Room glut part of hotel's woes

During the 1980s there was a hotel building boom, but when the bubble burst during the Gulf War, hotel owners discovered they were holding too many room keys.

BY KEVIN BROWN STAFF WRITER

It's not surprising that the Mayflower Hotel is in financial trouble, when you look at the financial health of hotels around the country.

That's the word from Mayflower shareholder Scott Lorenz and some observers of the plight of Plymouth's landmark hotel, currently in receivership.

While there are some differing opinions on why the Mayflower is in trouble, several agree that the No. 1 problem is posed by a hotel building glut in the 1980s.

Some national publications have talked of a "hotel crash" in the '90s, as several Detroit area hotels and others throughout the country have sought Chapter 11 bankruptcy protection in this decade.

For hotels in general, "The problem was that there was overbuilding in the 1980s and the economy ever since the Persian Gulf War has never gotten back up to speed, but it is starting to build up for 1993," said Dee Clark, president of the Michigan Travel and Tourism Association.

Ronald Cichy, director of Michigan State University's hotel restaurant and institutional management school, said, "The hotels that are successful are banding together in joint ventures with business to bring people to communities."

"I think that's really the secret. Anything you can do to capitalize on that," Cichy said. "The strategy is very clear; implementation isn't as easy."

The hotel glut hurts not just small town hotels like the Mayflower. Even the Marriott Co. is facing trouble, as reported in a December story in the Wall Street Journal.

"I know there are a lot of hotels in Chapter 11; it (the building glut) has caught up with them," Clark said.

The idea of promoting downtown events that are tied to the hotel is nothing new for Scott Lorenz, a Mayflower shareholder who promoted the successful Mayflower balloon festival in the 1980s and helped found the ice festival.

As to why the Mayflower faces financial problems, "It's external," he said, citing a doubling in the number of hotel rooms nationally and in metro.

As to service, "There's always room for improvement," Lorenz said.

Some cite service

Some prominent members of the Plymouth community suggested that restaurant service in recent years at the Mayflower had declined, and that the business would be better served if the Mayflower tried to reach out to a younger crowd.

"In the late '60s and early '70s the hotel didn't have any competition,"

Ice festival starts early at school

BY M.B. DILLON STAFF WRITER

Whirring chainsaws wooed dozens of wide-eyed kindergartners to the courtyard at Smith Elementary, where the first signs of the Plymouth International Ice Sculpture Spectacular took shape Tuesday afternoon.

Expected to draw nearly half a million people to Plymouth, the festival kicks off Jan. 13 and will run through the 18th.

Creating a frozen replica of Bugs Bunny from a block of ice taller than the students was Richard Teeple, executive chef instructor at Henry Ford Community College. Keeping warm in the sub-freezing temperatures was a challenge for Teeple. He'd returned at 11 p.m. the night before from his honeymoon in sunny Mexico.

With him and carving a Mickey Mouse look-alike was chilly Hawaiian Roy Calo, who recently moved to Motown from the Pacific.

"I bought some winter clothes, but not enough, I guess. I didn't expect it to be this cold," said Calo.

Carving a charming Donald Duck was Shawn Mulville, a student at Henry Ford Community College and a resident of Plymouth.

Spectacular seeks chilly reception

Rain and highs in the 50s on Monday were followed by a cooling to the low 30s on Tuesday — but will cool temperatures hold for the opening Wednesday of the Plymouth Ice Sculpture Spectacular?

Forecasters with the National Weather Service say it's a bit early yet to give an outlook for that Wednesday opening of the ice festi-

The most advanced forecast from the National Weather Service was for Saturday: A chance of snow or mixed snow and rain, with high temperatures in the low to mid 30s and low temperatures in the lower 20s.

Below freezing temperatures were recorded for most of last year's festival. But in several previous years, warm temperatures caused most ice sculptures to melt.

The festival runs through Monday, Jan. 18.

Police believe woman's death was accidental

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI STAFF WRITER

Canton police believe the death of a 44-year-old Canton woman found in her 1992 Ford near her apartment late New Year's Day was accidental.

"It does not appear to be foul play at this time," said Tammie Colling, community relahions officer for the Canton Department of Public Safety. There were no signs of trauma. We are treating it as an accidental

Three witnesses told police they saw Linda Mae Nawrocki's car with the engine running in the parking lot of Saratoga Apartments at Lilley and Warren roads New Year's Day. But only one of the witnesses said he saw a person, whom he thought was a man in the car, leaning over as though vomiting, according to the police report.

Police were still awaiting results of an autopsy to be conducted by the Wayne County Medical Examiner. "We are having her blood alcohol level checked. We are still awaiting medical examiner information (on the cause of death)," Colling said.

Police found the woman dead lying across both front against the passenger side front door. She had no socks or shoes on when she was found. Police also found a liquor bottle and beer cans in the car, according to the report.

The woman's 38-year-old live-in boyfriend told police he and Nawrocki had been drinking heavily all night. He said he had a fifth of Southern Comfort and a case of beer, and Nawrocki had a fifth herself, according to the police report.

When police arrived at the apartment they found the boyfriend sleeping in a blood-soaked shirt. He told police that Nawrocki had gone to the store and he believed she had not yet returned from shop-

The boyfriend had a bleeding nose and the pillows on the were blood-stained, as were his hands. He also had bruises on his arms and back. He told police he had fallen on a table in the apartment and hit his head. The man refused medical treatment.

Taxes due on 4 Lorenz parcels

BY M.B. DILLON STAFF WRITER

The Lorenz family owns six properties in downtown Plymouth, with taxes due on four of them.

Lorenz-owned property includes the May-flower Hotel at 827 W. Ann Arbor Trail; the hotel addition; Mayflower Meeting House; 505-509 S. Main; the motel at 444 Deer, and 707 Deer.

Taxes are paid on the Meeting House and commercial properties at 505-509 S. Main. Summer and winter 1992 taxes are owed in the amount of $24,256 for the hotel and $15,720 on the hotel addition. Owed in delinquent 1991 taxes on the hotel is $27,242, according to the Wayne County Treasurer's Off-

Taxes on the hotel would be higher had the family not been successful with their appeal before the board of review in 1991. The oldest portion of the hotel was re-appraised and the value reduced from $668,600 to $368,130, cutting the assessment in half.

A total of $15,430 in 1992 summer and winter taxes is due on the motel. Owed on 707 Deer is $3,999.

The Lorenz family first became associated with the Mayflower Hotel in 1939 when the late Ralph Lorenz was hired to manage the bankrupt, community-owned hotel. Lorenz gained control of the hotel in 1954 and sold it to sons Scott and Randy and longtime employee Creon Smith in the mid-1980s. Randy is general manager of the hotel.

Smith, who was co-manager, is now devoting his time to raising money.

"The service did go down and the quality of the food in the hotel," remarked another.

While Lorenz said service can always be improved, he rejected the notion that service has been poor. The Mayflower, he said, has been identified in recent years as "one of the best 250 hotels in the nation," and as the favorite hotel in the state, by groups that rate

Seeking a broader clientele

"If the food service operation was brought even into the '80s, it would be more successful," offered another observer.

Marching band wins competition at Fiesta Bowl

BY BILL JOYNER SPECIAL WRITER

Jim Vassallo called it before they ever took the field in Tempe, Ariz. "The Fiesta Bowl has never seen anything like the show they are about to see." As incoming president of the Centennial Education Park Marching Band Boosters, Vassallo knew what he was talking about as the two-time national champions added the Fiesta Bowl National Pageant of Bands to their list of growing accomplishments.

Before an audience of 7,000 fans at the band competition, over 2,000 dedicated musicians performed their best 10-minute halftime show. The nine bands, from the states of Minnesota, Tennessee, Illinois, California, Arizona, Indiana, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania and Michigan were rated in seven categories. The CEP Marching Band took first place in two categories, Drum Majors and General Effect, and second place in two other categories, Music and Marching. But most important, it was selected Pageant Champion with an overall score of 97 (out of 100). Second place belonged to Center Grove High School from Greenwood, Indiana.

"We had heard about the other bands. They were at the peak of their season, and ours had just ended. I was surprised and happy," said Jeff Jun, a senior from Canton.

"Wow," was all Shawn Walters, a 10th grade saxophone player, could say after the judges an--nounced the winner.

"All I could do was ask them to do their best, not for the judges, But for themselves and the people in the stands. I am real proud of "them," added Glen Adsit, director of the Marching Band.

Proud also were the parents who crowded the hotel lobby after the competition as the 200 musi-"cians entered single file, taking in the applause and shouts of "way to go," "great show," and "you are the best." Parents and musicians are going to remember this win for a long time. You can be assured that so, too, will the Fiesta Bowl remember this near perfect performance from the band from Plymouth — Canton, Michigan.

But for those who have followed the CEP Marching Band, this feat should come as no surprise. Watching the band members pile into six buses at 7 p.m. on the Sunday before the parade one got the feeling that this group had practiced this all before.

In fact it had. The Orange Bowl in Miami in 1988. National Championships in Indianapolis in 1990 and 1991. Trips to Illinois. Ohio and all across Michigan. Parents and friends have combined to ensure that this educational experience called the marching band is one that these 200 students will always remember and appreciate.

"I have really learned to work and get along with people. This trip to Arizona with my friends is great," said Carrie Swanson, a senior flute player planning to attend MSU next year.

These sentiments were shared by Rachael Nassko, a senior, who felt that the trip to the Fiesta Bowl was "awesome. Traveling with a group of friends in a big group of friends is cool because you can share the experiences." "I really liked the fact that we were competing against bands that we have never competed against before" said Jennifer Paulowicz, a junior from Canton who plays the flute.

In addition to the competition, the parade, and the football game, the band members took a trip to the Grand Canyon and celebrated New Year's Eve on the campus of Arizona State University with over 2,000 other band members. Some even found time on the last day of the seven-day trip to go

"Education goes beyond the four walls of a classroom. This is the best education I could ever hope to receive," said Rob Myers, a junior and one of the three field directors. Two hundred band members, 200 instruments and 200 uniforms packed up once again for another trip, bringing recognition once again to the Plymouth Canton School District. But rest assured that this trip will also bring back 200 new educational experiences that will be talked about for years to come.

Bill Joyner is the executive director of the Canton Community Foundation and accompanied the band on its Fiesta Bowl trip.

Day raccoons are usually sick pups

By Joanne Maliszewski Staff Writer

Think about it. Have you seen a raccoon out in your yard or near your house in the daylight?

"Anytime someone sees a raccoon during the daytime, they should stay away," said Debbie Wade, animal technologist with Critter Control in Plymouth. If the nocturnal animals are out n daytime that probably means there's a problem with them. That's not normal behavior. If you scare them they can bite," Wade said.

Illness is the likely cause of raccoons behaving against their nature. Though most people immediately assume rabies, there's not a high incidence of that. Dis-Emper is really the problem. "We see it every year," Wade

Wade suggests that people who see a raccoon in their yard or near their house in the daytime stay away from it. A sick raccoon can be unpredictable and may bite. The disease is not transmittable to humans.

Tammie Colling, community relations officer with the Canton Department of Public Safety, suggests that residents who find a sick or injured animal in their houses should call police at 397-3000. Canton has a contract with Critter Control.

Signs of distemper include matted-looking eyes, nasal drainage, foaming saliva, diarrhea, as well as not eating or drinking. Death comes as a result of the disease as well as the elements. Raccoons with distemper tend not to care for themselves either, Wade said.

If residents call Critter Control for help, a healthy animal will be relocated to the wild. If the animal is ill, it will be taken to the Michigan Humane Society.

Ice carving as an art form dates back two centuries

The art of carving ice is nothing ew, said Kelle Morse, one of the nizers of the 11th annual lymouth International Ice lpture Spectacular.

"It began with French chefs than 200 years ago," she "The first art sculptures basic designs used as funcnal holders to keep food cold oring service time on elaborate uffets. Russians learned the art m French chefs at the turn of he 18th century.'

The first well-documented ice clace was built as a setting for a constrous joke, she said. "On the 1739, a shivering bride and groom spent their wedding night in a building of ice. The palace was designed by architect Eropkin, conceived by the imperial adviser Volynski, and commissioned by the Empress Ann Ivanovna.

The ice palace was replete with ice cannons that actually fired again and again. The bedroom was complete with a vanity dresser with mirror, table, chairs and a canopy bed, all made from ice."

Empress Anna built the palace to show her jealousy for her old lover, who had run off with a

The artistic trio clearly impressed the gallery as well as the students inside, who were pressing their noses against classroom windows and peering sideways to get the best possible view.

"I want to be an ice sculptor, because it's fun," announced 5-year-old John Thomas Tatman, unfazed by the cold.

Marissa Malcom, 6, also was enjoying herself. "I'm going to go to the ice festival with my mom," she said.

"I love the Donald Duck," said Jimmy Jouppi, 5.

Teeple also was having fun, and was glad for the carving time. "We're just practicing for next week," said Teeple, who heads up HFCC's Ice and Snow Club.

in Detroit less than five years after Ty Cobb retired. Currently a county commissioner representing Garden City, Westland and Inkster, Beard grew up in Detroit in the 1930s playing ball in the alleys. Cobb retired after the 1928 season. Beard's baseball career began in the early '30s.

"I always loved to play base-ball," Beard said. "I was never into playing house and playing with dolls. I liked to get out and play sports with the boys.'

Upon hearing of Beard's past athletic endeavors, fellow county commissioner Bryan Amann, D-Wayne (a frequent opponent of Beard's), said, "She learned how to play hardball at a young age and she's still doing it.

Known for maintaining a sober, business-like demeanor in commission meetings even when the other commissioners are joking around, Beard has survived 14 years, eight elections, three county executives and many fellow "I've always been in- Opposes Mister Ed terested in what's going on because government has such a major role in the lives of all of us.'

A liberal Democrat, Beard frequently finds herself at odds with the latest county executive, Edward McNamara, not to mention fellow suburban commissioners who often vote against the coalition led by commission chairman Arthur Blackwell, D-Detroit, whom Beard usually supports.

In fact, Beard turned down a chance to replace Blackwell as chairman last Tuesday after a group of suburban commissioners promised her their votes.

Beard wouldn't admit that the offer was made, but other commissioners said she turned it down out of loyalty to Blackwell, who helped her stave off a primary challenge in 1990. Beard was appointed vice chairman instead.

Christened as Kathryn Williams when she was born, Beard began calling herself Kay because "nobody ever spelled (Kathryn) right and that always bugged me. If it's good enough for Jimmy

Beard rejects top board post

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW STAFF WRITER

Wayne County commissioner Kay Beard, D-Westland, turned down an offer to be the next chair of the board of commissioners, leaving the door open for the reappointment of chairman Arthur Blackwell, D-Detroit, last Tues-

No commissioner the Observer talked to would admit publicly that Beard was offered the job, but a coalition of suburban commissioners had promised Beard their votes last week, according to several commissioners.

Beard considered the offer, and admitted in a speech at Tuesday's meeting that she "agonized over the last weekend," but the 14-year commission veteran wouldn't admit later that she'd been offered the chair post.

(Other commissioners speculated privately that Beard felt she owed allegience to Blackwell because he helped her in 1990 when Westland City Councilwoman Terri Johnson, heavily backed by Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara, challenged Beard in the Democratic primary.)

Blackwell also alluded to the failed coup that nearly ousted him Tuesday. "This has probably been the hardest 90 days of my political life," he said in an acceptance speech. "I'll be honest. I lost a little sleep over the last couple of weeks. Maybe now I can lose some weight, because I won't be eating so much."

After the spark plugs have been firing for a few minutes and as the internal parts begin to create some friction, the engine runs smoothly and heat is created.

This sequence of events reinds me of insects on cool mornings. Twice this summer, I happened upon a dragonfly that was sitting on the ground. There was a distinct chill in the air, but the sun was beginning its warming ef-

While in the idle mode, it held on tightly to my fingers and vibrated its wings rapidly a short distance up and down. Vibrations were easily sensed by my hand. There was also a tighter grip on my hands by its legs. It took a minute or so of idling before they took off in an instant.

Because insects cannot control their body temperature as well as warm-blooded animals, like birds and mammals, they are much more dependent on the environment. That is why we do not seem them during winter - except for a few species.

Idling, or shivering, helps to accelerate warming of the body so they can become active or airborne.

Some insects help warm themselves by positioning themselves on the sunny side of a tree so they can receive the direct rays of the sun. In addition, they will press their body against the tree to absorb some heat from the already warmed surface.

Arctic butterflies have dark bodies and dark coloration on their wings near their body so they can absorb more heat, which will warm the important body and flight muscles.

When warm-blooded animals need to get warm, they form goose pimples, which is just a way of

IRS: Dependents need social security number

Taxpayers must provide a Social Security number on the federal income tax return for any dependent age 1 and older says IRS district director John Hummel.

"Taxpayers should be aware that they may be fined $50 for each social security number not shown on the return and, in some cases, the exemption may be disallowed," Hummel said.

The 1986 tax reform act required social security numbers for dependents age 5 and over. 1989, the requirement changed to age 2 and over. Beginning in 1991, the age limit dropped to 1.

To be issued a social security number, a person must have proof of the following items: age, U.S. citizenship or legal alien status and identity.

For more information, contact the Social Security Administration toll free on 1-800-772-1213 or visit any office for Form SS-5, application for a social security number card and for the brochure, "Applying for a Social Security Number.

Carter it should be good enough for Kay Beard," she said, laughing.

Beard was married right after World War II to Jerry Beard, a commercial artist. Together they had five children, which led to Beard's political involvement.

In the early 1960s, when her kids were in school, Beard got tight with an organization called Citizens for Educational Freedom. "All kids, regardless of where they live, or family income, or their racial or religious background, should have an equitable share of public finding for their education," she said.

As she was sucked into the malestrom of activity with CEF, Beard found herself writing and publishing a newsletter, making public speeches, testifying in Lansing and Washington D.C. and even lobbying the Legislature in Lansing part time.

A big surprise
"I've always been interested in

what's going on because government has such a major role in the lives of all of us," she said. "But I never expected to ever be part of

Her civic activities continued into the early 1970s when "a lot of people encouraged me" to run for the state House seat representing Inkster and Garden City. "In those days people weren't as apt to vote for women as they are now," Beard said, explaining perhaps why she lost the 1972 Democratic primary to a fellow named William Keith, who still holds the

Donald Beard, 40, the third child of Kay and Jerry, said he wasn't "the least bit surprised" when his mother turned to politics. "She was always real outspoken," he said. "When she gets into something, she gets in with both feet."

Major surgery in 1974 prevented Beard from challenging Keith again, but two years later she took a shot at the county commission seat held by John Barr, in part because Barr led an effort to sell the Walter Reuther Longterm Care Facility, which Beard opposed.

"I didn't think that I could beat him, but I decided to run just to get my name out again."

Busy, busy, busy

Barr won the election that year, but two years later in 1978 he resigned to take a position on the state civil service commission. Beard was appointed to the county commission seat, won election the following November, and has never relinquished it, even in the face of a 1990 challenge from Westland Councilwoman Terri Johnson, who was heavily backed by McNamara.

Beard can probably attribute her popularity with Westland and Garden City voters to the fact that her schedule of community activities is so packed that a secretary keeps track of it all and tells Beard where to go every

"I'm on the run constantly," Beard said. "The more I know about the community the better commissioner I can be. It's a rare weekend that I don't have something on Saturday and/or Sunday."

Perhaps she's making up for all those years she stayed home with the children while her husband worked. "We struggled and it was hard," she said. "We could have had a little easier time if I had gone to work while the kids were small, but I always hoped and prayed that until they were all in school I wouldn't have to. Those are such important years."

Beard's husband died three years ago, but 80 percent of her children still reside in the Detroit area, and four grandchildren have been produced with a fifth on the

and oppress his foes, Blackwell was clearly shaken by the challenge to his leadership.

In his acceptance speech, he promised to change the way he operates and grant suburban commissioners access to information that has previously been kept secret from them.

Apparently in exchange for turning down the chair post, Beard was appointed vice chair instead. "(Blackwell) has promised me I'll have much more activity than vice chairs in the past," she said.

At a reception following the meeting, Beard didn't admit she'd been offered the top spot, but alluded to it nonetheless by saying, "I think I'm better off as vice chairman."

The first commission meeting of 1993 also saw the swearing in of three new commissioners: Thaddeus McCotter, R-Livonia, replacing Plymouth Republican Maurice Breen, Michelle Plawecki, D-Dearborn Heights, replacing Kevin Kelley of Redford Township, and Andrew Richner, R-Grosse Pointe, replacing Democrat David Cavanagh.

Boating season: The boat is covered and stored in a Canton backyard until the boating season. But the heavy rains made it look like it was ready for action.

Residents slosh through rain

January usually means chill winds, but this year it brought heavy rains that swelled creeks, spilling water on to roads. But Canton residents are slogging along, checking their basements.

By JOANNE MALISZEWSKI STAFF WRITER

Despite the continuing rains that greeted Canton Township early Monday morning, Jim Sienko was still able to walk across Fellows Creek that traverses his mother's acreage on Palmer Road.

By Monday afternoon, it was a different matter. "It's usually 25 feet across. Now it's 250-300 feet across," Sienko said.

"This is bad, but wait until April. My mother has lived here 30 years. And in the past 15, it's just gotten worse." Sienko said. The Sienkos weren't alone. Just about anyone who lives near any body of water - creek or retention pond had a pretty good chance of watching the water rise. "We've got water everywhere. The things you expect to happen in this kind of rain are happening." said Tom Casari, township engineer. "All of the creeks are at the top of their

So were plenty of Canton's roads. As the rain continued to fall Monday, motorists began to slow down so they could wade their cars through the water gathering at the sides - and in some cases all the way across - the roads. And yes, Wayne County was called in.

The county also was called in to do something about road ditches that swiftly filled to the brim. "We asked them to see if the drains were plugged," Casari said.

With several inches of rain and frost in the ground, sometimes there's an inability to drain," Casari added.

Township crews were checking retention ponds, particularly in new construction areas, to be sure drains weren't obstructed. Straw is used to protect grass seedlings in the ponds. "That straw becomes an obstruction," Casari said.

Sanitary sewers also were pretty full and some pumping was necessary. Some backyards already had some pretty big ponds by early Monday afternoon. The township hadn't received complaints about flooded basements by early Monday. But by Tuesday, Casari said he had received complaints about sump pumps.

"We got through it," Casari said

WEATHER

Tuesday morning after the rains had stopped.

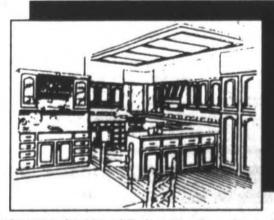

The township is still offering its free sump pump program for homes that are hooked up to sanitary sewers. The township has targeted certain neighborhoods for the program, including Windsor Park, Carriag Mayfair, Sunflower and Holiday

The township has put in about 1,500 new sump pumps free of charge. But about 12,000 houses were built in the 1960s and 1970s without sump pumps. Those homes, as long as they are hooked up to sanitary sewers, are eligible for the free program, Casari said. For more information, contact township engineering services at 397-

TONYA L. THOMAS and Drellick Thomas, juniors at Western Michigan University and residents of Canton, wrote the bid for the "Peace'n it Together" effort to help combat many of the problems that Western Michigan University and Central Michigan University had in the past, following the traditional football game. Both students are members of the executive board of Western's Residence Hall Association (RHA). RHA was named 1991-92 Regional School of the Year by the Great Lakes Affiliate of College and University Residence Halls (GLACURH). This designation was one of four honors received by the group at the region's annual conference Nov. 20-22 at Central Michigan University. The School of the Year Award is the highest honor bestowed to any school. This marks the fifth year that WMU's RHA, the student governing body for the residence halls, received the honor since the association was formed in 1980-81. WMU also earned the award in 1981, 1986, 1988 and 1990. "Over the last decade, RHA has consistently displayed an outstanding record of performance in its programming attempts, visionary leadership, and influence on

There are 49 colleges and universities in the GLACURH region from Michigan, Illinois, Intiana, Wisconsin and Ontario, Canada. ### Cable coverage

Live meetings enlighten public

here's a country and western song making the rounds these days with a lyric that goes "politicians treat me like a mushroom, they keep me in the dark." That's what the city of Plymouth and the Plymouth Canton schools are doing when it comes to putting public meetings on cable tele-

But it isn't all their fault. Omnicon Cable, which provides cable service to Plymouth and Canton, bears some of the blame.

Sure, there's local access to cable stations, but the program must be generated by a local

That's the case with Plymouth Township which has volunteers taping its meetings and taking the tapes to the television station.

Such meetings should be broadcast live and there should be live call-ins from viewers.

Programs such as those helped change the tone of the recent presidential election. Viewers wanted to know what President-elect Bill Clinton would do about health care and the econo-

The call-in shows kept the campaign on track. And it could do the same thing on the local level.

The school board and governmental bodies have forums for public comments, but too often those comments come from small bands of people who have a self-interest in the issue.

By expanding the public comment section of a meeting to all those watching at home, a broader cross section of views could be expressed.

Nearby Canton Township is making some headway with Omnicom in providing live meeting coverage to the public, but there are still some technical details to be worked out.

Chances are they will be. Canton and Plymouth are in the process of negotiating a new contract with Omnicom.

Part of that new contract should be that Omnicom provides live coverage of all public meetings in Plymouth and Canton, including the schools, on a regular basis.

The potential for live broadcasts of local government meetings is great. They put the eye on the folks who are spending tax dollars. And that eye should be live and there should be call-in public comments. We would all be better served by such a sysapplaud your newspaper for having the "guts" to take a stand concerning the replacement of Mr. Hoben. I believe that the majority of your readers will agree that Mr. Hoben has served well past his time.

However, I feel that our position will fall on deaf ears. Certainly Mr. Hoben will not retire because he is overpaid and overfringed to the point that a retirement would not permit him to live in the style to which he has become accustomed. We have chosen to pay our superintendent more than most cabinet secretaries, Supreme Court justices and three times the salary of the governor of Arkansas.

The school board will not take a tough stand on this subject. In my 20 years in the area, I have found that most school board members who are elected have good intentions. After a short time in office they become puppets of the school administration and I believe that is because the new members fall under the influence of standing members. When I read where one member said they might have to spend $30,000 to $35,000 for a headhunter to replace Mr. Hoben, I was shocked. We do not need to hire a headhunter to find a replacement.

Perhaps if the PCEA were to support your position, the school board would act. However, I am sure this will not happen because Mr. Hoben is in their hip pocket. Why do you suppose he got the two year extension in the first

At any rate, thanks for your efforts and keep up the good work. At least somebody speaks for the people.

Closing stabs health care

t becomes increasingly difficult to see the benefit of dismembering Michigan's public services, but that doesn't seem to stop opportunist Gov. John Engler from keeping his knife at the ready.

Mental health care is the latest victim of Engler's cold-blooded crusade to provide Michigan with a balanced budget at any cost - any human cost, that is. Remember, this is the man who, lacking a plan to separate the needy from the greedy, adopted the wholesale approach to welfare cheats and cut off all checks just in time for Thanksgiving 1991.

His latest victim in the mental health category: Wayne County's Lafayette Clinic.

The clinic was closed last year. The argument, from a state administration intricately explaining only one side of the issue, said the clinic had very few inpatients and therefore couldn't justify the cost of staying open.

Hey, what's the problem, Engler's administrators said. We'll just transfer this handful of patients to other area hospitals, close the clinic and save a whopping payroll by locking down an empty building.

If that's all there was to it - and Engler's people swore it was as simple as that - then it would have been hard to argue with.

Dr. Elliott Luby, a former executive administrator of the Lafayette Clinic and now professor of psychiatry at Wayne State University, found plenty to argue with.

True, Luby said, there were few inpatients at Lafayette when it closed. But he wanted to know what would happen to the more than 700 outpatients who depended on Lafayette for their well-being.

Luby also raised a point the governor's crew conveniently forgot - Lafayette wasn't designed primarily for inpatient care. Research was the clinic's reason for being.

any human cost, that is.

Luby cited schizophrenia treatment, the study of sleep disorders, research into Alzheimer's disease and development of neuropharmacology as just a few of the areas that attracted some of the world's most prominent doctors to the Lafayette Clinic.

The clinic's closing put an end to all that. With the closing, all those top-flight researchers left for hospitals willing to invest in the future of mental health care.

Luby says they won't be coming back, and it will be extraordinarily difficult to attract top talent without research opportunities.

So, the clinic that literally invented lithium is shuttered due to a narrow interpretation of its worth and a colossal inability on the part of an amateur surgeon to grasp the significance of work that doesn't always fit neatly on the bot-

If asked, few would line up to live in a society where the budget's, and not the society's, health comes first. Yet, here we are.

Saying yes to Michigan is important so long as one says no to the collapse of its infrastructure. The Lafayette Clinic closing pulled yet another beam out from under the state; too many more similar scenarios will be disastrous.

GOP politicos will be rowdy

t this season the journalistic instinct to predict events of the coming year runs the greatest risk of overwhelming common sense

OK. So what follows is less prediction and more informed guess.

Michigan politics is teetering on the edge of fundamental change. After many years of Lansing gridlock caused by divided control of the House/Senate/governor (you pick), Republicans are one measly House vote away from full

Last year's elections wound up with a 55-55 split in the House of Representatives. That funny sound you hear in the distance is Gov. John Engler and his GOP friends constructing bribes to get some (any!) Democrat to switch parties and so gain control of the House.

My guess is they'll do it, after a fair amount of huffing and puffing.

"It's very clear that the gridlock has been broken in Lansing, and this is going to be a very active town in the next few months," says Engler, already sensing victory.

If that happens, you could see a lot of activity on a lot of issues that have been around for a very long time: property tax reduction, school finance, legal (tort) reform, auto insurance reform and education.

In the minds of the governor and GOP legislators, resolution of these issues has been stymied for years by the way Democratic control of the House allowed special interests to block progress. The trial lawyers, in the GOP's view, killed tort reform and maintained the auto insurance scandal, while teachers unions stopped property tax reduction and educational performance reform.

That may or may not be so. But my guess is that not long after gaining control, the Republicans will have their hands full trying to manage

Take property tax reduction and, the other side of the coin, school finance reform. The business community and many suburban property owners sure would like to see property taxes cut. But Republican lawmakers representing wealthy school districts are not about to roll over while financing for their schools dries up.

Or try to reconcile two traditional Republican interest groups - insurance companies and doctors - over changes in auto insurance.

My guess is that Engler, if left to himself, is both clever and tough enough to manage this kind of reconciliation. But I don't think he'll be left entirely to himself.

There is a tremendous civil war brewing in the Michigan Republican Party, the fallout from last year's national defeat.

Ordinary "country club" Republicans blame the religious right for driving women and suburbanites away with their exclusionary rhetoric, while "hard conservatives" of the Pat Buchanan variety accuse the country clubbers of betraying true GOP principles. The war for control will be long and savage.

My guess is that Engler won't be able to hold a boiling and fissioning Republican legislative caucus together.

Whether and how he does that will determine in large part what he gets from the end of Lans-

Republican

se Mr.

He expressed the concern that in an October column I blamed AT&T for the impending area code split between Wayne and Oakland counties as a further symbolic division between the core city and suburbs. I had gleaned this misinformation from a metro daily and neglected to verify it. I later learned that, rather than AT&T, the responsible party is Bellcore — Michigan Bell's New Jersey research arm — which acted on the advice of Consumer Market Analysts in Birmingham.

Another reactor called to complain that I had confused him by saying in a December column that I'd "been brooding about the blindly partisan voters who cast votes against Democrat son Buller for state Representative and yet voted for Proposal C, which his opponent supported and he opposed." That passage should have read: "and yet voted against Proposal C."

A third reactor wanted to know how I predicted Detroiter Quincy Watts' Olympic 400-meter victory and the U.S. team's world record in the 4 by 400 meters relay. All I can say is that my familiarity with the 400-meter race was gained through winning over a hundred of them (including five in which I outran Olympic champions in times within tenths of a second of the world record), writing a best-selling techniques book on the event and coaching high school record-breakers.

JOHN TELFORD

Also, I was lucky.
A fourth reactor wrote to advise me that former presidential candidate Pat Buchanan is "pusillanimous" and "pulchritrudinous" (as well as "platitudinous," which I called him in November). This letter-writer was making fun of my use of alliteration and big words, and I confess she sent me scurrying to my dictionary. Buchanan my be "pusillanimous," but he sure isn't "pulchritrudinous." (I should add that another reactor called to praise that column, which proclaimed language as our greatest creation.)

A sixth reactor scolded me for suggesting that Ross Perot is a potential demagogue. She then added that she hadn't been particularly enchanted with my "arrogant attitude" when I was assistant superintendent of Rochester Schools, and she's even less so now that she continuously has to look at my "leering, bewhiskered mug" in her Observer & Eccentric newspaper. (At least I'm getting read.)

A seventh reactor complained that I credited the city of Rochester Hills with contributing money to the Oakland Center for Open housing last year when actually it was the city of Rochester that did it. He's right — and Rochester contributed again this year. It's time her sister city followed suit. An eighth reactor, demanding to know why I'm always slamming the state government for underfunding education, cited Representative Richard Posthumus' claim that the Legislature has "continued" to make education its top priority. Posthumus' assertion is even more preposterous than the notion that a "vice president for public relations" exists solely to serve the

Unfair attack

e: Professor "Politically Correct" Ponytail, Michigan State University, an afternoon of poetry reading and an evening

What a sad commentary your article is with regard to any intelligent disagreement one might have had with the way this afternoon/reading was conducted. Instead of sticking to the issue at hand you found it necessary to:

1. Wander from the issue at hand and bring up the age old rivalry between Michigan State and the U of M. What did that have to do with anything? Except to feed old hostilities.

2. Denigrate a professor by childishly naming him "Professor Ponytail" and "Professor Politically Correct" — what does his ponytail have to do with the matter at hand?

Get a load of your picture! One could childishly cite: "Hemingwayesque character;" "macho loudmouth;" bragging, name-dropping, lackluster dodo who must belittle another to make himself look grand.

You write as though it were somehow "unique" that "The Harrison at the poetry reading is not the Harrison we know." "The Harrison, who we know from an Upper Peninsula bar that we frequent during trout season..." Get real — where have you been living? "In bars he talks about hunting dogs, trout, etc. etc." Are you really an adult? Is the picture in the paper a phony?

Is it realistic, adult, to expect anyone's conversation — yours included — not to change from one venue to another? You mean to say you speak the same in a group of business persons as you would with a group of trout fishing buddies? Or do you speak the same when you are with educators as you would when talking with your wife?

Anyone who has attended an author/poetry reading — luncheon or whatever — is aware of the difference in the author/poet's speech compared to meeting these same individuals in a more relaxed atmosphere or on a one-to-one basis.

Do you only feel secure, competent enough when you can "attack" someone in your forum where the other person has no recourse for responding at the same instant?

If you really, truly, had a legitimate concern—why didn't you express it then and there instead of attacking a professor who happens to have a ponytail in the paper?

A very cowardly thing to do, which only shows a side of you that is not very pleasant or honest, or decent!

Think it over before attacking someone in print the next time. Try and instill in yourself some semblance of "journalistic ethics."

hen our forefathers were in the process of setting up this great nation and saw fit to add a magnificent 'Bill of Rights' that begins "Congress shall make no law respecting the establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof..." they could not have foreseen the need for a parallel 'Bill Of Rights' that should have began: "The Supreme Court shall hand down no decision respecting the establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof..."

If such a 'Bill' had been so enacted, the issue of prayer in our public schools and colleges (i.e.: Schoolcraft College) would not have arisen and the likes of Ralph Echtinaw would have nothing to write about, (Observer, Dec. 14, 1992 page 5A) especially his waste of good newsprint espousing Santa Claus as an instrument of the devil (Same issue as above, page 8A).

Misplaced faith

am writing this letter in response to the article written by Mr. Echtinaw. Not only was his article blasphemous, but also very insulting. As a Christian I can't see any similarities between Santa Claus and Satan. Granted, over the years the true meaning of Christmas has gotten off track, but in recent years Jesus has once more become the focal point. The true spirit of Christmas has far less to do with toys and gifts than it does concerning helping those less fortunate than ourselves. This is a principle embraced by Christians year round.

Mr. Echtinaw, I am also insulted that you would have the nerve to imply that Jesus leaves us with empty hands and taking this lambast one step further, to refer to our Lord as "a busybody who dictates how life should be lived." Have you ever seriously weighed such words in your mind? You, Mr. Echtinaw, are being deceived and the degree of your deception is obvious. By choosing not to believe in God you have misplaced your faith. In closing, I must once again say how massively offensive your article was, and I'm sure not just to Christians but to persons of every denomination.

Kathy McNulty, Canton

Exam troubles

t has been recently brought to my attention that the school office gave the teachers a chance to vote on what kind of final exam schedule to have.

There was one problem with the vote. The teachers were given a choice between A, the old schedule that we have used which is three days each with two three hour exams, or B, the regular six hour a day schedule finishing off the semester.

This is like asking people to choose between living next to a chemical plant or a nuclear reactor. You don't want to live next to either. You also don't want either plan. There obviously must be something wrong if about half of the teachers abstained from the vote. Ever hear of civil disobedience? With the two three-hour periods a day time was wasted. The first hour, meant for studying, was mostly spent worrying about the test to come.

On the other hand, continuing the regular schedule is also non-productive. What that is doing is giving students four days where each day they have to be prepared for six finals. That is totally absurd. Whatever happened to the final exam schedule that was implemented last year? It consisted of two one hour and 45 minute periods a day. Almost everyone liked this plan. It gave the students time to go home and relax a while before studying for the next day's exams. It also gave the teachers time to start correcting the exams so they wouldn't get overloaded during this hectic time. I'm sure this plan would have easily received many more than half the votes.

If everyone liked this plan so much why was it not on the ballot? Because the office is playing an immature game with the teachers. They're mad because the teachers didn't take a pay cut last year. They figure they now have a chance to get even with them. It doesn't take a doctorate to figure out that the only people that this game is hurting is the students. Last time I checked the main goal of the school system was to give the best possible education for its students. It seems like that goal has been lost in the game. I don't feel sorry for myself because this is my last year in this school system.

I feel sorry for the students that are being fired upon by the big guys downtown and have to come back next year. From what I have seen this problem is only going to get worse. Some people will have to swallow their little prides to solve it. I hope they have the heart to.

Program working

y wife and I have read and discussed the recent articles in your newspaper regarding opposition to the developmental teaching approach at Canton-Plymouth Schools. We both agree that our son's educational growth is due, in most part, to this very approach! Our son is not, in our opinion, an exceptional first-grader; he is one of many children under the guidance of a fine teacher who understands and believes the developmental teaching technique and how this approach does instill an element of personal self-esteem.

We believe, as our son continues his education in this manner, that he will begin to learn the proper spelling of words in due time. His ability to read and write simple words and associate pictures and words in the first grade is phenomenal. As parents it is our duty to be involved with this teaching approach and help by reading to our children and allowing them to read to us. Our son's ability to read has already spurred his sisters, age 4, to begin attempting the reading process.

Maybe all of our son's success is due to his teacher, who demonstrates genuine concern and responsibility to teach. We suggest the school system adopt Susan Domeracki's style and approach that many students and families at Hoben Elementary can attest really works.

Millage debate centers on semantics

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW STAFF WRITER

Political battles in Wayne County have sunk to the point now where they're arguing about whether an "institution" is a building or a program.

To whit, the Conference of Western Wayne is criticizing the county about a 1988 millage that was arguably supposed to be spent on a juvenile training center, but hasn't been.

One-tenth of the 10-year, 1-mill levy approved by county voters four years ago was supposed to be used to "build and operate a juvenile offender work/training institution," according to the ballot language.

The county still has about $7 million of what the millage has generated so far, and an additional $2.5 million is expected to be generated every year through

But Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara would rather spend that money on youth programs, not a building, and last October cut a deal with the state to start a program whereby nonviolent juvenile offenders would be dealt with in their homes instead of putting them in some juvenile jail.

McNamara avoided putting up a building, as some say the ballot proposal requires, by getting county lawyers to say that the word "institution" isn't necessarily synonymous with "edifice," but could also mean "program."

County commissioner Thaddeus McCotter, R-Livonia, believes the proposal calls for a building, and that's what he wants. "They can have an attorney say whatever they want," said McCotter, an attorney. "Every time Wayne County does something like this it ruins its credibil-

McCotter referred to McNamara's youth programs as "just pork barrel stuff."

The CWW, an alliance of western Wayne County communities, had a part in getting a question put on the ballot last November ■ The Conference of Western Wayne and. Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara are at odds over a 1988 miliage that was arguably supposed to be spent on a juvenile training center. McNamara would rather spend that money on youth programs, not a building.

asking voters if the county should build a building with the 0.1 mill or give the money back to the communities from which it was

The ballot proposal failed, but Livonia Mayor Robert Bennett said the wording of the question wasn't what CWW had in mind. "We weren't too happy with that proposal as it was put on the bal-lot," he said. "We kind of feel that the (county) commission played a little game with us" when it drew up the ballot proposal.

So CWW's executive committee has created a resolution asking the county to build a building with the money. Failing that, CWW wants the county to return the already-collected money to the cities and townships, then stop levying the 0.1 mill forever. The resolution is expected to be considered for approval at the CWW's next meeting Friday. Although it wouldn't be technically binding on the county, the resolution would carries political weight because CWW is comprised of mayors and supervisors from every community in western Wayne County.

County commissioner Kay Beard, D-Westland, said she agrees with CWW that the 0.1 mill should be spent on a building, in part, because the current county youth home is in "unbelievably bad" condition. "It would cost millions to bring it up to code," she said.

Deputy Wayne County Executive Michael Duggan agreed that the youth home is decrepit, but added that a bond proposal is being prepared to pay for the home's renovation.

McNamara's critics, Duggan said, should be glad the administration spent the other ninetenths of that millage (dedicated to the jail) so efficiently that money was left over to add 40 beds to the youth home, bringing the total to 240.

"We ought to be applauded for it instead of criticized for it," he

How best to describe the state of Plymouth Salem gymnastics? How about: The rich get richer.

The Rocks, already one of the best high school teams in Michigan, got even better with the return of senior Kim Miller.

After two outstanding seasons at Salem, Miller put prep competition aside last year and concentrated on club gymnastics but has opted to rejoin the Salem squad.

"She decided to do high school gymnastics because there's more recognition," said first-year coach Johanna Anderson, a former Plymouth Canton standout (1989-91) who replaces Becky Martin. "She's looking for scholarship offers, and it can only help her.'

Miller adds her talents to a team that already includes such fine gymnasts as senior Courtney Gonyea, juniors Alysia Sofios and Sarah Makins and sophomore Melissa Hopson.

With a lineup like that, the Rocks will be highly ranked again and favored to win a fourth straight Western Lakes Activities Association title.

Salem was ranked No. 1 in the state most of last season before finishing second behind two-time defending champion Muskegon Mona Shores.

"I don't have much doubt they will (win the WLAA)," Anderson said. 'I'd say we'll be in the top three at state, but it all comes down to who stays healthy.

"Last year we thought we had it,

Chiefs anticipate successful season

Plymouth Canton has had one of the state's top gymnastics teams for several years and is expected to retain that lofty status

With most of his top gymnasts returning from a team that finished third in the state, coach John Cunningham anticipates another successful season.

"I figure this will be a good year late in the season," Cunningham said, adding the Chiefs need to develop depth. "It will be a building process. If someone wanted to rank us now, we'd be about fifth in the state."

Canton returns its top three performers in seniors Kim Rennolds and Jenny Tedesco and junior Kim Lewke.

"They're going to have to carry the team with the maturity and ability they have," Cunningham

Rennolds has been a standout for three seasons and was the Western Lakes Activities Association all-around champion last year with a 37.10 score. She was sixth on balance beam and floor exercise in the state meet as a Division I gymnast. "She has actually improved," Cunningham said. "As the season progresses, she'll be doing some things she hasn't done: double folds on floor and a Tsukahara vault.' Tedesco and Lewke tied for sixth place among WLAA allarounders. Tedesco also finished 11th in the state on vault in Division II. Lewke, who was third on vault in the league, has the option of competing in either Division I or II this year.

"(Tedesco) added a couple new tricks in early workouts," Cunningham said, adding she is trying to overcome a sprained ankle.

This year Jenny has the potential to do some good things. Her bars routine is state caliber, and she's doing a front-handfront vault (with a 10-point difficulty rating)."

"Kim is much stronger and lighter this year. Her floor routine is better already. She'll be much improved by the end of the year."

Canton lost Dawn Clifford, its fourth all-arounder, and Laura Anderson, its No. 2 performer on bars, to graduation. Junior returnee Adrienne Brenner and freshman Kim Nowak will challenge for the fourth allaround position. Nowak has been out of gymnastics for three years but scored an 8.65 in her first floor exercise at the Freeland Invitational last month. "As the season develops, we're going to be a powerful team if we have no injuries and the kids keep developing," Cunningham said. "We have a Kim-Kim-Kim-Jenny combination that will be real strong. Brenner could be the fourth or fifth in each event, and we have a number of others who can fill in." Three gymnasts who provided depth last year and would have helped again are gone. Kathy Tiffin moved to Kansas City, Cara Stillings is a Congressional page in Washington, D.C., and won't be back until February and Kim Wagenschutz is not competing

Miller was the state all-around champion as a freshman, and she placed second on balance beam and floor exercise, third on vault and fifth on bars two years ago.

"We'll be stronger than last year with Kim on the team," Anderson said. "I think she has improved tremendously on beam. She has more composure and more difficult tricks.' Gonyea is the top returning gymnast based on last season's erformance. She was the thirdbest all-arounder at the state meet and finished second on vault, third on beam, fourth on floor and eighth on bars.

"She stands out on floor and beam because she's so graceful,' Anderson said. "Bars is her weak spot, but she has improved - and she's always good on vault.

"We don't know who's new or out there yet, but I'm sure she'll be a contender for one of the top five (all-around) spots at state.'

Sofios was unable to compete at the regional and state meets last year while she recovered from mononucleosis.

But she had the best all-around score in the area and undoubtedly would have fared well in state competition. As a freshman, Sofios tied Miller for second on floor, was 10th on bars and placed ninth in the all-around.

"We only had one full day of practice since the Christmas break and it showed, because we didn't execute well in the first half." Mitchell said. "We executed better in the second half and also got balanced scoring, something we haven't been getting."

Neil and Brandel had different views on the effects of the holiday

"I think it showed," Neil said.

Post players lead Borgess to victory over CC cagers

BY STEVE KOWALSKI STAFF WRITER

Some of the best help Redford Catholic Central basketball coach Bernie Holowicki received from his bench Tuesday night came from a guy wearing a suit and tie.

Assistant coach Jeff Suspeck, uh, you could say suspected quite a bit from Redford Bishop Borgess first-year coach Glen Donahue. After all, Suspeck played the last four years for Donahue at St. Mary's College in Orchard Lake.

"In the third quarter, I said to an assistant, "They're going to go to the four corners any second, and 10 seconds later, I heard Donahue yell, 'Four, four,' Suspeck said. "I knew everything he was going to do. But knowing what they're doing and being able to stop it are two different

CC hung tough but the inside tandem of 6-foot-7 Perry Robinson and 6-5 Randy Whitfield led Borgess to a 70-61 victory in the Catholic League Central Division

Robinson scored 19 of his teamhigh 20 points in the second half and tied Whitfield for the rebounding lead with 12. Robinson scored 11 straight points in the third quarter as Borgess went from owning a 36-33 lead to a commanding 49-35 advantage with about three minutes left in the quarter.

third-quarter points, including a pair of three-point plays and a baseline dunk. Borgess swatted several CC shots and enjoyed a 20-5 rebounding edge in the second half. For the game, the Spartans outrebounded CC 37-22.

CC senior forward Brian Paluk scored a game-high 26 points on 11-21 shooting but managed only five rebounds. He had been averaging near 15 per game for the Shamrocks who are 2-4.

Their big guys played tough and made us alter shots," Holowicki said. "I'd say they changed 10 to 12 of our shots. Robinson came out of nowhere and shot with no fear. We competed but besides competing, we've got to beat people."

The win leaves Borgess at 4-1 overall. Each team made 26 field goals but Borgess made 18 of 24 free throws compared to CC's 6 of 9. Whitfield and Charles Smith joined Robinson in double figures with 17 and 16 points, respective-

"We're still struggling to find an identity and haven't played a good game yet, but somewhere down the line we will," Donahue said. "Perry's been coming on every game.

One of CC's best inside players, 6-3 sophomore Mitch Anderson, transferred to South Lyon after Christmas break and that hurt CC's depth. The Shamrocks started normal-reserve Sean Gallagher and their best contribution off the bench came from senior forward Jeff Gutt who had seven points and five rebounds.

"I knew we'd be hurting (with-out Anderson)," Holowicki said. "I wish him good luck. His rebounding and athletic ability for a sophomore was very good."

CC trailed only 32-29 at halftime as junior guard Andy Kummer, playing with the flu, scored nine of his 11 points in the first half. But Kummer didn't take a shot in the second half until scoring on a running bank shot with 2:51 left that made the score 66-56 in Borgess' favor.

Point guard Damien Baskerville also kept the Shamrocks close, scoring six of his 10 points in the fourth quarter.

"Andy played one of his better games and he wanted to win bad," Holowicki said. "He's a great

Salem remains unbeaten at 5-0

Plymouth Salem's basketball team began the New Year with a victory Tuesday, winning its fifth game without a loss.

The No. 8-ranked Rocks out scored host Waterford Kettering 39-19 in the second half and pulled away to a 58-34 victory after a close first half that had Salem ahead 19-15.

"It was a typical back-from-vacation game," Salem coach Bob Brodie said. "We had a real slow start. We shot too quick, but our defense was real good and we held them in check.

"Finally, in the second half, we picked up the tempo on offense and got the running game going."

Mike Slone scored 21 points, including 14 in the second half, to lead Salem. Brandon Slone added 11 and Adam Hammons 10. Hammons also had 10 rebounds.

Scott Harris was high scorer for Kettering (3-2) with eight points. The Rocks begin Western ■ YPSI 73, CANTON 49: Ypsilanti turned up the heat in the third quarter Tuesday and outscored the visiting Chiefs 31-11 en route to the non-league victory. Canton (1-4) trailed by only two points (26-24) at halftime, but the Braves (4-1) led 57-35 after three periods and outscored the Chiefs 47-25 in the second half. "They'd been pressing the whole game, but they really cranked up the intensity in the third quarter and we really struggled against it," Canton coach Dave Van Wagoner

"They picked our pockets four or five times for uncontested baskets. At this point, we're struggling against full-court, man-to-man pressure, but we'll g on it tomorrow."

Marlos Long scored 20 points, which included four three-point field goals, to lead Ypsilanti. Keith Grant added 18 for the Braves.

Canton's Matt Paupore had 12 points, Bryan Whittle 10, Al Holl-, ingsworth and Owen Crosby eight apiece. Crosby also pulled down 11 rebounds.

The Chiefs led 15-12 after one quarter but were outscored 14-9 in the second.

"We played pretty good defense. in the first half, and that's what kept us close," Van Wagoner said, adding he was disappointed withthe offensive execution.

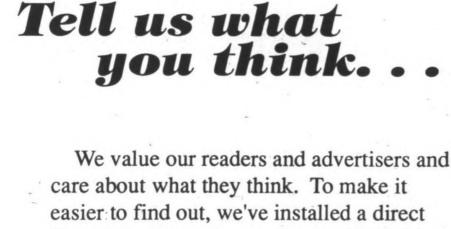

"We worked hard the last three. days at being patient with the ball. Then we get in a game and throw it up after two or three passes. There's no way we can play a run-and-gun game with a team like Ypsilanti.' Canton plays its first WLAA

SC cagers try to solve offensive woes

By C.J. RISAK STAFF WRITER

The nearly three weeks off during the holiday break were put to good use by Schoolcraft College's men's basketball team.

Or at least that's what Ocelot coach Dave Bogataj hopes.

The team did put in the time on court, said Bogataj. Back to basics they went, trying to unravel the reasons behind an 0-for-7 December and what Bogataj called "the five-minute mystery."

"We went at it," said Bogataj whose team enters the second half of the season with a 3-10 overall record (0-4 in the Eastern Conference). "Two hours of good work a day and then some."

That didn't include the shooting drills, aimed at restoring some lagging confidence and curing that "five-minute mystery," Bogataj's name for the stretch in each game during which SC went into a shell offensively and failed

The goal during the three weeks off was to "iron out some things." At the top of the list is 6-7 sophomore Jarvis Murray, an all-conference player a year ago whose production has lagged somewhat

Because Murray is the only returning starter from a year ago, it would seem logical that the ■ SCHOOLCRAFT

Ocelots try to get the ball inside to him often - a lesson Bogataj continued to preach. "Jarvis has got to touch the ball," he said

And he will, if the team Bogataj is coaching returns intact. First semester grades were to be posted Wednesday; any academic casualties wouldn't be known for sure Bogataj's optimism remained intact, despite the pressure of a seven-game losing skid. "I think the time we spent over Christmas really helped us," he said. "I really believe we can do some things and be efficient.

"Obviously, depth is going to hurt us. But I think we've eliminated the five-minute mystery.'

Of the 14 players who were on the roster at the start of the season, only seven remain. The lack of players will probably cause Bogataj to use more zone defense than he would like to. "But it'll be an aggressive zone," he vowed.

During holiday practices, Bogataj was impressed with the play of Shawn Branum and Lamonte Fondren, and he noted that point guard Vince Turner "was gaining confidence." Also, Steve Whitlow, a Redford Catholic Central graduate who did not play for nearly two years, is rounding into shape and improving every game. Fondren, the 6-5 freshman from Oak Park, has switched from small forward to power forward, where he'll share time with Courtney Williamsonbey. The question now is: Will the work, the additional drills, the "attention to detail," as Bogataj described it, help? Only time will tell, and the clock starts anew Saturday when SC hosts Alpena CC (2-2 in the conference). The Lumberjacks are led by 6-5 J.B. Gould, but they've also added Detroit Mackenzie graduate Terrance Williams, a 6-7 forward, to their roster.

If the Ocelots are to turn things around, this is the month to do it. One reason for their poor record was a lack of home work: They played all but two of their first 13 games on the road. The next seven games SC plays are at home. At the end of the month, they hit the road again traveling to Oakland CC. After that, it's back home to SC for two games.

Bogataj would make no predictions on how his team would fare during the January stretch, particularly considering there was no way to tell who would still be eligible. But sooner or later, if the Ocelots are to succeed, they're going to have to find that corner - and turn it.

BARBARA MICHALS

"Two Into One" is about a married congressman trying for a romantic tryst with a Washington secretary. That may sound too true to be funny, but in the very capable hands of author Ray Cooney, director Ron Holgate, and an excellent cast, The Birmingham Theatre's production of "Two Into One," provides an absolute feast of laughter.

Cooney, best known for his comedy "Run for Your Wife," is a master at writing classic farce. This time he turns his characters loose in adjoining hotel suites where they can whirl in and out of multiple doors, wallow in mistaken identities, and generally create mayhem.

By the middle of Act Two, the lunacy has built to such a crescendo that it seems as if the plot could have nowhere further to go, but a surprise development sets in motion a whole new set of absurd situations; the hilarity continues right to the closing lines.

Under Holgate's direction, the actors' comic timing is impeccable, and the laughs flow smoothly throughout the show. After directing and starring in the farce "Lend Me a Tenor" at the Birmingham Theatre last fall, and triumphing as the lead in "Man of LaMancha" there last spring, Holgate has become one of the Birmingham Theatre's best assets.

Terrence Caza is enormously appealing as the prominent congressman who lusts after a White House secretary. Initially smooth and debonair, he hilariously loses his cool when his carefully laid plans fall completely apart.

The congressman relies on the help of his devoted personal private secretary George, who is so uptight about proposed assignation that he botches everything. Anderson Matthews is outstanding as George. He has a wonderfully expressive face that never quits as he deftly handles the heaviest comic load.

In George's attempts to cover for his employer he finds himself embroiled in the amorous advances of the congressman's wife, Pamela (Mary O'Brady), while he dodges a meddlesome hotel manager (David Rogers), a nosy Chinese waiter (Stephen Xavier Lea), and a prudish congresswoman (Dorothy Stinnette) bent on sniffing out vice.

O'Brady and Stinnette are both very credible and amusing. Rogers' soulful eyes and droll delivery are enormously funny, and Lea's bungling waiter, dumb like a fox, is memorably comic.

As Jennifer, the bombshell secretary, Traci Lyn Thomas never quite seems like a femme fatale, but John Schiappa does a nice turn as her very perplexed husband.

"Two Into One" is a merry way to kick off the new year. Word-of-mouth on the show should be excellent providing theatergoers can stop laughing long enough to tout its praises.

Barbara Michals is a retired Southfield English teacher. A theater critic for the last 19 years, she is an inveterate playgoer who regularly catches up on all the New York productions.

Toy instrumental in musician's career

BY KEELY WYGONIK STAFF WRITER

Children's toys often become instruments for developing talents. Remember that when your child starts banging on a new drum set.

Laura Oltman who will be performing with her husband Michael Newman in the second concert of the American Artists Series 3 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 17, never planned to play the $7 toy guitar she ordered from a Sears catalog.

It was supposed to be a prop in a rock and roll band she formed with some friends who lived across the street from her in Livonia when she was eight, and Motown was hot.

'We never played music, we turned the stereo up and stood in front of the house lip syncing," said Oltman. "We listened to records, and the radio and were up on the latest music. We had a steel string acoustic guitar that no one could play, and for drums we used boxes and coffee cans

Oltman said she didn't even especially like the guitar until her mother figured out how to play "Down In the Valley," on it.

"I learned chords, and mostly taught myself how to play," she said.
"I really did like playing it."

When she was 12 Oltman started studying classical guitar, and continued her education by studying with the masters including Andres Segovia. She met her husband Michael at the Aspen Music Festival in 1977. They got married in 1981, and have been performing together as the Newman & Oltman Guitar Duo ever since.

Puppets deliver business messages

■ Introducing a little levity to business meetings is one reason to invite a dummy. But Great Imposters are also used to aid in responsiveness and retention of materials.

By R.J. KING SPECIAL WRITER

For that next sales meeting or new product announcement, why not go the route of Sesame Street? After all, if puppets like Ernie and Bert can hold the attention span of children, they should engage adult minds as

At least, that's the logic of a new marketing firm in Farmington Hills, which touts a staff of over 40 employees, 95 percent of which are puppets made to look like famous celebrities or corporate personnel.

"Business meetings can be dull, boring affairs, but when a puppet is added, it becomes a real ice breaker," said Jennifer North, director of sales and marketing for Great Imposters Marketing, which opened in October.

"Everyone loves to be immortalized, and a puppet can say things about a company president that employees could never get away with. The puppets are kind of goofy and are meant to bring a touch of fun to the workplace.'

The Great Imposters opened its Farmington Hills marketing office based on projections the metro Detroit market was ripe for laughter. The company was founded by Dick Miller in 1980, a self-taught puppeteer based in Fort Wayne, Ind.

Puppet power: Bob Eissfeldt (left) and associates conduct a sales meeting for Dick Miller, company founder, and Jennifer North, director of sales and marketing of the Great Imposters.

"Before starting the company, I was in advertising, and one day someone asked if I could make some puppets," said Miller, who was inspired by the late Muppets creator Jim Henson, a founder of the children's show, Sesame Street, which appears on public television.

"Soon after I purchased some blank puppets and went into business for myself. We have over 200 wigs, and hundreds of ears, eyes and other components. But it's hard work. We have to lay on our backs to move the puppets, while the Muppets are presented from elevated sets.

By enlivening a sales meeting with a puppet who looks, acts and speaks like John Wayne or George Patton, North said the Great Imposters can generate a more receptive and responsive audience, while at the same time

Print network established to 'douse fires'

BY DOUG FUNKE STAFF WRITER

The principals of Emergency Printing Network in Farmington figure that human nature and Murphy's Law will go a long way toward priming the pump of their fledgling venture.

Brothers Larry and Shelby Fox launched EPN last summer for businesses of all sizes facing lastminute rush jobs or emergencies involving reports, brochures, fliers or other printing needs.

The Foxes first lined up about a dozen keylining, graphics, die cutting, engraving, binding and printing specialists who agreed to be available at a moment's notice to expedite problems that might

Then they contacted PR firms, ad agencies, designers and marketing directors to spread the word about the service's availability through an 800 telephone number 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

"We go as far as to say EPN is not looking to be your regular printer or supplier," Shelby said. "We understand most businesses have existing relationships with printing partners.

"This is no different than if your car breaks down on the freeway. You have your own mechanic, but you're going to call road service. You want that comfort zone.

Larry Fox, who established Fox Printing Services 14 years ago, shakes his head when recalling some of the glitches he's seen with 40 years in the business. Some of them were clearly preventable, he said, using a driving analogy to make the point. "How could a guy run out of gas?" Larry said.

Expediters: Larry and Shelby Fox started Emergency Printing Network to help business people deal with unexpected printing problems that develop at the 11th hour.

"It happens all the time, every day. It shouldn't happen. You know, 'I could've, should've, would've.' But it always happens."

Shelby illustrated how EPN has responded to three specific challenges since its founding.

Two sales people decided to go out on their own when a company unexpectedly closed a fundraising candy sales division. The pair obtained 40,000 four-color brochures but couldn't use the existing

Money transfer needs care

BY DOUG FUNKE STAFF WRITER

If you change jobs this year and are entitled to a pension, profit sharing or 401(k) distribution, make sure that your former employer sends the money directly to another financial custodian rather than pass it along for you to make the transfer. It could save you cash and grief at income tax time.

After the first of the year, employers of employees who leave must send to the IRS a 20-percent withholding on all pension distributions not directly sent by the company to another trustee.

Congress mandated the change last summer to fund an extension of unemployment benefits. The law formerly allowed distributions to employees with no withholding, then gave employees up to 60 days to transfer the funds hemselves without penalty.

Employers must notify employees of the law's ramifications when employees leave.

Here's a theoretical example of how an employee who doesn't designate a direct transfer and is entitled to a $10,000 pension distribution can be hurt when changing

First off, the employee will receive only $8,000 because the company must withhold 20 percent or $2,000. Then, the employee must designate on his 1040 tax form additional income for the year of the $2,000 withheld. That will result in additional tax of $300 at the 15-percent bracket.

The employee also will be assessed a 10-percent penalty tax on the $2,000 withholding if he's less than 591/2 years for tapping into retirement funds at too young an age. That amounts to another $200 and a grand total of $500 of tax due in this example.

The employee can claim $2,000 of overwithholding on tax forms for a net refund of $1,500 — but he's still out $500 he wouldn't have been had the company directly transferred the entire

The employee could avoid all additional taxes and penalties by making up the difference in withholding from other personal funds, but a lot of people don't have the resources or inclination to do that.

"The most important thing is to be knowledgeable about the change," said Arthur Meyers, a lawyer with Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone. "If you know you want to put it (distribution) into an IRA, have the company do it directly and don't take the distribution yourself."

If you're in your upper 50s and have a pension distribution of at least $50,000, Miller advises tax counsel to determine whether it's more advantageous to use forward tax averaging and pay immediately or roll over a pension distribution into an IRA.

A New Year can bring new beginnings, new directions, revised strategies, goals and renewal. As the newest Suburban Life columnist who discusses family issues, I would like to hear from you, the reader. What are some of the topics or issues you would like to appear in this column

Family issues are quite extensive, ranging from budgeting household dollars to each member sharing responsibilities that are pertinent to the family management structure.

Family issues are about getting along with other family members, or being able to recognize and respond to common childhood illness, developmental stages, emergencies, signs and symptoms of child abuse and special needs.

Family issues and concerns also reach outside the home. They touch practically all sectors of society, as indicated in previous articles. In as much as it presents a sober focal point for rehabilitation, restructuring and revitalization, building on it appears to be highly rated on the political scale. ### Harmony: It comes in 4 parts

To watch them rehearse is like watching a ballet of the hands and mouth. The hands belong to the director the mouths are those of the members of the Rennissance Chorus, an all-male group that sings in four-part har-

"Get these out there," says Matt Coombs, pursing his lips in an exag-gerated pucker. "You can do it." He may be tired from ringing the Salvation Army bell all day, but Coombs comes alive before the allmale chorus. With the precision of a surgeon, he leads the group through rehearsal. His hands move up, down, all around, as he polishes the harmonizing in the group's newest song, "Old Friends Just Like Old Songs."

Gathered on risers in a hall at Newburg United Methodist Church in Livonia, the chorus responds to each and every one of Coombs' directions. Keep the music from sounding flat? No problem. Pick up the tune in mid-verse? On the count of three.

It sounds like hard work, but the final product is a melodious mix of bass, tenor, barritone and lead . . what four-part harmony, or barbershop singing, is all about.

And rightly so for the Wayne Chapter of the Renaissance Chorus (formerly the Wonderland Chorus), a part of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America Inc. The chorus has been Pioneer District champions eight times and were international contest representatives

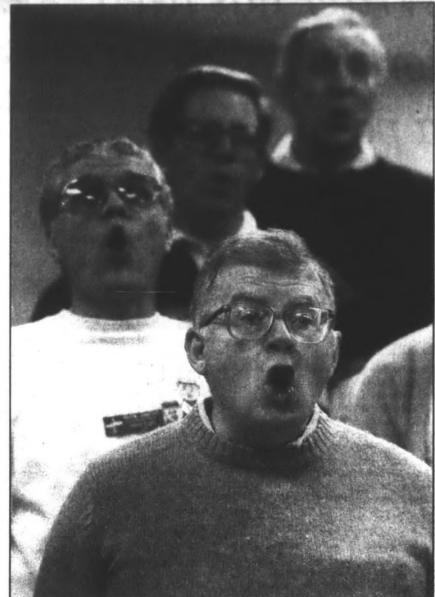

"It's easy and it's fun," said Al Truax, who sings lead in the 55-member chorus. "People who like to sing like to perform and they like to hear the applause.'

Childhood experience helps with her new job

Carol Thompson grew up in a family with four girls and one boy, so she's used to being in a strong female environment. When she was growing up and active in Girl Scouting, she found that organization offered many opportunities.

"It was a place where it was acceptable to take a leadership role." That wasn't always the case when Thompson, 38, was in school.

Her experience as a Brownie, Junior and Cadette Girl Scout is coming in handy these days. Thompson, a Trenton resident, is the new Plymouth-Canton-Northville field director for the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council.

"I've been out of the state for 14 years," said Thompson, who grew up in Trenton, graduating from Trenton High School and from Eastern Michigan University with a bachelor's degree in arts administration in 1978. "I was ready to come home and be closer to family.

Thompson, who started work with the Girl Scout council in early December, had been in eastern Kentucky before she moved back to Michigan this past summer. She'd just finished a project with an art center there.

She'd done a lot of arts education and social service projects with Girl Scout councils. Much of her work in Kentucky was community-based, "how it can help communities.

Her attraction to Girl Scouting was its strong connection to communities, and the way in which girls are trained to be responsible for their community and interact with it on issues on a daily basis.

She has volunteer contacts in Northville, Plymouth and Canton who work with her to develop goals, programming and training. Volunteers help troop leaders and girls at the troop level with programming and membership.

Scouting focuses a great deal on how teams work, she said. It acknowledges and encourages girls "so that everyone gets a chance to excel at what they're good at. So it raises self-esteem as well as ability."

She knows what she wants girls to get from Scouting. "I think if they each can have a sense of who they are and their place in the world." Scouting provides that for girls, allowing them to try new things and be themselves without competitive pressure.

Thompson got such things from Scouting, and has fond memories of her involvement as a girl. "Lots of great camping stories. I don't know if there's one particular memory or not." She still has friends from her Scouting days.

Bridge veteran is a nice guy too

Leonard Harmon is a well-medaled veteran of many world-class championships who lives in East Hampton, Long Island, with his lovely wife (from Southfield) Marion. Today Lenny may be caught on occasion playing in Manhattan some Monday night with friends, but other than that his expertise at the table is seldom paraded in this modern age of bridge.

Thirty-odd years ago, Lenny's name was in lights on the major bridge marquees of America. He was a member of the American team in the 1959 Bermuda Bowl and the 1960 World Team Olympiad. Coupled with these world-class acclamations are many North American championships. Admittedly his greatest year was 1958 when he won the McKenny Trophy competing against the strongest field of United States players ever seated.

The ACBL doesn't give an award for "Mr. Nice Guy," but he would have won such a mythical tribute in a landslide for his gentlemanly manner and dignified presence at play or away from the table. He saves his sageness for his favorites, but if you are lucky enough to be with him when he's moved to do so, you can learn an awful lot about this magnificent game from his scholarly tutorial

Many of Lenny's most notable achievements were in partnership with the brilliant Ivar Stakgold, professor of mathematics at Northwestern University. It wasn't easy for either to keep even with their demanding professions (Lenny owned a very successful insurance agency in New York City) and the rigorous major tournament schedule of that era, but together they succeeded in capturing many of the laurels awarded in that period of bridge history.

Today's layout is one of the famous Harmon's Maxima Cum Laudes of contract bridge. The hand is devilish for two reasons. It isn't easy to bid and even harder to play at the 12-trick level. Confronted with a trump lead, not the spade suit which the opponents bid, the probability of success dissipates considerably.

With the spade lead, declarer has time to win the diamond king and still ruff two diamonds in dummy. As the cards are, this line of play is invincible as he only loses to the trump queen. With the diabolical heart lead, the second diamond ruff is gone and that loser must be attended to. This can only be achieved by finding the clubs right and then correctly guessing the card to play. The club honors must be divided or with East. If West has a winning honor, he must have a singleton trump so he can't eliminate dummy's last trump. Now you have seen 52, but Harmon had only the benefit of the dummy, his own and West's lead, yet his suspicion of the out cards position was clairvoyant, and he accomplished the task with

Both vulnerable 4 J 10 4 3 2

At trick one - the heart jack, winning the queen with the king. Now, a diamond to the king and dummy's club king. When East didn't play the ace, he pitched a diamond. West spade return was won in dummy and now the club jack. It mattered not whether East played his queen. If he didn't, a diamond is discarded. If he did, Lenny ruffs and re-enters dummy with a diamond ruff and then the club 10 for the other low-diamond loser.

You say lucky, and I say Lenny certainly was, but great players make their own luck and they do it usually by using their gifted

Nothing to do? Trying skating

The plaintive cry "There's nothing to do" during the holiday vacation was easily answered in the Plymouth-Canton community.

Open skating at the Plymouth Cultural Center ice rink provided plenty to do for those vacationing students and their elders. Many took advantage of open skating last week, including Ryan Porte, 14, of Canton.

"There's no other place to skate," said Porte, who was waiting for open skating to begin Monday. He was concentrating on improving his form. Porte, who plays hockey with his friends, was enjoying the break from his studies.

"Pretty good. I don't have to do work.

Older skaters also took to the ice, including Lyman Bittman, 77, of Ann Arbor. "I skate over there mostly," he said, referring to Ann Arbor. Bittman came to Plymouth for the "opportunity to skate on ice that's usually not quite so loaded with people.

He takes ice dancing lessons at the Plymouth Cultural Center and skates strictly for fun. He's found the general skating time gives him an opportunity to improve his skills.

Dave Schmidt came to the rink one recent Monday with his children, Matt, 8, and Christine,

"We've only been here twice," said Schmidt, a Plymouth Township resident. "My son is interested in getting into hockhe likes it."

He's considering getting his son into hockey lessons at the Cultural Center. Schmidt didn't take to the ice himself during his recent visit, although he considered it when he saw that the ice was relatively clear.

"Last time we came up it was quite crowded."

Do you know that a day of judgment is coming for every person on earth? Yes, the Bible teaches that "it is appointed unto men once to die, but after this the judgment" (Heb 9:27). Judgment Day is coming when Jesus Christ, the King of Kings and Lord of Lords, shall judge the living and the dead at his appearing (I Tim 4:1). Are you ready for that judgment day? If you love Jesus Christ and look for his coming, join us on Sunday.

What can Catholics expect from their first new catechism in 400 years?

If they're expecting the return of some-thing like the Baltimore Catechism, which was used as a teaching text, just the opposite is true, according to Fr. Daniel Trapp, director of the Office of Catechetics/Religious Education for the Archdiocese of Detroit.

"Some people thought it would be like the old Baltimore Catechism and they would be taught directly from it it," Trapp said. "This catechism pulls together the basic teachings of the church into one volume. It's more like a resource document, like an encyclopedia."

The new catechism will be introduced in the United States this month. It is intended to serve as a guide for bishops in spreading the church's beliefs worldwide. It will consist of four basic sections: the creed, the faith, sacraments, and commandments and prayers.

Among the changes from the catechism drafted after the Council of Trent in the 16th century is a larger section on sexual sins. Both church liberals and conservatives might find some surprises, according to the document's official English translator, who spent months finding the right words to portray the church's newer approach to old questions.

'The immoral section is always tricky," said the Rev. Douglas Clark, a Georgia priest who translated the document while working at St. John's Seminary in Boston. "These issues were treated with reticence 400 years ago but they aren't anymore. People ask very blunt questions.

Expanded teachings

Clark says the new expanded teaching on sexual sins that take up 10 pages will address among other things, contraceptives and artificial insemination.

"Here were are talking about how medical morality has changed," said Clark. "And in a culture that is saturated with sex the questions are more blunt than they used to be. That doesn't mean the answers will be more blunt.'

According to Trapp, the new catechism is part of a natural progression. The eachings of Christ continue to unfold through the Holy Spirit and there have been "substantial developments" in the last 400 years, he said.

The new catechism - the Latin version was approved by Pepe John Paul II in June - was originally written in French and will also be translated to German and Spanish. The pope requested the catechism after a conference of bishops in 1985 called for uniform guidelines to help interpret major reforms in the church from the 1960s.

'While this won't hit people at the level of going to church and finding the Mass in a different language, I suppose both liberals and conservatives will be surprised," Clark said.

The 43-year-old priest beat out his British counterparts to become the English translator of the catechism after working with Cardinal Bernard F. Law of the Boston archdiocese, who attended the 1985 conference of bishops.

Clark spent nine months at St. John's seminary pouring over the documents. His work was reviewed by two editorial committees that included British and American scholars.

Reasonable expression

He described the text as "reasonable and broad in its expression," and said he expects conservatives to be pleased with its heavy use of traditional church philosophers, including St. John Damascene

However, Monsignor Timothy Moran, the rector of St. John's, who also worked to redraft the original text, said, "It will be a challenge to more conservative sectors of the church.

Trapp is in the process of setting up a workshop for directors of religious education to introduce them to the new catechism. It will serve as a resource for their programs and he is sure "they will have questions" about its contents.

As for the return of a catechism like the Baltimore version, he doesn't expect that to happen. The church stopped using that catechism, which taught church principles in a question-and-answer for-mat, some 25 years ago.

The Council of Trent undertook Catholic reform and defined church doctrine.
The council produced a summary of church teaching, which was followed by catechisms produced by individual countries. The Baltimore Catechism was the U.S. version and has been around for about 100 years, according to Trapp. "It's a good document," he said of the new catechism. "It will be a helpful docu-ment but will be more for behind the scenes. It's a great resource book for the Like its release date, there is one for sure thing about the new catechism. It's sure to cause a stir.

"It's safe to say there will be controversy. Some don't want a new catechism ,' said John Walsh, a spokesman for the Archdiocese of Boston.

Eddy's book has place in literature

When the Women's National Book Association asked its members from around the United States to respond to the question of what books had been the most important ones in their lives, books by authors like Jane Addams, Louisa May Alcott, Jane Austen, Charlotte and Emily Bronte, Pearl S. Buck, Emily Dickinson, Anne Frank, Betty Friedan and Margaret Mitchell were mentioned.

And one of the 75 books by women whose words have changed the world was "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," written by Mary Baker Eddy more than 100 years ago.

The list was published by the WNBA as part of its 75th-anniversary celebration. Members from WNBA chapters in Binghamton, N.Y., Boston, Detroit, Los Angeles, Nashville, New York City, San Francisco and Washington, D.C., participated in the sur-

Ameritech is leading the way in applying this technology, helping businesses in our communities thrive in this information age. For example, with Ameritech's LAN-to-LAN interconnectivity, companies are managing inventory and sharing information electronically with real-time savings.

A computer-aided design application helped one of the world's largest auto-makers increase productivity by allowing more than 150 suppliers to transfer design files instantly, with just the push of a button.

A regional health information network, designed by Ameritech, links doctors, hospitals, employers and insurance companies. This not only improves the quality of healthcare but also lowers the cost of delivering it.

Guide offers insightful look at country music

once met cowboy singing star Gene Autry. I once stood under an umbrella with a guy who played back-up for Hank Williams (Sr.). I once dated a Nashville singer. Despite all of these utterly earth-shaking events, I never developed much of an interest in country music. A Recently, that's changed. Though I'm still not particularly fond of the music itself, I find myself increasingly fascinated with the world of country music, its colorful history and its performers. This is due in large part of an unpretentious little volume titled "All American Guide to Country Music," which crossed my desk a few weeks back, compliments of Country Roads Press.

Surprisingly, the book's creators, Frank and Patricia Eichenlaub, don't hail from the backwoods of the Smoky Mountains or the hills of Tennessee and they have never been at home on the range in Texas, or any other place where there is much of a range to be at home on. Frank, a teacher, and Patricia, an Episcopal priest, live in Redford Town-

Back in the days when her work took her on long road trips alone, Patricia writes in the book's introduction, she began tuning in to country music stations on her car radio to while away the hours. Soon she discovered she'd taken a liking to "the stories told in song" she could pick up on radio stations across the nation.

Gilley's visit fateful

Then a few years ago, she and husband Frank traveled to Houston and found themselves wondering what to do one night out on the town.

As it happened, they visited Gilley's - of "Urban Cowboy" fame — and danced the night away. Then, they went home and discovered they had both become absolutely and completely hooked on country music. They couldn't seem to get enough of it. Soon they began looking for a guidebook to help them find the best and the most of it. Only one problem: no guidebook could be found.

So the resourceful couple decided to do their own research, conduct their own treasure hunt and, finally, put the guide together themselves.

Before long, they were combing the country, seeking answers to their questions, either firsthand, through correspondance with friends or via helpful country music experts.

Just where and when were the biggest and best annual country music festivals held? What were the hottest country music nightspots in the United States? What were the top country music recordings of all time? What radio staions kept country music fans entertained all night long?

Country publisher bites

One thing led to another. The book, at first selfpublished (under the title, "Travelin' Country"), grew so popular that the authors sought an outside publisher and found one quickly in Country Roads Press. Then they decided to enlarge and elaborate on the original publication - which was essentially a compilation of lists - and the "All American Guide" is the result.

The book illustrates delightfully what is one of the most important things about country music: its diversity and farflung roots. Country is bluegrass. Country is cowboy. Country is gospel music. Country is Cajun. Country is your basic, git-downat-the-Grand-Ole-Opry stuff. And these days, it's also over, under, around and through all of this, and a lot more besides.

In lively chapters written by the Eichenlaubs and other authorities on the subject, you can get closer to Cajun, meet the physician-cowboy-poet Kent Stockton, find out about the great bluegrass gospel music or go backstage at the Grand Ole Opry.

You can also get up-close-and-personal with country talk show host Ralph Emery, learn "Why Concert Tickets Cost So Much," find out more about the changing roles of women in the country music business or drop in on an aspiring music group from upstate New York who travel the country music roads in a 1988 Chevy Suburban (mileage: 80,000 plus). There's even a segment on how to dance the Texas Two-Step and a chapter on

"Country Food" (what it is and where to find it). If you're hankering to listen to some of the real thing as you read along, there's plenty to get you started here. The guide includes special compilations of 30 top bluegrass recordings, 10 Cajun classics, "The Ernest Tubb Record Shop List of Essential Recordings," "Twenty-five Old-Time Recordings," and "Spectrum Music Video Country Top 40" (number one is Alabama, "Greatest Hits"). "All American Guide to Country Music" is not yet available in bookstores, but you can order it through Country Roads Press, Box 286, Castine, Maine 04421. Price is $12.95, plus $3 shipping and handling.

Rivers' art flows with feeling

■ A lively exhibit by Larry Rivers at the Robert Kidd Gallery in Birmingham shows humor and other aspects of the artist's personality.

BY MARY KLEMIC STAFF WRITER

The walls are alive with the exhibit of paintings and drawings by Larry Rivers, continuing through Jan. 24 at the Robert Kidd Gallery in Birmingham. That's partly because of the images themselves, which seem to jump and sing in their spaces. That's partly because of the memories some of them generate. And that's partly because of the personality of the artist that comes through.

"They're active. They really are alive," said Ray Frost Fleming, Kidd Gallery director.

Both recent and earlier works by Rivers are on display at the gallery, 107 Townsend.

'He's what they call an artist's artist. Other artists really respected him."

Rivers, who was born in 1925, exploded on the art scene in the early 1950s with his plays on old master paintings and appropriated images from advertising.

He was amused that a cigar company used a Rembrandt painting to sell tobacco, and he added an artistic touch to that idea. He created oils and collages with images and logos for Dutch Masters, Camels and other tobacco products.

"Everybody thinks Andy Warhol (is) pop art. (Rivers) was actually pre-Andy Warhol.

"He's (Rivers) a very great appropriator. I think he has a great culture, what's being used, and makes art out of it."

One such example at the Kidd Gallery is "Seated Webster: Beyond Stature." The three-dimensional work resembles a large Webster cigar box, with the rest of the figure's body drawn under Webster's por-trait on the inside of the lid. The figure appears to be sitting in the ci-

Drawing is very strong in Rivers' art. His works have skeleton drawings that are fleshed out by the paint. In some of them, graph lines show through.

"I get the feeling that he's very, very intelligent but likes to cover it up by joking around."

Rivers didn't stick to one style. "He's the kind of guy who wants to try everything, taste everything."

When Rivers tried his hand at abstract art, "Summer of 1930" was one result. The work is a combination of broad strokes in deep, rich red, blue, white and black, and thin lines. It suggests different things, such as a woman's gartered leg, or someone holding a pair of glasses.

But once they are pointed out, the two heads in the background and the upraised foot in the foreground become apparent, and it is realized that the work shows one person pushing another in a swing.

Rivers' sculpted, dimensional paintings are more recent. One of these works at the gallery, "Berdie 35 Years Later," is a takeoff on cubism. The chair in which the woman (Rivers' mother-in-law) is sitting is shown as a series of geometric fragments, as seen in cubist art.

"Dancing With Bomberg's Dancer: Relief" features an image of Fred Astaire before a jazzy jumble of lines and shapes that convey a rhythmic, sophisticated feeling.

Hours are 10:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Tuesday-Saturday. Call 642-3909.

Start new year by sharpening art skills

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN SPECIAL WRITER

Basic birdcarving, quiltmaking or ceramic classes could enrich you with skills to hand craft gifts straight from the heart.

Start the New Year by learning to draw portraits of your grandchildren, weave baskets for holding flower arrangements or work clay into sculptures or a bowl for your pet.

Art and craft classes, covering a spectrum of media, begin in the next few weeks. From traditional painting, drawing and basket weaving to oriental brushwork, handprinting in relief and arteology, a hands-on study of art in different cultures, classes challenge creativeness and stretch the imagination for as little as $7 a week.

Along with weekly classes offered by area arts organizations, studios, businesses, high school/college adult education programs, parks and recreation departments and art clubs, students have options like one-day workshops and ongoing studies to fit the busiest schedules.

"One of the biggest classes this fall and on through this spring has been the twist paper, making the big angels and bunnies, baskets and a Valentine doll," said Dottie Johnson, owner of Which-Craft in Livonia.

Which-Craft, a full line arts and crafts shop, offers an array of classes, including watercolor, decorative painting with oils and acrylics, fabric painting, calligraphy, fabric-covered albums and lampshades, design-ashirt, Sculpy and Friendly Plastic.

"Friendly Plastic is used to make jewefry. It comes in 80 different colors and you heat it in a pan to shape it. The topselling book for the process is, Who Put My Jewelry in the Frying Pan," Johnson said.

Children as well as adults benefit from a boost in self-esteem from the classes. Beginning at pre-school age, art nourishes the soul and encourages a 'Yes, I can attitude.' Sculpy classes are so popular that on Saturday morning, we run them for the chil-

The duo will conclude their week with a oneday workshop on marketing your arts and crafts and painting with crumpled paper Aug. 21. For registration information for either offering,

Cranbrook showcases German graphics

BY MARY KLEMIC STAFF WRITER

The crumbling, collapsing Berlin Wall is arguably the strongest image of Germany in the 1980s.

But other images from Germany in that decade could come to mind after a visit to an exhibit continuing through Jan. 31 at the Cranbrook Academy of Art Museum, 500 Lone Pine, Bloomfield

The display, "Graphics of the '80s from the Federal Republic of Germany," features prints and photographs showing the diversity of German art.

Architecture is a theme that runs through many of the works. Gunther Forg presents prints of houses and windows, with clean, simple lines. His work also includes sheets with bold vertical lines. Markus Lupertz's linocuts, "Harlequin," feature a figure in a chair, so rigid it could be part of the chair.

Helmut Middendorf's silk-screen prints "Large Urban Head" and "Untitled" convey the feeling of the city. The former shows buildings in the background that become part of the large face dominating the scene. "Untitled" depicts a vague structure at night, partly supported by what resembles the silhouette of a human head.

Some artists use bright, sometimes primary, colors and sweeping strokes. Karl Horst Hodicke presents powerful silkscreen prints of a jaguar and of a hand holding a dismembered arm. Rainer Fetting's untitled silkscreen suggests a figure holding a blazing fire in its hand.

Katharina Sieverding's color

photograph "Gazing at the Sun Around Midnight" features faces partly coated in red. By comparison, the silkscreen works of Walter Dahn suggest childlike inno-cence. His "Big Brother" shows stick figures before a tower topped by a head that looks out over them. "Hornets," with a black background, shows elongated human and insect figures. One insect may be inserting a wing into the human's ears.

Other events at the museum explore contemporary cultural practices in the German arts. (A symposium Nov. 21 featured six internationally prominent scholars.) A series, "German Films of the 1980s," continues 2 p.m. Sundays to Jan. 31. A four-part series, "Video Art 1976-1990, The German Contribution: A Selection," will be shown at 2 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 23 and 30.

Both series are shown in the deSalle Auditorium at the museum. Costs are covered with general museum admission. The events and exhibit are sponsored by the Goethe-Institut in Ann Arbor.

The museum is open for general viewing 1-5 p.m. Wednesday-Sunday. Admission is $3 for adults, $2 for children, senior citizens and full-time students, free for children younger than 7 and museum members. Call 645-3312.

German-born artist states his case for public art

BY MARY KLEMIC STAFF WRITER

"The funny thing is in Germany and Europe they always called me the American German. In Detroit they called me the German all the time.'

So said artist Georg Ettl, who emigrated to Detroit from his native Germany when he was 18. He studied literature, philosophy and art at Wayne State University and the Sorbonne in Paris, lectured at WSU and Macomb Community College, and was associated with Detroit's Cass Corridor artists before he returned to the Federal Republic of Germany in German art draws from a variety of sources, both the emotional, free and the architectural, rational mainstreams. The Cranbrook exhibit, "Graphics of the '80s from the Federal Republic of Germany," is a good representation of this, Ettl said in an interview.

"I think it's a very good reflection of the German kind of mind, the German thought," said the artist, whose studio is in a small town (population 40,000) near the Dutch border. "I like to do something that (has the) possibility someone else can build on it."

The progression of German art was interrupted by the war, as some artists fled. It is now where it should have been after the war.

He preferred the "direct visual image" of graphics. "I spent most of my life drawing . . . I draw everything first.'

The Cranbrook exhibit includes Ettl's silkscreen print triptych of a head with various hats. The triptych is a traditional form often used with sacred art. Ettl's heads in profile have a contemporary look. An architectural influence is seen in their shelf-like

In Germany, the government subsidized the arts through a program that said 2 percent of any public building had to go to the arts.

The program didn't work because "art was considered an afterthought." This was the fault of the artists, who should have insisted on working with the architect from the beginning, Ettl said.

Ettl does a lot of art work in squares and other public spaces. You find nothing has changed when you constantly do gallery work year after year, he said. Public art work deals more with bureaucracy and compromise.

"I do work with museums and galleries but in a very limited way. When you work in a public space it's a completely different ball game. You have to be a little more humble (and have) nerves of steel sometimes."

Ettl recently worked on a castle in France that is being transformed into a museum for contemporary art. He depicted the favorite horses of Henry II. The response from local residents delighted the artist.

"I never had so many people (comment on a work). They really loved this work. (It was) something they could identify with."

Ettl disagrees with critics who say public art must be diluted. Viewers who have less education in art tend to be much more honest, he said.

The artist was glad to be back in the Detroit area.

Tryouts cater to ballet students

Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp will hold auditions in January and February for ballet students who want to participate in the summer arts school's 1993 dance program.

The 90-minute auditions, which include a masterclass, will be conducted by Jefferson Baum, director of the West Michigan fine arts camp's dance program.

Following are the dates, time and location of local auditions:

■ Dearborn Heights — 1 p.m. Jan. 17 at the Milligan School of Ballet, 24355 Joy.

Ann Arbor — 4 p.m. Jan. 17 at Studio No. 1 of the School of Dance, 220 S. Main.

Baum, who has been principal dancer with several ballet companies in the U.S. and Europe and recently toured Russia with a group from the New York City Ballet and American Ballet Theatre, is in his fourth year as director of Blue Lake's dance program.

The auditions are being held to select 80 students for Blue Lake's advanced ballet and intermediate dance programs.

program, which begins June 29 and ends July 25, is for junior and senior high school students. Enrollment is limited to 20 students. This marks the fourth year Blue Lake has offered advanced training in classical ballet. A total of 60 students will be enrolled in two intermediate dance programs. The first twoweek session for high school students will be July 27 to Aug. 8 while the second session for junior high students will be from Aug. 10-22.

Blue Lake, on an 800-acre campus about 15 miles north of Muskegon, is one of the U.S.'s largest summer arts schools. In addition to dance, it offers programs in music, theater and art.

All dance students are required to audition for acceptance in the program. The cost of participating in the audition/masterclass is $8. ### Broock leads state Realtor association

BY DOUG FUNKE STAFF WRITER

This year should shape up as especially eventful in the professional career of Bowen R. Broock. Broock, president and chief executive officer of a real estate firm founded by his grandfather, Max, will serve as president of the Michigan Association of Realtors. "Our theme for 1993 has everything to do with communication,' Broock said. "We have a logo that says Let's Connect. We'd like to shine our light a

"We're going to introduce a new computer system this year,' Broock added. "It's like a bulletin board system electronically linking an agent at his desk to a very broad information network at the state association.

"A glimpse of the future shows that brokers and associates will increasingly rely on electronic media to stay abreast of the market and assist in promotion," he said.

Broock, 58, is a GRI, Graduate dential specialist and a certified residential broker. He's a director of the National Association of Realtors and a past president of the Birmingham-Bloomfield Board of Realtors.

Broock also recently was named to the board of directors of RELO/The International Relocation Network, a worldwide association of independent owners not affiliated with franchise opera-

Dissatisfied condo owner may have case against seller

ROBERT M.

Since I bought my condominium a year ago, I have been trying to sell it because the condominium association is not enforcing the bylaws and is allowing co-own ers to intentionally create damage to the common areas. The co-owners across the hall from me have warped the condominium doors with continuous slamming and have disturbed my selling prospects to the extent that it has killed every sales at-

I also was not aware of a major suit that the association was involved in with the municipality and a neighboring industrial firm when I purchased. I was also not advised of the percentage of rentals in the buildings at the time of purchase. What can I do?

To the extent that the seller of the condominium unit did 'not disclose material information that would have had an effect on your purchase of the condominium unit, you may have a cause of action against the seller. It also appears that the board or the managing agent is lax in regard to enforcing the condominium documents against the residents, particularly as it relates to the protection of common element property and the deprivation of your rights as a member of the association from excessive noise.

I would write a letter to the board demanding that it take action against the co-owners involved, threatening legal action should that not be done. I would also point out to the board that you will hold it and the association responsible for the damages you are sustaining in being unable to sell your unit because of the failure of the part of the association to enforce the rules and restrictions.

our other board members have their head in the sand. All they are concerned about is whether the co-owners at the condominium will find difficulty with them or criticize them because we need to raise the assessments. They don't seem to care about their fiduciary duties. How can I instill in them the need to be businesslike in the operation of the association?

Call your insurance carrier and have it provide you with documented figures in regard to the number of liability lawsuits that are being brought against boards of directors for mismanagement, the reasonable needs of the asso- sis. ciation.

You are correct that too many boards are overly concerned with what other co-owners will think of them when they raise assessments. My experience in more than 20 years of law practice dictates that those same people who scream the loudest about the increase in assessments will be the first in line to sue the board it if does not do its job properly. Directors of associations have a fiduciary duty to run the business in a proper fashion. You are correct in your concerns, which

New president: Fred Capaldi of Rochester Hills will serve as president of the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan this year. "You never quit learning about your business," he said. "You've got to read, attend meetings, find out what's going on."

Builder pushes continuing education

■ Cooperation between builders and the community on growth/ no-growth issues is among items on the agenda of the newly elected president of the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan.

By Doug Funke

Fred Capaldi, a Rochester Hills builder and resident, can recall more than 25 years after the fact how he happened to join what was then nown as the Builders Association of Metropolitan Detroit.

"My dad, M. Fred, had been a member many years ago but, frankly, I forgot why he dropped out," Capaldi said. "We got a call from Dick Forbush of Kimball & Russell, a supplier. He invited us to join. "I asked my dad, 'What do you think?'

"He asked, 'Are you going to make this a profession?

"I answered, 'Yes, I'm going to be a builder.

"Then join a professional builder's association," he said. "It gives you professional credibility. Attorneys, doctors have their own. It says you're a professional.' "

Now, Capaldi, 49, is incoming president of the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan, which he said is the third largest nationally with some 1.750 members.

"Going to meetings, national and state conventions, I always learn something, whether it's a legislative matter coming up or a seminar to v to do something, paldi said. "I think it's made a better businessman out of me.

"I don't care what you're in — journalism, medicine or building - you never quit learning about your business," he said. "You've got to read, attend meetings, find out what's going on.

Annual dues - $420 for builders, suppliers and service organizations like financial institutions and utilities, $345 for subcontractors - provide professional staff assistance, discounts on office supplies and insurances, publications, and seminars. he said.

Capaldi said he annually builds about 10 custom houses ranging from $175,000 to $600,000 on scattered lots. Remodeling and restoration projects now account for about 40 percent of his work, he said.

At one time, Capaldi thought that he might want to be a doctor. But he found himself attracted to the Wall Street Journal and real estate publications more than biology and chemistry texts and eventually earned a degree in economics from the University of Detroit. "I started working when I was 12 and I've done everything on a job site plumbing, electrical, roofing — except excavating," Capaldi said. "And I will do that, too. At the same time, I've done everything in the office.

"I like to do things with my hands," he said. "As a teenager, I had a good buddy and we were always building things like cars with lawnmower engines. I was always building something.

"I'd spend hours playing with an Erector set. I had a summer job all the time, a weekend job. We talked about building at the dinner table. I guess I was drawn in and never knew it was happening.

Capaldi's goals as BASM president are straightforward.

"I still think we're facing issues like wetlands and woodlands. We'd like to add our input to communities when they're writing ordinances .

so others can see what our problems are and we can write ordinances that are fair and equitable to everybody.

"One of the main things I'd like to see happen is cooperation between builders and the community on growth where everyone is happy. I think we've made some real strides and I'd like to carry that further.

"Good growth, instead of explosiveness, is steady, something that blends in with the community," he said. "It's cooperative and tries to meet demands of people moving into the community."

Capaldi also wants to provide more professional enhancement opportunities for builders and expand the membership rolls.

Capaldi's wife, Barbara, is office manager for the family-owned building company. Son, Tim, a student at Lawrence Technological University. has expressed interest in joining the business. Daughters Marisa, Angela and Cristi have other interests.

When not building or participating in BASM activities Capaldi likes to play tennis and golf and tinker.

"Any time spent in this association is an education," he said. "You don't have to put in a lot if you don't want to, but the more you put in, the more you get out."

Architect welcomes industry upturn

BY R.J. KING SPECIAL WRITER

The lamps are beginning to glow in greater numbers over drafting tables and in design studios as the architectural profession slowly recovers from one of the industry's worst down-

As the economy fell into a recession, and a glut of office space outpaced demand, the trauma of pink slips and red ink forced many architects to rethink the way they did business, or whether to stay in business at all.

"We see some signs that we're coming out of the downturn. There are more proposals out there, and health care still remains a viable market,' said Gary Skog, vice president and principal with Harley Ellington Pierce Yee Associates in Southfield.

Skog, who was recently selected president of the metro Detroit chapter of the American Institute of Architects for a one-year term, said firms in business today have survived due to diversification and a demand for educational and large corporate facilities.

But other markets - industrial, office, residential and retail - are slow, as many firms continue to downsize and banks hold fast on lending, though the banking industry recently reported 1992 would be its most profitable year, leading some to project more favorable credit opportu-

revises home sales methodology

(AP) - Sales of new homes in November dropped sharply for the second consecutive month, but economists said the number probably was depressed by a fluke in government statistical methods.

Sales fell 8.3 percent, the worst since March, the departments of Commerce and Housing and Urban Development said Wednesday. That came on top of an 8.2 percent drop in October, originally reported as a 10.3 percent decline.

Economists complain that the department's statistical methods were doing an inadequate job of estimating the number of new homes that are "pre-sold" before construction begins. That type of sale is becoming increasingly more common because banks and savings institutions in recent years have become reluctant to make construction loans unless builders line up buyers in advance.

For the past 14 months, the government has underreported the number of new home sales and has increased its estimate every time. It said Wednesday it was changing its methods, starting with next month's re-

"There's little doubt that the November figure will get revised up,' said economist David Seiders of the National Association of Home Builders. "Hopefully, starting next month the pattern of errors won't be as sys-

Sales in November totaled a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 565,000, the lowest in six months and down from a rate of 616,000 in October. The latest drop in new home sales stands in contrast to a 5.8-percent increase in sales of existing homes in November to the highest level since 1986. Economist Leonard Mills of the Federal National Mortgage Association said he expects 1993 will be the best year for existing home sales since 1979. New home sales also should be up, but not as strongly.

"What we need to get that, and we've started to see a little bit of it already, is some job growth," he said.

He said the expected continuation of low mortgage rates should contribute to healthy sales. Interest charged on 30-year, fixed-rate mortgages, as reported by the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corp., hit a 19-year low of 7.84 percent in mid-September. It rose to 8.32 percent by late November but has since declined to 8.13 per-

At the end of November, the seasonally adjusted estimate of new homes for sale was 267,000, representing a 5.9 months supply at the current sales pace, the biggest supply

Sales for the first 11 months of the year were 19 percent above the same period of 1991.

The median price of a new home in November, meaning half sold for more and half for less, was $128,800, up 4.9 percent from October and 8.7

percent from a year ago. Regionally, sales dropped 18.5 per-cent in the South to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 229,000. They fell 9.1 percent in the West to a rate of 150,000 units. They were unchanged in the Midwest at 113,000 units and rose 28 percent in the Northeast to credit practices following an overhaul of the tax laws in 1986, and the aftermath of the savingsand-loan crisis, both of which severely curtailed new building prospects.

The orders began picking up in late October, and new programs from auto makers and suppliers are starting to perk up, but some of those, like emission testing labs, are being driven by government legislation," said Skog, a Bloomfield Hills resident.

"Right now, our firm is in the hiring mode. Some projects which were shelved by the state are just now loosening up, and in the future we'll see more university projects, due in part to major fund-raising campaigns."

Skog was speaking to the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor, which recently announced a major fund drive - Partners in Leadership - that will attempt to raise $1 billion over the next five years. Other state universities have announced similar campaigns.

Meanwhile, area residents can expect to see several new buildings break the skyline of statebased universities. A $38 million science and technology building is planned for Oakland University in Rochester. Saginaw Valley State University in Saginaw is expected to open a $18 million building for the business school, while Central Michigan University in Mount Pleasant has proposed a building for the music

All of the projects are being designed by Harley Ellington, which has 155 employees and affiliated offices in Denver, Orlando and Los Angeles. The firm was founded in Detroit in 1908, with one of its most famed designs the headquarters for the original Stroh's Brewery Co.

Skog, who succeeds Robert Ziegelman, chairman of Luckenbach Ziegelman and Partners, Birmingham, said he plans to create stronger ties with architects of the future by encouraging more student-professional interaction at schools like Lawrence Technological University in Southfield.

"We also want to be more responsive to our membership, especially among smaller firms, which often have different needs and interests than larger firms, as well as providing continuing education programs," said Skog of the 1,000-member Detroit chap-

Currently, the AIA is lobbying legislators in Lansing to bring more uniformity to building licenses. There is also a great need to streamline code inspections, as many cities and communities have cut back on inspectors due to financial considerations.

Chemicals pose disposal problem

You may have more hazardous substances in your home than you

Leftover paint, household cleaners, bug spray and weed killers are examples of hazardous wastes. Flushing them down the drain can damage sewage treatment systems. Putting them out with the garbage sends them to the landfill where they eventually seep into ground water.

If you can't use up a potentially hazardous product, think of someone who can, such as schools, neighbors or churches.

Call your local health department, recycling center or environmental agency to see if they organize collection drives. If they do, make sure the wastes are in sealed, watertight containers. If a container is rusting or leaking, put it in a larger, secure contain-

If your community doesn't have collection drive, call the local health department or your county's Cooperative Extension Service to find out the best way to dispose of hazardous products.

Always follow state regulations in disposing of hazardous materials. You can also reduce the amount of these substances in your home by buying only what you need; if possible, choose alternatives that are known to be less

Keep abreast of information about the disposal of hazardous materials. Always follow disposal directions on package labels.

Here's how you can discard common household products that may be hazardous in your own

Empty aerosol cans and abrasive powder cleaners can be thrown out with the garbage. Rinse containers with water before disposal. Aerosol cans should go out only with garbage that will go to a sanitary landfill instead of being incinerated.

You can dilute small amounts of certain chemicals with plenty of water and pour them down a drain or toilet - but not if you have a septic system. These include lye drain and oven cleaner, lye paint and varnish stripper, phosphate paintbrush cleaner. and phosphoric acid rust remover.

Some substances or items should be wrapped in newspapers and plastic before going into household refuse. In this category are mildew cleaner containers and warfarin-type rat- or mouse-poison packages.

Certain substances can be allowed to evaporate before disposal but be sure this is done away from children or pets. These include gasoline, solvent- or water-base glue, mineral spirits, turpentine, latex paint, paint remover or thinner, and spot remover solvent. When evaporated, doublewrap in plastic and dispose with household refuse.

Leftover latex paint, can also be solidified by adding an absorbent material such as cat litter, sand, charcoal or sawdust. When it's dry, wrap the container twice in plastic and then place it with household trash.

There are a host of wastes that should not be discarded with your regular trash:

Save degreasing chemicals, filidifying or evaporating), flea collars, and fluorescent lamp ballasts that are pre-1978 or without a label saying they contain no PCBs for a special collection day or consult your local Cooperative Extension Service.

Classes will be held for eight three-hour sessions over four weeks held in conjunction with community education divisions of local school districts.

"The course is really a course in preventive strategies," Lawson Lawson said. "It helps the consumer avoid pitfalls and helps people talk the same language as building professionals so there are few unpleasant surprises.

Better sales, reputations ride on show

The most important introductions at the 1993 North American International Auto Show have nothing to do with hand-

For the automotive executives, designers, engineers and staff responsible for the more than 25 vehicles that will make their debut at this year's show, the result of years of sweating the details on cars they have developed will come under public scrutiny for the first time as their pet projects are introduced to the world.

Millions of dollars in vehicle investment, not to mention reputations and careers, are riding on the success or failure of new or upgraded models.

The extent of the general public's reaction to their efforts may only entail a long glance before they move on to the next car. But there will be thousands of journalists, designers, engineers, and executives roaming the aisles and more critically checking the offerings of the auto companies.

"The cars introduced in Detroit are some of the most important models on the market, including those introduced at the Tokyo and Frankfurt shows,"said Kathleen Hamilton, senior editor of Automobile magazine. "It's interesting to see the public reaction to them as well as hear the executives' opinions on them.

A few thousand auto executives from around the world are planning to attend the 1993 auto show, according to Showtalk, a publication of the Detroit Auto Dealers Association. They will join the general public in looking at more than 750 cars and trucks that will be on display from the world's manufacturers.

The show brings everyone in the auto industry out of the woodwork - and auto dealers look for customers to come out of hibernation in what would otherwise be a so-so wintertime

"At this time of year, we al-ways look for a little boost from the auto show, and hope things improve," said John Hofstra, new car sales manager for George Matick Chevrolet in Redford.

Said Jeff Rogers, assistant general sales manager for Don Massey Cadillac in Plymouth: 'We find that the auto show stimulates an interest in new cars, not just Cadillacs, but all

Added Bob Faust, General Sales Manager of Dick Scott Dodge in Plymouth: "The auto show always stimulates interest, generally a week or two after the show. The holidays are over, there are usually new products, and I think the show creates some excitement."

The Detroit auto show added the "international" to its moniker in 1989 when area auto dealers and manufacturers decided the show should move into a new direction.

The show went beyond being just a blip on the automotive showcase circuit to a huge event for 40 auto manufacturers worldwide. It is now an event that appeals to die-hard afficianados who fly in to Detroit because they can't wait to see a new car introduced, and to the lunch bucket crowd that wants to check out new vehicles that are all conveniently under one

Following are new vehicles making worldwide debuts in the 1993 North American Interna-tional Auto Show: ASC Buick Park Avenue Touring Car, ASC Park Avenue Touring Car, ASC Cadillac Seville 2 door, ASC Ford Ranger Rap Around, ASC LT1 Spyder Corvette, ASC Saturn 4-2 Convertible, Chevrolet Highlander Concept, Chrysler LHS Concept, Chrysler New Yorker, Chrysler Thunderbolt Concept, Dodge Ram, GMC Truck Santa Fe Concept, Hyundai HCD-II, Jeep ECCO Concept Vehicle, Lexus GS 300, Lincoln-Mercury Villager Con-Lincoln-Mercury Villager Con-cept, Plymouth Prowler Concept, Pontiac Grand Prix GTP Concept, and Porshe Concept.

New vehicles making their North American debut include ASC Nissan 300ZX (with articulating hardtop), Bentley Brooklands, Bugatti EB 110, Isuzu Trooper RS, Jaguar XJR-S, Mitsubishi 1994 Galant, Porsche 911 Speedster, Range Rover County with sport pack age, Rolls-Royce Corniche IV Convertible, Toyota AXV-III Concept, and the Volkswagen Jetta GLX.

The redesigned 1993 Ford Probe GT appearing at the North American International Auto Show has been redesigned on the outside, and will offer a new twin-cam, 24-valve V-6 under the hood. The 164 hp engine has a cast aluminum block and cylinder heads, and will be mated to a standard five-speed manual transaxle. An electronically controlled four-speed automatic transaxle is optional. The people at Motor Trend obviously liked the Probe: they named it their 1993 Car of the Year.

General Motors' 1,400 pound Ultralite is a working prototype of a high-mileage, four-door passenger car that debuted in 1992. The Ultralite isn't intended for actual production but is a test machine to explore materials and efficient systems. The car can achieve 100 miles per gallon at 50 miles per hour cruising speed, powered by an experimental 173-pound three-cylinder two-stroke engine. It's lightweight carbon fiber body is similar to materials used in jet fighter bodies.

Concept cars: perennial favorites

One of the feature attractions at any auto show are concept cars, those sleek, futuristic, and often radical products of an auto designer's imagination.

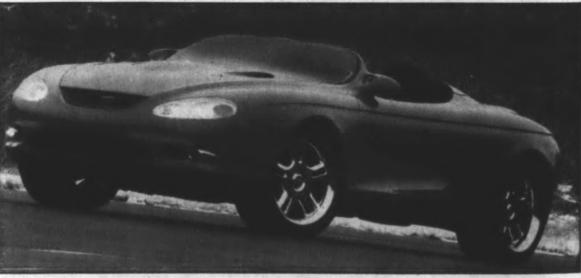

Detroit's 1993 North American International Auto Show will again have those car concepts on display. Who knows what variations of the cars will actually make it into production. Will the concepts become forgotten, or the shape of things to come?

Automakers pour millions into concept cars every year, and they undoubtedly must give designers a sense of pride when their car - or at least a concept that results from it - makes it into production.

On this page you will find some of the automakers' offerings that will be on display.

The Jeep ECCO is Chrysler's concept of an aerodynamic, "environmentally aware" car that will be easy on gas and most assuredly easy to fit into tight parking spots. The ECCO produces 85 horsepower powered by a lean-burn 1.5-liter, 2-stroke engine. The vehicle is constructed of recyclable aluminum and plastic components. The car carries on some of the Jeep go-anywhere, do-anything tradition, with high ground clearance, great use of glass, and wheels on the corners of the vehicle to give stability and maneuverability under any road condition.

Ford went back to the future in designing their Mustang Mach III concept car, which the company says, "blends the styling cues of the classic (1965) Mustang with Ford's state-of-the-art design and technology." The open air roadster features sculpted body panels, a short, low windshield, a wraparound rear bumper, cat's eye headlamps, and 19-inch, five-spoke chrome wheels. Look for a three-spoke, wood-rimmed steering wheel, leather-trimmed seats, and highoutput speakers mounted directly behind the head restraints. The Mach III is equipped with a supercharged 4.6 liter, 4-valve, V8 engine that can develop 450 horsepower. The engine works in conjunction with a six speed manual transmission with overdrive. It registers a 0-60 mph time of 4.5 seconds. "It's no secret that our new Mustang is coming and there's no doubt that people will readily recognize some of the styling cues from the Mach III," said Ford designer Fritz Mayhew.

The Hyundai HCD-II is a pro-totype that will be unveiled at the North American International Auto Show in Detroit. The sports coupe features extensive use of ultra-light composites, front-wheel drive, four-wheel disc brakes, ABS, traction control, dual airbags, a 2.0 liter engine, and a collision-avoidance system.

You can slide out of winter driving hazards

Winter in Michigan has its advantages: there's plenty of good skiing and ice skating, and all the mosquitos die.

But driving in snow, ice, and slush isn't one of the good parts of living in a winter wonderland. How many people have you heard say, "I have never been so scared in my life," after a winter driving experience?

To help motorists drive a little more confidently when Old Man Winter hits, automaker Saab has offered a few tips:

• Clear the windows!

Motorists sometimes drive around in veritable rolling igloos with no more than a peep hole in the windshield. If scraping ice from the glass isn't sufficient, wait for the car to fully warm up and keep the defroster on.

- A seemingly clear and dry road may also have a treacherous covering of black ice, which forms as a clear, thin layer that's difficult to see. Bridges and overpasses are especially susceptible to black ice. One way to avoid problems is to always drive at a speed slightly below that which you are certain you can handle your car safely.
- Avoid sudden maneuvers while driving under slippery conditions. Sudden acceleration may cause wheel spin, and the increase in road speed will be negligible. Ragardless of the steering efforts of the driver, a front-wheel drive car will tend to go straight ahead.
- Sudden braking and locking of the wheels will have about the same effect as wheel spin. The locked wheels will lose all lateral stabilizing effect, the car will not respond to the steering and it will skid, possibly sideways.
- Skidding is best avoided by slowing down before a bend and taking the curve at steady throttle. Skidding is usually caused by the speed of the car being too high. If your speed is too high, don't panic: don't brake heavily and don't jerk the steering wheel.
- For a rear-wheel skid, Saab suggests steering in the same direction as the rear wheels are skidding; this applies to either a front-wheel or rear-wheel drive car. In a skid, take your foot off the accelerator and depress the clutch, if so equipped. Wait until the rear wheels have stopped skidding and then steer the car gently back, so that the front wheels point straight ahead when the rear wheels are back on course. Release the clutch and depress the accelerator gently so the engine speed matches the road speed, and accelerate gently. On rearwheel drive cars, be careful not to over-correct the first skid.

Big 3 execs share stage at economic club lunch

The chief executive officers of the Big Three auto companies will be guest speakers at the Economic Club of Detroit during the 1993 North American International Auto Show's press

It will be the first time the CEOs of Chrysler Corp., Ford Motor Co. and General Motors Corp. will appear together in a public forum.

The speakers offer a mix of the incoming and the outgoing. Robert Eaton will have been chairman and chief executive officer of Chrysler for only a week when he appears at the Economic Club. Formerly vice chairman of Chrysler, Eaton succeeds Lee Iacocca.

GM President John F. "Jack" Smith, Jr. assumed his role in November. Ford Chairman Harold "Red" Poling will retire in 1993.

The luncheon will be held on Friday, Jan. 8, the day before the public opening of the auto show at Cobo Center.

correct than a rear-wheel drive skid. Saab suggests that you don't move the steering wheel. Take your foot off the accelerator and depress the clutch pedal, if so equipped. Since the wheels are skidding sideways, they exert a certain braking effort. Wait for the front wheels to grip again. As soon as the speed has dropped off enough, the car will start to steer again. Release the clutch and accelerate gently.

and accelerate gently.

Don't lock the wheels when braking. When a wheel is heavily braked, heat will be generated by the friction between the tire and the road surface. The surface of the ice will then melt immediately under the tire, which becomes a lubricating surface of water.

• Hydroplaning takes place when water causes a car's tires to lose contact with the road surface. A wedge of water forms in front of the tire because the water is not being expelled towards the rear and to the sides of the tread. The car becomes completely uncontrollable. The weapons against hydroplaning are primarily good tires, proper tire pressure and low speeds. The wider the tire, the greater the risk of hydroplaning.

However competent a driver you are, getting stuck in the snow is not uncommon. The most important thing to remember is, never spin the driving wheels. Spinning the tires creates a polished surface underneath, and you may become firmly stuck. If you get in such a rut, switch off the fan, radio, windshield wipers, and other distractions, open the window and listen to the engine speed. Use any grip the car may have to struggle forward or backward. Change between forward and reverse and rock the car out.

The year 1993 has long had a red circle around it on the Chrysler Corporation's calen-

This is the year the pentastar company introduces the product line expected to define the company in the 1990s: the Dodge In-trepid, Chrysler Concorde and Eagle Vision. They're codenamed the LH sedans, and about $1.5 billion has been spent on their production.

"Our new LH sedans have been developed to be worldclass in every respect, taking on the best'competitors in their class, regardless of whether they're from Japan, Europe or America," said Chrysler Chairman Lee lacocca.

Chrysler has positioned its LH line to compete against world-class sedans in the world like the Ford Taurus and Honda Accord. An expanse of interior room was made possible by pushing the rear wheels rearward on the vehicle, while extending the base of the windshield forward. The car line also features dual air bags, antilock brakes on most models, a 113-inch wheelbase, and a more rigid body. Other features include:

• Chrysler's first domestical ly-produced 24-valve engine, a new, multi-point injected 3.5 liter SOHC V-6 with 214 horsepower will be offered standard on the Vision Tsi and optional on all other models. A standard 3.3 liter V-6 is also offered.

 Intrepid, Concorde and Vision will offer five passenger seating with front bucket seats. Intrepid will also offer a frontbench seat arrangement for sixPassenger capacity.
 The climate control system is totally new, and Chrysler calls it the "most versatile and powerful system yet devised" by

• A cab-forward design, which entails taking the entire interior cabin of a vehicle and moving it forward, extending the windshield over the front wheels, while moving the rear wheels closer to the rear of the car. Interior space is thus increased.

Each car line was designed with its own identity: the sporty Intrepid, the tough Vision, and the upscale Concorde. The cars will be built in Chrysler's Bramalea, Ont. plant, and the engines will be manufactured at the Trenton Engine Plant.

Of the Intrepid, Car and Driver magazine said: "In a word, Chrysler's futuristic four-door is a keeper." The magazine had relatively minor beefs about the stereo and climate control knobs, wind and road noise leaks, and a jerky cruise control. But overall, "The Intrepid in ES trim is terrifically roomy and comfortable, yet reassuringly quick and poised - indeed Intrepid," the publication said.

According to Bob Faust, general sales manager for Dick Scott Dodge in Plymouth, the LH cars arrived on his showroom floor in November, and the cost, depending on options, ranges from $16,000 to $24,000.

The LH series is probably the most fabulous car ever put out by the Big Three," Faust said. "It offers superior quality and value." He said initially, production has been slow so the automaker can maintain quali-

"The LH in one sense, is our chance to re-establish the feeling that we can perform in the car business as well as anybody," said Francois J. Castaing, vice president - Vehicle Engineering. "That's our primary objective. Of course, it's not a make or break proposition for the company because it's only one car line. We're not betting the company, but sure enough we're betting our self-esteem.'

Service more of a selling point

Keeping the customer satisfied has not always been atop the list of automakers' priori-

When American-made cars were the only show in town, automakers and dealers could afford to let service slip. Service after the sale, a knowledgeable sales staff, and the use of quality components could not always be counted on.

As we fast forward to 1993, the situation has turned around 180 degrees. There are still poor dealers and poor products, but automakers know and appreciate that customers aren't buying as many cars as they did 20 years ago, and have plenty of other cars to choose from next time if they aren't satisfied now with their service.

"Customer satisfaction has eclipsed fuel economy, quality, and even safety as the top concern of virtually every manufacturer selling automobiles and light trucks in the American market," Oldsmobile proclaims. The GM division touts its Oldsmobile Edge plan as "the most comprehensive guarantee of customer satisfaction available in the U.S. market.'

Oldsmobile: provides corrosion protection for six years or 100,000 miles; covers towing charges (except for parking infractions); provides roadside repairs, and offers courtesy transportation while the car is undergoing warranty repair.

If you're 150 or more miles from home and your car breaks down, Olds will cover food and lodging expenses up to $500.

Cadillac offers a four-year, 50,000-mile protection on covered parts with no deductible, plus a six-year, 100,000-mile corrosion protection warranty.

In addition, all Cadillacs, regardless of the model year, are covered by 24-hour roadside service for the life of the vehicle. The service is available at 585 Cadillac dealerships nationwide without any membership fee for the life of the vehicle.

Trained telephone operator advisors are available 24 hours to provide assistance and information to Cadillac owners that could put the driver back on the road without sending a technician. In the event of a more complex problem, a dealer technician is dispatched to repair the problem roadside, or towing will be arranged.

Other available services available at no cost in the first 12 months of new ownership include lockout assistance, gasoline delivery, towing, battery jump starts, and flat tire changes.

For Allante, service includes a four-year, 50,000-mile protection warranty with supplemental Gold Key Plus bumper-tobumper coverage, which extends coverage to a seven-year, 100,000-mile protection on covered parts with no deductible.

'Cadillac is seriously commited to service after the sale," said Jeff Rogers, assistant general sales manager for Don Massey Cadillac in Plymouth. "We find that customers coming in the door don't know about the service, but when they buy a car, it gives them a real sense of assurance knowing they have it." The "Audi Advantage" offers

Van conversions on display

In addition to cars and trucks from manufacturers around the world, the 1993 North American International Auto Show will include one of the largest retail displays of van conversions in North America.

Twenty companies will display about 35 van conversions on the lower level of Cobo Hall during the auto show, as they have done for more than a decade. Van conversions are sold through retail car dealers.

"The auto show is important to our dealers because it sells a lot of van conversions," said Daniel Hayes, executive vice president of the Detroit Auto Dealers Association. "We've received reports of dealers selling as many as 50 van conver-sions in the two weeks following the show."

car-buyers expense-free scheduled maintenance and routine repairs for three years or 50,000 miles throughout its model line. Audi also offers a 10-year limited warranty against corrosion and 24-hour roadside assistance through a club membership. Pontiac has enhanced its customer service by expanding its roadside assistance services (including finding someone to change your flat tire or to reme-dy a locked-out of car or lost-key situation free-of-charge), and new courtesy transportation during 1993 model year warranty repairs.

Ford tries to build on Ranger's success

Trying to make what's been a success even better, designers at Ford Motor Co. have given a slippery new look and made mechanical improvements to the 1993 Ford Ranger.

The nation's best-selling compact pickup truck the past six years, the Ranger is "a truck for the 90s and beyond. The 1993 Ford Ranger blends Ford Compact toughness and versatility with contemporary styling and car-like comfort and convenience," said Ford Vice President Ross H. Roberts.

The Ranger received a total facelift: a new hood, headlamps, grille, bumper, and an optional front valance panel. The hood is lower than on earlier Ranger models and there are four more inches of overhang.

New sheet metal and flush glass contribute to vehicle aerodynamics and reduces wind noise. New cast aluminum wheels and tri-color taillamps round out the new look. The four-wheel-drive models have an even more aggressive appear-

The Ranger line offers three different types of engines, a 2.3 liter, four-cylinder Twin Plug engine; the 4.0 liter V6, while the 4x4 offers Ford's 3.0 liter 145 horsepower V6.

Underneath, suspension and steering systems have been modified to accomodate the pickup's wider stance.

Car and Driver complimented "neatly laid out" interior of the Ranger, a 4.0 liter engine with more than enough power to 'stave off embarrassment," and a "reasonably quiet" cabin. C/D panned the pickup's rear-end bounce on severe bumps and the cab's lack of space.

But the magazine concluded,"A good thing has been made much better."

Saturn welcomes wagon family

Changes in this year's offerings from Saturn will be significant in 1993, the car line's third model year.

Saturn debuts a new family of wagons and a "high-value" coupe - which join a Saturn sedan and a performance-oriented coupe. Saturn now offers seven models. A driver's side airbag will be installed on all seven models in 1993. Saturn also offers a new optional traction control system to improve driving on slippery surfaces.

Saturn's SW1 and SW2 wagons are extensions of the fourdoor line. When the split folding rear seat backs are lowered, the wagons' cargo volume is 56.3 cubic feet. With the seats up, volume is 28.8 cubic feet. Modifications were made to the sedan's spaceframe to accommodate the design of the larger rear cargo

Last year's single coupe model is renamed SC2 for 1993, while "SC1" has been reserved for the entry-level SC1. Both models share the same space frame and a 99.2 inch wheelbase, but the SC1 has different fenders and exposed headlamps. The Saturn SL/SL1 sedans, SW1 wagon, and SC1 coupe are powered by a 1.9-liter singleoverhead cam four cylinder. Saturn's SL2 sedans, SW2 wagons and SC2 coupes have a single dual overhead cam variant of the 1.9-liter design, fitted with 16 valves.

In reviewing the SW2 station wagon, Motor Trend said they were "most impressed" by progress made in quieting the car's 16-valve engine, calling it "smooth, powerful, and well-be-haved." They also complimented the car's "sprightly han-dling" and "pleasant ride." The magazine had a beef with rear seat room, but overall, dubbed it a "nifty piece with attractive styling.

The '93 Camaro: a new look

Since its introduction on Sept. 18, 1966, the Chevrolet Camaro has survived, occasionally thrived, and undergone more facelifts than Phyllis Orignally designed and built to take on the Ford Mustang, the Camaro has entered and reentered phases of being a muscle car, econo-cruiser, and refined sports car.

At the 1993 Detroit International Auto Show, the latest version of the Camaro will be introduced. Completely redesigned, "the fourth-generation Camaro wears a sculptured, contemporary skin over hardware that's been thoroughly updated to meet the needs of today's most demanding sports car enthusi-asts," said Chevrolet's press material.

The car will be available in two coupe versions: standard and the more muscular Z28. The new Camaro retains the old 101.1-inch wheelbase, but is longer, wider, and taller than its predecessor. Standard features include driver- and passengerside airbags and an anti-lock braking system.

'Though virtually every component is all-new or significantly modified, this fourth-generation Camaro is heavily based on the previous design, which first appeared in 1982," said Road and Track magazine. "This is a radical evolution, not a clean sheet revolution.

Standard Camaros are powered by a new overheadvalve 3.4 liter V-6, which kicks out 160 horsepower at 4600 RPM. This engine can be linked with either a four-speed automatic transmission or fivespeed manual.

Enter into the Z28 realm and the power increases substantially. The Z28 is powered by the 5.7 liter V8 found in the Corvette. Known as the LT1, the motor produces 275 horsepower at 5000 rpm in the Camaro: a gain of 30 horses over last year's engine. The Z28 is available in both manual and automatic transmissions.

The Camaro's interior has

GM seeks to fine-tune airbags

It can be a deadly meeting when a car meets a deer. General Motors can't do much for the deer, but the automaker is trying to fine-tune its airbag technology to assure that drivers don't become victims, too.

Air bag designers face a special problem: autos equipped ne devices must sors able to detect in milliseconds if a crash is severe enough to require the protection of an air bag. Michigan has 48,000 car-deer accidents annu-

"As many motorists have learned, not every vehicle collision requires the deployment of an air-bag systm," said Dr. David Viano, a researcher at the General Motors Biomedical Science Department. GM tries to strike the right balance with low-speed crash testing with styrofoam and sand bags to simulate deer. Also, rough road tests help verify that the GM system won't trigger on harsh road surfaces or off road when an air bag deployment is

The automaker's research and accident data analysis have helped GM set an impact speed threshold for air bag deployment higher than many manufacturers, lowering the risk and expense of unnecessary deploy-

A winning design for Lexus?

A car of Italian design and Japanese engineering will be making its debut on U.S. soil at the North American International Auto Show

Aimed at the luxury performance market, the Lexus GS 300 sedan will be positioned between what the company calls the "near-luxury" ES 300 and the flagship LS 400. The GS 300 is a four-door, five-passenger car designed by Italian Giorgetto Giugiaro.

Lexus' press literature states:

The 1993 Lexus GS 300.

"If the new Lexus GS 300 loesn't look like anything else in the Lexus lineup there's a

That reason, said Lexus chief designer Kunihiro Uchida, is that Toyota, as it often does, held a styling competition when working on the design of the car. This time, the Giugiaro group's design won.

The car is powered by a twin-cam 24-valve 3.0 liter inline six cylinder engine. The powerplant is mated to an Electronically Controlled Transmission with intelligence (ECT-i) which retards ignition timing during shifts, momentarily lowering engine torque and making for "vir-tually unnoticeable" shifts, ac-cording to Lexus.

The car features anti-lock brakes, dual air bags, four-wheel disc brakes, genuine walnut on the console, and a telescoping and tilting steering wheel. Op-tional on the GS 300 is the Port-able Plus Cellular phone, which Lexus says is the first system to offer voice activiation in the car. The system comes with a "hands-free" command module located on the steering column, which automatically mutes the sound system and reduces fan speed noise during voice activation when a call is placed.

The Olds Aurora

New dawn for Olds Aurora

The Oldsmobile Aurora, the new flagship sedan that will be introduced at the North American International Auto Show, is a harbinger of things to come for the division.

The front-wheel drive Aurora replaces the Olds division's Toronado, and is aimed at "customers seeking engineering sophistication, bold design, and refined interior appointments at an exceptional value," the manufacturer says. The car is positioned at the lower end of the luxury auto market.

Under the hood is a transverse-mounted 32-valve V-8 engine mated to a four-speed electronically controlled automatic transmission. The powerplant, the Aurora V-8, produces 250 horsepower and has a torque curve that emphasizes mid-range response Major engine and transmission components are made of aluminum, magnesium, or composite materials. The car features an all-independent suspension and four-wheel disc brakes with standard ABS.

"We purposely took some risks with the Aurora," said Dennis Burke, chief designer of the Oldsmobile One exterior studio. "There is no grill, no add-ons of any kind. In fact, none of the traditional luxury cues are present in this car.

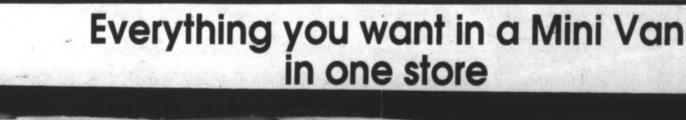

"Instead, we emphasized strong muscular shapes to achieve a visual presence of sub-stance and stability."

Cadillac's style

Fleetwood, Northstar: they're key in 1993

In 1903, the first Cadillac was assembled in Detroit, featuring a 10-horsepower, single-cylinder engine at a cost of $750.

Today's Cadillac line still has four wheels and an engine, but to say the least, times and technology have changed.

technology have changed.
Around the turn of the century, automakers had yet to conceive of a Northstar powertrain and suspension, Speed Sensitive Steering, or antilock brakes. But in today's market, introducing such new automotive features and standardizing existing technologies is what keeps an automaker at the top of the game.

Cadillac's television and print advertising theme this year is "changing the way you think about American automobiles," perhaps because the company is changing the way it's doing

"Cadillac has changed," said Peter R. Levin, Cadillac's director of advertising. "We know that the market has also changed and the luxury market is increasingly segmented. The campaign will focus on the new Northstar system and the allnew Fleetwood Brougham sedan."

The GM division is focused on retaining its traditional luxury market customer base, while aiming part of its pitch at younger, more affluent, and highly educated customers. Cadillac categorizes its product in the "ultimate sport," "prestige luxury" and "traditional large luxury models," recognizing that each segment has diverse needs.

In the car line's prestige luxury segment, the Northstar system will be installed, including a 32-valve, 4.6 liter Northstar V-8 engine, 4-speed electronic automatic transmission, speed sensitive steering, road-sensing tension, and full-speed ntrol.

Introduced on the Allante earlier this year, the Northstar powertrain will be standard equipment on the Eldorado Touring Coupe and the Seville Touring Sedan. The Eldorado, Seville, De Ville and Sixty Special models will retain the 4.9 liter V8.

The six-passenger Fleetwood is also seen as critical to Cadillac's success in 1993. The automaker hopes the car will have a wide appeal.

"The Fleetwood holds a strategic place in the Cadillac portfolio," said John O.
Grettenberger, general manager of the Cadillac Motor Car Division. "This new model lays claim to a solid core of specific Cadillac customers, plus we believe it will be attractive to

Automobile award given to Chrysler

The 1993 Chrysler Concorde, Dodge Intrepid, and Eagle Vision have been selected by the editors of Automobile Magazine as the 1993 "Automobile of the Year."

"These are great American cars that can hold their own in any company on any kind of road, said the magazine's publisher, David E. Davis, Jr. "They are a full-throated rendition of 'America the Beautiful' on wheels."

In addition to the Chrysler line, other candidates included BMW 318i, Ford Probe GT, Ford Taurus SHO, Infiniti J30t, Mazda MX-6, Mazda RX-7, Mercedes Benz 400E, Nissan Altima SE, Saturn SW2, Subaru SVX, and Volkswagen Corrado SLC.

"All during the Concorde, Intrepid, and Vision development period we knew we had the potential to meet, and perhaps even exceed, what we challenged ourselves to do," said Chrysler President Robert Lutz. "However, you never truly know if you've succeeded until you hand over your new baby to the experts and to the customer. And judging by early sales, our customers feel the same as Automobile Magazine does."

new buyers who want comfort and safety in a technically contemporary large rear-wheeldrive luxury car."

The car has been helped by its high visibility in the limousine trade and is targeted for export to Japan and the Middle East. A 7,000-lb. trailer towing package option provides the highest available capacity of any passenger car in the world.

any passenger car in the world.
The 1993 Fleetwood and Fleetwood Brougham represent an all new body style: at 225.1
inches, it's 4.1 inches longer than last year's model, and it's aerodynamic appearance is .36, dramatically down from .49 in the 1992 model.

For its 1993 front-drive models, Cadillac has introduced Speed Sensitive Steering, to provide optimum steering feel and response throughout the operating range of the vehicle. Low effort steering for city driving means motorists won't have muscle strain while parallel parking. As vehicle speed increases, so does the driver's steering effort. Cadillac touts the system as helping to make the driver "feel confident in the way the car will react" and less fatigued.

The Eldorado sports coupe, right, is equipped with a 4.9 liter V-8. The Cadillac Fleetwood Brougham, below, includes a new body style, and at 225.1 inches, is the longest regular production car built in the U.S. The car rides on 15 x 7 inch cast aluminum wheels. It will be available in 12 exterior colors for 1993.

"The Mark VIII is our flagship vehicle of the future,"said Lee Miskowski, Ford vice president and Lincoln Mercury general manager. "This car will change the way people think about the Lincoln brand and Ford Motor Co.

"It is a no-compromise model focused on what a Mark VIII should be: no optional engines or nonperformance models.'

The Mark VIII is powered by a 4.6-liter "four cam" 32-valve V-8 aluminum engine. The engine is mated to an electronic four-speed automatic overdrive transmission. Standard equipment includes driver and passenger air bags, four-wheel disc brakes, and anti-lock brakes.

The Mark VIII utilizes a new microprocessor to control independent air-spring suspension at all four wheels, providing continuous load leveling. The system also provides for automatic lowering of the vehicle,

Audi renews entire line

With the introduction of its redesigned 1993 90 series, Audi has renewed its entire range of luxury cars.

The automaker offers a car line that's larger and more powerful than its predecessors: as Audi says, a "sports flair in a personal-size luxury sedan.'

Audi is aiming the 90 series at Lexus ES 300, the Acura Vigor, the BMW 325i, and the Mercedes 190E 2.6.

Introduced in July 1992, the new 90s followed the 1991 debut of the all-new Audi 100 line, the 1992 introductions of all-wheeldrive Quattro versions of the 100, the high performance s4 sports sedan, and the morepowerful V-8 Quattro.

The 90 series includes the 90 S, 90 CS, and 90 CS Quattro Sport. They feature split/folding rear seats, alloy wheels, headlight washers, automatic climate control, and standard leather seats on two of the three models. All the 90s are powered by a 2.8 liter V-6 generating 172 horsepower.

The grill, bumpers, and most exterior panels are new. Trunk space has been increased, and an airbag and an anti-lock braking system are standard on most models.

The V-6 engine's horsepower is increased by 32 percent from the previous model. On the front-drive 90 S and 90 CS, the engine is mated to a standard five-speed manual transmission. An optional four-speed automatic is also available.

The 90 series "has been very well-received," said Mario De-Francisco, sales manager of Fred Lavery Audi in Birminghas a smooth V-6, people like the front-wheel drive, and with the fold-down rear seat, it turns into a mini-station wagon. The car is a very, very nice package."

Said Car and Driver: "If the Lexus SC400's ride and handling were Lincoln's target and we think they were - the Dearborn engineers have hit their Mark. Terrific." The magazine also had compliments about the car's speed sensitive steering, interior roominess, smooth transmission, and 0-60 mph time (6.8 seconds). Complaints were registered about the placement of gauges.

"Dynamically, this new Lincoln is a high-water Mark," said Car and Driver.

Said Lee R. Miskowski, Ford vice president and Lincoln-Mercury general manager: "Mark VIII is our flagship of the future - a car that will take on the luxury cars of the world."

Prizm reflects a change in style

Meet the new Geo Prizm, the first major overhaul of a GEO model since the brand was established in 1988.

The car will be on showroom floors this year at Chevrolet/Geo dealers. The Prizm is built at NUMMI, the GM-Toyota joint venture in Fremont, Calif., and has been the best-selling car in the Geo lineup since the brand was established.

The new Prizm front-wheeldrive family sedan offers several under-the-skin improvements, including:

 a longer wheelbase and overall length for a roomier interior;

rior;

• A move up from subcompact to compact class;

 Standard driver-side airbag and available anti-lock brakes;
 A new optional 1.8 litre fuel-injected engine.

This year, the GSi model has been discontinued, but the standard and LSi trim levels are available.

In the area of safety, all Prizms have a driver's side airbag, active 3-point safety belts, and rear child safety door locks. The airbag design allows horn operation from the middle of the four-spoke steering wheel, eliminating fumbling for thumbshaped horn buttons. The multiport fuel injected engine is a standard 16-valve DOHC 1.6 liter engine that generates 108 HP at 6000 RPM. A 1.8 liter DOHC engine rated at 115 HP at 5600 RPM is optional.

The Geo line is aimed at entry-level buyers, first-time buyers and young families. Four distinct vehicles comprise the Geo line: the redesigned Prizm sedan, the sporty Storm coupe, the economical Metro and the versatile Tracker sport-utility vehicle.

Larger Toyota pickup challenges the domestics

The lucrative U.S. pickup market will get another competitor in 1993, as Toyota introduces its T100, the automaker's first intermediate-sized pickup.

Powered by a standard 3.0 liter, 150 HP V-6, the Toyota offers three-across seating, a 4x8 foot panel capacity on the floor, and a 1,550-lb standard payload capacity.

The pickup is available in either 2WD or 4WD. All 4WD models feature Toyota's 4Wheel Demand system, which has a differential that changes on the fly from 2WD to 4WD at speeds up to 50 mph by simply shifting the transfer case lever.

Other features include standard rear-wheel anti-lock brakes, rack-and-pinion steering for responsive control, reduced noise through the use of more insulation, and a distinctive new aerodynamic style.

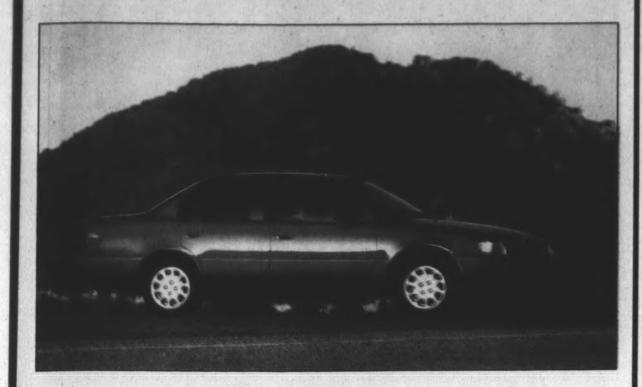

Car and Driver magazine says the T100 drives plainly and gets by with a small six cylinder engine. But the big pickup "is the first import to challenge the Big Three's monopoly in the American large-truck market," said the magazine, which could lead to "reduced market share and quicker turnaround times to produce new trucks . . . ."

The Toyota's dimensions attempt to fill a market need between small and large trucks, and Car and Driver commented on its "excellent" automatic and manual gearboxes, good handling, and low noise.

The ZR-1 is the Corvette line's showcase model, and for 1993, it will become a limitedproduction sports car with a maximum of 380 units available per year through 1995.

'The ZR-1 option is a great image-builder for Chevrolet. It allows us to showcase technology that just isn't available anywhere else," said Chevrol et General manager Jim Perkins.

"However, the ZR-1 competes in a very limited market niche, and our decision to limit production reflects that reality."

Equipment on the ZR-1 in-
