Clinton tax plan gets angry response

BY CASEY HANS STAFF WRITER

Everybody's preparing to take a hit, but nobody knows exactly how much the recent tax increase proposals from the White House will eventually affect their families.

While most residents are concerned, some are downright angry.

The U.S. Congress is expected to move ahead in implementing President Bill Clinton's plan, which calls for tax increases for couples who have a taxable income of more $140,000 per year and singles more than $115,000. plus other tax impacts on taxpayers who make as low as $30,000.

Clinton made the proposals during his economic State of the Union address to Congress Feb. 17. He offered a four-year proposal to cut the deficit by about $500 billion and included plans for both new taxes and spend-

Kirk Najarian, owner of Najarian Electronics in Redford, said he worries about the future of small businesses that may have to shoulder additional taxes and costs, including the cost of a nationalized health care

"He's punishing achievement, and that's not right," said Najarian, a Redford resident who was recently married and who is a former township trustee. He said he earns in the PRESIDENT'S $30,000 to $60,000 range.

"All the speech was, was class warfare - beat up on the rich. Those people with that expendable income are floating the economy and helping businesses like mine. If we put more of a burden on them, they aren't going to have the money to spend.

Najarian said he was also concerned Clinton's plan would "ruin the economy" and that increased taxes won't be applied to reduce the deficit. Other residents in the Observer & Eccentric area echoed his concerns.

Farmington resident and local salesman David Merrill expects a new gas tax to hit his one-income family hard, and said any increase would also eat into disposable income.

"I'm looking for three-four times a month I can't take my wife out that's what it will mean to me," he said. Merrill, who voted for George

Wayne County commissioner Bryan Amann of District 11, which includes Canton Township, said he is hearing skepticism from his constitu-

Myers said it's disturbing that there has been no push on the part of the administration or

Rape suspect faces 1990 murder charge

By JOANNE MALISZEWSKI STAFF WRITER

A 36-year-old drifter - awaiting trial for the 1988-89 rape of two women in Canton - faces murder charges in connection with the 1990 death of a Pontiac woman.

David Buhnerkemper, a onetime Canton resident, was charged Feb. 19 with one count of first-degree murder, one count of felony murder and one count of criminal sexual conduct in the death of Carol Birrell, whose nude body was found in a Holly Township field near I-75.

The woman had bite marks on her," said Detective Sgt. David Haire of the Michigan State Police Pontiac post.

Women who say they had been assaulted by Buhnerkemper, two of whom had been taken to Knollwood Cemetery in Canton, "re-marked about his unusual teeth," Haire said. "That piqued my in-criminal sexual conduct charges. 'we had a name and a place,' Haire said. The Pontiac woman who was abducted later identified Buhnerkemper in a lineup as her abductor.

A plea of not guilty was entered for Buhnerkemper at his arraignment Feb. 19 in 52nd-2 District Court in Clarkston. He remains in the Oakland County Jail without bond. A preliminary exam on the charges is scheduled for 10 a.m. Friday, Feb. 26, in 52nd-2 District Court, a court spokeswoman said. Conviction on the murder charges carries a maximum penalty of life

Because the women who had been assaulted talked of being bitten and of their attackers' unusual teeth, the state police got a court order to take imprints of Buhnerkemper's bite. The imprint matched the marks found on Birrell's back, neck and chest, Haire said.

Buhnerkemper was convicted on criminal sexual assault charges in Washtenaw County and has been in jail since February 1992. Two criminal sexual conduct cases against Buhnerkemper stemming from Canton Township are pending in Wayne County. The abduction of the Pontiac woman is another case still pending against Buhnerkemper, Haire said.

Besides alleging racial discrimination, Givens maintains deliberations by the township's five elected officers on the fire chief selection were made at closed meetings, in violation of the state Open Meetings Act.

Only two of the five board members serving in 1991 remain on the current board.

According to court documents filed on behalf of Givens by his attorney Jean King, "trustee Ferman Rohraff made a comment to the effect that Raymond L. Givens would not be selected as chief because he is the wrong color.'

The complaint maintains that the trustee made the comment while talking with employees of the South Lyon schools.

Rohraff said he made no such comment, according to the motion to dismiss Givens' suit. Givens was a member of the township fire department for more than 13 years, and had taken "extensive training in fire fighting, fire prevention, law, first aid" and more, according to his court complaint.

When long time fire chief Bill Hirth announced in early 1991 he was going to leave the position, Givens was among a handful of candidates who applied. The field was eventually narrowed to Givens and Mark Hamilton, a township farmer.

Givens maintains that two early April 1991 meetings in which the Salem Township board reviewed the two finalists were not posted as required by law, and that no minutes were published.

At the May 7 board meeting in which Hamilton was chosen over Givens, there was a "total lack of discussion of the credentials of the candidates," the complaint alleges, "further evidence that the board had made a decision about which person to employ as fire chief in a closed meeting.'

Givens is asking the court to invalidate the board action to appoint Hamilton and require the township board to open all interviews for fire chief in open meet-

According to Berman's motion to dismiss the Givens suit, the Salem Township board members 'state that racial considerations were never discussed at any of the board meetings and none of the board members took racial factors into consideration.'

The motion to dismiss further states that Givens "falsified his employment application for the fire chief's position as to both duration of his prior service with the Livingston County Sheriff's Department and the circumstances of his departure." The motion alleges that "evidence of Givens' lack of truthfulness disqualified

Some trustees said they favored Hamilton as the candidate because he "was the only person interviewed who stated that the first thing he would do when he arrived at a fire scene was to determine if anyone was in the burning structure and get them out," according to the motion to

Meetings probe ways to change education

Students are graduating from Plymouth-Canton Community Schools with an education that prepares them for life in the 20th century, not the 21st century, say high school administrators and staff.

The need to restructure the high schools to prepare graduates to live "meaningful, responsible and productive lives in the 21st century" has prompted a series of "town meetings" at Centennial Educational Park to discuss how education should change Plymouth Canton High School Principal Tom MacKenzie and others from CEP presented an overview on restructuring to the school board. The intent is "to move ourselves into the 21st century, recognizing the social and economic realities," said Peg Bozyk of CEP.

The world has changed, and we need to look at things differently," said MacKenzie. "There is a need to change how and what we teach in a global society. More than half our young people leave school without the skills they need in the job mar-

Vision for change

At meetings in January, administrators, teachers, students and parents talked about the reasons for change, and their visions for change.

Questions for the February meetings included: What does it mean to be educated? How do we know if education has occurred? How do we want students to behave? What is the body of knowledge, skills and values that should be common to all students? Can we design a curriculum for quality and equity without creating de facto tracking? Currently, learning at the park is "fragmented by the clock, disciplines and certification. There are no connections between such classes as math, science and philosophy," said MacKenzie. Also hampering the learning process is the fact that on the sprawling, two-school campus, CEP's 4,400 students spend 50 minutes in class, and then 10 minutes walking to their next class. On average, each teacher has a total of 150-180 students. Missing for many is a sense of belonging and connectedness

'Our past has been characterized by restructuring initiatives that have not been sustained, in part, because we have not presented the faculty with a unified plan and commitment for change. This mistake will not be repeated," MacKenzie said.

Themes for change include "looking at the person as well as what we are teaching; knowing the whole child; humanitarianism; quality of life; academic achievement; and legal and moral mandates," he said, adding that the involvement and support of the board and the community are needed.

School board treasurer Dean Swartzwelter asked why restructuring is being studied when "two years ago, we got input from 150 citizens (from volunteers who served on the Vision 2010 Committee) on how they thought we should change the district. This sounds like we're starting from scratch. Swartzwelter added that he was anxious to implement Vision 2010 changes right away, "but you guys all said we had to wait.

Pilot program

Tom Tattan, executive director for secondary education, answered that the restructuring effort actually is tackling the first section of the 2010 report. He said it's hoped that a pilot program will be in place by 1994.

Superintendent John Hoben said it's essential that the district restructure, and soon.

"That's what we are hearing from the business community," Hoben said. We will lose public education to individuals who claim they can do it better and cheaper if we aren't willing to change, he

"The public out there is not particularly sensitive to coughing up more millage. This idea of doing more with less is here to stay," added Hoben. Trustee Jack Farrow asked whether societal attitudes are being addressed. "One of my favorite quotes is that the most important change needs to be in the living room," he said.

Trustee Carl Battishill, a teacher with West Bloomfield schools, commended the restructuring committee for achieving precedent-setting cooperation. "I'm tremendously pleased and impressed with what you've done.

Electrical contractor injured working in Canton

The Observer/ Thursday, February 25, 1993

A 32-year-old electrical contractor was burned while working on a box or switch at a Canton manufacturing firm Tuesday afternoon. "One theory is that he may have slipped and hit a wire. But it is still being investigated," said Canton police information officer Tammie Colling.

The contractor was working on a 480-volt switch or box at Green field Die Manufacturing, 8301 Ronda, when it appeared to short out. A flash followed and the man received second-and-third-degree burns on his arms, hands, chest, neck and face, Colling said.

Canton firefighters stabilized the man and he was transported by helicopter to the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor, Colling

When Canton dispatchers received the call at 2:30 p.m., they were told some type of electrical explosion occurred. But when

Strip mall bars rib joint, but owner will look elsewhere

David Khoury isn't giving up, but his Damon's Ribs restaurant won't open soon in Canton Town-

"On a Monday morning I was ready to come down to Detroit and sign a lease with Kroger," said the Kalamazoo resident.

Khoury was to open the 11,500square-foot ribs and chicken restaurant in the partially vacant former Great Scott! supermarket in the Canton Corners shopping center, when the deal went awry.

With a Class C liquor license approved by Canton Township trustees, Khoury was ready to get down to business with Kroger, which bought out the Great Scott!

Little did Khoury know, however, that permission from shopping center owner Joe Kosick Jr. of JFK Co., Waterford, was required when a restaurant of 10,000 square feet or more wants to lease space in the center. It already boasts the popular Outback Steakhouse at Lilley and Ford roads.

'We were working with

Damon's Ribs, and we were advised by the landlord (Kosick) that another restaurant of 10,000 square feet or larger can't go in there," said Ron Spurlock, Kroger Co. vice president of merchandis-

But Khoury said the deal with Kroger came undone because Outback Steakhouse officials were concerned about competition so close to their restaurant. "Outback Steakhouse was shaking in their boots," Khoury said.

Khoury also maintains that Outback Steakhouse wasn't 10,000 square feet in size until Kosick leased the chain restaurant more space in another part of the shopping center. Kosick did not return the Observer's inquiries. Gary Harchelroad, Outback Steakhouse manager, was unavailable for comment Tuesday.

"They did this to keep me out," Khoury said.

Kid Kingdom, an indoor play park, which moved into part of the former Great Scott! space in January, also has a small restaurant that serves pizza, hot dogs, popcorn and beverages.

But Kroger's Spurlock said that doesn't count. "The restaurant in Kid Kingdom was leased prior to Outback Steakhouse becoming 10,000 square feet.'

Khoury said he was willing to sit down and talk with Outback Steakhouse owners. "We would have complemented each other, not hurt each other," he said.

After working on the restaurant deal for four months, Khoury said he's disappointed. "Kroger didn't want to go to court over this so they didn't pursue it. If they had been more diligent in signing leases. I would have been in there with no problems," Khoury said.

Damon's Ribs would have featured Trivial Pursuit games at patrons' tables with the help of a big television screen. A franchise out of Columbus, Ohio, the restaurant's specialty is ribs, but chicken, fish and beef also were on the full lunch and dinner menu. The restaurant was to be divided into three major areas, some with television screens for sports events

But goodbye, Canton - at least for now. "I consider Canton to be an excellent place to do business. I'm not going to do Canton right now. But I'll be back," Khoury

Poet/priest presents a copy of his work to the pontiff

So does the Rev. Walter Ziemba of Orchard Lake St. Mary's Preparatory School, the author of "Ellipses," a recently published book of poems he's amassed over the last 40 years.

"I told him there were three poems about him in the book," Ziemba said last week, recalling the latest of visits with the worldwide religious leader, which date back to 1968. "He immediately opened the book and said Where?

That particular moment was captured in a color photograph Father Wally brought home with him to St. Mary's. "I like the expression on his face because it's one of pleasure," said Ziemba, looking at the photo.

Continuing to recall the visit. Ziemba said he spoke briefly in Polish with Pope John Paul II while the pontiff took a moment to flip through some of the book's

But Ziemba said he wasn't provided with an immediate reaction from the pope, described as being in good health and spirits.

"Because the pope writes poetry himself, he probably took a closer look at it up in his room, Ziemba said.

Ziemba said he wrote his first poem about Pope John Paul II in 1988, after his first meeting as a member of the administrative council. "I studied him and afterward I wrote the poem. I was inspired by him.

The poem details how the pope entered the room: "He enters . . . white marblesque figure cuts through invisible air . . . hard heels hammer against hard wood-

Asked about his longtime penchant for poetry, Ziemba said he has no particular formula, other than putting his life's experiences down on paper.

"It's going to increase my cost of doing business," he said. "This doesn't seem to be the way to increase the business climate and revitalize things."

Reome, who is in the office products industry, said he sees the effects of a down economy when he calls on businesses. "I'm hearing mostly negative reactions," he added. "I'm seeing a lot of businesses just plain closed

Financial counselors said it's tough to determine individual impact until Clinton's plan goes through Congress.

The median income is $44,035 in suburban Wayne County well above Clinton's $30,000 line of impact. Experts agreed everyone is expected to feel the proposed energy tax if it becomes a reality. Not only would consumers pay at the gas tank and in heating bills, but also in consumer goods because the increased cost of energy to manufacturers may be passed on in price in-

"My clients are telling me they don't want to pay more taxes unless it goes for deficit reduction," said Tom Hogan, a Livonia financial planner, most of whose clients earn in the $50,000 to $100,000 range, although some earn less. He believes the tax increases will hit those making under $50,000 the hardest.

The federal government is like your own family budget - the only way to get out of debt is to stop spending," he added. "I think what we should do is not raise taxes, but cut the budget across the board with no sacred

Opinion in the 13th Congressional district is apparently leaning in the same direction. Mike Russell, press secretary to Congressman William D. Ford, D-Ypsilanti Township, said his office received 110 calls on the day after the address, with 70 speaking against the Clinton plan and 40 for it. The district represents residents of Washtenaw and Wayne counties and includes Garden City, Westland, Plymouth, Canton and part of Livonia. But Russell said the response was not particularly strong. "We didn't have very many calls, considering the magnitude of the issue," he added. "We've had a much larger response on other is-

Livonia woman calls plan 'shell game'

BY CASEY HANS STAFF WRITER

There is some spirited talk around the Buech dinner table in Livonia these days.

Much of it surrounds President Bill Clinton's economic proposals and the future of the country. Represented are the staunch conservative views of Joan Buech, tempered by a more moderate view from her husband, Fred. Joan's mother, Ruth Huse, arrived for a visit the day of Clinton's address, so also has added her opinion to the family forum.

Joan Buech, called Clinton's plan a "shell game."

"The government little by little takes away our freedoms. To say that taxation is contribution that's putting it mildly," she said. "I'm angry, I'm incensed about it. Until he tells me what these cuts mean, it means nothing. It means diddly squat."

Unlike some Wayne County residents who might support Clinton but oppose his plan, or others who want to give his ideas a chance, both Buech and Huse are vehemently opposed to Clinton and what he stands for and they make no apologies for it.

'It was hard for me to believe in him - you had heard him so many times before," said Huse, a senior who lives in Illinois, about 50 miles south of Chicago with bothers me the most is to think that daily living will cost more."

She said a straight tax on everybody would be the fairest way to approach the federal deficit. "They shouldn't pit one group against another," she added. "To me, if they've had the incentive to get ahead, I don't think they should pay more for it."

The Bueches live in the Six Mile/Levan area with their 17year-old daughter Linda and 14year-old son Patrick, and survive solely on Fred's salary from Ford Motor Credit. Linda will be going to college next year, and Joan Buech said she is already planning on a family austerity pro-

her retired husband. "What gram in light of the recent propos

"We will definitely have to cut down the thermostat more," she said. "There will be less going to the store - because this will also impact buying consumer goods too. I've told them we're going to be penny pinching."

Joan and her mother have always stayed involved with politics, calling their elected representatives and voicing their opinions. This time was no exception. "It seems more and more people have become involved in politics lately," Buech added. "If nothing else happens in this mess, maybe it's getting people involved.

Madonna University plans dinner auction

Going once, going twice . .

A long list of vacation trips, cruises, jewelry and other items will be sold to the highest bidders at the Madonna University "Around the World Scholarship Dinner Auction" Saturday, April 17, in Livonia's Laurel Manor.

Northwest Airlines, which for the fourth year is sponsoring the event, has donated six sets of round trip tickets to a variety of destinations. Up for bid will be airfare to London, Anchorage, Los Angeles, Minneapolis, New Orleans and Honolulu. The evening features a live and silent auction of more than 700 items, open bar and waited dinner. Cost is $60 per person. A special guest appearance wig be made by Terri Sue Liford, Miss Michigan 1992.

Additional gifts include autographed sports items, getaway weekends, tickets to sporting and theater events, art, crystal and

A variety of jewelry will be highlighted, including a Berndt Munsteiner fantasy cut stone

Schools offer program on life and work

The Centennial Educational Park counseling department will present "Preparing to Live and Work in the 21st Century," a program for high school juniors and their parents, at 7 p.m. Thursday, March 18, at Canton High School.

The program is sponsored by the CEP counseling department in conjunction with Eastern Michigan University, Schoolcraft College, the University of Michigan and local employers.

"The junior year is when most students become motivated to start planning for post-secondary opportunities," said June Swartz, a counselor at Salem High School. "The workshop continues to grow each year. Last year, more than 500 students and parents participated, and we expect even more this year."

The program will begin in the Canton High School cafeteria with introductions and an explanation of the timeline of events that take place for students now through their senior year. The program offers valuable information to help students plan their senior year and to begin planning their futures, according to Salem High School counselor Jan Kavul-

AGA to open by July

Construction of the $8-million AGA Gas facility in Canton is under way, and the four-building center should be open by July, according to Ken Voyles, spokesman for Canton Township.

The Cleveland-based firm is building a cylinder gas filling and distribution center in the Canton Industrial Center at Michigan Avenue and DeWitt. The 40,000-square-foot center will employ about 55 people (25 new and 30 transfers). The new Canton facility sits on 7.5 acres and is designed to serve all of Michigan. It will replace the company's west-aide Detroit center.

AGA Gas is the U.S. subsidiary of Stockholm, Sweden-based aGA AB, an industrial gas and welding-products supplier with worldwide sales of more than $2 billion.

The Baby Bells are clawing their way into the 21st century by offering the Federal Communications Commission a deal they hope cannot be refused. Local cable companies, however, are hoping the FCC will pass over the proposal.

In an attempt to pursue business in all realms of telecommunications, Ameritech executives announced Monday a plan to reorganize their corporate structure and a proposal which would call for full competition in the ecommunications industry.

Ameritech's chairman and chief ecutive officer William L. Weiss announced that they will open Ameritech's local telephone net-

More competition

"We view this proposal as a breakthrough solution for our region that would mark an end to turf battles that have stifled the communications industry, hampered economic expansion and limited the growth of consumer options and services,' Weiss said.

"The result would be a fully competitive marketplace wherein the consumer would be the ultimate beneficiary because companies would have to keep prices competitive and quality high in

If regulators find an "even play-ing field," cable companies may be willing to play ball. If the telephone companies are not required to meet some of the same qualifications as cable companies, then there will be a brawl, local cable operators say.

"The FCC has never been able to come up with a plan that places the same restrictions we face on the telephone companies interested in providing cable service," said Lisa Boland, general manager of Omnicom which services Canton and Plymouth.

Cable companies are required to operate as franchises and must have studio space. Cable comp nies also pay a fee for use of tele-phone poles, a fee phone compa-nies would probably not be assessing themselves.

"The phone companies, like Ameritech, are also much larger and could offset losses in the cable portion of their operations with profits from phone services, Boland said. "Even if this practice were restricted, there would be no way of policing it."

Boland is certain that FCC regulators won't fall for a plan that vould be too one-sided. "It isn't really fair that we would have to compete with the Gibson, general manager of MetroVision in Livonia. "They already have all the equipment in place while we had to start from the very beginning and we continue to pay a fee for having our equipment on telephone poles."

McNamara outlines reforms, vows action

BY SUSAN ROSIEK

A year of innovation and taking chances. That's how Wayne County Executive Edward H. McNamara described 1993 as he outlined an ambitious agenda for change Wednesday in his state of the county address.

The executive, said Wayne County's world-class problems crime, poverty, a poor tax and business climate — call for some world-class solutions.

The way I see see it, we have two options. Take action or aban-donahip," said McNamara.

The solutions include Metro airport expansion, reforming the county's welfare system by asking the state for control, offering health care to all residents, attacking the crime problem, simplifying the tax structure, reasonable environmental regulations, a rational liability system and a business-friendl'y climate for employers.

In the 1990s, skyways will be as important as highways and Wayne County will be ready," said McNamara.

who listened to the speech downtown generally praised McNamara's proposals.

"It's a comprehensive, common-sense approach to problems," said Thaddeus McCotter. R-Livonia, whose district includes Plymouth.

However McCotter and commissioners Bryan Amann, D-Wayne, and Michelle Plawecki, D-Dearborn Heights, said their suburban constituents are more interested in the "nuts and bolts issues" like roads.

Sheriff Robert Ficano of Livonia liked McNamara's "overall positive tone." He also liked the executive's emphasis on safety.

"We have to make sure the crime problem is resolved or else people won't bring their business to Wayne County," said Ficano.

Plymouth City Commissioner Dennis Shrewsbury said he liked McNamara's emphasis on health reform and education.

"I wish everyone in the suburbs understood the concept of paying now or paying later," said Shrewsbury, who called the speech "very gubernatorial."

"There is a lot of speculation in the industry about what will happen next," said Gibson. "It's generally a politically safe issue that affects everyone in the congressional district.

Gibson explained that while cable affects most everyone it does not "affect gender, race or religion and therefore does not require an offensive position by government leaders.

Gibson expects the cable lobby to fight the Ameritech proposal.

Details needed

Neither U.S. Rep. William D. Ford nor U.S. Rep. Joe Knollenberg had seen the Ameritech proposal and declined to comment.

Ford, a Democrat, represents Garden City, Westland, Plymouth, Canton and part of Livonia. Knollenberg is a Republican who represents Redford Township, part of Livonia and many communities in southern and north Oakland County.

"The government generally wants to see competition in the industry so we are optimistic," said Robert Hurst, president of Michigan Bell.

Weiss maintains that by opening the opportunities in the area of telecommunications, the consumer will benefit with services once considered science fiction.

Chamber backs bill

he Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce is supporting Senate Bill 2, which would reduce weekly unemployment

"Michigan's high rate of unemployment benefits continues to be a burden on state businesses, which are trying to maintain all employee benefits while remaining profitable," wrote Joseph Smoliga Jr., chairman of the chamber's governmental affairs committee.

These benefit changes," he continued, "and other savings areas will save Michigan businesses more than $150 million over the next six years, without greatly impacting the amount received by MESC clients. This savings will ultimately aid in the growth of businesses in our state."

PLYMOUTH Mettetal pilots praise airport

■ Pilots and others who use Mettetal Airport gathered this week to show the public how important the facility is to the community. The gathering came after a storm of criticism arose when the state announced plans to buy the airport.

BY KEVIN BROWN STAFF WRITER

Mettetal Airport is a source of wonder to kids and an asset to Plymouth-Canton, the airport's most active pilots stressed in a presentation Monday. "I know what it means to bring in 500, 600 people for a pancake breakfast on a Sunday, what it means to give scholarships," said Doug Shumard, vice president of the Mettetal chapter of the international Experimental Aircraft Association.

Pilot Bill Kern, who has flown handicapped kids and Boy Scouts for their merit badge program, said getting kids involved at the airport doesn't automatically lead them to

"But it shows an interesting life awaits if you rise to challenges," Kern said. "There's challenge in the world for them to enjoy.'

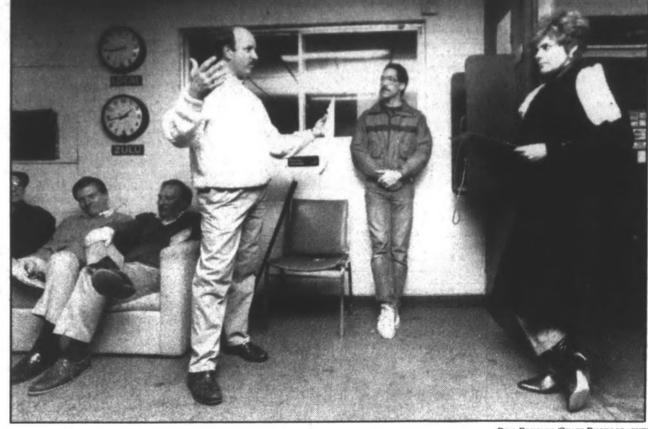

They were among a half-dozen pilots speaking to a group of about 50 who filled the airport terminal at Joy and Lilley roads, in a presentation to tout the good things about having a small community airport.

earlier this month that the state would seek to buy the now private airport, with the federal government providing 90 percent of the cost.

The presentation followed news

That news sparked outrage from opponents of government operating the airport, as they say federal involvement will lead to expansion.

Some airport opponents also showed for the presentation, telling pilots they didn't want to see runway expansion. They said they also fear that the federal government will condemn surrounding property for clear approaches or expansion.

BILL BRESLER/STAFF PHOTOGRAPHE

Airplane talk: John Vergona and other aviation enthusiasts detailed the community benefits of maintaining Mettetal Airport to Plymouth Township trustee K.C. Mueller (right) and others at a presentation Monday.

The pilots said they don't want the airport to expand. "When you're flying a little plane, this is the place to be," said John Bomello of Canton, an airline captain.

He and other pilots stressed that Metettal was special to them because it did not serve bigger, jet-powered aircraft. They maintained there would never be enough room to expand to serve such larger planes.

"We lose sight of some of the positive things about the airport," said Dan Malone, who runs a flight school and other business operations out of Mettetal.

Kern said two dozen such small airports around metro Detroit have closed "in as many years," adding of-ficials have decided "it's time for this stuff (closings) to stop.'

"These airports are the foundation of the aerospace industry," he said, as they get people interested in aviation. For example, they said metro Detroit's best known pilot is WJR traffic reporter Dennis Neubacher, who learned to fly at Mettetal Airport. Bomello recalled when he used to ride his bike from Redford down the Jeffries freeway before it was finished to Mettetal, for flying lessons,

He recalled the time he noticed a father and son in a car parked at a gas station across from Mettetal watching planes land and take off. 'I was watching them, finally I couldn't stand it any more," Bomello said. "I told them, 'You can come on over; there's picnic tables outside." They said, 'We thought it was private."

Business flights account for roughly 25 percent of Mettetal's activity, some pilots estimated.

Public safety

More action, less talk needed

t's time for residents of Plymouth Township and the city of Plymouth to demand more accountability from their political leaders so they will get off their duffs and merge the fire and police departments.

Let's face it, residents in the Plymouth community are paying for two police chiefs, two fire chiefs and two sets of people to answer the phones when a resident calls 911.

Things can't go on like this, especially this year. If President Bill Clinton's tax increase goes into effect, residents will be paying from several hundred up into the thousands in new federal taxes.

Then there's the schools, which will be asking for a millage increase in June. There's another couple hundred dollars, if voters give their approval.

Fire and police departments make up the bulk of the budgets of the city and township, and finding ways to streamline these operations would provide more property tax relief than five years worth of ballot proposals.

Combined services in the city and township could give residents a more effective public safety system that would provide more services, but at a lower cost.

It's a property tax relief lever that can be pulled on the local level. And it's up to the city commission and the township board.

In a recent roundtable meeting, Plymouth Mayor Bob Jones and Township Supervisor Kathleen Keen McCarthy talked about their efforts to merge the fire departments.

They have talked to the unions and are look-

Mayflower support

ne of the principal attractions to living in the Plymouth Community is the character of its downtown business section, including Kellogg Park. The primary contributor to the downtown character is the very wellmaintained, attractive Mayflower Hotel com-

However, a major threat to all of the foregoing now exists. Picture downtown Plymouth with lumber all over the windows and doors of the Mayflower Hotel. We already have an ugly eyesore caused by the closing of the Amoco Station at the same intersection. How then do you hype the Fall Festival? The Ice Festival? The Art in the Park affair? Or any other downtown community event?

I personally feel an obligation to somehow help the Mayflower facility stay alive. Strangely, I believe that it is in the best interest of all Plymouth-area people to help the Mayflower survive. This concern should also be at the top of the agenda for all meetings of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce and the Downtown Development Authority.

restaurant, hotel, motel, or meeting facility, now and then, should make every effort during this present crisis to make that facility the Mayflower.

for all of us will go down at least a notch. Let's not let that happen. Use the Mayflower facilities now.

Gregory Donovan, Plymouth

For over 20 years, I have been selling Plymouth land to housing developers. When I have done so, I have always made it a point to take them to the Mayflower for lunch so that they could get a sense of just what it is that makes the Plymouth area such a nice place to live.

I suggest that each of us that uses either a resident Clinton has asked that we sacrifice (pay higher taxes) to reduce the national debt. Governor Engler has pledged to downsize state government and privatize Michigan institutions.

So how can there be any justification for the expenditure of $3-4 million, using state and federal funds, for the state's purchase of Mettetal, a small unprofitable private airport located in an area where a public airport is not wanted?

If, as its proponents insist, this airport is to be maintained at its present small size with accommodations for only a few, it is a shocking misuse of taxpayers' money.

If it is to be expanded, the agencies involved should be honest enough to inform those whose property values will be affected.

There have been enough decisions made in secret regarding Mettetal Airport. Marian L. Gotshall, Plymouth hank you for the positive opinion in the Mettetal Airport "State Buy Out Good for Area" column in the Feb. 18 issue.

Overly hysterical

I am sick to death of reading articles voicing the concerns of the airport opponents. Not only are these concerns unfounded; they also appear to be generated by a few hysterical, overly concerned citizens that have attempted to obtain community backing by spreading rumors of airport expansion and tax hikes.

It amazes me that anyone would move into a community and then attempt to alter it to suit themselves or their special interests.

I have one word for the Concerned Citizens of Plymouth — move.

Julie Traskos, Canton

'A' for effort

his letter is of a bittersweet nature. I have just finished reading "Teacher not guilty of hitting student.

I have followed your reporting of the pretrial hearing and the actual trial. This trial has farreaching ramifications. I am sure that is why so many teachers were in attendance at the pretrial when another student of Mr. Gale's alleged that he struck him last year.

Unfortunately the allegation was not pursued and the judge (James Garber) refused to allow this testimony to establish "past acts."

So much for my bitterness. Now the sweet. In these days of police with questionable integrity, we have found not only an officer who is sensitive and cares about the people who make up a township but also a prosecuting attorney who understands what 10-year children are about. I mean to laud two fine gentlemen who ferreted out the facts and were left at the mercy of confused children and an opportunistic defense lawyer who left little people wondering what their names were (his job). Please give Officer Mayernik and Mr. Tim Cronin an "A" for effort and sensitivity in a losing cause.

Denis J. Endlein, Plymouth

Support gay rights

he recent clamor of gays in the military is quite revealing and of course disturbing. Apparently, a very large percentage of our society is unwilling to judge those by the content of their character.

Clearly homosexuals have civil rights, human rights et. al., yet the attack on their existence is uncivilized. In these perilous times, courage and integrity is the universal standard of the day.

Therefore, without further delay, I declare without any reservation my total and complete support and recognition of the inalienable human, civil, personal, sexual et. al. rights of homosexuals here and wherever!

grasp:
The price level in the tri-county area of southeastern Michigan is 22 percent higher than the rest of the state.

If you fail to understand that fact, you can do suburban schools a lot of harm in the name of "reform."

A hospital association put together a study of 16 costs a few years ago that showed:

■ Home construction in the tri-county area costs 22 percent more than outstate. These costs drive our property tax assessments.

Public education: 22 percent more.

Hospital care: 18 percent more.

Dental care: 19 percent more.

Residential rent: 44 percent more.

What are the chief costs of public school districts? Salaries and health

In addition, we pay 55 percent more for home insurance, 44 percent more for trash collection, 34 percent more for auto repairs, 32 percent more for auto insurance — and so on. The only break we get is to pay 6 percent less for gasoline.

Teachers here must pay those costs, too. Understandably, they want compa-

Most politicians don't grasp that.
Gov. John Engler is pushing a plan to reduce school property taxes 20 percent. The state would reimburse poorer districts, through the school aid formula. But suburban districts in the metropolitan area — mainly out-of-formula — would take the loss on the chin.

I asked Engler about this region's 22 percent cost differential, and the man from Mount Pleasant replied: "That is an excuse, not an answer. And it certainly isn't an explanation. They (suburban school districts) have negotiated the contracts that they're now having difficulty affording."

TIM RICHARD

Engler's advice to these districts:
"Stop giving double-digit pay increases over a period of two or three years."

A snappy answer, but unrealistic.
Are we going to tell teachers in (say)
Farmington who pay 34 percent more for auto repairs and 44 percent more for rent that they should be content with the wages of Saginaw or Engadine?

I floated the same question past a member of Team 14, the bipartisan group of legislators proposing a $4,700 per pupil "equity" in school resources. She said she had heard the same kind of argument from Detroiters, who want all sorts of compensatory money because of their problems. Again, a snappy answer that failed to address economic reality.

Michigan has two economies. If both Sturgis and Livonia schools have $4,700 cash per pupil, Livonia has only $3,852 in "real" terms, to use Adam Smith's phrase, because of the price differential.

Novi, Northville, Plymouth-Canton, West Bloomfield, South Redford, Bloomfield Hills, Southfield, Troy, Rochester and a few I've skipped will get a royal shaft — the shaft of economic ignorance — under these plans.

We come to the Michigan Education Association plan. You might guess a reform plan espoused by a teachers union would be self-serving, and you would be right.

MEA would consolidate 562 school districts into 14 duchies called "financial districts." But there is a dirty trick here. What happens to the most expensive tri-county area? Wayne County winds up in a district with Monroe, Oakland with Lapeer and Genesee, and Macomb with the farmlands of the Thumb.

Thus, MEA would try to use justifiably higher wage levels in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb to increase wages in the outstate economy. It's the backwards version of Engler's idea of evening out costs.

To be fair, any tax cut and school reform plan must take account of economic reality. Everybody has to pay more for nearly everything in southeastern Michigan. Our school boards must have leeway and tax tools to deal with that reality, not be forced into artificial molds.

Parents will balk over MEAP test design in '97

UESTION: When I reviewed our MEAP test scores this year, I concluded our school district is going backward. For years our math and reading scores were in the 89 to 94 percent range on the MEAP test. Now our MEAP math and reading scores are in the 30 and 40 percent range. Some of the poorer school districts in Michigan have scores of 15 and 20 percent on the MEAP. One poor district had a score of 10 percent in math. My neighbor is desperate. Her son, a "C-plus" student, did not pass the MEAP and may not get a state endorsed diploma. How can a C-plus student not pass a basic skills test? Is it true that failure to pass the test after '97 means a student won't even get a diploma?

ANSWER: The easy out, for me, is to tell you the new MEAP is different than the old MEAP basic skills test. It is no longer a test of basic skills but an essential skills test that measures students' higher level thinking and problem solving skills.

At this point I should drop the subject, because if I attack the test, it will sound like the same old teacher/educator syndrome, making excuses for poor student achievement. But I won't drop the subject because there is something irrational going on!

One school district in this readership area in which I was a central office administrator had MEAP scores in or above the 95 percent range prior to the new MEAP.

Now in 1992-93, their MEAP scores are in the 40 to 50 percent range. That means only 40 to 50 percent passed the 10th grade "essential" math and reading skills sections on the new MEAP.

Yet that same district has about 75 percent of its graduating class accepted each year for college and university admission, and most of their students are in college/universities that require high SAT (Scholastic Aptitude Test) scores.

Quality district

This doesn't add up. How can 75 percent of a quality school district's student population score high enough on a tough college entrance test and yet not pass a 10th grade basic skills (essential skills) test? Something is wrong!

The new MEAP is a product of the leadership in The National Council of Teachers of Math, the National Reading Association (and their state affiliates), college professors and some Michigan teachers. These are professionals who made a tremendous leap of faith that says all kids in a country that advocates a mandatory education system will be higher level thinkers. It's not going to happen.

Sometimes I think these leaders have been in the ivory tower too long, or have been teaching advanced math classes at the high school level too long to remember who shows up for the remedial, slow learner classes.

It is common knowledge that the once nationally respected Department of Research and Evaluation and Testing in the Department of Education has been dismantled. What was left are curriculum people (as I was) who dream of the ideal.

Item difficulty

Someone in Lansing should help those in charge of the MEAP grasp the basic test construction concept of Item Difficulty. That is, if 70 percent of a normal student population misses a specific question, the question is suspect — and needs to be studied and revised.

Has any predictive validity been made? I heard not, so I'll make my prediction.

Prediction: If MEAP scores don't go up, watch for a major change of heart among our legislators who supported the test as a vehicle to mandate a state curriculum.

Picture Representative Jones in a quality, college-bound student school district in Oakland or Wayne County. It is going into 1997 when those students who don't pass the MEAP don't get a diploma. Say that only 50 percent of the student population in one of his quality districts passes the MEAP, meaning 50 percent don't get a diplo-

Parents will tear their legislator's eyeballs out and it's a feeding frenzy for lawyers.

The new MEAP was developed with all the right intentions. Many school districts are setting up highly intensified afterschool experiences for those who haven't mastered the MEAP.

But 60 to 70 percent of a quality high school population not receiving some type of a diploma in 1997 is insanity.

'Bubble' mentality lacks real world knowledge hile I jog in the evenings, I like to listen to National Public Radio's evening news show, "All Things Considered."

It stimulates the mind while the running pumps up the heart.

A while back I listened to a story about a woman who was appointed head of the welfare department in New York City. First thing she did was go out and pretend to be a person in need of welfare. She went to the various offices, filled out all the different forms, got abused and ignored by the assorted bureaucrats.

She learned a lot about what it feels like to need welfare. And she is now changing — big time — the policies and practices of the welfare department she was appointed to run.

The story got me thinking.

First, it demonstrates perfectly why most of the people who run the government and make the laws are badly out of touch with the realities of ordinary folk. They are much too much "in the bubble," all of them. And this fact accounts for much of the disconnect between political and governmental elites and ordinary folks that plagues our politics so badly.

Second, it seems to be that much of the mainstream news media, too, are in the bubble. Often, the only people reporters and editors regard as legitimate news sources are heads of governmental departments, legislators or other "news makers."

Only rarely do reporters — especially ones in Washington or Lansing — ever talk with ordinary people who are on the receiving end of governmental indignities and inefficiencies.

These two factors are important in the rise of talk shows and so forth, "real media" as distinguished from elite media.

They should also be important to community newspapers like this one. If we are doing our job as good community newspapers, we can never allow ourselves to get trapped, by habit or choice, in the bubble.

We ought to be talking with ordinary people in the communities we serve, finding out from them what it's like out there. Were the streets on the west side really plowed after the snowstorm last weekend? What's it really like to be a business owner in search of a building permit? Go into real classrooms and see what real teachers do with real kids.

That's real community journalism. Sometimes we do it, and sometimes we don't. But we must realize why it's so important to do better.

Remember the famous legend of the good emperor of China? Recognizing that he was irredeemably trapped in the bubble by his mandarinate's bureaucracy, he regularly donned a disguise and went out into his country. In taverns and inns, by the side of streets and in hovels, he discovered what his government was doing to his subjects and what they felt about it

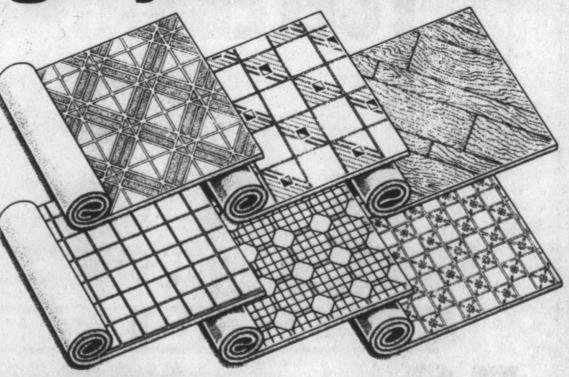

Whether true or not, this legend has persisted in China for more than a thousand years, testimony to the power of the myth and the analysis.

There are a lot of office holders and elected officials (not to mention folks who work for this newspaper) who could learn a lot from this sto-

Years ago, when Bill Milliken was governor of Michigan, he had a rule for all his top appointees: Get out of Lansing at least one day a week. He learned. And he was a fine governor for our state because of it.

Most in local poll say: 'Cut more, don't raise taxes'

Observer readers offered some strong opinions on President's Bill Clinton's economic plan. Thirty-five callers responded earlier this week on our reader hot-

Some believe Clinton is moving in the right direction and should be given a chance. However, most callers want to see more spending cuts before any new tax increases are passed.

Here are some of your comments:

"I think Bill Clinton's plans are great," said a Livonia woman. "We have to do something get this country back together to help our children and grandchildren in the future. And, if we have to sacrifice then we have to do it."

"He's right on target," said a Livonia resident.

"Someone's got to get us out of this mess because we can't continue on the same course we're going." ■ I'm very much against Clinton's plan," said a Livonia man who is retired and living on a fixed income.

"I'm going to pay over $1,500 more (in taxes), President Bush found if you tax people more they don't have money to buy more cars and clothing. It's a bad, bad

"Clinton's plan is ridiculous," said a Plymouth woman.

"The plan will cost me more money but it's for the good of the country," said a Canton Township man.

'It's the right start in the right direction. "I don't like the idea he'll increase our taxes," said a Livonia woman. "I do like his planned spending cuts. But he should do the spending cuts first before he decides to raise taxes."

"Bill Clinton's plan stinks," said a Livonia man.

"I don't believe they'll cut spending. What they should do is cut for two years and then see if they need to raise taxes. I just don't trust those people in Washington."

:"I'm against Clinton's plan it's another example of the Democrats tax and spend policy," said a Redford Township man. "Democrats are the problem because they've controlled Congress for so

"The plan's a recipe for economic disaster."

"With all the lies Mr. Clinton has engendered I'm not ready to sacrifice until I see some valid cuts in government waste and abuse," said one Plymouth re-

"I believe in Clinton's plan," said a Redford Township woman. "The Republicans had 12 years to figure it out." "I'm excited and I'm ready to sacrifice because our nation needs to put itself back on a sound economic basis," said a Redford Township homeowner.

" Taxpayers shouldn't have to pay for the mistakes of government," said a Livonia man.

"I agree wholeheartedly with Clinton's plan. It sounds better than any of the garbage I've heard in 12 years," said a Garden City woman, who said she likes the plan's focus on providing for future generation.

"Before taxes are increased our government must prove it can work together," said one Livonia woman. "They need to cut spending and waste and work together instead of pursuing their own economic interests."

A Livonia woman called for a spending freeze.

"Government is too big and spends too much money. Where will it end? Do they want 60 percent of my pay?

Another Livonia woman said she's not ready to go along with Clinton because "it's the same old tax and spend."

"Freeze spending," she said, adding "in my situation he's going to tax us into being a twoincome family."

WLAA to crown champs

t's that championship season in the Western Lakes Activities Association, which will crown champions in three sports this week. The parade begins at 6 tonight with the finals in girls gymnastics at Westland John Glenn High School. Plymouth Salem, the No. 1-ranked team in the state, will attempt to win its fourth consecutive

Livonia Stevenson (boys swimming) and Livonia Churchill (volleyball) hope to win their third straight WLAA championships. The swim competition concludes Friday with the finals at 6 p.m. in the Salem pool. The No. 7 Spartans will be challenged by No. 8 Salem and No. 9 Northville.

Churchill will attempt to defend its volleyball crown Saturday on its home court. The one-day tournament begins at 9 a.m. The final is expected to start in the early evening.

The WLAA basketball playoffs begin Friday, too. Walled Lake Central is the defending champ. Salem, Glenn, Canton, Farmington Harrison and North Farmington are among the contenders.

Ruete wins MIAA honor

ophomore guard Sarah Ruete of Adrian College was named the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association Player of the Week in women's basketball.

Ruete, a Canton resident and former standout at Plymouth Salem, scored a career-high 25 points Saturday as Adrian claimed a 76-64 victory over

Sarah Ruete

The win clinched second place for the Lady Bulldogs, who finished 10-2 in the MIAA, and marked Adrian's second win over the Scots this season.

Ruete, who scored 21 points in the second half, made eight of 13 field goals, which included 3-of-4 shooting from three-point range, and six of six free throws.

She also led the team with seven rebounds. In a 75-74 overtime win over Albion early last week, Ruete had eight points, five assists and two steals. The Lady Bulldogs trailed 68-62 against Alma with 31/2 minutes to play. Ruete made a threepointer. Dawn Brooks hit a short jumper and Ruete sank a layup after stealing a pass to give Adrian a 69-68 lead.

After exchanging three-point baskets, Karen Baird (Northville) and Ruete sank two free throws each in the final seconds to secure the win.

Regional next for select wrestlers

Plymouth Canton senior Nick Spano won a district championship at 135 pounds and remained unbeaten Saturday at the Class A wrestling tournament at Walled Lake Western.

Observerland will be well represented this weekend at the Class A individual regional wrestling tournament at South Lyon.

No less than 20 area wrestlers qualified for the regional by placing in the top four of their respective weight classes at Saturday's district tournament at Walled Lake Western.

Westland John Glenn's Mike Reeves kept his unbeaten record intact as he stormed through the 160pound bracket. Reeves, 34-0 and the defending state champ at 152, outclassed South Lyons' Jason Brown (29-6) with a 13-4 decision in the championship match.

Reeves held a 4-2 lead entering the third period, then used a series of takedowns and back points to secure the win. He earned pins in his first two matches and recorded a 10-2 decision in the semifinals.

Reeves has his eyes set on a repeat performance at the state meet March 12-13 at Battle Creek.

"I'm a year older now and the experience helps," said Reeves, who has been wrestling since he was in seventh grade. "I've been there once and I know what it takes to get there

CEP squads finish with dual victories

The Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton teams spent the dual meet part of the gymnastics schedule preparing for major meets late in the season.

And both should be more than ready, based on their dual results. Both finished with victories in their final meets earlier this week.

Top-rated Salem completed an undefeated campaign (9-0) by defeating Trenton at home Monday, 137.25 to

The No. 5-ranked Chiefs also had a fine record (10-2) and ended Tuesday with a win over visiting Farmington, 136.95 to 116.7. 'We have the three biggest meets left, and we're trying to stay focused on that." Salem coach Johanna Anderson said. The Rocks enter tonight's Western Lakes Activities Association meet as three-time defending champs and later hope to add regional and state titles. The odds are heavily in favor of Salem winning again.

"We're going to throw all our big tricks and use it as a warmup for regional and state," Anderson said. Hopefully, we can end the season with three more wins."

Salem had two all-arounders against Trenton: Sarah Makins

GYMNASTICS

(34.70) and Zoe Yockey (32.35), who finished first and second.

Courtney Gonyea had the top scores on vault (8.85) and floor exercise (8.95). She was third on the uneven bars (8.65), too.

Alysia Sofios was first on bars (8.85), and Melissa Hopson was first on the balance beam (9.2). Sofios also got third on beam (8.6) and Hopson fourth on bars (8.55).

Makins had a consistent meet, placing second on vault (8.4), bars (8.8) and beam (8.75). She was fourth on floor (8.7).

Salem's Zoe Yockey and Stefanie Angulio placed in two events each. Yockey was second on floor (8.85) and third on vault (7.8), Angulio third on floor (8.8) and fourth on beam (7.95).

PLYMOUTH CANTON Kim Rennolds had the best scores on vault (8.6), beam (9.15) and floor (9.3) in the Farmington dual. She was second on bars (8.65).

The Canton senior compiled the highest all-around total at 35.7. Kim Lewke was second (33.9), Adrienne Brenner fourth (30.25) and Kari Jackson fifth (30.00).

Rocks prepared for WLAA tournament

Plymouth Salem finished regularseason play Monday and locked up the No. 3 tournament seed in Western Lakes Activities Association volleyball with a win (0-11-7) over visiting Walled Lake Western.

The Rocks compiled a 9-2 record in league dual meets and tied Walled Lake Central for second place in the final standings. Salem lost the tie-breaker with the Vikings, however.

Delta dusts S'craft men

The Schoolcraft College men's basketball team ended the regular season Saturday with a 118-102 defeat at Delta College.

The Ocelots finished 6-21 overall and 2-14 in the Eastern Conference. They are idle until next Wednesday when they play in the Region 12 national tournament at Macomb Community College.

SC didn't have much of a chance against Delta - 12 playoff qualifier from the Eastern Conference - trailing 65-44 at halftime.

"It could have been real ugly (in the second half) but the kids fought real hard," Schoolcraft

College coach Dave Bogataj said. Sophomore Mohammed Abdrabboh hellped the Ocelots stay competitive, -scoring 28 of his game-high 42

Farewell Dana: Dana Hudson (15) played her final game for Schoolcraft Monday night. She scored 17 points in the Ocelots' 72-56 loss at Highland Park. Hudson averaged 18.9 points per game this year, which should rank her among the nation's top 20.

OCC men stay alive

Oakland Community College had better luck at the start of the men's basketball state playoffs Monday than it had at the end of the regular season.

The Raiders, who lost three close games (two in overtime) before winning the finale, held off visiting St. Clair Community College 104-94.

'We lost some close games, but we lost to good teams," OCC coach Lynn Reed said. "So we were not totally disappointed with our play. We just didn't get much luck in some situations.' The Raiders (15-12) boosted 46-38 halftime lead to 16 points in the second half Monday before Reed emptied his bench and let everyone play.

St. Clair closed the gap to five points with 11/2 minutes left, but OCC held on. The Raiders played at Macomb Community College in the second round Wednesday. OCC put six players in double Canton scores on vault were: 1. Tedesco, 8.95; 2. Rennolds, 8.9; 3. Lewke, 8.85; 5. Nowak, 8.3; beam: Rennolds, 9.3; 3. Brenner, 8.8 (personal best); 5. Tedesco, 8.2; 6. Lewke, 8.1; bars: 2. "When the lowest score you count on floor is an 8.7, you know you're having a good day," Cunningham said. "Kim and Jenny did nice bars, and we looked good on floor and beam.

Rennolds' 9.35 on floor was low compared to other meets and considering her routine, according to Cunningham. "It would have been a school record with the right judges," he said. Heather Murphy still has the record, the only one not belonging to Rennolds, of 9.45.

Shamrocks tie rival

Redford Catholic Central and Birmingham Brother Rice played to a 1-1 tie Saturday in a Michigan Metro Hockey League game at Redford Ice Arena.

The Shamrocks, who are 12-5-4 overall and 6-4-3 in the Michigan Metro Hockey League, had 24 shots on goal to Rice's 16. The game was unlike the first matchup between the two teams, Feb. 5, when CC beat Rice 3-0 despite being outshot 38-13.

After a scoreless first period, CC took a 1-0 lead at 5:38 of the second period on a goal by Jeff Lachapelle, assisted by Jason Ballinger. Rice tied the score at 10:31 with a power play goal by Tim Karrumi, with assists to Josh Fryer and Matt Riker.

The Shamrocks tried to break the tie in the second period but Chris Gonzalez hit the goal post on a breaksway and Jon Heady hit the side of the net on a good opportunity, according to coach Jack Gumbleton.

The third period didn't feature much offense with CC taking only five shots on goal and Rice two.

"Trust me," answered Axsom. (He's always been a man of few words).

Five minutes later, I was seated comfortably on my bucket with my back to the wind and my spike-tipped chartreuse tear drop dangling a few inches off the bottom of the lake. We were fishing in 12 feet of water.

I diddled for several minutes, varying my depth between the bottom and three feet off the bottom. Nothing. Then I heard a "Bill." faint call . . .

I glanced over my shoulder just in time to watch Axsom reel in a dandy 8-inch yellow perch.

Seconds later, there was another low-toned call and Axsom hoisted up another keeper. The scene repeated itself six times over the next couple minutes and each time Axsom pulled a keeper out of his hole.

Just when I started questioning my technique I felt an ever-soslight tug on the end of my 2pound test line. I quickly set the hook and pulled up my first perch of the day. Three more fish accepted my offering in the next two minutes. Then, just as quickly as the action had started, it ended. For the next 20 minutes we fished feverishly, but to no avail.

"Time to move," Axsom said.

"But we just got here," I com-plained, pondering the thought of spudding another hole through eight inches of ice.

"There's no use fishing a hole when there aren't any fish," he explained. "The secret is, you have to move around to find the fish. There aren't enough fish in the bay yet to sit on one hole all day. You have to move around." "You move," I said. "I'll stay here just in case they come back."

Axsom moved about 50 yards to my left and broke another hole through the ice. I watched him catch five more perch in less than 10 minutes then decided to swallow my pride and take his advice. I moved. I caught nothing. I moved again. I caught fish. The same series of events took place several times over the next five hours before we decided to head for home with a nice catch of fresh Great Lakes perch. We landed 34 keepers ranging from seven to 10 inches in length.

"It'll get better, but for now you have to keep moving to find the fish," concluded Axsom

E CORKTOWN RACES

Serious runners and fun-loving walkers can demonstrate how well they've stayed in shape during the winter at the 11th Annual Corktown Races Sunday, March 14.

The races begin at 12:30 p.m. at Tiger Stadium. The annual St. Patrick's Parade will follow at 2

The main race is a four-mile run through Detroit's historic Corktown community. Other events are 11/2-mile walk and a quarter-mile walk/run for children 12 and under.

The early entry deadline is Friday, March 5, for a $10 fee. The late registration fee is $14. Final registration will take place from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. on race day at the starting line.

The quarter-mile kids run begins at 12:30. Parents may run with their children at no additional cost. The four-mile and 11/4-mile runs start at 1.

The races are conducted by the Motor City Striders and sponsored by the Fraternal Order of United Irishmen. Proceeds will be used to aid the food programs at St. Patrick's Church in the Cass Corridor.

Entry forms can be obtained by writing to the race director at 10144 Lincoln, Huntington Woods, MI 48070. For informa-

Good fitness habits aid teen development

MYRNA

She does seem to be coordinated and loves to dance. She is frustrated and very self-conscious. I'm very worried about her self-image. Her marks in school are going downhill. I need a strong suggestion. Please help.

This is probably the most common teenage exercise question. Your daughter is going through her awkward stage right now; be supportive and patient.

She probably doesn't show interest in sports or gym class now because of her weight problem. A lot of overweight girls feel silly in athletic clothes, especially shorts.

Being that she loves to dance, I would normally recommend a dance class after school, but the dress code wouldn't work for her overweight situation. Since she loves music and seems coordinated, a great solution might be an exercise class after school.

Music is a great motivator for teenagers. She may also wear comfortable sweats that she likes. Make sure she starts at a beginner level so as not to become intimidated and quit. Exercise classes, properly instructed, can be extremely beneficial in teenage

At this time of tremendous physical and psychological growth, cultivating the habits and awareness of physical fitness often lay the foundation for one's physical well-being for life.

I find teens understand the harmony between mind and body.

'Quilters' pieces patches of life

Stories about timeless themes such as childbirth, marriage and schooling unfold in"Quilters" which opens Friday at Trinity House Theatre in Livonia.

Colorful patches of cloth, stitched together with tender. loving care, brought pioneer women together and offered them comfort on the lonely plains of America. Trinity House Theatre offers a glimpse of what it must have been like to live on the frontier during their presentation of "Quilters," by Barbara Damashek and Molly Newman.

'Quilting was one shared experience that joined the lives of many of our ancestors who settled the plains and hills of the frontier," said Sarah Hedeen, artistic director of Trinity House Theatre.

It is the focal point of "Quilters." Stories in the play unfold around 16 blocks of a legacy quilt being stitched by a mother, Sarah, for her seven Michael Flores of Bloomfield Hills quilted all the quilt blocks used in the play, and the legacy quilt that the play is built around.

Hedeen portrays Dana, one of Sarah's daughters. As each block in the quilt unfolds, the audience experiences through drama, the lives of hundreds of characters, mostly women.

"One block is a story about a fire that destroys someone's log cabin," said Hedeen. "Each story is built around a traditional quilt block. For example, the Double Wedding Ring quilt pattern is the story of a young woman's quest to find a husband."

Music and dance are woven throughout the dramatic and often comedic stories that tie us to our American heritage.

Such themes as childbirth, baptism, marriage, parenting and schooling are addressed. Using both narrative and interactive scene work, the play touches many aspects of the lifestyle of the pioneers.

"One of the most interesting stories is Secret Drawer. It's the story of a woman who learns she's pregnant for the 14th time, and goes to her doctor for help," said Hedeen. "Some of the stories are very funny. Several blocks show what childhood on the prairie was like.

"Quilters" is directed by Laura Gumina, with musical direction by Dianne Lord. Hedeen said she figured the show will be a hit with women, since there are many stories that mothers and daughters can relate to, but what surprised her was the number of men who saw the show during rehearsal and said they really enjoyed

LSO presents enjoyable, upbeat concert

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN SPECIAL WRITER

The second Series B chamber style concert this season by the Livionia Symphony Orchestra featuring guest guitarist James Lentini on Feb. 19, was an enjoyable intimate evening of music with an upbeat theme.

The scaled-down orchestra under conductor/music director Francesco DiBlasi opened with the Overture to Beethoven's only ballet, "Die Geschopfe des Prometheus" (The Creatures of Prometheus). A definite plus to this series is the addition of DiBlasi's informative commentary between selections

Gracefulness and charm filled the LSO's second selection, the first movement of Schubert's "Symphony No. 5 in B flat major."

Kristen Williams, oboe; Colin Lord, clarinet; James Poe, bassoon and Carl Karoup, horn were featured in the nearly flawless "Symphony Concertante" by Mozart. Beforehand, DiBlasi kidded the audience that this was his arrangement of the work, and as such had very few repetitions. The piece was light and airy. If you closed your eyes you might have imagined you were listening to a European band concert. After intermission, Lentini took center stage for the premier professional performance of his "Concerto for Guitar and Strings (1981)." The contemporary piece in three movements had an underlying classical flavor which showcased Lentini's proficient guitar work — his hands flying across the fret work. The guitar and violin strings sang dark and sweet in the second movement.

Assistant professor of composition, and director of the electronic studio at Wayne State University in Detroit, Lentini evidenced that he has performed extensively as a recitalist and

He completed the concerto while studying at Wayne State University. It was performed as a work-in-progress in 1981, and then set aside until 1992 when he made minor revisions to the orchestrations.

Lentini holds degrees from Wayne State University and Michigan State University, and a doctorate in composition from the University of Southern California. His compositions include works written for orchestra, chamber ensembles, voices, electronic and solo instruments. He won first prize in the Atwater-Kent Composition Contest for his "Music for Brass" in 1985, and the McHugh Composition Prize for "A Distant Place" in 1988.

After a toe-tapping rendition of Joplin's "Cascades" featuring orches-tra members Williams, Lord, Poe, Karoub and flutist, Teri Sankovich, Lentini returned to the stage for solo performances of "Here's That Rainy Day" by Van Hensen, and a soulful Gershwin's "A Foggy Day."

The concert ended on a rousing note with dramatic music from Rossini's "Guillaume Tell," (William Tell)

Seating is . reserved. Tickets are $6 each and available by calling 377-3300. The concert will last about one hour, and is not recommended for children under the age of 3. Doors open

A regular guest on "Mister Rogers' Neighborhood," Jenkins has been praised throughout her 35 years as a performer for her emphasis on active participation and multi-cultural education. She knows songs, chants, rhythms, games and dances from many lands, and encourages audience participation at her concerts.

She has performed for children on all seven continents, including Antarctica. In 1988, she traveled to Hong Kong and the People's Republic of China as part of an exchange program of the Performing Arts.

In 1989, she traveled to the Soviet Union and performed for the children of Moscow and Jenkins spends as much as 200 days a year on the road. Only half that time is spent performing, the other half is spent holding workshops at universities and children's agencies.

To each performance she carries a bag of small portable instruments, including maracas, clave sticks, castenets and harmonicas.

Talented cast in opera 'Wonderglass'

Donald Baker, principal oboist with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, will be the soloist at the next American Artists Series concert, 3 p.m. Sunday, March 28, at Kingswood Auditorium, Cranbrook campus, 500 Lone Pine, Bloomfield Hills. Tickets $12.50. For information, call 851-5044.

By ISABELLE JOHNSTON SMITH SPECIAL WRITER

A near-capacity audience of over 350 hardy souls braved snow, sleet and cold Sunday, Feb. 21, to witness the American Artists Series world premier production of singer, composer, librettist Susan Botti's work-in-progress chamber opera, "Wonderglass," at Kingswood Auditorium on the Cranbrook campus in Bloomfield Hills.

"Wonderglass" is based on the whimsical improvised stories gentle Oxford Don Charles Dodgson (Lewis Carroll) related to the three children of his Dean (among them his favorite, Alice) to while away their lazy weekend afternoons picnicking on the banks of the Thames River in the 1860s. However, Botti's 20th century evocations of the "Queen of Hearts," the "Mad Hatter,"
"March Hare," "Mock Turtle," the "Ugly Duchess" and Cook rely more on sharp wit and biting satire - and musical references to jazz, show tunes, choral reading, recitative, scat, folk and ethnic idioms.

Full of dissonances, minor keys, unresolved chords, atonalities, complicated rhythms, harmonic 4th and 7ths, and sudden strong, dramatic shifts in scale, dynamics and tempi, this is a so-phisticated, but fairly melodic-wonderland, indeed.

When 9-year-old Carly Baruh's "Alice" asks — "would you tell me please where I ought to go from here? and the Chesire Cat answers - "that depends a good deal on where you want to get," Botti is summing up her concept for "Wonderglass" - a concept which explores the boundaries of the 20th century imagination using Lewis' 19th century characters and dialogue as vehicles.

What results is a work full of irony, wit, humor and (sometimes) tenderness. Notable among the songs are: "Which Way?," "How I Love to Play Cro-Way?," "How I Love to Play Croquet," "Soup, Beautiful Soup,"
"The Mad Duchess' Aria," "Off with their Heads," "The Jabberwock," and the folk tune-like conclusion "The Old Man at the Gate." Albeit most of these are not immediately "hummable."

The two short films of Dodgson's (Carroll's) 19th century photos by California filmmaker Phil Denslow, which were used as a prologue and near the end, also added immeasurably to the production.

As the narrator intoned at the conclusion - "Mark this day with a white stone!" and a red letter! And bravos! This was, in fact, a "brillig" afternoon.

Isabelle Johnston Smith of Birmingham, a former professional singer, serves on the Detroit Symphony Orchestra Hall Volunteer Council Board of directors, and on the boards of other area arts organizations.

You might see six, eight, 10 resurfacing jobs in the metro area, some bridgework done on a central program.

"The whole program is a little sketchy," he added.

Curt Hacias, president of the Construction Association of Michigan, agreed that he doesn't know yet exactly what to expect.

"Our membership is poised and ready to go on a moment's no-tice," he said. "There won't be a lack of bidders for work. It's a bright light, no question about it. Any time there's an infusion ofdollars, private dollars or federal dollars, it certainly will help."

Thomas H. Landry, president of A.J. Etkin in Farmington Hills, believes that road specialists rather than building contractors like himself stand to benefit most in the short term.

Environmentally friendly?

Ed Cicero, vice president for operations at Millgard Environmental in Livonia, said his pollution remediation firm probably won't get an immediate boost from a federal spending stimulus. But he found reason for hope in the tone of Clinton's address.

"If he means what he said in his speech, I think environmental might pick up and big," Cicero

"There will be cuts in payments to providers: doctors, hospitals and labs as a way of controlling health care costs. These cuts are only a stop-gap until we reform the whole health care system."

Michael Killian, director of marketing and public affairs for Beaumont Hospitals, was waiting to get a handle on specific numbers from finance personnel before gauging an impact.

But he had a preliminary

The firm already has reduce d its work force by nearly two doze n the last eight months due to previous defense cuts, and Vojcek isn't optimistic about what he hears through the grapevine about more potential cuts.

"We're bracing for the worst. That way, you have less surprises," Vojcek said. "Truth to tell, we just don't know what it's going to turn into."

money to run their business they make commercial or consumer loans at higher interest

By contrast, "equity assets" imply ownership of an asset. One can own many things that can increase in value: real estate, pieces of companies (stocks), a personal business, gold. The hope and expectation are that the asset will go up in value, but it may also go down. With equity investments, there are no guarantees.

The distinction is important. In general, the equity assets provide significantly greater long-term rates of return but at the expense of short-term stability. The debtbased assets are more stable but at the expense of average returns.

Table I shows the long-term rates of return of specific debtbased and equity-based assets. The difference between the two categories is substantial. For example, over a 15-year-period, the 5-percent bond rate would double your money; the 10-percent rate provided historically by stocks would result in a quadrupling of your money. The difference becomes even more dramatic over longer time periods.

Everybody should have assets in both categories; some in the debt-based area and some in the equity-based assets. The single most important question in asset allocation is the balance between the two.

Generally, conservative investors such as retirees should have a greater proportion of assets in the debt-based area for greater stability. But they should still retain some equity assets to provide for growth and inflation protec-

Those who are accumulating money for a number of years to achieve a long-term goal should have the majority of their money is equity assets. But even the most aggressive investor should have an emergency reserve and some other debt-based assets to balance the portfolio.

The percentage of assets in these two areas will shift over time. For example, a couple in their 30s and 40s may have 70 percent of their assets in the equity-based area for more rapid growth. As they move through their 50s, they might choose a good time to liquidate some of the equity assets to lock in past profits. By the time they reach 60, they might have perhaps one-half of their assets in the debt-based and one-half in equity-based assets. As they move toward retirement at 65, they might further re-

Business braces for Clinton's specifics

■ It's apprehension on the part of some, anticipation on the part of other business owners and managers as they gauge their economic future.

By Doug Funke Staff Writer

Some businesses would appear to fare better than others when it comes to applying President Bill Clinton's proposed economic recovery plan.

Apparent winners include building contractors and community colleges. Potential losers include defense contractors and hospitals.

But appearances can sometimes be deceiving. Expectations can be buoyed or dashed depending on how the details eventually shake out, business leaders said. They responded to the following Clinton excerpts:

'We must create a new unified worker training system, so that workers receive training regardless of why they lost their jobs," Clinton said in his economic address. "We will offer people on welfare the education, training . . . they need to get back on their

"We train people who are laid off or economically disadvantaged," May said. "Our programs were basically filled. We have a waiting list, but it isn't a big list."

The Pontiac Center trains about 250 people annually in such areas as heating and cooling technology, machine tool technology and business information systems.

"We now try to do training to specific employers," Sweet said. "We're canvassing all employers in our district with more than 25 employees to see what their needs are over the next five years.

"We have two job developers and their job is to meet with businesses to see what kinds of jobs they have available," May said. "We train them, then it's incumbent on the employer to employ them." To create jobs and guarantee a strong recovery, I call on Congress to enact an immediate jobs package of over $30 billion. We will put people to work right now and create half a million jobs, jobs that will rebuild our highways and airports, renovate hous-

There's a wide-range of opinion on what this proposal will mean locally. Drop in the bucket?

"I don't see the proposals the president made will make a tremendous impact on the building trades," said Fred Capaldi, a Rochester residential Hull, a Walled Lake contractor and president of the Michigan Road Builders Association, projects that Michigan will receive only $76 million under Clinton's plan.

"You're not going to see the state all torn up over $76 million," he said.

Balance key in asset allocation

Second of three parts

BY DANIEL BOYCE and A.LAN FERRARA SPECIAL WRITERS

Last week we discussed the importance of maintaining adequate liquidity (accessibility) and diversifying investments into several different categories. Before we proceed with the discussion of asset allocation, it is important to define the categories among which investments can be allocated.

A broad distinction must first be made between interest-bearing assets (debt-based assets) and ownership assets (equity assets). Within the two broad categories, there are several sub-categories. The debt-based assets contain three sub-categories: cash equivalents, guaranteed contracts and bonds. Equity-based assets include the sub-categories of stocks, real estate, tangibles and other. Some definitions of each:

Cash equivalents: Interestbearing assets with ready accessibility. They include savings accounts, money market funds, Treasury bills, short-term savings goals, and for defensive investing when nothing else looks attrac-

■ Guaranteed contracts: Higher interest rates, but with some restriction on accessibility. They include retirement plan and 401(k) plan guaranteed accounts, deferred annuities, and long-term certificates of deposit. These assets provide moderate rates of return and provide an anchor to any portfolio. They never decline in value. Frequently, tax deferral is an added benefit of investments in this category.

■ Bonds: A fixed interest rate is locked in for a long period of time. They include assets such as municipal bonds, treasury notes and bonds, and bond mutual funds. They primarily are held for steady income. Bonds may be liquidated prior to maturity by selling the bonds to another investor, but the sale price may be higher or lower than the original purchase price (prices will tend to vary with interest rate moves).

■ Stocks: Represents ownership in companies. They include stock options, stock mutual funds and foreign stocks. These offer growth and liquidity but will have significantly greater fluctuations in value in the short term. As a result, the investment time horizon should ideally be five years or longer, though they may be sold sooner if conditions change.

■ Investment real estate: includes investment property, partnerships, real estate investment trusts but does not include personal residence. Real estate is an illiquid asset that typically provides some income along with potential appreciation (growth).

■ Tangibles: These assets tend to do well in inflationary times, but they can be highly volatile. They include precious metals and collectibles (coins, stamps, oriental carpets, artwork). They tend to increase in value when bonds and stocks are not performing well and can therefore help stabilize a port:folio.

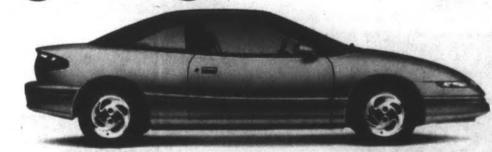

Cother: Includes private businesses and exotic investments. This is a catch-all category and is always optional in a portfolio. Next we'll examine a useful framework for our asset allocation model. It is helpful to divide a portfolio into the debt-based assets and the equity assets. Interest bearing assets are debt-based because the money is in effect being loaned to various organizations — the bank (savings or CI)s), the U.S. government (Treasury bills or bonds), a corporation (corporate bonds) or other entity. The borrowing organization then uses this money to maintain a business or other equity asset.

For example, when you open a savings account, you are lending your money to the bank. In return, the bank agrees to pay you a specified rate of interest for the use of your money. They use your

What you do keeps parents coming back

What keeps parents coming?

That's a subject I addressed in an article published by the National Association for the Education of Young Children in May 1992. And what was said then is still applicable today.

The first thing that keeps parents coming back is being reliable. Parents need a provider who is dependable. This means you should:

dependable. This means you should:
(1) Do what you say you're going to do;

(2) Do it when you say you will;

(3) Do what it takes to organize before it's time to open your doors to the families.

But there's more. You also have to be credible. Quality is worth paying for if parents have peace of mined knowing you provide a viable, productive and safe program in a peaceful, loving environment.

Parents and children can sense sincerity and readily draw conclusions about you as a professional person and your business program. When parents chose to use your services, it is most likely that they are choosing you the person rather than your big slide, although the equipment is very important.

A feeling of trust and confidentiality is important. Such is the nature of credibility.

A new start?

Family programs gladly 'heed' the call

The call to action was issued in President Bill Clinton's State of the Union address. Programs like Head Start and Women, Infants and Children are on his list for increased funding, much to the delight of those who administer the programs.

BY DOUG FUNKE and CASEY HANS STAFF WRITERS

President Clinton's call for expanding the Women, Infants and Children's (WIC) nutrition program and reaching more children in the Head Start preschool program drew praise from caregivers involved at the local level.

While they weren't sure of exactly what direction the "improvements" would take, they see a need for more involvement.

Some 7,100 WIC clients are currently served in Wayne County com-area markets, average about $50 monthly per person who qualifies and are administered through the county health departments.

Even communities perceived as affluent are touched.

"I'm not surprised," Nelms said of the WIC needs in wealthy Wayne communities like Plymouth Township, Canton and Livonia. "Health needs of people span the whole geographic area."

Specific numbers weren't available by community.

Nelms, a 15-year veteran of WIC, notes the program's results.

"We've seen babies born to moms on the WIC program with (appropriate) birth weight increases, and we've seen children with iron deficiency anemia decline."

The out-Wayne County Head Start program currently serves about 2,800 children outside of the city of Detroit, said Patricia Horne-McGee, associate director. Head Start includes education, immunization and nutrition services for children in underprivileged families.

Sometimes, there is a waiting list at the beginning of the school year, but children on that list usually eventually are admitted due to family moves and other dropouts, she said.

Programs in all areas

"We tell people we have participants in Dearborn and Livonia, and people around the state say, 'Not really?' Yes, there are pockets of poor within all of our cities."

Horne-McGee and her staff are in the process of assessing needs to possibly expand Head Start to several school districts that don't have it currently — Crestwood, Southgate and Allen Park — and measuring whether those that do are fully covered.

"Head Start impacts on the family. It changes direction on self-sufficiency and moving toward self-sufficiency," Horne-McGee said.

Expanding the program will carry a higher cost to local communities that are expected to provide 20 percent of the budget, Horne-McGee said, Most provide in-kind services like classroom space, she said.

Tax help

In another area mentioned by the president, the working poor would stand to benefit from Clinton's call to expand the earned income tax credit. The figure being bandied about — raising the ceiling from the current $22,370 to $30,000.

"Definitely more people would be eligible and I'm going to make an assumption dollars would increase as well," said Elcy Maccani, public affairs specialist in the Detroit IRS office.

Growth Works mends families' fractured lives

BY JAMES RADEBAUGH STAFF WRITER

Fractured families, materialism and a hectic pace of life are taking a toll on the young people.

So say several adults who were honored this month by Growth Works Inc. for their efforts on behalf of troubled teens.

"I think the pressures are getting worse, I don't know why," said Rita Lowenstein, who volunteers as a mentor for teens involved with Growth Works.

Lowenstein and her husband Glenn got involved with Growth Works five years ago when their son got into trouble with drugs and alcohol. Though she's completing requirements for a law degree and Glenn is a top-level business executive, they've found time to give back to an organization that helped when their family was in crisis.

Each week, Lowenstein meets for an hour with a young person enrolled in Growth Work's Youth Assistance program. She's there to listen, to bolster self-esteem and to guide the young person toward more responsible behavior. The program is for first-time offenders who are sent to Growth Works as an alternative to the courts. Some, but not all, are chemically dependent.

Lowenstein believes the pressures of early sex, drug use, the need to wear the right clothes and old-fashioned pressures such as school work have combined to make being a teen tougher today than Jim Young, who, like the Lowensteins, is a Canton resident, also is a Youth Assistance mentor. He says too much comes too easily to young people today, while at the same time kids have less and less contact with adults.

"Kids are really like on an island more than at any time in the history of man," he said. Nic Cooper, a counselor in the Plymouth-Can-juana are as strong as ever among teens and that use of inhalants is growing. Like others, Cooper thinks the Just Say No

Like others, Cooper thinks the Just Say No push of the past 12 years has been largely ineffective in steering young people away from drugs.

Cooper said that while the Just Say No message is as fine as far as it goes, it is a simplistic solution to a complex problem. What's needed, he said, are programs that identify and treat young people with chemical dependencies.

Cooper, in conjunction with Growth Works, ran such a program from 1977-87 for the Plymouth-Canton Schools. The program, Learning Options, was discontinued in a cost-cutting effort.

"That's the kind of thing that was lost during the Reagan years," he said.

"We find ourselves with fewer options, and that's kind of sad."

Growth Works, located in Plymouth, provides children and adults with a variety of services ranging from drug counseling to job placement. The non-profit organization was founded in 1971 and now employs seven full-time staff members and nearly 50 volunteers. It receives funding from United Way, local governments and its own fundraisers.

raisers.

Cooper, Young and the Lowensteins were honored earlier this month at Growth Works' annual award dinner. Carol Haas and Madelon Hudson were also honored. Haas is a nurse in the Wayne-Westland Schools and a two-year Growth Works volunteer. Hudson, a Plymouth resident, serves one day a week as a volunteer secretary.

Club observes milestone with a century of service

BY JAMES RADEBAUGH STAFF WRITER

One way of tracking some of the not-necessarily-quaint developments in American history is to take a look at the Woman's Club of Plymouth.

The club, which celebrates its 100th anniversary March 4, has been through some of the thick of it. Club members aided the push for Prohibition and for women's suffrage, they helped out during two world wars, and, on a local note, they helped build the Plymouth Library and develop Kellogg Park.

Writer's restless nature requires a variety of activities

Green,

I will be 48 years old toleft handed. I wonder if lefthanded people write any differently than right-handers, I mean does their handwriting, differ in appearance. We all know lefties write upsidedown. It certainly is true of me! In many ways my handwriting has changed over the years - is that typical? I will be interested in reading what you have to say about my personality after seeing my handwriting. I guess we all are interested in what others think of us, but it will be interesting to see if what you perceive is what I think I am like!

Thanks for reading this for

One of the most common differences between left and right handers is that left handers usually cross their T's from right to left. Most mature adults change their handwriting as they mature and develop personality changes.

Today's writer is a gregarious woman who enjoys people from all walks of life. Her restless nature requires constant variety in her activities. Her interests are often short and fleeting. She is not above a little social climbing to mix with people who have special appeal for her.

This is an independent person, one to whom freedom is para-mount. A routine existence holds little attraction for her.

When she wrote this letter to me she was very busy. She has so many irons in the fire that her energies are being scattered. She might find it helpful to sort out her priorities and extricate herself from some of this involvement.

This is a person of intelligence and refinement. Seemingly she thinks of herself as being somewhat different, possibly marching to a different drummer. At times she may also feel that she is in possession of special insights.

She comprehends quickly and can take a direct route to problem solving. She is able to cut away unnecessary steps and move right to the heart of a problem. Creativity is freely expressed. A good memory is another asset

Heavy pressure suggests her purposeful drive. However, her fleeting interest in so many things may interfere with her concentration on a prolonged endeavor. On the job, she wants good equipment to facilitate her work.

She is not reluctant to take a risk to get what she wants from life. Material interests are strong. I doubt if we'll ever hear her say, "but this is the way we have always done things.

Sensitivity rides on the loops of her small T's and D's. Often she anticipates criticism when none is intended. She enjoys praise.

Her inflated lower loops suggest many things . . . fantasy and vivid imagination are among them. Other interpretations are incorporated throughout the analysis. She tends to distort what she sees and hears without realizing it. This prevents her from basing her judgments solely on facts.

'It's aimed at lower-income families with children. It's designed to help them out and put more money in their pockets.

Classes available for lupus patients

The Michigan Lupus Foundation will offer a five-week patient education series about the disease, beginning Thursday, March 4.

The workshops are designed for lupus patients, their families and friends. It will be at 7:30-9:15 p.m. Thursdays at St. Alfred Parish, 9500 Banner, Taylor.

Dr. Luis Torregrosa, a rheumatologist will be the physician speaker. He will discuss diagnostic tests, treatment, variables of lupus and selfmonitoring.

Other speakers will be Virginia Ladd, discussing what lupus is, and Peg O'Flynn, who will lead discussions on the emotional reactions to chronic illness, with suggestions on

All material will be presented in easy-to-understand terms. Lupus is a chronic, inflammatory autoimmune disease in which the body's defense system that is meant to protect malfunctions produces antibodies directed at the body. The cause and cure are currently not known.

The symptoms include joint pain, low-grade fever, chest pain, unusual swelling and sometimes a sun-sensitive Advance registration is required and can be completed by contacting the Michigan Lupus Foundation at 26202 Harper Ave., St. Clair Shores how the patient and family can 48081, or by calling 775-8330.

Family issues

You also need to be attractive. Appearance may be deceiving, but many times people draw a lot of conclusions about you and the quality of services that will be offered on the basis of what they see. Anything the parents and children can see, feel, touch, hear and even smell concerning the physical environment can shape opinions.

Put your best foot forward and make a special effort to present a first class image — not only in the physical environment but yourself as well. It's not at frivolous expense, it's an investment. What can you lose? Hopefully not a potential customer.

As a provider you also have to be responsive. To be responsive is to be accessible, available to the children as well as to the parents. Take care of minor concerns or complaints before they get out of hand. Be available at designated times to discuss various issues with parents. Don't be too busy to listen or be "tuned in" to certain

To be responsive also means having the ability to know when to and how to act upon a certain issue in a timely manner. Be empathetic. Everyone wants to feel special. Each family has its own unique personality and needs. That's what makes a family day care home truly wonderful. Why? Because each family represents a branch on your family day care business tree. So be patient with the families and empathetic. Treat each family as a special part of the tree.

Help accommodate their various needs as much as possible. Try to put yourself in their shoes and experience their points of view.

After all be happy. You chose them . . . they chose you.

Kast and Hodak star at Northville Town Hall series

Tickets are still available for the remaining two lectures of the Northville Town Hall Series, now in its 32nd season.

The series is held at the Holiday Inn-West, 17123 N. Laurel Park Drive, Livonia. The Monday, March 8, guest speaker will be ABC News correspondent Shielah Kast, while local TV notable Jerry Hodak will be the Monday, April 12, guest speaker.

Kast has covered a wide range of beats for ABC News, moving to Congressional beat in 1989 after a four-year White House stint.

A former financial reporter with the Washington Star, she authored a book, "Cut Your Own Taxes," a how-to-book covering the 1981 and '82 tax law changes. A native of Indianapolis, Ind., she is a graduate of the Catholic University of America and attended the Catholic University Law

Hodak is a veteran reporter and weathercaster. A local Emmy winner, he received the Michigan Non-Profit Homes Association

Award for his series on Medicare costs, a special mention award for his medical story on a cancer pump and a 1983 public service award from the Michigan Cancer Foundation.

A graduate of Wayne State University, he got his start at WDET-FM on campus. He joined WXYZ-TV in 1977 and moved to WJBK-TV in 1992.

Proceeds from the series benefits charities in Northville, Novi, Plymouth, Livonia and South Lyons through the organization's Board of Awards.

The 1993-94 Town Hall series lineup will be announced and tickets will go on sale at the April gathering. In addition to the Town Hall lectures, there are luncheons at noon at the Holiday Inn available for season ticket-

For more information on the Town Hall program, call Carmen Kuckenbecker at 349-7227 or write to Northville Town Hall, P.O. Box 93, Northville 48167.

you realize that most Christians do not under-not John 3:16. Most assume that the word old in this verse necessarily means "the entire nan race." However, the Bible often uses the d"world" to refer to a specific group of men in the human race. Note these verses: Luke John 12:19; John 15:19. The "world" of men God loved were those that God chose and gave to Christ for salvation (Eph 1:3-5; John 6:39).

BY SUE MASON STAFF WRITER

Eleanore Oosterveen can remember when she "felt lonesome in the crowd." A born-again Christian, she wanted to participate in church activities but found herself feeling "left out" because activities were geared for families, senior citizens or youth.

She had a family, but hers was different. She practiced her faith without her husband, a non-Christian.

That was then. Now she doesn't feel so alone. She has Wives of Promise, a ministry for women married to non-Christian men or men belonging to different religious denominations.

Oosterveen is the founder of Wives of Promise. She started in 1980 after a lot of prayer and arguing with God.

"I wanted to be a part of church activi-ties; I wanted to feel like I belonged," she said. "I prayed about it for a long time and felt that God talked to me, telling me to do something. I argued with God for three months before I decided to do

Wives of Promise got its start at the Zion Evangelist Temple in Clawson and the group met there for 12 years. Two years ago, "when the Lord spoke to us," Wives of Promise incorporated as a nonprofit group.

The change is an indication, according to Oosterveen, that the group isn't a ministry of a particular church.

Word of mouth

By word of mouth and small blurbs on the radio and in newspapers, the ministry has slowly grown in size. Women come from throughout the tri-county area; Livonia, Farmington and St. Clair Shores are among the cities represented. They also come from as far away as Flint to participate.

There isn't an official membership, although 94 women showed up for Wives of Promise's Christmas lunch. Other meetings may have 16-30 women in attendance; more tend to turn out when there's a lunch, Oosterveen said.

"Because of the nature of the ministry, husbands may object," she said. "There's such a need. When I'm in church, I see how many women are there and they're there alone. I understand their need to share their faith."

Those attending have discovered that Wives of Promise is more than a social event. The meetings include a service with songs of praise and worship, as well as a guest speaker and fellowship.

"I feel it's important for women to get to know one another," Oosterveen said. "This isn't a place to come and have a pity party; it's a place to come to bond."

Wives of Promise meets twice a month at 9:30 a.m. the first Monday of the month and 7 p.m. the third Monday. Meetings generally run three hours, sometimes longer because "the women want to stay and talk." There is a different topic and different speaker at each meeting and offerings are accepted to support the ministry.

"This is strictly supported by people who share one vision," Costerveen said. "We're dedicated to have the marriage restored and the marriage held together."

Hard adjustment

Oosterveen's husband was an agnostic at the time she founded Wives of Promise. While he has yet to commit himself to God, she knows he now believes there's a God and that one day he will join in her faith. She has also encountered women married to Islamic men, as well as Buddhists or Shintoists. The differences are a hard adjustment,

"So often we look at ourselves and see we're with Christ and understand God, so why can't they be with Christ and un-derstand God," she said. "We try to have the women see the men's point of view.

"Quite often women don't understand where men are coming from; it's because she has changed and given herself to God. He wants to know what's happened to his fun partner."

Members are encouraged not to get angry with their husbands when they don't understand, rather consider where their husbands are st. The Lord, she tells the women, "wants us to live in peace."

"We want them to understand and reach out and take the grace God gives us to have the best marriage we can have, she said. "We have to trust totally in God and his wisdom and his understanding of Wives of Promise continues to meet at Zion Evangelistic Temple, 700 Elmwood, between 14 Mile and 15 Mile, west of Rochester Road, but Oosterveen has dreams of establishing chapters throughout the metro area and beyond, making Wives of Promise an international ministry.

"The need is so great for these women to find peace, joy and fellowship," she

Positive labels can shape person's sense of self-worth

The kids bounced through the doors of the room where the inner city youth club met. They had just gotten their report cards. Proudly, several of the fourth and fifth graders told the teachers all about their good grades.

But one fourth grader silently stormed into the excited setting. His gray woolen hat was pulled over his forehead almost to his eyebrows. His lower lip stuck out as his chin was set in anger. He kept his coat on and sat with a thud at the tables. He was mad.

One of the helpers sat next to him. Fortunately, he was still young enough that he would accept a hug and let the helper sit close to him. Pretty soon the bottom lip started to quiver and tears welled up.

"You wanna tell me what's happening?" the helper gently asked. He nodded. Then the words tumbled out.

"Everybody ALWAYs gets better grades than me! Sometimes they even call me a dummy.

The teacher let the impact of his hurt feelings and bruised ego affect her. She tried to imagine how she would feel in such a situation and remembered the positive effect of encouraging and comforting words that others shared with her in similar circumstances. Then a thought occurred and she said to her young friend, "Hey, in God's sight you are ALWAYS A-plus.'

The issue here is not to question our grading system. It is important. We need to have measures of excellence and to recognize achievement in education. Most of us would agree on that. The question here has to do with the budding self-concept of chil-

How can we intentionally foster positive feelings of self-worth in a variety of settings? This is a crucial moral issue because of the relationship between violent actions and low regard of the worth of oneself or of others. Would teenagers kill another kid just for a $400 jacket if they carried within themselves positive, affirming images of their own unique importance — and the unique importance of other in-

Human life has become cheap in the minds of many discouraged youth and adults. Consider the worth of every human being. For a while scientists stated that if you extracted all the chemical elements of the human body and sold them, they would bring around 98 cents on the marthe wonder drug interferon which is worth several thousands of dollars an ounce. They have also estimated that there is enough atomic power in every pound of our body to create 11 million kilowatts of energy! The average person, therefore, really has the chemical and atomic worth of some $58 billion give or take our current market!

When you look in the mirror in the morning, do you see this incredible $58 billion wonder? Most of us don't. But what would happen if we did start to view ourselves with this kind of intrinsic worth? And what would our attitudes be toward other human beings, if we saw them as unique one-of-akind billion dollar designs?

And, if the human body is worth this much, how much more is the treasure housed in the body that the human soul and spirit that is ALWAYS Aplus in God's sight?

It is imperative for the health of the children in metropolitan Detroit that caring adults guard their dignity and basic sense of self-worth. They can do this through one-on-one interaction, positive reinforcement, avoiding demeaning labels.

Teach children to value themselves and others for their own unique abilities. Share affirmations for excellence achieved, but also encouragement for good solid efforts that may not measure up to others. Foster a sense of self-acceptance. One does not have to be gifted in all areas, nor interested or involved in all activities in order to be a person worthy of respect. It is a good preventive medicine and a safeguard for the growing well-being of a city. This basic foun-dation that shapes a person's sense of self-worth may deter acts of violence and aggression and inhumane treatment of others later on in life.

Some labels can harm. But positive labels can heal and encourage us to soar to new heights and to care for the well being of others. After all, we are $58 billion works of art by a Creator who shapes our spirits for a unique destiny here and now!

Prayer the '90s way means the rosary on cassette tape

The ancient Catholic tradition of praying the rosary has met the age of consumer technology.

A foursome of Michigan Catholics has produced a cassette tape that mixes recitations of the rosary with traditional and contemporary music.

"The Joyful Mysteries in Meditation and Song" is meant to help Catholics keep their place while repeating the prayers, said Bill Gildenstern, one of the producers. It also offers opportunities to meditate during moments of inspiration-came up with the idea while commuting between Detroit and his home in Saginaw, he said in a press release. He took comfort in saying the rosary during the long drive but found that he kept getting lost (in the prayers, not on the road).

Gildenstern, a lay minister.

"I thought, wouldn't it be neat if I had a tape to keep me on track," he said.

The cassette includes renditions of the traditional pieces "Ave Maria" and "The Nativity" and original compositions by Gildenstern and his partner, John Giaier. Their aim is to appeal to the young Def Leppard fan as much as to the 75-yearold Sinatra fan.

How well they succeeded is a matter of taste, although the quality of the recording and the musicianship is more than respectable.

Gildenstern, formerly an owner of an advertising agency, and Giaier, a Troy resident who writes advertising jingles for auto dealerships, were joined in the project by their respective wives, Kelly and Debra.

To order a cassette, send $11.85 to: The Rosary Tapes/ Joyful Mysteries, P.O. Box 6037, Saginaw, MI 48608-6037.

vive. NOWICKI During the last couple weeks there has been a young raccoon at the bird feeders of the Independence Oaks Nature Center where I work. Raccoons, skunks and opossum do not hibernate like some winter residents, but they do remain dormant during most of the winter. When temperatures rise and the sun shines, it's not unusual to see one of these animals roaming the neighborhood in search of food.

Last fall, the animals ate extra amounts of food to add fat, which is what they use as a source of energy during their winter dormancy. If the animal has a chance during warm winter days to add to that fall fat reserve, they will take the opportunity. As the winter progresses the fat reserve is depleted and any opportunity to supplement that dwindling reserve is welcomed.

In the case of the young raccoon coming to the feeders, I suspect it never really developed an adequate fall fat reserve. This raccoon was probably orphaned last summer when its mother died of distemper. Oakland County has seen a high incidence of this disease during the last two years.

When the mother died, the young were left to fend for themselves. Those young that learned to avoid the fox and stray dog survived, if they knew what to eat and could find enough of it. I suspect that this young raccoon did not find enough food to put on a good fat reserve, but it should feel lucky to be alive.

It's possible the young raccoon did put on an average amount of fat to see it through winter, but because the mother died and other litter mates died, it would not have had any companions to huddle with in a tree hollow.

Without any companions to share body heat, the young raccoon lost more heat and thus had to use more fat energy to stay alive.

Depleting the fat supply before spring can cause the animal to search for food during winter when other hungry predators are also searching for food. Hibernat-

Livonia Artists Club to show member work heir show is judged, not juried. "We don't eliminate anyone," said Livonia artist Yvette Goldberg, co-chairing Livonia Artists Club's spring fine art show and sale in April at the Livonia Civic Center Library. "Our club is a little more relaxed than some of the others. What our judge does is award prizes."

The 32nd annual event will run 1-5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, April 3-4, in the Atrium of the library, Farmington Road and Five Mile. The mixed media show averages 125 framed pieces plus some unframed works.

The 47-member club will showcase the best of its membership. Framed artwork will be done in oil, watercolor, pastel, acrylic, collage, monoprint, pencil, and pen and ink. Prices will range from $100 to $600. The club keeps 10 percent of each Unframed works, some selling for less than $100, will be set up in the Michigan Room just off the Atrium. Free refreshments will be served in that room.

There's no dominant theme," said Farmington Hills artist Lorraine Whitacre, club president. "You'll find portraits, landscapes, florals, still life and abstracts at the show. We've got a nice variety of artistic styles.

The judge, Oak Park artist Rhea Schaefer, will award Best of Show, first, second and third place and a few honorable mentions. Cash prizes will range from $10 for honorable mention to $50 for Best of Show.

Schaefer also will present the Grumbacher Award for best use of color. The winner earns an engraved award.

Schaefer, a Chicago Academy of Fine Arts graduate, teaches drawing and watercolor. She works in a variety of media, including egg tempera on canvas. She does portrait commissions, graphic design and photography.

Varied skill levels

Livonia Artists Club members range from professional to beginner. They come from around Observerland. Many belong to the Visual Arts Association of Livonia or the Farmington Artists Club. Camaraderie, inspiration, reinforcement and criticism make up their collective palette.

The club meets at 7:30 p.m. the third Monday of each month in the Livonia Civic Center Library. Dues are $15 a year.

Meetings typically include a group critique, a guest demonstrator or an instructional video. The informal sessions are a great way to overcome insecurity or uncertainty. Credentials aren't what's important; desire is.

'We're a real friendly group," Whitacre said. "We learn from each other — discussing ideas, sharing experiences. We talk about new paints, new colors, new techniques and new classes in an atmosphere of mutual support and mutual criticism. "The contacts you make with other artists you just can't make when working in your studio alone," said Redford Township artist Ruthann Platt, co-chairing the show with Goldberg. "It's just good to get together to mingle and talk over what we do and where to show. 'Real dedication to art'

Livonia artist Al Weber brushes abstract elements into his realistic watercolors of classic cars, live models, flowers, landscapes and animals. His work has appeared in shows or galleries internationally as well as locally. Five Weber watercolors are on exhibit in the IRS Data Center in Detroit.

A Livonia Artists Club group critique leader, Weber says "we stay in this club and keep it going because it's a small group. It's less formal, less concerned about rules, yet the quality of the work is pretty good. Some members exhibit nationally. We have a good interchange of ideas. There's a real dedication to art."

Whitacre also creates abstract art but "right now," she said, "I'm on a kick of modern realistic tropical flowers. My son lives in Hawaii and he sends me flowers, so I paint them."

Goldberg works in collage and watercolor. For her, the club provides an escape. "I get to be with artist friends, which gives another dimension to my life. We're always learning from and encouraging one another. I work full-time and can't take formal art classes. Platt paints floral gardens in watercolor. "I do drawings based on actual flowers, then pull a garden setting from my imagination.

One painting she'll have in the spring show is a large (18- by 23-inch) closeup of a rose she's doing as part of a three-piece commission. "A large closeup is kind of unusual for me. I usually do a garden scene with many flowers. So this is a de-

For Platt, art is something she feels she has to do. "It's a mental thing. Just the act of mixing paint, applying it to water and seeing what happens on paper is always a surprise. Watercolor runs and drips on its own. It's never the same twice. It's kind of an adventure."

In the workroom: Livonia quilter Kathleen Mayo often spends a weekend working on a single project.

Quilter sews up crafter's award

The handiwork of Livonia's Kathleen Mayo made the pages of "Blue Ribbon Quilt" magazine and earned an honorable mention in a nationwide quilting contest. For Mayo, the challenge is creating the design.

By Janice Tigar-Kramer Special Writer ew people outside Kathleen Mayo's family ever got a look at her handmade quilts until recently. Her latest one, a Victorian design of children's silhouettes, can be seen in the current issue of "Blue Ribbon Quilt," an annual magazine that announces the winners of Quilter's Challenge.

More comfortable quilting than talking about her work, Mayo of Livonia says, "I'm thrilled the judg-es liked my design," which earned $200, an honorable mention and a five-page spread in the magazine.

"This entry was different because of the silhouette design," said Sandra Hatch, editor of "Blue Ribbon Quilts" and a contest judge. "Sometimes, we find new designers through the contest and often the people we recognize are encouraged enough to send us more of their work. But the fun of the competition is recognizing people whose work sometimes isn't seen by others."

This year, more than 300 crafters entered Quilter's Challenge, which is sponsored by three quilt magazines. The contest's theme was optional, but quilters were required to submit an original design using at least two fabrics contained in the contest kit and no more than two of their own choice. Points were awarded for design, workmanship and use of fabric.

From start to finish, Mayo spent about 200 hours designing her winning pattern, deciding how to use the contest fabrics with her own choices and making the 30- by 33inch appliqued block, which required hand and machine stitching.

Her entry, called "Sharing Victoria Elizabeth," shows the full silhouettes of two girls in ruffled dresses sharing a doll. From the kit, Mayo used a green print and mauve stripe for background, a black floral print for ribbon garland and a peach check for bows. Her own fabric choices included a small black print for the girls, solid pink for back ground and rose backing. She fin-ished the piece with a black self-made binding and flowers embroidered with gold metallic thread.

"I've never used black before, so when I opened the contest kit I thought, 'What'll I do?' said

Stone Age cave paintings 'early cinema'

Artist/filmmaker Charles Aimone captures the romance of France's Lascaux cave art in an exhibition of work patterned after the prehistoric paintings.

Age paintings primarily of animals have been incorrectly theorized as possessing magical and religious connotations.

"This was early cinema," he said in an interview at his Plymouth studio. "They invented cinema with the paintings coming alive in candlelight. The paintings were showing the way of life and what it meant to become an adult. This was (where) a group of children were brought in. We know this because we can see the footprints.

"They were meant to be an uplift, very positive and supporting, giving confidence to a new generation. Hawthorn Center Association, a nonprofit group of past and present employees, will host the third annual show to aid emotionally impaired children and their families. Dealers will come from Michigan, Ohio and Canada.

Admission is $1.50 (seniors $1, children younger than 12 free). Proceeds will go into the association's general fund to support educational scholarships for needy children and educational programs in the area of child welfare and to help cover general hospital expenses.

Discovered in 1940, the cave of Lascaux houses thousands of abstract paintings and engravings of bulls, cows, horses, ibexes, deer and even a wooly mammoth. Carbon-14 analysis of charcoal found in lamps, and bone in the strata of the paintings, places the art around 13,000 B.C.

'The bull represented both the man and woman, trying to show the inner relationship between men and women and show that it extends out into the animal kingdom," Aimone said. "The bull can be traced back to very early pottery. The bull symbolized the turbulent nature between men and women.

Pigments found at Lascaux include ochre, haematite, black and gray magnetite, raw sienna and raw umber. As the wall paintings cover areas 10-13 feet above floor level, it is thought the artists employed a type of scaffolding to execute the work.

In April 1963, France's Ministry of Culture closed the cave after the discovery of a green and white disease proliferating on the

Adjustable Rate Mortgage

Our Adjustable Rate Mortgage allows you to enjoy this excellent mortgage rate for the first year of the loan. After the first year, your interest rate can only increase by 2% a year or by 6% over the life of the loan. And you have the option to convert to a fixed rate mortgage under certain conditions.

Typical APR (annual percentage rate) includes interest on loan and other fees, and is based on a $100,000 loan with an 80% loan-to-value ratio. The APR may increase after closing. Loan must be for construction or acquisition of borrower's single family owner-occupied primary residence. Interest rates and terms are subject to change at any time without notice. *Based on a 30-year loan. For 15-year loan, APR is 6.319%.

The Cranbrook Academy of Art and Museum Women's Committee will host a Conservation and Appraisal Day 10 a.m. to noon and 1-4 p.m. Saturday, March 13, at the museum, 1221 N. Woodward, Bloomfield Hills Conservators from the Intermuseum Conservation Association in Oberlin, Ohio, and auctioneers and appraisers Frank Boos and Jonathan Boos of the Frank Boos Gallery in Bloomfield Hills will offer verbal condition reports and verbal appraisals of value for art and antiques in collections. Conservators and appraisers are donating their services; all proceeds will benefit the museum.

Reservations must be made, using a form, no later than March 1. For more information, call museum secretary Kristine Kohls at 645-3323.

Examinations for condition reports will last about 15 minutes for each object, and cost $25 each for the general public and $20 each for museum members. Conservators won't be able to remove frames or unframe works of art or artifacts on paper.

Monetary appraisals will last about five minutes and cost $12 for each object for the general public and $10 for each object for museum members. Participants may ask that the appraisals reflect either the object's replacement cost/insurance value or resale/auction value.

Computer programs organize, compare properties

BY GERALD FRAWLEY STAFF WRITER

"It's definitely a plus," according to Diane Howard, assistant manager at Real Estate One in Plymouth. "I've gone on listings where I've had competition and won because of it.

"A lot of the advantage in it is how the information is put together," she said. "It is very professional looking, and the more professional you look, the better off you're going to be.

"It" is Real Estate One's new computer software designed to assist sellers, buyers and real estate

Called MarketPower, the new service consists of three computer programs aimed at making the job of selling and buying a home easier, said senior vice president Stu-

"This system is designed to help organize and compare prop-

The first component, Elsea said, is Sellmore."What we wanted to do is simplify (the process) and make it easier to understand," Elsea said.

One of the first responsibilities of the real estate agent is to establish an asking price for a home, he said, which begins with an analysis of similar properties and what they sold for.

"If you've ever looked at a multiple listing form (a main tool of real estate agent), you'll know what I'm talking about," he said.

Sellmore produces a comparative property analysis in minutes, he said. "Instead of two hours, it's only 15 minutes for these.'

In addition to simple price relations, the comparable market analysis includes graphs, selling and listing prices of similar sold properties, maps, examples of unsold properties, and a graph on the expected days a house is likely to be on the market.

Other features include an analysis on price per square foot, a sales estimate of proceeds and costs, information on the importance of intelligent pricing and the real estate agent and seller can use to improve a house's chance for sale.

Selling a home is only half the job; someone has to buy it, Elsea

Anyone who's ever bought a home knows it can be overwhelming, he said.

ShowPro, the second component of MarketPower, helps the buyer to organize, he said.

ShowPro begins with a property request profile filled out by the buyer listing basic wants, key amenities, financial profile and any financing comments, he said.

The profile is used to develop a property list with an agent rating. a tour map, individual property analysis, and property analysis

Many features included in Sell-more are in ShowPro. Finally, there is Easy Flyer, El-sea said. Easy Flyer is a computer program that generates sales fliers used by real estate agents so lookers have something they can take after a home tour.

"Some agents pay printers hun-dreds of dollars for fliers," he said. "This program lets them do it themselves.

Fliers, which include information like amenities, price, the real estate agent's name and other pertinent information, can be generated with formats provided by the program, or they can be done freehand.

Carol Yost, of Real Estate One in Troy, said MarketPower is a tremendous time saver. "I've been

I've never been more excited in this business for 20 years and about a new program."

"With this, the consumer knows from day one the real facts he's dealing with," Yost said.

The computer program also gives much more detail than a typical agent is likely to, she said. "I typically include a cost per square foot analysis," she said, "but a lot of other Realtors don't. This does it automatically.'

Condominum maintenance translates to quicker sales

I have read recently about difficulty in sellling condominiums in many locations. I believe that a good part of this is because many board members are not willing to spend the necessary funds to maintain the condominium project or to otherwise operate the condominium association. How do I get my board to see the light?

There are many in the condominium industry that share your view. The penuriousness on the part of association boards has created a situation where condominiums are not as saleable as single family homes. Much of this stems form the notion that directors are to save money at all costs as opposed to hiring the quality of personnel necessary to assist the board of directors in operating the affairs of the condominium.

Penny pinching in regard to the retention of first class professional management, competent and experienced lawyers, accountants and insurance consultants, it is argued, contributes to this malaise. Show this article to the board of directors and point out to them they are not doing their members or themselves a service by penny pinching.

Our condominium documents were drafted in the mid-'50s. They gave little latitude in regard to terminating the membership of a co-op member when he is in default. The cooperative has been reluctant to spend the money to make the changes. Any suggestions?

I can tell you from experience that it becomes inordinately more expensive for a cooperative to terminate the membership of a tenant member when he or she has violated the cooperative documents if the bylaws and proprietary lease are not explicit on the rights of the cooperataive association vis a vis the tenant. It would be much less expensive for the cooperative to have the remedies available in the documents than it would be to have to resort to extended litigation to resolve a problem. Urge your cooperative board members to retain counsel to come up with an up-todate set of cooperative docu-

BUILDING SCENE'S NAMES & PLACES

Bonadeo honored

Professional Builder & Remodeler magazine has named James Bonadeo winner of one of seven professional achievement awards for his involvement in setting Detroit as a Homearama site. It was the first showcase of homes to take place in a major city.

With the opening of Victoria Park on the near east side in June, Detroit saw its first new subdivision developed in some 30 Bonadeo years. The project quickly sold out. When completed, it will have 157 houses ranging in price from $80,000 to $145,000.

Bondaeo is president emeritus of the Builders Association of Southeastern Michigan, Homearama's main sponsor, and president of the Plymouth building company that bears his name. He was chairman of the Detroit Homearama.

The magazine cited Standard Federal Bank, based in Troy, as another organization key to Victoria Park's success for making construction loans and assuming the end mortgages.

Theater development

Mike Ilitch Jr. will discuss the theater district development plan when he addresses ESD's Construction Activities Committee luncheon beginning at 11:30 a.m. Tuesday, March 9, at the Rackham Memorial Building, Detroit.

Ilitch oversees the human resource center and works on special projects for Little Caesars.

Tickets are $22 for members, $25 for non-members. For information, call 832-5400.

ESD's construction committee was established to foster improvements in the construction industry. Members include design professionals, owners/users, contractors, suppliers and support service providers.

Landscape show

The sixth annual convention of the Metropolitan Detroit Landscape Association will take place March 17 and 18 at the Novi Expo Center, Novi

It will feature management programs, technical seminars, classroom instruction and pesticide applicator recertification preparation and testing. All education programs except testing are included in the admission price.

Hours are 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. March 17 and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. March 18. Pre-registration is $10 for members, $15 for non-members. For on-site registration, add $5. For information, call 646-4992.

Expansion by DeMattia

A July completion date is scheduled for the 92,000-square-foot expansion of Shuert Industries by R.A. DeMattia, Plymouth.

Shuert is a thermal-former manufacturer of plastics in Sterling Heights. DeMattia is an architecture/engineering, design/build construction and development company.

Argos groundbreaking

The Argos Group/Barton Malow saw ground broken for the 44,000-square-foot addition to a Federal Mogul manufacturing facility in South

The Argos Group is a design/build subsidiary of Barton Malow, Southfield.

Masonry seminar

The Masonry Institute of Michigan will sponsor its ninth masonry certification seminar at daylong sessions April 23 and 24 at its offices, 32080 Schoolcraft, Livonia.

The seminar exposes candidates to five areas of instruction: clay and concrete masonry units, mortar, grout, engineering and workmanship. Participants are required to score 70 percent on a test at the end of the seminar to become MIM certified.

The course is aimed toward design professionals, engineers and architects, mason contractors, bricklayers, building officials, inspectors and supplier representatives.

Cost is $175. For information, call 458-8544.

Building code published

A joint effort of the American Concrete Institute, the American Society of Civil Engineers and the Masonry Society has resulted in the publication of building code requirements for masonry

Subjects covered include permits and drawings, quality assurance, materials, placing embedded items, analysis and design, strength and serviceability, flexural and axial loads, shear, details and development of reinforcement, walls, columns, pilasters, beams and lintels, and an empirical design method applicable to buildings meeting specific location and construction criteria.

Copies can be purchased from the American Concrete Institute by calling 532-2600.

Happy housewarming

The Michigan Association of Home Builders has relocated its headquarters to 1627 S. Creyts. Lansing. The toll-free number is 1-800-748-0432.

Information for inclusion in this column should be sent to Marilyn Fitchett, 36251 Schoolcrafat, Livonia 48150.

Housing for older suburbs

■ Builders face new challenges when they look back to older, developed communities for building sites.

BY GERALD FRAWLEY STAFF WRITER

If society is going to stop paving cornfields for housing development, developers are going to have to turn to established communities and consider redevelopment.

Bernard Glieberman, president of Crosswinds Communities in West Bloomfield, is doing just that with Main Street Square in Royal Oak.

This isn't Glieberman's first encounter with redevelopment; he was part of Victoria Park, last year's Homearama in Detroit. He's also done remodeling projects. Long known for his ability to develop and build top-notch, affordable housing in communities like West Bloomfield, Westland, Ypsilanti and Oakland Township, Glieberman is tackling a new frontier - redevelopment.

This is the most significant redevelopment project he's been involved with.

So far, reaction has been extremely positive, he said. "I can honestly say we have had more interest in this development than anything I can remember.

The challenge in a redevelopment project is you go into an area that is on its way down and you help turn it around - that's satisfying.'

Main Street Square includes 124 units in 12 buildings designed in traditional-style Georgetown architecture.

Located between Main and Washington to the west and east, and Kenilworth and Allenworth to the north and south, the 3.7acre project is expected to have a base price of between $80,000 and $100,000 per condominium.

Redevelopment is not without its obstacles. For example, land costs are extremely high. You have to be creative (to make it pay

Most communities object to high density projects, which make redevelopment more difficult. "(But) I think when you're talking Royal Oak, it fits in well.'

Another hurdle in redevelopment, he said, is working within the constraints of an existing community. Site size, he said, is limited and therefore on-site storage is virtually non-existent.

"That makes scheduling difficult — we'll have to have materials delivered almost on a need ba-

Building within an existing neighborhood will also pose a challenge for the developer who is used to building in an open area. "We're going to have to be good neighbors, no doubt about that. (Delivery) trucks will have to be careful not to disturb the people who are already there. Architect Tom Barton, president of Barton and Associates in Philadelphia, said his goal was to design a development that would fit into an already established community.

We wanted it to be on a pedestrian scale," he said, explaining that much of Royal Oak was laid out with people in mind. Housing is dense; it is inviting rather than imposing from the street, and sidewalks encourage walking.

"Basically, cute homes in a nice neighborhood," he said. "We wanted to develop a project with a little more of an urban character."

Townhomes like one might find in Philadelphia or Boston were chosen because they maintain an urban feel and density-levels.

Density, Barton said, is not always bad. "High density does not necessarily mean a three-story walk-up apart-Garages were moved to the back and townhomes were pushed toward the street to eliminate the impression of "a parking deck that you often get in high density projects.'

As people walk by and around the finished development, it should seem as though they are walking through part of the project, not isolated from it. "It should be nice from street level."

At the same time, with proper placement of buildings, use of landscape, and project elevations, Main Street Square achieves a strong sense of public and private space.

An interior courtyard for townhome owners is separated from the outside, and green spaces at the fronts of the townhomes are slightly elevated above the sidewalk level. "There will be an obvious separation — if someone is where they aren't supposed to be you won't have any problem identifying it.'

Project manager Terry Stamper said Main Street Square is to be the first part of the much-heralded Royal Oak multi-use redevelopment northeast of the I-696 and Woodward Avenue interchange.

The overall project resulted from construction of I-696. During the 1980s, Royal Oak seized the chance and began to purchase and, through condemnation, assemble small parcels into a single large tract.

"That was the hard part," he said. If redevelopment is to succeed, land assembly will have to be done by municipalities who then sell the property to developers.

After years of struggling to amass the necessary land and counter community objections, the economy soured and the project has been on

Now that the economy is picking up again, the project is beginning to pick up as well.

Burton Katzman Development Co. of Birmingham is the lead developer for the entire redevelopment project that will eventually incorporate hotel, office, commercial and residential Burton Katzman executive vice president Laurence Goss said the area has always been planned for residential use - it just needed the right developer.

"This is obviously an integral ingredient in the overall develop-ment," he said. "We hope this (Main Street Square) will be a catalyst for the rest of the project."

'We're very excited about this we think it's a home run," Goss add-

Main Street Square is going to act as a buffer for the project; separating the existing neighborhoods from the office, hotel components to the south. "That's good, sound planning."

If further redevelopment is to succeed, other communities will have to take Royal Oak's lead, he said.

Stamper of Crosswinds Communities said judging by the number of phone calls received from interested buyers, it's possible the entire project could be sold out within a year.

Stamper said a sales office will be open in March, construction should begin in April and the first townhouses could be ready as soon late

"This is the perfect project for this area," he said. Royal Oak is centrally located for young professionals who work north in Birmingham, west in Novi, or east in St. Clair Shores.

Insurance key ingredient before remodeling begins

So you've hired a contractor, picked out paint and carpet, and set the date for your remodeling work to begin. Remodeling Ideas magazine suggests adding one more item to damaged or destroyed.

I'm planning a major renovation that will take months to complete. Do I have to pay for increased coverage from the first day of conyour "to do" list: Give your insurance agent a call to make sure your homeowner's policy will keep up with your remodeling improve-

'Contact your agent when you begin to do anything to your home that's going to add value," advises Bill Anderson, a certified property and casualty underwriter and vice president of education for the Independent Insurance Agents of America. By checking your needs before the work begins, you can be sure your project will be insured during construction, as well as after.

Here are some questions to ask your insurance professional, along with a discussion of coverage under a typical homeowner's policy. Check the specifics of your own policy with your agent or insurance company:

Do I need to increase my coverage? If you're making major improvements, the answer to that question is probably "yes." Typical homeowner's insurance is based on the cost of replacing your home if it's destroyed. When you add space, upgrade to luxury finishes, or convert an unfinished area to living space, you make your home more costly to rebuild. As a result, you need to increase the value of your policy.

On the other hand, you may not require in-creased coverage for changes that are basically cosmetic - freshening up the kitchen with new countertops, flooring, and appliances, for example. To the insurance company, the cost of replacing laminate countertops is the same whether they are brand new or a holdover from the 1950s.

"If there's any question, contact your agent," says Anderson. "It's important that the agent have the opportunity to say either, 'we don't have to worry about that,' or, 'we do." You want to be certain that your home remains insured for at least 80 percent of its replacement value, including the value of the improvements. Below that threshold, most policies will not reimburse you for the full replacement cost of your home should it be

Ask your agent if you can buy what's called an "endorsement for a dwelling under construction." This type of policy increases the value of your homeowner's policy from the start of construction, but gives you a credit for a portion of the premium once the work is

I'm going to have a lot of building materials stacked out in my yard. Are they covered?
With a typical policy, materials intended for use in your remodeling and stored on your property are covered for the same perils as the rest of your home. Again, check with your agent to be sure.

Am I covered for the special extras I'm putting in my home?

Maybe you've commissioned a stainedglass window for the master bath or purchased an antique English brass chandelier for the breakfast room. To protect your investment, purchase separate insurance for such out-ofthe-ordinary materials.

The advantage of insuring such items individually is that you, not the insurance company, specify their value. "If they are lost or damaged, the policy says exactly what they are worth, and that's what you are paid," says Anderson. "If you leave them under the homeowner's policy, you are at the mercy of the people adjusting the insurance claim.

The value of antiques and fine arts is especially subject to dispute.

I'm moving out during construction. Does my coverage stay put?

A typical homeowner's policy doesn't cover theft from an unoccupied building, so check with your agent if you plan to be away during construction. A few days' stay in a hotel shouldn't affect your coverage, but an extended stay might. Be prepared for the worst case. In addition to protecting your improvements, you also need to insure yourself against another type of risk — the damage to people or property as a result of your remodel-
