Streetscape vote hits red light

A petition drive to put a $2.4-million streetscape plan up for a public vote fell short — by 12 signatures. However, the city commission could still place the project on the ballot. The plan would be paid off from property taxes in the area.

BY KEVIN BROWN
STAFF WRITER

The drive to put the $2.4-million downtown street and sidewalk improvement project on a citywide ballot has failed.

City clerk Linda Langmesser reported on Friday that while 715 valid signatures were necessary and 791 were turned in, the number of valid signatures fell 12 short, at 703.

City commissioners will get a report on the clerk's findings at their meeting tonight, said City Manager Steve Walters.

Walters said the commission still has the option to schedule a citywide vote on the project.

Jean Morrow, a commission watcher who headed the drive, said Friday, "I was a little disappointed that I lost."

"I accept it. At least we tried," he said, thanking those who helped collect signatures and those who signed.

"At least they know where 791 people stand on it," Morrow said.

Of the petition signatures turned in by Morrow, eight were declared not legible and 15 found to not match signatures on voter registration cards — possibly because husbands signed for wives, Langmesser said.

There were also three duplicate signatures, and 62 who signed were not registered to vote in the city.

Langmesser and four co-workers checked the signatures for validity after Morrow turned them in on Monday.

The figure 715 was necessary for the drive to succeed, as that represents 10 percent of registered city voters.

Larry Bird, a downtown businessman and DDA member who has backed the plan, commented, "My feeling is that the project has been in progress three or four years; it's time to move on and get the project rolling. How long do we keep the streets in disrepair?"

If commissioners don't schedule a vote, Walters said a special commission meeting will likely be scheduled for July 12 to review design changes on traffic concerns related to the project.

The design changes would then be refined by the city engineer. Walters said the commission as early as its July 5 or 19 meetings could begin seeking to sell bonds to pay for the project.

"Construction bids would come in two to four weeks after," he said, and construction could start in August.

The project, touted by backers as crucial to downtown development efforts, would likely be completed in summer 1994.

By the plan, downtown development authority revenue — collected from taxes paid by downtown businesses — would be used to make bond payments.

Syringe not the real thing

BY KEVIN BROWN

The syringe in a Pepsi can scare has come to Plymouth.

Police say a Plymouth Township woman's report of finding a syringe in a Pepsi can on Wednesday is false, and police and the federal Food and Drug Administration are seeking to prosecute her.

Plymouth Township Police Chief Carl Berry said the report of finding a syringe was made at 6 p.m. Wednesday.

He said the woman, 43, told police that the syringe was found in a can from a 12-pack of Pepsi bought at the Kroger store on Ann Arbor Road.

In investigating the incident, Berry said the woman eventually told police the claim was a fake.

"The investigation is still ongoing," Berry said Friday.

The woman making the report, Berry said, "told us she poured the contents from a can in a glass and it tasted flat."

"She said her daughter then opened up another can and poured it into the sink and a syringe fell out," Berry said.

Police investigating: Plymouth Township police said a woman who claimed she found a syringe in this Pepsi can has admitted to faking the report.

But the woman later told police her report was false, he added.

Last week, people in more than 20 states had reported finding syringes and hypodermic needles in Pepsi products, according to police and media reports. At least one person was arrested on charges of making a false report.

Pepsi-Cola Co., based in Somers, N.Y., has said it has no plans for a recall.

Federal officials cautioned that the claims appeared unrelated and many could be hoaxes.

A company spokesman said the company is aware of reports and is taking them all seriously while not commenting on individual cases.

The FDA is investigating whether the claims are valid.

Kroger spokesman Michael Layne, commenting on the Plymouth Township report, said, "The FDA and the FBI are continuing investigation on any and all claims" and declined further comment.

A lawyer with the U.S. Attorney's Office in Detroit said the maximum penalty for submitting a false report of product tampering is five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

The maximum penalty for filing a false police report in Plymouth Township is 90 days in prison and a $500 fine.

The Associated Press contributed to this report.

Mayflower situation clouds wedding plans

BY KEVIN BROWN
STAFF WRITER

Their plans called for wearing white, but some are seeing red.

Some brides who planned full wedding receptions at the Mayflower Meeting House and paid $775 deposits last year were told earlier this month that those deposits won't be honored.

But the owners of Lorenz Square, which owns the Mayflower Meeting House — Staton Lorenz, Rick Lorenz and Sheila Lorenz Osann — say any deposits made for weddings before the receiver took control of the Mayflower Hotel in December 1992 will be honored.

"I'll see to it they don't have to worry about that deposit," said Staton Lorenz.

He said that by Tuesday, all brides who booked receptions at the meeting house before late December 1992 will be contacted, to let them know everything is OK.

Laura Relyea, 24, of Livonia, plans a Sept. 18 wedding. By Friday morning she had yet to get a call.

Relyea said she was told at first she'd have to come up with another $700 for a deposit, and sue to get her first deposit back.

"I'm really angry at the Lorenz family," she said. "I did not know there was a receiver appointed."

Martha Conaway of Livonia, who planned her wedding reception for the Labor Day weekend, said Friday she was relieved to hear that her deposit would be honored — after being told earlier that it wouldn't.

A progression of events led to some brides finding out their receptions could be canceled:

In the summer and fall of 1992, deposits were placed at the Mayflower Hotel — owned by Scott Lorenz, Ran-

Train avoids shock

When lightning sent overhead wires whipping over some railroad tracks, Edgar Smith knew what to do.

He hurried to his car and grabbed his Mag flashlight, scrambled up a grade, and signaled an oncoming train to stop before reaching the downed wires.

The lightning struck during the storm June 11, at 11:45 p.m.

'At any time we can have train crews walking along the track and that would pose a danger to them.'

Jay Westrook
CSX spokesman

Smith was in the Hamilton Street building south of Adistra's Union Street headquarters.

"I looked out of the building, there were seven wires down," Smith said.

Power went out to the building, and he was unable to call police.

"I called from my car phone; I got the Michigan State Police," he said.

When he spotted the train coming, "I thought, 'This (oncoming) train is going to run over the wires; it was a bad situation.'"

"We are quite grateful," said CSX spokesman Jay Westrook from the company's headquarters in Jacksonville, Fla.

"At any time we can have train crews walking along the track and that would pose a danger to them," he said.

Stopped a train: Adistra employee Edgar Smith used a flashlight to signal a train to stop, after he spotted wires across the tracks.

dy Lorenz and Creon Smith — for fall 1993 receptions.

Those receptions would happen across the street at the Mayflower Meeting House. The meeting house was owned by Mayflower Hotel founder Ralph Lorenz, through his firm Lorenz Square.

The meeting house was being leased by Lorenz Square to Scott and Randy Lorenz and Smith. During this time, the hotel was under Chapter 11 bankruptcy.

Then in December 1992, hotel mortgage holder Heritage Federal Savings moved to have Ron Wilson of Hotel Investment Services named as receiver of the hotel.

The Lorenz siblings who now co-own Lorenz Square say they're angered at Wilson for sending out a letter in early June telling those who'd placed deposits for receptions at the meeting house that Lorenz Square would not honor them.

Staton Lorenz said the letter suggests that the wedding parties seek another site for their receptions, adding the letter listed five such sites.

Lorenz claimed the receiver is "depreciating the asset" by telling wedding parties to go elsewhere.

The Lorenz Square partners maintain the receiver should provide deposit money to help pay reception costs, but he isn't.

Wilson said that as a court-appointed receiver, he's not responsible for debts incurred before he took over at the hotel.

"My job is to take something that was obviously in trouble and turn it around," he said.

Wilson said he sent the letter to those who'd made deposits when an agreement between Lorenz Square and him to honor the reception dates broke down. "I had no choice but to inform people who had booked functions so they could make arrangements otherwise," he said.

Couples who have booked receptions with the hotel under the receiver's tenure will have the receptions moved to the hotel when possible, or the money will be refunded, he added.

SUPERMARKET SHOPPING - part one
If you have arthritis, you know supermarket shopping is more than a chore.
Just walking aisles can cause fatigue. In addition there is hazard. A spot from a spill, a single grape squashed on the floor, or a child scurrying across your path may cause you a slip or fall.
If your hands are arthritic, picking up a jar to inspect the price or read the label can become a reason for worry; you could drop the item, causing you embarrassment and creating a messy clean up job for management.
Necessities items may be outside your reach. If the can of frozen juice you want is wedged in a back corner of the store's freezer, you may be forced to settle for a lesser brand up front.
Then you face the inevitable wait in line. Even if only one or two people are in front of you, your choice of check-out is a chance. Problems of coupon exchange, an harassed clerk, or an unreasonable customer, may keep you standing interminably when your legs have only minutes of reserve left.
Even if you leave the market with no difficulties, tasks remain: lugging groceries into your car, carrying them from car to kitchen, and from counter top to refrigerator.
My next column will consider strategies to conserve energy and minimize joint strain.

Veterans memorial

Dedication highlights fest

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI
STAFF WRITER

The 1993 Liberty Fest will begin with a dream come true.

At 6 p.m. Friday, June 25, the new Canton Veterans Memorial will be dedicated in Heritage Park. The dedication represents the culmination of a longstanding effort by members of the veterans memorial committee, which has been collecting donations to build the memorial honoring each branch of the armed services.

Committee chairman John Spencer will open the dedication, which will be followed by flag raisings by the Canton Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 6967, a 21-gun salute, and the national anthem performed by the Plymouth-Canton marching band.

The dedication will include keynote speaker Supervisor Tom Yack, as well as the presentation of flags. U.S. Rep. William Ford will present the United States flag; state Sen. Robert Geake, the Michigan flag; memorial designer John Sheehy, the "Betsy Ross" flag; and Tom Sayer, Michigan Flag Co., the POW/MIA flag.

Spencer will provide the 500 expected guests with a history of the veterans memorial, as well as some insight into the roster of Canton KIA/POW/MIAs, including Civil War soldiers whose names are engraved on the brick pathway leading to the memorial.

The dedication will follow a parade beginning at 5:30 p.m. Veterans groups will lead the way to the new memorial in Heritage Park. Groups include Vietnam Veterans, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Paralyzed Americans, as well as an American Indian group in native costume.

Also leading the way to the memorial will be Revolutionary and Civil War groups costumed in period uniforms. Both the north and south will be represented among the Civil War groups. A fife and drum corps also will participate, Spencer said.

Getting ready: Work is winding down on the Canton Veterans Memorial that will be dedicated in Heritage Park at 5:30 p.m. Friday, June 25. The dedication will kick off the 1993 Liberty Fest.

Guests will have an opportunity to look at the bricks that bear the names of service men and women, as well as those killed and missing in action.

"Most of the KIAs have their bricks in. Most are from the Civil War," Spencer said.

The 24th Michigan Volunteer Infantry Co. of Canton is well represented on the walkway. The company was comprised of Canton, Plymouth and Wayne-Westland residents. "They were almost wiped out at Gettysburg," said Spencer, who has been researching the Canton residents involved in the Civil War.

Names associated with Canton history include Nelson Pooler, township supervisor in the 1800s, who was a POW in Andersonville Prison. Dwight Huston, whose marker stands in Cherry Hill Cemetery, was killed in action in Virginia. His son-in-law, John Tait, also has a marker in the cemetery. He was killed in Virginia when he was decapitated by a cannon ball.

The walkway also honors Canton area men killed in Vietnam, including Hugh Henry "Butch" Sarah, Harry Franklin Zalesny Jr., and Richard Allen Larrick.

The walkway is not yet complete. Anyone interested in buying a brick may do so during the Liberty Fest. Forms will be available. Bricks are available for $100 or $250, depending on how many letters or names you wish to have engraved.

STAFF PHOTOS BY BILL BRESLER

Finishing touches: Granite blocks honoring each branch of the armed services will be put on the foundation of the new Canton Veterans Memorial. Landscape work is continuing. Engraved bricks that make up the walkway leading to the memorial are still available for purchase.

Residents weigh pros, cons of another millage election

BY M.B. DILLON
STAFF WRITER

Kevin Shankie, a high school football player, was among those who worked to help pass the millage proposal defeated by voters in Plymouth-Canton Monday.

Losing the additional 4 mills means all extracurricular activities, including sports, are canceled for 1993-94.

"I've worked on this thing since March," Shankie told the school board at its packed meeting Tuesday night. "I spoke at many different functions. When I saw the results Monday night, all I could do was just stare at my letter jacket. I was there (at the citizens millage committee headquarters) until 1 o'clock. On my way home I stopped by school; I just stood on the football field and said, 'This place is going to go to waste.'"

He was among dozens of residents who told Plymouth-Canton school board members the pros and cons of putting a new millage increase on the ballot before $4.6 million in cuts are made. The board made no decision on holding a new election.

"We aren't going to give up," said trustee Dean Swartzwelter. "We are going to try to do better. We will take into account everything you said tonight."

Among those supporting a new millage election was Tracy Huth, a Salem High School student, who said: "I'm in track, choir and the Rockettes. I never would have achieved what I have if it weren't for sports."

Salem junior Rob Myers told the board, "You let the community down by not putting this on the ballot last spring. There's a crisis of confidence and lack of leadership on the board. The community should be communicated with so they understand what is really at stake with this millage."

Bill Joyner, executive director of the Canton Community Foundation, said he's willing to work full time and give up his vacation to work on the millage, adding: "Let's go again for the four mills."

Other residents disagreed, pointing out that 3,000 people voted yes on the renewal and no on the 4 mills.

"I know you considered things very carefully, but the public is telling you something else. You have to go back to the public with a great deal of information. If it can be justified, the public will go ahead and vote for it, but only if things are done to ensure the money is spent wisely," said James Foley.

Theresa Stankiewicz said it's not enough to ask again for 4 mills. "Perhaps the increases going to administrators and teachers should be revoked," she said. "I know that sounds terrible, but all of us have taken pay freezes and cuts, and many parents are unemployed. We all have to work for a solution, and soon."

Phyllis Alsobrooks took issue with trustee Dave Artley, who told her he wasn't in favor of the teachers' raise, but voted for it.

"I'm not a financial whiz, but I know there is pork in that budget," she said. "You are sitting here trying to fool us. You think we're stupid. This increase may pay for sports. I've heard teachers say, 'I don't want the raise; I'd rather have kids here after school.'"

Warren Miller said more thought perhaps should have been given to seeking a lesser tax increase. "No one ever showed what you'd get with 2.28 mills," he said. "A lot of people thought the deal with the teachers was under the table. You gave money you didn't have to the teachers. People are on layoffs, struggling to make their payments. What's wrong with freezes? When you have financial problems, you don't give raises."

School board member begins extended leave for operation

School board member and current board treasurer Dean Swartzwelter has announced that he will be on extended medical leave beginning today, when he will undergo surgery at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor.

Following the surgery, a recovery period of about two months is expected. During that time, he will be on leave from meetings of the board of education.

Swartzwelter, who has been undergoing cancer treatment, has maintained a full activity schedule including his duties as a board member.

A Plymouth resident and Ford Motor Company executive, Swartzwelter began his board service in 1984, when he was appointed to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Thomas Yack, who was running for the position of Canton Township Supervisor.

Since then, Swartzwelter has been re-elected three times to his board position. He served as board secretary from 1986 through 1988. He served as vice president in 1988-89. He served as president of the board during the 1989-90 and 1990-91 school years. His current term expires in 1995.

The concerts in Kellogg Park at Ann Arbor Trail and Main Street in Plymouth are free and are sponsored by local merchants.

"This is the kind of community event I'd like to see more of," said Rex Tubs, a sponsor and owner of the Engraving Connection. "This benefits the whole area. I enjoy getting behind a concert series like this and so do the other business."

Another sponsor, Scott Barr of the Flower Garden, said, "This is really great."

The musicians are local or from the metropolitan area and many agree to perform at a reduced rate, on behalf of the Arts Council sponsorship and because they enjoy the park-setting.

Besty Beckerman, once a member of the group Skylark, who has performed in downtown Plymouth before, was accompanied by another string musician, Baird Stern for last Wednesday's concert in Kellogg Park.

to the park to sit watch the performers, both those who are paid to perform, and the children who just naturally took to the music and danced.

"I prefer to play this kind of sing-along music outdoors. It just seems more fun," Beckerman played the mountain dulcimer and banjo to their own arrangements to traditional folk songs. "We appeal to both the children and the grown-ups," said Beckerman. Grandparents, parents, even area business people walked over

The concerts run noon to 1 p.m. every Wednesday through Aug. 18.

Credit union awards scholarships

Community Federal Credit Union has announced the winners of the 1993 Margaret Dunning Scholarship Awards. Recipients are Todd Price of Canton and Katherine Bahr of Plymouth.

Price is a 1993 graduate of Plymouth Canton High School. Although extracurricular activities such as student government and athletics have kept him quite busy, he will still manage to graduate with an outstanding grade point average. In addition to school, he has worked several jobs over the years to gain experience in the work force and to make a few extra dollars.

He looks forward to attending college and majoring in computer and electrical engineering. Looking ahead toward an ambitious future, Price may eventually become a teacher of computer and electrical engineering so he may help budding engineering students. "I think that it would be a great experience to educate the next generation in advancing technology, in addition to current fields of research being explored by major companies of the day."

Katherine Bahr will begin classes at the University of Michigan, majoring in engineering, this fall. Among other activities, Bahr is a member of the National Honor Society, Students Against Driving Drunk, and the varsity soccer team. She has also studied piano for many years, competing at state and national levels.

Bahr feels the environment is an area where she may be able to help. "Math and science are strong areas in my background, both at home and in academics. Environmental engineering is one field that I have aptitude for as well as interest. I hope to make the planet less toxic by putting my gifts to work. I feel that a quality education will give me the opportunity to do so."

In 1984, Community Federal Credit Union established the Margaret Dunning Scholarship fund in recognition of Margaret Dunning's 23 years of volunteer service as a member of the Credit Union Board of Directors, serving 19 of those years as president. Following Credit Union philosophy of "People Helping People," the scholarships are a symbol of Dunning's enthusiastic volunteerism, keen business sense and altruistic contributions to the community. The scholarships were specifically created to benefit students studying the business, vocational, financial or technical fields.

In 1989, the first $500 Margaret Dunning Scholarship was awarded. With additional contributions from Community Federal and donations from individuals outside the credit union organization, the award has been increased each year. This year, in addition to the $1000 scholarship, Community Federal was able to offer three additional $500 scholarships.

Applications were reviewed by a committee of credit union members. Guidelines and applications for the 1994-95 school year will be available in January 1994 at all Community Federal offices.

Canton police to restrict parking for Liberty Fest

Because of the traffic volume expected for the Liberty Fest's fireworks after dark Saturday, June 26, Canton police will close southbound Canton Center Road from Cherry Hill to Proctor. Northbound Canton Center Road will be closed from Palmer to Proctor. The road will be closed 10:30-11:15 p.m., Colling said.

"It is going to be a busy pedestrian traffic weekend," Colling said.

McCotter, Plawecki get task force jobs

Wayne County commissioners Thaddeus McCotter, R-Livonia, and Michelle Plawecki, D-Dearborn Heights, have been appointed to the commission's task force on small and minority business. McCotter was appointed vice chairman of the task force under chairman Ricardo Solomon, D-Detroit. McCotter's district includes Livonia west of Middlebelt, plus Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Northville and Northville Township. Plawecki's district includes Livonia east of Middlebelt, plus Redford Township. The fact the Democratic commission leadership gave the Republican McCotter his appointment "demonstrates the commission is willing to take a bipartisan, proactive approach to increasing the tax base, not the tax rate," McCotter said. "Toward that goal, I will advocate lower taxes and fewer regulations." Plawecki said that "by increasing business opportunities in Wayne County, we can also expand and improve our tax base, which is essential to the economic climate." People with questions can reach McCotter at 462-6152 or 224-0947. Plawecki's number is 224-0930.

June judicial elections suggested

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW
STAFF WRITER

Considering that Michigan judicial campaigns draw little attention when held simultaneously with partisan contests, state Appeals Court Judge Clifford Taylor is advocating June judge elections to spur public interest.

Speaking to a roomful of judges and attorneys at Wednesday's gathering of the Oakland County Republican Committee, Taylor said Michigan TV and newspaper reporters are "so busy with the much more spicy partisan races" that the equally important judicial races are virtually ignored.

The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers alone, Taylor said, covered last year's judge campaigns with any vigor.

Although Taylor believes that a system whereby judges are appointed rather than elected "may be better, the electorate has been adamantly opposed to it." Therefore, the judge said, spring elections are the remaining viable option.

One of the growing problems with judges, Taylor said, is that an increasing number of them are trying to make law, as opposed to interpreting it. This phenomenon might partly be attributed to the lack of publicity in judicial campaigns, Taylor said. When voters who have heard little about judicial candidates cast their ballots, "they can unwittingly get a judge who sees himself as a super legislator." Taylor urged his audience to think about his idea, then perhaps someday the Michigan Constitution could be amended.

Of the nine guests surveyed after Taylor's speech, four favor spring judge elections, three are undecided and two said it doesn't make any difference.

"I think (spring elections) would put more emphasis on the candidate's background," said Oakland County Probate Judge Barry Grant. "Voters would have more time to analyze the candidate."

Michigan Appeals Court Judge Michael Connor agreed. "Who knows judges?" he asked rhetorically. "Nobody really knows their judges."

Michigan Supreme Court Judge Conrad Mallett Jr. is one of the fence sitters. Although he has "great respect for Cliff Taylor," Mallett would "like a chance to think about (the plan)."

Other guests pointed out the drawbacks of June judge elections. James Alexander, the Oakland County Republican chairman, said voter turnout would probably be lower than it is for fall elections, therefore making it "a lot easier for a special-interest candidate" to get elected.

Michigan Court of Appeals Chief Judge Martin Doctoroff said he favors the appointment system used by 36 states already. As for spring elections, Doctoroff doesn't "have any view."

Oakland County Prosecutor Richard Thompson is undecided on spring elections, but thought Taylor's warning about judges who act like lawmakers was right on the money.

"Too often they are making the law instead of interpreting it," he said. "I think (Taylor) was scoring a lot of points with the lawyers, because they want to be able to tell their clients what the law is," said Thompson.

Oakland County Executive L. Brooks Patterson seemed to favor Taylor's idea. A former prosecuting attorney, Patterson noted that many voters never get to the bottom of the ballot where the judicial candidates are named.

"That's a tragedy," he said, "because they have so much impact."

O&E nature columnist guest at Humane Society meeting

The Michigan Humane Society will hold its 1993 annual meeting, for both members and non-members, at 7 p.m. Wednesday, June 23, at the Troy Marriott Hotel.

Guest speaker will be Tim Nowicki, naturalist at the Independence Oaks Nature Center in Clarkston and columnist for Observer & Eccentric Newspapers. His topic will be wildlife issues.

Refreshments and hors d'oeuvres will be served. MHS board members and staff will be available to answer questions regarding animals, protection issues, and the MHS' many programs.

The Troy Marriott is at 200 West Big Beaver Road (just east of I-75) in Troy. For information about MHS, call (313) 852-7420. The Michigan Humane Society is a non-profit organization serving animals since 1877 with three full-service shelters and charitable animal hospitals in the metropolitan Detroit area.

'Linda' B. Patterson swaps jokes with judge

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW
STAFF WRITER

Although state Appeals Court Judge Clifford Taylor had some serious things to say at last week's meeting of the Oakland County Republican Committee, the gathering featured some world-class levity as well.

In a devastating introduction of Taylor, Oakland County Executive L. Brooks Patterson piled one humorous insult upon another. Patterson, an old friend of Taylor's, began by saying, "What can you say about Cliff Taylor that hasn't already been said about Lani Guinier?"

The former Oakland County prosecutor went on to say that Taylor told his two sons to date only homeless girls because after the date is over you can drop them anywhere.

Taylor rebutted Patterson's remarks, alleging that Patterson's first initial stands for Linda.

A perfect picnic takes planning

If you're planning to go downtown on July 1 to view the spectacular fireworks display, invite friends and impress them with a clever, creative picnic supper. These picnic ideas work just as well in your own backyard, at the neighborhood park or on the grounds of the Meadow Brook Music Festival. Just choose a theme and a basket and you're halfway there.

Local expert and innovative hostess Sharron Kozma demonstrated some summer picnic and patio party motifs recently at area Hudson's stores.

She donned a red bandanna-print apron for her western-themed get-together. "This is the direction to go for summer entertaining — western style," she said. Kozma chose a large oblong basket lined in red gingham ($29.99) and tied authentic blue and red bandannas to the handles for decoration. She also included a wide-striped tablecloth on which to sit or to display the goodies. Terry dish towels, again in a bandanna print, double as thick, absorbent napkins.

The menu includes New Mexican Chile from The Brown Adobe ($7.50), Lone Star Grill blue corn chips and salsa, cowboy barbecue snack mix ($5.95) and corn bread muffins in cactus shapes. Bloody Marys add more spice to the roundup of piquant flavors.

Americana Accents

Another shallow basket, woven in reds and blues, holds gingham placemats, spatterware dishes and bandanna-patterned mugs.

Bandanna hit

"What a fun picnic to go on," said Kitty Flynn of Redford as she admired the colorful display. "I bought the bandanna dinnerware for my kids for their patio cookouts."

The salsa and chips were particularly well received.

"The best salsa I ever tasted," said Kathy Schutte of Livonia. Cathleen Hurst fell in love with the cast iron corn bread pan that produced the perfect little cactus muffins. The addition of tumbleweed (parsley) provided a whimsical finishing touch.

For a tropical fiesta, Kozma filled a bright yellow pineapple-shaped basket ($29.99) with a fanciful tablecloth painted with fruits and flowers in brilliant hues of pink, turquoise, lime green, red and orange. Cherry-patterned linen kitchen towels substitute as large-size napkins. The theme continues with acrylic dinnerware and serving pieces in the fruit motif, including a pitcher for a citrus punch and an ice bucket to fill with fruit salad.

A recommended Weight Watchers dish is strawberries and balsamic vinegar. Three cups of giant luscious strawberries are splashed with one-half cup Colavita brand vinegar and sprinkled with fresh ground black pepper. Transport in the center of the lined ice bucket, remove at the picnic site and fill with ice.

A pasta dish tossed with a fruit vinaigrette and crispy fried chicken complete this enticing picnic menu.

Good for kids

"The food and the table are so pretty," said Diane Piziali, a Weight Watchers cooking demonstrator. "The fruit theme is my favorite," said Trudy Costello, who praised the recipes, especially for children who are bombarded by junk food.

An event outing, such as Meadow Brook, requires a bit more sophisticated picnic planning. After all, you may refer to the evening as dining al fresco instead of merely eating outside. Hudson's has just the right basket — an understated wicker hamper with two wine bottle carriers attached. Included are a striped cloth, corkscrew, cutting board, wine glasses, plates and silverware. Tuck in pretty metallic gold placemats, a loaf of French bread, a Silver Palate pasta dish topped with a splash of blueberry chutney, assorted cheeses and a box of Frango chocolates.

Let the music begin.

Jurassic jazz brings in dino-dollars

Everywhere you shop today you run into a pterodactyl, brachiosaurus or T-Rex. There's no escape from The Marketing of Jurassic Park!

And you thought they were extinct. Dinosaurs have invaded our malls and mainstreets by the millions, in plastic packages, on shirts, in kits, on caps and even string-out patio lights. It's Jurassic Junk. It's fun stuff that has the retail industry chucking all the way to its third quarter earnings. "We've always sold a lot of dinosaur toys," said a salesclerk at Kaybee Toys in the Oakland Mall. "But now that the movie is out and there's a big dinosaur exhibit at the zoo, the kids want even more dinosaur stuff." Kaybee's got the stuff, too. There are items like the motorized Bump and Roar line of dinosaurs ($12.99), dinosaur pencil toppers ($1.99), dinosaur stamp and ink pads ($2.99) and the official Jurassic Park Merchandise Line like the JP Spitter

Watch, JP playing cards, JP color-forms, JP collectible figures and trading cards, JP wallets, JP bookbags, JP hats, JP coloring books and JP T-shirts, priced at $2.99 to $9.99. No dino-devotee's music collection would be complete without the original sound track CD or cassette by John Williams, retailing for $16.99 at Harmony House. The sound track includes the film hits "Theme from Jurassic Park," "My Friend, The Brachiosaurus," "Incident at Isla Nublar" and "T-Rex Rescue." "Be sure to notice the music of the raptors," JP director Steven Spielberg writes on the back cover. "Also the haunting and ennobling sounds of the brachiosaurus."

At the A.J. Cheers shops, there are foam-filled dinosaurs, inflatable dinosaurs, bean bag dinosaurs and pictorial dinosaur wall charts. There are official JP shirts complete with visitor tags at the neckline. There are JP keychains, JP nightlights, JP boxer shorts and JP coffee mugs. Dakin, the official name in plush toys, has the rights to market the JP stuffed dinosaur line. Sales are good, according to employees.

MALLS & MAINSTREETS

decorating their entrances with dino-titles. At B. Dalton these include "Dinosaurs: A Global View," "Dinosaur Hunters: Eccentric Amateurs and Obsessed Professionals" and "The Making of Jurassic Park." Bookstores also have dinosaur model kits, evolution wall charts and posters.

At the Adamo Collection on Maple in downtown Birmingham, the Jurassic Park line of neckties is hot. The silk ties are $28.50. The polyester ties are $18.50.

"We're selling quite a few," manager Connie Baylerian said. "A paleontologist stopped in on Saturday and bought one. He told us he had Tyrannosaurus Rex bones in his home and dino skulls. But you don't have to dig dinosaur bones to wear one. The ties appeal to anyone interested in dinosaurs. They're sharp."

Barney's not bitter

Yet all is not Jurassic Park. The purple preschool dinosaur of television fame, Barney, has his share of the dino-dollars. Barney merchandise has its spot on the check-out counter, with People magazine reporting that retailers expect to see 1993 sales figures of $200 million for Barney videos, toys, books and accessories.

"There seems to be a natural inclination towards dinosaurs, especially with children," said Joyce Harding, consultant with Retail Directions of Royal Oak. Harding worked with the Detroit Zoological Society to set up the Dinosauria Shop in the zoo's dinosaur exhibit, open now through Sept. 12.

"The best-selling item in the shop is the dinosaur pincher," she said. "This dinosaur-on-a-stick opens and shuts his mouth for $1.75. Kits, shirts and cups are also big sellers. The zoo store was set up two months ago and sales are already 25 percent ahead of the goal. Proceeds benefit the Zoological Society."

Reports from Hollywood indicate that to turn a profit, "Jurassic Park" must earn $250 million. Opening weekend sales figures earned producers between $48-$50 million; there's no telling how much Jurassic Park souvenirs will bring in.

"Remember that gift shop scene in the movie, where the camera pans all the mugs and sun visors with the Jurassic Park logo?" one astute Summit Place Mall shopper asked. "Self-promotional, don't you think? But I enjoyed the irony."

Paul Kochis, 13, and his brother, Billy, 9, of Birmingham saw the film and gave it a thumbs up. But only Billy hopes to buy some dinosaurs to play with afterward.

"The movie's really neat because it's so graphic," Paul said. "It's worth going to see if you like dinosaurs."

Of course, the preoccupation with feeding in the film makes moviegoers hungry on their way out of the theater.

McDonald's has the Jurassic answer with dino-meal combinations where drinks are served in a giant cup emblazoned with different scenes from the movie.

Looks like the summer of '93 will be fossilized forever in plastic.

business. Bednarsh specializes in loose diamonds and custom designs.

FuncoLand opened in the Oakland Plaza on John R. and 14 Mile to buy and sell new and previously played video games and related equipment. The Minneapolis-based retail company has other shops in the Fairlane Center and Summit Crossing in Waterford.

Nine new stores have opened at the Twelve Oaks Mall in Novi. Jordan Marie features a complete line of infant and children's wear size infant to 6X.

Gymboree carries durable cotton activewear for children sized newborn to 6X. All items are easily mixed and matched. For You From Spiegel carries larger women's sizes for office, casual and on the town.

Precis features trendy footwear for women, including clogs, platforms and grunge-look shoes. Handbags and accessories are also available.

Structure, for men, carries a European inspired sportswear collection with a complete line of linen clothes.

Scarlet Letters sells gift and stationery items including greeting cards and collector's dolls.

Champs Sports is known for its athletic equipment, footwear and apparel. The store stocks raquets and workout equipment.

Wentworth Galleries sells fine art and collectibles, including serigraphs and sculptures by artists like Erte, Thomas McKnight, Maxwell Parsons and Fanch Ledan.

Just in time for summer the Sunglass Hut stocks mirror-lens styles to retro designs from the '50s.

Expanding their square-footage at Twelve Oaks are President Tuxedo, The Bombay Company and D.O.C. Eyewear. Coming next month: Cacique, a lingerie shop.

Shoppers who break for lunch at the Jacobson's dining rooms will enjoy the new Little Somethings dessert menu. How does six bites of a hot fudge sundae sound for 85-cents? Won't hurt your waistline or your pocket book. The menu also includes mini tart shells filled with different sweets, tiny cream puffs filled with Kahlua or Amaretto, and petits fours of chocolate on chocolate — all under $2.

Amann plan to separate smokers wins support

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW
STAFF WRITER

Weary of "smelling like an ashtray" every time he visits Metro Airport, Wayne County commissioner Bryan Amann, D-Wayne, has introduced an ordinance amendment that would separate smokers at Metro.

With widespread support, the new law is almost certain to go into effect July 2 after the county commission and county Executive Edward McNamara grant their approval.

When Amann introduced his amendment at Thursday's commission meeting he noted that six other commissioners had asked to have their names added to it. Chairman Arthur Blackwell, D-Detroit, took an informal poll to see if any commissioner opposed the amendment (none did), then suggested that the name of every commissioner go on the document.

Although Metro already has designated smoking areas, folks routinely smoke elsewhere, Amann said.

Airport director Robert Braun said it's not unusual for people to put their cigarettes out on the carpet in non-smoking areas.

Compounding the problem, Braun said, is the lack of any fines or jail sentences in the state law that requires non-smoking areas in airports. "Really, there's nothing to enforce," Braun said.

Another problem is that the Metro smoking areas are out in the open, subjecting non-smokers to second-hand smoke, which has been determined to be harmful in and of itself by the Environmental Protection Agency.

Amann's ordinance amendment would require enclosed smoking areas with separate ventilation. "If you're a smoker getting off a plane and you need a fix, this will probably be better for you," he said. "They can get all the smoke they want, second-hand and primary."

The amendment would also establish fines for people caught smoking in the wrong place and make it easy for non-smokers to rat on smokers.

Amann hopes his amendment will help people like West Bloomfield resident Lou Kondur, a retired engineer who flew from Metro "every week for years" when he worked for the Jervis B. Webb Co. of Farmington Hills.

Kondur, 70, has had a heart condition since a 1970s bypass operation and can't be near tobacco smoke for health reasons. "I get clear of those people real quick," he said. "It's got to be an emergency for me to sit in a smoking area."

The Rev. Raymond Rohlf and Rev. Richard W. Rehnke officiated the service.

Mettetal contract on standby

Canton Township officials will consider a contract with the state regarding the purchase of Mettetal Airport at their June 29 meeting.

Contract consideration was originally planned for Tuesday but delayed after the state administrative board postponed its decision on the state's planned purchase June 15.

The administrative board, which reviews and approves all major state contracts, wants more information from the Michigan Aeronautics Commission, particularly on whether it had taken an official position on the planned purchase, according to Richard Jackson, assistant deputy director of the aeronautics commission.

Some residents who attended the June 15 meeting hope the postponement means there's still a chance to stop the state's purchase.

Michigan Department of Transportation director Pat Nowak announced the state's intention to buy the airport at a Canton Township Board of Trustees meeting June 8.

Nowak said the state and the township would enter into an agreement that would include issues, such as expansion and safety, that were raised by a citizens study group assembled in late April by Yack, as requested by Nowak.

POINTS OF VIEW

Veterans: Clinton crossed line on Russian visit

There are lines in the sand that we don't always know are there. For Vietnam veterans, President Bill Clinton crossed one when he went to Russia to protest the war, just as Jane Fonda did when she traveled to Hanoi.

That's what a group of veterans from suburban Detroit called to tell me after a recent column about Clinton's draft status during the Vietnam War.

The column lamented that Clinton was booed when he spoke at the Vietnam Memorial in Washington. My contention was that it's time to put all that to rest. I'll stick by it.

But most Vietnam veterans who called can't forget. Their contention isn't that Clinton was in a draft lottery and got out of going to Vietnam, but that he went to Russia to protest the war. He crossed the line and picked up a case of the Fonda syndrome.

"That's where they were making the guns to shoot at us," one angered veteran said.

It's hard to argue with that. Most Vietnam veterans who called said they understood somebody getting out of going, but couldn't forgive folks like Clinton or Fonda who visited the enemy's camp.

But that's only one of the lines in sand created by the Vietnam war, and those lines linger as baby boomers move into middle age.

There was the issue of who went and who didn't go.

It was best said by Farmington Hills attorney Richard Krandle, 68, a World War II veteran.

"There were no riots on college campuses after 1969 because Nixon

JEFF COUNTS

Most Vietnam veterans who called can't forget. Their contention isn't that Clinton was in a draft lottery and got out of going to Vietnam.

promised there would be no draft for college men. I remember reading the obituary notices in the newspapers. Apparently nobody from the Bloomfields were casualties. However, Detroit, Taylor, Westland, Hamtramck, Dearborn and even Livonia boys paid the price. Anybody who opposed that conflict was in the right."

Krandle cuts to the heart of the matter. It was the rich kids who didn't have to go, while the middle class and poor couldn't buy their way out by going to college or going into the National Guard.

And yeah, there were a lot more blacks and southerners who ended up in Vietnam than kids from Detroit's suburbs.

No, it wasn't fair. It was tragic that these guys were over represented, but it really is time to move on.

It's hard though. One veteran told me that on returning home from Vietnam he was met at Metro Airport by protesters extending the All-American middle finger greeting.

That's the sort of thing that burns into the brain of a 20 year old who has just spent a year being shot at. It's the reason he doesn't forget and the reason he can't accept Clinton as president. It could have been Clinton extending that special greeting.

It's no wonder Vietnam veterans can't forget. And it's too bad we all can't.

Jeff Counts is the editor of the Plymouth and Canton Observer Newspapers who was lucky not to have to go to Vietnam, but didn't visit Russia.

Privatize high school sports and save academics

Most homeowners are continually bombarded during school millage campaigns by statements that the fate of western civilization depends on the millage proposal being approved and the high school sports program being continued.

In many cases, the millages are rejected — sometimes by large margins — because of the community's demographics. About 70 percent to 75 percent of households in most suburbs don't have kids in school. Of the remaining few, only a small percentage have sons or daughters in varsity athletic programs.

Some school officials have commented privately to journalists that the sports program is vital to only a few boys who otherwise would drop out.

Frankly, it's bad policy to spend big general fund bucks for a program that is used by only a handful of people.

But if the sports program is that valuable to parents and student athletes, here is a simple proposal that should be supported by the entire community and school officials: Privatize the sports programs and let the participants and their parents pay all the expenses.

For example, most suburbs have a Little League or Youth Athletic Association that sponsors football, baseball, softball and hockey teams for boys and girls.

Let those groups expand their programs to include varsity competition for high school athletes and charge the participants for the expenses.

The beauty of this concept is that it eliminates those big bucks from the school board budget while still offering opportunities for athletes.

If the concept is supported, local teams should retain their school nickname.

Nothing else would be changed on the field of competition.

The only difference is that a private group would be offering the program for the public schools, which would set the standards and conditions under a binding written agreement.

LEONARD POGER

Some school officials have commented privately to journalists that the sports program is vital to only a few boys who otherwise would drop out. Frankly, it's bad policy to spend big general fund bucks for a program that is used by only a handful of people.

Some districts have privatized their bus and food programs to offer the services at a lower cost and eliminate a general fund subsidy.

Hopefully, if the same is done for athletics, there would be continued support from the Michigan High School Athletic Association to maintain the state tournament system for major sports.

If the sports community is right in saying that the private athletic associations are growing annually, then their taking over the high school varsity programs shouldn't be a problem.

This financial lesson was learned years ago by many municipal governments who stopped subsidizing local recreation programs by raising users' fees. If participants resisted the higher fees, then city officials concluded that the program wasn't that valuable in the first place.

Telephone companies also learned the financial facts of life in revising their charges so that services are paid for by the users and not subsidized by others.

It's time that school boards get smart and learn that there are different ways to provide popular but limited-use non-academic programs. Why not give it a try?

After all, employers interviewing high school students for jobs don't want better football or basketball players. They want employees who can communicate verbally and in writing, compute, solve problems and work together as a group.

While sports helps students learn some skills used in later life, there are cheaper ways to achieve the same results.

At least privatizing sports programs would eliminate the "we've got to have sports" argument in future millage campaigns.

ROLL CALL REPORT

Capitol Hill budget cut not deep enough for Knollenberg

Here's how Observer & Eccentric-area members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes in the week ending

HOUSE

Capitol Hill Budget OK'd: By a vote of 224 for and 187 against, the House approved a $1.79 billion legislative branch appropriations bill (HR 2348) for fiscal 1994, slightly below the comparable 1993 figure. Spending for House operations is up $21 million to $692 million.

In a cut that drew praise, the franked mail allowance was reduced by nearly $8 million to $40 million. In a criticized increase, Democratic and Republican leaders secured $300,000 more for their domains, to $5.9 million.

When the Senate adds its budget to the bill, overall spending for Congress and support agencies will approximate last year's level of $2.3 billion.

Supporter David Obey, D-Wis., said "members often are tempted to take advantage of lack of knowledge on the part of the public on the facts of this institution. The facts are, we have run a very tight budget for the past 10 years and we deserve some credit for it."

Opponent Peter Hoekstra, R-Mich., said: "We just passed the largest tax increase in this country's history. We're sending the American people a clear message today. . . . We've taken the courageous position of finding that we can cut our spending by 1 percent."

A yes vote was to pass the bill. Area representatives voting yes were: Bob Carr, D-Pontiac, Dale Kildee, D-Flint, Sander Levin, D-Southfield and William Ford, D-Ypsilanti. Voting no: Joseph Knollenberg, R-Birmingham.

Cut Former Speakers Funds: By a vote of 383 for and 36 against, the House amended HR 2348 (above) to end after five years taxpayer funding of the staff and office expenses of ex-speakers of the House, saving at least $650,000 annually. The three living former speakers are Democrats Thomas O'Neill of Massachusetts, Jim Wright of Texas and Carl Albert of Oklahoma.

Supporter Jennifer Dunn, R-Wash., said "taxpayers really are outraged when they find out that former speakers of the House enjoy a virtually open-ended bank account, courtesy of the good old American taxpayers."

Opponent Neil Abercrombie, D-Hawaii, said "when it comes to the point of kicking the ex-speakers of the House, that's too much. I'll tell you right now, Tip O'Neill is a national treasure of this country."

A yes vote was to end public funding of former House speakers after five years. Area representatives voting yes were: Carr, Kildee, Knollenberg and Levin. Voting no: Ford.

margin of 53 for and 41 against fell short of the three-fifths majority that Democratic leaders needed to halt a stream of amendments that have kept the bill on the floor since May 21.

In part, the bill sets voluntary state-by-state spending limits for Senate candidates. Those who accept them would receive taxpayer-funded vouchers to defray the cost of campaign communication such as television advertising. The public funding would be raised by ending lobbyists' tax deductions.

A yes vote was to move toward final passage of the campaign finance bill. Michigan Sens. Carl Levin, D, and Donald Riegle, D, voted yes.

Campaign Finance: By a vote of 43 for and 47 against, the Senate failed to kill proposed Treasury funding of part of the cost of Senate campaigns. This preserved a Democratic plan to use up to $360 million annually in new tax revenue from lobbyists to subsidize campaign communications such as television advertising. Senate candidates who accept spending limits would get the subsidy. The remaining $800 million in new revenue from lobbyists would go to deficit reduction. The vote occurred during consideration of a campaign finance reform bill (S 3) that remained in debate.

A yes vote was to apply to deficit reduction all rather than part of new revenue that will result from disallowing lobbyists' tax deduction. Levin and Riegle both voted no.

Non-Federal Candidates: To reject, 16 for and 76 against, an amendment to S 3 (above) requiring broadcasters to provide cut rates to state and local candidates who accept spending limits under non-federal campaign finance reform laws.

Sponsor Bob Graham, D-Fla., said his amendment would "encourage states to adopt campaign laws as we are about to adopt here (to) restrict the influence of money in political campaigns."

Opponent Mitch McConnell, R-Ky., asked "Just how much sacrifice . . . do we want to ask of the broadcasters?" in terms of depressing their revenues.

A yes vote was to require through the FCC lower broadcast rates for non-federal candidates who accept spending limits. Levin and Riegle voted no.

Disclaimers: The Senate reaffirmed, 47 for and 45 against, a requirement in S 3 (above) that Senate candidates who refuse campaign spending limits publicize the refusal in an on-screen disclaimer in their television advertising. The vote killed an amendment designed to blunt that televised message.

Supporter David Boren, D-Okla., said "we do not want to penalize people or discourage people from accepting the spending limits. We want to encourage them."

Opponent Mitch McConnell, R-Ky., said the free speech of candidates is curbed when Congress requires specific wording in their television ads.

A yes vote was to require candidates who disavow campaign spending limits to say so in their television ads. Levin and Riegle voted yes.

TASTE BUDS

CHEF LARRY JANES

Take stock in pot of homemade varieties

Among the most basic of preparations found in any good kitchen are stocks. In fact, they are referred to as fonds de cuisine, or as the "foundation of cooking."

Any chef will tell you stock is far more important than knowing a great number of recipes. Granted, specific ingredients might vary from recipe to recipe; but the technique never will.

Defining stock

A stock is a flavorful liquid made by gently simmering bones or vegetables to extract their flavor, aroma, color, body and nutritive value. Of course there are alternatives.

Canned broth is readily available as is bouillon in every supermarket. If you like a lot of salt as the majority of the brands have, this is for you. Sure, there are low-salt and salt-free alternatives, but put them up next to a homemade stock and you will certainly find no comparison.

Different types

White stock is a clear liquid made by simmering poultry, beef or fish bones and the appropriate herbs and vegetables (also called aromatics) in water to extract the water-soluble proteins that provide flavor and body.

Brown stocks achieve their rich amber color and aroma when bones and meat are browned during a preliminary roasting process. Then you add aromatic vegetables.

The color of vegetable stocks varies according to the amount and type of vegetables used.

In culinary terms, there are also fumets, court bouillons, essences, glaces and remouillages. They use the same techniques as making a basic stock but incorporate ingredients or cooking times that accentuate flavors, aromas and change the consistency.

The major flavoring ingredients are usually bones and trimmings for meat and fish stocks. Vegetables are used for essences and bouillons. The bones can be fresh or frozen, although fresh is usually preferable. Bones should be cut into three-inch lengths for quicker and more thorough extraction of flavors.

If you are buying beef bones for a beef stock, ask the butcher to split the larger bones on his meat saw for optimum results. Don't use the skin or excessive fat.

Water is the most frequently used liquid for making stock. Cold fresh tap water is a must. Occasionally, wine is added especially in a delicate fish stock.

For basic beef and chicken stock, use about eight pounds of bones to six quarts of water to yield about one gallon of homemade stock.

Fish stocks should use a ratio of 11 pounds of bones to five quarts of water and vegetable stocks should use a one pound to one quart ratio.

Celery, carrots and onions, also known as the aromatic vegetables, add flavor and should be cut into medium-sized chunks. Figure on at least two large onions, one pound of carrots and a half-bunch of celery for best results.

The onion skins, carrot tops and celery leaves can also be used.

Last, but certainly not least, you should season accordingly. A sachet or stainless steel tea ball filled with a dozen or so peppercorns, a bay leaf, a clove of garlic, a half-dozen sprigs of parsley and a half-teaspoon of thyme and marjoram is the standard for making a gallon of stock.

Preparation method

Drizzling the bones with olive oil and tossing to coat then browning in a very hot oven for 30-45 minutes usually gets the juices flowing for a brown stock. If you prefer not to pre-brown, add the bones, vegetables and herbs to the water and bring to a boil. During this time, you will notice a scum on the surface which should be removed by skimming with a small strainer.

After the stock comes to a full boil, lower the heat to a simmer where the water just "cracks" the surface of the pot.

Simmer the stock for at least five hours to develop the most flavor. After simmering, the stock can then be strained through cheesecloth or a fine sieve to remove loose herbs, bones and vegetable pieces. If desired, the stock can be "defatted" after cooling by allowing the fat to congeal on the surface and then removing it in one large chunk.

Once cooled, the stock can be kept tightly covered and refrigerated for three to four days. Yours truly prefers to pour the cooled stock into ice cube trays for freezing and then tossing the frozen cubes into freezer bags for easy retrieval. Date and label the bags for easy recognition.

So the next time you need to make an easy gravy or simply to spruce up the flavor of boiled rice, homemade stock is something that is easy to prepare.

Simple salads: Colorful rice salad with chick-peas, feta and black olives and summer rice salad made fresh corn and tomatoes are healthy and delicious.

Rice salads are perfect summertime meals. They're easy to make, and good for you. Add meat and the salad becomes a main dish, just vegetables, and it's a tasty side dish. Find out why cookbook author Marie Simmons calls rice "the Amazing Grain."

BY KEELY WYGONIK
STAFF WRITER

On a hot, humid summer day, the last thing most of us want to do when we get home from work is cook. But you've got to eat, and Marie Simmons, author of "Rice, the Amazing Grain — Great Rice Dishes for Every Day" (Henry Holt, April 1993, $14.95/paperback) has a solution — salads.

"Rice salads are simple, they add variety. I find rice — like pasta — a perfect canvas when I am feeling creative in the kitchen," she said. "At some time or other vegetables, meats, nuts, fruits, herbs and spices all find their way into the rice salad bowl. Add meat, fish or legumes and it becomes a delicious main dish; add just vegetables, and you have a tasty, convenient and healthy side dish."

Simmons was in the metro Detroit area recently to promote her book, and visited the Observer & Eccentric Livonia office. Anticipating her arrival, I made the two rice salads that were photographed for this article in the morning before leaving for work. The results were delicious.

Rice salad with chick-peas, feta and black olives, and summer rice salad didn't take long to make. You could make them in advance, though Simmons says she prefers making salads with a batch of freshly cooked rice.

"Rice that has been refrigerated gets hard," she said. "Heating the rice to room temperature by steaming in a foil packet at low temperature in the oven or heating in a microwavable container for two minutes in the microwave will soften the rice slightly. But the grains are never as moist and tender as when rice is freshly cooked and served at room temperature."

Simmons said rice salads that don't contain meats or dairy products can be made ahead of time and stored safely in a cool dark place like a kitchen cabinet for several hours and even overnight. Refrigerate perishable portions, and add them to the room-temperature rice before serving.

Here are a couple of time-saving tips that worked for me — chop and measure vegetables and rice the night before, and leave a pot with water to cook rice in on the stove before you leave for work. When you come home,

Black Silk revives interest in Australian wines

We even began to drink their wines and started throwing shrimp on the "barbie" which is really something the Aussies don't do!

Australian wines fit the mold of the native Aussie — flavorful and bold with no holds barred. While California winemakers were trying to tame their wines, making them more elegant and food-worthy, the Aussies were trying to figure out how to pack in more flavor using heavy toasted barrels and malolactic fermentation.

However, it's fair to say that in the past two years, the 1980s enthusiasm for wines from the Land Down Under has diminished — until now.

Black Opal has emerged as the current, most innovative Australian wine producer causing a wave of enthusiasm not seen since the 1980s. The wine packaging is creative, and the wines are loaded with flavor and fragrant oak.

In the southern hemisphere, harvest begins in January in the warmer wine regions and continues into May in the cooler regions. It is best to keep this in mind when planning a trip to the Australian viticultural areas.

In this land of open spaces, approximately the size of the United States, the Australian wine industry has strong links with European wine traditions since most of their grape varieties came from the great vineyards of France and Germany.

Five years ago, the Black Opal brand of Australian wines was launched in the United States by Australian Benchmark Wines Inc. The range of wines includes three whites — semillon, sauvignon blanc and dry riesling — and three reds — cabernet sauvignon, cabernet-merlot and shiraz.

Winemaker and Black Opal brand owner Mark Cashmore conceived and launched his idea of a "lifestyle" white wine known as a Black Marlin. According to Cashmore, it is the ideal accompaniment to seafood, pasta and a variety of lighter contemporary cuisines. The wine is a blend of chardonnay, semillon and sauvignon blanc marketed in a bottle with the image of a marlin affixed with a ceramic printing process.

The third in the "black" trilogy is now available in Michigan. Black Silk is a white wine with a secret varietal blend. The package showcases a 360-degree ceramic design that strongly evokes association with today's cuisine.

Toss up flavorful main and side dish rice salads

See related story, "Amazing Rice" on Taste front. Recipes from "Rice, the Amazing Grain," by Marie Simmons (Henry Holt, April, 1993; $14.95/paperback).

RICE SALAD WITH CHICKPEAS, FETA, AND BLACK OLIVES

1 cup uncooked long- or medium-grain white rice or Italian arborio rice
 2 cups cooked chickpeas; if using canned chickpeas, rinse well
 6 ounces feta cheese, drained, patted dry, diced or chopped (about 1 cup)
 ½ cup chopped celery including leaves
 ½ cup diced (¼-inch) red onion
 ¼ cup pitted and coarsely cut Kalamata or other black brine-cured olives
 Salt and freshly ground black pepper to taste
 Romaine lettuce leaves
 Lemon wedges
 Sprigs of parsley, mint and oregano
 Dressing
 ½ cup extra-virgin olive oil
 ¼ cup fresh lemon juice
 ¼ cup finely chopped Italian (flat leaf) parsley

1 tablespoon finely chopped fresh mint leaves
 1 tablespoon finely chopped fresh oregano leaves
 1 clove garlic, crushed

Stir the rice into 2 cups of boiling salted water. Cover and cook over medium-low heat until it is tender and the liquid is absorbed, about 15 minutes. Let stand, off the heat, uncovered, until cooked.

Combine the cooled rice, chickpeas, feta cheese, celery, onion and olives in a large bowl.

To make the dressing: In a separate bowl whisk together the oil, lemon juice, parsley, mint, oregano, and garlic until blended. Add the dressing to the salad and toss to blend. Season with salt and pepper.

Line a shallow bowl with Romaine lettuce leaves. Spoon the salad in the center of the bowl and garnish with lemon wedges and herb sprigs. Serves 4 to 6.

SUMMER RICE SALAD

1 cup uncooked long-grain white rice
 3 tablespoons extra-virgin olive oil
 2 tablespoons red wine vinegar
 1 clove garlic, crushed

Salt and freshly ground black pepper to taste
 2 ears fresh corn, husked and corn kernels cut from the cobs with a small sharp knife (about 1 ¼ cups)
 1 large tomato, cored and diced (about ½-inch)
 ¼ cup diced (¼-inch) sweet red onion
 ¼ cup packed, coarsely chopped basil leaves
 6 large lettuce leaves (optional)

Stir the rice into 1 ¼ cups of boiling salted water. Cover and cook over medium-low heat until the liquid is absorbed and the rice is tender, about 15 minutes. Let stand, uncovered, until slightly cooled. Fluff with a fork.

In a large bowl whisk together the olive oil, vinegar, garlic, salt and a grinding of black pepper. Add the rice, corn, tomato, red onion and basil, and toss to blend.

Spoon into a shallow bowl lined with lettuce leaves, if desired. Serve at once. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

BROWN RICE, SHRIMP AND CORN SALAD

1 cup uncooked short-grain brown rice

1 pound medium-sized shrimp, peeled and deveined
 ½ cup olive oil
 ¼ cup fresh lime juice
 ½ teaspoon grated lime zest
 1 small clove garlic, crushed
 1 teaspoon fresh thyme leaves, stripped from stems
 ½ teaspoon salt
 Freshly ground black pepper to taste
 1 teaspoon ground cumin
 4 ears fresh corn, husked and corn kernels cut from the cob with a small sharp knife (about 2 cups kernels)
 ½ cup thinly sliced scallions (about 1 bunch)
 ½ cup diced green bell pepper
 ½ cup diced red bell pepper
 2 teaspoons seeded and minced fresh jalapeno chili pepper, or more to taste
 Curly or red leaf lettuce leaves
 1 lime, cut into wedges
 Sprigs of cilantro (optional)

Cook the rice according to package directions, then cool, uncovered, before using.

Cook the shrimp in plenty of boiling salted water until they turn pink, about 3 to 5 minutes. Drain immediately, rinse with cold water, and set aside.

Combine the oil, lime juice, lime zest, garlic, thyme, salt and pepper in a large bowl. Sprinkle the cumin in the bottom of a small dry skillet and heat over low heat, shaking the pan until the cumin is fragrant, about 1 minute. Add to the dressing and whisk to blend.

Add the rice, half of the shrimp, corn, scallions, green and red peppers, and jalapeno chili to the bowl, and toss to blend.

Line a shallow bowl with lettuce leaves and spoon the rice mixture into the center. Garnish with the remaining shrimp and the lime wedges. Add a few sprigs of cilantro, if desired. Makes 4 servings as a main dish salad.

CHICKEN, BASIL AND GREEN PEA SALAD

2 to 3 cups cooked white or brown rice

1 cup diced or shredded fresh cooked chicken
 1 cup tiny frozen peas, thawed
 ¼ cup finely chopped sweet red onion
 2 tablespoons torn fresh basil leaves
 Dressing
 3 to 4 tablespoons olive oil (use extra-virgin when an assertive olive oil flavor is preferred)
 2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice or wine or cider vinegar
 ½ teaspoon salt, or more to taste
 Freshly ground black pepper to taste
 Seasonings (optional)
 1 clove garlic, crushed
 1 teaspoon prepared mustard
 1 teaspoon grated fresh lemon zest

Whisk the olive oil, lemon juice or vinegar, salt, and pepper and the seasonings of choice until blended. Add the rice, chicken, vegetables and basil. Toss to blend and serve at once. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

Black Opal presents a broad spectrum of wines pleasing to every palate. The quality/price ratio across the board is hard to beat.

1990 Opal Sauvignon Blanc ($9) is a perfect summertime wine. Try it with seafood salads and enjoy its attractive oak and grapefruit accents.

1989 Black Opal Dry Semillon ($9) shows vanilla oak over fresh figs in a full bodied style to accompany grilled seafood.

1992 Black Opal Chardonnay ($11) is cast perfectly in the role of matching the American wine drinker's concept and preference for an oakier version of this popular varietal.

1989 Black Opal Cabernet Sauvignon ($11) boasts blackberry and black cherry fruit with balanced oak and hefty tannins to accompany a wide variety of charbroiled meats.

1990 Black Opal Cabernet Merlot ($11) shows the advantage of blending with merlot. The hefty cabernet is subdued and rounded by the supple merlot making it complementary to meatless preparations such as grilled vegetables.

1990 Black Opal Shiraz ($11) shows attractive red-berry and plum with rich, velvety textures that will please any red wine enthusiast.

1990 Black Marlin ($9) is a generous pour with good length, toasty oak and a hint of fresh fig. Try it with pasta salads.

1992 Black Silk ($9) is fresh and appealing to complement modern cuisine, seafood and Asian dishes — a thoroughly enjoyable pour.

hit the kitchen running and turn on the stove. Organize salad ingredients while water is boiling. When it's boiling, dump the pre-measured rice into the pot, and heed Simmons' advice.

"Just stir it once and forget it. I've come to the conclusion that people worry about rice. They keep wanting to check it, take off the lid, and stir it. Don't stir it."

White rice cooks in about 15 minutes; uncover the pot, and take it off the burner to cool. While it's cooling, whisk salad dressing ingredients. Then toss and serve.

Making rice salads is a good way to become familiar with this convenient, economical and versatile grain. Almost everyone has a box of rice in their kitchen cupboard, but if you're like me, you seldom reach for it.

Simmons' book, also contains percent of our calories from carbohydrates, rice has a big nutritional role to play. All varieties of rice contain valuable protein, vitamins and minerals.

For calorie counters, a half cup serving of rice equals 82 calories. Rice is good for you, and summer is a good time to discover what most of the world already knows. Reach into the back of your kitchen cupboard or look on the top shelf where there's a bag of brown rice that you keep meaning to cook, and get started.

Homemade stock adds flavor to soup, gravy

See Larry Janes' Taste Buds column on Taste front.

Here's a soup recipe even the kids will love!

GOULASH SOUP

- 1/2 pound bacon, chopped
- 1 pound onions, chopped fine (about 2 large)
- 2 1/2 pounds stewing beef, cut into a small dice
- 5 cloves garlic, minced fine
- 4 tablespoons sweet Hungarian paprika
- 2 1/2 tablespoons flour
- 1 small can tomato paste

- 1 gallon homemade beef stock
- 1/2 teaspoon caraway seeds
- 1 bay leaf
- 1/2 teaspoon marjoram
- 1 pound potatoes (about 4 large) diced

Cook the bacon in the bottom of a large soup pot over medium heat until crispy. Remove bacon with a slotted spoon. Add the onions with the garlic and saute till lightly golden.

Add beef and paprika and cook for 1 minute. Stir in flour and tomato paste. Add stock. Place herbs in a sachet or tea ball if desired and add to soup. Bring to a boil, then reduce to a simmer and simmer for 45 minutes.

Add potatoes, continue simmering for 40 minutes. Discard spices, if desired. Season with salt and pepper, if needed. Makes about 1 gallon of soup.

EASY GRAVY

- 2 cups homemade broth (beef or poultry)
- 1/2 cup flour (the instant brand Wondra works best)

- 1/4 cup milk
- salt and fresh ground pepper to taste

Bring the broth to a good simmer in a saucepan. Dissolve the flour in the milk and stir until smooth.

With a wire whisk, whisk in flour mixture and continue whisking until gravy thickens, about 1-2 minutes. Lower heat to a low simmer, stir in 1/4 teaspoon fresh ground black pepper and if desired, a pinch of salt. Cook for 2-3 minutes. Serve immediately. Makes about 2 1/2 cups gravy.

Pair pasta with savory seasonings

For great-tasting, summer-easy suppers, think pasta — but with a seasonal switch in strategy. Sidestep the long-simmered sauces of winter and go for light, fresh and fast pasta toppers starring the season's finest vegetables.

Two crowd-pleasing new recipes from the Pace Picante Sauce Test Kitchens make the most of summer's bounty and go from start to serving in less than 30 minutes.

Brightly colored, boldly seasoned and easy to make just as mellow or spicy as you wish, they take their garden-fresh flavor and lively jalapeno heat from mild, medium or hot Picante Sauce.

Pairing perfectly with pasta and a wide range of savory seasonings, the versatile sauce makes a super starting point for pasta suppers. And at only 5 fat-free calories per flavor-packed tablespoon for the Pace sauce variety, you can pour on all you wish.

Raid the garden or the produce department for Picante Four Pepper Pasta. Inspired by popular Mediterranean flavors, it combines onion, garlic and seasonings with red, green and yellow bell peppers — enhanced by the picante sauce's tongue-tingling jalapenos. A splash of balsamic or red wine vinegar and a sprinkling of parmesan cheese completes the dish.

Pronto Pasta Picante takes its flavor cue from deep in the heart of Texas. Teaming the cook's choice of pasta with tomatoes, onion, ripe olives, garlic, picante sauce and seasonings, it takes a last-minutes sprinkling of Mon-

Serve either recipe with crusty bread or bread sticks and a tossed salad for a delicious dinner in nearly no time.

PICANTE FOUR-PEPPER PASTA

- 1/4 cup butter or margarine
- 1 cup finely crushed graham crackers (about 14 squares)
- 1/2 of a 6-ounce package (1/2 cup) almond briclé pieces
- 1/2 cup coconut
- 1/2 cup chopped nuts
- 1/2 of a 14-ounce can (about 3/4 cup) sweetened condensed milk

In an 8 by 8 by 2-inch microwave-safe baking dish cook butter or margarine, uncovered, on 100 percent power (high) for 45 to 60 seconds or until melted. Stir in crushed graham crackers. Pat into an even layer in the bottom of the dish.

Cook, uncovered, on high about 1 minute or until set. Layer chocolate pieces, almond briclé pieces, coconut and nuts atop graham cracker layer. Pour sweetened condensed milk over all.

Cook, uncovered, on 50 percent power (medium) for 6 to 7 minutes (low-wattage ovens: cook on high for 6 to 7 minutes) or until set, giving the dish a half-turn after 4 minutes. Cool on a wire rack. Cut into bars. Makes 24 bars.

Mexican chicken fajitas sizzle in skillet

AP — Fajitas, a favorite in Mexican restaurants, can make a flavorful hit on your buffet table at home. After you sizzle the marinated chicken in a skillet, let your guests assemble their own fajitas.

CHICKEN FAJITAS WITH COLORED PEPPERS

- 1/4 cup cooking oil
- 1/4 cup vinegar
- 4 cloves garlic, minced
- 1 fresh jalapeno pepper, seeded and finely chopped
- 2 tablespoons snipped fresh oregano or 2 teaspoons dried oregano, crushed
- 2 teaspoons seasoned salt

- 1 teaspoon ground cumin
- 2 large chicken breasts (about 2 pounds total), skinned, boned and cut into thin 3-inch strips
- 1 red sweet pepper, cut into strips
- 1 green sweet pepper, cut into strips
- 1 yellow sweet pepper, cut into strips
- 1 red onion, cut into thin wedges
- 16 (8-inch) flour tortillas
- 1 to 2 tablespoons olive oil or cooking oil
- Salsa
- Guacamole (optional)

Fresh cilantro (optional)

For marinade, in a large mixing bowl combine cooking oil, vinegar, garlic, jalapeno pepper, oregano, seasoned salt and cumin. Pour half of the marinade into another bowl. Add chicken strips to 1 bowl of marinade. Add pepper strips and onion to the other bowl. Cover and marinate both bowls at room temperature for up to 30 minutes or in the refrigerator for 2 to 24 hours. Stack tortillas; wrap in foil. Heat in a 350-degree F oven for 10 minutes to soften.

Meanwhile, drain vegetables and chicken. If desired, reserve vegetable marinade to marinate other vegetables at another meal. Discard chicken marinade. Add 1 tablespoon oil to a hot 12-inch skillet; cook and stir vegetables about 3 minutes or until crisp-tender. Remove vegetables from the skillet; set aside.

If necessary, add more oil to the skillet. Cook and stir chicken, half at a time, over high heat about 3 minutes or until no longer pink. Return all vegetables and chicken to skillet; heat through.

Serve chicken and vegetables with warmed tortillas and salsa. If desired, top each serving with guacamole and cilantro. Makes 8 servings.

Ohhh, baby

Tiffany & Co. and the New York Zoological Society teamed up to design Zoo Babies, a collection of pins and pendants of wildlife with their young. The deer, bear, whale and penguin are positioned to show the way they actually stand or swim with their babes in the wild, says Colleen Creagh for Tiffany's, Somerset Collection, Troy. Pins are sterling and 18-karat gold with sapphire accents; pendants are sterling. Wear one and you'll make a fashion and political statement. Part of the proceeds goes to Wildlife Conservation International. The collection is $85 to $850.

Color it

Bloomfield Hills' Tricia Wein, a graduate of Center for Creative Studies, shops flea markets and garage sales to harvest old tables and chairs that she transforms into small works of art. Using bright enamel, the artist paints graphics on accent pieces and even adorns some with buttons or a line of pearls.

Wein started painting furniture about a year ago because she wanted to add pizzazz to her own furnishings. When friends started placing orders, Wein knew it was time to market her work. She'll also paint new and old furniture to match wall coverings. Her work (about $80 to $300) is sold at Karma in Orchard Mall, West Bloomfield.

STREET SOUNDS

Altered Beast — Matthew Sweet (Zoo Entertainment)

"Cursed by the past, held under glass, I was too hard to shake down . . . I'm comin' back with my 'Dinosaur Act,'" Matthew Sweet sings in the opening track "Dinosaur Act," presumably about the attention he and his last album received. The follow-up to his hit "Girlfriend," he's also coming back with a stronger, rockier, less-produced release than the acclaimed record.

Opposite of "Girlfriend," the 15-song "Altered Beast" shows Sweet's bitter side. The strumming guitar ballad "Someone to Pull the Trigger" is the tale of someone who sees the light after being blinded by love: "I need someone to pull the trigger . . . So if you're what I think you'll be. If you're who I think I see — shoot me."

There are some similarities with "Girlfriend," however. Noted musicians, including Richard Lloyd (Television) and Ron Pangborn (Was (Not Was)), return to aid in "Altered Beast" along with Mick Fleetwood and Jody Stephens (Big Star).

Sweet's jangly poppiness returns with the hook-laden fourth track, "Time Capsule." That sound coupled with his desperate love-lorn angst ends the first side in "Love Without You."

The second side, which begins with a conversation from the film "Caligula," is more diabolical feeling than the first like "Do It Again"; "Love that's bad is better than none. You know breaking up is half of the fun. And who would want a dream that can't be real. I'll do it again." In "Reaching Out," he sings, "If I can't know you, all my dreams are through. Every waking hour is filled with lead. I'm dead. I'm dead. I'm dead."

The album definitely has a multitude of hit possibilities like "Do It Again," and "Dinosaur Act."

Reigndance has its 'Problem'

■ Andre Comeau would rather fans forget about MTV's "Real World" and focus on his "real world" that involves his childhood friends and Reigndance bandmates. The release of "Problem Factory" may help his cause.

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO
STAFF WRITER

Royal Oak native Andre Comeau may have been a part of one of MTV's most successful shows, "The Real World," but right now he'd like his fans to concentrate on his "real world" — the band Reigndance.

"It's everything to me; it always has been, always will be," Comeau said.

Always isn't exactly an exaggeration. Comeau, along with childhood friends drummer Bob Nick, guitarist/songwriter Dean Fertita and bassist Constantine Ballard formed Reigndance long before the TV show came along. They were so determined to get a record deal that in 1990 the quartet moved from Royal Oak to New Jersey. Four months ago, it became the first band signed to Interference Records in New Jersey. This week it will release its debut, "Problem Factory."

STREET BEATS

Presumably, after talking with Fertita, the "problem" is the house pictured on the CD cover. During the two years the band lived in it, the "problem" was fires in the walls, collapsed ceilings and critters.

"One time we were shoveling the snow and we looked up and this squirrel was looking at us (through the window.) We were freezing and he's in there all warm, looking out," Fertita said laughing.

Reigndance's bad luck seems to stretch farther than its home. During a tour prior to the release of "Problem Factory," the group got stuck in the blizzard that struck the southeast.

The tour also seemed to attract a much younger audience than they preferred; thanks to Comeau's stint on "The Real World." The younger fans and the hordes of women who came out to see Comeau, lowered the morale of the band. That should lessen a little now that Comeau has fulfilled his contractual obligations.

"The stuff we did means something to me," Fertita said. "To play to someone who doesn't have a clue, I can't get motivated. I feel like we're losing the respect from the people we were first playing to." Fertita is one of the band's lyricists.

Comeau, on the other hand, had little to say about "The Real World" except he's tired of talking about it and seemingly wasn't happy doing it. He did, however, participate in the filming of "The Real World" reunion shows which will begin airing Thursday. That stirred up some uneasy feelings for Comeau.

"OK, the reunion. I did it for a very short amount of time . . . Being away from them (the cast) I had forgotten just how much I really disliked them."

He also seemed uninterested about his video being released to MTV.

"I was supposed to go there today but I blew it off . . . I went to the beach instead," Comeau said.

He's more at ease chatting about his life in Royal Oak, which includes employment at Noir Leather. It's there, he said, that he learned many, er, valuable lessons.

"I loved the freaks . . . It was a crash course in deviancy. It opened my eyes. I got to see a lot at 16."

Now, he and the rest of the band live in the New Brunswick, N.J., the home of Rutgers University. Comeau said he feels much more at home there.

"It's a very small, very hip kind of community. It's collegial, the people are our age. It felt right," Comeau said.

Reigndance performs at about 10 p.m. Saturday, June 26, at Industry, 15 S. Saginaw St., Pontiac. Tickets are $5. Those 18 and older are welcome. For more information, call 334-1999.

Charity has a name — The Pretty Green

BY CHRISTINA FUOCO

When The Pretty Green writes a song, they put their audience's needs above their own.

"Our songs are written with respect for an audience," said bassist Steve Kaminski.

They're not passing themselves off as "light," however.

"We're gonna rock but it's not gonna be mindless."

Mindless isn't a word that is often associated with The Pretty Green. Like other local bands, it's not making a mint off of its gigs. Instead of whining about it, the Warren-based band takes it to heart and schedules most of its shows as benefits so non-profit organizations earn the group's expendable cash.

"We're not living hand-to-mouth with the money we make off our music . . . so we're able to give some of it away," said drummer/vocalist Mitch Kozera. "It makes us look like decent people and it gives us a chance to help other people."

The group's latest benefit — July 2 at Alvin's in Detroit — will aid The Children's Center of Detroit, an organization which helps abused children and their families. The show is

Clips, classics screen in Ann Arbor

BY JOHN MONAGHAN
SPECIAL WRITER

The cinematographer has long been called the unsung hero of the motion picture industry. While directors and stars are household names, how many filmgoers have even heard of James Wong Howe, Nestor Almendros or Stanley Cortez?

"Visions of Light: The Art of Cinematography" wants to put an end to all that. Recently screened at the Detroit Film Theatre and now through June 25 at the Michigan Theatre in Ann Arbor, the movie cleverly integrates movie clips with interviews from the filmmakers whose eyes first saw these images.

This American Film Institute co-production also offers a nice rundown of film history. It starts appropriately enough with the silent days, with the bulky, boxy camera Billy Bitzer used to shoot most of D.W. Griffith's important work.

The coming of sound brought its own unique challenges, sending movies visually back to the stone age. Sound stages prevented the cameras from moving much.

MOVIES

And how do you disguise a bulky microphone? You put it in a plant between two characters talking, of course.

"Citizen Kane" (1941) takes its rightful place as the most influential movie ever made. Welles, despite his gargantuan ego, understood the importance of cinematographer Gregg Toland and even shared the same main title card with him.

Film noir of the '40s and '50s is also well represented. John Alton gets special attention for his black-and-white work on movies like "The Big Combo" (1955) and "T-Men" (1947), the latter filmed partially in Detroit.

"Visions of Light" takes a slightly subjective view by focusing on the 1970s as a real watershed decade for creativity behind the camera. Perhaps so much focus is given because the cinematographers on "The Godfathers I and II" (Gordon Willis, 1972 and 1974) and "McCabe and Mrs. Miller" (Vilmos Zsigmond, 1971) are still alive to talk about them.

There are some drawbacks to movies like this. Like snacking all day without a real meal, you want to see some of these movies in their entirety. Fortunately, relief has begun just around the corner at the Ann Arbor Summer Festival's Top of the Park movie series.

Projected on a large screen atop the Power Center parking structure, the free outdoor movies recall heady nights at the drive-in. The movies begin at dusk, but you might want to arrive early to get a seat under the stars.

While movie buffs have found pedestrian pickings in recent years, the current schedule includes some real gems. The original 1933 "King Kong," which plays June 21, has a totally different impact on the big screen. It still makes "Jurassic Park" look like Disneyland.

"M*A*S*H" (1970), the Korean War comedy from Robert Altman, screens June 22. The following night, marshal Gary Cooper tries to rustle up support when badmen come to town in "High Noon" (1962). June 28 is a must for Buster Keaton fans, with screenings of the short "Cops" (1922) and the feature "Steamboat Bill, Jr." (1928).

Perhaps the true must-see on the Top of the Park schedule is the double feature starring Boris Karloff and Bela Lugosi — "The Raven" (1935) and "The Black Cat" (1934) — on June 28. Neither has much to do with Poe, but the second, by the great B movie director Edgar Ulmer, has incredible Art Deco sets and atmosphere even thicker than Lugosi's accent.

Other highlights on the schedule include a 25th anniversary screening of "2001: A Space Odyssey" (1968) on July 4 and a tribute to Audrey Hepburn in "Roman Holiday" (1953) on July 7. Shorts precede most of the features.

If you have a comment for John Monaghan, call him at 953-2047, mailbox number 1866, on a touch tone phone, or write him care of Street Sense, Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150.

STREET SENSE

BARBARA SCHIFF

A Voice Mail message: Barbara,

My daughter is a college junior who attends an out-of-state school. She is an attractive and popular girl who, so far, seems more interested in boys than in school or in a career. Recently, she began dating a boy who plays a varsity sport and is up for a professional position when they draft. He is very busy, at times it seems to her, too busy for her.

She has asked me for advice about this. She doesn't know how to understand his behavior because when they are together he is attentive and loving, but he doesn't have much time for togetherness. She says he is more interested in his career than he is in her, and although this is probably true, it seems to me that many men are this way, especially when they are in competitive, glamorous fields as is my daughter's boyfriend.

My husband, her father, is also in a very demanding field, one that requires him to be away from home. I am not sure how that might be affecting her feelings about her boyfriend's ambitiousness. I don't know how to help her with this.

I am an independent person, and I have been able to create a wonderful life for myself without my husband's physical presence. But my daughter may not have my strengths. That she has even asked me about it makes me wonder. Sue

Dear Sue,

It is easy to understand your concern for your daughter. Parents would like to transmit their experiences in life to prevent children from getting into trouble. Many children, however, are not capable of benefiting from good advice. Most have to make their own mistakes and learn from their own mistakes.

Some children are so smart that they do learn from other people's mistakes, but they are in the minority. Some unfortunate children don't even learn from their own mistakes.

Your comment that your daughter may not have the strengths that you have sounds very insightful of you. Those lacking in such skills may attach themselves to a man and may live their lives through the man's successes. I think of those women we call groupies, who follow rock bands to be near the stars. Usually, they live unhappy lives. Do you think you could help your daughter to accept counseling?

Your last sentence says, "That she has even asked me about it makes me wonder." I hope that when she asked you, you told her not to continue with him and to grow into an adequate, independent person before making a marriage decision. We make good decisions before we become a person in our own right only through luck. That makes for very bad odds.

sponsored by the year-old group Local Bands for Local People and the Detroit Musicians Alliance.

"There's a lot of bands out there that are more than willing to donate their time for whatever various causes they are," said Mike Schultz, Local Bands for Local People founder.

Playing benefits also brings bands closer together, he added.

"Hopefully, with these benefits and the DMA (Detroit Musicians Alliance), together we can get a stronger support base for local bands," he said.

Aside from benefits, The Pretty Green is playing in support of its debut release "Panache." The tape showcases clever songs and accompanying lyrics as "Misery Loves Me," ("I loved myself for the person I adored.") and "You Say It First," ("She spends so much time in my head, she should get her mail there.").

"An alternative band with a pop edge," according to Kaminiski, The Pretty Green was formed in the summer of 1992 by guitarist/lead vocalist Dave Gouletta and Kaminiski, both former members of the Jamersons, Kozers and his brother, drummer Mitch Kozera.

Although all the members share the songwriting duties, Gouletta predicted what its future sound will be.

"Now that 'Cheers' is gone, you can expect more dismal songs."

The Pretty Green performs Friday, July 2, at Alvin's, 5756 Cass, Detroit, along with Club Chaos and Hope Orchestra to benefit The Children's Center of Detroit. For more information, call 832-2355. "The Homeboy Show," radio station CIMX 89X's local band show, will feature the three performers at 11 p.m. Sunday, June 27.

There is no better time to own your own backyard.

And the house that goes with it. If you've been thinking about moving from your current residence to the house of your dreams or from an apartment to a starter home, this is the time to do it.

The selection is excellent (just check today's classified section).

Those low interest rates are still available. There are many financing options.

Purchasing a home has always been a wise decision, but current market conditions make it even more attractive.

In addition to that low interest rate, which means you'll get more for your money, you'll find that mortgage lenders are offering a wide variety of financing options.

Thirty-year fixed mortgages are still available as well as many other financing alternatives.

First-time buyers are encouraged to purchase now through financing packages that allow small down payments.

After all, purchasing a home is one of the very best ways to build a solid financial foundation.

A home not only provides you with warmth and comfort, it also serves as a secure investment.

Equity in your home may be used as collateral, providing you with additional financial security.

As you can not only deduct the interest you pay on your mortgage, you can also deduct your property taxes.

So why not go shopping for a shady backyard and the wonderful house that goes with it?

Good Counsel softball

The Plymouth Our Lady of Good Counsel girls softball team won the CYO Metro Division championship and finished second in the league tournament.

In the playoffs, Good Counsel defeated Wayne St. Mary 21-3, Redford St. Valentine 18-3, Northville Our Lady of Refuge 12-9 and Taylor St. Alfred 6-4 before losing in the final to Harper Woods Our Lady Queen of Peace, 10-5.

Good Counsel was 11-1 against division teams and 14-2 overall.

"This team was a class act all the way through," coach Tim LaGrow said. "Other teams try to intimidate opponents, but my girls didn't do that. They played like ladies and showed a lot of good sportsmanship."

"For seventh and eighth graders, they maintained their composure and played heads-up ball."

The Good Counsel players are eighth graders Karen Dougher, Nicole Kovachevich, Jennifer Sikora, Amy LaGrow, Amber LaGrow, Melanie Mikosz, Kristin Witt and Sue Huber; seventh graders Lisa Garcia, Holly Peleshock, Susie Fanning, Larissa Tenoff, Evelyn Rahhal, Mandy Fournier and Stacey Ludwig. Debbie Sikora is an assistant coach.

Kovachevich (shortstop), Sikora (pitcher) and Amy LaGrow (catcher) shared the Most Valuable Player Award and were chosen based on their leadership, hitting and ability to play their positions, according to Tim LaGrow.

Good Counsel scored 256 runs and allowed 67. Amber LaGrow pitched a perfect game against Dearborn Heights St. Melvin.

Kickers win soccer title

The Canton Kickers under-13 1/4 premier boys soccer team captured its age-group championship in the Findlay (Ohio) Invitational for the second consecutive year June 13.

The Kickers overcame a three-goal deficit in the final to defeat the TPSA Terminators 7-3. Canton recorded shutout victories in three of its five games, outscoring its opponents 38-4.

Sting captures crown

The Northville Sting under-10 boys select soccer team capped a 14-1-1 season by defeating the Plymouth Kicks 2-1 in the championship game of the Findlay (Ohio) Invitational June 13.

The tournament final was the third meeting between the league rivals, with each having won a previous game.

Derrick Lake (Northville) scored six goals in the tournament, and Mark Bolger (Plymouth) scored a goal in the semifinal and final games.

The Sting also had outstanding goaltending from Stephen Bernacki (Canton) and Matt LoPiccolo (Northville). The only goal allowed was in the final.

In the preliminary rounds, the Sting defeated three Ohio teams — the Fremont Lazars 10-0, the Whitehouse Force 3-0 and the Medina Rangers 9-0.

Hornets 2nd in tourney

The Canton Hornets under-11 boys soccer team finished second in the Findlay (Ohio) Invitational June 13.

The Hornets defeated the Westlake Eagles 6-1, the Pacesetter Challenge 8-2 and the Warren County Warriors 7-2 to reach the championship game. Canton lost 1-0 when the Findlay Magic scored with less than a minute left in the game.

The Canton players are Nick Allen, Trevor Davis, Matt Dent, Jason Furr, Brian Guzowski, Steve Hulín, Danny Jaeger, Matt Kardel, Kale Leftwich, Graeme McDonald, Jean Peltier, Billy Voyles and Brendan Welsh.

The Hornets have reached the final game in every tournament (three) they have entered. Canton is coached by Al Davis, who is assisted by Steve Furr and Jim Dent.

Rocks have winning year

The Plymouth Salem junior varsity softball team was 9-1 in the Western Lakes Activities Association and finished with a 13-6 record.

The Rocks had a team batting average of .434. Lynn MacLeod (.542) and Christina Nutt (.508) were named co-MVPs and also shared the Most Improved Award.

Jennifer Chriss was named the top defensive player, and Denise Krolczyk won the Coach's Award. Also contributing to the team success were Terri Walters, Nicole Sitek, Amanda Alex, Stacy Chuhnan, Stephanie Miller, Jenny Bryan, Lilly Rumberger, Amanda Boston, Heather Hulett and Pam George.

Canton pitcher among MU recruits

Madonna University said good-bye to a quintet of established players when the 1993 season ended. But coach Mike George thinks the Crusaders have found some quality replacements, among them Plymouth Canton pitcher Craig Benedict.

BY C.J. RISAK
STAFF WRITER

The challenge awaits them. And, if Madonna University baseball coach Mike George is to be believed, his next team can hardly wait to tackle it.

The Fighting Crusaders have lost five pivotal players to graduation. How pivotal? Joe Brusseau (.310, team leader in runs scored with 60, doubles with 13 and triples with 3, a three-time all-NAIA District 23 selection), Rich Roy (team-highs in average at .338 and runs batted in with 40, all-district), Shaun Hayward (7-0, 1.45 earned run average, all-district), Bill Teraki (.275, 25 RBI) and Steve Coffell combined to take home six of nine major awards at Madonna's end-of-the-season banquet.

Who will replace all that? That's the challenge George has been working on. So far, he's done pretty well: He's received commitments from eight players and has several others lined up.

His top recruits include Plymouth Canton grad Craig Benedict, a right-handed pitcher; Warren DeLaSalle's Kurt Wilczynski, a right-handed pitcher/infielder; and 1992 Fraser grad Shawn Penczak, an outfielder who attended (but did not play for) Michigan State last year.

Others who could have an immediate impact are outfielders Kevin Foley, from Riverview Gabriel Richard, and Brad Willey, from Brighton.

Two pitchers George thinks may need a redshirt year to develop are Tim Holland, a right-hander from Milford Lakeland, and Jason Dubey, another right-hander from Alpena. Brandon Jaskowski, an infielder who's also from Alpena, rounds out the recruits who have committed thus far.

George is counting on others, in particular a left-handed pitcher or two. Madonna has some fine pitching talent returning in Lou McKaig, Jeff Kugelmann, T.C. Raptis, Ryan Grabetz, Joe Jentzer, Mike Grahl and Chad Zann, but only Kugelmann is left-handed. "We're real close to signing a couple more," assured George.

At present, Benedict is the top pitching prospect. "He's a big kid (6-foot-3)," said George, "and he had a great year for Canton. I really think he's going to develop for us. There's going to be an opportunity for him to win a spot."

Wilczynski was on the road last weekend, helping pitch his team to the Class A state final. And although George said he recruited Wilczynski as a possible replacement for Brusseau at second base (he hit better than .350 for DeLaSalle), it's hard to ignore the 13-1 record he compiled entering the state finals.

"I always leave the door open for them," said George of his prospects. "If he can do something better than somebody we've got, he'll get a chance.

"It depends on how many other pitchers we sign, but he could be our closer. He likes pressure situations and he throws strikes. He's not going to come in and walk people."

Penczak, Willey and Foley all bring speed to Madonna's lineup. Penczak had MSU interested, but the Spartans opted to redshirt him; he should help immediately.

Foley, according to Madonna assistant and Dearborn Divine Child coach Mark Falvo, was one of the best players in his division of the Catholic League. And Willey has some power; he led Brighton in homers three straight years.

"All three run like deer," said George. "We can bring them in off the bench for defense or whatever."

Holland and Dubey both can throw in the low to mid-90s, but they face a redshirt year to develop that much-needed pitching commodity: a third pitch. Also, George thinks Holland may need some work on his mechanics.

Glenn falls short again in tourney

BY STEVE KOWALSKI

For the second straight year, the Westland John Glenn baseball team saw Battle Creek's C.O. Brown Stadium up close without getting inside.

Another state championship dream ended Friday as Grand Ledge beat the Rockets 13-2 in a Class A semifinal game at Nichols Field — which is next door to the 6,500 seat Brown Stadium at Battle Creek's Bailey Park.

Glenn's 1992 season also ended in the semifinal at Nichols Field after a 1-0 loss to Lapeer West. The Rockets have reached the Final Four three times since 1986 without advancing to the championship game at Brown Stadium.

"We've never been in there," Glenn coach Norm Hoenes said. "I thought this was a better team than we brought here last. Maybe next year."

But with sports in jeopardy in the Wayne-Westland school district, there might not be a next year.

"I really wish this year we'd do it," said Glenn losing pitcher Bryan Besco, who failed to get past the first inning.

Ocelots move to meet personnel needs

BY C.J. RISAK
STAFF WRITER

There's no hiding the losses Schoolcraft College's men's soccer team has suffered.

Gone to graduation is the team's best defender, Mike Presley (from Plymouth Canton). Also lost are five other top defensive players: Ryan Carriere (Livonia Stevenson), Jack Abate (Novi), Wayne Woroz (Redford Catholic Central), Dave Matovski (Stevenson) and Greg Wolters (Farmington Harrison).

Others not returning are Nate Stovall, Sean Ryan, Brian Hauman, Jeff Cardinal and Aaron Simpson.

In case you're keeping count, that's 11 players gone. Five of them were starters at least some of the time.

Trouble, right? Well, not exactly. Coming back for the defending champions of the NJCAA's Region 12 are seven players with starting experience, including the team's top three scorers (Andy Cosenza from Plymouth Salem, Dominic Vella from Livonia Churchill and Matt Lividini from Riverview Gabriel Richard) and its keeper (Matt Stabile from Stevenson).

With Stevenson grads Bill Lanspeary, Tim Lampi and Adam Carriere, all strong defensive players, also back, the Ocelots wouldn't be suffering in any case.

Lots of new talent

But add to the equation coach Van/Dimitriou's newest recruits and SC's chances of successfully defending the title increase significantly.

"The area that was of utmost importance was Mike's spot," said Dimitriou, referring to the loss of Presley, who's headed to Western Michigan to play. Abate and Woroz are planning on joining him in Kalamazoo. "With Matt Lee coming in, and a couple of other fullbacks, I think we've taken care of that."

Lee was recruited by Dimitriou after he graded from Salem a year ago but opted to go to Michigan State. He wanted to walk-on there, but was ill when tryouts were held and never did. Now, he's back — and he brings something with him Presley didn't have: size.

Presley stood 5-foot-8; Lee is 6-3, 180 pounds, something a sweeper can use. "He's a take-charge type player," said Dimitriou. "He's the sergeant I need back there."

One element no one denied that SC possessed last season was its overwhelming talent. And yet, the Ocelots ran into problems with inconsistency, particularly scoring goals. That eventually caught up with them, when they lost 2-1 to Lewis and Clark CC in the NJCAA Inter-regional Tournament.

"We had too many people monopolizing the ball instead of playing as a unit," said Dimitriou. "That will not happen this year, or they won't be playing."

"I absolutely will not go through another season like that."

Additional offense

There are several "new" factors that reinforce Dimitriou's plan. Like Joe Perron (5-10, 160) Salem's leading scorer last season, who Dimitriou called "a tireless worker: persistent, very durable, very workmanlike"; and Fadi Bazi (5-8, 155), a first team all-stater from Dearborn who scored 43 goals as a senior, a player who's "very, very quick, and evasive with the ball. He has a knack for finding the net"; and Vince Troiani (5-6, 150), Churchill's leading scorer the past two seasons, another player who's "good with the ball."

"We're looking pretty good up front," admitted Dimitriou.

Helping defensively are a pair of Stevenson grads, both good marking backs: Tim McCarley (5-10, 170), a '92 grad who spent a year at Western Michigan but did not play, and Mike Sneyd (6-0, 180). Both have the size Dimitriou covets. "We're growing up on defense," he noted.

There are others who will help in several areas. Like Ryan Piper (5-9, 160), from South Lyon, a midfielder who's "very quick but intelligent as well. He reads the play well. Very rarely did I see him out of position." And a pair of Novi grads, midfielder Ryan Olson and left wing Eric Reed, who come with strong recommendations from Larry Christoff, SC's former coach now at Novi.

Depth and experience

Then there's Farmington grad David Shepherd (5-8, 150), a part-time starter at midfield and on defense for the Falcons; Dearborn Crestwood's Garrett Binkley (5-8, 150), team captain and top scorer for the past two seasons; Milford Lakeland's Tom Kuzak (5-11, 160), the Eagles' most valuable player who will play midfield and defense; and Northville's Chuck Collins, a small (5-8) but quick and capable keeper.

There are other players Dimitriou is still working on, such as Oxford grad Andy Mathison, a strong all-around player, and Canton keeper Ryan Henkel (6-2, 180).

Everything considered, it seems SC should at least match last year's 12-2-1 finish. The question is, can the Ocelots surpass it? Can they reach the NJCAA Tournament, a goal which, even though SC has dominated the region since Dimitriou took over a decade ago, has generally evaded them (just one appearance)?

This team will have much more experience (only three players had played JC experience last season) and at least an equal amount of talent. "With the players we have coming back — I don't see another team with that kind of nucleus," said Dimitriou. "Plus with the influx of new players, I think we'll be in a good position to defend our title."

Make that a very good position.

Paluk brothers pace HPLM

Hines Park doubled its pleasure Wednesday, riding the arms of the Paluk brothers, Jeff and Brian, to extend its Livonia Collegiate Baseball League winning streak to 15.

Wednesday at Ford Field, Jeff Paluk ran his record to 5-0, three-hitting Little Caesars in a 16-2 six-inning mercy-rule victory.

The Saginaw Valley State junior, who struck out seven and walked four, has an earned run average of 1.56.

Offensive, Ed Gundry went 3-for-5 with six RBI.

The former Plymouth Salem High standout belted a three-run homer, his sixth of the year. He also contributed a two-run double and RBI single.

Scott Kapla added three hits and score four runs, while Jason Riggs, clubbed his first homer of the year, a two-run shot in a 2-for-4 outing.

COLLEGIATE

Andrew Margolick went 2-for-3 with an RBI, while Gary Pierce scored three runs and reached base safely four times (two walks and two hit-batsmen).

Andy Gagne and Jessie Gerwadowski each had RBI singles for Caesars.

Starter Dave Roman, who exited in the fourth, was the losing pitcher.

In the nightcap, Brian Paluk, recent Redford Catholic Central grad, pitched six strong innings in a 6-5 victory over Wendy's.

Paluk, also headed for Saginaw Valley, scattered seven hits and six walks while fanning eight. He needed relief help from Tom Davey in the seventh.

Davey came on with the bases loaded. He threw a wild pitch to allow one run, but retired the next three Wendy's batters in order to earn the save.

Kapla went 2-for-4 for the winners, while Gundry scored twice.

Del-Wal clubs Tecumseh

Del-Wal ran its LCBL record to 9-4 with an 11-4 triumph Wednesday over the Tecumseh (Ontario) Green Giants in a game played at Novi High School.

Tom Kretschmer, who went 2-for-4 and scored twice, highlighted a four-run Del-Wal second-inning uprising with a three-run homer.

Matt Recht added two RBI for the winners, while Tom Grigg, Chris Munson and Andy Duncan also scored twice.

Winning pitcher John Vanderbrink went six innings, allowing three hits. He struck out four and walked two.

The Rockets, who took advantage of nine Southgate Anderson errors to win a quarterfinal game, 10-1, were just as charitable against Grand Ledge. Glenn committed eight errors and Grand Ledge added 11 hits and six walks against four pitchers before the game was called after five innings due to the 10-run mercy rule. Two Grand Ledge runners also reached base after getting hit by pitches.

"I can't ever remember being mercied," said Hoenes, who is four wins shy of 400 in a 27-year coaching career at Glenn. "We've never played that bad."

Glenn, 27-5 overall, had not allowed more than three runs in its last eight games. But Besco gave up four in the top of the first after hitting the leadoff batter, allowing three hits and one walk before being relieved with two outs by senior left-hander Greg Nesbitt.

Grand Ledge junior Todd Weir was the winning pitcher with a four-hitter and he also contributed a two-run double following consecutive singles in the first. "I just didn't have it today, I guess," said Besco, who was 8-1 with a 1.5 earned run average entering the semifinal. "It was our fault we lost. We controlled our own destiny today."

Glenn got two runs in the bottom of the first after Bryan Besco's two-run single but the Comets added three unearned runs in the second and four in the third for an 11-2 lead.

Nesbitt was his own enemy — overthrowing first base after picking up a sacrifice bunt to score two runs in the second; and overthrowing first on an attempted pickoff play to score two more in the third.

Grand Ledge, 41-2 overall, advanced to Saturday's championship to play Warren DeLaSalle, a 10-1 winner over Rochester Adams in the other semifinal game.

"As disappointed and as shocked as their coach and players are, we're just as shocked," Grand Ledge coach Patrick

O'Keefe said. "It's a coach's and player's nightmare, and after it's over, you can feel for somebody."

Grand Ledge leadoff batter Rick Hollern, who has accepted a baseball scholarship at Central Michigan, reached base four times and scored three runs. Dan Sanborn had two hits and three RBI and Pat O'Keefe, Jr. and Chad Anderson contributed two hits and an RBI apiece.

Eight seniors played their final game for Glenn, including all-state candidate Aaron Scheffer, who was 1-for-2 with a run scored. Scheffer, who pitched two complete-game victories in the previous seven days, was forced to go the last three innings because Glenn was short pitching. Aaron is the third Scheffer to star for Hoenes at Glenn in the last decade — the others being older brothers Chris and Lawrence.

"I hated to go to Aaron (on the mound)," Hoenes said. "All three were such dominant players. They're quite a family."

Magic best in tourneys

Mid-America Magic, a 14-and-under girls softball team, recently captured a pair of U.S. Slo-pitch Softball Association tournaments.

Capping a six-game series June 12-13 at Midland's Holden Field, Mid-America defeated Finesse, 11-10, as Christi Dikeou (Wixom) was the winning pitcher. Angela Perreet (Livonia) had a double and triple, while Danielle Frazier (Wayne) added an RBI triple.

Marci Dupont (Livonia) collected 17 hits in tourney play, including four extra-base hits.

On June 5-6, Magic won four straight en route to the tourney title at Canton Recreation Center.

The highlight of the tourney was a triple play, started by pitcher Theresa Jacek, and completed by shortstop Jessica Sabbadin (Livonia) and Dupont, the first baseman.

Rounding out the Magic squad, coached by Kim Hewitt and Dave Jacek: Grace Allen, Garden City; Jessica Jenkins, Allyson Woodruff and Jenny Clulow, Livonia; Cassie Entsminger, Becky Uryga, Becky Knight and Lindsey Roberts, Canton; Alaina Scott, Wixom.

Star-studded

State champion, CC runners lead All-Area

BY STEVE KOWALSKI
STAFF WRITER

The 1993 boys All-Area track team includes an individual state champion and several members from Redford Catholic Central, which came close to winning a team state championship.

Farmington Hills Harrison hurdler Don Bryant, a transfer from Ohio, was an instant hit, winning the 110-meter hurdles at the state meet. CC finished its best track season ever with a third-place finish at the Class A meet. The Shamrocks have six individuals and two relays on this year's All-Area first team.

CC won the Observerland Relays and captured its first regional title in more than 34 years with a rare mix of speed and distance runners.

Canton's Bob Richardson was named Coach of the Year after leading the Chiefs to a runner-up finish in the Observerland Relays, the Western Lakes Activities Association championship and the Elks Relays title.

INDIVIDUAL EVENTS

Nick Kallas, shot put, Redford CC: Kallas, a junior, took second place at the Class A meet (55-7½) and was named CC's most improved trackman. He was third in the regional (52-3¼), placed second at the West Bloomfield Invitational and second in the Catholic League meet. He threw the shot more than 50 feet in seven meets.

"Nick is a tireless worker, always looking for ways to improve," CC coach Tony Magni said. "He spent many hours in the weight room and in the circle to sharpen his skills. He saved his best for last."

Joe Suhajda, discus, Redford CC: Suhajda capped a stellar athletic career with a school record in the discus (155-4). He was a shot put and discus champion at the Elks Relays, West Bloomfield Invitational and Catholic League meet. Suhajda placed second in both events at the regional and Operation Friendship meet. He was fourth in the discus and sixth in the shot put at the state meet.

"Joe is a great competitor," Magni said. "Many of his top throws come in his last attempts. Joe is a team leader and works with younger athletes to improve their performances."

Gerald Adams, long jump, Wayne: Adams, a junior competing in his first year on the track team, won the Wolverine A Conference and was second at the Class A regional. He was undefeated in dual meets and leaped 21-7 for his personal record, the best in Observerland. He also shows potential as a sprinter.

"Gerald is very versatile and hasn't begun to reach his peak," Wayne coach Floyd Carter said. "He's just learning what track is all about. He's a tremendous athlete who will probably be capable of running a 48 quarter or 23-0 in the long jump."

Carl Olszewski, high jump, Wayne: The senior won the Wolverine A, was second at the regional and tied Livonia Stevenson's Matt Syverson for the best jump in Observerland (6-4). He also participated in running events when needed.

"He doesn't have great jumping ability, but he's a real technician and one of the hardest workers I've had," Carter said. "He gets everything he can get out of his ability. Whatever we ask him to do, he's always willing."

Greg Koehler, pole vault, Churchill: Koehler's best jump of 12 feet was accomplished at four meets. He was the Class A regional champion (11-10) and also won the Western Lakes Activities Association (11-10). He also was instrumental in the 400, 800 and 1,600 relay teams for the Chargers.

Koehler was Churchill's second-leading scorer and won the Charger Trackman Award.

"Greg worked hard in the weight room during the off-season to improve his strength and running," Churchill coach Fred Price said. "Greg is an outstanding citizen and student."

RUNNING EVENTS

Don Bryant, 110 hurdles, Harrison: Bryant won nearly everything there was to win in the 110 hurdles, starting with dual meets and ending with the Class A meet in Grand Rapids. His best time (14.3) was run in one of the state-final heats, and he was consistently under 15 the entire season, according to coach John Reed.

Bryant also took first place in the 300 hurdles at the WLA meet. His only loss came in the Observerland, where Southfield-Lathrup's Maurice Wilson took first ahead of Bryant.

The senior transfer student from Ohio also excelled in high jumping, clearing 6-2.

"Without a doubt he's the best track athlete we've ever had," Reed said. "He said early in the year he wanted to be a state champion. He said it only once and never again. He's a real nice, humble kid. A dream person."

Marc Eden, 300 hurdles, Redford CC: Eden crossed the tape first in the 300 hurdles at both the West Bloomfield and Oxford invitationals. He was second at the Catholic League and Class A regional and eighth in the state meet. Eden will run at Central Michigan University next year.

"On the rare occasion when Marc didn't run a particularly good high hurdle race, Marc didn't allow himself to be distracted for the 300 hurdle race," Magni said. "Marc's concentration level is always his priority."

Ron McClelland, 100 dash, Wayne: Like his teammate Adams, this was McClelland's first year in track and the senior made the most of it. McClelland came in second place at the league and anchored the 800 relay team that won a league title.

McClelland is planning to attend Eastern Michigan University.

"Ron is a big, strong kid (6-2, 190) and he's willing to work," Carter said. "I think he'll have success at Eastern."

Greg Knight, 200 dash, Redford Union: The sophomore sprinter was the Northwest Suburban League champion in the 100 and 200 dashes. His best times were 11.1 and 22.8. Knight also was fourth in the 100 at the regional.

"He does what it takes to get the job done," RU coach Keith Holder said.

Eric McKeon, 400 dash, Redford CC: McKeon earned All-City, All-Catholic and all-state honors, also. He ran numerous events but excelled in the quarter.

McKeon was a regional champion and, though he finished second in the league, set a school record of 48.8. He placed seventh in the state meet.

"Eric is one of the most uniquely versatile runners I've ever coached," Magni said. "Eric is unselfish, running any event for the good of the team."

Brandon Datzel, 800 run, Redford CC: The senior made the All-Observer team in the 800 for the second year in a row. He was third in the regional and state meets and first at the Jackson Invitational. His best time was 1:58.9. Datzel, also an excellent student, will attend Notre Dame.

"Brandon maximizes his performance with strategic thought process and planning," Magni said. "These skills, enhanced by his character and drive, enabled him to get in position for the final kick."

Dave Clinard, 1,600 run, Farmington: Clinard was undefeated in dual meets in the 1,600 and won both the WLA and regional meets. He was ninth at the state

A Better Way To Settle Conflict

There is a better way to settle a divorce dispute than a costly courtroom battle. You can control the decisions that affect your family with a mediator. A mediator is an impartial person who helps people in conflict make practical, informed decisions when tension is high.

DIVORCE MEDIATION

- is typically less costly than litigation,
- benefits children and others by reducing conflict,
- is a voluntary settlement process around financial and child visitation issues.

A child's love thriving trade

The amusements for Livonia Spree 43 will again be provided this year by Pugh Shows.

"Long considered the premier carnival serving the Midwest, we feel confident that those who attend the Spree 43 will be pleasantly surprised by our clean, spectacular, and family-oriented attractions," said Jeffrey Pugh.

As a young man growing up in Ohio, Pugh harbored a fascination for the outdoor amusement industry. He went to work for the Giant Gooding Amusement Co. who enjoyed a literal monopoly on the carnival business in the mid-western states.

Marriage and a resulting family took Pugh away from "the road" but his love of the amusement business still flourished. He founded Pugh Motor Transport in Lancaster, Ohio, and remained involved in the day-to-day operations of that firm until his death in 1992.

As Pugh's sons entered manhood, it became evident to him that his love of carnivals had been passed on to his children. The Pughs had often discussed and critiqued many carnivals in the past and had developed many theories of how a carnival should be operated. Their ideas included operating only first class equipment and policies of honesty and integrity.

In 1967 Richard's and his son's dreams became a reality with the founding of Pugh Shows Inc. The new company demonstrated an amazing growth pattern and soon was recognized as one of the finest carnival operators in Ohio.

Their years of apprenticeship culminated with the complete acquisition of the renowned Gooding Amusement Co., America's largest carnival, in 1979. The tradition of the Gooding concern is carried on today by Jeffrey Pugh, James K. Wegerly, and Beverly Pugh, officers of Pugh Shows Inc.

Pugh Shows was recipient of the American Recreational Equipment Association's award for "Outstanding Achievement in Carnival Ride Safety." The A.R.E.A. is a trade association comprised of ride manufacturers. Each year this award is presented to one amusement park and one traveling carnival. Pugh Shows was selected from a field of 600 carnivals on a national basis.

McDonald's Day on Tuesday features $3 off an all-day ride wristband. The discount is obtained by buying any Value Meal, which will include a wooden nickel, which is good for the $3 off when buying the wristband.

The ride passes are available at all participating McDonalds which are: in Livonia at 38015 Ann Arbor Road, 19311 Farmington, 11800 Middlebelt, and 15399 Middlebelt; in Redford at 9052 Telegraph and at 25830 Telegraph; in Plymouth at 220 W. 45 rides fill Spree midway

Some 45 rides will be operated by Pugh Shows Tuesday through Sunday for Spree 43.

Among the more popular adult rides will be the Himalaya, an import from Germany which simulates an out-of-control sleigh ride through the mountains. Thousands of lights create amazing visual effects and a disc jockey plays the current Top 40.

The Kamikaze, an Italian import, provides a screaming upside-down ride. Another Pugh specialty is bumper cars — the largest portable bumper car in America with a full 100 feet of crashing and smashing fun.

The family favorite, the Tilt-A-Whirl, will be set up along with the Gravitron, a wild ride in a flying saucer.

Another favorite is the Giant Gondola Wheel, a 100-foot ride into the sky that the whole family can enjoy. This ride is so large that 160 people can ride at one time. It features 6,000 computer-controlled lights.

Other adult attractions are the Hurricane, a fun house called the Cake Walk, and Sea Dragon, a giant swinging pirate ship. The famous double Ferris wheel, Sky Wheel, will return along with Wipeout, a surfing attraction popular with teens.

Up, down and all around is the direction furnished by the Zipper and 360 degrees of sideways thrills are provided by Thunderbolt.

Spree roadster race is Saturday

The Great Spree Roadster Challenge will be held, rain or shine, beginning 7 p.m. Saturday at Ford Field.

The race involves the pushing, hopefully into the lead, of a Spree Roadster Gadget by a team composed of four runners and one rider, at least two of which are female and all of which are 18 or older.

Before the Spree begins, teams citywide have issued challenges against other teams and Saturday it all will be on the line. There will be awards for best overall time and for best costume. The race champion will receive a cash prize of $250 and the runner-up $125.

■ The former bedracing vehicles have been redesigned to create an allegedly more sophisticated racing event.

Roadster gadgets are provided by Spree. Practice runs will be held 6-9 p.m. Friday so teams can get comfortable with the roadster and the track before Saturday's big race — sort of like an Indy time trial, only in Livonia.

Costumes should reflect the team names, so racing teams whose members want a chance at winning the costume contest will want to pick a name. Anyone wishing to issue a challenge or otherwise enter the race may do so by 4 p.m. Friday at the Spree trailer. The fee is $5 per person and entry information may be obtained by calling Dave O'Neil at 591-2060 or Mark McAllister at 421-6208.

Announcement of the Great Spree Roadster Challenge might cause some confusion among veteran Spree attendees, but a brief history of developments probably will clear that up. Any history of this race that's not brief would only confuse things more.

This event formerly was known as the Great Spree Bed Race, but due to some dramatic changes by the event's design engineer what used to look like a hospital bed now looks like a go-cart.

The competing teams push the roadster gadget about one-10th of a mile and compete for best overall time. The starting line is staggered to insure equal distance.

Who's who: The racing pigs rounding the corner are Hamy Faye Bacon, Cookies & Cream, and Dolly Porkin.

Spree pig racing is cookie-driven

One of the most popular attractions at Livonia Spree is the pig races which are held each day from Tuesday through Sunday.

Robinson's Racing Pigs is the oldest and largest operator of touring pig races operating out of their winter quarters in Picnic, Fla. Picnic is a small settlement in Hillsborough County, south of Plant City. Because of that quirk in geography, the Robinson family has developed a reputation for racing Picnic hams.

The pig races, which are free, are held five to seven times a day and are supported locally by Top Value Muffler.

"The unique thing about pig racing is that it puts pigs in a different perspective," said owner Carlota Robinson. "People see pigs, in their minds eye, lounging in a barnyard. Little do they realize that a pig can do a 100-meter dash in 11 seconds while the fastest football player in the NFL, Washington Redskins cornerback Darrell Green, requires 10.08 seconds to cover the same distance and Olympic

Spree Shuttle rides are free

Spree visitors who want to avoid congested parking and traffic conditions near the Spree grounds do so by taking advantage of the Spree Shuttle.

The shuttle service departs from the Civic Center Library, City Hall, and Court House Tuesday through Sunday.

The hours of operation are 4 p.m. to midnight Tuesday through Thursday, 2-11 p.m. on Friday, and noon to 1 a.m. Saturday and Sunday.

For out-of-towners unfamiliar with Livonia's landmarks, the city hall is on the south side of Five Mile just east of Farmington Road, the library is only one parking lot further east, and the court house is on the east side of Farmington Road south of Five Mile (if you come to the fire station you missed it, turn around and face north).

Most Spree events are held on the grounds of Ford Field where the Eddie Edgar Ice Arena also is located. Ford Field is at Farmington Road and Lyndon which is the light half-way between Schoolcraft and Five Mile.

Congratulations Livonia! Happy 43rd Birthday

athlete Florence Griffith Joyner requires 10.49 seconds for a like sprint.

"Pigs are people animals, they love it when a crowd of people cheer them onto victory and they are extremely competitive.

"Horses need riders to guide them around the track, dogs need a mechanical rabbit, but pigs just need an Oreo cookie in their tray at the end of the 150-foot oval track." The losers get crumbs.

Robinson's Racing Pigs are licensed through the U.S. Department of Agriculture under the animal welfare act. "The pigs are treated like the great stars they are with shampoos, high protein pig chow, and lots of love and affection. They are our children."
