Plant closing hits workers hard

News that the GM Delco Chassis Division plant in Livonia will close late next year surprised workers, although some had anticipated the closing. More detailed information on the closing's impact will be provided this week.

BY MARIE CHESTNEY
STAFF WRITER

Christmas 1992 turned unexpectedly grim Thursday when news hit workers at Livonia's GM Delco Chassis Division that the plant on Eckles Road will close late next year.

"It's a great Christmas present," yelled one worker as he walked across the parking lot at the end of the day-time shift.

Throughout the day, employees got vague details of the closing in small group meetings with union officials. More detailed information on how the plant closing will affect individual jobs and benefits will come in meetings this week at the plant and union hall on Eckles north of Plymouth Road.

While shocked at the suddenness of the announcement, and upset over the pending loss of their job, most employees streaming out of the plant Thursday said they are not surprised the plant will close. Rumors had abounded for years that the plant's days were numbered, they said.

"Ever since I hired in 19 years ago, they've talked about closing the plant," said Mike Novasky of Plymouth. "The plant wasn't making money years ago and it's not making money now."

Jerry Mercier of Westland, a 28½-year veteran of the plant, said he had expected the closing would come in 1994 or 1995. "The plant has lost $60 million in the last few years. They need to cut those losses."

David Senkbeil of Livonia, a 20-year veteran, said most workers could see the shutdown coming. "It's just been on the shelf for quite a while."

The closedown of the plant was a possibility on the minds of workers for the last 10 years, said Livonia resident Joseph Ribar, a 20-year veteran.

Charlie DeGrand, also of Livonia, is another worker who said he had seen the "handwriting on the wall."

"I expected it," DeGrand said simply.

A worker from Canton, who declined to give his name, said he was more surprised when GM announced earlier this year the closing of the Willow Run plant.

Livonia resident James Smartt, a 17-year veteran, said he didn't understand why GM continued to put money into the plant, such as in the waste treatment system.

Bob Nash, a Westland resident and 19-year veteran, echoed Smartt's question. "You think they're going to Workers link deaths to plant closing

BY M.B. DILLON
STAFF WRITER

At the funeral of Canton's Mark Alpers, Micki Alpers was told by her husband's co-workers that he was the 23rd Willow Run employee to die since the announcement last February that the GM assembly plant would close.

Despondent over losing his job, and succumbing to alcoholism and manic depression, Alpers, 40, took his life last summer.

A closer look shows the number of deaths among Willow Run employees is lower, said Henry Tincher, a benefit representative with Local 1776.

"We had 10 deaths in the seven-month period since the announcement. One was a suicide, four have been heart attacks, two were aneurysms, and the rest were due to accidents and natural causes," he said. Those who died ranged in age from 38 to 54.

Tincher said in the seven months prior to the announcement, there were seven deaths.

The two months prior to the announcement were stress-filled for Willow Run employees, who began hearing rumors that the Willow Run plant, and not the Arlington, Texas facility, would close.

Willow Run workers say there've been zero deaths over the same period at the Arlington plant. The work forces at Willow Run and Arlington both total about 2,000.

Al Hauck, a millwright from Canton, said one worker was a "foreman in his early forties. He'd had heart problems, and he died right on the line at the end of the shift. They rushed him off and he was DOA."

"We never heard very much of anyone dying of a heart attack," Hauck said. "Ever since the announcement, it seems like that has been the big thing. There have been several people who've died of heart problems."

Bob Harlow of Livonia is president of UAW Local 1776.

"All the heart attacks and aneurysms are directly related to the plant closing," he said. "But anyone you talk to with the corporation, or any of the doctors, say there's no proof for that. It's just the level of stress. It's extremely high. People are having problems with drinking, abuse and their families. It doesn't make you feel good at all, but you still have to try to keep going."

Clubhouse called 'structurally unsafe'

BY KEVIN BROWN
STAFF WRITER

The clubhouse at Hilltop Golf Club is sagging, decayed and leaky, and township trustees should get going on building a new one, a township official says.

"I've found that it's structurally unsafe," said township building director Charles McIlhargey.

He said the building's condition could also leave the township open to lawsuits.

McIlhargey sought trustees' support in February for a new clubhouse, but no action was taken. Last month, five new members were elected to the seven-member board.

A Nov. 30 report done by a consulting engineering firm seconds McIlhargey's finding on the clubhouse's condition.

Falling down: Floors are sagging, the roof is leaking and walls are bulging in the clubhouse at Hilltop Golf Course.

Engineer Edwin Shymanski, after detailing a list of problems with the building, suggested that the township get an estimate for corrective work to the structure.

"This estimate would be an indication which would justify a total demolition of the building," Shymanski wrote.

Saying "I haven't moved to condemn," McIlhargey said he's scheduled to meet Dec. 16 with township supervisor Kathleen Keen-McCarthy on the matter.

He's outlining a plan to finance the building of a new $650,000-$700,000 clubhouse, which could be paid for without raising taxes.

That could happen by borrowing from the township water and sewer fund and paying the fund back with $50,000 of the annual $270,000 in proceeds derived from Hilltop over a several year period.

Tentative plans call for demolishing the old clubhouse and building a new one on the hill which is also used as the No. 1 tee. Some holes on the southwest side of the course would also be reconfigured to accommodate the move.

The current clubhouse once sat near Lilley and Ann Arbor roads at the township's office complex. It was moved in 1979 to the golf course at the northeast corner of Ann Arbor Trail and Beck Road and placed on wood footings there.

In the engineering report, Shymanski detailed several problems with the structure:

■ The plywood roof deck could be weakened due to years of roof leaks which have stained ceiling tiles.

■ Water has rotted the ceiling wood lintel between the two dining areas. "A pencil was easily pushed into the decayed wood. This area must be corrected immediately."

■ Walls are bulging or buckling, probably due to water "causing the panel adhesive to lose its holding characteristic."

■ The plywood floor is disintegrating and the floor in front of the bar is spongy. A hole in the men's room floor has opened in the rotted

Delco closing will have an impact on Livonia

By TEDD SCHNEIDER
STAFF WRITER

Livonia's tightening financial belt will be squeezed another notch next year when GM's Delco Chassis plant shuts down.

The fall 1993 shutdown — announced Thursday as part of the latest wave of plant closings by the automaker — will cut about $360,000 from city tax rolls for fiscal 1993-94, according to Mayor Robert Bennett.

Add to that nearly 2,000 employees no longer spending money at local bars, restaurants and convenience stores and "we're definitely going to be feeling the financial impact for years to come," Bennett said Thursday.

"It's bad news for the employees, and it's bad news for the city."

A Livonia Public Schools official said Friday effects of the pending shutdown aren't as clear for the 16,000-student district.

The timing will mean the district won't feel the brunt of more than $1 million in lost tax revenue until 1994-95, said Mike Furlong, director of finance.

"It will have some impact. But there's a window here, room for an appeal in terms of taxes," Furlong said.

The Delco plant, one of five GM facilities in Livonia, has been turning out bumpers, springs and struts for GM cars since it was built in 1954. But output in recent years has been trimmed and the workforce is roughly half of what it was in the 1970s.

GM has never requested a tax abatement for the plant, nor have there been extensive renovations or additions.

The Eckles Road plant and the personal property within it carries a State Equalized Value of $47.13 million, according to the city assessor's office.

Its 1992 tax bill was $2.5 million.

The city's share of personal property taxes for 1992 was $359,829. Real property taxes — which GM will continue to pay as long as it owns the facility — were $160,983.

The school district received about $1.06 million from personal property taxes and $473,773 from real property taxes for 1992.

Bennett said he didn't know how to measure the ancillary losses to the city's economy created by the closing.

Studies have suggested as many two jobs are lost and five others are adversely affected with the loss of each auto job.

"Some employees may live in Livonia," Bennett said. "But all employees represent people who do some shopping here, who eat in restaurants."

The city is already coping with an anticipated $2 million shortfall in state shared revenues for the fiscal year that began Tuesday.

The Livonia City Council approved an administration plan cutting 26 full-time city jobs and implementing other cost-saving measures in October.

Bennett said Thursday he wasn't surprised at the announcement given other GM cuts but thought the target might be the Inland Fisher Guide plant on Plymouth at Inkster Road.

"At least we're not losing both," Bennett said. "There has been a concern over whether it was going to be one or two."

The mayor said he has already approached GM about marketing the plant to another user but he wasn't overly optimistic that would happen in the short run.

"They own the building. All the marbles are in their court."

are support groups, in-house counseling, re-training classes for workers and their families, coping teams, and a plant chaplain.

Tincher notes that "referrals are way up. People are coming in for a variety of problems. We have stress management classes going, and they're paying people to go to them. That does tell you something."

More than 100 deaths occurred among Chrysler employees two years ago after the automaker's Detroit plant closed; a fact not lost on GM, employees say.

Cary Coleman is a full-time chaplain at Willow Run. Coleman said it's his job to "go into the work setting and find people who are hurting, who otherwise would not receive any kind of help. When people are hurting bad enough, they don't reach out, they withdraw," he said.

Several factors have added to the stress employees are experiencing. "People are checking out daily," said Coleman. "We're losing people to other plants, who for all intents and purposes won't be seen again. When someone you've worked next to and lived with for 20 years is suddenly gone, that's another stresser."

Recently, workers had two weeks to decide whether they wanted to transfer to Arlington, Coleman said. There were fewer spots available than people who wanted to go. "If your name was on the list during this two-week window, you could go. If you weren't on the list, you couldn't go. And you couldn't back out."

Employees are leery that the Arlington plant will eventually close. Some predict Willow Run won't close after all. Ypsilanti Township is suing GM, claiming the plant closing violates their tax abatement agreement.

Employees say Willow Run is less a plant than a community. Willow Run consistently donates more to Toys for Tots than any other company. Blood drives, United Way campaigns, athletic events for the handicapped, and cancer and leukemia fund-raisers are heavily supported by employees. "That's why it's such a shame; it's more than a factory. We're a community in itself that really cares," says Hauck.

"All these elements combined with all the other stresses in the everyday lives of human beings can create a volcano that can erupt," said Coleman.

"There are those who can't cope. It's fight or flight. Some people are reverting to their animalistic nature. They want to pick a fight. The major personal impact is on inter-family relationships, husbands and wives, parents and children. Drug and alcohol abuse, child and spousal abuse all go hand-in-hand with increased stress levels. Any increase in stress is going to create more health problems, also," he said.

Coleman says he tries to intervene early so "flares don't go up and bombshells don't fall. We hope we can cut off any dramatic explosions, and curb domestic violence."

keep it running because they put money in it and then they go and shut it down. It's like a kick in the gut. I think we should fly the flag at half mast. Mismanagement closed this plant."

To Jack Fedorko of Canton, a 24-year veteran, the news hit workers Thursday "like a bomb."

"There were long faces and upset stomachs. I wonder what will happen to the suicide rates, the divorce rates. I just refinanced my house. It will be hard to make payments without a steady paycheck."

Novasky, too, is worried whether he'll now be able to afford a house he just bought in Plymouth.

Because of the other GM plant closings, Novasky said workers are skeptical they'll find work in another GM plant. "We're hopeful we'll be picked up, but with so many others out of work, it doesn't look good."

The plant produces bumpers, springs and struts for GM vehicles. It is slated to be closed in the fourth quarter, 1993.

Therapy's a godsend for them

BY DIANE GALE
STAFF WRITER

Bruce Rich laid on his back, exercising his arm at the Canton Physical Therapy & Rehabilitation Services office last week, as he described how he tried to make a tough catch during a softball game in August. He missed the ball and landed on his shoulder.

Rich, a lineman for Detroit Edison, said his rotator cuff tear, a painful shoulder pull, kept him off work and ever since he's been trying to build his strength.

"I'm off of work until I'm able to perform functions of a lineman, for the safety of myself and my pole partner," the Garden City resident said.

In another room, June Howe describes the pain in her neck, wrists and ankles as being "unreal." Relaxing in a warm bubbling whirlpool, Howe said, she's battling arthritis and osteoporosis.

Howe, who lives in Presque Harbor in northern Michigan, has temporarily moved to the Canton area so that she will be close to the Canton Physical Therapy offices.

"They don't have this type of facility up there," Howe said. "I went to Henry Ford Hospital and my doctor recommended that I come here."

Ultra-sound treatment

Shirley Hamlin, a Plymouth mother of five children including a set of twins, sat in another area of the building on Ford Road. Pain travels from Hamlin's neck and down her arm. Karen Arthke was applying ultra-sound treatment to Hamlin's back. The deep heat that comes from the ultra-sound penetrates about 1.5 inches below her skin.

Another patient laid on a table, in another area separated by curtains. A machine nearby gave his body electrical stimulation as part of a pain management program. The theory is that his brain will learn how to allow just so many pain impulses to register. With less pain he'll have fewer spasms, which will cause less pain, according to Bhanu Hajratwala, owner of Canton Physical Therapy & Rehabilitation Services.

"It's a cycle and we're trying to break that cycle," said Hajratwala, a Plymouth resident.

Most of her patients seem convinced that physical therapy helps.

"With the physical therapy I'm able to do a lot more than before," Rich said adding that his general doctor suggested he undergo physical therapy. There's still a chance, however, that he will need surgery.

Working on exercise machines, a lot like those in health spas, Rich said, he tried exercising by himself at a fitness spa.

However, health spa employees usually aren't trained to help people with their injuries, according to Canton Physical Therapy & Rehabilitation Services physical therapist Kelly Gresock, who supervises Rich's exercises.

"They don't tell you how to recoup from an injury," she added. "They're not geared for that. They're there for the average healthy person."

The stress factor

All types of people, with all kinds of injuries seek help at the Canton office, said Hajratwala, a physical therapist who previously worked at Henry Ford Hospital and in home health care programs.

A lot of patients have stress related injuries affecting the muscles in their necks and backs.

"We make the patient independent of us," Hajratwala said. "They get on an exercise program. We look at their symptoms and eventually get rid of them."

She noted that there are cases where massage therapists and chiropractors are preferable.

"A chiropractor can get a person who is all bent over and the chiropractor can help that person right then," she said adding that since they are licensed by the state they don't need another doctor's written permission before starting therapy.

Physical therapists, on the other hand, must have written permission from doctors before providing therapy.

Daily routine

Therapy is also focused on what the person does on a daily basis. For instance, a homemaker has different needs than an auto worker. An important part of the therapy, too, is to provide the patient with exercise routines that can be done at home.

"We're very conservative," Hajratwala said. "It's not like in a chiropractor's office where it's pop, pop, bang, bang. If it's painful we don't do it."

When she first started her business in 1983 she had one employee, a receptionist, and the offices were on Sheldon Road.

"It was scary," she said. "The lawyers said it was bad to go into business. It's like the stock market — you can win or lose. I was investing in me."

At that time, she was also working in home health care and part-time at Henry Ford Hospital.

Phases of therapy: Dr. Bhanu Hajratwala explains the benefits of traction.

Club membership picks up with additional donations

In Thursday's update on the progress of the Plymouth and Canton Observer Christmas Cheer Club, we were reporting that contributions were down a bit.

Well, they certainly have picked up.

Lots of generous folks recently contributed. They include Mildred and Charles Domke, Plymouth; Bill, Ann, Janet and Brian Confer, Canton; Paul Sincok, Plymouth; Nick Jallo, Plymouth; Jack Wilcox, Plymouth; Bob and Marion Pearson; Lucille Broxholm, Plymouth Township; Diane and Emerson Coates, Plymouth; Helen Jones, Plymouth; Carole Anderson, Plymouth; Kevin, Christopher, Jonathan and Jennifer Pisani; and an anonymous donor.

Thanks, folks.

And if you haven't contributed, why not pick up a toy or canned good or two, and bring them by our office at 744 Wing.

Last year marked the first ever food and toy drive we'd done at our office, and we recorded about 200 contributors.

The idea behind the club is that no child should be without a gift on Christmas, and no family should go hungry.

Joining is easy. Membership is open to anyone who can take the time to stop by our office and drop off a canned good or new, unwrapped toy for a needy child.

Then, we'll continue to collect them through mid-December. That's when we'll turn them over to the Salvation Army for distribution to needy kids and families in our area.

When you drop by our office, we'd like to take your name and list it in the Observer with others who give to the Christmas Cheer

Television reported stolen from van

A 9-inch built-in TV was reported stolen from a van parked Thursday at the park and drive lot on Ann Arbor Road, according to a report filed with Plymouth Township police.

The TV was valued at $200, and damage stemming from the break-in was estimated at $50.

The theft occurred sometime between 7:20 a.m. and 6 p.m., according to the report filed with township police.

Thief confesses

Plymouth Township police got a call Thursday from the Canton Township police department, as officers there said a Canton youth, 17, had come into the station to confess some car break-in-thefts he'd committed earlier that night in Plymouth and Canton.

Among the thefts the youth confessed to police was one from a car parked on Denise Drive in Plymouth Township. There, the youth had taken a car phone and briefcase worth an estimated $500.

Police are pursuing the case against the youth.

Police assist injured man after apparent bicycle fall

Plymouth police assisted fire department personnel about noon, Dec. 3, regarding a "man down" at Harvey and Beech.

Officers said a 63-year-old Mill Street resident had fallen off his bike and was lying in the street near the curb. He was being helped by a man who said he was driving around the corner when he noticed the man lying in the street.

The victim smelled of alcohol and was bleeding profusely from a cut to his cheek. The man was unable to say what happened, and his speech was unintelligible. Police said the man passed out before an ambulance arrived. Medical workers tried awakening him with an ammonia inhalant, but were unsuccessful. The man was transported to St. Mary Hospital.

Activists aim for dismissal of case

A spokeswoman for activists charged with violating the state hunter harassment law said they'll seek to have their case dismissed.

Two of the activists are from Plymouth.

Heidi Prescott, national outreach director of The Fund for Animals and one of seven activists arrested in October at the Pinckney State Recreation area, said a motion to dismiss would be filed "by the end of December."

She was among the seven charged Oct. 3 as they tried to encourage bow hunters not to hunt, some by making noise and following hunters into the field.

Six members of the group stood mute at an arraignment Wednesday in district court in Chelsea, as one failed to show. A not-guilty plea was entered on their behalf and a March 1 trial date was set.

The protest was organized by the national Fund for Animals to challenge the state law.

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW
STAFF WRITER

Watching the Wayne County commission settle the 1993 budget last Thursday was like attending a play. The script had been written and the outcome was predetermined.

Although two special meetings before last Thursday were held specifically to finish the budget, the subject wasn't discussed much at either of them because commission Chairman Arthur Blackwell, D-Detroit, was negotiating with representatives of Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara and trying to figure out a way to avoid losing a vote to override some of McNamara's line-item vetoes.

Significantly, Blackwell sat down with commissioner Bryan Amman, D-Canton, to gauge which way the opposition wind was blowing. This was obvious when Amman voted no by mistake on one of the veto overrides Thursday, and Blackwell said, "I thought you said you were going to vote yes on that."

Although Amman (the de facto leader of what used to be called the "outhouse coalition" of suburban commissioners) couldn't muster enough votes to shoot down any of the veto overrides,

'I feel good that the commission came in with a tight, lean budget.'

Arthur Blackwell

the compromises that Blackwell struck with McNamara were significant.

Back in October, before McNamara vetoed the Dickens out of the general fund budget, the commission had voted (against the wishes of Amman, Maurice Breen, R-Plymouth, Kevin Kelley, D-Redford and downriver commissioner Edward Boike) to raise its personal annual allocation to $6.4 million from $5.6 million, in part by taking $1.4 million from a sort-of escrow fund set aside for foster care.

Thursday the commission settled for a personal budget of a little more than $5.9 million, about halfway between what it originally asked for and what McNamara wanted it to have. (In 1986 the commission's personal budget was $3 million.)

"I feel good that the commission came in with a tight, lean budget," Blackwell said. "(It demonstrates the public trust

'I give Blackwell a lot of credit. He changed the playing field. The whole budget thing kind of ended with a poof.'

Bryan Amann

we've earned."

As part of the compromise, the commission reduced its withdrawal from the foster care fund to $750,000 and dropped an attempt to shift $100,000 from McNamara's planning department to the commission budget.

The general fund part of the county budget, which is the part that the commission has a say in, is $315 million. In total, the county spends $1.5 billion a year.

Among the suburban commissioners, only Kay Beard, D-Westland, voted in favor of all of Blackwell's veto overrides, as did every commissioner representing Detroit except David Cavanagh, who was absent.

Blackwell also won compromise from McNamara when the commission "unallocated" money from several executive department activities. Although the unallocated money can still be spent by the respective departments, Blackwell said he wants complete explanations about what the people in those departments do, hence the unallocation. Amman, who voted in favor of some of the veto overrides, credited Blackwell with "a stroke of procedural genius" for a maneuver that short-circuited potential revolts that might have toppled the overrides.

He said Blackwell dug up a legal opinion dating back to the William Lucas administration that says the money in a given account will be zero if a veto-override fails.

To put even one dollar back in the account would then require the votes of at least eight commissioners. Amman said he didn't vote to override McNamara's vetoes in the commission's personal budget because he was sure there would be at least eight votes to put some money back in if the overrides failed.

However, Amman voted for the overrides on non-commission items, he said, because he didn't think he could get eight votes to put any money back in the accounts, which could have led to layoffs.

"I give Blackwell a lot of credit," Amman said. "He changed the playing field. The whole budget thing kind of ended with a poof."

Anti-stalking law approved

It's complete. The state Legislature has passed a four-bill anti-stalking law that a co-sponsor called "the strictest law in the nation."

"It has given victims hope they can see an end of their torment," said Sen. Robert Geake, R-Northville, as the upper chamber put the unanimous finishing touches on his bill.

"Previously, a victim could be stalked for weeks, months, even years, with very little that could be done to protect them."

Witnesses were mostly women harassed by estranged spouses or ex-boyfriends. Geake praised their courage for testifying publicly.

Geake worked on the package with Rep. Dianne Byrum, D-Leslie. Gov. John Engler is expected to sign them. The laws will:

- Define stalking as repeated harassment designed to frighten another by following, confronting, entering the other's property or contacting by telephone. "Generally these are constitutionally protected activities," said Geake, but they are unprotected when used in a harmful manner. Penalty for a misdemeanor violation: a year in prison and a $1,000 fine. (HB 5472, Byrum.)

- Define aggravated stalking as occurring in violation of a restraining order, pre-trial release or condition of bond. Penalty for a felony violation: five years and a $10,000 fine. (SB 719, Geake.)

- Allow the warrantless arrest of a stalker when a police officer has a reasonable belief that a restraining order has been violated. (HB 6038, Byrum.)

- Allow a victim to obtain a restraining order to prohibit stalking. It also allows the victim to sue the stalker for civil damages. (SB 1095, Geake.)

Church property up for sale again

BY KEVIN BROWN
STAFF WRITER

A court fight over St. John's Seminary in Plymouth Township has wound down, and the 175-acre parcel is up for sale again.

Ned McGrath, spokesman for the Archdiocese of Detroit, said the church is taking offers for the property, since a federal judge dismissed a claim against the property by a Maryland firm.

The firm, Retirement and Health Services Corp., had entered into a $5.5 million purchase agreement to convert the buildings into senior citizen housing.

But the archdiocese decided not to pursue the sale and voided it, claiming they could do this under the sale agreement. The Baltimore, Md., firm sued, claiming the archdiocese could not break the agreement.

Then in July, U.S. District Judge Avern Cohen dismissed the case, finding that the church could end the sale agreement.

The court fight is not over. A Dec. 17 hearing has been scheduled before Cohen by Retirement and Health Services Corp. on their motion for reconsideration.

John Erickson, president of Retirement and Health Services Corp., said that while his firm is now developing a site in Dearborn, he'd still like to use the seminary site.

"My opinion is that the housing shortage (for seniors) is so severe that it would certainly support three to four additional 1,000-unit campuses," Erickson said.

McGrath said that in seeking a new buyer, "The approach now is to sell the property as a whole."

He said the church has had some offers, but declined to name those expressing interest.

Officials from Livonia's Ward Presbyterian Church toured the facility in 1991. A church official declined comment Friday on whether the church would again be interested in buying the site.

Asked if the archdiocese would favor one sort of development over another in considering buyers, McGrath said one could look to the church's past approach to selling church property in Detroit.

When the archdiocese closed several city churches, "Many of the churches were sold to other denominations or outreach programs. There was an effort to look for those kinds of buyers."

McGrath said he didn't know the exact asking price for the property and buildings. The church in 1989 had listed the entire property at $20 million.

Township officials assess the site including buildings — at Sheldon Road near Five Mile Road — at about $3 million.

Because the land is church-owned and tax exempt, sale to a private owner could mean nearly $200,000 annually in new tax revenue for the township.

The 40-year-old seminary was closed in June 1988. The land is zoned residential for one-acre or larger lots.

Township officials have said a buyer could seek another use for the property, as it's not likely to go to a house builder.

Coat reported as stolen from middle school

A 43-year-old Canton woman told police that the afternoon of Dec. 1, someone stole her daughter's green Polo coat valued at $175 at Central Middle School.

The girl had placed her coat in an unlocked locker while she played volleyball. Police have no suspects.

Indecent exposure

a stranger exposed himself.

The woman said she was studying about 4 p.m., Nov. 30 at a large table she had to herself when man sat down across from her with some books.

He's described as 6 feet tall, weighing 180 pounds, in his mid-30s, with short wavy light brown hair. He wore a gray suit and a white shirt and tie.

The woman said she continued to study but noticed the man was staring at her and wiggling under the table. He then pushed his chair back and unbuttoned his suit coat, exposing and touching himself before leaving the library.

Assisted suicide battle to continue despite new law

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

The battle over assisted suicide will go on another two years in Michigan.

The Senate last week completed legislative action on a law putting an 18-month moratorium on helping another end his or her own life.

"We have time to clarify it before this bill takes effect," said Sen. Fred Dillingham, R-Fowler, as he battled down a dozen amendments to repair alleged loopholes or send the bill to committee.

"We need to do some legislation today — a cooling off period where policy can be set in a rational way," agreed Sen. Michael Bouchard, R-Birmingham.

Gov. John Engler is expected to sign the bill into law this week. It takes effect around next April 1. Neither chamber could muster the two-thirds approval to give the bill immediate effect.

What's next?

Four things are likely to happen in 1993:

■ Dillingham will seek to make the ban on assisted suicide permanent, eliminating the "sunset" date.

■ Other lawmakers will seek amendments to protect relatives of the dying, hospice workers, other caregivers and pharmacists. "A loved one could go to prison for four years for honoring a living will," said Sen. Debbie Stabenow, D-Lansing.

■ A commission of experts will have 15 months to study the complex issue and make recommendations to the Legislature.

■ Attorneys for "Dr. Death," Jack Kevorkian of Royal Oak, vow they will file a constitutional challenge against the new law.

How they voted

After shooting down amendments for three hours, senators gave the House-approved bill 25-6 approval.

Area senators voting yes were Republicans Mat Dunaskiss of Lake Orion, Michael Bouchard of Birmingham and Robert Geake of Northville and Democrat George Hart of Dearborn.

Voting no were Republican David Honigman of West Bloomfield and Democrat Jack Faxon of Farmington Hills.

Missing the vote were seven senators, including William Faust, D-Westland, excused for surgery.

Opponents — and even some friends — battered Dillingham with amendments, but most got just six to 10 votes.

Dillingham argued that amendments would have to go back for concurrence in the House, where the bill had been bottled up in committee without debate for two years by outgoing Judiciary chair Perry Bullard, D-Ann Arbor.

RTL assailed

Right to Life of Michigan, opponent of abortion and assisted suicide, was bitterly assailed by two Democratic senators.

"RTL owns the Senate," said Faxon of Farmington Hills. "RTL doesn't speak for Oakland County. People are against what we propose to do now," he said, citing poll results.

"RTL has a religious agenda at fundamental odds" with popular thinking, said Lana Pollack, D-Ann Arbor. "It's driven by people who believe that some people are meant to suffer. It's breaking down the walls that separate church and state."

Honigman of West Bloomfield co-sponsored Pollack's amendment that would hold harmless those who withhold treatment at the patient's request. "I don't know what all the fuss is about," said Honigman. "Any competent person has a right to refuse medical treatment."

On the other side, Sen. John Kelly, D-Grosse Pointe, argued for even stiffer punishment of Kevorkian — life in prison. "He's a psychopath — takes women in their mid-50s who aren't terminally ill and puts them to death. This sicko is willing to take four years in prison."

Dillingham and Kelly noted that all six people Kevorkian has assisted in suicide were women.

Dillingham read excerpts from a letter by Diane Collins, a friend of the Nov. 23 suicide victim Catherine Andreyev.

"My friend did not wither in agony and torment for six years... She was not bedridden or incontinent. She was ambulatory, though short of breath. She was not near the maximum of pain relief medication. In the days before her death, she had 15 visitors and watched three movies."

"In a moment of severe depression, she called Jack Kevorkian, who only too eagerly responded. I ask you to make it a felony in the great state of Michigan for Jack Kevorkian or any like-minded physician to prey on another sick, scared, single woman who reaches out for help and is granted only one choice, only one final, definite and irreversible option."

McNamara vows to fight GM Livonia plant closing

STAFF WRITER

As Delco Chassis plant employees in Livonia bemoan their outcast state and Schoolcraft College braces for the expected influx of individuals in need of retraining, Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara says it ain't over till it's over.

McNamara opposes General Motors' decision to include the Delco plant in the list of seven plants the automaker said last week it will close.

Through spokeswoman Irma Clark, McNamara said, "We should not simply accept this as a done deal. (I will) work with the governor and General Motors to try to persuade GM to reconsider."

County commissioner-elect Thaddeus McCotter, who will represent the portion of Livonia containing the Delco plant come Jan. 1, said, "I think we're lucky McNamara was the mayor of Livonia. (He's) taking the lead and that's a good thing. I know (Gov. John) Engler will work with us, too. It's a bad time for the city to get hit with this."

However, should the efforts of McNamara and Engler fail, about 2,000 employees at the Livonia chassis plant will be transferred, retired or laid off sometime between October and December next year when GM shuts the plant.

State Rep. Lyn Banks, R-Livonia, sounds like she's sure the plant will in fact close. "We must do everything possible in the months ahead to create opportunities for the 2,000 employees that will be displaced," she said in a press release. "Leaders in government and business must develop a long-term strategy to strengthen our job training and educational system."

Bruce Sweet, the director of business and industry at Schoolcraft College, said the college will be part of the "rapid response team" that tries to help displaced workers find new work.

Last year, Sweet said, Schoolcraft set up a retraining program for employees of a defunct Plymouth company called Howmet.

About 20 of the jobless workers entered the program, which ended last month, and one-third of them have new jobs, Sweet said.

A similar program could be established for GM workers, but on a much larger scale. "There will probably be some short-term increase in enrollment due to this," Sweet said.

The main problem, he added, is that the expectations of newly laid off auto workers "are just not in line with reality" regarding the amount of money they can make in a new job.

"When the unemployment (pay) runs out, that attitude changes a bit," Sweet said. "There's not a huge volume of high paying jobs out there. It's a real employers' market."

Three of the manufacturing jobs in demand now, Sweet said, are in blueprint reading, computer numerical control and statistical process control, but none of them will pay as handsomely as the GM workers are accustomed to getting.

When is the best time to call a physician?

Before you need one!

No matter how healthy you are, anyone can fall victim to an unexpected accident or sudden illness. When that happens, it's nice to have a personal physician you can turn to. Someone who knows your medical history and can promptly respond to your needs.

Survey says residents concerned about health care

While the election of Bill Clinton as president has given Michigan residents renewed optimism, they continue to have concerns with serious state and national issues, according to a survey by Public Sector Consultants, underwritten by the Michigan Hospital Association (MHA).

The survey, conducted immediately following the Nov. 3 elections, found that the public believes the new president's top priorities should be: reducing the national deficit (32 percent), jobs and the economy (21 percent), and health care reform (15 percent).

Perot's influence

The findings demonstrate the influence that presidential candidate Ross Perot's focus on the budget deficit had on defining national priorities, according to researchers. Previously, the state of the economy and jobs were consistently ranked the public's top priority.

Health care continued to solidify its position in the electorate's view as a top national issue. However, survey results indicate solving this issue will be challenging for the new president because of the lack of consensus on how to achieve health care reform among the public.

Survey respondents said President-elect Clinton's first health care priority should be "ensuring access to health care for all Americans." Nearly all polls (state and national) taken before the election had shown health care cost containment the top concern.

Access desired

Bolstering the survey's finding of the public's desire for expanded access, a majority of those polled (53 percent) would support increased taxes to extend health care coverage to the uninsured.

"Sin" taxes (on tobacco and alcohol) were the preferred method of funding expanded access to health care.

The survey also showed that the three major concepts for national health care reform - play or pay, national health insurance, and tax incentives to purchase health insurance - were roughly equal in voter preference.

"Forging an agreement on an overall health reform plan will be difficult because no single plan has emerged as the public's clear choice," MHA President Spencer Johnson said. Although second on their health care priority list behind access, the respondents firmly supported controlling health care costs.

As a strategy to limit costs, 75 percent of the respondents said hospitals should share expensive high-tech equipment and facilities. Some 54 percent supported a national health care expenditure ceiling. Almost half said doctors should be prohibited from using extraordinary measures to extend the lives of dying patients, and 43 percent favored having the federal government set prices for all health care services.

"The findings describe a public that sees collaboration, not competition, among health care providers as an immediate and advantageous avenue to lower health care costs," PSC Vice President Bill Sederburg said.

"And they are looking to government, both state and federal, to foster cooperation, and to provide real leadership on the complex issues surrounding health care reform."

Tough task

The survey also pointed out the absence of a distinct ideological majority among the voters, which will make building a consensus on key national concerns a formidable task, Sederburg added.

Those who voted for Perot for president more closely resemble Bush's supporters than Clinton's on policy and economic issues, according to the survey. Thus, even though 57 percent of the respondents said the country is now headed in the right direction (compared to just 34 percent in June), the willingness of the public and Congress to support major new programs is unclear.

On issues facing the state, respondents said "creating more jobs" was the most important (40 percent), far outdistancing the second-place issue - reducing crime and drug use (15 percent). When asked which issue should be the state Legislature's top priority, 33 percent cited school finance reform, 23 percent said medical liability reform, and 17 percent identified auto insurance reform.

The survey, conducted Nov. 4-8, interviewed 800 Michigan residents.

Homes sought for students

Host families are needed for high school students from South America, Europe and Asia who are set to arrive in January.

The teens, ages 15-18, will spend five months studying in suburban high schools. All of the students have studied English for at least four years and have enough money to cover their personal expenses. They are participants in an exchange visitor program of the American Institute for Foreign Study Scholarship Foundation. Host families will receive a tax deduction and a scholarship for foreign study or travel.

Families with or without children of their own can become host families. If you have room in your home and heart for a foreign exchange student, call Lynn or Gideon Levenbach at 453-8562 or 453-6851 or Amber Crowell at 1-800-322-4678.

SC sets signup for next semester

Schoolcraft College in-person winter registration will be held 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. Dec. 7-17 and Jan. 4-6.

Winter classes begin Saturday, Jan. 9. A wide variety of classes are available at the main campus in Livonia, as well as at Schoolcraft's College Centers, Radcliff in Garden City, Plymouth/Salem in Canton, and Bentley and Clarenceville in Livonia.

New winter course offerings include: Mythological Magic and World Religions, Advanced CADD, Introduction to Computerized Numeric Systems, Computerized Numeric Control Programming, Hydraulics/Pneumatics, Interfacing Computers, Networking, Microsoft Windows, 20th Century America, and 30 Something Fitness.

To make a registration appointment, contact the registration center at 462-4415 between 12:30-3:30 p.m. weekdays.

Holiday closings

Wayne County residents getting married or attorneys filing lawsuits should be aware of the holidays closings for the county clerk's office.

ONE OF THE GREATEST TOOLS FOR SAVING THE ENVIRONMENT.

Take a long piece of string. Wrap it around a small stack of newspapers. Then take it to a recycling center or leave it out for collection on recycling day.

You'll be helping U.S. newspapers in their drive to encourage recycling. More than a third of our country's newsprint was recycled last year. But without your help, we won't have the material to make recycling work.

So tie a string around your finger. It'll help you remember to recycle.

Read. Then recycle.

Airport parking fees reduced for holidays

Detroit Metropolitan Wayne County Airport, which trimmed parking rates for Thanksgiving travelers, will keep the reduced rates in effect through the Christmas holiday season.

The daily rate in the parking decks is $6, and the weekly deck rate is $42. The Yellow lot, just past the traffic light, is $5 per day, and $30 per week. The Red (overflow) lot, at Lucas Drive and East Service Drive, will offer a rate of $25 per week. All prices include all taxes, and free frequent shuttle service is available from all lots to the terminal buildings.

"The reduced rates are our way of saying 'thank you' to our loyal customers," said deputy airport director Lester Robinson, who handles DTW's finance and administration.

Reduced rates will stay in effect through Jan. 4, 1993.

To speed up curbside check-in, DTW advises passengers to have their name tags on their luggage filled out in advance. Extra law enforcement will be deployed to keep traffic moving on Rogell Drive. The curb in front of the terminal buildings is reserved for active loading and unloading only. Motorists who leave their vehicle unattended may find themselves the recipient of an early, unwelcome, Christmas present — a traffic ticket.

A free, full-color brochure detailing parking rates and lot locations is available to anyone who calls the Parking Hotline at 800-642-1978. That's also a good number to call to check on parking availability and traffic conditions.

VACCINATION WHILE ON MEDICATIONS FOR ARTHRITIS

At this time of year, you may consider seeing your doctor for an influenza vaccination. If you have arthritis, you need not be concerned that your arthritis medicine will interfere.

Anti-inflammatory drugs used to treat arthritis do not impair your white blood cell response to the insult of infectious agents or their components. In response to vaccination - which consists of protein particles of winter viruses - your body will make an immune response sufficient to build antibodies against viruses you are likely to encounter this season.

This ability of the body to react appropriately holds even if you are on methotrexate or other anti-cancer agents. It is true that the purpose of these drugs is to inhibit immune reactions. The reason that you continue to react to vaccines is because they activate the immediate and quick immune machinery which is untouched by arthritis drugs.

The response that methotrexate and similar drugs are geared for is the delayed and slow reacting side of immunity.

If you are over age 65, you should receive influenza vaccine whether you have arthritis or not. If you are under age 65 and have arthritis, vaccination is valuable. Arthritis slows you enough, getting the "flu," gives you more than added hurt and hinderance. While you are sick, your misery multiplies and seemingly continues to infinity.

POINTS OF VIEW

Pre-packaged beliefs rely on social fashion, not need

We human beings can be a real strange bunch, sometimes.

We can get so caught up in the importance of some things, while we completely overlook the importance of others. We pick out pet causes which tend to be more a matter of being trendy or socially fashionable than of true immediate importance.

It seems our ability to prioritize these various noble causes is a bit on the weak side. Maybe that's because our world is faced with so many pressing problems; maybe it is because the diversity of our individual wants and needs is so great that we simply cannot agree on what is most important. More than likely, though, it is because it is a common human tendency to just fall in line and go along with the program, even if the program doesn't make much sense.

Ideally, each of us should be able to analyze the relative importance of a given issue in our own lives and decide what action, if any, should be taken to deal with it. We are supposed to have the critical thinking skills and personal freedoms to make all our own choices. We are Americans and nobody is going to tell us how to think or what to do.

Yeah, right.

Far too many people in this country don't have the first clue about what meets their standards of right and wrong. It takes too much time and effort to discern a personal position on the myriad of social issues. It is much easier to just truck on down to the Social Consciousness Store and pick out a set of handy pre-packaged beliefs. These sets come complete with political affiliation, views on social justice, ecological awareness, global relations and even a favorite disease or affliction.

I see this as the equivalent of picking out a moral wardrobe; it's tough to know what goes with what without getting a little professional help. Maybe that is why embracing certain social causes is more a matter of fashion instead of function. Thank goodness we have so many public-service-minded celebrities to serve as beacons of social and political hipness. If it weren't for them, we might not be aware of the need to wear red ribbons on our chests in honor of AIDS, Hollywood's latest Cause du Jour.

I'm not opposed to the raising of our collective social consciousness, even if it is a bit tilted. It still beats the old ways of blindly ignoring our common problems.

Obviously, there are a great many concerns facing our world, and it is vital to get people involved, but we must become more universally consistent in our approach.

It's time to get beyond buying into the prescribed social dogma promulgated through the electronic media and take a hard and clear look at all the problems lying before us. We can no longer afford to give undivided attention to some issues while abandoning others. We must not only save our rain forests, we must save our neighborhoods. We must not only fight the battle against AIDS, we must battle poverty and illiteracy. We must not only protect endangered species, we must protect our children, perhaps the most endangered species of all.

It's time to get real about this and stop using community involvement as a fashion statement. It is offensive, ineffective and it belittles the causes which are embraced. All of our world's concerns deserve broader and more heartfelt commitment.

Fashions and fads come and go very quickly, and it would be a damn shame to see AIDS research and the ecology meet the same fate as the pet rock and the Hula-Hoop.

'Bear' won't tiptoe in a politically correct circus

A poetry reading at a college is usually about as exciting as watching the home shopping network on cable television. But I went anyway.

It was my kid. He's in college, wears an earring and wants to be a poet, or should I say wanted to.

The change in mindset had to do with Professor "Politically Correct" Ponytail and Jim Harrison, a Michigan poet and novelist.

And it all happened at the always under-rated Michigan State University, where the agricultural department has saved more lives in the third world by developing simple farming techniques than 50 years worth of political doings at the University of Michigan.

But back to Professor Ponytail, obviously not his real name, and writers Harrison, Richard Ford, Ted Weesner and Dan Gerber, all Michigan State graduates, who were at the school for an afternoon of poetry and an evening discussion.

The point here, as one author noted, was that Michigan State has produced more well-known writers than the University of Michigan.

Anyway, my young poet son dragged me to the event because of Harrison, who we know from an Upper Peninsula bar that we frequent during trout fishing season.

But the Harrison we know who sits at the end of the bar drinking his whiskey neat — whiskey drinking white males again — wasn't the same Harrison.

Subdued was the word. The reason was Professor Ponytail. The writers were put through their liberal paces by this guy. It was sad to see Harrison treated like a trained bear in a politically correct circus. In bars, he talks about hunting dogs, trout, cracks jokes and is nice to poetry-struck kids and adults.

JEFF COUNTS

■ It all happened at the always under-rated Michigan State University, where the agricultural department has saved more lives in the third world by developing simple farming techniques than 50 years worth of political doings at the University of Michigan.

But humor isn't in the catalog at colleges and universities these days.

All four writers pleaded guilty with cause to being very liberal. But Professor Ponytail wouldn't let them off, and during an hour of questioning, grilled them on political correctness.

Ponytail asked, no, it was told, the writers that they should be encouraging readers to sample more diverse literature. The politically correct have a way of putting an accusation in the form of a question.

Ponytail didn't say what he meant by diverse literature, but we all know that he was probably talking about 15th century Albanian homosexual love poetry or some such nonsense.

The writers refused to perform, and who could blame them. Harrison, who is deeply into native American writings, refused to budge, saying that if we tell anybody that they have to read one kind of literature, it excludes others.

But Ponytail moved on, asking, oops, telling the writers, that under Reagan and Bush the arts were kicked around and funding was cut.

Again no nibbles from these liberal fish. Harrison pointed out that the National Endowment for the Arts wasted $400,000 on a production of "Damn Yankees" in Nebraska.

When the politically correct circus ended, Harrison and I talked about the Upper Peninsula and brook trout. "I do this so I can do that," he said of the poetry reading.

I'm glad my own young poet heard it. He now wants to open a fly fishing shop.

It's a much more honest life.

Jeff Counts is the editor of the Plymouth and Canton Observer Newspapers and would rather catch a 15-inch brook trout in the Upper Peninsula than be able to remember lines from Shakespeare. Counts can be reached at (313) 459-2700.

Older brother gives Roeper gathering a look at real X

BY SUZANNE L. PARKER
STAFF WRITER

What makes people with white skin think they can do anything with the lives and property of people of color?

That's what Wilfred Little, Malcolm X's older brother, asked about 200 students gathered at Roeper School in Birmingham last month.

"That's something that needs to be considered," Little said. "Maybe if you can figure that out, you can solve some of today's problems."

The idea for the assembly arose when Spike Lee, director of the movie about "Malcolm X" urged black students and their parents to skip school and work to see the movie on opening day. Roeper students and staff thought they would try to turn a negative into a positive by holding the assembly to help them learn more about the slain Muslim leader of the 1960s. To encourage an atmosphere of learning, they also invited student representatives from around the area and Detroit.

His purpose in speaking to Roeper students that day, Little said, was to help them understand Malcolm X as he really was. The best way to do that, he said, was to see and hear Malcolm for themselves. So Little showed a 15-minute video of Malcolm X involved in a 1965 debate about the Muslim movement which took place at Oxford University in England.

After the video, one student in the audience asked Little, "How much of an effect do you think Malcolm X had on the way people think and act today?"

No one could listen to Malcolm for very long and not move off dead center, Little said. "Whether you moved for him or against him, you'd have to take action," Little said. "He would awaken something in you and you'd never be the same."

Jason Thompson, 17, a senior at Southfield Christian who attended the assembly, said he saw the movie when it was released, and learning about Malcolm X has opened many doors for him.

"I never read about him before, but now I know Malcolm never let anything stop him," Thompson said. "And I think every young black person should take that lesson, have a voice and don't let anything stop them. Something I have to say might change the world."

The resurgence of interest in Malcolm X does not come from the movie, Little said. Rather, the movie is a response to growing attention from young people around the country. These young people have embraced Malcolm X, he said, because they don't live in a society telling them not to.

"In the 60s, the media distorted the image of Malcolm X, they turned him into a rabble-rouser and troublemaker," Little told the group of seventh-12th graders and their teachers. "But young people today don't have a problem with him because no one has set up such a matrix to see him through. They listen to his words and come to their own conclusions."

Little cautioned students, however, to be careful when they listen to the words of Malcolm X. While his goal is forthright, Little said, we don't need Malcolm's separatist approach today.

"We need to find some way to work together," Little said. "The only way to make a heaven out of this earth is find a way to work together and accept each other for our differences."

Scholarships honor seniors

The Amateur Athletic Union/MARS MILKY WAY High School All-American Award and college scholarship program will honor high school seniors by offering 102 scholarships ranging from $1,000 to $40,000.

All graduating seniors are eligible for nomination. Forms are available through high school guidance counselor offices or from the Amateur Athletic Union, 34000 W. 86th Street, PO Box 68207, Indianapolis Indiana 46268. All nominations must be postmarked no later than Dec. 7. The Amateur Athletic Union and a panel of nationally recognized educators, athletes and community service achievers will judge the nominations.

Two students (one male/one female) will be selected as state recipients and each will win a $1,000 college scholarship. From the state recipients, eight regional winners will be selected and each will be awarded a $10,000 scholarship. The two national recipients — each receiving a $40,000 scholarship over four years — will be selected from the regional winners.

The eight regional winners, along with their parents and a school representative will receive an expense-paid trip to M&M/MARS headquarters in New Jersey in April.

How to give right stuffs for needy

'Tis the season when people open their hearts and the pantries to help those less fortunate. Clothing and canned goods drives abound to collect much needed food for the poor.

But half the effort of giving is giving the right food stuffs. Here's a few tips on giving from the poor person's perspective:

■ If you give a turkey, provide a foil pan with it. Most of the poor do not have ovens, much less pans.

■ Canned hams are great for packing and storage by non-profit groups and families can cut the ham into portions to freeze for many more meals.

■ In giving grains, consider this: There is more nutritional value in rice than in noodles.

■ A person who can't read may often mistake canned salmon for spoiled tuna.

■ Microwave food is of no value to the poor. Most cooking is done on hot plates or on stove tops.

■ If you do give a cake mix, provide a pan with it.

■ There are a high number of diabetics among the poor. Consider sugar-free items and sugar-free drink mixes in your giving.

■ Give oranges instead of apples when giving fresh fruit. Many of the poor have missing teeth and can more easily chew oranges.

■ Liquid laundry soap is easier to carry to the laundromat than powdered soap, especially when walking or travelling by bus.

■ Often when the homeless are rehoused, there's a need for dishes. Paper plates help a lot. And shelters can use them, especially if they don't have automatic dishwashers to fight bacteria.

And here are a few low-cost items you may want to consider giving:

■ Salt or any type of seasonings. Some ethnic groups use large amount of seasonings in their foods.

■ Crisco or other shortenings. Besides using these as a food source, often poor families use shortenings or oils on their skin to combat dryness, cracking and bleeding.

■ Toilet paper. Many little girls ruin their kidneys or bladder due to infection by not having toilet paper or underwear.

■ Coffee and tea. They're like gold and used as a beverage as well as for medicinal purposes.

■ Light bulbs. It is a fearful thing to live in the ghetto without light at night.

■ White vinegar. It's not only used for food but is a great cleaning product.

■ Vitamins and instant protein mixes. They're a great help for pregnant women and with senior citizens.

Some other items to consider are shampoo, all canned meats, canned fruits, cough medicine, lip balms, aspirin, baking mix, baking powder, clocks, hard candy, tea bags, disposable shavers, sponges, cotton swabs, cold cereal, toothpaste (with a toothbrush included).

A new world is taking shape.

With all the exciting new breakthroughs in telecommunications, "business as usual" is an outdated concept.

Because today, images and data that once took days or even weeks to reach their destination are now received in seconds. So whether you're part of a start-up business or a major corporation, you can have ready access to the data you need to make critical decisions.

Ameritech is leading the way in applying this technology, helping businesses in our communities thrive in this information age. For example, with Ameritech's LAN-to-LAN interconnectivity, companies are managing inventory and sharing information electronically with real-time savings.

A computer-aided design application helped one of the world's largest auto-makers increase productivity by allowing more than 150 suppliers to transfer design files instantly, with just the push of a button.

A regional health information network, designed by Ameritech, links doctors, hospitals, employers and insurance companies. This not only improves the quality of healthcare but also lowers the cost of delivering it.

And a fast-food industry giant watched productivity go up and commute time go down when Ameritech used ISDN lines to link employees working at home with colleagues at their corporate campus.

Business is indeed changing for the better, and Ameritech is committed to helping companies large and small run more efficiently and grow profitably.

CHEF LARRY JANES

Magical cookie dough works 8 different ways

Trying to squeeze your holiday baking somewhere between a major house cleaning and Christmas shopping? Sometimes there's just not enough hours in the day to accomplish all we need to.

If you're thinking about getting into the holiday spirit with some last minute ideas that will please everyone from the preschool teacher to the mailman, an afternoon in the kitchen preparing a no-nonsense assortment of holiday confections can be a rewarding and low cost way to tie up those last-minute-gift ideas.

Magic dough

If you're frantic and searching for a holiday cookie recipe that is versatile enough to work eight different ways, we have the solution.

Our Basic Number One Cookie Dough that needs a little advanced preparation can transform itself from a spritz cookie to a walnut bar with the flick of a measuring cup.

Ah, but this magical confection can also whip up a multitude of santas, trees and stars and still be versatile enough to stuff with dates, raisins and nuts for a roll cookie that will surely have the mailman requesting the recipe.

For kids only

Anyone with kids can appreciate the "for kids only" recipes that will please the palates of any kid from kindergarten to college. Better yet, these kid-tested recipes are simple enough to include junior in the process.

I think it's written somewhere in the educator's bible that each and every teacher receive their weight in holiday cookies. So why should you buck tradition?

This year, though, you're going to do something that will make little Johnny's teacher sit up and take notice.

Sure, there will be the proverbial Hudson's box filled with homemade cookies but in addition, the box will be decorated and tied together with a batch of unbaked cookie dough, a roll of kitchen parchment for baking, a favorite cookie cutter, and last but not least, a recipe for all of the above.

Do the cookie dough up in one of those burpable containers that can double later on in the year for a lunch transport.

If you're thinking about sending out a batch of holiday cookies, better get in gear real fast to insure delivery before the big day. Anyone who has ever mailed holiday treats always goes through a certain amount of trepidation wondering if the package will make it through without ending up a batch of crunch and munch.

Cookies to mail

Sure, you pack cookies tightly in coffee cans and burpable containers but the least expensive way is to pack the holiday treats in popped popcorn! Not only will you save money on the postage, (those cans can be heavy) but the popcorn will act as a moisture inhibitor and a cushion that's as light as air!

There are few of us who can organize our lives in such order that the house is cleaned, the cookies baked, the shopping done, and the gifts are all wrapped, before December 1st.

If you happen to have made a batch of cookies ahead of schedule (tell me how you do it), and they are secure in the freezer, you can reheat the frozen baked cookies and confectionery treats by placing them unwrapped on a plain cookie sheet. Heat for 2-3 minutes at 350 degrees to restore crispness.

The microwave might be great for other goodies but heating and defrosting cookies requires a slower, drier heat. Since cookies contain a high amount of fat, microwaving will create a disaster.

Doggie treats

Last but not least, let's not forget all creatures big and small. Last year, I baked a batch of homemade doggie biscuits for the family vet. I picked up one of those empty gallon jars from a local restaurant and spent about 20 minutes tossing a mixture of beef drippings, flour and cornmeal.

I had a ball rolling them out with the kids, and cutting them into fido-sized biscuits. It was a great learning experience for my kids, and I think it helped them be a little more compassionate about animals, and their need to be treated extra special during this busy time of the year.

So if you're looking to spend a few hours or a few days in the kitchen preparing holiday sweet treats that everyone will enjoy, you'll really appreciate this year's selection of recipes.

easy HORS D'OEUVRES — a — welcome holiday guest Come out from behind that stalk of stuffed celery and look at what's happening to appetizers. These treats are welcome guests when time is short.

BY JOAN BORAM
SPECIAL WRITER

Ever notice how many people are intimidated by the mere mention of hors d'oeuvres? Maybe it's because they visualize pimento slivers x-ed over cream cheese rosettes on Ritz crackers.

Which is why so many of us opt for nachos and spinach dip.

Come out from behind that stalk of stuffed celery and look at what's happening to hors d'oeuvres. For one thing, many food stores have an adventurous choice of foods in the deli counter that can be served as tasty, out-of-the-ordinary, easy appetizers.

Hummus, stuffed grape leaves, tahini, pates, and myriad cheeses are ready to be transferred to an attractive dish and served with pita or sourdough French bread.

Or, perhaps you want a more elaborate presentation than a deli counter can provide, but time and money are in short supply.

Relax. There are any number of specialty shops offering foods that you probably wouldn't make yourself, but that you can combine with your own efforts to amaze your friends and gratify your mother. She'll say you take after her.

A fine example of such a shop is Baking by the Auers in Southfield. Owner David Auer not only conjures up the most gorgeous pastries this side of the Seine, but also bakes heartier foods that will gratify the fussiest guest.

"We make quiches as a standard item every Saturday," said manager Penni Muldoon. "But they can be special ordered any time. Round quiches are available in 8- or 4 1/2-inch sizes, and we also make quiches in long strips so they can be cut width-wise into small strips and served as appetizers."

DANIEL LIPPITT

Easy appetizers: David Auer of Baking by the Auers in Southfield makes large Brioche rings to serve with cream cheese, quiche and other elegant appetizers.

"The round ones, of course, are best cut into wedges. We make quiches with Jarlsburg cheese, onion and bacon or tomato, onion and fresh thyme."

Another Saturday treat, (it can also be special ordered) is feuilleté du fromage — puff pastry with Jarlsburg cheese and onion, handily served in bite-sized morsels.

"Brioche rings are perfect for appetizers," said Muldoon. "We make large rings to serve with our herb cream cheese spread. Or, the hostess can buy individual cocktail brioches and stuff them at home."

Almost anything goes well with this rich French-type bread. Try a combination of whipped cream, smoked salmon, and horseradish. Chicken salad, or a pate are also good.

For the calorie-conscious, Auer's has Italian flat bread with a pizza-like crust with red and yellow peppers, fresh basil and rosemary.

If you're looking for a role model, consider Happy Begg. The West Bloomfield resident is the mother of two teenagers and works full time.

Undaunted, Begg throws an annual Christmas party that 80 of her friends look forward to all year.

"It looks a lot harder than it actually is," Begg insists. "I rely on Gordon Foods in Waterford, a restaurant supply store that also sells to the public. I order a sliced honey-baked ham, and a smoked turkey breast, also sliced. I serve them with party-sized bread, and a selection of really good mustards."

Begg makes her hot crab dip in advance, and freezes it. She also makes her own cheese and fruit trays.

"People will cut their own cheese if I give them generous chunks," she said. "When I served little cubes there were too many left over."

Begg buys frozen meatballs at Gordon's and makes a sweet-and-sour sauce to go with them. She makes tea tassies — miniature pecan pies — about "two bites each," from scratch, and buys miniature cheesecakes from Gordon's.

Gordon Food Service Marketplace in Westland, and Leone & Sons, Inc., a restaurant supply store in Livonia, also offer a variety of frozen hors d'oeuvres including meatballs, chicken wings, and pigs in a blanket.

Begg said her party "is really a hearty hors d'oeuvres buffet. We invite guests for 7:30 p.m. and some have eaten dinner, and some will eat dinner later, or some eat dinner here. They can snack or eat supper, as they prefer."

Begg uses paper plates and cups. She doesn't serve anything that requires forks. Convinced that "presentation is everything," she sets the buffet with her best crystal and silver serving pieces, as well as lots of candles and fresh flowers.

"It looks very impressive, but it's really quite inexpensive and requires a minimum of time and effort on my part," she said.

To those of you contemplating a festive gathering, Begg offers this advice — "Rely on your best friends. I borrow a large coffee pot from one friend, a serving trays from another friend. Just be sure you borrow from people who are invited!"

Chef with French flair makes dining out an event

Chef's Secrets

KEELY WYGONIK

Featured in the December issue of "Victoria" magazine, Cafe Bon Homme in Plymouth is all decked out for the holidays. A replica of the four-foot edible Christmas tree featured in the magazine will be on display from Dec. 10 to Jan. 1.

Those who speak French know that Bon Homme means Goodman. It's an interesting play on words for the owner, Greg Goodman, who has been cooking since he was 14. He got his first cooking lessons from his uncle who is also chef. Goodman studied culinary arts at Schoolcraft College in Livonia, and trained under chef Douglas Grech. He was the executive chef at Clarkston Cafe, and co-founded MacKinnon's restaurant. Seven years ago he left to open Cafe Bon Homme.

The menu of this cozy restaurant tucked next to an antique store is classically French with an American flair. You'll feel as though you stepped back in time. There are sugar cubes in the sugar bowls, and lots of other little touches that make dining out an event. Lunch is served 11:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Dinner 5 p.m. to 10 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 5 p.m. to 11 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays. For information, call 453-6280.

Goodman said his menu is "primarily very healthy. We don't add butter to cream sauces.

There's a fair amount of different game, seafood, poultry and veal. We put in a lot of effort. The amount of work that goes into making a meal is very unique. We don't take shortcuts. We think if you're going to go out to eat, it's our job to fuss."

When a meal is served, Goodman said it's not uncommon to hear customers say "Oh my, look at that it's gorgeous." A lot of the day-to-day work has been delegated to sous chef Greg Murphy. "He's done a magnificent job," said Goodman.

Family

Goodman and his wife Susan have two children, Todd, 16, and Jill 14. "Susan helps keep me organized," he said.

Hobbies

Tennis, and skiing.

Favorite herb or spice

Pepper. "It imparts pungency, gives every food additional flavor, and it's good for you."

Cooking philosophy

"First order of business should be perfecting the fundamentals. Once you've addressed that, you can develop a more artistic presentation. Get the basics down to a science, then develop the art."

Who does the cooking at your house?

"My wife does a splendid job. I cook when we entertain and for holidays."

What's a normal dinner at your house?

"It depends on the ingredients we have on hand, and how much time we have to cook." Goodman said dinner at his house ranges from roasted leg of lamb to bacon, lettuce and tomato sandwiches.

Name five things in your refrigerator.

"Various mustards, plum tomatoes, pea pods, a wide assortment of cheese, lots of different kinds of peppers."

Cooking tip

"Get organized before you start to cook. Have everything ready. Once you get the groundwork laid, it becomes quite simple to execute." See recipe inside.

Make eight varieties of cookies with magic dough

See Chef Larry's column, Taste Buds on Taste front.

NUMBER ONE BASIC COOKIE DOUGH

Use as a base for all 8 cookies
 1/2 cup shortening
 1/2 cup butter or margarine, softened
 1 cup sugar
 2 eggs
 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
 2 1/2 cups flour
 2 teaspoons double acting baking powder
 1 teaspoon salt

In a large bowl with the mixer at medium speed, cream the shortening and butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Beat in eggs, vanilla until well mixed. Add flour, baking powder and salt and continue beating at low speed until well mixed, scraping bowl occasionally. Wrap and refrigerate until well chilled, about 3 hours.

SPRITZ COOKIES FROM NUMBER ONE COOKIE DOUGH

1 recipe basic cookie dough
 Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Lightly grease 2 large cookie sheets. Set aside. Prepare basic dough as directed but do not chill. Attach desired tip to a cookie press. Place 1/4 of the dough at a time in the cookie press and press dough onto cookie sheets.
 Bake 10-12 minutes or until edges are lightly browned. Repeat with remaining dough. Makes 6 dozen.

VIENESE BATONS

1 recipe basic cookie dough
 4 squares (1 oz. each) semi-sweet chocolate, melted
 1/2 cup chopped nuts
 Prepare basic cookie dough as directed. Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Grease 2 large cookie sheets. Divide dough into 8 pieces. Roll each piece on a lightly floured surface into a rope 1/2 inch wide. Cut into 2 inch pieces. Place on a cookie sheet 1/2 inch apart and bake for 12-15 minutes or until lightly browned. Repeat with remaining dough. Cool on wire rack. Melt chocolate on top of double boiler. Dip one end of the cookie baton into chocolate, then nuts. Place on waxed paper to harden. Makes about 6 dozen.

PINWHEEL COOKIES FROM BASIC COOKIE DOUGH

1 recipe basic cookie dough
 1 teaspoon grated orange rind
 2 squares (1 oz. each) semi-sweet chocolate, melted and cooled

Prepare basic cookie dough as directed but stir in orange peel with vanilla. Do not refrigerate. Cut dough in half. Stir chocolate into one half until well blended. Wrap and chill both doughs about 2 hours. On sheets of waxed paper, roll out vanilla dough into a 14 by 6-inch rectangle. Set aside.

On another sheet of waxed paper, roll out chocolate dough to same size. Invert chocolate dough onto vanilla dough and peel off waxed paper. Lightly press together. Roll jelly roll fashioned from 14-inch side, peeling off waxed paper as you roll. Wrap and chill till firm, about 3 hours. Preheat oven to 350 degrees.

Grease 2 large cookie sheets. Cut dough into 1/4 inch slices. Bake 8-10 minutes or until lightly browned. Cool on wire racks. Makes about 5 dozen.

WALNUT BARS

1 recipe basic cookie dough
 2 eggs
 1 cup packed light brown sugar
 1 cup chopped walnuts
 1/2 cup flaked coconut
 2 tablespoons flour
 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
 Prepare basic cookie dough as directed. Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Grease 2 (8-inch) square pans. Cut dough in half. Pat each half into each pan. Bake 15 minutes or until light brown around the edges.

Meanwhile, in a mixer bowl, beat eggs and sugar 2 minutes, scraping the bowl occasionally. Add remaining ingredients and beat until well mixed, about 1 minute. Pour half the mixture over each pan of partially baked dough. Return to oven and continue baking for 15 minutes or until topping is set. Cool. Cut into bars. Makes 64 two inch bars.

DATE RAISIN ROLLS FROM BASIC COOKIE DOUGH

1 recipe basic cookie dough
 date raisin filling:
 8 oz. chopped dates
 1/2 cup seedless raisins

1/2 cup sugar
 1/2 cup water
 1/4 cup lemon juice
 1/2 cup chopped walnuts
 1 egg white, lightly beaten
 1 tablespoon sugar

Prepare basic cookie dough as directed. Set aside. In a small saucepan, heat dates, raisins, sugar, water and lemon juice to boiling. Cool 5 minutes until thickened. Stir in nuts. Allow to cool. Divide dough in half. On waxed paper, roll one half into large rectangle 1/4 inch thick. Place half the date-raisin filling down the center of the dough lengthwise. Using waxed paper, carefully fold sides of dough up and over filling.

Pinch edges of dough to seal. Wrap and chill. Repeat with remaining dough and filling. Preheat oven to 350 degrees. With dough seam side down, brush top with egg white and sprinkle with 1 1/2 teaspoons sugar. Cut into 1/4 inch slices. Place on a lightly greased cookie sheet, sugared side up and bake 10-12 minutes or until lightly browned. Makes 3 dozen.

MALTED MILK BALL COOKIES

1 recipe basic cookie dough
 60-70 malted milk balls
 2 cups flaked coconut

Prepare basic cookie dough as directed. Preheat oven to 350 degrees. For each cookie, roll 1 teaspoon of dough around a malted milk ball until smooth. Roll in coconut. Place on a cookie sheet. Repeat with remaining dough, candy and coconut. Bake for 12 minutes or until lightly browned. Makes 5 dozen.

CHRISTMAS STARS FROM BASIC COOKIE DOUGH

1 recipe basic cookie dough
 1/4 cup sliced almonds
 6 oz. candied cherries, halved
 Prepare basic cookie dough as directed, refrigerate. Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Divide dough in half. On a lightly floured surface, roll out half to a 1/4 inch thickness. Cut out dough with star shaped cookie cutter, (any cutter will do) place cookies on an ungreased cookie sheet. Garnish with almonds and cherries. Bake for 10 minutes or until lightly browned. Repeat with remaining dough. Makes about 7 dozen.

NUTTY THUMBPRINT COOKIES

1 recipe basic cookie dough
 2 egg whites, lightly beaten
 1 1/2 cups chopped walnuts or pecans about 1/2 cup jam or jelly

Prepare basic cookie dough as directed. Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Grease 2 large cookie sheets. Roll dough into 1-inch balls. Dip in egg whites, then roll in nuts. Place on cookie sheet and bake 10 minutes. Remove from oven and with the end of a wooden spoon, make a depression in the center of each cookie. Fill with jam. Return to oven for 5 minutes. Cool. Makes 4 dozen.

MOMMAS NOEL FRUITCAKE

3 1/2 cups sifted flour
 1 1/4 teaspoons baking powder

1 teaspoon salt
 2 teaspoons ground cinnamon
 1/4 teaspoon ground cloves
 1 1/4 cups raisins
 1 cup chopped nuts
 12 oz. dried apricots, chopped
 8 oz. candied cherries, chopped
 4 oz. candied lemon peel, chopped
 4 oz. candied citron, chopped
 1 tablespoon grated orange rind
 1/2 cup orange juice
 1 cup grape jelly
 1 1/2 cup shortening
 2 1/2 cups brown sugar, firmly packed
 5 eggs

Preheat oven to 300 degrees. Line 2 loaf pans with greased waxed paper. Set aside. Sift together flour, baking powder, salt, cinnamon, cloves. Set aside. Combine raisins with nuts and all candied fruit. Set aside. Beat orange rind with orange juice, jelly and mix well. Set aside. Beat shortening and sugar until creamy. Add eggs. Mix well. Add flour mixture alternately with orange mixture, beginning and ending with flour. Stir in candied fruit mix.

Turn batter into prepared pans. Bake 2 1/2 to 3 hours for loaf pans and test with toothpick or tester for doneness.

Cover with paper the last hour to prevent over browning on top. Cool. Remove from pan. Store in tightly covered container for 1 week to mellow flavors. During this time, the cake can be doused daily with a brandy or rum mixture for added moistness.

Wrap up your holiday shopping with wine gifts

Tailoring wine gifts to a recipient's taste can be fun, even if you believe you don't know much about wine. Relax, all you need to know is how much you wish to spend. In general, wine enthusiasts are easily pleased.

Wine lovers enjoy reading about wine almost as much as they like drinking it. The latest vintage of wine books released for the holidays is above average.

Three books by the British writer Hugh Johnson, published by Simon & Schuster top the list. "Vintage: The Story of Wine" (paperback $25) is an outgrowth of the basic work Johnson did for the PBS masterpiece of the same name. Within the nearly 500 pages with 200 four-color photographs, Johnson traces the history of wine from biblical times to the present. The reader is left with a great appreciation of the importance of wine on civilization.

In "The Vintner's Art" (hardcover $40) Johnson teams with Australian vintner/writer James Halliday to explain how technology has, in the last two decades, revolutionized the art of winemaking. In clear and understandable language, but with accurate detail, the authors explain how great wines are made.

Every wine enthusiast who has fantasized about making wine and owning a winery will enjoy reading about the technological advances available in the vineyard and winery enhancing the winemaker's skills.

Over the years, "Hugh Johnson's Pocket Encyclopedias of Wine" ($11.99) have sold more than three million copies. The 1993 edition offers a brief but complete look at wine producing countries, vintages, grape varieties, wine types and basic food complements. The book's size makes it a perfect stocking stuffer.

Cheese is one of wine's favorite matches and many area wine merchants stock a dazzling array. "The Simon and Schuster Pocket Guide to Cheese" by Sandy Carr ($13) is, as the subtitle suggests, a complete guide to the cheeses of the world. It includes, in addition to interesting facts about the world's stock of cheeses, hints on buying, storing and serving them. The tips on harmonizing wines and cheese cover a brief half page and is the book's drawback for a wine connoisseur.

In every wine vintage, some bottlings just don't make it. Some wine books are the same. "Making Sense of California Wine" by Matt Kramer (Morrow, $20) falls short of his 1990 work "Making Sense of Burgundy." Kramer, a Portland, Ore. resident, must not have spent much time in California wine country. His book, although offering a fresh perspective from the appellation point of view, omits wineries of significance.

Kramer also needs to study California geography and learn the correct spelling of winery names. We don't agree with its advance billing of the must-read wine book of the year.

To add to the wine enthusiasts liquid assets, a fine bottle of champagne or sparkling wine will always be welcome. Champagne prices have come down over last year, but they still bear a pricey

FOCUS ON WINE

ELEANOR & RAY HEALD

tag. If money's no object, the 1985 Champagne Taittinger Comtes de Champagne Blanc de Blancs ($90-95) is an exceptional chardonnay pour produced exclusively from 100 percent grand cru vineyards. This cuvee traces the history yeast for a full seven years before being recently disgorged.

Some champagnes come gift packaged with one or two invariably overpriced wine glasses. This may be an attractive gift, but an unwise purchase.

Tasting very similar to the real bubbly from Champagne is Domaine Chandon's California bottling Etoile ($22.50). Essentially, it comes with its own gift bagged 750-mL bottle inspired by the antique Saran Nature bottle from the French parent company Moet et Chandon and decorated by hand in 22kt gold, silk screened letters.

California's ultra-premium sparkling wine producer

Every wine enthusiast who has fantasized about making wine and owning a winery will enjoy reading about the technological advances available in the vineyard.

Schramsberg has released a stellar bubbly named J. Schram ($50). It is a limited production wine with the first release from the 1987 vintage about 2,000 six-bottle cases. This reasonably rare bottling also comes handsomely packaged with an exquisite fabric gift bag. The bubbly contents represent the 25-year sum of acquired knowledge at Schramsberg and are described in one word, excellent.

A wine enthusiast loves wine gadgets. The most popular is a table-model corkscrew. These are available through specialty catalogs at significantly inflated prices. Make elegant, easy holiday hors d'oeuvres

See related story about holiday hors d'oeuvres on Taste front.

Here are some holiday party tips. Always provide plenty of cocktail napkins — a minimum of three per person.

Make your life easier by supplementing individual hors d'oeuvres with pates, mousses, nuts, olives and cheese.

Guests like to know what they're eating. Label buffet foods with place cards with the recipe title.

Provide plenty of obvious receptacles for toothpicks and crumpled cocktail napkins.

There's the doorbell! Put on a clean apron, get the cat off the table, and relax. Everybody, including you, will have a great time!

Here is some information about the restaurant supply stores mentioned in the article. Gordon Food Service in Waterford Township is at 4721 Highland, 674-4139. Gordon Food Service in Westland is at 38150 Ford Road between Hix and Newburgh, 721-8700. Leone & Sons, Inc. is at 30660 Plymouth Road, Livonia, 427-7650. Baking by the Auer is at 29207 Southfield Road, Southfield, 424-8660.

Also, check your favorite meat market or specialty store. Many offer frozen chicken wings, meatballs and other appetizers.

The following recipes are from "365 Snacks, Hors d'oeuvres & Appetizers," by Lonnie Ganadara & Peggy Fallon. HarperCollins Publishers.

POTTED PECAN SHRIMP

Prep. time 5 minutes. Cook: None
1 8-ounce package cream cheese, softened
2 tablespoons minced celery
2 tablespoons beer
2 teaspoons grated sweet onion
¼ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
½ teaspoon dry mustard
½ cup chopped cooked

ELEGANT ARTICHOKE SPREAD

Prep. time: 10 minutes. Cook: none. Chill: 1 hour
1 cup sour cream
1 8-ounce package cream cheese, softened
1 8½-ounce can artichoke bottoms, drained and finely diced
1 2-ounce jar lumpfish caviar
In a small bowl, combine sour cream and cream cheese. Mix until shelled shrimp (about ¼ pound)

½ cup chopped toasted pecans

In a medium bowl, combine cream cheese, celery, beer, onion, Worcestershire sauce and mustard. Blend well.

Stir in shrimp and pecans. Pack into a crock or other serving container, cover and refrigerate 1 hour or as long as 2 days.

well blended. Stir in diced artichoke.

Drain caviar into a fine sieve and rinse under cold running water; drain well. Fold caviar into artichoke mixture. Cover and refrigerate 1 hour or as long as 8 hours.

KIELBASA PUFFS

Prep time: 10 minutes. Cook: 25 minutes
1 17½-ounce package frozen puff pastry, thawed as directed on package
2 pounds kielbasa

Preheat oven to 425 degrees. Cut sausage into 2 pieces, each about 10 inches long and peel off casing. Place each piece of sausage on a sheet of puff pastry and wrap tightly to enclose sausages completely. Press edges together to seal.

Place sausage rolls, seam side down, on an ungreased baking sheet. Bake 20 to 25 minutes, until golden brown. Let cool slightly, then slice into ¾-inch pieces. Serve with a flavorful coarse-grained mustard for dipping.

Cafe Bon Homme chef shares recipe for veal dish

See Chef's Secrets on Taste front.

ESCALOPES OF VEAL WITH LEMON

1½ pounds veal cut from the loin and pounded into ¼-inch thick medallions. Eight total.
1 teaspoon chopped shallots
¾ teaspoon chopped garlic

½ teaspoon coarse ground mustard
1 tablespoon butter
2 teaspoons lemon juice
2 ounces white wine
1 teaspoon olive oil
3 Tablespoons chopped leeks
5 mushrooms, sliced
12 pea pods
¼ Pimento sliced julienne

Sifted flour to coat veal

Assemble, process and measure all of your ingredients. Have ready by the stove.

Heat saute pan over medium high heat, add olive oil. Dredge escalopes of veal in sifted flour. Shake off excess flour from veal and place in saute pan when you see the first wisp of smoke rising from pan.

Cook 1½ minutes and turn.

Add white wine, garlic, shallots, mustard, leeks, mushrooms, butter and lemon juice. Add pea pods and pimento. Cover for 60 seconds. Remove from heat. Salt and pepper to taste.

Serves four. Garnish with rice or potatoes and steamed fresh asparagus.

Rattle's music: Chaos, attitude

Somehow you don't associate concrete with rattle. One word evokes hardness the other noise. But then if you're a band with an attitude and music that's about chaos, Concrete Rattle is an appropriate moniker.

BY JOSEPH HOFFMAN
SPECIAL WRITER

Another macabre menace has arisen on the local thrash/metal scene and their name is Concrete Rattle.

"Definitely not the kind of rattle you want in your children's hands. This one has sharp edges. Our music isn't about perfection and technique, it's pretty much about chaos and attitude," said Pete Falk, who is the band's percussionist.

This band's raw resonant sound is their prided trademark, best described as controlled chaos.

The members of this chaos are Jimmy Burnett of Taylor who unleashes the band's vocals, J.T. Monroe of Westland attacks the guitar, Joey Neely of Westland plays a refulgent bass and Pete Falk of Garden City puts the thunder into the drum kit.

"What differentiates our music from other bands on the local scene is that we don't play straight-ahead commercial rock'n'roll," Monroe said. "We take a lot of left turns when all the other bands are making right turns."

"In other words, we don't pay attention to the radio charts and MTV and pattern ourselves after what's going over well out there. We do what we want to do."

What they do is entertain the audience with a wry stage presence.

On stage you'll find Burnett contributing the high-energy vocals as he seizes the microphone with sardonic conviction. Falk bummels his pink drum set adorned with skulls.

Monroe rips through the necessary chords that drive their distinct sound while Neely shakes

One interesting and gutsy aspect of this band's stage show is their free-form jam style.

Often the band will just start playing something off-the-cuff on stage and just go out with it to see how it turns out.

"A lot of bands won't do free-form because they're worried about messing up," Monroe said. "We don't care about that. We'll give it a shot. It often turns out pretty good."

"We just write whatever we come up with, not following what is supposed to be a 'this is good music, so if we do that style we'll be good too' sort of thing."

"It's not that we don't care," Neely added. "It's just that we're going our own thing, what we feel is good."

This is the attitude that sets the pace for this band that has been evolving for the past three years since its formation.

They say the next step for them is to get on a bus and tour for a couple of years and see what becomes of that. Although they plan on making it, they know that they are from suburban Detroit and that's where their roots are.

"We will always say we were from Detroit," Neely said. "Though we plan to travel and showcase our sound out-of-state, too."

But, before they do that you can still find these guys giggling around town.

Concrete Rattle will perform Saturday, Dec. 12, in the Shelter at St. Andrew's Hall, 431 E. Congress, Detroit. For information, call 961-MELT.

Brothers' 'Limits' demands attention ventures in rastafarian reconnaissance. There's even a tad of torch and twang in the sardonic ode to rednecks "Country Joe."

LARRY O'CONNOR

While Brothers from Another Planet must be lauded for such diversity, their true home is in the land of the power chord and primal scream of rock'n'roll.

Guitarist Gordon Spencer tears off some searing guitar licks — obviously putting his blues upbringing to good use — in free-for-all "Forgotten Brothers" and "Metal Fatigue."

Vocalist and songwriter James Page also makes some of his most evocative statements in these moments, speaking to self-preservation in "God Bless" while decrying the living casualties of war in "Forgotten Brother."

In "Political Sounds," a roiling rock number, Page cuts a swathe through well-intentioned socio-speak to reveal a telling vignette of inner-city life. ("... little brother on the street trying to fend for something to eat because he's hungry/Little sister would go to school to learn the golden rule but we've got no money/This is my life. This is where I'm from...")

While those numbers bear most of the lyrical weight in these proceedings, there is due time given to frivolity. "Swamp Thing" is a delectable all-out, funk fest throw-down, driven by gorging bass lines and blues-inspired guitar.

The band's zest for reggae produces tangible results in two numbers: "Raggin Fo Ma Muffin" and "Stuffin the Muffin." Both are deliberate and chug along on an energetic beat. Also, Page goes all out in his best ya man persona.

Then again, one thing Brothers from Another Planet have never lacked is personality. "Outer Limits" is evidence.

"High Noon (maxi-single)," Chain Reaction: The light, breezy rock sound of this three-song release is deceiving at times. Vocalist and songwriter Eric Harabadian draws a parallel between the daunting crime-ridden streets of today and the Wild West on the title track (Hmmm... sound familiar?).

"High Noon" is perhaps the most commercially viable number as the group otherwise embarks on some ambitious six-minute plus musical explorations. The lead guitar work of Bob Drozdowski strafes the realms of intoxicating tranquility in "The Party Principle" as his playing pulls the song out from the morass of beleaguered vocals and tedious arrangements to match.

STREET SENSE

BARBARA SCHIFF

This is a message left in my telephone mailbox:

This message is regarding "No Longer Capable of Standing Suffering," your Nov. 9 column. This man is depressed and needs therapy. You are a trained therapist and you don't see it. I suffer from manic-depressive disorder and I know what depression is. This man wants to kill himself; he wants to die. It's not just his physical disabilities, it is in his mind. He needs counseling. I suggest you change your answer.

Dear Caller,

Thank you for your message. In your communication you made the point that "No Longer Capable of Standing Suffering" needs anti-depressant medication. I am in complete agreement with you on this point.

In his letter, he indicated that he had previously seen therapists. Certainly, we must hold out help for every patient. If he has been on medication which did not help, different medication that he has not should be tried until he receives one that does help.

Also, it is essential that he continue the psychotherapy that should accompany proper medication.

My response was to the question: What can we do when all help has failed? My reply was to this specific point and not to the general discussion of the treatment of depression. Since I am really in agreement with you, may I add in this response the fervent hope that you successfully continue the therapy course direction that you advocate.

Barbara

Dear Barbara,
Please print this letter in response to "No Longer Capable of Standing Suffering."

While I cannot say that I understand your sufferings, can tell you that on many occasions, for many years, I wished desperately to die. What I may tell you, you may very well have heard, but I think it should be said.

When I have found myself shaking and crying uncontrollably, wishing for death to seize me, I have always been comforted by prayer. As I think about the sufferings of others, those who are being tortured, those in the midst of civil war, those who have made their suffering a blessing for others by comforting them and spreading hope, I think how selfish I am and how lucky I am to have so much promise before me.

You have promise, too. It's oozing from your letter and I believe in your heart you don't want to die. You are right that you deserve better and credit for finishing college and returning to work. But why did you? You must want in your heart to believe — and you should — that you have a purpose in life.

Lastly, you say you do not want to put your problems on others. I ask you: what are you doing to your family when you have committed suicide?

I don't want to undermine your suffering. I only want you to have the will to live. Please rethink your position. There is at least one person out here who believes in you and is praying for you.

Dear Helpful,

Thank you for your good intentions to help "NLCS." I hope that the person to whom you dedicated your letter takes heart and understands that there are many people like you who really do care about what happens to other people.

We have just celebrated the Thanksgiving holiday. It would be wonderful if we could be dedicated to giving thanks 365 days a year.

Barbara

Dear Ms. Schiff:

I have a disabling illness that affects my brain and nervous system in ways I never could have imagined before I got ill. It can affect my emotions and optimism in terrible ways simply because my brain is directly affected. Maybe the man who is contemplating suicide has something new wrong with his brain. Either his illness could have directly affected his brain or his medications could have changed his "self." If this is true, he may have to pressure his doctor to figure it out. That is still better than his present dilemma.

Do Not Use My Name

Dear Do Not Use My Name,
Your letter, together with the others who have responded to "No Longer Capable of Standing Suffering," proves that there are loving people, who have suffered and do suffer, and who are willing to share their pain in order to help another human being whom they do not know personally.

My thanks to you and to the many people who feel the way you do and, I hope, put their feelings into actions.

Barbara

JOHN MONAGHAN

Eddie Murphy's character in "The Distinguished Gentleman" heads for D.C. minus such lofty goals. Pure and simple he's in it for the money. He eventually realizes the error of his ways and sets out to, as the ads subtly put it, "do to Congress what they've been doing to us."

What might have been a timely and funny update of Smith's story turns into the worst movie I've suffered through this season. Not that I was expecting much.

Murphy is the only thing distinguishing "Gentleman" and he's his own worst enemy. He joins the ranks of other "Saturday Night Live" alumni who have failed to ripen or mature from film to film. They've simply grown stale and moldy — caricatures of their own limited personalities.

So it's no surprise to find Murphy as wiseguy Thomas Jefferson Johnson, who wins a seat in Congress strictly on the strength of his last name. When veteran congressman Jeff Johnson (James Garner) dies while dishing a blonde staff aide, the new Johnson gets his votes.

Slick. Smart-alecky. Street wise. Homophobic and sexist. Murphy could play this part in his sleep and probably has in most of his films. Like his Congressman Thomas Jefferson Johnson, Murphy's in it solely for the paycheck and perks.

That's what makes the message of "The Distinguished Gentleman" so hard to swallow. When Johnson has his predictable change of heart, it's not only trite but hypocritical. You can almost view this as a summing-up of Murphy's career, since he's become such a mindless, methodless cog in a filmmaking machine he has more than enough political power to change. No happy ending.

"The Distinguished Gentleman" opens at a time when freshman lawmakers prepare to take their own government seats. Yet the movie does little with this topical subject beyond dredging up the same stereotypes of goodness and avarice that were already shopworn back in Smith's day.

Watching Murphy shoot political fish in a barrel isn't funny or clever, especially when he gets his biggest laughs in a simple-minded litany of political slogans borrowed from presidents Roosevelt, Truman, Kennedy and Bush. "Ask not what your country can do for you," he says during an acceptance speech. "If you can't stand the heat, get out of the kitchen. And one last thing: read my lips."

This Mulligan stew of much better movies is released by Hollywood Pictures, a Disney subsidiary that creates calculatedly populist pictures that could easily be written by computer. An upcoming Hollywood Picture called "Swing Kids" finds disenfranchised Hitler Youth obsessed with jitterbugging and Benny Goodman. Go figure.

"The Distinguished Gentleman" only serves to remind us that superstar Murphy doesn't know how to entertain beyond cheap gags where swaggering "beat yo ass" profanity is usually both set-up and punchline. Even the easy-to-please preview audience of Murphy fans had to admit that their boy was not in top form.

If you have a comment, question or suggestion, write to John Monaghan, Street Scene, Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150, or call him at 953-2047, mailbox number 1866, on a touch-tone phone.

Headed for D.C.: Eddie Murphy is a freshman congressman for the wrong reasons in his latest film, "The Distinguished Gentleman."

'I Don't Buy Kisses Anymore' revives tried, true formula

LeAnne Rogers

A tried and true formula going back to the beginning of movies

A shy, overweight shoe salesman meets a pretty girl in a candy store, falls head over heels and tries to win her affections. Boy gets girl, boy loses girl, boy gets girl back and they live happily ever after.

and probably stories around a fire in the cave. That in a nutshell is the plot of the 1992 film "I Don't Buy Kisses Anymore."

Jason Alexander, a familiar face as Seinfeld's television pal George, plays the shoe salesman who consoles and abuses himself with food, in particular a pound of chocolate kisses from the candy store after work each night. We see him as a young boy helping his father in the family shoe store, a precocious boy fussed over by the old ladies and popping chocolate candies.

The woman he meets, played by Nia Peeples, is a graduate student. She sings and plays piano at her uncle's Italian restaurant, where her new admirer becomes a regular customer. He can certainly be a boon to a restaurant.

Rather anxious about impressing this woman, he orders and consumes two full dinners. Friendly though not overly encouraging, Peeples tries to help him out and brings him along to her gym where he starts losing weight and gaining confidence. Peeples goes out with him on a casual basis, then starts showing a lot of interest in getting to know him better. She naturally has an ulterior motive — she is writing her master's thesis on compulsive eating and finds him an ideal subject.

This movie is nothing if not predictable as Alexander is devastated when he finds out he was a human lab rat and about a false although well-intentioned statement from Peeples.

Will they work it out in the end? Not a lot of suspension in that question.

This isn't a bad film although a puzzling one. The puzzle, naturally, is why anyone would want to remake a film without doing it better or in this case even as well.

Alexander is fine as the unhappy shoe salesman who needs to stop living with his loud Jewish mother, naturally played by Lainie Kazan, who always has him on a diet then tries to sabotage him when he starts getting out more.

There is sort of a red herring issue about religious differences. Peeples plays an Italian Catholic, but its never looked at seriously.

There is one really annoying aspect to this picture. Peeples is supposed to be leading sing-alongs of Italian songs at a family-owned restaurant. Her voice is so wispy and overdubbed she sounds like Shelley Fabares gone Chef Boyardee.

"I Don't Buy Kisses Anymore" is available on cassette at your local video store. If you have a question or comment for LeAnne Rogers, send it to Street Scene, Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150. You also can leave a message by calling her at 953-2103.

SCREEN SCENE

DETROIT FILM SOCIETY
Detroit Public Library, 5201 Woodward Ave., Detroit. Call 833-4048 for information. $25 series membership; $4 individual admission.

"The Razor's Edge" (USA — 1946) and "42nd Street" (USA — 1933) share a double bill beginning at 7 p.m. Dec. 11-12. The first (and best) adaptation of the Somerset Maugham novel stars Tyrone Power as a World War I veteran (Tyrone Power) facing a crossroads. He must decide between the comfort and wealth of marriage to a beautiful woman (Gene Tierney) or an endless search for truth. "42nd Street" is the granddaddy of backstage musicals, starring Warner Baxter as an overworked director trying to juggle a quirky ensemble including Ruby Keeler and Ginger Rogers.

HENRY FORD CENTENNIAL LIBRARY
13650 Michigan Ave., Dearborn.

Call 943-2330 for information. (Free)

"Tony Draws a Horse" (Britain — 1951), 7 p.m. Dec. 7. When Tony, the son of a doctor and a psychiatrist, draws a naughty picture on his father's office wall, he sets off a chain of comical events. Cecil Parker and Derek Bond star.

students and senior citizens) "Being There" (USA — 1979), 7 p.m. Dec. 8. Peter Sellers plays Chance, a simple-minded gardener who views the world as he does television, watching and reacting. Director Hal Ashby injects the same comic quirkiness he did in "Harold and Maude" years before.

"Howard's End" (Britain — 1992), 7 p.m. Dec. 9-10. Another great E.M. Forster adaptation, this time about an enchanted English summer home and the lure it has for longtime owner Vanessa Redgrave and the woman she wants to inherit it (Emma Thompson).

"1991: The Year Punk Broke" (USA — 1992), Dec. 10-26 (call for show times). Director Dave Markey's offbeat document of Sonic Youth's 1991 European tour, including footage of their then-unknown warm-up band Nirvana. Also tunes from Dinosaur Jr., The Ramones, Gumball and Babes in Toyland.

LINDA BACHRACK

Classics, not gimmicks, are toys they remember

The talk around my dinner table this past week has been of toys which, in my household of three teenagers, is a refreshing change from computers, clothes and CD players.

In anticipation of writing this column, I asked my kids which toys they remember most from their childhood, which ones gave them lasting pleasure. Their immediate responses were Lincoln Logs, wooden building blocks (which are still in a box in the basement), and Matchbox cars.

No mention of the remote-control race car, the giant battery-operated Star Wars spaceships or the dozens of Atari electronic games. Not even a special memory of the Cabbage Patch doll that was purchased after a frantic search through dozens of toy stores. So often those must-have toys that are driven by Saturday morning television advertisements, last just about as long as the Christmas tree.

The good news is there is no shortage of time-tested toys and games, and there is a huge resurgence in their popularity.

"We're not experiencing a return to classic toys," said Shelley Littman, proprietor of Adventures in Toys in Birmingham. "They were always around. I think the recession has had a lot to do with their new appeal. People are spending their money more wisely. They want quality and durability."

Adventures in Toys is a full-service toy store staffed with knowledgeable and helpful sales personnel.

I bet this list will prompt some nostalgic memories. Littman suggests Magic 8 Balls ($10), Lincoln Logs ($33/200 piece set), family games like checkers and chess, marbles and jacks, and Ravensburger puzzles that last forever. How about paper dolls? We picture Little Red Riding Hood ($6.75) and this set includes the fairy tale.

Trolls are an increasingly popular deja-vu phenomenon. Norfin makes these goof-looking dolls with the purple and orange and blue hair. We picture Buffy, the cheerleader ($7), but she has legions of brothers and sisters in all shapes and sizes.

Cindi Burke of Bloomfield Village grabbed James the Red Engine and Harold the Helicopter, characters from the Emmy award-winning PBS series Shining Time Station. "My 2-year-old loves Thomas the Tank Train and all of his friends on the show," said Burke. Although Thomas is a merchandising wonder, the original books by the Rev. W. Awdry are delightful and the television adaptation has captured the imaginations of thousands of children.

I also strolled through the Early Learning Centre in Oakland Mall, another store that prides itself in offering time-honored, developmental toys. Amy Booth shared her picks for the most sought-after toys this season.

"For imaginative, interactive play everyone wants Playmobil sets," she said. Other top sellers are Brio trains, Tinker Toys ($14.99, although they're made of plastic now), dinosaurs, wooden vehicles ($1.99) and car playmats ($34.99), and, of course, Thomas.

These are the toys that become the treasured possessions, the ones that hold their appeal and hold up through the years. These are the toys that can be handed down to grandchildren.

Speaking of lasting a lifetime, this year marks the golden anniversary of Little Golden Books, that library of childhood memories that includes The Poky Little Puppy. I'm sure you are one of the 14 million people who have bought and read this beloved story over and over to a little one.

Waldenbooks at Fairlane Town Center offers a huge selection of Little Golden Books titles, including Doctor Dan the Bandage Man (1950), The Taxi that Hurried (1946), The Little Red Caboose (1953) and most of the Disney classics.

Next week, take a break and indulge yourself. I'll suggest some soul-soothing bath pamperers to get you through the rest of this hectic holiday season.

Kids bend jolly old St. Nick's

..... E.A.R.

Santa listens but he also dispenses advice as kids are discovering this holiday season. "Brush your teeth everyday and don't fight with your brothers and sisters!" Santa tells them. Then he promises some surprises . . .

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO
STAFF WRITER

"All Santa wants for Christmas is good girls and boys, Ho Ho Ho," the Santa at Northland Mall insists.

But the kids want a lot more. They want Lego pirate ships. They want Puppy Surprise. They want Rollerblade Baby.

They want anything Beauty and the Beast-related.

"I'll be delivering these items," Santa said. "Plus a few surprises."

"I tell the children that Santa knows they're trying to be good, but I ask them to promise me that they will brush their teeth everyday and not argue with their brothers and sisters. The moms love this. They stand by and nod their heads. Ho Ho Ho!"

Santa burst into his hearty laugh and shook like a bowl full of Ninja Turtle ooze.

Shane Burr, 4, of Ferndale recited his wish list non-stop until Santa interrupted.

"Whoa! Ho Ho Ho. . ." he chuckled.

"I'll try and get you the Hot Shot Basketball, but I can't promise you all those toys. Ho Ho Ho. . ."

Then Santa mentioned those surprises again.

Ryan Smith, 6, of Troy wants Lego.

"Santa, I'd like the big Lego pirate ship and some Lego police," he whispered.

Eying Ryan's little brother who firmly refused to sit on the jolly man's lap, Santa had Ryan promise to be good to his younger sibling. Santa said he would try and come through with the Lego.

After chatting with hundreds of visitors ages 8 months to 15 years, Santa was ready for a break.

"I have to see what the elves are up to, inspect the workshop, feed the reindeer and give Mrs. Claus a little kiss. Ho Ho Ho. . ." he said as he stood to stretch.

Then he winked and reminded all in attendance about those surprises he has planned . . .

Don't shop 'til you drop, eat out to lift sagging spirits

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO
STAFF WRITER

Your shoes pinch. Your arms ache. Your stomach's growling. Your throat is dry.

Welcome to the dark side of holiday shopping.

But take heart. Someone understands you, and they're waiting for you.

The chefs at shopping center dining rooms have created special holiday entrees and beverages to nourish the body and invigorate sagging spirits.

At the 12 Hudson's Restaurants (which incidentally serve more than 1,000 shoppers a day on busy week-ends) regional manager Dan Karwicz said diners enjoy steaming bowls of lobster bisque.

"The soup has become one of our signature items along with our Maurice salads (750,000 served every year) and our chicken pies," he said. "People start asking for it in October."

'Comfort foods' acoming

After the holidays Hudson's Restaurants will feature "comfort foods" which Karwicz explained customers used to prepare at home but no longer have time to make.

"Foods like pot roast and meatloaf will appear on our menus," he said.

If you're shopping in downtown Farmington, warm up with a cup of egg nog or hot spiced cider at the Dagwood Deli. Ceci Sanford recommends the homemade chili and the Dagwood salad that features roast beef, turkey, swiss and cheddar cheese on top of lettuce, cucumbers and tomatoes.

Chris Papas, manager of It's Greek To Me, insists shoppers try his mousaka and pasticcio.

At Marco's, shoppers can linger over a hot cappuccino or espresso and dessert, or try the owner's recommendations.

"How does spinach-stuffed pork tenderloin with hazelnut, sundried cranberry sauce sound?" Marco Conte asked.

Upscale shopping requires upscale dining so shoppers at the Somerset Collection in Troy can choose between Neiman Marcus' Cafe on the store's third floor, the Cafe Jardin inside the center court, and Sebastian's Grill.

At the Cafe Jardin try the turkey scallopini with apple cherry chutney and vegetables.

At Neiman's Cafe there's a lime grilled shrimp or orange souffle ring with chicken salad or imperial snowcrab saute, to name a few.

Afternoon tea

In the afternoons Neiman's has a tea service complete with scones, chocolate-dipped strawberries and lemon squares.

Chris Kassel, sommelier at Sebastian's suggests shoppers break for his hot spice port.

"It's my specialty," he said. "Very soothing. I grind my own spices and mix them with a ruby port."

Sebastian's sous chef David Pidek said shoppers are going nuts over a rare seafood entree tilapia, which comes from the Sea of Galilee.

Shoppers in downtown Plymouth can break at Penniman's Deli for a fresh daily bowl of soup. Sandwiches are always thick and the coffee hot, according to manager Russ Webster.

Down the road at the Mayflower, the Crow's Nest is pouring hot toddies for tired shoppers and the dining room is serving its specialty, scrod.

The Box Bar has burgers, chili and Mexican dishes that manager Jamie Church assures will "hit the spot."

Almost every shopping district restaurant provides carry-out and party catering. Simply call ahead.

Hudson's Market Place Delis offer shoppers the chance to pick up chicken pot pies, pizza, ham/cheese croissants and shrimp pastas to take home for dinner.

"And shoppers appreciate it," Karwicz said. "There's usually a line at the counter. Shopping is tiring and when you've been shopping all day, you feel like going home to cook?" Amen.

JERRY ZOLYNSKY/STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

Proud to serve: John Schmidt, general manager of the Hudson's Restaurant at Northland and his staff are prepared to feed the army of shoppers who stop by this holiday season.

More Detroit suburban shoppers

If your business has anything to do with retail, this is the best possible place for your ad to appear.

Because this is one of the fifty SPRING Newspapers.

And the SPRING Newspapers' circulation more than doubles the daily suburban circulation of either The Detroit News or Free Press.

In fact, SPRING's suburban circulation is greater than the two metro dailies' combined.

And that's not all.

According to the 1991 Belden newspaper readership study, SPRING reaches more of the affluent suburban shoppers who have more to spend—and who spend more.

- ▶ 152,700 more suburban buyers of women's fashions than the daily News (78,600 more than the Free Press).
- ▶ 145,700 more suburban buyers of men's fashions than The News (64,500 more than the Free Press).
- ▶ 115,900 (and 63,600) more suburban buyers of children's clothing.
- ▶ 177,100 (and 80,000) more suburban shoppers at malls.

Simply put, one order in SPRING delivers more.

The SPRING Newspapers for the Suburban Shoppers

SPRING is the network of 50 suburban Detroit newspapers published by the Adams, Associated, Heritage, HomeTown, and Observer & Eccentric groups. Hacker gets probation for computer fraud

By BILL COUTANT
STAFF WRITER

Michael Shutes sat with head bowed, holding hands with his fiancée and appearing on the verge of tears several times before his case was called and his sentence pronounced in Washtenaw County Circuit Court.

Shutes, 24, dressed neatly in a double-breasted business suit, had more of the appearance of a young man with the weight of the world on his shoulders than of a "Live Wire" — the computer code name he used while he helped a group of young computer hackers commit fraud under the name "Nation of Thieves."

If Shutes were praying, his

See related story, 12B

prayers were probably answered when Judge Melinda Morris sentenced him to five years probation and six months of jail, which she suspended.

He spoke softly, almost inaudibly before TV cameras especially set up for the occasion of his sentencing, as he apologized for his misdeeds.

"I just want to express my remorse for what I did. I just want to put this behind me and get on with my life."

If he had been arrogant while showing his fellow thieves how to get access to credit card numbers, telephone lines and security codes, he was that much more humble as he sat through a long morning and faced the court.

Shutes lives in Farmington Hills and is a junior at Lawrence Technological University in Southfield. Now he will have to pay court costs of $1,280, a $1,000 fine and restitution for the $1,924 computer hard drive he illegally obtained from a Salt Lake City, Utah, company. But he was obviously grateful not to be going behind bars.

"He has cooperated, he has an employer who wants to hire him back, and he is truly remorseful about what he's done," said Shutes' attorney, Michael Friedman. "I think if he didn't have those things going for him, he'd be sitting in jail right now."

Shutes, like many computer hackers, is very bright, but very channeled into computers, said Friedman.

"These guys are not what you'd call well-rounded individuals."

The death of his father when Shutes was 6, and other family difficulties have not helped, said Friedman.

Authorities have taken away Shutes' "toys" — computer equipment worth $10,000 that he bought himself — to make sure he doesn't reconnect to a network of computer fraud.

Shutes' ordeal is not quite over.

Prosecutor: Hackers attack the faceless

Computer fraud can involve the seemingly innocent stroke of a key and a victim that a hacker never sees. And most computer fraud is committed by juveniles, whose cavalier attitude translates into code names like "Black Wizard," that invoke mythological names of benign computer games, not real electronic manipulations that cost banks, consumers and other companies hundreds of thousands of dollars.

"They don't see the faces of their victims," said Kirk Tabbey, the prosecuting attorney in Michael Shutes' case. "There's a coldness about the computer. They don't feel that it's criminal."

Computer fraud means big bucks

BY BILL COUTANT
STAFF WRITER

The case of the college student convicted for computer fraud represents a new frontier in crime because of the technology involved and the type of criminal causing the grief.

Michael Shutes was convicted of computer fraud for stealing with the aid of a pirated credit card number.

Although he had only been convicted of defrauding a company of a hard drive worth $2,000, his part in a network of computer "hackers" and their combined activities were a much bigger concern to authorities and an indication of a much wider problem.

"This kind of fraud will cost telecommunications companies about $1 billion in one year, and that's just what they'll lose," said Kirk Tabbey, an assistant prosecutor in Washtenaw County who coordinates the Michigan Computer Crime Task Force.

"That's not even counting what's stolen from credit card accounts. That's probably another $1 billion."

"Although Michigan has a statute to deal with the crime, there has not been much case law decided. Since 1990, there have been just 14 prosecutions and 12 convictions of computer fraud in the state.

That doesn't make it any easier for courts trying to decide sentences either.

"We really have no guidelines," said Michael Friedman, the attorney who defended Shutes.

The highly sophisticated methods and equipment used to commit computer fraud make it all the harder to trace and prosecute. It's also very easy to do for someone with the right equipment and computer expertise.

"It's still very easy to do with the right equipment," said Detective Sgt. Chuck Nebus of the Farmington Hills police. "People with good credit and plenty of money left in their credit line are usually the targets."

Telecommunications companies, police agencies and banks are learning how better to detect the criminals, but the "hackers" are also going to school.

"They're educating each other all the time," Tabbey said. "They use (computer) bulletin boards to teach 'the art of carding.' They teach each other such things as how to get card numbers, set up deliveries and how to lay low. They also teach each other how to act mature over the phone and get along with their parents."

Which brings up another common denominator of most illegal computer hacking. The perpetrators are young. Shutes, who helped eight others in his "Nation of Thieves," was an old man compared to others in the network.

And that presents authorities with some special problems.

"Mr. Shutes doesn't appear to be a major player," Tabbey said. "Two of the people who did the most damage are someone who goes by the name of 'Black Wizard' of Southfield and 'The Grim Reaper' from Cranbrook."

The young thieves do their damage at a computer in their own homes, and their parents are not aware that there is a problem, Tabbey said.

SC computer class explores features of Windows

Schoolcraft College will offer a 16-week course on Microsoft Windows beginning Wednesday, Jan. 13.

The class meets 6-8:50 p.m. Cost is $35.

The course is designed to explore the features of Windows including: File Manager, Write, Paintbrush, Calendar, Note-book etc.

To register, or for more information, contact the college's business development center at 462-4438.

Arthur Hill QB rates with Mill

My list of all-time great high school football players has expanded since seeing the Class AA championship game at the Pontiac Silverdome Nov. 28.

Remember the name Marvin Wright and don't be surprised if the Saginaw Arthur Hill quarterback winds up as Rick Mirer's successor at Notre Dame.

Wright was brilliant in a 21-20 loss to Redford Catholic Central.

This guy does it all — throws, runs, scrambles, plays defense, kicks, punts and returns kickoffs.

Yes, he's a bigger version of Mill "The Thrill" Coleman.

Wright joins my all-time list, which includes Jeff Nault, the tight end/linebacker from Escanaba; Tony Boles, the running back from Westland John Glenn; John Miller, the do-it-all All-State back from Farmington Harrison; Steve Morrison, the linebacker/fullback from Birmingham Brother Rice; Cedric Gordon, the wide receiver from Ann Arbor Pioneer; Coleman, the all-time passing kingpin from Harrison; and Jesse Johnson, the back from Harper Woods Bishop Gallagher.

That's a pretty good list for only 15 years on the prep beat.

My all-time team doesn't include Torin Dorn, Tyrone Wheatley, Andre Rison and Jerome Bettis, but that's because I only saw them play in the Coaches All-Star Game.

I've got to see them during the high school season to get a true evaluation.

Give Mach credit

What a pleasant surprise to see CC throw some wrinkles into their offensive game plan during Saturday's Class AA state championship game.

I don't think the Shamrocks would have beaten Arthur Hill without going against some of their own tendencies.

It could have been a painful afternoon for CC, but thanks to head coach Tom Mach, the Shamrocks gave themselves a chance to win by keeping Arthur Hill guessing.

Arthur Hill's defense had only given up 121 yards rushing per game, but the Lumberjacks were kept off-balance by Mach's play-calling.

This game was a far cry from the 'Dome losses CC suffered in previous state finals against Ann Arbor Pioneer and Traverse City.

It was the best high school football game witnessed all season.

Get well Brian

The Greek physician Hippocrates once wrote, "Healing is a matter of time, but it is also sometimes a matter of opportunity."

We all extend our prayers and concerns to John Glenn quarterback Brian Morrison, who is recovering from serious injuries suffered in an automobile accident. He is recuperating at home now.

Our hearts and prayers also go out to the families of Melissa Thompson and Dennis Ray Edwards.

Morrison, a gritty junior quarterback, led the Rockets to a 7-2 record this season. At only 5-feet-8 inches, 147 pounds, I saw Morrison take some heavy licks, but he always got up off his feet and ran the next play.

Glenn coach Chuck Gordon told me that Morrison plays with a lot of heart, and that if anyone could bounce back from a terrible tragedy, it's Brian.

He'll have some tough days ahead for sure, but former Dallas Cowboys wide receiver Drew Pearson has overcome a personal tragedy as well. He lost his brother in a car accident while he was at the wheel.

Keep the faith, Brian, we're in your corner.

Titans vs. Tartars

Great crowd and a great game last week as University of Detroit-Mercy and Wayne State tangled at Detroit's Cobo Hall before a near-packed house.

The Division I Titans had a struggle, but prevailed 95-85. Wayne State is certainly going to be a team to be reckoned with in Division II.

The two city rivals went at it hot and heavy with a pair of former All-Observer players, Dwayne Kelley (Redford Bishop Borgess) and Randy Calcaterra (Livonia Churchill) playing big roles for their respective schools.

Kelley's performance (16 points) wasn't surprising, but Calcaterra, a 6-8 sophomore, certainly opened a few eyes.

He played a strong inside game coming off the bench and drilled through a three-pointer, finishing with 11 points. He also had 19 points off the bench in WSU's win Saturday over Grand Rapids Baptist.

Calcaterra, who has increased his upper body strength, took Kelley by surprise when he swatted away one of his drives to the basket.

Canton reloads for hoop season

Plymouth Canton lost most of its top players from a basketball team that was 18-5. But the Chiefs have several returnees ready to step in, plus highly-touted transfer Bryan Whittle and some talented players from the JV and freshman squads.

BY DAN O'MEARA
STAFF WRITER

Plymouth Canton boys coach Dave Van Wagoner knew what kind of basketball team he had well before the start of last season.

It was a veteran team that had finished strong the previous year, a team that had lofty goals and high expectations.

The Chiefs didn't disappoint, either. They finished first with an 11-0 record in the Western Lakes Activities Association regular season, won a second straight district championship and ended at 18-5.

But most of the players who made that team successful are gone, and Canton faces a different situation this year. Van Wagoner isn't quite sure what to expect from the Chiefs on the eve of the 1992-93 season.

"This year we're going day by day," he said. "I think our kids have a good playing base, but we are young and have only one player back with varsity experience."

"On the positive side, we have worked hard and we're going to play for this year. By the end of the season, we will be a very competitive basketball team."

Six-foot-5 senior Owen Crosby is the only player who had considerable court time, averaging two points and three rebounds. The Chiefs also return 6-2 senior swingman Brad Paskievitch, who will be a co-captain along with Crosby, and 6-3 senior forward Ryan Cox.

The Chiefs lost seven players — four of whom are playing college ball — to graduation, and seniors Ben Lemon and Mike Stafford aren't playing this year.

Playing college ball are Tony Coshatt at Saginaw Valley, Hal Heard at Mississippi Valley State, Derrick McDonald at Henry Ford Community College and Mike Brennan at the University of Michigan-Dearborn.

Whittle distinguished himself at Spackenhill High School (enrollment 366) and was listed among the top juniors in the nation by at least one scouting service. He has played AAU basketball in New York City.

Despite playing in only 11 varsity games because of a dislocated knee last season, Whittle still averaged 24 points and was named Player of the Year in a two-county area. He averaged 19½ points as a freshman and scored 118 as an eighth grader on the varsity.

"He brings along some impressive credentials, and we're looking for him to be a good player in our program," Van Wagoner said, adding that Whittle is "probably the best pure athlete" Canton has ever had.

"We want Bryan to help us at the defensive end and shore up some of our rebounding. He's really good in the open court, so we're not only going to let the big guys get out on the break but dribble on the break."

Matt Paupore, a 6-2 junior who spent some time on the varsity, averaged 20 points for the JV and should take up the scoring slack this year.

Senior forward Al Hollingsworth (6-1) was cut last year but persisted and made the team this year.

Ted Docks, a 5-10 sophomore who played on the JV, was to be the starting point guard but broke his left big toe and will be out until January.

"He really elevated his game," Van Wagoner said, adding Docks is Canton's best ball handler and best passer. "I think he's going to be one of the better point guards in the area, and we can't wait to get him back."

The Chiefs also have juniors Tim Moritz (6-2), Rob Radney (6-1) and Tadarus Rachal (5-9), all of whom played on the JV. Making the jump from the freshman team are sophomores Brian Samulski (6-4) and Mark Sanborn (5-10).

When the Chiefs begin the season Tuesday at home against Wayne Memorial, Rachal is likely to be in the starting lineup with Paupore, Paskievitch, Crosby and Whittle.

Eagles set to soar into 1992-93 campaign

BY DAN O'MEARA
STAFF WRITER

Dan Brandel is more optimistic about a boys basketball season than any time in his seven years as Plymouth Christian Academy coach.

It's not that his team is loaded with varsity experience. The Eagles have just two seniors, and six of the 11 players are either sophomores or freshmen.

"It's the type of players," Brandel said. "We do have some leadership at center (with senior Jason Neil), and Ryan Thomason played well as a freshman last year. I like the way he's playing and handling himself."

"They're the type of players who don't back down from pressure. In fact, they rise to it. These players have been tried in some sense, and I just think they're ready."

Brandel isn't talking about setting the world on fire, or the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference. The Eagles were 4-17 last season, but Brandel believes PCA has the potential to finish above .500.

"A winning season, that's our first goal since we've had so many losing seasons," he said. "If we get in a couple close games, we'd like to walk away with a few extra wins."

"We have as good a chance as we've had in a long while, and the attitude is good."

The Eagles lost six players: two who graduated, three who transferred and one who didn't come out for the team.

But PCA also returns sophomore Art Partain and senior Sunil Bhat, and it was helped by the addition of a transfer, Ryan Bigelow from Alaska.

Neil, Thomason and Bigelow will be starters and "then whoever is playing the best," Brandel said. "We'll use a lot of rotations. We can substitute at any position and not drop like we have a lot of the time."

The 6-foot-3 Neil will do most of the scoring after averaging 23 points and eight rebounds last season, but he won't be the only offensive threat. He made 80 percent of his free throws.

"When we have two post players who can score (on the floor), we can move him to the outside, and he has a good three-point shot," Brandel said. "We want to show it off for the colleges, too. If they come out to guard him, we can dump it inside."

The 5-10 Thomason will play point guard and is a great passer and penetrator, according to Brandel. Bigelow is a scorer who will take some of the pressure off Neil.

Partain (6-2) will play forward and Bhat (5-9) guard. The program is starting to build from within, Brandel said. PCA has added 6-0 junior Matt Junker and sophomores Dan House (6-1), Aaron Jones (6-3) and Chris McCoy (5-8) from the JV.

Jones averaged 12 points last season, and House, who has grown four inches, was one of the JV's leading scorers. Junker will help in the post.

"One thing this team will do better is score," Brandel said. "We have more weapons. We don't have to wait and rely on one player to get hot."

Brandel expects 6-0 freshman forward James Neil to contribute, also. He was PCA's leading rebounder and second-leading scorer at team camp. Junior guard Mike Gonzales (6-0), a three-point specialist, rounds out the varsity.

"Our team is the best I've fielded since my first year," Brandel said. "We can only get better because a lot of them will be around."

"We have a lot more (competition) now. They're fighting for their positions. Nobody takes things for granted because they're a senior or returning player, and that's helped to create a good attitude."

The Eagles begin the season at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday against Taylor Light and Life at Lowell Middle School.

Madonna women win game, lose player

With four players reaching double figures in scoring, Madonna University evened its record at 4-4 with a 95-79 women's basketball victory over Carthage (Wis.) College Friday in the opening round of the Hope College Classic.

All was not good news for the Lady Crusaders, however. Starting point guard Dana Cevcech sprained an ankle at the end of the first half; she is expected to be out a week, according to coach Bill Potter.

Cevcech was on fire before her injury, knocking down three consecutive three-pointers, scoring 11 points and grabbing seven rebounds in the first half. Her play helped Madonna pull out to a 45-32 lead by halftime.

Carthage pulled to within eight with nine minutes left, but the Crusaders rattled off the next eight points to decide the issue.

Stephanie Niebauer's 24 points paced Madonna. Stephanie Crelley had 15 and seven boards, Jill Burt scored 14 and hauled down nine rebounds, and Kim Kibbey finished with nine points and seven rebounds.

Kristy Goetz led Carthage (1-2) with 31 points.

Potter said Burt, who had been coming off the bench, will start in Cevcech's absence and share the point duties with Kibbey and Niebauer.

On Thursday, it wasn't a clutch, last-second shot dropping through the net that saved Madonna at Grand Valley State. Rather, it was the Lady Crusaders managing to hang on for a 71-69 overtime win.

The Lakers had a chance to win the game in regulation, but failed to get off a shot in the closing seconds. Then, after Crelley banked in a layup with 19 seconds left in OT to put Madonna in front, Grand Valley managed to get off five shots.

None fell — which meant the Lakers did, for the fourth time in five games.

Crelley and Cevcech each poured in 20 points for Madonna, which improved to 3-4. Cevcech also had 10 rebounds. Niebauer added 14 points, and Cheri Sangregorio also grabbed 10 boards.

Marie Thomas paced Grand Valley with 23 points. Shelly Ross had 18.

Free throws were pivotal in Madonna's win. The Crusaders sank 20-of-24 (77 percent) from the line, while the Lakers managed 14-of-20 (70 percent).

OCLOTTS TUMBLE

With two starters, Jamie Alex and Jen Audet, out for the season with knee injuries, and another player, Alisa Wechter, also hampered by a sore knee, Schoolcraft College could offer little resistance at Kalamazoo Valley CC Wednesday. The Ocelots absorbed a 71-53 defeat, against a team they had beaten handily earlier this season at SC.

"There's nothing we can do about it," said SC coach Jack Grenan, whose team slipped to 5-3. KVCC is 3-3. "The kids are pulling together. The freshmen are just going to have to mature faster."

"The team is disturbed but the confidence is not lost. The younger players just have to believe in themselves."

Against KVCC, the Ocelots fell behind early and could never catch up. Becky Piwowarczak led SC with 15 points; Lori Murphy added nine.

Notable losses to graduation: Marcus Sarosky and Brian Johnson (15 pts.).
Leading returnees: Mark Rutherford, 6-2 senior forward (7 pts.); Jason Baranowski, 5-8 senior point guard; Jimmy Hawkins, 6-1, senior forward; Jason Renkiewicz, 5-10 senior guard-forward; Drew Jurcisi, 6-0 senior guard; Darrell Wlasek, 6-1 senior center.
Promising newcomers: Ethan Jerome, 5-10 junior guard; Bill Morris, 6-1 junior center; Jeff Barry, 6-2 junior center.
Lang's outlook: "We're going to have to play a full-court game — use all 94 feet — to make the playoffs in our league."
 "We have more speed this year, but not an outstanding shooter like last year. We're looking for somebody to step in and make up for last year's losses on offense."
 "Our defense is fine, but rebounding is a concern. If we hold our own on the boards, we'll be in good shape. We work hard every day on boxing out."

LIVONIA FRANKLIN

Coach: Dan Kennedy, 1st season.
League: Western Lakes, Western Division.
Last year's overall record: 11-10.
Notable losses to graduation: Keith Roberts, first-team All-Area guard; Russ Keberly, Joe Jarvis and Jeff Hunt.
Leading returnees: Jason Facione, 6-3 senior center; Jason Meixner, 6-5 senior center; Clement Herrera, 5-10 junior guard; Mark Baluk, 6-3 junior forward; Paul Kruschka, 6-0 junior guard.
Promising newcomers: Dennis Madden, 5-9 junior guard; Greg Maple, 6-0 junior guard; Sam Mongeau, 5-10 junior guard.
Kennedy's outlook: "We are trying to work out the kinks and once we do, I think we will be all right. We're forced into playing an up-tempo game because of our size. The guys work hard. I think we will have some success."

LIVONIA STEVENSON

Coach: Jim McIntyre, 8th season.
League: Western Lakes, Lakes Division.
Last year's overall record: 12-10.
Notable losses to graduation: Matt Grodzicki, (15 pts.); Tony Stojov, (11 pts.); Colin Stockton (12 pts.); Ryan Furkas (9 pts.).
Leading returnees: Adam Roy, 6-4 senior center (10 pts.); Brad Morgan, 6-1 junior guard; John Brown, 6-3 senior forward; Mark Harry, 6-3 senior forward.
Promising newcomers: Chris Chichila, 6-3 junior forward (transfer from Redford Catholic Central); Steve Harrison, 6-2 junior guard; Steve Jacobs, 5-10 junior guard; Brett Ferris, 6-5 junior forward; Kevin Szczembars, 5-11 junior guard; Nick Downarowicz, 5-8 junior guard; Jim Townsend, 6-4 sophomore forward.
McIntyre's outlook: "We're not as quick or fluid as we have been. If we pick up on the defensive end, we'll come around."
 "We're optimistic, but we're not a seasoned team. It's going to take awhile to put the pieces together and jell."

WESTLAND JOHN GLENN

Coach: Mike Schutte, 1st season.
League: Western Lakes, Lakes Division.
Last year's overall record: 12-10.
Notable losses to graduation: Kevin Champion, third-team All-Area guard; Micah Orr, guard; Kevin Tomaszewski, forward.
Leading returnees: Kenny Taylor, 6-6 senior forward-center; Aaron Scheffer, 6-1 senior guard; John Miller, 6-2 senior guard; Kevin Claypool, 5-11 senior guard.
Promising newcomers: Tony Goins, 6-4 junior forward; Brent Washington, 6-0 sophomore guard; Guy Rucker, 6-9 sophomore center.
Schutte's outlook: "We are still getting to know one another and the team is learning what I expect as far as attitude, hustle and work ethic. Our strengths will be rebounding and hopefully defense. We're a bit untested at point guard and I wonder how many points we'll be able to put up. We like to run and we have good athletes. These guys are real competitors. They want to win real bad."

WAYNE MEMORIAL

Coach: Chuck Henry, 16th season.
League: Wolverine A.
Last year's overall record: 19-4, Wolverine A and district champions.
Notable losses to graduation: Rick Barnes, forward (16 pts., 13 rbs.); Greg Hartman, forward (10 pts., 8 rbs.); Lee Williams, guard; Romarco Fletcher, center; Demarco Robinson, guard.

Leading returnees: Donte Prewitt, 5-8 senior guard (5 pts.); Andre Graves, 6-0 junior guard (ineffective until second semester).
Promising newcomers: Antonio Dodd, 6-0 senior guard; Bruce Cathoun, 6-1 senior forward; Nate Bishop, 6-1 senior forward; Billy Romaj, 5-7 senior guard; Rod Hardison, 6-1 junior forward; Jason Overton, 6-4 junior center.
Henry's outlook: "Our players are good, they are quick and they can run and jump. We're used to being undersized but I think we are shorter than normal this year. But they are all great athletes and they love to play. I just don't know what to expect. This is the most uncertain about a team here since my first year."

LIVONIA CLARENCEVILLE

Head coach: Rob White, 4th season.
League: Metro Conference (West Division).
Last year's overall record: 9-12.
Notable losses to graduation: Dan Nunery, forward (18 pts., 9 rbs.); James Barnard, center; Tony Malinowski, guard.
Leading returnees: Mark Kalaj, 6-1 junior forward (11 pts., 7 rbs.); John Kalaj, 6-1 junior guard (10 pts., 4 assists); Dedrick Harrington, 6-0 sophomore guard (7 pts., 3 steals, 3 assists); Mario Ivezaj, 6-4 senior center (6 rbs.); Ryan McEwen, 6-0 senior guard.
Promising newcomers: Mark Skrelja, 6-1 junior guard (transfer from Ferndale, will be eligible second semester); Chris Smith, 6-1 junior forward; Lou Ujaci, 6-0 junior guard.
White's outlook: "If we don't improve, I ought to quit. We are definitely better than we were last year, and we are still young. We'll be even better next year. We have a chance to be the first team to finish above .500 at Clarenceville in about 20 years."

LUTHERAN WESTLAND

Coach: Scott Wiemer, 6th season.
League: Metro Conference (West Division).
Last year's overall record: 4-17.
Notable losses to graduation: Matt Grams, forward; Jeremy Bohn, forward.
Leading returnees: Kevin Nelson, 6-5 senior center; Chris Tieman, 5-10 sophomore guard; Matt Russian, 5-11 senior guard; Phil Spoljarick, 5-11 senior guard; Pat Schaefer, 6-3 senior forward; Kent Wattleworth, 6-3 senior guard; Jason Cunningham, 6-0 senior forward; Kevin Roberts, 6-0 senior guard.
Promising newcomers: Matt Purdy, 5-9 junior guard; Jeff Uichtner, 6-3 junior forward; Andy Manthel, 5-9 junior guard.
Wiemer's outlook: "Our strengths are team and individual defense, rebounding and a strong work ethic. Also we are an experienced team. We have to reduce our turnovers and play with some consistency."

HURON VALLEY LUTHERAN

Coach: Dave Kolander, seventh season.
League: Michigan Independent Athletic Conference.
Leading returnees: Melton Stoudemire, 6-1 senior guard (23 ppg., 11 rbs.); Doug Hartley, 5-8 senior guard (9 ppg., 6 assists); Art Pfebe, 6-0 senior forward.
Promising newcomers: Shawn Denuter, 5-11 senior guard-forward; Eric Ruth, 6-0 junior guard; Jon Cyr, 5-10 junior forward; Tim Barthel, 5-11 junior forward.
Coach's outlook: "Height is a problem. We have no post players."
 "Melton has worked a lot on his outside shooting. His jumping ability is better than last year. He's doing 360-degree reverse dunks."

REDFORD CATHOLIC CENTRAL

Coach: Bernie Holowicki, 22nd season.
League: Catholic League (Central Division).
Last year: 19-5, division co-champions, district champions.
Notable losses to graduation: Chad Varga, center (23 pts., 10 rbs.); Bobby Kummer, guard (21 pts., 8 rbs.); Tommy Laco, forward.
Leading returnees: Eric Justice, 6-0 senior guard (3 pts.); Brian Paluk, 6-5 senior forward; Andy Slankster, 6-3 junior forward; Andy Kummer, 6-3 junior forward; Sean Gallagher, 6-4 junior forward.
Promising newcomers: Jeff Gutt, 6-4 senior forward; Joe DeLong, 6-3 sophomore forward; Damian Baskerville, 6-0 sophomore guard.
Holowicki's outlook: "We graduated at least 90 percent of our offense, so right now we are very concerned about how we are going to score our points. We aren't going to be a power team and we won't be a great rebounding team. We should be fair defensively and we have decent speed. We hope to play an up-tempo game."

said. "This year the kids are not as big but more mobile. We're going to try and beat other teams down the floor off a rebound or steal."

"I'd like to think we can play great defense and rebound. If we do that, we're going to be a good basketball team."

Canton will play a difficult non-conference schedule as usual, with games against Monroe, Adrian, Ann Arbor Pioneer, Ypsilanti and Ann Arbor Huron among its first seven.

"We challenge the kids with the best schedule we can find, and it has paid off for the program," Van Wagoner said. "We peaked at the end of last year, and we're looking to do that again."

Pioneer ties CC with late goal

Ann Arbor Pioneer's Richard Rathman scored with 4:46 left in the game to force a 5-5 tie with Redford Catholic Central in hockey Wednesday at Yost Arena.

Brian Ronayne scored a goal and added three assists for Redford Catholic Central (1-0-1). Jon Heady, Jason Bellinger, Sam Sanfilippo and Jeff Helner also scored for the Shamrocks.

BASKETBALL

OBSERVERLAND'S TOP 10
(Selected by Brad Emons)

1. James Head, 6-6 junior, Ply. Salem: He's one of the reasons why Plymouth Salem should contend in the Western Lakes Activities Association once again. Plays a strong inside game with good jumping ability. Has to expand his game outside the paint. Younger brother of former University of Tennessee All-America Dena Head.
2. Randy Whitfield, 6-8 senior, Bishop Borgess: Came on strong at the end of last season and made second-team All-Observer honors along with Head. Very close in ability and stature to Head and should be a Division I prospect before his over.
3. Charles Smith, 6-3 junior, Bishop Borgess: Transfer from Redford St. Mary's of Detroit who should make the Spartans one of the state's most dangerous teams in Class C. From the guard position, he should thrive within first-year coach Glen Donahue's system.
4. Brian Paluk, 6-5 senior, Redford CC: Made great strides at the end of last season despite being overshadowed by Division I signees Bobby Kummer (UNC-Charlotte) and Chad Varga (Richmond). Has long arms, giving him rebounding ability. He can also has good shooting range.
5. Melton Stoudemire, 6-1 senior, Huron Valley: An unknown quantity to most area basketball observers because he plays at a small Class D school. He can leap as well as anybody and can also score, averaging 23 points per game a year ago. Led Huron Valley Lutheran in Westland to a district championship. The Hawks were 8-3 when he was in the lineup and 0-11 without him.
6. Bryan Whittle, 6-5 junior, Ply. Canton: Transfer from Poughkeepsie, N.Y. who is trying to adjust to a higher caliber of competition. At Spackenkill High he averaged 23 points per game as a sophomore and was voted Player of the Year in two New York counties despite playing in only 11 games (knee injury). Has great leaping ability and can handle the ball, but his game is soft and his outside jumper is suspect. Lots of potential, though.

7. Mike Stone, 6-4 senior, Ply. Salem: Capable swingman who can play guard or forward. A good shooter who should take the pressure off Head when teams try to double-team him. Should enjoy a big senior season.

8. Andre Graves, 6-0 junior, Wayne: Won't be eligible until second semester but definitely the Zebras' best prospect. He can slash to the hoop and pull up for the jumper.

9. Ken Taylor, 6-6 senior, Westland Glenn: Showed great promise as a sophomore, but tailed off his junior year. Can be a strong inside player who could be dominating on the glass. Needs to improve touch around the hoop.

10. Adam Roy, 6-4 senior, Liv. Stevenson: Hard worker who is dedicated to getting better. Strictly an inside threat who can maneuver his way around the hoop. His supporting cast will determine his success.

Spartan Aquatic Club best in Windsor meet

The Livonia-Novi Spartan Aquatic Club won the Windsor Aquatic Club International Invitational Nov. 27-29, edging Burlington (Ontario) YMCA, 247-239 1/2.

Katie McWhirter's sixth-place finish in the Girls Open age category 100-yard freestyle (1:00.18), combined with Jason Fisher's third (52.46) and Craig Steshetz's fourth (53.16) in the Boys Open 100 freestyle, clinched the team title for Spartan Aquatic.

The Spartans won five of six relay events en route to the crown.

The foursome of Katy Nicol, Marla McKenzie, Kristin Derwich and Julie Kern, competing in the Girls 11-12 division, won both the 200 freestyle and 200 medley relays in 1:54.16 and 2:09.45, respectively.

In Girls 10 and under, the foursome of Megan Mocer, Erin Nicol, Kristina Utley and Katie Clark added a first in the 200 medley (2:30.49).

The foursome of Anne Aristeo, Mary Corazza, Lauren Tenglin and Michelle Pantaleo captured the Girls 13-14 200 freestyle relay (1:51.26), while Jason Fisher, Randy Cobb, Mike DiClaudio and Steshetz won the Boys Open 200 medley (1:51.82).

Individually, Aristeo was runner-up for high-point honors (Girls 13-14) with firsts in the 400 individual medley (4:42.76), 200 butterfly (2:13.29), 1,000 freestyle (10:59.94) and 100 backstroke (1:03.06).

Other Spartan first place finishers included: Kern (Girls 11-12), 100 breaststroke; 1:18.12; Mocer (Girls 10 and under), 100 IM, 1:22.82 (B Division); McKenzie (Girls 11-12), 50 freestyle, 28.51 (B); Tenglin (Girls 13-14), 200 butterfly, 2:37.45 (B); Mary Corazza (Girls 13-14), 100 breaststroke, 1:18.55 (B); Jason Schad (Boys 13-14), 200 butterfly, 2:40.93 (B); and Cobb (Boys Open), 1:04.89.

Olympic bowling is the goal

AL HARRISON

Like to see bowling as a regular medal event in future Olympic games?

If so, you will soon have the opportunity to sign a petition for this purpose in any local bowling center.

It is expected that over 1 million signed petitions will be submitted to the International Olympic Committee in time for consideration for the 1996 games in Atlanta.

The idea was inspired by none other than Joe Norris — the same man who bowled in Berlin in 1936 as a tie-in to those Olympics. (He won the event for the U.S.)

Petitions were distributed during the 62nd Annual Old Timers tournament Nov. 28 at the Thunderbol Lanes. Norris was in town for the event and bowled with his old buddies, Tony Lindemann, George Howard and Eddie Lubanski adjacent to the "press team."

It was a personal inspiration to be able to watch these living legends bowl. Even the years have not taken away their skills.

Scotty Laughland, a 62-year-old from Windsor, won the tournament championship for the fifth time in a row with a 721 series and a 288 high game.

William Spray of Livonia won his age bracket (60-64) with a 203-207-234 block and a 644 series. Edmond Grant of Rochester Hills took second in the 65-70 age group with a 193-247-208 block for a 648 total.

The 75-79 category was won by Hall-of-Famer Joe Paulus of West Bloomfield, who rolled a 181-159-257 block for a 597 total.

There were 690 bowlers in the event with the oldest being Carl Koch of St. Clair Shores. Southfield's Clare Wing won the dubious trophy for the lowest series (343).

The Greater Detroit Bowling Association (GDBA) will hold its 30th Annual Masters Tournament with qualifying rounds Jan. 16-17, followed by head-to-head matches on Jan. 22-24.

This is the GDBA's most prestigious event, attracting only top level competitors in the area.

Liberty Bowl in Roseville will host the tournament. For more details, call the GDBA office at 773-6350.

Marilyn Lueck of the Cloverlanes' All-Star Bowlerettes had a terrific night last Monday as her set of 258-268-254 (780) was her career best, beating her previous high mark of 777. Lueck is a Canton Township resident and a Livonia Bentley High graduate.

Although Lueck did not get involved in bowling until the age of 20, she has come a long way to the top. She has been selected to the greater Detroit all-city team four times, once as captain, and was the state qualifier for team USA. Lueck has also bowled two 300 games along the way.

With four children and a job managing Cloverlanes in the daytime, she stays pretty busy. Regarding her big night on the lanes, Lueck says, "It was just my night."

Diesel Power captures tourney

Last year, the Detroit Diesel Power Squirt AA hockey team learned about heartbreak, losing five tournament championship games.

This year, the 10- and 11-year-old boys from Redford got to taste the sweet thrill of victory. Detroit Diesel bested five teams from Canada and one from Amherst, N.Y., to win the prestigious Festival of Lights tournament in Niagara Falls, N.Y., over Thanksgiving Day weekend.

Detroit Diesel showed some impressive goaltending itself. In the semifinal game, goalie Ryan Nunnally shut out Canada's Humber Valley, 1-0. In the championship game against London, Ontario, goalie Paul Villardi pitched a shutout for five periods. Detroit Diesel finally won the game late in the second overtime period on a goal by David Wasil.

Detroit Diesel, a member of the Redford Hockey Association, is currently 11-0-2 in the Little Caesars Squirt AA Travel League. The team is 24-3-6 overall.

All-Area team reflects shift in grid power

BY DAN O'MEARA
and STEVE KOWALSKI
STAFF WRITERS

Unlike the outcome of the Cold War, the center of Observerland football power lies in the East.

That's the situation following the 1992 season in which new powers emerged and old ones faded.

While the usually strong Farmington and Plymouth-Canton teams were down, others from Redford, Garden City, Livonia and Wayne-Westland experienced a renaissance.

There were two constants, however. Redford Catholic Central went 13-0 and won its second state championship in three years, and Westland John Glenn was unstoppable for seven weeks before finishing 7-2.

But four neighboring schools also had their most successful seasons in recent memory.

Garden City (7-2) won a share of the Northwest Suburban League crown and just missed the Class AA playoffs.

Redford Thurston (6-3) challenged for the Tri-River League title and had its first winning season since 1978.

Wayne Memorial (7-3) won its last seven games of the regular season, tied for the Wolverine A Conference crown and made the playoffs for the first time.

Livonia Franklin (7-2) had its best season since Bob Stebbins and Rich Popp played there a decade ago, even entertaining playoffs hopes.

Garden City coach Bob Eisminger spent four years building a program and realized the benefits this year. For his hard work and success, he has been named Coach of the Year.

Eisminger graduated in 1975 from Westland John Glenn, where he played for Lloyd Carr (now defensive coordinator at the University of Michigan) and Chuck Gordon.

He was an assistant at Glenn, Lely (Fla.) and Garden City before becoming head coach.

FIRST-TEAM OFFENSE

Ramzy Saleh, lineman, Wayne: Saleh was a two-year starter at offensive tackle and also played on the goal-line defense. He was a good pass blocker but excelled at run blocking.

"We ran a lot of plays to his side, but when we didn't he was one of the kids down field blocking and helping any way he could," coach Chuck Howton said.

Aaron Babicz, lineman, Redford CC: Babicz was a standout, two-way lineman on a team loaded with quality linemen. He excelled as an offensive guard and defensive tackle. Babicz made 72 tackles and have five sacks.

"Aaron has excellent form and is a good technician," coach Tom Mach said. "He handled everybody. Nobody got the best of him on offense or defense."

Mark Salter, lineman, Garden City: Salter was a two-year starter at center for the Cougars and was named their top offensive lineman after each season. He also played defense in short-yardage situations.

"Mark is the most consistent blocker we've had (in six years as coach)," Eisminger said. "He played hurt (sore hip) the last two years but hid it pretty well. He's hard-nosed."

Matt Quisling, lineman, North Farmington: Quisling was the player the Raiders most often looked to lead the running game. He doubled as an outside linebacker and had 53 tackles, two sacks and 17 quarterback harassments.

"He was the guy we went to when we needed yards on a big down," coach Jim O'Leary said. "He's one of the smartest blockers we've had. He made great adjustments on the line of scrimmage. Everybody knew we were going to run his way, and he still did a heckuva job."

Dan Liebau, lineman, Redford CC: Liebau was a two-year starter on the offensive line along with Babicz. He helped open holes for CC running backs and made the ground-oriented offense a success. Liebau had 14 tackles, mostly on kick coverage.

"Dan has great movement, traps well and leads our plays," Mach said. "He's our fastest lineman."

Derek Besco, receiver, John Glenn: Besco caught 20 passes for 331 yards and six touchdowns. He also threw a TD pass and rushed eight times for 104 yards. Besco excelled on defense with 63 tackles, including 26 first hits. The only time he left the field was on kick returns.

"Derek is an excellent wide receiver who runs good routes," coach Chuck Gordon said. "He has outstanding hands. If he touches it, he can catch it."

Jeff Lance, receiver, Thurston: Lance caught 35 passes for 466 yards and two TDs. He also caught three two-point conversion passes and ran four times for 113 yards and a score. Lance returned 16 punts for an 8.3-yard average. As a free safety, he led the Eagles with five interceptions.

"Jeff is the best athlete I've been around in 11 years of coaching, and that includes a lot of different sports," coach Bob Snell said. "He has a gift for catching balls, the best hands I've ever seen. He makes plays on the practice field that are unbelievable."

John Adams, quarterback, Thurston: Adams missed two games with an ankle sprain but still completed 73 of 127 passes (58 percent) for 1,053 yards and six touchdowns. Adams also started five games at strong safety.

"John has a real good head on his shoulders, plays with a lot of calm and confidence," Snell said. "His improvement is a great reflection on how the team improved. He didn't start quarterbacking until his sophomore year and sort of got thrown into the fold and had to learn on the fly."

Todd Anderson, back, N. Farmington: Anderson, the only back in school history to have consecutive 1,000-yard seasons, set a single-season record with 1,373 rushing yards on 224 carries this year and set a career record with 2,551. He rushed for 12 touchdowns this year and 25 in the last two. Anderson also had 1,642 all-purpose yards.

"He didn't look like he was getting yards, but he always was," O'Leary said. "He has great peripheral vision and knows when to cut. He's a good north-south runner when he has to be, and he got the tough yards, too."

Jeff Grace, back, Garden City: Grace was voted the top offensive player in the Northwest Suburban League. Opponents set their defenses to stop him, but Grace ended with 973 yards and 10 touchdowns on 175 attempts.

"He's the most exciting back we've

COACH OF THE YEAR

Bob Eisminger, Garden City

HONORABLE MENTION

had since I've been here," Eisminger said. "He has the best speed we've had and combined it with strength and quickness on his hit-and-spin moves."

Bruce Calhoun, back, Wayne: Calhoun was the driving force behind Wayne's successful season. He rushed for 1,131 yards and 20 touchdowns on 191 carries. He caught one TD pass. Calhoun also played linebacker and made 66 tackles (33 solo), recovered three fumbles and returned an interception for a TD.

"Bruce was an inspiration to our kids in that he gave a great effort all the time," Howton said. "When we moved Bruce to linebacker after the Monroe game, that turned our season around. That cemented the defense. We played much better with him at inside linebacker."

Mike Tymczak, back, St. Agatha: Tymczak made the transition from swing-back to tailback look easy. He ran for 1,261 yards and 16 touchdowns on 171 attempts.

"Mike is a great kid, without a doubt our best player," coach John Goddard said. "In my 17 years of coaching — if you measure heart, not ability — Mike is at the top. His heart is as big as Redford Township."

Mike Borg, specialist, Garden City: Borg made five of 10 field goals, his longest being a 37-yarder. He was successful on all 27 extra-point attempts. The team captain also played in the defensive secondary, was second in tackles and had two interceptions.

"He was a steady performer and did everything we asked of him," Eisminger said, adding Borg is being looked at as a big-time kicker. "We could use 11 of him. He was one of the best I've coached."

FIRST-TEAM DEFENSE

Joe Suhajda, lineman, Redford CC: Suhajda was one of the top defensive linemen in the state and a fixture on the CC defense for two years. He was the team's second-leading tackler with 113 and led the Shamrocks with eight sacks.

"Joe has the feet of a linebacker but plays tackle," Mach said. "He hits with great authority."

Oliver Rue, lineman, Thurston: Rue was an imposing presence on the line and a reason the Eagles had good defensive stats. Opponents found it nearly impossible to block Rue one-on-one.

"I've had coaches tell me the first thing they had to do was wonder how to keep Ollie Rue from destroying their offense," Snell said. "He fought through double and sometimes triple teams every game. He's the type of kid you don't get very often because of his quickness and footwork for being that big."

Jamie Hawley, lineman, Franklin: Hawley tied for the team lead with eight sacks and made 64 tackles. He also played offensive tackle. His most impressive game was his last when he had 16 tackles (four solos) against Trenton. Franklin coach Armand Vigna believes Hawley has college potential.

"Jamie really matured and came a long way from his junior year," Vigna said. "He's pretty quick for a big man, has good moves and has learned to pursue the ball."

Bryan Besco, end, John Glenn: Besco was an impact player on both sides of the ball, as was his twin brother, Derek. Bryan made 43 first hits and had 32 assists on defense. He also caught nine passes for 226 yards and six TDs from his tight end position on offense. He played nearly all 48 minutes of each game, as well.

"Bryan is very quick and has a real knack for getting to the ball," Gordon said. "He's a very smart player."

Andy Szydlowski, end, Salem: Szydlowski missed three games because of injury but was still named team MVP by his teammates and chosen for the all-WLAA team. He had 50 tackles, including 20 solos. He rushed 64 times for 405 yards and four TDs.

"He is real tough against the run, and he also has the speed and agility to play pass," coach Tom Moshimer said. "I don't think there's a better outside linebacker in our league."

Jason Krueger, end, Redford CC: Krueger made 68 tackles, including 17 solos, and had three sacks. He also recovered a fumble for a touchdown in the Catholic League championship game. Krueger rushed 137 times for 655 yards and 10 touchdowns from his fullback position. He also caught five passes, one for a score.

"Jason is one of the best ends we've had at CC," Mach said. "He has the instincts of a linebacker and is a real tough kid. He gave us the tough yards we needed as a fullback."

Joe Herman, linebacker, Redford CC: Herman was another two-year starter for the Shamrocks and their take-charge guy on defense. He led the team with 143 tackles and was a major factor in continuing CC's tradition for excellent defense. He also intercepted two passes and returned one for a TD.

"Joe has been a great leader on defense, making all our calls," Mach said. "He was a great hitter and authority figure for us. He set the tempo."

Jason Facione, linebacker, Franklin: Facione was only the player to start three consecutive years at middle linebacker for the Patriots. He is Franklin's all-time leading tackler with more than 300, including a season-record 129 in eight games this fall. Facione had two sacks, three interceptions and 23 solo tackles. As a tight end, he caught five passes for 70 yards.

"Jason is very intelligent, understands the game very well and can anticipate," Vigna said. "He goes to sideline to sideline. He's the best linebacker we've had, dating back to kids like Sam Williams Jr. and Randy Epley."

Murdank Forrest, linebacker, Wayne: Forrest was an aggressive player who harnessed his energy to become an excellent and consistent defender. He practiced the same way he played. Forrest led the Zebras with 77 tackles, which included a team-high 36 solos.

"He put on a game face and was real intense," Howton said. "Going to the games and coming home, he was all business. It took him awhile to settle down after games."

Rich Koons, linebacker, Franklin: Koons was another reason why the Patriots were good on defense. The two-year starter was the second-leading tackler with 104. Koons tied teammate Jamie Hawley for first with eight sacks.

"He's probably — pound for pound — our hardest hitter," Vigna said. "We usually played him on the strong side. He played very well for us."

Tim Mate, back, Wayne: Mate, who also played quarterback, was a team leader on offense and defense. He intercepted three passes and made 20 tackles. Mate completed 55 percent (37-67) of his passes for 639 yards and six TDs. He also rushed for 151 yards and two TDs.

"Every one of our seniors was a great player and team leader," Howton said. "Senior leadership was one of the things that made our team successful."

Keye Smith, back, Harrison: You name it, Smith did it. The team MVP had 15 tackles and two interceptions, and he also caught 21 passes for 379 yards and five TDs. He played quarterback for two games when Jeff Cisko was hurt and was 5-of-11 passing for 84 yards and one TD. He returned punts (6) and kicks (9) for 10.8 and 16.2 averages, respectively. Smith also punted for a 32.1 average and was the holder for placekicks.

"He did a little of everything for us," coach John Harrington said. "He was always an offensive threat, a threat to go deep."

Brady Pankow, back, Redford CC: Pankow was another all-purpose player. He returned 27 punts for a 13-yard average and 13 kickoffs for an average gain of 22 yards. He had 34 tackles, three interceptions and two recoveries on defense. Pankow had three of his six pass interceptions in the state final for 99 yards, including the game-tying TD.

"Brady was one of our biggest surprises," Mach said. "He stepped in and did a terrific job. He has a nose for the ball and had at least two game-saving tackles."

Workers provide helpful advice

BY M.B. DILLON
STAFF WRITER

When Willow Run employees heard last week that General Motors' Delco Chassis plant in Livonia will close next September, they understood only too well how workers must be feeling.

Willow Run employees know what it's like to pick your heart up off the floor. They were told last February that their Ypsilanti assembly plant will close in June.

Bob Harlow, president of Willow Run UAW Local 1776, called his Livonia counterpart to extend an offer of help.

"If they need any help, we'll go over anything they need," said Harlow, who lives in Livonia. "They need to keep their family ties close; they need to work with the people in the plant; and keep solidarity. They need group meetings and support groups to help keep them going. They need that because the stress level is so high. They can help each other out by talking over their problems with one another. That really helps."

Cary Coleman is Willow Run's full-time plant chaplain.

Other plants preparing to close could benefit by offering employees the same types of assistance provided at Willow Run, he said.

Workers help

"Willow Run is doing more than any other plant servicing people on the assembly line and in offices who need help," Coleman said. "We've always been a trend setter within GM. Now we have Willow Run setting the pace for what you do when the plant is closing."

"When you pull the rug out from under people, they lose their sense of security," Coleman said. "That always causes problems."

Job security is fast becoming a memory.

"In the day and age in which we live, you cannot be secure in anything, regardless of where you are," said Coleman. "Anywhere in the auto industry, you're at risk. I wish that weren't true."

Coleman doesn't blame GM. "Economically, there's nothing GM can do. If they can't sell the cars, they won't produce them. If they're not producing, they don't need people working on the assembly line. If we could encourage Americans to buy American, we would sell cars."

EMU study

A recent Eastern Michigan University study on the GM plant closings concludes the impact throughout Michigan will be more serious than anticipated.

The conclusions were noted by state Sen. Lana Pollack, D-Ann Arbor, and state Rep. Kirk Profit, D-Ypsilanti.

"The full range of General Motors plant closings and job reductions is likely to result in nearly 80,000 lost jobs in Michigan. That's a devastating hit that we must not accept," said Profit.

"If there is anything we can do to save some of those jobs before they're actually gone, then we must aggressively try to do so," Pollack said.

David Crary of EMU's Institute for Community and Regional Development helped author the study. "I think it is real important for the state to try to keep as many of these jobs as we can. I'm not naive enough to believe we can keep them all, but I'd like to see the state be more aggressive than it has been until now," Crary said.

Other use

Crary would like to see Willow Run converted to another use, perhaps for the production of parts for the mass transit or high speed rail industry.

Gus Calabrese, Pollack's legislative aide, said the multiplier effect makes the impact even greater.

"Aside from the personal stories, even if none of that was happening, the economic impact on the area is just enormous. There are going to be a huge number of suppliers, local merchants and businesses severely hampered when GM employees lose their jobs. They won't be able to spend any money. Or they'll find jobs elsewhere and spend elsewhere."

"Also, there's obviously been a significant rise in the number of stress-related health problems," he added. "It's kind of ironic that GM CEO Bob Stempel recently collapsed from stress. Maybe he had a little inkling of what these people are going through now."

Canton connection

Al Hauck, a Willow Run millwright from Canton, is most worried about those who aren't skilled in a trade. "The skilled trades people most likely will be picked up at different plants in the area. It's the people on the line who will have a little more difficulty finding a job. They know how to put a bumper on a car. Where else would they go to work?"

Two signs of a valuable employee.

When your employees train with the National Guard and Reserve, they learn to be better decision makers, better team players, and better leaders. Please keep this in mind the next time they need time off work to serve. When they come back they'll be better prepared for the work they do for you. And that's the sign of a good employee.

MOBILE HOME AUCTION

Isn't It A Shame?

You had no idea, did you, that a seemingly harmless piece of plastic could become an implement of death to an innocent sea creature? Yet it happens, unfortunately, on a grand scale.

Tons of plastic material are lost or dumped into the oceans each year, imperiling the lives of hundreds of thousands of aquatic animals.

Plastic bags, six-pack yokes, fishing nets and other materials can trap fish, mammals, turtles and birds, causing death by drowning or strangulation. Sometimes animals get sick or starve when they eat plastic that they mistake for food.

The map shows a section of Michigan's I-94 corridor. A thick black line representing I-94 runs diagonally from the top left towards the bottom right. It has two shields: a blue one with "I-94" and a red one with "94". The road is labeled "GRAND RIVER" in two places. An arrow points to a specific location on Grand River, labeled "WIndemere Apartments". To the north of this point, a distance of "11 MILE" is indicated. To the south, another "10 MILE" distance is shown near a green shield with "I-94" and "375". Vertical roads are labeled "HAGGERTY" on the west side and "DRAKE" on the east side. A horizontal road intersects Grand River, labeled "HALSTED". A north arrow points upwards.

MAKE THE MOVE NOW!!

THERE'S NO BETTER TIME TO BUY

If you've been thinking about moving from your current residence to the house of your dreams or from an apartment to a starter home, this is the time to do it.

- The selection is excellent.
- Low interest rates are available.
- There are many financing options available.

Go ahead, make the move. Now is the right time to buy a home.

NOW is the right time to Buy a Home!

Purchasing a home has always been a wise decision, but current market conditions are making it even more attractive to buy now.

EXCELLENT FINANCING IS AVAILABLE NOW

Interest rates are lower, and mortgage lenders are offering a wide variety of financing options. Low interest rates mean you can get more for your money.

- 30-year fixed mortgages are still available as well as many other financing alternatives.
- First time buyers are encouraged to purchase now through financing packages offering small down payments.

YOUR HOME IS YOUR BEST INVESTMENT

Purchasing a home is the best way to build a solid financial foundation. A home not only provides you with warmth and comfort, it also serves as a secure investment.

- Today, homes in the area continue to be a wise investment.
- Equity in your home can be used as collateral, thus providing you with additional financial security.
- Home ownership provides you with a sizable tax advantage because interest paid on mortgages is fully deductible. Property taxes can also be deducted.

Buying a Used Car Can Be Risky.

Blackwell Ford can help minimize the risk you take when purchasing a used vehicle. Every used vehicle sold by Blackwell Ford undergoes extensive reconditioning and safety inspection before it is offered for sale. If the vehicle does not meet our high standards, it will never be displayed on our lot. In the unlikely event that something does go wrong with your vehicle during the first 30 days or 2,000 miles, whichever occurs first, we will stand behind it 100% and repair it free of charge. It's that simple. We offer new car peace of mind with your used vehicle purchase. Stop in today to see our large selection of quality used vehicles, all priced to sell. And please remember...

"If You Don't Know Used Cars, Know Your Dealer."

HOROSCOPE

By C.C. Clark

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 - Dec. 21)
Opposing factors may cause problems you would rather not deal with. A young man for whom you care could cause trouble.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19)
You're in a rut and ready to make a change. Go for it! If you care about a certain someone, it is important you show it.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18)
You may feel unappreciated. Take time to pamper yourself. You may receive unfavorable news, but it won't be as bad as you think.

PISCES (Feb. 19 - March 20)
Disorganization is the cause of your problems, so get things back in order. Don't be disappointed if things don't go your way at first.

ARIES (March 21 - April 19)
There is a chance of new opportunities in the near future. A change of work or home environment is just what you need.

TAURUS (April 20 - May 20)
If you have concerns relating to others, you must clear the air. Choose a path acceptable to your heart and your head.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20)

You may be going about things the wrong way and need someone to guide you. Don't worry about what critics think.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22)
Your scattered thoughts may be wasting your energy. You may have the wrong impression of someone close.

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22)
You are going through a difficult period, and it may be hard for you to concentrate. Pay close attention to small details.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22)
There are changes happening in your life, and though it may not seem like it now, things eventually will turn out for the best.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22)
You are coming out of a bad situation, but things are on the upswing. A romantic entanglement could become more serious.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 - Nov. 21)
Your efforts will soon bear fruit. A quarrel with someone close to you could get out of hand. Don't let pride get the best of you.

Jaclyn Smith goes sleuthing with Corbin Bernsen's ghost

By Dan Rice

Jaclyn Smith knows what being an angel is all about. The longest-tenured of Charlie's Angels, Smith went on to star in the miniseries The Rage of Angels and its sequel. Now she comes to the aid of a ghost (Corbin Bernsen) whose unsolved murder prevents his celestial ascension in Love Can Be Murder, airing Monday, Dec. 14, on NBC. Anne Francis co-stars in this lighthearted whodunit that couples vintage glamour with '90s self-actualization.

Smith plays Elizabeth Bentley, an attorney in her father's prestigious Los Angeles law firm with a lawyer fiancé (Cliff DeYoung). Her "perfect" existence should bring her contentment, but while her beau is talking low mortgage rates at their favorite eatery, she imagines she's joining a band of terrorists who shoot up the restaurant. Her psychiatrist suggests that this and similar daydreams stem from her lack of fulfillment, so Elizabeth decides to quit the firm and become a private eye, a move which is met with her family's disapproval.

Elizabeth sallies forth nevertheless, renting long-abandoned office space that proves to be filled not only with old furniture and dust, but also with the spirit of detective Nick Peyton (Bernsen), who was slain in 1948 while working on a case.

Telling her he's "stuck between here and the big racetrack in the sky," Nick implores Elizabeth to investigate his murder, but first he must convince her he is more than a figment of her imagination. (A hickey on the neck does the trick.)

The trail takes them to Nick's former lover, dance hall proprietress Maggie O'Brien (Francis). From there the case becomes even more convoluted, in time frames 40 years apart, as the truth about other murders comes to light. An unlikely romance develops between the pair as Elizabeth realizes that Nick's ghost is more of a man than her glib fiancé.

As a sleuthing team, Nick and Elizabeth are effective, but not as gifted as one might expect. Besides the credibility factor attached to arguing in public with a person who isn't there, there are no unearthly benefits from the partnership for Elizabeth. Nick can't walk through walls or perform other typical ghost tricks. "I've only been dead since '48, I'm still a pup as ghosts go," he tells her.

In fact, Nick is on the helpless side. Elizabeth must open doors for him, but in turn he teaches her the ropes of gumshoeing, while encouraging her to bring out her hidden self — to howl at the moon and eat barbecued ribs.

A spokeswoman for K-Mart and Max Factor, Smith is an unthreatening presence to women viewers, perfect for romantic mysteries like this one. While comedy is decidedly not her forte, she excels as the professional woman awaiting someone to bring excitement into her world. Bernsen is well-suited to his 1940s-era role and succeeds in keeping the mood light and the pace moving.

In addition, it's a delight to see Anne Francis back on TV. The star of the sci-fi cult favorite Forbidden Planet, Francis is best known for her role as a sexy female James Bond in the '60s series Honey West. She began her career billed as "The Little Queen of Soap Operas" on radio and was involved in experimental TV shows of the '40s, including the first color tests. Her performance in Love Can Be Murder is an example of the professional ease of a veteran. Francis still sports the beauty mark and exudes the class that has made her so memorable.

With a charming music score by Steven Bramson, Love Can Be Murder provides a delightful experience for both romantic dreamers and mystery fans.

LET'S TALK

Hats off to Serrano; 'On Borrowed Time' a soaper

By Taylor Michaels

Q: I enjoy The Hat Squad on CBS. I was wondering if Nestor Serrano ever appeared in a Star Trek episode as a child actor. I believe it featured Kim Darby and Michael J. Pollard. Can you please give me some background information on his career? —Mary R. Nemetz, Menominee, Mich.

A: Though you're right about the other two guest players in "Mir," the Star Trek episode of which you write, Nestor Serrano did not appear with them. However, Serrano has appeared in several movies you've probably seen, including Hangin' With the Homeboys, The Money Pit, Lethal Weapon 2 and Brenda Starr. His television appearances include the movies Love, Lies and Murder and Johnny Ryan and the series Wiseguy and St. Elsewhere.

Q: Some years ago, I saw a movie on television titled The Cheyenne Supper Club, starring Jimmy Stewart, Henry Fonda and Shirley Jones. Does this movie exist on video? —A.L. Padgett, Wellington, Ala.

A: The title is actually The Cheyenne Social Club, and according to all my sources, a videotape version is available of the film. Check a good video store or call the Video Library of Philadelphia at 1-800-699-7157.

Q: Some months ago, I watched a film that appeared to have been made in the early 1930s. I never saw the title or credits. After reading the reviews of a new British film called Enchanted April as well as seeing some scenes from it on television, I believe the film I saw that night a while ago had the same plot. I also know Enchanted April is a novel by Elizabeth Bowen. Is it possible that the film I saw was a previous effort based on the novel? —Barbara Sudheimer, Kihei, Hawaii.

A: With your apparent knowledge of contemporary literature, all I can do is confirm your suspicions. Indeed, there was a film Enchanted April produced in 1935 and based on Bowen's novel. In case you are curious, the film starred Ann Harding, Frank Morgan and Katharine Alexander.

Q: I would like to know a little about James Walters, who portrays Alex on The Heights, including where I can write to him. —Nicole Royle, Vancouver, Wash.

A: Walters' first big break was in a pair of Levi's 501 jeans, and his exposure in the commercials led to parts in the films Bed and Breakfast, Shout and Cameron Crowe's new movie Singles. Walters is a Boston native who now resides in L.A. You may write him in care of Fox Broadcasting Co., P.O. Box 900, Beverly Hills, Calif., 90213.
