Roundtable Club's fate in cour

The Roundtable Club has been an institution in the Plymouth community for more than 30 years. But because the Mayflower Hotel is in receivership, the plight of the club, which has 1,400 members, is up in

BY KEVIN BROWN

The Mayflower Hotel's owners and the receiver now running the financially troubled Plymouth landmark are in court over the fate of the hotel's Roundtable Club.

Both sides were scheduled to appear in Wayne County Circuit Court before Judge Paul Teranes at 9:15

a.m. today for a show cause hearing. On Monday, Teranes issued a restraining order preventing the receiver from closing the Roundtable Club in order to convert the room to banquet space.

"We're going to continue our efforts to restrain the receiver from terminating the Roundtable Club operations," said Randy Lorenz's attorney Bob Peurach.

Judge Teranes, he said, is scheduled to decide "whether or not it's in the best interest of the hotel and its creditors to have the Roundtable Club stay open.'

Lorenz criticized the effort to close the club. On Monday, he said, "The judge reminded the receiver we still own the Mayflower, Heritage (the mortgage holder) has not foreclosed

"Until they give us our redemption rights they can't do whatever they feel like doing," Lorenz said.

Mark Demorest, attorney for hotel receiver Ron Wilson, said, "The bottom line is the receiver has been charged with the responsibility of operating the hotel, increasing revenue and cutting costs.'

Demorest said the club is losing money. "They can actually make

Myers leaving district, but not the campaign

BY M.B. DILLON STAFF WRITER

If Ross Perot's campaign workers thought they had a lot to cope with, they ought to take a look at what's happening in the camp of the Rev. William Myers, a candidate for Plymouth-Canton school board.

Myers withdrew from the race Monday when a long-awaited pastor's post with an outstate Methodist church was offered to him. But on Wednesday, he changed his mind.

"I'm not dropping out of the race. I will campaign," he said, adding that his decision is based on reaction he's received from teachers, school employees, students and members of the community who are urging him not to

"It would have been easy to throw in the towel and say, 'I'm out of it.' But I will continue to campaign, I'll put up more signs, and I will be at the debate May 26.

Myers said he will find an alternate suitable to the schoolteachers and other employees to take his seat if he wins. If the alternate he recommends possibly Pat Liljestrand or Dennis

City manager gets 3-percent pay hike

City Manager Steve Walters is getting his first pay raise in two years, and some city commissioners say he should get more

But as the city commission approved a 3-per cent pay raise for Walters on Monday, two residents spoke against it and one commissioner voted against the raise. The commission approved the raise for Walters, to bring his annual salary from $66,000

Recommending the raise were commissioners Bill McAninch and Doug Miller, who served on a committee to explore a possible pay increase for the city manager.

McAninch surveyed 17 area cities roughly comparable to Plymouth, population 9,560, in population or per capita value. McAninch said that Walters salary "is compa rable to the median in the survey.' For example, in Farmington, population 10,000, the city manager gets $68,000 now and a 3-percent raise in July. In Clawson, population 14,000 but with a per-capita property value far below Plymouth, the city manager earns $72,235 and is getting an 8 percent pay raise in July.

In Northville, population 6,226, the city manager earns $58,000, the lowest of the cities sur-

In a recent performance review and again on Monday, commissioners praised Walters for bringing the budget under control, for putting in long hours and for his general performance in the two years he's been here.

"It is because we've had a person like Steve Walters that we've been able to take the bull by the horns and were able to save taxpayers money," said commissioner John Vos III.

Miller said, "What we're really doing here is not much of a raise adjusted for inflation, for two years he's been at that salary. I wish we were able to do more. Quite frankly, he is deserving."

Commissioners supporting the pay increase said that not raising Walters' pay would send him the wrong message. Mayor Robert Jones added that non-union city employees recently got a 3-percent raise.

But while Commissioner Dennis Shrewsbury also praised Walters' performance, he was the lone commissioner voting "no."

"I'm concerned with the message we give the citizens; we're going to lay somebody off but we're going to give somebody else a raise," Shrewsbury said, referring to recent layoffs of three city employees

Two residents, Jean Morrow and Sandra Kosky, spoke against the raise. Morrow said some residents "can't repair their porches because they don't have the funds. I think the timing is very poor. When Kosky said Walters' salary seemed high, McAninch responded, "That was an impression that I had at one time," adding his impression

"is not supported by the (survey) data." Walter's raise is scheduled to take effect July vandalism of a vacated church building at 670 Church Street

Mettetal committee finishes report

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI

Michigan Department of Transportation Director Pat Nowak has a 10-page report from the Mettetal Airport Study Committee on his desk

'It is sitting in front of me in Fed Ex envelope," Nowak said Tuesday afternoon, about 24 hours after the committee's May 17 deadline "I haven't read it

But Nowak, who in March said he would hold off on the possible purchase of Mettetal Airport in Canton until a citizen committee provided a summary of concerns, plans to read the re-

'We will consider carefully what is in there," Nowak continued, adding if he finds the need, he will talk with interested parties to get a good idea of how the Canton and Plymouth communities and the aviation community feel about the proposed purchase.

That would suit local officials and committee members just

We have tried to highlight our issues to the state.

> Bryan Amann co-chairman, Mettetal Airport Study Committee

Amann, Wayne County com missioner There is no way anyone in the state can say, "We didn't know about (this or) that 'We have tried to highlight our issues to the state."

During five meetings since the group first met in April committee members drew up a series of concerns, including proand con arguments, for Nowak and others who are involved in the possible state purchase of the local airport.

The report, however, contains no recommendations. "Our charge was relatively limited," said committee co-chairman Bruce Patterson. Other committee members were Barbara Bergenty, Mark Merlanti, Margaret Slezak and John Vergonna.

The report summarizes con cerns about the proposed purchase, including the economic impact on the community, ownership, control and possible expansion, safety issues, impact on surrounding airports, and how purchase would affect the community's quality of life.

Although the committee asked for an extension of the May 17 deadline for the report, Nowak apparently wouldn't hear of it. Bill Gehman, director of the Michigan Bureau of Aeronautics, was unavailable for Nowak said he doesn't have any deadline - other than a self-imposed one - for the conclusion of the Mettetal issue. But he won't rush it if there's more to consider. "We'll do it as reasonably fast as we can, consistent with doing it right.

Canton Township Supervisor Tom Yack hopes he doesn't hear about Mettetal's purchase through anyone but Nowak. "I would hope he would pick up the phone and let us know. It's hard to say what will happen next. I would use the opportunity to say to him that if they move in the direction of approval we would like these issues raised by the committee in the grant application.

Under the state proposal, the Federal Aviation Administra tion would pay 90 percent of the purchase cost and the state the rest. The state would then either get a local government or private contractor to manage it.

Amann said he expects the decision to buy will involve Gov John Engler. The hope is that the committee's major concerns, such as runway length, operations, and number of aircraft housed at Mettetal, will be included in the grant application for the purchase.

"I don't think there is any thing such as overkill on something like this," Amann said. We are trying to figure out how to hold people responsible. We want to be able to hold someone accountable (for what happens if the airport is purchased) Amann said he is satisfied that the six-member committee heard citizens' concerns "We have provided residents with ample opportunity to make the state aware of their concerns. This may be the last chance for the state to review our concerns before they make a decision.

Development teaching criticized by parents, defended by schools their questions about "developmentally appropriate .. skills practices" being used in Plymouth-Canton elementary schools, a group of parents got their wish Monday night. The school board held a workshop on the subject.

But before parents were given the opportunity to tell board members their kids aren't learning the basics, they listened to an 80-minute presentation, slide show and video on developmental education given by Michael Homes, assistant superintendent for instruction. Vincent Lizzio, a Plymouth Township parent and communications adviser for a Fortune 500 company, described the meeting as "upside down. 'I was under the impression that what we had was a customer-driven school board," he said. "It's after 10 p.m., and customers have yet to be heard from. You aren't listening to parents. Anytime a parent has to file a Freedom of Information request to get information on the school system, something is wrong. You have to address the criticism. It's not going to go away.

Developmental defended

In his presentation entitled, "Childhood Should Be a Journey, not a Race," Homes said the developmental system "meets children where they are and takes them as far as they can go." It takes into account students' differing experiences, maturity rates, needs, interests, and learning styles, he said.

No longer is every kid expected to perform the same way on the same day. Homes acknowledged that "we have a long way to go to get a handle on what our students are learning and how we can document that.

Parents concerned

With her husband, Jim, Sue Mills of Plymouth Township started a newspaper to address parents' concerns. "My fourth grader can't phonetically sound out a word," she said.

Mills said she was advised to have her child tested for learning disabilities. "I did, and the only thing Frustrated with their inability to get answers to they found was that my child had no word-attack

Mills said she gets calls nightly from Plymouth-Canton teachers who share her concerns. "They can't identify themselves because the schools are run by such a dictatorship," she said. Patsy Stevens of Plymouth Township said parents feel like their kids are guinea pigs. "The system has to change," she said. Joan Erickson of Plymouth said she's not out to condemn the program. "I asked three years ago how the program was evaluated. You've told us you couldn't talk to us until you had your presentation ready. The board has to start communicating. Parents are upset. Teresa Pietraz of Plymouth Township said she. too, was told to have her child tested for a learning disability. "I did. After hours of tests, I was told my child doesn't have any problem phonics couldn't Pietraz said she thought she'd found the school district of her dreams when she moved here, but every day has been a living nightmare, with my child in tears. Why should a child have to go through this to get what is fundamentally theirs? I think it's pathetic.

'How do you feel?'

Jim Mills said developmental education is defined as "how you feel about how children learn. Our administration has taken that to mean kindergartners can't learn the alphabet, so you take it down. Phonics and worksheets you can't use. Teachers have fewer tools to work with.

The system was designed for class sizes of 12-15. Plymouth-Canton elementary classes average 32 students, he said. "We have more children than ever falling through the cracks," he added. "We had 314 fourth graders this year who failed the MEAP reading test. That means they are functionally illiterate And those numbers are increasing every year

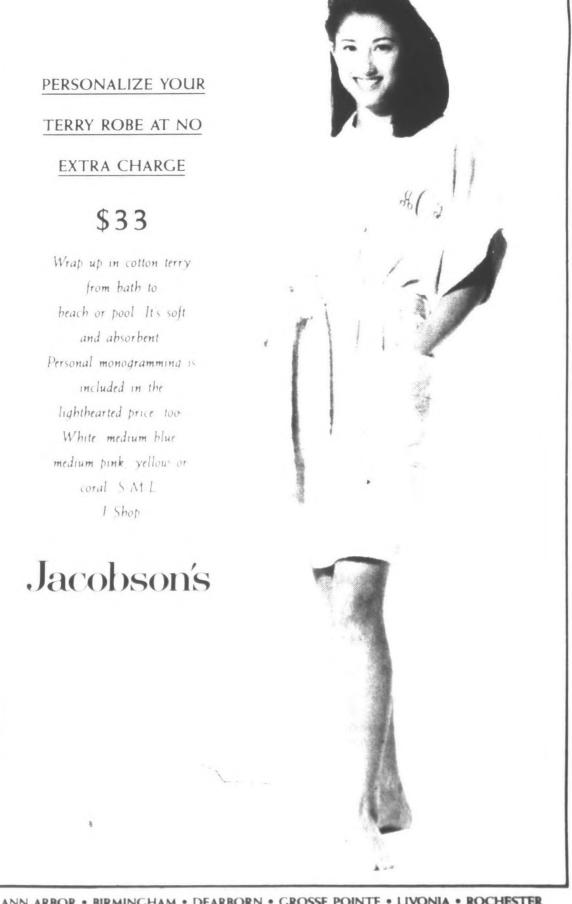

"England used this for 30 years and scrapped it in 1992," Mills said.

'It's a fine institution that belongs in this community and belongs in that hotel," Lorenz said. The club has 1,400 members.

They were recently billed the annual $150 membership fee.

In December, the hotel, which had earlier filed for Chapter 11 bankruptcy protection, was put into receivership as the hotel owners were having trouble pay ing $1.5 million in debts.

that they've been lied to about the recent teacher contract, he said. They were told only teachers got a 3-percent raise, when it went through the whole district.'

Maryann Ligato-Freydl, executive director of the Michigan Education Association, which endorsed Myers, said she's heard about the possibility of a school board recall.

"There are people in the community who are talking about it." she said, adding that she wouldn't speculate as to whether the union would join a recall effort, should one materialize.

At a meeting late Wednesday, the union withdrew its endorsement of Myers, since he cannot serve his term if elected. A recommended candidate of Myers' choice would have to be screened before receiving the union's endorsement

The union endorsed Myers based on his support of employees, and his recognition of the need for change and effective communication. They are stands on issues the union doesn't see incumbent Dave Artley making, Ligato-Frevdl said.

Pastor at Canton's Faith Community Church from 1986 to 1992, Myers is one of five candidates vying for a four-year term in the June 14 election. Besides Artley, the other candidates are Robert Burger of Plymouth, and Canton residents Steve Kilijanczyk and Terry Chuhran.

Moving to new church

Myers is moving to Muskegon to take the helm at Lakeside United Methodist Church. His children will enter a "wonderful school district in a community very much like what we have here. This is really hard on my kids. Rob is up to be a drum major and could almost taste another national championship," he said.

Myers' son will be a senior. His daughter Sarah, 15, also attends Plymouth-Canton Educational Park. She plays flute in the marching band.

"It was clear I had to go, but

Myers said teachers have told him he's "'the kind of candidate we've been dreaming about for years; someone who understands the issues across the board and someone who is open and honest.' The teachers almost were making me out to feel like a savior," he

'This has truly been a venture of faith, but at the same time, it seems like it's been an exercise in stupidity," said Myers.

Senate OKs tougher liquor bill

BY TIM RICHARD STAFF WRITER

Liquor dealers who sell to minors couldn't be prosecuted unless their young buyers also are prosecuted, under a controversial bill in Lansing.

Both parties in the state Senate were deeply divided as they approved tougher penalties under the Liquor Control Act.

"The bill is a shield for retailers," objected Sen. Virgil Smith, D-Detroit, an opponent. He said sponsor Gil DiNello, R-Macomb County, "was pimping for licensees and retailers.

"It seriously limits the Liquor Control Commission," added Sen. William Van Regenmorter, R-Jenison. "The requirement for contemporaneous prosecution (of both seller and buyer) seriously handicaps prosecutors.

The Senate passed SB 482 on a vote of 21 yes and 13 no with four absent. Here's how local members

- Mat Dunaskiss, R-Lake Orion, Robert Geake, R-Northville, and George Z. Hart, D-Dearborn. NO - Michael Bouchard, R-

Birmingham, William Faust, D-Westland, and Jack Faxon, D-Farmington Hills. ABSENT - David Honigman,

R-West Bloomfield. The bill goes to the House. Ex-cops opposed

Bouchard, a former police officer, was joined by Jon Cisky, R-Saginaw, a former sheriff, and Van Regenmorter, a former prosecutor, in opposing the bill.

"Law enforcement officers don't like this bill," said Bouchard. He compared it to a traffic officer stopping someone for speeding and be required to issue a ticket.

"The unintended consequence," Bouchard said, "will be to keep police from enforcing this

"We are trying to curtail minors from even thinking of purchasing alcohol," said DiNello.

He said separating prosecution of dealers and minor buyers "removes the aura of penalty that the minor won't be afraid of. They (underage drinkers) are going to have a field day.

"Some people here who are soft on crime want to nail the businessman," said DiNello, who added the bill was supported by restaurants, package (bottle) dealers and licensed beverage associa-

The Senate shot down a Cisky amendment that would have allowed police officers to cut deals with minors - act as undercover agents for police.

"This is the real world," said

III 'It seriously limits the Liquor Control Commission. The requirement for contemporaneous prosecution (of both seller and buyer) seriously handicaps prosecutors.'

Sen. William Van Regenmorter

Cisky. "You're hammering the discretion of the police officer in a misdemeanor case.'

But GOP floor leader Phil Arthurhultz of Whitehall opposed his fellow Republican. "Suppose a kid buys alcohol and is ap-prehended. The police officer says, 'I could prosecute you, but now I'll let you off if you agree to become a squealer.' I don't think that's right. What we have is a judge and jury on the street. There's no option for the kid. That decision ought to be made in court," said Arthurhultz.

Cisky's amendment was rejected in an unrecorded vote.

Sponsor DiNello and Sen. Lana Pollack, D-Ann Arbor, got into a bruising oral exchange.

Pollack offered an amendment that would require police to seek consent of the parents to use their under-18 child in a sting opera-

"It's a little incongruous," said DiNello, "that (Pollack) wants parental consent on this and not on abortion. You've always denied use of parental involvement."

Pollack, the Senate's most vocal opponent of the parental consent for abortion law, called Di-Nellos' remark "insulting." She called the parental consent for an abortion "reproductive enslavement. Even a 12-year-old should have the right to say 'I don't want, to become a mother

Here are the bill's other basic provisions:

A minor who bought, possessed, consumed or transported liquor could be fined at least $100 but not more than $500 and ordered to perform community service, participate in substance abuse services and be subject to a driver's license suspension.

An adult furnishing liquor to a minor must be fined $1,000 and could be jailed for 60 days and ordered to perform community service. If consumption were a cause of the minor's death, the adult could get 15 years in prison and be fined $5,000. If furnishing led to an injury accident, the adult could be imprisoned five years and fined $2,500.

A retail licensee who sells to a minor could be jailed for six months and fined up to $500.

SC spring classes focus on delegating, finance, health

Schoolcraft College is accepting registrations for the following courses that begin May 24-29:

■ How to delegate effectively: Learn to increase your productivity by doing less while managing more. Techniques covered include choosing the right person for the task, establishing priorities and deadlines, and avoiding the pitfalls of delegation. The five-week course will meet 7-10:10 p.m. Mondays beginning May 24. Fee

Help to locate senior in need

The focus during May which is Older Americans Month will be the Eldercare Locator, the nationwide toll-free hotline that informs persons of community resources available for senior citizens based on where they live.

The Office of Services to the Aging, in cooperation with the local Area Agencies on Aging, is pursuing a campaign which highlights the Eldercare Locator by distributing a television public service announcement to television stations across the state calling attention to the toll-free service, and making available informational materials.

During the first quarter of 1993, Michigan callers made 5 percent of the 26,969 calls to the Eldercare Locator. Referrals totaled 74,280. By category, the type of questions asked were General Aging, 61 percent; Legal Services, 7 percent; and Transportation, 8 percent. Sources from which people learned of the 1-800 number were Print Media, 51 percent; Television, 14 percent; AARP, 6 percent; State Units on Aging/ Area Agencies on Aging, 5 percent: Brochure/Other Hotline, 4 percent.

Persons using the Eldercare Locator should call 1-800-677-1116. Have the location of the older adult by either county, city or zip code available. A brief description of the problem or type of assistance needed is also requested. The toll free number is available weekdays from 9 a.m. to 8

The Eldercare Locator is a collaborative effort of the U.S. Administration on Aging, the National Association of Area Agencies on Aging and the National Association of State Units on Ag-

SC seminar will explain new leave law

Schoolcraft Community College Continuing Education Services and the law firm of Hill Lewis will present an overview of the Family Leave and Medical Act on Friday, June 18, at the Novi Hilton. The conference is aimed at business owners, business managers. human resource professionals and school and college administrators. In addition to the Medical Leave Act, updates on the Americans with Disabilities Act, sexual harassment, and at will employment will be discussed.

Federal legislation, state laws and a multitude of court decisions have affected most Michigan employers. This intensive half-day seminar will overview recent landmark legislation and give management the practical nuts and bolts tools they need to deal effectively with the challenges and changes in labor and employment law that are currently taking place.

The focus of this workshop will be on the Family Leave and Medical Act which takes effect on August 5, 1993, and is applicable to employers with 50 or more employees. Other employment law updates will include preparing for the act, understanding and working with the disabilities act, recognizing and investigating claims of sexual harassment and implementing an effective at will poli-

Attorneys at Hill Lewis have been involved in the labor and employment area for most of its 100 year history. The groups members regularly provide educational presentations to employers aimed at reducing risk and exposure in the employment area.

The conference takes place from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. The $50 cost includes materials and refreshments. The Novi Hilton is at Haggerty and Eight Mile roads.

For more information, call hoolcraft's continuing education services at 462-4448.

■ Introduction to record keeping: Learn what makes up good record keeping, what is needed, and how this information can be used. Topics include: why records are required, sales journals, purchase journals, expenses of the business, labor records, cash handling and financial statements. The course meets 7-10 p.m. Monday, May 24, and Wednesday, May 26. Fee is $34.

Massage for better health: Learn basic principles and techniques of massage for deeper re-laxation to feel great and soothe the tensions and pains in your body. Professional demonstrations will be followed by hands-on practice. The course meets 7-10 p.m. Monday, May 24. Fee is $21.

Buying and selling your own home: Gain valuable money-saving techniques by learning how to buy or sell at the best price, how to inspect property and how to market your real estate. Under-involved, qualifying, bargaining, costs and expenses, tax effects and more. The six-week course meets 8-10 p.m. Tuesdays beginning May 25. Fee is $76.

Wills & estates: Learn and understand the legal tax and probate problems at death. Lecture topics include probate court proceedings, will contests, claims against the estate, incapacitated people, power of attorney, small estates and acting as a personal repre-sentative/administrator of an estate. The six-week course meets 6:30-8:30 p.m. Thursdays beginning May 27. Fee is $31.

Market fundamentals: Learn about portfolio diversification, levels of risk and investment alternatives. Discussion will center around stocks, mutual funds and selecting the best performers for individual situations. The course meets 6-10 p.m. Thursday, May 27. Fee is $28.

This course will introduce the concepts and techniques of statistical process control. Prevention vs. detection and interpretation of data for types and control in the manufacturing industry will be discussed. This course is valuable for machine operators, supervisors, engineers and managers. The four-week course meets 8 a.m. to noon on Saturdays beginning May 29. Fee is $210. Call 462-4448.

Volunteers needed for June 5 Rouge River cleanup

Once again, the Friends of the Rouge are preparing to clean up Wayne County's premier river.

This year's cleanup is scheduled for Saturday, June 5, and volunteers will congregate at several sites. These locations have not been determined yet, but volunteers may call local coordinators to arrange to help.

■ In Plymouth and Canton Townships, call Charles VanVleck at 453-3840, Ext. 221.

In Livonia, call Sharon Sabat

■ In the city of Plymouth, call. Jim Penn at 453-1234, Ext. 229. ■ In Westland and Garden City, call Jay Gilbert at 595-0288. In Redford Township, call

Karen Hicks at 534-0605. The Friends are also planning to do more than just pull old tires out of the river this year.

They'll be: ■ Building and placing nesting boxes for small birds, wood ducks and other creatures such as bats.

Planting trees, shrubs and grasses.

Stenciling storm drains with warnings against dumping toxic stuff into drains that flow into the

Removing graffiti from bridges and paved river banks.

Building steps and repairing

More than 16,500 volunteers have participated in the seven previous Rouge cleanups, remov-ing 22,000 cubic yards of debris and clearing 550 log jams.

Senate bill toughens penalty for HIV rapist

BY TIM RICHARD STAFF WRITER

A rapist with AIDS could get an additional three years in prison on top of the rape sentence under a state Senate-passed bill.

The bill by Sen. Michael Bouchard, R-Birmingnam, would apply to all sex offenders who either have the acquired immunodeficiency syndrome or have tested positive for the HIV virus.

Senators approved it 33 to 0 and sent it to the House, but not after a battle over an amendment by Sen. Jack Faxon, D-Farmington Hills. Faxon sought to limit the punishment to offenders who actually transmitted the HIV infection to their victims.

No, said Bouchard. "We have similar laws on felony firearms. If you use a gun in a crime, you're guilty of a separate felony, even if the gun isn't fired," said the former police officer.

Sen. William Van Regenmorter, R-Jenison, who chairs the Judiciary Committee that reported out Bouchard's bill, called Faxon's amendment "utterly ridiculous. The point is to deter a person with HIV from committing this crime."

"Rape is rape," said Sen. Lana Pollack, D-Ann Arbor, opposing Faxon's amendment. "Any enhanced penalty you can put en a rapist is not enough, as far as I'm concerned."

Faxon's amendment went down on a 5 to 21 vote. No area senators supported it.

The Senate passed another Bouchard bill, this one to bring emergency medical technicians under the Good Samaritan Act in sports emergencies.

EMT personnel could not be sued except for gross negligence when acting as volunteers at school and charitable sports events

"This was requested by handicapper groups," said Bouchard.
"They were having trouble getting volunteers for Special Olympics."

Republicans, on a party-line vote, expanded Bouchard's bill to cover emergency medical technicians in any Good Samaritan situation, not just amateur sports.

The amendment passed 21 to 10, but Bouchard later asked for reconsideration and withdrew the amendment.

"I see a disturbing trend on the other side of the aisle," said Democrat Virgil Smith of Detroit as he opposed the amendment. "They (Republicans) bring the soft stuff (Special Olympics exception) to us in (the Judiciary), committee and try to make substantive amendments on the floor.

"Send this back to committee." We had no testimony on this point. We need to hear from the affected interest groups," said

Democrats argued that Republicans systematically have attempted to ease liability rules for medical care providers, limiting chances to sue from patients who are harmed.

Bouchard's bill won 35 to 0 approval with all area members supporting it except the absent David Honigman, R-West Bloomfield.

Take The Next Step At Wayne State University.

If you are ready to take that next step toward earning your four-year degree, we are ready for you.

Last year approximately 5,000 students transferred to WSU from some 500 community colleges and four-year schools across the country. They are taking classes at our main campus in the University Cultural Center in Detroit or on one of our satellite campuses while others go to our University Center at Macomb Community College.

Some of the reasons students come to Wayne State:

- · Strength of our academic programs — international reputation
- Cost the only Michigan public university with a negative increase in tuition costs over the past decade based on inflation
- Financial aid During 1991-92 WSU awarded $50 million in aid to students

So go ahead and take the next step. Simply clip and mail the attached coupon and we will send you more information about transferring to Wayne State.

Students size up board candidates

■ The Plymouth Canton school board election isn't until June 14, but students at Plymouth Canton High School were casting their ballots last week in a mock election.

BY M.B. DILLON STAFF WRITER

Candidates for Plymouth-Canton school board squared off at a forum hosted by Close Up students at Plymouth Canton High School last week. The students later voted in a mock election.

Close Up is a government class that stresses hands-on learning and sponsors an annual trip to Washington, D.C.

With partial results counted, the Rev. Bill Myers had it with 110 votes. Runner-up was incumbent Dave Artley, followed by Steve Kilijanczyk with 11 votes, and Terry Chuhran with seven votes. Candidate Robert Burger couldn't be present due to health problems. Kilijanczyk was called away on a family emergency and was on hand for just part of the Fireworks flew as the candidates addressed their last class of the day. Word reached Myers that Artley was telling students that he was betraying a friendship by running against Artley. The two are friends, and Myers has campaigned in the past for Art-

Myers said he decided to run because Artley wouldn't agree to press for Superintendent John Hoben's retirement. In addition, the board wasn't pressing hard enough for passage of the 4-mill request to appear on the June 14 ballot.

"I'm running because 15,000 kids are important to me; more important than a friendship," said Myers, adding that he used to be Artley's pastor.

"People on the school board are living in an ivory tower. People in Canton are saying that isn't right," added

"It is past time for us to have a new school superintendent in this school district," said Myers. "He has done incredible things in this school district, it's just time. Dr. Hoben needs to move on."

Artley was asked a question about cuts projected for next year in alternative education. He said he's talked numerous times with kids and "I understand what the program does. I'm not happy about making cuts, but we have to make some tough choices."

His choice was to delay the opening of the two new elementaries before cutting programs, Artley said. "I don't think it's the right decision," he said.

"You have to realize that programs don't have to be cut if the 4 mills passes," said Chuhran. "We don't want our district to become like other school districts where one third of kids carry guns."

Myers said it's terribly unfair, but "those decisions for the most part were made in Lansing."

The responses didn't satisfy everyone. "Why can't you keep alternative education? So many people say the groups help them; they say they're alive today because of this group."

"If we don't have the 4 mills, you are not going to want to attend the schools. It's more important to pass the 4 mills than to work on any of our campaigns," Artley said, adding that students concerned about alternative ed cuts should attend school board meetings. "I'm just one of seven board members."

Chuhran suggested returning ninth-graders to the middle schools to address the overcrowding problem at the park. He also suggested expanding the advanced placement program and allowing high school students to take classes at community colleges to earn college credit.

Myers said the district needs to address its problems in the areas of communication, attitude and leadership. "I think our present leadership and administration are doing a very poor job of communi-

There needs to be a change in attitude from the top down and a realization that "people are more important than money, and that relates to the superintendent," Myers said. Student Jamie Wolff asked why

TVs are being placed in clasrooms when "we can't even have the classes we want. Why should we be watching morning announcements on TV?"

Artley explained that schools are financed out of two pockets; bond monies and operational monies which can't be comingled.

Another student said taxpaying parents and students should receive more and the teachers less. "You give the teachers 7 percent raises, but you can't let students have their programs. You have to look at students and programs first."

least two species of birds. I did not know what they were, but being aware of them would allow me to evaluate any major trends.

Recently a patron brought in a large insect that they had captured near their garage. When it flew, they could not help but notice it because it was so big. Even before they brought it in to the nature center, my colleagues and I suspected that it was a giant water bug, just from the description of its size.

As we separated the grass, which was covering the caged insect, we immediately had our suspicions realized. There sat a giant water bug that measured about 21/2 inches long and about one inch wide. These patrons had become aware of a giant water bug in much the same way I did many

Though giant water bugs spent much of their time under water, individuals disperse by flying from pond to pond. The one I saw flew onto a car that several people were gathered around. Many giant water bugs are attracted to lights and are sometimes called electric light bugs.

These large insects have a strong beak that is used for piercing their prey so do not pick one up casually, they can bite and cause a painful wound. Underwater they prey on many types of animals - other aquatic insects, tadpoles, small frogs, snails and even small fish. Some people nickname them fish killers.

Another nickname is toe biter. Evidently people who dangle their toes in the water may have had a giant water bug attack it, mistaking the toe for a frog or fish. Efficient predators like the giant water bug can also become food for many larger predatory fish looking for a tasty tidbit.

Some giant water bugs lay their eggs on submerged vegetation, but some species have a very different place to lay their eggs. Females in the genus Belostoma and Abedus lay their eggs on the back of the male. Males not only

Oakland beats Wayne in fight over road repair funding

BY TIM RICHARD STAFF WRITER

Rick Fessler, now back at law practice in Oakland County, should be pleased with his suc-cessors in the state Senate.

In 1987 Sen. Fessler, R-Union Lake, chaired the committee that put Oakland's name on a pot of highway money - $107 million since then.

"And Dan Murphy (former county executive) said I never did anything for Oakland," Fessler said in a recent interview.

Last week three current Oakland Republican senators beat down a concerted attempt by neighboring Wayne and Macomb counties to change the formula in their favor. Under it, Oakland got 40 percent of so-called Category C funds, because its road network was greatly affected by new office and industrial growth.

"It was purely a power play by Ed McNamara (Wayne County executive)," said Sen. Mat Dunaskiss, R-Lake Orion. "He had at least eight lobbyists. He really had a crew up here."

Dunaskiss was aided by Sens. Michael Bouchard, R-Birmingham, and David Honigman, R-West Bloomfield, in turning back the Wayne-Macomb effort to cut Oakland's share from 40 percent to 32, a projected loss of $2 million a year.

That effort — led by Sens. George Z. Hart, D-Dearborn, and aided by Chris Dingell, D-Trenton, and Robert Geake, R-Northville - would have raised Wayne's share from 16 to 20 percent and Macomb's from 20 to 24 percent. Genesee and Kent counties would have continued to get 12 percent.

The total pot is expected to be worth $23.2 million a year over the next five years.

"Oakland is the fastest growing. That's where the need is,' Dunaskiss told the Senate. "The counties agreed upon the formula (in 1987). Now Wayne County, in a display of pure political greed, wants the giant's share of the

"Now you're changing the rules in mid-stream," agreed Bouchard. You (want to) throw the rationale to the wind." He quoted a University of Michigan economists' study that said "Oakland will continue to be a major force propelling Michigan into the 21st century.'

"C was for congested roads," Bouchard said.

"Oakland has 58 percent of the congested road miles in Michigan, and Oakland agreed to accept only 40 percent of the money, said Honigman, who won Fes-sler's Senate seat in 1990. "On the merits, we should retain the present formula.

Bringing the pork

"This was created some seven or eight years ago when Oakland needed that money," countered Hart, whose district includes Garden City.

Hart and Dingell argued that Wayne, with 2.3 million people, deserved more help on its infrastructure than Oakland with 1.1 million.

Not so, said the Oakland senators. "Qakland has 900 more miles of local roads (than Wayne)," said Dunaskiss.

"Wayne is losing population. Those people are fleeing to Oakland," added Honigman.

Hart had won the change benefitting Wayne and Macomb in committee, but the Senate adopted Dunaskiss' amendment restoring the formula on a 23 to 14 unrecorded roll call vote.

With professional admiration, Sen. Doug Carl, R-Utica, Fessler's successor as committee chair, said, "I commend Fessler and (former Sen. Doug) Cruce for doing a masterful job of getting Rejected Detroit's effort to lopork for their districts."

Davison out

Before sending the transportation funding bill to the House, the Senate also:

Stripped out Hart's amendment to have the state take over the Davison Freeway, now maintained by Wayne County. The mid-Detroit freeway connects the Lodge (US-10) and Chrysler (I-75) freeways. An outstate senator complained that the Davison contains five chemically contaminated sites that would drain the state to clean up. (Fessler said in the interview that the Davison, one of the nation's oldest freeways, should have been maintained by the state long ago.)

■ Told Wayne County to use half its share of category C money to maintain county roads in Detroit.

cate a railroad tunnel to Canada at Detroit rather than Port Huron, where Grand Trunk Western Railway intends to build. "There will not be a tunnel in De-troit," said Sen. Dan DeGrow, R-Port Huron. "It's foolish of Detroit to fight or there will be no tunnel at all. Grand Trunk made a decision, with their money, to build it in Port Huron."

Then the Senate gave the bill 27-9 approval. All area senators voted yes except William Faust, D-Westland, who was absent.

More for all

Despite the tug-of-war over percentage shares, all counties will get more category C money in the next five years. Reason: new federal transportation funds authorized in the dying days of the Bush Administration.

NO POLES - IT ROLLS

MANUFACTURERS OF ROLLING SHUTTER SYSTEMS

Oakland lobbyist Carmen Tal-bot said, "Everybody wants more (money) and so they want to take it from us. It's a power struggle. Wayne County is testing the new leadership in Oakland County."

Wayne's loss of state funding for the Davison freeway was also a bitter blow. One of the first freeways in the country, the Davison was built 50 years ago by the Wayne County Road Commission and has always been a county responsibility.

Since it has no shoulders, the Davison has caused Wayne County no end of headaches in lawsuits resulting from accidents. "That thing is a dinosaur," said Wayne County commissioner Bryan Amann, D-Wayne. "We get a law-suit every year. We've settled eve-ry one of them (out of court) because we have no defense."

Vote 'No' on A

Flaws must scuttle tax plan

The massive school finance reform constitutional amendment has too many serious flaws. Therefore we urge a "No" vote to Proposal A on the June 2 state ballot. Here's why.

Property tax cuts are too small. Proposal A was designed by legislators to benefit 70 percent and soak 30 percent, mostly the metropolitan

While much of the state gets school operating rate cuts of 14 to 20 mills, the area served by Observer & Eccentric Newspapers gets little. The accompanying chart demonstrates the paltry benefits to people who have been some of the hardest hit by property taxes.

A few suburban districts would be winners -Wayne-Westland 20 mills, Garden City 17.6, Redford Union 17.5. Others would benefit somewhat - Plymouth-Canton 14, South Redford 11, Clarenceville 14.4.

But the overall pattern is bad. Consider the home counties of the three chief legislative sponsors: Livingston gets cuts of 16 to 20 mills, St. Joseph 11 to 19 mills, and Hillsdale 14 to 20 mills. Those sponsors thought in terms of self interest. We suggest our readers do the same.

The tax shift would hurt many. Proposal A would raise sales and use taxes 50 percent. On balance, many, if not most, homeowners in suburban districts would pay more taxes. The harm is compounded by the lack of deductibility of the sales tax for federal income tax purposes.

Senior citizens would get little or no benefit. What little property tax cut they get would reduce their "circuit breaker" income tax rebates. And they'd be stuck with higher sales taxes be-

Renters would pay higher sales taxes, but unknown is whether landlords would reduce rent to reflect lower property taxes. Renters have reason to doubt they would see any cut at all.

The assessment cap will be a public relations disaster in 10 years. Sure, assessments are capped at the rate of inflation or 5 percent. But when a property is sold, it's reassessed to half the market value. Neighbors with the same size homes will be paying radically different property tax bills due only to the fact that one family just moved in while the other has been there for some years.

Young couples, people with growing families, mobile people who seek new opportunities these will all be punished by Proposal A. If those categories include you or your children, vote no.

: City taxes shouldn't be overlooked. Propetty taxes to cities would be capped, and there's Urban sprawl is the paving of greenfields for new business with no population growth to justify it, and the abandoning of existing streets and utilities. Our suburbs get paltry property tax cuts. But rural Macomb, Oakland and southwestern Wayne counties get big cuts. The effect would be to encourage developers to pave over greenfields with low school tax rates. That would hurt existing suburbs — a state-encouraged 'scorched earth' policy.

OBSERVER & ECCENTRIC

reason to fear their state aid will be cut. The result would be a blossoming of fees for every conceivable service.

Urban sprawl will be encouraged. Urban sprawl is the paving of greenfields for new business with no population growth to justify it, and the abandoning of existing streets and utilities.

Our suburbs get paltry property tax cuts. But rural Macomb, Oakland and southwestern Wayne counties get big cuts. The effect would be to encourage developers to pave over greenfields with low school tax rates. That would hurt existing suburbs - a state-encouraged "scorched earth" policy.

Proposal A promises equity but fails to deliver. Without question, many rural districts need greater resources. But lawmakers have blindly failed to take account of the fact that the costs of living, building, renting, getting sick, insuring one's car and supporting municipalities vary widely across our varied state.

One simple example out of hundreds: Proposal A gives Engadine in the Upper Peninsula $5,435 per pupil and Garden City $5,227. Clearly, equality isn't equity.

The Legislature had other ideas before it which would have taken account of cost of living differences between the metropolis and the backwoods, but it turned its back on the good

There are other fishhooks in Proposal A. We suspect some of our districts will be harmed by the school aid bill implementing Proposal A which bases promised increases on past revenue rather than expenditure. The effect is to punish districts that kept tax rates low.

We still wonder if the state didn't shift more "categorical" costs to suburban schools than they'll have revenue to cover.

We're not happy to be opposing Proposal A. Property taxes are high in most places, and the state needs to help education more. But the slick political promises in Proposal A don't cover up its substantial flaws. And its most massive flaws won't show up until 10 or 20 years down the road.

Proposal A should be defeated June 2.

Yes on millage

e strongly support the millages to be voted on June 14, both the 4 mill increase and the 17.74 mill renewal (if Proposal A is defeated). We believe the continued quality of the Plymouth and Canton communities demands a "yes" vote on these extremely important issues.

One of the significant factors that attracted us to Plymouth 16 years ago, when our family was very young, was the quality of its schools. We have always valued this community and believed we made an excellent choice. The educational programs that our four children have experienced throughout the elementary and middle schools and the Plymouth-Canton Educational Park have been outstanding. Just like us, we believe many other families have been and continue to be attracted to Plymouth and Canton because of the quality of the public

We realize that our taxes are high. But that is not the fault of the school system. It is the result of the education financing system in this state. It is also consequence of the type of community in which we live - one that is primarily residential with a relatively low industrial tax base. Because we value and have chosen to live in this type of community, we should expect to pay for it when necessary.

The Plymouth-Canton Community Schools must be commended for the excellent way they have managed our funds. With an average cost per student well below the average for Wayne County, they have nevertheless been able to provide a program second to none. With the requested additional mils, they will be able to continue such a program.

Our school system is an important community asset and, like any asset, it requires continuing investment to keep its value. Plymouth and Canton must remain quality communities. In order to compete with other communities, maintain and increase our property values, and attract new families who are also interested in excellent educations for their children, we must assure the excellent educational programs that we have here are continued.

We will be voting in support of the millages and strongly urge that you do, too. Gary and Mary Beth Fry, Plymouth

Will you have anything left in your pocket if these (and I am sure many more proposed taxes) occur? If we "don't start thinking about tomorrow" and put a stop to this, how much "pocket change" will you have left after every-one else gets their hands in the pot?

would like to present a no vote on any new or renewal millages. The Plymouth-Canton schools are over-administrated by overpaid administrators. These administrators' primary job, I repeat primary, is to protect their jobs. They should be weeded out and credit be given to those who do the work — the classroom or the life of me I can't understand why the Mettetal Airport question keeps coming up year after year. The people of Canton, Plymouth and Plymouth Township have spoken in a large majority that we do not want our tax dollars spent on a little recreational airport. I have yet to hear one solid benefit to the community from the proponents.

The only benefactors are the plane owners a rather small minority — to be spending $4.6 million of our tax dollars on.

One proponent said, "It won't cost the taxpayers anything because 90 percent of the funds would come from the federal government and 10 percent from Michigan." How naive do you think we are? He thinks Washington has a money tree and can pick a bushel anytime.

Please do what you can to put a halt to this dumb program.

Whatever the cause, the effect

I refuse to have a phone in my car. It is the last place on earth where I can think without interruption. A company I used to work for saddled me with a beeper, against my will. Little known fact: Some beepers are waterproof. I flushed the one issued me, went back to my desk and called the beeper number. The toilet beeped for the rest of that morning and all afternoon.

I do not mind if others have phones in their cars, provided they can drive while talking to the spirit world via the voice activated system hidden in the televised accomplishments of others because they have none of their own to

That, of course, doesn't preclude them from arriving at the office the next morning with the last word on how those who were doing it should have done it, by god. However, this is getting off track. We were talking about the roaming, the rude and the restless.

Can you think of one place, in any city in this country, were you can go and NOT find a telephone? Sunday's New York Times Magazine had a great article about high tech phones and zeroed in on an impressionist - one who does to impress — desperately talking on his tiny cellular phone, batteries fading, trying to get a message across before his power supply went dead, while he was within eyesight of a bank of 50 public telephones.

It may be important to reach someone at a movie or restaurant. However, the cellular phone didn't come with a license to bother others and be arrothe phone as a screaming child in an elegant restaurant — take it out to the lobby.

And it seems counterproductive to encourage students to respect the library as a place of quiet study while young mercenaries talk to their offices from the reference sections. Nothing is - that important. I suspect it isn't the need for instant communication that causes people to abandon their manners. I think it is their need to impress, the eternal exercise of one-ups-man (person)-ship, that drives them.

Well, relax. Just like with car and cordless phones, they'll be giving cellular phones away with half-gallons of skim milk in a year or two. So give a friend one last call during your vasectomy (don't jump around too much, now) and tell him you might actually have to think about being respected for yourself and your accomplishments, rather than the toys you can lease. Imagine that.

Lobbyists infest nation's annual political gridlock

ometimes two entirely unrelated events coincide in a way that provides new insight

So it was last week: President Clinton rolled out his political reform package, and Inside Michigan Politics newsletter published its second survey ranking Lansing lobbyists.

The national proposal would provide partial public funding for congressional races, now overwhelmingly funded by PACs, and limit the financial influence of lobbyists for special inter-

Democratic U.S. Reps. Bill Ford of Ypsilanti, Sander Levin of Southfield and Dale Kildee of Flint said they supported the legislation and expected it to pass. Opposed were Democrat Bob Carr of East Lansing, who said he was adamantly against any taxpayer subsidy for elections, and Républican Joe Knollenberg of Birmingham, who wanted a certain percentage of campaign funding to come from constituents.

The IMP survey was mostly Lansing insider stuff about which lobbyists had the highest "power;rating" and which multi-client firms were most

Buried in the report were two sentences that astonished me:

No. 1: "Nearly half of those responding to this year's poll claimed daily contact on a professional basis with a lobbyist or lobbying organization, and three-quarters had contact at least twice a

Whether it's 2,000 or so registered lobbyists and assorted influence peddlers in Lansing or the 80,000 (President Clinton's number) in Washington, the survey confirms what I long have argued: Lobbyists literally infest the legislative process.

No. 2: "More than half of the survey's respondents have been employed by or dealt with state government for more than 10 years, and nearly 80 percent for a minimum of three years.

Whether it's a reformist new governor of Michigan or a populist new president, the political facts of life are the same: What really counts is the permanent culture of the capital.

And that culture is erected on the twin realities of our contemporary politics: The main career goal of our professional politicians is re-election, and that can best be financed by thinly disguised bribes ("campaign contributions") from lobbyists representing special interests who have something to gain from the transaction.

We - politicians, citizens, lobbyists - are all trapped inside a political system we all know is rotting at the core. But the system is so all-pervaeive that nobody can find a way out.

PHILIP POWER

■ Whether it's 2,000 or so registered lobbyists and assorted influence peddlers in Lansing or the 80,000 (President Clinton's number) in Washington, the survey confirms what I long have argued: Lobbyists literally infest the legislative process.

Incumbent politicians know full well they are spending far too much of their time chasing money. Challengers realize the deck is stacked against them and swear if they get elected, they'll make sure no challenger ever comes close.

Citizens are furious at gridlock and at their lack of access to a system of unresponsive government. Lobbyists, often very able and experienced people, have a job to do and rationalize their activity on the grounds that everybody does it, so why not me?

I doubt any political reform legislation will ever eliminate lobbyists or slash the power of special interests. But we must keep trying to find a way to overcome the cynical realism of most people that government as it is presently practiced has no particular interest in responding to the needs of ordinary folks.

That's why political reform proponents, whether in Lansing or Washington, need vocal

Hotline draws 600 callers

Wayne County Sheriff Robert Ficano reports that a 48-hour Mother's Day hotline drew almost 600 phone calls reporting parents delinquent on child support payments.

On Thursday, Ficano an-nounced that "child enforcement sweeps" will ensue to arrest the people who were turned in. However, only those who already had warrants out for their arrest will be sought.

Many of the callers, Ficano said, weren't sure how the system to make parents pay their child support works.

It all has to be handled through The Friend of the Court, which is supposed to see that child support payments are made. Information on bench warrants, modifying child support, visitation enforcement or getting assistance on out-of-state support orders can be obtained from Friend of the Court by calling 224-5300.

Chiefs top Spartans in soccer final

BY DAN O'MEARA STAFF WRITER

Plymouth Canton has soccer players with injured knees, sore ankles and other assorted ailments, but there was nothing wrong with their hearts Wednesday.

Despite a roster depleted by injuries, the host Chiefs defeated Livonia Stevenson 4-1 for the second straight year in the Western Lakes Activities Association girls championship game.

"We play with a lot of heart," said Canton senior forward Leah Hutko. who had two goals and one assist.

"We try to keep together as a team and overcome things like injuries that have hit us at the wrong time of year. This team seems to stick together and get up for the big games.'

The Chiefs, who have been the WLAA champion three of the past five years, are 14-1-1 and the Spar-

Canton's Mandy Salin and Beth Ostach are sidelined with knee injuries, and forward Melissa Tomei and defender Kathy Bahr had other school obligations Wednesday.

Defenders Kara Moylan, who replaced Bahr at stopper, Kelly Reeves, who missed the past three games, and Stacey Miller were still nursing sore ankles but helped to shut down the Stevenson offense.

"They're tough ballplayers; they can play and the girls who went in for them did a good job," Smith said.
"This was a team effort."

Canton's championship victory is a tribute to the its depth, which has played a key role in the team's continued success.

"I'm very pleased with the 15th and 16th players on up," Smith said. "We talked about picking up the level of play from the eighth to 16th players so we don't lose anything.

"It's tough to beat a team that can play 18 players. If you can play 18, it's hard to run with you. The other team either has to play 18 or get Championship game: Canton's Erica Anderson wins a foot race to the ball with Stevenson's Holly Kimble in the WLAA soccer final.

The Chiefs took an early lead when Colleen Connell scored the first goal less than two minutes into the game on a header from a cross by Hutko.

Canton led 1-0 at halftime and outshot Stevenson 5-1 in the first half during which the Spartans seldom crossed midfield.

"Early goals have to give you some incentive, but a lot of times you let down, which we did at the start of the second half," Smith said. "The first 10 minutes we weren't going to the ball at all, but then we buckled down and got another one."

The Spartans outshot the Chiefs 6-3 in the second half. Stevenson had four early shots and the ball in front of the Canton net a few other times without a shot.

'We could say it would have been a different story (if the Spartans had tied), but we still made some mistakes on defense," Stevenson coach Mary Kay Hussey said. "We had plenty of opportunities; we just didn't

"Overall, we played a much better game than we did the first time. It's tough coming back against a team that beat you 7-1. But we came out here to win, and I think we played to Hutko made it 2-0, and Canton stole the momentum when the Spartans failed to clear a corner kick.

The Chiefs took a three-goal lead 21/2 minutes later when Julie Majewski's header found the net.

Chiefs, Rocks share titles

The Plymouth Canton Plymouth Salem boys track teams had cause to celebrate Tuesday after each earned a share of its respective division title.

Both teams produced key victories in their final dual meets, Canton defeating Northville 75-64 and Salem edging Westland John Glenn 69-68.

The Chiefs and Walled Lake Western are co-champions of the Western Division with 4-1 records. Canton is 6-1 overall.

The Rocks gave Glenn its first Lakes Division loss, forcing a three-way tie between tri-champions Salem, Farmington and Glenn with 4-1 records.

"It's a total shot in the arm for the Canton men's program," coach Bob Richardson said. "It makes me happy for those kids who worked hard for four years.

"It was a total team effort. Leon. Black came back after missing three weeks with an (ankle) injury and won the long jump, and it was little things like that.'

Canton's Jeff Keith won the 800-meter run (2:02.1) and helped the Chiefs win the 3,200 and 1,600 relays. Kevin Gudeth was the anchorman on both teams.

John Martin won the 300 hurdles (42.1) and led the 1,600 relay, passing the baton to Keith, Marques Nelson and Gudeth for a 3:34.4 time.

Justin McClain and Matt Demey combined with Keith and Gudeth to win the 3,200 relay in Eric Tomei won the high hurdles (15.9), Todd Smith the 1,600 men (4:42.4) and Dave Yack the 3,200 run (10:21.5).

The Chiefs had three winners in the field events: Mark Koziol, high jump (6-0); Tom Raven, discus (150-2); and Black, long jump (18-91/2).

Canton and Salem compete in the Class A regional Saturday at Novi High School.

'(Tuesday) was a proud day for the Chiefs, and there's some more to get," Richardson said. "Our kids are hungry for more good stuff before the season is over.

Coach Geoff Baker thought the Rocks could challenge Westland John Glenn in most events, but certainly not in the 1,600 meter

But injuries depleted Glenn's relay team Salem took advantage, winning the event and the dual meet 69-68 at Glenn. Salem was trailing 68-64 entering the 1,600 relay, the last event.

The outcome means Salem, Glenn and Farmington finished the Lakes Division dual meet schedule tied for first with 4-1 records. Glenn is 6-3 overall, Salem 4-2.

Salem's Brian Herc, Mike Red-Steve Schumacher and Adam Bakowski finished the 1,600 relay in 3:35. The Rocks trailed at one point in the meet,

"I didn't want it to come down to the mile relay because they had run a 3:30 and our best was 3:34," Baker said. "I though it was over (early on) but seconds and thirds put us back in it. There were a lot of keys in this victory.

Both teams finished with 5-0 records in the division. Salem is 7-0 overall, Canton 6-1.

PLYMOUTH CANTON

Lana Boroditsch set a school record with a winning time of 5:21.3 in the 1,600-meter run, breaking her own mark of 5:22. She also won the 3,200 run in 12:19.

She was one of four double winners for the Chiefs, the others being Selena Bastine, Ndu Okwumabua and Karina Kilpelainen.

Bastine threw the shot put 33-81/2 and the discus 114-6. Okwumabua cleared 5-2 in the high jump and ran the 100 dash in 13.1. Kilpelainen dominated the hurdles with first-place times of 16.3 and 49.0.

Christie Saffron won the 800 run (2:31) and participated in two winning relays for Canton.

She teamed with Laura McWilliams, Melissa Bastine and Jennifer Warnke in the 3,200 relay (10:29) and Brooke Larson, Shawn Champlin and Tracey Cavin in the 1,600 relay (4:27).

Cavin was an individual winner in the 400 dash (1:02.5) and Olive Ikeh had the remaining Canton first in the 200 dash (26.5).

PLYMOUTH SALEM The Rocks, who won all but three individual events, were led by Courtney Sheldon, Sarah Hamilton, Tonya Wheeler and Stacy Witthoff with three wins each (two in relays). Sheldon won the 300-meter hurdles (47.4), Hamilton the 200 dash (26.4), Wheeler the 400 (1:00.9) and Witthoff the 800 run (2:23.8). The same four comprised the 1,600 relay team (4:13.2). Hamilton and Wheeler combined with Dana Driscoll and

Marcia Parker in the 800 relay (1:47.5). Sheldon and Witthoff were followed by Kelly Stankov and Lynda Sebestyen in the 3,200 relay (10:12.9). Driscoll and Parker also helped the Rocks win the 400 relay (51.8)

Benning. Hopson won the high jump (5-2), Kathryn Ryan, discus (100-6); Sarah Makins, 100 hurdles (15.9); Benning, 100 dash (12.8); and Emily Farrell, 3,200 run (12:33.8).

BOZYK LEADS ADRIAN

A comeback effort secured a piece of the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association's baseball title for Adrian College, it's first-ever first place.

A pair of Redford Catholic Central graduates played key roles in Adrian's season. Junior righthander Keith Bozyk, of Canton, tossed a one-hitter in the Bulldogs' 5-1 win over cochampion Albion College. Albion had won the first of three games in the final MIAA series of the season by a 7-2 margin, making a win in Bozyk's game imperative.

Bozyk struck out nine to improve his record to 7-3 overall, with a 1.43 earned run average. He led the Bulldogs in wins. innings (68%), strikeouts (67) and saves (two). Opponents batted just .219 against him.

Brett Welling, a junior first baseman from Livonia, was on his way to a superb season before a dislocated shoulder sidelined him for the final five games of the season. He was leading the MIAA in hitting prior to the injury. He finished with a .372 batting average. with six doubles and 19 runs Adrian finished with a 10-5 MIAA record, 17-15-1 overall. The wins were the most by a Bulldog team ever.

Churchill's Jose gets well fast in city invitational

Livonia Churchill's Karen Jose sure knows when to pick her spots.

The ace right-hander rebounded from her three-day bout earlier in the week with the chicken pox, leading the Chargers to the Livonia invitational softball championship Saturday at Ford Field.

Churchill swept Franklin (7-0) and Stevenson (12-2) to win the title for the second consecutive year.

Jose, a junior, struck out 12, walked three and scattered four hits in going the distance in the championship final.

"She's a very good pitcher, I saw that in her when she was a freshman," Stevenson first-year coach Art Anselm said. "She's the fastest I've seen all year."

Stevenson (4-13) put a fight for four innings. The underdog Spartans, ironically, held a 1-0 lead.

Freshman pitcher Marie Wilson's unorthodox delivery had the Chargers off balance at the plate until the fifth when they erupted for five runs. Junior Carla Karoub delivered a clutch two-run single to send Churchill on its way.

The first three innings we hit the ball right at them," Churchill second-year coach Dana Hardwidge said. "We were way out in front of the ball. We weren't staying back."

Karoub later added a two-run double as the Chargers went on to score two more in the sixth and five in the seventh.

Jose and Jenny Clulow each had three hits, as Churchill mounted a 17-hit attack. Melissa Sochacki and Chrissy Daly each contributed two, while Alicia December chipped in with a two-run single.

Lori Shingledecker and Chelsea

Brinton each collected two hits, but the Spartans really never solved the hard-throwing Jose.

"Karen was out of school for three days, then came back and pitched on Friday (7-0 shutout of Walled Lake Western)," Hardwidge said. "I thought she was tiring today, but she was able to get through it."

Chargers avenged Wednesday's 13-3 loss to the Patriots (with Jose out) as Alicia December clubbed a three-run homer in the semifinal matchup. Chrissy Daly also touched all the bases in the first on a shot to left field that was scored a homer by Hardwidge's statistician, but ruled an error by Franklin coach Joe Epstein's scorekeeper. Angie Cerne added an RBI single as Churchill out-hit the Patriots, 9-5. Jose, the winning pitcher, struck out 11 and walked three.

"She's a tough competitor to come back from something like that," Epstein said. "We had our chances early. We Central Division champion Livonia Ladywood advanced to the Catholic League A-B Division softball semifinals with a 4-0 shutout Monday of visiting Birmingham Marian.

Ladywood, now 20-9-1 overall, will meet Riverview Gabriel Richard in the semifinals, 7:30 p.m. Friday at Dearborn's King Boring Field.

Senior pitcher Mary Jo Kelly went the distance, allowing just two hits and two walks. She struck out seven. Losing pitcher Judy Stuart walked 13 in five innings.

The Blazers scored twice in the third on five consecutive walks and an RBI single by Katie Law. In the fourth, Liza Rozum walked and scored on a passed ball. Tara Wasiak singled and later scored in the fifth. On Saturday, Ladywood lost in eight innings to state-ranked Plymouth Canton, 4-2, at the Canton Classic. Winning pitcher Kelly Holmes threw a one-hitter. She struck out 14 and did not walk a batter.

Kelly scattered seven hits and three walks in going the distance.

Three Ladywood errors, coupled with a double by Michelle Metzger, led to the winning runs.

Benedict lifts Chiefs to division title

Plymouth Canton baseball coach Mark LaPointe calls his pitcher Craig Benedict "the best kept secret in the state of Michigan.'

Who could argue after Bene-dict's clutch performance Wednesday in a 2-0 eight-inning triumph over host Livonia Churchill.

The 6-foot-2, 200-pound senior right-hander won a classic pitchers' duel against Churchill ace Mark Rutherford.

Benedict tossed a three-hitter as the Chiefs won the Western Division title in the Western Lakes Activities Association.

"Craig is one of the best control pitchers that Canton has ever had," said LaPointe, the Benedict (5-5) struck out eight and walked only two. Rutherford (5-1) was equal to the task, allowing just five hits and two walks in seven innings.

"I pitched a lot last summer and got a lot stronger because of weights and conditioning in the off-season," Benedict said.

Canton broke open the scoreless battle in the top of the eighth.

Catcher Chris Johnson, the ninth hitter in the order, greeted Rutherford with a triple. Pinch-runner Brian Lemkie then scored on Mark Schankowski's shot to the right-cen-ter field gap. Schankowski came all the way around to score when Churchill failed to connect on the relay throw.

The Chargers, who fell to 10-8 overall and 5-4 in the division, missed a chance to win the game in the bottom of the sixth.

Sean Scheuher opened with single and stole second, but the Chargers hit into a double play. Rutherford, who earlier had base with two outs in the seventh, but the Chiefs got a force play at second to end the game. EGLENN 6, SALEM 0: Bryan Besco threw a two-hitter Monday for host Glenn, striking out seven and walking one in seven innings.

The Rockets improved to 7-1 in the Lakes Division and 17-3 overall. Salem was 5-3 and 12-11.

Jarrod Hura belted a two-run single in the first inning for Glenn while Aaron Scheffer and Derek Besco went 2-for-4. Besco added an RBI double.

Dan Quain gave up six hits, allowed three walks and struck out two in four innings for Salem. Charlie Winstel's leadoff hit in the seventh inning spoiled Besco's no-hitter.

■ DELASALLE 5-2, CC 0-8: After losing the first game of a double-header Saturday at Warren DeLaSalle, Redford Catholic Central won the nightcap to clinch first place in the Catholic League Central Division stand-

CC, 22-8 overall and 12-4 in the Central Division, plays Riverview Gabriel Richard in a first-round playoff game 4 p.m. Saturday at Wyandotte Memorial Park.

Junior left-hander Dave Susalla scattered four hits, struck out six and walked three as CC won the second game, 8-2.

Juan Sanchez keyed CC's 14hit attack with four hits, three runs scored and an RBI to go with several fine catches in the outfield.

Jeff Gutt had three RBI and three hits, and Andy Slankster and Mike Brusseau delivered two hits each. Slankster had two RBI and Brusseau drove home one

In the first game, DeLaSalle sent CC's ace Brian Paluk from the mound after picking up three runs on four hits and two walks in the first 21/2 innings.

Winning pitcher Kurt Wilczynski scattered five hits in a seveninning shutout. Gutt led the Shamrocks with two hits.

Monday to lead the Plymouth Canton girls soccer team to a 5-0 victory over host Farmington.

Canton, which suffered its first loss Saturday at Portage Central, was 13-1-1 overall prior to playing Livonia Stevenson Wednesday for the Western Lakes Activities Association championship.

Farmington, which fell to 2-2 in the division and 3-5-1 overall, trailed 2-0 at halftime.

Leah Hutko, Julie Majewski and Melissa Tomei scored one goal each for the No. 5-ranked Chiefs. Hutko, Amy Westerhold, Erica Anderson and Kara Moylan had assists.

Jori Welchans played most of the game in net before Sarah Warnke came on in relief to share the shutout.

Colleen Connell and Becky Cifaldi scored a goal apiece in the 5-2 non-league loss against Portage Central, which led 2-1 at halftime. M NORTH 1, SALEM 1: The tie was as good as a victory Monday when the Raiders, traditionally one of the less-successful Western Lakes teams, matched a perennial WLAA and statewide power.

"It was our greatest game of the year, maybe of the past four years," North Farmington coach Kris Galczyk said.

"I've been waiting four years for this kind of game. We have a great performance in every area." Ali Lord scored the North goal off a direct kick 15 minutes into the second half. Kris Goff had the Salem goal.

Galczyk had praise for North goalkeeper Julie Stone, who "saved several dangerous shots," as well as Carrie Rejc, Amanda Markus, Lisa Appel and Michelle Wilder.

The Raiders finished 1-2-1 in the Lakes Division and the No. 7ranked Rocks 2-1-1. North was 3-7-1 overall prior to a WLAA playoff game Wednesday and Salem 6-2-4.

ELADYWOOD 2, FOLEY 1: The Blazers survived their first-round Catholic League girls soccer playoff game on Monday.

The Blazers (9-3-1) won a shootout after 80 minutes of regulation play and two overtime periods against visiting Madison Heights Bishop Foley.

Goalie Liz Gunn made two saves in overtime. Ladywood then outscored the Ventures on penalty kicks 3-2. Gunn made several key saves in the first overtime.

Jean Roy, Val Adzima and Kelli Colliton made shots for the Blazers in the shootout.

The two teams battled to a scoreless draw until the 73-minute mark when sophomore Jamie Colliton found the net with a direct kick.

Foley sent the game into OT, scoring with only 30 seconds re-

"If we can just continue at the regional (Saturday at Novi) and the league meet, we're all set. It's not getting any easier."

Glenn was running the 1,600 relay without its top two 400-meter runners, Shamar Lott and Randy Ellison, who were sidelined with injuries. Lott missed the entire meet with a quadracep strain, and Ellison missed the last event after complaining of shortness of Ellison was leading the 400 race earlier in the meet before losing ground in the last 10 meters and settling for third (54.6).

"It came down to the mile relay, we didn't have all our guns left, had a couple injuries and Salem was loaded," Glenn coach Jess Shough said. "That makes a difference. We had excellent races on both sides. Salem ran tough and I was real proud of our team.'

Chris Vanderburgh and Joe Paddock were double winners for Vanderburgh took frist in the high jump (5-10) and the 300 hurdles (41.1). Paddock enjoyed his best day of the year with personal best times in the 100 dash (11.1) and 200 dash (23.3).

Derek Cudini was a double winner for Salem and also anchored the winning 3,200 relay.

Cudini's victories came in the 1,600 (4:42.8) and 3,200 (10:13.4) runs. Justin Richardson, Andy McDonald, Josh Stickney and Cudini won the 3,200 relay

Other single-event winners for the Rocks were Jeff Schumacher, shot put (47-31/2); Don Johnson, long jump (19-81/2); and Bakowski, 400 dash (53.3) and 800 run (2:03.8).

Shamrocks tops in division track duals

Redford Catholic Central captured 11 of 17 firsts in dominating Birmingham Brother Rice 80-48 Monday at Redford Thurston. The victory left CC with a perfect 6-0 Catholic League Central Division record, giving them their second-straight division crown and their third title in four years. Eric McKeon dominated the shorter running events, winning the 100-meters (10.9), 200 (22.5) and 400 (51.1). Joe Suhajda was first in the shot put (49-6) and the

Other firsts went to Marc Eden in the 110 hurdles (14.9); Freddie Taylor in the long jump (20-41/4); Brandon Dalziel in the 800 (2:01.2); Mike Mittman in the 1,600 (4:29.4); Chris O'Keefe, Dalziel, McKeon and Mike Dorrington in the 800 relay (3:37.0); and Mittman, Jamie Fitzgerald, O'Keefe and Dalziel in the 3,200 relay (8:48.0). "

Saturday at the Oxford Relays. CC finished second to Detroit Mumford. Mumford scored 99 points and the Shamrocks totaled 751/2, followed by Lake Orion (70), Pontiac Northern (571/4) and Pontiac Central (46).

Eden collected wins in both the the 800 (2:02.4).

110 (15.0) and 300 (40.4) hurdles. Seconds went to Suhajda in the shot (51-51/2) and McKeon in the 200 (23.2). Nick Kallas took third in the shot (49-91/4), Kevin Jakubowski was third in the discus (137-4) and Dalziel was third in

Student radio names new directors

WSDP, the student-run radio station, has announced the names of the students to fill directorship positions for the 1993-94 school

The students selected were: Sweena Aulakh, program/music director; Adarsh Pandit, development/special project director; Beth Eckerty, news director; Brian Stackpoole, sports director; Reshma Shah, promotions director; Sarah Petrere, production director; Kara Fiegenschuh, assistant music director.

The students were chosen by graduating directors and station management. "This year's direc-tors have a lot of talent," said Bill Keith, station manager. "I'm expecting great things from them."

The new directors are already planning personal objectives to make WSDP even more successful. "I'm hoping we can make the station sound more professional and diverse to our audience," said Sweena Aulakh, program/music director.

WSDP is owned and operated by the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools and has been on the air since 1972.

MARQUEE 'Berkshire Night Live' entertaining

DUBATS

"Berkshire Night Live is a series of comedy skits and song and dance which pulls from the attitudes of "Saturday Night Live," "Forbidden Broadway," and "Capitol Steps," with a smattering of game show spoofs for good measure.

Produced, written and staged by Michael Klier of Farmington Hills, the original material is on-again-offagain; some skits are very funny, crisp and fresh, while others lack refinement and bite.

The many topics covered - politics, Broadway show tunes, local events, and old TV theme songs occasionally obscure the focus of the

Yet, set admidst the cozy surroundings of the Berkshire Hotel in Southfield, "Berkshire Night Live" still proves to be an entertaining evening with a talented cast of five.

The better moments in the show include Paul Riopelle as he pulls off a myriad of fun antics. His animated face adds to the many characters he portrays. Particularly funny is Riopell's interpretation of "Coincidence? I Think Not!" JFK is compared to Lincoln. Nixon is compared to Clinton - after all, both Clinton and Nixon have two syllables in their names. Coincidence?

Also offered is a talented Marnie Baumer of Garden City singing a comical "Squeeze Me" with campy nostalgic style. Baumer also shines as Hillary Clinton. Unfortunately, Baumer's monologue — "A Confused Critic's Lament," offered exhausted material while listing the alphabet for "BERKSHIRE NIGHT everything wrong with theater in the Detroit and metro area.

Robert Allman's performance is especially dynamic in the skit "Kelvorian (Our Way!)." Portraying a comical suicide assistance distributor, Allman of Southfield, and cast sing "Killer" to the tune of Michael Jackson's "Thriller," as members of the cast are "assisted" one at a time.

Ellen Terri has a terrific musical voice and a respectable amount of stage presence. She adds zest to the show with funny faces and comedy timing. One poor moment, however, is "Chelsea S'Corner." Rather than impersonating our president's daughter, Terri imitates the late Gilda Radner as Roseanne Rosanna Danna with an irritating monologue.

One new twist to this revue is the use of pianist as actor and singer. Cabaret shows usually leave pianists in the background to accompany, but pianist Jeff Bayson is an integral part of the show.

Bayson's commercial announcements were funny and well timed, and his onstage "Phantom of the 1950s," with the cast was a fun point of the evening.

Lots of 'Heart' in war drama

BY KEELY WYGONIK STAFF WRITER

They're called the invisible veterans, the women who served in Vietnam. They weren't sent into combat, but it was all around them.

Their story will be told by the newly formed Heartlande Theatre Company in "A Piece of My Heart," by Shirley Lauro. The play, based on a book by Keith Walker of the same title, is a compilation of vignettes that capture the indomitable spirit of the women who served in Vietnam.

The play will be presented May 21 through June 5 at the Hilberry Theatre in Detroit.

From her tiny office in Birmingham, not much bigger than a walk-in closet, Jan Radcliff, a Birmingham resident for 13 years, makes phone calls trying to impress on people the importance of this play.

PREVIEW

"I've believed in this play for so long," she said. "I've seen all three productions, and kept track of the Radcliff worked tenaciously for six years to win sole rights to produce "A Piece of My Heart," and said she "pounced on them," when they became available.

"For women, the war was the worst of times, the best of times — extreme pain, and joy. They experienced a spectrum of human emotions," said Radcliff.

The production of "A Piece of My Heart," was strategically planned to coincide with the 25th anniversary year of the Tet Offensive; the dedication of the Women's Memorial Project in Washington, D.C.; and the unveiling of the design selection for our state's monument by the Vietnam Memorial Commission of Michigan.

Matinee performances on May 27 and June 3 will be followed by talkback sessions with women who served in Vietnam. These will be moderated by scholars and women veterans involved as both forum participants and consultants to the actors.

There will also be a photo display of photographs of and by women veterans in the lobby of the Hilberry during the run of the production.

"This story is not about war, it is about six women who went to Vietnam," said Radcliff.

Temptation and vulnerability punctuate 'Sliver'

William Baldwin Tom and Berenger star in "Sliver," based on the bestsell-

Presented by Paramount Pictures, the film opens Friday. It's produced by Robert Evans and directed by Phillip Noyce.

Carly Norris (Sharon Stone) is a woman looking for some new excitement in her life after ending an unhappy marriage the one where a succession of hysterious and deadly accidents have occurred.

For her new home, she chooses sliver, what New Yorkers call the lofty, narrow apartment wildings unique to Manhattan.

Among Carley's new neighbors Zeke Hawkins (William Haldwin), a wealthy young bachelot, and Jack Landsford (Tom Berenger), an author of true crime bestsellers who seems intent on investigating the recent fatal events that have occurred in the building.

If you've seen a new movie lately, either good or bad, we want to hear from you.

Call Keely Wygonik, Entertainment editor, 953-2105, to comment on newly released movies. If you reach her voice mail, leave your comments, name, city and day-time phone number. To fax comments, dial 591-7279. Or write: Entertainment Editor, Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia, MI 48150.

Carley, who has a career as a book editor, becomes romantically involved with Zeke and rejects Landsford only to find herself being seduced into a mysterious and clandestine world that tests the fragile boundaries between reality and her deepest fantasies.

Producer Robert Evans comments that "Sliver" will have the effect of "an electric shock on audiences.

'The story is really a high-wire act about temptation and vulnerability," said screenwriter Joe Eszterhas. "I have always been drawn to the theme of people being intimate strangers to one another.

"I seem to be fascinated with the idea that no matter how intimate we become, there will always be bits and pieces of us that remain estranged. This film goes after those bits and pieces in the most secret psychosexual ways and attempts to draw them out.'

"Sliver" novelist Ira Levin's earlier novels are "A Kiss Before "Rosemary's Baby, Dying," "The Stepford Wives" and "The Boys From Brazil.'

The movie is rated R (Restricted, no one under 18 admitted without an accompanying parent or guardian).

Thriller: Carly Norris (Sharon Stone) encounters Jack Landsford (Tom Berenger), a tenant in her new Manhattan apartment building in "Sliver."

Released by: Columbia Pictures Starring: Mercedes Ruehl, Richard Dreyfuss, Irene Worth, Brad Stoll, Mike Damus Directed by: Martha Coolidge Produced by: Ray Stark Written by: Neil Simon, based on his play Rated: PG (Parental Guidance Suggested. Some material may not be suitable for pre-teens.) Running time: One hour, 50 nunutes

Rating (out of a possible four):

"Lost in Yonkranks among the most successfully rendered film adaptations of a Neil Simon play. It's snappy, well-actheartwarmingly nostalgic. I couldn't wait for it to end.

Manipulation, even when it's for my own good, makes me squirm and Simon is a master manipulator. "Lost in Yonkers," another in a series of Swing-era period pieces by the playwright, left me gagging on its carefully prescribed dose of one-liners and nostalgia.

It's wartime and 15-year-old Jay (Brad Stoll) and his younger brother Arty (Mike Damus) must live with hard-hearted Grandma Kurnitz in Yonkers while their recently widowed father sells scrap iron down South.

The fact that the sourpuss German grandmother (Irene Worth) owns a dream of a candy store and soda fountain is one of Simon's cloyingly clever touches. You might as well have a sign over the counter that reads "irony."

The film, adapted by Simon, doesn't stray far physically from the candy shop and grandma's lodgings upstairs. Both sets are wonderfully evocative, especially the confectioner's metal advertising signs, tall stools and display counters filled with goodies.

Visually, the film is awash in that brown-tinted fog that has become a cliche for any movie that deals with the past.

Oscar winner Mercedes Ruehl recreates her Tony Award-winning role of Aunt Bella, a learning disabled woman in her 30s who plows through life in a ditzy daze. There's a tragic side to Bella because she no longer wants to be the family's version of Gracie Allen. She wants to have children.

'Lost in Yonkers': heartwarming but too sugary

And as far as the role can take her, Ruehl is quite wonderful, even though her wackiness, like most everything else in "Yonkers," seems strained and stagey.

The larger-than-life quality, however, serves Richard Dreyfuss well in the showy role of Uncle Louie, the second-rate gangster who hides out at grandma's with a mysterious black bag. As Jay says, "It's like a James Cagney movie come alive in our apartment." The boys have their share of good lines, more than the average amount (which I've calculated at about 6.5) in a Simon play. We experience life mostly through their eyes. "Perhaps you have learned something while you've been here," grandma says, as if we didn't catch on already.

Ever since "Valley Girl," director Martha Coolidge has based her career on making films about oddball women. Bella, the play's primary focus, has the same level of extreme eccentricity that made the Laura Dern character in "Ramblin' Rose" such a hit.

HISTORIC NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE

The film ultimately has a similar message, as both women struggle to restrain themselves in repressive and dysfunctional families. Or, as Uncle Louie might phrase it, "Lost in Yonkers" is about playing the cards you're dealt and getting through life with all the "moxie" you can muster. "Lost in Yonkers" will have its fans, especially older audiences who enjoy being trotted down memory lane.

Others may find it enjoyable in the short run, but ultimately as heavy and fattening as one of Aunt Bella's hot fudge sundaes.

Now showing at these suburbantheaters: AMC Laurel Park, AMC. Maple, AMC Wonderland, AMC Southfield City, Star Rochester, AMC Abbey, Showcase Westland.

The Business-Education Partnership Program and the Counseling Department of Canton High School hosted a Career Symposium today at the E. J. McClendon Educational Center.

The symposium was designed to assist teachers, counselors and administrators in advising high school students about various ca-

Representatives from local universities discussed the current trends in curriculum and career areas, the misconceptions students may have had about preparing for higher learning, post-graduate expectations for the 21st century, advice on curricular choices, and how career choices relate to the job market.

"The Career Symposium is designed to help participants gain a better understanding of what students need to know to make good curriculum choices in high school," said Betty Bloch, coordinator of the Business-Education Partnership Program.

High school counselors and area coordinators from Canton and Salem high schools participated in the symposium, along with district administrators.

There are over 225 skaters in this year's show, ranging both in age and ability. Some of the more experienced skaters will be featured in solos numbers, while the majority of the show is made up of group numbers. Rehearsals, both on and off the ice began six weeks ago. The skaters work very hard, as do the skating pros who choreograph the numbers for the

CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF CANTON ELECTION NOTICE

TO THE QUALIFIED ELECTORS of the Charter Township of Canton, Michigan, notice is hereby given that a Special Election will be held in the Charter Township of Canton on Wednesday, June 2, 1993 from 7:00 A.M. to 8:00 P.M. for the purpose of voting on a proposal to amend the Constitution of the State of Michigan:

A PROPOSAL TO LIMIT ANNUAL INCREASES IN ALL PROPERTY TAX SESSMENTS, REDUCE MAXIMUM SCHOOL OPERATING TAXES, IN-CREASE THE STATE SALES AND USE TAX RATES FROM 4% TO 6%, CON-STITUTIONALLY DEDICATE FUNDS FOR LOCAL SCHOOLS AND SET A PER-PUPIL FUNDING GUARANTEE

The proposed constitutional amendment would:

1) Limit for each property parcel (excluding new construction) annual assessment increase to 5% or the inflation rate, whichever is less. When property is sold or transferred, adjust assessment according to current market value.

2) Reduce maximum school operating taxes to 18 non-voted mills. Permit districts to levy up to 9 additional voted mills.

3) Reduce 50-mill maximum property tax limit to 40 mills.

4) Increase state sales and use tax rates to 6%. Dedicate this additional revenue and lottery proceeds to schools.

and lottery proceeds to schools.

5) Establish a minimum state/local per-pupil funding guarantee, annually adjusted for revenue changes. Provide a minimum 3% per-pupil funding increase in 1993-1994.

There are drawbacks though. Many of the sites are small, ranging in size from 0.5 to 1.5 acres, and some parking lot space will likely need replacing due to driveup lanes marked off by curbs. In addition, all of the branch sites have large vaults, which maybe perfect for a jewelry store but cumbersome for a fast-food restaurant. The vaults could easily be used for storage space, howev-

Still, Frederick Marx, president of Marx Layne & Co., a marketing and communications firm in Farmington Hills, said the sites do come with a number of advantages, including accessible parking, excellent location and multiple areas for hanging company signs.

Comerica owns 75 percent of the sites with the rest tied up in long-term leases. Prices for the owned sites range from $72,000 to $795,000 while subleases are available for between $2,900 and $5.200 a month. Prices are, of course, negotiable.

Pitton added the branches would not be offered immediately to competing banks, saving-andloan institutions, mortgage companies or credit unions, though each site will be evaluated on an individual basis.

The original owner of Detroit Popcorn Co. had only a handful of egular customers, Richard said.

"We asked why couldn't we sell to all the churches, schools, fundraisers, all the people who want to have parties? We made a lot of phone calls, sent out brochures,"

The brothers gradually expand-ed the wholesale end from one popcorn machine, then started making carmel corn over a kitchen stove. They added other products - cotton candy, syrup for ice drinks - and branched into equipment rental and sales.

They also hooked up with a manufacturer of popcorn equipment who was starting a business at the time. It's proven to be a good association.

And they moved twice to larger, more highly visible quarters in Detroit before settling in Redford

We'd suggest a cash purchase; however, he has little ready cash available. If he can hold off until next year when he will be in a lower tax bracket (15 percent), he could cash in some of the savings bonds or the deferred annuity to make this purchase. Or, he may be able to accumulate enough debt repayments. We agree that his putting additional money in savings bonds is probably not wise. With only a 4 percent rate guarantee - and only if he holds them for five years - he should be able to do better elsewhere.

teed interest accounts. These do not protect him against one of the biggest threats to his long-term financial security - inflation.

Taylor's pension is a fixed, flat amount. He needs to realize that he may spend as much time in retirement as he did in his working career. At just 4 percent inflation, the purchasing power of this income will decline by almost half at the time he reaches age 70.

The solution to this problem is two-fold: First, he must conserve his capital as much as possible to give him the flexibility to respond to future circumstances. Second, he needs to position his portfolio for conservative growth.

To obtain the needed growth,

Taylor should maintain some stocks in his investment portfolio. Since he has a modest portfolio and a disinclination to follow individual stocks very closely, he is better off investing in well-diversified, conservative mutual funds.

Rather than put large sums of money into stock funds all at once, he should move into these funds gradually. At his relatively young age, he should adopt a buy-and-hold strategy.

The desire to spend winters in Florida is problematic. Dipping further into his retirement plans is clearly not the best choice.

Also a problem is his desire to years. The additional cost would be about $50,000 and his budget clearly could not cover that.

Depleting his savings by paying cash isn't a good idea, either. Spending one-third or more of his investment assets this early in retirement is not prudent.

A 'popping' good business

BY DOUG FUNKE STAFF WRITER

Over the year, the popcorn venture of Robert and Richard Jasgur has sprouted like kernels in a pan of warming oil.

The brothers, who started by peddling out of one truck more than two decades ago, last year reported sales of nearly $3 million from their wholesale/retail business headquartered in

The money came from products they made like popcorn, cheese corn and carmel corn; sales and rental of popcorn, hot dog and nacho-making equipment; merchandising of seeds, boxes, cups, containers and napkins; plus a catch-all category of syrup sales, equipment repair services and a little exporting. If you've purchased snacks at major sports venues in the metro area, local schools, carnivals, mini-marts or convenience stores, chances are good that their Detroit Popcorn Co. supplied the goodies.

'Life is full of breaks," said Robert, West Bloomfield resident who worked as a financial analyst for Chrysler before going into business with Richard.

"Some are luckier than others. Some recognize breaks and take advantage. You've got to be in the right place at the right time."

From small beginnings...

Richard, who was clerking in a pawn shop, and Robert were fascinated at how much business a popcorn wagon seemed to generate during a downtown flea market in 1969.

They investigated, came across an old, restored truck and took to the streets themselves that fall.

Our financial profile this month focuses on Rudolph (Rudy) Taylor of Redford. As a divorced, 55-year-old Chrysler employee, he had been looking forward to retirement with great anticipation. When an early retirement option was offered to him, he jumped at the chance.

Taylor's only regular source of income is a pension of $1,400 per month. When he reaches age 62, this drops to $700 per month, offsetting the expected income from Social Security. With no debt and a modest lifestyle, he is just able to make ends meet.

His current budget does not allow for periodic big-ticket items such as the new car or any major household repairs. Nor can he spend winters in Florida or sell his condo and move into a $95,000 home in two years.

Recently, Taylor foaned $30,000 to one of his children and is being repaid at the rate of $1,000 per month. He takes those payments and uses them to buy

Taylor should realize that using $1,000 payments for current needs is spending down his principal just as surely as if you were withdrawing it from the bank. If a new car is a necessity, he should buy it. But there should be no illusion that he is using income; he is dipping into principal.

He asks whether he should pay cash for a car or make monthly payments. Our guiding philosophy on this issue has always been that debt itself is not bad, but it should be limited to one's ability to service that debt from income.

✓ Little or no inflation protection

✓ Risk of asset depletion

✓ No estate plan in place

In Taylor's case, his lack of debt and consequent low monthly expenses are his biggest financial strength. He should not jeopardize this strength by taking on monthly payment obligations.

'93 seniors find creativity pays for prom night

■ The senior prom. It's part of the rite of passing from high school to adulthood. The trappings are many — fancy dresses, stylish tuxedoes, a nice car, maybe a limousine. But schools and students alike are finding ways to take the enormous expense out of prom

By Christina Fuoco Staff Wester

It could be said that the hangover the country is suffering from the extravagance of the 1980s has spilled over into high school proms. Where going first class was the motto in previous years, high schoolers are settling for tourist class.

Considering expenses include a dress and the appropriate accessories for the girls and a tuxedo, flowers, transportation and sometimes dinner for the guys, it's no wonder schools and students alike are looking at ways to trim costs.

Tracy McManaman, a senior at Redford Union High School, used her spring break trip to find a break on expensive dresses. She's renting a $300 gown for $140 from a rental shop in Florida.

"It's a lot cheaper than having to buy it here," said McManaman.

It's no surprise she's going the rental route. McManaman is a veteran at cost-saving prom measures. Last year she borrowed a dress to

On the other hand, Jodi Buikema a senior at Plymouth-Salem High School; is buying her dress. She comparison shopped at discount boutiques and department stores like she did last year.

"It keeps getting more expensive," she said about the cost of going to proms .

When it comes to the tux, P.J. Curtis of Livonia Franklin High School came up with a novel approach. He hopes to cut the price on his tuxedo by passing out discount cards for rentals at Russell's Tuxedo at his high school.

Curtis also isn't too keen on spending hundreds of dollars on a limo. He plans on saving money on his transportation for the evening.

"I'd rather try to find a friend of the family who has a nice car," he said. "The only problem is, I don't know too many rich people."

Those planning the proms realize the costs involved and are working to cut them.

For example, Rodney Hosman, principal at Livonia Churchill High School, moved the location from the Roostertail restaurant in Detroit to the Dearborn Inn. That cut the cost of the ticket by about $30 per couple. The school also cut back on souvenirs given to the students.

"Everything used to be extrava-gent, he said. "The ambiance and decorations and souvenirs drove the price up. (So) we moved it closer (to the school) and cut back on a few other things."

Redford Thurston High School moved its prom as well. The school's prom was at Western Golf and Country Club in Redford, formerly it was at the Detroit Yacht Club on Belle Isle. This year, the school cut the price per couple from $68 to $65.

Russell's Tuxedo assistant manager Dennis Turner helps P.J. Curtis with his selection of a red brocade vest with a white wingtip collar shirt and peg-leg baggie trousers.

Looking good: Lara Antezak helps classmate Jodi Buikema with a strapless black and white sequined prom dress, one among several she tried on at Jacobson's Laurel Park Place store.

Those who live remember with quilt

Quilter: Christina Mackey holds a photo of her uncle, whom she remembered in the AIDS quilt.

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO STAFF WRITER

Christina Mackey's close relationship with her uncle has left a lasting impression with her. When he died of AIDS two years ago, she wanted to share his struggle and her family's love for him. She, friends and family decided to add a panel to the AIDS Quilt in his memory.

"This is my way to say goodbye to him," the Livonia Churchill High School senior said.

Her panel will be on display along with nearly 2,400 others at Cobo Center today through Sunday (May 20-23). It will be the largest national display of the quilt this year.

This isn't the first time she has described her uncle's plight with the disease. She spoke about it during her high school's AIDS assembly this year after all family members were aware of his cause of death.

Her uncle, a former Downriver resident then living in California, contracted the disease through a blood transfusion after he was in a car accident.

Although she had spoken to others about her uncle, Mackey was apprehensive about speaking to the student body. The first time she discussed Doug Mackey's death, it was after a cheerleader made a crack about people with AIDS during a

"Some cheerleader said to the class how homosexuals are the only ones who get AIDS and they should be confined to an island so they don't kill off the rest of the planet," she explained.

In response, she stood up and screamed about her uncle. The cheerleader responded with a threat to "beat her up."

From her friends, however, she's had positive feedback. When a sobbing relative called to tell her that Doug had died, her friends rushed over to comfort her.

"I just couldn't stand being in the house; it was almost morbid," she said.

Although Doug Mackey lived in California, she was well aware of his plight through relatives' reports and his letters.

'He was in a lot of pain. They (the hospital) had him on some really big (pain) drug. He would wake up screaming because he hurt so bad," she said.

It's because of that physical and emotional pain that she feels that her 6-by-3-foot quilt panel is an appropriate tribute. She and her boyfriend's mother made the panel out of cotton and Teddy

Other quilt panels are made of Barbie dolls, burlap, buttons, carpet, champagne glasses, corduroy, cremation ashes, Mardi Gras masks, photographs. tennis shoes and wedding rings to form it.

The quilt was started in spring of 1987 in Sart Francisco as a means of creating a visible symbol of the staggering losses suffered as a result of AIDSrelated deaths. By the end of 1992, more than three million people have visited the quilt.

Six years later, the quilt fills the equivalent of 13 football fields and weighs 29.4 tons.

Keeping with tradition, the names that appear on the individual panels will be read during the four-day display and the new panels - made during the weeks preceding the display — will be blessed during a ceremony a 6 p.m. Sunday at Most Holy Trinity Church, 1050 Porter St., Detroit.

Co-op nurseries benefit kids, parents

When choosing a nursery school, why not consider one that benefits parents as well as

Parent cooperative nursery schools, commonly referred to as co-ops, can be one way of introducing 3-4-year-olds to a school environment and help moms and dads become

Typically, co-ops advocate a hands-on or learn-through-play type of learning in the classroom. A typical school day includes songs, crafts, dances, stories, sports and lots of time for a child's most important work . play. Schools are licensed and teachers are certified by the Michigan Department of Social Services.

But what makes each co-op special are the contributions brought in by the parents. Parents are involved in every aspect of running the school from assisting the teacher in the classroom to serving on the school's board.

"So many school administrators and educators today are saying what we've known all along, that parental involvement is crucial to a school's success," said Bernadette Hamilton, nursery consultant for the Greater Detroit Cooperative Nursery Council, Inc. "Not only are these parents actively involved in their children's education, but they are able to grow personally and professionally through their co-op experience as Co-ops give stay-at-home parents a chance to sharpen some of their job skills through board or committee jobs, such as publicity, treasurer or fund-raising. Working parents are also changing the shape of

"It's amazing how the skills that working parents bring with them have helped our school," said co-op teacher Beth Cronk. 'And these parents do find time to spend with their children at school by job sharing, flexible work schedules and offering to babysit for each other.

Also, having mom or dad at school helps make nursery school a positive experience for the individual child.

"Having mom or dad there for their first school experience really helps with the separation anxiety," said Cronk. "Sometimes the parents have a harder time letting go than the children."

"Keeping parents informed and educated gives children a real boost to what they're getting out of nursery school," said Hamil-

By design, coops also foster greater accessibility to the teacher and closer relationships among families.

Because families are more distanced today and because of work schedules, sometimes co-op is the first time parents and children get together to develop friendships," Hamilton said. "Personally, I found my co-op to be a wonderful support system when my children were younger and some of those people I met back then are still my dear friends today."

Teens heed AIDS victims' message

From a storyline in the television series "Life Goes On" to a hard-hitting public service announcement, America's communications network transmits messages daily about the risks of AIDS to America's lifeblood to the young people who are highly vulnerable to the fatal disease.

But are teens heeding the call? What kinds of AIDS message will cause them to tune in or turn off?

A national study probed teen attitudes and perceptions of AIDS. The independent survey, commissioned by Camp Fire Boys and Girls, asked teens who would make the most difference in their attitudes and behavior about preventing AIDS.

The mail survey of 509 teenagers, conducted for Camp Fire by Fleishman-Hillard Reseach, has a sampling error of plus or minus four percentage points.

Nearly six out of 10 teens (59 percent) said someone who has AIDS would influence their attitudes and behavior most, followed by a girlfriend or boyfriend (31 percent), their parents (25 percent) and their peers (21 percent). Few teens said they would lis-

(8 percent), a professional entertainer (6 percent), a favorite teacher (4 percent), or a political leader (2 percent) regarding AIDS prevention.

Teens value the opinions of the people close to them," said Corey Van Fleet, executive director of Camp Fire Detroit Area Council. "We urge parents to initiate a dialogue with their children that goes beyond the birds and bees to include AIDS, and we urge teens to arm each other with AIDS information.

"Our only weapon is education, and one conversation can make all the difference."

The survey also revealed a sense of denial among teens regarding their vulnerability to AIDS. In the survey, when teens rated the effectiveness of ways others can protect young people from AIDS, two-thirds of the teens (65 percent) pinpointed more careful testing of blood for transfusions. Yet, blood used in transfusions has been made safer, and the risk of HIV infection from receiving blood products is mini-

More than half of teens (56 percent) said that having confidential testing for AIDS more readily available for young people would be most effective. Also rated as effective by half of teens were making latex condoms more readily available to young people who are sexually active (52 percent) and emphasizing to young people how all of their personal choices (on sex, drugs, school and friends) make a difference to their future (51 percent).

Nearly half of teens (46 percent) rated preventing people with AIDS from being in school as the least effective way of protecting young people from AIDS, followed by making it a crime to give AIDS to someone else (19 percent).

A majority of respondents believe that abstinence will do the most to help teens control the AIDS epidemic. When asked to evaluate eight different methods, half of teens (51 percent) said they personally can make the most difference in controlling the spread of AIDS by abstaining from sex, while 46 percent said that using latex condoms, if they have sex, will help the most. Boys were more likely than girls to say that using latex condoms can make a difference (53 percent for boys, 39 percent for girls).

A number of teens (44 percent) believe education is an effective weapon in fighting AIDS. Onefifth of teens (20 percent) believe it would be effective to talk to younger kids about the risks of AIDS, and one-tenth (10 percent) said that joining a group of teens who help each other deal with these issues can make a differ-

Youths are dedicated disciples

BY DIANE HANSON SPECIAL WRITER

Perhaps you have seen the young men riding their bikes, bright white shirts and neck ties whipped back by the wind. Or perhaps you have met the young men and women involved in community service projects or invited them to your home to learn more about the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (LDS).

These are the young men and women who have accepted the call from their church to serve as missionaries for 18 months to two years in all parts of the world and the United States. It's strictly a voluntary program and the missionaries or their families must pay their own way.

"My friends can't believe I'm not getting paid," said Amy Snow, who will soon be leaving for Marseille, France, as a missionary for the church. "I say, 'Hey, I'm paying for it.'

Snow is a 1990 graduate of Stevenson High School in Livonia and has just finished her junior year at Brigham Young University where she is majoring in English and French.

"Ever since we were little, they've told us we should start saving for our mission," explained Snow. "I wasn't always sure that I wanted to go on a mission. But two years ago I decided that I would and I had some money saved so they're (her parents) helping with it, too.

"I'm really excited about serving people wherever I can help." Snow's older sister, Molly, recently returned from a mission in Idaho and has resumed her education in Utah.

"Most always they interrupt their education," said Amy's mother Leslie. "It's a sacrifice; it really is. They're putting their education off for two years.'

She has seen such a positive change in the missionaries when they return.

"They come home so mature and focused and really ready to take on life," she said. "They're ready for their education and they're ready for the important decisions that are going to be coming up from then on."

Service is word

Service is a word that is taken very seriously in the Mormon church. Even the pastors serve in a voluntary capacity and are not paid. Bishop G.L. Pabst is pastor of the Livonia Ward, where the Snows are members, and also works full time for Chrysler.

Janet Smith's husband Harold has recently completed more than five years as pastor of the Westland Ward. He has also worked full-time for Social Security.

Bishop Bruie Greve became the new pastor last September.

The Smiths and their six children have taken their service responsibility to heart in this very family oriented faith.

"Our beliefs are that we may be eternal families together forever," Smith said. "If we keep ourselves worthy and we stay active in the Gospel and live the Commandments, we can qualify to live forever and forever together with our Father in Heaven. What a choice blessing that would be."

The Smiths converted to the Mormon faith when their first three children were young. Their youngest two children, 16 and 18, are still at home. Two of their sons have served as missionaries Kerwyn, 33, served in Italy and currently lives in California. Marquis, 31, served in Hawaii and now resides in California.

"They're taught (to serve as missionaries) from the time they're young," Smith empha-sized. "They're also taught they have their choice. We feel our heavenly Father has asked them to do that so that other people may have opportunities to hear about the Gospel throughout the world and come to know of its truthfulness."

Another son, Brian, 20, is currently serving in the Ogden, Utah, mission. His primary duties are teaching others about the Gospel and helping out in the ward where he is serving.

While he raised the expense money himself, the family encouraged him to use the money for college and his parents are supporting him.

'It costs $350 a month; they live very frugally," Smith admitted. "The church has a program now where we are encouraged to provide at least one meal a day for the missionaries that serve in our area so I have set a day each month that I feed a couple of the missionaries.'

Starting young

Young men can begin their service as missionaries when they are 19 years old and may serve for 24 months while the young women must be at least 21 years old and may serve for 18 months.

Before being sent to their mission areas, the young adults must report to a Missionary Training Center for three weeks of intense training if they are being assigned to an English-speaking country and two months, including a crash course in the language, if they're going to a foreign-speaking country. There are 14 training centers throughout the world.

the cellar windows and took all kinds of things, including a watch her fiancee had given to her and her mountain bike which she had scrimped and saved for. She was furious. Yet there was nothing she could do except call the police. Ten days later she and a neighbor were driving in another part of town to pick up some tomato plants for a planned garden. Suddenly she saw her bike. A 20-yearold or so guy was riding it. She recognized the special feature she had gotten for the bike, plus the dent she had put in it.

She followed the guy as he peddled down the street. As soon an she could, she found a safe place to park her car. She asked her friend to call 911 as she jumped out of her car and took off after the guy on her bike. She grabbed hold and would not let go. The startled man started to hit her. She looked him in the eyes with a determination that told him that he was out of luck. She started to yell at the top of her lungs for help. A crowd gathered at the busy intersection. And people started to urge the panicking young man to kill her. She still held her ground and would not let

Three policemen arrived. She was safe. And she recovered her bike after proving it was hers. She is pressing charges for possession of stolen property and for assault.

She refused to be a passive victim and I'm proud of her for standing up for her rights. Enough is enough. People most stop crime. But as a protective parent, I shutter to think what would have happened if the man had grabbed a gun. I experienced a deeper solidarity with the parents whose kids have been shot in Detroit.

A news article said recently that Detroit police records show that 98 youth ages 16 and younger have been shot this year - 11 fatally. And one child was struck by gunshot while he was riding in a school bus.

I wonder what fueled the crowd to egg him on in hitting her. Why weren't there just as many people to help her and to stop him? When will people stand up and confront destructive behavior that threatens the lives of our children? When will plain everyday, ordinary folk just say, "Stop it. This isn't right. You cannot just steal stuff and get away with it! You cannot hit or hurt another person. Period."

When will this mass apathy be transformed into mass responsibility? It may be safer to think, "Well, it's THEIR problem." Or to say to ourselves, "I sure hope the city gets its act together for stricter law enforcement and to guns and drugs off the streets." Or "Why don't THEY do something about it?"

Sorry, but I don't see it that way. Crime is OUR problem whether we fall victim to it or not. It affects each one of us. Together we can make a dramatic impact on crime prevention and law enforcement. We don't have to be apathetic or helpless or hopeless. We can help take responsibility especially in the areas of prevention

How? We can volunteer just two-three hours a week and serve as friends and tutors for inner city kids through church and youth club programs. If each child had another adult who cared and contributed to his or her well being on a regular basis, then we would see more young people with hope in their own future.

We need to find ways to provide some of the opportunities for ALL children which our own children may take for granted. For example, for $90 or so, we could provide a campership that sends a kid to camp for a week. For $110, we can send 10 Boy Scouts for a camping adventure this summer they won't forget. We can support the endeavors young people who are working to build bridges and make a positive difference through our contributions to Motor City Mission Mania — a work camp experience in which 300 young people will come from all over the country to work at various sites in Detroit June 26-July 2. Let me know if you are interested. We'll find con-streets. We don't have to wring our hands in despair over the plight of crime. We can join our hands together and stop those forces which victimize people. Together as partners with many positive people and groups in the city, we can reach out from our familiar zones of comfort and confront some of the root causes of crime, poverty, unemployment, illiteracy, child abuse and hopelessness.

2 Livonia teens get Seifen Award

Two Livonia teenagers have won recognition for their selfless service to others.

Lynne Evasic, 13, and Joe Naujokas, 15, were selected from a group of teens to receive the Fr. J. Edward Seifen Award from the Men's Club of St. Aidan's Church, Livonia.

Lynne has brought a puppy to a nursing home for three years, su-pervised children while their parents attended Mass, and participated in the Balloons program, which trains clowns to entertain at nursing homes and for senior citizen groups.

Joe has been a baby-sitter twice a week for years, helped raise money to benefit mental retardation programs, and worked at the church's fish dinners during Lent the last two years.

Lynne and Joe will receive $100 U.S. Savings Bonds, presented by St. Aidan's pastor, Rev. Jerry Flannery. All of the teens who were nominated for the award will receive passes to the Laurel Park AMC Theaters, provided by man-ager Bryan Kraynak.

Religious drama: "Jesus Was His Name," a dramatic production that tells the story of a young homeless man who dreams about hope for humanity as the result of the Gospels read to him as a child, will be at the Palace of Auburn Hills now through Sunday, May 23. The production combines a 70mm film and a cast of 58 actors and actresses who move between the stage, the film and the audience. For more information, call The Palace at 377-8600.

Most of the missionaries from this area are sent to the one in

Provo, Utah. Since Snow has taken eight years of French classes, she hopes it will lessen her time at the training center. While her extensive knowledge of French may have had some influence on the location of her mission, there was no guarantee that she would be sent

"She was choosing whether she wanted to go on a mission, not what country," her mother said. Amy has had a couple of friends who have also taken French and one was assigned to Portugal while the other went to Japan.

The missionaries must be very dedicated and it becomes a real labor of love for them.

Labor of love

"It takes a lot of discipline," admitted Robert Poll, president of the Detroit Mission. "It's strictly voluntary and yet, they enjoy and plan on it."

Poll began a three-year assignment at the Detroit Mission in July 1992. He does receive a living allowance for his position as director, counselor and guide for the 170 missionaries stationed here from throughout the world.

He concedes that "this is a 24hour-a-day job" for him and his

'You've got 170 teenagers and you're the mom and dad," he said with a chuckle.

He interviews all the missionaries that are in this area each month for about 20-30 minutes each. During those 80 hours of interviews, he checks on any concerns they might have, their health and any problems. There are also 80 apartments that they are in charge of that they must check twice a year. "Once a month, we have new missionaries coming in and some going; it's on a rotating basis," Poll said. "We're usually getting anywhere from 10 to 15 per month coming and going."

The missionaries are paired up and always travel as partners.

"Every three-four months they get a new companion," Poll said. They get to meet a lot of people throughout the world, associate with them, learn about their cultures, activities and way of life."

During their missionary service, the young adults lead a very disciplined life.

'They don't do any dating and they can't watch any television," Poll explained. "They get up at six o'clock every morning and they study. They leave the apartments by 9:30 and they go out and usually come back about 9:30 at night. They're very focused in on assisting people. 'We ask them to spend at least four hours a week in community service. They go to different community functions and help out in schools or help with yard work or the libraries. You see 101 different things."

According to Poll they have each Monday off where they can write letters, do their laundry, clean their apartments, wash cars and engage in recreation.

They can call home on important holidays but they do not go back home until the end of their service. Poll pointed out that the families understand that policy and that most of the communication will be by letter.

Upon completing their service, most of the missionaries finish their education. "I'd say 80-90 percent go back to college," said

Snow plans to do just that when she returns from France. A missionary farewell is planned for Snow for 9 a.m. Sunday, May 30, at the Livonia Ward, Six Mile and Merriman roads. Jeff Goldman, a 1991 Stevenson High School graduate, will have his farewell at 9 a.m. Sunday, May 23, at the ward before he departs for his mission in Denver, Colo. They will join more than 40,000 LDS missionarworld.

Some of Snow's friends who are or have been in the field have told her this is the hardest and the most rewarding job that they have ever had, but her mother summed it up best: "They always come home with a love for the area that they've served in, a love for the people. You can't help but love people that you've served.'

sett, who left the greatest family legacy to Nankin Township, now the city of Westland. Bassett owned Nankin Mills when Henry Ford bought it in 1918. Ford had visited the gristmill as a child and later longed to restore its splendor.

Ol' Henry converted the Civil War-era mill to an auto parts factory as part of his grand plan to offer farmers winter work and preserve the rural way of life by operating country plants along the Rouge, Huron and Raisin rivers. Driven by water and fossil fuel, the mill produced enough electricity to power homes in the area, then called Pike's Peak.

Supported by massive sycamore beams, Nankin Mills, by Nankin Lake at Ann Arbor Trail and Farmington Road, today houses the Wayne County Parks staff.

The mill will be restored to 1930s vintage and the turbine generator again will hum. Ford-era machinery will be worked into exhibits interpreting the history of the building. Since teaming up in 1988, Wayne County Parks and Friends of Nankin Mills have restored the exterior of the original mill and an 1840s Greek Revival tenant house.

To keep public attention focused on restoration, the fifth annual Spring Elegance, a juried art show and country fair, will run noon to 5 p.m. Sunday, June 6, at the historic site. Late 1800s period clothing sewn by Myers will be displayed.

More than 20 artists and artisans will offer fine art and crafts; some also will demonstrate their skills. Westland artist Saundra Weed will judge the artistry and award ribbons. For space, call Myers: 421-7213 ($25 for tent space, $20 for lawn

Other activities will include square dancing, round dancing and Irish step dancing — weather permitting. A country hoedown, hosted by the estland Cultural Society, will kick off at 6 p.r. on the mill's front porch.

Friends of Nankin Mills and Wayne County Parks co-sponsor Spring Elegance. Last year, it generated $600. "But its main purpose is to bring art into the park for people to enjoy and to boost community interest in the mill," said Denise Mehelich, Friends president.

Major expansion eyed

The county acquired Nankin Mills from Ford Motor Co. in 1948. From 1957 to 1979, Mary Ellsworth's nature center there featured interpretive displays and live animals and served as a haven for sick or hurt animals. Then the budget ax fell and the mill fell into disrepair.

In 1991, the county unraveled plans to restore and double the size of the three-story mill and make it accessible to the disabled. Grants will cover much of the $1.5 million cost.

The new wing will house the parks staff and a multimedia community room. The original mill again will house a staffed nature center.

Myers grew up across the street from Nankin Mills, in a house once on the mill grounds. She now lives two doors away.

Myers' father, Arthur Trost, maintained the Nankin Mills grounds during the Ford era. Two big pine trees he planted 50 years ago still stand.

Neighborhood hangout

As a student at Perrinville Elementary and Nankin Mills Junior High, Myers remembers taking field trips to the mill.

The nature center quickly became an afterschool retreat for neighborhood kids during the "Kids loved going there mainly because of Mary Ellsworth," Myers said. "She taught us about nature and how we had to preserve it — and she did

'She had a gentle manner and was so knowledgeable about every kind of animal, every kind of plant. She really instilled in us all the importance of our natural surroundings.' Even today, people come to the mill in search of the nature center. During the setup of Spring Elegance last year, Mehelich was approached by a man with a small bird that had fallen from its nest. "He had the bird in a box and was looking for Mary Ellsworth. He remembered bringing his kids to the nature center when they were young and seeing how she cared for injured animals."

Historical preservation not only gives newcomers a look at Westland's past but also old-timers a sense of how their hometown evolved.

Said Myers: "We can only consider our future if we know what went on in the past. If we know what was done back when, we can improve on some of it. We can see what mistakes were made and try not to make them ourselves.'

Activities like an art show and country fair, a wine and cheese reception and a holiday tree lighting draw folks to Nankin Mills throughout the year. They reinforce its potential as a community

Livonia Mayor Robert Bennett pulled the cord that sent a plastic cover billowing to the floor as he unveiled James Gilbert's fabric sculpture in the Atrium of the Livonia Civic Center Library May 10.

With this act, Mayor Bennett officially accepted the three-dimensional gift from the Friends of the Library on behalf of the city.

"It's great that we're enhancing this magnificent architecture. It's important to bring the arts into this Civic Center Library," said Mayor Bennett, a long-time supporter of the arts in Livonia.

The aerial sculpture, "Nebulas Terraqueous" by Gilbert, was commissioned by the Friends of the Library in May 1992. Gilbert, a St. Claire Shores-based professional artist for 22 years, was selected to create the work from a group of 10 sculptors.

Gilbert earned a bachelor of fine arts degree in ceramics from Center for Creative Studies in Detroit and a master of fine arts degree in fiber from Cranbrook Academy of Art in Bloomfield Hills. He teaches watercolor, painting and life drawing at Cranbrook, and weaving and arts and crafts at Oakland Community College in Auburn Hills.

The six-feet-high woven aluminum stripping and rayon thread sculpture floats two stories above the heads of visitors to the library lobby. Its three lyrical panels run 16, 19 and 21 feet in length.

The varying lengths stand for the developing stages of a child into an adult, Gilbert explained. "I like contemporary so it appeals to me. It adds an interesting aspect to the atrium," said Livonia arts commissioner Lee Alanskas. A red, yellow and blue sphere serves as the focal point in one panel. On another, the eye is drawn to a green cube.

"As a straight edge turns into a curve, life begins," said Gilbert in a speech at the dedication.

"It was nice receiving the awards. It has special meaning because Livonia has a special significance for me. My work has always been so well accepted in Livonia," Janus Benda said at the opening. Janus Benda's winning watercolor, on handmade Twinrocker paper with deckle edges, features violet mountains looming in the background of a rustic village scene. It is similar to watercolors she painted of Alaska.

'I still had reminiscences of Alaska. Places I had seen in Alaska but failed to photograph," said the Farmington Hills artist. "I limited my palette to four colors. I love color and get carried away with it."

An architectural engineering graduate of the University of Detroit, Janus Benda worked 15 years for the Southfield firm Harley Ellington Pierce Yee Associates in the structural engineering of commercial building. In 1987, she gave up its security to pursue an art career full-time.

Janus Benda teaches watercolor at Bentley Center in Livonia and in the adult education program of Dearborn Public Schools. In July, she will teach a three-week workshop in water media and collage at VAAL. Janus Benda currently has a one-person show on the fourth floor of the old Dearborn City Hall through the end of May.

First-place winner in the oil category was Irene Kallas of Dearborn for her realistic 'Still Life with Eggs." First place in mixed media went to Beverly Johnson for "Apples and Turnips." Eileen Bibby took first place in watercolor for "Fayette." The Livonia watercolorist also took first place in the medium at VAAL's show last fall.

Bibby, who started to paint in acrylic in 1984, has had two one-person shows at the Scarab Club in Detroit.

The deep blue of Lake Michigan lurks in the background of Fayette, an old iron smelting town in northern Michigan. Red and green dominates this watercolor by Bibby.

"It's a state park. I made sketches and took photos to work from," Bibby said. "Those furnaces are huge.'

Second place in oil was awarded to Evelyn Henry of Redford Township and third place to June Weidel of Livonia.

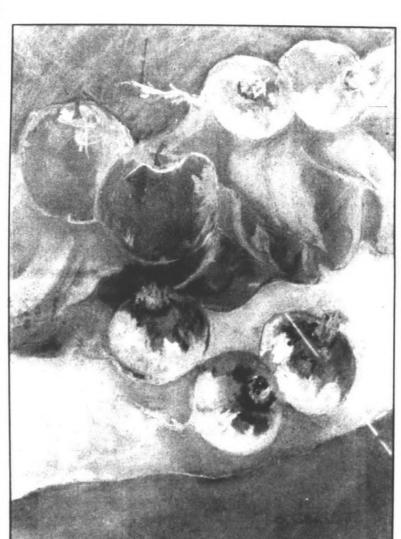

Second in mixed media went to Marsha Weigand, Northville, and third to Gail Smith.

Second in watercolor went to Anne J. Atherton, Bloomfield Township, and third to Diane Tasselmyer, Westland.

Honorable mentions were awarded to: ■ for oil — Evanthia Samra of Farmington. ■ for mixed media — Yvette Goldberg of Livonia, V. Janus Benda and Gail Smith.

■ for watercolor — Jean Weber of Plymouth, Audrey Harkins of Livonia, Olga Pawlowski of Dearborn Heights and Diane Tasselmyer.

Show hours are 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday-

Healthy winner: Beverly Johnson of Livonia features apples and turnips in this mixed-media award winner.

She consults no cards or tea leaves, doesn't gaze into literary palms, has never owned a crystal ball. But armed only with some working knowledge of the publishing industry and today's "book business," some research on the gist of the book itself, plus some information on the writer and the writer's track record, she can't wait to stick her silly little neck out. For instance, she sees the following novels as some of the splashiest literary hits of 1993. You'll find them on bestseller lists before summer's end, she says, smiling smugly.

al, but specific books, almost-but-"The Red Horseman," by Stephen Coonts. Due out from Pocket Books in June, this international thriller features Coonts' popular hero, Jake Grafton ("Under Siege"). As deputy director of the U.S. Defense Intelligence Agency, Grafton and sidekick "Toad" Tarkington encounter the explosive politics of the Mideast, serious trouble in U.S. intelligence and some nefarious types who are out to do them in by poisoning. The two American heroes also are assigned to help@dismantle the former Soviet Union's nuclear arsenal.

The fictionalized versions of Robert Maxwell and Gen. Colin Powell play a part in the global action and Saddam Hussein is in the thick of things, too.

Coonts is scheduled for an author tour, usually a sure sign that the publisher intends to secure a hefty return on a sizable investment. Watch for other signs of a major advertising campaign. "Pigs in Heaven," by Barbara

Kingsolver. Focusing on the confrontation of modern-day Native

American culture and the society ry out the dreams of the fuhrer. outside it, this novel looks at the quandary of individuals within both.

Specifically, the story centers around the fight for an adopted child between her adoptive mother and the Cherokee nation into which she was born. "Pigs in Heaven" is a timely story, told by a poet who chooses to write prose. If you've not done so already, you may want to read Kingsolver's "The Bean Trees," a kind of prequel to this new novel, as you anticipate publication of "Pigs in (from HarperCollins) Heaven" next month.

"Thunder Point," by Jack Higgins. As this story opens, it is April 1945, the Russians are closing in on Berlin and Adolf Hitler is issuing some of his final orders to Martin Bormann. Essentially, Bormann is to escape Europe via U-boat and head for South America, where he is to continue to car-

The past is prologue here and, in it, a number of British aristocrats and even the Duke of Windsor would make it appear that one cannot always trust one's very best friends.

Higgins' fans will be happy to learn that "Thunder Point" has been designated a Book-of-the-Month Club main selection for June. Publisher is Putnam.

Livonia artist runs gallery up north

Visual Arts Association of Livonia instructor Edee Joppich is getting ready to open her gallery in Northport on the Leelanau

Peninsula. The 14th season of Joppich's Bay Street Gallery will run Memorial Day weekend through mid-October. About 50 artists from around Michigan will be featured this year in a wide variety of me-

"It's always exciting as it grows in quality and expectation," said Joppich, a Farmington Hills resi-Joppich's Bay Street Gallery is a showcase for Michigan artists. Many are from college and university faculties. "Almost all haven't shown before. Each year, I try to get a new group.' Joppich travels around the state, jurying art shows, lecturing and conducting workshops. She takes these opportunities to see faculty shows, galleries and studios, and selects artists to invite. Some are known internationally. One or two young artists are included each year. Ceramics and glass will be emphasized in 1993. After touring the Center for Creative Studies student show with CCS glass instructor Maxwell Davis, Joppich chose Lisa Rice and Jane McHale to show their ceramics, along with Davis and instructor Albert Young. Kaiser Suidan of Birmingham, in his senior year at CCS, and potter John Glick of Farmington were in last year's gallery group and will return to show their new work this year. "There's usually some emphasis (theme). A couple of years ago, we had art of the U.P. I'm looking forward to a very good season. I feel that way every year." Among the other artists to be featured this year are Rosemary Gratch of Bingham Farms, Cheryl Noonan of Troy, Sonia Molnar of Birmingham and Jerrine Habsburg, Monte Nagler, Alice Nichols, Sandra Levin and Gail Yurasek of Farmington. The gallery is a favorite summertime stop for many. Visitors come from all over the state, around the country and Europe. 'What's unique is that the people that come to the gallery are from all over the world. Many do

"Art and music are so compatible. Families come, a lot of children, it's just a lovely day."

Joppich's husband Ed, an architect with Giffels Hoyem Basso in Troy, shares her enthusiasm for Michigan art. He designed the gallery.

The gallery is at Bay and Second, one block north of the marina entrance. It is open weekends in June, September and mid-October, and 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. every day in July and August. Call 616-

Ceramics spotlight Southwest theme

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN SPECIAL WRITER

Livonia Arts Commission presents a display of ceramics with Southwest-influenced designs by Sharon and Robert Ludwig through May 31 in the circular showcases on the second floor of the Livonia Civic Center Library, Farmington Road and Five Mile.

"I had first seen their work at our arts and craft fair at Greenmead last year," said arts commissioner Lee Alanskas, who is charged with presenting exhibits in the showcases.

"I was impressed with the originality of design as well as the quality of their work. Also, I was intrigued with the fact that they learned their trade in Arizona."

Sharon had been involved with ceramics for 20 years before meeting Robert through a mutual friend. She asked if he would like and he did. As both were widowed, they began dating. After about one year, they married in February 1990. They honeymooned in Prescott, Ariz.

to help her work on some pieces

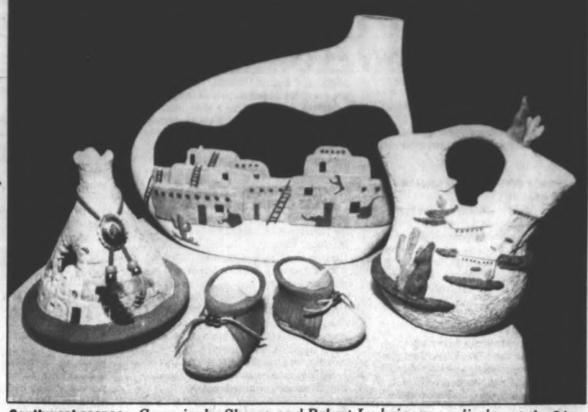

While in Prescott, they took classes in making Southwest pottery. It was there they learned about design and cut-outs as well as adding 14K gold to their creations. When they returned to their Hemlock, Mich., home, they decided to continue honing the skills learned in Prescott.

The ceramics, which are made in a mold, are painted by Sharon after Robert applies the designs freehand to the vases.

The finished pieces can be found in Michigan craft shops and a home interior shop in Mount Pleasant. The Ludwigs also display their wares at shows throughout the state.

Prices on average range from $18 for a ceramic tepee to $70 for a large vase decorated with an Indian maiden.

Library hours are 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday-Thursday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday-Saturday and 1-5 signifies the earth - the blue, water, he continued. "Nebulas Terraqueous stands for air, land and water. Nebulas means any diffused mass of interstellar dust, gas or both visible as luminous patches. Terraqueous is composed of both land and water. Terra is land and aqueous is water. This makes up our being," Gilbert said.

Library commission president Yvonne Schanz spoke at the dedication saying, the library "has a warmth that it didn't have before. It's a stirring and unique gift. We thank the Friends of the Library for such a shining

The $5,000 sculpture is the first of several fabric sculptures planned for the atrium of the 4-year-old library.

'It's beautiful, very exciting, the way the color changes. It really adds a different dimension to the ceiling," said arts commission chairwoman Betty Newton.

Jack Olds, Livonia arts commissioner and longtime watercolorist, coordinated the sculpture purchase. A member of the Friends, he documented it all through the weaving stages

"It's an exciting piece of work. It's certainly going to make a personality change in the atrium," Olds said.

Gilbert, the building's architect (Don Di-Como of the Kamp-DiComo of Livonia) and a representative of the city's public service division, met before the installation to determine proper procedures to follow.

Michael Deller enjoyed his vantage point as city librarian watching the installation of the sculpture in the weeks before the dedication

"What's been fun is watching the people's reactions," Deller said. "What's neat is to watch the play of light with the changing light

Mayor Bennett's wife Janet, active in Friends for the Development of Greenmead, thought the sculpture added an Oriental touch to the space while Redford Township artist Ruth Ann Platt liked the way it flows. "It's airy," Platt said. "It sparkles. It's a very interesting concept.'

Other factors included a continued rise in incomes and "more reasonably" priced homes.

The National Association of

"Together, these factors have lowered monthly payments and encouraged many who have been undecided to buy," Realtors economist John A. Tuccillo said.

The attitudes of most Americans toward home buying are changing, too, according to another federal survey.

"Americans are more confident that this is a good time to buy a home, and that they have the ability and the resources to do so," said John Johnson, chairman of Fannie Mae, the nation's largest investor in home mortgages. "The lower interest rates of the past year had a profoundly positive impact."

Fifty percent of Americans surveyed by the Federal National Mortgage Association last month said that now is a "very good time to buy a home." That figure is up from 38 percent last year.

Americans are in a home-buying mood

The National Association of Realtors said a second index that measures the ability of renters to become first-time buyers also rose during the quarter, but remained well below the level for all buyers.

"While more first-time buyers are finding it a little easier to purchase a starter home, there still remain many young families and renters who want to own a home but are finding it difficult to come up with the necessary down payment to reach that goal," said Realtors president William S. Chee.

Still, the Federal National Mortgage survey showed that 74 percent believe that homeownership is within reach for most people between the ages of 30 and 35, compared to just 47 percent a year

A downside to this otherwise bright outlook is that the percentage of those who believe discrimination poses a problem in their efforts to buy a home rose sharp-

Fifty-two percent of those polled by the Federal National Mortgage survey mentioned discrimination as a serious problem, up from 42 percent last year.

"The large percentage of Americans who believe housing discrimination is a serious issue shows how much work all of us have to do," Johnson said.

crease in assessments. Any suggestions? Yes. The condominium association can, in some jurisdictions, represent the interests of the homeowners on a collective basis and assist in retaining counsel to represent the interests of the homeowners on a collective basis before the tax assessor.

The association can be a source for organization which, I have found from personal experience, can be successful in bringing to the attention of the applicable tax assessor the legitimate concerns of the members of the association regarding what may be an unreasonable tax increase.

I am a salesperson who has not been paid the commissions to which I am entitled. I have been terminated by the company and am basically being stonewalled. Is there any legal protection for me?

In June of 1992 the legislature enacted a statute which codified sales person's and broker's rights to payment of predetermination and post termination commissions when due, and imposing up to treble damages for failure to

Under the act, a company must pay commissions that are due prior to the salesperson's termination within 45 days after the employment or contract is terminated. Post termination commissions must also be paid with 45 days of the date they are due.

If a company intentionally fails to pay commissions when they are due, it will be liable not only for the full amount of the commission, but also for a sum twice the amount of the commission or $100,000, whichever is less, as a penalty.

If you were the procuring cause of either the sale, the customer or the account, more than likely the courts will hold the firm liable for payment of post termination commissions unless such right was expressly precluded or limited by contract, past practice or custom.

The Name Game Builders pick top brands for inside jobs

■ Matching buyer preferences with manufacturers' products can be a tough job for a builder, but failure to make the right choices can cost him the sale of a house.

And you thought you had it tough picking out furniture for your house just think if you were a builder and had 70 houses to build and had to stock them with thousands of products before the owner ever steps in

Not surprisingly, easily recognizable brand names rank high on builders' lists.

The main reason? Comfort levels. Frank Bronzetti of Troy-based Estate Builders Inc. - which has houses in development such as Copperwood East in Farmington Hills, Crescent Parc and Wattles Point in Troy - said brands carry high comfort levthey are familiar with when they're shopping for a house.

'Of course, it depends on what price range you're building in," Bronzetti said.

For example, a buyer isn't going to find Jenn-Air and Gaggenau ranges and ovens in a entry-level or even a first move-up house.

Of course, most builders are flexible and will put in any features the buyer demands - for an additional price - but if choice is left to the builder, he will invariably go with a name brand even if the cost is a little

But if there are two comparable brands, the builder will choose based on a lower price, he said.

Used to be simpler

Builders had it easier when buyers were less demanding. Years ago, builders didn't include a lot of the features that are standard into today's houses, Bronzetti added. "People bought their own ranges, refrigerators and carpet."

Now people want to be able to move the furniture in and have the house ready to go. As a result, builders have had to do a little extra research and find out what's a good product and what's not, he said.

Bob Cococetta, a sales representative at Fairgrove Manor in Troy, said it never surprises him how savvy customers are when it comes to the products. A no-name, off-market product is going to turn off many buyers even if they have the option to buy more expensive brands.

"They (buyers) want to know who made the windows, what kind of carpeting it is, how good the kitchen cabinets are," he said. Builders are going to respond to that if they want to sell a house.

'Everyone who comes through has a notebook, and they mark down things like such-and-such appliances, carpeting, cabinets. That's what I did when I bought my house," Cococetta said.

How to choose

How does a builder decide what's good and what's not? Same as anvone else - experience, a little research and word of mouth, said custom home builder Ray Hurley of Hurley Homes in Livonia.

Before a product ever goes in one of his houses, Hurley said he'll talk to other builders and contractors, flip through trade journals, take walks through other builders' models and look over the products.

"(Buyers) always want the latest," he said. "I've got to go with what's going on today."

Some of the best places to find new products, Hurley said, are the national builders conventions where manufacturers show new products.

Even so, the builder has to be careful and look past the glitz at such shows, he said. "Show girls don't make toi-

Still, such shows offer builders a chance to take a look at some of the new products so he can begin researching them.

Not all products work as well as advertised, Hurley said. "I've got a whole garage full of things that didn't work as well as expected.

That's where experience comes in, he said. Products that are impractical or that come from manufacturers with poor records aren't going to get a second chance.

If a product turns out to be a stinker, Hurley said, it's best if the builder removes it from his models because buyers will always look at that one thing, and it will drag down an otherwise fine house.

Dependability the key

Builders don't just choose name brands for their familiarity, said Tom Auguliaro, vice president of Kimron Construction in Novi, a builder at Windcliff Woods in West Bloomfield and Oxford Estates in Farmington Hills. There's a reason name brands become name brands, rather than remain obscure, off-market products - they're dependable, he

"They're sound, well-built, dependable products," he said. The first thing the builder has to do is establish his price range - top-of-the-line kitchen cabinets in a four-room, starter bungalow wouldn't make a lot of sense, he said.

After striking a balance between quality and price, there is an equally important consideration. "What's going to be available?"

The least expensive cabinet isn't going to suit a builder's purposes if he can only get one, he said.

Builders have an edge when it comes to buying products for houses, he said. Unlike buyers hunting for a new range or windows, sales representatives come to the builder and try to hawk the wares.

Builders have to be careful, though," he said.

Time to fix up patio party gear comes around Memorial Day, says Kevin Halpin. "People get out the patio furniture and barbecue grill just before their first party of the season, and they don't like what they see.'

If the furniture still has an aura of newness, cleaning usually brings it around, says Halpin, vice president of Fortunoff's, a retail chain in suburban New York and New Jersey that has hefty sales in lawn and patio pieces.

Halpin says if you follow a regular maintenance plan, your outdoor furniture can look good for 10 years or more. The plan includes preseason cleaning and protective coating, occasional care mainly wiping off spots — during the summer, and a post-season cleaning before storing.

If, however, the furniture is beyond maintenance or the homeowner's expertise, professional refinishing often can restore it to a good-as-new appearance.

One process useful for wrought iron and solid aluminum furniture involves sandblasting and recoating the framework. The baked-on powder-coat color pronew metal outdoor furniture. The companies that refinish also replace straps, slings and cushions.

'Professional refinishing is fairly costly, so it makes sense only if you have top-quality furniture," says Tom Martinez, coowner of Long Island Outdoor Furniture Co. in Bohemia, N.Y. "You might save 50 to 70 percent compared to buying new top-line name brands and about 35 percent for mid-line brands.

In addition to restoring top-ofthe-line pieces, Martinez says the process is useful when you've added pieces to the furniture you already have and you want them all to match.

There's hope for even the most unsightly wrought-iron furniture. Patti's Portico in Greenwich, Conn., is one place that restores battered old pieces to newness.

Patti DeFelice, a co-owner, says business is booming because the graceful old furniture, particularly dining sets, has become valuable. Outdoor dining pieces from the 1950s are even being restored for use indoors, she says.

DeFelice says almost every kind of damage can be repaired, cess is similar to that used for up to and including extensive rust

Future shock? 'Flexible' homes

AP — Architect Walter Kroner thinks houses should be like toy Erector Sets, so easy to assemble that two unskilled adults can build them with hammers, screw-drivers and other basic tools.

The houses also have to be flexible.

If homeowners need to add a room, they can expand up or out and simply reuse the same roofing. And when the kids are gone, if the house is too big, the owner simply takes a room or two off.

"It is very, very simple," said Kroner, a professor at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in Troy, N.Y., and director of its Center for Architectural Research.

"With a few pictures and descriptions you can take all the components — because they are light enough and small enough and simple enough and foolproof enough — and put them together to make a variety of housing designs and housing types," Kroner said.

Kroner's housing concept doesn't stop there. His houses also have to cost up to 30 percent less than conventional housing, be energy efficient, adaptable to any site or climate and be environmentally friendly.

A major goal is to provide housing alternatives for people who otherwise might never be able to afford a home of their own, especially young families who were unable to buy homes in the 1980s.

The house's construction utilizes a post-and-beam method with 12-foot-square structural modules. The building rests on piers with no basement, so there's no need for backhoes, cranes and forklifts. By renting an auger, two people can bore holes for piers. The surrounding environment and water table are not disturbed.

The plumbing and electrical systems are so simple that they are installed by connecting hoses and plusging in cables and plugging in cables.

But if it's "flexible," is it secure?

"It meets code, better than the code that New York state requires," Kroner said. "It's already a higher quality than quality manufactured housing."

Students with no previous construction experience are building a 1½-story prototype of Kroner's house at a site in a technology park about five miles from RPI. So far, 300 hours of work have gone into the panelized structure; the interior work remains. The gable-style house has wooden siding, but Kroner says his homes can be sided with any materials and their styles modified.

the household's needs change.

Plumbing and electrical systems can be installed by connecting hoses and plugging in cables.

Variety of materials and styles can be warety or materials and styles can be used; some basic features, such as siding, could be upgraded if desired.

Efficient use of materials and labor can reduce building costs sharply.

Using standard materials, the 1,350-square-foot house with three bedrooms and 1½ baths would cost $27 a square foot for materials, or $37,800, he said. The prototype cost $37 a square foot because of some upgrades, such as oak flooring.

Census figures indicate that the median cost of new home construction in the United States in 1991 was $49 a square foot and the median home size was 1,900 square feet.

Money is saved because of the efficient use of materials and labor, which typically account for up to 50 percent of the cost of a home, Kroner said.

Land price, though, is another story. In the Albany suburb of North Greenbush, N.C., where Kroner's prototype is being built, a half-acre costs at least $30,000.

It's unlikely that Kroner's homes would start cropping up all over North Greenbush, according to Richard French of the town building department. It's not that the building itself wouldn't meet standards, but required lot sizes in the town would probably be too costly for someone building one of Kroner's affordable models.

French, who has inspected the prototype house, says it falls somewhere between upscale and low-income housing.

"The young blue-collar couple, in their early 20s, married with no college education ... a lot of those kind of people wind up scrambling the rest of their lives for their next apartment," French said.

Kroner's homes could change that, he said.

Though the prototype won't be finished until July, Kroner said he already has received hundreds of letters requesting information about the homes.

Kroner's project has its critics,

Costly housing? Try to buy in Japan

AP — Complaining about the price of building a home? Check this out:

Prospective homeowners in Japan pay three times as much as Americans do to build a house, according to a Japanese research institute.

Excluding the cost of the land, the average housing construction cost is about $5,450 per 36.7 square feet in Japan compared with about $1,820 in the U.S., the Japan Research Institute Ltd. said.

Masaharu Sakuta, general manager of the technical advisory department at the institute, said the report, carried in the institute's monthly report, urged simplification of the construction materials distribution system and the complicated contractual system for housing construction.

But Sakuta said in the report that Japan should not ease current earthquake and fire safety regulations to make the Japanese market more accessible to foreign builders.

U.S. officials have pointed out that the regulations create a major barrier for foreign construction firms.

The report said Japan needs its regulations, relatively strict by international standards, because of its exceptional crowding, soft foundation soil and frequent earthquakes

AIA honors area architects

Victor Saroki & Associates of Birmingham and Harley Ellington Pierce Yee Associates of Southfield recently received a pair of design and recognition awards from AIA Detroit, a chapter of the American Institute of Architects.

Saroki won in the low budget/small project category for renovating its own offices and an interior architecture award for the Shelter, an alternative nightclub in Detroit.

Harley Ellington won a 25-year award for the south wing addition to the Detroit Institute of Arts and an honor award for the mausoleum and chapel at Resurrection Cemetery in Clinton Township.

AIA Detroit provided the following descriptions of the award winners:

Saroki offices — Generous spreads of clear glass throw light into the window display spaces where images of projects and models invite the close inspection of passersby.

Delicate wood-panel, steel-frame partitions, a glass-block conference room wall extending upward to a skylight and exposed metal mechanical system ducts celebrate their function and presence.

The Shelter — One of the hottest alternative nightclubs in town and the starting point for many of the newest members of the music industry . . . is located in the basement of St. Andrew's Hall near Greektown.

Its mission is to clarify new ways to care for the planet. Furnishings allude to the strata of the earth's surface and forms and shapes are reminiscent of bubbles and waves of water.

■ Mausoleum and chapel — Three mausoleum buildings containing 5,000 crypts, a covered circulation gallery incorporating 1,000 wall niches and a high-image chapel are linked by a common roof.

The granite veneer exterior features skylights and a lead-coated copper roof.

■ Institute of arts addition — Highly respectful of the original 1922 neo-classical Paul Cret-designed structure, the design form doesn't touch the existing; its only connection is made with a sheet of glass.

The interior features a skylit atrium and sculpture court. The new structure is clad in highly-polished dark gray granite in dark contrast to and reflecting the existing faceted white marble.

Gunnar Birkerts and Associates of Birmingham collaborated with Harley Ellington on the south wing addition and shared in the 25-year award.

Giffels Associates of Southfield won an honor award for an Amoco research and development facility in Alpharetta, Ga.

Award winner: Renovated offices of Victor Saroki in Birmingham were honored as a low budget/small project award winner by AIA Detroit. The architectural firm used glass blocks, skylights and wood-panel, steel frame partitions in its renovation.

Safety is universal design's focus

AP — Universal design is more an attitude about convenience and safety than about products specially designed for the physically disabled.

A lot can be achieved in kitchen and bath simply by changing cabinet heights and choosing drawers instead of shelves. For hardware, opt for levers instead of knobs and hinges that allow doors to swing wide, says Kathryn George, co-editor of Decorating Remodeling magazine.

George says almost everyone can benefit from universal design: "Children and anyone who is or will be pregnant, injured or old."

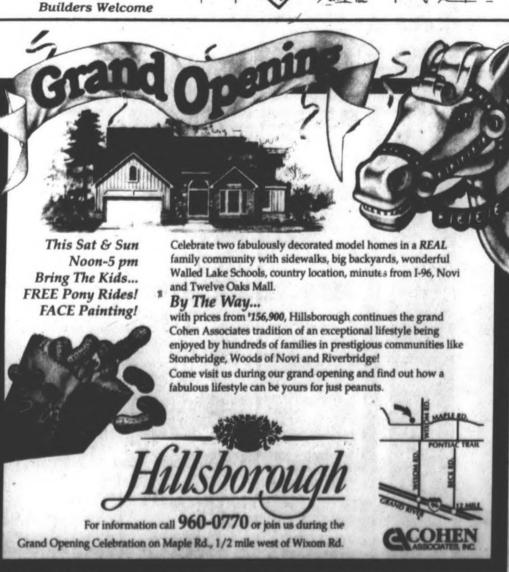

To make any home more accessible for everyone, George offers these tips:

Make sure all rooms, especially kitchens and baths, are well lit. Lower light switches so wheelchair-bound individuals and children can reach them.

Eliminate thresholds, ledges and door saddles or lower to no higher than three quarters of an inch so a wheelchair can negotiate the rise. Bevel the edges to minimize chances of tripping.

When remodeling a kitchen, make sure aisles are at least 36 inches wide. Design counters so there are several heights ranging from 30 inches to 36 inches. Continuous countertops, smoothtop ranges and eliminating the ridge between sink and counter allow someone of limited strength to move heavy pots and pans by aliding them.

Kelsey plan: Sky-lit and open

Lattice work, a country-style wrap-around porch, cedar shakes and a wealth of multi-paned windows give the Kelsey, a two-story home, a comfortable, open and welcoming look.

Both ends of a sun room have sliding glass doors that open onto decks. Light spills over into the family room through windows and French doors.

A long eating bar is all that separates the family room from a kitchen that's large enough to accommodate multiple cooks. Natural light from a skylight illuminates the garden window in front of the three-section sink.

Cooktop and ovens are built into the work island and the huge pantry has both walk-in and faceframe doors.

Garage access through the nook comes in handy for unloading groceries. A utility room, large enough to accommodate both a freezer and a fold-down ironing board is close to both the kitchen and garage. Clothes dropped in a chute in the large linen/storage closet upstairs end up in a basket

A bar sink is tucked into an alcove between the kitchen and the formal dining room.

Vaulted ceilings increase the sense of spaciousness in the dining room and parlor. A swing room located between the family room and master suite is a bonus space that can be used as a nursery, homeoffice or hobby room.

All bathrooms in the house have skylights. The master bath has three - one in the shower and toilet enclosure and two over the twin basins in the dressing area near the walk-in closet.

Silence squeaky floors

Homeowner questions answered by Popular Mechanics

Q. We have a problem with squeaky floors in our 50-yearold home and will be tearing up the floor to correct the problem. What can you suggest to insure that the squeaks don't

A. We suggest that you use one-inch drywall screws instead of nails to attach the plywood to the joist. Drywall screws don't require predrilling a hole and will countersink themselves. They hold tighter than nails and won't come loose even if the wood shrinks.

These screws are also used by some contractors on outdoor decks.
