Township wades into red ink

Plymouth Township needs to cut its budget by $800,000. To do that, the new fire station is up on the block for closing and the layoff of three firefighters is under consideration. A tax increase is another possibility.

BY KEVIN BROWN
STAFF WRITER

To head off budget problems, the township board of trustees faces cutbacks including layoffs, or asking for a tax increase.

"Since the township is required by law to live within its means, drastic measures must be taken," according to the latest township government newsletter.

"We're looking for $800,000 or asking for a millage increase," said Kathleen Keen-McCarthy, township supervisor, for the 1993-94 fiscal year starting in July.

In the township newsletter mailed to residents last week, a package of possible budget cuts was listed:

- Close the new third fire station, lay off the last three firefighters hired, and eliminate three vacant firefighter positions in the 1993 budget. This means no improvement in response time for fire and emergency services. Savings, $315,000.
- Eliminate two positions in the police department and participation in the Drug Abuse Resistance Education program to save $55,000.
- Reduce expenses in each department equal to the cost of one full-time employee, to save $165,000.
- Reduce the township's contribution to a pension plan for non-union employees and increase co-pays and deductibles to reduce the cost of medical coverage, to save $78,000.
- Add a 1-percent administrative fee to all tax bills, to raise an additional $422,000. This would mean the homeowner paying $5,000 in total taxes would pay an extra $50.

Plymouth prepares to clean up this town

Dig out that junk from the house or garage — Spring Clean-Up Week in the city of Plymouth happens the week of May 17.

This year for the first time, the city requires that appliances being thrown out that contain Freon — refrigerators, freezers, water coolers, air conditioners and dehumidifiers — must have a certification of Freon removal attached.

"If they call 455-1392, we will give them information that they need," said Paul Sincock, public works director.

Also this year, residents are asked

Stranded visitors find help at city hall

BY M.B. DILLON
STAFF WRITER

Sincock

When Don Nellermore and his family, visiting Plymouth from Mount Pleasant, ended up stranded, they came to the right place — city hall.

Plymouth assistant city manager Paul Sincock and Sgt. Edward Ochal came to the Nellermores' aid, and for their trouble recently received a public pat on the back from the Plymouth-Canton school board.

A humble Sincock explained what happened: "To make a long story short, the couple was here with their daughter for a band competition at Central Middle School. When they got out to their car, they realized they had problems with the brakes on their vehicle, and they ended up at city hall. It was just before midnight on a Saturday."

The Nellermores were in a hurry to get back to Mount Pleasant. "The wife's mother was ill in California, and the wife had a flight from Tri-City Airport near Bay City on Sunday morning at 9, so they had to get back," Sincock said.

Ochal, working the night shift at the police station, called the right person.

"At first we thought about running them out to Metro Airport to get them a rental car, but the rental car places were all closed," said Sincock. That was at about 12:30 a.m.

"I figured what the heck. I was already up. I loaded them up in my car and ran them up there."

Ochal did his part, also. He had Nellermore push a police car to Blackwell Ford, ensuring that he'd be able to stop if he needed to. When Ochal got off work at 7 a.m., he went to Blackwell Ford, gave them the keys, and filled out paperwork so the car would be repaired when the family came back to get it.

The family offered to pay Ochal and Sincock, who refused. "I just wanted to go home and go to bed. He sent us both a thank you," said Sincock.

When the assistant city manager, a graduate of Plymouth-Canton schools, got a letter from school board president Roland Thomas, he thought, "Oh, God, what did I do now?"

Thomas thanked him and informed him the Nellermores had contributed $200 to the music boosters.

Sincock and Ochal say it was no big deal. "We needed to make sure they had a positive impression of Plymouth," said Sincock with a laugh.

Would-be robber bungles holdup of pizza store

About 7:15 p.m. Wednesday, an attempted robbery took place at Domino's Pizza on Main Street, an employee told Plymouth police.

The employee, a 28-year-old woman, told police that a man about 34 years old and six feet tall, dressed in a black turtleneck and dark jeans, asked for his carry-out order.

The employee turned around for his pizza. When she faced him, he handed her a handwritten note that said, "Give me your money or die; Quiet."

The woman tried to open the cash drawer. The suspect became anxious and walked behind the counter, trying to open the drawer himself. He broke the key off in the lock. Unable to open the till, the man grabbed the note and keys and fled on foot. There was no weapon seen or implied. Police lifted prints from the cash register.

Hubcaps taken

A Plymouth resident told police that someone stole two wheelcovers from his 1989 Audi just two days after he purchased new tires at March Tire. The car was parked near his residence on Penniman at the time of the theft, May 3 or 4. A special wrench is required to remove the covers.

Malicious destruction

Three students admitted to breaking a plexiglass and metal display case in a hallway at East Middle School May 3. The boys, aged 14, 13, and 13, are from Canton and attend Plymouth Canton High School. The three were in the school after principal Tom Workman asked them to leave. At first the boys denied doing the damage. When questioned by a police officer, they admitted to it. The boys are being asked to make restitution.

Car recovered

Plymouth Township police recovered a car stolen earlier Thursday in the township, according to a report filed with police.

At 3:53 a.m., a patrol sergeant spotted the 1989 Chevvy S-10 parked on Parkview just south of Birchwood. Both windows were rolled down, the ignition was broken and the steering column was damaged, the report continued.

The car had been parked on Birchwood near Aspen. Police are investigating.

Truck vandalized

A 6-by-8-foot vinyl truck bed covering was cut off a truck parked on Ann Arbor Trail near Chestnut late Tuesday or early Wednesday, according to a report filed with Plymouth Township police.

The thief cut out the cover sometime between 8:45 p.m. and 6:30 a.m., leaving snaps and bordering material on the 1991 Dodge pickup, the report continued.

Police have no suspects or witnesses.

Hospital offers recertification for CPR teachers

Cleanup set for old Rouge dump

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI
STAFF WRITER

The 3M manufacturing company will begin cleanup this week on a 3.5-acre buried dump site of old paints and adhesives on Michigan Avenue.

"There's certainly materials there that would be deemed hazardous waste if produced now," said Kirk Mills, 3M environmental engineering specialist.

The federal Environmental Protection Agency and 3M have negotiated a consent agreement for the cleanup of the wooded site behind Keller-Stein Florist, along the south bank of the Lower Rouge River, north of Michigan Ave., east of Lilley. The materials were dumped in an old channel of the Rouge River.

"There's more of a volunteer element to the consent agreement," said the EPA's on-scene coordinator, Ralph Dollhopf. "We are feeling good with 3M's participation."

The site contains paint and adhesive wastes dumped there by 3M employees 25-30 years ago. The EPA also found concrete and asphalt chunks, piping, rods and other construction debris at the site.

"Employees of 3M were kind of given a contract to dispose of it after their shifts," Mills said, adding that financial arrangements for the disposal apparently were made with then-surrounding property owners.

Because of the proximity of the Canton Hills and Glen Arbor subdivisions on the north side of the Rouge in that area, EPA and 3M representatives will be available to answer questions about the cleanup Tuesday. Two sessions are scheduled, 1-3 p.m. and 7-9 p.m., in the township supervisor's conference room on the third floor of township hall, 1150 S. Canton Center Road.

"The EPA has indicated to us they don't believe there is a problem north of the river," said Tom Yack, township supervisor. "We have tried to advise them (3M and EPA) on communications approaches we thought the residents would be comfortable with."

Representatives of 3M also were expected to meet with subdivision residents at township hall last Thursday. Anyone with questions regarding the cleanup may call 1-800-435-3344.

"It appears from our initial inquiries that most of the residents are on city water. We are working with the township and the county health department to determine the private well users," Dollhopf said.

With the township's assistance, well water will be tested to determine if it has been affected by the nearby waste, Yack said.

The cleanup will include a series of evaluations of the materials buried at the site. 3M has hired contractor Roy Weston Inc. of Pennsylvania to handle the cleanup. A temporary road to the site is being built, as well as a temporary office trailer. A security fence will be erected to ensure safety and prevent trespassing, Mills said.

"Some of the work is designed to find out exactly what is there," Dollhopf said.

While evaluating what's there, plans will be made on how to remove the waste. Once the area is excavated, the materials will be further evaluated to determine disposal. The soil and water will be evaluated following excavation to determine how both have been affected by the waste, Dollhopf said.

"Part of our agreement is that we return to the area to its original contours," Mills said.

Important facets of the cleanup include securing the riverbank where spill containment structures will be erected to prevent debris from entering the river. Access to the site also will be restricted to prevent further contamination, Dollhopf said.

The site was discovered in 1992 during an 18-month EPA investigation of waste burial locations in the southwest Detroit metropolitan area. "Through the investigation we got a lead on the Michigan Ave. site. What we saw in the field matched up with what we were told," Dollhopf said. "This site was not previously known to anyone."

Show brings Noah to life

The Our Lady of Good Counsel Church Youth Music Ministry produced a musical version of "Noah" last week.

The show featured children's choirs in grades 3-8 in the production, which took place at 7 p.m. Thursday.

Susan Lindquist, school choir director, took songs from two different musicals to score the musical production. Lindquist also wrote much of the script.

Creating props for the show at the church sanctuary were Marilyn Kokoszka and Ray Nowicki.

Nearly 600 people filled the sanctuary for the musical production. Some children sat in the aisles to get a better view of the elaborate production.

Cast members included: Jon Page, Melissa Willman, Erin and Caitlin McCormick, Greg Lenhoff, Matt Stewart, Brian Satwicz, Denise Philips, Jennifer Lidquist;

Julianne Evans, Alek Kokoszka, Mario Munoz, Joey Ianni, Rebecca Gould, Dennis Montilla, Chris Martin, Brian Sommariva;

Renovations to city hall done except for touch-ups

The renovation of one wing of Plymouth's city hall is nearly complete.

As of last week, just a bit of touch-up painting was needed to finish the $11,000 job, part of a reorganization of city hall departments by City Manager Steve Walters.

The renovation involved creating separate offices in the former large open space occupied by the city building department.

Housed now in those offices are the city clerk, finance department, and treasurer. The building department has been moved upstairs.

While the renovation cost money, it made possible the elimination of two clerical positions.

The finance department was brought from the second floor to the first "so it's physically mixed in with the treasurer's and assessor's staff; there's coverage of the front office by a greater pool," Walters said.

The renovation began Jan. 1.

Police consolidation talks continue among officials

■ Earlier this year, a subcommittee of administrators from the communities identified 10 firms or universities with experience or knowledge on consolidation to help review the communities' options.

Police consolidation talks are continuing between the townships of Canton, Plymouth and Northville and the cities of Plymouth and Northville.

The chief elected leaders from the five governments have agreed to interview four consultants later this month.

Earlier this year, a subcommittee of administrators from the communities identified 10 firms or universities with experience or knowledge on consolidation to help review options.

The four consultants chosen by officials May 3 were from this group of 10, according to a joint statement from the government leaders.

If one of the four proposals is accepted, the elected leaders will seek money from their respective boards to pay a consultant.

trustees have "had some very vigorous discussions on the various options."

While McCarthy has narrowed the choices to two — cutbacks or a millage increase — she said it's possible a blend of those options could happen. Yet, "We haven't really looked at that as an option," she said.

Meanwhile, the president of the Plymouth Township firefighters union, Jim Haar, is asking residents concerned with planned fire department layoffs to attend the township board meeting on Tuesday. "Should public safety be put on the block as a discretionary program?" he asked.

McCarthy responded that closing the third fire station "will not significantly impact response times since the station has not yet been fully staffed and is closed at various times each month due to the lack of staffing."

"The board has a responsibility to the taxpayers to live within the budget constraints," she added.

to separate and group items into piles at the curb. For example, wood products such as scrap wood, old desks and old porch railings should be placed together.

The same goes for steel or metal products such as bed frames, washers, dryers and bikes.

According to the DPW, a third grouping would be miscellaneous junk or plastic, fiberglass and regular trash.

Stuff placed at the curb should pose no danger to collectors, the DPW urges residents.

Also, items shouldn't be so large that two people couldn't move them.

The city has been asked to move snowmobiles, motorcycles, and, once, a 16-foot boat. These items are not taken away.

On scavenging, Sincock said, "Technically it's prohibited in the ordinance, but we haven't sought to enforce that."

"Some of them are very sloppy about the way they get at the pile," Sincock said, adding scavengers should leave someone's garbage as neat as they found it.

Last year, the city recycled 38 percent of all items collected during cleanup week.

Some other spring cleanup rules:

- No bags or tags required during cleanup week.
- Each household can place two large items at the curb, such as a washer or dryer.
- Smaller trash must be placed in suitable containers strong enough to hold the weight, such as cans and boxes or plastic bags.
- Items to be collected should be able to be handled safely by two people.
- Prohibited items include tires, concrete, auto parts, piles of dirt and sod. Hazardous materials are also prohibited: gas, oil, paint, paint thinner, pesticides and medical waste. Also prohibited are very large items including boats, cars, engines, motorcycles and snowmobiles.

Spring cleanup happens on residents' normal collection days. Trash should be at the curb by 6 a.m. on that day.

Meanwhile, yard waste pickup begins the week of April 26 and continues through Nov. 5.

Don't use yellow recycle bags for yard waste, the DPW urges.

Nigerian girl finds help in area

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI
STAFF WRITER

Elizabeth Onwuagha and her daughter, JeJe, will return to Nigeria soon with thoughts of special people to warm their hearts.

"America is a great land of compassion," Onwuagha said. "I am a beneficiary of it."

Onwuagha said she will never forget a small group of Americans and what they have done for her 9-year-old daughter.

JeJe has Crouzon's syndrome, which involves eye and facial deformities. Since birth, JeJe has been unable to breathe through her nose. In November 1992, the mother and daughter returned to the United States — JeJe was born here — for a checkup and eyelid surgery at the University of Michigan Hospital.

"We were not particularly happy with her facial look and her ability to breathe," Onwuagha said. "The doctors at U of M thought she would grow out of her problems. As time went on, things got worse."

JeJe was taken to the U of M's craniofacial team. But the hospital could not accept JeJe and her mother as a charity case. JeJe already had two unsuccessful eyelid surgeries in Nigeria.

Canton man helps

Onwuagha's friend Bert Igwe of Canton, with whom Elizabeth and JeJe are staying, went to work. "I called a lot of organizations that take care of cleft syndromes," said Igwe, who knew Onwuagha back in Nigeria.

Through a series of phone calls, Igwe got in touch with social worker Eva Forman, who works with Dr. Ian Jackson at the Institute for Craniofacial and Reconstructive Surgery, which offers a charity care program.

"Most craniofacial patients have tremendous emotional pressure and pain and need tremendous assistance with adjusting and accepting," Forman said, adding that JeJe received needed emotional and social attention from the staff.

The institute, which is affiliated with Providence Hospital, Southfield, regularly needs hosts and interpreters, such as Igwe, for its many national and international patients.

"Eva brought the news to us that Dr. Jackson would do the surgery for free. I could not believe it," Onwuagha said. "It was the most incredible thing. It was fantastic."

JeJe is an American citizen, but not eligible for Medicaid because she's not a resident. In Nigeria, Onwuagha would have had to sell all of her family's possessions and then some to pay for the surgery. Because there is no health insurance, only cash is accepted up front.

Dr. Jackson offered to perform surgery immediately on JeJe when she and her mother were at Igwe's last November. But the thought of Christmas and her brother and sisters danced in her head. She wanted to go home and made a promise to return.

Back in Nigeria, the Onwuaghas began saving money for the $9,000 airfare back to the United States. As a high school principal, Onwuagha earns $24,000. The Nigerian naira has been devalued and costs are sky high. When JeJe was born, the exchange rate was 2 naira to $1. Today, it's 35 naira to $1.

Friends lend help

"Our friends had to rally round and help," Onwuagha said, adding it's also not easy to get a visa for America.

Finally, the Onwuaghas had enough money for the airfare and were on their way. On April 8, Dr. Jackson operated. On April 16, JeJe was on her way home to Igwe's house. "I am grateful to him," said JeJe, cuddling her new purple Barney doll.

To JeJe and her mother, the team who worked with her aren't just professionals. They have made the team an important part of their family. "These people are very, very good coming everyday to see us after the surgery.

"At Providence you felt like you were a part of the family. They relate to patients as though they are a part of the family," Onwuagha said.

JeJe is ready to go home to Nigeria. She wants to see her father, brother and three sisters, not to mention showing friends her new Barney. But she will return.

"She is coming back. She needs more surgery," Forman said. "It (JeJe's condition) is unusual in the overall medical field, but not for the institute."

And no doubt Igwe, an engineer who came to the United States as a graduate student and decided to settle here, will be ready and waiting with an open door and helping hand.

"I appreciate Dr. Jackson's help and Eva and his entire staff. We will be forever indebted to them," Igwe said.

Onwuagha and JeJe can't say enough about the institute's program and the people who helped them. "This type of kindness comes only once in a lifetime. It's very rare," Onwuagha said. "This has taught me a lesson that you should extend help to others if you can afford it."

Pastor: Post office shooting victim a 'fighter'

BY TEDD SCHNEIDER
STAFF WRITER

Sandra Brandstatter will recover from Thursday's Dearborn Post Office shooting because she knows how to fight back, said her pastor.

"She's very feisty," said the Rev. William Lindholm of Holy Cross Evangelical Lutheran Church in Livonia.

"Emotionally, she's a fighter. In fact, the whole family is like that."

Brandstatter, 32, grew up in Redford Township and has lived with husband Mark the past four years in Livonia's Brookwood Estates subdivision, off Six Mile between Middlebelt and Merriman.

The couple has a 6-month-old son, Mark Jr.

Neighbors mostly kept quiet Friday at the family's request, saying only that their "fingers were crossed" for a full, speedy recovery.

"We intend to respect their privacy and we are honoring that wish," said Dennis Kropinak.

Jody Kirsch, Brookwood Estates Homeowners Association president, said the association likely will do something for the family.

Police said Brandstatter was shot once in the back and twice in the head by Larry Jasion, who she reportedly beat out for a promotion several weeks ago.

Jasion, 45, shot two other employees — one who died and one, a Livonia man, who was wounded — before killing himself.

Brandstatter remained in critical condition Friday at Oakwood Hospital in Dearborn, although a staff doctor said she is improving.

"She's out of the woods with respect to her heart rate and blood pressure, which had been quite unstable before today," said Dr. Paul Haydon.

But said there was still no movement in her legs.

"It's difficult to know how that will progress. She hasn't been able to speak very clearly, and we'll have to bring in some physical therapists when she can," Haydon said.

Livonia resident Bruce Plumb, 43, suffered gunshot wounds to his back. Plumb is a motor vehicle supervisor and was Jasion's immediate supervisor.

Haydon said Plumb was "ready to be released" Friday afternoon.

Plumb moved to Livonia from Melvindale when he remarried in 1992.

Lindholm, at the hospital Friday, said Brandstatter's family had been attending church regularly for 20 years.

State adoption guide books target ethnic, religious groups

The first in a series of guidebooks to assist communities in supporting adoptive families has been published by the state Department of Mental Health.

The first guidebook, "Let's Celebrate Adoption — A Guide for the Jewish Community," was written by Carolyn Flanders McPherson of East Lansing.

Copies are available through Spaulding for Children, a Southfield-based organization which is a national resource center on adoption.

"We have been working actively for a number of years to support adoption programs," said James K. Haveman Jr., state mental health director.

"We are aware of a large number of children, many with emotional or developmental problems, who have been adopted by Michigan families," said Haveman. "We also know there are a number of families and single people who are interested in adoption.

"The new series of guidebooks on adoption, written particularly for members of different religious or cultural groups, should help to clarify adoption issues and provide helpful tips about how all of us can assist adoptive families," said Haveman.

McPherson said the finished work represents the collaboration of more than 30 Jewish leaders in Michigan. "The result is testimony to the spirit of cooperation, bridging views of diverse members of the Jewish community: observant orthodox Jews, conservative, reform and secular Jews participated in the project.

"We really tried to overcome prejudices that people have about adoption," said McPherson. "All of the new guidebooks will be very specific about what people can do to support adoption, to help families."

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON INCREASING PROPERTY TAXES

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that on May 19, 1993, at 8:00 o'clock p.m. DST, at the Board Room, the Board of Trustees of Schoolcraft College will hold a public hearing on the levying in 1993 of an estimated additional proposed millage rate of .0558 mills for operating purposes pursuant to Act 5, Public Acts of Michigan, 1992.

The Board of Trustees has the complete authority to establish that 2.27 mills be levied in 1993 from within its present authorized millage rate.

The maximum additional proposed millage rate would increase revenues for operating purposes from ad valorem property tax levies in 1992 otherwise permitted by Act 5, Public Acts of Michigan, 1982, by an estimated two percent (2%).

The figure for increase in revenue for operating purposes is based on the latest estimate of state equalized valuation of property located within the College District. In the event that state equalized valuation as finalized is for any reason higher than the estimate used for this hearing, the Board of Trustees must hold another public hearing before levying millage on any higher valuation.

The purpose of the hearing is to receive testimony and discuss the levy of an additional millage rate. Not less than seven (7) days following the public hearing, the Board of Trustees may approve all or any portion of the proposed additional millage rate.

This notice is given by the Board of Trustees.

SHOPPING CENTERED

LINDA BACHRACK

Eyeing the sun can be expensive

Until now, I assumed that most sunglass shoppers were alike in their annual quest for the suitable frame. In the past few weeks, the department stores have miraculously transformed walls and display cases into receptacles for hundreds of styles of summer eyewear. (What took up all that space before?)

Anyway, for years I have muddled through pair after pair of sunglasses, staring in those tiny little mirrors and pushing inconveniently-placed price tags away from my nose. I assumed most everyone followed this routine, trying and discarding, becoming increasingly frustrated as each new silhouette began to look just like the last.

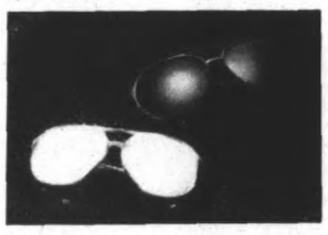
Boy, was I mistaken. There are legions of you to whom sunglass shopping is hardly routine. You look for much more than a flattering color and shape. You are knowledgeable about ultraviolet rays, blueblockers and photochromes, and moreover, you are brand loyal and specific as to which frame you prefer.

Let me share with my peers, the not-so-savvy sunglass consumers, some of the knowledge I have gained through researching this column.

About those Revos

It all started with my son Marc, a Michigan State student. He informed me that he planned to spend what amounted to most of his life savings on a pair of Revo sunglasses. "Expensive, but the best," he explained.

So I ventured into SunVision at Twelve Oaks Mall where store manager Sue Cherry gave me a quick seminar on shades. According to Cherry, Revos are hugely popular, but for good reason. Originally designed by NASA, Revos eliminate all UV rays while, at the same time, enhancing clarity of color. "They're the most functional lens made," she said.



They also feature a blue-blocker that cuts through blue light, eliminating fog and haze, and the new polarized lens cuts glare on the water. The updated styling make them a No. 1 choice for the college set. But they'll set you back a hefty sum, $160-$275. We picture the Revo "aviator." In a considerate attempt to comfort me, Cherry added, "but they're made to last a lifetime."

Not everyone covets Revo sunglasses. Smaller, retro-styled classic frames are "in" and many of the manufacturers offer tempting versions. Serengeti's optically ground lenses are photochromic (they darken and lighten), relaxing the eye ($140). Vuarnet has a loyal following. And Maui Jim glasses are made especially for sensitive eyes ($99).

A Los Angeles-based vendor, Oliver Peoples, distributes to select retailers including Steven Franklin Optics at The Boardwalk in West Bloomfield. Originally a tool and die company, its frames are vintage-look, very small and very hip. "The clip-ons are most popular," said Franklin.

Then there's the grandfather of classic, the Ray-Ban, handed down by generations of devotees since 1937. The aviator style was developed by Bausch and Lomb for the U.S. Army Corps and today they still exceed exacting requirements for glare protection and optical performance. They're the only choice for Jim Bologna of Grosse Pointe.

Eyeing the cat

Jason Christopoulous prefers the Ray-Ban "Wayfarer," "because they'll never go out of style."And we picture the "cat," another classic copied by numerous manufacturers.

Christopoulous also owns a pair of trendy "M Frame" Oakleys, an ultra- contemporary, updated sporting look worn by major league baseball players. SunVision stocks the Oakley "Blades" ($110) and "Razor Blades" ($100), as well as "Frog Skins," "Mumbos" and the new "Sub-Zeros" for the tennis playing, BMW set ($40-$135).

Sue Cherry calls the Oakleys "a cut above." They're the lightest frame on the market and feature a plutonite lens.

Be aware that the most inexpensive frames offer only 60 percent UV protection and no warranty. But if you're looking to make a statement, go for the Mickey Mouse glasses with the flip-up shades ($19.95) or join Zana Roy at Banana Annas in Birmingham. "They have the coolest black cat-eyes."

Nordstrom's news welcomed

After 25 years of cornfields and Christmas trees, the northeast corner lot at Big Beaver and Coolidge in Troy will finally get a permanent tenant . . . and the community couldn't be happier. Hello! Somerset North.

BY SUSAN DEMAGGIO
STAFF WRITER

When developer Nathan Forbes addressed the Fashion Group of Detroit a few weeks ago, he was asked about the long-brewing plans for Somerset North, a.k.a. Somerset II, a.k.a. the empty lot across the street from the Somerset Collection.

He grinned and said something about 1996, but refused to speculate on possible tenants, admitting only that that's his specialty — bringing special retailers to the Detroit market.

Then someone let the cat out of the shopping bag. Rumors were published that Nordstrom's is coming . . . that Hudson's wanted to be close to the new action.

Thursday morning, the retail media applauded enthusiastically when the rumors were confirmed at a press conference and the architectural drawings were on display.

Somerset II will open in the summer of 1996 and will be connected to the Somerset Collection by a climate controlled aerial walkway. There will be three levels of shopping in an architectural style that matches Somerset South. Hudson's will anchor the east end, Nordstrom's the west end. In between, 410,000 square feet of additional retail space are up for rent, as are two restaurants and a performing arts stage.

3,500 new jobs

Groundbreaking will begin next spring, Forbes promised, and more than 3,500 new jobs will be created within the new mall.

Troy Mayor Jeanne Stine received a kiss from developer Maury Cohen after their speeches. Smiles and handshakes criss-crossed the rotunda.

Elsewhere in the mall, sales consultants were discussing the news.

"Lots of new retail positions coming to town," a Saks Fifth Avenue employee said. "This will put us seasoned professionals in a good bargaining position. The skyway will move shoppers through both centers. Hopefully, nearby office workers will be more likely to leave their buildings and shop, walk and eat lunch here."

Her associate wasn't so upbeat.

"All these department stores will divide up the shoppers," she said. "If you divide the shoppers, you divide the profits."

Dennis Coury just bought a new home in the tony Somerset North Estates subdivision, where his yard backs up to the proposed new shopping center.

"The windows in my family room look out on a view of the Somerset Collection and Big Beaver Road — my cityscape, I call it," said Coury. "You'd pay big bucks for a place with a view like this in Chicago or New York. I don't want to see another Oakland Mall built on this site.

"I'm trusting the Frankel people to build a center with attention to architectural detail, landscaping and aesthetics," he continued. "If there's

Classes link kids to international pals

A new kind of shop has opened in downtown Plymouth with the aim of putting local kids in touch with their counterparts in Japan, Ireland and Mexico — via computer.

Futurekids, in the Westchester Mall at 550 Forest, is a computer school for children 3 to 13 years. Futurekids offers classes, summer camps and field trips designed to help kids master the computer.

Plymouth's location is one of 1,200 Futurekid "schools" around the world. The corporation is headquartered in California. Locally, it's owned by Karen and Hiro Ota of Plymouth.

Karen, former manager of the University of Michigan's Child Development Center in Dearborn, said she was attracted to the company because she "recognized the need."

"Computer literacy is an absolute necessity for our children," she said. "Our programs help children build a strong foundation of fundamental learning skills, attitudes and knowledge — tools that can truly empower their lives now and in the future."

Futurekid classes are small. Each group has four children and two computers. The educational components are built around age-appropriate computer science. Each child has time to interact with the computer and work at his own level.

Skills taught include: keyboard, word processing, computer-assisted math and reading, logical thinking, communications, graphics and design, desktop publishing, data base management, environmental simulation and animation. Elementary robotics is also introduced.

Futurekids plans to incorporate a worldwide electronic bulletin board in its curriculum. This will enable children to communicate with other children in more than a thousand cities around the globe.

Sherrie Neaton, coordinates on-location visits for Futurekids to preschools and kindergartens in the area. She said the company hopes to expand with satellite offices in Farmington Hills, Livonia, Southfield and Ann Arbor.

"Sure, computer classes are offered in the schools," she said. "But like gym class, there's no extra time to develop skills, move ahead if you're able, or do your own thing. Our classes have a four-to-one student teacher ratio so individual coaching and instruction is specialized."

Classes cost between $50 and $100 per month and are held on a weekly basis according to the age of the student. For the wee folk, a Mommy and Me program is available. Students work on IBM PC-compatible computers. Each computer has a color printer.

Classes are forming and inquiries are welcome. Call Futurekids at 459-8822 for more information.

Lawmakers 'whittle away' Prop A, senator says

BY TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

Gov. John Engler's promise that local school districts wouldn't lose money if Proposal A passes June 2 may have a $10 million leak.

"Take this money off, and you whittle away at things people think are in Proposal A," warned Sen. Michael Bouchard, R-Birmingham, as the Senate stripped out money for several area school districts.

"This makes it more difficult to pass Proposal A," agreed Sen. Jim Berryman, D-Adrian. "Our credibility is at stake."

Proposal A is the elaborate constitutional amendment that would give a cut in school operating taxes, take 2 cents more in sales taxes and guarantee every district $4,800 per pupil. Says Engler's campaign literature: "Every school district will receive a 3 percent increase."

"No they're not," said Berryman.

"If we keep rapping people on the knuckles, I'm going to pull off (supporting Proposal A)," said Bouchard.

What they lose

The Senate rejected a Bouchard amendment to the school aid bill that would implement Proposal A. The action will cost Farmington and Walled Lake school districts $1 million each next year alone and more in later years.

Other losers: Avondale, $289,000; Birmingham, $733,000; South Lyon, $441,000; Novi, $411,000; Whitmore Lake, $106,000; and Bloomfield Hills, $289,000.

"I wouldn't lose a whole lot of sleep over these districts," said Sen. Dan DeGrow, R-Port Huron, an advocate of pulling funds away from what he considers wealthy districts.

Here's how they'll lose it:

Bouchard Wednesday won passage of his amendment to the $1.1 billion school aid bill that would base 1994 state aid on current year spending.

The Senate Thursday recalled the bill, removed Bouchard's amendment on a 30-7 vote and based state aid on current tax revenue. The difference: The affected districts had declined to levy all their authorized property tax millage to balance their budgets. Instead, they dipped into their bank accounts to meet expenses. Thus, their taxes were lower than their spending.

"We're penalized for being fiscally conservative," said Bouchard.

"You're punishing those people for not levying the full amount. They're not all rich school districts," agreed Berryman.

"It's $10 million we don't have," said DeGrow.

How they voted

Area senators voting yes: Bouchard, Mat Dunaskiss, R-Lake Orion, Jack Faxon, D-Farmington Hills, George Hart, D-Dearborn, and David Honigman, R-West Bloomfield.

Voting no: Robert Geake, R-Northville.

Absent: William Faust, D-Westland.

Eight Republicans and six Democrats supported the Bouchard amendment while 15 Republicans and six Democrats opposed it. Among the opponents was Democratic gubernatorial hopeful Debbie Stabenow, D-Lansing.

House agrees

The battle was briefer in the House, where the Bouchard amendment was offered by Rep. Willis Bullard, R-Milford. The roll call was counted. Speaker pro tem Frank Fitzgerald, R-Grand Ledge, saw a blizzard of red (no) lights on the tally board and declared it defeated.

The House passed the bill 98-0 and sent it to the Olds Tower across the street for Engler's signature.

Freshman Rep. Deborah Whyman, R-Canton, had a thumbprint on the new bill. Her amendment to cut teacher retraining funds from $2 million to $1 million was rejected by the House but added in the Senate and retained in the final bill.

"There used to be five subjects for teacher retraining. They got $3.8 million," said Whyman. "But four of those subjects were moved to another area of the budget. There was only one remaining.

"The funds were cut to $2 million, but the program should have been funded at $800,000. I thought I was being generous in offering $1 million."

Whyman also won an amendment to a library bill limiting voter-approved millage levies to 10 years. "Conceivably it could have been forever," she said.

going to be a parking structure, I hope they locate it on the east end of the mall, facing other commercial enterprises, not facing the homes along this street." Shoppers interviewed at Somerset Mall and Oakland Mall said they welcome Nordstrom's — one even waved her Nordstrom's charge card.

Competition for Hudson's

"Nordstrom's will give Hudson's a run for the money," said Judy Collins of Grosse Pointe. "My family shops at Nordstrom's whenever we travel. Their service is wonderful. You can't always find help at Hudson's when you need it."

"I think it's great, just great that Nordstrom's is coming to Detroit," said Alice Baker of Birmingham. "There will be more jobs created, more values for shoppers, the competition will keep other stores on their toes."

Joe Rivard, director of operations for Jacobson's in Birmingham, agreed.

"We welcome good competition," he said when asked if he was worried about losing customers to Nordstrom's. "Competition makes everyone do better. It's good for the community."

Sue Sorenson, spokeswoman for Dayton-Hudson in Minneapolis, had this to say.

"We welcome Nordstrom's, too," she said. "Competition is good for everybody. In Minneapolis and Chicago we are already in the same malls with Nordstrom's. In some stores our sales are higher than Nordstrom's."

Hudson's president Dennis Toffolo reaffirmed the importance of Hudson's Oakland Mall store, less than three miles away.

"There will be very little customer transfer to this new store from other Hudson locations," he said. "The Somerset location just gets us closer to our customers and that's the number-one concern in our customer surveys — convenience."

S'craft taps day-care operator to share wisdom with students

BY MARY RODRIQUE
STAFF WRITER

Anyone thinking of opening a day care center could gain a wealth of professional insight from Eartha DeYampert.

Forget the official credentials the mother of three has — an educational degree in child development and a family day care specialist with the child care coordinating council of Detroit/Wayne County.

She has been everything from den mother for a Boy Scout troop to a licensed home day-care provider in charge of 12 children.

"You must possess a real commitment, love and concern for kids and be willing to take criticism," says DeYampert, who named her day care operation Three Bears after her own three children.

DeYampert will teach two courses this month at Schoolcraft Community College focusing on child care. Should I Start An In-Home Day Care? is a half day seminar scheduled Saturday, May 22. From 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., students will learn to realistically evaluate options in this growing field. Licensing, as well as business and legal aspects, record keeping, pricing and advertising will be covered. (To register, call 462-4400.)

"The biggest thing is learning to share your space with the public," said DeYampert. "This is not babysitting. You have to be organized, have a program, learn to keep records, pay taxes."

DeYampert got started with Three Bears in 1982.

"I had young children of my own at the time. And I admired the person in charge of the program my children were in. I thought, 'I can do this.' "

Her business sailed smoothly through most of the '80s. DeYampert's children are now ages 17, 14 and 12.

Two years ago DeYampert approached Schoolcraft about teaching courses geared to day care providers. She has taught similar classes elsewhere.

Competency In Child Care is a five-week program beginning May 17. Each Monday from 7 to 10:10 p.m., this course will cover material for those already providing day care.

"Issues include health, safety and nutrition," she said. "We will also discuss working with families from multi-cultural backgrounds, working with single parents, with special needs children, with teenaged parents.

The morel moral

BILL BRESLER/STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

Prized pick: Nicole Aninos, 5, of Plymouth Township, was picking dandelions and happened across what she thought were beehives. But lo and behold, she found morel mushrooms. They were identified by her mom, Sally, who is from Gaylord, where the mushrooms, prized by gourmets, are commonly found. A word of caution, however. Don't eat mushrooms you've picked without first identifying them as safe to eat.

THERE IS STILL NO DIET FOR ARTHRITIS

This column last discussed diet and arthritis four years ago. The conclusion then was: "a good diet is a good arthritis diet." That observation holds today.
Experience upholds initial skepticism over the worth of fish oil supplements. The hope was that a diet heavy in this substance caused a decrease in the body's inflammatory response. Subsequent investigations revealed that people needed to ingest a huge amount of fish oil to obtain a minimal effect on inflammation. On the other hand, the amount of fish oil needed for this response caused the individual increased risk of stroke.
Another idea that has not proved out is that of food allergy as a reason for joint inflammation.
What remains is that at times medical therapy proves inadequate as therapy for arthritis. Thus opportunity still exists for the unscrupulous individual to hawk cures consisting of "vitamins undiscovered by scientists," or to put forward common foods such as eggplant, prepared in special ways, as a cure. These advocates insist they know something ignored by physicians "blinded" by science.
If you are in pain, such claims have appeal. However beware. Scam artists distract you with hope so they may attend to their real work of picking your pocket.

POINTS OF VIEW

Fun starts when Mother Nature pulls the plug

Cars were running out of gas conveniently near Spike's Keg O' Nails tavern in Grayling, and the locals were draining their lawn mowers and selling a couple of gallons for $10, while barmaids were pouring gallons of beer by candlelight. The reason: The power went out.

It was a scene from TV's "Northern Exposure." There were fishermen at the bar, which was lit by candles. My oldest kid was flirting with a barmaid, not for love, but for food. The grill was shut down and she was the keeper of the nacho chips. It worked.

I had a few anxious minutes. No, I wasn't out of gas. It was a question of whether the beer would stay cold through a three-hour power outage. But such worries disappeared when I realized I could switch to Jim Beam, an action for which I needed no prompting.

The television was off and the guy next to me at the bar sat playing solitaire. He was from West Bloomfield and had run out of gas. He later paid a local $12 for a couple of gallons. And we accuse the Arabs of price gouging.

Life without TV was a delight. It saved me from the weekend coverage of the gays and lesbians marching in Washington, D.C. When it comes to deciding between homophobia and supporting gay and lesbian causes, I'll take fly fishing for trout.

That's why I was sitting at the bar. Last weekend was the opening season for trout fishing in our state. Yes, there's the stereotype of the fisherman doing more to put a dent in the beer supply than in the numbers of trout. But then again, there are reasons for stereotypes.

My sons and I took refuge in Spike's after a day on the AuSable River that started with temperatures in the 30s and a few patches of snow in the woods, and ended at about 7 p.m., when we fished through what we later discovered was a tornado.

JEFF COUNTS

■ There were fishermen at the bar, which was lit by candles. My oldest kid was flirting with a barmaid, not for love, but for food. The grill was shut down and she was the keeper of the nacho chips. It worked.

We headed to the south branch when the temperature hit about 60. It stayed that way for about two minutes before the hail-bearing storm came along. My kid asked: "Is the sun supposed to come out in the middle of a storm?" A barmaid at Spike's later assured me that when the sun acts in such a manner, you are in the middle of a tornado, but at the time I was blissfully ignorant.

I did have the fatherly concern to tell the kid not to touch his metal reel when the lightning was striking. I didn't want to see another kid at risk, as the do-gooders and social workers now call it.

Those folks even have a new campaign going aimed at social drinking. They contend social drinkers may overcorrect their children. Most kids I know could stand some overcorrection.

Not wanting my kid to be at risk of being overcorrected, I wasn't heading to Spike's, but ended up there anyway. The entire town of Grayling was without power when we arrived, and the folks at Spike's left a candle in the window.

Others followed the beacon, and by 9 p.m. the place was filled and I did switch to Jim Beam so as to save the cold beer for others. Power outages do call for certain personal sacrifices.

Then about 9:30 p.m., Hank Williams Jr. started singing again on the jukebox, the TV came back on, and the beer coolers went back into action.

But some how it just wasn't as much fun as before.

Jeff Counts is the editor of the Plymouth and Canton Observer newspapers and is at risk of having an addiction to fly fishing, but is having trouble quitting because his sons are co-dependent. He can be reached at 459-2700.

Suffering no motive for state's speedy action

It was a little over a year ago when I received a fax from my friend, Shelly. In keeping with Shelly's morbid sense of humor and apparent dislike of me, the fax was a gift certificate good for a complimentary visit from Dr. Jack Kevorkian.

The scratchy reproduction was quickly circulated throughout the office, drawing all sorts of chuckles and comments. We all felt the idea was in very poor taste, and we all wished we had thought of it first.

Jack Kevorkian had become something of a local celebrity for his part in the budding controversy surrounding assisted suicide. Kevorkian's notoriety made for easy pickin's for the local comedy crowd. His seemingly transitory fame had even propelled him to the point where his name had become a verb: To Kevorkian someone or something was to put a quick end to it. The macabre comedy was fueled by the circus-like atmosphere of the new coverage of Kevorkian's actions.

After a few months, and a few more assisted suicides, the humorous novelty wore off, leaving only the ugly controversy over this hotly disputed issue.

Oakland County prosecutor Richard Thompson became the primary opponent of Kevorkian's efforts. Thompson's well-publicized battles with Kevorkian's attorney, Geoffrey Fieger, were often punctuated by name-calling and mutual contempt.

Soon after, this became a full-blown three-ring circus when those frolicsome folks in Lansing — our governor and our Legislature — got into the act by hastily passing a bill making assisted suicide against the law in Michigan.

Our elected officials seldom act this quickly on anything, but with Michigan becoming known as The Suicide State fast action had to be taken to relieve the high anxiety over at the chamber of commerce. There's no time for the customary gridlock when your image is on the line.

All the legal and political wrangling seemed to be directed at Kevorkian rather than the issue of having the right to die. The rights of suffering people had little to do with the speedy legislative footwork.

GARY BELANGER

■ Our elected officials seldom act this quickly on anything, but with Michigan becoming known as The Suicide State fast action had to be taken to relieve the high anxiety over at the chamber of commerce. There's no time for the customary gridlock when your image is on the line.

Admittedly, Kevorkian is not a very embraceable man. He is unpretentious to the point of appearing eccentric. His gaunt appearance and clinical demeanor do not fit the stereotype of the kindly old doctor. He is clearly a man on a mission, but only he knows for sure if it is a mission of selfless mercy or self-aggrandizement.

Frankly, the man and his methods matter very little. What matters most is the concept for which he stands: the right of a terminally ill individual to end his or her own life as an alternative to suffering the physical and emotional agony of waiting for death to come on its own. Without a doubt, that right needs to be framed by responsible legal guidelines, but it must remain a viable option for those whose condition allows no other chance of relief.

When our pets become aged and irreversibly ill, we end their suffering by having them "put to sleep." It is the humane thing to do. Yet we are forced to deny that humanity to our loved ones when they face a death which is certain in every respect except the day and the hour of its arrival.

I've seen people suffer in agony no animal would ever be forced to endure. I've seen family members, friends and total strangers decline to the point that their vital statistics were the only discernible measure of life. I've stood next to a hospital bed and begged God to bring a merciful end to the ravaged shell lying before me. I doubt those righteous individuals who oppose assisted suicide have had the same experience.

This issue is not about Jack Kevorkian, nor is it about knee-jerk politics or playing God. It is not about narrow-minded, short-sighted legislation or insensitive office humor. It is about each of us having the right to die when that is all there is left to do.

CHEF LARRY JANES

Momma's cooking impossible to beat

Honest to gosh, I've been planning to write this column for the past year. As luck would have it, it's surfacing the day after Mother's Day.

I pride myself for my punctuality, so even if this comes off like a belated Mother's Day story, rest assured that the facts are true and in my opinion apply 365 days a year.

A funny thing happens when you write a column and get your picture in the paper 52 weeks a year. One of the perks of this job is that I frequently get stopped by readers at the grocery store, the deli or at a restaurant who say "hi" and comment on my columns.

I also get regular and Voice Mail, not to mention hundreds of "here, try my favorite recipe for . . ." postcards and letters. And if there's one question or comment that comes to mind, ya'll ask about my momma. Understandably so, since I probably mention her more than any other source.

Well folks, momma's doing fine. I mentioned to her that I would be writing this about her and asked if I could mention her name and offer a little background.

She darn near chocked on a jelly filled Dunkin' Donut when I asked. So I won't get into anything personal other than explain to you the influence she's had on me, and offer the information she's shared.

The truth

Let it be known that I don't actually call her "momma." As long as I can remember, it's always been "ma" and she's called me "Lee." Momma called Grandma Lory "ma" and I can remember Grandma Lory calling Mimmy LeFleur "ma."

Momma is the Janes Gang matriarchal cook. Nobody cooks better than momma and no one has ever tried.

Not to say that Aunt Phyllis' potato salad isn't the best I've ever tasted or that my older sister Rosie's cherry cobbler gives me goose bumps, but when it comes to cooking, momma beats 'em both hands down.

Momma's tools

What amazes me is that she can do this with the same set of pots and pans she received as a wedding gift 55 years ago. I bring her Cuisinarts, Trident cutlery, exotic herbs, breadmakers, Calphalon cookware and the latest gadgets.

She smiles, mumbles a thanks, tries them and then they end up covered with doilies on the steps leading to the upstairs. I'm a good cook, but I need my tools. She's a better cook and relies on what she has.

I read cookbooks the way she reads the Michigan Catholic newspaper. The kids talked her into a self-cleaning oven about five years ago. Last week I stopped by to visit and found her on her hands and knees in the kitchen cleaning the oven by hand. Dad was in the basement scrubbing the oven racks in the laundry tub.

When asked her why she doesn't just "flip the switch" she replied that "you gotta get down and wipe it out anyway, so what's the difference?"

Cooking secrets

When it comes to cooking, the lady has no peers. I spend 12 hours cooking down a Bordelaise sauce and offer her a taste and she says it tastes like her beef gravy with mashed up carrots and onions in it.

Momma's idea of a fancy restaurant is the Friday fish fry at the local Dom Polski hall. She loves McDonald's Quarter Pounders, Wendy's chili and Sander's Hot Fudge Cream Puffs, yet she can bake a pan of pork chops so tender that they fall off the bone and beg to be eaten with lots of bread to soak up the luscious juices.

Her biscuits could bring Colonel Sander's to his knees, not to say anything about her infamous German Chocolate Cake that she now makes only for my birthday.

What's her secret, you ask? I asked her and her pat response was "it's not what you have, it's what you do with what you got."

I'll pass along her recipe for biscuits that I "borrowed" from the old recipe box with a worn out picture of the Mackinac Bridge on it but it won't taste like her's. Momma would never use a fork to cut in the fat — she'd use her fingers.

She would never cut them with a biscuit cutter — she'd use her favorite glass dipped in flour. She'd never use a $20 air cushioned baking pan like mine, but instead the one she won at Cousin Janice's wedding shower 23 years ago and, lastly, she'd never bake them in an oven that was cleaned by tossing a switch.

She knitted me a potholder a few years back and for some odd reason, it's the only one that feels good. I wonder why. I love you, ma.

Shake salt habit FOR HEALTHIER DIET

■ May is National High Blood Pressure Month. Cut back on salt, and processed foods to lower your risk of developing high blood pressure.

BY ANNE LEHMANN
SPECIAL WRITER

For everything there is a season including high blood pressure. May is National High Blood Pressure Month, a time to think about the silent killer which afflicts 61 million Americans annually, almost half of whom do not even know they have it.

What is particularly insidious about this problem is that there are no overt symptoms, and when left undetected and untreated, high blood pressure can be life threatening.

According to the American Heart Association, which has an office in Lathrup Village, "high blood pressure in adults is a consistently elevated blood pressure of 140 mm Hg (millimeters of mercury) systolic and/or 90 mm Hg diastolic or higher."

Factors which increase the risk of a person developing high blood pressure include heredity, race (blacks are more likely to develop the problem than whites), sex (males are at a higher risk than women), age, obesity, heavy alcohol consumption, use of oral contraceptives and a sedentary lifestyle.

According to the American Heart Association, those with high blood pressure, or hypertension, are at greater for developing heart attacks, congestive heart failure, stroke, atherosclerosis, blood clots and kidney disease.

Although this sounds ominous, the fact is that high blood pressure can be controlled with medical supervision

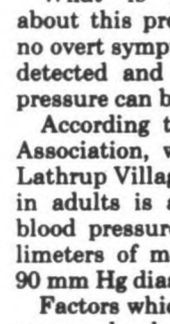
• One of the things to remember is that salt tastes saltier than foods cooked or processed with salt. Potato chips taste saltier, but contain less sodium than cottage cheese.

• Low sodium doesn't mean healthy. People on a low sodium diet usually have to lose weight as well so the fat and caloric content become important considerations as well.

• Although potato chips are lower in sodium than cottage cheese, the nutritional density - high in protein, low in calories - makes cottage cheese a better choice.

Working mom's pasta dish easy, fast

WINNER DINNER



BETSY BRETHEN

Recently I read an article that said American women are taking great pride in the accomplishments of Hillary Rodham Clinton. Smart, competent and career-oriented, Clinton, like so many of us, is a wife and mother who juggles many different responsibilities and roles.

Statistics which show our society has changed, especially for women, are quite revealing. In 1973, 45 percent of married women worked outside their homes; in 1991, 75 percent of mothers with children between the ages of 6 and 13 were working outside their homes.

With more and more women bringing home the bacon, and then having to cook it, recipes that are easy, imaginative and nutritious best fit the needs of the career-minded women of the 1990s.

Although she's not in the public spotlight, this week's Winner Dinner Winner, Kathy Gallizzi of Farmington Hills, works every bit as hard as the First Lady at keeping the many different facets of her life balanced and running smoothly.

Married to John and the mother of Michael, Gallizzi works as a pharmacy technician with her husband, a pharmacist, at Russell's Pharmacy in the Fisher Building in Detroit.

She became a certified catechist three years ago, and teaches catechism once a week to first graders at St. Colette's in Livonia. She loves to cook and credits her grandmothers,

Winner Dinner Recipes

PASTA WITH VEGETABLES, GARLIC AND OIL

1 pound spaghetti
¾ cup olive oil
2 or more cloves garlic, peeled, smashed
½ cup grated Parmesan cheese
1 cup broccoli florets, (can substitute frozen)
1 cup carrot slices, (can substitute frozen)
1 cup cauliflower, (can substitute frozen)
Salt and pepper to taste
Red pepper flakes to taste (optional)

Microwave vegetables until tender. Drain and set aside. Bring a large pot of salted water to a rapid boil. Prepare spaghetti according to package directions and drain.

Heat olive oil and garlic in a small saucepan for 1 to 2 minutes or until garlic begins to color. Be careful not to burn.

Pour olive oil and garlic on spaghetti, add salt and pepper. Toss in vegetables and cheese, making sure all are coated with sauce. Transfer to warmed plate and serve.

Serves 4 to 6 people.

CAESAR SALAD

1 head romaine lettuce, washed and torn into pieces
2 to 3 garlic cloves minced and smashed
1 teaspoon anchovy paste
Juice of ½ lemon
¼ teaspoon Dijon style mustard
Dash Worchestershire sauce
¼ teaspoon salt
black pepper to taste
1 can (15-ounces) hearts of palm, sliced
¼ cup Parmesan cheese
¼ cup olive oil
⅛ cup red wine vinegar
1 cup croutons

Mince and mash garlic. Add anchovy pasty in a bowl along with lemon, salt, pepper, Worcestshire sauce, Dijon mustard, olive oil and vinegar.

Mix well. Add ⅓ of the cheese to the dressing. Save the rest for the romaine.

Add dressing to salad along with hearts of palm and croutons adding the rest of the cheese. Toss and serve.

Serves 4 to 6.

Serve this pasta entree with a loaf of Italian bread. For dessert, Kathy Gallizzi suggests Gelato — Italian ice cream or ice.

in conjunction with good eating and exercise habits.

"The best way to control high blood pressure is to avoid it in the first place," said Debra Finkelstein of West Bloomfield, a registered dietitian who was recently named Dietitian of the Year by the Michigan Dietetics Association. "The way to do that is to lower the amount of sodium in one's diet."

It sounds simple enough, but the fact is that as salt-loving Americans, we consume 10 to 15 times more sodium per day than the 3,000 mg the American Heart Assocation deems acceptable. Besides the sodium which occurs naturally in food, we are a population with a penchant for fast and processed foods and hands which reach almost reflexively for the salt shaker when we sit down to meals.

Why do we love salt so much? "It's an acquired taste," said Finkelstein who works at the Women's Health and Wellness Centre in Farmington Hills. "Working moms, for example, depend on such childhood staples as macaroni and cheese, processed cheese and meats, fast foods, without realizing how alarmingly high in sodium these foods are."

Kids learn to love salt early and continue to seek that flavor as they get older. It is a problem, however, that can be remedied quite easily.

"Cut back on salt gradually and learn to use other natural flavor enhancers like herb mixtures and lemon juice," said Finkelstein. "The truth is cutting back on salt let's you experience the natural flavors of food."

Also, the American Heart Association recommends losing weight. Typically an elevated blood pressure comes down significantly when a person loses weight.

Although people think of the salt shaker as the main culprit in high blood pressure, the fact is that processed foods pose an even greater pitfall.

"Canned vegetables and soups, processed cheese, things we typically think of as healthy are in fact laden with salt," said Dr. Muriel Wagner, a registered dietitian with a Southfield practice. "Even frozen vegetables are packaged with added salt."

Salt is inexpensive, freezes well and gives people a taste they like so manufacturers use it. It is therefore up to the consumer to be wary and read labels.

"Stay away from foods which list more than 140 mg. of sodium per serving on the food label," said Wagner. There are so many wonderful low sodium alternatives on the market today that lowering one's sodium doesn't have to make a persop feel compromised.

For example Wagner brings along a bottle of low sodium soy sauce when she goes out for Chinese food. "I ask the cook to prepare my meal with it. There really are simple solutions if you plan ahead," she says.

Finally, every diet needs to incorporate a wide variety of tasty and healthful foods. Low salt doesn't meal low taste. In fact, with a little creativity, those with high blood pressure can learn to eliminate salt and still eat a diet that is rich in flavor and nutrition.

one from Poland, and the other from Italy, for teaching her how to cook many diffrent ethnic dishes.

Even though Italian was spoken to her since a very early age, she has been formally studying language for four years at Oakland Community College. She is hoping to go to Italy someday to meet and visit her many aunts and uncles who live there.

Gallizzi continues to support her alma mater, St. Joseph's College in Collegeville, Ind. by organizing fund-raising dinners and soliciting donations from alumni as well as other sources.

In this month that brings national attention to high blood pressure, Gallizzi said she does everything that doctors recommend including avoiding red meat, eating a low fat diet, getting regular exercise, and has reflected in today's Winner Dinner, cooking with lots of garlic which has long had the reputation of being a weapon against heart disease.

Thank you Kathy Gallizzi for sharing your recipes with us.

Tips for reducing sodium

Here are some quick tips from the American Heart Association.

- Make use of herbs and spices instead of salt.
- Salt can be reduced or eliminated unless the recipe calls for yeast.
- Use reduced or no salt varieties of canned soups, vegetables and other processed foods.

Do not add salt to boiling water when cooking pasta, rice, vegetables and cereals.

Use onion and garlic flakes or powder in lieu of onion and garlic salt.

Drain and rinse canned tuna, sardines and salmon

Handle foods carefully at salad bar

"The Food and Nutrition Hotline has received many calls lately regarding the safety of eating at salad bars in restaurants," said Sylvia Treitman, home economist for the Oakland Cooperative Extension Service.

Salad bars provide a variety of nutritious fresh fruits and vegetables. However, careful handling by both employees and patrons is needed to help keep the salad bars safe.

The salad bar needs to be kept both "cold and clean." Usually, the staff will be attentive to keeping the salad bar tidy. "If you notice that the area is not clean or is not kept cold, notify the manager," said Treitman.

Guests at a restaurant can do a lot to help keep the salad bar appetizing and safe. "Probably the best thing guests can do is to follow safe food practices, and teach their children to do the same. There's nothing worse than watching a child left alone at the salad bar to ruin your appetite for a refill."

Follow these tips to help keep the salad bar safe for everyone!

- Teach children good safe food habits before they are allowed to go to a salad bar and accompany them.
- Take a clean plate for each refill.
- Always use the salad serving utensils provided and return them to the proper container.
- Never touch food with fingers.

If you have other food safety or food and nutrition questions — call the Food and Nutrition Hotline, 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday to Friday, 858-0904.

Join McDonald's in celebrating Big Mac's 25th birthday

KEELY WYGONIK

Happy Birthday Big Mac, and a special thanks to Paul Hammer and all the folks at the McDonald's on Farmington Road in Livonia who made some Big Macs for us to enjoy on the big day — May 7. McDonald's is honoring the 25th anniversary of its number-one selling large sandwich with Big Mac values. During the Big Mac Silver Anniversary, customers who buy one Big Mac can get a second Big Mac for 25 cents.

The sandwich was created in 1968 by Jim Delligatti at the McDonald's franchise in Pittsburgh. The original selling price was 49 cents, excluding tax.

■ Take time for breakfast. Recent research suggests that eating a good breakfast not only enhances your ability to concentrate and do physical work in the morning hours, but also may help you maintain or lose weight.

Well nourished 9 to 11 year-olds made fewer errors in problem solving when they ate breakfast than when they skipped it. Children who skipped breakfast ate more heavily later in the day and were more likely to be obese than children who regularly ate breakfast.

Both high school age and adult breakfast skippers were more likely to have high blood cholesterol levels than regular breakfast eaters.

■ Mark your calendars — Word of Mouth Foods and the Porterhouse Meats, 1058 S. Main, Plymouth, is hosting their 2nd Annual Parking Lot Barbecue, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, May 22.

The barbecue is a benefit with all free will donations going to Scampi, a summer camp in Oakland County for special needs children with all types of disabilities.

Everyone is welcome to come and sample Word of Mouth Products including two new flavors of barbecue sauce, the Veggy Pasta Sauce and the new — "Call it Complete Seasoning."

They will be grilling homemade sausages, chicken and ribs. Last year the company raised about $1,500. This year they hope to double it.

Easy, cheesy potato wedges cook in microwave oven

AP — No cutting, no peeling, no frying, no kidding! These Parmesan-coated microwave potatoes are so easy, even the kids can make them. They'll have fun shaking the frozen potatoes in the bag of coating, then watching them sizzle through the microwave oven door. And children will love eating the cheesy wedges because they're just the right size for little fingers.

CHEESY POTATO WEDGES

- ¼ cups grated Parmesan cheese
- ½ teaspoon onion-salt
- ½ teaspoon paprika
- ½ of a 24-ounce package frozen wedge-cut potatoes
- 1 tablespoon margarine or butter

In a plastic food storage bag combine Parmesan, onion-salt and paprika. Add potatoes; close bag. Shake until coated. Arrange potatoes in an 2-quart square microwave-safe dish. Set aside ½ teaspoon of the Parmesan coating.

Cook potatoes, uncovered, on 100 percent power (high) for 4 minutes; give the dish a half-turn. Cook for 2 to 4 minutes more or until tender and hot.

In a 1-cup glass measuring cup, heat margarine or butter on high for 30 seconds to 1 minute or until melted. Carefully stir in reserved coating; pour over potatoes. Makes 4 servings.

Pork kebabs cook fast

AP — Dijon-style mustard, brown sugar, bourbon and soy sauce are combined in a marinade for easy, delicious Mustard-Bourbon Kebabs. When ready, the pork is removed from the marinade and threaded onto skewers. Actual cooking time is only about 10 minutes on the broiler or grill.

MUSTARD-BOURBON KEBABS

- 1 pound boneless pork, cut into ¾-inch cubes
- 4 tablespoons Dijon-style mustard
- 4 tablespoons brown sugar
- 2 tablespoons bourbon
- 2 tablespoons soy sauce

In self-sealing plastic bag, combine all ingredients and mix well. Refrigerate overnight. Remove pork from marinade; thread pork cubes onto skewers. (Note: If using wooden skewers, soak skewers in water for an hour before using to prevent burning.) Broil or grill kebabs about 4 inches from heat source, turning occasionally, for 8 to 10 minutes, until nicely browned. Serve with hot rice and a tossed salad. Makes 4 servings.

Perk up your meals with nutritious dried fruits

LITE SUCCESS

FLORINE MARK

Remember that little box of raisins your mother would pack in your school lunch? Well, raisins aren't just for lunches anymore! Dried fruits are wonderful sources of potassium and iron, as well as fiber.

We already know they're great in cookies, cakes, and breads, but they're also fabulous as part of every meal, from start to finish.

Raisin-Onion Sauce is a tasty, versatile sauce. It can either be served warm over poultry or ham, or refrigerated and served as a salad dressing. In main dishes, like Chicken in Creamy Fruit Sauce, raisins perk up the taste with a touch of sweetness. Instead of plain rice, try Fruited Rice with Cinnamon.

You'll love this deliciously different combination. It is important, however, to keep in mind that dried fruits are also high in calories — so reduce the serving size when comparing to regular fruit.

As you try these raisin recipes, follow my tip for preventing the dried fruit from sticking to the knife while dicing — spray the knife blade with nonstick cooking spray. Now, how's that for "raisin" your raisin awareness?

Raisin-Onion Sauce

½ cup diced onion
¼ cup golden raisins
1 tablespoon plus 1 teaspoon vegetable oil
¼ cup water
1 tablespoon each rice vinegar, Dijon-style mustard, and honey

In small microwavable mixing bowl combine onion, raisins, and oil and stir to combine; cover with vented plastic wrap and microwave on High (100 percent) for 4 minutes, until raisins are plumped, stirring once halfway through cooking.

Transfer mixture to blender container; add remaining ingredients and process until smooth. Return mixture to microwavable bowl; cover with vented plastic wrap and microwave on High for 2 minutes, until flavors blend. Makes 4 Servings (about ¼ cup each)

Each serving provides: ¼ Vegetable, 1 Fat, ½ Fruit, 15 Optional Calories. Per serving: 95 calories, 5 g fat

Chicken In Creamy Fruit Sauce

1 teaspoon olive oil or vegetable oil
¼ pound chicken cutlet, cut into thin strips
¼ cup sliced onion
¼ cup sliced mushrooms
½ garlic clove, minced
¼ cup canned ready-to-serve low-sodium chicken broth
2 tablespoons plus 2 teaspoons apricot nectar
3 dried apricot halves, cut into strips
1 tablespoon golden raisins
1 teaspoon Dijon-style mustard
1 tablespoon light sour cream

In 9-inch nonstick skillet heat oil; add chicken and cook over medium-high heat stirring occasionally, until chicken is browned on all sides; about 3 minutes, Add onion, mushrooms and garlic, and cook, stirring frequently, until onion is translucent, about 2 minutes.

Add remaining ingredients, except sour cream, and stir to combine; bring mixture to a boil. Reduce heat to low, add sour cream and let simmer until flavors blend, about 5 minutes. Makes 1 Serving

Each serving provides: 1 Fat, 3 Proteins, 1 Vegetable, 1½ Fruits, 35 Optional Calories. Per serving: 299 calories, 9 g fat

Fruited Rice With Cinnamon

1 teaspoon margarine
½ ounce sliced almonds
¼ cup diced onion
¼ cup canned ready-to-serve chicken broth
4 dried apricot halves, diced
2 tablespoons golden raisins
2 cups cooked long-grain rice
¼ teaspoon ground cinnamon
⅛ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon white pepper

In 1-quart microwavable shallow casserole heat margarine on High (100 percent) for 30 seconds, until melted. Add almonds and onion and microwave on High for 1 minute, stirring once halfway through cooking, until onion is softened.

Add broth, apricots, and raisins and microwave on High for 2 minutes. Add rice and stir to combine; microwave on High for 2 minutes, until rice is heated through. Stir in cinnamon, salt and pepper. Makes 4 Servings

Each serving provides: ¼ Protein, 1 Bread, ⅛ Vegetable, 1¼ Fat, 1¼ Fruit, 3 Optional Calories
Per serving: 161 calories, 3 g fat

Substitute missing ingredients

LOIS THIELEKE

There is nothing more frustrating than to get all ready to do some baking and realize that one of the ingredients is "missing." You were sure you had it on hand, but no such luck. Before you run out to the store, here are some emergency substitutions that could be used in a pinch.

To make your own half and half for a recipe, use seven-eights cup of milk plus one-half tablespoon butter to equal one cup. One cup of heavy cream is made by mixing three-fourths cup milk plus one-third cup butter. Use this only when a recipe calls for heavy cream in cooking or baking, as this will not whip.

Sour cream can be made by using three tablespoons melted butter plus seven-eights cup sour milk or seven-eights cup buttermilk plus 3 tablespoons melted butter equal one cup. Don't use this making a dip, but for baking purposes it will work. Puree' cottage cheese in the blender with a little yogurt or skim milk to make a low-fat version of sour cream.

Cream cheese can be made by blending one cup low-fat cottage cheese with ¼ cup margarine to equal one cup. One cup of skim milk plus two tablespoons melted butter will equal one cup whole milk. (Think about that butter next time you reach for a glass of whole milk.) Low-fat plain yogurt can replace an equal amount of buttermilk in any recipe.

If your milk is just starting to turn sour, sweeten by adding a pinch of baking soda.

Oil substitutes

When substituting vegetable oil for a solid vegetable shortening, butter or margarine, use one-third less. Use two teaspoons of oil to replace one tablespoon of hard shortening. For a perfect product, don't substitute oil for a solid shortening. Instead, find a recipe that has been tested using oil. It is not recommended substituting light or extra light margarine for regular margarine in cakes or cookies.

The water content is very different so you would have to change the proportion of the other ingredients to make up for the added water. Regular margarine is about 15 percent water, light is 40 percent and extra light can be as much as 58 percent. This really changes a recipe proportion.

Dried herbs can be substituted for fresh ones, use about one-third the amount called for in the recipe. One tablespoon instant minced onions, rehydrated equals one small fresh onion. Three teaspoons chopped fresh parsley will substitute nicely for one teaspoon dried. One-eighth teaspoon garlic powder is equal to one small clove. If your dried herbs are more than a year old they have probably lost their fragrance so you may want to increase the amount used.

You can make your own fresh garlic salt by slicing three cloves of peeled garlic into an empty shaker, then fill the shaker with salt. Shake into salads, soups, vegetables, meats or whatever. When the garlic dries out, just replace it with fresh slices, it will keep for a long time.

Plain unpopped popcorn loses moisture and will not pop when it starts to dry out. There isn't enough water inside the kernel to expand from heat to make it pop. Popcorn that dries out won't pop. When you notice that a number of kernels in the pan aren't popping you'll need to re-condition it. Put about three cups of popcorn in a quart jar, pour one tablespoon of water into the jar, and put the lid on tightly.

Shake the jar every five or 10 minutes, until the popcorn has absorbed all the water. Leave the jar capped tightly on the shelf for a couple days, after that the popcorn should pop perfectly. For long term storage, refrigerate or freeze the popcorn so it will not dry out.

Choclate substiutes

Milk chocolate cannot be substituted for other chocolates in recipes. It is made from chocolate liquor, milkfat, milk solids and the rest sugar. The same goes for instant hot cocoa mix, it is a mix of sugar and dry milk solids and does not made a good substitution for regular cocoa.

Substituting chocolate syrup for other chocolate in baking is also not recommended for a good product. To replace one-ounce of unsweetened chocolate, use one-fourth cup of cocoa mixed with two teaspoons of any kind of shortening. For semisweet chocolate you'll need one-ounce of unsweetened chocolate plus four teaspoons sugar.

Before you throw up your hands in disgust because of a missing ingredients, look through your cupboards and see what substitution can be made used. Cookbooks also have substitution suggestions to help make the perfect food product.

Her artwork lights night

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN
SPECIAL WRITER

Artist Maria Ruedinger manipulates neon and hotly-colored paint into electric wall sculpture. Subdued lighting created by the artwork sets the mood for anything but a quiet evening at home.

"I love the way neon looks, the colors, the way it looks at night," Ruedinger said. "Most of my pieces are for the bedroom because you can turn off all the lights. Neon sets a mood to it."

Ruedinger fabricates the metal canvas and bends the glass for the abstract works of light in her commercial sign shop, IDMN (Innovative Design Manufacturing and Neon) in Plymouth's Old Village.

"It's a fun medium to work in," she said. "Depending on the color of glass and colors surrounding it, the color of the neon changes according to the other colors you're using. It's not a flat medium. It jumps out at you."

A line of green, yellow and blue neon shoots like an arrow across an untitled abstract, playing off the blue spheres and flat planes of color on the metal canvas.

"Because neon is liquid light, your eye is going to focus on the neon. I like the painting and neon to work together. They play off each other."

Ruedinger became interested in the medium after earning a liberal arts degree from the University of Michigan in 1985.

"My parents were going to give me a trip to Europe after graduation. With the job market so tight, I asked to learn a trade instead."

Six weeks of apprenticeship with Freddy Elliott of Neon Stuff in Kansas provided her with the basics of blowing glass. She spent the next three months honing the craft in Los Angeles at Hollywood Neon.

"It's a different medium — blowing glass with a hose instead of on the end of a blow pipe. The glass used in neon comes four feet long already blown in a tube. We take it from there and manipulate it."

In 1986 Ruedinger returned to Michigan, setting up her own shop, Accent Neon in Ann Arbor. Working between the two flames of a ribbon burner and a crossfire torch with a blow hose clenched between her teeth, Ruedinger's enthusiasm for neon flowed naturally.

"I get enthralled in neon . . . the whole idea of manipulating light to make it say something to you," Ruedinger said. "Every piece of neon has to be bent up by hand. The high lead content means it doesn't have to be annealed like furnace-worked glass because it doesn't shatter when it cools."

The high-energy painting contrasting the mellow light of neon takes shape as a sketch.

"You just start drawing. You come up with 10 concepts before you hit on one that will say something to you."

Two years of welding courses at Washtenaw Community College prepared Ruedinger for the next step, fabricating the metal that serves as canvas.

"I make up the box and get that primed, then I start painting. I use sign painter's paint. The reason I work in metal is because neon's high voltage so it's highly combustible. It needs a transformer to run . . . 110 volts isn't enough."

Ruedinger adds texture to the pieces by applying the enamel-based paints first — "I like to throw lacquer over it. You get a chemical reaction."

Her work remains in a state of flux.

"For an artist you're always evolving. There's always changes even from the sketch, but the concept is there."

Goal setters: Psycho Cafe — Dan Monroe (from left), Bruce Kudanian, Adam Reed, Scott Spencer and Joe Race — are focused on two things: being the best local rock band and signing the best record deal.

Psycho Cafe: Menu for success

Psycho Cafe has but two career goals musically: to be the biggest local band and sign the best record deal. Big goals, but the band is accomplishing them with the help of producer Gary Spaniola.

BY KYLE GREEN
SPECIAL WRITER

Bands always establish career goals which usually dissolve faster than the band's unity.

Psycho Cafe is no different than other bands.

It is a five-member rock band which has established two distinct goals: to be the "biggest local band" and to "sign the best record deal."

What keeps Psycho Cafe on track and a step ahead of others is the fact that it has the backing that other bands can only dream about — Gary Spaniola.

The name may not sound familiar offhand, but Spaniola won the outstanding producer award at the second annual Motor City Music Awards, held at the State Theater in Detroit in April.

Spaniola has worked with other local and national acts, such as the Romantics, Ready for the World, Bitter Sweet Alley, and the "Beverly Hills Cop" soundtrack.

It was no easy task getting Spaniola on Cafe's side. Actually, it took persistence and patience.

"We had sent him three to four tapes over the last year and he hated us," said drummer Joe Race.

■ STREET BEATS

The tapes were primarily live cuts. It wasn't until the group provided a cassette recorded on four-track equipment that Spaniola heard the band's potential. Spaniola decided to produce the band's three-track self-titled release on Baltic Records.

The group is now working with Spaniola for a larger record deal.

Besides a solid contract, the members also feel they are accomplishing their first goal now that Detroit's Z-Rock, WDZR, has picked up one of their songs. Detroit's Z-Rock, a national radio station broadcasting from Dallas to 22 affiliates, has picked up the song "Black Cat" on local rotation.

Other local radio stations have played the group's material in the past, but the commercial success has caught the group off guard.

"We didn't know we were on the air," said guitarist Bruce Kudanian about mate Duffy Monroe. "We were driving in my car and I heard it . . . It was great they played one of our songs."

"It was just sort of cool to hear it on a normal format," Monroe added.

Normal format is not exactly what the members have in mind with their energetic and at times abstract rock.

"I don't think we sound like any other band in Detroit," Race said. "It's ear-catching, but I'd say it's moody."

The mix spawns from the member's backgrounds and their writing abilities, bassist Scott Spencer said.

■ 'We had sent him (producer Gary Spaniola) three to four tapes over the last year and he hated us.'

Joe Race
drummer

The band collaborates as a unit, each member presenting ideas and others either feeding off them or throwing them out, which has left bruised feelings behind.

"I don't think any one of us can write a total Psycho Cafe song," said Spencer. "You have to come to practice with an open mind."

"We can write for any band," Race said. "We can write for Jane's Addiction . . . or Whitesnake, but we have to keep focused."

Psycho Cafe will perform June 3 and 6 at the Ritz, 10½ Mile and Gratiot in Roseville (call 778-8150) and on June 10 at the Studio Lounge, 6921 N. Wayne Road, Westland (Call 729-2540).

Bam Boom puts art in reach of bands

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO
STAFF WRITER

Climbing the ladder of the local music industry, Glynn Scanlan learned that presentation weighs just as much as talent with record company reps and fans.

So Scanlan, now the drummer and vocalist for the band the Junk Monkeys, started working on that theory early.

"The first tape I ever did in high school, I Xeroxed them (the tape cover) off," said the graduate of Livonia Franklin High School.

Realizing how hard it is for bands to have affordable artwork done, Scanlan hooked up with graphic artist Amy Griffiths a year ago to create the Dearborn-based Bam Boom Graphics and Productions.

"There was nobody doing it at the time," Scanlan said about his and Griffiths' decision to start the company. "I just said, 'I like to do this and with my brains and you know how to work with the computer . . . Let's do it.' "

Changing: Tommy Chong has found there's still laughter after parting with Cheech Marin, his partner in the '70s.

Chong: Comedy without Cheech

BY BOB SADLER
SPECIAL WRITER

The more things change, the more they stay the same.

While Tommy Chong is no longer half of the successful comedy duo Cheech and Chong, he is still a very funny man.

And yes, drugs admittedly still play a key part in Chong's life — and humor. Counter to any governmental statistics or claims, Chong believes that drugs, particularly marijuana, are more popular now than they were when he and Cheech Marin made a name for themselves with their "Up in Smoke" brand of humor.

"In the '70s, it was just the musicians, the students and the Deadheads," Chong said in a recent interview, alluding to the legions of fanatical Grateful Dead fans. "Garcia and the boys are still the highest-grossing band in the world. Look at their audiences. They're not saying no, that's for sure."

Chong believes that the benefits of smoking marijuana outweigh the harm and that people now smoke it in the privacy of their own homes and offices to relieve stress.

"There is no reason that it shouldn't be legalized, except political correctness," Chong said. "Pot dealers' biggest customers are lawyers. They're hip. They work hard, and they like to relax. It can make a bad deal great."

Wearing that political incorrectness on his sleeve is the reason Chong cites for his success in comedy and film. It also led to the break with his former partner — now part of the cast of "Golden Palace," the old "Golden Girls" series as revived by CBS.

"Cheech and I fell out because he wanted to go the straight route," Chong said. "There's no animosity. It was just creative differences. He went a route that I would never go, and I went the route that he was tired of going. That was the end of that."

As a comedy duo, few could rival the success of Cheech and Chong during the '70s and early '80s. It all started when Chong, a native of Edmonton, Alberta, had an improvisational group in Vancouver, working out of his brother's nightclub. Marin saw the group perform. Chong knew Marin was an actor and asked if he would be interested in joining.

He did, starting the partnership that produced classic comedy albums featuring famous bits like "Santa Claus and His Old Lady" and "Basketball Jones" and hit films like "Up in Smoke," "Things Are Though All Over" and "Still Smokin'." Some of the duo's recordings have been recently been reissued on compact disc and remain strong sellers.

"We have to sue to get all the royalties," Chong said with a laugh, "but the albums still sell really well. Our stuff is timeless. The '70s have come right back but I don't see anyone pulling out any Flip Wilson records."

As a result of this '70s revival, Chong now is out on tour about half of every month, playing larger comedy clubs. Despite the lack of his old partner, there is no evidence that Chong has missed a comedic step.

"My act is the Tommy Chong attitude that people love to see," he said. "I may trot out some of the old characters now and then and do some bits. The act changes every night, but overall it keeps getting better and better."

Tommy Chong will appear Tuesday at Chaplin's West, 16890 Telegraph Road, Detroit. Call 533-8866 for reservations.

'Chocolate' serves up emotional feast

BY JOHN MONAGHAN
SPECIAL WRITER

■ MOVIES

"Like Water for Chocolate," currently at the Maple, is a sensual Mexican feast set around the early part of this century where tradition stands in the way of true love. Not the newest idea granted, but its spicy and fantastical handling makes it unforgettable.

Tita (Lumi Cavazos) and Pedro (Marco Leonardi) fall madly in love at first sight. But because she is the youngest of three daughters, Tita may never marry. Instead, according to Mexican tradition, she must care for her widowed mother on the family's ranch until the elder woman dies.

Pedro, in what he thinks is a perfectly acceptable solution, marries Tita's sister Rosaura so he can remain near his true love. Mama Elena (Regina Torme), no angel herself when it comes to marital fidelity, warns the young lovers that she recognizes their plan.

The film compares with the 1987 Danish hit "Babette's Feast" because again we have a repressed woman whose strength is channeled through magical meals. During preparation of Rosaura's wedding cake, Tita's teardrops fall into the batter, causing guests who eat the cake to sink into a deep depression.

Later, as Tita's passion for her brother-in-law grows, her quail in rose petal sauce acts as an aphrodisiac and sends the diners to different parts of the ranch to satisfy their passions. Gertrudis, the middle sister, runs naked into the woods where a soldier gallops by and whisks her away on horseback.

Literary critics call it "magical realism" as it is found in Latin American movies, books and paintings. The spirit of Gabriel Garcia Marquez, author of "Love in the Time of Cholera" and "A Hundred Years of Solitude," haunts this bold blend of fantasy and reality.

Adapted by Laura Esquivel from her best-selling novel, this is also unabashedly a woman's movie. While Pedro and Tita's love remains central to the story, it's the relationships of the women that stand out.

Leonardi's Pedro, after all, is a stiff. Tita, who has sacrificed so much, who has all the passion, finally asks him in desperation, "Why didn't you just steal me away from the start?"

While Cavazos' Tita simmers quietly, Torme's Elena grows more tyrannical as her clutch over the family weakens. When Gertrudis runs away to become a prostitute and Rosaura and Pedro move off the ranch, Elena's mistreatment of Tita nearly drives the girl to madness.

Not all of the ingredients come together in "Like Water for Chocolate." The musical score, though at times lush, is also surprisingly pedestrian.

The narrative device — in which the story is recalled by Tita's great niece who still prepares the family recipes — is obvious and more than a bit trite. It might, however, explain those bizarre moments, since the story has apparently passed down through generations.

Though it doesn't go overboard with color (it uses a palette of deep textured browns), the movie is packed with metaphors and visual symbols. Esquivel and director Alfonso Arau set the movie on the Mexican side of the Rio Grande at a time when revolutionaries, along with Tita, make painful and often deadly breaks from tradition.

"There's no end to what we can do," Scanlan said.

Scanlan admits he also hooked up with Griffiths, who has also played in bands, to secure his financial future.

"Playin' in bands is fabulous but I don't see any yachts in my future," he said with a laugh. The Junk Monkeys, signed to Metal Blade records in California, currently have scored a hit with the single "Bliss" from the album of the same name.

Through Scanlan's musical know how, he and Griffiths were able to get a lot of work through word of mouth.

"Being in the industry as long as I have, I know a lot of people," Scanlan said.

Griffiths and Scanlan have dabbled in art since they were youngsters. Scanlan accrued his art knowledge not by schooling but by "messin' around with fliers, posters, (and) art." Griffiths, who formerly worked at an advertising agency, took her first art classes in college.

With the vast knowledge that each has, Griffiths and Scanlan feel their business relationship compliments one another.

"We fill in all the gaps where the other's lacking," Griffiths said.

Lines lead the eye upward to the lyrical neon of "The Seahorse." Painted fluid shapes echo the rhythm of the light.

"I like curves. With neon you can manipulate the light," Ruedinger said. "I don't decide on the neon until it's done. Sometimes the color changes, here or there. Sometimes I will paint it out so the light will stop."Mikki Ludwig of Ypsilanti has one of Ruedinger's artworks displayed in her bedroom.

"I think it's very creative," Ludwig said. "It's very abstract. I've always loved glass and neon's a neat lighting source. It's a mood changer."

Chiefs trounce Spartans

In what might have been a preview of the upcoming Western Lakes Activities Association championship game, Plymouth Canton left no doubt which team should be the favorite.

In a rematch of last year's WLAA final in girls soccer Wednesday, the Chiefs trounced visiting Livonia Stevenson 7-1.

"We really played tough," Canton coach Don Smith said. "We were really sticking the ball and hit good shots."

The Chiefs, who defeated Stevenson 1-0 to win the WLAA title last year, are 9-0-1 overall. The Spartans are 5-3.

Leah Hutko and Melissa Tomei (one assist) scored two goals each for No. 2-ranked Canton. Mandy Salin and Julie Majewski contributed a goal and an assist apiece.

Becky Cifaldi accounted for the remaining goal. Angie Page had two assists, Amy Westerhold and Alyson Noune one each.

Michele Brach scored the lone goal for the No. 10 Spartans, who were without injured goalkeeper Karen Groulx.

Canton can win the Western Division again if it wins or ties at No. 3 Northville tonight. Stevenson (5-3) is the frontrunner to win the Lakes Division.

The WLAA final will be played Wednesday, May 19, at the Western Division site.

Express rolls to title

The Canton Express captured first place in the Miami University Spring Soccer Classic in Oxford, Ohio.

The boys under-13 Little Ceasars team posted a 3-0 victory in the final against the Cincinnati Classic.

The Express outscored their opponents 33-1 in the tournament. Matt Kessler and Eric O'Neill shared the goalkeeping duties.

Magic wins tournament

The 1981 Canton Magic soccer team sloshed its way to a rain-soaked tournament championship at Miami Univeristy in (Oxford) Ohio last month.

The Magic posted a 2-1 record during intense preliminary round competition against the Warren County Celtics, Dublin Dynamite and Cincinnati Classics.

The Magic then defeated the Middletown Magic 4-0 in the championship game, which began after a one-hour rain delay. Middletown had not allowed any goals during the preliminary round.

Young golfers sought

The Independent Insurance Agents of Wayne County will sponsor a qualifying tournament Monday, June 21, at Riverview Highlands Golf Course for the 25th Insurance Youth Golf Classic.

Local golfers age 17 and under are eligible to participate in the nation's largest junior golf tournament.

Winners of the local tournament will advance to the Michigan finals July 18-19 in Big Rapids. The top state winners will gain the chance to play with a PGA pro at the national IYGC finals August 12-17 in Little Rock, Ark.

This year's tournament marks the first year with a girls division.

Entry blanks, rules and regulations for the local qualifying round are available by calling Mary Yurko at 284-0942.

Martin at Olympic Fest

Westland John Glenn High senior Matt Martin, a state Class A swimming champion in the 100-yard backstroke, will compete next month in a national high school invitational meet for seniors in Indianapolis, Ind.

Martin has also qualified to swim in the U.S. Olympic Festival in July in San Antonio, Tex.

Martin recently finished third in the 200-yard individual medley at the Junior Nationals in Gainsville, Fla. He also finished 26th in the 100 backstroke and 30th overall in the 100 butterfly at the U.S. Senior Nationals in Nashville, Tenn.

Men's fast-pitch softball

All-American Softball Center made its season debut in the Plymouth Modified Fast-Pitch League with a 10-4 win over Demelio & Sons Wednesday.

Jerry Staszel was the winning pitcher, winning a duel with Al White. All-American outhit Demelio 14-10 and also turned three double plays.

Dan Pierce was 3-for-3 for All-American, and Doug Kirkpatrick and Pat Greener had two hits apiece. Sean Maloney, Bill Rowley and Greener had two RBI each.

Canton gets 2nd at Observerland

■ BOYS TRACK

McKeon's Law, not Murphy's Law, ultimately won out Saturday during the 23rd running of the Observerland Boys Track Relays at Redford Union's Kraft Field.

Heavy favorite Redford Catholic Central overcame some bad luck and a determined effort by Plymouth Canton to win its second consecutive championship. It was CC's third Observerland title overall.

Led by senior Eric McKeon, the Shamrocks scored a team-high 83 points, but needed a victory in the meet's final event, the 1,600-meter relay, to earn the first-place trophy. Canton wound up second overall with 75 points, while neighbor Plymouth Salem gained third with 67. See statistical summary.

With Canton trailing by only two points, 73-71, heading into the final event, CC had to finish two spots ahead of the Chiefs to clinch the team title.

McKeon, CC's do-it-all performer, made sure by anchoring a first-place (3:30.3) 1,600 effort. Others on the foursome were Marc Eden, Brandon Dalziel and Chris O'Keefe. Canton, spurred the gutsy effort of Kevin Gudeth, closed the gap on the final leg, but wound up fourth (3:32.4).

"I was trying to save myself to start, pick it up on the backstretch and go for it on the straightaway," said McKeon, who also won the open 100-meter dash (11.1) and was a member of the victorious distance medley squad. "I knew the meet was on the line, but I didn't get nervous. When I run, I just go. I try and block everything out."

Livonia Stevenson led the meet coming out of the field events with 26 points, while Canton was second with 24. CC and Westland John Glenn were third and fourth, respectively, with 21 and 20.

Things, however, started to go sour when Eden, CC's No. 1 hurdler and one of the best in the area, crashed and burned in the 110-meter highs. His fall resulted in zero points. He was, however, able to compete in his remaining events.

The Shamrocks also muffed a baton exchange in the 800-meter relay, not to mention that key distance performers Damon Harris and Joe Leo could not make the meet because of injuries.

"I had to start making switches in the middle of the meet," CC coach Tony Magni said. "It seemed like everything that could possibly go wrong did. If Eden had gone down, I don't think we could have won it. He came back good. He ran real well."

Canton showed consistency throughout afternoon and evening for its best showing since 1986. The Chiefs placed in every event with the exception of the open 100, pole vault and open 1,600.

"I think our sprinters came out and surprised a few people," Canton coach Bob Richardson said. "We took a second in the 800 relay and a fourth in the 400 relay with season bests in both.

"And we knew we'd be close with the distance kids or just behind CC."

Dave Yack, Shawn McNamara, Todd Smith and Jeff Keith (4:27.0 split) teamed up for a win in the 6,400 relay (18:36.1). The Chiefs also overhauled CC in the 3,200 relay as Justin McClain, Matt Demey, Keith and Gudeth (2:01.0 split) were clocked in 8:16.3.

"This was the best day of the year so far," Richardson said. "John Martin came through in the hurdles and sprints. He was in four events, and that's a heavy day.

"Our weightmen (shot put and discus) came through with a second and fourth. And our high-jumpers picked up a second where we had hoped for a fourth."

Plymouth Salem, meanwhile, came on strong to overtake Northville for third in the team standings.

"I'm very pleasantly surprised,"

■ SOFTBALL

When pitchers like Kelly Holmes and Karen Jose go head-to-head, you expect a low-scoring, suspenseful softball game like the one played Thursday at Livonia Churchill.

It was high school softball at its best as Holmes and her Plymouth Canton teammates eked out a 2-1 victory in nine innings over Jose and the Chargers.

The win gives the No. 2-ranked Chiefs (10-2) the early advantage in the Western Division of the Western Lakes Activities Association at 4-0. Churchill is 3-1 and 6-2.

The game was scoreless through eight innings as the pitchers dominated. Holmes (19) and Jose (12) combined for 31 strikeouts and issued two walks each.

Canton had five hits and the Chargers three. The Chiefs made one error, Churchill three.

"I think both coaches knew we had the two best pitchers in the area, and both are going to keep them in the game," Canton coach Jim Arnold said. "It's just a matter of which team is going to make a mistake first."

The Chiefs eventually got their break in the ninth inning, scoring both runs on an error.

Lisa Nicastri singled and Tina Schafer walked, and both advanced on a sacrifice by Holmes.

On a failed bunt attempt, Karrie Drinkhahn (running for Nicastri) was caught between third base and home plate. When the throw went to third, she headed for home. The third baseman threw over the catcher's head, allowing both runs to score.

"We were trying to manufacture a mistake," Arnold said. "That play was designed to be a suicide squeeze. In games like this, you have to force them to make a mistake and hope they do."

Churchill got its run in the bottom of the ninth. Chrissy Daly reached base because of an error on her bunt and scored on a two-out, infield single by Stacey Fields.

"To get two (runs) off Holmes is tough," Churchill coach Dana Hardwidge said. "The kids were sorta down after going all that way and letting them score, but they came out in the last inning and still went after them."

The Chiefs had four hits in the first three innings, but Jose didn't allow another until the ninth. She went seven innings before walking a batter, too.

"Karen was up to the cause today," Hardwidge said. "I thought she was as strong at the end as she was at the beginning."

Plymouth Christian stays on softball roll

Chalk up Nos. 12 and 13 for the Plymouth Christian Academy softball team.

The Eagles added two victories and extended their Michigan Independent Athletic Conference consecutive winning streak to 13 games with easy wins Thursday and Friday.

PCA made quick work of Oakland Christian, needing only 3⅓ innings to pull out a 13-3 romp.

Kristina Tilly held Oakland to two hits while striking out five and walking four.

PCA's 11-hit attack was led by Nancy Kobernick, who went three for three with five stolen bases, three RBI and two runs scored. Dawn Muneio added two hits, three steals, two runs and one RBI.

Catcher Karin Reed played a good game offensively and defensively, coach Steve Ritchie said. Reed went had two hits, five steals, three runs scored and one RBI, and she threw out three runners at first base.

The Eagles thrashed Warren Bethesda Christian in five innings Friday, 11-0. None of the PCA wins this year have made it past the fifth.

Tilly limited Bethesda to two hits, struck out 10 and walked one. Since PCA's second game of the season — a loss in the rain to Ann Arbor Greenhills — Tilly and the PCA defense have surrendered only three runs.

"She's pitching better than I've ever seen," Ritchie said. "After the first batter of the game reached on a hit and eventually got to third, no one else got past second base."

The Eagles essentially won the game with an eight-run first. Tilly knocked in two on a bases-loaded single.

Kobernick again led the offense with two hits and three steals, while Lisa Erickson added one hit and three steals. Melissa Yoder chipped in a two-run single in the fourth.

PCA has a good chance of extending its streak to 16 as the next three games are against weaker opponents. Ritchie believes No. 17 will be a good test for the Eagles when they play Southfield Christian.

"I've said all along that it will be between us and Southfield for the conference title," Ritchie said. "This has been a real fun team to coach and an exciting team to watch. They know how to win."

If PCA wins that game, the streak might continue into next year, since the Eagles only lose third baseman Jill Adams to graduation.

The Eagles are 5-1 overall and 4-0 in the conference.

■ SALEM 13, STEVENSON 3: Despite being outhit 8-7 Thursday, Plymouth Salem took advantage of 10 Livonia Stevenson errors to record the home victory.

Chiefs, Rocks coast in girls track

Neither Plymouth Canton nor Plymouth Salem had much of a challenge in girls track Thursday as both won dual meets with lopsided scores.

Salem trounced visiting Farmington 103-25, and Canton routed host Livonia Franklin 112-16.

Olive Ikeh won the 100-meter dash (13.8) and the 200 (27.8) for Canton and also helped the Chiefs win the 400 relay.

Stephanie Gray was a double winner in the field events, throwing the shot put 32-6 and leaping five feet in the high jump.

Angela Fountain, Shawn Champlin, Christie Saffron and Melissa Bastine had individual wins and also contributed to relay victories.

Champlin won the 300 hurdles (52.8), Saffron the 400 sprint (1:05.8), Fountain the 100 hurdles (17.5) and Bastine the 800 run (2:40.1).

Fountain, Teri Scott, Becky Bockstanz and Champlin won the 800 relay (1:55.2), and Bockstanz also combined with Ikeh, Karina Kilpelainen and Ndu Okwumabua to win the 400 relay.

Saffron was the lead runner on the 1,600 relay team (4:40.7), which included Julie Bak, Robin Parry and Lana Boroditsch.

Canton began its sweep of the relays by winning the 3,200 with the team of Jenna McWilliams, Bastine, Erin Barresi and Tracey Cavin. The Chiefs had an 11:09.4 time.

Other Canton winners were Selena Bastine, discus (116-4); Brooke Larson, long jump (15-0); and Laura McWilliams, 3,200 run (12:35.6).

The Chiefs are 3-0 in the Western Division and 4-1 overall.

■ PLYMOUTH SALEM

Sarah Makins won two individual events again, and the Rocks received the usual contributions from a talented group of relay runners in their 103-25 win over Farmington.

Makins was first in the long jump (15-½) and 100-meter hurdles (15.7).

Courtney Sheldon, Vanessa Benning, Marcia Parker, Tonya Wheeler and Stacy Witthoff won individual events, and most were part of two relays each as were Sarah Hamilton and Dana Driscoll.

Hamilton and Wheeler started and anchored the 800 (1:40.4) and 1,600 (4:20.5) relays, respectively.

Driscoll and Parker were on the 400 (52.7) and 800 teams. Sheldon and Witthoff competed in the 1,600 and 3,200 (10:30) relays.

Alysia Sofios and Benning rounded out the 400 unit, Kelly Stankov and Corey Gulkewicz the 3,200 team.

Benning won the 100 dash (13.0), Parker the 200 (26.2) and Wheeler the 400 (59.7). In the longer distances, Witthoff won the 800 run (2:29.7), Karen Boudreau the 1,600 (5:42.3) and Sarah Bolaric the 3,200 (13:06.8).

Sheldon was first in the 300 hurdles (49.2). Salem's Kathryn Ryan won the discus (102-11) and Nicole Van Hees the high jump (4-11).

The Rocks are 3-0 in the Lakes Division and 5-0 overall.

Canton boys whip Franklin; Farmington surprises Salem

Plymouth Canton swept the relays and won all but three events Thursday while cruising to an easy 105-32 win over visiting Livonia Franklin in boys track.

Tom Raven produced double victories in the throwing events as usual with distances of 44-9 in the shot and 150-9 in the discus.

Four others had individual wins and also participated in relays: Damon Collier, John Martin, Kevin Gudeth and Matt Demey.

Collier won the long jump (18-9), Martin the 300-meter hurdles (42.0), Gudeth the 400 dash (53.0) and Demey the 800 run (2:10).

Mike Gurchak and Rob Lemasters were paired with Neil Haremski and Collier in the 400 relay (46.6), Martin and Marques Nelson in the 800 relay (1:37.4).

Gudeth anchored the 1,600 relay (3:44.4) and Demey the 3,200 (8:54.2). Those relays also included Justin McClain, Rich Smolarek and Mike Erickson in the 1,600; Todd Smith, Ian Bedford and Dave Yack in the 3,200.

Other individual winners for the Chiefs were Mark Koziol, high jump (6-0); Eric Tomei, high hurdles (15.8); Shawn McNamara, 1,600 run, 4:48.6; and Brian Crocket, 3,200 run (11:04).

Canton is 2-1 in Western Division duals and 4-1 overall, the Patriots 0-3 and 1-3.

■ PLYMOUTH SALEM

Farmington High regained a bit of its past glory in boys track Thursday when it defeated visiting Plymouth Salem 76-58 in a dual meet.

"It was a huge upset," Farmington coach Dave Catherman said. "It was a pleasant surprise, and we'd like to keep the momentum going for the next couple weeks."

If Salem can beat Westland John Glenn, there could be a three-way tie for the Lakes Division title between those two teams and Farmington.

"That would be a real nice reward for a hard-working team," Catherman said.

The Falcons won three field events and led 25-9 after those five events. Corey Minous won the shot put (45-1), Mike Robles the high jump (5-8) and Ben Goebel the pole vault (8-6).

Farmington dominated on the track, winning every individual running event and two relays.

Nigel Whitt was first in the 100-meter dash (11.2) and the 200 (23.5), and Dave Clinard had double victories in the 800 run (2:04.4) and the 1,600 (4:40.3).

Sean Hassell won the 400 dash (54.5) and Kevin Afflerbaugh the 3,200 run (10:21.3).

Minous, Goebel, Whitt and Hassell are sophomores; Clinard, Robles and Afflerbaugh seniors.

Clinard and Hassell also combined with Kevin Parzuchowski and Steve Scanio to win the 1,600 relay (3:57.7). Afflerbaugh and Parzuchowski connected with Jason Jackson and Tom May for first place in the 3,200 relay (8:32.7).

"We're very pleased; it was a great victory," Catherman said. "The double by Nigel Whitt was a highlight, and we had nice contributions by the distance guys. Our distance tradition has always been real strong, and we take a lot of pride in our field events."

Salem's Don Johnson won the long jump (21-3), 110 hurdles (15.1) and anchored the 400 relay team.

The Rocks also had firsts from Rockland Johnson in the discus (133-6) and Brian Herc in the 300 hurdles (41.8).

Marcus Zevalkink, Steve Schumacher and Jay Casey combined with Johnson to win the 400 relay (45.5) and Adam Bakowski the 800 relay (1:35.1).

Both teams are 2-1 in the Lakes Division. Farmington is 2-2 overall, Salem 3-2.

Relays from page 1C

Salem coach Geoff Baker said. "We had a tough week — Tuesday (dual meet loss to Canton), Thursday (loss to Farmington) and Saturday. They surprised me, but they worked hard."

Senior Don Johnson was Salem's workhorse.

He was a member of the Rocks' victorious 400, shuttle hurdle and long jump relay teams. Johnson also went 14.9 to finish third in the 110 highs.

Southfield-Lathrup's Maurice Wilson edged Farmington Harrison's Don Bryant to tie a meet record with a time of 14.7. (Wilson and Bryant now share the Observerland mark with Paul Bialowicz of Redford Bishop Borgess, Mike White of Plymouth Salem and Jason Belaire of Livonia Churchill.)

But the man who eventually tipped the scales in CC's favor was McKeon.

"He'll run anything," Magni said. "He would have run the four-mile (6,400-meter) relay. He doesn't question anything. He knew where we needed him.

"He'll always do something to win for the team."

Farmington Hills Harrison's Justin Dreyer, after winning the 1,600 run earlier Saturday at the Farmington city meet, took first place in the same event at the Observerland Relays that evening. The Hawks scored 24 points and finished seventh with a limited team.

Superb pitching: Kelly Holmes tossed a three-hitter and struck out 19 in nine innings while leading Canton to a 2-1 win.

Rocks roast Spartans in Lakes win

Nirav Kher went the distance Thursday, pitching Plymouth Salem to an 11-2 baseball victory over host Livonia Stevenson.

Kher allowed only three hits and issued no walks. He had no strikeouts.

"He wasn't sharp at the beginning, but he settled down," Salem coach John Gravlin said. "He usually gets more strikeouts, but he didn't allow an earned run. You have to pleased with what he did."

Eric Stryker, Bryan Zarosely, Dave Knight and Jim Cunningham had two hits apiece in Salem's 12-hit output. Stryker also had three RBI and Zarosely was 4-for-4 in stolen bases.

Stevenson led 2-1 after two innings, but the Rocks got one more to tie in the fourth and scored nine more in the last three innings.

BASEBALL

The Spartans made five errors and Salem four. The Rocks are 2-2 in the Lakes Division and 8-9 overall.

CHURCHILL 2, CANTON 0: Mark Rutherford won a pitching duel with host Plymouth Canton's Craig Benedict Thursday in the Western Division game.

Both pitchers went the distance. Rutherford (4-0) struck out three, Benedict six. Both walked one batter apiece.

Livonia Churchill had five hits and the Chiefs four. The Chargers made one error, Canton two.

"It was a good high school baseball game," Churchill coach Herb Osterland said, adding it took less than two hours to complete.

"Mark was in control the whole game. He didn't throw that many pitches. In key situations, both teams made plays."

With Churchill leading 2-0, Canton threatened in the sixth inning. The Chiefs loaded the bases with an Adam Gilles double, a walk and an infield error. But the inning ended with a flyout.

Rutherford helped his cause with two hits and scored both Churchill runs. Gilles had two hits for Canton.

The Chiefs are 2-2 in the division and 9-8 overall. The Chargers are 3-1 and 7-2.

REDFORD CC 10-12, U-D 0-0: Redford Catholic Central has won nine of its last 10 games after sweeping the University of Detroit-Jesuit Thursday at Capitol Park.

The Shamrocks, who are 17-7 overall, moved into first place in the Catholic League Central Division with a 7-3 record. Both wins over U-D Jesuit were called after five innings because of the mercy rule.

Junior left-hander Dave Susalla improved to 3-2 as a starter with a two-hitter in Game 1. Susalla struck out two and walked none.

John Raasch came off the bench to deliver a pair of singles and one RBI for the Shamrocks. Jeff Gutt had a double, walk and one RBI.

Andy Kummer picked up the win in Game 2, throwing four innings of one-hit ball. Kummer also struck out five and walked two before Aaron Babicz threw one inning without allowing a hit and striking out two.

Brian Hicks hit a grand slam homer in the fourth inning and also delivered a fielder's choice RBI in the first for the Shamrocks. Babicz had a two-run homer and Juan Sanchez drove in a run with a triple.

Crusaders bow out in softball playoffs

The Madonna University women's softball team gave Northwood Institute all it could handle in Friday's NAIA District 23 playoff championship game before finally calling it a season.

Northwood scored two runs in the bottom of the fourth inning and held off a seventh-inning rally by Madonna to win the District 23 championship, 2-1, at Concordia College.

Madonna, which won two of its first three games in the double-elimination tournament, ended the season at 18-26 overall.

The Crusaders had just one error in the final loss, three in the last three tournament games.

"We've been playing over errors all year long," MU coach Dave Racer said. "We played very well in the tournament, and I'm very proud of them.

"Three errors in the last three games really made a difference, and we got great pitching from Dawn Terrasi. They're a running team, and we shut down their running game."

Terrasi, a junior, allowed seven hits, no walks and struck out one. Northwood scored its two runs with three straight hits (a single, double and single) with two outs in the fourth inning.

The Crusaders' only run came with two out in the seventh.

Michelle Birchmeier (Redford Thurston) began the rally with a walk. Lynda Weichel's single sent Birchmeier to third. Birchmeier came home after an error by Northwood's second baseman on a grounder by Hughana Wilkie.

Northwood ended the threat by striking out MU's leadoff hitter, Megan Armstong, with Weichel on second and Wilkie on first.

MU will lose two players, pitcher Kristen Wasil (Garden City) and Armstrong, to graduation.

"They were both team players," Racer said. "Megan's been with us three years and is a competitor. Kristen had a great attitude. It's going to be hard to replace that."

A tough start

The tournament started Thursday in a manner Racer had hoped to avoid. The Crusaders committed four errors, which led to six unearned runs, in an 8-4 loss to first-place Siena Heights.

Madonna scored a run in the second on Birchmeier's single, and got three in the fifth, two coming home on Kim Supron's

Canton threatened in the first and third innings with two runners each. Sarah Rowe was thrown out at the plate trying to steal home on another failed suicide squeeze attempt in the third.

With both teams trying to hit fast pitchers, batters on both sides tried to bunt their way on base a lot of times, and many of the strikeouts resulted from foul-tip bunts with two strikes (an automatic out).

"We still have a fairly young team, and I felt we couldn't get around on the ball," Hardwidge said. "I thought we'd work on timing a bit by squaring them around and getting the bat on the ball. Against (Holmes) you have to make things happen; you have to take chances."

"That way you force the other team to play the ball instead of just swinging and missing," Arnold said. "It forces the defense to make the play."

Churchill's only threat in regulation play came in the fourth when it had runners at second and third with one out. Holmes struck out the next two.

Jose had two hits, Fields the other. Rowe, Kate Strahan, Dani Mortiere and Holmes also had Canton hits.

"I think it was the finest game we've played this year," Arnold said, adding the Chargers are much improved. "We were a little slow at the beginning of the year, but we're finally catching on.

"They have a good ball team, and I think it's going to come down to them or us (in the division). This is a big boost for us. We haven't been playing that well, and we needed a game like this."

The teams play again May 19 at Canton and will more than likely meet in post-season tournament play, too. The Chiefs beat Churchill in a regional game last year, 7-1.

Hardwidge thought the same of her team's play Thursday, calling it "our best effort of the year. We haven't been real pleased in the last week, and today had to be nothing but a boost to our program.

"We are nothing but proud of these girls. We had a few scattered errors, but we came up with the big defensive play when we needed to."

The Rocks, 3-1 in the Lakes Division, took a 9-0 lead in the third inning and ended the game (mercy rule) by scoring four times in the bottom of the sixth.

Jenny Garvey struck out three and walked only one to earn the victory. Marie Wilson took the loss for the Spartans, 0-4 in the division and 1-10 overall.

Dawn Morrocco had two hits and Jenny Coleman one for Salem.

Melissa Blank paced the Stevenson attack by going three for three with one run and one RBI. Rachel Allor and Michelle Dreger each ripped two hits.

LADYWOOD 3-8, MERCY 0-1: The Blazers swept a pair of softball games from host Farmington Hills Mercy Friday behind consecutive one-hitters by Mary Jo Kelly.

The senior right-hander struck out eight and walked none in the opening game. Kelly (10-6) struck out eight and walked four in the nightcap.

The victories kept Ladywood atop the Central Division with an 8-0 record. The Blazers are 10-6-1 overall. Mercy fell to 1-7 in the division and 2-12 overall.

Mercy had the first chance to score in the first game. Erin Wiehe, who had Mercy's only hit, advanced to third but was thrown out at home by Kelly as she attempted to score on a delayed steal.

Melissa Campeau had two hits with an RBI. Lisa Rozum added a hit and knocked in one; Kelly ripped a triple and later scored.

Debbie Dziekan scattered five hits for the Marlins over seven innings while striking out three and walking three.

Ladywood broke open a scoreless second game in the fifth inning with an eight-run rally. The Blazers scored five runs with two outs.

Kelly and Campeau had a hit and two RBI each, and Jennifer Charnley and Christy Soter knocked in two runs apiece. Rozum scored twice in the fifth.

Mindy Mrsan failed to survive the fifth and was relieved by Dziekan.

Baseball, bowling help charity

10-PIN ALLEY

AL HARRISON

Baseball and Bowling got together last Wednesday at Thunderbowl in Allen Park for the Bowling Legends of Stroh's, hosted by Tiger radio broadcaster Ernie Harwell.

There were many other sports personalities on hand, as well as many media celebrities.

The purpose of the event was to raise money for the Ernie Harwell Foundation, which provides scholarships to Detroit-area high school students interested in careers in broadcasting or journalism.

The main event of the evening was a match between the Stroh's Legends and the local celebrities. The Stroh's team members included Ed Lubanski, Bob Strampe, Tony Lindemann, Bob Crawford and Jim Schroeder.

Older readers will have no trouble recognizing the legends as they were the dominant bowlers in the golden years when Pepsi cost a nickel, cars were judged by the size of the tail fins, and bowlers owned one good ball — either a Black Beauty, an Ebonite Gyro (or if you were up-to-date, you had a LT-48).

The cast of celebrities were headed by former Tigers Dave Rozema, Larry Herndon and Jim Northrup, Harwell, and his old partner, Paul Carey.

Willie Green, wide receiver for the Detroit Lions, was also on hand along with Budd Lynch, George Blaha, Dave Llewellyn, Bob Talbert, Michael Barr, Mark Andrews, Jim Berk, Charlie Vincent, Fred Heumann and Terry Jacoby.

The Stroh's team beat the celebrities in a game bowled using the Baker system. Afterward, spectators had the opportunity to bowl with the celebrities for a fee. There was also a sale of sports memorabilia which was used to raise money.

■ Bowl One Lanes in Troy, or the "House of Strike," will be the host site for the Pro Bowlers Tour U.S. Open in 1994 and 1995. This is one of three triple crown events on the PBA tour and will lure the top bowlers from the USA and other nations.

Bill Strike, the manager of Bowl One, was instrumental in landing this prestigious event.

Al Harrison's bowling column is seen weekly in the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers. To leave a message for Al, dial 953-1047 on a touch-tone phone, then mailbox number 1863.

Madonna divides baseball shutouts

■ BASEBALL

The Madonna University baseball team finished its regular season with a shutout and by being shut out Friday.

Shaun Hayward scattered three hits in the Crusaders' 2-0 victory over Wayne State. Hayward (5-0) struck out four and walked two while going the distance.

Rich Roy knocked in the first Madonna run with a RBI single in the first. Bill Terski added an insurance run with a RBI single in the sixth.

Madonna only managed three hits in its next game, a 9-0 loss to St. Xavier. Jeff Kugelman (5-2) surrendered six runs on nine hits in his five inning stint. Kugelman was the first of three Madonna pitchers.

On Thursday, Madonna swept a pair from Adrian. Rich Roy (1-1) was the winning pitcher in the Crusaders' 10-1 romp in the first game.

Roy, who allowed four hits, got plenty of help with an 11-hit Madonna attack.

Jim Solak ripped his ninth home run of the year and scored three times. Scott Anderson and T.C. Raptis added two hits and two runs each while Hayward had two hits and two RBI. Joe Brusseau chipped in with a hit and knocked in two runs.

Roy's two-run homer in the second game lifted Madonna to a 6-3 victory. Brusseau went 2-3 backing the pitching of Tad Dennis, who scattered nine hits.

Madonna opens the NAIA District 23 playoffs at noon Thursday against Tri-State University at Aquinas College. The Crusaders are the top seed.

After 11 years, 'Cheers' closes its doors

By Suzanne Gill

Sing "Auld Lang Syne" and shed a tear in your beer: After more than a decade, one of TV's brightest, warmest lights is about to fade away. Cheers takes its final bow Thursday, May 20, in a 90-minute closing episode preceded by a half-hour of reminiscences dubbed Last Call. The series was the last vestige of NBC's "best night of television on television" of the early- to mid-1980s, which included The Cosby Show and Hill Street Blues.

One of the longest-lived sitcoms of all time, Cheers grew more expensive to make with each passing season, as the ensemble cast earned ever-higher salaries. But despite rumors for each of the last three years that production costs were becoming prohibitive, it has returned to delight millions of devoted fans.

Yet to Rhea Perlman, a multiple Emmy winner as Carla the feisty barmaid and one of only four cast members who has been with the show since the beginning (the others are Ted Danson, George Wendt and John Ratzenberger), the biggest investment in Cheers came in its first season.

"From the beginning, the way the network handled the show made us feel special," Perlman said at a January reception held for the press at the Cheers set on Paramount's Hollywood lot.

"Even though we were way down in the ratings—way down, dead last—I think we always felt like we had a special show, NBC was constantly patting us on the back and saying, 'We're gonna stick with it.' It was a very positive feeling.

"What was really amazing to me," Perlman continued, "was that nobody ever did that again. They never took a show (that low in the ratings) and decided it was good and stuck with it."

But it wasn't money or lack of network commitment that finally ended Cheers' run. It was a decision by Danson to move on. With experience in feature films and TV movies including 3 Men and a Baby, Cousins and Something About Amelia, Danson decided to quit his day job—a move that sealed the fates of his fellow actors as well.

Still, the decision wasn't unilateral or sudden, says Perlman, who's also working on a feature film.

"We'd come in at the beginning of every year and say, 'What'da you think? Is this the last year?' And then we'd change our minds, each of us individually 50 million times, and we knew it wasn't our decision anyway.

Curtain descends on bar where "everybody knows your name"

"(Ted) cares about what we all individually want to do, but in the final analysis, he has to do what's best for himself. And then it's really up to the producers. The show can be whatever they want it to be."

Now, with the decision irrevocably made, what would Perlman want to take with her as a souvenier of the workplace she called hers through 11 years and three pregnancies?

"I would love to keep the apron, and all my earrings.

"And there's that hockey stick up there," she says, pointing to the set's side wall. "I ought to take that." It was given to Perlman on a trip the cast made to Boston.

Then, too, there's the life-size cigar store Indian standing by the door.

"Well, everybody wants to take Geronimo, but probably no one's going to take him."

Everybody, that is, except Ted Danson. In another corner of the bar, speaking to another hungry gaggle of reporters, Danson quietly said he wouldn't really miss the statue at all.

STAR NOTES

Lords credits acting with changing her life

By Dan Rice

With a stunning beauty and brassy wit reminiscent of Mamie Van Doren, Traci Lords exudes a tough form of glamour that has been missing from the screen since its heyday in the late '50s. Though it hasn't been easy, Lords is succeeding in putting her past as a teenage porn star behind her. The ABC miniseries Stephen King's The Tommyknockers,' airing Sunday and Monday, May 9 and 10, marks Lords' made-for-TV movie debut.

Lords claims it was acting that changed her life.

"Very much everything that happened to me as a teenager was a direct result of drug addiction," Lords explains. "When I started getting my life together as far as being substance-free, I started studying at the Lee Strasberg Institute as an outlet for emotional problems, and from that it really developed into an acting career."

FAMILY FARE

Oscar-winning film airs on HBO

By John Crook

Inclusion, the controversial practice of placing handicapped children in conventional classrooms, is the subject of Educating Peter, an Oscar-winning documentary premiering Wednesday, May 12, on HBO.

The half-hour program follows third-grader Peter Gwazdauskas, who has Down syndrome, during his first year at a Blacksburg, Va., school. Initially, his classmates are frightened of Peter, whose short attention span and occasional tantrums disrupt class. Then, teacher Martha Ann Stallings and special education instructor Kenna Colley decide to involve the children in the situation, by setting up "peer planning" sessions to discuss coping strategies.

Almost immediately, the children change their attitudes toward Peter, praising him for his small victories and responding to his transgressions with a quiet, "No, Peter, I don't like it when you do that." In turn, Peter starts responding to the raised expectations. Jill, one of Peter's classmates, says "Peter changed because we changed ... because we changed our minds about him. You think you're teaching Peter things, but really, Peter's teaching you."

Peter is now in fourth grade at the same school, where most of his behavioral problems have disappeared, according to Geraldine Wurzburg, producer-director of Educating Peter.

SOAP TALK

Sorel so good at playing bad

By Candace Havens

Dear Candace: Sometimes I get so angry with the character of Vivian on Days of Our Lives. She is so wicked. The actress who plays her is very talented, though: One minute she makes me want to kill her, and the next I feel sorry for her. What is the actress' name, and was she on Santa Barbara a long time ago? –S.H., Mich.

Dear Reader: You are very observant. Louise Sorel (Vivian, Days) is a very talented actress and is at her best playing a manipulative woman. There have been rumors that she was going to be let go from Days, but it looks like she will be around for a while longer. Her contract does not expire until February 1994.

Sorel portrayed Augusta Lockridge on and off for several years on the now-defunct SB.

Dear Candace: I absolutely love Joe Lando, who used to play Jake on One Life to Live. He is so gorgeous and sweet. I also enjoy watching him on Dr. Quinn, Medicine Woman. He and Jane Seymour look like they were made for one another.

A friend of mine told me Lando was leaving Dr. Quinn to go back into daytime on one of the soaps. Is this true? I thought he was great. I can't believe they would fire him. Please tell me what is going on. –Tammy, Trinity, Texas.

Dear Reader: Don't worry about Lando; he is doing quite well for himself. Your friend was partly right, however. Lando is returning to daytime for a role on Guiding Light, but only while his prime-time show, Dr. Quinn, is on hiatus. This gives you a chance to get a double dose of Lando, which should please you immensely.

Dear Candace: Who is the new actor who plays Eric's lawyer on The Bold and the Beautiful? I think the character's name is Steve Crown. He looks so familiar, but I just can't place him. Has he been on any other shows? –Mary Ann, Roseville, Calif.

Dear Reader: Perry Stephens portrays Steve Crown. Stephens was most recently seen as Jack Forbes, Stacey's husband, on Loving. The character Forbes was supposedly killed in a boating accident.

Send your comments to Candace Havens, Soap Talk, P.O. Box 961009, Fort Worth, Texas, 76161-1009.

BITS AND PIECES

Carson adds to his mantelpiece; De Niro signs on as a monster

Here, Johnny. On Monday, May 24, Johnny Carson will receive the 1993 Communication Award from the Center for Communication at its annual luncheon at New York City's Plaza Hotel. Ted Koppel will present the award. In receiving the honor, Carson joins an elite group that includes Katharine Graham and Grant Tinker.

Johnny Carson

"To a new world of gods and monsters." So toasted Dr. Polidori (Ernest Thesiger) in 1935's The Bride of Frankenstein. In that film, Boris Karloff reprised his 1931 portrayal of Dr. Frankenstein's long-suffering creation. Over the years, a number of actors, including Bela Lugosi, Christopher Lee, Bo Svenson and Michael Sarrazin, have followed in Karloff's heavy-booted footsteps with mixed results. Now, Oscar winner Robert De Niro will portray the monster in a new version of Frankenstein to be produced by Francis Ford Coppola's Zoetrope Studios. Kenneth Branagh (Henry V) will direct the film and star as Victor Frankenstein.

Get out that raincoat ... but don't press it. Production has started on ABC's Butterfly in Shades of Grey, Peter Falk's latest adventure as Lt. Columbo. In the film, scheduled to air next year, William Shatner guest stars as an arrogant radio talk-show host.

There's a riot goin' on. Kyle MacLachlan (Twin Peaks) and Samuel L. Jackson (Amos & Andrew) will star in HBO's dramatization of the 1971 riots at New York's Attica State Prison. John Frankenheimer will direct the as-yet-untitled film. In announcing the work, HBO's Robert Cooper says he became interested in the project after the L.A. riots. "Attica was another example," Cooper says, "of how easily a pressure cooker situation can get out of control."

She's ready, Mr. DeMille. Tony winner Glenn Close will star in Andrew Lloyd Webber's musical version of Sunset Boulevard, opening on Broadway Dec. 2.

TIME OUT

'Max Out' takes viewers to the extreme

By Michael Scogin

In an all-too-deliberate effort to reach out to a younger audience, ESPN last week launched Max Out, a new series featuring footage of "extreme sports" set to contemporary music. Max Out joins The Dream League on weekday afternoons.

Greg Lee (Where in the World is Carmen Sandiego?, NBA All-Star Stay in School Jam.) is host of the fast-paced half-hour. The show includes offbeat sports such as dirt skiing, sky surfing, wind surfing, snowboarding, skateboarding and the almost prerequisite bungee jumping, accented by a steady, pulsating backbeat of rock, jazz, rap and alternative music.

Sound suspiciously familiar? The show incorporates many of the visual styles that have become closely associated with MTV Sports, including unusual camera angles, quick edits and an overly excited host. Unfortunately, Lee, who performs admirably in Carmen Sandiego, comes across as sort of a less-hip, watered-down Dan Cortese, MTV Sports' popular host. The show itself is a poor man's version of the program on which it is obviously based.

Besides the "extreme sports", Max Out utilizes ESPN's vast videotape library for segments such as Best Knockouts, Hardest Hits and Stupid Mistakes, the show's blooper segment. Max Out also takes a cue from Hollywood, replaying some of the greatest stunts from action-adventure movies.

Friday on Showtime, Blair Brown is part of the impressive ensemble cast of Passed Away.

Sam McMurray plays disgruntled coach Jimmy Dugan in A League of Their Own, Saturdays on CBS.

Monday on ABC's Good Morning America, Joan Lunden reports from Australia's Gold Coast.

LET'S TALK

Reader listened to a story 'bout a man named Jed

By Taylor Michaels

Q: Recently I purchased an old picture, and at the close of the sale, it was mentioned that Uncle Jed from The Beverly Hillbillies had at one time owned it. I would have purchased the picture even if it hadn't been owned by him, but now I would like to verify the story. I was hoping that you might have an address to which I could write him. –Dennis Ray Jr., Clarkdale, Ariz.

A: You can write to actor Buddy Ebsen, who played Jed Clampett, in care of the Borinstein Oreck Bogart Agency, 8271 Melrose Ave., Suite 110, Los Angeles, Calif., 90046.

Q: I remember a TV Western starring Ty Hardin that ran in the 1960s, but I can't remember the name of it. Could you tell me? –J. Day, Waynesboro, Va.

A: Hardin was an unknown actor when Warner Bros. hired him to replace Clint Walker as the star of Cheyenne in 1958. (Walker had walked out on the show in protest of his contract's stringent requirements.) Rather than taking over the part of Cheyenne Bodie, Hardin created the role of Bronco Layne, an ex-Confederate Army captain who drifted across the West seeking adventure. Once Walker and the studio reached an agreement in 1959, Hardin's character continued on in the series Bronco, which ran until 1962.

Q: I watch WKRP every week, and I'm a big fan of French Stewart, who plays Razor D. I would like to know more about him and an address where I can write to him. –Emily Mills, Lufkin, Texas.

A: Stewart was born in New Mexico and attended West Texas State University and the American Academy of Dramatic Arts. The New WKRP in Cincinnati is his first television job. You can write to him in care of MTM Television Distribution, 4024 Radford Avenue, Studio City, Calif., 91604.

Q: Could you help me with the name of the movie about singers George Jones and Tammy Wynette when they were husband and wife? He gets to drinking and tearing up things in the house, and she hides the car keys, so he goes down the road to a bar on his riding lawn mower. –Rena Timmons, Heyburn, Idaho.

A: That picture is 1981's Stand By Your Man, a telefilm based on Tammy Wynette's autobiography. Annette O'Toole and Tim McIntire played the musical couple.

Q: We watch the show Bodies of Evidence on Friday evenings and were wondering if the actress who plays the lady detective was once on a daytime soap. I think she was married to Dr. John Dixon on the show. Who is she and what was her name on the show, if it was her? –Jim Wright, Carthage, Texas.

A: Kate McNeil, who plays Detective Nora Houghton on Bodies of Evidence, originated the role of Karen Dixon on CBS' As the World Turns in 1981.

Buddy Ebsen
of The Beverly Hillbillies

Q: I really enjoy the series Highlander. What is the title of the theme song, sung by Queen? –Rick Francis, Tualatin, Ore.

A: The song is titled "Prince of the Universe."

Q: What is the name of the actor who plays Wilson on Home Improvement? –Aaron Atkins, Forest Grove, Ore.

A: Wilson, the Taylors' neighbor who dispenses wisdom from behind the safety of the fence separating their yards, is played by actor Earl Hindman.

Q: Can you tell me the name of a movie starring Danny Glover as the superstitious friend of a family who has all kinds of problems when he comes to visit them? I recorded it but accidentally taped over it. –Kathryn Simmons, Sacramento, Calif.

A: That film is 1990's To Sleep With Anger. Good news: There's a copy available at your local video store that no one's taped over.
