaurant will celebrate its one year anniversary, and the 500th anniversary of the discovery of America by Christopher Columbus.

The Townsend Hotel, 100 Townsend Street, between Pierce and Henrietta, Birmingham, (313) 642-7900, is hosting a special Spanish afternoon tea, noon to 3 p.m. Monday, July 27. Some of the food items that will be offered during the tea include Empanadas, Clams Casino, Flan, and Picatostes. All of the foods have Spanish origins.

To add to the authenticity of the event, Los Flamencos, a local Spanish Dance Troupe, will entertain and share information about the culture and mystique of Spain.

Reservations are suggested and can be made by calling, 642-7900. The cost is $18.95 per person.

A Spanish feast is also planned 7 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 13 at Morels, 30100 Telegraph, Birmingham Farms, (313) 642-1094, and 7:30 p.m. Friday, August 14 at Sebastian's Grill in the Somerset Collection on Big Beaver Road between Crooks and Coolidge, (313) 649-6625.

The fixed price dinner, $29.95 per person, plus tax and gratuity features Spanish music, tapas, soup, Seafood Paella Barcelona, salad, and flan for dessert. A package of Spanish wines will also be offered.

New ways to enjoy old, but never out of style, olives

See Larry Jones' column about olives on Taste front.

BAKED CHEESE AND OLIVE TERRINE

8 slices bread, broken into pieces
3 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
1 cup grated cheese (any type)
½ cup sliced olives
3 eggs, beaten
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
¼ cup liquid from the olives
2 cups hot milk

Toss bread cubes with 2 tablespoons of melted butter. Line the bottom of a greased bread pan with ½ cup of bread cubes. Add a layer of ½ cup cheese, then ¼ cup olives. Repeat. Top with remaining bread. Sprinkle with remaining melted butter. In a separate bowl, mix eggs, mustard, liquid from the olives and milk, mixing well. Pour over bread mixture and bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes. Allow to set for 10 minutes before slicing.

cheese and mayonnaise. Arrange fruit halves, cut side up, on some fresh shredded lettuce and cover tops generously with olive mixture. Sprinkle with almonds and paprika.

OLIVE SAUCE

12 green olives
1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon onion, chopped
1 tablespoon carrot, chopped
1 tablespoon flour
1 cup chicken stock or broth

1 whole clove
salt and pepper to taste

Remove pits from olives. Place in a saucepan, cover with water and boil for 30 minutes. Drain and chop olives. Melt butter in a medium skillet. Add onion and carrot and sautee both until golden. Sprinkle with flour and cook, stirring constantly for 5 minutes. Gradually add the stock and stir with a whisk until thick and smooth, about 5 minutes. Add clove, season to taste with salt and pepper. Simmer over low heat, stirring occasionally for 15 minutes. Remove clove, add olives and serve immediately. Can be reheated if necessary. This sauce tastes great on lamb.

CELERY AND OLIVE STUFFING

3 cups soft breadcrumbs
1 cup chopped celery
½ cup chopped olives
¼ cup chopped onion

1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper dash paprika
3 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
½ cup chicken broth or stock

Mix together breadcrumbs, celery, olives, onion, salt, pepper and paprika. Moisten with melted butter, melted in hot chicken broth. Mix thoroughly. Place in a lightly greased casserole or stuff into a bird and bake.

PEACH AND OLIVE SALAD

¾ cup sliced ripe olives
3 ounces cream cheese
1 tablespoon mayonnaise
4 peach halves (fresh or canned)
1 cup shredded lettuce
¼ cup sliced almonds
¼ teaspoon paprika

Blend together the olives, cream

Toss up quick and easy salmon-pasta salad

AP — This is a quick and easy summer salad. If you don't have shell macaroni, you can substitute eight ounces of any other kind of pasta.

SALMON-PASTA SALAD

8 ounces uncooked shell macaroni (about 3 cups)

Two 6 ½-ounce cans salmon, drained and flaked
One 6-ounce jar marinated artichoke hearts, chilled and undrained
¼ cup Italian dressing

2 tablespoons capers, drained

Cook macaroni according to package directions; drain. Rinse with cold water. Drain. Mix macaroni and remaining ingredients. Serve on salad greens if desired. Makes 4 servings.

Weight Loss

Surprises Researchers

WASHINGTON — A nutrition organization was hopeful that a nutritionally complete, hi-tech food tablet would help ease world hunger problems, until a study revealed that one of the ingredients could cause significant weight loss.

Although other studies and scientists may not agree, researchers in Europe found that the ingredient, a natural plant compound, actually caused people to lose weight, even though specifically instructed not to alter normal eating patterns according to one study published in the prestigious British Journal of Nutrition. Researchers in an earlier study had speculated that the weight loss was due to a decrease in the intestinal absorption of calories.

While the project of National Dietary Research, aptly named Food Source One, would not be used to successfully fulfill its original goal, the formula which has since been improved with other natural compounds has been a windfall for some overweight people. A Metairie, Louisiana nurse lost 71 pounds. She stated, "I never had to sacrifice the foods I really crave."

Food Source One is very easy and anyone could do it, says a Niagara Falls, New York woman who lost 26 pounds and 15 inches. The results are great, she added.

Food Source One tablets are part of National Dietary Research's comprehensive plan to bring a rapid end to obesity in this country. A variety of nutritionally sound diet plans, specially prepared by NDR, accompany each bottle and provide a natural drug-free alternative for confronting the problem of obesity.

Celebrate the Olympics with friends and festive fare

Even if your summer plans do not include a trip to Barcelona, chances are you'll still be watching the Olympic Games — from the comfort of home. And since nearly everyone else will be watching them too, why not invite a few friends for a fiesta and enjoy the games together?

To set the stage for the evening's entertainment, start with a quick-to-fix dinner featuring the flavors of sunny Spain. Two new recipes from the Pace Picante Sauce Test Kitchens will help keep preparations simple.

Make-ahead Barcelona Chicken is perfect for week night entertaining. Garlicky Shrimp Espanol is a speedy Spanish-style stir-fry.

GARLICKY SHRIMP ESPANOL

- 1 medium onion, cut into ½-inch wedges
- 3 garlic cloves, minced
- 1 Tablespoon olive oil
- 2 medium tomatoes, chopped (2 cups)
- ½ cup Pace Picante Sauce
- 1 teaspoon thyme leaves, crushed

Barcelona Chicken: Boldly seasoned and created for health-conscious, time-conscious cooks, Barcelona Chicken is a festive combination of chicken, artichokes, onions and tomatoes.

- 1 teaspoon ground coriander
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 pound large shrimp, shelled

- and deveined
- 1 large green pepper, cut into short, thin strips

1 tablespoon lemon juice
¼ cup thinly sliced green Spanish olives or ripe olives
Hot cooked rice or pasta
Lemon wedges (optional)

Cook onion and garlic in oil in large skillet over medium-high 2 minutes, stirring frequently. Add tomatoes, picante sauce, thyme, coriander and salt; mix well. Bring to a boil over medium-high heat. Reduce heat, cover and simmer 5 minutes. Stir in shrimp and green pepper; cook uncovered over medium-high heat until shrimp are cooked through and peppers are tender, 5 to 6 minutes, stirring frequently. Stir in lemon juice. Sprinkle with olives; serve with lemon wedges, if desired, and additional picante sauce. Makes 4 servings.

BARCELONA CHICKEN

- 6 boneless, skinless chicken breast halves
- 1 package (9 ounces) frozen artichoke hearts, thawed
- 1 medium onion, cut into ½-inch wedges
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1 can (8 ounces) whole tomatoes, cut-up, undrained

½ cup Pace Picante Sauce
¼ cup dry sherry
1 teaspoon ground cumin
½ teaspoon salt (optional)
½ teaspoon thyme leaves, crushed

2 to 4 Tablespoons coarsely chopped cilantro or parsley, as desired

6 servings hot cooked rice

Place chicken in single layer in shallow dish. In medium bowl, toss artichokes and onion in flour. Add remaining ingredients except cilantro and rice, mixing well; pour over chicken. Cover and refrigerate at least 2 hours or overnight, as desired. Transfer chicken and sauce to large skillet, arranging chicken in single layer. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat, cover and simmer until over low heat 15 to 20 minutes or until chicken is cooked through. Remove chicken from skillet and arrange over rice; keep warm. Increase heat to high; cook sauce, stirring constantly and scraping up browned bits from bottom of skillet, 2 minutes or until desired thickness. Spoon sauce over chicken and rice; sprinkle with cilantro. Serve with additional picante sauce. Makes 6 servings.

Sauces dress up summertime dishes

LITE SUCCESS

FLORINE MARK

Summer fashions brighten up with fun accessories like straw hats, straw purses, and bangle bracelets. Just as you can accessorize any outfit, you can also accessorize a meal. Dress up your favorite summer dishes with spectacular sauces and bring them to life.

Summertime brings with it the search for the perfect barbecue sauce. This year, search no more. Barbecue favorites will sizzle when smothered in Royal Barbecue Sauce. Turn grilled chicken breast, spare ribs, or pork chops into a dish that's fit for a king.

If you'd like something a little more elegant, thick and delicious Walnut Sauce will add a special touch to a romantic indoor picnic for two. It can be prepared beforehand and stored in the refrigerator for up to a week.

Fresh summer vegetables are in abundance at the market, the corner vegetable stand, or even in your own back yard. For healthy summer snacking, vegetables are filled with nutrients and vitamins you may lose during outdoor activity. Just as you can dazzle a simple black dress with the right jewelry, vegetables take on a different flair when served with a great dip, like Citrus-Honey Mustard Dip. This tangy topping adds zip to ordinary vegetables for a fabulous, healthy change.

Go to the mall to accessorize your summer wardrobe, but stop at the grocery store for the ingredients to accessorize your favorite summer recipes.

ROYAL BARBECUE SAUCE

- ½ cup ketchup
 - 1 Tablespoon each Worcestershire sauce and distilled white vinegar
 - 2 teaspoons each vegetable oil and firmly packed dark brown sugar
 - ½ to ¾ teaspoon powdered mustard
 - ½ teaspoon salt
 - Dash each ground red pepper (optional) and black pepper
- In small saucepan combine all ingredients and, over high heat, bring to a boil. Reduce heat to low and let simmer, stirring frequently until flavors are well-blended, 5 to 10 minutes. Makes 4 servings (about 2 tablespoons each).

Each serving provides: ½ fat, 30 optional calories. Source: Weight Watchers Favorite Recipes, 1986.

WALNUT SAUCE

- 1 Tablespoon plus 1 teaspoon margarine
- 2 Tablespoons minced onion
- 1 garlic clove, minced
- 2 teaspoons all-purpose flour
- 1 cup water
- 1 packet instant chicken broth and seasoning mix
- 1 ounce shelled walnuts, very finely ground
- 2 teaspoons red wine vinegar
- ½ teaspoon ground cinnamon
- Dash each ground cloves, ground red pepper, salt and pepper
- 2 teaspoons chopped fresh parsley

In small saucepan heat margarine until bubbly and hot; add onion and garlic and saute until softened. Add flour and cook, stirring constantly, for 2 minutes.

Gradually stir in water; add broth mix and, continuing to stir, bring mixture to a boil. Continue to stir and cook until mixture thickens slightly; stir in remaining ingredients. Reduce heat to low and let sauce simmer, stirring occasionally, until flavors are blended, about 5 minutes. Serve immediately or let cool, then transfer to container, cover, and refrigerate until ready to use. Makes 4 servings.

Each serving provides: 1 fat, 55 optional calories. Source: Weight Watchers Favorite Recipes, 1986.

CITRUS HONEY-MUSTARD DIP

- 2 ounces firm-style tofu
 - 2 Tablespoons thawed frozen concentrated orange juice (no sugar added)
 - 1 Tablespoon plus 1 teaspoon reduced-calorie mayonnaise
 - 2 teaspoons country Dijon-style mustard
 - 2 teaspoons honey
- In blender combine all ingredients until smooth. Makes 4 servings.

Each serving provides: ½ fat, ¼ protein, ¼ fruit, 10 optional calories. Source: Weight Watchers Simply Light Cooking, 1992.

A bad night bodes well for Mills

■ A disappointing night at the Bank Cafe in her home of Ottawa, Ontario, might have spelled the end of Lynn Miles' singing career. But it didn't. Trained as an opera singer and an accomplished guitarist and pianist, Mills has gone on to produce two records and tour the United States and Canada.

By LARRY O'CONNOR
STAFF WRITER

In her possession were 300 songs, not one played before an audience. Lynn Miles might have been deemed paranoid as she was prolific, but actually it was a case of her feeling quite vulnerable.

When the Sweetsburg, Quebec, native tells how she became so guarded of her solitary works, the feeling is understandable and makes her songs all that more precious much like the pristine voice from which they originate.

One night, Miles was singing cover tunes at the Bank Cafe in her home of Ottawa, Ontario. The place was full of chatter, no one bothering to notice the singer-songwriter on stage plying her trade.

"I got off the stage after the third song of my set and ran downstairs and cried and cried," said Miles, 33, who performs as part of the La Casa Folk Music Series Friday, July 24, at Birmingham Unitarian Church. "It's very dehumanizing to be on stage and not have one person listen to you. I decided I wasn't going to do that anymore."

Miles has come a long way since. She shunned cover tunes, releasing two albums of her own songs and has emerged as one of Canada's finer up-and-coming musical exports.

Her latest, "Chalk This One Up to the Moon" (Snowy River Records, Box 130, Station B, Ottawa, Ont., Canada K1S), is a ripe collection of vivid songs culled from personal experience and forged in sterling folk and country settings. They speak to a restless melancholic romanticism, which is a universal feeling but perhaps more so in the vast trappings of Canada.

"The Venus Motel," a torchy number impeccably sung unstrained in Miles' classically trained voice, tells the story of a lonely woman of 30 who works at the front desk of the inn and wonders if tomorrow will be the day she finds love. Down the road, a man sits in a diner waiting to muster enough courage to pursue his love interest.

The song leaves the pairing unresolved. Do they eventually meet?

"Yeah, I think so," Miles said.

"It's Hockey Night in Canada," a willowy folk pop lament, is a metaphor for what Miles perceives as the old boys club mentality that exists in her country. She was inspired to write the number after a well-publicized sexist joke was made by a member of Parliament while in session on the anniversary of the "Montreal

Como esta?: Canadian native Lynn Miles may have cried after a disappointing night at the Bank Cafe in Ottawa a few years ago. Scheduled to perform at the La Casa Folk Music Series this weekend, Miles' tears have turned to smiles as she scores successes singing her own songs rather than covers.

Massacre."

"It's Hockey Night in Canada" decries violence, not only against women, but in general. Miles says reaction to the song has been mostly positive.

"Some people think it's a male bashing song. I'm not a male basher . . . I just want everybody to get along."

Miles was trained in voice by an opera singer and is an accomplished guitarist and pianist. She cites Emmylou Harris as one of her main influences vocally. "She (Harris) has sort of this pure, angelic voice," Miles said. "It's pure, but it knows a lot at the same time."

In terms of songwriting peers, Miles was inspired by the likes of Neil Young, Gordon Lightfoot and Bruce Cockburn. She purposely didn't listen to Joni Mitchell when she was younger for fear she would end up inadvertently sounding like the Canadian artist.

Miles started out performing covers while she continued to write her own songs. After the dreadful night at the Bank Cafe, she gave up performing regularly and taught music for awhile.

But unlike that evening at the Bank Cafe, one person was listening. Frank Taylor and his wife regularly attended Miles' shows. He convinced Miles not to quit and, as result, became her manager. Her career continues to blossom, leading her to tour Canada and perform in the United States.

So, like the character in her song "The Venus Motel," someone was there.

"And I didn't even know it," she said.

Lynn Miles will perform as part of the La Casa Folk Music Series 8:30 p.m. Friday, July 24, at Birmingham Unitarian Church, 651 N. Woodward, at Lone Pine Road. Tickets are $10 in advance; $12 at the door. For information, call 646-4950.

Making waves at the beach with custom-made swimsuits

By CHARLENE MITCHELL
SPECIAL WRITER

With metro Detroit's long awaited summer tentatively here, it's swimsuit time again! In case you are planning on purchasing a new one, most stores in our area are still overstocked due to slow sales during the unseasonably cool temperatures in May and June.

Swimsuits are still as difficult as ever when it comes to finding one that looks good on you and fits the way you like . . . but don't give up hope just yet, newer styles with a "real woman's" figure in mind make swimsuit shopping less stressful than in years past.

If it suits you:
At the Bobette Shop in Waterford, a designer suit like this white one-piece with matching jacket can cost $50-$80.

"We make it extremely easy with our custom designs," says Carol Bross of Beach Bound in downtown Birmingham. "What we do is work with clients by appointment. A designer takes their measurements; the customer then selects from a group of styles which best match her figure, and we go from there."

Beach Bound has been in business for years, and they've manufactured more than swimsuits for area women who swear they'll never buy another suit off the rack. One suburban mother of four with a hard-to-fit torso has had six swimsuits made at Beach Bound.

"I just never felt I looked good in a swimsuit until I had one made," the shy customer said. "Now I walk around our pool freely and when my husband and I go away on vacation he loves to see me in my suit even without the cover up."

Owner Bross said her service is basically for every woman.

"We can make suits for women with perfect figures as well as petite, tall, thin, or overweight women."

According to Bross, two-piece suits are more popular than tanks this year because of the higher cut waist which comes up to the naval or above rather than the skimpy bikini cuts.

The high cut sides give the illusion of longer, slimmer legs which balances well with the higher waist line so that younger, well-shaped women are also attracted to the style.

Strapless, underwired tops are more popular than the triangle tops, mostly because of the support they provide, and the assistance in providing cleavage, even with small-busted women. Only very large-busted clients are advised to stay away from the strapless tops, Bross said.

Patterns are more popular than solids at Beach Bound, although muted colors, such as coral, turquoise and other Southwest shades, are gaining in popularity.

"Last year's rush toward neons is something we aren't experiencing this year," said Bross.

In addition to the swimsuits, Beach Bound makes matching skirts, shorts, jackets and visors for their clients. With more than 100 fabrics available, many clients order several pieces which are interchangeable, not often possible when buying regular retail.

Another store that does a tremendous swimsuit business is the Bobette Shop in Waterford. Owner Harriet Dunskey personally does the buying and keeps up with fashion trends. Over the past couple of seasons, Bobette has included more daring and unusual styles by designers like Bill Blass, Roxanne and Catalina. Most suits are coordinated with matching cover-ups.

"Instead of just the usual over-the-head type cover-up, we're selling a lot more skirts this year, long

STAFF PHOTOS BY JERRY ZOLYNSKY

Perfect fit: At Beach Bound, custom-made swimsuits accentuate the positive like this two-piece, strapless bikini. But the price tag for that perfect fit runs $65-140.

skirts with slits up the sides," said Dunskey. "A lot of ladies don't want to show off their legs, especially if they aren't tanned yet."

Expect to spend $65-140 for a custom made suit at Beach Bound and $50-80 for a basic designer suit at a regular retail store, such as Jacobsons or Hudsons. Around this time of year most stores begin clearance sales, but with summer-like weather making a late arrival most retailers are holding off on the sales and hoping for a wave of purchases in July and August.

"I sell swimsuits all year because so many people travel to Florida and the Caribbean during the cold months," said Dunskey. "To our customers, several swimsuits are an absolute necessity to the wardrobe!"

With more styles to choose from and stores that will make a suit to fit, there's no reason why any of us should have a problem getting into the swim of things this season.

Jarmusch, Rafelson lose their directorial touch

TICKETS PLEASE

JOHN MONAGHAN

Two of America's most idiosyncratic directors have new movies out this week. And both, for the most part, flop at the very quirkiness that made them famous.

Jim Jarmusch's "Night on Earth," playing for a second weekend at the Detroit Film Theatre, revolves around an irresistible premise. Five stories are set in five different taxi cabs in five different cities on one ordinary night.

The first segment, set in Los Angeles, stars the film's most recognizable performers, Winona Ryder and Gena Rowlands. It's also the least inspired, a hackneyed story about a movie casting agent who thinks she has found something real in the tomboy taxi driver who shuttles her from the airport.

Rowlands is great as usual as a woman completely controlled by her high-powered position. Still, Jarmusch works better with scruffy non-actors, especially musicians like Tom Waits, John Lurie and even Screamin' Jay Hawkins, who brought a sort of pop reality to the director's earlier films. A famous actress like Ryder seems out-of-place in Jarmusch's world.

The bits that follow are strictly hit-and-miss. Roberto Benigni, so memorable in Jarmusch's "Down by Law," logs the movie's best performance as a cabbie who decides to confess his sordid sexual history to the priest he picks up. There's another predictable and hokey end to this 20-minute ride.

And this is the main problem with "Night on Earth." Like them or not, Jarmusch's previous films have been true originals. For some reason, he feels compelled in this one to deliver preachy situation comedy just like every other Hollywood director.

His visual style remains intact, however. The color is gorgeous and he does evoke the mood of various cities, from New York to Helsinki, in establishing shots that are works of art in themselves. A wall of clocks set for different times on earth cleverly link the various sequences.

"Man Trouble," meanwhile, reunites Jack Nicholson and Bob Rafelson, the actor/director team behind "Five Easy Pieces" and "The King of Marvin Gardens." I looked forward to seeing Jack's eyebrows in action in a small picture where he could play a regular Joe.

Get ready for another disappointment. "Man Trouble," despite the best efforts of Nicholson and co-star Ellen Barkin, never strikes the right comic chord. It's an embarrassment right from the animated credits, which set up the film's tasteless running gag about a German shepherd who rides on any available leg.

Jack plays an attack dog trainer who sells "piece of mind" to an opera singer (Barkin), plagued by threatening notes and phone calls. He takes a special interest in her predicament and charms her out of her neurotic shell.

"Man Trouble" offers this paper-thin plot as a springboard for what should have been inspired bits of character chemistry. Harry Dean Stanton and Beverly D'Angelo round out the talented cast in amusing takeoffs on Donald and Ivana Trump, but everyone labors for the same spark that ignited earlier films.

Small pieces of this one do work, such as Jack's wide collar and Bwana Don vests, which look like rejects from Marion Perkins's closet. He wisely underplays the role until the end, when the whole thing degenerates into mindless slapstick and he's left with a frantic "What am I doing here?" look on his face.

TRAVEL

Lakeside: The castle of Ouchy on Lake Geneva in the lower part of Lausanne, Switzerland has a famous 12th-Century watchtower on its nouveau Gothic structure.

Lausanne: The Olympic City

Swiss sport international HQ

BY PAUL HOFMANN
NEW YORK TIMES SYNDICATE

As top athletes from all continents warm up to compete for gold medals in Barcelona, scores of international sports officials in the lake city of Lausanne, Switzerland, are already at work planning the 1996 Olympic Games in Atlanta.

The preparation, financing and marketing of the Olympics require an organizational effort comparable to mounting a world's fair or a space program — and it's all done in this pleasant city on the north shore of Lake Geneva.

Lausanne proudly calls itself the Olympic City, displaying in its official logo the five linked rings superimposed on the outline of its 700-year-old cathedral. The headquarters of the International Olympic Committee is in a 19th-century chateau and an adjacent steel-and-glass structure in the western lakeside suburb of Vidy at 9 Route de Vidy (telephone 6216111).

The founder of the Olympic Games of the modern era, the French educator Baron Pierre de Coubertin, is buried at the Montoie Cemetery nearby.

Work is in progress on a large new Olympic Museum to house photos, posters, medals, flags and other memorabilia of all Olympic Games, including such artifacts as a bobsled built by Swiss sportsmen for the 1912 Olympics in Stockholm. The museum is to open on June 23, 1993, the 99th anniversary of de Coubertin's call for the first modern Olympics in Athens.

Until then, there is still plenty to see and to do in Lausanne, Switzerland's fifth largest city. Built on five hills, it is a cosmopolitan city with spectacular views of the lake and the snowcapped ranges and peaks of the Savoy Alps across it.

Thousands of students at Lausanne's university, a prestigious hotel school and several private boarding schools help make Lausanne far more vivacious than most Swiss cities and towns.

Lausanne is 38 miles northeast of Geneva and linked with that city by a much-traveled lakeshore road. Direct trains to Lausanne depart from Geneva Airport every 15 to 30 minutes from early morning to late at night, taking 45 minutes for the trip with a stop at Cornavin Terminal in Geneva.

What to see

The Metro, a combined subway and cog railway, is the fastest way of getting from one tier of the city to another, climbing from the Ouchy section on the lake to the railroad station and farther up to the city core in 6 minutes.

An extension leads to the western suburbs. Transfers to the municipal bus and trolley lines are free within an hour of buying the Metro ticket. The fare is 68 cents for up to three stops, $1.35 (prices at $1.57 Swiss francs to the dollar) for longer trips. Children pay 68 cents for any distance. From the Centre Ville (city center) stop an elevator carries passengers up to a pedestrian overpass that leads into the heart of Lausanne.

Walk to your right toward the Place St. Francois. Named after the 15th-century church on its north side, the lively square is, for short, Sainfe to the Lausannois.

The imposing post office opposite the church rises on the site of an old house, La Grotte, where Edward Gibbon lived from 1783 to 1793, completing his monumental "History of the Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire."

North of Place St. Francois is the Place de la Palud with the Fountain of Justice and the dignified Renaissance facade of the 15th-century City Hall. Photo and art shows are often held in the arcades of City Hall (free admission).

A stairway proceeds to the hill-top Cathedral of Notre Dame. When the Gothic church, with a massive square tower and red-tiled spires, was consecrated in A.D. 1275, a pope, Gregory X, and a king, Rudolf of Hapsburg, were on hand.

Photo exhibit: The Musee de l'Elysee in Lausanne focuses entirely on photography, some of which is displayed in dramatic contemporary settings.

Link up with Irish, Scottish golf courses

BY EVERETT POTTER
SPECIAL WRITER

The game of golf is closely linked to Scotland.

Avid American golfers often dream of playing the Old Course at St. Andrews, the birthplace of the game. But there are more than 400 other courses in Scotland to lure golfers across the Atlantic.

What's more, devotees claim there is nothing like golf in Ireland, where battling a stiff Atlantic wind at a course such as Ballybunion is part of the enjoyment.

"For golfers, it's like going to Mecca," said Gordon Dalgleish, president of PerryGolf, an Atlanta-based company that offers golf holidays to Scotland, Ireland and other overseas destinations.

"It's become a very popular thing to do," said Gary Galyean, publisher of "The Golf Letter," a monthly publication subtitled "The Newsletter of World Golf."

"The real attraction is that the golf played in Scotland and Ireland is completely different from what's played over here," said Galyean.

"It's played hard, firm and fast. It's a ground game with low shots that roll to the green. That's because of the nature of the turf and because of the wind, which is relentless."

Anyone who has ever seen a golf course in Ireland, for example, would find it difficult to equate it with the lush, tree-lined fairways of American courses.

Irish courses resemble hilly, grass-covered sand dunes, more suitable for grazing sheep than for hitting and finding a small white ball.

"They're called links courses and they were formed by a retreating sea," said Galyean.

"Therefore, these courses are always beside the ocean, treeless, undulating and on sandy ground. The bunkers were originally holes dug by the sheep to get out of the wind, which is always blowing."

Playing golf overseas was once considered an expensive indulgence. But that's no longer the case.

A variety of tour companies have set up affordable programs in which golfers spend a week in either Scotland or Ireland.

They may play five or six different courses and still have time for sightseeing.

"We recognize that people do other things besides golf for four hours a day," said Marc Mink, president of OwenOak-Castle Tours of Darien, Conn., which offers golfing trips to Ireland and Scotland.

"About 80 percent of our clients have us customize their trips, depending on their needs. They may have a non-golfing spouse or want to spend a few days touring."

OwenOak-Castle's "Seven Days in Ireland's Southwest" package is offered in conjunction with flights on Aer Lingus.

It includes playing golf at the course at Lahinch, the Old Course at Ballybunion, the Killen Course in Killarney and the Waterville Golf Club on the scenic Ring of Kerry.

Prices for the trip range from $890 in off-season (October to April), to $955 in June and September and $995 in July and August. Airfares vary, but they range from $499 to $699, with departures from New York or Boston to Ireland's Shannon airport.

OwenOak-Castle also offers stays at some of Ireland's famed country hotels and castles. Golfers can spend a few nights at Dromoland Castle, for example, the home of Lord Inchiquin, head of the O'Brien clan.

Set among 400 acres of woods and formal gardens, the turreted castle overlooks a lake. There's an 18-hole golf course on the castle grounds and both Lahinch and Ballybunion are within a two-hour drive.

The price per person is $815, May through September, for a three-night stay (based on double occupancy). This includes a rental car and two rounds of golf. Airfare is extra.

For information contact OwenOak-Castle Tours, 3 Parklands Drive, Darien, Conn. 06820 or call (203) 655-2531 or (800) 426-4498.

PerryGolf offers tours to both Ireland and Scotland, but also to up-and-coming European golfing destinations such as Portugal and Spain.

"I think we're looking at an evolution that will occur in the next decade," said Dalgleish of PerryGolf. "By that time, people will have done Scotland and Ireland and be anxious to try other courses."

PerryGolf also offers golfing holidays in Australia, New Zealand and South Africa.

But for those who have yet to make the pilgrimage to St. Andrews, PerryGolf offers a "Classic Scotland" seven-day itinerary.

Golfers arrive in Glasgow on Sunday and pick up a rental car.

The packages include six nights' accommodation, breakfasts, dinners, green fees and a rental car. Prices range from $1,875 to $2,515 (based on double occupancy).

Airfares are sold in conjunction with British Airways and vary depending upon season and departure gateway. For information contact PerryGolf, 8302 Dunwoody Place, Suite 305, Atlanta, Ga. 30350 or call (404) 641-9696 or (800) 344-5257.

Fly-in fishing provides thrill

Booming like a rock drummer's base, my heart kept the beat as a steady chorus of zzzzzzzzz's came blaring from my fishing reel.

"Nice fish," I thought. "Nice fish."
I'd been fighting him for close to 10 minutes now and after his third run to deep water, my opponent seemed to lose his will. I was able to work him close enough to the boat to identify it, but as soon as he saw the boat my reel began buZZZZing again. The six-pound-test monofilament was stripped from my open-face as the ferocious Northern Pike bolted back into deep water.

My partner, Brian Goemare, and I had patiently trolled this lake in northern Ontario for the better part of two hours without a hit. We'd been marking fish on our Hummingbird all afternoon, but this was the first one we'd actually encountered.

He was 30 yards behind the boat when he decided to feast upon my chartreuse and orange Rattle-Trap. After an exciting 15-minute fight — including four strong runs — a seven-pound, 31-inch Northern pike was finally in the net. Although nowhere near a record catch, the Northern — the biggest I've ever caught — was certainly a trophy in my eyes. It was a cold, windy afternoon, but the battle had left me dripping with sweat and excitement.

A trip to paradise

A feeling of exhilaration had swept over me the day before as the DH C-3 Beaver (four passenger sea plane) touched down on the surface of northern Ontario's Easey Lake.

"Yea!" I exclaimed "Welcome to paradise."
A nearby pair of loons seemed equally inspired as they erupted into a welcoming chorus while we unloaded our gear from the plane.

Spending a week in a rustic log cabin in the remote Canadian wilderness may not sound like paradise to some, but to this angler it was one step short of heaven.

I had dreamed of a fly-in fishing trip to Canada for many years. Last fall, three friends, Goemare and Neil O'Dwyer of Lake Orion and Larry Axsome of Auburn Hills and I, decided on a trip.

We drove 150 miles north of Sault Ste. Marie to the town of Hawk Junction where we hooked up with our hosts Mary Haight and Kelly Culhane, co-owners of Hawk Air Ltd. We flew another 30 miles into the wilderness before arriving at Easey Lake.

The fun began later that afternoon as Brian broke the ice and caught the first fish of the trip. Trolling an orange and brown Hot-N-Tot, Goemare landed a relentless 28-inch Northern over a weed bed in 15 feet of water.

We spent the first five days of our trip on Easey Lake, catching mostly pike as well as a few walleye and perch; then flew to another lake — Little Missinaibie — 30 miles to the east for a walleye bonanza on the final two days of our trip.

Feasting on fish

The excellent walleye and pike fishery in northern Ontario is certainly no secret to Michigan anglers. But when we got to the sea plane base and heard about a 10-pound walleye and a 23-pound Northern coming out of the area two days before we arrived, our excitement rose to another level.

Despite less-than-favorable weather conditions which included high winds, rain and cold temperatures (30s at night and 40s to 50s during the day), we managed to acclimate ourselves with Easey Lake and find some productive holes within the first couple days.

We caught our fill of three- to four-pound pike and feasted on fish each night. The bigger, trophy-sized pike we were searching for just didn't seem to be interested in our offerings of night crawler harnesses, jigs, minnows, flat fish, Dardevles, Rapalas, spinner baits and the likes.

Little Missinaibie turned out to be a walleye haven as we boated more than 100 fish in a day-and-a-half of fishing. Once our new found friend George Deacon (see accompanying story), an outfitter from Union Lake who works for Hawk Air, showed us where the fish were, crawler harnesses and jigs tipped with night crawlers or minnows turned into walleye magnets.

Color seemed to be insignificant. I started out using a chartreuse jig, but found equal success with brown, orange, green and white.

A complete package

It wasn't just the daily fill of walleye, pike, white-fish and perch that branded the trip outstanding. It was a combination of Canadian hospitality, great fishing and wildlife encounters that fulfilled my longtime dream.

From pre-trip lists of what gear to bring and maps of the lakes we were fishing to a midweek check, including ice delivery and tips on where and how to catch the fish, our hosts did all they could to ensure that we had fun and success.

O'Donnell aims for Olympic gold

GUY WARREN/STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

Aiming for gold: Eighteen-year-old Jennifer O'Donnell of Farmington hopes to bring back a gold medal in women's archery from the Olympics.

BY DAN O'MEARA
STAFF WRITER

Jennifer O'Donnell of Farmington has traveled thousands of miles to compete, practiced countless hours and devoted much of the last four years to one goal.

Her objective was to make the U.S. Olympic team in women's archery, and her efforts were so rewarded at the Olympic Trials in May. Now she has a new goal.

"I'd like to be in the gold medal match," the 18-year-old O'Donnell said. "I wouldn't be going if I didn't want to bring home the gold."

O'Donnell will leave Wednesday for the Summer Games in Barcelona, Spain. The Olympics begin July 25 and end Aug. 9, with the archery competition slated for July 31 through Aug. 4.

"I'm excited. It's been my goal the last four years and it's finally here," she said. "I'm happy about it, but there are a lot of other things I'd like to do. I'd like to medal at the games, and I'd like to go again in '96."

International competition is nothing new for O'Donnell, one of three women on the U.S. team who has been to Poland, Norway, Italy, Cuba, Japan and Finland for tournaments in the last three years.

The World Championships in Poland last year were good preparation for the Olympics, according to O'Donnell.

"I finished 17th, but that was my first major competition with people who are the best in the world," she said. "I had been shooting well enough to compete with them, but I never had. I didn't have enough confidence and got blown away by it all."

"I wish I would have done better, but I'm glad I had those kind of problems. I'll be able to deal with that kind of pressure, and I'll know what to expect Jennifer O'Donnell of Farmington is setting her sights on the gold medal when she travels to Spain later this week for the start of the 1992 Olympic Games and competition in archery as a member of the three-woman United States team.

when I get over there."

Getting there took a lot of time and effort. O'Donnell, who has been competing seriously since 1987 with the Olympics as her aim, spent her junior year of high school at the Olympic Training Center in Colorado Springs, Colo. She returned to graduate from Farmington High School in 1991.

"It helped me a lot," she said. "I got to work with sports psychologists, get on a weight-training program and practice more. It made me more aware of what I was doing and more knowledgeable of my equipment and form."

Then came The Trials at Tempe, Ariz. O'Donnell was among 70 women vying for a spot on the Olympic team, but only a handful were in actual contention.

"It was only my second outdoor tournament of the year, but as long as I shot well I stood a good chance," she said.

After two days of qualifying, O'Donnell survived two days of elimination rounds and placed second. She will be joined on the team by Denise Parker (18) of Utah, a member of the '88 team, and Sherry Block (21) of Colorado.

"I was actually more relieved than anything because The Trials were over," O'Donnell said. "I didn't have to worry whether I was going or having everyone be disappointed that I didn't make it."

The Olympic format in archery has been changed to make the sport more appealing to a television audience. In the past, the eight remaining archers competed simultaneously for the top three scores and medals.

In 1992, qualifying will be done the first two days, with archers competing in a FITA (shooting 36 arrows from each of four distances). The field will be

Victory keeps Hines Park atop league

Hines Park Lincoln/Mercury clung to its slim hold atop the Livonia Collegiate Baseball League standings Wednesday with a 2-1 win over Little Caesars at Ford Field.

The winners improved to 16-9, one point ahead of second place Walter's Appliance (15-8-1).

"We have three big games coming up with Walter's and that should tell us the story," Hines Park coach David Carroll said. "The league is real competitive this year. I think you could throw a blanket over all of us and watch to see who will come out on top."

Scott Rodgers (Plymouth Salem/Kent State University) tossed a two-hitter through six innings against Caesars.

Rodgers walked the first batter in the seventh before giving way to Jeff Paluk, who retired the side and earned the save.

Rodgers struggled with his control throughout the game, walking eight.

"I credit our catcher Scott Niemiec (Salem/University of Michigan) with settling Rodgers down when he needed it," Carroll said. "Niemiec really took control of the game. That's why he's such a fine catcher. When Scotty would walk someone, Niemiec would settle him down."

Vince Sacco knocked home Jason Riggs (ex-Plymouth Canton) for the first Hines Park run. He then stole third base and later scored on a wild pitch.

Livonia Franklin product Dave

Roman (Henry Ford Community College), went the distance and suffered the loss for Caesars.

Walter's wins easily

Louie McKaig (Madonna University) tossed a three-hitter Wednesday to lead Walter's Appliance to a 7-1 win over Ann Arbor Wendy's at Ford Field.

McKaig worked all seven innings and fanned six, while walking just two.

Mike Grahl took the loss for Wendy's after allowing seven runs in five innings.

Walter's tallied four runs in the second inning thanks to a two-run double from Craig Overaitis (Franklin/Henry Ford CC). Jason Gabel (Livonia Churchill/Central Michigan) added an RBI single.

Gabel, on a torrid hitting pace of late, also contributed a two-run double in the fourth inning.

Raindrops fall on Delwal

Delwal added another rainout to its list Wednesday, having to cancel a game with the Tecumseh Green Giants at Farmington High.

"The field conditions were just too poor," Delwal coach Bob Peterson said. "We have a lot of games to make up. That might work in our favor because we have less losses than anybody else in the league."

Osborn's 7 goals pace league-leading Wolves

The Wolves gained sole possession of first place in the Metro Summer Hockey League with Wednesday's 14-7 win over the Spartans.

Tim Osborn scored seven goals for the Wolves, who improved to 6-0 for the season with 12 points, one ahead of the second-place Kings (5-0-1, 11 points). The game was typical of most Metro Summer Hockey League matchups — a lot of goals were scored.

"It's typical of summer hockey," said commissioner A.J. Baker, who also coaches the Kings. "The defense waits to score goals, leaving it up to goalkeepers to make the plays. The goalies love getting a chance to see all the rubber."

Joe Burton (Garden City) scored four goals to support Osborn, who is "dynamite," according to Baker. "He scores at will."

Scott Locke (Livonia and Redford Catholic Central) and Eric Evans each scored two goals for the Spartans.

In another game played Wednesday, the Canadians beat the Lakers 9-8 on a goal with 29 seconds left by Bobby Hayes (Westland). Hayes, who scored three goals for the Canadians, scored on a scramble in front of the net after a pass from center Joe Bonnett (Canton). Bonnett added two goals and two assists for the Canadians, who are 4-2-1 (nine points) and tied for third with the Falcons (4-3-1). The Canadians split the goalie duties between Dan Schemanske (Livonia) and Darin Burton (Garden City).

Brett Graham had three goals for the Lakers, who are 1-5-1 overall. Cory Al-man had four assists.

The Wildcats on Thursday earned their first point of the season with a 5-5 tie against the Bulldogs. The Wildcats are 0-7-1 overall and the Bulldogs are 1-5-1.

The Bulldogs avoided a loss by scoring two goals near the end of the third period. Rob Woelker and Brian Lindstrom were the goal scorers. Lindstrom finished with two goals on the night.

The Wildcats were led by Mike Kneiding's one goal and one assist.

Rich Nagy was the Bulldogs netminder and Keith Albertie played goal for the Wildcats.

The Broncos moved to 4-3 overall (eight points) with Thursday's 9-5 win over the Spartans. Mario Muzzuca had a hat trick and three assists for the Broncos. Chris Tamer scored one goal and two assists.

Paul Pachkevitch had two goals for the Spartans, who are 2-4 with four points.

cut to 32, and a step-ladder elimination process will begin, culminating with the gold-medal match between the two remaining archers.

"I like the format a lot because, though there is more pressure, it makes you concentrate more," O'Donnell said. "With 12 arrows, you know every arrow counts. You don't get caught up in the score as much. You want to make sure every arrow is going in the middle. Before, with 36, if you messed up on one, you could recover."

The lakes we fished are located in the Chapleau Game Preserve, so wildlife was plentiful. Loons were numerous on Easey Lake and serenaded us regularly with nature's most beautiful melodies. A proud bald eagle swooped over our cabin on the second day of our stay at Easey Island and bull and cow moose were feeding daily on aquatic plants at both lakes.

Beaver and beaver huts were too numerous to keep track of and there were daily demonstrations of building and gathering by nature's original carpenters. Ducks and ducklings were ducking our boat in nearly every bay and a sneaky weasel stole an 18-inch walleye from a livewell at our camp on Little Missinabie.

O'Donnell will have the support of her father, Jack O'Donnell, a former archer who got her involved in the sport and will also make the trip to Barcelona.

"I think he had more confidence in me than I did for awhile," O'Donnell said. "I think he's happy for me making the team and seeing all the hard work pay off."

I'm already making plans for a return trip next year. If you are an avid angler and enjoy frolicking in the wilderness, you're missing the boat (er, plane) if you don't drop in on our neighbors to the north.

Roadrunners set for big event

By M.B. DILLON
STAFF WRITER

Runners, walkers and wheelers, start your engines. The gun signaling the start of the Ninth Annual Redford Roadrunner Classic will fire Saturday evening, July 25, at Veterans Park in Livonia.

Sponsored by the fun-loving, hard-driving Redford Roadrunners, the Classic has earned a reputation as one of the most popular, competitive and festive races in the state. A field of more than 1,000 — studded with All-America and NCAA distance stars — is expected again this year, according to race organizers.

The Classic actually is a series of races followed by one heck of a party. There'll be plenty to eat and drink, and dancing until midnight, said co-race director Larry Huff.

The "Classic Junior" for kids 12 and under will kick off the evening's activities at 5:30 p.m. The one-mile fun run/walk will follow at 6 p.m. The eight-kilometer run is set for 6:30 p.m.

After last year's 96-degree heat, the Roadrunners are offering no reassurances regarding Mother Nature's behavior. But they are promising a certified, flat, fast and accurate course, a musical sendoff from kilted bagpipers, five-year age groups, colorful T-shirts bound to end up in your favorites pile, and customized gold, silver and bronze medals for top age-group finishers.

All Classic Junior finishers will be awarded medals. The top six male and female runners in the open division will receive $100 savings bonds.

Club members will serve up grilled hotdogs, bagels, chips, cookies, fruit, pretzels and plenty of pop and beer, both non-alcoholic and alcoholic. There'll also be a graffiti board, the usually crowded outdoor, co-ed shower and prize giveaways.

Covering the race along with the sponsoring Observer will be co-sponsor WWJ and Michigan Runner Magazine. Entrants will receive postcards detailing their finishing time and place in the run.

The Classic is expected to draw a large field of wheelers, who include the race each year in the Michigan United Sports Chair League Series. Among the wheelers will be Jim Keskeny of Pinckney, a former Birmingham resident and Catholic Central graduate who has multiple sclerosis. Keskeny plans to wheel himself in, but will have help along the way from members of the People Who Run Downtown. The club is raising pledges for M.S. in Keskeny's name. Anyone interested in pledging may call (313) 437-4302.

Late entry fee (after July 15) is $20 and includes the run and admittance to the party. The cost for the mile fun run and party is $12. Entry fee for the Classic Junior is $8. Entry forms can be clipped out of this newspaper. They're also available at Running Fit in Novi, at area sporting good stores, or by calling (313) 347-4949.

Race-day registration will be 3:30 to 6 p.m. at Veterans Park, at Stark and Lyndon in Livonia. From I-96, take the Farmington Road exit north a half mile to Lyndon and go west a quarter mile to Stark. Paved parking is available in the Ford Field lot and at the YMCA. For more information, call (313) 347-4949.

Area's best seek Team Challenge

AL HARRISON

Larry Walker and D.J. Hochstein, both of Garden City, will join Lee Snow of Farmington Hills as captains in the first National Team Challenge. The event will take place at Cherry Hill Lanes in Inkster. It's the first stop on a 12-city tour around the United States. The tour leads up to the Grand Championships.

The event will be televised on Prime Network Television, which reaches about 25 million homes across the country (except in our area).

Pro Am Sports System (PASS) will show a rebroadcast of the event in our area. The time and date has not been announced.

Any ABC/WIBC sanctioned team is eligible to compete and can sign up at the lanes at least 30 minutes prior to the start of competition.

The date is Saturday, July 25 for the elimination rounds and Sunday, July 26 for the semi-finals and finals.

Each team will bowl a pair of three-game blocks on the first day (beginning at noon). The 10 highest scoring teams will qualify for 15 more games under the Baker System on the second day.

The Baker System involves all five bowlers in a single game score with the leadoff bowler rolling the first and sixth frames. The second bowler rolls the second and seventh frames, and so on.

The top teams will then qualify for the televised finals of the two-game Baker System elimination matches at 2 p.m.

This is a scratch event (no handicap), therefore, the higher average bowlers tend to take part.

This could be really interesting to watch and with the free admission. The trip may certainly be worth while.

There are teams coming in from Ohio, Pennsylvania, Indiana, New York, Wisconsin, Florida and Nebraska.

Larry Walker's team includes Troy Stus of Garden City, his father, Gene Stus (recent star of the PBA senior television bowling series), Paul Grauer of Westland and Mike Torchia of Southgate.

The Hochstein team includes Dave Hamilton of Garden City, Jeff Dreyfuss (a professional from Ft. Wayne, Ind.) and Karl Brubaker of Garden City.

Lee Snow has a supporting cast of Dan Ottman of Troy, Tony DaDeppo, Greg Lewis and Steve Allen.

The winner of each regional competition receives the first place cash, along with an all-expense paid trip to the National Team Challenge Grand Championship next June in Reno, Nev.

• The NABI Tournament Club of Southeastern Michigan took place at Super Bowl Lanes in Canton.

It featured a stepladder final, which included four men and one woman, ages 19 to 55.

Mike Miller of Canton led the field en route to his first singles victory as a NABI member.

The next event for the NABI club is July 26 at Bowl One Lanes in Troy. For more information, call Randy at 459-4811.

• The Ladies Classics are looking for one full team for the Arena Pro Shop Ladies Majors.

They compete at 9:15 p.m. each at Thunderbowl Lanes in Allen Park. Call Ann Corn at 563-6254.

Ontario fishing trip worth it

BILL PARKER

Booming like a rock drummer's bass, my heart kept the beat as a steady chorus of zzzzzzz's came blairring from my fishing reel. "Nice fish," I thought. "Nice fish."

I'd been fighting him for close to 10 minutes now and after his third run to deep water, my opponent seemed to lose his will. I was able to work him close enough to the boat to identify it, but as soon as he saw the boat my reel began buZZZZing again. The six-pound-test monofilament was stripped from my open-face as the ferocious Northern Pike bolted back into deep water.

My partner, Brian Goemare, and I had patiently trolled this lake in Northern Ontario for the better part of two hours without a hit. We'd been marking fish on our Hummingbird all afternoon but this was the first one we'd actually encountered.

He was 30 yards behind the boat when he decided to feast upon my chartreuse and orange Rattle-Trap. After an exciting 15-minute fight — including four strong runs — a seven-pound, 31-inch Northern pike was finally in the net. Although nowhere near a record catch, the Northern — the biggest I've ever caught — was certainly a trophy in my eyes. It was a cold, windy afternoon, but the battle had left me dripping with sweat and excitement.

A trip to paradise

A feeling of exhilaration had swept over me the day before as the DH C-3 Beaver (four passenger sea plane) touched down on the surface of Northern Ontario's Eassey Lake. "Yea!" I exclaimed "Welcome to paradise."

A nearby pair of Loons seemed equally inspired as they erupted into a welcoming chorus while we unloaded our gear from the plane.

Spending a week in a rustic log cabin in the remote Canadian wilderness may not sound like paradise to some, but to this angler it was one step short of heaven.

I had dreamed of a fly-in fishing trip to Canada for many years. Last fall, myself and three friends, Goemare and Neil O'Dwyer of Lake Orion and Larry Axsome of Auburn Hills, decided on a trip.

We drove 150 miles north of Sault Ste. Marie to the town of Hawk Junction where we hooked up with our hosts Mary Haight and Kelly Culhane, co-owners of Hawk Air Ltd. We flew another 30 miles into the wilderness before arriving at Eassey Lake.

The fun began later that afternoon as Brian broke the ice and caught the first fish of the trip. Trolling an orange and brown Hot-N-Tot, Goemare landed a relentless 28-inch Northern over a weed bed in 15-feet of water.

We spent the first five days of our trip on Eassey Lake, catching mostly pike as well as a few walleye and perch, then flew to another lake — Little Missinaibie — 30 miles to the east for a walleye bonanza on the final two days of our trip.

Feasting on fish

The excellent walleye and pike fishery in Northern Ontario is certainly no secret to Michigan anglers. But when we got to the sea plane base and heard about a 10-pound walleye and a 23-pound Northern coming out of the area two days before we arrived, our excitement rose to another level.

Despite less-than-favorable weather conditions which included high winds, rain and cold temperatures (30s at night and 40s to 50s during the day), we managed to acclimate ourselves with Eassey Lake and find some productive holes within the first couple days.

We caught our fill of three to four-pound pike and feasted on fish each night. The bigger, trophy-sized pike we were searching for just didn't seem to be interested in our offerings of night crawler harnesses, jigs, minnows, flat fish, Dardevles, Rapalas, spinner baits and the likes.

Little Missinaibie turned out to be a walleye haven as we boated more than 100 fish in a day-and-a-half of fishing. Once our new friend George Deacon, an outfitter from Union Lake who works for Hawk Air, showed us where the fish were, crawler harnesses and jigs tipped with night crawlers or minnows turned into walleye magnets. Color seemed to be insignificant. I started out using a chartreuse jig, but found equal success with brown, orange, green and white.

A complete package

It wasn't just the daily fill of walleys, pike, whitefish and perch that branded the trip outstanding. It was a combination of Canadian hospitality, great fishing and wildlife encounters that fulfilled my longtime dream.

From pre-trip lists of what gear to bring and maps of the lakes we were fishing to a midweek check including ice delivery and tips on where and how to catch the fish, our hosts did all they could to ensure that we had fun and success.

The lakes we fished are located in the Chapleau Game Preserve so wildlife was plentiful. Loons were numerous on Eassey Lake and serenaded us regularly with nature's most beautiful melodies. A proud Bald Eagle swooped over our cabin on the second day of our stay at Eassey Island and bull and cow moose were feeding daily on aquatic plants at both lakes.

Beaver and beaver huts were too numerous to keep track of and there were daily demonstrations of building and gathering by nature's original carpenters. Ducks and ducklings were ducking our boat in nearly every bay and a sneaky weasel stole an 18-inch walleye from a livewell at our camp on Little Missinaibie.

I'm already making plans for a return trip next year. If you're an avid angler and enjoy frolicking in the wilderness, you're missing the boat (er plane) if you don't drop in on our neighbors to the north.

HOROSCOPES

By C.C. Clark

CANCER (June 21 - July 22)
If you have been thinking about starting a family or mending a family relationship, this is a good time. Try learning a new skill.

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22)
Restlessness and obstinacy could cause trouble. Fear of failure is unwarranted. Try to see a certain situation from the other person's perspective.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22)
Big changes are in your near future. At first it will seem that everyone has turned against you, but this is not true. Honesty will pay dividends.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22)
Don't abandon your spiritual quest for material gain. This move will leave you empty and bereft. Selfish ambition will get you nowhere.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 - Nov. 21)
Accomplishing a specific goal should take priority. Great pleasure comes from the simple things in life. You will find peace in rough times ahead.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21)
A love of home and growing things will serve you well in the very near future. After much anxiety you will achieve success.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19)
This could be the beginning of great spiritual understanding. It's no time for timidity. Your creative intelligence will come in handy.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18)
Don't let your imagination work overtime. Stop, take a deep breath and try to see things as they are. It may not be as bad as you first thought.

PISCES (Feb. 19 - March 20)
This is not an easy time for you, but things will get better soon. Disruptions at home can be easily handled, as long as you keep your temper in check.

ARIES (March 21 - April 19)
Financial matters need your immediate attention. You will achieve success in your life very soon. Be generous with your love but not your funds.

TAURUS (April 20 - May 20)
A possible change of employment or learning of a new skill will be undertaken. You can look forward to a time of great happiness and good fortune.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20)
Someone close to you has good news concerning financial matters. A flaring temper could cause problems. Stay calm to make things work.

NBC trades cartoons for news, sports, weather

By Suzanne Gill

It's a new day at NBC. The peacock network, which was beaten in the ratings this season by a resurgent CBS, has started shedding its old plumage and is putting out new feathers, all in the hopes of wooing the under-30 crowd for its advertisers.

Gone are "The Golden Girls," "Matlock" and "In the Heat of the Night." Once proud enough to strut with plumes such as these, NBC has dropped them all. Gone, too, are Saturday-morning cartoons. The new NBC is for those 9 and up—viewers in their pre-allowance years need not apply. The network is grooming itself for a young, hip, decidedly urban audience.

That means the news. And the weather. And cooking segments, health tips and movie reviews. After launching an overnight news service in November and (finally) getting a workable news magazine off the ground in March, NBC is ready to call it "Today" every day of the week.

The 40-year-old "Today" show floundered a couple of seasons ago when the news division underestimated viewer devotion to co-host Jane Pauley, who left the show in January 1990. Audiences fled the upheaval at "Today" for the dependability of "Good Morning America," only to be lured back late this spring by the smart, bubbly style of Katie Couric.

Riding the tailwind, "Saturday Today" premieres on Aug. 1, smack in the middle of NBC's coverage of the Summer Olympics in Barcelona, Spain. (Talk about your flight insurance). With "Sunday Today," the Saturday edition makes NBC the first broadcast network to present morning news and information seven days a week.

Hosts of the Saturday program, who will occupy the customary "Today" show set, are Scott Simon and Jackie Nespral. Simon is a public-radio veteran who has earned two Peabody awards and an Emmy and currently anchors "Weekend Edition, Saturday" for NPR. On television, Simon has served up the quarterly series "American Pie" on PBS for two years.

Nespral comes to "Today" from Spanish-language network Univision, where she anchored "Noticias y Mas" (News and More), a live, hourlong report, for two years.

The pair will spend one third of each hour giving news and weather updates. In addition, there will be feature stories and informational segments on travel, cooking and other topics of interest to viewers planning weekend activities.

According to Karen Curry, executive producer of morning news programming, there will be "more emphasis on what people are actually doing on a Saturday."

Nespral and Simon, she adds, were chosen for their diverse talents and backgrounds and for their versatility in moving from hard news to lighter stories. Curry notes that while neither will be pigeon-holed with particular stories, each will bring outside interests to the show. Simon, a big kid from the streets of Chicago, is a sports enthusiast. Nespral, a wife and mother, has an understandable interest in family matters.

Curry's overall aim is to appeal to weekday "Today" viewers while attracting working people who may not have time to watch the show until week's end.

"It will have a little bit of everything," she concludes—with not a little panache.

BITTIS AND PILEICIS

Perot-biz-ise; Olympic-sized promotion

Ross Perot is a contender in the presidential contest because he is also one of the most successful businessmen ever. The Texas billionaire is now sharing his expertise in two videotaped business seminars. Trial By Fire, comprised of Perot tips for building a winning enterprise, and America Under Fire, which deals with the relationship between American business leaders and the U.S. government in regards to the global economy.

Leave the Games to amateurs and the hype to professionals. Sparing no expense to promote its coverage of the 1992 Summer Olympics in Barcelona, Spain, NBC has teamed up with Coca-Cola and Warner Music for a bit of business they're calling "Medals & Music." Each day during its Olympics coverage, NBC will air world-premiere music videos incorporating highlights of Olympic competition. The videos will be designed to capture the spirit of the spotlighted event of the day.

Among the performers involved are Eric Clapton, INXS, Elton John, Tina Turner, Bruce Hornsby, Randy Travis, Anita Baker, Keith Sweat, Travis Tritt and En Vogue.

Purchasers of Coca-Cola who find winning messages under the bottle cap may redeem them for any of three recordings of music from the videos.

NBC goes for the gold — and the royal blues. The peacock network has announced a fall 1992 air date for The Royal Divorce, a docudrama about the separation of the Duke and Duchess of York. Production on the woeful tale of Sarah Ferguson's split from Prince Andrew is currently under way in England. Martin Poll, executive producer of the project, is also working on a miniseries about Fergie's sister-in-law. Based on the Andrew Morton biography, Diana: Her True Story is expected in time for the May 1993 sweeps.

ELLERBEE FAIRIE

Ellerbee, Nick write news that can't lose

By Chris Carpenter

For most kids, TV news provides a 30-minute breather, a great opportunity to take in supper while the TV set illuminates an empty living room. But Linda Ellerbee intends to change all that.

Kicking off a three-year deal between Ellerbee's studio, Lucky Duck, and Nickelodeon, the first program, Special Edition, premiered in the midst of the Persian Gulf War. More recently, Special Edition presented a frank interview with basketball hero Magic Johnson.

This spring, Nick News W/S joined Special Edition in Nickelodeon's lineup. Also from Lucky Duck, it gives kids their own half-hour report each week.

"It's my great ambition," Ellerbee says, "if we do this right, that kids may actually grow up and read a newspaper." Exchanging her signature "And so it goes" tag line for "If you want to know...ask," she emphasizes the W/S of the show's title — who, what, when, where and why.

By demonstrating her investigative skill on the show, Ellerbee says, young viewers become accustomed to gathering facts and making decisions for themselves.

"The show's motto is 'Question Authority,'" Ellerbee says proudly. "I've never heard any two words that better describe the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States."

Kirk Douglas, Jack Lemmon and Anthony Quinn are the guests on Wednesday's Larry King TNT Extra.

Solution

Daytime Emmys; remembering Riley

By Candace Havens

The elusive Emmy passed Susan Lucci (Erica, All My Children) by again, and it was a darn shame. Instead, Erica Slezak (Viki, One Life to Live) won the award for Outstanding Lead Actress, although Jessica Tuck (Megan) and Lucci were much better and had a lot more to work with this past year. In a recent interview with Lucci, she said it was great to be nominated 13 years in a row and though she would like to win, it doesn't make much difference to her.

Emmy night wasn't a total loss, there were quite a few surprises and well-deserved awards given. Thom Christopher won for his devilish portrayal of Carlo Hesser on One Life to Live. The Outstanding Supporting Actress category had some tough contenders but it was appropriate that Maevie Kinkaid won for her portrayal of Vanessa on Guiding Light.

Kristoff St. John won the Emmy for Outstanding Younger Lead Actor, but his performance simply did not compare to that of Patrick Stuart (Will, All My Children). Tricia Cast (Nina, The Young and the Restless) did deserve to win the Outstanding Younger Lead Actress award. Her scenes with the wicked David were incredible.

I think the biggest surprise was Peter Bergman picking up his second Emmy for his portrayal of Jack Abbott on Y&R. I think it is a well-deserved award, but I really didn't think he would win two years in a row.

AMC was named Outstanding Daytime Drama Series and it is about time. It is one of the best-made shows and has many talented people.

A sad note is the death of the actor Larry Riley. Several readers have noted that he did not look well last season on Knots Landing. On June 6, the actor died of kidney failure as a complication of an HIV infection.

Riley was best known for his role as Frank on Knots, but he also played Calvin Barnes on The Doctors for three years, and guest-starred on Miami Vice. He appeared in the feature films Crackers, A Soldier's Story and Bird. Riley was also in the TV movies Muggable Mary and Blind Side.

Women's basketball team looking for gold in Barcelona

All-star men's team may have to share spotlight

By Steve Paschal

Olympian Clarissa Davis understands all the fuss being made over the United States' men's Olympic basketball team. In fact, she and her teammates on the women's squad may be the biggest fans of America's "dream team."

"Just being around guys like Michael (Jordan) and the others is exciting," says the three-time University of Texas All-American. "The whole world wants to see them play and all of us want to see them win the gold as much as anybody."

Despite their admiration for the men's team, it's clear the women wish that some of the spotlight falling on their male contemporaries would shine on them. "There are no commercials for women's basketball, but what can you do?" Davis asks philosophically. "I think we'll get more publicity if we fail to win the gold medal than if we win it."

Nobody disputes that the men's team is by far the best ever to take the court in Olympic competition, and there are some who feel that the U.S. team also has the best women players ever. But, unlike the men, the women won't find the road to the gold a walk in the park.

"It's definitely going to be harder for us than for the men," Davis says. "The teams from Cuba and Brazil are playing very well and there are some good European teams. But we've assembled a great group and we're just going to concentrate on winning the gold."

Just the anticipation of participating in the Olympics is exciting for Davis. She is also thrilled at the prospect of playing before American television audiences once again. After graduating from Texas in 1989, Davis, like many American women, had to go to Europe to find a professional team to play for.

"It's kind of a contradiction that the best individual players have to leave their home country where the game was founded in order to be recognized," Davis lamented. "It's weird that the people overseas seem to appreciate us more than our own people."

Dick Enberg and Katie Couric serve as morning hosts for NBC's coverage of the 1992 Summer Games.

NBC covers Summer Olympics in a big way

By Suzanne Gill

Though the Summer Olympics won't get under way until Saturday, July 25, NBC is beginning its coverage nearly a week earlier.

On Sunday, July 19, the United States Olympic team leaves Tampa, Fla., for its trans-Atlantic flight to Barcelona, Spain, site of the Games, on NBC's Olympic Sendoff.

Friday, July 24, on the peacock network, tune in for a two-hour primer to the Games, Barcelona '92: A New World Gathers. According to spokesman Ray Stallone, the special will focus on the U.S. team, with additional reports on the changes wrought by political upheaval in Eastern Europe. There will also be a feature on the host city itself, which this year marks the 500th anniversary of Christopher Columbus' historic departure.

At midday on Saturday, July 25, NBC offers the Sports Illustrated for Kids Olympic Special, a "kid's-eye view" profiling several of this year's Olympians. Later in the afternoon, the network presents Guardians of the Flame, a half-hour documentary about the work of the International Olympic Committee and this generation's renewed Olympic spirit.

After that lengthy prologue, the Games get their official start with NBC's prime time presentation of the Opening Ceremonies on the 25th.

Coverage of the competition begins on the afternoon of Sunday, July 26, and continues on weekday mornings in prime time and late night through Sunday, Aug. 9.

Former University of Texas All-American Clarissa Davis has earned herself a spot on the United States Women's Olympic Basketball team. Preliminary competition begins Saturday, Aug. 1, at the Games in Barcelona, Spain.

LET'S TALK

Hankerin' for Haggard; 'Life Goes On' still

By Taylor Michaels

Q: My father was raised as an orphan and only began searching for his (biological) relatives in 1990 at the age of 75. We found out that he is related to the Baldknobbers of Branson, Mo., and it was recently verified by a second cousin that we are, in fact, related to Elvis Presley as well as to Merle Haggard. I am very anxious to know what Merle knows about all of this, because we have yet to learn very much about my father's father. —Joyce Anne Earl, Chillicothe, Mo.

A: Try reaching Haggard in care of Epic Records, 666 Fifth Ave., P.O. Box 4455, New York, N.Y. 10101-4455.

Q: Could you please tell me where I can have a videotape made of Sybil, starring Sally Field and Joanne Woodward? I've been to many video stores, and they say it's not available. —Rose Luyando, Astoria, N.Y.

A: Sybil has been widely available for rental for years. Though many made-for-television movies are never released to video and don't deserve to be, Sybil, made in 1976, won wide acclaim and an Emmy for Field, establishing her as a respected actress (not just the grown-up Flying Nun). If you still don't have any luck, try calling the Video Library of Philadelphia at 1-800-669-7157.

Q: I was wondering, is it true that Life Goes On is going to end next season? I like the show very much, and I would hate to see it go. I would greatly appreciate anything you could tell me. —Cathy Maines, Johnstown, N.Y.

A: The show has been renewed for the upcoming fall season, and all indications suggest it will retain its usual 7 p.m. (EST) Sunday-night position. Bill Smitrovich, who plays dad Drew Thacher, recently said in a USA Today interview that he hopes the network will realize the show's "loyal audience" will follow the program to any time slot of any day, if moving it would save it from being canceled.

Q: I just saw a terrific video entitled Rush, starring Conrad Nichols. He is a great actor. What other movies has he done? —B.T., Jonesboro, Ark.

A: Look for Nichols in these other two low-budget actioners: Days of Hell and A Man Called Rage.

Q: We were discussing the old series Death Valley Days recently and were trying to recall all of the program's hosts. Ronald Reagan and Dale Robertson came to mind, but who were the others? —Mark Hux, Fort Worth, Texas.

A: Though produced on a shoestring budget, the Western anthology (sponsored by 20 Mule Team Borax) proved to be one of the longest-running series in broadcast history, having begun on radio in 1930.

The first host on television (1952-1965) was Stanley Andrews as "The Old Ranger." He was succeeded by Reagan, who left in 1966 for the better job of California governor. Robert Taylor was next (1966-1968), followed by Dale Robertson (1968-1972) and singer Merle Haggard (1975).

Days reruns have appeared under several titles with various hosts, including Call of the West (John Payne), Trails West (Ray Milland), Western Star Theater (Roy Calhoun) and The Pioneers (Will Rogers Jr.).

Q: I would like to know whether I can obtain Gene Autry's address. My granddaughter thinks he's so nice. I'm hoping I can get in touch with him and that he'll send her a photo. —Marjorie Sironen, Ewen, Mich.

A: You can't pull the wool over my eyes, Marjorie. I'll bet that picture of Gene will have your name on it.

It has been said that few other things mean as much to Gene (and he has quite a few things) as his baseball team, the California Angels. My hunch is your letter will find him more quickly through this channel than any other. Write him in care of the California Angels, P.O. Box 2000, Anaheim, Calif. 92803.

Please send your questions to Let's Talk, Features Dept., P.O. Box 961009, Fort Worth, Texas, 76161-1009.
