State to buy Mettetal Airport

Once a hot topic in Plymouth-Canton, the issue of government buying and running Mettetal Airport rose from the dead last week, as airport opponents and their political allies scrambled to stop it.

BY KEVIN BROWN
STAFF WRITER

The state will buy Mettetal Airport in three to four months to maintain the small airport for the Plymouth-Canton community, state officials say.

That news angered Plymouth's longtime opponents of government ownership of Mettetal, and the officials they helped elect to posts in Plymouth, Plymouth Township and state government.

State Rep. Jerry Vorva, R-Plymouth, said he believed, as did most local officials, that the airport issue — divisive for the Plymouth-Canton community in recent years — had been settled.

"The people of the City of Plymouth even changed their charter to say they can't get in the airport business," Vorva said. Voters overwhelmingly supported that action in November 1991, signaling an apparent victory for airport opponents.

After hearing on Tuesday from the anti-airport Plymouth Concerned Citizens group that the airport purchase was back on, Vorva said he's been seeking to contact the governor and the state Department of Transportation to stop it.

"If they're (transportation officials) acting contrary to good public policy, maybe the governor needs to make some changes over there," Vorva said.

Vorva said Friday that he hoped to speak to Gov. Engler over the weekend on the Mettetal Airport issue. "I would ask why is this state with a $400-million deficit going to buy an airport that doesn't make any money when the governor's philosophy has Helping out: Tina Blaschke, 10, of Canton collected enough food, clothing and other items from her Franklin-Palmer Apartments neighbors to help two homeless families.

10-year-old runs food collection

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI
STAFF WRITER

Tina Blaschke just wanted to help.

"I feel sorry for them," said the 10-year-old Canton girl. "I just want to help them."

That's exactly what Tina and four other members of her club, called "Kids for Caring," did beginning in late January. Thanks to the club — including Reanece Johnson, Heather Thompson, Benita Bell and Diane Hester — two homeless families are better off today than they were a few weeks ago.

Tina and other club members were shocked recently when they heard the news that a homeless man who rides his bicycle in Canton had been beaten by some youths. "He had a bag of food and they beat him up," Tina said.

That's where Tina and the club got the idea to help homeless people with a food drive of their very own. "Reanece came up with the idea of helping the homeless," said Tina, a fifth-grader at Field Elementary School who wants to become a veterinarian.

Tina saw great potential in the residents of the Franklin-Palmer Apartments on Palmer Road, where she lives with her mom, Linda. Tina decided to ask people for help by informing them through a newsletter of her intentions. When it was done, Tina and Reanece had 120 copies made and passed them out door-to-door among the apartment residents.

"I am a 10-year-old that lives in your community. I feel very fortunate that my family always has a warm bed and food," Tina wrote in the newsletter that began with "Help!" written in capital letters. "I find it very sad that not everybody does. Myself and some friends decided to do what we can to help them."

The response was overwhelming. Within two weeks, the girls had collected food, baby toys and clothes, bedding, clothing and dishes. And thanks to friends and family of Tina's mom, Linda, furniture — including tables, televisions, and couches — also was donated.

"The girls wanted to donate to a church," Linda Blaschke said. Instead, she suggested the girls contact a homeless shelter on Michigan Avenue. They went to the shelter and left knowing they would sponsor two single mothers and their children.

"That way, the girls could see how they could help the families directly," Linda said.

One of the mothers sponsored by Tina and her friends has two 3-year-old twin girls, and a newborn boy. The other mother has a 1½-year-old girl. And until this past weekend,

Teacher not guilty of hitting student

BY M.B. DILLON
STAFF WRITER

Robert Gale, third-grade teacher at Farrand Elementary, was found not guilty of assault and battery charges by a five-woman, one-man jury at the end of a one-day trial in 35th District Court Thursday.

The jury took less than an hour to reach its verdict in Judge James Garber's court.

Gale, a 25-year veteran teacher with Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, was accused in October by Alexander Parsons, then 8, of striking him in the back after the boy tattled on a fellow student.

Gale voluntarily took and passed with a lie detector test, results of which weren't admissible as evidence.

Testimony from Alex conflicted with that of other students, who were out of the courtroom while Alex was on the stand.

According to Alex, he'd attempted to tell Gale that another student had made a derogatory remark about the teacher on the way back from recess.

"All I said was, 'Mr. Gale, Jessica said —' I saw his hand come up," the boy testified. "He hit me in the middle of my back and I fell to my knees and he moved my desk."

Asked by prosecutor Tim Cronin to show the court where he was positioned when he was struck, Alex stood a couple of feet from Cronin, facing him. Alex testified the incident occurred near his desk.

Alex said he began crying after he was hit and was told by Gale to go to the bathroom. He went to the office after that but was "too upset" to tell principal Ann Kuhn or the school nurse that he'd been struck, the boy testified.

Alex said he then returned to the classroom, went to gym class, out to recess, and back to Gale's class before being dismissed and going to his babysitter's.

Alex said he didn't tell his mother he'd been hit until after his friend Bradley Morgan came over to play around dinner time.

"Me and Brad were saying, 'Should we tell her?' Then we told her Mr. Gale hit me."

Lauren Brock, 8, testified Alex "was knocked down in front of the teacher's desk."

Bradley Morgan, 9, testified that Gale hit Alex "with the side of his hand around his shoulder blade" and that Alex was seated at the time.

John Theodore, 9, said, "Mr. Gale was yelling at him. I didn't see him hit him. He sat down and then Alex was crying."

Adam Rudloff, 8, said he heard Alex crying, and that Mr. Gale moved Alex's desk.

Principal Ann Kuhn testified that she investigated the incident, but found no grounds to believe Alex had been struck. She filed nothing with the Department of Social Services, required by law in cases of suspected child abuse.

Richard Beemer, Gale's attorney, told the jury in closing arguments that Alex and Bradley both disliked Gale and wanted out of his class. Alex's actions the day he supposedly was hit were those of a "normal little boy who'd been humiliated and embarrassed by having his seat changed. No child likes being laughed at."

An elated Gale was congratulated outside the courtroom by nearly three dozen friends, fellow teachers and family members who came from as far away as Grand Rapids to support him.

It was Gale's 50th birthday.

"What a birthday present," said Gale, who was reassigned as a substitute but has been on medical leave since the incident occurred. "At first I said, 'what a bummer to have it on my birthday,' but then I was glad."

Gale, and the teachers' union, expect he will be placed back in his classroom at Farrand. Errol Goldman, the district's executive director for employee relations, wasn't available for comment.

Mayflower change

Randy Lorenz, a co-owner of the Mayflower Hotel now in receivership, has left his duties as manager of the Round Table Club, as hotel receiver Ron Wilson continues to reorganize hotel operations.

Hotel co-owner Scott Lorenz said Friday, "We're in negotiations on a couple of different things," as the co-owners seek to raise money to get the Plymouth landmark out of receivership.

"I've got a picture of me and Yogi Berra and my dad on the wall of my office," Scott Lorenz said. "Below it, it says, 'It ain't over 'til it's over.'"

Wilson was unavailable for comment on the change.

been to privatize?" Vorva asked. Mettetal Airport is in Canton at the southeast corner of Joy and Lilley roads on the Plymouth Township limit.

Canton Supervisor Tom Yack said he wasn't surprised the state was still interested in buying the airport.

"I know the aeronautics bureau really wants to save the smaller airports," he said.

As to Canton operating the airport, he said, "I don't think we'd be interested, but we'd always be willing to listen."

Rises from dead

In the summer, the effort to buy the airport — then led by the Federal Aviation Administration — appeared dead. "It's over as far as we're concerned," said the FAA Detroit airports district manager in August.

That was after Canton and Plymouth Township officials sought strict safeguards against expansion and other demands in their application for a federal grant to buy the airport.

'I know the aeronautics bureau really wants to save the smaller airports.'

The FAA said it hadn't before accepted such provisions.

Those who've long opposed government obtaining the private airport maintain there are secret plans to expand Mettetal, and that local taxpayers would be stuck with tax increases to support it.

"Absolutely not," said Richard Jackson, assistant deputy director with the state Bureau of Aeronautics.

"We have no intention of making that airport anything more than it is today," he said.

Jackson said that nowhere in the state besides Plymouth-Canton has the local opposition been so strong against government buying a local airport. Jackson said officials "have put ourselves on stage, answered in writing every question on this issue," yet a group continues to oppose the effort intended to help the state and the community.

Asked if the state would buy and knock down houses near the airport, he replied, "Absolutely not."

When airport opponents learned last week that the state Department of Transportation planned to buy the airport, they contacted Vorva.

Purchase defended

"We strongly believe that most of the opposition to the airport comes from a few individuals in the community who continue to raise unfounded concerns to stir up the general public," said Warren Hoyt, chairman of the Michigan Aeronautics Commission, "such as claims that the airport would be expanded to handle aircraft and that it would drain on local tax money to support and operate the airport.

"Both of these allegations are untrue. However, once they've been alleged, they are very difficult to defend," Hoyt said.

Plymouth Township Supervisor Kathleen Keen-McCarthy said news that the state would pursue an airport purchase is "a shock."

"I like having a small airport in our community, but I don't think the tax dollars should be paying for it or supporting it," she said.

"I've been trying to get through to MDOT and to our legal counsel, to find out what options we have," she said.

Jackson said that once the state buys the airport, with the help of federal grant money, the airport would be turned over to a local government such as Wayne County or an interested municipal government, to operate it.

City rejects zoning change

For the second time in recent years, the city planning commission has denied a request to rezone property held by the Plymouth Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses at the southeast corner of Junction and Sheldon roads.

The church, which is seeking to sell the property, was seeking a change in the property's zoning classification for the land to office zoning.

The zoning change was rejected Wednesday.

SLEEP & ARTHRITIS

It is not possible to have arthritis and enjoy a good night's sleep. In arthritis, movement causes pain. You can remain still only for awhile, then your body needs a change of position. That shift jolts your inflamed joints and brings on pain which then awakens you.

Night pain also comes from aching muscles and ligaments. During activity these structures, to compensate for your impaired joints, are stretched as if upon a rack. The demands put on your muscles during the day receives their protest through the night.

Finally, you face the need to arise through the night. The body knows you require exercise to avoid or lessen morning stiffness. You think you are getting up to relieve a "weak" bladder, or to counter cramps. These sensations are ways to get you up now so as to avoid morning stiffness later. Naturally, each arising disrupts your rest.

There is little that will counter these attacks upon repose. You may compensate with a nap during the day. You can retire in the evening at 10 p.m. and officially arise at 8 a.m. so in 10 hours obtain 6 hours of rest.

Avoid sleeping pills, tranquilizers, or muscle relaxants. These medications do not relieve arthritis pain, but do interfere with the working of your mind and judgement.

Exhibit shows men collect more than dust

BY KEVIN BROWN
STAFF WRITER

In downtown Plymouth, a regiment of soldiers aim their rifles and prepare to hurl grenades from behind piled sandbags and netting.

The soldiers — just a couple of inches tall and cast in metal — take up their position in the Plymouth Historical Museum.

They're the property of Tim O'Callaghan of Plymouth Township. He's one of more than 35 Plymouth and Canton men showing their varied collections in a museum exhibit titled "What Men Collect."

Men's collections of stuff ranging from pocket watches to baseball cards to antique oil cans are featured in the new exhibit, which runs through June.

Displays include antique music boxes, model airplane engines, model cars, antique fishing equipment, Uncle Sam figures and lots more.

Museum director Beth Stewart said the idea for the exhibit came from volunteer Bruce Richards.

"He said, you do so many things with women; why not what men collect?" she said.

Richards contacted men aged 45 and older throughout the community, and many were willing to show off their collections.

O'Callaghan, 62, said that when he went off to World War II, his mom threw out his toy soldiers collected in the '30s.

But in ten years of visiting flea markets and antique shows, he was able to find 800 toy soldiers from the period.

Their attraction? "I just remember all the good times playing with them," said O'Callaghan, who recently retired from the Ford Motor Co.

Bill Keough of Canton grew up in New York state. It was on a return trip recently when his mother came downstairs with a box full of baseball cards he'd collected in the '50s, and since forgotten.

"I used to buy them for a penny apiece; for a nickel you would get five and gum along with them."

His collection, displayed at the museum in a glass case — as are other collections — includes cards bearing the likenesses of '50s baseball greats including Ernie Banks and former Tigers coach Alex Grammas, then a player with the St. Louis Cardinals.

"Baseball was my life as a kid," Keough said. "Then one day I realized I had no speed."

Other collections include Steve Veresh's handmade violins, and cast-iron toys and mechanical banks.

Ready, men! At top, toy soldiers defend their position from behind a glass case. Above, pocket watches were favored by gentlemen before the days of Swatches and digital timepieces. Above right, in showing Steve Veresh's collection of handmade violins, the museum dressed a mannequin to look like the craftsman.

Band director exits program

By M.B. DILLON
STAFF WRITER

Next year, the two-time national champion Plymouth Centennial Educational Park Marching Band will be headed by someone other than marching band director Glen Adsit.

Adsit announced plans to devote all his time to studies at the University of Michigan, where he's one of two students in eight years to be accepted into an advanced degree program.

Adsit entered U-M's program last year after being pink-slipped. He directed the band this year on a part-time basis.

Torn between CEP and U-M, Adsit said "it was very hard for me not to be able to commit myself 100 percent. During the marching band season, I wasn't a part of either environment on a full-time basis, and consequently didn't feel much involved with either."

Adsit said a school as large as CEP's should have two full-time band directors. CEP also needs programs in jazz, chamber and electronic music and private lessons "to service more than just band kids."

"There also should be a coordinator of music or fine arts for the district who could provide the same services as Paul Cummings does so wonderfully for the physical education department," he said.

Because no staff member oversees the daytime ensembles, students no longer are being provided with the kind of music education they should have, he said. As a result, the "current program is slipping a great deal," added Adsit, who will serve as interim band director at Interlochen this summer.

Also, he said, students and parents should have a greater understanding of the educational goal, which "should be great music making and terrific performances with a very strong aesthetic experience."

"It seems some individuals are valuing the trophies rather than the experience."

"I have enjoyed my time at PCEP very much and will always remember it. What I will remember most is the powerful education that results when students, parents and administration work together for the same goal."

Pat Liljestrand, immediate past president of the Plymouth-Canton Music Boosters, said boosters "certainly are delighted he has been with us, and we understand that for his career, this is the right move. He wants to move onto the college level."

"Glen certainly has given us his all, and one of his greatest talents is his ability to inspire the kids and create in them the desire to commit to this, and through that learn to excel in all kinds of ways."

Liljestrand said she's hopeful the district will realize it "can't just bring in anyone to keep the program at this level."

What's in store for the music program, and for the entire district, will hinge upon the school millage renewal and a possible millage increase, said Jim Vassallo, president of the boosters club.

"Our association with Glen has been very long and very proud. We wish him well," he said.

Bill Myers, the band's publicity chairman, said Plymouth-Canton has been fortunate to have had Adsit, now on track to become a university professor. "Who else has come right out of the blocks and taken the band to two national championships? He's got the ability to spot the best talent around," as evidenced by the district's creative staff.

"What is unique about Glen is not just the fact that he's a wonderful musician, but he truly is a Pied Piper for adolescent young people. They follow him and listen to him. They will do anything he says. That doesn't mean he's always nice to them," added Myers. "He will stop rehearsal, grab the blowhorn and say, 'Trombones, your sound is obscene,' or 'Clarinet, remember this morning when I talked to you about that horrible sound? It hasn't improved.'"

"But then they get the praise, and everyone is looked at as part of the team."

Being admitted to U-M's program — and Adsit's talent and success thus far — have opened doors for him, he added. "Everyone at U-M's faculty level who knows him has seen his potential and nudged him in exciting directions."

Peer training set for schools

Members of the Students Against Drunk Driving (SADD) chapter of Plymouth Canton and Plymouth Salem high schools will provide peer pressure resistance training to fifth-graders from Bird and Isbister Elementary Schools on Thursday, Feb. 18.

Under the direction of elementary counselor Janet Dersey, the SADD students will visit Bird 9-11:15 a.m. and Isbister 1-3:30 p.m. The SADD students also provided training to fifth-graders at Hoban and Eriksson Elementary Schools earlier this month under the direction of elementary counselor Cathy Campbell.

To prepare for the training, SADD students participated in a Peer Resistance Skills Program, a two-day training session sponsored by SADD-Michigan. The program teaches high school students about peer pressure and skills for saying "no" so that they can teach these skills to fifth- and sixth-graders. The training was held at the Wayne County Regional Educational Service Agency.

Students from SADD participating in this program are Selena Bastine, Nicole Dristy, Stephanie Gray and Leslie Santos. The advisor of the CEP SADD chapter is James Finn.

Serving as positive role models, the SADD students will present information to the fifth-graders through the use of posters and handouts. The concepts and skills are taught and reinforced through skits and role playing. This pilot program focuses on teaching the fifth-graders how to resist pressures to use alcohol and skills for saying "no."

Kids earn music honors

Livonia Franklin High School was alive with the sound of music Saturday, Feb. 6. The occasion was the Annual Solo and Ensemble Festival, sponsored by District Twelve of the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association.

More than 1,500 high school instrumental musicians from Wayne and Washtenaw counties participated, including many from Plymouth-Canton.

All PCEP band students were awarded either the first place (Division I) blue ribbon, or the Division II red ribbon. Even though there are five different rating divisions, no PCEP student scored beneath Division II. All first division winners are now eligible to participate in the State Solo and Ensemble Festival, which will be held at Eastern Michigan Univer-when both families were expected to move into homes, they were homeless.

Tina says she's proud of her efforts and that she knows she's helped someone less fortunate than herself. But like most adults, she says she's no closer to finding a solution to the nation's homeless problem.

"If everyone sponsored just one family, it would make a world of difference. This hasn't cost us a penny," Linda said.

And thanks to Gail Justin, apartment complex manager, Tina had a place for residents to bring their donations. By now the apartment complex clubhouse should be empty, though. Tina and her mom were hoping to borrow a van this past weekend and take the donated goods to the homeless shelter where they could be given to the two families.

"It only takes a little time to do all this," Linda said, pointing to the goods collected by her daughter.

Tina will tell you she's learned a lot with this project. First of all, she's thankful her neighbors were so generous. "I thought maybe I would get just a boxful of stuff, that's it," Tina said.

But she's also spreading the word on the homeless situation. A week or so ago, Tina had to give a speech in school. She was all set to give it on pollution. But Linda talked her into speaking about her latest project.

"I got two A pluses," Tina said. And she's not stopping there. Tina has been asked to talk about her project and the plight of the homeless at a school assembly in the next couple of weeks.

Tina worked just about every day on this project and says now she may take a small break. Another club member, however, has suggested collecting money to save the trees.

Compromise tax plan would have softened hit to schools

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

The state Senate passed a bill to cut school property taxes 20 percent after Sen. David Honigman was unable to strike a deal softening the blow for schools.

Honigman, R-West Bloomfield, floated a compromise plan that would have raised the property tax cut to 30 percent if voters replaced the lost school revenue by adding a penny to the sales tax.

"If I went too far one way, I couldn't get enough Republicans. If I went too far the other, no Democrats would back it," said Honigman after Wednesday's vote.

Instead the state Senate last week passed Gov. John Engler's proposed 20 percent cut in school operating property taxes over three years. The bill contains an amendment promising to replace the lost revenue ($1.3 billion by the third year), but it contains no firm funding source.

Nineteen Republicans voted yes. All 16 Democrats, joined by Republican Fred Dillingham of Fowlerville, voted no.

Dillingham predicted the bill would fail in the House of Representatives. "You're creating further gridlock down the road," he warned his party.

Looks OK to some

But the amendment made Senate Bill (SB 146) look good to Sen. Robert Geake, R-Northville, whose home base has five out of formula school districts that would be hard hit by a property tax cut.

"Once the amendment was added, I voted for the bill," he told 75 constituents who had written or called to protest it. Geake said the protests appeared to have been orchestrated by Livonia school officials, who said they stood to lose one-fourth of their $100 million budget.

The promise also looked good to Michael Bouchard, R-Birmingham, who faced heavy attacks from his out of formula schools for providing the swing vote in the Senate Finance Committee. "It reimburses schools and protects education," said Bouchard. "Our property taxes are far too high."

But it looked bad to Jack Faxson, D-Farmington Hills, whose home school district would lose as much as Livonia. "We are promising some relief at the expense of many school districts," said Faxson. "I don't think it's realistic to expect the teachers to negotiate 20 percent reductions in pay or expect Consumers Power to negotiate a 20 percent reduction in utilities."

In formula districts (the 70 percent receiving state aid) would have much of their lost local taxes repaid by the state aid formula. But out of formula districts would take a straight loss.

No vote on deal

Honigman's failed deal called for:

- Passing Engler's 20 percent cut in school operating taxes

■ Sen. Robert Geake, R-Northville, whose district includes five out-of-formula school districts that would be hard hit by a property tax cut voted for the bill.

(achieved by paring assessments from 50 to 40 percent of market value over three years).

- Placing a sales tax hike on the August ballot. If voters raised the tax from four cents to five, the money would be used to reimburse schools' lost revenue at $545 per pupil. Out-of-formula districts would be guaranteed state payment of the retirement costs and no cuts in their "categorical" aid (for buses and special education). Moreover, taxpayers would get a 30 percent cut in school property taxes, instead of the 20 percent offered by Engler.

If voters were to say no, the 20

Speech teacher goes extra mile

Diana Carter, a speech pathologist at Field Elementary School, was named an "Extra Miller" by the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Board of Education.

A speech pathologist in the district since 1980, Carter also has worked at Allen and Miller elementary schools. Part of her duties with the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools involve visiting the Crescent Academy International in Canton to provide services to students.

"Diana means so much to the children, parents and staff of Field," said Larry Miller, Field principal.

"Each day, she is an example of someone who goes well beyond her job description. She brings to her job and life motivation, vision and commitment."

Carter's experience includes working for the Grand Blanc Community Schools, conducting a private practice, and working in various nursing homes. She also has worked in the University of Michigan Aphasia Unit and at Camp Shady Trails, a summer camp program.

"When we do our job well as speech pathologists, students do better in school and feel better about themselves," Carter said. "When I receive strong parental support, my students can do phenomenal things. Once a student can speak and listen better, their self esteem blossoms."

Carter holds a bachelor's degree in speech pathology from Bowling Green University and a master's degree in speech pathology from the University of Michigan.

A resident of Canton, Carter lives with her husband, Tim, and her two children, Jennifer and Zac, who attend Salem High School.

"Field Elementary School has the hardest working staff of any school," Carter said. "Everyone, from the crossing guards to the principal, goes that extra mile for the students and parents."

The award was presented to Carter at a recent board meeting by board president Roland Thomas. He gave her a certificate, a pin of the Flag of Learning and Liberty, and a dining certificate for two donated by the Mayflower Hotel in Plymouth.

Rouge River cleanup

Project gets federal grant, wider scope

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW
STAFF WRITER

Pulling old tires out of the Rouge River just isn't enough anymore.

Friends of the Rouge, an organization that sponsors such cleanups of the river every year, has some high-powered help now that the federal government has stepped in.

With a federal grant of more than $125 million and more expected to come, area officials are bent on cleaning the Rouge River in a wide-angle approach that includes communities from Bloomfield Township to Westland.

Called the Rouge River National Wet Weather Demonstration Project, the venture seeks to bring cleanliness to the Rouge by spreading awareness and retention basins all over the area that feeds the river.

"This is a great benefit to all taxpayers," said Oakland County Drain Commissioner George Kuhn. "It's fantastic!"

The first of its kind in the nation, this pilot project was pushed through congress by representatives William Ford, D-Ypsilanti Township, and John Dingell, D-Dearborn.

"We're not only fixing the problems in our backyard, but we're in the spotlight," said James Murray, Wayne County public works director. "Industrial countries throughout the world will be watching."

The idea is that every pollutant dumped on the ground or in the water all over the Rouge basin will eventually get into the river. "All of us who live in the Rouge basin live on the banks of the Rouge River," said James Ridgway, one of the project coordinators.

Observer & Eccentric communities involved in the project are Bloomfield Hills, Bloomfield Township, Birmingham, Beverly Hills, Bingham Farms, Franklin, Troy, West Bloomfield, Westland, Farmington, Farmington Hills, Livonia, Redford, Garden City, Plymouth, Plymouth Township and Canton Township.

"For years the Rouge River has been perhaps the greatest waste of a major waterway in America," said Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara, who spoke at a meeting last week of more than 200 representatives of the 48 communities in the Rouge basin. "Most people have never known the Rouge as a place for recreation. They have only known it as a sewer. But with the help of the federal government the Rouge will once again be a place for boating, swimming and fishing."

The difference between this clean-up effort and past attempts is that, for the first time, the pollution created when water drains from roads, lawns and downspouts will be examined and addressed on a basinwide basis.

"We will help (citizens) understand how they've been part of the problem," said Wayne County Public Works Director James Murray. "(They'll) have to change their lawn care fertilizing methods, disconnect downspouts (that flow into sewers) and discover different ways to dispose of hazardous household waste."

Ridgway said that six billion gallons of untreated sewage still flow into the Rouge every year, much of it when sewers that combine sanitary and storm drain functions exceed capacity during heavy rains.

Ergo, part of the project calls for overflow holding tanks to be built in Redford, Birmingham, Beverly Hills, Southfield, Bloomfield Hills and five other cities.

Kuhn said the overflow tanks are about as big as football fields. "The size of the tanks is pretty big and awesome," he said.

Coordinating all this stuff will be a computer network called the geographical information system, which is supposed to enable officials to compile statistical information and generate computer images that can be used to predict the effects of rainfall on any give area of the Rouge drainage system. It should also be able to predict the effects of residents disconnecting downspouts from the sewer system.

The project is expected to take 20 years to complete, Murray said, and cost taxpayers more than $1 billion in just the first 12 years. Most of that is expected to come from the federal government, but no can be certain that the water (or dollars in this case) won't be cut off before fruition time.

Another potential problem is convincing the 48 communities and 1.5 million residents in the Rouge basin to cooperate. "It's technically difficult. It's politically difficult. It's institutionally difficult," said Ridgway.

New tools to revive art of letter writing

In our impatience to finish everyday tasks, we have neglected certain rituals that are actually gratifying. One of those is the art of correspondence. When is the last time you sat down and jotted a quick note to a friend? Note writing is all too rare today, and so it's especially appreciated.

Alexandra Stoddard in her best-selling book, "Living A Beautiful Life," demonstrates techniques for turning dull routines into pleasing rituals. She suggests stimulating the senses to make work fun. For example, she describes the glossy red notebook and broad-tip fountain pen that she uses to transform the task of writing into an enjoyable exercise.

"When you actually sit down at a place you've designed as your writing table, with paper, pens and stamps all set up to dash off a card, this ritual can be effortless and pleasurable . . ." writes Stoddard. She heightens her enjoyment of the experience by collecting bottles of ink in different colors and sealing her letters with wax. She often sprays her stationery with her favorite scent.

A variety of notepapers can make letter writing more fun, and a personal space, outfitted with all of the requisite supplies, will make corresponding more efficient. The Paper Place in Applegate Square on Northwestern Highway, Southfield, offers a vast array of stationery and accessories.

Their selection includes the designer paper we picture in a colorful tulip motif beribboned in lavender (30 cents/sheet and 35 cents/envelope). To add some real pizzazz, choose circular gold foil and tulip stickers to create charming seals for your envelopes. The knowledgeable staff at The Paper Place will help you coordinate your own custom paper and seal designs.

You may not be aware that when Tiffany & Co. opened in 1837, it was a purveyor of fine paper goods. Today, Tiffany's in the Somerset Collection still stocks exquisite cards and papers, all bearing original designs and the Tiffany watermark. The bordered notecards ($40) share Tiffany china patterns such as Audubon, Black Shoulders and Coeur Fleur and engraved cards can be ordered in a myriad of unusual monogram styles.

Once you have beautiful paper on which to pen your thoughts, you may want to add some desktop luxuries. Neiman Marcus displays vintage antique silver letter openers, Victorian pencils on ribbon, ornate magnifying glasses and crystal inkwells in its gift department.

Renee Losh of Birmingham treasures her embossed stationery from Neiman's and uses it to correspond with overseas friends. "A letter goes beyond a phone call," she says. "It's more cherished when it's written down."

Preferring a pad of lined paper to fancier notecards, "because I write long," Cheryl Crandell of Pontiac echoes Losh's sentiments. "You can save a note and reread it over and over. The thoughts vanish and are forgotten in a phone call."

Though writing your words down for friends is a meaningful ritual, keeping a personal journal is equally rewarding. "A conversation with myself," wrote Whitman in describing his commonplace book. According to Stoddard, the details of the blank book you use are important. The more pleasing the book, the more likely you will stick to the rite and enjoy it. A leather-bound diary may seem extravagant but the one we picture is a work-of-art.

This hand-crafted Italian leather journal from the Riki Schaffer Gallery, 6897 Orchard Lake Road in The Boardwalk, features handmade paper and wax seals, ribbon page markers and an intricate papier-mache countenance on the front cover ($450). Too beautiful to scribble your day-dreams in? It would make a gorgeous guest book for a wedding or special occasion party.

To ensure your return to the lost art of correspondence — the perfect writing instrument. Recife-France is the only manufacturer in the world to produce ebonite ink pens, the preferred material of the industry. This finest of pens is available exclusively at the Riki Schaffer Gallery in fountain and ballpoint styles ($200).

Hats are back! Peg Treacy demonstrates how adding a hat to an outfit turns a look into "a class act."

Image expert tells how to dress stylishly

The best dressers don't wear fragrance to the office, never wear boots with zippers, and often don a hat. Image consultant Peg Treacy shares tips to help folks comb their malls and mainstreets to look like a million by spending wisely.

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO
STAFF WRITER

"You've got to think of yourself as a unique product and package yourself accordingly," Peg Treacy of Churchill Associates told a roomful of concerned consumers at The Community House in Birmingham last week.

"There are several rules of dressing that when followed never let you down. Of course when you break them, no one's going to come out and arrest you, but you won't have the edge that fashion practitioners have."

For the past 16 years as president of her Birmingham-based image consulting firm, Treacy has helped bankers, corporate leaders and would-be politicians polish their look and strengthen their image. Simple rules help prevent shoppers from wasting money on garments that don't work, hairstyles that turn people off, and accessories that would be better left in the drawer.

She evaluates clothing purchases by cost per wearing, reminding shoppers that a "cheap" garment usually means poor fit, poor construction, and ends up as the most expensive item in a closet because it's not worn regularly.

"Better to buy quality," she said. "It looks better, fits better and you'll feel better in it and wear it often, thus making it an economical purchase."

When making cuts in a wardrobe budget eliminate purchases of colored hosiery, white or red shoes, patterned pieces and perfume.

"You don't really need these items," she pointed out. "Money spent on them could better be applied to a pair of quality shoes in a neutral color or good quality solid color blazer. Americans seem to think that having more is better than having quality and they'd rather have their closets full than stocked with quality garments."

"There's nothing wrong with being seen in the same thing twice," she argued. "Where did we ever get the idea that it's a fashion taboo? Europeans don't share our views. They choose quality over quantity everytime." And when you can't afford quality there are tricks to make it look like you can.

"Quality boots never have zippers," Treacy advised. "So don't buy boots that do. They look cheap. Avoid shiny fabrics. They always look inexpensive. To upgrade a garment, change the buttons to a higher quality, replace a same-fabric tie-belt with one that's leather, and buy tasteful, fun pieces of jewelry instead of faddish, dangly, cheap-looking pieces. You don't need to have expensive jewelry, just well-designed pieces."

Perfume, much to the audience's surprise, is actually a detriment to a classy package, Treacy said.

"Co-workers do not like fragrance in the office," she said. "Some can be too heavy and induce sneezing, headaches and allergies in those nearby. Better not to wear fragrance to the office at all."

Treacy said "everything's better with a hat," and advised female shoppers to include a chapeau or two in their wardrobe budget.

"Men love women to wear hats," she said with a laugh. "Wear a hat to a restaurant and you'll get the best table. You make the place look like a class act."

Treacy ended with a reminder that to look good on the outside a person needs to look good on the inside as well. She suggested compiling a list of your 10 best attributes and reviewing them mentally each morning before you get dressed.

Mardi Gras in Detroit suburbs brings New Orleans party north

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO
STAFF WRITER

Hosting an authentic New Orleans-style Mardi Gras party in a suburban Detroit home is no quick trick.

However local malls and main-street merchants are anxious to oblige those determined to give it a try on Tuesday, Feb. 23.

The traditional Mardi Gras decorations in purple (for justice), green (for faith) and gold (for power) are available at stores like the 1/2 Off Card Shop, Parti Giant in Rochester, The Paper Party Place in Farmington, and Party Parade in Canton.

Record shops can provide cassettes of Dixieland jazz. No party is complete without renditions of When The Saints Go Marchin' In, Tiger Rag, Handa Wanda, and St. Louis Blues.

According to Gary Bice of Bloomfield Hills, a Prudential stock broker, former resident of New Orleans, and Mardi Gras aficionado, a crawfish boil will top off the event.

"I usually buy crawfish at Superior Fish in Royal Oak or Fishers Market in Birmingham where it can be ordered," he said. "Add the crawfish to a boiling pot of water and drop in a package of Zatarain's mix. Eat 'em New Orleans style — break 'em in half, pinch the tails and suck the heads. It's wonderful food especially when fresh. I also prepare a jambalaya, that's poor man's stew, with rice, chicken, sausage and peppers."

Traditional King Cakes, a coffee cake made with danish dough and topped with multi-colored sugars, can be shipped next day delivery from Gambino's Bakery in New Orleans for $19.95 by dialing Accent Annex 1-800-322-2368. A small, plastic baby is baked into one slice, determining the "king" of the party and the next person to serve a King Cake.

Jo Rivers, marketing director for the New Orleans School of Cooking in Louisiana said hosts should not forget to toss their guests a few doubloons and plastic beads like those thrown from Mardi Gras floats.

"Oh how we love those beads," she said with a laugh. "We fight for them. Scream for them. Beg for them. Some bare themselves for them. The next day, of course, at home looking at them, you ask yourself, Why did I fight for these things?"

Local landscape lost as resource to feed hungry

BILL BRESLER/STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

Goosed: Like many communities, Livonia is searching for a way to control the geese that populate its fairways and flock to Hines Drive in Wayne County.

Driving Hines Drive in Wayne County on an almost daily basis, I've thought about and plotted ways to turn the Canada geese that proliferate there into dinner.

There's the .20 gauge in the closet, but that's best left there. A wet towel thrown over one at midnight is one idea, or a sling shot.

But the ideas are quickly dismissed. What we've done to our feathered friends is disgusting. We've fed them so much bread that we've made them too lazy to fend for themselves, and their numbers are growing to the pest stage in Livonia. But then part of the problem is our own laziness. Thoughts of a goose dinner don't stay around long.

Liberals with a heart can screw up a free lunch — their own. Native Americans have the idea that one shouldn't interfere with an animal unless it's for a good cause — dinner. It's a good idea.

But there are others. I once knew an old Italian man who came to America to work as a janitor in a downtown Detroit building. He knew little English, but an Italian-speaking friend interpreted. The old janitor didn't understand why there was any hunger or poverty in Detroit. His reasoning was that there were flocks of pigeons roaming free for the taking. In Italy the lowly pigeon is a game bird and the old janitor just couldn't imagine that people in need wouldn't shoot and eat them.

My wife's family has similar stories. They're Greek and one of their ethnic dishes is greens. Not collard greens, but dandelion greens.

My wife cringed with embarrassment when driving through Detroit at the sight of old Greek ladies picking weeds in vacant fields. They would be clad in black dresses, standard issues for widows, and nylons rolled over their knees. They were bent over at the waist so you could see all the way to Cyprus.

One writer I know says his family got through the lean years by eating blue-bird pie.

We've become either too rich or lazy from welfare and food stamps to see the riches in the landscape around us and too regulated by government to act.

In the old days, Livonia and other communities wouldn't have had the problem of devising the dreaded government program to do something about having too many geese.

It never would have developed if there were enough old Italians around like my friend. And as for a weed cutting program, a village of Greek ladies would have kept that problem in check.

And all the while they would have been putting food on their tables.

Jeff Counts is editor of the Plymouth and Canton Observer Newspapers and is in search of recipes for wild goose and dandelion wine. He can be reached at 459-2700 or faxed at 459-4224.

Journalists forget truth carries its own magic

Be happy Bill Clinton just wanted to be president and not head of a '60s cult, because we might still be beaded, braided and barefoot.

Clinton was simply spellbinding at last week's Town Meeting in Southfield, the first of many he intends to create across the United States. His ability to relate to a group and to each individual is a gift. He is the ultimate salesman, the bully preacher, charisma personified.

He moved at least two people to tears. One young audience member burst into tears as a reporter asked her to describe her experience. "I don't want him to leave," the young girl sobbed.

Later on Nightline, also telecast from Southfield, a native of Puerto Rico cried as she said Clinton's answer to her question made her feel for the first time that her people might get statehood. She'd lobbied every president since Nixon, she said.

But Nightline host Ted Koppel wasn't about to let one audience member after another relate that:

■ Yes, they felt the president was really listening to them.

■ No, they didn't think the Town Hall had been in vain.

There must be someone here who was disappointed, Koppel wheedled and cajoled. Finally one man got up and mildly made the point that the president still must turn his words into deeds.

As a journalist, I understand Koppel's desire to get more sides of a story. But this time he was after the side many journalists wanted to tell.

We wanted to hear that the event had been staged; that people hadn't been able to ask follow-up questions; that it was just one more campaign speech.

We wanted to hear them say that it is only journalists who ask the tough questions; who follow up with the tougher ones; who see through rhetoric.

We wanted to hear that they were upset that we had been herded into a makeshift press room in a garage on the grounds of the WXYZ-TV complex and forced to watch the whole thing on television — just as they did.

And it didn't matter whether we were from the New York Times or the Southfield Eccentric.

This was a town hall for the people. It didn't need a middleman to describe and interpret. It was there for all to see and come to their own conclusions.

In fact the only "other side" which surfaced on Nightline was a surge of antagonism toward journalists — as audience members disagreed with Koppel that it was wrong for the president to bypass the Fourth Estate.

When did we become such experts — interviewing each other on Sunday morning talk shows as often as we interview the people who make the news. We are not newsmakers. We are reporters.

If Watergate was the pinnacle of excellent journalism, what we now have may be the bottom. NBC News faking the explosion of a General Motors pickup truck is a scar all journalists must bear.

Following Watergate, college journalism departments were flooded with young people signing up for reporting classes. Their eye was on becoming the next Woodward and Bernstein.

The Oakland University classes I've talked to most recently are flooded with young people taking news writing classes — only because it's required to fulfill their communications major. Then they'll go on to public relations or advertising.

That hurts. But we have brought it on ourselves.

THIS SUMMER ALANA CAN BE LIKE ANY OTHER KID, AND FORGET HER HISTORY.

Alana is eight years old. For the last six years she has battled leukemia. That's six years of hospital visits and treatments twice a week. It's no way to spend a childhood.

But thanks to your donations to the United Way, agencies like the Children's Leukemia Foundation of Michigan can send kids like Alana to "Special Days" Camp. A place where Alana can enjoy carefree days of swimming, canoeing, and newfound friends.

The United Way supports 145 agencies. Nearly 90 cents of every dollar you contribute goes directly to work, since only 10.4 cents goes toward campaign and administrative costs. Your contributions help the homeless, and fight child abuse, right here in Wayne, Oakland, and Macomb counties. So please give to the United Way, and help kids like Alana leave their history in the past.

Stadium study funds legal - officials

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW
STAFF WRITER

The Wayne County Building Authority is under fire from county commission audit committee chair Susan Hubbard, D-Dearborn, for spending money on research involving Tiger Stadium.

Hubbard said the $177,000 that the Building Authority spent on stadium research in 1991 and 1992 violates a promise Executive Edward McNamara made to the commission not to commit county dollars to a stadium project without a vote of the people.

However, Building Authority executive director David Katz

(who is also an assistant county executive under McNamara) said the authority is a separate legal entity and not officially part of county government.

"Nothing illegal, immoral or dishonest took place," Katz said. "The county commissioners are not the Building Authority."

Bill Polankowski, the chairman of the Building Authority board, said the authority usually gets its project research "seed money" back as soon as the bonds are sold to fund construction of a given project. Such will be the case with the stadium seed money, he added, if a new stadium is built.

Referring to "politicians playing games," Polankowski said "everything we do is above board. I told the commissioners that anything they want, we'll do for them."

Ramona Henderson, the county's auditor general, said the commission's ire has risen because the Building Authority spent money on the stadium without commission approval. "I understand what (Hubbard) is after," Henderson said. "She wants some internal control" over the Building Authority.

Commissioner Bryan Amann, D-Wayne, said he doesn't believe the expenditure of Building Authority money on stadium research is a breach of McNamara's promise.

Hubbard's criticism, Amann said, is not valid. "Yeah, you know Susan," he said. "She's going to lose credibility if she goes off on a witch hunt. She's trying to rehash some year-old news."

Hubbard intends to submit a proposed amendment to the Building Authority's articles of incorporation at Thursday's commission meeting. The amendment would require the authority to follow stricter guidelines in bidding out work.

percent cut, with no reimbursements, would take effect.

"It never got voted on," said Honigman, whose western Oakland district includes homes with soaring assessments and out of formula schools.

"The Democrats wouldn't go with that. The Democrats wanted the sales tax in place before the property tax cut."

Democrat Faxon agreed. "We said it (sales tax) had to be in place (before the property tax cut). We offered three senators to negotiate."

After the deal collapsed, Honig-man, joined by Bouchard and Mat Dunaskiss, R-Lake Orion, won support for the amendment by which the state promised to replace lost revenue.

That promise was worthless, in Faxon's view. "It (the bill) says 'we shall do this.' If the money's not there, you can't do it. You can't force the Legislature to appropriate money. It's like having a bank account with no money," Faxon said.

Narrowly drawn
SB 146 is narrowly drawn to apply only to K-12 school taxes, not city, township, county, community college or metropark taxes.

A clarifying amendment said the cut doesn't apply to school taxes that fund a public library or community college.

Senate Republicans pushed the bill through in a single day, bypassing the normal procedure of discussing it on "general orders" one day and passing it the second.

Faxon protested: "To put this bill on a fast track serves no one." Dillingham said his GOP caucus used speed "to meet a political end, not a policy end."

Sen. Virgil Smith, D-Detroit, complained Republicans "rammed it through."

Senate Republicans said they pushed the bill so that the House could take it up in February, when Republican Willis Bullard of Milford chairs the Taxation Committee. In March the committee will be chaired by Democrat Lyn Jondahl of Okemos, who is unlikely to take it up.

CHEF LARRY JANES

'Gourmet momma' inspires good cooks

Now that Valentine's Day has passed, and I have confessed the usual card shop version of love to my mate, I can wholeheartedly confess adoration to one of my true loves, Julia Child.

Julia has garnered my love and respect in much the same way that momma has. As a matter of fact, subliminally, I refer to her as my "gourmet momma."

On rainy days, I pop one of Julia's eight cooking videos into my VCR, watch her prepare duck a l'orange, and silently mimic her cartooned voice. When I'm searching for a recipe for an infallible bread, chowder or creamy flan, I refer to one of her many books, especially "The Way to Cook," (Knopf, copyright 1989).

Grande dame

There's little doubt that Julia is by far the doyenne, the grande dame, and the epitome of good cooks throughout the world. Martha Stewart professes to entertain. Lynne Rosette Kasper might know about Italian cuisine, and Heloise can teach me how to clean my stovetop but, Julia deserves credit for instilling basic cooking knowledge to millions of folks like you and me.

If you cook, and if you're reading this, you probably love to cook. Undoubtedly there's a Julia Child cookbook somewhere in your cookbook library. If you have yet to pick up a copy of "The Way to Cook" there is no better time. This book is chock full of Julia's favorite master recipes, and contains tips that can turn a ball of sticky dough into some of the best French bread you've ever sunk your teeth into.

Helpful tips

The latest rage sweeping the metro area is root vegetables, and once again, Julia shows you how. One might say that Anne Willan, author of the "The Look and Cook Series," which accompanies recipes with step-by-step color photographs, borrowed Julia's thought that in addition to great recipes, a cookbook should contain precise photographs.

The photographs in "The Way to Cook" are full color directives that show how the food being prepared should look, whether you're braising cabbage or grating beets. And if that's not quite enough, there are also little quips of information like how to remove beet stains from your hands — simply wet them, rub with salt then wash with soap and water. The hands shown in the photographs are definitely Julia's complete with wrinkles and dark blotches that have fondled everything from a tenderloin of lamb to a wrinkled leaf of spinach.

Cooking with Julia

Readers call me all the time to ask questions about cooking. Whether it be how to make a velvety sauce for a bunch of broccoli or a question about the color of one of Julia's favorite foods, veal. I usually end up conferring with Julia in one of her books about a technique or recipe.

The first time I ever deboned a leg of lamb was with a glass of Gallo Hearty Burgundy and Julia's book, propped open to page 212.

The first time I ever attempted to bake a true French bread, complete with a cup of water thrown into the bottom of the oven to create steam for an unsurpassed crust was with Julia. I can still remember plugging in the 13-inch black and white TV where the blender now stands in momma's kitchen to follow Julia every step of the way while I boned my first walleye.

I'd even forego reruns of the Ghoul on Saturday afternoons to watch Julia dance through her French chef kitchen on PBS. There's little doubt that I am a Julia Child groupie.

If you love to cook and enjoy cooking well, you need to buy one of Julia Child's cookbooks. Whether it be "Mastering the Art of French Cooking," "The French Chef Cookbook" or any one of her other four cookbooks.

Julia Child deserves a place on your cookbook shelf. Local libraries have copies of her cookbooks for lending, and if you're looking for something a little classic, one of her recipes will certainly warm the cockles of your heart and taste buds.

She's one of the few great chefs today who can take you into her kitchen to tell, and show you everything she knows about the essentials of good cooking.

"The Way to Cook" is also available at all major bookstores, Williams-Sonoma and Kitchen Glamor stores. It's a bit pricey ($50) hardcover, but if there's someone in your family who loves to cook, this book will be an endless resource. Bon appetit!

SPICE UP YOUR LIFE

Cheer up, do something different, and fun. Get in the carnival spirit. Mardi Gras is a festive theme for a party. Set the mood with some Dixieland music, put on a pot of jambalaya or gumbo, and invite friends over for a fabulous feast:

Add some spice to your life, get rid of those winter doldrums — Mardi Gras is the perfect excuse to have a party.

Set the mood with Dixieland music, Zydeco or Harry Connick Jr. Hum along as he sings "Do you know what it means to miss New Orleans?"

Put a pot of spicy jambalaya or gumbo on the stove to simmer, invite friends over, and you'll be thinking about having fun, instead of how cold and ugly it is outside.

If you're Catholic, Feb. 23, also called "Fat Tuesday," is the last day to indulge in sweets, and other foods that are forsaken during Lent, the period of fasting and penance between Ash Wednesday, Feb. 24, and Easter, which this year falls on April 11.

"The word carnival means farewell to meat," said Carol Haskins, executive chef at the Townsend Hotel in Birmingham.

"Most of the Mardi Gras foods are fun foods to eat. There's a traditional cake called a King's Cake. It's a ring-shaped cake made from rich yeast dough with candied fruit peel, topped with a glaze of carnival colors — white, yellow, green and cherries. They put a bean or pecan half inside, and whoever finds it is the Mardi Gras king or queen."

Maureen Kelly of Troy, Catherine Quaine of Farmington Hills, and Geraldine Carroll of Bloomfield Hills are busy getting ready for the second annual Mardi Gras Carnival Feb. 20 at St. Anne's Church in Detroit.

The event, sponsored by the Gabriel Richard Historical Society, is a benefit to raise money for the restoration of the church building and grounds. Established in 1701, St.

Anne's is the oldest Catholic parish in Detroit, and the second oldest in the country.

The carnival will take place in a series of connected, heated marquis tents, and feature hors d'oeuvres, an open bar and live entertainment including Dixieland favorites from Percy Gabriel's New Orleans Band.

"Mardi Gras is mostly a celebration of good, hearty, substantial foods," said Jeffrey Gabriel, Certified Master Chef and director of the culinary arts program at Schoolcraft College in Livonia.

Schoolcraft's Mardi Gras celebration Feb. 19 and 20 will feature the Red Garter Band, harmonica virtuoso Peter "Madcat" Ruth and Schoolcraft's SCool Jazz Vocal Group.

The menu includes Seafood Jambalaya — a blend of rice, ham, red peppers, shrimp, tomatoes and okra seasoned with Tabasco sauce, garlic and cilantro. Jambalayas are also made with chicken, crabmeat, oysters and sausages. The rice absorbs most of the broth the meat or seafood is cooked in.

Gumbo, a hearty soup made with chicken, shrimp, ham and oysters either alone or in combination, is another food that comes to mind when talking about Louisiana cuisine and Mardi Gras. In gumbo the rice is cooked separately. At serving time, a mound of rice is placed in a soup bowl, and the gumbo is poured over it.

Marcia Sikarskie who is teaching "Mardi Gras — New Orleans Style" at Kitchen Glamor stores Feb. 16 to 19, describes Louisiana food as hearty and robust.

"They use a lot of seafood, chicken and pork in their dishes," she said, "and lots of garlic, pepper, sage, thyme, paprika and bay leaf. The food gets spicier the further south you go because the climate is warmer, and spice was used as a preservative."

Vegetables common in Cajun and Creole cooking include tomatoes, onions, celery, green pepper, and okra.

Coffees flavored with orange and lemon peel or cinnamon are traditional. For dessert serve pralines, which according to legend were named for a French butler, Praslin, who had almonds coated with sugar for his master as a precaution against indigestion.

Celebrate Mardi Gras French style

FOCUS ON WINE

ELEANOR & RAY HEALD

A most interesting history of the celebration of Mardi Gras is woven by Errol LaBorde in "Mardi Gras," published by Picayune Press. In the beginning, LaBorde elaborates, "Mardi Gras was sanctioned by the Christians and was named by the French." He goes on to describe primitive man's celebration, and that of the Greek peasants 50 years ago.

Christian religions consider the late winter rites an acceptable fasting before the Lenten season's abstinence. Whatever the details, Mardi Gras conjures up the idea of fun and celebration.

LaBorde does not detail how the celebration became associated with the word carnival, only that it did. The root word, however, gives us some clue. In 18th century Venice, he says, the celebration lasted on and off for six months, and a majority of the population adopted the habit of masking.

It appears that compared to their Latin neighbors, the French got a late start in celebrating carnival but "they quickly made up for lost time," LaBorde writes.

Some early French customs were quite uncivilized. As time went on, they adopted many cultural-civil traditions still practiced today.

"They made masquerading at balls popular and they introduced the boeuf gras, a huge bull, either real or manmade that came to symbolize the celebration," LaBorde narrates. "Fat Tuesday," a direct translation from the French became the French name for carnival day and is now known in every language as Mardi Gras.

By the late 19th century, the celebration of Mardi Gras waned in France. Ironically, this is the time it began to flourish in New Orleans and it is there that the feast is most celebrated today.

History lesson over, let's get down to celebrating and matching wine with Cajun and Creole cooking. The heart of Cajun food is southern French country cooking. Cajuns use the bounty of local crawfish, as well as chicken and pork, which is often smoked.

File powder, parsley, bay leaves, cayenne, black pepper and hot peppers are the principal seasonings. All preparations are accompanied by rice.

Rice balances hotness from the seasonings and allows solid wine harmonies. Unlike Cajun, Creole food originated in New Orleans and is a mixture of French, Spanish, Italian, American Indian and African traditions.

Louisiana's renowned chef Paul Prudhomme contends that "Today, in homes, there is still a distinction between Cajun and Creole cooking; in restaurants, little distinction remains." That's why Prudhomme refers to the two together as Louisiana cooking.

With Louisiana-style crabmeat, crawfish, shrimp or oysters, champagne or sparkling wine works well against well-seasoned preparations as long as they're not too hot.

SHRIMP CREOLE

½ cup butter or margarine
2 onions, finely chopped
2 cloves garlic finely minced
2 celery stalks, finely chopped
2 pounds raw shrimp, peeled and deveined
4 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons chili powder
2 cups milk
4 tablespoons catsup
2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley chicken broth or white wine to thin sauce

Use a heavy skillet — melt butter and sautee vegetables. Add shrimp and sautee a few minutes longer.

Combine the salt, flour and chili powder and add to the skillet. Gradually add the milk, and cook for five minutes at low heat.

Add catsup and parsley. Cover and continue to cook an additional 10 to 12 minutes. Add chicken broth or white wine to thin sauce to desired consistence. Serve on fluffy white rice tossed with lightly sauteed sliced mushrooms. Serves 4 to 6.

STUFFED MUSHROOMS

2 dozen mushrooms, stems finely chopped olive oil
4 tablespoons margarine
½ cup crabmeat flaked
1 onion, finely minced

1 stalk celery, finely minced
1 garlic clove, finely minced
½ teaspoon salt
dash cayenne pepper
3 slices white bread, made into crumbs in blender
Parmesan cheese

Wash and remove stems. Brush each cap with oil inside and out. Place on cookie sheet. Melt margarine in skillet and saute onion, celery and garlic until soft. Add finely chopped stems, flaked crabmeat, parsley, salt, pepper and bread crumbs. Stir until blended. Mound each cap with this mixture and sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. Bake at 325 degrees for 25 minutes.

CAFE BRULOT

The peel of 1 orange
The peel of 1 lemon
36 ounces hot brewed French roast dark coffee
1 cup sugar
1 cup bourbon
1 tablespoon whole cloves
2 sticks cinnamon

Put all the ingredients except coffee in a pot and mash together while bringing to a boil.

Remove from the heat, set the mixture on fire. When the alcohol has burned off, add coffee. Let the mixture stand a few minutes to improve the flavor. Strain and serve.

Recipes for Shrimp Creole, Stuffed Mushrooms and Cafe Brulot, supplied by Chef Carol Haskins of the Townsend Hotel, Birmingham

JAMBALAYA

2 tablespoons oil
8 pieces chicken, trimmed of all excess fat and skin
4 tablespoons salted butter
½ cup finely chopped onion
2 cloves garlic, minced
½ cup finely chopped green pepper
½ cup finely chopped celery
1 cup peeled, seeded and chopped fresh tomatoes, or 1 1-pound can peeled tomatoes, peeled and chopped
¼ cup finely chopped parsley
1½ cups long-grain rice
3½ cups boiling water
1 teaspoon salt
¼ to ½ teaspoon cayenne pepper
¼ teaspoon dried thyme, or a few fresh sprigs of thyme
1 bay leaf
Freshly ground black pepper
¼ pound boiled ham, julienned
½ pound uncooked shrimp, peeled and deveined

Chopped parsley for garnish

In a large, heavy saute pan, heat the oil and brown the chicken well on all sides. Remove and set aside.

In the same pan, melt the butter. Add the onion and sautee over low heat for 5 minutes until softened, stirring often to prevent coloring. Add the garlic and saute a few more minutes. Add the tomatoes and cook until the mixture has thickened and most of the liquid has evaporated. Stir in the parsley and rice and saute until the rice is hot.

Pour the boiling water over the rice mixture and stir in the spices and seasoning. Return the chicken to the pan. Bring the liquid to a boil, cover, and simmer until the chicken is cooked and most of the liquid has been absorbed by the rice, about 35 minutes.

Add the ham and shrimp to the rice, cover and continue cooking until the shrimp is pink and the ham is heated through, about 5 minutes.

Fluff the jambalaya with a fork to distribute the ingredients and serve sprinkled with additional parsley.

A grassy-style sauvignon blanc can't be beat. You can stick with French and use a Sancerre from the Loire Valley or choose one from California. These are some of the best: 1990 Paul Thomas Sancerre, Chavignol "Les Comtesses" ($16), 1991 Lockwood Sauvignon Blanc ($7), 1991 Simi Sauvignon Blanc ($9), 1991 Fetzer Barrel Select Sauvignon Blanc ($10).

With Andouille, the most popular Cajun smoked pork sausage, a spicy southern Rhone wine, such as a Chateaufort-du-Pape, is in order. Dry Creek Winery's owner Dave Stare, the grandson of a former Louisiana governor, is a Louisiana cooking aficionado. Wherever possible, winery events are centered around his food preference.

Dry Creek Winery chef Richard Nollevaux makes the best Duck and Andouille Gumbo we've tasted (see recipe inside). Dry Creek Zinfandel is used in the recipe and a glass of it makes a great match at the table.

With gumbo and duck preparations, we also like pinot noir. Here again, you can elect a French or red Burgundy or one of the bottlings from the Carneros region of California.

Ham dishes or tasso call for a rose or light red wine from Provence or one of the newer market entries from the Languedoc-Rousillon region of southern France.

The strong flavors of jambalaya and the fact that it often contains tomatoes make it difficult to pair with wine. Here the recommendation is a dark premium beer or Bass Ale.

To leave a Voice Mail message for the Healds, dial 953-2047 on a Touch-tone phone, mailbox 1864. See recipe inside.

DUCK AND ANDOUILLE GUMBO

Seasoning mix:
1½ teaspoons garlic powder
1 teaspoon dried thyme
½ teaspoon ground sage
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon each black pepper, white pepper and cayenne
1 teaspoon ground juniper berries

Roux:
2 cups vegetable oil
2 cups flour

Remaining ingredients:
5 cups minced white onions
2 cups minced green onion

(white and green parts)
1½ cups minced yellow bell pepper
3 cups minced celery
4 cups duck meat (from breast, leg, thigh)
3 tablespoons vegetable oil
2 andouille sausages, diced ¼ inch (approximately 1½ cup)
1½ cups dry red wine, Dry Creek Zinfandel
5 quarts rich duck stock (or chicken stock)
¼ cup Worcestershire sauce
2 tablespoons finely minced garlic
2 tablespoons salt
1½ teaspoons cayenne
¾ cup tomato puree

Saute andouille in a large frying pan for about 10 minutes until slightly brown. Remove with slotted spoon and set aside. Pour off any remaining grease. On medium high heat, add 3 tablespoons vegetable oil and brown off the duck meat that's been mixed with all of the seasoning mix. Stir for about 7 minutes until duck cooks slightly. Remove duck to same plate as andouille: deglaze pan with 1½ cups dry red wine.

In large heavy bottomed pot make a roux with oil and flour. When it turns a mahogany color, add white onions, green onions, yellow bell pepper and celery. Stir constantly for about 8 minutes, add duck stock, deglazing liquid from above and bring to a boil. Reduce to medium heat and add garlic, duck/andouille mixture, salt, cayenne, Worcestershire and tomato puree. Stirring occasionally, let cook over medium heat for about 2 hours. Skim surface occasionally.

Refrigerate overnight. The next day, remove any fat that remains on top. Reheat for service.

Serve in large soup bowl, add ½ cup cooked rice. Gumbo can be made hotter with your choice of Tabasco, etc. This gumbo is even more flavorful after freezing and reheating.

Makes approximately, 20 — 10 ounce servings.

Chef's note: Andouille, a Cajun smoked pork sausage, is a staple in New Orleans meat markets, but not widely available outside Louisiana. The Polish smoked sausage — kielbasa, can be used as a substitute.

Spend some time in the kitchen with Julia Child

See Larry Jones column on Taste front. Recipes from Julia Child's "The Way to Cook," (Knopf, 1989, hardcover $50)

ARGO BOUIDO (GARLIC SOUP)

1 or 2 large heads of garlic, (2 heads are not too much), the unpeeled garlic cloves separated and mashed 2 quarts water

seasonings:
2 teaspoons salt
a big pinch of freshly ground white pepper
2 whole cloves

¼ teaspoon sage
¼ teaspoon thyme
1 medium imported bay leaf
6 parsley sprigs
3 tablespoons fruity olive oil
3 egg yolks
¼ cup olive oil
Combine all the listed ingredients except the egg yolks and olive oil in a saucepan, bring to a boil, and simmer partially covered for 30 minutes. Strain into a bowl, pressing the juices out of the ingredients, and return to the saucepan.

Correct seasonings. Whisk the egg yolks in a soup tureen or a mixing bowl for a minute or two until thick and sticky; by droplets, whisk in the olive oil to make a thick, mayonnaise like cream.

Just before serving, beat a ladle-full of hot soup into the egg yolk mixture and then gradually whisk in the remainder of the soup. Serve immediately, passing bread and grated Parmesan cheese separately. Serves four to six.

GRATIN OF RUTABAGA OR WINTER SQUASH

1½ pounds rutabaga or winter squash, cut into a ¼-inch dice, 4 to 5 cups
½ teaspoon freshly grated ginger
1 large clove garlic, minced
3 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour
2 cups milk
3 tablespoons fresh white bread crumbs
3 tablespoons grated Swiss cheese

Place the diced rutabaga or squash in a steamer basket with ginger and garlic. Cover and steam over 1-inch of water for about 10 minutes, until almost tender. Remove the steamer, boil down the steaming liquid to ¼ cup; whisk into the sauce.

Make a white sauce by melting the butter in a saucepan and whisking in the flour and milk and cooking over low heat until thickened. Preheat oven to 325 degrees.

Fold the rutabaga or winter squash into the white sauce, and turn into a buttered baking dish. Spread on the crumbs and the cheese. Bake in the middle level of an oven for 1½ hours; the top should be nicely browned and the sauce almost completely absorbed. Serves 6.

Turkey potpie lean, delicious

AP — Satisfy your family's hankering for a hot and hearty meal with old-fashioned potpie, leaned up for the nineties. The filling contains nutritious vegetable juice cocktail (instead of high-fat cream), lots of chunky vegetables and morsels of turkey or chicken breast meat. To replace the usual buttery pastry, a quick-fix biscuit crust tops the filling. You never know — your new-fashioned potpie may just very well become an old favorite.

TURKEY POTPIE

6-ounce can vegetable juice cocktail
4 teaspoons cornstarch
2 cups sliced small zucchini and/or yellow summer squash
1½ cups chopped tomatoes
1 tablespoon dried minced onion
½ teaspoon dried Italian seasoning, crushed
¼ teaspoon garlic powder
¼ teaspoon pepper
8 ounces cubed cooked turkey or chicken (1½ cups)
¾ cup packaged biscuit mix
¼ cup skim milk
1 tablespoon grated Parmesan cheese
1 teaspoon dried parsley flakes

In a small mixing bowl stir together 2 tablespoons of the vegetable juice cocktail and cornstarch; set aside.

In a large saucepan combine zucchini and/or summer squash, tomatoes, onion, Italian seasoning, garlic powder, pepper and remaining vegetable juice cocktail. Bring to boiling. Add turkey or chicken and cornstarch mixture. Cook and stir until thickened and bubbly. Reduce heat and keep warm.

For biscuit topping, in a medium mixing bowl combine biscuit mix, milk, Parmesan cheese and parsley; stir just until moistened.

Transfer the hot chicken mixture to a 1½-quart casserole. Immediately drop biscuit topping in four mounds atop chicken mixture. Place casserole on a baking sheet.

Bake, uncovered, in a 400-degree

F oven for 15 to 20 minutes or until the topping is golden. Makes 4 servings.

Parfait easy to fix

AP — Sumptuous old-fashioned desserts can be surprisingly quick and easy to prepare when you use a packaged pudding mix and ready-made frozen poundcake.

Assemble individual servings by layering the vanilla pudding, toasted cubes of poundcake and strawberry slices in tall parfait glasses.

Preheat oven to 350 degrees F. On a jellyroll pan, place cake cubes in a single layer. Bake in a 350-degree F oven until golden, about 15 minutes, turning once. Remove from the oven; set aside to cool. Reserve 12 cubes for garnish. While cake is toasting, in a medium bowl prepare pudding according to package directions using milk and orange peel. When pudding has thickened, stir in cooled cake cubes. In each of four parfait or 10-ounce wineglasses, place a layer of strawberries, top with ½ cup pudding mixture. Repeat layering, ending with pudding mixture. Serve immediately or cover with plastic wrap and refrigerate until ready to serve. Just before serving, garnish with reserved poundcake cubes and whole strawberries. Makes 4 servings.

Shrimp gumbo ready in a hurry

When winter winds howl, what has more appeal than a savory soup simmering on the stove top? A speedy, just-as-delicious version that's ready when you are — after work, after school or after shopping.

Flavorful, quick-to-fix soups can be hearty and healthy, too. These simple, savvy preparation tips trim time as well as fat and calories.

Start with a low-fat base made with instant bouillon granules, canned low salt broths and/or vegetable juices.

Add good-for-you, convenient ingredients like fresh or frozen vegetables, canned beans and No Yolks cholesterol-free noodles.

Select quick-cooking, low-fat sources of protein like lean meat, fish or seafood. Cut beef and chicken into small bite-size pieces for faster cooking, or consider treating yourself to an occasional meatless meal.

Use just a small amount of oil to saute meats and vegetables. Generally, a tablespoon or less is needed. You might also try non-stick vegetable cooking spray and/or a nonstick pan.

Add plenty of herbs and spices. They provide lots of flavor and no fat, and less salt will be needed.

In under 30 minutes, you can have a steaming bowl of spicy gumbo-style soup on the table. Rather than starting with a traditional roux, Louisiana Shrimp "Gumbo" features a low-fat base of chicken broth, Cajun-style stewed tomatoes and zesty Creole seasonings. Favorite gumbo ingredients like shrimp, bell peppers and onions along with No Yolks noodles make convenient, flavorful additions.

Spicy soup: Enjoy a spicy taste of the South on a blustery winter day with Louisiana Shrimp Gumbo. Made with cajun-style stewed tomatoes, noodles, corn and tender shrimp, it's healthy, hearty and delicious.

To receive more healthy eating tips and recipes, send a self-addressed stamped business-size envelope to: No Yolks, Dept. 330, 520 E. Church Street, Libertyville, IL 60048.

LOUISIANA SHRIMP GUMBO

- ¾ cup chopped onion
- 1 cup chopped green bell pepper
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 2 teaspoons vegetable oil
- 2 cans (14½ ounces each) stewed tomatoes or Cajun-style stewed tomatoes, undrained
- 1 can (13¾ ounces) low-salt

- chicken broth
- 1 to 2 teaspoons Creole seasoning
- ½ package (4 ounces) No Yolks cholesterol-free noodles
- ½ pound peeled and deveined medium-size shrimp
- 1 cup frozen cut corn
- 2 tablespoons chopped fresh parsley

Saute onion, pepper and garlic in oil in Dutch oven over medium-high heat 3 minutes or until vegetables are crisp-tender. Stir in undrained tomatoes, broth and creole seasoning. Bring to a boil. Add noodles, lower heat to medium; simmer 8 minutes, stirring occasionally. Stir in shrimp, corn and parsley.

Continue simmering just until shrimp and corn are cooked through and noodles are tender, about 3 to 5 minutes.

Pinto beans star in Mexican entree

AP — Beans are getting a lot of attention in nutrition circles these days. An excellent source of fiber, good protein and very versatile, beans can give a new twist to some old favorites.

Pinto beans star in the following recipe that features a blend of bean sauce, roasted chilies and whipping cream. The dish is topped with whipping cream and anejo, a partly skimmed cheese.

ENFRUOLADAS

- 8 ounces (1 cup) dried pinto beans
- 1½ quarts water
- ½ onion
- 1 teaspoon salt (optional)
- ¼ teaspoon oregano
- 1 tablespoon vegetable oil
- 3 chilies poblanos, roasted, seeded and peeled, and cut into strips
- ¼ medium white onion, chopped
- 3 plum tomatoes, roasted and pureed
- ¾ cup whipping cream or Mexican cream
- 12 corn tortillas, lightly fried in oil
- 2 ounces queso anejo or feta cheese, crumbled

For the bean sauce: Sort and rinse pinto beans. Place in a medium saucepan. Add water and onion; bring to a boil. Reduce heat; partially cover and simmer 45 minutes until tender. Add salt and oregano, continue to cook 15 minutes, adding additional hot water, if necessary. Place beans and bean broth in a blender; puree until just blended.

For the filling: In a skillet, heat oil. Saute chili strips and chopped onion until tender. Stir in pureed tomato; cook over medium-high heat until thickened and reduced in half. Add ½ cup of the cream; stir until blended. Season to taste.

To assemble: Dip tortillas in bean sauce. Fill each tortilla with 2 tablespoons chili-tomato mixture; roll up. Place filled tortillas in a greased rectangular baking dish. Cover with remaining bean sauce. Top with remaining cream and cheese. Bake, covered, in a 350-degree F oven for 20 minutes or until thoroughly heated. Makes 8 servings.

Take your pick of precious pears

AP — The annual parade of domestically grown pears provides luscious fresh fruit from late summer through winter, a time when many other fresh fruits are either higher priced or just unavailable. Yet, like apples, no one pear variety lasts the entire season. And, just as in the case of apples, some varieties fare better than others for cooking.

Common pear varieties

Here are some of the common pear varieties you'll see in your market during the cooler months, with some hints on how to cook or serve them.

Anjou: This egg-shaped, winter pear wears a pale green, yellow-green, or red skin. Because it is sweet and juicy, it is good for salads and snacks.

Bartlett: The yellow or red Bartlett is bell-shaped. Available in the summer and fall, this popular variety is good for canning and cooking because it holds its shape. It also is an excellent pear for eating fresh.

Bosc: This long-necked winter variety has golden brown skin with russetting or browning. The fresh fruit has a creamy texture and is full of flavor. The Bosc holds its shape well during cooking, so it is a good choice for baking, poaching and broiling.

Comice: This chubby, green, or greenish-yellow winter pear has a thick, short stem and sometimes a red blush on one side. It is not recommended for cooking or baking but is considered a good pear to eat fresh, especially with cheese, because it is very sweet and juicy.

Forelle: A small, golden, bell-shaped pear, the Forelle has a freckled skin and red blush. Sweet and juicy, it is good for eating out of hand.

Nelis: This egg-shaped winter variety has russet-colored skin. It is a good choice for salads and snacks.

Seckel: You'll find this small egg-shaped pear in late summer and fall. It can vary in color, from dark green with a red blush to dark red all over. One of the sweetest types of pears, it is great for snacks or for pickling and canning whole.

Buying and storing pears

When shopping for pears, look for fruit without bruises or cuts. Also, remember that skin color may not indicate ripeness. The color of some pear varieties does not significantly change during ripening.

For baking, look for pears that are fairly firm. If you plan to eat pears out of hand, look for those that yield to gentle pressure at the stem end.

To ripen too-firm pears at home, place them in a paper bag or a loosely covered bowl. Let them stand at room temperature for a few days. You can tell most varieties are ripe when they yield to gentle pressure at the stem end. However, yellow Bartlett pears become a bright yellow, and red Bartletts become a brilliant red when ripe. Once ripened, fresh pears keep well in the refrigerator for several days. They do not freeze well.

Preparing pears

To decide whether pears should be peeled, follow these rules of thumb:

Leave the peel on for eating out of hand or for cutting into pieces for salads.

For cooking pears in sauces, remove the peel, because the skin toughens and darkens as it cooks in liquid.

Ah, natural

French perfumer Comptoir Sud Pacifique blends the scents of choice for such notables as Melanie Griffith, Princess Caroline and Robert Redford. The all-natural island fragrances and candles are made of Polynesian vanilla and raw oils from other tropical places. If you crave florals and citrus, you'll want a whiff of these hardy blends. Scents come in aluminum containers similar to the ones used by 19th century French traders. Once available only at posh getaways like Cannes, the perfumes are now sold at Barney's, Somerset Collection, Troy, and Lorj Karbal, Birmingham. (Selections shown are $68 to $75).

Whodunit?

The magician's dead and it's your job to decide whodunit. "Magic Bazaar" and other jigsaw puzzle mysteries, such as "Missing Links," "Death by Diet" and "Final Run," include a story with three possible solutions. Read the mystery for clues, draw conclusions and solve the murder by putting together the 500-piece puzzle. (Clue: it's not the image pictured on the box). The mysteries are like real life so be on the lookout for liars, swindlers, cons and blackmailers, warns Bepuzzled, the maker of the mystery games (about $20). Available at Wild Cards, West Oaks II, Novi.

Dream Catchers Vol. 2 — various artists

Benefits are nothing new, nor are compilation compact discs, but "Dream Catchers Volume 2" is more impressive than others. This two-CD release is the second from the Blue Yonder Audio organization, which is dedicated to assisting American Indian causes in and out of Michigan. Secondly, this set spotlights 25 of this state's musical acts, a difficult thing to do with one release.

The release chapters a variety of musical expressions ranging from the soul sound of "Things Will Change" by Howling Diablos to the alternative pop of Pete Peltier's "Let Me Take You There" to an aggressive rock feeling from "Something Happened" by The Hope Orchestra.

An opera type ballad, entitled "Land of the Greed" by Richard Cyr, a traditional American Indian drum song "Eagle Honor Song" performed by the Waishkey Bay Singers and a hip-hop tune entitled "Trials and Tribulations" by The Prophet round out the CD's variety.

This release focuses attention Michigan talent that may have been heard before, but the release effectively showcases what creativity could be currently overlooked.

The underlying basis of the release is Native American issues and concerns as well as other social themes. At times these ideas become a bit too heavy, but remembering why the release was recorded justifies the actions.

"Dream Catchers Volume 2" is a project of Blue Yonder Audio, a non-profit organization composed of Detroit area musicians and communication industry professionals committed to assisting Native Americans.

For more information, contact Blue Yonder Audio at 200 E. University, Suite 3, Royal Oak 48067, or call 543-8433.

Ash lights up his solo career

For Daniel Ash, it sometimes feels like he's been playing his songs for decades . . . with others. Now the singer/songwriter/guitarist is taking a timeout from his work with Love & Rockets to focus on his solo career.

STAFF WRITER

Don't remind singer-songwriter-guitarist Daniel Ash about his long career. The musician who played with Bauhaus, Tones on Tail and Love & Rockets is well aware, thank you.

"It started in 1966 and I'm still going," Ash said with a laugh. Well, OK, it really started in the late 1970s.

During this leg of his career he's concentrating on his solo career which includes doing his first-ever solo tour. Sometimes, Ash found, preparing for the tour which supports his latest release "Foolish Thing Desire" and the previous "Coming Down," wracked his nerves like his stint with Tones on Tail.

"A lot of things were on my shoulders with that group," he said. "That was the first time it was more of the pressure. This to me is the continuation of this sort of feeling."

To minimize the stress and maximize the enjoyment, Ash is keeping the tour short — only 20 gigs, which includes one at St. Andrew's Hall in Detroit on Friday, March 19. (His show scheduled for Thursday, Feb. 18, has been postponed.)

"I don't want to do like 30 or 40 gigs; I didn't want to do it when I was doing 30 or 40 gigs," he said. "You lose your enthusiasm for it."

Enthusiasm also proved important while planning the recording of "Foolish Thing Desire." Instead of the usual studio grind, Ash tried a spontaneous approach with the release which was recorded in winter 1991. (Record company conflicts kept it from being released until recently.)

"I deliberately went in (to the studio) with no songs or music at all," he explained. "I just booked studio time. The whole record was a totally new way of working."

After writing the music with his band, Ash hid away and wrote the lyrics. He found this approach satisfying.

"The rewards were much greater," Ash said. "I didn't have time to think about it too much. I have this tendency to overanalyze things."

Early in his career, Ash tried another sort of experimental approach to songwriting. Upon meeting future Bauhaus member Peter Murphy, the two formed a band with Murphy singing a series of newspaper articles.

"After about 15 seconds, I knew we'd have some sort of success," said the 35-year-old musician. "Four weeks after, we formed Bauhaus, and we recorded 'Bela Lugosi's Dead.'" The song was released in 1979.

The song, still active on alternative dance clubs' play lists, became the cornerstone of the Goth-rock cathedral. After nearly five years of recording and performing, Bauhaus broke up and Ash put together Tones on Tail with Bauhaus drummer Kevin Haskins. That group mutated into the highly influential Love & Rockets in 1985, when Bauhaus bassist and current solo artist David J. came aboard.

Although on hiatus, Love & Rockets is still together. Like Bauhaus and Tones on Tail, the Love & Rockets needed time apart.

"We all wanted to do that," the Northampton, England, native explained. "We've been working with the same people for 12-13 years."

Going to do something else is really refreshing."

Tickets for the postponed Daniel Ash show from Thursday, Feb. 18, will be honored for his show on Friday, March 19, at St. Andrew's Hall, 431 E. Congress, Detroit. Doors open at 9 p.m. Must be 18 to enter. Call 961-MELT for more information.

'70s retro fashions — a spring thing

BY JANICE TIGAR-KRAMER
SPECIAL WRITER

Just when it seemed safe to say that '70s fashions were gone for good, they're back, sort of.

This spring you'll experience a fashion flashback with the reappearance of bell-bottoms and wide-legged pants, modified platform shoes and a lot in between. But this time around, the retro look comes in soft fabrics and wearable styles that appeal to more than teenagers.

Why the resurgence of a fashion look remembered for excess, harsh fabrics and clumsy footwear? Leading designers are "borrowing the carefree '70s attitude," but the look is all '90s, says Janice Hayes, Jacobson's public relations director.

"The re-interpretation of '70s fashions is much more feminine," she said. "Some designers go to the extreme, but most of the new fashions are versatile and easy to wear."

'90s style: Lori Guina wears an updated version of palazzo pants and midriff top from City Limits in Farmington.

STREET CLOTHES

Bell-bottoms and palazzo pants, vests, ruffled tops, tunics, poorboy sweaters, midriffs and sheer garments all are back in a big way — this time in softer silhouettes (no pointy collars) and fluid fabrics, such as chiffon, crepe, silk, net, crochet, lace and macramé. This spring's colorful psychedelic prints and African motifs also are '70s-inspired.

Although the '70s look is in, polyester and other rigid fabrics that defy draping are about as out as hippies and disco dancing, fashion experts quickly point out.

Come spring, the menswear look, with heavy shoulder pads, pinstripes and severe tailoring will be replaced by longer, less tailored jackets, vests and tunics. Even open weave, embroidered and lace vests by Dior and Donna Karan can be worn to the office and layered with a lace T-shirt underneath, said Hayes.

"The '70s look is fun; it's diverse and allows great freedom of expression," she said.

This spring Jacobson's Signature and Miss J departments will carry bell-bottoms in hip-hugger and waisted styles, hemmed or frayed for a grunge look.

Youthful fashions, like the midriff and sheer evening wear by designers like Chanel and Claude Montana will reveal "lots of skin," said Hayes, who reports that cleavage is in for the '90s.

At City Limits in downtown Farmington, owners Roz Fierberg and Chris Merucci started selling wide-legged pants more than a year ago, about the time retro dressing caught on.

"The look is pretty and sophisticated," said Fierberg. "You can dress up a soft wide-legged pant by

Matinee' recalls old days of horror

BY JOHN MONAGHAN
SPECIAL WRITER

Lawrence Woolsey realizes that in 1962 it takes more than a good title to lure people away from their televisions and into theaters. For his new movie "Matinee" (half man, half ant, all terror), he pulls out every gimmick in the book from Atomo-Vision to Rumble Rama to a Mant-suited teenager terrorizing the aisles.

"Matinee," slowly building an audience after a couple of weeks in general release, recalls the good old days when kids filled driveways and Saturday matinees to check out the latest trashy horror/sci-fi double bill. It also harkens back to a more real type of horror.

Woolsey, played by John Goodman, chooses Key West as the site for his new opening — "so the big studios won't steal his latest ideas," he says. He blows into town early, stirring up publicity and wiring the theater with a number of new gadgets. The Bay of Pigs crisis, which sends the Florida town into a tizzy, only works to his advantage.

"We show them their worst possible nightmare," Woolsey says, "and then we destroy it. They go home knowing that this time anyway the battle has been won."

The movie captures this high-water mark of the Cold War, where a stone-faced JFK addresses fellow Americans about the possible threat of nuclear attack from Cuba. Residents clear supermarket shelves to fill bomb shelters while students practice the art of duck and cover.

The real Lawrence Woolsey has always winced at the thought of messages in their movies. They would tell you that their sole objective was always how to lure teenagers in, often thinking up the titles and ad campaigns long before writing the scripts.

Woolsey becomes an amalgamation of these B-movie moguls. The gut and cigar (not to mention epic frugality) recalls Sam Arkoff, head of American International Pictures (AIP), who made a fortune off the steady stream of beach, biker and monster movies he and partner James Nicholson released in the 1960s.

Woolsey also possesses the technical wizardry of producer/director William Castle, king of the gimmicks. He was the first to offer shock buzzers beneath the seats, ghosts flying above the audience, or the opportunity to make out a will before seeing his latest scarefest.

"Matinee" director Joe Dante also cut his teeth in B-grade exploitation. He made "Piranha" for Roger Corman before hooking up with Steven Spielberg and "Gremlins."

Movie fans will find half the fun in the details. Vintage posters line the walls of the old movie theater. Dick Miller, an AIP movie regular, teams with independent director John Sayles as shills who stir up audience interest by insisting that "Matinee" threatens the town's decency.

A coming attractions preview for "Matinee" opens the film and provides the best spoof, with Woolsey introducing the movie Hitchcock-style and even ripping off the trademark profile in silhouette. Later clips from the movie resurrect actors like "Invasion of the Body Snatchers" Kevin McCarthy to battle the title monster as it scales the sides of buildings.

Despite its insider cleverness and message, you get the feeling that something else could have been done with "Matinee." The teenage relationships are surprisingly ordinary nostalgic sitcom stuff while the idea that the young horror movie nut could really learn the ropes from an old pro like Woolsey had the most unmined promise.

There's also music, including "Satisfaction," "Brown Sugar" and "Sympathy for the Devil." ($4 admission)

"Wuthering Heights" (USA — 1939), Feb. 18-21 (call for show times). Laurence Olivier and Merle Oberon star in this haunting first screen version of the Emily Bronte novel. "The Crying Game" (Ireland — 1992). Love, loyalty, murder, and seduction are the themes of this stylized new thriller from Neil Jordan. Giving away the plot would be doing an injustice, so suffice it to say that the Irish director of "Mona Lisa" and "The Miracle" provides more twists and turns than a ride on the Tilt-a-Whirl. Stephen Rea, Miranda Richardson, Forest Whitaker and Adrian Dunbar star.

MICHIGAN THEATRE
603 E. Liberty, Ann Arbor. Call 668-8397 for information. ($5; $4 students and senior citizens)

"My New Gun" (USA — 1992), through Feb. 18 (call for show times). A husband buys a gun for his wife in order to protect her. She reluctantly accepts it only to have it taken without permission by a neighbor who has a crush on her. This quirky comedy from first-time director Stacy Cochran stars Diane Lane and Tess Harper.

"The Hairdresser's Husband" (France — 1992), Feb. 19-25 (call for show times). When a 12-year-old boy spies the half-exposed breast of a hairdresser, he becomes obsessed. He eventually marries a young hairdresser and the two slowly shut out the world in this new French comedy from Patrice Laconte.

"Dial M For Murder" (USA — 1954), 8 p.m. Feb. 19-20 (organ overture begins at 7:30 p.m.). In this sly Hitchcock thriller, Ray Milland can't resist the thought of murdering cheating wife Grace Kelly for her fortune. Though shot in 3D, it will be shown her in the "flat" version.

STAR JOHN R
32289 John R (at 14 Mile), Madison Heights. Call 585-2070 for information. ($6; $3.75 before 6 p.m.)

"Passion Fish" (USA — 1993). Mary McDonnell and Alfre Woodard play women who are uprooted from their city lives by sudden events and then transplanted in rural Louisiana. From independent writer/director John Sayles, who could use a thoughtful, insightful character study to help us forget his last couple of films.

"9 1/2 Weeks" (USA — 1986), 9 p.m. Feb. 15. Mickey Rourke and Kim Basinger engage in kinky sex on screen, but the rest of Adrian Lyne's obsessive love story between a Wall Street exec and an art dealer is a snoozer.

City Limits, an off-price store, began to stock psychedelic cotton tops and '70s-inspired print skirts by Reference Point, Art Works, Live in Color and other makers right after Christmas. The owners expect the look to be popular because of its versatile style and fabric options.

Says M.J. Burns, Hudson's fashion director, who grew up in the '70s: "I loved the ('70s) fashions when I was a preteen, but my mother wouldn't let me wear everything I wanted. I'm still young enough, so this season I'm embellishing my wardrobe with everything."

At Hudson's, '70s fashions by Levi, Trends and Designs will be strongest in juniors. Keyhole dresses (cut-outs in the bodice) and sheer formal wear by designers like Liz Claiborne, DKNY and Carole Little also will show up in Hudson's Oval Room and better sportswear department.

"I loved the ('70s) fashions when I was a pre-teen, but my mother wouldn't let me wear everything I wanted. I'm still young enough, so this season I'm embellishing my wardrobe with everything."

M.J. Burns

Burns suggests wearing the new platform shoes (much lower than the six-to-eight-inch soles of the '70s) in nubuck and colored leathers with suits; mules and platforms with open-toes and cork soles are a good match for capri pants and tunics.

If you want the real thing, Cinderella's Attic in downtown Royal Oak may be the only place in metro Detroit to find used and never worn '70s clothes, which co-owner Heidi Lichtenstein harvests from the backrooms of clothing stores around the country.

Besides a pair of glittery eight-inch platform boots (which came from Lichtenstein's own closet), Cinderella's Attic has polyester bell-bottoms, shirts with "747" collars, psychedelic vests and even mood rings, all new. The store also carries '70s-inspired clothing from new makers, such as Fun House, Island Electric and Cykxtee.

By far, the most requested '70s got-up is bell-bottom pants and platforms. Yet, the customers most interested in finding these vintage clothes are age 17 to 22, says Lichtenstein.

"They want '70s clothes because they've never worn them before," she said. "Maybe their parents were hippies and they saw them dressed this way in pictures."

Fouls doom SC men

The one thing Schoolcraft College's men's basketball team could not afford was foul trouble.

That's what beat the Ocelots Wednesday at Alpena CC, 91-86.

SC led most of the game. At half, the score was 48-33, favoring the Ocelots. But with two starters (on a seven-man squad) lost to fouls for the game's final 5½ minutes, the result was inevitable — another defeat.

Four Ocelots reached double-figures in scoring: Mohammed Abdrabbob (21), Steve Whitlow (20), Jarvis Murray (19) and LaMonte Fondren (14). Murray grabbed 12 rebounds, Whitlow collected nine boards and five assists, and Fondren pulled in nine rebounds, with Abdrabbob getting six.

Travis Smith's 17 points paced Alpena. George Blanchard scored 16 and Aaron Covin had 15.

SC slipped to 6-18 overall, 2-13 in the Eastern Conference. Alpena is 8-15 overall, 4-10 in the conference.

The turning point, according to SC coach Dave Bogataj, came in the final four minutes of the first half, when both Murray and Fondren — the Ocelots' best inside threats — picked up their third fouls. That left the rebounding load against a bigger team to Whitlow and Abdrabbob, and it became a factor late in the game.

"It took the legs out of the kids," said Bogataj. Both Murray and Fondren drew their fourth fouls before the second half was five minutes old, forcing Bogataj to shuttle them in for each other. It also hurt the Ocelots defensively, keeping at least one of the team's top rebounders on the bench and allowing Alpena to hit the offensive glass aggressively.

It also opened up the 'Jacks for more threes, which they took advantage of, making six of their eight triples in the second half.

Murray, who numbered three offensive fouls among his five, got his fifth with 6:30 left. Fondren followed him with his fifth a minute later. Alpena took the lead for good with 1:40 left.

S'craft women routed

Four members of Schoolcraft College's women's basketball team were feeling ill Wednesday at Alpena CC, but the Lady 'Jacks showed no sympathy, other than a quick killing — 89-51.

Also down with the flu was coach Jack Grenan, who was so sick he couldn't even make the trip, leaving assistant Will Broner to do the coaching. Nothing could have saved SC, however.

"I'd say we shot in the low 30 percent area," estimated Broner, who was filling in for Grenan for the second time in his five years as assistant. "We missed a lot of layups we had an opportunity to finish off. We dug ourselves a hole in the last half of the first half and we couldn't get out."

Alpena raced to a 46-26 halftime lead and never let up. Five Lady 'Jacks reached double-figures in scoring: Denise Williams (19), Jenny Sherman (15), and Lisa Paradise, Heidi Haskins and Breanna Huff (12 each).

SC got 19 from Angie Cerne, 16 from Dana Hudson and nine from Alisa Wechter.

The Lady Ocelots have two regular-season conference games left, against Henry Ford CC and Delta, both at home. Two wins will put them in the state playoffs.

Rocks win 7th dual in row

Plymouth Salem won just five of 12 events, but the Rocks (as they have so often this season) won the swimming meet with their depth Thursday, 95-87 over visiting Farmington.

The seventh-ranked Rocks are 7-1 in dual meets and 3-0 in the Lakes Division of the Western Lakes Activities Association.

Salem has its final dual Thursday at home against defending WLAA champion Livonia Stevenson, ranked No. 9 in Class A.

Matt Erickson won the butterfly (57.61) and anchored the winning 200 freestyle relay team, which included Fred Locke, Alex Beard and David Bracht.

Locke won the 50 freestyle (22.84), Aaron Berlin the 200 freestyle (1:55.93) and Justin Richardson the diving with 228.6 points.

Darnell fight canceled

Professional boxer Steve Darnell isn't going overseas, after all.

Darnell's super middleweight fight against Steve Collins, scheduled for Saturday in London, England, has been canceled.

Darnell, who grew up in Livonia and lives in Westland, said he heard Collins called off the fight after getting "stitches in his forehead" after sparring.

"I'm bummed out but there's nothing I can do," said Darnell, who returned from a four-year retirement and has a 24-2-2 professional record.

Bradd Lally, who manages and trains his brother Brett, a Westland professional middleweight boxer, was to have accompanied Darnell overseas.

Lally said he sensed something was up with the scheduled fight when there still was no contract signed less than two weeks before the bout. Lally said he heard a rumor Collins canceled the fight because he was still recovering from losing a World Boxing Organization title match to Reggie Johnson four months ago.

Collins is 30-1-1 as a pro.

Bradd Lally isn't sure when Darnell will fight next but would like to negotiate something in the near future.

Salem snatches victory from Glenn

Sharpshooter Slone: Mike Slone (with ball) scored 21 points, including the game-winning, three-point basket, to lift Salem to victory over Westland John Glenn.

Mike Slone doesn't consider it a boast when he speaks confidently of his three-point shooting ability.

His desperation triple with one second remaining Friday night gave host Plymouth Salem a 61-60 victory over Westland John Glenn in a matchup between two of Observerland's top basketball teams.

"I'm not being conceited, but I just don't think you can say it's luck for me," Slone said. "If I see someone open, I'll pass. But I had my head down and was looking for the shot myself."

It wasn't the first time Slone, who hit five triples and finished with a game-high 21 points, had made a last-second shot.

He's done it three times this season (not always to end the game) and twice last year in the same game against Plymouth Canton, forcing overtime with the first and winning with the second.

"I practice that a lot by myself when I'm just messing around," he said. "I feel I can hit it from anywhere on the floor."

The Rocks are 13-2 overall, the Rockets 11-3. Both teams are 7-2 in the Western Lakes Activities Association.

Brandon Slone contributed 19 points, including three treys, and James Head and Sanjeev Seth added eight apiece for Salem.

Glenn had five starters in double figures: Kevin Claypool (14), Aaron

Estey finds success in many ways

BY C.J. RISAK
STAFF WRITER

How do you spell success? If you're a basketball player and the only thing that matters is wins and losses, then what Jill Estey's done probably won't interest you.

Estey left Plymouth Salem High School four years ago with solid credentials as a point guard (all-state). Her destination: the University of Illinois. It was hardly a choice based entirely on athletics; the Fighting Illini had just six winning seasons since becoming a varsity sport in 1974-75, the last coming in '86-87.

"It was the third-best engineering school in the country," said Estey, who's a year away from her mechanical engineering degree and is a National Honor Society member. "And I loved the campus."

Stop right now if you're looking for the classic, All-American kind of happy ending to this story, with Estey as the key. There were no reversals for Illinois; the Illini have struggled to win, going 11-17 Estey's freshman season and 9-19 the next two.

But she has still found a different kind of success. Not just personal kinds, either, although she's had plenty of those. Early this season, Estey set the Illinois career record for steals. She's averaging 2.2 a game this season.

BASKETBALL

And against Michigan State Feb. 7, she became the school's all-time career assist leader. Her season average is 5.9, which puts her within reach of sixth place on the Big Ten's all-time assist list.

Marks to be proud of for a point guard, for sure. And Estey? "It was a goal," she said of the assist record. "I guess I am proud of that. But the major thing was to win games. Just now, we've been playing up to potential."

Illinois was 9-10 going into Sunday's game at Iowa, with a 4-6 Big Ten record. Those aren't marks to boast about, to be certain, but when victories are hard to find, they sure look good.

Estey has played well for 3½ years, starting since she was a freshman, but has far too few wins to show for it. Maybe that's what makes the victories she does get so savory.

"You've got to keep it in perspective," she said. "I look at it as a learning experience."

If so, she's learned a lot. For one, she's learned that winning comes through work, and she's continued to work on her game, off-season and in. Last summer, her shot drew her attention. The extra effort paid off —

Estey's averaging a career-best 9.4 points a game, up from her career average of 4.6 a game.

Work and Estey seem synonymous. The stat that describes her best isn't points or assists or steals — it's time. She's started 94 consecutive games. She has averaged, in her career, more than 30 minutes a game. She leads Illinois this season (as she did last) with 34 minutes per game.

Not bad for someone who stands just 5-4, smallest on the team.

She's learned the game teaches in other ways, too. "When I look at my four years, I really liked the people on my team," she said. "The coaching staff has really been great. You know, you can be in a winning program and not get along with anyone."

"I guess you can learn a lot from losing. It changed my outlook on a lot of things."

Not that she likes it. Her greatest hope remains an outside chance of making the NCAA Tournament ("If we can knock off a few of them in our last eight games and finish in the top four in the conference . . ."); her fondest memory is this season's win over Purdue ("They beat us by 63 points two years ago. It just meant a lot to beat them").

And her biggest regret? It isn't going to Illinois, even though the team has struggled; on the contrary, it's ending her career. "This is a very young and talented team," Estey said of her current teammates. "They're going to win a Big Ten title. "It makes me wish I was a freshman. I think I'm going to miss it a lot."

Her teammates will miss her a lot, too, although the other Big Ten teams won't share that sentiment.

4th-quarter collapse costs Canton cagers

Plymouth Canton failed to score a field goal in the fourth quarter and lost a boys basketball game Friday night at Northville, 62-60.

The loss dropped Canton to 6-9 overall, 5-4 in the Western Lakes Activities Association.

Northville, 9-6 overall and 4-5 in the WLAA, outscored Canton 22-9 in the fourth quarter to rally from a 51-40 deficit.

All of Canton's nine points in the fourth quarter came from the free throw line. The Chiefs enjoyed a big third quarter, outscoring Northville 20-9 to erase a 30-29 halftime deficit.

"We had a real nice third quarter, they had a nice fourth quarter, hit three or four three-pointers in a row, gained momentum and we never got it back," Canton coach Charlie Paye said.

"We had our chances in the last two minutes to tie or go ahead, but we turned it over, things like that."

Brad Paskievitch scored 16 points and Bryan Whittle added 11 to lead the Chiefs. Todd Rabourn led Northville with a game-high 19.

■ REDFORD CC 66, DLS 60: Senior forward Brian Paluk scored 15 of his game-high 30 points in the fourth quarter to rally Redford Catholic Central on Friday past host Warren DeLaSalle. CC trailed 43-42 after three quarters but outscored DeLaSalle 24-17 in the fourth quarter to win its seventh game in the last eight.

The win gives CC sole possession of second place in the Central Division standings at 7-3. CC, 9-7 overall, meets Dearborn Divine Child in a first-round playoff game at 5 p.m. Sunday at Calihan Hall.

DeLaSalle, fourth place in the Central Division at 5-5, meets Southgate Aquinas in a first-round game Sunday at Calihan Hall.

Paluk made three shots from three-point range and was 9-10 at the free throw line. Sophomore guard Damien Baskerville contributed 12 points and Andy Slankster and Jeff Gutt had eight each.

Don DeDonatis scored a team-high 26, including 13-14 free throws, for DeLaSalle.

CC led 15-12 after one quarter but DeLaSalle had a 17-12 second quarter advantage to lead 29-27 at intermission.

■ HURON VALLEY 48, PCA 44: Sophomore forward Dan House scored 14 points Friday but Plymouth Christian's bid to upset Westland Huron Valley fell short.

The loss dropped Plymouth Christian to 3-7 in the Michigan Independent Athletic Conference, 4-13 overall.

Huron Valley, which got a game-high 23 points from senior forward Melton Stoudemire, improved to 4-3 and 8-6.

Plymouth Christian fell behind 15-9 after one quarter and 28-15 at halftime before staging a second-half rally. The Eagles outscored Huron Valley 12-8 in the third quarter and 17-12 in the fourth but it wasn't enough.

Freshman forward Jamie Neil scored 10 to support House in the scoring column, but no other Eagle finished in double figures.

Leading scorer Jason Neil and Aaron Jones had six rebounds apiece.

■ WAYNE 89, LINCOLN PARK 26: Junior Andre Graves pumped in a game-high 21 points Friday, propelling Wolverine A League leader Wayne Memorial (14-1, 11-0) past the visiting Railsplitters (4-11, 2-9).

Wayne scored 20 straight points in the opening quarter while holding Lincoln Park scoreless.

Guards Bill Romej and Antonio Dodd contributed 12 and 10 points, respectively. Jason Overton, a 6-foot-5 senior, grabbed 13 rebounds.

Petition supports bowling

AL HARRISON

Bowling should be a regular medal sport in the Olympic Games.

There have been many attempts to get this recognition. So far, the powers that be have not seen it our way, and with the next games set for Atlanta in 1996, this is our best chance to connect.

There is an organized effort under way to amass one million signed petitions from all across America to present to the International Olympic Committee.

Each year, we select a Team USA for all international competition.

Our team is comprised of the best amateur bowlers across the country, and they can compete with the best from anywhere in the world.

There are 60 nations that take part in international bowling competition with more than 50 million people participating.

You would think more people can relate to bowling than, say, synchronized swimming, kayaking, handball, biathlon, luge or water polo. Bowling is a game that is really far for one and all.

The heaviest ball allowed, anywhere in the world, is 16 pounds.

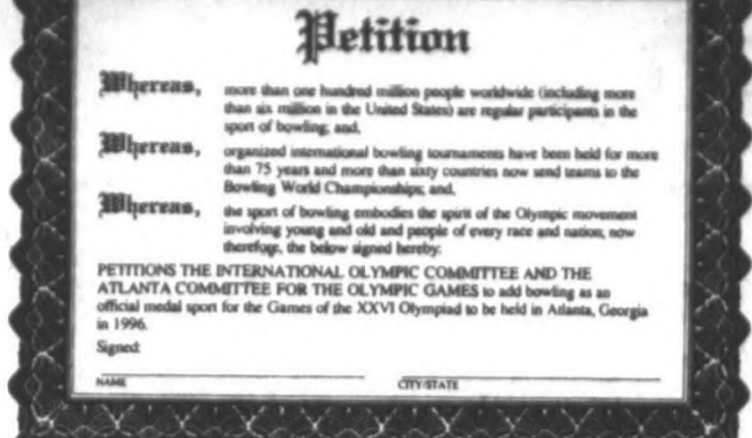

A muscular 6-footer has no particular advantage over a slim person of short stature. The scoring is not judgmental, either a pin has toppled or it has not. Compare that to how the skaters and divers are always judged, and how political that can be.

Bowling has been basically unchanged for almost 100 years. I think bowling should be a part of the Olympics, do you?

If you agree, please take a moment to fill out and sign the petition form. You can mail it directly to this paper, or if more convenient bring it to the bowling center and give it to the counter person.

Either way, this is your chance to stand up and be counted. Help us reach our goal of one million signed petitions. You can make a difference.

Gable league champion skier

Niki Gable added a league championship to her many victories in high school skiing Thursday.

The Farmington Hills Mercy sophomore was the overall winner of the combined slalom and giant slalom competition in the Southeast Michigan League finals at Alpine Valley.

Gable was second in slalom skiing in the morning but came back in the afternoon to win the giant slalom.

Birmingham Marian's Kelly Cook, who won the slalom event, dropped to sixth place in the giant slalom.

"Niki's concentration level really got intense after the slalom," said her father and Mercy coach Tom Gable. "After she saw what happened (in the slalom), she skied an exceptionally strong race in giant slalom."

"Being edged out helped her ski a little stronger. She wasn't going to let anybody beat her out."

Scheffer (13), Ken Taylor (12), Tony Goins (11) and John Miller (10).

The Rockets and their fans went from jubilation to dejection in nine seconds, thinking they had locked up the win when Ken Taylor tipped in a free throw for a 60-58 lead with :10 left.

Salem didn't bother with a timeout. The Rocks raced up the floor, and Slone let loose with his triple from well behind the three-point line.

"We practice that shot a bit, too," Salem coach Bob Brodie said, being very serious. "It's not that it was a designed play."

"My philosophy is: If time is running and you're in a desperate situation, flow into it. When you call a set play, sometimes players choke up. In that regard, it was a designed play."

After both teams exhausted all of their timeouts with :01 on the clock, the Rockets used The Sting, a play designed to draw a baseline foul and put Glenn at the line with a chance to win the game.

Scheffer raced down the baseline, looking to make the inbounds pass, and Claypool stepped in front of the Salem defender, hoping for a favorable call. The Rockets never shot free throws, however.

"It worked; it just wasn't called," Glenn coach Mike Schuette said. "The refereeing was great the whole game, but the game wasn't over. I wish the consistency would have continued one more second. But the officiating didn't cause us to lose the game."

Ironically, the Rockets had concentrated on stopping Mike Slone, who had 13 of his points in the second half.

"We forced him to take some shots and we felt we did a nice job, but the kid is a great shooter," Schuette said. "If only we could have played a little tougher on that last shot of his."

The Rockets threatened to run away with the game several times, but Salem always had a response.

Glenn was 8-of-12 from the floor in the first quarter while the Rocks missed eight in a row at one point. The Rockets led 16-4 at the end.

Salem scored the first eight of the second quarter to take the lead, but Glenn, after going scoreless for 3 1/2 minutes, had another surge at the end and led 34-23 at halftime.

The Rockets shot better than 50 percent (15-27) in the first half; Salem 25 percent (7-27).

Salem scored the first nine of the second half, then fell behind 42-34 but stayed within three (42-39) after three quarters. The Rocks were 7-of-16 from the floor in that period and Glenn 1-of-7.

"Nobody else has put them away; nobody puts away Plymouth Salem," Schuette said. "So you do what you can and when the buzzer goes off you hope Mike Slone misses his 35-footer."

Salem trailed 51-44 in the finale, but Brandon Slone scored nine straight points and put the Rocks ahead (53-52) with a triple. Seth's three-pointer gave Salem a 58-54 lead, but Glenn scored the next six points and regained the lead with Taylor's tip.

Patriots stay focused, beat Chargers

BY NEAL ZIPSER
STAFF WRITER

There were plenty of distractions Friday for the Livonia Franklin basketball team.

But the most important business at hand was trying to stay out of the basement in the Western Division of the Western Lakes Activities Association.

It was Parents Night and a homecoming dance to follow, but the biggest nemesis was cross-town rival Livonia Churchill, which couldn't spoil the evening, falling to the host Patriots, 51-46.

Franklin improved to 5-9 overall and 2-7 in the WLAA, while the Chargers fell to 2-12 and 1-8.

The Patriots jumped out to a quick lead and led by as much as nine (34-25) midway through the third quarter before Churchill rallied to close the score to 34-31 entering the fourth quarter.

"We had an eight-point lead and I wanted to get some kids in the game that usually don't see a lot of minutes," said Franklin coach Dan Kennedy. "We wound up letting them back in the game. And when you get a team like Churchill — who is scrappy as heck — it turns out to be anybody's game in the fourth."

The fourth quarter, easily the most — and only — entertaining quarter of the game, saw both teams trade baskets.

Churchill closed the margin to 40-39 with 4:41 left on a three-pointer by forward Drew Jurcisin. Franklin's Greg Maple countered with a triple.

"We could never get rid of them," Kennedy said. "We got on top early but didn't do a good job on our press and had to rely on our half-court defense."

"They were tough," said center Jason Meixner. "I thought we'd take off but we couldn't put the nail in the coffin."

After a layup by Darrell Wiacek cut the lead back to one, Meixner made a perfect pass under the basket to Jason Facinoe. The senior forward converted the assist and was fouled. His ensuing free throw gave the Patriots a 46-41 advantage with 3:13 remaining.

Two Jurcisin foul shots narrowed the margin to three. But Churchill wasted two opportunities to score by failing to convert consecutive front-ends of one-and-one free throw tries.

A foul shot by Meixner and two more by Clem Herrera expanded the lead back to six, but Jurcisin came back with another three-pointer.

"(Jurcisin) came out of nowhere," Kennedy said. "I told the team that anything he throws up is going to go in so we have to help out on him."

After Facinoe missed a free throw, the Chargers had the ball with 27 seconds to go, but Jurcisin finally missed. His errant shot landed in the hands of Meixner, who fed Paul Kruschka for an easy layup as time expired.

"I don't think we played well all game, especially on defense," said Churchill coach Tom Lang. "But we had our opportunities and just screwed up late in the game."

Meixner, a 6-foot-5, 240-pound senior, was a force under the basket all game as he scored five points, grabbed 10 rebounds and blocked four shots. Kruschka led the Patriots with 12 points, while Facinoe and Herrera added nine each.

Jurcisin's 15 points led the Chargers. Mark Rutherford added 11, while Wiacek and Jason Renkiewicz each added eight.

The loss left a sour taste in the mouth of Lang, who wasn't pleased with one statistic — the Chargers were two for six at the free throw line while the Patriots converted nine of their 15 foul shots.

"We didn't get to the free throw line until late in the third quarter," he said. "You can't tell me all those blocks were clean. I'm not saying the referees were bad, but they let them play. And when you let them play like that, the big kids are the ones who will benefit."

Raiders rally in 4th to down Spartans

Farmington Hills Harrison isn't the only boys basketball team in Farmington that can come back from huge deficits.

North Farmington staged an incredible comeback of its own Thursday with a 66-63 victory over visiting Livonia Stevenson.

North, which trailed 40-17 at halftime and 53-35 after three quarters, outscored Stevenson 31-10 in the fourth quarter to win the Western Lakes Activities Association game in unbelievable fashion.

Paul Simpson's three-point shot from the top of the key with :01 left broke a 63-63 tie.

The comeback was reminiscent of the one by Harrison on Jan. 26 when the Hawks rallied for 42 points in the fourth quarter to erase a 16-point deficit and beat Plymouth Salem, 95-94.

"I have no explanation," North coach Tom Negoishian said. "We talked at halftime to play relaxed, don't worry, have some fun. There was no raising voices. Maybe that should be the halftime speech all the time."

It was Senior Night at North with it being the last home game, and the seniors played a major role, scoring 23 of the 31 fourth-quarter points.

Senior Chris Ward scored 14 of his game-high 18 points in the fourth quarter. Ward's basket with about 40 seconds left tied the score at 63.

Stevenson, which made four of seven free throws in the fourth quarter, missed a front end of a one-and-one attempt in the last minute. North got the rebound to set up Simpson's winning shot.

Simpson, the smallest player on the court at 5-foot-4, made two other shots from three-point range in the fourth quarter, and finished with nine points.

"It was great for him, being a senior," Negoishian said.

John Pennala added 14 points for the Raiders.

The Raiders struggled in the first half, falling behind 11-9 after one quarter and getting outscored 29-8 in the second.

Stevenson was led by Kevin Szcembara's 17 points. Brad Morgan scored 16 and Adam Roy had 10.

WESTERN 71, HARRISON 68:

Farmington Hills Harrison waited again until the second half to score points in bunches Friday, but this time it was too late.

The Hawks, who slipped to 7-2 in the WLAA and 7-8 overall, trailed 15-10 after one quarter and 34-20 at halftime.

Harrison rallied in the second half, outscoring Western 23-14 in the third quarter and 25-23 in the fourth, but the Warriors held on for their fourth win in nine WLAA games. The Hawks made only nine of 20 free throws.

Western improved to 6-9 overall.

"We overlooked this one," said Harrison coach Mike Teachman, whose team was coming off an upset win at Westland John Glenn. "The intensity wasn't there."

A Better Way To Settle Conflict

There is a better way to settle a divorce dispute than a costly courtroom battle. You can control the decisions that affect your family with a mediator. A mediator is an impartial person who helps people in conflict make practical, informed decisions when tension is high.

DIVORCE MEDIATION

- is typically less costly than litigation,
- benefits children and others by reducing conflict,
- is a voluntary settlement process around financial and child visitation issues.

Wedding Planner

Created With The Groom In Mind

There are many important duties for the groom to remember as the big day approaches. The best man, ushers and groom's parents can also make many contributions. Keep this guide for reference, and you'll be sure to remember every little detail!

Groom:

- Buy an engagement ring.
- Choose your best man, groomsmen and ushers for the wedding.
- Have a list of people you want to invite to the wedding. Your family should make out their list as well.
- Choose a wedding present for the bride.
- Go with your fiancée to a formal wear shop to select outfits for you and the men in the wedding party.
- Select the wedding ring with your fiancée and allow time for sizing and engraving.
- Apply for a marriage license.
- If you're planning a traditional wedding, plan on paying for the bride's bouquet, going-away corsage, corsages for both mothers and other close female relatives on either side, and boutonnieres for yourself, groomsmen and ushers.
- Make insurance changes for yourself and your new spouse. Considerations should include life, personal property, household, medical and fire insurance.
- Be certain you and your fiancée have all necessary papers, blood tests, birth certificates, etc.
- Give the clergyman's fee to the best man the day of the wedding. He will then give it to the clergyman following the ceremony.
- Notify your attendants of the time and place of the wedding rehearsal.
- Plan your bachelor dinner several days before the wedding. The best man and ushers often prefer to host this.
- Be sure both you and your new spouse sign the wedding certificate before leaving on the honeymoon.

Notes:

Best Man:

- Inform the ushers of any special seating arrangements during the rehearsal.
- Get the wedding ring the day of the ceremony.
- Check tickets, reservations, etc., for the honeymoon and be sure the groom has tickets when he leaves.
- Have marriage license and fee of clergyman ready the day of the wedding.
- Help the groom prepare for the ceremony. Make sure his bags are packed and his going-away clothes are ready.

- Accompany the groom to the wedding. Make sure you are there at least 15 minutes before the ceremony.
- Be timekeeper and toastmaster at the reception. Help the couple make their getaway at the appropriate time.

Notes:

Ushers:

- Be at the site of the wedding one hour before the start of the ceremony. The groom should have boutonnieres ready for you.
- Have a typed list of guests occupying reserved pews. Stand at the door and ask each arriving female guest if she is a friend of the - bride or groom. Offer your right arm to the woman and escort her to her seat.

- Head usher escorts groom's mother to the front right-hand pew.
- Ushers escort all women in the front pews to the door. The bride's mother is first, then the mother of the groom, etc.

Notes:

Groom's Parents:

- Give your guest list to the bride so she can coordinate the list with hers.
- Give a rehearsal dinner for the bride if the bride's family is willing for you to do so.
- Call on the bride's family before the engagement is officially announced.

Today's Trends

Wedding Gowns

No matter what people say, a wedding is really for the bride.

A groom's participation in a wedding is essential, and attendants, family, flowers and food also play an important role. But on the day of the wedding, all eyes will be on the bride.

The bride's gown is the centerpiece of the wedding. The style, color and look of the wedding all stem from her gown.

So it's no surprise that some brides begin shopping for their gown at least a year before their wedding. Many hope to find the dress of their dreams.

Throughout the market there is a variety of styles for every taste. The current trend in dresses is a clean and neat look. The simple elegance of dresses of the '60s are influencing many styles today. However, some brides still prefer lace and ruffles.

Off-the-shoulder, portrait necklines and strapless gowns have grown in popularity. In addition, the headpieces are simpler than ever before.

For a while, the fairy tale look of Princess Diana's dress was a big influence on the wedding gown industry. The romantic and soft look of her dress captured the imagination of many brides.

But even as the average age of a first time bride gets older, brides of every age want to wear a magical gown.

Party on with Wayne, Garth and 'SNL Music A Go-Go'

By Dan Rice

NBC's Saturday Night Live made a commitment to music with its very first broadcast on Oct. 11, 1975, which featured musical guests Janis Ian and Billy Preston. The performance venue created by SNL had no equal in television; artists could gain unprecedented exposure playing live before an audience of millions. The show had always been democratic in its choice of performers, presenting not only the hottest musical acts of the day (The Rolling Stones, Blondie, The Cars), but also the up-and-coming (Stevie Ray Vaughan, The Replacements, Public Enemy). Likewise, mainstream artists like Ray Charles, Martha Reeves and Paul Simon were given equal time with fringe acts such as The B-52s, Frank Zappa and Devo.

Sunday, Feb. 21, NBC recalls many of the musical highlights of SNL's 18-year history in the two-hour special Wayne & Garth's Saturday Night Live Music A Go-Go.

As the title suggests, the guides for this journey through the past are public-access TV heroes Wayne Campbell (Mike Myers) and his best bud, Garth Algar (Dana Carvey). Their rallying cry of "Party on!"

sets a "most excellent" tone for this collection of melodious memories, including the time Aerosmith dropped by Wayne's basement studio to jam.

Other clips recall Bruce Springsteen's first-ever television performance, Madonna's subdued though ratings-grabbing gig from last month, the music with a mission of The Blues Brothers (Dan Aykroyd and John Belushi) and the folk style of frequent guest Paul Simon (who once sang "Still Crazy After All These Years" dressed in a turkey suit). And there's much more: Eric Clapton, Whitney Houston, Roy Orbison, Pearl Jam and Stevie Wonder.

Knowing that any SNL special must have its quota of laughs, the producers have included moments with Bill Murray as Nick the Lounge Singer (accompanied on piano by Late Night With David Letterman's Paul Schaffer) and Weekend Update contributor "Opera Man" (Adam Sandler). And there are musical impersonations, such as Eddie Murphy as Stevie Wonder and Jan Hooks as Sinead O'Connor.

Over the years, SNL has consistently been television's best barometer of popular music, showcasing the biggest names and the newest trends for the widest audience. From K.C. and the Sunshine Band's SNL appearance during the disco years to Nirvana and Pearl Jam's delivery of grunge rock to America in the '90s, SNL continually proves it knows which way the wind blows.

The foundation of this musical dynasty is in its title: The performances are "live," without retakes or the layering of tracks. While the spontaneity allows for a fresher feel to the music, the live situation has also opened the door for broadcasting nightmares. Patti Smith ended a song on the show by cursing the censors, although she had not been censored. Elvis Costello changed songs after a few bars, opting to sing his denouncement of the broadcasting industry, "Radio, Radio." During a lackluster performance by The Rolling Stones (they had partied too much through the week of rehearsals), Mick Jagger licked the lips of guitarist Ron Wood, to the horror of new NBC president Fred Silverman.

The biggest controversy arose last year during Sinead O'Connor's appearance. O'Connor, who had been provided a 42-piece orchestra by SNL, announced on the day of the show she would sing Bob Marley's "War" a cappella and conclude by holding up a photo of a Bosnian child. As millions of viewers know, the picture turned out to be one of the pope, which she tore to pieces. That was the second time O'Connor used SNL as a political platform; the Irish singer canceled an earlier appearance to protest the show's booking of comedian Andrew Dice Clay as host.

The musical stage of SNL has attained sort of a mystical status where anything can happen. Simon and Garfunkel reunited for SNL, and if creator/producer Lorne Michaels had had his way, The Beatles would have done so, too. In the 1970s, when sundry promoters and producers were offering the Fab Four millions of dollars for a reunion concert, Michaels went on the air with an offer for The Beatles to play SNL for scale. The Beatles declined.

Dream comes true for Billy Ray Cyrus

By Stuart A. Hessney

Many a life has its fateful turning point. Country music star Billy Ray Cyrus says a letter from his dad was pivotal for him.

As a teen, Cyrus had a professional baseball tryout with the Cincinnati Reds, but he was too slow. When he was 20, he picked up the guitar and started a band on the same day. Dreams of landing a recording contract took him to Los Angeles in 1984, but he wound up selling cars to survive. Unable to devote himself to his musical dream, he was feeling down and depressed when a letter came from his dad back in Flatwoods, Ky. The father advised his son to get home and get down to following his dream.

"When I read that letter I knew it was time to go back to my roots," Cyrus says.

He took what he had learned about the music industry in California and applied it in Nashville. That put him on the path to Some Gave All, the biggest-selling album of 1992.

LET'S TALK!

Harris bears wilderness; 'Tom Jones' bears repeating

By Taylor Michaels

Q: I'm trying to find out the name of a movie about a man who was mauled by a bear and left to die. A band of Indians also came by but left him alone. The man managed to survive and set out to find the men who left him. He found them just as that same band of Indians began to attack them. The Indians let the man who was mauled walk free. What is the name of this movie and who starred in it? -Lorraine Rubin, Bruce Crossing, Mich.

A: The name of the picture you describe is 1971's Man in the Wilderness, an engrossing tale of survival starring Richard Harris, who also starred in a similarly themed film titled A Man Called Horse. John Huston plays the gravelly leader of Harris' former gang who makes the big mistakes of counting Harris out and not being particularly cordial to the Indians.

Q: Was there a sequel to Tom Jones? I have asked everyone, and no one seems to know. You are my last resort. -Betty Carroll, Tulsa, Okla.

A: There was never a sequel per se made of Tony Richardson's multiple Oscar-winning film, Tom Jones (1963), which was adapted from the Henry Fielding novel (The film was cut and re-issued in 1989.) The Bawdy Adventures of Tom Jones (1976), featuring Joan Collins, was a lesser effort drawn from the London stage musical.

Q: Years ago, there was a series called Buckskin on television. Can you tell me the characters' names and who played them? -Freda Summar, Bolivar, Mo.

A: Buckskin was a Western drama series that first ran from July 1958 to September 1959 and was rerun six years later in the summer of 1965. Many different characters came and went through the tiny little frontier town of Buckskin, Mont., but there were three regulars who appeared in virtually every episode. They were: Jody O'Connell, an adventurous 10-year-old, played by Tommy Nolan, Annie O'Connell, Tommy's mother and the proprietor of a local boardinghouse, played by Sallie Brophy; and Marshal Tom Sellers, local do-gooder, played by Michael Road.

Q: Years ago, I saw a movie titled The View From Pompeii's Head, starring Richard Egan. I can't remember the actress who starred with him. Can you search it out and let me know? It was such a good movie. -Mae Olinger, Rogers, Ark.

A: The View From Pompeii's Head was released in 1955. This picture stars Egan as a young lawyer who returns to his hometown, Pompey's Head, to tackle an embezzlement case steeped in racial and social prejudice. The film was written, produced and directed by Phillip Dunne and based on the epic novel of the same title by Hamilton Basso. British actress Dana Wynter plays the love interest of Egan's character in the film.

SOAP TALK

Lucci still enjoys playing Erica

By Candace Havens

It is difficult to believe Susan Lucci is in her 23rd year of portraying the seductress Erica Kane on All My Children.

"I find it impossible to walk away from Erica Kane," says Lucci. "There was a time a few years ago when I felt like I'd had it. Then I thought, I have the opportunity to do movies for television and play Erica Kane and that makes me happy. It is not for everyone, but I enjoy it."

On Monday, Feb. 22, Lucci will appear on ABC in her latest television movie, Between Love and Hate. The movie is based on the true story of a bored Southern housewife who seduces a 19-year-old man (Patrick Van Horn). The younger man becomes obsessed with Lucci's character, and problems begin.

"My instincts told me that this was a fabulous piece," says Lucci. "I can't hope the viewers agree."

Erica Kane doesn't have a hard time with relationships either, and that is one of the things that makes the character so interesting. Lucci enjoys working with her current love interest on the show, Michael Nadir, who plays Dimitri.

"Michael is a dream and he gives me 100 percent all the time," says Lucci. "He's charming, handsome and he is excellent in the part. What more could you ask for?"

She says the future for the couple holds "lots of turmoil and trouble" because Erica can never be really happy.

For each of the past 13 years as Erica, Lucci has been nominated for an Emmy award and lost. Unlike the character she plays, Lucci is always diplomatic and often pokes fun at the fact she has lost so many times.

In some recent dialogue on AMC, the character Edmond commented that Erica deserved an Oscar for her performance and he replied, "I'd send her the Emmy."

That line was actually in the script, and at first I was a little afraid that it, but it turned out okay," says Lucci.

She may not win an Emmy, but she gets the feeling that most things are okay for this talented actress.
